¹¹ Ptolemy, son of Abubus, had been appointed governor of the plain of Jericho, and he had much silver and gold,

¹² being the son-in-law of the high priest.

¹³ But he became ambitious and sought to get control of the country. So he made treacherous plans to do away with Simon and his sons.

¹⁴ As Simon was inspecting the cities of the country and providing for their needs, he and his sons Mattathias and Judas went down to Jericho in the year one hundred and seventy-seven, in the eleventh month (that is, the month Shebat).

¹⁷ By this vicious act of treason he repaid good with evil.

¹⁸ Then Ptolemy wrote an account of this and sent it to the king, asking that troops be sent to help him and that the country be turned over to him.

¹⁹He sent other men to Gazara to do away with John. To the army officers he sent letters inviting them to come to him so that he might present them with silver, gold, and gifts.

²⁰He also sent others to seize Jerusalem and the mount of the temple.

²¹But someone ran ahead and brought word to John at Gazara that his father and his brothers had perished, and that Ptolemy had sent men to kill him also.

²²On hearing this, John was utterly astounded. When the men came to kill him, he had them arrested and put to death, for he knew what they meant to do.

²³Now the rest of the history of John, his wars and the brave deeds he performed, his rebuilding of the walls, and his other achievements-

²⁴these things are recorded in the chronicle of his pontificate, from the time that he succeeded his father as high priest.

2nd Maccabees

1 The Jews in Jerusalem and in the land of Judea send greetings to their brethren, the Jews in Egypt, and wish them true peace!

2 May God bless you and remember his covenant with his faithful servants, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.

3 May he give to all of you a heart to worship him and to do his will readily and generously.

4 May he open your heart to his law and his commandments and grant you peace.

5 May he hear your prayers, and be reconciled to you, and never forsake you in time of adversity.

6 Even now we are praying for you here.

7 In the reign of Demetrius, the year one hundred and sixty-nine, we Jews wrote to you during the trouble and violence that overtook us in those years after Jason and his followers had revolted against the holy land and the kingdom,

8 setting fire to the gatehouse and shedding innocent blood. But we prayed to the Lord, and our prayer was heard; we offered sacrifices and fine flour; we lighted the lamps and set out the loaves of bread.

9 We are now reminding you to celebrate the feast of Booths in the month of Chislev.

10 Dated in the year one hundred and eighty-eight. The people of Jerusalem and Judea, the senate, and Judas send greetings and good wishes to Aristobulus, counselor of King Ptolemy and member of the family of the anointed priests, and to the Jews in Egypt.

11 Since we have been saved by God from grave dangers, we give him great thanks for having fought on our side against the king;

12 it was he who drove out those who fought against the holy city.

¹³When their leader arrived in Persia with his seemingly irresistible army, they were cut to pieces in the temple of the goddess Nanea through a deceitful stratagem employed by Nanea's priests.

¹⁴On the pretext of marrying the goddess, Antiochus with his Friends had come to the place to get its great treasures by way of dowry.

¹⁵When the priests of the Nanaeon had displayed the treasures, Antiochus with a few attendants came to the temple precincts. As soon as he entered the temple, the priests locked the doors.

¹⁶Then they opened a hidden trapdoor in the ceiling, hurled stones at the leader and his companions and struck them down. They dismembered the bodies, cut off their heads and tossed them to the people outside.

¹⁷Forever blessed be our God, who has thus punished the wicked!

¹⁸We shall be celebrating the purification of the temple on the twenty-fifth day of the month Chislew, so we thought it right to inform you, that you too may celebrate the feast of Booths and of the fire that appeared when Nehemiah, the rebuilder of the temple and the altar, offered sacrifices.

¹⁹When our fathers were being exiled to Persia, devout priests of the time took some of the fire from the altar and hid it secretly in the hollow of a dry cistern, making sure that the place would be unknown to anyone.

²⁰Many years later, when it so pleased God, Nehemiah, commissioned by the king of Persia, sent the descendants of the priests who had hidden the fire to look for it.

²¹When they informed us that they could not find any fire, but only muddy water, he ordered them to scoop some out and bring it. After the material for the sacrifices had been prepared, Nehemiah ordered the priests to sprinkle with the water the wood and what lay on it.

²²When this was done and in time the sun, which had been clouded over, began to shine, a great fire blazed up, so that everyone marveled.

²³While the sacrifice was being burned, the priests recited a prayer, and all present joined in with them, Jonathan leading and the rest responding with Nehemiah.

²⁴The prayer was as follows: "Lord, Lord God, creator of all things, awesome and strong, just and merciful, the only king and benefactor,

²⁵who alone are gracious, just, almighty, and eternal, Israel's savior from all evil, who chose our forefathers and sanctified them:

²⁶accept this sacrifice on behalf of all your people Israel and guard and sanctify your heritage.

²⁷Gather together our scattered people, free those who are the slaves of the Gentiles, look kindly on those who are despised and detested, and let the Gentiles know that you are our God.

²⁸Punish those who tyrannize over us and arrogantly mistreat us.

²⁹Plant your people in your holy place, as Moses promised."

³⁰Then the priests began to sing hymns.

³¹After the sacrifice was burned, Nehemiah ordered the rest of the liquid to be poured upon large stones.

³²As soon as this was done, a flame blazed up, but its light was lost in the brilliance cast from a light on the altar.

³³When the event became known and the king of the Persians was told that, in the very place where the exiled priests had hidden the fire, a liquid was found with which Nehemiah and his people had burned the sacrifices, ³⁴the king, after verifying the fact, fenced the place off and declared it sacred.

³⁵To those on whom the king wished to bestow favors he distributed the large revenues he received there.

³⁶Nehemiah and his companions called the liquid naphthar, meaning purification, but most people named it naphtha.

2You will find in the records, not only that Jeremiah the prophet ordered the deportees to take some of the aforementioned fire with them,

²but also that the prophet, in giving them the law, admonished them not to forget the commandments of the Lord or be led astray in their thoughts, when seeing the gold and silver idols and their ornaments.

³With other similar words he urged them not to let the law depart from their hearts.

⁵When Jeremiah arrived there, he found a room in a cave in which he put the tent, the ark, and the altar of incense; then he blocked up the entrance.

⁶Some of those who followed him came up intending to mark the path, but they could not find it.

⁷When Jeremiah heard of this, he reproved them: "The place is to remain unknown until God gathers his people together again and shows them mercy.

⁸Then the Lord will disclose these things, and the glory of the Lord will be seen in the cloud, just as it appeared in the time of Moses and when Solomon prayed that the Place might be gloriously sanctified."

⁹It is also related how Solomon in his wisdom offered a sacrifice at the dedication and the completion of the temple.

¹⁰Just as Moses prayed to the Lord and fire descended from the sky and consumed the sacrifices, so Solomon also prayed and fire came down and burned up the holocausts.

¹¹Moses had said, "Because it had not been eaten, the sin offering was burned up."

¹²Solomon also celebrated the feast in the same way for eight days.

¹³Besides these things, it is also told in the records and in Nehemiah's Memoirs how he collected the books about the kings, the writings of the prophets and of David, and the royal letters about sacred offerings.

¹⁴In like manner Judas also collected for us the books that had been scattered because of the war, and we now have them in our possession.

¹⁵If you need them, send messengers to get them for you.

¹⁶As we are about to celebrate the feast of the purification of the temple, we are writing to you requesting you also to please celebrate the feast.

¹⁷It is God who has saved all his people and has restored to all of them their heritage, the kingdom, the priesthood, and the sacred rites,

¹⁸as he promised through the law. We trust in God, that he will soon have mercy on us and gather us together from everywhere under the heavens to his holy Place, for he has rescued us from great perils and has purified his Place.

¹⁹This is the story of Judas Maccabeus and his brothers, of the purification of the great temple, the dedication of the altar,

²⁰the campaigns against Antiochus Epiphanes and his son Eupator,

²¹and of the heavenly manifestations accorded to the heroes who fought bravely for Judaism, so that, few as they were, they seized the whole land, put to flight the barbarian hordes,

²²regained possession of the world-famous temple, liberated the city, and reestablished the laws that were in danger of being abolished, while the Lord favored them with all his generous assistance.

²³All this, which Jason of Cyrene set forth in detail in five volumes, we will try to condense into a single book.

²⁴In view of the flood of statistics, and the difficulties encountered by those who wish to plunge into historical narratives where the material is abundant,

²⁵we have aimed to please those who prefer simple reading, as well as to make it easy for the studious who wish to commit things to memory, and to be helpful to all.

²⁶For us who have taken upon ourselves the labor of making this digest, the task, far from being easy, is one of sweat and of sleepless nights,

²⁷just as the preparation of a festive banquet is no light matter for one who thus seeks to give enjoyment to others. Similarly, to win the gratitude of many we will gladly endure these inconveniences,

²⁸while we leave the responsibility for exact details to the original author, and confine our efforts to giving only a summary outline.

²⁹As the architect of a new house must give his attention to the whole structure, while the man who undertakes the decoration and the frescoes has only to concern himself with what is needed for ornamentation, so I think it is with us.

³⁰To enter into questions and examine them thoroughly from all sides is the task of the professional historian;

³¹but the man who is making an adaptation should be allowed to aim at brevity of expression and to omit detailed treatment of the matter.

³²Here, then, we shall begin our account without further ado; it would be nonsense to write a long preface to a story and then abbreviate the story itself.

3 While the holy city lived in perfect peace and the laws were strictly observed because of the piety of the high priest Onias and his hatred of evil,

²the kings themselves honored the Place and glorified the temple with the most magnificent gifts.

³Thus Seleucus, king of Asia, defrayed from his own revenues all the expenses necessary for the sacrificial services.

⁴But a certain Simon, of the priestly course of Bilgah, who had been appointed superintendent of the temple, had a quarrel with the high priest about the supervision of the city market.

⁵Since he could not prevail against Onias, he went to Apollonius of Tarsus, who at that time was governor of Coelesyria and Phoenicia, ⁶and reported to him that the treasury in Jerusalem was so full of untold riches that the total sum of money was incalculable and out of all proportion to the cost of the sacrifices, and that it would be possible to bring it all under the control of the king.

⁷When Apollonius had an audience with the king, he informed him about the riches that had been reported to him. The king chose his minister Heliodorus and sent him with instructions to expropriate the aforesaid wealth.

⁸So Heliodorus immediately set out on his journey, ostensibly to visit the cities of Coelesyria and Phoenicia, but in reality to carry out the king's purpose.

⁹When he arrived in Jerusalem and had been graciously received by the high priest of the city, he told him about the information that had been given, and explained the reason for his presence, and he asked if these things were really true.

¹⁰The high priest explained that part of the money was a care fund for widows and orphans,

¹¹and a part was the property of Hyrcanus, son of Tobias, a man who occupied a very high position. Contrary to the calumnies of the impious Simon, the total amounted to four hundred talents of silver and two hundred of gold.

¹²He added that it was utterly unthinkable to defraud those who had placed their trust in the sanctity of the Place and in the sacred inviolability of a temple venerated all over the world.

¹⁴So on the day he had set he went in to take an inventory of the funds. There was great distress throughout the city.

¹⁵Priests prostrated themselves in their priestly robes before the altar, and loudly begged him in heaven who had given the law about deposits to keep the deposits safe for those who had made them.

¹⁶Whoever saw the appearance of the high priest was pierced to the heart, for the changed color of his face manifested the anguish of his soul.

¹⁷The terror and bodily trembling that had come over the man clearly showed those who saw him the pain that lodged in his heart.

¹⁸People rushed out of their houses in crowds to make public supplication, because the Place was in danger of being profaned.

¹⁹Women, girded with sackcloth below their breasts, filled the streets; maidens secluded indoors ran together, some to the gates, some to the walls, others peered through the windows, ²⁰all of them with hands raised toward heaven, making supplication.

²¹It was pitiful to see the populace variously prostrated in prayer and the high priest full of dread and anguish.

²²While they were imploring the almighty Lord to keep the deposits safe and secure for those who had placed them in trust, ²³Heliodorus went on with his plan.

²⁴But just as he was approaching the treasury with his bodyguards, the Lord of spirits who holds all power manifested himself in so striking a way that those who had been bold enough to follow Heliodorus were panic-stricken at God's power and fainted away in terror.

²⁵There appeared to them a richly caparisoned horse, mounted by a dreadful rider. Charging furiously, the horse attacked Heliodorus with its front hoofs. The rider was seen to be wearing golden armor.

²⁶Then two other young men, remarkably strong, strikingly beautiful, and splendidly attired, appeared before him. Standing on each side of him, they flogged him unceasingly until they had given him innumerable blows.

²⁷Suddenly he fell to the ground, enveloped in great darkness. Men picked him up and laid him on a stretcher.

²⁸The man who a moment before had entered that treasury with a great retinue and his whole bodyguard was carried away helpless, having clearly experienced the sovereign power of God.

²⁹While he lay speechless and deprived of all hope of aid, due to an act of God's power,

³⁰the Jews praised the Lord who had marvelously glorified his holy Place; and the temple, charged so shortly before with fear and commotion, was filled with joy and gladness, now that the almighty Lord had manifested himself.

³¹Soon some of the companions of Heliodorus begged Onias to invoke the Most High, praying that the life of the man who was about to expire might be spared.

³²Fearing that the king might think that Heliodorus had suffered some foul play at the hands of the Jews, the high priest offered a sacrifice for the man's recovery.

³³While the high priest was offering the sacrifice of atonement, the same young men in the same clothing again appeared and stood before Heliodorus. "Be very grateful to the high priest Onias," they told him. "It is for his sake that the Lord has spared your life.

³⁴Since you have been scourged by Heaven, proclaim to all men the majesty of God's power." When they had said this, they disappeared.

³⁵After Heliodorus had offered a sacrifice to the Lord and made most solemn vows to him who had spared his life, he bade Onias farewell, and returned with his soldiers to the king.

³⁶Before all men he gave witness to the deeds of the most high God that he had seen with his own eyes.

³⁷When the king asked Heliodorus who would be a suitable man to be sent to Jerusalem next, he answered:

³⁸"If you have an enemy or a plotter against the government, send him there, and you will receive him back well-flogged, if indeed he survives at all; for there is certainly some special divine power about the Place.

³⁹He who has his dwelling in heaven watches over that Place and protects it, and he strikes down and destroys those who come to harm it."

⁴⁰This was how the matter concerning Heliodorus and the preservation of the treasury turned out.

4The Simon mentioned above as the informer about the funds against his own country, made false accusation that it was Onias who threatened Heliodorus and instigated the whole miserable affair.

²He dared to brand as a plotter against the government the man who was a benefactor of the city, a protector of his compatriots, and a zealous defender of the laws.

³When Simon's hostility reached such a point that murders were being committed by one of his henchmen, ⁴Onias saw that the opposition was serious and that Apollonius, son of Menestheus, the governor of Coelesyria and Phoenicia, was abetting Simon's wickedness.

⁵So he had recourse to the king, not as an accuser of his countrymen, but as a man looking to the general and particular good of all the people.

⁶He saw that, unless the king intervened, it would be impossible to have a peaceful government, and that Simon would not desist from his folly.

⁷But Seleucus died, and when Antiochus surnamed Epiphanes succeeded him on the throne, Onias' brother Jason obtained the high priesthood by corrupt means:

⁸in an interview, he promised the king three hundred and sixty talents of silver, as well as eighty talents from another source of income.

⁹Besides this he agreed to pay a hundred and fifty more, if he were given authority to establish a gymnasium and a youth club for it and to enroll men in Jerusalem as Antiochians.

¹⁰When Jason received the king's approval and came into office, he immediately initiated his countrymen into the Greek way of life.

¹¹He set aside the royal concessions granted to the Jews through the mediation of John, father of Eupolemus (that Eupolemus who would later go on an embassy to the Romans to establish a treaty of friendship with them); he abrogated the lawful institutions and introduced customs contrary to the law.

¹²He quickly established a gymnasium at the very foot of the acropolis, where he induced the noblest young men to wear the Greek hat.

¹³The craze for Hellenism and foreign customs reached such a pitch, through the outrageous wickedness of the ungodly pseudo-high-priest Jason,

¹⁵They despised what their ancestors had regarded as honors, while they highly prized what the Greeks esteemed as glory.

¹⁶Precisely because of this, they found themselves in serious trouble: the very people whose manner of life they emulated, and whom they desired to imitate in everything, became their enemies and oppressors.

¹⁷It is no light matter to flout the laws of God, as the following period will show.

¹⁸When the quinquennial games were held at Tyre in the presence of the king,

¹⁹the vile Jason sent envoys as representatives of the Antiochians of Jerusalem, to bring there three hundred silver drachmas for the sacrifice to Hercules. But the bearers themselves decided that the money should not be spent on a sacrifice, as that was not right, but should be used for some other purpose.

²⁰So the contribution destined by the sender for the sacrifice to Hercules was in fact applied, by those who brought it, to the construction of triremes.

²¹When Apollonius, son of Menestheus, was sent to Egypt for the coronation of King Philometor, Antiochus learned that the king was opposed to his policies; so he took measures for his own security.

²²After going to Joppa, he proceeded to Jerusalem. There he was received with great pomp by Jason and the people of the city, who escorted him with torchlights and acclamations; following this, he led his army into Phoenicia.

²³Three years later Jason sent Menelaus, brother of the aforementioned Simon, to deliver the money to the king, and to obtain decisions on some important matters.

²⁴When he had been introduced to the king, he flattered him with such an air of authority that he secured the high priesthood for himself, outbidding Jason by three hundred talents of silver.

²⁵He returned with the royal commission, but with nothing that made him worthy of the high priesthood; he had the temper of a cruel tyrant and the rage of a wild beast.

²⁶Then Jason, who had cheated his own brother and now saw himself cheated by another man, was driven out as a fugitive to the country of the Ammonites.

²⁸in spite of the demand of Sostratus, the commandant of the citadel, whose duty it was to collect the taxes. For this reason, both were summoned before the king.

³⁰While these things were taking place, the people of Tarsus and Mallus rose in revolt, because their cities had been given as a gift to Antiochis, the king's mistress.

³¹The king, therefore, went off in haste to settle the affair, leaving Andronicus, one of his nobles, as his deputy.

³²Then Menelaus, thinking this a good opportunity, stole some gold vessels from the temple and presented them to Andronicus; he had already sold some other vessels in Tyre and in the neighboring cities.

³³When Onias had clear evidence of the facts, he made a public protest, after withdrawing to the inviolable sanctuary at Daphne, near Antioch.

³⁴Thereupon Menelaus approached Andronicus privately and asked him to lay hands on Onias. So Andronicus went to Onias, and by treacherously reassuring him through sworn pledges with right hands joined, persuaded him, in spite of his suspicions, to leave the sanctuary. Then, without any regard for justice, he immediately put him to death.

³⁵As a result, not only the Jews, but many people of other nations as well, were indignant and angry over the unjust murder of the man.

³⁶When the king returned from the region of Cilicia, the Jews of the city, together with the Greeks who detested the crime, went to see him about the murder of Onias.

³⁷Antiochus was deeply grieved and full of pity; he wept as he recalled the prudence and noble conduct of the deceased.

³⁸Inflamed with anger, he immediately stripped Andronicus of his purple robe, tore off his other garments, and had him led through the whole city to the very place where he had committed the outrage against Onias; and there he put the murderer to death. Thus the Lord rendered him the punishment he deserved.

³⁹Many sacrilegious thefts had been committed by Lysimachus in the city with the connivance of Menelaus. When word was spread that a large number of gold vessels had been stolen, the people assembled in protest against Lysimachus.

⁴¹Reacting against Lysimachus' attack, the people picked up stones or pieces of wood or handfuls of the ashes lying there and threw them in wild confusion at Lysimachus and his men.

⁴²As a result, they wounded many of them and even killed a few, while they put all the rest to flight. The sacrilegious thief himself they slew near the treasury.

⁴³Charges about this affair were brought against Menelaus.

⁴⁴When the king came to Tyre, three men sent by the senate presented to him the justice of their cause.

⁴⁵But Menelaus, seeing himself on the losing side, promised Ptolemy, son of Dorymenes, a substantial sum of money if he would win the king over.

⁴⁶So Ptolemy retired with the king under a colonnade, as if to get some fresh air, and persuaded him to change his mind.

⁴⁷Menelaus, who was the cause of all the trouble, the king acquitted of the charges, while he condemned to death those poor men who would have been declared innocent even if they had pleaded their case before Scythians.

⁴⁸Thus, those who had prosecuted the case for the city, for the people, and for the sacred vessels, quickly suffered unjust punishment.

⁴⁹For this reason, even some Tyrians were indignant over the crime and provided sumptuously for their burial.

⁵⁰But Menelaus, thanks to the covetousness of the men in power, remained in office, where he grew in wickedness and became the chief plotter against his fellow citizens.

5 About this time Antiochus sent his second expedition into Egypt.

²It then happened that all over the city, for nearly forty days, there appeared horsemen charging in midair, clad in garments interwoven with gold--companies fully armed with lances

³and drawn swords; squadrons of cavalry in battle array, charges and countercharges on this side and that, with brandished shields and bristling spears, flights of arrows and flashes of gold ornaments, together with armor of every sort.

⁴Therefore all prayed that this vision might be a good omen.

⁵But when a false rumor circulated that Antiochus was dead, Jason gathered fully a thousand men and suddenly attacked the city. As the defenders on the walls were forced back and the city was finally being taken, Menelaus took refuge in the citadel.

⁶Jason then slaughtered his fellow citizens without mercy, not realizing that triumph over one's own kindred was the greatest failure, but imagining that he was winning a victory over his enemies, not his fellow countrymen.

⁷Even so, he did not gain control of the government, but in the end received only disgrace for his treachery, and once again took refuge in the country of the Ammonites.

⁸At length he met a miserable end. Called to account before Aretas, king of the Arabs, he fled from city to city, hunted by all men, hated as a transgressor of the laws, abhorred as the butcher of his country and his countrymen. After being driven into Egypt,

⁹he crossed the sea to the Spartans, among whom he hoped to find protection because of his relations with them. There he who had exiled so many from their country perished in exile;

¹⁰and he who had cast out so many to lie unburied went unmourned himself with no funeral of any kind or any place in the tomb of his ancestors.

¹¹When these happenings were reported to the king, he thought that Judea was in revolt. Raging like a wild animal, he set out from Egypt and took Jerusalem by storm.

¹²He ordered his soldiers to cut down without mercy those whom they met and to slay those who took refuge in their houses.

¹³There was a massacre of young and old, a killing of women and children, a slaughter of virgins and infants.

¹⁴In the space of three days, eighty thousand were lost, forty thousand meeting a violent death, and the same number being sold into slavery.

¹⁵Not satisfied with this, the king dared to enter the holiest temple in the world; Menelaus, that traitor both to the laws and to his country, served as guide.

¹⁶He laid his impure hands on the sacred vessels and gathered up with profane hands the votive offerings made by other kings for the advancement, the glory, and the honor of the Place.

¹⁷Puffed up in spirit, Antiochus did not realize that it was because of the sins of the city's inhabitants that the Lord was angry for a little while and hence disregarded the holy Place.

¹⁸If they had not become entangled in so many sins, this man, like Heliodorus, who was sent by King Seleucus to inspect the treasury, would have been flogged and turned back from his presumptuous action as soon as he approached.

¹⁹The Lord, however, had not chosen the people for the sake of the Place, but the Place for the sake of the people.

²⁰Therefore, the Place itself, having shared in the people's misfortunes, afterward participated in their good fortune; and what the Almighty had forsaken in his anger was restored in all its glory, once the great Sovereign became reconciled.

²¹Antiochus carried off eighteen hundred talents from the temple, and hurried back to Antioch. In his arrogance he planned to make the land navigable and the sea passable on foot, so carried away was he with pride.

²²But he left governors to harass the nation: at Jerusalem, Philip, a Phrygian by birth, and in character more cruel than the man who appointed him;

²³at Mount Gerizim, Andronicus; and besides these, Menelaus, who lorded it over his fellow citizens worse than the others did. Out of hatred for the Jewish citizens, ²⁴the king sent Appollonius, commander of the Mysians, at the head of an army of twenty-two thousand men, with orders to kill all the grown men and sell the women and young men into slavery.

²⁵When this man arrived in Jerusalem, he pretended to be peacefully disposed and waited until the holy day of the sabbath; then, finding the Jews refraining from work, he ordered his men to parade fully armed.

²⁶All those who came out to watch, he massacred, and running through the city with armed men, he cut down a large number of people.

²⁷But Judas Maccabeus and about nine others withdrew to the wilderness, where he and his companions lived like wild animals in the hills, continuing to eat what grew wild to avoid sharing the defilement.

6 Not long after this the king sent an Athenian senator to force the Jews to abandon the customs of their ancestors and live no longer by the laws of God;

²also to profane the temple in Jerusalem and dedicate it to Olympian Zeus, and that on Mount Gerizim to Zeus the Hospitable, as the inhabitants of the place requested.

³This intensified the evil in an intolerable and utterly disgusting way.

⁴The Gentiles filled the temple with debauchery and revelry; they amused themselves with prostitutes and had intercourse with women even in the sacred court. They also brought into the temple things that were forbidden, ⁵so that the altar was covered with abominable offerings prohibited by the laws.

⁶A man could not keep the sabbath or celebrate the traditional feasts, nor even admit that he was a Jew.

⁷Moreover, at the monthly celebration of the king's birthday the Jews had, from bitter necessity, to partake of the sacrifices, and when the festival of Dionysus was celebrated, they were compelled to march in his procession, wearing wreaths of ivy.

⁸At the suggestion of the citizens of Ptolemais, a decree was issued ordering the neighboring Greek cities to act in the same way against the Jews: oblige them to partake of the sacrifices, ⁹and put to death those who would not consent to adopt the customs of the Greeks. It was obvious, therefore, that disaster impended.

¹⁰Thus, two women who were arrested for having circumcised their children were publicly paraded about the city with their babies hanging at their breasts and then thrown down from the top of the city wall.

¹¹Others, who had assembled in nearby caves to observe the sabbath in secret, were betrayed to Philip and all burned to death. In their respect for the holiness of that day, they had scruples about defending themselves.

¹²Now I beg those who read this book not to be disheartened by these misfortunes, but to consider that these chastisements were meant not for the ruin but for the correction of our nation.

¹³It is, in fact, a sign of great kindness to punish sinners promptly instead of letting them go for long.

¹⁴Thus, in dealing with other nations, the Lord patiently waits until they reach the full measure of their sins before he punishes them; but with us he has decided to deal differently,

¹⁵in order that he may not have to punish us more severely later, when our sins have reached their fullness.

¹⁶He never withdraws his mercy from us. Although he disciplines us with misfortunes, he does not abandon his own people.

¹⁷Let these words suffice for recalling this truth. Without further ado we must go on with our story.

¹⁸Eleazar, one of the foremost scribes, a man of advanced age and noble appearance, was being forced to open his mouth to eat pork.

¹⁹But preferring a glorious death to a life of defilement, he spat out the meat, and went forward of his own accord to the instrument of torture,

²⁰as men ought to do who have the courage to reject the food which it is unlawful to taste even for love of life.

²²in this way he would escape the death penalty, and be treated kindly because of their old friendship with him.

²³But he made up his mind in a noble manner, worthy of his years, the dignity of his advanced age, the merited distinction of his gray hair, and of the admirable life he had lived from childhood; and so he declared that above all he would be loyal to the holy laws given by God. He told them to send him at once to the abode of the dead, explaining:

²⁵Should I thus dissimulate for the sake of a brief moment of life, they would be led astray by me, while I would bring shame and dishonor on my old age.

²⁶Even if, for the time being, I avoid the punishment of men, I shall never, whether alive or dead, escape the hands of the Almighty.

²⁷Therefore, by manfully giving up my life now, I will prove myself worthy of my old age, ²⁸and I will leave to the young a noble example of how to die willingly and generously for the revered and holy laws." He spoke thus, and went immediately to the instrument of torture.

²⁹Those who shortly before had been kindly disposed, now became hostile toward him because what he had said seemed to them utter madness.

³⁰When he was about to die under the blows, he groaned and said: "The Lord in his holy knowledge knows full well that, although I could have escaped death, I am not only enduring terrible pain in my body from this scourging, but also suffering it with joy in my soul because of my devotion to him."

³¹This is how he died, leaving in his death a model of courage and an unforgettable example of virtue not only for the young but for the whole nation.

7 It also happened that seven brothers with their mother were arrested and tortured with whips and scourges by the king, to force them to eat pork in violation of God's law.

²One of the brothers, speaking for the others, said: "What do you expect to achieve by questioning us? We are ready to die rather than transgress the laws of our ancestors."

³At that the king, in a fury, gave orders to have pans and caldrons heated.

⁴While they were being quickly heated, he commanded his executioners to cut out the tongue of the one who had spoken for the others, to scalp him and cut off his hands and feet, while the rest of his brothers and his mother looked on.

⁵When he was completely maimed but still breathing, the king ordered them to carry him to the fire and fry him. As a cloud of smoke spread from the pan, the brothers and their mother encouraged one another to die bravely, saying such words as these:

⁶"The Lord God is looking on, and he truly has compassion on us, as Moses declared in his canticle, when he protested openly with the words, 'And he will have pity on his servants.'"

⁷When the first brother had died in this manner, they brought the second to be made sport of. After tearing off the skin and hair of his head, they asked him, "Will you eat the pork rather than have your body tortured limb by limb?"

- ⁸ Answering in the language of his forefathers, he said, "Never!" So he too in turn suffered the same tortures as the first.
- ⁹ At the point of death he said: "You accursed fiend, you are depriving us of this present life, but the King of the world will raise us up to live again forever. It is for his laws that we are dying."
- ¹⁰ After him the third suffered their cruel sport. He put out his tongue at once when told to do so, and bravely held out his hands,
- ¹¹ as he spoke these noble words: "It was from Heaven that I received these; for the sake of his laws I disdain them; from him I hope to receive them again."
- ¹² Even the king and his attendants marveled at the young man's courage, because he regarded his sufferings as nothing.
- ¹³ After he had died, they tortured and maltreated the fourth brother in the same way.
- ¹⁴ When he was near death, he said, "It is my choice to die at the hands of men with the God-given hope of being restored to life by him; but for you, there will be no resurrection to life."
- ¹⁵ They next brought forward the fifth brother and maltreated him. Looking at the king,
- ¹⁶ he said: "Since you have power among men, mortal though you are, do what you please. But do not think that our nation is forsaken by God.
- ¹⁷ Only wait, and you will see how his great power will torment you and your descendants."
- ¹⁸ After him they brought the sixth brother. When he was about to die, he said: "Have no vain illusions. We suffer these things on our own account, because we have sinned against our God; that is why such astonishing things have happened to us.
- ¹⁹ Do not think, then, that you will go unpunished for having dared to fight against God."
- ²⁰ Most admirable and worthy of everlasting remembrance was the mother, who saw her seven sons perish in a single day, yet bore it courageously because of her hope in the Lord.

²¹Filled with a noble spirit that stirred her womanly heart with manly courage, she exhorted each of them in the language of their forefathers with these words:

²²"I do not know how you came into existence in my womb; it was not I who gave you the breath of life, nor was it I who set in order the elements of which each of you is composed.

²³Therefore, since it is the Creator of the universe who shapes each man's beginning, as he brings about the origin of everything, he, in his mercy, will give you back both breath and life, because you now disregard yourselves for the sake of his law."
Martyrdom of Mother and Sons

²⁴Antiochus, suspecting insult in her words, thought he was being ridiculed. As the youngest brother was still alive, the king appealed to him, not with mere words, but with promises on oath, to make him rich and happy if he would abandon his ancestral customs: he would make him his Friend and entrust him with high office.

²⁵When the youth paid no attention to him at all, the king appealed to the mother, urging her to advise her boy to save his life.

²⁶After he had urged her for a long time, she went through the motions of persuading her son.

²⁷In derision of the cruel tyrant, she leaned over close to her son and said in their native language: "Son, have pity on me, who carried you in my womb for nine months, nursed you for three years, brought you up, educated and supported you to your present age.

²⁸I beg you, child, to look at the heavens and the earth and see all that is in them; then you will know that God did not make them out of existing things; and in the same way the human race came into existence.

²⁹Do not be afraid of this executioner, but be worthy of your brothers and accept death, so that in the time of mercy I may receive you again with them."

³⁰She had scarcely finished speaking when the youth said: "What are you waiting for? I will not obey the king's command. I obey the command of the law given to our forefathers through Moses.

³¹But you, who have contrived every kind of affliction for the Hebrews, will not escape the hands of God.

³²We, indeed, are suffering because of our sins.

³³Though our living Lord treats us harshly for a little while to correct us with chastisements, he will again be reconciled with his servants.

³⁴But you, wretch, vilest of all men! do not, in your insolence, concern yourself with unfounded hopes, as you raise your hand against the children of Heaven.

³⁵You have not yet escaped the judgment of the almighty and all-seeing God.

³⁶My brothers, after enduring brief pain, have drunk of never-failing life, under God's covenant, but you, by the judgment of God, shall receive just punishments for your arrogance.

³⁷Like my brothers, I offer up my body and my life for our ancestral laws, imploring God to show mercy soon to our nation, and by afflictions and blows to make you confess that he alone is God.

³⁸Through me and my brothers, may there be an end to the wrath of the Almighty that has justly fallen on our whole nation."

³⁹At that, the king became enraged and treated him even worse than the others, since he bitterly resented the boy's contempt.

⁴⁰Thus he too died undefiled, putting all his trust in the Lord.

⁴¹The mother was last to die, after her sons.

⁴²Enough has been said about the sacrificial meals and the excessive cruelties.

8 Judas Maccabeus and his companions entered the villages, secretly, summoned their kinsmen, and by also enlisting others who remained faithful to Judaism, assembled about six thousand men.

²They implored the Lord to look kindly upon his people, who were being oppressed on all sides; to have pity on the temple, which was profaned by godless men;

³to have mercy on the city, which was being destroyed and about to be leveled to the ground; to hearken to the blood that cried out to him;

⁴to remember the criminal slaughter of innocent children and the blasphemies uttered against his name; and to manifest his hatred of evil.

- ⁵Once Maccabeus got his men organized, the Gentiles could not withstand him, for the Lord's wrath had now changed to mercy.
- ⁶Coming unexpectedly upon towns and villages, he would set them on fire. He captured strategic positions, and put to flight a large number of the enemy.
- ⁷He preferred the nights as being especially helpful for such attacks. Soon the fame of his valor spread everywhere.
- ⁸When Philip saw that Judas was gaining ground little by little and that his successful advances were becoming more frequent, he wrote to Ptolemy, governor of Coelesyria and Phoenicia, to come to the aid of the king's government.
- ⁹Ptolemy promptly selected Nicanor, son of Patroclus, one of the Chief Friends, and sent him at the head of at least twenty thousand armed men of various nations to wipe out the entire Jewish race. With him he associated Gorgias, a professional military commander, well-versed in the art of war.
- ¹⁰Nicanor planned to raise the two thousand talents of tribute owed by the king to the Romans by selling captured Jews into slavery.
- ¹¹So he immediately sent word to the coastal cities, inviting them to buy Jewish slaves and promising to deliver ninety slaves for a talent--little did he dream of the punishment that was to fall upon him from the Almighty.
- ¹²When Judas learned of Nicanor's advance and informed his companions about the approach of the army,
- ¹³the cowardly and those who lacked faith in God's justice deserted and got away.
- ¹⁴But the others sold everything they had left, and at the same time besought the Lord to deliver those whom the ungodly Nicanor had sold before even meeting them.
- ¹⁵They begged the Lord to do this, if not for their sake, at least for the sake of the covenants made with their forefathers, and because they themselves bore his holy, glorious name.
- ¹⁶Maccabeus assembled his men, six thousand strong, and exhorted them not to be panic-stricken before the enemy, nor to fear the large number of the Gentiles attacking them unjustly, but to fight courageously,

¹⁷keeping before their eyes the lawless outrage perpetrated by the Gentiles against the holy Place and the affliction of the humiliated city, as well as the subversion of their ancestral way of life.

¹⁸"They trust in weapons and acts of daring," he said, "but we trust in almighty God, who can by a mere nod destroy not only those who attack us, but the whole world."

¹⁹He went on to tell them of the times when help had been given their ancestors: both the time of Sennacherib, when a hundred and eighty-five thousand of his men were destroyed,

²¹With such words he encouraged them and made them ready to die for their laws and their country. Then Judas divided his army into four,

²²placing his brothers, Simon, Joseph, and Jonathan, each over a division, assigning to each fifteen hundred men.

²³(There was also Eleazar.) After reading to them from the holy book and giving them the watchword, "The Help of God," he himself took charge of the first division and joined in battle with Nicanor.

²⁴With the Almighty as their ally, they killed more than nine thousand of the enemy, wounded and disabled the greater part of Nicanor's army, and put all of them to flight.

²⁵They also seized the money of those who had come to buy them as slaves. When they had pursued the enemy for some time, ²⁶they were obliged to return by reason of the late hour, it was the day before the sabbath, and for that reason they could not continue the pursuit.

²⁷They collected the enemy's arms and stripped them of their spoils, and then observed the sabbath with fervent praise and thanks to the Lord who kept them safe for that day on which he let descend on them the first dew of his mercy.

²⁸After the sabbath, they gave a share of the booty to the persecuted and to widows and orphans; the rest they divided among themselves and their children.

²⁹When this was done, they made supplication in common, imploring the merciful Lord to be completely reconciled with his servants.

³⁰They also challenged the forces of Timothy and Bacchides, killed more than twenty thousand of them, and captured some very high fortresses. They divided the enormous plunder, allotting half to themselves and the rest to the persecuted, to orphans, widows, and the aged.

³¹They collected the enemies' weapons and carefully stored them in suitable places; the rest of the spoils they carried to Jerusalem.

³²They also killed the commander of Timothy's forces, a most wicked man, who had done great harm to the Jews.

³³While celebrating the victory in their ancestral city, they burned both those who had set fire to the sacred gates and Callisthenes, who had taken refuge in a little house; so he received the reward his wicked deeds deserved.

³⁴The accursed Nicanor, who had brought the thousand slave dealers to buy the Jews, ³⁵after being humbled through the Lord's help by those whom he had thought of no account, laid aside his fine clothes and fled alone across country like a runaway slave, until he reached Antioch. He was eminently successful in destroying his own army.

³⁶So he who had promised to provide tribute for the Romans by the capture of the people of Jerusalem testified that the Jews had a champion, and that they were invulnerable for the very reason that they followed the laws laid down by him. Death of Antiochus

About that time Antiochus retreated in disgrace from the region of Persia.

²He had entered the city called Persepolis and attempted to rob the temple and gain control of the city. Thereupon the people had swift recourse to arms, and Antiochus' men were routed, so that in the end Antiochus was put to flight by the natives and forced to beat a shameful retreat.

³On his arrival in Ecbatana, he learned what had happened to Nicanor and to Timothy's forces.

⁴Overcome with anger, he planned to make the Jews suffer for the injury done by those who had put him to flight. Therefore he ordered his charioteer to drive without stopping until he finished the journey. Yet the condemnation of Heaven rode with him, since he said in his arrogance, "I will make Jerusalem the common graveyard of the Jews as soon as I arrive there."

⁵So the all-seeing Lord, the God of Israel, struck him down with an unseen but incurable blow; for scarcely had he uttered those words when he was seized with excruciating pains in his bowels and sharp internal torment, ⁶a fit punishment for him who had tortured the bowels of others with many barbarous torments.

⁷Far from giving up his insolence, he was all the more filled with arrogance. Breathing fire in his rage against the Jews, he gave orders to drive even faster. As a result he hurtled from the dashing chariot, and every part of his body was racked by the violent fall.

⁸Thus he who previously, in his superhuman presumption, thought he could command the waves of the sea, and imagined he could weigh the mountaintops in his scales, was now thrown to the ground and had to be carried on a litter, clearly manifesting to all the power of God.

⁹The body of this impious man swarmed with worms, and while he was still alive in hideous torments, his flesh rotted off, so that the entire army was sickened by the stench of his corruption.

¹⁰Shortly before, he had thought that he could reach the stars of heaven, and now, no one could endure to transport the man because of this intolerable stench.

¹¹At last, broken in spirit, he began to give up his excessive arrogance, and to gain some understanding, under the scourge of God, for he was racked with pain unceasingly.

¹²When he could no longer bear his own stench, he said, "It is right to be subject to God, and not to think one's mortal self divine."

¹³Then this vile man vowed to the Lord, who would no longer have mercy on him,

¹⁴that he would set free the holy city, toward which he had been hurrying with the intention of leveling it to the ground and making it a common graveyard;

¹⁵he would put on perfect equality with the Athenians all the Jews, whom he had judged not even worthy of burial, but fit only to be thrown out with their children to be eaten by vultures and wild animals;

¹⁶he would adorn with the finest offerings the holy temple which he had previously despoiled; he would restore all the sacred vessels many times over; and would provide from his own revenues the expenses required for the sacrifices.

¹⁷Besides all this, he would become a Jew himself and visit every inhabited place to proclaim there the power of God.

¹⁸But since God's punishment had justly come upon him, his sufferings were not lessened, so he lost hope for himself and wrote the following letter to the Jews in the form of a supplication. It read thus: Death of Antiochus

¹⁹"To my esteemed Jewish citizens, Antiochus, their king and general, sends hearty greetings and best wishes for their health and happiness.

²⁰If you and your children are well and your affairs are going as you wish, I thank God very much, for my hopes are in heaven.

²¹Now that I am ill, I recall with affection the esteem and good will you bear me. On returning from the regions of Persia, I fell victim to a troublesome illness; so I thought it necessary to form plans for the general welfare of all.

²²Actually, I do not despair about my health, since I have great hopes of recovering from my illness.

²³Nevertheless, I know that my father, whenever he went on campaigns in the hinterland, would name his successor,

²⁴so that, if anything unexpected happened or any unwelcome news came, the people throughout the realm would know to whom the government had been entrusted, and so not be disturbed.

²⁵I am also bearing in mind that the neighboring rulers, especially those on the borders of our kingdom, are on the watch for opportunities and waiting to see what will happen. I have therefore appointed as king my son Antiochus, whom I have often before entrusted and commended to most of you, when I made hurried visits to the outlying provinces. I have written to him the letter copied below.

²⁶Therefore I beg and entreat each of you to remember the general and individual benefits you have received, and to continue to show good will toward me and my son.

²⁷I am confident that, following my policy, he will treat you with mildness and kindness in his relations with you."

²⁸So this murderer and blasphemer, after extreme sufferings, such as he had inflicted on others, died a miserable death in the mountains of a foreign land.

²⁹His foster brother Philip brought the body home; but fearing Antiochus' son, he later withdrew into Egypt, to Ptolemy Philometor.

10When Maccabeus and his companions, under the Lord's leadership, had recovered the temple and the city, ²they destroyed the altars erected by the Gentiles in the marketplace and the sacred enclosures.

³After purifying the temple, they made a new altar. Then, with fire struck from flint, they offered sacrifice for the first time in two years, burned incense, and lighted lamps. They also set out the showbread.

⁴When they had done this, they prostrated themselves and begged the Lord that they might never again fall into such misfortunes, and that if they should sin at any time, he might chastise them with moderation and not hand them over to blasphemous and barbarous Gentiles.

⁵On the anniversary of the day on which the temple had been profaned by the Gentiles, that is, the twenty-fifth of the same month Chislew, the purification of the temple took place.

⁶The Jews celebrated joyfully for eight days as on the feast of Booths, remembering how, a little while before, they had spent the feast of Booths living like wild animals in caves on the mountains.

⁷Carrying rods entwined with leaves, green branches and palms, they sang hymns of grateful praise to him who had brought about the purification of his own Place.

⁸By public edict and decree they prescribed that the whole Jewish nation should celebrate these days every year.

⁹Such was the end of Antiochus surnamed Epiphanes.

- ¹⁰Now we shall relate what happened under Antiochus Eupator, the son of that godless man, and shall give a summary of the chief evils caused by the wars.
- ¹¹When Eupator succeeded to the kingdom, he put a certain Lysias in charge of the government as commander-in-chief of Coelesyria and Phoenicia.
- ¹²Ptolemy, surnamed Macron, had taken the lead in treating the Jews fairly because of the previous injustice that had been done them, and he endeavored to have peaceful relations with them.
- ¹³As a result, he was accused before Eupator by the King's Friends. In fact, on all sides he heard himself called a traitor for having abandoned Cyprus, which Philometor had entrusted to him, and for having gone over to Antiochus Epiphanes. Since he could not command the respect due to his high office, he ended his life by taking poison.
- ¹⁴When Gorgias became governor of the region, he employed foreign troops and used every opportunity to attack the Jews.
- ¹⁵At the same time the Idumeans, who held some important strongholds, were harassing the Jews; they welcomed fugitives from Jerusalem and endeavored to continue the war.
- ¹⁶Maccabeus and his companions, after public prayers asking God to be their ally, moved quickly against the strongholds of the Idumeans.
- ¹⁷Attacking vigorously, they gained control of the places, drove back all who manned the walls, and cut down those who opposed them, killing as many as twenty thousand men.
- ¹⁸When at least nine thousand took refuge in two very strong towers, containing everything necessary to sustain a siege,
- ¹⁹Maccabeus left Simon and Joseph, along with Zacchaeus and his men, in sufficient numbers to besiege them, while he himself went off to places where he was more urgently needed.
- ²⁰But some of the men in Simon's force who were money lovers let themselves be bribed by some of the men in the towers; on receiving seventy thousand drachmas, they allowed a number of them to escape.

²¹When Maccabeus was told what had happened, he assembled the rulers of the people and accused those men of having sold their kinsmen for money by setting their enemies free to fight against them.

²²So he put them to death as traitors, and without delay captured the two towers.

²³As he was successful at arms in all his undertakings, he destroyed more than twenty thousand men in the two strongholds.

²⁴Timothy, who had previously been defeated by the Jews, gathered a tremendous force of foreign troops and collected a large number of cavalry from Asia; then he appeared in Judea, ready to conquer it by force.

²⁵At his approach, Maccabeus and his men made supplication to God, sprinkling earth upon their heads and girding their loins in sackcloth.

²⁶Lying prostrate at the foot of the altar, they begged him to be gracious to them, and to be an enemy to their enemies, and a foe to their foes, as the law declares.

²⁷After the prayer, they took up their arms and advanced a considerable distance from the city, halting when they were close to the enemy.

²⁸As soon as dawn broke, the armies joined battle, the one having as pledge of success and victory not only their valor but also their reliance on the Lord, and the other taking fury as their leader in the fight.

²⁹In the midst of the fierce battle, there appeared to the enemy from the heavens five majestic men riding on golden-bridled horses, who led the Jews on.

³⁰They surrounded Maccabeus, and shielding him with their own armor, kept him from being wounded. They shot arrows and hurled thunderbolts at the enemy, who were bewildered and blinded, thrown into confusion and routed.

³¹Twenty-five hundred of their foot soldiers and six hundred of their horsemen were slain.

³²Timothy, however, fled to a well-fortified stronghold called Gazara, where Chaereas was in command.

³³For four days Maccabeus and his men eagerly besieged the fortress.

³⁴Those inside, relying on the strength of the place, kept repeating outrageous blasphemies and uttering abominable words.

³⁵When the fifth day dawned, twenty young men in the army of Maccabeus, angered over such blasphemies, bravely stormed the wall and with savage fury cut down everyone they encountered.

³⁷Timothy had hidden in a cistern, but they killed him, along with his brother Chaereas, and Apollophanes.

³⁸On completing these exploits, they blessed, with hymns of grateful praise, the Lord who shows great kindness to Israel and grants them victory.

11 Very soon afterward, Lysias, guardian and kinsman of the king and head of the government, being greatly displeased at what had happened,

²mustered about eighty thousand infantry and all his cavalry and marched against the Jews. His plan was to make Jerusalem a Greek settlement;

³to levy tribute on the temple, as he did on the sanctuaries of the other nations; and to put the high priesthood up for sale every year.

⁴He did not take God's power into account at all, but felt exultant confidence in his myriads of foot soldiers, his thousands of horsemen, and his eighty elephants.

⁵So he invaded Judea, and when he reached Beth-zur, a fortified place about twenty miles from Jerusalem, launched a strong attack against it.

⁶When Maccabeus and his men learned that Lysias was besieging the strongholds, they and all the people begged the Lord with lamentations and tears to send a good angel to save Israel.

⁷Maccabeus himself was the first to take up arms, and he exhorted the others to join him in risking their lives to help their kinsmen. Then they resolutely set out together.

⁸Suddenly, while they were still near Jerusalem, a horseman appeared at their head, clothed in white garments and brandishing gold weapons.

¹⁰Now that the Lord had shown his mercy toward them, they advanced in battle order with the aid of their heavenly ally.

¹¹Hurling themselves upon the enemy like lions, they laid low eleven thousand foot soldiers and sixteen hundred horsemen, and put all the rest to flight.

¹²Most of those who got away were wounded and stripped of their arms, while Lysias himself escaped only by shameful flight.

¹³But Lysias was not a stupid man. He reflected on the defeat he had suffered, and came to realize that the Hebrews were invincible because the mighty God was their ally. He therefore sent a message ¹⁴persuading them to settle everything on just terms, and promising to persuade the king also, and to induce him to become their friend.

¹⁵Maccabeus, solicitous for the common good, agreed to all that Lysias proposed; and the king, on his part, granted in behalf of the Jews all the written requests of Maccabeus to Lysias.

¹⁶These are the terms of the letter which Lysias wrote to the Jews: "Lysias sends greetings to the Jewish people.

¹⁷John and Absalom, your envoys, have presented your signed communication and asked about the matters contained in it.

¹⁸Whatever had to be referred to the king I called to his attention, and the things that were acceptable he has granted.

¹⁹If you maintain your loyalty to the government, I will endeavor to further your interests in the future.

²⁰On the details of these matters I have authorized my representatives, as well as your envoys, to confer with you.

²¹Farewell." The year one hundred and forty-eight, the twenty-fourth of Dioscorinthius.

²²The king's letter read thus: "King Antiochus sends greetings to his brother Lysias.

²³Now that our father has taken his place among the gods, we wish the subjects of our kingdom to be undisturbed in conducting their own affairs.

²⁴We understand that the Jews do not agree with our father's policy concerning Greek customs but prefer their own way of life. They are petitioning us to let them retain their own customs.

²⁵Since we desire that this people too should be undisturbed, our decision is that their temple be restored to them and that they live in keeping with the customs of their ancestors.

²⁶Accordingly, please send them messengers to give them our assurances of friendship, so that, when they learn of our decision, they may have nothing to worry about but may contentedly go about their own business."

²⁷The king's letter to the people was as follows: "King Antiochus sends greetings to the Jewish senate and to the rest of the Jews.

²⁸If you are well, it is what we desire. We too are in good health.

²⁹Menelaus has told us of your wish to return home and attend to your own affairs.

³⁰Therefore, those who return by the thirtieth of Xanthicus will have our assurance of full permission

³¹to observe their dietary laws and other laws, just as before, and none of the Jews shall be molested in any way for faults committed through ignorance.

³²I have also sent Menelaus to reassure you.

³³Farewell." In the year one hundred and forty-eight, the fifteenth of Xanthicus.

³⁴The Romans also sent them a letter as follows: "Quintus Memmius and Titus Manius, legates of the Romans, send greetings to the Jewish people.

³⁵Whatever Lysias, kinsman of the king, has granted you, we also approve.

³⁶But the matters on which he passed judgment should be submitted to the king. As soon as you have considered them, send someone to us with your decisions so that we may present them to your advantage, for we are on our way to Antioch.

³⁷Make haste, then, to send us those who can inform us of your intentions.

³⁸Farewell." In the year one hundred and forty-eight, the fifteenth of Xanthicus.

12After these agreements were made, Lysias returned to the king, and the Jews went about their farming.

²But some of the local governors, Timothy and Apollonius, son of Gennaesus, as also Hieronymus and Demophon, to say nothing of Nicanor, the commander of the Cyprians, would not allow them to live in peace.

³Some people of Joppa also committed this outrage: they invited the Jews who lived among them, together with their wives and children, to embark on boats which they had provided. There was no hint of enmity toward them;

⁴this was done by public vote of the city. When the Jews, not suspecting treachery and wishing to live on friendly terms, accepted the invitation, the people of Joppa took them out to sea and drowned at least two hundred of them.

⁵As soon as Judas heard of the barbarous deed perpetrated against his countrymen, he summoned his men;

⁶and after calling upon God, the just judge, he marched against the murderers of his kinsmen. In a night attack he set the harbor on fire, burnt the boats, and put to the sword those who had taken refuge there.

⁷When the gates of the town were shut, he withdrew, intending to come back later and wipe out the entire population of Joppa.

⁸On hearing that the men of Jamnia planned to give like treatment to the Jews who lived among them, ⁹he attacked the Jamnian populace by night, setting fire to the harbor and the fleet, so that the glow of the flames was visible as far as Jerusalem, thirty miles away.

¹⁰When the Jews had gone about a mile from there in the campaign against Timothy, they were attacked by Arabs numbering at least five thousand foot soldiers, and five hundred horsemen.

¹¹After a hard fight, Judas and his companions, with God's help, were victorious. The defeated nomads begged Judas to make friends with them and promised to supply the Jews with cattle and to help them in every other way.

¹²Realizing that they could indeed be useful in many respects, Judas agreed to make peace with them. After the pledge of friendship had been exchanged, the Arabs withdrew to their tents.

¹³He also attacked a certain city called Caspin, fortified with earthworks and ramparts and inhabited by a mixed population of Gentiles.

¹⁴Relying on the strength of their walls and their supply of provisions, the besieged treated Judas and his men with contempt, insulting them and even uttering blasphemies and profanity.

¹⁵But Judas and his men invoked the aid of the great Sovereign of the world, who, in the day of Joshua, overthrew Jericho without battering-ram or siege machine; then they furiously stormed the ramparts.

¹⁶Capturing the city by the will of God, they inflicted such indescribable slaughter on it that the adjacent pool, which was about a quarter of a mile wide, seemed to be filled with the blood that flowed into it.

¹⁷When they had gone on some ninety miles, they reached Charax, where there were certain Jews known as Toubiani.

¹⁸But they did not find Timothy in that region, for he had already departed from there without having done anything except to leave behind in one place a very strong garrison.

¹⁹But Dositheus and Sosipater, two of Maccabeus' captains, marched out and destroyed the force of more than ten thousand men that Timothy had left in the stronghold.

²⁰Meanwhile, Maccabeus divided his army into cohorts, with a commander over each cohort, and went in pursuit of Timothy, who had a force of a hundred and twenty thousand foot soldiers and twenty-five hundred horsemen.

²¹When Timothy learned of the approach of Judas, he sent on ahead of him the women and children, as well as the baggage, to a place called Karnion, which was hard to besiege and even hard to reach because of the difficult terrain of that region.

²²But when Judas' first cohort appeared, the enemy was overwhelmed with fear and terror at the manifestation of the All-seeing. Scattering in every direction, they rushed away in such headlong flight that in many cases they wounded one another, pierced by the swords of their own men.

²³Judas pressed the pursuit vigorously, putting the sinners to the sword and destroying as many as thirty thousand men.

²⁴Timothy himself fell into the hands of the men under Dositheus and Sosipater; but with great cunning, he asked them to spare his life and let him go, because he had in his power the parents and relatives of many of them, and could make these suffer.

²⁵When he had fully confirmed his solemn pledge to restore them unharmed, they let him go for the sake of saving their brethren.

²⁶Judas then marched to Karnion and the shrine of Atargatis, where he killed twenty-five thousand people.

²⁷After the defeat and destruction of these, he moved his army to Ephron, a fortified city inhabited by people of many nationalities. Robust young men took up their posts in defense of the walls, from which they fought valiantly; inside were large supplies of machines and missiles.

²⁸But the Jews, invoking the Sovereign who forcibly shatters the might of his enemies, got possession of the city and slaughtered twenty-five thousand of the people in it.

²⁹Then they set out from there and hastened on to Scythopolis, seventy-five miles from Jerusalem.

³⁰But when the Jews who lived there testified to the good will shown by the Scythopolitans and to their kind treatment even in times of adversity, ³¹Judas and his men thanked them and exhorted them to be well disposed to their race in the future also. Finally they arrived in Jerusalem, shortly before the feast of Weeks.

³²After this feast called Pentecost, they lost no time in marching against Gorgias, governor of Idumea, ³³who opposed them with three thousand foot soldiers and four hundred horsemen.

³⁴In the ensuing battle, a few of the Jews were slain.

³⁵A man called Dositheus, a powerful horseman and one of Bacenor's men, caught hold of Gorgias, grasped his military cloak and dragged him along by main strength, intending to capture the vile wretch alive, when a Thracian horseman attacked Dositheus and cut off his arm at the shoulder. Then Gorgias fled to Marisa.

³⁶After Esdris and his men had been fighting for a long time and were weary, Judas called upon the Lord to show himself their ally and leader in the battle.

³⁷Then, raising a battle cry in his ancestral language, and with songs, he charged Gorgias' men when they were not expecting it and put them to flight.

³⁸Judas rallied his army and went to the city of Adullam. As the week was ending, they purified themselves according to custom and kept the sabbath there.

³⁹On the following day, since the task had now become urgent, Judas and his men went to gather up the bodies of the slain and bury them with their kinsmen in their ancestral tombs.

⁴⁰But under the tunic of each of the dead they found amulets sacred to the idols of Jamnia, which the law forbids the Jews to wear. So it was clear to all that this was why these men had been slain.

⁴¹They all therefore praised the ways of the Lord, the just judge who brings to light the things that are hidden.

⁴²Turning to supplication, they prayed that the sinful deed might be fully blotted out. The noble Judas warned the soldiers to keep themselves free from sin, for they had seen with their own eyes what had happened because of the sin of those who had fallen.

⁴³He then took up a collection among all his soldiers, amounting to two thousand silver drachmas, which he sent to Jerusalem to provide for an expiatory sacrifice. In doing this he acted in a very excellent and noble way, inasmuch as he had the resurrection of the dead in view;

⁴⁴for if he were not expecting the fallen to rise again, it would have been useless and foolish to pray for them in death.

⁴⁵But if he did this with a view to the splendid reward that awaits those who had gone to rest in godliness, it was a holy and pious thought.

⁴⁶Thus he made atonement for the dead that they might be freed from this sin.

13In the year one hundred and forty-nine, Judas and his men learned that Antiochus Eupator was invading Judea with a large force, ²and that with him was Lysias, his guardian, who was in charge of the government. They led a Greek army of one hundred and ten thousand foot soldiers, fifty-three hundred horsemen, twenty-two elephants, and three hundred chariots armed with scythes.

³Menelaus also joined them, and with great duplicity kept urging Antiochus on, not for the welfare of his country, but in the hope of being established in office.

⁴But the King of kings aroused the anger of Antiochus against the scoundrel. When the king was shown by Lysias that Menelaus was to blame for all the trouble, he ordered him to be taken to Beroea and executed there in the customary local method.

⁵There is at that place a tower seventy-five feet high, full of ashes, with a circular rim sloping down steeply on all sides toward the ashes.

⁶A man guilty of sacrilege or notorious for certain other crimes is brought up there and then hurled down to destruction.

⁷In such a manner was Menelaus, the transgressor of the law, fated to die; he was deprived even of decent burial.

⁸It was altogether just that he who had committed so many sins against the altar with its pure fire and ashes should meet his death in ashes.

⁹The king was advancing, his mind full of savage plans for inflicting on the Jews worse things than those they suffered in his father's time.

¹⁰When Judas learned of this, he urged the people to call upon the LORD night and day, to help them now, if ever, ¹¹when they were about to be deprived of their law, their country, and their holy temple; and not to allow this nation, which had just begun to revive, to be subjected again to blasphemous Gentiles.

¹²When they had all joined in doing this, and had implored the merciful LORD continuously with weeping and fasting and prostrations for three days, Judas encouraged them and told them to stand ready.

¹³After a private meeting with the elders, he decided that, before the king's army could invade Judea and take possession of the city, the Jews should march out and settle the matter with God's help.

¹⁴Leaving the outcome to the Creator of the world, and exhorting his followers to fight nobly to death for the laws, the temple, the city, the country, and the government, he pitched his camp near Modein.

¹⁵Giving his men the battle cry "God's Victory," he made a night attack on the king's pavilion with a picked force of the bravest young men and killed about two thousand in the camp. They also slew the lead elephant and its rider.

¹⁶Finally they withdrew in triumph, having filled the camp with terror and confusion.

¹⁷Day was just breaking when this was accomplished with the help and protection of the LORD.

¹⁸The king, having had a taste of the Jews' daring, tried to take their positions by a stratagem.

¹⁹So he marched against Beth-zur, a strong fortress of the Jews; but he was driven back, checked, and defeated.

²⁰Judas then sent supplies to the men inside,

²¹but Rhodocus, of the Jewish army, betrayed military secrets to the enemy. He was found out, arrested, and imprisoned.

²²The king made a second attempt by negotiating with the men of Beth-zur. After giving them his pledge and receiving theirs, he withdrew

²⁴He approved of Maccabeus and left him as military and civil governor of the territory from Ptolemais to the region of the Gerrenes.

²⁵When he came to Ptolemais, the people of that city were angered by the peace treaty; in fact they were so indignant that they wanted to annul its provisions.

²⁶But Lysias took the platform, defended the treaty as well as he could and won them over by persuasion. After calming them and gaining their good will, he returned to Antioch. That is how the king's attack and withdrawal went.

14 Three years later, Judas and his men learned that Demetrius, son of Seleucus, had sailed into the port of Tripolis with a powerful army and a fleet, ²and that he had occupied the country, after doing away with Antiochus and his guardian Lysias.

³A certain Alcimus, a former high priest, who had willfully incurred defilement at the time of the revolt, realized that there was no way for him to salvage his position and regain access to the holy altar.

⁴So he went to King Demetrius in the year one hundred and fifty-one and presented him with a gold crown and a palm branch, as well as some of the customary olive branches from the temple. On that occasion he kept quiet.

⁵But he found an opportunity to further his mad scheme when he was invited to the council by Demetrius and questioned about the dispositions and intentions of the Jews. He replied:

⁶"Those Jews called Hasideans, led by Judas Maccabeus, are warmongers, who stir up sedition and keep the kingdom from enjoying peace and quiet.

⁷For this reason, now that I am deprived of my ancestral dignity, that is to say, the high priesthood, I have come here--

⁸first, out of my genuine concern for the king's interests, and secondly, out of consideration for my own countrymen, since our entire nation is suffering great affliction from the unreasonable conduct of the people just mentioned.

⁹When you have informed yourself in detail on these matters, O king, act in the interest of our country and its hard-pressed people with the same gracious consideration that you show toward all.

¹⁰As long as Judas is around, it is impossible for the state to enjoy peace."

¹¹When he had said this, the other Friends who were hostile to Judas quickly added fuel to Demetrius' indignation.

¹²The king immediately chose Nicanor, who had been in command of the elephants, and appointed him governor of Judea. He sent him off

¹³with orders to put Judas to death, to disperse his followers, and to set up Alcimus as high priest of the great temple.

¹⁴The Gentiles from Judea, who would have banished Judas, came flocking to Nicanor, thinking that the misfortunes and calamities of the Jews would mean prosperity for themselves.

¹⁵When the Jews heard of Nicanor's coming, and that the Gentiles were rallying to him, they sprinkled themselves with earth and prayed to him who established his people forever, and who always comes to the aid of his heritage.

¹⁶At their leader's command, they set out at once and came upon the enemy at the village of Adasa.

¹⁷Judas' brother Simon had engaged Nicanor, but because of the sudden appearance of the enemy suffered a slight repulse.

¹⁸However, when Nicanor heard of the valor of Judas and his men, and the great courage with which they fought for their country, he shrank from deciding the issue by bloodshed.

¹⁹So he sent Posidonius, Theodotus and Mattathias to arrange an agreement.

²⁰After a long discussion of the terms, each leader communicated them to his troops; and when general agreement was expressed, they assented to the treaty.

²¹A day was set on which the leaders would meet by themselves. From each side a chariot came forward and thrones were set in place.

²²Judas had posted armed men in readiness at suitable points for fear that the enemy might suddenly carry out some treacherous plan. But the conference was held in the proper way.

- ²³ Nicanor stayed on in Jerusalem, where he did nothing out of place. He got rid of the throngs of ordinary people who gathered around him;
- ²⁴ but he always kept Judas in his company, for he had a cordial affection for the man.
- ²⁵ He urged him to marry and have children; so Judas married, settled down, and shared the common life.
- ²⁶ When Alcimus saw their friendship for each other, he took the treaty that had been made, went to Demetrius, and said that Nicanor was plotting against the state, and that he had appointed Judas, the conspirator against the kingdom, to be his successor.
- ²⁷ Stirred up by the villain's calumnies, the king became enraged. He wrote to Nicanor, stating that he was displeased with the treaty, and ordering him to send Maccabeus as a prisoner to Antioch without delay.
- ²⁸ When this message reached Nicanor he was dismayed, for he hated to break his agreement with a man who had done no wrong.
- ²⁹ However, there was no way of opposing the king, so he watched for an opportunity to carry out this order by a stratagem.
- ³⁰ But Maccabeus noticed that Nicanor was becoming cool in his dealings with him, and acting with unaccustomed rudeness when they met; he concluded that this coldness betokened no good. So he gathered together a large number of his men, and went into hiding from Nicanor.
- ³¹ When Nicanor realized that he had been disgracefully outwitted by the man, he went to the great and holy temple, at a time when the priests were offering the customary sacrifices, and ordered them to surrender Judas.
- ³² As they declared under oath that they did not know where the wanted man was,
- ³³ he raised his right hand toward the temple and swore this oath: "If you do not hand Judas over to me as prisoner, I will level this shrine of God to the ground; I will tear down the altar, and erect here a splendid temple to Dionysus."
- ³⁴ With these words he went away. The priests stretched out their hands toward heaven, calling upon the unfailing defender of our nation in these words:

³⁶Therefore, O holy One, Lord of all holiness, preserve forever undefiled this house, which has been so recently purified."

³⁷A certain Razis, one of the elders of Jerusalem, was denounced to Nicanor as a patriot. A man highly regarded, he was called a father of the Jews because of his love for them.

³⁸In the early days of the revolt, he had been convicted of Judaism, and had risked body and life in his ardent zeal for it.

³⁹Nicanor, to show his detestation of the Jews, sent more than five hundred soldiers to arrest him.

⁴⁰He thought that by arresting such a man he would deal the Jews a hard blow.

⁴¹But when these troops, on the point of capturing the tower, were forcing the outer gate and calling for fire to set the door ablaze, Razis, now caught on all sides, turned his sword against himself,

⁴²preferring to die nobly rather than fall into the hands of vile men and suffer outrages unworthy of his noble birth.

⁴³In the excitement of the struggle he failed to strike exactly. So while the troops rushed in through the doors, he gallantly ran up to the top of the wall and with manly courage threw himself down into the crowd.

⁴⁴But as they quickly drew back and left an opening, he fell into the middle of the empty space.

⁴⁵Still breathing, and inflamed with anger, he got up and ran through the crowd, with blood gushing from his frightful wounds.

15 When Nicanor learned that Judas and his companions were in the territory of Samaria, he decided to attack them in all safety on the day of rest.

²The Jews who were forced to follow him pleaded, "Do not massacre them in that way, like a savage barbarian, but show respect for the day which the All-seeing has exalted with holiness above all other days."

³At this the thrice-sinful wretch asked if there was a ruler in heaven who prescribed the keeping of the sabbath day.

⁴When they replied that there was indeed such a ruler in heaven, the living LORD himself, who commanded the observance of the sabbath day,

⁵he said, "I, on my part, am ruler on earth, and my orders are that you take up arms and carry out the king's business." Nevertheless he did not succeed in carrying out his cruel plan.

⁶In his utter boastfulness and arrogance Nicanor had determined to erect a public monument of victory over Judas and his men.

⁷But Maccabeus remained confident, fully convinced that he would receive help from the LORD.

⁸He urged his men not to fear the enemy, but mindful of the help they had received from Heaven in the past, to expect that now, too, victory would be given them by the Almighty.

⁹By encouraging them with words from the law and the prophets, and by reminding them of the battles they had already won, he filled them with fresh enthusiasm.

¹⁰Having stirred up their courage, he gave his orders and pointed out at the same time the perfidy of the Gentiles and their violation of oaths.

¹¹When he had armed each of them, not so much with the safety of shield and spear as with the encouragement of noble words, he cheered them all by relating a dream, a kind of vision, worthy of belief.

¹²What he saw was this: Onias, the former high priest, a good and virtuous man, modest in appearance, gentle in manners, distinguished in speech, and trained from childhood in every virtuous practice, was praying with outstretched arms for the whole Jewish community.

¹³Then in the same way another man appeared, distinguished by his white hair and dignity, and with an air about him of extraordinary, majestic authority.

¹⁴Onias then said of him, "This is God's prophet Jeremiah, who loves his brethren and fervently prays for his people and their holy city."

¹⁵Stretching out his right hand, Jeremiah presented a gold sword to Judas. As he gave it to him he said,

¹⁶"Accept this holy sword as a gift from God; with it you shall crush your adversaries."

¹⁷Encouraged by Judas' noble words, which had power to instill valor and stir young hearts to courage, the Jews determined not to delay, but to charge gallantly and decide the issue by hand-to-hand combat with the utmost courage, since their city and its temple with the sacred vessels were in danger.

¹⁸They were not so much concerned about their wives and children or their brothers and kinsmen; their first and foremost fear was for the consecrated sanctuary.

¹⁹Those who remained in the city suffered a like agony, anxious as they were about the battle in the open country.

²⁰Everyone now awaited the decisive moment. The enemy were already drawing near with their troops drawn up in battle line, their elephants placed in strategic positions, and their cavalry stationed on the flanks.

²²He prayed to him thus: "You, O LORD, sent your angel in the days of King Hezekiah of Judea, and he slew a hundred and eighty-five thousand men of Sennacherib's army.

²³Sovereign of the heavens, send a good angel now to spread fear and dread before us.

²⁴By the might of your arm may those be struck down who have blasphemously come against your holy people!" With this he ended his prayer.

²⁵Nicanor and his men advanced to the sound of trumpets and battle songs.

²⁶But Judas and his men met the army with supplication and prayers.

²⁷Fighting with their hands and praying to God with their hearts, they laid low at least thirty-five thousand, and rejoiced greatly over this manifestation of God's power.

²⁸When the battle was over and they were joyfully departing, they discovered Nicanor lying there in all his armor;

²⁹so they raised tumultuous shouts in their native tongue in praise of the divine Sovereign.

³⁰Then Judas, who was ever in body and soul the chief defender of his fellow citizens, and had maintained from youth his affection for his countrymen, ordered Nicanor's head and whole right arm to be cut off and taken to Jerusalem.

³¹When he arrived there, he assembled his countrymen, stationed the priests before the altar, and sent for those in the citadel.

³²He showed them the vile Nicanor's head and the wretched blasphemer's arm that had been boastfully stretched out against the holy dwelling of the Almighty.

³³He cut out the tongue of the godless Nicanor, saying he would feed it piecemeal to the birds and would hang up the other wages of his folly opposite the temple.

³⁴At this, everyone looked toward heaven and praised the Lord who manifests his divine power, saying, "Blessed be he who has kept his own Place undefiled!"

³⁵Judas hung up Nicanor's head on the wall of the citadel, a clear and evident proof to all of the Lord's help.

³⁶By public vote it was unanimously decreed never to let this day pass unobserved, but to celebrate it on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, called Adar in Aramaic, the eve of Mordecai's Day.

³⁷Since Nicanor's doings ended in this way, with the city remaining in possession of the Hebrews from that time on, I will bring my own story to an end here too.

³⁸If it is well written and to the point, that is what I wanted; if it is poorly done and mediocre, that is the best I could do.

³⁹Just as it is harmful to drink wine alone or water alone, whereas mixing wine with water makes a more pleasant drink that increases delight, so a skillfully composed story delights the ears of those who read the work. Let this, then, be the end.

Job

1 In the land of Uz there was a blameless and upright man named Job, who feared God and avoided evil.

2 Seven sons and three daughters were born to him;

3 and he had seven thousand sheep, three thousand camels, five hundred yoke of oxen, five hundred she-asses, and a great number of work animals, so that he was greater than any of the men of the East.

4 His sons used to take turns giving feasts, sending invitations to their three sisters to eat and drink with them.

5 And when each feast had run its course, Job would send for them and sanctify them, rising early and offering holocausts for every one of them. For Job said, "It may be that my sons have sinned and blasphemed God in their hearts." This Job did habitually.

6 One day, when the sons of God came to present themselves before the LORD, Satan also came among them.

7 And the LORD said to Satan, "Whence do you come?" Then Satan answered the LORD and said, "From roaming the earth and patrolling it."

8 And the LORD said to Satan, "Have you noticed my servant Job, and that there is no one on earth like him, blameless and upright, fearing God and avoiding evil?"

9 But Satan answered the LORD and said, "Is it for nothing that Job is God-fearing?"

10 Have you not surrounded him and his family and all that he has with your protection? You have blessed the work of his hands, and his livestock are spread over the land.

11 But now put forth your hand and touch anything that he has, and surely he will blaspheme you to your face."

¹²And the LORD said to Satan, "Behold, all that he has is in your power; only do not lay a hand upon his person." So Satan went forth from the presence of the LORD.

¹³And so one day, while his sons and his daughters were eating and drinking wine in the house of their eldest brother,

¹⁴a messenger came to Job and said, "The oxen were plowing and the asses grazing beside them, ¹⁵and the Sabeans carried them off in a raid. They put the herdsmen to the sword, and I alone have escaped to tell you."

¹⁶While he was yet speaking, another came and said, "Lightning has fallen from heaven and struck the sheep and their shepherds and consumed them; and I alone have escaped to tell you."

¹⁷While he was yet speaking, another came and said, "The Chaldeans formed three columns, seized the camels, carried them off, and put those tending them to the sword, and I alone have escaped to tell you."

¹⁸While he was yet speaking, another came and said, "Your sons and daughters were eating and drinking wine in the house of their eldest brother, ¹⁹when suddenly a great wind came across the desert and smote the four corners of the house. It fell upon the young people and they are dead; and I alone have escaped to tell you."

²⁰Then Job began to tear his cloak and cut off his hair. He cast himself prostrate upon the ground,

²¹and said, "Naked I came forth from my mother's womb, and naked shall I go back again. The LORD gave and the LORD has taken away; blessed be the name of the LORD!"

²²In all this Job did not sin, nor did he say anything disrespectful of God.

2Once again the sons of God came to present themselves before the LORD, and Satan also came with them.

²And the LORD said to Satan, "Whence do you come?" And Satan answered the LORD and said, "From roaming the earth and patrolling it."

³And the LORD said to Satan, "Have you noticed my servant Job, and that there is no one on earth like him, faultless and upright, fearing God and avoiding evil? He still holds fast to his innocence although you incited me against him to ruin him without cause."

⁴And Satan answered the LORD and said, "Skin for skin! All that a man has will he give for his life.

⁵But now put forth your hand and touch his bone and his flesh, and surely he will blaspheme you to your face."

⁶And the LORD said to Satan, "He is in your power; only spare his life."

⁷So Satan went forth from the presence of the LORD and smote Job with severe boils from the soles of his feet to the crown of his head.

⁸And he took a potsherd to scrape himself, as he sat among the ashes.

⁹Then his wife said to him, "Are you still holding to your innocence? Curse God and die."

¹⁰But he said to her, "Are even you going to speak as senseless women do? We accept good things from God; and should we not accept evil?" Through all this, Job said nothing sinful.

¹¹Now when three of Job's friends heard of all the misfortune that had come upon him, they set out each one from his own place: Eliphaz from Teman, Bildad from Shuh, and Zophar from Naamath. They met and journeyed together to give him sympathy and comfort.

¹²But when, at a distance, they lifted up their eyes and did not recognize him, they began to weep aloud; they tore their cloaks and threw dust upon their heads.

¹³Then they sat down upon the ground with him seven days and seven nights, but none of them spoke a word to him; for they saw how great was his suffering.

3 After this, Job opened his mouth and cursed his day.

²Job spoke out and said:

³Perish the day on which I was born, the night when they said, "The child is a boy!"

⁴May that day be darkness: let not God above call for it, nor light shine upon it!

⁵May darkness and gloom claim it, clouds settle upon it, the blackness of night affright it!

⁶May obscurity seize that day; let it not occur among the days of the year, nor enter into the count of the months!

⁷May that night be barren; let no joyful outcry greet it!

⁸Let them curse it who curse the sea, the appointed disturbers of Leviathan!

⁹May the stars of its twilight be darkened; may it look for daylight, but have none, nor gaze on the eyes of the dawn, ¹⁰Because it kept not shut the doors of the womb to shield my eyes from trouble!

¹¹Why did I not perish at birth, come forth from the womb and expire?

¹²Wherefore did the knees receive me? or why did I suck at the breasts?

¹³For then I should have lain down and been tranquil; had I slept, I should then have been at rest

¹⁴With kings and counselors of the earth who built where now there are ruins

¹⁵Or with princes who had gold and filled their houses with silver.

¹⁶Or why was I not buried away like an untimely birth, like babes that have never seen the light?

¹⁷There the wicked cease from troubling, there the weary are at rest.

¹⁸There the captives are at ease together, and hear not the voice of the slave driver.

¹⁹Small and great are there the same, and the servant is free from his master.

²⁰Why is light given to the toilers, and life to the bitter in spirit?

²¹They wait for death and it comes not; they search for it rather than for hidden treasures,

²²Rejoice in it exultingly, and are glad when they reach the grave:

²³Men whose path is hidden from them, and whom God has hemmed in!

²⁴For sighing comes more readily to me than food, and my groans well forth like water.

²⁵For what I fear overtakes me, and what I shrink from comes upon me.

²⁶I have no peace nor ease; I have no rest, for trouble comes!

4 Then spoke Eliphaz the Temanite, who said:

²If someone attempts a word with you, will you mind? For how can anyone refrain from speaking?

³Behold, you have instructed many, and have made firm their feeble hands.

⁴Your words have upheld the stumbler; you have strengthened his faltering knees.

⁵But now that it comes to you, you are impatient; when it touches yourself, you are dismayed.

⁶Is not your piety a source of confidence, and your integrity of life your hope?

⁷Reflect now, what innocent person perishes? Since when are the upright destroyed?

⁸As I see it, those who plow for mischief and sow trouble, reap the same.

⁹By the breath of God they perish, and by the blast of his wrath they are consumed.

¹⁰Though the lion roars, though the king of beasts cries out, yet the teeth of the young lions are broken;

¹¹The old lion perishes for lack of prey, and the cubs of the lioness are scattered.

¹²For a word was stealthily brought to me, and my ear caught a whisper of it.

¹³In my thoughts during visions of the night, when deep sleep falls on men, ¹⁴Fear came upon me, and shuddering, that terrified me to the bones.

¹⁵Then a spirit passed before me, and the hair of my flesh stood up.

¹⁶It paused, but its likeness I could not discern; a figure was before my eyes, and I heard a still voice:

¹⁷"Can a man be righteous as against God? Can a mortal be blameless against his Maker?

¹⁸Lo, he puts no trust in his servants, and with his angels he can find fault.

¹⁹How much more with those that dwell in houses of clay, whose foundation is in the dust, who are crushed more easily than the moth!

²⁰Morning or evening they may be shattered; with no heed paid to it, they perish forever.

²¹The pegs of their tent are plucked up; they die without knowing wisdom."

5 Call now! Will anyone respond to you? To which of the holy ones will you appeal?

²Nay, impatience kills the fool and indignation slays the simpleton.

³I have seen a fool spreading his roots, but his household suddenly decayed.

⁴His children shall be far from safety; they shall be crushed at the gate without a rescuer.

⁵What they have reaped the hungry shall eat up; (or God shall take it away by blight;) and the thirsty shall swallow their substance.

⁶For mischief comes not out of the earth, nor does trouble spring out of the ground;

⁷But man himself begets mischief, as sparks fly upward.

⁸In your place, I would appeal to God, and to God I would state my plea.

¹⁰He gives rain upon the earth and sends water upon the fields;

¹¹He sets up on high the lowly, and those who mourn he exalts to safety.

¹²He frustrates the plans of the cunning, so that their hands achieve no success;

¹³He catches the wise in their own ruses, and the designs of the crafty are routed.

¹⁴They meet with darkness in the daytime, and at noonday they grope as though it were night.

¹⁵But the poor from the edge of the sword and from the hand of the mighty, he saves.

¹⁶Thus the unfortunate have hope, and iniquity closes her mouth.

¹⁷Happy is the man whom God reproves! The Almighty's chastening do not reject.

¹⁸For he wounds, but he binds up; he smites, but his hands give healing.

¹⁹Out of six troubles he will deliver you, and at the seventh no evil shall touch you.

²⁰In famine he will deliver you from death, and in war from the threat of the sword;

²¹From the scourge of the tongue you shall be hidden, and shall not fear approaching ruin.

²²At destruction and want you shall laugh; the beasts of the earth you need not dread.

²³You shall be in league with the stones of the field, and the wild beasts shall be at peace with you.

²⁴And you shall know that your tent is secure; taking stock of your household, you shall miss nothing.

²⁵You shall know that your descendants are many, and your offspring as the grass of the earth.

²⁶You shall approach the grave in full vigor, as a shock of grain comes in at its season.

²⁷Lo, this we have searched out; so it is! This we have heard, and you should know.

6 Then Job answered and said:

² Ah, could my anguish but be measured and my calamity laid with it in the scales,

³ They would now outweigh the sands of the sea! Because of this I speak without restraint.

⁴ For the arrows of the Almighty pierce me, and my spirit drinks in their poison; the terrors of God are arrayed against me.

⁵ Does the wild ass bray when he has grass? Does the ox low over his fodder?

⁶ Can a thing insipid be eaten without salt? Is there flavor in the white of an egg?

⁷ I refuse to touch them; they are loathsome food to me.

⁸ Oh, that I might have my request, and that God would grant what I long for:

⁹ Even that God would decide to crush me, that he would put forth his hand and cut me off!

¹⁰ Then I should still have consolation and could exult through unremitting pain, because I have not transgressed the commands of the Holy One.

¹¹ What strength have I that I should endure, and what is my limit that I should be patient?

¹² Have I the strength of stones, or is my flesh of bronze?

¹³ Have I no helper, and has advice deserted me?

¹⁴ A friend owes kindness to one in despair, though he have forsaken the fear of the Almighty.

¹⁶ Though they may be black with ice, and with snow heaped upon them,

¹⁷ Yet once they flow, they cease to be; in the heat, they disappear from their place.

¹⁸Caravans turn aside from their routes; they go into the desert and perish.

¹⁹The caravans of Tema search, the companies of Sheba have hopes;

²⁰They are disappointed, though they were confident; they come there and are frustrated.

²¹It is thus that you have now become for me; you see a terrifying thing and are afraid.

²²Have I asked you to give me anything, to offer a gift for me from your possessions, ²³Or to deliver me from the enemy, or to redeem me from oppressors?

²⁴Teach me, and I will be silent; prove to me wherein I have erred.

²⁵How agreeable are honest words; yet how unconvincing is your argument!

²⁶Do you consider your words as proof, but the sayings of a desperate man as wind?

²⁷You would even cast lots for the orphan, and would barter away your friend!

²⁸Come, now, give me your attention; surely I will not lie to your face.

²⁹Think it over; let there be no injustice. Think it over; I still am right.

³⁰Is there insincerity on my tongue, or cannot my taste discern falsehood?

7 Is not man's life on earth a drudgery? Are not his days those of a hireling?

²He is a slave who longs for the shade, a hireling who waits for his wages.

³So I have been assigned months of misery, and troubled nights have been told off for me.

⁴If in bed I say, "When shall I arise?" then the night drags on; I am filled with restlessness until the dawn.

⁵My flesh is clothed with worms and scabs; my skin cracks and festers;

⁶My days are swifter than a weaver's shuttle; they come to an end without hope.

⁷Remember that my life is like the wind; I shall not see happiness again.

⁸The eye that now sees me shall no more behold me; as you look at me, I shall be gone.

⁹As a cloud dissolves and vanishes, so he who goes down to the nether world shall come up no more.

¹⁰He shall not again return to his house; his place shall know him no more.

¹¹My own utterance I will not restrain; I will speak in the anguish of my spirit; I will complain in the bitterness of my soul.

¹²Am I the sea, or a monster of the deep, that you place a watch over me? Why have you set me up as an object of attack; or why should I be a target for you?

¹³When I say, "My bed shall comfort me, my couch shall ease my complaint," ¹⁴Then you affright me with dreams and with visions terrify me,

¹⁵So that I should prefer choking and death rather than my pains.

¹⁶I waste away: I cannot live forever; let me alone, for my days are but a breath.

¹⁷What is man, that you make much of him, or pay him any heed?

¹⁸You observe him with each new day and try him at every moment!

¹⁹How long will it be before you look away from me, and let me alone long enough to swallow my spittle?

²⁰Though I have sinned, what can I do to you, O watcher of men?

²¹Why do you not pardon my offense, or take away my guilt? For soon I shall lie down in the dust; and should you seek me I shall then be gone.

8 Bildad the Shuhite spoke out and said:

²How long will you utter such things? The words from your mouth are like a mighty wind!

³Does God pervert judgment, and does the Almighty distort justice?

⁴If your children have sinned against him and he has left them in the grip of their guilt,

⁵Still, if you yourself have recourse to God and make supplication to the Almighty,

⁶Should you be blameless and upright, surely now he will awake for you and restore your rightful domain;

⁷Your former state will be of little moment, for in time to come you will flourish indeed.

⁸If you inquire of the former generations, and give heed to the experience of the fathers

⁹(As we are but of yesterday and have no knowledge, because our days on earth are but a shadow), ¹⁰Will they not teach you and tell you and utter their words of understanding?

¹¹Can the papyrus grow up without mire? Can the reed grass flourish without water?

¹²While it is yet green and uncut, it withers quicker than any grass.

¹³So is the end of everyone who forgets God, and so shall the hope of the godless man perish.

¹⁴His confidence is but a gossamer thread and his trust is a spider's web.

¹⁵He shall rely upon his family, but it shall not last; he shall cling to it, but it shall not endure.

¹⁶He is full of sap before sunrise, and beyond his garden his shoots go forth;

¹⁷About a heap of stones are his roots entwined; among the rocks he takes hold.

¹⁸Yet if one tears him from his place, it will disown him: "I have never seen you!"

¹⁹There he lies rotting beside the road, and out of the soil another sprouts.

²⁰Behold, God will not cast away the upright; neither will he take the hand of the wicked.

²¹Once more will he fill your mouth with laughter, and your lips with rejoicing.

²²They that hate you shall be clothed with shame, and the tent of the wicked shall be no more.

9 Then Job answered and said:

²I know well that it is so; but how can a man be justified before God?

³Should one wish to contend with him, he could not answer him once in a thousand times.

⁴God is wise in heart and mighty in strength; who has withstood him and remained unscathed?

⁵He removes the mountains before they know it; he overturns them in his anger.

⁶He shakes the earth out of its place, and the pillars beneath it tremble.

⁷He commands the sun, and it rises not; he seals up the stars.

⁸He alone stretches out the heavens and treads upon the crests of the sea.

⁹He made the Bear and Orion, the Pleiades and the constellations of the south;

¹⁰He does great things past finding out, marvelous things beyond reckoning.

¹¹Should he come near me, I see him not; should he pass by, I am not aware of him;

¹²Should he seize me forcibly, who can say him nay? Who can say to him, "What are you doing?"

¹³He is God and he does not relent; the helpers of Rahab bow beneath him.

¹⁴How much less shall I give him any answer, or choose out arguments against him!

¹⁵Even though I were right, I could not answer him, but should rather beg for what was due me.

¹⁶If I appealed to him and he answered my call, I could not believe that he would hearken to my words;

¹⁷With a tempest he might overwhelm me, and multiply my wounds without cause;

¹⁸He need not suffer me to draw breath, but might fill me with bitter griefs.

¹⁹If it be a question of strength, he is mighty; and if of judgment, who will call him to account?

²⁰Though I were right, my own mouth might condemn me; were I innocent, he might put me in the wrong.

²¹Though I am innocent, I myself cannot know it; I despise my life.

²²It is all one! therefore I say: Both the innocent and the wicked he destroys.

²³When the scourge slays suddenly, he laughs at the despair of the innocent.

²⁴The earth is given into the hands of the wicked; he covers the faces of its judges. If it is not he, who then is it?

²⁵My days are swifter than a runner, they flee away; they see no happiness;

²⁶They shoot by like skiffs of reed, like an eagle swooping upon its prey.

²⁷If I say: I will forget my complaining, I will lay aside my sadness and be of good cheer, ²⁸Then I am in dread of all my pains; I know that you will not hold me innocent.

²⁹If I must be accounted guilty, why then should I strive in vain?

³⁰If I should wash myself with snow and cleanse my hands with lye, ³¹Yet you would plunge me in the ditch, so that my garments would abhor me.

³²For he is not a man like myself, that I should answer him, that we should come together in judgment.

³³Would that there were an arbiter between us, who could lay his hand upon us both

³⁴and withdraw his rod from me. Would that his terrors did not frighten me;

³⁵that I might speak without being afraid of him. Since this is not the case with me,

10 I loathe my life. I will give myself up to complaint; I will speak from the bitterness of my soul.

²I will say to God: Do not put me in the wrong! Let me know why you oppose me.

³Is it a pleasure for you to oppress, to spurn the work of your hands, and smile on the plan of the wicked?

⁴Have you eyes of flesh? Do you see as man sees?

⁵Are your days as the days of a mortal, and are your years as a man's lifetime,

⁶That you seek for guilt in me and search after my sins,

⁷Even though you know that I am not wicked, and that none can deliver me out of your hand?

⁸Your hands have formed me and fashioned me; will you then turn and destroy me?

⁹Oh, remember that you fashioned me from clay! Will you then bring me down to dust again?

¹⁰Did you not pour me out as milk, and thicken me like cheese?

¹¹With skin and flesh you clothed me, with bones and sinews knit me together.

¹²Grace and favor you granted me, and your providence has preserved my spirit.

¹³Yet these things you have hidden in your heart; I know that they are your purpose:

¹⁴If I should sin, you would keep a watch against me, and from my guilt you would not absolve me.

¹⁵If I should be wicked, alas for me! if righteous, I dare not hold up my head, filled with ignominy and sodden with affliction!

¹⁶Should it lift up, you hunt me like a lion: repeatedly you show your wondrous power against me,

¹⁷You renew your attack upon me and multiply your harassment of me; in waves your troops come against me.

¹⁸Why then did you bring me forth from the womb? I should have died and no eye have seen me.

¹⁹I should be as though I had never lived; I should have been taken from the womb to the grave.

²⁰Are not the days of my life few? Let me alone, that I may recover a little

²¹Before I go whence I shall not return, to the land of darkness and of gloom, ²²The black, disordered land where darkness is the only light.

11 And Zophar the Naamathite spoke out and said:

²Should not the man of many words be answered, or must the garrulous man necessarily be right?

³Shall your babblings keep men silent, and shall you deride and no one give rebuke?

⁴Shall you say: "My teaching is pure, and I am clean in your sight"?

⁵But oh, that God would speak, and open his lips against you,

⁶And tell you that the secrets of wisdom are twice as effective: So you might learn that God will make you answer for your guilt.

⁷Can you penetrate the designs of God? Dare you vie with the perfection of the Almighty?

⁸It is higher than the heavens; what can you do? It is deeper than the nether world; what can you know?

⁹It is longer than the earth in measure, and broader than the sea.

- ¹⁰If he seize and imprison or call to judgment, who then can say him nay?
- ¹¹For he knows the worthlessness of men and sees iniquity; will he then ignore it?
- ¹²Will empty man then gain understanding, and the wild jackass be made docile?
- ¹³If you set your heart aright and stretch out your hands toward him,
- ¹⁴If you remove all iniquity from your conduct, and let not injustice dwell in your tent,
- ¹⁵Surely then you may lift up your face in innocence; you may stand firm and unafraid.
- ¹⁶For then you shall forget your misery, or recall it like waters that have ebbed away.
- ¹⁷Then your life shall be brighter than the noonday; its gloom shall become as the morning,
- ¹⁸And you shall be secure, because there is hope; you shall look round you and lie down in safety,
- ¹⁹and you shall take your rest with none to disturb. Many shall entreat your favor,
- ²⁰but the wicked, looking on, shall be consumed with envy. Escape shall be cut off from them, they shall wait to expire.

12 Then Job replied and said:

- ²No doubt you are the intelligent folk, and with you wisdom shall die!
- ³But I have intelligence as well as you; for who does not know such things as these?
- ⁴I have become the sport of my neighbors: "The one whom God answers when he calls upon him, The just, the perfect man," is a laughing-stock;
- ⁵The undisturbed esteem my downfall a disgrace such as awaits unsteady feet;
- ⁶Yet the tents of robbers are prosperous, and those who provoke God are secure.
- ⁷But now ask the beasts to teach you, and the birds of the air to tell you;

⁸Or the reptiles on earth to instruct you, and the fish of the sea to inform you.

⁹Which of all these does not know that the hand of God has done this?

¹⁰In his hand is the soul of every living thing, and the life breath of all mankind.

¹¹Does not the ear judge words as the mouth tastes food?

¹²So with old age is wisdom, and with length of days understanding.

¹³With him are wisdom and might; his are counsel and understanding.

¹⁴If he breaks a thing down, there is no rebuilding; if he imprisons a man, there is no release.

¹⁵He holds back the waters and there is drought; he sends them forth and they overwhelm the land.

¹⁶With him are strength and prudence; the misled and the misleaders are his.

¹⁷He sends counselors away barefoot, and of judges he makes fools.

¹⁸He loosens the bonds imposed by kings and leaves but a waistcloth to bind the king's own loins.

¹⁹and lets their never-failing waters flow away.

²⁰He silences the trusted adviser, and takes discretion from the aged.

²¹He breaks down the barriers of the streams

²²The recesses of the darkness he discloses, and brings the gloom forth to the light.

²³He makes nations great and he destroys them; he spreads peoples abroad and he abandons them.

²⁴He takes understanding from the leaders of the land,

²⁵till they grope in the darkness without light; he makes them stagger like drunken men.

13 Lo, all this my eye has seen; my ear has heard and perceived it.

²What you know, I also know; I fall not short of you.

³But I would speak with the Almighty; I wish to reason with God.

⁴You are glossing over falsehoods and offering vain remedies, every one of you!

⁵Oh, that you would be altogether silent! This for you would be wisdom.

⁶Hear now the rebuke I shall utter and listen to the reproof from my lips.

⁷Is it for God that you speak falsehood? Is it for him that you utter deceit?

⁸Is it for him that you show partiality? Do you play advocate on behalf of God?

⁹Will it be well when he shall search you out? Would you impose on him as one does on men?

¹⁰He will openly rebuke you if even in secret you show partiality.

¹¹Surely will his majesty affright you and the dread of him fall upon you.

¹²Your reminders are ashy maxims, your fabrications are mounds of clay.

¹³Be silent, let me alone! that I may speak and give vent to my feelings.

¹⁴I will carry my flesh between my teeth, and take my life in my hand.

¹⁵Slay me though he might, I will wait for him; I will defend my conduct before him.

¹⁶And this shall be my salvation, that no impious man can come into his presence.

¹⁷Pay careful heed to my speech, and give my statement a hearing.

¹⁸Behold, I have prepared my case, I know that I am in the right.

¹⁹If anyone can make a case against me, then I shall be silent and die.

²⁰These things only do not use against me, then from your presence I need not hide:

²¹Withdraw your hand far from me, and let not the terror of you frighten me.

²²Then call me, and I will respond; or let me speak first, and answer me.

²³What are my faults and my sins? My misdeeds and my sins make known to me!

²⁴Why do you hide your face and consider me your enemy?

²⁵Will you harass a wind-driven leaf, or pursue a withered straw?

²⁶For you draw up bitter indictments against me, and punish in me the faults of my youth.

²⁷You put my feet in the stocks; you watch all my paths and trace out all my footsteps.

²⁸Though he wears out like a leather bottle, like a garment that the moth has consumed?

14Man born of woman is short-lived and full of trouble,

²Like a flower that springs up and fades, swift as a shadow that does not abide.

³Upon such a one will you cast your eyes so as to bring him into judgment before you,

⁴Can a man be found who is clean of defilement? There is none,

⁵however short his days. You know the number of his months; you have fixed the limit which he cannot pass.

⁶Look away from him and let him be, while, like a hireling, he completes his day.

⁷For a tree there is hope, if it be cut down, that it will sprout again and that its tender shoots will not cease.

⁸Even though its root grow old in the earth, and its stump die in the dust,

⁹Yet at the first whiff of water it may flourish again and put forth branches like a young plant.

¹⁰But when a man dies, all vigor leaves him; when man expires, where then is he?

¹¹As when the waters of a lake fail, or a stream grows dry and parches,

¹²So men lie down and rise not again. Till the heavens are no more, they shall not awake, nor be roused out of their sleep.

¹³Oh, that you would hide me in the nether world and keep me sheltered till your wrath is past; would fix a time for me, and then remember me!

¹⁴When a man has died, were he to live again, all the days of my drudgery I would wait, until my relief should come.

¹⁵You would call, and I would answer you; you would esteem the work of your hands.

¹⁶Surely then you would count my steps, and not keep watch for sin in me.

¹⁷My misdeeds would be sealed up in a pouch, and you would cover over my guilt.

¹⁸But as a mountain falls at last and its rock is moved from its place,

¹⁹As waters wear away the stones and floods wash away the soil of the land, so you destroy the hope of man.

²⁰You prevail once for all against him and he passes on; with changed appearance you send him away.

²¹If his sons are honored, he is not aware of it; if they are in disgrace, he does not know about them.

²²Only his own flesh pains him, and his soul grieves for him.

15 Then Eliphaz the Temanite spoke and said:

²Should a wise man answer with airy opinions, or puff himself up with wind?

³Should he argue in speech which does not avail, and in words which are to no profit?

⁴You in fact do away with piety, and you lessen devotion toward God,

- ⁵Because your wickedness instructs your mouth, and you choose to speak like the crafty.
- ⁶Your own mouth condemns you, not I; you own lips refute you.
- ⁷Are you indeed the first-born of mankind, or were you brought forth before the hills?
- ⁸Are you privy to the counsels of God, and do you restrict wisdom to yourself?
- ⁹What do you know that we do not know? What intelligence have you which we have not?
- ¹⁰There are gray-haired old men among us more advanced in years than your father.
- ¹¹Are the consolations of God not enough for you, and speech that deals gently with you?
- ¹²Why do your notions carry you away, and why do your eyes blink,
- ¹³So that you turn your anger against God and let such words escape your mouth!
- ¹⁴What is a man that he should be blameless, one born of woman that he should be righteous?
- ¹⁵If in his holy ones God places no confidence, and if the heavens are not clean in his sight,
- ¹⁶How much less so is the abominable, the corrupt: man, who drinks in iniquity like water!
- ¹⁷I will show you, if you listen to me; what I have seen I will tell--
- ¹⁸What wise men relate and have not contradicted since the days of their fathers,
- ¹⁹To whom alone the land was given, when no foreigner moved among them.
- ²⁰The wicked man is in torment all his days, and limited years are in store for the tyrant;
- ²¹The sound of terrors is in his ears; when all is prosperous, the spoiler comes upon him.

²²He despairs of escaping the darkness, and looks ever for the sword;

²³A wanderer, food for the vultures, he knows that his destruction is imminent.

²⁴By day the darkness fills him with dread; distress and anguish overpower him.

²⁵Because he has stretched out his hand against God and bade defiance to the Almighty, ²⁶One shall rush sternly upon him with the stout bosses of his shield, like a king prepared for the charge.

²⁷Because he has blinded himself with his crassness, padding his loins with fat,

²⁸He shall dwell in ruinous cities, in houses that are deserted, That are crumbling into clay

²⁹with no shadow to lengthen over the ground. He shall not be rich, and his possessions shall not endure;

³⁰A flame shall wither him up in his early growth, and with the wind his blossoms shall disappear.

³¹for vain shall be his bartering.

³²His stalk shall wither before its time, and his branches shall be green no more.

³³He shall be like a vine that sheds its grapes unripened, and like an olive tree casting off its bloom.

³⁴For the breed of the impious shall be sterile, and fire shall consume the tents of extortioners.

³⁵They conceive malice and bring forth emptiness; they give birth to failure.

16 Then Job answered and said:

²I have heard this sort of thing many times. Wearisome comforters are you all!

³Is there no end to windy words? Or what sickness have you that you speak on?

⁴I also could talk as you do, were you in my place. I could declaim over you, or wag my head at you;

⁵I could strengthen you with talk, or shake my head with silent lips.

⁶If I speak, this pain I have will not be checked; if I leave off, it will not depart from me.

⁷But now that I am exhausted and stunned, all my company has closed in on me.

⁸As a witness there rises up my traducer, speaking openly against me;

⁹I am the prey his wrath assails, he gnashes his teeth against me. My enemies lord it over me;

¹⁰their mouths are agape to bite me. They smite me on the cheek insultingly; they are all enlisted against me.

¹¹God has given me over to the impious; into the clutches of the wicked he has cast me.

¹²I was in peace, but he dislodged me; he seized me by the neck and dashed me to pieces. He has set me up for a target;

¹³his arrows strike me from all directions, He pierces my sides without mercy, he pours out my gall upon the ground.

¹⁴He pierces me with thrust upon thrust; he attacks me like a warrior.

¹⁵I have fastened sackcloth over my skin, and have laid my brow in the dust.

¹⁶My face is inflamed with weeping and there is darkness over my eyes,

¹⁷Although my hands are free from violence, and my prayer is sincere.

¹⁸O earth, cover not my blood, nor let my outcry come to rest!

¹⁹Even now, behold, my witness is in heaven, and my spokesman is on high.

²⁰My friends it is who wrong me; before God my eyes drop tears,

²¹That he may do justice for a mortal in his presence and decide between a man and his neighbor.

²²For my years are numbered now, and I am on a journey from which I shall not return.

17 My spirit is broken, my lamp of life extinguished; my burial is at hand.

²I am indeed mocked, and, as their provocation mounts, my eyes grow dim.

³Grant me one to offer you a pledge on my behalf: who is there that will give surety for me?

⁴You darken their minds to knowledge; therefore they do not understand.

⁵My lot is described as evil,

⁶and I am made a byword of the people; their object lesson I have become.

⁷My eye has grown blind with anguish, and all my frame is shrunken to a shadow.

⁸Upright men are astonished at this, and the innocent aroused against the wicked.

⁹Yet the righteous shall hold to his way, and he who has clean hands increase in strength.

¹⁰But turn now, and come on again; for I shall not find a wise man among you!

¹¹My days are passed away, my plans are at an end, the cherished purposes of my heart.

¹²Such men change the night into day; where there is darkness they talk of approaching light.

¹³If I look for the nether world as my dwelling, if I spread my couch in the darkness,

¹⁴If I must call corruption "my father," and the maggot "my mother" and "my sister,"

¹⁵Where then is my hope, and my prosperity, who shall see?

¹⁶Will they descend with me into the nether world? Shall we go down together into the dust?

18 Then Bildad the Shuhite replied and said:

²When will you put an end to words? Reflect, and then we can have discussion.

³Why are we accounted like the beasts, their equals in your sight?

⁴You who tear yourself in your anger, shall the earth be neglected on your account (or the rock be moved out of its place)?

⁵Truly, the light of the wicked is extinguished; no flame brightens his hearth.

⁶The light is darkened in his tent; in spite of him, his lamp goes out.

⁷His vigorous steps are hemmed in, and his own counsel casts him down.

⁸For he rushes headlong into a net, and he wanders into a pitfall.

⁹A trap seizes him by the heel, and a snare lays hold of him.

¹⁰A noose for him is hid on the ground, and the toils for him on the way.

¹¹On every side terrors affright him; they harry him at each step.

¹²Disaster is ready at his side,

¹³the first-born of death consumes his limbs.

¹⁴Fiery destruction lodges in his tent, and marches him off to the king of terrors. He is plucked from the security of his tent;

¹⁵over his abode brimstone is scattered.

¹⁶Below, his roots dry up, and above, his branches wither.

¹⁷His memory perishes from the land, and he has no name on the earth.

¹⁸He is driven from light into darkness, and banished out of the world.

¹⁹He has neither son nor grandson among his people, nor any survivor where once he dwelt.

²⁰They who come after shall be appalled at his fate; they who went before are struck with horror.

²¹So is it then with the dwelling of the impious man, and such is the place of him who knows not God!

19 Then Job answered and said:

²How long will you vex my soul, grind me down with words?

³These ten times you have reviled me, have assailed me without shame!

⁴Be it indeed that I am at fault and that my fault remains with me,

⁵Even so, if you would vaunt yourselves against me and cast up to me any reproach,

⁶Know then that God has dealt unfairly with me, and compassed me round with his net.

⁷If I cry out "Injustice!" I am not heard. I cry for help, but there is no redress.

⁸He has barred my way and I cannot pass; he has veiled my path in darkness;

⁹He has stripped me of my glory, and taken the diadem from my brow.

¹⁰He breaks me down on every side, and I am gone; my hope he has uprooted like a tree.

¹¹His wrath he has kindled against me; he counts me among his enemies.

¹²His troops advance as one man; they build up their road to attack me, and they encamp around my tent.

¹³My brethren have withdrawn from me, and my friends are wholly estranged.

¹⁴My kinsfolk and companions neglect me, and my guests have forgotten me.

¹⁵Even my handmaids treat me as a stranger; I am an alien in their sight.

¹⁶I call my servant, but he gives no answer, though in my speech I plead with him.

¹⁷My breath is abhorred by my wife; I am loathsome to the men of my family.

¹⁸The young children, too, despise me; when I appear, they speak against me.

¹⁹All my intimate friends hold me in horror; those whom I loved have turned against me!

²⁰My bones cleave to my skin, and I have escaped with my flesh between my teeth.

²¹Pity me, pity me, O you my friends, for the hand of God has struck me!

²²Why do you hound me as though you were divine, and insatiably prey upon me?

²³Oh, would that my words were written down! Would that they were inscribed in a record:

²⁴That with an iron chisel and with lead they were cut in the rock forever!

²⁵But as for me, I know that my Vindicator lives, and that he will at last stand forth upon the dust;

²⁶And from my flesh I shall see God; my inmost being is consumed with longing.

²⁷Whom I myself shall see: my own eyes, not another's, shall behold him,

²⁸But you who say, "How shall we persecute him, seeing that the root of the matter is found in him?"

²⁹Be afraid of the sword for yourselves, for these crimes deserve the sword; that you may know that there is a judgment.

20 Then Zophar the Naamathite spoke and said:

²and because of this I am disturbed. So now my thoughts provide me with an answer, and from my understanding a spirit gives me a reply.

- ³A rebuke which puts me to shame I hear,
- ⁴Do you not know this from olden time, since man was placed upon the earth,
- ⁵That the triumph of the wicked is short and the joy of the impious but for a moment?
- ⁶Though his pride mount up to the heavens and his head reach to the clouds,
- ⁷Yet he perishes forever like the fuel of his fire, and the onlookers say, "Where is he?"
- ⁸Like a dream he takes flight and is not found again; he fades away like a vision of the night.
- ⁹The eye which saw him does so no more; nor shall his dwelling again behold him.
- ¹⁰and his hands shall yield up his riches.
- ¹¹Though his frame is full of youthful vigor, this shall lie with him in the dust.
- ¹²Though wickedness is sweet in his mouth, and he hides it under his tongue,
- ¹³Though he retains it and will not let it go but keeps it still within his mouth,
- ¹⁴Yet in his stomach the food shall turn; it shall be venom of asps inside him.
- ¹⁵The riches he swallowed he shall disgorge; God shall compel his belly to disown them.
- ¹⁶The poison of asps he shall drink in; the viper's fangs shall slay him.
- ¹⁷He shall see no streams of oil, no torrents of honey or milk.
- ¹⁸Restoring his gains, he shall not enjoy them; though his wealth increases, he shall not rejoice.
- ¹⁹Because he has oppressed the poor, and stolen a patrimony he had not built up,
- ²⁰Though he has known no quiet in his greed, his treasures shall not save him.
- ²¹Therefore his prosperity shall not endure,

²²When he abounds to overflowing, he shall be brought into straits, and nought shall be left of his goods.

²³God shall send against him the fury of his wrath and rain down his missiles of war upon him.

²⁴Should he escape the iron weapon, the bow of bronze shall pierce him through;

²⁵The dart shall come out of his back; terrors shall fall upon him.

²⁶Complete darkness is in store for him; the fire which shall consume him needs not to be fanned.

²⁷The heavens shall reveal his guilt, and the earth shall rise up against him.

²⁸The flood shall sweep away his house with the waters that run off in the day of God's anger.

²⁹This is the portion of a wicked man, and the heritage appointed him by God.

21 Then Job said in reply:

²At least listen to my words, and let that be the consolation you offer.

³Bear with me while I speak; and after I have spoken, you can mock!

⁴Is my complaint toward man? And why should I not be impatient?

⁵Look at me and be astonished, put your hands over your mouths.

⁶When I think of it, I am dismayed, and horror takes hold on my flesh.

⁷Why do the wicked survive, grow old, become mighty in power?

⁸Their progeny is secure in their sight; they see before them their kinsfolk and their offspring.

⁹Their homes are safe and without fear, nor is the scourge of God upon them.

¹⁰Their bulls gender without fail; their cows calve and do not miscarry.

- ¹¹These folk have infants numerous as lambs, and their children dance.
- ¹²They sing to the timbrel and harp, and make merry to the sound of the flute.
- ¹³They live out their days in prosperity, and tranquilly go down to the nether world.
- ¹⁴Yet they say to God, "Depart from us, for we have no wish to learn your ways!
- ¹⁵What is the Almighty that we should serve him? And what gain shall we have if we pray to him?"
- ¹⁶If their happiness is not in their own hands and if the counsel of the wicked is repulsive to God,
- ¹⁷How often is the lamp of the wicked put out? How often does destruction come upon them, the portion he allots in his anger?
- ¹⁸Let them be like straw before the wind, and like chaff which the storm snatches away!
- ¹⁹May God not store up the man's misery for his children; let him requite the man himself so that he feels it,
- ²⁰Let his own eyes see the calamity, and the wrath of the Almighty let him drink!
- ²¹For what interest has he in his family after him, when the number of his months is finished?
- ²²Can anyone teach God knowledge, seeing that he judges those on high?
- ²³One dies in his full vigor, wholly at ease and content;
- ²⁴His figure is full and nourished, and his bones are rich in marrow.
- ²⁵Another dies in bitterness of soul, having never tasted happiness.
- ²⁶Alike they lie down in the dust, and worms cover them both.
- ²⁷Behold, I know your thoughts, and the arguments you rehearse against me.

²⁸For you say, "Where is the house of the magnate, and where the dwelling place of the wicked?"

²⁹Have you not asked the wayfarers and do you not recognize their monuments?

³⁰Nay, the evil man is spared calamity when it comes;

³¹Who will charge him with his conduct to his face, and for what he has done who will repay him?

³²and on the day he is carried to the grave

³³Sweet to him are the clods of the valley, and over him the funeral mound keeps watch, While all the line of mankind follows him, and the countless others who have gone before.

³⁴How then can you offer me vain comfort, while in your answers perfidy remains?

22 Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said:

²Can a man be profitable to God? Though to himself a wise man be profitable!

³Is it of advantage to the Almighty if you are just? Or is it a gain to him if you make your ways perfect?

⁴Is it because of your piety that he reproves you-- that he enters with you into judgment?

⁵Is not your wickedness manifold? Are not your iniquities endless?

⁶You have unjustly kept your kinsmen's goods in pawn, left them stripped naked of their clothing.

⁷To the thirsty you have given no water to drink, and from the hungry you have withheld bread;

⁸As if the land belonged to the man of might, and only the privileged were to dwell in it.

⁹You have sent widows away empty-handed, and the resources of orphans you have destroyed.

¹⁰Therefore snares are round about you, and a sudden terror causes you dismay, ¹¹Or darkness, in which you cannot see; a deluge of waters covers you.

¹²Does not God, in the heights of the heavens, behold the stars, high though they are?

¹³Yet you say, "What does God know? Can he judge through the thick darkness?"

¹⁴Clouds hide him so that he cannot see; he walks upon the vault of the heavens!"

¹⁵Do you indeed keep to the ancient way trodden by worthless men,

¹⁶Who were snatched away before their time; whose foundations a flood swept away?

¹⁷These men said to God, "Depart from us!" and, "What can the Almighty do to us?"

¹⁸(Yet he had filled their houses with good things! But far be from me the mind of the impious!)

¹⁹The just look on and are gladdened, and the innocent deride them:

²⁰"Truly these have been destroyed where they stood, and such as were left, fire has consumed!"

²¹Come to terms with him to be at peace. In this shall good come to you:

²²Receive instruction from his mouth, and lay up his words in your heart.

²³If you return to the Almighty, you will be restored; if you put iniquity far from your tent,

²⁴And treat raw gold like dust, and the fine gold of Ophir as pebbles from the brook,

²⁵Then the Almighty himself shall be your gold and your sparkling silver.

²⁶For then you shall delight in the Almighty and you shall lift up your face toward God.

²⁷You shall entreat him and he will hear you, and your vows you shall fulfill.

²⁸When you make a decision, it shall succeed for you, and upon your ways the light shall shine.

²⁹For he brings down the pride of the haughty, but the man of humble mien he saves.

³⁰God delivers him who is innocent; you shall be delivered through cleanness of hands.

23 Again Job answered and said:

²Though I know my complaint is bitter, his hand is heavy upon me in my groanings.

³Oh, that today I might find him, that I might come to his judgment seat!

⁴I would set out my cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments;

⁵I would learn the words with which he would answer, and understand what he would reply to me.

⁶Even should he contend against me with his great power, yet, would that he himself might heed me!

⁷There the upright man might reason with him, and I should once and for all preserve my rights.

⁸But if I go to the east, he is not there; or to the west, I cannot perceive him;

⁹Where the north enfolds him, I behold him not; by the south he is veiled, and I see him not.

¹⁰Yet he knows my way; if he proved me, I should come forth as gold.

¹¹My foot has always walked in his steps; his way I have kept and have not turned aside.

¹²From the commands of his lips I have not departed; the words of his mouth I have treasured in my heart.

¹³But he had decided, and who can say him nay? What he desires, that he does.

¹⁴For he will carry out what is appointed for me; and many such things may yet be in his mind.

¹⁵Therefore am I dismayed before him; when I take thought, I fear him.

¹⁶Indeed God has made my courage fail; the Almighty has put me in dismay.

¹⁷Yes, would that I had vanished in darkness, and that thick gloom were before me to conceal me.

24 Why are not times set by the Almighty, and why do his friends not see his days?

²The wicked remove landmarks; they steal away herds and pasture them.

³The asses of orphans they drive away; they take the widow's ox for a pledge.

⁴They force the needy off the road; all the poor of the land are driven into hiding.

⁵Like wild asses in the desert, these go forth to their task of seeking food; The steppe provides food for the young among them;

⁶they harvest at night in the untilled land.

⁷They pass the night naked, without clothing, for they have no covering against the cold;

⁸They are drenched with the rain of the mountains, and for want of shelter they cling to the rock.

¹⁰and famished are those who carry the sheaves.

¹¹Between the rows they press out the oil; they glean in the the vineyard of the wicked. They tread the wine presses, yet suffer thirst, ¹²From the dust the dying groan, and the souls of the wounded cry out (yet God does not treat it as unseemly).

¹³There are those who are rebels against the light; they know not its ways; they abide not in its paths.

¹⁴When there is no light the murderer rises, to kill the poor and needy.

¹⁵The eye of the adulterer watches for the twilight; he says, "No eye will see me." In the night the thief roams about, and he puts a mask over his face;

¹⁶in the dark he breaks into houses. By day they shut themselves in; none of them know the light, ¹⁷for daylight they regard as darkness.

¹⁸Their portion in the land is accursed,

²⁰and wickedness is splintered like wood.

²²To him who rises without assurance of his life

²³he gives safety and support. He sustains the mighty by his strength, and his eyes are on their ways.

²⁴They are exalted for a while, and then they are gone; they are laid low and, like all others, are gathered up; like ears of grain they shrivel.

²⁵If this be not so, who will confute me, and reduce my argument to nought?

25 Then Bildad the Shuhite answered and said:

²Dominion and awesomeness are his who brings about harmony in his heavens.

³Is there any numbering of his troops? Yet to which of them does not his light extend?

⁴How can a man be just in God's sight, or how can any woman's child be innocent?

⁵Behold, even the moon is not bright and the stars are not clear in his sight.

⁶How much less man, who is but a maggot, the son of man, who is only a worm?

26 Then Job spoke again and said:

²What help you give to the powerless, what strength to the feeble arm!

³How you counsel, as though he had no wisdom; how profuse is the advice you offer!

⁴With whose help have you uttered those words, and whose is the breath that comes forth from you?

⁵The shades beneath writhe in terror, the waters, and their inhabitants.

⁶Naked before him is the nether world, and Abaddon has no covering.

⁷He stretches out the North over empty space, and suspends the earth over nothing at all;

⁸He binds up the waters in his clouds, yet the cloud is not rent by their weight;

⁹He holds back the appearance of the full moon by spreading his clouds before it.

¹⁰He has marked out a circle on the surface of the deep as the boundary of light and darkness.

¹¹The pillars of the heavens tremble and are stunned at his thunderous rebuke;

¹²By his power he stirs up the sea, and by his might he crushes Rahab;

¹³With his angry breath he scatters the waters, and he hurls the lightning against them relentlessly; His hand pierces the fugitive dragon as from his hand it strives to flee.

¹⁴Lo, these are but the outlines of his ways, and how faint is the word we hear!

²As God lives, who withholds my deserts, the Almighty, who has made bitter my soul,

³So long as I still have life in me and the breath of God is in my nostrils, ⁴My lips shall not speak falsehood, nor my tongue utter deceit!

⁵Far be it from me to account you right; till I die I will not renounce my innocence.

⁶My justice I maintain and I will not relinquish it; my heart does not reproach me for any of my days.

⁷Let my enemy be as the wicked and my adversary as the unjust!

⁸For what can the impious man expect when he is cut off, when God requires his life?

⁹Will God then attend to his cry when calamity comes upon him?

¹⁰Will he then delight in the Almighty and call upon him constantly?

¹¹I will teach you the manner of God's dealings, and the way of the Almighty I will not conceal.

¹²Behold, you yourselves have all seen it; why then do you spend yourselves in idle words!

¹³This is the portion of a wicked man from God, the inheritance an oppressor receives from the Almighty:

¹⁴Though his children be many, the sword is their destiny. His offspring shall not be filled with bread.

¹⁵His survivors, when they die, shall have no burial, and their widows shall not be mourned.

¹⁶Though he heap up silver like dust and store away mounds of clothing,

¹⁷What he has stored the just man shall wear, and the innocent shall divide the silver.

¹⁸He builds his house as of cobwebs, or like a booth put up by the vine-keeper.

¹⁹He lies down a rich man, one last time; he opens his eyes and nothing remains to him.

²⁰Terrors rush upon him by day; at night the tempest carries him off.

²¹The storm wind seizes him and he disappears; it sweeps him out of his place.

28 There is indeed a mine for silver, and a place for gold which men refine.

- ²Iron is taken from the earth, and copper is melted out of stone.
- ³He has set a boundary for the darkness; to the farthest confines he penetrates.
- ⁵The earth, though out of it comes forth bread, is in fiery upheaval underneath.
- ⁶Its stones are the source of sapphires, and there is gold in its dust.
- ⁷The path to it no bird of prey knows, nor has the hawk's eye seen that path.
- ⁸The proud beasts have not trodden it, nor has the lion gone that way.
- ⁹He sets his hand to the flinty rock, and overturns the mountains at their foundations.
- ¹⁰He splits channels in the rocks; his eyes behold all that is precious.
- ¹¹He probes the wellsprings of the streams, and brings hidden things to light.
- ¹²But whence can wisdom be obtained, and where is the place of understanding?
- ¹³Man knows nothing to equal it, nor is it to be had in the land of the living.
- ¹⁴The abyss declares, "It is not in me"; and the sea says, "I have it not."
- ¹⁵Solid gold cannot purchase it, nor can its price be paid with silver.
- ¹⁶It cannot be bought with gold of Ophir, with the precious onyx or the sapphire.
- ¹⁷Gold or crystal cannot equal it, nor can golden vessels reach its worth.
- ¹⁸Neither coral nor jasper should be thought of; it surpasses pearls and
- ¹⁹Arabian topaz.
- ²⁰Whence, then, comes wisdom, and where is the place of understanding?
- ²¹It is hid from the eyes of any beast; from the birds of the air it is concealed.
- ²²Abaddon and Death say, "Only by rumor have we heard of it."
- ²³God knows the way to it; it is he who is familiar with its place.

²⁴For he beholds the ends of the earth and sees all that is under the heavens.

²⁵He has weighed out the wind, and fixed the scope of the waters;

²⁶When he made rules for the rain and a path for the thunderbolts,

²⁷Then he saw wisdom and appraised it, gave it its setting, knew it through and through.

²⁸And to man he said: Behold, the fear of the LORD is wisdom; and avoiding evil is understanding.

29 Job took up his theme anew and said;

²Oh, that I were as in the months past! as in the days when God watched over me,

³While he kept his lamp shining above my head, and by his light I walked through darkness;

⁴As I was in my flourishing days, when God sheltered my tent;

⁵When the Almighty was yet with me, and my children were round about me;

⁶When my footsteps were bathed in milk, and the rock flowed with streams of oil;

⁷When I went forth to the gate of the city and set up my seat in the square-

⁸Then the young men saw me and withdrew, while the elders rose up and stood;

⁹The chief men refrained from speaking and covered their mouths with their hands;

¹⁰The voice of the princes was silenced, and their tongues stuck to the roofs of their mouths.

¹¹Whoever heard of me blessed me; those who saw me commended me.

¹²For I rescued the poor who cried out for help, the orphans, and the unassisted;

¹³The blessing of those in extremity came upon me, and the heart of the widow I made joyful.

¹⁴ I wore my honesty like a garment; justice was my robe and my turban.
¹⁵ I was eyes to the blind, and feet to the lame was I;
¹⁶ I was a father to the needy; the rights of the stranger I studied,
¹⁷ And I broke the jaws of the wicked man; from his teeth I forced the prey.
¹⁸ Then I said: "In my own nest I shall grow old; I shall multiply years like the phoenix.
¹⁹ My root is spread out to the waters; the dew rests by night on my branches.
²⁰ My glory is fresh within me, and my bow is renewed in my hand!"
²¹ For me they listened and waited; they were silent for my counsel.
²² Once I spoke, they said no more, but received my pronouncement drop by drop.
²³ They waited for me as for the rain; they drank in my words like the spring rains.
²⁴ When I smiled on them they were reassured;
²⁵ mourners took comfort from my cheerful glance. I chose out their way and presided;
I took a king's place in the armed forces.

30 But now they hold me in derision who are younger in years than I; Whose fathers I should have disdained to rank with the dogs of my flock.

² Such strength as they had, to me meant nought; they were utterly destitute.
³ In want and hunger was their lot, they who fled to the parched wastelands:
⁴ They plucked saltwort and shrubs; the roots of the broom plant were their food.
⁵ They were banished from among men, with an outcry like that against a thief--
⁶ To dwell on the slopes of the wadies, in caves of sand and stone;
⁷ Among the bushes they raised their raucous cry; under the nettles they huddled together.

⁸Irresponsible, nameless men, they were driven out of the land.

⁹Yet now they sing of me in mockery; I am become a byword among them.

¹⁰They abhor me, they stand aloof from me, they do not hesitate to spit in my face!

¹¹Indeed, they have loosed their bonds; they lord it over me, and have thrown off restraint in my presence.

¹²To subvert my paths they rise up; they build their approaches for my ruin.

¹³To destroy me, they attack with none to stay them;

¹⁴as through a wide breach they advance. Amid the uproar they come on in waves;

¹⁵over me rolls the terror. My dignity is borne off on the wind, and my welfare vanishes like a cloud.

¹⁶My soul ebbs away from me;

¹⁷My frame takes no rest by night; my inward parts seethe and will not be stilled.

¹⁸One with great power lays hold of my clothing; by the collar of my tunic he seizes me:

¹⁹He has cast me into the mire; I am leveled with the dust and ashes.

²⁰I cry to you, but you do not answer me; you stand off and look at me,

²¹Then you turn upon me without mercy and with your strong hand you buffet me.

²²You raise me up and drive me before the wind; I am tossed about by the tempest.

²³Indeed I know you will turn me back in death to the destined place of everyone alive.

²⁴Yet should not a hand be held out to help a wretched man in his calamity?

²⁵Or have I not wept for the hardships of others; was not my soul grieved for the destitute?

²⁶Yet when I looked for good, then evil came; when I expected light, then came darkness.

²⁷days of affliction have overtaken me.

²⁸I go about in gloom, without the sun; I rise up in public to voice my grief.

²⁹I have become the brother of jackals, companion to the ostrich.

³⁰My blackened skin falls away from me; the heat scorches my very frame.

³¹My harp is turned to mourning, and my reed pipe to sounds of weeping.

31 If I have made an agreement with my eyes and entertained any thoughts against a maiden;

²But what is man's lot from God above, his inheritance from the Almighty on high?

³Is it not calamity for the unrighteous, and woe for evildoers?

⁴Does he not see my ways, and number all my steps?

⁵If I have walked in falsehood and my foot has hastened to deceit;

⁶Let God weigh me in the scales of justice; thus will he know my innocence!

⁷If my steps have turned out of the way, and my heart has followed my eyes, or any stain clings to my hands,

⁸Then may I sow, but another eat of it, or may my planting be rooted up!

⁹If my heart has been enticed toward a woman, and I have lain in wait at my neighbor's door;

¹⁰Then may my wife grind for another, and may others cohabit with her!

¹¹For that would be heinous, a crime to be condemned;

¹²A fire that should burn down to the abyss till it consumed all my possessions to the roots.

- ¹³Had I refused justice to my manservant or to my maid, when they had a claim against me,
- ¹⁴What then should I do when God rose up; what could I answer when he demanded an account?
- ¹⁵Did not he who made me in the womb make him? Did not the same One fashion us before our birth?
- ¹⁶If I have denied anything to the poor, or allowed the eyes of the widow to languish
- ¹⁷While I ate my portion alone, with no share in it for the fatherless,
- ¹⁸Though like a father God has reared me from my youth, guiding me even from my mother's womb--
- ¹⁹If I have seen a wanderer without clothing, or a poor man without covering,
- ²⁰Whose limbs have not blessed me when warmed with the fleece of my sheep;
- ²¹If I have raised my hand against the innocent because I saw that I had supporters at the gate--
- ²²Then may my arm fall from the shoulder, my forearm be broken at the elbow!
- ²³For the dread of God will be upon me, and his majesty will overpower me.
- ²⁴Had I put my trust in gold or called fine gold my security;
- ²⁵Or had I rejoiced that my wealth was great, or that my hand had acquired abundance--
- ²⁶Had I looked upon the sun as it shone, or the moon in the splendor of its progress,
- ²⁷And had my heart been secretly enticed to waft them a kiss with my hand;
- ²⁸This too would be a crime for condemnation, for I should have denied God above.
- ²⁹Had I rejoiced at the destruction of my enemy or exulted when evil fell upon him,
- ³⁰Even though I had not suffered my mouth to sin by uttering a curse against his life--

³¹Had not the men of my tent exclaimed, "Who has not been fed with his meat!"

³²Because no stranger lodged in the street, but I opened my door to wayfarers--

³³Had I, out of human weakness, hidden my sins and buried my guilt in my bosom

³⁴Because I feared the noisy multitude and the scorn of the tribes terrified me- then I should have remained silent, and not come out of doors!

³⁵Oh, that I had one to hear my case, and that my accuser would write out his indictment!

³⁶Surely, I should wear it on my shoulder or put it on me like a diadem;

³⁷Of all my steps I should give him an account; like a prince I should present myself before him. This is my final plea; let the Almighty answer me! The words of Job are ended.

³⁸If my land has cried out against me till its very furrows complained;

³⁹If I have eaten its produce without payment and grieved the hearts of its tenants;

⁴⁰Then let the thistles grow instead of wheat and noxious weeds instead of barley!

32 Then the three men ceased to answer Job, because he was righteous in his own eyes.

²But the anger of Elihu, son of Barachel the Buzite, of the family of Ram, was kindled. He was angry with Job for considering himself rather than God to be in the right.

³He was angry also with the three friends because they had not found a good answer and had not condemned Job.

⁴But since these men were older than he, Elihu bided his time before addressing Job.

⁵When, however, Elihu saw that there was no reply in the mouths of the three men, his wrath was inflamed.

⁶So Elihu, son of Barachel the Buzite, spoke out and said: I am young and you are very old; therefore I held back and was afraid to declare to you my knowledge.

⁷Days should speak, I thought, and many years teach wisdom!

⁸But it is a spirit in man, the breath of the Almighty, that gives him understanding.

⁹It is not those of many days who are wise, nor the aged who understand the right.

¹⁰Therefore I say, hearken to me; let me too set forth my knowledge!

¹¹Behold, I have waited for your discourses, and have given ear to your arguments.

¹²Yes, I followed you attentively as you searched out what to say; And behold, there is none who has convicted Job, not one of you who could refute his statements.

¹³Yet do not say, "We have met wisdom. God may vanquish him but not man!"

¹⁴For had he addressed his words to me, I should not then have answered him as you have done.

¹⁵They are dismayed, they make no more reply; words fail them.

¹⁶Must I wait? Now that they speak no more, and have ceased to make reply, ¹⁷I too will speak my part; I also will show my knowledge!

¹⁸For I am full of matters to utter; the spirit within me compels me.

¹⁹Like a new wineskin with wine under pressure, my bosom is ready to burst.

²⁰Let me speak and obtain relief; let me open my lips, and make reply.

²¹I would not be partial to anyone, nor give flattering titles to any.

²²For I know nought of flattery; if I did, my Maker would soon take me away.

33 Therefore, O Job, hear my discourse, and hearken to all my words.

²Behold, now I open my mouth; my tongue and my voice form words.

³I will state directly what is in my mind, my lips shall utter knowledge sincerely;

⁴For the spirit of God has made me, the breath of the Almighty keeps me alive.

⁵If you are able, refute me; draw up your arguments and stand forth.

⁶Behold I, like yourself, have been taken from the same clay by God.

⁷Therefore no fear of me should dismay you, nor should my presence weigh heavily upon you.

⁸But you have said in my hearing, as I listened to the sound of your words:

⁹"I am clean and without transgression; I am innocent; there is no guilt in me.

¹⁰Yet he invents pretexts against me and reckons me as his enemy.

¹¹He puts my feet in the stocks; he watches all my ways!"

¹²In this you are not just, let me tell you; for God is greater than man.

¹³Why, then, do you make complaint against him that he gives no account of his doings?

¹⁴For God does speak, perhaps once, or even twice, though one perceive it not.

¹⁵In a dream, in a vision of the night, (when deep sleep falls upon men) as they slumber in their beds,

¹⁶It is then he opens the ears of men and as a warning to them, terrifies them;

¹⁷By turning man from evil and keeping pride away from him,

¹⁸He withholds his soul from the pit and his life from passing to the grave.

¹⁹Or a man is chastened on his bed by pain and unceasing suffering within his frame, ²⁰So that to his appetite food becomes repulsive, and his senses reject the choicest nourishment.

²¹His flesh is wasted so that it cannot be seen, and his bones, once invisible, appear;

²²His soul draws near to the pit, his life to the place of the dead.

²³If then there be for him an angel, one out of a thousand, a mediator, To show him what is right for him and bring the man back to justice,

²⁴He will take pity on him and say, "Deliver him from going down to the pit; I have found him a ransom."

²⁵Then his flesh shall become soft as a boy's; he shall be again as in the days of his youth.

²⁶He shall pray and God will favor him; he shall see God's face with rejoicing.

²⁷He shall sing before men and say, "I sinned and did wrong, yet he has not punished me accordingly.

²⁸He delivered my soul from passing to the pit, and I behold the light of life."

²⁹Lo, all these things God does, twice, or thrice, for a man,

³⁰Bringing back his soul from the pit to the light, in the land of the living.

³¹Be attentive, O Job; listen to me! Be silent and I will speak.

³²If you have aught to say, then answer me. Speak out! I should like to see you justified.

³³If not, then do you listen to me; be silent while I teach you wisdom.

34Then Elihu continued and said:

²Hear, O wise men, my discourse, and you that have knowledge, hear me!

³For the ear tests words, as the taste does food.

⁴Let us discern for ourselves what is right; let us learn between us what is good.

⁵For Job has said, "I am innocent, but God has taken what is my due.

⁶Notwithstanding my right I am set at nought; in my wound the arrow rankles, sinless though I am."

⁷What man is like Job? He drinks in blasphemies like water,

⁸Keeps company with evildoers and goes along with wicked men,

⁹When he says, "It profits a man nought that he is pleasing to God."

¹⁰Therefore, men of understanding, hearken to me: far be it from God to do wickedness; far from the Almighty to do wrong!

¹¹Rather, he requites men for their conduct, and brings home to a man his way of life.

¹²Surely, God cannot act wickedly, the Almighty cannot violate justice.

¹³Who gave him government over the earth, or who else set all the land in its place?

¹⁴If he were to take back his spirit to himself, withdraw to himself his breath,

¹⁵All flesh would perish together, and man would return to the dust.

¹⁶Now, do you, O Job, hear this! Harken to the words I speak!

¹⁷Can an enemy of justice indeed be in control, or will you condemn the supreme Just One,

¹⁸Who says to a king, "You are worthless!" and to nobles, "You are wicked!"

¹⁹Who neither favors the person of princes, nor respects the rich more than the poor? For they are all the work of his hands;

²⁰in a moment they die, even at midnight. He brings on nobles, and takes them away, removing the powerful without lifting a hand;

²¹For his eyes are upon the ways of man, and he beholds all his steps.

²²There is no darkness so dense that evildoers can hide in it.

²³For he forewarns no man of his time to come before God in judgment.

²⁴Without a trial he breaks the mighty, and sets others in their stead,

²⁵Therefore he discerns their works; he turns at night and crushes them.

²⁷Because they turned away from him and heeded none of his ways,

²⁸But caused the cries of the poor to reach him, so that he heard the plea of the afflicted.

²⁹If he remains tranquil, who then can condemn? If he hides his face, who then can behold him?

³¹When anyone says to God, "I was misguided; I will offend no more.

³²Teach me wherein I have sinned; if I have done wrong, I will do so no more,"

³³Would you then say that God must punish, since you reject what he is doing? It is you who must choose, not I; speak, therefore, what you know.

³⁴Men of understanding will say to me, every wise man who hears my views:

³⁵"Job speaks without intelligence, and his words are without sense."

³⁶Let Job be tried to the limit, since his answers are those of the impious;

³⁷For he is adding rebellion to his sin by brushing off our arguments and addressing many words to God.

35 Then Elihu proceeded and said:

²Do you think it right to say, "I am just rather than God?"

³To say, "What does it profit me; what advantage have I more than if I had sinned?"

⁴I have words for a reply to you and your three companions as well.

⁵Look up to the skies and behold; regard the heavens high above you.

⁶If you sin, what injury do you do to God? Even if your offenses are many, how do you hurt him?

⁷If you are righteous, what do you give him, or what does he receive from your hand?

⁸Your wickedness can affect only a man like yourself; and your justice only a fellow human being.

⁹In great oppression men cry out; they call for help because of the power of the mighty,

¹⁰Saying, "Where is God, my Maker, who has given visions in the night, ¹¹Taught us rather than the beasts of the earth, and made us wise rather than the birds of the heavens?"

¹²Though thus they cry out, he answers not against the pride of the wicked.

¹³But it is idle to say God does not hear or that the Almighty does not take notice.

¹⁴Even though you say that you see him not, the case is before him; with trembling should you wait upon him.

¹⁵But now that you have done otherwise, God's anger punishes, nor does he show concern that a man will die.

¹⁶Yet Job to no purpose opens his mouth, and without knowledge multiplies words.

36 Elihu proceeded further and said:

²Wait yet a little and I will instruct you, for there are still words to be said on God's behalf.

³I will bring my knowledge from afar, and to my Maker I will accord the right.

⁴For indeed, my theme cannot fail me: the one perfect in knowledge I set before you.

⁵Behold, God rejects the obstinate in heart; he preserves not the life of the wicked.

⁶He withholds not the just man's rights, but grants vindication to the oppressed,

⁷And with kings upon thrones he sets them, exalted forever.

⁸Or if they are bound with fetters and held fast by bonds of affliction,

⁹Then he makes known to them what they have done and their sins of boastful pride.

¹⁰He opens their ears to correction and exhorts them to turn back from evil.

¹¹If they obey and serve him, they spend their days in prosperity, their years in happiness.

¹²But if they obey not, they perish; they die for lack of knowledge.

¹³The impious in heart lay up anger for themselves; they cry not for help when he enchains them;

¹⁴Therefore they expire in youth, and perish among the reprobate.

¹⁵But he saves the unfortunate through their affliction, and instructs them through distress.

²¹Take heed, turn not to evil; for you have preferred carousal to affliction.

²²Behold, God is sublime in his power. What teacher is there like him?

²³Who prescribes for him his conduct, or who can say, "You have done wrong"?

²⁴Remember, you should extol his work, which men have praised in song.

²⁵All men contemplate it; man beholds it from afar.

²⁶Lo, God is great beyond our knowledge; the number of his years is past searching out.

²⁷He holds in check the waterdrops that filter in rain through his mists, ²⁸Till the skies run with them and the showers rain down on mankind.

³⁰Lo! he spreads the clouds in layers as the carpeting of his tent.

³¹For by these he nourishes the nations, and gives them food in abundance.

³²In his hands he holds the lightning, and he commands it to strike the mark.

³³His thunder speaks for him and incites the fury of the storm.

37 At this my heart trembles and leaps out of its place,

²To hear his angry voice as it rumbles forth from his mouth!

³Everywhere under the heavens he sends it, with his lightning, to the ends of the earth.

⁴Again his voice roars-- the majestic sound of his thunder.

⁵He does great things beyond our knowing; wonders past our searching out.

⁶For he says to the snow, "Fall to the earth"; likewise to his heavy, drenching rain.

⁷He shuts up all mankind indoors;

⁸the wild beasts take to cover and remain quietly in their dens.

⁹Out of its chamber comes forth the tempest; from the north winds, the cold.

¹⁰With his breath God brings the frost, and the broad waters become congealed.

¹¹With hail, also, the clouds are laden, as they scatter their flashes of light.

¹²He it is who changes their rounds, according to his plans, in their task upon the surface of the earth, ¹³whether for punishment or mercy, as he commands.

¹⁴Hearken to this, O Job! Stand and consider the wondrous works of God!

¹⁵Do you know how God lays his commands upon them, and makes the light shine forth from his clouds?

¹⁶Do you know how the clouds are banked, the wondrous work of him who is perfect in knowledge?

¹⁷You, whom the streams of water fail when a calm from the south comes over the land,

¹⁸Do you spread out with him the firmament of the skies, hard as a brazen mirror?

¹⁹Teach us then what we shall say to him; we cannot, for the darkness, make our plea.

²⁰Will he be told about it when I speak, or when a man says he is being destroyed?

²¹Nay, rather, it is as the light which men see not while it is obscured among the clouds, till the wind comes by and sweeps the clouds away.

²²From the North the splendor comes, surrounding God's awesome majesty!

²³The Almighty! we cannot discover him, pre-eminent in power and judgment; his great justice owes no one an accounting.

²⁴Therefore men revere him, though none can see him, however wise their hearts.

38 Then the LORD addressed Job out of the storm and said:

²Who is this that obscures divine plans with words of ignorance?

³Gird up your loins now, like a man; I will question you, and you tell me the answers!

⁴Where were you when I founded the earth? Tell me, if you have understanding.

⁵Who determined its size; do you know? Who stretched out the measuring line for it?

⁶Into what were its pedestals sunk, and who laid the cornerstone,

⁷While the morning stars sang in chorus and all the sons of God shouted for joy?

⁸And who shut within doors the sea, when it burst forth from the womb;

⁹When I made the clouds its garment and thick darkness its swaddling bands?

¹⁰When I set limits for it and fastened the bar of its door,

¹¹And said: Thus far shall you come but no farther, and here shall your proud waves be stilled!

¹²Have you ever in your lifetime commanded the morning and shown the dawn its place

¹³For taking hold of the ends of the earth, till the wicked are shaken from its surface?

¹⁴The earth is changed as is clay by the seal, and dyed as though it were a garment;

¹⁵But from the wicked the light is withheld, and the arm of pride is shattered.

¹⁶Have you entered into the sources of the sea, or walked about in the depths of the abyss?

¹⁷Have the gates of death been shown to you, or have you seen the gates of darkness?

¹⁸Have you comprehended the breadth of the earth? Tell me, if you know all:

¹⁹Which is the way to the dwelling place of light, and where is the abode of darkness,

²⁰That you may take them to their boundaries and set them on their homeward paths?

²¹You know, because you were born before them, and the number of your years is great!

²²Have you entered the storehouse of the snow, and seen the treasury of the hail

²³Which I have reserved for times of stress, for the days of war and of battle?

²⁴Which way to the parting of the winds, whence the east wind spreads over the earth?

²⁵Who has laid out a channel for the downpour and for the thunderstorm a path

²⁶To bring rain to no man's land, the unpeopled wilderness;

²⁷To enrich the waste and desolate ground till the desert blooms with verdure?

²⁸Has the rain a father; or who has begotten the drops of dew?

²⁹Out of whose womb comes the ice, and who gives the hoarfrost its birth in the skies,

³⁰When the waters lie covered as though with stone that holds captive the surface of the deep?

³¹Have you fitted a curb to the Pleiades, or loosened the bonds of Orion?

³²Can you bring forth the Mazzaroth in their season, or guide the Bear with its train?

³³Do you know the ordinances of the heavens; can you put into effect their plan on the earth?

³⁴Can you raise your voice among the clouds, or veil yourself in the waters of the storm?

³⁵Can you send forth the lightnings on their way, or will they say to you, "Here we are"?

³⁶Who puts wisdom in the heart, and gives the cock its understanding?

³⁷Who counts the clouds in his wisdom? Or who tilts the water jars of heaven

³⁸So that the dust of earth is fused into a mass and its clods made solid?

³⁹Do you hunt the prey for the lioness or appease the hunger of her cubs,

⁴⁰While they crouch in their dens, or lie in wait in the thicket?

⁴¹Who provides nourishment for the ravens when their young ones cry out to God, and they rove abroad without food?

39 Do you know about the birth of the mountain goats, watch for the birth pangs of the hinds, ²Number the months that they must fulfill, and fix the time of their bringing forth?

³They crouch down and bear their young; they deliver their progeny in the desert.

⁴When their offspring thrive and grow, they leave and do not return.

⁵Who has given the wild ass his freedom, and who has loosed him from bonds?

⁶I have made the wilderness his home and the salt flats his dwelling.

⁷He scoffs at the uproar of the city, and hears no shouts of a driver.

⁸He ranges the mountains for pasture, and seeks out every patch of green.

⁹Will the wild ox consent to serve you, and to pass the nights by your manger?

¹⁰Will a rope bind him in the furrow, and will he harrow the valleys after you?

¹¹Will you trust him for his great strength and leave to him the fruits of your toil?

¹²Can you rely on him to thresh out your grain and gather in the yield of your threshing floor?

¹³The wings of the ostrich beat idly; her plumage is lacking in pinions.

¹⁴When she leaves her eggs on the ground and deposits them in the sand,

¹⁵Unmindful that a foot may crush them, that the wild beasts may trample them,

¹⁶She cruelly disowns her young and ruthlessly makes nought of her brood;

¹⁷For God has withheld wisdom from her and has given her no share in understanding.

¹⁸Yet in her swiftness of foot she makes sport of the horse and his rider.

¹⁹Do you give the horse his strength, and endow his neck with splendor?

²⁰Do you make the steed to quiver while his thunderous snorting spreads terror?

²¹He jubilantly paws the plain and rushes in his might against the weapons.

²²He laughs at fear and cannot be deterred; he turns not back from the sword.

²³Around him rattles the quiver, flashes the spear and the javelin.

²⁴Frenzied and trembling he devours the ground; he holds not back at the sound of the trumpet,

²⁵but at each blast he cries, "Aha!" Even from afar he scents the battle, the roar of the chiefs and the shouting.

²⁶Is it by your discernment that the hawk soars, that he spreads his wings toward the south?

²⁷Does the eagle fly up at your command to build his nest aloft?

²⁸On the cliff he dwells and spends the night, on the spur of the cliff or the fortress.

²⁹From thence he watches for his prey; his eyes behold it afar off.

³⁰His young ones greedily drink blood; where the slain are, there is he.

40 The LORD then said to Job:

²Will we have arguing with the Almighty by the critic? Let him who would correct God give answer!

³Then Job answered the LORD and said:

⁴Behold, I am of little account; what can I answer you? I put my hand over my mouth.

⁵Though I have spoken once, I will not do so again; though twice, I will do so no more.

⁶Then the LORD addressed Job out of the storm and said:

⁷Gird up your loins now, like a man. I will question you, and you tell me the answers!

⁸Would you refuse to acknowledge my right? Would you condemn me that you may be justified?

⁹Have you an arm like that of God, or can you thunder with a voice like his?

¹⁰Adorn yourself with grandeur and majesty, and array yourself with glory and splendor.

¹¹Let loose the fury of your wrath;

¹²tear down the wicked and shatter them. Bring down the haughty with a glance;

¹³bury them in the dust together; in the hidden world imprison them.

¹⁴Then will I too acknowledge that your own right hand can save you.

¹⁵See, besides you I made Behemoth, that feeds on grass like an ox.

¹⁶Behold the strength in his loins, and his vigor in the sinews of his belly.

¹⁷He carries his tail like a cedar; the sinews of his thighs are like cables.

¹⁸His bones are like tubes of bronze; his frame is like iron rods.

¹⁹He came at the beginning of God's ways, and was made the taskmaster of his fellows;

²⁰For the produce of the mountains is brought to him, and of all wild animals he makes sport.

²¹Under the lotus trees he lies, in coverts of the reedy swamp.

²²The lotus trees cover him with their shade; all about him are the poplars on the bank.

²³If the river grows violent, he is not disturbed; he is tranquil though the torrent surges about his mouth.

²⁴Who can capture him by his eyes, or pierce his nose with a trap?

²⁵Can you lead about Leviathan with a hook, or curb his tongue with a bit?

²⁶Can you put a rope into his nose, or pierce through his cheek with a gaff?

²⁷Will he then plead with you, time after time, or address you with tender words?

²⁸Will he make an agreement with you that you may have him as a slave forever?

²⁹Can you play with him, as with a bird? Can you put him in leash for your maidens?

³⁰Will the traders bargain for him? Will the merchants divide him up?

³¹Can you fill his hide with barbs, or his head with fish spears?

³²Once you but lay a hand upon him, no need to recall any other conflict!

41 Whoever might vainly hope to do so need only see him to be overthrown.

²Is he not relentless when aroused; who then dares stand before him?

³Who has assailed him and come off safe-- Who under all the heavens?

⁴I need hardly mention his limbs, his strength, and the fitness of his armor.

⁵Who can strip off his outer garment, or penetrate his double corselet?

⁶Who can force open the doors of his mouth, close to his terrible teeth?

⁷Rows of scales are on his back, tightly sealed together;

⁸They are fitted each so close to the next that no space intervenes;

⁹So joined one to another that they hold fast and cannot be parted.

¹⁰When he sneezes, light flashes forth; his eyes are like those of the dawn.

¹¹Out of his mouth go forth firebrands; sparks of fire leap forth.

¹²From his nostrils issues steam, as from a seething pot or bowl.

¹³His breath sets coals afire; a flame pours from his mouth.

¹⁴Strength abides in his neck, and terror leaps before him.

¹⁶His heart is hard as stone; his flesh, as the lower millstone.

¹⁷When he rises up, the mighty are afraid; the waves of the sea fall back.

¹⁸Should the sword reach him, it will not avail; nor will the spear, nor the dart, nor the javelin.

¹⁹He regards iron as straw, and bronze as rotten wood.

²⁰The arrow will not put him to flight; slingstones used against him are but straws.

²¹Clubs he esteems as splinters; he laughs at the crash of the spear.

²²His belly is sharp as pottery fragments; he spreads like a threshing sledge upon the mire.

²³He makes the depths boil like a pot; the sea he churns like perfume in a kettle.

²⁴Behind him he leaves a shining path; you would think the deep had the hoary head of age.

²⁵Upon the earth there is not his like, intrepid he was made.

²⁶All, however lofty, fear him; he is king over all proud beasts.

42 Then Job answered the LORD and said:

²I know that you can do all things, and that no purpose of yours can be hindered.

³I have dealt with great things that I do not understand; things too wonderful for me, which I cannot know.

⁵I had heard of you by word of mouth, but now my eye has seen you.

⁶Therefore I disown what I have said, and repent in dust and ashes.

⁷And it came to pass after the LORD had spoken these words to Job, that the LORD said to Eliphaz the Temanite, "I am angry with you and with your two friends; for you have not spoken rightly concerning me, as has my servant Job.

⁸Now, therefore, take seven bullocks and seven rams, and go to my servant Job, and offer up a holocaust for yourselves; and let my servant Job pray for you; for his prayer I will accept, not to punish you severely. For you have not spoken rightly concerning me, as has my servant Job."

⁹Then Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite, went and did as the LORD had commanded them. And the LORD accepted the intercession of Job.

¹⁰Also, the LORD restored the prosperity of Job, after he had prayed for his friends; the LORD even gave to Job twice as much as he had before.

¹¹Then all his brethren and his sisters came to him, and all his former acquaintances, and they dined with him in his house. They condoled with him and comforted him for all the evil which the LORD had brought upon him; and each one gave him a piece of money and a gold ring.

¹²Thus the LORD blessed the latter days of Job more than his earlier ones. For he had fourteen thousand sheep, six thousand camels, a thousand yoke of oxen, and a thousand she-asses.

¹³And he had seven sons and three daughters,

¹⁴of whom he called the first Jemimah, the second Keziah, and the third Kerenhappuch.

¹⁵In all the land no other women were as beautiful as the daughters of Job; and their father gave them an inheritance among their brethren.

¹⁶After this, Job lived a hundred and forty years; and he saw his children, his grandchildren, and even his great-grandchildren.

¹⁷Then Job died, old and full of years.

Psalms

PSALM 1

¹Happy those who do not follow the counsel of the wicked, Nor go the way of sinners, nor sit in company with scoffers.

²Rather, the law of the LORD is their joy; God's law they study day and night.

³They are like a tree planted near streams of water, that yields its fruit in season; Its leaves never wither; whatever they do prospers.

⁴But not the wicked! They are like chaff driven by the wind.

⁵Therefore the wicked will not survive judgment, nor will sinners in the assembly of the just.

⁶The LORD watches over the way of the just, but the way of the wicked leads to ruin.

PSALM 2

¹Why do the nations protest and the peoples grumble in vain?

²Kings on earth rise up and princes plot together against the LORD and his anointed:

³"Let us break their shackles and cast off their chains!"

⁴The one enthroned in heaven laughs; the Lord derides them,

⁵Then speaks to them in anger, terrifies them in wrath:

⁶"I myself have installed my king on Zion, my holy mountain."

⁷I will proclaim the decree of the LORD, who said to me, "You are my son; today I am your father.

⁸Only ask it of me, and I will make your inheritance the nations, your possession the ends of the earth.

⁹With an iron rod you shall shepherd them, like a clay pot you will shatter them."

¹⁰And now, kings, give heed; take warning, rulers on earth.

¹¹Serve the LORD with fear; with trembling bow down in homage, Lest God be angry and you perish from the way in a sudden blaze of anger. Happy are all who take refuge in God!

PSALM 3

¹A psalm of David, when he fled from his son Absalom.

²How many are my foes, LORD! How many rise against me!

³How many say of me, "God will not save that one." Selah

⁴But you, LORD, are a shield around me; my glory, you keep my head high.

⁵Whenever I cried out to the LORD, I was answered from the holy mountain. Selah ⁶Whenever I lay down and slept, the LORD preserved me to rise again.

⁷I do not fear, then, thousands of people arrayed against me on every side.

⁸Arise, LORD! Save me, my God! You will shatter the jaws of all my foes; you will break the teeth of the wicked.

⁹Safety comes from the LORD! Your blessing for your people! Selah

PSALM 4

¹For the leader; with stringed instruments. A psalm of David.

²Answer when I call, my saving God. In my troubles, you cleared a way; show me favor; hear my prayer.

³How long will you people mock my honor, love what is worthless, chase after lies? Selah

⁴Know that the LORD works wonders for the faithful; the LORD hears when I call out.

⁵Tremble and do not sin; upon your beds ponder in silence.

⁶Offer fitting sacrifice and trust in the LORD.

⁷Many say, "May we see better times! LORD, show us the light of your face!" Selah ⁸But you have given my heart more joy than they have when grain and wine abound.

⁹In peace I shall both lie down and sleep, for you alone, LORD, make me secure.

PSALM 5

¹For the leader; with wind instruments. A psalm of David.

²Hear my words, O LORD; listen to my sighing.

³Hear my cry for help, my king, my God! To you I pray, O LORD;

⁴at dawn you will hear my cry; at dawn I will plead before you and wait.

⁵You are not a god who delights in evil; no wicked person finds refuge with you;

⁶the arrogant cannot stand before you. You hate all who do evil;

⁷you destroy all who speak falsely. Murderers and deceivers the LORD abhors.

⁸But I can enter your house because of your great love. I can worship in your holy temple because of my reverence for you, LORD.

⁹Guide me in your justice because of my foes; make straight your way before me.

¹⁰For there is no sincerity in their mouths; their hearts are corrupt. Their throats are open graves; on their tongues are subtle lies.

¹¹Declare them guilty, God; make them fall by their own devices. Drive them out for their many sins; they have rebelled against you.

¹²Then all who take refuge in you will be glad and forever shout for joy. Protect them that you may be the joy of those who love your name.

¹³For you, LORD, bless the just; you surround them with favor like a shield.

PSALM 6

¹For the leader; with stringed instruments, "upon the eighth." A psalm of David.

²Do not reprove me in your anger, LORD, nor punish me in your wrath.

³Have pity on me, LORD, for I am weak; heal me, LORD, for my bones are trembling.

⁴In utter terror is my soul-- and you, LORD, how long...?

⁵Turn, LORD, save my life; in your mercy rescue me.

⁶For who among the dead remembers you? Who praises you in Sheol?

⁷I am wearied with sighing; all night long tears drench my bed; my couch is soaked with weeping.

⁸My eyes are dimmed with sorrow, worn out because of all my foes.

⁹Away from me, all who do evil! The LORD has heard my weeping.

¹⁰The LORD has heard my prayer; the LORD takes up my plea.

¹¹My foes will be terrified and disgraced; all will fall back in sudden shame.

PSALM 7

¹A plaintive song of David, which he sang to the LORD concerning Cush, the Benjaminite.

²LORD my God, in you I take refuge; rescue me; save me from all who pursue me, ³Lest they maul me like lions, tear me to pieces with none to save.

⁴LORD my God, if I am at fault in this, if there is guilt on my hands,

⁵If I have repaid my friend with evil-- I spared even those who hated me without cause--

⁶Then let my enemy pursue and overtake me, trample my life to the ground, and leave me dishonored in the dust.Selah

⁷Rise up, LORD, in your anger; rise against the fury of my foes. Wake to judge as you have decreed.

⁸Have the assembly of the peoples gather about you; sit on your throne high above them,

⁹O LORD, judge of the nations. Grant me justice, LORD, for I am blameless, free of any guilt.

¹⁰Bring the malice of the wicked to an end; uphold the innocent, O God of justice, who tries hearts and minds.

¹¹A shield before me is God who saves the honest heart.

¹²God is a just judge, who rebukes in anger every day.

¹³If sinners do not repent, God sharpens his sword, strings and readies the bow, ¹⁴Prepares his deadly shafts, makes arrows blazing thunderbolts.

¹⁵Sinners conceive iniquity; pregnant with mischief, they give birth to failure.

¹⁶They open a hole and dig it deep, but fall into the pit they have dug.

¹⁷Their mischief comes back upon themselves; their violence falls on their own heads.

¹⁸I praise the justice of the LORD; I celebrate the name of the LORD Most High.

PSALM 8

¹For the leader; "upon the gittith." A psalm of David.

²O LORD, our Lord, how awesome is your name through all the earth! You have set your majesty above the heavens!

³Out of the mouths of babes and infants you have drawn a defense against your foes, to silence enemy and avenger.

⁴When I see your heavens, the work of your fingers, the moon and stars that you set in place--

⁵What are humans that you are mindful of them, mere mortals that you care for them?

⁶Yet you have made them little less than a god, crowned them with glory and honor.

⁷You have given them rule over the works of your hands, put all things at their feet:

⁸All sheep and oxen, even the beasts of the field,

⁹The birds of the air, the fish of the sea, and whatever swims the paths of the seas.

¹⁰O LORD, our Lord, how awesome is your name through all the earth!

PSALM 9

¹For the leader; according to Muth Labben. A psalm of David.

²I will praise you, LORD, with all my heart; I will declare all your wondrous deeds.

³I will delight and rejoice in you; I will sing hymns to your name, Most High.

⁴For my enemies turn back; they stumble and perish before you.

⁵You upheld my right and my cause, seated on your throne, judging justly.

⁶You rebuked the nations, you destroyed the wicked; their name you blotted out for all time

⁷The enemies have been ruined forever; you destroyed their cities; their memory has perished.

⁸The LORD rules forever, has set up a throne for judgment.

⁹It is God who governs the world with justice, who judges the peoples with fairness.

¹⁰The LORD is a stronghold for the oppressed, stronghold in times of trouble.

¹¹Those who honor your name trust in you; you never forsake those who seek you, LORD.

¹²Sing hymns to the LORD enthroned on Zion; proclaim God's deeds among the nations!

¹³For the avenger of bloodshed remembers, does not forget the cry of the afflicted.

¹⁴Have mercy on me, LORD; see how my foes afflict me! You alone can raise me from the gates of death.

¹⁵Then I will declare all your praises, sing joyously of your salvation in the gates of daughter Zion.

¹⁶The nations fall into the pit they dig; in the snare they hide, their own foot is caught.

¹⁷The LORD is revealed in this divine rule: by the deeds they do the wicked are trapped. Higgsaion. Selah ¹⁸To Sheol the wicked will depart, all the nations that forget God.

¹⁹The needy will never be forgotten, nor will the hope of the afflicted ever fade.

²⁰Arise, LORD, let no mortal prevail; let the nations be judged in your presence.

²¹Strike them with terror, LORD; show the nations they are mere mortals. Selah

PSALM 10

¹Why, LORD, do you stand at a distance and pay no heed to these troubled times?

²Arrogant scoundrels pursue the poor; they trap them by their cunning schemes.

³The wicked even boast of their greed; these robbers curse and scorn the LORD.

⁴In their insolence the wicked boast: "God doesn't care, doesn't even exist."

⁵Yet their affairs always succeed; they ignore your judgment on high; they sneer at all who oppose them.

⁶They say in their hearts, "We will never fall; never will we see misfortune."

⁷Their mouths are full of oaths, violence, and lies; discord and evil are under their tongues.

⁸They wait in ambush near towns; their eyes watch for the helpless. to murder the innocent in secret.

⁹They lurk in ambush like lions in a thicket, hide there to trap the poor, snare them and close the net.

¹⁰The helpless are crushed, laid low; they fall into the power of the wicked,

¹¹Who say in their hearts, "God pays no attention, shows no concern, never bothers to look."

¹²Rise up, LORD God! Raise your arm! Do not forget the poor!

¹³Why should the wicked scorn God, say in their hearts, "God doesn't care"?

¹⁴But you do see; you do observe this misery and sorrow; you take the matter in hand. To you the helpless can entrust their cause; you are the defender of orphans.

¹⁵Break the arms of the wicked and depraved; make them account for their crimes; let none of them survive.

¹⁶The LORD is king forever; the nations have vanished from God's land.

¹⁷You listen, LORD, to the needs of the poor; you encourage them and hear their prayers.

¹⁸You win justice for the orphaned and oppressed; no one on earth will cause terror again.

PSALM 11

¹For the leader. Of David. In the LORD I take refuge; how can you say to me, "Flee like a bird to the mountains!"

²See how the wicked string their bows, fit their arrows to the string to shoot from the shadows at the upright.

³When foundations are being destroyed, what can the upright do?"

⁴The LORD is in his holy temple; the LORD'S throne is in heaven. God's eyes keep careful watch; they test all peoples.

⁵The LORD tests the good and the bad, hates those who love violence, ⁶And rains upon the wicked fiery coals and brimstone, a scorching wind their allotted cup.

⁷The LORD is just and loves just deeds; the upright shall see his face.

PSALM 12

¹For the leader; "upon the eighth." A psalm of David.

²Help, LORD, for no one loyal remains; the faithful have vanished from the human race

³Those who tell lies to one another speak with deceiving lips and a double heart.

⁴May the LORD cut off all deceiving lips, and every boastful tongue,

⁵Those who say, "By our tongues we prevail; when our lips speak, who can lord it over us?"

⁶"Because they rob the weak, and the needy groan, I will now arise," says the LORD; "I will grant safety to whoever longs for it."

⁷The promises of the LORD are sure, silver refined in a crucible, silver purified seven times.

⁸LORD, protect us always; preserve us from this generation.

⁹On every side the wicked strut; the shameless are extolled by all.

PSALM 13

¹For the leader. A psalm of David.

²How long, LORD? Will you utterly forget me? How long will you hide your face from me?

³How long must I carry sorrow in my soul, grief in my heart day after day? How long will my enemy triumph over me?

⁴Look upon me, answer me, LORD, my God! Give light to my eyes lest I sleep in death, ⁵Lest my enemy say, "I have prevailed," lest my foes rejoice at my downfall.

⁶I trust in your faithfulness. Grant my heart joy in your help, That I may sing of the LORD, "How good our God has been to me!"

PSALM 14

¹For the leader. Of David. Fools say in their hearts, "There is no God." Their deeds are loathsome and corrupt; not one does what is right.

²The LORD looks down from heaven upon the human race, To see if even one is wise, if even one seeks God.

³All have gone astray; all alike are perverse. Not one does what is right, not even one.

⁴Will these evildoers never learn? They devour my people as they devour bread; they do not call upon the LORD.

⁵They have good reason, then, to fear; God is with the company of the just.

⁶They would crush the hopes of the poor, but the poor have the LORD as their refuge.

⁷Oh, that from Zion might come the deliverance of Israel, That Jacob may rejoice, and Israel be glad when the LORD restores his people!

PSALM 15

¹A psalm of David. LORD, who may abide in your tent? Who may dwell on your holy mountain?

²Whoever walks without blame, doing what is right, speaking truth from the heart;

³Who does not slander a neighbor, does no harm to another, never defames a friend;

⁴Who disdains the wicked, but honors those who fear the LORD; Who keeps an oath despite the cost, ⁵lends no money at interest, accepts no bribe against the innocent. III Whoever acts like this shall never be shaken.

PSALM 16

¹A miktam of David. Keep me safe, O God; in you I take refuge

²I say to the Lord, you are my Lord, you are my only good.

³Worthless are all the false gods of the land. Accursed are all who delight in them.

⁴They multiply their sorrows who court other gods. Blood libations to them I will not pour out, nor will I take their names upon my lips.

⁵LORD, my allotted portion and my cup, you have made my destiny secure.

⁶Pleasant places were measured out for me; fair to me indeed is my inheritance.

⁷I bless the LORD who counsels me; even at night my heart exhorts me.

⁸I keep the LORD always before me; with the Lord at my right, I shall never be shaken.

⁹Therefore my heart is glad, my soul rejoices; my body also dwells secure,

¹⁰For you will not abandon me to Sheol, nor let your faithful servant see the pit.

¹¹You will show me the path to life, abounding joy in your presence, the delights at your right hand forever.

PSALM 17

¹A prayer of David. Hear, LORD, my plea for justice; pay heed to my cry; Listen to my prayer spoken without guile.

²From you let my vindication come; your eyes see what is right.

³You have tested my heart, searched it in the night. You have tried me by fire, but find no malice in me. My mouth has not transgressed

⁴as humans often do. As your lips have instructed me, I have kept the way of the law.

⁵My steps have kept to your paths; my feet have not faltered.

⁶I call upon you; answer me, O God. Turn your ear to me; hear my prayer.

⁷Show your wonderful love, you who deliver with your right arm those who seek refuge from their foes.

⁸Keep me as the apple of your eye; hide me in the shadow of your wings

⁹from the violence of the wicked.

¹⁰My ravenous enemies press upon me; they close their hearts, they fill their mouths with proud roaring.

¹¹Their steps even now encircle me; they watch closely, keeping low to the ground,

¹²Like lions eager for prey, like young lions lurking in ambush.

¹³Rise, O LORD, confront and cast them down; rescue me so from the wicked.

¹⁴Slay them with your sword; with your hand, LORD, slay them; snatch them from the world in their prime. Their bellies are being filled with your friends; their children are satisfied too, for they share what is left with their young.

¹⁵I am just--let me see your face; when I awake, let me be filled with your presence.

PSALM 18

¹For the leader. Of David, the servant of the LORD, who sang to the LORD the words of this song after the LORD had rescued him from the clutches of all his enemies and from the hand of Saul.

²He said: I love you, LORD, my strength,

³LORD, my rock, my fortress, my deliverer, My God, my rock of refuge, my shield, my saving horn, my stronghold!

⁴Praised be the LORD, I exclaim! I have been delivered from my enemies.

⁵The breakers of death surged round about me; the menacing floods terrified me.

⁶The cords of Sheol tightened; the snares of death lay in wait for me.

⁷In my distress I called out: LORD! I cried out to my God. From his temple he heard my voice; my cry to him reached his ears.

⁸The earth rocked and shook; the foundations of the mountains trembled; they shook as his wrath flared up.

⁹Smoke rose in his nostrils, a devouring fire poured from his mouth; it kindled coals into flame.

¹⁰He parted the heavens and came down, a dark cloud under his feet.

¹¹Mounted on a cherub he flew, borne along on the wings of the wind.

¹²He made darkness the cover about him; his canopy, heavy thunderheads.

¹³Before him scudded his clouds, hail and lightning too.

¹⁴The LORD thundered from heaven; the Most High made his voice resound.

¹⁵He let fly his arrows and scattered them; shot his lightning bolts and dispersed them.

¹⁶Then the bed of the sea appeared; the world's foundations lay bare, At the roar of the LORD, at the storming breath of his nostrils.

¹⁷He reached down from on high and seized me; drew me out of the deep waters.

¹⁸He rescued me from my mighty enemy, from foes too powerful for me.

¹⁹They attacked me on a day of distress, but the LORD came to my support.

²⁰He set me free in the open; he rescued me because he loves me.

²¹The LORD acknowledged my righteousness, rewarded my clean hands.

²²For I kept the ways of the LORD; I was not disloyal to my God.

²³His laws were all before me, his decrees I did not cast aside.

²⁴I was honest toward him; I was on guard against sin.

²⁵So the LORD rewarded my righteousness, the cleanness of my hands in his sight.

²⁶Toward the faithful you are faithful; to the honest you are honest;

²⁷Toward the sincere, sincere; but to the perverse you are devious.

²⁸Humble people you save; haughty eyes you bring low.

²⁹You, LORD, give light to my lamp; my God brightens the darkness about me.

³⁰With you I can rush an armed band, with my God to help I can leap a wall.

³¹God's way is unerring; the LORD'S promise is tried and true; he is a shield for all who trust in him.

³²Truly, who is God except the LORD? Who but our God is the rock?

³³This God who girded me with might, kept my way unerring,

³⁴Who made my feet swift as a deer's, set me safe on the heights,

³⁵Who trained my hands for war, my arms to bend even a bow of bronze.

³⁶You have given me your protecting shield; your right hand has upheld me; you stooped to make me great.

³⁷You gave me room to stride; my feet never stumbled.

³⁸I pursued my enemies and overtook them; I did not turn back till I destroyed them.

³⁹I struck them down; they could not rise; they fell dead at my feet.

⁴⁰You girded me with strength for war, subdued adversaries at my feet.

⁴¹My foes you put to flight before me; those who hated me I destroyed.

⁴²They cried for help, but no one saved them; cried to the LORD but got no answer.

⁴³I ground them fine as dust in the wind; like mud in the streets I trampled them down.

⁴⁴You rescued me from the strife of peoples; you made me head over nations. A people I had not known became my slaves;

⁴⁵as soon as they heard of me they obeyed. Foreigners cringed before me;

⁴⁶their courage failed; they came trembling from their fortresses.

⁴⁷The LORD lives! Blessed be my rock! Exalted be God, my savior!

⁴⁸O God who granted me vindication, made peoples subject to me,

⁴⁹and preserved me from my enemies, Truly you have exalted me above my adversaries, from the violent you have rescued me.

⁵⁰Thus I will proclaim you, LORD, among the nations; I will sing the praises of your name.

⁵¹You have given great victories to your king, and shown kindness to your anointed, to David and his posterity forever.

PSALM 19

¹For the leader. A psalm of David.

²The heavens declare the glory of God; the sky proclaims its builder's craft.

³One day to the next conveys that message; one night to the next imparts that knowledge.

⁴There is no word or sound; no voice is heard;

⁵Yet their report goes forth through all the earth, their message, to the ends of the world. God has pitched there a tent for the sun;

⁶it comes forth like a bridegroom from his chamber, and like an athlete joyfully runs its course.

⁷From one end of the heavens it comes forth; its course runs through to the other; nothing escapes its heat.

⁸The law of the LORD is perfect, refreshing the soul. The decree of the LORD is trustworthy, giving wisdom to the simple.

⁹The precepts of the LORD are right, rejoicing the heart. The command of the LORD is clear, enlightening the eye.

¹⁰The fear of the LORD is pure, enduring forever. The statutes of the LORD are true, all of them just;

¹¹More desirable than gold, than a hoard of purest gold, Sweeter also than honey or drippings from the comb.

¹²By them your servant is instructed; obeying them brings much reward.

¹³Who can detect heedless failings? Cleanse me from my unknown faults.

¹⁴But from willful sins keep your servant; let them never control me. Then shall I be blameless, innocent of grave sin.

¹⁵Let the words of my mouth meet with your favor, keep the thoughts of my heart before you, LORD, my rock and my redeemer.

PSALM 20

¹For the leader. A psalm of David.

²The LORD answer you in time of distress; the name of the God of Jacob defend you!

³May God send you help from the temple, from Zion be your support.

⁴May God remember your every offering, graciously accept your holocaust, Selah

⁵Grant what is in your heart, fulfill your every plan.

⁶May we shout for joy at your victory, raise the banners in the name of our God. The LORD grant your every prayer!

⁷Now I know victory is given to the anointed of the LORD. God will answer him from the holy heavens with a strong arm that brings victory.

⁸Some rely on chariots, others on horses, but we on the name of the LORD our God.

⁹They collapse and fall, but we stand strong and firm.

¹⁰LORD, grant victory to the king; answer when we call upon you.

PSALM 21

¹For the leader. A psalm of David.

²LORD, the king finds joy in your power; in your victory how greatly he rejoices!

³You have granted him his heart's desire; you did not refuse the prayer of his lips.
Selah

⁴For you welcomed him with goodly blessings; you placed on his head a crown of pure gold.

⁵He asked life of you; you gave it to him, length of days forever.

⁶Great is his glory in your victory; majesty and splendor you confer upon him.

⁷You make him the pattern of blessings forever, you gladden him with the joy of your presence.

⁸For the king trusts in the LORD, stands firm through the love of the Most High.

⁹Your hand will reach all your enemies; your right hand will reach your foes!

¹⁰At the time of your coming you will drive them into a furnace. Then the LORD'S anger will consume them, devour them with fire.

¹¹Even their descendants you will wipe out from the earth, their offspring from the human race.

¹²Though they intend evil against you, devising plots, they will not succeed,

¹³For you will put them to flight; you will aim at them with your bow.

¹⁴Arise, LORD, in your power! We will sing and chant the praise of your might.

PSALM 22

¹For the leader; according to "The deer of the dawn." A psalm of David.

²My God, my God, why have you abandoned me? Why so far from my call for help, from my cries of anguish?

³My God, I call by day, but you do not answer; by night, but I have no relief.

⁴Yet you are enthroned as the Holy One; you are the glory of Israel.

⁵In you our ancestors trusted; they trusted and you rescued them.

⁶To you they cried out and they escaped; in you they trusted and were not disappointed.

⁷But I am a worm, hardly human, scorned by everyone, despised by the people.

⁸All who see me mock me; they curl their lips and jeer; they shake their heads at me:

⁹"You relied on the LORD--let him deliver you; if he loves you, let him rescue you."

¹⁰Yet you drew me forth from the womb, made me safe at my mother's breast.

¹¹Upon you I was thrust from the womb; since birth you are my God.

¹²Do not stay far from me, for trouble is near, and there is no one to help.

¹³Many bulls surround me; fierce bulls of Bashan encircle me.

¹⁴They open their mouths against me, lions that rend and roar.

¹⁵Like water my life drains away; all my bones grow soft. My heart has become like wax, it melts away within me.

¹⁶As dry as a potsherd is my throat; my tongue sticks to my palate; you lay me in the dust of death.

¹⁷Many dogs surround me; a pack of evildoers closes in on me. So wasted are my hands and feet

- ¹⁸that I can count all my bones. They stare at me and gloat;
- ¹⁹they divide my garments among them; for my clothing they cast lots.
- ²⁰But you, LORD, do not stay far off; my strength, come quickly to help me.
- ²¹Deliver me from the sword, my forlorn life from the teeth of the dog.
- ²²Save me from the lion's mouth, my poor life from the horns of wild bulls.
- ²³Then I will proclaim your name to the assembly; in the community I will praise you:
- ²⁴"You who fear the LORD, give praise! All descendants of Jacob, give honor; show reverence, all descendants of Israel!
- ²⁵For God has not spurned or disdained the misery of this poor wretch, Did not turn away from me, but heard me when I cried out.
- ²⁶I will offer praise in the great assembly; my vows I will fulfill before those who fear him.
- ²⁷The poor will eat their fill; those who seek the LORD will offer praise. May your hearts enjoy life forever!"
- ²⁸All the ends of the earth will worship and turn to the LORD; All the families of nations will bow low before you.
- ²⁹For kingship belongs to the LORD, the ruler over the nations.
- ³⁰All who sleep in the earth will bow low before God; All who have gone down into the dust will kneel in homage.
- ³¹And I will live for the LORD; my descendants will serve you.
- ³²The generation to come will be told of the Lord, that they may proclaim to a people yet unborn the deliverance you have brought.

PSALM 23

¹A psalm of David. The LORD is my shepherd; there is nothing I lack.

²In green pastures you let me graze; to safe waters you lead me;

³you restore my strength. You guide me along the right path for the sake of your name.

⁴Even when I walk through a dark valley, I fear no harm for you are at my side; your rod and staff give me courage.

⁵You set a table before me as my enemies watch; You anoint my head with oil; my cup overflows.

⁶Only goodness and love will pursue me all the days of my life; I will dwell in the house of the LORD for years to come.

PSALM 24

¹A psalm of David. The earth is the LORD'S and all it holds, the world and those who live there.

²For God founded it on the seas, established it over the rivers.

³Who may go up the mountain of the LORD? Who can stand in his holy place?

⁴"The clean of hand and pure of heart, who are not devoted to idols, who have not sworn falsely.

⁵They will receive blessings from the LORD, and justice from their saving God.

⁶Such are the people that love the LORD, that seek the face of the God of Jacob."
Selah

⁷Lift up your heads, O gates; rise up, you ancient portals, that the king of glory may enter.

⁸Who is this king of glory? The LORD, a mighty warrior, the LORD, mighty in battle.

⁹Lift up your heads, O gates; rise up, you ancient portals, that the king of glory may enter.

¹⁰Who is this king of glory? The LORD of hosts is the king of glory. Selah

PSALM 25

¹Of David. I wait for you, O LORD; I lift up my soul

²to my God. In you I trust; do not let me be disgraced; do not let my enemies gloat over me.

³No one is disgraced who waits for you, but only those who lightly break faith.

⁴Make known to me your ways, LORD; teach me your paths.

⁵Guide me in your truth and teach me, for you are God my savior. For you I wait all the long day, because of your goodness, LORD.

⁶Remember your compassion and love, O LORD; for they are ages old.

⁷Remember no more the sins of my youth; remember me only in light of your love.

⁸Good and upright is the LORD, who shows sinners the way,

⁹Guides the humble rightly, and teaches the humble the way.

¹⁰All the paths of the LORD are faithful love toward those who honor the covenant demands.

¹¹For the sake of your name, LORD, pardon my guilt, though it is great.

¹²Who are those who fear the LORD? God shows them the way to choose.

¹³They live well and prosper, and their descendants inherit the land.

¹⁴The counsel of the LORD belongs to the faithful; the covenant instructs them.

¹⁵My eyes are ever upon the LORD, who frees my feet from the snare.

¹⁶Look upon me, have pity on me, for I am alone and afflicted.

¹⁷Relieve the troubles of my heart; bring me out of my distress.

¹⁸Put an end to my affliction and suffering; take away all my sins.

¹⁹See how many are my enemies, see how fiercely they hate me.

²⁰Preserve my life and rescue me; do not let me be disgraced, for I trust in you.

²¹Let honesty and virtue preserve me; I wait for you, O LORD.

²²Redeem Israel, God, from all its distress!

PSALM 26

¹Of David. Grant me justice, LORD! I have walked without blame. In the LORD I have trusted; I have not faltered.

²Test me, LORD, and try me; search my heart and mind.

³Your love is before my eyes; I walk guided by your faithfulness.

⁴I do not sit with deceivers, nor with hypocrites do I mingle.

⁵I hate the company of evildoers; with the wicked I do not sit.

⁶I will wash my hands in innocence and walk round your altar, LORD,

⁷Lifting my voice in thanks, recounting all your wondrous deeds.

⁸LORD, I love the house where you dwell, the tenting-place of your glory.

⁹Do not take me away with sinners, nor my life with the violent.

¹⁰Their hands carry out their schemes; their right hands are full of bribes.

¹¹But I walk without blame; redeem me, be gracious to me!

PSALM 27

¹Of David The LORD is my light and my salvation; whom do I fear? The LORD is my life's refuge; of whom am I afraid?

²When evildoers come at me to devour my flesh, These my enemies and foes themselves stumble and fall.

³Though an army encamp against me, my heart does not fear; Though war be waged against me, even then do I trust.

⁴One thing I ask of the LORD; this I seek: To dwell in the LORD'S house all the days of my life, To gaze on the LORD'S beauty, to visit his temple.

⁵For God will hide me in his shelter in time of trouble, Will conceal me in the cover of his tent; and set me high upon a rock.

⁶Even now my head is held high above my enemies on every side! I will offer in his tent sacrifices with shouts of joy; I will sing and chant praise to the LORD.

⁷I Hear my voice, LORD, when I call; have mercy on me and answer me.

⁸"Come," says my heart, "seek God's face"; your face, LORD, do I seek!

⁹Do not hide your face from me; do not repel your servant in anger. You are my help; do not cast me off; do not forsake me, God my savior!

¹⁰Even if my father and mother forsake me, the LORD will take me in.

¹¹LORD, show me your way; lead me on a level path because of my enemies.

¹²Do not abandon me to the will of my foes; malicious and lying witnesses have risen against me.

¹³But I believe I shall enjoy the LORD'S goodness in the land of the living.

¹⁴Wait for the LORD, take courage; be stouthearted, wait for the LORD!

PSALM 28

¹Of David. To you, LORD, I call; my Rock, do not be deaf to me. If you fail to answer me, I will join those who go down to the pit.

²Hear the sound of my pleading when I cry to you, lifting my hands toward your holy place.

³Do not drag me off with the wicked, with those who do wrong, Who speak peace to their neighbors though evil is in their hearts.

⁴Repay them for their deeds, for the evil that they do. For the work of their hands repay them; give them what they deserve.

⁵They pay no heed to the LORD'S works, to the deeds of God's hands. God will tear them down, never to be rebuilt.

⁶Blessed be the LORD, who has heard the sound of my pleading.

⁷The LORD is my strength and my shield, in whom my heart trusted and found help. So my heart rejoices; with my song I praise my God.

⁸LORD, you are the strength of your people, the saving refuge of your anointed king.

⁹Save your people, bless your inheritance; feed and sustain them forever!

PSALM 29

¹A psalm of David. Give to the LORD, you heavenly beings, give to the LORD glory and might;

²Give to the LORD the glory due God's name. Bow down before the LORD'S holy splendor!

³The voice of the LORD is over the waters; the God of glory thunders, the LORD, over the mighty waters.

⁴The voice of the LORD is power; the voice of the LORD is splendor.

⁵The voice of the LORD cracks the cedars; the LORD splinters the cedars of Lebanon,

⁶Makes Lebanon leap like a calf, and Sirion like a young bull.

⁷The voice of the LORD strikes with fiery flame;

⁸the voice of the LORD rocks the desert; the LORD rocks the desert of Kadesh.

⁹The voice of the LORD twists the oaks and strips the forests bare. All in his palace say, "Glory!"

¹⁰The LORD sits enthroned above the flood! The LORD reigns as king forever!

¹¹May the LORD give might to his people; may the LORD bless his people with peace!

PSALM 30

¹A psalm. A song for the dedication of the temple. Of David.

²I praise you, LORD, for you raised me up and did not let my enemies rejoice over me.

³O LORD, my God, I cried out to you and you healed me.

⁴LORD, you brought me up from Sheol; you kept me from going down to the pit.

⁵Sing praise to the LORD, you faithful; give thanks to God's holy name.

⁶For divine anger lasts but a moment; divine favor lasts a lifetime. At dusk weeping comes for the night; but at dawn there is rejoicing.

⁷Complacent, I once said, "I shall never be shaken."

⁸LORD, when you showed me favor I stood like the mighty mountains. But when you hid your face I was struck with terror.

⁹To you, LORD, I cried out; with the Lord I pleaded for mercy:

¹⁰"What gain is there from my lifeblood, from my going down to the grave? Does dust give you thanks or declare your faithfulness?"

¹¹Hear, O LORD, have mercy on me; LORD, be my helper."

¹²You changed my mourning into dancing; you took off my sackcloth and clothed me with gladness.

¹³With my whole being I sing endless praise to you. O LORD, my God, forever will I give you thanks.

PSALM 31

¹For the leader. A psalm of David.

²In you, LORD, I take refuge; let me never be put to shame. In your justice deliver me;

³incline your ear to me; make haste to rescue me! Be my rock of refuge, a stronghold to save me.

⁴You are my rock and my fortress; for your name's sake lead and guide me.

⁵Free me from the net they have set for me, for you are my refuge.

⁶Into your hands I commend my spirit; you will redeem me, LORD, faithful God.

⁷You hate those who serve worthless idols, but I trust in the LORD.

⁸I will rejoice and be glad in your love, once you have seen my misery, observed my distress.

⁹You will not abandon me into enemy hands, but will set my feet in a free and open space.

¹⁰Be gracious to me, LORD, for I am in distress; with grief my eyes are wasted, my soul and body spent.

¹¹My life is worn out by sorrow, my years by sighing. My strength fails in affliction; my bones are consumed.

¹²To all my foes I am a thing of scorn, to my neighbors, a dreaded sight, a horror to my friends. When they see me in the street, they quickly shy away.

¹³I am forgotten, out of mind like the dead; I am like a shattered dish.

¹⁴I hear the whispers of the crowd; terrors are all around me. They conspire against me; they plot to take my life.

¹⁵But I trust in you, LORD; I say, "You are my God."

¹⁶My times are in your hands; rescue me from my enemies, from the hands of my pursuers.

¹⁷Let your face shine on your servant; save me in your kindness.

¹⁸Do not let me be put to shame, for I have called to you, LORD. Put the wicked to shame; reduce them to silence in Sheol.

¹⁹Strike dumb their lying lips, proud lips that attack the just in contempt and scorn.

²⁰How great is your goodness, Lord, stored up for those who fear you. You display it for those who trust you, in the sight of all the people.

²¹You hide them in the shelter of your presence, safe from scheming enemies. You keep them in your abode, safe from plotting tongues.

²²Blessed be the LORD, who has shown me wondrous love, and been for me a city most secure.

²³Once I said in my anguish, "I am shut out from your sight." Yet you heard my plea, when I cried out to you.

²⁴Love the LORD, all you faithful. The LORD protects the loyal, but repays the arrogant in full.

²⁵Be strong and take heart, all you who hope in the LORD.

PSALM 32

¹Of David. A maskil. Happy the sinner whose fault is removed, whose sin is forgiven.

²Happy those to whom the LORD imputes no guilt, in whose spirit is no deceit.

³As long as I kept silent, my bones wasted away; I groaned all the day.

⁴For day and night your hand was heavy upon me; my strength withered as in dry summer heat. Selah

⁵Then I declared my sin to you; my guilt I did not hide. I said, "I confess my faults to the LORD," and you took away the guilt of my sin. Selah

⁶Thus should all your faithful pray in time of distress. Though flood waters threaten, they will never reach them.

⁷You are my shelter; from distress you keep me; with safety you ring me round. Selah

⁸ I will instruct you and show you the way you should walk, give you counsel and watch over you.

⁹ Do not be senseless like horses or mules; with bit and bridle their temper is curbed, else they will not come to you.

¹⁰ Many are the sorrows of the wicked, but love surrounds those who trust in the LORD.

¹¹ Be glad in the LORD and rejoice, you just; exult, all you upright of heart.

¹ Rejoice, you just, in the LORD; praise from the upright is fitting.

² Give thanks to the LORD on the harp; on the ten-stringed lyre offer praise.

³ Sing to God a new song; skillfully play with joyful chant.

⁴ For the LORD'S word is true; all his works are trustworthy.

⁵ The LORD loves justice and right and fills the earth with goodness.

⁶ By the LORD'S word the heavens were made; by the breath of his mouth all their host.

⁷ The waters of the sea were gathered as in a bowl; in cellars the deep was confined.

⁸ Let all the earth fear the LORD; let all who dwell in the world show reverence.

⁹ For he spoke, and it came to be, commanded, and it stood in place.

¹⁰ The LORD foils the plan of nations, frustrates the designs of peoples.

¹¹ But the plan of the LORD stands forever, wise designs through all generations.

¹² Happy the nation whose God is the LORD, the people chosen as his very own.

¹³ From heaven the LORD looks down and observes the whole human race,

¹⁴ Surveying from the royal throne all who dwell on earth.

¹⁵The one who fashioned the hearts of them all knows all their works.

¹⁶A king is not saved by a mighty army, nor a warrior delivered by great strength.

¹⁷Useless is the horse for safety; its great strength, no sure escape.

¹⁸But the LORD'S eyes are upon the reverent, upon those who hope for his gracious help, ¹⁹Delivering them from death, keeping them alive in times of famine.

²⁰Our soul waits for the LORD, who is our help and shield.

²¹For in God our hearts rejoice; in your holy name we trust.

²²May your kindness, LORD, be upon us; we have put our hope in you.

PSALM 34

¹Of David, when he feigned madness before Abimelech, who forced him to depart.

²I will bless the LORD at all times; praise shall be always in my mouth.

³My soul will glory in the LORD that the poor may hear and be glad.

⁴Magnify the LORD with me; let us exalt his name together.

⁵I sought the LORD, who answered me, delivered me from all my fears.

⁶Look to God that you may be radiant with joy and your faces may not blush for shame.

⁷In my misfortune I called, the LORD heard and saved me from all distress.

⁸The angel of the LORD, who encamps with them, delivers all who fear God.

⁹Learn to savor how good the LORD is; happy are those who take refuge in him.

¹⁰Fear the LORD, you holy ones; nothing is lacking to those who fear him.

¹¹The powerful grow poor and hungry, but those who seek the LORD lack no good thing.

¹²Come, children, listen to me; I will teach you the fear of the LORD.

¹³Who among you loves life, takes delight in prosperous days?

¹⁴Keep your tongue from evil, your lips from speaking lies.

¹⁵Turn from evil and do good; seek peace and pursue it.

¹⁶The LORD has eyes for the just and ears for their cry.

¹⁷The LORD'S face is against evildoers to wipe out their memory from the earth.

¹⁸When the just cry out, the LORD hears and rescues them from all distress.

¹⁹The LORD is close to the brokenhearted, saves those whose spirit is crushed.

²⁰Many are the troubles of the just, but the LORD delivers from them all.

²¹God watches over all their bones; not a one shall be broken.

²²Evil will slay the wicked; those who hate the just are condemned.

²³The LORD redeems loyal servants; no one is condemned whose refuge is God.

PSALM 35

¹Of David. Oppose, LORD, those who oppose me; war upon those who make war upon me.

²Take up the shield and buckler; rise up in my defense.

³Brandish lance and battle-ax against my pursuers. Say to my heart, "I am your salvation."

⁴Let those who seek my life be put to shame and disgrace. Let those who plot evil against me be turned back and confounded.

⁵Make them like chaff before the wind, with the angel of the LORD driving them on.

⁶Make their way slippery and dark, with the angel of the LORD pursuing them.

⁷Without cause they set their snare for me; without cause they dug a pit for me.

⁸Let ruin overtake them unawares; let the snare they have set catch them; let them fall into the pit they have dug.

⁹Then I will rejoice in the LORD, exult in God's salvation.

¹⁰My very bones shall say, "O LORD, who is like you, Who rescue the afflicted from the powerful, the afflicted and needy from the despoiler?"

¹¹Malicious witnesses come forward, accuse me of things I do not know.

¹²They repay me evil for good and I am all alone.

¹³Yet I, when they were ill, put on sackcloth, afflicted myself with fasting, sobbed my prayers upon my bosom.

¹⁴I went about in grief as for my brother, bent in mourning as for my mother.

¹⁵Yet when I stumbled they gathered with glee, gathered against me like strangers. They slandered me without ceasing;

¹⁶without respect they mocked me, gnashed their teeth against me.

¹⁷Lord, how long will you look on? Save me from roaring beasts, my precious life from lions!

¹⁸Then I will thank you in the great assembly; I will praise you before the mighty throng.

¹⁹Do not let lying foes smirk at me, my undeserved enemies wink knowingly.

²⁰They speak no words of peace, but against the quiet in the land they fashion deceitful speech.

²¹They open wide their mouths against me. They say, "Aha! Good! Our eyes relish the sight!"

²²You see this, LORD; do not be silent; Lord, do not withdraw from me.

²³Awake, be vigilant in my defense, in my cause, my God and my Lord.

²⁴Defend me because you are just, LORD; my God, do not let them gloat over me.

²⁵Do not let them say in their hearts, "Aha! Just what we wanted!" Do not let them say, "We have devoured that one!"

²⁶Put to shame and confound all who relish my misfortune. Clothe with shame and disgrace those who lord it over me.

²⁷But let those who favor my just cause shout for joy and be glad. May they ever say, "Exalted be the LORD who delights in the peace of his loyal servant."

²⁸Then my tongue shall recount your justice, declare your praise, all the day long.

PSALM 36

¹For the leader. Of David, the servant of the LORD.

²Sin directs the heart of the wicked; their eyes are closed to the fear of God.

³For they live with the delusion: their guilt will not be known and hated.

⁴Empty and false are the words of their mouth; they have ceased to be wise and do good.

⁵In their beds they hatch plots; they set out on a wicked way; they do not reject evil.

⁶LORD, your love reaches to heaven; your fidelity, to the clouds.

⁷Your justice is like the highest mountains; your judgments, like the mighty deep; all living creatures you sustain, LORD.

⁸How precious is your love, O God! We take refuge in the shadow of your wings.

⁹We feast on the rich food of your house; from your delightful stream you give us drink.

¹⁰For with you is the fountain of life, and in your light we see light.

¹¹Continue your kindness toward your friends, your just defense of the honest heart.

¹²Do not let the foot of the proud overtake me, nor the hand of the wicked disturb me.

¹³There make the evildoers fall; thrust them down, never to rise.

PSALM 37

¹Of David. Do not be provoked by evildoers; do not envy those who do wrong.

²Like grass they wither quickly; like green plants they wilt away.

³Trust in the LORD and do good that you may dwell in the land and live secure.

⁴Find your delight in the LORD who will give you your heart's desire.

⁵Commit your way to the LORD; trust that God will act

⁶And make your integrity shine like the dawn, your vindication like noonday.

⁷Be still before the LORD; wait for God. Do not be provoked by the prosperous, nor by malicious schemers.

⁸Give up your anger, abandon your wrath; do not be provoked; it brings only harm.

⁹Those who do evil will be cut off, but those who wait for the LORD will possess the land.

¹⁰Wait a little, and the wicked will be no more; look for them and they will not be there.

¹¹But the poor will possess the land, will delight in great prosperity.

¹²The wicked plot against the just and grind their teeth at them;

¹³But the LORD laughs at them, knowing their day is coming.

¹⁴The wicked draw their swords; they string their bows To fell the poor and oppressed, to slaughter those whose way is honest.

¹⁵Their swords will pierce their own hearts; their bows will be broken.

¹⁶Better the poverty of the just than the great wealth of the wicked.

¹⁷The arms of the wicked will be broken; the LORD will sustain the just.

¹⁸The LORD watches over the days of the blameless; their heritage lasts forever.

¹⁹They will not be disgraced when times are hard; in days of famine they will have plenty.

²⁰The wicked perish, the enemies of the LORD; Like the beauty of meadows they vanish; like smoke they disappear.

²¹The wicked borrow but do not repay; the just are generous in giving.

²²For those blessed by the Lord will possess the land, but those accursed will be cut off.

²³Those whose steps are guided by the LORD; whose way God approves, ²⁴May stumble, but they will never fall, for the LORD holds their hand.

²⁵Neither in my youth, nor now in old age have I ever seen the just abandoned or their children begging bread.

²⁶The just always lend generously, and their children become a blessing.

²⁷Turn from evil and do good, that you may inhabit the land forever.

²⁸For the LORD loves justice and does not abandon the faithful. When the unjust are destroyed, and the children of the wicked cut off, ²⁹The just will possess the land and live in it forever.

³⁰The mouths of the just utter wisdom; their tongues speak what is right.

³¹God's teaching is in their hearts; their steps do not falter.

³²The wicked spy on the just and seek to kill them.

³³But the LORD does not leave the just in their power, nor let them be condemned when tried.

³⁴Wait eagerly for the LORD, and keep to the way; God will raise you to possess the land; you will gloat when the wicked are cut off.

³⁵I have seen ruthless scoundrels, strong as flourishing cedars.

³⁶When I passed by again, they were gone; though I searched, they could not be found.

³⁷Observe the honest, mark the upright; those at peace with God have a future.

³⁸But all sinners will be destroyed; the future of the wicked will be cut off.

³⁹The salvation of the just is from the LORD, their refuge in time of distress.

⁴⁰The LORD helps and rescues them, rescues and saves them from the wicked, because in God they take refuge.

PSALM 38

¹A psalm of David. For remembrance.

²LORD, punish me no more in your anger; in your wrath do not chastise me!

³Your arrows have sunk deep in me; your hand has come down upon me.

⁴My flesh is afflicted because of your anger; my frame aches because of my sin.

⁵My iniquities overwhelm me, a burden beyond my strength.

⁶Foul and festering are my sores because of my folly.

⁷I am stooped and deeply bowed; all day I go about mourning.

⁸My loins burn with fever; my flesh is afflicted.

⁹I am numb and utterly crushed; I wail with anguish of heart.

¹⁰My Lord, my deepest yearning is before you; my groaning is not hidden from you.

¹¹My heart shudders, my strength forsakes me; the very light of my eyes has failed.

¹²Friends and companions shun my pain; my neighbors stand far off.

¹³Those who seek my life lay snares for me; they seek my misfortune, they speak of ruin; they plot treachery all the day.

¹⁴But I am like the deaf, hearing nothing, like the dumb, saying nothing, ¹⁵Like someone who does not hear, who has no answer ready.

¹⁶LORD, I wait for you; O Lord, my God, answer me.

¹⁷For I fear they will gloat, exult over me if I stumble.

¹⁸I am very near to falling; my pain is with me always.

¹⁹I acknowledge my guilt and grieve over my sin.

²⁰But many are my foes without cause, a multitude of enemies without reason,

²¹Repaying me evil for good, harassing me for pursuing good.

²²Forsake me not, O LORD; my God, be not far from me!

²³Come quickly to help me, my Lord and my salvation!

PSALM 39

¹For the leader, for Jeduthun. A psalm of David.

²I said, "I will watch my ways, lest I sin with my tongue; I will set a curb on my mouth."

³Dumb and silent before the wicked, I refrained from any speech. But my sorrow increased;

⁴my heart smoldered within me. In my thoughts a fire blazed up, and I broke into speech:

⁵LORD, let me know my end, the number of my days, that I may learn how frail I am.

⁶You have given my days a very short span; my life is as nothing before you. All mortals are but a breath. Selah ⁷Mere phantoms, we go our way; mere vapor, our restless pursuits; we heap up stores without knowing for whom.

⁸And now, Lord, what future do I have? You are my only hope.

⁹From all my sins deliver me; let me not be the taunt of fools.

¹⁰I was silent and did not open my mouth because you were the one who did this.

¹¹Take your plague away from me; I am ravaged by the touch of your hand.

¹²You rebuke our guilt and chasten us; you dissolve all we prize like a cobweb. All mortals are but a breath. Selah ¹³Listen to my prayer, LORD, hear my cry; do not be deaf to my weeping! I sojourn with you like a passing stranger, a guest, like all my ancestors.

¹⁴Turn your gaze from me, that I may find peace before I depart to be no more.

PSALM 40

¹For the leader. A psalm of David.

²I waited, waited for the LORD; who bent down and heard my cry,

³Drew me out of the pit of destruction, out of the mud of the swamp, Set my feet upon rock, steadied my steps,

⁴And put a new song in my mouth, a hymn to our God. Many shall look on in awe and they shall trust in the LORD.

⁵Happy those whose trust is the LORD, who turn not to idolatry or to those who stray after falsehood.

⁶How numerous, O LORD, my God, you have made your wondrous deeds! And in your plans for us there is none to equal you. Should I wish to declare or tell them, too many are they to recount.

⁷sacrifice and offering you do not want; but ears open to obedience you gave me. Holocausts and sin-offerings you do not require;

⁸so I said, "Here I am; your commands for me are written in the scroll.

⁹To do your will is my delight; my God, your law is in my heart!"

¹⁰I announced your deed to a great assembly; I did not restrain my lips; you, LORD, are my witness.

¹¹Your deed I did not hide within my heart; your loyal deliverance I have proclaimed. I made no secret of your enduring kindness to a great assembly.

¹²LORD, do not withhold your compassion from me; may your enduring kindness ever preserve me.

¹³For all about me are evils beyond count; my sins so overcome me I cannot see. They are more than the hairs of my head; my courage fails me.

¹⁴LORD, graciously rescue me! Come quickly to help me, LORD!

¹⁵Put to shame and confound all who seek to take my life. Turn back in disgrace those who desire my ruin.

¹⁶Let those who say "Aha!" know dismay and shame.

¹⁷But may all who seek you rejoice and be glad in you. May those who long for your help always say, "The LORD be glorified."

¹⁸Though I am afflicted and poor, the Lord keeps me in mind. You are my help and deliverer; my God, do not delay!

PSALM 41

¹For the leader. A psalm of David.

²Happy those concerned for the lowly and poor; when misfortune strikes, the LORD delivers them.

³The LORD keeps and preserves them, makes them happy in the land, and does not betray them to their enemies.

⁴The LORD sustains them on their sickbed, allays the malady when they are ill.

⁵Once I prayed, "LORD, have mercy on me; heal me, I have sinned against you.

⁶My enemies say the worst of me: 'When will that one die and be forgotten?'

⁷When people come to visit me, they speak without sincerity. Their hearts store up malice; they leave and spread their vicious lies.

⁸My foes all whisper against me; they imagine the worst about me:

⁹I have a deadly disease, they say; I will never rise from my sickbed.

¹⁰Even the friend who had my trust, who shared my table, has scorned me.

¹¹But you, LORD, have mercy and raise me up that I may repay them as they deserve."

¹²By this I know you are pleased with me, that my enemy no longer jeers at me.

¹³For my integrity you have supported me and let me stand in your presence forever.

¹⁴Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, from all eternity and forever. Amen. Amen.

PSALM 42

¹For the leader. A maskil of the Korahites.

²As the deer longs for streams of water, so my soul longs for you, O God.

³My being thirsts for God, the living God. When can I go and see the face of God?

⁴My tears have been my food day and night, as they ask daily, "Where is your God?"

⁵Those times I recall as I pour out my soul, When I went in procession with the crowd, I went with them to the house of God, Amid loud cries of thanksgiving, with the multitude keeping festival.

⁶Why are you downcast, my soul; why do you groan within me? Wait for God, whom I shall praise again, my savior and my God.

⁷My soul is downcast within me; therefore I will remember you From the land of the Jordan and Hermon, from the land of Mount Mizar.

⁸Here deep calls to deep in the roar of your torrents. All your waves and breakers sweep over me.

⁹At dawn may the LORD bestow faithful love that I may sing praise through the night, praise to the God of my life.

¹⁰I say to God, "My rock, why do you forget me? Why must I go about mourning with the enemy oppressing me?"

¹¹It shatters my bones, when my adversaries reproach me. They say to me daily: "Where is your God?"

¹²Why are you downcast, my soul, why do you groan within me? Wait for God, whom I shall praise again, my savior and my God.

PSALM 43

¹Grant me justice, God; defend me from a faithless people; from the deceitful and unjust rescue me.

²You, God, are my strength. Why then do you spurn me? Why must I go about mourning, with the enemy oppressing me?

³Send your light and fidelity, that they may be my guide And bring me to your holy mountain, to the place of your dwelling,

⁴That I may come to the altar of God, to God, my joy, my delight. Then I will praise you with the harp, O God, my God.

⁵Why are you downcast, my soul? Why do you groan within me? Wait for God, whom I shall praise again, my savior and my God.

PSALM 44

¹For the leader. A maskil of the Korahites.

²O God, we have heard with our own ears; our ancestors have told us The deeds you did in their days, with your own hand in days of old:

³You rooted out nations to plant them, crushed peoples to make room for them.

⁴Not with their own swords did they conquer the land, nor did their own arms bring victory; It was your right hand, your own arm, the light of your face for you favored them.

⁵You are my king and my God, who bestows victories on Jacob.

⁶Through you we batter our foes; through your name, trample our adversaries.

⁷Not in my bow do I trust, nor does my sword bring me victory.

⁸You have brought us victory over our enemies, shamed those who hate us.

⁹In God we have boasted all the day long; your name we will praise forever. Selah ¹⁰But now you have rejected and disgraced us; you do not march out with our armies.

¹¹You make us retreat before the foe; those who hate us plunder us at will.

¹²You hand us over like sheep to be slaughtered, scatter us among the nations.

¹³You sell your people for nothing; you make no profit from their sale.

¹⁴You make us the reproach of our neighbors, the mockery and scorn of those around us.

¹⁵You make us a byword among the nations; the peoples shake their heads at us.

¹⁶All day long my disgrace is before me; shame has covered my face

¹⁷At the sound of those who taunt and revile, at the sight of the spiteful enemy.

¹⁸All this has come upon us, though we have not forgotten you, nor been disloyal to your covenant.

¹⁹Our hearts have not turned back, nor have our steps strayed from your path.

²⁰Yet you have left us crushed, desolate in a place of jackals; you have covered us with darkness.

²¹If we had forgotten the name of our God, stretched out our hands to another god, ²²Would not God have discovered this, God who knows the secrets of the heart?

²³For you we are slain all the day long, considered only as sheep to be slaughtered.

²⁴Awake! Why do you sleep, O Lord? Rise up! Do not reject us forever!

²⁵Why do you hide your face; why forget our pain and misery?

²⁶We are bowed down to the ground; our bodies are pressed to the earth.

²⁷Rise up, help us! Redeem us as your love demands.

PSALM 45

¹For the leader; according to "Lilies." A maskil of the Korahites. A love song.

²My heart is stirred by a noble theme, as I sing my ode to the king. My tongue is the pen of a nimble scribe.

³You are the most handsome of men; fair speech has graced your lips, for God has blessed you forever.

⁴Gird your sword upon your hip, mighty warrior! In splendor and majesty ride on triumphant!

⁵In the cause of truth and justice may your right hand show you wondrous deeds.

⁶Your arrows are sharp; peoples will cower at your feet; the king's enemies will lose heart.

⁷Your throne, O god, stands forever; your royal scepter is a scepter for justice.

⁸You love justice and hate wrongdoing; therefore God, your God, has anointed you with the oil of gladness above your fellow kings.

⁹With myrrh, aloes, and cassia your robes are fragrant. From ivory-paneled palaces stringed instruments bring you joy.

¹⁰Daughters of kings are your lovely wives; a princess arrayed in Ophir's gold comes to stand at your right hand.

¹¹Listen, my daughter, and understand; pay me careful heed. Forget your people and your father's house,

¹²that the king might desire your beauty. He is your lord;

¹³honor him, daughter of Tyre. Then the richest of the people will seek your favor with gifts.

¹⁴All glorious is the king's daughter as she enters, her raiment threaded with gold;

¹⁵In embroidered apparel she is led to the king. The maids of her train are presented to the king.

¹⁶They are led in with glad and joyous acclaim; they enter the palace of the king.

¹⁷The throne of your fathers your sons will have; you shall make them princes through all the land.

¹⁸I will make your name renowned through all generations; thus nations shall praise you forever.

PSALM 46

¹For the leader. A song of the Korahites. According to alamoth.

²God is our refuge and our strength, an ever-present help in distress.

³Thus we do not fear, though earth be shaken and mountains quake to the depths of the sea,

⁴Though its waters rage and foam and mountains totter at its surging. The LORD of hosts is with us; our stronghold is the God of Jacob. Selah ⁵Streams of the river gladden the city of God, the holy dwelling of the Most High.

⁶God is in its midst; it shall not be shaken; God will help it at break of day.

⁷Though nations rage and kingdoms totter, God's voice thunders and the earth trembles.

⁸The LORD of hosts is with us; our stronghold is the God of Jacob. Selah

⁹Come and see the works of the LORD, who has done fearsome deeds on earth;

¹⁰Who stops wars to the ends of the earth, breaks the bow, splinters the spear, and burns the shields with fire;

¹¹Who says: "Be still and confess that I am God! I am exalted among the nations, exalted on the earth."

¹²The LORD of hosts is with us; our stronghold is the God of Jacob. Selah

PSALM 47

¹For the leader. A psalm of the Korahites.

²All you peoples, clap your hands; shout to God with joyful cries.

³For the LORD, the Most High, inspires awe, the great king overall the earth,

⁴Who made people subject to us, brought nations under our feet,

⁵Who chose a land for our heritage, the glory of Jacob, the beloved. Selah

⁶God mounts the throne amid shouts of joy; the LORD, amid trumpet blasts.

⁷Sing praise to God, sing praise; sing praise to our king, sing praise.

⁸God is king over all the earth; sing hymns of praise.

⁹God rules over the nations; God sits upon his holy throne.

¹⁰The princes of the peoples assemble with the people of the God of Abraham. For the rulers of the earth belong to God, who is enthroned on high.

PSALM 48

¹A psalm of the Korahites. A song.

²Great is the LORD and highly praised in the city of our God: The holy mountain, ³fairest of heights, the joy of all the earth, Mount Zion, the heights of Zaphon, the city of the great king.

⁴God is its citadel, renowned as a stronghold.

⁵See! The kings assembled, together they invaded.

⁶When they looked they were astounded; terrified, they were put to flight!

⁷Trembling seized them there, anguish, like a woman's labor,

⁸As when the east wind wrecks the ships of Tarshish!

⁹What we had heard we now see in the city of the LORD of hosts, In the city of our God, founded to last forever. Selah ¹⁰O God, within your temple we ponder your steadfast love.

¹¹Like your name, O God, your praise reaches the ends of the earth. Your right hand is fully victorious.

¹²Mount Zion is glad! The cities of Judah rejoice because of your saving deeds!

¹³Go about Zion, walk all around it, note the number of its towers.

¹⁴Consider the ramparts, examine its citadels, that you may tell future generations:

¹⁵"Yes, so mighty is God, our God who leads us always!"

PSALM 49

¹For the leader. A psalm of the Korahites.

²Hear this, all you peoples! Give ear, all who inhabit the world,

³You of lowly birth or high estate, rich and poor alike.

⁴My mouth shall speak wisdom, my heart shall offer insight.

⁵I will turn my attention to a problem, expound my question to the music of a lyre.

⁶Why should I fear in evil days, when my wicked pursuers ring me round, ⁷Those who trust in their wealth and boast of their abundant riches?

⁸One cannot redeem oneself, pay to God a ransom.

⁹Too high the price to redeem a life; one would never have enough

¹⁰To stay alive forever and never see the pit.

¹¹Anyone can see that the wisest die, the fool and the senseless pass away too, and must leave their wealth to others.

¹²Tombs are their homes forever, their dwellings through all generations, though they gave their names to their lands.

¹³For all their riches mortals do not abide; they perish like the beasts.

¹⁴This is the destiny of those who trust in folly, the end of those so pleased with their wealth. Selah

¹⁵Like sheep they are herded into Sheol, where death will be their shepherd. Straight to the grave they descend, where their form will waste away, Sheol will be their palace.

¹⁶But God will redeem my life, will take me from the power of Sheol. Selah ¹⁷Do not fear when others become rich, when the wealth of their houses grows great.

¹⁸When they die they will take nothing with them, their wealth will not follow them down.

¹⁹When living, they congratulate themselves and say: "All praise you, you do so well."

²⁰But they will join the company of their forebears, never again to see the light.

²¹For all their riches, if mortals do not have wisdom, they perish like the beasts.

PSALM 50

¹A psalm of Asaph. The LORD, the God of gods, has spoken and summoned the earth from the rising of the sun to its setting.

²From Zion God shines forth. perfect in beauty.

³Our God comes and will not be silent! Devouring fire precedes, storming fiercely round about.

⁴God summons the heavens above and the earth to the judgment of his people:

⁵"Gather my faithful ones before me, those who made a covenant with me by sacrifice."

⁶The heavens proclaim divine justice, for God alone is the judge. Selah

⁷"Listen, my people, I will speak; Israel, I will testify against you; God, your God, am I.

⁸Not for your sacrifices do I rebuke you, nor for your holocausts, set before me daily.

⁹I need no bullock from your house, no goats from your fold.

¹⁰For every animal of the forest is mine, beasts by the thousands on my mountains.

¹¹I know every bird of the heavens; the creatures of the field belong to me.

¹²Were I hungry, I would not tell you, for mine is the world and all that fills it.

¹³Do I eat the flesh of bulls or drink the blood of goats?

¹⁴Offer praise as your sacrifice to God; fulfill your vows to the Most High.

¹⁵Then call on me in time of distress; I will rescue you, and you shall honor me."

¹⁶But to the wicked God says: "Why do you recite my commandments and profess my covenant with your lips?

¹⁷You hate discipline; you cast my words behind you!

¹⁸When you see thieves, you befriend them; with adulterers you throw in your lot.

¹⁹You give your mouth free rein for evil; you harness your tongue to deceit.

²⁰You sit maligning your own kin, slandering the child of your own mother.

²¹When you do these things should I be silent? Or do you think that I am like you? I accuse you, I lay the charge before you.

²²"Understand this, you who forget God, lest I attack you with no one to rescue.

²³Those who offer praise as a sacrifice honor me; to the obedient I will show the salvation of God."

PSALM 51

¹For the leader. A psalm of David,

²when Nathan the prophet came to him after his affair with Bathsheba.

³Have mercy on me, God, in your goodness; in your abundant compassion blot out my offense.

⁴Wash away all my guilt; from my sin cleanse me.

⁵For I know my offense; my sin is always before me.

⁶Against you alone have I sinned; I have done such evil in your sight That you are just in your sentence, blameless when you condemn.

⁷True, I was born guilty, a sinner, even as my mother conceived me.

⁸Still, you insist on sincerity of heart; in my inmost being teach me wisdom.

⁹Cleanse me with hyssop, that I may be pure; wash me, make me whiter than snow.

¹⁰Let me hear sounds of joy and gladness; let the bones you have crushed rejoice.

¹¹Turn away your face from my sins; blot out all my guilt.

¹²A clean heart create for me, God; renew in me a steadfast spirit.

¹³Do not drive me from your presence, nor take from me your holy spirit.

¹⁴Restore my joy in your salvation; sustain in me a willing spirit.

¹⁵I will teach the wicked your ways, that sinners may return to you.

¹⁶Rescue me from death, God, my saving God, that my tongue may praise your healing power.

¹⁷Lord, open my lips; my mouth will proclaim your praise.

¹⁸For you do not desire sacrifice; a burnt offering you would not accept.

¹⁹My sacrifice, God, is a broken spirit; God, do not spurn a broken, humbled heart.

²⁰Make Zion prosper in your good pleasure; rebuild the walls of Jerusalem.

²¹Then you will be pleased with proper sacrifice, burnt offerings and holocausts; then bullocks will be offered on your altar.

PSALM 52

¹For the leader. A maskil of David,

²when Doeg the Edomite went and told Saul, "David went to the house of Ahimelech."

³Why do you glory in evil, you scandalous liar? All day long

⁴you plot destruction; your tongue is like a sharpened razor, you skillful deceiver.

⁵You love evil rather than good, lies rather than honest speech. Selah

⁶You love any word that destroys, you deceitful tongue.

⁷Now God will strike you down, leave you crushed forever, Pluck you from your tent, uproot you from the land of the living. Selah

⁸The righteous will look on with awe; they will jeer and say:

⁹"That one did not take God as a refuge, but trusted in great wealth, relied on devious plots."

¹⁰But I, like an olive tree in the house of God, trust in God's faithful love forever.

¹¹I will praise you always for what you have done. I will proclaim before the faithful that your name is good.

PSALM 53

¹For the leader; according to Mahalath. A maskil of David.

²Fools say in their hearts, "There is no God." Their deeds are loathsome and corrupt; not one does what is right.

³God looks down from heaven upon the human race, To see if even one is wise, if even one seeks God.

⁴All have gone astray; all alike are perverse. Not one does what is right, not even one.

⁵Will these evildoers never learn? They devour my people as they devour bread; they do not call upon God.

⁶They have good reason to fear, though now they do not fear. For God will certainly scatter the bones of the godless. They will surely be put to shame, for God has rejected them.

⁷Oh, that from Zion might come the deliverance of Israel, That Jacob may rejoice and Israel be glad when God restores the people!

PSALM 54

¹For the leader. On stringed instruments. A maskil of David,

²when the Ziphites came and said to Saul, "David is hiding among us."

³O God, by your name save me. By your strength defend my cause.

⁴O God, hear my prayer. Listen to the words of my mouth.

⁵The arrogant have risen against me; the ruthless seek my life; they do not keep God before them. Selah

⁶God is present as my helper; the Lord sustains my life.

⁷Turn back the evil upon my foes; in your faithfulness, destroy them.

⁸Then I will offer you generous sacrifice and praise your gracious name, LORD, ⁹Because it has rescued me from every trouble, and my eyes look down on my foes.

PSALM 55

¹For the leader. On stringed instruments. A maskil of David.

²Listen, God, to my prayer; do not hide from my pleading;

³hear me and give answer. I rock with grief; I groan

⁴at the uproar of the enemy, the clamor of the wicked. They heap trouble upon me, savagely accuse me.

⁵My heart pounds within me; death's terrors fall upon me.

⁶Fear and trembling overwhelm me; shuddering sweeps over me.

⁷I say, "If only I had wings like a dove that I might fly away and find rest.

⁸Far away I would flee; I would stay in the desert. Selah

⁹I would soon find a shelter from the raging wind and storm."

¹⁰Lord, check and confuse their scheming. I see violence and strife in the city

¹¹making rounds on its walls day and night. Within are mischief and evil;

¹²treachery is there as well; oppression and fraud never leave its streets.

¹³If an enemy had reviled me, that I could bear; If my foe had viewed me with contempt, from that I could hide.

¹⁴But it was you, my other self, my comrade and friend,

¹⁵You, whose company I enjoyed, at whose side I walked in procession in the house of God.

¹⁶Let death take them by surprise; let them go down alive to Sheol, for evil is in their homes and hearts.

¹⁷But I will call upon God, and the LORD will save me.

¹⁸At dusk, dawn, and noon I will grieve and complain, and my prayer will be heard.

¹⁹God will give me freedom and peace from those who war against me, though there are many who oppose me.

²⁰God, who sits enthroned forever, will hear me and humble them. For they will not mend their ways; they have no fear of God.

²¹They strike out at friends and go back on their promises.

²²Softer than butter is their speech, but war is in their hearts. Smoother than oil are their words, but they are unsheathed swords.

²³Cast your care upon the LORD, who will give you support. God will never allow the righteous to stumble.

²⁴But you, God, will bring them down to the pit of destruction. These bloodthirsty liars will not live half their days, but I put my trust in you.

PSALM 56

¹For the director. According to Yonath elem rehoqim. A miktam of David, when the Philistines seized him at Gath.

²Have mercy on me, God, for I am treated harshly; attackers press me all the day.

³My foes treat me harshly all the day; yes, many are my attackers. O Most High, ⁴when I am afraid, in you I place my trust.

⁵God, I praise your promise; in you I trust, I do not fear. What can mere flesh do to me?

⁶All the day they foil my plans; their every thought is of evil against me.

⁷They hide together in ambush; they watch my every step; they lie in wait for my life.

⁸They are evil; watch them, God! Cast the nations down in your anger!

⁹My wanderings you have noted; are my tears not stored in your vial, recorded in your book?

¹⁰My foes turn back when I call on you. This I know: God is on my side.

¹God, I praise your promise;

²in you I trust, I do not fear. What can mere mortals do to me?

³I have made vows to you, God; with offerings I will fulfill them,

⁴Once you have snatched me from death, kept my feet from stumbling, That I may walk before God in the light of the living.

PSALM 57

¹For the director. Do not destroy. A miktam of David, when he fled from Saul into a cave.

²Have mercy on me, God, have mercy on me. In you I seek shelter. In the shadow of your wings I seek shelter till harm pass by.

³I call to God Most High, to God who provides for me.

⁴May God send help from heaven to save me, shame those who trample upon me. May God send fidelity and love. Selah ⁵I must lie down in the midst of lions hungry for human prey. Their teeth are spears and arrows; their tongue, a sharpened sword.

⁶Show yourself over the heavens, God; may your glory appear above all the earth.

⁷They have set a trap for my feet; my soul is bowed down; They have dug a pit before me. May they fall into it themselves! Selah ⁸My heart is steadfast, God, my heart is steadfast. I will sing and chant praise.

⁹Awake, my soul; awake, lyre and harp! I will wake the dawn.

¹⁰I will praise you among the peoples, Lord; I will chant your praise among the nations.

¹¹For your love towers to the heavens; your faithfulness, to the skies.

¹²Show yourself over the heavens, God; may your glory appear above all the earth.

PSALM 58

¹For the leader. Do not destroy. A miktam of David.

²Do you indeed pronounce justice, O gods; do you judge mortals fairly?

³No, you freely engage in crime; your hands dispense violence to the earth.

⁴The wicked have been corrupt since birth; liars from the womb, they have gone astray.

⁵Their poison is like the poison of a snake, like that of a serpent stopping its ears,

⁶So as not to hear the voice of the charmer who casts such cunning spells.

⁷O God, smash the teeth in their mouths; break the jaw-teeth of these lions, LORD!

⁸Make them vanish like water flowing away; trodden down, let them wither like grass.

⁹Let them dissolve like a snail that oozes away, like an untimely birth that never sees the sun.

¹⁰Suddenly, like brambles or thistles, have the whirlwind snatch them away.

¹¹Then the just shall rejoice to see the vengeance and bathe their feet in the blood of the wicked.

¹²Then it will be said: "Truly there is a reward for the just; there is a God who is judge on earth!"

PSALM 59

¹For the director. Do not destroy. A miktam of David, when Saul sent people to watch his house and kill him.

²Rescue me from my enemies, my God; lift me out of reach of my foes.

³Deliver me from evildoers; from the bloodthirsty save me.

⁴They have set an ambush for my life; the powerful conspire against me. For no offense or misdeed of mine, LORD, ⁵for no fault they hurry to take up arms. Come near and see my plight!

⁶You, LORD of hosts, are the God of Israel! Awake! Punish all the nations. Have no mercy on these worthless traitors. Selah ⁷Each evening they return, growling like dogs, prowling the city.

⁸Their mouths pour out insult; sharp words are on their lips. They say: "Who is there to hear?"

⁹You, LORD, laugh at them; you deride all the nations.

¹⁰My strength, for you I watch; you, God, are my fortress,

¹¹my loving God.

¹²May God go before me, and show me my fallen foes. Slay them, God, lest they deceive my people. Shake them by your power; Lord, our shield, bring them down.

¹³For the sinful words of their mouths and lips let them be caught in their pride. For the lies they have told under oath

¹⁴destroy them in anger, destroy till they are no more. Then people will know God rules over Jacob, yes, even to the ends of the earth. Selah ¹⁵Each evening they return, growling like dogs, prowling the city.

¹⁶They roam about as scavengers; if they are not filled, they howl.

¹⁷But I shall sing of your strength, extol your love at dawn, For you are my fortress, my refuge in time of trouble.

¹⁸My strength, your praise I will sing; you, God, are my fortress, my loving God.

PSALM 60

¹For the leader; according to "The Lily of...." A miktam of David (for teaching), ²when he fought against Aram-Naharaim and Aram-Zobah; and Joab, coming back, killed twelve thousand Edomites in the Valley of Salt.

- ³O God, you rejected us, broke our defenses; you were angry but now revive us.
- ⁴You rocked the earth, split it open; repair the cracks for it totters.
- ⁵You made your people go through hardship, made us stagger from the wine you gave us.
- ⁶Raise up a flag for those who revere you, a refuge for them out of bow shot. Selah
- ⁷Help with your right hand and answer us that your loved ones may escape.
- ⁸In the sanctuary God promised: "I will exult, will apportion Shechem; the valley of Succoth I will measure out.
- ⁹Gilead is mine, mine is Manasseh; Ephraim is the helmet for my head, Judah, my own scepter.
- ¹⁰Moab is my washbowl; upon Edom I cast my sandal. I will triumph over Philistia."
- ¹¹Who will bring me to the fortified city? Who will lead me into Edom?
- ¹²Was it not you who rejected us, God? Do you no longer march with our armies?
- ¹³Give us aid against the foe; worthless is human help.
- ¹⁴We will triumph with the help of God, who will trample down our foes.

PSALM 61

- ¹For the leader; with stringed instruments. Of David.
- ²Hear my cry, O God, listen to my prayer!
- ³From the brink of Sheol I call; my heart grows faint. Raise me up, set me on a rock,
- ⁴for you are my refuge, a tower of strength against the foe.
- ⁵Then I will ever dwell in your tent, take refuge in the shelter of your wings. Selah
- ⁶O God, when you accept my vows and hear the plea of those who revere your name in prayer:

⁷"Add to the days of the king's life; may his years be many generations;

⁸May he reign before God forever; may your love and fidelity preserve him"--

⁹Then I will sing your name forever, fulfill my vows day after day.

PSALM 62

¹For the leader; al Jeduthun. A psalm of David.

²My soul rests in God alone, from whom comes my salvation.

³God alone is my rock and salvation, my secure height; I shall never fall.

⁴How long will you set upon people, all of you beating them down, As though they were a sagging fence or a battered wall?

⁵Even from my place on high they plot to dislodge me. They delight in lies; they bless with their mouths, but inwardly they curse. Selah ⁶My soul, be at rest in God alone, from whom comes my hope.

⁷God alone is my rock and my salvation, my secure height; I shall not fall.

⁸My safety and glory are with God, my strong rock and refuge.

⁹Trust God at all times, my people! Pour out your hearts to God our refuge! Selah

¹⁰Mortals are a mere breath, the powerful but an illusion; On a balance they rise; together they are lighter than air.

¹¹Do not trust in extortion; in plunder put no empty hope. Though wealth increase, do not set your heart upon it.

¹²One thing God has said; two things I have heard: Power belongs to God;

¹³3) so too, Lord, does kindness, And you render to each of us according to our deeds.

PSALM 63

¹A psalm of David, when he was in the wilderness of Judah.

²O God, you are my God-- for you I long! For you my body yearns; for you my soul thirsts, Like a land parched, lifeless, and without water.

³So I look to you in the sanctuary to see your power and glory.

⁴For your love is better than life; my lips offer you worship!

⁵I will bless you as long as I live; I will lift up my hands, calling on your name.

⁶My soul shall savor the rich banquet of praise, with joyous lips my mouth shall honor you!

⁷When I think of you upon my bed, through the night watches I will recall

⁸That you indeed are my help, and in the shadow of your wings I shout for joy.

⁹My soul clings fast to you; your right hand upholds me.

¹⁰But those who seek my life will come to ruin; they shall go down to the depths of the earth!

¹¹They shall be handed over to the sword and become the prey of jackals!

¹²But the king shall rejoice in God; all who swear by the Lord shall exult, for the mouths of liars will be shut!

PSALM 64

¹For the leader. A psalm of David.

²O God, hear my anguished voice; from the foes I dread protect my life.

³Hide me from the malicious crowd, the mob of evildoers.

⁴They sharpen their tongues like swords, ready their bows for arrows of poison words.

⁵They shoot at the innocent from ambush, shoot without risk, catch them unawares.

⁶They resolve on their wicked plan; they conspire to set snares; they say: "Who will see us?"

⁷They devise wicked schemes, conceal the schemes they devise; the designs of their hearts are hidden.

⁸But God will shoot arrows at them and strike them unawares.

⁹They will be brought down by their own tongues; all who see them will shake their heads.

¹⁰Then all will fear and proclaim God's deed, pondering what has been done.

¹¹The just will rejoice and take refuge in the LORD; all the upright will glory in their God.

PSALM 65

¹For the leader. A psalm of David. A song.

²To you we owe our hymn of praise, O God on Zion; To you our vows must be fulfilled,

³you who hear our prayers. To you all flesh must come

⁴with its burden of wicked deeds. We are overcome by our sins; only you can pardon them.

⁵Happy the chosen ones you bring to dwell in your courts. May we be filled with the good things of your house, the blessings of your holy temple!

⁶You answer us with awesome deeds of justice, O God our savior, The hope of all the ends of the earth and of far distant islands.

⁷You are robed in power, you set up the mountains by your might.

⁸You still the roaring of the seas, the roaring of their waves, the tumult of the peoples.

⁹Distant peoples stand in awe of your marvels; east and west you make resound with joy.

¹⁰You visit the earth and water it, make it abundantly fertile. God's stream is filled with water; with it you supply the world with grain. Thus do you prepare the earth:

¹¹you drench plowed furrows, and level their ridges. With showers you keep the ground soft, blessing its young sprouts.

¹²You adorn the year with your bounty; your paths drip with fruitful rain.

¹³The untilled meadows also drip; the hills are robed with joy.

¹⁴The pastures are clothed with flocks, the valleys blanketed with grain; they cheer and sing for joy.

PSALM 66

¹For the leader. A song; a psalm.

²Shout joyfully to God, all you on earth; sing of his glorious name; give him glorious praise.

³Say to God: "How awesome your deeds! Before your great strength your enemies cringe.

⁴All on earth fall in worship before you; they sing of you, sing of your name!" Selah

⁵Come and see the works of God, awesome in the deeds done for us.

⁶He changed the sea to dry land; through the river they passed on foot. Therefore let us rejoice in him,

⁷who rules by might forever, Whose eyes are fixed upon the nations. Let no rebel rise to challenge! Selah

⁸Bless our God, you peoples; loudly sound his praise,

⁹Who has kept us alive and not allowed our feet to slip.

¹⁰You tested us, O God, tried us as silver tried by fire.

¹¹You led us into a snare; you bound us at the waist as captives.

¹²You let captors set foot on our neck; we went through fire and water; then you led us out to freedom.

¹³I will bring holocausts to your house; to you I will fulfill my vows, ¹⁴The vows my lips pronounced and my mouth spoke in distress.

¹⁵Holocausts of fattlings I will offer you and burnt offerings of rams; I will sacrifice oxen and goats. Selah ¹⁶Come and hear, all you who fear God, while I recount what has been done for me.

¹⁷I called to the Lord with my mouth; praise was upon my tongue.

¹⁸Had I cherished evil in my heart, the Lord would not have heard.

¹⁹But God did hear and listened to my voice in prayer.

²⁰Blessed be God, who did not refuse me the kindness I sought in prayer.

PSALM 67

¹For the leader; with stringed instruments. A psalm; a song.

²May God be gracious to us and bless us; may God's face shine upon us. Selah ³So shall your rule be known upon the earth, your saving power among all the nations.

⁴May the peoples praise you, God; may all the peoples praise you!

⁵May the nations be glad and shout for joy; for you govern the peoples justly, you guide the nations upon the earth. Selah

⁶May the peoples praise you, God; may all the peoples praise you!

⁷The earth has yielded its harvest; God, our God, blesses us.

⁸May God bless us still; that the ends of the earth may revere our God.

PSALM 68

¹For the leader. A psalm of David; a song.

²God will arise for battle; the enemy will be scattered; those who hate God will flee.

³The wind will disperse them like smoke; as wax is melted by fire, so the wicked will perish before God.

⁴Then the just will be glad; they will rejoice before God; they will celebrate with great joy.

⁵Sing to God, praise the divine name; exalt the rider of the clouds. Rejoice before this God whose name is the LORD.

⁶Father of the fatherless, defender of widows-- this is the God whose abode is holy,

⁷Who gives a home to the forsaken, who leads prisoners out to prosperity, while rebels live in the desert.

⁸God, when you went forth before your people, when you marched through the desert, Selah

⁹The earth quaked, the heavens shook, before God, the One of Sinai, before God, the God of Israel.

¹⁰You claimed a land as your own, O God;

¹¹your people settled there. There you poured abundant rains, God, graciously given to the poor in their need.

¹²The Lord announced the news of victory:

¹²All you people so numerous,

¹³"The kings and their armies are in desperate flight.

¹³b) Every household will share the booty,

¹⁴will you stay by the sheepfolds?

¹⁴b) perhaps a dove sheathed with silver,

¹⁴c) its wings covered with yellow gold."

¹⁵When the Almighty routed the kings there, the spoils were scattered like snow on Zalmon.

¹⁶You high mountains of Bashan, you rugged mountains of Bashan,

¹⁷You rugged mountains, why look with envy at the mountain where God has chosen to dwell, where the LORD resides forever?

¹⁸God's chariots were myriad, thousands upon thousands; from Sinai the Lord entered the holy place.

¹⁹You went up to its lofty height; you took captives, received slaves as tribute. No rebels can live in the presence of God.

²⁰Blessed be the Lord day by day, God, our salvation, who carries us. Selah

²¹Our God is a God who saves; escape from death is in the LORD God's hands.

²²God will crush the skulls of the enemy, the hairy heads of those who walk in sin.

²³The Lord has said: "Even from Bashan I will fetch them, fetch them even from the depths of the sea.

²⁴You will wash your feet in your enemy's blood; the tongues of your dogs will lap it up."

²⁵Your procession comes into view, O God, your procession into the holy place, my God and king.

²⁶The singers go first, the harpists follow; in their midst girls sound the timbrels.

²⁷In your choirs, bless God; bless the LORD, you from Israel's assemblies.

²⁸In the lead is Benjamin, few in number; there the princes of Judah, a large throng, the princes of Zebulun, the princes of Naphtali, too.

²⁹Summon again, O God, your power, the divine power you once showed for us.

³⁰Show it from your temple on behalf of Jerusalem, that kings may bring you tribute.

³¹Roar at the wild beast of the reeds, the herd of mighty bulls, the lords of nations; scatter the nations that delight in war.

³²Exact rich tribute from lower Egypt, from upper Egypt, gold and silver; make Ethiopia extend its hands to God.

³³You kingdoms of the earth, sing to God; chant the praises of the Lord, Selah

³⁴Who rides the heights of the ancient heavens, whose voice is thunder, mighty thunder.

³⁵Confess the power of God, whose majesty protects Israel, whose power is in the sky.

³⁶Awesome is God in his holy place, the God of Israel, who gives power and strength to his people. Blessed be God!

PSALM 69

¹For the leader; according to "Lilies." Of David.

²Save me, God, for the waters have reached my neck.

³I have sunk into the mire of the deep, where there is no foothold. I have gone down to the watery depths; the flood overwhelms me.

⁴I am weary with crying out; my throat is parched. My eyes have failed, looking for my God.

⁵More numerous than the hairs of my head are those who hate me without cause. Too many for my strength are my treacherous enemies. Must I now restore what I did not steal?

⁶God, you know my folly; my faults are not hidden from you.

⁷Let those who wait for you, LORD of hosts, not be shamed through me. Let those who seek you, God of Israel, not be disgraced through me

⁸For your sake I bear insult, shame covers my face.

⁹I have become an outcast to my kin, a stranger to my mother's children.

¹⁰Because zeal for your house consumes me, I am scorned by those who scorn you.

¹¹I have wept and fasted, but this led only to scorn.

¹²I clothed myself in sackcloth; I became a byword for them.

¹³They who sit at the gate gossip about me; drunkards make me the butt of their songs.

¹⁴But I pray to you, LORD, for the time of your favor. God, in your great kindness answer me with your constant help.

¹⁵Rescue me from the mire; do not let me sink. Rescue me from my enemies and from the watery depths.

¹⁶Do not let the floodwaters overwhelm me, nor the deep swallow me, nor the mouth of the pit close over me.

¹⁷Answer me, LORD, in your generous love; in your great mercy turn to me.

¹⁸Do not hide your face from your servant; in my distress hasten to answer me.

¹⁹Come and ransom my life; because of my enemies redeem me.

²⁰You know my reproach, my shame, my disgrace; before you stand all my foes.

²¹Insult has broken my heart, and I am weak; I looked for compassion, but there was none, for comforters, but found none.

²²Instead they put gall in my food; for my thirst they gave me vinegar.

²³Make their own table a snare for them, a trap for their friends.

²⁴Make their eyes so dim they cannot see; keep their backs ever feeble.

²⁵Pour out your wrath upon them; let the fury of your anger overtake them.

²⁶Make their camp desolate, with none to dwell in their tents.

²⁷For they pursued the one you struck, added to the pain of the one you wounded.

²⁸ Add that to their crimes; let them not attain to your reward.

²⁹ Strike them from the book of the living; do not count them among the just!

³⁰ But I am afflicted and in pain; let your saving help protect me, God,

³¹ That I may praise God's name in song and glorify it with thanksgiving.

³² My song will please the LORD more than oxen, more than bullocks with horns and hooves:

³³ "See, you lowly ones, and be glad; you who seek God, take heart!

³⁴ For the LORD hears the poor, does not spurn those in bondage.

³⁵ Let the heavens and the earth sing praise, the seas and whatever moves in them!"

³⁶ God will rescue Zion, rebuild the cities of Judah. God's servants shall dwell in the land and possess it;

³⁷ 7) it shall be the heritage of their descendants; those who love God's name shall dwell there.

² Graciously rescue me, God! Come quickly to help me, LORD!

³ Confound and put to shame those who seek my life. Turn back in disgrace those who desire my ruin.

⁴ Let those who say "Aha!" turn back in their shame.

⁵ But may all who seek you rejoice and be glad in you. May those who long for your help always say, "God be glorified!"

⁶ Here I am, afflicted and poor. God, come quickly! You are my help and deliverer. LORD, do not delay!

PSALM 71

¹In you, LORD, I take refuge; let me never be put to shame.

²In your justice rescue and deliver me; listen to me and save me!

³Be my rock and refuge, my secure stronghold; for you are my rock and fortress.

⁴My God, rescue me from the power of the wicked, from the clutches of the violent.

⁵You are my hope, Lord; my trust, GOD, from my youth.

⁶On you I depend since birth; from my mother's womb you are my strength; my hope in you never wavers.

⁷I have become a portent to many, but you are my strong refuge!

⁸My mouth shall be filled with your praise, shall sing your glory every day.

⁹Do not cast me aside in my old age; as my strength fails, do not forsake me.

¹⁰For my enemies speak against me; they watch and plot against me.

¹¹They say, "God has abandoned that one Pursue, seize the wretch! No one will come to the rescue!"

¹²God, do not stand far from me; my God, hasten to help me.

¹³Bring to a shameful end those who attack me; Cover with contempt and scorn those who seek my ruin.

¹⁴I will always hope in you and add to all your praise.

¹⁵My mouth shall proclaim your just deeds, day after day your acts of deliverance, though I cannot number them all.

¹⁶I will speak of the mighty works of the Lord; O GOD, I will tell of your singular justice.

¹⁷God, you have taught me from my youth; to this day I proclaim your wondrous deeds.

¹⁸Now that I am old and gray, do not forsake me, God, That I may proclaim your might to all generations yet to come, Your power

¹⁹and justice, God, to the highest heaven. You have done great things; O God, who is your equal?

²⁰You have sent me many bitter afflictions, but once more revive me. From the watery depths of the earth once more raise me up.

²¹Restore my honor; turn and comfort me,

²²That I may praise you with the lyre for your faithfulness, my God, And sing to you with the harp, O Holy One of Israel!

²³My lips will shout for joy as I sing your praise; my soul, too, which you have redeemed.

²⁴Yes, my tongue shall recount your justice day by day. For those who sought my ruin will have been shamed and disgraced.

PSALM 72

¹Of Solomon.

²O God, give your judgment to the king; your justice to the son of kings; That he may govern your people with justice, your oppressed with right judgment,

³That the mountains may yield their bounty for the people, and the hills great abundance,

⁴That he may defend the oppressed among the people, save the poor and crush the oppressor.

⁵May he live as long as the sun endures, like the moon, through all generations.

⁶May he be like rain coming down upon the fields, like showers watering the earth,

⁷That abundance may flourish in his days, great bounty, till the moon be no more.

⁸May he rule from sea to sea, from the river to the ends of the earth.

⁹May his foes kneel before him, his enemies lick the dust.

¹⁰May the kings of Tarshish and the islands bring tribute, the kings of Arabia and Seba offer gifts.

¹¹May all kings bow before him, all nations serve him.

¹²For he rescues the poor when they cry out, the oppressed who have no one to help.

¹³He shows pity to the needy and the poor and saves the lives of the poor.

¹⁴From extortion and violence he frees them, for precious is their blood in his sight.

¹⁵Long may he live, receiving gold from Arabia, prayed for without cease, blessed day by day.

¹⁶May wheat abound in the land, flourish even on the mountain heights. May his fruit increase like Lebanon's, his wheat like the grasses of the land.

¹⁷May his name be blessed forever; as long as the sun, may his name endure. May the tribes of the earth give blessings with his name; may all the nations regard him as favored.

¹⁸Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, who alone does wonderful deeds.

¹⁹Blessed be his glorious name forever; may all the earth be filled with the LORD'S glory. Amen and amen.

²⁰The end of the psalms of David, son of Jesse.

PSALM 73

¹A psalm of Asaph. How good God is to the upright, the Lord, to those who are clean of heart!

²I But, as for me, I lost my balance; my feet all but slipped,

³Because I was envious of the arrogant when I saw the prosperity of the wicked.

⁴For they suffer no pain; their bodies are healthy and sleek.

⁵They are free of the burdens of life; they are not afflicted like others.

⁶ Thus pride adorns them as a necklace; violence clothes them as a robe.

⁷ Out of their stupidity comes sin; evil thoughts flood their hearts.

⁸ They scoff and spout their malice; from on high they utter threats.

⁹ They set their mouths against the heavens, their tongues roam the earth.

¹⁰ So my people turn to them and drink deeply of their words.

¹¹ They say, "Does God really know?" "Does the Most High have any knowledge?"

¹² Such, then, are the wicked, always carefree, increasing their wealth.

¹³ Is it in vain that I have kept my heart clean, washed my hands in innocence?

¹⁴ For I am afflicted day after day, chastised every morning.

¹⁵ Had I thought, "I will speak as they do," I would have betrayed your people.

¹⁶ Though I tried to understand all this, it was too difficult for me,

¹⁷ Till I entered the sanctuary of God and came to understand their end.

¹⁸ You set them, indeed, on a slippery road; you hurl them down to ruin.

¹⁹ How suddenly they are devastated; undone by disasters forever!

²⁰ They are like a dream after waking, Lord, dismissed like shadows when you arise.

²¹ Since my heart was embittered and my soul deeply wounded,

²² I was stupid and could not understand; I was like a brute beast in your presence.

²³ Yet I am always with you; you take hold of my right hand.

²⁴ With your counsel you guide me, and at the end receive me with honor.

²⁵ Whom else have I in the heavens? None beside you delights me on earth.

²⁶ Though my flesh and my heart fail, God is the rock of my heart, my portion forever.

²⁷But those who are far from you perish; you destroy those unfaithful to you.

²⁸As for me, to be near God is my good, to make the Lord GOD my refuge. I shall declare all your works in the gates of daughter Zion.

PSALM 74

¹A maskil of Asaph. I Why, God, have you cast us off forever? Why does your anger burn against the sheep of your pasture?

²Remember your flock that you gathered of old, the tribe you redeemed as your very own. Remember Mount Zion where you dwell.

³Turn your steps toward the utter ruins, toward the sanctuary devastated by the enemy.

⁴Your foes roared triumphantly in your shrine; they set up their own tokens of victory.

⁵They hacked away like foresters gathering boughs, swinging their axes in a thicket of trees.

⁶They smashed all your engraved work, pounded it with hammer and pick.

⁷They set your sanctuary on fire; the abode of your name they razed and profaned.

⁸They said in their hearts, "Destroy them all! Burn all the shrines of God in the land!"

⁹Now we see no signs, we have no prophets, no one who knows how long.

¹⁰How long, O God, shall the enemy jeer? Shall the foe revile your name forever?

¹¹Why draw back your right hand, why keep it idle beneath your cloak?

¹²Yet you, God, are my king from of old, winning victories throughout the earth.

¹³You stirred up the sea in your might; you smashed the heads of the dragons on the waters.

¹⁴You crushed the heads of Leviathan, tossed him for food to the sharks.

¹⁵You opened up springs and torrents, brought dry land out of the primeval waters.

¹⁶Yours the day and yours the night; you set the moon and sun in place.

¹⁷You fixed all the limits of the earth; summer and winter you made.

¹⁸Remember how the enemy has jeered, O LORD, how a foolish people has reviled your name.

¹⁹Do not surrender to beasts those who praise you; do not forget forever the life of your afflicted.

²⁰Look to your covenant, for the land is filled with gloom; the pastures, with violence.

²¹Let not the oppressed turn back in shame; may the poor and needy praise your name.

²²Arise, God, defend your cause; remember the constant jeers of the fools.

²³Do not ignore the clamor of your foes, the unceasing uproar of your enemies.

PSALM 75

¹For the leader. Do not destroy! A psalm of Asaph; a song.

²We thank you, God, we give thanks; we call upon your name, declare your wonderful deeds. You said:

³"I will choose the time; I will judge fairly.

⁴The earth and all its inhabitants will quake, but I have firmly set its pillars." Selah ⁵So I say to the boastful: "Do not boast!" to the wicked: "Do not raise your horns!

⁶Do not raise your horns against heaven! Do not speak arrogantly against the Rock!"

⁷For judgment comes not from east or from west, not from the desert or from the mountains,

⁸But from God who decides, who brings some low and raises others high.

⁹Yes, a cup is in the LORD'S hand, foaming wine, fully spiced. When God pours it out, they will drain it even to the dregs; all the wicked of the earth must drink.

¹⁰But I will rejoice forever; I will sing praise to the God of Jacob,

¹¹Who has said: "I will break off all the horns of the wicked, but the horns of the just shall be lifted up."

PSALM 76

¹For the leader; a psalm with stringed instruments. A song of Asaph.

²Renowned in Judah is God, whose name is great in Israel.

³On Salem is God's tent, a shelter on Zion.

⁴There the flashing arrows were shattered, shield, sword, and weapons of war. Selah ⁵Terrible and awesome are you, stronger than the ancient mountains.

⁶Despoiled are the bold warriors; they sleep their final sleep; the hands of all the mighty have failed.

⁷At your roar, O God of Jacob, chariots and steeds lay still.

⁸So terrible and awesome are you; who can stand before you and your great anger?

⁹From the heavens you pronounced sentence; the earth was terrified and reduced to silence,

¹⁰When you arose, O God, for judgment to deliver the afflicted of the land. Selah

¹¹Even wrathful Edom praises you; the remnant of Hamath keeps your feast.

¹²Make and keep vows to the LORD your God. May all present bring gifts to this awesome God, ¹³Who checks the pride of princes, inspires awe among the kings of earth.

PSALM 77

¹For the leader; al Jeduthun. A psalm of Asaph.

²I cry aloud to God, cry to God to hear me.

- ³On the day of my distress I seek the Lord; by night my hands are raised unceasingly; I refuse to be consoled.
- ⁴When I think of God, I groan; as I ponder, my spirit grows faint. Selah
- ⁵My eyes cannot close in sleep; I am troubled and cannot speak.
- ⁶I consider the days of old; the years long past
- ⁷I remember. In the night I meditate in my heart; I ponder and my spirit broods:
- ⁸"Will the Lord reject us forever, never again show favor?
- ⁹Has God's love ceased forever? Has the promise failed for all ages?
- ¹⁰Has God forgotten mercy, in anger withheld compassion?" Selah
- ¹¹I conclude: "My sorrow is this, the right hand of the Most High has left us."
- ¹²I will remember the deeds of the LORD; yes, your wonders of old I will remember.
- ¹³I will recite all your works; your exploits I will tell.
- ¹⁴Your way, O God, is holy; what god is as great as our God?
- ¹⁵You alone are the God who did wonders; among the peoples you revealed your might.
- ¹⁶With your arm you redeemed your people, the descendants of Jacob and Joseph. Selah
- ¹⁷The waters saw you, God; the waters saw you and lashed about, trembled even to their depths.
- ¹⁸The clouds poured down their rains; the thunderheads rumbled; your arrows flashed back and forth.
- ¹⁹The thunder of your chariot wheels resounded; your lightning lit up the world; the earth trembled and quaked.

²⁰Through the sea was your path; your way, through the mighty waters, though your footsteps were unseen.

²¹You led your people like a flock under the care of Moses and Aaron.

PSALM 78

¹A maskil of Asaph. Attend, my people, to my teaching; listen to the words of my mouth.

²I will open my mouth in story, drawing lessons from of old.

³We have heard them, we know them; our ancestors have recited them to us.

⁴We do not keep them from our children; we recite them to the next generation, The praiseworthy and mighty deeds of the LORD, the wonders that he performed.

⁵God set up a decree in Jacob, established a law in Israel: What he commanded our ancestors, they were to teach their children;

⁶That the next generation might come to know, children yet to be born. In turn they were to recite them to their children,

⁷that they too might put their trust in God, And not forget the works of God, keeping his commandments.

⁸They were not to be like their ancestors, a rebellious and defiant generation, A generation whose heart was not constant, whose spirit was not faithful to God,

⁹Like the ranks of Ephraimite archers, who retreated on the day of battle.

¹⁰They did not keep God's covenant; they refused to walk by his law.

¹¹They forgot his works, the wondrous deeds he had shown them.

¹²In the sight of their ancestors God did wonders, in the land of Egypt, the plain of Zoan.

¹³He split the sea and led them across, piling up the waters rigid as walls.

¹⁴God led them with a cloud by day, all night with the light of fire.

¹⁵He split rock in the desert, gave water to drink, abounding as the deep.

¹⁶He made streams flow from crags, drew out rivers of water.

¹⁷But they went on sinning against him, rebelling against the Most High in the desert.

¹⁸They tested God in their hearts, demanding the food they craved.

¹⁹They spoke against God, and said, "Can God spread a table in the desert?"

²⁰True, when he struck the rock, water gushed forth, the wadis flooded. But can he also provide bread, give meat to his people?"

²¹The LORD heard and grew angry; fire blazed up against Jacob; anger flared up against Israel.

²²For they did not believe in God, did not trust in his saving power.

²³So he commanded the skies above; the doors of heaven he opened.

²⁴God rained manna upon them for food; bread from heaven he gave them.

²⁵All ate a meal fit for heroes; food he sent in abundance.

²⁶He stirred up the east wind in the heavens; by his power God brought on the south wind.

²⁷He rained meat upon them like dust, winged fowl like the sands of the sea,

²⁸Brought them down in the midst of the camp, round about their tents.

²⁹They ate and were well filled; he gave them what they had craved.

³⁰But while they still wanted more, and the food was still in their mouths,

³¹God's anger attacked them, killed their best warriors, laid low the youth of Israel.

³²In spite of all this they went on sinning, they did not believe in his wonders.

³³God ended their days abruptly, their years in sudden death.

- ³⁴When he slew them, they began to seek him; they again inquired of their God.
- ³⁵They remembered that God was their rock, God Most High, their redeemer.
- ³⁶But they deceived him with their mouths, lied to him with their tongues.
- ³⁷Their hearts were not constant toward him; they were not faithful to his covenant.
- ³⁸But God is merciful and forgave their sin; he did not utterly destroy them. Time and again he turned back his anger, unwilling to unleash all his rage.
- ³⁹He was mindful that they were flesh, a breath that passes and does not return.
- ⁴⁰How often they rebelled against God in the desert, grieved him in the wasteland.
- ⁴¹Again and again they tested God, provoked the Holy One of Israel.
- ⁴²They did not remember his power, the day he redeemed them from the foe,
- ⁴³When he displayed his wonders in Egypt, his marvels in the plain of Zoan.
- ⁴⁴God changed their rivers to blood; their streams they could not drink.
- ⁴⁵He sent insects that devoured them, frogs that destroyed them.
- ⁴⁶He gave their harvest to the caterpillar, the fruits of their labor to the locust.
- ⁴⁷He killed their vines with hail, their sycamores with frost.
- ⁴⁸He exposed their flocks to deadly hail, their cattle to lightning.
- ⁴⁹He unleashed against them his fiery breath, roar, fury, and distress, storming messengers of death.
- ⁵⁰He cleared a path for his anger; he did not spare them from death; he delivered their beasts to the plague.
- ⁵¹He struck all the firstborn of Egypt, love's first child in the tents of Ham.
- ⁵²God led forth his people like sheep; he guided them through the desert like a flock.

⁵³He led them on secure and unafraid, but the sea enveloped their enemies.

⁵⁴He brought them to his holy land, the mountain his right hand had won.

⁵⁵God drove out the nations before them, apportioned them a heritage by lot, settled the tribes of Israel in their tents.

⁵⁶But they tested, rebelled against God Most High, his decrees they did not observe.

⁵⁷They turned back, deceitful like their ancestors; they proved false like a bow with no tension.

⁵⁸They enraged him with their high places; with their idols they goaded him.

⁵⁹God heard and grew angry; he rejected Israel completely.

⁶⁰He forsook the shrine at Shiloh, the tent where he dwelt with humans.

⁶¹He gave up his might into captivity, his glorious ark into the hands of the foe.

⁶²God abandoned his people to the sword; he was enraged against his heritage.

⁶³Fire consumed their young men; their young women heard no wedding songs.

⁶⁴Their priests fell by the sword; their widows made no lamentation.

⁶⁵Then the Lord awoke as from sleep, like a warrior from the effects of wine.

⁶⁶He put his enemies to flight; everlasting shame he dealt them.

⁶⁷He rejected the tent of Joseph, chose not the tribe of Ephraim.

⁶⁸God chose the tribe of Judah, Mount Zion which he favored.

⁶⁹He built his shrine like the heavens, like the earth which he founded forever.

⁷⁰He chose David his servant, took him from the sheepfold.

⁷¹From tending sheep God brought him, to shepherd Jacob, his people, Israel, his heritage.

⁷²He shepherded them with a pure heart; with skilled hands he guided them.

PSALM 79

¹A psalm of Asaph. O God, the nations have invaded your heritage; they have defiled your holy temple, have laid Jerusalem in ruins.

²They have left the corpses of your servants as food for the birds of the heavens, the flesh of your faithful for the beasts of the earth.

³They have spilled their blood like water all around Jerusalem, and no one is left to bury them.

⁴We have become the reproach of our neighbors, the scorn and derision of those around us.

⁵How long, LORD? Will you be angry forever? Will your rage keep burning like fire?

⁶Pour out your wrath on nations that reject you, on kingdoms that do not call on your name,

⁷For they have devoured Jacob, laid waste his home.

⁸Do not hold past iniquities against us; may your compassion come quickly, for we have been brought very low.

⁹Help us, God our savior, for the glory of your name. Deliver us, pardon our sins for your name's sake.

¹⁰Why should the nations say, "Where is their God?" Before our eyes make clear to the nations that you avenge the blood of your servants.

¹¹Let the groans of prisoners come before you; by your great power free those doomed to death.

¹²Lord, inflict on our neighbors seven fold the disgrace they inflicted on you.

¹³Then we, your people, the sheep of your pasture, will give thanks to you forever; through all ages we will declare your praise.

PSALM 80

¹For the leader; according to "Lilies." Eduth. A psalm of Asaph.

²Shepherd of Israel, listen, guide of the flock of Joseph! From your throne upon the cherubim reveal yourself

³to Ephraim, Benjamin, and Manasseh. Stir up your power, come to save us.

⁴O LORD of hosts, restore us; Let your face shine upon us, that we may be saved.

⁵LORD of hosts, how long will you burn with anger while your people pray?

⁶You have fed them the bread of tears, made them drink tears in abundance.

⁷You have left us to be fought over by our neighbors; our enemies deride us.

⁸O LORD of hosts, restore us; let your face shine upon us, that we may be saved.

⁹You brought a vine out of Egypt; you drove away the nations and planted it.

¹⁰You cleared the ground; it took root and filled the land.

¹¹The mountains were covered by its shadow, the cedars of God by its branches.

¹²It sent out boughs as far as the sea, shoots as far as the river.

¹³Why have you broken down the walls, so that all who pass by pluck its fruit?

¹⁴The boar from the forest strips the vine; the beast of the field feeds upon it.

¹⁵Turn again, LORD of hosts; look down from heaven and see; Attend to this vine, ¹⁶the shoot your right hand has planted.

¹⁷Those who would burn or cut it down-- may they perish at your rebuke.

¹⁸May your help be with the man at your right hand, with the one whom you once made strong.

¹⁹Then we will not withdraw from you; revive us, and we will call on your name.

²⁰LORD of hosts, restore us; let your face shine upon us, that we may be saved.

PSALM 81

¹For the leader; "upon the gittith." Of Asaph.

²Sing joyfully to God our strength; shout in triumph to the God of Jacob!

³Take up a melody, sound the timbrel, the sweet-sounding harp and lyre.

⁴Blow the trumpet at the new moon, at the full moon, on our solemn feast.

⁵For this is a law in Israel, an edict of the God of Jacob,

⁶Who made it a decree for Joseph when he came out of the land of Egypt. If I hear a new oracle:

⁷"I relieved their shoulders of the burden; their hands put down the basket.

⁸In distress you called and I rescued you; unseen, I spoke to you in thunder; At the waters of Meribah I tested you and said: Selah ⁹Listen, my people, I give you warning! If only you will obey me, Israel!

¹⁰There must be no foreign god among you; you must not worship an alien god.

¹¹I, the LORD, am your God, who brought you up from the land of Egypt. Open wide your mouth that I may fill it.'

¹²But my people did not listen to my words; Israel did not obey me.

¹³So I gave them over to hardness of heart; they followed their own designs.

¹⁴But even now if my people would listen, if Israel would walk in my paths,

¹⁵In a moment I would subdue their foes, against their enemies unleash my hand.

¹⁶Those who hate the LORD would tremble, their doom sealed forever.

¹⁷But Israel I would feed with the finest wheat, satisfy them with honey from the rock."

PSALM 82

¹A psalm of Asaph. God rises in the divine council, gives judgment in the midst of the gods.

²"How long will you judge unjustly and favor the cause of the wicked? Selah ³Defend the lowly and fatherless; render justice to the afflicted and needy.

⁴Rescue the lowly and poor; deliver them from the hand of the wicked."

⁵The gods neither know nor understand, wandering about in darkness, and all the world's foundations shake.

⁶I declare: "Gods though you be, offspring of the Most High all of you,

⁷Yet like any mortal you shall die; like any prince you shall fall."

⁸Arise, O God, judge the earth, for yours are all the nations.

PSALM 83

¹A song; a psalm of Asaph.

²God, do not be silent; God, be not still and unmoved!

³See how your enemies rage; your foes proudly raise their heads.

⁴They conspire against your people, plot against those you protect.

⁵They say, "Come, let us wipe out their nation; let Israel's name be mentioned no more!"

⁶They scheme with one mind, in league against you:

⁷The tents of Ishmael and Edom, the people of Moab and Hagar, ⁸Gabal, Ammon, and Amalek, Philistia and the inhabitants of Tyre.

⁹Assyria, too, in league with them gives aid to the descendants of Lot. Selah

¹⁰Deal with them as with Midian; as with Sisera and Jabin at the torrent Kishon,

- ¹¹Those destroyed at Endor, who became dung for the ground.
- ¹²Make their nobles like Oreb and Zeeb, all their princes like Zebah and Zalmunna,
- ¹³Who made a plan together, "Let us seize the pastures of God."
- ¹⁴My God, turn them into withered grass, into chaff flying before the wind.
- ¹⁵As a fire raging through a forest, a flame setting mountains ablaze,
- ¹⁶Pursue them with your tempest; terrify them with your storm.
- ¹⁷Cover their faces with shame, till they pay you homage, LORD.
- ¹⁸Let them be dismayed and shamed forever; let them perish in disgrace.
- ¹⁹Show them you alone are the LORD, the Most High over all the earth.

PSALM 84

- ¹For the leader; "upon the gittith." A psalm of the Korahites.
- ²How lovely your dwelling, O LORD of hosts!
- ³My soul yearns and pines for the courts of the LORD. My heart and flesh cry out for the living God.
- ⁴As the sparrow finds a home and the swallow a nest to settle her young, My home is by your altars, LORD of hosts, my king and my God!
- ⁵Happy are those who dwell in your house! They never cease to praise you. Selah
- ⁶Happy are those who find refuge in you, whose hearts are set on pilgrim roads.
- ⁷As they pass through the Baca valley, they find spring water to drink. Also from pools the Lord provides water for those who lose their way.
- ⁸They pass through outer and inner wall and see the God of gods on Zion.
- ⁹LORD of hosts, hear my prayer; listen, God of Jacob. Selah

¹⁰O God, look kindly on our shield; look upon the face of your anointed.

¹¹Better one day in your courts than a thousand elsewhere. Better the threshold of the house of my God than a home in the tents of the wicked.

¹²For a sun and shield is the LORD God, bestowing all grace and glory. The LORD withholds no good thing from those who walk without reproach.

¹³O LORD of hosts, happy are those who trust in you!

PSALM 85

¹For the leader. A psalm of the Korahites.

²You once favored, LORD, your land, restored the good fortune of Jacob.

³You forgave the guilt of your people, pardoned all their sins. Selah

⁴You withdrew all your wrath, turned back your burning anger.

⁵Restore us once more, God our savior; abandon your wrath against us.

⁶Will you be angry with us forever, drag out your anger for all generations?

⁷Please give us life again, that your people may rejoice in you.

⁸Show us, LORD, your love; grant us your salvation.

⁹I will listen for the word of God; surely the LORD will proclaim peace To his people, to the faithful, to those who trust in him.

¹⁰Near indeed is salvation for the loyal; prosperity will fill our land.

¹¹Love and truth will meet; justice and peace will kiss.

¹²Truth will spring from the earth; justice will look down from heaven.

¹³The LORD will surely grant abundance; our land will yield its increase.

¹⁴Prosperity will march before the Lord, and good fortune will follow behind.

PSALM 86

- ¹A prayer of David. Hear me, LORD, and answer me, for I am poor and oppressed.
- ²Preserve my life, for I am loyal; save your servant who trusts in you.
- ³You are my God; pity me, Lord; to you I call all the day.
- ⁴Gladden the soul of your servant; to you, Lord, I lift up my soul.
- ⁵Lord, you are kind and forgiving, most loving to all who call on you.
- ⁶LORD, hear my prayer; listen to my cry for help.
- ⁷In this time of trouble I call, for you will answer me.
- ⁸None among the gods can equal you, O Lord; nor can their deeds compare to yours.
- ⁹All the nations you have made shall come to bow before you, Lord, and give honor to your name.
- ¹⁰For you are great and do wondrous deeds; and you alone are God.
- ¹¹Teach me, LORD, your way that I may walk in your truth, single-hearted and revering your name.
- ¹²I will praise you with all my heart, glorify your name forever, Lord my God.
- ¹³Your love for me is great; you have rescued me from the depths of Sheol.
- ¹⁴O God, the arrogant have risen against me; a ruthless band has sought my life; to you they pay no heed.
- ¹⁵But you, Lord, are a merciful and gracious God, slow to anger, most loving and true.
- ¹⁶Turn to me, have pity on me; give your strength to your servant; save this child of your handmaid.
- ¹⁷Give me a sign of your favor: make my enemies see, to their confusion, that you, LORD, help and comfort me.

PSALM 87

¹A psalm of the Korahites. A song. The LORD loves the city founded on holy mountains, ²Loves the gates of Zion more than any dwelling in Jacob.

³Glorious things are said of you, O city of God! Selah

⁴From Babylon and Egypt I count those who acknowledge the LORD. Philistia, Ethiopia, Tyre, of them it can be said: "This one was born there."

⁵But of Zion it must be said: "They all were born here." The Most High confirms this;

⁶the Lord notes in the register of the peoples: "This one was born here." Selah

⁷So all sing in their festive dance: "Within you is my true home."

PSALM 88

¹A song; a psalm of the Korahites. For the leader; according to Mahalath. For singing; a maskil of Heman the Ezrahite.

²LORD, my God, I call out by day; at night I cry aloud in your presence.

³Let my prayer come before you; incline your ear to my cry.

⁴For my soul is filled with troubles; my life draws near to Sheol.

⁵I am reckoned with those who go down to the pit; I am weak, without strength.

⁶My couch is among the dead, with the slain who lie in the grave. You remember them no more; they are cut off from your care.

⁷You plunged me into the bottom of the pit, into the darkness of the abyss.

⁸Your wrath lies heavy upon me; all your waves crash over me. Selah

⁹Because of you my friends shun me; you make me loathsome to them; Caged in, I cannot escape;

¹⁰my eyes grow dim from trouble. All day I call on you, LORD; I stretch out my hands to you.

¹¹Do you work wonders for the dead? Do the shades arise and praise you? Selah ¹²Is your love proclaimed in the grave, your fidelity in the tomb?

¹³Are your marvels declared in the darkness, your righteous deeds in the land of oblivion?

¹⁴But I cry out to you, LORD; in the morning my prayer comes before you.

¹⁵Why do you reject me, LORD? Why hide your face from me?

¹⁶I am mortally afflicted since youth; lifeless, I suffer your terrible blows.

¹⁷Your wrath has swept over me; your terrors have reduced me to silence.

¹⁸All the day they surge round like a flood; from every side they close in on me.

¹⁹Because of you companions shun me; my only friend is darkness.

PSALM 89

¹A maskil of Ethan the Ezrahite.

²The promises of the LORD I will sing forever, proclaim your loyalty through all ages.

³For you said, "My love is established forever; my loyalty will stand as long as the heavens.

⁴I have made a covenant with my chosen one; I have sworn to David my servant:

⁵I will make your dynasty stand forever and establish your throne through all ages."
Selah

⁶The heavens praise your marvels, LORD, your loyalty in the assembly of the holy ones.

⁷Who in the skies ranks with the LORD? Who is like the LORD among the gods?

- ⁸A God dreaded in the council of the holy ones, greater and more awesome than all who sit there!
- ⁹LORD, God of hosts, who is like you? Mighty LORD, your loyalty is always present.
- ¹⁰You rule the raging sea; you still its swelling waves.
- ¹¹You crushed Rahab with a mortal blow; your strong arm scattered your foes.
- ¹²Yours are the heavens, yours the earth; you founded the world and everything in it.
- ¹³Zaphon and Amanus you created; Tabor and Hermon rejoice in your name.
- ¹⁴Mighty your arm, strong your hand, your right hand is ever exalted.
- ¹⁵Justice and judgment are the foundation of your throne; love and loyalty march before you.
- ¹⁶Happy the people who know you, LORD, who walk in the radiance of your face.
- ¹⁷In your name they sing joyfully all the day; at your victory they raise the festal shout.
- ¹⁸You are their majestic strength; by your favor our horn is exalted.
- ¹⁹Truly the LORD is our shield, the Holy One of Israel, our king!
- ²⁰Once you spoke in vision; to your faithful ones you said: "I have set a leader over the warriors; I have raised up a hero from the army.
- ²¹I have chosen David, my servant; with my holy oil I have anointed him.
- ²²My hand will be with him; my arm will make him strong.
- ²³No enemy shall outwit him, nor shall the wicked defeat him.
- ²⁴I will crush his foes before him, strike down those who hate him.
- ²⁵My loyalty and love will be with him; through my name his horn will be exalted.
- ²⁶I will set his hand upon the sea, his right hand upon the rivers.

²⁷He shall cry to me, 'You are my father, my God, the Rock that brings me victory!'
²⁸I myself make him firstborn, Most High over the kings of the earth.
²⁹Forever I will maintain my love for him; my covenant with him stands firm.
³⁰I will establish his dynasty forever, his throne as the days of the heavens.
³¹If his descendants forsake my law, do not follow my decrees,
³²If they fail to observe my statutes, do not keep my commandments,
³³I will punish their crime with a rod and their guilt with lashes.
³⁴But I will not take my love from him, nor will I betray my bond of loyalty.
³⁵I will not violate my covenant; the promise of my lips I will not alter.
³⁶By my holiness I swore once for all: I will never be false to David.
³⁷His dynasty will continue forever, his throne, like the sun before me.
³⁸Like the moon it will stand eternal, forever firm like the sky!" Selah ³⁹But now you have rejected and spurned, been enraged at your anointed.
⁴⁰You renounced the covenant with your servant, defiled his crown in the dust.
⁴¹You broke down all his defenses, left his strongholds in ruins.
⁴²All who pass through seize plunder; his neighbors deride him.
⁴³You have exalted the right hand of his foes, have gladdened all his enemies.
⁴⁴You turned back his sharp sword, did not support him in battle.
⁴⁵You brought to an end his splendor, hurled his throne to the ground.
⁴⁶You cut short the days of his youth, covered him with shame. Selah
⁴⁷How long, LORD? Will you stay hidden forever? Must your wrath smolder like fire?

⁴⁸Remember how brief is my life, how frail the race you created!

⁴⁹What mortal can live and not see death? Who can escape the power of Sheol?
Selah

⁵⁰Where are your promises of old, Lord, the loyalty sworn to David?

⁵¹Remember, Lord, the insults to your servants, how I bear all the slanders of the nations.

⁵²Your enemies, LORD, insult your anointed; they insult my every endeavor.

⁵³Blessed be the LORD forever! Amen and amen!

PSALM 90

¹A prayer of Moses, the man of God. Lord, you have been our refuge through all generations.

²Before the mountains were born, the earth and the world brought forth, from eternity to eternity you are God.

³But humans you return to dust, saying, "Return, you mortals!"

⁴A thousand years in your eyes are merely a yesterday,

⁵you have brought them to their end; They disappear like sleep at dawn; they are like grass that dies.

⁶It sprouts green in the morning; by evening it is dry and withered.

⁷Truly we are consumed by your anger, filled with terror by your wrath.

⁸You have kept our faults before you, our hidden sins exposed to your sight.

⁹Our life ebbs away under your wrath; our years end like a sigh.

¹⁰Seventy is the sum of our years, or eighty, if we are strong; Most of them are sorrow and toil; they pass quickly, we are all but gone.

¹¹Who comprehends your terrible anger? Your wrath matches the fear it inspires.

¹²Teach us to count our days aright, that we may gain wisdom of heart.

¹³Relent, O LORD! How long? Have pity on your servants!

¹⁴Fill us at daybreak with your love, that all our days we may sing for joy.

¹⁵Make us glad as many days as you humbled us, for as many years as we have seen trouble.

¹⁶Show your deeds to your servants, your glory to their children.

¹⁷May the favor of the Lord our God be ours. Prosper the work of our hands! Prosper the work of our hands!

PSALM 91

¹You who dwell in the shelter of the Most High, who abide in the shadow of the Almighty,

²Say to the LORD, "My refuge and fortress, my God in whom I trust."

³God will rescue you from the fowler's snare, from the destroying plague,

⁴Will shelter you with pinions, spread wings that you may take refuge; God's faithfulness is a protecting shield.

⁵You shall not fear the terror of the night nor the arrow that flies by day,

⁶Nor the pestilence that roams in darkness, nor the plague that ravages at noon.

⁷Though a thousand fall at your side, ten thousand at your right hand, near you it shall not come.

⁸You need simply watch; the punishment of the wicked you will see.

⁹You have the LORD for your refuge; you have made the Most High your stronghold.

¹⁰No evil shall befall you, no affliction come near your tent.

¹¹For God commands the angels to guard you in all your ways.

¹²With their hands they shall support you, lest you strike your foot against a stone.

¹³You shall tread upon the asp and the viper, trample the lion and the dragon.

¹⁴Whoever clings to me I will deliver; whoever knows my name I will set on high.

¹⁵All who call upon me I will answer; I will be with them in distress; I will deliver them and give them honor.

¹⁶With length of days I will satisfy them and show them my saving power.

PSALM 92

¹A psalm. A sabbath song.

²It is good to give thanks to the LORD, to sing praise to your name, Most High,

³To proclaim your love in the morning, your faithfulness in the night,

⁴With the ten-stringed harp, with melody upon the lyre.

⁵For you make me jubilant, LORD, by your deeds; at the works of your hands I shout for joy.

⁶How great are your works, LORD! How profound your purpose!

⁷A senseless person cannot know this; a fool cannot comprehend.

⁸Though the wicked flourish like grass and all sinners thrive, They are destined for eternal destruction;

⁹for you, LORD, are forever on high.

¹⁰Indeed your enemies, LORD, indeed your enemies shall perish; all sinners shall be scattered.

¹¹You have given me the strength of a wild bull; you have poured rich oil upon me.

¹²My eyes look with glee on my wicked enemies; my ears delight in the fall of my foes.

¹³The just shall flourish like the palm tree, shall grow like a cedar of Lebanon.

¹⁴Planted in the house of the LORD, they shall flourish in the courts of our God.

¹⁵They shall bear fruit even in old age, always vigorous and sturdy,

¹⁶As they proclaim: "The LORD is just; our rock, in whom there is no wrong."

PSALM 93

¹The LORD is king, robed with majesty; the LORD is robed, girded with might. The world will surely stand in place, never to be moved.

²Your throne stands firm from of old; you are from everlasting, LORD.

³The flood has raised up, LORD; the flood has raised up its roar; the flood has raised its pounding waves.

⁴More powerful than the roar of many waters, more powerful than the breakers of the sea, powerful in the heavens is the LORD.

⁵Your decrees are firmly established; holiness belongs to your house, LORD, for all the length of days.

PSALM 94

¹LORD, avenging God, avenging God, shine forth!

²Rise up, judge of the earth; give the proud what they deserve.

³How long, LORD, shall the wicked, how long shall the wicked glory?

⁴How long will they mouth haughty speeches, go on boasting, all these evildoers?

⁵They crush your people, LORD, torment your very own.

⁶They kill the widow and alien; the fatherless they murder.

⁷They say, "The LORD does not see; the God of Jacob takes no notice."

⁸Understand, you stupid people! You fools, when will you be wise?

⁹Does the one who shaped the ear not hear? The one who formed the eye not see?

¹⁰Does the one who guides nations not rebuke? The one who teaches humans not have knowledge?

¹¹The LORD does know human plans; they are only puffs of air.

¹²Happy those whom you guide, LORD, whom you teach by your instruction.

¹³You give them rest from evil days, while a pit is being dug for the wicked.

¹⁴You, LORD, will not forsake your people, nor abandon your very own.

¹⁵Judgment shall again be just, and all the upright of heart will follow it.

¹⁶Who will rise up for me against the wicked? Who will stand up for me against evildoers?

¹⁷If the LORD were not my help, I would long have been silent in the grave.

¹⁸When I say, "My foot is slipping," your love, LORD, holds me up.

¹⁹When cares increase within me, your comfort gives me joy.

²⁰Can unjust judges be your allies, those who create burdens in the name of law,

²¹Those who conspire against the just and condemn the innocent to death?

²²No, the LORD is my secure height, my God, the rock where I find refuge, ²³Who will turn back their evil upon them and destroy them for their wickedness. Surely the LORD our God will destroy them!

PSALM 95

¹Come, let us sing joyfully to the LORD; cry out to the rock of our salvation.

²Let us greet him with a song of praise, joyfully sing out our psalms.

³For the LORD is the great God, the great king over all gods,

⁴Whose hand holds the depths of the earth; who owns the tops of the mountains.

⁵The sea and dry land belong to God, who made them, formed them by hand.

⁶Enter, let us bow down in worship; let us kneel before the LORD who made us.

⁷For this is our God, whose people we are, God's well-tended flock. Oh, that today you would hear his voice:

⁸Do not harden your hearts as at Meribah, as on the day of Massah in the desert.

⁹There your ancestors tested me; they tried me though they had seen my works.

¹⁰Forty years I loathed that generation; I said: "This people's heart goes astray; they do not know my ways."

¹¹Therefore I swore in my anger: "They shall never enter my rest."

PSALM 96

¹Sing to the LORD a new song; sing to the LORD, all the earth.

²Sing to the LORD, bless his name; announce his salvation day after day.

³Tell God's glory among the nations; among all peoples, God's marvelous deeds.

⁴For great is the LORD and highly to be praised, to be feared above all gods.

⁵For the gods of the nations all do nothing, but the LORD made the heavens.

⁶Splendor and power go before him; power and grandeur are in his holy place.

⁷Give to the LORD, you families of nations, give to the LORD glory and might;

⁸give to the LORD the glory due his name! Bring gifts and enter his courts;

⁹bow down to the LORD, splendid in holiness. Tremble before God, all the earth;

¹⁰say among the nations: The LORD is king. The world will surely stand fast, never to be moved. God rules the peoples with fairness.

¹¹Let the heavens be glad and the earth rejoice; let the sea and what fills it resound;

¹²let the plains be joyful and all that is in them. Then let all the trees of the forest rejoice

¹³before the LORD who comes, who comes to govern the earth, To govern the world with justice and the peoples with faithfulness.

PSALM 97

¹The LORD is king; let the earth rejoice; let the many islands be glad.

²Cloud and darkness surround the Lord; justice and right are the foundation of his throne.

³Fire goes before him; everywhere it consumes the foes.

⁴Lightning illumines the world; the earth sees and trembles.

⁵The mountains melt like wax before the LORD, before the Lord of all the earth.

⁶The heavens proclaim God's justice; all peoples see his glory.

⁷All who serve idols are put to shame, who glory in worthless things; all gods bow down before you.

⁸Zion hears and is glad, and the cities of Judah rejoice because of your judgments, O LORD.

⁹You, LORD, are the Most High over all the earth, exalted far above all gods.

¹⁰The LORD loves those who hate evil, protects the lives of the faithful, rescues them from the hand of the wicked.

¹¹Light dawns for the just; gladness, for the honest of heart.

¹²Rejoice in the LORD, you just, and praise his holy name.

PSALM 98

¹A psalm. Sing a new song to the LORD, who has done marvelous deeds, Whose right hand and holy arm have won the victory.

²The LORD has made his victory known; has revealed his triumph for the nations to see,

³Has remembered faithful love toward the house of Israel. All the ends of the earth have seen the victory of our God.

⁴Shout with joy to the LORD, all the earth; break into song; sing praise.

⁵Sing praise to the LORD with the harp, with the harp and melodious song.

⁶With trumpets and the sound of the horn shout with joy to the King, the LORD.

⁷Let the sea and what fills it resound, the world and those who dwell there.

⁸Let the rivers clap their hands, the mountains shout with them for joy,

⁹Before the LORD who comes, who comes to govern the earth, To govern the world with justice and the peoples with fairness.

PSALM 99

¹The LORD is king, the peoples tremble; God is enthroned on the cherubim, the earth quakes.

²The LORD is great on Zion, exalted above all the peoples.

³Let them praise your great and awesome name: Holy is God!

⁴O mighty king, lover of justice, you alone have established fairness; you have created just rule in Jacob.

⁵Exalt the LORD, our God; bow down before his footstool; holy is God!

⁶Moses and Aaron were among his priests, Samuel among those who called on God's name; they called on the LORD, who answered them.

⁷From the pillar of cloud God spoke to them; they kept the decrees, the law they received.

⁸O LORD, our God, you answered them; you were a forgiving God, though you punished their offenses.

⁹Exalt the LORD, our God; bow down before his holy mountain; holy is the LORD, our God.

PSALM 100

¹A psalm of thanksgiving. Shout joyfully to the LORD, all you lands;

²worship the LORD with cries of gladness; come before him with joyful song.

³Know that the LORD is God, our maker to whom we belong, whose people we are, God's well-tended flock.

⁴Enter the temple gates with praise, its courts with thanksgiving. Give thanks to God, bless his name;

⁵good indeed is the LORD, Whose love endures forever, whose faithfulness lasts through every age.

PSALM 101

¹A psalm of David. I sing of love and justice; to you, LORD, I sing praise.

²I follow the way of integrity; when will you come to me? I act with integrity of heart within my royal court.

³I do not allow into my presence anyone who speaks perversely. Whoever acts shamefully I hate; no such person can be my friend.

⁴I shun the devious of heart; the wicked I do not tolerate.

⁵Whoever slanders another in secret I reduce to silence. Haughty eyes and arrogant hearts I cannot endure.

⁶I look to the faithful of the land; they alone can be my companions. Those who follow the way of integrity, they alone can enter my service.

⁷No one who practices deceit can hold a post in my court. No one who speaks falsely can be among my advisors.

⁸Each morning I clear the wicked from the land, and rid the LORD'S city of all evildoers.

PSALM 102

¹The prayer of one afflicted and wasting away whose anguish is poured out before the LORD.

²LORD, hear my prayer; let my cry come to you.

³Do not hide your face from me now that I am in distress. Turn your ear to me; when I call, answer me quickly.

⁴For my days vanish like smoke; my bones burn away as in a furnace.

⁵I am withered, dried up like grass, too wasted to eat my food.

⁶From my loud groaning I become just skin and bones.

⁷I am like a desert owl, like an owl among the ruins.

⁸I lie awake and moan, like a lone sparrow on the roof.

⁹All day long my enemies taunt me; in their rage, they make my name a curse.

¹⁰I eat ashes like bread, mingle my drink with tears.

¹¹Because of your furious wrath, you lifted me up just to cast me down.

¹²My days are like a lengthening shadow; I wither like the grass.

¹³But you, LORD, are enthroned forever; your renown is for all generations.

¹⁴You will again show mercy to Zion; now is the time for pity; the appointed time has come.

¹⁵Its stones are dear to your servants; its dust moves them to pity.

¹⁶The nations shall revere your name, LORD, all the kings of the earth, your glory,

¹⁷Once the LORD has rebuilt Zion and appeared in glory,

¹⁸Heeding the plea of the lowly, not scorning their prayer.

¹⁹Let this be written for the next generation, for a people not yet born, that they may praise the LORD:

²⁰"The LORD looked down from the holy heights, viewed the earth from heaven, ²¹To attend to the groaning of the prisoners, to release those doomed to die."

²²Then the LORD'S name will be declared on Zion, the praise of God in Jerusalem, ²³When all peoples and kingdoms gather to worship the LORD.

²⁴God has shattered my strength in mid-course, has cut short my days.

²⁵I plead, O my God, do not take me in the midst of my days. Your years last through all generations.

²⁶Of old you laid the earth's foundations; the heavens are the work of your hands.

²⁷They perish, but you remain; they all wear out like a garment; Like clothing you change them and they are changed, ²⁸but you are the same, your years have no end.

²⁹May the children of your servants live on; may their descendants live in your presence.

PSALM 103

¹Of David. Bless the LORD, my soul; all my being, bless his holy name!

²Bless the LORD, my soul; do not forget all the gifts of God,

³Who pardons all your sins, heals all your ills,

⁴Delivers your life from the pit, surrounds you with love and compassion,

⁵Fills your days with good things; your youth is renewed like the eagle's.

⁶The LORD does righteous deeds, brings justice to all the oppressed.

⁷His ways were revealed to Moses, mighty deeds to the people of Israel.

⁸Merciful and gracious is the LORD, slow to anger, abounding in kindness.

⁹God does not always rebuke, nurses no lasting anger,

¹⁰Has not dealt with us as our sins merit, nor requited us as our deeds deserve.

¹¹As the heavens tower over the earth, so God's love towers over the faithful.

¹²As far as the east is from the west, so far have our sins been removed from us.

¹³As a father has compassion on his children, so the LORD has compassion on the faithful.

¹⁴For he knows how we are formed, remembers that we are dust.

¹⁵Our days are like the grass; like flowers of the field we blossom.

¹⁶The wind sweeps over us and we are gone; our place knows us no more.

¹⁷But the LORD'S kindness is forever, toward the faithful from age to age. He favors the children's children ¹⁸of those who keep his covenant, who take care to fulfill its precepts.

¹⁹The LORD'S throne is established in heaven; God's royal power rules over all.

²⁰Bless the LORD, all you angels, mighty in strength and attentive, obedient to every command.

²¹Bless the LORD, all you hosts, ministers who do God's will.

²²Bless the LORD, all creatures, everywhere in God's domain. Bless the LORD, my soul!

PSALM 104

¹Bless the LORD, my soul! LORD, my God, you are great indeed! You are clothed with majesty and glory,

²robed in light as with a cloak. You spread out the heavens like a tent;

- ³you raised your palace upon the waters. You make the clouds your chariot; you travel on the wings of the wind.
- ⁴You make the winds your messengers; flaming fire, your ministers.
- ⁵You fixed the earth on its foundation, never to be moved.
- ⁶The ocean covered it like a garment; above the mountains stood the waters.
- ⁷At your roar they took flight; at the sound of your thunder they fled.
- ⁸They rushed up the mountains, down the valleys to the place you had fixed for them.
- ⁹You set a limit they cannot pass; never again will they cover the earth.
- ¹⁰You made springs flow into channels that wind among the mountains.
- ¹¹They give drink to every beast of the field; here wild asses quench their thirst.
- ¹²Beside them the birds of heaven nest; among the branches they sing.
- ¹³You water the mountains from your palace; by your labor the earth abounds.
- ¹⁴You raise grass for the cattle and plants for our beasts of burden. You bring bread from the earth,
- ¹⁵and wine to gladden our hearts, Oil to make our faces gleam, food to build our strength.
- ¹⁶The trees of the LORD drink their fill, the cedars of Lebanon, which you planted.
- ¹⁷There the birds build their nests; junipers are the home of the stork.
- ¹⁸The high mountains are for wild goats; the rocky cliffs, a refuge for badgers.
- ¹⁹You made the moon to mark the seasons, the sun that knows the hour of its setting.
- ²⁰You bring darkness and night falls, then all the beasts of the forest roam abroad.
- ²¹Young lions roar for prey; they seek their food from God.

²²When the sun rises, they steal away and rest in their dens.

²³People go forth to their work, to their labor till evening falls.

²⁴How varied are your works, LORD! In wisdom you have wrought them all; the earth is full of your creatures.

²⁵Look at the sea, great and wide! It teems with countless beings, living things both large and small.

²⁶Here ships ply their course; here Leviathan, your creature, plays.

²⁷All of these look to you to give them food in due time.

²⁸When you give to them, they gather; when you open your hand, they are well filled.

²⁹When you hide your face, they are lost. When you take away their breath, they perish and return to the dust from which they came.

³⁰When you send forth your breath, they are created, and you renew the face of the earth.

³¹May the glory of the LORD endure forever; may the LORD be glad in these works!

³²If God glares at the earth, it trembles; if God touches the mountains, they smoke!

³³I will sing to the LORD all my life; I will sing praise to my God while I live.

³⁴May my theme be pleasing to God; I will rejoice in the LORD.

³⁵May sinners vanish from the earth, and the wicked be no more. Bless the LORD, my soul! Hallelujah!

PSALM 105

¹Give thanks to the LORD, invoke his name; make known among the peoples his deeds!

²Sing praise, play music; proclaim all his wondrous deeds!

³Glory in his holy name; rejoice, O hearts that seek the LORD!

⁴Rely on the mighty LORD; constantly seek his face.

⁵Recall the wondrous deeds he has done, his signs and his words of judgment,

⁶You descendants of Abraham his servant, offspring of Jacob the chosen one!

⁷The LORD is our God who rules the whole earth.

⁸He remembers forever his covenant, the pact imposed for a thousand generations,

⁹Which was made with Abraham, confirmed by oath to Isaac,

¹⁰And ratified as binding for Jacob, an everlasting covenant for Israel:

¹¹"To you I give the land of Canaan, your own allotted heritage."

¹²When they were few in number, a handful, and strangers there,

¹³Wandering from nation to nation, from one kingdom to another,

¹⁴He let no one oppress them; for their sake he rebuked kings:

¹⁵" Do not touch my anointed, to my prophets do no harm."

¹⁶Then he called down a famine on the land, destroyed the grain that sustained them.

¹⁷He had sent a man ahead of them, Joseph, sold as a slave.

¹⁸They shackled his feet with chains; collared his neck in iron,

¹⁹Till his prediction came to pass, and the word of the LORD proved him true.

²⁰The king sent and released him; the ruler of peoples set him free.

²¹He made him lord over his palace, ruler over all his possessions,

²²To instruct his princes by his word, to teach his elders wisdom.

²³Then Israel entered Egypt; Jacob lived in the land of Ham.

²⁴God greatly increased his people, made them too many for their foes.

- ²⁵He turned their hearts to hate his people, to treat his servants unfairly.
- ²⁶He sent his servant Moses, Aaron whom he had chosen.
- ²⁷They worked his signs in Egypt and wonders in the land of Ham.
- ²⁸He sent darkness and it grew dark, but they rebelled against his word.
- ²⁹He turned their waters into blood and killed all their fish.
- ³⁰Their land swarmed with frogs, even the chambers of their kings.
- ³¹He spoke and there came swarms of flies, gnats through all their country.
- ³²For rain he gave them hail, flashes of lightning throughout their land.
- ³³He struck down their vines and fig trees, shattered the trees of their country.
- ³⁴He spoke and the locusts came, grass hoppers without number.
- ³⁵They devoured every plant in the land; they ravaged the crops of their fields.
- ³⁶He struck down every firstborn in the land, the first fruits of all their vigor.
- ³⁷He brought his people out, laden with silver and gold; no stragglers among the tribes.
- ³⁸Egypt rejoiced when they left, for panic had seized them.
- ³⁹He spread a cloud as a cover, and made a fire to light up the night.
- ⁴⁰They asked and he brought them quail; with bread from heaven he filled them.
- ⁴¹He split the rock and water gushed forth; it flowed through the desert like a river.
- ⁴²For he remembered his sacred word to Abraham his servant.
- ⁴³He brought his people out with joy, his chosen ones with shouts of triumph.
- ⁴⁴He gave them the lands of the nations, the wealth of the peoples to own,

⁴⁵That they might keep his laws and observe his teachings. Hallelujah!

PSALM 106

¹Hallelujah! Give thanks to the LORD, who is good, whose love endures forever.

²Who can tell the mighty deeds of the LORD, proclaim in full God's praise?

³Happy those who do what is right, whose deeds are always just.

⁴Remember me, LORD, as you favor your people; come to me with your saving help, ⁵That I may see the prosperity of your chosen, rejoice in the joy of your people, and glory with your heritage.

⁶We have sinned like our ancestors; we have done wrong and are guilty.

⁷Our ancestors in Egypt did not attend to your wonders. They did not remember your great love; they defied the Most High at the Red Sea.

⁸Yet he saved them for his name's sake to make his power known.

⁹He roared at the Red Sea and it dried up. He led them through the deep as through a desert.

¹⁰He rescued them from hostile hands, freed them from the power of the enemy.

¹¹The waters covered their oppressors; not one of them survived.

¹²Then they believed his words and sang songs of praise.

¹³But they soon forgot all he had done; they had no patience for his plan.

¹⁴In the desert they gave way to their cravings, tempted God in the wasteland.

¹⁵So he gave them what they asked and sent among them a wasting disease.

¹⁶In the camp they challenged Moses and Aaron, the holy one of the LORD.

¹⁷The earth opened and swallowed Dathan, it closed on the followers of Abiram.

- ¹⁸Against that company the fire blazed; flames consumed the wicked.
- ¹⁹At Horeb they fashioned a calf, worshiped a metal statue.
- ²⁰They exchanged their glorious God for the image of a grass-eating bull.
- ²¹They forgot the God who saved them, who did great deeds in Egypt,
- ²²Amazing deeds in the land of Ham, fearsome deeds at the Red Sea.
- ²³He would have decreed their destruction, had not Moses, the chosen leader,
Withstood him in the breach to turn back his destroying anger.
- ²⁴Next they despised the beautiful land; they did not believe the promise.
- ²⁵In their tents they complained; they did not obey the LORD.
- ²⁶So with raised hand he swore to destroy them in the desert,
- ²⁷To scatter their descendants among the nations, disperse them in foreign lands.
- ²⁸They joined in the rites of Baal of Peor, ate food sacrificed to dead gods.
- ²⁹They provoked him by their actions, and a plague broke out among them.
- ³⁰Then Phinehas rose to intervene, and the plague was brought to a halt.
- ³¹This was counted for him as a righteous deed for all generations to come.
- ³²At the waters of Meribah they angered God, and Moses suffered because of them.
- ³³They so embittered his spirit that rash words crossed his lips.
- ³⁴They did not destroy the peoples as the LORD had commanded them,
- ³⁵But mingled with the nations and imitated their ways.
- ³⁶They worshiped their idols and were ensnared by them.
- ³⁷They sacrificed to the gods their own sons and daughters,

³⁸Shedding innocent blood, the blood of their own sons and daughters, Whom they sacrificed to the idols of Canaan, desecrating the land with bloodshed.

³⁹They defiled themselves by their actions, became adulterers by their conduct.

⁴⁰So the LORD grew angry with his people, abhorred his own heritage.

⁴¹He handed them over to the nations, and their adversaries ruled them.

⁴²Their enemies oppressed them, kept them under subjection.

⁴³Many times did he rescue them, but they kept rebelling and scheming and were brought low by their own guilt.

⁴⁴Still God had regard for their affliction when he heard their wailing.

⁴⁵For their sake he remembered his covenant and relented in his abundant love,

⁴⁶Winning for them compassion from all who held them captive.

⁴⁷Save us, LORD, our God; gather us from among the nations That we may give thanks to your holy name and glory in praising you.

⁴⁸Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, from everlasting to everlasting! Let all the people say, Amen! Hallelujah!

PSALM 107

¹"Give thanks to the LORD who is good, whose love endures forever!"

²Let that be the prayer of the LORD'S redeemed, those redeemed from the hand of the foe, ³Those gathered from foreign lands, from east and west, from north and south.

⁴Some had lost their way in a barren desert; found no path toward a city to live in.

⁵They were hungry and thirsty; their life was ebbing away.

⁶In their distress they cried to the LORD, who rescued them in their peril,

- ⁷ Guided them by a direct path so they reached a city to live in.
- ⁸ Let them thank the LORD for such kindness, such wondrous deeds for mere mortals.
- ⁹ For he satisfied the thirsty, filled the hungry with good things.
- ¹⁰ Some lived in darkness and gloom, in prison, bound with chains,
- ¹¹ Because they rebelled against God's word, scorned the counsel of the Most High,
- ¹² Who humbled their hearts through hardship; they stumbled with no one to help.
- ¹³ In their distress they cried to the LORD, who saved them in their peril,
- ¹⁴ Led them forth from darkness and gloom and broke their chains asunder.
- ¹⁵ Let them thank the LORD for such kindness, such wondrous deeds for mere mortals.
- ¹⁶ For he broke down the gates of bronze and snapped the bars of iron.
- ¹⁷ Some fell sick from their wicked ways, afflicted because of their sins.
- ¹⁸ They loathed all manner of food; they were at the gates of death.
- ¹⁹ In their distress they cried to the LORD, who saved them in their peril,
- ²⁰ Sent forth the word to heal them, snatched them from the grave.
- ²¹ Let them thank the LORD for such kindness, such wondrous deeds for mere mortals.
- ²² Let them offer a sacrifice in thanks, declare his works with shouts of joy.
- ²³ Some went off to sea in ships, plied their trade on the deep waters.
- ²⁴ They saw the works of the LORD, the wonders of God in the deep.
- ²⁵ He spoke and roused a storm wind; it tossed the waves on high.

²⁶They rose up to the heavens, sank to the depths; their hearts trembled at the danger.

²⁷They reeled, staggered like drunkards; their skill was of no avail.

²⁸In their distress they cried to the LORD, who brought them out of their peril, ²⁹Hushed the storm to a murmur; the waves of the sea were stilled.

³⁰They rejoiced that the sea grew calm, that God brought them to the harbor they longed for.

³¹Let them thank the LORD for such kindness, such wondrous deeds for mere mortals.

³²Let them praise him in the assembly of the people, give thanks in the council of the elders.

³³God changed rivers into desert, springs of water into thirsty ground,

³⁴Fruitful land into a salty waste, because of the wickedness of its people.

³⁵He changed the desert into pools of water, arid land into springs of water, ³⁶And settled the hungry there; they built a city to live in.

³⁷They sowed fields and planted vineyards, brought in an abundant harvest.

³⁸God blessed them, they became very many, and their livestock did not decrease.

³⁹Where they were diminished and brought low through misery and cruel oppression,

⁴⁰But he poured out contempt on princes, made them wander the trackless wastes,

⁴¹While the poor were released from their affliction; their families increased like their flocks.

⁴²The upright saw this and rejoiced; all wickedness shut its mouth.

⁴³Whoever is wise will take note of these things, will ponder the merciful deeds of the LORD.

PSALM 108

¹A song; a psalm of David

²My heart is steadfast, God; my heart is steadfast. I will sing and chant praise.

³Awake, my soul; awake, lyre and harp! I will wake the dawn.

⁴I will praise you among the peoples, LORD; I will chant your praise among the nations.

⁵For your love towers to the heavens; your faithfulness, to the skies.

⁶Appear on high over the heavens, God; may your glory appear above all the earth.

⁷Help with your right hand and answer us that your loved ones may escape.

⁸God promised in the sanctuary: "I will exult, I will apportion Shechem; the valley of Succoth I will measure out.

⁹Gilead is mine, mine is Manasseh; Ephraim is the helmet for my head, Judah, my own scepter.

¹⁰Moab is my washbowl; upon Edom I cast my sandal; I will triumph over Philistia."

¹¹Who will bring me to the fortified city? Who will lead me into Edom?

¹²Was it not you who rejected us, God? Do you no longer march with our armies?

¹³Give us aid against the foe; worthless is human help.

¹⁴We will triumph with the help of God, who will trample down our foes.

PSALM 109

¹For the leader. A psalm of David.

²O God, whom I praise, do not be silent, for wicked and treacherous mouths attack me. They speak against me with lying tongues;

³with hateful words they surround me, attacking me without cause.

⁴In return for my love they slander me, even though I prayed for them.

⁵They repay me evil for good, hatred for my love. My enemies say of me:

⁶"Find a lying witness, an accuser to stand by his right hand,

⁷That he may be judged and found guilty, that his plea may be in vain.

⁸May his days be few; may another take his office.

⁹May his children be fatherless, his wife, a widow.

¹⁰May his children be vagrant beggars, driven from their hovels.

¹¹May the usurer snare all he owns, strangers plunder all he earns.

¹²May no one treat him kindly or pity his fatherless children.

¹³May his posterity be destroyed, his name cease in the next generation.

¹⁴May the LORD remember his fathers' guilt; his mother's sin not be canceled.

¹⁵May their guilt be always before the LORD, till their memory is banished from the earth,

¹⁶For he did not remember to show kindness, but hounded the wretched poor and brought death to the brokenhearted.

¹⁷He loved cursing; may it come upon him; he hated blessing; may none come to him.

¹⁸May cursing clothe him like a robe; may it enter his belly like water, seep into his bones like oil.

¹⁹May it be near as the clothes he wears, as the belt always around him."

²⁰May the LORD bring all this upon my accusers, upon those who speak evil against me.

²¹But you, LORD, my God, deal kindly with me for your name's sake; in your great mercy rescue me.

²²For I am sorely in need; my heart is pierced within me.

²³Like a lengthening shadow I near my end, all but swept away like the locust.

²⁴My knees totter from fasting; my flesh has wasted away.

²⁵I have become a mockery to them; when they see me, they shake their heads.

²⁶Help me, LORD, my God; save me in your kindness.

²⁷Make them know this is your hand, that you, LORD, have acted.

²⁸Though they curse, may you bless; shame my foes, that your servant may rejoice.

²⁹Clothe my accusers with disgrace; make them wear shame like a mantle.

³⁰I will give fervent thanks to the LORD; before all I will praise my God.

³¹For God stands at the right hand of the poor to defend them against unjust accusers.

PSALM 110

¹A psalm of David. The LORD says to you, my lord: "Take your throne at my righthand, while I make your enemies your footstool."

²The scepter of your sovereign might the LORD will extend from Zion. The LORD says: "Rule over your enemies!"

³Yours is princely power from the day of your birth. In holy splendor before the daystar, like the dew I begot you."

⁴The LORD has sworn and will not waver: "Like Melchizedek you are a priest forever."

⁵At your right hand is the Lord, who crushes kings on the day of wrath,

⁶Who, robed in splendor, judges nations, crushes heads across the wide earth,

⁷Who drinks from the brook by the wayside and thus holds high the head.

PSALM 111

¹Hallelujah. I will praise the LORD with all my heart in the assembled congregation of the upright.

²Great are the works of the LORD, to be treasured for all their delights.

³Majestic and glorious is your work, your wise design endures forever.

⁴You won renown for your wondrous deeds; gracious and merciful is the LORD.

⁵You gave food to those who fear you, mindful of your covenant forever.

⁶You showed powerful deeds to your people, giving them the lands of the nations.

⁷The works of your hands are right and true, reliable all your decrees,

⁸Established forever and ever, to be observed with loyalty and care.

⁹You sent deliverance to your people, ratified your covenant forever; holy and awesome is your name.

¹⁰The fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom; prudent are all who live by it. Your praise endures forever.

PSALM 112

¹Hallelujah! Happy are those who fear the LORD, who greatly delight in God's commands.

²Their descendants shall be mighty in the land, generation upright and blessed.

³Wealth and riches shall be in their homes; their prosperity shall endure forever.

⁴They shine through the darkness, a light for the upright; they are gracious, merciful, and just.

⁵All goes well for those gracious in lending, who conduct their affairs with justice.

⁶They shall never be shaken; the just shall be remembered forever.

⁷They shall not fear an ill report; their hearts are steadfast, trusting the LORD.

⁸Their hearts are tranquil, without fear, till at last they look down on their foes.

⁹Lavishly they give to the poor; their prosperity shall endure forever; their horn shall be exalted in honor.

¹⁰The wicked shall be angry to see this; they will gnash their teeth and waste away; the desires of the wicked come to nothing.

PSALM 113

¹Hallelujah! Praise, you servants of the LORD, praise the name of the LORD.

²Blessed be the name of the LORD both now and forever.

³From the rising of the sun to its setting let the name of the LORD be praised.

⁴High above all nations is the LORD; above the heavens God's glory.

⁵Who is like the LORD, our God enthroned on high,

⁶looking down on heaven and earth?

⁷The LORD raises the needy from the dust, lifts the poor from the ash heap,

⁸Seats them with princes, the princes of the people,

⁹Gives the childless wife a home, the joyful mother of children. Hallelujah!

PSALM 114

¹When Israel came forth from Egypt, the house of Jacob from an alien people, ²Judah became God's holy place, Israel, God's domain.

³The sea beheld and fled; the Jordan turned back.

⁴The mountains skipped like rams; the hills, like lambs of the flock.

⁵Why was it, sea, that you fled? Jordan, that you turned back?

⁶You mountains, that you skipped like rams? You hills, like lambs of the flock?

⁷Tremble, earth, before the Lord, before the God of Jacob,

⁸Who turned rock into pools of water, stone into flowing springs.

PSALM 115

¹Not to us, LORD, not to us but to your name give glory because of your faithfulness and love.

²Why should the nations say, "Where is their God?"

³Our God is in heaven; whatever God wills is done.

⁴Their idols are silver and gold, the work of human hands.

⁵They have mouths but do not speak, eyes but do not see.

⁶They have ears but do not hear, noses but do not smell.

⁷They have hands but do not feel, feet but do not walk, and no sound rises from their throats.

⁸Their makers shall be like them, all who trust in them.

⁹The house of Israel trusts in the LORD, who is their help and shield.

¹⁰The house of Aaron trusts in the LORD, who is their help and shield.

¹¹Those who fear the LORD trust in the LORD, who is their help and shield.

¹²The LORD remembers us and will bless us, will bless the house of Israel, will bless the house of Aaron, ¹³Will bless those who fear the LORD, small and great alike.

¹⁴May the LORD increase your number, you and your descendants.

¹⁵May you be blessed by the LORD, who made heaven and earth.

¹⁶The heavens belong to the LORD, but the earth is given to us.

¹⁷The dead do not praise the LORD, all those gone down into silence.

¹⁸It is we who bless the LORD, both now and forever. Hallelujah!

PSALM 116

¹I love the LORD, who listened to my voice in supplication,

²Who turned an ear to me on the day I called.

³I was caught by the cords of death; the snares of Sheol had seized me; I felt agony and dread.

⁴Then I called on the name of the LORD, "O LORD, save my life!"

⁵Gracious is the LORD and just; yes, our God is merciful.

⁶The LORD protects the simple; I was helpless, but God saved me.

⁷Return, my soul, to your rest; the LORD has been good to you.

⁸For my soul has been freed from death, my eyes from tears, my feet from stumbling.

⁹I shall walk before the LORD in the land of the living.

¹⁰I kept faith, even when I said, "I am greatly afflicted!"

¹¹I said in my alarm, "No one can be trusted!"

¹²How can I repay the LORD for all the good done for me?

¹³I will raise the cup of salvation and call on the name of the LORD.

¹⁴I will pay my vows to the LORD in the presence of all his people.

¹⁵Too costly in the eyes of the LORD is the death of his faithful.

¹⁶LORD, I am your servant, your servant, the child of your maidservant; you have loosed my bonds.

¹⁷I will offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving and call on the name of the LORD.

¹⁸I will pay my vows to the LORD in the presence of all his people, ¹⁹In the courts of the house of the LORD, in your midst, O Jerusalem. Hallelujah!

PSALM 117

¹Praise the LORD, all you nations! Give glory, all you peoples!

²The LORD'S love for us is strong; the LORD is faithful forever. Hallelujah!

PSALM 118

¹Give thanks to the LORD, who is good, whose love endures forever.

²Let the house of Israel say: God's love endures forever.

³Let the house of Aaron say, God's love endures forever.

⁴Let those who fear the LORD say, God's love endures forever.

⁵In danger I called on the LORD; the LORD answered me and set me free.

⁶The LORD is with me; I am not afraid; what can mortals do against me?

⁷The LORD is with me as my helper; I shall look in triumph on my foes.

⁸Better to take refuge in the LORD than to put one's trust in mortals.

⁹Better to take refuge in the LORD than to put one's trust in princes.

¹⁰All the nations surrounded me; in the LORD'S name I crushed them.

¹¹They surrounded me on every side; in the LORD'S name I crushed them.

¹²They surrounded me like bees; they blazed like fire among thorns; in the LORD'S name I crushed them.

¹³I was hard pressed and falling, but the LORD came to my help.

¹⁴The LORD, my strength and might, came to me as savior.

¹⁵The joyful shout of deliverance is heard in the tents of the victors: "The LORD'S right hand strikes with power;

¹⁷I shall not die but live and declare the deeds of the LORD.

¹⁸The LORD chastised me harshly, but did not hand me over to death.

¹⁹Open the gates of victory; I will enter and thank the LORD.

²⁰This is the LORD'S own gate, where the victors enter.

²¹I thank you for you answered me; you have been my savior.

²²The stone the builders rejected has become the cornerstone.

²³By the LORD has this been done; it is wonderful in our eyes.

²⁴This is the day the LORD has made; let us rejoice in it and be glad.

²⁵LORD, grant salvation! LORD, grant good fortune!

²⁶Blessed is he who comes in the name of the LORD. We bless you from the LORD'S house.

²⁷The LORD is God and has given us light. Join in procession with leafy branches up to the horns of the altar.

²⁸You are my God, I give you thanks; my God, I offer you praise.

²⁹Give thanks to the LORD, who is good, whose love endures forever.

PSALM 119

- ¹Happy those whose way is blameless, who walk by the teaching of the LORD.
- ²Happy those who observe God's decrees, who seek the LORD with all their heart.
- ³They do no wrong; they walk in God's ways.
- ⁴You have given them the command to keep your precepts with care.
- ⁵May my ways be firm in the observance of your laws!
- ⁶Then I will not be ashamed to ponder all your commands.
- ⁷I will praise you with sincere heart as I study your just edicts.
- ⁸I will keep your laws; do not leave me all alone.
- ⁹How can the young walk without fault? Only by keeping your words.
- ¹⁰With all my heart I seek you; do not let me stray from your commands.
- ¹¹In my heart I treasure your promise, that I may not sin against you.
- ¹²Blessed are you, O LORD; teach me your laws.
- ¹³With my lips I recite all the edicts you have spoken.
- ¹⁴I find joy in the way of your decrees more than in all riches.
- ¹⁵I will ponder your precepts and consider your paths.
- ¹⁶In your laws I take delight; I will never forget your word.
- ¹⁷Be kind to your servant that I may live, that I may keep your word.
- ¹⁸Open my eyes to see clearly the wonders of your teachings.
- ¹⁹I am a sojourner in the land; do not hide your commands from me.
- ²⁰At all times my soul is stirred with longing for your edicts.
- ²¹With a curse you rebuke the proud who stray from your commands.

- ²²Free me from disgrace and contempt, for I observe your decrees.
- ²³Though princes meet and talk against me, your servant studies your laws.
- ²⁴Your decrees are my delight; they are my counselors.
- ²⁵I lie prostrate in the dust; give me life in accord with your word.
- ²⁶I disclosed my ways and you answered me; teach me your laws.
- ²⁷Make me understand the way of your precepts; I will ponder your wondrous deeds.
- ²⁸I weep in bitter pain; in accord with your word to strengthen me.
- ²⁹Lead me from the way of deceit; favor me with your teaching.
- ³⁰The way of loyalty I have chosen; I have set your edicts before me.
- ³¹I cling to your decrees, LORD; do not let me come to shame.
- ³²I will run the way of your commands, for you open my docile heart.
- ³³LORD, teach me the way of your laws; I shall observe them with care.
- ³⁴Give me insight to observe your teaching, to keep it with all my heart.
- ³⁵Lead me in the path of your commands, for that is my delight.
- ³⁶Direct my heart toward your decrees and away from unjust gain.
- ³⁷Avert my eyes from what is worthless; by your way give me life.
- ³⁸For your servant fulfill your promise made to those who fear you.
- ³⁹Turn away from me the taunts I dread, for your edicts bring good.
- ⁴⁰See how I long for your precepts; in your justice give me life.
- ⁴¹Let your love come to me, LORD, salvation in accord with your promise.
- ⁴²Let me answer my taunters with a word, for I trust in your word.

- ⁴³Do not take the word of truth from my mouth, for in your edicts is my hope.
- ⁴⁴I will keep your teachings always, for all time and forever.
- ⁴⁵I will walk freely in an open space because I cherish your precepts.
- ⁴⁶I will speak openly of your decrees without fear even before kings.
- ⁴⁷I delight in your commands, which I dearly love.
- ⁴⁸I lift up my hands to your commands; I study your laws, which I love.
- ⁴⁹Remember your word to your servant by which you give me hope.
- ⁵⁰This is my comfort in affliction, your promise that gives me life.
- ⁵¹Though the arrogant utterly scorn me, I do not turn from your teaching.
- ⁵²When I recite your edicts of old I am comforted, LORD.
- ⁵³Rage seizes me because of the wicked; they forsake your teaching.
- ⁵⁴Your laws become my songs wherever I make my home.
- ⁵⁵Even at night I remember your name in observance of your teaching, LORD.
- ⁵⁶This is my good fortune, for I have observed your precepts.
- ⁵⁷My portion is the LORD; I promise to keep your words.
- ⁵⁸I entreat you with all my heart: have mercy on me in accord with your promise.
- ⁵⁹I have examined my ways and turned my steps to your decrees.
- ⁶⁰I am prompt, I do not hesitate in keeping your commands.
- ⁶¹Though the snares of the wicked surround me, your teaching I do not forget.
- ⁶²At midnight I rise to praise you because your edicts are just.
- ⁶³I am the friend of all who fear you, of all who keep your precepts.

- ⁶⁴The earth, LORD, is filled with your love; teach me your laws.
- ⁶⁵You have treated your servant well, according to your word, O LORD.
- ⁶⁶Teach me wisdom and knowledge, for in your commands I trust.
- ⁶⁷Before I was afflicted I went astray, but now I hold to your promise.
- ⁶⁸You are good and do what is good; teach me your laws.
- ⁶⁹The arrogant smear me with lies, but I observe your precepts with all my heart.
- ⁷⁰Their hearts are gross and fat; as for me, your teaching is my delight.
- ⁷¹It was good for me to be afflicted, in order to learn your laws.
- ⁷²Teaching from your lips is more precious to me than heaps of silver and gold.
- ⁷³Your hands made me and fashioned me; give me insight to learn your commands.
- ⁷⁴Those who fear you rejoice to see me, because I hope in your word.
- ⁷⁵I know, LORD, that your edicts are just; though you afflict me, you are faithful.
- ⁷⁶May your love comfort me in accord with your promise to your servant.
- ⁷⁷Show me compassion that I may live, for your teaching is my delight.
- ⁷⁸Shame the proud for oppressing me unjustly, that I may study your precepts.
- ⁷⁹Let those who fear you turn to me, those who acknowledge your decrees.
- ⁸⁰May I be wholehearted toward your laws, that I may not be put to shame.
- ⁸¹My soul longs for your salvation; I put my hope in your word.
- ⁸²My eyes long to see your promise. When will you comfort me?
- ⁸³I am like a wineskin shriveled by smoke, but I have not forgotten your laws.
- ⁸⁴How long can your servant survive? When will your edict doom my foes?

- ⁸⁵The arrogant have dug pits for me; defying your teaching.
- ⁸⁶All your commands are steadfast. Help me! I am pursued without cause.
- ⁸⁷They have almost ended my life on earth, but I do not forsake your precepts.
- ⁸⁸In your kindness give me life, to keep the decrees you have spoken.
- ⁸⁹Your word, LORD, stands forever; it is firm as the heavens.
- ⁹⁰Through all generations your truth endures; fixed to stand firm like the earth.
- ⁹¹By your edicts they stand firm to this day, for all things are your servants.
- ⁹²Had your teaching not been my delight, I would have perished in my affliction.
- ⁹³I will never forget your precepts; through them you give me life.
- ⁹⁴I am yours; save me, for I cherish your precepts.
- ⁹⁵The wicked hope to destroy me, but I pay heed to your decrees.
- ⁹⁶I have seen the limits of all perfection, but your command is without bounds.
- ⁹⁷How I love your teaching, Lord! I study it all day long.
- ⁹⁸Your command makes me wiser than my foes, for it is always with me.
- ⁹⁹I have more understanding than all my teachers, because I ponder your decrees.
- ¹⁰⁰I have more insight than my elders, because I observe your precepts.
- ¹⁰¹I keep my steps from every evil path, that I may obey your word.
- ¹⁰²From your edicts I do not turn, for you have taught them to me.
- ¹⁰³How sweet to my tongue is your promise, sweeter than honey to my mouth!
- ¹⁰⁴Through your precepts I gain insight; therefore I hate all false ways.
- ¹⁰⁵Your word is a lamp for my feet, a light for my path.

- ¹⁰⁶ I make a solemn vow to keep your just edicts.
- ¹⁰⁷ I am very much afflicted, LORD; give me life in accord with your word.
- ¹⁰⁸ Accept my freely offered praise; LORD, teach me your decrees.
- ¹⁰⁹ My life is always at risk, but I do not forget your teaching.
- ¹¹⁰ The wicked have set snares for me, but from your precepts I do not stray.
- ¹¹¹ Your decrees are my heritage forever; they are the joy of my heart.
- ¹¹² My heart is set on fulfilling your laws; they are my reward forever.
- ¹¹³ I hate every hypocrite; your teaching I love.
- ¹¹⁴ You are my refuge and shield; in your word I hope.
- ¹¹⁵ Depart from me, you wicked, that I may observe the commands of my God.
- ¹¹⁶ Sustain me by your promise that I may live; do not disappoint me in my hope.
- ¹¹⁷ Strengthen me that I may be safe, ever to contemplate your laws.
- ¹¹⁸ You reject all who stray from your laws, for vain is their deceit.
- ¹¹⁹ Like dross you regard all the wicked on earth; therefore I love your decrees.
- ¹²⁰ My flesh shudders with dread of you; I hold your edicts in awe.
- ¹²¹ I have fulfilled your just edict; do not abandon me to my oppressors.
- ¹²² Guarantee your servant's welfare; do not let the arrogant oppress me.
- ¹²³ My eyes long to see your salvation and the justice of your promise.
- ¹²⁴ Act with kindness toward your servant; teach me your laws.
- ¹²⁵ I am your servant; give me discernment that I may know your decrees.
- ¹²⁶ It is time for the LORD to act; they have disobeyed your teaching.

¹²⁷ Truly I love your commands more than the finest gold.

¹²⁸ Thus I follow all your precepts; every wrong way I hate.

¹²⁹ Wonderful are your decrees; therefore I observe them.

¹³⁰ The revelation of your words sheds light, gives understanding to the simple.

¹³¹ I sigh with open mouth, yearning for your commands.

¹³² Turn to me and be gracious, your edict for lovers of your name.

¹³³ Steady my feet in accord with your promise; do not let iniquity lead me.

¹³⁴ Free me from human oppression, that I may keep your precepts.

¹³⁵ Let your face shine upon your servant; teach me your laws.

¹³⁶ My eyes shed streams of tears because your teaching is not followed.

¹³⁷ You are righteous, LORD, and just are your edicts.

¹³⁸ You have issued your decrees in justice and in surpassing faithfulness.

¹³⁹ I am consumed with rage, because my foes forget your words.

¹⁴⁰ Your servant loves your promise; it has been proved by fire.

¹⁴¹ Though belittled and despised, I do not forget your precepts.

¹⁴² Your justice is forever right, your teaching forever true.

¹⁴³ Though distress and anguish come upon me, your commands are my delight.

¹⁴⁴ Your decrees are forever just; give me discernment that I may live.

¹⁴⁵ I call with all my heart, O LORD; answer me that I may observe your laws.

¹⁴⁶ I call to you to save me that I may keep your decrees.

¹⁴⁷ I rise before dawn and cry out; I put my hope in your words.

- ¹⁴⁸ My eyes greet the night watches as I meditate on your promise.
- ¹⁴⁹ Hear my voice in your love, O LORD; by your edict give me life.
- ¹⁵⁰ Malicious persecutors draw near me; they are far from your teaching.
- ¹⁵¹ You are near, O LORD; reliable are all your commands.
- ¹⁵² Long have I known from your decrees that you have established them forever.
- ¹⁵³ Look at my affliction and rescue me, for I have not forgotten your teaching.
- ¹⁵⁴ Take up my cause and redeem me; for the sake of your promise give me life.
- ¹⁵⁵ Salvation is far from sinners because they do not cherish your laws.
- ¹⁵⁶ Your compassion is great, O LORD; in accord with your edicts give me life.
- ¹⁵⁷ Though my persecutors and foes are many I do not turn from your decrees.
- ¹⁵⁸ I view the faithless with loathing, because they do not heed your promise.
- ¹⁵⁹ See how I love your precepts, LORD; in your kindness give me life.
- ¹⁶⁰ Your every word is enduring; all your just edicts are forever.
- ¹⁶¹ Princes persecute me without reason, but my heart reveres only your word.
- ¹⁶² I rejoice at your promise, as one who has found rich spoil.
- ¹⁶³ Falsehood I hate and abhor; your teaching I love.
- ¹⁶⁴ Seven times a day I praise you because your edicts are just.
- ¹⁶⁵ Lovers of your teaching have much peace; for them there is no stumbling block.
- ¹⁶⁶ I look for your salvation, LORD, and I fulfill your commands.
- ¹⁶⁷ I observe your decrees; I love them very much.
- ¹⁶⁸ I observe your precepts and decrees; all my ways are before you.

¹⁶⁹Let my cry come before you, LORD; in keeping with your word give me discernment.

¹⁷⁰Let my prayer come before you; rescue me according to your promise.

¹⁷¹May my lips pour forth your praise, because you teach me your laws.

¹⁷²May my tongue sing of your promise, for all your commands are just.

¹⁷³Keep your hand ready to help me, for I have chosen your precepts.

¹⁷⁴I long for your salvation, LORD; your teaching is my delight.

¹⁷⁵Let me live to praise you; may your edicts give me help.

¹⁷⁶I have wandered like a lost sheep; seek out your servant, for I do not forget your commands.

PSALM 120

¹A song of ascents. The LORD answered me when I called in my distress:

²LORD, deliver me from lying lips, from treacherous tongues.

³What will the Lord inflict on you, O treacherous tongue, and what more besides?

⁴A warrior's sharpened arrows and fiery coals of brush wood!

⁵Alas, I was an alien in Meshech, I lived near the tents of Kedar!

⁶Too long did I live among those who hated peace.

⁷When I spoke of peace, they were for war.

PSALM 121

¹A song of ascents. I raise my eyes toward the mountains. From where will my help come?

²My help comes from the LORD, the maker of heaven and earth.

³God will not allow your foot to slip; your guardian does not sleep.

⁴Truly, the guardian of Israel never slumbers nor sleeps.

⁵The LORD is your guardian; the LORD is your shade at your righthand.

⁶By day the sun cannot harm you, nor the moon by night.

⁷The LORD will guard you from all evil, will always guard your life.

⁸The LORD will guard your coming and going both now and forever.

PSALM 122

¹A song of ascents. Of David. I rejoiced when they said to me, "Let us go to the house of the LORD."

²And now our feet are standing within your gates, Jerusalem.

³Jerusalem, built as a city, walled round about.

⁴Here the tribes have come, the tribes of the LORD, As it was decreed for Israel, to give thanks to the name of the LORD.

⁵Here are the thrones of justice, the thrones of the house of David.

⁶For the peace of Jerusalem pray: "May those who love you prosper!"

⁷May peace be within your ramparts, prosperity within your towers."

⁸For family and friends I say, "May peace be yours."

⁹For the house of the LORD, our God, I pray, "May blessings be yours."

PSALM 123

¹A song of ascents. To you I raise my eyes, to you enthroned in heaven.

²Yes, like the eyes of a servant on the hand of his master, Like the eyes of a maid on the hand of her mistress, So our eyes are on the LORD our God, till we are shown favor.

³Show us favor, LORD, show us favor, for we have our fill of contempt.

⁴We have our fill of insult from the insolent, of disdain from the arrogant.

PSALM 124

¹A song of ascents. Of David. I Had not the LORD been with us, let Israel say,

²Had not the LORD been with us, when people rose against us,

³They would have swallowed us alive, for their fury blazed against us.

⁴The waters would have engulfed us, the torrent overwhelmed us;

⁵seething waters would have drowned us.

⁶Blessed be the LORD, who did not leave us to be torn by their fangs.

⁷We escaped with our lives like a bird from the fowler's snare; the snare was broken and we escaped.

⁸Our help is the name of the LORD, the maker of heaven and earth.

PSALM 125

¹A song of ascents. Like Mount Zion are they who trust in the LORD, unshakable, forever enduring.

²As mountains surround Jerusalem, the LORD surrounds his people both now and forever.

³The scepter of the wicked will not prevail in the land given to the just, Lest the just themselves turn their hands to evil.

⁴Do good, LORD, to the good, to those who are upright of heart.

⁵But those who turn aside to crooked ways may the LORD send down with the wicked. Peace upon Israel!

PSALM 126

¹A song of ascents. When the LORD restored the fortunes of Zion, then we thought we were dreaming.

²Our mouths were filled with laughter; our tongues sang for joy. Then it was said among the nations, "The LORD had done great things for them."

³The LORD has done great things for us; Oh, how happy we were!

⁴Restore again our fortunes, LORD, like the dry stream beds of the Negeb.

⁵Those who sow in tears will reap with cries of joy.

⁶Those who go forth weeping, carrying sacks of seed, Will return with cries of joy, carrying their bundled sheaves.

PSALM 127

¹A song of ascents. Of Solomon. Unless the LORD build the house, they labor in vain who build. Unless the LORD guard the city, in vain does the guard keep watch.

²It is vain for you to rise early and put off your rest at night, To eat bread earned by hard toil-- all this God gives to his beloved in sleep.

³Children too are a gift from the LORD, the fruit of the womb, a reward.

⁴Like arrows in the hand of a warrior are the children born in one's youth.

⁵Blessed are they whose quivers are full. They will never be shamed contending with foes at the gate.

PSALM 128

¹A song of ascents. Happy are all who fear the LORD, who walk in the ways of God.

²What your hands provide you will enjoy; you will be happy and prosper:

³Like a fruitful vine your wife within your home, Like olive plants your children around your table.

⁴Just so will they be blessed who fear the LORD.

⁵May the LORD bless you from Zion, all the days of your life That you may share Jerusalem's joy

⁶and live to see your children's children. Peace upon Israel!

PSALM 129

¹A song of ascents. Much have they oppressed me from my youth, now let Israel say.

²Much have they oppressed me from my youth, yet they have not prevailed.

³Upon my back the plowers plowed, as they traced their long furrows.

⁴But the just LORD cut me free from the ropes of the yoke of the wicked.

⁵May they be scattered in disgrace, all who hate Zion.

⁶May they be like grass on the rooftops withered in early growth,

⁷Never to fill the reaper's hands, nor the arms of the binders of sheaves,

⁸With none passing by to call out: "The blessing of the LORD be upon you! We bless you in the name of the LORD!"

PSALM 130

¹A song of ascents. Out of the depths I call to you, LORD;

²Lord, hear my cry! May your ears be attentive to my cry for mercy.

³If you, LORD, mark our sins, Lord, who can stand?

⁴But with you is forgiveness and so you are revered.

⁵I wait with longing for the LORD, my soul waits for his word.

⁶My soul looks for the Lord more than sentinels for daybreak. More than sentinels for daybreak,

⁷let Israel look for the LORD, For with the LORD is kindness, with him is full redemption, ⁸And God will redeem Israel from all their sins.

PSALM 131

¹A song of ascents. Of David. LORD, my heart is not proud; nor are my eyes haughty. I do not busy myself with great matters, with things too sublime for me.

²Rather, I have stilled my soul, hushed it like a weaned child. Like a weaned child on its mother's lap, so is my soul within me.

³Israel, hope in the LORD, now and forever.

PSALM 132

¹A song of ascents. LORD, remember David and all his anxious care;

²How he swore an oath to the LORD, vowed to the Mighty One of Jacob:

³"I will not enter the house where I live, nor lie on the couch where I sleep;

⁴I will give my eyes no sleep, my eyelids no rest,

⁵Till I find a home for the LORD, a dwelling for the Mighty One of Jacob."

⁶"We have heard of it in Ephrathah; we have found it in the fields of Jaar.

⁷Let us enter God's dwelling; let us worship at God's footstool."

⁸"Arise, LORD, come to your resting place, you and your majestic ark.

⁹Your priests will be clothed with justice; your faithful will shout for joy."

¹⁰For the sake of David your servant, do not reject your anointed.

¹¹The LORD swore an oath to David, a pledge never to be broken: "Your own offspring I will set upon your throne.

¹²If your sons observe my covenant, the laws I shall teach them, Their sons, in turn, shall sit forever on your throne."

¹³Yes, the LORD has chosen Zion, desired it for a dwelling:

¹⁴"This is my resting place forever; here I will dwell, for I desire it.

¹⁵I will bless Zion with meat; its poor I will fill with bread.

¹⁶I will clothe its priests with blessing; its faithful shall shout for joy.

¹⁷There I will make a horn sprout for David's line; I will set a lamp for my anointed.

¹⁸His foes I will clothe with shame, but on him my crown shall gleam."

PSALM 133

¹A song of ascents. Of David. How good it is, how pleasant, where the people dwell as one!

²Like precious ointment on the head, running down upon the beard, Upon the beard of Aaron, upon the collar of his robe.

³Like dew of Hermon coming down upon the mountains of Zion. There the LORD has lavished blessings, life for evermore!

PSALM 134

¹A song of ascents. Come, bless the LORD, all you servants of the LORD Who stand in the house of the LORD through the long hours of night.

²Lift up your hands toward the sanctuary, and bless the LORD.

³May the LORD who made heaven and earth bless you from Zion.

PSALM 135

¹Hallelujah! Praise the name of the LORD! Praise, you servants of the LORD,

²Who stand in the house of the LORD, in the courts of the house of our God!

³Praise the LORD; the LORD is good! Sing to God's name; it is gracious!

⁴For the LORD has chosen Jacob, Israel as a treasured possession.

⁵ I know that the LORD is great, our Lord is greater than all gods.

⁶ Whatever the LORD wishes he does in heaven and on earth, in the seas and in all the deeps.

⁷ He raises storm clouds from the end of the earth, makes lightning and rain, brings forth wind from the storehouse.

⁸ He struck down Egypt's firstborn, human and beast alike,

⁹ And sent signs and portents against you, Egypt, against Pharaoh and all his servants.

¹⁰ The Lord struck down many nations, slew mighty kings--

¹¹ Sihon, king of the Amorites, Og, king of Bashan, all the kings of Canaan--

¹² And made their land a heritage, a heritage for Israel his people.

¹³ O LORD, your name is forever, your renown, from age to age!

¹⁴ For the LORD defends his people, shows mercy to his servants.

¹⁵ The idols of the nations are silver and gold, the work of human hands.

¹⁶ They have mouths but speak not; they have eyes but see not;

¹⁷ They have ears but hear not; no breath is in their mouths.

¹⁸ Their makers shall be like them, all who trust in them.

¹⁹ House of Israel, bless the LORD! House of Aaron, bless the LORD!

²⁰ House of Levi, bless the LORD! You who fear the LORD, bless the LORD!

²¹ Blessed from Zion be the LORD, who dwells in Jerusalem! Hallelujah!

PSALM 136

¹ Praise the LORD, who is so good; God's love endures forever;

- ²Praise the God of gods; God's love endures forever;
- ³Praise the Lord of lords; God's love endures forever;
- ⁴Who alone has done great wonders, God's love endures forever;
- ⁵Who skillfully made the heavens, God's love endures forever;
- ⁶Who spread the earth upon the waters, God's love endures forever;
- ⁷Who made the great lights, God's love endures forever;
- ⁸The sun to rule the day, God's love endures forever;
- ⁹The moon and stars to rule the night, God's love endures forever;
- ¹⁰Who struck down the firstborn of Egypt, God's love endures forever;
- ¹¹And led Israel from their midst, God's love endures forever;
- ¹²With mighty hand and outstretched arm, God's love endures forever;
- ¹³Who split in two the Red Sea, God's love endures forever;
- ¹⁴And led Israel through, God's love endures forever;
- ¹⁵But swept Pharaoh and his army into the Red Sea, God's love endures forever;
- ¹⁶Who led the people through the desert, God's love endures forever;
- ¹⁷Who struck down great kings, God's love endures forever;
- ¹⁸Slew powerful kings, God's love endures forever;
- ¹⁹Sihon, king of the Amorites, God's love endures forever;
- ²⁰Og, king of Bashan, God's love endures forever;
- ²¹And made their lands a heritage, God's love endures forever;
- ²²A heritage for Israel, God's servant, God's love endures forever.

²³The LORD remembered us in our misery, God's love endures forever;

²⁴Freed us from our foes, God's love endures forever;

²⁵And gives food to all flesh, God's love endures forever.

²⁶Praise the God of heaven, God's love endures forever.

PSALM 137

¹By the rivers of Babylon we sat mourning and weeping when we remembered Zion.

²On the poplars of that land we hung up our harps.

³There our captors asked us for the words of a song; Our tormentors, for a joyful song: "Sing for us a song of Zion!"

⁴But how could we sing a song of the LORD in a foreign land?

⁵If I forget you, Jerusalem, may my right hand wither.

⁶May my tongue stick to my palate if I do not remember you, If I do not exalt Jerusalem beyond all my delights.

⁷Remember, LORD, against Edom that day at Jerusalem. They said: "Level it, level it down to its foundations!"

⁸Fair Babylon, you destroyer, happy those who pay you back the evil you have done us!

⁹Happy those who seize your children and smash them against a rock.

PSALM 138

¹Of David. I thank you, LORD, with all my heart; before the gods to you I sing.

²I bow low toward your holy temple; I praise your name for your fidelity and love. For you have exalted over all your name and your promise.

³When I cried out, you answered; you strengthened my spirit.

⁴All the kings of earth will praise you, LORD, when they hear the words of your mouth.

⁵They will sing of the ways of the LORD: "How great is the glory of the LORD!"

⁶The LORD is on high, but cares for the lowly and knows the proud from afar.

⁷Though I walk in the midst of dangers, you guard my life when my enemies rage. You stretch out your hand; your right hand saves me.

⁸The LORD is with me to the end. LORD, your love endures forever. Never forsake the work of your hands!

PSALM 139

¹For the leader. A psalm of David. O LORD, you have probed me, you know me:

²you know when I sit and stand; you understand my thoughts from afar.

³My travels and my rest you mark; with all my ways you are familiar.

⁴Even before a word is on my tongue, LORD, you know it all.

⁵Behind and before you encircle me and rest your hand upon me.

⁶Such knowledge is beyond me, far too lofty for me to reach.

⁷Where can I hide from your spirit? From your presence, where can I flee?

⁸If I ascend to the heavens, you are there; if I lie down in Sheol, you are there too.

⁹If I fly with the wings of dawn and alight beyond the sea,

¹⁰Even there your hand will guide me, your right hand hold me fast.

¹¹If I say, "Surely darkness shall hide me, and night shall be my light" --

¹²Darkness is not dark for you, and night shines as the day. Darkness and light are but one.

¹³You formed my inmost being; you knit me in my mother's womb.

¹⁴I praise you, so wonderfully you made me; wonderful are your works! My very self you knew;

¹⁵my bones were not hidden from you, When I was being made in secret, fashioned as in the depths of the earth.

¹⁶Your eyes foresaw my actions; in your book all are written down; my days were shaped, before one came to be.

¹⁷How precious to me are your designs, O God; how vast the sum of them!

¹⁸Were I to count, they would outnumber the sands; to finish, I would need eternity.

¹⁹If only you would destroy the wicked, O God, and the bloodthirsty would depart from me!

²⁰Deceitfully they invoke your name; your foes swear faithless oaths.

²¹Do I not hate, LORD, those who hate you? Those who rise against you, do I not loathe?

²²With fierce hatred I hate them, enemies I count as my own.

²³Probe me, God, know my heart; try me, know my concerns.

²⁴See if my way is crooked, then lead me in the ancient paths.

PSALM 140

¹For the leader. A psalm of David.

²Deliver me, LORD, from the wicked; preserve me from the violent,

³From those who plan evil in their hearts, who stir up conflicts every day,

⁴Who sharpen their tongues like serpents, venom of asps upon their lips. Selah

⁵Keep me, LORD, from the clutches of the wicked; preserve me from the violent, who plot to trip me up.

⁶The arrogant have set a trap for me; villains have spread a net, laid snares for me by the wayside. Selah

⁷I say to the LORD: You are my God; listen, LORD, to the words of my prayer.

⁸My revered LORD, my strong helper, my helmet on the day of battle.

⁹LORD, do not grant the desires of the wicked; do not let their plots succeed. Selah ¹⁰Around me they raise their proud heads; may the mischief they threaten overwhelm them.

¹¹May God rain burning coals upon them, cast them into the grave never more to rise.

¹²Slanderers will not survive on earth; evil will quickly entrap the violent.

¹³For I know the LORD will secure justice for the needy, their rights for the poor.

¹⁴Then the just will give thanks to your name; the upright will dwell in your presence.

PSALM 141

¹A psalm of David. LORD, I call to you; come quickly to help me; listen to my plea when I call.

²Let my prayer be incense before you; my uplifted hands an evening sacrifice.

³Set a guard, LORD, before my mouth, a gatekeeper at my lips.

⁴Do not let my heart incline to evil, or yield to any sin. I will never feast upon the fine food of evildoers.

⁵Let the just strike me; that is kindness; let them rebuke me; that is oil for my head. All this I shall not refuse, but will pray despite these trials.

⁶When their leaders are cast over the cliff, all will learn that my prayers were heard.

⁷As when a farmer plows a field into broken clods, so their bones will be strewn at the mouth of Sheol.

⁸My eyes are upon you, O GOD, my Lord; in you I take refuge; do not strip me of life.

⁹Guard me from the trap they have set for me, from the snares of evildoers.

¹⁰Into their own nets let all the wicked fall, while I make good my own escape.

PSALM 142

¹A maskil of David, when he was in the cave. A prayer.

²With full voice I cry to the LORD; with full voice I beseech the LORD.

³Before God I pour out my complaint, lay bare my distress.

⁴My spirit is faint within me, but you know my path. Along the way I walk they have hidden a trap for me.

⁵I look to my right hand, but no friend is there. There is no escape for me; no one cares for me.

⁶I cry out to you, LORD, I say, You are my refuge, my portion in the land of the living.

⁷Listen to my cry for help, for I am brought very low. Rescue me from my pursuers, for they are too strong for me.

⁸Lead me out of my prison, that I may give thanks to your name. Then the just shall gather around me because you have been good to me.

PSALM 143

¹A psalm of David. LORD, hear my prayer; in your faithfulness listen to my pleading; answer me in your justice.

²Do not enter into judgment with your servant; before you no living being can be just.

³The enemy has pursued me; they have crushed my life to the ground. They have left me in darkness like those long dead.

⁴My spirit is faint within me; my heart is dismayed.

⁵I remember the days of old; I ponder all your deeds; the works of your hands I recall.

⁶I stretch out my hands to you; I thirst for you like a parched land. Selah

⁷Hasten to answer me, LORD; for my spirit fails me. Do not hide your face from me, lest I become like those descending to the pit.

⁸At dawn let me hear of your kindness, for in you I trust. Show me the path I should walk, for to you I entrust my life.

⁹Rescue me, LORD, from my foes, for in you I hope.

¹⁰Teach me to do your will, for you are my God. May your kind spirit guide me on ground that is level.

¹¹For your name's sake, LORD, give me life; in your justice lead me out of distress.

¹²In your kindness put an end to my foes; destroy all who attack me, for I am your servant. Psalm

PSALM 144

¹Of David. Blessed be the LORD, my rock, who trains my hands for battle, my fingers for war;

²My safe guard and my fortress, my stronghold, my deliverer, My shield, in whom I trust, who subdues peoples under me.

³LORD, what are mortals that you notice them; human beings, that you take thought of them?

⁴They are but a breath; their days are like a passing shadow.

⁵LORD, incline your heavens and come; touch the mountains and make them smoke.

⁶Flash forth lightning and scatter my foes; shoot your arrows and rout them.

⁷Reach out your hand from on high; deliver me from the many waters; rescue me from the hands of foreign foes.

⁸Their mouths speak untruth; their right hands are raised in lying oaths.

⁹O God, a new song I will sing to you; on a ten-stringed lyre I will play for you.

¹⁰You give victory to kings; you delivered David your servant. From the menacing sword

¹¹deliver me; rescue me from the hands of foreign foes. Their mouths speak untruth; their right hands are raised in lying oaths.

¹²May our sons be like plants well nurtured from their youth, Our daughters, like carved columns, shapely as those of the temple.

¹³May our barns be full with every kind of store. May our sheep increase by thousands, by tens of thousands in our fields; may our oxen be well fattened.

¹⁴May there be no breach in the walls, no exile, no outcry in our streets.

¹⁵Happy the people so blessed; happy the people whose God is the LORD.

PSALM 145

¹Praise. Of David. I will extol you, my God and king; I will bless your name forever.

²Every day I will bless you; I will praise your name forever.

³Great is the LORD and worthy of high praise; God's grandeur is beyond understanding.

⁴One generation praises your deeds to the next and proclaims your mighty works.

⁵They speak of the splendor of your majestic glory, tell of your wonderful deeds.

⁶They speak of your fearsome power and attest to your great deeds.

⁷They publish the renown of your abounding goodness and joyfully sing of your justice.

⁸The LORD is gracious and merciful, slow to anger and abounding in love.

⁹The LORD is good to all, compassionate to every creature.

¹⁰All your works give you thanks, O LORD and your faithful bless you.

¹¹They speak of the glory of your reign and tell of your great works,

¹²Making known to all your power, the glorious splendor of your rule.

¹³Your reign is a reign for all ages, your dominion for all generations. The LORD is trustworthy in every word, and faithful in every work.

¹⁴The LORD supports all who are falling and raises up all who are bowed down.

¹⁵The eyes of all look hopefully to you; you give them their food in due season.

¹⁶You open wide your hand and satisfy the desire of every living thing.

¹⁷You, LORD, are just in all your ways, faithful in all your works.

¹⁸You, LORD, are near to all who call upon you, to all who call upon you in truth.

¹⁹You satisfy the desire of those who fear you; you hear their cry and save them.

²⁰You, LORD, watch over all who love you, but all the wicked you destroy.

²¹My mouth will speak your praises, LORD; all flesh will bless your holy name forever.

PSALM 146

¹Hallelujah!

²Praise the LORD, my soul; I shall praise the LORD all my life, sing praise to my God while I live.

³I Put no trust in princes, in mere mortals powerless to save.

⁴When they breathe their last, they return to the earth; that day all their planning comes to nothing.

⁵Happy those whose help is Jacob's God, whose hope is in the LORD, their God,

⁶The maker of heaven and earth, the seas and all that is in them, Who keeps faith forever,

⁷secures justice for the oppressed, gives food to the hungry. The LORD sets prisoners free;

⁸the LORD gives sight to the blind. The LORD raises up those who are bowed down; the LORD loves the righteous.

⁹The LORD protects the stranger, sustains the orphan and the widow, but thwarts the way of the wicked.

¹⁰The LORD shall reign forever, your God, Zion, through all generations! Hallelujah!

PSALM 147

¹Hallelujah! How good to celebrate our God in song; how sweet to give fitting praise.

²The LORD rebuilds Jerusalem, gathers the dispersed of Israel,

³Heals the brokenhearted, binds up their wounds,

⁴Numbers all the stars, calls each of them by name.

⁵Great is our Lord, vast in power, with wisdom beyond measure.

⁶The LORD sustains the poor, but casts the wicked to the ground.

⁷Sing to the LORD with thanksgiving; with the lyre celebrate our God,

⁸Who covers the heavens with clouds, provides rain for the earth, makes grass sprout on the mountains,

⁹Who gives animals their food and ravens what they cry for.

¹⁰God takes no delight in the strength of horses, no pleasure in the runner's stride.

¹¹Rather the LORD takes pleasure in the devout, those who await his faithful care.

¹²Glorify the LORD, Jerusalem; Zion, offer praise to your God,

¹³Who has strengthened the bars of your gates, blessed your children within you,

¹⁴Brought peace to your borders, and filled you with finest wheat.

¹⁵The LORD sends a command to earth; his word runs swiftly!

¹⁶Thus snow is spread like wool, frost is scattered like ash,

¹⁷Hail is dispersed like crumbs; before such cold the waters freeze.

¹⁸Again he sends his word and they melt; the wind is unleashed and the waters flow.

¹⁹The LORD also proclaims his word to Jacob, decrees and laws to Israel.

²⁰God has not done this for other nations; of such laws they know nothing. Hallelujah!

PSALM 148

¹Hallelujah! Praise the LORD from the heavens; give praise in the heights.

²Praise him, all you angels; give praise, all you hosts.

³Praise him, sun and moon; give praise, all shining stars.

⁴Praise him, highest heavens, you waters above the heavens.

⁵Let them all praise the LORD'S name; for the LORD commanded and they were created, ⁶Assigned them duties forever, gave them tasks that will never change.

⁷Praise the LORD from the earth, you sea monsters and all deep waters;

⁸You lightning and hail, snow and clouds, storm winds that fulfill his command;

⁹You mountains and all hills, fruit trees and all cedars;

¹⁰You animals wild and tame, you creatures that crawl and fly;

¹¹You kings of the earth and all peoples, princes and all who govern on earth;

¹²Young men and women too, old and young alike.

¹³Let them all praise the LORD'S name, for his name alone is exalted, majestic above earth and heaven.

¹⁴The LORD has lifted high the horn of his people; to the glory of all the faithful, of Israel, the people near to their God. Hallelujah!

PSALM 149

¹Hallelujah! Sing to the LORD a new song, a hymn in the assembly of the faithful.

²Let Israel be glad in their maker, the people of Zion rejoice in their king.

³Let them praise his name in festive dance, make music with tambourine and lyre.

⁴For the LORD takes delight in his people, honors the poor with victory.

⁵Let the faithful rejoice in their glory, cry out for joy at their banquet,

⁶With the praise of God in their mouths, and a two-edged sword in their hands,

⁷To bring retribution on the nations, punishment on the peoples,

⁸To bind their kings with chains, shackle their nobles with irons,

⁹To execute the judgments decreed for them-- such is the glory of all God's faithful. Hallelujah!

PSALM 150

¹Hallelujah! Praise God in his holy sanctuary; give praise in the mighty dome of heaven.

²Give praise for his mighty deeds, praise him for his great majesty.

³Give praise with blasts upon the horn, praise him with harp and lyre.

⁴Give praise with tambourines and dance, praise him with flutes and strings.

⁵Give praise with crashing cymbals, praise him with sounding cymbals.

⁶Let everything that has breath give praise to the LORD! Hallelujah!

Proverbs

1 The Proverbs of Solomon, the son of David, king of Israel:

²That men may appreciate wisdom and discipline, may understand words of intelligence;

³May receive training in wise conduct, in what is right, just and honest;

⁴That resourcefulness may be imparted to the simple, to the young man knowledge and discretion.

⁵A wise man by hearing them will advance in learning, an intelligent man will gain sound guidance, ⁶That he may comprehend proverb and parable, the words of the wise and their riddles.

⁷The fear of the LORD is the beginning of knowledge; wisdom and instruction fools despise.

⁸Hear, my son, your father's instruction, and reject not your mother's teaching;

⁹A graceful diadem will they be for your head; a torque for your neck.

¹⁰My son, should sinners entice you,

¹¹and say, "Come along with us! Let us lie in wait for the honest man, let us, unprovoked, set a trap for the innocent;

¹²Let us swallow them up, as the nether world does, alive, in the prime of life, like those who go down to the pit!

¹³All kinds of precious wealth shall we gain, we shall fill our houses with booty;

¹⁴Cast in your lot with us, we shall all have one purse!"--

¹⁵My son, walk not in the way with them, hold back your foot from their path!

¹⁶(For their feet run to evil, they hasten to shed blood.)

¹⁷It is in vain that a net is spread before the eyes of any bird--

¹⁸These men lie in wait for their own blood, they set a trap for their own lives.

¹⁹This is the fate of everyone greedy of loot: unlawful gain takes away the life of him who acquires it.

²⁰Wisdom cries aloud in the street, in the open squares she raises her voice;

²¹Down the crowded ways she calls out, at the city gates she utters her words:

²²"How long, you simple ones, will you love inanity,

²³how long will you turn away at my reproof? Lo! I will pour out to you my spirit, I will acquaint you with my words.

²⁴"Because I called and you refused, I extended my hand and no one took notice;

²⁵Because you disdained all my counsel, and my reproof you ignored--

²⁶I, in my turn, will laugh at your doom; I will mock when terror overtakes you;

²⁷When terror comes upon you like a storm, and your doom approaches like a whirlwind; when distress and anguish befall you.

²⁸"Then they call me, but I answer not; they seek me, but find me not;

²⁹Because they hated knowledge, and chose not the fear of the LORD;

³⁰They ignored my counsel, they spurned all my reproof; And in their arrogance they preferred arrogance, and like fools they hated knowledge:

³¹"Now they must eat the fruit of their own way, and with their own devices be glutted.

³²For the self-will of the simple kills them, the smugness of fools destroys them.

³³But he who obeys me dwells in security, in peace, without fear of harm."

2 My son, if you receive my words and treasure my commands,

² Turning your ear to wisdom, inclining your heart to understanding;

³ Yes, if you call to intelligence, and to understanding raise your voice;

⁴ If you seek her like silver, and like hidden treasures search her out:

⁵ Then will you understand the fear of the LORD; the knowledge of God you will find;

⁶ For the LORD gives wisdom, from his mouth come knowledge and understanding;

⁷ He has counsel in store for the upright, he is the shield of those who walk honestly,

⁸ Guarding the paths of justice, protecting the way of his pious ones.

⁹ Then you will understand rectitude and justice, honesty, every good path;

¹⁰ For wisdom will enter your heart, knowledge will please your soul,

¹¹ Discretion will watch over you, understanding will guard you;

¹² Saving you from the way of evil men, from men of perverse speech,

¹³ Who leave the straight paths to walk in the way of darkness,

¹⁴ Who delight in doing evil, rejoice in perversity;

¹⁵ Whose ways are crooked, and devious their paths;

¹⁶ Saving you from the wife of another, from the adulteress with her smooth words,

¹⁷ Who forsakes the companion of her youth and forgets the pact with her God;

¹⁸ For her path sinks down to death, and her footsteps lead to the shades;

¹⁹ None who enter thereon come back again, or gain the paths of life.

²⁰ Thus you may walk in the way of good men, and keep to the paths of the just.

²¹For the upright will dwell in the land, the honest will remain in it;

²²But the wicked will be cut off from the land, the faithless will be rooted out of it.

3My son, forget not my teaching, keep in mind my commands;

²For many days, and years of life, and peace, will they bring you.

³Let not kindness and fidelity leave you; bind them around your neck;

⁴Then will you win favor and good esteem before God and man.

⁵Trust in the LORD with all your heart, on your own intelligence rely not;

⁶In all your ways be mindful of him, and he will make straight your paths.

⁷Be not wise in your own eyes, fear the LORD and turn away from evil;

⁸This will mean health for your flesh and vigor for your bones.

⁹Honor the LORD with your wealth, with first fruits of all your produce;

¹⁰Then will your barns be filled with grain, with new wine your vats will overflow.

¹¹The discipline of the LORD, my son, disdain not; spurn not his reproof;

¹²For whom the LORD loves he reproves, and he chastises the son he favors.

¹³Happy the man who finds wisdom, the man who gains understanding!

¹⁴For her profit is better than profit in silver, and better than gold is her revenue;

¹⁵She is more precious than corals, and none of your choice possessions can compare with her.

¹⁷Her ways are pleasant ways, and all her paths are peace;

¹⁸She is a tree of life to those who grasp her, and he is happy who holds her fast.

¹⁹The LORD by wisdom founded the earth, established the heavens by understanding;

²⁰By his knowledge the depths break open, and the clouds drop down dew.

²¹My son, let not these slip out of your sight: keep advice and counsel in view;

²²So will they be life to your soul, and an adornment for your neck.

²³Then you may securely go your way; your foot will never stumble;

²⁴When you lie down, you need not be afraid, when you rest, your sleep will be sweet.

²⁵Be not afraid of sudden terror, of the ruin of the wicked when it comes;

²⁶For the LORD will be your confidence, and will keep your foot from the snare.

²⁷Refuse no one the good on which he has a claim when it is in your power to do it for him.

²⁸Say not to your neighbor, "Go, and come again, tomorrow I will give," when you can give at once.

²⁹Plot no evil against your neighbor, against him who lives at peace with you.

³⁰Quarrel not with a man without cause, with one who has done you no harm.

³¹Envy not the lawless man and choose none of his ways:

³²To the LORD the perverse man is an abomination, but with the upright is his friendship.

³³The curse of the LORD is on the house of the wicked, but the dwelling of the just he blesses;

³⁴When he is dealing with the arrogant, he is stern, but to the humble he shows kindness.

³⁵Honor is the possession of wise men, but fools inherit shame.

4Hear, O children, a father's instruction, be attentive, that you may gain understanding!

²Yes, excellent advice I give you; my teaching do not forsake.

³When I was my father's child, frail, yet the darling of my mother,

⁴He taught me, and said to me: "Let your heart hold fast my words: keep my commands, that you may live!

⁵"Get wisdom, get understanding! Do not forget or turn aside from the words I utter.

⁶Forsake her not, and she will preserve you; love her, and she will safeguard you;

⁷The beginning of wisdom is: get wisdom; at the cost of all you have, get understanding.

⁸Extol her, and she will exalt you; she will bring you honors if you embrace her;

⁹She will put on your head a graceful diadem; a glorious crown will she bestow on you."

¹⁰Hear, my son, and receive my words, and the years of your life shall be many.

¹¹On the way of wisdom I direct you, I lead you on straightforward paths.

¹²When you walk, your step will not be impeded, and should you run, you will not stumble.

¹³Hold fast to instruction, never let her go; keep her, for she is your life.

¹⁴The path of the wicked enter not, walk not on the way of evil men;

¹⁵Shun it, cross it not, turn aside from it, and pass on.

¹⁶For they cannot rest unless they have done evil; to have made no one stumble steals away their sleep.

¹⁷For they eat the bread of wickedness and drink the wine of violence.

¹⁸But the path of the just is like shining light, that grows in brilliance till perfect day.

¹⁹The way of the wicked is like darkness; they know not on what they stumble.

²⁰My son, to my words be attentive, to my sayings incline your ear;

²¹Let them not slip out of your sight, keep them within your heart;

²²For they are life to those who find them, to man's whole being they are health.

²³With closest custody, guard your heart, for in it are the sources of life.

²⁴Put away from you dishonest talk, deceitful speech put far from you.

²⁵Let your eyes look straight ahead and your glance be directly forward.

²⁶Survey the path for your feet, and let all your ways be sure.

5 My son, to my wisdom be attentive, to my knowledge incline your ear,

²That discretion may watch over you, and understanding may guard you.

³The lips of an adulteress drip with honey, and her mouth is smoother than oil;

⁴But in the end she is as bitter as wormwood, as sharp as a two-edged sword.

⁵Her feet go down to death, to the nether world her steps attain;

⁶Lest you see before you the road to life, her paths will ramble, you know not where.

⁷So now, O children, listen to me, go not astray from the words of my mouth.

⁸Keep your way far from her, approach not the door of her house,

⁹Lest you give your honor to others, and your years to a merciless one;

¹⁰Lest strangers have their fill of your wealth, your hard-won earnings go to an alien's house;

¹¹And you groan in the end, when your flesh and your body are consumed;

¹²And you say, "Oh, why did I hate instruction, and my heart spurn reproof!

¹³Why did I not listen to the voice of my teachers, nor to my instructors incline my ear!

¹⁴I have all but come to utter ruin, condemned by the public assembly!"

¹⁵Drink water from your own cistern, running water from your own well.

¹⁶How may your water sources be dispersed abroad, streams of water in the streets?

¹⁷Let your fountain be yours alone, not one shared with strangers;

¹⁸And have joy of the wife of your youth,

¹⁹your lovely hind, your graceful doe. Her love will invigorate you always, through her love you will flourish continually,

²⁰Why then, my son, should you go astray for another's wife and accept the embraces of an adulteress?

²¹For each man's ways are plain to the LORD'S sight; all their paths he surveys;

²²By his own iniquities the wicked man will be caught, in the meshes of his own sin he will be held fast;

²³He will die from lack of discipline, through the greatness of his folly he will be lost.

6 My son, if you have become surety to your neighbor, given your hand in pledge to another,

²You have been snared by the utterance of your lips, caught by the words of your mouth;

³So do this, my son, to free yourself, since you have fallen into your neighbor's power: Go, hurry, stir up your neighbor!

- ⁴Give no sleep to your eyes, nor slumber to your eyelids;
- ⁵Free yourself as a gazelle from the snare, or as a bird from the hand of the fowler.
- ⁶Go to the ant, O sluggard, study her ways and learn wisdom;
- ⁷For though she has no chief, no commander or ruler,
- ⁸She procures her food in the summer, stores up her provisions in the harvest.
- ⁹How long, O sluggard, will you rest? when will you rise from your sleep?
- ¹⁰A little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the arms to rest--
- ¹¹Then will poverty come upon you like a highway man, and want like an armed man.
- ¹²A scoundrel, a villain, is he who deals in crooked talk.
- ¹³He winks his eyes, shuffles his feet, makes signs with his fingers;
- ¹⁴He has perversity in his heart, is always plotting evil, sows discord.
- ¹⁵Therefore suddenly ruin comes upon him; in an instant he is crushed beyond cure.
- ¹⁶There are six things the LORD hates, yes, seven are an abomination to him;
- ¹⁷Haughty eyes, a lying tongue, and hands that shed innocent blood;
- ¹⁸A heart that plots wicked schemes, feet that run swiftly to evil,
- ¹⁹The false witness who utters lies, and he who sows discord among brothers.
- ²⁰Observe, my son, your father's bidding, and reject not your mother's teaching;
- ²¹Keep them fastened over your heart always, put them around your neck;
- ²²When you lie down she will watch over you, and when you wake, she will share your concerns; wherever you turn, she will guide you.
- ²³For the bidding is a lamp, and the teaching a light, and a way to life are the reproofs of discipline;

- ²⁴To keep you from your neighbor's wife, from the smooth tongue of the adulteress.
- ²⁵Lust not in your heart after her beauty, let her not captivate you with her glance!
- ²⁶For the price of a loose woman may be scarcely a loaf of bread, But if she is married, she is a trap for your precious life.
- ²⁷Can a man take fire to his bosom, and his garments not burned?
- ²⁸Or can a man walk on live coals, and his feet not be scorched?
- ²⁹So with him who goes in to his neighbor's wife-- none who touches her shall go unpunished.
- ³⁰Men despise not the thief if he steals to satisfy his appetite when he is hungry;
- ³¹Yet if he be caught he must pay back sevenfold; all the wealth of his house he may yield up.
- ³²But he who commits adultery is a fool; he who would destroy himself does it.
- ³³A degrading beating will he get, and his disgrace will not be wiped away;
- ³⁴For vindictive is the husband's wrath, he will have no pity on the day of vengeance;
- ³⁵He will not consider any restitution, nor be satisfied with the greatest gifts.

7 My son, keep my words, and treasure my commands.

- ²Keep my commands and live, my teaching as the apple of your eye;
- ³Bind them on your fingers, write them on the tablet of your heart.
- ⁴Say to Wisdom, "You are my sister!" call Understanding, "Friend!"
- ⁵That they may keep you from another's wife, from the adulteress with her smooth words.
- ⁶For at the window of my house, through my lattice I looked out--

⁷And I saw among the simple ones, I observed among the young men, a youth with no sense,

⁸Going along the street near the corner, then walking in the direction of her house--

⁹In the twilight, at dusk of day, at the time of the dark of night.

¹⁰And lo! the woman comes to meet him, robed like a harlot, with secret designs--

¹¹She is fickle and unruly, in her home her feet cannot rest;

¹²Now she is in the streets, now in the open squares, and at every corner she lurks in ambush--

¹³When she seizes him, she kisses him, and with an impudent look says to him:

¹⁴"I owed peace offerings, and today I have fulfilled my vows;

¹⁵So I came out to meet you, to look for you, and I have found you!

¹⁶With coverlets I have spread my couch, with brocaded cloths of Egyptian linen;

¹⁷I have sprinkled my bed with myrrh, with aloes, and with cinnamon.

¹⁸"Come, let us drink our fill of love, until morning, let us feast on love!

¹⁹For my husband is not at home, he has gone on a long journey;

²⁰A bag of money he took with him, not till the full moon will he return home."

²¹She wins him over by her repeated urging, with her smooth lips she leads him astray;

²²He follows her stupidly, like an ox that is led to slaughter; Like a stag that minces toward the net,

²³till an arrow pierces its liver; Like a bird that rushes into a snare, unaware that its life is at stake.

²⁴So now, O children, listen to me, be attentive to the words of my mouth!

²⁵Let not your heart turn to her ways, go not astray in her paths;

²⁶For many are those she has struck down dead, numerous, those she has slain.

²⁷Her house is made up of ways to the nether world, leading down into the chambers of death.

8 Does not Wisdom call, and Understanding raise her voice?

²On the top of the heights along the road, at the crossroads she takes her stand;

³By the gates at the approaches of the city, in the entryways she cries aloud:

⁴"To you, O men, I call; my appeal is to the children of men.

⁵You simple ones, gain resource, you fools, gain sense.

⁶"Give heed! for noble things I speak; honesty opens my lips.

⁷Yes, the truth my mouth recounts, but the wickedness my lips abhor.

⁸Sincere are all the words of my mouth, no one of them is wily or crooked;

⁹All of them are plain to the man of intelligence, and right to those who attain knowledge.

¹⁰Receive my instruction in preference to silver, and knowledge rather than choice gold.

¹¹(For Wisdom is better than corals, and no choice possessions can compare with her.)

¹²"I, Wisdom, dwell with experience, and judicious knowledge I attain.

¹³(The fear of the LORD is to hate evil;) Pride, arrogance, the evil way, and the perverse mouth I hate.

¹⁴Mine are counsel and advice; Mine is strength; I am understanding.

¹⁵By me kings reign, and lawgivers establish justice;

¹⁶By me princes govern, and nobles; all the rulers of earth.

¹⁷"Those who love me I also love, and those who seek me find me.

¹⁸With me are riches and honor, enduring wealth and prosperity.

¹⁹My fruit is better than gold, yes, than pure gold, and my revenue than choice silver.

²⁰On the way of duty I walk, along the paths of justice,

²¹Granting wealth to those who love me, and filling their treasuries.

²²"The LORD begot me, the first-born of his ways, the forerunner of his prodigies of long ago;

²³From of old I was poured forth, at the first, before the earth.

²⁴When there were no depths I was brought forth, when there were no fountains or springs of water;

²⁵Before the mountains were settled into place, before the hills, I was brought forth;

²⁶While as yet the earth and the fields were not made, nor the first clods of the world.

²⁷"When he established the heavens I was there, when he marked out the vault over the face of the deep;

²⁸When he made firm the skies above, when he fixed fast the foundations of the earth;

²⁹When he set for the sea its limit, so that the waters should not transgress his command;

³⁰Then was I beside him as his craftsman, and I was his delight day by day, Playing before him all the while,

³¹playing on the surface of his earth; and I found delight in the sons of men.

³²"So now, O children, listen to me;

³³Instruction and wisdom do not reject! Happy the man who obeys me, and happy those who keep my ways,

³⁴Happy the man watching daily at my gates, waiting at my doorposts;

³⁵For he who finds me finds life, and wins favor from the LORD;

³⁶But he who misses me harms himself; all who hate me love death."

9 Wisdom has built her house, she has set up her seven columns;

²She has dressed her meat, mixed her wine, yes, she has spread her table.

³She has sent out her maidens; she calls from the heights out over the city:

⁴"Let whoever is simple turn in here; to him who lacks understanding, I say,

⁵Come, eat of my food, and drink of the wine I have mixed!

⁶Forsake foolishness that you may live; advance in the way of understanding.

⁷He who corrects an arrogant man earns insult; and he who reproves a wicked man incurs opprobrium.

⁸Reprove not an arrogant man, lest he hate you; reprove a wise man, and he will love you.

⁹Instruct a wise man, and he becomes still wiser; teach a just man, and he advances in learning.

¹⁰The beginning of wisdom is the fear of the LORD, and knowledge of the Holy One is understanding.

¹¹For by me your days will be multiplied and the years of your life increased."

¹²If you are wise, it is to your own advantage; and if you are arrogant, you alone shall bear it.

¹³The woman Folly is fickle, she is inane, and knows nothing.

¹⁴She sits at the door of her house upon a seat on the city heights,

¹⁵Calling to passers-by as they go on their straight way:

¹⁶"Let whoever is simple turn in here, or who lacks understanding; for to him I say, ¹⁷Stolen water is sweet, and bread gotten secretly is pleasing!"

¹⁸Little he knows that the shades are there, that in the depths of the nether world are her guests!

10 The Proverbs of Solomon: A wise son makes his father glad, but a foolish son is a grief to his mother.

²Ill-gotten treasures profit nothing, but virtue saves from death.

³The LORD permits not the just to hunger, but the craving of the wicked he thwarts.

⁴The slack hand impoverishes, but the hand of the diligent enriches.

⁵A son who fills the granaries in summer is a credit; a son who slumbers during harvest, a disgrace.

⁶Blessings are for the head of the just, but a rod for the back of the fool.

⁷The memory of the just will be blessed, but the name of the wicked will rot.

⁸A wise man heeds commands, but a prating fool will be overthrown.

⁹He who walks honestly walks securely, but he whose ways are crooked will fare badly.

¹⁰He who winks at a fault causes trouble, but he who frankly reproves promotes peace.

¹¹A fountain of life is the mouth of the just, but the mouth of the wicked conceals violence.

¹²Hatred stirs up disputes, but love covers all offenses.

- ¹³On the lips of the intelligent is found wisdom, (but the mouth of the wicked conceals violence).
- ¹⁴Wise men store up knowledge, but the mouth of a fool is imminent ruin.
- ¹⁵The rich man's wealth is his strong city; the ruination of the lowly is their poverty.
- ¹⁶The just man's recompense leads to life, the gains of the wicked, to sin.
- ¹⁷A path to life is his who heeds admonition, but he who disregards reproof goes astray.
- ¹⁸It is the lips of the liar that conceal hostility; but he who spreads accusations is a fool.
- ¹⁹Where words are many, sin is not wanting; but he who restrains his lips does well.
- ²⁰Like choice silver is the just man's tongue; the heart of the wicked is of little worth.
- ²¹The just man's lips nourish many, but fools die for want of sense.
- ²²It is the LORD'S blessing that brings wealth, and no effort can substitute for it.
- ²³Crime is the entertainment of the fool; so is wisdom for the man of sense.
- ²⁴What the wicked man fears will befall him, but the desire of the just will be granted.
- ²⁵When the tempest passes, the wicked man is no more; but the just man is established forever.
- ²⁶As vinegar to the teeth, and smoke to the eyes, is the sluggard to those who use him as a messenger.
- ²⁷The fear of the LORD prolongs life, but the years of the wicked are brief.
- ²⁸The hope of the just brings them joy, but the expectation of the wicked comes to nought.
- ²⁹The LORD is a stronghold to him who walks honestly, but to evildoers, their downfall.

³⁰The just man will never be disturbed, but the wicked will not abide in the land.

³¹The mouth of the just yields wisdom, but the perverse tongue will be cut off.

³²The lips of the just know how to please, but the mouth of the wicked, how to pervert.

11 False scales are an abomination to the LORD, but a full weight is his delight.

²When pride comes, disgrace comes; but with the humble is wisdom.

³The honesty of the upright guides them; the faithless are ruined by their duplicity.

⁴Wealth is useless on the day of wrath, but virtue saves from death.

⁵The honest man's virtue makes his way straight, but by his wickedness the wicked man falls.

⁶The virtue of the upright saves them, but the faithless are caught in their own intrigue.

⁷When a wicked man dies his hope perishes, and what is expected from strength comes to nought.

⁸The just man escapes trouble, and the wicked man falls into it in his stead.

⁹With his mouth the impious man would ruin his neighbor, but through their knowledge the just make their escape.

¹⁰When the just prosper, the city rejoices; and when the wicked perish, there is jubilation.

¹¹Through the blessing of the righteous the city is exalted, but through the mouth of the wicked it is overthrown.

¹²He who reviles his neighbor has no sense, but the intelligent man keeps silent.

¹³A news monger reveals secrets, but a trustworthy man keeps a confidence.

¹⁴For lack of guidance a people falls; security lies in many counselors.

- ¹⁵He is in a bad way who becomes surety for another, but he who hates giving pledges is safe.
- ¹⁶A gracious woman wins esteem, but she who hates virtue is covered with shame. (The slothful become impoverished, but the diligent gain wealth.)
- ¹⁷A kindly man benefits himself, but a merciless man harms himself.
- ¹⁸The wicked man makes empty profits, but he who sows virtue has a sure reward.
- ¹⁹Virtue directs toward life, but he who pursues evil does so to his death.
- ²⁰The depraved in heart are an abomination to the LORD, but those who walk blamelessly are his delight.
- ²¹Truly the evil man shall not go unpunished, but those who are just shall escape.
- ²²Like a golden ring in a swine's snout is a beautiful woman with a rebellious disposition.
- ²³The desire of the just ends only in good; the expectation of the wicked is wrath.
- ²⁴One man is lavish yet grows still richer; another is too sparing, yet is the poorer.
- ²⁵He who confers benefits will be amply enriched, and he who refreshes others will himself be refreshed.
- ²⁶Him who monopolizes grain, the people curse-- but blessings upon the head of him who distributes it!
- ²⁷He who seeks the good commands favor, but he who pursues evil will have evil befall him.
- ²⁸He who trusts in his riches will fall, but like green leaves the just flourish.
- ²⁹He who upsets his household has empty air for a heritage; and the fool will become slave to the wise man.
- ³⁰The fruit of virtue is a tree of life, but violence takes lives away.
- ³¹If the just man is punished on earth, how much more the wicked and the sinner!

12 He who loves correction loves knowledge, but he who hates reproof is stupid.

²The good man wins favor from the LORD, but the schemer is condemned by him.

³No man is built up by wickedness, but the root of the just will never be disturbed.

⁴A worthy wife is the crown of her husband, but a disgraceful one is like rot in his bones.

⁵The plans of the just are legitimate; the designs of the wicked are deceitful.

⁶The words of the wicked are a deadly ambush, but the speech of the upright saves them.

⁷The wicked are overthrown and are no more, but the house of the just stands firm.

⁸According to his good sense a man is praised, but one with a warped mind is despised.

⁹Better a lowly man who supports himself than one of assumed importance who lacks bread.

¹⁰The just man takes care of his beast, but the heart of the wicked is merciless.

¹¹He who tills his own land has food in plenty, but he who follows idle pursuits is a fool.

¹²The stronghold of evil men will be demolished, but the root of the just is enduring.

¹³In the sin of his lips the evil man is ensnared, but the just comes free of trouble.

¹⁴From the fruit of his words a man has his fill of good things, and the work of his hands comes back to reward him.

¹⁵The way of the fool seems right in his own eyes, but he who listens to advice is wise.

¹⁶The fool immediately shows his anger, but the shrewd man passes over an insult.

¹⁷He tells the truth who states what he is sure of, but a lying witness speaks deceitfully.

¹⁸The prating of some men is like sword thrusts, but the tongue of the wise is healing.

¹⁹Truthful lips endure forever, the lying tongue, for only a moment.

²⁰Deceit is in the hands of those who plot evil, but those who counsel peace have joy.

²¹No harm befalls the just, but the wicked are overwhelmed with misfortune.

²²Lying lips are an abomination to the LORD, but those who are truthful are his delight.

²³A shrewd man conceals his knowledge, but the hearts of fools gush forth folly.

²⁴The diligent hand will govern, but the slothful will be enslaved.

²⁵Anxiety in a man's heart depresses it, but a kindly word makes it glad.

²⁶The just man surpasses his neighbor, but the way of the wicked leads them astray.

²⁷The slothful man catches not his prey, but the wealth of the diligent man is great.

²⁸In the path of justice there is life, but the abominable way leads to death.

13 A wise son loves correction, but the senseless one heeds no rebuke.

²From the fruit of his words a man eats good things, but the treacherous one craves violence.

³He who guards his mouth protects his life; to open wide one's lips brings downfall.

⁴The soul of the sluggard craves in vain, but the diligent soul is amply satisfied.

⁵Anything deceitful the just man hates, but the wicked brings shame and disgrace.

⁶Virtue guards one who walks honestly, but the downfall of the wicked is sin.

- ⁷One man pretends to be rich, yet has nothing; another pretends to be poor, yet has great wealth.
- ⁸A man's riches serve as ransom for his life, but the poor man heeds no rebuke.
- ⁹The light of the just shines gaily, but the lamp of the wicked goes out.
- ¹⁰The stupid man sows discord by his insolence, but with those who take counsel is wisdom.
- ¹¹Wealth quickly gotten dwindles away, but amassed little by little, it grows.
- ¹²Hope deferred makes the heart sick, but a wish fulfilled is a tree of life.
- ¹³He who despises the word must pay for it, but he who reveres the commandment will be rewarded.
- ¹⁴The teaching of the wise is a fountain of life, that a man may avoid the snares of death.
- ¹⁵Good sense brings favor, but the way of the faithless is their ruin.
- ¹⁶The shrewd man does everything with prudence, but the fool peddles folly.
- ¹⁷A wicked messenger brings on disaster, but a trustworthy envoy is a healing remedy.
- ¹⁸Poverty and shame befall the man who disregards correction, but he who heeds reproof is honored.
- ¹⁹Lust indulged starves the soul, but fools hate to turn from evil.
- ²⁰Walk with wise men and you will become wise, but the companion of fools will fare badly.
- ²¹Misfortune pursues sinners, but the just shall be recompensed with good.
- ²²The good man leaves an inheritance to his children's children, but the wealth of the sinner is stored up for the just.
- ²³A lawsuit devours the tillage of the poor, but some men perish for lack of a law court.

²⁴He who spares his rod hates his son, but he who loves him takes care to chastise him.

²⁵When the just man eats, his hunger is appeased; but the belly of the wicked suffers want.

14 Wisdom builds her house, but Folly tears hers down with her own hands.

²He who walks uprightly fears the LORD, but he who is devious in his ways spurns him.

³In the mouth of the fool is a rod for his back, but the lips of the wise preserve them.

⁴Where there are no oxen, the crib remains empty; but large crops come through the strength of the bull.

⁵A truthful witness does not lie, but a false witness utters lies.

⁶The senseless man seeks in vain for wisdom, but knowledge is easy to the man of intelligence.

⁷To avoid the foolish man, take steps! But knowing lips one meets with by surprise.

⁸The shrewd man's wisdom gives him knowledge of his way, but the folly of fools is their deception.

⁹Guilt lodges in the tents of the arrogant, but favor in the house of the just.

¹⁰The heart knows its own bitterness, and in its joy no one else shares.

¹¹The house of the wicked will be destroyed, but the tent of the upright will flourish.

¹²Sometimes a way seems right to a man, but the end of it leads to death!

¹³Even in laughter the heart may be sad, and the end of joy may be sorrow.

¹⁴The scoundrel suffers the consequences of his ways, and the good man reaps the fruit of his paths.

¹⁵The simpleton believes everything, but the shrewd man measures his steps.

- ¹⁶The wise man is cautious and shuns evil; the fool is reckless and sure of himself.
- ¹⁷The quick-tempered man makes a fool of himself, but the prudent man is at peace.
- ¹⁸The adornment of simpletons is folly, but shrewd men gain the crown of knowledge.
- ¹⁹Evil men must bow down before the good, and the wicked, at the gates of the just.
- ²⁰Even by his neighbor the poor man is hated, but the friends of the rich are many.
- ²¹He sins who despises the hungry; but happy is he who is kind to the poor!
- ²²Do not those who plot evil go astray? But those intent on good gain kindness and constancy.
- ²³In all labor there is profit, but mere talk tends only to penury.
- ²⁴The crown of the wise is resourcefulness; the diadem of fools is folly.
- ²⁵The truthful witness saves lives, but he who utters lies is a betrayer.
- ²⁶In the fear of the LORD is a strong defense; even for one's children he will be a refuge.
- ²⁷The fear of the LORD is a fountain of life, that a man may avoid the snares of death.
- ²⁸In many subjects lies the glory of the king; but if his people are few, it is the prince's ruin.
- ²⁹The patient man shows much good sense, but the quick-tempered man displays folly at its height.
- ³⁰A tranquil mind gives life to the body, but jealousy rots the bones.
- ³¹He who oppresses the poor blasphemes his Maker, but he who is kind to the needy glorifies him.
- ³²The wicked man is overthrown by his wickedness, but the just man finds a refuge in his honesty.
- ³³In the heart of the intelligent wisdom abides, but in the bosom of fools it is unknown.

³⁴Virtue exalts a nation, but sin is a people's disgrace.

³⁵The king favors the intelligent servant, but the worthless one incurs his wrath.

15 A mild answer calms wrath, but a harsh word stirs up anger.

²The tongue of the wise pours out knowledge, but the mouth of fools spurts forth folly.

³The eyes of the LORD are in every place, keeping watch on the evil and the good.

⁴A soothing tongue is a tree of life, but a perverse one crushes the spirit.

⁵The fool spurns his father's admonition, but prudent is he who heeds reproof.

⁶In the house of the just there are ample resources, but the earnings of the wicked are in turmoil.

⁷The lips of the wise disseminate knowledge, but the heart of fools is perverted.

⁸The sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination to the LORD, but the prayer of the upright is his delight.

⁹The way of the wicked is an abomination to the LORD, but he loves the man who pursues virtue.

¹⁰Severe punishment is in store for the man who goes astray; he who hates reproof will die.

¹¹The nether world and the abyss lie open before the LORD; how much more the hearts of men!

¹²The senseless man loves not to be reproved; to wise men he will not go.

¹³A glad heart lights up the face, but by mental anguish the spirit is broken.

¹⁴The mind of the intelligent man seeks knowledge, but the mouth of fools feeds on folly.

¹⁵Every day is miserable for the depressed, but a lighthearted man has a continual feast.

¹⁶Better a little with fear of the LORD than a great fortune with anxiety.

¹⁷Better a dish of herbs where love is than a fatted ox and hatred with it.

¹⁸An ill-tempered man stirs up strife, but a patient man allays discord.

¹⁹The way of the sluggard is hemmed in as with thorns, but the path of the diligent is a highway.

²⁰A wise son makes his father glad, but a fool of a man despises his mother.

²¹Folly is joy to the senseless man, but the man of understanding goes the straight way.

²²Plans fail when there is no counsel, but they succeed when counselors are many.

²³There is joy for a man in his utterance; a word in season, how good it is!

²⁴The path of life leads the prudent man upward, that he may avoid the nether world below.

²⁵The LORD overturns the house of the proud, but he preserves intact the widow's landmark.

²⁶The wicked man's schemes are an abomination to the LORD, but the pure speak what is pleasing to him.

²⁷He who is greedy of gain brings ruin on his own house, but he who hates bribes will live.

²⁸The just man weighs well his utterance, but the mouth of the wicked pours out evil.

²⁹The LORD is far from the wicked, but the prayer of the just he hears.

³⁰A cheerful glance brings joy to the heart; good news invigorates the bones.

³¹He who listens to salutary reproof will abide among the wise.

³²He who rejects admonition despises his own soul, but he who heeds reproof gains understanding.

³³The fear of the LORD is training for wisdom, and humility goes before honors.

16 Man may make plans in his heart, but what the tongue utters is from the LORD.

²All the ways of a man may be pure in his own eyes, but it is the LORD who proves the spirit.

³Entrust your works to the LORD, and your plans will succeed.

⁴The LORD has made everything for his own ends, even the wicked for the evil day.

⁵Every proud man is an abomination to the LORD; I assure you that he will not go unpunished.

⁶By kindness and piety guilt is expiated, and by the fear of the LORD man avoids evil.

⁷When the LORD is pleased with a man's ways, he makes even his enemies be at peace with him.

⁸Better a little with virtue, than a large income with injustice.

⁹In his mind a man plans his course, but the LORD directs his steps.

¹⁰The king's lips are an oracle; no judgment he pronounces is false.

¹¹Balance and scales belong to the LORD; all the weights used with them are his concern.

¹²Kings have a horror of wrongdoing, for by righteousness the throne endures.

¹³The king takes delight in honest lips, and the man who speaks what is right he loves.

¹⁴The king's wrath is like messengers of death, but a wise man can pacify it.

¹⁵In the light of the king's countenance is life, and his favor is like a rain cloud in spring.

¹⁶How much better to acquire wisdom than gold! To acquire understanding is more desirable than silver.

- ¹⁷The path of the upright avoids misfortune; he who pays attention to his way safeguards his life.
- ¹⁸Pride goes before disaster, and a haughty spirit before a fall.
- ¹⁹It is better to be humble with the meek than to share plunder with the proud.
- ²⁰He who plans a thing will be successful; happy is he who trusts in the LORD!
- ²¹The wise man is esteemed for his discernment, yet pleasing speech increases his persuasiveness.
- ²²Good sense is a fountain of life to its possessor, but folly brings chastisement on fools.
- ²³The mind of the wise man makes him eloquent, and augments the persuasiveness of his lips.
- ²⁴Pleasing words are a honeycomb, sweet to the taste and healthful to the body.
- ²⁵Sometimes a way seems right to a man, but the end of it leads to death!
- ²⁶The laborer's appetite labors for him, for his mouth urges him on.
- ²⁷A scoundrel is a furnace of evil, and on his lips there is a scorching fire.
- ²⁸An intriguer sows discord, and a talebearer separates bosom friends.
- ²⁹A lawless man allures his neighbor, and leads him into a way that is not good.
- ³⁰He who winks his eye is plotting trickery; he who compresses his lips has mischief ready.
- ³¹Gray hair is a crown of glory; it is gained by virtuous living.
- ³²A patient man is better than a warrior, and he who rules his temper, than he who takes a city.
- ³³When the lot is cast into the lap, its decision depends entirely on the LORD.

17 Better a dry crust with peace than a house full of feasting with strife.

²An intelligent servant will rule over a worthless son, and will share the inheritance with the brothers.

³The crucible for silver, and the furnace for gold, but the tester of hearts is the LORD.

⁴The evil man gives heed to wicked lips, and listens to falsehood from a mischievous tongue.

⁵He who mocks the poor blasphemes his Maker; he who is glad at calamity will not go unpunished.

⁶Grandchildren are the crown of old men, and the glory of children is their parentage.

⁷Fine words are out of place in a fool; how much more, lying words in a noble!

⁸A man who has a bribe to offer rates it a magic stone; at every turn it brings him success.

⁹He who covers up a misdeed fosters friendship, but he who gossips about it separates friends.

¹⁰A single reprimand does more for a man of intelligence than a hundred lashes for a fool.

¹¹On rebellion alone is the wicked man bent, but a merciless messenger will be sent against him.

¹²Face a bear robbed of her cubs, but never a fool in his folly!

¹³If a man returns evil for good, from his house evil will not depart.

¹⁴The start of strife is like the opening of a dam; therefore, check a quarrel before it begins!

¹⁵He who condones the wicked, he who condemns the just, are both an abomination to the LORD.

¹⁶Of what use in the fool's hand are the means to buy wisdom, since he has no mind for it?

¹⁷He who is a friend is always a friend, and a brother is born for the time of stress.

¹⁸Senseless is the man who gives his hand in pledge, who becomes surety for his neighbor.

¹⁹He who loves strife loves guilt; he who builds his gate high courts disaster.

²⁰He who is perverse in heart finds no good, and a double-tongued man falls into trouble.

²¹To be a fool's parent is grief for a man; the father of a numskull has no joy.

²²A joyful heart is the health of the body, but a depressed spirit dries up the bones.

²³The wicked man accepts a concealed bribe to pervert the course of justice.

²⁴The man of intelligence fixes his gaze on wisdom, but the eyes of a fool are on the ends of the earth.

²⁵A foolish son is vexation to his father, and bitter sorrow to her who bore him.

²⁶It is wrong to fine an innocent man, but beyond reason to scourge princes.

²⁷He who spares his words is truly wise, and he who is chary of speech is a man of intelligence.

²⁸Even a fool, if he keeps silent, is considered wise; if he closes his lips, intelligent.

18In estrangement one seeks pretexts: with all persistence he picks a quarrel.

²The fool takes no delight in understanding, but rather in displaying what he thinks.

³With wickedness comes contempt, and with disgrace comes scorn.

⁴The words from a man's mouth are deep waters, but the source of wisdom is a flowing brook.

- ⁵It is not good to be partial to the guilty, and so to reject a rightful claim.
- ⁶The fool's lips lead him into strife, and his mouth provokes a beating.
- ⁷The fool's mouth is his ruin; his lips are a snare to his life.
- ⁸The words of a talebearer are like dainty morsels that sink into one's inmost being.
- ⁹The man who is slack in his work is own brother to the man who is destructive.
- ¹⁰The name of the LORD is a strong tower; the just man runs to it and is safe.
- ¹¹The rich man's wealth is his strong city; he fancies it a high wall.
- ¹²Before his downfall a man's heart is haughty, but humility goes before honors.
- ¹³He who answers before he hears-- his is the folly and the shame.
- ¹⁴A man's spirit sustains him in infirmity-- but a broken spirit who can bear?
- ¹⁵The mind of the intelligent gains knowledge, and the ear of the wise seeks knowledge.
- ¹⁶A man's gift clears the way for him, and gains him access to great men.
- ¹⁷The man who pleads his case first seems to be in the right; then his opponent comes and puts him to the test.
- ¹⁸The lot puts an end to disputes, and is decisive in a controversy between the mighty.
- ¹⁹A brother is a better defense than a strong city, and a friend is like the bars of a castle.
- ²⁰From the fruit of his mouth a man has his fill; with the yield of his lips he sates himself.
- ²¹Death and life are in the power of the tongue; those who make it a friend shall eat its fruit.
- ²²He who finds a wife finds happiness; it is a favor he receives from the LORD.

²³The poor man implores, but the rich man answers harshly.

²⁴Some friends bring ruin on us, but a true friend is more loyal than a brother.

19 Better a poor man who walks in his integrity than he who is crooked in his ways and rich.

²Without knowledge even zeal is not good; and he who acts hastily, blunders.

³A man's own folly upsets his way, but his heart is resentful against the LORD.

⁴Wealth adds many friends, but the friend of the poor man deserts him.

⁵The false witness will not go unpunished, and he who utters lies will not escape.

⁶Many curry favor with a noble; all are friends of the man who has something to give.

⁷All the poor man's brothers hate him; how much more do his friends shun him!

⁸He who gains intelligence is his own best friend; he who keeps understanding will be successful.

⁹The false witness will not go unpunished, and he who utters lies will perish.

¹⁰Luxury is not befitting a fool; much less should a slave rule over princes.

¹¹It is good sense in a man to be slow to anger, and it is his glory to overlook an offense.

¹²The king's wrath is like the roaring of a lion, but his favor, like dew on the grass.

¹³The foolish son is ruin to his father, and the nagging of a wife is a persistent leak.

¹⁴Home and possessions are an inheritance from parents, but a prudent wife is from the LORD.

¹⁵Laziness plunges a man into deep sleep, and the sluggard must go hungry.

¹⁶He who keeps the precept keeps his life, but the despiser of the word will die.

¹⁷He who has compassion on the poor lends to the LORD, and he will repay him for his good deed.

¹⁸Chastise your son, for in this there is hope; but do not desire his death.

¹⁹The man of violent temper pays the penalty; even if you rescue him, you will have it to do again.

²⁰Listen to counsel and receive instruction, that you may eventually become wise.

²¹Many are the plans in a man's heart, but it is the decision of the LORD that endures.

²²From a man's greed comes his shame; rather be a poor man than a liar.

²³The fear of the LORD is an aid to life; one eats and sleeps without being visited by misfortune.

²⁴The sluggard loses his hand in the dish; he will not even lift it to his mouth.

²⁵If you beat an arrogant man, the simple learn a lesson; if you rebuke an intelligent man, he gains knowledge.

²⁶He who mistreats his father, or drives away his mother, is a worthless and disgraceful son.

²⁷If a son ceases to hear instruction, he wanders from words of knowledge.

²⁸An unprincipled witness perverts justice, and the mouth of the wicked pours out iniquity.

²⁹Rods are prepared for the arrogant, and blows for the backs of fools.

20Wine is arrogant, strong drink is riotous; none who goes astray for it is wise.

²The dread of the king is as when a lion roars; he who incurs his anger forfeits his life.

³It is honorable for a man to shun strife, while every fool starts a quarrel.

⁴In seedtime the sluggard plows not; when he looks for the harvest, it is not there.

- ⁵The intention in the human heart is like water far below the surface, but the man of intelligence draws it forth.
- ⁶Many are declared to be men of virtue: but who can find one worthy of trust?
- ⁷When a man walks in integrity and justice, happy are his children after him!
- ⁸A king seated on the throne of judgment dispels all evil with his glance.
- ⁹Who can say, "I have made my heart clean, I am cleansed of my sin"?
- ¹⁰Varying weights, varying measures, are both an abomination to the LORD.
- ¹¹Even by his manners the child betrays whether his conduct is innocent and right.
- ¹²The ear that hears, and the eye that sees-- the LORD has made them both.
- ¹³Love not sleep, lest you be reduced to poverty; eyes wide open mean abundant food.
- ¹⁴"Bad, bad!" says the buyer; but once he has gone his way, he boasts.
- ¹⁵Like gold or a wealth of corals, wise lips are a precious ornament.
- ¹⁶Take his garment who becomes surety for another, and for strangers yield it up!
- ¹⁷The bread of deceit is sweet to a man, but afterward his mouth will be filled with gravel.
- ¹⁸Plans made after advice succeed; so with wise guidance wage your war.
- ¹⁹A newsmonger reveals secrets; so have nothing to do with a babbler!
- ²⁰If one curses his father or mother, his lamp will go out at the coming of darkness.
- ²¹Possessions gained hastily at the outset will in the end not be blessed.
- ²²Say not, "I will repay evil!" Trust in the LORD and he will help you.
- ²³Varying weights are an abomination to the LORD, and false scales are not good.

²⁴Man's steps are from the LORD; how, then, can a man understand his way?

²⁵Rashly to pledge a sacred gift is a trap for a man, or to regret a vow once made.

²⁶A wise king winnows the wicked, and threshes them under the cartwheel.

²⁷A lamp from the LORD is the breath of man; it searches through all his inmost being.

²⁸Kindness and piety safeguard the king, and he upholds his throne by justice.

²⁹The glory of young men is their strength, and the dignity of old men is gray hair.

³⁰Evil is cleansed away by bloody lashes, and a scourging to the inmost being.

21 Like a stream is the king's heart in the hand of the LORD; wherever it pleases him, he directs it.

²All the ways of a man may be right in his own eyes, but it is the LORD who proves hearts.

³To do what is right and just is more acceptable to the LORD than sacrifice.

⁴Haughty eyes and a proud heart-- the tillage of the wicked is sin.

⁵The plans of the diligent are sure of profit, but all rash haste leads certainly to poverty.

⁶He who makes a fortune by a lying tongue is chasing a bubble over deadly snares.

⁷The oppression of the wicked will sweep them away, because they refuse to do what is right.

⁸The way of the culprit is crooked, but the conduct of the innocent is right.

⁹It is better to dwell in a corner of the housetop than in a roomy house with a quarrelsome woman.

¹⁰The soul of the wicked man desires evil; his neighbor finds no pity in his eyes.

- ¹¹When the arrogant man is punished, the simple are the wiser; when the wise man is instructed, he gains knowledge.
- ¹²The just man appraises the house of the wicked: there is one who brings down the wicked to ruin.
- ¹³He who shuts his ear to the cry of the poor will himself also call and not be heard.
- ¹⁴A secret gift allays anger, and a concealed present, violent wrath.
- ¹⁵To practice justice is a joy for the just, but terror for evildoers.
- ¹⁶The man who strays from the way of good sense will abide in the assembly of the shades.
- ¹⁷He who loves pleasure will suffer want; he who loves wine and perfume will not be rich.
- ¹⁸The wicked man serves as ransom for the just, and the faithless man for the righteous.
- ¹⁹It is better to dwell in a wilderness than with a quarrelsome and vexatious wife.
- ²⁰Precious treasure remains in the house of the wise, but the fool consumes it.
- ²¹He who pursues justice and kindness will find life and honor.
- ²²The wise man storms a city of the mighty, and overthrows the stronghold in which it trusts.
- ²³He who guards his mouth and his tongue keeps himself from trouble.
- ²⁴Arrogant is the name for the man of overbearing pride who acts with scornful effrontery.
- ²⁵The sluggard's propensity slays him, for his hands refuse to work.
- ²⁶Some are consumed with avarice all the day, but the just man gives unsparingly.
- ²⁷The sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination, the more so when they offer it with a bad intention.

²⁸The false witness will perish, but he who listens will finally have his say.

²⁹The wicked man is brazenfaced, but the upright man pays heed to his ways.

³⁰There is no wisdom, no understanding, no counsel, against the LORD.

³¹The horse is equipped for the day of battle, but victory is the LORD'S.

22 A good name is more desirable than great riches, and high esteem, than gold and silver.

²Rich and poor have a common bond: the LORD is the maker of them all.

³The shrewd man perceives evil and hides, while simpletons continue on and suffer the penalty.

⁴The reward of humility and fear of the LORD is riches, honor and life.

⁵Thorns and snares are on the path of the crooked; he who would safeguard his life will shun them.

⁶Train a boy in the way he should go; even when he is old, he will not swerve from it.

⁷The rich rule over the poor, and the borrower is the slave of the lender.

⁸He who sows iniquity reaps calamity, and the rod destroys his labors.

⁹The kindly man will be blessed, for he gives of his sustenance to the poor.

¹⁰Expel the arrogant man and discord goes out; strife and insult cease.

¹¹The LORD loves the pure of heart; the man of winning speech has the king for his friend.

¹²The eyes of the LORD safeguard knowledge, but he defeats the projects of the faithless.

¹³The sluggard says, "A lion is outside; in the streets I might be slain."

- ¹⁴The mouth of the adulteress is a deep pit; he with whom the LORD is angry will fall into it.
- ¹⁵Folly is close to the heart of a child, but the rod of discipline will drive it far from him.
- ¹⁶He who oppresses the poor to enrich himself will yield up his gains to the rich as sheer loss.
- ¹⁷The sayings of the wise: Incline your ear, and hear my words, and apply your heart to my doctrine;
- ¹⁸For it will be well if you keep them in your bosom, if they all are ready on your lips.
- ¹⁹That your trust may be in the LORD, I make known to you the words of Amen-em-Ope.
- ²⁰Have I not written for you the "Thirty," with counsels and knowledge,
- ²¹To teach you truly how to give a dependable report to one who sends you?
- ²²Injure not the poor because they are poor, nor crush the needy at the gate;
- ²³For the LORD will defend their cause, and will plunder the lives of those who plunder them.
- ²⁴Be not friendly with a hotheaded man, nor the companion of a wrathful man,
- ²⁵Lest you learn his ways, and get yourself into a snare.
- ²⁶Be not one of those who give their hand in pledge, of those who become surety for debts;
- ²⁷For if you have not the means to pay, your bed will be taken from under you.
- ²⁸Remove not the ancient landmark which your fathers set up.
- ²⁹You see a man skilled at his work? He will stand in the presence of kings; he will not stand in the presence of obscure men.

23 When you sit down to dine with a ruler, keep in mind who is before you;

- ²And put a knife to your throat if you have a ravenous appetite.
- ³Do not desire his delicacies; they are deceitful food.
- ⁴Toil not to gain wealth, cease to be concerned about it;
- ⁵While your glance flits to it, it is gone! for assuredly it grows wings, like the eagle that flies toward heaven.
- ⁶Do not take food with a grudging man, and do not desire his dainties;
- ⁷For in his greed he is like a storm. "Eat and drink," he says to you, though his heart is not with you;
- ⁸The little you have eaten you will vomit up, and you will have wasted your agreeable words.
- ⁹Speak not for the fool's hearing; he will despise the wisdom of your words.
- ¹⁰Remove not the ancient landmark, nor invade the fields of orphans;
- ¹¹For their redeemer is strong; he will defend their cause against you.
- ¹²Apply your heart to instruction, and your ears to words of knowledge.
- ¹³Withhold not chastisement from a boy; if you beat him with the rod, he will not die.
- ¹⁴Beat him with the rod, and you will save him from the nether world.
- ¹⁵My son, if your heart be wise, my own heart also will rejoice;
- ¹⁶And my inmost being will exult, when your lips speak what is right.
- ¹⁷Let not your heart emulate sinners, but be zealous for the fear of the LORD always;
- ¹⁸For you will surely have a future, and your hope will not be cut off.
- ¹⁹Hear, my son, and be wise, and guide your heart in the right way.
- ²⁰Consort not with winebibbers, nor with those who eat meat to excess;

- ²¹For the drunkard and the glutton come to poverty, and torpor clothes a man in rags.
- ²²Listen to your father who begot you, and despise not your mother when she is old.
- ²³Get the truth, and sell it not-- wisdom, instruction and understanding.
- ²⁴The father of a just man will exult with glee; he who begets a wise son will have joy in him.
- ²⁵Let your father and mother have joy; let her who bore you exult.
- ²⁶My son, give me your heart, and let your eyes keep to my ways.
- ²⁷For the harlot is a deep ditch, and the adulteress a narrow pit;
- ²⁸Yes, she lies in wait like a robber, and increases the faithless among men.
- ²⁹Who scream? Who shriek? Who have strife? Who have anxiety? Who have wounds for nothing? Who have black eyes?
- ³⁰Those who linger long over wine, those who engage in trials of blended wine.
- ³¹Look not on the wine when it is red, when it sparkles in the glass. It goes down smoothly;
- ³²but in the end it bites like a serpent, or like a poisonous adder.
- ³³Your eyes behold strange sights, and your heart utters disordered thoughts;
- ³⁴You are like one now lying in the depths of the sea, now sprawled at the top of the mast.
- ³⁵"They struck me, but it pained me not; They beat me, but I felt it not; When shall I awake to seek wine once again?"

24 Be not emulous of evil men, and desire not to be with them;

²For their hearts plot violence, and their lips speak of foul play.

³By wisdom is a house built, by understanding is it made firm;

⁴And by knowledge are its rooms filled with every precious and pleasing possession.

⁵A wise man is more powerful than a strong man, and a man of knowledge than a man of might;

⁶For it is by wise guidance that you wage your war, and the victory is due to a wealth of counselors.

⁷For a fool, to be silent is wisdom; not to open his mouth at the gate.

⁸He who plots evil doing-- men call him an intriguer.

⁹Beyond intrigue and folly and sin, it is arrogance that men find abominable.

¹⁰If you remain indifferent in time of adversity, your strength will depart from you.

¹¹Rescue those who are being dragged to death, and from those tottering to execution withdraw not.

¹²If you say, "I know not this man!" does not he who tests hearts perceive it? He who guards your life knows it, and he will repay each one according to his deeds.

¹³If you eat honey, my son, because it is good, if virgin honey is sweet to your taste;

¹⁴Such, you must know, is wisdom to your soul. If you find it, you will have a future, and your hope will not be cut off.

¹⁵Lie not in wait against the home of the just man, ravage not his dwelling place;

¹⁶For the just man falls seven times and rises again, but the wicked stumble to ruin.

¹⁷Rejoice not when your enemy falls, and when he stumbles, let not your heart exult, ¹⁸Lest the LORD see it, be displeased with you, and withdraw his wrath from your enemy.

¹⁹Be not provoked with evildoers, nor envious of the wicked;

²⁰For the evil man has no future, the lamp of the wicked will be put out.

²¹My son, fear the LORD and the king; have nothing to do with those who rebel against them;

²²For suddenly arises the destruction they send, and the ruin from either one, who can measure?

²³These also are sayings of the wise: To show partiality in judgment is not good.

²⁴He who says to the wicked man, "You are just"-- men will curse him, people will denounce him;

²⁵But those who convict the evildoer will fare well, and on them will come the blessing of prosperity.

²⁶He gives a kiss on the lips who makes an honest reply.

²⁷Complete your outdoor tasks, and arrange your work in the field; afterward you can establish your house.

²⁸Be not a witness against your neighbor without just cause, thus committing folly with your lips.

²⁹Say not, "As he did to me, so will I do to him; I will repay the man according to his deeds."

³⁰I passed by the field of the sluggard, by the vineyard of the man without sense;

³¹And behold! it was all overgrown with thistles; its surface was covered with nettles, and its stone wall broken down.

³²And as I gazed at it, I reflected; I saw and learned the lesson:

³³A little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the arms to rest--

³⁴Then will poverty come upon you like a highwayman, and want like an armed man.

25 These also are proverbs of Solomon. The men of Hezekiah, king of Judah, transmitted them.

²God has glory in what he conceals, kings have glory in what they fathom.

- ³As the heavens in height, and the earth in depth, the heart of kings is unfathomable.
- ⁴Remove the dross from silver, and it comes forth perfectly purified;
- ⁵Remove the wicked from the presence of the king, and his throne is made firm through righteousness.
- ⁶Claim no honor in the king's presence, nor occupy the place of great men;
- ⁷For it is better that you be told, "Come up closer!" than that you be humbled before the prince.
- ⁸What your eyes have seen bring not forth hastily against an opponent; For what will you do later on when your neighbor puts you to shame?
- ⁹Discuss your case with your neighbor, but another man's secret do not disclose;
- ¹⁰Lest, hearing it, he reproach you, and your ill repute cease not.
- ¹¹Like golden apples in silver settings are words spoken at the proper time.
- ¹²Like a golden earring, or a necklace of fine gold, is a wise reprove to an obedient ear.
- ¹³Like the coolness of snow in the heat of the harvest is a faithful messenger for the one who sends him. (He refreshes the soul of his master.)
- ¹⁴Like clouds and wind when no rain follows is the man who boastfully promises what he never gives.
- ¹⁵By patience is a ruler persuaded, and a soft tongue will break a bone.
- ¹⁶If you find honey, eat only what you need, lest you become gluttoned with it and vomit it up.
- ¹⁷Let your foot be seldom in your neighbor's house, lest he have more than enough of you, and hate you.
- ¹⁸Like a club, or a sword, or a sharp arrow, is the man who bears false witness against his neighbor.

¹⁹Like an infected tooth or an unsteady foot is (dependence on) a faithless man in time of trouble.

²⁰Like a moth in clothing, or a maggot in wood, sorrow gnaws at the human heart.

²¹If your enemy be hungry, give him food to eat, if he be thirsty, give him to drink;

²²For live coals you will heap on his head, and the LORD will vindicate you.

²³The north wind brings rain, and a backbiting tongue an angry countenance.

²⁴It is better to dwell in a corner of the housetop than in a roomy house with a quarrelsome woman.

²⁵Like cool water to one faint from thirst is good news from a far country.

²⁶Like a troubled fountain or a polluted spring is a just man who gives way before the wicked.

²⁷To eat too much honey is not good; nor to seek honor after honor.

²⁸Like an open city with no defenses is the man with no check on his feelings.

26 Like snow in summer, or rain in harvest, honor for a fool is out of place.

²Like the sparrow in its flitting, like the swallow in its flight, a curse uncalled-for arrives nowhere.

³The whip for the horse, the bridle for the ass, and the rod for the back of fools.

⁴Answer not the fool according to his folly, lest you too become like him.

⁵Answer the fool according to his folly, lest he become wise in his own eyes.

⁶He cuts off his feet, he drinks down violence, who sends messages by a fool.

⁷A proverb in the mouth of a fool hangs limp, like crippled legs.

⁸Like one who entangles the stone in the sling is he who gives honor to a fool.

⁹Like a thorn stick brandished by the hand of a drunkard is a proverb in the mouth of fools.

¹⁰Like an archer wounding all who pass by is he who hires a drunken fool.

¹¹As the dog returns to his vomit, so the fool repeats his folly.

¹²You see a man wise in his own eyes? There is more hope for a fool than for him.

¹³The sluggard says, "There is a lion in the street, a lion in the middle of the square!"

¹⁴The door turns on its hinges, the sluggard, on his bed!

¹⁵The sluggard loses his hand in the dish; he is too weary to lift it to his mouth.

¹⁶The sluggard imagines himself wiser than seven men who answer with good sense.

¹⁷Like the man who seizes a passing dog by the ears is he who meddles in a quarrel not his own.

¹⁸Like a crazed archer scattering firebrands and deadly arrows

¹⁹is the man who deceives his neighbor, and then says, "I was only joking."

²⁰For lack of wood, the fire dies out; and when there is no talebearer, strife subsides.

²¹What a bellows is to live coals, what wood is to fire, such is a contentious man in enkindling strife.

²²The words of a talebearer are like dainty morsels that sink into one's inmost being.

²³Like a glazed finish on earthenware are smooth lips with a wicked heart.

²⁴With his lips an enemy pretends, but in his inmost being he maintains deceit;

²⁵When he speaks graciously, trust him not, for seven abominations are in his heart.

²⁶A man may conceal hatred under dissimulation, but his malice will be revealed in the assembly.

²⁷He who digs a pit falls into it; and a stone comes back upon him who rolls it.

²⁸The lying tongue is its owner's enemy, and the flattering mouth works ruin.

27 Boast not of tomorrow, for you know not what any day may bring forth.

²Let another praise you--not your own mouth; Someone else--not your own lips.

³Stone is heavy, and sand a burden, but a fool's provocation is heavier than both.

⁴Anger is relentless, and wrath overwhelming-- but before jealousy who can stand?

⁵Better is an open rebuke than a love that remains hidden.

⁶Wounds from a friend may be accepted as well meant, but the greetings of an enemy one prays against.

⁷One who is full, tramples on virgin honey; but to the man who is hungry, any bitter thing is sweet.

⁸Like a bird that is far from its nest is a man who is far from his home.

⁹Perfume and incense gladden the heart, but by grief the soul is torn asunder.

¹⁰Your own friend and your father's friend forsake not; but if ruin befalls you, enter not a kinsman's house. Better is a neighbor near at hand than a brother far away.

¹¹If you are wise, my son, you will gladden my heart, and I will be able to rebut him who tuants me.

¹²The shrewd man perceives evil and hides; simpletons continue on and suffer the penalty.

¹³Take his garment who becomes surety for another, and for the sake of a stranger, yield it up!

¹⁴When one greets his neighbor with a loud voice in the early morning, a curse can be laid to his charge.

¹⁵For a persistent leak on a rainy day the match is a quarrelsome woman.

¹⁶He who keeps her stores up a stormwind; he cannot tell north from south.

¹⁷As iron sharpens iron, so man sharpens his fellow man.

¹⁸He who tends a fig tree eats its fruit, and he who is attentive to his master will be enriched.

¹⁹As one face differs from another, so does one human heart from another.

²⁰The nether world and the abyss are never satisfied; so too the eyes of men.

²¹As the crucible tests silver and the furnace gold, so a man is tested by the praise he receives.

²²Though you should pound the fool to bits with the pestle, amid the grits in a mortar, his folly would not go out of him.

²³Take good care of your flocks, give careful attention to your herds;

²⁴For wealth lasts not forever, nor even a crown from age to age.

²⁵When the grass is taken away and the aftergrowth appears, and the mountain greens are gathered in,

²⁶The lambs will provide you with clothing, and the goats will bring the price of a field,

²⁷And there will be ample goat's milk to supply you, to supply your household, and maintenance for your maidens.

28The wicked man flees although no one pursues him; but the just man, like a lion, feels sure of himself.

²If a land is rebellious, its princes will be many; but with a prudent man it knows security.

³A rich man who oppresses the poor is like a devastating rain that leaves no food.

⁴Those who abandon the law praise the wicked man, but those who keep the law war against him.

⁵Evil men understand nothing of justice, but those who seek the LORD understand all.

⁶Better a poor man who walks in his integrity than he who is crooked in his ways and rich.

⁷He who keeps the law is a wise son, but the gluttons' companion disgraces his father.

⁸He who increases his wealth by interest and overcharge gathers it for him who is kind to the poor.

⁹When one turns away his ear from hearing the law, even his prayer is an abomination.

¹⁰He who seduces the upright into an evil way will himself fall into his own pit. (And blameless men will gain prosperity.)

¹¹The rich man is wise in his own eyes, but a poor man who is intelligent sees through him.

¹²When the just are triumphant, there is great jubilation; but when the wicked gain preeminence, people hide.

¹³He who conceals his sins prospers not, but he who confesses and forsakes them obtains mercy.

¹⁴Happy the man who is always on his guard; but he who hardens his heart will fall into evil.

¹⁵Like a roaring lion or a ravenous bear is a wicked ruler over a poor people.

¹⁶The less prudent the prince, the more his deeds oppress. He who hates ill-gotten gain prolongs his days.

¹⁷Though a man burdened with human blood were to flee to the grave, none should support him.

¹⁸He who walks uprightly is safe, but he whose ways are crooked falls into the pit.

¹⁹He who cultivates his land will have plenty of food, but from idle pursuits a man has his fill of poverty.

²⁰The trustworthy man will be richly blessed; he who is in haste to grow rich will not go unpunished.

²¹To show partiality is never good: for even a morsel of bread a man may do wrong.

²²The avaricious man is perturbed about his wealth, and he knows not when want will come upon him.

²³He who rebukes a man gets more thanks in the end than one with a flattering tongue.

²⁴He who defrauds father or mother and calls it no sin, is a partner of the brigand.

²⁵The greedy man stirs up disputes, but he who trusts in the LORD will prosper.

²⁶He who trusts in himself is a fool, but he who walks in wisdom is safe.

²⁷He who gives to the poor suffers no want, but he who ignores them gets many a curse.

²⁸When the wicked gain pre-eminence, other men hide; but at their fall the just flourish.

29The man who remains stiff-necked and hates rebuke will be crushed suddenly beyond cure.

²When the just prevail, the people rejoice; but when the wicked rule, the people groan.

³He who loves wisdom makes his father glad, but he who consorts with harlots squanders his wealth.

⁴By justice a king gives stability to the land; but he who imposes heavy taxes ruins it.

⁵The man who flatters his neighbor is spreading a net under his feet.

⁶The wicked man steps into a snare, but the just man runs on joyfully.

⁷The just man has a care for the rights of the poor; the wicked man has no such concern.

⁸Arrogant men set the city ablaze, but wise men calm the fury.

⁹If a wise man disputes with a fool, he may rage or laugh but can have no peace.

- ¹⁰ Bloodthirsty men hate the honest man, but the upright show concern for his life.
- ¹¹ The fool gives vent to all his anger; but by biding his time, the wise man calms it.
- ¹² If a ruler listens to lying words, his servants all become wicked.
- ¹³ The poor and the oppressor have a common bond: the LORD gives light to the eyes of both.
- ¹⁴ If a king is zealous for the rights of the poor, his throne stands firm forever.
- ¹⁵ The rod of correction gives wisdom, but a boy left to his whims disgraces his mother.
- ¹⁶ When the wicked prevail, crime increases; but their downfall the just will behold.
- ¹⁷ Correct your son, and he will bring you comfort, and give delight to your soul.
- ¹⁸ Without prophecy the people become demoralized; but happy is he who keeps the law.
- ¹⁹ By words no servant can be trained; for he understands what is said, but obeys not.
- ²⁰ Do you see a man hasty in his words? More can be hoped for from a fool!
- ²¹ If a man pampers his servant from childhood, he will turn out to be stubborn.
- ²² An ill-tempered man stirs up disputes, and a hotheaded man is the cause of many sins.
- ²³ Man's pride causes his humiliation, but he who is humble of spirit obtains honor.
- ²⁴ The accomplice of a thief is his own enemy: he hears himself put under a curse, yet discloses nothing.
- ²⁵ The fear of man brings a snare, but he who trusts in the LORD is safe.
- ²⁶ Many curry favor with the ruler, but the rights of each are from the LORD.
- ²⁷ The evildoer is an abomination to the just, and he who walks uprightly is an abomination to the wicked.

30 The words of Agur, son of Jakeh the Massaite: The pronouncement of mortal man: "I am not God; I am not God, that I should prevail.

²Why, I am the most stupid of men, and have not even human intelligence;

³Neither have I learned wisdom, nor have I the knowledge of the Holy One.

⁴Who has gone up to heaven and come down again-- who has cupped the wind in his hands? Who has bound up the waters in a cloak-- who has marked out all the ends of the earth? What is his name, what is his son's name, if you know it?"

⁵Every word of God is tested; he is a shield to those who take refuge in him.

⁶Add nothing to his words, lest he reprove you, and you be exposed as a deceiver.

⁷Two things I ask of you, deny them not to me before I die:

⁸Put falsehood and lying far from me, give me neither poverty nor riches; (provide me only with the food I need;)

⁹Lest, being full, I deny you, saying, "Who is the LORD?" Or, being in want, I steal, and profane the name of my God.

¹⁰Slander not a servant to his master, lest he curse you, and you have to pay the penalty.

¹¹There is a group of people that curses its father, and blesses not its mother.

¹²There is a group that is pure in its own eyes, yet is not purged of its filth.

¹³There is a group--how haughty their eyes! how overbearing their glance!

¹⁴There is a group whose incisors are swords, whose teeth are knives, Devouring the needy from the earth, and the poor from among men.

¹⁵The two daughters of the leech are, "Give, Give." Three things are never satisfied, four never say, "Enough!"

¹⁶The nether world, and the barren womb; the earth, that is never saturated with water, and fire, that never says, "Enough!"

- ¹⁷The eye that mocks a father, or scorns an aged mother, Will be plucked out by the ravens in the valley; the young eagles will devour it.
- ¹⁸Three things are too wonderful for me, yes, four I cannot understand:
- ¹⁹The way of an eagle in the air, the way of a serpent upon a rock, The way of a ship on the high seas, and the way of a man with a maiden.
- ²⁰Such is the way of an adulterous woman: she eats, wipes her mouth, and says, "I have done no wrong."
- ²¹Under three things the earth trembles, yes, under four it cannot bear up:
- ²²Under a slave when he becomes king, and a fool when he is glutton with food;
- ²³Under an odious woman when she is wed, and a maidservant when she displaces her mistress.
- ²⁴Four things are among the smallest on the earth, and yet are exceedingly wise:
- ²⁵Ants--a species not strong, yet they store up their food in the summer;
- ²⁶Rock-badgers--a species not mighty, yet they make their home in the crags;
- ²⁷Locusts--they have no king, yet they migrate all in array;
- ²⁸Lizards--you can catch them with your hands, yet they find their way into king's palaces.
- ²⁹Three things are stately in their stride, yes, four are stately in their carriage:
- ³⁰The lion, mightiest of beasts, who retreats before nothing;
- ³¹The strutting cock, and the he-goat, and the king at the head of his people.
- ³²If you have foolishly been proud or presumptuous--put your hand on your mouth;
- ³³For the stirring of milk brings forth curds, and the stirring of anger brings forth blood.

31 The words of Lemuel, king of Massa. The advice which his mother gave him:

²What, my son, my first-born! what, O son of my womb; what, O son of my vows!

³Give not your vigor to women, nor your strength to those who ruin kings.

⁴It is not for kings, O Lemuel, not for kings to drink wine; strong drink is not for princes!

⁵Lest in drinking they forget what the law decrees, and violate the rights of all who are in need.

⁶Give strong drink to one who is perishing, and wine to the sorely depressed;

⁷When they drink, they will forget their misery, and think no more of their burdens.

⁸Open your mouth in behalf of the dumb, and for the rights of the destitute;

⁹Open your mouth, decree what is just, defend the needy and the poor!

¹⁰When one finds a worthy wife, her value is far beyond pearls.

¹¹Her husband, entrusting his heart to her, has an unfailling prize.

¹²She brings him good, and not evil, all the days of her life.

¹³She obtains wool and flax and makes cloth with skillful hands.

¹⁴Like merchant ships, she secures her provisions from afar.

¹⁵She rises while it is still night, and distributes food to her household.

¹⁶She picks out a field to purchase; out of her earnings she plants a vineyard.

¹⁷She is girt about with strength, and sturdy are her arms.

¹⁸She enjoys the success of her dealings; at night her lamp is undimmed.

¹⁹She puts her hands to the distaff, and her fingers ply the spindle.

²⁰She reaches out her hands to the poor, and extends her arms to the needy.

²¹She fears not the snow for her household; all her charges are doubly clothed.

- ²²She makes her own coverlets; fine linen and purple are her clothing.
- ²³Her husband is prominent at the city gates as he sits with the elders of the land.
- ²⁴She makes garments and sells them, and stocks the merchants with belts.
- ²⁵She is clothed with strength and dignity, and she laughs at the days to come.
- ²⁶She opens her mouth in wisdom, and on her tongue is kindly counsel.
- ²⁷She watches the conduct of her household, and eats not her food in idleness.
- ²⁸Her children rise up and praise her; her husband, too, extols her:
- ²⁹"Many are the women of proven worth, but you have excelled them all."
- ³⁰Charm is deceptive and beauty fleeting; the woman who fears the LORD is to be praised.
- ³¹Give her a reward of her labors, and let her works praise her at the city gates.

Ecclesiastes

1 The words of David's son, Qoheleth, king in Jerusalem:

²Vanity of vanities, says Qoheleth, vanity of vanities! All things are vanity!

³What profit has man from all the labor which he toils at under the sun?

⁴One generation passes and another comes, but the world forever stays.

⁵The sun rises and the sun goes down; then it presses on to the place where it rises.

⁶Blowing now toward the south, then toward the north, the wind turns again and again, resuming its rounds.

⁷All rivers go to the sea, yet never does the sea become full. To the place where they go, the rivers keep on going.

⁸All speech is labored; there is nothing man can say. The eye is not satisfied with seeing nor is the ear filled with hearing.

⁹What has been, that will be; what has been done, that will be done. Nothing is new under the sun.

¹⁰Even the thing of which we say, "See, this is new!" has already existed in the ages that preceded us.

¹¹There is no remembrance of the men of old; nor of those to come will there be any remembrance among those who come after them.

¹²I, Qoheleth, was king over Israel in Jerusalem,

¹³and I applied my mind to search and investigate in wisdom all things that are done under the sun. A thankless task God has appointed for men to be busied about.

¹⁴I have seen all things that are done under the sun, and behold, all is vanity and a chase after wind.

¹⁵What is crooked cannot be made straight, and what is missing cannot be supplied.

¹⁶Though I said to myself, "Behold, I have become great and stored up wisdom beyond all who were before me in Jerusalem, and my mind has broad experience of wisdom and knowledge";

¹⁷yet when I applied my mind to know wisdom and knowledge, madness and folly, I learned that this also is a chase after wind.

¹⁸For in much wisdom there is much sorrow, and he who stores up knowledge stores up grief.

2I said to myself, "Come, now, let me try you with pleasure and the enjoyment of good things." But behold, this too was vanity.

²Of laughter I said: "Mad!" and of mirth: "What good does this do?"

³I thought of beguiling my senses with wine, though my mind was concerned with wisdom, and of taking up folly, until I should understand what is best for men to do under the heavens during the limited days of their life.

⁴I undertook great works; I built myself houses and planted vineyards;

⁵I made gardens and parks, and set out in them fruit trees of all sorts.

⁶And I constructed for myself reservoirs to water a flourishing woodland.

⁷I acquired male and female slaves, and slaves were born in my house. I also had growing herds of cattle and flocks of sheep, more than all who had been before me in Jerusalem.

⁸I amassed for myself silver and gold, and the wealth of kings and provinces. I got for myself male and female singers and all human luxuries.

⁹I became great, and I stored up more than all others before me in Jerusalem; my wisdom, too, stayed with me.

¹⁰Nothing that my eyes desired did I deny them, nor did I deprive myself of any joy, but my heart rejoiced in the fruit of all my toil. This was my share for all my toil.

¹¹But when I turned to all the works that my hands had wrought, and to the toil at which I had taken such pains, behold! all was vanity and a chase after wind, with nothing gained under the sun.

¹²For what will the man do who is to come after the king? What men have already done! I went on to the consideration of wisdom, madness and folly.

¹³And I saw that wisdom has the advantage over folly as much as light has the advantage over darkness.

¹⁴The wise man has eyes in his head, but the fool walks in darkness. Yet I knew that one lot befalls both of them.

¹⁵So I said to myself, if the fool's lot is to befall me also, why then should I be wise? Where is the profit for me? And I concluded in my heart that this too is vanity.

¹⁶Neither of the wise man nor of the fool will there be an abiding remembrance, for in days to come both will have been forgotten. How is it that the wise man dies as well as the fool!

¹⁷Therefore I loathed life, since for me the work that is done under the sun is evil; for all is vanity and a chase after wind.

¹⁸And I detested all the fruits of my labor under the sun, because I must leave them to a man who is to come after me.

¹⁹And who knows whether he will be a wise man or a fool? Yet he will have control over all the fruits of my wise labor under the sun. This also is vanity.

²⁰So my feelings turned to despair of all the fruits of my labor under the sun.

²¹For here is a man who has labored with wisdom and knowledge and skill, and to another, who has not labored over it, he must leave his property. This also is vanity and a great misfortune.

²²For what profit comes to a man from all the toil and anxiety of heart with which he has labored under the sun?

²³All his days sorrow and grief are his occupation; even at night his mind is not at rest. This also is vanity.

²⁴There is nothing better for man than to eat and drink and provide himself with good things by his labors. Even this, I realized, is from the hand of God.

²⁵For who can eat or drink apart from him?

²⁶For to whatever man he sees fit he gives wisdom and knowledge and joy; but to the sinner he gives the task of gathering possessions to be given to whatever man God sees fit. This also is vanity and a chase after wind.

3 There is an appointed time for everything, and a time for every affair under the heavens.

²A time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to uproot the plant.

³A time to kill, and a time to heal; a time to tear down, and a time to build.

⁴A time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn, and a time to dance.

⁵A time to scatter stones, and a time to gather them; a time to embrace, and a time to be far from embraces.

⁶A time to seek, and a time to lose; a time to keep, and a time to cast away.

⁷A time to rend, and a time to sew; a time to be silent, and a time to speak.

⁸A time to love, and a time to hate; a time of war, and a time of peace.

⁹What advantage has the worker from his toil?

¹⁰I have considered the task which God has appointed for men to be busied about.

¹¹He has made everything appropriate to its time, and has put the timeless into their hearts, without men's ever discovering, from beginning to end, the work which God has done.

¹²I recognized that there is nothing better than to be glad and to do well during life.

¹³For every man, moreover, to eat and drink and enjoy the fruit of all his labor is a gift of God.

¹⁴I recognized that whatever God does will endure forever; there is no adding to it, or taking from it. Thus has God done that he may be revered.

¹⁵What now is has already been; what is to be, already is; and God restores what would otherwise be displaced.

¹⁶And still under the sun in the judgment place I saw wickedness, and in the seat of justice, iniquity.

¹⁷And I said to myself, both the just and the wicked God will judge, since there is a time for every affair and on every work a judgment.

¹⁸I said to myself: As for the children of men, it is God's way of testing them and of showing that they are in themselves like beasts.

¹⁹For the lot of man and of beast is one lot; the one dies as well as the other. Both have the same life-breath, and man has no advantage over the beast; but all is vanity.

²⁰Both go to the same place; both were made from the dust, and to the dust they both return.

²¹Who knows if the life-breath of the children of men goes upward and the life-breath of beasts goes earthward?

²²And I saw that there is nothing better for a man than to rejoice in his work; for this is his lot. Who will let him see what is to come after him?

4 Again I considered all the oppressions that take place under the sun: the tears of the victims with none to comfort them! From the hand of their oppressors comes violence, and there is none to comfort them!

²And those now dead, I declared more fortunate in death than are the living to be still alive.

³And better off than both is the yet unborn, who has not seen the wicked work that is done under the sun.

⁴Then I saw that all toil and skillful work is the rivalry of one man for another. This also is vanity and a chase after wind.

⁵"The fool folds his arms and consumes his own flesh"--

⁶Better is one handful with tranquility than two with toil and a chase after wind!

⁷Again I found this vanity under the sun:

⁸a solitary man with no companion; with neither son nor brother. Yet there is no end to all his toil, and riches do not satisfy his greed. "For whom do I toil and deprive myself of good things?" This also is vanity and a worthless task.

⁹Two are better than one: they get a good wage for their labor.

¹⁰If the one falls, the other will lift up his companion. Woe to the solitary man! For if he should fall, he has no one to lift him up.

¹¹So also, if two sleep together, they keep each other warm. How can one alone keep warm?

¹²Where a lone man may be overcome, two together can resist. A three-ply cord is not easily broken.

¹³Better is a poor but wise youth than an old but foolish king who no longer knows caution;

¹⁴for from a prison house one comes forth to rule, since even in his royalty he was poor at birth.

¹⁵Then I saw all those who are to live and move about under the sun with the heir apparent who will succeed to his place.

¹⁶There is no end to all these people, to all over whom he takes precedence; yet the later generations will not applaud him. This also is vanity and a chase after wind.

¹⁷Guard your step when you go to the house of God. Let your approach be obedience, rather than the fools' offering of sacrifice; for they know not how to keep from doing evil.

5 Be not hasty in your utterance and let not your heart be quick to make a promise in God's presence. God is in heaven and you are on earth; therefore let your words be few.

²For nightmares come with many cares, and a fool's utterance with many words.

- ³When you make a vow to God, delay not its fulfillment. For God has no pleasure in fools; fulfill what you have vowed.
- ⁴You had better not make a vow than make it and not fulfill it.
- ⁵Let not your utterances make you guilty, and say not before his representative, "It was a mistake," lest God be angered by such words and destroy the works of your hands.
- ⁶Rather, fear God!
- ⁷If you see oppression of the poor, and violation of rights and justice in the realm, do not be shocked by the fact, for the high official has another higher than he watching him and above these are others higher still--.
- ⁸Yet an advantage for a country in every respect is a king for the arable land.
- ⁹The covetous man is never satisfied with money, and the lover of wealth reaps no fruit from it; so this too is vanity.
- ¹⁰Where there are great riches, there are also many to devour them. Of what use are they to the owner except to feast his eyes upon?
- ¹¹Sleep is sweet to the laboring man, whether he eats little or much, but the rich man's abundance allows him no sleep.
- ¹²This is a grievous evil which I have seen under the sun: riches kept by their owner to his hurt.
- ¹³Should the riches be lost through some misfortune, he may have a son when he is without means.
- ¹⁴As he came forth from his mother's womb, so again shall he depart, naked as he came, having nothing from his labor that he can carry in his hand.
- ¹⁵This too is a grievous evil, that he goes just as he came. What then does it profit him to toil for wind?
- ¹⁶All the days of his life are passed in gloom and sorrow, under great vexation, sickness and wrath.

¹⁷Here is what I recognize as good: it is well for a man to eat and drink and enjoy all the fruits of his labor under the sun during the limited days of the life which God gives him; for this is his lot.

¹⁸Any man to whom God gives riches and property, and grants power to partake of them, so that he receives his lot and finds joy in the fruits of his toil, has a gift from God.

¹⁹For he will hardly dwell on the shortness of his life, because God lets him busy himself with the joy of his heart.

6 There is another evil which I have seen under the sun, and it weighs heavily upon man:

²there is the man to whom God gives riches and property and honor, so that he lacks none of all the things he craves; yet God does not grant him power to partake of them, but a stranger devours them. This is vanity and a dire plague.

³Should a man have a hundred children and live many years, no matter to what great age, still if he has not the full benefit of his goods, or if he is deprived of burial, of this man I proclaim that the child born dead is more fortunate than he.

⁴Though it came in vain and goes into darkness and its name is enveloped in darkness;

⁵though it has not seen or known the sun, yet the dead child is at rest rather than such a man.

⁶Should he live twice a thousand years and not enjoy his goods, do not both go to the same place?

⁷All man's toil is for his mouth, yet his desire is not fulfilled.

⁸For what advantage has the wise man over the fool, or what advantage has the poor man in knowing how to conduct himself in life?

⁹"What the eyes see is better than what the desires wander after." This also is vanity and a chase after wind.

¹⁰Whatever is, was long ago given its name, and the nature of man is known, and that he cannot contend in judgment with one who is stronger than he.

¹¹For though there are many sayings that multiply vanity, what profit is there for a man?

¹²For who knows what is good for a man in life, the limited days of his vain life (which God has made like a shadow)? Because-who is there to tell a man what will come after him under the sun?

7 A good name is better than good ointment, and the day of death than the day of birth.

²It is better to go to the house of mourning than to the house of feasting, For that is the end of every man, and the living should take it to heart.

³Sorrow is better than laughter, because when the face is sad the heart grows wiser.

⁴The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning, but the heart of fools is in the house of mirth.

⁵It is better to hearken to the wise man's rebuke than to hearken to the song of fools;

⁶For as the crackling of thorns under a pot, so is the fool's laughter.

⁷For oppression can make a fool of a wise man, and a bribe corrupts the heart.

⁸Better is the end of speech than its beginning; better is the patient spirit than the lofty spirit.

⁹Do not in spirit become quickly discontented, for discontent lodges in the bosom of a fool.

¹⁰Do not say: How is it that former times were better than these? For it is not in wisdom that you ask about this.

¹¹Wisdom and an inheritance are good, and an advantage to those that see the sun.

¹²For the protection of wisdom is as the protection of money; and the advantage of knowledge is that wisdom preserves the life of its owner.

¹³Consider the work of God. Who can make straight what he has made crooked?

¹⁴On a good day enjoy good things, and on an evil day consider: Both the one and the other God has made, so that man cannot find fault with him in anything.

¹⁵I have seen all manner of things in my vain days: a just man perishing in his justice, and a wicked one surviving in his wickedness.

¹⁶"Be not just to excess, and be not overwise, lest you be ruined.

¹⁷Be not wicked to excess, and be not foolish. Why should you die before your time?"

¹⁸It is good to hold to this rule, and not to let that one go; but he who fears God will win through at all events.

¹⁹Wisdom is a better defense for the wise man than would be ten princes in the city, ²⁰yet there is no man on earth so just as to do good and never sin.

²¹Do not give heed to every word that is spoken lest you hear your servant speaking ill of you,

²²for you know in your heart that you have many times spoken ill of others.

²³All these things I probed in wisdom. I said, "I will acquire wisdom"; but it was beyond me.

²⁴What exists is far-reaching; it is deep, very deep: who can find it out?

²⁵I turned my thoughts toward knowledge; I sought and pursued wisdom and reason, and I recognized that wickedness is foolish and folly is madness.

²⁶More bitter than death I find the woman who is a hunter's trap, whose heart is a snare and whose hands are prison bonds. He who is pleasing to God will escape her, but the sinner will be entrapped by her.

²⁷Behold, this have I found, says Qoheleth, adding one thing to another that I might discover the answer

²⁸which my soul still seeks and has not found: One man out of a thousand have I come upon, but a woman among them all I have not found.

²⁹Behold, only this have I found out: God made mankind straight, but men have had recourse to many calculations.

8 Who is like the wise man, and who knows the explanation of things? A man's wisdom illumines his face, but an impudent look is resented.

² Observe the precept of the king, and in view of your oath to God,

³ be not hasty to withdraw from the king; do not join in with a base plot, for he does whatever he pleases,

⁴ because his word is sovereign, and who can say to him, "What are you doing?"

⁵ "He who keeps the commandment experiences no evil, and the wise man's heart knows times and judgments;

⁶ for there is a time and a judgment for everything."--Yet it is a great affliction for man

⁷ that he is ignorant of what is to come; for who will make known to him how it will be?

⁸ There is no man who is master of the breath of life so as to retain it, and none has mastery of the day of death. There is no exemption from the struggle, nor are the wicked saved by their wickedness.

⁹ All these things I considered and I applied my mind to every work that is done under the sun, while one man tyrannizes over another to his hurt.

¹¹ Because the sentence against evildoers is not promptly executed, therefore the hearts of men are filled with the desire to commit evil--

¹² because the sinner does evil a hundred times and survives. Though indeed I know that it shall be well with those who fear God, for their reverence toward him;

¹³ and that it shall not be well with the wicked man, and he shall not prolong his shadowy days, for his lack of reverence toward God.

¹⁴ This is a vanity which occurs on earth: there are just men treated as though they had done evil and wicked men treated as though they had done justly. This, too, I say is vanity.

¹⁵Therefore I commend mirth, because there is nothing good for man under the sun except eating and drinking and mirth: for this is the accompaniment of his toil during the limited days of the life which God gives him under the sun.

¹⁶When I applied my heart to know wisdom and to observe what is done on earth,

¹⁷I recognized that man is unable to find out all God's work that is done under the sun, even though neither by day nor by night do his eyes find rest in sleep. However much man toils in searching, he does not find it out; and even if the wise man says that he knows, he is unable to find it out.

9 All this I have kept in mind and recognized: the just, the wise, and their deeds are in the hand of God. Love from hatred man cannot tell; both appear equally vain, ²in that there is the same lot for all, for the just and the wicked, for the good and the bad, for the clean and the unclean, for him who offers sacrifice and him who does not. As it is for the good man, so it is for the sinner; as it is for him who swears rashly, so it is for him who fears an oath.

³Among all the things that happen under the sun, this is the worst, that things turn out the same for all. Hence the minds of men are filled with evil, and madness is in their hearts during life; and afterward they go to the dead.

⁴Indeed, for any among the living there is hope; a live dog is better off than a dead lion.

⁵For the living know that they are to die, but the dead no longer know anything. There is no further recompense for them, because all memory of them is lost.

⁶For them, love and hatred and rivalry have long since perished. They will never again have part in anything that is done under the sun.

⁷Go, eat your bread with joy and drink your wine with a merry heart, because it is now that God favors your works.

⁸At all times let your garments be white, and spare not the perfume for your head.

⁹Enjoy life with the wife whom you love, all the days of the fleeting life that is granted you under the sun. This is your lot in life, for the toil of your labors under the sun.

¹⁰Anything you can turn your hand to, do with what power you have; for there will be no work, nor reason, nor knowledge, nor wisdom in the nether world where you are going....

¹¹Again I saw under the sun that the race is not won by the swift, nor the battle by the valiant, nor a livelihood by the wise, nor riches by the shrewd, nor favor by the experts; for a time of calamity comes to all alike.

¹²Man no more knows his own time than fish taken in the fatal net, or birds trapped in the snare; like these the children of men are caught when the evil time falls suddenly upon them.

¹³On the other hand I saw this wise deed under the sun, which I thought sublime.

¹⁴Against a small city with few men in it advanced a mighty king, who surrounded it and threw up great siegeworks about it.

¹⁵But in the city lived a man who, though poor, was wise, and he delivered it through his wisdom. Yet no one remembered this poor man.

¹⁶Though I had said, "Wisdom is better than force," yet the wisdom of the poor man is despised and his words go unheeded.

¹⁷"The quiet words of the wise are better heeded than the shout of a ruler of fools"--!

¹⁸"A fly that dies can spoil the perfumer's ointment, and a single slip can ruin much that is good."

10 More weighty than wisdom or wealth is a little folly!

²The wise man's understanding turns him to his right; the fool's understanding turns him to his left.

³When the fool walks through the street, in his lack of understanding he calls everything foolish.

⁴Should the anger of the ruler burst upon you, forsake not your place; for mildness abates great offenses.

⁵I have seen under the sun another evil, like a mistake that proceeds from the ruler:

⁶ a fool put in lofty position while the rich sit in lowly places.

⁷ I have seen slaves on horseback, while princes walked on the ground like slaves.

⁸ He who digs a pit may fall into it, and he who breaks through a wall may be bitten by a serpent.

⁹ He who moves stones may be hurt by them, and he who chops wood is in danger from it.

¹⁰ If the iron becomes dull, though at first he made easy progress, he must increase his efforts; but the craftsman has the advantage of his skill.

¹¹ If the serpent bites because it has not been charmed, then there is no advantage for the charmer.

¹² Words from the wise man's mouth win favor, but the fool's lips consume him.

¹³ The beginning of his words is folly, and the end of his talk is utter madness;

¹⁴ yet the fool multiplies words. Man knows not what is to come, for who can tell him what is to come after him?

¹⁵ When will the fool be weary of his labor, he who knows not the way to the city?

¹⁶ Woe to you, O land, whose king was a servant, and whose princes dine in the morning!

¹⁷ Blessed are you, O land, whose king is of noble birth, and whose princes dine at the right time (for vigor and not in drinking bouts).

¹⁸ When hands are lazy, the rafters sag; when hands are slack, the house leaks.

¹⁹ Bread and oil call forth merriment and wine makes the living glad, but money answers for everything.

²⁰ Even in your thoughts do not make light of the king, nor in the privacy of your bedroom revile the rich. Because the birds of the air may carry your voice, a winged creature may tell what you say.

11 Cast your bread upon the waters; after a long time you may find it again.

²Make seven or eight portions; you know not what misfortune may come upon the earth.

³When the clouds are full, they pour out rain upon the earth. Whether a tree falls to the south or to the north, wherever it falls, there shall it lie.

⁴One who pays heed to the wind will not sow, and one who watches the clouds will never reap.

⁵Just as you know not how the breath of life fashions the human frame in the mother's womb, So you know not the work of God which he is accomplishing in the universe.

⁶In the morning sow your seed, and at evening let not your hand be idle: For you know not which of the two will be successful, or whether both alike will turn out well.

⁷Light is sweet! and it is pleasant for the eyes to see the sun.

⁸However many years a man may live, let him, as he enjoys them all, remember that the days of darkness will be many. All that is to come is vanity.

⁹Rejoice, O young man, while you are young and let your heart be glad in the days of your youth. Follow the ways of your heart, the vision of your eyes; Yet understand that as regards all this God will bring you to judgment.

¹⁰Ward off grief from your heart and put away trouble from your presence, though the dawn of youth is fleeting.

12 Remember your Creator in the days of your youth, before the evil days come
And the years approach of which you will say, I have no pleasure in them;

²Before the sun is darkened. and the light, and the moon, and the stars, while the clouds return after the rain;

³When the guardians of the house tremble, and the strong men are bent, And the grinders are idle because they are few, and they who look through the windows grow blind;

⁴When the doors to the street are shut, and the sound of the mill is low; When one waits for the chirp of a bird, but all the daughters of song are suppressed;

⁵And one fears heights, and perils in the street; When the almond tree blooms, and the locust grows sluggish and the caper berry is without effect, Because man goes to his lasting home, and mourners go about the streets;

⁶Before the silver cord is snapped and the golden bowl is broken, And the pitcher is shattered at the spring, and the broken pulley falls into the well,

⁷And the dust returns to the earth as it once was, and the life breath returns to God who gave it.

⁸Vanity of vanities, says Qoheleth, all things are vanity!

⁹Besides being wise, Qoheleth taught the people knowledge, and weighed, scrutinized and arranged many proverbs.

¹⁰Qoheleth sought to find pleasing sayings, and to write down true sayings with precision.

¹¹The sayings of the wise are like goads; like fixed spikes are the topics given by one collector.

¹²As to more than these, my son, beware. Of the making of many books there is no end, and in much study there is weariness for the flesh.

¹³The last word, when all is heard: Fear God and keep his commandments, for this is man's all;

¹⁴because God will bring to judgment every work, with all its hidden qualities, whether good or bad.

Song of Solomon

1 The Song of songs, which is Solomon's.

2 Let him kiss me with kisses of his mouth!
More delightful is your love than wine!

3 Your name spoken is a spreading perfume-that is why the maidens love you.

4 Draw me!-
We will follow you eagerly!
Bring me, O king, to your chambers.
With you we rejoice and exult,
we extol your love; it is beyond wine:
how rightly you are loved!

5 I am as dark-but lovely,
O daughters of Jerusalem-
As the tents of Kedar,
as the curtains of Salma.

6 Do not stare at me because I am swarthy, because the sun has burned me.
My brothers have been angry with me;
they charged me with the care of the vineyards:
my own vineyard I have not cared for.

7 Tell me, you whom my heart loves,
where you pasture your flock,
where you give them rest at midday,
Lest I be found wandering
after the flocks of your companions.

8 If you do not know,
O most beautiful among women,
Follow the tracks of the flock and pasture the young ones near the shepherds' camps.

⁹To the steeds of Pharaoh's chariots would I liken you, my beloved:

¹⁰Your cheeks lovely in pendants,
your neck in jewels.

¹¹We will make pendants of gold for you, and silver ornaments.

¹²For the king's banquet
my nard gives forth its fragrance.

¹³My lover is for me a sachet of myrrh to rest in my bosom.

¹⁴My lover is for me a cluster of henna
from the vineyards of Engedi.

¹⁵Ah, you are beautiful, my beloved,
ah, you are beautiful; your eyes are doves!

¹⁶Ah, you are beautiful, my lover-
yes, you are lovely.
Our couch, too, is verdant;

¹⁷the beams of our house are cedars,
our rafters, cypresses.

2 I am a flower of Sharon,
a lily of the valley.

²As a lily among thorns,
so is my beloved among women.

³As an apple tree among the trees of the woods,
so is my lover among men.
I delight to rest in his shadow,
and his fruit is sweet to my mouth.

⁴He brings me into the banquet hall and his emblem over me is love.

⁵Strengthen me with raisin cakes, refresh me with apples,
for I am faint with love.

⁶His left hand is under my head and his right arm embraces me.

⁷I adjure you, daughters of Jerusalem,
by the gazelles and hinds of the field,
Do not arouse, do not stir up love
before its own time.

⁸Hark! my lover—here he comes springing across the mountains, leaping across the hills.

⁹My lover is like a gazelle or a young stag.
Here he stands behind our wall,
gazing through the windows,
peering through the lattices.

¹⁰My lover speaks; he says to me,
"Arise, my beloved, my beautiful one,
and come!"

¹¹"For see, the winter is past,
the rains are over and gone.

¹²The flowers appear on the earth,
the time of pruning the vines has come,
and the song of the dove is heard in our land.

¹³The fig tree puts forth its figs,
and the vines, in bloom, give forth fragrance.
Arise, my beloved, my beautiful one,
and come!"

¹⁴"O my dove in the clefts of the rock, in the secret recesses of the cliff,
Let me see you,
let me hear your voice,

For your voice is sweet,
and you are lovely."

¹⁵Catch us the foxes, the little foxes that damage the vineyards; for our vineyards are in bloom!

¹⁶My lover belongs to me and I to him;
he browses among the lilies.

¹⁷Until the day breathes cool and the shadows lengthen,
roam, my lover,
Like a gazelle or a young stag
upon the mountains of Bether.

3 On my bed at night I sought him whom my heart loves-
I sought him but I did not find him.

²I will rise then and go about the city;
in the streets and crossings I will seek
Him whom my heart loves.
I sought him but I did not find him.

³The watchmen came upon me
as they made their rounds of the city:
Have you seen him whom my heart loves?

⁴I had hardly left them
when I found him whom my heart loves.
I took hold of him and would not let him go till I should bring him to the home of my mother, to the room of my parent.

⁵I adjure you, daughters of Jerusalem,
by the gazelles and hinds of the field,
Do not arouse, do not stir up love
before its own time.

⁶What is this coming up from the desert, like a column of smoke
Laden with myrrh, with frankincense, and with the perfume of every exotic dust?

⁷Ah, it is the litter of Solomon;
sixty valiant men surround it,
of the valiant men of Israel:

⁸All of them expert with the sword,
skilled in battle,
Each with his sword at his side against danger in the watches of the night.

⁹King Solomon made himself a carriage of wood from Lebanon.

¹⁰He made its columns of silver,
its roof of gold,
Its seat of purple cloth,
its framework inlaid with ivory.

¹¹Daughters of Jerusalem, come forth and look upon King Solomon
In the crown with which his mother has crowned him on the day of his marriage, on the day of the joy of his heart.

4Ah, you are beautiful, my beloved,
ah, you are beautiful!
Your eyes are doves
behind your veil.
Your hair is like a flock of goats
streaming down the mountains of Gilead.

²Your teeth are like a flock of ewes to be shorn,
which come up from the washing,
All of them big with twins,
none of them thin and barren.

³Your lips are like a scarlet strand;
your mouth is lovely.
Your cheek is like a half-pomegranate
behind your veil.

⁴Your neck is like David's tower
girt with battlements;

A thousand bucklers hang upon it,
all the shields of valiant men.

⁵Your breasts are like twin fawns,
the young of a gazelle
that browse among the lilies.

⁶Until the day breathes cool and the shadows lengthen,
I will go to the mountain of myrrh,
to the hill of incense.

⁷You are all-beautiful, my beloved,
and there is no blemish in you.

⁸Come from Lebanon, my bride, come from Lebanon, come!
Descend from the top of Amana,
from the top of Senir and Hermon,
From the haunts of lions,
from the leopards' mountains.

⁹You have ravished my heart, my sister, my bride;
you have ravished my heart with one glance of your eyes,
with one bead of your necklace.

¹⁰How beautiful is your love, my sister, my bride,
how much more delightful is your love than wine,
and the fragrance of your ointments than all spices!

¹¹Your lips drip honey, my bride,
sweetmeats and milk are under your tongue;
And the fragrance of your garments is the fragrance of Lebanon.

¹²You are an enclosed garden, my sister, my bride, an enclosed garden, a fountain sealed.

¹³You are a park that puts forth pomegranates,
with all choice fruits;

¹⁴Nard and saffron, calamus and cinnamon,
with all kinds of incense;

Myrrh and aloes,
with all the finest spices.

¹⁵You are a garden fountain, a well of water flowing fresh from Lebanon.

¹⁶Arise, north wind! Come, south wind! blow upon my garden
that its perfumes may spread abroad.
Let my lover come to his garden and eat its choice fruits.

5 I have come to my garden, my sister, my bride;
I gather my myrrh and my spices,
I eat my honey and my sweetmeats,
I drink my wine and my milk.
Eat, friends; drink! Drink freely of love!

²I was sleeping, but my heart kept vigil;
I heard my lover knocking:
"Open to me, my sister, my beloved,
my dove, my perfect one!
For my head is wet with dew,
my locks with the moisture of the night."

³I have taken off my robe,
am I then to put it on?
I have bathed my feet,
am I then to soil them?

⁴My lover put his hand through the opening;
my heart trembled within me,
and I grew faint when he spoke.

⁵I rose to open to my lover,
with my hands dripping myrrh:
With my fingers dripping choice myrrh upon the fittings of the lock.

⁶I opened to my lover-
but my lover had departed, gone.

I sought him but I did not find him;
I called to him but he did not answer me.

⁷The watchmen came upon me
as they made their rounds of the city;
They struck me, and wounded me,
and took my mantle from me,
the guardians of the walls.

⁸I adjure you, daughters of Jerusalem,
if you find my lover-
What shall you tell him?-
that I am faint with love.

⁹How does your lover differ from any other,
O most beautiful among women?
How does your lover differ from any other,
that you adjure us so?

¹⁰My lover is radiant and ruddy;
he stands out among thousands.

¹¹His head is pure gold;
his locks are palm fronds,
black as the raven.

¹²His eyes are like doves
beside running waters,
His teeth would seem bathed in milk,
and are set like jewels.

¹³His cheeks are like beds of spice with ripening aromatic herbs.
His lips are red blossoms;
they drip choice myrrh.

¹⁴His arms are rods of gold adorned with chrysolites.
His body is a work of ivory covered with sapphires.

¹⁵His legs are columns of marble resting on golden bases.

His stature is like the trees on Lebanon, imposing as the cedars.

¹⁶His mouth is sweetness itself;
he is all delight.
Such is my lover, and such my friend,
O daughters of Jerusalem.

6Where has your lover gone,
O most beautiful among women?
Where has your lover gone
that we may seek him with you?

²My lover has come down to his garden,
to the beds of spice,
To browse in the garden
and to gather lilies.

³My lover belongs to me and I to him;
he browses among the lilies.

⁴You are as beautiful as Tirzah, my beloved,
as lovely as Jerusalem,
as awe-inspiring as bannered troops.

⁵Turn your eyes from me,
for they torment me.
Your hair is like a flock of goats
streaming down from Gilead.

⁶Your teeth are like a flock of ewes
which come up from the washing,
All of them big with twins,
none of them thin and barren.

⁷Your cheek is like a half-pomegranate
behind your veil.

⁸There are sixty queens, eighty concubines, and maidens without number-

⁹One alone is my dove, my perfect one,
her mother's chosen,
the dear one of her parent.
The daughters saw her and declared her fortunate,
the queens and concubines, and they sang her praises;

¹⁰Who is this that comes forth like the dawn,
as beautiful as the moon, as resplendent as the sun,
as awe-inspiring as bannered troops?

¹¹I came down to the nut garden to look at the fresh growth of the valley,
To see if the vines were in bloom.
if the pomegranates had blossomed.

¹²Before I knew it, my heart had made me
the blessed one of my kinswomen.

7 Turn, turn, O Shulammitte, turn, turn, that we may look at you!
Why would you look at the Shulammitte as at the dance of the two companies?

²How beautiful are your feet in sandals,
O prince's daughter!
Your rounded thighs are like jewels,
the handiwork of an artist.

³Your navel is a round bowl that should never lack for mixed wine.
Your body is a heap of wheat encircled with lilies.

⁴Your breasts are like twin fawns,
the young of a gazelle.

⁵Your neck is like a tower of ivory.
Your eyes are like the pools in Heshbon
by the gate of Bath-rabbim.
Your nose is like the tower on Lebanon that looks toward Damascus.

⁶You head rises like Carmel;
your hair is like draperies of purple;
a king is held captive in its tresses.

⁷How beautiful you are, how pleasing,
my love, my delight!

⁸Your very figure is like a palm tree, your breasts are like clusters.

⁹I said: I will climb the palm tree,
I will take hold of its branches.
Now let your breasts be like clusters of the vine and the fragrance of your breath like apples,

¹⁰And your mouth like an excellent wine-
that flows smoothly for my lover, spreading over the lips and the teeth.

¹¹I belong to my lover and for me he yearns.

¹²Come, my lover, let us go forth to the fields and spend the night among the villages.

¹³Let us go early to the vineyards, and see if the vines are in bloom,
If the buds have opened,
if the pomegranates have blossomed;
There will I give you my love.

¹⁴The mandrakes give forth fragrance,
and at our doors are all choice fruits;
Both fresh and mellowed fruits, my lover,
I have kept in store for you.

8 Oh, that you were my brother, nursed at my mother's breasts!
If I met you out of doors, I would kiss you and none would taunt me.

²I would lead you, bring you in to the home of my mother.
There you would teach me to give you spiced wine to drink and pomegranate juice.

³His left hand is under my head
and his right arm embraces me.

⁴I adjure you, daughters of Jerusalem,
by the gazelles and hinds of the field,
Do not arouse, do not stir up love,
before its own time.

⁵Who is this coming up from the desert,
leaning upon her lover?
Under the apple tree I awakened you;
it was there that your mother conceived you,
it was there that your parent conceived.

⁶Set me as a seal on your heart,
as a seal on your arm;
For stern as death is love,
relentless as the nether world is devotion;
its flames are a blazing fire.

⁷Deep waters cannot quench love,
nor floods sweep it away.
Were one to offer all he owns to purchase love,
he would be roundly mocked.

⁸"Our sister is little and she has no breasts as yet.
What shall we do for our sister when her courtship begins?"

⁹If she is a wall,
we will build upon it a silver parapet;
If she is a door,
we will reinforce it with a cedar plank."

¹⁰I am a wall,
and my breasts are like towers.

So now in his eyes I have become one to be welcomed.

¹¹Solomon had a vineyard at Baal-hamon;
he gave over the vineyard to caretakers.
For its fruit one would have to pay a thousand silver pieces.

¹²My vineyard is at my own disposal;
the thousand pieces are for you, O Solomon, and two hundred for the caretakers of its fruit.

¹³O garden-dweller,
my friends are listening for your voice,
let me hear it!

¹⁴Be swift, my lover,
like a gazelle or a young stag
on the mountains of spices!

Wisdom of Solomon

- 1 Love justice, you who judge the earth; think of the LORD in goodness, and seek him in integrity of heart;
- 2 Because he is found by those who test him not, and he manifests himself to those who do not disbelieve him.
- 3 For perverse counsels separate a man from God, and his power, put to the proof, rebukes the foolhardy;
- 4 Because into a soul that plots evil wisdom enters not, nor dwells she in a body under debt of sin.
- 5 For the holy spirit of discipline flees deceit and withdraws from senseless counsels; and when injustice occurs it is rebuked.
- 6 For wisdom is a kindly spirit, yet she acquits not the blasphemer of his guilty lips; Because God is the witness of his inmost self and the sure observer of his heart and the listener to his tongue.
- 7 For the spirit of the LORD fills the world, is all-embracing, and knows what man says.
- 8 Therefore no one who utters wicked things can go unnoticed, nor will chastising condemnation pass him by.
- 9 For the devices of the wicked man shall be scrutinized, and the sound of his words shall reach the LORD, for the chastisement of his transgressions;
- 10 Because a jealous ear hearkens to everything, and discordant grumblings are no secret.
- 11 Therefore guard against profitless grumbling, and from calumny withhold your tongues; For a stealthy utterance does not go unpunished, and a lying mouth slays the soul.
- 12 Court not death by your erring way of life, nor draw to yourselves destruction by the works of your hands.

¹³Because God did not make death, nor does he rejoice in the destruction of the living.

¹⁴For he fashioned all things that they might have being; and the creatures of the world are wholesome, And there is not a destructive drug among them nor any domain of the nether world on earth,

¹⁵For justice is undying.

¹⁶It was the wicked who with hands and words invited death, considered it a friend, and pined for it, and made a covenant with it, Because they deserve to be in its possession,

2they who said among themselves, thinking not aright: "Brief and troublous is our lifetime; neither is there any remedy for man's dying, nor is anyone known to have come back from the nether world.

²For haphazard were we born, and hereafter we shall be as though we had not been; Because the breath in our nostrils is a smoke and reason is a spark at the beating of our hearts,

³And when this is quenched, our body will be ashes and our spirit will be poured abroad like unresisting air.

⁴Even our name will be forgotten in time, and no one will recall our deeds. So our life will pass away like the traces of a cloud, and will be dispersed like a mist pursued by the sun's rays and overpowered by its heat.

⁵For our lifetime is the passing of a shadow; and our dying cannot be deferred because it is fixed with a seal; and no one returns.

⁶Come, therefore, let us enjoy the good things that are real, and use the freshness of creation avidly.

⁷Let us have our fill of costly wine and perfumes, and let no springtime blossom pass us by;

⁸let us crown ourselves with rosebuds ere they wither.

⁹Let no meadow be free from our wantonness; everywhere let us leave tokens of our rejoicing, for this our portion is, and this our lot.

- ¹⁰Let us oppress the needy just man; let us neither spare the widow nor revere the old man for his hair grown white with time.
- ¹¹But let our strength be our norm of justice; for weakness proves itself useless.
- ¹²Let us beset the just one, because he is obnoxious to us; he sets himself against our doings, Reproaches us for transgressions of the law and charges us with violations of our training.
- ¹³He professes to have knowledge of God and styles himself a child of the LORD.
- ¹⁴To us he is the censure of our thoughts; merely to see him is a hardship for us,
- ¹⁵Because his life is not like other men's, and different are his ways.
- ¹⁶He judges us debased; he holds aloof from our paths as from things impure. He calls blest the destiny of the just and boasts that God is his Father.
- ¹⁷Let us see whether his words be true; let us find out what will happen to him.
- ¹⁸For if the just one be the son of God, he will defend him and deliver him from the hand of his foes.
- ¹⁹With revilement and torture let us put him to the test that we may have proof of his gentleness and try his patience.
- ²⁰Let us condemn him to a shameful death; for according to his own words, God will take care of him."
- ²¹These were their thoughts, but they erred; for their wickedness blinded them,
- ²²And they knew not the hidden counsels of God; neither did they count on a recompense of holiness nor discern the innocent souls' reward.
- ²³For God formed man to be imperishable; the image of his own nature he made him.
- ²⁴But by the envy of the devil, death entered the world, and they who are in his possession experience it.

3 But the souls of the just are in the hand of God, and no torment shall touch them.

²They seemed, in the view of the foolish, to be dead; and their passing away was thought an affliction

³and their going forth from us, utter destruction. But they are in peace.

⁴For if before men, indeed, they be punished, yet is their hope full of immortality;

⁵Chastised a little, they shall be greatly blessed, because God tried them and found them worthy of himself.

⁶As gold in the furnace, he proved them, and as sacrificial offerings he took them to himself.

⁷In the time of their visitation they shall shine, and shall dart about as sparks through stubble;

⁸They shall judge nations and rule over peoples, and the LORD shall be their King forever.

⁹Those who trust in him shall understand truth, and the faithful shall abide with him in love: Because grace and mercy are with his holy ones, and his care is with the elect.

¹⁰But the wicked shall receive a punishment to match their thoughts, since they neglected justice and forsook the LORD.

¹¹For he who despises wisdom and instruction is doomed. Vain is their hope, fruitless are their labors, and worthless are their works.

¹²Their wives are foolish and their children wicked; accursed is their brood.

¹³Yes, blessed is she who, childless and undefiled, knew not transgression of the marriage bed; she shall bear fruit at the visitation of souls.

¹⁴So also the eunuch whose hand wrought no misdeed, who held no wicked thoughts against the LORD- For he shall be given fidelity's choice reward and a more gratifying heritage in the LORD'S temple.

¹⁵For the fruit of noble struggles is a glorious one; and unailing is the root of understanding.

¹⁶But the children of adulterers will remain without issue, and the progeny of an unlawful bed will disappear.

¹⁷For should they attain long life, they will be held in no esteem, and dishonored will their old age be at last;

¹⁸While should they die abruptly, they have no hope nor comfort in the day of scrutiny;

¹⁹for dire is the end of the wicked generation.

4Better is childlessness with virtue; for immortal is its memory: because both by God is it acknowledged, and by men.

²When it is present men imitate it, and they long for it when it is gone; And forever it marches crowned in triumph, victorious in unsullied deeds of valor.

³But the numerous progeny of the wicked shall be of no avail; their spurious offshoots shall not strike deep root nor take firm hold.

⁴For even though their branches flourish for a time, they are unsteady and shall be rocked by the wind and, by the violence of the winds, uprooted;

⁵Their twigs shall be broken off untimely, and their fruit be useless, unripe for eating, and fit for nothing.

⁶For children born of lawless unions give evidence of the wickedness of their parents, when they are examined.

⁷But the just man, though he die early, shall be at rest.

⁸For the age that is honorable comes not with the passing of time, nor can it be measured in terms of years.

⁹Rather, understanding is the hoary crown for men, and an unsullied life, the attainment of old age.

¹⁰He who pleased God was loved; he who lived among sinners was transported--

¹¹Snatched away, lest wickedness pervert his mind or deceit beguile his soul;

¹²For the witchery of paltry things obscures what is right and the whirl of desire transforms the innocent mind.

¹³Having become perfect in a short while, he reached the fullness of a long career;

¹⁴for his soul was pleasing to the LORD, therefore he sped him out of the midst of wickedness. But the people saw and did not understand, nor did they take this into account.

¹⁶Yes, the just man dead condemns the sinful who live, and youth swiftly completed condemns the many years of the wicked man grown old.

¹⁷For they see the death of the wise man and do not understand what the LORD intended for him, or why he made him secure.

¹⁸They see, and hold him in contempt; but the LORD laughs them to scorn.

¹⁹And they shall afterward become dishonored corpses and an unceasing mockery among the dead. For he shall strike them down speechless and prostrate and rock them to their foundations; They shall be utterly laid waste and shall be in grief and their memory shall perish.

²⁰Fearful shall they come, at the counting up of their sins, and their lawless deeds shall convict them to their face.

5 Then shall the just one with great assurance confront his oppressors who set at nought his labors.

²Seeing this, they shall be shaken with dreadful fear, and amazed at the unlooked-for salvation.

³They shall say among themselves, rueful and groaning through anguish of spirit: "This is he whom once we held as a laughingstock and as a type for mockery, ⁴fools that we were! His life we accounted madness, and his death dishonored.

⁵See how he is accounted among the sons of God; how his lot is with the saints!

⁶We, then, have strayed from the way of truth, and the light of justice did not shine for us, and the sun did not rise for us.

⁷We had our fill of the ways of mischief and of ruin; we journeyed through impassable deserts, but the way of the LORD we knew not.

⁸What did our pride avail us? What have wealth and its boastfulness afforded us?

⁹All of them passed like a shadow and like a fleeting rumor;

¹⁰Like a ship traversing the heaving water, of which, when it has passed, no trace can be found, no path of its keel in the waves.

¹¹Or like a bird flying through the air; no evidence of its course is to be found- But the fluid air, lashed by the beat of pinions, and cleft by the rushing force Of speeding wings, is traversed: and afterward no mark of passage can be found in it.

¹²Or as, when an arrow has been shot at a mark, the parted air straightway flows together again so that none discerns the way it went through-

¹³Even so we, once born, abruptly came to nought and held no sign of virtue to display, but were consumed in our wickedness."

¹⁴Yes, the hope of the wicked is like thistledown borne on the wind, and like fine, tempest-driven foam; Like smoke scattered by the wind, and like the passing memory of the nomad camping for a single day.

¹⁵But the just live forever, and in the LORD is their recompense, and the thought of them is with the Most High.

¹⁶Therefore shall they receive the splendid crown, the beauteous diadem, from the hand of the LORD- For he shall shelter them with his right hand, and protect them with his arm.

¹⁷He shall take his zeal for armor and he shall arm creation to requite the enemy;

¹⁸He shall don justice for a breastplate and shall wear sure judgment for a helmet;

¹⁹He shall take invincible rectitude as a shield

²⁰and whet his sudden anger for a sword, And the universe shall war with him against the foolhardy.

²¹Well-aimed shafts of lightnings shall go forth and from the clouds as from a well-drawn bow shall leap to the mark;

²²and as from his sling, wrathful hailstones shall be hurled. The water of the sea shall be enraged against them and the streams shall abruptly overflow;

²³A mighty wind shall confront them and a tempest winnow them out; Thus lawlessness shall lay the whole earth waste and evildoing overturn the thrones of potentates.

6Hear, therefore, kings, and understand; learn, you magistrates of the earth's expanse!

²Hearken, you who are in power over the multitude and lord it over throngs of peoples!

³Because authority was given you by the LORD and sovereignty by the Most High, who shall probe your works and scrutinize your counsels!

⁴Because, though you were ministers of his kingdom, you judged not rightly, and did not keep the law, nor walk according to the will of God,

⁵Terribly and swiftly shall he come against you, because judgment is stern for the exalted-

⁶For the lowly may be pardoned out of mercy but the mighty shall be mightily put to the test.

⁷For the Lord of all shows no partiality, nor does he fear greatness, Because he himself made the great as well as the small, and he provides for all alike;

⁸but for those in power a rigorous scrutiny impends.

⁹To you, therefore, O princes, are my words addressed that you may learn wisdom and that you may not sin.

¹⁰For those who keep the holy precepts hallowed shall be found holy, and those learned in them will have ready a response.

¹¹Desire therefore my words; long for them and you shall be instructed.

¹²Resplendent and unfading is Wisdom, and she is readily perceived by those who love her, and found by those who seek her.

¹³She hastens to make herself known in anticipation of men's desire;

¹⁴he who watches for her at dawn shall not be disappointed, for he shall find her sitting by his gate.

¹⁵For taking thought of her is the perfection of prudence, and he who for her sake keeps vigil shall quickly be free from care;

¹⁶Because she makes her own rounds, seeking those worthy of her, and graciously appears to them in the ways, and meets them with all solicitude.

¹⁷For the first step toward discipline is a very earnest desire for her; then, care for discipline is love of her;

¹⁸love means the keeping of her laws; To observe her laws is the basis for incorruptibility;

¹⁹and incorruptibility makes one close to God;

²⁰thus the desire for Wisdom leads up to a kingdom.

²¹If, then, you find pleasure in throne and scepter, you princes of the peoples, honor Wisdom, that you may reign as kings forever.

²²Now what wisdom is, and how she came to be I shall relate; and I shall hide no secrets from you, But from the very beginning I shall search out and bring to light knowledge of her, nor shall I diverge from the truth.

²³Neither shall I admit consuming jealousy to my company, because that can have no fellowship with Wisdom.

²⁴A great number of wise men is the safety of the world, and a prudent king, the stability of his people;

²⁵so take instruction from my words, to your profit.

7 I too am a mortal man, the same as all the rest, and a descendant of the first man formed on earth. And in my mother's womb I was molded into flesh

²in a ten-months' period-body and blood, from the seed of man, and the pleasure that accompanies marriage.

³And I too, when born, inhaled the common air, and fell upon the kindred earth; wailing, I uttered that first sound common to all.

⁴In swaddling clothes and with constant care I was nurtured.

⁵For no king has any different origin or birth,

⁶but one is the entry into life for all; and in one same way they leave it.

⁷Therefore I prayed, and prudence was given me; I pleaded and the spirit of Wisdom came to me.

⁸I preferred her to scepter and throne, And deemed riches nothing in comparison with her,

⁹nor did I liken any priceless gem to her; Because all gold, in view of her, is a little sand, and before her, silver is to be accounted mire.

¹⁰Beyond health and comeliness I loved her, And I chose to have her rather than the light, because the splendor of her never yields to sleep.

¹¹Yet all good things together came to me in her company, and countless riches at her hands;

¹²And I rejoiced in them all, because Wisdom is their leader, though I had not known that she is the mother of these.

¹³Simply I learned about her, and ungrudgingly do I share- her riches I do not hide away;

¹⁴For to men she is an unfailing treasure; those who gain this treasure win the friendship of God, to whom the gifts they have from discipline commend them.

¹⁵Now God grant I speak suitably and value these endowments at their worth: For he is the guide of Wisdom and the director of the wise.

¹⁶For both we and our words are in his hand, as well as all prudence and knowledge of crafts.

¹⁷For he gave me sound knowledge of existing things, that I might know the organization of the universe and the force of its elements,

¹⁸The beginning and the end and the midpoint of times, the changes in the sun's course and the variations of the seasons.

¹⁹Cycles of years, positions of the stars,

²⁰natures of animals, tempers of beasts, Powers of the winds and thoughts of men, uses of plants and virtues of roots-

²¹Such things as are hidden I learned and such as are plain;

²²for Wisdom, the artificer of all, taught me. For in her is a spirit intelligent, holy, unique, Manifold, subtle, agile, clear, unstained, certain, Not baneful, loving the good, keen, unhampered, beneficent, ²³kindly, Firm, secure, tranquil, all-powerful, all-seeing, And pervading all spirits, though they be intelligent, pure and very subtle.

²⁴For Wisdom is mobile beyond all motion, and she penetrates and pervades all things by reason of her purity.

²⁵For she is an aura of the might of God and a pure effusion of the glory of the Almighty; therefore nought that is sullied enters into her.

²⁶For she is the refulgence of eternal light, the spotless mirror of the power of God, the image of his goodness.

²⁷And she, who is one, can do all things, and renews everything while herself perduring; And passing into holy souls from age to age, she produces friends of God and prophets.

²⁸For there is nought God loves, be it not one who dwells with Wisdom.

²⁹For she is fairer than the sun and surpasses every constellation of the stars. Compared to light, she takes precedence;

³⁰for that, indeed, night supplants, but wickedness prevails not over Wisdom.

8 Indeed, she reaches from end to end mightily and governs all things well.

²Her I loved and sought after from my youth; I sought to take her for my bride and was enamored of her beauty.

³She adds to nobility the splendor of companionship with God; even the LORD of all loved her.

⁴For she is instructress in the understanding of God, the selector of his works.

⁵And if riches be a desirable possession in life, what is more rich than Wisdom, who produces all things?

⁶And if prudence renders service, who in the world is a better craftsman than she?

⁷Or if one loves justice, the fruits of her works are virtues; For she teaches moderation and prudence, justice and fortitude, and nothing in life is more useful for men than these.

⁸Or again, if one yearns for copious learning, she knows the things of old, and infers those yet to come. She understands the turns of phrases and the solutions of riddles; signs and wonders she knows in advance and the outcome of times and ages.

⁹So I determined to take her to live with me, knowing that she would be my counselor while all was well, and my comfort in care and grief.

¹⁰For her sake I should have glory among the masses, and esteem from the elders, though I be but a youth.

¹¹I should become keen in judgment, and should be a marvel before rulers.

¹²They would abide my silence and attend my utterance; and as I spoke on further, they would place their hands upon their mouths.

¹³For her sake I should have immortality and leave to those after me an everlasting memory.

¹⁴I should govern peoples, and nations would be my subjects-

¹⁵terrible princes, hearing of me, would be afraid; in the assembly I should appear noble, and in war courageous.

¹⁶Within my dwelling, I should take my repose beside her; For association with her involves no bitterness and living with her no grief, but rather joy and gladness.

¹⁷Thinking thus within myself, and reflecting in my heart That there is immortality in kinship with Wisdom,

¹⁸and good pleasure in her friendship, and unfailing riches in the works of her hands, And that in frequenting her society there is prudence, and fair renown in sharing her discourses, I went about seeking to take her for my own.

¹⁹Now, I was a well-favored child, and I came by a noble nature;

²⁰or rather, being noble, I attained an unsullied body.

²¹And knowing that I could not otherwise possess her except God gave it-- and this, too, was prudence, to know whose is the gift-- I went to the LORD and besought him, and said with all my heart:

9 God of my fathers, LORD of mercy. you who have made all things by your word

²And in your wisdom have established man to rule the creatures produced by you,

³To govern the world in holiness and justice, and to render judgment in integrity of heart:

⁴Give me Wisdom, the attendant at your throne, and reject me not from among your children;

⁵For I am your servant, the son of your handmaid, a man weak and short-lived and lacking in comprehension of judgment and of laws.

⁶Indeed, though one be perfect among the sons of men, if Wisdom, who comes from you, be not with him, he shall be held in no esteem.

⁷You have chosen me king over your people and magistrate for your sons and daughters.

⁸You have bid me build a temple on your holy mountain and an altar in the city that is your dwelling place, a copy of the holy tabernacle which you had established from of old.

⁹Now with you is Wisdom, who knows your works and was present when you made the world; Who understands what is pleasing in your eyes and what is conformable with your commands.

¹⁰Send her forth from your holy heavens and from your glorious throne dispatch her
That she may be with me and work with me, that I may know what is your pleasure.

¹¹For she knows and understands all things, and will guide me discreetly in my affairs and safeguard me by her glory;

¹²Thus my deeds will be acceptable, and I shall judge your people justly and be worthy of my father's throne.

¹³For what man knows God's counsel, or who can conceive what our LORD intends?

¹⁴For the deliberations of mortals are timid, and unsure are our plans.

¹⁵For the corruptible body burdens the soul and the earthen shelter weighs down the mind that has many concerns.

¹⁶And scarce do we guess the things on earth, and what is within our grasp we find with difficulty; but when things are in heaven, who can search them out?

¹⁷Or who ever knew your counsel, except you had given Wisdom and sent your holy spirit from on high?

¹⁸And thus were the paths of those on earth made straight, and men learned what was your pleasure, and were saved by Wisdom.

10 She preserved the first-formed father of the world when he alone had been created; And she raised him up from his fall,

²and gave him power to rule all things.

³But when the unjust man withdrew from her in his anger, he perished through his fratricidal wrath.

⁴When on his account the earth was flooded, Wisdom again saved it, piloting the just man on frailest wood.

⁵She, when the nations were sunk in universal wickedness, knew the just man, kept him blameless before God, and preserved him resolute against pity for his child.

⁶She delivered the just man from among the wicked who were being destroyed, when he fled as fire descended upon Pentapolis--

⁷Where as a testimony to its wickedness, there yet remain a smoking desert, Plants bearing fruit that never ripens, and the tomb of a disbelieving soul, a standing pillar of salt.

⁸For those who forsook Wisdom first were bereft of knowledge of the right, And then they left mankind a memorial of their folly-- so that they could not even be hidden in their fall.

⁹But Wisdom delivered from tribulations those who served her.

¹⁰She, when the just man fled from his brother's anger, guided him in direct ways, Showed him the kingdom of God and gave him knowledge of holy things; She prospered him in his labors and made abundant the fruit of his works,

¹¹Stood by him against the greed of his defrauders, and enriched him;

¹²She preserved him from foes, and secured him against ambush, And she gave him the prize for his stern struggle that he might know that devotion to God is mightier than all else.

¹³She did not abandon the just man when he was sold, but delivered him from sin.

¹⁴She went down with him into the dungeon, and did not desert him in his bonds, Until she brought him the scepter of royalty and authority over his oppressors, Showed those who had defamed him false, and gave him eternal glory.

¹⁵The holy people and blameless race--it was she who delivered them from the nation that oppressed them.

¹⁶She entered the soul of the LORD'S servant, and withstood fearsome kings with signs and portents;

¹⁷she gave the holy ones the recompense of their labors, Conducted them by a wondrous road, and became a shelter for them by day and a starry flame by night.

¹⁸She took them across the Red Sea and brought them through the deep waters--

¹⁹But their enemies she overwhelmed, and cast them up from the bottom of the depths.

²⁰Therefore the just despoiled the wicked; and they sang, O LORD, your holy name

²¹Because Wisdom opened the mouths of the dumb, and gave ready speech to infants.

11 She made their affairs prosper through the holy prophet.

²They journeyed through the uninhabited desert, and in solitudes they pitched their tents;

³they withstood enemies and took vengeance on their foes.

⁴When they thirsted, they called upon you, and water was given them from the sheer rock, assuagement for their thirst from the hard stone.

⁵For by the things through which their foes were punished they in their need were benefited.

⁶Instead of a spring, when the perennial river was troubled with impure blood

⁷as a rebuke to the decree for the slaying of infants, You gave them abundant water in an unhoped-for way,

⁸once you had shown by the thirst they then had how you punished their adversaries.

⁹For when they had been tried, though only mildly chastised, they recognized how the wicked, condemned in anger, were being tormented.

¹⁰the latter you tested, admonishing them as a father; the former as a stern king you probed and condemned.

¹¹Both those afar off and those close by were afflicted:

¹²For a twofold grief took hold of them and a groaning at the remembrance of the ones who had departed.

¹³For when they heard that the cause of their own torments was a benefit to these others, they recognized the Lord.

¹⁴Him who of old had been cast out in exposure they indeed mockingly rejected; but in the end of events, they marveled at him, since their thirst proved unlike that of the just.

¹⁵And in return for their senseless, wicked thoughts, which misled them into worshiping dumb serpents and worthless insects, You sent upon them swarms of dumb creatures for vengeance;

¹⁶that they might recognize that a man is punished by the very things through which he sins.

¹⁷For not without means was your almighty hand, that had fashioned the universe from formless matter, to send upon them a drove of bears or fierce lions,

¹⁸Or new-created, wrathful, unknown beasts to breathe forth fiery breath, Or pour out roaring smoke, or flash terrible sparks from their eyes.

¹⁹Not only could these attack and completely destroy them; even their frightful appearance itself could slay.

²⁰Even without these, they could have been killed at a single blast, pursued by retribution and winnowed out by your mighty spirit; But you have disposed all things by measure and number and weight.

²¹For with you great strength abides always; who can resist the might of your arm?

²²Indeed, before you the whole universe is as a grain from a balance, or a drop of morning dew come down upon the earth.

²³But you have mercy on all, because you can do all things; and you overlook the sins of men that they may repent.

²⁴For you love all things that are and loathe nothing that you have made; for what you hated, you would not have fashioned.

²⁵And how could a thing remain, unless you willed it; or be preserved, had it not been called forth by you?

²⁶But you spare all things, because they are yours, O LORD and lover of souls, 12 for your imperishable spirit is in all things!

²Therefore you rebuke offenders little by little, warn them, and remind them of the sins they are committing, that they may abandon their wickedness and believe in you, O LORD!

³For truly, the ancient inhabitants of your holy land,

⁴whom you hated for deeds most odious-- Works of witchcraft and impious sacrifices;

⁵a cannibal feast of human flesh and of blood, from the midst of. . .-- These merciless murderers of children,

⁶and parents who took with their own hands defenseless lives, You willed to destroy by the hands of our fathers,

⁷that the land that is dearest of all to you might receive a worthy colony of God's children.

⁸But even these, as they were men, you spared, and sent wasps as forerunners of your army that they might exterminate them by degrees.

⁹Not that you were without power to have the wicked vanquished in battle by the just, or wiped out at once by terrible beasts or by one decisive word;

¹⁰But condemning them bit by bit, you gave them space for repentance. You were not unaware that their race was wicked and their malice ingrained, And that their dispositions would never change;

¹¹for they were a race accursed from the beginning. Neither out of fear for anyone did you grant amnesty for their sins.

¹²For who can say to you, "What have you done?" or who can oppose your decree? Or when peoples perish, who can challenge you, their maker; or who can come into your presence as vindicator of unjust men?

¹³For neither is there any god besides you who have the care of all, that you need show you have not unjustly condemned;

¹⁴Nor can any king or prince confront you on behalf of those you have punished.

¹⁵But as you are just, you govern all things justly; you regard it as unworthy of your power to punish one who has incurred no blame.

- ¹⁶For your might is the source of justice; your mastery over all things makes you lenient to all.
- ¹⁷For you show your might when the perfection of your power is disbelieved; and in those who know you, you rebuke temerity.
- ¹⁸But though you are master of might, you judge with clemency, and with much lenience you govern us; for power, whenever you will, attends you.
- ¹⁹And you taught your people, by these deeds, that those who are just must be kind; And you gave your sons good ground for hope that you would permit repentance for their sins.
- ²⁰For these were enemies of your servants, doomed to death; yet, while you punished them with such solicitude and pleading, granting time and opportunity to abandon wickedness,
- ²¹With what exactitude you judged your sons, to whose fathers you gave the sworn covenants of goodly promises!
- ²²Us, therefore, you chastise and our enemies with a thousand blows you punish, that we may think earnestly of your goodness when we judge, and, when being judged, may look for mercy.
- ²³Hence those unjust also, who lived a life of folly, you tormented through their own abominations.
- ²⁴For they went far astray in the paths of error, taking for gods the worthless and disgusting among beasts, deceived like senseless infants.
- ²⁵Therefore as though upon unreasoning children, you sent your judgment on them as a mockery;
- ²⁶But they who took no heed of punishment which was but child's play were to experience a condemnation worthy of God.
- ²⁷For in the things through which they suffered distress, since they were tortured by the very things they deemed gods, They saw and recognized the true God whom before they had refused to know; with this, their final condemnation came upon them.

13 For all men were by nature foolish who were in ignorance of God, and who from the good things seen did not succeed in knowing him who is, and from studying the works did not discern the artisan;

² But either fire, or wind, or the swift air, or the circuit of the stars, or the mighty water, or the luminaries of heaven, the governors of the world, they considered gods.

³ Now if out of joy in their beauty they thought them gods, let them know how far more excellent is the Lord than these; for the original source of beauty fashioned them.

⁴ Or if they were struck by their might and energy, let them from these things realize how much more powerful is he who made them.

⁵ For from the greatness and the beauty of created things their original author, by analogy, is seen.

⁶ But yet, for these the blame is less; For they indeed have gone astray perhaps, though they seek God and wish to find him.

⁷ For they search busily among his works, but are distracted by what they see, because the things seen are fair.

⁸ But again, not even these are pardonable.

⁹ For if they so far succeeded in knowledge that they could speculate about the world, how did they not more quickly find its LORD?

¹¹ A carpenter may saw out a suitable tree and skillfully scrape off all its bark, And deftly plying his art, produce something fit for daily use,

¹² and use up the refuse from his handiwork in preparing his food, and have his fill;

¹³ Then the good-for-nothing refuse from these remnants, crooked wood grown full of knots, he takes and carves to occupy his spare time. This wood he models with listless skill, and patterns it on the image of a man

¹⁴or makes it resemble some worthless beast. When he has daubed it with red and crimsoned its surface with red stain, and daubed over every blemish in it,

¹⁵He makes a fitting shrine for it and puts it on the wall, fastening it with a nail.

¹⁶Thus lest it fall down he provides for it, knowing that it cannot help itself; for, truly, it is an image and needs help.

¹⁷But when he prays about his goods or marriage or children, he is not ashamed to address the thing without a soul. And for vigor he invokes the powerless;

¹⁸and for life he entreats the dead; And for aid he beseeches the wholly incompetent, and about travel, something that cannot even walk.

¹⁹And for profit in business and success with his hands he asks facility of a thing with hands completely inert.

14 Again, one preparing for a voyage and about to traverse the wild waves cries out to wood more unsound than the boat that bears him.

²For the urge for profits devised this latter, and Wisdom the artificer produced it.

³But your providence, O Father! guides it, for you have furnished even in the sea a road, and through the waves a steady path, ⁴Showing that you can save from any danger, so that even one without skill may embark.

⁵But you will that the products of your Wisdom be not idle; therefore men trust their lives even to frailest wood, and have been safe crossing the surge on a raft.

⁶For of old, when the proud giants were being destroyed, the hope of the universe, who took refuge on a raft, left to the world a future for his race, under the guidance of your hand.

⁷For blest is the wood through which justice comes about;

⁸but the handmade idol is accursed, and its maker as well: he for having produced it, and it, because though corruptible, it was termed a god.

⁹Equally odious to God are the evildoer and his evil deed;

¹⁰and the thing made shall be punished with its contriver.

¹¹Therefore upon even the idols of the nations shall a visitation come, since they have become abominable amid God's works, Snares for the souls of men and a trap for the feet of the senseless.

¹²For the source of wantonness is the devising of idols; and their invention was a corruption of life.

¹³For in the beginning they were not, nor shall they continue forever;

¹⁴for by the vanity of men they came into the world, and therefore a sudden end is devised for them.

¹⁵For a father, afflicted with untimely mourning, made an image of the child so quickly taken from him, And now honored as a god what was formerly a dead man and handed down to his subjects mysteries and sacrifices.

¹⁶Then, in time, the impious practice gained strength and was observed as law, and graven things were worshiped by princely decrees.

¹⁷Men who lived so far away that they could not honor him in his presence copied the appearance of the distant king And made a public image of him they wished to honor, out of zeal to flatter him when absent, as though present.

¹⁸And to promote this observance among those to whom it was strange, the artisan's ambition provided a stimulus.

¹⁹For he, mayhap in his determination to please the ruler, labored over the likeness to the best of his skill;

²⁰And the masses, drawn by the charm of the workmanship, soon thought he should be worshiped who shortly before was honored as a man.

²¹And this became a snare for mankind, that men enslaved to either grief or tyranny conferred the incommunicable Name on stocks and stones.

²²Then it was not enough for them to err in their knowledge of God; but even though they live in a great war of ignorance, they call such evils peace.

²³For while they celebrate either child-slaying sacrifices or clandestine mysteries, or frenzied carousals in unheard-of rites, ²⁴They no longer safeguard either lives or pure wedlock; but each either waylays and kills his neighbor, or aggrieves him by adultery.

²⁵And all is confusion-blood and murder, theft and guile, corruption, faithlessness, turmoil, perjury, ²⁶Disturbance of good men, neglect of gratitude, besmirching of souls, unnatural lust, disorder in marriage, adultery and shamelessness.

²⁷For the worship of infamous idols is the reason and source and extremity of all evil.

²⁸For they either go mad with enjoyment, or prophesy lies, or live lawlessly or lightly forswear themselves.

²⁹For as their trust is in soulless idols, they expect no harm when they have sworn falsely.

³⁰But on both counts shall justice overtake them: because they thought ill of God and devoted themselves to idols, and because they deliberately swore false oaths, despising piety.

³¹For not the might of those that are sworn by but the retribution of sinners ever follows upon the transgression of the wicked.

15 But you, our God, are good and true, slow to anger, and governing all with mercy.

²For even if we sin, we are yours, and know your might; but we will not sin, knowing that we belong to you.

³For to know you well is complete justice, and to know your might is the root of immortality.

⁴For neither did the evil creation of men's fancy deceive us, nor the fruitless labor of painters, A form smeared with varied colors,

⁵the sight of which arouses yearning in the senseless man, till he longs for the inanimate form of a dead image.

⁶Lovers of evil things, and worthy of such hopes are they who make them and long for them and worship them.

⁷For truly the potter, laboriously working the soft earth, molds for our service each several article: Both the vessels that serve for clean purposes and their opposites, all alike; As to what shall be the use of each vessel of either class the worker in clay is the judge.

⁸And with misspent toil he molds a meaningless god from the selfsame clay; though he himself shortly before was made from the earth And after a little, is to go whence he was taken, when the life that was lent him is demanded back.

⁹But his concern is not that he is to die nor that his span of life is brief; Rather, he vies with goldsmiths and silversmiths and emulates molders of bronze, and takes pride in modeling counterfeits.

¹⁰Ashes his heart is! more worthless than earth is his hope, and more ignoble than clay his life;

¹¹Because he knew not the one who fashioned him, and breathed into him a quickening soul, and infused a vital spirit.

¹²Instead, he esteemed our life a plaything, and our span of life a holiday for gain; "For one must," says he, "make profit every way, be it even out of evil."

¹³For this man more than any knows that he is sinning, when out of earthen stuff he creates fragile vessels and idols alike.

¹⁴But all quite senseless, and worse than childish in mind, are the enemies of your people who enslaved them.

¹⁵For they esteemed all the idols of the nations gods, which have no use of the eyes for vision, nor nostrils to snuff the air, Nor ears to hear, nor fingers on their hands for feeling; even their feet are useless to walk with.

¹⁶For a man made them; one whose spirit has been lent him fashioned them. For no man succeeds in fashioning a god like himself;

¹⁷being mortal, he makes a dead thing with his lawless hands. For he is better than the things he worships; he at least lives, but never they.

¹⁸And besides, they worship the most loathsome beasts-- for compared as to folly, these are worse than the rest,

¹⁹Nor for their looks are they good or desirable beasts, but they have escaped both the approval of God and his blessing.

16Therefore they were fittingly punished by similar creatures, and were tormented by a swarm of insects.

²Instead of this punishment, you benefited your people with a novel dish, the delight they craved, by providing quail for their food;

³That those others, when they desired food, since the creatures sent to plague them were so loathsome, should be turned from even the craving of necessities, While these, after a brief period of privation, partook of a novel dish.

⁴For upon those oppressors, inexorable want had to come; but these needed only be shown how their enemies were being tormented.

⁵For when the dire venom of beasts came upon them and they were dying from the bite of crooked serpents, your anger endured not to the end.

⁶But as a warning, for a short time they were terrorized, though they had a sign of salvation, to remind them of the precept of your law.

⁷For he who turned toward it was saved, not by what he saw, but by you, the savior of all.

⁸And by this also you convinced our foes that you are he who delivers from all evil.

⁹For the bites of locusts and of flies slew them, and no remedy was found to save their lives because they deserved to be punished by such means;

¹⁰But not even the fangs of poisonous reptiles overcame your sons, for your mercy brought the antidote to heal them.

¹¹For as a reminder of your injunctions, they were stung, and swiftly they were saved, Lest they should fall into deep forgetfulness and become unresponsive to your beneficence.

¹²For indeed, neither herb nor application cured them, but your all-healing word, O LORD!

¹³For you have dominion over life and death; you lead down to the gates of the nether world, and lead back.

¹⁴Man, however, slays in his malice, but when the spirit has come away, it does not return, nor can he bring back the soul once it is confined.

¹⁵But your hand none can escape.

¹⁶For the wicked who refused to know you were punished by the might of your arm, Pursued by unwonted rains and hailstorms and unremitting downpours, and consumed by fire.

¹⁷For against all expectation, in water which quenches anything, the fire grew more active; For the universe fights on behalf of the just.

¹⁸For now the flame was tempered so that the beasts might not be burnt up that were sent upon the wicked, but that these might see and know they were struck by the judgment of God;

¹⁹And again, even in the water, fire blazed beyond its strength so as to consume the produce of the wicked land.

²⁰Instead of this, you nourished your people with food of angels and furnished them bread from heaven, ready to hand, untoiled-for, endowed with all delights and conforming to every taste.

²¹For this substance of yours revealed your sweetness toward your children, and serving the desire of him who received it, was blended to whatever flavor each one wished.

²²Yet snow and ice withstood fire and were not melted, that they might know that their enemies' fruits Were consumed by a fire that blazed in the hail and flashed lightning in the rain.

²³But this fire, again, that the just might be nourished, forgot even its proper strength;

²⁴For your creation, serving you, its maker, grows tense for punishment against the wicked, but is relaxed in benefit for those who trust in you.

²⁵Therefore at that very time, transformed in all sorts of ways, it was serving your all-nourishing bounty according to what they needed and desired;

²⁶That your sons whom you loved might learn, O LORD, that it is not the various kinds of fruits that nourish man, but it is your word that preserves those who believe you!

²⁷For what was not destroyed by fire, when merely warmed by a momentary sunbeam, melted;

²⁸So that men might know that one must give you thanks before the sunrise, and turn to you at daybreak.

²⁹For the hope of the ingrate melts like a wintry frost and runs off like useless water.

17 For great are your judgments, and hardly to be described; therefore the unruly souls were wrong.

²For when the lawless thought to enslave the holy nation, shackled with darkness, fettered by the long night, they lay confined beneath their own roofs as exiles from the eternal providence.

³For they who supposed their secret sins were hid under the dark veil of oblivion Were scattered in fearful trembling, terrified by apparitions.

⁴For not even their inner chambers kept them fearless, for crashing sounds on all sides terrified them, and mute phantoms with somber looks appeared.

⁵No force, even of fire, was able to give light, nor did the flaming brilliance of the stars succeed in lighting up that gloomy night.

⁶But only intermittent, fearful fires flashed through upon them; And in their terror they thought beholding these was worse than the times when that sight was no longer to be seen.

⁷And mockeries of the magic art were in readiness, and a jeering reproof of their vaunted shrewdness.

⁸For they who undertook to banish fears and terrors from the sick soul themselves sickened with a ridiculous fear.

- ⁹For even though no monstrous thing frightened them, they shook at the passing of insects and the hissing of reptiles,
- ¹⁰And perished trembling, reluctant to face even the air that they could nowhere escape.
- ¹¹For wickedness, of its nature cowardly, testifies in its own condemnation, and because of a distressed conscience, always magnifies misfortunes.
- ¹²For fear is nought but the surrender of the helps that come from reason;
- ¹³and the more one's expectation is of itself uncertain, the more one makes of not knowing the cause that brings on torment.
- ¹⁴So they, during that night, powerless though it was, that had come upon them from the recesses of a powerless nether world, while all sleeping the same sleep,
- ¹⁵Were partly smitten by fearsome apparitions and partly stricken by their souls' surrender; for fear came upon them, sudden and unexpected.
- ¹⁶Thus, then, whoever was there fell into that unbarred prison and was kept confined.
- ¹⁷For whether one was a farmer, or a shepherd, or a worker at tasks in the wasteland, Taken unawares, he served out the inescapable sentence;
- ¹⁸for all were bound by the one bond of darkness. And were it only the whistling wind, or the melodious song of birds in the spreading branches, Or the steady sound of rushing water,
- ¹⁹or the rude crash of overthrown rocks, Or the unseen gallop of bounding animals, or the roaring cry of the fiercest beasts, Or an echo resounding from the hollow of the hills, these sounds, inspiring terror, paralyzed them.
- ²⁰For the whole world shone with brilliant light and continued its works without interruption;
- ²¹Over them alone was spread oppressive night, an image of the darkness that next should come upon them; yet they were to themselves more burdensome than the darkness.

18 But your holy ones had very great light; And those others, who heard their voices but did not see their forms, since now they themselves had suffered, called them blest;

² And because they who formerly had been wronged did not harm them, they thanked them, and pleaded with them, for the sake of the difference between them.

³ Instead of this, you furnished the flaming pillar which was a guide on the unknown way, and the mild sun for an honorable migration.

⁴ For those deserved to be deprived of light and imprisoned by darkness, who had kept your sons confined through whom the imperishable light of the law was to be given to the world.

⁵ When they determined to put to death the infants of the holy ones, and when a single boy had been cast forth but saved, As a reproof you carried off their multitude of sons and made them perish all at once in the mighty water.

⁶ That night was known beforehand to our fathers, that, with sure knowledge of the oaths in which they put their faith, they might have courage.

⁷ Your people awaited the salvation of the just and the destruction of their foes.

⁸ For when you punished our adversaries, in this you glorified us whom you had summoned.

¹⁰ But the discordant cry of their enemies responded, and the piteous wail of mourning for children was borne to them.

¹¹ And the slave was smitten with the same retribution as his master; even the plebeian suffered the same as the king.

¹² And all alike by a single death had countless dead; For the living were not even sufficient for the burial, since at a single instant their nobler offspring were destroyed.

¹³ For though they disbelieved at every turn on account of sorceries, at the destruction of the first-born they acknowledged that the people was God's son.

¹⁴For when peaceful stillness compassed everything and the night in its swift course was half spent,

¹⁵Your all-powerful word from heaven's royal throne bounded, a fierce warrior, into the doomed land,

¹⁶bearing the sharp sword of your inexorable decree. And as he alighted, he filled every place with death; he still reached to heaven, while he stood upon the earth.

¹⁷Then, forthwith, visions in horrible dreams perturbed them and unexpected fears assailed them;

¹⁸And cast half-dead, one here, another there, each was revealing the reason for his dying.

¹⁹For the dreams that disturbed them had proclaimed this beforehand, lest they perish unaware of why they suffered ill.

²⁰But the trial of death touched at one time even the just, and in the desert a plague struck the multitude; Yet not for long did the anger last.

²¹For the blameless man hastened to be their champion, bearing the weapon of his special office, prayer and the propitiation of incense; He withstood the wrath and put a stop to the calamity, showing that he was your servant.

²²And he overcame the bitterness not by bodily strength, not by force of arms; But by word he overcame the smiter, recalling the sworn covenants with their fathers.

²³For when corpses had already fallen one on another in heaps, he stood in the midst and checked the anger, and cut off the way to the living.

²⁴For on his full-length robe was the whole world, and the glories of the fathers were carved in four rows upon the stones, and your grandeur was on the crown upon his head.

²⁵To these names the destroyer yielded, and these he feared; for the mere trial of anger was enough.

19But the wicked, merciless wrath assailed until the end. For he knew beforehand what they were yet to do:

²That though they themselves had agreed to the departure and had anxiously sent them on their way, they would regret it and pursue them.

³For while they were still engaged in funeral rites and were mourning at the burials of the dead, They adopted another senseless plan; and those whom they had sent away with entreaty, they pursued as fugitives.

⁴For a compulsion suited to this ending drew them on, and made them forgetful of what had befallen them, That they might fill out the torments of their punishment,

⁵and your people might experience a glorious journey while those others met an extraordinary death.

⁶For all creation, in its several kinds, was being made over anew, serving its natural laws, that your children might be preserved unharmed.

⁷The cloud overshadowed their camp; and out of what had before been water, dry land was seen emerging: Out of the Red Sea an unimpeded road, and a grassy plain out of the mighty flood.

⁸Over this crossed the whole nation sheltered by your hand, after they beheld stupendous wonders.

⁹For they ranged about like horses, and bounded about like lambs, praising you, O LORD! their deliverer.

¹⁰For they were still mindful of what had happened in their sojourn: how instead of the young of animals the land brought forth gnats, and instead of fishes the river swarmed with countless frogs.

¹¹And later they saw also a new kind of bird when, prompted by desire, they asked for pleasant foods;

¹²For to appease them quail came to them from the sea.

¹³And the punishments came upon the sinners only after forewarnings from the violence of the thunderbolts. For they justly suffered for their own misdeeds, since indeed they treated their guests with the more grievous hatred.

¹⁴For those others did not receive unfamiliar visitors, but these were enslaving beneficent guests.

¹⁵And not that only; but what punishment was to be theirs since they received strangers unwillingly!

¹⁶Yet these, after welcoming them with festivities, oppressed with awful toils those who now shared with them the same rights.

¹⁷And they were struck with blindness, as those others had been at the portals of the just- When, surrounded by yawning darkness, each sought the entrance of his own gate.

¹⁸For the elements, in variable harmony among themselves, like strings of the harp, produce new melody, while the flow of music steadily persists. And this can be perceived exactly from a review of what took place.

¹⁹For land creatures were changed into water creatures, and those that swam went over on to the land.

²⁰Fire in water maintained its own strength, and water forgot its quenching nature;

²¹Flames, by contrast, neither consumed the flesh of the perishable animals that went about in them, nor melted the icelike, quick-melting kind of ambrosial food.

²²For every way, O LORD! you magnified and glorified your people; unfailing, you stood by them in every time and circumstance.

Sirach

- 1 All wisdom comes from the LORD and with him it remains forever.
- ²The sand of the seashore, the drops of rain, the days of eternity: who can number these?
- ³Heaven's height, earth's breadth, the depths of the abyss: who can explore these?
- ⁴Before all things else wisdom was created; and prudent understanding, from eternity.
- ⁵To whom has wisdom's root been revealed? Who knows her subtleties?
- ⁶There is but one, wise and truly awe-inspiring, seated upon his throne:
- ⁷It is the LORD; he created her, has seen her and taken note of her.
- ⁸He has poured her forth upon all his works, upon every living thing according to his bounty; he has lavished her upon his friends.
- ⁹Fear of the LORD is glory and splendor, gladness and a festive crown.
- ¹⁰Fear of the LORD warms the heart, giving gladness and joy and length of days.
- ¹¹He who fears the LORD will have a happy end; even on the day of his death he will be blessed.
- ¹²The beginning of wisdom is fear of the LORD, which is formed with the faithful in the womb.
- ¹³With devoted men was she created from of old, and with their children her beneficence abides.
- ¹⁴Fullness of wisdom is fear of the LORD; she inebriates men with her fruits.
- ¹⁵Her entire house she fills with choice foods, her granaries with her harvest.
- ¹⁶Wisdom's garland is fear of the LORD, with blossoms of peace and perfect health.

¹⁷ Knowledge and full understanding she showers down; she heightens the glory of those who possess her.

¹⁸ The root of wisdom is fear of the LORD; her branches are length of days.

¹⁹ One cannot justify unjust anger; anger plunges a man to his downfall.

²⁰ A patient man need stand firm but for a time, and then contentment comes back to him.

²¹ For a while he holds back his words, then the lips of many herald his wisdom.

²² Among wisdom's treasures is the paragon of prudence; but fear of the LORD is an abomination to the sinner.

²³ If you desire wisdom, keep the commandments, and the LORD will bestow her upon you;

²⁴ For fear of the LORD is wisdom and culture; loyal humility is his delight.

²⁵ Be not faithless to the fear of the LORD, nor approach it with duplicity of heart.

²⁶ Play not the hypocrite before men; over your lips keep watch.

²⁷ Exalt not yourself lest you fall and bring upon you dishonor;

²⁸ For then the LORD will reveal your secrets and publicly cast you down,

²⁹ Because you approached the fear of the LORD with your heart full of guile.

2 My son, when you come to serve the LORD, prepare yourself for trials.

² Be sincere of heart and steadfast, undisturbed in time of adversity.

³ Cling to him, forsake him not; thus will your future be great.

⁴ Accept whatever befalls you, in crushing misfortune be patient;

⁵ For in fire gold is tested, and worthy men in the crucible of humiliation.

⁶Trust God and he will help you; make straight your ways and hope in him.

⁷You who fear the LORD, wait for his mercy, turn not away lest you fall.

⁸You who fear the LORD, trust him, and your reward will not be lost.

⁹You who fear the LORD, hope for good things, for lasting joy and mercy.

¹⁰Study the generations long past and understand; has anyone hoped in the LORD and been disappointed? Has anyone persevered in his fear and been forsaken? has anyone called upon him and been rebuffed?

¹¹Compassionate and merciful is the LORD; he forgives sins, he saves in time of trouble.

¹²Woe to craven hearts and drooping hands, to the sinner who treads a double path!

¹³Woe to the faint of heart who trust not, who therefore will have no shelter!

¹⁴Woe to you who have lost hope! what will you do at the visitation of the LORD?

¹⁵Those who fear the LORD disobey not his words; those who love him keep his ways.

¹⁶Those who fear the LORD seek to please him, those who love him are filled with his law.

¹⁷Those who fear the LORD prepare their hearts and humble themselves before him.

¹⁸Let us fall into the hands of the LORD and not into the hands of men, For equal to his majesty is the mercy that he shows.

3 Children, pay heed to a father's right; do so that you may live.

²For the LORD sets a father in honor over his children; a mother's authority he confirms over her sons.

³He who honors his father atones for sins;

⁴he stores up riches who reveres his mother.

- ⁵He who honors his father is gladdened by children, and when he prays he is heard.
- ⁶He who reveres his father will live a long life; he obeys the LORD who brings comfort to his mother.
- ⁷He who fears the LORD honors his father, and serves his parents as rulers.
- ⁸In word and deed honor your father that his blessing may come upon you;
- ⁹For a father's blessing gives a family firm roots, but a mother's curse uproots the growing plant.
- ¹⁰Glory not in your father's shame, for his shame is no glory to you!
- ¹¹His father's honor is a man's glory; disgrace for her children, a mother's shame.
- ¹²My son, take care of your father when he is old; grieve him not as long as he lives.
- ¹³Even if his mind fail, be considerate with him; revile him not in the fullness of your strength.
- ¹⁴For kindness to a father will not be forgotten, it will serve as a sin offering--it will take lasting root.
- ¹⁵In time of tribulation it will be recalled to your advantage, like warmth upon frost it will melt away your sins.
- ¹⁶A blasphemer is he who despises his father; accursed of his Creator, he who angers his mother.
- ¹⁷My son, conduct your affairs with humility, and you will be loved more than a giver of gifts.
- ¹⁸Humble yourself the more, the greater you are, and you will find favor with God.
- ¹⁹For great is the power of God; by the humble he is glorified.
- ²⁰What is too sublime for you, seek not, into things beyond your strength search not.
- ²¹What is committed to you, attend to; for what is hidden is not your concern.

²²With what is too much for you meddle not, when shown things beyond human understanding.

²³Their own opinion has misled many, and false reasoning unbalanced their judgment.

²⁴Where the pupil of the eye is missing, there is no light, and where there is no knowledge, there is no wisdom.

²⁵A stubborn man will fare badly in the end, and he who loves danger will perish in it.

²⁶A stubborn man will be burdened with sorrow; a sinner will heap sin upon sin.

²⁷For the affliction of the proud man there is no cure; he is the offshoot of an evil plant.

²⁸The mind of a sage appreciates proverbs, and an attentive ear is the wise man's joy.

²⁹Water quenches a flaming fire, and alms atone for sins.

³⁰He who does a kindness is remembered afterward; when he falls, he finds a support.

4My son, rob not the poor man of his livelihood; force not the eyes of the needy to turn away.

²A hungry man grieve not, a needy man anger not;

³Do not exasperate the downtrodden; delay not to give to the needy.

⁴A beggar in distress do not reject; avert not your face from the poor.

⁵From the needy turn not your eyes, give no man reason to curse you;

⁶For if in the bitterness of his soul he curse you, his Creator will hear his prayer.

⁷Endear yourself to the assembly; before a ruler bow your head.

⁸Give a hearing to the poor man, and return his greeting with courtesy;

⁹Deliver the oppressed from the hand of the oppressor; let not justice be repugnant to you.

¹⁰To the fatherless be as a father, and help their mother as a husband would; Thus will you be like a son to the Most High, and he will be more tender to you than a mother.

¹¹Wisdom instructs her children and admonishes those who seek her.

¹²He who loves her loves life; those who seek her out win her favor.

¹³He who holds her fast inherits glory; wherever he dwells, the LORD bestows blessings.

¹⁴Those who serve her serve the Holy One; those who love her the LORD loves.

¹⁵He who obeys her judges nations; he who hearkens to her dwells in her inmost chambers.

¹⁶If one trusts her, he will possess her; his descendants too will inherit her.

¹⁷She walks with him as a stranger, and at first she puts him to the test; Fear and dread she brings upon him and tries him with her discipline; With her precepts she puts him to the proof, until his heart is fully with her.

¹⁸Then she comes back to bring him happiness and reveal her secrets to him.

¹⁹But if he fails her, she will abandon him and deliver him into the hands of despoilers.

²⁰Use your time well; guard yourself from evil, and bring upon yourself no shame.

²¹There is a sense of shame laden with guilt, and a shame that merits honor and respect.

²²Show no favoritism to your own discredit; let no one intimidate you to your own downfall.

²³Refrain not from speaking at the proper time, and hide not away your wisdom;

²⁴For it is through speech that wisdom becomes known, and knowledge through the tongue's rejoinder.

²⁵Never gainsay the truth, and struggle not against the rushing stream.

²⁶Be not ashamed to acknowledge your guilt, but of your ignorance rather be ashamed.

²⁷Do not abase yourself before an impious man, nor refuse to do so before rulers.

²⁸Even to the death fight for truth, and the LORD your God will battle for you.

²⁹Be not surly in your speech, nor lazy and slack in your deeds.

³⁰Be not a lion at home, nor sly and suspicious at work.

³¹Let not your hand be open to receive and clenched when it is time to give.

5 Rely not on your wealth; say not: "I have the power."

²Rely not on your strength in following the desires of your heart.

³Say not: "Who can prevail against me?" for the LORD will exact the punishment.

⁴Say not: "I have sinned, yet what has befallen me?" for the LORD bides his time.

⁵Of forgiveness be not overconfident, adding sin upon sin.

⁶Say not: "Great is his mercy; my many sins he will forgive."

⁷For mercy and anger alike are with him; upon the wicked alights his wrath.

⁸Delay not your conversion to the LORD, put it not off from day to day;

⁹For suddenly his wrath flames forth; at the time of vengeance, you will be destroyed.

¹⁰Rely not upon deceitful wealth, for it will be no help on the day of wrath.

¹¹Winnow not in every wind, and start not off in every direction.

¹²Be consistent in your thoughts; steadfast be your words.

¹³Be swift to hear, but slow to answer.

¹⁴If you have the knowledge, answer your neighbor; if not, put your hand over your mouth.

¹⁵Honor and dishonor through talking! A man's tongue can be his downfall.

¹⁶Be not called a detractor; use not your tongue for calumny;

¹⁷For shame has been created for the thief, and the reproach of his neighbor for the double-tongued.

6Say nothing harmful, small or great; be not a foe instead of a friend; A bad name and disgrace will you acquire: "That for the evil man with double tongue!"

²Fall not into the grip of desire, lest, like fire, it consume your strength;

³Your leaves it will eat, your fruits destroy, and you will be left a dry tree,

⁴For contumacious desire destroys its owner and makes him the sport of his enemies.

⁵A kind mouth multiplies friends, and gracious lips prompt friendly greetings.

⁶Let your acquaintances be many, but one in a thousand your confidant.

⁷When you gain a friend, first test him, and be not too ready to trust him

⁸For one sort of friend is a friend when it suits him, but he will not be with you in time of distress.

⁹Another is a friend who becomes an enemy, and tells of the quarrel to your shame.

¹⁰Another is a friend, a boon companion, who will not be with you when sorrow comes.

¹¹When things go well, he is your other self, and lords it over your servants;

¹²But if you are brought low, he turns against you and avoids meeting you.

¹³Keep away from your enemies; be on your guard with your friends.

¹⁴A faithful friend is a sturdy shelter; he who finds one finds a treasure.

¹⁵A faithful friend is beyond price, no sum can balance his worth.

¹⁶A faithful friend is a life-saving remedy, such as he who fears God finds;

¹⁷For he who fears God behaves accordingly, and his friend will be like himself.

¹⁸My son, from your youth embrace discipline; thus will you find wisdom with graying hair.

¹⁹As though plowing and sowing, draw close to her; then await her bountiful crops.

²⁰For in cultivating her you will labor but little, and soon you will eat of her fruits.

²¹How irksome she is to the unruly! The fool cannot abide her.

²²She will be like a burdensome stone to test him, and he will not delay in casting her aside.

²³For discipline is like her name, she is not accessible to many.

²⁴Listen, my son, and heed my advice; refuse not my counsel.

²⁵Put your feet into her fetters, and your neck under her yoke.

²⁶Stoop your shoulders and carry her and be not irked at her bonds.

²⁷With all your soul draw close to her; with all your strength keep her ways.

²⁸Search her out, discover her; seek her and you will find her. Then when you have her, do not let her go;

²⁹Thus will you afterward find rest in her, and she will become your joy.

³⁰Her fetters will be your throne of majesty; her bonds, your purple cord.

³¹You will wear her as your robe of glory, bear her as your splendid crown.

³²My son, if you wish, you can be taught; if you apply yourself, you will be shrewd.

³³If you are willing to listen, you will learn; if you give heed, you will be wise.

³⁴Frequent the company of the elders; whoever is wise, stay close to him.

³⁵Be eager to hear every godly discourse; let no wise saying escape you.

³⁶If you see a man of prudence, seek him out; let your feet wear away his doorstep!

³⁷Reflect on the precepts of the LORD, let his commandments be your constant meditation; Then he will enlighten your mind, and the wisdom you desire he will grant.

7 Do no evil, and evil will not overtake you;

²avoid wickedness, and it will turn aside from you.

³Sow not in the furrows of injustice, lest you harvest it sevenfold.

⁴Seek not from the LORD authority, nor from the king a place of honor.

⁵Parade not your justice before the Lord, and before the king flaunt not your wisdom.

⁶Seek not to become a judge if you have not strength to root out crime, Or you will show favor to the ruler and mar your integrity.

⁷Be guilty of no evil before the city's populace, nor disgrace yourself before the assembly.

⁸Do not plot to repeat a sin; not even for one will you go unpunished.

⁹Say not: "He will appreciate my many gifts; the Most High will accept my offerings."

¹⁰Be not impatient in prayers, and neglect not the giving of alms.

¹¹Laugh not at an embittered man; be mindful of him who exalts and humbles.

¹²Plot no mischief against your brother, nor against your friend and companion.

¹³Delight not in telling lie after lie, for it never results in good.

¹⁴Thrust not yourself into the deliberations of princes, and repeat not the words of your prayer.

- ¹⁵Hate not laborious tasks, nor farming, which was ordained by the Most High.
- ¹⁶Do not esteem yourself better than your fellows; remember, his wrath will not delay.
- ¹⁷More and more, humble your pride; what awaits man is worms.
- ¹⁸Barter not a friend for money, nor a dear brother for the gold of Ophir.
- ¹⁹Dismiss not a sensible wife; a gracious wife is more precious than corals.
- ²⁰Mistreat not a servant who faithfully serves, nor a laborer who devotes himself to his task.
- ²¹Let a wise servant be dear to you as your own self; refuse him not his freedom.
- ²²If you have livestock, look after them; if they are dependable, keep them.
- ²³If you have sons, chastise them; bend their necks from childhood.
- ²⁴If you have daughters, keep them chaste, and be not indulgent to them.
- ²⁵Giving your daughter in marriage ends a great task; but give her to a worthy man.
- ²⁶If you have a wife, let her not seem odious to you; but where there is ill-feeling, trust her not.
- ²⁷With your whole heart honor your father; your mother's birthpangs forget not.
- ²⁸Remember, of these parents you were born; what can you give them for all they gave you?
- ²⁹With all your soul, fear God, revere his priests.
- ³⁰With all your strength, love your Creator, forsake not his ministers.
- ³¹Honor God and respect the priest; give him his portion as you have been commanded: First fruits and contributions, due sacrifices and holy offerings.
- ³²To the poor man also extend your hand, that your blessing may be complete;
- ³³Be generous to all the living, and withhold not your kindness from the dead.

³⁴Avoid not those who weep, but mourn with those who mourn;

³⁵Neglect not to visit the sick-- for these things you will be loved.

³⁶In whatever you do, remember your last days, and you will never sin.

8 Contend not with an influential man, lest you fall into his power.

²Quarrel not with a rich man, lest he pay out the price of your downfall; For gold has dazzled many, and perverts the character of princes.

³Dispute not with a man of railing speech, heap no wood upon his fire.

⁴Be not too familiar with an unruly man, lest he speak ill of your forebears.

⁵Shame not a repentant sinner; remember, we all are guilty.

⁶Insult no man when he is old, for some of us, too, will grow old.

⁷Rejoice not when a man dies; remember, we are all to die.

⁸Spurn not the discourse of the wise, but acquaint yourself with their proverbs; From them you will acquire the training to serve in the presence of princes.

⁹Reject not the tradition of old men which they have learned from their fathers; From it you will obtain the knowledge how to answer in time of need.

¹⁰Kindle not the coals of a sinner, lest you be consumed in his flaming fire.

¹¹Let not the impious man intimidate you; it will set him in ambush against you.

¹²Lend not to one more powerful than yourself; and whatever you lend, count it as lost.

¹³Go not surety beyond your means; think any pledge a debt you must pay.

¹⁴Contend not at law with a judge, for he will settle it according to his whim.

¹⁵Travel not with a ruthless man, lest he weigh you down with calamity; For he will go his own way straight, and through his folly you will perish with him.

¹⁶Provoke no quarrel with a quick-tempered man, nor ride with him through the desert, For bloodshed is nothing to him; when there is no one to help you, he will destroy you.

¹⁷Take no counsel with a fool, for he can keep nothing to himself.

¹⁸Before a stranger do nothing that should be kept secret, for you know not what it will engender.

¹⁹Open your heart to no man, and banish not your happiness.

9 Be not jealous of the wife of your bosom, lest you teach her to do evil against you.

²Give no woman power over you to trample upon your dignity.

³Be not intimate with a strange woman, lest you fall into her snares.

⁴With a singing girl be not familiar, lest you be caught in her wiles.

⁵Entertain no thoughts against a virgin, lest you be enmeshed in damages for her.

⁶Give not yourself to harlots, lest you surrender your inheritance.

⁷Gaze not about the lanes of the city and wander not through its squares;

⁸Avert your eyes from a comely woman; gaze not upon the beauty of another's wife-- Through woman's beauty many perish, for lust for it burns like fire.

⁹With a married woman dine not, recline not at table to drink by her side, Lest your heart be drawn to her and you go down in blood to the grave.

¹⁰Discard not an old friend, for the new one cannot equal him. A new friend is like new wine which you drink with pleasure only when it has aged.

¹¹Envy not a sinner's fame, for you know not what disaster awaits him.

¹²Rejoice not at a proud man's success; remember he will not reach death unpunished.

¹³Keep far from the man who has power to kill, and you will not be filled with the dread of death. But if you approach him, offend him not, lest he take away your life; Know that you are stepping among snares and walking over a net.

¹⁴As best you can, take your neighbors' measure, and associate with the wise.

¹⁵With the learned be intimate; let all your conversation be about the law of the LORD.

¹⁶Have just men for your table companions; in the fear of God be your glory.

¹⁷Skilled artisans are esteemed for their deftness; but the ruler of his people is the skilled sage.

¹⁸Feared in the city is the man of railing speech, and he who talks rashly is hated.

10 A wise magistrate lends stability to his people, and the government of a prudent man is well ordered.

²As the people's judge, so are his ministers; as the head of a city, its inhabitants.

³A wanton king destroys his people, but a city grows through the wisdom of its princes.

⁴Sovereignty over the earth is in the hand of God, who raises up on it the man of the hour;

⁵Sovereignty over every man is in the hand of God, who imparts his majesty to the ruler.

⁶No matter the wrong, do no violence to your neighbor, and do not walk the path of arrogance.

⁷Odious to the LORD and to men is arrogance, and the sin of oppression they both hate.

⁸Dominion is transferred from one people to another because of the violence of the arrogant.

⁹Why are dust and ashes proud? even during life man's body decays;

¹⁰A slight illness--the doctor jests, a king today--tomorrow he is dead.

¹¹When a man dies, he inherits corruption; worms and gnats and maggots.

¹²The beginning of pride is man's stubbornness in withdrawing his heart from his Maker;

¹³For pride is the reservoir of sin, a source which runs over with vice; Because of it God sends unheard-of afflictions and brings men to utter ruin.

¹⁴The thrones of the arrogant God overturns and establishes the lowly in their stead.

¹⁵The roots of the proud God plucks up, to plant the humble in their place:

¹⁶He breaks down their stem to the level of the ground, then digs their roots from the earth.

¹⁷The traces of the proud God sweeps away and effaces the memory of them from the earth.

¹⁸Insolence is not allotted to a man, nor stubborn anger to one born of woman.

¹⁹Whose offspring can be in honor? Those of men. Which offspring are in honor? Those who fear God. Whose offspring can be in disgrace? Those of men. Which offspring are in disgrace? Those who transgress the commandments.

²⁰Among brethren their leader is in honor; he who fears God is in honor among his people.

²¹Be it tenant or wayfarer, alien or pauper, his glory is the fear of the LORD.

²²It is not just to despise a man who is wise but poor, nor proper to honor any sinner.

²³The prince, the ruler, the judge are in honor; but none is greater than he who fears God.

²⁴When free men serve a prudent slave, the wise man does not complain.

²⁵Flaunt not your wisdom in managing your affairs, and boast not in your time of need.

²⁶Better the worker who has plenty of everything than the boaster who is without bread.

²⁷My son, with humility have self-esteem; prize yourself as you deserve.

²⁸Who will acquit him who condemns himself? who will honor him who discredits himself?

²⁹The poor man is honored for his wisdom as the rich man is honored for his wealth;

³⁰Honored in poverty, how much more so in wealth! Dishonored in wealth, in poverty how much the more!

11 The poor man's wisdom lifts his head high and sets him among princes.

²Praise not a man for his looks; despise not a man for his appearance.

³Least is the bee among winged things, but she reaps the choicest of all harvests.

⁴Mock not the worn cloak and jibe at no man's bitter day: For strange are the works of the LORD, hidden from men his deeds.

⁵The oppressed often rise to a throne, and some that none would consider wear a crown.

⁶The exalted often fall into utter disgrace; the honored are given into enemy hands.

⁷Before investigating, find no fault; examine first, then criticize.

⁸Before hearing, answer not, and interrupt no one in the middle of his speech.

⁹Dispute not about what is not your concern; in the strife of the arrogant take no part.

¹⁰My son, why increase your cares, since he who is avid for wealth will not be blameless? Even if you run after it, you will never overtake it; however you seek it, you will not find it.

¹¹One may toil and struggle and drive, and fall short all the more.

- ¹² Another goes his way a weakling and a failure, with little strength and great misery-- Yet the eyes of the LORD look favorably upon him; he raises him free of the vile dust,
- ¹³ Lifts up his head and exalts him to the amazement of the many.
- ¹⁴ Good and evil, life and death, poverty and riches, are from the LORD.
- ¹⁵ Wisdom and understanding and knowledge of affairs, love and virtuous paths are from the LORD.
- ¹⁶ Error and darkness were formed with sinners from their birth, and evil grows old with evildoers.
- ¹⁷ The LORD'S gift remains with the just; his favor brings continued success.
- ¹⁸ A man may become rich through a miser's life, and this is his allotted reward:
- ¹⁹ When he says: "I have found rest, now I will feast on my possessions," He does not know how long it will be till he dies and leaves them to others.
- ²⁰ My son, hold fast to your duty, busy yourself with it, grow old while doing your task.
- ²¹ Admire not how sinners live, but trust in the LORD and wait for his light; For it is easy with the LORD suddenly, in an instant, to make a poor man rich.
- ²² God's blessing is the lot of the just man, and in due time his hopes bear fruit.
- ²³ Say not: "What do I need? What further pleasure can be mine?"
- ²⁴ Say not: "I am independent. What harm can come to me now?"
- ²⁵ The day of prosperity makes one forget adversity; the day of adversity makes one forget prosperity.
- ²⁶ For it is easy with the LORD on the day of death to repay man according to his deeds.
- ²⁷ A moment's affliction brings forgetfulness of past delights; when a man dies, his life is revealed.
- ²⁸ Call no man happy before his death, for by how he ends, a man is known.

²⁹Bring not every man into your house, for many are the snares of the crafty one;

³⁰Though he seem like a bird confined in a cage, yet like a spy he will pick out the weak spots.

³¹The talebearer turns good into evil; with a spark he sets many coals afire.

³²The evil man lies in wait for blood, and plots against your choicest possessions.

³³Avoid a wicked man, for he breeds only evil, lest you incur a lasting stain.

³⁴Lodge a stranger with you, and he will subvert your course, and make a stranger of you to your own household.

12 If you do good, know for whom you are doing it, and your kindness will have its effect.

²Do good to the just man and reward will be yours, if not from him, from the LORD.

³No good comes to him who gives comfort to the wicked, nor is it an act of mercy that he does.

⁴Give to the good man, refuse the sinner; refresh the downtrodden, give nothing to the proud man.

⁵No arms for combat should you give him, lest he use them against yourself;

⁶With twofold evil you will meet for every good deed you do for him.

⁷The Most High himself hates sinners, and upon the wicked he takes vengeance.

⁸In our prosperity we cannot know our friends; in adversity an enemy will not remain concealed.

⁹When a man is successful even his enemy is friendly; in adversity even his friend disappears.

¹⁰Never trust your enemy, for his wickedness is like corrosion in bronze.

¹¹Even though he acts humbly and peaceably toward you, take care to be on your guard against him. Rub him as one polishes a brazen mirror, and you will find that there is still corrosion.

¹²Let him not stand near you, lest he oust you and take your place. Let him not sit at your right hand, lest he then demand your seat, And in the end you appreciate my advice, when you groan with regret, as I warned you.

¹³Who pities a snake charmer when he is bitten, or anyone who goes near a wild beast?

¹⁴So is it with the companion of the proud man, who is involved in his sins:

¹⁵While you stand firm, he makes no bold move; but if you slip, he cannot hold back.

¹⁶With his lips an enemy speaks sweetly, but in his heart he schemes to plunge you into the abyss. Though your enemy has tears in his eyes, if given the chance, he will never have enough of your blood.

¹⁷If evil comes upon you, you will find him at hand; feigning to help, he will trip you up,

¹⁸Then he will nod his head and clap his hands and hiss repeatedly, and show his true face.

13 He who touches pitch blackens his hand; he who associates with an impious man learns his ways.

²Bear no burden too heavy for you; go with no one greater or wealthier than yourself. How can the earthen pot go with the metal cauldron? When they knock together, the pot will be smashed:

³The rich man does wrong and boasts of it, the poor man is wronged and begs forgiveness.

⁴As long as the rich man can use you he will enslave you, but when you are exhausted, he will abandon you.

⁵As long as you have anything he will speak fair words to you, and with smiles he will win your confidence;

⁶When he needs something from you he will cajole you, then without regret he will impoverish you.

⁷While it serves his purpose he will beguile you, then twice or three times he will terrify you; When later he sees you he will pass you by, and shake his head over you.

⁸Guard against being presumptuous; be not as those who lack sense.

⁹When invited by a man of influence, keep your distance; then he will urge you all the more.

¹⁰Be not bold with him lest you be rebuffed, but keep not too far away lest you be forgotten.

¹¹Engage not freely in discussion with him, trust not his many words; For by prolonged talk he will test you, and though smiling he will probe you.

¹²Mercilessly he will make of you a laughingstock, and will not refrain from injury or chains.

¹³Be on your guard and take care never to accompany men of violence.

¹⁴Every living thing loves its own kind, every man a man like himself.

¹⁵Every being is drawn to its own kind; with his own kind every man associates.

¹⁶Is a wolf ever allied with a lamb? So it is with the sinner and the just.

¹⁷Can there be peace between the hyena and the dog? Or between the rich and the poor can there be peace?

¹⁸Lion's prey are the wild asses of the desert; so too the poor are feeding grounds for the rich.

¹⁹A proud man abhors lowliness; so does the rich man abhor the poor.

²⁰When a rich man stumbles he is supported by a friend; when a poor man trips he is pushed down by a friend.

²¹Many are the supporters for a rich man when he speaks; though what he says is odious, it wins approval. When a poor man speaks they make sport of him; he speaks wisely and no attention is paid him.

²²A rich man speaks and all are silent, his wisdom they extol to the clouds. A poor man speaks and they say: "Who is that?" If he slips they cast him down.

²³Wealth is good when there is no sin; but poverty is evil by the standards of the proud.

²⁴The heart of a man changes his countenance, either for good or for evil.

²⁵The sign of a good heart is a cheerful countenance; withdrawn and perplexed is the laborious schemer.

14 Happy the man whose mouth brings him no grief, who is not stung by remorse for sin.

²Happy the man whose conscience does not reproach him, who has not lost hope.

³Wealth ill becomes the mean man; and to the miser, of what use is gold?

⁴What he denies himself he collects for others, and in his possessions a stranger will revel.

⁵To whom will he be generous who is stingy with himself and does not enjoy what is his own?

⁶None is more stingy than he who is stingy with himself; he punishes his own miserliness.

⁷If ever he is generous, it is by mistake; and in the end he displays his greed.

⁸In the miser's opinion his share is too small;

⁹he refuses his neighbor and brings ruin on himself.

¹⁰The miser's eye is rapacious for bread, but on his own table he sets it stale.

¹¹My son, use freely whatever you have and enjoy it as best you can;

¹²Remember that death does not tarry, nor have you been told the grave's appointed time.

¹³Before you die, be good to your friend, and give him a share in what you possess.

¹⁴Deprive not yourself of present good things, let no choice portion escape you.

¹⁵Will you not leave your riches to others, and your earnings to be divided by lot?

¹⁶Give, take, and treat yourself well, for in the nether world there are no joys to seek.

¹⁷All flesh grows old, like a garment; the age-old law is: All must die.

¹⁸As with the leaves that grow on a vigorous tree: one falls off and another sprouts--
So with the generations of flesh and blood: one dies and another is born.

¹⁹All man's works will perish in decay, and his handiwork will follow after him.

²⁰Happy the man who meditates on wisdom, and reflects on knowledge;

²¹Who ponders her ways in his heart, and understands her paths;

²²Who pursues her like a scout, and lies in wait at her entry way;

²³Who peeps through her windows, and listens at her doors;

²⁴Who encamps near her house, and fastens his tent pegs next to her walls;

²⁵Who pitches his tent beside her, and lives as her welcome neighbor;

²⁶Who builds his nest in her leafage, and lodges in her branches;

²⁷Who takes shelter with her from the heat, and dwells in her home.

15 He who fears the LORD will do this; he who is practiced in the law will come to wisdom.

²Motherlike she will meet him, like a young bride she will embrace him,

³Nourish him with the bread of understanding, and give him the water of learning to drink.

⁴He will lean upon her and not fall, he will trust in her and not be put to shame.

⁵She will exalt him above his fellows; in the assembly she will make him eloquent.

⁶Joy and gladness he will find, an everlasting name inherit.

⁷Worthless men will not attain to her, haughty men will not behold her.

⁸Far from the impious is she, not to be spoken of by liars.

⁹Unseemly is praise on a sinner's lips, for it is not accorded to him by God.

¹⁰But praise is offered by the wise man's tongue; its rightful steward will proclaim it.

¹¹Say not: "It was God's doing that I fell away"; for what he hates he does not do.

¹²Say not: "It was he who set me astray"; for he has no need of wicked man.

¹³Abominable wickedness the LORD hates, he does not let it befall those who fear him.

¹⁴When God, in the beginning, created man, he made him subject to his own free choice.

¹⁵If you choose you can keep the commandments; it is loyalty to do his will.

¹⁶There are set before you fire and water; to whichever you choose, stretch forth your hand.

¹⁷Before man are life and death, whichever he chooses shall be given him.

¹⁸Immense is the wisdom of the LORD; he is mighty in power, and all-seeing.

¹⁹The eyes of God see all he has made; he understands man's every deed.

²⁰No man does he command to sin, to none does he give strength for lies.

16 Desire not a brood of worthless children, nor rejoice in wicked offspring.

²Many though they be, exult not in them if they have not the fear of the LORD.

- ³Count not on their length of life, have no hope in their future. For one can be better than a thousand; rather die childless than have godless children!
- ⁴Through one wise man can a city be peopled; through a clan of rebels it becomes desolate.
- ⁵Many such things has my eye seen, even more than these has my ear heard.
- ⁶Against a sinful band fire is enkindled, upon a godless people wrath flames out.
- ⁷He forgave not the leaders of old who rebelled long ago in their might;
- ⁸He spared not the neighbors of Lot whom he detested for their pride;
- ⁹Nor did he spare the doomed people who were uprooted because of their sin;
- ¹⁰Nor the six hundred thousand foot soldiers who perished for the impiety of their hearts.
- ¹¹And had there been but one stiffnecked man, it were a wonder had he gone unpunished. For mercy and anger alike are with him who remits and forgives, though on the wicked alights his wrath.
- ¹²Great as his mercy is his punishment; he judges men, each according to his deeds.
- ¹³A criminal does not escape with his plunder; a just man's hope God does not leave unfulfilled.
- ¹⁴Whoever does good has his reward, which each receives according to his deeds.
- ¹⁵Say not: "I am hidden from God; in heaven who remembers me? Among so many people I cannot be known; what am I in the world of spirits?"
- ¹⁶Behold, the heavens, the heaven of heavens, the earth and the abyss tremble at his visitation;
- ¹⁷The roots of the mountains, the earth's foundations, at his mere glance, quiver and quake.
- ¹⁸Of me, therefore, he will take no thought; with my ways who will concern himself?

¹⁹If I sin, no eye will see me; if all in secret I am disloyal, who is to know?

²⁰Who tells him of just deeds and what could I expect for doing my duty?"

²¹Such are the thoughts of senseless men, which only the foolish knave will think.

²²Hearken to me, my son, take my advice, apply your mind to my words,

²³While I propose measured wisdom, and impart accurate knowledge.

²⁴When at the first God created his works and, as he made them, assigned their tasks,

²⁵He ordered for all time what they were to do and their domains from generation to generation. They were not to hunger, nor grow weary, nor ever cease from their tasks.

²⁶Not one should ever crowd its neighbor, nor should they ever disobey his word.

²⁷Then the LORD looked upon the earth, and filled it with his blessings.

²⁸Its surface he covered with all manner of life which must return into it again.

17

The LORD from the earth created man, and in his own image he made him.

²Limited days of life he gives him and makes him return to earth again.

³He endows man with a strength of his own, and with power over all things else on earth.

⁴He puts the fear of him in all flesh, and gives him rule over beasts and birds.

⁵He forms men's tongues and eyes and ears, and imparts to them an understanding heart.

⁶With wisdom and knowledge he fills them; good and evil he shows them.

⁷He looks with favor upon their hearts, and shows them his glorious works,

⁸That they may describe the wonders of his deeds and praise his holy name.

⁹He has set before them knowledge, a law of life as their inheritance;

¹⁰An everlasting covenant he has made with them, his commandments he has revealed to them.

¹¹His majestic glory their eyes beheld, his glorious voice their ears heard.

¹²He says to them, "Avoid all evil"; each of them he gives precepts about his fellow men.

¹³Their ways are ever known to him, they cannot be hidden from his eyes.

¹⁴Over every nation he places a ruler, but the LORD'S own portion is Israel.

¹⁵All their actions are clear as the sun to him, his eyes are ever upon their ways.

¹⁶Their wickedness cannot be hidden from him; all of their sins are before the LORD.

¹⁷A man's goodness God cherishes like a signet ring, a man's virtue, like the apple of his eye.

¹⁸Later he will rise up and repay them, and requite each one of them as they deserve.

¹⁹But to the penitent he provides a way back, he encourages those who are losing hope!

²⁰Return to the LORD and give up sin, pray to him and make your offenses few.

²¹Turn again to the Most High and away from sin, hate intensely what he loathes;

²²Who in the nether world can glorify the Most High in place of the living who offer their praise?

²³No more can the dead give praise than those who have never lived; they glorify the LORD who are alive and well.

²⁴How great the mercy of the LORD, his forgiveness of those who return to him!

²⁵The like cannot be found in men, for not immortal is any son of man.

²⁶Is anything brighter than the sun? Yet it can be eclipsed. How obscure then the thoughts of flesh and blood!

²⁷God watches over the hosts of highest heaven, while all men are dust and ashes.

18The Eternal is the judge of all things without exception; the LORD alone is just.

²Whom has he made equal to describing his works, and who can probe his mighty deeds?

³Who can measure his majestic power, or exhaust the tale of his mercies?

⁴One cannot lessen, nor increase, nor penetrate the wonders of the LORD.

⁵When a man ends he is only beginning, and when he stops he is still bewildered.

⁶What is man, of what worth is he? the good, the evil in him, what are these?

⁷The sum of a man's days is great if it reaches a hundred years:

⁸Like a drop of sea water, like a grain of sand, so are these few years among the days of eternity.

⁹That is why the LORD is patient with men and showers upon them his mercy.

¹⁰He sees and understands that their death is grievous, and so he forgives them all the more.

¹¹Man may be merciful to his fellow man, but the LORD'S mercy reaches all flesh,

¹²Reproving, admonishing, teaching, as a shepherd guides his flock;

¹³Merciful to those who accept his guidance, who are diligent in his precepts.

¹⁴My son, to your charity add no reproach, nor spoil any gift by harsh words.

¹⁵Like dew that abates a burning wind, so does a word improve a gift.

¹⁶Sometimes the word means more than the gift; both are offered by a kindly man.

- ¹⁷ Only a fool upbraids before giving; a grudging gift wears out the expectant eyes.
- ¹⁸ Be informed before speaking; before sickness prepare the cure.
- ¹⁹ Before you are judged, seek merit for yourself, and at the time of visitation you will have a ransom.
- ²⁰ Before you have fallen, humble yourself; when you have sinned, show repentance.
- ²¹ Delay not to forsake sins, neglect it not till you are in distress.
- ²² Let nothing prevent the prompt payment of your vows; wait not to fulfill them when you are dying.
- ²³ Before making a vow have the means to fulfill it; be not one who tries the LORD.
- ²⁴ Think of wrath and the day of death, the time of vengeance when he will hide his face.
- ²⁵ Remember the time of hunger in the time of plenty, poverty and want in the day of wealth.
- ²⁶ Between morning and evening the weather changes; before the LORD all things are fleeting.
- ²⁷ A wise man is circumspect in all things; when sin is rife he keeps himself from wrongdoing.
- ²⁸ Any learned man should make wisdom known, and he who attains to her should declare her praise;
- ²⁹ Those trained in her words must show their wisdom, dispensing sound proverbs like life-giving waters.
- ³⁰ Go not after your lusts, but keep your desires in check.
- ³¹ If you satisfy your lustful appetites they will make you the sport of your enemies.
- ³² Have no joy in the pleasures of a moment which bring on poverty redoubled;
- ³³ Become not a glutton and a winebibber with nothing in your purse.

19 He who does so grows no richer; he who wastes the little he has will be stripped bare.

²Wine and women make the mind giddy, and the companion of harlots becomes reckless.

³Rottenness and worms will possess him, for contumacious desire destroys its owner.

⁴He who lightly trusts in them has no sense, and he who strays after them sins against his own life.

⁵He who gloats over evil will meet with evil, and he who repeats an evil report has no sense.

⁶Never repeat gossip, and you will not be reviled.

⁷Tell nothing to friend or foe; if you have a fault, reveal it not,

⁸For he who hears it will hold it against you, and in time become your enemy.

⁹Let anything you hear die within you; be assured it will not make you burst.

¹⁰When a fool hears something, he is in labor, like a woman giving birth to a child.

¹¹Like an arrow lodged in a man's thigh is gossip in the breast of a fool.

¹²Admonish your friend--he may not have done it; and if he did, that he may not do it again.

¹³Admonish your neighbor--he may not have said it; and if he did, that he may not say it again.

¹⁴Admonish your friend--often it may be slander; every story you must not believe.

¹⁵Then, too, a man can slip and not mean it; who has not sinned with his tongue?

¹⁶Admonish your neighbor before you break with him; thus will you fulfill the law of the Most High.

¹⁷All wisdom is fear of the LORD; perfect wisdom is the fulfillment of the law.

¹⁸The knowledge of wickedness is not wisdom, nor is there prudence in the counsel of sinners.

¹⁹There is a shrewdness that is detestable, while the simple man may be free from sin.

²⁰There are those with little understanding who fear God, and those of great intelligence who violate the law.

²¹There is a shrewdness keen but dishonest, which by duplicity wins a judgment.

²²There is the wicked man who is bowed in grief, but is full of guile within;

²³He bows his head and feigns not to hear, but when not observed, he will take advantage of you:

²⁴Even though his lack of strength keeps him from sinning, when he finds the opportunity, he will do harm.

²⁵One can tell a man by his appearance; a wise man is known as such when first met.

²⁶A man's attire, his hearty laughter and his gait, proclaim him for what he is.

20 An admonition can be inopportune, and a man may be wise to hold his peace.

²It is much better to admonish than to lose one's temper, for one who admits his fault will be kept from disgrace.

³Like a eunuch lusting for intimacy with a maiden is he who does right under compulsion.

⁴One man is silent and is thought wise, another is talkative and is disliked.

⁵One man is silent because he has nothing to say; another is silent, biding his time.

⁶A wise man is silent till the right time comes, but a boasting fool ignores the proper time.

⁷He who talks too much is detested; he who pretends to authority is hated.

⁸Some misfortunes bring success; some things gained are a man's loss.

⁹Some gifts do one no good, and some must be paid back double.

¹⁰Humiliation can follow fame, while from obscurity a man can lift up his head.

¹¹A man may buy much for little, but pay for it seven times over.

¹²A wise man makes himself popular by a few words, but fools pour forth their blandishments in vain.

¹³A gift from a rogue will do you no good, for in his eyes his one gift is equal to seven.

¹⁴He gives little and criticizes often, and like a crier he shouts aloud. He lends today, he asks it back tomorrow; hateful indeed is such a man.

¹⁵A fool has no friends, nor thanks for his generosity;

¹⁶Those who eat his bread have an evil tongue. How many times they laugh him to scorn!

¹⁷A fall to the ground is less sudden than a slip of the tongue; that is why the downfall of the wicked comes so quickly.

¹⁸Inspid food is the untimely tale; the unruly are always ready to offer it.

¹⁹A proverb when spoken by a fool is unwelcome, for he does not utter it at the proper time.

²⁰A man through want may be unable to sin, yet in this tranquility he cannot rest.

²¹One may lose his life through shame, and perish through a fool's intimidation.

²²A man makes a promise to a friend out of shame, and has him for his enemy needlessly.

²³A lie is a foul blot in a man, yet it is constantly on the lips of the unruly.

²⁴Better a thief than an inveterate liar, yet both will suffer disgrace;

²⁵A liar's way leads to dishonor, his shame remains ever with him.

²⁶A wise man advances himself by his words, a prudent man pleases the great.

²⁷He who works his land has abundant crops, he who pleases the great is pardoned his faults.

²⁸Favors and gifts blind the eyes; like a muzzle over the mouth they silence reproof.

²⁹Hidden wisdom and unseen treasure-- of what value is either?

³⁰Better the man who hides his folly than the one who hides his wisdom.

21 My son, if you have sinned, do so no more, and for your past sins pray to be forgiven.

²Flee from sin as from a serpent. that will bite you if you go near it; Its teeth are lion's teeth, destroying the souls of men.

³Every offense is a two-edged sword; when it cuts, there can be no healing.

⁴Violence and arrogance wipe out wealth; so too a proud man's home is destroyed.

⁵Prayer from a poor man's lips is heard at once, and justice is quickly granted him.

⁶He who hates correction walks the sinner's path, but he who fears the LORD repents in his heart.

⁷Widely known is the boastful speaker but the wise man knows his own faults.

⁸He who builds his house with another's money is collecting stones for his funeral mound.

⁹A band of criminals is like a bundle of tow; they will end in a flaming fire.

¹⁰The path of sinners is smooth stones that end in the depths of the nether world.

¹¹He who keeps the law controls his impulses; he who is perfect in fear of the LORD has wisdom.

¹²He can never be taught who is not shrewd, but one form of shrewdness is thoroughly bitter.

¹³A wise man's knowledge wells up in a flood, and his counsel, like a living spring;

¹⁴A fool's mind is like a broken jar-- no knowledge at all can it hold.

¹⁵When an intelligent man hears words of wisdom, he approves them and adds to them; The wanton hears them with scorn and casts them behind his back.

¹⁶A fool's chatter is like a load on a journey, but there is charm to be found upon the lips of the wise.

¹⁷The views of a prudent man are sought in an assembly, and his words are considered with care.

¹⁸Like a house in ruins is wisdom to a fool; the stupid man knows it only as inscrutable words.

¹⁹Like fetters on the legs is learning to a fool, like a manacle on his right hand.

²⁰A fool raises his voice in laughter, but the prudent man at the most smiles gently.

²¹Like a chain of gold is learning to a wise man, like a bracelet on his right arm.

²²The fool steps boldly into a house, while the well-bred man remains outside;

²³A boor peeps through the doorway of a house, but a cultured man keeps his glance cast down.

²⁴It is rude for one to listen at a door; a cultured man would be overwhelmed by the disgrace of it.

²⁵The lips of the impious talk of what is not their concern, but the words of the prudent are carefully weighed.

²⁶Fools' thoughts are in their mouths, wise men's words are in their hearts.

²⁷When a godless man curses his adversary he really curses himself.

²⁸A slanderer besmirches himself, and is hated by his neighbors.

22 The sluggard is like a stone in the mud; everyone hisses at his disgrace.

²The sluggard is like a lump of dung; whoever touches him wipes his hands.

³An unruly child is a disgrace to its father; if it be a daughter she brings him to poverty.

⁴A thoughtful daughter becomes a treasure to her husband, a shameless one is her father's grief.

⁵A hussy shames her father and her husband; by both she is despised.

⁶Like a song in time of mourning is inopportune talk, but lashes and discipline are at all times wisdom.

⁷Teaching a fool is like gluing a broken pot, or like disturbing a man in the depths of sleep;

⁸He talks with a slumberer who talks with a fool, for when it is over, he will say, "What was that?"

⁹Weep over the dead man, for his light has gone out; weep over the fool, for sense has left him.

¹⁰Weep but a little over the dead man, for he is at rest; but worse than death is the life of a fool.

¹¹Seven days of mourning for the dead, but for the wicked fool a whole lifetime.

¹²Speak but seldom with the stupid man, be not the companion of a brute;

¹³Beware of him lest you have trouble and be spattered when he shakes himself; Turn away from him and you will find rest and not be wearied by his lack of sense.

¹⁴What is heavier than lead, and what is its name but "Fool"?

¹⁵Sand and salt and an iron mass are easier to bear than a stupid man.

¹⁶Masonry bonded with wooden beams is not loosened by an earthquake; Neither is a resolve constructed with careful deliberation shaken in a moment of fear.

¹⁷A resolve that is backed by prudent understanding is like the polished surface of a smooth wall.

¹⁸Small stones lying on an open height will not remain when the wind blows; Neither can a timid resolve based on foolish plans withstand fear of any kind.

¹⁹One who jabs the eye brings tears: he who pierces the heart bares its feelings.

²⁰He who throws stones at birds drives them away, and he who insults a friend breaks up the friendship.

²¹Should you draw a sword against a friend, despair not, it can be undone.

²²Should you speak sharply to a friend, fear not, you can be reconciled. But a contemptuous insult, a confidence broken, or a treacherous attack will drive away any friend.

²³Make fast friends with a man while he is poor; thus will you enjoy his prosperity with him. In time of trouble remain true to him, so as to share in his inheritance when it comes.

²⁴Before flames burst forth an oven smokes; so does abuse come before bloodshed.

²⁵From a friend in need of support no one need hide in shame;

²⁶But from him who brings harm to his friend all will stand aloof who hear of it.

²⁷Who will set a guard over my mouth, and upon my lips an effective seal, That I may not fail through them, that my tongue may not destroy me?

23 LORD, Father and Master of my life, permit me not to fall by them!

²Who will apply the lash to my thoughts, to my mind the rod of discipline, That my failings may not be spared, nor the sins of my heart overlooked;

³Lest my failings increase, and my sins be multiplied; Lest I succumb to my foes, and my enemy rejoice over me?

⁴LORD, Father and God of my life, abandon me not into their control!

⁵A brazen look allow me not; ward off passion from my heart,

⁶Let not the lustful cravings of the flesh master me, surrender me not to shameless desires.

⁷Give heed, my children, to the instruction that I pronounce, for he who keeps it will not be enslaved.

⁸Through his lips is the sinner ensnared; the railer and the arrogant man fall thereby.

⁹Let not your mouth form the habit of swearing, or becoming too familiar with the Holy Name.

¹⁰Just as a slave that is constantly under scrutiny will not be without welts, So one who swears continually by the Holy Name will not remain free from sin.

¹¹A man who often swears heaps up obligations; the scourge will never be far from his house. If he swears in error, he incurs guilt; if he neglects his obligation, his sin is doubly great. If he swears without reason he cannot be found just, and all his house will suffer affliction.

¹²There are words which merit death; may they never be heard among Jacob's heirs. For all such words are foreign to the devout, who do not wallow in sin.

¹³Let not your mouth become used to coarse talk, for in it lies sinful matter.

¹⁴Keep your father and mother in mind when you sit among the mighty, Lest in their presence you commit a blunder and disgrace your upbringing, By wishing you had never been born or cursing the day of your birth.

¹⁵A man who has the habit of abusive language will never mature in character as long as he lives.

¹⁶Two types of men multiply sins, a third draws down wrath; For burning passion is a blazing fire, not to be quenched till it burns itself out: A man given to sins of the flesh, who never stops until the fire breaks forth;

¹⁷The rake to whom all bread is sweet and who is never through till he dies;

¹⁸And the man who dishonors his marriage bed and says to himself "Who can see me? Darkness surrounds me, walls hide me; no one sees me; why should I fear to sin?" Of the Most High he is not mindful, ¹⁹fearing only the eyes of men; He does not understand that the eyes of the LORD, ten thousand times brighter than the sun, Observe every step a man takes and peer into hidden corners.

²⁰He who knows all things before they exist still knows them all after they are made.

²¹Such a man will be punished in the streets of the city; when he least expects it, he will be apprehended.

²²So also with the woman who is unfaithful to her husband and offers as heir her son by a stranger.

²³First, she has disobeyed the law of the Most High; secondly, she has wronged her husband; Thirdly, in her wanton adultery she has borne children by another man.

²⁴Such a woman will be dragged before the assembly, and her punishment will extend to her children;

²⁵Her children will not take root; her branches will not bring forth fruit.

²⁶She will leave an accursed memory; her disgrace will never be blotted out.

²⁷Thus all who dwell on the earth shall know, and all who inhabit the world shall understand, That nothing is better than the fear of the LORD, nothing more salutary than to obey his commandments.

24 Wisdom sings her own praises, before her own people she proclaims her glory;

²In the assembly of the Most High she opens her mouth, in the presence of his hosts she declares her worth:

³"From the mouth of the Most High I came forth, and mistlike covered the earth.

⁴In the highest heavens did I dwell, my throne on a pillar of cloud.

⁵The vault of heaven I compassed alone, through the deep abyss I wandered.

⁶Over waves of the sea, over all the land, over every people and nation I held sway.

⁷Among all these I sought a resting place; in whose inheritance should I abide?

⁸"Then the Creator of all gave me his command, and he who formed me chose the spot for my tent, Saying, 'In Jacob make your dwelling, in Israel your inheritance.'

⁹Before all ages, in the beginning, he created me, and through all ages I shall not cease to be.

¹⁰In the holy tent I ministered before him, and in Zion I fixed my abode.

¹¹Thus in the chosen city he has given me rest, in Jerusalem is my domain.

¹²I have struck root among the glorious people, in the portion of the LORD, his heritage.

¹³"Like a cedar on Lebanon I am raised aloft, like a cypress on Mount Hermon, ¹⁴Like a palm tree in En-gedi, like a rosebush in Jericho, Like a fair olive tree in the field, like a plane tree growing beside the water.

¹⁵Like cinnamon, or fragrant balm, or precious myrrh, I give forth perfume; Like galbanum and onycha and sweet spices, like the odor of incense in the holy place.

¹⁶I spread out my branches like a terebinth, my branches so bright and so graceful.

¹⁷I bud forth delights like the vine, my blossoms become fruit fair and rich.

¹⁸Come to me, all you that yearn for me, and be filled with my fruits;

¹⁹You will remember me as sweeter than honey, better to have than the honeycomb.

²⁰He who eats of me will hunger still, he who drinks of me will thirst for more;

²¹He who obeys me will not be put to shame, he who serves me will never fail."

²²All this is true of the book of the Most High's covenant, the law which Moses commanded us as an inheritance for the community of Jacob.

²³It overflows, like the Pishon, with wisdom-- like the Tigris in the days of the new fruits.

²⁴It runs over, like the Euphrates, with understanding, like the Jordan at harvest time.

²⁵It sparkles like the Nile with knowledge, like the Gihon at vintage time.

²⁶The first man never finished comprehending wisdom, nor will the last succeed in fathoming her.

²⁷For deeper than the sea are her thoughts; her counsels, than the great abyss.

²⁸Now I, like a rivulet from her stream, channeling the waters into a garden,

²⁹Said to myself, "I will water my plants, my flower bed I will drench"; And suddenly this rivulet of mine became a river, then this stream of mine, a sea.

³⁰Thus do I send my teachings forth shining like the dawn, to become known afar off.

³¹Thus do I pour out instruction like prophecy and bestow it on generations to come.

25 With three things I am delighted, for they are pleasing to the LORD and to men: Harmony among brethren, friendship among neighbors, and the mutual love of husband and wife.

²Three kinds of men I hate; their manner of life I loathe indeed: A proud pauper, a rich dissembler, and an old man lecherous in his dotage.

³What you have not saved in your youth, how will you acquire in your old age?

⁴How becoming to the gray-haired is judgment, and a knowledge of counsel to those on in years!

⁵How becoming to the aged is wisdom, understanding and prudence to the venerable!

⁶The crown of old men is wide experience; their glory, the fear of the LORD.

⁷There are nine who come to my mind as blessed, a tenth whom my tongue proclaims: The man who finds joy in his children, and he who lives to see his enemies' downfall.

⁸Happy is he who dwells with a sensible wife, and he who plows not like a donkey yoked with an ox. Happy is he who sins not with his tongue, and he who serves not his inferior.

⁹Happy is he who finds a friend and he who speaks to attentive ears.

¹⁰He who finds wisdom is great indeed, but not greater than he who fears the LORD.

¹¹Fear of the LORD surpasses all else. its possessor is beyond compare.

¹²Worst of all wounds is that of the heart, worst of all evils is that of a woman.

¹³Worst of all sufferings is that from one's foes, worst of all vengeance is that of one's enemies:

¹⁴No poison worse than that of a serpent, no venom greater than that of a woman.

¹⁵With a dragon or a lion I would rather dwell than live with an evil woman.

¹⁶Wickedness changes a woman's looks, and makes her sullen as a female bear.

¹⁷When her husband sits among his neighbors, a bitter sigh escapes him unawares.

¹⁸There is scarce any evil like that in a woman; may she fall to the lot of the sinner!

¹⁹Like a sandy hill to aged feet is a railing wife to a quiet man.

²⁰Stumble not through woman's beauty, nor be greedy for her wealth;

²¹The man is a slave, in disgrace and shame, when a wife supports her husband.

²²Depressed mind, saddened face, broken heart--this from an evil wife. Feeble hands and quaking knees-- from a wife who brings no happiness to her husband.

²³In woman was sin's beginning, and because of her we all die.

²⁴Allow water no outlet, and be not indulgent to an erring wife.

²⁵If she walks not by your side, cut her away from you.

26Happy the husband of a good wife, twice-lengthened are his days;

²A worthy wife brings joy to her husband, peaceful and full is his life.

³A good wife is a generous gift bestowed upon him who fears the LORD;

⁴Be he rich or poor, his heart is content, and a smile is ever on his face.

⁵There are three things at which my heart quakes, a fourth before which I quail:
Though false charges in public, trial before all the people, and lying testimony are harder to bear than death,

⁶A jealous wife is heartache and mourning and a scourging tongue like the other three.

⁷A bad wife is a chafing yoke; he who marries her seizes a scorpion.

⁸A drunken wife arouses great anger, for she does not hide her shame.

⁹By her eyelids and her haughty stare an unchaste wife can be recognized.

¹⁰Keep a strict watch over an unruly wife, lest, finding an opportunity, she make use of it;

¹¹Follow close if her eyes are bold, and be not surprised if she betrays you:

¹²As a thirsty traveler with eager mouth drinks from any water that he finds, So she settles down before every tent peg and opens her quiver for every arrow.

¹³A gracious wife delights her husband, her thoughtfulness puts flesh on his bones;

¹⁴A gift from the LORD is her governed speech, and her firm virtue is of surpassing worth.

¹⁵Choicest of blessings is a modest wife, priceless her chaste person.

¹⁶Like the sun rising in the LORD'S heavens, the beauty of a virtuous wife is the radiance of her home.

¹⁷Like the light which shines above the holy lampstand, are her beauty of face and graceful figure.

¹⁸Golden columns on silver bases are her shapely limbs and steady feet.

¹⁹These two bring grief to my heart, and the third arouses my horror: A wealthy man reduced to want; illustrious men held in contempt; And the man who passes from justice to sin, for whom the LORD makes ready the sword.

²⁰A merchant can hardly remain upright, nor a shopkeeper free from sin;

27 For the sake of profit many sin, and the struggle for wealth blinds the eyes.

²Like a peg driven between fitted stones, between buying and selling sin is wedged in.

³Unless you earnestly hold fast to the fear of the LORD, suddenly your house will be thrown down.

⁴When a sieve is shaken, the husks appear; so do a man's faults when he speaks.

⁵As the test of what the potter molds is in the furnace, so in his conversation is the test of a man.

⁶The fruit of a tree shows the care it has had; so too does a man's speech disclose the bent of his mind.

⁷Praise no man before he speaks, for it is then that men are tested.

⁸If you strive after justice you will attain it, and put it on like a splendid robe.

⁹Birds nest with their own kind, and fidelity comes to those who live by it.

¹⁰As a lion crouches in wait for prey, so do sins for evildoers.

¹¹Ever wise are the discourses of the devout, but the godless man, like the moon, is inconstant.

¹²Limit the time you spend among fools, but frequent the company of thoughtful men.

¹³The conversation of the wicked is offensive, their laughter is wanton guilt.

¹⁴Their oath-filled talk makes the hair stand on end, their brawls make one stop one's ears.

¹⁵Wrangling among the haughty ends in bloodshed, their cursing is painful to hear.

¹⁶He who betrays a secret cannot be trusted, he will never find an intimate friend.

¹⁷Cherish your friend, keep faith with him; but if you betray his confidence, follow him not;

¹⁸For as an enemy might kill a man, you have killed your neighbor's friendship.

¹⁹Like a bird released from the hand, you have let your friend go and cannot recapture him;

²⁰Follow him not, for he is far away, he has fled like a gazelle from the trap.

²¹A wound can be bound up, and an insult forgiven, but he who betrays secrets does hopeless damage.

²²He who has shifty eyes plots mischief and no one can ward him off;

²³In your presence he uses honeyed talk, and admires your every word, But later he changes his tone and twists your words to your ruin.

²⁴There is nothing that I hate so much, and the LORD hates him as well.

²⁵As a stone falls back on him who throws it up, so a blow struck in treachery injures more than one.

²⁶As he who digs a pit falls into it, and he who lays a snare is caught in it,

²⁷Whoever does harm will be involved in it without knowing how it came upon him.

²⁸Mockery and abuse will be the lot of the proud, and vengeance lies in wait for them like a lion.

²⁹The trap seizes those who rejoice in pitfalls, and pain will consume them before they die;

³⁰Wrath and anger are hateful things, yet the sinner hugs them tight.

28 The vengeful will suffer the LORD'S vengeance, for he remembers their sins in detail.

²Forgive your neighbor's injustice; then when you pray, your own sins will be forgiven.

³Should a man nourish anger against his fellows and expect healing from the LORD?

⁴Should a man refuse mercy to his fellows, yet seek pardon for his own sins?

⁵If he who is but flesh cherishes wrath, who will forgive his sins?

⁶Remember your last days, set enmity aside; remember death and decay, and cease from sin!

⁷Think of the commandments, hate not your neighbor; of the Most High's covenant, and overlook faults.

⁸Avoid strife and your sins will be fewer, for a quarrelsome man kindles disputes,

⁹Commits the sin of disrupting friendship and sows discord among those at peace.

¹⁰The more wood, the greater the fire, the more underlying it, the fiercer the fight; The greater a man's strength, the sterner his anger, the greater his power, the greater his wrath.

¹¹Pitch and resin make fires flare up, and insistent quarrels provoke bloodshed.

¹²If you blow upon a spark, it quickens into flame, if you spit on it, it dies out; yet both you do with your mouth!

¹³Cursed be gossips and the double-tongued, for they destroy the peace of many.

¹⁴A meddlesome tongue subverts many, and makes them refugees among the peoples; It destroys walled cities, and overthrows powerful dynasties.

¹⁵A meddlesome tongue can drive virtuous women from their homes and rob them of the fruit of their toil;

¹⁶Whoever heeds it has no rest, nor can he dwell in peace.

¹⁷A blow from a whip raises a welt, but a blow from the tongue smashes bones;

¹⁸Many have fallen by the edge of the sword, but not as many as by the tongue.

¹⁹Happy he who is sheltered from it, and has not endured its wrath; Who has not borne its yoke nor been fettered with its chain;

²⁰For its yoke is a yoke of iron and its chains are chains of bronze!

²¹Dire is the death it inflicts, besides which even the nether world is a gain;

²²It will not take hold among the just nor scorch them in its flame,

²³But those who forsake the LORD will fall victims to it, as it burns among them unquenchably! It will hurl itself against them like a lion; like a panther, it will tear them to pieces.

²⁴As you hedge round your vineyard with thorns, set barred doors over your mouth;

²⁵As you seal up your silver and gold, so balance and weigh your words.

²⁶Take care not to slip by your tongue and fall victim to your foe waiting in ambush.

29 He does a kindness who lends to his neighbor, and he fulfills the precepts who holds out a helping hand.

²Lend to your neighbor in his hour of need, and pay back your neighbor when a loan falls due;

³Keep your promise, be honest with him, and you will always come by what you need.

⁴Many a man who asks for a loan adds to the burdens of those who help him;

⁵When he borrows, he kisses the lender's hand and speaks with respect of his creditor's wealth; But when payment is due he disappoints him and says he is helpless to meet the claim.

⁶If the lender is able to recover barely half, he considers this an achievement; If not, he is cheated of his wealth and acquires an enemy at no extra charge; With curses and insults the borrower pays him back, with abuse instead of honor.

⁷Many refuse to lend, not out of meanness, but from fear of being cheated.

⁸To a poor man, however, be generous; keep him not waiting for your alms;

- ⁹Because of the precept, help the needy, and in their want, do not send them away empty-handed.
- ¹⁰Spend your money for your brother and friend, and hide it not under a stone to perish;
- ¹¹Dispose of your treasure as the Most High commands, for that will profit you more than the gold.
- ¹²Store up almsgiving in your treasure house, and it will save you from every evil;
- ¹³Better than a stout shield and a sturdy spear it will fight for you against the foe.
- ¹⁴A good man goes surety for his neighbor, and only the shameless would play him false;
- ¹⁵Forget not the kindness of your backer, for he offers his very life for you.
- ¹⁶The wicked turn a pledge on their behalf into misfortune, and the ingrate abandons his protector;
- ¹⁷Going surety has ruined many prosperous men and tossed them about like waves of the sea,
- ¹⁸Has exiled men of prominence and sent them wandering through foreign lands.
- ¹⁹The sinner through surety comes to grief, and he who undertakes too much falls into lawsuits.
- ²⁰Go surety for your neighbor according to your means, but take care lest you fall thereby.
- ²¹Life's prime needs are water, bread, and clothing, a house, too, for decent privacy.
- ²²Better a poor man's fare under the shadow of one's own roof than sumptuous banquets among strangers.
- ²³Be it little or much, be content with what you have, and pay no heed to him who would disparage your home;
- ²⁴A miserable life it is to go from house to house, for as a guest you dare not open your mouth.

²⁵The visitor has no thanks for filling the cups; besides, you will hear these bitter words:

²⁶"Come here, stranger, set the table, give me to eat the food you have!

²⁷Away, stranger, for one more worthy; for my brother's visit I need the room!"

²⁸Painful things to a sensitive man are abuse at home and insults from his creditors.

30 He who loves his son chastises him often, that he may be his joy when he grows up.

²He who disciplines his son will benefit from him, and boast of him among his intimates.

³He who educates his son makes his enemy jealous, and shows his delight in him among his friends.

⁴At the father's death, he will seem not dead, since he leaves after him one like himself,

⁵Whom he looks upon through life with joy, and even in death, without regret:

⁶The avenger he leaves against his foes, and the one to repay his friends with kindness.

⁷He who spoils his son will have wounds to bandage, and will quake inwardly at every outcry.

⁸A colt untamed turns out stubborn; a son left to himself grows up unruly.

⁹Pamper your child and he will be a terror for you, indulge him and he will bring you grief.

¹⁰Share not in his frivolity lest you share in his sorrow, when finally your teeth are clenched in remorse.

¹¹Give him not his own way in his youth, and close not your eyes to his follies.

¹²Bend him to the yoke when he is young, thrash his sides while he is still small, Lest he become stubborn, disobey you, and leave you disconsolate.

¹³Discipline your son, make heavy his yoke, lest his folly humiliate you.

¹⁴Better a poor man strong and robust, than a rich man with wasted frame.

¹⁵More precious than gold is health and well-being, contentment of spirit than coral.

¹⁶No treasure greater than a healthy body; no happiness, than a joyful heart!

¹⁷Preferable is death to a bitter life, unending sleep to constant illness.

¹⁸Dainties set before one who cannot eat are like the offerings placed before a tomb.

¹⁹What good is an offering to an idol that can neither taste nor smell?

²⁰So it is with the afflicted man who groans at the good things his eyes behold!

²¹Do not give in to sadness, torment not yourself with brooding;

²²Gladness of heart is the very life of man, cheerfulness prolongs his days.

²³Distract yourself, renew your courage, drive resentment far away from you; For worry has brought death to many, nor is there aught to be gained from resentment.

²⁴Envy and anger shorten one's life, worry brings on premature old age.

²⁵One who is cheerful and gay while at table benefits from his food.

31 Keeping watch over riches wastes the flesh, and the care of wealth drives away rest.

²Concern for one's livelihood banishes slumber; more than a serious illness it disturbs repose.

³The rich man labors to pile up wealth, and his only rest is wanton pleasure;

⁴The poor man toils for a meager subsistence, and if ever he rests, he finds himself in want.

- ⁵The lover of gold will not be free from sin, for he who pursues wealth is led astray by it.
- ⁶Many have been ensnared by gold, though destruction lay before their eyes;
- ⁷It is a stumbling block to those who are avid for it, a snare for every fool.
- ⁸Happy the rich man found without fault, who turns not aside after gain!
- ⁹Who is he, that we may praise him? he, of all his kindred, has done wonders,
- ¹⁰For he has been tested by gold and come off safe, and this remains his glory; He could have sinned but did not, could have done evil but would not,
- ¹¹So that his possessions are secure, and the assembly recounts his praises.
- ¹²If you are dining with a great man, bring not a greedy gullet to his table, Nor cry out, "How much food there is here!"
- ¹³Remember that gluttony is evil. No creature is greedier than the eye: therefore it weeps for any cause.
- ¹⁴Toward what he eyes, do not put out a hand; nor reach when he does for the same dish.
- ¹⁵Recognize that your neighbor feels as you do, and keep in mind your own dislikes:
- ¹⁶Behave at table like a favored guest, and be not greedy, lest you be despised.
- ¹⁷Be the first to stop, as befits good manners; gorge not yourself, lest you give offense.
- ¹⁸If there are many with you at table, be not the first to reach out your hand.
- ¹⁹Does not a little suffice for a well-bred man? When he lies down, it is without discomfort.
- ²⁰Distress and anguish and loss of sleep, and restless tossing for the glutton! Moderate eating ensures sound slumber and a clear mind next day on rising.

²¹ If perforce you have eaten too much, once you have emptied your stomach, you will have relief.

²² Listen to me, my son, and scorn me not; later you will find my advice good. In whatever you do, be moderate, and no sickness will befall you.

²³ On a man generous with food, blessings are invoked, and this testimony to his goodness is lasting;

²⁴ He who is miserly with food is denounced in public, and this testimony to his stinginess is lasting.

²⁵ Let not wine-drinking be the proof of your strength, for wine has been the ruin of many.

²⁶ As the furnace probes the work of the smith, so does wine the hearts of the insolent.

²⁷ Wine is very life to man if taken in moderation. Does he really live who lacks the wine which was created for his joy?

²⁸ Joy of heart, good cheer and merriment are wine drunk freely at the proper time.

²⁹ Headache, bitterness and disgrace is wine drunk amid anger and strife.

³⁰ More and more wine is a snare for the fool; it lessens his strength and multiplies his wounds.

³¹ Rebuke not your neighbor when wine is served, nor put him to shame while he is merry; Use no harsh words with him and distress him not in the presence of others.

32 If you are chosen to preside at dinner, be not puffed up, but with the guests be as one of themselves; Take care of them first before you sit down;

² when you have fulfilled your duty, then take your place, To share in their joy and win praise for your hospitality.

³ Being older, you may talk; that is only your right, but temper your wisdom, not to disturb the singing.

- ⁴When wine is present, do not pour out discourse, and flaunt not your wisdom at the wrong time.
- ⁵Like a seal of carnelian in a setting of gold is a concert when wine is served.
- ⁶Like a gold mounting with an emerald seal is string music with delicious wine.
- ⁷Young man, speak only when necessary, when they have asked you more than once;
- ⁸Be brief, but say much in those few words, be like the wise man, taciturn.
- ⁹When among your elders be not forward, and with officials be not too insistent.
- ¹⁰Like the lightning that flashes before a storm is the esteem that shines on modesty.
- ¹¹When it is time to leave, tarry not; be off for home! There take your ease,
- ¹²And there enjoy doing as you wish, but without sin or words of pride.
- ¹³Above all, give praise to your Creator, who showers his favors upon you.
- ¹⁴He who would find God must accept discipline; he who seeks him obtains his request.
- ¹⁵He who studies the law masters it, but the hypocrite finds it a trap.
- ¹⁶His judgment is sound who fears the LORD; out of obscurity he draws forth a clear plan.
- ¹⁷The sinner turns aside reproof and distorts the law to suit his purpose.
- ¹⁸The thoughtful man will not neglect direction; the proud and insolent man is deterred by nothing.
- ¹⁹Do nothing without counsel, and then you need have no regrets.
- ²⁰Go not on a way that is set with snares, and let not the same thing trip you twice.
- ²¹Be not too sure even of smooth roads,

²²be careful on all your paths.

²³Whatever you do, be on your guard, for in this way you will keep the commandments.

²⁴He who keeps the law preserves himself; and he who trusts in the LORD shall not be put to shame.

33 No evil can harm the man who fears the LORD; through trials, again and again he is safe.

²He who hates the law is without wisdom, and is tossed about like a boat in a storm.

³The prudent man trusts in the word of the LORD, and the law is dependable for him as a divine oracle.

⁴Prepare your words and you will be listened to; draw upon your training, and then give your answer.

⁵Like the wheel of a cart is the mind of a fool; his thoughts revolve in circles.

⁶A fickle friend is like the stallion that neighs, no matter who the rider.

⁷Why is one day more important than another, when it is the sun that lights up every day?

⁸It is due to the LORD'S wisdom that they differ; it is through him the seasons and feasts come and go.

⁹Some he dignifies and sanctifies, and others he lists as ordinary days.

¹⁰So too, all men are of clay, for from earth man was formed;

¹¹Yet with his great knowledge the LORD makes men unlike; in different paths he has them walk.

¹²Some he blesses and makes great, some he sanctifies and draws to himself. Others he curses and brings low, and expels them from their place.

¹³Like clay in the hands of a potter, to be molded according to his pleasure, So are men in the hands of their Creator, to be assigned by him their function.

¹⁴As evil contrasts with good, and death with life, so are sinners in contrast with the just;

¹⁵See now all the works of the Most High: they come in pairs, the one the opposite of the other.

¹⁶Now I am the last to keep vigil, like a gleaner after the vintage;

¹⁷Since by the LORD'S blessing I have made progress till like a vintager I have filled my wine press,

¹⁸I would inform you that not for myself only have I toiled, but for every seeker after wisdom.

¹⁹Listen to me, O leaders of the multitude; O rulers of the assembly, give ear!

²⁰Let neither son nor wife, neither brother nor friend, have power over you as long as you live.

²¹While breath of life is still in you, let no man have dominion over you. Give not to another your wealth, lest then you have to plead with him;

²²Far better that your children plead with you than that you should look to their generosity.

²³Keep control over all your affairs; let no one tarnish your glory.

²⁴When your few days reach their limit, at the time of death distribute your inheritance.

²⁵Fodder and whip and loads for an ass; the yoke and harness and the rod of his master.

²⁶Make a slave work and he will look for his rest; let his hands be idle and he will seek to be free.

²⁷Food, correction and work for a slave; and for a wicked slave, punishment in the stocks.

²⁸Force him to work that he be not idle, for idleness is an apt teacher of mischief.

²⁹Put him to work, for that is what befits him; if he becomes unruly, load him with chains.

³⁰But never lord it over any human being, and do nothing unjust.

³¹If you have but one slave, treat him like yourself, for you have acquired him with your life's blood;

³²If you have but one slave, deal with him as a brother, for you need him as you need your life:

³³If you mistreat him and he runs away, in what direction will you look for him?

34Empty and false are the hopes of the senseless, and fools are borne aloft by dreams.

²Like a man who catches at shadows or chases the wind, is the one who believes in dreams.

³What is seen in dreams is to reality what the reflection of a face is to the face itself.

⁴Can the unclean produce the clean? can the liar ever speak the truth?

⁵Divination, omens and dreams all are unreal; what you already expect, the mind depicts.

⁶Unless it be a vision specially sent by the Most High, fix not your heart on it;

⁷For dreams have led many astray, and those who believed in them have perished.

⁸The law is fulfilled without fail, and perfect wisdom is found in the mouth of the faithful man.

⁹A man with training gains wide knowledge; a man of experience speaks sense.

¹⁰One never put to the proof knows little, whereas with travel a man adds to his resourcefulness.

¹¹I have seen much in my travels, learned more than ever I could say.

¹²Often I was in danger of death, but by these attainments I was saved.

¹³Lively is the courage of those who fear the LORD, for they put their hope in their savior;

¹⁴He who fears the LORD is never alarmed, never afraid; for the LORD is his hope.

¹⁵Happy the soul that fears the LORD! In whom does he trust, and who is his support?

¹⁶The eyes of the LORD are upon those who love him; he is their mighty shield and strong support, A shelter from the heat, a shade from the noonday sun, a guard against stumbling, a help against falling.

¹⁷He buoys up the spirits, brings a sparkle to the eyes, gives health and life and blessing.

¹⁸Tainted his gifts who offers in sacrifice ill-gotten goods! Mock presents from the lawless win not God's favor.

¹⁹The Most High approves not the gifts of the godless, nor for their many sacrifices does he forgive their sins.

²⁰Like the man who slays a son in his father's presence is he who offers sacrifice from the possessions of the poor.

²¹The bread of charity is life itself for the needy; he who withholds it is a man of blood.

²²He slays his neighbor who deprives him of his living: he sheds blood who denies the laborer his wages.

²³If one man builds up and another tears down, what do they gain but trouble?

²⁴If one man prays and another curses, whose voice will the LORD hear?

²⁵If a man again touches a corpse after he has bathed, what did he gain by the purification?

²⁶So with a man who fasts for his sins, but then goes and commits them again: Who will hear his prayer, and what has he gained by his mortification?

35 To keep the law is a great oblation, and he who observes the commandments sacrifices a peace offering.

²In works of charity one offers fine flour, and when he gives alms he presents his sacrifice of praise.

³To refrain from evil pleases the LORD, and to avoid injustice is an atonement.

⁴Appear not before the LORD empty-handed, for all that you offer is in fulfillment of the precepts.

⁵The just man's offering enriches the altar and rises as a sweet odor before the Most High.

⁶The just man's sacrifice is most pleasing, nor will it ever be forgotten.

⁷In generous spirit pay homage to the LORD, be not sparing of freewill gifts.

⁸With each contribution show a cheerful countenance, and pay your tithes in a spirit of joy.

⁹Give to the Most High as he has given to you, generously, according to your means.

¹⁰For the LORD is one who always repays, and he will give back to you sevenfold.

¹¹But offer no bribes, these he does not accept! Trust not in sacrifice of the fruits of extortion, ¹²For he is a God of justice, who knows no favorites.

¹³Though not unduly partial toward the weak, yet he hears the cry of the oppressed.

¹⁴He is not deaf to the wail of the orphan, nor to the widow when she pours out her complaint;

¹⁵Do not the tears that stream down her cheek cry out against him that causes them to fall?

¹⁶He who serves God willingly is heard; his petition reaches the heavens.

- ¹⁷The prayer of the lowly pierces the clouds; it does not rest till it reaches its goal,
¹⁸Nor will it withdraw till the Most High responds, judges justly and affirms the right.
¹⁹God indeed will not delay, and like a warrior, will not be still ²⁰Till he breaks the backs of the merciless and wreaks vengeance upon the proud;
²¹Till he destroys the haughty root and branch, and smashes the scepter of the wicked;
²²Till he requites mankind according to its deeds, and repays men according to their thoughts;
²³Till he defends the cause of his people, and gladdens them by his mercy.
²⁴Welcome is his mercy in time of distress as rain clouds in time of drought.

36 Come to our aid, O God of the universe, and put all the nations in dread of you!

- ²Raise your hand against the heathen, that they may realize your power.
³As you have used us to show them your holiness, so now use them to show us your glory.
⁴Thus they will know, as we know, that there is no God but you.
⁵Give new signs and work new wonders; show forth the splendor of your right hand and arm;
⁶Rouse your anger, pour out wrath, humble the enemy, scatter the foe.
⁷Hasten the day, bring on the time;
⁸Let raging fire consume the fugitive, and your people's oppressors meet destruction.
⁹Crush the heads of the hostile rulers.
¹⁰Gather all the tribes of Jacob, that they may inherit the land as of old,

- ¹¹Show mercy to the people called by your name; Israel, whom you named your first-born.
- ¹²Take pity on your holy city, Jerusalem, your dwelling place.
- ¹³Fill Zion with your majesty, your temple with your glory.
- ¹⁴Give evidence of your deeds of old; fulfill the prophecies spoken in your name,
- ¹⁵Reward those who have hoped in you, and let your prophets be proved true.
- ¹⁶Hear the prayer of your servants, for you are ever gracious to your people;
- ¹⁷Thus it will be known to the very ends of the earth that you are the eternal God.
- ¹⁸The throat can swallow any food, yet some foods are more agreeable than others;
- ¹⁹As the palate tests meat by its savor, so does a keen mind insincere words.
- ²⁰A deceitful character causes grief, but an experienced man can turn the tables on him.
- ²¹Though any man may be accepted as a husband, yet one girl will be more suitable than another:
- ²²A woman's beauty makes her husband's face light up, for it surpasses all else that charms the eye;
- ²³And if, besides, her speech is kindly, his lot is beyond that of mortal men.
- ²⁴A wife is her husband's richest treasure, a helpmate, a steady column.
- ²⁵A vineyard with no hedge will be overrun; a man with no wife becomes a homeless wanderer.
- ²⁶Who will trust an armed band that shifts from city to city?
- ²⁷Or a man who has no nest, but lodges where night overtakes him?

37 Every friend declares his friendship, but there are friends who are friends in name only.

²Is it not a sorrow unto death when your bosom companion becomes your enemy?

³"Alas, my companion! Why were you created to blanket the earth with deceit?"

⁴A false friend will share your joys, but in time of trouble he stands afar off.

⁵A true friend will fight with you against the foe, against your enemies he will be your shield-bearer.

⁶Forget not your comrade during the battle, and neglect him not when you distribute your spoils.

⁷Every counselor points out a way, but some counsel ways of their own;

⁸Be on the alert when one proffers advice, find out first of all what he wants. For he may be thinking of himself alone; why should the profit fall to him?

⁹He may tell you how good your way will be, and then stand by to watch your misfortune.

¹⁰Seek no advice from one who regards you with hostility; from those who envy you, keep your intentions hidden.

¹¹Speak not to a woman about her rival, nor to a coward about war, to a merchant about business, to a buyer about value, to a miser about generosity, to a cruel man about mercy, to a lazy man about work, to a seasonal laborer about the harvest, to an idle slave about a great task: pay no attention to any advice they give.

¹²Instead, associate with a religious man, who you are sure keeps the commandments; Who is like-minded with yourself and will feel for you if you fall.

¹³Then, too, heed your own heart's counsel; for what have you that you can depend on more?

¹⁴A man's conscience can tell him his situation better than seven watchmen in a lofty tower.

¹⁵Most important of all, pray to God to set your feet in the path of truth.

¹⁶A word is the source of every deed; a thought, of every act.

¹⁷The root of all conduct is the mind; four branches it shoots forth:

¹⁸Good and evil, death and life, their absolute mistress is the tongue.

¹⁹A man may be wise and benefit many, yet be of no use to himself.

²⁰Though a man may be wise, if his words are rejected he will be deprived of all enjoyment.

²¹When a man is wise to his own advantage, the fruits of his knowledge are seen in his own person;

²²When a man is wise to his people's advantage, the fruits of his knowledge are enduring:

²³Limited are the days of one man's life, but the life of Israel is days without number.

²⁴One wise for himself has full enjoyment, and all who see him praise him;

²⁵One wise for his people wins a heritage of glory, and his name endures forever.

²⁶My son, while you are well, govern your appetite so that you allow it not what is bad for you;

²⁷For not every food is good for everyone, nor is everything suited to every taste.

²⁸Be not drawn after every enjoyment, neither become a glutton for choice foods,

²⁹For sickness comes with overeating, and gluttony brings on biliousness.

³⁰Through lack of self-control many have died, but the abstemious man prolongs his life.

38 Hold the physician in honor, for he is essential to you, and God it was who established his profession.

²From God the doctor has his wisdom, and the king provides for his sustenance.

³His knowledge makes the doctor distinguished, and gives him access to those in authority.

⁴God makes the earth yield healing herbs which the prudent man should not neglect;

⁵Was not the water sweetened by a twig that men might learn his power?

⁶He endows men with the knowledge to glory in his mighty works,

⁷Through which the doctor eases pain and the druggist prepares his medicines;

⁸Thus God's creative work continues without cease in its efficacy on the surface of the earth.

⁹My son, when you are ill, delay not, but pray to God, who will heal you:

¹⁰Flee wickedness; let your hands be just, cleanse your heart of every sin;

¹¹Offer your sweet-smelling oblation and petition, a rich offering according to your means.

¹²Then give the doctor his place lest he leave; for you need him too.

¹³There are times that give him an advantage,

¹⁴and he too beseeches God That his diagnosis may be correct and his treatment bring about a cure.

¹⁵He who is a sinner toward his Maker will be defiant toward the doctor.

¹⁶My son, shed tears for one who is dead with wailing and bitter lament; As is only proper, prepare the body, absent not yourself from his burial:

¹⁷Weeping bitterly, mourning fully, pay your tribute of sorrow, as he deserves,

¹⁸One or two days, to prevent gossip; then compose yourself after your grief,

¹⁹For grief can bring on an extremity and heartache destroy one's health.

- ²⁰ Turn not your thoughts to him again; cease to recall him; think rather of the end.
- ²¹ Recall him not, for there is no hope of his return; it will not help him, but will do you harm.
- ²² Remember that his fate will also be yours; for him it was yesterday, for you today.
- ²³ With the departed dead, let memory fade; rally your courage, once the soul has left.
- ²⁴ The scribe's profession increases his wisdom; whoever is free from toil can become a wise man.
- ²⁵ How can he become learned who guides the plow, who thrills in wielding the goad like a lance, Who guides the ox and urges on the bullock, and whose every concern is for cattle?
- ²⁶ His care is for plowing furrows, and he keeps a watch on the beasts in the stalls.
- ²⁷ So with every engraver and designer who, laboring night and day, Fashions carved seals, and whose concern is to vary the pattern. His care is to produce a vivid impression, and he keeps watch till he finishes his design.
- ²⁸ So with the smith standing near his anvil, forging crude iron. The heat from the fire sears his flesh, yet he toils away in the furnace heat. The clang of the hammer deafens his ears, His eyes are fixed on the tool he is shaping. His care is to finish his work, and he keeps watch till he perfects it in detail.
- ²⁹ So with the potter sitting at his labor, revolving the wheel with his feet. He is always concerned for his products, and turns them out in quantity.
- ³⁰ With his hands he molds the clay, and with his feet softens it. His care is for proper coloring, and he keeps watch on the fire of his kiln.
- ³¹ All these men are skilled with their hands, each one an expert at his own task;
- ³² Without them no city could be lived in, and wherever they stay, they need not hunger.
- ³³ They do not occupy the judge's bench, nor are they prominent in the assembly; They set forth no decisions or judgments, nor are they found among the rulers;

³⁴Yet they maintain God's ancient handiwork, and their concern is for exercise of their skill.

39How different the man who devotes himself to the study of the law of the Most High! He explores the wisdom of the men of old and occupies himself with the prophecies;

²He treasures the discourses of famous men, and goes to the heart of involved sayings;

³He studies obscure parables, and is busied with the hidden meanings of the sages.

⁴He is in attendance on the great, and has entrance to the ruler.

⁵He travels among the peoples of foreign lands to learn what is good and evil among men.

⁶His care is to seek the LORD, his Maker, to petition the Most High, To open his lips in prayer, to ask pardon for his sins. Then, if it pleases the LORD Almighty, he will be filled with the spirit of understanding; He will pour forth his words of wisdom and in prayer give thanks to the LORD, ⁷Who will direct his knowledge and his counsel, as he meditates upon his mysteries.

⁸He will show the wisdom of what he has learned and glory in the law of the LORD'S covenant.

⁹Many will praise his understanding; his fame can never be effaced; Unfading will be his memory, through all generations his name will live;

¹⁰Peoples will speak of his wisdom, and in assembly sing his praises.

¹¹While he lives he is one out of a thousand, and when he dies his renown will not cease.

¹²Once more I will set forth my theme to shine like the moon in its fullness!

¹³Listen, my faithful children: open up your petals, like roses planted near running waters;

- ¹⁴Send up the sweet odor of incense, break forth in blossoms like the lily. Send up the sweet odor of your hymn of praise; bless the LORD for all he has done!
- ¹⁵Proclaim the greatness of his name, loudly sing his praises, With music on the harp and all stringed instruments; sing out with joy as you proclaim:
- ¹⁶The works of God are all of them good; in its own time every need is supplied.
- ¹⁷At his word the waters become still as in a flask; he had but to speak and the reservoirs were made.
- ¹⁸He has but to command and his will is done; nothing can limit his achievement.
- ¹⁹The works of all mankind are present to him; not a thing escapes his eye.
- ²⁰His gaze spans all the ages; to him there is nothing unexpected.
- ²¹No cause then to say: "What is the purpose of this?" Everything is chosen to satisfy a need.
- ²²His blessing overflows like the Nile; like the Euphrates it enriches the surface of the earth.
- ²³Again, his wrath expels the nations and turns fertile land into a salt marsh.
- ²⁴For the virtuous his paths are level, to the haughty they are steep;
- ²⁵Good things for the good he provided from the beginning, but for the wicked good things and bad.
- ²⁶Chief of all needs for human life are water and fire, iron and salt, The heart of the wheat, milk and honey, the blood of the grape, and oil, and cloth;
- ²⁷For the good all these are good, but for the wicked they turn out evil.
- ²⁸There are storm winds created to punish, which in their fury can dislodge mountains; When destruction must be, they hurl all their force and appease the anger of their Maker.
- ²⁹In his treasury also, kept for the proper time, are fire and hail, famine, disease,

³⁰Ravenous beasts, scorpions, vipers, and the avenging sword to exterminate the wicked;

³¹In doing his bidding they rejoice, in their assignments they disobey not his command.

³²So from the first I took my stand, and wrote down as my theme:

³³The works of God are all of them good; every need when it comes he fills.

³⁴No cause then to say: "This is not as good as that"; for each shows its worth at the proper time.

³⁵So now with full joy of heart proclaim and bless the name of the Holy One.

40 A great anxiety has God allotted, and a heavy yoke, to the sons of men; From the day one leaves his mother's womb to the day he returns to the mother of all the living,

²His thoughts, the fear in his heart, and his troubled forebodings till the day he dies--

³Whether he sits on a lofty throne or grovels in dust and ashes,

⁴Whether he bears a splendid crown or is wrapped in the coarsest of cloaks--

⁵Are of wrath and envy, trouble and dread, terror of death, fury and strife. Even when he lies on his bed to rest, his cares at night disturb his sleep.

⁶So short is his rest it seems like none, till in his dreams he struggles as he did by day, Terrified by what his mind's eye sees, like a fugitive being pursued;

⁷As he reaches safety, he wakes up astonished that there was nothing to fear.

⁸So it is with all flesh, with man and with beast, but for sinners seven times more.

⁹Plague and bloodshed, wrath and the sword, plunder and ruin, famine and death:

¹⁰For the wicked, these were created evil, and it is they who bring on destruction.

¹¹All that is of earth returns to earth, and what is from above returns above.

¹²All that comes from bribes or injustice will be wiped out, but loyalty remains for ages.

¹³Wealth out of wickedness is like a wadi in spate: like a mighty stream with lightning and thunder,

¹⁴Which, in its rising, rolls along the stones, but suddenly, once and for all, comes to an end.

¹⁵The offshoot of violence will not flourish, for the root of the godless is on sheer rock;

¹⁶Or they are like reeds on the riverbank, withered before all other plants;

¹⁷But goodness will never be cut off, and justice endures forever. Wealth or wages can make life sweet, but better than either is finding a treasure.

¹⁸A child or a city will preserve one's name, but better than either, attaining wisdom.

¹⁹Sheepfolds and orchards bring flourishing health; but better than either, a devoted wife;

²⁰Wine and music delight the soul, but better than either, conjugal love.

²¹The flute and the harp offer sweet melody, but better than either, a voice that is true.

²²Charm and beauty delight the eye, but better than either, the flowers of the field.

²³A friend, a neighbor, are timely guides, but better than either, a prudent wife.

²⁴A brother, a helper, for times of stress; but better than either, charity that rescues.

²⁵Gold and silver make one's way secure, but better than either, sound judgment.

²⁶Wealth and vigor build up confidence, but better than either, fear of God. Fear of the LORD leaves nothing wanting; he who has it need seek no other support:

²⁷The fear of God is a paradise of blessings; its canopy, all that is glorious.

²⁸My son, live not the life of a beggar, better to die than to beg;

²⁹When one has to look to another's table, his life is not really a life. His neighbor's delicacies bring revulsion of spirit to one who understands inward feelings:

³⁰In the mouth of the shameless man begging is sweet, but within him it burns like fire.

41 O death! how bitter the thought of you for the man at peace amid his possessions, For the man unruffled and always successful, who still can enjoy life's pleasures.

²O death! how welcome your sentence to the weak man of failing strength, Tottering and always rebuffed, with no more sight, with vanished hope.

³Fear not death's decree for you; remember, it embraces those before you, and those after.

⁴Thus God has ordained for all flesh; why then should you reject the will of the Most High? Whether one has lived a thousand years, a hundred, or ten, in the nether world he has no claim on life.

⁵A reprobate line are the children of sinners, and witless offspring are in the homes of the wicked.

⁶Their dominion is lost to sinners' children, and reproach abides with their descendants.

⁷Children curse their wicked father, for they suffer disgrace through him.

⁸Woe to you, O sinful men, who forsake the law of the Most High.

⁹If you have children, calamity will seize them; you will beget them only for groaning. When you stumble, there is lasting joy; at death, you become a curse.

¹⁰Whatever is of nought returns to nought, so too the godless from void to void.

¹¹Man's body is a fleeting thing, but a virtuous name will never be annihilated.

¹²Have a care for your name, for it will stand by you better than precious treasures in the thousands;

¹³The boon of life is for limited days, but a good name, for days without number.

¹⁴My children, heed my instruction about shame; judge of disgrace only according to my rules, For it is not always well to be ashamed, nor is it always the proper thing to blush:

¹⁵Before father and mother be ashamed of immorality, before master and mistress, of falsehood;

¹⁶Before prince and ruler, of flattery; before the public assembly, of crime;

¹⁷Before friend and companion, of disloyalty, and of breaking an oath or agreement.

¹⁸Be ashamed of theft from the people where you settle, and of stretching out your elbow when you dine;

¹⁹Of refusing to give when asked, of defrauding another of his appointed share,

²⁰Of failing to return a greeting, and of rebuffing a friend;

²¹Of gazing at a married woman, and of entertaining thoughts about another's wife; Of trifling with a servant girl you have, and of violating her couch;

²²Of using harsh words with friends, and of following up your gifts with insults;

²³Of repeating what you hear, and of betraying secrets--

²⁴These are the things you should rightly avoid as shameful if you would be looked upon by everyone with favor.

42 But of these things be not ashamed, lest you sin through human respect:

²Of the law of the Most High and his precepts, or of the sentence to be passed upon the sinful;

³Of sharing the expenses of a business or a journey, or of dividing an inheritance or property;

⁴Of accuracy of scales and balances, or of tested measures and weights;

⁵Of acquiring much or little, or of bargaining in dealing with a merchant; Of constant training of children, or of beating the sides of a disloyal servant;

⁶Of a seal to keep an erring wife at home, or of a lock placed where there are many hands;

⁷Of numbering every deposit, or of recording all that is given or received;

⁸Of chastisement of the silly and the foolish, or of the aged and infirm answering for wanton conduct. Thus you will be truly cautious and recognized by all men as discreet.

⁹A daughter is a treasure that keeps her father wakeful, and worry over her drives away rest: Lest she pass her prime unmarried, or when she is married, lest she be disliked;

¹⁰While unmarried, lest she be seduced, or, as a wife, lest she prove unfaithful; Lest she conceive in her father's home, or be sterile in that of her husband.

¹¹Keep a close watch on your daughter, lest she make you the sport of your enemies, A byword in the city, a reproach among the people, an object of derision in public gatherings. See that there is no lattice in her room, no place that overlooks the approaches to the house.

¹²Let her not parade her charms before men, or spend her time with married women;

¹³For just as moths come from garments, so harm to women comes from women:

¹⁴Better a man's harshness than a woman's indulgence, and a frightened daughter than any disgrace.

¹⁵Now will I recall God's works; what I have seen, I will describe. At God's word were his works brought into being; they do his will as he has ordained for them.

¹⁶As the rising sun is clear to all, so the glory of the LORD fills all his works;

¹⁷Yet even God's holy ones must fail in recounting the wonders of the LORD, Though God has given these, his hosts, the strength to stand firm before his glory.

¹⁸He plumbs the depths and penetrates the heart; their innermost being he understands. The Most High possesses all knowledge, and sees from of old the things that are to come:

¹⁹He makes known the past and the future, and reveals the deepest secrets.

²⁰No understanding does he lack; no single thing escapes him.

²¹Perennial is his almighty wisdom; he is from all eternity one and the same,

²²With nothing added, nothing taken away; no need of a counselor for him!

²³How beautiful are all his works! even to the spark and the fleeting vision!

²⁴The universe lives and abides forever; to meet each need, each creature is preserved.

²⁵All of them differ, one from another, yet none of them has he made in vain, For each in turn, as it comes, is good; can one ever see enough of their splendor?

43 The clear vault of the sky shines forth like heaven itself, a vision of glory.

²The orb of the sun, resplendent at its rising: what a wonderful work of the Most High!

³At noon it seethes the surface of the earth, and who can bear its fiery heat?

⁴Like a blazing furnace of solid metal, it sets the mountains aflame with its rays; By its fiery darts the land is consumed; the eyes are dazzled by its light.

⁵Great indeed is the LORD who made it, at whose orders it urges on its steeds.

⁶The moon, too, that marks the changing times, governing the seasons, their lasting sign,

⁷By which we know the feast days and fixed dates, this light-giver which wanes in its course:

⁸As its name says, each month it renews itself; how wondrous in this change!

⁹The beauty, the glory, of the heavens are the stars that adorn with their sparkling the heights of God,

¹⁰At whose command they keep their place and never relax in their vigils. A weapon against the flood waters stored on high, lighting up the firmament by its brilliance,

¹¹Behold the rainbow! Then bless its Maker, for majestic indeed is its splendor;

¹²It spans the heavens with its glory, this bow bent by the mighty hand of God.

¹³His rebuke marks out the path for the lightning, and speeds the arrows of his judgment to their goal.

¹⁴At it the storehouse is opened, and like vultures the clouds hurry forth.

¹⁵In his majesty he gives the storm its power and breaks off the hailstones.

¹⁶The thunder of his voice makes the earth writhe; before his might the mountains quake.

¹⁷A word from him drives on the south wind, the angry north wind, the hurricane and the storm.

¹⁸He sprinkles the snow like fluttering birds; it comes to settle like swarms of locusts.

¹⁹Its shining whiteness blinds the eyes, the mind is baffled by its steady fall.

²⁰He scatters frost like so much salt; it shines like blossoms on the thornbush.

²¹Cold northern blasts he sends that turn the ponds to lumps of ice. He freezes over every body of water, and clothes each pool with a coat of mail.

²²When the mountain growth is scorched with heat, and the flowering plains as though by flames,

²³The dripping clouds restore them all, and the scattered dew enriches the parched land.

²⁴His is the plan that calms the deep, and plants the islands in the sea.

²⁵Those who go down to the sea tell part of its story, and when we hear them we are thunderstruck;

²⁶In it are his creatures, stupendous, amazing, all kinds of life, and the monsters of the deep.

²⁷For him each messenger succeeds, and at his bidding accomplishes his will.

²⁸More than this we need not add; let the last word be, he is all in all!

²⁹Let us praise him the more, since we cannot fathom him, for greater is he than all his works;

³⁰Awful indeed is the LORD'S majesty, and wonderful is his power.

³¹Lift up your voices to glorify the LORD, though he is still beyond your power to praise;

³²Extol him with renewed strength, and weary not, though you cannot reach the end:

³³For who can see him and describe him? or who can praise him as he is?

³⁴Beyond these, many things lie hid; only a few of his works have we seen.

³⁵It is the LORD who has made all things, and to those who fear him he gives wisdom.

44 Now will I praise those godly men, our ancestors, each in his own time:

²The abounding glory of the Most High's portion, his own part, since the days of old. Subduers of the land in kingly fashion, men of renown for their might,

³Or counselors in their prudence, or seers of all things in prophecy;

⁴Resolute princes of the folk, and governors with their staves; Authors skilled in composition, and forgers of epigrams with their spikes;

⁵Composers of melodious psalms, or discoursers on lyric themes;

⁶Stalwart men, solidly established and at peace in their own estates--

⁷All these were glorious in their time, each illustrious in his day.

⁸Some of them have left behind a name and men recount their praiseworthy deeds;

⁹But of others there is no memory, for when they ceased, they ceased. And they are as though they had not lived, they and their children after them.

¹⁰Yet these also were godly men whose virtues have not been forgotten;

¹¹Their wealth remains in their families, their heritage with their descendants;

¹²Through God's covenant with them their family endures, their posterity, for their sake.

¹³And for all time their progeny will endure, their glory will never be blotted out;

¹⁴Their bodies are peacefully laid away, but their name lives on and on.

¹⁵At gatherings their wisdom is retold, and the assembly proclaims their praise.

¹⁶[ENOCH walked with the LORD and was taken up, that succeeding generations might learn by his example.]

¹⁷NOAH, found just and perfect, renewed the race in the time of devastation. Because of his worth there were survivors, and with a sign to him the deluge ended;

¹⁸A lasting agreement was made with him, that never should all flesh be destroyed.

¹⁹ABRAHAM, father of many peoples, kept his glory without stain:

²⁰He observed the precepts of the Most High, and entered into an agreement with him; In his own flesh he incised the ordinance, and when tested he was found loyal.

²¹For this reason, God promised him with an oath that in his descendants the nations would be blessed, That he would make him numerous as the grains of dust, and exalt his posterity like the stars; That he would give them an inheritance from sea to sea, and from the River to the ends of the earth.

²²And for ISAAC he renewed the same promise because of Abraham, his father. The covenant with all his forebears was confirmed, and the blessing rested upon the head of JACOB.

²³God acknowledged him as the first-born, and gave him his inheritance. He fixed the boundaries for his tribes, and their division into twelve.

45 From him was to spring the man who won the favor of all: Dear to God and men, MOSES, whose memory is held in benediction.

²God's honor devolved upon him, and the Lord strengthened him with fearful powers;

³God wrought swift miracles at his words and sustained him in the king's presence. He gave him the commandments for his people, and revealed to him his glory.

⁴For his trustworthiness and meekness God selected him from all mankind;

⁵He permitted him to hear his voice, and led him into the cloud, Where, face to face, he gave him the commandments, the law of life and understanding, That he might teach his precepts to Jacob, his judgments and decrees to Israel.

⁶He raised up also, like Moses in holiness, his brother AARON, of the tribe of Levi.

⁷He made him perpetual in his office when he bestowed on him the priesthood of his people; He established him in honor and crowned him with lofty majesty;

⁸He clothed him with splendid apparel, and adorned him with the glorious vestments: Breeches and tunic and robe with pomegranates around the hem,

⁹And a rustle of bells round about, through whose pleasing sound at each step He would be heard within the sanctuary, and the children of his race would be remembered;

¹⁰The sacred vestments of gold, of violet, and of crimson, wrought with embroidery; The breastpiece for decision, the ephod and cincture

¹¹with scarlet yarn, the work of the weaver; Precious stones with seal engravings in golden settings, the work of the jeweler, To commemorate in incised letters each of the tribes of Israel;

¹²On his turban the diadem of gold, its plate wrought with the insignia of holiness, Majestic, glorious, renowned for splendor, a delight to the eyes, beauty supreme.

¹³Before him, no one was adorned with these, nor may they ever be worn by any Except his sons and them alone, generation after generation, for all time.

¹⁴His cereal offering is wholly burnt with the established sacrifice twice each day;

¹⁵For Moses ordained him and anointed him with the holy oil, In a lasting covenant with him and with his family, as permanent as the heavens, That he should serve God in his priesthood and bless his people in his name.

¹⁶He chose him from all mankind to offer holocausts and choice offerings, To burn sacrifices of sweet odor for a memorial, and to atone for the people of Israel.

¹⁷He gave to him his laws, and authority to prescribe and to judge: To teach the precepts to his people, and the ritual to the descendants of Israel.

¹⁸Men of other families were inflamed against him, were jealous of him in the desert, The followers of Dathan and Abiram, and the band of Korah in their defiance.

¹⁹But the LORD saw this and became angry, he destroyed them in his burning wrath. He brought down upon them a miracle, and consumed them with his flaming fire.

²⁰Then he increased the glory of Aaron and bestowed upon him his inheritance: The sacred offerings he allotted to him, with the showbread as his portion;

²¹The oblations of the LORD are his food, a gift to him and his descendants.

²²But he holds no land among the people nor shares with them their heritage; For the LORD himself is his portion, his inheritance in the midst of Israel.

²³PHINEHAS too, the son of Eleazar, was the courageous third of his line When, zealous for the God of all, he met the crisis of his people And, at the prompting of his noble heart, atoned for the children of Israel.

²⁴Therefore on him again God conferred the right, in a covenant of friendship, to provide for the sanctuary, So that he and his descendants should possess the high priesthood forever.

²⁵For even his covenant with David, the son of Jesse of the tribe of Judah, Was an individual heritage through one son alone; but the heritage of Aaron is for all his descendants.

²⁶And now bless the LORD who has crowned you with glory! May he grant you wisdom of heart to govern his people in justice, Lest their welfare should ever be forgotten, or your authority, throughout all time.

46 Valiant leader was JOSHUA, son of Nun, assistant to Moses in the prophetic office, Formed to be, as his name implies, the great savior of God's chosen ones, To punish the enemy and to win the inheritance for Israel.

²What glory was his when he raised his arm, to brandish his javelin against the city!

³And who could withstand him when he fought the battles of the LORD?

⁴Did he not by his power stop the sun, so that one day became two?

⁵He called upon the Most High God when his enemies beset him on all sides, And God Most High gave answer to him in hailstones of tremendous power,

⁶Which he rained down upon the hostile army till on the slope he destroyed the foe; That all the doomed nations might know that the LORD was watching over his people's battles. And because he was a devoted follower of God

⁷and in Moses' lifetime showed himself loyal, He and CALEB, son of Jephunneh, when they opposed the rebel assembly, Averted God's anger from the people and suppressed the wicked complaint--

⁸Because of this, they were the only two spared from the six hundred thousand infantry, To lead the people into their inheritance, the land flowing with milk and honey.

⁹And the strength he gave to Caleb remained with him even in his old age Till he won his way onto the summits of the land; his family too received an inheritance, ¹⁰That all the people of Jacob might know how good it is to be a devoted follower of the LORD.

¹¹The JUDGES, too, each one of them, whose hearts were not deceived, Who did not abandon God: may their memory be ever blessed, ¹²Their bones return to life from their resting place, and their names receive fresh luster in their children!

¹³Beloved of his people, dear to his Maker, dedicated from his mother's womb, Consecrated to the LORD as a prophet, was SAMUEL, the judge and priest. At God's word he established the kingdom and anointed princes to rule the people.

¹⁴By the law of the LORD he judged the nation, when he visited the encampments of Jacob.

¹⁵As a trustworthy prophet he was sought out and his words proved him true as a seer.

¹⁶He, too, called upon God, and offered him a suckling lamb;

¹⁷Then the LORD thundered forth from heaven, and the tremendous roar of his voice was heard.

¹⁸He brought low the rulers of the enemy and destroyed all the lords of the Philistines.

¹⁹When Samuel approached the end of his life, he testified before the LORD and his anointed prince, "No bribe or secret gift have I taken from any man!" and no one dared gainsay him.

²⁰Even when he lay buried, his guidance was sought; he made known to the king his fate, And from the grave he raised his voice as a prophet, to put an end to wickedness.

47 After him came NATHAN who served in the presence of David.

²Like the choice fat of the sacred offerings, so was DAVID in Israel.

³He made sport of lions as though they were kids, and of bears, like lambs of the flock.

⁴As a youth he slew the giant and wiped out the people's disgrace, When his hand let fly the slingstone that crushed the pride of Goliath.

⁵Since he called upon the Most High God, who gave strength to his right arm To defeat the skilled warrior and raise up the might of his people,

⁶Therefore the women sang his praises and ascribed to him tens of thousands. When he assumed the royal crown, he battled ⁷and subdued the enemy on every side. He destroyed the hostile Philistines and shattered their power till our own day.

⁸With his every deed he offered thanks to God Most High, in words of praise. With his whole being he loved his Maker and daily had his praises sung;

⁹He added beauty to the feasts and solemnized the seasons of each year With string music before the altar, providing sweet melody for the psalms

¹⁰So that when the Holy Name was praised, before daybreak the sanctuary would resound.

¹¹The LORD forgave him his sins and exalted his strength forever; He conferred on him the rights of royalty and established his throne in Israel.

¹²Because of his merits he had as his successor a wise son, who lived in security:

¹³SOLOMON reigned during an era of peace, for God made tranquil all his borders. He built a house to the name of God, and established a lasting sanctuary.

¹⁴How wise you were when you were young, overflowing with instruction, like the Nile in flood!

¹⁵Your understanding covered the whole earth, and, like a sea, filled it with knowledge.

¹⁶Your fame reached distant coasts, and their peoples came to hear you;

¹⁷With song and story and riddle, and with your answers, you astounded the nations.

¹⁸You were called by that glorious name which was conferred upon Israel. Gold you gathered like so much iron, you heaped up silver as though it were lead;

¹⁹But you abandoned yourself to women and gave them dominion over your body.

²⁰You brought dishonor upon your reputation, shame upon your marriage, Wrath upon your descendants, and groaning upon your domain;

²¹Thus two governments came into being, when in Ephraim kingship was usurped.

²²But God does not withdraw his mercy, nor permit even one of his promises to fail. He does not uproot the posterity of his chosen one, nor destroy the offspring of his friend. So he gave to Jacob a remnant, to David a root from his own family.

²³Solomon finally slept with his fathers, and left behind him one of his sons, Expansive in folly, limited in sense, REHOBAM, who by his policy made the people rebel; Until one arose who should not be remembered, the sinner who led Israel into sin, Who brought ruin to Ephraim ²⁴and caused them to be exiled from their land. Their sinfulness grew more and more,

²⁵and they lent themselves to every evil,

48 Till like a fire there appeared the prophet whose words were as a flaming furnace.

² Their staff of bread he shattered, in his zeal he reduced them to straits;

³ By God's word he shut up the heavens and three times brought down fire.

⁴ How awesome are you, ELIJAH! Whose glory is equal to yours?

⁵ You brought a dead man back to life from the nether world, by the will of the LORD.

⁶ You sent kings down to destruction, and nobles, from their beds of sickness.

⁷ You heard threats at Sinai, at Horeb avenging judgments.

⁸ You anointed kings who should inflict vengeance, and a prophet as your successor.

⁹ You were taken aloft in a whirlwind, in a chariot with fiery horses.

¹⁰ You are destined, it is written, in time to come to put an end to wrath before the day of the LORD, To turn back the hearts of fathers toward their sons, and to reestablish the tribes of Jacob.

¹¹ Blessed is he who shall have seen you before he dies,

¹² O Elijah, enveloped in the whirlwind! Then ELISHA, filled with a twofold portion of his spirit, wrought many marvels by his mere word. During his lifetime he feared no one, nor was any man able to intimidate his will.

¹³ Nothing was beyond his power; beneath him flesh was brought back into life.

¹⁴ In life he performed wonders, and after death, marvelous deeds.

¹⁵ Despite all this the people did not repent, nor did they give up their sins, Until they were rooted out of their land and scattered all over the earth. But Judah remained, a tiny people, with its rulers from the house of David.

¹⁶ Some of these did what was right, but others were extremely sinful.

¹⁷HEZEKIAH fortified his city and had water brought into it; With iron tools he cut through the rock and he built reservoirs for water.

¹⁸During his reign Sennacherib led an invasion and sent his adjutant; He shook his fist at Zion and blasphemed God in his pride.

¹⁹The people's hearts melted within them, and they were in anguish like that of childbirth.

²⁰But they called upon the Most High God and lifted up their hands to him; He heard the prayer they uttered, and saved them through ISAIAH.

²¹God struck the camp of the Assyrians and routed them with a plague.

²²For Hezekiah did what was right and held fast to the paths of David, As ordered by the illustrious prophet Isaiah, who saw the truth in visions.

²³In his lifetime he turned back the sun and prolonged the life of the king.

²⁴By his powerful spirit he looked into the future and consoled the mourners of Zion;

²⁵He foretold what should be till the end of time, hidden things yet to be fulfilled.

49The name JOSIAH is like blended incense, made lasting by a skilled perfumer. Precious is his memory, like honey to the taste, like music at a banquet.

²For he grieved over our betrayals, and destroyed the abominable idols.

³He turned to God with his whole heart, and, though times were evil, he practiced virtue.

⁴Except for David, Hezekiah and Josiah, they all were wicked; They abandoned the Law of the Most High, these kings of Judah, right to the very end.

⁵So he gave over their power to others, their glory to a foolish foreign nation

⁶Who burned the holy city and left its streets desolate, As JEREMIAH had foretold;

⁷for they had treated him badly who even in the womb had been made a prophet, To root out, pull down, and destroy, and then to build and to plant.

⁸EZEKIEL beheld the vision and described the different creatures of the chariot;

⁹He also referred to JOB, who always persevered in the right path.

¹⁰Then, too, the TWELVE PROPHETS-- may their bones return to life from their resting place!-- Gave new strength to Jacob and saved him by their faith and hope.

¹¹How can we fittingly praise ZERUBBABEL, who was like a signet ring on God's right hand, ¹²And Jeshua, Jozadak's son? In their time they built the house of God; They erected the holy temple, destined for everlasting glory.

¹³Extolled be the memory of NEHEMIAH! He rebuilt our ruined walls, Restored our shattered defenses, and set up gates and bars.

¹⁴Few on earth have been made the equal of ENOCH, for he was taken up bodily.

¹⁵Was ever a man born like JOSEPH? Even his dead body was provided for.

¹⁶Glorious, too, were SHEM and SETH and ENOS; but beyond that of any living being was the splendor of ADAM.

50 The greatest among his brethren, the glory of his people, was SIMON the priest, son of Jochanan, In whose time the house of God was renovated, in whose days the temple was reinforced.

²In his time also the wall was built with powerful turrets for the temple precincts;

³In his time the reservoir was dug, the pool with a vastness like the sea's.

⁴He protected his people against brigands and strengthened his city against the enemy.

⁵How splendid he was as he appeared from the tent, as he came from within the veil!

⁶Like a star shining among the clouds, like the full moon at the holyday season;

⁷Like the sun shining upon the temple, like the rainbow appearing in the cloudy sky;

⁸Like the blossoms on the branches in springtime, like a lily on the banks of a stream;
Like the trees of Lebanon in summer,

⁹like the fire of incense at the sacrifice; Like a vessel of beaten gold, studded with precious stones;

¹⁰Like a luxuriant olive tree thick with fruit, like a cypress standing against the clouds;

¹¹Vested in his magnificent robes, and wearing his garments of splendor, As he ascended the glorious altar and lent majesty to the court of the sanctuary.

¹²When he received the sundered victims from the priests while he stood before the sacrificial wood, His brethren ringed him about like a garland, like a stand of cedars on Lebanon;

¹³All the sons of Aaron in their dignity clustered around him like poplars, With the offerings to the LORD in their hands, in the presence of the whole assembly of Israel.

¹⁴Once he had completed the services at the altar with the arranging of the sacrifices for the Most High,

¹⁵And had stretched forth his hand for the cup, to offer blood of the grape, And poured it out at the foot of the altar, a sweet-smelling odor to the Most High God,

¹⁶The sons of Aaron would sound a blast, the priests, on their trumpets of beaten metal; A blast to resound mightily as a reminder before the Most High.

¹⁷Then all the people with one accord would quickly fall prostrate to the ground In adoration before the Most High, before the Holy One of Israel.

¹⁸Then hymns would re-echo, and over the throng sweet strains of praise resound.

¹⁹All the people of the land would shout for joy, praying to the Merciful One, As the high priest completed the services at the altar by presenting to God the sacrifice due;

²⁰Then coming down he would raise his hands over all the congregation of Israel.
The blessing of the LORD would be upon his lips, the name of the LORD would be his glory.

²¹Then again the people would lie prostrate to receive from him the blessing of the Most High.

²²And now, bless the God of all, who has done wondrous things on earth; Who fosters men's growth from their mother's womb, and fashions them according to his will!

²³May he grant you joy of heart and may peace abide among you;

²⁴May his goodness toward us endure in Israel as long as the heavens are above.

²⁵My whole being loathes two nations, the third is not even a people:

²⁶Those who live in Seir and Philistia, and the degenerate folk who dwell in Shechem.

²⁷Wise instruction, appropriate proverbs, I have written in this book, I, Jesus, son of Eleazar, son of Sirach, as they gushed forth from my heart's understanding.

²⁸Happy the man who meditates upon these things, wise the man who takes them to heart!

²⁹If he puts them into practice, he can cope with anything, for the fear of the LORD is his lamp.

51 I give you thanks, O God of my father; I praise you, O God my savior! I will make known your name, refuge of my life;

²you have been my helper against my adversaries. You have saved me from death, and kept back my body from the pit, From the clutches of the nether world you have snatched my feet;

³you have delivered me, in your great mercy From the scourge of a slanderous tongue, and from lips that went over to falsehood; From the snare of those who watched for my downfall, and from the power of those who sought my life; From many a danger you have saved me,

⁴from flames that hemmed me in on every side; From the midst of unremitting fire,

⁵From the deep belly of the nether world; From deceiving lips and painters of lies,

⁶from the arrows of dishonest tongues. I was at the point of death, my soul was nearing the depths of the nether world;

⁷ I turned every way, but there was no one to help me, I looked for one to sustain me, but could find no one.

⁸ But then I remembered the mercies of the LORD, his kindness through ages past; For he saves those who take refuge in him, and rescues them from every evil.

⁹ So I raised my voice from the very earth, from the gates of the nether world, my cry.

¹⁰ I called out: O Lord, you are my father, you are my champion and my savior; Do not abandon me in time of trouble, in the midst of storms and dangers.

¹¹ I will ever praise your name and be constant in my prayers to you. Thereupon the LORD heard my voice, he listened to my appeal;

¹² He saved me from evil of every kind and preserved me in time of trouble. For this reason I thank him and I praise him; I bless the name of the LORD.

¹³ When I was young and innocent, I sought wisdom.

¹⁴ She came to me in her beauty, and until the end I will cultivate her.

¹⁵ As the blossoms yielded to ripening grapes, the heart's joy, My feet kept to the level path because from earliest youth I was familiar with her.

¹⁶ In the short time I paid heed, I met with great instruction.

¹⁷ Since in this way I have profited, I will give my teacher grateful praise.

¹⁸ I became resolutely devoted to her-- the good I persistently strove for.

¹⁹ I burned with desire for her, never turning back. I became preoccupied with her, never weary of extolling her. My hand opened her gate and I came to know her secrets.

²⁰ For her I purified my hands; in cleanness I attained to her. At first acquaintance with her, I gained understanding such that I will never forsake her.

²¹ My whole being was stirred as I learned about her; therefore I have made her my prize possession.

²² The LORD has granted me my lips as a reward, and my tongue will declare his praises.

²³Come aside to me, you untutored, and take up lodging in the house of instruction;

²⁴How long will you be deprived of wisdom's food, how long will you endure such bitter thirst?

²⁵I open my mouth and speak of her: gain, at no cost, wisdom for yourselves.

²⁶Submit your neck to her yoke, that your mind may accept her teaching. For she is close to those who seek her, and the one who is in earnest finds her.

²⁷See for yourselves! I have labored only a little, but have found much.

²⁸Acquire but a little instruction; you will win silver and gold through her.

²⁹Let your spirits rejoice in the mercy of God, and be not ashamed to give him praise.

³⁰Work at your tasks in due season, and in his own time God will give you your reward.

Isaiah

1 The vision which Isaiah, son of Amoz, had concerning Judah and Jerusalem in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah, kings of Judah.

2 Hear, O heavens, and listen, O earth, for the LORD speaks: Sons have I raised and reared, but they have disowned me!

3 An ox knows its owner, and an ass, its master's manger; But Israel does not know, my people has not understood.

4 Ah! sinful nation, people laden with wickedness, evil race, corrupt children! They have forsaken the LORD, spurned the Holy One of Israel, apostatized.

5 Where would you yet be struck, you that rebel again and again? The whole head is sick, the whole heart faint.

6 From the sole of the foot to the head there is no sound spot: Wound and welt and gaping gash, not drained, or bandaged, or eased with salve.

7 Your country is waste, your cities burnt with fire; Your land before your eyes strangers devour (a waste, like Sodom overthrown)--

8 And daughter Zion is left like a hut in a vineyard, Like a shed in a melon patch, like a city blockaded.

9 Unless the LORD of hosts had left us a scanty remnant, We had become as Sodom, we should be like Gomorrah.

10 Hear the word of the LORD, princes of Sodom! Listen to the instruction of our God, people of Gomorrah!

11 What care I for the number of your sacrifices? says the LORD. I have had enough of whole-burnt rams and fat of fatlings; In the blood of calves, lambs and goats I find no pleasure.

12 When you come in to visit me, who asks these things of you?

¹³Trample my courts no more! Bring no more worthless offerings; your incense is loathsome to me. New moon and sabbath, calling of assemblies, octaves with wickedness: these I cannot bear.

¹⁴Your new moons and festivals I detest; they weigh me down, I tire of the load.

¹⁵When you spread out your hands, I close my eyes to you; Though you pray the more, I will not listen. Your hands are full of blood!

¹⁶Wash yourselves clean! Put away your misdeeds from before my eyes; cease doing evil;

¹⁷Learn to do good. Make justice your aim: redress the wronged, hear the orphan's plea, defend the widow.

¹⁸Come now, let us set things right, says the LORD: Though your sins be like scarlet, they may become white as snow; Though they be crimson red, they may become white as wool.

¹⁹If you are willing, and obey, you shall eat the good things of the land;

²⁰But if you refuse and resist, the sword shall consume you: for the mouth of the LORD has spoken!

²¹How has she turned adulteress, the faithful city, so upright! Justice used to lodge within her, but now, murderers.

²²Your silver is turned to dross, your wine is mixed with water.

²³Your princes are rebels and comrades of thieves; Each one of them loves a bribe and looks for gifts. The fatherless they defend not, and the widow's plea does not reach them.

²⁴Now, therefore, says the Lord, the LORD of hosts, the Mighty One of Israel: Ah! I will take vengeance on my foes and fully repay my enemies!

²⁵I will turn my hand against you, and refine your dross in the furnace, removing all your alloy.

²⁶I will restore your judges as at first, and your counselors as in the beginning; After that you shall be called city of justice, faithful city.

²⁷Zion shall be redeemed by judgment, and her repentant ones by justice.

²⁸Rebels and sinners alike shall be crushed, those who desert the LORD shall be consumed.

²⁹You shall be ashamed of the terebinths which you prized, and blush for the groves which you chose.

³⁰You shall become like a tree with falling leaves, like a garden that has no water.

³¹The strong man shall turn to tow, and his work shall become a spark; Both shall burn together, and there shall be none to quench the flames.

2 This is what Isaiah, son of Amoz, saw concerning Judah and Jerusalem.

²In days to come, The mountain of the LORD'S house shall be established as the highest mountain and raised above the hills. All nations shall stream toward it;

³many peoples shall come and say: "Come, let us climb the LORD'S mountain, to the house of the God of Jacob, That he may instruct us in his ways, and we may walk in his paths." For from Zion shall go forth instruction, and the word of the LORD from Jerusalem.

⁴He shall judge between the nations, and impose terms on many peoples. They shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks; One nation shall not raise the sword against another, nor shall they train for war again.

⁵O house of Jacob, come, let us walk in the light of the LORD!

⁶You have abandoned your people, the house of Jacob, Because they are filled with fortunetellers and soothsayers, like the Philistines; they covenant with strangers.

⁷Their land is full of silver and gold, and there is no end to their treasures; Their land is full of horses, and there is no end to their chariots.

⁸Their land is full of idols; they worship the works of their hands, that which their fingers have made.

⁹But man is abased, each one brought low. (Do not pardon them!)

¹⁰Get behind the rocks, hide in the dust, From the terror of the LORD and the splendor of his majesty!

¹¹The haughty eyes of man will be lowered, the arrogance of men will be abased, and the LORD alone will be exalted, on that day.

¹²For the LORD of hosts will have his day against all that is proud and arrogant, all that is high, and it will be brought low;

¹³Yes, against all the cedars of Lebanon and all the oaks of Bashan,

¹⁴Against all the lofty mountains and all the high hills,

¹⁵Against every lofty tower and every fortified wall,

¹⁶Against all the ships of Tarshish and all stately vessels.

¹⁷Human pride will be abased, the arrogance of men brought low, And the LORD alone will be exalted, on that day.

¹⁸The idols will perish forever.

¹⁹Men will go into caves in the rocks and into holes in the earth, From the terror of the LORD and the splendor of his majesty, when he arises to overawe the earth.

²⁰On that day men will throw to the moles and the bats the idols of silver and gold which they made for worship.

²¹They go into caverns in the rocks and into crevices in the cliffs, From the terror of the LORD and the splendor of his majesty, when he arises to overawe the earth.

²²As for you, let man alone, in whose nostrils is but a breath; for what is he worth?

3The Lord, the LORD of hosts, shall take away from Jerusalem and from Judah support and prop (all supplies of bread and water):

²Hero and warrior, judge and prophet, fortune-teller and elder,

³The captain of fifty and the nobleman, counselor, skilled magician, and expert charmer.

⁴I will make striplings their princes; the fickle shall govern them,

⁵And the people shall oppress one another, yes, every man his neighbor. The child shall be bold toward the elder, and the base toward the honorable.

⁶When a man seizes his brother in his father's house, saying, "You have clothes! Be our ruler, and take in hand this ruin!"--

⁷Then shall he answer in that day: "I will not undertake to cure this, when in my own house there is no bread or clothing! You shall not make me ruler of the people."

⁸Jerusalem is crumbling, Judah is falling; for their speech and their deeds are before the LORD, a provocation in the sight of his majesty.

⁹Their very look bears witness against them; their sin like Sodom they vaunt, They hide it not. Woe to them! they deal out evil to themselves.

¹⁰Happy the just, for it will be well with them, the fruit of their works they will eat.

¹¹Woe to the wicked man! All goes ill, with the work of his hands he will be repaid.

¹²My people--a babe in arms will be their tyrant, and women will rule them! O my people, your leaders mislead, they destroy the paths you should follow.

¹³The LORD rises to accuse, standing to try his people.

¹⁴The Lord enters into judgment with his people's elders and princes: It is you who have devoured the vineyard; the loot wrested from the poor is in your houses.

¹⁵What do you mean by crushing my people, and grinding down the poor when they look to you? says the Lord, the GOD of hosts.

¹⁶The LORD said: Because the daughters of Zion are haughty, and walk with necks outstretched Ogling and mincing as they go, their anklets tinkling with every step, ¹⁷The Lord shall cover the scalps of Zion's daughters with scabs, and the LORD shall bare their heads.

¹⁸On that day the LORD will do away with the finery of the anklets, sunbursts, and crescents;

¹⁹the pendants, bracelets, and veils;

²⁰the headdresses, bangles, cinctures, perfume boxes, and amulets;

²¹the signet rings, and the nose rings;

²²the court dresses, wraps, cloaks, and purses;

²³the mirrors, linen tunics, turbans, and shawls.

²⁴Instead of perfume there will be stench, instead of the girdle, a rope, And for the coiffure, baldness; for the rich gown, a sackcloth skirt. Then, instead of beauty:

²⁵Your men will fall by the sword, and your champions, in war;

²⁶Her gates will lament and mourn, as the city sits desolate on the ground.

4 Seven women will take hold of one man on that day, saying: "We will eat our own food and wear our own clothing; Only let your name be given us, put an end to our disgrace!"

²On that day, The branch of the LORD will be luster and glory, and the fruit of the earth will be honor and splendor for the survivors of Israel.

³He who remains in Zion and he that is left in Jerusalem Will be called holy: every one marked down for life in Jerusalem.

⁴When the Lord washes away the filth of the daughters of Zion, And purges Jerusalem's blood from her midst with a blast of searing judgment, ⁵Then will the LORD create, over the whole site of Mount Zion and over her place of assembly, A smoking cloud by day and a light of flaming fire by night.

⁶For over all, his glory will be shelter and protection: shade from the parching heat of day, refuge and cover from storm and rain.

5 Let me now sing of my friend, my friend's song concerning his vineyard. My friend had a vineyard on a fertile hillside;

²He spaded it, cleared it of stones, and planted the choicest vines; Within it he built a watchtower, and hewed out a wine press. Then he looked for the crop of grapes, but what it yielded was wild grapes.

³Now, inhabitants of Jerusalem and men of Judah, judge between me and my vineyard:

⁴What more was there to do for my vineyard that I had not done? Why, when I looked for the crop of grapes, did it bring forth wild grapes?

⁵Now, I will let you know what I mean to do to my vineyard: Take away its hedge, give it to grazing, break through its wall, let it be trampled!

⁶Yes, I will make it a ruin: it shall not be pruned or hoed, but overgrown with thorns and briers; I will command the clouds not to send rain upon it.

⁷The vineyard of the LORD of hosts is the house of Israel, and the men of Judah are his cherished plant; He looked for judgment, but see, bloodshed! for justice, but hark, the outcry!

⁸Woe to you who join house to house, who connect field with field, Till no room remains, and you are left to dwell alone in the midst of the land!

⁹In my hearing the LORD of hosts has sworn: Many houses shall be in ruins, large ones and fine, with no one to live in them.

¹⁰Ten acres of vineyard shall yield but one liquid measure, And a homer of seed shall yield but an ephah.

¹¹Woe to those who demand strong drink as soon as they rise in the morning, And linger into the night while wine inflames them!

¹²With harp and lyre, timbrel and flute, they feast on wine; But what the LORD does, they regard not, the work of his hands they see not.

¹³Therefore my people go into exile, because they do not understand; Their nobles die of hunger, and their masses are parched with thirst.

¹⁴Therefore the nether world enlarges its throat and opens its maw without limit; Down go their nobility and their masses, their throngs and their revelry.

¹⁵Men shall be abased, each one brought low, and the eyes of the haughty lowered,

¹⁶But the LORD of hosts shall be exalted by his judgment, and God the Holy shall be shown holy by his justice.

¹⁷Lambs shall graze there at pasture, and kids shall eat in the ruins of the rich.

¹⁸Woe to those who tug at guilt with cords of perversity, and at sin as if with cart ropes!

¹⁹To those who say, "Let him make haste and speed his work, that we may see it; On with the plan of the Holy One of Israel! let it come to pass, that we may know it!"

²⁰Woe to those who call evil good, and good evil, who change darkness into light, and light into darkness, who change bitter into sweet, and sweet into bitter!

²¹Woe to those who are wise in their own sight, and prudent in their own esteem!

²²Woe to the champions at drinking wine, the valiant at mixing strong drink!

²³To those who acquit the guilty for bribes, and deprive the just man of his rights!

²⁴Therefore, as the tongue of fire licks up stubble, as dry grass shrivels in the flame, Even so their root shall become rotten and their blossom scatter like dust; For they have spurned the law of the LORD of hosts, and scorned the word of the Holy One of Israel.

²⁵Therefore the wrath of the LORD blazes against his people, he raises his hand to strike them; When the mountains quake, their corpses shall be like refuse in the streets. For all this, his wrath is not turned back, and his hand is still outstretched.

²⁶He will give a signal to a far-off nation, and whistle to them from the ends of the earth; speedily and promptly will they come.

²⁷None of them will stumble with weariness, none will slumber and none will sleep. None will have his waist belt loose, nor the thong of his sandal broken.

²⁸Their arrows are sharp, and all their bows are bent. The hoofs of their horses seem like flint, and their chariot wheels like the hurricane.

²⁹Their roar is that of the lion, like the lion's whelps they roar; They growl and seize the prey, they carry it off and none will rescue it.

³⁰(They will roar over it, on that day, with a roaring like that of the sea.)

6In the year King Uzziah died, I saw the Lord seated on a high and lofty throne, with the train of his garment filling the temple.

²Seraphim were stationed above; each of them had six wings: with two they veiled their faces, with two they veiled their feet, and with two they hovered aloft.

³"Holy, holy, holy is the LORD of hosts!" they cried one to the other. "All the earth is filled with his glory!"

⁴At the sound of that cry, the frame of the door shook and the house was filled with smoke.

⁵Then I said, "Woe is me, I am doomed! For I am a man of unclean lips, living among a people of unclean lips; yet my eyes have seen the King, the LORD of hosts!"

⁶Then one of the seraphim flew to me, holding an ember which he had taken with tongs from the altar.

⁷He touched my mouth with it. "See," he said, "now that this has touched your lips, your wickedness is removed, your sin purged."

⁸Then I heard the voice of the Lord saying, "Whom shall I send? Who will go for us?" "Here I am," I said; "send me!"

⁹And he replied: Go and say to this people: Listen carefully, but you shall not understand! Look intently, but you shall know nothing!

¹⁰You are to make the heart of this people sluggish, to dull their ears and close their eyes; Else their eyes will see, their ears hear, their heart understand, and they will turn and be healed.

¹¹"How long, O Lord?" I asked. And he replied: Until the cities are desolate, without inhabitants, Houses, without a man, and the earth is a desolate waste.

¹²Until the LORD removes men far away, and the land is abandoned more and more.

¹³If there be still a tenth part in it, then this in turn shall be laid waste; As with a terebinth or an oak whose trunk remains when its leaves have fallen. (Holy offspring is the trunk.)

7 In the days of Ahaz, king of Judah, son of Jotham, son of Uzziah, Rezin, king of Aram, and Pekah, king of Israel, son of Remaliah, went up to attack Jerusalem, but they were not able to conquer it.

²When word came to the house of David that Aram was encamped in Ephraim, the heart of the king and heart of the people trembled, as the trees of the forest tremble in the wind.

³Then the LORD said to Isaiah: Go out to meet Ahaz, you and your son Shear-jashub, at the end of the conduit of the upper pool, on the highway of the fuller's field,

⁴and say to him: Take care you remain tranquil and do not fear; let not your courage fail before these two stumps of smoldering brands (the blazing anger of Rezin and the Arameans, and of the son of Remaliah),

⁵because of the mischief that Aram (Ephraim and the son of Remaliah) plots against you, saying,

⁶"Let us go up and tear Judah asunder, make it our own by force, and appoint the son of Tabeel king there."

⁷Thus says the LORD: This shall not stand, it shall not be!

⁸Damascus is the capital of Aram, and Rezin the head of Damascus; Samaria is the capital of Ephraim, and Remaliah's son the head of Samaria.

⁹But within sixty years and five, Ephraim shall be crushed, no longer a nation. Unless your faith is firm you shall not be firm!

¹⁰Again the LORD spoke to Ahaz:

¹¹Ask for a sign from the LORD, your God; let it be deep as the nether world, or high as the sky!

¹²But Ahaz answered, "I will not ask! I will not tempt the LORD!"

¹³Then he said: Listen, O house of David! Is it not enough for you to weary men, must you also weary my God?

¹⁴Therefore the Lord himself will give you this sign: the virgin shall be with child, and bear a son, and shall name him Immanuel.

¹⁵He shall be living on curds and honey by the time he learns to reject the bad and choose the good.

¹⁶For before the child learns to reject the bad and choose the good, the land of those two kings whom you dread shall be deserted.

¹⁷The LORD shall bring upon you and your people and your father's house days worse than any since Ephraim seceded from Judah. (This means the king of Assyria.)

¹⁸On that day The LORD shall whistle for the fly that is in the farthest streams of Egypt, and for the bee in the land of Assyria.

¹⁹All of them shall come and settle in the steep ravines and in the rocky clefts, on all thornbushes and in all pastures.

²⁰On that day the LORD shall shave with the razor hired from across the River (with the king of Assyria) the head, and the hair between the legs. It shall also shave off the beard.

²¹On that day a man shall keep a heifer or a couple of sheep,

²²and from their abundant yield of milk he shall live on curds; curds and honey shall be the food of all who remain in the land.

²³On that day every place where there used to be a thousand vines, worth a thousand pieces of silver, shall be turned to briers and thorns.

²⁴Men shall go there with bow and arrows; for all the country shall be briers and thorns.

²⁵For fear of briers and thorns you shall not go upon any mountainside which used to be hoed with the mattock; they shall be grazing land for cattle and shall be trampled upon by sheep.

8The LORD said to me: Take a large cylinder-seal, and inscribe on it in ordinary letters: "Belonging to Maher-shalal-hash-baz."

²And I took reliable witnesses, Uriah the priest, and Zechariah, son of Jeberechiah.

³Then I went to the prophetess and she conceived and bore a son. The LORD said to me: Name him Maher-shalal-hash-baz, ⁴for before the child knows how to call his father or mother by name, the wealth of Damascus and the spoil of Samaria shall be carried off by the king of Assyria.

⁵Again the LORD spoke to me:

⁶Because this people has rejected the waters of Shiloah that flow gently, And melts with fear before the loftiness of Rezin and Remaliah's son,

⁷Therefore the LORD raises against them the waters of the River, great and mighty (the king of Assyria and all his power). It shall rise above all its channels, and overflow all its banks;

⁸It shall pass into Judah, and flood it all throughout: up to the neck it shall reach; It shall spread its wings the full width of your land, Immanuel!

⁹Know, O peoples, and be appalled! Give ear, all you distant lands! Arm, but be crushed! Arm, but be crushed!

¹⁰Form a plan, and it shall be thwarted; make a resolve, and it shall not be carried out, for "With us is God!"

¹¹For thus said the LORD to me, taking hold of me and warning me not to walk in the way of this people:

¹²Call not alliance what this people calls alliance, and fear not, nor stand in awe of what they fear.

¹³But with the LORD of hosts make your alliance-- for him be your fear and your awe.

¹⁴Yet he shall be a snare, an obstacle and a stumbling stone to both the houses of Israel, A trap and a snare to those who dwell in Jerusalem;

¹⁵And many among them shall stumble and fall, broken, snared, and captured.

¹⁶The record is to be folded and the sealed instruction kept among my disciples.

¹⁷For I will trust in the LORD, who is hiding his face from the house of Jacob; yes, I will wait for him.

¹⁸Look at me and the children whom the Lord has given me: we are signs and portents in Israel from the LORD of hosts who dwells on Mount Zion.

¹⁹And when they say to you, "Inquire of mediums and fortune-tellers (who chirp and mutter!); should not a people inquire of their gods, apply to the dead on behalf of the living?"--

²⁰then this document will furnish its instruction. That kind of thing they will surely say.

²³First he degraded the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali; but in the end he has glorified the seaward road, the land West of the Jordan, the District of the Gentiles. Anguish has taken wing, dispelled is darkness; for there is no gloom where but now there was distress.

9The people who walked in darkness have seen a great light; Upon those who dwelt in the land of gloom a light has shone.

²You have brought them abundant joy and great rejoicing, As they rejoice before you as at the harvest, as men make merry when dividing spoils.

³For the yoke that burdened them, the pole on their shoulder, And the rod of their taskmaster you have smashed, as on the day of Midian.

⁴For every boot that tramped in battle, every cloak rolled in blood, will be burned as fuel for flames.

⁵For a child is born to us, a son is given us; upon his shoulder dominion rests. They name him Wonder-Counselor, God-Hero, Father-Forever, Prince of Peace.

⁶His dominion is vast and forever peaceful, From David's throne, and over his kingdom, which he confirms and sustains By judgment and justice, both now and forever. The zeal of the LORD of hosts will do this!

⁷The Lord has sent word against Jacob, it falls upon Israel;

⁸And all the people know it, Ephraim and those who dwell in Samaria, those who say in arrogance and pride of heart,

⁹"Bricks have fallen, but we will build with cut stone; Sycamores are felled, but we will replace them with cedars."

- ¹⁰But the LORD raises up their foes against them and stirs up their enemies to action:
- ¹¹Aram on the east and the Philistines on the west devour Israel with open mouth. For all this, his wrath is not turned back, and his hand is still outstretched!
- ¹²The people do not turn to him who struck them, nor seek the LORD of hosts.
- ¹³So the LORD severs from Israel head and tail, palm branch and reed in one day.
- ¹⁴(The elder and the noble are the head, the prophet who teaches falsehood is the tail.)
- ¹⁵The leaders of this people mislead them and those to be led are engulfed.
- ¹⁶For this reason, the Lord does not spare their young men, and their orphans and widows he does not pity; They are wholly profaned and sinful, and every mouth gives vent to folly. For all this, his wrath is not turned back, his hand is still outstretched!
- ¹⁷For wickedness burns like fire, devouring brier and thorn; It kindles the forest thickets, which go up in columns of smoke.
- ¹⁸At the wrath of the LORD of hosts the land quakes, and the people are like fuel for fire; No man spares his brother, each devours the flesh of his neighbor.
- ¹⁹Though they hack on the right, they are hungry; though they eat on the left, they are not filled.
- ²⁰Manasseh devours Ephraim, and Ephraim Manasseh; together they turn on Judah. For all this, his wrath is not turned back, his hand is still outstretched!

10 Woe to those who enact unjust statutes and who write oppressive decrees,

- ²Depriving the needy of judgment and robbing my people's poor of their rights, Making widows their plunder, and orphans their prey!
- ³What will you do on the day of punishment, when ruin comes from afar? To whom will you flee for help? Where will you leave your wealth,
- ⁴Lest it sink beneath the captive or fall beneath the slain? For all this, his wrath is not turned back, his hand is still outstretched!

⁵Woe to Assyria! My rod in anger, my staff in wrath.

⁶Against an impious nation I send him, and against a people under my wrath I order him To seize plunder, carry off loot, and tread them down like the mud of the streets.

⁷But this is not what he intends, nor does he have this in mind; Rather, it is in his heart to destroy, to make an end of nations not a few.

⁸"Are not my commanders all kings?" he says,

⁹"Is not Calno like Carchemish, Or Hamath like Arpad, or Samaria like Damascus?"

¹⁰Just as my hand reached out to idolatrous kingdoms that had more images than Jerusalem and Samaria,

¹¹Just as I treated Samaria and her idols, shall I not do to Jerusalem and her graven images?"

¹²(But when the LORD has brought to an end all his work on Mount Zion and in Jerusalem, I will punish the utterance of the king of Assyria's proud heart, ¹³and the boastfulness of his haughty eyes. For he says:) "By my own power I have done it, and by my wisdom, for I am shrewd. I have moved the boundaries of peoples, their treasures I have pillaged, and, like a giant, I have put down the enthroned.

¹⁴My hand has seized like a nest the riches of nations; As one takes eggs left alone, so I took in all the earth; No one fluttered a wing, or opened a mouth, or chirped!"

¹⁵Will the axe boast against him who hews with it? Will the saw exalt itself above him who wields it? As if a rod could sway him who lifts it, or a staff him who is not wood!

¹⁶Therefore the Lord, the LORD of hosts, will send among his fat ones leanness, And instead of his glory there will be kindling like the kindling of fire.

¹⁷The Light of Israel will become a fire, Israel's Holy One a flame, That burns and consumes his briars and his thorns in a single day.

¹⁸His splendid forests and orchards will be consumed, soul and body;

¹⁹And the remnant of the trees in his forest will be so few, Like poles set up for signals, that any boy can record them.

²⁰On that day The remnant of Israel, the survivors of the house of Jacob, will no more lean upon him who struck them; But they lean upon the LORD, the Holy One of Israel, in truth.

²¹A remnant will return, the remnant of Jacob, to the mighty God.

²²For though your people, O Israel, were like the sand of the sea, Only a remnant of them will return; their destruction is decreed as overwhelming justice demands.

²³Yes, the destruction he has decreed, the Lord, the GOD of hosts, will carry out within the whole land.

²⁴Therefore thus says the Lord, the GOD of hosts: O my people, who dwell in Zion, do not fear the Assyrian, though he strikes you with a rod, and raises his staff against you.

²⁵For only a brief moment more, and my anger shall be over; but them I will destroy in wrath.

²⁶Then the LORD of hosts will raise against them a scourge such as struck Midian at the rock of Oreb; and he will raise his staff over the sea as he did against Egypt.

²⁷On that day, His burden shall be taken from your shoulder, and his yoke shattered from your neck. He has come up from the direction of Rimmon, ²⁸he has reached Aiath, passed through Migron, at Michmash his supplies are stored.

²⁹They cross the ravine: "We will spend the night at Geba." Ramah is in terror, Gibeah of Saul has fled.

³⁰Cry and shriek, O daughter of Gallim! Harken, Laishah! Answer her, Anathoth!

³¹Madmenah is in flight, the inhabitants of Gebim seek refuge.

³²Even today he will halt at Nob, he will shake his fist at the mount of daughter Zion, the hill of Jerusalem!

³³Behold, the Lord, the LORD of hosts, lops off the boughs with terrible violence; The tall of stature are felled, and the lofty ones brought low;

³⁴The forest thickets are felled with the axe, and Lebanon in its splendor falls.

11 But a shoot shall sprout from the stump of Jesse, and from his roots a bud shall blossom.

²The spirit of the LORD shall rest upon him: a spirit of wisdom and of understanding, A spirit of counsel and of strength, a spirit of knowledge and of fear of the LORD,

³and his delight shall be the fear of the LORD. Not by appearance shall he judge, nor by hearsay shall he decide, ⁴But he shall judge the poor with justice, and decide aright for the land's afflicted. He shall strike the ruthless with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips he shall slay the wicked.

⁵Justice shall be the band around his waist, and faithfulness a belt upon his hips.

⁶Then the wolf shall be a guest of the lamb, and the leopard shall lie down with the kid; The calf and the young lion shall browse together, with a little child to guide them.

⁷The cow and the bear shall be neighbors, together their young shall rest; the lion shall eat hay like the ox.

⁸The baby shall play by the cobra's den, and the child lay his hand on the adder's lair.

⁹There shall be no harm or ruin on all my holy mountain; for the earth shall be filled with knowledge of the LORD, as water covers the sea.

¹⁰On that day, The root of Jesse, set up as a signal for the nations, The Gentiles shall seek out, for his dwelling shall be glorious.

¹¹On that day, The Lord shall again take it in hand to reclaim the remnant of his people that is left from Assyria and Egypt, Pathros, Ethiopia, and Elam, Shinar, Hamath, and the isles of the sea.

¹²He shall raise a signal to the nations and gather the outcasts of Israel; The dispersed of Judah he shall assemble from the four corners of the earth.

¹³The envy of Ephraim shall pass away, and the rivalry of Judah be removed; Ephraim shall not be jealous of Judah, and Judah shall not be hostile to Ephraim;

¹⁴But they shall swoop down on the foothills of the Philistines to the west, together they shall plunder the Kedemites; Edom and Moab shall be their possessions, and the Ammonites their subjects.

¹⁵The LORD shall dry up the tongue of the Sea of Egypt, and wave his hand over the Euphrates in his fierce anger And shatter it into seven streamlets, so that it can be crossed in sandals.

¹⁶There shall be a highway for the remnant of his people that is left from Assyria, As there was for Israel when he came up from the land of Egypt.

12 On that day, you will say: I give you thanks, O LORD; though you have been angry with me, your anger has abated, and you have consoled me.

²God indeed is my savior; I am confident and unafraid. My strength and my courage is the LORD, and he has been my savior.

³With joy you will draw water at the fountain of salvation,

⁴and say on that day: Give thanks to the LORD, acclaim his name; among the nations make known his deeds, proclaim how exalted is his name.

⁵Sing praise to the LORD for his glorious achievement; let this be known throughout all the earth.

⁶Shout with exultation, O city of Zion, for great in your midst is the Holy One of Israel!

13 An oracle concerning Babylon; a vision of Isaiah, son of Amoz.

²Upon the bare mountains set up a signal; cry out to them, Wave for them to enter the gates of the volunteers.

³I have commanded my dedicated soldiers, I have summoned my warriors, eager and bold to carry out my anger.

⁴Listen! the rumble on the mountains: that of an immense throng! Listen! the noise of kingdoms, nations assembled! The LORD of hosts is mustering an army for battle.

⁵They come from a far-off country, and from the end of the heavens, The LORD and the instruments of his wrath, to destroy all the land.

⁶Howl, for the day of the LORD is near; as destruction from the Almighty it comes.

⁷Therefore all hands fall helpless, the bows of the young men fall from their hands. Every man's heart melts

⁸in terror. Pangs and sorrows take hold of them, like a woman in labor they writhe; They look aghast at each other, their faces aflame.

⁹Lo, the day of the LORD comes, cruel, with wrath and burning anger; To lay waste the land and destroy the sinners within it!

¹⁰The stars and constellations of the heavens send forth no light; The sun is dark when it rises, and the light of the moon does not shine.

¹¹Thus I will punish the world for its evil and the wicked for their guilt. I will put an end to the pride of the arrogant, the insolence of tyrants I will humble.

¹²I will make mortals more rare than pure gold, men, than gold of Ophir.

¹³For this I will make the heavens tremble and the earth shall be shaken from its place, At the wrath of the LORD of hosts on the day of his burning anger.

¹⁴Like a hunted gazelle, or a flock that no one gathers, Every man shall turn to his kindred and flee to his own land.

¹⁵Everyone who is caught shall be run through; to a man, they shall fall by the sword.

¹⁶Their infants shall be dashed to pieces in their sight; their houses shall be plundered and their wives ravished.

¹⁷I am stirring up against them the Medes, who think nothing of silver and take no delight in gold.

¹⁸The fruit of the womb they shall not spare, nor shall they have eyes of pity for children.

¹⁹And Babylon, the jewel of kingdoms, the glory and pride of the Chaldeans, Shall be overthrown by God like Sodom and like Gomorrah.

²⁰She shall never be inhabited, nor dwelt in, from age to age; The Arab shall not pitch his tent there, nor shepherds couch their flocks.

²¹But wildcats shall rest there and owls shall fill the houses; There ostriches shall dwell, and satyrs shall dance.

²²Desert beasts shall howl in her castles, and jackals in her luxurious palaces. Her time is near at hand and her days shall not be prolonged.

14When the LORD has pity on Jacob and again chooses Israel and settles them on their own soil, the aliens will join them and be counted with the house of Jacob.

²The house of Israel will take them and bring them along to its place, and possess them as male and female slaves on the Lord's soil, making captives of its captors and ruling over its oppressors.

³On the day the LORD relieves you of sorrow and unrest and the hard service in which you have been enslaved, ⁴you will take up this taunt-song against the king of Babylon: How the oppressor has reached his end! how the turmoil is stilled!

⁵The LORD has broken the rod of the wicked, the staff of the tyrants

⁶That struck the peoples in wrath relentless blows; That beat down the nations in anger, with oppression unchecked.

⁷The whole earth rests peacefully, song breaks forth;

⁸The very cypresses rejoice over you, and the cedars of Lebanon: "Now that you are laid to rest, there will be none to cut us down."

⁹The nether world below is all astir preparing for your coming; It awakens the shades to greet you, all the leaders of the earth; It has the kings of all nations rise from their thrones.

¹⁰All of them speak out and say to you, "You too have become weak like us, you are the same as we.

¹¹Down to the nether world your pomp is brought, the music of your harps. The couch beneath you is the maggot, your covering, the worm."

¹²How have you fallen from the heavens, O morning star, son of the dawn! How are you cut down to the ground, you who mowed down the nations!

¹³You said in your heart: "I will scale the heavens; Above the stars of God I will set up my throne; I will take my seat on the Mount of Assembly, in the recesses of the North.

¹⁴I will ascend above the tops of the clouds; I will be like the Most High!"

¹⁵Yet down to the nether world you go to the recesses of the pit!

¹⁶When they see you they will stare, pondering over you: "Is this the man who made the earth tremble, and kingdoms quake?

¹⁷Who made the world a desert, razed its cities, and gave his captives no release?

¹⁸All the kings of the nations lie in glory, each in his own tomb;

¹⁹But you are cast forth without burial, loathsome and corrupt, Clothed as those slain at sword-point, a trampled corpse. Going down to the pavement of the pit,

²⁰you will never be one with them in the grave." For you have ruined your land, you have slain your people! Let him not be named forever, that scion of an evil race!

²¹Make ready to slaughter his sons for the guilt of their fathers; Lest they rise and possess the earth, and fill the breadth of the world with tyrants.

²¹He shall pass through it hard-pressed and hungry, and in his hunger he shall become enraged, and curse his king and his gods. He shall look upward, but there shall be strict darkness without any dawn;

²²I will rise up against them, says the LORD of hosts, and cut off from Babylon name and remnant, progeny and offspring, says the LORD.

²²He shall gaze at the earth, but there shall be distress and darkness, with the light blacked out by its clouds.

²³I will make it a haunt of hoot owls and a marshland; I will sweep it with the broom of destruction, says the LORD of hosts.

²⁴The LORD of hosts has sworn: As I have resolved, so shall it be; As I have proposed, so shall it stand:

²⁵I will break the Assyrian in my land and trample him on my mountains;

²⁵Then his yoke shall be removed from them, and his burden from their shoulder.

²⁶This is the plan proposed for the whole earth, and this the hand outstretched over all nations.

²⁷The LORD of hosts has planned; who can thwart him? His hand is stretched out; who can turn it back?

²⁸In the year that King Ahaz died, there came this oracle:

²⁹Rejoice not, O Philistia, not a man of you, that the rod which smote you is broken; For out of the serpent's root shall come an adder, its fruit shall be a flying saraph.

³⁰In my pastures the poor shall eat, and the needy lie down in safety; But I will kill your root with famine that shall slay even your remnant.

³¹Howl, O gate; cry out, O city! Philistia, all of you melts away! For there comes a smoke from the north, without a straggler in the ranks.

³²What will one answer the messengers of the nation? "The LORD has established Zion, and in her the afflicted of his people find refuge."

15 Oracle on Moab: Laid waste in a night, Ar of Moab is destroyed; Laid waste in a night, Kir of Moab is destroyed.

²Up goes daughter Dibon to the high places to weep; Over Nebo and over Medeba Moab wails. Every head is shaved, every beard sheared off.

³In the streets they wear sackcloth, lamenting and weeping; On the rooftops and in the squares everyone wails.

⁴Heshbon and Elealeh cry out, they are heard as far as Jahaz. At this the loins of Moab tremble, his soul quivers within him;

⁵The heart of Moab cries out, his fugitives reach Zoar (Eglath-sheleshayah). The ascent of Luhith they climb weeping; On the way to Horonaim they utter rending cries.

⁶The waters of Nimrim have become a waste; The grass is withered, new growth is gone, nothing is green.

⁷So now whatever they have acquired or stored away they carry across the Gorge of the Poplars, ⁸For the cry has gone round the land of Moab; As far as Eglaim the wailing, and to Beer-elim, the wail.

⁹The waters of Dimon are filled with blood, but I will bring still more upon Dimon: Lions for those who are fleeing from Moab and for those who remain in the land!

16 Send them forth, hugging the earth like reptiles, from Sela across the desert, to the mount of daughter Zion.

²Like flushed birds, like startled nestlings, Are the daughters of Moab at the fords of the Arnon.

³Offer counsel, take their part: at high noon let your shadow be like the night, To hide the outcasts, to conceal the fugitives.

⁴Let the outcasts of Moab live with you, be their shelter from the destroyer. When the struggle is ended, the ruin complete, and they have done with trampling the land, ⁵A throne shall be set up in mercy, and on it shall sit in fidelity (in David's tent) A judge upholding right and prompt to do justice.

⁶We have heard of the pride of Moab, how very proud he is, With his haughty, arrogant insolence that his empty words do not match.

⁷Therefore Moab wails for Moab, everywhere they wail; For the raisin cakes of Kir-hareseth they sigh, stricken with grief.

⁸The terraced slopes of Heshbon languish, the vines of Sibmah, Whose clusters overpowered the lords of nations, While they reached as far as Jazer and scattered over the desert, And whose branches spread forth and extended over the sea.

⁹Therefore I weep with Jazer for the vines of Sibmah; I water you with tears, Heshbon and Elealeh; For on your summer fruits and harvests the battle cry has fallen.

¹⁰From the orchards are taken away joy and gladness, In the vineyards there is no singing, no shout of joy; In the wine presses no one treads grapes, the vintage shout is stilled.

¹¹Therefore for Moab my breast moans like a lyre, and my heart for Kir-hareseth.

¹²When Moab grows weary on the high places, he shall enter his sanctuary to pray, but it shall avail him nothing.

¹³This is the word the LORD spoke against Moab in times past.

¹⁴But now the LORD has spoken: In three years, like those of a hireling, the glory of Moab shall be degraded despite all its great multitude; there shall be a remnant, very small and weak.

17 Oracle on Damascus: Lo, Damascus shall cease to be a city and become a ruin;

²Her cities shall be forever abandoned, given over to flocks to lie in undisturbed.

³The fortress shall be lost to Ephraim and the kingdom to Damascus; The remnant of Aram shall have the same glory as the Israelites, says the LORD of hosts.

⁴On that day The glory of Jacob shall fade, and his full body grow thin, ⁵Like the reaper's mere armful of stalks when he gathers the standing grain; Or as when one gleans the ears in the Valley of Rephaim.

⁶Only a scattering of grapes shall be left! As when an olive tree has been beaten, Two or three olives remain at the very top, four or five on its fruitful branches, says the LORD, the God of Israel.

⁷On that day man shall look to his maker, his eyes turned toward the Holy One of Israel.

⁸He shall not look to the altars, his handiwork, nor shall he regard what his fingers have made: the sacred poles or the incense stands.

⁹On that day his strong cities shall be like those abandoned by the Hivites and Amorites When faced with the children of Israel: they shall be laid waste.

¹⁰For you have forgotten God, your savior, and remembered not the Rock, your strength. Therefore, though you plant your pagan plants and set out your foreign vine slips, ¹¹Though you make them grow the day you plant them and make your sprouts blossom on the next morning, The harvest shall disappear on the day of the grievous blow, the incurable blight.

¹²Ah! the roaring of many peoples that roar like the roar of the seas! The surging of nations that surge like the surging of mighty waves!

¹³But God shall rebuke them, and they shall flee far away; Windswept, like chaff on the mountains, like tumbleweed in a storm.

¹⁴In the evening, they spread terror, before morning, they are gone! Such is the portion of those who despoil us, the lot of those who plunder us.

18 Ah, land of buzzing insects, beyond the rivers of Ethiopia,

²Sending ambassadors by sea, in papyrus boats on the waters! Go, swift messengers, to a nation tall and bronzed, To a people dreaded near and far, a nation strong and conquering, whose land is washed by rivers.

³All you who inhabit the world, who dwell on earth, When the signal is raised on the mountain, look! When the trumpet blows, listen!

⁴For thus says the LORD to me: I will quietly look on from where I dwell, Like the glowing heat of sunshine, like a cloud of dew at harvest time.

⁵Before the vintage, when the flowering is ended, and the blooms are succeeded by ripening grapes, Then comes the cutting of branches with pruning hooks and the discarding of the lopped-off shoots.

⁶They shall all be left to the mountain birds of prey, and to the beasts in the land; The birds of prey shall summer on them and on them all the beasts of the earth shall winter.

⁷Then will gifts be brought to the LORD of hosts from a people tall and bronzed, from a people dreaded near and far, a nation strong and conquering, whose land is washed by rivers-to Mount Zion where dwells the name of the LORD of hosts.

19 Oracle on Egypt: See, the LORD is riding on a swift cloud on his way to Egypt; The idols of Egypt tremble before him, the hearts of the Egyptians melt within them.

²I will rouse Egypt against Egypt: brother will war against brother, Neighbor against neighbor, city against city, kingdom against kingdom.

³The courage of the Egyptians ebbs away within them, and I will bring to nought their counsel; They shall consult idols and charmers, ghosts and spirits.

⁴I will deliver Egypt into the power of a cruel master, A harsh king who shall rule over them, says the Lord, the LORD of hosts.

⁵The waters shall be drained from the sea, the river shall shrivel and dry up;

⁶Its streams shall become foul, and the canals of Egypt shall dwindle and dry up. Reeds and rushes shall wither away, ⁷and bulrushes on the bank of the Nile; All the sown land along the Nile shall dry up and blow away, and be no more.

⁸The fishermen shall mourn and lament, all who cast hook in the Nile; Those who spread their nets in the water shall pine away.

⁹The linen-workers shall be disappointed, the combers and weavers shall turn pale;

¹⁰The spinners shall be crushed, all the hired laborers shall be despondent.

¹¹Utter fools are the princes of Zoan! the wisest of Pharaoh's advisers give stupid counsel. How can you say to Pharaoh, "I am a disciple of wise men, of ancient kings"?

¹²Where then are your wise men? Let them tell you and make known What the LORD of hosts has planned against Egypt.

¹³The princes of Zoan have become fools, the princes of Memphis have been deceived. The chiefs of her tribes have led Egypt astray.

¹⁴The LORD has prepared among them a spirit of dizziness, And they have made Egypt stagger in whatever she does, as a drunkard staggers in his vomit.

¹⁵Egypt shall have no work to do for head or tail, palm branch or reed.

¹⁶On that day the Egyptians shall be like women, trembling with fear, because of the LORD of hosts shaking his fist at them.

¹⁷And the land of Judah shall be a terror to the Egyptians. Every time they remember Judah, they shall stand in dread because of the plan which the LORD of hosts has in mind for them.

¹⁸On that day there shall be five cities in the land of Egypt speaking the language of Canaan and swearing by the LORD of hosts; one shall be called "City of the Sun."

¹⁹On that day there shall be an altar to the LORD in the land of Egypt, and a sacred pillar to the LORD near the boundary.

²⁰It shall be a sign and a witness to the LORD of hosts in the land of Egypt, when they cry out to the LORD against their oppressors, and he sends them a savior to defend and deliver them.

²¹The LORD shall make himself known to Egypt, and the Egyptians shall know the LORD in that day; they shall offer sacrifices and oblations, and fulfill the vows they make to the LORD.

²²Although the LORD shall smite Egypt severely, he shall heal them; they shall turn to the LORD and he shall be won over and heal them.

²³On that day there shall be a highway from Egypt to Assyria; the Assyrians shall enter Egypt, and the Egyptians enter Assyria, and Egypt shall serve Assyria.

²⁴On that day Israel shall be a third party with Egypt and Assyria, a blessing in the midst of the land,

²⁵when the LORD of hosts blesses it: "Blessed be my people Egypt, and the work of my hands Assyria, and my inheritance, Israel."

20In the year the general sent by Sargon, king of Assyria, fought against Ashdod and captured it, ²the LORD gave a warning through Isaiah, the son of Amoz: Go and take off the sackcloth from your waist, and remove the sandals from your feet. This he did, walking naked and barefoot.

³Then the LORD said: Just as my servant Isaiah has gone naked and barefoot for three years as a sign and portent against Egypt and Ethiopia, ⁴so shall the king of Assyria lead away captives from Egypt, and exiles from Ethiopia, young and old, naked and barefoot, with buttocks uncovered (the shame of Egypt).

⁵They shall be dismayed and ashamed because of Ethiopia, their hope, and because of Egypt, their boast.

⁶The inhabitants of this coastland shall say on that day, "Look at our hope! We have fled here for help and deliverance from the king of Assyria; where can we flee now?"

21 Oracle on the wastelands by the sea: Like whirlwinds sweeping in waves through the Negeb, there comes from the desert, from the fearful land,

²A cruel sight, revealed to me: the traitor betrays, the despoiler spoils. "Go up, Elam; besiege, O Media; I will put an end to all groaning!"

³Therefore my loins are filled with anguish, pangs have seized me like those of a woman in labor; I am too bewildered to hear, too dismayed to look.

⁴My mind reels, shuddering assails me; My yearning for twilight has turned into dread.

⁵They set the table, spread out the rugs; they eat, they drink. Rise up, O princes, oil the shield!

⁶For thus says my Lord to me: Go, station a watchman, let him tell what he sees.

⁷If he sees a chariot, a pair of horses, Someone riding an ass, someone riding a camel, Then let him pay heed, very close heed.

⁸Then the watchman cried, "On the watchtower, O my Lord, I stand constantly by day; And I stay at my post through all the watches of the night.

⁹Here he comes now: a single chariot, a pair of horses; He calls out and says, 'Fallen, fallen is Babylon, And all the images of her gods are smashed to the ground.'"

¹⁰O my people who have been threshed, beaten on my threshing floor! What I have heard from the LORD of hosts, The God of Israel, I have announced to you.

¹¹Oracle on Edom: They call to me from Seir, "Watchman, how much longer the night? Watchman, how much longer the night?"

¹²The watchman replies, "Morning has come, and again night. If you will ask, ask; come back again."

¹³Oracle on Arabia: In the thicket in the nomad country spend the night, O caravans of Dedanites.

¹⁴Meet the thirsty, bring them water; you who dwell in the land of Tema, greet the fugitives with bread.

¹⁵They flee from the sword, from the whetted sword; From the taut bow, from the fury of battle.

¹⁶For thus says the Lord to me: In another year, like those of a hireling, all the glory of Kedar shall come to an end.

¹⁷Few of Kedar's stalwart archers shall remain, for the LORD, the God of Israel, has spoken.

22Oracle of the Valley of Vision: What is the matter with you now, that you have gone up, all of you, to the housetops, ²O city full of noise and chaos, O wanton town! Your slain are not slain with the sword, nor killed in battle.

³All your leaders fled away together, fled afar off; All who were in you were captured together, captured without the use of a bow.

⁴At this I say: Turn away from me, let me weep bitterly; Do not try to comfort me for the ruin of the daughter of my people.

⁵It is a day of panic, rout and confusion, from the Lord, the GOD of hosts, in the Valley of Vision. Walls crash; they cry for help to the mountains.

⁶Elam takes up the quivers, Aram mounts the horses, and Kir uncovers the shields.

⁷Your choice valleys are filled with chariots, and horses are posted at the gates,

⁸and shelter over Judah is removed. On that day you looked to the weapons in the House of the Forest;

⁹you saw that the breaches in the City of David were many; you collected the water of the lower pool.

¹⁰You numbered the houses of Jerusalem, tearing some down to strengthen the wall;

¹¹you made a reservoir between the two walls for the water of the old pool. But you did not look to the city's Maker, nor did you consider him who built it long ago.

¹²On that day the Lord, the GOD of hosts, called on you To weep and mourn, to shave your head and put on sackcloth.

¹³But look! you feast and celebrate, you slaughter oxen and butcher sheep, You eat meat and drink wine: "Eat and drink, for tomorrow we die!"

¹⁴This reaches the ears of the LORD of hosts-- You shall not be pardoned this wickedness till you die, says the Lord, the GOD of hosts.

¹⁵Thus says the Lord, the GOD of hosts: Up, go to that official, Shebna, master of the palace,

¹⁶Who has hewn for himself a sepulcher on a height and carved his tomb in the rock: "What are you doing here, and what people have you here, that here you have hewn for yourself a tomb?"

¹⁷The LORD shall hurl you down headlong, mortal man! He shall grip you firmly

¹⁸And roll you up and toss you like a ball into an open land To perish there, you and the chariots you glory in, you disgrace to your master's house!

¹⁹I will thrust you from your office and pull you down from your station.

²⁰On that day I will summon my servant Eliakim, son of Hilkiah;

²¹I will clothe him with your robe, and gird him with your sash, and give over to him your authority. He shall be a father to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and to the house of Judah.

²²I will place the key of the House of David on his shoulder; when he opens, no one shall shut, when he shuts, no one shall open.

²³I will fix him like a peg in a sure spot, to be a place of honor for his family;

²⁴On him shall hang all the glory of his family: descendants and offspring, all the little dishes, from bowls to jugs.

²⁵On that day, says the LORD of hosts, the peg fixed in a sure spot shall give way, break off and fall, and the weight that hung on it shall be done away with; for the LORD has spoken.

23 Oracle on Tyre: Wail, O ships of Tarshish, for your port is destroyed; From the land of the Kittim the news reaches them.

²Silence! you who dwell on the coast, you merchants of Sidon, Whose messengers crossed the sea

³over the deep waters. The grain of Shihor, the harvest of the Nile, was her revenue, and she the merchant among nations.

⁴Shame, O Sidon, fortress on the sea, for the sea has spoken: "I have not been in labor, nor given birth, nor raised young men, nor reared virgins."

⁵When it is heard in Egypt they shall be in anguish at the news of Tyre.

⁶Pass over to Tarshish, wailing, you who dwell on the coast!

⁷Is this your wanton city, whose origin is from old, Whose feet have taken her to dwell in distant lands?

⁸Who has planned such a thing against Tyre, the bestower of crowns, Whose merchants are princes, whose traders are the earth's honored men?

⁹The LORD of hosts has planned it, to disgrace all pride of majesty, to degrade all the earth's honored men.

¹⁰Cross to your own land, O ship of Tarshish; the harbor is no more.

¹¹His hand he stretches out over the sea, he shakes kingdoms; The LORD has ordered the destruction of Canaan's strongholds.

¹²You shall exult no more, he says, you who are now oppressed, virgin daughter Sidon. Arise, pass over to the Kittim, even there you shall find no rest.

¹³(This people is the land of the Chaldeans, not Assyria.) She whom the impious founded, setting up towers for her, Has had her castles destroyed, and has been turned into a ruin.

¹⁴Lament, O ships of Tarshish, for your haven is destroyed.

¹⁵On that day, Tyre shall be forgotten for seventy years. With the days of another king, at the end of seventy years, it shall be for Tyre as in the song about the harlot:

¹⁶Take a harp, go about the city, O forgotten harlot; Pluck the strings skillfully, sing many songs, that they may remember you.

¹⁷At the end of the seventy years the LORD shall visit Tyre. She shall return to her hire and deal with all the world's kingdoms on the face of the earth.

¹⁸But her merchandise and her hire shall be sacred to the LORD. It shall not be stored up or laid away, but from her merchandise those who dwell before the LORD shall eat their fill and clothe themselves in choice attire.

24Lo, the LORD empties the land and lays it waste; he turns it upside down, scattering its inhabitants:

²Layman and priest alike, servant and master, The maid as her mistress, the buyer as the seller, The lender as the borrower, the creditor as the debtor.

³The earth is utterly laid waste, utterly stripped, for the LORD has decreed this thing.

⁴The earth mourns and fades, the world languishes and fades; both heaven and earth languish.

⁵The earth is polluted because of its inhabitants, who have transgressed laws, violated statutes, broken the ancient covenant.

⁶Therefore a curse devours the earth, and its inhabitants pay for their guilt; Therefore they who dwell on earth turn pale, and few men are left.

⁷The wine mourns, the vine languishes, all the merry-hearted groan.

⁸Stilled are the cheerful timbrels, ended the shouts of the jubilant, stilled is the cheerful harp.

⁹They cannot sing and drink wine; strong drink is bitter to those who partake of it.

¹⁰Broken down is the city of chaos, shut against entry, every house.

¹¹In the streets they cry out for lack of wine; all joy has disappeared and cheer has left the land.

¹²In the city nothing remains but ruin; its gates are battered and desolate.

¹³Thus it is within the land, and among the peoples, As with an olive tree after it is beaten, as with a gleaning when the vintage is done.

¹⁴These lift up their voice in acclaim; from the sea they proclaim the majesty of the LORD:

¹⁵"For this, in the coastlands, give glory to the LORD! In the coastlands of the sea, to the name of the LORD, the God of Israel!"

¹⁶From the end of the earth we hear songs: "Splendor to the Just One!" But I said, "I am wasted, wasted away. Woe is me! The traitors betray: with treachery have the traitors betrayed!

¹⁷Terror, pit, and trap are upon you, inhabitant of the earth;

¹⁸He who flees at the sound of terror will fall into the pit; He who climbs out of the pit will be caught in the trap. For the windows on high will be opened and the foundations of the earth will shake.

¹⁹The earth will burst asunder, the earth will be shaken apart, the earth will be convulsed.

²⁰The earth will reel like a drunkard, and it will sway like a hut; Its rebellion will weigh it down, until it falls, never to rise again."

²¹On that day the LORD will punish the host of the heavens in the heavens, and the kings of the earth on the earth.

²²They will be gathered together like prisoners into a pit; They will be shut up in a dungeon, and after many days they will be punished.

²³Then the moon will blush and the sun grow pale, For the LORD of hosts will reign on Mount Zion and in Jerusalem, glorious in the sight of his elders.

25 O LORD, you are my God, I will extol you and praise your name; For you have fulfilled your wonderful plans of old, faithful and true.

²For you have made the city a heap, the fortified city a ruin; The castle of the insolent is a city no more, nor ever to be rebuilt.

³Therefore a strong people will honor you, fierce nations will fear you.

⁴For you are a refuge to the poor, a refuge to the needy in distress; Shelter from the rain, shade from the heat. As with the cold rain, ⁵as with the desert heat, even so you quell the uproar of the wanton.

⁶On this mountain the LORD of hosts will provide for all peoples A feast of rich food and choice wines, juicy, rich food and pure, choice wines.

⁷On this mountain he will destroy the veil that veils all peoples, The web that is woven over all nations;

⁸he will destroy death forever. The Lord GOD will wipe away the tears from all faces; The reproach of his people he will remove from the whole earth; for the LORD has spoken.

⁹On that day it will be said: "Behold our God, to whom we looked to save us! This is the LORD for whom we looked; let us rejoice and be glad that he has saved us!"

¹⁰For the hand of the LORD will rest on this mountain, but Moab will be trodden down as a straw is trodden down in the mire.

¹¹He will stretch forth his hands in Moab as a swimmer extends his hands to swim; He will bring low their pride as his hands sweep over them.

¹²The high-walled fortress he will raze, and strike it down level with the earth, with the very dust.

26 On that day they will sing this song in the land of Judah: "A strong city have we; he sets up walls and ramparts to protect us.

²Open up the gates to let in a nation that is just, one that keeps faith.

³A nation of firm purpose you keep in peace; in peace, for its trust in you."

⁴Trust in the LORD forever! For the LORD is an eternal Rock.

⁵He humbles those in high places, and the lofty city he brings down; He tumbles it to the ground, levels it with the dust.

⁶It is trampled underfoot by the needy, by the footsteps of the poor.

⁷The way of the just is smooth; the path of the just you make level.

⁸Yes, for your way and your judgments, O LORD, we look to you; Your name and your title are the desire of our souls.

⁹My soul yearns for you in the night, yes, my spirit within me keeps vigil for you; When your judgment dawns upon the earth, the world's inhabitants learn justice.

¹⁰The wicked man, spared, does not learn justice; in an upright land he acts perversely, and sees not the majesty of the LORD.

¹¹O LORD, your hand is uplifted, but they behold it not; Let them be shamed when they see your zeal for your people: let the fire prepared for your enemies consume them.

¹²O LORD, you mete out peace to us, for it is you who have accomplished all we have done.

¹³O LORD, our God, other lords than you have ruled us; it is from you only that we can call upon your name.

¹⁴Dead they are, they have no life, shades that cannot rise; For you have punished and destroyed them, and wiped out all memory of them.

¹⁵You have increased the nation, O LORD, increased the nation to your own glory, and extended far all the borders of the land.

¹⁶O LORD, oppressed by your punishment, we cried out in anguish under your chastising.

¹⁷As a woman about to give birth writhes and cries out in her pains, so were we in your presence, O LORD.

¹⁸We conceived and writhed in pain, giving birth to wind; Salvation we have not achieved for the earth, the inhabitants of the world cannot bring it forth.

¹⁹But your dead shall live, their corpses shall rise; awake and sing, you who lie in the dust. For your dew is a dew of light, and the land of shades gives birth.

²⁰Go, my people, enter your chambers, and close your doors behind you; Hide yourselves for a brief moment, until the wrath is past.

²¹See, the LORD goes forth from his place, to punish the wickedness of the earth's inhabitants; The earth will reveal the blood upon her, and no longer conceal her slain.

27 On that day, The LORD will punish with his sword that is cruel, great, and strong, Leviathan the fleeing serpent, Leviathan the coiled serpent; and he will slay the dragon that is in the sea.

²On that day-- The pleasant vineyard, sing about it!

³I, the LORD, am its keeper, I water it every moment; Lest anyone harm it, night and day I guard it.

⁴I am not angry, but if I were to find briars and thorns, In battle I should march against them; I should burn them all.

⁵Or shall he cling to me for refuge? He must make peace with me; peace shall he make with me!

⁶In days to come Jacob shall take root, Israel shall sprout and blossom, covering all the world with fruit.

⁷Is he to be smitten as his smiter was smitten? or slain as his slayer was slain?

⁸Expunging and expelling, I should strive against them, carrying them off with my cruel wind in time of storm.

⁹This, then, shall be the expiation of Jacob's guilt, this the whole fruit of the removal of his sin: He shall pulverize all the stones of the altars like pieces of chalk; no sacred poles or incense altars shall stand.

¹⁰For the fortified city shall be desolate, an abandoned pasture, a forsaken wilderness, where calves shall browse and lie. Its boughs shall be destroyed,

¹¹its branches shall wither and be broken off, and women shall come to build a fire with them. This is not an understanding people; therefore their maker shall not spare them, nor shall he who formed them have mercy on them.

¹²On that day, The LORD shall beat out the grain between the Euphrates and the Wadi of Egypt, and you shall be gleaned one by one, O sons of Israel.

¹³On that day, A great trumpet shall blow, and the lost in the land of Assyria and the outcasts in the land of Egypt Shall come and worship the LORD on the holy mountain, in Jerusalem.

28Woe to the majestic garland of the drunkard Ephraim, To the fading blooms of his glorious beauty, on the head of him who is stupefied with wine.

²Behold, the LORD has a strong one and a mighty, who, like a downpour of hail, a destructive storm, Like a flood of water, great and overflowing, levels to the ground with violence;

³With feet that will trample the majestic garland of the drunkard Ephraim.

⁴The fading blooms of his glorious beauty on the head of the fertile valley Will be like an early fig before summer: when a man sees it, he picks and swallows it at once.

⁵On that day the LORD of hosts will be a glorious crown And a brilliant diadem to the remnant of his people, ⁶A spirit of justice to him who sits in judgment, And strength to those who turn back the battle at the gate.

⁷But these also stagger from wine and stumble from strong drink: Priest and prophet stagger from strong drink, overpowered by wine; Led astray by strong drink, staggering in their visions, tottering when giving judgment.

⁹"To whom would he impart knowledge? To whom would he convey the message? To those just weaned from milk, those taken from the breast?

¹⁰For he says, 'Command on command, command on command, rule on rule, rule on rule, here a little, there a little!'"

¹¹Yes, with stammering lips and in a strange language he will speak to this people

¹²to whom he said: This is the resting place, give rest to the weary; Here is repose--but they would not listen.

¹³So for them the word of the LORD shall be: "Command on command, command on command, Rule on rule, rule on rule, here a little, there a little!" So that when they walk, they stumble backward, broken, ensnared, and captured.

¹⁴Therefore, hear the word of the LORD, you arrogant, who rule this people in Jerusalem:

¹⁵Because you say, "We have made a covenant with death, and with the nether world we have made a pact; When the overwhelming scourge passes, it will not reach us; For we have made lies our refuge, and in falsehood we have found a hiding place,"--

¹⁶Therefore, thus says the Lord GOD: See, I am laying a stone in Zion, a stone that has been tested, A precious cornerstone as a sure foundation; he who puts his faith in it shall not be shaken.

¹⁷I will make of right a measuring line, of justice a level.-- Hail shall sweep away the refuge of lies, and waters shall flood the hiding place.

¹⁸Your covenant with death shall be canceled and your pact with the nether world shall not stand. When the overwhelming scourge passes, you shall be trampled down by it.

¹⁹Whenever it passes, it shall take you; morning after morning it shall pass, By day and by night; terror alone shall convey the message.

²⁰For the bed shall be too short to stretch out in, and the cover too narrow to wrap in.

²¹For the LORD shall rise up as on Mount Perazim, bestir himself as in the Valley of Gibeon, To carry out his work, his singular work, to perform his deed, his strange deed.

²²Now, be arrogant no more lest your bonds be tightened, For I have heard from the Lord, the GOD of hosts, the destruction decreed for the whole earth.

²³Give ear and hear my voice, pay attention and listen to what I say:

²⁴Is the plowman forever plowing, always loosening and harrowing his land for planting?

²⁵When he has leveled the surface, does he not scatter gith and sow cumin, Put in wheat and barley, with spelt as its border?

²⁶He has learned this rule, instructed by his God.

²⁷Gith is not threshed with a sledge, nor does a cartwheel roll over cumin. But gith is beaten out with a staff, and cumin crushed for food with a rod.

²⁸No, he does not thresh it unendingly, nor does he crush it with his noisy cartwheels and horses.

²⁹This too comes from the LORD of hosts; wonderful is his counsel and great his wisdom.

29Woe to Ariel, Ariel, the city where David encamped! Add year to year, let the feasts come round.

²But I will bring distress upon Ariel, with mourning and grief. You shall be to me like Ariel, ³I will encamp like David against you; I will encircle you with outposts and set up siege works against you.

⁴Prostrate you shall speak from the earth, and from the base dust your words shall come. Your voice shall be like a ghost's from the earth, and your words like chirping from the dust.

⁵The horde of your arrogant shall be like fine dust, the horde of the tyrants like flying chaff. Then suddenly, in an instant,

⁶you shall be visited by the LORD of hosts, With thunder, earthquake, and great noise, whirlwind, storm, and the flame of consuming fire.

⁷Then like a dream, a vision in the night, Shall be the horde of all the nations who war against Ariel with all the earthworks of her besiegers.

⁸As when a hungry man dreams he is eating and awakens with an empty stomach, Or when a thirsty man dreams he is drinking and awakens faint and dry, So shall the horde of all the nations be, who make war against Zion.

⁹Be irresolute, stupefied; blind yourselves and stay blind! Be drunk, but not from wine, stagger, but not from strong drink!

¹⁰For the LORD has poured out on you a spirit of deep sleep. He has shut your eyes (the prophets) and covered your heads (the seers).

¹¹For you the revelation of all this has become like the words of a sealed scroll. When it is handed to one who can read, with the request, "Read this," he replies, "I cannot; it is sealed."

¹²When it is handed to one who cannot read, with the request, "Read this," he replies, "I cannot read."

¹³The Lord said: Since this people draws near with words only and honors me with their lips alone, though their hearts are far from me, And their reverence for me has become routine observance of the precepts of men, ¹⁴Therefore I will again deal with this people in surprising and wondrous fashion: The wisdom of its wise men shall perish and the understanding of its prudent men be hid.

¹⁵Woe to those who would hide their plans too deep for the LORD! Who work in the dark, saying, "Who sees us, or who knows us?"

¹⁶Your perversity is as though the potter were taken to be the clay: As though what is made should say of its maker, "He made me not!" Or the vessel should say of the potter, "He does not understand."

¹⁷But a very little while, and Lebanon shall be changed into an orchard, and the orchard be regarded as a forest!

¹⁸On that day the deaf shall hear the words of a book; And out of gloom and darkness, the eyes of the blind shall see.

¹⁹The lowly will ever find joy in the LORD, and the poor rejoice in the Holy One of Israel.

²⁰For the tyrant will be no more and the arrogant will have gone; All who are alert to do evil will be cut off,

²¹those whose mere word condemns a man, Who ensnare his defender at the gate, and leave the just man with an empty claim.

²²Therefore thus says the LORD, the God of the house of Jacob, who redeemed Abraham: Now Jacob shall have nothing to be ashamed of, nor shall his face grow pale.

²³When his children see the work of my hands in his midst, They shall keep my name holy; they shall reverence the Holy One of Jacob, and be in awe of the God of Israel.

²⁴Those who err in spirit shall acquire understanding, and those who find fault shall receive instruction.

30Woe to the rebellious children, says the LORD, Who carry out plans that are not mine, who weave webs that are not inspired by me, adding sin upon sin.

²They go down to Egypt, but my counsel they do not seek. They find their strength in Pharaoh's protection and take refuge in Egypt's shadow;

³Pharaoh's protection shall be your shame, and refuge in Egypt's shadow your disgrace.

⁴When their princes are at Zoan and their messengers reach Hanes,

⁵All shall be ashamed of a people that gain them nothing, Neither help nor benefit, but only shame and reproach.

⁶(Oracle on the Beasts of the Negeb) Through the distressed and troubled land of the lioness and roaring lion, of the viper and flying saraph, They carry their riches on the backs of asses and their treasures on the humps of camels To a people good for nothing,

⁷to Egypt whose help is futile and vain. Therefore I call her "Rahab quelled."

⁸Now come, write it on a tablet they can keep, inscribe it in a record; That it may be in future days an eternal witness:

⁹This is a rebellious people, deceitful children, Children who refuse to obey the law of the LORD.

¹⁰They say to the seers, "Have no visions"; to the prophets, "Do not descry for us what is right; speak flatteries to us, conjure up illusions.

¹¹Out of the way! Out of our path! Let us hear no more of the Holy One of Israel."

¹²Therefore, thus says the Holy One of Israel: Because you reject this word, And put your trust in what is crooked and devious, and depend on it, ¹³This guilt of yours shall be like a descending rift Bulging out in a high wall whose crash comes suddenly, in an instant.

¹⁴It crashes like a potter's jar smashed beyond rescue, And among its fragments cannot be found a sherd to scoop fire from the hearth or dip water from the cistern.

¹⁵For thus said the Lord GOD, the Holy One of Israel: By waiting and by calm you shall be saved, in quiet and in trust your strength lies. But this you did not wish.

¹⁶"No," you said, "Upon horses we will flee." --Very well, flee! "Upon swift steeds we will ride." --Not so swift as your pursuers.

¹⁷A thousand shall tremble at the threat of one; if five threaten you, you shall flee, Until you are left like a flagstaff on the mountaintop, like a flag on the hill.

¹⁸Yet the LORD is waiting to show you favor, and he rises to pity you; For the LORD is a God of justice: blessed are all who wait for him!

¹⁹O people of Zion, who dwell in Jerusalem, no more will you weep; He will be gracious to you when you cry out, as soon as he hears he will answer you.

²⁰The Lord will give you the bread you need and the water for which you thirst. No longer will your Teacher hide himself, but with your own eyes you shall see your Teacher,

²¹While from behind, a voice shall sound in your ears: "This is the way; walk in it," when you would turn to the right or to the left.

²²And you shall consider unclean your silver-plated idols and your gold-covered images; You shall throw them away like filthy rags to which you say, "Begone!"

²³He will give rain for the seed that you sow in the ground, And the wheat that the soil produces will be rich and abundant. On that day your cattle will graze in spacious meadows;

²⁴The oxen and the asses that till the ground will eat silage tossed to them with shovel and pitchfork.

²⁵Upon every high mountain and lofty hill there will be streams of running water. On the day of the great slaughter, when the towers fall, ²⁶The light of the moon will be like that of the sun and the light of the sun will be seven times greater (like the light of seven days). On the day the LORD binds up the wounds of his people, he will heal the bruises left by his blows.

²⁷See the name of the LORD coming from afar in burning wrath, with lowering clouds! His lips are filled with fury, his tongue is like a consuming fire;

²⁸His breath, like a flood in a ravine that reaches suddenly to the neck, Will winnow the nations with a destructive winnowing, and with repeated winnowings will he battle against them (and a bridle on the jaws of the peoples to send them astray).

²⁹You will sing as on a night when a feast is observed, And be merry of heart, as one marching along with a flute Toward the mountain of the LORD, toward the Rock of Israel, accompanied by the timbrels and lyres.

³⁰The LORD will make his glorious voice heard, and let it be seen how his arm descends In raging fury and flame of consuming fire, in driving storm and hail.

³¹When the LORD speaks, Assyria will be shattered, as he strikes with the rod;

³²While at every sweep of the rod which the LORD will bring down on him in punishment,

³³For the pyre has long been ready, prepared for the king; Broad and deep it is piled with dry grass and wood in abundance, And the breath of the LORD, like a stream of sulphur, will set it afire.

31 Woe to those who go down to Egypt for help, who depend upon horses: Who put their trust in chariots because of their number, and in horsemen because of their combined power, But look not to the Holy One of Israel nor seek the LORD!

²Yet he too is wise and will bring disaster; he will not turn from what he has threatened to do. He will rise up against the house of the wicked and against those who help evildoers.

³The Egyptians are men, not God, their horses are flesh, not spirit; When the LORD stretches forth his hand, the helper shall stumble, the one helped shall fall, and both of them shall perish together.

⁴Thus says the LORD to me: As a lion or a lion cub growling over its prey, With a band of shepherds assembled against it, Is neither frightened by their shouts nor disturbed by their noise, So shall the LORD of hosts come down to wage war upon the mountain and hill of Zion.

⁵Like hovering birds, so the LORD of hosts shall shield Jerusalem, To protect and deliver, to spare and rescue it.

⁶Return, O children of Israel, to him whom you have utterly deserted.

⁷On that day each one of you shall spurn his sinful idols of silver and gold, which he made with his hands.

⁸Assyria shall fall by a sword not wielded by man, no mortal sword shall devour him; He shall flee before the sword, and his young men shall be impressed as laborers.

⁸He shall rush past his crag in panic, and his princes shall flee in terror from his standard, Says the LORD who has a fire in Zion and a furnace in Jerusalem.

32 See, a king will reign justly and princes will rule rightly.

²Each of them will be a shelter from the wind, a retreat from the rain. They will be like streams of water in a dry country, like the shade of a great rock in a parched land.

³The eyes of those who see will not be closed; the ears of those who hear will be attentive,

⁴The flighty will become wise and capable, and the stutterers will speak fluently and clearly.

⁴No more will the fool be called noble, nor the trickster be considered honorable,

⁶For the fool speaks foolishly, planning evil in his heart.. How to do wickedness, to speak perversely against the LORD, To let the hungry go empty and the thirsty be without drink, ⁷And the trickster uses wicked trickery, planning crimes: How to ruin the poor with lies, and the needy when they plead their case.

⁸But the noble man plans noble things, and by noble things he stands.

⁹O complacent ladies, rise up and hear my voice, overconfident women, give heed to my words.

¹⁰In a little more than a year you overconfident ones will be shaken; The vintage will fail, there will be no harvest.

¹¹Tremble, you who are complacent! Shudder, you who are overconfident! Strip yourselves bare, with only a loincloth to cover you,

¹²Beat your breasts for the pleasant fields, the fruitful vine,

¹³And the soil of my people, overgrown whth thorns and briars; For all the joyful houses, the wanton city.

¹⁴Yes, the castle will be forsaken, the noisy city deserted;

¹⁵Until the spirit from on high is poured out on us. Then will the desert become an orchard and the orchard be regarded as a forest.

¹⁶Right will dwell in the desert and justice abide in the orchard.

¹⁷Justice will bring about peace; right will produce calm and security.

¹⁸My people will live in peaceful country, in secure dwellings and quiet resting places.

¹⁹Down it comes, as trees come down in the forest! The city will be utterly laid low. Hill and tower will become wasteland forever for wild asses to frolic in, and flocks to pasture, ²⁰Happy are you who sow beside every stream, and let the ox and the ass go freely!

33 Woe, O destroyer never destroyed, O traitor never betrayed! When you finish destroying, you will be destroyed; when wearied with betraying, you will be betrayed.

²O LORD, have pity on us, for you we wait. Be our strength every morning, our salvation in time of trouble!

³At the roaring sound, peoples flee; when you rise in your majesty, nations are scattered.

⁴Men gather spoil as caterpillars are gathered up; they rush upon it like the onrush of locusts.

⁵The LORD is exalted, enthroned on high; he fills Zion with right and justice.

⁶That which makes her seasons lasting, the riches that save her, are wisdom and knowledge; the fear of the LORD is her treasure.

⁷See, the men of Ariel cry out in the streets, the messengers of Shalem weep bitterly.

⁸The highways are desolate, travelers have quit the paths, Covenants are broken, their terms are spurned; yet no man gives it a thought.

⁹The country languishes in mourning, Lebanon withers with shame; Sharon is like the steppe, Bashan and Carmel are stripped bare.

¹⁰Now will I rise up, says the LORD, now will I be exalted, now be lifted up.

¹¹You conceive dry grass, bring forth stubble; my spirit shall consume you like fire.

¹²The peoples shall be as in a limekiln, like brushwood cut down for burning in the fire.

¹³Hear, you who are far off, what I have done; you who are near, acknowledge my might.

¹⁴On Zion sinners are in dread, trembling grips the impious: "Who of us can live with the consuming fire? who of us can live with the everlasting flames?"

¹⁵He who practices virtue and speaks honestly, who spurns what is gained by oppression, Brushing his hands free of contact with a bribe, stopping his ears lest he hear of bloodshed, closing his eyes lest he look on evil--

¹⁶He shall dwell on the heights, his stronghold shall be the rocky fastness, his food and drink in steady supply.

¹⁷Your eyes will see a king in his splendor, they will look upon a vast land.

¹⁸Your mind will dwell on the terror: "Where is he who counted, where is he who weighed? Where is he who counted the towers?"

¹⁹To the people of alien tongue you will look no more, the people of obscure speech, stammering in a language not understood.

²⁰Look to Zion, the city of our festivals; let your eyes see Jerusalem as a quiet abode, a tent not to be struck, Whose pegs will never be pulled up, nor any of its ropes severed.

²¹In a place of rivers and wide streams on which no boat is rowed, where no majestic ship passes,

²²Indeed the LORD will be there with us, majestic; yes, the LORD our judge, the LORD our lawgiver, the LORD our king, he it is who will save us.

²³The rigging hangs slack; it cannot hold the mast in place, nor keep the sail spread out. Then the blind will divide great spoils and the lame will carry off the loot.

²⁴No one who dwells there will say, "I am sick"; the people who live there will be forgiven their guilt.

34 Come near, O nations, and hear; be attentive, O peoples! Let the earth and what fills it listen, the world and all it produces.

²The LORD is angry with all the nations and is wrathful against all their host; he has doomed them and given them over to slaughter.

³Their slain shall be cast out, their corpses shall send up a stench; The mountains shall run with their blood,

⁴and all the hills shall rot; The heavens shall be rolled up like a scroll, and all their host shall wither away, As the leaf wilts on the vine, or as the fig withers on the tree.

⁵When my sword has drunk its fill in the heavens, lo, it shall come down in judgment upon Edom, a people I have doomed.

⁶The LORD has a sword filled with blood, greasy with fat, With the blood of lambs and goats, with the fat of rams' kidneys; For the LORD has a sacrifice in Bozrah, a great slaughter in the land of Edom.

⁷Wild oxen shall be struck down with fatlings, and bullocks with bulls; Their land shall be soaked with blood, and their earth greasy with fat.

⁸For the LORD has a day of vengeance, a year of requital by Zion's defender.

⁹Edom's streams shall be changed into pitch and her earth into sulphur, and her land shall become burning pitch;

¹⁰Night and day it shall not be quenched, its smoke shall rise forever. From generation to generation she shall lie waste, never again shall anyone pass through her.

¹¹But the desert owl and hoot owl shall possess her, the screech owl and raven shall dwell in her. The LORD will measure her with line and plummet to be an empty waste for satyrs to dwell in.

¹²Her nobles shall be no more, nor shall kings be proclaimed there; all her princes are gone.

¹³Her castles shall be overgrown with thorns, her fortresses with thistles and briers. She shall become an abode for jackals and a haunt for ostriches.

¹⁴Wildcats shall meet with desert beasts, satyrs shall call to one another; There shall the lilith repose, and find for herself a place to rest.

¹⁵There the hoot owl shall nest and lay eggs, hatch them out and gather them in her shadow; There shall the kites assemble, none shall be missing its mate.

¹⁶Look in the book of the LORD and read: No one of these shall be lacking, For the mouth of the LORD has ordered it, and his spirit shall gather them there.

¹⁷It is he who casts the lot for them, and with his hands he marks off their shares of her; They shall possess her forever, and dwell there from generation to generation.

35 The desert and the parched land will exult; the steppe will rejoice and bloom.

²They will bloom with abundant flowers, and rejoice with joyful song. The glory of Lebanon will be given to them, the splendor of Carmel and Sharon; They will see the glory of the LORD, the splendor of our God.

³Strengthen the hands that are feeble, make firm the knees that are weak,

⁴Say to those whose hearts are frightened: Be strong, fear not! Here is your God, he comes with vindication; With divine recompense he comes to save you.

⁵Then will the eyes of the blind be opened, the ears of the deaf be cleared;

⁶Then will the lame leap like a stag, then the tongue of the dumb will sing. Streams will burst forth in the desert, and rivers in the steppe.

⁷The burning sands will become pools, and the thirsty ground, springs of water; The abode where jackals lurk will be a marsh for the reed and papyrus.

⁸A highway will be there, called the holy way; No one unclean may pass over it, nor fools go astray on it.

⁹No lion will be there, nor beast of prey go up to be met upon it. It is for those with a journey to make, and on it the redeemed will walk.

¹⁰Those whom the LORD has ransomed will return and enter Zion singing, crowned with everlasting joy; They will meet with joy and gladness, sorrow and mourning will flee.

36 In the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah, Sennacherib, king of Assyria, went on an expedition against all the fortified cities of Judah and captured them.

²From Lachish the king of Assyria sent his commander with a great army to King Hezekiah in Jerusalem. When he stopped at the conduit of the upper pool, on the highway of the fuller's field, ³there came out to him the master of the palace, Eliakim, son of Hilkiyah, and Shebna the scribe, and the herald Joah, son of Asaph.

⁴The commander said to them, "Tell King Hezekiah: Thus says the great king, the king of Assyria, 'On what do you base this confidence of yours?'"

⁵Do you think mere words substitute for strategy and might in war? On whom, then, do you rely, that you rebel against me?

⁶This Egypt, the staff on which you rely, is in fact a broken reed which pierces the hand of anyone who leans on it. That is what Pharaoh, king of Egypt, is to all who rely on him.

⁷But if you say to me: "We rely on the LORD, our God," is not he the one whose high places and altars Hezekiah removed, commanding Judah and Jerusalem to worship before this altar?'

⁸"Now, make a wager with my lord the king of Assyria: 'I will give you two thousand horses, if you can put riders on them.'

⁹How then can you repulse even one of the least servants of my lord? And yet you rely on Egypt for chariots and horsemen!

¹⁰Was it without the LORD'S will that I have come up to destroy this land? The LORD said to me, "Go up and destroy that land!"

¹¹Then Eliakim and Shebna and Joah said to the commander, "Please speak to your servants in Aramaic; we understand it. Do not speak to us in Judean within earshot of the people who are on the wall."

¹²But the commander replied, "Was it to you and your master that my lord sent me to speak these words? Was it not rather to the men sitting on the wall, who, with you, will have to eat their own excrement and drink their own urine?"

¹³Then the commander stepped forward and cried out in a loud voice in Judean, "Listen to the words of the great king, the king of Assyria.

¹⁴Thus says the king: 'Do not let Hezekiah deceive you, since he cannot deliver you.

¹⁵Let not Hezekiah induce you to rely on the LORD, saying, "The LORD will surely save us; this city will not be handed over to the king of Assyria."

¹⁶Do not listen to Hezekiah, for the king of Assyria says: 'Make peace with me and surrender! Then each of you will eat of his own vine and of his own fig tree, and drink the water of his own cistern, ¹⁷until I come to take you to a land like your own, a land of grain and wine, of bread and vineyards.

¹⁸Do not let Hezekiah seduce you by saying, "The LORD will save us." Has any of the gods of the nations ever rescued his land from the hand of the king of Assyria?

¹⁹Where are the gods of Hamath and Arpad? Where are the gods of Sepharvaim? Where are the gods of Samaria? Have they saved Samaria from my hand?

²⁰Which of all the gods of these lands ever rescued his land from my hand? Will the LORD then save Jerusalem from my hand?"

²¹But they remained silent and did not answer him one word, for the king had ordered them not to answer him.

²²Then the master of the palace, Eliakim, son of Hilkiyah, Shebna the scribe, and the herald Joah, son of Asaph, came to Hezekiah with their garments torn, and reported to him what the commander had said.

37 When King Hezekiah heard this, he tore his garments, wrapped himself in sackcloth, and went into the temple of the LORD.

²He sent Eliakim, the master of the palace, and Shebna the scribe, and the elders of the priests, wrapped in sackcloth, to tell the prophet Isaiah, son of Amoz:

³"Thus says Hezekiah: 'This is a day of distress, of rebuke, and of disgrace. Children are at the point of birth, but there is no strength to bring them forth.

⁴Perhaps the LORD, your God, will hear the words of the commander, whom his master, the king of Assyria, sent to taunt the living God, and will rebuke him for the words which the LORD, your God, has heard. Send up a prayer for the remnant that is here."

⁵When the servants of King Hezekiah had come to Isaiah,

⁶he said to them: "Tell this to your master: 'Thus says the LORD: Do not be frightened by the words you have heard, with which the servants of the king of Assyria have blasphemed me.

⁷I am about to put in him such a spirit that, when he hears a certain report, he will return to his own land, and there I will cause him to fall by the sword."

⁸When the commander returned to Lachish and heard that the king of Assyria had left there, he found him besieging Libnah.

⁹The king of Assyria heard a report that Tirhakah, king of Ethiopia, had come out to fight against him. Again he sent envoys to Hezekiah with this message: "Thus shall you say to Hezekiah, king of Judah:

¹⁰"Do not let your God on whom you rely deceive you by saying that Jerusalem will not be handed over to the king of Assyria.

¹¹You yourself have heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all the countries: They doomed them! Will you, then, be saved?

¹²Did the gods of the nations whom my fathers destroyed save them? Gozen, Haran, Rezeph, and the Edenites in Telassar?

¹³"Where is the king of Hamath, the king of Arpad, or a king of the cities of Sepharvaim, Hena or Ivvah?"

¹⁴Hezekiah took the letter from the hand of the messengers and read it; then he went up to the temple of the LORD, and spreading it out before him,

¹⁵he prayed to the LORD:

¹⁶"O LORD of hosts, God of Israel, enthroned upon the cherubim! You alone are God over all the kingdoms of the earth. You have made the heavens and the earth.

¹⁷Incline your ear, O LORD, and listen! Open your eyes, O LORD and see! Hear all the words of the letter that Sennacherib sent to taunt the living God.

¹⁸Truly, O LORD, the kings of Assyria have laid waste all the nations and their lands, ¹⁹and cast their gods into the fire; they destroyed them because they were not gods but the work of human hands, wood and stone.

²⁰Therefore, O LORD, our God, save us from his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that you, O LORD, alone are God."

²¹Then Isaiah, son of Amoz, sent this message to Hezekiah: Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: In answer to your prayer for help against Sennacherib, king of Assyria, ²²this is the word the LORD has spoken concerning him: She despises you, laughs you to scorn, the virgin daughter Zion; Behind you she wags her head, daughter Jerusalem.

²³Whom have you insulted and blasphemed, against whom have you raised your voice And lifted up your eyes on high? Against the Holy One of Israel!

²⁴Through your servants you have insulted the Lord: You said, "With my many chariots I climbed the mountain heights, the recesses of Lebanon; I cut down its lofty cedars, its choice cypresses; I reached the remotest heights, its forest park.

²⁵I dug wells and drank water in foreign lands; I dried up with the soles of my feet all the rivers of Egypt.

²⁶Have you not heard? Long ago I prepared it, From days of old I planned it, now I have brought it to pass: That you should reduce fortified cities into heaps of ruins, ²⁷While their inhabitants, shorn of power, are dismayed and ashamed, Becoming like the plants of the field, like the green growth, like the scorched grass on the housetops.

²⁸I am aware whether you stand or sit; I know whether you come or go, and also your rage against me.

²⁹Because of your rage against me and your fury which has reached my ears, I will put my hook in your nose and my bit in your mouth, and make you return the way you came.

³⁰This shall be a sign for you: this year you shall eat the aftergrowth, next year, what grows of itself; But in the third year, sow and reap, plant vineyards and eat their fruit!

³¹The remaining survivors of the house of Judah shall again strike root below and bear fruit above.

³²For out of Jerusalem shall come a remnant, and from Mount Zion, survivors. The zeal of the LORD of hosts shall do this.

³³Therefore, thus says the LORD concerning the king of Assyria: He shall not reach this city, nor shoot an arrow at it, nor come before it with a shield, nor cast up siegeworks against it.

³⁴He shall return by the same way he came, without entering the city, says the LORD.

³⁵I will shield and save this city for my own sake, and for the sake of my servant David.

³⁶The angel of the LORD went forth and struck down one hundred and eighty-five thousand in the Assyrian camp. Early the next morning, there they were, all the corpses of the dead.

³⁷So Sennacherib, the king of Assyria, broke camp and went back home to Nineveh.

³⁸When he was worshiping in the temple of his god Nisroch, his sons Adrammelech and Sharezer slew him with the sword and fled into the land of Ararat. His son Esarhaddon reigned in his stead.

38 In those days, when Hezekiah was mortally ill, the prophet Isaiah, son of Amoz, came and said to him: "Thus says the LORD: Put your house in order, for you are about to die; you shall not recover."

²Then Hezekiah turned his face to the wall and prayed to the LORD:

³"O LORD, remember how faithfully and wholeheartedly I conducted myself in your presence, doing what was pleasing to you!" And Hezekiah wept bitterly.

⁴Then the word of the LORD came to Isaiah:

⁵"Go, tell Hezekiah: Thus says the LORD, the God of your father David: I have heard your prayer and seen your tears. I will heal you: in three days you shall go up to the LORD'S temple; I will add fifteen years to your life.

⁶I will rescue you and this city from the hand of the king of Assyria; I will be a shield to this city."

⁷(Isaiah answered:) "This will be the sign for you from the LORD that he will do what he has promised:

⁸See, I will make the shadow cast by the sun on the stairway to the terrace of Ahaz go back the ten steps it has advanced." So the sun came back the ten steps it had advanced.

⁹The song of Hezekiah, king of Judah, after he had been sick and had recovered from his illness:

¹⁰Once I said, "In the noontime of life I must depart! To the gates of the nether world I shall be consigned for the rest of my years."

¹¹I said, "I shall see the LORD no more in the land of the living. No longer shall I behold my fellow men among those who dwell in the world."

¹²My dwelling, like a shepherd's tent, is struck down and borne away from me; You have folded up my life, like a weaver who severs the last thread. Day and night you give me over to torment;

¹³I cry out until the dawn. Like a lion he breaks all my bones; (day and night you give me over to torment).

¹⁴Like a swallow I utter shrill cries; I moan like a dove. My eyes grow weak, gazing heavenward: O Lord, I am in straits; be my surety!

¹⁵What am I to say or tell him? He has done it! I shall go on through all my years despite the bitterness of my soul.

¹⁶Those live whom the LORD protects; yours. . . the life of my spirit. You have given me health and life;

¹⁷thus is my bitterness transformed into peace. You have preserved my life from the pit of destruction, When you cast behind your back all my sins.

¹⁸For it is not the nether world that gives you thanks, nor death that praises you; Neither do those who go down into the pit await your kindness.

¹⁹The living, the living give you thanks, as I do today. Fathers declare to their sons, O God, your faithfulness.

²⁰The LORD is our savior; we shall sing to stringed instruments In the house of the LORD all the days of our life.

²¹Isaiah then ordered a poultice of figs to be taken and applied to the boil, that he might recover.

²²Then Hezekiah asked, "What is the sign that I shall go up to the temple of the LORD?"

39 At that time when Merodach-baladan, son of Baladan, king of Babylon, heard that Hezekiah had recovered from his sickness, he sent letters and gifts to him.

²Hezekiah was pleased at this, and therefore showed the messengers his treasury, the silver and gold, the spices and fine oil, his whole armory, and everything that was in his storerooms; there was nothing in his house or in his whole realm that he did not show them.

³Then Isaiah the prophet came to King Hezekiah and asked him, "What did these men say to you? Where did they come from?" Hezekiah answered, "They came to me from a distant land, from Babylon."

⁴"What did they see in your house?" he asked. Hezekiah replied, "They saw everything in my house; there is nothing in my storerooms that I did not show them."

⁵Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah, "Hear the word of the LORD of hosts:

⁶Behold, the days shall come when all that is in your house, and everything that your fathers have stored up until this day, shall be carried off to Babylon; nothing shall be left, says the LORD.

⁷Some of your own bodily descendants shall be taken and made servants in the palace of the king of Babylon."

⁸Hezekiah replied to Isaiah, "The word of the LORD which you have spoken is favorable." For he thought, "There will be peace and security in my lifetime."

40 Comfort, give comfort to my people, says your God.

²Speak tenderly to Jerusalem, and proclaim to her that her service is at an end, her guilt is expiated; Indeed, she has received from the hand of the LORD double for all her sins.

³A voice cries out: In the desert prepare the way of the LORD! Make straight in the wasteland a highway for our God!

⁴Every valley shall be filled in, every mountain and hill shall be made low; The rugged land shall be made a plain, the rough country, a broad valley.

⁵Then the glory of the LORD shall be revealed, and all mankind shall see it together; for the mouth of the LORD has spoken.

⁶A voice says, "Cry out!" I answer, "What shall I cry out?" "All mankind is grass, and all their glory like the flower of the field.

⁶One man helps another, one says to the other, "Keep on!"

⁷The grass withers, the flower wilts, when the breath of the LORD blows upon it. (So then, the people is the grass.)

⁷The craftsman encourages the goldsmith, the one who beats with the hammer, him who strikes on the anvil; He says the soldering is good, and he fastens it with nails to steady it.

⁸Though the grass withers and the flower wilts, the word of our God stands forever."

⁹Go up onto a high mountain, Zion, herald of glad tidings; Cry out at the top of your voice, Jerusalem, herald of good news! Fear not to cry out and say to the cities of Judah: Here is your God!

¹⁰Here comes with power the Lord GOD, who rules by his strong arm; Here is his reward with him, his recompense before him.

¹¹Like a shepherd he feeds his flock; in his arms he gathers the lambs, Carrying them in his bosom, and leading the ewes with care.

¹²Who has cupped in his hand the waters of the sea, and marked off the heavens with a span? Who has held in a measure the dust of the earth, weighed the mountains in scales and the hills in a balance?

¹³Who has directed the spirit of the LORD, or has instructed him as his counselor?

¹⁴Whom did he consult to gain knowledge? Who taught him the path of judgment, or showed him the way of understanding?

¹⁵Behold, the nations count as a drop in the bucket, as dust on the scales; the coastlands weigh no more than powder.

¹⁶Lebanon would not suffice for fuel, nor its animals be enough for holocausts.

¹⁷Before him all the nations are as nought, as nothing and void he accounts them.

¹⁸To whom can you liken God? With what equal can you confront him?

¹⁹An idol, cast by a craftsman, which the smith plates with gold and fits with silver chains?

²⁰Mulberry wood, the choice portion which a skilled craftsman picks out for himself, Choosing timber that will not rot, to set up an idol that will not be unsteady?

²¹Do you not know? Have you not heard? Was it not foretold you from the beginning? Have you not understood? Since the earth was founded ²²He sits enthroned above the vault of the earth, and its inhabitants are like grasshoppers; He stretches out the heavens like a veil, spreads them out like a tent to dwell in.

²³He brings princes to nought and makes the rulers of the earth as nothing.

²⁴Scarcely are they planted or sown, scarcely is their stem rooted in the earth, When he breathes upon them and they wither, and the stormwind carries them away like straw.

²⁵To whom can you liken me as an equal? says the Holy One.

²⁶Lift up your eyes on high and see who has created these: He leads out their army and numbers them, calling them all by name. By his great might and the strength of his power not one of them is missing!

²⁷Why, O Jacob, do you say, and declare, O Israel, "My way is hidden from the LORD, and my right is disregarded by my God"?

²⁸Do you not know or have you not heard? The LORD is the eternal God, creator of the ends of the earth. He does not faint nor grow weary, and his knowledge is beyond scrutiny.

²⁹He gives strength to the fainting; for the weak he makes vigor abound.

³⁰Though young men faint and grow weary, and youths stagger and fall,

³¹They that hope in the LORD will renew their strength, they will soar as with eagles' wings; They will run and not grow weary, walk and not grow faint.

41 Keep silence before me, O coastlands; you peoples, wait for my words! Let them draw near and speak; let us come together for judgment.

²Who has stirred up from the East the champion of justice, and summoned him to be his attendant? To him he delivers the nations and subdues the kings; With his sword he reduces them to dust, with his bow, to driven straw.

³He pursues them, passing on without loss, by a path his feet do not even tread.

⁴Who has performed these deeds? He who has called forth the generations since the beginning. I, the LORD, am the first, and with the last I will also be.

⁵The coastlands see, and fear; the ends of the earth tremble: these things are near, they come to pass.

⁸But you, Israel, my servant, Jacob, whom I have chosen, offspring of Abraham my friend--

⁹You whom I have taken from the ends of the earth and summoned from its far-off places, You whom I have called my servant, whom I have chosen and will not cast off--

¹⁰Fear not, I am with you; be not dismayed; I am your God. I will strengthen you, and help you, and uphold you with my right hand of justice.

¹¹Yes, all shall be put to shame and disgrace who vent their anger against you; Those shall perish and come to nought who offer resistance.

¹²You shall seek out, but shall not find, those who strive against you; They shall be as nothing at all who do battle with you.

¹³For I am the LORD, your God, who grasp your right hand; It is I who say to you, "Fear not, I will help you."

¹⁴Fear not, O worm Jacob, O maggot Israel; I will help you, says the LORD; your redeemer is the Holy One of Israel.

¹⁵I will make of you a threshing sledge, sharp, new, and double-edged, To thresh the mountains and crush them, to make the hills like chaff.

¹⁶When you winnow them, the wind shall carry them off and the storm shall scatter them. But you shall rejoice in the LORD, and glory in the Holy One of Israel.

¹⁷The afflicted and the needy seek water in vain, their tongues are parched with thirst. I, the LORD, will answer them; I, the God of Israel, will not forsake them.

¹⁸I will open up rivers on the bare heights, and fountains in the broad valleys; I will turn the desert into a marshland, and the dry ground into springs of water.

¹⁹I will plant in the desert the cedar, acacia, myrtle, and olive; I will set in the wasteland the cypress, together with the plane tree and the pine,

²⁰That all may see and know, observe and understand, That the hand of the LORD has done this, the Holy One of Israel has created it.

²¹Present your case, says the LORD; bring forward your reasons, says the King of Jacob.

²²Let them come near and foretell to us what it is that shall happen! What are the things of long ago? Tell us, that we may reflect on them And know their outcome; or declare to us the things to come!

²³Foretell the things that shall come afterward, that we may know that you are gods! Do something, good or evil, that will put us in awe and in fear.

²⁴Why, you are nothing and your work is nought! To choose you is an abomination.

²⁵I have stirred up one from the north, and he comes; from the east I summon him by name; He shall trample the rulers down like red earth, as the potter treads the clay.

²⁶Who announced this from the beginning, that we might know; beforehand, that we might say it is true? Not one of you foretold it, not one spoke; no one heard you say,

²⁷"The first news for Zion: they are coming now," or, "For Jerusalem I will pick out a bearer of the glad tidings."

²⁸When I look, there is not one, no one of them to give counsel, to make an answer when I question them.

²⁹Ah, all of them are nothing, their works are nought, their idols are empty wind!

42 Here is my servant whom I uphold, my chosen one with whom I am pleased, Upon whom I have put my spirit; he shall bring forth justice to the nations, ²Not crying out, not shouting, not making his voice heard in the street.

³A bruised reed he shall not break, and a smoldering wick he shall not quench,

⁴Until he establishes justice on the earth; the coastlands will wait for his teaching.

⁵Thus says God, the LORD, who created the heavens and stretched them out, who spreads out the earth with its crops, Who gives breath to its people and spirit to those who walk on it:

⁶I, the LORD, have called you for the victory of justice, I have grasped you by the hand; I formed you, and set you as a covenant of the people, a light for the nations,

⁷To open the eyes of the blind, to bring out prisoners from confinement, and from the dungeon, those who live in darkness.

⁸I am the LORD, this is my name; my glory I give to no other, nor my praise to idols.

⁹See, the earlier things have come to pass, new ones I now foretell; Before they spring into being, I announce them to you.

¹⁰Sing to the LORD a new song, his praise from the end of the earth: Let the sea and what fills it resound, the coastlands, and those who dwell in them.

¹¹Let the steppe and its cities cry out, the villages where Kedar dwells; Let the inhabitants of Sela exult, and shout from the top of the mountains.

¹²Let them give glory to the LORD, and utter his praise in the coastlands.

¹³The LORD goes forth like a hero, like a warrior he stirs up his ardor; He shouts out his battle cry, against his enemies he shows his might:

¹⁴I have looked away, and kept silence, I have said nothing, holding myself in; But now, I cry out as a woman in labor, gasping and panting.

¹⁵I will lay waste mountains and hills, all their herbage I will dry up; I will turn the rivers into marshes, and the marshes I will dry up.

¹⁶I will lead the blind on their journey; by paths unknown I will guide them. I will turn darkness into light before them, and make crooked ways straight. These things I do for them, and I will not forsake them.

¹⁷They shall be turned back in utter shame who trust in idols; Who say to molten images, "You are our gods."

¹⁸You who are deaf, listen, you who are blind, look and see!

¹⁹Who is blind but my servant, or deaf like the messenger I send?

²⁰You see many things without taking note; your ears are open, but without hearing.

²¹Though it pleased the LORD in his justice to make his law great and glorious,

²²This is a people despoiled and plundered, all of them trapped in holes, hidden away in prisons. They are taken as booty, with no one to rescue them, as spoil, with no one to demand their return.

²³Who of you gives ear to this? Who listens and pays heed for the time to come?

²⁴Who was it that gave Jacob to be plundered, Israel to the despoilers? Was it not the LORD, against whom we have sinned? In his ways they refused to walk, his law they disobeyed.

²⁵So he poured out wrath upon them, his anger, and the fury of battle; It blazed round about them, yet they did not realize, it burned them, but they took it not to heart.

43 But now, thus says the LORD, who created you, O Jacob, and formed you, O Israel: Fear not, for I have redeemed you; I have called you by name: you are mine.

²When you pass through the water, I will be with you; in the rivers you shall not drown. When you walk through fire, you shall not be burned; the flames shall not consume you.

³For I am the LORD, your God, the Holy One of Israel, your savior. I give Egypt as your ransom, Ethiopia and Seba in return for you.

⁴Because you are precious in my eyes and glorious, and because I love you, I give men in return for you and peoples in exchange for your life.

⁵Fear not, for I am with you; from the east I will bring back your descendants, from the west I will gather you.

⁶I will say to the north: Give them up! and to the south: Hold not back! Bring back my sons from afar, and my daughters from the ends of the earth:

⁷Everyone who is named as mine, whom I created for my glory, whom I formed and made.

⁸Lead out the people who are blind though they have eyes, who are deaf though they have ears.

⁹Let all the nations gather together, let the peoples assemble! Who among them could have revealed this, or foretold to us the earlier things? Let them produce witnesses to prove themselves right, that one may hear and say, "It is true!"

¹⁰You are my witnesses, says the LORD, my servants whom I have chosen To know and believe in me and understand that it is I. Before me no god was formed, and after me there shall be none.

¹¹It is I, I the LORD; there is no savior but me.

¹²It is I who foretold, I who saved; I made it known, not any strange god among you; You are my witnesses, says the LORD. I am God, ¹³yes, from eternity I am He; There is none who can deliver from my hand: who can countermand what I do?

¹⁴Thus says the LORD, your redeemer, the Holy One of Israel: For your sakes I send to Babylon; I will lower all the bars, and the Chaldeans shall cry out in lamentation.

¹⁵I am the LORD, your Holy One, the creator of Israel, your King.

¹⁶Thus says the LORD, who opens a way in the sea and a path in the mighty waters,

¹⁷Who leads out chariots and horsemen, a powerful army, Till they lie prostrate together, never to rise, snuffed out and quenched like a wick.

¹⁸Remember not the events of the past, the things of long ago consider not;

¹⁹See, I am doing something new! Now it springs forth, do you not perceive it? In the desert I make a way, in the wasteland, rivers.

²⁰Wild beasts honor me, jackals and ostriches, For I put water in the desert and rivers in the wasteland for my chosen people to drink, ²¹The people whom I formed for myself, that they might announce my praise.

²²Yet you did not call upon me, O Jacob, for you grew weary of me, O Israel.

²³You did not bring me sheep for your holocausts, nor honor me with your sacrifices. I did not exact from you the service of offerings, nor weary you for frankincense.

²⁴You did not buy me sweet cane for money, nor fill me with the fat of your sacrifices; Instead, you burdened me with your sins, and wearied me with your crimes.

²⁵It is I, I, who wipe out, for my own sake, your offenses; your sins I remember no more.

²⁶Would you have me remember, have us come to trial? Speak up, prove your innocence!

²⁷Your first father sinned; your spokesmen rebelled against me

²⁸Till I repudiated the holy gates, put Jacob under the ban, and exposed Israel to scorn.

44Hear then, O Jacob, my servant, Israel, whom I have chosen.

²Thus says the LORD who made you, your help, who formed you from the womb: Fear not, O Jacob, my servant, the darling whom I have chosen.

³I will pour out water upon the thirsty ground, and streams upon the dry land; I will pour out my spirit upon your offspring, and my blessing upon your descendants.

⁴They shall spring up amid the verdure like poplars beside the flowing waters.

⁵One shall say, "I am the LORD'S," another shall be named after Jacob, And this one shall write on his hand, "The LORD'S," and Israel shall be his surname.

⁶Thus says the LORD, Israel's King and redeemer, the LORD of hosts: I am the first and I am the last; there is no God but me.

⁷Who is like me? Let him stand up and speak, make it evident, and confront me with it. Who of old announced future events? Let them foretell to us the things to come.

⁸Fear not, be not troubled: did I not announce and foretell it long ago? You are my witnesses! Is there a God or any Rock besides me?

⁹Idol makers all amount to nothing, and their precious works are of no avail, as they themselves give witness. To their shame, they neither see nor know anything; and they are more deaf than men are.

¹⁰Indeed, all the associates of anyone who forms a god, or casts an idol to no purpose, will be put to shame;

¹¹they will all assemble and stand forth, to be reduced to fear and shame.

¹²The smith fashions an iron image, works it over the coals, shapes it with hammers, and forges it with his strong arm. He is hungry and weak, drinks no water and becomes exhausted.

¹³The carpenter stretches a line and marks with a stylus the outline of an idol. He shapes it with a plane and measures it off with a compass, making it like a man in appearance and dignity, to occupy a shrine.

¹⁴He cuts down cedars, takes a holm or an oak, and lays hold of other trees of the forest, which the Lord had planted and the rain made grow

¹⁵to serve man for fuel. With a part of their wood he warms himself, or makes a fire for baking bread; but with another part he makes a god which he adores, an idol which he worships.

¹⁶Half of it he burns in the fire, and on its embers he roasts his meat; he eats what he has roasted until he is full, and then warms himself and says, "Ah! I am warm, I feel the fire."

¹⁷Of what remains he makes a god, his idol, and prostrate before it in worship, he implores it, "Rescue me, for you are my god."

¹⁸The idols have neither knowledge nor reason; their eyes are coated so that they cannot see, and their hearts so that they cannot understand.

¹⁹Yet he does not reflect, nor have the intelligence and sense to say, "Half of the wood I burned in the fire, and on its embers I baked bread and roasted meat which I ate. Shall I then make an abomination out of the rest, or worship a block of wood?"

²⁰He is chasing ashes—a thing that cannot save itself when the flame consumes it; yet he does not say, "Is not this thing in my right hand a fraud?"

²¹Remember this, O Jacob, you, O Israel, who are my servant! I formed you to be a servant to me; O Israel, by me you shall never be forgotten:

²²I have brushed away your offenses like a cloud, your sins like a mist; return to me, for I have redeemed you.

²³Raise a glad cry, you heavens: the LORD has done this; shout, you depths of the earth. Break forth, you mountains, into song, you forest, with all your trees. For the LORD has redeemed Jacob, and shows his glory through Israel.

²⁴Thus says the LORD, your redeemer, who formed you from the womb: I am the LORD, who made all things, who alone stretched out the heavens; when I spread out the earth, who was with me?

²⁵It is I who bring to nought the omens of liars, who make fools of diviners; I turn wise men back and make their knowledge foolish.

²⁶It is I who confirm the words of my servants, I carry out the plan announced by my messengers; I say to Jerusalem: Be inhabited; to the cities of Judah: Be rebuilt; I will raise up their ruins.

²⁷It is I who said to the deep: Be dry; I will dry up your wellsprings.

²⁸I say of Cyrus: My shepherd, who fulfills my every wish; He shall say of Jerusalem, "Let her be rebuilt," and of the temple, "Let its foundations be laid."

45 Thus says the LORD to his anointed, Cyrus, whose right hand I grasp, Subduing nations before him, and making kings run in his service, Opening doors before him and leaving the gates unbarred:

²I will go before you and level the mountains; Bronze doors I will shatter, and iron bars I will snap.

³I will give you treasures out of the darkness, and riches that have been hidden away, That you may know that I am the LORD, the God of Israel, who calls you by your name.

⁴For the sake of Jacob, my servant, of Israel my chosen one, I have called you by your name, giving you a title, though you knew me not.

⁵I am the LORD and there is no other, there is no God besides me. It is I who arm you, though you know me not,

⁶so that toward the rising and the setting of the sun men may know that there is none besides me. I am the LORD, there is no other;

⁷I form the light, and create the darkness, I make well-being and create woe; I, the LORD, do all these things.

⁸Let justice descend, O heavens, like dew from above, like gentle rain let the skies drop it down. Let the earth open and salvation bud forth; let justice also spring up! I, the LORD, have created this.

⁹Woe to him who contends with his Maker; a potsherd among potsherds of the earth! Dare the clay say to its modeler, "What are you doing?" or, "What you are making has no hands"?

¹⁰Woe to him who asks a father, "What are you begetting?" or a woman, "What are you giving birth to?"

¹¹Thus says the LORD, the Holy One of Israel, his maker: You question me about my children, or prescribe the work of my hands for me!

¹²It was I who made the earth and created mankind upon it; It was my hands that stretched out the heavens; I gave the order to all their host.

¹³It was I who stirred up one for the triumph of justice; all his ways I make level. He shall rebuild my city and let my exiles go free Without price or ransom, says the LORD of hosts.

¹⁴Thus says the LORD: The earnings of Egypt, the gain of Ethiopia, and the Sabeans, tall of stature, Shall come over to you and belong to you; they shall follow you, coming in chains. Before you they shall fall prostrate, saying in prayer: "With you only is God, and nowhere else; the gods are nought.

¹⁵Truly with you God is hidden, the God of Israel, the savior!

¹⁶Those are put to shame and disgrace who vent their anger against him; Those go in disgrace who carve images.

¹⁷Israel, you are saved by the LORD, saved forever! You shall never be put to shame or disgrace in future ages."

¹⁸For thus says the LORD, The creator of the heavens, who is God, The designer and maker of the earth who established it, Not creating it to be a waste, but designing it to be lived in: I am the LORD, and there is no other.

¹⁹I have not spoken from hiding nor from some dark place of the earth, And I have not said to the descendants of Jacob, "Look for me in an empty waste." I, the LORD, promise justice, I foretell what is right.

²⁰Come and assemble, gather together, you fugitives from among the gentiles! They are without knowledge who bear wooden idols and pray to gods that cannot save.

²¹Come here and declare in counsel together: Who announced this from the beginning and foretold it from of old? Was it not I, the LORD, besides whom there is no other God? There is no just and saving God but me.

²²Turn to me and be safe, all you ends of the earth, for I am God; there is no other!

²³By myself I swear, uttering my just decree and my unalterable word: To me every knee shall bend; by me every tongue shall swear, ²⁴Saying, "Only in the LORD are just deeds and power. Before him in shame shall come all who vent their anger against him.

²⁵In the LORD shall be the vindication and the glory of all the descendants of Israel."

46 Bel bows down, Nebo stoops, their idols are upon beasts and cattle; They must be borne up on shoulders, carried as burdens by the weary.

²They stoop and bow down together; unable to save those who bear them, they too go into captivity.

³Hear me, O house of Jacob, all who remain of the house of Israel, My burden since your birth, whom I have carried from your infancy.

⁴Even to your old age I am the same, even when your hair is gray I will bear you; It is I who have done this, I who will continue, and I who will carry you to safety.

⁵Whom would you compare me with, as an equal, or match me against, as though we were alike?

⁶There are those who pour out gold from a purse and weigh out silver on the scales; Then they hire a goldsmith to make it into a god before which they fall down in worship.

⁷They lift it to their shoulders to carry; when they set it in place again, it stays, and does not move from the spot. Although they cry out to it, it cannot answer; it delivers no one from distress.

⁸Remember this and be firm, bear it well in mind, you rebels; remember the former things, those long ago:

⁹I am God, there is no other; I am God, there is none like me.

¹⁰At the beginning I foretell the outcome; in advance, things not yet done. I say that my plan shall stand, I accomplish my every purpose.

¹¹I call from the east a bird of prey, from a distant land, one to carry out my plan. Yes, I have spoken, I will accomplish it; I have planned it, and I will do it.

¹²Listen to me, you fainthearted, you who seem far from the victory of justice:

¹³I am bringing on my justice, it is not far off, my salvation shall not tarry; I will put salvation within Zion, and give to Israel my glory.

47 Come down, sit in the dust, O virgin daughter Babylon; Sit on the ground, dethroned, O daughter of the Chaldeans. No longer shall you be called dainty and delicate.

²Take the millstone and grind flour, remove your veil; Strip off your train, bare your legs, pass through the streams.

³Your nakedness shall be uncovered and your shame be seen; I will take vengeance, I will yield to no entreaty, says our redeemer, ⁴Whose name is the LORD of hosts, the Holy One of Israel.

⁵Go into darkness and sit in silence, O daughter of the Chaldeans, No longer shall you be called sovereign mistress of kingdoms.

⁶Angry at my people, I profaned my inheritance, And I gave them into your hand; but you showed them no mercy, And upon old men you laid a very heavy yoke.

⁷You said, "I shall remain always, a sovereign mistress forever!" But you did not lay these things to heart, you disregarded their outcome.

⁸Now hear this, voluptuous one, enthroned securely, Saying to yourself, "I, and no one else! I shall never be a widow, or suffer the loss of my children"--

⁹Both these things shall come to you suddenly, in a single day: Complete bereavement and widowhood shall come upon you For your many sorceries and the great number of your spells;

¹⁰Because you felt secure in your wickedness, and said, "No one sees me." Your wisdom and your knowledge led you astray, And you said to yourself, "I, and no one else!"

¹¹But upon you shall come evil you will not know how to predict; Disaster shall befall you which you cannot allay. Suddenly there shall come upon you ruin which you will not expect.

¹²Keep up, now, your spells and your many sorceries. Perhaps you can make them avail, perhaps you can strike terror!

¹³You wearied yourself with many consultations, at which you toiled from your youth; Let the astrologers stand forth to save you, the stargazers who forecast at each new moon what would happen to you.

¹⁴Lo, they are like stubble, fire consumes them; They cannot save themselves from the spreading flames. This is no warming ember, no fire to sit before.

¹⁵Thus do your wizards serve you with whom you have toiled from your youth; Each wanders his own way, with none to save you.

48 Hear this, O house of Jacob called by the name Israel, sprung from the stock of Judah, You who swear by the name of the LORD and invoke the God of Israel without sincerity or justice, ²Though you are named after the holy city and rely on the God of Israel, whose name is the LORD of hosts.

³Things of the past I foretold long ago, they went forth from my mouth, I let you hear of them; then suddenly I took action and they came to be.

⁴Because I know that you are stubborn and that your neck is an iron sinew and your forehead bronze,

⁵I foretold them to you of old; before they took place I let you hear of them, That you might not say, "My idol did them, my statue, my molten image commanded them."

⁶Now that you have heard, look at all this; must you not admit it? From now on I announce new things to you, hidden events of which you knew not.

⁷Now, not long ago, they are brought into being, and beforetime you did not hear of them, so that you cannot claim to have known them;

⁸You neither heard nor knew, they did not reach your ears beforehand. Yes, I know you are utterly treacherous, a rebel you were called from birth.

⁹For the sake of my name I restrain my anger, for the sake of my renown I hold it back from you, lest I should destroy you.

¹⁰See, I have refined you like silver, tested you in the furnace of affliction.

¹¹For my sake, for my own sake, I do this; why should I suffer profanation? My glory I will not give to another.

¹²Listen to me, Jacob, Israel, whom I named! I, it is I who am the first, and also the last am I.

¹³Yes, my hand laid the foundations of the earth; my right hand spread out the heavens. When I call them, they stand forth at once.

¹⁴All of you assemble and listen: Who among you foretold these things? The LORD'S friend shall do his will against Babylon and the progeny of Chaldea.

¹⁵I myself have spoken, I have called him, I have brought him, and his way succeeds!

¹⁶Come near to me and hear this! Not from the beginning did I speak it in secret; At the time it comes to pass, I am present: "Now the Lord GOD has sent me, and his spirit."

¹⁷Thus says the LORD, your redeemer, the Holy One of Israel: I, the LORD, your God, teach you what is for your good, and lead you on the way you should go.

¹⁸If you would hearken to my commandments, your prosperity would be like a river, and your vindication like the waves of the sea;

¹⁹Your descendants would be like the sand, and those born of your stock like its grains, Their name never cut off or blotted out from my presence.

²⁰Go forth from Babylon, flee from Chaldea! With shouts of joy proclaim this, make it known; Publish it to the ends of the earth, and say, "The LORD has redeemed his servant Jacob.

²¹They did not thirst when he led them through dry lands; Water from the rock he set flowing for them; he cleft the rock, and waters welled forth."

²²(There is no peace for the wicked, says the LORD.)

49Hear me, O coastlands, listen, O distant peoples. The LORD called me from birth, from my mother's womb he gave me my name.

²He made of me a sharp-edged sword and concealed me in the shadow of his arm. He made me a polished arrow, in his quiver he hid me.

³You are my servant, he said to me, Israel, through whom I show my glory.

⁴Though I thought I had toiled in vain, and for nothing, uselessly, spent my strength, Yet my reward is with the LORD, my recompense is with my God.

⁵For now the LORD has spoken who formed me as his servant from the womb, That Jacob may be brought back to him and Israel gathered to him; And I am made glorious in the sight of the LORD, and my God is now my strength!

⁶It is too little, he says, for you to be my servant, to raise up the tribes of Jacob, and restore the survivors of Israel; I will make you a light to the nations, that my salvation may reach to the ends of the earth.

⁷Thus says the LORD, the redeemer and the Holy One of Israel, To the one despised, whom the nations abhor, the slave of rulers: When kings see you, they shall stand up, and princes shall prostrate themselves Because of the LORD who is faithful, the Holy One of Israel who has chosen you.

⁸Thus says the LORD: In a time of favor I answer you, on the day of salvation I help you, To restore the land and allot the desolate heritages, ⁹Saying to the prisoners: Come out! To those in darkness: Show yourselves! Along the ways they shall find pasture, on every bare height shall their pastures be.

¹⁰They shall not hunger or thirst, nor shall the scorching wind or the sun strike them; For he who pities them leads them and guides them beside springs of water.

¹¹I will cut a road through all my mountains, and make my highways level.

¹²See, some shall come from afar, others from the north and the west, and some from the land of Syene.

¹³Sing out, O heavens, and rejoice, O earth, break forth into song, you mountains. For the LORD comforts his people and shows mercy to his afflicted.

¹⁴But Zion said, "The LORD has forsaken me; my Lord has forgotten me."

¹⁵Can a mother forget her infant, be without tenderness for the child of her womb? Even should she forget, I will never forget you.

¹⁶See, upon the palms of my hands I have written your name; your walls are ever before me.

¹⁷Your rebuilders make haste, as those who tore you down and laid you waste go forth from you;

¹⁸Look about and see, they are all gathering and coming to you. As I live, says the LORD, you shall be arrayed with them all as with adornments, like a bride you shall fasten them on you.

¹⁹Though you were waste and desolate, a land of ruins, Now you shall be too small for your inhabitants, while those who swallowed you up will be far away.

²⁰The children whom you had lost shall yet say to you, "This place is too small for me, make room for me to live in."

²¹You shall ask yourself: "Who has borne me these? I was bereft and barren (exiled and repudiated); who has reared them? I was left all alone; where then do these come from?"

²²Thus says the Lord GOD: See, I will lift up my hand to the nations, and raise my signal to the peoples; They shall bring your sons in their arms, and your daughters shall be carried on their shoulders.

²³Kings shall be your foster fathers, their princesses your nurses; Bowing to the ground, they shall worship you and lick the dust at your feet. Then you shall know that I am the LORD, and those who hope in me shall never be disappointed.

²⁴Thus says the LORD: Can booty be taken from a warrior? or captives be rescued from a tyrant?

²⁵Yes, captives can be taken from a warrior, and booty be rescued from a tyrant; Those who oppose you I will oppose, and your sons I will save.

²⁶I will make your oppressors eat their own flesh, and they shall be drunk with their own blood as with the juice of the grape. All mankind shall know that I, the LORD, am your savior, your redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob.

50 Thus says the LORD: Where is the bill of divorce with which I dismissed your mother? Or to which of my creditors have I sold you? It was for your sins that you were sold, for your crimes that your mother was dismissed.

²Why was no one there when I came? Why did no one answer when I called? Is my hand too short to ransom? Have I not the strength to deliver? Lo, with my rebuke I dry up the sea, I turn rivers into a desert; Their fish rot for lack of water, and die of thirst.

³I clothe the heavens in mourning, and make sackcloth their vesture.

⁴The Lord GOD has given me a well-trained tongue, That I might know how to speak to the weary a word that will rouse them. Morning after morning he opens my ear that I may hear;

⁵And I have not rebelled, have not turned back.

⁶I gave my back to those who beat me, my cheeks to those who plucked my beard; My face I did not shield from buffets and spitting.

⁷The Lord GOD is my help, therefore I am not disgraced; I have set my face like flint, knowing that I shall not be put to shame.

⁸He is near who upholds my right; if anyone wishes to oppose me, let us appear together. Who disputes my right? Let him confront me.

⁹See, the Lord GOD is my help; who will prove me wrong? Lo, they will all wear out like cloth, the moth will eat them up.

¹⁰Who among you fears the LORD, heeds his servant's voice, And walks in darkness without any light, Trusting in the name of the LORD and relying on his God?

¹¹All of you kindle flames and carry about you fiery darts; Walk by the light of your own fire and by the flares you have burnt! This is your fate from my hand: you shall lie down in a place of pain.

51 Listen to me, you who pursue justice, who seek the LORD; Look to the rock from which you were hewn, to the pit from which you were quarried;

²Look to Abraham, your father, and to Sarah, who gave you birth; When he was but one I called him, I blessed him and made him many.

³Yes, the LORD shall comfort Zion and have pity on all her ruins; Her deserts he shall make like Eden, her wasteland like the garden of the LORD; Joy and gladness shall be found in her, thanksgiving and the sound of song.

⁴Be attentive to me, my people; my folk, give ear to me. For law shall go forth from my presence, and my judgment, as the light of the peoples.

⁵I will make my justice come speedily; my salvation shall go forth (and my arm shall judge the nations); In me shall the coastlands hope, and my arm they shall await.

⁶Raise your eyes to the heavens, and look at the earth below; Though the heavens grow thin like smoke, the earth wears out like a garment and its inhabitants die like flies, My salvation shall remain forever and my justice shall never be dismayed.

⁷Hear me, you who know justice, you people who have my teaching at heart: Fear not the reproach of men, be not dismayed at their revilings.

⁸They shall be like a garment eaten by moths, like wool consumed by grubs; But my justice shall remain forever and my salvation, for all generations.

⁹Awake, awake, put on strength, O arm of the LORD! Awake as in the days of old, in ages long ago! Was it not you who crushed Rahab, you who pierced the dragon?

¹⁰Was it not you who dried up the sea, the waters of the great deep, Who made the depths of the sea into a way for the redeemed to pass over?

¹¹Those whom the LORD has ransomed will return and enter Zion singing, crowned with everlasting joy; They will meet with joy and gladness, sorrow and mourning will flee.

¹²I, it is I who comfort you. Can you then fear mortal man, who is human only, to be looked upon as grass, ¹³And forget the LORD, your maker, who stretched out the heavens and laid the foundations of the earth? All the day you are in constant dread of the fury of the oppressor; But when he sets himself to destroy, what is there of the oppressor's fury?

¹⁴The oppressed shall soon be released; they shall not die and go down into the pit, nor shall they want for bread.

¹⁵For I am the LORD, your God, who stirs up the sea so that its waves roar; the LORD of hosts by name.

¹⁶I have put my words into your mouth and shielded you in the shadow of my hand, I, who stretched out the heavens, who laid the foundations of the earth, who say to Zion: You are my people.

¹⁷Awake, awake! Arise, O Jerusalem, You who drank at the LORD'S hand the cup of his wrath; Who drained to the dregs the bowl of staggering!

¹⁸She has no one to guide her of all the sons she bore; She has no one to grasp her by the hand, of all the sons she reared!--

¹⁹Your misfortunes are double; who is there to condole with you? Desolation and destruction, famine and sword! Who is there to comfort you?

²⁰Your sons lie helpless at every street corner like antelopes in a net. They are filled with the wrath of the LORD, the rebuke of your God.

²¹But now, hear this, O afflicted one, drunk, but not with wine,

²²Thus says the LORD, your Master, your God, who defends his people: See, I am taking from your hand the cup of staggering; The bowl of my wrath you shall no longer drink.

²³I will put it into the hands of your tormentors, those who ordered you to bow down, that they might walk over you, While you offered your back like the ground, like the street for them to walk on.

52 Awake, awake! Put on your strength, O Zion; Put on your glorious garments, O Jerusalem, holy city. No longer shall the uncircumcised or the unclean enter you.

² Shake off the dust, ascend to the throne, Jerusalem; Loose the bonds from your neck, O captive daughter Zion!

³ For thus says the LORD: You were sold for nothing, and without money you shall be redeemed.

⁴ Thus says the Lord GOD: To Egypt in the beginning my people went down, to sojourn there; Assyria, too, oppressed them for nought.

⁵ But now, what am I to do here? says the LORD. My people have been taken away without redress; their rulers make a boast of it, says the LORD; all the day my name is constantly reviled.

⁶ Therefore on that day my people shall know my renown, that it is I who have foretold it. Here I am!

⁷ How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him who brings glad tidings, Announcing peace, bearing good news, announcing salvation, and saying to Zion, "Your God is King!"

⁸ Hark! Your watchmen raise a cry, together they shout for joy, For they see directly, before their eyes, the LORD restoring Zion.

⁹ Break out together in song, O ruins of Jerusalem! For the LORD comforts his people, he redeems Jerusalem.

¹⁰ The LORD has bared his holy arm in the sight of all the nations; All the ends of the earth will behold the salvation of our God.

¹¹ Depart, depart, come forth from there, touch nothing unclean! Out from there! Purify yourselves, you who carry the vessels of the LORD.

¹² Yet not in fearful haste will you come out, nor leave in headlong flight, For the LORD comes before you, and your rear guard is the God of Israel.

¹³ See, my servant shall prosper, he shall be raised high and greatly exalted.

¹⁴Even as many were amazed at him-- so marred was his look beyond that of man, and his appearance beyond that of mortals--

¹⁵So shall he startle many nations, because of him kings shall stand speechless; For those who have not been told shall see, those who have not heard shall ponder it.

53 Who would believe what we have heard? To whom has the arm of the LORD been revealed?

²He grew up like a sapling before him, like a shoot from the parched earth; There was in him no stately bearing to make us look at him, nor appearance that would attract us to him.

³He was spurned and avoided by men, a man of suffering, accustomed to infirmity, One of those from whom men hide their faces, spurned, and we held him in no esteem.

⁴Yet it was our infirmities that he bore, our sufferings that he endured, While we thought of him as stricken, as one smitten by God and afflicted.

⁵But he was pierced for our offenses, crushed for our sins, Upon him was the chastisement that makes us whole, by his stripes we were healed.

⁶We had all gone astray like sheep, each following his own way; But the LORD laid upon him the guilt of us all.

⁷Though he was harshly treated, he submitted and opened not his mouth; Like a lamb led to the slaughter or a sheep before the shearers, he was silent and opened not his mouth.

⁸Oppressed and condemned, he was taken away, and who would have thought any more of his destiny? When he was cut off from the land of the living, and smitten for the sin of his people,

⁹A grave was assigned him among the wicked and a burial place with evildoers, Though he had done no wrong nor spoken any falsehood.

¹⁰(But the LORD was pleased to crush him in infirmity.) If he gives his life as an offering for sin, he shall see his descendants in a long life, and the will of the LORD shall be accomplished through him.

¹Because of his affliction he shall see the light in fullness of days; Through his suffering, my servant shall justify many, and their guilt he shall bear.

²Therefore I will give him his portion among the great, and he shall divide the spoils with the mighty, Because he surrendered himself to death and was counted among the wicked; And he shall take away the sins of many, and win pardon for their offenses.

54Raise a glad cry, you barren one who did not bear, break forth in jubilant song, you who were not in labor, For more numerous are the children of the deserted wife than the children of her who has a husband, says the LORD.

²Enlarge the space for your tent, spread out your tent cloths unsparingly; lengthen your ropes and make firm your stakes.

³For you shall spread abroad to the right and to the left; Your descendants shall dispossess the nations and shall people the desolate cities.

⁴Fear not, you shall not be put to shame; you need not blush, for you shall not be disgraced. The shame of your youth you shall forget, the reproach of your widowhood no longer remember.

⁵For he who has become your husband is your Maker; his name is the LORD of hosts; Your redeemer is the Holy One of Israel, called God of all the earth.

⁶The LORD calls you back, like a wife forsaken and grieved in spirit, A wife married in youth and then cast off, says your God.

⁷For a brief moment I abandoned you, but with great tenderness I will take you back.

⁸In an outburst of wrath, for a moment I hid my face from you; But with enduring love I take pity on you, says the LORD, your redeemer.

⁹This is for me like the days of Noah, when I swore that the waters of Noah should never again deluge the earth; So I have sworn not to be angry with you, or to rebuke you.

¹⁰Though the mountains leave their place and the hills be shaken, My love shall never leave you nor my covenant of peace be shaken, says the LORD, who has mercy on you.

¹¹O afflicted one, storm-battered and unconsolated, I lay your pavements in carnelians, and your foundations in sapphires;

¹²I will make your battlements of rubies, your gates of carbuncles, and all your walls of precious stones.

¹³All your sons shall be taught by the LORD, and great shall be the peace of your children.

¹⁴In justice shall you be established, far from the fear of oppression, where destruction cannot come near you.

¹⁵Should there be any attack, it shall not be of my making; whoever attacks you shall fall before you.

¹⁶Lo, I have created the craftsman who blows on the burning coals and forges weapons as his work; It is I also who have created the destroyer to work havoc.

¹⁷No weapon fashioned against you shall prevail; every tongue you shall prove false that launches an accusation against you. This is the lot of the servants of the LORD, their vindication from me, says the LORD.

55 All you who are thirsty, come to the water! You who have no money, come, receive grain and eat; Come, without paying and without cost, drink wine and milk!

²Why spend your money for what is not bread; your wages for what fails to satisfy? Heed me, and you shall eat well, you shall delight in rich fare.

³Come to me heedfully, listen, that you may have life. I will renew with you the everlasting covenant, the benefits assured to David.

⁴As I made him a witness to the peoples, a leader and commander of nations,

⁵So shall you summon a nation you knew not, and nations that knew you not shall run to you, Because of the LORD, your God, the Holy One of Israel, who has glorified you.

⁶Seek the LORD while he may be found, call him while he is near.

⁷Let the scoundrel forsake his way, and the wicked man his thoughts; Let him turn to the LORD for mercy; to our God, who is generous in forgiving.

⁸For my thoughts are not your thoughts, nor are your ways my ways, says the LORD.

⁹As high as the heavens are above the earth, so high are my ways above your ways and my thoughts above your thoughts.

¹⁰For just as from the heavens the rain and snow come down And do not return there till they have watered the earth, making it fertile and fruitful, Giving seed to him who sows and bread to him who eats,

¹¹So shall my word be that goes forth from my mouth; It shall not return to me void, but shall do my will, achieving the end for which I sent it.

¹²Yes, in joy you shall depart, in peace you shall be brought back; Mountains and hills shall break out in song before you, and all the trees of the countryside shall clap their hands.

¹³In place of the thornbush, the cypress shall grow, instead of nettles, the myrtle. This shall be to the LORD'S renown, an everlasting imperishable sign.

56 Thus says the LORD: Observe what is right, do what is just; for my salvation is about to come, my justice, about to be revealed.

²Happy is the man who does this, the son of man who holds to it; Who keeps the sabbath free from profanation, and his hand from any evildoing.

³Let not the foreigner say, when he would join himself to the LORD, "The LORD will surely exclude me from his people"; Nor let the eunuch say, "See, I am a dry tree."

⁴For thus says the LORD: To the eunuchs who observe my sabbaths and choose what pleases me and hold fast to my covenant,

⁵I will give, in my house and within my walls, a monument and a name Better than sons and daughters; an eternal, imperishable name will I give them.

⁶And the foreigners who join themselves to the LORD, ministering to him, Loving the name of the LORD, and becoming his servants-- All who keep the sabbath free from profanation and hold to my covenant,

⁷Them I will bring to my holy mountain and make joyful in my house of prayer; Their holocausts and sacrifices will be acceptable on my altar, For my house shall be called a house of prayer for all peoples.

⁸Thus says the Lord GOD, who gathers the dispersed of Israel: Others will I gather to him besides those already gathered.

⁹All you wild beasts of the field, come and eat, all you beasts in the forest!

¹⁰My watchmen are blind, all of them unaware; They are all dumb dogs, they cannot bark; Dreaming as they lie there, loving their sleep.

¹¹They are relentless dogs, they know not when they have enough. These are the shepherds who know no discretion; Each of them goes his own way, every one of them to his own gain:

¹²"Come, I will fetch some wine; let us carouse with strong drink, And tomorrow will be like today, or even greater."

57 The just man perishes, but no one takes it to heart; Devout men are swept away, with no one giving it a thought. Though he is taken away from the presence of evil, the just man

²enters into peace; There is rest on his couch for the sincere, straightforward man.

³But you, draw near, you sons of a sorceress, adulterous, wanton race!

⁴Of whom do you make sport, at whom do you open wide your mouth, and put out your tongue? Are you not rebellious children, a worthless race;

⁵You who are in heat among the terebinths, under every green tree; You who immolate children in the wadies, behind the crevices in the cliffs?

⁶Among the smooth stones of the wadi is your portion, these are your lot; To these you poured out libations, and brought offerings. Should I decide not to punish these things?

⁷Upon a high and lofty mountain you made your bed, and there you went up to offer sacrifice.

⁸Behind the door and the doorpost you placed your indecent symbol. Deserting me, you spread out your high, wide bed; And of those whose embraces you love you carved the symbol and gazed upon it

- ⁹While you approached the king with scented oil, and multiplied your perfumes; While you sent your ambassadors far away, down even to the nether world.
- ¹⁰Though worn out by your many misdeeds, you never said, "It is hopeless"; New strength you found, and so you did not weaken.
- ¹¹Of whom were you afraid? Whom did you fear, that you became false And did not remember me or give me any thought? Was I to remain silent and unseeing, so that you would not have me to fear?
- ¹²I will expose your justice and your works;
- ¹³They shall not help you when you cry out, nor save you in your distress. All these the wind shall carry off, the breeze shall bear away; But he who takes refuge in me shall inherit the land, and possess my holy mountain.
- ¹⁴Build up, build up, prepare the way, remove the stumbling blocks from my people's path.
- ¹⁵For thus says he who is high and exalted, living eternally, whose name is the Holy One: On high I dwell, and in holiness, and with the crushed and dejected in spirit, To revive the spirits of the dejected, to revive the hearts of the crushed.
- ¹⁶I will not accuse forever, nor always be angry; For their spirits would faint before me, the souls that I have made.
- ¹⁷Because of their wicked avarice I was angry, and struck them, hiding myself in wrath, as they went their own rebellious way.
- ¹⁸I saw their ways, but I will heal them and lead them; I will give full comfort to them and to those who mourn for them,
- ¹⁹I, the Creator, who gave them life. Peace, peace to the far and the near, says the LORD; and I will heal them.
- ²⁰But the wicked are like the tossing sea which cannot be calmed, And its waters cast up mud and filth.
- ²¹No peace for the wicked! says my God.

58 Cry out full-throated and unsparingly, lift up your voice like a trumpet blast; Tell my people their wickedness, and the house of Jacob their sins.

²They seek me day after day, and desire to know my ways, Like a nation that has done what is just and not abandoned the law of their God; They ask me to declare what is due them, pleased to gain access to God.

³"Why do we fast, and you do not see it? afflict ourselves, and you take no note of it?" Lo, on your fast day you carry out your own pursuits, and drive all your laborers.

⁴Yes, your fast ends in quarreling and fighting, striking with wicked claw. Would that today you might fast so as to make your voice heard on high!

⁵Is this the manner of fasting I wish, of keeping a day of penance: That a man bow his head like a reed, and lie in sackcloth and ashes? Do you call this a fast, a day acceptable to the LORD?

⁶This, rather, is the fasting that I wish: releasing those bound unjustly, untying the thongs of the yoke; Setting free the oppressed, breaking every yoke;

⁷Sharing your bread with the hungry, sheltering the oppressed and the homeless; Clothing the naked when you see them, and not turning your back on your own.

⁸Then your light shall break forth like the dawn, and your wound shall quickly be healed; Your vindication shall go before you, and the glory of the LORD shall be your rear guard.

⁹Then you shall call, and the LORD will answer, you shall cry for help, and he will say: Here I am! If you remove from your midst oppression, false accusation and malicious speech;

¹⁰If you bestow your bread on the hungry and satisfy the afflicted; Then light shall rise for you in the darkness, and the gloom shall become for you like midday;

¹¹Then the LORD will guide you always and give you plenty even on the parched land. He will renew your strength, and you shall be like a watered garden, like a spring whose water never fails.

¹²The ancient ruins shall be rebuilt for your sake, and the foundations from ages past you shall raise up; "Repairer of the breach," they shall call you, "Restorer of ruined homesteads."

¹³If you hold back your foot on the sabbath from following your own pursuits on my holy day; If you call the sabbath a delight, and the LORD'S holy day honorable; If you honor it by not following your ways, seeking your own interests, or speaking with malice--

¹⁴Then you shall delight in the LORD, and I will make you ride on the heights of the earth; I will nourish you with the heritage of Jacob, your father, for the mouth of the LORD has spoken.

59 Lo, the hand of the LORD is not too short to save, nor his ear too dull to hear.

²Rather, it is your crimes that separate you from your God, It is your sins that make him hide his face so that he will not hear you.

³For your hands are stained with blood, your fingers with guilt; Your lips speak falsehood, and your tongue utters deceit.

⁴No one brings suit justly, no one pleads truthfully; They trust in emptiness and tell lies; they conceive mischief and bring forth malice.

⁵They hatch adders' eggs, and weave spiders' webs: Whoever eats their eggs will die, if one of them is pressed, it will hatch as a viper;

⁶Their webs cannot serve as clothing, nor can they cover themselves with their works. Their works are evil works, and deeds of violence come from their hands.

⁷Their feet run to evil, and they are quick to shed innocent blood; Their thoughts are destructive thoughts, plunder and ruin are on their highways.

⁸The way of peace they know not, and there is nothing that is right in their paths; Their ways they have made crooked, whoever treads them knows no peace.

⁹That is why right is far from us and justice does not reach us. We look for light, and lo, darkness; for brightness, but we walk in gloom!

¹⁰Like blind men we grope along the wall, like people without eyes we feel our way. We stumble at midday as at dusk, in Stygian darkness, like the dead.

¹¹We all growl like bears, like doves we moan without ceasing. We look for right, but it is not there; for salvation, and it is far from us.

¹²For our offenses before you are many, our sins bear witness against us. Yes, our offenses are present to us, and our crimes we know:

¹³Transgressing, and denying the LORD, turning back from following our God, Threatening outrage, and apostasy, uttering words of falsehood the heart has conceived.

¹⁴Right is repelled, and justice stands far off; For truth stumbles in the public square, uprightness cannot enter.

¹⁵Honesty is lacking, and the man who turns from evil is despoiled. The LORD saw this, and was aggrieved that right did not exist.

¹⁶He saw that there was no one, and was appalled that there was none to intervene; So his own arm brought about the victory, and his justice lent him its support.

¹⁷He put on justice as his breastplate, salvation, as the helmet on his head; He clothed himself with garments of vengeance, wrapped himself in a mantle of zeal.

¹⁸He repays his enemies their deserts, and requites his foes with wrath.

¹⁹Those in the west shall fear the name of the LORD, and those in the east, his glory; For it shall come like a pent-up river which the breath of the LORD drives on.

²⁰He shall come to Zion a redeemer to those of Jacob who turn from sin, says the LORD.

²¹This is the covenant with them which I myself have made, says the LORD: My spirit which is upon you and my words that I have put into your mouth Shall never leave your mouth, nor the mouths of your children Nor the mouths of your children's children from now on and forever, says the LORD.

60 Rise up in splendor! Your light has come, the glory of the Lord shines upon you.

²See, darkness covers the earth, and thick clouds cover the peoples; But upon you the LORD shines, and over you appears his glory.

³Nations shall walk by your light, and kings by your shining radiance.

⁴Raise your eyes and look about; they all gather and come to you: Your sons come from afar, and your daughters in the arms of their nurses.

⁵Then you shall be radiant at what you see, your heart shall throb and overflow, For the riches of the sea shall be emptied out before you, the wealth of nations shall be brought to you.

⁶Caravans of camels shall fill you, dromedaries from Midian and Ephah; All from Sheba shall come bearing gold and frankincense, and proclaiming the praises of the LORD.

⁷All the flocks of Kedar shall be gathered for you, the rams of Nebaioth shall be your sacrifices; They will be acceptable offerings on my altar, and I will enhance the splendor of my house.

⁸What are these that fly along like clouds, like doves to their cotes?

⁹All the vessels of the sea are assembled, with the ships of Tarshish in the lead, To bring your children from afar with their silver and gold, In the name of the LORD, your God, the Holy One of Israel, who has glorified you.

¹⁰Foreigners shall rebuild your walls, and their kings shall be your attendants; Though I struck you in my wrath, yet in my good will I have shown you mercy.

¹¹Your gates shall stand open constantly; day and night they shall not be closed But shall admit to you the wealth of nations, and their kings, in the vanguard.

¹²For the people or kingdom shall perish that does not serve you; those nations shall be utterly destroyed.

¹³The glory of Lebanon shall come to you: the cypress, the plane and the pine, To bring beauty to my sanctuary, and glory to the place where I set my feet.

¹⁴The children of your oppressors shall come, bowing low before you; All those who despised you shall fall prostrate at your feet. They shall call you "City of the LORD," "Zion of the Holy One of Israel."

¹⁵Once you were forsaken, hated and unvisited, Now I will make you the pride of the ages, a joy to generation after generation.

¹⁶You shall suck the milk of nations, and be nursed at royal breasts; You shall know that I, the LORD, am your savior, your redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob.

¹⁷In place of bronze I will bring gold, instead of iron, silver; In place of wood, bronze, instead of stones, iron; I will appoint peace your governor, and justice your ruler.

¹⁸No longer shall violence be heard of in your land, or plunder and ruin within your boundaries. You shall call your walls "Salvation" and your gates "Praise."

¹⁹No longer shall the sun be your light by day, Nor the brightness of the moon shine upon you at night; The LORD shall be your light forever, your God shall be your glory.

²⁰No longer shall your sun go down, or your moon withdraw, For the LORD will be your light forever, and the days of your mourning shall be at an end.

²¹Your people shall all be just, they shall always possess the land, They, the bud of my planting, my handiwork to show my glory.

²²The smallest shall become a thousand, the youngest, a mighty nation; I, the LORD, will swiftly accomplish these things when their time comes.

61 The spirit of the Lord GOD is upon me, because the LORD has anointed me; He has sent me to bring glad tidings to the lowly, to heal the brokenhearted, To proclaim liberty to the captives and release to the prisoners,

²To announce a year of favor from the LORD and a day of vindication by our God, to comfort all who mourn;

³To place on those who mourn in Zion a diadem instead of ashes, To give them oil of gladness in place of mourning, a glorious mantle instead of a listless spirit. They will be called oaks of justice, planted by the LORD to show his glory.

⁴They shall rebuild the ancient ruins, the former wastes they shall raise up And restore the ruined cities, desolate now for generations.

⁵Strangers shall stand ready to pasture your flocks, foreigners shall be your farmers and vinedressers.

⁶You yourselves shall be named priests of the LORD, ministers of our God you shall be called. You shall eat the wealth of the nations and boast of riches from them.

⁷Since their shame was double and disgrace and spittle were their portion, They shall have a double inheritance in their land, everlasting joy shall be theirs.

⁸For I, the LORD, love what is right, I hate robbery and injustice; I will give them their recompense faithfully, a lasting covenant I will make with them.

⁹Their descendants shall be renowned among the nations, and their offspring among the peoples; All who see them shall acknowledge them as a race the LORD has blessed.

¹⁰I rejoice heartily in the LORD, in my God is the joy of my soul; For he has clothed me with a robe of salvation, and wrapped me in a mantle of justice, Like a bridegroom adorned with a diadem, like a bride bedecked with her jewels.

¹¹As the earth brings forth its plants, and a garden makes its growth spring up, So will the Lord GOD make justice and praise spring up before all the nations.

62 For Zion's sake I will not be silent, for Jerusalem's sake I will not be quiet, Until her vindication shines forth like the dawn and her victory like a burning torch.

²Nations shall behold your vindication, and all kings your glory; You shall be called by a new name pronounced by the mouth of the LORD.

³You shall be a glorious crown in the hand of the LORD, a royal diadem held by your God.

⁴No more shall men call you "Forsaken," or your land "Desolate," But you shall be called "My Delight," and your land "Espoused." For the LORD delights in you, and makes your land his spouse.

⁵As a young man marries a virgin, your Builder shall marry you; And as a bridegroom rejoices in his bride so shall your God rejoice in you.

⁶Upon your walls, O Jerusalem, I have stationed watchmen; Never, by day or by night, shall they be silent. O you who are to remind the LORD, take no rest

⁷And give no rest to him, until he re-establishes Jerusalem And makes of it the pride of the earth.

⁸The LORD has sworn by his right hand and by his mighty arm: No more will I give your grain as food to your enemies; Nor shall foreigners drink your wine, for which you toiled.

⁹But you who harvest the grain shall eat it, and you shall praise the LORD; You who gather the grapes shall drink the wine in the courts of my sanctuary.

¹⁰Pass through, pass through the gates, prepare the way for the people; Build up, build up the highway, clear it of stones, raise up a standard over the nations.

¹¹See, the LORD proclaims to the ends of the earth: Say to daughter Zion, your savior comes! Here is his reward with him, his recompense before him.

¹²They shall be called the holy people, the redeemed of the LORD, And you shall be called "Frequented," a city that is not forsaken.

63 Who is this that comes from Edom, in crimsoned garments, from Bozrah- This one arrayed in majesty, marching in the greatness of his strength? "It is I, I who announce vindication, I who am mighty to save."

²Why is your apparel red, and your garments like those of the wine presser?

³"The wine press I have trodden alone, and of my people there was no one with me. I trod them in my anger, and trampled them down in my wrath; Their blood spurted on my garments; all my apparel I stained.

⁴For the day of vengeance was in my heart, my year for redeeming was at hand.

⁵I looked about, but there was no one to help, I was appalled that there was no one to lend support; So my own arm brought about the victory and my own wrath lent me its support.

⁶I trampled down the peoples in my anger, I crushed them in my wrath, and I let their blood run out upon the ground."

⁷The favors of the LORD I will recall, the glorious deeds of the LORD, Because of all he has done for us; for he is good to the house of Israel, He has favored us according to his mercy and his great kindness.

⁸He said: They are indeed my people, children who are not disloyal; So he became their savior

⁹in their every affliction. It was not a messenger or an angel, but he himself who saved them. Because of his love and pity he redeemed them himself, Lifting them and carrying them all the days of old.

¹⁰But they rebelled, and grieved his holy spirit; So he turned on them like an enemy, and fought against them.

¹¹Then they remembered the days of old and Moses, his servant; Where is he who brought up out of the sea the shepherd of his flock? Where is he who put his holy spirit in their midst;

¹²Whose glorious arm was the guide at Moses' right; Who divided the waters before them, winning for himself eternal renown;

¹³Who led them without stumbling through the depths like horses in the open country,

¹⁴Like cattle going down into the plain, the spirit of the LORD guiding them? Thus you led your people, bringing glory to your name.

¹⁵Look down from heaven and regard us from your holy and glorious palace! Where is your zealous care and your might, your surge of pity and your mercy? O Lord, hold not back, ¹⁶for you are our father. Were Abraham not to know us, nor Israel to acknowledge us, You, LORD, are our father, our redeemer you are named forever.

¹⁷Why do you let us wander, O LORD, from your ways, and harden our hearts so that we fear you not? Return for the sake of your servants, the tribes of your heritage.

¹⁸Why have the wicked invaded your holy place, why have our enemies trampled your sanctuary?

¹⁹Too long have we been like those you do not rule, who do not bear your name. Oh, that you would rend the heavens and come down, with the mountains quaking before you,

64As when brushwood is set ablaze, or fire makes the water boil! Thus your name would be made known to your enemies and the nations would tremble before you,

²While you wrought awesome deeds we could not hope for,

³such as they had not heard of from of old. No ear has ever heard, no eye ever seen, any God but you doing such deeds for those who wait for him.

⁴Would that you might meet us doing right, that we were mindful of you in our ways! Behold, you are angry, and we are sinful;

⁵all of us have become like unclean men, all our good deeds are like polluted rags; We have all withered like leaves, and our guilt carries us away like the wind.

⁶There is none who calls upon your name, who rouses himself to cling to you; For you have hidden your face from us and have delivered us up to our guilt.

⁷Yet, O LORD, you are our father; we are the clay and you the potter: we are all the work of your hands.

⁸Be not so very angry, LORD, keep not our guilt forever in mind; look upon us, who are all your people.

⁹Your holy cities have become a desert, Zion is a desert, Jerusalem a waste.

¹⁰Our holy and glorious temple in which our fathers praised you Has been burned with fire; all that was dear to us is laid waste.

¹¹Can you hold back, O LORD, after all this? Can you remain silent, and afflict us so severely?

65 I was ready to respond to those who asked me not, to be found by those who sought me not. I said: Here I am! Here I am! To a nation that did not call upon my name.

²I have stretched out my hands all the day to a rebellious people, Who walk in evil paths and follow their own thoughts,

³People who provoke me continually, to my face, Offering sacrifices in the groves and burning incense on bricks,

⁴Living among the graves and spending the night in caverns, Eating swine's flesh, with carrion broth in their dishes,

⁵Crying out, "Hold back, do not touch me; I am too sacred for you!" These things enkindle my wrath, a fire that burns all the day.

⁶Lo, before me it stands written; I will not be quiet until I have paid in full ⁷Your crimes and the crimes of your fathers as well, says the LORD. Since they burned incense on the mountains, and disgraced me on the hills, I will at once pour out in full measure their recompense into their laps.

⁸Thus says the LORD: When the juice is pressed from grapes, men say, "Do not discard them, for there is still good in them"; Thus will I do with my servants: I will not discard them all;

⁹From Jacob I will save offspring, from Judah, those who are to inherit my mountains; My chosen ones shall inherit the land, my servants shall dwell there.

¹⁰Sharon shall be a pasture for the flocks and the valley of Achor a resting place for the cattle of my people who have sought me.

¹¹But you who forsake the LORD, forgetting my holy mountain, You who spread a table for Fortune and fill cups of blended wine for Destiny,

¹²You I will destine for the sword; you shall all go down in slaughter. Since I called and you did not answer, I spoke and you did not listen, But did what was evil in my sight and preferred things which displease me,

¹³therefore thus says the Lord GOD: Lo, my servants shall eat, but you shall go hungry; My servants shall drink, but you shall be thirsty; My servants shall rejoice, but you shall be put to shame;

¹⁴My servants shall shout for joy of heart, But you shall cry out for grief of heart and howl for anguish of spirit.

¹⁵The Lord GOD shall slay you, and the name you leave Shall be used by my chosen ones for cursing; but my servants shall be called by another name

¹⁶By which he will be blessed on whom a blessing is invoked in the land; He who takes an oath in the land shall swear by the God of truth; For the hardships of the past shall be forgotten, and hidden from my eyes.

¹⁷Lo, I am about to create new heavens and a new earth; The things of the past shall not be remembered or come to mind.

¹⁸Instead, there shall always be rejoicing and happiness in what I create; For I create Jerusalem to be a joy and its people to be a delight;

¹⁹I will rejoice in Jerusalem and exult in my people. No longer shall the sound of weeping be heard there, or the sound of crying;

²⁰No longer shall there be in it an infant who lives but a few days, or an old man who does not round out his full lifetime; He dies a mere youth who reaches but a hundred years, and he who fails of a hundred shall be thought accursed.

²¹They shall live in the houses they build, and eat the fruit of the vineyards they plant;

²²They shall not build houses for others to live in, or plant for others to eat. As the years of a tree, so the years of my people; and my chosen ones shall long enjoy the produce of their hands.

²³They shall not toil in vain, nor beget children for sudden destruction; For a race blessed by the LORD are they and their offspring.

²⁴Before they call, I will answer; while they are yet speaking, I will hearken to them.

²⁵The wolf and the lamb shall graze alike, and the lion shall eat hay like the ox (but the serpent's food shall be dust). None shall hurt or destroy on all my holy mountain, says the LORD.

66 Thus says the LORD: The heavens are my throne, the earth is my footstool. What kind of house can you build for me; what is to be my resting place?

²My hand made all these things when all of them came to be, says the LORD. This is the one whom I approve: the lowly and afflicted man who trembles at my word.

³Merely slaughtering an ox is like slaying a man; sacrificing a lamb, like breaking a dog's neck; Bringing a cereal offering, like offering swine's blood; burning incense, like paying homage to an idol. Since these have chosen their own ways and taken pleasure in their own abominations,

⁴I in turn will choose ruthless treatment for them and bring upon them what they fear. Because, when I called, no one answered, when I spoke, no one listened; Because they did what was evil in my sight, and chose what gave me displeasure, ⁵Hear the word of the LORD, you who tremble at his word: Your brethren who, because of my name, hate and reject you, say, "Let the LORD show his glory that we may see your joy"; but they shall be put to shame.

⁶A sound of roaring from the city, a sound from the temple, The sound of the LORD repaying his enemies their deserts!

⁷Before she comes to labor, she gives birth; Before the pains come upon her, she safely delivers a male child.

⁸Who ever heard of such a thing, or saw the like? Can a country be brought forth in one day, or a nation be born in a single moment? Yet Zion is scarcely in labor when she gives birth to her children.

⁹Shall I bring a mother to the point of birth, and yet not let her child be born? says the LORD; Or shall I who allow her to conceive, yet close her womb? says your God.

¹⁰Rejoice with Jerusalem and be glad because of her, all you who love her; Exult, exult with her, all you who were mourning over her!

¹¹Oh, that you may suck fully of the milk of her comfort, That you may nurse with delight at her abundant breasts!

¹²For thus says the LORD: Lo, I will spread prosperity over her like a river, and the wealth of the nations like an overflowing torrent. As nurslings, you shall be carried in her arms, and fondled in her lap;

¹³As a mother comforts her son, so will I comfort you; in Jerusalem you shall find your comfort.

¹⁴When you see this, your heart shall rejoice, and your bodies flourish like the grass; The LORD'S power shall be known to his servants, but to his enemies, his wrath.

¹⁵Lo, the LORD shall come in fire, his chariots like the whirlwind, To wreak his wrath with burning heat and his punishment with fiery flames.

¹⁶For the LORD shall judge all mankind by fire and sword. and many shall be slain by the LORD.

¹⁷They who sanctify and purify themselves to go to the groves, as followers of one who stands within, they who eat swine's flesh, loathsome things and mice, shall all perish with their deeds and their thoughts, says the LORD.

¹⁸I come to gather nations of every language; they shall come and see my glory.

¹⁹I will set a sign among them; from them I will send fugitives to the nations: to Tarshish, Put and Lud, Mosoch, Tubal and Javan, to the distant coastlands that have never heard of my fame, or seen my glory; and they shall proclaim my glory among the nations.

²⁰They shall bring all your brethren from all the nations as an offering to the LORD, on horses and in chariots, in carts, upon mules and dromedaries, to Jerusalem, my holy mountain, says the LORD, just as the Israelites bring their offering to the house of the LORD in clean vessels.

²¹Some of these I will take as priests and Levites, says the LORD.

²²As the new heavens and the new earth which I will make Shall endure before me, says the LORD, so shall your race and your name endure.

²³From one new moon to another, and from one sabbath to another, All mankind shall come to worship before me, says the LORD.

²⁴They shall go out and see the corpses of the men who rebelled against me; Their worm shall not die, nor their fire be extinguished; and they shall be abhorrent to all mankind.

Jeremiah

1 The words of Jeremiah, son of Hilkiah, of a priestly family in Anathoth, in the land of Benjamin.

2 The word of the LORD first came to him in the days of Josiah, son of Amon, king of Judah, in the thirteenth year of his reign,

3 and continued through the reign of Jehoiakim, son of Josiah, king of Judah, and until the downfall and exile of Jerusalem in the fifth month of the eleventh year of Zedekiah, son of Josiah, king of Judah.

4 The word of the LORD came to me thus:

5 Before I formed you in the womb I knew you, before you were born I dedicated you, a prophet to the nations I appointed you.

6 "Ah, Lord GOD!" I said, "I know not how to speak; I am too young."

7 But the LORD answered me, Say not, "I am too young." To whomever I send you, you shall go; whatever I command you, you shall speak.

8 Have no fear before them, because I am with you to deliver you, says the LORD.

9 Then the LORD extended his hand and touched my mouth, saying, See, I place my words in your mouth!

10 This day I set you over nations and over kingdoms, To root up and to tear down, to destroy and to demolish, to build and to plant.

11 The word of the LORD came to me with the question: What do you see, Jeremiah? "I see a branch of the watching-tree," I replied.

12 Then the LORD said to me: Well have you seen, for I am watching to fulfill my word.

13 A second time the word of the LORD came to me with the question: What do you see? "I see a boiling cauldron," I replied, "that appears from the north."

¹⁴And from the north, said the LORD to me, evil will boil over upon all who dwell in the land.

¹⁵Lo, I am summoning all the kingdoms of the north, says the LORD; Each king shall come and set up his throne at the gateways of Jerusalem, Opposite her walls all around and opposite all the cities of Judah.

¹⁶I will pronounce my sentence against them for all their wickedness in forsaking me, And in burning incense to strange gods and adoring their own handiwork.

¹⁷But do you gird your loins; stand up and tell them all that I command you. Be not crushed on their account, as though I would leave you crushed before them;

¹⁸For it is I this day who have made you a fortified city, A pillar of iron, a wall of brass, against the whole land: Against Judah's kings and princes, against its priests and people.

¹⁹They will fight against you, but not prevail over you, for I am with you to deliver you, says the LORD.

2 This word of the LORD came to me:

²Go, cry out this message for Jerusalem to hear! I remember the devotion of your youth, how you loved me as a bride, Following me in the desert, in a land unsown.

³Sacred to the LORD was Israel, the first fruits of his harvest; Should anyone presume to partake of them, evil would befall him, says the LORD.

⁴Listen to the word of the LORD, O house of Jacob! All you clans of the house of Israel, ⁵thus says the LORD: What fault did your fathers find in me that they withdrew from me, Went after empty idols, and became empty themselves?

⁶They did not ask, "Where is the LORD who brought us up from the land of Egypt, Who led us through the desert, through a land of wastes and gullies, Through a land of drought and darkness, through a land which no one crosses, where no man dwells?"

⁷When I brought you into the garden land to eat its goodly fruits, You entered and defiled my land, you made my heritage loathsome.

⁸The priests asked not, "Where is the LORD?" Those who dealt with the law knew me not: the shepherds rebelled against me. The prophets prophesied by Baal, and went after useless idols.

⁹Therefore will I yet accuse you, says the LORD, and even your children's children I will accuse.

¹⁰Pass over to the coast of the Kittim and see, send to Kedar and carefully inquire: Where has the like of this been done?

¹¹Does any other nation change its gods?-- yet they are not gods at all! But my people have changed their glory for useless things.

¹²Be amazed at this, O heavens, and shudder with sheer horror, says the LORD.

¹³Two evils have my people done: they have forsaken me, the source of living waters; They have dug themselves cisterns, broken cisterns, that hold no water.

¹⁴Is Israel a slave, a bondman by birth? Why then has he become booty?

¹⁵Against him lions roar full-throated cries. They have made his land a waste; his cities are charred ruins, without inhabitant.

¹⁶Yes, the people of Memphis and Tahpanhes shave the crown of your head.

¹⁷Has not the forsaking of the LORD, your God, done this to you?

¹⁸And now, why go to Egypt, to drink the waters of the Nile? Why go to Assyria, to drink the waters of the Euphrates?

¹⁹Your own wickedness chastises you, your own infidelities punish you. Know then, and see, how evil and bitter is your forsaking the LORD, your God, And showing no fear of me, says the Lord, the GOD of hosts.

²⁰Long ago you broke your yoke, you tore off your bonds. "I will not serve," you said. On every high hill, under every green tree, you gave yourself to harlotry.

²¹I had planted you, a choice vine of fully tested stock; How could you turn out obnoxious to me, a spurious vine?

²²Though you scour it with soap, and use much lye, The stain of your guilt is still before me, says the Lord GOD.

²³How can you say, "I am not defiled, I have not gone after the Baals"? Consider your conduct in the Valley, recall what you have done: A frenzied she-camel, coursing near and far, ²⁴breaking away toward the desert, Snuffing the wind in her ardor-- who can restrain her lust? No beasts need tire themselves seeking her; in her month they will meet her.

²⁵Stop wearing out your shoes and parching your throat! But you say, "No use! no! I love these strangers, and after them I must go."

²⁶As the thief is shamed when caught, so shall the house of Israel be shamed: They, their kings and their princes, their priests and their prophets;

²⁷They who say to a piece of wood, "You are my father," and to a stone, "You gave me birth." They turn to me their backs, not their faces; yet, in their time of trouble they cry out, "Rise up and save us!"

²⁸Where are the gods you made for yourselves? Let them rise up! Will they save you in your time of trouble? For as numerous as your cities are your gods, O Judah! And as many as the streets of Jerusalem are the altars you have set up for Baal.

²⁹How dare you still plead with me? You have all rebelled against me, says the LORD.

³⁰In vain I struck your children; the correction they did not take. Your sword devoured your prophets like a ravaging lion.

³¹You, of this generation, take note of the word of the Lord: Have I been a desert to Israel, a land of darkness? Why do my people say, "We have moved on, we will come to you no more"?

³²Does a virgin forget her jewelry, a bride her sash? Yet my people have forgotten me days without number.

³³How well you pick your way when seeking love! You who, in your wickedness, have gone by ways unclean!

³⁴You, on whose clothing there is the life-blood of the innocent, whom you found committing no burglary;

³⁵Yet withal you say, "I am innocent; at least, his anger is turned away from me." Behold, I will judge you on that word of yours, "I have not sinned."

³⁶How very base you have become in changing your course! By Egypt will you be shamed, as you were shamed by Assyria.

³⁷From there also shall you go away with hands upon your head; For the LORD has rejected those in whom you trust, with them you will have no success.

3 If a man sends away his wife and, after leaving him, she marries another man, Does the first husband come back to her? Would not the land be wholly defiled? But you have sinned with many lovers, and yet you would return to me! says the LORD.

²Lift your eyes to the heights, and see, where have men not lain with you? By the waysides you waited for them like an Arab in the desert. You defiled the land by your wicked harlotry.

³Therefore the showers were withheld, the spring rain failed. But because you have a harlot's brow, you refused to blush.

⁴Even now do you not call me, "My father, you who are the bridegroom of my youth"?

⁵"Will he keep his wrath forever, will he hold his grudge to the end?" This is what you say; yet you do all the evil you can.

⁶The LORD said to me in the days of King Josiah: See now what rebellious Israel has done! She has gone up every high mountain, and under every green tree she has played the harlot.

⁷And I thought, after she has done all this she will return to me. But she did not return. Then, even though her traitor sister Judah saw ⁸that for all the adulteries rebellious Israel had committed, I put her away and gave her a bill of divorce, nevertheless her traitor sister Judah was not frightened; she too went off and played the harlot.

⁹Eager to sin, she polluted the land, committing adultery with stone and wood.

¹⁰With all this, the traitor sister Judah did not return to me wholeheartedly, but insincerely, says the LORD.

¹¹Then the LORD said to me: Rebel Israel is inwardly more just than traitorous Judah.

¹²Go, proclaim these words toward the north, and say: Return, rebel Israel, says the LORD, I will not remain angry with you; For I am merciful, says the LORD, I will not continue my wrath forever.

¹³Only know your guilt: how you rebelled against the LORD, your God, How you ran hither and yon to strangers (under every green tree) and would not listen to my voice, says the LORD.

¹⁴Return, rebellious children, says the LORD, for I am your Master; I will take you, one from a city, two from a clan, and bring you to Zion.

¹⁵I will appoint over you shepherds after my own heart, who will shepherd you wisely and prudently.

¹⁶When you multiply and become fruitful in the land, says the LORD, They will in those days no longer say, "The ark of the covenant of the LORD!" They will no longer think of it, or remember it, or miss it, or make another.

¹⁷At that time they will call Jerusalem the LORD'S throne; there all nations will be gathered together to honor the name of the LORD at Jerusalem, and they will walk no longer in their hardhearted wickedness.

¹⁸In those days the house of Judah will join the house of Israel; together they will come from the land of the north to the land which I gave to your fathers as a heritage.

¹⁹I had thought: How I should like to treat you as sons, And give you a pleasant land, a heritage most beautiful among the nations! You would call me, "My Father," I thought, and never cease following me.

²⁰But like a woman faithless to her lover, even so have you been faithless to me, O house of Israel, says the LORD.

²¹A cry is heard on the heights! the plaintive weeping of Israel's children, Because they have perverted their ways and forgotten the LORD, their God.

²²Return, rebellious children, and I will cure you of your rebelling. "Here we are, we now come to you because you are the LORD, our God.

²³Deceptive indeed are the hills, the thronging mountains; In the LORD, our God, alone is the salvation of Israel.

²⁴The shame-god has devoured our fathers' toil from our youth, Their sheep and their cattle, their sons and their daughters.

²⁵Let us lie down in our shame, let our disgrace cover us, for we have sinned against the LORD, our God, From our youth to this day, we and our fathers also; we listened not to the voice of the LORD, our God."

4 If you wish to return, O Israel, says the LORD, return to me. If you put your detestable things out of my sight, and do not stray, ²Then you can swear, "As the LORD lives," in truth, in judgment, and in justice; Then shall the nations use his name in blessing, and glory in him.

³For to the men of Judah and to Jerusalem, thus says the LORD: Till your untilled ground, sow not among thorns.

⁴For the sake of the LORD, be circumcised, remove the foreskins of your hearts, O men of Judah and citizens of Jerusalem; Lest my anger break out like fire, and burn till none can quench it, because of your evil deeds.

⁵Proclaim it in Judah, make it heard in Jerusalem; Blow the trumpet through the land, summon the recruits! Say, "Fall in, let us march to the fortified cities."

⁶Bear the standard to Zion, seek refuge without delay! Evil I bring from the north, and great destruction.

⁷Up comes the lion from his lair, the destroyer of nations has set out, has left his place, To turn your land into desolation, till your cities lie waste and empty.

⁸So gird yourselves with sackcloth, mourn and wail: "The blazing wrath of the LORD is not turned away from us."

⁹In that day, says the LORD, The king will lose heart, and the princes; the priests will be amazed, and the prophets stunned.

¹⁰"Alas! Lord GOD," they will say, "You only deceived us When you said: Peace shall be yours; for the sword touches our very soul."

¹¹At that time it will be said of this people and of Jerusalem, "From the glaring heights through the desert a wind comes toward the daughter of my people." Not to winnow, not to cleanse, ¹²does this wind from the heights come at my bidding; And I myself now pronounce sentence upon them.

¹³See! like storm clouds he advances, like a hurricane his chariots; Swifter than eagles are his steeds: "Woe to us! we are ruined."

¹⁴Cleanse your heart of evil, O Jerusalem, that you may be saved. How long must your pernicious thoughts lodge within you?

¹⁵Listen! They proclaim it from Dan, from Mount Ephraim they announce destruction:

¹⁶"Make this known to the nations, announce it to Jerusalem: The besiegers are coming from the distant land, shouting their war cry against the cities of Judah."

¹⁷Like watchmen of the fields they surround her, for she has rebelled against me, says the LORD.

¹⁸Your conduct, your misdeeds, have done this to you; how bitter is this disaster of yours, how it reaches to your very heart!

¹⁹My breast! my breast! how I suffer! The walls of my heart! My heart beats wildly, I cannot be still; For I have heard the sound of the trumpet, the alarm of war.

²⁰Ruin after ruin is reported; the whole earth is laid waste. In an instant my tents are ravaged; in a flash, my shelters.

²¹How long must I see that signal, hear that trumpet sound!

²²Fools my people are, they know me not; Senseless children they are, having no understanding; They are wise in evil, but know not how to do good.

²³I looked at the earth, and it was waste and void; at the heavens, and their light had gone out!

²⁴I looked at the mountains, and they were trembling, and all the hills were crumbling!

²⁵I looked and behold, there was no man; even the birds of the air had flown away!

²⁶I looked and behold, the garden land was a desert, with all its cities destroyed before the LORD, before his blazing wrath.

²⁷For thus says the LORD: Waste shall the whole land be; I will (not) wholly destroy it.

²⁸Because of this the earth shall mourn, the heavens above shall darken; I have spoken, I will not repent, I have resolved, I will not turn back.

²⁹At the shout of horseman and bowman each city takes to flight; They shrink into the thickets, they scale the rocks: All the cities are abandoned, and no one dwells in them.

³⁰You now who are doomed, what do you mean by putting on purple, bedecking yourself with gold, Shading your eyes with cosmetics, beautifying yourself in vain? Your lovers spurn you, they seek your life.

³¹Yes, I hear the moaning, as of a woman in travail, like the anguish of a mother with her first child- The cry of daughter Zion gasping, as she stretches forth her hands: "Ah, woe is me! I sink exhausted before the slayers!"

5Roam the streets of Jerusalem, look about and observe, Search through her public places, to find even one Who lives uprightly and seeks to be faithful, and I will pardon her!

²Though they say, "As the LORD lives," they swear falsely.

³O LORD, do your eyes not look for honesty? You struck them, but they did not cringe; you laid them low, but they refused correction; They set their faces harder than stone, and refused to return to you.

⁴It is only the lowly, I thought, who are foolish; For they know not the way of the LORD, their duty to their God.

⁵I will go to the great ones and speak with them; For they know the way of the LORD, their duty to their God. But, one and all, they had broken the yoke, torn off the harness.

⁶Therefore lions from the forest slay them, wolves of the desert ravage them, Leopards keep watch round their cities: all who come out are torn to pieces For their many crimes and their numerous rebellions.

⁷Why should I pardon you these things? Your sons have forsaken me, they swear by gods that are not. I fed them, but they committed adultery; to the harlot's house they throng.

⁸Lustful stallions they are, each neighs after another's wife.

⁹Shall I not punish them for these things? says the LORD; On a nation such as this shall I not take vengeance?

¹⁰Climb to her terraces, and ravage them, destroy them (not) wholly. Tear away her tendrils, they do not belong to the LORD.

¹¹For they have openly rebelled against me, both the house of Israel and the house of Judah, says the LORD.

¹²They denied the LORD, saying, "Not he-- No evil shall befall us, neither sword nor famine shall we see.

¹³The prophets have become wind, and the word is not in them. May their threats be carried out against themselves!"

¹⁴Now, for this that you have said, says the LORD, the God of hosts- Behold, I make my words in your mouth, a fire, And this people is the wood that it shall devour!--

¹⁵Beware, I will bring against you a nation from afar, O house of Israel, says the LORD; A long-lived nation, an ancient nation, a people whose language you know not, whose speech you cannot understand.

¹⁶Their quivers are like open graves; all of them are warriors.

¹⁷They will devour your harvest and your bread, devour your sons and your daughters, Devour your sheep and cattle, devour your vines and fig trees; They will beat flat with the sword the fortified city in which you trust.

¹⁸Yet even in those days, says the LORD, I will not wholly destroy you.

¹⁹And when they ask, "Why has the LORD done all these things to us?" say to them, "As you have forsaken me to serve strange gods in your own land, so shall you serve strangers in a land not your own."

²⁰Announce this to the house of Jacob, proclaim it in Judah:

²¹Pay attention to this, foolish and senseless people Who have eyes and see not, who have ears and hear not.

²²Should you not fear me, says the LORD, should you not tremble before me? I made the sandy shore the sea's limit, which by eternal decree it may not overstep. Toss though it may, it is to no avail; though its billows roar, they cannot pass.

²³But this people's heart is stubborn and rebellious; they turn and go away,

²⁴And say not in their hearts, "Let us fear the LORD, our God, Who gives us rain early and late, in its time; Who watches for us over the appointed weeks of harvest."

²⁵Your crimes have prevented these things, your sins have turned back these blessings from you.

²⁶For there are among my people criminals; like fowlers they set traps, but it is men they catch.

²⁷Their houses are as full of treachery as a bird-cage is of birds; Therefore they grow powerful and rich,

²⁸fat and sleek. They go their wicked way; justice they do not defend By advancing the claim of the fatherless or judging the cause of the poor.

²⁹Shall I not punish these things? says the LORD; on a nation such as this shall I not take vengeance?

³⁰A shocking, horrible thing has happened in the land:

³¹The prophets prophesy falsely, and the priests teach as they wish; Yet my people will have it so; what will you do when the end comes?

6 Flee, sons of Benjamin, out of Jerusalem! Blow the trumpet in Tekoa, raise a signal over Beth-haccherem; For evil threatens from the north, and mighty destruction.

²O lovely and delicate daughter Zion, you are ruined!

³Against her, shepherds come with their flocks; all around, they pitch their tents, each one grazes his portion.

⁴"Prepare for war against her, Up! let us rush upon her at midday! Alas! the day is waning, evening shadows lengthen;

⁵Up! let us rush upon her by night, destroy her palaces!"

⁶For thus says the LORD of hosts: Hew down her trees, throw up a siege mound against Jerusalem. Woe to the city marked for punishment; nought but oppression within her!

⁷As the well gushes out its waters, so she gushes out her wickedness. Violence and destruction resound in her; ever before me are wounds and blows.

⁸Be warned, O Jerusalem, lest I be estranged from you; Lest I turn you into a desert, a land where no man dwells.

⁹Thus says the LORD of hosts: Glean, glean like a vine the remnant of Israel; Pass your hand, like a vintager, repeatedly over the tendrils.

¹⁰To whom shall I speak? whom shall I warn, and be heard? See! their ears are uncircumcised, they cannot give heed; See, the word of the LORD has become for them an object of scorn, which they will not have.

¹¹Therefore my wrath brims up within me, I am weary of holding it in; I will pour it out upon the child in the street, upon the young men gathered together. Yes, all will be taken, husband and wife, graybeard with ancient.

¹²Their houses will fall to strangers, their fields and their wives as well; For I will stretch forth my hand against those who dwell in this land, says the LORD.

¹³Small and great alike, all are greedy for gain; prophet and priest, all practice fraud.

¹⁴They would repair, as though it were nought, the injury to my people: "Peace, peace!" they say, though there is no peace.

¹⁵They are odious; they have done abominable things, yet they are not at all ashamed, they know not how to blush. Hence they shall be among those who fall; in their time of punishment they shall go down, says the LORD.

¹⁶Thus says the LORD: Stand beside the earliest roads, ask the pathways of old Which is the way to good, and walk it; thus you will find rest for your souls. But they said, "We will not walk it."

¹⁷When I raised up watchmen for them: "Hearken to the sound of the trumpet!" they said, "We will not hearken."

¹⁸Therefore hear, O nations, and know, O earth, what I will do with them:

¹⁹See, I bring evil upon this people, the fruit of their own schemes, Because they heeded not my words, because they despised my law.

²⁰Of what use to me incense that comes from Sheba, or sweet cane from far-off lands? Your holocausts find no favor with me, your sacrifices please me not.

²¹Therefore, thus says the LORD: See, I will place before this people obstacles to bring them down; Fathers and sons alike, neighbors and friends shall perish.

²²Thus says the LORD: See, a people comes from the land of the north, a great nation, roused from the ends of the earth.

²³Bow and javelin they wield; cruel and pitiless are they. They sound like the roaring sea as they ride forth on steeds, Each in his place, for battle against you, daughter Zion.

²⁴We hear the report of them; helpless fall our hands, Anguish takes hold of us, throes like a mother's in childbirth.

²⁵Go not forth into the field, step not into the street, Beware of the enemy's sword; terror on every side!

²⁶O daughter of my people, gird on sackcloth, roll in the ashes. Mourn as for an only child with bitter wailing, For sudden upon us comes the destroyer.

²⁷A tester among my people I have appointed you, to search and test their way.

²⁸Arch-rebels are they all, dealers in slander, all of them corrupt.

²⁹The bellows roars, the lead is consumed by the fire; In vain has the smelter refined, the wicked are not drawn off.

³⁰"Silver rejected" they shall be called, for the LORD has rejected them.

7 The following message came to Jeremiah from the LORD:

²Stand at the gate of the house of the LORD, and there proclaim this message: Hear the word of the LORD, all you of Judah who enter these gates to worship the LORD!

³Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Reform your ways and your deeds, so that I may remain with you in this place.

⁴Put not your trust in the deceitful words: "This is the temple of the LORD! The temple of the LORD! The temple of the LORD!"

⁵Only if you thoroughly reform your ways and your deeds; if each of you deals justly with his neighbor;

⁶if you no longer oppress the resident alien, the orphan, and the widow; if you no longer shed innocent blood in this place, or follow strange gods to your own harm,

⁷will I remain with you in this place, in the land which I gave your fathers long ago and forever.

⁸But here you are, putting your trust in deceitful words to your own loss!

⁹Are you to steal and murder, commit adultery and perjury, burn incense to Baal, go after strange gods that you know not,

¹⁰and yet come to stand before me in this house which bears my name, and say: "We are safe; we can commit all these abominations again"?

¹¹Has this house which bears my name become in your eyes a den of thieves? I too see what is being done, says the LORD.

¹²You may go to Shiloh, which I made the dwelling place of my name in the beginning. See what I did to it because of the wickedness of my people Israel.

¹³And now, because you have committed all these misdeeds, says the LORD, because you did not listen, though I spoke to you untiringly; because you did not answer, though I called you,

¹⁴I will do to this house named after me, in which you trust, and to this place which I gave to you and your fathers, just as I did to Shiloh.

¹⁵I will cast you away from me, as I cast away all your brethren, all the offspring of Ephraim.

¹⁶You, now, do not intercede for this people; raise not in their behalf a pleading prayer! Do not urge me, for I will not listen to you.

¹⁷Do you not see what they are doing in the cities of Judah, in the streets of Jerusalem?

¹⁸The children gather wood, their fathers light the fire, and the women knead dough to make cakes for the queen of heaven, while libations are poured out to strange gods in order to hurt me.

¹⁹Is it I whom they hurt, says the LORD; is it not rather themselves, to their own confusion?

²⁰See now, says the Lord GOD, my anger and my wrath will pour out upon this place, upon man and beast, upon the trees of the field and the fruits of the earth; it will burn without being quenched.

²¹Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Heap your holocausts upon your sacrifices; eat up the flesh!

²²In speaking to your fathers on the day I brought them out of the land of Egypt, I gave them no command concerning holocaust or sacrifice.

²³This rather is what I commanded them: Listen to my voice; then I will be your God and you shall be my people. Walk in all the ways that I command you, so that you may prosper.

²⁴But they obeyed not, nor did they pay heed. They walked in the hardness of their evil hearts and turned their backs, not their faces, to me.

²⁵From the day that your fathers left the land of Egypt even to this day, I have sent you untiringly all my servants the prophets.

²⁶Yet they have not obeyed me nor paid heed; they have stiffened their necks and done worse than their fathers.

²⁷When you speak all these words to them, they will not listen to you either; when you call to them, they will not answer you.

²⁸Say to them: This is the nation which does not listen to the voice of the LORD, its God, or take correction. Faithfulness has disappeared; the word itself is banished from their speech.

²⁹Cut off your dedicated hair and throw it away! on the heights intone an elegy; For the LORD has rejected and cast off the generation that draws down his wrath.

³⁰The people of Judah have done what is evil in my eyes, says the LORD. They have defiled the house which bears my name by setting up in it their abominable idols.

³¹In the Valley of Ben-hinnom they have built the high place of Topheth to immolate in fire their sons and their daughters, such a thing as I never commanded or had in mind.

³²Therefore, beware! days will come, says the LORD, when Topheth and the Valley of Ben-hinnom will no longer be called such, but rather the Valley of Slaughter. For lack of space, Topheth will be a burial place.

³³The corpses of this people will be food for the birds of the sky and for the beasts of the field, which no one will drive away.

³⁴In the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem I will silence the cry of joy, the cry of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride; for the land will be turned to rubble.

8 At that time, says the LORD, the bones of the kings and princes of Judah, the bones of the priests and the prophets, and the bones of the citizens of Jerusalem will be emptied out of their graves

²and spread out before the sun and the moon and the whole army of heaven, which they loved and served, which they followed, consulted, and worshiped. They will not be gathered up for burial, but will lie like dung upon the ground.

³Death will be preferred to life by all the survivors of this wicked race who remain in any of the places to which I banish them, says the LORD of hosts.

⁴Tell them: Thus says the LORD: When someone falls, does he not rise again? if he goes astray, does he not turn back?

⁵Why do these people rebel with obstinate resistance? Why do they cling to deceptive idols, refuse to turn back?

⁶I listen closely: they speak what is not true; No one repents of his wickedness, saying, "What have I done!" Everyone keeps on running his course, like a steed dashing into battle.

⁷Even the stork in the air knows it seasons; Turtledove, swallow and thrush observe their time of return, But my people do not know the ordinance of the LORD.

⁸How can you say, "We are wise, we have the law of the LORD"? Why, that has been changed into falsehood by the lying pen of the scribes!

⁹The wise are confounded, dismayed and ensnared; Since they have rejected the word of the LORD, of what avail is their wisdom?

¹⁰Therefore, I will give their wives to strangers, their fields to spoilers. Small and great alike, all are greedy for gain, prophet and priest, all practice fraud.

¹¹They would repair, as though it were nought, the injury to the daughter of my people: "Peace, peace!" they say, though there is no peace.

¹²They are odious; they have done abominable things, yet they are not at all ashamed, they know not how to blush. Hence they shall be among those who fall; in their time of punishment they shall go down, says the LORD.

¹³I will gather them all in, says the LORD: no grapes on the vine, No figs on the fig trees, foliage withered!

¹⁴Why do we remain here? Let us form ranks and enter the walled cities, to perish there; For the LORD has wrought our destruction, he has given us poison to drink, because we have sinned against the LORD.

¹⁵We wait for peace to no avail; for a time of healing, but terror comes instead.

¹⁶From Dan is heard the snorting of his steeds; The neighing of his stallions shakes the whole land. They come devouring the land and all it contains, the city and those who dwell in it.

¹⁷Yes, I will send against you poisonous snakes, Against which no charm will work when they bite you, says the LORD.

¹⁸My grief is incurable, my heart within me is faint.

¹⁹Listen! the cry of the daughter of my people, far and wide in the land! Is the LORD no longer in Zion, is her King no longer in her midst? (Why do they provoke me with their idols, with their foreign nonentities?)

²⁰"The harvest has passed, the summer is at an end, and yet we are not safe!"

²¹I am broken by the ruin of the daughter of my people. I am disconsolate; horror has seized me.

²²Is there no balm in Gilead, no physician there? Why grows not new flesh over the wound of the daughter of my people?

²³Oh, that my head were a spring of water, my eyes a fountain of tears, That I might weep day and night over the slain of the daughter of my people!

9Would that I had in the desert a travelers' lodge! That I might leave my people and depart from them. They are all adulterers, a faithless band.

²They ready their tongues like a drawn bow; with lying, and not with truth, they hold forth in the land. They go from evil to evil, but me they know not, says the LORD.

³Be on your guard, everyone against his neighbor; put no trust in any brother. Every brother apes Jacob, the supplanter, every friend is guilty of slander.

⁴Each one deceives the other, no one speaks the truth. They have accustomed their tongues to lying, and are perverse, and cannot repent.

⁵Violence upon violence, deceit upon deceit: They refuse to recognize me, says the LORD.

⁶Therefore, thus says the LORD of hosts: I will smelt them and test them; how else should I deal with their wickedness?

⁷A murderous arrow is his tongue, his mouth utters deceit; He speaks cordially with his friends, but in his heart he lays an ambush!

⁸For these things, says the LORD, shall I not punish them? On a nation such as this shall I not take vengeance?

⁹Over the mountains, break out in cries of lamentation, over the pasture lands, intone a dirge: They are scorched, and no man crosses them, unheard is the bleat of the flock; Birds of the air as well as beasts, all have fled, and are gone.

¹⁰I will turn Jerusalem into a heap of ruins, a haunt of jackals; The cities of Judah I will make into a waste, where no one dwells.

¹¹Who is so wise that he can understand this? Let him to whom the mouth of the LORD has spoken make it known: Why is the land ravaged, scorched like a wasteland untraversed?

- ¹²The LORD answered: Because they have abandoned my law, which I set before them, and have not followed it or listened to my voice,
- ¹³but followed rather the hardness of their hearts and the Baals, as their fathers had taught them;
- ¹⁴therefore, thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: See now, I will give them wormwood to eat and poison to drink.
- ¹⁵I will scatter them among nations whom neither they nor their fathers have known; I will send the sword to pursue them until I have completely destroyed them.
- ¹⁶Thus says the LORD of hosts: Attention! tell the wailing women to come, summon the best of them;
- ¹⁷Let them come quickly and intone a dirge for us, That our eyes may be wet with weeping, our cheeks run with tears.
- ¹⁸The dirge is heard from Zion: Ruined we are, and greatly ashamed; We must leave the land, give up our homes!
- ¹⁹Hear, you women, the word of the LORD, let your ears receive his message. Teach your daughters this dirge, and each other this lament.
- ²⁰Death has come up through our windows, has entered our palaces; It cuts down the children in the street, young people in the squares.
- ²¹The corpses of the slain lie like dung on a field, Like sheaves behind the harvester, with no one to gather them.
- ²²Thus says the LORD: Let not the wise man glory in his wisdom, nor the strong man glory in his strength, nor the rich man glory in his riches;
- ²³But rather, let him who glories, glory in this, that in his prudence he knows me, Knows that I, the LORD, bring about kindness, justice and uprightness on the earth; For with such am I pleased, says the LORD.
- ²⁴See, days are coming, says the LORD, when I will demand an account of all those circumcised in their flesh:

²⁵Egypt and Judah, Edom and the Ammonites, Moab and the desert dwellers who shave their temples. For all these nations, like the whole house of Israel, are uncircumcised in heart.

10 Hear the word which the LORD speaks to you, O house of Israel.

²Thus says the LORD: Learn not the customs of the nations, and have no fear of the signs of the heavens, though the nations fear them.

³For the cult idols of the nations are nothing, wood cut from the forest, Wrought by craftsmen with the adze, ⁴adorned with silver and gold. With nails and hammers they are fastened, that they may not totter.

⁵Like a scarecrow in a cucumber field are they, they cannot speak; They must be carried about, for they cannot walk. Fear them not, they can do no harm, neither is it in their power to do good.

⁶No one is like you, O LORD, great are you, great and mighty is your name.

⁷Who would not fear you, King of the nations, for it is your due! Among all the wisest of the nations, and in all their domain, there is none like you.

⁸One and all they are dumb and senseless, these idols they teach about are wooden:

⁹Silver strips brought from Tarshish, and gold from Ophir, The work of the craftsman and the handiwork of the smelter, Clothed with violet and purple- all of them the work of artisans.

¹⁰The LORD is true God, he is the living God, the eternal King, Before whose anger the earth quakes, whose wrath the nations cannot endure:

¹¹Thus shall you say of them: Let the gods that did not make heaven and earth perish from the earth, and from beneath these heavens!

¹²He who made the earth by his power, established the world by his wisdom, and stretched out the heavens by his skill.

¹³When he thunders, the waters in the heavens roar, and he brings up clouds from the end of the earth; He makes the lightning flash in the rain, and releases stormwinds from their chambers.

¹⁴Every man is stupid, ignorant; every artisan is put to shame by his idol: He has molded a fraud, without breath of life.

¹⁵Nothingness are they, a ridiculous work; they will perish in their time of punishment.

¹⁶Not like these is the portion of Jacob: he is the creator of all things; Israel is his very own tribe, LORD of hosts is his name.

¹⁷Lift your bundle and leave the land, O city living in a state of siege!

¹⁸For thus says the LORD: Behold, this time I will sling away the inhabitants of the land; I will hem them in, that they may be taken.

¹⁹Woe is me! I am undone, my wound is incurable; Yet I had thought: if I make light of my wound, I can bear it.

²⁰My tent is ruined, all its cords are severed. My sons have left me, they are no more: no one to pitch my tent, no one to raise its curtains.

²¹Yes, the shepherds were stupid as cattle, the LORD they sought not; Therefore they had no success, and all their flocks were scattered.

²²Listen! a noise! it comes closer, a great uproar from the northern land: To turn the cities of Judah into a desert haunt of jackals.

²³You know, O LORD, that man is not master of his way; Man's course is not within his choice, nor is it for him to direct his step.

²⁴Punish us, O LORD, but with equity, not in anger, lest you have us dwindle away.

²⁵Pour out your wrath on the nations that know you not, on the tribes that call not upon your name; For they have devoured Jacob utterly, and laid waste his dwelling.

11 The following message came to Jeremiah from the LORD:

²Speak to the men of Judah and to the citizens of Jerusalem,

³saying to them: Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Cursed be the man who does not observe the terms of this covenant,

⁴which I enjoined upon your fathers the day I brought them up out of the land of Egypt, that iron foundry, saying: Listen to my voice and do all that I command you. Then you shall be my people, and I will be your God.

⁵Thus I will fulfill the oath which I swore to your fathers, to give them a land flowing with milk and honey: the one you have today. "Amen, LORD," I answered.

⁶Then the LORD said to me: Proclaim all these words in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem: Hear the words of this covenant and obey them.

⁷Urgently and constantly I warned your fathers to obey my voice, from the day I brought them up out of the land of Egypt even to this day.

⁸But they did not listen or give ear. Each one followed the hardness of his evil heart, till I brought upon them all the threats of this covenant which they had failed to observe as I commanded them.

⁹A conspiracy has been found, the LORD said to me, among the men of Judah and the citizens of Jerusalem.

¹⁰They have returned to the crimes of their forefathers who refused to obey my words. They also have followed and served strange gods; the covenant which I had made with their fathers, the house of Israel and the house of Judah have broken.

¹¹Therefore, thus says the LORD: See, I bring upon them misfortune which they cannot escape. Though they cry out to me, I will not listen to them.

¹²Then the cities of Judah and the citizens of Jerusalem will go and cry out to the gods to which they have been offering incense. But these gods will give them no help whatever when misfortune strikes.

¹³For as numerous as your cities are your gods, O Judah! And as many as the streets of Jerusalem are the altars for offering sacrifice to Baal.

¹⁴Do not intercede on behalf of this people, nor utter a plea for them. I will not listen when they call to me at the time of their misfortune.

¹⁵What right has my beloved in my house, while she prepares her plots? Can vows and sacred meat turn away your misfortune from you? Will you still be jubilant ¹⁶when you hear the great invasion? A spreading olive tree, goodly to behold, the LORD has named you; Now he sets fire to it, its branches burn.

¹⁷The LORD of hosts who planted you has decreed misfortune for you because of the evil done by the house of Israel and by the house of Judah, who provoked me by sacrificing to Baal.

¹⁸I knew it because the LORD informed me; at that time you, O LORD, showed me their doings.

12You would be in the right, O LORD, if I should dispute with you; even so, I must discuss the case with you. Why does the way of the godless prosper, why live all the treacherous in contentment?

²You planted them; they have taken root, they keep on growing and bearing fruit. You are upon their lips, but far from their inmost thoughts.

³You, O Lord, know me, you see me, you have found that at heart I am with you. Pick them out like sheep for the slaughter, set them apart for the day of carnage.

⁴How long must the earth mourn, the green of the whole countryside wither? For the wickedness of those who dwell in it beasts and birds disappear, because they say, "God does not see our ways."

⁵If running against men has wearied you, how will you race against horses? And if in a land of peace you fall headlong, what will you do in the thickets of the Jordan?

⁶For even your own brothers, the members of your father's house, betray you; they have recruited a force against you. Do not believe them, even if they are friendly to you in their words.

⁷I abandon my house, cast off my heritage; The beloved of my soul I deliver into the hand of her foes.

⁸My heritage has turned on me like a lion in the jungle; Because she has roared against me, I treat her as an enemy.

⁹My heritage is a prey for hyenas, is surrounded by vultures; Come, gather together, all you beasts of the field, come and eat!

- ¹⁰ Many shepherds have ravaged my vineyard, have trodden my heritage underfoot; The portion that delighted me they have turned into a desert waste.
- ¹¹ They have made it a mournful waste, desolate it lies before me, Desolate, all the land, because no one takes it to heart.
- ¹² Upon every desert height brigands have come up. The LORD has a sword which consumes the land, from end to end: no peace for all mankind.
- ¹³ They have sown wheat and reaped thorns, they have tired themselves out to no purpose; They recoil before their harvest, the flaming anger of the LORD.
- ¹⁴ Thus says the LORD against all my evil neighbors who plunder the heritage which I gave my people Israel as their own: See, I will pluck them up from their land; the house of Judah I will pluck up in their midst.
- ¹⁵ But after plucking them up, I will pity them again and bring them back, each to his heritage, each to his land.
- ¹⁶ And if they carefully learn my people's custom of swearing by my name, "As the LORD lives," they who formerly taught my people to swear by Baal shall be built up in the midst of my people.
- ¹⁷ But if they do not obey, I will uproot and destroy that nation entirely, says the LORD.
- ¹⁸ Yet I, like a trusting lamb led to slaughter, had not realized that they were hatching plots against me: "Let us destroy the tree in its vigor; let us cut him off from the land of the living, so that his name will be spoken no more."
- ¹⁹ But, you, O LORD of hosts, O just Judge, searcher of mind and heart, Let me witness the vengeance you take on them, for to you I have entrusted my cause!
- ²⁰ Therefore, thus says the LORD concerning the men of Anathoth who seek your life, saying, "Do not prophesy in the name of the LORD; else you shall die by our hand."
- ²¹ Therefore, thus says the LORD of hosts: I am going to punish them. The young men shall die by the sword; their sons and daughters shall die by famine.
- ²² None shall be spared among them, for I will bring misfortune upon the men of Anathoth, the year of their punishment.

13 The LORD said to me: Go buy yourself a linen loincloth; wear it on your loins, but do not put it in water.

² I bought the loincloth, as the LORD commanded, and put it on.

³ A second time the word of the LORD came to me thus:

⁴ Take the loincloth which you bought and are wearing, and go now to the Parath; there hide it in a cleft of the rock.

⁵ Obedient to the LORD'S command, I went to the Parath and buried the loincloth.

⁶ After a long interval, he said to me: Go now to the Parath and fetch the loincloth which I told you to hide there.

⁷ Again I went to the Parath, sought out and took the loincloth from the place where I had hid it. But it was rotted, good for nothing!

⁸ Then the message came to me from the LORD:

⁹ Thus says the LORD: So also I will allow the pride of Judah to rot, the great pride of Jerusalem.

¹¹ For, as close as the loincloth clings to a man's loins, so had I made the whole house of Israel and the whole house of Judah cling to me, says the LORD; to be my people, my renown, my praise, my beauty. But they did not listen.

¹² Now speak to them this word: Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Every wineflask is meant to be filled with wine. If they reply, "Do we not know that every wineflask is meant to be filled with wine?"

¹³ say to them: Thus says the LORD: Beware! I am filling with drunkenness all the inhabitants of this land, the kings who succeed to David's throne, the priests and prophets, and all the citizens of Jerusalem.

¹⁴ I will dash them against each other, fathers and sons together, says the LORD; I will show no compassion, I will not spare or pity, but will destroy them.

¹⁵Give ear, listen humbly, for the LORD speaks.

¹⁶Give glory to the LORD, your God, before it grows dark; Before your feet stumble on darkening mountains; Before the light you look for turns to darkness, changes into black clouds.

¹⁷If you do not listen to this in your pride, I will weep in secret many tears; My eyes will run with tears for the LORD'S flock, led away to exile.

¹⁸Say to the king and to the queen mother: come down from your throne; From your heads fall your magnificent crowns.

¹⁹The cities of the Negeb are besieged, with no one to relieve them; All Judah is banished in universal exile.

²⁰Lift up your eyes and see men coming from the north. Where is the flock entrusted to you, the sheep that were your glory?

²¹What will you say when they place as rulers over you those whom you taught to be your lovers? Will not pangs seize you like those of a woman giving birth?

²²If you ask in your heart why these things befall you: For your great guilt your skirts are stripped away and you are violated.

²³Can the Ethiopian change his skin? the leopard his spots? As easily would you be able to do good, accustomed to evil as you are.

²⁴I will scatter them like chaff that flies when the desert wind blows.

²⁵This is your lot, the portion measured out to you from me, says the LORD. Because you have forgotten me, and trusted in the lying idol, ²⁶I now will strip off your skirts from you, so that your shame will appear.

²⁷Your adulteries, your neighings, your shameless prostitutions: On the hills in the highlands I see these horrible crimes of yours. Woe to you, Jerusalem, how long will it yet be before you become clean!

14The word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah concerning the drought:

²Judah mourns, her gates are lifeless; Her people sink down in mourning: from Jerusalem ascends a cry of anguish.

³The nobles send their servants for water, but when they come to the cisterns They find no water and return with empty jars. Ashamed, despairing, they cover their heads

⁴because of the stricken soil; Because there is no rain in the land the farmers are ashamed, they cover their heads.

⁵Even the hind in the field deserts her offspring because there is no grass.

⁶The wild asses stand on the bare heights, gasping for breath like jackals; Their eyes grow dim, because there is no vegetation to be seen.

⁷Even though our crimes bear witness against us, take action, O LORD, for the honor of your name-- Even though our rebellions are many, though we have sinned against you.

⁸O Hope of Israel, O LORD, our savior in time of need! Why should you be a stranger in this land, like a traveler who has stopped but for a night?

⁹Why are you like a man dumbfounded, a champion who cannot save? You are in our midst, O LORD, your name we bear: do not forsake us!

¹⁰Thus says the LORD of this people: They so love to wander that they do not spare their feet. The LORD has no pleasure in them; now he remembers their guilt, and will punish their sins.

¹¹Then the LORD said to me: Do not intercede for this people.

¹²If they fast, I will not listen to their supplication. If they offer holocausts or cereal offerings, I will not accept them. Rather, I will destroy them with the sword, famine, and pestilence.

¹³Ah! Lord GOD, I replied, it is the prophets who say to them, "You shall not see the sword; famine shall not befall you. Indeed, I will give you lasting peace in this place."

¹⁴Lies these prophets utter in my name, the LORD said to me. I did not send them; I gave them no command nor did I speak to them. Lying visions, foolish divination, dreams of their own imagination, they prophesy to you.

¹⁵Therefore, thus says the LORD: Concerning the prophets who prophesy in my name, though I did not send them; who say, "Sword and famine shall not befall this land": by the sword and famine shall these prophets meet their end.

¹⁶The people to whom they prophesy shall be cast out into the streets of Jerusalem by famine and the sword. No one shall bury them, their wives, their sons, or their daughters, for I will pour out upon them their own wickedness.

¹⁷Speak to them this word: Let my eyes stream with tears day and night, without rest, Over the great destruction which overwhelms the virgin daughter of my people, over her incurable wound.

¹⁸If I walk out into the field, look! those slain by the sword; If I enter the city, look! those consumed by hunger. Even the prophet and the priest forage in a land they know not.

¹⁹Have you cast Judah off completely? Is Zion loathsome to you? Why have you struck us a blow that cannot be healed? We wait for peace, to no avail; for a time of healing, but terror comes instead.

²⁰We recognize, O LORD, our wickedness, the guilt of our fathers; that we have sinned against you.

²¹For your name's sake spurn us not, disgrace not the throne of your glory; remember your covenant with us, and break it not.

²²Among the nations' idols is there any that gives rain? Or can the mere heavens send showers? Is it not you alone, O LORD, our God, to whom we look? You alone have done all these things.

15 The LORD said to me: Even if Moses and Samuel stood before me, my heart would not turn toward this people. Send them away from me.

²If they ask you where they should go, tell them, Thus says the LORD: Whoever is marked for death, to death; whoever is marked for the sword, to the sword; whoever is marked for famine, to famine; whoever is marked for captivity, to captivity.

³Four kinds of scourge I have decreed against them, says the LORD: the sword to slay them; dogs to drag them about; the birds of the sky and the beasts of the earth to devour and destroy them.

⁴And I will make them an object of horror to all the kingdoms of the earth because of what Manasseh, son of Hezekiah, king of Judah, did in Jerusalem.

⁵Who will pity you, Jerusalem, who will console you? Who will stop to ask about your welfare?

⁶You have disowned me, says the LORD, turned your back upon me; And so I stretched out my hand to destroy you, I was weary of sparing you.

⁷I winnowed them with the fan in every city gate. I destroyed my people through bereavement; they returned not from their evil ways.

⁸Their widows were more numerous before me than the sands of the sea. I brought against the mother of youths the spoiler at midday; Suddenly I struck her with anguish and terror.

⁹The mother of seven swoons away, gasping out her life; Her sun sets in full day, she is disgraced, despairing. Their survivors I will give to the sword before their enemies, says the LORD.

¹⁰Woe to me, mother, that you gave me birth! a man of strife and contention to all the land! I neither borrow nor lend, yet all curse me.

¹¹Tell me, LORD, have I not served you for their good? Have I not interceded with you in the time of misfortune and anguish?

¹²

¹⁵You know I have. Remember me, LORD, visit me, and avenge me on my persecutors. Because of your long-suffering banish me not; know that for you I have borne insult.

¹⁶When I found your words, I devoured them; they became my joy and the happiness of my heart, Because I bore your name, O LORD, God of hosts.

¹⁷I did not sit celebrating in the circle of merry-makers; Under the weight of your hand I sat alone because you filled me with indignation.

¹⁸Why is my pain continuous, my wound incurable, refusing to be healed? You have indeed become for me a treacherous brook, whose waters do not abide!

¹⁹Thus the LORD answered me: If you repent, so that I restore you, in my presence you shall stand; If you bring forth the precious without the vile, you shall be my mouthpiece. Then it shall be they who turn to you, and you shall not turn to them;

²⁰And I will make you toward this people a solid wall of brass. Though they fight against you, they shall not prevail, For I am with you, to deliver and rescue you, says the LORD.

²¹I will free you from the hand of the wicked, and rescue you from the grasp of the violent.

16 This message came to me from the LORD:

²Do not marry any woman; you shall not have sons or daughters in this place,

³for thus says the LORD concerning the sons and daughters who will be born in this place, the mothers who will give them birth, the fathers who will beget them in this land:

⁴Of deadly disease they shall die. Unlamented and unburied they will lie like dung on the ground. Sword and famine will make an end of them, and their corpses will become food for the birds of the sky and the beasts of the field.

⁵Go not into a house of mourning, the LORD continued: go not there to lament or offer sympathy. For I have withdrawn my friendship from this people, says the LORD, my kindness and my pity.

⁶They shall die, the great and the lowly, in this land, and shall go unburied and unlamented. No one will gash himself or shave his head for them.

⁷They will not break bread with the bereaved to console them in their bereavement; they will not give them the cup of consolation to drink over the death of father or mother.

⁸Enter not a house where people are celebrating, to sit with them eating and drinking.

⁹For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Before your very eyes and during your lifetime I will silence from this place the cry of joy and the cry of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride.

¹⁰When you proclaim all these words to this people and they ask you: "Why has the LORD pronounced all these great evils against us? What is our crime? What sin have we committed against the LORD, our God?"--

¹¹you shall answer them: It is because your fathers have forsaken me, says the LORD, and followed strange gods, which they served and worshiped; but me they have forsaken, and my law they have not observed.

¹²And you have done worse than your fathers. Here you are, every one of you, walking in the hardness of his evil heart instead of listening to me.

¹³I will cast you out of this land into a land that neither you nor your fathers have known; there you can serve strange gods day and night, because I will not grant you my mercy.

¹⁴However, days will surely come, says the LORD, when it will no longer be said, "As the LORD lives, who brought the Israelites out of Egypt";

¹⁵but rather, "As the LORD lives, who brought the Israelites out of the land of the north and out of all the countries to which he had banished them." I will bring them back to the land which I gave their fathers.

¹⁶Look! I will send many fishermen, says the LORD, to catch them. After that, I will send many hunters to hunt them out from every mountain and hill and from the clefts of the rocks.

¹⁷For my eyes are upon all their ways; they are not hidden from me, nor does their guilt escape my view.

¹⁸I will at once repay them double for their crime and their sin of profaning my land with their detestable corpses of idols, and filling my heritage with their abominations.

¹⁹O LORD, my strength, my fortress, my refuge in the day of distress! To you will the nations come from the ends of the earth, and say, "Mere frauds are the heritage of our fathers, empty idols of no use."

²⁰Can man make for himself gods? These are not gods.

²¹Look, then: I will give them knowledge; this time I will leave them in no doubt Of my strength and my power: they shall know that my name is LORD.

17 The sin of Judah is written with an iron stylus, Engraved with a diamond point upon the tablets of their hearts. (And the horns of their altars,

² when their sons remember their altars and their sacred poles, beside the green trees, on the high hills,

³ the peaks in the highland.) Your wealth and all your treasures I will give as spoil. In recompense for all your sins throughout your borders,

⁴ You will relinquish your hold on your heritage which I have given you. I will enslave you to your enemies in a land that you know not: For a fire has been kindled by my wrath that will burn forever.

⁵ Thus says the LORD: Cursed is the man who trusts in human beings, who seeks his strength in flesh, whose heart turns away from the LORD.

⁶ He is like a barren bush in the desert that enjoys no change of season, But stands in a lava waste, a salt and empty earth.

⁷ Blessed is the man who trusts in the LORD, whose hope is the LORD.

⁹ More tortuous than all else is the human heart, beyond remedy; who can understand it?

¹⁰ I, the LORD, alone probe the mind and test the heart, To reward everyone according to his ways, according to the merit of his deeds.

¹¹ A partridge that mothers a brood not her own is the man who acquires wealth unjustly: In midlife it will desert him; in the end he is only a fool.

¹² A throne of glory, exalted from the beginning, such is our holy place.

¹³ O hope of Israel, O LORD! all who forsake you shall be in disgrace; The rebels in the land shall be put to shame; they have forsaken the source of living waters (the LORD).

- ¹⁴Heal me, LORD, that I may be healed; save me, that I may be saved, for it is you whom I praise.
- ¹⁵See how they say to me, "Where is the word of the LORD? Let it come to pass!"
- ¹⁶Yet I did not press you to send calamity; the day without remedy I have not desired. You know what passed my lips; it is present before you.
- ¹⁷Do not be my ruin, you, my refuge in the day of misfortune.
- ¹⁸Let my persecutors, not me, be confounded; let them, not me, be broken. Bring upon them the day of misfortune, crush them with repeated destruction.
- ¹⁹Thus said the LORD to me: Go, stand at the Gate of Benjamin, where the kings of Judah enter and leave, and at the other gates of Jerusalem.
- ²⁰There say to them: Hear the word of the LORD, you kings of Judah, and all Judah, and all you citizens of Jerusalem who enter these gates!
- ²¹Thus says the LORD: As you love your lives, take care not to carry burdens on the sabbath day, to bring them in through the gates of Jerusalem.
- ²²Bring no burden from your homes on the sabbath. Do no work whatever, but keep holy the sabbath, as I commanded your fathers,
- ²³though they did not listen or give ear, but stiffened their necks so as not to hear or take correction.
- ²⁴If you obey me wholeheartedly, says the LORD, and carry no burden through the gates of this city on the sabbath, keeping the sabbath holy and abstaining from all work on it,
- ²⁵then, through the gates of this city, kings who sit upon the throne of David will continue to enter, riding in their chariots or upon their horses, along with their princes, and the men of Judah, and the citizens of Jerusalem. This city will remain inhabited forever.
- ²⁶To it people will come from the cities of Judah and the neighborhood of Jerusalem, from the land of Benjamin and from the foothills, from the hill country and the Negeb, to bring holocausts and sacrifices, cereal offerings and incense and thank offerings to the house of the LORD.

²⁷But if you do not obey me and keep holy the sabbath, if you carry burdens and come through the gates of Jerusalem on the sabbath, I will set unquenchable fire to its gates, which will consume the palaces of Jerusalem.

18 This word came to Jeremiah from the LORD:

²Rise up, be off to the potter's house; there I will give you my message.

³I went down to the potter's house and there he was, working at the wheel.

⁴Whenever the object of clay which he was making turned out badly in his hand, he tried again, making of the clay another object of whatever sort he pleased.

⁵Then the word of the Lord came to me:

⁶Can I not do to you, house of Israel, as this potter has done? says the LORD. Indeed, like clay in the hand of the potter, so are you in my hand, house of Israel.

⁷Sometimes I threaten to uproot and tear down and destroy a nation or a kingdom.

⁸But if that nation which I have threatened turns from its evil, I also repent of the evil which I threatened to do.

⁹Sometimes, again, I promise to build up and plant a nation or a kingdom.

¹⁰But if that nation does what is evil in my eyes, refusing to obey my voice, I repent of the good with which I promised to bless it.

¹¹And now, tell this to the men of Judah and the citizens of Jerusalem: Thus says the LORD: Take care! I am fashioning evil against you and making a plan. Return, each of you, from his evil way; reform your ways and your deeds.

¹²But they will say, "No use! We will follow our own devices; each one of us will behave according to the stubbornness of his evil heart!"

¹³Therefore thus says the LORD: Ask among the nations- who has ever heard the like? Truly horrible things has virgin Israel done!

¹⁴Does the snow of Lebanon desert the rocky heights? Do the gushing waters dry up that flow fresh down the mountains?

¹⁵Yet my people have forgotten me: they burn incense to a thing that does not exist. They stumble out of their ways, the paths of old, To travel on bypaths, not the beaten track.

¹⁶Their land shall be turned into a desert, an object of lasting ridicule: All passers-by will be amazed, will shake their heads.

¹⁷Like the east wind, I will scatter them before their enemies; I will show them my back, not my face, in their day of disaster.

¹⁸"Come," they said, "let us contrive a plot against Jeremiah. It will not mean the loss of instruction from the priests, nor of counsel from the wise, nor of messages from the prophets. And so, let us destroy him by his own tongue; let us carefully note his every word."

¹⁹Heed me, O LORD, and listen to what my adversaries say.

²⁰Must good be repaid with evil that they should dig a pit to take my life? Remember that I stood before you to speak in their behalf, to turn away your wrath from them.

²¹So now, deliver their children to famine, do away with them by the sword. Let their wives be made childless and widows; let their men die of pestilence, their young men be slain by the sword in battle.

²²May cries be heard from their homes, when suddenly you send plunderers against them. For they have dug a pit to capture me, they have hid snares for my feet;

²³But you, O LORD, know all their plans to slay me. Forgive not their crime, blot not out their sin in your sight! Let them go down before you, proceed against them in the time of your anger.

19 Thus said the LORD: Go, buy a potter's earthen flask. Take along some of the elders of the people and of the priests,

²and go out toward the Valley of Ben-hinnom, at the entrance of the Potsherd Gate; there proclaim the words which I will speak to you:

³Listen to the word of the LORD, kings of Judah and citizens of Jerusalem: Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: I am going to bring such evil upon this place that all who hear of it will feel their ears tingle.

⁴This is because they have forsaken me and alienated this place by burning in it incense to strange gods which neither they nor their fathers knew; and the kings of Judah have filled this place with the blood of the innocent.

⁵They have built high places for Baal to immolate their sons in fire as holocausts to Baal: such a thing as I neither commanded nor spoke of, nor did it ever enter my mind.

⁶Therefore, days will come, says the LORD, when this place will no longer be called Topheth, or the Valley of Ben-hinnom, but rather, the Valley of Slaughter.

⁷In this place I will foil the plan of Judah and Jerusalem; I will make them fall by the sword before their enemies, by the hand of those that seek their lives. Their corpses I will give as food to the birds of the sky and the beasts of the field.

⁸I will make this city an object of amazement and derision. Because of all its wounds, every passer-by will be amazed and will catch his breath.

⁹I will have them eat the flesh of their sons and daughters; they shall eat one another's flesh during the strict siege by which their enemies and those who seek their lives will confine them.

¹⁰And you shall break the flask in the sight of the men who went with you,

¹¹and say to them: Thus says the LORD of hosts: Thus will I smash this people and this city, as one smashes a clay pot so that it cannot be repaired. And Topheth shall be a burial place, for lack of place to bury elsewhere.

¹²Thus I will do to this place and to its inhabitants, says the LORD; I will make this city like Topheth.

¹³And the houses of Jerusalem and the palaces of the kings of Judah shall be defiled like the place of Topheth, all the houses upon whose roofs they burnt incense to the whole host of heaven and poured out libations to strange gods.

¹⁴When Jeremiah returned from Topheth, where the LORD had sent him to prophesy, he stood in the court of the house of God and said to all the people:

¹⁵Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: I will surely bring upon this city all the evil with which I threatened it, because they have stiffened their necks and have not obeyed my words.

20 Jeremiah was heard prophesying these things by the priest Pashhur, son of Immer, chief officer in the house of the LORD.

²So he had the prophet scourged and placed in the stocks at the upper Gate of Benjamin in the house of the LORD.

³The next morning, after Pashhur had released Jeremiah from the stocks, the prophet said to him: Instead of Pashhur, the LORD will name you "Terror on every side."

⁴For thus says the LORD: Indeed, I will deliver you to terror, you and all your friends. Your own eyes shall see them fall by the sword of their enemies. All Judah I will deliver to the king of Babylon, who shall take them captive to Babylon or slay them with the sword.

⁵All the wealth of this city, all it has toiled for and holds dear, all the treasures of the kings of Judah, I will give as plunder into the hands of their foes, who shall seize it and carry it away to Babylon.

⁶You Pashhur, and all the members of your household shall go into exile. To Babylon you shall go, you and all your friends; there you shall die and be buried, because you have prophesied lies to them.

⁷You duped me, O LORD, and I let myself be duped; you were too strong for me, and you triumphed. All the day I am an object of laughter; everyone mocks me.

⁸Whenever I speak, I must cry out, violence and outrage is my message; The word of the LORD has brought me derision and reproach all the day.

⁹I say to myself, I will not mention him, I will speak in his name no more. But then it becomes like fire burning in my heart, imprisoned in my bones; I grow weary holding it in, I cannot endure it.

¹⁰Yes, I hear the whisperings of many: "Terror on every side! Denounce! let us denounce him!" All those who were my friends are on the watch for any misstep of mine. "Perhaps he will be trapped; then we can prevail, and take our vengeance on him."

¹¹But the LORD is with me, like a mighty champion: my persecutors will stumble, they will not triumph. In their failure they will be put to utter shame, to lasting, unforgettable confusion.

¹²O LORD of hosts, you who test the just, who probe mind and heart, Let me witness the vengeance you take on them, for to you I have entrusted my cause.

¹³Sing to the LORD, praise the LORD, For he has rescued the life of the poor from the power of the wicked!

¹⁴Cursed be the day on which I was born! May the day my mother gave me birth never be blessed!

¹⁵Cursed be the man who brought the news to my father, saying, "A child, a son, has been born to you!" filling him with great joy.

¹⁶Let that man be like the cities which the LORD relentlessly overthrew; Let him hear war cries in the morning, battle alarms at noonday, ¹⁷because he did not dispatch me in the womb! Then my mother would have been my grave, her womb confining me forever.

¹⁸Why did I come forth from the womb, to see sorrow and pain, to end my days in shame?

21 The message which came to Jeremiah from the LORD when King Zedekiah sent him Pashhur, son of Malchiah, and the priest Zephaniah, son of Maaseiah, with this request:

²Inquire for us of the LORD, because Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, is attacking us. Perhaps the LORD will deal with us according to all his wonderful works, so that he will withdraw from us.

³But Jeremiah answered them: This is what you shall report to Zedekiah:

⁴Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: I will turn back in your hands the weapons with which you intend to fight the king of Babylon and the Chaldeans who besiege you outside the walls. These weapons I will pile up in the midst of this city, ⁵and I myself will fight against you with outstretched hand and mighty arm, in anger, and wrath, and great rage!

⁶I will strike the inhabitants of this city, both man and beast; they shall die in a great pestilence.

⁷After that, says the LORD, I will hand over Zedekiah, king of Judah, and his ministers and the people in this city who survive pestilence, sword, and famine, into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, into the hands of their enemies and those who seek their lives. He shall strike them with the edge of the sword, without quarter, without pity or mercy.

⁸And to this people you shall say: Thus says the LORD: See, I am giving you a choice between life and death.

⁹Whoever remains in this city shall die by the sword or famine or pestilence. But whoever leaves and surrenders to the besieging Chaldeans shall live and have his life as booty.

¹⁰For I have turned against this city, for its woe and not for its good, says the LORD. It shall be given into the power of the king of Babylon who shall burn it with fire.

¹¹To the royal house of Judah: Hear the word of the LORD,

¹²O house of David! Thus says the LORD: Each morning dispense justice, rescue the oppressed from the hand of the oppressor, Lest my fury break out like fire which burns without being quenched, because of the evil of your deeds.

¹³Beware! I am against you, Valley-site, Rock of the Plain, says the LORD. You who say, "Who will attack us, who can penetrate our retreats?"

¹⁴I will punish you, says the LORD, as your deeds deserve! I will kindle a fire in its forest that shall devour all its surroundings.

22 The LORD told me this: Go down to the palace of the king of Judah and there deliver this message:

²You shall say: Listen to the word of the LORD, king of Judah, who sit on the throne of David, you, your ministers, and your people that enter by these gates!

³Thus says the LORD: Do what is right and just. Rescue the victim from the hand of his oppressor. Do not wrong or oppress the resident alien, the orphan, or the widow, and do not shed innocent blood in this place.

⁴If you carry out these commands, kings who succeed to the throne of David will continue to enter the gates of this palace, riding in chariots or mounted on horses, with their ministers, and their people.

- ⁵But if you do not obey these commands, I swear by myself, says the LORD: this palace shall become rubble.
- ⁶For thus says the LORD concerning the palace of the king of Judah: Though you be to me like Gilead, like the peak of Lebanon, I will turn you into a waste, a city uninhabited.
- ⁷Against you I will send destroyers, each with his axe: They shall cut down your choice cedars, and cast them into the fire.
- ⁸Many people will pass by this city and ask one another: "Why has the LORD done this to so great a city?"
- ⁹And the answer will be given: "Because they have deserted their covenant with the LORD, their God, by worshiping and serving strange gods."
- ¹⁰Weep not for him who is dead, mourn not for him! Weep rather for him who is going away; never again will he see the land of his birth.
- ¹¹Thus says the LORD concerning Shallum, son of Josiah, king of Judah, who succeeded his father as king. He has left this place never to return.
- ¹²Rather, he shall die in the place where they exiled him; this land he shall not see again.
- ¹³Woe to him who builds his house on wrong, his terraces on injustice; Who works his neighbor without pay, and gives him no wages.
- ¹⁴Who says, "I will build myself a spacious house, with airy rooms," Who cuts out windows for it, panels it with cedar, and paints it with vermillion.
- ¹⁵Must you prove your rank among kings by competing with them in cedar? Did not your father eat and drink? He did what was right and just, and it went well with him.
- ¹⁶Because he dispensed justice to the weak and the poor, it went well with him. Is this not true knowledge of me? says the LORD.
- ¹⁷But your eyes and heart are set on nothing except on your own gain, On shedding innocent blood, on practicing oppression and extortion.

¹⁸Therefore, thus says the LORD concerning Jehoiakim, son of Josiah, king of Judah: They shall not lament him, "Alas! my brother"; "Alas! sister." They shall not lament him, "Alas, Lord! alas, Majesty!"

¹⁹The burial of an ass shall he be given, dragged forth and cast out beyond the gates of Jerusalem.

²⁰Scale Lebanon and cry out, in Bashan lift up your voice; Cry out from Abarim, for all your lovers are crushed.

²¹I spoke to you when you were secure, but you answered, "I will not listen." This has been your way from your youth, not to listen to my voice.

²²The wind shall shepherd all your shepherds, your lovers shall go into exile. Surely then you shall be ashamed and confounded because of all your wickedness.

²³You who dwell on Lebanon, who nest in the cedars, How you shall groan when pains come upon you, like the pangs of a woman in travail!

²⁴As I live, says the LORD, if you, Coniah, son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, are a signet ring on my right hand, I will snatch you from it.

²⁵I will deliver you into the hands of those who seek your life; the hands of those whom you fear; the hands of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, and the Chaldeans.

²⁶I will cast you out, you and the mother who bore you, into a different land from the one you were born in; and there you shall die.

²⁷Neither of them shall come back to the land for which they yearn.

²⁸Is this man Coniah a vessel despised, to be broken up, an instrument that no one wants? Why are he and his descendants cast out? why thrown into a land they know not?

²⁹O land, land, land, hear the word of the LORD--

³⁰Thus says the LORD: Write this man down as one childless, who will never thrive in his lifetime! No descendant of his shall achieve a seat on the throne of David as ruler again over Judah.

23 Woe to the shepherds who mislead and scatter the flock of my pasture, says the LORD.

²Therefore, thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, against the shepherds who shepherd my people: You have scattered my sheep and driven them away. You have not cared for them, but I will take care to punish your evil deeds.

³I myself will gather the remnant of my flock from all the lands to which I have driven them and bring them back to their meadow; there they shall increase and multiply.

⁴I will appoint shepherds for them who will shepherd them so that they need no longer fear and tremble; and none shall be missing, says the LORD.

⁵Behold, the days are coming, says the LORD, when I will raise up a righteous shoot to David; As king he shall reign and govern wisely, he shall do what is just and right in the land.

⁶In his days Judah shall be saved, Israel shall dwell in security. This is the name they give him: "The LORD our justice."

⁷Therefore, the days will come, says the LORD, when they shall no longer say, "As the LORD lives, who brought the Israelites out of the land of Egypt";

⁸but rather, "As the LORD lives, who brought the descendants of the house of Israel up from the land of the north"--and from all the lands to which I banished them; they shall again live on their own land.

⁹Concerning the prophets: My heart within me is broken, my bones all tremble; I am like a man who is drunk, overcome by wine, Because of the LORD, because of his holy words.

¹⁰With adulterers the land is filled; on their account the land mourns, the pasture ranges are seared. Theirs is an evil course, theirs is unjust power.

¹¹Both prophet and priest are godless! In my very house I find their wickedness, says the LORD.

¹²Hence their way shall become for them slippery ground. In the darkness they shall lose their footing, and fall headlong; Evil I will bring upon them: the year of their punishment, says the LORD.

- ¹³Among Samaria's prophets I saw unseemly deeds: They prophesied by Baal and led my people Israel astray.
- ¹⁴But among Jerusalem's prophets I saw deeds still more shocking: Adultery, living in lies, siding with the wicked, so that no one turns from evil; To me they are all like Sodom, its citizens like Gomorrah.
- ¹⁵Therefore, thus says the LORD of hosts against the prophets: Behold, I will give them wormwood to eat, and poison to drink; For from Jerusalem's prophets ungodliness has gone forth into the whole land.
- ¹⁶Thus says the LORD of hosts: Listen not to the words of your prophets, who fill you with emptiness; Visions of their own fancy they speak, not from the mouth of the LORD.
- ¹⁷They say to those who despise the word of the LORD, "Peace shall be yours"; And to everyone who walks in hardness of heart, "No evil shall overtake you."
- ¹⁸Now, who has stood in the council of the LORD, to see him and to hear his word? Who has heeded his word, so as to announce it?
- ¹⁹See, the storm of the LORD! His wrath breaks forth In a whirling storm that bursts upon the heads of the wicked.
- ²⁰The anger of the LORD shall not abate until he has done and fulfilled what he has determined in his heart. When the time comes, you shall fully understand.
- ²¹I did not send these prophets, yet they ran; I did not speak to them, yet they prophesied.
- ²²Had they stood in my council, and did they but proclaim to my people my words, They would have brought them back from evil ways and from their wicked deeds.
- ²³Am I a God near at hand only, says the LORD, and not a God far off?
- ²⁴Can a man hide in secret without my seeing him? says the LORD. Do I not fill both heaven and earth? says the LORD.
- ²⁵I have heard the prophets who prophesy lies in my name say, "I had a dream! I had a dream!"

- ²⁶How long will this continue? Is my name in the hearts of the prophets who prophesy lies and their own deceitful fancies?
- ²⁷By their dreams which they recount to each other, they think to make my people forget my name, just as their fathers forgot my name for Baal.
- ²⁸Let the prophet who has a dream recount his dream; let him who has my word speak my word truthfully! What has straw to do with the wheat? says the LORD.
- ²⁹Is not my word like fire, says the LORD, like a hammer shattering rocks?
- ³⁰Therefore I am against the prophets, says the LORD, who steal my words from each other.
- ³¹Yes, I am against the prophets, says the LORD, who borrow speeches to pronounce oracles.
- ³²Yes, I am against the prophets who prophesy lying dreams, says the LORD, and who lead my people astray by recounting their lies and by their empty boasting. From me they have no mission or command, and they do this people no good at all, says the LORD.
- ³³And when this people, or a prophet or a priest asks you, "What is the burden of the LORD?" you shall answer, "You are the burden, and I cast you off, says the LORD."
- ³⁴If a prophet or a priest or anyone else mentions "the burden of the LORD," I will punish that man and his house.
- ³⁵Thus you shall ask, when speaking to one another, "What answer did the LORD give?" or, "What did the LORD say?"
- ³⁶But the burden of the LORD you shall mention no more. For each man his own word becomes the burden so that you pervert the words of the living God, the LORD of hosts, our God.
- ³⁷Thus shall you ask the prophet, "What answer did the LORD give?" or, "What did the LORD say?"
- ³⁸But if you ask about "the burden of the LORD," then thus says the LORD: Because you use this phrase, "the burden of the LORD," though I forbade you to use it, ³⁹therefore I will lift you on high and cast you from my presence, you and the city which I gave to you and your fathers.

⁴⁰And I will bring upon you eternal reproach, eternal, unforgettable shame.

24The LORD showed me two baskets of figs placed before the temple of the LORD.--This was after Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, had exiled from Jerusalem Jeconiah, son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, and the princes of Judah, the artisans and the skilled workers, and brought them to Babylon.--

²One basket contained excellent figs, the early-ripening kind. But the other basket contained very bad figs, so bad they could not be eaten.

³Then the LORD said to me: What do you see, Jeremiah? "Figs," I replied; "the good ones are very good, but the bad ones very bad, so bad they cannot be eaten."

⁴Thereupon this word of the LORD came to me:

⁵Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Like these good figs, even so will I regard with favor Judah's exiles whom I sent away from this place into the land of the Chaldeans.

⁶I will look after them for their good, and bring them back to this land, to build them up, not to tear them down; to plant them, not to pluck them out.

⁷I will give them a heart with which to understand that I am the LORD. They shall be my people and I will be their God, for they shall return to me with their whole heart.

⁸And like the figs that are bad, so bad they cannot be eaten--yes, thus says the LORD--even so will I treat Zedekiah, king of Judah, and his princes, the remnant of Jerusalem remaining in this land and those who have settled in the land of Egypt.

⁹I will make them an object of horror to all the kingdoms of the earth, a reproach and a byword, a taunt and a curse, in all the places to which I will drive them.

¹⁰I will send upon them the sword, famine, and pestilence, until they have disappeared from the land which I gave them and their fathers.

25 The word that came to Jeremiah concerning all the people of Judah, in the fourth year of Jehoiakim, son of Josiah, king of Judah (the first year of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon).

²This word the prophet Jeremiah spoke to all the people of Judah and all the citizens of Jerusalem:

³Since the thirteenth year of Josiah, son of Amon, king of Judah, to this day—these three and twenty years—the word of the LORD has come to me and I spoke to you untiringly, but you would not listen.

⁴Though you refused to listen or pay heed, the LORD has sent you without fail all his servants the prophets

⁵with this message: Turn back, each of you, from your evil way and from your evil deeds; then you shall remain in the land which the LORD gave you and your fathers, from of old and forever.

⁶Do not follow strange gods to serve and adore them, lest you provoke me with your handiwork, and I bring evil upon you.

⁷But you would not listen to me, says the LORD, and so you provoked me with your handiwork to your own harm.

⁸Hence, thus says the LORD of hosts: Since you would not listen to my words,

⁹lo! I will send for and fetch all the tribes of the north, says the LORD (and I will send to Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, my servant); I will bring them against this land, against its inhabitants, and against all these neighboring nations. I will doom them, making them an object of horror, of ridicule, of everlasting reproach.

¹⁰Among them I will bring to an end the song of joy and the song of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, the sound of the millstone and the light of the lamp.

¹¹This whole land shall be a ruin and a desert. Seventy years these nations shall be enslaved to the king of Babylon;

¹²but when the seventy years have elapsed, I will punish the king of Babylon and the nation and the land of the Chaldeans for their guilt, says the LORD. Their land I will turn into everlasting desert.

¹³Against that land I will fulfill all the words I have spoken against it (all that is written in this book, which Jeremiah prophesied against all the nations).

¹⁴They also shall be enslaved to great nations and mighty kings, and thus I will repay them according to their own deeds and according to their own handiwork.

¹⁵For thus said the LORD, the God of Israel, to me: Take this cup of foaming wine from my hand, and have all the nations to whom I will send you drink it.

¹⁶They shall drink, and be convulsed, and go mad, because of the sword I will send among them.

¹⁷I took the cup from the hand of the LORD and gave drink to all the nations to which the LORD sent me:

¹⁸(Jerusalem, the cities of Judah, her kings and her princes, to make them a ruin and a desert, an object of ridicule and cursing, as they are today;)

¹⁹Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and his servants, his princes, all the people under him, native

²⁰and foreign; all the kings of the land of Uz; all the kings of the land of the Philistines: Ashkelon, Gaza, Ekron, and the remnant of Ashdod;

²¹Edom, Moab, and the Ammonites;

²²all the kings of Tyre, of Sidon, and of the shores beyond the sea;

²³Dedan and Tema and Buz, all the desert dwellers who shave their temples;

²⁴(all the kings of Arabia;)

²⁵all the kings of Zimri, of Elam, of the Medes;

²⁶all the kings of the north, near and far, one after the other; all the kingdoms upon the face of the earth (and after them the king of Sheshach shall drink).

²⁷Tell them: Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Drink! become drunk and vomit; fall, never to rise, before the sword that I will send among you!

²⁸If they refuse to take the cup from your hand and drink, say to them: Thus says the LORD of hosts: You must drink!

²⁹For since with this city, which is called by my name, I begin to inflict evil, how can you possibly be spared? You shall not be spared! I will call down the sword upon all who inhabit the earth, says the LORD of hosts.

³⁰Prophecy against them all these things and say to them: The LORD roars from on high, from his holy dwelling he raises his voice; Mightily he roars over the range, a shout like that of vintagers over the grapes.

³¹To all who inhabit the earth to its very ends the uproar spreads; For the LORD has an indictment against the nations, he is to pass judgment upon all mankind: The godless shall be given to the sword, says the LORD.

³²Thus says the LORD of hosts: Lo! calamity stalks from nation to nation; A great storm is unleashed from the ends of the earth.

³³On that day, those whom the LORD has slain will be strewn from one end of the earth to the other. None will mourn them, none will gather them for burial; they shall lie like dung on the field.

³⁴Howl, you shepherds, and wail! roll in the dust, leaders of the flock! The time for your slaughter has come; like choice rams you shall fall.

³⁵There is no flight for the shepherds, no escape for the leaders of the flock.

³⁶Listen! Wailing from the shepherds, howling by the leaders of the flock! For the LORD lays waste their grazing place,

³⁷desolate lie the peaceful pastures;

³⁸The lion leaves his lair, and their land is made desolate By the sweeping sword, by the burning wrath of the LORD.

26In the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim, son of Josiah, king of Judah, this message came from the LORD:

²Thus says the LORD: Stand in the court of the house of the LORD and speak to the people of all the cities of Judah who come to worship in the house of the LORD; whatever I command you, tell them, and omit nothing.

³Perhaps they will listen and turn back, each from his evil way, so that I may repent of the evil I have planned to inflict upon them for their evil deeds.

⁴Say to them: Thus says the LORD: If you disobey me, not living according to the law I placed before you

⁵and not listening to the words of my servants the prophets, whom I send you constantly though you do not obey them,

⁶I will treat this house like Shiloh, and make this the city which all the nations of the earth shall refer to when cursing another.

⁷Now the priests, the prophets, and all the people heard Jeremiah speak these words in the house of the LORD.

⁸When Jeremiah finished speaking all that the LORD bade him speak to all the people, the priests and prophets laid hold of him, crying, "You must be put to death!

⁹Why do you prophesy in the name of the LORD: 'This house shall be like Shiloh,' and 'This city shall be desolate and deserted'?" And all the people gathered about Jeremiah in the house of the LORD.

¹⁰When the princes of Judah were informed of these things, they came up from the king's palace to the house of the LORD and held court at the New Gate of the house of the LORD.

¹¹The priests and prophets said to the princes and to all the people, "This man deserves death; he has prophesied against this city, as you have heard with your own ears."

¹²Jeremiah gave this answer to the princes and all the people: "It was the LORD who sent me to prophesy against this house and city all that you have heard.

¹³Now, therefore, reform your ways and your deeds; listen to the voice of the LORD your God, so that the LORD will repent of the evil with which he threatens you.

¹⁴As for me, I am in your hands; do with me what you think good and right.

¹⁵But mark well: if you put me to death, it is innocent blood you bring on yourselves, on this city and its citizens. For in truth it was the LORD who sent me to you, to speak all these things for you to hear."

¹⁶Thereupon the princes and all the people said to the priests and the prophets, "This man does not deserve death; it is in the name of the LORD, our God, that he speaks to us."

¹⁷At this, some of the elders of the land came forward and said to all the people assembled,

¹⁹Did Hezekiah, king of Judah, and all Judah condemn him to death? Did they not rather fear the LORD and entreat the favor of the LORD, so that he repented of the evil with which he had threatened them? But we are on the point of committing this great evil to our own undoing."

²⁰There was another man who prophesied in the name of the LORD, Uriah, son of Shemaiah, from Kiriath-jearim; he prophesied the same things against this city and land as Jeremiah did.

²¹When King Jehoiakim and all his officers and princes were informed of his words, the king sought to kill him. But Uriah heard of it and fled in fear to Egypt.

²²Thereupon King Jehoiakim sent Elnathan, son of Achbor, and others with him into Egypt

²³to bring Uriah back to the king, who had him slain by the sword and his corpse cast into the common grave.

²⁴But Ahikam, son of Shaphan, protected Jeremiah, so that he was not handed over to the people to be put to death.

27 (In the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim, son of Josiah, king of Judah,) . . . this message came to Jeremiah from the LORD:

²Thus said the LORD to me: Make for yourself bands and yoke bars and put them over your shoulders.

³Send to the kings of Edom, of Moab, of the Ammonites, of Tyre, and of Sidon, through the ambassadors who have come to Jerusalem to Zedekiah, king of Judah,

⁴and charge them thus: Tell your masters: Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel:

⁵It was I who made the earth, and man and beast on the face of the earth, by my great power, with my outstretched arm; and I can give them to whomever I think fit.

⁶Now I have given all these lands into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, my servant; even the beasts of the field I have given him for his use.

⁷All nations shall serve him and his son and his grandson, until the time of his land, too, shall come. Then it in turn shall serve great nations and mighty kings.

⁸Meanwhile, if any nation or kingdom will not serve Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, or will not bend its neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, I will punish that nation with sword, famine, and pestilence, says the LORD, until I give them into his hand.

⁹You, however, must not listen to your prophets, to your diviners and dreamers, to your soothsayers and sorcerers, who say to you, "You need not serve the king of Babylon."

¹⁰For they prophesy lies to you, in order to drive you far from your land, to make me banish you so that you will perish.

¹¹The people that submits its neck to the yoke of the king of Babylon to serve him I will leave in peace on its own land, says the LORD, to till it and dwell in it.

¹²To Zedekiah, king of Judah, I spoke the same words: Submit your necks to the yoke of the king of Babylon; serve him and his people, so that you may live.

¹³Why should you and your people die by sword, famine, and pestilence, with which the LORD has threatened the nation that will not serve the king of Babylon?

¹⁴Do not listen to the words of those prophets who say, "You need not serve the king of Babylon," for they prophesy lies to you.

¹⁵I did not send them, says the LORD, but they prophesy falsely in my name, with the result that I must banish you, and you will perish, you and the prophets who are prophesying to you.

¹⁶To the priests and to all the people I spoke as follows: Thus says the LORD: Do not listen to the words of your prophets who prophesy to you: "The vessels of the house of the LORD will be brought back from Babylon soon now," for they prophesy lies to you.

¹⁷Do not listen to them! Serve the king of Babylon that you may live; else this city will become a heap of ruins.

¹⁸If they were prophets, if the word of the LORD were with them, they would intercede with the LORD of hosts, that the vessels which remain in the house of the LORD and in the palace of the king of Judah and in Jerusalem might not be taken to Babylon.

¹⁹For thus says the LORD of hosts concerning the pillars, the bronze sea, the stands, and the rest of the vessels that remain in this city,

²⁰which Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, did not take when he exiled Jeconiah, son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, from Jerusalem to Babylon, along with all the nobles of Judah and Jerusalem--

²¹yes, thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that remain in the house of the LORD, in the palace of the king of Judah, and in Jerusalem:

²²To Babylon they shall be brought, and there they shall remain, until the day I look for them, says the LORD; then I will bring them back and restore them to this place.

28 That same year, in (the beginning of) the reign of Zedekiah, king of Judah, in the fifth month of the fourth year, the prophet Hananiah, son of Azzur, from Gibeon, said to me in the house of the LORD in the presence of the priests and all the people:

²"Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: 'I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon.

³Within two years I will restore to this place all the vessels of the temple of the LORD which Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, took away from this place to Babylon.

⁴And I will bring back to this place Jeconiah, son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, and all the exiles of Judah who went to Babylon,' says the LORD. 'for I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon.'"

⁵The prophet Jeremiah answered the prophet Hananiah in the presence of the priests and all the people assembled in the house of the LORD, ⁶and said: Amen! thus may the LORD do! May he fulfill the things you have prophesied by bringing the vessels of the house of the LORD and all the exiles back from Babylon to this place!

⁷But now, listen to what I am about to state in your hearing and the hearing of all the people.

⁸From of old, the prophets who were before you and me prophesied war, woe, and pestilence against many lands and mighty kingdoms.

⁹But the prophet who prophesies peace is recognized as truly sent by the LORD only when his prophetic prediction is fulfilled.

¹⁰Thereupon the prophet Hananiah took the yoke from the neck of the prophet Jeremiah, broke it,

¹¹and said in the presence of all the people: "Thus says the LORD: 'Even so, within two years I will break the yoke of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, from off the neck of all the nations.'" At that, the prophet Jeremiah went away.

¹²Some time after the prophet Hananiah had broken the yoke from off the neck of the prophet Jeremiah, the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah:

¹³Go tell Hananiah this: Thus says the LORD: By breaking a wooden yoke, you forge an iron yoke!

¹⁴For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: A yoke of iron I will place on the necks of all these nations serving Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, and they shall serve him; even the beasts of the field I give him.

¹⁵To the prophet Hananiah the prophet Jeremiah said: Hear this, Hananiah! The LORD has not sent you, and you have raised false confidence in this people.

¹⁶For this, says the LORD, I will dispatch you from the face of the earth; this very year you shall die, because you have preached rebellion against the LORD.

¹⁷That same year, in the seventh month, Hananiah the prophet died.

29 This is the contents of the letter which the prophet Jeremiah sent from Jerusalem to the remaining elders among the exiles, to the priests, the prophets, and all the people who were exiled by Nebuchadnezzar from Jerusalem to Babylon.

²This was after King Jeconiah and the queen mother, the courtiers, the princes of Judah and Jerusalem, the artisans and the skilled workmen had left Jerusalem.

³Delivered in Babylon by Elasah, son of Shaphan, and by Gemariah, son of Hilkiah, whom Zedekiah, king of Judah, sent to the king of Babylon, the letter read:

⁴Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, to all the exiles whom I exiled from Jerusalem to Babylon:

⁵Build houses to dwell in; plant gardens, and eat their fruits.

⁶Take wives and beget sons and daughters; find wives for your sons and give your daughters husbands, so that they may bear sons and daughters. There you must increase in number, not decrease.

⁷Promote the welfare of the city to which I have exiled you; pray for it to the LORD, for upon its welfare depends your own.

⁸thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Do not let yourselves be deceived by the prophets and diviners who are among you; do not listen to those among you who dream dreams.

⁹For they prophesy lies to you in my name; I did not send them, says the LORD.

¹⁰Thus says the LORD: Only after seventy years have elapsed for Babylon will I visit you and fulfill for you my promise to bring you back to this place.

¹¹For I know well the plans I have in mind for you, says the LORD, plans for your welfare, not for woe! plans to give you a future full of hope.

¹²When you call me, when you go to pray to me, I will listen to you.

¹³When you look for me, you will find me. Yes, when you seek me with all your heart,

¹⁴you will find me with you, says the LORD, and I will change your lot; I will gather you together from all the nations and all the places to which I have banished you, says the LORD, and bring you back to the place from which I have exiled you.

¹⁵As for your saying, "The LORD has raised up for us prophets here in Babylon"--

¹⁶Thus says the LORD concerning the king who sits on David's throne, and all the people who remain in this city, your brethren who did not go with you into exile;

¹⁷thus says the LORD of hosts: I am sending against them sword, famine and pestilence. I will make them like rotten figs, too bad to be eaten.

¹⁸I will pursue them with sword, famine, and pestilence, and make them an object of horror to all the kingdoms of the earth, of malediction, astonishment, ridicule, and reproach to all the nations among which I will banish them.

¹⁹For they did not listen to my words, says the LORD, though I kept sending them my servants the prophets, only to have them go unheeded, says the LORD.

²⁰You, now, listen to the word of the LORD, all you exiles whom I sent away from Jerusalem to Babylon.

²¹This is what the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, has to say about those who prophesy lies to you in my name, Ahab, son of Kolaiah, and Zedekiah, son of Maaseiah: I am handing them over to Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, who will slay them before your eyes.

²²All the exiles of Judah in Babylon will pattern a curse after them: "May the LORD make you like Zedekiah and Ahab, whom the king of Babylon roasted in the flames."

²³For they are criminals in Israel, committing adultery with their neighbors' wives, and alleging in my name things I did not command. I know, I am witness, says the LORD.

²⁴Say this to Shemaiah, the Nehelamite:

²⁵Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Because you sent letters on your own authority to all the people of Jerusalem, to all the priests and to Zephaniah, the priest, son of Maaseiah, with this message:

²⁶"The LORD has appointed you priest in place of the priest Jehoiada, so that there may be police officers in the house of the LORD, to take action against all madmen and those who pose as prophets, by putting them into the stocks or the pillory.

²⁷Why, then, do you not rebuke Jeremiah of Anathoth who poses as a prophet among you?

²⁸For he sent us in Babylon this message: It will be a long time; build houses to live in; plant gardens and eat their fruits. . . ."

²⁹When the priest Zephaniah read this letter to the prophet,

³⁰the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah:

³¹Send the message to all the exiles: Thus says the LORD concerning Shemaiah, the Nehelamite: Because Shemaiah prophesies to you without a mission from me, and raises false confidence, ³²says the LORD, I will therefore punish Shemaiah, the Nehelamite, and his offspring. None of them shall survive among this people to see the good I will do to this people, says the LORD, because he preached rebellion against the LORD.

30 The following message came to Jeremiah from the LORD:

²Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Write all the words I have spoken to you in a book.

³For behold, the days will come, says the LORD, when I will change the lot of my people (of Israel and Judah, says the LORD), and bring them back to the land which I gave to their fathers; they shall have it as their possession.

⁴These are the words which the LORD spoke to Israel and to Judah:

⁵thus says the LORD: A cry of dismay we hear; fear reigns, not peace.

⁶Inquire, and see: since when do men bear children? Why, then, do I see all these men, with their hands on their loins like women in childbirth? Why have all their faces turned deathly pale?

⁷How mighty is that day-- none like it! A time of distress for Jacob, though he shall be saved from it.

⁸On that day, says the LORD of hosts, "I will break his yoke from off your necks and snap your bonds." Strangers shall no longer enslave them;

⁹instead, they shall serve the LORD, their God, and David, their king, whom I will raise up for them.

¹⁰But you, my servant Jacob, fear not, says the LORD, be not dismayed, O Israel! Behold, I will deliver you from the far-off land, your descendants, from their land of exile; Jacob shall again find rest, shall be tranquil and undisturbed, ¹¹for I am with you, says the LORD, to deliver you. I will make an end of all the nations among which I have scattered you; but of you I will not make an end. I will chastise you as you deserve, I will not let you go unpunished.

¹²For thus says the LORD: Incurable is your wound, grievous your bruise;

¹³There is none to plead your cause, no remedy for your running sore, no healing for you.

¹⁴All your lovers have forgotten you, they do not seek you. I struck you as an enemy would strike, punished you cruelly;

¹⁵Why cry out over your wound? your pain is without relief. Because of your great guilt, your numerous sins, I have done this to you.

¹⁶Yet all who devour you shall be devoured, all your enemies shall go into exile. All who plunder you shall be plundered, all who pillage you I will hand over to pillage.

¹⁷For I will restore you to health; of your wounds I will heal you, says the LORD. "The outcast" they have called you, "with no avenger."

¹⁸Thus says the LORD: See! I will restore the tents of Jacob, his dwellings I will pity; City shall be rebuilt upon hill, and palace restored as it was.

¹⁹From them will resound songs of praise, the laughter of happy men. I will make them not few, but many; they will not be tiny, for I will glorify them.

²⁰His sons shall be as of old, his assembly before me shall stand firm; I will punish all his oppressors.

²¹His leader shall be one of his own, and his rulers shall come from his kin. When I summon him, he shall approach me; how else should one take the deadly risk of approaching me? says the LORD.

²²You shall be my people, and I will be your God.

²³See, the storm of the LORD! His wrath breaks forth In a whirling storm that bursts upon the heads of the wicked.

²⁴The anger of the LORD will not abate until he has done and fulfilled what he has determined in his heart. When the time comes, you will fully understand.

31 At that time, says the LORD, I will be the God of all the tribes of Israel, and they shall be my people.

- ²Thus says the LORD: The people that escaped the sword have found favor in the desert. As Israel comes forward to be given his rest,
- ³the LORD appears to him from afar: With age-old love I have loved you; so I have kept my mercy toward you.
- ⁴Again I will restore you, and you shall be rebuilt, O virgin Israel; Carrying your festive tambourines, you shall go forth dancing with the merry-makers.
- ⁵Again you shall plant vineyards on the mountains of Samaria; those who plant them shall enjoy the fruits.
- ⁶Yes, a day will come when the watchmen will call out on Mount Ephraim: "Rise up, let us go to Zion, to the LORD, our God."
- ⁷For thus says the LORD: Shout with joy for Jacob, exult at the head of the nations; proclaim your praise and say: The LORD has delivered his people, the remnant of Israel.
- ⁸Behold, I will bring them back from the land of the north; I will gather them from the ends of the world, with the blind and the lame in their midst, The mothers and those with child; they shall return as an immense throng.
- ⁹They departed in tears, but I will console them and guide them; I will lead them to brooks of water, on a level road, so that none shall stumble. For I am a father to Israel, Ephraim is my first-born.
- ¹⁰Hear the word of the LORD, O nations, proclaim it on distant coasts, and say: He who scattered Israel, now gathers them together, he guards them as a shepherd his flock.
- ¹¹The LORD shall ransom Jacob, he shall redeem him from the hand of his conqueror.
- ¹²Shouting, they shall mount the heights of Zion, they shall come streaming to the LORD'S blessings: The grain, the wine, and the oil, the sheep and the oxen; They themselves shall be like watered gardens, never again shall they languish.
- ¹³Then the virgins shall make merry and dance, and young men and old as well. I will turn their mourning into joy, I will console and gladden them after their sorrows.

- ¹⁴ I will lavish choice portions upon the priests, and my people shall be filled with my blessings, says the LORD.
- ¹⁵ Thus says the LORD: In Ramah is heard the sound of moaning, of bitter weeping! Rachel mourns her children, she refuses to be consoled because her children are no more.
- ¹⁶ Thus says the LORD: Cease your cries of mourning, wipe the tears from your eyes. The sorrow you have shown shall have its reward, says the LORD, they shall return from the enemy's land.
- ¹⁷ There is hope for your future, says the LORD; your sons shall return to their own borders.
- ¹⁸ I hear, I hear Ephraim pleading: You chastised me, and I am chastened; I was an untamed calf. If you allow me, I will return, for you are the LORD, my God.
- ¹⁹ I turn in repentance; I have come to myself, I strike my breast; I blush with shame, I bear the disgrace of my youth.
- ²⁰ Is Ephraim not my favored son, the child in whom I delight? Often as I threaten him, I still remember him with favor; My heart stirs for him, I must show him mercy, says the LORD.
- ²¹ Set up road markers, put up guideposts; Turn your attention to the highway, the road by which you went. Turn back, O virgin Israel, turn back to these your cities.
- ²² How long will you continue to stray, rebellious daughter? The LORD has created a new thing upon the earth: the woman must encompass the man with devotion.
- ²³ Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: When I change their lot in the land of Judah and her cities, they shall again repeat this greeting: "May the LORD bless you, holy mountain, abode of justice!"
- ²⁴ Judah and all her cities, the farmers and those who lead the flock, shall dwell there together.
- ²⁵ For I will refresh the weary soul; every soul that languishes I will replenish.
- ²⁶ Upon this I awoke and opened my eyes; but my sleep was sweet to me.

²⁷The days are coming, says the LORD, when I will seed the house of Israel and the house of Judah with the seed of man and the seed of beast.

²⁸As I once watched over them to uproot and pull down, to destroy, to ruin, and to harm, so I will watch over them to build and to plant, says the LORD.

²⁹In those days they shall no longer say, "The fathers ate unripe grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge,"

³⁰but through his own fault only shall anyone die: the teeth of him who eats the unripe grapes shall be set on edge.

³¹The days are coming, says the LORD, when I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel and the house of Judah.

³²It will not be like the covenant I made with their fathers the day I took them by the hand to lead them forth from the land of Egypt; for they broke my covenant and I had to show myself their master, says the LORD.

³³But this is the covenant which I will make with the house of Israel after those days, says the LORD. I will place my law within them, and write it upon their hearts; I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

³⁴No longer will they have need to teach their friends and kinsmen how to know the LORD. All, from least to greatest, shall know me, says the LORD, for I will forgive their evildoing and remember their sin no more.

³⁵Thus says the LORD, He who gives the sun to light the day, moon and stars to light the night; Who stirs up the sea till its waves roar, whose name is LORD of hosts:

³⁶If ever these natural laws give way in spite of me, says the LORD, Then shall the race of Israel cease as a nation before me forever.

³⁷Thus says the LORD: If the heavens on high can be measured, or the foundations below the earth be sounded, Then will I cast off the whole race of Israel because of all they have done, says the LORD.

³⁸The days are coming, says the LORD, when the city shall be rebuilt as the LORD'S, from the Tower of Hananel to the Corner Gate.

³⁹The measuring line shall be stretched from there straight to the hill Gareb and then turn to Goah.

⁴⁰The whole valley of corpses and ashes, all the slopes toward the Kidron Valley, as far as the corner of the Horse Gate at the east, shall be holy to the LORD. Never again shall the city be rooted up or thrown down.

32 This message came to Jeremiah from the LORD in the tenth year of Zedekiah, king of Judah, the eighteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar.

²At that time the army of the king of Babylon was besieging Jerusalem, and the prophet Jeremiah was imprisoned in the quarters of the guard, at the king's palace.

³Zedekiah, king of Judah, had imprisoned him there, remonstrating: "How dare you prophesy: Thus says the LORD: I am handing over this city to the king of Babylon, who will capture it.

⁴Neither shall Zedekiah, king of Judah, escape the hands of the Chaldeans; rather shall he be handed over to the king of Babylon. They shall meet and speak face to face,

⁵and Zedekiah shall be taken to Babylon. There he shall remain, until I attend to him, says the LORD; in fighting the Chaldeans, you cannot win!"

⁶This message came to me from the LORD, said Jeremiah:

⁷Hanamel, son of your uncle Shallum, will come to you with the offer: "Buy for yourself my field in Anathoth, since you, as nearest relative, have the first right of purchase."

⁸Then, as the LORD foretold, Hanamel, my uncle's son, came to me to the quarters of the guard and said, "Please buy my field in Anathoth, in the district of Benjamin; as nearest relative, you have the first claim to possess it; make it yours." I knew this was what the LORD meant, ⁹so I bought the field in Anathoth from my cousin Hanamel, paying him the money, seventeen silver shekels.

¹⁰When I had written and sealed the deed, called witnesses and weighed out the silver on the scales, ¹¹I accepted the deed of purchase, both the sealed copy, containing title and conditions, and the open one.

¹²This deed of purchase I gave to Baruch, son of Neriah, son of Mahseiah, in the presence of my cousin Hanamel and of the witnesses who had signed the deed, and before all the men of Judah who happened to be in the quarters of the guard.

¹³In their presence I gave Baruch this charge:

¹⁴Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Take these deeds, both the sealed and the open deed of purchase, and put them in an earthen jar, so that they can be kept there a long time.

¹⁵For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Houses and fields and vineyards shall again be bought in this land.

¹⁶After giving the deed of purchase to Baruch, son of Neriah, I prayed thus to the LORD:

¹⁷Ah, Lord GOD, you have made heaven and earth by your great might, with your outstretched arm; nothing is impossible to you.

¹⁸You continue your kindness through a thousand generations; and you repay the fathers' guilt, even into the lap of their sons who follow them. O God, great and mighty, whose name is LORD of hosts,

¹⁹great in counsel, mighty in deed, whose eyes are open to all the ways of men, giving to each according to his ways, according to the fruit of his deeds:

²⁰you have wrought signs and wonders in the land of Egypt and to this day, both in Israel and among all other men, until now you have gained renown.

²¹With strong hand and outstretched arm you brought your people Israel out of the land of Egypt amid signs and wonders and great terror.

²²This land you gave them, as you had promised their fathers under oath, a land flowing with milk and honey.

²³They entered and took possession of it, but they did not listen to your voice; by your law they did not live, and what you commanded they failed to do. Hence you let all these evils befall them.

²⁴See, the siegeworks have arrived at this city to breach it; the city will be handed over to the Chaldeans who are attacking it, amid sword, famine, and pestilence. What you threatened has happened, you see it yourself;

²⁵and yet you tell me, O Lord GOD: Buy the field with money, call in witnesses. But the city has already been handed over to the Chaldeans!

²⁶Then this word of the LORD came to Jeremiah:

²⁷I am the LORD, the God of all mankind! Is anything impossible to me?

²⁸This now is what the LORD says: I will hand over this city to the Chaldeans, for Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, to take.

²⁹The Chaldeans who are attacking it shall enter this city and set fire to it, burning it and its houses, on the roofs of which incense was burned to Baal and libations were poured out to strange gods as a provocation to me.

³⁰The Israelites and the Judeans from their youth have done only what is evil in my eyes; the Israelites did nothing but provoke me with the works of their hands, says the LORD.

³¹From the day it was built to this day, this city has excited my anger and wrath,

³²so that I must put it out of my sight for all the wickedness the Israelites and Judeans, with their kings and their princes, their priests and their prophets, the men of Judah and the citizens of Jerusalem, have done to provoke me.

³³They turned their backs to me, not their faces; though I kept teaching them, they would not listen to my correction.

³⁴They defiled the house named after me by the horrid idols they set up in it.

³⁵They built high places to Baal in the Valley of Ben-hinnom, and immolated their sons and daughters to Molech, bringing sin upon Judah; this I never commanded them, nor did it even enter my mind that they should practice such abominations.

³⁶Now, therefore, thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, concerning this city, which as you say is handed over to the king of Babylon amid sword, famine, and pestilence:

³⁷Behold, I will gather them together from all the lands to which in anger, wrath, and great rage I banish them; I will bring them back to this place and settle them here in safety.

³⁸They shall be my people, and I will be their God.

³⁹One heart and one way I will give them, that they may fear me always, to their own good and that of their children after them.

⁴⁰I will make with them an eternal covenant, never to cease doing good to them; into their hearts I will put the fear of me, that they may never depart from me.

⁴¹I will take delight in doing good to them: I will replant them firmly in this land, with all my heart and soul.

⁴²For thus says the LORD: Just as I brought upon this people all this great evil, so I will bring upon them all the good I promise them.

⁴³Fields shall again be bought in this land, which you call a desert, without man or beast, handed over to the Chaldeans.

⁴⁴Fields shall be bought with money, deeds written and sealed, and witnesses shall be used in the land of Benjamin, in the suburbs of Jerusalem, in the cities of Judah and of the hill country, in the cities of the foothills and of the Negeb, when I change their lot, says the LORD.

33 The word of the LORD came to Jeremiah a second time while he was still imprisoned in the quarters of the guard:

²Thus says the LORD who made the earth and gave it form and firmness, whose name is LORD:

³Call to me, and I will answer you; I will tell to you things great beyond reach of your knowledge.

⁴Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, concerning the houses of this city and the palaces of Judah's kings, which are being destroyed in the face of siegeworks and the sword:

⁵men come to battle the Chaldeans, and these houses will be filled with the corpses of those whom I slay in my anger and wrath, when I hide my face from this city for all their wickedness.

⁶Behold, I will treat and assuage the city's wounds; I will heal them, and reveal to them an abundance of lasting peace.

⁷I will change the lot of Judah and the lot of Israel, and rebuild them as of old.

⁸I will cleanse them of all the guilt they incurred by sinning against me; all their offenses by which they sinned and rebelled against me, I will forgive.

⁹Then Jerusalem shall be my joy, my praise, my glory, before all the nations of the earth, as they hear of all the good I will do among them. They shall be in fear and trembling over all the peaceful benefits I will give her.

¹⁰Thus says the LORD: In this place of which you say, "How desolate it is, without man, without beast!" and in the cities of Judah, in the streets of Jerusalem that are now deserted, without man, without citizen, without beast, there shall yet be heard ¹¹the cry of joy, the cry of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom, the voice of the bride, the sound of those who bring thank offerings to the house of the LORD, singing, "Give thanks to the LORD of hosts, for the LORD is good; his mercy endures forever." For I will restore this country as of old, says the LORD.

¹²Thus says the LORD of hosts: In this place, now desolate, without man or beast, and in all its cities there shall again be sheepfolds for the shepherds to couch their flocks.

¹³In the cities of the hill country, of the foothills, and of the Negeb, in the land of Benjamin and the suburbs of Jerusalem, and in the cities of Judah, flocks will again pass under the hands of the one who counts them, says the LORD.

¹⁴The days are coming, says the LORD, when I will fulfill the promise I made to the house of Israel and Judah.

¹⁵In those days, in that time, I will raise up for David a just shoot; he shall do what is right and just in the land.

¹⁶In those days Judah shall be safe and Jerusalem shall dwell secure; this is what they shall call her: "The LORD our justice."

¹⁷For thus says the LORD: Never shall David lack a successor on the throne of the house of Israel,

¹⁸nor shall priests of Levi ever be lacking, to offer holocausts before me, to burn cereal offerings, and to sacrifice victims. This word of the LORD also came to Jeremiah:

¹⁹Thus says the LORD:

²⁰If you can break my covenant with day, and my covenant with night, so that day and night no longer alternate in sequence,

²¹then can my covenant with my servant David also be broken, so that he will not have a son to be king upon his throne, and my covenant with the priests of Levi who minister to me.

²²Like the host of heaven which cannot be numbered, and the sands of the sea which cannot be counted, I will multiply the descendants of my servant David and the Levites who minister to me.

²³This word of the LORD came to Jeremiah:

²⁴Have you not noticed what these people are saying: "The LORD has rejected the two tribes which he had chosen"? They spurn my people as if it were no longer a nation in their eyes.

²⁵Thus says the LORD: When I have no covenant with day and night, and have given no laws to heaven and earth, ²⁶then too will I reject the descendants of Jacob and of my servant David, so as not to take from his descendants rulers for the race of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. For I will change their lot and show them mercy.

34This word came to Jeremiah from the LORD while Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, and his armies and the earth's kingdoms subject to him, as well as the other peoples, were all attacking Jerusalem and all her cities:

²Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Go to Zedekiah, king of Judah, and tell him: Thus says the LORD: I am handing this city over to the king of Babylon; he will destroy it with fire.

³Neither shall you escape his hand; rather you will be captured and fall into his hands. You shall see the king of Babylon and speak to him face to face. Then you shall be taken to Babylon.

⁴But if you obey the word of the LORD, Zedekiah, king of Judah, then, says the LORD to you, you shall not die by the sword.

⁵You shall die in peace, and they will lament you as their lord, and burn spices for your burial as they did for your fathers, the kings who preceded you from the first; it is I who make this promise, says the LORD.

⁶The prophet Jeremiah told all these things to Zedekiah, king of Judah, in Jerusalem, ⁷while the armies of the king of Babylon were attacking Jerusalem and the remaining cities of Judah, Lachish, and Azekah, since these alone were left of the fortified cities of Judah.

⁸This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD after King Zedekiah had made an agreement with all the people in Jerusalem to issue an edict of emancipation.

⁹Everyone was to free his Hebrew slaves, male and female, so that no one should hold a man of Judah, his brother, in slavery.

¹⁰All the princes and the others who entered the agreement consented to set free their male and female servants, so that they should be slaves no longer. But though they agreed and freed them,

¹¹afterward they took back their male and female slaves whom they had set free and again forced them into service.

¹²Then this word of the LORD came to Jeremiah:

¹³Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: The day I brought your fathers out of the land of Egypt, out of the place where they were slaves, I made this covenant with them:

¹⁴Every seventh year each of you shall set free his Hebrew brother who has sold himself to you; six years he shall serve you, but then you shall let him go free. Your fathers, however, did not heed me or obey me.

¹⁵Today you indeed repented and did what is right in my eyes by proclaiming the emancipation of your brethren and making an agreement before me in the house that is named after me.

¹⁶But then you changed your mind and profaned my name by taking back your male and female slaves to whom you had given their freedom; you forced them once more into slavery.

¹⁷Therefore, thus says the LORD: You did not obey me by proclaiming your neighbors and kinsmen free. I now proclaim you free, says the LORD, for the sword, famine, and pestilence. I will make you an object of horror to all the kingdoms of the earth.

¹⁸The men who violated my covenant and did not observe the terms of the agreement which they made before me, I will make like the calf which they cut in two, between whose two parts they passed.

¹⁹The princes of Judah and of Jerusalem, the courtiers, the priests, and the common people, who passed between the parts of the calf, ²⁰I will hand over, all of them, to their enemies, to those who seek their lives: their corpses shall be food for the birds of the air and the beasts of the field.

²¹Zedekiah, too, king of Judah, and his princes, I will hand over to their enemies, to those who seek their lives, to the soldiers of the king of Babylon who have at present withdrawn from you.

²²I will give the command, says the LORD, and bring them back to this city. They shall attack and capture it, and destroy it with fire; the cities of Judah I will turn into a desert where no man dwells.

35 This word came to Jeremiah from the LORD in the days of Jehoiakim, son of Josiah, king of Judah:

²Approach the Rechabites and speak to them; bring them into the house of the LORD, to one of the rooms, and give them wine to drink.

³So I went and brought Jaazaniah, son of Jeremiah, son of Habazziniah, his brothers and all his sons, the whole company of the Rechabites, ⁴into the house of the LORD, to the room of the sons of Hanan, son of Igdaliah, the man of God, next to the princes' room, above the room of Maaseiah, son of Shallum, keeper of the doorway.

⁵I set before these Rechabite men bowls full of wine and offered them cups to drink the wine.

⁶"We do not drink wine," they said to me: "Jonadab, Rechab's son, our father, forbade us in these words: 'Neither you nor your children shall ever drink wine.'

⁷Build no house and sow no seed; neither plant nor own a vineyard. You shall dwell in tents all your life, so that you may live long on the earth where you are wayfarers.'

⁸Now we have heeded Jonadab, Rechab's son, our father, in all his prohibitions. All our lives we have not drunk wine, neither we, nor our wives, nor our sons, nor our daughters.

⁹We build no houses to live in; we own no vineyards or fields or crops,

¹⁰and we live in tents; we obediently do everything our father Jonadab commanded us.

¹¹But when Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, invaded this land, we decided to come into Jerusalem to escape the army of the Chaldeans and the army of Aram; that is why we are now living in Jerusalem."

¹²Then this word of the LORD came to Jeremiah:

¹³Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Go, say to the men of Judah and to the citizens of Jerusalem: Will you not take correction and obey my words? says the LORD.

¹⁴The advice of Jonadab, Rechab's son, by which he forbade his children to drink wine, has been followed: to this day they have not drunk it; they obeyed their father's command. Me, however, you have not obeyed, although I spoke to you untiringly and insistently.

¹⁵I kept sending you all my servants the prophets, telling you to turn back, all of you, from your evil way; to reform your conduct, and not follow strange gods or serve them, if you would remain on the land which I gave you and your fathers; but you did not heed me or obey me.

¹⁶Yes, the children of Jonadab, Rechab's son, observed the command which their father laid on them; but this people does not obey me!

¹⁷Now, therefore, says the LORD God of hosts, the God of Israel: I will bring upon Judah and all the citizens of Jerusalem every evil that I threatened; because when I spoke they did not obey, when I called they did not answer.

¹⁸But to the company of the Rechabites Jeremiah said: Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Since you have obeyed the command of Jonadab, your father, kept all his commands and done everything he commanded you, ¹⁹thus therefore says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Never shall there fail to be a descendant of Jonadab, Rechab's son, standing in my service.

36 In the fourth year of Jehoiakim, son of Josiah, king of Judah, this word came to Jeremiah from the LORD:

²Take a scroll and write on it all the words I have spoken to you against Israel, Judah, and all the nations, from the day I first spoke to you, in the days of Josiah, until today.

³Perhaps, when the house of Judah hears all the evil I have in mind to do to them, they will turn back each from his evil way, so that I may forgive their wickedness and their sin.

⁴So Jeremiah called Baruch, son of Neriah, who wrote down on a scroll, as Jeremiah dictated, all the words which the LORD had spoken to him.

⁵Then Jeremiah charged Baruch: I cannot go to the house of the LORD; I am prevented from doing so.

⁶Do you go on the fast day and read publicly in the LORD'S house the LORD'S words from the scroll you wrote at my dictation; read them also to all the men of Judah who come up from their cities.

⁷Perhaps they will lay their supplication before the LORD and will all turn back from their evil way; for great is the fury of anger with which the LORD has threatened this people.

⁸Baruch, son of Neriah, did everything the prophet Jeremiah commanded; from the book-scroll he read the LORD'S words in the LORD'S house.

⁹In the ninth month, in the fifth year of Jehoiakim, son of Josiah, king of Judah, a fast to placate the LORD was proclaimed for all the people of Jerusalem and all who came from Judah's cities to Jerusalem.

¹⁰It was in the room of Gemariah, son of the scribe Shaphan, in the upper court of the LORD'S house, at the entrance of the New Temple-Gate, that Baruch publicly read the words of Jeremiah from his book.

¹¹Now Micaiah, son of Gemariah, son of Shaphan, heard all the words of the LORD read from the book.

¹²So he went down to the king's palace, into the scribe's chamber, where the princes were just then in session: Elishama, the scribe, Delaiah, son of Shemaiah, Elnathan, son of Achbor, Gemariah, son of Shaphan, Zedekiah, son of Hananiah, and the other princes.

¹³To them Micaiah reported all that he had heard Baruch read publicly from his book.

¹⁴Thereupon the princes sent Jehudi, son of Nethaniah, son of Shelemiah, son of Cushi, to Baruch with the order: "Come, and bring with you the scroll you read publicly to the people." Scroll in hand, Baruch, son of Neriah, went to them.

¹⁵"Sit down," they said to him, "and read it to us." Baruch read it to them,

¹⁶and when they heard all its words, they were frightened and said to one another, "We must certainly tell the king all these things."

¹⁷Then they asked Baruch: "Tell us, please, how you came to write down all these words."

¹⁸"Jeremiah dictated all these words to me," Baruch answered them, "and I wrote them down with ink in the book."

¹⁹At this the princes said to Baruch, "Go into hiding, you and Jeremiah; let no one know where you are."

²⁰Leaving the scroll in safekeeping in the room of Elishama the scribe, they entered the room where the king was. When they told him everything that had happened,

²¹he sent Jehudi to fetch the scroll. Jehudi brought it from the room of Elishama the scribe, and read it to the king and to all the princes who were in attendance on the king.

²²Now the king was sitting in his winter house, since it was the ninth month, and fire was burning in a brazier before him.

²³Each time Jehudi finished reading three or four columns, the king would cut off the piece with a scribe's knife and cast it into the fire in the brazier, until the entire roll was consumed in the fire.

²⁴Hearing all these words did not frighten the king and his ministers or cause them to rend their garments.

²⁵And though Elnathan, Delaiah, and Gemariah urged the king not to burn the scroll, he would not listen to them,

²⁶but commanded Jerahmeel, a royal prince, and Seraiah, son of Azriel, and Shelemiah, son of Abdeel, to arrest Baruch, the secretary, and the prophet Jeremiah. But the LORD kept them concealed.

²⁷This word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, after the king burned the scroll with the text Jeremiah had dictated to Baruch:

²⁸Take another scroll, and write on it everything that the first scroll contained, which Jehoiakim, king of Judah, burned up.

²⁹And against Jehoiakim, king of Judah, say this: Thus says the LORD: You burned that scroll, saying, "Why did you write on it: Babylon's king shall surely come and lay waste this land and empty it of man and beast?"

³⁰The LORD now says of Jehoiakim, king of Judah: No descendant of his shall succeed to David's throne; his corpse shall be cast out, exposed to the heat of day, to the cold of night.

³¹I will punish him and his descendants and his ministers for their wickedness; against them and the citizens of Jerusalem and the men of Judah I will fulfill all the threats of evil which went unheeded.

³²Jeremiah took another scroll, and gave it to his secretary, Baruch, son of Neriah; he wrote on it at Jeremiah's dictation all the words contained in the book which Jehoiakim, king of Judah, had burned in the fire, and many others of the same kind in addition.

37 Coniah, son of Jehoiakim, was succeeded by King Zedekiah, son of Josiah; he was made king over the land of Judah by Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon.

²Neither he, nor his ministers, nor the people of the land would listen to the words of the LORD spoken by Jeremiah the prophet.

³Yet King Zedekiah sent Jehucal, son of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah, son of Maaseiah the priest, to the prophet Jeremiah with this request: "Pray to the LORD, our God, for us."

- ⁴At this time Jeremiah had not yet been put into prison; he still came and went freely among the people.
- ⁵Also, Pharaoh's army had set out from Egypt, and when the Chaldeans who were besieging Jerusalem heard this report they marched away from the city.
- ⁶This word of the LORD then came to the prophet Jeremiah:
- ⁷Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Give this answer to the king of Judah who sent you to me to consult me: Pharaoh's army which has set out to help you will return to its own land, Egypt.
- ⁸The Chaldeans shall return to the fight against this city; they shall capture it and destroy it with fire.
- ⁹Thus says the LORD: Do not deceive yourselves with the thought that the Chaldeans will leave you for good, because they shall not leave!
- ¹⁰Even if you were to defeat the whole Chaldean army now attacking you, and only the wounded remained, each in his tent, these would rise up and destroy the city with fire.
- ¹¹When the Chaldean army lifted the siege of Jerusalem at the threat of the army of Pharaoh,
- ¹²Jeremiah set out from Jerusalem for the district of Benjamin, to take part with his family in the division of an inheritance.
- ¹³But when he reached the Gate of Benjamin, he met the captain of the guard, a man named Irijah, son of Shelemiah, son of Hananiah; he seized the prophet Jeremiah, saying, "You are deserting to the Chaldeans!"
- ¹⁴"That is a lie!" Jeremiah answered, "I am not deserting to the Chaldeans." Without listening, Irijah kept Jeremiah in custody and brought him to the princes.
- ¹⁵The princes were enraged, and had Jeremiah beaten and thrown into prison in the house of Jonathan the scribe, which they were using as a jail.
- ¹⁶And so Jeremiah entered the vaulted dungeon, where he remained a long time.

¹⁷Once King Zedekiah had him brought to his palace and he asked him secretly whether there was any message from the LORD. Yes! Jeremiah answered: you shall be handed over to the king of Babylon.

¹⁸Jeremiah then asked King Zedekiah: In what have I wronged you, or your ministers, or this people, that you should put me in prison?

¹⁹And where are your own prophets now,

²⁰who prophesied to you that the king of Babylon would not attack you or this land? Hear now, my lord king, and grant my petition: do not send me back into the house of Jonathan the scribe, or I shall die there.

²¹King Zedekiah ordered that Jeremiah be confined in the quarters of the guard, and given a loaf of bread each day from the bakers' shop until all the bread in the city was eaten up. Thus Jeremiah remained in the quarters of the guard.

38 Shephatiah, son of Mattan, Gedaliah, son of Pashhur, Jucal, son of Shelemiah, and Pashhur, son of Malchiah, heard Jeremiah speaking these words to all the people:

²Thus says the LORD: He who remains in this city shall die by sword, or famine, or pestilence; but he who goes out to the Chaldeans shall live; his life shall be spared him as booty, and he shall live.

³Thus says the LORD: This city shall certainly be handed over to the army of the king of Babylon; he shall capture it.

⁵King Zedekiah answered: "He is in your power"; for the king could do nothing with them.

⁶And so they took Jeremiah and threw him into the cistern of Prince Malchiah, which was in the quarters of the guard, letting him down with ropes. There was no water in the cistern, only mud, and Jeremiah sank into the mud.

⁷Now Ebed-melech, a Cushite, a courtier in the king's palace, heard that they had put Jeremiah into the cistern. The king happened just then to be at the Gate of Benjamin,

⁸and Ebed-melech went there from the palace and said to him,

⁹"My lord king, these men have been at fault in all they have done to the prophet Jeremiah, casting him into the cistern. He will die of famine on the spot, for there is no more food in the city."

¹⁰Then the king ordered Ebed-melech the Cushite to take three men along with him, and draw the prophet Jeremiah out of the cistern before he should die.

¹¹Ebed-melech took the men along with him, and went first to the linen closet in the palace, from which he took some old, tattered rags; these he sent down to Jeremiah in the cistern, with ropes.

¹²Then he said to Jeremiah, "Put the old, tattered rags between your armpits and the ropes." Jeremiah did so, ¹³and they drew him up with the ropes out of the cistern. But Jeremiah remained in the quarters of the guard.

¹⁴Once King Zedekiah summoned the prophet Jeremiah to come to him at the third entrance to the house of the LORD. "I have a question to ask you," the king said to Jeremiah; "hide nothing from me." Jeremiah answered Zedekiah:

¹⁵If I tell you anything, you will have me killed, will you not? If I counsel you, you will not listen to me!

¹⁶But King Zedekiah swore to Jeremiah secretly: "As the LORD lives who gave us the breath of life, I will not kill you; nor will I hand you over to these men who seek your life."

¹⁷Thereupon Jeremiah said to Zedekiah: Thus says the LORD God of hosts, the God of Israel: If you surrender to the princes of Babylon's king, you shall save your life; this city shall not be destroyed with fire, and you and your family shall live.

¹⁸But if you do not surrender to the princes of Babylon's king, this city shall fall into the hands of the Chaldeans, who shall destroy it with fire, and you shall not escape their hands.

¹⁹King Zedekiah, however, said to Jeremiah, "I am afraid of the men of Judah who have deserted to the Chaldeans; I may be handed over to them, and they will mistreat me."

²⁰You will not be handed over, Jeremiah answered. Please obey the voice of the LORD and do as I tell you; then it shall go well with you, and your life will be spared.

²¹But if you refuse to surrender, this is what the LORD shows me:

²²All the women left in the house of Judah's king shall be brought out to the princes of Babylon's king, and they shall taunt you thus: "They betrayed you, outdid you, your good friends! Now that your feet are stuck in the mud, they slink away."

²³All your wives and sons shall be led forth to the Chaldeans, and you shall not escape their hands; you shall be handed over to the king of Babylon, and this city shall be destroyed with fire.

²⁴Then Zedekiah said to Jeremiah, "Let no one know about this conversation, or you shall die.

²⁵If the princes hear I spoke to you, if they come and ask you, 'Tell us what you said to the king; do not hide it from us, or we will kill you,' or, 'What did the king say to you?'

²⁶give them this answer: 'I petitioned the king not to send me back to Jonathan's house to die there.'

²⁷When all the princes came to Jeremiah, they questioned him, and he answered them in the very words the king had commanded. They said no more to him, for nothing had been heard of the earlier conversation.

²⁸Thus Jeremiah stayed in the quarters of the guard till the day Jerusalem was taken. When Jerusalem was taken. . . .

39 In the tenth month of the ninth year of Zedekiah, king of Judah, Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, and all his army marched against Jerusalem and besieged it.

²On the ninth day of the fourth month, in the eleventh year of Zedekiah, a breach was made in the city's defenses.

³All the princes of the king of Babylon came and occupied the middle gate: Nergal-sharezer, of Simmagir, the chief officer, Nebushazban, the high dignity, and all the other princes of the king of Babylon. . . .

⁴When Zedekiah, king of Judah, saw them, he and all his warriors fled by night, leaving the city on the Royal Garden Road through the gate between the two walls. He went in the direction of the Arabah, ⁵but the Chaldean army pursued them, and overtook and captured Zedekiah in the desert near Jericho. He was brought to Riblah, in the land of Hamath, where Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, pronounced sentence upon him.

⁶As Zedekiah looked on, his sons were slain at Riblah by order of the king of Babylon, who slew also all the nobles of Judah.

⁷He then blinded Zedekiah and bound him in chains to bring him to Babylon.

⁸The Chaldeans set fire to the king's palace and the houses of the people, and demolished the walls of Jerusalem.

⁹Nebuzaradan, chief of the bodyguard, deported to Babylon the rest of the people left in the city, those who had deserted to him, and the rest of the workmen.

¹⁰But some of the poor who had no property were left in the land of Judah by Nebuzaradan, chief of the bodyguard, and were given at the same time vineyards and farms.

¹¹Concerning Jeremiah, Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, gave the following orders through Nebuzaradan, chief of the bodyguard:

¹²"Take him and look after him; let no harm befall him, but treat him as he himself requests."

¹³Thereupon Nebuzaradan, chief of the bodyguard, and Nebushazban, the high dignitary, and Nergal-sharezer, the chief officer, and all the nobles of the king of Babylon,

¹⁴had Jeremiah taken out of the quarters of the guard, and entrusted to Gedaliah, son of Ahikam, son of Shaphan, to be brought home. And so he remained among the people.

¹⁵While Jeremiah was still imprisoned in the quarters of the guard, the word of the LORD came to him:

¹⁶Go, tell this to Ebed-melech the Cushite: Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Behold, I am now fulfilling the words I spoke against this city, for evil and not for good; and this before your very eyes.

¹⁷But on that day I will rescue you, says the LORD; you shall not be handed over to the men of whom you are afraid.

¹⁸I will make certain that you escape and do not fall by the sword. Your life shall be spared as booty, because you trusted in me, says the LORD.

40 This word came to Jeremiah from the LORD, after Nebuzaradan, captain of the bodyguard, had released him in Ramah, where he had found him a prisoner in chains, among the captives of Jerusalem and Judah who were being exiled to Babylon.

²When the captain of the bodyguard took charge of Jeremiah, he said to him, "The LORD, your God, foretold the ruin of this place.

³Now he has brought about in deed what he threatened; because you sinned against the LORD and did not obey his voice, this fate has befallen you.

⁴And now, I am freeing you today from the fetters that bind your hands; if it seems good to you to come with me to Babylon, you may come: I will look after you well. But if it does not please you to come to Babylon, you need not come. See, the whole land is before you; go wherever you think good and proper";

⁵and then, before he left--"or go to Gedaliah, son of Ahikam, son of Shaphan, whom the king of Babylon has appointed ruler over the cities of Judah; stay with him among the people, or go wherever you please." The captain of the bodyguard gave him food and gifts and let him go.

⁶Jeremiah went to Gedaliah, son of Ahikam, in Mizpah, and stayed with him among the people left in the land.

⁷When the army leaders who were still in the field with all their men heard that the king of Babylon had given Gedaliah, son of Ahikam, charge of the land, of men, women, and children, and of those poor who had not been led captive to Babylon, ⁸they came with their men to Gedaliah in Mizpah: Ishmael, son of Nethaniah; Johanan, son of Kareah; Seraiah, son of Tanhumeth; the sons of Ephai of Netophah; and Jezaniah of Beth-maacah.

⁹Gedaliah, son of Ahikam, son of Shaphan, adjured them and their men not to be afraid to serve the Chaldeans: to stay in the land and submit to the king of Babylon, for their own welfare;

¹⁰saying that he himself would remain in Mizpah, as their intermediary with the Chaldeans who should come to them. They were to collect the wine, the fruit, and the oil, to store them in jars, and to settle in the cities they occupied.

¹¹When the people of Judah in Moab, those among the Ammonites, those in Edom, and those in all other lands heard that the king of Babylon had left a remnant in Judah, and had appointed over them Gedaliah, son of Ahikam, son of Shaphan, ¹²they all returned to the land of Judah from the places to which they had scattered. They went to Gedaliah at Mizpah and had a rich harvest of wine and fruit.

¹³Now Johanan, son of Kareah, and all the leaders of the armies in the field came to Gedaliah in Mizpah

¹⁴and asked him whether he did not know that Baalis, the king of the Ammonites, had sent Ishmael, son of Nethaniah, to assassinate him.

¹⁵But Gedaliah, son of Ahikam, would not believe them. Then Johanan, son of Kareah, said secretly to Gedaliah in Mizpah: "Let me go and kill Ishmael, son of Nethaniah; no one will know it. Why should he be allowed to kill you? All the Jews who have now rallied to you will be dispersed and the remnant of Judah will perish."

¹⁶Nevertheless, Gedaliah, son of Ahikam, answered Johanan, son of Kareah, "You shall do nothing of the kind; you have lied about Ishmael."

41 In the seventh month Ishmael, son of Nethaniah, son of Elishama, of royal descent, one of the king's nobles, came with ten men to Gedaliah, son of Ahikam, at Mizpah. And while they were together at table in Mizpah, ²Ishmael, son of Nethaniah, and the ten who were with him, rose up and attacked with swords Gedaliah, son of Ahikam, son of Shaphan, whom the king of Babylon had made ruler over the land; and they killed him.

³Ishmael also slew all the men of Judah of military age who were with Gedaliah and the Chaldean soldiers who were there.

⁴The second day after the murder of Gedaliah, before anyone knew of it,

⁵eighty men with beards shaved off, clothes in rags, and with gashes on their bodies came from Shechem, Shiloh, and Samaria, bringing food offerings and incense for the house of the LORD.

⁶Ishmael son of Nethaniah, went out from Mizpah to meet them, weeping as he went.

⁷"Come to Gedaliah, son of Ahikam," he said as he met them. When they were once inside the city, Ishmael, son of Nethaniah, and his men slew them and threw them into the cistern.

⁸But there were ten among them who pleaded with Ishmael: "Do not kill us; we have stores buried in the field: wheat and barley, oil and honey." And so he spared them and did not kill them, as he had killed their companions.

⁹The cistern into which Ishmael threw all the corpses of the men he had killed was the large one made by King Asa to defend himself against Baasha, king of Israel; this cistern Ishmael, son of Nethaniah, filled with the slain.

¹⁰Ishmael, son of Nethaniah, led away the remnant of the people left in Mizpah and the princesses, whom Nebuzaradan, captain of the bodyguard, had confided to Gedaliah, son of Ahikam. With these captives, Ishmael, son of Nethaniah, set out to make his way to the Ammonites.

¹¹But when Johanan, son of Kareah, and the other army leaders with him heard of the crimes Ishmael, son of Nethaniah, had committed, ¹²they took all their men and set out to attack Ishmael, son of Nethaniah. They overtook him at the Great Waters in Gibeon.

¹³At the sight of Johanan, son of Kareah, and the other army leaders, the people who were Ishmael's captives rejoiced.

¹⁴All of those whom Ishmael had brought away from Mizpah went over to Johanan, son of Kareah.

¹⁵But Ishmael, son of Nethaniah, escaped from Johanan and fled to the Ammonites with eight men.

¹⁶Then Johanan, son of Kareah, and all his army leaders took charge of the remnant of the people, both the soldiers and the women and children with their guardians, whom Ishmael, son of Nethaniah, had brought away from Mizpah after he killed Gedaliah, son of Ahikim. From Gibeon, ¹⁷they retreated to the lodging place of Chimham near Bethlehem, where they stopped, intending to flee into Egypt.

¹⁸They were afraid of the Chaldeans, because Ishmael, son of Nethaniah, had slain Gedaliah, son of Ahikam, whom the king of Babylon had made ruler in the land of Judah.

42 Then all the army leaders, Johanan, son of Kareah, Azariah, son of Hoshai, and all the people, high and low, approached the prophet Jeremiah

²and said, "Grant our petition; pray for us to the LORD, your God, for all this remnant. We are now few who once were many, as you well see.

³Let the LORD, your God, show us what way we should take and what we should do."

⁴Very well! the prophet Jeremiah answered them: I will pray to the LORD, your God, as you desire; whatever the LORD answers you, I will tell you; I will withhold nothing from you.

⁵And they said to Jeremiah, "May the LORD be our witness: we will truly and faithfully follow all the instructions the LORD, your God, will send us.

⁶Whether it is pleasant or difficult, we will obey the command of the LORD, our God, to whom we are sending you, so that it will go well with us for obeying the command of the LORD, our God."

⁷Ten days passed before the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah.

⁸Then he called Johanan, son of Kareah, his army leaders, and all the people, high and low,

⁹and said to them: Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, to whom you sent me to offer your prayer:

¹⁰If you remain quietly in this land I will build you up, and not tear you down; I will plant you, not uproot you; for I regret the evil I have done you.

¹¹Do not fear the king of Babylon, before whom you are now afraid; do not fear him, says the LORD, for I am with you to save you, to rescue you from his power.

¹²I will grant you mercy, so that he will be sorry for you and let you return to your land.

¹³But if you disobey the voice of the LORD, your God, and decide not to remain in this land,

¹⁴saying, "No, we will go to Egypt, where we will see no more of war, hear the trumpet alarm no longer, nor hunger for bread; there we will live";

¹⁵then listen to the word of the LORD, remnant of Judah: Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: If you are determined to go to Egypt, when you arrive there to stay, ¹⁶the sword you fear shall reach you in the land of Egypt; the hunger you dread shall cling to you no less in Egypt, and there you shall die.

¹⁷All those men who determine to go to Egypt to stay, shall die by the sword, famine, and pestilence; not one shall survive or escape the evil that I will bring upon them.

¹⁸For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Just as my furious anger was poured out upon the citizens of Jerusalem, so shall my anger be poured out on you when you reach Egypt. You shall become an example of malediction and horror, a curse and a reproach, and you shall never see this place again.

¹⁹It is the LORD who has spoken to you, remnant of Judah; do not go to Egypt! You can never say that I did not warn you this day.

²⁰At the cost of your lives you have deceived me, sending me to the LORD, your God, saying, "Pray for us to the LORD, our God; make known to us all that the LORD, our God, shall say, and we will do it."

²¹Today I proclaim his message, but you obey the voice of the LORD, your God, in nothing that he has commissioned me to make known to you.

²²Have no doubt of this, you shall die by the sword, famine, and pestilence in the place where you wish to go and settle.

43When Jeremiah finished speaking to the people all these words of the LORD, their God, with which the LORD had sent him to them, ²Azariah, son of Hoshaiiah, Johanan, son of Kareah, and all the insolent men shouted to Jeremiah: "You lie; it was not the LORD, our God, who sent you to tell us not to go to Egypt to settle.

³It is Baruch, son of Neriah, who stirs you up against us, to hand us over to the Chaldeans to be killed or exiled to Babylon."

⁴Johanan, son of Kareah, and the rest of the leaders and the people did not obey the LORD'S command to stay in the land of Judah.

⁵Instead, Johanan, son of Kareah, and all the army leaders took along the whole remnant of Judah that had been dispersed among the nations and had returned thence to dwell again in the land of Judah:

⁶men, women, and children, the princesses and everyone whom Nebuzaradan, captain of the bodyguard, had entrusted to Gedaliah, son of Ahikam, son of Shaphan; also Jeremiah, the prophet, and Baruch, son of Neriah.

⁷Against the LORD'S command they went to Egypt, and arrived at Tahpanhes. . . .

⁸This word of the LORD came to Jeremiah in Tahpanhes:

⁹Take with you large stones and sink them in mortar in the brickyard at the entrance to the royal building in Tahpanhes, while the men of Judah look on,

¹⁰and then say to them: Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: I will send for my servant Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, and bring him here. He will set his throne upon these stones which I, Jeremiah, have sunk, and stretch his canopy over them.

¹¹He shall come and strike the land of Egypt: with death, whoever is marked for death; with exile, everyone destined for exile; with the sword, all who are intended for the sword.

¹²He shall set fire to the temples of Egypt's gods, and burn the gods or carry them off. As a shepherd delouses his cloak, he shall delouse the land of Egypt and depart victorious.

¹³He shall smash the obelisks of the temple of the sun in the land of Egypt and destroy with fire the temples of the Egyptian gods.

44 This word came to Jeremiah for all the people of Judah who were living in Egypt, at Migdol, Tahpanhes, and Memphis, and in Upper Egypt:

² Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: You have seen all the evil I brought on Jerusalem and the other cities of Judah. Today they are ruins and uninhabited,

³ because of the evil they did to provoke me, going after strange gods, serving them and sacrificing to them, gods which neither they, nor you, nor your fathers knew.

⁴ Though I kept sending to you all my servants the prophets, with the plea not to commit this horrible deed which I hate,

⁵ they would not listen or accept the warning to turn away from the evil of sacrificing to strange gods.

⁶ Therefore the fury of my anger poured forth in flame over the cities of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem, so that they became the ruinous waste they are today.

⁷ Now thus says the LORD God of hosts, the God of Israel: Why do you inflict so great an evil upon yourselves? Will you root out from Judah man and wife, child and nursing, and not leave yourselves even a remnant?

⁸ Will you go on provoking me by the works of your hands, by sacrificing to strange gods here in the land of Egypt where you have come to live? Will you be rooted out and become a curse and a disgrace among all the nations of the earth?

⁹ Have you forgotten the evil deeds which your fathers, and the kings of Judah and their wives, and you yourselves and your wives have done in the land of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem?

¹⁰ To this day they have not been crushed; they do not fear or follow the law and the statutes which I set before you and your fathers.

¹¹ Hence, thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: I have determined evil against you; and I will uproot all Judah.

¹² I will take away the remnant of Judah who insisted on coming to dwell in Egypt, so that they shall be wholly destroyed. In the land of Egypt they shall fall by the sword or be consumed by hunger. High and low, they shall die by the sword, or by hunger, and become an example of malediction, a horror, a curse and a reproach.

¹³Thus will I punish those who live in Egypt, just as I punished Jerusalem with sword, hunger, and pestilence. None of the remnant of Judah that have come to settle in the land of Egypt shall escape or survive.

¹⁴None shall return to the land of Judah, though they yearn to return and live there. Only scattered refugees shall return.

¹⁵From all the men who knew that their wives were burning incense to strange gods, from all the women who were present in the immense crowd, and from all the people who lived in Lower and Upper Egypt, Jeremiah received this answer:

¹⁶"We will not listen to what you say in the name of the LORD.

¹⁷Rather will we continue doing what we had proposed; we will burn incense to the queen of heaven and pour out libations to her, as we and our fathers, our kings and princes have done in the cities of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem. Then we had enough food to eat and we were well off; we suffered no misfortune.

¹⁸But since we stopped burning incense to the queen of heaven and pouring out libations to her, we are in need of everything and are being destroyed by the sword and by hunger.

¹⁹And when we burned incense to the queen of heaven and poured out libations to her, was it without our husbands' consent that we baked for her cakes in her image and poured out libations to her?"

²⁰To all the people, men and women, who gave him this answer, Jeremiah said:

²¹Was it not this that the LORD remembered and brought to mind, that you burned incense in the cities of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem: you, your fathers, your kings and princes, and the people generally?

²²The LORD could no longer bear your evil deeds, the horrible things which you were doing; and so your land became a waste, a desert, a thing accursed and without inhabitants, as it is today.

²³Because you burned incense and sinned against the LORD, not obeying the voice of the LORD, not living by his law, his statutes, and his decrees, this evil has befallen you at the present day.

²⁴Jeremiah said further to all the people, including the women: Hear the word of the LORD, all you Judeans in the land of Egypt:

²⁵Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: You and your wives have stated your intentions, and kept them in fact: "We will continue to fulfill the vows we have made to burn incense to the queen of heaven and to pour out libations to her." Very well! keep your vows, carry out your resolutions!

²⁶But listen then to the word of the LORD, all you people of Judah who live in Egypt; I swear by my own great name, says the LORD, in the whole land of Egypt no man of Judah shall henceforth pronounce my name, saying, "As the Lord GOD lives."

²⁷I am watching over them to do evil, not good. All the men of Judah in Egypt shall perish by the sword or famine until they are utterly destroyed.

²⁸Those who escape the sword to return from the land of Egypt to the land of Judah shall be few in number. The whole remnant of Judah who came to settle in Egypt shall know whose word stands, mine or theirs.

²⁹That you may know how surely my threats of punishment for you shall be fulfilled, this shall be a sign to you, says the LORD, that I will punish you in this place.

³⁰Thus says the LORD: See! I will hand over Pharaoh Hophra, king of Egypt, to his enemies, to those who seek his life, just as I handed over Zedekiah, king of Judah, to his enemy and mortal foe, Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon.

45 This is the message that the prophet Jeremiah gave to Baruch, son of Neriah, when he wrote in a book the prophecies that Jeremiah dictated in the fourth year of Jehoiakim, son of Josiah, king of Judah:

²Thus says the LORD, God of Israel, to you, Baruch,

³because you said, "Alas! the LORD adds grief to my pain; I am weary from groaning, and can find no rest":

⁴say this to him, says the LORD: What I have built, I am tearing down; what I have planted, I am uprooting: even the whole land.

⁵And do you seek great things for yourself? Seek them not! I am bringing evil on all mankind, says the LORD, but your life I will leave you as booty, wherever you may go.

46 This is the word of the LORD that came to the prophet Jeremiah against the nations.

²Concerning Egypt. Against the army of Pharaoh Neco, king of Egypt, which was defeated at Carchemish on the Euphrates by Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, in the fourth year of Jehoiakim, son of Josiah, king of Judah:

³Prepare shield and buckler! march to battle!

⁴Harness the horses, mount, charioteers! Fall in with your helmets; polish your spears, put on your breastplates.

⁵What do I see? With broken ranks They fall back; their heroes are routed, They flee headlong without making a stand. Terror on every side, says the LORD!

⁶The swift cannot flee, nor the hero escape: There in the north, on the Euphrates' bank, they stumble and fall.

⁷Who is this that surges forward like the Nile, like rivers of billowing waters?

⁸Egypt surges like the Nile, like rivers of billowing waters. "I will surge forward," he says, "and cover the earth, destroying the city and its people.

⁹Forward, horses! drive madly, chariots! Set out, warriors, Cush and Put, bearing your shields, Men of Lud, stretching your bows!"

¹⁰But this is the day of the Lord GOD of hosts, a day of vengeance, vengeance on his foes! The sword devours, is sated, drunk with their blood: for the Lord GOD of hosts holds a slaughter feast in the northland, on the Euphrates.

¹¹Go up to Gilead, and take balm, O virgin daughter Egypt! No use to multiply remedies; for you there is no cure.

¹²The nations hear of your shame, your cries fill the earth. Warrior trips over warrior, both fall together.

¹³The message which the LORD gave to the prophet Jeremiah concerning the advance of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, to attack the land of Egypt:

¹⁴Announce it in Egypt, publish it in Migdol, proclaim it in Memphis and Tahpanhes! Say: Take your stand, prepare yourselves, the sword has already devoured your neighbors.

¹⁵Why has Apis fled, your mighty one failed to stand? The LORD thrust him down;

- ¹⁶he stumbled repeatedly, and fell. They said one to another, "Up! let us return to our own people, To the land of our birth, away from the destroying sword."
- ¹⁷Call Pharaoh, king of Egypt, by the name "The noise that let its time go by."
- ¹⁸As I live, says the King whose name is LORD of hosts, Like Tabor among the mountains he shall come, like Carmel above the sea.
- ¹⁹Pack your baggage for exile, capital city of daughter Egypt; Memphis shall become a desert, an empty ruin.
- ²⁰Egypt is a pretty heifer, from the north a horsefly lights upon her.
- ²¹The mercenaries in her ranks are like fatted calves; They too turn and flee together, stand not their ground, When the day of their ruin comes upon them, the time of their punishment.
- ²²She sounds like a retreating reptile! Yes, they come in force; like woodchoppers, they attack her with axes.
- ²³They cut down her forest, says the LORD, impenetrable though it be; More numerous than locusts, they cannot be counted.
- ²⁴Disgraced is daughter Egypt, handed over to the people of the north.
- ²⁵The LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, has said: See! I will punish Amon of Thebes, and Egypt, her gods and her kings, Pharaoh, and those who trust in him.
- ²⁶I will hand them over to those who seek their lives, to Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, and his ministers. But later on Egypt shall be inhabited again, as in times past, says the LORD.
- ²⁷But you, my servant Jacob, fear not; be not dismayed, O Israel. Behold, I will deliver you from the far-off land, your descendants, from their land of exile. Jacob shall again find rest, shall be tranquil and undisturbed.
- ²⁸You, my servant Jacob, never fear, says the LORD, for I am with you; I will make an end of all the nations to which I have driven you, But of you I will not make an end: I will chastise you as you deserve, I will not let you go unpunished.

47 This is the word that came from the LORD to the prophet Jeremiah concerning the Philistines, before Pharaoh attacked Gaza:

²Thus says the LORD: Behold: waters are rising from the north, a torrent in flood; It shall flood the land and all that is in it, the cities and their people. All the people of the land set up a wailing cry.

³They hear the stamping hooves of his steeds, the rattling chariots, the rumbling wheels. Fathers turn not to save their children; their hands fall helpless

⁴Because of the day which has come to ruin all the Philistines, And cut off from Tyre and Sidon the last of their allies. Yes, the LORD is destroying the Philistines, the remnant from the coasts of Caphtor.

⁵Gaza is shaved bald, Ashkelon is reduced to silence; Ashdod, the remnant of their strength, how long will you gash yourself?

⁶Alas, sword of the LORD! how long till you find rest? Return into your scabbard; stop, be still!

⁷How can it find rest when the LORD has commanded it? Against Ashkelon and the seashore he has appointed it.

48 Concerning Moab, thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Woe to Nebo, it is laid waste; Kiriathaim is disgraced and captured, Disgraced and overthrown is the stronghold:

²Moab's glory is no more. Evil they plan against Heshbon: "Come, let us put an end to her as a people." You, too, Madmen, shall be reduced to silence; behind you stalks the sword.

³Listen! a cry from Horonaim of ruin and great destruction!

⁴Moab is crushed, their outcry is heard in Zoar.

⁵The ascent of Luhith they climb weeping; On the descent to Horonaim the cry of destruction is heard.

⁶"Flee, save your lives, to survive like the wild ass in the desert!"

⁷Because you trusted in your works and your treasures, you also shall be captured. Chemosh shall go into exile, his priests and princes with him.

⁸The destroyer comes upon every city, not a city escapes; Ruined is the valley, wasted the plain, as the LORD has said.

⁹Set up a memorial for Moab, for it is an utter wasteland; Its cities are turned into ruins where no one dwells.

¹⁰(Cursed be he who does the LORD'S work remissly, cursed he who holds back his sword from blood.)

¹¹Moab has been tranquil from his youth, has rested upon his lees; He was not poured from one flask to another, he went not into exile. Thus he kept his taste, and his scent was not lost.

¹²Hence, the days shall come, says the LORD, when I will send him coopers to turn him over; they shall empty his flasks and break his jars.

¹³Chemosh shall disappoint Moab, as Israel was disappointed by Bethel in which they trusted.

¹⁴How can you say, "We are heroes, men valiant in war"?

¹⁵The ravager of Moab and his cities advances, the flower of his youth goes down to be slaughtered, says the King, the LORD of hosts by name.

¹⁶Near at hand is Moab's ruin, his disaster hastens apace.

¹⁷Mourn for him, all you his neighbors, all you who knew him well! Say: How the strong staff is broken, the glorious rod!

¹⁸Come down from glory, sit on the ground, you that dwell in Dibon; Moab's ravager has come up against you, he has ruined your strongholds.

¹⁹Stand by the wayside, watch closely, you that dwell in Aroer; Ask the man who flees, the woman who tries to escape: say to them, "What has happened?"

²⁰Moab is disgraced, yes, destroyed, howl and cry out; Publish it at the Arnon, Moab is ruined!

²¹For judgment has come on the land of the plateau: on Holon, Jahzah, and Mephaath,

²²on Dibon, Nebo, and Beth-diblathaim,

²³on Kiriathaim, Beth-gamul, and Beth-meon,

²⁴on Keriioth and on Bozrah: on all the cities of Moab, far and near.

²⁵Moab's strength is broken, his might is shattered, says the LORD.

²⁶Because he boasted against the LORD, make Moab drunk so that he retches and vomits, and he too becomes a laughingstock.

²⁷Is Israel a laughingstock to you? Was she caught among thieves, that you shake your head whenever you speak of her?

²⁸Leave the cities, dwell in the crags, you that dwell in Moab. Be like a dove that nests out of reach on the edge of a chasm.

²⁹We have heard of the pride of Moab, pride beyond bounds: His loftiness, his pride, his scorn, his insolence of heart.

³⁰I know, says the LORD, his arrogance; liar in boast, liar in deed.

³¹And so I wail over Moab, over all Moab I cry, over the men of Kir-heres I moan.

³²More than for Jazer I weep over you, vineyard of Sibmah. Your tendrils trailed down to the sea, as far as Jazer they stretched. Upon your harvest, upon your vintage, the ravager has fallen.

³³Joy and jubilation are at an end in the fruit gardens of the land of Moab. I drain the wine from the wine vats, the treader treads no more, the vintage shout is stilled.

³⁴The cry of Heshbon and Elealeh is heard as far as Jahaz; they call from Zoar to Horonaim, and to Eglath-shelishiyah, for even the waters of Nimrim turn into a desert.

³⁵I will leave no one in Moab, says the LORD, to offer a holocaust on the high place, or to burn incense to his gods.

³⁶Hence the wail of flutes for Moab is in my heart; for the men of Kir-heres the wail of flutes is in my heart: the wealth they acquired has perished.

³⁷Every head has been made bald, every beard shaved; every hand is gashed, and the loins of all are clothed in sackcloth.

³⁸On every roof of Moab and in all his squares there is mourning; I have shattered Moab like a pot that no one wants, says the LORD.

³⁹How terror seizes Moab, and wailing! How he turns his back in shame! Moab has become a laughingstock and a horror to all his neighbors!

⁴⁰For thus says the LORD: Behold, like an eagle he soars, spreads his wings over Moab.

⁴¹Cities are taken, strongholds seized: On that day the hearts of Moab's heroes are like the heart of a woman in travail.

⁴²Moab shall be destroyed, no more a people, because he boasted against the LORD.

⁴³Terror, pit, and trap be upon you, people of Moab, says the LORD.

⁴⁴He who flees from the terror falls into the pit; He who climbs from the pit is caught in the trap; For I will bring these things upon Moab in the year of their punishment, says the LORD.

⁴⁵In Heshbon's shadow stop short the exhausted refugees; For fire breaks forth from Heshbon, and a blaze from the house of Sihon: It consumes the brow of Moab, the skull of the noisemakers.

⁴⁶Woe to you, O Moab, you are ruined, O people of Chemosh! Your sons are taken into exile, your daughters into captivity.

⁴⁷But I will change the lot of Moab in the days to come, says the LORD. Thus far the judgment on Moab.

49Concerning the Ammonites, thus says the LORD: Has Israel no sons? has he no heir? Why then has Milcom disinherited Gad, why have his people settled in Gad's cities?

²But the days are coming, says the LORD, when against Rabbah of the Ammonites I will sound the battle alarm; She shall become a mound of ruins, and her daughter cities shall be destroyed by fire. Israel shall inherit those who disinherited her, says the LORD.

³Howl, Heshbon, for the ravager approaches, shriek, daughters of Rabbah! Put on sackcloth and mourn, run to and fro, gashing yourselves; For Milcom goes into exile along with his priests and captains.

⁴Why do you glory in your strength, your ebbing strength, rebellious daughter? You who trust in your treasures, saying, "Who can come against me?"

⁵I am bringing terror upon you, says the Lord GOD of hosts, from all round about you; You shall be scattered, each man in headlong flight, with no one to rally the fugitives.

⁶But afterward I will change the lot of the Ammonites, says the LORD.

⁷Concerning Edom, thus says the LORD of hosts: Is there no more wisdom in Teman, has counsel perished from the prudent, has their wisdom become corrupt?

⁸Flee, retreat, hide in deep holes, you who live in Dedan: For I will bring destruction upon Esau when I come to punish him.

⁹If vintagers came upon you, they would leave no gleanings; If thieves by night, they would destroy as they pleased.

¹⁰So I myself will strip Esau; I will uncover his retreats so that he cannot hide. He is ruined: sons, and brothers, and neighbors, so that he is no more.

¹¹Leave your orphans behind, I will keep them alive; your widows, let them trust in me.

¹²For thus says the LORD: Even those not sentenced to drink the cup must drink it! Shall you then go unpunished? You shall not go unpunished; you shall surely drink it.

¹³By my own self I have sworn, says the LORD: Bozrah shall become an object of horror and a disgrace, a desolation and a curse; she and all her cities shall become ruins forever.

¹⁴I have heard a report from the LORD, a herald has been sent among the nations: Gather together, move against her, rise up for battle.

¹⁵Small will I make you among the nations, despised among men!

¹⁶The terror you spread beguiled you, and your presumption of heart; You that live in rocky crags, that hold the heights of the hill: Though you build your nest high as the eagle, from there I will drag you down, says the LORD.

- ¹⁷Edom shall become an object of horror. Every passer-by shall be appalled and catch his breath at all her wounds.
- ¹⁸As when Sodom, Gomorrah, and their neighbors were overthrown, says the LORD, not a man shall dwell there: no one shall visit there.
- ¹⁹As when a lion comes up from the thicket of Jordan to the permanent feeding grounds, So I, in an instant, will drive men off; and whom I choose I will establish there! For who is like me? who can call me to account? What shepherd can stand against me?
- ²⁰Therefore, hear the counsel of the LORD, which he has taken against Edom; Hear the plans he has made against those that live in Teman: They shall be dragged away, even the smallest sheep, their own pasture shall be aghast because of them.
- ²¹At the noise of their fall the earth quakes, to the Red Sea the outcry is heard!
- ²²See! like an eagle he soars aloft, and spreads his wings over Bozrah; On that day the hearts of Edom's heroes shall be like the heart of a woman in travail. Concerning Damascus:
- ²³Hamath and Arpad are covered with shame, they have heard bad news; Worried, they toss like the sea which cannot rest.
- ²⁴Damascus is weakened, she turns to flee, panic has seized her. Distress and pangs take hold of her, like those of a woman in travail.
- ²⁵How can the city of glory be forsaken, the town of delight!
- ²⁶But now her young men shall fall in her streets, and all her warriors shall be stilled. On that day, says the LORD of hosts,
- ²⁷I will set fire to the wall of Damascus, and it shall devour the palaces of Ben-hadad.
- ²⁸Of Kedar and the kingdoms of Hazor, defeated by Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, thus says the LORD: Rise up, attack Kedar, ravage the Easterners.
- ²⁹Their tents and herds shall be taken away, their tent curtains and all their goods; Their camels they shall carry off for themselves, and shout from upon them, "Terror on every side!"

³⁰Flee! leave your homes, hide in deep holes, you that live in Hazor, says the LORD; For counsel has been taken against you, a plan has been formed against you (Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon).

³¹Rise up! set out against a nation that is at peace, that lives secure, says the LORD, That has no gates or bars, and dwells alone.

³²Their camels shall be your booty, their many herds your spoil; I will scatter to the winds those who shave their temples, from all sides I will bring ruin upon them, says the LORD.

³³Hazor shall become a haunt of jackals, a desert forever, Where no man lives, no human being stays.

³⁴The following word of the LORD against Elam came to the prophet Jeremiah at the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah, king of Judah:

³⁵Thus says the LORD of hosts: Behold, I will break the bow of Elam, the mainstay of their might.

³⁶I will bring upon Elam the four winds from the four ends of the heavens: I will scatter them to all these winds, till there is no nation to which the outcasts of Elam shall not come.

³⁷I will break Elam before their foes, before those who seek their life; I will bring evil upon them, my burning wrath, says the LORD. I will send the sword to pursue them until I have completely made an end of them;

³⁸My throne I will set up in Elam and destroy from there king and princes, says the LORD.

³⁹But in the days to come I will change the lot of Elam, says the LORD.

50 The word which the LORD spoke against Babylon, against the land of the Chaldeans, through the prophet Jeremiah:

²Announce and publish it among the nations; publish it, hide it not, but say: Babylon is taken, Bel confounded, Merodach shattered; her images are put to shame, her idols shattered.

³A people from the north advances against her to turn her land into a desert, So that no one shall live there, because man and beast have fled away.

⁴In those days, at that time, says the LORD, the men of Israel and of Judah shall come, Weeping as they come, to seek the LORD, their God;

⁵to their goal in Zion they shall ask the way. "Come, let us join ourselves to the LORD with covenant everlasting, never to be forgotten."

⁶Lost sheep were my people, their shepherds misled them, straggling on the mountains; From mountain to hill they wandered, losing the way to their fold.

⁷Whoever came upon them devoured them, and their enemies said, "We incur no guilt, Because they sinned against the LORD, the hope of their fathers, their abode of justice."

⁸Flee from Babylon, leave the land of the Chaldeans, be like the rams at the head of the flock.

⁹See, I am stirring up against Babylon a band of great nations from the north; from there they advance, and she shall be taken. Their arrows are arrows of the skilled warrior; none shall return without effect.

¹⁰Chaldea shall be their plunder, and all her plunderers shall be enriched, says the LORD.

¹¹Yes, rejoice and exult, you that plunder my portion; Frisk like calves on the green, snort like stallions!

¹²Your mother shall be sorely put to shame, she that bore you shall be abashed; See, the last of the nations, a desert, dry and waste.

¹³Because of the LORD'S wrath she shall be empty, and become a total desert; Everyone who passes by Babylon will be appalled and catch his breath, at all her wounds.

¹⁴Take your posts encircling Babylon, you who bend the bow; Shoot at her, spare not your arrows, ¹⁵raise the war cry against her on all sides. She surrenders, her bastions fall, her walls are torn down: Vengeance of the LORD is this! Take revenge on her, as she has done, do to her; for she sinned against the LORD.

¹⁶Cut off from Babylon the sower and him who wields the sickle in harvest time! Before the destroying sword, each of them turns to his own people, everyone flees to his own land.

¹⁷A stray sheep was Israel that lions pursued; Formerly the king of Assyria devoured her, now Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon gnaws her bones.

¹⁸Therefore, thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: I will punish the king of Babylon and his land, as once I punished the king of Assyria;

¹⁹But I will bring back Israel to her fold, to feed on Carmel and Bashan, And on Mount Ephraim and Gilead, till she has her fill.

²⁰In those days, at that time, says the LORD: They shall seek Israel's guilt, but it shall be no more, and Judah's sins, but these shall no longer be found; for I will forgive the remnant I preserve.

²¹Attack the land of Merathaim, and those who live in Pekod; Slaughter and doom them, says the LORD, do all I have commanded you.

²²Battle alarm in the land, dire destruction!

²³How has the hammer of the whole earth been broken and shattered! What an object of horror Babylon has become among the nations.

²⁴You ensnared yourself, and were caught, O Babylon, before you knew it! You were discovered and seized, because you challenged the LORD.

²⁵The LORD opens his armory and brings forth the weapons of his wrath; For the Lord GOD of hosts has work to do in the land of the Chaldeans.

²⁶Come upon her from every side, open her granaries, Pile up her goods in heaps and doom it, leave not a remnant.

²⁷Slay all her oxen, let them go down to the slaughter; Woe to them! their day has come, the time of their punishment.

²⁸Listen! the fugitives, the escaped from the land of Babylon: They announce in Zion the vengeance of the LORD, our God.

²⁹Call up against Babylon archers, all who bend the bow; Encamp around her, let no one escape. Repay her for her deeds; as she has done, do to her, For she insulted the LORD, the Holy One of Israel.

³⁰Therefore her young men shall fall in her streets, all her warriors shall perish on that day, says the LORD.

³¹I am against you, man of insolence, says the Lord GOD of hosts; For your day has come, the time for me to punish you.

³²Insolence stumbles and falls; there is no one to raise him up. I will kindle in his cities a fire that shall devour everything around him.

³³Thus says the LORD of hosts: Oppressed are the men of Israel, and with them the men of Judah; All their captors hold them fast and refuse to let them go.

³⁴Strong is their avenger, whose name is LORD of hosts; He will defend their cause with success, and give rest to the earth, but unrest to those who live in Babylon.

³⁵A sword upon the Chaldeans, says the LORD, upon Babylon's people, her princes and wise men!

³⁶A sword upon the soothsayers, that they may become fools! A sword upon her warriors, that they may tremble;

³⁷A sword upon her motley throng, that they may become women! A sword upon her treasures, that they may be plundered;

³⁸A sword upon her waters, that they may dry up! For it is a land of idols, and they shall be made frantic by fearful things.

³⁹Hence, wildcats and desert beasts shall dwell there, and ostriches shall occupy it; Never again shall it be peopled, or lived in, from age to age.

⁴⁰As when God overturned Sodom and Gomorrah, with their neighbors, says the LORD, Not a man shall dwell there, no human being shall tarry there.

⁴¹See! a people comes from the north, a great nation, and mighty kings roused from the ends of the earth.

⁴²Bow and javelin they wield, cruel and pitiless are they; They sound like the roaring sea, as they ride forth on steeds, Each in his place for battle against you, daughter Babylon.

⁴³The king of Babylon hears news of them, and helpless fall his hands; Anguish seizes him, throes like a mother's in childbirth.

⁴⁴As when a lion comes up from the Jordan's thicket to the permanent feeding grounds, So I, in one instant, will drive them off, and whom I choose I will establish there; For who is like me? who calls me to account? what shepherd can stand against me?

⁴⁵Therefore hear the counsel of the LORD which he has taken against Babylon; Hear the plans he has made against the land of the Chaldeans: They shall be dragged away, even the smallest sheep; their own pasture shall be aghast because of them.

⁴⁶At the cry "Babylon is captured!" the earth quakes; the outcry is heard among the nations.

51 Thus says the LORD: See! I rouse against Babylon, and against those who live in Chaldea, a destroying wind.

²Against Babylon I will send winnowers to winnow her and lay waste her land; They shall besiege her from all sides on the day of affliction.

³Let the Bowman draw his bow, and flaunt his coat of mail; Spare not her young men, doom her entire army.

⁴The slain shall fall in the land of Chaldea, the transfixed, in her streets;

⁵For Israel and Judah are not widowed of their God, the LORD of hosts, And the Chaldean land is full of guilt to be punished by the Holy One of Israel.

⁶Flee out of Babylon; let each one save his life, perish not for her guilt; This is a time of vengeance for the LORD, he pays her her due.

⁷Babylon was a golden cup in the hand of the LORD which made the whole earth drunk; The nations drank its wine, with this they have become mad.

⁸Babylon suddenly falls and is crushed: howl over her! Bring balm for her wounds, in case she can be healed.

¹⁰The LORD has brought to light our just cause; come, let us tell in Zion what the LORD, our God, has done.

¹¹Sharpen the arrows, fill the quivers; The LORD has stirred up the spirit of Media's kings; Babylon he is resolved to destroy. Yes, it is the vengeance of the LORD, vengeance for his temple.

¹²Against the walls of Babylon raise a signal, make strong the watch; Post sentries, arrange ambushes! For the LORD has planned and he will carry out his threat against the inhabitants of Babylon.

¹³You who dwell by mighty waters, rich in treasure, Your end has come, the term at which you shall be cut off!

¹⁴The LORD of hosts has sworn by himself: I will fill you with men as numerous as locusts, who shall raise over you the vintage shout!

¹⁵He has sworn who made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisdom, and stretched out the heavens by his skill.

¹⁶When he thunders, the waters in the heavens roar, and he brings up clouds from the end of the earth; He makes the lightning flash in the rain, and releases stormwinds from their chambers.

¹⁷Every man is stupid, ignorant; every artisan is put to shame by his idol: He molded a fraud, without breath of life.

¹⁸Nothingness are they, a ridiculous work, that will perish in their time of punishment.

¹⁹Not like these is the portion of Jacob, he is the creator of all things; Israel is his very own tribe, LORD of hosts is his name.

²⁰You are my hammer, my weapon for war; With you I shatter nations, with you I destroy kingdoms.

²¹With you I shatter horse and rider, with you I shatter chariot and driver.

²²With you I shatter man and wife, with you I shatter old and young, with you I shatter the youth and maiden.

- ²³With you I shatter the shepherd and his flock, with you I shatter the farmer and his team, with you I shatter satraps and prefects.
- ²⁴Thus will I repay Babylon, and all who live in Chaldea All the evil they did to Zion, as you shall see with your own eyes, says the LORD.
- ²⁵Beware! I am against you, destroying mountain, destroyer of the entire earth, says the LORD; I will stretch forth my hand against you, roll you down over the cliffs, and make you a burnt mountain:
- ²⁶They will not take from you a cornerstone, or a foundation stone; Ruins forever shall you be, says the LORD.
- ²⁷Raise a signal on the earth, blow the trumpet among the nations; Dedicate peoples to war against her, summon against her the kingdoms, Ararat, Minni, and Ashkenaz; Appoint recruiting officers against her, send up horses like bristling locusts.
- ²⁸Dedicate peoples to war against her: the king of Media, Its governors and all its prefects, every land in his domain.
- ²⁹The earth quakes and writhes, the LORD'S plan against Babylon is carried out, Turning the land of Babylon into a desert where no one lives.
- ³⁰Babylon's warriors have ceased to fight, they remain in their strongholds; Dried up is their strength, they have become women. Burned are their homes, and broken their bars.
- ³¹One runner meets another, herald meets herald, Telling the king of Babylon that all his city is taken.
- ³²The fords have been seized, and the fortresses set on fire, while warriors are in panic.
- ³³For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Daughter Babylon is like a threshing floor at the time it is trodden; Yet a little while, and the harvest time will come for her.
- ³⁴He has consumed me, routed me, (Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon,) he has left me as an empty vessel; He has swallowed me like a dragon: filled his belly with my delights, and cast me out.

³⁵My torn flesh be upon Babylon, says the city on Zion; My blood upon the people of Chaldea, says Jerusalem.

³⁶But now, thus says the LORD: Surely I will defend your cause, I will avenge you; I will dry up her sea, and drain her fountain.

³⁷Babylon shall become a heap of ruins, a haunt of jackals; A place of horror and ridicule, where no one lives.

³⁸They all roar like lions, growl like lion cubs.

³⁹When they are parched, I will set a drink before them to make them drunk, that they may be overcome with perpetual sleep, never to awaken, says the LORD.

⁴⁰I will bring them down like lambs to the slaughter, like rams and goats.

⁴¹How has she been seized, made captive, the glory of the whole world! What a horror has Babylon become among nations:

⁴²against Babylon the sea rises, she is overwhelmed by the roaring waves!

⁴³Her cities have become a desert, parched and arid land Where no man lives, and no one passes through.

⁴⁴I will punish Bel in Babylon, and make him disgorge what he swallowed; peoples shall stream to him no more. The wall of Babylon falls!

⁴⁵Leave her, my people, let each one save himself from the burning wrath of the LORD.

⁴⁶Be not discouraged for fear of rumors spread in the land; this year the rumor comes, then violence in the land, tyrant against tyrant.

⁴⁷But behold, the days are coming when I will punish the idols of Babylon; her whole land shall be put to shame, and all her slain shall lie fallen within her.

⁴⁸Then heaven, and earth, and everything in them shall shout over Babylon with joy, when the destroyers come against her from the north, says the LORD.

⁴⁹Babylon, too, must fall, O slain of Israel, as at the hands of Babylon have fallen the slain of all the earth.

⁵⁰You who have escaped the sword, go on, stand not still; Remember the LORD from afar, let Jerusalem come to your minds.

⁵¹We are ashamed because we have heard taunts, confusion covers our faces; strangers have entered the holy places of the house of the LORD.

⁵²But behold, the days are coming, says the LORD, when I will punish her idols, and in her whole land the wounded will groan.

⁵³Though Babylon scale the heavens, and make her strong heights inaccessible, destroyers from me shall reach her, says the LORD.

⁵⁴Hear! loud cries from Babylon, dire destruction from the land of the Chaldeans;

⁵⁵For the LORD lays Babylon waste, stills her loud cry, Though her waves were roaring like mighty waters, and their clamor was heard afar.

⁵⁶For the destroyer comes upon her, (Babylon,) her heroes are captured, their bows broken; The LORD is a God who requites, he will surely repay.

⁵⁷I will make her princes and her wise men drunk, her governors, her prefects, and her warriors, so that they sleep an eternal sleep, never to awaken, says the King, whose name is the LORD of hosts.

⁵⁸Thus says the LORD of hosts: The walls of spacious Babylon shall be leveled utterly; her lofty gates shall be destroyed by fire. The toil of the nations is for nothing; for the flames the peoples weary themselves.

⁵⁹This was the errand given by the prophet Jeremiah to Seraiah, son of Neriah, son of Mahseiah, when he went to Babylon for the king in the fourth year of the reign of Zedekiah; Seraiah was chief quartermaster.

⁶⁰Jeremiah had written all the misfortune that was to befall Babylon in a single book: all these words that were written against Babylon.

⁶¹And Jeremiah said to Seraiah: When you reach Babylon, see that you read aloud all these words, ⁶²and then say: O LORD, you yourself threatened to destroy this place, so that neither man nor beast should dwell in it, since it would remain an everlasting desert.

⁶³When you have finished reading this book, tie a stone to it and throw it in the Euphrates,

⁶⁴and say: Thus shall Babylon sink. Never shall she rise, because of the evil I am bringing upon her. (To "weary themselves" are the words of Jeremiah.)

52 Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hamutal, daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

²He did what was evil in the eyes of the LORD, just as Jehoiakim had done.

³Indeed, what was done in Jerusalem and in Judah so angered the LORD that he cast them out from his presence. Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon.

⁴In the tenth month of the ninth year of his reign, on the tenth day of the month, Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, and his whole army advanced against Jerusalem, encamped around it, and built siege walls on every side.

⁵The siege of the city continued until the eleventh year of King Zedekiah.

⁶On the ninth day of the fourth month, when famine had gripped the city and the people had no more bread,

⁷the city walls were breached. Then all the soldiers took to flight and left the city by night through the gate between the two walls which was near the king's garden. With the Chaldeans surrounding the city, they went in the direction of the Arabah.

⁸But the Chaldean army pursued the king and overtook Zedekiah in the desert near Jericho, while his whole army fled from him.

⁹The king, therefore, was arrested and brought to Riblah, in the land of Hamath, to the king of Babylon, who pronounced sentence on him.

¹⁰As Zedekiah looked on, the king of Babylon slew his sons as well as all the princes of Judah at Riblah.

¹¹Then he blinded Zedekiah, bound him with fetters, and had him brought to Babylon and kept in prison until the day of his death.

¹²On the tenth day of the fifth month (this was in the nineteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon), Nebuzaradan, captain of the bodyguard, came to Jerusalem as the representative of the king of Babylon.

¹³He burned the house of the LORD, the palace of the king, and all the houses of Jerusalem; every large building he destroyed with fire.

¹⁴And the Chaldean troops who were with the captain of the guard tore down all the walls that surrounded Jerusalem.

¹⁵Then Nebuzaradan, captain of the guard, led into exile the rest of the people left in the city, and those who had deserted to the king of Babylon, and the rest of the artisans.

¹⁶But some of the country's poor, Nebuzaradan, captain of the guard, left behind as vinedressers and farmers.

¹⁷The bronze pillars that belonged to the house of the LORD, and the wheeled carts and the bronze sea in the house of the LORD, the Chaldeans broke into pieces; they carried away all the bronze to Babylon.

¹⁸They took also the pots, the shovels, the snuffers, the bowls, the pans, and all the bronze vessels used for service.

¹⁹The basins also, the fire holders, the bowls, the pots, the lampstands, the pans, the sacrificial bowls which were of gold or silver, these too the captain of the guard carried off,

²⁰as well as the two pillars, the one sea, and the twelve oxen of bronze under the sea, and the wheeled carts which King Solomon had made for the house of the LORD. The bronze of all these furnishings could not be weighed.

²¹Each of the pillars was eighteen cubits high and twelve cubits in diameter; each was four fingers thick, and hollow inside.

²²A bronze capital five cubits high surmounted the one pillar, and a network with pomegranates encircled the capital, all of brass; and so for the other pillar. The pomegranates. . .

²³there were ninety-six pomegranates. There were a hundred pomegranates, all around the network.

²⁴The captain of the guard also took Seraiah, the high priest, Zephaniah, the second priest, and the three keepers of the entry.

²⁵And from the city he took one courtier, a commander of soldiers, and seven men in the personal service of the king who were present in the city, and the scribe of the army commander who mustered the people of the land, and sixty of the common people who were in the city.

²⁶The captain of the guard, Nebuzaradan, arrested these and brought them to the king of Babylon at Riblah, ²⁷who had them struck down and put to death in Riblah, in the land of Hamath. Thus was Judah exiled from her land.

²⁸This is the number of the people whom Nebuchadnezzar led away captive: in his seventh year, three thousand and twenty-three people of Judah;

²⁹in the eighteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar, eight hundred and thirty-two persons from Jerusalem;

³⁰in the twenty-third year of Nebuchadnezzar, Nebuzaradan, captain of the guard, exiled seven hundred and forty-five people of Judah: four thousand six hundred persons in all.

³¹In the thirty-seventh year of the exile of Jehoiachin, king of Judah, on the twenty-fifth day of the twelfth month, Evil-merodach, king of Babylon, in the inaugural year of his reign, took up the case of Jehoiachin, king of Judah, and released him from prison.

³²He spoke kindly to him and gave him a throne higher than that of the other kings who were with him in Babylon.

³³Jehoiachin took off his prison garb and ate at the king's table as long as he lived.

³⁴The allowance given him by the king of Babylon was a perpetual allowance, in fixed daily amounts, all the days of his life until the day of his death.

Lamentations

1 How lonely she is now, the once crowded city! Widowed is she who was mistress over nations; The princess among the provinces has been made a toiling slave.

2 Bitterly she weeps at night, tears upon her cheeks, With not one to console her of all her dear ones; Her friends have all betrayed her and become her enemies.

3 Judah has fled into exile from oppression and cruel slavery; Yet where she lives among the nations she finds no place to rest: All her persecutors come upon her where she is narrowly confined.

4 The roads to Zion mourn for lack of pilgrims going to her feasts; All her gateways are deserted, her priests groan, Her virgins sigh; she is in bitter grief.

5 Her foes are uppermost, her enemies are at ease; The LORD has punished her for her many sins. Her little ones have gone away, captive before the foe.

6 Gone from daughter Zion is all her glory: Her princes, like rams that find no pasture, Have gone off without strength before their captors.

7 Jerusalem is mindful of the days of her wretched homelessness, When her people fell into enemy hands, and she had no one to help her; When her foes gloated over her, laughed at her ruin.

8 Through the sin of which she is guilty, Jerusalem is defiled; All who esteemed her think her vile now that they see her nakedness; She herself groans and turns away.

9 Her filth is on her skirt; she gave no thought how she would end. Astounding is her downfall, with no one to console her. Look, O LORD, upon her misery, for the enemy has triumphed!

10 The foe stretched out his hand to all her treasures; She has seen those nations enter her sanctuary Whom you forbade to come into your assembly.

11 All her people groan, searching for bread; They give their treasures for food, to retain the breath of life. "Look O LORD, and see how worthless I have become!"

¹²"Come, all you who pass by the way, look and see Whether there is any suffering like my suffering, which has been dealt me When the LORD afflicted me on the day of his blazing wrath.

¹³"From on high he sent fire down into my very frame; He spread a net for my feet, and overthrew me. He left me desolate, in pain all the day.

¹⁴"He has kept watch over my sins; by his hand they have been plaited: They have settled about my neck, he has brought my strength to its knees; The Lord has delivered me into their grip, I am unable to rise.

¹⁵"All the mighty ones in my midst the Lord has cast away; He summoned an army against me to crush my young men; The LORD has trodden in the wine press virgin daughter Judah.

¹⁶"At this I weep, my eyes run with tears: Far from me are all who could console me, any who might revive me; My sons were reduced to silence when the enemy prevailed."

¹⁷Zion stretched out her hands, but there was no one to console her; The LORD gave orders against Jacob for his neighbors to be his foes; Jerusalem has become in their midst a thing unclean.

¹⁸"The LORD is just; I had defied his command. Listen, all you peoples, and behold my suffering: My maidens and my youths have gone into captivity.

¹⁹"I cried out to my lovers, but they failed me. My priests and my elders perished in the city; Where they sought food for themselves, they found it not.

²⁰"Look, O LORD, upon my distress: all within me is in ferment, My heart recoils within me from my monstrous rebellion. In the streets the sword bereaves, at home death stalks.

²¹"Give heed to my groaning; there is no one to console me. All my enemies rejoice at my misfortune: it is you who have wrought it. Bring on the day you have proclaimed, that they may be even as I.

²²"Let all their evil come before you; deal with them As you have dealt with me for all my sins; My groans are many, and I am sick at heart."

2How the Lord in his wrath has detested daughter Zion! He has cast down from heaven to earth the glory of Israel, Unmindful of his footstool on the day of his wrath.

²The Lord has consumed without pity all the dwellings of Jacob; He has torn down in his anger the fortresses of daughter Judah; He has brought to the ground in dishonor her king and her princes.

³He broke off, in fiery wrath, the horn that was Israel's whole strength; He withheld the support of his right hand when the enemy approached; He blazed up in Jacob like a flaming fire devouring all about it.

⁴Like an enemy he made taut his bow; with his arrows in his right hand He took his stand as a foe, and slew all on whom the eye doted; Over the tent of daughter Zion he poured out his wrath like fire.

⁵The Lord has become an enemy, he has consumed Israel: Consumed all her castles and destroyed her fortresses; For daughter Judah he has multiplied moaning and groaning.

⁶He has demolished his shelter like a garden booth, he has destroyed his dwelling; In Zion the LORD has made feast and sabbath to be forgotten; He has scorned in fierce wrath both king and priest.

⁷The Lord has disowned his altar, rejected his sanctuary; The walls of her towers he has handed over to the enemy, Who shout in the house of the LORD as on a feast day.

⁸The LORD marked for destruction the wall of daughter Zion: He stretched out the measuring line; his hand brought ruin, yet he did not relent-- He brought grief on wall and rampart till both succumbed.

⁹Sunk into the ground are her gates; he has removed and broken her bars. Her king and her princes are among the pagans; priestly instruction is wanting, And her prophets have not received any vision from the LORD.

¹⁰On the ground in silence sit the old men of daughter Zion; They strew dust on their heads and gird themselves with sackcloth; The maidens of Jerusalem bow their heads to the ground.

¹¹Worn out from weeping are my eyes, within me all is in ferment; My gall is poured out on the ground because of the downfall of the daughter of my people, As child and infant faint away in the open spaces of the town.

¹²They ask their mothers, "Where is the cereal?"--in vain, As they faint away like the wounded in the streets of the city, And breathe their last in their mothers' arms.

¹³To what can I liken or compare you, O daughter Jerusalem? What example can I show you for your comfort, virgin daughter Zion? For great as the sea is your downfall; who can heal you?

¹⁴Your prophets had for you false and specious visions; They did not lay bare your guilt, to avert your fate; They beheld for you in vision false and misleading portents.

¹⁵All who pass by clap their hands at you; They hiss and wag their heads over daughter Jerusalem: "Is this the all-beautiful city, the joy of the whole earth?"

¹⁶All your enemies open their mouths against you; They hiss and gnash their teeth. They say, "We have devoured her. This at last is the day we hoped for; we have lived to see it!"

¹⁷The LORD has done as he decreed: he has fulfilled the threat He set forth from days of old; he has destroyed and had no pity, Letting the enemy gloat over you and exalting the horn of your foes.

¹⁸Cry out to the Lord; moan, O daughter Zion! Let your tears flow like a torrent day and night; Let there be no respite for you, no repose for your eyes.

¹⁹Rise up, shrill in the night, at the beginning of every watch; Pour out your heart like water in the presence of the Lord; Lift up your hands to him for the lives of your little ones (Who faint from hunger at the corner of every street).

²¹"Dead in the dust of the streets lie young and old; My maidens and young men have fallen by the sword; You have slain on the day of your wrath, slaughtered without pity.

²²"You summoned as for a feast day terrors against me from all sides; There was not, on the day of your wrath, either fugitive or survivor; Those whom I bore and reared my enemy has utterly destroyed."

3 I am a man who knows affliction from the rod of his anger,

² One whom he has led and forced to walk in darkness, not in the light;

³ Against me alone he brings back his hand again and again all the day.

⁴ He has worn away my flesh and my skin, he has broken my bones;

⁵ He has beset me round about with poverty and weariness;

⁶ He has left me to dwell in the dark like those long dead.

⁷ He has hemmed me in with no escape and weighed me down with chains;

⁸ Even when I cry out for help, he stops my prayer;

⁹ He has blocked my ways with fitted stones, and turned my paths aside.

¹⁰ A lurking bear he has been to me, a lion in ambush!

¹¹ He deranged my ways, set me astray, left me desolate.

¹² He bent his bow, and set me up as the target for his arrow.

¹³ He pierces my sides with shafts from his quiver.

¹⁴ I have become a laughingstock for all nations, their taunt all the day long;

¹⁵ He has sated me with bitter food, made me drink my fill of wormwood.

¹⁶ He has broken my teeth with gravel, pressed my face in the dust;

¹⁷ My soul is deprived of peace, I have forgotten what happiness is;

¹⁸ I tell myself my future is lost, all that I hoped for from the LORD.

¹⁹ The thought of my homeless poverty is wormwood and gall;

²⁰ Remembering it over and over leaves my soul downcast within me.

²¹But I will call this to mind, as my reason to have hope:

²²The favors of the LORD are not exhausted, his mercies are not spent;

²³They are renewed each morning, so great is his faithfulness.

²⁴My portion is the LORD, says my soul; therefore will I hope in him.

²⁵Good is the LORD to one who waits for him, to the soul that seeks him;

²⁶It is good to hope in silence for the saving help of the LORD.

²⁷It is good for a man to bear the yoke from his youth.

²⁸Let him sit alone and in silence, when it is laid upon him.

²⁹Let him put his mouth to the dust; there may yet be hope.

³⁰Let him offer his cheek to be struck, let him be filled with disgrace.

³¹For the Lord's rejection does not last forever;

³²Though he punishes, he takes pity, in the abundance of his mercies;

³³He has no joy in afflicting or grieving the sons of men.

³⁴When anyone tramples underfoot all the prisoners in the land,

³⁵When he distorts men's rights in the very sight of the Most High,

³⁶When he presses a crooked claim, the Lord does not look on unconcerned.

³⁷Who commands so that it comes to pass, except the Lord ordains it;

³⁸Except it proceeds from the mouth of the Most High, whether the thing be good or bad!

³⁹Why should any living man complain, any mortal, in the face of his sins?

⁴⁰Let us search and examine our ways that we may return to the LORD!

⁴¹Let us reach out our hearts toward God in heaven!

⁴²We have sinned and rebelled; you have not forgiven us.

⁴³You veiled yourself in wrath and pursued us, you slew us and took no pity;

⁴⁴You wrapped yourself in a cloud which prayer could not pierce.

⁴⁵You have made us offscourings and refuse among the nations.

⁴⁶All our enemies have opened their mouths against us;

⁴⁷Terror and the pit have been our lot, desolation and destruction;

⁴⁸My eyes run with streams of water over the downfall of the daughter of my people.

⁴⁹My eyes flow without ceasing, there is no respite,

⁵⁰Till the LORD from heaven looks down and sees.

⁵¹My eyes torment my soul at the sight of all the daughters of my city.

⁵²Those who were my enemies without cause hunted me down like a bird;

⁵³They struck me down alive in the pit, and sealed me in with a stone.

⁵⁴The waters flowed over my head, and I said, "I am lost!"

⁵⁵I called upon your name, O LORD, from the bottom of the pit;

⁵⁶You heard me call, "Let not your ear be deaf to my cry for help!"

⁵⁷You came to my aid when I called to you; you said, "Have no fear!"

⁵⁸You defended me in mortal danger, you redeemed my life.

⁵⁹You see, O LORD, how I am wronged; do me justice!

⁶⁰You see all their vindictiveness, all their plots against me.

⁶¹You hear their insults, O LORD, (all their plots against me),

⁶²The whispered murmurings of my foes, against me all the day;

⁶³Whether they sit or stand, see, I am their taunt song.

⁶⁴Requite them as they deserve, O LORD, according to their deeds;

⁶⁵Give them hardness of heart, as your curse upon them;

⁶⁶Pursue them in wrath and destroy them from under your heavens!

4How tarnished is the gold, how changed the noble metal; How the sacred stones lie strewn at every street corner!

²Zion's precious sons, fine gold their counterpart, Now worth no more than earthen jars made by the hands of a potter!

³Even the jackals bare their breasts and suckle their young; The daughter of my people has become as cruel as the ostrich in the desert.

⁴The tongue of the suckling cleaves to the roof of its mouth in thirst; The babes cry for food, but there is no one to give it to them.

⁵Those accustomed to dainty food perish in the streets; Those brought up in purple now cling to the ash heaps.

⁶The punishment of the daughter of my people is greater than the penalty of Sodom, Which was overthrown in an instant without the turning of a hand.

⁷Brighter than snow were her princes, whiter than milk, More ruddy than coral, more precious than sapphire.

⁸Now their appearance is blacker than soot, they are unrecognized on the streets; Their skin shrinks on their bones, as dry as wood.

⁹Better for those who perish by the sword than for those who die of hunger, Who waste away, as though pierced through, lacking the fruits of the field!

¹⁰The hands of compassionate women boiled their own children, To serve them as mourners' food in the downfall of the daughter of my people.

¹¹The LORD has spent his anger, poured out his blazing wrath; He has kindled a fire in Zion that has consumed her foundations.

¹²The kings of the earth did not believe, nor any of the world's inhabitants, That enemy or foe could enter the gates of Jerusalem.

¹³Because of the sins of her prophets and the crimes of her priests, Who shed in her midst the blood of the just!--

¹⁴They staggered blindly in the streets, soiled with blood, So that people could not touch even their garments:

¹⁵"Away you unclean!" they cried to them, "Away, away, do not draw near!" If they left and wandered among the nations, nowhere could they remain.

¹⁶The LORD himself has dispersed them, he regards them no more; He does not receive the priests with favor, nor show kindness to the elders.

¹⁷Our eyes ever wasted away, looking in vain for aid; From our watchtower we watched for a nation that could not save us.

¹⁸Men dogged our steps so that we could not walk in our streets; Our end drew near, and came; our time had expired.

¹⁹Our pursuers were swifter than eagles in the air, They harassed us on the mountains and waylaid us in the desert.

²⁰The anointed one of the LORD, our breath of life, was caught in their snares, He in whose shadow we thought we could live on among the nations.

²¹Though you rejoice and are glad, O daughter Edom, you who dwell in the land of Uz, To you also shall the cup be passed; you shall become drunk and naked.

²²Your chastisement is completed, O daughter Zion, he will not prolong your exile; But your wickedness, O daughter Edom, he will punish, he will lay bare your sins.

5 Remember, O LORD, what has befallen us, look, and see our disgrace:

²Our inherited lands have been turned over to strangers, our homes to foreigners.

³We have become orphans, fatherless; widowed are our mothers.

⁴The water we drink we must buy, for our own wood we must pay.

⁵On our necks is the yoke of those who drive us; we are worn out, but allowed no rest.

⁶To Egypt we submitted, and to Assyria, to fill our need of bread.

⁷Our fathers, who sinned, are no more; but we bear their guilt.

⁸Slaves rule over us; there is no one to rescue us from their hands.

⁹At the peril of our lives we bring in our sustenance, in the face of the desert heat;

¹⁰Our skin is shriveled up, as though by a furnace, with the searing blasts of famine.

¹¹The wives in Zion were ravished by the enemy, the maidens in the cities of Judah;

¹²Princes were gibbeted by them, elders shown no respect.

¹³The youths carry the millstones, boys stagger under their loads of wood;

¹⁴The old men have abandoned the gate, the young men their music.

¹⁵The joy of our hearts has ceased, our dance has turned into mourning;

¹⁶The garlands have fallen from our heads: woe to us, for we have sinned!

¹⁷Over this our hearts are sick, at this our eyes grow dim:

¹⁸That Mount Zion should be desolate, with jackals roaming there!

¹⁹You, O LORD, are enthroned forever; your throne stands from age to age.

²⁰Why, then, should you forget us, abandon us so long a time?

²¹Lead us back to you, O LORD, that we may be restored: give us anew such days as we had of old.

²²For now you have indeed rejected us, and in full measure turned your wrath against us.

Baruch

1 Now these are the words of the scroll which Baruch, son of Neriah, son of Mahseiah, son of Zedekiah, son of Hasadiah, son of Hilkiyah, wrote in Babylon,

²in the fifth year (on the seventh day of the month, at the time when the Chaldeans took Jerusalem and burnt it with fire).

³And Baruch read the words of this scroll for Jeconiah, son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, to hear it, as well as all the people who came to the reading:

⁴the nobles, the kings' sons, the elders, and the whole people, small and great alike--all who lived in Babylon by the river Sud.

⁵They wept and fasted and prayed before the LORD,

⁶and collected such funds as each could furnish.

⁷These they sent to Jerusalem, to Jehoiakim, son of Hilkiyah, son of Shallum, the priest, and to the priests and the whole people who were with him in Jerusalem.

⁸(This was when he received the vessels of the house of the Lord that had been removed from the temple, to restore them to the land of Judah, on the tenth of Sivan. These silver vessels Zedekiah, son of Josiah, king of Judah, had had made ⁹after Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, carried off Jeconiah, and the princes, and the skilled workers, and the nobles, and the people of the land from Jerusalem, as captives, and brought them to Babylon.)

¹⁰Their message was: "We send you funds, with which you are to procure holocausts, sin offerings, and frankincense, and to prepare cereal offerings; offer these on the altar of the LORD our God,

¹¹and pray for the life of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, and that of Belshazzar, his son, that their lifetimes may equal the duration of the heavens above the earth;

¹²and that the LORD may give us strength, and light to our eyes, that we may live under the protective shadow of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, and that of Belshazzar, his son, and serve them long, finding favor in their sight.

¹³"Pray for us also to the LORD, our God; for we have sinned against the LORD, our God, and the wrath and anger of the LORD have not yet been withdrawn from us at the present day.

¹⁴And read out publicly this scroll which we send you, in the house of the LORD, on the feast day and during the days of assembly:

¹⁵Justice is with the LORD, our God; and we today are flushed with shame, we men of Judah and citizens of Jerusalem, ¹⁶that we, with our kings and rulers and priests and prophets, and with our fathers,

¹⁷have sinned in the LORD'S sight

¹⁸and disobeyed him. We have neither heeded the voice of the LORD, our God, nor followed the precepts which the LORD set before us.

¹⁹From the time the LORD led our fathers out of the land of Egypt until the present day, we have been disobedient to the LORD, our God, and only too ready to disregard his voice.

²⁰And the evils and the curse which the LORD enjoined upon Moses, his servant, at the time he led our fathers forth from the land of Egypt to give us the land flowing with milk and honey, cling to us even today.

²¹For we did not heed the voice of the LORD, our God, in all the words of the prophets whom he sent us, ²²but each one of us went off after the devices of our own wicked hearts, served other gods, and did evil in the sight of the LORD, our God.

2"And the LORD fulfilled the warning he had uttered against us: against our judges, who governed Israel, against our kings and princes, and against the men of Israel and Judah.

²He brought down upon us evils so great that there has not been done anywhere under heaven what has been done in Jerusalem, as was written in the law of Moses:

³that one after another of us should eat the flesh of his son or of his daughter.

⁴He has made us subject to all the kingdoms round about us, a reproach and a horror among all the nations round about to which the LORD has scattered us.

⁵We are brought low, not raised up, because we sinned against the LORD, our God, not heeding his voice.

⁶"Justice is with the LORD, our God; and we, like our fathers, are flushed with shame even today.

⁷All the evils of which the LORD had warned us have come upon us:

⁸and we did not plead before the LORD, or turn, each from the figments of his evil heart.

⁹And the LORD kept watch over the evils, and brought them home to us; for the LORD is just in all the works he commanded us to do, ¹⁰but we did not heed his voice, or follow the precepts of the LORD which he set before us.

¹¹"And now, LORD, God of Israel, you who led your people out of the land of Egypt with your mighty hand, with signs and wonders and great might, and with your upraised arm, so that you have made for yourself a name till the present day:

¹²we have sinned, been impious, and violated, O LORD, our God, all your statutes.

¹³Let your anger be withdrawn from us, for we are left few in number among the nations to which you scattered us.

¹⁴Hear, O LORD, our prayer of supplication, and deliver us for your own sake: grant us favor in the presence of our captors, ¹⁵that the whole earth may know that you are the LORD, our God, and that Israel and his descendants bear your name.

¹⁶O LORD, look down from your holy dwelling and take thought of us; turn, O LORD, your ear to hear us.

¹⁷Look directly at us, and behold: it is not the dead in the nether world, whose spirits have been taken from within them, who will give glory and vindication to the LORD.

¹⁸He whose soul is deeply grieved, who walks bowed and feeble, with failing eyes and famished soul, will declare your glory and justice, LORD!

¹⁹"Not on the just deeds of our fathers and our kings do we base our plea for mercy in your sight, O LORD, our God.

²⁰You have brought your wrath and anger down upon us, as you had warned us through your servants the prophets:

²¹Thus says the LORD: Bend your shoulders to the service of the king of Babylon, that you may continue in the land I gave your fathers:

²²for if you do not hear the LORD'S voice so as to serve the king of Babylon,

²³I will make to cease from the cities of Judah and from the streets of Jerusalem The sounds of joy and the sounds of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride; And all the land shall be deserted, without inhabitants.'

²⁴But we did not heed your voice, or serve the king of Babylon, and you fulfilled the threats you had made through your servants the prophets, to have the bones of our kings and the bones of our fathers brought out from their burial places.

²⁵And indeed, they lie exposed to the heat of day and the frost of night. They died in dire anguish, by hunger and the sword and plague.

²⁶And you reduced the house which bears your name to what it is today, for the wickedness of the kingdom of Israel and the kingdom of Judah.

²⁷"But with us, O Lord, our God, you have dealt in all your clemency and in all your great mercy.

²⁸This was your warning through your servant Moses, the day you ordered him to write down your law in the presence of the Israelites:

²⁹If you do not heed my voice, surely this great and numerous throng will dwindle away among the nations to which I will scatter them.

³⁰For I know they will not heed me, because they are a stiff-necked people. But in the land of their captivity they shall have a change of heart;

³¹they shall know that I, the LORD, am their God. I will give them hearts, and heedful ears;

³²and they shall praise me in the land of their captivity, and shall invoke my name.

³³Then they shall turn back from their stiff-necked stubbornness, and from their evil deeds, because they shall remember the fate of their fathers who sinned against the LORD.

³⁴And I will bring them back to the land which with my oath I promised to their fathers, to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob; and they shall rule it. I will make them increase; they shall not then diminish.

³⁵And I will establish for them, as an eternal covenant, that I will be their God, and they shall be my people; and I will not again remove my people Israel from the land I gave them.

3"LORD Almighty, God of Israel, afflicted souls and dismayed spirits call to you.

²Hear, O LORD, for you are a God of mercy; and have mercy on us, who have sinned against you:

³for you are enthroned forever, while we are perishing forever.

⁴LORD Almighty, God of Israel, hear the prayer of Israel's few, the sons of those who sinned against you; they did not heed the voice of the LORD, their God, and the evils cling to us.

⁵Remember at this time not the misdeeds of our fathers, but your own hand and name:

⁶for you are the LORD our God; and you, O LORD, we will praise!

⁷For this, you put into our hearts the fear of you: that we may call upon your name, and praise you in our captivity, when we have removed from our hearts all the wickedness of our fathers who sinned against you.

⁸Behold us today in our captivity, where you scattered us, a reproach, a curse, and a requital for all the misdeeds of our fathers, who withdrew from the LORD, our God."

⁹Hear, O Israel, the commandments of life: listen, and know prudence!

¹⁰How is it, Israel, that you are in the land of your foes, grown old in a foreign land, Defiled with the dead, ¹¹accounted with those destined for the nether world?

¹²You have forsaken the fountain of wisdom!

¹³Had you walked in the way of God, you would have dwelt in enduring peace.

¹⁴Learn where prudence is, where strength, where understanding; That you may know also where are length of days, and life, where light of the eyes, and peace.

¹⁵Who has found the place of wisdom, who has entered into her treasures?

¹⁶Where are the rulers of the nations, they who lorded it over the wild beasts of the earth,

¹⁷and made sport of the birds of the heavens: They who heaped up the silver and the gold in which men trust; of whose possessions there was no end?

¹⁸They schemed anxiously for money, but there is no trace of their work:

¹⁹They have vanished down into the nether world, and others have risen up in their stead.

²⁰Later generations have seen the light, have dwelt in the land, But the way to understanding they have not known, ²¹they have not perceived her paths, or reached her; their offspring were far from the way to her.

²²She has not been heard of in Canaan, nor seen in Teman.

²³The sons of Hagar who seek knowledge on earth, the merchants of Midian and Teman, the phrasemakers seeking knowledge, These have not known the way to wisdom, nor have they her paths in mind.

²⁴O Israel, how vast is the house of God, how broad the scope of his dominion:

²⁵Vast and endless, high and immeasurable!

²⁶In it were born the giants, renowned at the first, stalwarts, skilled in war.

²⁷Not these did God choose, nor did he give them the way of understanding;

²⁸They perished for lack of prudence, perished through their folly.

²⁹Who has gone up to the heavens and taken her, or brought her down from the clouds?

³⁰Who has crossed the sea and found her, bearing her away rather than choice gold?

³¹None knows the way to her, nor has any understood her paths.

³²Yet he who knows all things knows her; he has probed her by his knowledge-- He who established the earth for all time, and filled it with four-footed beasts;

³³He who dismisses the light, and it departs, calls it, and it obeys him trembling;

³⁴Before whom the stars at their posts shine and rejoice;

³⁵When he calls them, they answer, "Here we are!" shining with joy for their Maker.

³⁶Such is our God; no other is to be compared to him:

³⁷He has traced out all the way of understanding, and has given her to Jacob, his servant, to Israel, his beloved son.

³⁸Since then she has appeared on earth, and moved among men.

4 She is the book of the precepts of God, the law that endures forever; All who cling to her will live, but those will die who forsake her.

²Turn, O Jacob, and receive her: walk by her light toward splendor.

³Give not your glory to another, your privileges to an alien race.

⁴Blessed are we, O Israel; for what pleases God is known to us!

⁵Fear not, my people! Remember, Israel,

⁶You were sold to the nations not for your destruction; It was because you angered God that you were handed over to your foes.

⁷For you provoked your Maker with sacrifices to demons, to no-gods;

⁸You forsook the Eternal God who nourished you, and you grieved Jerusalem who fostered you.

⁹She indeed saw coming upon you the anger of God; and she said: "Hear, you neighbors of Zion! God has brought great mourning upon me, ¹⁰For I have seen the captivity that the Eternal God has brought upon my sons and daughters.

¹¹With joy I fostered them; but with mourning and lament I let them go.

¹²Let no one gloat over me, a widow, bereft of many: For the sins of my children I am left desolate, because they turned from the law of God,

¹³and did not acknowledge his statutes; In the ways of God's commandments they did not walk, nor did they tread the disciplined paths of his justice.

¹⁴"Let Zion's neighbors come, to take note of the captivity of my sons and daughters, brought upon them by the Eternal God.

¹⁵He has brought against them a nation from afar, a nation ruthless and of alien speech, That has neither reverence for age nor tenderness for childhood;

¹⁶They have led away this widow's cherished sons, have left me solitary, without daughters.

¹⁷What can I do to help you?

¹⁸He who has brought this evil upon you must himself deliver you from your enemies' hands.

¹⁹Farewell, my children, farewell: I am left desolate.

²⁰I have taken off the garment of peace, have put on sackcloth for my prayer of supplication, and while I live I will cry out to the Eternal God.

²¹"Fear not, my children; call upon God, who will deliver you from oppression at enemy hands.

²²I have trusted in the Eternal God for your welfare, and joy has come to me from the Holy One Because of the mercy that will swiftly reach you from your eternal savior.

²³With mourning and lament I sent you forth, but God will give you back to me with enduring gladness and joy.

²⁴As Zion's neighbors lately saw you taken captive, so shall they soon see God's salvation come to you, with great glory and the splendor of the Eternal God.

²⁵"My children, bear patiently the anger that has come from God upon you; Your enemies have persecuted you, and you will soon see their destruction and trample upon their necks.

²⁶My pampered children have trodden rough roads, carried off by their enemies like sheep in a raid.

²⁷Fear not, my children; call out to God! He who brought this upon you will remember you.

²⁸As your hearts have been disposed to stray from God, turn now ten times the more to seek him;

²⁹For he who has brought disaster upon you will, in saving you, bring you back enduring joy."

³⁰Fear not, Jerusalem! He who gave you your name is your encouragement.

³¹Fearful are those who harmed you, who rejoiced at your downfall;

³²Fearful are the cities where your children were enslaved, fearful the city that took your sons.

³³As that city rejoiced at your collapse, and made merry at your downfall, so shall she grieve over her own desolation.

³⁴I will take from her the joyous throngs, and her exultation shall be turned to mourning:

³⁵For fire shall come upon her from the Eternal God, for a long time, and demons shall dwell in her from that time on.

³⁶Look to the east, Jerusalem! behold the joy that comes to you from God.

³⁷Here come your sons whom you once let go, gathered in from the east and from the west By the word of the Holy One, rejoicing in the glory of God.

5 Jerusalem, take off your robe of mourning and misery; put on the splendor of glory from God forever:

²Wrapped in the cloak of justice from God, bear on your head the mitre that displays the glory of the eternal name.

³For God will show all the earth your splendor:

⁴you will be named by God forever the peace of justice, the glory of God's worship.

⁵Up, Jerusalem! stand upon the heights; look to the east and see your children Gathered from the east and the west at the word of the Holy One, rejoicing that they are remembered by God.

⁶Led away on foot by their enemies they left you: but God will bring them back to you borne aloft in glory as on royal thrones.

⁷For God has commanded that every lofty mountain be made low, And that the age-old depths and gorges be filled to level ground, that Israel may advance secure in the glory of God.

⁸The forests and every fragrant kind of tree have overshadowed Israel at God's command;

⁹For God is leading Israel in joy by the light of his glory, with his mercy and justice for company.

6 A copy of the letter which Jeremiah sent to those who were being led captive to Babylon by the king of the Babylonians, to convey to them what God had commanded him:
For the sins you committed before God, you are being led captive to Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar, king of the Babylonians.

²When you reach Babylon you will be there many years, a period seven generations long; after which I will bring you back from there in peace.

³And now in Babylon you will see borne upon men's shoulders gods of silver and gold and wood, which cast fear upon the pagans.

⁴Take care that you yourselves do not imitate their alien example and stand in fear of them,

⁵when you see the crowd before them and behind worshipping them. Rather, say in your hearts, "You, O LORD, are to be worshiped!";

⁶for my angel is with you, and he is the custodian of your lives.

⁷Their tongues are smoothed by woodworkers; they are covered with gold and silver-but they are a fraud, and cannot speak.

⁸People bring gold, as to a maiden in love with ornament,

⁹and furnish crowns for the heads of their gods. Then sometimes the priests take the silver and gold from their gods and spend it on themselves,

¹⁰or give part of it to the harlots on the terrace. They trick them out in garments like men, these gods of silver and gold and wood;

¹¹but though they are wrapped in purple clothing, they are not safe from corrosion or insects.

¹²They wipe their faces clean of the house dust which is thick upon them.

¹³Each has a scepter, like the human ruler of a district; but none does away with those that offend against it.

¹⁴Each has in its right hand an axe or dagger, but it cannot save itself from war or pillage. Thus it is known they are not gods; do not fear them.

¹⁵As useless as one's broken tools

¹⁶are their gods, set up in their houses; their eyes are full of dust from the feet of those who enter.

¹⁷Their courtyards are walled in like those of a man brought to execution for a crime against the king; the priests reinforce their houses with gates and bars and bolts, lest they be carried off by robbers.

¹⁸They light more lamps for them than for themselves, yet not one of these can they see.

- ¹⁹They are like any beam in the house; it is said their hearts are eaten away. Though the insects out of the ground consume them and their garments, they do not feel it.
- ²⁰Their faces are blackened by the smoke of the house.
- ²¹Bats and swallows alight on their bodies and on their heads; and cats as well as birds.
- ²²Know, therefore, that they are not gods, and do not fear them.
- ²³Despite the gold that covers them for adornment, unless someone wipes away the corrosion, they do not shine; nor did they feel anything when they were molded.
- ²⁴They are bought at any price, and there is no spirit in them.
- ²⁵Having no feet, they are carried on men's shoulders, displaying their shame to all; and those who worship them are put to confusion
- ²⁶because, if they fall to the ground, the worshipers must raise them up. They neither move of themselves if one sets them upright, nor come upright if they fall; but one puts gifts beside them as beside the dead.
- ²⁷Their priests resell their sacrifices for their own advantage. Even their wives cure parts of the meat, but do not share it with the poor and the weak;
- ²⁸the menstuous and women in childbed handle their sacrifices. Knowing from this that they are not gods, do not fear them.
- ²⁹How can they be called gods? For women bring the offerings to these gods of silver and gold and wood;
- ³⁰and in their temples the priests squat with torn tunic and with shaven hair and beard, and with their heads uncovered.
- ³¹They shout and wail before their gods as others do at a funeral banquet.
- ³²The priests take some of their clothing and put it on their wives and children.
- ³³Whether they are treated well or ill by anyone, they cannot requite it; they can neither set up a king nor remove him.

³⁴Similarly, they cannot give anyone riches or coppers; if one fails to fulfill a vow to them, they cannot exact it of him.

³⁵They neither save a man from death, nor deliver the weak from the strong.

³⁶To no blind man do they restore his sight, nor do they save any man in an emergency.

³⁷They neither pity the widow nor benefit the orphan.

³⁸These gilded and silvered wooden statues are like stones from the mountains; and their worshipers will be put to shame.

³⁹How then can it be thought or claimed that they are gods?

⁴⁰Even the Chaldeans themselves have no respect for them; for when they see a deaf mute, incapable of speech, they bring forward Bel and ask the god to make noise, as though the man could understand;

⁴¹and they are themselves unable to reflect and abandon these gods, for they have no sense.

⁴²And their women, girt with cords, sit by the roads, burning chaff for incense;

⁴³and whenever one of them is drawn aside by some passer-by who lies with her, she mocks her neighbor who has not been dignified as she has, and has not had her cord broken.

⁴⁴All that takes place around these gods is a fraud: how then can it be thought or claimed that they are gods?

⁴⁵They are produced by woodworkers and goldsmiths, and they are nothing else than what these craftsmen wish them to be.

⁴⁶Even those who produce them are not long-lived;

⁴⁷how then can what they have produced be gods? They have left frauds and opprobrium to their successors.

⁴⁸For when war or disaster comes upon them, the priests deliberate among themselves where they can hide with them.

- ⁴⁹How then can one not know that these are no-gods, which do not save themselves either from war or from disaster?
- ⁵⁰They are wooden, gilded and silvered; they will later be known for frauds. To all peoples and kings it will be clear that they are not gods, but human handiwork; and that God's work is not in them.
- ⁵¹Who does not know that they are not gods?
- ⁵²They set no king over the land, nor do they give men rain.
- ⁵³They neither vindicate their own rights, nor do they recover what is unjustly taken, for they are unable;
- ⁵⁴they are like crows between heaven and earth. For when fire breaks out in the temple of these wooden or gilded or silvered gods, though the priests flee and are safe, they themselves are burnt up in the fire like beams.
- ⁵⁵They cannot resist a king, or enemy forces.
- ⁵⁶How then can it be admitted or thought that they are gods? are safe from neither thieves nor bandits, these wooden and silvered and gilded gods;
- ⁵⁷those who seize them strip off the gold and the silver, and go away with the clothing that was on them, and they cannot help themselves.
- ⁵⁸How much better to be a king displaying his valor, or a handy tool in a house, the joy of its owner, than these false gods; or the door of a house, that keeps safe those who are within, rather than these false gods; or a wooden post in a palace, rather than these false gods!
- ⁵⁹The sun and moon and stars are bright, and obedient in the service for which they are sent.
- ⁶⁰Likewise the lightning, when it flashes, is a goodly sight; and the same wind blows over all the land.
- ⁶¹The clouds, too, when commanded by God to proceed across the whole world, fulfill the order;

⁶²and fire, sent from on high to burn up the mountains and the forests, does what has been commanded. But these false gods are not their equal, whether in beauty or in power;

⁶³so that it is unthinkable, and cannot be claimed, that they are gods. They can neither execute judgment, nor benefit man.

⁶⁴Know, therefore, that they are not gods, and do not fear them.

⁶⁵Kings they neither curse nor bless.

⁶⁶They show the nations no signs in the heavens, nor are they brilliant like the sun, nor shining like the moon.

⁶⁷The beasts which can help themselves by fleeing to shelter are better than they are.

⁶⁸Thus in no way is it clear to us that they are gods; so do not fear them.

⁶⁹For like a scarecrow in a cucumber patch, that is no protection, are their wooden, gilded, silvered gods.

⁷⁰Just like a thornbush in a garden on which perches every kind of bird, or like a corpse hurled into darkness, are their silvered and gilded wooden gods.

⁷¹From the rotting of the purple and the linen upon them, it can be known that they are not gods; they themselves will in the end be consumed, and be a disgrace in the land.

⁷²The better for the just man who has no idols: he shall be far from disgrace!

Ezekiel

1 In the thirtieth year, on the fifth day of the fourth month, while I was among the exiles by the river Chebar, the heavens opened, and I saw divine visions.--

2 On the fifth day of the month, the fifth year, that is, of King Jehoiachin's exile,

3 the word of the LORD came to the priest Ezekiel, the son of Buzi, in the land of the Chaldeans by the river Chebar.--There the hand of the LORD came upon me.

4 As I looked, a stormwind came from the North, a huge cloud with flashing fire (enveloped in brightness), from the midst of which (the midst of the fire) something gleamed like electrum.

5 Within it were figures resembling four living creatures that looked like this: their form was human,

6 but each had four faces and four wings,

7 and their legs went straight down; the soles of their feet were round. They sparkled with a gleam like burnished bronze.

8 Human hands were under their wings, and the wings of one touched those of another.

9 Their faces (and their wings) looked out on all their four sides; they did not turn when they moved, but each went straight forward.

10 Their faces were like this: each of the four had the face of a man, but on the right side was the face of a lion, and on the left side the face of an ox, and finally each had the face of an eagle.

11 Each had two wings spread out above so that they touched one another's, while the other two wings of each covered his body.

12 (Each went straight forward; wherever the spirit wished to go, there they went; they did not turn when they moved.)

¹³In among the living creatures something like burning coals of fire could be seen; they seemed like torches, moving to and fro among the living creatures. The fire gleamed, and from it came forth flashes of lightning.

¹⁵As I looked at the living creatures, I saw wheels on the ground, one beside each of the four living creatures.

¹⁶The wheels had the sparkling appearance of chrysolite, and all four of them looked the same: they were constructed as though one wheel were within another.

¹⁷They could move in any of the four directions they faced, without veering as they moved.

¹⁸The four of them had rims, and I saw that their rims were full of eyes all around.

¹⁹When the living creatures moved, the wheels moved with them; and when the living creatures were raised from the ground, the wheels also were raised.

²⁰Wherever the spirit wished to go, there the wheels went, and they were raised together with the living creatures; for the spirit of the living creatures was in the wheels.

²²Over the heads of the living creatures, something like a firmament could be seen, seeming like glittering crystal, stretched straight out above their heads.

²³Beneath the firmament their wings were stretched out, one toward the other. (Each of them had two covering his body.)

²⁴Then I heard the sound of their wings, like the roaring of mighty waters, like the voice of the Almighty. When they moved, the sound of the tumult was like the din of an army. (And when they stood still, they lowered their wings.)

²⁶Above the firmament over their heads something like a throne could be seen, looking like sapphire. Upon it was seated, up above, one who had the appearance of a man.

²⁷Upward from what resembled his waist I saw what gleamed like electrum; downward from what resembled his waist I saw what looked like fire; he was surrounded with splendor.

²⁸Like the bow which appears in the clouds on a rainy day was the splendor that surrounded him. Such was the vision of the likeness of the glory of the LORD. When I had seen it, I fell upon my face and heard a voice that said to me:

2 Son of man, stand up! I wish to speak with you.

²As he spoke to me, spirit entered into me and set me on my feet, and I heard the one who was speaking

³say to me: Son of man, I am sending you to the Israelites, rebels who have rebelled against me; they and their fathers have revolted against me to this very day.

⁴Hard of face and obstinate of heart are they to whom I am sending you. But you shall say to them: Thus says the Lord GOD!

⁵And whether they heed or resist--for they are a rebellious house--they shall know that a prophet has been among them.

⁶But as for you, son of man, fear neither them nor their words when they contradict you and reject you, and when you sit on scorpions. Neither fear their words nor be dismayed at their looks, for they are a rebellious house.

⁷(But speak my words to them, whether they heed or resist, for they are rebellious.)

⁸As for you, son of man, obey me when I speak to you: be not rebellious like this house of rebellion, but open your mouth and eat what I shall give you.

⁹It was then I saw a hand stretched out to me, in which was a written scroll

¹⁰which he unrolled before me. It was covered with writing front and back, and written on it was: Lamentation and wailing and woe!

3 He said to me: Son of man, eat what is before you; eat this scroll, then go, speak to the house of Israel.

²So I opened my mouth and he gave me the scroll to eat.

³Son of man, he then said to me, feed your belly and fill your stomach with this scroll I am giving you. I ate it, and it was as sweet as honey in my mouth. He said:

⁴Son of man, go now to the house of Israel, and speak my words to them.

⁵Not to a people with difficult speech and barbarous language am I sending you,

⁶nor to the many peoples (with difficult speech and barbarous language) whose words you cannot understand. If I were to send you to these, they would listen to you;

⁷but the house of Israel will refuse to listen to you, since they will not listen to me. For the whole house of Israel is stubborn of brow and obstinate in heart.

⁸But I will make your face as hard as theirs, and your brow as stubborn as theirs, ⁹like diamond, harder than flint. Fear them not, nor be dismayed at their looks, for they are a rebellious house.

¹⁰Son of man, he said to me, take into your heart all my words that I speak to you; hear them well.

¹¹Now go to the exiles, to your countrymen, and say to them: Thus says the Lord GOD!--whether they heed or resist!

¹²Then spirit lifted me up, and I heard behind me the noise of a loud rumbling as the glory of the LORD rose from its place:

¹³the noise made by the wings of the living creatures striking one another, and by the wheels alongside them, a loud rumbling.

¹⁴The spirit which had lifted me up seized me, and I went off spiritually stirred, while the hand of the LORD rested heavily upon me.

¹⁵Thus I came to the exiles who lived at Tel-abib by the river Chebar, and for seven days I sat among them distraught.

¹⁶At the end of seven days. . .

¹⁷Thus the word of the LORD came to me: Son of man, I have appointed you a watchman for the house of Israel. When you hear a word from my mouth, you shall warn them for me.

¹⁸If I say to the wicked man, You shall surely die; and you do not warn him or speak out to dissuade him from his wicked conduct so that he may live: that wicked man shall die for his sin, but I will hold you responsible for his death.

¹⁹If, on the other hand, you have warned the wicked man, yet he has not turned away from his evil nor from his wicked conduct, then he shall die for his sin, but you shall save your life.

²⁰If a virtuous man turns away from virtue and does wrong when I place a stumbling block before him, he shall die. He shall die for his sin, and his virtuous deeds shall not be remembered; but I will hold you responsible for his death if you did not warn him.

²¹When, on the other hand, you have warned a virtuous man not to sin, and he has in fact not sinned, he shall surely live because of the warning, and you shall save your own life.

²²The hand of the LORD came upon me, and he said to me: Get up and go out into the plain, where I will speak with you.

²³So I got up and went out into the plain, and I saw that the glory of the LORD was in that place, like the glory I had seen by the river Chebar. I fell prone, ²⁴but then spirit entered into me and set me on my feet, and he spoke with me. He said to me: Go shut yourself up in your house.

²⁵(As for you, son of man, they will put cords upon you and bind you with them, so that you cannot go out among them.)

²⁶I will make your tongue stick to your palate so that you will be dumb and unable to rebuke them for being a rebellious house.

²⁷Only when I speak with you and open your mouth, shall you say to them: Thus says the Lord GOD! Let him heed who will, and let him resist who will, for they are a rebellious house.

4As for you, son of man, take a clay tablet; lay it in front of you, and draw on it a city (Jerusalem).

²Raise a siege against it: build a tower, lay out a ramp, pitch camps, and set up batteringrams all around.

³Then take an iron griddle and set it up as an iron wall between you and the city. Fix your gaze on it: it shall be in the state of siege, and you shall besiege it. This shall be a sign for the house of Israel.

⁴Then you shall lie on your left side, while I place the sins of the house of Israel upon you. As many days as you lie thus, you shall bear their sins.

⁵For the years of their sins I allot you the same number of days, three hundred and ninety, during which you will bear the sins of the house of Israel.

⁶When you finish this, you are to lie down again, but on your right side, and bear the sins of the house of Judah forty days; one day for each year I have allotted you.

⁷Fixing your gaze on the siege of Jerusalem, with bared arm you shall prophesy against it.

⁸See, I will bind you with cords so that you cannot turn from one side to the other until you have completed the days of your siege.

⁹Again, take wheat and barley, and beans and lentils, and millet and spelt; put them in a single vessel and make bread out of them. Eat it for as many days as you lie upon your side, three hundred and ninety.

¹⁰The food you eat shall be twenty shekels a day by weight; each day the same.

¹¹And the water you drink shall be the sixth of a hin by measure; each day the same.

¹²For your food you must bake barley loaves over human excrement in their sight, said the LORD.

¹³Thus the Israelites shall eat their food unclean among the nations where I scatter them.

¹⁴"Oh no, Lord GOD!" I protested. "Never have I been made unclean, and from my youth till now, never have I eaten carrion flesh or that torn by wild beasts; never has any unclean meat entered my mouth."

¹⁵Very well, he replied, I allow you cow's dung in place of human excrement; bake your bread on that.

¹⁶Then he said to me: Son of man, I am breaking the staff of bread in Jerusalem. They shall eat bread which they have weighed out anxiously, and they shall drink water which they have measured out fearfully, ¹⁷so that, owing to the scarcity of bread and water, everyone shall be filled with terror and waste away because of his sins.

5 As for you, son of man, take a sharp sword and use it like a barber's razor, passing it over your head and beard. Then take a set of scales and divide the hair you have cut.

² Burn a third in the fire, within the city, when the days of your siege are completed; place another third around the city and strike it with the sword; the final third strew in the wind, and pursue it with the sword.

³ (But of the last take a small number and tie them in the hem of your garment.

⁴ Then take some of these and throw them in the midst of the fire and burn them.) Say to the whole house of Israel:

⁵ Thus says the Lord GOD: This is Jerusalem! In the midst of the nations I placed her, surrounded by foreign countries.

⁶ But she rebelled against my ordinances more wickedly than the nations, and against my statutes more than the foreign countries surrounding her; she has spurned my ordinances and has not lived by my statutes.

⁷ Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: Because you have been more rebellious than the nations surrounding you, not living by my statutes nor fulfilling my ordinances, but acting according to the ordinances of the surrounding nations;

⁸ therefore thus says the Lord GOD: See, I am coming at you! I will inflict punishments in your midst while the nations look on.

⁹ Because of all your abominations I will do with you what I have never done before, the like of which I will never do again.

¹⁰ This means that fathers within you shall eat sons, and sons shall eat fathers. I will inflict punishments upon you and scatter all that remain of your people in every direction.

¹¹ Therefore, as I live, says the Lord GOD, because you have defiled my sanctuary with all your detestable abominations, I swear to cut you down. I will not look upon you with pity nor have mercy.

¹² A third of your people shall die of pestilence and perish of hunger within you; another third shall fall by the sword all around you; and a third I will scatter in every direction, and I will pursue them with the sword.

¹³Thus shall my anger spend itself, and I will wreak my fury upon them till I am appeased; they shall know that I, the LORD, have spoken in my jealousy when I spend my fury upon them.

¹⁴I will make you a waste and a reproach among the nations that surround you, which every passer-by may see.

¹⁵When I execute judgment upon you in anger and fury and with furious chastisements, you shall be a reproach and an object of scorn, a terrible warning to the nations that surround you. I, the LORD, have spoken!

¹⁶When I loose against you the cruel, destructive arrows of hunger, I will break your staff of bread;

¹⁷I will send famine against you, and wild beasts that shall rob you of your children. Pestilence and bloodshed shall stalk through you, and I will bring the sword upon you. I, the LORD, have spoken!

6 Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²Son of man, turn toward the mountains of Israel, and prophesy against them:

³Mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord GOD. Thus says the Lord GOD (to the mountains and hills, the ravines and valleys): See, I am bringing a sword against you, and I will destroy your high places.

⁴Your altars shall be laid waste, your incense stands shall be broken, and I will cast down your slain ones before your idols;

⁵I will scatter their bones all around your altars.

⁶In all your dwelling places cities shall be made desolate and high places laid waste, so that your altars will be made desolate and laid waste, your idols broken and removed, and your incense stands smashed to bits.

⁷(The slain shall fall in your midst, and you shall know that I am the LORD.

⁸I have warned you.) When some of your people have escaped to other nations from the sword, and have been scattered over the foreign lands, ⁹then those who have escaped will remember me among the nations to which they have been exiled, after I have broken their adulterous hearts that turned away from me (and their eyes which lusted after idols). They shall loathe themselves because of their evil deeds, all their abominations.

¹⁰Then they shall know that it was not in vain that I, the LORD, threatened to inflict this calamity upon them.

¹¹Thus says the Lord GOD: Clap your hands, stamp your feet, and cry "Alas!" because of all the abominations of the house of Israel, for which they shall fall by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence.

¹²He that is far off shall die of pestilence, he that is near shall fall by the sword, and he that is besieged shall perish by famine; so will I spend my fury upon them.

¹³Then shall they know that I am the LORD, when their slain shall lie amid their idols, all about their altars, on every high hill and mountaintop, beneath every green tree and leafy oak, wherever they offered appeasing odors to any of their gods.

¹⁴I will stretch out my hand against them, and wherever they live I will make the land a desolate waste, from the desert to Riblah; thus shall they know that I am the LORD.

7 Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²Son of man, now say: Thus says the Lord GOD to the land of Israel: An end! The end has come upon the four corners of the land!

³Now the end is upon you; I will unleash my anger against you and judge you according to your conduct and lay upon you the consequences of all your abominations.

⁴I will not look upon you with pity nor have mercy; I will bring your conduct down upon you, and the consequences of your abominations shall be in your midst; then shall you know that I am the LORD.

⁵Thus says the Lord GOD: Disaster upon disaster! See it coming!

⁶An end is coming, the end is coming upon you! See it coming!

⁷The climax has come for you who dwell in the land! The time has come, near is the day: a time of consternation, not of rejoicing.

⁸Soon now I will pour out my fury upon you and spend my anger upon you; I will judge you according to your conduct and lay upon you the consequences of all your abominations.

⁹I will not look upon you with pity nor have mercy; I will deal with you according to your conduct, and the consequences of your abominations shall be in your midst; then shall you know that it is I, the LORD, who strike.

¹⁰See, the day of the LORD! See, the end is coming! Lawlessness is in full bloom, insolence flourishes, ¹¹violence has risen to support wickedness. It shall not be long in coming, nor shall it delay.

¹²The time has come, the day dawns. Let not the buyer rejoice nor the seller mourn, for wrath shall be upon all the throng.

¹³The seller shall not regain what he sold as long as he lives, for wrath shall be upon all the throng. Because of his sins, no one shall preserve his life.

¹⁴They shall sound the trumpet and make everything ready, yet no one shall go to war, for my wrath is upon all the throng.

¹⁵The sword is outside; pestilence and hunger are within. He that is in the country shall die by the sword; pestilence and famine shall devour those in the city.

¹⁶Even those who escape and flee to the mountains like the doves of the valleys--I will put them all to death, each one for his own sins.

¹⁷All their hands shall be limp, and all their knees shall run with water.

¹⁸They shall put on sackcloth, and horror shall cover them; shame shall be on all their faces and baldness on all their heads.

¹⁹They shall fling their silver into the streets, and their gold shall be considered refuse. Their silver and gold cannot save them on the day of the LORD'S wrath. They shall not be allowed to satisfy their craving or fill their bellies, for this has been the occasion of their sin.

²⁰In the beauty of their ornaments they put their pride: they made of them their abominable images (their idols). For this reason I make them refuse.

²¹I will hand them over as booty to foreigners, to be spoiled and defiled by the wicked of the earth.

²²I will turn away my face from them, and my treasure shall be profaned: robbers shall enter and profane it.

²³They shall wreak slaughter, for the land is filled with bloodshed and the city full of violence.

²⁴I will bring in the worst of the nations, who shall take possession of their houses. I will put an end to their proud strength, and their sanctuaries shall be profaned.

²⁵When anguish comes they shall seek peace, but there will be none.

²⁶There shall be disaster after disaster, rumor after rumor. Prophetic vision shall fade; instruction shall be lacking to the priest, and counsel to the elders,

²⁷while the prince shall be enveloped in terror, and the hands of the common people shall tremble. I will deal with them according to their conduct, and according to their judgments I will judge them; thus they shall know that I am the LORD.

³Spirit lifted me up in the air and brought me in divine visions to Jerusalem, to the entrance of the north gate, where stood the statue of jealousy which stirs up jealousy.

⁵He said to me: Son of man, look toward the north! I looked toward the north and saw northward of the gate the altar of the statue of jealousy.

⁶Son of man, he asked me, do you see what they are doing? Do you see the great abominations that the house of Israel is practicing here, so that I must depart from my sanctuary? But you shall see still greater abominations!

⁷Then he brought me to the entrance of the court, where I saw there was a hole in the wall.

⁸Son of man, he ordered, dig through the wall. I dug through the wall and saw a door.

⁹Enter, he said to me, and see the abominable evils which they are doing here.

¹⁰I entered and saw that all around upon the wall were pictured the figures of all kinds of creeping things and loathsome beasts (all the idols of the house of Israel).

¹¹Before these stood seventy of the elders of the house of Israel, among whom stood Jaazaniah, son of Shaphan, each of them with his censer in his hand, and the fragrance of the incense was rising upward.

¹²Then he said to me: Do you see, son of man, what each of these elders of the house of Israel is doing in his idol room? They think: "The LORD cannot see us; the LORD has forsaken the land."

¹³He continued: You shall see still greater abominations that they are practicing.

¹⁴Then he brought me to the entrance of the north gate of the temple, and I saw sitting there the women who were weeping for Tammuz.

¹⁵Then he said to me: Do you see this, son of man? You shall see other abominations, greater than these!

¹⁶Then he brought me into the inner court of the LORD'S house, and there at the door of the LORD'S temple, between the vestibule and the altar, were about twenty-five men with their backs to the LORD'S temple and their faces toward the east; they were bowing down to the sun.

¹⁷Do you see, son of man? he asked me. Is it such a trivial matter for the house of Judah to do the abominable things they have done here--for they have filled the land with violence, and again and again they have provoked me--that now they must also put the branch to my nose?

¹⁸Therefore I in turn will act furiously: I will not look upon them with pity nor will I show mercy.

9 Then he cried loud for me to hear: Come, you scourges of the city!

²With that I saw six men coming from the direction of the upper gate which faces the north, each with a destroying weapon in his hand. In their midst was a man dressed in linen, with a writer's case at his waist. They entered and stood beside the bronze altar.

³Then he called to the man dressed in linen with the writer's case at his waist,

⁴saying to him: Pass through the city (through Jerusalem) and mark an X on the foreheads of those who moan and groan over all the abominations that are practiced within it.

⁵To the others I heard him say: Pass through the city after him and strike! Do not look on them with pity nor show any mercy!

⁶Old men, youths and maidens, women and children--wipe them out! But do not touch any marked with the X; begin at my sanctuary. So they began with the men (the elders) who were in front of the temple.

⁷Defile the temple, he said to them, and fill the courts with the slain; then go out and strike in the city.

⁸As they began to strike, I was left alone. I fell prone, crying out, Alas, Lord GOD! Will you destroy all that is left of Israel when you pour out your fury on Jerusalem?"

⁹He answered me: The sins of the house of Israel are great beyond measure; the land is filled with bloodshed, the city with lawlessness. They think that the LORD has forsaken the land, that he does not see them.

¹⁰I, however, will not look upon them with pity, nor show any mercy. I will bring down their conduct upon their heads.

¹¹Then I saw the man dressed in linen with the writing case at his waist make his report: "I have done as you ordered."

²⁴Spirit lifted me up and brought me back to the exiles in Chaldea (in a vision, by God's spirit). Then the vision I had seen left me, ²⁵and I told the exiles everything the LORD had shown me.

10 On the fifth day of the sixth month, in the sixth year, as I was sitting in my house, and the elders of Judah sat before me, the hand of the Lord GOD fell upon me there.

10 I looked and saw in the firmament above the cherubim what appeared to be sapphire stone; something like a throne could be seen upon it.

²I looked up and saw a form that looked like a man. Downward from what seemed to be his waist, there was fire; from his waist upward there seemed to be a brightness like the sheen of electrum. He stretched out what appeared to be a hand and seized me by the hair of my head. . . .

²He said to the man dressed in linen: Go within the wheelwork under the cherubim; fill both your hands with burning coals from among the cherubim, then scatter them over the city. As I looked on, he entered. The glory of the God of Israel had gone up from the cherubim, upon which it had been, to the threshold of the temple.

³As the man entered, the cloud filled the inner court,

⁴I saw there the glory of the God of Israel, like the vision I had seen in the plain. The cherubim were stationed to the right of the temple;

⁴and the glory of the LORD rose from over the cherubim to the threshold of the temple; the temple was filled with the cloud, and all the court was bright with the glory of the LORD.

⁵The noise of the wings of the cherubim could be heard as far as the outer court; it was like the voice of God the Almighty when he speaks.

⁶When he had commanded the man dressed in linen to take fire from within the wheelwork, among the cherubim, the man entered and stood by one of the wheels.

⁷Thereupon its cherub stretched out his hand toward the fire that was among the cherubim. He took up some of it and put it in the hands of the one dressed in linen, who took it and came out.

⁸(Something like human hands could be seen under the wings of the cherubim.)

⁹I also saw four wheels beside them, one wheel beside each cherub; the wheels appeared to have the luster of chrysolite stone.

¹⁰All four of them seemed to be made the same, as though they were a wheel within a wheel.

¹¹When they moved, they went in any one of their four directions without veering as they moved; for in whichever direction they were faced, they went straight toward it without veering as they moved.

¹²The rims of the four wheels were full of eyes all around.

¹³I heard the wheels given the name "wheelwork."

¹⁴Each had four faces: the first face was that of an ox, the second that of a man, the third that of a lion, and the fourth that of an eagle.

¹⁵Such were the living creatures I had seen by the river Chebar.

¹⁶When the cherubim moved, the wheels went beside them; when the cherubim lifted their wings to rise from the earth, even then the wheels did not leave their sides.

¹⁷When they stood still, the wheels stood still; when they rose, the wheels rose with them; for the living creatures' spirit was in them.

¹⁸Then the glory of the LORD left the threshold of the temple and rested upon the cherubim.

²⁰these were the living creatures I had seen beneath the God of Israel by the river Chebar, whom I now recognized to be cherubim.

²¹Each ohad four faces and four wings; something like human hands were under their wings.

²²Their faces looked just like those I had seen by the river Chebar; each one went straight forward.

11 Spirit lifted me up and brought me to the east gate of the temple. At the entrance of the gate I saw twenty-five men, among whom were Jaazaniah, son of Azzur, and Pelatiah, son of Benaiah, princes of the people.

²The LORD said to me: Son of man, these are the men who are planning evil and giving wicked counsel in this city.

³"Shall we not," they say, "be building houses soon? The city is the kettle, and we are the meat."

⁴Therefore prophesy against them, son of man, prophesy!

⁵Then the spirit of the LORD fell upon me, and he told me to say: Thus says the LORD: This is the way you talk, house of Israel, and what you are plotting I well know.

⁶You have slain many in this city and have filled its streets with your slain.

⁷Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: Your slain whom you have placed within it, they are the meat, and the city is the kettle; but you I will take out of it.

⁸You fear the sword, but the sword I will bring upon you, says the Lord GOD.

⁹I will bring you out of the city, and hand you over to foreigners, and inflict punishments upon you.

¹⁰By the sword you shall fall; at the boundaries of Israel I will judge you; thus you shall know that I am the LORD.

¹¹The city shall not be a kettle for you, nor shall you be the meat within it. At the boundaries of Israel I will judge you,

¹²and you shall know that I am the LORD, by whose statutes you have not lived, and whose ordinances you have not kept; rather, you have acted according to the ordinances of the nations around you.

¹³While I was prophesying, Pelatiah, the son of Benaiah, died. I fell prone and cried out in a loud voice: "Alas, Lord GOD! will you utterly wipe out what remains of Israel?"

¹⁴Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

¹⁵Son of man, it is about your kinsmen, your fellow exiles, and the whole house of Israel that the inhabitants of Jerusalem say, "They are far away from the LORD; to us the land of Israel has been given as our possession."

¹⁶Therefore say: Thus says the Lord GOD: Though I have removed them far among the nations and scattered them over foreign countries--and was for a while their only sanctuary in the countries to which they had gone--

¹⁷I will gather you from the nations and assemble you from the countries over which you have been scattered, and I will restore to you the land of Israel.

¹⁸They shall return to it and remove from it all its detestable abominations.

¹⁹I will give them a new heart and put a new spirit within them; I will remove the stony heart from their bodies, and replace it with a natural heart,

²⁰so that they will live according to my statutes, and observe and carry out my ordinances; thus they shall be my people and I will be their God.

²¹But as for those whose hearts are devoted to their detestable abominations, I will bring down their conduct upon their heads, says the Lord GOD.

²²Then the cherubim lifted their wings, and the wheels went along with them, while up above them was the glory of the God of Israel.

²³And the glory of the LORD rose from the city and took a stand on the mountain which is to the east of the city.

12 Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²Son of man, you live in the midst of a rebellious house; they have eyes to see but do not see, and ears to hear but do not hear, for they are a rebellious house.

³Now, son of man, during the day while they are looking on, prepare your baggage as though for exile, and again while they are looking on, migrate from where you live to another place; perhaps they will see that they are a rebellious house.

⁴You shall bring out your baggage like an exile in the daytime while they are looking on; in the evening, again while they are looking on, you shall go out like one of those driven into exile;

⁵while they look on, dig a hole in the wall and pass through it;

⁶while they look on, shoulder the burden and set out in the darkness; cover your face that you may not see the land, for I have made you a sign for the house of Israel.

⁷I did as I was told. During the day I brought out my baggage as though it were that of an exile, and at evening I dug a hole through the wall with my hand and, while they looked on, set out in the darkness, shouldering my burden.

⁸Then, in the morning, the word of the LORD came to me:

⁹Son of man, did not the house of Israel, that rebellious house, ask you what you were doing?

¹⁰Tell them: Thus says the Lord GOD: This oracle concerns Jerusalem and the whole house of Israel within it.

¹¹I am a sign for you: as I have done, so shall it be done to them; as captives they shall go into exile.

¹²The prince who is among them shall shoulder his burden and set out in darkness, going through a hole that he has dug in the wall, and covering his face lest he be seen by anyone.

¹³But I will spread my net over him, and he shall be taken in my snare. I will bring him to Babylon, into the land of the Chaldeans--but he shall not see it--and there he shall die.

¹⁴All his retinue, his aides, and his troops I will scatter in every direction, and pursue them with the sword.

¹⁵Then shall they know that I am the LORD, when I disperse them among the nations and scatter them over foreign lands.

¹⁶Yet I will leave a few of them to escape the sword, famine and pestilence, so that they may tell of all their abominations among the nations to which they will come; thus they shall know that I am the LORD.

¹⁷Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

¹⁸Son of man, eat your bread trembling, and drink your water shaking with anxiety.

¹⁹Then say to the people of the land: Thus says the Lord GOD of the inhabitants of Jerusalem (to the land of Israel): They shall eat their bread in anxiety and drink their water in horror, that their land may be emptied of the violence of all its inhabitants that now fills it.

²⁰Inhabited cities shall be in ruins, and the land shall be a waste; thus you shall know that I am the LORD.

²¹Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²²Son of man, what is this proverb that you have in the land of Israel: "The days drag on, and no vision ever comes to anything"?

²³Say to them therefore: Thus says the Lord GOD: I will put an end to this proverb; they shall never quote it again in Israel. Rather, say to them: The days are at hand, and also the fulfillment of every vision.

²⁴There shall no longer be any false visions or deceitful divinations within the house of Israel, because it is I, the LORD, who will speak.

²⁵Whatever I speak is final, and it shall be done without further delay. In your days, rebellious house, whatever I speak I will bring about, says the Lord GOD.

²⁶Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²⁷Son of man, listen to the house of Israel saying, "The vision he sees is a long way off; he prophesies of the distant future!"

²⁸Say to them therefore: Thus says the Lord GOD: None of my words shall be delayed any longer; whatever I speak is final, and it shall be done, says the Lord GOD.

13 Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²Son of man, prophesy against the prophets of Israel, prophesy! Say to those who prophesy their own thought: Hear the word of the LORD:

³Thus says the Lord GOD: Woe to those prophets who are fools, who follow their own spirit and have seen no vision.

⁴Like foxes among ruins are your prophets, O Israel!

⁵You did not step into the breach, nor did you build a wall about the house of Israel that would stand firm against attack on the day of the LORD.

⁶Their visions are false and their divination lying. They say, "Thus says the LORD!" though the LORD did not send them; then they wait for him to fulfill their word!

⁷Was not the vision you saw false, and your divination lying?

⁸Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: Because you have spoken falsehood and have seen lying visions, therefore see! I am coming at you, says the Lord GOD.

⁹But I will stretch out my hand against the prophets who have false visions and who foretell lies. They shall not belong to the community of my people, nor be recorded in the register of the house of Israel, nor enter the land of Israel; thus you shall know that I am the LORD.

¹⁰For the very reason that they led my people astray, saying, "Peace!" when there was no peace, and that, as one built a wall, they would cover it with whitewash,

¹¹ say then to the whitewashers: I will bring down a flooding rain; hailstones shall fall, and a stormwind shall break out.

¹² And when the wall has fallen, will you not be asked: Where is the whitewash you spread on?

¹³ Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: In my fury I will let loose stormwinds; because of my anger there shall be a flooding rain, and hailstones shall fall with destructive wrath.

¹⁴ I will tear down the wall that you have whitewashed and level it to the ground, laying bare its foundations. When it falls, you shall be crushed beneath it; thus you shall know that I am the LORD.

¹⁵ When I have spent my fury on the wall and its whitewashers, I tell you there shall be no wall, nor shall there be whitewashers--

¹⁶ those prophets of Israel who prophesied to Jerusalem and saw for it visions of peace when there was no peace, says the Lord GOD.

¹⁷ Now, son of man, turn toward the daughters of your people who prophesy their own thoughts; against these, prophesy: Thus says the Lord GOD:

¹⁸ Woe to those who sew bands for everyone's wrists and make veils for every size of head so as to entrap their owners. Do you think to entrap the lives of my people, yet keep yourselves alive?

¹⁹ You dishonor me before my people with handfuls of barley and crumbs of bread, killing those who should not die and keeping alive those who should not live, lying to my people who willingly hear lies.

²⁰ Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: See! I am coming at those bands of yours in which you entrap men's lives: I will tear them from their arms and set free those you have caught.

²¹ I will tear off your veils and rescue my people from your power, so that they shall no longer be prey to your hands. Thus you shall know that I am the LORD.

²² Because you have disheartened the upright man with lies when I did not wish him grieved, and have encouraged the wicked man not to turn from his evil conduct and save his life;

²³therefore you shall no longer see false visions and practice divination, but I will rescue my people from your power. Thus you shall know that I am the LORD.

14When certain elders of Israel came and sat down before me,

²the word of the LORD came to me:

³Son of man, these men have the memory of their idols fresh in their hearts, and they keep the occasion of their sin before them. Why should I allow myself to be consulted by them?

⁴Therefore speak with them, and say to them: Thus says the Lord GOD: If anyone of the house of Israel, holding the memory of his idols in his heart and keeping the occasion of his sin before him, has recourse to a prophet, I, the LORD, will be his answer in person because of his many idols.

⁵Thus would I bring back to their senses the house of Israel, who have become estranged from me through all their idols.

⁶Therefore say to the house of Israel: Thus says the Lord GOD: Return and be converted from your idols; turn yourselves away from all your abominations.

⁷For if anyone of the house of Israel or any alien resident in Israel is estranged from me, and holds the memory of his idols in his heart and keeps the occasion of his sin before him, yet asks a prophet to consult me for him, I, the LORD, will be his answer in person.

⁸I will turn against that man, and make of him an example and a byword. I will cut him off from the midst of my people. Thus you shall know that I am the LORD.

⁹As for the prophet, if he is beguiled into speaking a word, I, the LORD, shall have beguiled that prophet; I will stretch out my hand against him and root him out of my people Israel.

¹⁰Each shall receive punishment for his sin, the inquirer and the prophet shall be punished alike,

¹¹so that the house of Israel may no longer stray from me and may no longer be defiled by all their sins. Thus they shall be my people, and I will be their God, says the Lord GOD.

¹²Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

¹³Son of man, when a land sins against me by breaking faith, I stretch out my hand against it and break its staff of bread, I let famine loose upon it and cut off from it both man and beast;

¹⁴and even if these three men were in it, Noah, Daniel, and Job, they could save only themselves by their virtue, says the Lord GOD.

¹⁵If I were to cause wild beasts to prowl the land, depopulating it so that it became a waste, traversed by none because of the wild beasts,

¹⁶and these three men were in it, as I live, says the Lord GOD, I swear they could save neither sons nor daughters; they alone would be saved, and the land would be a waste.

¹⁷Or if I brought the sword upon this country, commanding the sword to pass through the land cutting off from it man and beast,

¹⁸and these three men were in it, as I live, says the Lord GOD, they would be unable to save either sons or daughters; they alone would be saved.

¹⁹Or if I were to send pestilence into this land, pouring out upon it my bloodthirsty fury, cutting off from it man and beast,

²⁰even if Noah, Daniel, and Job were in it, as I live, says the Lord GOD, I swear that they could save neither son nor daughter; they would save only themselves by their virtue.

²¹Thus says the Lord GOD: Even though I send Jerusalem my four cruel punishments, the sword, famine, wild beasts, and pestilence, to cut off from it man and beast, ²²still some survivors shall be left in it who will bring out sons and daughters; when they come out to you, you shall see their conduct and their actions and be consoled regarding the evil I have brought on Jerusalem (all that I have brought upon it).

²³They shall console you when you see their conduct and actions, for you shall then know that it was not without reason that I did to it what I did, says the Lord GOD.

15 Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²Son of man, what makes the wood of the vine better than any other wood? That branch among the trees of the forest!

³Can you use its wood to make anything worthwhile? Can you make even a peg from it, to hang on it any kind of vessel?

⁴If you throw it on the fire as fuel and the fire devours both ends and even the middle is scorched, is it still good for anything?

⁵Why, even when it was whole it was good for nothing; how much less, when the fire has devoured and scorched it, can it be used for anything!

⁶Therefore, thus says the Lord GOD: Like the wood of the vine among the trees of the forest, which I have destined as fuel for the fire, do I make the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

⁷I will set my face against them; they have escaped from the fire, but the fire shall devour them. Thus you shall know that I am the LORD, when I turn my face against them.

⁸I will make the land a waste, because they have broken faith, says the Lord GOD.

16 Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²Son of man, make known to Jerusalem her abominations.

³Thus says the Lord GOD to Jerusalem: By origin and birth you are of the land of Canaan; your father was an Amorite and your mother a Hittite.

⁴As for your birth, the day you were born your navel cord was not cut; you were neither washed with water nor anointed, nor were you rubbed with salt, nor swathed in swaddling clothes.

⁵No one looked on you with pity or compassion to do any of these things for you. Rather, you were thrown out on the ground as something loathsome, the day you were born.

⁶Then I passed by and saw you weltering in your blood. I said to you: Live in your blood

⁷and grow like a plant in the field. You grew and developed, you came to the age of puberty; your breasts were formed, your hair had grown, but you were still stark naked.

⁸Again I passed by you and saw that you were now old enough for love. So I spread the corner of my cloak over you to cover your nakedness; I swore an oath to you and entered into a covenant with you; you became mine, says the Lord GOD.

⁹Then I bathed you with water, washed away your blood, and anointed you with oil.

¹⁰I clothed you with an embroidered gown, put sandals of fine leather on your feet; I gave you a fine linen sash and silk robes to wear.

¹¹I adorned you with jewelry: I put bracelets on your arms, a necklace about your neck, ¹²a ring in your nose, pendants in your ears, and a glorious diadem upon your head.

¹³Thus you were adorned with gold and silver; your garments were of fine linen, silk, and embroidered cloth. Fine flour, honey, and oil were your food. You were exceedingly beautiful, with the dignity of a queen.

¹⁴You were renowned among the nations for your beauty, perfect as it was, because of my splendor which I had bestowed on you, says the Lord GOD.

¹⁵But you were captivated by your own beauty, you used your renown to make yourself a harlot, and you lavished your harlotry on every passer-by, whose own you became.

¹⁶You took some of your gowns and made for yourself gaudy high places, where you played the harlot. . . .

¹⁷You took the splendid gold and silver ornaments that I had given you and made for yourself male images, with which also you played the harlot.

¹⁸You took your embroidered gowns to cover them; my oil and my incense you set before them;

¹⁹the food that I had given you, the fine flour, the oil, and the honey with which I fed you, you set before them as an appeasing odor, says the Lord GOD.

- ²⁰The sons and daughters you had borne me you took and offered as sacrifices to be devoured by them! Was it not enough that you had become a harlot?
- ²¹You slaughtered and immolated my children to them, making them pass through fire.
- ²²And through all your abominations and harlotries you remembered nothing of when you were a girl, stark naked and weltering in your blood.
- ²³Then after all your evildoing--woe, woe to you! says the Lord GOD--
- ²⁴you raised for yourself a platform and a dais in every public place.
- ²⁵At every street corner you built a dais for yourself to use your beauty obscenely, spreading your legs for every passer-by, playing the harlot countless times.
- ²⁶You played the harlot with the Egyptians, your lustful neighbors, so many times that I was provoked to anger.
- ²⁷Therefore I stretched out my hand against you, I diminished your allowance and delivered you over to the will of your enemies, the Philistines, who revolted at your lewd conduct.
- ²⁸You also played the harlot with the Assyrians, because you were not satisfied; and after playing the harlot with them, you were still not satisfied.
- ²⁹Again and again you played the harlot, now going to Chaldea, the land of the traders; but despite this, you were still not satisfied.
- ³⁰How wild your lust! says the Lord GOD, that you did all these things, acting like a shameless prostitute,
- ³¹building your platform at every street corner and erecting your dais in every public place! Yet you were unlike a prostitute, since you disdained payment.
- ³²The adulterous wife receives, instead of her husband, payment.
- ³³All harlots receive gifts. But you rather bestowed your gifts on all your lovers, bribing them to come to you from all sides for your harlotry.

³⁴Thus in your harlotry you were different from all other women. No one sought you out for prostitution. Since you gave payment instead of receiving it, how different you were!

³⁵Therefore, harlot, hear the word of the LORD!

³⁶Thus says the Lord GOD: Because you poured out your lust and revealed your nakedness in your harlotry with your lovers and abominable idols, and because you sacrificed the life-blood of your children to them,

³⁷I will now gather together all your lovers whom you tried to please, whether you loved them or loved them not; I will gather them against you from all sides and expose you naked for them to see.

³⁸I will inflict on you the sentence of adulteresses and murderesses; I will wreak fury and jealousy upon you.

³⁹I will hand you over to them to tear down your platform and demolish your dais; they shall strip you of your garments and take away your splendid ornaments, leaving you stark naked.

⁴⁰They shall lead an assembly against you to stone you and hack you with their swords.

⁴¹They shall burn your apartments with fire and inflict punishments on you while many women look on. Thus I will put an end to your harlotry, and you shall never again give payment.

⁴²When I have wreaked my fury upon you I will cease to be jealous of you, I will be quiet and no longer vexed.

⁴³Because you did not remember what happened when you were a girl, but enraged me with all these things, therefore in return I am bringing down your conduct upon your head, says the Lord GOD. For did you not add lewdness to the rest of your abominable deeds?

⁴⁴See, everyone who is fond of proverbs will say of you, 'Like mother, like daughter.'

⁴⁶Your elder sister was Samaria with her daughters, living to the north of you; and your younger sister, living to the south of you, was Sodom with her daughters.

⁴⁷Yet not only in their ways did you walk, and act as abominably as they did; in a very short time you became more corrupt in all your ways than they.

⁴⁸As I live, says the Lord GOD, I swear that your sister Sodom, with her daughters, has not done as you and your daughters have done!

⁴⁹And look at the guilt of your sister Sodom: she and her daughters were proud, sated with food, complacent in their prosperity, and they gave no help to the poor and needy.

⁵⁰Rather, they became haughty and committed abominable crimes in my presence; then, as you have seen, I removed them.

⁵¹Samaria did not commit half your sins! You have done more abominable things than they, and have even made your sisters appear just, with all the abominable deeds you have done.

⁵²You, then, bear your shame; you are an argument in favor of your sisters! In view of your sinful deeds, more abominable than theirs, they appear just in comparison with you. Blush for shame, and bear the shame of having made your sisters appear just.

⁵³I will restore their fortunes, the fortune of Sodom and her daughters and of Samaria and her daughters (and I will restore your fortune along with them), ⁵⁴that you may bear your shame and be disgraced for all the comfort you brought them.

⁵⁵Yes, your sisters, Sodom and her daughters, Samaria and her daughters, shall return to their former state (you and your daughters shall return to your former state).

⁵⁶Was not your sister Sodom kept in bad repute by you while you felt proud of yourself,

⁵⁷before your wickedness became evident? Now you are like her, reproached by the Edomites and all your neighbors, despised on all sides by the Philistines.

⁵⁸The penalty of your lewdness and your abominations--you must bear it all, says the LORD.

⁵⁹For thus speaks the Lord GOD: I will deal with you according to what you have done, you who despised your oath, breaking a covenant.

⁶⁰Yet I will remember the covenant I made with you when you were a girl, and I will set up an everlasting covenant with you.

⁶¹Then you shall remember your conduct and be ashamed when I take your sisters, those older and younger than you, and give them to you as daughters, even though I am not bound by my covenant with you.

⁶²For I will re-establish my covenant with you, that you may know that I am the LORD, ⁶³that you may remember and be covered with confusion, and that you may be utterly silenced for shame when I pardon you for all you have done, says the Lord GOD.

17

Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²Son of man, propose a riddle, and speak this proverb to the house of Israel:

³Thus speaks the Lord GOD: The great eagle, with great wings, with long pinions, with thick plumage, many-hued, came to Lebanon. He took the crest of the cedar, ⁴tearing off its topmost branch, And brought it to a land of tradesmen, set it in a city of merchants.

⁵Then he took some seed of the land, and planted it in a seedbed; A shoot by plentiful waters, like a willow he placed it,

⁶To sprout and grow up a vine, dense and low-lying, Its branches turned toward him, its roots lying under him. Thus it became a vine, produced branches and put forth shoots.

⁷But there was another great eagle, great of wing, rich in plumage; To him this vine bent its roots, sent out its branches, That he might water it more freely than the bed where it was planted.

⁸In a fertile field by plentiful waters it was planted, to grow branches, bear fruit, and become a majestic vine.

⁹Say: Thus says the Lord GOD: Can it prosper? Will he not rather tear it out by the roots and strip off its fruit, so that all its green growth will wither when he pulls it up by the roots? (No need of a mighty arm or many people to do this.)

¹⁰True, it is planted, but will it prosper? Will it not rather wither, when touched by the east wind, in the bed where it grew?

¹¹Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

¹²Son of man, say now to the rebellious house: Do you not understand what this means? It is this: The king of Babylon came to Jerusalem and took away its king and princes with him to Babylon.

¹³Then he selected a man of the royal line with whom he made a covenant, binding him under oath, while removing the nobles of the land,

¹⁴so that the kingdom would remain a modest one, without aspirations, and would keep his covenant and obey him.

¹⁵But this man rebelled against him, sending envoys to Egypt to obtain horses and a great army. Can he prosper? Can he who does such things escape? Can he break a covenant and still go free?

¹⁶As I live, says the Lord GOD, in the home of the king who set him up to rule, whose oath he spurned, whose covenant with him he broke, there in Babylon I swear he shall die!

¹⁷When ramps are cast up and siege towers are built for the destruction of many lives, he shall not be saved in the conflict by Pharaoh with a great army and numerous troops.

¹⁸He spurned his oath, breaking his covenant. Though he gave his hand in pledge, he did all these things. He shall not escape!

¹⁹Therefore say: Thus says the Lord GOD: As I live, my oath which he spurned, my covenant which he broke, I swear to bring down upon his head.

²⁰I will spread my net over him, and he shall be taken in my snare. I will bring him to Babylon and enter into judgment with him there over his breaking faith with me.

²¹All the crack troops among his forces shall fall by the sword, and the survivors shall be scattered in every direction. Thus you shall know that I, the LORD, have spoken.

²²Therefore say: Thus says the Lord GOD: I, too, will take from the crest of the cedar, from its topmost branches tear off a tender shoot, And plant it on a high and lofty mountain;

²³on the mountain heights of Israel I will plant it. It shall put forth branches and bear fruit, and become a majestic cedar. Birds of every kind shall dwell beneath it, every winged thing in the shade of its boughs.

²⁴And all the trees of the field shall know that I, the LORD, Bring low the high tree, lift high the lowly tree, Wither up the green tree, and make the withered tree bloom. As I, the LORD, have spoken, so will I do.

18 Thus the word of the LORD came to me: Son of man,

²what is the meaning of this proverb that you recite in the land of Israel: "Fathers have eaten green grapes, thus their children's teeth are on edge"?

³As I live, says the Lord GOD: I swear that there shall no longer be anyone among you who will repeat this proverb in Israel.

⁴For all lives are mine; the life of the father is like the life of the son, both are mine; only the one who sins shall die.

⁵If a man is virtuous--if he does what is right and just,

⁶if he does not eat on the mountains, nor raise his eyes to the idols of the house of Israel; if he does not defile his neighbor's wife, nor have relations with a woman in her menstrual period;

⁷if he oppresses no one, gives back the pledge received for a debt, commits no robbery; if he gives food to the hungry and clothes the naked;

⁸if he does not lend at interest nor exact usury; if he holds off from evildoing, judges fairly between a man and his opponent;

⁹if he lives by my statutes and is careful to observe my ordinances, that man is virtuous--he shall surely live, says the Lord GOD.

¹⁰But if he begets a son who is a thief, a murderer, or who does any of these things

- ¹¹(though the father does none of them), a son who eats on the mountains, defiles the wife of his neighbor,
- ¹²oppresses the poor and needy, commits robbery, does not give back a pledge, raises his eyes to idols, does abominable things,
- ¹³lends at interest and exacts usury--this son certainly shall not live. Because he practiced all these abominations, he shall surely die; his death shall be his own fault.
- ¹⁴On the other hand, if a man begets a son who, seeing all the sins his father commits, yet fears and does not imitate him;
- ¹⁵a son who does not eat on the mountains, or raise his eyes to the idols of the house of Israel, or defile his neighbor's wife;
- ¹⁶who does not oppress anyone, or exact a pledge, or commit robbery; who gives his food to the hungry and clothes the naked;
- ¹⁷who holds off from evildoing, accepts no interest or usury, but keeps my ordinances and lives by my statutes--this one shall not die for the sins of his father, but shall surely live.
- ¹⁸Only the father, since he violated rights, and robbed, and did what was not good among his people, shall in truth die for his sins.
- ¹⁹You ask: "Why is not the son charged with the guilt of his father?" Because the son has done what is right and just, and has been careful to observe all my statutes, he shall surely live.
- ²⁰Only the one who sins shall die. The son shall not be charged with the guilt of his father, nor shall the father be charged with the guilt of his son. The virtuous man's virtue shall be his own, as the wicked man's wickedness shall be his own.
- ²¹But if the wicked man turns away from all the sins he committed, if he keeps all my statutes and does what is right and just, he shall surely live, he shall not die.
- ²²None of the crimes he committed shall be remembered against him; he shall live because of the virtue he has practiced.
- ²³Do I indeed derive any pleasure from the death of the wicked? says the Lord GOD. Do I not rather rejoice when he turns from his evil way that he may live?

²⁴And if the virtuous man turns from the path of virtue to do evil, the same kind of abominable things that the wicked man does, can he do this and still live? None of his virtuous deeds shall be remembered, because he has broken faith and committed sin; because of this, he shall die.

²⁵You say, "The LORD'S way is not fair!" Hear now, house of Israel: Is it my way that is unfair, or rather, are not your ways unfair?

²⁶When a virtuous man turns away from virtue to commit iniquity, and dies, it is because of the iniquity he committed that he must die.

²⁷But if a wicked man, turning from the wickedness he has committed, does what is right and just, he shall preserve his life;

²⁸since he has turned away from all the sins which he committed, he shall surely live, he shall not die.

²⁹And yet the house of Israel says, "The LORD'S way is not fair!" Is it my way that is not fair, house of Israel, or rather, is it not that your ways are not fair?

³⁰Therefore I will judge you, house of Israel, each one according to his ways, says the Lord GOD. Turn and be converted from all your crimes, that they may be no cause of guilt for you.

³¹Cast away from you all the crimes you have committed, and make for yourselves a new heart and a new spirit. Why should you die, O house of Israel?

³²For I have no pleasure in the death of anyone who dies, says the Lord GOD. Return and live!

19 As for you, son of man, raise a lamentation over the prince of Israel:

²What a lioness was your mother, a lion of lions! Among young lions she couched to rear her whelps.

³One whelp she raised up, a young lion he became; He learned to seize prey, men he devoured.

⁴Then nations raised cries against him, in their pit he was caught; They took him away with hooks to the land of Egypt.

⁵Then she saw that in vain she had waited, her hope was destroyed. She took another of her whelps, him she made a young lion.

⁶He prowled among the lions, a young lion he became; He learned to seize prey, men he devoured;

⁷He ravaged their strongholds, their cities he wasted. The land and all in it were appalled at the noise of his roar.

⁸Nations laid out against him snares all about him; They spread their net to take him, in their pit he was caught.

⁹They put him in a cage and took him away to the king of Babylon, So that his voice would not be heard on the mountains of Israel.

¹⁰Your mother was like a vine planted by the water; Fruitful and branchy was she because of the abundant water.

¹¹One strong branch she put out as a royal scepter. Stately was her height amid the dense foliage; Notably tall was she with her many clusters.

¹²But she was torn up in fury and flung to the ground; The east wind withered her up, her fruit was torn off; Then her strong branch withered up, fire devoured it.

¹³So now she is planted in the desert, in a land dry and parched,

¹⁴For fire came out of the branch and devoured her shoots; She is now without a strong branch, a ruler's scepter. This is a lamentation and serves as a lamentation.

20In the seventh year, on the tenth day of the fifth month, some of the elders of Israel came to consult the LORD and sat down before me.

²Then the word of the LORD came to me:

³Son of man, speak with the elders of Israel and say to them: Thus says the Lord GOD: Have you come to consult me? As I live! I swear I will not allow myself to be consulted by you, says the Lord GOD.

⁴Will you judge them? Will you judge, son of man? Make known to them the abominations of their ancestors

⁵in these words: Thus speaks the Lord GOD: The day I chose Israel, I swore to the descendants of the house of Jacob; in the land of Egypt I revealed myself to them and swore: I am the LORD, your God.

⁶That day I swore to bring them out of the land of Egypt to the land I had scouted for them, a land flowing with milk and honey, a jewel among all lands.

⁷Then I said to them: Throw away, each of you, the detestable things that have held your eyes; do not defile yourselves with the idols of Egypt: I am the LORD, your God.

⁸But they rebelled against me and refused to listen to me; none of them threw away the detestable things that had held their eyes, they did not abandon the idols of Egypt. Then I thought of pouring out my fury on them and spending my anger on them there in the land of Egypt;

⁹but I acted for my name's sake, that it should not be profaned in the sight of the nations among whom they were, in whose presence I had made myself known to them, revealing that I would bring them out of the land of Egypt.

¹⁰Therefore I led them out of the land of Egypt and brought them into the desert.

¹¹Then I gave them my statutes and made known to them my ordinances, which everyone must keep, to have life through them.

¹²I also gave them my sabbaths to be a sign between me and them, to show that it was I, the LORD, who made them holy.

¹³But the house of Israel rebelled against me in the desert. They did not observe my statutes, and they despised my ordinances that bring life to those who keep them. My sabbaths, too, they desecrated grievously. Then I thought of pouring out my fury on them in the desert to put an end to them,

¹⁴but I acted for my name's sake, that it should not be profaned in the sight of the nations in whose presence I had brought them out.

¹⁵Nevertheless I swore to them in the desert not to bring them to the land I had given them, a land flowing with milk and honey, a jewel among all lands.

¹⁶So much were their hearts devoted to their idols, they had not lived by my statutes, but despised my ordinances and desecrated my sabbaths.

¹⁷But I looked on them with pity, not wanting to destroy them, so I did not put an end to them in the desert.

¹⁸Then I said to their children in the desert: Do not observe the statutes of your parents or keep their ordinances; do not defile yourselves with their idols.

¹⁹I am the LORD, your God: observe my statutes and be careful to keep my ordinances;

²⁰keep holy my sabbaths, as a sign between me and you to show that I am the LORD, your God.

²¹But their children rebelled against me: they did not observe my statutes or keep my ordinances that bring life to those who observe them, and my sabbaths they desecrated. Then I thought of pouring out my fury on them, of spending my anger on them in the desert;

²²but I stayed my hand, acting for my name's sake, lest it be profaned in the sight of the nations in whose presence I brought them out.

²³Nevertheless I swore to them in the desert that I would disperse them among the nations and scatter them over foreign lands;

²⁴for they did not keep my ordinances, but despised my statutes and desecrated my sabbaths, with eyes only for the idols of their fathers.

²⁵Therefore I gave them statutes that were not good, and ordinances through which they could not live.

²⁶I let them become defiled by their gifts, by their immolation of every first-born, so as to make them an object of horror.

²⁷Therefore speak to the house of Israel, son of man, and tell them: Thus says the Lord GOD: In this way also your fathers blasphemed me, breaking faith with me:

²⁸when I had brought them to the land I had sworn to give them, and they saw all its high hills and leafy trees, there they offered their sacrifices (there they brought their offensive offerings), there they sent up appeasing odors, and there they poured out their libations.

²⁹I asked them: To what sort of high place do you betake yourselves?--and so they call it a high place even to the present day.

³⁰Therefore say to the house of Israel: Thus says the Lord GOD: Will you defile yourselves like your fathers? Will you lust after their detestable idols?

³¹By offering your gifts, by making your children pass through the fire, you defile yourselves with all your idols even to this day. Shall I let myself be consulted by you, house of Israel? As I live! says the Lord GOD: I swear I will not let myself be consulted by you.

³²What you are thinking of shall never happen: "We shall be like the nations, like the peoples of foreign lands, serving wood and stone."

³³As I live, says the Lord GOD, with a mighty hand and outstretched arm, with poured-out wrath, I swear I will be king over you!

³⁴With a mighty hand and outstretched arm, with poured-out wrath, I will bring you out from the nations and gather you from the countries over which you are scattered;

³⁵then I will lead you to the desert of the peoples, where I will enter into judgment with you face to face.

³⁶Just as I entered into judgment with your fathers in the desert of the land of Egypt, so will I enter into judgment with you, says the Lord GOD.

³⁷I will count you with the staff and bring back but a small number.

³⁸I will separate from you those who have rebelled and transgressed against me; from the land where they sojourned as aliens I will bring them out, but they shall not return to the land of Israel. Thus you shall know that I am the LORD.

³⁹As for you, house of Israel, thus says the Lord GOD: Come, each one of you, destroy your idols! Then listen to me, and never again profane my holy name with your gifts and your idols.

⁴⁰For on my holy mountain, on the mountain height of Israel, says the Lord GOD, there the whole house of Israel without exception shall worship me; there I will accept them, and there I will claim your tributes and the first fruits of your offerings, and all that you dedicate.

⁴¹As a pleasing odor I will accept you, when I have brought you from among the nations and gathered you out of the countries over which you were scattered; and by means of you I will manifest my holiness in the sight of the nations.

⁴²Thus you shall know that I am the LORD, when I bring you back to the land of Israel, the land which I swore to give to your fathers.

⁴³There you shall recall your conduct and all the deeds by which you defiled yourselves; and you shall loathe yourselves because of all the evil things you did.

⁴⁴And you shall know that I am the LORD when I deal with you thus, for my name's sake, and not according to your evil conduct and corrupt actions, O house of Israel, says the Lord GOD.

21

Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²Son of man, look southward, preach toward the south, and prophesy against the forest of the southern land.

³Hear the word of the LORD! you shall say to the southern forest. Thus says the Lord GOD: See! I am kindling a fire in you that shall devour all trees, the green as well as the dry. The blazing flame shall not be quenched, but from south to north every face shall be scorched by it.

⁴Everyone shall see that I, the LORD, have kindled it, and it shall not be quenched.

⁵But I said, "Alas! Lord GOD, they say to me, 'Is not this the one who is forever spinning parables?'"

⁶Then the word of the LORD came to me:

⁷Son of man, look toward Jerusalem, preach against their sanctuary, and prophesy against the land of Israel,

⁸saying to the land of Israel: Thus says the LORD: See! I am coming at you; I will draw my sword from its sheath and cut off from you the virtuous and the wicked.

⁹Thus my sword shall leave its sheath against everyone from south to north,

¹⁰and everyone shall know that I, the LORD, have drawn my sword from its sheath, and it shall not be sheathed again.

¹¹As for you, son of man, groan! with shattered strength groan bitterly while they look on.

¹²And when they ask you, "Why are you groaning?", you shall say: Because of a report; when it comes every heart shall fail, every hand shall fall helpless, every spirit shall be daunted, and every knee shall run with water. See, it is coming, it is here! says the Lord GOD.

¹³Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

¹⁴Son of man, prophesy! say: Thus says the LORD: A sword, a sword has been sharpened, a sword, a sword has been burnished:

¹⁵To work slaughter has it been sharpened, to flash lightning has it been burnished. Why should I now withdraw it? You have spurned the rod and every judgment!

¹⁶I have given it over to the burnisher that he might hold it in his hand, A sword sharpened and burnished to be put in the hand of a slayer.

¹⁷Cry out and wail, son of man, for it is destined for my people; It is for all the princes of Israel, victims of the sword with my people. Therefore, slap your thigh, ¹⁸for the sword has been tested; and why should it not be so? says the Lord GOD, since you have spurned the rod.

¹⁹As for you, son of man, prophesy, brushing one hand against the other: While the sword is doubled and tripled, this sword of slaughter, This great sword of slaughter which threatens all around,

²⁰That every heart may tremble; for many will be the fallen. At all their gates I have appointed the sword for slaughter, Fashioned to flash lightning, burnished for slaughter.

²¹Cleave to the right! destroy! to the left! wherever your edge is turned.

²²Then I, too, shall brush one hand against the other and wreak my fury. I, the LORD, have spoken.

²³Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²⁴Son of man, make for yourself two roads over which the sword of the king of Babylon can come. Both roads shall lead out from the same land. Then put a signpost at the head of each road,

²⁵so that the sword can come to Rabbah of the Ammonites or to Judah's capital, Jerusalem.

²⁶For at the fork where the two roads divide stands the king of Babylon, divining; he has shaken the arrows, inquired of the teraphim, inspected the liver.

²⁷In his right hand is the divining arrow marked "Jerusalem," bidding him to give the order for slaying, to raise his voice in the battle cry, to post battering rams at the gates, to cast up a ramp, to build a siege tower.

²⁸In their eyes this is but a lying oracle; yet they are bound by the oaths they have sworn, and the arrow taken in hand marks their guilt.

²⁹Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: Because you have drawn attention to your guilt, with your crimes laid bare and your sinfulness in all your wicked deeds revealed (because attention has been drawn to you), you shall be taken in hand.

³⁰And as for you, depraved and wicked prince of Israel, whose day is coming when your life of crime will be ended, ³¹thus says the Lord GOD: Off with the turban and away with the crown! Nothing shall be as it was! Up with the low and down with the high!

³²Twisted, twisted, twisted will I leave it; it shall not be the same until he comes who has the claim against the city; and to him I will hand it over.

³³As for you, son of man, prophesy: Thus says the Lord GOD against the Ammonites and their insults: A sword, a sword is drawn for slaughter, burnished to consume and to flash lightning, ³⁴because you planned with false visions and lying divinations to lay it on the necks of depraved and wicked men whose day has come when their crimes are at an end.

³⁵Return it to its sheath! In the place where you were created, in the land of your origin, I will judge you.

³⁶I will pour out my indignation upon you, breathing my fiery wrath upon you, I will hand you over to ravaging men, artisans of destruction.

³⁷You shall be fuel for the fire, your blood shall flow throughout the land. You shall not be remembered, for I, the LORD, have spoken.

22 Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²You, son of man, would you judge, would you judge the bloody city? Then make known all her abominations,

³and say: Thus says the Lord GOD: Woe to the city which sheds blood within herself so that her time has come, and which has made idols for her own defilement.

⁴By the blood which you shed you have been made guilty, and with the idols you made you have become defiled; you have brought on your day, so that the end of your years has come. Therefore I make you an object of scorn to the nations and a laughingstock to all foreign lands.

⁵Those near you and those far off shall deride you because of your foul reputation and your great perversity.

⁶See! the princes of Israel, family by family, are in you only for bloodshed.

⁷Within you, father and mother are despised; in your midst, they extort from the resident alien; within you, they oppress orphans and widows.

⁸What is holy to me you have spurned, and my sabbaths you have desecrated.

⁹There are those in you who slander to cause bloodshed; within you are those who feast on the mountains; in your midst are those who do lewd things.

¹⁰In you are those who uncover the nakedness of their fathers, and in you those who coerce women in their menstrual period.

¹¹There are those in you who do abominable things with the wives of their neighbors, men who defile their daughters-in-law by incest, men who coerce their sisters, the daughters of their own fathers.

¹²There are those in you who take bribes to shed blood. You exact interest and usury; you despoil your neighbors violently; and me you have forgotten, says the Lord GOD.

¹³See, I am brushing one hand against the other because of the unjust profits you have made and because of the blood shed in your midst.

¹⁴Can your heart remain firm, will your hands be strong, in the days when I deal with you? I, the LORD, have spoken, and I will act.

¹⁵I will disperse you among the nations and scatter you over foreign lands, so that I may purge your uncleanness.

¹⁶In you I will allow myself to be profaned in the eyes of the nations; thus you shall know that I am the LORD.

¹⁷Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

¹⁸Son of man, the house of Israel has become dross for me. All of them are bronze and tin, iron and lead (in the midst of a furnace): dross from silver have they become.

¹⁹Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: Because all of you have become dross, therefore I must gather you together within Jerusalem.

²⁰Just as silver, bronze, iron, lead, and tin are gathered into a furnace and smelted in the roaring flames, so I will gather you together in my furious wrath, put you in, and smelt you.

²¹When I have assembled you, I will blast you with the fire of my anger and smelt you with it.

²²You shall be smelted by it just as silver is smelted in a furnace. Thus you shall know that I, the LORD, have poured out my fury on you.

²³Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²⁴Son of man, say to her: You are a land unrained on (that is, not rained on) at the time of my fury.

²⁵Her princes are like roaring lions that tear prey; they devour people, seizing their wealth and precious things, and make widows of many within her.

²⁶Her priests violate my law and profane what is holy to me; they do not distinguish between the sacred and the profane, nor teach the difference between the unclean and the clean; they pay no attention to my sabbaths, so that I have been profaned in their midst.

²⁷Her nobles within her are like wolves that tear prey, shedding blood and destroying lives to get unjust gain.

²⁸Her prophets cover them with whitewash, pretending to visions that are false and performing lying divinations, saying, "Thus says the Lord GOD," although the LORD has not spoken.

²⁹The people of the land practice extortion and commit robbery; they afflict the poor and the needy, and oppress the resident alien without justice.

³⁰Thus I have searched among them for someone who could build a wall or stand in the breach before me to keep me from destroying the land; but I found no one.

³¹Therefore I have poured out my fury upon them; with my fiery wrath I have consumed them; I have brought down their conduct upon their heads, says the Lord GOD.

23 Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²Son of man, there were two women, daughters of the same mother,

³who even as young girls played the harlot in Egypt. There the Egyptians caressed their bosoms and fondled their virginal breasts.

⁴Oholah was the name of the elder, and the name of her sister was Oholibah. They became mine and bore sons and daughters. (As for their names: Samaria is Oholah, and Jerusalem is Oholibah.)

⁵Oholah became a harlot faithless to me; she lusted after her lovers, the Assyrians, warriors

⁶dressed in purple, governors and officers, all of them attractive young men, knights mounted on horses.

⁷Thus she gave herself as a harlot to them, to all the elite of the Assyrians, and she defiled herself with all those for whom she lusted (with all their idols).

⁸She did not give up the harlotry which she had begun in Egypt, when they had lain with her as a young girl, fondling her virginal breasts and pouring out their impurities on her.

⁹Therefore I handed her over to her lovers, the Assyrians for whom she had lusted.

¹⁰They exposed her nakedness, her sons and daughters they took away, and herself they slew with the sword. Thus she became a byword for women, for they punished her grievously.

¹¹Though her sister Oholibah saw all this, her lust was more depraved than her sister's, and she outdid her in harlotry.

¹²She too lusted after the Assyrians, governors and officers, warriors impeccably clothed, knights mounted on horses, all of them attractive young men.

¹³I saw that she had defiled herself. Both had gone down the same path,

¹⁴yet she went further in her harlotry. When she saw men drawn on the wall, the images of Chaldeans drawn with vermillion,

¹⁵with sashes girded about their waists, flowing turbans on their heads, all looking like chariot warriors, the portraits of Babylonians, natives of Chaldea,

¹⁶she lusted for them; no sooner had she set eyes on them than she sent messengers to them in Chaldea.

¹⁷Then the Babylonians came to her, to the love couch, and defiled her with their intercourse. As soon as she was defiled by them, she became disgusted with them.

¹⁸Her harlotry was discovered and her shame was revealed, and I became disgusted with her as I had become disgusted with her sister.

¹⁹But she played the harlot all the more, recalling the days of her girlhood, when she had been a harlot in the land of Egypt.

²⁰She lusted for the lechers of Egypt, whose members are like that of an ass, and whose heat is like that of stallions.

²¹You yearned for the lewdness of your girlhood, when the Egyptians fondled your breasts, caressing your bosom.

²²Therefore, Oholibah, thus says the Lord GOD: I will now stir up your lovers against you, those with whom you are disgusted, and I will bring them against you from every side:

²³the men of Babylon and all of Chaldea, Pekod, Shoa and Koa, along with all those of Assyria, attractive young men, all of them governors and officers, charioteers and warriors, all of them horsemen.

²⁴They shall come against you from the north with chariots and wagons and many peoples. Shields, bucklers, and helmets they shall array against you everywhere.

²⁵I will leave it to them to judge, and they will judge you by their own ordinances. I will let loose my jealousy against you, so that they shall deal with you in fury, cutting off your nose and ears; and what is left of you shall fall by the sword. They shall take away your sons and daughters, and what is left of you shall be devoured by fire.

²⁶They shall strip off your clothes and seize your splendid ornaments.

²⁷I will put an end to your lewdness and to the harlotry you began in Egypt; you shall no longer look toward it, nor shall you remember Egypt again.

²⁸For thus says the Lord GOD: I am now handing you over to those whom you hate, to those who fill you with disgust.

²⁹They shall deal with you in hatred, seizing all that you have worked for and leaving you stark naked, so that your indecent nakedness is exposed. Your lewdness and harlotry ³⁰have brought these things upon you, because you played the harlot with the nations by defiling yourself with their idols.

³¹Because you followed in the path of your sister, I will hand you her cup.

³²Thus says the Lord GOD: The cup of your sister you shall drink, so wide and deep, which holds so much, ³³Filled with destruction and grief, a cup of dismay, the cup of your sister.

³⁴You shall drain it dry, and gnaw at the very sherds of the cup, and you shall tear out your breasts; for I have spoken, says the Lord GOD.

³⁵Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: Because you have forgotten me and cast me behind your back, it is for you to bear the penalty of your lewdness and harlotry.

³⁶Then the LORD said to me: Son of man, would you judge Oholah and Oholibah? Then make known to them their abominations.

- ³⁷For they committed adultery, and blood is on their hands. They committed adultery with their idols; to feed them they immolated the children they had borne me.
- ³⁸(This, too, they did to me: they defiled my sanctuary and desecrated my sabbaths.
- ³⁹On the very day they slew their children for their idols, they entered my sanctuary to desecrate it. Thus they acted within my house.)
- ⁴⁰Moreover, they sent for men who had to come from afar, to whom messengers were sent. And so they came--and for them you bathed yourself, painted your eyes, and put on ornaments.
- ⁴¹You sat on a couch prepared for them, with a table spread before it, on which you had set my incense and oil.
- ⁴²Then was heard the shout of a carefree mob in the city, and these were men brought in from the desert, who put bracelets on the women's arms and splendid diadems on their heads.
- ⁴³So I said: "Oh, this woman jaded with adulteries! Now they will commit whoredom with her, and as for her. . . ."
- ⁴⁴And indeed they did come to her as men come to a harlot. Thus they came to Oholah and Oholibah, the lewd women.
- ⁴⁵But just men shall punish them with the sentence meted out to adulteresses and murderesses, for they have committed adultery, and blood is on their hands.
- ⁴⁶Thus says the Lord GOD: Summon an assembly against them, and deliver them over to terror and plunder.
- ⁴⁷The assembly shall stone them and hack them to pieces with their swords. They shall slay their sons and daughters, and burn their houses with fire.
- ⁴⁸Thus I will put an end to lewdness in the land, and all the women will be warned not to imitate your lewdness.
- ⁴⁹They shall inflict on you the penalty of your lewdness, and you shall pay for your sins of idolatry. Thus you shall know that I am the LORD.

24 On the tenth day of the tenth month, in the ninth year, the word of the LORD came to me:

² Son of man, write down this date today, for this very day the king of Babylon has invested Jerusalem.

³ Propose this parable to the rebellious house: Thus says the Lord GOD: Set up the pot, set it up, then pour in some water.

⁴ Put in it pieces of meat, all good pieces: thigh and shoulder; Fill it with the choicest joints

⁵ taken from the pick of the flock. Then pile the wood beneath it; bring to a boil these pieces and the joints that are in it.

⁶ Take out its pieces, one by one, without casting lots for it. Therefore, thus says the Lord GOD: Woe to the bloody city, a pot containing rust, whose rust has not been removed.

⁷ For the blood she shed is in her midst; she poured it on the bare rock; she did not pour it out on the earth, to be covered with dust.

⁸ To work up my wrath, to excite my vengeance, she put her blood on the bare rock, not to be covered.

⁹ Therefore, thus says the Lord GOD: I, too, will heap up a great bonfire,

¹⁰ piling on wood and kindling the fire, Till the meat has been cooked, till the broth has boiled.

¹¹ Then I will set the pot empty on the coals till its metal glows red hot, till the impurities in it melt, and its rust disappears.

¹² Yet not even with fire will its great rust be removed.

¹³ Because you have sullied yourself with lewdness when I would have purified you, and you refused to be purified of your uncleanness, therefore you shall not be purified until I wreak my fury on you.

¹⁴I, the LORD, have spoken; it is coming, for I will bring it about without fail. I will not have pity nor repent. By your conduct and your deeds you shall be judged, says the Lord GOD.

¹⁵Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

¹⁶Son of man, by a sudden blow I am taking away from you the delight of your eyes, but do not mourn or weep or shed any tears.

¹⁷Groan in silence, make no lament for the dead, bind on your turban, put your sandals on your feet, do not cover your beard, and do not eat the customary bread.

¹⁸That evening my wife died, and the next morning I did as I had been commanded.

¹⁹Then the people asked me, "Will you not tell us what all these things that you are doing mean for us?" I therefore spoke to the people that morning,

²⁰saying to them: Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²¹Say to the house of Israel: Thus says the Lord GOD: I will now desecrate my sanctuary, the stronghold of your pride, the delight of your eyes, the desire of your soul. The sons and daughters you left behind shall fall by the sword.

²²You shall do as I have done, not covering your beards nor eating the customary bread.

²³Your turbans shall remain on your heads, your sandals on your feet. You shall not mourn or weep, but you shall rot away because of your sins and groan one to another.

²⁴Ezekiel shall be a sign for you: all that he did you shall do when it happens. Thus you shall know that I am the LORD.

²⁵As for you, son of man, truly, on the day I take away from them their bulwark, their glorious joy, the delight of their eyes, the desire of their soul, and the pride of their hearts, their sons and daughters,

²⁶that day the fugitive will come to you, that you may hear it for yourself;

²⁷that day your mouth shall be opened and you shall be dumb no longer. Thus you shall be a sign to them, and they shall know that I am the LORD.

25 Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

² Son of man, turn toward the Ammonites and prophesy against them.

³ Say to the Ammonites: Hear the word of the LORD! Thus says the Lord GOD: Because you cried out your joy over the desecration of my sanctuary, the devastation of the land of Israel, and the exile of the house of Judah,

⁴ therefore I will deliver you into the possession of the Easterners. They shall set up their encampments among you and pitch their tents; they shall eat your fruits and drink your milk.

⁵ I will make Rabbah a pasture for camels, and the villages of the Ammonites a resting place for flocks. Thus you shall know that I am the LORD.

⁶ For thus says the Lord GOD: Because you clapped your hands and stamped your feet, rejoicing most maliciously in your heart over the land of Israel,

⁷ therefore I will stretch out my hand against you. I will make you plunder for the nations, I will cut you off from the peoples, and remove you from the lands. I will destroy you, and thus you shall know that I am the LORD.

⁸ Thus says the Lord GOD: Because Moab said, "See! the house of Judah is like all other nations,"

⁹ therefore I will clear the shoulder of Moab totally of its cities, the jewels of the land: Beth-jesimoth, Baalmeon, and Kiriathaim.

¹⁰ I will hand her over, along with the Ammonites, into the possession of the Easterners, that she may not be remembered among the peoples.

¹¹ Thus I will execute judgment upon Moab, that they may know that I am the LORD.

¹² Thus says the Lord GOD: Because Edom has taken vengeance on the house of Judah and has made itself grievously guilty by taking vengeance on them,

¹³ therefore thus says the Lord GOD: I will stretch out my hand against Edom and cut off from it man and beast. I will make it a waste from Teman to Dedan; they shall fall by the sword.

¹⁴My vengeance upon Edom I will entrust to my people Israel, who will deal with Edom in accordance with my anger and my fury; thus they shall know my vengeance, says the Lord GOD.

¹⁵Thus says the Lord GOD: Because the Philistines have acted revengefully, and have taken vengeance with destructive malice in their hearts, with an undying enmity, ¹⁶therefore thus says the Lord GOD: See! I am stretching out my hand against the Philistines; I will cut off the Cherethites and wipe out the remnant on the seacoast.

¹⁷I will execute great acts of vengeance on them, punishing them furiously. Thus they shall know that I am the LORD, when I wreak my vengeance on them.

26 On the first day of the . . . month in the eleventh year, the word of the LORD came to me:

²Son of man, because of what Tyre said of Jerusalem: "Aha! it is broken, the gateway to the peoples; now that it is ruined, its wealth reverts to me!"

³therefore thus says the Lord GOD: See! I am coming at you, Tyre; I will churn up against you many nations, even as the sea churns up its waves;

⁴They shall destroy the walls of Tyre and raze her towers. I will scrape the ground from her and leave her a bare rock;

⁵She shall be a drying place for nets in the midst of the sea. I have spoken, says the Lord GOD: and she shall be booty for the nations.

⁶And her daughters on the mainland shall be slaughtered by the sword; thus they shall know that I am the LORD.

⁷For thus says the Lord GOD: I am now bringing up against Tyre from the north Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, the king of kings, with horses and chariots, with cavalry and a great and mighty army.

⁸Your daughters on the mainland he shall slay with the sword; He shall place a siege tower against you, cast up a ramp about you, and raise his shields against you.

⁹He shall pound your walls with battering-rams and break down your towers with his weapons.

¹⁰The surge of his horses shall cover you with dust, amid the noise of steeds, of wheels and of chariots. Your walls shall shake as he enters your gates, even as one enters a city that is breached.

¹¹With the hoofs of his horses he shall trample all your streets; Your people he shall slay by the sword; your mighty pillars he shall pull to the ground.

¹²Your wealth shall be plundered, your merchandise pillaged; Your walls shall be torn down, your precious houses demolished; Your stones, your timber, and your clay shall be cast into the sea.

¹³I will put an end to the noise of your songs, and the sound of your lyres shall be heard no more.

¹⁴I will make you a bare rock; a drying place for nets shall you be. Never shall you be rebuilt, for I have spoken, says the Lord GOD.

¹⁵Thus says the Lord GOD to Tyre: At the noise of your fall, at the groaning of the wounded, when the sword slays in your midst, shall not the isles quake?

¹⁶All the princes of the sea shall step down from their thrones, lay aside their robes, and strip off their embroidered garments. They shall be clothed in mourning and, sitting on the ground, they shall tremble at every moment and be horrified at you.

¹⁸On this, the day of your fall, the islands quake! The isles in the sea are terrified at your passing.

¹⁹For thus says the Lord GOD: When I make you a city desolate like cities that are no longer inhabited, when I churn up the abyss against you, and its mighty waters cover you, ²⁰then I will thrust you down with those who descend into the pit, those of the bygone age; and I will make you dwell in the nether lands, in the everlasting ruins, with those who go down to the pit, so that you may never return to take your place in the land of the living.

²¹I will make you a devastation, and you shall be no more; you shall be sought, but never again found, says the Lord GOD.

27 Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²As for you, son of man, utter a lament over Tyre,

³and say to Tyre that is situated at the approaches of the sea, that brought the trade of the peoples to many a coastland: Thus says the Lord GOD: Tyre, you said, "I am a ship, perfect in beauty."

⁴In the midst of the sea your builders placed you, perfected your beauty.

⁵With cypress from Senir they built for you all of your decks; Cedar from Lebanon they took to make you a mast;

⁶From the highest oaks of Bashan they made your oars; Your bridge they made of cypress wood from the coasts of Kittim.

⁷Fine embroidered linen from Egypt became your sail (to serve you as a banner). Purple and scarlet from the coasts of Elishah covered your cabin.

⁸Citizens of Sidon and Arvad served as your oarsmen; Skilled men of Zemer were in you to be your mariners;

⁹The elders and experts of Gebal were in you to caulk your seams. Every ship and sailor on the sea came to you to carry trade.

¹⁰Persia and Lud and Put were in your army as warriors; shield and helmet they hung upon you, increasing your splendor.

¹¹The men of Arvad were all about your walls, and the Gamadites were in your towers; they hung their bucklers all around on your walls, and made perfect your beauty.

¹²Tarshish traded with you, so great was your wealth, exchanging silver, iron, tin, and lead for your wares.

¹³Javan, Tubal, and Meshech were also traders with you, exchanging slaves and articles of bronze for your goods.

¹⁴From Beth-togarmah horses, steeds, and mules were exchanged for your wares.

¹⁵The Rhodanites trafficked with you; many coastlands traded with you; ivory tusks and ebony wood they gave you for payment.

¹⁶Edom traded with you, so many were your products, exchanging garnets, purple, embroidered cloth, fine linen, coral, and rubies for your wares.

¹⁷Judah and the land of Israel trafficked with you, exchanging Minnith wheat, figs, honey, oil, and balm for your goods.

¹⁸Damascus traded with you, so great was your wealth, exchanging Helbon wine and Zahar wool.

¹⁹Javan exchanged wrought iron, cassia, and aromatic cane from Uzal for your wares.

²⁰Dedan traded with you for riding gear.

²¹The trade of Arabia and of all the sheikhs of Kedar belonged to you; they dealt in lambs, rams, and goats.

²²The merchants of Sheba and Raamah also traded with you, exchanging for your wares the very choicest spices, all kinds of precious stones, and gold.

²³Haran, Canneh, and Eden, the merchants of Sheba, Asshur, and Chilmad

²⁴traded with you, marketing with you rich garments, violet mantles, embroidered cloth, varicolored carpets, and firmly woven cords.

²⁵Ships of Tarshish journeyed for you in your merchandising. You were full and heavily laden in the heart of the sea.

²⁶Through the deep waters your oarsmen brought you home, But the east wind smashed you in the heart of the sea.

²⁷Your wealth, your goods, your wares, your sailors, and your crew, (the caulkers of your seams, those who traded for your goods, all your warriors who were in you, and all the great crowd within you) Sank into the heart of the sea on the day of your shipwreck.

²⁸Hearing the shouts of your mariners, the shores begin to quake.

²⁹Down from their ships come all who ply the oar; The sailors, all the mariners of the sea, stand on the shore,

³⁰Making their voice heard on your behalf, shouting bitter cries, Strewing dust on their heads, rolling in the ashes.

³¹For you they shave their heads and put on sackcloth, For you they weep in anguish, with bitter lament.

³²In their mourning they utter a lament over you; thus they wail over you: Who was ever destroyed like Tyre in the midst of the sea?

³³With your goods which you drew from the seas you filled many peoples; With your great wealth and merchandise you enriched the kings of the earth.

³⁴Now you are wrecked in the sea, in the watery depths; Your wares and all your crew have gone down with you.

³⁵All who dwell on the coastlands are aghast over you, Their kings are terrified, their faces convulsed.

³⁶The traders among the peoples now hiss at you; You have become a horror, and you shall be no more.

28 Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²Son of man, say to the prince of Tyre: Thus says the Lord GOD: Because you are haughty of heart, you say, "A god am I! I occupy a godly throne in the heart of the sea!"-- And yet you are a man, and not a god, however you may think yourself like a god.

³Oh yes, you are wiser than Daniel, there is no secret that is beyond you.

⁴By your wisdom and your intelligence you have made riches for yourself; You have put gold and silver into your treasuries.

⁵By your great wisdom applied to your trading you have heaped up your riches; your heart has grown haughty from your riches--

⁶therefore thus says the Lord GOD: Because you have thought yourself to have the mind of a god, ⁷Therefore I will bring against you foreigners, the most barbarous of nations. They shall draw their swords against your beautiful wisdom, they shall run them through your splendid apparel.

⁸They shall thrust you down to the pit, there to die a bloodied corpse, in the heart of the sea.

⁹Will you then say, "I am a god!" when you face your murderers? No, you are a man, not a god, handed over to those who will slay you.

¹⁰You shall die the death of the uncircumcised at the hands of foreigners, for I have spoken, says the Lord GOD.

¹¹Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

¹²Son of man, utter a lament over the king of Tyre, saying to him: Thus says the Lord GOD: You were stamped with the seal of perfection, of complete wisdom and perfect beauty.

¹³In Eden, the garden of God, you were, and every precious stone was your covering (carneian, topaz, and beryl, chrysolite, onyx, and jasper, sapphire, garnet, and emerald); Of gold your pendants and jewels were made, on the day you were created.

¹⁴With the Cherub I placed you; you were on the holy mountain of God, walking among the fiery stones.

¹⁵Blameless you were in your conduct from the day you were created, Until evil was found in you,

¹⁶the result of your far-flung trade; violence was your business, and you sinned. Then I banned you from the mountain of God; the Cherub drove you from among the fiery stones.

¹⁷You became haughty of heart because of your beauty; for the sake of splendor you debased your wisdom. I cast you to the earth, so great was your guilt; I made you a spectacle in the sight of kings.

¹⁸Because of your guilt, your sinful trade, I have profaned your sanctuaries, And I have brought out fire from your midst which will devour you. I have reduced you to dust on the earth in the sight of all who should see you.

¹⁹Among the peoples, all who knew you stand aghast at you; You have become a horror, you shall be no more.

²⁰Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²¹Son of man, look toward Sidon, and prophesy against it:

²²Thus says the Lord GOD: See! I am coming at you, Sidon; I will be glorified in your midst. Then they shall know that I am the LORD, when I inflict punishments upon it and use it to manifest my holiness.

²³Into it I will send pestilence, and blood shall flow in its streets. Within it shall fall those slain by the sword that comes against it from every side. Thus they shall know that I am the LORD.

²⁴Sidon shall no longer be a tearing thorn for the house of Israel, a brier that scratches them more than all the others about them who despise them; thus they shall know that I am the LORD.

²⁵Thus says the Lord GOD: When I gather the house of Israel from the peoples among whom they are scattered, then I will manifest my holiness through them in the sight of the nations. Then they shall live on their land which I gave to my servant Jacob;

²⁶they shall live on it in security, building houses and planting vineyards. They shall dwell secure while I inflict punishments on all their neighbors who despised them; thus they shall know that I, the LORD, am their God.

29 On the twelfth day of the tenth month in the tenth year, the word of the LORD came to me:

²Son of man, set your face against Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and prophesy against him and against all Egypt.

³Say this to him: Thus says the Lord GOD: See! I am coming at you, Pharaoh, king of Egypt, Great crouching monster amidst your Niles: Who say, "The Niles are mine; it is I who made them!"

⁴I will put hooks in your jaws and make the fish of your Niles stick to your scales, then draw you up from the midst of your Niles along with all the fish of your Niles sticking to your scales.

⁵ I will cast you into the desert, you and all the fish of your Niles; You shall fall upon the open field, you shall not be taken up or buried; To the beasts of the earth and the birds of the air I give you as food,

⁶ That all who dwell in Egypt may know that I am the LORD. Because you have been a reed staff for the house of Israel:

⁷ When they held you in hand, you splintered, throwing every shoulder out of joint; When they leaned on you, you broke, bringing each one of them down headlong;

⁸ therefore thus says the Lord GOD: See! I will bring the sword against you, and cut off from you both man and beast.

⁹ The land of Egypt shall become a desolate waste; thus they shall know that I am the LORD. Because you said, "The Niles are mine; it is I who made them,"

¹⁰ therefore see! I am coming at you and against your Niles; I will make the land of Egypt a waste and a desolation from Migdol to Syene, and even to the frontier of Ethiopia.

¹¹ No foot of man or beast shall pass through it; they shall not pass through it, and it will be uninhabited for forty years.

¹² I will make the land of Egypt the most desolate of lands, and its cities shall be the most deserted of cities for forty years; and I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations and strew them over foreign lands.

¹³ Yet thus says the Lord GOD: At the end of forty years I will gather the Egyptians from the peoples among whom they are scattered,

¹⁴ and I will restore Egypt's fortune, bringing them back to the land of Pathros, the land of their origin, where it will be the lowliest

¹⁵ of kingdoms, never more to set itself above the nations. I will make them few, that they may not dominate the nations.

¹⁶ No longer shall they be for the house of Israel to trust in, but the living reminder of its guilt for having turned to follow after them. Thus they shall know that I am the LORD.

¹⁷ On the first day of the first month in the twenty-seventh year, the word of the LORD came to me:

¹⁸Son of man, Nebuchadnezzar, the king of Babylon, has led his army in an exhausting campaign against Tyre. Their heads became bald and their shoulders were galled; but neither he nor his army received any wages from Tyre for the campaign he led against it.

¹⁹Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: I am now giving the land of Egypt to Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon. He shall carry off its riches, plundering and pillaging it for the wages of his soldiers, who did it for me;

²⁰as payment for his toil I have given him the land of Egypt, says the Lord GOD.

²¹On that day I will make a horn sprout for the house of Israel, and I will cause you to speak out in their midst; thus they shall know that I am the LORD.

30 Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²Son of man, speak this prophecy: Thus says the Lord GOD: Cry, Oh, the day!

³for near is the day, near is the day of the LORD; a day of clouds, doomsday for the nations shall it be.

⁴Then a sword shall come upon Egypt, and anguish shall be in Ethiopia, when the slain fall in Egypt, when her riches are seized and her foundations are overthrown.

⁵Ethiopia, Put, Lud, all Arabia, Libya, and people of the allied territory shall fall by the sword with them.

⁶Those who support Egypt shall fall, and down shall come her proud strength; from Migdol to Syene they shall fall there by the sword, says the Lord GOD.

⁷She shall be the most devastated of lands, and her cities shall be the most desolate of all.

⁸Then they shall know that I am the LORD, when I set fire to Egypt and when all who help her are broken.

⁹On that day messengers shall hasten forth at my command to terrify unsuspecting Ethiopia; they shall be in anguish on the day of Egypt, which is surely coming.

¹⁰Thus says the Lord GOD: I will put an end to the throngs of Egypt by the hand of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon.

¹¹He and his people with him, the most ruthless of nations, shall be brought in to devastate the land. They shall draw their swords against Egypt, and fill the land with the slain.

¹²I will turn the Niles into dry land and sell the land over to the power of the wicked. The land and everything in it I will hand over to foreigners to devastate. I, the LORD, have spoken.

¹³Thus says the Lord GOD: I will put an end to the great ones of Memphis and the princes of the land of Egypt, that they may be no more. I will cast fear into the land of Egypt, and devastate Pathros.

¹⁴I will set fire to Zoan, and inflict punishments on Thebes.

¹⁵I will pour out my wrath on Pelusium, Egypt's stronghold, and cut down the crowds in Memphis.

¹⁶I will set fire to Egypt; Syene shall writhe in anguish; Thebes shall be breached and its walls shall be demolished.

¹⁷The young men of On and of Pibeseth shall fall by the sword, and the cities themselves shall go into captivity.

¹⁸In Tehaphnehes the day shall be darkened when I break the scepter of Egypt. Her haughty pride shall cease from her, clouds shall cover her, and her daughters shall go into captivity.

¹⁹Thus will I inflict punishments on Egypt, that they may know that I am the LORD.

²⁰On the seventh day of the first month in the eleventh year, the word of the LORD came to me:

²¹Son of man, I have broken the arm of Pharaoh, the king of Egypt, and see, it has not been bound up with bandages and healing remedies that it may be strong enough to hold the sword.

²²Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: See! I am coming at Pharaoh, the king of Egypt. I will break his strong arm, so that the sword drops from his hand.

²³I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations and strew them over foreign lands.

²⁴But I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, and put my sword in his hand, which he will bring against Egypt so as to plunder and pillage it.

²⁵(I will make the arms of the king of Babylon strong, but the arms of Pharaoh shall drop.) Then they shall know that I am the LORD, when I put my sword in the hand of the king of Babylon for him to wield against the land of Egypt.

²⁶(I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations and strew them over foreign lands.) Thus they shall know that I am the LORD.

31 On the first day of the third month in the eleventh year, the word of the LORD came to me:

²Son of man, say to Pharaoh, the king of Egypt, and to his hordes: What are you like in your greatness?

³Behold, a cypress (cedar) in Lebanon, beautiful of branch, lofty of stature, amid the very clouds lifted its crest.

⁴Waters made it grow, the abyss made it flourish, sending its rivers round where it was planted, turning its streams to all the trees of the field.

⁵Thus it grew taller than every other tree of the field, and longer of branch because of the abundant water.

⁶In its boughs nested all the birds of the air, under its branches all beasts of the field gave birth, in its shade dwelt numerous peoples of every race.

⁷It became beautiful and stately in its spread of foliage, for its roots were turned toward abundant water.

⁸The cedars in the garden of God were not its equal, nor could the fir trees match its boughs, Neither were the plane trees like it for branches; no tree in the garden of God matched its beauty.

⁹I made it beautiful, with much foliage, the envy of all Eden's trees in the garden of God.

¹⁰Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: Because it became lofty in stature, raising its crest among the clouds, and because it became proud in heart at its height, ¹¹I have handed it over to the mightiest of the nations, which has dealt with it in keeping with its wickedness. I humiliated it.

¹²Foreigners, the most ruthless of the nations, cut it down and left it on the mountains. Its foliage was brought low in all the valleys, its branches lay broken in all the ravines of the land, and all the peoples of the land withdrew from its shade, abandoning it.

¹³On its fallen trunk rested all the birds of the air, and by its branches were all the beasts of the field.

¹⁴Thus no tree may grow lofty in stature or raise its crest among the clouds; no tree fed by water may stand by itself in its loftiness. For all of them are destined for death, for the land below, For the company of mortals, those who go down into the pit.

¹⁵Thus says the Lord GOD: On the day he went down to the nether world I made the abyss close up over him; I stopped its streams so that the deep waters were held back. I cast gloom over Lebanon because of him, so that all the trees in the land drooped on his account.

¹⁶At the crash of his fall I made the nations rock, when I cast him down to the nether world with those who go down into the pit. In the land below, all Eden's trees were consoled, Lebanon's choice and best, all that were fed by water.

¹⁷They too have come down with him to the nether world, to those slain by the sword; those who dwelt in his shade are dispersed among the nations.

¹⁸Which was your equal in glory or size among the trees of Eden? Yet you have been brought down with the trees of Eden to the land below. You shall lie with the uncircumcised, with those slain by the sword. Such are Pharaoh and all his hordes, says the Lord GOD.

32 On the first day of the twelfth month in the twelfth year, the word of the LORD came to me:

²Son of man, utter a lament over Pharaoh, the king of Egypt, saying to him: Lion of the nations, you are destroyed. You were like a monster in the sea, spouting in your streams, Stirring the water with your feet and churning its streams.

³Thus says the Lord GOD: I will spread my net over you (with a host of many nations), and draw you up in my seine.

⁴I will leave you on the land; on the open field I will cast you. I will have all the birds of the air alight on you, and all the beasts of the earth eat their fill of you.

⁵I will leave your flesh on the mountains, and fill the valleys with your carcass.

⁶I will water the land with what flows from you, and the river beds shall be filled with your blood.

⁷When I snuff you out I will cover the heavens, and all their stars I will darken; The sun I will cover with clouds, and the moon shall not give its light.

⁸All the shining lights in the heavens I will darken on your account, And I will spread darkness over your land, says the Lord GOD.

⁹I will grieve the hearts of many peoples when I lead you captive among the nations, to lands which you do not know.

¹⁰Many peoples shall be appalled at you, and their kings shall shudder over you in horror when they see me brandish my sword, and on the day of your downfall every one of them shall continuously tremble for his own life.

¹¹For thus says the Lord GOD: The sword of the king of Babylon shall come upon you.

¹²I will cut down your horde with the blades of warriors, all of them the most ruthless of the nations; They shall lay waste the glory of Egypt, and all her hordes shall be destroyed.

¹³I will have all of her animals perish beside her abundant waters; The foot of man shall stir them no longer, nor shall the hoof of beast disturb them.

¹⁴Then will I make their waters clear, and their streams flow like oil, says the Lord GOD.

¹⁵When I turn Egypt into a waste, the land shall be devastated of all that is in it; when I strike all who live there, they shall know that I am the LORD.

¹⁶This is a dirge, and it shall be sung: the daughters of the nations shall chant it; over Egypt and all its hordes shall they chant it, says the Lord GOD.

¹⁷On the fifteenth day of the first month in the twelfth year, the word of the LORD came to me:

¹⁸Son of man, lament over the throngs of Egypt, for the mighty nations have thrust them down to the bottom of the earth, with those who go down into the pit.

¹⁹"Whom do you excel in beauty?

²⁰In the midst of those slain by the sword shall they fall, and place shall be made with them for all their hordes. Then from the midst of the nether world, the mighty warriors shall speak to Egypt:

²¹"Come down, you and your allies, lie with the uncircumcised, with those slain by the sword."

²²There is Assyria with all her company, all of them slain,

²³whose graves have been made in the recesses of the pit; her company is around Egypt's grave, all of them slain, fallen by the sword, who spread terror in the land of the living.

²⁴There is Elam with all her throng about Egypt's grave, all of them slain, fallen by the sword: they have gone down uncircumcised to the bottom of the earth, who spread their terror in the land of the living, and they bear their disgrace with those who go down into the pit;

²⁵in the midst of the slain they are placed.

²⁶There are Meshech and Tubal and all their throng about her grave, all of them uncircumcised, slain by the sword, for they spread their terror in the land of the living.

²⁷They do not lie with the mighty men fallen of old, who went down to the nether world with their weapons of war, whose swords were placed under their heads and whose shields were laid over their bones, though the mighty men caused terror in the land of the living.

²⁸But in the midst of the uncircumcised shall you lie, with those slain by the sword.

²⁹There are Edom, her kings, and all her princes, who despite their might have been placed with those slain by the sword; with the uncircumcised they lie, and with those who go down into the pit.

³⁰There are all the princes of the north and all the Sidonians, who have gone down with the slain, because of the terror their might inspired; they lie uncircumcised with those slain by the sword and bear their disgrace with those who go down to the pit.

³¹When Pharaoh sees these, he shall be comforted for all his hordes slain by the sword--Pharaoh and all his army, says the Lord GOD.

³²Since he spread his terror in the land of the living, therefore is he laid to rest among the uncircumcised, with those slain by the sword--Pharaoh and all his hordes, says the Lord GOD.

33 Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²Son of man, speak thus to your countrymen: When I bring the sword against a country, and the people of this country select one of their number to be their watchman,

³and the watchman, seeing the sword coming against the country, blows the trumpet to warn the people,

⁴anyone hearing but not heeding the warning of the trumpet and therefore slain by the sword that comes against him, shall be responsible for his own death.

⁵He heard the trumpet blast yet refused to take warning; he is responsible for his own death, for had he taken warning he would have escaped with his life.

⁶But if the watchman sees the sword coming and fails to blow the warning trumpet, so that the sword comes and takes anyone, I will hold the watchman responsible for that person's death, even though that person is taken because of his own sin.

⁷You, son of man, I have appointed watchman for the house of Israel; when you hear me say anything, you shall warn them for me.

⁸If I tell the wicked man that he shall surely die, and you do not speak out to dissuade the wicked man from his way, he (the wicked man) shall die for his guilt, but I will hold you responsible for his death.

⁹But if you warn the wicked man, trying to turn him from his way, and he refuses to turn from his way, he shall die for his guilt, but you shall save yourself.

¹⁰As for you, son of man, speak to the house of Israel: You people say, "Our crimes and our sins weigh us down; we are rotting away because of them. How can we survive?"

¹¹ Answer them: As I live, says the Lord GOD, I swear I take no pleasure in the death of the wicked man, but rather in the wicked man's conversion, that he may live. Turn, turn from your evil ways! Why should you die, O house of Israel?

¹² As for you, son of man, tell your countrymen: The virtue which a man has practiced will not save him on the day that he sins; neither will the wickedness that a man has done bring about his downfall on the day that he turns from his wickedness (nor can the virtuous man, when he sins, remain alive).

¹³ Though I say to the virtuous man that he shall surely live, if he then presumes on his virtue and does wrong, none of his virtuous deeds shall be remembered; because of the wrong he has done, he shall die.

¹⁴ And though I say to the wicked man that he shall surely die, if he turns away from his sin and does what is right and just,

¹⁵ giving back pledges, restoring stolen goods, living by the statutes that bring life, and doing no wrong, he shall surely live, he shall not die.

¹⁶ None of the sins he committed shall be held against him; he has done what is right and just, he shall surely live.

¹⁷ Yet your countrymen say, "The way of the LORD is not fair!"; but it is their way that is not fair.

¹⁸ When a virtuous man turns away from what is right and does wrong, he shall die for it.

¹⁹ But when a wicked man turns away from wickedness and does what is right and just, because of this he shall live.

²⁰ And still you say, "The way of the LORD is not fair!"; I will judge every one of you according to his ways, O house of Israel.

²¹ On the fifth day of the tenth month, in the twelfth year of our exile, the fugitive came to me from Jerusalem and said, "The city is taken!"

²² The hand of the LORD had come upon me the evening before the fugitive arrived, and he opened my mouth when the fugitive reached me in the morning. My mouth was opened, and I was dumb no longer.

²³ Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²⁴Son of man, they who live in the ruins on the land of Israel reason thus: "Abraham, though but a single individual, received possession of the land; we, therefore, being many, have as permanent possession the land that has been given to us."

²⁵Give them this answer: Thus says the Lord GOD: You eat on the mountains, you raise your eyes to your idols, you shed blood--yet you would keep possession of the land?

²⁶You rely on your sword, you do abominable things, each one of you defiles his neighbor's wife--yet you would keep possession of the land?

²⁷Tell them this: Thus says the Lord GOD: As I live, those who are in the ruins I swear shall fall by the sword; those who are in the open field I have given to the wild beasts for food; and those who are in fastnesses and in caves shall die by the plague.

²⁸I will make the land a desolate waste, so that its proud strength will come to an end, and the mountains of Israel shall be so desolate that no one will cross them.

²⁹Thus they shall know that I am the LORD, when I make the land a desolate waste because of all the abominable things they have done.

³⁰As for you, son of man, your countrymen are talking about you along the walls and in the doorways of houses. They say to one another, "Come and hear the latest word that comes from the LORD."

³¹My people come to you as people always do; they sit down before you and hear your words, but they will not obey them, for lies are on their lips and their desires are fixed on dishonest gain.

³²For them you are only a ballad singer, with a pleasant voice and a clever touch. They listen to your words, but they will not obey them.

³³But when it comes--and it is surely coming!--they shall know that there was a prophet among them.

34 Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²Son of man, prophesy against the shepherds of Israel, in these words prophesy to them (to the shepherds): Thus says the Lord GOD: Woe to the shepherds of Israel who have been pasturing themselves! Should not shepherds, rather, pasture sheep?

³You have fed off their milk, worn their wool, and slaughtered the fatlings, but the sheep you have not pastured.

⁴You did not strengthen the weak nor heal the sick nor bind up the injured. You did not bring back the strayed nor seek the lost, but you lorded it over them harshly and brutally.

⁵So they were scattered for lack of a shepherd, and became food for all the wild beasts. My sheep were scattered ⁶and wandered over all the mountains and high hills; my sheep were scattered over the whole earth, with no one to look after them or to search for them.

⁷Therefore, shepherds, hear the word of the LORD:

⁸As I live, says the Lord GOD, because my sheep have been given over to pillage, and because my sheep have become food for every wild beast, for lack of a shepherd; because my shepherds did not look after my sheep, but pastured themselves and did not pasture my sheep;

⁹because of this, shepherds, hear the word of the LORD:

¹⁰Thus says the Lord GOD: I swear I am coming against these shepherds. I will claim my sheep from them and put a stop to their shepherding my sheep so that they may no longer pasture themselves. I will save my sheep, that they may no longer be food for their mouths.

¹¹For thus says the Lord GOD: I myself will look after and tend my sheep.

¹²As a shepherd tends his flock when he finds himself among his scattered sheep, so will I tend my sheep. I will rescue them from every place where they were scattered when it was cloudy and dark.

¹³I will lead them out from among the peoples and gather them from the foreign lands; I will bring them back to their own country and pasture them upon the mountains of Israel (in the land's ravines and all its inhabited places).

¹⁴In good pastures will I pasture them, and on the mountain heights of Israel shall be their grazing ground. There they shall lie down on good grazing ground, and in rich pastures shall they be pastured on the mountains of Israel.

¹⁵I myself will pasture my sheep; I myself will give them rest, says the Lord GOD.

¹⁶The lost I will seek out, the strayed I will bring back, the injured I will bind up, the sick I will heal (but the sleek and the strong I will destroy), shepherding them rightly.

¹⁷As for you, my sheep, says the Lord GOD, I will judge between one sheep and another, between rams and goats.

¹⁸Was it not enough for you to graze on the best pasture, that you had to trample the rest of your pastures with your feet? Was it not enough for you to drink the clearest water, that you had to foul the remainder with your feet?

¹⁹Thus my sheep had to graze on what your feet had trampled and drink what your feet had fouled.

²⁰Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: Now will I judge between the fat and the lean sheep.

²¹Because you push with side and shoulder, and butt all the weak sheep with your horns until you have driven them out,

²²I will save my sheep so that they may no longer be despoiled, and I will judge between one sheep and another.

²³I will appoint one shepherd over them to pasture them, my servant David; he shall pasture them and be their shepherd.

²⁴I, the LORD, will be their God, and my servant David shall be prince among them. I, the LORD, have spoken.

²⁵I will make a covenant of peace with them, and rid the country of ravenous beasts, that they may dwell securely in the desert and sleep in the forests.

²⁶I will place them about my hill, sending rain in due season, rains that shall be a blessing to them.

²⁷The trees of the field shall bear their fruits, and the land its crops, and they shall dwell securely on their own soil. Thus they shall know that I am the LORD when I break the bonds of their yoke and free them from the power of those who enslaved them.

²⁸They shall no longer be despoiled by the nations or devoured by beasts of the earth, but shall dwell secure, with no one to frighten them.

²⁹I will prepare for them peaceful fields for planting; they shall no longer be carried off by famine in the land, or bear the reproaches of the nations.

³⁰Thus they shall know that I, the LORD, am their God, and they are my people, the house of Israel, says the Lord GOD.

³¹(You, my sheep, you are the sheep of my pasture, and I am your God, says the Lord GOD.)

35 Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²Son of man, set your face against Mount Seir, and prophesy against it.

³Say to it: Thus says the Lord GOD: See! I am coming at you, Mount Seir. I will stretch out my hand against you and make you a desolate waste.

⁴Your cities I will turn into ruins, and you shall be a waste; thus you shall know that I am the LORD.

⁵Because you never let die your hatred for the Israelites, whom you delivered over to the power of the sword at the time of their trouble, when their crimes came to an end, ⁶therefore, as I live, says the Lord GOD, you have been guilty of blood, and blood, I swear, shall pursue you.

⁷I will make Mount Seir a desolate waste, and cut off from it any traveler.

⁸With the slain I will fill your hills, your valleys, and all your ravines (in them the slain shall fall by the sword):

⁹desolate will I make you forever, and leave your cities without inhabitants; thus you shall know that I am the LORD.

¹⁰Because you said: The two nations and the two lands have become mine; we shall possess them--although the LORD was there--

¹¹therefore, as I live, says the Lord GOD, I will deal with you according to your anger and your envy which you have exercised (in your hatred) against them. I will make myself known among you when I judge you,

¹²and you shall know that I am the LORD. I have heard all the contemptuous things you have uttered against the mountains of Israel: "They are desolate, they have been given us to devour."

¹³I have heard the insolent and wild words you have spoken against me.

¹⁴Thus says the Lord GOD: Just as you rejoiced over my land because it was desolate, so will I do to you.

¹⁵In keeping with your glee over the devastation of the inheritance of the house of Israel, so will I treat you. A waste shall you be, Mount Seir, you and the whole of Edom. Thus they shall know that I am the LORD.

36 As for you, son of man, prophesy to the mountains of Israel: Mountains of Israel, hear the word of the LORD!

²Thus says the Lord GOD: Because the enemy has said of you, "Ha! the everlasting heights have become our possession"

⁴therefore, mountains of Israel, hear the word of the LORD: (Thus says the Lord GOD to the mountains and hills, the ravines and valleys, the desolate ruins and abandoned cities, which have been given over to the pillage and mockery of the remaining nations round about; ⁵therefore thus says the Lord GOD:) Truly, with burning jealousy I speak against the rest of the nations (and against all of Edom) who with wholehearted joy and utter contempt have considered my land their possession to be delivered over to plunder.

⁷Therefore do I solemnly swear that your neighboring nations shall bear their own reproach.

⁸As for you, mountains of Israel, you shall grow branches and bear fruit for my people Israel, for they shall soon return.

⁹See, I come to you, it is to you that I turn; you will be tilled and sown,

¹⁰and I will settle crowds of men upon you, the whole house of Israel; cities shall be repeopled, and ruins rebuilt.

¹¹I will settle crowds of men and beasts upon you, to multiply and be fruitful. I will repeople you as in the past, and be more generous to you than in the beginning; thus you shall know that I am the LORD.

¹²(My people Israel are the ones whom I will have walk upon you; they shall take possession of you, and you shall be their heritage. Never again shall you rob them of their children.)

¹³Thus says the Lord GOD: Because they have said of you, "You are a land that devours men, and you rob your people of their children";

¹⁴therefore, never again shall you devour men or rob your people of their children, says the Lord GOD.

¹⁵No more will I permit you to hear the reproach of nations, or bear insults from peoples, or rob your people of their children, says the Lord GOD.

¹⁶Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

¹⁷Son of man, when the house of Israel lived in their land, they defiled it by their conduct and deeds. In my sight their conduct was like the defilement of a menstruous woman.

¹⁸Therefore I poured out my fury upon them (because of the blood which they poured out on the ground, and because they defiled it with idols).

¹⁹I scattered them among the nations, dispersing them over foreign lands; according to their conduct and deeds I judged them.

²⁰But when they came among the nations (wherever they came), they served to profane my holy name, because it was said of them: "These are the people of the LORD, yet they had to leave their land."

²¹So I have relented because of my holy name which the house of Israel profaned among the nations where they came.

²²Therefore say to the house of Israel: Thus says the Lord GOD: Not for your sakes do I act, house of Israel, but for the sake of my holy name, which you profaned among the nations to which you came.

²³I will prove the holiness of my great name, profaned among the nations, in whose midst you have profaned it. Thus the nations shall know that I am the LORD, says the Lord GOD, when in their sight I prove my holiness through you.

²⁴For I will take you away from among the nations, gather you from all the foreign lands, and bring you back to your own land.

²⁵I will sprinkle clean water upon you to cleanse you from all your impurities, and from all your idols I will cleanse you.

²⁶I will give you a new heart and place a new spirit within you, taking from your bodies your stony hearts and giving you natural hearts.

²⁷I will put my spirit within you and make you live by my statutes, careful to observe my decrees.

²⁸You shall live in the land I gave your fathers; you shall be my people, and I will be your God.

²⁹I will save you from all your impurities; I will order the grain to be abundant, and I will not send famine against you.

³⁰I will increase the fruit on your trees and the crops in your fields; thus you shall no longer bear among the nations the reproach of famine.

³¹Then you shall remember your evil conduct, and that your deeds were not good; you shall loathe yourselves for your sins and your abominations.

³²Not for your sakes do I act, says the Lord GOD--let this be known to you! Be ashamed and abashed because of your conduct, O house of Israel.

³³Thus says the Lord GOD: When I purify you from all your crimes, I will repeople the cities, and the ruins shall be rebuilt;

³⁴the desolate land shall be tilled, which was formerly a wasteland exposed to the gaze of every passer-by.

³⁵"This desolate land has been made into a garden of Eden," they shall say. "The cities that were in ruins, laid waste, and destroyed are now repeopled and fortified."

³⁶Thus the neighboring nations that remain shall know that I, the LORD, have rebuilt what was destroyed and replanted what was desolate. I, the LORD, have promised, and I will do it.

³⁷Thus says the Lord GOD: This also I will be persuaded to do for the house of Israel: to multiply them like sheep.

³⁸As with sacrificial sheep, the sheep of Jerusalem on its feast days, the cities which were in ruins shall be filled with flocks of men; thus they shall know that I am the LORD.

37 The hand of the LORD came upon me, and he led me out in the spirit of the LORD and set me in the center of the plain, which was now filled with bones.

²He made me walk among them in every direction so that I saw how many they were on the surface of the plain. How dry they were!

³He asked me: Son of man, can these bones come to life? "Lord GOD," I answered, "you alone know that."

⁴Then he said to me: Prophecy over these bones, and say to them: Dry bones, hear the word of the LORD!

⁵Thus says the Lord GOD to these bones: See! I will bring spirit into you, that you may come to life.

⁶I will put sinews upon you, make flesh grow over you, cover you with skin, and put spirit in you so that you may come to life and know that I am the LORD.

⁷I prophesied as I had been told, and even as I was prophesying I heard a noise; it was a rattling as the bones came together, bone joining bone.

⁸I saw the sinews and the flesh come upon them, and the skin cover them, but there was no spirit in them.

⁹Then he said to me: Prophecy to the spirit, prophesy, son of man, and say to the spirit: Thus says the Lord GOD: From the four winds come, O spirit, and breathe into these slain that they may come to life.

- ¹⁰I prophesied as he told me, and the spirit came into them; they came alive and stood upright, a vast army.
- ¹¹Then he said to me: Son of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. They have been saying, "Our bones are dried up, our hope is lost, and we are cut off."
- ¹²Therefore, prophesy and say to them: Thus says the Lord GOD: O my people, I will open your graves and have you rise from them, and bring you back to the land of Israel.
- ¹³Then you shall know that I am the LORD, when I open your graves and have you rise from them, O my people!
- ¹⁴I will put my spirit in you that you may live, and I will settle you upon your land; thus you shall know that I am the LORD. I have promised, and I will do it, says the LORD.
- ¹⁵Thus the word of the LORD came to me:
- ¹⁶Now, son of man, take a single stick, and write on it: Judah and those Israelites who are associated with him. Then take another stick and write on it: Joseph (the stick of Ephraim) and all the house of Israel associated with him.
- ¹⁷Then join the two sticks together, so that they form one stick in your hand.
- ¹⁸When your countrymen ask you, "Will you not tell us what you mean by all this?",
- ¹⁹answer them: Thus says the Lord GOD: (I will take the stick of Joseph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and of the tribes of Israel associated with him, and I will join to it the stick of Judah, making them a single stick; they shall be one in my hand.
- ²⁰The sticks on which you write you shall hold up before them to see.
- ²¹Tell them: Thus speaks the Lord GOD:) I will take the Israelites from among the nations to which they have come, and gather them from all sides to bring them back to their land.
- ²²I will make them one nation upon the land, in the mountains of Israel, and there shall be one prince for them all. Never again shall they be two nations, and never again shall they be divided into two kingdoms.

²³No longer shall they defile themselves with their idols, their abominations, and all their transgressions. I will deliver them from all their sins of apostasy, and cleanse them so that they may be my people and I may be their God.

²⁴My servant David shall be prince over them, and there shall be one shepherd for them all; they shall live by my statutes and carefully observe my decrees.

²⁵They shall live on the land which I gave to my servant Jacob, the land where their fathers lived; they shall live on it forever, they, and their children, and their children's children, with my servant David their prince forever.

²⁶I will make with them a covenant of peace; it shall be an everlasting covenant with them, and I will multiply them, and put my sanctuary among them forever.

²⁷My dwelling shall be with them; I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

²⁸Thus the nations shall know that it is I, the LORD, who make Israel holy, when my sanctuary shall be set up among them forever.

38 Thus the word of the LORD came to me:

²Son of man, turn toward Gog (the land of Magog), the chief prince of Meshech and Tubal, and prophesy against him:

³Thus says the Lord GOD: See! I am coming at you, Gog, chief prince of Meshech and Tubal.

⁴I will lead you forth with all your army, horses and riders all handsomely outfitted, a great horde with bucklers and shields, all of them carrying swords:

⁵Persia, Cush, and Put with them (all with shields and helmets),

⁶Gomer with all its troops, Beth-togarmah from the recesses of the north with all its troops, many peoples with you.

⁷Prepare yourself, be ready, you and all your horde assembled about you, and be at my disposal.

⁸After many days you will be mustered (in the last years you will come) against a nation which has survived the sword, which has been assembled from many peoples

(on the mountains of Israel which were long a ruin), which has been brought forth from among the peoples and all of whom now dwell in security.

⁹You shall come up like a sudden storm, advancing like a cloud to cover the earth, you and all your troops and the many peoples with you.

¹⁰Thus says the Lord GOD: At that time thoughts shall arise in your mind, and you shall devise an evil scheme:

¹¹"I will go up against a land of open villages and attack the peaceful people who are living in security, all of them living without walls, having neither bars nor gates,

¹²to plunder and pillage, turning my hand against the ruins that were re peopled and against a people gathered from the nations, a people concerned with cattle and goods, who dwell at the navel of the earth."

¹³Sheba and Dedan, the merchants of Tarshish and all her young lions shall ask you: "Is it for plunder that you have come? Is it for pillage that you have summoned your horde, to carry off silver and gold, to take away cattle and goods, to seize much plunder?"

¹⁴Therefore prophesy, son of man, and say to Gog: Thus says the Lord GOD: When my people Israel are dwelling in security, will you not bestir yourself

¹⁵and come from your home in the recesses of the north, you and many peoples with you, all mounted on horses, a great horde and a mighty army?

¹⁶You shall come up against my people Israel like a cloud covering the land. In the last days I will bring you against my land, that the nations may know of me, when in their sight I prove my holiness through you, O Gog.

¹⁷Thus says the Lord GOD: It is of you that I spoke in ancient times through my servants, the prophets of Israel, who prophesied in those days that I would bring you against them.

¹⁸But on that day, the day when Gog invades the land of Israel, says the Lord GOD, my fury shall be aroused. In my anger

¹⁹and in my jealousy, in my fiery wrath, I swear: On that day there shall be a great shaking upon the land of Israel.

²⁰Before me shall tremble the fish of the sea and the birds of the air, the beasts of the field and all the reptiles that crawl upon the ground, and all men who are on the land. Mountains shall be overturned, and cliffs shall tumble, and every wall shall fall to the ground.

²¹Against him I will summon every terror, says the Lord GOD, every man's sword against his brother. I will hold judgment with him in pestilence and bloodshed;

²²flooding rain and hailstones, fire and brimstone, I will rain upon him, upon his troops, and upon the many peoples with him.

²³I will prove my greatness and holiness and make myself known in the sight of many nations; thus they shall know that I am the LORD.

39 Now, son of man, prophesy against Gog in these words: Thus says the Lord GOD: See! I am coming at you, Gog, chief prince of Meshech and Tubal.

²I will turn you about, I will urge you on, and I will make you come up from the recesses of the north; I will lead you against the mountains of Israel.

³Then I will strike the bow from your left hand, and make the arrows drop from your right.

⁴Upon the mountains of Israel you shall fall, you and all your troops and the peoples who are with you. To birds of prey of every kind and to the wild beasts I am giving you to be eaten.

⁵On the open field you shall fall, for I have decreed it, says the Lord GOD.

⁶I will send fire upon Magog and upon those who live securely in the coastlands; thus they shall know that I am the LORD.

⁷I will make my holy name known among my people Israel; I will no longer allow my holy name to be profaned. Thus the nations shall know that I am the LORD, the Holy One in Israel.

⁸Yes, it is coming and shall be fulfilled, says the Lord GOD. This is the day I have decreed.

⁹Then shall those who live in the cities of Israel go out and burn weapons: (shields and bucklers,) bows and arrows, clubs and lances; for seven years they shall make fires with them.

¹⁰They shall not have to bring in wood from the fields or cut it down in the forests, for they shall make fires with the weapons. Thus they shall plunder those who plundered them and pillage those who pillaged them, says the Lord GOD.

¹¹On that day I will give Gog for his tomb a well-known place in Israel, the Valley of Abarim east of the sea (it is blocked to travelers). Gog shall be buried there with all his horde, and it shall be named "Valley of Hamon-gog."

¹²To purify the land, the house of Israel shall need seven months to bury them.

¹³All the people of the land shall bury them and gain renown for it, when I reveal my glory, says the Lord GOD.

¹⁴Men shall be permanently employed to pass through the land burying those who lie unburied, so as to purify the land. For seven months they shall keep searching.

¹⁵When they pass through, should they see a human bone, let them put up a marker beside it, until others have buried it in the Valley of Hamon-gog.

¹⁶(Also the name of the city shall be Hamonah.) Thus the land shall be purified.

¹⁷As for you, son of man, says the Lord GOD, say to birds of every kind and to all the wild beasts: Come together, from all sides gather for the slaughter I am about to provide for you, a great slaughter on the mountains of Israel: you shall have flesh to eat and blood to drink.

¹⁸You shall eat the flesh of warriors and drink the blood of the princes of the land (rams, lambs, and goats, bullocks, fatlings of Bashan, all of them).

¹⁹From the slaughter which I will provide for you, you shall eat fat until you are filled and drink blood until you are drunk.

²⁰You shall be filled at my table with horses and riders, with warriors and soldiers of every kind, says the Lord GOD.

²¹Thus I will display my glory among the nations, and all the nations shall see the judgment I have executed and the hand I have laid upon them.

²²From that day forward the house of Israel shall know that I am the LORD, their God.

²³The nations shall know that because of its sins the house of Israel went into exile; for they transgressed against me, and I hid my face from them and handed them over to their foes, so that all of them fell by the sword.

²⁴According to their uncleanness and their transgressions I dealt with them, hiding my face from them.

²⁵Therefore, thus says the Lord GOD: Now I will restore the fortunes of Jacob and have pity on the whole house of Israel, and I will be jealous for my holy name.

²⁶They shall forget their disgrace and all the times they broke faith with me, when they live in security on their land with no one to frighten them.

²⁷When I bring them back from among the peoples, I will gather them from the lands of their enemies, and will prove my holiness through them in the sight of many nations.

²⁸Thus they shall know that I, the LORD, am their God, since I who exiled them among the nations, will gather them back on their land, not leaving any of them behind.

²⁹No longer will I hide my face from them, for I have poured out my spirit upon the house of Israel, says the Lord GOD.

40 On the tenth day of the month beginning the twenty-fifth year of our exile, fourteen years after the city was taken, that very day the hand of the LORD came upon me and brought me

²in divine visions to the land of Israel, where he set me down on a very high mountain. On it there seemed to be a city being built before me.

³When he had brought me there, all at once I saw a man whose appearance was that of bronze; he was standing in the gate, holding a linen cord and a measuring rod.

⁴The man said to me, "Son of man, look carefully and listen intently, and pay strict attention to all that I will show you, for you have been brought here so that I might show it to you. Tell the house of Israel all that you see."

⁵(Then I saw an outer wall that completely surrounded the temple. The man was holding a measuring rod six cubits long, each cubit being a cubit and a handbreadth; he measured the width and the height of the structure, each of which were found to be one rod.)

⁶Then he went to the gate which faced the east, climbed its steps, and measured the gate's threshold, which was found to be a rod wide.

⁷The cells were a rod long and a rod wide, and the pilasters between the cells measured five cubits. The threshold of the gate adjoining the vestibule of the gate toward the inside measured one rod.

⁸He measured the vestibule of the gate,

⁹which was eight cubits, and its pilasters, which were two cubits. The vestibule of the gate was toward the inside.

¹⁰The cells of the east gate were three on either side, of equal size, and the pilasters on either side were also of equal size.

¹¹He measured the gate's entrance, which was ten cubits wide, while the width of the gate's passage itself was thirteen cubits.

¹²The border before each of the cells on both sides was one cubit; the cells themselves were six cubits on either side, from opening to opening.

¹³He measured the gate from the back wall of one cell to the back wall of the cell on the opposite side: the width was twenty-five cubits.

¹⁴He measured the vestibule, which was twenty-five cubits. The pilasters adjoining the court on either side were six cubits.

¹⁵The length of the gate from the front entrance to the front of the vestibule on the inside was fifty cubits.

¹⁶Within the gateway on both sides there were splayed windows let into the cells (and into their pilasters); likewise, within the vestibule on both sides there were windows. The pilasters were decorated with palms.

¹⁷Then he brought me to the outer court, where there were chambers and a pavement. The pavement was laid all around the court, and the chambers, which were on the pavement, were thirty in number.

¹⁸The pavement lay alongside the gates, as wide as the gates were long; this was the lower pavement.

¹⁹He measured the width of the court from the front of the lower gate to the front of the inner gate; it was one hundred cubits between them. Then he proceeded north, ²⁰where, on the outer court, there was a gate facing north, whose length and width he measured.

²¹Its cells, three on either side, its pilasters, and its vestibule had the same measurements as those of the first gate; it was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide.

²²Its windows, the windows of its vestibule, and its palm decorations were of the same proportions as those of the gate facing the east. Seven steps led up to it, and its vestibule was toward the inside.

²³The inner court had a gate opposite the north gate, just as at the east gate; he measured one hundred cubits from one gate to the other.

²⁴Then he led me south, to where there was a southern gate, whose cells, pilasters, and vestibule he measured; they were the same size as the others.

²⁵The gate and its vestibule had windows on both sides, like the other windows. It was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide.

²⁶It was ascended by seven steps; its vestibule was toward the inside; and it was decorated with palms here and there on its pilasters.

²⁷The inner court also had a southern gate; from gate to gate he measured one hundred cubits.

²⁸Then he brought me to the inner court by the south gate, where he measured the south gate. Its dimensions were the same as the others;

²⁹its cells, its pilasters, and its vestibule were the same size as the others. The gate and its vestibule had windows on both sides; and it was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide.

³¹But its vestibule was toward the outer court; palms were on its pilasters, and it had a stairway of eight steps.

³²Then he brought me to the gate facing the east, where he measured the gate, whose dimensions were found to be the same.

³³Its cells, its pilasters, and its vestibule were the same size as the others; the gate and its vestibule had windows on both sides; it was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide.

³⁴But its vestibule was toward the outer court; palms were on its pilasters here and there, and it had a stairway of eight steps.

³⁵Then he brought me to the north gate, where he measured the dimensions

³⁶of its cells, its pilasters, and its vestibule, and found them the same. The gate and its vestibule had windows on both sides; it was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide.

³⁷Its vestibule was toward the outer court; palms were on its pilasters here and there, and it had a stairway of eight steps.

³⁸There was a chamber opening off the vestibule of the gate, where the holocausts were rinsed.

³⁹In the vestibule of the gate there were two tables on either side, on which were slaughtered the sin offerings and guilt offerings.

⁴⁰Along the wall of the vestibule, but outside, near the entrance of the north gate, were two tables, and on the other side of the vestibule of the gate there were two tables.

⁴¹There were four tables on either side of the gate (eight tables), on which the sacrifices were slaughtered.

⁴²There were four tables for holocausts, made of cut stone, one and a half cubits long, one and a half cubits wide, and one cubit high.

⁴³The ledges, a handbreadth wide, were set on the inside all around, and on them were laid the instruments with which the holocausts were slaughtered. On the tables themselves the flesh was laid.

⁴⁴He then led me to the inner court where there were two chambers, one beside the north gate, facing south, and the other beside the south gate, facing north.

⁴⁵He said to me, "This chamber which faces south is for the priests who have charge of the temple, ⁴⁶and the chamber which faces north is for the priests who have charge of the altar. These are the Zadokites, the only Levites who may come near to minister to the LORD."

⁴⁷Then he measured the court, which was a hundred cubits long and a hundred cubits wide, a perfect square. The altar stood in front of the temple.

⁴⁸Then he brought me into the vestibule of the temple and measured the pilasters on each side, which were five cubits. The width of the doorway was fourteen cubits, and the side walls on either side of the door measured three cubits.

⁴⁹The vestibule was twenty cubits wide and twelve cubits deep; ten steps led up to it, and there were columns by the pilasters, one on either side.

41 Then he brought me to the nave and measured the pilasters, which were six cubits thick on either side.

²The width of the entrance was ten cubits, and the walls at either side of it measured five cubits each. He measured the length of the nave, which was found to be forty cubits, while its width was twenty.

³Then he went in beyond and measured the pilasters flanking that entrance, which were two cubits; the width of the entrance was six cubits, and the walls at either side of it extended seven cubits each.

⁴He measured the space beyond the nave, twenty cubits long and twenty cubits wide, and said to me, "This is the holy of holies."

⁵Then he measured the wall of the temple, which was six cubits thick; the side chambers, which extended all the way around the temple, had a width of four cubits.

⁶There were thirty side chambers built one above the other in three stories, and there were offsets in the outside wall of the temple that enclosed the side chambers; these served as supports, so that there were no supports in the temple wall proper.

⁷There was a broad circular passageway that led upward to the side chambers, for the temple was enclosed all the way around and all the way upward; therefore the temple had a broad way running upward so that one could pass from the lowest to the middle and the highest story.

⁸About the temple was a raised pavement completely enclosing it--the foundations of the side chambers--a full rod of six cubits in extent.

⁹The width of the outside wall which enclosed the side chambers was five cubits. Between the side chambers of the temple

¹⁰and the chambers of the court was an open space twenty cubits wide going all around the temple.

¹¹The side chambers had entrances to the open space, one entrance on the north and another on the south. The width of the wall surrounding the open space was five cubits.

¹²The building fronting the free area on the west side was seventy cubits front to back; the wall of the building was five cubits thick all around, and it measured ninety cubits from side to side.

¹³He measured the temple, which was one hundred cubits long. The free area, together with the building and its walls, was a hundred cubits in length.

¹⁴The facade of the temple, along with the free area, on the east side, was one hundred cubits wide.

¹⁵He measured the building which lay the length of the free area and behind it, and together with its walls on both sides it was one hundred cubits. The inner nave and the outer vestibule

¹⁶were paneled with precious wood all around, covered from the ground to the windows. There were splayed windows with trellises about them (facing the threshold).

¹⁷As high as the lintel of the door, even into the interior part of the temple as well as outside, on every wall on every side in both the inner and outer rooms were carved

¹⁸the figures of cherubim and palmtrees: a palmtree between every two cherubim. Each cherub had two faces:

¹⁹a man's face looking at a palmtree on one side, and a lion's face looking at a palmtree on the other; thus they were figured on every side throughout the whole temple.

²⁰From the ground to the lintel of the door the cherubim and palmtrees were carved on the walls.

²¹The way into the nave was a square doorframe. In front of the holy place was something that looked like

²²a wooden altar, three cubits in height, two cubits long, and two cubits wide. It had corners, and its base and sides were of wood. He said to me, "This is the table which is before the LORD."

²³The nave had a double door, and also the holy place had

²⁴a double door. Each door had two movable leaves; two leaves were on one doorjamb and two on the other.

²⁵Carved upon them (on the doors of the nave) were cherubim and palmtrees, like those carved on the walls. Before the vestibule outside was a wooden lattice.

²⁶There were splayed windows (and palmtrees) on both side walls of the vestibule, and the side chambers of the temple. . . .

42 Then he led me north to the outer court, bringing me to some chambers on the north that lay across the free area and which were also across from the building.

²Their length was a hundred cubits on the north side, and they were fifty cubits wide.

³Across the twenty cubits of the inner court and the pavement of the outer court, there were three parallel rows of them on different levels.

⁴In front of the chambers, to the inside, was a walk ten cubits broad and a wall of one cubit; but the entrances of the chambers were on the north.

⁵The outermost chambers were the lowest, for the system of levels set them at a level lower than the closest chambers and those in between;

⁶for they were in three rows and had no foundations to conform with the foundations of the courts, therefore they were on a lower terrace of the ground than the closest and the middle chambers.

⁷On the far side there was a wall running parallel to the chambers along the outer court; its length before these chambers was fifty cubits, ⁸for the length of the chambers belonging to the outer court was fifty cubits, but along its entire length the wall measured one hundred cubits.

⁹Below these chambers there was the way in from the east, so that one could enter from the outer court

¹⁰where the wall of the court began. To the south along the side of the free area and the building there were also chambers,

¹¹before which was a passage. These looked like the chambers to the north, just as long and just as wide, with the same exits and plan and entrances.

¹²Below the chambers to the south there was an entrance at the beginning of the way which led to the back wall, by which one could enter from the east.

¹³He said to me, "The north and south chambers which border on the free area are the sanctuary chambers; here the priests who draw near to the LORD shall eat the most sacred meals, and here they shall keep the most sacred offerings: cereal offerings, sin offerings, and guilt offerings; for it is a holy place.

¹⁴When the priests have once entered, they shall not leave the holy place for the outer court until they have left here the clothing in which they ministered, for it is holy. They shall put on other garments, and then approach the place destined for the people."

¹⁵When he had finished measuring the inner temple area, he brought me out by way of the gate which faces east and measured all the limits of the court.

¹⁶He measured the east side: five hundred cubits by his measuring rod. Then he turned ¹⁷and measured the north side: five hundred cubits by the measuring rod. He turned ¹⁸to the south and measured five hundred cubits by the measuring rod.

¹⁹Then he turned to the west and measured five hundred cubits by the measuring rod.

²⁰Thus he measured it in the four directions, five hundred cubits long and five hundred cubits wide. It was surrounded by a wall, to separate the sacred from the profane.

43 Then he led me to the gate which faces the east,

²and there I saw the glory of the God of Israel coming from the east. I heard a sound like the roaring of many waters, and the earth shone with his glory.

³The vision was like that which I had seen when he came to destroy the city, and like that which I had seen by the river Chebar. I fell prone

⁴as the glory of the LORD entered the temple by way of the gate which faces the east,

⁵but spirit lifted me up and brought me to the inner court. And I saw that the temple was filled with the glory of the LORD.

⁶Then I heard someone speaking to me from the temple, while the man stood beside me.

⁷The voice said to me: Son of man, this is where my throne shall be, this is where I will set the soles of my feet; here I will dwell among the Israelites forever. Never again shall they and their kings profane my holy name with their harlotries and with the corpses of their kings (their high places).

⁸When they placed their threshold against my threshold and their doorpost next to mine, so that only a wall was between us, they profaned my holy name by their abominable deeds; therefore I consumed them in my wrath.

⁹From now on they shall put far from me their harlotry and the corpses of their kings, and I will dwell in their midst forever.

¹⁰As for you, son of man, describe the temple to the house of Israel (that they may be ashamed of their sins), both its measurements and its design;

¹¹(and if they are ashamed of all that they have done,) make known to them the form and design of the temple, its exits and entrances, all its statutes and laws; write these down for them to see, that they may carefully observe all its laws and statutes.

¹²This is the law of the temple: its whole surrounding area on the mountain top shall be most sacred.

¹³These were the measurements of the altar in cubits of one cubit plus a handbreadth. Its base was one cubit high and one cubit deep, with a rim around its edges of one span. The height of the altar itself was as follows:

¹⁴from its base at the bottom up to the lower edge it was two cubits high, and this ledge was one cubit deep; from the lower to the upper ledge it was four cubits high, and this ledge also was one cubit deep;

¹⁵the hearth of the altar was four cubits high, and extending from the top of the hearth were the four horns of the altar.

¹⁶The hearth was a square: twelve cubits long and twelve cubits wide.

¹⁷The upper ledge was also a square: fourteen cubits long and fourteen cubits wide. The lower ledge, likewise a square, was sixteen cubits long and sixteen cubits wide, with a half-cubit rim surrounding it. And there was a base of one cubit all around. The steps of the altar face the east.

¹⁸Then he said to me: Son of man, thus says the Lord GOD: These are the statutes for the altar when it is set up for the offering of holocausts upon it and for the sprinkling of blood against it.

¹⁹Give a young bull as a sin offering to the priests, the Levites who are of the line of Zadok, who draw near me to minister to me, says the Lord GOD.

²⁰Take some of its blood and put it on the four horns of the altar, and on the four corners of the ledge, and on the rim all around. Thus you shall purify it and make atonement for it.

²¹Then take the bull of the sin offering, which is to be burnt in a designated part of the temple, outside the sanctuary.

²²On the second day present an unblemished he-goat as a sin offering, to purify the altar as was done with the bull.

²³When you have finished the purification, bring an unblemished young bull and an unblemished ram from the flock,

²⁴and present them before the LORD; the priests shall strew salt on them and offer them to the LORD as holocausts.

²⁵Daily for seven days you shall offer a he-goat as a sin offering, and a young bull and a ram from the flock, all unblemished, shall be offered

²⁶for seven days. Thus atonement shall be made for the altar, and it shall be purified and dedicated.

²⁷And when these days are over, from the eighth day on, the priests shall offer your holocausts and peace offerings on the altar. Then I will accept you, says the Lord GOD.

44Then he brought me back to the outer gate of the sanctuary, facing the east; but it was closed.

²He said to me: This gate is to remain closed; it is not to be opened for anyone to enter by it; since the LORD, the God of Israel, has entered by it, it shall remain closed.

³Only the prince may sit down in it to eat his meal in the presence of the LORD. He must enter by way of the vestibule of the gate, and leave by the same way.

⁴Then he brought me by way of the north gate to the facade of the temple, and when I looked I saw the glory of the LORD filling the LORD'S temple, and I fell prone.

⁵Then he said to me: Son of man, pay strict attention, look carefully, and listen intently to all that I will tell you about the statutes and laws of the LORD'S temple; be attentive in regard to those who are to be admitted to the temple and all those who are to be excluded from the sanctuary.

⁶Say to that rebellious house, the house of Israel: Thus says the Lord GOD: Enough of all these abominations of yours, O house of Israel!

⁷You have admitted foreigners, uncircumcised both in heart and flesh, to my sanctuary to profane it when you offered me food, fat, and blood; thus you have broken my covenant by all your abominations.

⁸Instead of caring for the service of my temple, you have appointed such as these to serve me in my sanctuary in your stead.

⁹Thus says the Lord GOD: No foreigners, uncircumcised in heart and in flesh, shall ever enter my sanctuary; none of the foreigners who live among the Israelites.

¹⁰But as for the Levites who departed from me when Israel strayed from me to pursue their idols, they shall bear the consequences of their sin.

¹¹They shall serve in my sanctuary as gatekeepers and temple servants; they shall slaughter the holocausts and the sacrifices for the people, and they shall stand before the people to minister for them.

¹²Because they used to minister for them before their idols, and became an occasion of sin to the house of Israel, therefore I have sworn an oath against them, says the Lord GOD: they shall bear the consequences of their sin.

¹³They shall no longer draw near me to serve as my priests, nor shall they touch any of my sacred things, or the most sacred things. Thus they shall bear their disgrace because of all their abominable deeds.

¹⁴But I will set them to the service of the temple, for all its work and for everything that is to be done in it.

¹⁵As for the levitical priests, however, the Zadokites who cared for my sanctuary when the Israelites strayed from me, they shall draw near me to minister to me, and they shall stand before me to offer me fat and blood, says the Lord GOD.

¹⁶It is they who shall enter my sanctuary, they who shall approach my table to minister to me, and they who shall carry out my service.

¹⁷Whenever they enter the gates of the inner court, they shall wear linen garments; they shall not put on anything woolen when they minister at the gates of the inner court or within the temple.

¹⁸They shall have linen turbans on their heads and linen drawers on their loins; they shall not gird themselves with anything that causes sweat.

¹⁹When they are to go out to the people in the outer court, they shall take off the garments in which they ministered and leave them in the chambers of the sanctuary, putting on other garments; thus they will not transmit holiness to the people with their garments.

²⁰They shall not shave their heads nor let their hair hang loose, but they shall keep their hair carefully trimmed.

²¹No priest shall drink wine when he is to enter the inner court.

²²They shall not take for their wives either widows or divorced women, but only virgins of the race of Israel; however, they may marry women who are the widows of priests.

²³They shall teach my people to distinguish between the sacred and the profane, and make known to them the difference between the clean and the unclean.

²⁴In capital cases they shall stand as judges, judging them according to my decrees. They shall observe my laws and statutes on all my festivals, and keep my sabbaths holy.

²⁵They shall not make themselves unclean by coming near any dead person, unless it be their father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or maiden sister; for these they may make themselves unclean.

²⁶After a priest has been cleansed, he must wait an additional seven days,

²⁷and on the day he enters the inner court to minister in the sanctuary, he shall present his sin offering, says the Lord GOD.

²⁸They shall have no inheritance, for I am their inheritance; you shall give them no property in Israel, for I am their property.

²⁹They shall eat the cereal offering, the sin offering, and the guilt offering; whatever is under the ban in Israel shall be theirs.

³⁰All the choicest first fruits of every kind, and all the best of your offerings of every kind, shall belong to the priests; likewise the best of your dough you shall give to the priests to bring a blessing down upon your house.

³¹The priests shall not eat anything, whether flesh or fowl, that has died of itself or has been killed by wild beasts.

45When you apportion the land into inheritances, you shall set apart a sacred tract of land for the LORD, twenty-five thousand cubits long and twenty thousand wide; its whole area shall be sacred.

²Of this land a square plot, five hundred by five hundred cubits, surrounded by a free space of fifty cubits, shall be assigned to the sanctuary.

³Also from this sector measure off a strip, twenty-five thousand cubits long and ten thousand wide, within which shall be the sanctuary, the holy of holies.

⁴This shall be the sacred part of the land belonging to the priests, the ministers of the sanctuary, who draw near to minister to the LORD; it shall be a place for their homes and pasture land for their cattle.

⁵Also there shall be a strip twenty-five thousand cubits long and ten thousand wide as property for the Levites, the ministers of the temple, that they may have cities to live in.

⁶As property of the City you shall designate a strip five thousand cubits wide and twenty-five thousand long, parallel to the sacred tract; this shall belong to the whole house of Israel.

⁷The prince shall have a section bordering on both sides of the combined sacred tract and City property, extending westward on the western side and eastward on the eastern side, corresponding in length to one of the tribal portions from the western boundary to the eastern boundary

⁸of the land. This shall be his property in Israel, so that the princes of Israel will no longer oppress my people, but will leave the land to the house of Israel according to their tribes.

⁹Thus says the Lord GOD: Enough, you princes of Israel! Put away violence and oppression, and do what is right and just! Stop evicting my people! says the Lord GOD.

¹⁰You shall have honest scales, an honest ephah, and an honest liquid measure.

¹¹The ephah and the liquid measure shall be of the same size: the liquid measure equal to a tenth of a homer, and the ephah equal to a tenth of a homer; by the homer they shall be determined.

¹²The shekel shall be twenty gerahs. Twenty shekels, twenty-five shekels, plus fifteen shekels shall be your mina.

¹³These are the offerings you shall make: one sixth of an ephah from each homer of wheat, and one sixth of an ephah from each homer of barley.

¹⁴The regulation for oil: for every measure of oil, a tenth of a measure, computed by the kor of ten liquid measures (or a homer, for ten liquid measures make a homer).

¹⁵One sheep from the flock for every two hundred from the pasturage of Israel, for sacrifice--holocausts and peace offerings and atonement sacrifices, says the Lord GOD.

¹⁶All the people of the land shall be bound to this offering (for the prince in Israel).

¹⁷It shall be the duty of the prince to provide the holocausts, cereal offerings, and libations on the feasts, new moons, and sabbaths, on all the festivals of the house of Israel. He shall offer the sin offerings, cereal offerings, holocausts, and peace offerings, to make atonement on behalf of the house of Israel.

¹⁸Thus says the Lord GOD: On the first day of the first month you shall use an unblemished young bull as a sacrifice to purify the sanctuary.

¹⁹Then the priest shall take some of the blood from the sin offering and put it on the doorposts of the temple, on the four corners of the ledge of the altar, and on the doorposts of the gates of the inner court.

²⁰You shall repeat this on the first day of the seventh month for those who have sinned through inadvertence or ignorance; thus you shall make atonement for the temple.

²¹On the fourteenth day of the first month you shall observe the feast of the Passover; for seven days unleavened bread is to be eaten.

²²On that day the prince shall offer on his own behalf, and on behalf of all the people of the land, a bull as a sin offering.

²³On each of the seven days of the feast he shall offer as a holocaust to the LORD seven bulls and seven rams without blemish, and as a sin offering he shall offer one male goat each day.

²⁴As a cereal offering he shall offer one ephah for each bull and one ephah for each ram; and he shall offer one hin of oil for each ephah.

²⁵On the fifteenth day of the seventh month, the feast day, and for seven days, he shall perform the same rites, making the same sin offerings, the same holocausts, the same cereal offerings and offerings of oil.

46 Thus says the Lord GOD: The gate toward the east of the inner court shall remain closed throughout the six working days, but on the sabbath and on the day of the new moon it shall be open.

²The prince shall enter from outside by way of the vestibule of the gate and remain standing at the doorpost of the gate; then while the priests offer his holocausts and peace offerings, he shall worship at the threshold of the gate and then leave; the gate shall not be closed until evening.

³The people of the land shall worship before the LORD at the door of this gate on the sabbaths and new moons.

⁴The holocausts which the prince presents to the LORD on the sabbath shall consist of six unblemished lambs and an unblemished ram, ⁵together with a cereal offering of one ephah for the ram, whatever he pleases for the lambs, and a hin of oil for each ephah.

⁶On the day of the new moon he shall provide an unblemished young bull, also six lambs and a ram without blemish,

⁷with a cereal offering of one ephah for the bull and one for the ram, for the lambs as much as he has at hand, and for each ephah a hin of oil.

⁸The prince shall always enter and depart by the vestibule of the gate.

⁹When the people of the land enter the presence of the LORD to worship on the festivals, if they enter by the north gate they shall leave by the south gate, and if they enter by the south gate they shall leave by the north gate; no one shall return by the gate through which he has entered, but he shall leave by the opposite gate.

¹⁰The prince shall be in their midst when they enter, and he shall also leave with them.

¹¹On the feasts and festivals the cereal offering shall be an ephah for a bull, an ephah for a ram, but for the lambs as much as one pleases, and a hin of oil with each ephah.

¹²When the prince makes a freewill offering to the LORD, whether holocausts or peace offerings, the eastern gate shall be opened for him, and he shall offer his holocausts or his peace offerings as on the sabbath; then he shall leave, and the gate shall be closed after his departure.

¹³He shall offer as a daily holocaust to the LORD an unblemished yearling lamb; this he shall offer every morning.

¹⁴With it every morning he shall provide as a cereal offering one sixth of an ephah, with a third of a hin of oil to moisten the fine flour. This cereal offering to the LORD is mandatory with the established holocaust.

¹⁵The lamb, the cereal offering, and the oil are to be offered every morning as an established holocaust.

¹⁶Thus says the Lord GOD: If the prince makes a gift of part of his inheritance to any of his sons, it shall belong to his sons; that property is theirs by inheritance.

¹⁷But if he makes a gift of part of his inheritance to one of his servants, it shall belong to the latter only until the year of release, when it shall revert to the prince. Only the inheritance given to his sons is permanent.

¹⁸The prince shall not seize any part of the inheritance of the people by evicting them from their property. He shall provide an inheritance for his sons from his own property, so that none of my people will be driven from their property.

¹⁹Then he brought me by the entrance which is on the side of the gate to the chambers (of the sanctuary, reserved to the priests) which face the north. There, at their west end, I saw a place,

²⁰concerning which he said to me, "Here the priests cook the guilt offerings and the sin offerings, and bake the cereal offerings, so that they do not have to take them into the outer court at the risk of transmitting holiness to the people."

²¹Then he led me into the outer court and had me pass around the four corners of the court, and I saw that in each corner there was another court:

²²in the four corners of the court, minor courts, forty cubits long and thirty wide, all four of them the same size.

²³A wall of stones surrounded each of the four, and hearths were built beneath the stones all the way around.

²⁴He said to me, "These are the kitchens where the temple ministers cook the sacrifices of the people."

47 Then he brought me back to the entrance of the temple, and I saw water flowing out from beneath the threshold of the temple toward the east, for the facade of the temple was toward the east; the water flowed down from the southern side of the temple, south of the altar.

² He led me outside by the north gate, and around to the outer gate facing the east, where I saw water trickling from the southern side.

³ Then when he had walked off to the east with a measuring cord in his hand, he measured off a thousand cubits and had me wade through the water, which was ankle-deep.

⁴ He measured off another thousand and once more had me wade through the water, which was now knee-deep. Again he measured off a thousand and had me wade; the water was up to my waist.

⁵ Once more he measured off a thousand, but there was now a river through which I could not wade; for the water had risen so high it had become a river that could not be crossed except by swimming.

⁶ He asked me, "Have you seen this, son of man?" Then he brought me to the bank of the river, where he had me sit.

⁷ Along the bank of the river I saw very many trees on both sides.

⁸ He said to me, "This water flows into the eastern district down upon the Arabah, and empties into the sea, the salt waters, which it makes fresh.

⁹ Wherever the river flows, every sort of living creature that can multiply shall live, and there shall be abundant fish, for wherever this water comes the sea shall be made fresh.

¹⁰ Fishermen shall be standing along it from En-gedi to En-eglaim, spreading their nets there. Its kinds of fish shall be like those of the Great Sea, very numerous.

¹¹ Only its marshes and swamps shall not be made fresh; they shall be left for salt.

¹² Along both banks of the river, fruit trees of every kind shall grow; their leaves shall not fade, nor their fruit fail. Every month they shall bear fresh fruit, for they shall be watered by the flow from the sanctuary. Their fruit shall serve for food, and their leaves for medicine."

¹³Thus says the Lord GOD: These are the boundaries within which you shall apportion the land among the twelve tribes of Israel (Joseph having two portions).

¹⁴All of you shall have a like portion in this land which I swore to give to your fathers, that it might fall to you as your inheritance.

¹⁵This is the boundary of the land on the north side: from the Great Sea in the direction of Hethlon, past Labo of Hamath, to Zedad, ¹⁶Berothah, and Sibraim, along the frontiers of Hamath and Damascus, to Hazar-enon which is on the border of the Hauran.

¹⁷Thus the border shall extend from the sea to Hazar-enon, with the frontier of Hamath and Damascus to the north. This is the northern boundary.

¹⁸The eastern boundary: between the Hauran--toward Damascus--and Gilead on the one side, and the land of Israel on the other side, the Jordan shall form the boundary down to the eastern sea as far as Tamar. This is the eastern boundary.

¹⁹The southern boundary: from Tamar to the waters of Meribath-kadesh, thence to the Wadi of Egypt, and on to the Great Sea. This is the southern boundary.

²⁰The western boundary: the Great Sea forms the boundary up to a point parallel to Labo of Hamath. This is the western boundary.

²¹You shall distribute this land among yourselves according to the tribes of Israel.

²²You shall allot it as inheritances for yourselves and for the aliens resident in your midst who have bred children among you. The latter shall be to you like native Israelites; along with you they shall receive inheritances among the tribes of Israel.

²³In whatever tribe the alien may be resident, there you shall assign him his inheritance, says the Lord GOD.

48 This is the list of the tribes. Dan: at the northern extremity, adjoining Hamath, all along from the approaches to Hethlon through Labo of Hamath to Hazar-enon, on the northerly border with Damascus, with his possession reaching from the eastern to the western boundary.

²Asher: on the frontier of Dan, from the eastern to the western boundary.

³Naphtali: on the frontier of Asher, from the eastern to the western boundary.

⁴Manasseh: on the frontier of Naphtali, from the eastern to the western boundary.

⁵Ephraim: on the frontier of Manasseh, from the eastern to the western boundary.

⁶Reuben: on the frontier of Ephraim, from the eastern to the western boundary.

⁷Judah: on the frontier of Reuben, from the eastern to the western boundary.

⁸On the frontier of Judah, from the eastern to the western boundary there shall be the tract which you shall set apart, twenty-five thousand cubits from north to south, and as wide as one of the tribal portions from the eastern to the western boundary. In the center of the tract shall be the sanctuary.

⁹The tract that you set aside for the LORD shall be twenty-five thousand cubits across by twenty thousand north and south.

¹⁰In this sacred tract the priests shall have twenty-five thousand cubits on the north, ten thousand on the west, ten thousand on the east, and twenty-five thousand on the south; and the sanctuary of the LORD shall be in its center.

¹¹The consecrated priests, the Zadokites, who fulfilled my service and did not stray along with the Israelites as the Levites did,

¹²shall have within this tract of land their own most sacred domain, next to the territory of the Levites.

¹³The Levites shall have a territory corresponding to that of the priests, twenty-five thousand cubits by ten thousand. The whole tract shall be twenty-five thousand cubits across and twenty thousand north and south.

¹⁴They may not sell or exchange or alienate this, the best part of the land, for it is sacred to the LORD.

¹⁵The remaining five thousand cubits along the twenty-five-thousand-cubit line are profane land, assigned to the City for dwellings and pasture; the City shall be at their center.

¹⁶These are the dimensions of the City: the north side, forty-five hundred cubits; the south side, forty-five hundred cubits; the east side, forty-five hundred cubits; and the west side, forty-five hundred cubits.

¹⁷The pasture lands of the City shall extend north two hundred and fifty cubits, south two hundred and fifty cubits, east two hundred and fifty cubits, and west two hundred and fifty cubits.

¹⁸There shall remain an area along the sacred tract, ten thousand cubits to the east and ten thousand to the west, whose produce shall provide food for the workers of the City.

¹⁹The workers in the City shall be taken from all the tribes of Israel.

²⁰The entire tract shall be twenty-five thousand by twenty-five thousand cubits; as a perfect square you shall set apart the sacred tract together with the City property.

²¹The remainder shall belong to the prince: the land on both sides of the sacred tract and the City property, extending along the twenty-five-thousand-cubit line eastward to the eastern boundary, and westward along the twenty-five-thousand-cubit line to the western boundary, a territory parallel with the tribal portions for the prince. The sacred tract and the sanctuary of the temple shall be in the middle.

²²Thus, except for the property of the Levites and the City property, which lie in the midst of the prince's property, the territory between the portions of Judah and of Benjamin shall belong to the prince.

²³These are the remaining tribes. Benjamin: from the eastern to the western boundary.

²⁴Simeon: on the frontier of Benjamin, from the eastern to the western boundary.

²⁵Issachar: on the frontier of Simeon, from the eastern to the western boundary.

²⁶Zebulun: on the frontier of Issachar, from the eastern to the western boundary.

²⁷Gad: on the frontier of Zebulun, from the eastern to the western boundary.

²⁸Along the frontier of Gad shall be the southern boundary, which shall extend from Tamar to the waters of Meribath-kadesh, and from there to the Wadi of Egypt, and on to the Great Sea.

²⁹Such is the land which you shall apportion as inheritances among the tribes of Israel, and these are their portions, says the Lord GOD.

³⁰These are the exits of the City, the gates of which are named after the tribes of Israel. On the north side, measuring forty-five hundred cubits, ³¹there shall be three gates: the gate of Reuben, the gate of Judah, and the gate of Levi.

³²On the east side, measuring forty-five hundred cubits, there shall be three gates: the gate of Joseph, the gate of Benjamin, and the gate of Dan.

³³On the south side, measuring forty-five hundred cubits, there shall be three gates: the gate of Simeon, the gate of Issachar, and the gate of Zebulun.

³⁴On the west side, measuring forty-five hundred cubits, there shall be three gates: the gate of Gad, the gate of Asher, and the gate of Naphtali.

³⁵The perimeter of the City is eighteen thousand cubits. The name of the City shall henceforth be "The LORD is here."

Daniel

1 In the third year of the reign of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon came and laid siege to Jerusalem.

2 The Lord handed over to him Jehoiakim, king of Judah, and some of the vessels of the temple of God, which he carried off to the land of Shinar, and placed in the temple treasury of his god.

3 The king told Ashpenaz, his chief chamberlain, to bring in some of the Israelites of royal blood and of the nobility,

4 young men without any defect, handsome, intelligent and wise, quick to learn, and prudent in judgment, such as could take their place in the king's palace; they were to be taught the language and literature of the Chaldeans;

5 after three years' training they were to enter the king's service. The king allotted them a daily portion of food and wine from the royal table.

6 Among these were men of Judah: Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah.

7 The chief chamberlain changed their names: Daniel to Belteshazzar, Hananiah to Shadrach, Mishael to Meshach, and Azariah to Abednego.

8 But Daniel was resolved not to defile himself with the king's food or wine; so he begged the chief chamberlain to spare him this defilement.

9 Though God had given Daniel the favor and sympathy of the chief chamberlain,

10 he nevertheless said to Daniel, "I am afraid of my lord the king; it is he who allotted your food and drink. If he sees that you look wretched by comparison with the other young men of your age, you will endanger my life with the king."

11 Then Daniel said to the steward whom the chief chamberlain had put in charge of Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah,

12 "Please test your servants for ten days. Give us vegetables to eat and water to drink."

¹³Then see how we look in comparison with the other young men who eat from the royal table, and treat your servants according to what you see."

¹⁴He acceded to this request, and tested them for ten days;

¹⁵after ten days they looked healthier and better fed than any of the young men who ate from the royal table.

¹⁶So the steward continued to take away the food and wine they were to receive, and gave them vegetables.

¹⁷To these four young men God gave knowledge and proficiency in all literature and science, and to Daniel the understanding of all visions and dreams.

¹⁸At the end of the time the king had specified for their preparation, the chief chamberlain brought them before Nebuchadnezzar.

¹⁹When the king had spoken with all of them, none was found equal to Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah; and so they entered the king's service.

²⁰In any question of wisdom or prudence which the king put to them, he found them ten times better than all the magicians and enchanters in his kingdom.

²¹Daniel remained there until the first year of King Cyrus.

2In the second year of his reign, King Nebuchadnezzar had a dream which left his spirit no rest and robbed him of his sleep.

²So he ordered that the magicians, enchanters, sorcerers, and Chaldeans be summoned to interpret the dream for him. When they came and presented themselves to the king,

³he said to them, "I had a dream which will allow my spirit no rest until I know what it means."

⁴The Chaldeans answered the king (Aramaic): "O king, live forever! Tell your servants the dream and we will give its meaning."

⁵The king answered the Chaldeans, "This is what I have decided: unless you tell me the dream and its meaning, you shall be cut to pieces and your houses destroyed.

⁶But if you tell me the dream and its meaning, you shall receive from me gifts and presents and great honors. Now tell me the dream and its meaning."

⁷Again they answered, "Let the king tell his servants the dream and we will give its meaning."

⁸But the king replied: "I know for certain that you are bargaining for time, since you know what I have decided.

⁹If you do not tell me the dream, there can be but one decree for you. You have framed a false and deceitful interpretation to present me with till the crisis is past. Tell me the dream, therefore, that I may be sure that you can also give its correct interpretation."

¹⁰The Chaldeans answered the king: "There is not a man on earth who can do what you ask, O king; never has any king, however great and mighty, asked such a thing of any magician, enchanter, or Chaldean.

¹¹What you demand, O king, is too difficult; there is no one who can tell it to the king except the gods who do not dwell among men."

¹²At this the king became violently angry and ordered all the wise men of Babylon to be put to death.

¹³When the decree was issued that the wise men should be slain, Daniel and his companions were also sought out.

¹⁴Then Daniel prudently took counsel with Arioch, the captain of the king's guard, who had set out to kill the wise men of Babylon:

¹⁵"O officer of the king," he asked, "what is the reason for this harsh order from the king?" When Arioch told him, ¹⁶Daniel went and asked for time from the king, that he might give him the interpretation.

¹⁷Daniel went home and informed his companions Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, ¹⁸that they might implore the mercy of the God of heaven in regard to this mystery, so that Daniel and his companions might not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babylon.

¹⁹During the night the mystery was revealed to Daniel in a vision, and he blessed the God of heaven:

²⁰"Blessed be the name of God forever and ever, for wisdom and power are his.

²¹He causes the changes of the times and seasons, makes kings and unmakes them. He gives wisdom to the wise and knowledge to those who understand.

²²He reveals deep and hidden things and knows what is in the darkness, for the light dwells with him.

²³To you, O God of my fathers, I give thanks and praise, because you have given me wisdom and power. Now you have shown me what we asked of you, you have made known to us the king's dream."

²⁴So Daniel went to Arioch, whom the king had appointed to destroy the wise men of Babylon, and said to him, "Do not put the wise men of Babylon to death. Bring me before the king, and I will tell him the interpretation of the dream." Arioch quickly brought Daniel to the king and said,

²⁵"I have found a man among the Judean captives who can give the interpretation to the king."

²⁶The king asked Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, "Can you tell me the dream that I had, and its meaning?"

²⁷In the king's presence Daniel made this reply: "The mystery about which the king has inquired, the wise men, enchanters, magicians, and astrologers could not explain to the king.

²⁸But there is a God in heaven who reveals mysteries, and he has shown King Nebuchadnezzar what is to happen in days to come; this was the dream you saw as you lay in bed.

²⁹To you in your bed there came thoughts about what should happen in the future, and he who reveals mysteries showed you what is to be.

³⁰To me also this mystery has been revealed; not that I am wiser than any other living person, but in order that its meaning may be made known to the king, that you may understand the thoughts in your own mind.

³¹"In your vision, O king, you saw a statue, very large and exceedingly bright, terrifying in appearance as it stood before you.

³²The head of the statue was pure gold, its chest and arms were silver, its belly and thighs bronze,

³³the legs iron, its feet partly iron and partly tile.

³⁴While you looked at the statue, a stone which was hewn from a mountain without a hand being put to it, struck its iron and tile feet, breaking them in pieces.

³⁵The iron, tile, bronze, silver, and gold all crumbled at once, fine as the chaff on the threshing floor in summer, and the wind blew them away without leaving a trace. But the stone that struck the statue became a great mountain and filled the whole earth.

³⁶"This was the dream; the interpretation we shall also give in the king's presence.

³⁷You, O king, are the king of kings; to you the God of heaven has given dominion and strength, power and glory;

³⁸men, wild beasts, and birds of the air, wherever they may dwell, he has handed over to you, making you ruler over them all; you are the head of gold.

³⁹Another kingdom shall take your place, inferior to yours, then a third kingdom, of bronze, which shall rule over the whole earth.

⁴⁰There shall be a fourth kingdom, strong as iron; it shall break in pieces and subdue all these others, just as iron breaks in pieces and crushes everything else.

⁴¹The feet and toes you saw, partly of potter's tile and partly of iron, mean that it shall be a divided kingdom, but yet have some of the hardness of iron. As you saw the iron mixed with clay tile,

⁴²and the toes partly iron and partly tile, the kingdom shall be partly strong and partly fragile.

⁴³The iron mixed with clay tile means that they shall seal their alliances by intermarriage, but they shall not stay united, any more than iron mixes with clay.

⁴⁴In the lifetime of those kings the God of heaven will set up a kingdom that shall never be destroyed or delivered up to another people; rather, it shall break in pieces all these kingdoms and put an end to them, and it shall stand forever.

⁴⁵That is the meaning of the stone you saw hewn from the mountain without a hand being put to it, which broke in pieces the tile, iron, bronze, silver, and gold. The great God has revealed to the king what shall be in the future; this is exactly what you dreamed, and its meaning is sure."

⁴⁶Then King Nebuchadnezzar fell down and worshiped Daniel and ordered sacrifice and incense offered to him.

⁴⁷To Daniel the king said, "Truly your God is the God of gods and Lord of kings and a revealer of mysteries; that is why you were able to reveal this mystery."

⁴⁸He advanced Daniel to a high post, gave him many generous presents, made him ruler of the whole province of Babylon and chief prefect over all the wise men of Babylon.

⁴⁹At Daniel's request the king made Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego administrators of the province of Babylon, while Daniel himself remained at the king's court.

3 King Nebuchadnezzar had a golden statue made, sixty cubits high and six cubits wide, which he set up in the plain of Dura in the province of Babylon.

²He then ordered the satraps, prefects, and governors, the counselors, treasurers, judges, magistrates and all the officials of the provinces to be summoned to the dedication of the statue which he had set up.

³The satraps, prefects, and governors, the counselors, treasurers, judges, and magistrates and all the officials of the provinces, all these came together for the dedication and stood before the statue which King Nebuchadnezzar had set up.

⁴A herald cried out: "Nations and peoples of every language, when you hear the sound of the trumpet, flute, lyre, harp, psaltery, bagpipe, and all the other musical instruments,

⁵you are ordered to fall down and worship the golden statue which King Nebuchadnezzar has set up.

⁶Whoever does not fall down and worship shall be instantly cast into a white-hot furnace."

⁷Therefore, as soon as they heard the sound of the trumpet, flute, lyre, harp, psaltery, bagpipe, and all the other musical instruments, the nations and peoples of every language all fell down and worshiped the golden statue which King Nebuchadnezzar had set up.

⁸At that point, some of the Chaldeans came and accused the Jews

⁹to King Nebuchadnezzar: "O king, live forever!

¹⁰O king, you issued a decree that everyone who heard the sound of the trumpet, flute, lyre, harp, psaltery, bagpipe, and all the other musical instruments should fall down and worship the golden statue;

¹¹whoever did not was to be cast into a white-hot furnace.

¹²There are certain Jews whom you have made administrators of the province of Babylon: Shadrach, Meshach, Abednego; these men, O king, have paid no attention to you; they will not serve your god or worship the golden statue which you set up."

¹³Nebuchadnezzar flew into a rage and sent for Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who were promptly brought before the king.

¹⁴King Nebuchadnezzar questioned them: "Is it true, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, that you will not serve my god, or worship the golden statue that I set up?"

¹⁵Be ready now to fall down and worship the statue I had made, whenever you hear the sound of the trumpet, flute, lyre, harp, psaltery, bagpipe, and all the other musical instruments; otherwise, you shall be instantly cast into the white-hot furnace; and who is the God that can deliver you out of my hands?"

¹⁶Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered King Nebuchadnezzar, "There is no need for us to defend ourselves before you in this matter.

¹⁷If our God, whom we serve, can save us from the white-hot furnace and from your hands, O king, may he save us!

¹⁸But even if he will not, know, O king, that we will not serve your god or worship the golden statue which you set up."

¹⁹Nebuchadnezzar's face became livid with utter rage against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego. He ordered the furnace to be heated seven times more than usual

²⁰and had some of the strongest men in his army bind Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego and cast them into the white-hot furnace.

²¹They were bound and cast into the white-hot furnace with their coats, hats, shoes and other garments,

²²for the king's order was urgent. So huge a fire was kindled in the furnace that the flames devoured the men who threw Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego into it.

²³But these three fell, bound, into the midst of the white-hot furnace.

²⁴They walked about in the flames, singing to God and blessing the Lord.

²⁵In the fire Azariah stood up and prayed aloud:

²⁶"Blessed are you, and praiseworthy, O Lord, the God of our fathers, and glorious forever is your name.

²⁷For you are just in all you have done; all your deeds are faultless, all your ways right, and all your judgments proper.

²⁸You have executed proper judgments in all that you have brought upon us and upon Jerusalem, the holy city of our fathers. By a proper judgment you have done all this because of our sins;

²⁹For we have sinned and transgressed by departing from you, and we have done every kind of evil.

³⁰Your commandments we have not heeded or observed, nor have we done as you ordered us for our good.

³¹Therefore all you have brought upon us, all you have done to us, you have done by a proper judgment.

³²You have handed us over to our enemies, lawless and hateful rebels; to an unjust king, the worst in all the world.

³³Now we cannot open our mouths; we, your servants, who revere you, have become a shame and a reproach.

³⁴For your name's sake, do not deliver us up forever, or make void your covenant.

³⁵Do not take away your mercy from us, for the sake of Abraham, your beloved, Isaac your servant, and Israel your holy one,

³⁶To whom you promised to multiply their offspring like the stars of heaven, or the sand on the shore of the sea.

³⁷For we are reduced, O Lord, beyond any other nation, brought low everywhere in the world this day because of our sins.

³⁸We have in our day no prince, prophet, or leader, no holocaust, sacrifice, oblation, or incense, no place to offer first fruits, to find favor with you.

³⁹But with contrite heart and humble spirit let us be received;

⁴⁰As though it were holocausts of rams and bullocks, or thousands of fat lambs, So let our sacrifice be in your presence today as we follow you unreservedly; for those who trust in you cannot be put to shame.

⁴¹And now we follow you with our whole heart, we fear you and we pray to you.

⁴²Do not let us be put to shame, but deal with us in your kindness and great mercy.

⁴³Deliver us by your wonders, and bring glory to your name, O Lord:

⁴⁴Let all those be routed who inflict evils on your servants; Let them be shamed and powerless, and their strength broken;

⁴⁵Let them know that you alone are the Lord God, glorious over the whole world."

⁴⁶Now the king's men who had thrown them in continued to stoke the furnace with brimstone, pitch, tow, and faggots.

⁴⁷The flames rose forty-nine cubits above the furnace,

⁴⁸and spread out, burning the Chaldeans nearby.

⁴⁹But the angel of the Lord went down into the furnace with Azariah and his companions, drove the fiery flames out of the furnace, ⁵⁰and made the inside of the furnace as though a dew-laden breeze were blowing through it. The fire in no way touched them or caused them pain or harm.

- ⁵¹Then these three in the furnace with one voice sang, glorifying and blessing God:
- ⁵²"Blessed are you, O Lord, the God of our fathers, praiseworthy and exalted above all forever; And blessed is your holy and glorious name, praiseworthy and exalted above all for all ages.
- ⁵³Blessed are you in the temple of your holy glory, praiseworthy and glorious above all forever.
- ⁵⁴Blessed are you on the throne of your kingdom, praiseworthy and exalted above all forever.
- ⁵⁵Blessed are you who look into the depths from your throne upon the cherubim, praiseworthy and exalted above all forever.
- ⁵⁶Blessed are you in the firmament of heaven, praiseworthy and glorious forever.
- ⁵⁷Bless the Lord, all you works of the Lord, praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁵⁸Angels of the Lord, bless the Lord, praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁵⁹You heavens, bless the Lord, praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁶⁰All you waters above the heavens, bless the Lord, praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁶¹All you hosts of the Lord, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁶²Sun and moon, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁶³Stars of heaven, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁶⁴Every shower and dew, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁶⁵All you winds, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁶⁶Fire and heat, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁶⁷[Cold and chill, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁶⁸Dew and rain, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.

- ⁶⁹Frost and chill, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁷⁰Ice and snow, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁷¹Nights and days, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁷²Light and darkness, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁷³Lightnings and clouds, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁷⁴Let the earth bless the Lord, praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁷⁵Mountains and hills, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁷⁶Everything growing from the earth, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁷⁷You springs, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁷⁸Seas and rivers, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁷⁹You dolphins and all water creatures, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁸⁰All you birds of the air, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁸¹All you beasts, wild and tame, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁸²You sons of men, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁸³O Israel, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁸⁴Priests of the Lord, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁸⁵Servants of the Lord, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁸⁶Spirits and souls of the just, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.
- ⁸⁷Holy men of humble heart, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever.

⁸⁸Hananiah, Azariah, Mishael, bless the Lord; praise and exalt him above all forever. For he has delivered us from the nether world, and saved us from the power of death; He has freed us from the raging flame and delivered us from the fire.

⁸⁹Give thanks to the Lord, for he is good, for his mercy endures forever.

⁹⁰Bless the God of gods, all you who fear the Lord; praise him and give him thanks, because his mercy endures forever." Hearing them sing, and astonished at seeing them alive, ⁹¹King Nebuchadnezzar rose in haste and asked his nobles, "Did we not cast three men bound into the fire?" "Assuredly, O king," they answered.

⁹²"But," he replied, "I see four men unfettered and unhurt, walking in the fire, and the fourth looks like a son of God."

⁹³Then Nebuchadnezzar came to the opening of the white-hot furnace and called to Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: "Servants of the most high God, come out." Thereupon Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego came out of the fire.

⁹⁴When the satraps, prefects, governors, and nobles of the king came together, they saw that the fire had had no power over the bodies of these men; not a hair of their heads had been singed, nor were their garments altered; there was not even a smell of fire about them.

⁹⁵Nebuchadnezzar exclaimed, "Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who sent his angel to deliver the servants that trusted in him; they disobeyed the royal command and yielded their bodies rather than serve or worship any god except their own God.

⁹⁶Therefore I decree for nations and peoples of every language that whoever blasphemes the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego shall be cut to pieces and his house destroyed. For there is no other God who can rescue like this."

⁹⁷Then the king promoted Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego in the province of Babylon.

⁹⁸King Nebuchadnezzar to the nations and peoples of every language, wherever they dwell on earth: abundant peace!

⁹⁹It has seemed good to me to publish the signs and wonders which the most high God has accomplished in my regard.

¹⁰⁰How great are his signs, how mighty his wonders; his kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and his dominion endures through all generations.

4I, Nebuchadnezzar, was at home in my palace, content and prosperous.

²I had a terrifying dream as I lay in bed, and the images and the visions of my mind frightened me.

³So I issued a decree that all the wise men of Babylon should be brought before me to give the interpretation of the dream.

⁴When the magicians, enchanters, Chaldeans, and astrologers had come in, I related the dream before them; but none of them could tell me its meaning.

⁵Finally there came before me Daniel, whose name is Beltshazzar after the name of my god, and in whom is the spirit of the holy God. I repeated the dream to him:

⁶"Beltshazzar, chief of the magicians, I know that the spirit of the holy God is in you and no mystery is too difficult for you; tell me the meaning of the visions that I saw in my dream.

⁷"These were the visions I saw while in bed: I saw a tree of great height at the center of the world.

⁸It was large and strong, with its top touching the heavens, and it could be seen to the ends of the earth.

⁹Its leaves were beautiful and its fruit abundant, providing food for all. Under it the wild beasts found shade, in its branches the birds of the air nested; all men ate of it.

¹⁰In the vision I saw while in bed, a holy sentinel came down from heaven, ¹¹and cried out: "Cut down the tree and lop off its branches, strip off its leaves and scatter its fruit; let the beasts flee its shade, and the birds its branches.

¹²But leave in the earth its stump and roots, fettered with iron and bronze, in the grass of the field. Let him be bathed with the dew of heaven; his lot be to eat, among beasts, the grass of the earth.

¹³Let his mind be changed from the human; let him be given the sense of a beast, till seven years pass over him.

¹⁴By decree of the sentinels is this decided, by order of the holy ones, this sentence; That all who live may know that the Most High rules over the kingdom of men: He can give it to whom he will, or set over it the lowliest of men.'

¹⁵"This is the dream that I, King Nebuchadnezzar, had. Now, Belteshazzar, tell me its meaning. Although none of the wise men in my kingdom can tell me the meaning, you can, because the spirit of the holy God is in you."

¹⁶Then Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, was appalled for a while, terrified by his thoughts. "Belteshazzar," the king said to him, "let not the dream or its meaning terrify you."

¹⁷"My lord," Belteshazzar replied, "this dream should be for your enemies, and its meaning for your foes. The large, strong tree that you saw, with its top touching the heavens, that could be seen by the whole earth,

¹⁸which had beautiful foliage and abundant fruit, providing food for all, under which the wild beasts lived, and in whose branches the birds of the air dwelt--

¹⁹you are that tree, O king, large and strong! Your majesty has become so great as to touch the heavens, and your rule extends over the whole earth.

²⁰As for the king's vision of a holy sentinel that came down from heaven and proclaimed: 'Cut down the tree and destroy it, but leave in the earth its stump and roots, fettered with iron and bronze in the grass of the field; let him be bathed with the dew of heaven, and let his lot be among wild beasts till seven years pass over him'--

²¹this is its meaning, O king; this is the sentence which the Most High has passed upon my lord king:

²²You shall be cast out from among men and dwell with wild beasts; you shall be given grass to eat like an ox and be bathed with the dew of heaven; seven years shall pass over you, until you know that the Most High rules over the kingdom of men and gives it to whom he will.

²³The command that the stump and roots of the tree are to be left means that your kingdom shall be preserved for you, once you have learned it is heaven that rules.

²⁴Therefore, O king, take my advice; atone for your sins by good deeds, and for your misdeeds by kindness to the poor; then your prosperity will be long."

²⁵All this happened to King Nebuchadnezzar.

²⁶Twelve months later, as he was walking on the roof of the royal palace in Babylon,

²⁷the king said, "Babylon the great! Was it not I, with my great strength, who built it as a royal residence for my splendor and majesty?"

²⁸While these words were still on the king's lips, a voice spoke from heaven, "It has been decreed for you, King Nebuchadnezzar, that your kingdom is taken from you!

²⁹You shall be cast out from among men, and shall dwell with wild beasts; you shall be given grass to eat like an ox, and seven years shall pass over you, until you learn that the Most High rules over the kingdom of men and gives it to whom he will."

³⁰At once this was fulfilled. Nebuchadnezzar was cast out from among men, he ate grass like an ox, and his body was bathed with the dew of heaven, until his hair grew like the feathers of an eagle, and his nails like the claws of a bird.

³¹When this period was over, I, Nebuchadnezzar, raised my eyes to heaven; my reason was restored to me, and I blessed the Most High, I praised and glorified him who lives forever: His dominion is an everlasting dominion, and his kingdom endures through all generations.

³²All who live on the earth are counted as nothing; he does as he pleases with the powers of heaven as well as with those who live on the earth. There is no one who can stay his hand or say to him, "What have you done?"

³³At the same time my reason returned to me, and for the glory of my kingdom, my majesty and my splendor returned to me. My nobles and lords sought me out; I was restored to my kingdom, and became much greater than before.

³⁴Therefore, I, Nebuchadnezzar, now praise and exalt and glorify the King of heaven, because all his works are right and his ways just; and those who walk in pride he is able to humble.

5 King Belshazzar gave a great banquet for a thousand of his lords, with whom he drank.

²Under the influence of the wine, he ordered the gold and silver vessels which Nebuchadnezzar, his father, had taken from the temple in Jerusalem, to be brought in so that the king, his lords, his wives and his entertainers might drink from them.

³When the gold and silver vessels taken from the house of God in Jerusalem had been brought in, and while the king, his lords, his wives and his entertainers were drinking ⁴wine from them, they praised their gods of gold and silver, bronze and iron, wood and stone.

⁵Suddenly, opposite the lampstand, the fingers of a human hand appeared, writing on the plaster of the wall in the king's palace. When the king saw the wrist and hand that wrote, ⁶his face blanched; his thoughts terrified him, his hip joints shook, and his knees knocked.

⁷The king shouted for the enchanters, Chaldeans, and astrologers to be brought in. "Whoever reads this writing and tells me what it means," he said to the wise men of Babylon, "shall be clothed in purple, wear a golden collar about his neck, and be third in the government of the kingdom."

⁸But though all the king's wise men came in, none of them could either read the writing or tell the king what it meant.

⁹Then King Belshazzar was greatly terrified; his face went ashen, and his lords were thrown into confusion.

¹⁰When the queen heard of the discussion between the king and his lords, she entered the banquet hall and said, "O king, live forever! Be not troubled in mind, nor look so pale!"

¹¹There is a man in your kingdom in whom is the spirit of the holy God; during the lifetime of your father he was seen to have brilliant knowledge and god-like wisdom. In fact, King Nebuchadnezzar, your father, made him chief of the magicians, enchanters, Chaldeans, and astrologers,

¹²because of the extraordinary mind possessed by this Daniel, whom the king named Belteshazzar. He knew and understood how to interpret dreams, explain enigmas, and solve difficulties. Now therefore, summon Daniel to tell you what this means."

¹³Then Daniel was brought into the presence of the king. The king asked him, "Are you the Daniel, the Jewish exile, whom my father, the king, brought from Judah?"

¹⁴I have heard that the spirit of God is in you, that you possess brilliant knowledge and extraordinary wisdom.

¹⁵Now, the wise men and enchanters were brought in to me to read this writing and tell me its meaning, but they could not say what the words meant.

¹⁶But I have heard that you can interpret dreams and solve difficulties; if you are able to read the writing and tell me what it means, you shall be clothed in purple, wear a gold collar about your neck, and be third in the government of the kingdom."

¹⁷Daniel answered the king: "You may keep your gifts, or give your presents to someone else; but the writing I will read for you, O king, and tell you what it means.

¹⁸The Most High God gave your father Nebuchadnezzar a great kingdom and glorious majesty.

¹⁹Because he made him so great, the nations and peoples of every language dreaded and feared him. Whomever he wished, he killed or let live; whomever he wished, he exalted or humbled.

²⁰But when his heart became proud and his spirit hardened by insolence, he was put down from his royal throne and deprived of his glory;

²¹he was cast out from among men and was made insensate as a beast; he lived with wild asses, and ate grass like an ox; his body was bathed with the dew of heaven, until he learned that the Most High God rules over the kingdom of men and appoints over it whom he will.

²²You, his son, Belshazzar, have not humbled your heart, though you knew all this;

²³you have rebelled against the Lord of heaven. You had the vessels of his temple brought before you, so that you and your nobles, your wives and your entertainers, might drink wine from them; and you praised the gods of silver and gold, bronze and iron, wood and stone, that neither see nor hear nor have intelligence. But the God in whose hand is your life breath and the whole course of your life, you did not glorify.

²⁴By him were the wrist and hand sent, and the writing set down.

²⁵"This is the writing that was inscribed: MENE, TEKEL, and PERES. These words mean:

²⁶MENE, God has numbered your kingdom and put an end to it;

²⁷TEKEL, you have been weighed on the scales and found wanting;

²⁸PERES, your kingdom has been divided and given to the Medes and Persians."

²⁹Then by order of Belshazzar they clothed Daniel in purple, with a gold collar about his neck, and proclaimed him third in the government of the kingdom.

³⁰The same night Belshazzar, the Chaldean king, was slain:

6 And Darius the Mede succeeded to the kingdom at the age of sixty-two.

²Darius decided to appoint over his entire kingdom one hundred and twenty satraps, to safeguard his interests;

³these were accountable to three supervisors, one of whom was Daniel.

⁴Daniel outshone all the supervisors and satraps because an extraordinary spirit was in him, and the king thought of giving him authority over the entire kingdom.

⁵Therefore the supervisors and satraps tried to find grounds for accusation against Daniel as regards the administration. But they could accuse him of no wrongdoing; because he was trustworthy, no fault of neglect or misconduct was to be found in him.

⁶Then these men said to themselves, "We shall find no grounds for accusation against this Daniel unless by way of the law of his God."

⁷So these supervisors and satraps went thronging to the king and said to him, "King Darius, live forever!

⁸All the supervisors of the kingdom, the prefects, satraps, nobles, and governors are agreed that the following prohibition ought to be put in force by royal decree: no one is to address any petition to god or man for thirty days, except to you, O king; otherwise he shall be cast into a den of lions.

⁹Now, O king, issue the prohibition over your signature, immutable and irrevocable under Mede and Persian law."

¹⁰So King Darius signed the prohibition and made it law.

¹¹Even after Daniel heard that this law had been signed, he continued his custom of going home to kneel in prayer and give thanks to his God in the upper chamber three times a day, with the windows open toward Jerusalem.

¹²So these men rushed in and found Daniel praying and pleading before his God.

¹³Then they went to remind the king about the prohibition: "Did you not decree, O king, that no one is to address a petition to god or man for thirty days, except to you, O king; otherwise he shall be cast into a den of lions?" The king answered them, "The decree is absolute, irrevocable under the Mede and Persian law."

¹⁴To this they replied, "Daniel, the Jewish exile, has paid no attention to you, O king, or to the decree you issued; three times a day he offers his prayer."

¹⁵The king was deeply grieved at this news and he made up his mind to save Daniel; he worked till sunset to rescue him.

¹⁶But these men insisted. "Keep in mind, O king," they said, "that under the Mede and Persian law every royal prohibition or decree is irrevocable."

¹⁷So the king ordered Daniel to be brought and cast into the lions' den. To Daniel he said, "May your God, whom you serve so constantly, save you."

¹⁸To forestall any tampering, the king sealed with his own ring and the rings of the lords the stone that had been brought to block the opening of the den.

¹⁹Then the king returned to his palace for the night; he refused to eat and he dismissed the entertainers. Since sleep was impossible for him, ²⁰the king rose very early the next morning and hastened to the lions' den.

²¹As he drew near, he cried out to Daniel sorrowfully, "O Daniel, servant of the living God, has the God whom you serve so constantly been able to save you from the lions?"

²²Daniel answered the king: "O king, live forever!

²³My God has sent his angel and closed the lions' mouths so that they have not hurt me. For I have been found innocent before him; neither to you have I done any harm, O king!"

²⁴This gave the king great joy. At his order Daniel was removed from the den, unharmed because he trusted in his God.

²⁵The king then ordered the men who had accused Daniel, along with their children and their wives, to be cast into the lions' den. Before they reached the bottom of the den, the lions overpowered them and crushed all their bones.

²⁶Then King Darius wrote to the nations and peoples of every language, wherever they dwell on the earth: "All peace to you!"

²⁷I decree that throughout my royal domain the God of Daniel is to be revered and feared: "For he is the living God, enduring forever; his kingdom shall not be destroyed, and his dominion shall be without end.

²⁸He is a deliverer and savior, working signs and wonders in heaven and on earth, and he delivered Daniel from the lions' power."

²⁹So Daniel fared well during the reign of Darius and the reign of Cyrus the Persian.

7 In the first year of King Belshazzar of Babylon, Daniel had a dream as he lay in bed, and was terrified by the visions of his mind. Then he wrote down the dream; the account began:

²In the vision I saw during the night, suddenly the four winds of heaven stirred up the great sea,

³from which emerged four immense beasts, each different from the others.

⁴The first was like a lion, but with eagle's wings. While I watched, the wings were plucked; it was raised from the ground to stand on two feet like a man, and given a human mind.

⁵The second was like a bear; it was raised up on one side, and among the teeth in its mouth were three tusks. It was given the order, "Up, devour much flesh."

⁶After this I looked and saw another beast, like a leopard; on its back were four wings like those of a bird, and it had four heads. To this beast dominion was given.

⁷After this, in the visions of the night I saw the fourth beast, different from all the others, terrifying, horrible, and of extraordinary strength; it had great iron teeth with which it devoured and crushed, and what was left it trampled with its feet.

⁸I was considering the ten horns it had, when suddenly another, a little horn, sprang out of their midst, and three of the previous horns were torn away to make room for it. This horn had eyes like a man, and a mouth that spoke arrogantly.

⁹As I watched, Thrones were set up and the Ancient One took his throne. His clothing was snow bright, and the hair on his head as white as wool; His throne was flames of fire, with wheels of burning fire.

¹⁰A surging stream of fire flowed out from where he sat; Thousands upon thousands were ministering to him, and myriads upon myriads attended him. The court was convened, and the books were opened.

¹¹I watched, then, from the first of the arrogant words which the horn spoke, until the beast was slain and its body thrown into the fire to be burnt up.

¹²The other beasts, which also lost their dominion, were granted a prolongation of life for a time and a season.

¹³As the visions during the night continued, I saw One like a son of man coming, on the clouds of heaven; When he reached the Ancient One and was presented before him, ¹⁴He received dominion, glory, and kingship; nations and peoples of every language serve him. His dominion is an everlasting dominion that shall not be taken away, his kingship shall not be destroyed.

¹⁵I, Daniel, found my spirit anguished within its sheath of flesh, and I was terrified by the visions of my mind.

¹⁶I approached one of those present and asked him what all this meant in truth; in answer, he made known to me the meaning of the things:

¹⁷"These four great beasts stand for four kingdoms which shall arise on the earth.

¹⁸But the holy ones of the Most High shall receive the kingship, to possess it forever and ever."

¹⁹But I wished to make certain about the fourth beast, so very terrible and different from the others, devouring and crushing with its iron teeth and bronze claws, and trampling with its feet what was left;

²⁰about the ten horns on its head, and the other one that sprang up, before which three horns fell; about the horn with the eyes and the mouth that spoke arrogantly, which appeared greater than its fellows.

²¹For, as I watched, that horn made war against the holy ones and was victorious

²²until the Ancient One arrived; judgment was pronounced in favor of the holy ones of the Most High, and the time came when the holy ones possessed the kingdom.

²³He answered me thus: "The fourth beast shall be a fourth kingdom on earth, different from all the others; It shall devour the whole earth, beat it down, and crush it.

²⁴The ten horns shall be ten kings rising out of that kingdom; another shall rise up after them, Different from those before him, who shall lay low three kings.

²⁵He shall speak against the Most High and oppress the holy ones of the Most High, thinking to change the feast days and the law. They shall be handed over to him for a year, two years, and a half-year.

²⁶But when the court is convened, and his power is taken away by final and absolute destruction,

²⁷Then the kingship and dominion and majesty of all the kingdoms under the heavens shall be given to the holy people of the Most High, Whose kingdom shall be everlasting: all dominions shall serve and obey him."

²⁸The report concluded: I, Daniel, was greatly terrified by my thoughts, and my face blanched, but I kept the matter to myself.

8 After this first vision, I, Daniel, had another, in the third year of the reign of King Belshazzar.

²In my vision I saw myself in the fortress of Susa in the province of Elam; I was beside the river Ulai.

³I looked up and saw standing by the river a ram with two great horns, the one larger and newer than the other.

⁴I saw the ram butting toward the west, north, and south. No beast could withstand it or be rescued from its power; it did what it pleased and became very powerful.

⁵As I was reflecting, a he-goat with a prominent horn on its forehead suddenly came from the west across the whole earth without touching the ground.

⁶It approached the two-horned ram I had seen standing by the river, and rushed toward it with savage force.

⁷I saw it attack the ram with furious blows when they met, and break both its horns. It threw the ram, which had not the force to withstand it, to the ground, and trampled upon it; and no one could rescue it from its power.

⁸The he-goat became very powerful, but at the height of its power the great horn was shattered, and in its place came up four others, facing the four winds of heaven.

⁹Out of one of them came a little horn which kept growing toward the south, the east, and the glorious country.

¹⁰Its power extended to the host of heaven, so that it cast down to earth some of the host and some of the stars and trampled on them.

¹¹It boasted even against the prince of the host, from whom it removed the daily sacrifice, and whose sanctuary it cast down,

¹²as well as the host, while sin replaced the daily sacrifice. It cast truth to the ground, and was succeeding in its undertaking.

¹³I heard a holy one speaking, and another said to whichever one it was that spoke, "How long shall the events of this vision last concerning the daily sacrifice, the desolating sin which is placed there, the sanctuary, and the trampled host?"

¹⁴He answered him, "For two thousand three hundred evenings and mornings; then the sanctuary shall be purified."

¹⁵While I, Daniel, sought the meaning of the vision I had seen, a manlike figure stood before me,

¹⁶and on the Ulai I heard a human voice that cried out, "Gabriel, explain the vision to this man."

¹⁷When he came near where I was standing, I fell prostrate in terror. But he said to me, "Understand, son of man, that the vision refers to the end time."

¹⁸As he spoke to me, I fell forward in a faint; he touched me and made me stand up.

¹⁹"I will show you," he said, "what is to happen later in the period of wrath; for at the appointed time, there will be an end.

²⁰"The two-horned ram you saw represents the kings of the Medes and Persians.

²¹The he-goat is the king of the Greeks, and the great horn on its forehead is the first king.

²²The four that rose in its place when it was broken are four kingdoms that will issue from his nation, but without his strength.

²³"After their reign, when sinners have reached their measure, There shall arise a king, impudent and skilled in intrigue.

²⁴He shall be strong and powerful, bring about fearful ruin, and succeed in his undertaking. He shall destroy powerful peoples;

²⁵his cunning shall be against the holy ones, his treacherous conduct shall succeed. He shall be proud of heart and destroy many by stealth. But when he rises against the prince of princes, he shall be broken without a hand being raised.

²⁶The vision of the evenings and the mornings is true, as spoken; Do you, however, keep this vision undisclosed, because the days are to be many."

²⁷I, Daniel, was weak and ill for some days; then I arose and took care of the king's affairs. But I was appalled at the vision, which I could not understand.

9 It was the first year that Darius, son of Ahasuerus, of the race of the Medes, reigned over the kingdom of the Chaldeans;

²in the first year of his reign I, Daniel, tried to understand in the Scriptures the counting of the years of which the LORD spoke to the prophet Jeremiah: that for the ruins of Jerusalem seventy years must be fulfilled.

³I turned to the Lord God, pleading in earnest prayer, with fasting, sackcloth, and ashes.

⁴I prayed to the LORD, my God, and confessed, "Ah, Lord, great and awesome God, you who keep your merciful covenant toward those who love you and observe your commandments!

⁵We have sinned, been wicked and done evil; we have rebelled and departed from your commandments and your laws.

⁶We have not obeyed your servants the prophets, who spoke in your name to our kings, our princes, our fathers, and all the people of the land.

⁷Justice, O Lord, is on your side; we are shamefaced even to this day: the men of Judah, the residents of Jerusalem, and all Israel, near and far, in all the countries to which you have scattered them because of their treachery toward you.

⁸O LORD, we are shamefaced, like our kings, our princes, and our fathers, for having sinned against you.

⁹But yours, O Lord, our God, are compassion and forgiveness! Yet we rebelled against you ¹⁰and paid no heed to your command, O LORD, our God, to live by the law you gave us through your servants the prophets.

¹¹Because all Israel transgressed your law and went astray, not heeding your voice, the sworn malediction, recorded in the law of Moses, the servant of God, was poured out over us for our sins.

¹²You carried out the threats you spoke against us and against those who governed us, by bringing upon us in Jerusalem the greatest calamity that has ever occurred under heaven.

¹³As it is written in the law of Moses, this calamity came full upon us. As we did not appease the LORD, our God, by turning back from our wickedness and recognizing his constancy, ¹⁴so the LORD kept watch over the calamity and brought it upon us. You, O LORD, our God, are just in all that you have done, for we did not listen to your voice.

¹⁵Now, O Lord, our God, who led your people out of the land of Egypt with a strong hand, and made a name for yourself even to this day, we have sinned, we are guilty.

¹⁶O Lord, in keeping with all your just deeds, let your anger and your wrath be turned away from your city Jerusalem, your holy mountain. On account of our sins and the crimes of our fathers, Jerusalem and your people have become the reproach of all our neighbors.

- ¹⁷Hear, therefore, O God, the prayer and petition of your servant; and for your own sake, O Lord, let your face shine upon your desolate sanctuary.
- ¹⁸Give ear, O my God, and listen; open your eyes and see our ruins and the city which bears your name. When we present our petition before you, we rely not on our just deeds, but on your great mercy.
- ¹⁹O Lord, hear! O Lord, pardon! O Lord, be attentive and act without delay, for your own sake, O my God, because this city and your people bear your name!"
- ²⁰I was still occupied with my prayer, confessing my sin and the sin of my people Israel, presenting my petition to the LORD, my God, on behalf of his holy mountain--
- ²¹I was still occupied with this prayer, when Gabriel, the one whom I had seen before in vision, came to me in rapid flight at the time of the evening sacrifice.
- ²²He instructed me in these words: "Daniel, I have now come to give you understanding.
- ²³When you began your petition, an answer was given which I have come to announce, because you are beloved. Therefore, mark the answer and understand the vision.
- ²⁴"Seventy weeks are decreed for your people and for your holy city: Then transgression will stop and sin will end, guilt will be expiated, Everlasting justice will be introduced, vision and prophecy ratified, and a most holy will be anointed.
- ²⁵Know and understand this: From the utterance of the word that Jerusalem was to be rebuilt Until one who is anointed and a leader, there shall be seven weeks. During sixty-two weeks it shall be rebuilt, With streets and trenches, in time of affliction.
- ²⁶After the sixty-two weeks an anointed shall be cut down when he does not possess the city; And the people of a leader who will come shall destroy the sanctuary. Then the end shall come like a torrent; until the end there shall be war, the desolation that is decreed.
- ²⁷For one week he shall make a firm compact with the many; Half the week he shall abolish sacrifice and oblation; On the temple wing shall be the horrible abomination until the ruin that is decreed is poured out upon the horror."

10 In the third year of Cyrus, king of Persia, a revelation was given to Daniel, who had been named Beltshazzar. The revelation was certain: a great war; he understood it from the vision.

²In those days, I, Daniel, mourned three full weeks.

³I ate no savory food, I took no meat or wine, and I did not anoint myself at all until the end of the three weeks.

⁴On the twenty-fourth day of the first month I was on the bank of the great river, the Tigris.

⁵As I looked up, I saw a man dressed in linen with a belt of fine gold around his waist.

⁶His body was like chrysolite, his face shown like lightning, his eyes were like fiery torches, his arms and feet looked like burnished bronze, and his voice sounded like the roar of a multitude.

⁷I alone, Daniel, saw the vision; but great fear seized the men who were with me; they fled and hid themselves, although they did not see the vision.

⁸So I was left alone, seeing this great vision. No strength remained in me; I turned the color of death and was powerless.

⁹When I heard the sound of his voice, I fell face forward in a faint.

¹⁰But then a hand touched me, raising me to my hands and knees.

¹¹"Daniel, beloved," he said to me, "understand the words which I am speaking to you; stand up, for my mission now is to you." When he said this to me, I stood up trembling.

¹²"Fear not, Daniel," he continued; "from the first day you made up your mind to acquire understanding and humble yourself before God, your prayer was heard. Because of it I started out,

¹³but the prince of the kingdom of Persia stood in my way for twenty-one days, until finally Michael, one of the chief princes, came to help me. I left him there with the prince of the kings of Persia,

¹⁴and came to make you understand what shall happen to your people in the days to come; for there is yet a vision concerning those days."

¹⁵While he was speaking thus to me, I fell forward and kept silent.

¹⁶Then something like a man's hand touched my lips; I opened my mouth and said to the one facing me, "My lord, I was seized with pangs at the vision and I was powerless.

¹⁷How can my lord's servant speak with you, my lord? For now no strength or even breath is left in me."

¹⁸The one who looked like a man touched me again and strengthened me, saying,

¹⁹"Fear not, beloved, you are safe; take courage and be strong."

²⁰When he spoke to me, I grew strong and said, "Speak, my lord, for you have strengthened me." "Do you know," he asked, "why I have come to you? Soon I must fight the prince of Persia again. When I leave, the prince of Greece will come;

²¹but I shall tell you what is written in the truthful book. No one supports me against all these except Michael, your prince,

11 standing as a reinforcement and a bulwark for me.

²Now I shall tell you the truth. "Three kings of Persia are yet to come; and a fourth shall acquire the greatest riches of all. Strengthened by his riches, he shall rouse all the kingdom of Greece.

³But a powerful king shall appear and rule with great might, doing as he pleases.

⁴No sooner shall he appear than his kingdom shall be broken and divided in four directions under heaven; but not among his descendants or in keeping with his mighty rule, for his kingdom shall be torn to pieces and belong to others than they.

⁵"The king of the south shall grow strong, but one of his princes shall grow stronger still and govern a domain greater than his.

⁶After some years they shall become allies: the daughter of the king of the south shall come to the king of the north in the interest of peace. But her bid for power shall fail:

and her line shall not be recognized, and she shall be given up, together with those who brought her, her son and her husband. But later

⁷a descendant of her line shall succeed to his rank, and shall come against the rampart and enter the stronghold of the king of the north, and conquer them.

⁸Even their gods, with their molten images and their precious vessels of silver and gold, he shall carry away as booty into Egypt. For years he shall have nothing to do with the king of the north.

⁹Then the latter shall invade the land of the king of the south, and return to his own country.

¹⁰But his sons shall prepare and assemble a great armed host, which shall advance like a flood, then withdraw. When it returns and surges around the stronghold,

¹¹the king of the south, provoked, shall go out to fight against the king of the north, whose great host shall make a stand but shall be given into his hand

¹²and be carried off. In the pride of his heart, he shall lay low tens of thousands, but he shall not triumph.

¹³For the king of the north shall raise another army, greater than before; after some years he shall attack with this large army and great resources.

¹⁴In those times many shall resist the king of the south, and outlaws of your people shall rise up in fulfillment of vision, but they shall fail.

¹⁵When the king of the north comes, he shall set up siegeworks and take the fortified city by storm. The power of the south shall not withstand him, and not even his picked troops shall have the strength to resist.

¹⁶He shall attack him and do as he pleases, with no one to withstand him. He shall stop in the glorious land, dealing destruction.

¹⁷He shall set himself to penetrate the entire strength of his kingdom. He shall conclude an agreement with him and give him a daughter in marriage in order to destroy the kingdom, but this shall not succeed in his favor.

¹⁸He shall turn to the coastland and take many, but a leader shall put an end to his shameful conduct, so that he cannot renew it against him.

- ¹⁹He shall turn to the strongholds of his own land, but shall stumble and fall, to be found no more.
- ²⁰In his stead one shall arise who will send a tax collector through the glorious kingdom, but he shall soon be destroyed, though not in conflict or in battle.
- ²¹"There shall rise in his place a despicable person, to whom the royal insignia shall not be given. By stealth and fraud he shall seize the kingdom.
- ²²Armed might shall be completely overwhelmed by him and crushed, and even the prince of the covenant.
- ²³After allying with him, he shall treacherously rise to power with a small party.
- ²⁴By stealth he shall enter prosperous provinces and do that which his fathers or grandfathers never did; he shall distribute spoil, booty, and riches among them and devise plots against their strongholds; but only for a time.
- ²⁵He shall call on his strength and cleverness to meet the king of the south with a great army; the king of the south shall prepare for battle with a very large and strong army, but he shall not succeed because of the plots devised against him.
- ²⁶Even his table companions shall seek to destroy him, his army shall be overwhelmed, and many shall fall slain.
- ²⁷The two kings, resolved on evil, shall sit at table together and exchange lies, but they shall have no success, because the appointed end is not yet.
- ²⁸"He shall turn back toward his land with great riches, his mind set against the holy covenant; he shall arrange matters and return to his land.
- ²⁹At the time appointed he shall come again to the south, but this time it shall not be as before.
- ³⁰When ships of the Kittim confront him, he shall lose heart and retreat. Then he shall direct his rage and energy against the holy covenant; those who forsake it he shall once more single out.
- ³¹Armed forces shall move at his command and defile the sanctuary stronghold, abolishing the daily sacrifice and setting up the horrible abomination.

³²By his deceit he shall make some who were disloyal to the covenant apostatize; but those who remain loyal to their God shall take strong action.

³³The nation's wise men shall instruct the many; though for a time they will become victims of the sword, of flames, exile, and plunder.

³⁴When they fall, few people shall help them, but many shall join them out of treachery.

³⁵Of the wise men, some shall fall, so that the rest may be tested, refined, and purified, until the end time which is still appointed to come.

³⁶The king shall do as he pleases, exalting himself and making himself greater than any god; he shall utter dreadful blasphemies against the God of gods. He shall prosper only till divine wrath is ready, for what is determined must take place.

³⁷He shall have no regard for the gods of his ancestors or for the one in whom women delight; for no god shall he have regard, because he shall make himself greater than all.

³⁸Instead, he shall give glory to the god of strongholds; a god unknown to his fathers he shall glorify with gold, silver, precious stones, and other treasures.

³⁹To defend the strongholds he shall station a people of a foreign god. Whoever acknowledges him he shall provide with abundant honor; he shall make them rule over the many and distribute the land as a reward.

⁴⁰"At the appointed time the king of the south shall come to grips with him, but the king of the north shall overwhelm him with chariots and horsemen and a great fleet, passing through the countries like a flood.

⁴¹He shall enter the glorious land and many shall fall, except Edom, Moab, and the chief part of Ammon, which shall escape from his power.

⁴²He shall extend his power over the countries, and not even the land of Egypt shall escape.

⁴³He shall control the riches of gold and silver and all the treasures of Egypt; Libya and Ethiopia shall be in his train.

⁴⁴When news from the east and the north terrifies him, he shall set out with great fury to slay and to doom many.

⁴⁵He shall pitch the tents of his royal pavilion between the sea and the glorious holy mountain, but he shall come to his end with none to help him.

12"At that time there shall arise Michael, the great prince, guardian of your people; It shall be a time unsurpassed in distress since nations began until that time. At that time your people shall escape, everyone who is found written in the book.

²Many of those who sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake; some shall live forever, others shall be an everlasting horror and disgrace.

³But the wise shall shine brightly like the splendor of the firmament, And those who lead the many to justice shall be like the stars forever.

⁴"As for you, Daniel, keep secret the message and seal the book until the end time; many shall fall away and evil shall increase."

⁵I, Daniel, looked and saw two others, one standing on either bank of the river.

⁶One of them said to the man clothed in linen, who was upstream, "How long shall it be to the end of these appalling things?"

⁷The man clothed in linen, who was upstream, lifted his right and left hands to heaven; and I heard him swear by him who lives forever that it should be for a year, two years, a half-year; and that, when the power of the destroyer of the holy people was brought to an end, all these things should end.

⁸I heard, but I did not understand; so I asked, "My lord, what follows this?"

⁹"Go, Daniel," he said, "because the words are to be kept secret and sealed until the end time.

¹⁰Many shall be refined, purified, and tested, but the wicked shall prove wicked; none of them shall have understanding, but the wise shall have it.

¹¹From the time that the daily sacrifice is abolished and the horrible abomination is set up, there shall be one thousand two hundred and ninety days.

¹²Blessed is the man who has patience and perseveres until the one thousand three hundred and thirty-five days.

¹³Go, take your rest, you shall rise for your reward at the end of days."

13 In Babylon there lived a man named Joakim,

²who married a very beautiful and God-fearing woman, Susanna, the daughter of Hilkiyah;

³her pious parents had trained their daughter according to the law of Moses.

⁴Joakim was very rich; he had a garden near his house, and the Jews had recourse to him often because he was the most respected of them all.

⁵That year, two elders of the people were appointed judges, of whom the Lord said, "Wickedness has come out of Babylon: from the elders who were to govern the people as judges."

⁶These men, to whom all brought their cases, frequented the house of Joakim.

⁸When the old men saw her enter every day for her walk, they began to lust for her.

⁹They suppressed their consciences; they would not allow their eyes to look to heaven, and did not keep in mind just judgments.

¹⁰Though both were enamored of her, they did not tell each other their trouble,

¹¹for they were ashamed to reveal their lustful desire to have her.

¹²Day by day they watched eagerly for her.

¹³One day they said to each other, "Let us be off for home, it is time for lunch." So they went out and parted;

¹⁴but both turned back, and when they met again, they asked each other the reason. They admitted their lust, and then they agreed to look for an occasion when they could meet her alone.

¹⁵One day, while they were waiting for the right moment, she entered the garden as usual, with two maids only. She decided to bathe, for the weather was warm.

¹⁶Nobody else was there except the two elders, who had hidden themselves and were watching her.

¹⁷"Bring me oil and soap," she said to the maids, "and shut the garden doors while I bathe."

¹⁸They did as she said; they shut the garden doors and left by the side gate to fetch what she had ordered, unaware that the elders were hidden inside.

¹⁹As soon as the maids had left, the two old men got up and hurried to her.

²⁰"Look," they said, "the garden doors are shut, and no one can see us; give in to our desire, and lie with us.

²¹If you refuse, we will testify against you that you dismissed your maids because a young man was here with you."

²²"I am completely trapped," Susanna groaned. "If I yield, it will be my death; if I refuse, I cannot escape your power.

²³Yet it is better for me to fall into your power without guilt than to sin before the Lord."

²⁴Then Susanna shrieked, and the old men also shouted at her,

²⁵as one of them ran to open the garden doors.

²⁶When the people in the house heard the cries from the garden, they rushed in by the side gate to see what had happened to her.

²⁷At the accusations by the old men, the servants felt very much ashamed, for never had any such thing been said about Susanna.

²⁸When the people came to her husband Joakim the next day, the two wicked elders also came, fully determined to put Susanna to death. Before all the people they ordered:

²⁹"Send for Susanna, the daughter of Hilkiah, the wife of Joakim." When she was sent for,

³⁰she came with her parents, children and all her relatives.

³¹Susanna, very delicate and beautiful,

³²was veiled; but those wicked men ordered her to uncover her face so as to sate themselves with her beauty.

³³All her relatives and the onlookers were weeping.

³⁴In the midst of the people the two elders rose up and laid their hands on her head.

³⁵Through her tears she looked up to heaven, for she trusted in the Lord wholeheartedly.

³⁶The elders made this accusation: "As we were walking in the garden alone, this woman entered with two girls and shut the doors of the garden, dismissing the girls.

³⁷A young man, who was hidden there, came and lay with her.

³⁸When we, in a corner of the garden, saw this crime, we ran toward them.

³⁹We saw them lying together, but the man we could not hold, because he was stronger than we; he opened the doors and ran off.

⁴⁰Then we seized this one and asked who the young man was,

⁴¹but she refused to tell us. We testify to this." The assembly believed them, since they were elders and judges of the people, and they condemned her to death.

⁴²But Susanna cried aloud: "O eternal God, you know what is hidden and are aware of all things before they come to be:

⁴³you know that they have testified falsely against me. Here I am about to die, though I have done none of the things with which these wicked men have charged me."

⁴⁴The Lord heard her prayer.

⁴⁵As she was being led to execution, God stirred up the holy spirit of a young boy named Daniel,

⁴⁶and he cried aloud: "I will have no part in the death of this woman."

⁴⁷All the people turned and asked him, "What is this you are saying?"

⁴⁸He stood in their midst and continued, "Are you such fools, O Israelites! To condemn a woman of Israel without examination and without clear evidence?"

⁴⁹Return to court, for they have testified falsely against her."

⁵⁰Then all the people returned in haste. To Daniel the elders said, "Come, sit with us and inform us, since God has given you the prestige of old age."

⁵¹But he replied, "Separate these two far from one another that I may examine them."

⁵²After they were separated one from the other, he called one of them and said: "How you have grown evil with age! Now have your past sins come to term:

⁵³passing unjust sentences, condemning the innocent, and freeing the guilty, although the Lord says, "The innocent and the just you shall not put to death."

⁵⁴Now, then, if you were a witness, tell me under what tree you saw them together."

⁵⁵"Under a mastic tree," he answered. "Your fine lie has cost you your head," said Daniel; "for the angel of God shall receive the sentence from him and split you in two."

⁵⁶Putting him to one side, he ordered the other one to be brought. "Offspring of Canaan, not of Judah," Daniel said to him, "beauty has seduced you, lust has subverted your conscience.

⁵⁷This is how you acted with the daughters of Israel, and in their fear they yielded to you; but a daughter of Judah did not tolerate your wickedness.

⁵⁸Now, then, tell me under what tree you surprised them together."

⁵⁹"Under an oak," he said. "Your fine lie has cost you also your head," said Daniel; "for the angel of God waits with a sword to cut you in two so as to make an end of you both."

⁶⁰The whole assembly cried aloud, blessing God who saves those that hope in him.

⁶¹They rose up against the two elders, for by their own words Daniel had convicted them of perjury. According to the law of Moses, they inflicted on them the penalty they had plotted to impose on their neighbor:

⁶²they put them to death. Thus was innocent blood spared that day.

⁶³Hilkiah and his wife praised God for their daughter Susanna, as did Joakim her husband and all her relatives, because she was found innocent of any shameful deed.

⁶⁴And from that day onward Daniel was greatly esteemed by the people.

14After King Astyages was laid with his fathers, Cyrus the Persian succeeded to his kingdom.

²Daniel was the king's favorite and was held in higher esteem than any of the friends of the king.

³The Babylonians had an idol called Bel, and every day they provided for it six barrels of fine flour, forty sheep, and six measures of wine.

⁴The king worshiped it and went every day to adore it; but Daniel adored only his God.

⁵When the king asked him, "Why do you not adore Bel?" Daniel replied, "Because I worship not idols made with hands, but only the living God who made heaven and earth and has dominion over all mankind."

⁶Then the king continued, "You do not think Bel is a living god? Do you not see how much he eats and drinks every day?"

⁷Daniel began to laugh. "Do not be deceived, O king," he said; "it is only clay inside and bronze outside; it has never taken any food or drink."

⁸Enraged, the king called his priests and said to them, "Unless you tell me who it is that consumes these provisions, you shall die.

⁹But if you can show that Bel consumes them, Daniel shall die for blaspheming Bel." Daniel said to the king, "Let it be as you say!"

¹⁰There were seventy priests of Bel, besides their wives and children. When the king went with Daniel into the temple of Bel, ¹¹the priests of Bel said, "See, we are going to leave. Do you, O king, set out the food and prepare the wine; then shut the door and seal it with your ring.

¹²If you do not find that Bel has eaten it all when you return in the morning, we are to die; otherwise Daniel shall die for his lies against us."

¹³They were not perturbed, because under the table they had made a secret entrance through which they always came in to consume the food.

¹⁴After they departed the king set the food before Bel, while Daniel ordered his servants to bring some ashes, which they scattered through the whole temple; the king alone was present. Then they went outside, sealed the closed door with the king's ring, and departed.

¹⁵The priests entered that night as usual, with their wives and children, and they ate and drank everything.

¹⁶Early the next morning, the king came with Daniel.

¹⁷"Are the seals unbroken, Daniel?" he asked. And Daniel answered, "They are unbroken, O king."

¹⁸As soon as he had opened the door, the king looked at the table and cried aloud, "Great you are, O Bel; there is no trickery in you."

¹⁹But Daniel laughed and kept the king from entering. "Look at the floor," he said; "whose footprints are these?"

²⁰"I see the footprints of men, women, and children!" said the king.

²¹The angry king arrested the priests, their wives, and their children. They showed him the secret door by which they used to enter to consume what was on the table.

²²He put them to death, and handed Bel over to Daniel, who destroyed it and its temple.

²³There was a great dragon which the Babylonians worshiped.

²⁴"Look!" said the king to Daniel, "you cannot deny that this is a living god, so adore it."

²⁵But Daniel answered, "I adore the Lord, my God, for he is the living God.

²⁶Give me permission, O king, and I will kill this dragon without sword or club." "I give you permission," the king said.

²⁷Then Daniel took some pitch, fat, and hair; these he boiled together and made into cakes. He put them into the mouth of the dragon, and when the dragon ate them, he burst asunder. "This," he said, "is what you worshiped."

²⁸When the Babylonians heard this, they were angry and turned against the king. "The king has become a Jew," they said; "he has destroyed Bel, killed the dragon, and put the priests to death."

²⁹They went to the king and demanded: "Hand Daniel over to us, or we will kill you and your family."

³⁰When he saw himself threatened with violence, the king was forced to hand Daniel over to them.

³¹They threw Daniel into a lions' den, where he remained six days.

³²In the den were seven lions, and two carcasses and two sheep had been given to them daily. But now they were given nothing, so that they would devour Daniel.

³³In Judea there was a prophet, Habakkuk; he mixed some bread in a bowl with the stew he had boiled, and was going to bring it to the reapers in the field,

³⁴when an angel of the Lord told him, "Take the lunch you have to Daniel in the lions' den at Babylon."

³⁵But Habakkuk answered, "Babylon, sir, I have never seen, and I do not know the den!"

³⁶The angel of the Lord seized him by the crown of his head and carried him by the hair; with the speed of the wind, he set him down in Babylon above the den.

³⁷"Daniel, Daniel," cried Habakkuk, "take the lunch God has sent you."

³⁸"You have remembered me, O God," said Daniel; "you have not forsaken those who love you."

³⁹While Daniel began to eat, the angel of the Lord at once brought Habakkuk back to his own place.

⁴⁰On the seventh day the king came to mourn for Daniel. As he came to the den and looked in, there was Daniel, sitting there!

⁴¹The king cried aloud, "You are great, O Lord, the God of Daniel, and there is no other besides you!"

⁴²Daniel he took out, but those who had tried to destroy him he threw into the den, and they were devoured in a moment before his eyes.

Hosea

1 The word of the LORD that came to Hosea, the son of Beeri, in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, Hezekiah, kings of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam, son of Joash, king of Israel.

²In the beginning of the LORD'S speaking to Hosea, the LORD said to Hosea: Go, take a harlot wife and harlot's children, for the land gives itself to harlotry, turning away from the LORD.

³So he went and took Gomer, the daughter of Diblaim; and she conceived and bore him a son.

⁴Then the LORD said to him: Give him the name Jezreel, for in a little while I will punish the house of Jehu for the bloodshed at Jezreel And bring to an end the kingdom of the house of Israel;

⁵On that day I will break the bow of Israel in the valley of Jezreel.

⁶When she conceived again and bore a daughter, the LORD said to him: Give her the name Lo-ruhama; I no longer feel pity for the house of Israel: rather, I abhor them utterly.

⁷Yet for the house of Judah I feel pity; I will save them by the LORD, their God; But I will not save them by war, by sword or bow, by horses or horsemen.

⁸After she weaned Lo-ruhama, she conceived and bore a son.

⁹Then the LORD said: Give him the name Lo-ammi, for you are not my people, and I will not be your God.

2 The number of the Israelites shall be like the sand of the sea, which can be neither measured nor counted. Whereas they were called, "Lo-ammi," They shall be called, "Children of the living God."

²Then the people of Judah and of Israel shall be gathered together; They shall appoint for themselves one head and come up from other lands, for great shall be the day of Jezreel.

³Say to your brothers, "Ammi," and to your sisters, "Ruhama."

⁴Protest against your mother, protest! for she is not my wife, and I am not her husband. Let her remove her harlotry from before her, her adultery from between her breasts,

⁵Or I will strip her naked, leaving her as on the day of her birth; I will make her like the desert, reduce her to an arid land, and slay her with thirst.

⁶I will have no pity on her children, for they are the children of harlotry.

⁷Yes, their mother has played the harlot; she that conceived them has acted shamefully. "I will go after my lovers," she said, "who give me my bread and my water, my wool and my flax, my oil and my drink."

⁸Therefore, I will hedge in her way with thorns and erect a wall against her, so that she cannot find her paths.

⁹If she runs after her lovers, she shall not overtake them; if she looks for them she shall not find them. Then she shall say, "I will go back to my first husband, for it was better with me then than now."

¹⁰Since she has not known that it was I who gave her the grain, the wine, and the oil, And her abundance of silver, and of gold, which they used for Baal,

¹¹Therefore I will take back my grain in its time, and my wine in its season; I will snatch away my wool and my flax, with which she covers her nakedness.

¹²So now I will lay bare her shame before the eyes of her lovers, and no one can deliver her out of my hand.

¹³I will bring an end to all her joy, her feasts, her new moons, her sabbaths, and all her solemnities.

¹⁴I will lay waste her vines and fig trees, of which she said, "These are the hire my lovers have given me"; I will turn them into rank growth and wild beasts shall devour them.

¹⁵I will punish her for the days of the Baals, for whom she burnt incense While she decked herself out with her rings and her jewels, and, in going after her lovers, forgot me, says the LORD.

¹⁶So I will allure her; I will lead her into the desert and speak to her heart.

¹⁷From there I will give her the vineyards she had, and the valley of Achor as a door of hope. She shall respond there as in the days of her youth, when she came up from the land of Egypt.

¹⁸On that day, says the LORD, She shall call me "My husband," and never again "My baal."

¹⁹Then will I remove from her mouth the names of the Baals, so that they shall no longer be invoked.

²⁰I will make a covenant for them on that day, with the beasts of the field, With the birds of the air, and with the things that crawl on the ground. Bow and sword and war I will destroy from the land, and I will let them take their rest in security.

²¹I will espouse you to me forever: I will espouse you in right and in justice, in love and in mercy;

²²I will espouse you in fidelity, and you shall know the LORD.

²³On that day I will respond, says the LORD; I will respond to the heavens, and they shall respond to the earth;

²⁴The earth shall respond to the grain, and wine, and oil, and these shall respond to Jezreel.

²⁵I will sow him for myself in the land, and I will have pity on Lo-ruhama. I will say to Lo-ammi, "You are my people," and he shall say, "My God!"

3 Again the LORD said to me: Give your love to a woman beloved of a paramour, an adultress; Even as the LORD loves the people of Israel, though they turn to other gods and are fond of raisin cakes.

²So I bought her for fifteen pieces of silver and a homer and a lethech of barley.

³Then I said to her: "Many days you shall wait for me; you shall not play the harlot Or belong to any man; I in turn will wait for you."

⁴For the people of Israel shall remain many days without king or prince, Without sacrifice or sacred pillar, without ephod or household idols.

⁵Then the people of Israel shall turn back and seek the LORD, their God, and David, their king; They shall come trembling to the LORD and to his bounty, in the last days.

4Hear the word of the LORD, O people of Israel, for the LORD has a grievance against the inhabitants of the land: There is no fidelity, no mercy, no knowledge of God in the land.

²False swearing, lying, murder, stealing and adultery! in their lawlessness, bloodshed follows bloodshed.

³Therefore the land mourns, and everything that dwells in it languishes: The beasts of the field, the birds of the air, and even the fish of the sea perish.

⁴But let no one protest, let no one complain; with you is my grievance, O priests!

⁵You shall stumble in the day, and the prophets shall stumble with you at night; I will destroy your mother.

⁶My people perish for want of knowledge! Since you have rejected knowledge, I will reject you from my priesthood; Since you have ignored the law of your God, I will also ignore your sons.

⁷One and all they sin against me, exchanging their glory for shame.

⁸They feed on the sin of my people, and are greedy for their guilt.

⁹The priests shall fare no better than the people: I will punish them for their ways, and repay them for their deeds.

¹⁰They shall eat but not be satisfied, they shall play the harlot but not increase, Because they have abandoned the LORD

¹¹to practice harlotry. Old wine and new deprive my people of understanding.

¹²They consult their piece of wood, and their wand makes pronouncements for them,
For the spirit of harlotry has led them astray; they commit harlotry, forsaking their God.

¹³On the mountaintops they offer sacrifice and on the hills they burn incense, Beneath oak and poplar and terebinth, because of their pleasant shade. That is why your daughters play the harlot, and your daughters-in-law are adulteresses.

¹⁴Am I then to punish your daughters for their harlotry, your daughters-in-law for their adultery? You yourselves consort with harlots, and with prostitutes you offer sacrifice!
So must a people without understanding come to ruin.

¹⁵Though you play the harlot, O Israel, let not Judah become guilty! Come not to Gilgal, nor up to Beth-aven, to swear, "As the Lord lives!"

¹⁶For Israel is as stubborn as a heifer; will the LORD now give them broad pastures as though they were lambs?

¹⁷Ephraim is an associate of idols, let him alone!

¹⁸When their carousing is over, they give themselves to harlotry; in their arrogance they love shame.

¹⁹The wind has bound them up in its pinions; they shall have only shame from their altars.

5 Hear this, O priests, Pay attention, O house of Israel, O household of the king, give ear! It is you who are called to judgment. For you have become a snare at Mizpah, and a net spread upon Tabor.

²In their perversity they have sunk into wickedness, and I am rejected by them all.

³I know Ephraim, and Israel is not hidden from me; Now Ephraim has played the harlot, Israel is defiled.

⁴Their deeds do not allow them to return to their God; For the spirit of harlotry is in them, and they do not recognize the LORD.

⁵The arrogance of Israel bears witness against him; Ephraim stumbles in his guilt, and Judah stumbles with them.

⁶With their flocks and their herds they shall go to seek the LORD, but they shall not find him; he has withdrawn himself from them.

⁷They have been untrue to the LORD, for they have begotten illegitimate children; Now shall the new moon devour them together with their fields.

⁸Blow the horn in Gibeah, the trumpet in Ramah! Sound the alarm in Beth-aven: "Look behind you, O Benjamin!"

⁹Ephraim shall become a waste on the day of chastisement: Against the tribes of Israel I announce what is sure to be.

¹⁰The princes of Judah have become like those that move a boundary line; Upon them I will pour out my wrath like water.

¹¹Is Ephraim maltreated, his rights violated? No, he has willingly gone after filth!

¹²I am like a moth for Ephraim, like maggots for the house of Judah.

¹³When Ephraim saw his infirmity, and Judah his sore, Ephraim went to Assyria, and Judah sent to the great king. But he cannot heal you nor take away your sore.

¹⁴For I am like a lion to Ephraim, like a young lion to the house of Judah; It is I who rend the prey and depart, I carry it away and no one can save it from me.

¹⁵I will go back to my place until they pay for their guilt and seek my presence.

6In their affliction, they shall look for me: "Come, let us return to the LORD, For it is he who has rent, but he will heal us; he has struck us, but he will bind our wounds.

²He will revive us after two days; on the third day he will raise us up, to live in his presence.

³Let us know, let us strive to know the LORD; as certain as the dawn is his coming, and his judgment shines forth like the light of day! He will come to us like the rain, like spring rain that waters the earth."

⁴What can I do with you, Ephraim? What can I do with you, Judah? Your piety is like a morning cloud, like the dew that early passes away.

⁵For this reason I smote them through the prophets, I slew them by the words of my mouth;

⁶For it is love that I desire, not sacrifice, and knowledge of God rather than holocausts.

⁷But they, in their land, violated the covenant; there they were untrue to me.

⁸Gilead is a city of evildoers, tracked with blood.

⁹As brigands ambush a man, a band of priests slay on the way to Shechem, committing monstrous crime.

¹⁰In the house of Israel I have seen a horrible thing: there harlotry is found in Ephraim, Israel is defiled.

¹¹For you also, O Judah, a harvest has been appointed.

7 When I would bring about the restoration of my people, when I would heal Israel, The guilt of Ephraim stands out, the wickedness of Samaria; They practice falsehood, thieves break in, bandits plunder abroad.

²Yet they do not remind themselves that I remember all their wickedness. Even now their crimes surround them, present to my sight.

³In their wickedness they regale the king, the princes too, with their deceits.

⁴They are all kindled to wrath like a blazing oven, Whose fire the baker desists from stirring once the dough is kneaded until it has risen.

⁵On the day of our king, the princes are overcome with the heat of wine. He extends his hand among dissemblers;

⁶the plotters approach with hearts like ovens. All the night their anger sleeps; in the morning it flares like a blazing fire.

⁷They are all heated like ovens, and consume their rulers. All their kings have fallen; none of them calls upon me.

⁸Ephraim mingles with the nations, Ephraim is a hearth cake unturned.

⁹Strangers have sapped his strength, but he takes no notice of it; Of gray hairs, too, there is a sprinkling, but he takes no notice of it.

¹⁰The arrogance of Israel bears witness against him; yet they do not return to the LORD, their God, nor seek him, for all that.

¹¹Ephraim is like a dove, silly and senseless; They call upon Egypt, they go to Assyria.

¹²Even as they go I will spread my net around them, like birds in the air I will bring them down. In an instant I will send them captive from their land.

¹³Woe to them, they have strayed from me! Ruin to them, they have sinned against me! Though I wished to redeem them, they spoke lies against me.

¹⁴They have not cried to me from their hearts when they wailed upon their beds; For wheat and wine they lacerated themselves, while they rebelled against me.

¹⁵Though I trained and strengthened their arms, yet they devised evil against me.

¹⁶They have again become useless, like a treacherous bow. Their princes shall fall by the sword because of the insolence of their tongues; thus they shall be mocked in the land of Egypt.

8 A trumpet to your lips, You who watch over the house of the LORD! Since they have violated my covenant, and sinned against my law,

²While to me they cry out, "O, God of Israel, we know you!"

³The men of Israel have thrown away what is good; the enemy shall pursue them.

⁴They made kings, but not by my authority; they established princes, but without my approval. With their silver and gold they made idols for themselves, to their own destruction.

⁵Cast away your calf, O Samaria! my wrath is kindled against them; How long will they be unable to attain innocence in Israel?

⁶The work of an artisan no god at all, Destined for the flames-- such is the calf of Samaria!

⁷When they sow the wind, they shall reap the whirlwind; The stalk of grain that forms no ear can yield no flour; Even if it could, strangers would swallow it.

⁸Israel is swallowed up; he is now among the nations a thing of no value.

⁹They went up to Assyria-- a wild ass off on its own-- Ephraim bargained for lovers.

¹⁰Even though they bargain with the nations, I will now gather an army; King and princes shall shortly succumb under the burden.

¹¹When Ephraim made many altars to expiate sin, his altars became occasions of sin.

¹²Though I write for him my many ordinances, they are considered as a stranger's.

¹³Though they offer sacrifice, immolate flesh and eat it, the LORD is not pleased with them. He shall still remember their guilt and punish their sins; they shall return to Egypt.

¹⁴Israel has forgotten his maker and built palaces. Judah, too, has fortified many cities, but I will send fire upon his cities, to devour their castles.

9 Rejoice not, O Israel, exult not like the nations! For you have been unfaithful to your God, loving a harlot's hire upon every threshing floor.

²Threshing floor and wine press shall not nourish them, the new wine shall fail them.

³They shall not dwell in the LORD'S land; Ephraim shall return to Egypt, and in Assyria they shall eat unclean food.

⁴They shall not pour libations of wine to the LORD, or proffer their sacrifices before him. Theirs will be like mourners' bread, that makes unclean all who eat of it; Such food as they have shall be for themselves; it cannot enter the house of the LORD.

⁵What will you do on the festival day, the day of the LORD'S feast?

⁶When they go from the ruins, Egypt shall gather them in, Memphis shall bury them. Weeds shall overgrow their silver treasures, and thorns invade their tents.

⁷They have come, the days of punishment! they have come, the days of recompense! Let Israel know it! "The prophet is a fool, the man of the spirit is mad!" Because your iniquity is great, great, too, is your hostility.

⁸A prophet is Ephraim's watchman with God, yet a fowler's snare is on all his ways, hostility in the house of his God.

⁹They have sunk to the depths of corruption, as in the days of Gibeah; He shall remember their iniquity and punish their sins.

¹⁰Like grapes in the desert, I found Israel; Like the first fruits of the fig tree in its prime, I considered your fathers. When they came to Baal-peor and consecrated themselves to the Shame, they became as abhorrent as the thing they loved.

¹¹The glory of Ephraim flies away like a bird: no birth, no carrying in the womb, no conception. Were they to bear children, I would slay the darlings of their womb.

¹²Even though they bring up their children, I will make them childless, till not one is left. Woe to them when I turn away from them!

¹³Ephraim, as I saw, was like Tyre, planted in a beautiful spot; But Ephraim shall bring out his children to the slayer.

¹⁴Give them, O LORD! give them what? Give them an unfruitful womb, and dry breasts!

¹⁵All their wickedness is in Gilgal; yes, there they incurred my hatred. Because of their wicked deeds I will drive them out of my house. I will love them no longer; all their princes are rebels.

¹⁶Ephraim is stricken, their root is dried up; they shall bear no fruit.

¹⁷My God will disown them because they have not listened to him; they shall be wanderers among the nations.

10 Israel is a luxuriant vine whose fruit matches its growth. The more abundant his fruit, the more altars he built; The more productive his land, the more sacred pillars he set up.

²Their heart is false, now they pay for their guilt; God shall break down their altars and destroy their sacred pillars.

- ³If they would say, "We have no king"-- Since they do not fear the LORD, what can the king do for them?
- ⁴Nothing but make promises, swear false oaths, and make alliances, While justice grows wild like wormwood in a plowed field!
- ⁵The inhabitants of Samaria fear for the calf of Beth-aven; The people mourn for it and its priests wail over it, because the glory has departed from it.
- ⁶It too shall be carried to Assyria, as an offering to the great king. Ephraim shall be taken into captivity, Israel be shamed by his schemes.
- ⁷The king of Samaria shall disappear, like foam upon the waters.
- ⁸The high places of Aven shall be destroyed, the sin of Israel; thorns and thistles shall overgrow their altars. Then they shall cry out to the mountains, "Cover us!" and to the hills, "Fall upon us!"
- ⁹Since the days of Gibeah you have sinned, O Israel. There they took their stand; war was not to reach them in Gibeah.
- ¹⁰Against the wanton people I came and I chastised them; I gathered troops against them when I chastised them for their two crimes.
- ¹¹Ephraim was a trained heifer, willing to thresh; I myself laid a yoke upon her fair neck; Ephraim was to be harnessed, Judah was to plow, Jacob was to break his furrows:
- ¹²"Sow for yourselves justice, reap the fruit of piety; Break up for yourselves a new field, for it is time to seek the LORD, till he come and rain down justice upon you."
- ¹³But you have cultivated wickedness, reaped perversity, and eaten the fruit of falsehood. Because you have trusted in your chariots, and in your many warriors,
- ¹⁴Turmoil shall break out among your tribes and all your fortresses shall be ravaged As Salman ravaged Beth-arbel in time of war, smashing mothers and their children.
- ¹⁵So shall it be done to you, Bethel, because of your utter wickedness: At dawn the king of Israel shall perish utterly.

11 When Israel was a child I loved him, out of Egypt I called my son.

²The more I called them, the farther they went from me, Sacrificing to the Baals and burning incense to idols.

³Yet it was I who taught Ephraim to walk, who took them in my arms;

⁴I drew them with human cords, with bands of love; I fostered them like one who raises an infant to his cheeks; Yet, though I stooped to feed my child, they did not know that I was their healer.

⁵He shall return to the land of Egypt, and Assyria shall be his king;

⁶The sword shall begin with his cities and end by consuming his solitudes. Because they refused to repent, their own counsels shall devour them.

⁷His people are in suspense about returning to him; and God, though in unison they cry out to him, shall not raise them up.

⁸How could I give you up, O Ephraim, or deliver you up, O Israel? How could I treat you as Admah, or make you like Zeboim? My heart is overwhelmed, my pity is stirred.

⁹I will not give vent to my blazing anger, I will not destroy Ephraim again; For I am God and not man, the Holy One present among you; I will not let the flames consume you.

¹⁰They shall follow the LORD, who roars like a lion; When he roars, his sons shall come frightened from the west, ¹¹Out of Egypt they shall come trembling, like sparrows, from the land of Assyria, like doves; And I will resettle them in their homes, says the LORD.

12 Ephraim has surrounded me with lies, the house of Israel, with deceit; Judah is still rebellious against God, against the Holy One, who is faithful.

²Ephraim chases the wind, ever pursuing the gale. His lies and falsehoods are many; he comes to terms with Assyria, and carries oil to Egypt.

³The LORD has a grievance against Israel: he shall punish Jacob for his conduct, for his deeds he shall repay him.

⁴In the womb he supplanted his brother, and as a man he contended with God;

⁵He contended with the angel and triumphed, entreating him with tears. At Bethel he met God and there he spoke with him:

⁶The LORD, the God of hosts, the LORD is his name!

⁷You shall return by the help of your God, if you remain loyal and do right and always hope in your God.

⁸A merchant who holds a false balance, who loves to defraud!

⁹Though Ephraim says, "How rich I have become; I have made a fortune!" All his gain shall not suffice him for the guilt of his sin.

¹⁰I am the LORD, your God, since the land of Egypt; I will again have you live in tents, as in that appointed time.

¹¹I granted many visions and spoke to the prophets, through whom I set forth examples.

¹²In Gilead is falsehood, they have come to nought, in Gilgal they sacrifice to bullocks; Their altars are like heaps of stones in the furrows of the field.

¹³When Jacob fled to the land of Aram, he served for a wife; for a wife Israel tended sheep.

¹⁴By a prophet the LORD brought Israel out of Egypt, and by a prophet they were protected.

¹⁵Ephraim has exasperated his lord; therefore he shall cast his blood-guilt upon him and repay him for his outrage.

13 Ephraim's word caused fear, for he was exalted in Israel; but he sinned through Baal and died.

²Now they continue to sin, making for themselves molten images, Silver idols according to their fancy, all of them the work of artisans. "To these," they say, "offer sacrifice." Men kiss calves!

³Therefore, they shall be like a morning cloud or like the dew that early passes away, Like chaff storm-driven from the threshing floor or like smoke out of the window.

⁴I am the LORD, your God, since the land of Egypt; You know no God besides me, and there is no savior but me.

⁵I fed you in the desert, in the torrid land.

⁶They ate their fill; when filled, they became proud of heart and forgot me.

⁷Therefore, I will be like a lion to them, like a panther by the road I will keep watch.

⁸I will attack them like a bear robbed of its young, and tear their hearts from their breasts; I will devour them on the spot like a lion, as though a wild beast were to rend them.

⁹Your destruction, O Israel! who is there to help you?

¹⁰Where now is your king, that he may rescue you in all your cities? And your rulers, of whom you said, "Give me a king and princes"?

¹¹I give you a king in my anger, and I take him away in my wrath.

¹²The guilt of Israel is wrapped up, his sin is stored away.

¹³The birth pangs shall come for him, but he shall be an unwise child; For when it is time he shall not present himself where children break forth.

¹⁴Shall I deliver them from the power of the nether world? shall I redeem them from death? Where are your plagues, O death! where is your sting, O nether world! My eyes are closed to compassion.

¹⁵Though he be fruitful among his fellows, an east wind shall come, a wind from the LORD, rising from the desert, That shall dry up his spring, and leave his fountain dry. It shall loot his land of every precious thing.

14 Samaria shall expiate her guilt, for she has rebelled against her God. They shall fall by the sword, their little ones shall be dashed to pieces, their expectant mothers shall be ripped open.

²Return, O Israel, to the LORD, your God; you have collapsed through your guilt.

³Take with you words, and return to the LORD; Say to him, "Forgive all iniquity, and receive what is good, that we may render as offerings the bullocks from our stalls.

⁴Assyria will not save us, nor shall we have horses to mount; We shall say no more, 'Our god,' to the work of our hands; for in you the orphan finds compassion."

⁵I will heal their defection, I will love them freely; for my wrath is turned away from them.

⁶I will be like the dew for Israel: he shall blossom like the lily; He shall strike root like the Lebanon cedar,

⁷and put forth his shoots. His splendor shall be like the olive tree and his fragrance like the Lebanon cedar.

⁸Again they shall dwell in his shade and raise grain; They shall blossom like the vine, and his fame shall be like the wine of Lebanon.

⁹Ephraim! What more has he to do with idols? I have humbled him, but I will prosper him. "I am like a verdant cypress tree"-- Because of me you bear fruit!

¹⁰Let him who is wise understand these things; let him who is prudent know them. Straight are the paths of the LORD, in them the just walk, but sinners stumble in them.

Joel

1 The word of the LORD which came to Joel, the son of Pethuel.

2 Hear this, you elders! Pay attention, all you who dwell in the land! Has the like of this happened in your days, or in the days of your fathers?

3 Tell it to your children, and your children to their children, and their children to the next generation.

4 What the cutter left, the locust swarm has eaten; What the locust swarm left, the grasshopper has eaten; And what the grasshopper left, the devourer has eaten.

5 Wake up, you drunkards, and weep; wail, all you drinkers of wine, Because the juice of the grape will be withheld from your mouths.

6 For a people has invaded my land, mighty and without number; His teeth are the teeth of a lion, and his molars those of a lioness.

7 He has laid waste my vine, and blighted my fig tree; He has stripped it, sheared off its bark; its branches are made white.

8 Lament like a virgin girl with sackcloth for the spouse of her youth.

9 Abolished are offering and libation from the house of the LORD; In mourning are the priests, the ministers of the LORD.

10 The field is ravaged, the earth mourns, Because the grain is ravaged, the must has failed, the oil languishes.

11 Be appalled, you husbandmen! wail, you vinedressers! Over the wheat and the barley, because the harvest of the field has perished.

12 The vine has dried up, the fig tree is withered; The pomegranate, the date palm also, and the apple, all the trees of the field are dried up; Yes, joy has withered away from among mankind.

¹³Gird yourselves and weep, O priests! wail, O ministers of the altar! Come, spend the night in sackcloth, O ministers of my God! The house of your God is deprived of offering and libation.

¹⁴Proclaim a fast, call an assembly; Gather the elders, all who dwell in the land, Into the house of the LORD, your God, and cry to the LORD!

¹⁵Alas, the day! for near is the day of the LORD, and it comes as ruin from the Almighty.

¹⁶From before our very eyes has not the food been cut off; And from the house of our God, joy and gladness?

¹⁷The seed lies shriveled under its clods; the stores are destroyed, The barns are broken down, for the grain has failed.

¹⁸How the beasts groan! The herds of cattle are bewildered! Because they have no pasturage, even the flocks of sheep have perished.

¹⁹To you, O LORD, I cry! for fire has devoured the pastures of the plain, and flame has enkindled all the trees of the field.

²⁰Even the beasts of the field cry out to you; For the streams of water are dried up, and fire has devoured the pastures of the plain.

2 Blow the trumpet in Zion, sound the alarm on my holy mountain! Let all who dwell in the land tremble, for the day of the LORD is coming;

²Yes, it is near, a day of darkness and of gloom, a day of clouds and somberness! Like dawn spreading over the mountains, a people numerous and mighty! Their like has not been from of old, nor will it be after them, even to the years of distant generations.

³Before them a fire devours, and after them a flame enkindles; Like the garden of Eden is the land before them, and after them a desert waste; from them there is no escape.

⁴Their appearance is that of horses; like steeds they run.

⁵As with the rumble of chariots they leap on the mountaintops; As with the crackling of a fiery flame devouring stubble; Like a mighty people arrayed for battle.

⁶Before them peoples are in torment, every face blanches.

⁷Like warriors they run, like soldiers they scale the wall; They advance, each in his own lane, without swerving from their paths.

⁸No one crowds another, each advances in his own track; Though they fall into the ditches, they are not checked.

⁹They assault the city, they run upon the wall, they climb into the houses; In at the windows they come like thieves.

¹⁰Before them the earth trembles, the heavens shake; The sun and the moon are darkened, and the stars withhold their brightness.

¹¹The LORD raises his voice at the head of his army; For immense indeed is his camp, yes, mighty, and it does his bidding. For great is the day of the LORD, and exceedingly terrible; who can bear it?

¹²Yet even now, says the LORD, return to me with your whole heart, with fasting, and weeping, and mourning;

¹³Rend your hearts, not your garments, and return to the LORD, your God. For gracious and merciful is he, slow to anger, rich in kindness, and relenting in punishment.

¹⁴Perhaps he will again relent and leave behind him a blessing, Offerings and libations for the LORD, your God.

¹⁵Blow the trumpet in Zion! proclaim a fast, call an assembly;

¹⁶Gather the people, notify the congregation; Assemble the elders, gather the children and the infants at the breast; Let the bridegroom quit his room, and the bride her chamber.

¹⁷Between the porch and the altar let the priests, the ministers of the LORD, weep, And say, "Spare, O LORD, your people, and make not your heritage a reproach, with the nations ruling over them! Why should they say among the peoples, 'Where is their God?'"

¹⁸Then the LORD was stirred to concern for his land and took pity on his people.

¹⁹The LORD answered and said to his people: See, I will send you grain, and wine, and oil, and you shall be filled with them; No more will I make you a reproach among the nations.

²⁰No, the northerner I will remove far from you, and drive him out into a land arid and waste, With his van toward the eastern sea, and his rear toward the western sea; And his foulness shall go up, and his stench shall go up.

²¹Fear not, O land! exult and rejoice! for the LORD has done great things.

²²Fear not, beasts of the field! for the pastures of the plain are green; The tree bears its fruit, the fig tree and the vine give their yield.

²³And do you, O children of Zion, exult and rejoice in the LORD, your God! He has given you the teacher of justice: he has made the rain come down for you, the early and the late rain as before.

²⁴The threshing floors shall be full of grain and the vats shall overflow with wine and oil.

²⁵And I will repay you for the years which the locust has eaten, The grasshopper, the devourer, and the cutter, my great army which I sent among you.

²⁶You shall eat and be filled, and shall praise the name of the LORD, your God, Because he has dealt wondrously with you; my people shall nevermore be put to shame.

²⁷And you shall know that I am in the midst of Israel; I am the LORD, your God, and there is no other; my people shall nevermore be put to shame.

3 Then afterward I will pour out my spirit upon all mankind. Your sons and daughters shall prophesy, your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions;

²Even upon the servants and the handmaids, in those days, I will pour out my spirit.

³And I will work wonders in the heavens and on the earth, blood, fire, and columns of smoke;

⁴The sun will be turned to darkness, and the moon to blood, At the coming of the Day of the LORD, the great and terrible day.

⁵Then everyone shall be rescued who calls on the name of the LORD; For on Mount Zion there shall be a remnant, as the LORD has said, And in Jerusalem survivors whom the LORD shall call.

4Yes, in those days, and at that time, when I would restore the fortunes of Judah and Jerusalem, ²I will assemble all the nations and bring them down to the Valley of Jehoshaphat, And I will enter into judgment with them there on behalf of my people and my inheritance, Israel; Because they have scattered them among the nations, and divided my land.

³Over my people they have cast lots; they gave a boy for a harlot, and sold a girl for the wine they drank.

⁴Moreover, what are you to me, Tyre and Sidon, and all the regions of Philistia? Would you take vengeance upon me by some action? But if you do take action against me, swiftly, speedily, I will return your deed upon your own head.

⁵You took my silver and my gold, and brought my precious treasures into your temples!

⁶You sold the people of Judah and Jerusalem to the Greeks, removing them far from their own country!

⁷See, I will rouse them from the place into which you have sold them, and I will return your deed upon your own head.

⁸I will sell your sons and your daughters to the people of Judah, who shall sell them to the Sabeans, a nation far off. Indeed, the LORD has spoken.

⁹Declare this among the nations: proclaim a war, rouse the warriors to arms! Let all the soldiers report and march!

¹⁰Beat your plowshares into swords, and your pruning hooks into spears; let the weak man say, "I am a warrior!"

¹¹Hasten and come, all you neighboring peoples, assemble there! (Bring down, O Lord, your warriors!)

¹²Let the nations bestir themselves and come up to the Valley of Jehoshaphat; For there I will sit in judgment upon all the neighboring nations.

¹³Apply the sickle, for the harvest is ripe; Come and tread, for the wine press is full; The vats overflow, for great is their malice.

¹⁴Crowd upon crowd in the valley of decision; For near is the day of the LORD in the valley of decision.

¹⁵Sun and moon are darkened, and the stars withhold their brightness.

¹⁶The LORD roars from Zion, and from Jerusalem raises his voice; The heavens and the earth quake, but the LORD is a refuge to his people, a stronghold to the men of Israel.

¹⁷Then shall you know that I, the LORD, am your God, dwelling on Zion, my holy mountain; Jerusalem shall be holy, and strangers shall pass through her no more.

¹⁸And then, on that day, the mountains shall drip new wine, and the hills shall flow with milk; And the channels of Judah shall flow with water: A fountain shall issue from the house of the LORD, to water the Valley of Shittim.

¹⁹Egypt shall be a waste, and Edom a desert waste, Because of violence done to the people of Judah, because they shed innocent blood in their land.

²⁰But Judah shall abide forever, and Jerusalem for all generations.

²¹I will avenge their blood, and not leave it unpunished. The LORD dwells in Zion.

Amos

1 The words of Amos, a shepherd from Tekoa, which he received in vision concerning Israel, in the days of Uzziah, king of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam, son of Joash, king of Israel, two years before the earthquake:

2 The LORD will roar from Zion, and from Jerusalem raise his voice: The pastures of the shepherds will languish, and the summit of Carmel wither.

3 Thus says the LORD: For three crimes of Damascus, and for four, I will not revoke my word; Because they threshed Gilead with sledges of iron,

4 I will send fire upon the house of Hazael, to devour the castles of Ben-hadad.

5 I will break the bar of Damascus; I will root out those who live in the Valley of Aven, And the sceptered ruler of Beth-eden; the people of Aram shall be exiled to Kir, says the LORD.

6 Thus says the LORD: For three crimes of Gaza, and for four, I will not revoke my word; Because they took captive whole groups to hand over to Edom,

7 I will send fire upon the wall of Gaza, to devour her castles;

8 I will root out those who live in Ashdod, and the sceptered ruler of Ashkelon; I will turn my hand against Ekron, and the last of the Philistines shall perish, says the Lord God.

9 Thus says the LORD: For three crimes of Tyre, and for four I will not revoke my word; Because they delivered whole groups captive to Edom, and did not remember the pact of brotherhood,

10 I will send fire upon the wall of Tyre, to devour her castles.

11 Thus says the LORD: For three crimes of Edom, and for four, I will not revoke my word; Because he pursued his brother with the sword, choking up all pity; Because he persisted in his anger and kept his wrath to the end,

12 I will send fire upon Teman, and it will devour the castles of Bozrah.

¹³Thus says the LORD: For three crimes of the Ammonites, and for four, I will not revoke my word; Because they ripped open expectant mothers in Gilead, while extending their territory, ¹⁴I will kindle a fire upon the wall of Rabbah, and it will devour her castles Amid clamor on the day of battle and stormwind in a time of tempest.

¹⁵Their king shall go into captivity, he and his princes with him, says the LORD.

2 Thus says the LORD: For three crimes of Moab, and for four, I will not revoke my word; Because he burned to ashes the bones of Edom's king, ²I will send fire upon Moab, to devour the castles of Kerioth; Moab shall meet death amid uproar and shouts and trumpet blasts.

³I will root out the judge from her midst, and her princes I will slay with him, says the LORD.

⁴Thus says the LORD: For three crimes of Judah, and for four, I will not revoke my word; Because they spurned the law of the LORD, and did not keep his statutes; Because the lies which their fathers followed have led them astray, ⁵I will send fire upon Judah, to devour the castles of Jerusalem.

⁶Thus says the LORD: For three crimes of Israel, and for four, I will not revoke my word; Because they sell the just man for silver, and the poor man for a pair of sandals.

⁷They trample the heads of the weak into the dust of the earth, and force the lowly out of the way. Son and father go to the same prostitute, profaning my holy name.

⁸Upon garments taken in pledge they recline beside any altar; And the wine of those who have been fined they drink in the house of their god.

⁹Yet it was I who destroyed the Amorites before them, who were as tall as the cedars, and as strong as the oak trees. I destroyed their fruit above, and their roots beneath.

¹⁰It was I who brought you up from the land of Egypt, and who led you through the desert for forty years, to occupy the land of the Amorites:

¹¹I who raised up prophets among your sons, and nazirites among your young men. Is this not so, O men of Israel? says the LORD.

¹²But you gave the nazirites wine to drink, and commanded the prophets not to prophesy.

¹³Beware, I will crush you into the ground as a wagon crushes when laden with sheaves.

¹⁴Flight shall perish from the swift, and the strong man shall not retain his strength; The warrior shall not save his life,

¹⁵nor the Bowman stand his ground; The swift of foot shall not escape, nor the horseman save his life.

¹⁶And the most stouthearted of warriors shall flee naked on that day, says the LORD.

3 Hear this word, O men of Israel, that the LORD pronounces over you, over the whole family that I brought up from the land of Egypt:

²You alone have I favored, more than all the families of the earth; Therefore I will punish you for all your crimes.

³Do two walk together unless they have agreed?

⁴Does a lion roar in the forest when it has no prey? Does a young lion cry out from its den unless it has seized something?

⁵Is a bird brought to earth by a snare when there is no lure for it? Does a snare spring up from the ground without catching anything?

⁶If the trumpet sounds in a city, will the people not be frightened? If evil befalls a city, has not the LORD caused it?

⁷Indeed, the Lord GOD does nothing without revealing his plan to his servants, the prophets.

⁸The lion roars-- who will not be afraid! The Lord GOD speaks-- who will not prophesy!

⁹Proclaim this in the castles of Ashdod, in the castles of the land of Egypt: "Gather about the mountain of Samaria, and see the great disorders within her, the oppression in her midst."

¹⁰For they know not how to do what is right, says the LORD, Storing up in their castles what they have extorted and robbed.

¹¹Therefore, thus says the Lord GOD: An enemy shall surround the land, and strip you of your strength, and pillage your castles, ¹²Thus says the LORD: As the shepherd snatches from the mouth of the lion a pair of legs or the tip of an ear of his sheep, So the Israelites who dwell in Samaria shall escape with the corner of a couch or a piece of a cot.

¹³Hear and bear witness against the house of Jacob, says the Lord GOD, the God of hosts:

¹⁴On the day when I punish Israel for his crimes, I will visit also the altars of Bethel: The horns of the altar shall be broken off and fall to the ground.

¹⁵Then will I strike the winter house and the summer house; The ivory apartments shall be ruined, and their many rooms shall be no more, says the LORD.

4Hear this word, women of the mountain of Samaria, you cows of Bashan, You who oppress the weak and abuse the needy; Who say to your lords, "Bring drink for us!"

²The Lord GOD has sworn by his holiness: Truly the days are coming upon you When they shall drag you away with hooks, the last of you with fishhooks;

³You shall go out through the breached walls each by the most direct way, And you shall be cast into the mire, says the LORD.

⁴Come to Bethel and sin, to Gilgal, and sin the more; Each morning bring your sacrifices, every third day, your tithes;

⁵Burn leavened food as a thanksgiving sacrifice, proclaim publicly your freewill offerings, For so you love to do, O men of Israel, says the Lord GOD.

⁶Though I have made your teeth clean of food in all your cities, and have made bread scarce in all your dwellings, Yet you returned not to me, says the LORD.

⁷Though I also withheld the rain from you when the harvest was still three months away; I sent rain upon one city but not upon another; One field was watered by rain, but another without rain dried up;

⁸Though two or three cities staggered to one city for water that did not quench their thirst; Yet you returned not to me, says the LORD.

⁹I struck you with blight and searing wind; your many gardens and vineyards, your fig trees and olive trees the locust devoured; Yet you returned not to me, says the LORD.

¹⁰I sent upon you a pestilence like that of Egypt, and with the sword I slew your young men; Your horses I let be captured, to your nostrils I brought the stench of your camps; Yet you returned not to me, says the LORD.

¹¹I brought upon you such upheaval as when God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah: you were like a brand plucked from the fire; Yet you returned not to me, says the LORD.

¹²So now I will deal with you in my own way, O Israel! and since I will deal thus with you, prepare to meet your God, O Israel:

¹³Him who formed the mountains, and created the wind, and declares to man his thoughts; Who made the dawn and the darkness, and strides upon the heights of the earth: The LORD, the God of hosts by name.

5 Hear this word which I utter over you, a lament, O house of Israel:

²She is fallen, to rise no more, the virgin Israel; She lies abandoned upon her land, with no one to raise her up.

³For thus says the Lord GOD: The city that marched out with a thousand shall be left without a hundred, Another that marched out with a hundred shall be left with ten, of the house of Israel.

⁴For thus says the LORD to the house of Israel: Seek me, that you may live, ⁵but do not seek Bethel; Do not come to Gilgal, and do not cross to Beer-sheba. For Gilgal shall be led into exile, and Bethel shall become nought.

⁶Seek the LORD, that you may live, lest he come upon the house of Joseph like a fire That shall consume, with none to quench it for the house of Israel:

⁷Woe to those who turn judgment to wormwood and cast justice to the ground!

⁸He who made the Pleiades and Orion, who turns darkness into dawn, and darkens day into night; Who summons the waters of the sea, and pours them out upon the surface of the earth;

⁹Who flashes destruction upon the strong, and brings ruin upon the fortress; whose name is LORD.

¹⁰They hate him who reproveth at the gate and abhor him who speaks the truth.

¹¹Therefore, because you have trampled upon the weak and exacted of them levies of grain, Though you have built houses of hewn stone, you shall not live in them! Though you have planted choice vineyards, you shall not drink their wine!

¹²Yes, I know how many are your crimes, how grievous your sins: Oppressing the just, accepting bribes, repelling the needy at the gate!

¹³Therefore the prudent man is silent at this time, for it is an evil time.

¹⁴Seek good and not evil, that you may live; Then truly will the LORD, the God of hosts, be with you as you claim!

¹⁵Hate evil and love good, and let justice prevail at the gate; Then it may be that the LORD, the God of hosts, will have pity on the remnant of Joseph.

¹⁶Therefore, thus says the LORD, the God of hosts, the Lord: In every square there shall be lamentation, and in every street they shall cry, Alas! Alas! They shall summon the farmers to wail and professional mourners to lament, ¹⁷And in every vineyard there shall be lamentation when I pass through your midst, says the LORD.

¹⁸Woe to those who yearn for the day of the LORD! What will this day of the LORD mean for you? Darkness and not light!

¹⁹As if a man went to flee from a lion, and a bear should meet him; Or as if on entering his house he were to rest his hand against the wall, and a snake should bite him.

²⁰Will not the day of the LORD be darkness and not light, gloom without any brightness?

²¹I hate, I spurn your feasts, I take no pleasure in your solemnities;

²²Your cereal offerings I will not accept, nor consider your stall-fed peace offerings.

²³Away with your noisy songs! I will not listen to the melodies of your harps. But if you would offer me holocausts, ²⁴then let justice surge like water, and goodness like an unfailing stream.

²⁵Did you bring me sacrifices and offerings for forty years in the desert, O house of Israel?

²⁶You will carry away Sakkuth, your king, and Kaiwan, your star god, the images that you have made for yourselves;

²⁷For I will exile you beyond Damascus, say I, the LORD, the God of hosts by name.

6 Woe to the complacent in Zion, to the overconfident on the mount of Samaria, Leaders of a nation favored from the first, to whom the people of Israel have recourse!

²Pass over to Calneh and see, go from there to Hamath the great, and down to Gath of the Philistines! Are you better than these kingdoms, or is your territory wider than theirs?

³You would put off the evil day, yet you hasten the reign of violence!

⁴Lying upon beds of ivory, stretched comfortably on their couches, They eat lambs taken from the flock, and calves from the stall!

⁵Improvising to the music of the harp, like David, they devise their own accompaniment.

⁶They drink wine from bowls and anoint themselves with the best oils; yet they are not made ill by the collapse of Joseph!

⁷Therefore, now they shall be the first to go into exile, and their wanton revelry shall be done away with.

⁸The Lord GOD has sworn by his very self, say I, the LORD, the God of hosts: I abhor the pride of Jacob, I hate his castles, and I give over the city with everything in it;

⁹Should there remain ten men in a single house, these shall die.

¹⁰Only a few shall be left to carry the dead out of the houses; If one says to a man inside a house, "Is anyone with you?" and he answers, "No one," Then he shall say, "Silence!" for no one must mention the name of the LORD.

¹¹Indeed, the LORD has given the command to shatter the great house to bits, and reduce the small house to rubble.

¹²Can horses run across a cliff? or can one plow the sea with oxen? Yet you have turned judgment into gall, and the fruit of justice into wormwood.

¹³You rejoice in Lodebar, and say, "Have we not, by our own strength, seized for ourselves Karnaim?"

¹⁴Beware, I am raising up against you, O house of Israel, say I, the LORD, the God of hosts, A nation that shall oppress you from Labo of Hamath even to the Wadi Arabah.

7 This is what the Lord GOD showed me: He was forming a locust swarm when the late growth began to come up (the late growth after the king's mowing).

²While they were eating all the grass in the land, I said: Forgive, O Lord GOD! How can Jacob stand? He is so small!

³And the LORD repented of this. "It shall not be," said the Lord GOD.

⁴Then the Lord GOD showed me this: he called for a judgment by fire. It had devoured the great abyss, and was consuming the land, ⁵when I said: Cease, O Lord GOD! How can Jacob stand? He is so small!

⁶The LORD repented of this. "This also shall not be," said the Lord GOD.

⁷Then the Lord GOD showed me this: he was standing by a wall, plummet in hand.

⁸The LORD asked me, "What do you see, Amos?" And when I answered, "A plummet," the Lord said: See, I will lay the plummet in the midst of my people Israel; I will forgive them no longer.

⁹The high places of Isaac shall be laid waste, and the sanctuaries of Israel made desolate; I will attack the house of Jeroboam with the sword.

¹⁰Amaziah, the priest of Bethel, sent word to Jeroboam, king of Israel: "Amos has conspired against you here within Israel; the country cannot endure all his words.

¹¹For this is what Amos says: Jeroboam shall die by the sword, and Israel shall surely be exiled from its land."

¹²To Amos, Amaziah said: "Off with you, visionary, flee to the land of Judah! There earn your bread by prophesying, ¹³but never again prophesy in Bethel; for it is the king's sanctuary and a royal temple."

¹⁴Amos answered Amaziah, "I was no prophet, nor have I belonged to a company of prophets; I was a shepherd and a dresser of sycamores.

¹⁵The LORD took me from following the flock, and said to me, Go, prophesy to my people Israel.

¹⁶Now hear the word of the LORD!" You say: prophesy not against Israel, preach not against the house of Isaac.

¹⁷Now thus says the LORD: Your wife shall be made a harlot in the city, and your sons and daughters shall fall by the sword; Your land shall be divided by measuring line, and you yourself shall die in an unclean land; Israel shall be exiled far from its land.

This is what the Lord GOD showed me: a basket of ripe fruit.

²"What do you see, Amos?" he asked. I answered, "A basket of ripe fruit." Then the LORD said to me: The time is ripe to have done with my people Israel; I will forgive them no longer.

³The temple songs shall become wailings on that day, says the Lord GOD. Many shall be the corpses, strewn everywhere.--Silence!

⁴Hear this, you who trample upon the needy and destroy the poor of the land!

⁵"When will the new moon be over," you ask, "that we may sell our grain, and the sabbath, that we may display the wheat? We will diminish the ephah, add to the shekel, and fix our scales for cheating!

⁶We will buy the lowly man for silver, and the poor man for a pair of sandals; even the refuse of the wheat we will sell!"

⁷The LORD has sworn by the pride of Jacob: Never will I forget a thing they have done!

⁸Shall not the land tremble because of this, and all who dwell in it mourn, While it rises up and tosses like the Nile, and settles back like the river of Egypt?

⁹On that day, says the Lord GOD, I will make the sun set at midday and cover the earth with darkness in broad daylight.

¹⁰I will turn your feasts into mourning and all your songs into lamentations. I will cover the loins of all with sackcloth and make every head bald. I will make them mourn as for an only son, and bring their day to a bitter end.

¹¹Yes, days are coming, says the Lord GOD, when I will send famine upon the land: Not a famine of bread, or thirst for water, but for hearing the word of the LORD.

¹²Then shall they wander from sea to sea and rove from the north to the east In search of the word of the LORD, but they shall not find it.

¹³On that day, fair virgins and young men shall faint from thirst;

¹⁴Those who swear by the shameful idol of Samaria, "By the life of your god, O Dan!" "By the life of your love, O Beersheba!" those shall fall, never to rise again.

9 I saw the Lord standing beside the altar, and he said: Strike the bases, so that the doorjamb totter till you break them off on the heads of them all! Those who are left I will slay with the sword; not one shall flee, no survivor shall escape.

²Though they break through to the nether world, even from there my hand shall bring them out; Though they climb to the heavens, I will bring them down;

³Though they hide on the summit of Carmel, there too I will hunt them out and take them away; Though they hide from my gaze in the bottom of the sea, I will command the serpent there to bite them;

- ⁴Though they are led into captivity by their enemies, there will I command the sword to slay them. I will fix my gaze upon them for evil, and not for good,
- ⁵I, the Lord GOD of hosts. I melt the earth with my touch, so that all who dwell on it mourn, While it all rises up like the Nile, and settles back like the river of Egypt;
- ⁶I have built heaven, my upper chamber, and established my vault over the earth; I summon the waters of the sea and pour them upon the surface of the earth, I, the LORD by name.
- ⁷Are you not like the Ethiopians to me, O men of Israel, says the LORD? Did I not bring the Israelites from the land of Egypt As I brought the Philistines from Caphtor and the Arameans from Kir?
- ⁸The eyes of the Lord GOD are on this sinful kingdom; I will destroy it from off the face of the earth. But I will not destroy the house of Jacob completely, says the LORD.
- ⁹For see, I have given the command to sift the house of Israel among all the nations, As one sifts with a sieve, letting no pebble fall to the ground.
- ¹⁰By the sword shall all sinners among my people die, those who say, "Evil will not reach or overtake us."
- ¹¹On that day I will raise up the fallen hut of David; I will wall up its breaches, raise up its ruins, and rebuild it as in the days of old,
- ¹²That they may conquer what is left of Edom and all the nations that shall bear my name, say I, the LORD, who will do this.
- ¹³Yes, days are coming, says the LORD, When the plowman shall overtake the reaper, and the vintager, him who sows the seed; The juice of grapes shall drip down the mountains, and all the hills shall run with it.
- ¹⁴I will bring about the restoration of my people Israel; they shall rebuild and inhabit their ruined cities, Plant vineyards and drink the wine, set out gardens and eat the fruits.
- ¹⁵I will plant them upon their own ground; never again shall they be plucked From the land I have given them, say I, the LORD, your God.

Obadiah

1 The vision of Obadiah. (Thus says the Lord GOD:) Of Edom we have heard a message from the LORD, and a herald has been sent among the nations: "Up! let us go to war against him!"

2 See, I make you small among the nations; you are held in dire contempt.

3 The pride of your heart has deceived you: you who dwell in the clefts of the rock, whose abode is in the heights, Who say in your heart, "Who will bring me down to earth?"

4 Though you go as high as the eagle, and your nest be set among the stars, From there will I bring you down, says the LORD.

5 If thieves came to you, if robbers by night, how could you be thus destroyed: would they not steal merely till they had enough? If vintagers came to you, would they not leave some gleanings?

6 How they search Esau, seek out his hiding places!

7 To the border they drive you-- all your allies; They deceive you, they overpower you-- those at peace with you; Those who eat your bread lay snares beneath you: There is no understanding in him!

8 Shall I not, says the LORD, on that day make the wise men disappear from Edom, and understanding from the mount of Esau?

9 Your warriors, O Teman, shall be crushed, till all on Mount Esau are destroyed.

10 Because of violence to your brother Jacob, disgrace shall cover you and you shall be destroyed forever.

11 On the day when you stood by, on the day when aliens carried off his possessions, And strangers entered his gates and cast lots over Jerusalem, you too were one of them.

¹²Gaze not upon the day of your brother, the day of his disaster; Exult not over the children of Judah on the day of their ruin; Speak not haughtily on the day of distress!

¹³Enter not the gate of my people on the day of their calamity; Gaze not, you at least, upon his misfortune on the day of his calamity; Lay not hands upon his possessions on the day of his calamity!

¹⁴Stand not at the crossroads to slay his refugees; Betray not his fugitives on the day of distress!

¹⁵For near is the day of the LORD for all the nations! As you have done, so shall it be done to you, your deed shall come back upon your own head;

¹⁶As you have drunk upon my holy mountain, so shall all the nations drink continually. Yes, they shall drink and swallow, and shall become as though they had not been.

¹⁷But on Mount Zion there shall be a portion saved; the mountain shall be holy, And the house of Jacob shall take possession of those that dispossessed them.

¹⁸The house of Jacob shall be a fire, and the house of Joseph a flame; The house of Esau shall be stubble, and they shall set them ablaze and devour them; Then none shall survive of the house of Esau, for the LORD has spoken.

¹⁹They shall occupy the Negeb, the mount of Esau, and the foothills of the Philistines; And they shall occupy the lands of Ephraim and the lands of Samaria, and Benjamin shall occupy Gilead.

²⁰The captives of the host of the children of Israel shall occupy the Canaanite land as far as Zarephath, And the captives of Jerusalem who are in Sepharad shall occupy the cities of the Negeb.

²¹And saviors shall ascend Mount Zion to rule the mount of Esau, and the kingship shall be the LORD'S.

Jonah

1 This is the word of the LORD that came to Jonah, son of Amittai:

2"Set out for the great city of Nineveh, and preach against it; their wickedness has come up before me."

3But Jonah made ready to flee to Tarshish away from the LORD. He went down to Joppa, found a ship going to Tarshish, paid the fare, and went aboard to journey with them to Tarshish, away from the LORD.

4The LORD, however, hurled a violent wind upon the sea, and in the furious tempest that arose the ship was on the point of breaking up.

5Then the mariners became frightened and each one cried to his god. To lighten the ship for themselves, they threw its cargo into the sea. Meanwhile, Jonah had gone down into the hold of the ship, and lay there fast asleep.

6The captain came to him and said, "What are you doing asleep? Rise up, call upon your God! Perhaps God will be mindful of us so that we may not perish."

7Then they said to one another, "Come, let us cast lots to find out on whose account we have met with this misfortune." So they cast lots, and thus singled out Jonah.

8"Tell us," they said, "what is your business? Where do you come from? What is your country, and to what people do you belong?"

9"I am a Hebrew," Jonah answered them; "I worship the LORD, the God of heaven, who made the sea and the dry land."

10Now the men were seized with great fear and said to him, "How could you do such a thing!!--They knew that he was fleeing from the LORD, because he had told them.--"

11"What shall we do with you," they asked, "that the sea may quiet down for us?" For the sea was growing more and more turbulent.

12Jonah said to them, "Pick me up and throw me into the sea, that it may quiet down for you; since I know it is because of me that this violent storm has come upon you."

¹³Still the men rowed hard to regain the land, but they could not, for the sea grew ever more turbulent.

¹⁴Then they cried to the LORD: "We beseech you, O LORD, let us not perish for taking this man's life; do not charge us with shedding innocent blood, for you, LORD, have done as you saw fit."

¹⁵Then they took Jonah and threw him into the sea, and the sea's raging abated.

¹⁶Struck with great fear of the LORD, the men offered sacrifice and made vows to him.

2 But the LORD sent a large fish, that swallowed Jonah; and he remained in the belly of the fish three days and three nights.

²From the belly of the fish Jonah said this prayer to the LORD, his God:

³Out of my distress I called to the LORD, and he answered me; From the midst of the nether world I cried for help, and you heard my voice.

⁴For you cast me into the deep, into the heart of the sea, and the flood enveloped me; All your breakers and your billows passed over me.

⁵Then I said, "I am banished from your sight! yet would I again look upon your holy temple."

⁶The waters swirled about me, threatening my life; the abyss enveloped me; seaweed clung about my head.

⁷Down I went to the roots of the mountains; the bars of the nether world were closing behind me forever, But you brought my life up from the pit, O LORD, my God.

⁸When my soul fainted within me, I remembered the LORD; My prayer reached you in your holy temple.

⁹Those who worship vain idols forsake their source of mercy.

¹⁰But I, with resounding praise, will sacrifice to you; What I have vowed I will pay: deliverance is from the LORD.

¹¹Then the LORD commanded the fish to spew Jonah upon the shore.

3 The word of the LORD came to Jonah a second time:

²"Set out for the great city of Nineveh, and announce to it the message that I will tell you."

³So Jonah made ready and went to Nineveh, according to the LORD'S bidding. Now Nineveh was an enormously large city; it took three days to go through it.

⁴Jonah began his journey through the city, and had gone but a single day's walk announcing, "Forty days more and Nineveh shall be destroyed,"

⁵when the people of Nineveh believed God; they proclaimed a fast and all of them, great and small, put on sackcloth.

⁶When the news reached the king of Nineveh, he rose from his throne, laid aside his robe, covered himself with sackcloth, and sat in the ashes.

⁷Then he had this proclaimed throughout Nineveh, by decree of the king and his nobles: "Neither man nor beast, neither cattle nor sheep, shall taste anything; they shall not eat, nor shall they drink water.

⁸Man and beast shall be covered with sackcloth and call loudly to God; every man shall turn from his evil way and from the violence he has in hand.

⁹Who knows, God may relent and forgive, and withhold his blazing wrath, so that we shall not perish."

¹⁰When God saw by their actions how they turned from their evil way, he repented of the evil that he had threatened to do to them; he did not carry it out.

4 But this was greatly displeasing to Jonah, and he became angry.

²"I beseech you, LORD," he prayed, "is not this what I said while I was still in my own country? This is why I fled at first to Tarshish. I knew that you are a gracious and merciful God, slow to anger, rich in clemency, loathe to punish.

³And now, LORD, please take my life from me; for it is better for me to die than to live."

⁴But the LORD asked, "Have you reason to be angry?"

⁵Jonah then left the city for a place to the east of it, where he built himself a hut and waited under it in the shade, to see what would happen to the city.

⁶And when the LORD God provided a gourd plant, that grew up over Jonah's head, giving shade that relieved him of any discomfort, Jonah was very happy over the plant.

⁷But the next morning at dawn God sent a worm which attacked the plant, so that it withered.

⁸And when the sun arose, God sent a burning east wind; and the sun beat upon Jonah's head till he became faint. Then he asked for death, saying, "I would be better off dead than alive."

⁹But God said to Jonah, "Have you reason to be angry over the plant?" "I have reason to be angry," Jonah answered, "angry enough to die."

¹⁰Then the LORD said, "You are concerned over the plant which cost you no labor and which you did not raise; it came up in one night and in one night it perished.

¹¹And should I not be concerned over Nineveh, the great city, in which there are more than a hundred and twenty thousand persons who cannot distinguish their right hand from their left, not to mention the many cattle?"

Micah

1 The word of the LORD which came to Micah of Moresheth in the days of Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah: that is, the vision he received concerning Samaria and Jerusalem.

2 Hear, O peoples, all of you, give heed, O earth, and all that fills you! Let the Lord GOD be witness against you, the Lord from his holy temple!

3 For see, the LORD comes forth from his place, he descends and treads upon the heights of the earth.

4 The mountains melt under him and the valleys split open, Like wax before the fire, like water poured down a slope.

5 For the crime of Jacob all this comes to pass, and for the sins of the house of Israel. What is the crime of Jacob? Is it not Samaria? And what is the sin of the house of Judah? Is it not Jerusalem?

6 I will make Samaria a stone heap in the field, a place to plant for vineyards; I will throw down into the valley her stones, and lay bare her foundations.

7 All her idols shall be broken to pieces, all her wages shall be burned in the fire, and all her statues I will destroy. As the wages of a harlot they were gathered, and to the wages of a harlot shall they return.

8 For this reason I lament and wail, I go barefoot and naked; I utter lamentation like the jackals, and mourning like the ostriches.

9 There is no remedy for the blow she has been struck; rather, it has come even to Judah, It reaches to the gate of my people, even to Jerusalem.

10 Publish it not in Gath, weep not at all; In Beth-leaphrah roll in the dust.

11 Pass by, you who dwell in Shaphir! The inhabitants of Zaanan come not forth from their city. The lamentation of Beth-ezel finds in you its grounds.

¹²How can the inhabitants of Maroth hope for good? For evil has come down from the LORD to the gate of Jerusalem.

¹³Harness steeds to the chariots, O inhabitants of Lachish; Lachish, the beginning of sin for daughter Zion, Because there were in you the crimes of Israel.

¹⁴Therefore you shall give parting gifts to Moresheth-gath; Beth-achzib is a deception to the kings of Israel.

¹⁵Yet must I bring to you the conqueror, O inhabitants of Mareshah; Even to Adullam shall go the glory of Israel.

¹⁶Make yourself bald, pluck out your hair, for the children whom you cherish; Let your baldness be as the eagle's, because they are exiled from you.

2Woe to those who plan iniquity, and work out evil on their couches; In the morning light they accomplish it when it lies within their power.

²They covet fields, and seize them; houses, and they take them; They cheat an owner of his house, a man of his inheritance.

³Therefore thus says the LORD: Behold, I am planning against this race an evil from which you shall not withdraw your necks; Nor shall you walk with head high, for it will be a time of evil.

⁴On that day a satire shall be sung over you, and there shall be a plaintive chant: "Our ruin is complete, our fields are portioned out among our captors, The fields of my people are measured out, and no one can get them back!"

⁵Thus you shall have no one to mark out boundaries by lot in the assembly of the LORD.

⁶"Preach not," they preach, "let them not preach of these things!" The shame will not withdraw.

⁷How can it be said, O house of Jacob, "Is the LORD short of patience, or are such his deeds?" Do not my words promise good to him who walks uprightly?

⁸But of late my people has risen up as an enemy: you have stripped off the mantle covering the tunic Of those who go their way in confidence, as though it were spoils of war.

⁹The women of my people you drive out from their pleasant houses; From their children you take away forever the honor I gave them.

¹⁰"Up! Be off, this is no place to rest"; For any trifle you exact a crippling pledge.

¹¹If one, acting on impulse, should make the futile claim: "I pour you wine and strong drink as my prophecy," then he would be the prophet of this people.

¹²I will gather you, O Jacob, each and every one, I will assemble all the remnant of Israel; I will group them like a flock in the fold, like a herd in the midst of its corral; they shall not be thrown into panic by men.

¹³With a leader to break the path they shall burst open the gate and go out through it; Their king shall go through before them, and the LORD at their head.

3 And I said: Hear, you leaders of Jacob, rulers of the house of Israel! Is it not your duty to know what is right,

3 And I said: Hear, you leaders of Jacob, rulers of the house of Israel! Is it not your duty to know what is right,

²you who hate what is good, and love evil? You who tear their skin from them, and their flesh from their bones!

²you who hate what is good, and love evil? You who tear their skin from them, and their flesh from their bones!

³They eat the flesh of my people, and flay their skin from them, and break their bones. They chop them in pieces like flesh in a kettle, and like meat in a caldron.

³They eat the flesh of my people, and flay their skin from them, and break their bones. They chop them in pieces like flesh in a kettle, and like meat in a caldron.

⁴When they cry to the LORD, he shall not answer them; Rather shall he hide his face from them at that time, because of the evil they have done.

⁴When they cry to the LORD, he shall not answer them; Rather shall he hide his face from them at that time, because of the evil they have done.

⁵Thus says the LORD regarding the prophets who lead my people astray; Who, when their teeth have something to bite, announce peace, But when one fails to put something in their mouth, proclaim war against him.

⁵Thus says the LORD regarding the prophets who lead my people astray; Who, when their teeth have something to bite, announce peace, But when one fails to put something in their mouth, proclaim war against him.

⁶Therefore you shall have night, not vision, darkness, not divination; The sun shall go down upon the prophets, and the day shall be dark for them.

⁶Therefore you shall have night, not vision, darkness, not divination; The sun shall go down upon the prophets, and the day shall be dark for them.

⁷Then shall the seers be put to shame, and the diviners confounded; They shall cover their lips, all of them, because there is no answer from God.

⁷Then shall the seers be put to shame, and the diviners confounded; They shall cover their lips, all of them, because there is no answer from God.

⁸But as for me, I am filled with power, with the spirit of the LORD, with authority and with might; To declare to Jacob his crimes and to Israel his sins.

⁸But as for me, I am filled with power, with the spirit of the LORD, with authority and with might; To declare to Jacob his crimes and to Israel his sins.

⁹Hear this, you leaders of the house of Jacob, you rulers of the house of Israel! You who abhor what is just, and pervert all that is right;

⁹Hear this, you leaders of the house of Jacob, you rulers of the house of Israel! You who abhor what is just, and pervert all that is right;

¹⁰Who build up Zion with bloodshed, and Jerusalem with wickedness!

¹⁰Who build up Zion with bloodshed, and Jerusalem with wickedness!

¹¹Her leaders render judgment for a bribe, her priests give decisions for a salary, her prophets divine for money, While they rely on the LORD, saying, "Is not the LORD in the midst of us? No evil can come upon us!"

¹¹Her leaders render judgment for a bribe, her priests give decisions for a salary, her prophets divine for money, While they rely on the LORD, saying, "Is not the LORD in the midst of us? No evil can come upon us!"

¹²Therefore, because of you, Zion shall be plowed like a field, and Jerusalem reduced to rubble, And the mount of the temple to a forest ridge.

¹²Therefore, because of you, Zion shall be plowed like a field, and Jerusalem reduced to rubble, And the mount of the temple to a forest ridge.

4In days to come the mount of the LORD'S house Shall be established higher than the mountains; it shall rise high above the hills, And peoples shall stream to it:

²Many nations shall come, and say, "Come, let us climb the mount of the LORD, to the house of the God of Jacob, That he may instruct us in his ways, that we may walk in his paths." For from Zion shall go forth instruction, and the word of the LORD from Jerusalem.

³He shall judge between many peoples and impose terms on strong and distant nations; They shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks; One nation shall not raise the sword against another, nor shall they train for war again.

⁴Every man shall sit under his own vine or under his own fig tree, undisturbed; for the mouth of the LORD of hosts has spoken.

⁵For all the peoples walk each in the name of its god, But we will walk in the name of the LORD, our God, forever and ever.

⁶On that day, says the LORD, I will gather the lame, And I will assemble the outcasts, and those whom I have afflicted.

⁷I will make of the lame a remnant, and of those driven far off a strong nation; And the LORD shall be king over them on Mount Zion, from now on forever.

⁸And you, O Magdal-eder, hillock of daughter Zion! Unto you shall it come: the former dominion shall be restored, the kingdom of daughter Jerusalem.

⁹Now why do you cry out so? Are you without a king? Or has your counselor perished, That you are seized with pains like a woman in travail?

¹⁰Writhe in pain, grow faint, O daughter Zion, like a woman in travail; For now shall you go forth from the city and dwell in the fields; To Babylon shall you go, there shall you be rescued. There shall the LORD redeem you from the hand of your enemies.

¹¹How many nations are gathered against you! They say, "Let her be profaned, let our eyes see Zion's downfall!"

¹²But they know not the thoughts of the LORD, nor understand his counsel, When he has gathered them like sheaves on the threshing floor.

¹³Arise and thresh, O daughter Zion; your horn I will make iron And your hoofs bronze, that you may crush many peoples; You shall devote their spoils to the LORD, and their riches to the Lord of the whole earth.

¹⁴Now fence yourself in, Bat-gader! "They have laid siege against us!" With the rod they strike on the cheek the ruler of Israel.

5 But you, Bethlehem-Ephrathah too small to be among the clans of Judah, From you shall come forth for me one who is to be ruler in Israel; Whose origin is from of old, from ancient times.

²(Therefore the Lord will give them up, until the time when she who is to give birth has borne, And the rest of his brethren shall return to the children of Israel.)

³He shall stand firm and shepherd his flock by the strength of the LORD, in the majestic name of the LORD, his God; And they shall remain, for now his greatness shall reach to the ends of the earth;

⁴he shall be peace. If Assyria invades our country and treads upon our land, We shall raise against it seven shepherds, eight men of royal rank;

⁵And they shall tend the land of Assyria with the sword, and the land of Nimrod with the drawn sword; And we shall be delivered from Assyria, if it invades our land and treads upon our borders.

⁶The remnant of Jacob shall be in the midst of many peoples, Like dew coming from the LORD, like raindrops on the grass, Which wait for no man, nor tarry for the sons of men.

⁷And the remnant of Jacob shall be among the nations, in the midst of many peoples, Like a lion among beasts of the forest, like a young lion among flocks of sheep; When it passes through, it tramples and tears, and there is none to deliver.

⁸Your hand shall be lifted above your foes, and all your enemies shall be destroyed.

⁹On that day, says the LORD, I will destroy the horses from your midst and ruin your chariots;

¹⁰I will demolish the cities of your land and tear down all your fortresses.

¹¹I will abolish the means of divination from your use, and there shall no longer be soothsayers among you.

¹²I will abolish your carved images and the sacred pillars from your midst; And you shall no longer adore the works of your hands.

¹³I will tear out the sacred poles from your midst, and destroy your cities.

¹⁴I will wreak vengeance in anger and wrath upon the nations that have not hearkened.

6Hear, then, what the LORD says: Arise, present your plea before the mountains, and let the hills hear your voice!

²Hear, O mountains, the plea of the LORD, pay attention, O foundations of the earth! For the LORD has a plea against his people, and he enters into trial with Israel.

³O my people, what have I done to you, or how have I wearied you? Answer me!

⁴For I brought you up from the land of Egypt, from the place of slavery I released you; And I sent before you Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.

⁵My people, remember what Moab's King Balak planned, and how Balaam, the son of Beor, answered him . . . from Shittim to Gilgal, that you may know the just deeds of the LORD.

⁶With what shall I come before the LORD, and bow before God most high? Shall I come before him with holocausts, with calves a year old?

⁷Will the LORD be pleased with thousands of rams, with myriad streams of oil? Shall I give my first-born for my crime, the fruit of my body for the sin of my soul?

⁸You have been told, O man, what is good, and what the LORD requires of you: Only to do right and to love goodness, and to walk humbly with your God.

⁹Hark! the LORD cries to the city. (It is wisdom to fear your name!) Hear, O tribe and city council, ¹⁰Am I to bear any longer criminal hoarding and the meager ephah that is accursed?

¹¹Shall I acquit criminal balances, bags of false weights?

¹²You whose rich men are full of violence, whose inhabitants speak falsehood with deceitful tongues in their heads!

¹³Rather I will begin to strike you with devastation because of your sins.

¹⁴You shall eat, without being satisfied, food that will leave you empty; What you acquire, you cannot save; what you do save, I will deliver up to the sword.

¹⁵You shall sow, yet not reap, tread out the olive, yet pour no oil, and the grapes, yet drink no wine.

¹⁶You have kept the decrees of Omri, and all the works of the house of Ahab, and you have walked in their counsels; Therefore I will deliver you up to ruin, and your citizens to derision; and you shall bear the reproach of the nations.

7 Alas! I am as when the fruit is gathered, as when the vines have been gleaned; There is no cluster to eat, no early fig that I crave.

²The faithful are gone from the earth, among men the upright are no more! They all lie in wait to shed blood, each one ensnares the other.

³Their hands succeed at evil; the prince makes demands, The judge is had for a price, The great man speaks as he pleases,

⁴The best of them is like a brier, the most upright like a thorn hedge. The day announced by your watchmen! your punishment has come; now is the time of your confusion.

- ⁵Put no trust in a friend, have no confidence in a companion; Against her who lies in your bosom guard the portals of your mouth.
- ⁶For the son dishonors his father, the daughter rises up against her mother, The daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law, and a man's enemies are those of his household.
- ⁷But as for me, I will look to the LORD, I will put my trust in God my savior; my God will hear me!
- ⁸Rejoice not over me, O my enemy! though I have fallen, I will arise; though I sit in darkness, the LORD is my light.
- ⁹The wrath of the LORD I will endure because I have sinned against him, Until he takes up my cause, and establishes my right. He will bring me forth to the light; I will see his justice.
- ¹⁰When my enemy sees this, shame shall cover her: She who said to me, "Where is the LORD, thy God?" My eyes shall see her downfall; now shall she be trampled underfoot, like the mire in the streets.
- ¹¹It is the day for building your walls; on that day the boundary shall be taken away.
- ¹²It is the day; and they shall come to you from Assyria and from Egypt, From Tyre even to the River, from sea to sea, and from mountain to mountain;
- ¹³And the land shall be a waste because of its citizens, as a result of their deeds.
- ¹⁴Shepherd your people with your staff, the flock of your inheritance, That dwells apart in a woodland, in the midst of Carmel. Let them feed in Bashan and Gilead, as in the days of old;
- ¹⁵As in the days when you came from the land of Egypt, show us wonderful signs.
- ¹⁶The nations shall behold and be put to shame, in spite of all their strength; They shall put their hands over their mouths; their ears shall become deaf.
- ¹⁷They shall lick the dust like the serpent, like reptiles on the ground; They shall come quaking from their fastnesses, trembling in fear of you (the LORD, our God).

¹⁸Who is there like you, the God who removes guilt and pardons sin for the remnant of his inheritance; Who does not persist in anger forever, but delights rather in clemency,

¹⁹And will again have compassion on us, treading underfoot our guilt? You will cast into the depths of the sea all our sins;

²⁰You will show faithfulness to Jacob, and grace to Abraham, As you have sworn to our fathers from days of old.

Nahum

1 Oracle about Nineveh. The book of the vision of Nahum of Elkosh.

²A jealous and avenging God is the LORD, an avenger is the LORD, and angry; The LORD brings vengeance on his adversaries, and lays up wrath for his enemies;

³The LORD is slow to anger, yet great in power, and the LORD never leaves the guilty unpunished. In hurricane and tempest is his path, and clouds are the dust at his feet;

⁴He rebukes the sea and leaves it dry, and all the rivers he dries up. Withered are Bashan and Carmel, and the bloom of Lebanon fades;

⁵The mountains quake before him, and the hills dissolve; The earth is laid waste before him, the world and all who dwell in it.

⁶Before his wrath, who can stand firm, and who can face his blazing anger? His fury is poured out like fire, and the rocks are rent asunder before him.

⁷The LORD is good, a refuge on the day of distress; He takes care of those who have recourse to him, ⁸when the flood rages; He makes an end of his opponents, and his enemies he pursues with darkness.

⁹What are you imputing to the LORD? It is he who will make an end! The enemy shall not rise a second time;

¹⁰As when a tangle of thornbushes is set aflame, like dry stubble, they shall be utterly consumed.

¹¹From you he came who devised evil against the LORD, the scoundrel planner.

¹²For, says the LORD, be they ever so many and so vigorous, still they shall be mown down and disappear. Though I have humbled you, I will humble you no more.

¹³Now will I break his yoke from off you, and burst asunder your bonds.

¹⁴The LORD has commanded regarding you: no descendant shall come to bear your name; From your temple I will abolish the carved and the molten image; I will make your grave a mockery.

2 See, upon the mountains there advances the bearer of good news, announcing peace! Celebrate your feasts, O Judah, fulfill your vows! For nevermore shall you be invaded by the scoundrel; he is completely destroyed.

²The hammer comes up against you; guard the rampart, Keep watch on the road, gird your loins, marshal all your strength!

³The LORD will restore the vine of Jacob, the pride of Israel, Though ravagers have ravaged them and ruined the tendrils.

⁴The shields of his warriors are crimsoned, the soldiers colored in scarlet; Fiery steel are the chariots on the day of his mustering. The horses are frenzied;

⁵the chariots dash madly through the streets And wheel in the squares, looking like firebrands, flashing like lightning bolts.

⁶His picked troops are called, ranks break at their charge; To the wall they rush, the mantelet is set up.

⁷The river gates are opened, the palace shudders,

⁸Its mistress is led forth captive, and her handmaids, under guard, Moaning like doves, beating their breasts.

⁹Nineveh is like a pool whose waters escape; "Stop! Stop!" but none turns back.

¹⁰"Plunder the silver, plunder the gold!" There is no end to the treasure, to their wealth in precious things of every kind!

¹¹Emptiness, desolation, waste; melting hearts and trembling knees, Writhing in every frame, every face blanched!

¹²Where is the lions' cave, the young lions' den, Where the lion went in and out, and the cub, with no one to disturb them?

¹³The lion snatched enough for his cubs, and strangled for his lionesses; He filled his dens with prey, and his caves with plunder.

¹⁴I come against you, says the LORD of hosts; I will consume in smoke your chariots, and the sword shall devour your young lions; Your preying on the land I will bring to an end, the cry of your lionesses shall be heard no more.

3Woe to the bloody city, all lies, full of plunder, whose looting never stops!

²The crack of the whip, the rumbling sounds of wheels; horses a-gallop, chariots bounding,

³Cavalry charging, The flame of the sword, the flash of the spear, the many slain, the heaping corpses, the endless bodies to stumble upon!

⁴For the many debaucheries of the harlot, fair and charming, a mistress of witchcraft, Who enslaved nations with her harlotries, and peoples by her witchcraft:

⁵I am come against you, and I will strip your skirt from you; I will show your nakedness to the nations, to the kingdoms your shame!

⁶I will cast filth upon you, disgrace you and put you to shame;

⁷Till everyone who sees you runs from you, saying, "Nineveh is destroyed; who can pity her? Where can one find any to console her?"

⁸Are you better than No-amon that was set among the streams, Surrounded by waters, with the flood for her rampart and water her wall?

⁹Ethiopia was her strength, and Egypt, and others without end; Put and the Libyans were her auxiliaries.

¹⁰Yet even she went captive into exile, even her little ones were dashed to pieces at the corner of every street; For her nobles they cast lots, and all her great men were put into chains.

¹¹You too, shall drink of this till you faint away; you, too, shall seek a refuge from the foe.

¹²All your fortresses are but fig trees, bearing early figs That fall, when shaken, into the hungry mouth.

¹³See, the troops are women in your midst; to your foes the gates of your land are open wide, fire has consumed their bars.

¹⁴Draw water for the siege, strengthen your fortresses; Go down into the mud and tread the clay, take hold of the brick mold!

¹⁵There the fire shall consume you, the sword shall cut you down. Multiply like the grasshoppers, multiply like the locusts!

¹⁶Make your couriers more numerous than the stars,

¹⁷your garrisons as many as grasshoppers, And your scribes as locust swarms gathered on the rubble fences on a cold day! Yet when the sun warms them, the grasshoppers will spread their wings and fly, and vanish, no one knows where.

¹⁸Alas! how your shepherds slumber, O king of Assyria, your nobles have gone to rest; Your people are scattered upon the mountains, with none to gather them.

¹⁹There is no healing for your hurt, your wound is mortal. All who hear this news of you clap their hands over you; For who has not been overwhelmed, steadily, by your malice?

Habakkuk

1 The oracle which Habakkuk the prophet received in vision.

²How long, O LORD? I cry for help but you do not listen! I cry out to you, "Violence!" but you do not intervene.

³Why do you let me see ruin; why must I look at misery? Destruction and violence are before me; there is strife, and clamorous discord.

⁴This is why the law is benumbed, and judgment is never rendered: Because the wicked circumvent the just; this is why judgment comes forth perverted.

⁵Look over the nations and see, and be utterly amazed! For a work is being done in your days that you would not have believed, were it told.

⁶For see, I am raising up Chaldea, that bitter and unruly people, That marches the breadth of the land to take dwellings not his own.

⁷Terrible and dreadful is he, from himself derive his law and his majesty.

⁸Swifter than leopards are his horses, and keener than wolves at evening. His horses prance, his horsemen come from afar: They fly like the eagle hastening to devour;

⁹each comes for the rapine, Their combined onset is that of a stormwind that heaps up captives like sand.

¹⁰He scoffs at kings, and princes are his laughingstock; He laughs at any fortress, heaps up a ramp, and conquers it.

¹¹Then he veers like the wind and is gone-- this culprit who makes his own strength his god!

¹²Are you not from eternity, O LORD, my holy God, immortal? O LORD you have marked him for judgment, O Rock, you have readied him for punishment!

¹³Too pure are your eyes to look upon evil, and the sight of misery you cannot endure. Why, then, do you gaze on the faithless in silence while the wicked man devours one more just than himself?

¹⁴You have made man like the fish of the sea, like creeping things without a ruler.

¹⁵He brings them all up with his hook, he hauls them away with his net, He gathers them in his seine; and so he rejoices and exults.

¹⁶Therefore he sacrifices to his net, and burns incense to his seine; For thanks to them his portion is generous, and his repast sumptuous.

¹⁷Shall he, then, keep on brandishing his sword to slay peoples without mercy?

2I will stand at my guard post, and station myself upon the rampart, And keep watch to see what he will say to me, and what answer he will give to my complaint.

²Then the LORD answered me and said: Write down the vision Clearly upon the tablets, so that one can read it readily.

³For the vision still has its time, presses on to fulfillment, and will not disappoint; If it delays, wait for it, it will surely come, it will not be late.

⁴The rash man has no integrity; but the just man, because of his faith, shall live. Wealth, too, is treacherous: the proud, unstable man--

⁵He who opens wide his throat like the nether world, and is insatiable as death, Who gathers to himself all the nations, and rallies to himself all the peoples--

⁶Shall not all these take up a taunt against him, satire and epigrams about him, to say: Woe to him who stores up what is not his: how long can it last! he loads himself down with debts.

⁷Shall not your creditors rise suddenly? Shall not they who make you tremble awake? You shall become their spoil!

⁸Because you despoiled many peoples all the rest of the nations shall despoil you; Because of men's blood shed, and violence done to the land, to the city and to all who dwell in it.

⁹Woe to him who pursues evil gain for his household, setting his nest on high to escape the reach of misfortune!

¹⁰You have devised shame for your household, cutting off many peoples, forfeiting your own life:

¹¹For the stone in the wall shall cry out, and the beam in the woodwork shall answer it!

¹²Woe to him who builds a city by bloodshed, and establishes a town by wickedness!

¹³Is not this from the LORD of hosts: peoples toil for the flames, and nations grow weary for nought!

¹⁴But the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the LORD'S glory as water covers the sea.

¹⁵Woe to you who give your neighbors a flood of your wrath to drink, and make them drunk, till their nakedness is seen!

¹⁶You are filled with shame instead of glory; drink, you too, and stagger! On you shall revert the cup from the LORD'S right hand, and utter shame on your glory.

¹⁷For the violence done to Lebanon shall cover you, and the destruction of the beasts shall terrify you; Because of men's blood shed, and violence done to the land, to the city and to all who dwell in it.

¹⁸Of what avail is the carved image, that its maker should carve it? Or the molten image and lying oracle, that its very maker should trust in it, and make dumb idols?

¹⁹Woe to him who says to wood, "Awake!" to dumb stone, "Arise!" Can such a thing give oracles? See, it is overlaid with gold and silver, but there is no life breath in it.

²⁰But the LORD is in his holy temple; silence before him, all the earth!

3 Prayer of Habakkuk, the prophet. To a plaintive tune.

²O LORD, I have heard your renown, and feared, O LORD, your work. In the course of the years revive it, in the course of the years make it known; in your wrath remember compassion!

³God comes from Teman , the Holy One from Mount Paran. Covered are the heavens with his glory, and with his praise the earth is filled.

⁴His splendor spreads like the light; rays shine forth from beside him, where his power is concealed.

⁵Before him goes pestilence, and the plague follows in his steps.

⁶He pauses to survey the earth; his look makes the nations tremble. The eternal mountains are shattered, the age-old hills bow low along his ancient ways.

⁷I see the tents of Cushan collapse; trembling are the pavilions of the land of Midian.

⁸Is your anger against the streams, O LORD? Is your wrath against the streams, your rage against the sea, That you drive the steeds of your victorious chariot?

⁹Bared and ready is your bow, filled with arrows is your quiver. Into streams you split the earth;

¹⁰at sight of you the mountains tremble. A torrent of rain descends; the ocean gives forth its roar. The sun forgets to rise, ¹¹the moon remains in its shelter, At the light of your flying arrows, at the gleam of your flashing spear.

¹²In wrath you bestride the earth, in fury you trample the nations.

¹³You come forth to save your people, to save your anointed one. You crush the heads of the wicked, you lay bare their bases at the neck.

¹⁴You pierce with your shafts the heads of their princes whose boast would be of devouring the wretched in their lair.

¹⁵You tread the sea with your steeds amid the churning of the deep waters.

¹⁶I hear, and my body trembles; at the sound, my lips quiver. Decay invades my bones, my legs tremble beneath me. I await the day of distress that will come upon the people who attack us.

¹⁷For though the fig tree blossom not nor fruit be on the vines, Though the yield of the olive fail and the terraces produce no nourishment, Though the flocks disappear from the fold and there be no herd in the stalls, ¹⁸Yet will I rejoice in the LORD and exult in my saving God.

¹⁹GOD, my Lord, is my strength; he makes my feet swift as those of hinds and enables me to go upon the heights. For the leader; with stringed instruments.

Zephaniah

1 The word of the LORD which came to Zephaniah, the son of Cushi, the son of Gedaliah, the son of Amariah, the son of Hezekiah, in the days of Josiah, the son of Amon, king of Judah.

2 I will completely sweep away all things from the face of the earth, says the LORD.

3 I will sweep away man and beast, I will sweep away the birds of the sky, and the fishes of the sea. I will overthrow the wicked; I will destroy mankind from the face of the earth, says the LORD.

4 I will stretch out my hand against Judah, and against all the inhabitants of Jerusalem; I will destroy from this place the last vestige of Baal, the very names of his priests.

5 And those who adore the host of heaven on the roofs, with those who adore the LORD but swear by Milcom;

6 And those who have fallen away from the LORD, and those who do not seek the LORD.

7 Silence in the presence of the Lord GOD! for near is the day of the LORD, Yes, the LORD has prepared a slaughter feast, he has consecrated his guests.

8 On the day of the LORD'S slaughter feast I will punish the princes, and the king's sons, and all that dress in foreign apparel.

9 I will punish, on that day, all who leap over the threshold, Who fill the house of their master with violence and deceit.

10 On that day, says the LORD, A cry will be heard from the Fish Gate, a wail from the New Quarter, loud crashing from the hills.

11 Wail, O inhabitants of the Mortar! for all the merchants will be destroyed, all who weigh out silver, done away with.

¹²At that time I will explore Jerusalem with lamps; I will punish the men who thicken on their lees, Who say in their hearts, "Neither good nor evil can the LORD do."

¹³Their wealth shall be given to pillage and their houses to devastation; They will build houses, but shall not dwell in them, plant vineyards, but not drink their wine,

¹⁴Near is the great day of the LORD, near and very swiftly coming, Hark, the day of the LORD! bitter, then, the warrior's cry.

¹⁵A day of wrath is that day a day of anguish and distress, A day of destruction and desolation, a day of darkness and gloom, A day of thick black clouds, ¹⁶a day of trumpet blasts and battle alarm Against fortified cities, against battlements on high.

¹⁷I will hem men in till they walk like the blind, because they have sinned against the LORD; And their blood shall be poured out like dust, and their brains like dung.

¹⁸Neither their silver nor their gold shall be able to save them on the day of the LORD'S wrath, When in the fire of his jealousy all the earth shall be consumed. For he shall make an end, yes, a sudden end, of all who live on the earth.

2 Gather, gather yourselves together, O nation without shame!

²Before you are driven away, like chaff that passes on; Before there comes upon you the blazing anger of the LORD: Before there comes upon you the day of the LORD'S anger.

³Seek the LORD, all you humble of the earth, who have observed his law; Seek justice, seek humility; perhaps you may be sheltered on the day of the LORD'S anger.

⁴For Gaza shall be forsaken, and Ashkelon shall be a waste, Ashdod they shall drive out at midday, and Ekron shall be uprooted.

⁵Woe to you who dwell by the seacoast, to the Cretan folk! The word of the LORD is against you, I will humble you, land of the Philistines, and leave you to perish without an inhabitant!

⁶The coastland of the Cretans shall become fields for shepherds, and folds for flocks.

⁷The coast shall belong to the remnant of the house of Judah; by the sea they shall pasture. In the houses of Ashkelon at evening they shall couch their flocks, For the LORD their God shall visit them, and bring about their restoration.

⁸I have heard the revilings uttered by Moab, and the insults of the Ammonites, When they reviled my people and made boasts against their territory.

⁹Therefore, as I live, says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, Moab shall become like Sodom, the land of Ammon like Gomorrah: A field of nettles and a salt pit and a waste forever. The remnant of my people shall plunder them, the survivors of my nation dispossess them.

¹⁰Such shall be the requital of their pride, because they reviled and boasted against the people of the LORD of hosts.

¹¹The LORD shall inspire them with fear when he makes all the gods of earth to waste away; Then, each from its own place, all the coastlands of the nations shall adore him.

¹²You too, O Cushites, shall be slain by the sword of the LORD.

¹³He will stretch out his hand against the north, to destroy Assyria; He will make Nineveh a waste, dry as the desert.

¹⁴In her midst shall settle in droves all the wild life of the hollows; The screech owl and the desert owl shall roost in her columns; Their call shall resound from the window, the raven's croak from the doorway.

¹⁵Is this the exultant city that dwelt secure; That told herself, "There is no other than I!" How has she become a waste, a lair for wild beasts? Whoever passes by her hisses, and shakes his fist!

3 Woe to the city, rebellious and polluted, to the tyrannical city!

²She hears no voice, accepts no correction; In the LORD she has not trusted, to her God she has not drawn near.

³Her princes in her midst are roaring lions; Her judges are wolves of the night that have had no bones to gnaw by morning.

⁴Her prophets are insolent, treacherous men; Her priests profane what is holy, and do violence to the law.

⁵The LORD within her is just, who does no wrong; Morning after morning he renders judgment unfailingly, at dawn.

⁶I have destroyed nations, their battlements are laid waste; I have made their streets deserted, with no one passing through; Their cities are devastated, with no man dwelling in them.

⁷I said, "Surely now you will fear me, you will accept correction"; She should not fail to see all I have visited upon her. Yet all the more eagerly have they done all their corrupt deeds.

⁸Therefore, wait for me, says the LORD, against the day when I arise as accuser; For it is my decision to gather together the nations, to assemble the kingdoms, In order to pour out upon them my wrath, all my blazing anger; For in the fire of my jealousy shall all the earth be consumed.

⁹For then I will change and purify the lips of the peoples, That they all may call upon the name of the LORD, to serve him with one accord;

¹⁰From beyond the rivers of Ethiopia and as far as the recesses of the North, they shall bring me offerings.

¹¹On that day You need not be ashamed of all your deeds, your rebellious actions against me; For then will I remove from your midst the proud braggarts, And you shall no longer exalt yourself on my holy mountain.

¹²But I will leave as a remnant in your midst a people humble and lowly, Who shall take refuge in the name of the LORD;

¹³the remnant of Israel. They shall do no wrong and speak no lies; Nor shall there be found in their mouths a deceitful tongue; They shall pasture and couch their flocks with none to disturb them.

¹⁴Shout for joy, O daughter Zion! sing joyfully, O Israel! Be glad and exult with all your heart, O daughter Jerusalem!

¹⁵The LORD has removed the judgment against you, he has turned away your enemies; The King of Israel, the LORD, is in your midst, you have no further misfortune to fear.

¹⁶On that day, it shall be said to Jerusalem: Fear not, O Zion, be not discouraged!

¹⁷The LORD, your God, is in your midst, a mighty savior; He will rejoice over you with gladness, and renew you in his love, He will sing joyfully because of you,

¹⁸as one sings at festivals. I will remove disaster from among you, so that none may recount your disgrace.

¹⁹Yes, at that time I will deal with all who oppress you; I will save the lame, and assemble the outcasts; I will give them praise and renown in all the earth, when I bring about their restoration.

²⁰At that time I will bring you home, and at that time I will gather you; For I will give you renown and praise, among all the peoples of the earth, When I bring about your restoration before your very eyes, says the LORD.

Haggai

1 On the first day of the sixth month in the second year of King Darius, the word of the LORD came through the prophet Haggai to the governor of Judah, Zerubbabel, son of Shealtiel, and to the high priest Joshua, son of Jehozadak:

2 Thus says the LORD of hosts: This people says: "Not now has the time come to rebuild the house of the LORD."

3 (Then this word of the LORD came through Haggai, the prophet:)

4 Is it time for you to dwell in your own paneled houses, while this house lies in ruins?

5 Now thus says the LORD of hosts: Consider your ways!

6 You have sown much, but have brought in little; you have eaten, but have not been satisfied; You have drunk, but have not been exhilarated; have clothed yourselves, but not been warmed; And he who earned wages earned them for a bag with holes in it.

7 Thus says the LORD of hosts: Consider your ways!

8 Go up into the hill country; bring timber, and build the house That I may take pleasure in it and receive my glory, says the LORD.

9 You expected much, but it came to little; and what you brought home, I blew away. For what cause? says the LORD of hosts. Because my house lies in ruins, while each of you hurries to his own house.

10 Therefore the heavens withheld from you their dew, and the earth her crops.

11 And I called for a drought upon the land and upon the mountains; Upon the grain, and upon the wine, and upon the oil, and upon all that the ground brings forth; Upon men and upon beasts, and upon all that is produced by hand.

12 Then Zerubbabel, son of Shealtiel, and the high priest Joshua, son of Jehozadak, and all the remnant of the people listened to the voice of the LORD, their God, and to the words of the prophet Haggai, because the LORD, their God, had sent him, and the people feared because of the LORD.

¹³And the LORD'S messenger, Haggai, proclaimed to the people as the message of the LORD: I am with you, says the LORD.

¹⁴Then the LORD stirred up the spirit of the governor of Judah, Zerubbabel, son of Shealtiel, and the spirit of the high priest Joshua, son of Jehozadak, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, so that they came and set to work on the house of the LORD of hosts, their God,

¹⁵on the twenty-fourth day of the sixth month. In the second year of King Darius,

2on the twenty-first day of the seventh month, the word of the LORD came through the prophet Haggai:

²Tell this to the governor of Judah, Zerubbabel, son of Shealtiel, and to the high priest Joshua, son of Jehozadak, and to the remnant of the people:

³Who is left among you that saw this house in its former glory? And how do you see it now? Does it not seem like nothing in your eyes?

⁴But now take courage, Zerubbabel, says the LORD, and take courage, Joshua, high priest, son of Jehozadak, And take courage, all you people of the land, says the LORD, and work! For I am with you, says the LORD of hosts.

⁵This is the pact that I made with you when you came out of Egypt, And my spirit continues in your midst; do not fear!

⁶For thus says the LORD of hosts: One moment yet, a little while, and I will shake the heavens and the earth, the sea and the dry land.

⁷I will shake all the nations, and the treasures of all the nations will come in, And I will fill this house with glory, says the LORD of hosts.

⁸Mine is the silver and mine the gold, says the LORD of hosts.

⁹Greater will be the future glory of this house than the former, says the LORD of hosts; And in this place I will give you peace, says the LORD of hosts.

¹⁰On the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month, in the second year of King Darius, the word of the LORD came to the prophet Haggai:

¹¹Thus says the LORD of hosts: Ask the priests for a decision:

¹²If a man carries sanctified flesh in the fold of his garment and the fold touches bread, or pottage, or wine, or oil, or any other food, do they become sanctified? "No," the priests answered.

¹³Then Haggai said: If a person unclean from contact with a corpse touches any of these, do they become unclean? The priests answered, "They become unclean."

¹⁴Then Haggai continued: So is this people, and so is this nation in my sight, says the LORD: And so are all the works of their hands; and what they offer there is unclean.

¹⁵But now, consider from this day forward. Before there was a stone laid upon a stone in the temple of the LORD, ¹⁶how did you fare? When one went to a heap of grain for twenty measures, it would yield but ten; When another went to the vat to draw fifty measures, there would be but twenty.

¹⁷I struck you in all the works of your hands with blight, searing wind, and hail, yet you did not return to me, says the LORD.

¹⁸(Consider from this day forward: from the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month. From the day on which the temple of the LORD was founded, consider!)

¹⁹Indeed, the seed has not sprouted, nor have the vine, the fig, the pomegranate and the olive tree yet borne. From this day, I will bless!

²⁰The message of the LORD came a second time to Haggai on the twenty-fourth day of the month:

²¹Tell this to Zerubbabel, the governor of Judah: I will shake the heavens and the earth;

²²I will overthrow the thrones of kingdoms, destroy the power of the kingdoms of the nations. I will overthrow the chariots and their riders, and the riders with their horses shall go down by one another's sword.

²³On that day, says the LORD of hosts, I will take you, Zerubbabel, son of Shealtiel, my servant, says the LORD, And I will set you as a signet ring; for I have chosen you, says the LORD of hosts.

Zechariah

1 In the second year of Darius, in the eighth month, the word of the LORD came to the prophet Zechariah, son of Berechiah, son of Iddo:

²The LORD was indeed angry with your fathers. . .

³and say to them: Thus says the LORD of hosts: Return to me, says the LORD of hosts, and I will return to you, says the LORD of hosts.

⁴Be not like your fathers whom the former prophets warned: Thus says the LORD of hosts: Turn from your evil ways and from your wicked deeds. But they would not listen or pay attention to me, says the LORD.

⁵Your fathers, where are they? And the prophets, can they live forever?

⁶But my words and my decrees, which I entrusted to my servants the prophets, did not these overtake your fathers? Then they repented and admitted: "The LORD of hosts has treated us according to our ways and deeds, just as he had determined he would."

⁷In the second year of Darius, on the twenty-fourth day of Shebat, the eleventh month, the word of the LORD came to the prophet Zechariah, son of Berechiah, son of Iddo, in the following way:

⁸I had a vision during the night. There appeared the driver of a red horse, standing among myrtle trees in a shady place, and behind him were red, sorrel, and white horses.

⁹Then I asked, "What are these, my lord?"; and the angel who spoke with me answered me, "I will show you what these are."

¹⁰The man who was standing among the myrtle trees spoke up and said, "These are they whom the LORD has sent to patrol the earth."

¹¹And they answered the angel of the LORD who was standing among the myrtle trees and said, "We have patrolled the earth; see, the whole earth is tranquil and at rest!"

¹²Then the angel of the Lord spoke out and said, "O LORD of hosts, how long will you be without mercy for Jerusalem and the cities of Judah that have felt your anger these seventy years?"

¹³To the angel who spoke with me, the LORD replied with comforting words.

¹⁴And the angel who spoke with me said to me, Proclaim: Thus says the LORD of hosts: I am deeply moved for the sake of Jerusalem and Zion, ¹⁵and I am exceedingly angry with the complacent nations; whereas I was but a little angry, they added to the harm.

¹⁶Therefore, says the LORD: I will turn to Jerusalem in mercy; my house shall be built in it, says the LORD of hosts, and a measuring line shall be stretched over Jerusalem.

¹⁷Proclaim further: Thus says the LORD of hosts: My cities shall again overflow with prosperity; the LORD will again comfort Zion, and again choose Jerusalem.

2 I raised my eyes and looked; there were four horns.

²Then I asked the angel who spoke with me what these were. He answered me, "These are the horns that scattered Judah and Israel and Jerusalem."

³Then the LORD showed me four blacksmiths. And I asked, "What are these coming to do?"

⁴And he said, "Here are the horns that scattered Judah, so that no man raised his head any more; but these have come to terrify them: to cast down the horns of the nations that raised their horns to scatter the land of Judah."

⁵Again I raised my eyes and looked: there was a man with a measuring line in his hand.

⁶"Where are you going?" I asked. "To measure Jerusalem," he answered; "to see how great is its width and how great its length."

⁷Then the angel who spoke with me advanced, and another angel came out to meet him,

⁸and said to him, "Run, tell this to that young man: People will live in Jerusalem as though in open country, because of the multitude of men and beasts in her midst.

⁹But I will be for her an encircling wall of fire, says the LORD, and I will be the glory in her midst."

¹⁰Up, up! Flee from the land of the north, says the LORD; for I scatter you to the four winds of heaven, says the LORD.

¹¹Up, escape to Zion! you who dwell in daughter Babylon.

¹²For thus said the LORD of hosts (after he had already sent me) concerning the nations that have plundered you: Whoever touches you touches the apple of my eye.

¹³See, I wave my hand over them; they become plunder for their slaves. Thus you shall know that the LORD of hosts has sent me.

¹⁴Sing and rejoice, O daughter Zion! See, I am coming to dwell among you, says the LORD.

¹⁵Many nations shall join themselves to the LORD on that day, and they shall be his people, and he will dwell among you, and you shall know that the LORD of hosts has sent me to you.

¹⁶The LORD will possess Judah as his portion of the holy land, and he will again choose Jerusalem.

¹⁷Silence, all mankind, in the presence of the LORD! for he stirs forth from his holy dwelling.

3 Then he showed me Joshua the high priest standing before the angel of the LORD, while Satan stood at his right hand to accuse him.

²And the angel of the LORD said to Satan, "May the LORD rebuke you, Satan; may the LORD who has chosen Jerusalem rebuke you! Is not this man a brand snatched from the fire?"

³Now Joshua was standing before the angel, clad in filthy garments.

⁴He spoke and said to those who were standing before him, "Take off his filthy garments, and clothe him in festal garments."

⁵He also said, "Put a clean miter on his head." And they put a clean miter on his head and clothed him with the garments. Then the angel of the LORD, standing, said, "See, I have taken away your guilt."

⁶The angel of the LORD then gave Joshua this assurance:

⁷"Thus says the LORD of hosts: If you walk in my ways and heed my charge, you shall judge my house and keep my courts, and I will give you access among these standing here.

⁸Listen, O Joshua, high priest! You and your associates who sit before you are men of good omen. Yes, I will bring my servant the Shoot.

⁹Look at the stone that I have placed before Joshua, one stone with seven facets. I will engrave its inscription, says the LORD of hosts, and I will take away the guilt of the land in one day.

¹⁰On that day, says the LORD of hosts, you will invite one another under your vines and fig trees."

4 Then the angel who spoke with me returned and awakened me, like a man awakened from his sleep.

²"What do you see?" he asked me. "I see a lampstand all of gold, with a bowl at the top," I replied; "on it are seven lamps with their tubes, ³and beside it are two olive trees, one on the right and the other on the left."

⁴Then I said to the angel who spoke with me, "What are these things, my lord?"

⁵And the angel who spoke with me replied, "Do you not know what these things are?" "No, my lord," I answered.

⁶Then he said to me, "This is the LORD'S message to Zerubbabel: Not by an army, nor by might, but by my spirit, says the LORD of hosts.

⁷What are you, O great mountain? Before Zerubbabel you are but a plain. He shall bring out the capstone amid exclamations of 'Hail, Hail' to it."

⁸This word of the LORD then came to me:

⁹The hands of Zerubbabel have laid the foundations of this house, and his hands shall finish it; then you shall know that the LORD of hosts has sent me to you.

¹⁰For even they who were scornful on that day of small beginnings shall rejoice to see the select stone in the hands of Zerubbabel. These seven facets are the eyes of the LORD that range over the whole earth.

¹¹I then asked him, "What are these two olive trees at each side of the lampstand?"

¹²And again I asked, "What are the two olive tufts which freely pour out fresh oil through the two golden channels?"

¹³"Do you not know what these are?" he said to me. "No, my lord," I answered him.

¹⁴He said, "These are the two anointed who stand by the LORD of the whole earth."

5 Then I raised my eyes again and saw a scroll flying.

²"What do you see?" he asked me. I answered, "I see a scroll flying; it is twenty cubits long and ten cubits wide."

³Then he said to me: "This is the curse which is to go forth over the whole earth; in accordance with it shall every thief be swept away, and in accordance with it shall every perjurer be expelled from here.

⁴I will send it forth, says the LORD of hosts, and it shall come into the house of the thief, or into the house of him who perjures himself with my name; it shall lodge within his house, consuming it, timber and stones."

⁵Then the angel who spoke with me came forward and said to me, "Raise your eyes and see what this is that comes forth."

⁶"What is it?" I asked. And he answered, "This is a bushel container coming. This is their guilt in all the land."

⁷Then a leaden cover was lifted, and there was a woman sitting inside the bushel.

⁸"This is Wickedness," he said; and he thrust her inside the bushel, pushing the leaden cover into the opening.

⁹Then I raised my eyes and saw two women coming forth with a wind ruffling their wings, for they had wings like the wings of a stork. As they lifted up the bushel into the air,

¹⁰I said to the angel who spoke with me, "Where are they taking the bushel?"

¹¹He replied, "To build a temple for it in the land of Shinar; when the temple is ready, they will deposit it there in its place."

6 Again I raised my eyes and saw four chariots coming out from between two mountains; and the mountains were of bronze.

²The first chariot had red horses, the second chariot black horses,

³the third chariot white horses, and the fourth chariot spotted horses--all of them strong horses.

⁴I asked the angel who spoke with me, "What are these, my lord?"

⁵The angel said to me in reply, "These are the four winds of the heavens, which are coming forth after being reviewed by the LORD of all the earth."

⁶The chariot with the black horses was turning toward the land of the north, the red and the white horses went after them, and the spotted ones went toward the land of the south.

⁷As these strong horses emerged, eager to set about patrolling the earth, he said, "Go, patrol the earth!" Then, as they patrolled the earth,

⁸he called out to me and said, "See, they that go forth to the land of the north will make my spirit rest in the land of the north."

⁹This word of the LORD then came to me:

¹⁰Take from the returned captives Heldai, Tobijah, Jedaiah; and go the same day to the house of Josiah, son of Zephaniah (these had come from Babylon).

¹¹Silver and gold you shall take, and make a crown; place it on the head of (Joshua, son of Jehozadak, the high priest) Zerubbabel.

¹²And say to him: Thus says the LORD of hosts: Here is a man whose name is Shoot, and where he is he shall sprout, and he shall build the temple of the LORD.

¹³Yes, he shall build the temple of the LORD, and taking up the royal insignia, he shall sit as ruler upon his throne. The priest shall be put at his right hand, and between the two of them there shall be friendly understanding.

¹⁴The crown itself shall be a memorial offering in the temple of the LORD in favor of Heldai, Tobijah, Jedaiah, and the son of Zephaniah.

¹⁵And they who are from afar shall come and build the temple of the LORD, and you shall know that the LORD of hosts has sent me to you. And if you heed carefully the voice of the LORD your God. . . .

7 In the fourth year of Darius the king (the word of the LORD came to Zechariah), on the fourth day of Chislev, the ninth month,

²Bethsarezzer sent Regemmelech and his men to implore favor of the LORD

³and to ask the priests of the house of the LORD of hosts, and the prophets, "Must I mourn and abstain in the fifth month as I have been doing these many years?"

⁴Thereupon this word of the LORD of hosts came to me:

⁵Say to all the people of the land and to the priests: When you fasted and mourned in the fifth and in the seventh month these seventy years, was it really for me that you fasted?

⁶And when you were eating and drinking, was it not for yourselves that you ate, and for yourselves that you drank?

⁷Were not these the words which the LORD spoke through the former prophets, when Jerusalem and the surrounding cities were inhabited and at peace, when the Negeb and the foothills were inhabited?

⁸(This word of the LORD came to Zechariah:

⁹Thus says the LORD of hosts:) Render true judgment, and show kindness and compassion toward each other.

¹⁰Do not oppress the widow or the orphan, the alien or the poor; do not plot evil against one another in your hearts.

¹¹But they refused to listen; they stubbornly turned their backs and stopped their ears so as not to hear.

¹²And they made their hearts diamondhard so as not to hear the teaching and the message that the LORD of hosts had sent by his spirit through the former prophets.

¹³Then the LORD of hosts in his great anger said that, as they had not listened when he called, so he would not listen when they called,

¹⁴but would scatter them with a whirlwind among all the nations that they did not know. Thus the land was left desolate after them with no one traveling to and fro; they made the pleasant land into a desert.

8This word of the LORD of hosts came: Thus says the LORD of hosts:

²I am intensely jealous for Zion, stirred to jealous wrath for her.

³Thus says the LORD: I will return to Zion, and I will dwell within Jerusalem; Jerusalem shall be called the faithful city, and the mountain of the LORD of hosts, the holy mountain.

⁴Thus says the LORD of hosts: Old men and old women, each with staff in hand because of old age, shall again sit in the streets of Jerusalem.

⁵The city shall be filled with boys and girls playing in her streets.

⁶Thus says the LORD of hosts: Even if this should seem impossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people, shall it in those days be impossible in my eyes also, says the LORD of hosts?

⁷Thus says the LORD of hosts: Lo, I will rescue my people from the land of the rising sun, and from the land of the setting sun.

⁸I will bring them back to dwell within Jerusalem. They shall be my people, and I will be their God, with faithfulness and justice.

⁹Thus says the LORD of hosts: Let your hands be strong, you who in these days hear these words spoken by the prophets on the day when the foundation of the house of the LORD of hosts was laid for the building of the temple.

¹⁰For before those days there were no wages for men, or hire for beasts; those who came and went had no security from the enemy, for I set every man against his neighbor.

¹¹But now I will not deal with the remnant of this people as in former days, says the LORD of hosts, ¹²for it is the seedtime of peace: the vine shall yield its fruit, the land shall bear its crops, and the heavens shall give their dew; all these things I will have the remnant of the people possess.

¹³Just as you were a curse among the nations, O house of Judah and house of Israel, so will I save you that you may be a blessing; do not fear, but let your hands be strong.

¹⁴Thus says the LORD of hosts: As I determined to harm you when your fathers provoked me to wrath, says the LORD of hosts, and I did not relent, ¹⁵so again in these days I have determined to favor Jerusalem and the house of Judah; do not fear!

¹⁶These then are the things you should do: Speak the truth to one another; let there be honesty and peace in the judgments at your gates,

¹⁷and let none of you plot evil against another in his heart, nor love a false oath. For all these things I hate, says the LORD.

¹⁸This word of the LORD of hosts came to me:

¹⁹Thus says the LORD of hosts: The fast days of the fourth, the fifth, the seventh, and the tenth months shall become occasions of joy and gladness, cheerful festivals for the house of Judah; only love faithfulness and peace.

²⁰Thus says the LORD of hosts: There shall yet come peoples, the inhabitants of many cities;

²¹and the inhabitants of one city shall approach those of another, and say, "Come! let us go to implore the favor of the LORD"; and, "I too will go to seek the LORD."

²²Many peoples and strong nations shall come to seek the LORD of hosts in Jerusalem and to implore the favor of the LORD.

²³Thus says the LORD of hosts: In those days ten men of every nationality, speaking different tongues, shall take hold, yes, take hold of every Jew by the edge of his garment and say, "Let us go with you, for we have heard that God is with you."

9An oracle: The word of the LORD is upon the land of Hadrach, and Damascus is its resting place, For the cities of Aram are the LORD'S, as are all the tribes of Israel, ²Hamath also, on its border, Tyre too, and Sidon, however wise they be.

³Tyre built herself a stronghold, and heaped up silver like dust, and gold like the mire of the streets.

⁴Lo, the LORD will strip her of her possessions, and smite her power on the sea, and she shall be devoured by fire.

⁵Ashkelon shall see it and be afraid; Gaza also: she shall be in great anguish; Ekron, too, for her hope shall come to nought. The king shall disappear from Gaza, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited,

⁶and the baseborn shall occupy Ashdod. I will destroy the pride of the Philistine

⁷and take from his mouth his bloody meat, and his abominations from between his teeth: He also shall become a remnant for our God, and shall be like a family in Judah, and Ekron shall be like the Jebusites.

⁸I will encamp by my house as a guard that none may pass to and fro; No oppressor shall pass over them again, for now I have regard for their affliction.

⁹Rejoice heartily, O daughter Zion, shout for joy, O daughter Jerusalem! See, your king shall come to you; a just savior is he, Meek, and riding on an ass, on a colt, the foal of an ass.

¹⁰He shall banish the chariot from Ephraim, and the horse from Jerusalem; The warrior's bow shall be banished, and he shall proclaim peace to the nations. His dominion shall be from sea to sea, and from the River to the ends of the earth.

¹¹As for you, for the blood of your covenant with me, I will bring forth your prisoners from the dungeon.

¹²In the return to the fortress of the waiting prisoners, This very day, I will return you double for your exile.

¹³For I will bend Judah as my bow, I will arm myself with Ephraim; I will arouse your sons, O Zion, (against your sons, O Yavan,) and I will use you as a warrior's sword.

¹⁴The LORD shall appear over them, and his arrow shall shoot forth as lightning; The LORD God shall sound the trumpet, and come in a storm from the south.

¹⁵The LORD of hosts shall be a shield over them, they shall overcome sling stones and trample them underfoot; They shall drink blood like wine, till they are filled with it like libation bowls, like the corners of the altar.

¹⁶And the LORD, their God, shall save them on that day, his people, like a flock. For they are the jewels in a crown raised aloft over his land.

¹⁷For what wealth is theirs, and what beauty! grain that makes the youths flourish, and new wine, the maidens!

10 Ask of the LORD rain in the spring season! It is the LORD who makes storm clouds. And sends men the pouring rain; for everyone, grassy fields.

²For the teraphim speak nonsense, the diviners have false visions: Deceitful dreams they tell, empty comfort they offer. This is why they wander like sheep, wretched: they have no shepherd.

³My wrath is kindled against the shepherds, and I will punish the leaders; For the LORD of hosts will visit his flock, the house of Judah, and make them his stately war horse.

⁴From him shall come leader and chief, from him warrior's bow and every officer.

⁵They shall all be warriors, trampling the mire of the streets in battle; They shall wage war because the LORD is with them, and shall put the horsemen to rout.

⁶I will strengthen the house of Judah, the house of Joseph I will save; I will bring them back, because I have mercy on them, they shall be as though I had never cast them off, for I am the LORD, their God, and I will hear them.

⁷Then Ephraim shall be valiant men, and their hearts shall be cheered as by wine. Their children shall see it and be glad, their hearts shall rejoice in the LORD.

⁸I will whistle for them to come together, and when I redeem them they will be as numerous as before.

⁹I sowed them among the nations, yet in distant lands they remember me; they shall rear their children and return.

¹⁰I will bring them back from the land of Egypt, and gather them from Assyria. I will bring them into Gilead and into Lebanon, but these shall not suffice them;

¹¹I will cross over to Egypt and smite the waves of the sea and all the depths of the Nile shall be dried up. The pride of Assyria shall be cast down, and the scepter of Egypt taken away.

¹²I will strengthen them in the LORD, and they shall walk in his name, says the LORD.

11

Open your doors, O Lebanon, that the fire may devour your cedars!

²Wail, you cypress trees, for the cedars are fallen, the mighty have been despoiled. Wail, you oaks of Bashan, for the impenetrable forest is cut down!

³Hark! the wailing of the shepherds, their glory has been ruined. Hark! the roaring of the young lions, the jungle of the Jordan is laid waste.

⁴Thus said the LORD, my God: Shepherd the flock to be slaughtered.

⁵For they who buy them slay them with impunity; while those who sell them say, "Blessed be the LORD, I have become rich!" Even their own shepherds do not feel for them.

⁶(Nor shall I spare the inhabitants of the earth any more, says the LORD. Yes, I will deliver each of them into the power of his neighbor, or into the power of his king; they shall crush the earth, and I will not deliver it out of their power.)

⁷So I became the shepherd of the flock to be slaughtered for the sheep merchants. I took two staves, one of which I called "Favor," and the other, "Bonds," and I fed the flock.

⁸In a single month I did away with the three shepherds. I wearied of them, and they behaved badly toward me.

⁹"I will not feed you," I said. "What is to die, let it die; what is to perish, let it perish, and let those that are left devour one another's flesh."

¹⁰Then I took my staff "Favor" and snapped it asunder, breaking off the covenant which I had made with all peoples;

¹¹that day it was broken off. The sheep merchants who were watching me understood that this was the word of the LORD.

¹²I said to them, "If it seems good to you, give me my wages; but if not, let it go." And they counted out my wages, thirty pieces of silver.

¹³But the LORD said to me, "Throw it in the treasury, the handsome price at which they valued me." So I took the thirty pieces of silver and threw them into the treasury in the house of the LORD.

¹⁴Then I snapped asunder my other staff, "Bonds," breaking off the brotherhood between Judah and Israel.

¹⁵The LORD said to me: This time take the gear of a foolish shepherd.

¹⁶For I will raise up a shepherd in the land who will take no note of those that perish, nor seek the strays, nor heal the injured, nor feed what survives--he will eat the flesh of the fat ones and tear off their hoofs!

¹⁷Woe to my foolish shepherd who forsakes the flock! May the sword fall upon his arm and upon his right eye; Let his arm wither away entirely, and his right eye be blind forever!

12 An oracle: the word of the LORD concerning Israel. Thus says the LORD, who spreads out the heavens, lays the foundations of the earth, and forms the spirit of man within him:

²See, I will make Jerusalem a bowl to stupefy all peoples round about. (Judah will be besieged, even Jerusalem.)

³On that day I will make Jerusalem a weighty stone for all peoples. All who attempt to lift it shall injure themselves badly, and all the nations of the earth shall be gathered against her.

⁴On that day, says the LORD, I will strike every horse with fright, and its rider with madness. I will strike blind all the horses of the peoples, but upon the house of Judah I will open my eyes,

⁵and the princes of Judah shall say to themselves, "The inhabitants of Jerusalem have their strength in the LORD of hosts, their God."

⁶On that day I will make the princes of Judah like a brazier of fire in the woodland, and like a burning torch among sheaves, and they shall devour right and left all the surrounding peoples; but Jerusalem shall still abide on its own site.

⁷The LORD shall save the tents of Judah first, that the glory of the house of David and the glory of the inhabitants of Jerusalem may not be exalted over Judah.

⁸On that day, the LORD will shield the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and the weakling among them shall be like David on that day, and the house of David godlike, like an angel of the LORD before them.

⁹On that day I will seek the destruction of all nations that come against Jerusalem.

¹⁰I will pour out on the house of David and on the inhabitants of Jerusalem a spirit of grace and petition; and they shall look on him whom they have thrust through, and they shall mourn for him as one mourns for an only son, and they shall grieve over him as one grieves over a first-born.

¹¹On that day the mourning in Jerusalem shall be as great as the mourning of Hadadrimmon in the plain of Megiddo.

¹²And the land shall mourn, each family apart: the family of the house of David, and their wives; the family of the house of Nathan, and their wives;

¹³the family of the house of Levi, and their wives; the family of Shemei, and their wives;

¹⁴and all the rest of the families, each family apart, and the wives apart.

13 On that day there shall be open to the house of David and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, a fountain to purify from sin and uncleanness.

²On that day, says the LORD of hosts, I will destroy the names of the idols from the land, so that they shall be mentioned no more; I will also take away the prophets and the spirit of uncleanness from the land.

³If a man still prophesies, his parents, father and mother, shall say to him, "You shall not live, because you have spoken a lie in the name of the LORD." When he prophesies, his parents, father and mother, shall thrust him through.

⁴On that day, every prophet shall be ashamed to prophesy his vision, neither shall he assume the hairy mantle to mislead,

⁵but he shall say, "I am no prophet, I am a tiller of the soil, for I have owned land since my youth."

⁶And if anyone asks him, "What are these wounds on your chest?" he shall answer, "With these I was wounded in the house of my dear ones."

⁷Awake, O sword, against my shepherd, against the man who is my associate, says the LORD of hosts. Strike the shepherd that the sheep may be dispersed, and I will turn my hand against the little ones.

⁸In all the land, says the LORD, two thirds of them shall be cut off and perish, and one third shall be left.

⁹I will bring the one third through fire, and I will refine them as silver is refined, and I will test them as gold is tested. They shall call upon my name, and I will hear them. I will say, "They are my people," and they shall say, "The LORD is my God."

14Lo, a day shall come for the LORD when the spoils shall be divided in your midst.

²And I will gather all the nations against Jerusalem for battle: the city shall be taken, houses plundered, women ravished; half of the city shall go into exile, but the rest of the people shall not be removed from the city.

³Then the LORD shall go forth and fight against those nations, fighting as on a day of battle.

⁴That day his feet shall rest upon the Mount of Olives, which is opposite Jerusalem to the east. The Mount of Olives shall be cleft in two from east to west by a very deep valley, and half of the mountain shall move to the north and half of it to the south.

⁵And the valley of the LORD'S mountain shall be filled up when the valley of those two mountains reaches its edge; it shall be filled up as it was filled up by the earthquake in the days of King Uzziah of Judah. Then the LORD, my God, shall come, and all his holy ones with him.

⁶On that day there shall no longer be cold or frost.

⁷There shall be one continuous day, known to the LORD, not day and night, for in the evening time there shall be light.

⁸On that day, living waters shall flow from Jerusalem, half to the eastern sea, and half to the western sea, and it shall be so in summer and in winter.

⁹The LORD shall become king over the whole earth; on that day the LORD shall be the only one, and his name the only one.

¹⁰And from Geba to Rimmon in the Negeb, all the land shall turn into a plain; but Jerusalem shall remain exalted in its place. From the Gate of Benjamin to the place of the First Gate, to the Corner Gate; and from the Tower of Hananel to the king's wine presses, ¹¹they shall occupy her. Never again shall she be doomed; Jerusalem shall abide in security.

¹²And this shall be the plague with which the LORD shall strike all the nations that have fought against Jerusalem: their flesh shall rot while they stand upon their feet, and their eyes shall rot in their sockets, and their tongues shall rot in their mouths.

¹³On that day there shall be among them a great tumult from the LORD: every man shall seize the hand of his neighbor, and the hand of each shall be raised against that of his neighbor.

¹⁴Judah also shall fight against Jerusalem. The riches of all the surrounding nations shall be gathered together, gold, silver, and garments, in great abundance.

¹⁵Similar to this plague shall be the plague upon the horses, mules, camels, asses, and upon all the beasts that are in those camps.

¹⁶All who are left of all the nations that came against Jerusalem shall come up year after year to worship the King, the LORD of hosts, and to celebrate the feast of Booths.

¹⁷If any of the families of the earth does not come up to Jerusalem to worship the King, the LORD of hosts, no rain shall fall upon them.

¹⁸And if the family of Egypt does not come up, or enter, upon them shall fall the plague which the LORD will inflict upon all the nations that do not come up to celebrate the feast of Booths.

¹⁹This shall be the punishment of Egypt, and the punishment of all the nations that do not come up to celebrate the feast of Booths.

²⁰On that day there shall be upon the bells of the horses, "Holy to the LORD." The pots in the house of the LORD shall be as the libation bowls before the altar.

²¹And every pot in Jerusalem and in Judah shall be holy to the LORD of hosts; and all who come to sacrifice shall take them and cook in them. On that day there shall no longer be any merchant in the house of the LORD of hosts.

Malachi

1 An oracle. The word of the LORD to Israel through Malachi.

²I have loved you, says the LORD; but you say, "How have you loved us?"

³Was not Esau Jacob's brother? says the LORD: yet I loved Jacob, but hated Esau; I made his mountains a waste, his heritage a desert for jackals.

⁴If Edom says, "We have been crushed but we will rebuild the ruins," Thus says the LORD of hosts: They indeed may build, but I will tear down, And they shall be called the land of guilt, the people with whom the LORD is angry forever.

⁵Your own eyes shall see it, and you will say, "Great is the LORD, even beyond the land of Israel."

⁶A son honors his father, and a servant fears his master; If then I am a father, where is the honor due to me? And if I am a master, where is the reverence due to me?-- So says the LORD of hosts to you, O priests, who despise his name. But you ask, "How have we despised your name?"

⁷By offering polluted food on my altar! Then you ask, "How have we polluted it?" By saying the table of the LORD may be slighted!

⁸When you offer a blind animal for sacrifice, is this not evil? When you offer the lame or the sick, is it not evil? Present it to your governor; see if he will accept it, or welcome you, says the LORD of hosts.

⁹So now if you implore God for mercy on us, when you have done the like Will he welcome any of you? says the LORD of hosts.

¹⁰Oh, that one among you would shut the temple gates to keep you from kindling fire on my altar in vain! I have no pleasure in you, says the LORD of hosts; neither will I accept any sacrifice from your hands,

¹¹For from the rising of the sun, even to its setting, my name is great among the nations; And everywhere they bring sacrifice to my name, and a pure offering; For great is my name among the nations, says the LORD of hosts.

¹²But you behave profanely toward me by thinking the LORD'S table and its offering may be polluted, and its food slighted.

¹³You also say, "What a burden!" and you scorn it, says the LORD of hosts; You bring in what you seize, or the lame, or the sick; yes, you bring it as a sacrifice. Shall I accept it from your hands? says the LORD.

¹⁴Cursed is the deceiver, who has in his flock a male, but under his vow sacrifices to the LORD a gelding; For a great King am I, says the LORD of hosts, and my name will be feared among the nations.

2And now, O priests, this commandment is for you: If you do not listen, ²And if you do not lay it to heart, to give glory to my name, says the LORD of hosts, I will send a curse upon you and of your blessing I will make a curse. Yes, I have already cursed it, because you do not lay it to heart.

³Lo, I will deprive you of the shoulder and I will strew dung in your faces, The dung of your feasts, and you will be carried off with it.

⁴Then you will know that I sent you this commandment because I have a covenant with Levi, says the LORD of hosts.

⁵My covenant with him was one of life and peace; fear I put in him, and he feared me, and stood in awe of my name.

⁶True doctrine was in his mouth, and no dishonesty was found upon his lips; He walked with me in integrity and in uprightness, and turned many away from evil.

⁷For the lips of the priest are to keep knowledge, and instruction is to be sought from his mouth, because he is the messenger of the LORD of hosts.

⁸But you have turned aside from the way, and have caused many to falter by your instruction; You have made void the covenant of Levi, says the LORD of hosts.

⁹I, therefore, have made you contemptible and base before all the people, Since you do not keep my ways, but show partiality in your decisions.

¹⁰Have we not all the one Father? Has not the one God created us? Why then do we break faith with each other, violating the covenant of our fathers?

¹¹Judah has broken faith; an abominable thing has been done in Israel and in Jerusalem. Judah has profaned the temple which the LORD loves, and has married an idolatrous woman.

¹²May the LORD cut off from the man who does this both witness and advocate out of the tents of Jacob, and anyone to offer sacrifice to the LORD of hosts!

¹³This also you do: the altar of the LORD you cover with tears, weeping and groaning, Because he no longer regards your sacrifice nor accepts it favorably from your hand;

¹⁴And you say, "Why is it?"-- Because the LORD is witness between you and the wife of your youth, With whom you have broken faith though she is your companion, your betrothed wife.

¹⁵Did he not make one being, with flesh and spirit: and what does that one require but godly offspring? You must then safeguard life that is your own, and not break faith with the wife of your youth.

¹⁶For I hate divorce, says the LORD, the God of Israel, And covering one's garment with injustice, says the LORD of hosts; You must then safeguard life that is your own, and not break faith.

¹⁷You have wearied the LORD with your words, yet you say, "How have we wearied him?" By your saying, "Every evildoer is good in the sight of the LORD, And he is pleased with him"; or else, "Where is the just God?"

3Lo, I am sending my messenger to prepare the way before me; And suddenly there will come to the temple the LORD whom you seek, And the messenger of the covenant whom you desire. Yes, he is coming, says the LORD of hosts.

²But who will endure the day of his coming? And who can stand when he appears? For he is like the refiner's fire, or like the fuller's lye.

³He will sit refining and purifying (silver), and he will purify the sons of Levi, Refining them like gold or like silver that they may offer due sacrifice to the LORD.

⁴Then the sacrifice of Judah and Jerusalem will please the LORD, as in days of old, as in years gone by.

⁵I will draw near to you for judgment, and I will be swift to bear witness Against the sorcerers, adulterers, and perjurers, those who defraud the hired man of his wages,

Against those who defraud widows and orphans; those who turn aside the stranger, and those who do not fear me, says the LORD of hosts.

⁶Surely I, the LORD, do not change, nor do you cease to be sons of Jacob.

⁷Since the days of your fathers you have turned aside from my statutes, and have not kept them. Return to me, and I will return to you, says the LORD of hosts. Yet you say, "How must we return?"

⁸Dare a man rob God? Yet you are robbing me! And you say, "How do we rob you?" In tithes and in offerings!

⁹You are indeed accursed, for you, the whole nation, rob me.

¹⁰Bring the whole tithe into the storehouse, That there may be food in my house, and try me in this, says the LORD of hosts: Shall I not open for you the floodgates of heaven, to pour down blessing upon you without measure?

¹¹For your sake I will forbid the locust to destroy your crops; And the vine in the field will not be barren, says the LORD of hosts.

¹²Then all nations will call you blessed, for you will be a delightful land, says the LORD of hosts.

¹³You have defied me in word, says the LORD, yet you ask, "What have we spoken against you?"

¹⁴You have said, "It is vain to serve God, and what do we profit by keeping his command, And going about in penitential dress in awe of the LORD of hosts?"

¹⁵Rather must we call the proud blessed; for indeed evildoers prosper, and even tempt God with impunity."

¹⁶Then they who fear the LORD spoke with one another, and the LORD listened attentively; And a record book was written before him of those who fear the LORD and trust in his name.

¹⁷And they shall be mine, says the LORD of hosts, my own special possession, on the day I take action. And I will have compassion on them, as a man has compassion on his son who serves him.

¹⁸Then you will again see the distinction between the just and the wicked; Between him who serves God, and him who does not serve him.

¹⁹For lo, the day is coming, blazing like an oven, when all the proud and all evildoers will be stubble, And the day that is coming will set them on fire, leaving them neither root nor branch, says the LORD of hosts.

²⁰But for you who fear my name, there will arise the sun of justice with its healing rays; And you will gambol like calves out of the stall

²¹and tread down the wicked; They will become ashes under the soles of your feet, on the day I take action, says the LORD of hosts.

²²Remember the law of Moses my servant, which I enjoined him on Horeb, The statutes and ordinances for all Israel.

²³Lo, I will send you Elijah, the prophet, Before the day of the LORD comes, the great and terrible day, ²⁴To turn the hearts of the fathers to their children, and the hearts of the children to their fathers, Lest I come and strike the land with doom. Lo, I will send you Elijah, the prophet, Before the day of the LORD comes, the great and terrible day.

Matthew

1 The book of the genealogy of Jesus Christ, the son of David, the son of Abraham.

²Abraham became the father of Isaac, Isaac the father of Jacob, Jacob the father of Judah and his brothers.

³Judah became the father of Perez and Zerah, whose mother was Tamar. Perez became the father of Hezron, Hezron the father of Ram,

⁴Ram the father of Amminadab. Amminadab became the father of Nahshon, Nahshon the father of Salmon, ⁵Salmon the father of Boaz, whose mother was Rahab. Boaz became the father of Obed, whose mother was Ruth. Obed became the father of Jesse, ⁶Jesse the father of David the king. David became the father of Solomon, whose mother had been the wife of Uriah.

⁷Solomon became the father of Rehoboam, Rehoboam the father of Abijah, Abijah the father of Asaph.

⁸Asaph became the father of Jehoshaphat, Jehoshaphat the father of Joram, Joram the father of Uzziah.

⁹Uzziah became the father of Jotham, Jotham the father of Ahaz, Ahaz the father of Hezekiah.

¹⁰Hezekiah became the father of Manasseh, Manasseh the father of Amos, Amos the father of Josiah.

¹¹Josiah became the father of Jechoniah and his brothers at the time of the Babylonian exile.

¹²After the Babylonian exile, Jechoniah became the father of Shealtiel, Shealtiel the father of Zerubbabel, ¹³Zerubbabel the father of Abiud. Abiud became the father of Eliakim, Eliakim the father of Azor, ¹⁴Azor the father of Zadok. Zadok became the father of Achim, Achim the father of Eliud, ¹⁵Eliud the father of Eleazar. Eleazar became the father of Matthan, Matthan the father of Jacob, ¹⁶Jacob the father of Joseph, the husband of Mary. Of her was born Jesus who is called the Messiah.

¹⁷Thus the total number of generations from Abraham to David is fourteen generations; from David to the Babylonian exile, fourteen generations; from the Babylonian exile to the Messiah, fourteen generations.

¹⁸Now this is how the birth of Jesus Christ came about. When his mother Mary was betrothed to Joseph, but before they lived together, she was found with child through the holy Spirit.

¹⁹Joseph her husband, since he was a righteous man, yet unwilling to expose her to shame, decided to divorce her quietly.

²⁰Such was his intention when, behold, the angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream and said, "Joseph, son of David, do not be afraid to take Mary your wife into your home. For it is through the holy Spirit that this child has been conceived in her.

²¹She will bear a son and you are to name him Jesus, because he will save his people from their sins."

²²All this took place to fulfill what the Lord had said through the prophet:

²³"Behold, the virgin shall be with child and bear a son, and they shall name him Emmanuel," which means "God is with us."

²⁴When Joseph awoke, he did as the angel of the Lord had commanded him and took his wife into his home.

²⁵He had no relations with her until she bore a son, and he named him Jesus.

2 When Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea, in the days of King Herod, behold, magi from the east arrived in Jerusalem,

² saying, "Where is the newborn king of the Jews? We saw his star at its rising and have come to do him homage."

³ When King Herod heard this, he was greatly troubled, and all Jerusalem with him.

⁴ Assembling all the chief priests and the scribes of the people, he inquired of them where the Messiah was to be born.

⁵ They said to him, "In Bethlehem of Judea, for thus it has been written through the prophet:

⁶ "And you, Bethlehem, land of Judah, are by no means least among the rulers of Judah; since from you shall come a ruler, who is to shepherd my people Israel."

⁷ Then Herod called the magi secretly and ascertained from them the time of the star's appearance.

⁸ He sent them to Bethlehem and said, "Go and search diligently for the child. When you have found him, bring me word, that I too may go and do him homage."

⁹ After their audience with the king they set out. And behold, the star that they had seen at its rising preceded them, until it came and stopped over the place where the child was.

¹⁰ They were overjoyed at seeing the star,

¹² And having been warned in a dream not to return to Herod, they departed for their country by another way.

¹³ When they had departed, behold, the angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream and said, "Rise, take the child and his mother, flee to Egypt, and stay there until I tell you. Herod is going to search for the child to destroy him."

¹⁴ Joseph rose and took the child and his mother by night and departed for Egypt.

¹⁵He stayed there until the death of Herod, that what the Lord had said through the prophet might be fulfilled, "Out of Egypt I called my son."

¹⁶When Herod realized that he had been deceived by the magi, he became furious. He ordered the massacre of all the boys in Bethlehem and its vicinity two years old and under, in accordance with the time he had ascertained from the magi.

¹⁷Then was fulfilled what had been said through Jeremiah the prophet:

¹⁸"A voice was heard in Ramah, sobbing and loud lamentation; Rachel weeping for her children, and she would not be consoled, since they were no more."

¹⁹When Herod had died, behold, the angel of the Lord appeared in a dream to Joseph in Egypt

²⁰and said, "Rise, take the child and his mother and go to the land of Israel, for those who sought the child's life are dead."

²¹He rose, took the child and his mother, and went to the land of Israel.

²²But when he heard that Archelaus was ruling over Judea in place of his father Herod, he was afraid to go back there. And because he had been warned in a dream, he departed for the region of Galilee.

²³He went and dwelt in a town called Nazareth, so that what had been spoken through the prophets might be fulfilled, "He shall be called a Nazorean."

3 In those days John the Baptist appeared, preaching in the desert of Judea

²(and) saying, "Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand!"

³It was of him that the prophet Isaiah had spoken when he said: "A voice of one crying out in the desert, 'Prepare the way of the Lord, make straight his paths.'"

⁴John wore clothing made of camel's hair and had a leather belt around his waist. His food was locusts and wild honey.

⁵At that time Jerusalem, all Judea, and the whole region around the Jordan were going out to him

⁶and were being baptized by him in the Jordan River as they acknowledged their sins.

⁷When he saw many of the Pharisees and Sadducees coming to his baptism, he said to them, "You brood of vipers! Who warned you to flee from the coming wrath?"

⁸Produce good fruit as evidence of your repentance.

⁹And do not presume to say to yourselves, 'We have Abraham as our father.' For I tell you, God can raise up children to Abraham from these stones.

¹⁰Even now the ax lies at the root of the trees. Therefore every tree that does not bear good fruit will be cut down and thrown into the fire.

¹¹I am baptizing you with water, for repentance, but the one who is coming after me is mightier than I. I am not worthy to carry his sandals. He will baptize you with the holy Spirit and fire.

¹²His winnowing fan is in his hand. He will clear his threshing floor and gather his wheat into his barn, but the chaff he will burn with unquenchable fire."

¹³Then Jesus came from Galilee to John at the Jordan to be baptized by him.

¹⁴John tried to prevent him, saying, "I need to be baptized by you, and yet you are coming to me?"

¹⁵Jesus said to him in reply, "Allow it now, for thus it is fitting for us to fulfill all righteousness." Then he allowed him.

¹⁶After Jesus was baptized, he came up from the water and behold, the heavens were opened (for him), and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove (and) coming upon him.

¹⁷And a voice came from the heavens, saying, "This is my beloved Son, with whom I am well pleased."

4 Then Jesus was led by the Spirit into the desert to be tempted by the devil.

²He fasted for forty days and forty nights, and afterwards he was hungry.

³The tempter approached and said to him, "If you are the Son of God, command that these stones become loaves of bread."

⁴He said in reply, "It is written: 'One does not live by bread alone, but by every word that comes forth from the mouth of God.'"

⁵Then the devil took him to the holy city, and made him stand on the parapet of the temple,

⁶and said to him, "If you are the Son of God, throw yourself down. For it is written: 'He will command his angels concerning you and 'with their hands they will support you, lest you dash your foot against a stone.'"

⁷Jesus answered him, "Again it is written, 'You shall not put the Lord, your God, to the test.'"

⁸Then the devil took him up to a very high mountain, and showed him all the kingdoms of the world in their magnificence,

⁹and he said to him, "All these I shall give to you, if you will prostrate yourself and worship me."

¹⁰At this, Jesus said to him, "Get away, Satan! It is written: 'The Lord, your God, shall you worship and him alone shall you serve.'"

¹¹Then the devil left him and, behold, angels came and ministered to him.

¹²When he heard that John had been arrested, he withdrew to Galilee.

¹³He left Nazareth and went to live in Capernaum by the sea, in the region of Zebulun and Naphtali,

¹⁴that what had been said through Isaiah the prophet might be fulfilled:

¹⁵"Land of Zebulun and land of Naphtali, the way to the sea, beyond the Jordan, Galilee of the Gentiles, ¹⁶the people who sit in darkness have seen a great light, on those dwelling in a land overshadowed by death light has arisen."

¹⁷From that time on, Jesus began to preach and say, "Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand."

¹⁸As he was walking by the Sea of Galilee, he saw two brothers, Simon who is called Peter, and his brother Andrew, casting a net into the sea; they were fishermen.

¹⁹He said to them, "Come after me, and I will make you fishers of men."

²⁰At once they left their nets and followed him.

²¹He walked along from there and saw two other brothers, James, the son of Zebedee, and his brother John. They were in a boat, with their father Zebedee, mending their nets. He called them, ²²and immediately they left their boat and their father and followed him.

²³He went around all of Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, proclaiming the gospel of the kingdom, and curing every disease and illness among the people.

²⁴His fame spread to all of Syria, and they brought to him all who were sick with various diseases and racked with pain, those who were possessed, lunatics, and paralytics, and he cured them.

²⁵And great crowds from Galilee, the Decapolis, Jerusalem, and Judea, and from beyond the Jordan followed him.

5When he saw the crowds, he went up the mountain, and after he had sat down, his disciples came to him.

²He began to teach them, saying:

³"Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

⁴Blessed are they who mourn, for they will be comforted.

⁵Blessed are the meek, for they will inherit the land.

⁶Blessed are they who hunger and thirst for righteousness, for they will be satisfied.

⁷Blessed are the merciful, for they will be shown mercy.

⁸Blessed are the clean of heart, for they will see God.

⁹Blessed are the peacemakers, for they will be called children of God.

¹⁰Blessed are they who are persecuted for the sake of righteousness, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

¹¹Blessed are you when they insult you and persecute you and utter every kind of evil against you (falsely) because of me.

¹²Rejoice and be glad, for your reward will be great in heaven. Thus they persecuted the prophets who were before you.

¹³"You are the salt of the earth. But if salt loses its taste, with what can it be seasoned? It is no longer good for anything but to be thrown out and trampled underfoot.

¹⁴You are the light of the world. A city set on a mountain cannot be hidden.

¹⁵Nor do they light a lamp and then put it under a bushel basket; it is set on a lampstand, where it gives light to all in the house.

¹⁶Just so, your light must shine before others, that they may see your good deeds and glorify your heavenly Father.

¹⁷"Do not think that I have come to abolish the law or the prophets. I have come not to abolish but to fulfill.

¹⁸Amen, I say to you, until heaven and earth pass away, not the smallest letter or the smallest part of a letter will pass from the law, until all things have taken place.

¹⁹Therefore, whoever breaks one of the least of these commandments and teaches others to do so will be called least in the kingdom of heaven. But whoever obeys and teaches these commandments will be called greatest in the kingdom of heaven.

²⁰I tell you, unless your righteousness surpasses that of the scribes and Pharisees, you will not enter into the kingdom of heaven.

²¹"You have heard that it was said to your ancestors, 'You shall not kill; and whoever kills will be liable to judgment.'

²²But I say to you, whoever is angry with his brother will be liable to judgment, and whoever says to his brother, 'Raqa,' will be answerable to the Sanhedrin, and whoever says, 'You fool,' will be liable to fiery Gehenna.

²³Therefore, if you bring your gift to the altar, and there recall that your brother has anything against you,

²⁴leave your gift there at the altar, go first and be reconciled with your brother, and then come and offer your gift.

²⁵Settle with your opponent quickly while on the way to court with him. Otherwise your opponent will hand you over to the judge, and the judge will hand you over to the guard, and you will be thrown into prison.

²⁶Amen, I say to you, you will not be released until you have paid the last penny.

²⁷"You have heard that it was said, 'You shall not commit adultery.'

²⁸But I say to you, everyone who looks at a woman with lust has already committed adultery with her in his heart.

²⁹If your right eye causes you to sin, tear it out and throw it away. It is better for you to lose one of your members than to have your whole body thrown into Gehenna.

³⁰And if your right hand causes you to sin, cut it off and throw it away. It is better for you to lose one of your members than to have your whole body go into Gehenna.

³¹"It was also said, 'Whoever divorces his wife must give her a bill of divorce.'

³²But I say to you, whoever divorces his wife (unless the marriage is unlawful) causes her to commit adultery, and whoever marries a divorced woman commits adultery.

³³"Again you have heard that it was said to your ancestors, 'Do not take a false oath, but make good to the Lord all that you vow.'

³⁴But I say to you, do not swear at all; not by heaven, for it is God's throne;

³⁵nor by the earth, for it is his footstool; nor by Jerusalem, for it is the city of the great King.

³⁶Do not swear by your head, for you cannot make a single hair white or black.

³⁷Let your 'Yes' mean 'Yes,' and your 'No' mean 'No.' Anything more is from the evil one.

³⁸"You have heard that it was said, 'An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth.'

³⁹But I say to you, offer no resistance to one who is evil. When someone strikes you on (your) right cheek, turn the other one to him as well.

⁴⁰If anyone wants to go to law with you over your tunic, hand him your cloak as well.

⁴¹Should anyone press you into service for one mile, go with him for two miles.

⁴²Give to the one who asks of you, and do not turn your back on one who wants to borrow.

⁴³"You have heard that it was said, 'You shall love your neighbor and hate your enemy.'

⁴⁴But I say to you, love your enemies, and pray for those who persecute you,

⁴⁵that you may be children of your heavenly Father, for he makes his sun rise on the bad and the good, and causes rain to fall on the just and the unjust.

⁴⁶For if you love those who love you, what recompense will you have? Do not the tax collectors do the same?

⁴⁷And if you greet your brothers only, what is unusual about that? Do not the pagans do the same?

⁴⁸So be perfect, just as your heavenly Father is perfect.

6"(But) take care not to perform righteous deeds in order that people may see them; otherwise, you will have no recompense from your heavenly Father.

²When you give alms, do not blow a trumpet before you, as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets to win the praise of others. Amen, I say to you, they have received their reward.

³But when you give alms, do not let your left hand know what your right is doing,

⁴so that your almsgiving may be secret. And your Father who sees in secret will repay you.

⁵"When you pray, do not be like the hypocrites, who love to stand and pray in the synagogues and on street corners so that others may see them. Amen, I say to you, they have received their reward.

⁶But when you pray, go to your inner room, close the door, and pray to your Father in secret. And your Father who sees in secret will repay you.

⁷In praying, do not babble like the pagans, who think that they will be heard because of their many words.

⁸Do not be like them. Your Father knows what you need before you ask him.

⁹"This is how you are to pray: Our Father in heaven, hallowed be your name, ¹⁰your kingdom come, your will be done, on earth as in heaven.

¹¹Give us today our daily bread;

¹²and forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors;

¹³and do not subject us to the final test, but deliver us from the evil one.

¹⁴If you forgive others their transgressions, your heavenly Father will forgive you.

¹⁵But if you do not forgive others, neither will your Father forgive your transgressions.

¹⁶"When you fast, do not look gloomy like the hypocrites. They neglect their appearance, so that they may appear to others to be fasting. Amen, I say to you, they have received their reward.

¹⁷But when you fast, anoint your head and wash your face,

¹⁸so that you may not appear to be fasting, except to your Father who is hidden. And your Father who sees what is hidden will repay you.

¹⁹"Do not store up for yourselves treasures on earth, where moth and decay destroy, and thieves break in and steal.

²⁰But store up treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor decay destroys, nor thieves break in and steal.

²¹For where your treasure is, there also will your heart be.

²²"The lamp of the body is the eye. If your eye is sound, your whole body will be filled with light;

²³but if your eye is bad, your whole body will be in darkness. And if the light in you is darkness, how great will the darkness be.

²⁴"No one can serve two masters. He will either hate one and love the other, or be devoted to one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon.

²⁵"Therefore I tell you, do not worry about your life, what you will eat (or drink), or about your body, what you will wear. Is not life more than food and the body more than clothing?

²⁶Look at the birds in the sky; they do not sow or reap, they gather nothing into barns, yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Are not you more important than they?

²⁷Can any of you by worrying add a single moment to your life-span?

²⁸Why are you anxious about clothes? Learn from the way the wild flowers grow. They do not work or spin.

²⁹But I tell you that not even Solomon in all his splendor was clothed like one of them.

³⁰If God so clothes the grass of the field, which grows today and is thrown into the oven tomorrow, will he not much more provide for you, O you of little faith?

³¹So do not worry and say, 'What are we to eat?' or 'What are we to drink?' or 'What are we to wear?'

³²All these things the pagans seek. Your heavenly Father knows that you need them all.

³³But seek first the kingdom (of God) and his righteousness, and all these things will be given you besides.

³⁴Do not worry about tomorrow; tomorrow will take care of itself. Sufficient for a day is its own evil.

7 "Stop judging, that you may not be judged.

²For as you judge, so will you be judged, and the measure with which you measure will be measured out to you.

³Why do you notice the splinter in your brother's eye, but do not perceive the wooden beam in your own eye?

⁴How can you say to your brother, 'Let me remove that splinter from your eye,' while the wooden beam is in your eye?

⁵You hypocrite, remove the wooden beam from your eye first; then you will see clearly to remove the splinter from your brother's eye.

⁶"Do not give what is holy to dogs, or throw your pearls before swine, lest they trample them underfoot, and turn and tear you to pieces.

⁷"Ask and it will be given to you; seek and you will find; knock and the door will be opened to you.

⁸For everyone who asks, receives; and the one who seeks, finds; and to the one who knocks, the door will be opened.

⁹Which one of you would hand his son a stone when he asks for a loaf of bread,

¹⁰or a snake when he asks for a fish?

¹¹If you then, who are wicked, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your heavenly Father give good things to those who ask him.

¹²"Do to others whatever you would have them do to you. This is the law and the prophets.

¹³"Enter through the narrow gate; for the gate is wide and the road broad that leads to destruction, and those who enter through it are many.

¹⁴How narrow the gate and constricted the road that leads to life. And those who find it are few.

- ¹⁵"Beware of false prophets, who come to you in sheep's clothing, but underneath are ravenous wolves.
- ¹⁶By their fruits you will know them. Do people pick grapes from thornbushes, or figs from thistles?
- ¹⁷Just so, every good tree bears good fruit, and a rotten tree bears bad fruit.
- ¹⁸A good tree cannot bear bad fruit, nor can a rotten tree bear good fruit.
- ¹⁹Every tree that does not bear good fruit will be cut down and thrown into the fire.
- ²⁰So by their fruits you will know them.
- ²¹"Not everyone who says to me, 'Lord, Lord,' will enter the kingdom of heaven, but only the one who does the will of my Father in heaven.
- ²²Many will say to me on that day, 'Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy in your name? Did we not drive out demons in your name? Did we not do mighty deeds in your name?'
- ²³Then I will declare to them solemnly, 'I never knew you. Depart from me, you evildoers.'
- ²⁴"Everyone who listens to these words of mine and acts on them will be like a wise man who built his house on rock.
- ²⁵The rain fell, the floods came, and the winds blew and buffeted the house. But it did not collapse; it had been set solidly on rock.
- ²⁶And everyone who listens to these words of mine but does not act on them will be like a fool who built his house on sand.
- ²⁷The rain fell, the floods came, and the winds blew and buffeted the house. And it collapsed and was completely ruined."
- ²⁸When Jesus finished these words, the crowds were astonished at his teaching,
- ²⁹for he taught them as one having authority, and not as their scribes.

8 When Jesus came down from the mountain, great crowds followed him.

² And then a leper approached, did him homage, and said, "Lord, if you wish, you can make me clean."

³ He stretched out his hand, touched him, and said, "I will do it. Be made clean." His leprosy was cleansed immediately.

⁴ Then Jesus said to him, "See that you tell no one, but go show yourself to the priest, and offer the gift that Moses prescribed; that will be proof for them."

⁵ When he entered Capernaum, a centurion approached him and appealed to him,

⁶ saying, "Lord, my servant is lying at home paralyzed, suffering dreadfully."

⁷ He said to him, "I will come and cure him."

⁸ The centurion said in reply, "Lord, I am not worthy to have you enter under my roof; only say the word and my servant will be healed.

⁹ For I too am a person subject to authority, with soldiers subject to me. And I say to one, 'Go,' and he goes; and to another, 'Come here,' and he comes; and to my slave, 'Do this,' and he does it."

¹⁰ When Jesus heard this, he was amazed and said to those following him, "Amen, I say to you, in no one in Israel have I found such faith.

¹¹ I say to you, many will come from the east and the west, and will recline with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob at the banquet in the kingdom of heaven,

¹² but the children of the kingdom will be driven out into the outer darkness, where there will be wailing and grinding of teeth."

¹³ And Jesus said to the centurion, "You may go; as you have believed, let it be done for you." And at that very hour (his) servant was healed.

¹⁴ Jesus entered the house of Peter, and saw his mother-in-law lying in bed with a fever.

¹⁵ He touched her hand, the fever left her, and she rose and waited on him.

¹⁶When it was evening, they brought him many who were possessed by demons, and he drove out the spirits by a word and cured all the sick,

¹⁷to fulfill what had been said by Isaiah the prophet: "He took away our infirmities and bore our diseases."

¹⁸When Jesus saw a crowd around him, he gave orders to cross to the other side.

¹⁹A scribe approached and said to him, "Teacher, I will follow you wherever you go."

²⁰Jesus answered him, "Foxes have dens and birds of the sky have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to rest his head."

²¹Another of (his) disciples said to him, "Lord, let me go first and bury my father."

²²But Jesus answered him, "Follow me, and let the dead bury their dead."

²³He got into a boat and his disciples followed him.

²⁴Suddenly a violent storm came up on the sea, so that the boat was being swamped by waves; but he was asleep.

²⁵They came and woke him, saying, "Lord, save us! We are perishing!"

²⁶He said to them, "Why are you terrified, O you of little faith?" Then he got up, rebuked the winds and the sea, and there was great calm.

²⁷The men were amazed and said, "What sort of man is this, whom even the winds and the sea obey?"

²⁸When he came to the other side, to the territory of the Gadarenes, two demoniacs who were coming from the tombs met him. They were so savage that no one could travel by that road.

²⁹They cried out, "What have you to do with us, Son of God? Have you come here to torment us before the appointed time?"

³⁰Some distance away a herd of many swine was feeding.

³¹The demons pleaded with him, "If you drive us out, send us into the herd of swine."

³²And he said to them, "Go then!" They came out and entered the swine, and the whole herd rushed down the steep bank into the sea where they drowned.

³³The swineherds ran away, and when they came to the town they reported everything, including what had happened to the demoniacs.

³⁴Thereupon the whole town came out to meet Jesus, and when they saw him they begged him to leave their district.

9 He entered a boat, made the crossing, and came into his own town.

²And there people brought to him a paralytic lying on a stretcher. When Jesus saw their faith, he said to the paralytic, "Courage, child, your sins are forgiven."

³At that, some of the scribes said to themselves, "This man is blaspheming."

⁴Jesus knew what they were thinking, and said, "Why do you harbor evil thoughts?"

⁵Which is easier, to say, 'Your sins are forgiven,' or to say, 'Rise and walk'?

⁶But that you may know that the Son of Man has authority on earth to forgive sins" -- he then said to the paralytic, "Rise, pick up your stretcher, and go home."

⁷He rose and went home.

⁸When the crowds saw this they were struck with awe and glorified God who had given such authority to human beings.

⁹As Jesus passed on from there, he saw a man named Matthew sitting at the customs post. He said to him, "Follow me." And he got up and followed him.

¹⁰While he was at table in his house, many tax collectors and sinners came and sat with Jesus and his disciples.

¹¹The Pharisees saw this and said to his disciples, "Why does your teacher eat with tax collectors and sinners?"

¹²He heard this and said, "Those who are well do not need a physician, but the sick do."

¹³Go and learn the meaning of the words, 'I desire mercy, not sacrifice.' I did not come to call the righteous but sinners."

¹⁴Then the disciples of John approached him and said, "Why do we and the Pharisees fast (much), but your disciples do not fast?"

¹⁵Jesus answered them, "Can the wedding guests mourn as long as the bridegroom is with them? The days will come when the bridegroom is taken away from them, and then they will fast.

¹⁶No one patches an old cloak with a piece of unshrunk cloth, for its fullness pulls away from the cloak and the tear gets worse.

¹⁷People do not put new wine into old wineskins. Otherwise the skins burst, the wine spills out, and the skins are ruined. Rather, they pour new wine into fresh wineskins, and both are preserved."

¹⁸While he was saying these things to them, an official came forward, knelt down before him, and said, "My daughter has just died. But come, lay your hand on her, and she will live."

¹⁹Jesus rose and followed him, and so did his disciples.

²⁰A woman suffering hemorrhages for twelve years came up behind him and touched the tassel on his cloak.

²¹She said to herself, "If only I can touch his cloak, I shall be cured."

²²Jesus turned around and saw her, and said, "Courage, daughter! Your faith has saved you." And from that hour the woman was cured.

²³When Jesus arrived at the official's house and saw the flute players and the crowd who were making a commotion, ²⁴he said, "Go away! The girl is not dead but sleeping." And they ridiculed him.

²⁵When the crowd was put out, he came and took her by the hand, and the little girl arose.

²⁶And news of this spread throughout all that land.

²⁷And as Jesus passed on from there, two blind men followed (him), crying out, "Son of David, have pity on us!"

²⁸When he entered the house, the blind men approached him and Jesus said to them, "Do you believe that I can do this?" "Yes, Lord," they said to him.

²⁹Then he touched their eyes and said, "Let it be done for you according to your faith."

³⁰And their eyes were opened. Jesus warned them sternly, "See that no one knows about this."

³¹But they went out and spread word of him through all that land.

³²As they were going out, a demoniac who could not speak was brought to him,

³³and when the demon was driven out the mute person spoke. The crowds were amazed and said, "Nothing like this has ever been seen in Israel."

³⁴But the Pharisees said, "He drives out demons by the prince of demons."

³⁵Jesus went around to all the towns and villages, teaching in their synagogues, proclaiming the gospel of the kingdom, and curing every disease and illness.

³⁶At the sight of the crowds, his heart was moved with pity for them because they were troubled and abandoned, like sheep without a shepherd.

³⁷Then he said to his disciples, "The harvest is abundant but the laborers are few;

³⁸so ask the master of the harvest to send out laborers for his harvest."

10 Then he summoned his twelve disciples and gave them authority over unclean spirits to drive them out and to cure every disease and every illness.

²The names of the twelve apostles are these: first, Simon called Peter, and his brother Andrew; James, the son of Zebedee, and his brother John;

³Philip and Bartholomew, Thomas and Matthew the tax collector; James, the son of Alphaeus, and Thaddeus;

⁴Simon the Cananean, and Judas Iscariot who betrayed him.

⁵Jesus sent out these twelve after instructing them thus, "Do not go into pagan territory or enter a Samaritan town.

⁶Go rather to the lost sheep of the house of Israel.

⁷As you go, make this proclamation: 'The kingdom of heaven is at hand.'

⁸Cure the sick, raise the dead, cleanse lepers, drive out demons. Without cost you have received; without cost you are to give.

⁹Do not take gold or silver or copper for your belts;

¹⁰no sack for the journey, or a second tunic, or sandals, or walking stick. The laborer deserves his keep.

¹¹Whatever town or village you enter, look for a worthy person in it, and stay there until you leave.

¹²As you enter a house, wish it peace.

¹³If the house is worthy, let your peace come upon it; if not, let your peace return to you.

¹⁴Whoever will not receive you or listen to your words--go outside that house or town and shake the dust from your feet.

¹⁵Amen, I say to you, it will be more tolerable for the land of Sodom and Gomorrah on the day of judgment than for that town.

¹⁶"Behold, I am sending you like sheep in the midst of wolves; so be shrewd as serpents and simple as doves.

¹⁷But beware of people, for they will hand you over to courts and scourge you in their synagogues,

¹⁸and you will be led before governors and kings for my sake as a witness before them and the pagans.

¹⁹When they hand you over, do not worry about how you are to speak or what you are to say. You will be given at that moment what you are to say.

²⁰For it will not be you who speak but the Spirit of your Father speaking through you.

²¹Brother will hand over brother to death, and the father his child; children will rise up against parents and have them put to death.

²²You will be hated by all because of my name, but whoever endures to the end will be saved.

²³When they persecute you in one town, flee to another. Amen, I say to you, you will not finish the towns of Israel before the Son of Man comes.

²⁵It is enough for the disciple that he become like his teacher, for the slave that he become like his master. If they have called the master of the house Beelzebul, how much more those of his household!

²⁶"Therefore do not be afraid of them. Nothing is concealed that will not be revealed, nor secret that will not be known.

²⁷What I say to you in the darkness, speak in the light; what you hear whispered, proclaim on the housetops.

²⁸And do not be afraid of those who kill the body but cannot kill the soul; rather, be afraid of the one who can destroy both soul and body in Gehenna.

²⁹Are not two sparrows sold for a small coin? Yet not one of them falls to the ground without your Father's knowledge.

³⁰Even all the hairs of your head are counted.

³¹So do not be afraid; you are worth more than many sparrows.

³²Everyone who acknowledges me before others I will acknowledge before my heavenly Father.

³³But whoever denies me before others, I will deny before my heavenly Father.

³⁴"Do not think that I have come to bring peace upon the earth. I have come to bring not peace but the sword.

³⁵For I have come to set a man 'against his father, a daughter against her mother, and a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law;

³⁶and one's enemies will be those of his household.'

³⁷"Whoever loves father or mother more than me is not worthy of me, and whoever loves son or daughter more than me is not worthy of me;

³⁸and whoever does not take up his cross and follow after me is not worthy of me.

³⁹Whoever finds his life will lose it, and whoever loses his life for my sake will find it.

⁴⁰"Whoever receives you receives me, and whoever receives me receives the one who sent me.

⁴¹Whoever receives a prophet because he is a prophet will receive a prophet's reward, and whoever receives a righteous man because he is righteous will receive a righteous man's reward.

⁴²And whoever gives only a cup of cold water to one of these little ones to drink because he is a disciple--amen, I say to you, he will surely not lose his reward."

11 When Jesus finished giving these commands to his twelve disciples, he went away from that place to teach and to preach in their towns.

²When John heard in prison of the works of the Messiah, he sent his disciples to him

³with this question, "Are you the one who is to come, or should we look for another?"

⁴Jesus said to them in reply, "Go and tell John what you hear and see:

⁵the blind regain their sight, the lame walk, lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, and the poor have the good news proclaimed to them.

⁶And blessed is the one who takes no offense at me."

⁷As they were going off, Jesus began to speak to the crowds about John, "What did you go out to the desert to see? A reed swayed by the wind?"

⁸Then what did you go out to see? Someone dressed in fine clothing? Those who wear fine clothing are in royal palaces.

⁹Then why did you go out? To see a prophet? Yes, I tell you, and more than a prophet.

¹⁰This is the one about whom it is written: 'Behold, I am sending my messenger ahead of you; he will prepare your way before you.'

¹¹Amen, I say to you, among those born of women there has been none greater than John the Baptist; yet the least in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he.

¹²From the days of John the Baptist until now, the kingdom of heaven suffers violence, and the violent are taking it by force.

¹³All the prophets and the law prophesied up to the time of John.

¹⁴And if you are willing to accept it, he is Elijah, the one who is to come.

¹⁵Whoever has ears ought to hear.

¹⁶"To what shall I compare this generation? It is like children who sit in marketplaces and call to one another,

¹⁷'We played the flute for you, but you did not dance, we sang a dirge but you did not mourn.'

¹⁸For John came neither eating nor drinking, and they said, 'He is possessed by a demon.'

¹⁹The Son of Man came eating and drinking and they said, 'Look, he is a glutton and a drunkard, a friend of tax collectors and sinners.' But wisdom is vindicated by her works."

²⁰Then he began to reproach the towns where most of his mighty deeds had been done, since they had not repented.

²¹"Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! For if the mighty deeds done in your midst had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would long ago have repented in sackcloth and ashes.

²²But I tell you, it will be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon on the day of judgment than for you.

²³And as for you, Capernaum: 'Will you be exalted to heaven? You will go down to the netherworld.' For if the mighty deeds done in your midst had been done in Sodom, it would have remained until this day.

²⁴But I tell you, it will be more tolerable for the land of Sodom on the day of judgment than for you."

²⁵At that time Jesus said in reply, "I give praise to you, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, for although you have hidden these things from the wise and the learned you have revealed them to the childlike.

²⁶Yes, Father, such has been your gracious will.

²⁷All things have been handed over to me by my Father. No one knows the Son except the Father, and no one knows the Father except the Son and anyone to whom the Son wishes to reveal him.

²⁸"Come to me, all you who labor and are burdened, and I will give you rest.

²⁹Take my yoke upon you and learn from me, for I am meek and humble of heart; and you will find rest for your selves.

³⁰For my yoke is easy, and my burden light."

12At that time Jesus was going through a field of grain on the sabbath. His disciples were hungry and began to pick the heads of grain and eat them.

²When the Pharisees saw this, they said to him, "See, your disciples are doing what is unlawful to do on the sabbath."

³He said to them, "Have you not read what David did when he and his companions were hungry,

⁴how he went into the house of God and ate the bread of offering, which neither he nor his companions but only the priests could lawfully eat?

⁵Or have you not read in the law that on the sabbath the priests serving in the temple violate the sabbath and are innocent?

⁶I say to you, something greater than the temple is here.

⁷If you knew what this meant, 'I desire mercy, not sacrifice,' you would not have condemned these innocent men.

⁸For the Son of Man is Lord of the sabbath."

⁹Moving on from there, he went into their synagogue.

¹⁰And behold, there was a man there who had a withered hand. They questioned him, "Is it lawful to cure on the sabbath?" so that they might accuse him.

¹¹He said to them, "Which one of you who has a sheep that falls into a pit on the sabbath will not take hold of it and lift it out?"

¹²How much more valuable a person is than a sheep. So it is lawful to do good on the sabbath."

¹³Then he said to the man, "Stretch out your hand." He stretched it out, and it was restored as sound as the other.

¹⁴But the Pharisees went out and took counsel against him to put him to death.

¹⁵When Jesus realized this, he withdrew from that place. Many (people) followed him, and he cured them all, ¹⁶but he warned them not to make him known.

¹⁷This was to fulfill what had been spoken through Isaiah the prophet:

¹⁸"Behold, my servant whom I have chosen, my beloved in whom I delight; I shall place my spirit upon him, and he will proclaim justice to the Gentiles.

¹⁹He will not contend or cry out, nor will anyone hear his voice in the streets.

²⁰A bruised reed he will not break, a smoldering wick he will not quench, until he brings justice to victory.

²¹And in his name the Gentiles will hope."

²²Then they brought to him a demoniac who was blind and mute. He cured the mute person so that he could speak and see.

²³All the crowd was astounded, and said, "Could this perhaps be the Son of David?"

²⁴But when the Pharisees heard this, they said, "This man drives out demons only by the power of Beelzebul, the prince of demons."

²⁵But he knew what they were thinking and said to them, "Every kingdom divided against itself will be laid waste, and no town or house divided against itself will stand.

²⁶And if Satan drives out Satan, he is divided against himself; how, then, will his kingdom stand?

²⁷And if I drive out demons by Beelzebul, by whom do your own people drive them out? Therefore they will be your judges.

²⁸But if it is by the Spirit of God that I drive out demons, then the kingdom of God has come upon you.

²⁹How can anyone enter a strong man's house and steal his property, unless he first ties up the strong man? Then he can plunder his house.

³⁰Whoever is not with me is against me, and whoever does not gather with me scatters.

³¹Therefore, I say to you, every sin and blasphemy will be forgiven people, but blasphemy against the Spirit will not be forgiven.

³²And whoever speaks a word against the Son of Man will be forgiven; but whoever speaks against the holy Spirit will not be forgiven, either in this age or in the age to come.

³³"Either declare the tree good and its fruit is good, or declare the tree rotten and its fruit is rotten, for a tree is known by its fruit.

³⁴You brood of vipers, how can you say good things when you are evil? For from the fullness of the heart the mouth speaks.

³⁵A good person brings forth good out of a store of goodness, but an evil person brings forth evil out of a store of evil.

- ³⁶I tell you, on the day of judgment people will render an account for every careless word they speak.
- ³⁷By your words you will be acquitted, and by your words you will be condemned."
- ³⁸Then some of the scribes and Pharisees said to him, "Teacher, we wish to see a sign from you."
- ³⁹He said to them in reply, "An evil and unfaithful generation seeks a sign, but no sign will be given it except the sign of Jonah the prophet.
- ⁴⁰Just as Jonah was in the belly of the whale three days and three nights, so will the Son of Man be in the heart of the earth three days and three nights.
- ⁴¹At the judgment, the men of Nineveh will arise with this generation and condemn it, because they repented at the preaching of Jonah; and there is something greater than Jonah here.
- ⁴²At the judgment the queen of the south will arise with this generation and condemn it, because she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and there is something greater than Solomon here.
- ⁴³"When an unclean spirit goes out of a person it roams through arid regions searching for rest but finds none.
- ⁴⁴Then it says, 'I will return to my home from which I came.' But upon returning, it finds it empty, swept clean, and put in order.
- ⁴⁵Then it goes and brings back with itself seven other spirits more evil than itself, and they move in and dwell there; and the last condition of that person is worse than the first. Thus it will be with this evil generation."
- ⁴⁶While he was still speaking to the crowds, his mother and his brothers appeared outside, wishing to speak with him.
- ⁴⁷(Someone told him, "Your mother and your brothers are standing outside, asking to speak with you.")
- ⁴⁸But he said in reply to the one who told him, "Who is my mother? Who are my brothers?"

⁴⁹And stretching out his hand toward his disciples, he said, "Here are my mother and my brothers.

⁵⁰For whoever does the will of my heavenly Father is my brother, and sister, and mother."

13 On that day, Jesus went out of the house and sat down by the sea.

²Such large crowds gathered around him that he got into a boat and sat down, and the whole crowd stood along the shore.

³And he spoke to them at length in parables, saying: "A sower went out to sow.

⁴And as he sowed, some seed fell on the path, and birds came and ate it up.

⁵Some fell on rocky ground, where it had little soil. It sprang up at once because the soil was not deep,

⁶and when the sun rose it was scorched, and it withered for lack of roots.

⁷Some seed fell among thorns, and the thorns grew up and choked it.

⁸But some seed fell on rich soil, and produced fruit, a hundred or sixty or thirtyfold.

⁹Whoever has ears ought to hear."

¹⁰The disciples approached him and said, "Why do you speak to them in parables?"

¹¹He said to them in reply, "Because knowledge of the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven has been granted to you, but to them it has not been granted.

¹²To anyone who has, more will be given and he will grow rich; from anyone who has not, even what he has will be taken away.

¹³This is why I speak to them in parables, because 'they look but do not see and hear but do not listen or understand.'

¹⁴Isaiah's prophecy is fulfilled in them, which says: 'You shall indeed hear but not understand you shall indeed look but never see.'

¹⁵Gross is the heart of this people, they will hardly hear with their ears, they have closed their eyes, lest they see with their eyes and hear with their ears and understand with their heart and be converted, and I heal them.'

¹⁶"But blessed are your eyes, because they see, and your ears, because they hear.

¹⁷Amen, I say to you, many prophets and righteous people longed to see what you see but did not see it, and to hear what you hear but did not hear it.

¹⁸"Hear then the parable of the sower.

¹⁹The seed sown on the path is the one who hears the word of the kingdom without understanding it, and the evil one comes and steals away what was sown in his heart.

²⁰The seed sown on rocky ground is the one who hears the word and receives it at once with joy.

²¹But he has no root and lasts only for a time. When some tribulation or persecution comes because of the word, he immediately falls away.

²²The seed sown among thorns is the one who hears the word, but then worldly anxiety and the lure of riches choke the word and it bears no fruit.

²³But the seed sown on rich soil is the one who hears the word and understands it, who indeed bears fruit and yields a hundred or sixty or thirtyfold."

²⁴He proposed another parable to them. "The kingdom of heaven may be likened to a man who sowed good seed in his field.

²⁵While everyone was asleep his enemy came and sowed weeds all through the wheat, and then went off.

²⁶When the crop grew and bore fruit, the weeds appeared as well.

²⁷The slaves of the householder came to him and said, 'Master, did you not sow good seed in your field? Where have the weeds come from?'

²⁸He answered, 'An enemy has done this.' His slaves said to him, 'Do you want us to go and pull them up?'

²⁹He replied, 'No, if you pull up the weeds you might uproot the wheat along with them.

³⁰Let them grow together until harvest; then at harvest time I will say to the harvesters, "First collect the weeds and tie them in bundles for burning; but gather the wheat into my barn.""

³¹He proposed another parable to them. "The kingdom of heaven is like a mustard seed that a person took and sowed in a field.

³²It is the smallest of all the seeds, yet when full-grown it is the largest of plants. It becomes a large bush, and the 'birds of the sky come and dwell in its branches."

³³He spoke to them another parable. "The kingdom of heaven is like yeast that a woman took and mixed with three measures of wheat flour until the whole batch was leavened."

³⁴All these things Jesus spoke to the crowds in parables. He spoke to them only in parables,

³⁵to fulfill what had been said through the prophet: "I will open my mouth in parables, I will announce what has lain hidden from the foundation (of the world)."

³⁶Then, dismissing the crowds, he went into the house. His disciples approached him and said, "Explain to us the parable of the weeds in the field."

³⁷He said in reply, "He who sows good seed is the Son of Man,

³⁸the field is the world, the good seed the children of the kingdom. The weeds are the children of the evil one,

³⁹and the enemy who sows them is the devil. The harvest is the end of the age, and the harvesters are angels.

⁴⁰Just as weeds are collected and burned (up) with fire, so will it be at the end of the age.

⁴¹The Son of Man will send his angels, and they will collect out of his kingdom all who cause others to sin and all evildoers.

⁴²They will throw them into the fiery furnace, where there will be wailing and grinding of teeth.

⁴³Then the righteous will shine like the sun in the kingdom of their Father. Whoever has ears ought to hear.

- ⁴⁴"The kingdom of heaven is like a treasure buried in a field, which a person finds and hides again, and out of joy goes and sells all that he has and buys that field.
- ⁴⁵Again, the kingdom of heaven is like a merchant searching for fine pearls.
- ⁴⁶When he finds a pearl of great price, he goes and sells all that he has and buys it.
- ⁴⁷Again, the kingdom of heaven is like a net thrown into the sea, which collects fish of every kind.
- ⁴⁸When it is full they haul it ashore and sit down to put what is good into buckets. What is bad they throw away.
- ⁴⁹Thus it will be at the end of the age. The angels will go out and separate the wicked from the righteous
- ⁵⁰and throw them into the fiery furnace, where there will be wailing and grinding of teeth.
- ⁵¹"Do you understand all these things?" They answered, "Yes."
- ⁵²And he replied, "Then every scribe who has been instructed in the kingdom of heaven is like the head of a household who brings from his storeroom both the new and the old."
- ⁵³When Jesus finished these parables, he went away from there.
- ⁵⁴He came to his native place and taught the people in their synagogue. They were astonished and said, "Where did this man get such wisdom and mighty deeds?"
- ⁵⁵Is he not the carpenter's son? Is not his mother named Mary and his brothers James, Joseph, Simon, and Judas?
- ⁵⁶Are not his sisters all with us? Where did this man get all this?"
- ⁵⁷And they took offense at him. But Jesus said to them, "A prophet is not without honor except in his native place and in his own house."
- ⁵⁸And he did not work many mighty deeds there because of their lack of faith.

14At that time Herod the tetrarch heard of the reputation of Jesus

²and said to his servants, "This man is John the Baptist. He has been raised from the dead; that is why mighty powers are at work in him."

³Now Herod had arrested John, bound (him), and put him in prison on account of Herodias, the wife of his brother Philip,

⁴for John had said to him, "It is not lawful for you to have her."

⁵Although he wanted to kill him, he feared the people, for they regarded him as a prophet.

⁶But at a birthday celebration for Herod, the daughter of Herodias performed a dance before the guests and delighted Herod ⁷so much that he swore to give her whatever she might ask for.

⁸Prompted by her mother, she said, "Give me here on a platter the head of John the Baptist."

⁹The king was distressed, but because of his oaths and the guests who were present, he ordered that it be given,

¹⁰and he had John beheaded in the prison.

¹¹His head was brought in on a platter and given to the girl, who took it to her mother.

¹²His disciples came and took away the corpse and buried him; and they went and told Jesus.

¹³When Jesus heard of it, he withdrew in a boat to a deserted place by himself. The crowds heard of this and followed him on foot from their towns.

¹⁴When he disembarked and saw the vast crowd, his heart was moved with pity for them, and he cured their sick.

¹⁵When it was evening, the disciples approached him and said, "This is a deserted place and it is already late; dismiss the crowds so that they can go to the villages and buy food for themselves."

¹⁶(Jesus) said to them, "There is no need for them to go away; give them some food yourselves."

¹⁷But they said to him, "Five loaves and two fish are all we have here."

¹⁸Then he said, "Bring them here to me,"

¹⁹and he ordered the crowds to sit down on the grass. Taking the five loaves and the two fish, and looking up to heaven, he said the blessing, broke the loaves, and gave them to the disciples, who in turn gave them to the crowds.

²⁰They all ate and were satisfied, and they picked up the fragments left over --twelve wicker baskets full.

²¹Those who ate were about five thousand men, not counting women and children.

²²Then he made the disciples get into the boat and precede him to the other side, while he dismissed the crowds.

²³After doing so, he went up on the mountain by himself to pray. When it was evening he was there alone.

²⁴Meanwhile the boat, already a few miles offshore, was being tossed about by the waves, for the wind was against it.

²⁵During the fourth watch of the night, he came toward them, walking on the sea.

²⁶When the disciples saw him walking on the sea they were terrified. "It is a ghost," they said, and they cried out in fear.

²⁷At once (Jesus) spoke to them, "Take courage, it is I; do not be afraid."

²⁸Peter said to him in reply, "Lord, if it is you, command me to come to you on the water."

²⁹He said, "Come." Peter got out of the boat and began to walk on the water toward Jesus.

³⁰But when he saw how (strong) the wind was he became frightened; and, beginning to sink, he cried out, "Lord, save me!"

³¹Immediately Jesus stretched out his hand and caught him, and said to him, "O you of little faith, why did you doubt?"

³²After they got into the boat, the wind died down.

³³Those who were in the boat did him homage, saying, "Truly, you are the Son of God."

³⁴After making the crossing, they came to land at Gennesaret.

³⁵When the men of that place recognized him, they sent word to all the surrounding country. People brought to him all those who were sick

³⁶and begged him that they might touch only the tassel on his cloak, and as many as touched it were healed.

15

Then Pharisees and scribes came to Jesus from Jerusalem and said,

²"Why do your disciples break the tradition of the elders? They do not wash (their) hands when they eat a meal."

³He said to them in reply, "And why do you break the commandment of God for the sake of your tradition?"

⁴For God said, 'Honor your father and your mother,' and 'Whoever curses father or mother shall die.'

⁵But you say, 'Whoever says to father or mother, "Any support you might have had from me is dedicated to God,"

⁶'need not honor his father.' You have nullified the word of God for the sake of your tradition.

⁷Hypocrites, well did Isaiah prophesy about you when he said:

⁸"This people honors me with their lips, but their hearts are far from me;

⁹in vain do they worship me, teaching as doctrines human precepts."

¹⁰He summoned the crowd and said to them, "Hear and understand.

¹¹It is not what enters one's mouth that defiles that person; but what comes out of the mouth is what defiles one."

¹²Then his disciples approached and said to him, "Do you know that the Pharisees took offense when they heard what you said?"

¹³He said in reply, "Every plant that my heavenly Father has not planted will be uprooted.

¹⁴Let them alone; they are blind guides (of the blind). If a blind person leads a blind person, both will fall into a pit."

¹⁵Then Peter said to him in reply, "Explain (this) parable to us."

¹⁶He said to them, "Are even you still without understanding?"

¹⁷Do you not realize that everything that enters the mouth passes into the stomach and is expelled into the latrine?

¹⁸But the things that come out of the mouth come from the heart, and they defile.

¹⁹For from the heart come evil thoughts, murder, adultery, unchastity, theft, false witness, blasphemy.

²⁰These are what defile a person, but to eat with unwashed hands does not defile."

²¹Then Jesus went from that place and withdrew to the region of Tyre and Sidon.

²²And behold, a Canaanite woman of that district came and called out, "Have pity on me, Lord, Son of David! My daughter is tormented by a demon."

²³But he did not say a word in answer to her. His disciples came and asked him, "Send her away, for she keeps calling out after us."

²⁴He said in reply, "I was sent only to the lost sheep of the house of Israel."

²⁵But the woman came and did him homage, saying, "Lord, help me."

²⁶He said in reply, "It is not right to take the food of the children and throw it to the dogs."

²⁷She said, "Please, Lord, for even the dogs eat the scraps that fall from the table of their masters."

²⁸Then Jesus said to her in reply, "O woman, great is your faith! Let it be done for you as you wish." And her daughter was healed from that hour.

²⁹Moving on from there Jesus walked by the Sea of Galilee, went up on the mountain, and sat down there.

³⁰Great crowds came to him, having with them the lame, the blind, the deformed, the mute, and many others. They placed them at his feet, and he cured them.

³¹The crowds were amazed when they saw the mute speaking, the deformed made whole, the lame walking, and the blind able to see, and they glorified the God of Israel.

³²Jesus summoned his disciples and said, "My heart is moved with pity for the crowd, for they have been with me now for three days and have nothing to eat. I do not want to send them away hungry, for fear they may collapse on the way."

³³The disciples said to him, "Where could we ever get enough bread in this deserted place to satisfy such a crowd?"

³⁴Jesus said to them, "How many loaves do you have?" "Seven," they replied, "and a few fish."

³⁵He ordered the crowd to sit down on the ground.

³⁶Then he took the seven loaves and the fish, gave thanks, broke the loaves, and gave them to the disciples, who in turn gave them to the crowds.

³⁷They all ate and were satisfied. They picked up the fragments left over--seven baskets full.

³⁸Those who ate were four thousand men, not counting women and children.

³⁹And when he had dismissed the crowds, he got into the boat and came to the district of Magadan.

16The Pharisees and Sadducees came and, to test him, asked him to show them a sign from heaven.

²He said to them in reply, "(In the evening you say, 'Tomorrow will be fair, for the sky is red';

³and, in the morning, 'Today will be stormy, for the sky is red and threatening.' You know how to judge the appearance of the sky, but you cannot judge the signs of the times.)

⁴An evil and unfaithful generation seeks a sign, but no sign will be given it except the sign of Jonah." Then he left them and went away.

⁵In coming to the other side of the sea, the disciples had forgotten to bring bread.

⁶Jesus said to them, "Look out, and beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees."

⁷They concluded among themselves, saying, "It is because we have brought no bread."

⁸When Jesus became aware of this he said, "You of little faith, why do you conclude among yourselves that it is because you have no bread?

⁹Do you not yet understand, and do you not remember the five loaves for the five thousand, and how many wicker baskets you took up?

¹⁰Or the seven loaves for the four thousand, and how many baskets you took up?

¹¹How do you not comprehend that I was not speaking to you about bread? Beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees."

¹²Then they understood that he was not telling them to beware of the leaven of bread, but of the teaching of the Pharisees and Sadducees.

¹³When Jesus went into the region of Caesarea Philippi he asked his disciples, "Who do people say that the Son of Man is?"

¹⁴They replied, "Some say John the Baptist, others Elijah, still others Jeremiah or one of the prophets."

¹⁵He said to them, "But who do you say that I am?"

¹⁶Simon Peter said in reply, "You are the Messiah, the Son of the living God."

¹⁷ Jesus said to him in reply, "Blessed are you, Simon son of Jonah. For flesh and blood has not revealed this to you, but my heavenly Father.

¹⁸ And so I say to you, you are Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church, and the gates of the netherworld shall not prevail against it.

¹⁹ I will give you the keys to the kingdom of heaven. Whatever you bind on earth shall be bound in heaven; and whatever you loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven."

²⁰ Then he strictly ordered his disciples to tell no one that he was the Messiah.

²¹ From that time on, Jesus began to show his disciples that he must go to Jerusalem and suffer greatly from the elders, the chief priests, and the scribes, and be killed and on the third day be raised.

²² Then Peter took him aside and began to rebuke him, "God forbid, Lord! No such thing shall ever happen to you."

²³ He turned and said to Peter, "Get behind me, Satan! You are an obstacle to me. You are thinking not as God does, but as human beings do."

²⁴ Then Jesus said to his disciples, "Whoever wishes to come after me must deny himself, take up his cross, and follow me.

²⁵ For whoever wishes to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake will find it.

²⁶ What profit would there be for one to gain the whole world and forfeit his life? Or what can one give in exchange for his life?

²⁷ For the Son of Man will come with his angels in his Father's glory, and then he will repay everyone according to his conduct.

²⁸ Amen, I say to you, there are some standing here who will not taste death until they see the Son of Man coming in his kingdom."

17 After six days Jesus took Peter, James, and John his brother, and led them up a high mountain by themselves.

² And he was transfigured before them; his face shone like the sun and his clothes became white as light.

³And behold, Moses and Elijah appeared to them, conversing with him.

⁴Then Peter said to Jesus in reply, "Lord, it is good that we are here. If you wish, I will make three tents here, one for you, one for Moses, and one for Elijah."

⁵While he was still speaking, behold, a bright cloud cast a shadow over them, then from the cloud came a voice that said, "This is my beloved Son, with whom I am well pleased; listen to him."

⁶When the disciples heard this, they fell prostrate and were very much afraid.

⁷But Jesus came and touched them, saying, "Rise, and do not be afraid."

⁸And when the disciples raised their eyes, they saw no one else but Jesus alone.

⁹As they were coming down from the mountain, Jesus charged them, "Do not tell the vision to anyone until the Son of Man has been raised from the dead."

¹⁰Then the disciples asked him, "Why do the scribes say that Elijah must come first?"

¹¹He said in reply, "Elijah will indeed come and restore all things;

¹²but I tell you that Elijah has already come, and they did not recognize him but did to him whatever they pleased. So also will the Son of Man suffer at their hands."

¹³Then the disciples understood that he was speaking to them of John the Baptist.

¹⁴When they came to the crowd a man approached, knelt down before him,

¹⁵and said, "Lord, have pity on my son, for he is a lunatic and suffers severely; often he falls into fire, and often into water.

¹⁶I brought him to your disciples, but they could not cure him."

¹⁷Jesus said in reply, "O faithless and perverse generation, how long will I be with you? How long will I endure you? Bring him here to me."

¹⁸Jesus rebuked him and the demon came out of him, and from that hour the boy was cured.

¹⁹Then the disciples approached Jesus in private and said, "Why could we not drive it out?"

²⁰He said to them, "Because of your little faith. Amen, I say to you, if you have faith the size of a mustard seed, you will say to this mountain, 'Move from here to there,' and it will move. Nothing will be impossible for you."

²¹)

²²As they were gathering in Galilee, Jesus said to them, "The Son of Man is to be handed over to men, ²³and they will kill him, and he will be raised on the third day." And they were overwhelmed with grief.

²⁴When they came to Capernaum, the collectors of the temple tax approached Peter and said, "Doesn't your teacher pay the temple tax?"

²⁵"Yes," he said. When he came into the house, before he had time to speak, Jesus asked him, "What is your opinion, Simon? From whom do the kings of the earth take tolls or census tax? From their subjects or from foreigners?"

²⁶When he said, "From foreigners," Jesus said to him, "Then the subjects are exempt.

²⁷But that we may not offend them, go to the sea, drop in a hook, and take the first fish that comes up. Open its mouth and you will find a coin worth twice the temple tax. Give that to them for me and for you."

18 At that time the disciples approached Jesus and said, "Who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven?"

²He called a child over, placed it in their midst,

³and said, "Amen, I say to you, unless you turn and become like children, you will not enter the kingdom of heaven.

⁴Whoever humbles himself like this child is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven.

⁵And whoever receives one child such as this in my name receives me.

⁷Woe to the world because of things that cause sin! Such things must come, but woe to the one through whom they come!

⁸If your hand or foot causes you to sin, cut it off and throw it away. It is better for you to enter into life maimed or crippled than with two hands or two feet to be thrown into eternal fire.

⁹And if your eye causes you to sin, tear it out and throw it away. It is better for you to enter into life with one eye than with two eyes to be thrown into fiery Gehenna.

¹⁰"See that you do not despise one of these little ones, for I say to you that their angels in heaven always look upon the face of my heavenly Father.

¹²What is your opinion? If a man has a hundred sheep and one of them goes astray, will he not leave the ninety-nine in the hills and go in search of the stray?

¹³And if he finds it, amen, I say to you, he rejoices more over it than over the ninety-nine that did not stray.

¹⁴In just the same way, it is not the will of your heavenly Father that one of these little ones be lost.

¹⁵"If your brother sins (against you), go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he listens to you, you have won over your brother.

¹⁶If he does not listen, take one or two others along with you, so that 'every fact may be established on the testimony of two or three witnesses.'

¹⁷If he refuses to listen to them, tell the church. If he refuses to listen even to the church, then treat him as you would a Gentile or a tax collector.

¹⁸Amen, I say to you, whatever you bind on earth shall be bound in heaven, and whatever you loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven.

¹⁹Again, (amen,) I say to you, if two of you agree on earth about anything for which they are to pray, it shall be granted to them by my heavenly Father.

²⁰For where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them."

²¹Then Peter approaching asked him, "Lord, if my brother sins against me, how often must I forgive him? As many as seven times?"

²²Jesus answered, "I say to you, not seven times but seventy-seven times.

²³That is why the kingdom of heaven may be likened to a king who decided to settle accounts with his servants.

²⁴When he began the accounting, a debtor was brought before him who owed him a huge amount.

²⁵Since he had no way of paying it back, his master ordered him to be sold, along with his wife, his children, and all his property, in payment of the debt.

²⁶At that, the servant fell down, did him homage, and said, 'Be patient with me, and I will pay you back in full.'

²⁷Moved with compassion the master of that servant let him go and forgave him the loan.

²⁸When that servant had left, he found one of his fellow servants who owed him a much smaller amount. He seized him and started to choke him, demanding, 'Pay back what you owe.'

²⁹Falling to his knees, his fellow servant begged him, 'Be patient with me, and I will pay you back.'

³⁰But he refused. Instead, he had him put in prison until he paid back the debt.

³¹Now when his fellow servants saw what had happened, they were deeply disturbed, and went to their master and reported the whole affair.

³²His master summoned him and said to him, 'You wicked servant! I forgave you your entire debt because you begged me to.

³³Should you not have had pity on your fellow servant, as I had pity on you?'

³⁴Then in anger his master handed him over to the torturers until he should pay back the whole debt.

³⁵So will my heavenly Father do to you, unless each of you forgives his brother from his heart."

19 When Jesus finished these words, he left Galilee and went to the district of Judea across the Jordan.

²Great crowds followed him, and he cured them there.

³Some Pharisees approached him, and tested him, saying, "Is it lawful for a man to divorce his wife for any cause whatever?"

⁴He said in reply, "Have you not read that from the beginning the Creator 'made them male and female'

⁵and said, 'For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, and the two shall become one flesh'?

⁶So they are no longer two, but one flesh. Therefore, what God has joined together, no human being must separate."

⁷They said to him, "Then why did Moses command that the man give the woman a bill of divorce and dismiss (her)?"

⁸He said to them, "Because of the hardness of your hearts Moses allowed you to divorce your wives, but from the beginning it was not so.

⁹I say to you, whoever divorces his wife (unless the marriage is unlawful) and marries another commits adultery."

¹⁰[His] disciples said to him, "If that is the case of a man with his wife, it is better not to marry."

¹¹He answered, "Not all can accept [this] word, but only those to whom that is granted.

¹²Some are incapable of marriage because they were born so; some, because they were made so by others; some, because they have renounced marriage for the sake of the kingdom of heaven. Whoever can accept this ought to accept it."

¹³Then children were brought to him that he might lay his hands on them and pray. The disciples rebuked them,

¹⁴but Jesus said, "Let the children come to me, and do not prevent them; for the kingdom of heaven belongs to such as these."

¹⁵After he placed his hands on them, he went away.

¹⁶Now someone approached him and said, "Teacher, what good must I do to gain eternal life?"

¹⁷He answered him, "Why do you ask me about the good? There is only One who is good. If you wish to enter into life, keep the commandments."

¹⁸He asked him, "Which ones?" And Jesus replied, " 'You shall not kill; you shall not commit adultery; you shall not steal; you shall not bear false witness;

¹⁹honor your father and your mother'; and 'you shall love your neighbor as yourself.'"

²⁰The young man said to him, "All of these I have observed. What do I still lack?"

²¹Jesus said to him, "If you wish to be perfect, go, sell what you have and give to (the) poor, and you will have treasure in heaven. Then come, follow me."

²²When the young man heard this statement, he went away sad, for he had many possessions.

²³Then Jesus said to his disciples, "Amen, I say to you, it will be hard for one who is rich to enter the kingdom of heaven.

²⁴Again I say to you, it is easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for one who is rich to enter the kingdom of God."

²⁵When the disciples heard this, they were greatly astonished and said, "Who then can be saved?"

²⁶Jesus looked at them and said, "For human beings this is impossible, but for God all things are possible."

²⁷Then Peter said to him in reply, "We have given up everything and followed you. What will there be for us?"

²⁸Jesus said to them, "Amen, I say to you that you who have followed me, in the new age, when the Son of Man is seated on his throne of glory, will yourselves sit on twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel.

²⁹And everyone who has given up houses or brothers or sisters or father or mother or children or lands for the sake of my name will receive a hundred times more, and will inherit eternal life.

³⁰But many who are first will be last, and the last will be first.

20"The kingdom of heaven is like a landowner who went out at dawn to hire laborers for his vineyard.

²After agreeing with them for the usual daily wage, he sent them into his vineyard.

³Going out about nine o'clock, he saw others standing idle in the marketplace,

⁴and he said to them, 'You too go into my vineyard, and I will give you what is just.'

⁵So they went off. (And) he went out again around noon, and around three o'clock, and did likewise.

⁶Going out about five o'clock, he found others standing around, and said to them, 'Why do you stand here idle all day?'

⁷They answered, 'Because no one has hired us.' He said to them, 'You too go into my vineyard.'

⁸When it was evening the owner of the vineyard said to his foreman, 'Summon the laborers and give them their pay, beginning with the last and ending with the first.'

⁹When those who had started about five o'clock came, each received the usual daily wage.

¹⁰So when the first came, they thought that they would receive more, but each of them also got the usual wage.

¹¹And on receiving it they grumbled against the landowner,

¹²saying, 'These last ones worked only one hour, and you have made them equal to us, who bore the day's burden and the heat.'

¹³He said to one of them in reply, 'My friend, I am not cheating you. Did you not agree with me for the usual daily wage?'

¹⁴Take what is yours and go. What if I wish to give this last one the same as you?

¹⁵(Or) am I not free to do as I wish with my own money? Are you envious because I am generous?'

¹⁶Thus, the last will be first, and the first will be last."

¹⁷As Jesus was going up to Jerusalem, he took the twelve (disciples) aside by themselves, and said to them on the way,

¹⁸"Behold, we are going up to Jerusalem, and the Son of Man will be handed over to the chief priests and the scribes, and they will condemn him to death,

¹⁹and hand him over to the Gentiles to be mocked and scourged and crucified, and he will be raised on the third day."

²⁰Then the mother of the sons of Zebedee approached him with her sons and did him homage, wishing to ask him for something.

²¹He said to her, "What do you wish?" She answered him, "Command that these two sons of mine sit, one at your right and the other at your left, in your kingdom."

²²Jesus said in reply, "You do not know what you are asking. Can you drink the cup that I am going to drink?" They said to him, "We can."

²³He replied, "My cup you will indeed drink, but to sit at my right and at my left (, this) is not mine to give but is for those for whom it has been prepared by my Father."

²⁴When the ten heard this, they became indignant at the two brothers.

²⁵But Jesus summoned them and said, "You know that the rulers of the Gentiles lord it over them, and the great ones make their authority over them felt.

²⁶But it shall not be so among you. Rather, whoever wishes to be great among you shall be your servant;

²⁷whoever wishes to be first among you shall be your slave.

²⁸Just so, the Son of Man did not come to be served but to serve and to give his life as a ransom for many."

²⁹As they left Jericho, a great crowd followed him.

³⁰Two blind men were sitting by the roadside, and when they heard that Jesus was passing by, they cried out, "[Lord,] Son of David, have pity on us!"

³¹The crowd warned them to be silent, but they called out all the more, "Lord, Son of David, have pity on us!"

³²Jesus stopped and called them and said, "What do you want me to do for you?"

³³They answered him, "Lord, let our eyes be opened."

³⁴Moved with pity, Jesus touched their eyes. Immediately they received their sight, and followed him.

21 When they drew near Jerusalem and came to Bethphage on the Mount of Olives, Jesus sent two disciples, ²saying to them, "Go into the village opposite you, and immediately you will find an ass tethered, and a colt with her. Untie them and bring them here to me.

³And if anyone should say anything to you, reply, 'The master has need of them.' Then he will send them at once."

⁴This happened so that what had been spoken through the prophet might be fulfilled:

⁵"Say to daughter Zion, 'Behold, your king comes to you, meek and riding on an ass, and on a colt, the foal of a beast of burden.'"

⁶The disciples went and did as Jesus had ordered them.

⁷They brought the ass and the colt and laid their cloaks over them, and he sat upon them.

⁸The very large crowd spread their cloaks on the road, while others cut branches from the trees and strewed them on the road.

⁹The crowds preceding him and those following kept crying out and saying: "Hosanna to the Son of David; blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord; hosanna in the highest."

¹⁰And when he entered Jerusalem the whole city was shaken and asked, "Who is this?"

¹¹And the crowds replied, "This is Jesus the prophet, from Nazareth in Galilee."

¹²Jesus entered the temple area and drove out all those engaged in selling and buying there. He overturned the tables of the money changers and the seats of those who were selling doves.

¹³And he said to them, "It is written: 'My house shall be a house of prayer,' but you are making it a den of thieves."

¹⁴The blind and the lame approached him in the temple area, and he cured them.

¹⁵When the chief priests and the scribes saw the wondrous things he was doing, and the children crying out in the temple area, "Hosanna to the Son of David," they were indignant

¹⁶and said to him, "Do you hear what they are saying?" Jesus said to them, "Yes; and have you never read the text, 'Out of the mouths of infants and nurslings you have brought forth praise?'"

¹⁷And leaving them, he went out of the city to Bethany, and there he spent the night.

¹⁸When he was going back to the city in the morning, he was hungry.

¹⁹Seeing a fig tree by the road, he went over to it, but found nothing on it except leaves. And he said to it, "May no fruit ever come from you again." And immediately the fig tree withered.

²⁰When the disciples saw this, they were amazed and said, "How was it that the fig tree withered immediately?"

²¹Jesus said to them in reply, "Amen, I say to you, if you have faith and do not waver, not only will you do what has been done to the fig tree, but even if you say to this mountain, 'Be lifted up and thrown into the sea,' it will be done.

²²Whatever you ask for in prayer with faith, you will receive."

²³When he had come into the temple area, the chief priests and the elders of the people approached him as he was teaching and said, "By what authority are you doing these things? And who gave you this authority?"

²⁴ Jesus said to them in reply, "I shall ask you one question, and if you answer it for me, then I shall tell you by what authority I do these things.

²⁵ Where was John's baptism from? Was it of heavenly or of human origin?" They discussed this among themselves and said, "If we say 'Of heavenly origin,' he will say to us, 'Then why did you not believe him?'

²⁶ But if we say, 'Of human origin,' we fear the crowd, for they all regard John as a prophet."

²⁷ So they said to Jesus in reply, "We do not know." He himself said to them, "Neither shall I tell you by what authority I do these things.

²⁸ "What is your opinion? A man had two sons. He came to the first and said, 'Son, go out and work in the vineyard today.'

²⁹ He said in reply, 'I will not,' but afterwards he changed his mind and went.

³⁰ The man came to the other son and gave the same order. He said in reply, 'Yes, sir,' but did not go.

³¹ Which of the two did his father's will?" They answered, "The first." Jesus said to them, "Amen, I say to you, tax collectors and prostitutes are entering the kingdom of God before you.

³² When John came to you in the way of righteousness, you did not believe him; but tax collectors and prostitutes did. Yet even when you saw that, you did not later change your minds and believe him.

³⁴ When vintage time drew near, he sent his servants to the tenants to obtain his produce.

³⁵ But the tenants seized the servants and one they beat, another they killed, and a third they stoned.

³⁶ Again he sent other servants, more numerous than the first ones, but they treated them in the same way.

³⁷ Finally, he sent his son to them, thinking, 'They will respect my son.'

³⁸ But when the tenants saw the son, they said to one another, 'This is the heir. Come, let us kill him and acquire his inheritance.'

³⁹ They seized him, threw him out of the vineyard, and killed him.

⁴⁰ What will the owner of the vineyard do to those tenants when he comes?"

⁴² Jesus said to them, "Did you never read in the scriptures: 'The stone that the builders rejected has become the cornerstone; by the Lord has this been done, and it is wonderful in our eyes'?"

⁴³ Therefore, I say to you, the kingdom of God will be taken away from you and given to a people that will produce its fruit.

⁴⁴ (The one who falls on this stone will be dashed to pieces; and it will crush anyone on whom it falls.)"

⁴⁵ When the chief priests and the Pharisees heard his parables, they knew that he was speaking about them.

⁴⁶ And although they were attempting to arrest him, they feared the crowds, for they regarded him as a prophet.

22 Jesus again in reply spoke to them in parables, saying,

² "The kingdom of heaven may be likened to a king who gave a wedding feast for his son.

³ He dispatched his servants to summon the invited guests to the feast, but they refused to come.

⁵Some ignored the invitation and went away, one to his farm, another to his business.

⁶The rest laid hold of his servants, mistreated them, and killed them.

⁷The king was enraged and sent his troops, destroyed those murderers, and burned their city.

⁸Then he said to his servants, 'The feast is ready, but those who were invited were not worthy to come.

⁹Go out, therefore, into the main roads and invite to the feast whomever you find.'

¹⁰The servants went out into the streets and gathered all they found, bad and good alike, and the hall was filled with guests.

¹¹But when the king came in to meet the guests he saw a man there not dressed in a wedding garment.

¹²He said to him, 'My friend, how is it that you came in here without a wedding garment?' But he was reduced to silence.

¹³Then the king said to his attendants, 'Bind his hands and feet, and cast him into the darkness outside, where there will be wailing and grinding of teeth.'

¹⁴Many are invited, but few are chosen."

¹⁵Then the Pharisees went off and plotted how they might entrap him in speech.

¹⁶They sent their disciples to him, with the Herodians, saying, "Teacher, we know that you are a truthful man and that you teach the way of God in accordance with the truth. And you are not concerned with anyone's opinion, for you do not regard a person's status.

¹⁷Tell us, then, what is your opinion: Is it lawful to pay the census tax to Caesar or not?"

¹⁸Knowing their malice, Jesus said, "Why are you testing me, you hypocrites?

¹⁹Show me the coin that pays the census tax." Then they handed him the Roman coin.

²⁰He said to them, "Whose image is this and whose inscription?"

²¹They replied, "Caesar's." At that he said to them, "Then repay to Caesar what belongs to Caesar and to God what belongs to God."

²²When they heard this they were amazed, and leaving him they went away.

²³On that day Sadducees approached him, saying that there is no resurrection. They put this question to him,

²⁴saying, "Teacher, Moses said, 'If a man dies without children, his brother shall marry his wife and raise up descendants for his brother.'

²⁵Now there were seven brothers among us. The first married and died and, having no descendants, left his wife to his brother.

²⁶The same happened with the second and the third, through all seven.

²⁷Finally the woman died.

²⁸Now at the resurrection, of the seven, whose wife will she be? For they all had been married to her."

²⁹Jesus said to them in reply, "You are misled because you do not know the scriptures or the power of God.

³⁰At the resurrection they neither marry nor are given in marriage but are like the angels in heaven.

³¹And concerning the resurrection of the dead, have you not read what was said to you by God,

³²'I am the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob'? He is not the God of the dead but of the living."

³³When the crowds heard this, they were astonished at his teaching.

³⁴When the Pharisees heard that he had silenced the Sadducees, they gathered together,

³⁵and one of them [a scholar of the law] tested him by asking,

³⁶"Teacher, which commandment in the law is the greatest?"

³⁷He said to him, "You shall love the Lord, your God, with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind.

³⁸This is the greatest and the first commandment.

³⁹The second is like it: You shall love your neighbor as yourself.

⁴⁰The whole law and the prophets depend on these two commandments."

⁴¹While the Pharisees were gathered together, Jesus questioned them,

⁴²saying, "What is your opinion about the Messiah? Whose son is he?" They replied, "David's."

⁴³He said to them, "How, then, does David, inspired by the Spirit, call him 'lord,' saying:

⁴⁴The Lord said to my lord, "Sit at my right hand until I place your enemies under your feet"?"

⁴⁵If David calls him 'lord,' how can he be his son?"

⁴⁶No one was able to answer him a word, nor from that day on did anyone dare to ask him any more questions.

23 Then Jesus spoke to the crowds and to his disciples,

²saying, "The scribes and the Pharisees have taken their seat on the chair of Moses.

³Therefore, do and observe all things whatsoever they tell you, but do not follow their example. For they preach but they do not practice.

⁴They tie up heavy burdens (hard to carry) and lay them on people's shoulders, but they will not lift a finger to move them.

⁵All their works are performed to be seen. They widen their phylacteries and lengthen their tassels.

⁶They love places of honor at banquets, seats of honor in synagogues,

⁷greetings in marketplaces, and the salutation 'Rabbi.'

⁸As for you, do not be called 'Rabbi.' You have but one teacher, and you are all brothers.

⁹Call no one on earth your father; you have but one Father in heaven.

¹⁰Do not be called 'Master'; you have but one master, the Messiah.

¹¹The greatest among you must be your servant.

¹²Whoever exalts himself will be humbled; but whoever humbles himself will be exalted.

¹⁴)

¹⁵"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, you hypocrites. You traverse sea and land to make one convert, and when that happens you make him a child of Gehenna twice as much as yourselves.

¹⁶"Woe to you, blind guides, who say, 'If one swears by the temple, it means nothing, but if one swears by the gold of the temple, one is obligated.'

¹⁷Blind fools, which is greater, the gold, or the temple that made the gold sacred?

¹⁸And you say, 'If one swears by the altar, it means nothing, but if one swears by the gift on the altar, one is obligated.'

¹⁹You blind ones, which is greater, the gift, or the altar that makes the gift sacred?

²⁰One who swears by the altar swears by it and all that is upon it;

²¹one who swears by the temple swears by it and by him who dwells in it;

²²one who swears by heaven swears by the throne of God and by him who is seated on it.

²³"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, you hypocrites. You pay tithes of mint and dill and cummin, and have neglected the weightier things of the law: judgment and mercy and fidelity. (But) these you should have done, without neglecting the others.

²⁴Blind guides, who strain out the gnat and swallow the camel!

²⁵"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, you hypocrites. You cleanse the outside of cup and dish, but inside they are full of plunder and self-indulgence.

²⁶Blind Pharisee, cleanse first the inside of the cup, so that the outside also may be clean.

²⁷"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, you hypocrites. You are like whitewashed tombs, which appear beautiful on the outside, but inside are full of dead men's bones and every kind of filth.

²⁸Even so, on the outside you appear righteous, but inside you are filled with hypocrisy and evildoing.

²⁹"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, you hypocrites. You build the tombs of the prophets and adorn the memorials of the righteous,

³⁰and you say, 'If we had lived in the days of our ancestors, we would not have joined them in shedding the prophets' blood.'

³¹Thus you bear witness against yourselves that you are the children of those who murdered the prophets;

³²now fill up what your ancestors measured out!

³³You serpents, you brood of vipers, how can you flee from the judgment of Gehenna?

³⁴Therefore, behold, I send to you prophets and wise men and scribes; some of them you will kill and crucify, some of them you will scourge in your synagogues and pursue from town to town,

³⁵so that there may come upon you all the righteous blood shed upon earth, from the righteous blood of Abel to the blood of Zechariah, the son of Barachiah, whom you murdered between the sanctuary and the altar.

³⁶Amen, I say to you, all these things will come upon this generation.

³⁷"Jerusalem, Jerusalem, you who kill the prophets and stone those sent to you, how many times I yearned to gather your children together, as a hen gathers her young under her wings, but you were unwilling!

³⁸Behold, your house will be abandoned, desolate.

³⁹I tell you, you will not see me again until you say, 'Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord.'"

24 Jesus left the temple area and was going away, when his disciples approached him to point out the temple buildings.

²He said to them in reply, "You see all these things, do you not? Amen, I say to you, there will not be left here a stone upon another stone that will not be thrown down."

³As he was sitting on the Mount of Olives, the disciples approached him privately and said, "Tell us, when will this happen, and what sign will there be of your coming, and of the end of the age?"

⁴Jesus said to them in reply, "See that no one deceives you.

⁵For many will come in my name, saying, 'I am the Messiah,' and they will deceive many.

⁶You will hear of wars and reports of wars; see that you are not alarmed, for these things must happen, but it will not yet be the end.

⁷Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom; there will be famines and earthquakes from place to place.

⁸All these are the beginning of the labor pains.

⁹Then they will hand you over to persecution, and they will kill you. You will be hated by all nations because of my name.

¹⁰And then many will be led into sin; they will betray and hate one another.

¹¹Many false prophets will arise and deceive many;

¹²and because of the increase of evil-doing, the love of many will grow cold.

¹³But the one who perseveres to the end will be saved.

¹⁴And this gospel of the kingdom will be preached throughout the world as a witness to all nations, and then the end will come.

¹⁵"When you see the desolating abomination spoken of through Daniel the prophet standing in the holy place (let the reader understand),

¹⁶then those in Judea must flee to the mountains,

¹⁷a person on the housetop must not go down to get things out of his house,

¹⁸a person in the field must not return to get his cloak.

¹⁹Woe to pregnant women and nursing mothers in those days.

²⁰Pray that your flight not be in winter or on the sabbath,

²¹for at that time there will be great tribulation, such as has not been since the beginning of the world until now, nor ever will be.

²²And if those days had not been shortened, no one would be saved; but for the sake of the elect they will be shortened.

²³If anyone says to you then, 'Look, here is the Messiah!' or, 'There he is!' do not believe it.

²⁴False messiahs and false prophets will arise, and they will perform signs and wonders so great as to deceive, if that were possible, even the elect.

²⁵Behold, I have told it to you beforehand.

²⁶So if they say to you, 'He is in the desert,' do not go out there; if they say, 'He is in the inner rooms,' do not believe it.

²⁷For just as lightning comes from the east and is seen as far as the west, so will the coming of the Son of Man be.

²⁸Wherever the corpse is, there the vultures will gather.

²⁹"Immediately after the tribulation of those days, the sun will be darkened, and the moon will not give its light, and the stars will fall from the sky, and the powers of the heavens will be shaken.

³⁰And then the sign of the Son of Man will appear in heaven, and all the tribes of the earth will mourn, and they will see the Son of Man coming upon the clouds of heaven with power and great glory.

³¹And he will send out his angels with a trumpet blast, and they will gather his elect from the four winds, from one end of the heavens to the other.

³²"Learn a lesson from the fig tree. When its branch becomes tender and sprouts leaves, you know that summer is near.

³³In the same way, when you see all these things, know that he is near, at the gates.

³⁴Amen, I say to you, this generation will not pass away until all these things have taken place.

³⁵Heaven and earth will pass away, but my words will not pass away.

³⁶"But of that day and hour no one knows, neither the angels of heaven, nor the Son, but the Father alone.

³⁷For as it was in the days of Noah, so it will be at the coming of the Son of Man.

³⁸In (those) days before the flood, they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, up to the day that Noah entered the ark.

³⁹They did not know until the flood came and carried them all away. So will it be (also) at the coming of the Son of Man.

⁴⁰Two men will be out in the field; one will be taken, and one will be left.

⁴¹Two women will be grinding at the mill; one will be taken, and one will be left.

⁴²Therefore, stay awake! For you do not know on which day your Lord will come.

⁴³Be sure of this: if the master of the house had known the hour of night when the thief was coming, he would have stayed awake and not let his house be broken into.

⁴⁴So too, you also must be prepared, for at an hour you do not expect, the Son of Man will come.

⁴⁵"Who, then, is the faithful and prudent servant, whom the master has put in charge of his household to distribute to them their food at the proper time?

⁴⁶Blessed is that servant whom his master on his arrival finds doing so.

⁴⁷Amen, I say to you, he will put him in charge of all his property.

⁴⁸But if that wicked servant says to himself, 'My master is long delayed,'

⁴⁹and begins to beat his fellow servants, and eat and drink with drunkards,

⁵⁰the servant's master will come on an unexpected day and at an unknown hour

⁵¹and will punish him severely and assign him a place with the hypocrites, where there will be wailing and grinding of teeth.

25"Then the kingdom of heaven will be like ten virgins who took their lamps and went out to meet the bridegroom.

²Five of them were foolish and five were wise.

³The foolish ones, when taking their lamps, brought no oil with them,

⁴but the wise brought flasks of oil with their lamps.

⁵Since the bridegroom was long delayed, they all became drowsy and fell asleep.

⁶At midnight, there was a cry, 'Behold, the bridegroom! Come out to meet him!'

⁷Then all those virgins got up and trimmed their lamps.

⁸The foolish ones said to the wise, 'Give us some of your oil, for our lamps are going out.'

⁹But the wise ones replied, 'No, for there may not be enough for us and you. Go instead to the merchants and buy some for yourselves.'

- ¹⁰While they went off to buy it, the bridegroom came and those who were ready went into the wedding feast with him. Then the door was locked.
- ¹¹Afterwards the other virgins came and said, 'Lord, Lord, open the door for us!'
- ¹²But he said in reply, 'Amen, I say to you, I do not know you.'
- ¹³Therefore, stay awake, for you know neither the day nor the hour.
- ¹⁴It will be as when a man who was going on a journey called in his servants and entrusted his possessions to them.
- ¹⁵To one he gave five talents; to another, two; to a third, one--to each according to his ability. Then he went away. Immediately
- ¹⁶the one who received five talents went and traded with them, and made another five.
- ¹⁷Likewise, the one who received two made another two.
- ¹⁸But the man who received one went off and dug a hole in the ground and buried his master's money.
- ¹⁹After a long time the master of those servants came back and settled accounts with them.
- ²⁰The one who had received five talents came forward bringing the additional five. He said, 'Master, you gave me five talents. See, I have made five more.'
- ²¹His master said to him, 'Well done, my good and faithful servant. Since you were faithful in small matters, I will give you great responsibilities. Come, share your master's joy.'
- ²²(Then) the one who had received two talents also came forward and said, 'Master, you gave me two talents. See, I have made two more.'
- ²³His master said to him, 'Well done, my good and faithful servant. Since you were faithful in small matters, I will give you great responsibilities. Come, share your master's joy.'

²⁴Then the one who had received the one talent came forward and said, 'Master, I knew you were a demanding person, harvesting where you did not plant and gathering where you did not scatter;

²⁵so out of fear I went off and buried your talent in the ground. Here it is back.'

²⁶His master said to him in reply, 'You wicked, lazy servant! So you knew that I harvest where I did not plant and gather where I did not scatter?

²⁷Should you not then have put my money in the bank so that I could have got it back with interest on my return?

²⁸Now then! Take the talent from him and give it to the one with ten.

²⁹For to everyone who has, more will be given and he will grow rich; but from the one who has not, even what he has will be taken away.

³⁰And throw this useless servant into the darkness outside, where there will be wailing and grinding of teeth.'

³¹"When the Son of Man comes in his glory, and all the angels with him, he will sit upon his glorious throne, ³²and all the nations will be assembled before him. And he will separate them one from another, as a shepherd separates the sheep from the goats.

³⁴Then the king will say to those on his right, 'Come, you who are blessed by my Father. Inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world.

³⁵For I was hungry and you gave me food, I was thirsty and you gave me drink, a stranger and you welcomed me,

³⁶naked and you clothed me, ill and you cared for me, in prison and you visited me.'

³⁷Then the righteous will answer him and say, 'Lord, when did we see you hungry and feed you, or thirsty and give you drink?

³⁸When did we see you a stranger and welcome you, or naked and clothe you?

³⁹When did we see you ill or in prison, and visit you?'

⁴⁰And the king will say to them in reply, 'Amen, I say to you, whatever you did for one of these least brothers of mine, you did for me.'

⁴¹Then he will say to those on his left, 'Depart from me, you accursed, into the eternal fire prepared for the devil and his angels.'

⁴²For I was hungry and you gave me no food, I was thirsty and you gave me no drink,

⁴³a stranger and you gave me no welcome, naked and you gave me no clothing, ill and in prison, and you did not care for me.'

⁴⁴Then they will answer and say, 'Lord, when did we see you hungry or thirsty or a stranger or naked or ill or in prison, and not minister to your needs?'

⁴⁵He will answer them, 'Amen, I say to you, what you did not do for one of these least ones, you did not do for me.'

⁴⁶And these will go off to eternal punishment, but the righteous to eternal life."

26

When Jesus finished all these words, he said to his disciples,

²"You know that in two days' time it will be Passover, and the Son of Man will be handed over to be crucified."

³Then the chief priests and the elders of the people assembled in the palace of the high priest, who was called Caiaphas, ⁴and they consulted together to arrest Jesus by treachery and put him to death.

⁵But they said, "Not during the festival, that there may not be a riot among the people."

⁶Now when Jesus was in Bethany in the house of Simon the leper,

⁷a woman came up to him with an alabaster jar of costly perfumed oil, and poured it on his head while he was reclining at table.

⁸When the disciples saw this, they were indignant and said, "Why this waste?"

⁹It could have been sold for much, and the money given to the poor."

¹⁰Since Jesus knew this, he said to them, "Why do you make trouble for the woman? She has done a good thing for me.

¹¹The poor you will always have with you; but you will not always have me.

¹²In pouring this perfumed oil upon my body, she did it to prepare me for burial.

¹³Amen, I say to you, wherever this gospel is proclaimed in the whole world, what she has done will be spoken of, in memory of her."

¹⁴Then one of the Twelve, who was called Judas Iscariot, went to the chief priests

¹⁵and said, "What are you willing to give me if I hand him over to you?" They paid him thirty pieces of silver, ¹⁶and from that time on he looked for an opportunity to hand him over.

¹⁷On the first day of the Feast of Unleavened Bread, the disciples approached Jesus and said, "Where do you want us to prepare for you to eat the Passover?"

¹⁸He said, "Go into the city to a certain man and tell him, 'The teacher says, "My appointed time draws near; in your house I shall celebrate the Passover with my disciples.'"

¹⁹The disciples then did as Jesus had ordered, and prepared the Passover.

²⁰When it was evening, he reclined at table with the Twelve.

²¹And while they were eating, he said, "Amen, I say to you, one of you will betray me."

²²Deeply distressed at this, they began to say to him one after another, "Surely it is not I, Lord?"

²³He said in reply, "He who has dipped his hand into the dish with me is the one who will betray me.

²⁴The Son of Man indeed goes, as it is written of him, but woe to that man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed. It would be better for that man if he had never been born."

²⁵Then Judas, his betrayer, said in reply, "Surely it is not I, Rabbi?" He answered, "You have said so."

²⁶While they were eating, Jesus took bread, said the blessing, broke it, and giving it to his disciples said, "Take and eat; this is my body."

²⁷Then he took a cup, gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, "Drink from it, all of you,

²⁸for this is my blood of the covenant, which will be shed on behalf of many for the forgiveness of sins.

²⁹I tell you, from now on I shall not drink this fruit of the vine until the day when I drink it with you new in the kingdom of my Father."

³⁰Then, after singing a hymn, they went out to the Mount of Olives.

³¹Then Jesus said to them, "This night all of you will have your faith in me shaken, for it is written: 'I will strike the shepherd, and the sheep of the flock will be dispersed';

³²but after I have been raised up, I shall go before you to Galilee."

³³Peter said to him in reply, "Though all may have their faith in you shaken, mine will never be."

³⁴Jesus said to him, "Amen, I say to you, this very night before the cock crows, you will deny me three times."

³⁵Peter said to him, "Even though I should have to die with you, I will not deny you." And all the disciples spoke likewise.

³⁶Then Jesus came with them to a place called Gethsemane, and he said to his disciples, "Sit here while I go over there and pray."

³⁷He took along Peter and the two sons of Zebedee, and began to feel sorrow and distress.

³⁸Then he said to them, "My soul is sorrowful even to death. Remain here and keep watch with me."

³⁹He advanced a little and fell prostrate in prayer, saying, "My Father, if it is possible, let this cup pass from me; yet, not as I will, but as you will."

⁴⁰When he returned to his disciples he found them asleep. He said to Peter, "So you could not keep watch with me for one hour?"

⁴¹Watch and pray that you may not undergo the test. The spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak."

⁴²Withdrawing a second time, he prayed again, "My Father, if it is not possible that this cup pass without my drinking it, your will be done!"

⁴³Then he returned once more and found them asleep, for they could not keep their eyes open.

⁴⁴He left them and withdrew again and prayed a third time, saying the same thing again.

⁴⁵Then he returned to his disciples and said to them, "Are you still sleeping and taking your rest? Behold, the hour is at hand when the Son of Man is to be handed over to sinners.

⁴⁶Get up, let us go. Look, my betrayer is at hand."

⁴⁷While he was still speaking, Judas, one of the Twelve, arrived, accompanied by a large crowd, with swords and clubs, who had come from the chief priests and the elders of the people.

⁴⁸His betrayer had arranged a sign with them, saying, "The man I shall kiss is the one; arrest him."

⁴⁹Immediately he went over to Jesus and said, "Hail, Rabbi!" and he kissed him.

⁵⁰Jesus answered him, "Friend, do what you have come for." Then stepping forward they laid hands on Jesus and arrested him.

⁵¹And behold, one of those who accompanied Jesus put his hand to his sword, drew it, and struck the high priest's servant, cutting off his ear.

⁵²Then Jesus said to him, "Put your sword back into its sheath, for all who take the sword will perish by the sword.

⁵³Do you think that I cannot call upon my Father and he will not provide me at this moment with more than twelve legions of angels?

⁵⁴But then how would the scriptures be fulfilled which say that it must come to pass in this way?"

⁵⁵At that hour Jesus said to the crowds, "Have you come out as against a robber, with swords and clubs to seize me? Day after day I sat teaching in the temple area, yet you did not arrest me.

⁵⁶But all this has come to pass that the writings of the prophets may be fulfilled." Then all the disciples left him and fled.

⁵⁷Those who had arrested Jesus led him away to Caiaphas the high priest, where the scribes and the elders were assembled.

⁵⁸Peter was following him at a distance as far as the high priest's courtyard, and going inside he sat down with the servants to see the outcome.

⁵⁹The chief priests and the entire Sanhedrin kept trying to obtain false testimony against Jesus in order to put him to death,

⁶⁰but they found none, though many false witnesses came forward. Finally two came forward

⁶¹who stated, "This man said, 'I can destroy the temple of God and within three days rebuild it.'"

⁶²The high priest rose and addressed him, "Have you no answer? What are these men testifying against you?"

⁶³But Jesus was silent. Then the high priest said to him, "I order you to tell us under oath before the living God whether you are the Messiah, the Son of God."

⁶⁴Jesus said to him in reply, "You have said so. But I tell you: From now on you will see 'the Son of Man seated at the right hand of the Power' and 'coming on the clouds of heaven.'"

⁶⁵Then the high priest tore his robes and said, "He has blasphemed! What further need have we of witnesses? You have now heard the blasphemy;

⁶⁶what is your opinion?" They said in reply, "He deserves to die!"

⁶⁷Then they spat in his face and struck him, while some slapped him,

⁶⁸saying, "Prophecy for us, Messiah: who is it that struck you?"

⁶⁹Now Peter was sitting outside in the courtyard. One of the maids came over to him and said, "You too were with Jesus the Galilean."

⁷⁰But he denied it in front of everyone, saying, "I do not know what you are talking about!"

⁷¹As he went out to the gate, another girl saw him and said to those who were there, "This man was with Jesus the Nazorean."

⁷²Again he denied it with an oath, "I do not know the man!"

⁷³A little later the bystanders came over and said to Peter, "Surely you too are one of them; even your speech gives you away."

⁷⁴At that he began to curse and to swear, "I do not know the man." And immediately a cock crowed.

⁷⁵Then Peter remembered the word that Jesus had spoken: "Before the cock crows you will deny me three times." He went out and began to weep bitterly.

27 When it was morning, all the chief priests and the elders of the people took counsel against Jesus to put him to death.

²They bound him, led him away, and handed him over to Pilate, the governor.

³Then Judas, his betrayer, seeing that Jesus had been condemned, deeply regretted what he had done. He returned the thirty pieces of silver to the chief priests and elders,

⁴saying, "I have sinned in betraying innocent blood." They said, "What is that to us? Look to it yourself."

⁵Flinging the money into the temple, he departed and went off and hanged himself.

⁶The chief priests gathered up the money, but said, "It is not lawful to deposit this in the temple treasury, for it is the price of blood."

⁷After consultation, they used it to buy the potter's field as a burial place for foreigners.

⁸That is why that field even today is called the Field of Blood.

⁹Then was fulfilled what had been said through Jeremiah the prophet, "And they took the thirty pieces of silver, the value of a man with a price on his head, a price set by some of the Israelites, ¹⁰and they paid it out for the potter's field just as the Lord had commanded me."

¹¹Now Jesus stood before the governor, and he questioned him, "Are you the king of the Jews?" Jesus said, "You say so."

¹²And when he was accused by the chief priests and elders, he made no answer.

¹³Then Pilate said to him, "Do you not hear how many things they are testifying against you?"

¹⁴But he did not answer him one word, so that the governor was greatly amazed.

¹⁵Now on the occasion of the feast the governor was accustomed to release to the crowd one prisoner whom they wished.

¹⁶And at that time they had a notorious prisoner called (Jesus) Barabbas.

¹⁷So when they had assembled, Pilate said to them, "Which one do you want me to release to you, (Jesus) Barabbas, or Jesus called Messiah?"

¹⁸For he knew that it was out of envy that they had handed him over.

¹⁹While he was still seated on the bench, his wife sent him a message, "Have nothing to do with that righteous man. I suffered much in a dream today because of him."

²⁰The chief priests and the elders persuaded the crowds to ask for Barabbas but to destroy Jesus.

²¹The governor said to them in reply, "Which of the two do you want me to release to you?" They answered, "Barabbas!"

²²Pilate said to them, "Then what shall I do with Jesus called Messiah?" They all said, "Let him be crucified!"

²³But he said, "Why? What evil has he done?" They only shouted the louder, "Let him be crucified!"

²⁴When Pilate saw that he was not succeeding at all, but that a riot was breaking out instead, he took water and washed his hands in the sight of the crowd, saying, "I am innocent of this man's blood. Look to it yourselves."

²⁵And the whole people said in reply, "His blood be upon us and upon our children."

²⁶Then he released Barabbas to them, but after he had Jesus scourged, he handed him over to be crucified.

²⁷Then the soldiers of the governor took Jesus inside the praetorium and gathered the whole cohort around him.

²⁸They stripped off his clothes and threw a scarlet military cloak about him.

²⁹Weaving a crown out of thorns, they placed it on his head, and a reed in his right hand. And kneeling before him, they mocked him, saying, "Hail, King of the Jews!"

³⁰They spat upon him and took the reed and kept striking him on the head.

³¹And when they had mocked him, they stripped him of the cloak, dressed him in his own clothes, and led him off to crucify him.

³²As they were going out, they met a Cyrenian named Simon; this man they pressed into service to carry his cross.

³³And when they came to a place called Golgotha (which means Place of the Skull), ³⁴they gave Jesus wine to drink mixed with gall. But when he had tasted it, he refused to drink.

³⁵After they had crucified him, they divided his garments by casting lots;

³⁶then they sat down and kept watch over him there.

³⁷And they placed over his head the written charge against him: This is Jesus, the King of the Jews.

³⁸Two revolutionaries were crucified with him, one on his right and the other on his left.

³⁹Those passing by reviled him, shaking their heads

⁴⁰and saying, "You who would destroy the temple and rebuild it in three days, save yourself, if you are the Son of God, (and) come down from the cross!"

⁴¹Likewise the chief priests with the scribes and elders mocked him and said,

⁴²"He saved others; he cannot save himself. So he is the king of Israel! Let him come down from the cross now, and we will believe in him.

⁴³He trusted in God; let him deliver him now if he wants him. For he said, 'I am the Son of God.'"

⁴⁴The revolutionaries who were crucified with him also kept abusing him in the same way.

⁴⁵From noon onward, darkness came over the whole land until three in the afternoon.

⁴⁶And about three o'clock Jesus cried out in a loud voice, "Eli, Eli, lema sabachthani?" which means, "My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?"

⁴⁷Some of the bystanders who heard it said, "This one is calling for Elijah."

⁴⁸Immediately one of them ran to get a sponge; he soaked it in wine, and putting it on a reed, gave it to him to drink.

⁴⁹But the rest said, "Wait, let us see if Elijah comes to save him."

⁵⁰But Jesus cried out again in a loud voice, and gave up his spirit.

⁵¹And behold, the veil of the sanctuary was torn in two from top to bottom. The earth quaked, rocks were split, ⁵²tombs were opened, and the bodies of many saints who had fallen asleep were raised.

⁵³And coming forth from their tombs after his resurrection, they entered the holy city and appeared to many.

⁵⁴The centurion and the men with him who were keeping watch over Jesus feared greatly when they saw the earthquake and all that was happening, and they said, "Truly, this was the Son of God!"

⁵⁵There were many women there, looking on from a distance, who had followed Jesus from Galilee, ministering to him.

⁵⁶Among them were Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of James and Joseph, and the mother of the sons of Zebedee.

⁵⁷When it was evening, there came a rich man from Arimathea named Joseph, who was himself a disciple of Jesus.

⁵⁸He went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus; then Pilate ordered it to be handed over.

⁵⁹Taking the body, Joseph wrapped it (in) clean linen

⁶⁰and laid it in his new tomb that he had hewn in the rock. Then he rolled a huge stone across the entrance to the tomb and departed.

⁶¹But Mary Magdalene and the other Mary remained sitting there, facing the tomb.

⁶²The next day, the one following the day of preparation, the chief priests and the Pharisees gathered before Pilate

⁶³and said, "Sir, we remember that this impostor while still alive said, 'After three days I will be raised up.'

⁶⁴Give orders, then, that the grave be secured until the third day, lest his disciples come and steal him and say to the people, 'He has been raised from the dead.' This last imposture would be worse than the first."

⁶⁵Pilate said to them, "The guard is yours; go secure it as best you can."

⁶⁶So they went and secured the tomb by fixing a seal to the stone and setting the guard.

28 After the sabbath, as the first day of the week was dawning, Mary Magdalene and the other Mary came to see the tomb.

²And behold, there was a great earthquake; for an angel of the Lord descended from heaven, approached, rolled back the stone, and sat upon it.

³His appearance was like lightning and his clothing was white as snow.

⁴The guards were shaken with fear of him and became like dead men.

⁵Then the angel said to the women in reply, "Do not be afraid! I know that you are seeking Jesus the crucified.

⁶He is not here, for he has been raised just as he said. Come and see the place where he lay.

⁷Then go quickly and tell his disciples, 'He has been raised from the dead, and he is going before you to Galilee; there you will see him.' Behold, I have told you."

⁸Then they went away quickly from the tomb, fearful yet overjoyed, and ran to announce this to his disciples.

⁹And behold, Jesus met them on their way and greeted them. They approached, embraced his feet, and did him homage.

¹⁰Then Jesus said to them, "Do not be afraid. Go tell my brothers to go to Galilee, and there they will see me."

¹¹While they were going, some of the guard went into the city and told the chief priests all that had happened.

¹²They assembled with the elders and took counsel; then they gave a large sum of money to the soldiers,

¹³telling them, "You are to say, 'His disciples came by night and stole him while we were asleep.'

¹⁴And if this gets to the ears of the governor, we will satisfy (him) and keep you out of trouble."

¹⁵The soldiers took the money and did as they were instructed. And this story has circulated among the Jews to the present (day).

¹⁶The eleven disciples went to Galilee, to the mountain to which Jesus had ordered them.

¹⁷When they saw him, they worshiped, but they doubted.

¹⁸Then Jesus approached and said to them, "All power in heaven and on earth has been given to me.

¹⁹Go, therefore, and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the holy Spirit,

²⁰teaching them to observe all that I have commanded you. And behold, I am with you always, until the end of the age."

Mark

1 The beginning of the gospel of Jesus Christ (the Son of God).

²As it is written in Isaiah the prophet: "Behold, I am sending my messenger ahead of you; he will prepare your way.

³A voice of one crying out in the desert: 'Prepare the way of the Lord, make straight his paths.'"

⁴John (the) Baptist appeared in the desert proclaiming a baptism of repentance for the forgiveness of sins.

⁵People of the whole Judean countryside and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem were going out to him and were being baptized by him in the Jordan River as they acknowledged their sins.

⁶John was clothed in camel's hair, with a leather belt around his waist. He fed on locusts and wild honey.

⁷And this is what he proclaimed: "One mightier than I is coming after me. I am not worthy to stoop and loosen the thongs of his sandals.

⁸I have baptized you with water; he will baptize you with the holy Spirit."

⁹It happened in those days that Jesus came from Nazareth of Galilee and was baptized in the Jordan by John.

¹⁰On coming up out of the water he saw the heavens being torn open and the Spirit, like a dove, descending upon him.

¹¹And a voice came from the heavens, "You are my beloved Son; with you I am well pleased."

¹²At once the Spirit drove him out into the desert,

¹³and he remained in the desert for forty days, tempted by Satan. He was among wild beasts, and the angels ministered to him.

¹⁴After John had been arrested, Jesus came to Galilee proclaiming the gospel of God:

¹⁵"This is the time of fulfillment. The kingdom of God is at hand. Repent, and believe in the gospel."

¹⁶As he passed by the Sea of Galilee, he saw Simon and his brother Andrew casting their nets into the sea; they were fishermen.

¹⁷Jesus said to them, "Come after me, and I will make you fishers of men."

¹⁸Then they abandoned their nets and followed him.

¹⁹He walked along a little farther and saw James, the son of Zebedee, and his brother John. They too were in a boat mending their nets.

²⁰Then he called them. So they left their father Zebedee in the boat along with the hired men and followed him.

²¹Then they came to Capernaum, and on the sabbath he entered the synagogue and taught.

²²The people were astonished at his teaching, for he taught them as one having authority and not as the scribes.

²³In their synagogue was a man with an unclean spirit;

²⁴he cried out, "What have you to do with us, Jesus of Nazareth? Have you come to destroy us? I know who you are--the Holy One of God!"

²⁵Jesus rebuked him and said, "Quiet! Come out of him!"

²⁶The unclean spirit convulsed him and with a loud cry came out of him.

²⁷All were amazed and asked one another, "What is this? A new teaching with authority. He commands even the unclean spirits and they obey him."

²⁸His fame spread everywhere throughout the whole region of Galilee.

²⁹On leaving the synagogue he entered the house of Simon and Andrew with James and John.

³⁰Simon's mother-in-law lay sick with a fever. They immediately told him about her.

³¹He approached, grasped her hand, and helped her up. Then the fever left her and she waited on them.

³²When it was evening, after sunset, they brought to him all who were ill or possessed by demons.

³³The whole town was gathered at the door.

³⁴He cured many who were sick with various diseases, and he drove out many demons, not permitting them to speak because they knew him.

³⁵Rising very early before dawn, he left and went off to a deserted place, where he prayed.

³⁶Simon and those who were with him pursued him

³⁷and on finding him said, "Everyone is looking for you."

³⁸He told them, "Let us go on to the nearby villages that I may preach there also. For this purpose have I come."

³⁹So he went into their synagogues, preaching and driving out demons throughout the whole of Galilee.

⁴⁰A leper came to him (and kneeling down) begged him and said, "If you wish, you can make me clean."

⁴¹Moved with pity, he stretched out his hand, touched him, and said to him, "I do will it. Be made clean."

⁴²The leprosy left him immediately, and he was made clean.

⁴³Then, warning him sternly, he dismissed him at once.

⁴⁴Then he said to him, "See that you tell no one anything, but go, show yourself to the priest and offer for your cleansing what Moses prescribed; that will be proof for them."

⁴⁵The man went away and began to publicize the whole matter. He spread the report abroad so that it was impossible for Jesus to enter a town openly. He remained outside in deserted places, and people kept coming to him from everywhere.

2 When Jesus returned to Capernaum after some days, it became known that he was at home.

² Many gathered together so that there was no longer room for them, not even around the door, and he preached the word to them.

³ They came bringing to him a paralytic carried by four men.

⁴ Unable to get near Jesus because of the crowd, they opened up the roof above him. After they had broken through, they let down the mat on which the paralytic was lying.

⁵ When Jesus saw their faith, he said to the paralytic, "Child, your sins are forgiven."

⁶ Now some of the scribes were sitting there asking themselves,

⁷ "Why does this man speak that way? He is blaspheming. Who but God alone can forgive sins?"

⁸ Jesus immediately knew in his mind what they were thinking to themselves, so he said, "Why are you thinking such things in your hearts?"

⁹ Which is easier, to say to the paralytic, 'Your sins are forgiven,' or to say, 'Rise, pick up your mat and walk'?

¹⁰ But that you may know that the Son of Man has authority to forgive sins on earth"--

¹¹ he said to the paralytic, "I say to you, rise, pick up your mat, and go home."

¹² He rose, picked up his mat at once, and went away in the sight of everyone. They were all astounded and glorified God, saying, "We have never seen anything like this."

¹³ Once again he went out along the sea. All the crowd came to him and he taught them.

¹⁴As he passed by, he saw Levi, son of Alphaeus, sitting at the customs post. He said to him, "Follow me." And he got up and followed him.

¹⁵While he was at table in his house, many tax collectors and sinners sat with Jesus and his disciples; for there were many who followed him.

¹⁶Some scribes who were Pharisees saw that he was eating with sinners and tax collectors and said to his disciples, "Why does he eat with tax collectors and sinners?"

¹⁷Jesus heard this and said to them (that), "Those who are well do not need a physician, but the sick do. I did not come to call the righteous but sinners."

¹⁸The disciples of John and of the Pharisees were accustomed to fast. People came to him and objected, "Why do the disciples of John and the disciples of the Pharisees fast, but your disciples do not fast?"

¹⁹Jesus answered them, "Can the wedding guests fast while the bridegroom is with them? As long as they have the bridegroom with them they cannot fast.

²⁰But the days will come when the bridegroom is taken away from them, and then they will fast on that day.

²¹No one sews a piece of unshrunk cloth on an old cloak. If he does, its fullness pulls away, the new from the old, and the tear gets worse.

²²Likewise, no one pours new wine into old wineskins. Otherwise, the wine will burst the skins, and both the wine and the skins are ruined. Rather, new wine is poured into fresh wineskins."

²³As he was passing through a field of grain on the sabbath, his disciples began to make a path while picking the heads of grain.

²⁴At this the Pharisees said to him, "Look, why are they doing what is unlawful on the sabbath?"

²⁵He said to them, "Have you never read what David did when he was in need and he and his companions were hungry?

²⁶How he went into the house of God when Abiathar was high priest and ate the bread of offering that only the priests could lawfully eat, and shared it with his companions?"

²⁷Then he said to them, "The sabbath was made for man, not man for the sabbath.

²⁸That is why the Son of Man is lord even of the sabbath."

3 Again he entered the synagogue. There was a man there who had a withered hand.

²They watched him closely to see if he would cure him on the sabbath so that they might accuse him.

³He said to the man with the withered hand, "Come up here before us."

⁴Then he said to them, "Is it lawful to do good on the sabbath rather than to do evil, to save life rather than to destroy it?" But they remained silent.

⁵Looking around at them with anger and grieved at their hardness of heart, he said to the man, "Stretch out your hand." He stretched it out and his hand was restored.

⁶The Pharisees went out and immediately took counsel with the Herodians against him to put him to death.

⁷Jesus withdrew toward the sea with his disciples. A large number of people (followed) from Galilee and from Judea.

⁸Hearing what he was doing, a large number of people came to him also from Jerusalem, from Idumea, from beyond the Jordan, and from the neighborhood of Tyre and Sidon.

⁹He told his disciples to have a boat ready for him because of the crowd, so that they would not crush him.

¹⁰He had cured many and, as a result, those who had diseases were pressing upon him to touch him.

¹¹And whenever unclean spirits saw him they would fall down before him and shout, "You are the Son of God."

¹²He warned them sternly not to make him known.

¹³He went up the mountain and summoned those whom he wanted and they came to him.

¹⁴He appointed twelve (whom he also named apostles) that they might be with him and he might send them forth to preach

¹⁵and to have authority to drive out demons:

¹⁶(he appointed the twelve:) Simon, whom he named Peter;

¹⁷James, son of Zebedee, and John the brother of James, whom he named Boanerges, that is, sons of thunder;

¹⁸Andrew, Philip, Bartholomew, Matthew, Thomas, James the son of Alphaeus; Thaddeus, Simon the Cananean, ¹⁹and Judas Iscariot who betrayed him.

²⁰He came home. Again (the) crowd gathered, making it impossible for them even to eat.

²¹When his relatives heard of this they set out to seize him, for they said, "He is out of his mind."

²²The scribes who had come from Jerusalem said, "He is possessed by Beelzebul," and "By the prince of demons he drives out demons."

²³Summoning them, he began to speak to them in parables, "How can Satan drive out Satan?"

²⁴If a kingdom is divided against itself, that kingdom cannot stand.

²⁵And if a house is divided against itself, that house will not be able to stand.

²⁶And if Satan has risen up against himself and is divided, he cannot stand; that is the end of him.

²⁷But no one can enter a strong man's house to plunder his property unless he first ties up the strong man. Then he can plunder his house.

²⁸Amen, I say to you, all sins and all blasphemies that people utter will be forgiven them.

²⁹But whoever blasphemes against the holy Spirit will never have forgiveness, but is guilty of an everlasting sin."

³⁰For they had said, "He has an unclean spirit."

³¹His mother and his brothers arrived. Standing outside they sent word to him and called him.

³²A crowd seated around him told him, "Your mother and your brothers (and your sisters) are outside asking for you."

³³But he said to them in reply, "Who are my mother and (my) brothers?"

³⁴And looking around at those seated in the circle he said, "Here are my mother and my brothers.

³⁵(For) whoever does the will of God is my brother and sister and mother."

4On another occasion he began to teach by the sea. A very large crowd gathered around him so that he got into a boat on the sea and sat down. And the whole crowd was beside the sea on land.

²And he taught them at length in parables, and in the course of his instruction he said to them,

³"Hear this! A sower went out to sow.

⁴And as he sowed, some seed fell on the path, and the birds came and ate it up.

⁵Other seed fell on rocky ground where it had little soil. It sprang up at once because the soil was not deep.

⁶And when the sun rose, it was scorched and it withered for lack of roots.

⁷Some seed fell among thorns, and the thorns grew up and choked it and it produced no grain.

⁸And some seed fell on rich soil and produced fruit. It came up and grew and yielded thirty, sixty, and a hundredfold."

⁹He added, "Whoever has ears to hear ought to hear."

¹⁰And when he was alone, those present along with the Twelve questioned him about the parables.

¹¹He answered them, "The mystery of the kingdom of God has been granted to you. But to those outside everything comes in parables, ¹²so that 'they may look and see but not perceive, and hear and listen but not understand, in order that they may not be converted and be forgiven.'"

¹³Jesus said to them, "Do you not understand this parable? Then how will you understand any of the parables?"

¹⁴The sower sows the word.

¹⁵These are the ones on the path where the word is sown. As soon as they hear, Satan comes at once and takes away the word sown in them.

¹⁶And these are the ones sown on rocky ground who, when they hear the word, receive it at once with joy.

¹⁷But they have no root; they last only for a time. Then when tribulation or persecution comes because of the word, they quickly fall away.

¹⁸Those sown among thorns are another sort. They are the people who hear the word, ¹⁹but worldly anxiety, the lure of riches, and the craving for other things intrude and choke the word, and it bears no fruit.

²⁰But those sown on rich soil are the ones who hear the word and accept it and bear fruit thirty and sixty and a hundredfold."

²¹He said to them, "Is a lamp brought in to be placed under a bushel basket or under a bed, and not to be placed on a lampstand?"

²²For there is nothing hidden except to be made visible; nothing is secret except to come to light.

²³Anyone who has ears to hear ought to hear."

²⁴He also told them, "Take care what you hear. The measure with which you measure will be measured out to you, and still more will be given to you.

²⁵To the one who has, more will be given; from the one who has not, even what he has will be taken away."

²⁶He said, "This is how it is with the kingdom of God; it is as if a man were to scatter seed on the land

²⁷and would sleep and rise night and day and the seed would sprout and grow, he knows not how.

²⁸Of its own accord the land yields fruit, first the blade, then the ear, then the full grain in the ear.

²⁹And when the grain is ripe, he wields the sickle at once, for the harvest has come."

³⁰He said, "To what shall we compare the kingdom of God, or what parable can we use for it?"

³¹It is like a mustard seed that, when it is sown in the ground, is the smallest of all the seeds on the earth.

³²But once it is sown, it springs up and becomes the largest of plants and puts forth large branches, so that the birds of the sky can dwell in its shade."

³³With many such parables he spoke the word to them as they were able to understand it.

³⁴Without parables he did not speak to them, but to his own disciples he explained everything in private.

³⁵On that day, as evening drew on, he said to them, "Let us cross to the other side."

³⁶Leaving the crowd, they took him with them in the boat just as he was. And other boats were with him.

³⁷A violent squall came up and waves were breaking over the boat, so that it was already filling up.

³⁸Jesus was in the stern, asleep on a cushion. They woke him and said to him, "Teacher, do you not care that we are perishing?"

³⁹He woke up, rebuked the wind, and said to the sea, "Quiet! Be still!" The wind ceased and there was great calm.

⁴⁰Then he asked them, "Why are you terrified? Do you not yet have faith?"

⁴¹They were filled with great awe and said to one another, "Who then is this whom even wind and sea obey?"

5 They came to the other side of the sea, to the territory of the Gerasenes.

²When he got out of the boat, at once a man from the tombs who had an unclean spirit met him.

³The man had been dwelling among the tombs, and no one could restrain him any longer, even with a chain.

⁴In fact, he had frequently been bound with shackles and chains, but the chains had been pulled apart by him and the shackles smashed, and no one was strong enough to subdue him.

⁵Night and day among the tombs and on the hillsides he was always crying out and bruising himself with stones.

⁶Catching sight of Jesus from a distance, he ran up and prostrated himself before him,

⁷crying out in a loud voice, "What have you to do with me, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? I adjure you by God, do not torment me!"

⁸(He had been saying to him, "Unclean spirit, come out of the man!")

⁹He asked him, "What is your name?" He replied, "Legion is my name. There are many of us."

¹⁰And he pleaded earnestly with him not to drive them away from that territory.

¹¹Now a large herd of swine was feeding there on the hillside.

¹²And they pleaded with him, "Send us into the swine. Let us enter them."

¹³And he let them, and the unclean spirits came out and entered the swine. The herd of about two thousand rushed down a steep bank into the sea, where they were drowned.

¹⁴The swineherds ran away and reported the incident in the town and throughout the countryside. And people came out to see what had happened.

¹⁵As they approached Jesus, they caught sight of the man who had been possessed by Legion, sitting there clothed and in his right mind. And they were seized with fear.

¹⁶Those who witnessed the incident explained to them what had happened to the possessed man and to the swine.

¹⁷Then they began to beg him to leave their district.

¹⁸As he was getting into the boat, the man who had been possessed pleaded to remain with him.

¹⁹But he would not permit him but told him instead, "Go home to your family and announce to them all that the Lord in his pity has done for you."

²⁰Then the man went off and began to proclaim in the Decapolis what Jesus had done for him; and all were amazed.

²¹When Jesus had crossed again (in the boat) to the other side, a large crowd gathered around him, and he stayed close to the sea.

²²One of the synagogue officials, named Jairus, came forward. Seeing him he fell at his feet

²³and pleaded earnestly with him, saying, "My daughter is at the point of death. Please, come lay your hands on her that she may get well and live."

²⁴He went off with him, and a large crowd followed him and pressed upon him.

²⁵There was a woman afflicted with hemorrhages for twelve years.

²⁶She had suffered greatly at the hands of many doctors and had spent all that she had. Yet she was not helped but only grew worse.

²⁷She had heard about Jesus and came up behind him in the crowd and touched his cloak.

²⁸She said, "If I but touch his clothes, I shall be cured."

²⁹Immediately her flow of blood dried up. She felt in her body that she was healed of her affliction.

³⁰Jesus, aware at once that power had gone out from him, turned around in the crowd and asked, "Who has touched my clothes?"

³¹But his disciples said to him, "You see how the crowd is pressing upon you, and yet you ask, 'Who touched me?'"

³²And he looked around to see who had done it.

³³The woman, realizing what had happened to her, approached in fear and trembling. She fell down before Jesus and told him the whole truth.

³⁴He said to her, "Daughter, your faith has saved you. Go in peace and be cured of your affliction."

³⁵While he was still speaking, people from the synagogue official's house arrived and said, "Your daughter has died; why trouble the teacher any longer?"

³⁶Disregarding the message that was reported, Jesus said to the synagogue official, "Do not be afraid; just have faith."

³⁷He did not allow anyone to accompany him inside except Peter, James, and John, the brother of James.

³⁸When they arrived at the house of the synagogue official, he caught sight of a commotion, people weeping and wailing loudly.

³⁹So he went in and said to them, "Why this commotion and weeping? The child is not dead but asleep."

⁴⁰And they ridiculed him. Then he put them all out. He took along the child's father and mother and those who were with him and entered the room where the child was.

⁴¹He took the child by the hand and said to her, "Talitha koum," which means, "Little girl, I say to you, arise!"

⁴²The girl, a child of twelve, arose immediately and walked around. (At that) they were utterly astounded.

⁴³He gave strict orders that no one should know this and said that she should be given something to eat.

6He departed from there and came to his native place, accompanied by his disciples.

²When the sabbath came he began to teach in the synagogue, and many who heard him were astonished. They said, "Where did this man get all this? What kind of wisdom has been given him? What mighty deeds are wrought by his hands!

³Is he not the carpenter, the son of Mary, and the brother of James and Joses and Judas and Simon? And are not his sisters here with us?" And they took offense at him.

⁴Jesus said to them, "A prophet is not without honor except in his native place and among his own kin and in his own house."

⁵So he was not able to perform any mighty deed there, apart from curing a few sick people by laying his hands on them.

⁶He was amazed at their lack of faith. He went around to the villages in the vicinity teaching.

⁷He summoned the Twelve and began to send them out two by two and gave them authority over unclean spirits.

⁸He instructed them to take nothing for the journey but a walking stick--no food, no sack, no money in their belts.

⁹They were, however, to wear sandals but not a second tunic.

¹⁰He said to them, "Wherever you enter a house, stay there until you leave from there.

¹¹Whatever place does not welcome you or listen to you, leave there and shake the dust off your feet in testimony against them."

¹²So they went off and preached repentance.

¹³They drove out many demons, and they anointed with oil many who were sick and cured them.

¹⁴King Herod heard about it, for his fame had become widespread, and people were saying, "John the Baptist has been raised from the dead; that is why mighty powers are at work in him."

¹⁵Others were saying, "He is Elijah"; still others, "He is a prophet like any of the prophets."

¹⁶But when Herod learned of it, he said, "It is John whom I beheaded. He has been raised up."

¹⁷Herod was the one who had John arrested and bound in prison on account of Herodias, the wife of his brother Philip, whom he had married.

¹⁸John had said to Herod, "It is not lawful for you to have your brother's wife."

¹⁹Herodias harbored a grudge against him and wanted to kill him but was unable to do so.

²⁰Herod feared John, knowing him to be a righteous and holy man, and kept him in custody. When he heard him speak he was very much perplexed, yet he liked to listen to him.

²¹She had an opportunity one day when Herod, on his birthday, gave a banquet for his courtiers, his military officers, and the leading men of Galilee.

²²Herodias's own daughter came in and performed a dance that delighted Herod and his guests. The king said to the girl, "Ask of me whatever you wish and I will grant it to you."

²³He even swore (many things) to her, "I will grant you whatever you ask of me, even to half of my kingdom."

²⁴She went out and said to her mother, "What shall I ask for?" She replied, "The head of John the Baptist."

²⁵The girl hurried back to the king's presence and made her request, "I want you to give me at once on a platter the head of John the Baptist."

²⁶The king was deeply distressed, but because of his oaths and the guests he did not wish to break his word to her.

- ²⁷ So he promptly dispatched an executioner with orders to bring back his head. He went off and beheaded him in the prison.
- ²⁸ He brought in the head on a platter and gave it to the girl. The girl in turn gave it to her mother.
- ²⁹ When his disciples heard about it, they came and took his body and laid it in a tomb.
- ³⁰ The apostles gathered together with Jesus and reported all they had done and taught.
- ³¹ He said to them, "Come away by yourselves to a deserted place and rest a while." People were coming and going in great numbers, and they had no opportunity even to eat.
- ³² So they went off in the boat by themselves to a deserted place.
- ³³ People saw them leaving and many came to know about it. They hastened there on foot from all the towns and arrived at the place before them.
- ³⁴ When he disembarked and saw the vast crowd, his heart was moved with pity for them, for they were like sheep without a shepherd; and he began to teach them many things.
- ³⁵ By now it was already late and his disciples approached him and said, "This is a deserted place and it is already very late.
- ³⁶ Dismiss them so that they can go to the surrounding farms and villages and buy themselves something to eat."
- ³⁷ He said to them in reply, "Give them some food yourselves." But they said to him, "Are we to buy two hundred days' wages worth of food and give it to them to eat?"
- ³⁸ He asked them, "How many loaves do you have? Go and see." And when they had found out they said, "Five loaves and two fish."
- ³⁹ So he gave orders to have them sit down in groups on the green grass.
- ⁴⁰ The people took their places in rows by hundreds and by fifties.

⁴¹Then, taking the five loaves and the two fish and looking up to heaven, he said the blessing, broke the loaves, and gave them to (his) disciples to set before the people; he also divided the two fish among them all.

⁴²They all ate and were satisfied.

⁴³And they picked up twelve wicker baskets full of fragments and what was left of the fish.

⁴⁴Those who ate (of the loaves) were five thousand men.

⁴⁵Then he made his disciples get into the boat and precede him to the other side toward Bethsaida, while he dismissed the crowd.

⁴⁶And when he had taken leave of them, he went off to the mountain to pray.

⁴⁷When it was evening, the boat was far out on the sea and he was alone on shore.

⁴⁸Then he saw that they were tossed about while rowing, for the wind was against them. About the fourth watch of the night, he came toward them walking on the sea. He meant to pass by them.

⁴⁹But when they saw him walking on the sea, they thought it was a ghost and cried out.

⁵⁰They had all seen him and were terrified. But at once he spoke with them, "Take courage, it is I, do not be afraid!"

⁵¹He got into the boat with them and the wind died down. They were (completely) astounded.

⁵²They had not understood the incident of the loaves. On the contrary, their hearts were hardened.

⁵³After making the crossing, they came to land at Gennesaret and tied up there.

⁵⁴As they were leaving the boat, people immediately recognized him.

⁵⁵They scurried about the surrounding country and began to bring in the sick on mats to wherever they heard he was.

⁵⁶Whatever villages or towns or countryside he entered, they laid the sick in the marketplaces and begged him that they might touch only the tassel on his cloak; and as many as touched it were healed.

7 Now when the Pharisees with some scribes who had come from Jerusalem gathered around him, ²they observed that some of his disciples ate their meals with unclean, that is, unwashed, hands.

³(For the Pharisees and, in fact, all Jews, do not eat without carefully washing their hands, keeping the tradition of the elders.

⁴And on coming from the marketplace they do not eat without purifying themselves. And there are many other things that they have traditionally observed, the purification of cups and jugs and kettles (and beds).)

⁵So the Pharisees and scribes questioned him, "Why do your disciples not follow the tradition of the elders but instead eat a meal with unclean hands?"

⁶He responded, "Well did Isaiah prophesy about you hypocrites, as it is written: 'This people honors me with their lips, but their hearts are far from me;

⁷In vain do they worship me, teaching as doctrines human precepts.'

⁸You disregard God's commandment but cling to human tradition."

⁹He went on to say, "How well you have set aside the commandment of God in order to uphold your tradition!

¹⁰For Moses said, 'Honor your father and your mother,' and 'Whoever curses father or mother shall die.'

¹¹Yet you say, 'If a person says to father or mother, "Any support you might have had from me is qorban"' (meaning, dedicated to God), ¹²you allow him to do nothing more for his father or mother.

¹³You nullify the word of God in favor of your tradition that you have handed on. And you do many such things."

¹⁴He summoned the crowd again and said to them, "Hear me, all of you, and understand.

¹⁵Nothing that enters one from outside can defile that person; but the things that come out from within are what defile."

¹⁶)

¹⁷When he got home away from the crowd his disciples questioned him about the parable.

¹⁸He said to them, "Are even you likewise without understanding? Do you not realize that everything that goes into a person from outside cannot defile, ¹⁹since it enters not the heart but the stomach and passes out into the latrine?" (Thus he declared all foods clean.)

²⁰"But what comes out of a person, that is what defiles.

²¹From within people, from their hearts, come evil thoughts, unchastity, theft, murder,

²²adultery, greed, malice, deceit, licentiousness, envy, blasphemy, arrogance, folly.

²³All these evils come from within and they defile."

²⁴From that place he went off to the district of Tyre. He entered a house and wanted no one to know about it, but he could not escape notice.

²⁵Soon a woman whose daughter had an unclean spirit heard about him. She came and fell at his feet.

²⁶The woman was a Greek, a Syrophenician by birth, and she begged him to drive the demon out of her daughter.

²⁷He said to her, "Let the children be fed first. For it is not right to take the food of the children and throw it to the dogs."

²⁸She replied and said to him, "Lord, even the dogs under the table eat the children's scraps."

²⁹Then he said to her, "For saying this, you may go. The demon has gone out of your daughter."

³⁰When the woman went home, she found the child lying in bed and the demon gone.

³¹Again he left the district of Tyre and went by way of Sidon to the Sea of Galilee, into the district of the Decapolis.

³²And people brought to him a deaf man who had a speech impediment and begged him to lay his hand on him.

³³He took him off by himself away from the crowd. He put his finger into the man's ears and, spitting, touched his tongue;

³⁴then he looked up to heaven and groaned, and said to him, "Ephphatha!" (that is, "Be opened!")

³⁵And (immediately) the man's ears were opened, his speech impediment was removed, and he spoke plainly.

³⁶He ordered them not to tell anyone. But the more he ordered them not to, the more they proclaimed it.

³⁷They were exceedingly astonished and they said, "He has done all things well. He makes the deaf hear and (the) mute speak."

8 In those days when there again was a great crowd without anything to eat, he summoned the disciples and said,

²"My heart is moved with pity for the crowd, because they have been with me now for three days and have nothing to eat.

³If I send them away hungry to their homes, they will collapse on the way, and some of them have come a great distance."

⁴His disciples answered him, "Where can anyone get enough bread to satisfy them here in this deserted place?"

⁵Still he asked them, "How many loaves do you have?" "Seven," they replied.

⁶He ordered the crowd to sit down on the ground. Then, taking the seven loaves he gave thanks, broke them, and gave them to his disciples to distribute, and they distributed them to the crowd.

⁷They also had a few fish. He said the blessing over them and ordered them distributed also.

⁸They ate and were satisfied. They picked up the fragments left over--seven baskets.

⁹There were about four thousand people. He dismissed them

¹⁰and got into the boat with his disciples and came to the region of Dalmanutha.

¹¹The Pharisees came forward and began to argue with him, seeking from him a sign from heaven to test him.

¹²He sighed from the depth of his spirit and said, "Why does this generation seek a sign? Amen, I say to you, no sign will be given to this generation."

¹³Then he left them, got into the boat again, and went off to the other shore.

¹⁴They had forgotten to bring bread, and they had only one loaf with them in the boat.

¹⁵He enjoined them, "Watch out, guard against the leaven of the Pharisees and the leaven of Herod."

¹⁶They concluded among themselves that it was because they had no bread.

¹⁷When he became aware of this he said to them, "Why do you conclude that it is because you have no bread? Do you not yet understand or comprehend? Are your hearts hardened?

¹⁸Do you have eyes and not see, ears and not hear? And do you not remember,

¹⁹when I broke the five loaves for the five thousand, how many wicker baskets full of fragments you picked up?" They answered him, "Twelve."

²⁰"When I broke the seven loaves for the four thousand, how many full baskets of fragments did you pick up?" They answered (him), "Seven."

²¹He said to them, "Do you still not understand?"

²²When they arrived at Bethsaida, they brought to him a blind man and begged him to touch him.

²³He took the blind man by the hand and led him outside the village. Putting spittle on his eyes he laid his hands on him and asked, "Do you see anything?"

²⁴Looking up he replied, "I see people looking like trees and walking."

²⁵Then he laid hands on his eyes a second time and he saw clearly; his sight was restored and he could see everything distinctly.

²⁶Then he sent him home and said, "Do not even go into the village."

²⁷Now Jesus and his disciples set out for the villages of Caesarea Philippi. Along the way he asked his disciples, "Who do people say that I am?"

²⁸They said in reply, "John the Baptist, others Elijah, still others one of the prophets."

²⁹And he asked them, "But who do you say that I am?" Peter said to him in reply, "You are the Messiah."

³⁰Then he warned them not to tell anyone about him.

³¹He began to teach them that the Son of Man must suffer greatly and be rejected by the elders, the chief priests, and the scribes, and be killed, and rise after three days.

³²He spoke this openly. Then Peter took him aside and began to rebuke him.

³³At this he turned around and, looking at his disciples, rebuked Peter and said, "Get behind me, Satan. You are thinking not as God does, but as human beings do."

³⁴He summoned the crowd with his disciples and said to them, "Whoever wishes to come after me must deny himself, take up his cross, and follow me.

³⁵For whoever wishes to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake and that of the gospel will save it.

³⁶What profit is there for one to gain the whole world and forfeit his life?

³⁷What could one give in exchange for his life?

³⁸Whoever is ashamed of me and of my words in this faithless and sinful generation, the Son of Man will be ashamed of when he comes in his Father's glory with the holy angels."

9 He also said to them, "Amen, I say to you, there are some standing here who will not taste death until they see that the kingdom of God has come in power."

²After six days Jesus took Peter, James, and John and led them up a high mountain apart by themselves. And he was transfigured before them, ³and his clothes became dazzling white, such as no fuller on earth could bleach them.

⁴Then Elijah appeared to them along with Moses, and they were conversing with Jesus.

⁵Then Peter said to Jesus in reply, "Rabbi, it is good that we are here! Let us make three tents: one for you, one for Moses, and one for Elijah."

⁶He hardly knew what to say, they were so terrified.

⁷Then a cloud came, casting a shadow over them; then from the cloud came a voice, "This is my beloved Son. Listen to him."

⁸Suddenly, looking around, they no longer saw anyone but Jesus alone with them.

⁹As they were coming down from the mountain, he charged them not to relate what they had seen to anyone, except when the Son of Man had risen from the dead.

¹⁰So they kept the matter to themselves, questioning what rising from the dead meant.

¹¹Then they asked him, "Why do the scribes say that Elijah must come first?"

¹²He told them, "Elijah will indeed come first and restore all things, yet how is it written regarding the Son of Man that he must suffer greatly and be treated with contempt?"

¹³But I tell you that Elijah has come and they did to him whatever they pleased, as it is written of him."

¹⁴When they came to the disciples, they saw a large crowd around them and scribes arguing with them.

¹⁵Immediately on seeing him, the whole crowd was utterly amazed. They ran up to him and greeted him.

¹⁶He asked them, "What are you arguing about with them?"

¹⁷Someone from the crowd answered him, "Teacher, I have brought to you my son possessed by a mute spirit.

¹⁸Wherever it seizes him, it throws him down; he foams at the mouth, grinds his teeth, and becomes rigid. I asked your disciples to drive it out, but they were unable to do so."

¹⁹He said to them in reply, "O faithless generation, how long will I be with you? How long will I endure you? Bring him to me."

²⁰They brought the boy to him. And when he saw him, the spirit immediately threw the boy into convulsions. As he fell to the ground, he began to roll around and foam at the mouth.

²¹Then he questioned his father, "How long has this been happening to him?" He replied, "Since childhood.

²²It has often thrown him into fire and into water to kill him. But if you can do anything, have compassion on us and help us."

²³Jesus said to him, " 'If you can!' Everything is possible to one who has faith."

²⁴Then the boy's father cried out, "I do believe, help my unbelief!"

²⁵Jesus, on seeing a crowd rapidly gathering, rebuked the unclean spirit and said to it, "Mute and deaf spirit, I command you: come out of him and never enter him again!"

²⁶Shouting and throwing the boy into convulsions, it came out. He became like a corpse, which caused many to say, "He is dead!"

²⁷But Jesus took him by the hand, raised him, and he stood up.

²⁸When he entered the house, his disciples asked him in private, "Why could we not drive it out?"

²⁹He said to them, "This kind can only come out through prayer."

³⁰They left from there and began a journey through Galilee, but he did not wish anyone to know about it.

³¹He was teaching his disciples and telling them, "The Son of Man is to be handed over to men and they will kill him, and three days after his death he will rise."

³²But they did not understand the saying, and they were afraid to question him.

³³They came to Capernaum and, once inside the house, he began to ask them, "What were you arguing about on the way?"

³⁴But they remained silent. They had been discussing among themselves on the way who was the greatest.

³⁵Then he sat down, called the Twelve, and said to them, "If anyone wishes to be first, he shall be the last of all and the servant of all."

³⁶Taking a child he placed it in their midst, and putting his arms around it he said to them,

³⁷"Whoever receives one child such as this in my name, receives me; and whoever receives me, receives not me but the one who sent me."

³⁸John said to him, "Teacher, we saw someone driving out demons in your name, and we tried to prevent him because he does not follow us."

³⁹Jesus replied, "Do not prevent him. There is no one who performs a mighty deed in my name who can at the same time speak ill of me.

⁴⁰For whoever is not against us is for us.

⁴¹Anyone who gives you a cup of water to drink because you belong to Christ, amen, I say to you, will surely not lose his reward.

⁴³If your hand causes you to sin, cut it off. It is better for you to enter into life maimed than with two hands to go into Gehenna, into the unquenchable fire.

⁴⁴

⁴⁵And if your foot causes you to sin, cut it off. It is better for you to enter into life crippled than with two feet to be thrown into Gehenna.

⁴⁷And if your eye causes you to sin, pluck it out. Better for you to enter into the kingdom of God with one eye than with two eyes to be thrown into Gehenna,

⁴⁸where 'their worm does not die, and the fire is not quenched.'

⁴⁹"Everyone will be salted with fire.

⁵⁰Salt is good, but if salt becomes insipid, with what will you restore its flavor? Keep salt in yourselves and you will have peace with one another."

10 He set out from there and went into the district of Judea (and) across the Jordan. Again crowds gathered around him and, as was his custom, he again taught them.

²The Pharisees approached and asked, "Is it lawful for a husband to divorce his wife?" They were testing him.

³He said to them in reply, "What did Moses command you?"

⁴They replied, "Moses permitted him to write a bill of divorce and dismiss her."

⁵But Jesus told them, "Because of the hardness of your hearts he wrote you this commandment.

⁶But from the beginning of creation, 'God made them male and female.

⁷For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother (and be joined to his wife),

⁸and the two shall become one flesh.' So they are no longer two but one flesh.

⁹Therefore what God has joined together, no human being must separate."

¹⁰In the house the disciples again questioned him about this.

¹¹He said to them, "Whoever divorces his wife and marries another commits adultery against her;

¹²and if she divorces her husband and marries another, she commits adultery."

¹³And people were bringing children to him that he might touch them, but the disciples rebuked them.

¹⁴When Jesus saw this he became indignant and said to them, "Let the children come to me; do not prevent them, for the kingdom of God belongs to such as these.

¹⁵Amen, I say to you, whoever does not accept the kingdom of God like a child will not enter it."

¹⁶Then he embraced them and blessed them, placing his hands on them.

¹⁷As he was setting out on a journey, a man ran up, knelt down before him, and asked him, "Good teacher, what must I do to inherit eternal life?"

¹⁸Jesus answered him, "Why do you call me good? No one is good but God alone.

¹⁹You know the commandments: 'You shall not kill; you shall not commit adultery; you shall not steal; you shall not bear false witness; you shall not defraud; honor your father and your mother.'"

²⁰He replied and said to him, "Teacher, all of these I have observed from my youth."

²¹Jesus, looking at him, loved him and said to him, "You are lacking in one thing. Go, sell what you have, and give to (the) poor and you will have treasure in heaven; then come, follow me."

²²At that statement his face fell, and he went away sad, for he had many possessions.

²³Jesus looked around and said to his disciples, "How hard it is for those who have wealth to enter the kingdom of God!"

²⁴The disciples were amazed at his words. So Jesus again said to them in reply, "Children, how hard it is to enter the kingdom of God!

²⁵It is easier for a camel to pass through (the) eye of (a) needle than for one who is rich to enter the kingdom of God."

²⁶They were exceedingly astonished and said among themselves, "Then who can be saved?"

²⁷Jesus looked at them and said, "For human beings it is impossible, but not for God. All things are possible for God."

²⁸Peter began to say to him, "We have given up everything and followed you."

²⁹Jesus said, "Amen, I say to you, there is no one who has given up house or brothers or sisters or mother or father or children or lands for my sake and for the sake of the gospel

³⁰who will not receive a hundred times more now in this present age: houses and brothers and sisters and mothers and children and lands, with persecutions, and eternal life in the age to come.

³¹But many that are first will be last, and (the) last will be first."

³²They were on the way, going up to Jerusalem, and Jesus went ahead of them. They were amazed, and those who followed were afraid. Taking the Twelve aside again, he began to tell them what was going to happen to him.

³³"Behold, we are going up to Jerusalem, and the Son of Man will be handed over to the chief priests and the scribes, and they will condemn him to death and hand him over to the Gentiles ³⁴who will mock him, spit upon him, scourge him, and put him to death, but after three days he will rise."

³⁵Then James and John, the sons of Zebedee, came to him and said to him, "Teacher, we want you to do for us whatever we ask of you."

³⁶He replied, "What do you wish (me) to do for you?"

³⁷They answered him, "Grant that in your glory we may sit one at your right and the other at your left."

³⁸Jesus said to them, "You do not know what you are asking. Can you drink the cup that I drink or be baptized with the baptism with which I am baptized?"

³⁹They said to him, "We can." Jesus said to them, "The cup that I drink, you will drink, and with the baptism with which I am baptized, you will be baptized;

⁴⁰but to sit at my right or at my left is not mine to give but is for those for whom it has been prepared."

⁴¹When the ten heard this, they became indignant at James and John.

⁴² Jesus summoned them and said to them, "You know that those who are recognized as rulers over the Gentiles lord it over them, and their great ones make their authority over them felt.

⁴³ But it shall not be so among you. Rather, whoever wishes to be great among you will be your servant;

⁴⁴ whoever wishes to be first among you will be the slave of all.

⁴⁵ For the Son of Man did not come to be served but to serve and to give his life as a ransom for many."

⁴⁶ They came to Jericho. And as he was leaving Jericho with his disciples and a sizable crowd, Bartimaeus, a blind man, the son of Timaeus, sat by the roadside begging.

⁴⁷ On hearing that it was Jesus of Nazareth, he began to cry out and say, "Jesus, son of David, have pity on me."

⁴⁸ And many rebuked him, telling him to be silent. But he kept calling out all the more, "Son of David, have pity on me."

⁴⁹ Jesus stopped and said, "Call him." So they called the blind man, saying to him, "Take courage; get up, he is calling you."

⁵⁰ He threw aside his cloak, sprang up, and came to Jesus.

⁵¹ Jesus said to him in reply, "What do you want me to do for you?" The blind man replied to him, "Master, I want to see."

⁵² Jesus told him, "Go your way; your faith has saved you." Immediately he received his sight and followed him on the way.

11 When they drew near to Jerusalem, to Bethphage and Bethany at the Mount of Olives, he sent two of his disciples

² and said to them, "Go into the village opposite you, and immediately on entering it, you will find a colt tethered on which no one has ever sat. Untie it and bring it here.

³ If anyone should say to you, 'Why are you doing this?' reply, 'The Master has need of it and will send it back here at once.'"

⁴So they went off and found a colt tethered at a gate outside on the street, and they untied it.

⁵Some of the bystanders said to them, "What are you doing, untying the colt?"

⁶They answered them just as Jesus had told them to, and they permitted them to do it.

⁷So they brought the colt to Jesus and put their cloaks over it. And he sat on it.

⁸Many people spread their cloaks on the road, and others spread leafy branches that they had cut from the fields.

⁹Those preceding him as well as those following kept crying out: "Hosanna! Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord!

¹⁰Blessed is the kingdom of our father David that is to come! Hosanna in the highest!"

¹¹He entered Jerusalem and went into the temple area. He looked around at everything and, since it was already late, went out to Bethany with the Twelve.

¹²The next day as they were leaving Bethany he was hungry.

¹³Seeing from a distance a fig tree in leaf, he went over to see if he could find anything on it. When he reached it he found nothing but leaves; it was not the time for figs.

¹⁴And he said to it in reply, "May no one ever eat of your fruit again!" And his disciples heard it.

¹⁵They came to Jerusalem, and on entering the temple area he began to drive out those selling and buying there. He overturned the tables of the money changers and the seats of those who were selling doves.

¹⁶He did not permit anyone to carry anything through the temple area.

¹⁷Then he taught them saying, "Is it not written: 'My house shall be called a house of prayer for all peoples'? But you have made it a den of thieves."

¹⁸The chief priests and the scribes came to hear of it and were seeking a way to put him to death, yet they feared him because the whole crowd was astonished at his teaching.

¹⁹When evening came, they went out of the city.

²⁰Early in the morning, as they were walking along, they saw the fig tree withered to its roots.

²¹Peter remembered and said to him, "Rabbi, look! The fig tree that you cursed has withered."

²²Jesus said to them in reply, "Have faith in God.

²³Amen, I say to you, whoever says to this mountain, 'Be lifted up and thrown into the sea,' and does not doubt in his heart but believes that what he says will happen, it shall be done for him.

²⁴Therefore I tell you, all that you ask for in prayer, believe that you will receive it and it shall be yours.

²⁵When you stand to pray, forgive anyone against whom you have a grievance, so that your heavenly Father may in turn forgive you your transgressions."

²⁶)

²⁷They returned once more to Jerusalem. As he was walking in the temple area, the chief priests, the scribes, and the elders approached him

²⁸and said to him, "By what authority are you doing these things? Or who gave you this authority to do them?"

²⁹Jesus said to them, "I shall ask you one question. Answer me, and I will tell you by what authority I do these things.

³⁰Was John's baptism of heavenly or of human origin? Answer me."

³¹They discussed this among themselves and said, "If we say, 'Of heavenly origin,' he will say, '(Then) why did you not believe him?'

³²But shall we say, 'Of human origin?'"--they feared the crowd, for they all thought John really was a prophet.

³³So they said to Jesus in reply, "We do not know." Then Jesus said to them, "Neither shall I tell you by what authority I do these things."

12 He began to speak to them in parables. "A man planted a vineyard, put a hedge around it, dug a wine press, and built a tower. Then he leased it to tenant farmers and left on a journey.

²At the proper time he sent a servant to the tenants to obtain from them some of the produce of the vineyard.

³But they seized him, beat him, and sent him away empty-handed.

⁴Again he sent them another servant. And that one they beat over the head and treated shamefully.

⁵He sent yet another whom they killed. So, too, many others; some they beat, others they killed.

⁶He had one other to send, a beloved son. He sent him to them last of all, thinking, 'They will respect my son.'

⁷But those tenants said to one another, 'This is the heir. Come, let us kill him, and the inheritance will be ours.'

⁸So they seized him and killed him, and threw him out of the vineyard.

⁹What (then) will the owner of the vineyard do? He will come, put the tenants to death, and give the vineyard to others.

¹⁰Have you not read this scripture passage: 'The stone that the builders rejected has become the cornerstone;

¹¹by the Lord has this been done, and it is wonderful in our eyes?'

¹²They were seeking to arrest him, but they feared the crowd, for they realized that he had addressed the parable to them. So they left him and went away.

¹³They sent some Pharisees and Herodians to him to ensnare him in his speech.

¹⁴They came and said to him, "Teacher, we know that you are a truthful man and that you are not concerned with anyone's opinion. You do not regard a person's status but teach the way of God in accordance with the truth. Is it lawful to pay the census tax to Caesar or not? Should we pay or should we not pay?"

¹⁵Knowing their hypocrisy he said to them, "Why are you testing me? Bring me a denarius to look at."

¹⁶They brought one to him and he said to them, "Whose image and inscription is this?" They replied to him, "Caesar's."

¹⁷So Jesus said to them, "Repay to Caesar what belongs to Caesar and to God what belongs to God." They were utterly amazed at him.

¹⁸Some Sadducees, who say there is no resurrection, came to him and put this question to him,

¹⁹saying, "Teacher, Moses wrote for us, 'If someone's brother dies, leaving a wife but no child, his brother must take the wife and raise up descendants for his brother.'

²⁰Now there were seven brothers. The first married a woman and died, leaving no descendants.

²¹So the second married her and died, leaving no descendants, and the third likewise.

²²And the seven left no descendants. Last of all the woman also died.

²³At the resurrection (when they arise) whose wife will she be? For all seven had been married to her."

²⁴Jesus said to them, "Are you not misled because you do not know the scriptures or the power of God?"

²⁵When they rise from the dead, they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but they are like the angels in heaven.

²⁶As for the dead being raised, have you not read in the Book of Moses, in the passage about the bush, how God told him, 'I am the God of Abraham, (the) God of Isaac, and (the) God of Jacob'?

²⁷He is not God of the dead but of the living. You are greatly misled."

²⁸One of the scribes, when he came forward and heard them disputing and saw how well he had answered them, asked him, "Which is the first of all the commandments?"

²⁹Jesus replied, "The first is this: 'Hear, O Israel! The Lord our God is Lord alone!

³⁰You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your mind, and with all your strength.'

³¹The second is this: 'You shall love your neighbor as yourself.' There is no other commandment greater than these."

³²The scribe said to him, "Well said, teacher. You are right in saying, 'He is One and there is no other than he.'

³³And 'to love him with all your heart, with all your understanding, with all your strength, and to love your neighbor as yourself' is worth more than all burnt offerings and sacrifices."

³⁴And when Jesus saw that (he) answered with understanding, he said to him, "You are not far from the kingdom of God." And no one dared to ask him any more questions.

³⁵As Jesus was teaching in the temple area he said, "How do the scribes claim that the Messiah is the son of David?

³⁶David himself, inspired by the holy Spirit, said: 'The Lord said to my lord, "Sit at my right hand until I place your enemies under your feet.'"

³⁷David himself calls him 'lord'; so how is he his son?" (The) great crowd heard this with delight.

³⁸In the course of his teaching he said, "Beware of the scribes, who like to go around in long robes and accept greetings in the marketplaces, ³⁹seats of honor in synagogues, and places of honor at banquets.

⁴⁰They devour the houses of widows and, as a pretext, recite lengthy prayers. They will receive a very severe condemnation."

⁴¹He sat down opposite the treasury and observed how the crowd put money into the treasury. Many rich people put in large sums.

⁴²A poor widow also came and put in two small coins worth a few cents.

⁴³Calling his disciples to himself, he said to them, "Amen, I say to you, this poor widow put in more than all the other contributors to the treasury.

⁴⁴For they have all contributed from their surplus wealth, but she, from her poverty, has contributed all she had, her whole livelihood."

13 As he was making his way out of the temple area one of his disciples said to him, "Look, teacher, what stones and what buildings!"

²Jesus said to him, "Do you see these great buildings? There will not be one stone left upon another that will not be thrown down."

³As he was sitting on the Mount of Olives opposite the temple area, Peter, James, John, and Andrew asked him privately,

⁴"Tell us, when will this happen, and what sign will there be when all these things are about to come to an end?"

⁵Jesus began to say to them, "See that no one deceives you.

⁶Many will come in my name saying, 'I am he,' and they will deceive many.

⁷When you hear of wars and reports of wars do not be alarmed; such things must happen, but it will not yet be the end.

⁸Nation will rise against nation and kingdom against kingdom. There will be earthquakes from place to place and there will be famines. These are the beginnings of the labor pains.

⁹"Watch out for yourselves. They will hand you over to the courts. You will be beaten in synagogues. You will be arraigned before governors and kings because of me, as a witness before them.

¹⁰But the gospel must first be preached to all nations.

¹¹When they lead you away and hand you over, do not worry beforehand about what you are to say. But say whatever will be given to you at that hour. For it will not be you who are speaking but the holy Spirit.

¹²Brother will hand over brother to death, and the father his child; children will rise up against parents and have them put to death.

¹³You will be hated by all because of my name. But the one who perseveres to the end will be saved.

¹⁴"When you see the desolating abomination standing where he should not (let the reader understand), then those in Judea must flee to the mountains,

¹⁵(and) a person on a housetop must not go down or enter to get anything out of his house,

¹⁶and a person in a field must not return to get his cloak.

¹⁷Woe to pregnant women and nursing mothers in those days.

¹⁸Pray that this does not happen in winter.

¹⁹For those times will have tribulation such as has not been since the beginning of God's creation until now, nor ever will be.

²⁰If the Lord had not shortened those days, no one would be saved; but for the sake of the elect whom he chose, he did shorten the days.

²¹If anyone says to you then, 'Look, here is the Messiah! Look, there he is!' do not believe it.

²²False messiahs and false prophets will arise and will perform signs and wonders in order to mislead, if that were possible, the elect.

²³Be watchful! I have told it all to you beforehand.

²⁴"But in those days after that tribulation the sun will be darkened, and the moon will not give its light,

²⁵and the stars will be falling from the sky, and the powers in the heavens will be shaken.

²⁶And then they will see 'the Son of Man coming in the clouds' with great power and glory, ²⁷and then he will send out the angels and gather (his) elect from the four winds, from the end of the earth to the end of the sky.

²⁸"Learn a lesson from the fig tree. When its branch becomes tender and sprouts leaves, you know that summer is near.

²⁹In the same way, when you see these things happening, know that he is near, at the gates.

³⁰Amen, I say to you, this generation will not pass away until all these things have taken place.

³¹Heaven and earth will pass away, but my words will not pass away.

³²"But of that day or hour, no one knows, neither the angels in heaven, nor the Son, but only the Father.

³³Be watchful! Be alert! You do not know when the time will come.

³⁴It is like a man traveling abroad. He leaves home and places his servants in charge, each with his work, and orders the gatekeeper to be on the watch.

³⁵Watch, therefore; you do not know when the lord of the house is coming, whether in the evening, or at midnight, or at cockcrow, or in the morning.

³⁶May he not come suddenly and find you sleeping.

³⁷What I say to you, I say to all: 'Watch!'"

14The Passover and the Feast of Unleavened Bread were to take place in two days' time. So the chief priests and the scribes were seeking a way to arrest him by treachery and put him to death.

²They said, "Not during the festival, for fear that there may be a riot among the people."

³When he was in Bethany reclining at table in the house of Simon the leper, a woman came with an alabaster jar of perfumed oil, costly genuine spikenard. She broke the alabaster jar and poured it on his head.

⁴There were some who were indignant. "Why has there been this waste of perfumed oil?"

⁵It could have been sold for more than three hundred days' wages and the money given to the poor." They were infuriated with her.

⁶ Jesus said, "Let her alone. Why do you make trouble for her? She has done a good thing for me."

⁷ The poor you will always have with you, and whenever you wish you can do good to them, but you will not always have me.

⁸ She has done what she could. She has anticipated anointing my body for burial.

⁹ Amen, I say to you, wherever the gospel is proclaimed to the whole world, what she has done will be told in memory of her."

¹⁰ Then Judas Iscariot, one of the Twelve, went off to the chief priests to hand him over to them.

¹¹ When they heard him they were pleased and promised to pay him money. Then he looked for an opportunity to hand him over.

¹² On the first day of the Feast of Unleavened Bread, when they sacrificed the Passover lamb, his disciples said to him, "Where do you want us to go and prepare for you to eat the Passover?"

¹³ He sent two of his disciples and said to them, "Go into the city and a man will meet you, carrying a jar of water. Follow him.

¹⁴ Wherever he enters, say to the master of the house, 'The Teacher says, "Where is my guest room where I may eat the Passover with my disciples?"'

¹⁵ Then he will show you a large upper room furnished and ready. Make the preparations for us there."

¹⁶ The disciples then went off, entered the city, and found it just as he had told them; and they prepared the Passover.

¹⁷ When it was evening, he came with the Twelve.

¹⁸ And as they reclined at table and were eating, Jesus said, "Amen, I say to you, one of you will betray me, one who is eating with me."

¹⁹ They began to be distressed and to say to him, one by one, "Surely it is not I?"

²⁰ He said to them, "One of the Twelve, the one who dips with me into the dish.

²¹For the Son of Man indeed goes, as it is written of him, but woe to that man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed. It would be better for that man if he had never been born."

²²While they were eating, he took bread, said the blessing, broke it, and gave it to them, and said, "Take it; this is my body."

²³Then he took a cup, gave thanks, and gave it to them, and they all drank from it.

²⁴He said to them, "This is my blood of the covenant, which will be shed for many.

²⁵Amen, I say to you, I shall not drink again the fruit of the vine until the day when I drink it new in the kingdom of God."

²⁶Then, after singing a hymn, they went out to the Mount of Olives.

²⁷Then Jesus said to them, "All of you will have your faith shaken, for it is written: 'I will strike the shepherd, and the sheep will be dispersed.'

²⁸But after I have been raised up, I shall go before you to Galilee."

²⁹Peter said to him, "Even though all should have their faith shaken, mine will not be."

³⁰Then Jesus said to him, "Amen, I say to you, this very night before the cock crows twice you will deny me three times."

³¹But he vehemently replied, "Even though I should have to die with you, I will not deny you." And they all spoke similarly.

³²Then they came to a place named Gethsemane, and he said to his disciples, "Sit here while I pray."

³³He took with him Peter, James, and John, and began to be troubled and distressed.

³⁴Then he said to them, "My soul is sorrowful even to death. Remain here and keep watch."

³⁵He advanced a little and fell to the ground and prayed that if it were possible the hour might pass by him;

³⁶he said, "Abba, Father, all things are possible to you. Take this cup away from me, but not what I will but what you will."

³⁷When he returned he found them asleep. He said to Peter, "Simon, are you asleep? Could you not keep watch for one hour?"

³⁸Watch and pray that you may not undergo the test. The spirit is willing but the flesh is weak."

³⁹Withdrawing again, he prayed, saying the same thing.

⁴⁰Then he returned once more and found them asleep, for they could not keep their eyes open and did not know what to answer him.

⁴¹He returned a third time and said to them, "Are you still sleeping and taking your rest? It is enough. The hour has come. Behold, the Son of Man is to be handed over to sinners.

⁴²Get up, let us go. See, my betrayer is at hand."

⁴³Then, while he was still speaking, Judas, one of the Twelve, arrived, accompanied by a crowd with swords and clubs who had come from the chief priests, the scribes, and the elders.

⁴⁴His betrayer had arranged a signal with them, saying, "The man I shall kiss is the one; arrest him and lead him away securely."

⁴⁵He came and immediately went over to him and said, "Rabbi." And he kissed him.

⁴⁶At this they laid hands on him and arrested him.

⁴⁷One of the bystanders drew his sword, struck the high priest's servant, and cut off his ear.

⁴⁸Jesus said to them in reply, "Have you come out as against a robber, with swords and clubs, to seize me?"

⁴⁹Day after day I was with you teaching in the temple area, yet you did not arrest me; but that the scriptures may be fulfilled."

⁵⁰And they all left him and fled.

⁵¹Now a young man followed him wearing nothing but a linen cloth about his body. They seized him, ⁵²but he left the cloth behind and ran off naked.

⁵³They led Jesus away to the high priest, and all the chief priests and the elders and the scribes came together.

⁵⁴Peter followed him at a distance into the high priest's courtyard and was seated with the guards, warming himself at the fire.

⁵⁵The chief priests and the entire Sanhedrin kept trying to obtain testimony against Jesus in order to put him to death, but they found none.

⁵⁶Many gave false witness against him, but their testimony did not agree.

⁵⁷Some took the stand and testified falsely against him, alleging,

⁵⁸"We heard him say, 'I will destroy this temple made with hands and within three days I will build another not made with hands.'"

⁵⁹Even so their testimony did not agree.

⁶⁰The high priest rose before the assembly and questioned Jesus, saying, "Have you no answer? What are these men testifying against you?"

⁶¹But he was silent and answered nothing. Again the high priest asked him and said to him, "Are you the Messiah, the son of the Blessed One?"

⁶²Then Jesus answered, "I am; and 'you will see the Son of Man seated at the right hand of the Power and coming with the clouds of heaven.'"

⁶³At that the high priest tore his garments and said, "What further need have we of witnesses?"

⁶⁴You have heard the blasphemy. What do you think?" They all condemned him as deserving to die.

⁶⁵Some began to spit on him. They blindfolded him and struck him and said to him, "Prophesy!" And the guards greeted him with blows.

⁶⁶While Peter was below in the courtyard, one of the high priest's maids came along.

⁶⁷Seeing Peter warming himself, she looked intently at him and said, "You too were with the Nazarene, Jesus."

⁶⁸But he denied it saying, "I neither know nor understand what you are talking about." So he went out into the outer court. [Then the cock crowed.]

⁶⁹The maid saw him and began again to say to the bystanders, "This man is one of them."

⁷⁰Once again he denied it. A little later the bystanders said to Peter once more, "Surely you are one of them; for you too are a Galilean."

⁷¹He began to curse and to swear, "I do not know this man about whom you are talking."

⁷²And immediately a cock crowed a second time. Then Peter remembered the word that Jesus had said to him, "Before the cock crows twice you will deny me three times." He broke down and wept.

15 As soon as morning came, the chief priests with the elders and the scribes, that is, the whole Sanhedrin, held a council. They bound Jesus, led him away, and handed him over to Pilate.

²Pilate questioned him, "Are you the king of the Jews?" He said to him in reply, "You say so."

³The chief priests accused him of many things.

⁴Again Pilate questioned him, "Have you no answer? See how many things they accuse you of."

⁵Jesus gave him no further answer, so that Pilate was amazed.

⁶Now on the occasion of the feast he used to release to them one prisoner whom they requested.

⁷A man called Barabbas was then in prison along with the rebels who had committed murder in a rebellion.

⁸The crowd came forward and began to ask him to do for them as he was accustomed.

⁹Pilate answered, "Do you want me to release to you the king of the Jews?"

¹⁰For he knew that it was out of envy that the chief priests had handed him over.

¹¹But the chief priests stirred up the crowd to have him release Barabbas for them instead.

¹²Pilate again said to them in reply, "Then what (do you want) me to do with (the man you call) the king of the Jews?"

¹³They shouted again, "Crucify him."

¹⁴Pilate said to them, "Why? What evil has he done?" They only shouted the louder, "Crucify him."

¹⁵So Pilate, wishing to satisfy the crowd, released Barabbas to them and, after he had Jesus scourged, handed him over to be crucified.

¹⁶The soldiers led him away inside the palace, that is, the praetorium, and assembled the whole cohort.

¹⁷They clothed him in purple and, weaving a crown of thorns, placed it on him.

¹⁸They began to salute him with, "Hail, King of the Jews!"

¹⁹and kept striking his head with a reed and spitting upon him. They knelt before him in homage.

²⁰And when they had mocked him, they stripped him of the purple cloak, dressed him in his own clothes, and led him out to crucify him.

²¹They pressed into service a passer-by, Simon, a Cyrenian, who was coming in from the country, the father of Alexander and Rufus, to carry his cross.

²²They brought him to the place of Golgotha (which is translated Place of the Skull).

²³They gave him wine drugged with myrrh, but he did not take it.

²⁴Then they crucified him and divided his garments by casting lots for them to see what each should take.

²⁵It was nine o'clock in the morning when they crucified him.

²⁶The inscription of the charge against him read, "The King of the Jews."

²⁸)

²⁹Those passing by reviled him, shaking their heads and saying, "Aha! You who would destroy the temple and rebuild it in three days, ³⁰save yourself by coming down from the cross."

³¹Likewise the chief priests, with the scribes, mocked him among themselves and said, "He saved others; he cannot save himself.

³²Let the Messiah, the King of Israel, come down now from the cross that we may see and believe." Those who were crucified with him also kept abusing him.

³³At noon darkness came over the whole land until three in the afternoon.

³⁴And at three o'clock Jesus cried out in a loud voice, "Eloi, Eloi, lema sabachthani?" which is translated, "My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?"

³⁵Some of the bystanders who heard it said, "Look, he is calling Elijah."

³⁶One of them ran, soaked a sponge with wine, put it on a reed, and gave it to him to drink, saying, "Wait, let us see if Elijah comes to take him down."

³⁷Jesus gave a loud cry and breathed his last.

³⁸The veil of the sanctuary was torn in two from top to bottom.

³⁹When the centurion who stood facing him saw how he breathed his last he said, "Truly this man was the Son of God!"

⁴⁰There were also women looking on from a distance. Among them were Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of the younger James and of Joses, and Salome.

⁴¹These women had followed him when he was in Galilee and ministered to him. There were also many other women who had come up with him to Jerusalem.

⁴²When it was already evening, since it was the day of preparation, the day before the sabbath,

⁴³Joseph of Arimathea, a distinguished member of the council, who was himself awaiting the kingdom of God, came and courageously went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus.

⁴⁴Pilate was amazed that he was already dead. He summoned the centurion and asked him if Jesus had already died.

⁴⁵And when he learned of it from the centurion, he gave the body to Joseph.

⁴⁶Having bought a linen cloth, he took him down, wrapped him in the linen cloth and laid him in a tomb that had been hewn out of the rock. Then he rolled a stone against the entrance to the tomb.

⁴⁷Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of Joses watched where he was laid.

16 When the sabbath was over, Mary Magdalene, Mary, the mother of James, and Salome bought spices so that they might go and anoint him.

²Very early when the sun had risen, on the first day of the week, they came to the tomb.

³They were saying to one another, "Who will roll back the stone for us from the entrance to the tomb?"

⁴When they looked up, they saw that the stone had been rolled back; it was very large.

⁵On entering the tomb they saw a young man sitting on the right side, clothed in a white robe, and they were utterly amazed.

⁶He said to them, "Do not be amazed! You seek Jesus of Nazareth, the crucified. He has been raised; he is not here. Behold the place where they laid him.

⁷But go and tell his disciples and Peter, 'He is going before you to Galilee; there you will see him, as he told you.'"

⁸Then they went out and fled from the tomb, seized with trembling and bewilderment. They said nothing to anyone, for they were afraid.

⁹(When he had risen, early on the first day of the week, he appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom he had driven seven demons.

¹⁰She went and told his companions who were mourning and weeping.

¹¹When they heard that he was alive and had been seen by her, they did not believe.

¹²After this he appeared in another form to two of them walking along on their way to the country.

¹³They returned and told the others; but they did not believe them either.

¹⁴(But) later, as the eleven were at table, he appeared to them and rebuked them for their unbelief and hardness of heart because they had not believed those who saw him after he had been raised.

¹⁵He said to them, "Go into the whole world and proclaim the gospel to every creature.

¹⁶Whoever believes and is baptized will be saved; whoever does not believe will be condemned.

¹⁷These signs will accompany those who believe: in my name they will drive out demons, they will speak new languages.

¹⁸They will pick up serpents (with their hands), and if they drink any deadly thing, it will not harm them. They will lay hands on the sick, and they will recover."

¹⁹So then the Lord Jesus, after he spoke to them, was taken up into heaven and took his seat at the right hand of God.

²⁰But they went forth and preached everywhere, while the Lord worked with them and confirmed the word through accompanying signs.)

Luke

1 Since many have undertaken to compile a narrative of the events that have been fulfilled among us,

2 just as those who were eyewitnesses from the beginning and ministers of the word have handed them down to us,

3 I too have decided, after investigating everything accurately anew, to write it down in an orderly sequence for you, most excellent Theophilus,

4 so that you may realize the certainty of the teachings you have received.

5 In the days of Herod, King of Judea, there was a priest named Zechariah of the priestly division of Abijah; his wife was from the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elizabeth.

6 Both were righteous in the eyes of God, observing all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blamelessly.

7 But they had no child, because Elizabeth was barren and both were advanced in years.

8 Once when he was serving as priest in his division's turn before God,

9 according to the practice of the priestly service, he was chosen by lot to enter the sanctuary of the Lord to burn incense.

10 Then, when the whole assembly of the people was praying outside at the hour of the incense offering,

11 the angel of the Lord appeared to him, standing at the right of the altar of incense.

12 Zechariah was troubled by what he saw, and fear came upon him.

13 But the angel said to him, "Do not be afraid, Zechariah, because your prayer has been heard. Your wife Elizabeth will bear you a son, and you shall name him John.

¹⁴And you will have joy and gladness, and many will rejoice at his birth,

¹⁵for he will be great in the sight of (the) Lord. He will drink neither wine nor strong drink. He will be filled with the holy Spirit even from his mother's womb, ¹⁶and he will turn many of the children of Israel to the Lord their God.

¹⁷He will go before him in the spirit and power of Elijah to turn the hearts of fathers toward children and the disobedient to the understanding of the righteous, to prepare a people fit for the Lord."

¹⁸Then Zechariah said to the angel, "How shall I know this? For I am an old man, and my wife is advanced in years."

¹⁹And the angel said to him in reply, "I am Gabriel, who stand before God. I was sent to speak to you and to announce to you this good news.

²⁰But now you will be speechless and unable to talk until the day these things take place, because you did not believe my words, which will be fulfilled at their proper time."

²¹Meanwhile the people were waiting for Zechariah and were amazed that he stayed so long in the sanctuary.

²²But when he came out, he was unable to speak to them, and they realized that he had seen a vision in the sanctuary. He was gesturing to them but remained mute.

²³Then, when his days of ministry were completed, he went home.

²⁴After this time his wife Elizabeth conceived, and she went into seclusion for five months, saying,

²⁵"So has the Lord done for me at a time when he has seen fit to take away my disgrace before others."

²⁶In the sixth month, the angel Gabriel was sent from God to a town of Galilee called Nazareth, ²⁷to a virgin betrothed to a man named Joseph, of the house of David, and the virgin's name was Mary.

²⁸And coming to her, he said, "Hail, favored one! The Lord is with you."

²⁹But she was greatly troubled at what was said and pondered what sort of greeting this might be.

³⁰Then the angel said to her, "Do not be afraid, Mary, for you have found favor with God.

³¹Behold, you will conceive in your womb and bear a son, and you shall name him Jesus.

³²He will be great and will be called Son of the Most High, and the Lord God will give him the throne of David his father,

³³and he will rule over the house of Jacob forever, and of his kingdom there will be no end."

³⁴But Mary said to the angel, "How can this be, since I have no relations with a man?"

³⁵And the angel said to her in reply, "The holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Most High will overshadow you. Therefore the child to be born will be called holy, the Son of God.

³⁶And behold, Elizabeth, your relative, has also conceived a son in her old age, and this is the sixth month for her who was called barren;

³⁷for nothing will be impossible for God."

³⁸Mary said, "Behold, I am the handmaid of the Lord. May it be done to me according to your word." Then the angel departed from her.

³⁹During those days Mary set out and traveled to the hill country in haste to a town of Judah, ⁴⁰where she entered the house of Zechariah and greeted Elizabeth.

⁴¹When Elizabeth heard Mary's greeting, the infant leaped in her womb, and Elizabeth, filled with the holy Spirit, ⁴²cried out in a loud voice and said, "Most blessed are you among women, and blessed is the fruit of your womb.

⁴³And how does this happen to me, that the mother of my Lord should come to me?

⁴⁴For at the moment the sound of your greeting reached my ears, the infant in my womb leaped for joy.

⁴⁵Blessed are you who believed that what was spoken to you by the Lord would be fulfilled."

⁴⁶And Mary said: "My soul proclaims the greatness of the Lord;

⁴⁷my spirit rejoices in God my savior.

⁴⁸For he has looked upon his handmaid's lowliness; behold, from now on will all ages call me blessed.

⁴⁹The Mighty One has done great things for me, and holy is his name.

⁵⁰His mercy is from age to age to those who fear him.

⁵¹He has shown might with his arm, dispersed the arrogant of mind and heart.

⁵²He has thrown down the rulers from their thrones but lifted up the lowly.

⁵³The hungry he has filled with good things; the rich he has sent away empty.

⁵⁴He has helped Israel his servant, remembering his mercy,

⁵⁵according to his promise to our fathers, to Abraham and to his descendants forever."

⁵⁶Mary remained with her about three months and then returned to her home.

⁵⁷When the time arrived for Elizabeth to have her child she gave birth to a son.

⁵⁸Her neighbors and relatives heard that the Lord had shown his great mercy toward her, and they rejoiced with her.

⁵⁹When they came on the eighth day to circumcise the child, they were going to call him Zechariah after his father,

⁶⁰but his mother said in reply, "No. He will be called John."

⁶¹But they answered her, "There is no one among your relatives who has this name."

⁶²So they made signs, asking his father what he wished him to be called.

⁶³He asked for a tablet and wrote, "John is his name," and all were amazed.

⁶⁴Immediately his mouth was opened, his tongue freed, and he spoke blessing God.

⁶⁵Then fear came upon all their neighbors, and all these matters were discussed throughout the hill country of Judea.

⁶⁶All who heard these things took them to heart, saying, "What, then, will this child be?" For surely the hand of the Lord was with him.

⁶⁷Then Zechariah his father, filled with the holy Spirit, prophesied, saying:

⁶⁸"Blessed be the Lord, the God of Israel, for he has visited and brought redemption to his people.

⁶⁹He has raised up a horn for our salvation within the house of David his servant,

⁷⁰even as he promised through the mouth of his holy prophets from of old:

⁷¹salvation from our enemies and from the hand of all who hate us,

⁷²to show mercy to our fathers and to be mindful of his holy covenant

⁷³and of the oath he swore to Abraham our father, and to grant us that,

⁷⁴rescued from the hand of enemies, without fear we might worship him

⁷⁵in holiness and righteousness before him all our days.

⁷⁶And you, child, will be called prophet of the Most High, for you will go before the Lord to prepare his ways, ⁷⁷to give his people knowledge of salvation through the forgiveness of their sins,

⁷⁸because of the tender mercy of our God by which the daybreak from on high will visit us

⁷⁹to shine on those who sit in darkness and death's shadow, to guide our feet into the path of peace."

⁸⁰The child grew and became strong in spirit, and he was in the desert until the day of his manifestation to Israel.

2 In those days a decree went out from Caesar Augustus that the whole world should be enrolled.

²This was the first enrollment, when Quirinius was governor of Syria.

³So all went to be enrolled, each to his own town.

⁴And Joseph too went up from Galilee from the town of Nazareth to Judea, to the city of David that is called Bethlehem, because he was of the house and family of David,

⁵to be enrolled with Mary, his betrothed, who was with child.

⁶While they were there, the time came for her to have her child,

⁷and she gave birth to her firstborn son. She wrapped him in swaddling clothes and laid him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn.

⁸Now there were shepherds in that region living in the fields and keeping the night watch over their flock.

⁹The angel of the Lord appeared to them and the glory of the Lord shone around them, and they were struck with great fear.

¹⁰The angel said to them, "Do not be afraid; for behold, I proclaim to you good news of great joy that will be for all the people.

¹¹For today in the city of David a savior has been born for you who is Messiah and Lord.

¹²And this will be a sign for you: you will find an infant wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger."

¹³And suddenly there was a multitude of the heavenly host with the angel, praising God and saying:

¹⁴"Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace to those on whom his favor rests."

¹⁵When the angels went away from them to heaven, the shepherds said to one another, "Let us go, then, to Bethlehem to see this thing that has taken place, which the Lord has made known to us."

¹⁶So they went in haste and found Mary and Joseph, and the infant lying in the manger.

¹⁷When they saw this, they made known the message that had been told them about this child.

¹⁸All who heard it were amazed by what had been told them by the shepherds.

¹⁹And Mary kept all these things, reflecting on them in her heart.

²⁰Then the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all they had heard and seen, just as it had been told to them.

²¹When eight days were completed for his circumcision, he was named Jesus, the name given him by the angel before he was conceived in the womb.

²²When the days were completed for their purification according to the law of Moses, they took him up to Jerusalem to present him to the Lord,

²³just as it is written in the law of the Lord, "Every male that opens the womb shall be consecrated to the Lord,"

²⁴and to offer the sacrifice of "a pair of turtledoves or two young pigeons," in accordance with the dictate in the law of the Lord.

²⁵Now there was a man in Jerusalem whose name was Simeon. This man was righteous and devout, awaiting the consolation of Israel, and the holy Spirit was upon him.

²⁶It had been revealed to him by the holy Spirit that he should not see death before he had seen the Messiah of the Lord.

²⁷He came in the Spirit into the temple; and when the parents brought in the child Jesus to perform the custom of the law in regard to him,

²⁸he took him into his arms and blessed God, saying:

²⁹"Now, Master, you may let your servant go in peace, according to your word,

³⁰for my eyes have seen your salvation,

³¹which you prepared in sight of all the peoples,

³²a light for revelation to the Gentiles, and glory for your people Israel."

³³The child's father and mother were amazed at what was said about him;

³⁴and Simeon blessed them and said to Mary his mother, "Behold, this child is destined for the fall and rise of many in Israel, and to be a sign that will be contradicted ³⁵(and you yourself a sword will pierce) so that the thoughts of many hearts may be revealed."

³⁶There was also a prophetess, Anna, the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Asher. She was advanced in years, having lived seven years with her husband after her marriage, ³⁷and then as a widow until she was eighty-four. She never left the temple, but worshiped night and day with fasting and prayer.

³⁸And coming forward at that very time, she gave thanks to God and spoke about the child to all who were awaiting the redemption of Jerusalem.

³⁹When they had fulfilled all the prescriptions of the law of the Lord, they returned to Galilee, to their own town of Nazareth.

⁴⁰The child grew and became strong, filled with wisdom; and the favor of God was upon him.

⁴¹Each year his parents went to Jerusalem for the feast of Passover, ⁴²and when he was twelve years old, they went up according to festival custom.

⁴³After they had completed its days, as they were returning, the boy Jesus remained behind in Jerusalem, but his parents did not know it.

⁴⁴Thinking that he was in the caravan, they journeyed for a day and looked for him among their relatives and acquaintances,

⁴⁵but not finding him, they returned to Jerusalem to look for him.

⁴⁶After three days they found him in the temple, sitting in the midst of the teachers, listening to them and asking them questions,

⁴⁷and all who heard him were astounded at his understanding and his answers.

⁴⁸When his parents saw him, they were astonished, and his mother said to him, "Son, why have you done this to us? Your father and I have been looking for you with great anxiety."

⁴⁹And he said to them, "Why were you looking for me? Did you not know that I must be in my Father's house?"

⁵⁰But they did not understand what he said to them.

⁵¹He went down with them and came to Nazareth, and was obedient to them; and his mother kept all these things in her heart.

⁵²And Jesus advanced (in) wisdom and age and favor before God and man.

3In the fifteenth year of the reign of Tiberius Caesar, when Pontius Pilate was governor of Judea, and Herod was tetrarch of Galilee, and his brother Philip tetrarch of the region of Ituraea and Trachonitis, and Lysanias was tetrarch of Abilene, ²during the high priesthood of Annas and Caiaphas, the word of God came to John the son of Zechariah in the desert.

³He went throughout (the) whole region of the Jordan, proclaiming a baptism of repentance for the forgiveness of sins,

⁴as it is written in the book of the words of the prophet Isaiah: "A voice of one crying out in the desert: 'Prepare the way of the Lord, make straight his paths.

⁵Every valley shall be filled and every mountain and hill shall be made low. The winding roads shall be made straight, and the rough ways made smooth,

⁶and all flesh shall see the salvation of God."

⁷He said to the crowds who came out to be baptized by him, "You brood of vipers! Who warned you to flee from the coming wrath?"

⁸Produce good fruits as evidence of your repentance; and do not begin to say to yourselves, 'We have Abraham as our father,' for I tell you, God can raise up children to Abraham from these stones.

⁹Even now the ax lies at the root of the trees. Therefore every tree that does not produce good fruit will be cut down and thrown into the fire."

¹⁰And the crowds asked him, "What then should we do?"

¹¹He said to them in reply, "Whoever has two cloaks should share with the person who has none. And whoever has food should do likewise."

¹²Even tax collectors came to be baptized and they said to him, "Teacher, what should we do?"

¹³He answered them, "Stop collecting more than what is prescribed."

¹⁴Soldiers also asked him, "And what is it that we should do?" He told them, "Do not practice extortion, do not falsely accuse anyone, and be satisfied with your wages."

¹⁵Now the people were filled with expectation, and all were asking in their hearts whether John might be the Messiah.

¹⁶John answered them all, saying, "I am baptizing you with water, but one mightier than I is coming. I am not worthy to loosen the thongs of his sandals. He will baptize you with the holy Spirit and fire.

¹⁷His winnowing fan is in his hand to clear his threshing floor and to gather the wheat into his barn, but the chaff he will burn with unquenchable fire."

¹⁸Exhorting them in many other ways, he preached good news to the people.

¹⁹Now Herod the tetrarch, who had been censured by him because of Herodias, his brother's wife, and because of all the evil deeds Herod had committed,

²⁰added still another to these by (also) putting John in prison.

²¹After all the people had been baptized and Jesus also had been baptized and was praying, heaven was opened

²²and the holy Spirit descended upon him in bodily form like a dove. And a voice came from heaven, "You are my beloved Son; with you I am well pleased."

- ²³When Jesus began his ministry he was about thirty years of age. He was the son, as was thought, of Joseph, the son of Heli,
- ²⁴the son of Matthat, the son of Levi, the son of Melchi, the son of Jannai, the son of Joseph,
- ²⁵the son of Mattathias, the son of Amos, the son of Nahum, the son of Esli, the son of Naggai,
- ²⁶the son of Maath, the son of Mattathias, the son of Semein, the son of Josech, the son of Joda,
- ²⁷the son of Joanan, the son of Rhesa, the son of Zerubbabel, the son of Shealtiel, the son of Neri,

4 Filled with the holy Spirit, Jesus returned from the Jordan and was led by the Spirit into the desert

²for forty days, to be tempted by the devil. He ate nothing during those days, and when they were over he was hungry.

³The devil said to him, "If you are the Son of God, command this stone to become bread."

⁴Jesus answered him, "It is written, 'One does not live by bread alone.'"

⁵Then he took him up and showed him all the kingdoms of the world in a single instant.

⁶The devil said to him, "I shall give to you all this power and their glory; for it has been handed over to me, and I may give it to whomever I wish.

⁷All this will be yours, if you worship me."

⁸Jesus said to him in reply, "It is written: 'You shall worship the Lord, your God, and him alone shall you serve.'"

⁹Then he led him to Jerusalem, made him stand on the parapet of the temple, and said to him, "If you are the Son of God, throw yourself down from here,

¹⁰for it is written: 'He will command his angels concerning you, to guard you,'

¹¹and: 'With their hands they will support you, lest you dash your foot against a stone.'"

¹²Jesus said to him in reply, "It also says, 'You shall not put the Lord, your God, to the test.'"

¹³When the devil had finished every temptation, he departed from him for a time.

¹⁴ Jesus returned to Galilee in the power of the Spirit, and news of him spread throughout the whole region.

¹⁵ He taught in their synagogues and was praised by all.

¹⁶ He came to Nazareth, where he had grown up, and went according to his custom into the synagogue on the sabbath day. He stood up to read

¹⁷ and was handed a scroll of the prophet Isaiah. He unrolled the scroll and found the passage where it was written:

¹⁸ "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he has anointed me to bring glad tidings to the poor. He has sent me to proclaim liberty to captives and recovery of sight to the blind, to let the oppressed go free,

¹⁹ and to proclaim a year acceptable to the Lord."

²⁰ Rolling up the scroll, he handed it back to the attendant and sat down, and the eyes of all in the synagogue looked intently at him.

²¹ He said to them, "Today this scripture passage is fulfilled in your hearing."

²² And all spoke highly of him and were amazed at the gracious words that came from his mouth. They also asked, "Isn't this the son of Joseph?"

²³ He said to them, "Surely you will quote me this proverb, 'Physician, cure yourself,' and say, 'Do here in your native place the things that we heard were done in Capernaum.'"

²⁴ And he said, "Amen, I say to you, no prophet is accepted in his own native place.

²⁵ Indeed, I tell you, there were many widows in Israel in the days of Elijah when the sky was closed for three and a half years and a severe famine spread over the entire land.

²⁶ It was to none of these that Elijah was sent, but only to a widow in Zarephath in the land of Sidon.

²⁷ Again, there were many lepers in Israel during the time of Elisha the prophet; yet not one of them was cleansed, but only Naaman the Syrian."

²⁸ When the people in the synagogue heard this, they were all filled with fury.

²⁹They rose up, drove him out of the town, and led him to the brow of the hill on which their town had been built, to hurl him down headlong.

³⁰But he passed through the midst of them and went away.

³¹Jesus then went down to Capernaum, a town of Galilee. He taught them on the sabbath, ³²and they were astonished at his teaching because he spoke with authority.

³³In the synagogue there was a man with the spirit of an unclean demon, and he cried out in a loud voice,

³⁴"Ha! What have you to do with us, Jesus of Nazareth? Have you come to destroy us? I know who you are--the Holy One of God!"

³⁵Jesus rebuked him and said, "Be quiet! Come out of him!" Then the demon threw the man down in front of them and came out of him without doing him any harm.

³⁶They were all amazed and said to one another, "What is there about his word? For with authority and power he commands the unclean spirits, and they come out."

³⁷And news of him spread everywhere in the surrounding region.

³⁸After he left the synagogue, he entered the house of Simon. Simon's mother-in-law was afflicted with a severe fever, and they interceded with him about her.

³⁹He stood over her, rebuked the fever, and it left her. She got up immediately and waited on them.

⁴⁰At sunset, all who had people sick with various diseases brought them to him. He laid his hands on each of them and cured them.

⁴¹And demons also came out from many, shouting, "You are the Son of God." But he rebuked them and did not allow them to speak because they knew that he was the Messiah.

⁴²At daybreak, Jesus left and went to a deserted place. The crowds went looking for him, and when they came to him, they tried to prevent him from leaving them.

⁴³But he said to them, "To the other towns also I must proclaim the good news of the kingdom of God, because for this purpose I have been sent."

⁴⁴And he was preaching in the synagogues of Judea.

5 While the crowd was pressing in on Jesus and listening to the word of God, he was standing by the Lake of Gennesaret.

²He saw two boats there alongside the lake; the fishermen had disembarked and were washing their nets.

³Getting into one of the boats, the one belonging to Simon, he asked him to put out a short distance from the shore. Then he sat down and taught the crowds from the boat.

⁴After he had finished speaking, he said to Simon, "Put out into deep water and lower your nets for a catch."

⁵Simon said in reply, "Master, we have worked hard all night and have caught nothing, but at your command I will lower the nets."

⁶When they had done this, they caught a great number of fish and their nets were tearing.

⁷They signaled to their partners in the other boat to come to help them. They came and filled both boats so that they were in danger of sinking.

⁸When Simon Peter saw this, he fell at the knees of Jesus and said, "Depart from me, Lord, for I am a sinful man."

⁹For astonishment at the catch of fish they had made seized him and all those with him,

¹⁰and likewise James and John, the sons of Zebedee, who were partners of Simon. Jesus said to Simon, "Do not be afraid; from now on you will be catching men."

¹¹When they brought their boats to the shore, they left everything and followed him.

¹²Now there was a man full of leprosy in one of the towns where he was; and when he saw Jesus, he fell prostrate, pleaded with him, and said, "Lord, if you wish, you can make me clean."

¹³Jesus stretched out his hand, touched him, and said, "I do will it. Be made clean." And the leprosy left him immediately.

¹⁴Then he ordered him not to tell anyone, but "Go, show yourself to the priest and offer for your cleansing what Moses prescribed; that will be proof for them."

¹⁵The report about him spread all the more, and great crowds assembled to listen to him and to be cured of their ailments,

¹⁶but he would withdraw to deserted places to pray.

¹⁷One day as Jesus was teaching, Pharisees and teachers of the law were sitting there who had come from every village of Galilee and Judea and Jerusalem, and the power of the Lord was with him for healing.

¹⁸And some men brought on a stretcher a man who was paralyzed; they were trying to bring him in and set (him) in his presence.

¹⁹But not finding a way to bring him in because of the crowd, they went up on the roof and lowered him on the stretcher through the tiles into the middle in front of Jesus.

²⁰When he saw their faith, he said, "As for you, your sins are forgiven."

²¹Then the scribes and Pharisees began to ask themselves, "Who is this who speaks blasphemies? Who but God alone can forgive sins?"

²²Jesus knew their thoughts and said to them in reply, "What are you thinking in your hearts?"

²³Which is easier, to say, 'Your sins are forgiven,' or to say, 'Rise and walk'?

²⁴But that you may know that the Son of Man has authority on earth to forgive sins"--he said to the man who was paralyzed, "I say to you, rise, pick up your stretcher, and go home."

²⁵He stood up immediately before them, picked up what he had been lying on, and went home, glorifying God.

²⁶Then astonishment seized them all and they glorified God, and, struck with awe, they said, "We have seen incredible things today."

²⁷After this he went out and saw a tax collector named Levi sitting at the customs post. He said to him, "Follow me."

²⁸And leaving everything behind, he got up and followed him.

²⁹Then Levi gave a great banquet for him in his house, and a large crowd of tax collectors and others were at table with them.

³⁰The Pharisees and their scribes complained to his disciples, saying, "Why do you eat and drink with tax collectors and sinners?"

³¹Jesus said to them in reply, "Those who are healthy do not need a physician, but the sick do.

³²I have not come to call the righteous to repentance but sinners."

³³And they said to him, "The disciples of John fast often and offer prayers, and the disciples of the Pharisees do the same; but yours eat and drink."

³⁴Jesus answered them, "Can you make the wedding guests fast while the bridegroom is with them?"

³⁵But the days will come, and when the bridegroom is taken away from them, then they will fast in those days."

³⁶And he also told them a parable. "No one tears a piece from a new cloak to patch an old one. Otherwise, he will tear the new and the piece from it will not match the old cloak.

³⁷Likewise, no one pours new wine into old wineskins. Otherwise, the new wine will burst the skins, and it will be spilled, and the skins will be ruined.

³⁸Rather, new wine must be poured into fresh wineskins.

³⁹(And) no one who has been drinking old wine desires new, for he says, 'The old is good.'"

6 While he was going through a field of grain on a sabbath, his disciples were picking the heads of grain, rubbing them in their hands, and eating them.

²Some Pharisees said, "Why are you doing what is unlawful on the sabbath?"

³Jesus said to them in reply, "Have you not read what David did when he and those (who were) with him were hungry?"

⁴(How) he went into the house of God, took the bread of offering, which only the priests could lawfully eat, ate of it, and shared it with his companions."

⁵Then he said to them, "The Son of Man is lord of the sabbath."

⁶On another sabbath he went into the synagogue and taught, and there was a man there whose right hand was withered.

⁷The scribes and the Pharisees watched him closely to see if he would cure on the sabbath so that they might discover a reason to accuse him.

⁸But he realized their intentions and said to the man with the withered hand, "Come up and stand before us." And he rose and stood there.

⁹Then Jesus said to them, "I ask you, is it lawful to do good on the sabbath rather than to do evil, to save life rather than to destroy it?"

¹⁰Looking around at them all, he then said to him, "Stretch out your hand." He did so and his hand was restored.

¹¹But they became enraged and discussed together what they might do to Jesus.

¹²In those days he departed to the mountain to pray, and he spent the night in prayer to God.

¹³When day came, he called his disciples to himself, and from them he chose Twelve, whom he also named apostles:

¹⁴Simon, whom he named Peter, and his brother Andrew, James, John, Philip, Bartholomew,

¹⁵Matthew, Thomas, James the son of Alphaeus, Simon who was called a Zealot, ¹⁶and Judas the son of James, and Judas Iscariot, who became a traitor.

¹⁷And he came down with them and stood on a stretch of level ground. A great crowd of his disciples and a large number of the people from all Judea and Jerusalem and the coastal region of Tyre and Sidon ¹⁸came to hear him and to be healed of their diseases; and even those who were tormented by unclean spirits were cured.

¹⁹Everyone in the crowd sought to touch him because power came forth from him and healed them all.

²⁰And raising his eyes toward his disciples he said: "Blessed are you who are poor, for the kingdom of God is yours.

²¹Blessed are you who are now hungry, for you will be satisfied. Blessed are you who are now weeping, for you will laugh.

²²Blessed are you when people hate you, and when they exclude and insult you, and denounce your name as evil on account of the Son of Man.

²³Rejoice and leap for joy on that day! Behold, your reward will be great in heaven. For their ancestors treated the prophets in the same way.

²⁴But woe to you who are rich, for you have received your consolation.

²⁵But woe to you who are filled now, for you will be hungry. Woe to you who laugh now, for you will grieve and weep.

²⁶Woe to you when all speak well of you, for their ancestors treated the false prophets in this way.

²⁷"But to you who hear I say, love your enemies, do good to those who hate you, ²⁸bless those who curse you, pray for those who mistreat you.

²⁹To the person who strikes you on one cheek, offer the other one as well, and from the person who takes your cloak, do not withhold even your tunic.

³⁰Give to everyone who asks of you, and from the one who takes what is yours do not demand it back.

³¹Do to others as you would have them do to you.

³²For if you love those who love you, what credit is that to you? Even sinners love those who love them.

³³And if you do good to those who do good to you, what credit is that to you? Even sinners do the same.

³⁴If you lend money to those from whom you expect repayment, what credit (is) that to you? Even sinners lend to sinners, and get back the same amount.

³⁵But rather, love your enemies and do good to them, and lend expecting nothing back; then your reward will be great and you will be children of the Most High, for he himself is kind to the ungrateful and the wicked.

³⁶Be merciful, just as (also) your Father is merciful.

³⁷"Stop judging and you will not be judged. Stop condemning and you will not be condemned. Forgive and you will be forgiven.

³⁸Give and gifts will be given to you; a good measure, packed together, shaken down, and overflowing, will be poured into your lap. For the measure with which you measure will in return be measured out to you."

³⁹And he told them a parable, "Can a blind person guide a blind person? Will not both fall into a pit?

⁴⁰No disciple is superior to the teacher; but when fully trained, every disciple will be like his teacher.

⁴¹Why do you notice the splinter in your brother's eye, but do not perceive the wooden beam in your own?

⁴²How can you say to your brother, 'Brother, let me remove that splinter in your eye,' when you do not even notice the wooden beam in your own eye? You hypocrite! Remove the wooden beam from your eye first; then you will see clearly to remove the splinter in your brother's eye.

⁴³"A good tree does not bear rotten fruit, nor does a rotten tree bear good fruit.

⁴⁴For every tree is known by its own fruit. For people do not pick figs from thornbushes, nor do they gather grapes from brambles.

⁴⁵A good person out of the store of goodness in his heart produces good, but an evil person out of a store of evil produces evil; for from the fullness of the heart the mouth speaks.

⁴⁶"Why do you call me, 'Lord, Lord,' but not do what I command?

⁴⁷ I will show you what someone is like who comes to me, listens to my words, and acts on them.

⁴⁸ That one is like a person building a house, who dug deeply and laid the foundation on rock; when the flood came, the river burst against that house but could not shake it because it had been well built.

⁴⁹ But the one who listens and does not act is like a person who built a house on the ground without a foundation. When the river burst against it, it collapsed at once and was completely destroyed."

7 When he had finished all his words to the people, he entered Capernaum.

² A centurion there had a slave who was ill and about to die, and he was valuable to him.

³ When he heard about Jesus, he sent elders of the Jews to him, asking him to come and save the life of his slave.

⁴ They approached Jesus and strongly urged him to come, saying, "He deserves to have you do this for him,

⁵ for he loves our nation and he built the synagogue for us."

⁶ And Jesus went with them, but when he was only a short distance from the house, the centurion sent friends to tell him, "Lord, do not trouble yourself, for I am not worthy to have you enter under my roof.

⁷ Therefore, I did not consider myself worthy to come to you; but say the word and let my servant be healed.

⁸ For I too am a person subject to authority, with soldiers subject to me. And I say to one, 'Go,' and he goes; and to another, 'Come here,' and he comes; and to my slave, 'Do this,' and he does it."

⁹ When Jesus heard this he was amazed at him and, turning, said to the crowd following him, "I tell you, not even in Israel have I found such faith."

¹⁰ When the messengers returned to the house, they found the slave in good health.

¹¹Soon afterward he journeyed to a city called Nain, and his disciples and a large crowd accompanied him.

¹²As he drew near to the gate of the city, a man who had died was being carried out, the only son of his mother, and she was a widow. A large crowd from the city was with her.

¹³When the Lord saw her, he was moved with pity for her and said to her, "Do not weep."

¹⁴He stepped forward and touched the coffin; at this the bearers halted, and he said, "Young man, I tell you, arise!"

¹⁵The dead man sat up and began to speak, and Jesus gave him to his mother.

¹⁶Fear seized them all, and they glorified God, exclaiming, "A great prophet has arisen in our midst," and "God has visited his people."

¹⁷This report about him spread through the whole of Judea and in all the surrounding region.

¹⁸The disciples of John told him about all these things. John summoned two of his disciples

¹⁹and sent them to the Lord to ask, "Are you the one who is to come, or should we look for another?"

²⁰When the men came to him, they said, "John the Baptist has sent us to you to ask, 'Are you the one who is to come, or should we look for another?'"

²¹At that time he cured many of their diseases, sufferings, and evil spirits; he also granted sight to many who were blind.

²²And he said to them in reply, "Go and tell John what you have seen and heard: the blind regain their sight, the lame walk, lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, the poor have the good news proclaimed to them.

²³And blessed is the one who takes no offense at me."

²⁴When the messengers of John had left, Jesus began to speak to the crowds about John. "What did you go out to the desert to see--a reed swayed by the wind?"

²⁵Then what did you go out to see? Someone dressed in fine garments? Those who dress luxuriously and live sumptuously are found in royal palaces.

²⁶Then what did you go out to see? A prophet? Yes, I tell you, and more than a prophet.

²⁷This is the one about whom scripture says: 'Behold, I am sending my messenger ahead of you, he will prepare your way before you.'

²⁸I tell you, among those born of women, no one is greater than John; yet the least in the kingdom of God is greater than he."

²⁹(All the people who listened, including the tax collectors, and who were baptized with the baptism of John, acknowledged the righteousness of God; ³⁰but the Pharisees and scholars of the law, who were not baptized by him, rejected the plan of God for themselves.)

³¹"Then to what shall I compare the people of this generation? What are they like?

³²They are like children who sit in the marketplace and call to one another, 'We played the flute for you, but you did not dance. We sang a dirge, but you did not weep.'

³³For John the Baptist came neither eating food nor drinking wine, and you said, 'He is possessed by a demon.'

³⁴The Son of Man came eating and drinking and you said, 'Look, he is a glutton and a drunkard, a friend of tax collectors and sinners.'

³⁵But wisdom is vindicated by all her children."

³⁶A Pharisee invited him to dine with him, and he entered the Pharisee's house and reclined at table.

³⁷Now there was a sinful woman in the city who learned that he was at table in the house of the Pharisee. Bringing an alabaster flask of ointment, ³⁸she stood behind him at his feet weeping and began to bathe his feet with her tears. Then she wiped them with her hair, kissed them, and anointed them with the ointment.

³⁹When the Pharisee who had invited him saw this he said to himself, "If this man were a prophet, he would know who and what sort of woman this is who is touching him, that she is a sinner."

⁴⁰Jesus said to him in reply, "Simon, I have something to say to you." "Tell me, teacher," he said.

⁴¹"Two people were in debt to a certain creditor; one owed five hundred days' wages and the other owed fifty.

⁴²Since they were unable to repay the debt, he forgave it for both. Which of them will love him more?"

⁴³Simon said in reply, "The one, I suppose, whose larger debt was forgiven." He said to him, "You have judged rightly."

⁴⁴Then he turned to the woman and said to Simon, "Do you see this woman? When I entered your house, you did not give me water for my feet, but she has bathed them with her tears and wiped them with her hair.

⁴⁵You did not give me a kiss, but she has not ceased kissing my feet since the time I entered.

⁴⁶You did not anoint my head with oil, but she anointed my feet with ointment.

⁴⁷So I tell you, her many sins have been forgiven; hence, she has shown great love. But the one to whom little is forgiven, loves little."

⁴⁸He said to her, "Your sins are forgiven."

⁴⁹The others at table said to themselves, "Who is this who even forgives sins?"

⁵⁰But he said to the woman, "Your faith has saved you; go in peace."

8 Afterward he journeyed from one town and village to another, preaching and proclaiming the good news of the kingdom of God. Accompanying him were the Twelve

²and some women who had been cured of evil spirits and infirmities, Mary, called Magdalene, from whom seven demons had gone out,

³Joanna, the wife of Herod's steward Chuza, Susanna, and many others who provided for them out of their resources.

⁴When a large crowd gathered, with people from one town after another journeying to him, he spoke in a parable.

⁵"A sower went out to sow his seed. And as he sowed, some seed fell on the path and was trampled, and the birds of the sky ate it up.

⁶Some seed fell on rocky ground, and when it grew, it withered for lack of moisture.

⁷Some seed fell among thorns, and the thorns grew with it and choked it.

⁸And some seed fell on good soil, and when it grew, it produced fruit a hundredfold." After saying this, he called out, "Whoever has ears to hear ought to hear."

⁹Then his disciples asked him what the meaning of this parable might be.

¹⁰He answered, "Knowledge of the mysteries of the kingdom of God has been granted to you; but to the rest, they are made known through parables so that 'they may look but not see, and hear but not understand.'

¹¹"This is the meaning of the parable. The seed is the word of God.

¹²Those on the path are the ones who have heard, but the devil comes and takes away the word from their hearts that they may not believe and be saved.

¹³Those on rocky ground are the ones who, when they hear, receive the word with joy, but they have no root; they believe only for a time and fall away in time of trial.

¹⁴As for the seed that fell among thorns, they are the ones who have heard, but as they go along, they are choked by the anxieties and riches and pleasures of life, and they fail to produce mature fruit.

¹⁵But as for the seed that fell on rich soil, they are the ones who, when they have heard the word, embrace it with a generous and good heart, and bear fruit through perseverance.

¹⁶"No one who lights a lamp conceals it with a vessel or sets it under a bed; rather, he places it on a lampstand so that those who enter may see the light.

¹⁷For there is nothing hidden that will not become visible, and nothing secret that will not be known and come to light.

¹⁸Take care, then, how you hear. To anyone who has, more will be given, and from the one who has not, even what he seems to have will be taken away."

¹⁹Then his mother and his brothers came to him but were unable to join him because of the crowd.

²⁰He was told, "Your mother and your brothers are standing outside and they wish to see you."

²¹He said to them in reply, "My mother and my brothers are those who hear the word of God and act on it."

²²One day he got into a boat with his disciples and said to them, "Let us cross to the other side of the lake." So they set sail, ²³and while they were sailing he fell asleep. A squall blew over the lake, and they were taking in water and were in danger.

²⁴They came and woke him saying, "Master, master, we are perishing!" He awakened, rebuked the wind and the waves, and they subsided and there was a calm.

²⁵Then he asked them, "Where is your faith?" But they were filled with awe and amazed and said to one another, "Who then is this, who commands even the winds and the sea, and they obey him?"

²⁶Then they sailed to the territory of the Gerasenes, which is opposite Galilee.

²⁷When he came ashore a man from the town who was possessed by demons met him. For a long time he had not worn clothes; he did not live in a house, but lived among the tombs.

²⁸When he saw Jesus, he cried out and fell down before him; in a loud voice he shouted, "What have you to do with me, Jesus, son of the Most High God? I beg you, do not torment me!"

²⁹For he had ordered the unclean spirit to come out of the man. (It had taken hold of him many times, and he used to be bound with chains and shackles as a restraint, but he would break his bonds and be driven by the demon into deserted places.)

³⁰Then Jesus asked him, "What is your name?" He replied, "Legion," because many demons had entered him.

³¹And they pleaded with him not to order them to depart to the abyss.

³²A herd of many swine was feeding there on the hillside, and they pleaded with him to allow them to enter those swine; and he let them.

³³The demons came out of the man and entered the swine, and the herd rushed down the steep bank into the lake and was drowned.

³⁴When the swineherds saw what had happened, they ran away and reported the incident in the town and throughout the countryside.

³⁵People came out to see what had happened and, when they approached Jesus, they discovered the man from whom the demons had come out sitting at his feet. He was clothed and in his right mind, and they were seized with fear.

³⁶Those who witnessed it told them how the possessed man had been saved.

³⁷The entire population of the region of the Gerasenes asked Jesus to leave them because they were seized with great fear. So he got into a boat and returned.

³⁸The man from whom the demons had come out begged to remain with him, but he sent him away, saying,

³⁹"Return home and recount what God has done for you." The man went off and proclaimed throughout the whole town what Jesus had done for him.

⁴⁰When Jesus returned, the crowd welcomed him, for they were all waiting for him.

⁴¹And a man named Jairus, an official of the synagogue, came forward. He fell at the feet of Jesus and begged him to come to his house, ⁴²because he had an only daughter, about twelve years old, and she was dying. As he went, the crowds almost crushed him.

⁴³And a woman afflicted with hemorrhages for twelve years, who (had spent her whole livelihood on doctors and) was unable to be cured by anyone,

⁴⁴came up behind him and touched the tassel on his cloak. Immediately her bleeding stopped.

⁴⁵ Jesus then asked, "Who touched me?" While all were denying it, Peter said, "Master, the crowds are pushing and pressing in upon you."

⁴⁶ But Jesus said, "Someone has touched me; for I know that power has gone out from me."

⁴⁷ When the woman realized that she had not escaped notice, she came forward trembling. Falling down before him, she explained in the presence of all the people why she had touched him and how she had been healed immediately.

⁴⁸ He said to her, "Daughter, your faith has saved you; go in peace."

⁴⁹ While he was still speaking, someone from the synagogue official's house arrived and said, "Your daughter is dead; do not trouble the teacher any longer."

⁵⁰ On hearing this, Jesus answered him, "Do not be afraid; just have faith and she will be saved."

⁵¹ When he arrived at the house he allowed no one to enter with him except Peter and John and James, and the child's father and mother.

⁵² All were weeping and mourning for her, when he said, "Do not weep any longer, for she is not dead, but sleeping."

⁵³ And they ridiculed him, because they knew that she was dead.

⁵⁴ But he took her by the hand and called to her, "Child, arise!"

⁵⁵ Her breath returned and she immediately arose. He then directed that she should be given something to eat.

⁵⁶ Her parents were astounded, and he instructed them to tell no one what had happened.

9 He summoned the Twelve and gave them power and authority over all demons and to cure diseases,

² and he sent them to proclaim the kingdom of God and to heal (the sick).

³He said to them, "Take nothing for the journey, neither walking stick, nor sack, nor food, nor money, and let no one take a second tunic.

⁴Whatever house you enter, stay there and leave from there.

⁵And as for those who do not welcome you, when you leave that town, shake the dust from your feet in testimony against them."

⁶Then they set out and went from village to village proclaiming the good news and curing diseases everywhere.

⁷Herod the tetrarch heard about all that was happening, and he was greatly perplexed because some were saying, "John has been raised from the dead";

⁸others were saying, "Elijah has appeared"; still others, "One of the ancient prophets has arisen."

⁹But Herod said, "John I beheaded. Who then is this about whom I hear such things?" And he kept trying to see him.

¹⁰When the apostles returned, they explained to him what they had done. He took them and withdrew in private to a town called Bethsaida.

¹¹The crowds, meanwhile, learned of this and followed him. He received them and spoke to them about the kingdom of God, and he healed those who needed to be cured.

¹²As the day was drawing to a close, the Twelve approached him and said, "Dismiss the crowd so that they can go to the surrounding villages and farms and find lodging and provisions; for we are in a deserted place here."

¹³He said to them, "Give them some food yourselves." They replied, "Five loaves and two fish are all we have, unless we ourselves go and buy food for all these people."

¹⁴Now the men there numbered about five thousand. Then he said to his disciples, "Have them sit down in groups of (about) fifty."

¹⁵They did so and made them all sit down.

¹⁶Then taking the five loaves and the two fish, and looking up to heaven, he said the blessing over them, broke them, and gave them to the disciples to set before the crowd.

¹⁷They all ate and were satisfied. And when the leftover fragments were picked up, they filled twelve wicker baskets.

¹⁸Once when Jesus was praying in solitude, and the disciples were with him, he asked them, "Who do the crowds say that I am?"

¹⁹They said in reply, "John the Baptist; others, Elijah; still others, 'One of the ancient prophets has arisen.'"

²⁰Then he said to them, "But who do you say that I am?" Peter said in reply, "The Messiah of God."

²¹He rebuked them and directed them not to tell this to anyone.

²²He said, "The Son of Man must suffer greatly and be rejected by the elders, the chief priests, and the scribes, and be killed and on the third day be raised."

²³Then he said to all, "If anyone wishes to come after me, he must deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me.

²⁴For whoever wishes to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake will save it.

²⁵What profit is there for one to gain the whole world yet lose or forfeit himself?

²⁶Whoever is ashamed of me and of my words, the Son of Man will be ashamed of when he comes in his glory and in the glory of the Father and of the holy angels.

²⁷Truly I say to you, there are some standing here who will not taste death until they see the kingdom of God."

²⁸About eight days after he said this, he took Peter, John, and James and went up the mountain to pray.

²⁹While he was praying his face changed in appearance and his clothing became dazzling white.

³⁰And behold, two men were conversing with him, Moses and Elijah,

³¹who appeared in glory and spoke of his exodus that he was going to accomplish in Jerusalem.

³²Peter and his companions had been overcome by sleep, but becoming fully awake, they saw his glory and the two men standing with him.

³³As they were about to part from him, Peter said to Jesus, "Master, it is good that we are here; let us make three tents, one for you, one for Moses, and one for Elijah." But he did not know what he was saying.

³⁴While he was still speaking, a cloud came and cast a shadow over them, and they became frightened when they entered the cloud.

³⁵Then from the cloud came a voice that said, "This is my chosen Son; listen to him."

³⁶After the voice had spoken, Jesus was found alone. They fell silent and did not at that time tell anyone what they had seen.

³⁷On the next day, when they came down from the mountain, a large crowd met him.

³⁸There was a man in the crowd who cried out, "Teacher, I beg you, look at my son; he is my only child.

³⁹For a spirit seizes him and he suddenly screams and it convulses him until he foams at the mouth; it releases him only with difficulty, wearing him out.

⁴⁰I begged your disciples to cast it out but they could not."

⁴¹Jesus said in reply, "O faithless and perverse generation, how long will I be with you and endure you? Bring your son here."

⁴²As he was coming forward, the demon threw him to the ground in a convulsion; but Jesus rebuked the unclean spirit, healed the boy, and returned him to his father.

⁴³And all were astonished by the majesty of God. While they were all amazed at his every deed, he said to his disciples,

⁴⁴"Pay attention to what I am telling you. The Son of Man is to be handed over to men."

⁴⁵But they did not understand this saying; its meaning was hidden from them so that they should not understand it, and they were afraid to ask him about this saying.

⁴⁶An argument arose among the disciples about which of them was the greatest.

⁴⁷ Jesus realized the intention of their hearts and took a child and placed it by his side

⁴⁸ and said to them, "Whoever receives this child in my name receives me, and whoever receives me receives the one who sent me. For the one who is least among all of you is the one who is the greatest."

⁴⁹ Then John said in reply, "Master, we saw someone casting out demons in your name and we tried to prevent him because he does not follow in our company."

⁵⁰ Jesus said to him, "Do not prevent him, for whoever is not against you is for you."

⁵¹ When the days for his being taken up were fulfilled, he resolutely determined to journey to Jerusalem,

⁵² and he sent messengers ahead of him. On the way they entered a Samaritan village to prepare for his reception there,

⁵³ but they would not welcome him because the destination of his journey was Jerusalem.

⁵⁴ When the disciples James and John saw this they asked, "Lord, do you want us to call down fire from heaven to consume them?"

⁵⁵ Jesus turned and rebuked them,

⁵⁶ and they journeyed to another village.

⁵⁷ As they were proceeding on their journey someone said to him, "I will follow you wherever you go."

⁵⁸ Jesus answered him, "Foxes have dens and birds of the sky have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to rest his head."

⁵⁹ And to another he said, "Follow me." But he replied, "(Lord,) let me go first and bury my father."

⁶⁰ But he answered him, "Let the dead bury their dead. But you, go and proclaim the kingdom of God."

⁶¹ And another said, "I will follow you, Lord, but first let me say farewell to my family at home."

⁶²(To him) Jesus said, "No one who sets a hand to the plow and looks to what was left behind is fit for the kingdom of God."

10 After this the Lord appointed seventy (-two) others whom he sent ahead of him in pairs to every town and place he intended to visit.

²He said to them, "The harvest is abundant but the laborers are few; so ask the master of the harvest to send out laborers for his harvest.

³Go on your way; behold, I am sending you like lambs among wolves.

⁴Carry no money bag, no sack, no sandals; and greet no one along the way.

⁵Into whatever house you enter, first say, 'Peace to this household.'

⁶If a peaceful person lives there, your peace will rest on him; but if not, it will return to you.

⁷Stay in the same house and eat and drink what is offered to you, for the laborer deserves his payment. Do not move about from one house to another.

⁸Whatever town you enter and they welcome you, eat what is set before you,

⁹cure the sick in it and say to them, 'The kingdom of God is at hand for you.'

¹⁰Whatever town you enter and they do not receive you, go out into the streets and say,

¹¹'The dust of your town that clings to our feet, even that we shake off against you.' Yet know this: the kingdom of God is at hand.

¹²I tell you, it will be more tolerable for Sodom on that day than for that town.

¹³"Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! For if the mighty deeds done in your midst had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would long ago have repented, sitting in sackcloth and ashes.

¹⁴But it will be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon at the judgment than for you.

¹⁵And as for you, Capernaum, "Will you be exalted to heaven? You will go down to the netherworld."

¹⁶Whoever listens to you listens to me. Whoever rejects you rejects me. And whoever rejects me rejects the one who sent me."

¹⁷The seventy (-two) returned rejoicing, and said, "Lord, even the demons are subject to us because of your name."

¹⁸Jesus said, "I have observed Satan fall like lightning from the sky.

¹⁹Behold, I have given you the power 'to tread upon serpents' and scorpions and upon the full force of the enemy and nothing will harm you.

²⁰Nevertheless, do not rejoice because the spirits are subject to you, but rejoice because your names are written in heaven."

²¹At that very moment he rejoiced (in) the holy Spirit and said, "I give you praise, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, for although you have hidden these things from the wise and the learned you have revealed them to the childlike. Yes, Father, such has been your gracious will.

²²All things have been handed over to me by my Father. No one knows who the Son is except the Father, and who the Father is except the Son and anyone to whom the Son wishes to reveal him."

²³Turning to the disciples in private he said, "Blessed are the eyes that see what you see.

²⁴For I say to you, many prophets and kings desired to see what you see, but did not see it, and to hear what you hear, but did not hear it."

²⁵There was a scholar of the law who stood up to test him and said, "Teacher, what must I do to inherit eternal life?"

²⁶Jesus said to him, "What is written in the law? How do you read it?"

²⁷He said in reply, "You shall love the Lord, your God, with all your heart, with all your being, with all your strength, and with all your mind, and your neighbor as yourself."

²⁸He replied to him, "You have answered correctly; do this and you will live."

²⁹But because he wished to justify himself, he said to Jesus, "And who is my neighbor?"

³⁰Jesus replied, "A man fell victim to robbers as he went down from Jerusalem to Jericho. They stripped and beat him and went off leaving him half-dead.

³¹A priest happened to be going down that road, but when he saw him, he passed by on the opposite side.

³²Likewise a Levite came to the place, and when he saw him, he passed by on the opposite side.

³³But a Samaritan traveler who came upon him was moved with compassion at the sight.

³⁴He approached the victim, poured oil and wine over his wounds and bandaged them. Then he lifted him up on his own animal, took him to an inn and cared for him.

³⁵The next day he took out two silver coins and gave them to the innkeeper with the instruction, 'Take care of him. If you spend more than what I have given you, I shall repay you on my way back.'

³⁶Which of these three, in your opinion, was neighbor to the robbers' victim?"

³⁷He answered, "The one who treated him with mercy." Jesus said to him, "Go and do likewise."

³⁸As they continued their journey he entered a village where a woman whose name was Martha welcomed him.

³⁹She had a sister named Mary (who) sat beside the Lord at his feet listening to him speak.

⁴⁰Martha, burdened with much serving, came to him and said, "Lord, do you not care that my sister has left me by myself to do the serving? Tell her to help me."

⁴¹The Lord said to her in reply, "Martha, Martha, you are anxious and worried about many things.

⁴²There is need of only one thing. Mary has chosen the better part and it will not be taken from her."

11 He was praying in a certain place, and when he had finished, one of his disciples said to him, "Lord, teach us to pray just as John taught his disciples."

²He said to them, "When you pray, say: Father, hallowed be your name, your kingdom come.

³Give us each day our daily bread

⁴and forgive us our sins for we ourselves forgive everyone in debt to us, and do not subject us to the final test."

⁵And he said to them, "Suppose one of you has a friend to whom he goes at midnight and says, 'Friend, lend me three loaves of bread,

⁶for a friend of mine has arrived at my house from a journey and I have nothing to offer him,'

⁷and he says in reply from within, 'Do not bother me; the door has already been locked and my children and I are already in bed. I cannot get up to give you anything.'

⁸I tell you, if he does not get up to give him the loaves because of their friendship, he will get up to give him whatever he needs because of his persistence.

⁹"And I tell you, ask and you will receive; seek and you will find; knock and the door will be opened to you.

¹⁰For everyone who asks, receives; and the one who seeks, finds; and to the one who knocks, the door will be opened.

¹¹What father among you would hand his son a snake when he asks for a fish?

¹²Or hand him a scorpion when he asks for an egg?

¹³If you then, who are wicked, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will the Father in heaven give the holy Spirit to those who ask him?"

¹⁴He was driving out a demon (that was) mute, and when the demon had gone out, the mute person spoke and the crowds were amazed.

¹⁵Some of them said, "By the power of Beelzebul, the prince of demons, he drives out demons."

¹⁶Others, to test him, asked him for a sign from heaven.

¹⁷But he knew their thoughts and said to them, "Every kingdom divided against itself will be laid waste and house will fall against house.

¹⁸And if Satan is divided against himself, how will his kingdom stand? For you say that it is by Beelzebul that I drive out demons.

¹⁹If I, then, drive out demons by Beelzebul, by whom do your own people drive them out? Therefore they will be your judges.

²⁰But if it is by the finger of God that (I) drive out demons, then the kingdom of God has come upon you.

²¹When a strong man fully armed guards his palace, his possessions are safe.

²²But when one stronger than he attacks and overcomes him, he takes away the armor on which he relied and distributes the spoils.

²³Whoever is not with me is against me, and whoever does not gather with me scatters.

²⁴"When an unclean spirit goes out of someone, it roams through arid regions searching for rest but, finding none, it says, 'I shall return to my home from which I came.'

²⁵But upon returning, it finds it swept clean and put in order.

²⁶Then it goes and brings back seven other spirits more wicked than itself who move in and dwell there, and the last condition of that person is worse than the first."

²⁷While he was speaking, a woman from the crowd called out and said to him, "Blessed is the womb that carried you and the breasts at which you nursed."

²⁸He replied, "Rather, blessed are those who hear the word of God and observe it."

²⁹While still more people gathered in the crowd, he said to them, "This generation is an evil generation; it seeks a sign, but no sign will be given it, except the sign of Jonah.

³⁰Just as Jonah became a sign to the Ninevites, so will the Son of Man be to this generation.

³¹At the judgment the queen of the south will rise with the men of this generation and she will condemn them, because she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon, and there is something greater than Solomon here.

³²At the judgment the men of Nineveh will arise with this generation and condemn it, because at the preaching of Jonah they repented, and there is something greater than Jonah here.

³³"No one who lights a lamp hides it away or places it (under a bushel basket), but on a lampstand so that those who enter might see the light.

³⁴The lamp of the body is your eye. When your eye is sound, then your whole body is filled with light, but when it is bad, then your body is in darkness.

³⁵Take care, then, that the light in you not become darkness.

³⁶If your whole body is full of light, and no part of it is in darkness, then it will be as full of light as a lamp illuminating you with its brightness."

³⁷After he had spoken, a Pharisee invited him to dine at his home. He entered and reclined at table to eat.

³⁸The Pharisee was amazed to see that he did not observe the prescribed washing before the meal.

³⁹The Lord said to him, "Oh you Pharisees! Although you cleanse the outside of the cup and the dish, inside you are filled with plunder and evil.

⁴⁰You fools! Did not the maker of the outside also make the inside?

⁴¹But as to what is within, give alms, and behold, everything will be clean for you.

⁴²Woe to you Pharisees! You pay tithes of mint and of rue and of every garden herb, but you pay no attention to judgment and to love for God. These you should have done, without overlooking the others.

⁴³Woe to you Pharisees! You love the seat of honor in synagogues and greetings in marketplaces.

⁴⁴Woe to you! You are like unseen graves over which people unknowingly walk."

⁴⁵Then one of the scholars of the law said to him in reply, "Teacher, by saying this you are insulting us too."

⁴⁶And he said, "Woe also to you scholars of the law! You impose on people burdens hard to carry, but you yourselves do not lift one finger to touch them.

⁴⁷Woe to you! You build the memorials of the prophets whom your ancestors killed.

⁴⁸Consequently, you bear witness and give consent to the deeds of your ancestors, for they killed them and you do the building.

⁴⁹Therefore, the wisdom of God said, 'I will send to them prophets and apostles; some of them they will kill and persecute'

⁵⁰in order that this generation might be charged with the blood of all the prophets shed since the foundation of the world,

⁵¹from the blood of Abel to the blood of Zechariah who died between the altar and the temple building. Yes, I tell you, this generation will be charged with their blood!

⁵²Woe to you, scholars of the law! You have taken away the key of knowledge. You yourselves did not enter and you stopped those trying to enter."

⁵³When he left, the scribes and Pharisees began to act with hostility toward him and to interrogate him about many things, ⁵⁴for they were plotting to catch him at something he might say.

12 Meanwhile, so many people were crowding together that they were trampling one another underfoot. He began to speak, first to his disciples, "Beware of the leaven--that is, the hypocrisy--of the Pharisees.

²"There is nothing concealed that will not be revealed, nor secret that will not be known.

³Therefore whatever you have said in the darkness will be heard in the light, and what you have whispered behind closed doors will be proclaimed on the housetops.

⁴I tell you, my friends, do not be afraid of those who kill the body but after that can do no more.

⁵I shall show you whom to fear. Be afraid of the one who after killing has the power to cast into Gehenna; yes, I tell you, be afraid of that one.

⁶Are not five sparrows sold for two small coins? Yet not one of them has escaped the notice of God.

⁷Even the hairs of your head have all been counted. Do not be afraid. You are worth more than many sparrows.

⁸I tell you, everyone who acknowledges me before others the Son of Man will acknowledge before the angels of God.

⁹But whoever denies me before others will be denied before the angels of God.

¹⁰"Everyone who speaks a word against the Son of Man will be forgiven, but the one who blasphemes against the holy Spirit will not be forgiven.

¹¹When they take you before synagogues and before rulers and authorities, do not worry about how or what your defense will be or about what you are to say.

¹²For the holy Spirit will teach you at that moment what you should say."

¹³Someone in the crowd said to him, "Teacher, tell my brother to share the inheritance with me."

¹⁴He replied to him, "Friend, who appointed me as your judge and arbitrator?"

¹⁵Then he said to the crowd, "Take care to guard against all greed, for though one may be rich, one's life does not consist of possessions."

¹⁶Then he told them a parable. "There was a rich man whose land produced a bountiful harvest.

¹⁷He asked himself, 'What shall I do, for I do not have space to store my harvest?'

¹⁸And he said, 'This is what I shall do: I shall tear down my barns and build larger ones. There I shall store all my grain and other goods

¹⁹and I shall say to myself, "Now as for you, you have so many good things stored up for many years, rest, eat, drink, be merry!"

²⁰But God said to him, 'You fool, this night your life will be demanded of you; and the things you have prepared, to whom will they belong?'

²¹Thus will it be for the one who stores up treasure for himself but is not rich in what matters to God."

²²He said to (his) disciples, "Therefore I tell you, do not worry about your life and what you will eat, or about your body and what you will wear.

²³For life is more than food and the body more than clothing.

²⁴Notice the ravens: they do not sow or reap; they have neither storehouse nor barn, yet God feeds them. How much more important are you than birds!

²⁵Can any of you by worrying add a moment to your lifespan?

²⁶If even the smallest things are beyond your control, why are you anxious about the rest?

²⁷Notice how the flowers grow. They do not toil or spin. But I tell you, not even Solomon in all his splendor was dressed like one of them.

²⁸If God so clothes the grass in the field that grows today and is thrown into the oven tomorrow, will he not much more provide for you, O you of little faith?

²⁹As for you, do not seek what you are to eat and what you are to drink, and do not worry anymore.

³⁰All the nations of the world seek for these things, and your Father knows that you need them.

³¹Instead, seek his kingdom, and these other things will be given you besides.

³²Do not be afraid any longer, little flock, for your Father is pleased to give you the kingdom.

³³Sell your belongings and give alms. Provide money bags for yourselves that do not wear out, an inexhaustible treasure in heaven that no thief can reach nor moth destroy.

³⁴For where your treasure is, there also will your heart be.

³⁵"Gird your loins and light your lamps

³⁶and be like servants who await their master's return from a wedding, ready to open immediately when he comes and knocks.

³⁷Blessed are those servants whom the master finds vigilant on his arrival. Amen, I say to you, he will gird himself, have them recline at table, and proceed to wait on them.

³⁸And should he come in the second or third watch and find them prepared in this way, blessed are those servants.

³⁹Be sure of this: if the master of the house had known the hour when the thief was coming, he would not have let his house be broken into.

⁴⁰You also must be prepared, for at an hour you do not expect, the Son of Man will come."

⁴¹Then Peter said, "Lord, is this parable meant for us or for everyone?"

⁴²And the Lord replied, "Who, then, is the faithful and prudent steward whom the master will put in charge of his servants to distribute (the) food allowance at the proper time?"

⁴³Blessed is that servant whom his master on arrival finds doing so.

⁴⁴Truly, I say to you, he will put him in charge of all his property.

⁴⁵But if that servant says to himself, 'My master is delayed in coming,' and begins to beat the menservants and the maidservants, to eat and drink and get drunk,

⁴⁶then that servant's master will come on an unexpected day and at an unknown hour and will punish him severely and assign him a place with the unfaithful.

⁴⁷That servant who knew his master's will but did not make preparations nor act in accord with his will shall be beaten severely;

⁴⁸and the servant who was ignorant of his master's will but acted in a way deserving of a severe beating shall be beaten only lightly. Much will be required of the person entrusted with much, and still more will be demanded of the person entrusted with more.

⁴⁹"I have come to set the earth on fire, and how I wish it were already blazing!

⁵⁰There is a baptism with which I must be baptized, and how great is my anguish until it is accomplished!

⁵¹Do you think that I have come to establish peace on the earth? No, I tell you, but rather division.

⁵²From now on a household of five will be divided, three against two and two against three;

⁵³a father will be divided against his son and a son against his father, a mother against her daughter and a daughter against her mother, a mother-in-law against her daughter-in-law and a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law."

⁵⁴He also said to the crowds, "When you see (a) cloud rising in the west you say immediately that it is going to rain--and so it does;

⁵⁵and when you notice that the wind is blowing from the south you say that it is going to be hot--and so it is.

⁵⁶You hypocrites! You know how to interpret the appearance of the earth and the sky; why do you not know how to interpret the present time?

⁵⁷"Why do you not judge for yourselves what is right?

⁵⁸If you are to go with your opponent before a magistrate, make an effort to settle the matter on the way; otherwise your opponent will turn you over to the judge, and the judge hand you over to the constable, and the constable throw you into prison.

⁵⁹I say to you, you will not be released until you have paid the last penny."

13 At that time some people who were present there told him about the Galileans whose blood Pilate had mingled with the blood of their sacrifices.

²He said to them in reply, "Do you think that because these Galileans suffered in this way they were greater sinners than all other Galileans?

³By no means! But I tell you, if you do not repent, you will all perish as they did!

⁴Or those eighteen people who were killed when the tower at Siloam fell on them --do you think they were more guilty than everyone else who lived in Jerusalem?

⁵By no means! But I tell you, if you do not repent, you will all perish as they did!"

⁶And he told them this parable: "There once was a person who had a fig tree planted in his orchard, and when he came in search of fruit on it but found none,

⁷he said to the gardener, 'For three years now I have come in search of fruit on this fig tree but have found none. (So) cut it down. Why should it exhaust the soil?'

⁸He said to him in reply, 'Sir, leave it for this year also, and I shall cultivate the ground around it and fertilize it;

⁹it may bear fruit in the future. If not you can cut it down."

¹⁰He was teaching in a synagogue on the sabbath.

¹¹And a woman was there who for eighteen years had been crippled by a spirit; she was bent over, completely incapable of standing erect.

¹²When Jesus saw her, he called to her and said, "Woman, you are set free of your infirmity."

¹³He laid his hands on her, and she at once stood up straight and glorified God.

¹⁴But the leader of the synagogue, indignant that Jesus had cured on the sabbath, said to the crowd in reply, "There are six days when work should be done. Come on those days to be cured, not on the sabbath day."

¹⁵The Lord said to him in reply, "Hypocrites! Does not each one of you on the sabbath untie his ox or his ass from the manger and lead it out for watering?"

¹⁶This daughter of Abraham, whom Satan has bound for eighteen years now, ought she not to have been set free on the sabbath day from this bondage?"

¹⁷When he said this, all his adversaries were humiliated; and the whole crowd rejoiced at all the splendid deeds done by him.

¹⁸Then he said, "What is the kingdom of God like? To what can I compare it?"

¹⁹It is like a mustard seed that a person took and planted in the garden. When it was fully grown, it became a large bush and 'the birds of the sky dwelt in its branches.'"

²⁰Again he said, "To what shall I compare the kingdom of God?"

²¹It is like yeast that a woman took and mixed (in) with three measures of wheat flour until the whole batch of dough was leavened."

²²He passed through towns and villages, teaching as he went and making his way to Jerusalem.

²³Someone asked him, "Lord, will only a few people be saved?" He answered them, ²⁴"Strive to enter through the narrow gate, for many, I tell you, will attempt to enter but will not be strong enough.

²⁵After the master of the house has arisen and locked the door, then will you stand outside knocking and saying, 'Lord, open the door for us.' He will say to you in reply, 'I do not know where you are from.'

²⁶And you will say, 'We ate and drank in your company and you taught in our streets.'

²⁷Then he will say to you, 'I do not know where (you) are from. Depart from me, all you evildoers!'

²⁸And there will be wailing and grinding of teeth when you see Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob and all the prophets in the kingdom of God and you yourselves cast out.

²⁹And people will come from the east and the west and from the north and the south and will recline at table in the kingdom of God.

³⁰For behold, some are last who will be first, and some are first who will be last."

³¹At that time some Pharisees came to him and said, "Go away, leave this area because Herod wants to kill you."

³²He replied, "Go and tell that fox, 'Behold, I cast out demons and I perform healings today and tomorrow, and on the third day I accomplish my purpose.

³³Yet I must continue on my way today, tomorrow, and the following day, for it is impossible that a prophet should die outside of Jerusalem.'

³⁴"Jerusalem, Jerusalem, you who kill the prophets and stone those sent to you, how many times I yearned to gather your children together as a hen gathers her brood under her wings, but you were unwilling!

³⁵Behold, your house will be abandoned. (But) I tell you, you will not see me until (the time comes when) you say, 'Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord.'"

14 On a sabbath he went to dine at the home of one of the leading Pharisees, and the people there were observing him carefully.

²In front of him there was a man suffering from dropsy.

³Jesus spoke to the scholars of the law and Pharisees in reply, asking, "Is it lawful to cure on the sabbath or not?"

⁴But they kept silent; so he took the man and, after he had healed him, dismissed him.

⁵Then he said to them, "Who among you, if your son or ox falls into a cistern, would not immediately pull him out on the sabbath day?"

⁶But they were unable to answer his question.

⁷He told a parable to those who had been invited, noticing how they were choosing the places of honor at the table.

⁸"When you are invited by someone to a wedding banquet, do not recline at table in the place of honor. A more distinguished guest than you may have been invited by him, ⁹and the host who invited both of you may approach you and say, 'Give your place to this man,' and then you would proceed with embarrassment to take the lowest place.

¹⁰Rather, when you are invited, go and take the lowest place so that when the host comes to you he may say, 'My friend, move up to a higher position.' Then you will enjoy the esteem of your companions at the table.

¹¹For everyone who exalts himself will be humbled, but the one who humbles himself will be exalted."

¹²Then he said to the host who invited him, "When you hold a lunch or a dinner, do not invite your friends or your brothers or your relatives or your wealthy neighbors, in case they may invite you back and you have repayment.

¹³Rather, when you hold a banquet, invite the poor, the crippled, the lame, the blind;

¹⁴blessed indeed will you be because of their inability to repay you. For you will be repaid at the resurrection of the righteous."

¹⁵One of his fellow guests on hearing this said to him, "Blessed is the one who will dine in the kingdom of God."

¹⁶He replied to him, "A man gave a great dinner to which he invited many.

¹⁷When the time for the dinner came, he dispatched his servant to say to those invited, 'Come, everything is now ready.'

¹⁸But one by one, they all began to excuse themselves. The first said to him, 'I have purchased a field and must go to examine it; I ask you, consider me excused.'

¹⁹And another said, 'I have purchased five yoke of oxen and am on my way to evaluate them; I ask you, consider me excused.'

²⁰And another said, 'I have just married a woman, and therefore I cannot come.'

²¹The servant went and reported this to his master. Then the master of the house in a rage commanded his servant, 'Go out quickly into the streets and alleys of the town and bring in here the poor and the crippled, the blind and the lame.'

²²The servant reported, 'Sir, your orders have been carried out and still there is room.'

²³The master then ordered the servant, 'Go out to the highways and hedgerows and make people come in that my home may be filled.

²⁴For, I tell you, none of those men who were invited will taste my dinner.'"

²⁵Great crowds were traveling with him, and he turned and addressed them,

²⁶"If any one comes to me without hating his father and mother, wife and children, brothers and sisters, and even his own life, he cannot be my disciple.

²⁷Whoever does not carry his own cross and come after me cannot be my disciple.

²⁸Which of you wishing to construct a tower does not first sit down and calculate the cost to see if there is enough for its completion?

²⁹Otherwise, after laying the foundation and finding himself unable to finish the work the onlookers should laugh at him

³⁰and say, 'This one began to build but did not have the resources to finish.'

³¹Or what king marching into battle would not first sit down and decide whether with ten thousand troops he can successfully oppose another king advancing upon him with twenty thousand troops?

³²But if not, while he is still far away, he will send a delegation to ask for peace terms.

³³In the same way, everyone of you who does not renounce all his possessions cannot be my disciple.

³⁴"Salt is good, but if salt itself loses its taste, with what can its flavor be restored?

³⁵It is fit neither for the soil nor for the manure pile; it is thrown out. Whoever has ears to hear ought to hear."

15

The tax collectors and sinners were all drawing near to listen to him,

²but the Pharisees and scribes began to complain, saying, "This man welcomes sinners and eats with them."

³So to them he addressed this parable.

⁴"What man among you having a hundred sheep and losing one of them would not leave the ninety-nine in the desert and go after the lost one until he finds it?

⁵And when he does find it, he sets it on his shoulders with great joy

⁶and, upon his arrival home, he calls together his friends and neighbors and says to them, 'Rejoice with me because I have found my lost sheep.'

⁷I tell you, in just the same way there will be more joy in heaven over one sinner who repents than over ninety-nine righteous people who have no need of repentance.

⁸"Or what woman having ten coins and losing one would not light a lamp and sweep the house, searching carefully until she finds it?"

⁹And when she does find it, she calls together her friends and neighbors and says to them, 'Rejoice with me because I have found the coin that I lost.'

¹⁰In just the same way, I tell you, there will be rejoicing among the angels of God over one sinner who repents."

¹¹Then he said, "A man had two sons,

¹²and the younger son said to his father, 'Father, give me the share of your estate that should come to me.' So the father divided the property between them.

¹³After a few days, the younger son collected all his belongings and set off to a distant country where he squandered his inheritance on a life of dissipation.

¹⁴When he had freely spent everything, a severe famine struck that country, and he found himself in dire need.

¹⁵So he hired himself out to one of the local citizens who sent him to his farm to tend the swine.

¹⁶And he longed to eat his fill of the pods on which the swine fed, but nobody gave him any.

¹⁷Coming to his senses he thought, 'How many of my father's hired workers have more than enough food to eat, but here am I, dying from hunger.

¹⁸I shall get up and go to my father and I shall say to him, "Father, I have sinned against heaven and against you.

¹⁹I no longer deserve to be called your son; treat me as you would treat one of your hired workers.'"

²⁰So he got up and went back to his father. While he was still a long way off, his father caught sight of him, and was filled with compassion. He ran to his son, embraced him and kissed him.

²¹His son said to him, 'Father, I have sinned against heaven and against you; I no longer deserve to be called your son.'

²²But his father ordered his servants, 'Quickly bring the finest robe and put it on him; put a ring on his finger and sandals on his feet.

²³Take the fattened calf and slaughter it. Then let us celebrate with a feast, ²⁴because this son of mine was dead, and has come to life again; he was lost, and has been found.' Then the celebration began.

²⁵Now the older son had been out in the field and, on his way back, as he neared the house, he heard the sound of music and dancing.

²⁶He called one of the servants and asked what this might mean.

²⁷The servant said to him, 'Your brother has returned and your father has slaughtered the fattened calf because he has him back safe and sound.'

²⁸He became angry, and when he refused to enter the house, his father came out and pleaded with him.

²⁹He said to his father in reply, 'Look, all these years I served you and not once did I disobey your orders; yet you never gave me even a young goat to feast on with my friends.

³⁰But when your son returns who swallowed up your property with prostitutes, for him you slaughter the fattened calf.'

³¹He said to him, 'My son, you are here with me always; everything I have is yours.

³²But now we must celebrate and rejoice, because your brother was dead and has come to life again; he was lost and has been found.'"

16 Then he also said to his disciples, "A rich man had a steward who was reported to him for squandering his property.

²He summoned him and said, 'What is this I hear about you? Prepare a full account of your stewardship, because you can no longer be my steward.'

³The steward said to himself, 'What shall I do, now that my master is taking the position of steward away from me? I am not strong enough to dig and I am ashamed to beg.

- ⁴I know what I shall do so that, when I am removed from the stewardship, they may welcome me into their homes.'
- ⁵He called in his master's debtors one by one. To the first he said, 'How much do you owe my master?'
- ⁶He replied, 'One hundred measures of olive oil.' He said to him, 'Here is your promissory note. Sit down and quickly write one for fifty.'
- ⁷Then to another he said, 'And you, how much do you owe?' He replied, 'One hundred kors of wheat.' He said to him, 'Here is your promissory note; write one for eighty.'
- ⁸And the master commended that dishonest steward for acting prudently. "For the children of this world are more prudent in dealing with their own generation than are the children of light.
- ⁹I tell you, make friends for yourselves with dishonest wealth, so that when it fails, you will be welcomed into eternal dwellings.
- ¹⁰The person who is trustworthy in very small matters is also trustworthy in great ones; and the person who is dishonest in very small matters is also dishonest in great ones.
- ¹¹If, therefore, you are not trustworthy with dishonest wealth, who will trust you with true wealth?
- ¹²If you are not trustworthy with what belongs to another, who will give you what is yours?
- ¹³No servant can serve two masters. He will either hate one and love the other, or be devoted to one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon."
- ¹⁴The Pharisees, who loved money, heard all these things and sneered at him.
- ¹⁵And he said to them, "You justify yourselves in the sight of others, but God knows your hearts; for what is of human esteem is an abomination in the sight of God.
- ¹⁶"The law and the prophets lasted until John; but from then on the kingdom of God is proclaimed, and everyone who enters does so with violence.

¹⁷It is easier for heaven and earth to pass away than for the smallest part of a letter of the law to become invalid.

¹⁸"Everyone who divorces his wife and marries another commits adultery, and the one who marries a woman divorced from her husband commits adultery.

¹⁹"There was a rich man who dressed in purple garments and fine linen and dined sumptuously each day.

²⁰And lying at his door was a poor man named Lazarus, covered with sores, ²¹who would gladly have eaten his fill of the scraps that fell from the rich man's table. Dogs even used to come and lick his sores.

²²When the poor man died, he was carried away by angels to the bosom of Abraham. The rich man also died and was buried, ²³and from the netherworld, where he was in torment, he raised his eyes and saw Abraham far off and Lazarus at his side.

²⁴And he cried out, 'Father Abraham, have pity on me. Send Lazarus to dip the tip of his finger in water and cool my tongue, for I am suffering torment in these flames.'

²⁵Abraham replied, 'My child, remember that you received what was good during your lifetime while Lazarus likewise received what was bad; but now he is comforted here, whereas you are tormented.

²⁶Moreover, between us and you a great chasm is established to prevent anyone from crossing who might wish to go from our side to yours or from your side to ours.'

²⁷He said, 'Then I beg you, father, send him to my father's house,

²⁸for I have five brothers, so that he may warn them, lest they too come to this place of torment.'

²⁹But Abraham replied, 'They have Moses and the prophets. Let them listen to them.'

³⁰He said, 'Oh no, father Abraham, but if someone from the dead goes to them, they will repent.'

³¹Then Abraham said, 'If they will not listen to Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded if someone should rise from the dead.'"

17 He said to his disciples, "Things that cause sin will inevitably occur, but woe to the person through whom they occur.

²It would be better for him if a millstone were put around his neck and he be thrown into the sea than for him to cause one of these little ones to sin.

³Be on your guard! If your brother sins, rebuke him; and if he repents, forgive him.

⁴And if he wrongs you seven times in one day and returns to you seven times saying, 'I am sorry,' you should forgive him."

⁵And the apostles said to the Lord, "Increase our faith."

⁶The Lord replied, "If you have faith the size of a mustard seed, you would say to (this) mulberry tree, 'Be uprooted and planted in the sea,' and it would obey you.

⁷"Who among you would say to your servant who has just come in from plowing or tending sheep in the field, 'Come here immediately and take your place at table'?

⁸Would he not rather say to him, 'Prepare something for me to eat. Put on your apron and wait on me while I eat and drink. You may eat and drink when I am finished'?

⁹Is he grateful to that servant because he did what was commanded?

¹⁰So should it be with you. When you have done all you have been commanded, say, 'We are unprofitable servants; we have done what we were obliged to do.'"

¹¹As he continued his journey to Jerusalem, he traveled through Samaria and Galilee.

¹²As he was entering a village, ten lepers met (him). They stood at a distance from him

¹³and raised their voice, saying, "Jesus, Master! Have pity on us!"

¹⁴And when he saw them, he said, "Go show yourselves to the priests." As they were going they were cleansed.

¹⁵And one of them, realizing he had been healed, returned, glorifying God in a loud voice;

¹⁶and he fell at the feet of Jesus and thanked him. He was a Samaritan.

¹⁷Jesus said in reply, "Ten were cleansed, were they not? Where are the other nine?"

¹⁸Has none but this foreigner returned to give thanks to God?"

¹⁹Then he said to him, "Stand up and go; your faith has saved you."

²⁰Asked by the Pharisees when the kingdom of God would come, he said in reply, "The coming of the kingdom of God cannot be observed, ²¹and no one will announce, 'Look, here it is,' or, 'There it is.' For behold, the kingdom of God is among you."

²²Then he said to his disciples, "The days will come when you will long to see one of the days of the Son of Man, but you will not see it.

²³There will be those who will say to you, 'Look, there he is,' (or) 'Look, here he is.' Do not go off, do not run in pursuit.

²⁴For just as lightning flashes and lights up the sky from one side to the other, so will the Son of Man be (in his day).

²⁵But first he must suffer greatly and be rejected by this generation.

²⁶As it was in the days of Noah, so it will be in the days of the Son of Man;

²⁷they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage up to the day that Noah entered the ark, and the flood came and destroyed them all.

²⁸Similarly, as it was in the days of Lot: they were eating, drinking, buying, selling, planting, building;

²⁹on the day when Lot left Sodom, fire and brimstone rained from the sky to destroy them all.

³⁰So it will be on the day the Son of Man is revealed.

³¹On that day, a person who is on the housetop and whose belongings are in the house must not go down to get them, and likewise a person in the field must not return to what was left behind.

³²Remember the wife of Lot.

³³Whoever seeks to preserve his life will lose it, but whoever loses it will save it.

³⁴I tell you, on that night there will be two people in one bed; one will be taken, the other left.

³⁵And there will be two women grinding meal together; one will be taken, the other left."

³⁶

³⁷They said to him in reply, "Where, Lord?" He said to them, "Where the body is, there also the vultures will gather."

18 Then he told them a parable about the necessity for them to pray always without becoming weary. He said,

²"There was a judge in a certain town who neither feared God nor respected any human being.

³And a widow in that town used to come to him and say, 'Render a just decision for me against my adversary.'

⁴For a long time the judge was unwilling, but eventually he thought, 'While it is true that I neither fear God nor respect any human being,

⁵because this widow keeps bothering me I shall deliver a just decision for her lest she finally come and strike me.'"

⁶The Lord said, "Pay attention to what the dishonest judge says.

⁷Will not God then secure the rights of his chosen ones who call out to him day and night? Will he be slow to answer them?

⁸I tell you, he will see to it that justice is done for them speedily. But when the Son of Man comes, will he find faith on earth?"

⁹He then addressed this parable to those who were convinced of their own righteousness and despised everyone else.

¹⁰Two people went up to the temple area to pray; one was a Pharisee and the other was a tax collector.

¹¹The Pharisee took up his position and spoke this prayer to himself, 'O God, I thank you that I am not like the rest of humanity--greedy, dishonest, adulterous--or even like this tax collector.

¹²I fast twice a week, and I pay tithes on my whole income.'

¹³But the tax collector stood off at a distance and would not even raise his eyes to heaven but beat his breast and prayed, 'O God, be merciful to me a sinner.'

¹⁴I tell you, the latter went home justified, not the former; for everyone who exalts himself will be humbled, and the one who humbles himself will be exalted."

¹⁵People were bringing even infants to him that he might touch them, and when the disciples saw this, they rebuked them.

¹⁶Jesus, however, called the children to himself and said, "Let the children come to me and do not prevent them; for the kingdom of God belongs to such as these.

¹⁷Amen, I say to you, whoever does not accept the kingdom of God like a child will not enter it."

¹⁸An official asked him this question, "Good teacher, what must I do to inherit eternal life?"

¹⁹Jesus answered him, "Why do you call me good? No one is good but God alone.

²⁰You know the commandments, 'You shall not commit adultery; you shall not kill; you shall not steal; you shall not bear false witness; honor your father and your mother.'"

²¹And he replied, "All of these I have observed from my youth."

²²When Jesus heard this he said to him, "There is still one thing left for you: sell all that you have and distribute it to the poor, and you will have a treasure in heaven. Then come, follow me."

²³But when he heard this he became quite sad, for he was very rich.

²⁴ Jesus looked at him (now sad) and said, "How hard it is for those who have wealth to enter the kingdom of God!"

²⁵ For it is easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for a rich person to enter the kingdom of God."

²⁶ Those who heard this said, "Then who can be saved?"

²⁷ And he said, "What is impossible for human beings is possible for God."

²⁸ Then Peter said, "We have given up our possessions and followed you."

²⁹ He said to them, "Amen, I say to you, there is no one who has given up house or wife or brothers or parents or children for the sake of the kingdom of God

³⁰ who will not receive (back) an overabundant return in this present age and eternal life in the age to come."

³¹ Then he took the Twelve aside and said to them, "Behold, we are going up to Jerusalem and everything written by the prophets about the Son of Man will be fulfilled.

³² He will be handed over to the Gentiles and he will be mocked and insulted and spat upon;

³³ and after they have scourged him they will kill him, but on the third day he will rise."

³⁴ But they understood nothing of this; the word remained hidden from them and they failed to comprehend what he said.

³⁵ Now as he approached Jericho a blind man was sitting by the roadside begging,

³⁶ and hearing a crowd going by, he inquired what was happening.

³⁷ They told him, "Jesus of Nazareth is passing by."

³⁸ He shouted, "Jesus, Son of David, have pity on me!"

³⁹ The people walking in front rebuked him, telling him to be silent, but he kept calling out all the more, "Son of David, have pity on me!"

⁴⁰Then Jesus stopped and ordered that he be brought to him; and when he came near, Jesus asked him,

⁴¹"What do you want me to do for you?" He replied, "Lord, please let me see."

⁴²Jesus told him, "Have sight; your faith has saved you."

⁴³He immediately received his sight and followed him, giving glory to God. When they saw this, all the people gave praise to God.

19

He came to Jericho and intended to pass through the town.

²Now a man there named Zacchaeus, who was a chief tax collector and also a wealthy man,

³was seeking to see who Jesus was; but he could not see him because of the crowd, for he was short in stature.

⁴So he ran ahead and climbed a sycamore tree in order to see Jesus, who was about to pass that way.

⁵When he reached the place, Jesus looked up and said to him, "Zacchaeus, come down quickly, for today I must stay at your house."

⁶And he came down quickly and received him with joy.

⁷When they all saw this, they began to grumble, saying, "He has gone to stay at the house of a sinner."

⁸But Zacchaeus stood there and said to the Lord, "Behold, half of my possessions, Lord, I shall give to the poor, and if I have extorted anything from anyone I shall repay it four times over."

⁹And Jesus said to him, "Today salvation has come to this house because this man too is a descendant of Abraham.

¹⁰For the Son of Man has come to seek and to save what was lost."

¹¹While they were listening to him speak, he proceeded to tell a parable because he was near Jerusalem and they thought that the kingdom of God would appear there immediately.

¹²So he said, "A nobleman went off to a distant country to obtain the kingship for himself and then to return.

¹³He called ten of his servants and gave them ten gold coins and told them, 'Engage in trade with these until I return.'

¹⁴His fellow citizens, however, despised him and sent a delegation after him to announce, 'We do not want this man to be our king.'

¹⁵But when he returned after obtaining the kingship, he had the servants called, to whom he had given the money, to learn what they had gained by trading.

¹⁶The first came forward and said, 'Sir, your gold coin has earned ten additional ones.'

¹⁷He replied, 'Well done, good servant! You have been faithful in this very small matter; take charge of ten cities.'

¹⁸Then the second came and reported, 'Your gold coin, sir, has earned five more.'

¹⁹And to this servant too he said, 'You, take charge of five cities.'

²⁰Then the other servant came and said, 'Sir, here is your gold coin; I kept it stored away in a handkerchief,

²¹for I was afraid of you, because you are a demanding person; you take up what you did not lay down and you harvest what you did not plant.'

²²He said to him, 'With your own words I shall condemn you, you wicked servant. You knew I was a demanding person, taking up what I did not lay down and harvesting what I did not plant;

²³why did you not put my money in a bank? Then on my return I would have collected it with interest.'

²⁴And to those standing by he said, 'Take the gold coin from him and give it to the servant who has ten.'

²⁵But they said to him, 'Sir, he has ten gold coins.'

²⁶I tell you, to everyone who has, more will be given, but from the one who has not, even what he has will be taken away.

²⁷Now as for those enemies of mine who did not want me as their king, bring them here and slay them before me."

²⁸After he had said this, he proceeded on his journey up to Jerusalem.

²⁹As he drew near to Bethphage and Bethany at the place called the Mount of Olives, he sent two of his disciples.

³⁰He said, "Go into the village opposite you, and as you enter it you will find a colt tethered on which no one has ever sat. Untie it and bring it here.

³¹And if anyone should ask you, 'Why are you untying it?' you will answer, 'The Master has need of it.'"

³²So those who had been sent went off and found everything just as he had told them.

³³And as they were untying the colt, its owners said to them, "Why are you untying this colt?"

³⁴They answered, "The Master has need of it."

³⁵So they brought it to Jesus, threw their cloaks over the colt, and helped Jesus to mount.

³⁶As he rode along, the people were spreading their cloaks on the road;

³⁷and now as he was approaching the slope of the Mount of Olives, the whole multitude of his disciples began to praise God aloud with joy for all the mighty deeds they had seen.

³⁸They proclaimed: "Blessed is the king who comes in the name of the Lord. Peace in heaven and glory in the highest."

³⁹Some of the Pharisees in the crowd said to him, "Teacher, rebuke your disciples."

⁴⁰He said in reply, "I tell you, if they keep silent, the stones will cry out!"

⁴¹As he drew near, he saw the city and wept over it,

⁴²saying, "If this day you only knew what makes for peace--but now it is hidden from your eyes.

⁴³For the days are coming upon you when your enemies will raise a palisade against you; they will encircle you and hem you in on all sides.

⁴⁴They will smash you to the ground and your children within you, and they will not leave one stone upon another within you because you did not recognize the time of your visitation."

⁴⁵Then Jesus entered the temple area and proceeded to drive out those who were selling things,

⁴⁶saying to them, "It is written, 'My house shall be a house of prayer, but you have made it a den of thieves.'"

⁴⁷And every day he was teaching in the temple area. The chief priests, the scribes, and the leaders of the people, meanwhile, were seeking to put him to death,

⁴⁸but they could find no way to accomplish their purpose because all the people were hanging on his words.

20 One day as he was teaching the people in the temple area and proclaiming the good news, the chief priests and scribes, together with the elders, approached him

²and said to him, "Tell us, by what authority are you doing these things? Or who is the one who gave you this authority?"

³He said to them in reply, "I shall ask you a question. Tell me, ⁴was John's baptism of heavenly or of human origin?"

⁵They discussed this among themselves, and said, "If we say, 'Of heavenly origin,' he will say, 'Why did you not believe him?'

⁶But if we say, 'Of human origin,' then all the people will stone us, for they are convinced that John was a prophet."

⁷So they answered that they did not know from where it came.

⁸Then Jesus said to them, "Neither shall I tell you by what authority I do these things."

⁹Then he proceeded to tell the people this parable. "(A) man planted a vineyard, leased it to tenant farmers, and then went on a journey for a long time.

¹⁰At harvest time he sent a servant to the tenant farmers to receive some of the produce of the vineyard. But they beat the servant and sent him away empty-handed.

¹¹So he proceeded to send another servant, but him also they beat and insulted and sent away empty-handed.

¹²Then he proceeded to send a third, but this one too they wounded and threw out.

¹³The owner of the vineyard said, 'What shall I do? I shall send my beloved son; maybe they will respect him.'

¹⁴But when the tenant farmers saw him they said to one another, 'This is the heir. Let us kill him that the inheritance may become ours.'

¹⁵So they threw him out of the vineyard and killed him. What will the owner of the vineyard do to them?

¹⁶He will come and put those tenant farmers to death and turn over the vineyard to others." When the people heard this, they exclaimed, "Let it not be so!"

¹⁷But he looked at them and asked, "What then does this scripture passage mean: 'The stone which the builders rejected has become the cornerstone'?

¹⁸Everyone who falls on that stone will be dashed to pieces; and it will crush anyone on whom it falls."

¹⁹The scribes and chief priests sought to lay their hands on him at that very hour, but they feared the people, for they knew that he had addressed this parable to them.

²⁰They watched him closely and sent agents pretending to be righteous who were to trap him in speech, in order to hand him over to the authority and power of the governor.

²¹They posed this question to him, "Teacher, we know that what you say and teach is correct, and you show no partiality, but teach the way of God in accordance with the truth.

²²Is it lawful for us to pay tribute to Caesar or not?"

²³Recognizing their craftiness he said to them,

²⁴"Show me a denarius; whose image and name does it bear?" They replied, "Caesar's."

²⁵So he said to them, "Then repay to Caesar what belongs to Caesar and to God what belongs to God."

²⁶They were unable to trap him by something he might say before the people, and so amazed were they at his reply that they fell silent.

²⁷Some Sadducees, those who deny that there is a resurrection, came forward and put this question to him,

²⁸saying, "Teacher, Moses wrote for us, 'If someone's brother dies leaving a wife but no child, his brother must take the wife and raise up descendants for his brother.'

²⁹Now there were seven brothers; the first married a woman but died childless.

³⁰Then the second

³¹and the third married her, and likewise all the seven died childless.

³²Finally the woman also died.

³³Now at the resurrection whose wife will that woman be? For all seven had been married to her."

³⁴Jesus said to them, "The children of this age marry and remarry;

³⁵but those who are deemed worthy to attain to the coming age and to the resurrection of the dead neither marry nor are given in marriage.

³⁶They can no longer die, for they are like angels; and they are the children of God because they are the ones who will rise.

³⁷That the dead will rise even Moses made known in the passage about the bush, when he called 'Lord' the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob;

³⁸and he is not God of the dead, but of the living, for to him all are alive."

³⁹Some of the scribes said in reply, "Teacher, you have answered well."

⁴⁰And they no longer dared to ask him anything.

⁴¹Then he said to them, "How do they claim that the Messiah is the Son of David?"

⁴²For David himself in the Book of Psalms says: 'The Lord said to my lord, "Sit at my right hand

⁴³till I make your enemies your footstool.'"

⁴⁴Now if David calls him 'lord,' how can he be his son?"

⁴⁵Then, within the hearing of all the people, he said to (his) disciples,

⁴⁶"Be on guard against the scribes, who like to go around in long robes and love greetings in marketplaces, seats of honor in synagogues, and places of honor at banquets.

⁴⁷They devour the houses of widows and, as a pretext, recite lengthy prayers. They will receive a very severe condemnation."

21 When he looked up he saw some wealthy people putting their offerings into the treasury

²and he noticed a poor widow putting in two small coins.

³He said, "I tell you truly, this poor widow put in more than all the rest;

⁴for those others have all made offerings from their surplus wealth, but she, from her poverty, has offered her whole livelihood."

⁵While some people were speaking about how the temple was adorned with costly stones and votive offerings, he said,

⁶"All that you see here--the days will come when there will not be left a stone upon another stone that will not be thrown down."

⁷Then they asked him, "Teacher, when will this happen? And what sign will there be when all these things are about to happen?"

⁸He answered, "See that you not be deceived, for many will come in my name, saying, 'I am he,' and 'The time has come.' Do not follow them!

⁹When you hear of wars and insurrections, do not be terrified; for such things must happen first, but it will not immediately be the end."

¹⁰Then he said to them, "Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom.

¹¹There will be powerful earthquakes, famines, and plagues from place to place; and awesome sights and mighty signs will come from the sky.

¹²"Before all this happens, however, they will seize and persecute you, they will hand you over to the synagogues and to prisons, and they will have you led before kings and governors because of my name.

¹³It will lead to your giving testimony.

¹⁴Remember, you are not to prepare your defense beforehand,

¹⁵for I myself shall give you a wisdom in speaking that all your adversaries will be powerless to resist or refute.

¹⁶You will even be handed over by parents, brothers, relatives, and friends, and they will put some of you to death.

¹⁷You will be hated by all because of my name,

¹⁸but not a hair on your head will be destroyed.

¹⁹By your perseverance you will secure your lives.

²⁰"When you see Jerusalem surrounded by armies, know that its desolation is at hand.

²¹Then those in Judea must flee to the mountains. Let those within the city escape from it, and let those in the countryside not enter the city, ²²for these days are the time of punishment when all the scriptures are fulfilled.

²³Woe to pregnant women and nursing mothers in those days, for a terrible calamity will come upon the earth and a wrathful judgment upon this people.

²⁴They will fall by the edge of the sword and be taken as captives to all the Gentiles; and Jerusalem will be trampled underfoot by the Gentiles until the times of the Gentiles are fulfilled.

²⁵"There will be signs in the sun, the moon, and the stars, and on earth nations will be in dismay, perplexed by the roaring of the sea and the waves.

²⁶People will die of fright in anticipation of what is coming upon the world, for the powers of the heavens will be shaken.

²⁷And then they will see the Son of Man coming in a cloud with power and great glory.

²⁸But when these signs begin to happen, stand erect and raise your heads because your redemption is at hand."

²⁹He taught them a lesson. "Consider the fig tree and all the other trees.

³⁰When their buds burst open, you see for yourselves and know that summer is now near;

³¹in the same way, when you see these things happening, know that the kingdom of God is near.

³²Amen, I say to you, this generation will not pass away until all these things have taken place.

³³Heaven and earth will pass away, but my words will not pass away.

³⁴"Beware that your hearts do not become drowsy from carousing and drunkenness and the anxieties of daily life, and that day catch you by surprise

³⁵like a trap. For that day will assault everyone who lives on the face of the earth.

³⁶Be vigilant at all times and pray that you have the strength to escape the tribulations that are imminent and to stand before the Son of Man."

³⁷During the day, Jesus was teaching in the temple area, but at night he would leave and stay at the place called the Mount of Olives.

³⁸And all the people would get up early each morning to listen to him in the temple area.

22 Now the feast of Unleavened Bread, called the Passover, was drawing near, ²and the chief priests and the scribes were seeking a way to put him to death, for they were afraid of the people.

³Then Satan entered into Judas, the one surnamed Iscariot, who was counted among the Twelve, ⁴and he went to the chief priests and temple guards to discuss a plan for handing him over to them.

⁵They were pleased and agreed to pay him money.

⁶He accepted their offer and sought a favorable opportunity to hand him over to them in the absence of a crowd.

⁷When the day of the Feast of Unleavened Bread arrived, the day for sacrificing the Passover lamb,

⁸he sent out Peter and John, instructing them, "Go and make preparations for us to eat the Passover."

⁹They asked him, "Where do you want us to make the preparations?"

¹⁰And he answered them, "When you go into the city, a man will meet you carrying a jar of water. Follow him into the house that he enters

¹¹and say to the master of the house, 'The teacher says to you, "Where is the guest room where I may eat the Passover with my disciples?"'

¹²He will show you a large upper room that is furnished. Make the preparations there."

¹³Then they went off and found everything exactly as he had told them, and there they prepared the Passover.

¹⁴When the hour came, he took his place at table with the apostles.

¹⁵He said to them, "I have eagerly desired to eat this Passover with you before I suffer, ¹⁶for, I tell you, I shall not eat it (again) until there is fulfillment in the kingdom of God."

¹⁷Then he took a cup, gave thanks, and said, "Take this and share it among yourselves;

¹⁸for I tell you (that) from this time on I shall not drink of the fruit of the vine until the kingdom of God comes."

¹⁹Then he took the bread, said the blessing, broke it, and gave it to them, saying, "This is my body, which will be given for you; do this in memory of me."

²⁰And likewise the cup after they had eaten, saying, "This cup is the new covenant in my blood, which will be shed for you.

²¹"And yet behold, the hand of the one who is to betray me is with me on the table;

²²for the Son of Man indeed goes as it has been determined; but woe to that man by whom he is betrayed."

²³And they began to debate among themselves who among them would do such a deed.

²⁴Then an argument broke out among them about which of them should be regarded as the greatest.

²⁵He said to them, "The kings of the Gentiles lord it over them and those in authority over them are addressed as 'Benefactors';

²⁶but among you it shall not be so. Rather, let the greatest among you be as the youngest, and the leader as the servant.

²⁷For who is greater: the one seated at table or the one who serves? Is it not the one seated at table? I am among you as the one who serves.

²⁸It is you who have stood by me in my trials;

²⁹and I confer a kingdom on you, just as my Father has conferred one on me,

³⁰that you may eat and drink at my table in my kingdom; and you will sit on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel.

³¹"Simon, Simon, behold Satan has demanded to sift all of you like wheat, ³²but I have prayed that your own faith may not fail; and once you have turned back, you must strengthen your brothers."

³³He said to him, "Lord, I am prepared to go to prison and to die with you."

³⁴But he replied, "I tell you, Peter, before the cock crows this day, you will deny three times that you know me."

³⁵He said to them, "When I sent you forth without a money bag or a sack or sandals, were you in need of anything?" "No, nothing," they replied.

³⁶He said to them, "But now one who has a money bag should take it, and likewise a sack, and one who does not have a sword should sell his cloak and buy one.

³⁷For I tell you that this scripture must be fulfilled in me, namely, 'He was counted among the wicked'; and indeed what is written about me is coming to fulfillment."

³⁸Then they said, "Lord, look, there are two swords here." But he replied, "It is enough!"

³⁹Then going out he went, as was his custom, to the Mount of Olives, and the disciples followed him.

⁴⁰When he arrived at the place he said to them, "Pray that you may not undergo the test."

⁴¹After withdrawing about a stone's throw from them and kneeling, he prayed,

⁴²saying, "Father, if you are willing, take this cup away from me; still, not my will but yours be done."

⁴³(And to strengthen him an angel from heaven appeared to him.)

⁴⁴He was in such agony and he prayed so fervently that his sweat became like drops of blood falling on the ground.)

⁴⁵When he rose from prayer and returned to his disciples, he found them sleeping from grief.

⁴⁶He said to them, "Why are you sleeping? Get up and pray that you may not undergo the test."

⁴⁷While he was still speaking, a crowd approached and in front was one of the Twelve, a man named Judas. He went up to Jesus to kiss him.

⁴⁸Jesus said to him, "Judas, are you betraying the Son of Man with a kiss?"

⁴⁹His disciples realized what was about to happen, and they asked, "Lord, shall we strike with a sword?"

⁵⁰And one of them struck the high priest's servant and cut off his right ear.

⁵¹But Jesus said in reply, "Stop, no more of this!" Then he touched the servant's ear and healed him.

⁵²And Jesus said to the chief priests and temple guards and elders who had come for him, "Have you come out as against a robber, with swords and clubs?"

⁵³Day after day I was with you in the temple area, and you did not seize me; but this is your hour, the time for the power of darkness."

⁵⁴After arresting him they led him away and took him into the house of the high priest; Peter was following at a distance.

⁵⁵They lit a fire in the middle of the courtyard and sat around it, and Peter sat down with them.

⁵⁶When a maid saw him seated in the light, she looked intently at him and said, "This man too was with him."

⁵⁷But he denied it saying, "Woman, I do not know him."

⁵⁸ A short while later someone else saw him and said, "You too are one of them"; but Peter answered, "My friend, I am not."

⁵⁹ About an hour later, still another insisted, "Assuredly, this man too was with him, for he also is a Galilean."

⁶⁰ But Peter said, "My friend, I do not know what you are talking about." Just as he was saying this, the cock crowed,

⁶¹ and the Lord turned and looked at Peter; and Peter remembered the word of the Lord, how he had said to him, "Before the cock crows today, you will deny me three times."

⁶² He went out and began to weep bitterly.

⁶³ The men who held Jesus in custody were ridiculing and beating him.

⁶⁴ They blindfolded him and questioned him, saying, "Prophecy! Who is it that struck you?"

⁶⁵ And they reviled him in saying many other things against him.

⁶⁶ When day came the council of elders of the people met, both chief priests and scribes, and they brought him before their Sanhedrin.

⁶⁷ They said, "If you are the Messiah, tell us," but he replied to them, "If I tell you, you will not believe,

⁶⁸ and if I question, you will not respond.

⁶⁹ But from this time on the Son of Man will be seated at the right hand of the power of God."

⁷⁰ They all asked, "Are you then the Son of God?" He replied to them, "You say that I am."

⁷¹ Then they said, "What further need have we for testimony? We have heard it from his own mouth."

23 Then the whole assembly of them arose and brought him before Pilate.

²They brought charges against him, saying, "We found this man misleading our people; he opposes the payment of taxes to Caesar and maintains that he is the Messiah, a king."

³Pilate asked him, "Are you the king of the Jews?" He said to him in reply, "You say so."

⁴Pilate then addressed the chief priests and the crowds, "I find this man not guilty."

⁵But they were adamant and said, "He is inciting the people with his teaching throughout all Judea, from Galilee where he began even to here."

⁶On hearing this Pilate asked if the man was a Galilean;

⁷and upon learning that he was under Herod's jurisdiction, he sent him to Herod who was in Jerusalem at that time.

⁸Herod was very glad to see Jesus; he had been wanting to see him for a long time, for he had heard about him and had been hoping to see him perform some sign.

⁹He questioned him at length, but he gave him no answer.

¹⁰The chief priests and scribes, meanwhile, stood by accusing him harshly.

¹¹(Even) Herod and his soldiers treated him contemptuously and mocked him, and after clothing him in resplendent garb, he sent him back to Pilate.

¹²Herod and Pilate became friends that very day, even though they had been enemies formerly.

¹³Pilate then summoned the chief priests, the rulers, and the people

¹⁴and said to them, "You brought this man to me and accused him of inciting the people to revolt. I have conducted my investigation in your presence and have not found this man guilty of the charges you have brought against him, ¹⁵nor did Herod, for he sent him back to us. So no capital crime has been committed by him.

¹⁶Therefore I shall have him flogged and then release him."

¹⁸But all together they shouted out, "Away with this man! Release Barabbas to us."

¹⁹(Now Barabbas had been imprisoned for a rebellion that had taken place in the city and for murder.)

²⁰Again Pilate addressed them, still wishing to release Jesus,

²¹but they continued their shouting, "Crucify him! Crucify him!"

²²Pilate addressed them a third time, "What evil has this man done? I found him guilty of no capital crime. Therefore I shall have him flogged and then release him."

²³With loud shouts, however, they persisted in calling for his crucifixion, and their voices prevailed.

²⁴The verdict of Pilate was that their demand should be granted.

²⁵So he released the man who had been imprisoned for rebellion and murder, for whom they asked, and he handed Jesus over to them to deal with as they wished.

²⁶As they led him away they took hold of a certain Simon, a Cyrenian, who was coming in from the country; and after laying the cross on him, they made him carry it behind Jesus.

²⁷A large crowd of people followed Jesus, including many women who mourned and lamented him.

²⁸Jesus turned to them and said, "Daughters of Jerusalem, do not weep for me; weep instead for yourselves and for your children,

²⁹for indeed, the days are coming when people will say, 'Blessed are the barren, the wombs that never bore and the breasts that never nursed.'

³⁰At that time people will say to the mountains, 'Fall upon us!' and to the hills, 'Cover us!'

³¹for if these things are done when the wood is green what will happen when it is dry?"

³²Now two others, both criminals, were led away with him to be executed.

³³When they came to the place called the Skull, they crucified him and the criminals there, one on his right, the other on his left.

³⁴[Then Jesus said, "Father, forgive them, they know not what they do."] They divided his garments by casting lots.

³⁵The people stood by and watched; the rulers, meanwhile, sneered at him and said, "He saved others, let him save himself if he is the chosen one, the Messiah of God."

³⁶Even the soldiers jeered at him. As they approached to offer him wine

³⁷they called out, "If you are King of the Jews, save yourself."

³⁸Above him there was an inscription that read, "This is the King of the Jews."

³⁹Now one of the criminals hanging there reviled Jesus, saying, "Are you not the Messiah? Save yourself and us."

⁴⁰The other, however, rebuking him, said in reply, "Have you no fear of God, for you are subject to the same condemnation?"

⁴¹And indeed, we have been condemned justly, for the sentence we received corresponds to our crimes, but this man has done nothing criminal."

⁴²Then he said, "Jesus, remember me when you come into your kingdom."

⁴³He replied to him, "Amen, I say to you, today you will be with me in Paradise."

⁴⁴It was now about noon and darkness came over the whole land until three in the afternoon

⁴⁵because of an eclipse of the sun. Then the veil of the temple was torn down the middle.

⁴⁶Jesus cried out in a loud voice, "Father, into your hands I commend my spirit"; and when he had said this he breathed his last.

⁴⁷The centurion who witnessed what had happened glorified God and said, "This man was innocent beyond doubt."

⁴⁸When all the people who had gathered for this spectacle saw what had happened, they returned home beating their breasts;

⁴⁹but all his acquaintances stood at a distance, including the women who had followed him from Galilee and saw these events.

⁵⁰Now there was a virtuous and righteous man named Joseph who, though he was a member of the council,

⁵¹had not consented to their plan of action. He came from the Jewish town of Arimathea and was awaiting the kingdom of God.

⁵²He went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus.

⁵³After he had taken the body down, he wrapped it in a linen cloth and laid him in a rock-hewn tomb in which no one had yet been buried.

⁵⁴It was the day of preparation, and the sabbath was about to begin.

⁵⁵The women who had come from Galilee with him followed behind, and when they had seen the tomb and the way in which his body was laid in it,

⁵⁶they returned and prepared spices and perfumed oils. Then they rested on the sabbath according to the commandment.

24 But at daybreak on the first day of the week they took the spices they had prepared and went to the tomb.

²They found the stone rolled away from the tomb;

³but when they entered, they did not find the body of the Lord Jesus.

⁴While they were puzzling over this, behold, two men in dazzling garments appeared to them.

⁵They were terrified and bowed their faces to the ground. They said to them, "Why do you seek the living one among the dead?"

⁶He is not here, but he has been raised. Remember what he said to you while he was still in Galilee,

⁷that the Son of Man must be handed over to sinners and be crucified, and rise on the third day."

⁸And they remembered his words.

⁹Then they returned from the tomb and announced all these things to the eleven and to all the others.

¹⁰The women were Mary Magdalene, Joanna, and Mary the mother of James; the others who accompanied them also told this to the apostles, ¹¹but their story seemed like nonsense and they did not believe them.

¹²But Peter got up and ran to the tomb, bent down, and saw the burial cloths alone; then he went home amazed at what had happened.

¹³Now that very day two of them were going to a village seven miles from Jerusalem called Emmaus,

¹⁴and they were conversing about all the things that had occurred.

¹⁵And it happened that while they were conversing and debating, Jesus himself drew near and walked with them,

¹⁶but their eyes were prevented from recognizing him.

¹⁷He asked them, "What are you discussing as you walk along?" They stopped, looking downcast.

¹⁸One of them, named Cleopas, said to him in reply, "Are you the only visitor to Jerusalem who does not know of the things that have taken place there in these days?"

¹⁹And he replied to them, "What sort of things?" They said to him, "The things that happened to Jesus the Nazarene, who was a prophet mighty in deed and word before God and all the people, ²⁰how our chief priests and rulers both handed him over to a sentence of death and crucified him.

²¹But we were hoping that he would be the one to redeem Israel; and besides all this, it is now the third day since this took place.

²²Some women from our group, however, have astounded us: they were at the tomb early in the morning

²³and did not find his body; they came back and reported that they had indeed seen a vision of angels who announced that he was alive.

²⁴Then some of those with us went to the tomb and found things just as the women had described, but him they did not see."

²⁵And he said to them, "Oh, how foolish you are! How slow of heart to believe all that the prophets spoke!

²⁶Was it not necessary that the Messiah should suffer these things and enter into his glory?"

²⁷Then beginning with Moses and all the prophets, he interpreted to them what referred to him in all the scriptures.

²⁸As they approached the village to which they were going, he gave the impression that he was going on farther.

²⁹But they urged him, "Stay with us, for it is nearly evening and the day is almost over." So he went in to stay with them.

³⁰And it happened that, while he was with them at table, he took bread, said the blessing, broke it, and gave it to them.

³¹With that their eyes were opened and they recognized him, but he vanished from their sight.

³²Then they said to each other, "Were not our hearts burning (within us) while he spoke to us on the way and opened the scriptures to us?"

³³So they set out at once and returned to Jerusalem where they found gathered together the eleven and those with them

³⁴who were saying, "The Lord has truly been raised and has appeared to Simon!"

³⁵Then the two recounted what had taken place on the way and how he was made known to them in the breaking of the bread.

³⁶While they were still speaking about this, he stood in their midst and said to them, "Peace be with you."

³⁷But they were startled and terrified and thought that they were seeing a ghost.

³⁸Then he said to them, "Why are you troubled? And why do questions arise in your hearts?"

³⁹Look at my hands and my feet, that it is I myself. Touch me and see, because a ghost does not have flesh and bones as you can see I have."

⁴⁰And as he said this, he showed them his hands and his feet.

⁴¹While they were still incredulous for joy and were amazed, he asked them, "Have you anything here to eat?"

⁴²They gave him a piece of baked fish;

⁴³he took it and ate it in front of them.

⁴⁴He said to them, "These are my words that I spoke to you while I was still with you, that everything written about me in the law of Moses and in the prophets and psalms must be fulfilled."

⁴⁵Then he opened their minds to understand the scriptures.

⁴⁶And he said to them, "Thus it is written that the Messiah would suffer and rise from the dead on the third day

⁴⁷and that repentance, for the forgiveness of sins, would be preached in his name to all the nations, beginning from Jerusalem.

⁴⁸You are witnesses of these things.

⁴⁹And (behold) I am sending the promise of my Father upon you; but stay in the city until you are clothed with power from on high."

⁵⁰Then he led them (out) as far as Bethany, raised his hands, and blessed them.

⁵¹As he blessed them he parted from them and was taken up to heaven.

⁵²They did him homage and then returned to Jerusalem with great joy,

⁵³and they were continually in the temple praising God.

John

1 In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God.

2 He was in the beginning with God.

3 All things came to be through him, and without him nothing came to be. What came to be

4 through him was life, and this life was the light of the human race;

5 the light shines in the darkness, and the darkness has not overcome it.

6 A man named John was sent from God.

7 He came for testimony, to testify to the light, so that all might believe through him.

8 He was not the light, but came to testify to the light.

9 The true light, which enlightens everyone, was coming into the world.

10 He was in the world, and the world came to be through him, but the world did not know him.

11 He came to what was his own, but his own people did not accept him.

12 But to those who did accept him he gave power to become children of God, to those who believe in his name,

13 who were born not by natural generation nor by human choice nor by a man's decision but of God.

14 And the Word became flesh and made his dwelling among us, and we saw his glory, the glory as of the Father's only Son, full of grace and truth.

15 John testified to him and cried out, saying, "This was he of whom I said, 'The one who is coming after me ranks ahead of me because he existed before me.'"

¹⁶From his fullness we have all received, grace in place of grace,

¹⁷because while the law was given through Moses, grace and truth came through Jesus Christ.

¹⁸No one has ever seen God. The only Son, God, who is at the Father's side, has revealed him.

¹⁹And this is the testimony of John. When the Jews from Jerusalem sent priests and Levites (to him) to ask him, "Who are you?"

²⁰he admitted and did not deny it, but admitted, "I am not the Messiah."

²¹So they asked him, "What are you then? Are you Elijah?" And he said, "I am not." "Are you the Prophet?" He answered, "No."

²²So they said to him, "Who are you, so we can give an answer to those who sent us? What do you have to say for yourself?"

²³He said: "I am 'the voice of one crying out in the desert, "Make straight the way of the Lord,'" as Isaiah the prophet said."

²⁴Some Pharisees were also sent.

²⁵They asked him, "Why then do you baptize if you are not the Messiah or Elijah or the Prophet?"

²⁶John answered them, "I baptize with water; but there is one among you whom you do not recognize,

²⁷the one who is coming after me, whose sandal strap I am not worthy to untie."

²⁸This happened in Bethany across the Jordan, where John was baptizing.

²⁹The next day he saw Jesus coming toward him and said, "Behold, the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world.

³⁰He is the one of whom I said, 'A man is coming after me who ranks ahead of me because he existed before me.'

³¹I did not know him, but the reason why I came baptizing with water was that he might be made known to Israel."

³² John testified further, saying, "I saw the Spirit come down like a dove from the sky and remain upon him.

³³ I did not know him, but the one who sent me to baptize with water told me, 'On whomever you see the Spirit come down and remain, he is the one who will baptize with the holy Spirit.'

³⁴ Now I have seen and testified that he is the Son of God."

³⁵ The next day John was there again with two of his disciples,

³⁶ and as he watched Jesus walk by, he said, "Behold, the Lamb of God."

³⁷ The two disciples heard what he said and followed Jesus.

³⁸ Jesus turned and saw them following him and said to them, "What are you looking for?" They said to him, "Rabbi" (which translated means Teacher), "where are you staying?"

³⁹ He said to them, "Come, and you will see." So they went and saw where he was staying, and they stayed with him that day. It was about four in the afternoon.

⁴⁰ Andrew, the brother of Simon Peter, was one of the two who heard John and followed Jesus.

⁴¹ He first found his own brother Simon and told him, "We have found the Messiah" (which is translated Anointed).

⁴² Then he brought him to Jesus. Jesus looked at him and said, "You are Simon the son of John; you will be called Kephas" (which is translated Peter).

⁴³ The next day he decided to go to Galilee, and he found Philip. And Jesus said to him, "Follow me."

⁴⁴ Now Philip was from Bethsaida, the town of Andrew and Peter.

⁴⁵ Philip found Nathanael and told him, "We have found the one about whom Moses wrote in the law, and also the prophets, Jesus, son of Joseph, from Nazareth."

⁴⁶ But Nathanael said to him, "Can anything good come from Nazareth?" Philip said to him, "Come and see."

⁴⁷ Jesus saw Nathanael coming toward him and said of him, "Here is a true Israelite. There is no duplicity in him."

⁴⁸ Nathanael said to him, "How do you know me?" Jesus answered and said to him, "Before Philip called you, I saw you under the fig tree."

⁴⁹ Nathanael answered him, "Rabbi, you are the Son of God; you are the King of Israel."

⁵⁰ Jesus answered and said to him, "Do you believe because I told you that I saw you under the fig tree? You will see greater things than this."

⁵¹ And he said to him, "Amen, amen, I say to you, you will see the sky opened and the angels of God ascending and descending on the Son of Man."

2 On the third day there was a wedding in Cana in Galilee, and the mother of Jesus was there.

² Jesus and his disciples were also invited to the wedding.

³ When the wine ran short, the mother of Jesus said to him, "They have no wine."

⁴ (And) Jesus said to her, "Woman, how does your concern affect me? My hour has not yet come."

⁵ His mother said to the servers, "Do whatever he tells you."

⁶ Now there were six stone water jars there for Jewish ceremonial washings, each holding twenty to thirty gallons.

⁷ Jesus told them, "Fill the jars with water." So they filled them to the brim.

⁸ Then he told them, "Draw some out now and take it to the headwaiter." So they took it.

⁹ And when the headwaiter tasted the water that had become wine, without knowing where it came from (although the servers who had drawn the water knew), the headwaiter called the bridegroom

¹⁰and said to him, "Everyone serves good wine first, and then when people have drunk freely, an inferior one; but you have kept the good wine until now."

¹¹Jesus did this as the beginning of his signs in Cana in Galilee and so revealed his glory, and his disciples began to believe in him.

¹²After this, he and his mother, (his) brothers, and his disciples went down to Capernaum and stayed there only a few days.

¹³Since the Passover of the Jews was near, Jesus went up to Jerusalem.

¹⁴He found in the temple area those who sold oxen, sheep, and doves, as well as the money-changers seated there.

¹⁵He made a whip out of cords and drove them all out of the temple area, with the sheep and oxen, and spilled the coins of the money-changers and overturned their tables,

¹⁶and to those who sold doves he said, "Take these out of here, and stop making my Father's house a marketplace."

¹⁷His disciples recalled the words of scripture, "Zeal for your house will consume me."

¹⁸At this the Jews answered and said to him, "What sign can you show us for doing this?"

¹⁹Jesus answered and said to them, "Destroy this temple and in three days I will raise it up."

²⁰The Jews said, "This temple has been under construction for forty-six years, and you will raise it up in three days?"

²¹But he was speaking about the temple of his body.

²²Therefore, when he was raised from the dead, his disciples remembered that he had said this, and they came to believe the scripture and the word Jesus had spoken.

²³While he was in Jerusalem for the feast of Passover, many began to believe in his name when they saw the signs he was doing.

²⁴But Jesus would not trust himself to them because he knew them all,

²⁵and did not need anyone to testify about human nature. He himself understood it well.

3 Now there was a Pharisee named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews.

²He came to Jesus at night and said to him, "Rabbi, we know that you are a teacher who has come from God, for no one can do these signs that you are doing unless God is with him."

³Jesus answered and said to him, "Amen, amen, I say to you, no one can see the kingdom of God without being born from above."

⁴Nicodemus said to him, "How can a person once grown old be born again? Surely he cannot reenter his mother's womb and be born again, can he?"

⁵Jesus answered, "Amen, amen, I say to you, no one can enter the kingdom of God without being born of water and Spirit."

⁶What is born of flesh is flesh and what is born of spirit is spirit.

⁷Do not be amazed that I told you, 'You must be born from above.'

⁸The wind blows where it wills, and you can hear the sound it makes, but you do not know where it comes from or where it goes; so it is with everyone who is born of the Spirit."

⁹Nicodemus answered and said to him, "How can this happen?"

¹⁰Jesus answered and said to him, "You are the teacher of Israel and you do not understand this?"

¹¹Amen, amen, I say to you, we speak of what we know and we testify to what we have seen, but you people do not accept our testimony.

¹²If I tell you about earthly things and you do not believe, how will you believe if I tell you about heavenly things?

¹³No one has gone up to heaven except the one who has come down from heaven, the Son of Man.

¹⁴And just as Moses lifted up the serpent in the desert, so must the Son of Man be lifted up,

¹⁵so that everyone who believes in him may have eternal life."

¹⁶For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, so that everyone who believes in him might not perish but might have eternal life.

¹⁷For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world might be saved through him.

¹⁸Whoever believes in him will not be condemned, but whoever does not believe has already been condemned, because he has not believed in the name of the only Son of God.

¹⁹And this is the verdict, that the light came into the world, but people preferred darkness to light, because their works were evil.

²⁰For everyone who does wicked things hates the light and does not come toward the light, so that his works might not be exposed.

²¹But whoever lives the truth comes to the light, so that his works may be clearly seen as done in God.

²²After this, Jesus and his disciples went into the region of Judea, where he spent some time with them baptizing.

²³John was also baptizing in Aenon near Salim, because there was an abundance of water there, and people came to be baptized,

²⁴for John had not yet been imprisoned.

²⁵Now a dispute arose between the disciples of John and a Jew about ceremonial washings.

²⁶So they came to John and said to him, "Rabbi, the one who was with you across the Jordan, to whom you testified, here he is baptizing and everyone is coming to him."

²⁷John answered and said, "No one can receive anything except what has been given him from heaven.

²⁸You yourselves can testify that I said (that) I am not the Messiah, but that I was sent before him.

²⁹The one who has the bride is the bridegroom; the best man, who stands and listens for him, rejoices greatly at the bridegroom's voice. So this joy of mine has been made complete.

³⁰He must increase; I must decrease."

³¹The one who comes from above is above all. The one who is of the earth is earthly and speaks of earthly things. But the one who comes from heaven (is above all).

³²He testifies to what he has seen and heard, but no one accepts his testimony.

³³Whoever does accept his testimony certifies that God is trustworthy.

³⁴For the one whom God sent speaks the words of God. He does not ration his gift of the Spirit.

³⁵The Father loves the Son and has given everything over to him.

³⁶Whoever believes in the Son has eternal life, but whoever disobeys the Son will not see life, but the wrath of God remains upon him.

4 Now when Jesus learned that the Pharisees had heard that Jesus was making and baptizing more disciples than John

²(although Jesus himself was not baptizing, just his disciples),

³he left Judea and returned to Galilee.

⁴He had to pass through Samaria.

⁵So he came to a town of Samaria called Sychar, near the plot of land that Jacob had given to his son Joseph.

⁶Jacob's well was there. Jesus, tired from his journey, sat down there at the well. It was about noon.

⁷A woman of Samaria came to draw water. Jesus said to her, "Give me a drink."

⁸His disciples had gone into the town to buy food.

⁹The Samaritan woman said to him, "How can you, a Jew, ask me, a Samaritan woman, for a drink?" (For Jews use nothing in common with Samaritans.)

¹⁰Jesus answered and said to her, "If you knew the gift of God and who is saying to you, 'Give me a drink,' you would have asked him and he would have given you living water."

¹¹(The woman) said to him, "Sir, you do not even have a bucket and the cistern is deep; where then can you get this living water?"

¹²Are you greater than our father Jacob, who gave us this cistern and drank from it himself with his children and his flocks?"

¹³Jesus answered and said to her, "Everyone who drinks this water will be thirsty again;

¹⁴but whoever drinks the water I shall give will never thirst; the water I shall give will become in him a spring of water welling up to eternal life."

¹⁵The woman said to him, "Sir, give me this water, so that I may not be thirsty or have to keep coming here to draw water."

¹⁶Jesus said to her, "Go call your husband and come back."

¹⁷The woman answered and said to him, "I do not have a husband." Jesus answered her, "You are right in saying, 'I do not have a husband.'

¹⁸For you have had five husbands, and the one you have now is not your husband. What you have said is true."

¹⁹The woman said to him, "Sir, I can see that you are a prophet.

²⁰Our ancestors worshiped on this mountain; but you people say that the place to worship is in Jerusalem."

²¹Jesus said to her, "Believe me, woman, the hour is coming when you will worship the Father neither on this mountain nor in Jerusalem.

²²You people worship what you do not understand; we worship what we understand, because salvation is from the Jews.

²³But the hour is coming, and is now here, when true worshipers will worship the Father in Spirit and truth; and indeed the Father seeks such people to worship him.

²⁴God is Spirit, and those who worship him must worship in Spirit and truth."

²⁵The woman said to him, "I know that the Messiah is coming, the one called the Anointed; when he comes, he will tell us everything."

²⁶Jesus said to her, "I am he, the one who is speaking with you."

²⁷At that moment his disciples returned, and were amazed that he was talking with a woman, but still no one said, "What are you looking for?" or "Why are you talking with her?"

²⁸The woman left her water jar and went into the town and said to the people,

²⁹"Come see a man who told me everything I have done. Could he possibly be the Messiah?"

³⁰They went out of the town and came to him.

³¹Meanwhile, the disciples urged him, "Rabbi, eat."

³²But he said to them, "I have food to eat of which you do not know."

³³So the disciples said to one another, "Could someone have brought him something to eat?"

³⁴Jesus said to them, "My food is to do the will of the one who sent me and to finish his work.

³⁵Do you not say, 'In four months the harvest will be here'? I tell you, look up and see the fields ripe for the harvest.

³⁶The reaper is already receiving his payment and gathering crops for eternal life, so that the sower and reaper can rejoice together.

³⁷For here the saying is verified that 'One sows and another reaps.'

³⁸I sent you to reap what you have not worked for; others have done the work, and you are sharing the fruits of their work."

³⁹ Many of the Samaritans of that town began to believe in him because of the word of the woman who testified, "He told me everything I have done."

⁴⁰ When the Samaritans came to him, they invited him to stay with them; and he stayed there two days.

⁴¹ Many more began to believe in him because of his word,

⁴² and they said to the woman, "We no longer believe because of your word; for we have heard for ourselves, and we know that this is truly the savior of the world."

⁴³ After the two days, he left there for Galilee.

⁴⁴ For Jesus himself testified that a prophet has no honor in his native place.

⁴⁵ When he came into Galilee, the Galileans welcomed him, since they had seen all he had done in Jerusalem at the feast; for they themselves had gone to the feast.

⁴⁶ Then he returned to Cana in Galilee, where he had made the water wine. Now there was a royal official whose son was ill in Capernaum.

⁴⁷ When he heard that Jesus had arrived in Galilee from Judea, he went to him and asked him to come down and heal his son, who was near death.

⁴⁸ Jesus said to him, "Unless you people see signs and wonders, you will not believe."

⁴⁹ The royal official said to him, "Sir, come down before my child dies."

⁵⁰ Jesus said to him, "You may go; your son will live." The man believed what Jesus said to him and left.

⁵¹ While he was on his way back, his slaves met him and told him that his boy would live.

⁵² He asked them when he began to recover. They told him, "The fever left him yesterday, about one in the afternoon."

⁵³ The father realized that just at that time Jesus had said to him, "Your son will live," and he and his whole household came to believe.

⁵⁴ (Now) this was the second sign Jesus did when he came to Galilee from Judea.

5 After this, there was a feast of the Jews, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem.

² Now there is in Jerusalem at the Sheep (Gate) a pool called in Hebrew Bethesda, with five porticoes.

³ In these lay a large number of ill, blind, lame, and crippled.

⁵ One man was there who had been ill for thirty-eight years.

⁶ When Jesus saw him lying there and knew that he had been ill for a long time, he said to him, "Do you want to be well?"

⁷ The sick man answered him, "Sir, I have no one to put me into the pool when the water is stirred up; while I am on my way, someone else gets down there before me."

⁸ Jesus said to him, "Rise, take up your mat, and walk."

⁹ Immediately the man became well, took up his mat, and walked. Now that day was a sabbath.

¹⁰ So the Jews said to the man who was cured, "It is the sabbath, and it is not lawful for you to carry your mat."

¹¹ He answered them, "The man who made me well told me, 'Take up your mat and walk.'"

¹² They asked him, "Who is the man who told you, 'Take it up and walk'?"

¹³ The man who was healed did not know who it was, for Jesus had slipped away, since there was a crowd there.

¹⁴ After this Jesus found him in the temple area and said to him, "Look, you are well; do not sin any more, so that nothing worse may happen to you."

¹⁵ The man went and told the Jews that Jesus was the one who had made him well.

¹⁶ Therefore, the Jews began to persecute Jesus because he did this on a sabbath.

¹⁷But Jesus answered them, "My Father is at work until now, so I am at work."

¹⁸For this reason the Jews tried all the more to kill him, because he not only broke the sabbath but he also called God his own father, making himself equal to God.

¹⁹Jesus answered and said to them, "Amen, amen, I say to you, a son cannot do anything on his own, but only what he sees his father doing; for what he does, his son will do also.

²⁰For the Father loves his Son and shows him everything that he himself does, and he will show him greater works than these, so that you may be amazed.

²¹For just as the Father raises the dead and gives life, so also does the Son give life to whomever he wishes.

²²Nor does the Father judge anyone, but he has given all judgment to his Son, ²³so that all may honor the Son just as they honor the Father. Whoever does not honor the Son does not honor the Father who sent him.

²⁴Amen, amen, I say to you, whoever hears my word and believes in the one who sent me has eternal life and will not come to condemnation, but has passed from death to life.

²⁵Amen, amen, I say to you, the hour is coming and is now here when the dead will hear the voice of the Son of God, and those who hear will live.

²⁶For just as the Father has life in himself, so also he gave to his Son the possession of life in himself.

²⁷And he gave him power to exercise judgment, because he is the Son of Man.

²⁸Do not be amazed at this, because the hour is coming in which all who are in the tombs will hear his voice

²⁹and will come out, those who have done good deeds to the resurrection of life, but those who have done wicked deeds to the resurrection of condemnation.

³⁰"I cannot do anything on my own; I judge as I hear, and my judgment is just, because I do not seek my own will but the will of the one who sent me.

³¹"If I testify on my own behalf, my testimony cannot be verified.

³²But there is another who testifies on my behalf, and I know that the testimony he gives on my behalf is true.

³³You sent emissaries to John, and he testified to the truth.

³⁴I do not accept testimony from a human being, but I say this so that you may be saved.

³⁵He was a burning and shining lamp, and for a while you were content to rejoice in his light.

³⁶But I have testimony greater than John's. The works that the Father gave me to accomplish, these works that I perform testify on my behalf that the Father has sent me.

³⁷Moreover, the Father who sent me has testified on my behalf. But you have never heard his voice nor seen his form, ³⁸and you do not have his word remaining in you, because you do not believe in the one whom he has sent.

³⁹You search the scriptures, because you think you have eternal life through them; even they testify on my behalf.

⁴⁰But you do not want to come to me to have life.

⁴¹"I do not accept human praise;

⁴²moreover, I know that you do not have the love of God in you.

⁴³I came in the name of my Father, but you do not accept me; yet if another comes in his own name, you will accept him.

⁴⁴How can you believe, when you accept praise from one another and do not seek the praise that comes from the only God?

⁴⁵Do not think that I will accuse you before the Father: the one who will accuse you is Moses, in whom you have placed your hope.

⁴⁶For if you had believed Moses, you would have believed me, because he wrote about me.

⁴⁷But if you do not believe his writings, how will you believe my words?"

6 After this, Jesus went across the Sea of Galilee (of Tiberias).

²A large crowd followed him, because they saw the signs he was performing on the sick.

³Jesus went up on the mountain, and there he sat down with his disciples.

⁴The Jewish feast of Passover was near.

⁵When Jesus raised his eyes and saw that a large crowd was coming to him, he said to Philip, "Where can we buy enough food for them to eat?"

⁶He said this to test him, because he himself knew what he was going to do.

⁷Philip answered him, "Two hundred days' wages worth of food would not be enough for each of them to have a little (bit)."

⁸One of his disciples, Andrew, the brother of Simon Peter, said to him,

⁹"There is a boy here who has five barley loaves and two fish; but what good are these for so many?"

¹⁰Jesus said, "Have the people recline." Now there was a great deal of grass in that place. So the men reclined, about five thousand in number.

¹¹Then Jesus took the loaves, gave thanks, and distributed them to those who were reclining, and also as much of the fish as they wanted.

¹²When they had had their fill, he said to his disciples, "Gather the fragments left over, so that nothing will be wasted."

¹³So they collected them, and filled twelve wicker baskets with fragments from the five barley loaves that had been more than they could eat.

¹⁴When the people saw the sign he had done, they said, "This is truly the Prophet, the one who is to come into the world."

¹⁵Since Jesus knew that they were going to come and carry him off to make him king, he withdrew again to the mountain alone.

¹⁶When it was evening, his disciples went down to the sea,

¹⁷embarked in a boat, and went across the sea to Capernaum. It had already grown dark, and Jesus had not yet come to them.

¹⁸The sea was stirred up because a strong wind was blowing.

¹⁹When they had rowed about three or four miles, they saw Jesus walking on the sea and coming near the boat, and they began to be afraid.

²⁰But he said to them, "It is I. Do not be afraid."

²¹They wanted to take him into the boat, but the boat immediately arrived at the shore to which they were heading.

²²The next day, the crowd that remained across the sea saw that there had been only one boat there, and that Jesus had not gone along with his disciples in the boat, but only his disciples had left.

²³Other boats came from Tiberias near the place where they had eaten the bread when the Lord gave thanks.

²⁴When the crowd saw that neither Jesus nor his disciples were there, they themselves got into boats and came to Capernaum looking for Jesus.

²⁵And when they found him across the sea they said to him, "Rabbi, when did you get here?"

²⁶Jesus answered them and said, "Amen, amen, I say to you, you are looking for me not because you saw signs but because you ate the loaves and were filled.

²⁷Do not work for food that perishes but for the food that endures for eternal life, which the Son of Man will give you. For on him the Father, God, has set his seal."

²⁸So they said to him, "What can we do to accomplish the works of God?"

²⁹Jesus answered and said to them, "This is the work of God, that you believe in the one he sent."

³⁰So they said to him, "What sign can you do, that we may see and believe in you? What can you do?"

³¹Our ancestors ate manna in the desert, as it is written: 'He gave them bread from heaven to eat.'"

³²So Jesus said to them, "Amen, amen, I say to you, it was not Moses who gave the bread from heaven; my Father gives you the true bread from heaven.

³³For the bread of God is that which comes down from heaven and gives life to the world."

³⁴So they said to him, "Sir, give us this bread always."

³⁵Jesus said to them, "I am the bread of life; whoever comes to me will never hunger, and whoever believes in me will never thirst.

³⁶But I told you that although you have seen (me), you do not believe.

³⁷Everything that the Father gives me will come to me, and I will not reject anyone who comes to me,

³⁸because I came down from heaven not to do my own will but the will of the one who sent me.

³⁹And this is the will of the one who sent me, that I should not lose anything of what he gave me, but that I should raise it (on) the last day.

⁴⁰For this is the will of my Father, that everyone who sees the Son and believes in him may have eternal life, and I shall raise him (on) the last day."

⁴¹The Jews murmured about him because he said, "I am the bread that came down from heaven,"

⁴²and they said, "Is this not Jesus, the son of Joseph? Do we not know his father and mother? Then how can he say, 'I have come down from heaven'?"

⁴³Jesus answered and said to them, "Stop murmuring among yourselves.

⁴⁴No one can come to me unless the Father who sent me draw him, and I will raise him on the last day.

⁴⁵It is written in the prophets: 'They shall all be taught by God.' Everyone who listens to my Father and learns from him comes to me.

⁴⁶Not that anyone has seen the Father except the one who is from God; he has seen the Father.

⁴⁷Amen, amen, I say to you, whoever believes has eternal life.

⁴⁸I am the bread of life.

⁴⁹Your ancestors ate the manna in the desert, but they died;

⁵⁰this is the bread that comes down from heaven so that one may eat it and not die.

⁵¹I am the living bread that came down from heaven; whoever eats this bread will live forever; and the bread that I will give is my flesh for the life of the world."

⁵²The Jews quarreled among themselves, saying, "How can this man give us (his) flesh to eat?"

⁵³Jesus said to them, "Amen, amen, I say to you, unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood, you do not have life within you.

⁵⁴Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood has eternal life, and I will raise him on the last day.

⁵⁵For my flesh is true food, and my blood is true drink.

⁵⁶Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood remains in me and I in him.

⁵⁷Just as the living Father sent me and I have life because of the Father, so also the one who feeds on me will have life because of me.

⁵⁸This is the bread that came down from heaven. Unlike your ancestors who ate and still died, whoever eats this bread will live forever."

⁵⁹These things he said while teaching in the synagogue in Capernaum.

⁶⁰Then many of his disciples who were listening said, "This saying is hard; who can accept it?"

⁶¹Since Jesus knew that his disciples were murmuring about this, he said to them, "Does this shock you?"

⁶²What if you were to see the Son of Man ascending to where he was before?

⁶³It is the spirit that gives life, while the flesh is of no avail. The words I have spoken to you are spirit and life.

⁶⁴But there are some of you who do not believe." Jesus knew from the beginning the ones who would not believe and the one who would betray him.

⁶⁵And he said, "For this reason I have told you that no one can come to me unless it is granted him by my Father."

⁶⁶As a result of this, many (of) his disciples returned to their former way of life and no longer accompanied him.

⁶⁷Jesus then said to the Twelve, "Do you also want to leave?"

⁶⁸Simon Peter answered him, "Master, to whom shall we go? You have the words of eternal life.

⁶⁹We have come to believe and are convinced that you are the Holy One of God."

⁷⁰Jesus answered them, "Did I not choose you twelve? Yet is not one of you a devil?"

⁷¹He was referring to Judas, son of Simon the Iscariot; it was he who would betray him, one of the Twelve.

7 After this, Jesus moved about within Galilee; but he did not wish to travel in Judea, because the Jews were trying to kill him.

²But the Jewish feast of Tabernacles was near.

³So his brothers said to him, "Leave here and go to Judea, so that your disciples also may see the works you are doing.

⁴No one works in secret if he wants to be known publicly. If you do these things, manifest yourself to the world."

⁵For his brothers did not believe in him.

⁶So Jesus said to them, "My time is not yet here, but the time is always right for you.

⁷The world cannot hate you, but it hates me, because I testify to it that its works are evil.

⁸You go up to the feast. I am not going up to this feast, because my time has not yet been fulfilled."

⁹After he had said this, he stayed on in Galilee.

¹⁰But when his brothers had gone up to the feast, he himself also went up, not openly but (as it were) in secret.

¹¹The Jews were looking for him at the feast and saying, "Where is he?"

¹²And there was considerable murmuring about him in the crowds. Some said, "He is a good man," (while) others said, "No; on the contrary, he misleads the crowd."

¹³Still, no one spoke openly about him because they were afraid of the Jews.

¹⁴When the feast was already half over, Jesus went up into the temple area and began to teach.

¹⁵The Jews were amazed and said, "How does he know scripture without having studied?"

¹⁶Jesus answered them and said, "My teaching is not my own but is from the one who sent me.

¹⁷Whoever chooses to do his will shall know whether my teaching is from God or whether I speak on my own.

¹⁸Whoever speaks on his own seeks his own glory, but whoever seeks the glory of the one who sent him is truthful, and there is no wrong in him.

¹⁹Did not Moses give you the law? Yet none of you keeps the law. Why are you trying to kill me?"

²⁰The crowd answered, "You are possessed! Who is trying to kill you?"

²¹ Jesus answered and said to them, "I performed one work and all of you are amazed
²² because of it. Moses gave you circumcision--not that it came from Moses but rather from the patriarchs--and you circumcise a man on the sabbath.

²³ If a man can receive circumcision on a sabbath so that the law of Moses may not be broken, are you angry with me because I made a whole person well on a sabbath?

²⁴ Stop judging by appearances, but judge justly."

²⁵ So some of the inhabitants of Jerusalem said, "Is he not the one they are trying to kill?

²⁶ And look, he is speaking openly and they say nothing to him. Could the authorities have realized that he is the Messiah?

²⁷ But we know where he is from. When the Messiah comes, no one will know where he is from."

²⁸ So Jesus cried out in the temple area as he was teaching and said, "You know me and also know where I am from. Yet I did not come on my own, but the one who sent me, whom you do not know, is true.

²⁹ I know him, because I am from him, and he sent me."

³⁰ So they tried to arrest him, but no one laid a hand upon him, because his hour had not yet come.

³¹ But many of the crowd began to believe in him, and said, "When the Messiah comes, will he perform more signs than this man has done?"

³² The Pharisees heard the crowd murmuring about him to this effect, and the chief priests and the Pharisees sent guards to arrest him.

³³ So Jesus said, "I will be with you only a little while longer, and then I will go to the one who sent me.

³⁴ You will look for me but not find (me), and where I am you cannot come."

³⁵So the Jews said to one another, "Where is he going that we will not find him? Surely he is not going to the dispersion among the Greeks to teach the Greeks, is he?"

³⁶What is the meaning of his saying, 'You will look for me and not find (me), and where I am you cannot come'?"

³⁷On the last and greatest day of the feast, Jesus stood up and exclaimed, "Let anyone who thirsts come to me and drink.

³⁸Whoever believes in me, as scripture says: 'Rivers of living water will flow from within him.'"

³⁹He said this in reference to the Spirit that those who came to believe in him were to receive. There was, of course, no Spirit yet, because Jesus had not yet been glorified.

⁴⁰Some in the crowd who heard these words said, "This is truly the Prophet."

⁴¹Others said, "This is the Messiah." But others said, "The Messiah will not come from Galilee, will he?"

⁴²Does not scripture say that the Messiah will be of David's family and come from Bethlehem, the village where David lived?"

⁴³So a division occurred in the crowd because of him.

⁴⁴Some of them even wanted to arrest him, but no one laid hands on him.

⁴⁵So the guards went to the chief priests and Pharisees, who asked them, "Why did you not bring him?"

⁴⁶The guards answered, "Never before has anyone spoken like this one."

⁴⁷So the Pharisees answered them, "Have you also been deceived?"

⁴⁸Have any of the authorities or the Pharisees believed in him?"

⁴⁹But this crowd, which does not know the law, is accursed."

⁵⁰Nicodemus, one of their members who had come to him earlier, said to them,

⁵¹"Does our law condemn a person before it first hears him and finds out what he is doing?"

⁵²They answered and said to him, "You are not from Galilee also, are you? Look and see that no prophet arises from Galilee."

⁵³Then each went to his own house,

8 while Jesus went to the Mount of Olives.

²But early in the morning he arrived again in the temple area, and all the people started coming to him, and he sat down and taught them.

³Then the scribes and the Pharisees brought a woman who had been caught in adultery and made her stand in the middle.

⁴They said to him, "Teacher, this woman was caught in the very act of committing adultery.

⁵Now in the law, Moses commanded us to stone such women. So what do you say?"

⁶They said this to test him, so that they could have some charge to bring against him. Jesus bent down and began to write on the ground with his finger.

⁷But when they continued asking him, he straightened up and said to them, "Let the one among you who is without sin be the first to throw a stone at her."

⁸Again he bent down and wrote on the ground.

⁹And in response, they went away one by one, beginning with the elders. So he was left alone with the woman before him.

¹⁰Then Jesus straightened up and said to her, "Woman, where are they? Has no one condemned you?"

¹¹She replied, "No one, sir." Then Jesus said, "Neither do I condemn you. Go, (and) from now on do not sin any more."

¹²Jesus spoke to them again, saying, "I am the light of the world. Whoever follows me will not walk in darkness, but will have the light of life."

¹³So the Pharisees said to him, "You testify on your own behalf, so your testimony cannot be verified."

¹⁴Jesus answered and said to them, "Even if I do testify on my own behalf, my testimony can be verified, because I know where I came from and where I am going. But you do not know where I come from or where I am going."

¹⁵You judge by appearances, but I do not judge anyone.

¹⁶And even if I should judge, my judgment is valid, because I am not alone, but it is I and the Father who sent me.

¹⁷Even in your law it is written that the testimony of two men can be verified.

¹⁸I testify on my behalf and so does the Father who sent me."

¹⁹So they said to him, "Where is your father?" Jesus answered, "You know neither me nor my Father. If you knew me, you would know my Father also."

²⁰He spoke these words while teaching in the treasury in the temple area. But no one arrested him, because his hour had not yet come.

²¹He said to them again, "I am going away and you will look for me, but you will die in your sin. Where I am going you cannot come."

²²So the Jews said, "He is not going to kill himself, is he, because he said, 'Where I am going you cannot come'?"

²³He said to them, "You belong to what is below, I belong to what is above. You belong to this world, but I do not belong to this world."

²⁴That is why I told you that you will die in your sins. For if you do not believe that I AM, you will die in your sins."

²⁵So they said to him, "Who are you?" Jesus said to them, "What I told you from the beginning."

²⁶I have much to say about you in condemnation. But the one who sent me is true, and what I heard from him I tell the world."

²⁷They did not realize that he was speaking to them of the Father.

²⁸So Jesus said (to them), "When you lift up the Son of Man, then you will realize that I AM, and that I do nothing on my own, but I say only what the Father taught me.

²⁹The one who sent me is with me. He has not left me alone, because I always do what is pleasing to him."

³⁰Because he spoke this way, many came to believe in him.

³¹Jesus then said to those Jews who believed in him, "If you remain in my word, you will truly be my disciples, ³²and you will know the truth, and the truth will set you free."

³³They answered him, "We are descendants of Abraham and have never been enslaved to anyone. How can you say, 'You will become free'?"

³⁴Jesus answered them, "Amen, amen, I say to you, everyone who commits sin is a slave of sin.

³⁵A slave does not remain in a household forever, but a son always remains.

³⁶So if a son frees you, then you will truly be free.

³⁷I know that you are descendants of Abraham. But you are trying to kill me, because my word has no room among you.

³⁸I tell you what I have seen in the Father's presence; then do what you have heard from the Father."

³⁹They answered and said to him, "Our father is Abraham." Jesus said to them, "If you were Abraham's children, you would be doing the works of Abraham.

⁴⁰But now you are trying to kill me, a man who has told you the truth that I heard from God; Abraham did not do this.

⁴¹You are doing the works of your father!" (So) they said to him, "We are not illegitimate. We have one Father, God."

⁴²Jesus said to them, "If God were your Father, you would love me, for I came from God and am here; I did not come on my own, but he sent me.

⁴³Why do you not understand what I am saying? Because you cannot bear to hear my word.

⁴⁴You belong to your father the devil and you willingly carry out your father's desires. He was a murderer from the beginning and does not stand in truth, because there is no truth in him. When he tells a lie, he speaks in character, because he is a liar and the father of lies.

⁴⁵But because I speak the truth, you do not believe me.

⁴⁶Can any of you charge me with sin? If I am telling the truth, why do you not believe me?

⁴⁷Whoever belongs to God hears the words of God; for this reason you do not listen, because you do not belong to God."

⁴⁸The Jews answered and said to him, "Are we not right in saying that you are a Samaritan and are possessed?"

⁴⁹Jesus answered, "I am not possessed; I honor my Father, but you dishonor me.

⁵⁰I do not seek my own glory; there is one who seeks it and he is the one who judges.

⁵¹Amen, amen, I say to you, whoever keeps my word will never see death."

⁵²(So) the Jews said to him, "Now we are sure that you are possessed. Abraham died, as did the prophets, yet you say, 'Whoever keeps my word will never taste death.'

⁵³Are you greater than our father Abraham, who died? Or the prophets, who died? Who do you make yourself out to be?"

⁵⁴Jesus answered, "If I glorify myself, my glory is worth nothing; but it is my Father who glorifies me, of whom you say, 'He is our God.'

⁵⁵You do not know him, but I know him. And if I should say that I do not know him, I would be like you a liar. But I do know him and I keep his word.

⁵⁶Abraham your father rejoiced to see my day; he saw it and was glad.

⁵⁷So the Jews said to him, "You are not yet fifty years old and you have seen Abraham?"

⁵⁸ Jesus said to them, "Amen, amen, I say to you, before Abraham came to be, I AM."

⁵⁹ So they picked up stones to throw at him; but Jesus hid and went out of the temple area.

9 As he passed by he saw a man blind from birth.

² His disciples asked him, "Rabbi, who sinned, this man or his parents, that he was born blind?"

³ Jesus answered, "Neither he nor his parents sinned; it is so that the works of God might be made visible through him.

⁴ We have to do the works of the one who sent me while it is day. Night is coming when no one can work.

⁵ While I am in the world, I am the light of the world."

⁶ When he had said this, he spat on the ground and made clay with the saliva, and smeared the clay on his eyes,

⁷ and said to him, "Go wash in the Pool of Siloam" (which means Sent). So he went and washed, and came back able to see.

⁸ His neighbors and those who had seen him earlier as a beggar said, "Isn't this the one who used to sit and beg?"

⁹ Some said, "It is," but others said, "No, he just looks like him." He said, "I am."

¹⁰ So they said to him, "(So) how were your eyes opened?"

¹¹ He replied, "The man called Jesus made clay and anointed my eyes and told me, 'Go to Siloam and wash.' So I went there and washed and was able to see."

¹² And they said to him, "Where is he?" He said, "I don't know."

¹³ They brought the one who was once blind to the Pharisees.

¹⁴ Now Jesus had made clay and opened his eyes on a sabbath.

¹⁵So then the Pharisees also asked him how he was able to see. He said to them, "He put clay on my eyes, and I washed, and now I can see."

¹⁶So some of the Pharisees said, "This man is not from God, because he does not keep the sabbath." (But) others said, "How can a sinful man do such signs?" And there was a division among them.

¹⁷So they said to the blind man again, "What do you have to say about him, since he opened your eyes?" He said, "He is a prophet."

¹⁸Now the Jews did not believe that he had been blind and gained his sight until they summoned the parents of the one who had gained his sight.

¹⁹They asked them, "Is this your son, who you say was born blind? How does he now see?"

²⁰His parents answered and said, "We know that this is our son and that he was born blind.

²¹We do not know how he sees now, nor do we know who opened his eyes. Ask him, he is of age; he can speak for him self."

²²His parents said this because they were afraid of the Jews, for the Jews had already agreed that if anyone acknowledged him as the Messiah, he would be expelled from the synagogue.

²³For this reason his parents said, "He is of age; question him."

²⁴So a second time they called the man who had been blind and said to him, "Give God the praise! We know that this man is a sinner."

²⁵He replied, "If he is a sinner, I do not know. One thing I do know is that I was blind and now I see."

²⁶So they said to him, "What did he do to you? How did he open your eyes?"

²⁷He answered them, "I told you already and you did not listen. Why do you want to hear it again? Do you want to become his disciples, too?"

²⁸They ridiculed him and said, "You are that man's disciple; we are disciples of Moses!"

²⁹We know that God spoke to Moses, but we do not know where this one is from."

³⁰The man answered and said to them, "This is what is so amazing, that you do not know where he is from, yet he opened my eyes.

³¹We know that God does not listen to sinners, but if one is devout and does his will, he listens to him.

³²It is unheard of that anyone ever opened the eyes of a person born blind.

³³If this man were not from God, he would not be able to do anything."

³⁴They answered and said to him, "You were born totally in sin, and are you trying to teach us?" Then they threw him out.

³⁵When Jesus heard that they had thrown him out, he found him and said, "Do you believe in the Son of Man?"

³⁶He answered and said, "Who is he, sir, that I may believe in him?"

³⁷Jesus said to him, "You have seen him and the one speaking with you is he."

³⁸He said, "I do believe, Lord," and he worshiped him.

³⁹Then Jesus said, "I came into this world for judgment, so that those who do not see might see, and those who do see might become blind."

⁴⁰Some of the Pharisees who were with him heard this and said to him, "Surely we are not also blind, are we?"

⁴¹Jesus said to them, "If you were blind, you would have no sin; but now you are saying, 'We see,' so your sin remains.

10 "Amen, amen, I say to you, whoever does not enter a sheepfold through the gate but climbs over elsewhere is a thief and a robber.

²But whoever enters through the gate is the shepherd of the sheep.

³The gatekeeper opens it for him, and the sheep hear his voice, as he calls his own sheep by name and leads them out.

⁴When he has driven out all his own, he walks ahead of them, and the sheep follow him, because they recognize his voice.

⁵But they will not follow a stranger; they will run away from him, because they do not recognize the voice of strangers."

⁶Although Jesus used this figure of speech, they did not realize what he was trying to tell them.

⁷So Jesus said again, "Amen, amen, I say to you, I am the gate for the sheep.

⁸All who came [before me] are thieves and robbers, but the sheep did not listen to them.

⁹I am the gate. Whoever enters through me will be saved, and will come in and go out and find pasture.

¹⁰A thief comes only to steal and slaughter and destroy; I came so that they might have life and have it more abundantly.

¹¹I am the good shepherd. A good shepherd lays down his life for the sheep.

¹²A hired man, who is not a shepherd and whose sheep are not his own, sees a wolf coming and leaves the sheep and runs away, and the wolf catches and scatters them.

¹³This is because he works for pay and has no concern for the sheep.

¹⁴I am the good shepherd, and I know mine and mine know me,

¹⁵just as the Father knows me and I know the Father; and I will lay down my life for the sheep.

¹⁶I have other sheep that do not belong to this fold. These also I must lead, and they will hear my voice, and there will be one flock, one shepherd.

¹⁷This is why the Father loves me, because I lay down my life in order to take it up again.

¹⁸No one takes it from me, but I lay it down on my own. I have power to lay it down, and power to take it up again. This command I have received from my Father."

¹⁹Again there was a division among the Jews because of these words.

²⁰Many of them said, "He is possessed and out of his mind; why listen to him?"

²¹Others said, "These are not the words of one possessed; surely a demon cannot open the eyes of the blind, can he?"

²²The feast of the Dedication was then taking place in Jerusalem. It was winter.

²³And Jesus walked about in the temple area on the Portico of Solomon.

²⁴So the Jews gathered around him and said to him, "How long are you going to keep us in suspense? If you are the Messiah, tell us plainly."

²⁵Jesus answered them, "I told you and you do not believe. The works I do in my Father's name testify to me.

²⁶But you do not believe, because you are not among my sheep.

²⁷My sheep hear my voice; I know them, and they follow me.

²⁸I give them eternal life, and they shall never perish. No one can take them out of my hand.

²⁹My Father, who has given them to me, is greater than all, and no one can take them out of the Father's hand.

³⁰The Father and I are one."

³¹The Jews again picked up rocks to stone him.

³²Jesus answered them, "I have shown you many good works from my Father. For which of these are you trying to stone me?"

³³The Jews answered him, "We are not stoning you for a good work but for blasphemy. You, a man, are making yourself God."

³⁴Jesus answered them, "Is it not written in your law, 'I said, "You are gods"?"

³⁵If it calls them gods to whom the word of God came, and scripture cannot be set aside,

³⁶ can you say that the one whom the Father has consecrated and sent into the world blasphemes because I said, 'I am the Son of God'?

³⁷ If I do not perform my Father's works, do not believe me;

³⁸ but if I perform them, even if you do not believe me, believe the works, so that you may realize (and understand) that the Father is in me and I am in the Father."

³⁹ (Then) they tried again to arrest him; but he escaped from their power.

⁴⁰ He went back across the Jordan to the place where John first baptized, and there he remained.

⁴¹ Many came to him and said, "John performed no sign, but everything John said about this man was true."

⁴² And many there began to believe in him.

11 Now a man was ill, Lazarus from Bethany, the village of Mary and her sister Martha.

² Mary was the one who had anointed the Lord with perfumed oil and dried his feet with her hair; it was her brother Lazarus who was ill.

³ So the sisters sent word to him, saying, "Master, the one you love is ill."

⁴ When Jesus heard this he said, "This illness is not to end in death, but is for the glory of God, that the Son of God may be glorified through it."

⁵ Now Jesus loved Martha and her sister and Lazarus.

⁶ So when he heard that he was ill, he remained for two days in the place where he was.

⁷ Then after this he said to his disciples, "Let us go back to Judea."

⁸ The disciples said to him, "Rabbi, the Jews were just trying to stone you, and you want to go back there?"

⁹ Jesus answered, "Are there not twelve hours in a day? If one walks during the day, he does not stumble, because he sees the light of this world.

¹⁰ But if one walks at night, he stumbles, because the light is not in him."

¹¹ He said this, and then told them, "Our friend Lazarus is asleep, but I am going to awaken him."

¹² So the disciples said to him, "Master, if he is asleep, he will be saved."

¹³ But Jesus was talking about his death, while they thought that he meant ordinary sleep.

¹⁴ So then Jesus said to them clearly, "Lazarus has died.

¹⁵ And I am glad for you that I was not there, that you may believe. Let us go to him."

¹⁶ So Thomas, called Didymus, said to his fellow disciples, "Let us also go to die with him."

¹⁷ When Jesus arrived, he found that Lazarus had already been in the tomb for four days.

¹⁸ Now Bethany was near Jerusalem, only about two miles away.

¹⁹ And many of the Jews had come to Martha and Mary to comfort them about their brother.

²⁰ When Martha heard that Jesus was coming, she went to meet him; but Mary sat at home.

²¹ Martha said to Jesus, "Lord, if you had been here, my brother would not have died.

²² (But) even now I know that whatever you ask of God, God will give you."

²³ Jesus said to her, "Your brother will rise."

²⁴ Martha said to him, "I know he will rise, in the resurrection on the last day."

²⁵ Jesus told her, "I am the resurrection and the life; whoever believes in me, even if he dies, will live, ²⁶and everyone who lives and believes in me will never die. Do you believe this?"

²⁷She said to him, "Yes, Lord. I have come to believe that you are the Messiah, the Son of God, the one who is coming into the world."

²⁸When she had said this, she went and called her sister Mary secretly, saying, "The teacher is here and is asking for you."

²⁹As soon as she heard this, she rose quickly and went to him.

³⁰For Jesus had not yet come into the village, but was still where Martha had met him.

³¹So when the Jews who were with her in the house comforting her saw Mary get up quickly and go out, they followed her, presuming that she was going to the tomb to weep there.

³²When Mary came to where Jesus was and saw him, she fell at his feet and said to him, "Lord, if you had been here, my brother would not have died."

³³When Jesus saw her weeping and the Jews who had come with her weeping, he became perturbed and deeply troubled,

³⁴and said, "Where have you laid him?" They said to him, "Sir, come and see."

³⁵And Jesus wept.

³⁶So the Jews said, "See how he loved him."

³⁷But some of them said, "Could not the one who opened the eyes of the blind man have done something so that this man would not have died?"

³⁸So Jesus, perturbed again, came to the tomb. It was a cave, and a stone lay across it.

³⁹Jesus said, "Take away the stone." Martha, the dead man's sister, said to him, "Lord, by now there will be a stench; he has been dead for four days."

⁴⁰Jesus said to her, "Did I not tell you that if you believe you will see the glory of God?"

⁴¹So they took away the stone. And Jesus raised his eyes and said, "Father, I thank you for hearing me."

⁴²I know that you always hear me; but because of the crowd here I have said this, that they may believe that you sent me."

⁴³And when he had said this, he cried out in a loud voice, "Lazarus, come out!"

⁴⁴The dead man came out, tied hand and foot with burial bands, and his face was wrapped in a cloth. So Jesus said to them, "Untie him and let him go."

⁴⁵Now many of the Jews who had come to Mary and seen what he had done began to believe in him.

⁴⁶But some of them went to the Pharisees and told them what Jesus had done.

⁴⁷So the chief priests and the Pharisees convened the Sanhedrin and said, "What are we going to do? This man is performing many signs.

⁴⁸If we leave him alone, all will believe in him, and the Romans will come and take away both our land and our nation."

⁴⁹But one of them, Caiaphas, who was high priest that year, said to them, "You know nothing, ⁵⁰nor do you consider that it is better for you that one man should die instead of the people, so that the whole nation may not perish."

⁵¹He did not say this on his own, but since he was high priest for that year, he prophesied that Jesus was going to die for the nation,

⁵²and not only for the nation, but also to gather into one the dispersed children of God.

⁵³So from that day on they planned to kill him.

⁵⁴So Jesus no longer walked about in public among the Jews, but he left for the region near the desert, to a town called Ephraim, and there he remained with his disciples.

⁵⁵Now the Passover of the Jews was near, and many went up from the country to Jerusalem before Passover to purify themselves.

⁵⁶They looked for Jesus and said to one another as they were in the temple area, "What do you think? That he will not come to the feast?"

⁵⁷For the chief priests and the Pharisees had given orders that if anyone knew where he was, he should inform them, so that they might arrest him.

12 Six days before Passover Jesus came to Bethany, where Lazarus was, whom Jesus had raised from the dead.

²They gave a dinner for him there, and Martha served, while Lazarus was one of those reclining at table with him.

³Mary took a liter of costly perfumed oil made from genuine aromatic nard and anointed the feet of Jesus and dried them with her hair; the house was filled with the fragrance of the oil.

⁴Then Judas the Iscariot, one (of) his disciples, and the one who would betray him, said,

⁵"Why was this oil not sold for three hundred days' wages and given to the poor?"

⁶He said this not because he cared about the poor but because he was a thief and held the money bag and used to steal the contributions.

⁷So Jesus said, "Leave her alone. Let her keep this for the day of my burial.

⁸You always have the poor with you, but you do not always have me."

⁹(The) large crowd of the Jews found out that he was there and came, not only because of Jesus, but also to see Lazarus, whom he had raised from the dead.

¹⁰And the chief priests plotted to kill Lazarus too,

¹¹because many of the Jews were turning away and believing in Jesus because of him.

¹²On the next day, when the great crowd that had come to the feast heard that Jesus was coming to Jerusalem,

¹³they took palm branches and went out to meet him, and cried out: "Hosanna! Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord, (even) the king of Israel."

¹⁴Jesus found an ass and sat upon it, as is written:

¹⁵"Fear no more, O daughter Zion; see, your king comes, seated upon an ass's colt."

¹⁶His disciples did not understand this at first, but when Jesus had been glorified they remembered that these things were written about him and that they had done this for him.

¹⁷So the crowd that was with him when he called Lazarus from the tomb and raised him from death continued to testify.

¹⁸This was (also) why the crowd went to meet him, because they heard that he had done this sign.

¹⁹So the Pharisees said to one another, "You see that you are gaining nothing. Look, the whole world has gone after him."

²⁰Now there were some Greeks among those who had come up to worship at the feast.

²¹They came to Philip, who was from Bethsaida in Galilee, and asked him, "Sir, we would like to see Jesus."

²²Philip went and told Andrew; then Andrew and Philip went and told Jesus.

²³Jesus answered them, "The hour has come for the Son of Man to be glorified.

²⁴Amen, amen, I say to you, unless a grain of wheat falls to the ground and dies, it remains just a grain of wheat; but if it dies, it produces much fruit.

²⁵Whoever loves his life loses it, and whoever hates his life in this world will preserve it for eternal life.

²⁶Whoever serves me must follow me, and where I am, there also will my servant be. The Father will honor whoever serves me.

²⁷"I am troubled now. Yet what should I say? 'Father, save me from this hour'? But it was for this purpose that I came to this hour.

²⁸"Father, glorify your name." Then a voice came from heaven, "I have glorified it and will glorify it again."

²⁹The crowd there heard it and said it was thunder; but others said, "An angel has spoken to him."

³⁰ Jesus answered and said, "This voice did not come for my sake but for yours.

³¹ Now is the time of judgment on this world; now the ruler of this world will be driven out.

³² And when I am lifted up from the earth, I will draw everyone to myself."

³³ He said this indicating the kind of death he would die.

³⁴ So the crowd answered him, "We have heard from the law that the Messiah remains forever. Then how can you say that the Son of Man must be lifted up? Who is this Son of Man?"

³⁵ Jesus said to them, "The light will be among you only a little while. Walk while you have the light, so that darkness may not overcome you. Whoever walks in the dark does not know where he is going.

³⁶ While you have the light, believe in the light, so that you may become children of the light." After he had said this, Jesus left and hid from them.

³⁷ Although he had performed so many signs in their presence they did not believe in him,

³⁸ in order that the word which Isaiah the prophet spoke might be fulfilled: "Lord, who has believed our preaching, to whom has the might of the Lord been revealed?"

³⁹ For this reason they could not believe, because again Isaiah said:

⁴⁰ "He blinded their eyes and hardened their heart, so that they might not see with their eyes and understand with their heart and be converted, and I would heal them."

⁴¹ Isaiah said this because he saw his glory and spoke about him.

⁴² Nevertheless, many, even among the authorities, believed in him, but because of the Pharisees they did not acknowledge it openly in order not to be expelled from the synagogue.

⁴³ For they preferred human praise to the glory of God.

⁴⁴ Jesus cried out and said, "Whoever believes in me believes not only in me but also in the one who sent me, ⁴⁵and whoever sees me sees the one who sent me.

⁴⁶I came into the world as light, so that everyone who believes in me might not remain in darkness.

⁴⁷And if anyone hears my words and does not observe them, I do not condemn him, for I did not come to condemn the world but to save the world.

⁴⁸Whoever rejects me and does not accept my words has something to judge him: the word that I spoke, it will condemn him on the last day,

⁴⁹because I did not speak on my own, but the Father who sent me commanded me what to say and speak.

⁵⁰And I know that his commandment is eternal life. So what I say, I say as the Father told me."

13 Before the feast of Passover, Jesus knew that his hour had come to pass from this world to the Father. He loved his own in the world and he loved them to the end.

²The devil had already induced Judas, son of Simon the Iscariot, to hand him over. So, during supper,

³fully aware that the Father had put everything into his power and that he had come from God and was returning to God,

⁴he rose from supper and took off his outer garments. He took a towel and tied it around his waist.

⁵Then he poured water into a basin and began to wash the disciples' feet and dry them with the towel around his waist.

⁶He came to Simon Peter, who said to him, "Master, are you going to wash my feet?"

⁷Jesus answered and said to him, "What I am doing, you do not understand now, but you will understand later."

⁸Peter said to him, "You will never wash my feet." Jesus answered him, "Unless I wash you, you will have no inheritance with me."

⁹Simon Peter said to him, "Master, then not only my feet, but my hands and head as well."

¹⁰Jesus said to him, "Whoever has bathed has no need except to have his feet washed, for he is clean all over; so you are clean, but not all."

¹¹For he knew who would betray him; for this reason, he said, "Not all of you are clean."

¹²So when he had washed their feet (and) put his garments back on and reclined at table again, he said to them, "Do you realize what I have done for you?"

¹³You call me 'teacher' and 'master,' and rightly so, for indeed I am.

¹⁴If I, therefore, the master and teacher, have washed your feet, you ought to wash one another's feet.

¹⁵I have given you a model to follow, so that as I have done for you, you should also do.

¹⁶Amen, amen, I say to you, no slave is greater than his master nor any messenger greater than the one who sent him.

¹⁷If you understand this, blessed are you if you do it.

¹⁸I am not speaking of all of you. I know those whom I have chosen. But so that the scripture might be fulfilled, 'The one who ate my food has raised his heel against me.'

¹⁹From now on I am telling you before it happens, so that when it happens you may believe that I AM.

²⁰Amen, amen, I say to you, whoever receives the one I send receives me, and whoever receives me receives the one who sent me."

²¹When he had said this, Jesus was deeply troubled and testified, "Amen, amen, I say to you, one of you will betray me."

²²The disciples looked at one another, at a loss as to whom he meant.

²³One of his disciples, the one whom Jesus loved, was reclining at Jesus' side.

²⁴So Simon Peter nodded to him to find out whom he meant.

²⁵He leaned back against Jesus' chest and said to him, "Master, who is it?"

²⁶Jesus answered, "It is the one to whom I hand the morsel after I have dipped it." So he dipped the morsel and (took it and) handed it to Judas, son of Simon the Iscariot.

²⁷After he took the morsel, Satan entered him. So Jesus said to him, "What you are going to do, do quickly."

²⁸(Now) none of those reclining at table realized why he said this to him.

²⁹Some thought that since Judas kept the money bag, Jesus had told him, "Buy what we need for the feast," or to give something to the poor.

³⁰So he took the morsel and left at once. And it was night.

³¹When he had left, Jesus said, "Now is the Son of Man glorified, and God is glorified in him.

³²(If God is glorified in him,) God will also glorify him in himself, and he will glorify him at once.

³³My children, I will be with you only a little while longer. You will look for me, and as I told the Jews, 'Where I go you cannot come,' so now I say it to you.

³⁴I give you a new commandment: love one another. As I have loved you, so you also should love one another.

³⁵This is how all will know that you are my disciples, if you have love for one another."

³⁶Simon Peter said to him, "Master, where are you going?" Jesus answered (him), "Where I am going, you cannot follow me now, though you will follow later."

³⁷Peter said to him, "Master, why can't I follow you now? I will lay down my life for you."

³⁸Jesus answered, "Will you lay down your life for me? Amen, amen, I say to you, the cock will not crow before you deny me three times."

14"Do not let your hearts be troubled. You have faith in God; have faith also in me.

²In my Father's house there are many dwelling places. If there were not, would I have told you that I am going to prepare a place for you?

³And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come back again and take you to myself, so that where I am you also may be.

⁴Where (I) am going you know the way."

⁵Thomas said to him, "Master, we do not know where you are going; how can we know the way?"

⁶Jesus said to him, "I am the way and the truth and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me.

⁷If you know me, then you will also know my Father. From now on you do know him and have seen him."

⁸Philip said to him, "Master, show us the Father, and that will be enough for us."

⁹Jesus said to him, "Have I been with you for so long a time and you still do not know me, Philip? Whoever has seen me has seen the Father. How can you say, 'Show us the Father'?

¹⁰Do you not believe that I am in the Father and the Father is in me? The words that I speak to you I do not speak on my own. The Father who dwells in me is doing his works.

¹¹Believe me that I am in the Father and the Father is in me, or else, believe because of the works themselves.

¹²Amen, amen, I say to you, whoever believes in me will do the works that I do, and will do greater ones than these, because I am going to the Father.

¹³And whatever you ask in my name, I will do, so that the Father may be glorified in the Son.

¹⁴If you ask anything of me in my name, I will do it.

¹⁵"If you love me, you will keep my commandments.

¹⁶And I will ask the Father, and he will give you another Advocate to be with you always,

¹⁷the Spirit of truth, which the world cannot accept, because it neither sees nor knows it. But you know it, because it remains with you, and will be in you.

¹⁸I will not leave you orphans; I will come to you.

¹⁹In a little while the world will no longer see me, but you will see me, because I live and you will live.

²⁰On that day you will realize that I am in my Father and you are in me and I in you.

²¹Whoever has my commandments and observes them is the one who loves me. And whoever loves me will be loved by my Father, and I will love him and reveal myself to him."

²²Judas, not the Iscariot, said to him, "Master, (then) what happened that you will reveal yourself to us and not to the world?"

²³Jesus answered and said to him, "Whoever loves me will keep my word, and my Father will love him, and we will come to him and make our dwelling with him.

²⁴Whoever does not love me does not keep my words; yet the word you hear is not mine but that of the Father who sent me.

²⁵"I have told you this while I am with you.

²⁶The Advocate, the holy Spirit that the Father will send in my name--he will teach you everything and remind you of all that (I) told you.

²⁷Peace I leave with you; my peace I give to you. Not as the world gives do I give it to you. Do not let your hearts be troubled or afraid.

²⁸You heard me tell you, 'I am going away and I will come back to you.' If you loved me, you would rejoice that I am going to the Father; for the Father is greater than I.

²⁹And now I have told you this before it happens, so that when it happens you may believe.

³⁰I will no longer speak much with you, for the ruler of the world is coming. He has no power over me, ³¹but the world must know that I love the Father and that I do just as the Father has commanded me. Get up, let us go.

15 "I am the true vine, and my Father is the vine grower.

²He takes away every branch in me that does not bear fruit, and everyone that does he prunes so that it bears more fruit.

³You are already pruned because of the word that I spoke to you.

⁴Remain in me, as I remain in you. Just as a branch cannot bear fruit on its own unless it remains on the vine, so neither can you unless you remain in me.

⁵I am the vine, you are the branches. Whoever remains in me and I in him will bear much fruit, because without me you can do nothing.

⁶Anyone who does not remain in me will be thrown out like a branch and wither; people will gather them and throw them into a fire and they will be burned.

⁷If you remain in me and my words remain in you, ask for whatever you want and it will be done for you.

⁸By this is my Father glorified, that you bear much fruit and become my disciples.

⁹As the Father loves me, so I also love you. Remain in my love.

¹⁰If you keep my commandments, you will remain in my love, just as I have kept my Father's commandments and remain in his love.

¹¹"I have told you this so that my joy may be in you and your joy may be complete.

¹²This is my commandment: love one another as I love you.

¹³No one has greater love than this, to lay down one's life for one's friends.

¹⁴You are my friends if you do what I command you.

¹⁵I no longer call you slaves, because a slave does not know what his master is doing. I have called you friends, because I have told you everything I have heard from my Father.

¹⁶It was not you who chose me, but I who chose you and appointed you to go and bear fruit that will remain, so that whatever you ask the Father in my name he may give you.

¹⁷This I command you: love one another.

¹⁸"If the world hates you, realize that it hated me first.

¹⁹If you belonged to the world, the world would love its own; but because you do not belong to the world, and I have chosen you out of the world, the world hates you.

²⁰Remember the word I spoke to you, 'No slave is greater than his master.' If they persecuted me, they will also persecute you. If they kept my word, they will also keep yours.

²¹And they will do all these things to you on account of my name, because they do not know the one who sent me.

²²If I had not come and spoken to them, they would have no sin; but as it is they have no excuse for their sin.

²³Whoever hates me also hates my Father.

²⁴If I had not done works among them that no one else ever did, they would not have sin; but as it is, they have seen and hated both me and my Father.

²⁵But in order that the word written in their law might be fulfilled, 'They hated me without cause.'

²⁶"When the Advocate comes whom I will send you from the Father, the Spirit of truth that proceeds from the Father, he will testify to me.

²⁷And you also testify, because you have been with me from the beginning.

16"I have told you this so that you may not fall away.

²They will expel you from the synagogues; in fact, the hour is coming when everyone who kills you will think he is offering worship to God.

³They will do this because they have not known either the Father or me.

⁴I have told you this so that when their hour comes you may remember that I told you. "I did not tell you this from the beginning, because I was with you.

⁵But now I am going to the one who sent me, and not one of you asks me, 'Where are you going?'

⁶But because I told you this, grief has filled your hearts.

⁷But I tell you the truth, it is better for you that I go. For if I do not go, the Advocate will not come to you. But if I go, I will send him to you.

⁸And when he comes he will convict the world in regard to sin and righteousness and condemnation:

⁹sin, because they do not believe in me;

¹⁰righteousness, because I am going to the Father and you will no longer see me;

¹¹condemnation, because the ruler of this world has been condemned. Coming of the Advocate

¹²"I have much more to tell you, but you cannot bear it now.

¹³But when he comes, the Spirit of truth, he will guide you to all truth. He will not speak on his own, but he will speak what he hears, and will declare to you the things that are coming.

¹⁴He will glorify me, because he will take from what is mine and declare it to you.

¹⁵Everything that the Father has is mine; for this reason I told you that he will take from what is mine and declare it to you.

¹⁶"A little while and you will no longer see me, and again a little while later and you will see me."

¹⁷So some of his disciples said to one another, "What does this mean that he is saying to us, 'A little while and you will not see me, and again a little while and you will see me,' and 'Because I am going to the Father'?"

¹⁸So they said, "What is this 'little while' (of which he speaks)? We do not know what he means."

¹⁹ Jesus knew that they wanted to ask him, so he said to them, "Are you discussing with one another what I said, 'A little while and you will not see me, and again a little while and you will see me'?"

²⁰ Amen, amen, I say to you, you will weep and mourn, while the world rejoices; you will grieve, but your grief will become joy.

²¹ When a woman is in labor, she is in anguish because her hour has arrived; but when she has given birth to a child, she no longer remembers the pain because of her joy that a child has been born into the world.

²² So you also are now in anguish. But I will see you again, and your hearts will rejoice, and no one will take your joy away from you.

²³ On that day you will not question me about anything. Amen, amen, I say to you, whatever you ask the Father in my name he will give you.

²⁴ Until now you have not asked anything in my name; ask and you will receive, so that your joy may be complete.

²⁵ "I have told you this in figures of speech. The hour is coming when I will no longer speak to you in figures but I will tell you clearly about the Father.

²⁶ On that day you will ask in my name, and I do not tell you that I will ask the Father for you.

²⁷ For the Father himself loves you, because you have loved me and have come to believe that I came from God.

²⁸ I came from the Father and have come into the world. Now I am leaving the world and going back to the Father."

²⁹ His disciples said, "Now you are talking plainly, and not in any figure of speech.

³⁰ Now we realize that you know everything and that you do not need to have anyone question you. Because of this we believe that you came from God."

³¹ Jesus answered them, "Do you believe now?"

³² Behold, the hour is coming and has arrived when each of you will be scattered to his own home and you will leave me alone. But I am not alone, because the Father is with me.

³³I have told you this so that you might have peace in me. In the world you will have trouble, but take courage, I have conquered the world."

17 When Jesus had said this, he raised his eyes to heaven and said, "Father, the hour has come. Give glory to your son, so that your son may glorify you, ²just as you gave him authority over all people, so that he may give eternal life to all you gave him.

³Now this is eternal life, that they should know you, the only true God, and the one whom you sent, Jesus Christ.

⁴I glorified you on earth by accomplishing the work that you gave me to do.

⁵Now glorify me, Father, with you, with the glory that I had with you before the world began.

⁶"I revealed your name to those whom you gave me out of the world. They belonged to you, and you gave them to me, and they have kept your word.

⁷Now they know that everything you gave me is from you,

⁸because the words you gave to me I have given to them, and they accepted them and truly understood that I came from you, and they have believed that you sent me.

⁹I pray for them. I do not pray for the world but for the ones you have given me, because they are yours,

¹⁰and everything of mine is yours and everything of yours is mine, and I have been glorified in them.

¹¹And now I will no longer be in the world, but they are in the world, while I am coming to you. Holy Father, keep them in your name that you have given me, so that they may be one just as we are.

¹²When I was with them I protected them in your name that you gave me, and I guarded them, and none of them was lost except the son of destruction, in order that the scripture might be fulfilled.

¹³But now I am coming to you. I speak this in the world so that they may share my joy completely.

¹⁴I gave them your word, and the world hated them, because they do not belong to the world any more than I belong to the world.

¹⁵I do not ask that you take them out of the world but that you keep them from the evil one.

¹⁶They do not belong to the world any more than I belong to the world.

¹⁷Consecrate them in the truth. Your word is truth.

¹⁸As you sent me into the world, so I sent them into the world.

¹⁹And I consecrate myself for them, so that they also may be consecrated in truth.

²⁰"I pray not only for them, but also for those who will believe in me through their word,

²¹so that they may all be one, as you, Father, are in me and I in you, that they also may be in us, that the world may believe that you sent me.

²²And I have given them the glory you gave me, so that they may be one, as we are one,

²³I in them and you in me, that they may be brought to perfection as one, that the world may know that you sent me, and that you loved them even as you loved me.

²⁴Father, they are your gift to me. I wish that where I am they also may be with me, that they may see my glory that you gave me, because you loved me before the foundation of the world.

²⁵Righteous Father, the world also does not know you, but I know you, and they know that you sent me.

²⁶I made known to them your name and I will make it known, that the love with which you loved me may be in them and I in them."

18When he had said this, Jesus went out with his disciples across the Kidron valley to where there was a garden, into which he and his disciples entered.

²Judas his betrayer also knew the place, because Jesus had often met there with his disciples.

³So Judas got a band of soldiers and guards from the chief priests and the Pharisees and went there with lanterns, torches, and weapons.

⁴Jesus, knowing everything that was going to happen to him, went out and said to them, "Whom are you looking for?"

⁵They answered him, "Jesus the Nazorean." He said to them, "I AM." Judas his betrayer was also with them.

⁶When he said to them, "I AM," they turned away and fell to the ground.

⁷So he again asked them, "Whom are you looking for?" They said, "Jesus the Nazorean."

⁸Jesus answered, "I told you that I AM. So if you are looking for me, let these men go."

⁹This was to fulfill what he had said, "I have not lost any of those you gave me."

¹⁰Then Simon Peter, who had a sword, drew it, struck the high priest's slave, and cut off his right ear. The slave's name was Malchus.

¹¹Jesus said to Peter, "Put your sword into its scabbard. Shall I not drink the cup that the Father gave me?"

¹²So the band of soldiers, the tribune, and the Jewish guards seized Jesus, bound him,

¹³and brought him to Annas first. He was the father-in-law of Caiaphas, who was high priest that year.

¹⁴It was Caiaphas who had counseled the Jews that it was better that one man should die rather than the people.

¹⁵Simon Peter and another disciple followed Jesus. Now the other disciple was known to the high priest, and he entered the courtyard of the high priest with Jesus.

¹⁶But Peter stood at the gate outside. So the other disciple, the acquaintance of the high priest, went out and spoke to the gatekeeper and brought Peter in.

¹⁷Then the maid who was the gatekeeper said to Peter, "You are not one of this man's disciples, are you?" He said, "I am not."

¹⁸Now the slaves and the guards were standing around a charcoal fire that they had made, because it was cold, and were warming themselves. Peter was also standing there keeping warm.

¹⁹The high priest questioned Jesus about his disciples and about his doctrine.

²⁰Jesus answered him, "I have spoken publicly to the world. I have always taught in a synagogue or in the temple area where all the Jews gather, and in secret I have said nothing.

²¹Why ask me? Ask those who heard me what I said to them. They know what I said."

²²When he had said this, one of the temple guards standing there struck Jesus and said, "Is this the way you answer the high priest?"

²³Jesus answered him, "If I have spoken wrongly, testify to the wrong; but if I have spoken rightly, why do you strike me?"

²⁴Then Annas sent him bound to Caiaphas the high priest.

²⁵Now Simon Peter was standing there keeping warm. And they said to him, "You are not one of his disciples, are you?" He denied it and said, "I am not."

²⁶One of the slaves of the high priest, a relative of the one whose ear Peter had cut off, said, "Didn't I see you in the garden with him?"

²⁷Again Peter denied it. And immediately the cock crowed.

²⁸Then they brought Jesus from Caiaphas to the praetorium. It was morning. And they themselves did not enter the praetorium, in order not to be defiled so that they could eat the Passover.

²⁹So Pilate came out to them and said, "What charge do you bring (against) this man?"

³⁰They answered and said to him, "If he were not a criminal, we would not have handed him over to you."

³¹At this, Pilate said to them, "Take him yourselves, and judge him according to your law." The Jews answered him, "We do not have the right to execute anyone,"

³²in order that the word of Jesus might be fulfilled that he said indicating the kind of death he would die.

³³So Pilate went back into the praetorium and summoned Jesus and said to him, "Are you the King of the Jews?"

³⁴Jesus answered, "Do you say this on your own or have others told you about me?"

³⁵Pilate answered, "I am not a Jew, am I? Your own nation and the chief priests handed you over to me. What have you done?"

³⁶Jesus answered, "My kingdom does not belong to this world. If my kingdom did belong to this world, my attendants (would) be fighting to keep me from being handed over to the Jews. But as it is, my kingdom is not here."

³⁷So Pilate said to him, "Then you are a king?" Jesus answered, "You say I am a king. For this I was born and for this I came into the world, to testify to the truth. Everyone who belongs to the truth listens to my voice."

³⁸Pilate said to him, "What is truth?" When he had said this, he again went out to the Jews and said to them, "I find no guilt in him."

³⁹But you have a custom that I release one prisoner to you at Passover. Do you want me to release to you the King of the Jews?"

⁴⁰They cried out again, "Not this one but Barabbas!" Now Barabbas was a revolutionary.

19

Then Pilate took Jesus and had him scourged.

²And the soldiers wove a crown out of thorns and placed it on his head, and clothed him in a purple cloak,

³and they came to him and said, "Hail, King of the Jews!" And they struck him repeatedly.

⁴Once more Pilate went out and said to them, "Look, I am bringing him out to you, so that you may know that I find no guilt in him."

⁵So Jesus came out, wearing the crown of thorns and the purple cloak. And he said to them, "Behold, the man!"

⁶When the chief priests and the guards saw him they cried out, "Crucify him, crucify him!" Pilate said to them, "Take him yourselves and crucify him. I find no guilt in him."

⁷The Jews answered, "We have a law, and according to that law he ought to die, because he made himself the Son of God."

⁸Now when Pilate heard this statement, he became even more afraid,

⁹and went back into the praetorium and said to Jesus, "Where are you from?" Jesus did not answer him.

¹⁰So Pilate said to him, "Do you not speak to me? Do you not know that I have power to release you and I have power to crucify you?"

¹¹Jesus answered (him), "You would have no power over me if it had not been given to you from above. For this reason the one who handed me over to you has the greater sin."

¹²Consequently, Pilate tried to release him; but the Jews cried out, "If you release him, you are not a Friend of Caesar. Everyone who makes himself a king opposes Caesar."

¹³When Pilate heard these words he brought Jesus out and seated him on the judge's bench in the place called Stone Pavement, in Hebrew, Gabbatha.

¹⁴It was preparation day for Passover, and it was about noon. And he said to the Jews, "Behold, your king!"

¹⁵They cried out, "Take him away, take him away! Crucify him!" Pilate said to them, "Shall I crucify your king?" The chief priests answered, "We have no king but Caesar."

¹⁶Then he handed him over to them to be crucified. So they took Jesus, ¹⁷and carrying the cross himself he went out to what is called the Place of the Skull, in Hebrew, Golgotha.

¹⁸There they crucified him, and with him two others, one on either side, with Jesus in the middle.

¹⁹Pilate also had an inscription written and put on the cross. It read, "Jesus the Nazorean, the King of the Jews."

²⁰Now many of the Jews read this inscription, because the place where Jesus was crucified was near the city; and it was written in Hebrew, Latin, and Greek.

²¹So the chief priests of the Jews said to Pilate, "Do not write 'The King of the Jews,' but that he said, 'I am the King of the Jews.'"

²²Pilate answered, "What I have written, I have written."

²³When the soldiers had crucified Jesus, they took his clothes and divided them into four shares, a share for each soldier. They also took his tunic, but the tunic was seamless, woven in one piece from the top down.

²⁴So they said to one another, "Let's not tear it, but cast lots for it to see whose it will be," in order that the passage of scripture might be fulfilled (that says): "They divided my garments among them, and for my vesture they cast lots." This is what the soldiers did.

²⁵Standing by the cross of Jesus were his mother and his mother's sister, Mary the wife of Clopas, and Mary of Magdala.

²⁶When Jesus saw his mother and the disciple there whom he loved, he said to his mother, "Woman, behold, your son."

²⁷Then he said to the disciple, "Behold, your mother." And from that hour the disciple took her into his home.

²⁸After this, aware that everything was now finished, in order that the scripture might be fulfilled, Jesus said, "I thirst."

²⁹There was a vessel filled with common wine. So they put a sponge soaked in wine on a sprig of hyssop and put it up to his mouth.

³⁰When Jesus had taken the wine, he said, "It is finished." And bowing his head, he handed over the spirit.

³¹Now since it was preparation day, in order that the bodies might not remain on the cross on the sabbath, for the sabbath day of that week was a solemn one, the Jews asked Pilate that their legs be broken and they be taken down.

³²So the soldiers came and broke the legs of the first and then of the other one who was crucified with Jesus.

³³But when they came to Jesus and saw that he was already dead, they did not break his legs, ³⁴but one soldier thrust his lance into his side, and immediately blood and water flowed out.

³⁵An eyewitness has testified, and his testimony is true; he knows that he is speaking the truth, so that you also may (come to) believe.

³⁶For this happened so that the scripture passage might be fulfilled: "Not a bone of it will be broken."

³⁷And again another passage says: "They will look upon him whom they have pierced."

³⁸After this, Joseph of Arimathea, secretly a disciple of Jesus for fear of the Jews, asked Pilate if he could remove the body of Jesus. And Pilate permitted it. So he came and took his body.

³⁹Nicodemus, the one who had first come to him at night, also came bringing a mixture of myrrh and aloes weighing about one hundred pounds.

⁴⁰They took the body of Jesus and bound it with burial cloths along with the spices, according to the Jewish burial custom.

⁴¹Now in the place where he had been crucified there was a garden, and in the garden a new tomb, in which no one had yet been buried.

⁴²So they laid Jesus there because of the Jewish preparation day; for the tomb was close by.

20 On the first day of the week, Mary of Magdala came to the tomb early in the morning, while it was still dark, and saw the stone removed from the tomb.

²So she ran and went to Simon Peter and to the other disciple whom Jesus loved, and told them, "They have taken the Lord from the tomb, and we don't know where they put him."

³So Peter and the other disciple went out and came to the tomb.

⁴They both ran, but the other disciple ran faster than Peter and arrived at the tomb first;

⁵he bent down and saw the burial cloths there, but did not go in.

⁶When Simon Peter arrived after him, he went into the tomb and saw the burial cloths there, ⁷and the cloth that had covered his head, not with the burial cloths but rolled up in a separate place.

⁸Then the other disciple also went in, the one who had arrived at the tomb first, and he saw and believed.

⁹For they did not yet understand the scripture that he had to rise from the dead.

¹⁰Then the disciples returned home.

¹¹But Mary stayed outside the tomb weeping. And as she wept, she bent over into the tomb

¹²and saw two angels in white sitting there, one at the head and one at the feet where the body of Jesus had been.

¹³And they said to her, "Woman, why are you weeping?" She said to them, "They have taken my Lord, and I don't know where they laid him."

¹⁴When she had said this, she turned around and saw Jesus there, but did not know it was Jesus.

¹⁵Jesus said to her, "Woman, why are you weeping? Whom are you looking for?" She thought it was the gardener and said to him, "Sir, if you carried him away, tell me where you laid him, and I will take him."

¹⁶Jesus said to her, "Mary!" She turned and said to him in Hebrew, "Rabbouni," which means Teacher.

¹⁷Jesus said to her, "Stop holding on to me, for I have not yet ascended to the Father. But go to my brothers and tell them, 'I am going to my Father and your Father, to my God and your God.'"

¹⁸ Mary of Magdala went and announced to the disciples, "I have seen the Lord," and what he told her.

¹⁹ On the evening of that first day of the week, when the doors were locked, where the disciples were, for fear of the Jews, Jesus came and stood in their midst and said to them, "Peace be with you."

²⁰ When he had said this, he showed them his hands and his side. The disciples rejoiced when they saw the Lord.

²¹ (Jesus) said to them again, "Peace be with you. As the Father has sent me, so I send you."

²² And when he had said this, he breathed on them and said to them, "Receive the holy Spirit.

²³ Whose sins you forgive are forgiven them, and whose sins you retain are retained."

²⁴ Thomas, called Didymus, one of the Twelve, was not with them when Jesus came.

²⁵ So the other disciples said to him, "We have seen the Lord." But he said to them, "Unless I see the mark of the nails in his hands and put my finger into the nailmarks and put my hand into his side, I will not believe."

²⁶ Now a week later his disciples were again inside and Thomas was with them. Jesus came, although the doors were locked, and stood in their midst and said, "Peace be with you."

²⁷ Then he said to Thomas, "Put your finger here and see my hands, and bring your hand and put it into my side, and do not be unbelieving, but believe."

²⁸ Thomas answered and said to him, "My Lord and my God!"

²⁹ Jesus said to him, "Have you come to believe because you have seen me? Blessed are those who have not seen and have believed."

³⁰ Now Jesus did many other signs in the presence of (his) disciples that are not written in this book.

³¹ But these are written that you may (come to) believe that Jesus is the Messiah, the Son of God, and that through this belief you may have life in his name.

21 After this, Jesus revealed himself again to his disciples at the Sea of Tiberias. He revealed himself in this way.

²Together were Simon Peter, Thomas called Didymus, Nathanael from Cana in Galilee, Zebedee's sons, and two others of his disciples.

³Simon Peter said to them, "I am going fishing." They said to him, "We also will come with you." So they went out and got into the boat, but that night they caught nothing.

⁴When it was already dawn, Jesus was standing on the shore; but the disciples did not realize that it was Jesus.

⁵Jesus said to them, "Children, have you caught anything to eat?" They answered him, "No."

⁶So he said to them, "Cast the net over the right side of the boat and you will find something." So they cast it, and were not able to pull it in because of the number of fish.

⁷So the disciple whom Jesus loved said to Peter, "It is the Lord." When Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he tucked in his garment, for he was lightly clad, and jumped into the sea.

⁸The other disciples came in the boat, for they were not far from shore, only about a hundred yards, dragging the net with the fish.

⁹When they climbed out on shore, they saw a charcoal fire with fish on it and bread.

¹⁰Jesus said to them, "Bring some of the fish you just caught."

¹¹So Simon Peter went over and dragged the net ashore full of one hundred fifty-three large fish. Even though there were so many, the net was not torn.

¹²Jesus said to them, "Come, have breakfast." And none of the disciples dared to ask him, "Who are you?" because they realized it was the Lord.

¹³Jesus came over and took the bread and gave it to them, and in like manner the fish.

¹⁴This was now the third time Jesus was revealed to his disciples after being raised from the dead.

¹⁵When they had finished breakfast, Jesus said to Simon Peter, "Simon, son of John, do you love me more than these?" He said to him, "Yes, Lord, you know that I love you." He said to him, "Feed my lambs."

¹⁶He then said to him a second time, "Simon, son of John, do you love me?" He said to him, "Yes, Lord, you know that I love you." He said to him, "Tend my sheep."

¹⁷He said to him the third time, "Simon, son of John, do you love me?" Peter was distressed that he had said to him a third time, "Do you love me?" and he said to him, "Lord, you know everything; you know that I love you." (Jesus) said to him, "Feed my sheep."

¹⁸Amen, amen, I say to you, when you were younger, you used to dress yourself and go where you wanted; but when you grow old, you will stretch out your hands, and someone else will dress you and lead you where you do not want to go."

¹⁹He said this signifying by what kind of death he would glorify God. And when he had said this, he said to him, "Follow me."

²⁰Peter turned and saw the disciple following whom Jesus loved, the one who had also reclined upon his chest during the supper and had said, "Master, who is the one who will betray you?"

²¹When Peter saw him, he said to Jesus, "Lord, what about him?"

²²Jesus said to him, "What if I want him to remain until I come? What concern is it of yours? You follow me."

²³So the word spread among the brothers that that disciple would not die. But Jesus had not told him that he would not die, just "What if I want him to remain until I come? (What concern is it of yours?)"

²⁴It is this disciple who testifies to these things and has written them, and we know that his testimony is true.

²⁵There are also many other things that Jesus did, but if these were to be described individually, I do not think the whole world would contain the books that would be written.

Acts

- 1 In the first book, Theophilus, I dealt with all that Jesus did and taught
- ²until the day he was taken up, after giving instructions through the holy Spirit to the apostles whom he had chosen.
- ³He presented himself alive to them by many proofs after he had suffered, appearing to them during forty days and speaking about the kingdom of God.
- ⁴While meeting with them, he enjoined them not to depart from Jerusalem, but to wait for "the promise of the Father about which you have heard me speak;
- ⁵for John baptized with water, but in a few days you will be baptized with the holy Spirit."
- ⁶When they had gathered together they asked him, "Lord, are you at this time going to restore the kingdom to Israel?"
- ⁷He answered them, "It is not for you to know the times or seasons that the Father has established by his own authority.
- ⁸But you will receive power when the holy Spirit comes upon you, and you will be my witnesses in Jerusalem, throughout Judea and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth."
- ⁹When he had said this, as they were looking on, he was lifted up, and a cloud took him from their sight.
- ¹⁰While they were looking intently at the sky as he was going, suddenly two men dressed in white garments stood beside them.
- ¹¹They said, "Men of Galilee, why are you standing there looking at the sky? This Jesus who has been taken up from you into heaven will return in the same way as you have seen him going into heaven."
- ¹²Then they returned to Jerusalem from the mount called Olivet, which is near Jerusalem, a sabbath day's journey away.

¹³When they entered the city they went to the upper room where they were staying, Peter and John and James and Andrew, Philip and Thomas, Bartholomew and Matthew, James son of Alphaeus, Simon the Zealot, and Judas son of James.

¹⁴All these devoted themselves with one accord to prayer, together with some women, and Mary the mother of Jesus, and his brothers.

¹⁵During those days Peter stood up in the midst of the brothers (there was a group of about one hundred and twenty persons in the one place). He said, ¹⁶"My brothers, the scripture had to be fulfilled which the holy Spirit spoke beforehand through the mouth of David, concerning Judas, who was the guide for those who arrested Jesus.

¹⁷He was numbered among us and was allotted a share in this ministry.

¹⁸He bought a parcel of land with the wages of his iniquity, and falling headlong, he burst open in the middle, and all his insides spilled out.

¹⁹This became known to everyone who lived in Jerusalem, so that the parcel of land was called in their language 'Akeldama,' that is, Field of Blood.

²⁰For it is written in the Book of Psalms: 'Let his encampment become desolate, and may no one dwell in it.' And: 'May another take his office.'

²¹Therefore, it is necessary that one of the men who accompanied us the whole time the Lord Jesus came and went among us,

²²beginning from the baptism of John until the day on which he was taken up from us, become with us a witness to his resurrection."

²³So they proposed two, Joseph called Barsabbas, who was also known as Justus, and Matthias.

²⁴Then they prayed, "You, Lord, who know the hearts of all, show which one of these two you have chosen ²⁵to take the place in this apostolic ministry from which Judas turned away to go to his own place."

²⁶Then they gave lots to them, and the lot fell upon Matthias, and he was counted with the eleven apostles.

2 When the time for Pentecost was fulfilled, they were all in one place together.

2 And suddenly there came from the sky a noise like a strong driving wind, and it filled the entire house in which they were.

3 Then there appeared to them tongues as of fire, which parted and came to rest on each one of them.

4 And they were all filled with the holy Spirit and began to speak in different tongues, as the Spirit enabled them to proclaim.

5 Now there were devout Jews from every nation under heaven staying in Jerusalem.

6 At this sound, they gathered in a large crowd, but they were confused because each one heard them speaking in his own language.

7 They were astounded, and in amazement they asked, "Are not all these people who are speaking Galileans?"

8 Then how does each of us hear them in his own native language?"

9 We are Parthians, Medes, and Elamites, inhabitants of Mesopotamia, Judea and Cappadocia, Pontus and Asia,

10 Phrygia and Pamphylia, Egypt and the districts of Libya near Cyrene, as well as travelers from Rome,

11 both Jews and converts to Judaism, Cretans and Arabs, yet we hear them speaking in our own tongues of the mighty acts of God."

12 They were all astounded and bewildered, and said to one another, "What does this mean?"

13 But others said, scoffing, "They have had too much new wine."

14 Then Peter stood up with the Eleven, raised his voice, and proclaimed to them, "You who are Jews, indeed all of you staying in Jerusalem. Let this be known to you, and listen to my words.

¹⁵These people are not drunk, as you suppose, for it is only nine o'clock in the morning.

¹⁶No, this is what was spoken through the prophet Joel:

¹⁷'It will come to pass in the last days,' God says, 'that I will pour out a portion of my spirit upon all flesh. Your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, your young men shall see visions, your old men shall dream dreams.

¹⁸Indeed, upon my servants and my handmaids I will pour out a portion of my spirit in those days, and they shall prophesy.

¹⁹And I will work wonders in the heavens above and signs on the earth below: blood, fire, and a cloud of smoke.

²⁰The sun shall be turned to darkness, and the moon to blood, before the coming of the great and splendid day of the Lord,

²¹and it shall be that everyone shall be saved who calls on the name of the Lord.'

²²You who are Israelites, hear these words. Jesus the Nazorean was a man commended to you by God with mighty deeds, wonders, and signs, which God worked through him in your midst, as you yourselves know.

²³This man, delivered up by the set plan and foreknowledge of God, you killed, using lawless men to crucify him.

²⁴But God raised him up, releasing him from the throes of death, because it was impossible for him to be held by it.

²⁵For David says of him: 'I saw the Lord ever before me, with him at my right hand I shall not be disturbed.

²⁶Therefore my heart has been glad and my tongue has exulted; my flesh, too, will dwell in hope,

²⁷because you will not abandon my soul to the netherworld, nor will you suffer your holy one to see corruption.

²⁸You have made known to me the paths of life; you will fill me with joy in your presence.'

²⁹My brothers, one can confidently say to you about the patriarch David that he died and was buried, and his tomb is in our midst to this day.

³⁰But since he was a prophet and knew that God had sworn an oath to him that he would set one of his descendants upon his throne,

³¹he foresaw and spoke of the resurrection of the Messiah, that neither was he abandoned to the netherworld nor did his flesh see corruption.

³²God raised this Jesus; of this we are all witnesses.

³³Exalted at the right hand of God, he received the promise of the holy Spirit from the Father and poured it forth, as you (both) see and hear.

³⁴For David did not go up into heaven, but he himself said: 'The Lord said to my Lord, "Sit at my right hand

³⁵until I make your enemies your footstool."

³⁶Therefore let the whole house of Israel know for certain that God has made him both Lord and Messiah, this Jesus whom you crucified."

³⁷Now when they heard this, they were cut to the heart, and they asked Peter and the other apostles, "What are we to do, my brothers?"

³⁸Peter (said) to them, "Repent and be baptized, every one of you, in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of your sins; and you will receive the gift of the holy Spirit.

³⁹For the promise is made to you and to your children and to all those far off, whomever the Lord our God will call."

⁴⁰He testified with many other arguments, and was exhorting them, "Save yourselves from this corrupt generation."

⁴¹Those who accepted his message were baptized, and about three thousand persons were added that day.

⁴²They devoted themselves to the teaching of the apostles and to the communal life, to the breaking of the bread and to the prayers.

⁴³Awe came upon everyone, and many wonders and signs were done through the apostles.

⁴⁴All who believed were together and had all things in common;

⁴⁵they would sell their property and possessions and divide them among all according to each one's need.

⁴⁶Every day they devoted themselves to meeting together in the temple area and to breaking bread in their homes. They ate their meals with exultation and sincerity of heart, ⁴⁷praising God and enjoying favor with all the people. And every day the Lord added to their number those who were being saved.

3 Now Peter and John were going up to the temple area for the three o'clock hour of prayer.

² And a man crippled from birth was carried and placed at the gate of the temple called "the Beautiful Gate" every day to beg for alms from the people who entered the temple.

³ When he saw Peter and John about to go into the temple, he asked for alms.

⁴ But Peter looked intently at him, as did John, and said, "Look at us."

⁵ He paid attention to them, expecting to receive something from them.

⁶ Peter said, "I have neither silver nor gold, but what I do have I give you: in the name of Jesus Christ the Nazorean, (rise and) walk."

⁷ Then Peter took him by the right hand and raised him up, and immediately his feet and ankles grew strong.

⁸ He leaped up, stood, and walked around, and went into the temple with them, walking and jumping and praising God.

⁹ When all the people saw him walking and praising God,

¹⁰they recognized him as the one who used to sit begging at the Beautiful Gate of the temple, and they were filled with amazement and astonishment at what had happened to him.

¹¹As he clung to Peter and John, all the people hurried in amazement toward them in the portico called "Solomon's Portico."

¹²When Peter saw this, he addressed the people, "You Israelites, why are you amazed at this, and why do you look so intently at us as if we had made him walk by our own power or piety?"

¹³The God of Abraham, (the God) of Isaac, and (the God) of Jacob, the God of our ancestors, has glorified his servant Jesus whom you handed over and denied in Pilate's presence, when he had decided to release him.

¹⁴You denied the Holy and Righteous One and asked that a murderer be released to you.

¹⁵The author of life you put to death, but God raised him from the dead; of this we are witnesses.

¹⁶And by faith in his name, this man, whom you see and know, his name has made strong, and the faith that comes through it has given him this perfect health, in the presence of all of you.

¹⁷Now I know, brothers, that you acted out of ignorance, just as your leaders did;

¹⁸but God has thus brought to fulfillment what he had announced beforehand through the mouth of all the prophets, that his Messiah would suffer.

¹⁹Repent, therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be wiped away,

²⁰and that the Lord may grant you times of refreshment and send you the Messiah already appointed for you, Jesus,

²¹whom heaven must receive until the times of universal restoration of which God spoke through the mouth of his holy prophets from of old.

²²For Moses said: 'A prophet like me will the Lord, your God, raise up for you from among your own kinsmen; to him you shall listen in all that he may say to you.

²³Everyone who does not listen to that prophet will be cut off from the people.'

²⁴Moreover, all the prophets who spoke, from Samuel and those afterwards, also announced these days.

²⁵You are the children of the prophets and of the covenant that God made with your ancestors when he said to Abraham, 'In your offspring all the families of the earth shall be blessed.'

²⁶For you first, God raised up his servant and sent him to bless you by turning each of you from your evil ways."

4 While they were still speaking to the people, the priests, the captain of the temple guard, and the Sadducees confronted them,

²disturbed that they were teaching the people and proclaiming in Jesus the resurrection of the dead.

³They laid hands on them and put them in custody until the next day, since it was already evening.

⁴But many of those who heard the word came to believe and (the) number of men grew to (about) five thousand.

⁵On the next day, their leaders, elders, and scribes were assembled in Jerusalem,

⁶with Annas the high priest, Caiaphas, John, Alexander, and all who were of the high-priestly class.

⁷They brought them into their presence and questioned them, "By what power or by what name have you done this?"

⁸Then Peter, filled with the holy Spirit, answered them, "Leaders of the people and elders:

⁹If we are being examined today about a good deed done to a cripple, namely, by what means he was saved,

¹⁰then all of you and all the people of Israel should know that it was in the name of Jesus Christ the Nazarean whom you crucified, whom God raised from the dead; in his name this man stands before you healed.

¹¹He is 'the stone rejected by you, the builders, which has become the cornerstone.'

¹²There is no salvation through anyone else, nor is there any other name under heaven given to the human race by which we are to be saved."

¹³Observing the boldness of Peter and John and perceiving them to be uneducated, ordinary men, they were amazed, and they recognized them as the companions of Jesus.

¹⁴Then when they saw the man who had been cured standing there with them, they could say nothing in reply.

¹⁵So they ordered them to leave the Sanhedrin, and conferred with one another, saying,

¹⁶"What are we to do with these men? Everyone living in Jerusalem knows that a remarkable sign was done through them, and we cannot deny it.

¹⁷But so that it may not be spread any further among the people, let us give them a stern warning never again to speak to anyone in this name."

¹⁸So they called them back and ordered them not to speak or teach at all in the name of Jesus.

¹⁹Peter and John, however, said to them in reply, "Whether it is right in the sight of God for us to obey you rather than God, you be the judges.

²⁰It is impossible for us not to speak about what we have seen and heard."

²¹After threatening them further, they released them, finding no way to punish them, on account of the people who were all praising God for what had happened.

²²For the man on whom this sign of healing had been done was over forty years old.

²³After their release they went back to their own people and reported what the chief priests and elders had told them.

²⁴And when they heard it, they raised their voices to God with one accord and said, "Sovereign Lord, maker of heaven and earth and the sea and all that is in them,

²⁵you said by the holy Spirit through the mouth of our father David, your servant: "Why did the Gentiles rage and the peoples entertain folly?"

²⁶The kings of the earth took their stand and the princes gathered together against the Lord and against his anointed.'

²⁷Indeed they gathered in this city against your holy servant Jesus whom you anointed, Herod and Pontius Pilate, together with the Gentiles and the peoples of Israel, ²⁸to do what your hand and (your) will had long ago planned to take place.

²⁹And now, Lord, take note of their threats, and enable your servants to speak your word with all boldness,

³⁰as you stretch forth (your) hand to heal, and signs and wonders are done through the name of your holy servant Jesus."

³¹As they prayed, the place where they were gathered shook, and they were all filled with the holy Spirit and continued to speak the word of God with boldness.

³²The community of believers was of one heart and mind, and no one claimed that any of his possessions was his own, but they had everything in common.

³³With great power the apostles bore witness to the resurrection of the Lord Jesus, and great favor was accorded them all.

³⁴There was no needy person among them, for those who owned property or houses would sell them, bring the proceeds of the sale,

³⁵and put them at the feet of the apostles, and they were distributed to each according to need.

³⁶Thus Joseph, also named by the apostles Barnabas (which is translated "son of encouragement"), a Levite, a Cypriot by birth, ³⁷sold a piece of property that he owned, then brought the money and put it at the feet of the apostles.

5 A man named Ananias, however, with his wife Sapphira, sold a piece of property.

²He retained for himself, with his wife's knowledge, some of the purchase price, took the remainder, and put it at the feet of the apostles.

³But Peter said, "Ananias, why has Satan filled your heart so that you lied to the holy Spirit and retained part of the price of the land?"

⁴While it remained unsold, did it not remain yours? And when it was sold, was it not still under your control? Why did you contrive this deed? You have lied not to human beings, but to God."

⁵When Ananias heard these words, he fell down and breathed his last, and great fear came upon all who heard of it.

⁶The young men came and wrapped him up, then carried him out and buried him.

⁷After an interval of about three hours, his wife came in, unaware of what had happened.

⁸Peter said to her, "Tell me, did you sell the land for this amount?" She answered, "Yes, for that amount."

⁹Then Peter said to her, "Why did you agree to test the Spirit of the Lord? Listen, the footsteps of those who have buried your husband are at the door, and they will carry you out."

¹⁰At once, she fell down at his feet and breathed her last. When the young men entered they found her dead, so they carried her out and buried her beside her husband.

¹¹And great fear came upon the whole church and upon all who heard of these things.

¹²Many signs and wonders were done among the people at the hands of the apostles. They were all together in Solomon's portico.

¹³None of the others dared to join them, but the people esteemed them.

¹⁴Yet more than ever, believers in the Lord, great numbers of men and women, were added to them.

¹⁵Thus they even carried the sick out into the streets and laid them on cots and mats so that when Peter came by, at least his shadow might fall on one or another of them.

¹⁶A large number of people from the towns in the vicinity of Jerusalem also gathered, bringing the sick and those disturbed by unclean spirits, and they were all cured.

¹⁷Then the high priest rose up and all his companions, that is, the party of the Sadducees, and, filled with jealousy, ¹⁸laid hands upon the apostles and put them in the public jail.

¹⁹But during the night, the angel of the Lord opened the doors of the prison, led them out, and said,

²⁰"Go and take your place in the temple area, and tell the people everything about this life."

²¹When they heard this, they went to the temple early in the morning and taught. When the high priest and his companions arrived, they convened the Sanhedrin, the full senate of the Israelites, and sent to the jail to have them brought in.

²²But the court officers who went did not find them in the prison, so they came back and reported,

²³"We found the jail securely locked and the guards stationed outside the doors, but when we opened them, we found no one inside."

²⁴When they heard this report, the captain of the temple guard and the chief priests were at a loss about them, as to what this would come to.

²⁵Then someone came in and reported to them, "The men whom you put in prison are in the temple area and are teaching the people."

²⁶Then the captain and the court officers went and brought them in, but without force, because they were afraid of being stoned by the people.

²⁷When they had brought them in and made them stand before the Sanhedrin, the high priest questioned them,

²⁸"We gave you strict orders (did we not?) to stop teaching in that name. Yet you have filled Jerusalem with your teaching and want to bring this man's blood upon us."

²⁹But Peter and the apostles said in reply, "We must obey God rather than men.

³⁰The God of our ancestors raised Jesus, though you had him killed by hanging him on a tree.

³¹God exalted him at his right hand as leader and savior to grant Israel repentance and forgiveness of sins.

³²We are witnesses of these things, as is the holy Spirit that God has given to those who obey him."

³³When they heard this, they became infuriated and wanted to put them to death.

³⁴But a Pharisee in the Sanhedrin named Gamaliel, a teacher of the law, respected by all the people, stood up, ordered the men to be put outside for a short time, ³⁵and said to them, "Fellow Israelites, be careful what you are about to do to these men.

³⁶Some time ago, Theudas appeared, claiming to be someone important, and about four hundred men joined him, but he was killed, and all those who were loyal to him were disbanded and came to nothing.

³⁷After him came Judas the Galilean at the time of the census. He also drew people after him, but he too perished and all who were loyal to him were scattered.

³⁸So now I tell you, have nothing to do with these men, and let them go. For if this endeavor or this activity is of human origin, it will destroy itself.

³⁹But if it comes from God, you will not be able to destroy them; you may even find yourselves fighting against God." They were persuaded by him.

⁴⁰After recalling the apostles, they had them flogged, ordered them to stop speaking in the name of Jesus, and dismissed them.

⁴¹So they left the presence of the Sanhedrin, rejoicing that they had been found worthy to suffer dishonor for the sake of the name.

⁴²And all day long, both at the temple and in their homes, they did not stop teaching and proclaiming the Messiah, Jesus.

6At that time, as the number of disciples continued to grow, the Hellenists complained against the Hebrews because their widows were being neglected in the daily distribution.

²So the Twelve called together the community of the disciples and said, "It is not right for us to neglect the word of God to serve at table.

³Brothers, select from among you seven reputable men, filled with the Spirit and wisdom, whom we shall appoint to this task,

⁴whereas we shall devote ourselves to prayer and to the ministry of the word."

⁵The proposal was acceptable to the whole community, so they chose Stephen, a man filled with faith and the holy Spirit, also Philip, Prochorus, Nicanor, Timon, Parmenas, and Nicholas of Antioch, a convert to Judaism.

⁶They presented these men to the apostles who prayed and laid hands on them.

⁷The word of God continued to spread, and the number of the disciples in Jerusalem increased greatly; even a large group of priests were becoming obedient to the faith.

⁸Now Stephen, filled with grace and power, was working great wonders and signs among the people.

⁹Certain members of the so-called Synagogue of Freedmen, Cyrenians, and Alexandrians, and people from Cilicia and Asia, came forward and debated with Stephen, ¹⁰but they could not withstand the wisdom and the spirit with which he spoke.

¹¹Then they instigated some men to say, "We have heard him speaking blasphemous words against Moses and God."

¹²They stirred up the people, the elders, and the scribes, accosted him, seized him, and brought him before the Sanhedrin.

¹³They presented false witnesses who testified, "This man never stops saying things against (this) holy place and the law.

¹⁴For we have heard him claim that this Jesus the Nazorean will destroy this place and change the customs that Moses handed down to us."

¹⁵All those who sat in the Sanhedrin looked intently at him and saw that his face was like the face of an angel.

7 Then the high priest asked, "Is this so?"

²And he replied, "My brothers and fathers, listen. The God of glory appeared to our father Abraham while he was in Mesopotamia, before he had settled in Haran,

³and said to him, 'Go forth from your land and (from) your kinsfolk to the land that I will show you.'

⁴So he went forth from the land of the Chaldeans and settled in Haran. And from there, after his father died, he made him migrate to this land where you now dwell.

⁵Yet he gave him no inheritance in it, not even a foot's length, but he did promise to give it to him and his descendants as a possession, even though he was childless.

⁶And God spoke thus, 'His descendants shall be aliens in a land not their own, where they shall be enslaved and oppressed for four hundred years;

⁷but I will bring judgment on the nation they serve,' God said, 'and after that they will come out and worship me in this place.'

⁸Then he gave him the covenant of circumcision, and so he became the father of Isaac, and circumcised him on the eighth day, as Isaac did Jacob, and Jacob the twelve patriarchs.

⁹"And the patriarchs, jealous of Joseph, sold him into slavery in Egypt; but God was with him

¹⁰and rescued him from all his afflictions. He granted him favor and wisdom before Pharaoh, the king of Egypt, who put him in charge of Egypt and (of) his entire household.

¹¹Then a famine and great affliction struck all Egypt and Canaan, and our ancestors could find no food;

¹²but when Jacob heard that there was grain in Egypt, he sent our ancestors there a first time.

¹³The second time, Joseph made himself known to his brothers, and Joseph's family became known to Pharaoh.

- ¹⁴Then Joseph sent for his father Jacob, inviting him and his whole clan, seventy-five persons;
- ¹⁵and Jacob went down to Egypt. And he and our ancestors died
- ¹⁶and were brought back to Shechem and placed in the tomb that Abraham had purchased for a sum of money from the sons of Hamor at Shechem.
- ¹⁷"When the time drew near for the fulfillment of the promise that God pledged to Abraham, the people had increased and become very numerous in Egypt,
- ¹⁸until another king who knew nothing of Joseph came to power (in Egypt).
- ¹⁹He dealt shrewdly with our people and oppressed (our) ancestors by forcing them to expose their infants, that they might not survive.
- ²⁰At this time Moses was born, and he was extremely beautiful. For three months he was nursed in his father's house;
- ²¹but when he was exposed, Pharaoh's daughter adopted him and brought him up as her own son.
- ²²Moses was educated (in) all the wisdom of the Egyptians and was powerful in his words and deeds.
- ²³"When he was forty years old, he decided to visit his kinsfolk, the Israelites.
- ²⁴When he saw one of them treated unjustly, he defended and avenged the oppressed man by striking down the Egyptian.
- ²⁵He assumed (his) kinsfolk would understand that God was offering them deliverance through him, but they did not understand.
- ²⁶The next day he appeared to them as they were fighting and tried to reconcile them peacefully, saying, 'Men, you are brothers. Why are you harming one another?'
- ²⁷Then the one who was harming his neighbor pushed him aside, saying, 'Who appointed you ruler and judge over us?'
- ²⁸Are you thinking of killing me as you killed the Egyptian yesterday?'

- ²⁹Moses fled when he heard this and settled as an alien in the land of Midian, where he became the father of two sons.
- ³⁰"Forty years later, an angel appeared to him in the desert near Mount Sinai in the flame of a burning bush.
- ³¹When Moses saw it, he was amazed at the sight, and as he drew near to look at it, the voice of the Lord came,
- ³²'I am the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, of Isaac, and of Jacob.' Then Moses, trembling, did not dare to look at it.
- ³³But the Lord said to him, 'Remove the sandals from your feet, for the place where you stand is holy ground.
- ³⁴I have witnessed the affliction of my people in Egypt and have heard their groaning, and I have come down to rescue them. Come now, I will send you to Egypt.'
- ³⁵This Moses, whom they had rejected with the words, 'Who appointed you ruler and judge?' God sent as (both) ruler and deliverer, through the angel who appeared to him in the bush.
- ³⁶This man led them out, performing wonders and signs in the land of Egypt, at the Red Sea, and in the desert for forty years.
- ³⁷It was this Moses who said to the Israelites, 'God will raise up for you, from among your own kinsfolk, a prophet like me.'
- ³⁸It was he who, in the assembly in the desert, was with the angel who spoke to him on Mount Sinai and with our ancestors, and he received living utterances to hand on to us.
- ³⁹"Our ancestors were unwilling to obey him; instead, they pushed him aside and in their hearts turned back to Egypt,
- ⁴⁰saying to Aaron, 'Make us gods who will be our leaders. As for that Moses who led us out of the land of Egypt, we do not know what has happened to him.'
- ⁴¹So they made a calf in those days, offered sacrifice to the idol, and reveled in the works of their hands.

⁴²Then God turned and handed them over to worship the host of heaven, as it is written in the book of the prophets: 'Did you bring me sacrifices and offerings for forty years in the desert, O house of Israel?

⁴³No, you took up the tent of Moloch and the star of (your) god Rephan, the images that you made to worship. So I shall take you into exile beyond Babylon.'

⁴⁴"Our ancestors had the tent of testimony in the desert just as the One who spoke to Moses directed him to make it according to the pattern he had seen.

⁴⁵Our ancestors who inherited it brought it with Joshua when they dispossessed the nations that God drove out from before our ancestors, up to the time of David,

⁴⁶who found favor in the sight of God and asked that he might find a dwelling place for the house of Jacob.

⁴⁷But Solomon built a house for him.

⁴⁸Yet the Most High does not dwell in houses made by human hands. As the prophet says:

⁴⁹The heavens are my throne, the earth is my footstool. What kind of house can you build for me? says the Lord, or what is to be my resting place?

⁵⁰Did not my hand make all these things?'

⁵¹"You stiff-necked people, uncircumcised in heart and ears, you always oppose the holy Spirit; you are just like your ancestors.

⁵²Which of the prophets did your ancestors not persecute? They put to death those who foretold the coming of the righteous one, whose betrayers and murderers you have now become.

⁵³You received the law as transmitted by angels, but you did not observe it."

⁵⁴When they heard this, they were infuriated, and they ground their teeth at him.

⁵⁵But he, filled with the holy Spirit, looked up intently to heaven and saw the glory of God and Jesus standing at the right hand of God,

⁵⁶and he said, "Behold, I see the heavens opened and the Son of Man standing at the right hand of God."

⁵⁷But they cried out in a loud voice, covered their ears, and rushed upon him together.

⁵⁸They threw him out of the city, and began to stone him. The witnesses laid down their cloaks at the feet of a young man named Saul.

⁵⁹As they were stoning Stephen, he called out, "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit."

⁶⁰Then he fell to his knees and cried out in a loud voice, "Lord, do not hold this sin against them"; and when he said this, he fell asleep.

8 Now Saul was consenting to his execution. On that day, there broke out a severe persecution of the church in Jerusalem, and all were scattered throughout the countryside of Judea and Samaria, except the apostles.

²Devout men buried Stephen and made a loud lament over him.

³Saul, meanwhile, was trying to destroy the church; entering house after house and dragging out men and women, he handed them over for imprisonment.

⁴Now those who had been scattered went about preaching the word.

⁵Thus Philip went down to (the) city of Samaria and proclaimed the Messiah to them.

⁶With one accord, the crowds paid attention to what was said by Philip when they heard it and saw the signs he was doing.

⁷For unclean spirits, crying out in a loud voice, came out of many possessed people, and many paralyzed and crippled people were cured.

⁸There was great joy in that city.

⁹A man named Simon used to practice magic in the city and astounded the people of Samaria, claiming to be someone great.

¹⁰All of them, from the least to the greatest, paid attention to him, saying, "This man is the 'Power of God' that is called 'Great.'"

¹¹They paid attention to him because he had astounded them by his magic for a long time,

- ¹²but once they began to believe Philip as he preached the good news about the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ, men and women alike were baptized.
- ¹³Even Simon himself believed and, after being baptized, became devoted to Philip; and when he saw the signs and mighty deeds that were occurring, he was astounded.
- ¹⁴Now when the apostles in Jerusalem heard that Samaria had accepted the word of God, they sent them Peter and John,
- ¹⁵who went down and prayed for them, that they might receive the holy Spirit,
- ¹⁶for it had not yet fallen upon any of them; they had only been baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus.
- ¹⁷Then they laid hands on them and they received the holy Spirit.
- ¹⁸When Simon saw that the Spirit was conferred by the laying on of the apostles' hands, he offered them money
- ¹⁹and said, "Give me this power too, so that anyone upon whom I lay my hands may receive the holy Spirit."
- ²⁰But Peter said to him, "May your money perish with you, because you thought that you could buy the gift of God with money.
- ²¹You have no share or lot in this matter, for your heart is not upright before God.
- ²²Repent of this wickedness of yours and pray to the Lord that, if possible, your intention may be forgiven.
- ²³For I see that you are filled with bitter gall and are in the bonds of iniquity."
- ²⁴Simon said in reply, "Pray for me to the Lord, that nothing of what you have said may come upon me."
- ²⁵So when they had testified and proclaimed the word of the Lord, they returned to Jerusalem and preached the good news to many Samaritan villages.
- ²⁶Then the angel of the Lord spoke to Philip, "Get up and head south on the road that goes down from Jerusalem to Gaza, the desert route."

²⁷ So he got up and set out. Now there was an Ethiopian eunuch, a court official of the Candace, that is, the queen of the Ethiopians, in charge of her entire treasury, who had come to Jerusalem to worship,

²⁸ and was returning home. Seated in his chariot, he was reading the prophet Isaiah.

²⁹ The Spirit said to Philip, "Go and join up with that chariot."

³⁰ Philip ran up and heard him reading Isaiah the prophet and said, "Do you understand what you are reading?"

³¹ He replied, "How can I, unless someone instructs me?" So he invited Philip to get in and sit with him.

³² This was the scripture passage he was reading: "Like a sheep he was led to the slaughter, and as a lamb before its shearer is silent, so he opened not his mouth.

³³ In (his) humiliation justice was denied him. Who will tell of his posterity? For his life is taken from the earth."

³⁴ Then the eunuch said to Philip in reply, "I beg you, about whom is the prophet saying this? About himself, or about someone else?"

³⁵ Then Philip opened his mouth and, beginning with this scripture passage, he proclaimed Jesus to him.

³⁶ As they traveled along the road they came to some water, and the eunuch said, "Look, there is water. What is to prevent my being baptized?"

³⁷

³⁸ Then he ordered the chariot to stop, and Philip and the eunuch both went down into the water, and he baptized him.

³⁹ When they came out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord snatched Philip away, and the eunuch saw him no more, but continued on his way rejoicing.

⁴⁰ Philip came to Azotus, and went about proclaiming the good news to all the towns until he reached Caesarea.

9 Now Saul, still breathing murderous threats against the disciples of the Lord, went to the high priest

² and asked him for letters to the synagogues in Damascus, that, if he should find any men or women who belonged to the Way, he might bring them back to Jerusalem in chains.

³ On his journey, as he was nearing Damascus, a light from the sky suddenly flashed around him.

⁴ He fell to the ground and heard a voice saying to him, "Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me?"

⁵ He said, "Who are you, sir?" The reply came, "I am Jesus, whom you are persecuting.

⁶ Now get up and go into the city and you will be told what you must do."

⁷ The men who were traveling with him stood speechless, for they heard the voice but could see no one.

⁸ Saul got up from the ground, but when he opened his eyes he could see nothing; so they led him by the hand and brought him to Damascus.

⁹ For three days he was unable to see, and he neither ate nor drank.

¹⁰ There was a disciple in Damascus named Ananias, and the Lord said to him in a vision, "Ananias." He answered, "Here I am, Lord."

¹¹ The Lord said to him, "Get up and go to the street called Straight and ask at the house of Judas for a man from Tarsus named Saul. He is there praying,

¹² and (in a vision) he has seen a man named Ananias come in and lay (his) hands on him, that he may regain his sight."

¹³ But Ananias replied, "Lord, I have heard from many sources about this man, what evil things he has done to your holy ones in Jerusalem.

¹⁴ And here he has authority from the chief priests to imprison all who call upon your name."

¹⁵But the Lord said to him, "Go, for this man is a chosen instrument of mine to carry my name before Gentiles, kings, and Israelites, ¹⁶and I will show him what he will have to suffer for my name."

¹⁷So Ananias went and entered the house; laying his hands on him, he said, "Saul, my brother, the Lord has sent me, Jesus who appeared to you on the way by which you came, that you may regain your sight and be filled with the holy Spirit."

¹⁸Immediately things like scales fell from his eyes and he regained his sight. He got up and was baptized,

¹⁹and when he had eaten, he recovered his strength. He stayed some days with the disciples in Damascus,

²⁰and he began at once to proclaim Jesus in the synagogues, that he is the Son of God.

²¹All who heard him were astounded and said, "Is not this the man who in Jerusalem ravaged those who call upon this name, and came here expressly to take them back in chains to the chief priests?"

²²But Saul grew all the stronger and confounded (the) Jews who lived in Damascus, proving that this is the Messiah.

²³After a long time had passed, the Jews conspired to kill him,

²⁴but their plot became known to Saul. Now they were keeping watch on the gates day and night so as to kill him,

²⁵but his disciples took him one night and let him down through an opening in the wall, lowering him in a basket.

²⁶When he arrived in Jerusalem he tried to join the disciples, but they were all afraid of him, not believing that he was a disciple.

²⁷Then Barnabas took charge of him and brought him to the apostles, and he reported to them how on the way he had seen the Lord and that he had spoken to him, and how in Damascus he had spoken out boldly in the name of Jesus.

²⁸He moved about freely with them in Jerusalem, and spoke out boldly in the name of the Lord.

²⁹He also spoke and debated with the Hellenists, but they tried to kill him.

³⁰And when the brothers learned of this, they took him down to Caesarea and sent him on his way to Tarsus.

³¹The church throughout all Judea, Galilee, and Samaria was at peace. It was being built up and walked in the fear of the Lord, and with the consolation of the holy Spirit it grew in numbers.

³²As Peter was passing through every region, he went down to the holy ones living in Lydda.

³³There he found a man named Aeneas, who had been confined to bed for eight years, for he was paralyzed.

³⁴Peter said to him, "Aeneas, Jesus Christ heals you. Get up and make your bed." He got up at once.

³⁵And all the inhabitants of Lydda and Sharon saw him, and they turned to the Lord.

³⁶Now in Joppa there was a disciple named Tabitha (which translated means Dorcas). She was completely occupied with good deeds and almsgiving.

³⁷Now during those days she fell sick and died, so after washing her, they laid (her) out in a room upstairs.

³⁸Since Lydda was near Joppa, the disciples, hearing that Peter was there, sent two men to him with the request, "Please come to us without delay."

³⁹So Peter got up and went with them. When he arrived, they took him to the room upstairs where all the widows came to him weeping and showing him the tunics and cloaks that Dorcas had made while she was with them.

⁴⁰Peter sent them all out and knelt down and prayed. Then he turned to her body and said, "Tabitha, rise up." She opened her eyes, saw Peter, and sat up.

⁴¹He gave her his hand and raised her up, and when he had called the holy ones and the widows, he presented her alive.

⁴²This became known all over Joppa, and many came to believe in the Lord.

⁴³And he stayed a long time in Joppa with Simon, a tanner.

10 Now in Caesarea there was a man named Cornelius, a centurion of the Cohort called the Italica, ²devout and God-fearing along with his whole household, who used to give alms generously to the Jewish people and pray to God constantly.

³One afternoon about three o'clock, he saw plainly in a vision an angel of God come in to him and say to him, "Cornelius."

⁴He looked intently at him and, seized with fear, said, "What is it, sir?" He said to him, "Your prayers and almsgiving have ascended as a memorial offering before God.

⁵Now send some men to Joppa and summon one Simon who is called Peter.

⁶He is staying with another Simon, a tanner, who has a house by the sea."

⁷When the angel who spoke to him had left, he called two of his servants and a devout soldier from his staff,

⁸explained everything to them, and sent them to Joppa.

⁹The next day, while they were on their way and nearing the city, Peter went up to the roof terrace to pray at about noontime.

¹⁰He was hungry and wished to eat, and while they were making preparations he fell into a trance.

¹¹He saw heaven opened and something resembling a large sheet coming down, lowered to the ground by its four corners.

¹²In it were all the earth's four-legged animals and reptiles and the birds of the sky.

¹³A voice said to him, "Get up, Peter. Slaughter and eat."

¹⁴But Peter said, "Certainly not, sir. For never have I eaten anything profane and unclean."

¹⁵The voice spoke to him again, a second time, "What God has made clean, you are not to call profane."

¹⁶This happened three times, and then the object was taken up into the sky.

¹⁷While Peter was in doubt about the meaning of the vision he had seen, the men sent by Cornelius asked for Simon's house and arrived at the entrance.

¹⁸They called out inquiring whether Simon, who is called Peter, was staying there.

¹⁹As Peter was pondering the vision, the Spirit said (to him), "There are three men here looking for you.

²⁰So get up, go downstairs, and accompany them without hesitation, because I have sent them."

²¹Then Peter went down to the men and said, "I am the one you are looking for. What is the reason for your being here?"

²²They answered, "Cornelius, a centurion, an upright and God-fearing man, respected by the whole Jewish nation, was directed by a holy angel to summon you to his house and to hear what you have to say."

²³So he invited them in and showed them hospitality. The next day he got up and went with them, and some of the brothers from Joppa went with him.

²⁴On the following day he entered Caesarea. Cornelius was expecting them and had called together his relatives and close friends.

²⁵When Peter entered, Cornelius met him and, falling at his feet, paid him homage.

²⁶Peter, however, raised him up, saying, "Get up. I myself am also a human being."

²⁷While he conversed with him, he went in and found many people gathered together

²⁸and said to them, "You know that it is unlawful for a Jewish man to associate with, or visit, a Gentile, but God has shown me that I should not call any person profane or unclean.

²⁹And that is why I came without objection when sent for. May I ask, then, why you summoned me?"

³⁰Cornelius replied, "Four days ago at this hour, three o'clock in the afternoon, I was at prayer in my house when suddenly a man in dazzling robes stood before me and said, ³¹Cornelius, your prayer has been heard and your almsgiving remembered before God.

³²Send therefore to Joppa and summon Simon, who is called Peter. He is a guest in the house of Simon, a tanner, by the sea.'

³³So I sent for you immediately, and you were kind enough to come. Now therefore we are all here in the presence of God to listen to all that you have been commanded by the Lord."

³⁴Then Peter proceeded to speak and said, "In truth, I see that God shows no partiality.

³⁵Rather, in every nation whoever fears him and acts uprightly is acceptable to him.

³⁶You know the word (that) he sent to the Israelites as he proclaimed peace through Jesus Christ, who is Lord of all,

³⁷what has happened all over Judea, beginning in Galilee after the baptism that John preached,

³⁸how God anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the holy Spirit and power. He went about doing good and healing all those oppressed by the devil, for God was with him.

³⁹We are witnesses of all that he did both in the country of the Jews and (in) Jerusalem. They put him to death by hanging him on a tree.

⁴⁰This man God raised (on) the third day and granted that he be visible, ⁴¹not to all the people, but to us, the witnesses chosen by God in advance, who ate and drank with him after he rose from the dead.

⁴²He commissioned us to preach to the people and testify that he is the one appointed by God as judge of the living and the dead.

⁴³To him all the prophets bear witness, that everyone who believes in him will receive forgiveness of sins through his name."

⁴⁴While Peter was still speaking these things, the holy Spirit fell upon all who were listening to the word.

⁴⁵The circumcised believers who had accompanied Peter were astounded that the gift of the holy Spirit should have been poured out on the Gentiles also,

⁴⁶for they could hear them speaking in tongues and glorifying God. Then Peter responded,

⁴⁷"Can anyone withhold the water for baptizing these people, who have received the holy Spirit even as we have?"

⁴⁸He ordered them to be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ.

⁴⁹Then they invited him to stay for a few days.

11 Now the apostles and the brothers who were in Judea heard that the Gentiles too had accepted the word of God.

²So when Peter went up to Jerusalem the circumcised believers confronted him,

³saying, "You entered the house of uncircumcised people and ate with them."

⁴Peter began and explained it to them step by step, saying,

⁵"I was at prayer in the city of Joppa when in a trance I had a vision, something resembling a large sheet coming down, lowered from the sky by its four corners, and it came to me.

⁶Looking intently into it, I observed and saw the four-legged animals of the earth, the wild beasts, the reptiles, and the birds of the sky.

⁷I also heard a voice say to me, 'Get up, Peter. Slaughter and eat.'

⁸But I said, 'Certainly not, sir, because nothing profane or unclean has ever entered my mouth.'

⁹But a second time a voice from heaven answered, 'What God has made clean, you are not to call profane.'

¹⁰This happened three times, and then everything was drawn up again into the sky.

¹¹Just then three men appeared at the house where we were, who had been sent to me from Caesarea.

¹²The Spirit told me to accompany them without discriminating. These six brothers also went with me, and we entered the man's house.

¹³He related to us how he had seen (the) angel standing in his house, saying, 'Send someone to Joppa and summon Simon, who is called Peter,

¹⁴who will speak words to you by which you and all your household will be saved.'

¹⁵As I began to speak, the holy Spirit fell upon them as it had upon us at the beginning,

¹⁶and I remembered the word of the Lord, how he had said, 'John baptized with water but you will be baptized with the holy Spirit.'

¹⁷If then God gave them the same gift he gave to us when we came to believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, who was I to be able to hinder God?"

¹⁸When they heard this, they stopped objecting and glorified God, saying, "God has then granted life-giving repentance to the Gentiles too."

¹⁹Now those who had been scattered by the persecution that arose because of Stephen went as far as Phoenicia, Cyprus, and Antioch, preaching the word to no one but Jews.

²⁰There were some Cypriots and Cyrenians among them, however, who came to Antioch and began to speak to the Greeks as well, proclaiming the Lord Jesus.

²¹The hand of the Lord was with them and a great number who believed turned to the Lord.

²²The news about them reached the ears of the church in Jerusalem, and they sent Barnabas (to go) to Antioch.

²³When he arrived and saw the grace of God, he rejoiced and encouraged them all to remain faithful to the Lord in firmness of heart,

²⁴for he was a good man, filled with the holy Spirit and faith. And a large number of people was added to the Lord.

²⁵Then he went to Tarsus to look for Saul,

²⁶and when he had found him he brought him to Antioch. For a whole year they met with the church and taught a large number of people, and it was in Antioch that the disciples were first called Christians.

²⁷At that time some prophets came down from Jerusalem to Antioch,

²⁸and one of them named Agabus stood up and predicted by the Spirit that there would be a severe famine all over the world, and it happened under Claudius.

²⁹So the disciples determined that, according to ability, each should send relief to the brothers who lived in Judea.

³⁰This they did, sending it to the presbyters in care of Barnabas and Saul.

12 About that time King Herod laid hands upon some members of the church to harm them.

²He had James, the brother of John, killed by the sword,

³and when he saw that this was pleasing to the Jews he proceeded to arrest Peter also. (It was (the) feast of Unleavened Bread.)

⁴He had him taken into custody and put in prison under the guard of four squads of four soldiers each. He intended to bring him before the people after Passover.

⁵Peter thus was being kept in prison, but prayer by the church was fervently being made to God on his behalf.

⁶On the very night before Herod was to bring him to trial, Peter, secured by double chains, was sleeping between two soldiers, while outside the door guards kept watch on the prison.

⁷Suddenly the angel of the Lord stood by him and a light shone in the cell. He tapped Peter on the side and awakened him, saying, "Get up quickly." The chains fell from his wrists.

⁸The angel said to him, "Put on your belt and your sandals." He did so. Then he said to him, "Put on your cloak and follow me."

⁹So he followed him out, not realizing that what was happening through the angel was real; he thought he was seeing a vision.

¹⁰They passed the first guard, then the second, and came to the iron gate leading out to the city, which opened for them by itself. They emerged and made their way down an alley, and suddenly the angel left him.

¹¹Then Peter recovered his senses and said, "Now I know for certain that (the) Lord sent his angel and rescued me from the hand of Herod and from all that the Jewish people had been expecting."

¹²When he realized this, he went to the house of Mary, the mother of John who is called Mark, where there were many people gathered in prayer.

¹³When he knocked on the gateway door, a maid named Rhoda came to answer it.

¹⁴She was so overjoyed when she recognized Peter's voice that, instead of opening the gate, she ran in and announced that Peter was standing at the gate.

¹⁵They told her, "You are out of your mind," but she insisted that it was so. But they kept saying, "It is his angel."

¹⁶But Peter continued to knock, and when they opened it, they saw him and were astounded.

¹⁷He motioned to them with his hand to be quiet and explained (to them) how the Lord had led him out of the prison, and said, "Report this to James and the brothers." Then he left and went to another place.

¹⁸At daybreak there was no small commotion among the soldiers over what had become of Peter.

¹⁹Herod, after instituting a search but not finding him, ordered the guards tried and executed. Then he left Judea to spend some time in Caesarea.

²⁰He had long been very angry with the people of Tyre and Sidon, who now came to him in a body. After winning over Blastus, the king's chamberlain, they sued for peace because their country was supplied with food from the king's territory.

²¹On an appointed day, Herod, attired in royal robes, (and) seated on the rostrum, addressed them publicly.

²²The assembled crowd cried out, "This is the voice of a god, not of a man."

²³At once the angel of the Lord struck him down because he did not ascribe the honor to God, and he was eaten by worms and breathed his last.

²⁴But the word of God continued to spread and grow.

²⁵After Barnabas and Saul completed their relief mission, they returned to Jerusalem, taking with them John, who is called Mark.

13 Now there were in the church at Antioch prophets and teachers: Barnabas, Symeon who was called Niger, Lucius of Cyrene, Manaen who was a close friend of Herod the tetrarch, and Saul.

²While they were worshiping the Lord and fasting, the holy Spirit said, "Set apart for me Barnabas and Saul for the work to which I have called them."

³Then, completing their fasting and prayer, they laid hands on them and sent them off.

⁴So they, sent forth by the holy Spirit, went down to Seleucia and from there sailed to Cyprus.

⁵When they arrived in Salamis, they proclaimed the word of God in the Jewish synagogues. They had John also as their assistant.

⁶When they had traveled through the whole island as far as Paphos, they met a magician named Bar-Jesus who was a Jewish false prophet.

⁷He was with the proconsul Sergius Paulus, a man of intelligence, who had summoned Barnabas and Saul and wanted to hear the word of God.

⁸But Elymas the magician (for that is what his name means) opposed them in an attempt to turn the proconsul away from the faith.

⁹But Saul, also known as Paul, filled with the holy Spirit, looked intently at him

¹⁰and said, "You son of the devil, you enemy of all that is right, full of every sort of deceit and fraud. Will you not stop twisting the straight paths of (the) Lord?"

¹¹Even now the hand of the Lord is upon you. You will be blind, and unable to see the sun for a time." Immediately a dark mist fell upon him, and he went about seeking people to lead him by the hand.

¹²When the proconsul saw what had happened, he came to believe, for he was astonished by the teaching about the Lord.

¹³From Paphos, Paul and his companions set sail and arrived at Perga in Pamphylia. But John left them and returned to Jerusalem.

¹⁴They continued on from Perga and reached Antioch in Pisidia. On the sabbath they entered (into) the synagogue and took their seats.

¹⁵After the reading of the law and the prophets, the synagogue officials sent word to them, "My brothers, if one of you has a word of exhortation for the people, please speak."

¹⁶So Paul got up, motioned with his hand, and said, "Fellow Israelites and you others who are God-fearing, listen.

¹⁷The God of this people Israel chose our ancestors and exalted the people during their sojourn in the land of Egypt. With uplifted arm he led them out of it ¹⁸and for about forty years he put up with them in the desert.

¹⁹When he had destroyed seven nations in the land of Canaan, he gave them their land as an inheritance

²⁰at the end of about four hundred and fifty years. After these things he provided judges up to Samuel (the) prophet.

²¹Then they asked for a king. God gave them Saul, son of Kish, a man from the tribe of Benjamin, for forty years.

²²Then he removed him and raised up David as their king; of him he testified, 'I have found David, son of Jesse, a man after my own heart; he will carry out my every wish.'

²³From this man's descendants God, according to his promise, has brought to Israel a savior, Jesus.

²⁴ John heralded his coming by proclaiming a baptism of repentance to all the people of Israel;

²⁵ and as John was completing his course, he would say, 'What do you suppose that I am? I am not he. Behold, one is coming after me; I am not worthy to unfasten the sandals of his feet.'

²⁶ "My brothers, children of the family of Abraham, and those others among you who are God-fearing, to us this word of salvation has been sent.

²⁷ The inhabitants of Jerusalem and their leaders failed to recognize him, and by condemning him they fulfilled the oracles of the prophets that are read sabbath after sabbath.

²⁸ For even though they found no grounds for a death sentence, they asked Pilate to have him put to death,

²⁹ and when they had accomplished all that was written about him, they took him down from the tree and placed him in a tomb.

³⁰ But God raised him from the dead,

³¹ and for many days he appeared to those who had come up with him from Galilee to Jerusalem. These are (now) his witnesses before the people.

³² We ourselves are proclaiming this good news to you that what God promised our ancestors

³³ he has brought to fulfillment for us, (their) children, by raising up Jesus, as it is written in the second psalm, 'You are my son; this day I have begotten you.'

³⁴ And that he raised him from the dead never to return to corruption he declared in this way, 'I shall give you the benefits assured to David.'

³⁵ That is why he also says in another psalm, 'You will not suffer your holy one to see corruption.'

³⁶ Now David, after he had served the will of God in his lifetime, fell asleep, was gathered to his ancestors, and did see corruption.

³⁷ But the one whom God raised up did not see corruption.

³⁸You must know, my brothers, that through him forgiveness of sins is being proclaimed to you, (and) in regard to everything from which you could not be justified under the law of Moses,

³⁹in him every believer is justified.

⁴⁰Be careful, then, that what was said in the prophets not come about:

⁴¹"Look on, you scoffers, be amazed and disappear. For I am doing a work in your days, a work that you will never believe even if someone tells you."

⁴²As they were leaving, they invited them to speak on these subjects the following sabbath.

⁴³After the congregation had dispersed, many Jews and worshipers who were converts to Judaism followed Paul and Barnabas, who spoke to them and urged them to remain faithful to the grace of God.

⁴⁴On the following sabbath almost the whole city gathered to hear the word of the Lord.

⁴⁵When the Jews saw the crowds, they were filled with jealousy and with violent abuse contradicted what Paul said.

⁴⁶Both Paul and Barnabas spoke out boldly and said, "It was necessary that the word of God be spoken to you first, but since you reject it and condemn yourselves as unworthy of eternal life, we now turn to the Gentiles.

⁴⁷For so the Lord has commanded us, 'I have made you a light to the Gentiles, that you may be an instrument of salvation to the ends of the earth.'"

⁴⁸The Gentiles were delighted when they heard this and glorified the word of the Lord. All who were destined for eternal life came to believe,

⁴⁹and the word of the Lord continued to spread through the whole region.

⁵⁰The Jews, however, incited the women of prominence who were worshipers and the leading men of the city, stirred up a persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and expelled them from their territory.

⁵¹So they shook the dust from their feet in protest against them and went to Iconium.

⁵²The disciples were filled with joy and the holy Spirit.

14In Iconium they entered the Jewish synagogue together and spoke in such a way that a great number of both Jews and Greeks came to believe,

²although the disbelieving Jews stirred up and poisoned the minds of the Gentiles against the brothers.

³So they stayed for a considerable period, speaking out boldly for the Lord, who confirmed the word about his grace by granting signs and wonders to occur through their hands.

⁴The people of the city were divided: some were with the Jews; others, with the apostles.

⁵When there was an attempt by both the Gentiles and the Jews, together with their leaders, to attack and stone them,

⁶they realized it and fled to the Lycaonian cities of Lystra and Derbe and to the surrounding countryside, ⁷where they continued to proclaim the good news.

⁸At Lystra there was a crippled man, lame from birth, who had never walked.

⁹He listened to Paul speaking, who looked intently at him, saw that he had the faith to be healed, ¹⁰and called out in a loud voice, "Stand up straight on your feet." He jumped up and began to walk about.

¹¹When the crowds saw what Paul had done, they cried out in Lycaonian, "The gods have come down to us in human form."

¹²They called Barnabas "Zeus" and Paul "Hermes," because he was the chief speaker.

¹³And the priest of Zeus, whose temple was at the entrance to the city, brought oxen and garlands to the gates, for he together with the people intended to offer sacrifice.

¹⁴The apostles Barnabas and Paul tore their garments when they heard this and rushed out into the crowd, shouting,

¹⁵"Men, why are you doing this? We are of the same nature as you, human beings. We proclaim to you good news that you should turn from these idols to the living God, 'who made heaven and earth and sea and all that is in them.'

¹⁶In past generations he allowed all Gentiles to go their own ways;

¹⁷yet, in bestowing his goodness, he did not leave himself without witness, for he gave you rains from heaven and fruitful seasons, and filled you with nourishment and gladness for your hearts."

¹⁸Even with these words, they scarcely restrained the crowds from offering sacrifice to them.

¹⁹However, some Jews from Antioch and Iconium arrived and won over the crowds. They stoned Paul and dragged him out of the city, supposing that he was dead.

²⁰But when the disciples gathered around him, he got up and entered the city. On the following day he left with Barnabas for Derbe.

²¹After they had proclaimed the good news to that city and made a considerable number of disciples, they returned to Lystra and to Iconium and to Antioch.

²²They strengthened the spirits of the disciples and exhorted them to persevere in the faith, saying, "It is necessary for us to undergo many hardships to enter the kingdom of God."

²³They appointed presbyters for them in each church and, with prayer and fasting, commended them to the Lord in whom they had put their faith.

²⁴Then they traveled through Pisidia and reached Pamphylia.

²⁵After proclaiming the word at Perga they went down to Attalia.

²⁶From there they sailed to Antioch, where they had been commended to the grace of God for the work they had now accomplished.

²⁷And when they arrived, they called the church together and reported what God had done with them and how he had opened the door of faith to the Gentiles.

²⁸Then they spent no little time with the disciples.

15 Some who had come down from Judea were instructing the brothers, "Unless you are circumcised according to the Mosaic practice, you cannot be saved."

²Because there arose no little dissension and debate by Paul and Barnabas with them, it was decided that Paul, Barnabas, and some of the others should go up to Jerusalem to the apostles and presbyters about this question.

³They were sent on their journey by the church, and passed through Phoenicia and Samaria telling of the conversion of the Gentiles, and brought great joy to all the brothers.

⁴When they arrived in Jerusalem, they were welcomed by the church, as well as by the apostles and the presbyters, and they reported what God had done with them.

⁵But some from the party of the Pharisees who had become believers stood up and said, "It is necessary to circumcise them and direct them to observe the Mosaic law."

⁶The apostles and the presbyters met together to see about this matter.

⁷After much debate had taken place, Peter got up and said to them, "My brothers, you are well aware that from early days God made his choice among you that through my mouth the Gentiles would hear the word of the gospel and believe.

⁸And God, who knows the heart, bore witness by granting them the holy Spirit just as he did us.

⁹He made no distinction between us and them, for by faith he purified their hearts.

¹⁰Why, then, are you now putting God to the test by placing on the shoulders of the disciples a yoke that neither our ancestors nor we have been able to bear?

¹¹On the contrary, we believe that we are saved through the grace of the Lord Jesus, in the same way as they."

¹²The whole assembly fell silent, and they listened while Paul and Barnabas described the signs and wonders God had worked among the Gentiles through them.

¹³After they had fallen silent, James responded, "My brothers, listen to me.

¹⁴ Symeon has described how God first concerned himself with acquiring from among the Gentiles a people for his name.

¹⁵ The words of the prophets agree with this, as is written:

¹⁶ After this I shall return and rebuild the fallen hut of David; from its ruins I shall rebuild it and raise it up again,

¹⁷ so that the rest of humanity may seek out the Lord, even all the Gentiles on whom my name is invoked. Thus says the Lord who accomplishes these things,

¹⁸ known from of old.'

¹⁹ It is my judgment, therefore, that we ought to stop troubling the Gentiles who turn to God,

²⁰ but tell them by letter to avoid pollution from idols, unlawful marriage, the meat of strangled animals, and blood.

²¹ For Moses, for generations now, has had those who proclaim him in every town, as he has been read in the synagogues every sabbath."

²² Then the apostles and presbyters, in agreement with the whole church, decided to choose representatives and to send them to Antioch with Paul and Barnabas. The ones chosen were Judas, who was called Barsabbas, and Silas, leaders among the brothers.

²³ This is the letter delivered by them: "The apostles and the presbyters, your brothers, to the brothers in Antioch, Syria, and Cilicia of Gentile origin: greetings.

²⁴ Since we have heard that some of our number (who went out) without any mandate from us have upset you with their teachings and disturbed your peace of mind,

²⁵ we have with one accord decided to choose representatives and to send them to you along with our beloved Barnabas and Paul,

²⁶ who have dedicated their lives to the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.

²⁷ So we are sending Judas and Silas who will also convey this same message by word of mouth:

²⁸It is the decision of the holy Spirit and of us not to place on you any burden beyond these necessities,

²⁹namely, to abstain from meat sacrificed to idols, from blood, from meats of strangled animals, and from unlawful marriage. If you keep free of these, you will be doing what is right. Farewell."

³⁰And so they were sent on their journey. Upon their arrival in Antioch they called the assembly together and delivered the letter.

³¹When the people read it, they were delighted with the exhortation.

³²Judas and Silas, who were themselves prophets, exhorted and strengthened the brothers with many words.

³³After they had spent some time there, they were sent off with greetings of peace from the brothers to those who had commissioned them.

³⁴

³⁵But Paul and Barnabas remained in Antioch, teaching and proclaiming with many others the word of the Lord.

³⁶After some time, Paul said to Barnabas, "Come, let us make a return visit to see how the brothers are getting on in all the cities where we proclaimed the word of the Lord."

³⁷Barnabas wanted to take with them also John, who was called Mark,

³⁸but Paul insisted that they should not take with them someone who had deserted them at Pamphylia and who had not continued with them in their work.

³⁹So sharp was their disagreement that they separated. Barnabas took Mark and sailed to Cyprus.

⁴⁰But Paul chose Silas and departed after being commended by the brothers to the grace of the Lord.

⁴¹He traveled through Syria and Cilicia bringing strength to the churches.

16 He reached (also) Derbe and Lystra where there was a disciple named Timothy, the son of a Jewish woman who was a believer, but his father was a Greek.

²The brothers in Lystra and Iconium spoke highly of him,

³and Paul wanted him to come along with him. On account of the Jews of that region, Paul had him circumcised, for they all knew that his father was a Greek.

⁴As they traveled from city to city, they handed on to the people for observance the decisions reached by the apostles and presbyters in Jerusalem.

⁵Day after day the churches grew stronger in faith and increased in number.

⁶They traveled through the Phrygian and Galatian territory because they had been prevented by the holy Spirit from preaching the message in the province of Asia.

⁷When they came to Mysia, they tried to go on into Bithynia, but the Spirit of Jesus did not allow them,

⁸so they crossed through Mysia and came down to Troas.

⁹During (the) night Paul had a vision. A Macedonian stood before him and implored him with these words, "Come over to Macedonia and help us."

¹⁰When he had seen the vision, we sought passage to Macedonia at once, concluding that God had called us to proclaim the good news to them.

¹¹We set sail from Troas, making a straight run for Samothrace, and on the next day to Neapolis, ¹²and from there to Philippi, a leading city in that district of Macedonia and a Roman colony. We spent some time in that city.

¹³On the sabbath we went outside the city gate along the river where we thought there would be a place of prayer. We sat and spoke with the women who had gathered there.

¹⁴One of them, a woman named Lydia, a dealer in purple cloth, from the city of Thyatira, a worshiper of God, listened, and the Lord opened her heart to pay attention to what Paul was saying.

¹⁵After she and her household had been baptized, she offered us an invitation, "If you consider me a believer in the Lord, come and stay at my home," and she prevailed on us.

¹⁶As we were going to the place of prayer, we met a slave girl with an oracular spirit, who used to bring a large profit to her owners through her fortune-telling.

¹⁷She began to follow Paul and us, shouting, "These people are slaves of the Most High God, who proclaim to you a way of salvation."

¹⁸She did this for many days. Paul became annoyed, turned, and said to the spirit, "I command you in the name of Jesus Christ to come out of her." Then it came out at that moment.

¹⁹When her owners saw that their hope of profit was gone, they seized Paul and Silas and dragged them to the public square before the local authorities.

²⁰They brought them before the magistrates and said, "These people are Jews and are disturbing our city

²¹and are advocating customs that are not lawful for us Romans to adopt or practice."

²²The crowd joined in the attack on them, and the magistrates had them stripped and ordered them to be beaten with rods.

²³After inflicting many blows on them, they threw them into prison and instructed the jailer to guard them securely.

²⁴When he received these instructions, he put them in the innermost cell and secured their feet to a stake.

²⁵About midnight, while Paul and Silas were praying and singing hymns to God as the prisoners listened,

²⁶there was suddenly such a severe earthquake that the foundations of the jail shook; all the doors flew open, and the chains of all were pulled loose.

²⁷When the jailer woke up and saw the prison doors wide open, he drew (his) sword and was about to kill himself, thinking that the prisoners had escaped.

²⁸But Paul shouted out in a loud voice, "Do no harm to yourself; we are all here."

²⁹He asked for a light and rushed in and, trembling with fear, he fell down before Paul and Silas.

³⁰Then he brought them out and said, "Sirs, what must I do to be saved?"

³¹And they said, "Believe in the Lord Jesus and you and your household will be saved."

³²So they spoke the word of the Lord to him and to everyone in his house.

³³He took them in at that hour of the night and bathed their wounds; then he and all his family were baptized at once.

³⁴He brought them up into his house and provided a meal and with his household rejoiced at having come to faith in God.

³⁵But when it was day, the magistrates sent the lictors with the order, "Release those men."

³⁶The jailer reported the (se) words to Paul, "The magistrates have sent orders that you be released. Now, then, come out and go in peace."

³⁷But Paul said to them, "They have beaten us publicly, even though we are Roman citizens and have not been tried, and have thrown us into prison. And now, are they going to release us secretly? By no means. Let them come themselves and lead us out."

³⁸The lictors reported these words to the magistrates, and they became alarmed when they heard that they were Roman citizens.

³⁹So they came and placated them, and led them out and asked that they leave the city.

⁴⁰When they had come out of the prison, they went to Lydia's house where they saw and encouraged the brothers, and then they left.

17 When they took the road through Amphipolis and Apollonia, they reached Thessalonica, where there was a synagogue of the Jews.

²Following his usual custom, Paul joined them, and for three sabbaths he entered into discussions with them from the scriptures,

- ³expounding and demonstrating that the Messiah had to suffer and rise from the dead, and that "This is the Messiah, Jesus, whom I proclaim to you."
- ⁴Some of them were convinced and joined Paul and Silas; so, too, a great number of Greeks who were worshipers, and not a few of the prominent women.
- ⁵But the Jews became jealous and recruited some worthless men loitering in the public square, formed a mob, and set the city in turmoil. They marched on the house of Jason, intending to bring them before the people's assembly.
- ⁶When they could not find them, they dragged Jason and some of the brothers before the city magistrates, shouting, "These people who have been creating a disturbance all over the world have now come here,
- ⁷and Jason has welcomed them. They all act in opposition to the decrees of Caesar and claim instead that there is another king, Jesus."
- ⁸They stirred up the crowd and the city magistrates who, upon hearing these charges,
- ⁹took a surety payment from Jason and the others before releasing them.
- ¹⁰The brothers immediately sent Paul and Silas to Berea during the night. Upon arrival they went to the synagogue of the Jews.
- ¹¹These Jews were more fair-minded than those in Thessalonica, for they received the word with all willingness and examined the scriptures daily to determine whether these things were so.
- ¹²Many of them became believers, as did not a few of the influential Greek women and men.
- ¹³But when the Jews of Thessalonica learned that the word of God had now been proclaimed by Paul in Berea also, they came there too to cause a commotion and stir up the crowds.
- ¹⁴So the brothers at once sent Paul on his way to the seacoast, while Silas and Timothy remained behind.
- ¹⁵After Paul's escorts had taken him to Athens, they came away with instructions for Silas and Timothy to join him as soon as possible.

¹⁶While Paul was waiting for them in Athens, he grew exasperated at the sight of the city full of idols.

¹⁷So he debated in the synagogue with the Jews and with the worshipers, and daily in the public square with whoever happened to be there.

¹⁸Even some of the Epicurean and Stoic philosophers engaged him in discussion. Some asked, "What is this scavenger trying to say?" Others said, "He sounds like a promoter of foreign deities," because he was preaching about 'Jesus' and 'Resurrection.'

¹⁹They took him and led him to the Areopagus and said, "May we learn what this new teaching is that you speak of?"

²⁰For you bring some strange notions to our ears; we should like to know what these things mean."

²¹Now all the Athenians as well as the foreigners residing there used their time for nothing else but telling or hearing something new.

²²Then Paul stood up at the Areopagus and said: "You Athenians, I see that in every respect you are very religious.

²³For as I walked around looking carefully at your shrines, I even discovered an altar inscribed, 'To an Unknown God.' What therefore you unknowingly worship, I proclaim to you.

²⁴The God who made the world and all that is in it, the Lord of heaven and earth, does not dwell in sanctuaries made by human hands,

²⁵nor is he served by human hands because he needs anything. Rather it is he who gives to everyone life and breath and everything.

²⁶He made from one the whole human race to dwell on the entire surface of the earth, and he fixed the ordered seasons and the boundaries of their regions,

²⁷so that people might seek God, even perhaps grope for him and find him, though indeed he is not far from any one of us.

²⁸For 'In him we live and move and have our being,' as even some of your poets have said, 'For we too are his offspring.'

²⁹Since therefore we are the offspring of God, we ought not to think that the divinity is like an image fashioned from gold, silver, or stone by human art and imagination.

³⁰God has overlooked the times of ignorance, but now he demands that all people everywhere repent

³¹because he has established a day on which he will 'judge the world with justice' through a man he has appointed, and he has provided confirmation for all by raising him from the dead."

³²When they heard about resurrection of the dead, some began to scoff, but others said, "We should like to hear you on this some other time."

³⁴But some did join him, and became believers. Among them were Dionysius, a member of the Court of the Areopagus, a woman named Damaris, and others with them.

18 After this he left Athens and went to Corinth.

²There he met a Jew named Aquila, a native of Pontus, who had recently come from Italy with his wife Priscilla because Claudius had ordered all the Jews to leave Rome. He went to visit them ³and, because he practiced the same trade, stayed with them and worked, for they were tentmakers by trade.

⁴Every sabbath, he entered into discussions in the synagogue, attempting to convince both Jews and Greeks.

⁵When Silas and Timothy came down from Macedonia, Paul began to occupy himself totally with preaching the word, testifying to the Jews that the Messiah was Jesus.

⁶When they opposed him and reviled him, he shook out his garments and said to them, "Your blood be on your heads! I am clear of responsibility. From now on I will go to the Gentiles."

⁷So he left there and went to a house belonging to a man named Titus Justus, a worshiper of God; his house was next to a synagogue.

⁸Crispus, the synagogue official, came to believe in the Lord along with his entire household, and many of the Corinthians who heard believed and were baptized.

⁹One night in a vision the Lord said to Paul, "Do not be afraid. Go on speaking, and do not be silent, ¹⁰for I am with you. No one will attack and harm you, for I have many people in this city."

¹¹He settled there for a year and a half and taught the word of God among them.

¹²But when Gallio was proconsul of Achaia, the Jews rose up together against Paul and brought him to the tribunal,

¹³saying, "This man is inducing people to worship God contrary to the law."

¹⁴When Paul was about to reply, Gallio spoke to the Jews, "If it were a matter of some crime or malicious fraud, I should with reason hear the complaint of you Jews;

¹⁵but since it is a question of arguments over doctrine and titles and your own law, see to it yourselves. I do not wish to be a judge of such matters."

¹⁶And he drove them away from the tribunal.

¹⁷They all seized Sosthenes, the synagogue official, and beat him in full view of the tribunal. But none of this was of concern to Gallio.

¹⁸Paul remained for quite some time, and after saying farewell to the brothers he sailed for Syria, together with Priscilla and Aquila. At Cenchreae he had his hair cut because he had taken a vow.

¹⁹When they reached Ephesus, he left them there, while he entered the synagogue and held discussions with the Jews.

²⁰Although they asked him to stay for a longer time, he did not consent,

²¹but as he said farewell he promised, "I shall come back to you again, God willing." Then he set sail from Ephesus.

²²Upon landing at Caesarea, he went up and greeted the church and then went down to Antioch.

²³After staying there some time, he left and traveled in orderly sequence through the Galatian country and Phrygia, bringing strength to all the disciples.

²⁴A Jew named Apollos, a native of Alexandria, an eloquent speaker, arrived in Ephesus. He was an authority on the scriptures.

²⁵He had been instructed in the Way of the Lord and, with ardent spirit, spoke and taught accurately about Jesus, although he knew only the baptism of John.

²⁶He began to speak boldly in the synagogue; but when Priscilla and Aquila heard him, they took him aside and explained to him the Way (of God) more accurately.

²⁷And when he wanted to cross to Achaia, the brothers encouraged him and wrote to the disciples there to welcome him. After his arrival he gave great assistance to those who had come to believe through grace.

²⁸He vigorously refuted the Jews in public, establishing from the scriptures that the Messiah is Jesus.

19 While Apollos was in Corinth, Paul traveled through the interior of the country and came (down) to Ephesus where he found some disciples.

²He said to them, "Did you receive the holy Spirit when you became believers?" They answered him, "We have never even heard that there is a holy Spirit."

³He said, "How were you baptized?" They replied, "With the baptism of John."

⁴Paul then said, "John baptized with a baptism of repentance, telling the people to believe in the one who was to come after him, that is, in Jesus."

⁵When they heard this, they were baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus.

⁶And when Paul laid (his) hands on them, the holy Spirit came upon them, and they spoke in tongues and prophesied.

⁷Altogether there were about twelve men.

⁸He entered the synagogue, and for three months debated boldly with persuasive arguments about the kingdom of God.

⁹But when some in their obstinacy and disbelief disparaged the Way before the assembly, he withdrew and took his disciples with him and began to hold daily discussions in the lecture hall of Tyrannus.

¹⁰This continued for two years with the result that all the inhabitants of the province of Asia heard the word of the Lord, Jews and Greeks alike.

¹¹So extraordinary were the mighty deeds God accomplished at the hands of Paul ¹²that when face cloths or aprons that touched his skin were applied to the sick, their diseases left them and the evil spirits came out of them.

¹³Then some itinerant Jewish exorcists tried to invoke the name of the Lord Jesus over those with evil spirits, saying, "I adjure you by the Jesus whom Paul preaches."

¹⁴When the seven sons of Sceva, a Jewish high priest, tried to do this,

¹⁵the evil spirit said to them in reply, "Jesus I recognize, Paul I know, but who are you?"

¹⁶The person with the evil spirit then sprang at them and subdued them all. He so overpowered them that they fled naked and wounded from that house.

¹⁷When this became known to all the Jews and Greeks who lived in Ephesus, fear fell upon them all, and the name of the Lord Jesus was held in great esteem.

¹⁸Many of those who had become believers came forward and openly acknowledged their former practices.

¹⁹Moreover, a large number of those who had practiced magic collected their books and burned them in public. They calculated their value and found it to be fifty thousand silver pieces.

²⁰Thus did the word of the Lord continue to spread with influence and power.

²¹When this was concluded, Paul made up his mind to travel through Macedonia and Achaia, and then to go on to Jerusalem, saying, "After I have been there, I must visit Rome also."

²²Then he sent to Macedonia two of his assistants, Timothy and Erastus, while he himself stayed for a while in the province of Asia.

²³About that time a serious disturbance broke out concerning the Way.

²⁴There was a silversmith named Demetrius who made miniature silver shrines of Artemis and provided no little work for the craftsmen.

²⁵He called a meeting of these and other workers in related crafts and said, "Men, you know well that our prosperity derives from this work.

²⁶As you can now see and hear, not only in Ephesus but throughout most of the province of Asia this Paul has persuaded and misled a great number of people by saying that gods made by hands are not gods at all.

²⁷The danger grows, not only that our business will be discredited, but also that the temple of the great goddess Artemis will be of no account, and that she whom the whole province of Asia and all the world worship will be stripped of her magnificence."

²⁸When they heard this, they were filled with fury and began to shout, "Great is Artemis of the Ephesians!"

²⁹The city was filled with confusion, and the people rushed with one accord into the theater, seizing Gaius and Aristarchus, the Macedonians, Paul's traveling companions.

³⁰Paul wanted to go before the crowd, but the disciples would not let him,

³¹and even some of the Asiarchs who were friends of his sent word to him advising him not to venture into the theater.

³²Meanwhile, some were shouting one thing, others something else; the assembly was in chaos, and most of the people had no idea why they had come together.

³³Some of the crowd prompted Alexander, as the Jews pushed him forward, and Alexander signaled with his hand that he wished to explain something to the gathering.

³⁴But when they recognized that he was a Jew, they all shouted in unison, for about two hours, "Great is Artemis of the Ephesians!"

³⁵Finally the town clerk restrained the crowd and said, "You Ephesians, what person is there who does not know that the city of the Ephesians is the guardian of the temple of the great Artemis and of her image that fell from the sky?

³⁶Since these things are undeniable, you must calm yourselves and not do anything rash.

³⁷The men you brought here are not temple robbers, nor have they insulted our goddess.

³⁸If Demetrius and his fellow craftsmen have a complaint against anyone, courts are in session, and there are proconsuls. Let them bring charges against one another.

³⁹If you have anything further to investigate, let the matter be settled in the lawful assembly,

⁴⁰for, as it is, we are in danger of being charged with rioting because of today's conduct. There is no cause for it. We shall (not) be able to give a reason for this demonstration." With these words he dismissed the assembly.

20When the disturbance was over, Paul had the disciples summoned and, after encouraging them, he bade them farewell and set out on his journey to Macedonia.

²As he traveled throughout those regions, he provided many words of encouragement for them. Then he arrived in Greece, ³where he stayed for three months. But when a plot was made against him by the Jews as he was about to set sail for Syria, he decided to return by way of Macedonia.

⁴Sopater, the son of Pyrrhus, from Beroea, accompanied him, as did Aristarchus and Secundus from Thessalonica, Gaius from Derbe, Timothy, and Tychicus and Trophimus from Asia

⁵who went on ahead and waited for us at Troas.

⁶We sailed from Philippi after the feast of Unleavened Bread, and rejoined them five days later in Troas, where we spent a week.

⁷On the first day of the week when we gathered to break bread, Paul spoke to them because he was going to leave on the next day, and he kept on speaking until midnight.

⁸There were many lamps in the upstairs room where we were gathered,

⁹and a young man named Eutychus who was sitting on the window sill was sinking into a deep sleep as Paul talked on and on. Once overcome by sleep, he fell down from the third story and when he was picked up, he was dead.

¹⁰Paul went down, threw himself upon him, and said as he embraced him, "Don't be alarmed; there is life in him."

¹¹Then he returned upstairs, broke the bread, and ate; after a long conversation that lasted until daybreak, he departed.

¹²And they took the boy away alive and were immeasurably comforted.

¹³We went ahead to the ship and set sail for Assos where we were to take Paul on board, as he had arranged, since he was going overland.

¹⁴When he met us in Assos, we took him aboard and went on to Mitylene.

¹⁵We sailed away from there on the next day and reached a point off Chios, and a day later we reached Samos, and on the following day we arrived at Miletus.

¹⁶Paul had decided to sail past Ephesus in order not to lose time in the province of Asia, for he was hurrying to be in Jerusalem, if at all possible, for the day of Pentecost.

¹⁷From Miletus he had the presbyters of the church at Ephesus summoned.

¹⁸When they came to him, he addressed them, "You know how I lived among you the whole time from the day I first came to the province of Asia.

¹⁹I served the Lord with all humility and with the tears and trials that came to me because of the plots of the Jews,

²⁰and I did not at all shrink from telling you what was for your benefit, or from teaching you in public or in your homes.

²¹I earnestly bore witness for both Jews and Greeks to repentance before God and to faith in our Lord Jesus.

²²But now, compelled by the Spirit, I am going to Jerusalem. What will happen to me there I do not know, ²³except that in one city after another the holy Spirit has been warning me that imprisonment and hardships await me.

²⁴Yet I consider life of no importance to me, if only I may finish my course and the ministry that I received from the Lord Jesus, to bear witness to the gospel of God's grace.

²⁵"But now I know that none of you to whom I preached the kingdom during my travels will ever see my face again.

²⁶And so I solemnly declare to you this day that I am not responsible for the blood of any of you,

²⁷for I did not shrink from proclaiming to you the entire plan of God.

²⁸Keep watch over yourselves and over the whole flock of which the holy Spirit has appointed you overseers, in which you tend the church of God that he acquired with his own blood.

²⁹I know that after my departure savage wolves will come among you, and they will not spare the flock.

³⁰And from your own group, men will come forward perverting the truth to draw the disciples away after them.

³¹So be vigilant and remember that for three years, night and day, I unceasingly admonished each of you with tears.

³²And now I commend you to God and to that gracious word of his that can build you up and give you the inheritance among all who are consecrated.

³³I have never wanted anyone's silver or gold or clothing.

³⁴You know well that these very hands have served my needs and my companions.

³⁵In every way I have shown you that by hard work of that sort we must help the weak, and keep in mind the words of the Lord Jesus who himself said, 'It is more blessed to give than to receive.'

³⁶When he had finished speaking he knelt down and prayed with them all.

³⁷They were all weeping loudly as they threw their arms around Paul and kissed him,

³⁸for they were deeply distressed that he had said that they would never see his face again. Then they escorted him to the ship.

21 When we had taken leave of them we set sail, made a straight run for Cos, and on the next day for Rhodes, and from there to Patara.

²Finding a ship crossing to Phoenicia, we went on board and put out to sea.

³We caught sight of Cyprus but passed by it on our left and sailed on toward Syria and put in at Tyre where the ship was to unload cargo.

⁴There we sought out the disciples and stayed for a week. They kept telling Paul through the Spirit not to embark for Jerusalem.

⁵At the end of our stay we left and resumed our journey. All of them, women and children included, escorted us out of the city, and after kneeling on the beach to pray, ⁶we bade farewell to one another. Then we boarded the ship, and they returned home.

⁷We continued the voyage and came from Tyre to Ptolemais, where we greeted the brothers and stayed a day with them.

⁸On the next day we resumed the trip and came to Caesarea, where we went to the house of Philip the evangelist, who was one of the Seven, and stayed with him.

⁹He had four virgin daughters gifted with prophecy.

¹⁰We had been there several days when a prophet named Agabus came down from Judea.

¹¹He came up to us, took Paul's belt, bound his own feet and hands with it, and said, "Thus says the holy Spirit: This is the way the Jews will bind the owner of this belt in Jerusalem, and they will hand him over to the Gentiles."

¹²When we heard this, we and the local residents begged him not to go up to Jerusalem.

¹³Then Paul replied, "What are you doing, weeping and breaking my heart? I am prepared not only to be bound but even to die in Jerusalem for the name of the Lord Jesus."

- ¹⁴Since he would not be dissuaded we let the matter rest, saying, "The Lord's will be done."
- ¹⁵After these days we made preparations for our journey, then went up to Jerusalem.
- ¹⁶Some of the disciples from Caesarea came along to lead us to the house of Mnason, a Cypriot, a disciple of long standing, with whom we were to stay.
- ¹⁷When we reached Jerusalem the brothers welcomed us warmly.
- ¹⁸The next day, Paul accompanied us on a visit to James, and all the presbyters were present.
- ¹⁹He greeted them, then proceeded to tell them in detail what God had accomplished among the Gentiles through his ministry.
- ²⁰They praised God when they heard it but said to him, "Brother, you see how many thousands of believers there are from among the Jews, and they are all zealous observers of the law.
- ²¹They have been informed that you are teaching all the Jews who live among the Gentiles to abandon Moses and that you are telling them not to circumcise their children or to observe their customary practices.
- ²²What is to be done? They will surely hear that you have arrived.
- ²³So do what we tell you. We have four men who have taken a vow.
- ²⁴Take these men and purify yourself with them, and pay their expenses that they may have their heads shaved. In this way everyone will know that there is nothing to the reports they have been given about you but that you yourself live in observance of the law.
- ²⁵As for the Gentiles who have come to believe, we sent them our decision that they abstain from meat sacrificed to idols, from blood, from the meat of strangled animals, and from unlawful marriage."
- ²⁶So Paul took the men, and on the next day after purifying himself together with them entered the temple to give notice of the day when the purification would be completed and the offering made for each of them.

²⁷When the seven days were nearly completed, the Jews from the province of Asia noticed him in the temple, stirred up the whole crowd, and laid hands on him,

²⁸shouting, "Fellow Israelites, help us. This is the man who is teaching everyone everywhere against the people and the law and this place, and what is more, he has even brought Greeks into the temple and defiled this sacred place."

²⁹For they had previously seen Trophimus the Ephesian in the city with him and supposed that Paul had brought him into the temple.

³⁰The whole city was in turmoil with people rushing together. They seized Paul and dragged him out of the temple, and immediately the gates were closed.

³¹While they were trying to kill him, a report reached the cohort commander that all Jerusalem was rioting.

³²He immediately took soldiers and centurions and charged down on them. When they saw the commander and the soldiers they stopped beating Paul.

³³The cohort commander came forward, arrested him, and ordered him to be secured with two chains; he tried to find out who he might be and what he had done.

³⁴Some in the mob shouted one thing, others something else; so, since he was unable to ascertain the truth because of the uproar, he ordered Paul to be brought into the compound.

³⁵When he reached the steps, he was carried by the soldiers because of the violence of the mob,

³⁶for a crowd of people followed and shouted, "Away with him!"

³⁷Just as Paul was about to be taken into the compound, he said to the cohort commander, "May I say something to you?" He replied, "Do you speak Greek?"

³⁸"So then you are not the Egyptian who started a revolt some time ago and led the four thousand assassins into the desert?"

³⁹Paul answered, "I am a Jew, of Tarsus in Cilicia, a citizen of no mean city; I request you to permit me to speak to the people."

⁴⁰When he had given his permission, Paul stood on the steps and motioned with his hand to the people; and when all was quiet he addressed them in Hebrew.

22"My brothers and fathers, listen to what I am about to say to you in my defense."

²When they heard him addressing them in Hebrew they became all the more quiet. And he continued,

³"I am a Jew, born in Tarsus in Cilicia, but brought up in this city. At the feet of Gamaliel I was educated strictly in our ancestral law and was zealous for God, just as all of you are today.

⁴I persecuted this Way to death, binding both men and women and delivering them to prison.

⁵Even the high priest and the whole council of elders can testify on my behalf. For from them I even received letters to the brothers and set out for Damascus to bring back to Jerusalem in chains for punishment those there as well.

⁶"On that journey as I drew near to Damascus, about noon a great light from the sky suddenly shone around me.

⁷I fell to the ground and heard a voice saying to me, 'Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me?'

⁸I replied, 'Who are you, sir?' And he said to me, 'I am Jesus the Nazorean whom you are persecuting.'

⁹My companions saw the light but did not hear the voice of the one who spoke to me.

¹⁰I asked, 'What shall I do, sir?' The Lord answered me, 'Get up and go into Damascus, and there you will be told about everything appointed for you to do.'

¹¹Since I could see nothing because of the brightness of that light, I was led by hand by my companions and entered Damascus.

¹²"A certain Ananias, a devout observer of the law, and highly spoken of by all the Jews who lived there, ¹³came to me and stood there and said, 'Saul, my brother, regain your sight.' And at that very moment I regained my sight and saw him.

¹⁴Then he said, 'The God of our ancestors designated you to know his will, to see the Righteous One, and to hear the sound of his voice;

¹⁵for you will be his witness before all to what you have seen and heard.

¹⁶Now, why delay? Get up and have yourself baptized and your sins washed away, calling upon his name.'

¹⁷"After I had returned to Jerusalem and while I was praying in the temple, I fell into a trance

¹⁸and saw the Lord saying to me, 'Hurry, leave Jerusalem at once, because they will not accept your testimony about me.'

¹⁹But I replied, 'Lord, they themselves know that from synagogue to synagogue I used to imprison and beat those who believed in you.

²⁰And when the blood of your witness Stephen was being shed, I myself stood by giving my approval and keeping guard over the cloaks of his murderers.'

²¹Then he said to me, 'Go, I shall send you far away to the Gentiles.'"

²²They listened to him until he said this, but then they raised their voices and shouted, "Take such a one as this away from the earth. It is not right that he should live."

²³And as they were yelling and throwing off their cloaks and flinging dust into the air,

²⁴the cohort commander ordered him to be brought into the compound and gave instruction that he be interrogated under the lash to determine the reason why they were making such an outcry against him.

²⁵But when they had stretched him out for the whips, Paul said to the centurion on duty, "Is it lawful for you to scourge a man who is a Roman citizen and has not been tried?"

²⁶When the centurion heard this, he went to the cohort commander and reported it, saying, "What are you going to do? This man is a Roman citizen."

²⁷Then the commander came and said to him, "Tell me, are you a Roman citizen?" "Yes," he answered.

²⁸The commander replied, "I acquired this citizenship for a large sum of money." Paul said, "But I was born one."

²⁹At once those who were going to interrogate him backed away from him, and the commander became alarmed when he realized that he was a Roman citizen and that he had had him bound.

³⁰The next day, wishing to determine the truth about why he was being accused by the Jews, he freed him and ordered the chief priests and the whole Sanhedrin to convene. Then he brought Paul down and made him stand before them.

23 Paul looked intently at the Sanhedrin and said, "My brothers, I have conducted myself with a perfectly clear conscience before God to this day."

²The high priest Ananias ordered his attendants to strike his mouth.

³Then Paul said to him, "God will strike you, you whitewashed wall. Do you indeed sit in judgment upon me according to the law and yet in violation of the law order me to be struck?"

⁴The attendants said, "Would you revile God's high priest?"

⁵Paul answered, "Brothers, I did not realize he was the high priest. For it is written, 'You shall not curse a ruler of your people.'"

⁶Paul was aware that some were Sadducees and some Pharisees, so he called out before the Sanhedrin, "My brothers, I am a Pharisee, the son of Pharisees; (I) am on trial for hope in the resurrection of the dead."

⁷When he said this, a dispute broke out between the Pharisees and Sadducees, and the group became divided.

⁸For the Sadducees say that there is no resurrection or angels or spirits, while the Pharisees acknowledge all three.

⁹A great uproar occurred, and some scribes belonging to the Pharisee party stood up and sharply argued, "We find nothing wrong with this man. Suppose a spirit or an angel has spoken to him?"

¹⁰The dispute was so serious that the commander, afraid that Paul would be torn to pieces by them, ordered his troops to go down and rescue him from their midst and take him into the compound.

¹¹The following night the Lord stood by him and said, "Take courage. For just as you have borne witness to my cause in Jerusalem, so you must also bear witness in Rome."

¹²When day came, the Jews made a plot and bound themselves by oath not to eat or drink until they had killed Paul.

¹³There were more than forty who formed this conspiracy.

¹⁴They went to the chief priests and elders and said, "We have bound ourselves by a solemn oath to taste nothing until we have killed Paul.

¹⁵You, together with the Sanhedrin, must now make an official request to the commander to have him bring him down to you, as though you meant to investigate his case more thoroughly. We on our part are prepared to kill him before he arrives."

¹⁶The son of Paul's sister, however, heard about the ambush; so he went and entered the compound and reported it to Paul.

¹⁷Paul then called one of the centurions and requested, "Take this young man to the commander; he has something to report to him."

¹⁸So he took him and brought him to the commander and explained, "The prisoner Paul called me and asked that I bring this young man to you; he has something to say to you."

¹⁹The commander took him by the hand, drew him aside, and asked him privately, "What is it you have to report to me?"

²⁰He replied, "The Jews have conspired to ask you to bring Paul down to the Sanhedrin tomorrow, as though they meant to inquire about him more thoroughly, ²¹but do not believe them. More than forty of them are lying in wait for him; they have bound themselves by oath not to eat or drink until they have killed him. They are now ready and only wait for your consent."

²²As the commander dismissed the young man he directed him, "Tell no one that you gave me this information."

²³Then he summoned two of the centurions and said, "Get two hundred soldiers ready to go to Caesarea by nine o'clock tonight, along with seventy horsemen and two hundred auxiliaries.

²⁴Provide mounts for Paul to ride and give him safe conduct to Felix the governor."

²⁵Then he wrote a letter with this content:

²⁶"Claudius Lysias to his excellency the governor Felix, greetings.

²⁷This man, seized by the Jews and about to be murdered by them, I rescued after intervening with my troops when I learned that he was a Roman citizen.

²⁸I wanted to learn the reason for their accusations against him so I brought him down to their Sanhedrin.

²⁹I discovered that he was accused in matters of controversial questions of their law and not of any charge deserving death or imprisonment.

³⁰Since it was brought to my attention that there will be a plot against the man, I am sending him to you at once, and have also notified his accusers to state (their case) against him before you."

³¹So the soldiers, according to their orders, took Paul and escorted him by night to Antipatris.

³²The next day they returned to the compound, leaving the horsemen to complete the journey with him.

³³When they arrived in Caesarea they delivered the letter to the governor and presented Paul to him.

³⁴When he had read it and asked to what province he belonged, and learned that he was from Cilicia,

³⁵he said, "I shall hear your case when your accusers arrive." Then he ordered that he be held in custody in Herod's praetorium.

24Five days later the high priest Ananias came down with some elders and an advocate, a certain Tertullus, and they presented formal charges against Paul to the governor.

²When he was called, Tertullus began to accuse him, saying, "Since we have attained much peace through you, and reforms have been accomplished in this nation through your provident care, ³we acknowledge this in every way and everywhere, most excellent Felix, with all gratitude.

⁴But in order not to detain you further, I ask you to give us a brief hearing with your customary graciousness.

⁵We found this man to be a pest; he creates dissension among Jews all over the world and is a ringleader of the sect of the Nazoreans.

⁶He even tried to desecrate our temple, but we arrested him.

⁸If you examine him you will be able to learn from him for yourself about everything of which we are accusing him."

⁹The Jews also joined in the attack and asserted that these things were so.

¹⁰Then the governor motioned to him to speak and Paul replied, "I know that you have been a judge over this nation for many years and so I am pleased to make my defense before you.

¹¹As you can verify, not more than twelve days have passed since I went up to Jerusalem to worship.

¹²Neither in the temple, nor in the synagogues, nor anywhere in the city did they find me arguing with anyone or instigating a riot among the people.

¹³Nor can they prove to you the accusations they are now making against me.

¹⁴But this I do admit to you, that according to the Way, which they call a sect, I worship the God of our ancestors and I believe everything that is in accordance with the law and written in the prophets.

¹⁵I have the same hope in God as they themselves have that there will be a resurrection of the righteous and the unrighteous.

¹⁶Because of this, I always strive to keep my conscience clear before God and man.

¹⁷After many years, I came to bring alms for my nation and offerings.

¹⁸While I was so engaged, they found me, after my purification, in the temple without a crowd or disturbance.

¹⁹But some Jews from the province of Asia, who should be here before you to make whatever accusation they might have against me--

²⁰or let these men themselves state what crime they discovered when I stood before the Sanhedrin,

²¹unless it was my one outcry as I stood among them, that 'I am on trial before you today for the resurrection of the dead.'

²²Then Felix, who was accurately informed about the Way, postponed the trial, saying, "When Lysias the commander comes down, I shall decide your case."

²³He gave orders to the centurion that he should be kept in custody but have some liberty, and that he should not prevent any of his friends from caring for his needs.

²⁴Several days later Felix came with his wife Drusilla, who was Jewish. He had Paul summoned and listened to him speak about faith in Christ Jesus.

²⁵But as he spoke about righteousness and self-restraint and the coming judgment, Felix became frightened and said, "You may go for now; when I find an opportunity I shall summon you again."

²⁶At the same time he hoped that a bribe would be offered him by Paul, and so he sent for him very often and conversed with him.

²⁷Two years passed and Felix was succeeded by Porcius Festus. Wishing to ingratiate himself with the Jews, Felix left Paul in prison.

25 Three days after his arrival in the province, Festus went up from Caesarea to Jerusalem

²where the chief priests and Jewish leaders presented him their formal charges against Paul. They asked him

³as a favor to have him sent to Jerusalem, for they were plotting to kill him along the way.

⁴Festus replied that Paul was being held in custody in Caesarea and that he himself would be returning there shortly.

⁵He said, "Let your authorities come down with me, and if this man has done something improper, let them accuse him."

⁶After spending no more than eight or ten days with them, he went down to Caesarea, and on the following day took his seat on the tribunal and ordered that Paul be brought in.

⁷When he appeared, the Jews who had come down from Jerusalem surrounded him and brought many serious charges against him, which they were unable to prove.

⁸In defending himself Paul said, "I have committed no crime either against the Jewish law or against the temple or against Caesar."

⁹Then Festus, wishing to ingratiate himself with the Jews, said to Paul in reply, "Are you willing to go up to Jerusalem and there stand trial before me on these charges?"

¹⁰Paul answered, "I am standing before the tribunal of Caesar; this is where I should be tried. I have committed no crime against the Jews, as you very well know.

¹¹If I have committed a crime or done anything deserving death, I do not seek to escape the death penalty; but if there is no substance to the charges they are bringing against me, then no one has the right to hand me over to them. I appeal to Caesar."

¹²Then Festus, after conferring with his council, replied, "You have appealed to Caesar. To Caesar you will go."

¹³When a few days had passed, King Agrippa and Bernice arrived in Caesarea on a visit to Festus.

¹⁴Since they spent several days there, Festus referred Paul's case to the king, saying, "There is a man here left in custody by Felix.

¹⁵When I was in Jerusalem the chief priests and the elders of the Jews brought charges against him and demanded his condemnation.

¹⁶I answered them that it was not Roman practice to hand over an accused person before he has faced his accusers and had the opportunity to defend himself against their charge.

¹⁷So when (they) came together here, I made no delay; the next day I took my seat on the tribunal and ordered the man to be brought in.

¹⁸His accusers stood around him, but did not charge him with any of the crimes I suspected.

¹⁹Instead they had some issues with him about their own religion and about a certain Jesus who had died but who Paul claimed was alive.

²⁰Since I was at a loss how to investigate this controversy, I asked if he were willing to go to Jerusalem and there stand trial on these charges.

²¹And when Paul appealed that he be held in custody for the Emperor's decision, I ordered him held until I could send him to Caesar."

²²Agrippa said to Festus, "I too should like to hear this man." He replied, "Tomorrow you will hear him."

²³The next day Agrippa and Bernice came with great ceremony and entered the audience hall in the company of cohort commanders and the prominent men of the city and, by command of Festus, Paul was brought in.

²⁴And Festus said, "King Agrippa and all you here present with us, look at this man about whom the whole Jewish populace petitioned me here and in Jerusalem, clamoring that he should live no longer.

²⁵I found, however, that he had done nothing deserving death, and so when he appealed to the Emperor, I decided to send him.

²⁶But I have nothing definite to write about him to our sovereign; therefore I have brought him before all of you, and particularly before you, King Agrippa, so that I may have something to write as a result of this investigation.

²⁷For it seems senseless to me to send up a prisoner without indicating the charges against him."

26 Then Agrippa said to Paul, "You may now speak on your own behalf." So Paul stretched out his hand and began his defense.

²"I count myself fortunate, King Agrippa, that I am to defend myself before you today against all the charges made against me by the Jews,

- ³especially since you are an expert in all the Jewish customs and controversies. And therefore I beg you to listen patiently.
- ⁴My manner of living from my youth, a life spent from the beginning among my people and in Jerusalem, all (the) Jews know.
- ⁵They have known about me from the start, if they are willing to testify, that I have lived my life as a Pharisee, the strictest party of our religion.
- ⁶But now I am standing trial because of my hope in the promise made by God to our ancestors.
- ⁷Our twelve tribes hope to attain to that promise as they fervently worship God day and night; and on account of this hope I am accused by Jews, O king.
- ⁸Why is it thought unbelievable among you that God raises the dead?
- ⁹I myself once thought that I had to do many things against the name of Jesus the Nazorean,
- ¹⁰and I did so in Jerusalem. I imprisoned many of the holy ones with the authorization I received from the chief priests, and when they were to be put to death I cast my vote against them.
- ¹¹Many times, in synagogue after synagogue, I punished them in an attempt to force them to blaspheme; I was so enraged against them that I pursued them even to foreign cities.
- ¹²On one such occasion I was traveling to Damascus with the authorization and commission of the chief priests.
- ¹³At midday, along the way, O king, I saw a light from the sky, brighter than the sun, shining around me and my traveling companions.
- ¹⁴We all fell to the ground and I heard a voice saying to me in Hebrew, 'Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me? It is hard for you to kick against the goad.'
- ¹⁵And I said, 'Who are you, sir?' And the Lord replied, 'I am Jesus whom you are persecuting.'

¹⁶Get up now, and stand on your feet. I have appeared to you for this purpose, to appoint you as a servant and witness of what you have seen (of me) and what you will be shown.

¹⁷I shall deliver you from this people and from the Gentiles to whom I send you,

¹⁸to open their eyes that they may turn from darkness to light and from the power of Satan to God, so that they may obtain forgiveness of sins and an inheritance among those who have been consecrated by faith in me.'

¹⁹"And so, King Agrippa, I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision.

²⁰On the contrary, first to those in Damascus and in Jerusalem and throughout the whole country of Judea, and then to the Gentiles, I preached the need to repent and turn to God, and to do works giving evidence of repentance.

²¹That is why the Jews seized me (when I was) in the temple and tried to kill me.

²²But I have enjoyed God's help to this very day, and so I stand here testifying to small and great alike, saying nothing different from what the prophets and Moses foretold,

²³that the Messiah must suffer and that, as the first to rise from the dead, he would proclaim light both to our people and to the Gentiles."

²⁴While Paul was so speaking in his defense, Festus said in a loud voice, "You are mad, Paul; much learning is driving you mad."

²⁵But Paul replied, "I am not mad, most excellent Festus; I am speaking words of truth and reason.

²⁶The king knows about these matters and to him I speak boldly, for I cannot believe that (any) of this has escaped his notice; this was not done in a corner.

²⁷King Agrippa, do you believe the prophets? I know you believe."

²⁸Then Agrippa said to Paul, "You will soon persuade me to play the Christian."

²⁹Paul replied, "I would pray to God that sooner or later not only you but all who listen to me today might become as I am except for these chains."

³⁰Then the king rose, and with him the governor and Bernice and the others who sat with them.

³¹And after they had withdrawn they said to one another, "This man is doing nothing (at all) that deserves death or imprisonment."

³²And Agrippa said to Festus, "This man could have been set free if he had not appealed to Caesar."

27 When it was decided that we should sail to Italy, they handed Paul and some other prisoners over to a centurion named Julius of the Cohort Augusta.

²We went on board a ship from Adramyttium bound for ports in the province of Asia and set sail. Aristarchus, a Macedonian from Thessalonica, was with us.

³On the following day we put in at Sidon where Julius was kind enough to allow Paul to visit his friends who took care of him.

⁴From there we put out to sea and sailed around the sheltered side of Cyprus because of the headwinds, ⁵and crossing the open sea off the coast of Cilicia and Pamphylia we came to Myra in Lycia.

⁶There the centurion found an Alexandrian ship that was sailing to Italy and put us on board.

⁷For many days we made little headway, arriving at Cnidus only with difficulty, and because the wind would not permit us to continue our course we sailed for the sheltered side of Crete off Salmone.

⁸We sailed past it with difficulty and reached a place called Fair Havens, near which was the city of Lasea.

⁹Much time had now passed and sailing had become hazardous because the time of the fast had already gone by, so Paul warned them,

¹⁰"Men, I can see that this voyage will result in severe damage and heavy loss not only to the cargo and the ship, but also to our lives."

¹¹The centurion, however, paid more attention to the pilot and to the owner of the ship than to what Paul said.

¹²Since the harbor was unfavorably situated for spending the winter, the majority planned to put out to sea from there in the hope of reaching Phoenix, a port in Crete facing west-northwest, there to spend the winter.

¹³A south wind blew gently, and thinking they had attained their objective, they weighed anchor and sailed along close to the coast of Crete.

¹⁴Before long an offshore wind of hurricane force called a "Northeaster" struck.

¹⁵Since the ship was caught up in it and could not head into the wind we gave way and let ourselves be driven.

¹⁶We passed along the sheltered side of an island named Cauda and managed only with difficulty to get the dinghy under control.

¹⁷They hoisted it aboard, then used cables to undergird the ship. Because of their fear that they would run aground on the shoal of Syrtis, they lowered the drift anchor and were carried along in this way.

¹⁸We were being pounded by the storm so violently that the next day they jettisoned some cargo,

¹⁹and on the third day with their own hands they threw even the ship's tackle overboard.

²⁰Neither the sun nor the stars were visible for many days, and no small storm raged. Finally, all hope of our surviving was taken away.

²¹When many would no longer eat, Paul stood among them and said, "Men, you should have taken my advice and not have set sail from Crete and you would have avoided this disastrous loss.

²²I urge you now to keep up your courage; not one of you will be lost, only the ship.

²³For last night an angel of the God to whom (I) belong and whom I serve stood by me

²⁴and said, 'Do not be afraid, Paul. You are destined to stand before Caesar; and behold, for your sake, God has granted safety to all who are sailing with you.'

²⁵Therefore, keep up your courage, men; I trust in God that it will turn out as I have been told.

²⁶"We are destined to run aground on some island."

²⁷On the fourteenth night, as we were still being driven about on the Adriatic Sea, toward midnight the sailors began to suspect that they were nearing land.

²⁸They took soundings and found twenty fathoms; a little farther on, they again took soundings and found fifteen fathoms.

²⁹Fearing that we would run aground on a rocky coast, they dropped four anchors from the stern and prayed for day to come.

³⁰The sailors then tried to abandon ship; they lowered the dinghy to the sea on the pretext of going to lay out anchors from the bow.

³¹But Paul said to the centurion and the soldiers, "Unless these men stay with the ship, you cannot be saved."

³²So the soldiers cut the ropes of the dinghy and set it adrift.

³³Until the day began to dawn, Paul kept urging all to take some food. He said, "Today is the fourteenth day that you have been waiting, going hungry and eating nothing.

³⁴I urge you, therefore, to take some food; it will help you survive. Not a hair of the head of anyone of you will be lost."

³⁵When he said this, he took bread, gave thanks to God in front of them all, broke it, and began to eat.

³⁶They were all encouraged, and took some food themselves.

³⁷In all, there were two hundred seventy-six of us on the ship.

³⁸After they had eaten enough, they lightened the ship by throwing the wheat into the sea.

³⁹When day came they did not recognize the land, but made out a bay with a beach. They planned to run the ship ashore on it, if they could.

⁴⁰So they cast off the anchors and abandoned them to the sea, and at the same time they unfastened the lines of the rudders, and hoisting the foresail into the wind, they made for the beach.

⁴¹But they struck a sandbar and ran the ship aground. The bow was wedged in and could not be moved, but the stern began to break up under the pounding (of the waves).

⁴²The soldiers planned to kill the prisoners so that none might swim away and escape,

⁴³but the centurion wanted to save Paul and so kept them from carrying out their plan. He ordered those who could swim to jump overboard first and get to the shore, ⁴⁴and then the rest, some on planks, others on debris from the ship. In this way, all reached shore safely.

28 Once we had reached safety we learned that the island was called Malta.

²The natives showed us extraordinary hospitality; they lit a fire and welcomed all of us because it had begun to rain and was cold.

³Paul had gathered a bundle of brushwood and was putting it on the fire when a viper, escaping from the heat, fastened on his hand.

⁴When the natives saw the snake hanging from his hand, they said to one another, "This man must certainly be a murderer; though he escaped the sea, Justice has not let him remain alive."

⁵But he shook the snake off into the fire and suffered no harm.

⁶They were expecting him to swell up or suddenly to fall down dead but, after waiting a long time and seeing nothing unusual happen to him, they changed their minds and began to say that he was a god.

⁷In the vicinity of that place were lands belonging to a man named Publius, the chief of the island. He welcomed us and received us cordially as his guests for three days.

⁸It so happened that the father of Publius was sick with a fever and dysentery. Paul visited him and, after praying, laid his hands on him and healed him.

- ⁹After this had taken place, the rest of the sick on the island came to Paul and were cured.
- ¹⁰They paid us great honor and when we eventually set sail they brought us the provisions we needed.
- ¹¹Three months later we set sail on a ship that had wintered at the island. It was an Alexandrian ship with the Dioscuri as its figurehead.
- ¹²We put in at Syracuse and stayed there three days,
- ¹³and from there we sailed round the coast and arrived at Rhegium. After a day, a south wind came up and in two days we reached Puteoli.
- ¹⁴There we found some brothers and were urged to stay with them for seven days. And thus we came to Rome.
- ¹⁵The brothers from there heard about us and came as far as the Forum of Appius and Three Taverns to meet us. On seeing them, Paul gave thanks to God and took courage.
- ¹⁶When he entered Rome, Paul was allowed to live by himself, with the soldier who was guarding him.
- ¹⁷Three days later he called together the leaders of the Jews. When they had gathered he said to them, "My brothers, although I had done nothing against our people or our ancestral customs, I was handed over to the Romans as a prisoner from Jerusalem.
- ¹⁸After trying my case the Romans wanted to release me, because they found nothing against me deserving the death penalty.
- ¹⁹But when the Jews objected, I was obliged to appeal to Caesar, even though I had no accusation to make against my own nation.
- ²⁰This is the reason, then, I have requested to see you and to speak with you, for it is on account of the hope of Israel that I wear these chains."
- ²¹They answered him, "We have received no letters from Judea about you, nor has any of the brothers arrived with a damaging report or rumor about you.

²²But we should like to hear you present your views, for we know that this sect is denounced everywhere."

²³So they arranged a day with him and came to his lodgings in great numbers. From early morning until evening, he expounded his position to them, bearing witness to the kingdom of God and trying to convince them about Jesus from the law of Moses and the prophets.

²⁴Some were convinced by what he had said, while others did not believe.

²⁵Without reaching any agreement among themselves they began to leave; then Paul made one final statement. "Well did the holy Spirit speak to your ancestors through the prophet Isaiah, saying:

²⁶"Go to this people and say: You shall indeed hear but not understand. You shall indeed look but never see.

²⁷Gross is the heart of this people; they will not hear with their ears; they have closed their eyes, so they may not see with their eyes and hear with their ears and understand with their heart and be converted, and I heal them.'

²⁸Let it be known to you that this salvation of God has been sent to the Gentiles; they will listen."

²⁹

³⁰He remained for two full years in his lodgings. He received all who came to him,

³¹and with complete assurance and without hindrance he proclaimed the kingdom of God and taught about the Lord Jesus Christ.

Romans

1 Paul, a slave of Christ Jesus, called to be an apostle and set apart for the gospel of God,

² which he promised previously through his prophets in the holy scriptures,

³ the gospel about his Son, descended from David according to the flesh,

⁴ but established as Son of God in power according to the spirit of holiness through resurrection from the dead, Jesus Christ our Lord.

⁵ Through him we have received the grace of apostleship, to bring about the obedience of faith, for the sake of his name, among all the Gentiles,

⁶ among whom are you also, who are called to belong to Jesus Christ;

⁷ to all the beloved of God in Rome, called to be holy. Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

⁸ First, I give thanks to my God through Jesus Christ for all of you, because your faith is heralded throughout the world.

⁹ God is my witness, whom I serve with my spirit in proclaiming the gospel of his Son, that I remember you constantly,

¹⁰ always asking in my prayers that somehow by God's will I may at last find my way clear to come to you.

¹¹ For I long to see you, that I may share with you some spiritual gift so that you may be strengthened,

¹² that is, that you and I may be mutually encouraged by one another's faith, yours and mine.

¹³ I do not want you to be unaware, brothers, that I often planned to come to you, though I was prevented until now, that I might harvest some fruit among you, too, as among the rest of the Gentiles.

¹⁴To Greeks and non-Greeks alike, to the wise and the ignorant, I am under obligation;

¹⁵that is why I am eager to preach the gospel also to you in Rome.

¹⁶For I am not ashamed of the gospel. It is the power of God for the salvation of everyone who believes: for Jew first, and then Greek.

¹⁷For in it is revealed the righteousness of God from faith to faith; as it is written, "The one who is righteous by faith will live."

¹⁸The wrath of God is indeed being revealed from heaven against every impiety and wickedness of those who suppress the truth by their wickedness.

¹⁹For what can be known about God is evident to them, because God made it evident to them.

²⁰Ever since the creation of the world, his invisible attributes of eternal power and divinity have been able to be understood and perceived in what he has made. As a result, they have no excuse;

²¹for although they knew God they did not accord him glory as God or give him thanks. Instead, they became vain in their reasoning, and their senseless minds were darkened.

²²While claiming to be wise, they became fools

²³and exchanged the glory of the immortal God for the likeness of an image of mortal man or of birds or of four-legged animals or of snakes.

²⁴Therefore, God handed them over to impurity through the lusts of their hearts for the mutual degradation of their bodies.

²⁵They exchanged the truth of God for a lie and revered and worshiped the creature rather than the creator, who is blessed forever. Amen.

²⁶Therefore, God handed them over to degrading passions. Their females exchanged natural relations for unnatural, ²⁷and the males likewise gave up natural relations with females and burned with lust for one another. Males did shameful things with males and thus received in their own persons the due penalty for their perversity.

²⁸And since they did not see fit to acknowledge God, God handed them over to their undiscerning mind to do what is improper.

²⁹They are filled with every form of wickedness, evil, greed, and malice; full of envy, murder, rivalry, treachery, and spite. They are gossips

³⁰and scandalmongers and they hate God. They are insolent, haughty, boastful, ingenious in their wickedness, and rebellious toward their parents.

³¹They are senseless, faithless, heartless, ruthless.

³²Although they know the just decree of God that all who practice such things deserve death, they not only do them but give approval to those who practice them.

2Therefore, you are without excuse, every one of you who passes judgment. For by the standard by which you judge another you condemn yourself, since you, the judge, do the very same things.

²We know that the judgment of God on those who do such things is true.

³Do you suppose, then, you who judge those who engage in such things and yet do them yourself, that you will escape the judgment of God?

⁴Or do you hold his priceless kindness, forbearance, and patience in low esteem, unaware that the kindness of God would lead you to repentance?

⁵By your stubbornness and impenitent heart, you are storing up wrath for yourself for the day of wrath and revelation of the just judgment of God,

⁶who will repay everyone according to his works:

⁷eternal life to those who seek glory, honor, and immortality through perseverance in good works, ⁸but wrath and fury to those who selfishly disobey the truth and obey wickedness.

⁹Yes, affliction and distress will come upon every human being who does evil, Jew first and then Greek.

¹⁰But there will be glory, honor, and peace for everyone who does good, Jew first and then Greek.

¹¹There is no partiality with God.

¹²All who sin outside the law will also perish without reference to it, and all who sin under the law will be judged in accordance with it.

¹³For it is not those who hear the law who are just in the sight of God; rather, those who observe the law will be justified.

¹⁴For when the Gentiles who do not have the law by nature observe the prescriptions of the law, they are a law for themselves even though they do not have the law.

¹⁵They show that the demands of the law are written in their hearts, while their conscience also bears witness and their conflicting thoughts accuse or even defend them

¹⁶on the day when, according to my gospel, God will judge people's hidden works through Christ Jesus.

¹⁷Now if you call yourself a Jew and rely on the law and boast of God

¹⁸and know his will and are able to discern what is important since you are instructed from the law,

¹⁹and if you are confident that you are a guide for the blind and a light for those in darkness,

²⁰that you are a trainer of the foolish and teacher of the simple, because in the law you have the formulation of knowledge and truth--

²¹then you who teach another, are you failing to teach yourself? You who preach against stealing, do you steal?

²²You who forbid adultery, do you commit adultery? You who detest idols, do you rob temples?

²³You who boast of the law, do you dishonor God by breaking the law?

²⁴For, as it is written, "Because of you the name of God is reviled among the Gentiles."

²⁵Circumcision, to be sure, has value if you observe the law; but if you break the law, your circumcision has become uncircumcision.

²⁶Again, if an uncircumcised man keeps the precepts of the law, will he not be considered circumcised?

²⁷Indeed, those who are physically uncircumcised but carry out the law will pass judgment on you, with your written law and circumcision, who break the law.

²⁸One is not a Jew outwardly. True circumcision is not outward, in the flesh.

²⁹Rather, one is a Jew inwardly, and circumcision is of the heart, in the spirit, not the letter; his praise is not from human beings but from God.

3What advantage is there then in being a Jew? Or what is the value of circumcision?

²Much, in every respect. (For) in the first place, they were entrusted with the utterances of God.

³What if some were unfaithful? Will their infidelity nullify the fidelity of God?

⁴Of course not! God must be true, though every human being is a liar, as it is written: "That you may be justified in your words, and conquer when you are judged."

⁵But if our wickedness provides proof of God's righteousness, what can we say? Is God unjust, humanly speaking, to inflict his wrath?

⁶Of course not! For how else is God to judge the world?

⁷But if God's truth redounds to his glory through my falsehood, why am I still being condemned as a sinner?

⁸And why not say--as we are accused and as some claim we say--that we should do evil that good may come of it? Their penalty is what they deserve.

⁹Well, then, are we better off? Not entirely, for we have already brought the charge against Jews and Greeks alike that they are all under the domination of sin,

¹⁰as it is written: "There is no one just, not one,

¹¹there is no one who understands, there is no one who seeks God.

¹²All have gone astray; all alike are worthless; there is not one who does good, (there is not) even one.

¹³Their throats are open graves; they deceive with their tongues; the venom of asps is on their lips;

¹⁴their mouths are full of bitter cursing.

¹⁵Their feet are quick to shed blood;

¹⁶ruin and misery are in their ways,

¹⁷and the way of peace they know not.

¹⁸There is no fear of God before their eyes."

¹⁹Now we know that what the law says is addressed to those under the law, so that every mouth may be silenced and the whole world stand accountable to God,

²⁰since no human being will be justified in his sight by observing the law; for through the law comes consciousness of sin.

²¹But now the righteousness of God has been manifested apart from the law, though testified to by the law and the prophets,

²²the righteousness of God through faith in Jesus Christ for all who believe. For there is no distinction;

²³all have sinned and are deprived of the glory of God.

²⁴They are justified freely by his grace through the redemption in Christ Jesus,

²⁵whom God set forth as an expiation, through faith, by his blood, to prove his righteousness because of the forgiveness of sins previously committed,

²⁶through the forbearance of God--to prove his righteousness in the present time, that he might be righteous and justify the one who has faith in Jesus.

²⁷What occasion is there then for boasting? It is ruled out. On what principle, that of works? No, rather on the principle of faith.

²⁸For we consider that a person is justified by faith apart from works of the law.

²⁹Does God belong to Jews alone? Does he not belong to Gentiles, too? Yes, also to Gentiles, ³⁰for God is one and will justify the circumcised on the basis of faith and the uncircumcised through faith.

³¹Are we then annulling the law by this faith? Of course not! On the contrary, we are supporting the law.

4What then can we say that Abraham found, our ancestor according to the flesh?

²Indeed, if Abraham was justified on the basis of his works, he has reason to boast; but this was not so in the sight of God.

³For what does the scripture say? "Abraham believed God, and it was credited to him as righteousness."

⁴A worker's wage is credited not as a gift, but as something due.

⁵But when one does not work, yet believes in the one who justifies the ungodly, his faith is credited as righteousness.

⁶So also David declares the blessedness of the person to whom God credits righteousness apart from works:

⁷"Blessed are they whose iniquities are forgiven and whose sins are covered.

⁸Blessed is the man whose sin the Lord does not record."

⁹Does this blessedness apply only to the circumcised, or to the uncircumcised as well? Now we assert that "faith was credited to Abraham as righteousness."

¹⁰Under what circumstances was it credited? Was he circumcised or not? He was not circumcised, but uncircumcised.

¹¹And he received the sign of circumcision as a seal on the righteousness received through faith while he was uncircumcised. Thus he was to be the father of all the uncircumcised who believe, so that to them (also) righteousness might be credited,

¹²as well as the father of the circumcised who not only are circumcised, but also follow the path of faith that our father Abraham walked while still uncircumcised.

¹³It was not through the law that the promise was made to Abraham and his descendants that he would inherit the world, but through the righteousness that comes from faith.

¹⁴For if those who adhere to the law are the heirs, faith is null and the promise is void.

¹⁵For the law produces wrath; but where there is no law, neither is there violation.

¹⁶For this reason, it depends on faith, so that it may be a gift, and the promise may be guaranteed to all his descendants, not to those who only adhere to the law but to those who follow the faith of Abraham, who is the father of all of us,

¹⁷as it is written, "I have made you father of many nations." He is our father in the sight of God, in whom he believed, who gives life to the dead and calls into being what does not exist.

¹⁸He believed, hoping against hope, that he would become "the father of many nations," according to what was said, "Thus shall your descendants be."

¹⁹He did not weaken in faith when he considered his own body as (already) dead (for he was almost a hundred years old) and the dead womb of Sarah.

²⁰He did not doubt God's promise in unbelief; rather, he was empowered by faith and gave glory to God

²¹and was fully convinced that what he had promised he was also able to do.

²²That is why "it was credited to him as righteousness."

²³But it was not for him alone that it was written that "it was credited to him";

²⁴it was also for us, to whom it will be credited, who believe in the one who raised Jesus our Lord from the dead,

²⁵who was handed over for our transgressions and was raised for our justification.

5 Therefore, since we have been justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ,

² through whom we have gained access (by faith) to this grace in which we stand, and we boast in hope of the glory of God.

³ Not only that, but we even boast of our afflictions, knowing that affliction produces endurance,

⁴ and endurance, proven character, and proven character, hope,

⁵ and hope does not disappoint, because the love of God has been poured out into our hearts through the holy Spirit that has been given to us.

⁶ For Christ, while we were still helpless, yet died at the appointed time for the ungodly.

⁷ Indeed, only with difficulty does one die for a just person, though perhaps for a good person one might even find courage to die.

⁸ But God proves his love for us in that while we were still sinners Christ died for us.

⁹ How much more then, since we are now justified by his blood, will we be saved through him from the wrath.

¹⁰ Indeed, if, while we were enemies, we were reconciled to God through the death of his Son, how much more, once reconciled, will we be saved by his life.

¹¹ Not only that, but we also boast of God through our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom we have now received reconciliation.

¹² Therefore, just as through one person sin entered the world, and through sin, death, and thus death came to all, inasmuch as all sinned --

¹³ for up to the time of the law, sin was in the world, though sin is not accounted when there is no law.

¹⁴ But death reigned from Adam to Moses, even over those who did not sin after the pattern of the trespass of Adam, who is the type of the one who was to come.

¹⁵But the gift is not like the transgression. For if by that one person's transgression the many died, how much more did the grace of God and the gracious gift of the one person Jesus Christ overflow for the many.

¹⁶And the gift is not like the result of the one person's sinning. For after one sin there was the judgment that brought condemnation; but the gift, after many transgressions, brought acquittal.

¹⁷For if, by the transgression of one person, death came to reign through that one, how much more will those who receive the abundance of grace and of the gift of justification come to reign in life through the one person Jesus Christ.

¹⁸In conclusion, just as through one transgression condemnation came upon all, so through one righteous act acquittal and life came to all.

¹⁹For just as through the disobedience of one person the many were made sinners, so through the obedience of one the many will be made righteous.

²⁰The law entered in so that transgression might increase but, where sin increased, grace overflowed all the more,

²¹so that, as sin reigned in death, grace also might reign through justification for eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

6What then shall we say? Shall we persist in sin that grace may abound? Of course not!

²How can we who died to sin yet live in it?

³Or are you unaware that we who were baptized into Christ Jesus were baptized into his death?

⁴We were indeed buried with him through baptism into death, so that, just as Christ was raised from the dead by the glory of the Father, we too might live in newness of life.

⁵For if we have grown into union with him through a death like his, we shall also be united with him in the resurrection.

⁶We know that our old self was crucified with him, so that our sinful body might be done away with, that we might no longer be in slavery to sin.

⁷For a dead person has been absolved from sin.

⁸If, then, we have died with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with him.

⁹We know that Christ, raised from the dead, dies no more; death no longer has power over him.

¹⁰As to his death, he died to sin once and for all; as to his life, he lives for God.

¹¹Consequently, you too must think of yourselves as (being) dead to sin and living for God in Christ Jesus.

¹²Therefore, sin must not reign over your mortal bodies so that you obey their desires.

¹³And do not present the parts of your bodies to sin as weapons for wickedness, but present yourselves to God as raised from the dead to life and the parts of your bodies to God as weapons for righteousness.

¹⁴For sin is not to have any power over you, since you are not under the law but under grace.

¹⁵What then? Shall we sin because we are not under the law but under grace? Of course not!

¹⁶Do you not know that if you present yourselves to someone as obedient slaves, you are slaves of the one you obey, either of sin, which leads to death, or of obedience, which leads to righteousness?

¹⁷But thanks be to God that, although you were once slaves of sin, you have become obedient from the heart to the pattern of teaching to which you were entrusted.

¹⁸Freed from sin, you have become slaves of righteousness.

¹⁹I am speaking in human terms because of the weakness of your nature. For just as you presented the parts of your bodies as slaves to impurity and to lawlessness for lawlessness, so now present them as slaves to righteousness for sanctification.

²⁰For when you were slaves of sin, you were free from righteousness.

²¹But what profit did you get then from the things of which you are now ashamed? For the end of those things is death.

²²But now that you have been freed from sin and have become slaves of God, the benefit that you have leads to sanctification, and its end is eternal life.

²³For the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord.

7 Are you unaware, brothers (for I am speaking to people who know the law), that the law has jurisdiction over one as long as one lives?

²Thus a married woman is bound by law to her living husband; but if her husband dies, she is released from the law in respect to her husband.

³Consequently, while her husband is alive she will be called an adulteress if she consorts with another man. But if her husband dies she is free from that law, and she is not an adulteress if she consorts with another man.

⁴In the same way, my brothers, you also were put to death to the law through the body of Christ, so that you might belong to another, to the one who was raised from the dead in order that we might bear fruit for God.

⁵For when we were in the flesh, our sinful passions, awakened by the law, worked in our members to bear fruit for death.

⁶But now we are released from the law, dead to what held us captive, so that we may serve in the newness of the spirit and not under the obsolete letter.

⁷What then can we say? That the law is sin? Of course not! Yet I did not know sin except through the law, and I did not know what it is to covet except that the law said, "You shall not covet."

⁸But sin, finding an opportunity in the commandment, produced in me every kind of covetousness. Apart from the law sin is dead.

⁹I once lived outside the law, but when the commandment came, sin became alive;

¹⁰then I died, and the commandment that was for life turned out to be death for me.

¹¹For sin, seizing an opportunity in the commandment, deceived me and through it put me to death.

¹²So then the law is holy, and the commandment is holy and righteous and good.

¹³Did the good, then, become death for me? Of course not! Sin, in order that it might be shown to be sin, worked death in me through the good, so that sin might become sinful beyond measure through the commandment.

¹⁴We know that the law is spiritual; but I am carnal, sold into slavery to sin.

¹⁵What I do, I do not understand. For I do not do what I want, but I do what I hate.

¹⁶Now if I do what I do not want, I concur that the law is good.

¹⁷So now it is no longer I who do it, but sin that dwells in me.

¹⁸For I know that good does not dwell in me, that is, in my flesh. The willing is ready at hand, but doing the good is not.

¹⁹For I do not do the good I want, but I do the evil I do not want.

²⁰Now if (I) do what I do not want, it is no longer I who do it, but sin that dwells in me.

²¹So, then, I discover the principle that when I want to do right, evil is at hand.

²²For I take delight in the law of God, in my inner self,

²³but I see in my members another principle at war with the law of my mind, taking me captive to the law of sin that dwells in my members.

²⁴Miserable one that I am! Who will deliver me from this mortal body?

²⁵Thanks be to God through Jesus Christ our Lord. Therefore, I myself, with my mind, serve the law of God but, with my flesh, the law of sin.

Hence, now there is no condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus.

²For the law of the spirit of life in Christ Jesus has freed you from the law of sin and death.

³For what the law, weakened by the flesh, was powerless to do, this God has done: by sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh and for the sake of sin, he condemned sin in the flesh,

⁴so that the righteous decree of the law might be fulfilled in us, who live not according to the flesh but according to the spirit.

⁵For those who live according to the flesh are concerned with the things of the flesh, but those who live according to the spirit with the things of the spirit.

⁶The concern of the flesh is death, but the concern of the spirit is life and peace.

⁷For the concern of the flesh is hostility toward God; it does not submit to the law of God, nor can it;

⁸and those who are in the flesh cannot please God.

⁹But you are not in the flesh; on the contrary, you are in the spirit, if only the Spirit of God dwells in you. Whoever does not have the Spirit of Christ does not belong to him.

¹⁰But if Christ is in you, although the body is dead because of sin, the spirit is alive because of righteousness.

¹¹If the Spirit of the one who raised Jesus from the dead dwells in you, the one who raised Christ from the dead will give life to your mortal bodies also, through his Spirit that dwells in you.

¹²Consequently, brothers, we are not debtors to the flesh, to live according to the flesh.

¹³For if you live according to the flesh, you will die, but if by the spirit you put to death the deeds of the body, you will live.

¹⁴For those who are led by the Spirit of God are children of God.

¹⁵For you did not receive a spirit of slavery to fall back into fear, but you received a spirit of adoption, through which we cry, "Abba, Father!"

¹⁶The Spirit itself bears witness with our spirit that we are children of God,

¹⁷and if children, then heirs, heirs of God and joint heirs with Christ, if only we suffer with him so that we may also be glorified with him.

¹⁸I consider that the sufferings of this present time are as nothing compared with the glory to be revealed for us.

- ¹⁹For creation awaits with eager expectation the revelation of the children of God;
- ²⁰for creation was made subject to futility, not of its own accord but because of the one who subjected it, in hope
- ²¹that creation itself would be set free from slavery to corruption and share in the glorious freedom of the children of God.
- ²²We know that all creation is groaning in labor pains even until now;
- ²³and not only that, but we ourselves, who have the firstfruits of the Spirit, we also groan within ourselves as we wait for adoption, the redemption of our bodies.
- ²⁴For in hope we were saved. Now hope that sees for itself is not hope. For who hopes for what one sees?
- ²⁵But if we hope for what we do not see, we wait with endurance.
- ²⁶In the same way, the Spirit too comes to the aid of our weakness; for we do not know how to pray as we ought, but the Spirit itself intercedes with inexpressible groanings.
- ²⁷And the one who searches hearts knows what is the intention of the Spirit, because it intercedes for the holy ones according to God's will.
- ²⁸We know that all things work for good for those who love God, who are called according to his purpose.
- ²⁹For those he foreknew he also predestined to be conformed to the image of his Son, so that he might be the firstborn among many brothers.
- ³⁰And those he predestined he also called; and those he called he also justified; and those he justified he also glorified.
- ³¹What then shall we say to this? If God is for us, who can be against us?
- ³²He who did not spare his own Son but handed him over for us all, how will he not also give us everything else along with him?
- ³³Who will bring a charge against God's chosen ones? It is God who acquits us.

³⁴Who will condemn? It is Christ (Jesus) who died, rather, was raised, who also is at the right hand of God, who indeed intercedes for us.

³⁵What will separate us from the love of Christ? Will anguish, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or the sword?

³⁶As it is written: "For your sake we are being slain all the day; we are looked upon as sheep to be slaughtered."

³⁷No, in all these things we conquer overwhelmingly through him who loved us.

³⁸For I am convinced that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor present things, nor future things, nor powers,

³⁹nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature will be able to separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord.

9 I speak the truth in Christ, I do not lie; my conscience joins with the holy Spirit in bearing me witness

²that I have great sorrow and constant anguish in my heart.

³For I could wish that I myself were accursed and separated from Christ for the sake of my brothers, my kin according to the flesh.

⁴They are Israelites; theirs the adoption, the glory, the covenants, the giving of the law, the worship, and the promises;

⁵theirs the patriarchs, and from them, according to the flesh, is the Messiah. God who is over all be blessed forever. Amen.

⁶But it is not that the word of God has failed. For not all who are of Israel are Israel,

⁷nor are they all children of Abraham because they are his descendants; but "It is through Isaac that descendants shall bear your name."

⁸This means that it is not the children of the flesh who are the children of God, but the children of the promise are counted as descendants.

⁹For this is the wording of the promise, "About this time I shall return and Sarah will have a son."

¹⁰And not only that, but also when Rebecca had conceived children by one husband, our father Isaac --

¹¹before they had yet been born or had done anything, good or bad, in order that God's elective plan might continue,

¹²not by works but by his call--she was told, "The older shall serve the younger."

¹³As it is written: "I loved Jacob but hated Esau."

¹⁴What then are we to say? Is there injustice on the part of God? Of course not!

¹⁵For he says to Moses: "I will show mercy to whom I will, I will take pity on whom I will."

¹⁶So it depends not upon a person's will or exertion, but upon God, who shows mercy.

¹⁷For the scripture says to Pharaoh, "This is why I have raised you up, to show my power through you that my name may be proclaimed throughout the earth."

¹⁸Consequently, he has mercy upon whom he wills, and he hardens whom he wills.

¹⁹You will say to me then, "Why (then) does he still find fault? For who can oppose his will?"

²⁰But who indeed are you, a human being, to talk back to God? Will what is made say to its maker, "Why have you created me so?"

²¹Or does not the potter have a right over the clay, to make out of the same lump one vessel for a noble purpose and another for an ignoble one?

²²What if God, wishing to show his wrath and make known his power, has endured with much patience the vessels of wrath made for destruction?

²³This was to make known the riches of his glory to the vessels of mercy, which he has prepared previously for glory,

²⁴namely, us whom he has called, not only from the Jews but also from the Gentiles.

²⁵As indeed he says in Hosea: "Those who were not my people I will call 'my people,' and her who was not beloved I will call 'beloved.'

²⁶And in the very place where it was said to them, 'You are not my people,' there they shall be called children of the living God."

²⁷And Isaiah cries out concerning Israel, "Though the number of the Israelites were like the sand of the sea, only a remnant will be saved;

²⁸for decisively and quickly will the Lord execute sentence upon the earth."

²⁹And as Isaiah predicted: "Unless the Lord of hosts had left us descendants, we would have become like Sodom and have been made like Gomorrah."

³⁰What then shall we say? That Gentiles, who did not pursue righteousness, have achieved it, that is, righteousness that comes from faith;

³¹but that Israel, who pursued the law of righteousness, did not attain to that law?

³²Why not? Because they did it not by faith, but as if it could be done by works. They stumbled over the stone that causes stumbling,

³³as it is written: "Behold, I am laying a stone in Zion that will make people stumble and a rock that will make them fall, and whoever believes in him shall not be put to shame."

10 Brothers, my heart's desire and prayer to God on their behalf is for salvation.

²I testify with regard to them that they have zeal for God, but it is not discerning.

³For, in their unawareness of the righteousness that comes from God and their attempt to establish their own (righteousness), they did not submit to the righteousness of God.

⁴For Christ is the end of the law for the justification of everyone who has faith.

⁵Moses writes about the righteousness that comes from (the) law, "The one who does these things will live by them."

⁶But the righteousness that comes from faith says, "Do not say in your heart, 'Who will go up into heaven?' (that is, to bring Christ down)

⁷or 'Who will go down into the abyss?' (that is, to bring Christ up from the dead)."

⁸But what does it say? "The word is near you, in your mouth and in your heart" (that is, the word of faith that we preach),

⁹for, if you confess with your mouth that Jesus is Lord and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved.

¹⁰For one believes with the heart and so is justified, and one confesses with the mouth and so is saved.

¹¹For the scripture says, "No one who believes in him will be put to shame."

¹²For there is no distinction between Jew and Greek; the same Lord is Lord of all, enriching all who call upon him.

¹³For "everyone who calls on the name of the Lord will be saved."

¹⁴But how can they call on him in whom they have not believed? And how can they believe in him of whom they have not heard? And how can they hear without someone to preach?

¹⁵And how can people preach unless they are sent? As it is written, "How beautiful are the feet of those who bring (the) good news!"

¹⁶But not everyone has heeded the good news; for Isaiah says, "Lord, who has believed what was heard from us?"

¹⁷Thus faith comes from what is heard, and what is heard comes through the word of Christ.

¹⁸But I ask, did they not hear? Certainly they did; for "Their voice has gone forth to all the earth, and their words to the ends of the world."

¹⁹But I ask, did not Israel understand? First Moses says: "I will make you jealous of those who are not a nation; with a senseless nation I will make you angry."

²⁰Then Isaiah speaks boldly and says: "I was found (by) those who were not seeking me; I revealed myself to those who were not asking for me."

²¹But regarding Israel he says, "All day long I stretched out my hands to a disobedient and contentious people."

11 I ask, then, has God rejected his people? Of course not! For I too am an Israelite, a descendant of Abraham, of the tribe of Benjamin.

²God has not rejected his people whom he foreknew. Do you not know what the scripture says about Elijah, how he pleads with God against Israel?

³"Lord, they have killed your prophets, they have torn down your altars, and I alone am left, and they are seeking my life."

⁴But what is God's response to him? "I have left for myself seven thousand men who have not knelt to Baal."

⁵So also at the present time there is a remnant, chosen by grace.

⁶But if by grace, it is no longer because of works; otherwise grace would no longer be grace.

⁷What then? What Israel was seeking it did not attain, but the elect attained it; the rest were hardened,

⁸as it is written: "God gave them a spirit of deep sleep, eyes that should not see and ears that should not hear, down to this very day."

⁹And David says: "Let their table become a snare and a trap, a stumbling block and a retribution for them;

¹⁰let their eyes grow dim so that they may not see, and keep their backs bent forever."

¹¹Hence I ask, did they stumble so as to fall? Of course not! But through their transgression salvation has come to the Gentiles, so as to make them jealous.

¹²Now if their transgression is enrichment for the world, and if their diminished number is enrichment for the Gentiles, how much more their full number.

¹³Now I am speaking to you Gentiles. Inasmuch then as I am the apostle to the Gentiles, I glory in my ministry ¹⁴in order to make my race jealous and thus save some of them.

¹⁵For if their rejection is the reconciliation of the world, what will their acceptance be but life from the dead?

¹⁶If the firstfruits are holy, so is the whole batch of dough; and if the root is holy, so are the branches.

¹⁷But if some of the branches were broken off, and you, a wild olive shoot, were grafted in their place and have come to share in the rich root of the olive tree,

¹⁸do not boast against the branches. If you do boast, consider that you do not support the root; the root supports you.

¹⁹Indeed you will say, "Branches were broken off so that I might be grafted in."

²⁰That is so. They were broken off because of unbelief, but you are there because of faith. So do not become haughty, but stand in awe.

²¹For if God did not spare the natural branches, (perhaps) he will not spare you either.

²²See, then, the kindness and severity of God: severity toward those who fell, but God's kindness to you, provided you remain in his kindness; otherwise you too will be cut off.

²³And they also, if they do not remain in unbelief, will be grafted in, for God is able to graft them in again.

²⁴For if you were cut from what is by nature a wild olive tree, and grafted, contrary to nature, into a cultivated one, how much more will they who belong to it by nature be grafted back into their own olive tree.

²⁵I do not want you to be unaware of this mystery, brothers, so that you will not become wise (in) your own estimation: a hardening has come upon Israel in part, until the full number of the Gentiles comes in,

²⁶and thus all Israel will be saved, as it is written: "The deliverer will come out of Zion, he will turn away godlessness from Jacob;

²⁷and this is my covenant with them when I take away their sins."

²⁸In respect to the gospel, they are enemies on your account; but in respect to election, they are beloved because of the patriarchs.

²⁹For the gifts and the call of God are irrevocable.

³⁰Just as you once disobeyed God but have now received mercy because of their disobedience, ³¹so they have now disobeyed in order that, by virtue of the mercy shown to you, they too may (now) receive mercy.

³²For God delivered all to disobedience, that he might have mercy upon all.

³³Oh, the depth of the riches and wisdom and knowledge of God! How inscrutable are his judgments and how unsearchable his ways!

³⁴"For who has known the mind of the Lord or who has been his counselor?"

³⁵"Or who has given him anything that he may be repaid?"

³⁶For from him and through him and for him are all things. To him be glory forever. Amen.

12 I urge you therefore, brothers, by the mercies of God, to offer your bodies as a living sacrifice, holy and pleasing to God, your spiritual worship.

²Do not conform yourselves to this age but be transformed by the renewal of your mind, that you may discern what is the will of God, what is good and pleasing and perfect.

³For by the grace given to me I tell everyone among you not to think of himself more highly than one ought to think, but to think soberly, each according to the measure of faith that God has apportioned.

⁴For as in one body we have many parts, and all the parts do not have the same function,

⁵so we, though many, are one body in Christ and individually parts of one another.

- ⁶Since we have gifts that differ according to the grace given to us, let us exercise them: if prophecy, in proportion to the faith;
- ⁷if ministry, in ministering; if one is a teacher, in teaching;
- ⁸if one exhorts, in exhortation; if one contributes, in generosity; if one is over others, with diligence; if one does acts of mercy, with cheerfulness.
- ⁹Let love be sincere; hate what is evil, hold on to what is good;
- ¹⁰love one another with mutual affection; anticipate one another in showing honor.
- ¹¹Do not grow slack in zeal, be fervent in spirit, serve the Lord.
- ¹²Rejoice in hope, endure in affliction, persevere in prayer.
- ¹³Contribute to the needs of the holy ones, exercise hospitality.
- ¹⁴Bless those who persecute (you), bless and do not curse them.
- ¹⁵Rejoice with those who rejoice, weep with those who weep.
- ¹⁶Have the same regard for one another; do not be haughty but associate with the lowly; do not be wise in your own estimation.
- ¹⁷Do not repay anyone evil for evil; be concerned for what is noble in the sight of all.
- ¹⁸If possible, on your part, live at peace with all.
- ¹⁹Beloved, do not look for revenge but leave room for the wrath; for it is written, "Vengeance is mine, I will repay, says the Lord."
- ²⁰Rather, "if your enemy is hungry, feed him; if he is thirsty, give him something to drink; for by so doing you will heap burning coals upon his head."
- ²¹Do not be conquered by evil but conquer evil with good.

13 Let every person be subordinate to the higher authorities, for there is no authority except from God, and those that exist have been established by God.

²Therefore, whoever resists authority opposes what God has appointed, and those who oppose it will bring judgment upon themselves.

³For rulers are not a cause of fear to good conduct, but to evil. Do you wish to have no fear of authority? Then do what is good and you will receive approval from it,

⁴for it is a servant of God for your good. But if you do evil, be afraid, for it does not bear the sword without purpose; it is the servant of God to inflict wrath on the evildoer.

⁵Therefore, it is necessary to be subject not only because of the wrath but also because of conscience.

⁶This is why you also pay taxes, for the authorities are ministers of God, devoting themselves to this very thing.

⁷Pay to all their dues, taxes to whom taxes are due, toll to whom toll is due, respect to whom respect is due, honor to whom honor is due.

⁸Owe nothing to anyone, except to love one another; for the one who loves another has fulfilled the law.

⁹The commandments, "You shall not commit adultery; you shall not kill; you shall not steal; you shall not covet," and whatever other commandment there may be, are summed up in this saying, (namely) "You shall love your neighbor as yourself."

¹⁰Love does no evil to the neighbor; hence, love is the fulfillment of the law.

¹¹And do this because you know the time; it is the hour now for you to awake from sleep. For our salvation is nearer now than when we first believed;

¹²the night is advanced, the day is at hand. Let us then throw off the works of darkness (and) put on the armor of light;

¹³let us conduct ourselves properly as in the day, not in orgies and drunkenness, not in promiscuity and licentiousness, not in rivalry and jealousy.

¹⁴But put on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make no provision for the desires of the flesh.

14 Welcome anyone who is weak in faith, but not for disputes over opinions.

²One person believes that one may eat anything, while the weak person eats only vegetables.

³The one who eats must not despise the one who abstains, and the one who abstains must not pass judgment on the one who eats; for God has welcomed him.

⁴Who are you to pass judgment on someone else's servant? Before his own master he stands or falls. And he will be upheld, for the Lord is able to make him stand.

⁵(For) one person considers one day more important than another, while another person considers all days alike. Let everyone be fully persuaded in his own mind.

⁶Whoever observes the day, observes it for the Lord. Also whoever eats, eats for the Lord, since he gives thanks to God; while whoever abstains, abstains for the Lord and gives thanks to God.

⁷None of us lives for oneself, and no one dies for oneself.

⁸For if we live, we live for the Lord, and if we die, we die for the Lord; so then, whether we live or die, we are the Lord's.

⁹For this is why Christ died and came to life, that he might be Lord of both the dead and the living.

¹⁰Why then do you judge your brother? Or you, why do you look down on your brother? For we shall all stand before the judgment seat of God;

¹¹for it is written: "As I live, says the Lord, every knee shall bend before me, and every tongue shall give praise to God."

¹²So (then) each of us shall give an account of himself (to God).

¹³Then let us no longer judge one another, but rather resolve never to put a stumbling block or hindrance in the way of a brother.

¹⁴I know and am convinced in the Lord Jesus that nothing is unclean in itself; still, it is unclean for someone who thinks it unclean.

¹⁵If your brother is being hurt by what you eat, your conduct is no longer in accord with love. Do not because of your food destroy him for whom Christ died.

¹⁶So do not let your good be reviled.

¹⁷For the kingdom of God is not a matter of food and drink, but of righteousness, peace, and joy in the holy Spirit;

¹⁸whoever serves Christ in this way is pleasing to God and approved by others.

¹⁹Let us then pursue what leads to peace and to building up one another.

²⁰For the sake of food, do not destroy the work of God. Everything is indeed clean, but it is wrong for anyone to become a stumbling block by eating;

²¹it is good not to eat meat or drink wine or do anything that causes your brother to stumble.

²²Keep the faith (that) you have to yourself in the presence of God; blessed is the one who does not condemn himself for what he approves.

²³But whoever has doubts is condemned if he eats, because this is not from faith; for whatever is not from faith is sin.

15 We who are strong ought to put up with the failings of the weak and not to please ourselves;

²let each of us please our neighbor for the good, for building up.

³For Christ did not please himself; but, as it is written, "The insults of those who insult you fall upon me."

⁴For whatever was written previously was written for our instruction, that by endurance and by the encouragement of the scriptures we might have hope.

⁵May the God of endurance and encouragement grant you to think in harmony with one another, in keeping with Christ Jesus, ⁶that with one accord you may with one voice glorify the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.

⁷Welcome one another, then, as Christ welcomed you, for the glory of God.

⁸For I say that Christ became a minister of the circumcised to show God's truthfulness, to confirm the promises to the patriarchs,

⁹but so that the Gentiles might glorify God for his mercy. As it is written: "Therefore, I will praise you among the Gentiles and sing praises to your name."

¹⁰And again it says: "Rejoice, O Gentiles, with his people."

¹¹And again: "Praise the Lord, all you Gentiles, and let all the peoples praise him."

¹²And again Isaiah says: "The root of Jesse shall come, raised up to rule the Gentiles; in him shall the Gentiles hope."

¹³May the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing, so that you may abound in hope by the power of the holy Spirit.

¹⁴I myself am convinced about you, my brothers, that you yourselves are full of goodness, filled with all knowledge, and able to admonish one another.

¹⁵But I have written to you rather boldly in some respects to remind you, because of the grace given me by God

¹⁶to be a minister of Christ Jesus to the Gentiles in performing the priestly service of the gospel of God, so that the offering up of the Gentiles may be acceptable, sanctified by the holy Spirit.

¹⁷In Christ Jesus, then, I have reason to boast in what pertains to God.

¹⁸For I will not dare to speak of anything except what Christ has accomplished through me to lead the Gentiles to obedience by word and deed,

¹⁹by the power of signs and wonders, by the power of the Spirit (of God), so that from Jerusalem all the way around to Illyricum I have finished preaching the gospel of Christ.

²⁰Thus I aspire to proclaim the gospel not where Christ has already been named, so that I do not build on another's foundation,

²¹but as it is written: "Those who have never been told of him shall see, and those who have never heard of him shall understand."

²²That is why I have so often been prevented from coming to you.

²³But now, since I no longer have any opportunity in these regions and since I have desired to come to you for many years,

²⁴I hope to see you in passing as I go to Spain and to be sent on my way there by you, after I have enjoyed being with you for a time.

²⁵Now, however, I am going to Jerusalem to minister to the holy ones.

²⁶For Macedonia and Achaia have decided to make some contribution for the poor among the holy ones in Jerusalem;

²⁷they decided to do it, and in fact they are indebted to them, for if the Gentiles have come to share in their spiritual blessings, they ought also to serve them in material blessings.

²⁸So when I have completed this and safely handed over this contribution to them, I shall set out by way of you to Spain;

²⁹and I know that in coming to you I shall come in the fullness of Christ's blessing.

³⁰I urge you, (brothers,) by our Lord Jesus Christ and by the love of the Spirit, to join me in the struggle by your prayers to God on my behalf,

³¹that I may be delivered from the disobedient in Judea, and that my ministry for Jerusalem may be acceptable to the holy ones,

³²so that I may come to you with joy by the will of God and be refreshed together with you.

³³The God of peace be with all of you. Amen.

16 I commend to you Phoebe our sister, who is (also) a minister of the church at Cenchreae,

²that you may receive her in the Lord in a manner worthy of the holy ones, and help her in whatever she may need from you, for she has been a benefactor to many and to me as well.

³Greet Prisca and Aquila, my co-workers in Christ Jesus,

⁴who risked their necks for my life, to whom not only I am grateful but also all the churches of the Gentiles;

⁵greet also the church at their house. Greet my beloved Epaenetus, who was the firstfruits in Asia for Christ.

⁶Greet Mary, who has worked hard for you.

⁷Greet Andronicus and Junia, my relatives and my fellow prisoners; they are prominent among the apostles and they were in Christ before me.

⁸Greet Ampliatus, my beloved in the Lord.

⁹Greet Urbanus, our co-worker in Christ, and my beloved Stachys.

¹⁰Greet Apelles, who is approved in Christ. Greet those who belong to the family of Aristobulus.

¹¹Greet my relative Herodion. Greet those in the Lord who belong to the family of Narcissus.

¹²Greet those workers in the Lord, Tryphaena and Tryphosa. Greet the beloved Persis, who has worked hard in the Lord.

¹³Greet Rufus, chosen in the Lord, and his mother and mine.

¹⁴Greet Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermes, Patrobas, Hermas, and the brothers who are with them.

¹⁵Greet Philologus, Julia, Nereus and his sister, and Olympas, and all the holy ones who are with them.

¹⁶Greet one another with a holy kiss. All the churches of Christ greet you.

¹⁷I urge you, brothers, to watch out for those who create dissensions and obstacles, in opposition to the teaching that you learned; avoid them.

¹⁸For such people do not serve our Lord Christ but their own appetites, and by fair and flattering speech they deceive the hearts of the innocent.

¹⁹For while your obedience is known to all, so that I rejoice over you, I want you to be wise as to what is good, and simple as to what is evil;

²⁰then the God of peace will quickly crush Satan under your feet. The grace of our Lord Jesus be with you.

²¹Timothy, my co-worker, greets you; so do Lucius and Jason and Sosipater, my relatives.

²²I, Tertius, the writer of this letter, greet you in the Lord.

²³Gaius, who is host to me and to the whole church, greets you. Erastus, the city treasurer, and our brother Quartus greet you.

²⁴) (

²⁵Now to him who can strengthen you, according to my gospel and the proclamation of Jesus Christ, according to the revelation of the mystery kept secret for long ages

²⁶but now manifested through the prophetic writings and, according to the command of the eternal God, made known to all nations to bring about the obedience of faith,

²⁷to the only wise God, through Jesus Christ be glory forever and ever. Amen.)

1st Corinthians

²to the church of God that is in Corinth, to you who have been sanctified in Christ Jesus, called to be holy, with all those everywhere who call upon the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, their Lord and ours.

³Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

⁴I give thanks to my God always on your account for the grace of God bestowed on you in Christ Jesus,

⁵that in him you were enriched in every way, with all discourse and all knowledge,

⁶as the testimony to Christ was confirmed among you,

⁷so that you are not lacking in any spiritual gift as you wait for the revelation of our Lord Jesus Christ.

⁸He will keep you firm to the end, irreproachable on the day of our Lord Jesus (Christ).

⁹God is faithful, and by him you were called to fellowship with his Son, Jesus Christ our Lord.

¹⁰I urge you, brothers, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that all of you agree in what you say, and that there be no divisions among you, but that you be united in the same mind and in the same purpose.

¹¹For it has been reported to me about you, my brothers, by Chloe's people, that there are rivalries among you.

¹²I mean that each of you is saying, "I belong to Paul," or "I belong to Apollos," or "I belong to Kephas," or "I belong to Christ."

¹³Is Christ divided? Was Paul crucified for you? Or were you baptized in the name of Paul?

¹⁴I give thanks (to God) that I baptized none of you except Crispus and Gaius, ¹⁵so that no one can say you were baptized in my name.

¹⁶(I baptized the household of Stephanas also; beyond that I do not know whether I baptized anyone else.)

¹⁷For Christ did not send me to baptize but to preach the gospel, and not with the wisdom of human eloquence, so that the cross of Christ might not be emptied of its meaning.

¹⁸The message of the cross is foolishness to those who are perishing, but to us who are being saved it is the power of God.

¹⁹For it is written: "I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and the learning of the learned I will set aside."

²⁰Where is the wise one? Where is the scribe? Where is the debater of this age? Has not God made the wisdom of the world foolish?

²¹For since in the wisdom of God the world did not come to know God through wisdom, it was the will of God through the foolishness of the proclamation to save those who have faith.

²²For Jews demand signs and Greeks look for wisdom,

²³but we proclaim Christ crucified, a stumbling block to Jews and foolishness to Gentiles,

²⁴but to those who are called, Jews and Greeks alike, Christ the power of God and the wisdom of God.

²⁵For the foolishness of God is wiser than human wisdom, and the weakness of God is stronger than human strength.

²⁶Consider your own calling, brothers. Not many of you were wise by human standards, not many were powerful, not many were of noble birth.

²⁷Rather, God chose the foolish of the world to shame the wise, and God chose the weak of the world to shame the strong,

²⁸and God chose the lowly and despised of the world, those who count for nothing, to reduce to nothing those who are something,

²⁹so that no human being might boast before God.

³⁰It is due to him that you are in Christ Jesus, who became for us wisdom from God, as well as righteousness, sanctification, and redemption,

³¹so that, as it is written, "Whoever boasts, should boast in the Lord."

2When I came to you, brothers, proclaiming the mystery of God, I did not come with sublimity of words or of wisdom.

²For I resolved to know nothing while I was with you except Jesus Christ, and him crucified.

³I came to you in weakness and fear and much trembling,

⁴and my message and my proclamation were not with persuasive (words of) wisdom, but with a demonstration of spirit and power,

⁵so that your faith might rest not on human wisdom but on the power of God.

⁶Yet we do speak a wisdom to those who are mature, but not a wisdom of this age, nor of the rulers of this age who are passing away.

⁷Rather, we speak God's wisdom, mysterious, hidden, which God predetermined before the ages for our glory,

⁸and which none of the rulers of this age knew; for if they had known it, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory.

⁹But as it is written: "What eye has not seen, and ear has not heard, and what has not entered the human heart, what God has prepared for those who love him,"

¹⁰this God has revealed to us through the Spirit. For the Spirit scrutinizes everything, even the depths of God.

¹¹Among human beings, who knows what pertains to a person except the spirit of the person that is within? Similarly, no one knows what pertains to God except the Spirit of God.

¹²We have not received the spirit of the world but the Spirit that is from God, so that we may understand the things freely given us by God.

¹³And we speak about them not with words taught by human wisdom, but with words taught by the Spirit, describing spiritual realities in spiritual terms.

¹⁴Now the natural person does not accept what pertains to the Spirit of God, for to him it is foolishness, and he cannot understand it, because it is judged spiritually.

¹⁵The spiritual person, however, can judge everything but is not subject to judgment by anyone.

¹⁶For "who has known the mind of the Lord, so as to counsel him?" But we have the mind of Christ.

3 Brothers, I could not talk to you as spiritual people, but as fleshly people, as infants in Christ.

²I fed you milk, not solid food, because you were unable to take it. Indeed, you are still not able, even now, ³for you are still of the flesh. While there is jealousy and rivalry among you, are you not of the flesh, and behaving in an ordinary human way?

⁴Whenever someone says, "I belong to Paul," and another, "I belong to Apollos," are you not merely human?

⁵What is Apollos, after all, and what is Paul? Ministers through whom you became believers, just as the Lord assigned each one.

⁶I planted, Apollos watered, but God caused the growth.

⁷Therefore, neither the one who plants nor the one who waters is anything, but only God, who causes the growth.

⁸The one who plants and the one who waters are equal, and each will receive wages in proportion to his labor.

⁹For we are God's co-workers; you are God's field, God's building.

¹⁰According to the grace of God given to me, like a wise master builder I laid a foundation, and another is building upon it. But each one must be careful how he builds upon it,

¹¹for no one can lay a foundation other than the one that is there, namely, Jesus Christ.

¹²If anyone builds on this foundation with gold, silver, precious stones, wood, hay, or straw,

¹³the work of each will come to light, for the Day will disclose it. It will be revealed with fire, and the fire (itself) will test the quality of each one's work.

¹⁴If the work stands that someone built upon the foundation, that person will receive a wage.

¹⁵But if someone's work is burned up, that one will suffer loss; the person will be saved, but only as through fire.

¹⁶Do you not know that you are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwells in you?

¹⁷If anyone destroys God's temple, God will destroy that person; for the temple of God, which you are, is holy.

¹⁸Let no one deceive himself. If any one among you considers himself wise in this age, let him become a fool so as to become wise.

¹⁹For the wisdom of this world is foolishness in the eyes of God, for it is written: "He catches the wise in their own ruses,"

²⁰and again: "The Lord knows the thoughts of the wise, that they are vain."

²¹So let no one boast about human beings, for everything belongs to you,

²²Paul or Apollos or Kephass, or the world or life or death, or the present or the future: all belong to you,

²³and you to Christ, and Christ to God.

4 Thus should one regard us: as servants of Christ and stewards of the mysteries of God.

²Now it is of course required of stewards that they be found trustworthy.

³It does not concern me in the least that I be judged by you or any human tribunal; I do not even pass judgment on myself;

⁴I am not conscious of anything against me, but I do not thereby stand acquitted; the one who judges me is the Lord.

⁵Therefore, do not make any judgment before the appointed time, until the Lord comes, for he will bring to light what is hidden in darkness and will manifest the motives of our hearts, and then everyone will receive praise from God.

⁶I have applied these things to myself and Apollos for your benefit, brothers, so that you may learn from us not to go beyond what is written, so that none of you will be inflated with pride in favor of one person over against another.

⁷Who confers distinction upon you? What do you possess that you have not received? But if you have received it, why are you boasting as if you did not receive it?

⁸You are already satisfied; you have already grown rich; you have become kings without us! Indeed, I wish that you had become kings, so that we also might become kings with you.

⁹For as I see it, God has exhibited us apostles as the last of all, like people sentenced to death, since we have become a spectacle to the world, to angels and human beings alike.

¹⁰We are fools on Christ's account, but you are wise in Christ; we are weak, but you are strong; you are held in honor, but we in disrepute.

¹¹To this very hour we go hungry and thirsty, we are poorly clad and roughly treated, we wander about homeless

¹²and we toil, working with our own hands. When ridiculed, we bless; when persecuted, we endure;

¹³when slandered, we respond gently. We have become like the world's rubbish, the scum of all, to this very moment.

¹⁴I am writing you this not to shame you, but to admonish you as my beloved children.

¹⁵Even if you should have countless guides to Christ, yet you do not have many fathers, for I became your father in Christ Jesus through the gospel.

¹⁶Therefore, I urge you, be imitators of me.

¹⁷For this reason I am sending you Timothy, who is my beloved and faithful son in the Lord; he will remind you of my ways in Christ (Jesus), just as I teach them everywhere in every church.

¹⁸Some have become inflated with pride, as if I were not coming to you.

¹⁹But I will come to you soon, if the Lord is willing, and I shall ascertain not the talk of these inflated people but their power.

²⁰For the kingdom of God is not a matter of talk but of power.

²¹Which do you prefer? Shall I come to you with a rod, or with love and a gentle spirit?

5 It is widely reported that there is immorality among you, and immorality of a kind not found even among pagans--a man living with his father's wife.

²And you are inflated with pride. Should you not rather have been sorrowful? The one who did this deed should be expelled from your midst.

³I, for my part, although absent in body but present in spirit, have already, as if present, pronounced judgment on the one who has committed this deed,

⁴in the name of (our) Lord Jesus: when you have gathered together and I am with you in spirit with the power of the Lord Jesus,

⁵you are to deliver this man to Satan for the destruction of his flesh, so that his spirit may be saved on the day of the Lord.

⁶Your boasting is not appropriate. Do you not know that a little yeast leavens all the dough?

⁷Clear out the old yeast, so that you may become a fresh batch of dough, inasmuch as you are unleavened. For our paschal lamb, Christ, has been sacrificed.

⁸Therefore let us celebrate the feast, not with the old yeast, the yeast of malice and wickedness, but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth.

⁹I wrote you in my letter not to associate with immoral people,

¹⁰not at all referring to the immoral of this world or the greedy and robbers or idolaters; for you would then have to leave the world.

¹¹But I now write to you not to associate with anyone named a brother, if he is immoral, greedy, an idolater, a slanderer, a drunkard, or a robber, not even to eat with such a person.

¹²For why should I be judging outsiders? Is it not your business to judge those within?

¹³God will judge those outside. "Purge the evil person from your midst."

6 How can any one of you with a case against another dare to bring it to the unjust for judgment instead of to the holy ones?

²Do you not know that the holy ones will judge the world? If the world is to be judged by you, are you unqualified for the lowest law courts?

³Do you not know that we will judge angels? Then why not everyday matters?

⁴If, therefore, you have courts for everyday matters, do you seat as judges people of no standing in the church?

⁵I say this to shame you. Can it be that there is not one among you wise enough to be able to settle a case between brothers?

⁶But rather brother goes to court against brother, and that before unbelievers?

⁷Now indeed (then) it is, in any case, a failure on your part that you have lawsuits against one another. Why not rather put up with injustice? Why not rather let yourselves be cheated?

⁸Instead, you inflict injustice and cheat, and this to brothers.

⁹Do you not know that the unjust will not inherit the kingdom of God? Do not be deceived; neither fornicators nor idolaters nor adulterers nor boy prostitutes nor practicing homosexuals

¹⁰nor thieves nor the greedy nor drunkards nor slanderers nor robbers will inherit the kingdom of God.

¹¹That is what some of you used to be; but now you have had yourselves washed, you were sanctified, you were justified in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ and in the Spirit of our God.

¹²"Everything is lawful for me," but not everything is beneficial. "Everything is lawful for me," but I will not let myself be dominated by anything.

¹³"Food for the stomach and the stomach for food," but God will do away with both the one and the other. The body, however, is not for immorality, but for the Lord, and the Lord is for the body;

¹⁴God raised the Lord and will also raise us by his power.

¹⁵Do you not know that your bodies are members of Christ? Shall I then take Christ's members and make them the members of a prostitute? Of course not!

¹⁶(Or) do you not know that anyone who joins himself to a prostitute becomes one body with her? For "the two," it says, "will become one flesh."

¹⁷But whoever is joined to the Lord becomes one spirit with him.

¹⁸Avoid immorality. Every other sin a person commits is outside the body, but the immoral person sins against his own body.

¹⁹Do you not know that your body is a temple of the holy Spirit within you, whom you have from God, and that you are not your own?

²⁰For you have been purchased at a price. Therefore, glorify God in your body.

7 Now in regard to the matters about which you wrote: "It is a good thing for a man not to touch a woman,"

²but because of cases of immorality every man should have his own wife, and every woman her own husband.

³The husband should fulfill his duty toward his wife, and likewise the wife toward her husband.

⁴A wife does not have authority over her own body, but rather her husband, and similarly a husband does not have authority over his own body, but rather his wife.

⁵Do not deprive each other, except perhaps by mutual consent for a time, to be free for prayer, but then return to one another, so that Satan may not tempt you through your lack of self-control.

⁶This I say by way of concession, however, not as a command.

⁷Indeed, I wish everyone to be as I am, but each has a particular gift from God, one of one kind and one of another.

⁸Now to the unmarried and to widows, I say: it is a good thing for them to remain as they are, as I do, ⁹but if they cannot exercise self-control they should marry, for it is better to marry than to be on fire.

¹⁰To the married, however, I give this instruction (not I, but the Lord): a wife should not separate from her husband

¹¹--and if she does separate she must either remain single or become reconciled to her husband--and a husband should not divorce his wife.

¹²To the rest I say (not the Lord): if any brother has a wife who is an unbeliever, and she is willing to go on living with him, he should not divorce her;

¹³and if any woman has a husband who is an unbeliever, and he is willing to go on living with her, she should not divorce her husband.

¹⁴For the unbelieving husband is made holy through his wife, and the unbelieving wife is made holy through the brother. Otherwise your children would be unclean, whereas in fact they are holy.

¹⁵If the unbeliever separates, however, let him separate. The brother or sister is not bound in such cases; God has called you to peace.

¹⁶For how do you know, wife, whether you will save your husband; or how do you know, husband, whether you will save your wife?

¹⁷Only, everyone should live as the Lord has assigned, just as God called each one. I give this order in all the churches.

¹⁸Was someone called after he had been circumcised? He should not try to undo his circumcision. Was an uncircumcised person called? He should not be circumcised.

¹⁹Circumcision means nothing, and uncircumcision means nothing; what matters is keeping God's commandments.

²⁰Everyone should remain in the state in which he was called.

²¹Were you a slave when you were called? Do not be concerned but, even if you can gain your freedom, make the most of it.

²²For the slave called in the Lord is a freed person in the Lord, just as the free person who has been called is a slave of Christ.

²³You have been purchased at a price. Do not become slaves to human beings.

²⁴Brothers, everyone should continue before God in the state in which he was called.

²⁵Now in regard to virgins, I have no commandment from the Lord, but I give my opinion as one who by the Lord's mercy is trustworthy.

²⁶So this is what I think best because of the present distress: that it is a good thing for a person to remain as he is.

²⁷Are you bound to a wife? Do not seek a separation. Are you free of a wife? Then do not look for a wife.

²⁸If you marry, however, you do not sin, nor does an unmarried woman sin if she marries; but such people will experience affliction in their earthly life, and I would like to spare you that.

²⁹I tell you, brothers, the time is running out. From now on, let those having wives act as not having them,

³⁰those weeping as not weeping, those rejoicing as not rejoicing, those buying as not owning,

³¹those using the world as not using it fully. For the world in its present form is passing away.

³²I should like you to be free of anxieties. An unmarried man is anxious about the things of the Lord, how he may please the Lord.

³³ But a married man is anxious about the things of the world, how he may please his wife,

³⁴ and he is divided. An unmarried woman or a virgin is anxious about the things of the Lord, so that she may be holy in both body and spirit. A married woman, on the other hand, is anxious about the things of the world, how she may please her husband.

³⁵ I am telling you this for your own benefit, not to impose a restraint upon you, but for the sake of propriety and adherence to the Lord without distraction.

³⁶ If anyone thinks he is behaving improperly toward his virgin, and if a critical moment has come and so it has to be, let him do as he wishes. He is committing no sin; let them get married.

³⁷ The one who stands firm in his resolve, however, who is not under compulsion but has power over his own will, and has made up his mind to keep his virgin, will be doing well.

³⁸ So then, the one who marries his virgin does well; the one who does not marry her will do better.

³⁹ A wife is bound to her husband as long as he lives. But if her husband dies, she is free to be married to whomever she wishes, provided that it be in the Lord.

⁴⁰ She is more blessed, though, in my opinion, if she remains as she is, and I think that I too have the Spirit of God.

8 Now in regard to meat sacrificed to idols: we realize that "all of us have knowledge"; knowledge inflates with pride, but love builds up.

² If anyone supposes he knows something, he does not yet know as he ought to know.

³ But if one loves God, one is known by him.

⁴ So about the eating of meat sacrificed to idols: we know that "there is no idol in the world," and that "there is no God but one."

⁵ Indeed, even though there are so-called gods in heaven and on earth (there are, to be sure, many "gods" and many "lords"),

⁶yet for us there is one God, the Father, from whom all things are and for whom we exist, and one Lord, Jesus Christ, through whom all things are and through whom we exist.

⁷But not all have this knowledge. There are some who have been so used to idolatry up until now that, when they eat meat sacrificed to idols, their conscience, which is weak, is defiled.

⁸Now food will not bring us closer to God. We are no worse off if we do not eat, nor are we better off if we do.

⁹But make sure that this liberty of yours in no way becomes a stumbling block to the weak.

¹⁰If someone sees you, with your knowledge, reclining at table in the temple of an idol, may not his conscience too, weak as it is, be "built up" to eat the meat sacrificed to idols?

¹¹Thus through your knowledge, the weak person is brought to destruction, the brother for whom Christ died.

¹²When you sin in this way against your brothers and wound their consciences, weak as they are, you are sinning against Christ.

¹³Therefore, if food causes my brother to sin, I will never eat meat again, so that I may not cause my brother to sin.

9 Am I not free? Am I not an apostle? Have I not seen Jesus our Lord? Are you not my work in the Lord?

²Although I may not be an apostle for others, certainly I am for you, for you are the seal of my apostleship in the Lord.

³My defense against those who would pass judgment on me is this.

⁴Do we not have the right to eat and drink?

⁵Do we not have the right to take along a Christian wife, as do the rest of the apostles, and the brothers of the Lord, and Kephas?

⁶Or is it only myself and Barnabas who do not have the right not to work?

⁷Who ever serves as a soldier at his own expense? Who plants a vineyard without eating its produce? Or who shepherds a flock without using some of the milk from the flock?

⁸Am I saying this on human authority, or does not the law also speak of these things?

⁹It is written in the law of Moses, "You shall not muzzle an ox while it is treading out the grain." Is God concerned about oxen, ¹⁰or is he not really speaking for our sake? It was written for our sake, because the plowman should plow in hope, and the thresher in hope of receiving a share.

¹¹If we have sown spiritual seed for you, is it a great thing that we reap a material harvest from you?

¹²If others share this rightful claim on you, do not we still more? Yet we have not used this right. On the contrary, we endure everything so as not to place an obstacle to the gospel of Christ.

¹³Do you not know that those who perform the temple services eat (what) belongs to the temple, and those who minister at the altar share in the sacrificial offerings?

¹⁴In the same way, the Lord ordered that those who preach the gospel should live by the gospel.

¹⁵I have not used any of these rights, however, nor do I write this that it be done so in my case. I would rather die. Certainly no one is going to nullify my boast.

¹⁶If I preach the gospel, this is no reason for me to boast, for an obligation has been imposed on me, and woe to me if I do not preach it!

¹⁷If I do so willingly, I have a recompense, but if unwillingly, then I have been entrusted with a stewardship.

¹⁸What then is my recompense? That, when I preach, I offer the gospel free of charge so as not to make full use of my right in the gospel.

¹⁹Although I am free in regard to all, I have made myself a slave to all so as to win over as many as possible.

²⁰To the Jews I became like a Jew to win over Jews; to those under the law I became like one under the law--though I myself am not under the law--to win over those under the law.

²¹To those outside the law I became like one outside the law--though I am not outside God's law but within the law of Christ--to win over those outside the law.

²²To the weak I became weak, to win over the weak. I have become all things to all, to save at least some.

²³All this I do for the sake of the gospel, so that I too may have a share in it.

²⁴Do you not know that the runners in the stadium all run in the race, but only one wins the prize? Run so as to win.

²⁵Every athlete exercises discipline in every way. They do it to win a perishable crown, but we an imperishable one.

²⁶Thus I do not run aimlessly; I do not fight as if I were shadowboxing.

²⁷No, I drive my body and train it, for fear that, after having preached to others, I myself should be disqualified.

10 I do not want you to be unaware, brothers, that our ancestors were all under the cloud and all passed through the sea,

²and all of them were baptized into Moses in the cloud and in the sea.

³All ate the same spiritual food,

⁴and all drank the same spiritual drink, for they drank from a spiritual rock that followed them, and the rock was the Christ.

⁵Yet God was not pleased with most of them, for they were struck down in the desert.

⁶These things happened as examples for us, so that we might not desire evil things, as they did.

⁷And do not become idolaters, as some of them did, as it is written, "The people sat down to eat and drink, and rose up to revel."

⁸Let us not indulge in immorality as some of them did, and twenty-three thousand fell within a single day.

⁹Let us not test Christ as some of them did, and suffered death by serpents.

¹⁰Do not grumble as some of them did, and suffered death by the destroyer.

¹¹These things happened to them as an example, and they have been written down as a warning to us, upon whom the end of the ages has come.

¹²Therefore, whoever thinks he is standing secure should take care not to fall.

¹³No trial has come to you but what is human. God is faithful and will not let you be tried beyond your strength; but with the trial he will also provide a way out, so that you may be able to bear it.

¹⁴Therefore, my beloved, avoid idolatry.

¹⁵I am speaking as to sensible people; judge for yourselves what I am saying.

¹⁶The cup of blessing that we bless, is it not a participation in the blood of Christ? The bread that we break, is it not a participation in the body of Christ?

¹⁷Because the loaf of bread is one, we, though many, are one body, for we all partake of the one loaf.

¹⁸Look at Israel according to the flesh; are not those who eat the sacrifices participants in the altar?

¹⁹So what am I saying? That meat sacrificed to idols is anything? Or that an idol is anything?

²⁰No, I mean that what they sacrifice, (they sacrifice) to demons, not to God, and I do not want you to become participants with demons.

²¹You cannot drink the cup of the Lord and also the cup of demons. You cannot partake of the table of the Lord and of the table of demons.

²²Or are we provoking the Lord to jealous anger? Are we stronger than he?

²³"Everything is lawful," but not everything is beneficial. "Everything is lawful," but not everything builds up.

²⁴No one should seek his own advantage, but that of his neighbor.

²⁵Eat anything sold in the market, without raising questions on grounds of conscience,

²⁶for "the earth and its fullness are the Lord's."

²⁷If an unbeliever invites you and you want to go, eat whatever is placed before you, without raising questions on grounds of conscience.

²⁸But if someone says to you, "This was offered in sacrifice," do not eat it on account of the one who called attention to it and on account of conscience;

²⁹I mean not your own conscience, but the other's. For why should my freedom be determined by someone else's conscience?

³⁰If I partake thankfully, why am I reviled for that over which I give thanks?

³¹So whether you eat or drink, or whatever you do, do everything for the glory of God.

³²Avoid giving offense, whether to Jews or Greeks or the church of God,

³³just as I try to please everyone in every way, not seeking my own benefit but that of the many, that they may be saved.

11

Be imitators of me, as I am of Christ.

²I praise you because you remember me in everything and hold fast to the traditions, just as I handed them on to you.

³But I want you to know that Christ is the head of every man, and a husband the head of his wife, and God the head of Christ.

⁴Any man who prays or prophesies with his head covered brings shame upon his head.

⁵But any woman who prays or prophesies with her head unveiled brings shame upon her head, for it is one and the same thing as if she had had her head shaved.

⁶For if a woman does not have her head veiled, she may as well have her hair cut off. But if it is shameful for a woman to have her hair cut off or her head shaved, then she should wear a veil.

⁷A man, on the other hand, should not cover his head, because he is the image and glory of God, but woman is the glory of man.

⁸For man did not come from woman, but woman from man;

⁹nor was man created for woman, but woman for man;

¹⁰for this reason a woman should have a sign of authority on her head, because of the angels.

¹¹Woman is not independent of man or man of woman in the Lord.

¹²For just as woman came from man, so man is born of woman; but all things are from God.

¹³Judge for yourselves: is it proper for a woman to pray to God with her head unveiled?

¹⁴Does not nature itself teach you that if a man wears his hair long it is a disgrace to him,

¹⁵whereas if a woman has long hair it is her glory, because long hair has been given (her) for a covering?

¹⁶But if anyone is inclined to be argumentative, we do not have such a custom, nor do the churches of God.

¹⁷In giving this instruction, I do not praise the fact that your meetings are doing more harm than good.

¹⁸First of all, I hear that when you meet as a church there are divisions among you, and to a degree I believe it;

¹⁹there have to be factions among you in order that (also) those who are approved among you may become known.

²⁰When you meet in one place, then, it is not to eat the Lord's supper,

- ²¹for in eating, each one goes ahead with his own supper, and one goes hungry while another gets drunk.
- ²²Do you not have houses in which you can eat and drink? Or do you show contempt for the church of God and make those who have nothing feel ashamed? What can I say to you? Shall I praise you? In this matter I do not praise you.
- ²³For I received from the Lord what I also handed on to you, that the Lord Jesus, on the night he was handed over, took bread,
- ²⁴and, after he had given thanks, broke it and said, "This is my body that is for you. Do this in remembrance of me."
- ²⁵In the same way also the cup, after supper, saying, "This cup is the new covenant in my blood. Do this, as often as you drink it, in remembrance of me."
- ²⁶For as often as you eat this bread and drink the cup, you proclaim the death of the Lord until he comes.
- ²⁷Therefore whoever eats the bread or drinks the cup of the Lord unworthily will have to answer for the body and blood of the Lord.
- ²⁸A person should examine himself, and so eat the bread and drink the cup.
- ²⁹For anyone who eats and drinks without discerning the body, eats and drinks judgment on himself.
- ³⁰That is why many among you are ill and infirm, and a considerable number are dying.
- ³¹If we discerned ourselves, we would not be under judgment;
- ³²but since we are judged by (the) Lord, we are being disciplined so that we may not be condemned along with the world.
- ³³Therefore, my brothers, when you come together to eat, wait for one another.
- ³⁴If anyone is hungry, he should eat at home, so that your meetings may not result in judgment. The other matters I shall set in order when I come.

12 Now in regard to spiritual gifts, brothers, I do not want you to be unaware.

²You know how, when you were pagans, you were constantly attracted and led away to mute idols.

³Therefore, I tell you that nobody speaking by the spirit of God says, "Jesus be accursed." And no one can say, "Jesus is Lord," except by the holy Spirit.

⁴There are different kinds of spiritual gifts but the same Spirit;

⁵there are different forms of service but the same Lord;

⁶there are different workings but the same God who produces all of them in everyone.

⁷To each individual the manifestation of the Spirit is given for some benefit.

⁸To one is given through the Spirit the expression of wisdom; to another the expression of knowledge according to the same Spirit;

⁹to another faith by the same Spirit; to another gifts of healing by the one Spirit;

¹⁰to another mighty deeds; to another prophecy; to another discernment of spirits; to another varieties of tongues; to another interpretation of tongues.

¹¹But one and the same Spirit produces all of these, distributing them individually to each person as he wishes.

¹²As a body is one though it has many parts, and all the parts of the body, though many, are one body, so also Christ.

¹³For in one Spirit we were all baptized into one body, whether Jews or Greeks, slaves or free persons, and we were all given to drink of one Spirit.

¹⁴Now the body is not a single part, but many.

¹⁵If a foot should say, "Because I am not a hand I do not belong to the body," it does not for this reason belong any less to the body.

¹⁶Or if an ear should say, "Because I am not an eye I do not belong to the body," it does not for this reason belong any less to the body.

- ¹⁷ If the whole body were an eye, where would the hearing be? If the whole body were hearing, where would the sense of smell be?
- ¹⁸ But as it is, God placed the parts, each one of them, in the body as he intended.
- ¹⁹ If they were all one part, where would the body be?
- ²⁰ But as it is, there are many parts, yet one body.
- ²¹ The eye cannot say to the hand, "I do not need you," nor again the head to the feet, "I do not need you."
- ²² Indeed, the parts of the body that seem to be weaker are all the more necessary,
- ²³ and those parts of the body that we consider less honorable we surround with greater honor, and our less presentable parts are treated with greater propriety,
- ²⁴ whereas our more presentable parts do not need this. But God has so constructed the body as to give greater honor to a part that is without it,
- ²⁵ so that there may be no division in the body, but that the parts may have the same concern for one another.
- ²⁶ If (one) part suffers, all the parts suffer with it; if one part is honored, all the parts share its joy.
- ²⁷ Now you are Christ's body, and individually parts of it.
- ²⁸ Some people God has designated in the church to be, first, apostles; second, prophets; third, teachers; then, mighty deeds; then, gifts of healing, assistance, administration, and varieties of tongues.
- ²⁹ Are all apostles? Are all prophets? Are all teachers? Do all work mighty deeds?
- ³⁰ Do all have gifts of healing? Do all speak in tongues? Do all interpret?
- ³¹ Strive eagerly for the greatest spiritual gifts. But I shall show you a still more excellent way.

13 If I speak in human and angelic tongues but do not have love, I am a resounding gong or a clashing cymbal.

²And if I have the gift of prophecy and comprehend all mysteries and all knowledge; if I have all faith so as to move mountains but do not have love, I am nothing.

³If I give away everything I own, and if I hand my body over so that I may boast but do not have love, I gain nothing.

⁴Love is patient, love is kind. It is not jealous, (love) is not pompous, it is not inflated,

⁵it is not rude, it does not seek its own interests, it is not quick-tempered, it does not brood over injury,

⁶it does not rejoice over wrongdoing but rejoices with the truth.

⁷It bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things.

⁸Love never fails. If there are prophecies, they will be brought to nothing; if tongues, they will cease; if knowledge, it will be brought to nothing.

⁹For we know partially and we prophesy partially,

¹⁰but when the perfect comes, the partial will pass away.

¹¹When I was a child, I used to talk as a child, think as a child, reason as a child; when I became a man, I put aside childish things.

¹²At present we see indistinctly, as in a mirror, but then face to face. At present I know partially; then I shall know fully, as I am fully known.

¹³So faith, hope, love remain, these three; but the greatest of these is love.

14 Pursue love, but strive eagerly for the spiritual gifts, above all that you may prophesy.

²For one who speaks in a tongue does not speak to human beings but to God, for no one listens; he utters mysteries in spirit.

³On the other hand, one who prophesies does speak to human beings, for their building up, encouragement, and solace.

⁴Whoever speaks in a tongue builds himself up, but whoever prophesies builds up the church.

⁵Now I should like all of you to speak in tongues, but even more to prophesy. One who prophesies is greater than one who speaks in tongues, unless he interprets, so that the church may be built up.

⁶Now, brothers, if I should come to you speaking in tongues, what good will I do you if I do not speak to you by way of revelation, or knowledge, or prophecy, or instruction?

⁷Likewise, if inanimate things that produce sound, such as flute or harp, do not give out the tones distinctly, how will what is being played on flute or harp be recognized?

⁸And if the bugle gives an indistinct sound, who will get ready for battle?

⁹Similarly, if you, because of speaking in tongues, do not utter intelligible speech, how will anyone know what is being said? For you will be talking to the air.

¹⁰It happens that there are many different languages in the world, and none is meaningless;

¹¹but if I do not know the meaning of a language, I shall be a foreigner to one who speaks it, and one who speaks it a foreigner to me.

¹²So with yourselves: since you strive eagerly for spirits, seek to have an abundance of them for building up the church.

¹³Therefore, one who speaks in a tongue should pray to be able to interpret.

¹⁴(For) if I pray in a tongue, my spirit is at prayer but my mind is unproductive.

¹⁵So what is to be done? I will pray with the spirit, but I will also pray with the mind. I will sing praise with the spirit, but I will also sing praise with the mind.

¹⁶Otherwise, if you pronounce a blessing (with) the spirit, how shall one who holds the place of the uninstructed say the "Amen" to your thanksgiving, since he does not know what you are saying?

¹⁷For you may be giving thanks very well, but the other is not built up.

¹⁸I give thanks to God that I speak in tongues more than any of you,

¹⁹but in the church I would rather speak five words with my mind, so as to instruct others also, than ten thousand words in a tongue.

²⁰Brothers, stop being childish in your thinking. In respect to evil be like infants, but in your thinking be mature.

²¹It is written in the law: "By people speaking strange tongues and by the lips of foreigners I will speak to this people, and even so they will not listen to me, says the Lord."

²²Thus, tongues are a sign not for those who believe but for unbelievers, whereas prophecy is not for unbelievers but for those who believe.

²³So if the whole church meets in one place and everyone speaks in tongues, and then uninstructed people or unbelievers should come in, will they not say that you are out of your minds?

²⁴But if everyone is prophesying, and an unbeliever or uninstructed person should come in, he will be convinced by everyone and judged by everyone,

²⁵and the secrets of his heart will be disclosed, and so he will fall down and worship God, declaring, "God is really in your midst."

²⁶So what is to be done, brothers? When you assemble, one has a psalm, another an instruction, a revelation, a tongue, or an interpretation. Everything should be done for building up.

²⁷If anyone speaks in a tongue, let it be two or at most three, and each in turn, and one should interpret.

²⁸But if there is no interpreter, the person should keep silent in the church and speak to himself and to God.

²⁹Two or three prophets should speak, and the others discern.

³⁰But if a revelation is given to another person sitting there, the first one should be silent.

³¹For you can all prophesy one by one, so that all may learn and all be encouraged.

³²Indeed, the spirits of prophets are under the prophets' control,

³³since he is not the God of disorder but of peace. As in all the churches of the holy ones, ³⁴women should keep silent in the churches, for they are not allowed to speak, but should be subordinate, as even the law says.

³⁵But if they want to learn anything, they should ask their husbands at home. For it is improper for a woman to speak in the church.

³⁶Did the word of God go forth from you? Or has it come to you alone?

³⁷If anyone thinks that he is a prophet or a spiritual person, he should recognize that what I am writing to you is a commandment of the Lord.

³⁸If anyone does not acknowledge this, he is not acknowledged.

³⁹So, (my) brothers, strive eagerly to prophesy, and do not forbid speaking in tongues,

⁴⁰but everything must be done properly and in order.

15 Now I am reminding you, brothers, of the gospel I preached to you, which you indeed received and in which you also stand.

²Through it you are also being saved, if you hold fast to the word I preached to you, unless you believed in vain.

³For I handed on to you as of first importance what I also received: that Christ died for our sins in accordance with the scriptures;

⁴that he was buried; that he was raised on the third day in accordance with the scriptures;

⁵that he appeared to Kephas, then to the Twelve.

⁶After that, he appeared to more than five hundred brothers at once, most of whom are still living, though some have fallen asleep.

⁷After that he appeared to James, then to all the apostles.

⁸Last of all, as to one born abnormally, he appeared to me.

⁹For I am the least of the apostles, not fit to be called an apostle, because I persecuted the church of God.

¹⁰But by the grace of God I am what I am, and his grace to me has not been ineffective. Indeed, I have toiled harder than all of them; not I, however, but the grace of God (that is) with me.

¹¹Therefore, whether it be I or they, so we preach and so you believed.

¹²But if Christ is preached as raised from the dead, how can some among you say there is no resurrection of the dead?

¹³If there is no resurrection of the dead, then neither has Christ been raised.

¹⁴And if Christ has not been raised, then empty (too) is our preaching; empty, too, your faith.

¹⁵Then we are also false witnesses to God, because we testified against God that he raised Christ, whom he did not raise if in fact the dead are not raised.

¹⁶For if the dead are not raised, neither has Christ been raised,

¹⁷and if Christ has not been raised, your faith is vain; you are still in your sins.

¹⁸Then those who have fallen asleep in Christ have perished.

¹⁹If for this life only we have hoped in Christ, we are the most pitiable people of all.

²⁰But now Christ has been raised from the dead, the firstfruits of those who have fallen asleep.

²¹For since death came through a human being, the resurrection of the dead came also through a human being.

²²For just as in Adam all die, so too in Christ shall all be brought to life,

²³but each one in proper order: Christ the firstfruits; then, at his coming, those who belong to Christ;

²⁴then comes the end, when he hands over the kingdom to his God and Father, when he has destroyed every sovereignty and every authority and power.

²⁵For he must reign until he has put all his enemies under his feet.

²⁶The last enemy to be destroyed is death,

²⁷for "he subjected everything under his feet." But when it says that everything has been subjected, it is clear that it excludes the one who subjected everything to him.

²⁸When everything is subjected to him, then the Son himself will (also) be subjected to the one who subjected everything to him, so that God may be all in all.

²⁹Otherwise, what will people accomplish by having themselves baptized for the dead? If the dead are not raised at all, then why are they having themselves baptized for them?

³⁰Moreover, why are we endangering ourselves all the time?

³¹Every day I face death; I swear it by the pride in you (brothers) that I have in Christ Jesus our Lord.

³²If at Ephesus I fought with beasts, so to speak, what benefit was it to me? If the dead are not raised: "Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die."

³³Do not be led astray: "Bad company corrupts good morals."

³⁴Become sober as you ought and stop sinning. For some have no knowledge of God; I say this to your shame.

³⁵But someone may say, "How are the dead raised? With what kind of body will they come back?"

³⁶You fool! What you sow is not brought to life unless it dies.

³⁷And what you sow is not the body that is to be but a bare kernel of wheat, perhaps, or of some other kind;

³⁸but God gives it a body as he chooses, and to each of the seeds its own body.

³⁹Not all flesh is the same, but there is one kind for human beings, another kind of flesh for animals, another kind of flesh for birds, and another for fish.

⁴⁰There are both heavenly bodies and earthly bodies, but the brightness of the heavenly is one kind and that of the earthly another.

⁴¹The brightness of the sun is one kind, the brightness of the moon another, and the brightness of the stars another. For star differs from star in brightness.

⁴²So also is the resurrection of the dead. It is sown corruptible; it is raised incorruptible.

⁴³It is sown dishonorable; it is raised glorious. It is sown weak; it is raised powerful.

⁴⁴It is sown a natural body; it is raised a spiritual body. If there is a natural body, there is also a spiritual one.

⁴⁵So, too, it is written, "The first man, Adam, became a living being," the last Adam a life-giving spirit.

⁴⁶But the spiritual was not first; rather the natural and then the spiritual.

⁴⁷The first man was from the earth, earthly; the second man, from heaven.

⁴⁸As was the earthly one, so also are the earthly, and as is the heavenly one, so also are the heavenly.

⁴⁹Just as we have borne the image of the earthly one, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly one.

⁵⁰This I declare, brothers: flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God, nor does corruption inherit incorruption.

⁵¹Behold, I tell you a mystery. We shall not all fall asleep, but we will all be changed, ⁵²in an instant, in the blink of an eye, at the last trumpet. For the trumpet will sound, the dead will be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed.

⁵³For that which is corruptible must clothe itself with incorruptibility, and that which is mortal must clothe itself with immortality.

⁵⁴And when this which is corruptible clothes itself with incorruptibility and this which is mortal clothes itself with immortality, then the word that is written shall come about: "Death is swallowed up in victory.

⁵⁵Where, O death, is your victory? Where, O death, is your sting?"

⁵⁶The sting of death is sin, and the power of sin is the law.

⁵⁷But thanks be to God who gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

⁵⁸Therefore, my beloved brothers, be firm, steadfast, always fully devoted to the work of the Lord, knowing that in the Lord your labor is not in vain.

16 Now in regard to the collection for the holy ones, you also should do as I ordered the churches of Galatia.

²On the first day of the week each of you should set aside and save whatever one can afford, so that collections will not be going on when I come.

³And when I arrive, I shall send those whom you have approved with letters of recommendation to take your gracious gift to Jerusalem.

⁴If it seems fitting that I should go also, they will go with me.

⁵I shall come to you after I pass through Macedonia (for I am going to pass through Macedonia),

⁶and perhaps I shall stay or even spend the winter with you, so that you may send me on my way wherever I may go.

⁷For I do not wish to see you now just in passing, but I hope to spend some time with you, if the Lord permits.

⁸I shall stay in Ephesus until Pentecost,

⁹because a door has opened for me wide and productive for work, but there are many opponents.

¹⁰If Timothy comes, see that he is without fear in your company, for he is doing the work of the Lord just as I am.

¹¹Therefore no one should disdain him. Rather, send him on his way in peace that he may come to me, for I am expecting him with the brothers.

¹²Now in regard to our brother Apollos, I urged him strongly to go to you with the brothers, but it was not at all his will that he go now. He will go when he has an opportunity.

¹³Be on your guard, stand firm in the faith, be courageous, be strong.

¹⁴Your every act should be done with love.

¹⁵I urge you, brothers--you know that the household of Stephanas is the firstfruits of Achaia and that they have devoted themselves to the service of the holy ones--

¹⁶be subordinate to such people and to everyone who works and toils with them.

¹⁷I rejoice in the arrival of Stephanas, Fortunatus, and Achaicus, because they made up for your absence, ¹⁸for they refreshed my spirit as well as yours. So give recognition to such people.

¹⁹The churches of Asia send you greetings. Aquila and Prisca together with the church at their house send you many greetings in the Lord.

²⁰All the brothers greet you. Greet one another with a holy kiss.

²¹I, Paul, write you this greeting in my own hand.

²²If anyone does not love the Lord, let him be accursed. Marana tha.

²³The grace of the Lord Jesus be with you.

²⁴My love to all of you in Christ Jesus.

2nd Corinthians

1 Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus by the will of God, and Timothy our brother, to the church of God that is in Corinth, with all the holy ones throughout Achaia:

2 grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of compassion and God of all encouragement,

4 who encourages us in our every affliction, so that we may be able to encourage those who are in any affliction with the encouragement with which we ourselves are encouraged by God.

5 For as Christ's sufferings overflow to us, so through Christ does our encouragement also overflow.

6 If we are afflicted, it is for your encouragement and salvation; if we are encouraged, it is for your encouragement, which enables you to endure the same sufferings that we suffer.

7 Our hope for you is firm, for we know that as you share in the sufferings, you also share in the encouragement.

8 We do not want you to be unaware, brothers, of the affliction that came to us in the province of Asia; we were utterly weighed down beyond our strength, so that we despaired even of life.

9 Indeed, we had accepted within ourselves the sentence of death, that we might trust not in ourselves but in God who raises the dead.

10 He rescued us from such great danger of death, and he will continue to rescue us; in him we have put our hope (that) he will also rescue us again,

11 as you help us with prayer, so that thanks may be given by many on our behalf for the gift granted us through the prayers of many.

¹²For our boast is this, the testimony of our conscience that we have conducted ourselves in the world, and especially toward you, with the simplicity and sincerity of God, (and) not by human wisdom but by the grace of God.

¹³For we write you nothing but what you can read and understand, and I hope that you will understand completely,

¹⁴as you have come to understand us partially, that we are your boast as you also are ours, on the day of (our) Lord Jesus.

¹⁵With this confidence I formerly intended to come to you so that you might receive a double favor,

¹⁶namely, to go by way of you to Macedonia, and then to come to you again on my return from Macedonia, and have you send me on my way to Judea.

¹⁷So when I intended this, did I act lightly? Or do I make my plans according to human considerations, so that with me it is "yes, yes" and "no, no"?

¹⁸As God is faithful, our word to you is not "yes" and "no."

¹⁹For the Son of God, Jesus Christ, who was proclaimed to you by us, Silvanus and Timothy and me, was not "yes" and "no," but "yes" has been in him.

²⁰For however many are the promises of God, their Yes is in him; therefore, the Amen from us also goes through him to God for glory.

²¹But the one who gives us security with you in Christ and who anointed us is God;

²²he has also put his seal upon us and given the Spirit in our hearts as a first installment.

²³But I call upon God as witness, on my life, that it is to spare you that I have not yet gone to Corinth.

²⁴Not that we lord it over your faith; rather, we work together for your joy, for you stand firm in the faith.

2For I decided not to come to you again in painful circumstances.

²For if I inflict pain upon you, then who is there to cheer me except the one pained by me?

³And I wrote as I did so that when I came I might not be pained by those in whom I should have rejoiced, confident about all of you that my joy is that of all of you.

⁴For out of much affliction and anguish of heart I wrote to you with many tears, not that you might be pained but that you might know the abundant love I have for you.

⁵If anyone has caused pain, he has caused it not to me, but in some measure (not to exaggerate) to all of you.

⁶This punishment by the majority is enough for such a person,

⁷so that on the contrary you should forgive and encourage him instead, or else the person may be overwhelmed by excessive pain.

⁸Therefore, I urge you to reaffirm your love for him.

⁹For this is why I wrote, to know your proven character, whether you were obedient in everything.

¹⁰Whomever you forgive anything, so do I. For indeed what I have forgiven, if I have forgiven anything, has been for you in the presence of Christ, ¹¹so that we might not be taken advantage of by Satan, for we are not unaware of his purposes.

¹²When I went to Troas for the gospel of Christ, although a door was opened for me in the Lord, ¹³I had no relief in my spirit because I did not find my brother Titus. So I took leave of them and went on to Macedonia.

¹⁴But thanks be to God, who always leads us in triumph in Christ and manifests through us the odor of the knowledge of him in every place.

¹⁵For we are the aroma of Christ for God among those who are being saved and among those who are perishing, ¹⁶to the latter an odor of death that leads to death, to the former an odor of life that leads to life. Who is qualified for this?

¹⁷For we are not like the many who trade on the word of God; but as out of sincerity, indeed as from God and in the presence of God, we speak in Christ.

3 Are we beginning to commend ourselves again? Or do we need, as some do, letters of recommendation to you or from you?

²You are our letter, written on our hearts, known and read by all,

³shown to be a letter of Christ administered by us, written not in ink but by the Spirit of the living God, not on tablets of stone but on tablets that are hearts of flesh.

⁴Such confidence we have through Christ toward God.

⁵Not that of ourselves we are qualified to take credit for anything as coming from us; rather, our qualification comes from God,

⁶who has indeed qualified us as ministers of a new covenant, not of letter but of spirit; for the letter brings death, but the Spirit gives life.

⁷Now if the ministry of death, carved in letters on stone, was so glorious that the Israelites could not look intently at the face of Moses because of its glory that was going to fade,

⁸how much more will the ministry of the Spirit be glorious?

⁹For if the ministry of condemnation was glorious, the ministry of righteousness will abound much more in glory.

¹⁰Indeed, what was endowed with glory has come to have no glory in this respect because of the glory that surpasses it.

¹¹For if what was going to fade was glorious, how much more will what endures be glorious.

¹²Therefore, since we have such hope, we act very boldly

¹³and not like Moses, who put a veil over his face so that the Israelites could not look intently at the cessation of what was fading.

¹⁴Rather, their thoughts were rendered dull, for to this present day the same veil remains unlifted when they read the old covenant, because through Christ it is taken away.

¹⁵To this day, in fact, whenever Moses is read, a veil lies over their hearts, ¹⁶but whenever a person turns to the Lord the veil is removed.

¹⁷Now the Lord is the Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is freedom.

¹⁸All of us, gazing with unveiled face on the glory of the Lord, are being transformed into the same image from glory to glory, as from the Lord who is the Spirit.

4Therefore, since we have this ministry through the mercy shown us, we are not discouraged.

²Rather, we have renounced shameful, hidden things; not acting deceitfully or falsifying the word of God, but by the open declaration of the truth we commend ourselves to everyone's conscience in the sight of God.

³And even though our gospel is veiled, it is veiled for those who are perishing, ⁴in whose case the god of this age has blinded the minds of the unbelievers, so that they may not see the light of the gospel of the glory of Christ, who is the image of God.

⁵For we do not preach ourselves but Jesus Christ as Lord, and ourselves as your slaves for the sake of Jesus.

⁶For God who said, "Let light shine out of darkness," has shone in our hearts to bring to light the knowledge of the glory of God on the face of (Jesus) Christ.

⁷But we hold this treasure in earthen vessels, that the surpassing power may be of God and not from us.

⁸We are afflicted in every way, but not constrained; perplexed, but not driven to despair;

⁹persecuted, but not abandoned; struck down, but not destroyed;

¹⁰always carrying about in the body the dying of Jesus, so that the life of Jesus may also be manifested in our body.

¹¹For we who live are constantly being given up to death for the sake of Jesus, so that the life of Jesus may be manifested in our mortal flesh.

¹²So death is at work in us, but life in you.

¹³Since, then, we have the same spirit of faith, according to what is written, "I believed, therefore I spoke," we too believe and therefore speak,

¹⁴knowing that the one who raised the Lord Jesus will raise us also with Jesus and place us with you in his presence.

¹⁵Everything indeed is for you, so that the grace bestowed in abundance on more and more people may cause the thanksgiving to overflow for the glory of God.

¹⁶Therefore, we are not discouraged; rather, although our outer self is wasting away, our inner self is being renewed day by day.

¹⁷For this momentary light affliction is producing for us an eternal weight of glory beyond all comparison,

¹⁸as we look not to what is seen but to what is unseen; for what is seen is transitory, but what is unseen is eternal.

5For we know that if our earthly dwelling, a tent, should be destroyed, we have a building from God, a dwelling not made with hands, eternal in heaven.

²For in this tent we groan, longing to be further clothed with our heavenly habitation

³if indeed, when we have taken it off, we shall not be found naked.

⁴For while we are in this tent we groan and are weighed down, because we do not wish to be unclothed but to be further clothed, so that what is mortal may be swallowed up by life.

⁵Now the one who has prepared us for this very thing is God, who has given us the Spirit as a first installment.

⁶So we are always courageous, although we know that while we are at home in the body we are away from the Lord,

⁷for we walk by faith, not by sight.

⁸Yet we are courageous, and we would rather leave the body and go home to the Lord.

⁹Therefore, we aspire to please him, whether we are at home or away.

¹⁰For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ, so that each one may receive recompense, according to what he did in the body, whether good or evil.

¹¹Therefore, since we know the fear of the Lord, we try to persuade others; but we are clearly apparent to God, and I hope we are also apparent to your consciousness.

¹²We are not commending ourselves to you again but giving you an opportunity to boast of us, so that you may have something to say to those who boast of external appearance rather than of the heart.

¹³For if we are out of our minds, it is for God; if we are rational, it is for you.

¹⁴For the love of Christ impels us, once we have come to the conviction that one died for all; therefore, all have died.

¹⁵He indeed died for all, so that those who live might no longer live for themselves but for him who for their sake died and was raised.

¹⁶Consequently, from now on we regard no one according to the flesh; even if we once knew Christ according to the flesh, yet now we know him so no longer.

¹⁷So whoever is in Christ is a new creation: the old things have passed away; behold, new things have come.

¹⁸And all this is from God, who has reconciled us to himself through Christ and given us the ministry of reconciliation,

¹⁹namely, God was reconciling the world to himself in Christ, not counting their trespasses against them and entrusting to us the message of reconciliation.

²⁰So we are ambassadors for Christ, as if God were appealing through us. We implore you on behalf of Christ, be reconciled to God.

²¹For our sake he made him to be sin who did not know sin, so that we might become the righteousness of God in him.

6 Working together, then, we appeal to you not to receive the grace of God in vain.

²For he says: "In an acceptable time I heard you, and on the day of salvation I helped you." Behold, now is a very acceptable time; behold, now is the day of salvation.

³We cause no one to stumble in anything, in order that no fault may be found with our ministry;

⁴on the contrary, in everything we commend ourselves as ministers of God, through much endurance, in afflictions, hardships, constraints,

⁵beatings, imprisonments, riots, labors, vigils, fasts;

⁶by purity, knowledge, patience, kindness, in a holy spirit, in unfeigned love,

⁷in truthful speech, in the power of God; with weapons of righteousness at the right and at the left;

⁸through glory and dishonor, insult and praise. We are treated as deceivers and yet are truthful;

⁹as unrecognized and yet acknowledged; as dying and behold we live; as chastised and yet not put to death;

¹⁰as sorrowful yet always rejoicing; as poor yet enriching many; as having nothing and yet possessing all things.

¹¹We have spoken frankly to you, Corinthians; our heart is open wide.

¹²You are not constrained by us; you are constrained by your own affections.

¹³As recompense in kind (I speak as to my children), be open yourselves.

¹⁴Do not be yoked with those who are different, with unbelievers. For what partnership do righteousness and lawlessness have? Or what fellowship does light have with darkness?

¹⁵What accord has Christ with Beliar? Or what has a believer in common with an unbeliever?

¹⁶What agreement has the temple of God with idols? For we are the temple of the living God; as God said: "I will live with them and move among them, and I will be their God and they shall be my people.

¹⁷Therefore, come forth from them and be separate," says the Lord, "and touch nothing unclean; then I will receive you

¹⁸and I will be a father to you, and you shall be sons and daughters to me, says the Lord Almighty."

7 Since we have these promises, beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from every defilement of flesh and spirit, making holiness perfect in the fear of God.

²Make room for us; we have not wronged anyone, or ruined anyone, or taken advantage of anyone.

³I do not say this in condemnation, for I have already said that you are in our hearts, that we may die together and live together.

⁴I have great confidence in you, I have great pride in you; I am filled with encouragement, I am overflowing with joy all the more because of all our affliction.

⁵For even when we came into Macedonia, our flesh had no rest, but we were afflicted in every way--external conflicts, internal fears.

⁶But God, who encourages the downcast, encouraged us by the arrival of Titus, ⁷and not only by his arrival but also by the encouragement with which he was encouraged in regard to you, as he told us of your yearning, your lament, your zeal for me, so that I rejoiced even more.

⁸For even if I saddened you by my letter, I do not regret it; and if I did regret it ((for) I see that that letter saddened you, if only for a while),

⁹I rejoice now, not because you were saddened, but because you were saddened into repentance; for you were saddened in a godly way, so that you did not suffer loss in anything because of us.

¹⁰For godly sorrow produces a salutary repentance without regret, but worldly sorrow produces death.

¹¹For behold what earnestness this godly sorrow has produced for you, as well as readiness for a defense, and indignation, and fear, and yearning, and zeal, and punishment. In every way you have shown yourselves to be innocent in the matter.

¹²So then even though I wrote to you, it was not on account of the one who did the wrong, or on account of the one who suffered the wrong, but in order that your concern for us might be made plain to you in the sight of God.

¹³For this reason we are encouraged. And besides our encouragement, we rejoice even more because of the joy of Titus, since his spirit has been refreshed by all of you.

¹⁴For if I have boasted to him about you, I was not put to shame. No, just as everything we said to you was true, so our boasting before Titus proved to be the truth.

¹⁵And his heart goes out to you all the more, as he remembers the obedience of all of you, when you received him with fear and trembling.

¹⁶I rejoice, because I have confidence in you in every respect.

8We want you to know, brothers, of the grace of God that has been given to the churches of Macedonia, ²for in a severe test of affliction, the abundance of their joy and their profound poverty overflowed in a wealth of generosity on their part.

³For according to their means, I can testify, and beyond their means, spontaneously,

⁴they begged us insistently for the favor of taking part in the service to the holy ones,

⁵and this, not as we expected, but they gave themselves first to the Lord and to us through the will of God,

⁶so that we urged Titus that, as he had already begun, he should also complete for you this gracious act also.

⁷Now as you excel in every respect, in faith, discourse, knowledge, all earnestness, and in the love we have for you, may you excel in this gracious act also.

⁸I say this not by way of command, but to test the genuineness of your love by your concern for others.

⁹For you know the gracious act of our Lord Jesus Christ, that for your sake he became poor although he was rich, so that by his poverty you might become rich.

¹⁰And I am giving counsel in this matter, for it is appropriate for you who began not only to act but to act willingly last year:

¹¹complete it now, so that your eager willingness may be matched by your completion of it out of what you have.

¹²For if the eagerness is there, it is acceptable according to what one has, not according to what one does not have;

¹³not that others should have relief while you are burdened, but that as a matter of equality

¹⁴your surplus at the present time should supply their needs, so that their surplus may also supply your needs, that there may be equality.

¹⁵As it is written: "Whoever had much did not have more, and whoever had little did not have less."

¹⁶But thanks be to God who put the same concern for you into the heart of Titus, ¹⁷for he not only welcomed our appeal but, since he is very concerned, he has gone to you of his own accord.

¹⁸With him we have sent the brother who is praised in all the churches for his preaching of the gospel.

¹⁹And not only that, but he has also been appointed our traveling companion by the churches in this gracious work administered by us for the glory of the Lord (himself) and for the expression of our eagerness.

²⁰This we desire to avoid, that anyone blame us about this lavish gift administered by us,

²¹for we are concerned for what is honorable not only in the sight of the Lord but also in the sight of others.

²²And with them we have sent our brother whom we often tested in many ways and found earnest, but who is now much more earnest because of his great confidence in you.

²³As for Titus, he is my partner and co-worker for you; as for our brothers, they are apostles of the churches, the glory of Christ.

²⁴So give proof before the churches of your love and of our boasting about you to them.

9 Now about the service to the holy ones, it is superfluous for me to write to you,

²for I know your eagerness, about which I boast of you to the Macedonians, that Achaia has been ready since last year; and your zeal has stirred up most of them.

³Nonetheless, I sent the brothers so that our boast about you might not prove empty in this case, so that you might be ready, as I said,

⁴for fear that if any Macedonians come with me and find you not ready we might be put to shame (to say nothing of you) in this conviction.

⁵So I thought it necessary to encourage the brothers to go on ahead to you and arrange in advance for your promised gift, so that in this way it might be ready as a bountiful gift and not as an exaction.

⁶Consider this: whoever sows sparingly will also reap sparingly, and whoever sows bountifully will also reap bountifully.

⁷Each must do as already determined, without sadness or compulsion, for God loves a cheerful giver.

⁸Moreover, God is able to make every grace abundant for you, so that in all things, always having all you need, you may have an abundance for every good work.

⁹As it is written: "He scatters abroad, he gives to the poor; his righteousness endures forever."

¹⁰The one who supplies seed to the sower and bread for food will supply and multiply your seed and increase the harvest of your righteousness.

¹¹You are being enriched in every way for all generosity, which through us produces thanksgiving to God,

¹²for the administration of this public service is not only supplying the needs of the holy ones but is also overflowing in many acts of thanksgiving to God.

¹³Through the evidence of this service, you are glorifying God for your obedient confession of the gospel of Christ and the generosity of your contribution to them and to all others,

¹⁴while in prayer on your behalf they long for you, because of the surpassing grace of God upon you.

¹⁵Thanks be to God for his indescribable gift!

10 Now I myself, Paul, urge you through the gentleness and clemency of Christ, I who am humble when face to face with you, but brave toward you when absent,

²I beg you that, when present, I may not have to be brave with that confidence with which I intend to act boldly against some who consider us as acting according to the flesh.

³For, although we are in the flesh, we do not battle according to the flesh,

⁴for the weapons of our battle are not of flesh but are enormously powerful, capable of destroying fortresses. We destroy arguments

⁵and every pretension raising itself against the knowledge of God, and take every thought captive in obedience to Christ,

⁶and we are ready to punish every disobedience, once your obedience is complete.

⁷Look at what confronts you. Whoever is confident of belonging to Christ should consider that as he belongs to Christ, so do we.

⁸And even if I should boast a little too much of our authority, which the Lord gave for building you up and not for tearing you down, I shall not be put to shame.

⁹May I not seem as one frightening you through letters.

¹⁰For someone will say, "His letters are severe and forceful, but his bodily presence is weak, and his speech contemptible."

¹¹Such a person must understand that what we are in word through letters when absent, that we also are in action when present.

¹²Not that we dare to class or compare ourselves with some of those who recommend themselves. But when they measure themselves by one another and compare themselves with one another, they are without understanding.

¹³But we will not boast beyond measure but will keep to the limits God has apportioned us, namely, to reach even to you.

¹⁴For we are not overreaching ourselves, as though we did not reach you; we indeed first came to you with the gospel of Christ.

¹⁵We are not boasting beyond measure, in other people's labors; yet our hope is that, as your faith increases, our influence among you may be greatly enlarged, within our proper limits,

¹⁶so that we may preach the gospel even beyond you, not boasting of work already done in another's sphere.

¹⁷"Whoever boasts, should boast in the Lord."

¹⁸For it is not the one who recommends himself who is approved, but the one whom the Lord recommends.

11 If only you would put up with a little foolishness from me! Please put up with me.

²For I am jealous of you with the jealousy of God, since I betrothed you to one husband to present you as a chaste virgin to Christ.

³But I am afraid that, as the serpent deceived Eve by his cunning, your thoughts may be corrupted from a sincere (and pure) commitment to Christ.

⁴For if someone comes and preaches another Jesus than the one we preached, or if you receive a different spirit from the one you received or a different gospel from the one you accepted, you put up with it well enough.

⁵For I think that I am not in any way inferior to these "superapostles."

⁶Even if I am untrained in speaking, I am not so in knowledge; in every way we have made this plain to you in all things.

⁷Did I make a mistake when I humbled myself so that you might be exalted, because I preached the gospel of God to you without charge?

⁸I plundered other churches by accepting from them in order to minister to you.

⁹And when I was with you and in need, I did not burden anyone, for the brothers who came from Macedonia supplied my needs. So I refrained and will refrain from burdening you in any way.

¹⁰By the truth of Christ in me, this boast of mine shall not be silenced in the regions of Achaia.

¹¹And why? Because I do not love you? God knows I do!

¹²And what I do I will continue to do, in order to end this pretext of those who seek a pretext for being regarded as we are in the mission of which they boast.

¹³For such people are false apostles, deceitful workers, who masquerade as apostles of Christ.

¹⁴And no wonder, for even Satan masquerades as an angel of light.

¹⁵So it is not strange that his ministers also masquerade as ministers of righteousness. Their end will correspond to their deeds.

¹⁶I repeat, no one should consider me foolish; but if you do, accept me as a fool, so that I too may boast a little.

¹⁷What I am saying I am not saying according to the Lord but as in foolishness, in this boastful state.

¹⁸Since many boast according to the flesh, I too will boast.

¹⁹For you gladly put up with fools, since you are wise yourselves.

²⁰For you put up with it if someone enslaves you, or devours you, or gets the better of you, or puts on airs, or slaps you in the face.

²¹To my shame I say that we were too weak! But what anyone dares to boast of (I am speaking in foolishness) I also dare.

²²Are they Hebrews? So am I. Are they Israelites? So am I. Are they descendants of Abraham? So am I.

²³Are they ministers of Christ? (I am talking like an insane person.) I am still more, with far greater labors, far more imprisonments, far worse beatings, and numerous brushes with death.

²⁴Five times at the hands of the Jews I received forty lashes minus one.

²⁵Three times I was beaten with rods, once I was stoned, three times I was shipwrecked, I passed a night and a day on the deep;

²⁶on frequent journeys, in dangers from rivers, dangers from robbers, dangers from my own race, dangers from Gentiles, dangers in the city, dangers in the wilderness, dangers at sea, dangers among false brothers;

²⁷in toil and hardship, through many sleepless nights, through hunger and thirst, through frequent fastings, through cold and exposure.

²⁸And apart from these things, there is the daily pressure upon me of my anxiety for all the churches.

²⁹Who is weak, and I am not weak? Who is led to sin, and I am not indignant?

³⁰If I must boast, I will boast of the things that show my weakness.

³¹The God and Father of the Lord Jesus knows, he who is blessed forever, that I do not lie.

³²At Damascus, the governor under King Aretas guarded the city of Damascus, in order to seize me,

³³but I was lowered in a basket through a window in the wall and escaped his hands.

12 I must boast; not that it is profitable, but I will go on to visions and revelations of the Lord.

- ²I know someone in Christ who, fourteen years ago (whether in the body or out of the body I do not know, God knows), was caught up to the third heaven.
- ³And I know that this person (whether in the body or out of the body I do not know, God knows)
- ⁴was caught up into Paradise and heard ineffable things, which no one may utter.
- ⁵About this person I will boast, but about myself I will not boast, except about my weaknesses.
- ⁶Although if I should wish to boast, I would not be foolish, for I would be telling the truth. But I refrain, so that no one may think more of me than what he sees in me or hears from me
- ⁷because of the abundance of the revelations. Therefore, that I might not become too elated, a thorn in the flesh was given to me, an angel of Satan, to beat me, to keep me from being too elated.
- ⁸Three times I begged the Lord about this, that it might leave me,
- ⁹but he said to me, "My grace is sufficient for you, for power is made perfect in weakness." I will rather boast most gladly of my weaknesses, in order that the power of Christ may dwell with me.
- ¹⁰Therefore, I am content with weaknesses, insults, hardships, persecutions, and constraints, for the sake of Christ; for when I am weak, then I am strong.
- ¹¹I have been foolish. You compelled me, for I ought to have been commended by you. For I am in no way inferior to these "superapostles," even though I am nothing.
- ¹²The signs of an apostle were performed among you with all endurance, signs and wonders, and mighty deeds.
- ¹³In what way were you less privileged than the rest of the churches, except that on my part I did not burden you? Forgive me this wrong!
- ¹⁴Now I am ready to come to you this third time. And I will not be a burden, for I want not what is yours, but you. Children ought not to save for their parents, but parents for their children.

¹⁵I will most gladly spend and be utterly spent for your sakes. If I love you more, am I to be loved less?

¹⁶But granted that I myself did not burden you, yet I was crafty and got the better of you by deceit.

¹⁷Did I take advantage of you through any of those I sent to you?

¹⁸I urged Titus to go and sent the brother with him. Did Titus take advantage of you? Did we not walk in the same spirit? And in the same steps?

¹⁹Have you been thinking all along that we are defending ourselves before you? In the sight of God we are speaking in Christ, and all for building you up, beloved.

²⁰For I fear that when I come I may find you not such as I wish, and that you may find me not as you wish; that there may be rivalry, jealousy, fury, selfishness, slander, gossip, conceit, and disorder.

²¹I fear that when I come again my God may humiliate me before you, and I may have to mourn over many of those who sinned earlier and have not repented of the impurity, immorality, and licentiousness they practiced.

13 This third time I am coming to you. "On the testimony of two or three witnesses a fact shall be established."

²I warned those who sinned earlier and all the others, and I warn them now while absent, as I did when present on my second visit, that if I come again I will not be lenient, ³since you are looking for proof of Christ speaking in me. He is not weak toward you but powerful in you.

⁴For indeed he was crucified out of weakness, but he lives by the power of God. So also we are weak in him, but toward you we shall live with him by the power of God.

⁵Examine yourselves to see whether you are living in faith. Test yourselves. Do you not realize that Jesus Christ is in you?--unless, of course, you fail the test.

⁶I hope you will discover that we have not failed.

⁷But we pray to God that you may not do evil, not that we may appear to have passed the test but that you may do what is right, even though we may seem to have failed.

⁸For we cannot do anything against the truth, but only for the truth.

⁹For we rejoice when we are weak but you are strong. What we pray for is your improvement.

¹⁰I am writing this while I am away, so that when I come I may not have to be severe in virtue of the authority that the Lord has given me to build up and not to tear down.

¹¹Finally, brothers, rejoice. Mend your ways, encourage one another, agree with one another, live in peace, and the God of love and peace will be with you.

¹²Greet one another with a holy kiss. All the holy ones greet you.

¹³The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ and the love of God and the fellowship of the holy Spirit be with all of you.

Galatians

1 Paul, an apostle not from human beings nor through a human being but through Jesus Christ and God the Father who raised him from the dead,

2 and all the brothers who are with me, to the churches of Galatia:

3 grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ,

4 who gave himself for our sins that he might rescue us from the present evil age in accord with the will of our God and Father,

5 to whom be glory forever and ever. Amen.

6 I am amazed that you are so quickly forsaking the one who called you by (the) grace (of Christ) for a different gospel

7 (not that there is another). But there are some who are disturbing you and wish to pervert the gospel of Christ.

8 But even if we or an angel from heaven should preach (to you) a gospel other than the one that we preached to you, let that one be accursed!

9 As we have said before, and now I say again, if anyone preaches to you a gospel other than the one that you received, let that one be accursed!

10 Am I now currying favor with human beings or God? Or am I seeking to please people? If I were still trying to please people, I would not be a slave of Christ.

11 Now I want you to know, brothers, that the gospel preached by me is not of human origin.

12 For I did not receive it from a human being, nor was I taught it, but it came through a revelation of Jesus Christ.

13 For you heard of my former way of life in Judaism, how I persecuted the church of God beyond measure and tried to destroy it,

¹⁴and progressed in Judaism beyond many of my contemporaries among my race, since I was even more a zealot for my ancestral traditions.

¹⁵But when (God), who from my mother's womb had set me apart and called me through his grace, was pleased

¹⁶to reveal his Son to me, so that I might proclaim him to the Gentiles, I did not immediately consult flesh and blood,

¹⁷nor did I go up to Jerusalem to those who were apostles before me; rather, I went into Arabia and then returned to Damascus.

¹⁸Then after three years I went up to Jerusalem to confer with Kephas and remained with him for fifteen days.

¹⁹But I did not see any other of the apostles, only James the brother of the Lord.

²⁰(As to what I am writing to you, behold, before God, I am not lying.)

²¹Then I went into the regions of Syria and Cilicia.

²²And I was unknown personally to the churches of Judea that are in Christ;

²³they only kept hearing that "the one who once was persecuting us is now preaching the faith he once tried to destroy."

²⁴So they glorified God because of me.

2 Then after fourteen years I again went up to Jerusalem with Barnabas, taking Titus along also.

²I went up in accord with a revelation, and I presented to them the gospel that I preach to the Gentiles--but privately to those of repute--so that I might not be running, or have run, in vain.

³Moreover, not even Titus, who was with me, although he was a Greek, was compelled to be circumcised,

⁴but because of the false brothers secretly brought in, who slipped in to spy on our freedom that we have in Christ Jesus, that they might enslave us--

⁵to them we did not submit even for a moment, so that the truth of the gospel might remain intact for you.

⁶But from those who were reputed to be important (what they once were makes no difference to me; God shows no partiality)--those of repute made me add nothing.

⁷On the contrary, when they saw that I had been entrusted with the gospel to the uncircumcised, just as Peter to the circumcised,

⁸for the one who worked in Peter for an apostolate to the circumcised worked also in me for the Gentiles,

⁹and when they recognized the grace bestowed upon me, James and Kephass and John, who were reputed to be pillars, gave me and Barnabas their right hands in partnership, that we should go to the Gentiles and they to the circumcised.

¹⁰Only, we were to be mindful of the poor, which is the very thing I was eager to do.

¹¹And when Kephass came to Antioch, I opposed him to his face because he clearly was wrong.

¹²For, until some people came from James, he used to eat with the Gentiles; but when they came, he began to draw back and separated himself, because he was afraid of the circumcised.

¹³And the rest of the Jews (also) acted hypocritically along with him, with the result that even Barnabas was carried away by their hypocrisy.

¹⁴But when I saw that they were not on the right road in line with the truth of the gospel, I said to Kephass in front of all, "If you, though a Jew, are living like a Gentile and not like a Jew, how can you compel the Gentiles to live like Jews?"

¹⁵We, who are Jews by nature and not sinners from among the Gentiles,

¹⁶(yet) who know that a person is not justified by works of the law but through faith in Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Christ Jesus that we may be justified by faith in Christ and not by works of the law, because by works of the law no one will be justified.

¹⁷But if, in seeking to be justified in Christ, we ourselves are found to be sinners, is Christ then a minister of sin? Of course not!

¹⁸But if I am building up again those things that I tore down, then I show myself to be a transgressor.

¹⁹For through the law I died to the law, that I might live for God. I have been crucified with Christ;

²⁰yet I live, no longer I, but Christ lives in me; insofar as I now live in the flesh, I live by faith in the Son of God who has loved me and given himself up for me.

²¹I do not nullify the grace of God; for if justification comes through the law, then Christ died for nothing.

3O stupid Galatians! Who has bewitched you, before whose eyes Jesus Christ was publicly portrayed as crucified?

²I want to learn only this from you: did you receive the Spirit from works of the law, or from faith in what you heard?

³Are you so stupid? After beginning with the Spirit, are you now ending with the flesh?

⁴Did you experience so many things in vain?--if indeed it was in vain.

⁵Does, then, the one who supplies the Spirit to you and works mighty deeds among you do so from works of the law or from faith in what you heard?

⁶Thus Abraham "believed God, and it was credited to him as righteousness."

⁷Realize then that it is those who have faith who are children of Abraham.

⁸Scripture, which saw in advance that God would justify the Gentiles by faith, foretold the good news to Abraham, saying, "Through you shall all the nations be blessed."

⁹Consequently, those who have faith are blessed along with Abraham who had faith.

¹⁰For all who depend on works of the law are under a curse; for it is written, "Cursed be everyone who does not persevere in doing all the things written in the book of the law."

- ¹¹And that no one is justified before God by the law is clear, for "the one who is righteous by faith will live."
- ¹²But the law does not depend on faith; rather, "the one who does these things will live by them."
- ¹³Christ ransomed us from the curse of the law by becoming a curse for us, for it is written, "Cursed be everyone who hangs on a tree,"
- ¹⁴that the blessing of Abraham might be extended to the Gentiles through Christ Jesus, so that we might receive the promise of the Spirit through faith.
- ¹⁵Brothers, in human terms I say that no one can annul or amend even a human will once ratified.
- ¹⁶Now the promises were made to Abraham and to his descendant. It does not say, "And to descendants," as referring to many, but as referring to one, "And to your descendant," who is Christ.
- ¹⁷This is what I mean: the law, which came four hundred and thirty years afterward, does not annul a covenant previously ratified by God, so as to cancel the promise.
- ¹⁸For if the inheritance comes from the law, it is no longer from a promise; but God bestowed it on Abraham through a promise.
- ¹⁹Why, then, the law? It was added for transgressions, until the descendant came to whom the promise had been made; it was promulgated by angels at the hand of a mediator.
- ²⁰Now there is no mediator when only one party is involved, and God is one.
- ²¹Is the law then opposed to the promises (of God)? Of course not! For if a law had been given that could bring life, then righteousness would in reality come from the law.
- ²²But scripture confined all things under the power of sin, that through faith in Jesus Christ the promise might be given to those who believe.
- ²³Before faith came, we were held in custody under law, confined for the faith that was to be revealed.

²⁴Consequently, the law was our disciplinarian for Christ, that we might be justified by faith.

²⁵But now that faith has come, we are no longer under a disciplinarian.

²⁶For through faith you are all children of God in Christ Jesus.

²⁷For all of you who were baptized into Christ have clothed yourselves with Christ.

²⁸There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither slave nor free person, there is not male and female; for you are all one in Christ Jesus.

²⁹And if you belong to Christ, then you are Abraham's descendant, heirs according to the promise.

4 I mean that as long as the heir is not of age, he is no different from a slave, although he is the owner of everything, ²but he is under the supervision of guardians and administrators until the date set by his father.

³In the same way we also, when we were not of age, were enslaved to the elemental powers of the world.

⁴But when the fullness of time had come, God sent his Son, born of a woman, born under the law, ⁵to ransom those under the law, so that we might receive adoption.

⁶As proof that you are children, God sent the spirit of his Son into our hearts, crying out, "Abba, Father!"

⁷So you are no longer a slave but a child, and if a child then also an heir, through God.

⁸At a time when you did not know God, you became slaves to things that by nature are not gods;

⁹but now that you have come to know God, or rather to be known by God, how can you turn back again to the weak and destitute elemental powers? Do you want to be slaves to them all over again?

¹⁰You are observing days, months, seasons, and years.

¹¹I am afraid on your account that perhaps I have labored for you in vain.

¹²I implore you, brothers, be as I am, because I have also become as you are. You did me no wrong;

¹³you know that it was because of a physical illness that I originally preached the gospel to you,

¹⁴and you did not show disdain or contempt because of the trial caused you by my physical condition, but rather you received me as an angel of God, as Christ Jesus.

¹⁵Where now is that blessedness of yours? Indeed, I can testify to you that, if it had been possible, you would have torn out your eyes and given them to me.

¹⁶So now have I become your enemy by telling you the truth?

¹⁷They show interest in you, but not in a good way; they want to isolate you, so that you may show interest in them.

¹⁸Now it is good to be shown interest for good reason at all times, and not only when I am with you.

¹⁹My children, for whom I am again in labor until Christ be formed in you!

²⁰I would like to be with you now and to change my tone, for I am perplexed because of you.

²¹Tell me, you who want to be under the law, do you not listen to the law?

²²For it is written that Abraham had two sons, one by the slave woman and the other by the freeborn woman.

²³The son of the slave woman was born naturally, the son of the freeborn through a promise.

²⁴Now this is an allegory. These women represent two covenants. One was from Mount Sinai, bearing children for slavery; this is Hagar.

²⁵Hagar represents Sinai, a mountain in Arabia; it corresponds to the present Jerusalem, for she is in slavery along with her children.

²⁶But the Jerusalem above is freeborn, and she is our mother.

²⁷For it is written: "Rejoice, you barren one who bore no children; break forth and shout, you who were not in labor; for more numerous are the children of the deserted one than of her who has a husband."

²⁸Now you, brothers, like Isaac, are children of the promise.

²⁹But just as then the child of the flesh persecuted the child of the spirit, it is the same now.

³⁰But what does the scripture say? "Drive out the slave woman and her son! For the son of the slave woman shall not share the inheritance with the son" of the freeborn.

³¹Therefore, brothers, we are children not of the slave woman but of the freeborn woman.

5 For freedom Christ set us free; so stand firm and do not submit again to the yoke of slavery.

²It is I, Paul, who am telling you that if you have yourselves circumcised, Christ will be of no benefit to you.

³Once again I declare to every man who has himself circumcised that he is bound to observe the entire law.

⁴You are separated from Christ, you who are trying to be justified by law; you have fallen from grace.

⁵For through the Spirit, by faith, we await the hope of righteousness.

⁶For in Christ Jesus, neither circumcision nor uncircumcision counts for anything, but only faith working through love.

⁷You were running well; who hindered you from following (the) truth?

⁸That enticement does not come from the one who called you.

⁹A little yeast leavens the whole batch of dough.

¹⁰I am confident of you in the Lord that you will not take a different view, and that the one who is troubling you will bear the condemnation, whoever he may be.

¹¹As for me, brothers, if I am still preaching circumcision, why am I still being persecuted? In that case, the stumbling block of the cross has been abolished.

¹²Would that those who are upsetting you might also castrate themselves!

¹³For you were called for freedom, brothers. But do not use this freedom as an opportunity for the flesh; rather, serve one another through love.

¹⁴For the whole law is fulfilled in one statement, namely, "You shall love your neighbor as yourself."

¹⁵But if you go on biting and devouring one another, beware that you are not consumed by one another.

¹⁶I say, then: live by the Spirit and you will certainly not gratify the desire of the flesh.

¹⁷For the flesh has desires against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh; these are opposed to each other, so that you may not do what you want.

¹⁸But if you are guided by the Spirit, you are not under the law.

¹⁹Now the works of the flesh are obvious: immorality, impurity, licentiousness,

²⁰idolatry, sorcery, hatreds, rivalry, jealousy, outbursts of fury, acts of selfishness, dissensions, factions,

²¹occasions of envy, drinking bouts, orgies, and the like. I warn you, as I warned you before, that those who do such things will not inherit the kingdom of God.

²²In contrast, the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, generosity, faithfulness, ²³gentleness, self-control. Against such there is no law.

²⁴Now those who belong to Christ (Jesus) have crucified their flesh with its passions and desires.

²⁵If we live in the Spirit, let us also follow the Spirit.

²⁶Let us not be conceited, provoking one another, envious of one another.

6 Brothers, even if a person is caught in some transgression, you who are spiritual should correct that one in a gentle spirit, looking to yourself, so that you also may not be tempted.

²Bear one another's burdens, and so you will fulfill the law of Christ.

³For if anyone thinks he is something when he is nothing, he is deluding himself.

⁴Each one must examine his own work, and then he will have reason to boast with regard to himself alone, and not with regard to someone else;

⁵for each will bear his own load.

⁶One who is being instructed in the word should share all good things with his instructor.

⁷Make no mistake: God is not mocked, for a person will reap only what he sows, ⁸because the one who sows for his flesh will reap corruption from the flesh, but the one who sows for the spirit will reap eternal life from the spirit.

⁹Let us not grow tired of doing good, for in due time we shall reap our harvest, if we do not give up.

¹⁰So then, while we have the opportunity, let us do good to all, but especially to those who belong to the family of the faith.

¹¹See with what large letters I am writing to you in my own hand!

¹²It is those who want to make a good appearance in the flesh who are trying to compel you to have yourselves circumcised, only that they may not be persecuted for the cross of Christ.

¹³Not even those having themselves circumcised observe the law themselves; they only want you to be circumcised so that they may boast of your flesh.

¹⁴But may I never boast except in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, through which the world has been crucified to me, and I to the world.

¹⁵For neither does circumcision mean anything, nor does uncircumcision, but only a new creation.

¹⁶Peace and mercy be to all who follow this rule and to the Israel of God.

¹⁷From now on, let no one make troubles for me; for I bear the marks of Jesus on my body.

¹⁸The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit, brothers. Amen.

Ephesians

1 Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus by the will of God, to the holy ones who are (in Ephesus) faithful in Christ Jesus:

2 grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has blessed us in Christ with every spiritual blessing in the heavens,

4 as he chose us in him, before the foundation of the world, to be holy and without blemish before him. In love

5 he destined us for adoption to himself through Jesus Christ, in accord with the favor of his will,

6 for the praise of the glory of his grace that he granted us in the beloved.

7 In him we have redemption by his blood, the forgiveness of transgressions, in accord with the riches of his grace

8 that he lavished upon us. In all wisdom and insight,

9 he has made known to us the mystery of his will in accord with his favor that he set forth in him

10 as a plan for the fullness of times, to sum up all things in Christ, in heaven and on earth.

11 In him we were also chosen, destined in accord with the purpose of the one who accomplishes all things according to the intention of his will,

12 so that we might exist for the praise of his glory, we who first hoped in Christ.

13 In him you also, who have heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation, and have believed in him, were sealed with the promised holy Spirit,

¹⁴which is the first installment of our inheritance toward redemption as God's possession, to the praise of his glory.

¹⁵Therefore, I, too, hearing of your faith in the Lord Jesus and of your love for all the holy ones,

¹⁶do not cease giving thanks for you, remembering you in my prayers,

¹⁷that the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give you a spirit of wisdom and revelation resulting in knowledge of him.

¹⁸May the eyes of (your) hearts be enlightened, that you may know what is the hope that belongs to his call, what are the riches of glory in his inheritance among the holy ones,

¹⁹and what is the surpassing greatness of his power for us who believe, in accord with the exercise of his great might,

²⁰which he worked in Christ, raising him from the dead and seating him at his right hand in the heavens,

²¹far above every principality, authority, power, and dominion, and every name that is named not only in this age but also in the one to come.

²²And he put all things beneath his feet and gave him as head over all things to the church,

²³which is his body, the fullness of the one who fills all things in every way.

2You were dead in your transgressions and sins

²in which you once lived following the age of this world, following the ruler of the power of the air, the spirit that is now at work in the disobedient.

³All of us once lived among them in the desires of our flesh, following the wishes of the flesh and the impulses, and we were by nature children of wrath, like the rest.

⁴But God, who is rich in mercy, because of the great love he had for us,

⁵even when we were dead in our transgressions, brought us to life with Christ (by grace you have been saved),

⁶raised us up with him, and seated us with him in the heavens in Christ Jesus,

⁷that in the ages to come he might show the immeasurable riches of his grace in his kindness to us in Christ Jesus.

⁸For by grace you have been saved through faith, and this is not from you; it is the gift of God;

⁹it is not from works, so no one may boast.

¹⁰For we are his handiwork, created in Christ Jesus for the good works that God has prepared in advance, that we should live in them.

¹¹Therefore, remember that at one time you, Gentiles in the flesh, called the uncircumcision by those called the circumcision, which is done in the flesh by human hands,

¹²were at that time without Christ, alienated from the community of Israel and strangers to the covenants of promise, without hope and without God in the world.

¹³But now in Christ Jesus you who once were far off have become near by the blood of Christ.

¹⁴For he is our peace, he who made both one and broke down the dividing wall of enmity, through his flesh,

¹⁵abolishing the law with its commandments and legal claims, that he might create in himself one new person in place of the two, thus establishing peace,

¹⁶and might reconcile both with God, in one body, through the cross, putting that enmity to death by it.

¹⁷He came and preached peace to you who were far off and peace to those who were near,

¹⁸for through him we both have access in one Spirit to the Father.

¹⁹So then you are no longer strangers and sojourners, but you are fellow citizens with the holy ones and members of the household of God,

²⁰built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, with Christ Jesus himself as the capstone.

²¹Through him the whole structure is held together and grows into a temple sacred in the Lord;

²²in him you also are being built together into a dwelling place of God in the Spirit.

3 Because of this, I, Paul, a prisoner of Christ (Jesus) for you Gentiles--

²if, as I suppose, you have heard of the stewardship of God's grace that was given to me for your benefit,

³(namely, that) the mystery was made known to me by revelation, as I have written briefly earlier.

⁴When you read this you can understand my insight into the mystery of Christ,

⁵which was not made known to human beings in other generations as it has now been revealed to his holy apostles and prophets by the Spirit,

⁶that the Gentiles are coheirs, members of the same body, and copartners in the promise in Christ Jesus through the gospel.

⁷Of this I became a minister by the gift of God's grace that was granted me in accord with the exercise of his power.

⁸To me, the very least of all the holy ones, this grace was given, to preach to the Gentiles the inscrutable riches of Christ,

⁹and to bring to light [for all] what is the plan of the mystery hidden from ages past in God who created all things,

¹⁰so that the manifold wisdom of God might now be made known through the church to the principalities and authorities in the heavens.

¹¹This was according to the eternal purpose that he accomplished in Christ Jesus our Lord, ¹²in whom we have boldness of speech and confidence of access through faith in him.

¹³So I ask you not to lose heart over my afflictions for you; this is your glory.

¹⁴For this reason I kneel before the Father,

¹⁵from whom every family in heaven and on earth is named,

¹⁶that he may grant you in accord with the riches of his glory to be strengthened with power through his Spirit in the inner self,

¹⁷and that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith; that you, rooted and grounded in love,

¹⁸may have strength to comprehend with all the holy ones what is the breadth and length and height and depth,

¹⁹and to know the love of Christ that surpasses knowledge, so that you may be filled with all the fullness of God.

²⁰Now to him who is able to accomplish far more than all we ask or imagine, by the power at work within us,

²¹to him be glory in the church and in Christ Jesus to all generations, forever and ever. Amen.

4I, then, a prisoner for the Lord, urge you to live in a manner worthy of the call you have received,

²with all humility and gentleness, with patience, bearing with one another through love,

³striving to preserve the unity of the spirit through the bond of peace:

⁴one body and one Spirit, as you were also called to the one hope of your call;

⁵one Lord, one faith, one baptism;

⁶one God and Father of all, who is over all and through all and in all.

⁷But grace was given to each of us according to the measure of Christ's gift.

⁸Therefore, it says: "He ascended on high and took prisoners captive; he gave gifts to men."

⁹What does "he ascended" mean except that he also descended into the lower (regions) of the earth?

¹⁰The one who descended is also the one who ascended far above all the heavens, that he might fill all things.

¹¹And he gave some as apostles, others as prophets, others as evangelists, others as pastors and teachers,

¹²to equip the holy ones for the work of ministry, for building up the body of Christ,

¹³until we all attain to the unity of faith and knowledge of the Son of God, to mature manhood, to the extent of the full stature of Christ,

¹⁴so that we may no longer be infants, tossed by waves and swept along by every wind of teaching arising from human trickery, from their cunning in the interests of deceitful scheming.

¹⁵Rather, living the truth in love, we should grow in every way into him who is the head, Christ, ¹⁶from whom the whole body, joined and held together by every supporting ligament, with the proper functioning of each part, brings about the body's growth and builds itself up in love.

¹⁷So I declare and testify in the Lord that you must no longer live as the Gentiles do, in the futility of their minds;

¹⁸darkened in understanding, alienated from the life of God because of their ignorance, because of their hardness of heart,

¹⁹they have become callous and have handed themselves over to licentiousness for the practice of every kind of impurity to excess.

²⁰That is not how you learned Christ,

²¹assuming that you have heard of him and were taught in him, as truth is in Jesus,

²²that you should put away the old self of your former way of life, corrupted through deceitful desires,

²³and be renewed in the spirit of your minds,

²⁴and put on the new self, created in God's way in righteousness and holiness of truth.

²⁵Therefore, putting away falsehood, speak the truth, each one to his neighbor, for we are members one of another.

²⁶Be angry but do not sin; do not let the sun set on your anger,

²⁷and do not leave room for the devil.

²⁸The thief must no longer steal, but rather labor, doing honest work with his (own) hands, so that he may have something to share with one in need.

²⁹No foul language should come out of your mouths, but only such as is good for needed edification, that it may impart grace to those who hear.

³⁰And do not grieve the holy Spirit of God, with which you were sealed for the day of redemption.

³¹All bitterness, fury, anger, shouting, and reviling must be removed from you, along with all malice.

³²(And) be kind to one another, compassionate, forgiving one another as God has forgiven you in Christ.

5 So be imitators of God, as beloved children,

²and live in love, as Christ loved us and handed himself over for us as a sacrificial offering to God for a fragrant aroma.

³Immorality or any impurity or greed must not even be mentioned among you, as is fitting among holy ones,

⁴no obscenity or silly or suggestive talk, which is out of place, but instead, thanksgiving.

⁵Be sure of this, that no immoral or impure or greedy person, that is, an idolater, has any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and of God.

⁶Let no one deceive you with empty arguments, for because of these things the wrath of God is coming upon the disobedient.

⁷So do not be associated with them.

⁸For you were once darkness, but now you are light in the Lord. Live as children of light, ⁹for light produces every kind of goodness and righteousness and truth.

¹⁰Try to learn what is pleasing to the Lord.

¹¹Take no part in the fruitless works of darkness; rather expose them,

¹²for it is shameful even to mention the things done by them in secret;

¹³but everything exposed by the light becomes visible,

¹⁴for everything that becomes visible is light. Therefore, it says: "Awake, O sleeper, and arise from the dead, and Christ will give you light."

¹⁵Watch carefully then how you live, not as foolish persons but as wise,

¹⁶making the most of the opportunity, because the days are evil.

¹⁷Therefore, do not continue in ignorance, but try to understand what is the will of the Lord.

¹⁸And do not get drunk on wine, in which lies debauchery, but be filled with the Spirit,

¹⁹addressing one another (in) psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and playing to the Lord in your hearts,

²⁰giving thanks always and for everything in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ to God the Father.

²¹Be subordinate to one another out of reverence for Christ.

²²Wives should be subordinate to their husbands as to the Lord.

²³For the husband is head of his wife just as Christ is head of the church, he himself the savior of the body.

²⁴As the church is subordinate to Christ, so wives should be subordinate to their husbands in everything.

²⁵Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ loved the church and handed himself over for her

²⁶to sanctify her, cleansing her by the bath of water with the word,

²⁷that he might present to himself the church in splendor, without spot or wrinkle or any such thing, that she might be holy and without blemish.

²⁸So (also) husbands should love their wives as their own bodies. He who loves his wife loves himself.

²⁹For no one hates his own flesh but rather nourishes and cherishes it, even as Christ does the church,

³⁰because we are members of his body.

³¹"For this reason a man shall leave (his) father and (his) mother and be joined to his wife, and the two shall become one flesh."

³²This is a great mystery, but I speak in reference to Christ and the church.

³³In any case, each one of you should love his wife as himself, and the wife should respect her husband.

6Children, obey your parents (in the Lord), for this is right.

²"Honor your father and mother." This is the first commandment with a promise,

³"that it may go well with you and that you may have a long life on earth."

⁴Fathers, do not provoke your children to anger, but bring them up with the training and instruction of the Lord.

⁵Slaves, be obedient to your human masters with fear and trembling, in sincerity of heart, as to Christ,

⁶not only when being watched, as currying favor, but as slaves of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart,

⁷willingly serving the Lord and not human beings,

⁸knowing that each will be requited from the Lord for whatever good he does, whether he is slave or free.

⁹Masters, act in the same way toward them, and stop bullying, knowing that both they and you have a Master in heaven and that with him there is no partiality.

¹⁰Finally, draw your strength from the Lord and from his mighty power.

¹¹Put on the armor of God so that you may be able to stand firm against the tactics of the devil.

¹²For our struggle is not with flesh and blood but with the principalities, with the powers, with the world rulers of this present darkness, with the evil spirits in the heavens.

¹³Therefore, put on the armor of God, that you may be able to resist on the evil day and, having done everything, to hold your ground.

¹⁴So stand fast with your loins girded in truth, clothed with righteousness as a breastplate, ¹⁵and your feet shod in readiness for the gospel of peace.

¹⁶In all circumstances, hold faith as a shield, to quench all (the) flaming arrows of the evil one.

¹⁷And take the helmet of salvation and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God.

¹⁸With all prayer and supplication, pray at every opportunity in the Spirit. To that end, be watchful with all perseverance and supplication for all the holy ones

¹⁹and also for me, that speech may be given me to open my mouth, to make known with boldness the mystery of the gospel

²⁰for which I am an ambassador in chains, so that I may have the courage to speak as I must.

²¹So that you also may have news of me and of what I am doing, Tychicus, my beloved brother and trustworthy minister in the Lord, will tell you everything.

²²I am sending him to you for this very purpose, so that you may know about us and that he may encourage your hearts.

²³Peace be to the brothers, and love with faith, from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

²⁴Grace be with all who love our Lord Jesus Christ in immortality.

Philippians

1 Paul and Timothy, slaves of Christ Jesus, to all the holy ones in Christ Jesus who are in Philippi, with the overseers and ministers:

2 grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 I give thanks to my God at every remembrance of you,

4 praying always with joy in my every prayer for all of you,

5 because of your partnership for the gospel from the first day until now.

6 I am confident of this, that the one who began a good work in you will continue to complete it until the day of Christ Jesus.

7 It is right that I should think this way about all of you, because I hold you in my heart, you who are all partners with me in grace, both in my imprisonment and in the defense and confirmation of the gospel.

8 For God is my witness, how I long for all of you with the affection of Christ Jesus.

9 And this is my prayer: that your love may increase ever more and more in knowledge and every kind of perception,

10 to discern what is of value, so that you may be pure and blameless for the day of Christ,

11 filled with the fruit of righteousness that comes through Jesus Christ for the glory and praise of God.

12 I want you to know, brothers, that my situation has turned out rather to advance the gospel,

13 so that my imprisonment has become well known in Christ throughout the whole praetorium and to all the rest,

¹⁴and so that the majority of the brothers, having taken encouragement in the Lord from my imprisonment, dare more than ever to proclaim the word fearlessly.

¹⁵Of course, some preach Christ from envy and rivalry, others from good will.

¹⁶The latter act out of love, aware that I am here for the defense of the gospel;

¹⁷the former proclaim Christ out of selfish ambition, not from pure motives, thinking that they will cause me trouble in my imprisonment.

¹⁸What difference does it make, as long as in every way, whether in pretense or in truth, Christ is being proclaimed? And in that I rejoice. Indeed I shall continue to rejoice, ¹⁹for I know that this will result in deliverance for me through your prayers and support from the Spirit of Jesus Christ.

²⁰My eager expectation and hope is that I shall not be put to shame in any way, but that with all boldness, now as always, Christ will be magnified in my body, whether by life or by death.

²¹For to me life is Christ, and death is gain.

²²If I go on living in the flesh, that means fruitful labor for me. And I do not know which I shall choose.

²³I am caught between the two. I long to depart this life and be with Christ, (for) that is far better.

²⁴Yet that I remain (in) the flesh is more necessary for your benefit.

²⁵And this I know with confidence, that I shall remain and continue in the service of all of you for your progress and joy in the faith,

²⁶so that your boasting in Christ Jesus may abound on account of me when I come to you again.

²⁷Only, conduct yourselves in a way worthy of the gospel of Christ, so that, whether I come and see you or am absent, I may hear news of you, that you are standing firm in one spirit, with one mind struggling together for the faith of the gospel,

²⁸not intimidated in any way by your opponents. This is proof to them of destruction, but of your salvation. And this is God's doing.

²⁹For to you has been granted, for the sake of Christ, not only to believe in him but also to suffer for him.

³⁰Yours is the same struggle as you saw in me and now hear about me.

2If there is any encouragement in Christ, any solace in love, any participation in the Spirit, any compassion and mercy, ²complete my joy by being of the same mind, with the same love, united in heart, thinking one thing.

³Do nothing out of selfishness or out of vainglory; rather, humbly regard others as more important than yourselves,

⁴each looking out not for his own interests, but (also) everyone for those of others.

⁵Have among yourselves the same attitude that is also yours in Christ Jesus, ⁶Who, though he was in the form of God, did not regard equality with God something to be grasped.

⁷Rather, he emptied himself, taking the form of a slave, coming in human likeness; and found human in appearance,

⁸he humbled himself, becoming obedient to death, even death on a cross.

⁹Because of this, God greatly exalted him and bestowed on him the name that is above every name,

¹⁰that at the name of Jesus every knee should bend, of those in heaven and on earth and under the earth,

¹¹and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.

¹²So then, my beloved, obedient as you have always been, not only when I am present but all the more now when I am absent, work out your salvation with fear and trembling.

¹³For God is the one who, for his good purpose, works in you both to desire and to work.

¹⁴Do everything without grumbling or questioning,

¹⁵that you may be blameless and innocent, children of God without blemish in the midst of a crooked and perverse generation, among whom you shine like lights in the world,

¹⁶as you hold on to the word of life, so that my boast for the day of Christ may be that I did not run in vain or labor in vain.

¹⁷But, even if I am poured out as a libation upon the sacrificial service of your faith, I rejoice and share my joy with all of you.

¹⁸In the same way you also should rejoice and share your joy with me.

¹⁹I hope, in the Lord Jesus, to send Timothy to you soon, so that I too may be heartened by hearing news of you.

²⁰For I have no one comparable to him for genuine interest in whatever concerns you.

²¹For they all seek their own interests, not those of Jesus Christ.

²²But you know his worth, how as a child with a father he served along with me in the cause of the gospel.

²³He it is, then, whom I hope to send as soon as I see how things go with me,

²⁴but I am confident in the Lord that I myself will also come soon.

²⁵With regard to Epaphroditus, my brother and co-worker and fellow soldier, your messenger and minister in my need, I consider it necessary to send him to you.

²⁶For he has been longing for all of you and was distressed because you heard that he was ill.

²⁷He was indeed ill, close to death; but God had mercy on him, not just on him but also on me, so that I might not have sorrow upon sorrow.

²⁸I send him therefore with the greater eagerness, so that, on seeing him, you may rejoice again, and I may have less anxiety.

²⁹Welcome him then in the Lord with all joy and hold such people in esteem,

³⁰because for the sake of the work of Christ he came close to death, risking his life to make up for those services to me that you could not perform.

3 Finally, my brothers, rejoice in the Lord. Writing the same things to you is no burden for me but is a safeguard for you.

²Beware of the dogs! Beware of the evil workers! Beware of the mutilation!

³For we are the circumcision, we who worship through the Spirit of God, who boast in Christ Jesus and do not put our confidence in flesh, ⁴although I myself have grounds for confidence even in the flesh. If anyone else thinks he can be confident in flesh, all the more can I.

⁵Circumcised on the eighth day, of the race of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin, a Hebrew of Hebrew parentage, in observance of the law a Pharisee, ⁶in zeal I persecuted the church, in righteousness based on the law I was blameless.

⁷(But) whatever gains I had, these I have come to consider a loss because of Christ.

⁸More than that, I even consider everything as a loss because of the supreme good of knowing Christ Jesus my Lord. For his sake I have accepted the loss of all things and I consider them so much rubbish, that I may gain Christ

⁹and be found in him, not having any righteousness of my own based on the law but that which comes through faith in Christ, the righteousness from God, depending on faith

¹⁰to know him and the power of his resurrection and (the) sharing of his sufferings by being conformed to his death,

¹¹if somehow I may attain the resurrection from the dead.

¹²It is not that I have already taken hold of it or have already attained perfect maturity, but I continue my pursuit in hope that I may possess it, since I have indeed been taken possession of by Christ (Jesus).

¹³Brothers, I for my part do not consider myself to have taken possession. Just one thing: forgetting what lies behind but straining forward to what lies ahead, ¹⁴I continue my pursuit toward the goal, the prize of God's upward calling, in Christ Jesus.

¹⁵Let us, then, who are "perfectly mature" adopt this attitude. And if you have a different attitude, this too God will reveal to you.

¹⁶Only, with regard to what we have attained, continue on the same course.

¹⁷Join with others in being imitators of me, brothers, and observe those who thus conduct themselves according to the model you have in us.

¹⁸For many, as I have often told you and now tell you even in tears, conduct themselves as enemies of the cross of Christ.

¹⁹Their end is destruction. Their God is their stomach; their glory is in their "shame." Their minds are occupied with earthly things.

²⁰But our citizenship is in heaven, and from it we also await a savior, the Lord Jesus Christ.

²¹He will change our lowly body to conform with his glorified body by the power that enables him also to bring all things into subjection to himself.

4Therefore, my brothers, whom I love and long for, my joy and crown, in this way stand firm in the Lord, beloved.

²I urge Euodia and I urge Syntyche to come to a mutual understanding in the Lord.

³Yes, and I ask you also, my true yokemate, to help them, for they have struggled at my side in promoting the gospel, along with Clement and my other co-workers, whose names are in the book of life.

⁴Rejoice in the Lord always. I shall say it again: rejoice!

⁵Your kindness should be known to all. The Lord is near.

⁶Have no anxiety at all, but in everything, by prayer and petition, with thanksgiving, make your requests known to God.

⁷Then the peace of God that surpasses all understanding will guard your hearts and minds in Christ Jesus.

⁸Finally, brothers, whatever is true, whatever is honorable, whatever is just, whatever is pure, whatever is lovely, whatever is gracious, if there is any excellence and if there is anything worthy of praise, think about these things.

⁹Keep on doing what you have learned and received and heard and seen in me. Then the God of peace will be with you.

¹⁰I rejoice greatly in the Lord that now at last you revived your concern for me. You were, of course, concerned about me but lacked an opportunity.

¹¹Not that I say this because of need, for I have learned, in whatever situation I find myself, to be self-sufficient.

¹²I know indeed how to live in humble circumstances; I know also how to live with abundance. In every circumstance and in all things I have learned the secret of being well fed and of going hungry, of living in abundance and of being in need.

¹³I have the strength for everything through him who empowers me.

¹⁴Still, it was kind of you to share in my distress.

¹⁵You Philippians indeed know that at the beginning of the gospel, when I left Macedonia, not a single church shared with me in an account of giving and receiving, except you alone.

¹⁶For even when I was at Thessalonica you sent me something for my needs, not only once but more than once.

¹⁷It is not that I am eager for the gift; rather, I am eager for the profit that accrues to your account.

¹⁸I have received full payment and I abound. I am very well supplied because of what I received from you through Epaphroditus, "a fragrant aroma," an acceptable sacrifice, pleasing to God.

¹⁹My God will fully supply whatever you need, in accord with his glorious riches in Christ Jesus.

²⁰To our God and Father, glory forever and ever. Amen.

²¹Give my greetings to every holy one in Christ Jesus. The brothers who are with me send you their greetings;

²²all the holy ones send you their greetings, especially those of Caesar's household.

²³The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit.

Colossians

1 Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus by the will of God, and Timothy our brother,

²to the holy ones and faithful brothers in Christ in Colossae: grace to you and peace from God our Father.

³We always give thanks to God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, when we pray for you,

⁴for we have heard of your faith in Christ Jesus and the love that you have for all the holy ones

⁵because of the hope reserved for you in heaven. Of this you have already heard through the word of truth, the gospel,

⁶that has come to you. Just as in the whole world it is bearing fruit and growing, so also among you, from the day you heard it and came to know the grace of God in truth,

⁷as you learned it from Epaphras our beloved fellow slave, who is a trustworthy minister of Christ on your behalf

⁸and who also told us of your love in the Spirit.

⁹Therefore, from the day we heard this, we do not cease praying for you and asking that you may be filled with the knowledge of his will through all spiritual wisdom and understanding

¹⁰to live in a manner worthy of the Lord, so as to be fully pleasing, in every good work bearing fruit and growing in the knowledge of God,

¹¹strengthened with every power, in accord with his glorious might, for all endurance and patience, with joy

¹²giving thanks to the Father, who has made you fit to share in the inheritance of the holy ones in light.

¹³He delivered us from the power of darkness and transferred us to the kingdom of his beloved Son, ¹⁴in whom we have redemption, the forgiveness of sins.

¹⁵He is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of all creation.

¹⁶For in him were created all things in heaven and on earth, the visible and the invisible, whether thrones or dominions or principalities or powers; all things were created through him and for him.

¹⁷He is before all things, and in him all things hold together.

¹⁸He is the head of the body, the church. He is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead, that in all things he himself might be preeminent.

¹⁹For in him all the fullness was pleased to dwell,

²⁰and through him to reconcile all things for him, making peace by the blood of his cross (through him), whether those on earth or those in heaven.

²¹And you who once were alienated and hostile in mind because of evil deeds

²²he has now reconciled in his fleshly body through his death, to present you holy, without blemish, and irreproachable before him,

²³provided that you persevere in the faith, firmly grounded, stable, and not shifting from the hope of the gospel that you heard, which has been preached to every creature under heaven, of which I, Paul, am a minister.

²⁴Now I rejoice in my sufferings for your sake, and in my flesh I am filling up what is lacking in the afflictions of Christ on behalf of his body, which is the church,

²⁵of which I am a minister in accordance with God's stewardship given to me to bring to completion for you the word of God,

²⁶the mystery hidden from ages and from generations past. But now it has been manifested to his holy ones,

²⁷to whom God chose to make known the riches of the glory of this mystery among the Gentiles; it is Christ in you, the hope for glory.

²⁸It is he whom we proclaim, admonishing everyone and teaching everyone with all wisdom, that we may present everyone perfect in Christ.

²⁹For this I labor and struggle, in accord with the exercise of his power working within me.

2For I want you to know how great a struggle I am having for you and for those in Laodicea and all who have not seen me face to face,

²that their hearts may be encouraged as they are brought together in love, to have all the richness of fully assured understanding, for the knowledge of the mystery of God, Christ,

³in whom are hidden all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge.

⁴I say this so that no one may deceive you by specious arguments.

⁵For even if I am absent in the flesh, yet I am with you in spirit, rejoicing as I observe your good order and the firmness of your faith in Christ.

⁶So, as you received Christ Jesus the Lord, walk in him,

⁷rooted in him and built upon him and established in the faith as you were taught, abounding in thanksgiving.

⁸See to it that no one captivate you with an empty, seductive philosophy according to human tradition, according to the elemental powers of the world and not according to Christ.

⁹For in him dwells the whole fullness of the deity bodily,

¹⁰and you share in this fullness in him, who is the head of every principality and power.

¹¹In him you were also circumcised with a circumcision not administered by hand, by stripping off the carnal body, with the circumcision of Christ.

¹²You were buried with him in baptism, in which you were also raised with him through faith in the power of God, who raised him from the dead.

¹³And even when you were dead (in) transgressions and the uncircumcision of your flesh, he brought you to life along with him, having forgiven us all our transgressions;

¹⁴obliterating the bond against us, with its legal claims, which was opposed to us, he also removed it from our midst, nailing it to the cross;

¹⁵despoiling the principalities and the powers, he made a public spectacle of them, leading them away in triumph by it.

¹⁶Let no one, then, pass judgment on you in matters of food and drink or with regard to a festival or new moon or sabbath.

¹⁷These are shadows of things to come; the reality belongs to Christ.

¹⁸Let no one disqualify you, delighting in self-abasement and worship of angels, taking his stand on visions, inflated without reason by his fleshly mind,

¹⁹and not holding closely to the head, from whom the whole body, supported and held together by its ligaments and bonds, achieves the growth that comes from God.

²⁰If you died with Christ to the elemental powers of the world, why do you submit to regulations as if you were still living in the world?

²¹"Do not handle! Do not taste! Do not touch!"

²²These are all things destined to perish with use; they accord with human precepts and teachings.

²³While they have a semblance of wisdom in rigor of devotion and self-abasement (and) severity to the body, they are of no value against gratification of the flesh.

3 If then you were raised with Christ, seek what is above, where Christ is seated at the right hand of God.

²Think of what is above, not of what is on earth.

³For you have died, and your life is hidden with Christ in God.

⁴When Christ your life appears, then you too will appear with him in glory.

⁵Put to death, then, the parts of you that are earthly: immorality, impurity, passion, evil desire, and the greed that is idolatry.

⁶Because of these the wrath of God is coming (upon the disobedient).

⁷By these you too once conducted yourselves, when you lived in that way.

⁸But now you must put them all away: anger, fury, malice, slander, and obscene language out of your mouths.

⁹Stop lying to one another, since you have taken off the old self with its practices

¹⁰and have put on the new self, which is being renewed, for knowledge, in the image of its creator.

¹¹Here there is not Greek and Jew, circumcision and uncircumcision, barbarian, Scythian, slave, free; but Christ is all and in all.

¹²Put on then, as God's chosen ones, holy and beloved, heartfelt compassion, kindness, humility, gentleness, and patience,

¹³bearing with one another and forgiving one another, if one has a grievance against another; as the Lord has forgiven you, so must you also do.

¹⁴And over all these put on love, that is, the bond of perfection.

¹⁵And let the peace of Christ control your hearts, the peace into which you were also called in one body. And be thankful.

¹⁶Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly, as in all wisdom you teach and admonish one another, singing psalms, hymns, and spiritual songs with gratitude in your hearts to God.

¹⁷And whatever you do, in word or in deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him.

¹⁸Wives, be subordinate to your husbands, as is proper in the Lord.

¹⁹Husbands, love your wives, and avoid any bitterness toward them.

²⁰Children, obey your parents in everything, for this is pleasing to the Lord.

²¹Fathers, do not provoke your children, so they may not become discouraged.

²²Slaves, obey your human masters in everything, not only when being watched, as currying favor, but in simplicity of heart, fearing the Lord.

²³Whatever you do, do from the heart, as for the Lord and not for others,

²⁴knowing that you will receive from the Lord the due payment of the inheritance; be slaves of the Lord Christ.

²⁵For the wrongdoer will receive recompense for the wrong he committed, and there is no partiality.

4 Masters, treat your slaves justly and fairly, realizing that you too have a Master in heaven.

²Persevere in prayer, being watchful in it with thanksgiving;

³at the same time, pray for us, too, that God may open a door to us for the word, to speak of the mystery of Christ, for which I am in prison,

⁴that I may make it clear, as I must speak.

⁵Conduct yourselves wisely toward outsiders, making the most of the opportunity.

⁶Let your speech always be gracious, seasoned with salt, so that you know how you should respond to each one.

⁷Tychicus, my beloved brother, trustworthy minister, and fellow slave in the Lord, will tell you all the news of me.

⁸I am sending him to you for this very purpose, so that you may know about us and that he may encourage your hearts,

⁹together with Onesimus, a trustworthy and beloved brother, who is one of you. They will tell you about everything here.

¹⁰Aristarchus, my fellow prisoner, sends you greetings, as does Mark the cousin of Barnabas (concerning whom you have received instructions; if he comes to you, receive him),

¹¹and Jesus, who is called Justus, who are of the circumcision; these alone are my co-workers for the kingdom of God, and they have been a comfort to me.

¹²Epaphras sends you greetings; he is one of you, a slave of Christ (Jesus), always striving for you in his prayers so that you may be perfect and fully assured in all the will of God.

¹³For I can testify that he works very hard for you and for those in Laodicea and those in Hierapolis.

¹⁴Luke the beloved physician sends greetings, as does Demas.

¹⁵Give greetings to the brothers in Laodicea and to Nympha and to the church in her house.

¹⁶And when this letter is read before you, have it read also in the church of the Laodiceans, and you yourselves read the one from Laodicea.

¹⁷And tell Archippus, "See that you fulfill the ministry that you received in the Lord."

¹⁸The greeting is in my own hand, Paul's. Remember my chains. Grace be with you.

1st Thessalonians

1 Paul, Silvanus, and Timothy to the church of the Thessalonians in God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ: grace to you and peace.

²We give thanks to God always for all of you, remembering you in our prayers, unceasingly

³calling to mind your work of faith and labor of love and endurance in hope of our Lord Jesus Christ, before our God and Father, ⁴knowing, brothers loved by God, how you were chosen.

⁵For our gospel did not come to you in word alone, but also in power and in the holy Spirit and (with) much conviction. You know what sort of people we were (among) you for your sake.

⁶And you became imitators of us and of the Lord, receiving the word in great affliction, with joy from the holy Spirit,

⁷so that you became a model for all the believers in Macedonia and in Achaia.

⁸For from you the word of the Lord has sounded forth not only in Macedonia and (in) Achaia, but in every place your faith in God has gone forth, so that we have no need to say anything.

⁹For they themselves openly declare about us what sort of reception we had among you, and how you turned to God from idols to serve the living and true God

¹⁰and to await his Son from heaven, whom he raised from (the) dead, Jesus, who delivers us from the coming wrath.

2 For you yourselves know, brothers, that our reception among you was not without effect.

²Rather, after we had suffered and been insolently treated, as you know, in Philippi, we drew courage through our God to speak to you the gospel of God with much struggle.

³Our exhortation was not from delusion or impure motives, nor did it work through deception.

⁴But as we were judged worthy by God to be entrusted with the gospel, that is how we speak, not as trying to please human beings, but rather God, who judges our hearts.

⁵Nor, indeed, did we ever appear with flattering speech, as you know, or with a pretext for greed--God is witness--

⁶nor did we seek praise from human beings, either from you or from others,

⁷although we were able to impose our weight as apostles of Christ. Rather, we were gentle among you, as a nursing mother cares for her children.

⁸With such affection for you, we were determined to share with you not only the gospel of God, but our very selves as well, so dearly beloved had you become to us.

⁹You recall, brothers, our toil and drudgery. Working night and day in order not to burden any of you, we proclaimed to you the gospel of God.

¹⁰You are witnesses, and so is God, how devoutly and justly and blamelessly we behaved toward you believers.

¹¹As you know, we treated each one of you as a father treats his children,

¹²exhorting and encouraging you and insisting that you conduct yourselves as worthy of the God who calls you into his kingdom and glory.

¹³And for this reason we too give thanks to God unceasingly, that, in receiving the word of God from hearing us, you received not a human word but, as it truly is, the word of God, which is now at work in you who believe.

¹⁴For you, brothers, have become imitators of the churches of God that are in Judea in Christ Jesus. For you suffer the same things from your compatriots as they did from the Jews,

¹⁵who killed both the Lord Jesus and the prophets and persecuted us; they do not please God, and are opposed to everyone,

¹⁶trying to prevent us from speaking to the Gentiles that they may be saved, thus constantly filling up the measure of their sins. But the wrath of God has finally begun to come upon them.

¹⁷Brothers, when we were bereft of you for a short time, in person, not in heart, we were all the more eager in our great desire to see you in person.

¹⁸We decided to go to you--I, Paul, not only once but more than once--yet Satan thwarted us.

¹⁹For what is our hope or joy or crown to boast of in the presence of our Lord Jesus at his coming if not you yourselves?

²⁰For you are our glory and joy.

3 That is why, when we could bear it no longer, we decided to remain alone in Athens

²and sent Timothy, our brother and co-worker for God in the gospel of Christ, to strengthen and encourage you in your faith,

³so that no one be disturbed in these afflictions. For you yourselves know that we are destined for this.

⁴For even when we were among you, we used to warn you in advance that we would undergo affliction, just as has happened, as you know.

⁵For this reason, when I too could bear it no longer, I sent to learn about your faith, for fear that somehow the tempter had put you to the test and our toil might come to nothing.

⁶But just now Timothy has returned to us from you, bringing us the good news of your faith and love, and that you always think kindly of us and long to see us as we long to see you.

⁷Because of this, we have been reassured about you, brothers, in our every distress and affliction, through your faith.

⁸For we now live, if you stand firm in the Lord.

⁹What thanksgiving, then, can we render to God for you, for all the joy we feel on your account before our God?

¹⁰Night and day we pray beyond measure to see you in person and to remedy the deficiencies of your faith.

¹¹Now may God himself, our Father, and our Lord Jesus direct our way to you,

¹²and may the Lord make you increase and abound in love for one another and for all, just as we have for you,

¹³so as to strengthen your hearts, to be blameless in holiness before our God and Father at the coming of our Lord Jesus with all his holy ones. (Amen.)

4 Finally, brothers, we earnestly ask and exhort you in the Lord Jesus that, as you received from us how you should conduct yourselves to please God--and as you are conducting yourselves--you do so even more.

²For you know what instructions we gave you through the Lord Jesus.

³This is the will of God, your holiness: that you refrain from immorality,

⁴that each of you know how to acquire a wife for himself in holiness and honor,

⁵not in lustful passion as do the Gentiles who do not know God;

⁶not to take advantage of or exploit a brother in this matter, for the Lord is an avenger in all these things, as we told you before and solemnly affirmed.

⁷For God did not call us to impurity but to holiness.

⁸Therefore, whoever disregards this, disregards not a human being but God, who (also) gives his holy Spirit to you.

⁹On the subject of mutual charity you have no need for anyone to write you, for you yourselves have been taught by God to love one another.

¹⁰Indeed, you do this for all the brothers throughout Macedonia. Nevertheless we urge you, brothers, to progress even more,

¹¹and to aspire to live a tranquil life, to mind your own affairs, and to work with your (own) hands, as we instructed you,

¹²that you may conduct yourselves properly toward outsiders and not depend on anyone.

¹³We do not want you to be unaware, brothers, about those who have fallen asleep, so that you may not grieve like the rest, who have no hope.

¹⁴For if we believe that Jesus died and rose, so too will God, through Jesus, bring with him those who have fallen asleep.

¹⁵Indeed, we tell you this, on the word of the Lord, that we who are alive, who are left until the coming of the Lord, will surely not precede those who have fallen asleep.

¹⁶For the Lord himself, with a word of command, with the voice of an archangel and with the trumpet of God, will come down from heaven, and the dead in Christ will rise first.

¹⁷Then we who are alive, who are left, will be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air. Thus we shall always be with the Lord.

¹⁸Therefore, console one another with these words.

5 Concerning times and seasons, brothers, you have no need for anything to be written to you.

²For you yourselves know very well that the day of the Lord will come like a thief at night.

³When people are saying, "Peace and security," then sudden disaster comes upon them, like labor pains upon a pregnant woman, and they will not escape.

⁴But you, brothers, are not in darkness, for that day to overtake you like a thief.

⁵For all of you are children of the light and children of the day. We are not of the night or of darkness.

⁶Therefore, let us not sleep as the rest do, but let us stay alert and sober.

⁷Those who sleep go to sleep at night, and those who are drunk get drunk at night.

⁸But since we are of the day, let us be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and love and the helmet that is hope for salvation.

⁹For God did not destine us for wrath, but to gain salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ, ¹⁰who died for us, so that whether we are awake or asleep we may live together with him.

¹¹Therefore, encourage one another and build one another up, as indeed you do.

¹²We ask you, brothers, to respect those who are laboring among you and who are over you in the Lord and who admonish you,

¹³and to show esteem for them with special love on account of their work. Be at peace among yourselves.

¹⁴We urge you, brothers, admonish the idle, cheer the fainthearted, support the weak, be patient with all.

¹⁵See that no one returns evil for evil; rather, always seek what is good (both) for each other and for all.

¹⁶Rejoice always.

¹⁷Pray without ceasing.

¹⁸In all circumstances give thanks, for this is the will of God for you in Christ Jesus.

¹⁹Do not quench the Spirit.

²⁰Do not despise prophetic utterances.

²¹Test everything; retain what is good.

²²Refrain from every kind of evil.

²³May the God of peace himself make you perfectly holy and may you entirely, spirit, soul, and body, be preserved blameless for the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.

²⁴The one who calls you is faithful, and he will also accomplish it.

²⁵Brothers, pray for us (too).

²⁶Greet all the brothers with a holy kiss.

²⁷I adjure you by the Lord that this letter be read to all the brothers.

²⁸The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

2nd Thessalonians

1 Paul, Silvanus, and Timothy to the church of the Thessalonians in God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ:

2 grace to you and peace from God (our) Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 We ought to thank God always for you, brothers, as is fitting, because your faith flourishes ever more, and the love of every one of you for one another grows ever greater.

4 Accordingly, we ourselves boast of you in the churches of God regarding your endurance and faith in all your persecutions and the afflictions you endure.

5 This is evidence of the just judgment of God, so that you may be considered worthy of the kingdom of God for which you are suffering.

6 For it is surely just on God's part to repay with afflictions those who are afflicting you,

7 and to grant rest along with us to you who are undergoing afflictions, at the revelation of the Lord Jesus from heaven with his mighty angels,

8 in blazing fire, inflicting punishment on those who do not acknowledge God and on those who do not obey the gospel of our Lord Jesus.

9 These will pay the penalty of eternal ruin, separated from the presence of the Lord and from the glory of his power,

10 when he comes to be glorified among his holy ones and to be marveled at on that day among all who have believed, for our testimony to you was believed.

11 To this end, we always pray for you, that our God may make you worthy of his calling and powerfully bring to fulfillment every good purpose and every effort of faith,

12 that the name of our Lord Jesus may be glorified in you, and you in him, in accord with the grace of our God and Lord Jesus Christ.

2We ask you, brothers, with regard to the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ and our assembling with him,

²not to be shaken out of your minds suddenly, or to be alarmed either by a "spirit," or by an oral statement, or by a letter allegedly from us to the effect that the day of the Lord is at hand.

³Let no one deceive you in any way. For unless the apostasy comes first and the lawless one is revealed, the one doomed to perdition,

⁴who opposes and exalts himself above every so-called god and object of worship, so as to seat himself in the temple of God, claiming that he is a god--

⁵do you not recall that while I was still with you I told you these things?

⁶And now you know what is restraining, that he may be revealed in his time.

⁷For the mystery of lawlessness is already at work. But the one who restrains is to do so only for the present, until he is removed from the scene.

⁸And then the lawless one will be revealed, whom the Lord (Jesus) will kill with the breath of his mouth and render powerless by the manifestation of his coming,

⁹the one whose coming springs from the power of Satan in every mighty deed and in signs and wonders that lie,

¹⁰and in every wicked deceit for those who are perishing because they have not accepted the love of truth so that they may be saved.

¹¹Therefore, God is sending them a deceiving power so that they may believe the lie, ¹²that all who have not believed the truth but have approved wrongdoing may be condemned.

¹³But we ought to give thanks to God for you always, brothers loved by the Lord, because God chose you as the firstfruits for salvation through sanctification by the Spirit and belief in truth.

¹⁴To this end he has (also) called you through our gospel to possess the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ.

¹⁵Therefore, brothers, stand firm and hold fast to the traditions that you were taught, either by an oral statement or by a letter of ours.

¹⁶May our Lord Jesus Christ himself and God our Father, who has loved us and given us everlasting encouragement and good hope through his grace, ¹⁷encourage your hearts and strengthen them in every good deed and word.

3 Finally, brothers, pray for us, so that the word of the Lord may speed forward and be glorified, as it did among you,

²and that we may be delivered from perverse and wicked people, for not all have faith.

³But the Lord is faithful; he will strengthen you and guard you from the evil one.

⁴We are confident of you in the Lord that what we instruct you, you (both) are doing and will continue to do.

⁵May the Lord direct your hearts to the love of God and to the endurance of Christ.

⁶We instruct you, brothers, in the name of (our) Lord Jesus Christ, to shun any brother who conducts himself in a disorderly way and not according to the tradition they received from us.

⁷For you know how one must imitate us. For we did not act in a disorderly way among you,

⁸nor did we eat food received free from anyone. On the contrary, in toil and drudgery, night and day we worked, so as not to burden any of you.

⁹Not that we do not have the right. Rather, we wanted to present ourselves as a model for you, so that you might imitate us.

¹⁰In fact, when we were with you, we instructed you that if anyone was unwilling to work, neither should that one eat.

¹¹We hear that some are conducting themselves among you in a disorderly way, by not keeping busy but minding the business of others.

¹²Such people we instruct and urge in the Lord Jesus Christ to work quietly and to eat their own food.

¹³But you, brothers, do not be remiss in doing good.

¹⁴If anyone does not obey our word as expressed in this letter, take note of this person not to associate with him, that he may be put to shame.

¹⁵Do not regard him as an enemy but admonish him as a brother.

¹⁶May the Lord of peace himself give you peace at all times and in every way. The Lord be with all of you.

¹⁷This greeting is in my own hand, Paul's. This is the sign in every letter; this is how I write.

¹⁸The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with all of you.

1st Timothy

1 Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus by command of God our savior and of Christ Jesus our hope,

²to Timothy, my true child in faith: grace, mercy, and peace from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Lord.

³I repeat the request I made of you when I was on my way to Macedonia, that you stay in Ephesus to instruct certain people not to teach false doctrines

⁴or to concern themselves with myths and endless genealogies, which promote speculations rather than the plan of God that is to be received by faith.

⁵The aim of this instruction is love from a pure heart, a good conscience, and a sincere faith.

⁶Some people have deviated from these and turned to meaningless talk,

⁷wanting to be teachers of the law, but without understanding either what they are saying or what they assert with such assurance.

⁸We know that the law is good, provided that one uses it as law,

⁹with the understanding that law is meant not for a righteous person but for the lawless and unruly, the godless and sinful, the unholy and profane, those who kill their fathers or mothers, murderers,

¹⁰the unchaste, practicing homosexuals, kidnapers, liars, perjurers, and whatever else is opposed to sound teaching,

¹¹according to the glorious gospel of the blessed God, with which I have been entrusted.

¹²I am grateful to him who has strengthened me, Christ Jesus our Lord, because he considered me trustworthy in appointing me to the ministry.

¹³I was once a blasphemer and a persecutor and an arrogant man, but I have been mercifully treated because I acted out of ignorance in my unbelief.

¹⁴Indeed, the grace of our Lord has been abundant, along with the faith and love that are in Christ Jesus.

¹⁵This saying is trustworthy and deserves full acceptance: Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners. Of these I am the foremost.

¹⁶But for that reason I was mercifully treated, so that in me, as the foremost, Christ Jesus might display all his patience as an example for those who would come to believe in him for everlasting life.

¹⁷To the king of ages, incorruptible, invisible, the only God, honor and glory forever and ever. Amen.

¹⁸I entrust this charge to you, Timothy, my child, in accordance with the prophetic words once spoken about you. Through them may you fight a good fight

¹⁹by having faith and a good conscience. Some, by rejecting conscience, have made a shipwreck of their faith,

²⁰among them Hymenaeus and Alexander, whom I have handed over to Satan to be taught not to blaspheme.

2First of all, then, I ask that supplications, prayers, petitions, and thanksgivings be offered for everyone,

²for kings and for all in authority, that we may lead a quiet and tranquil life in all devotion and dignity.

³This is good and pleasing to God our savior,

⁴who wills everyone to be saved and to come to knowledge of the truth.

⁵For there is one God. There is also one mediator between God and the human race, Christ Jesus, himself human,

⁶who gave himself as ransom for all. This was the testimony at the proper time.

⁷For this I was appointed preacher and apostle (I am speaking the truth, I am not lying), teacher of the Gentiles in faith and truth.

⁸It is my wish, then, that in every place the men should pray, lifting up holy hands, without anger or argument.

⁹Similarly, (too,) women should adorn themselves with proper conduct, with modesty and self-control, not with braided hairstyles and gold ornaments, or pearls, or expensive clothes,

¹⁰but rather, as befits women who profess reverence for God, with good deeds.

¹¹A woman must receive instruction silently and under complete control.

¹²I do not permit a woman to teach or to have authority over a man. She must be quiet.

¹³For Adam was formed first, then Eve.

¹⁴Further, Adam was not deceived, but the woman was deceived and transgressed.

¹⁵But she will be saved through motherhood, provided women persevere in faith and love and holiness, with self-control.

3This saying is trustworthy: whoever aspires to the office of bishop desires a noble task.

²Therefore, a bishop must be irreproachable, married only once, temperate, self-controlled, decent, hospitable, able to teach,

³not a drunkard, not aggressive, but gentle, not contentious, not a lover of money.

⁴He must manage his own household well, keeping his children under control with perfect dignity;

⁵for if a man does not know how to manage his own household, how can he take care of the church of God?

⁶He should not be a recent convert, so that he may not become conceited and thus incur the devil's punishment.

⁷He must also have a good reputation among outsiders, so that he may not fall into disgrace, the devil's trap.

⁸Similarly, deacons must be dignified, not deceitful, not addicted to drink, not greedy for sordid gain, ⁹holding fast to the mystery of the faith with a clear conscience.

¹⁰Moreover, they should be tested first; then, if there is nothing against them, let them serve as deacons.

¹¹Women, similarly, should be dignified, not slanderers, but temperate and faithful in everything.

¹²Deacons may be married only once and must manage their children and their households well.

¹³Thus those who serve well as deacons gain good standing and much confidence in their faith in Christ Jesus.

¹⁴I am writing you about these matters, although I hope to visit you soon.

¹⁵But if I should be delayed, you should know how to behave in the household of God, which is the church of the living God, the pillar and foundation of truth.

¹⁶Undeniably great is the mystery of devotion, Who was manifested in the flesh, vindicated in the spirit, seen by angels, proclaimed to the Gentiles, believed in throughout the world, taken up in glory.

4 Now the Spirit explicitly says that in the last times some will turn away from the faith by paying attention to deceitful spirits and demonic instructions ²through the hypocrisy of liars with branded consciences.

³They forbid marriage and require abstinence from foods that God created to be received with thanksgiving by those who believe and know the truth.

⁴For everything created by God is good, and nothing is to be rejected when received with thanksgiving,

⁵for it is made holy by the invocation of God in prayer.

⁶If you will give these instructions to the brothers, you will be a good minister of Christ Jesus, nourished on the words of the faith and of the sound teaching you have followed.

⁷Avoid profane and silly myths. Train yourself for devotion,

⁸for, while physical training is of limited value, devotion is valuable in every respect, since it holds a promise of life both for the present and for the future.

⁹This saying is trustworthy and deserves full acceptance.

¹⁰For this we toil and struggle, because we have set our hope on the living God, who is the savior of all, especially of those who believe.

¹¹Command and teach these things.

¹²Let no one have contempt for your youth, but set an example for those who believe, in speech, conduct, love, faith, and purity.

¹³Until I arrive, attend to the reading, exhortation, and teaching.

¹⁴Do not neglect the gift you have, which was conferred on you through the prophetic word with the imposition of hands of the presbyterate.

¹⁵Be diligent in these matters, be absorbed in them, so that your progress may be evident to everyone.

¹⁶Attend to yourself and to your teaching; persevere in both tasks, for by doing so you will save both yourself and those who listen to you.

5 Do not rebuke an older man, but appeal to him as a father. Treat younger men as brothers, ²older women as mothers, and younger women as sisters with complete purity.

³Honor widows who are truly widows.

⁴But if a widow has children or grandchildren, let these first learn to perform their religious duty to their own family and to make recompense to their parents, for this is pleasing to God.

⁵The real widow, who is all alone, has set her hope on God and continues in supplications and prayers night and day.

⁶But the one who is self-indulgent is dead while she lives.

⁷Command this, so that they may be irreproachable.

⁸And whoever does not provide for relatives and especially family members has denied the faith and is worse than an unbeliever.

⁹Let a widow be enrolled if she is not less than sixty years old, married only once, ¹⁰with a reputation for good works, namely, that she has raised children, practiced hospitality, washed the feet of the holy ones, helped those in distress, involved herself in every good work.

¹¹But exclude younger widows, for when their sensuality estranges them from Christ, they want to marry

¹²and will incur condemnation for breaking their first pledge.

¹³And furthermore, they learn to be idlers, going about from house to house, and not only idlers but gossips and busybodies as well, talking about things that ought not to be mentioned.

¹⁴So I would like younger widows to marry, have children, and manage a home, so as to give the adversary no pretext for maligning us.

¹⁵For some have already turned away to follow Satan.

¹⁶If any woman believer has widowed relatives, she must assist them; the church is not to be burdened, so that it will be able to help those who are truly widows.

¹⁷Presbyters who preside well deserve double honor, especially those who toil in preaching and teaching.

¹⁸For the scripture says, "You shall not muzzle an ox when it is threshing," and, "A worker deserves his pay."

¹⁹Do not accept an accusation against a presbyter unless it is supported by two or three witnesses.

²⁰Reprimand publicly those who do sin, so that the rest also will be afraid.

²¹I charge you before God and Christ Jesus and the elect angels to keep these rules without prejudice, doing nothing out of favoritism.

²²Do not lay hands too readily on anyone, and do not share in another's sins. Keep yourself pure.

²³Stop drinking only water, but have a little wine for the sake of your stomach and your frequent illnesses.

²⁴Some people's sins are public, preceding them to judgment; but other people are followed by their sins.

²⁵Similarly, good works are also public; and even those that are not cannot remain hidden.

6 Those who are under the yoke of slavery must regard their masters as worthy of full respect, so that the name of God and our teaching may not suffer abuse.

²Those whose masters are believers must not take advantage of them because they are brothers but must give better service because those who will profit from their work are believers and are beloved.

³Whoever teaches something different and does not agree with the sound words of our Lord Jesus Christ and the religious teaching

⁴is conceited, understanding nothing, and has a morbid disposition for arguments and verbal disputes. From these come envy, rivalry, insults, evil suspicions, ⁵and mutual friction among people with corrupted minds, who are deprived of the truth, supposing religion to be a means of gain.

⁶Indeed, religion with contentment is a great gain.

⁷For we brought nothing into the world, just as we shall not be able to take anything out of it.

⁸If we have food and clothing, we shall be content with that.

⁹Those who want to be rich are falling into temptation and into a trap and into many foolish and harmful desires, which plunge them into ruin and destruction.

¹⁰For the love of money is the root of all evils, and some people in their desire for it have strayed from the faith and have pierced themselves with many pains.

¹¹But you, man of God, avoid all this. Instead, pursue righteousness, devotion, faith, love, patience, and gentleness.

¹²Compete well for the faith. Lay hold of eternal life, to which you were called when you made the noble confession in the presence of many witnesses.

¹³I charge (you) before God, who gives life to all things, and before Christ Jesus, who gave testimony under Pontius Pilate for the noble confession,

¹⁴to keep the commandment without stain or reproach until the appearance of our Lord Jesus Christ

¹⁵that the blessed and only ruler will make manifest at the proper time, the King of kings and Lord of lords,

¹⁶who alone has immortality, who dwells in unapproachable light, and whom no human being has seen or can see. To him be honor and eternal power. Amen.

¹⁷Tell the rich in the present age not to be proud and not to rely on so uncertain a thing as wealth but rather on God, who richly provides us with all things for our enjoyment.

¹⁸Tell them to do good, to be rich in good works, to be generous, ready to share, ¹⁹thus accumulating as treasure a good foundation for the future, so as to win the life that is true life.

²⁰O Timothy, guard what has been entrusted to you. Avoid profane babbling and the absurdities of so-called knowledge.

²¹By professing it, some people have deviated from the faith. Grace be with all of you.

2nd Timothy

1 Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus by the will of God for the promise of life in Christ Jesus,

2 to Timothy, my dear child: grace, mercy, and peace from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Lord.

3 I am grateful to God, whom I worship with a clear conscience as my ancestors did, as I remember you constantly in my prayers, night and day.

4 I yearn to see you again, recalling your tears, so that I may be filled with joy,

5 as I recall your sincere faith that first lived in your grandmother Lois and in your mother Eunice and that I am confident lives also in you.

6 For this reason, I remind you to stir into flame the gift of God that you have through the imposition of my hands.

7 For God did not give us a spirit of cowardice but rather of power and love and self-control.

8 So do not be ashamed of your testimony to our Lord, nor of me, a prisoner for his sake; but bear your share of hardship for the gospel with the strength that comes from God.

9 He saved us and called us to a holy life, not according to our works but according to his own design and the grace bestowed on us in Christ Jesus before time began,

10 but now made manifest through the appearance of our savior Christ Jesus, who destroyed death and brought life and immortality to light through the gospel,

11 for which I was appointed preacher and apostle and teacher.

12 On this account I am suffering these things; but I am not ashamed, for I know him in whom I have believed and am confident that he is able to guard what has been entrusted to me until that day.

¹³Take as your norm the sound words that you heard from me, in the faith and love that are in Christ Jesus.

¹⁴Guard this rich trust with the help of the holy Spirit that dwells within us.

¹⁵You know that everyone in Asia deserted me, including Phygelus and Hermogenes.

¹⁶May the Lord grant mercy to the family of Onesiphorus because he often gave me new heart and was not ashamed of my chains.

¹⁷But when he came to Rome, he promptly searched for me and found me.

¹⁸May the Lord grant him to find mercy from the Lord on that day. And you know very well the services he rendered in Ephesus.

2 So you, my child, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus.

²And what you heard from me through many witnesses entrust to faithful people who will have the ability to teach others as well.

³Bear your share of hardship along with me like a good soldier of Christ Jesus.

⁴To satisfy the one who recruited him, a soldier does not become entangled in the business affairs of life.

⁵Similarly, an athlete cannot receive the winner's crown except by competing according to the rules.

⁶The hardworking farmer ought to have the first share of the crop.

⁷Reflect on what I am saying, for the Lord will give you understanding in everything.

⁸Remember Jesus Christ, raised from the dead, a descendant of David: such is my gospel, ⁹for which I am suffering, even to the point of chains, like a criminal. But the word of God is not chained.

¹⁰Therefore, I bear with everything for the sake of those who are chosen, so that they too may obtain the salvation that is in Christ Jesus, together with eternal glory.

¹¹This saying is trustworthy: If we have died with him we shall also live with him;

¹²if we persevere we shall also reign with him. But if we deny him he will deny us.

¹³If we are unfaithful he remains faithful, for he cannot deny himself.

¹⁴Remind people of these things and charge them before God to stop disputing about words. This serves no useful purpose since it harms those who listen.

¹⁵Be eager to present yourself as acceptable to God, a workman who causes no disgrace, imparting the word of truth without deviation.

¹⁶Avoid profane, idle talk, for such people will become more and more godless,

¹⁷and their teaching will spread like gangrene. Among them are Hymenaeus and Philetus, ¹⁸who have deviated from the truth by saying that (the) resurrection has already taken place and are upsetting the faith of some.

¹⁹Nevertheless, God's solid foundation stands, bearing this inscription, "The Lord knows those who are his"; and, "Let everyone who calls upon the name of the Lord avoid evil."

²⁰In a large household there are vessels not only of gold and silver but also of wood and clay, some for lofty and others for humble use.

²¹If anyone cleanses himself of these things, he will be a vessel for lofty use, dedicated, beneficial to the master of the house, ready for every good work.

²²So turn from youthful desires and pursue righteousness, faith, love, and peace, along with those who call on the Lord with purity of heart.

²³Avoid foolish and ignorant debates, for you know that they breed quarrels.

²⁴A slave of the Lord should not quarrel, but should be gentle with everyone, able to teach, tolerant,

²⁵correcting opponents with kindness. It may be that God will grant them repentance that leads to knowledge of the truth, ²⁶and that they may return to their senses out of the devil's snare, where they are entrapped by him, for his will.

3 But understand this: there will be terrifying times in the last days.

²People will be self-centered and lovers of money, proud, haughty, abusive, disobedient to their parents, ungrateful, irreligious,

³callous, implacable, slanderous, licentious, brutal, hating what is good,

⁴traitors, reckless, conceited, lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God,

⁵as they make a pretense of religion but deny its power. Reject them.

⁶For some of these slip into homes and make captives of women weighed down by sins, led by various desires,

⁷always trying to learn but never able to reach a knowledge of the truth.

⁸Just as Jannes and Jambres opposed Moses, so they also oppose the truth--people of depraved mind, unqualified in the faith.

⁹But they will not make further progress, for their foolishness will be plain to all, as it was with those two.

¹⁰You have followed my teaching, way of life, purpose, faith, patience, love, endurance,

¹¹persecutions, and sufferings, such as happened to me in Antioch, Iconium, and Lystra, persecutions that I endured. Yet from all these things the Lord delivered me.

¹²In fact, all who want to live religiously in Christ Jesus will be persecuted.

¹³But wicked people and charlatans will go from bad to worse, deceivers and deceived.

¹⁴But you, remain faithful to what you have learned and believed, because you know from whom you learned it,

¹⁵and that from infancy you have known (the) sacred scriptures, which are capable of giving you wisdom for salvation through faith in Christ Jesus.

¹⁶All scripture is inspired by God and is useful for teaching, for refutation, for correction, and for training in righteousness,

¹⁷so that one who belongs to God may be competent, equipped for every good work.

4 I charge you in the presence of God and of Christ Jesus, who will judge the living and the dead, and by his appearing and his kingly power:

²proclaim the word; be persistent whether it is convenient or inconvenient; convince, reprimand, encourage through all patience and teaching.

³For the time will come when people will not tolerate sound doctrine but, following their own desires and insatiable curiosity, will accumulate teachers

⁴and will stop listening to the truth and will be diverted to myths.

⁵But you, be self-possessed in all circumstances; put up with hardship; perform the work of an evangelist; fulfill your ministry.

⁶For I am already being poured out like a libation, and the time of my departure is at hand.

⁷I have competed well; I have finished the race; I have kept the faith.

⁸From now on the crown of righteousness awaits me, which the Lord, the just judge, will award to me on that day, and not only to me, but to all who have longed for his appearance.

⁹Try to join me soon,

¹⁰for Demas, enamored of the present world, deserted me and went to Thessalonica, Crescens to Galatia, and Titus to Dalmatia.

¹¹Luke is the only one with me. Get Mark and bring him with you, for he is helpful to me in the ministry.

¹²I have sent Tychicus to Ephesus.

¹³When you come, bring the cloak I left with Carpus in Troas, the papyrus rolls, and especially the parchments.

¹⁴Alexander the coppersmith did me a great deal of harm; the Lord will repay him according to his deeds.

¹⁵You too be on guard against him, for he has strongly resisted our preaching.

¹⁶At my first defense no one appeared on my behalf, but everyone deserted me. May it not be held against them!

¹⁷But the Lord stood by me and gave me strength, so that through me the proclamation might be completed and all the Gentiles might hear it. And I was rescued from the lion's mouth.

¹⁸The Lord will rescue me from every evil threat and will bring me safe to his heavenly kingdom. To him be glory forever and ever. Amen.

¹⁹Greet Prisca and Aquila and the family of Onesiphorus.

²⁰Erastus remained in Corinth, while I left Trophimus sick at Miletus.

²¹Try to get here before winter. Eubulus, Pudens, Linus, Claudia, and all the brothers send greetings.

²²The Lord be with your spirit. Grace be with all of you.

Titus

1 Paul, a slave of God and apostle of Jesus Christ for the sake of the faith of God's chosen ones and the recognition of religious truth,

²in the hope of eternal life that God, who does not lie, promised before time began,

³who indeed at the proper time revealed his word in the proclamation with which I was entrusted by the command of God our savior,

⁴to Titus, my true child in our common faith: grace and peace from God the Father and Christ Jesus our savior.

⁵For this reason I left you in Crete so that you might set right what remains to be done and appoint presbyters in every town, as I directed you, ⁶on condition that a man be blameless, married only once, with believing children who are not accused of licentiousness or rebellious.

⁷For a bishop as God's steward must be blameless, not arrogant, not irritable, not a drunkard, not aggressive, not greedy for sordid gain,

⁸but hospitable, a lover of goodness, temperate, just, holy, and self-controlled,

⁹holding fast to the true message as taught so that he will be able both to exhort with sound doctrine and to refute opponents.

¹⁰For there are also many rebels, idle talkers and deceivers, especially the Jewish Christians.

¹¹It is imperative to silence them, as they are upsetting whole families by teaching for sordid gain what they should not.

¹²One of them, a prophet of their own, once said, "Cretans have always been liars, vicious beasts, and lazy gluttons."

¹³That testimony is true. Therefore, admonish them sharply, so that they may be sound in the faith,

¹⁴instead of paying attention to Jewish myths and regulations of people who have repudiated the truth.

¹⁵To the clean all things are clean, but to those who are defiled and unbelieving nothing is clean; in fact, both their minds and their consciences are tainted.

¹⁶They claim to know God, but by their deeds they deny him. They are vile and disobedient and unqualified for any good deed.

2As for yourself, you must say what is consistent with sound doctrine, namely,

²that older men should be temperate, dignified, self-controlled, sound in faith, love, and endurance.

³Similarly, older women should be reverent in their behavior, not slanderers, not addicted to drink, teaching what is good,

⁴so that they may train younger women to love their husbands and children,

⁵to be self-controlled, chaste, good homemakers, under the control of their husbands, so that the word of God may not be discredited.

⁶Urge the younger men, similarly, to control themselves,

⁷showing yourself as a model of good deeds in every respect, with integrity in your teaching, dignity,

⁸and sound speech that cannot be criticized, so that the opponent will be put to shame without anything bad to say about us.

⁹Slaves are to be under the control of their masters in all respects, giving them satisfaction, not talking back to them

¹⁰or stealing from them, but exhibiting complete good faith, so as to adorn the doctrine of God our savior in every way.

¹¹For the grace of God has appeared, saving all

¹²and training us to reject godless ways and worldly desires and to live temperately, justly, and devoutly in this age,

¹³as we await the blessed hope, the appearance of the glory of the great God and of our savior Jesus Christ, ¹⁴who gave himself for us to deliver us from all lawlessness and to cleanse for himself a people as his own, eager to do what is good.

¹⁵Say these things. Exhort and correct with all authority. Let no one look down on you.

3 Remind them to be under the control of magistrates and authorities, to be obedient, to be open to every good enterprise.

²They are to slander no one, to be peaceable, considerate, exercising all graciousness toward everyone.

³For we ourselves were once foolish, disobedient, deluded, slaves to various desires and pleasures, living in malice and envy, hateful ourselves and hating one another.

⁴But when the kindness and generous love of God our savior appeared,

⁵not because of any righteous deeds we had done but because of his mercy, he saved us through the bath of rebirth and renewal by the holy Spirit,

⁶whom he richly poured out on us through Jesus Christ our savior,

⁷so that we might be justified by his grace and become heirs in hope of eternal life.

⁸This saying is trustworthy. I want you to insist on these points, that those who have believed in God be careful to devote themselves to good works; these are excellent and beneficial to others.

⁹Avoid foolish arguments, genealogies, rivalries, and quarrels about the law, for they are useless and futile.

¹⁰After a first and second warning, break off contact with a heretic,

¹¹realizing that such a person is perverted and sinful and stands self-condemned.

¹²When I send Artemas to you, or Tychicus, try to join me at Nicopolis, where I have decided to spend the winter.

¹³Send Zenas the lawyer and Apollos on their journey soon, and see to it that they have everything they need.

¹⁴But let our people, too, learn to devote themselves to good works to supply urgent needs, so that they may not be unproductive.

¹⁵All who are with me send you greetings. Greet those who love us in the faith. Grace be with all of you.

Philemon

1 Paul, a prisoner for Christ Jesus, and Timothy our brother, to Philemon, our beloved and our co-worker,

2 to Apphia our sister, to Archippus our fellow soldier, and to the church at your house.

3 Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

4 I give thanks to my God always, remembering you in my prayers,

5 as I hear of the love and the faith you have in the Lord Jesus and for all the holy ones,

6 so that your partnership in the faith may become effective in recognizing every good there is in us that leads to Christ.

7 For I have experienced much joy and encouragement from your love, because the hearts of the holy ones have been refreshed by you, brother.

8 Therefore, although I have the full right in Christ to order you to do what is proper,

9 I rather urge you out of love, being as I am, Paul, an old man, and now also a prisoner for Christ Jesus.

10 I urge you on behalf of my child Onesimus, whose father I have become in my imprisonment,

11 who was once useless to you but is now useful to (both) you and me.

12 I am sending him, that is, my own heart, back to you.

13 I should have liked to retain him for myself, so that he might serve me on your behalf in my imprisonment for the gospel,

14 but I did not want to do anything without your consent, so that the good you do might not be forced but voluntary.

¹⁵Perhaps this is why he was away from you for a while, that you might have him back forever,

¹⁶no longer as a slave but more than a slave, a brother, beloved especially to me, but even more so to you, as a man and in the Lord.

¹⁷So if you regard me as a partner, welcome him as you would me.

¹⁸And if he has done you any injustice or owes you anything, charge it to me.

¹⁹I, Paul, write this in my own hand: I will pay. May I not tell you that you owe me your very self.

²⁰Yes, brother, may I profit from you in the Lord. Refresh my heart in Christ.

²¹With trust in your compliance I write to you, knowing that you will do even more than I say.

²²At the same time prepare a guest room for me, for I hope to be granted to you through your prayers.

²³Epaphras, my fellow prisoner in Christ Jesus, greets you,

²⁴as well as Mark, Aristarchus, Demas, and Luke, my co-workers.

²⁵The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit.

Hebrews

1 In times past, God spoke in partial and various ways to our ancestors through the prophets;

²in these last days, he spoke to us through a son, whom he made heir of all things and through whom he created the universe,

³who is the refulgence of his glory, the very imprint of his being, and who sustains all things by his mighty word. When he had accomplished purification from sins, he took his seat at the right hand of the Majesty on high,

⁴as far superior to the angels as the name he has inherited is more excellent than theirs.

⁵For to which of the angels did God ever say: "You are my son; this day I have begotten you"? Or again: "I will be a father to him, and he shall be a son to me"?

⁶And again, when he leads the first-born into the world, he says: "Let all the angels of God worship him."

⁷Of the angels he says: "He makes his angels winds and his ministers a fiery flame";

⁸but of the Son: "Your throne, O God, stands forever and ever; and a righteous scepter is the scepter of your kingdom.

⁹You loved justice and hated wickedness; therefore God, your God, anointed you with the oil of gladness above your companions"; ¹⁰and: "At the beginning, O Lord, you established the earth, and the heavens are the works of your hands.

¹¹They will perish, but you remain; and they will all grow old like a garment.

¹²You will roll them up like a cloak, and like a garment they will be changed. But you are the same, and your years will have no end."

¹³But to which of the angels has he ever said: "Sit at my right hand until I make your enemies your footstool"?

¹⁴Are they not all ministering spirits sent to serve, for the sake of those who are to inherit salvation?

2Therefore, we must attend all the more to what we have heard, so that we may not be carried away.

²For if the word announced through angels proved firm, and every transgression and disobedience received its just recompense,

³how shall we escape if we ignore so great a salvation? Announced originally through the Lord, it was confirmed for us by those who had heard.

⁴God added his testimony by signs, wonders, various acts of power, and distribution of the gifts of the holy Spirit according to his will.

⁵For it was not to angels that he subjected the world to come, of which we are speaking.

⁶Instead, someone has testified somewhere: "What is man that you are mindful of him, or the son of man that you care for him?"

⁷You made him for a little while lower than the angels; you crowned him with glory and honor,

⁸subjecting all things under his feet." In "subjecting" all things (to him), he left nothing not "subject to him." Yet at present we do not see "all things subject to him,"

⁹but we do see Jesus "crowned with glory and honor" because he suffered death, he who "for a little while" was made "lower than the angels," that by the grace of God he might taste death for everyone.

¹⁰For it was fitting that he, for whom and through whom all things exist, in bringing many children to glory, should make the leader to their salvation perfect through suffering.

¹¹He who consecrates and those who are being consecrated all have one origin. Therefore, he is not ashamed to call them "brothers,"

¹²saying: "I will proclaim your name to my brothers, in the midst of the assembly I will praise you";

¹³and again: "I will put my trust in him"; and again: "Behold, I and the children God has given me."

¹⁴Now since the children share in blood and flesh, he likewise shared in them, that through death he might destroy the one who has the power of death, that is, the devil, ¹⁵and free those who through fear of death had been subject to slavery all their life.

¹⁶Surely he did not help angels but rather the descendants of Abraham;

¹⁷therefore, he had to become like his brothers in every way, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest before God to expiate the sins of the people.

¹⁸Because he himself was tested through what he suffered, he is able to help those who are being tested.

3Therefore, holy "brothers," sharing in a heavenly calling, reflect on Jesus, the apostle and high priest of our confession,

²who was faithful to the one who appointed him, just as Moses was "faithful in (all) his house."

³But he is worthy of more "glory" than Moses, as the founder of a house has more "honor" than the house itself.

⁴Every house is founded by someone, but the founder of all is God.

⁵Moses was "faithful in all his house" as a "servant" to testify to what would be spoken,

⁶but Christ was faithful as a son placed over his house. We are his house, if (only) we hold fast to our confidence and pride in our hope.

⁷Therefore, as the holy Spirit says: "Oh, that today you would hear his voice,

⁸Harden not your hearts as at the rebellion in the day of testing in the desert,

⁹where your ancestors tested and tried me and saw my works

¹⁰for forty years. Because of this I was provoked with that generation and I said, "They have always been of erring heart, and they do not know my ways."

¹¹As I swore in my wrath, "They shall not enter into my rest.""

¹²Take care, brothers, that none of you may have an evil and unfaithful heart, so as to forsake the living God.

¹³Encourage yourselves daily while it is still "today," so that none of you may grow hardened by the deceit of sin.

¹⁴We have become partners of Christ if only we hold the beginning of the reality firm until the end,

¹⁵for it is said: "Oh, that today you would hear his voice: 'Harden not your hearts as at the rebellion.'"

¹⁶Who were those who rebelled when they heard? Was it not all those who came out of Egypt under Moses?

¹⁷With whom was he "provoked for forty years"? Was it not those who had sinned, whose corpses fell in the desert?

¹⁸And to whom did he "swear that they should not enter into his rest," if not to those who were disobedient?

¹⁹And we see that they could not enter for lack of faith.

4Therefore, let us be on our guard while the promise of entering into his rest remains, that none of you seem to have failed.

²For in fact we have received the good news just as they did. But the word that they heard did not profit them, for they were not united in faith with those who listened.

³For we who believed enter into (that) rest, just as he has said: "As I swore in my wrath, 'They shall not enter into my rest,'" and yet his works were accomplished at the foundation of the world.

⁴For he has spoken somewhere about the seventh day in this manner, "And God rested on the seventh day from all his works";

⁵and again, in the previously mentioned place, "They shall not enter into my rest."

⁶Therefore, since it remains that some will enter into it, and those who formerly received the good news did not enter because of disobedience,

⁷he once more set a day, "today," when long afterwards he spoke through David, as already quoted: "Oh, that today you would hear his voice: 'Harden not your hearts.'"

⁸Now if Joshua had given them rest, he would not have spoken afterwards of another day.

⁹Therefore, a sabbath rest still remains for the people of God.

¹⁰And whoever enters into God's rest, rests from his own works as God did from his.

¹¹Therefore, let us strive to enter into that rest, so that no one may fall after the same example of disobedience.

¹²Indeed, the word of God is living and effective, sharper than any two-edged sword, penetrating even between soul and spirit, joints and marrow, and able to discern reflections and thoughts of the heart.

¹³No creature is concealed from him, but everything is naked and exposed to the eyes of him to whom we must render an account.

¹⁴Therefore, since we have a great high priest who has passed through the heavens, Jesus, the Son of God, let us hold fast to our confession.

¹⁵For we do not have a high priest who is unable to sympathize with our weaknesses, but one who has similarly been tested in every way, yet without sin.

¹⁶So let us confidently approach the throne of grace to receive mercy and to find grace for timely help.

5 Every high priest is taken from among men and made their representative before God, to offer gifts and sacrifices for sins.

²He is able to deal patiently with the ignorant and erring, for he himself is beset by weakness

³and so, for this reason, must make sin offerings for himself as well as for the people.

⁴No one takes this honor upon himself but only when called by God, just as Aaron was.

⁵In the same way, it was not Christ who glorified himself in becoming high priest, but rather the one who said to him: "You are my son; this day I have begotten you";

⁶just as he says in another place: "You are a priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek."

⁷In the days when he was in the flesh, he offered prayers and supplications with loud cries and tears to the one who was able to save him from death, and he was heard because of his reverence.

⁸So though he was, he learned obedience from what he suffered;

⁹and when he was made perfect, he became the source of eternal salvation for all who obey him,

¹⁰declared by God high priest according to the order of Melchizedek.

¹¹About this we have much to say, and it is difficult to explain, for you have become sluggish in hearing.

¹²Although you should be teachers by this time, you need to have someone teach you again the basic elements of the utterances of God. You need milk, (and) not solid food.

¹³Everyone who lives on milk lacks experience of the word of righteousness, for he is a child.

¹⁴But solid food is for the mature, for those whose faculties are trained by practice to discern good and evil.

6Therefore, let us leave behind the basic teaching about Christ and advance to maturity, without laying the foundation all over again: repentance from dead works and faith in God, ²instruction about baptisms and laying on of hands, resurrection of the dead and eternal judgment.

³And we shall do this, if only God permits.

⁴For it is impossible in the case of those who have once been enlightened and tasted the heavenly gift and shared in the holy Spirit

⁵and tasted the good word of God and the powers of the age to come,

⁶and then have fallen away, to bring them to repentance again, since they are recrucifying the Son of God for themselves and holding him up to contempt.

⁷Ground that has absorbed the rain falling upon it repeatedly and brings forth crops useful to those for whom it is cultivated receives a blessing from God.

⁸But if it produces thorns and thistles, it is rejected; it will soon be cursed and finally burned.

⁹But we are sure in your regard, beloved, of better things related to salvation, even though we speak in this way.

¹⁰For God is not unjust so as to overlook your work and the love you have demonstrated for his name by having served and continuing to serve the holy ones.

¹¹We earnestly desire each of you to demonstrate the same eagerness for the fulfillment of hope until the end, ¹²so that you may not become sluggish, but imitators of those who, through faith and patience, are inheriting the promises.

¹³When God made the promise to Abraham, since he had no one greater by whom to swear, "he swore by himself,"

¹⁴and said, "I will indeed bless you and multiply" you.

¹⁵And so, after patient waiting, he obtained the promise.

¹⁶Human beings swear by someone greater than themselves; for them an oath serves as a guarantee and puts an end to all argument.

¹⁷So when God wanted to give the heirs of his promise an even clearer demonstration of the immutability of his purpose, he intervened with an oath,

¹⁸so that by two immutable things, in which it was impossible for God to lie, we who have taken refuge might be strongly encouraged to hold fast to the hope that lies before us.

¹⁹This we have as an anchor of the soul, sure and firm, which reaches into the interior behind the veil,

²⁰where Jesus has entered on our behalf as forerunner, becoming high priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek.

7 This "Melchizedek, king of Salem and priest of God Most High," "met Abraham as he returned from his defeat of the kings" and "blessed him."

²And Abraham apportioned to him "a tenth of everything." His name first means righteous king, and he was also "king of Salem," that is, king of peace.

³Without father, mother, or ancestry, without beginning of days or end of life, thus made to resemble the Son of God, he remains a priest forever.

⁴See how great he is to whom the patriarch "Abraham (indeed) gave a tenth" of his spoils.

⁵The descendants of Levi who receive the office of priesthood have a commandment according to the law to exact tithes from the people, that is, from their brothers, although they also have come from the loins of Abraham.

⁶But he who was not of their ancestry received tithes from Abraham and blessed him who had received the promises.

⁷Unquestionably, a lesser person is blessed by a greater.

⁸In the one case, mortal men receive tithes; in the other, a man of whom it is testified that he lives on.

⁹One might even say that Levi himself, who receives tithes, was tithed through Abraham, ¹⁰for he was still in his father's loins when Melchizedek met him.

¹¹If, then, perfection came through the levitical priesthood, on the basis of which the people received the law, what need would there still have been for another priest to arise according to the order of Melchizedek, and not reckoned according to the order of Aaron?

¹²When there is a change of priesthood, there is necessarily a change of law as well.

¹³Now he of whom these things are said belonged to a different tribe, of which no member ever officiated at the altar.

¹⁴It is clear that our Lord arose from Judah, and in regard to that tribe Moses said nothing about priests.

¹⁵It is even more obvious if another priest is raised up after the likeness of Melchizedek, ¹⁶who has become so, not by a law expressed in a commandment concerning physical descent but by the power of a life that cannot be destroyed.

¹⁷For it is testified: "You are a priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek."

¹⁸On the one hand, a former commandment is annulled because of its weakness and uselessness,

¹⁹for the law brought nothing to perfection; on the other hand, a better hope is introduced, through which we draw near to God.

²⁰And to the degree that this happened not without the taking of an oath --for others became priests without an oath,

²¹but he with an oath, through the one who said to him: "The Lord has sworn, and he will not repent: 'You are a priest forever'"--

²²to that same degree has Jesus (also) become the guarantee of an (even) better covenant.

²³Those priests were many because they were prevented by death from remaining in office,

²⁴but he, because he remains forever, has a priesthood that does not pass away.

²⁵Therefore, he is always able to save those who approach God through him, since he lives forever to make intercession for them.

²⁶It was fitting that we should have such a high priest: holy, innocent, undefiled, separated from sinners, higher than the heavens.

²⁷He has no need, as did the high priests, to offer sacrifice day after day, first for his own sins and then for those of the people; he did that once for all when he offered himself.

²⁸For the law appoints men subject to weakness to be high priests, but the word of the oath, which was taken after the law, appoints a son, who has been made perfect forever.

8The main point of what has been said is this: we have such a high priest, who has taken his seat at the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in heaven,

²a minister of the sanctuary and of the true tabernacle that the Lord, not man, set up.

³Now every high priest is appointed to offer gifts and sacrifices; thus the necessity for this one also to have something to offer.

⁴If then he were on earth, he would not be a priest, since there are those who offer gifts according to the law.

⁵They worship in a copy and shadow of the heavenly sanctuary, as Moses was warned when he was about to erect the tabernacle. For he says, "See that you make everything according to the pattern shown you on the mountain."

⁶Now he has obtained so much more excellent a ministry as he is mediator of a better covenant, enacted on better promises.

⁷For if that first covenant had been faultless, no place would have been sought for a second one.

⁸But he finds fault with them and says: "Behold, the days are coming, says the Lord, when I will conclude a new covenant with the house of Israel and the house of Judah.

⁹It will not be like the covenant I made with their fathers the day I took them by the hand to lead them forth from the land of Egypt; for they did not stand by my covenant and I ignored them, says the Lord.

¹⁰But this is the covenant I will establish with the house of Israel after those days, says the Lord: I will put my laws in their minds and I will write them upon their hearts. I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

¹¹And they shall not teach, each one his fellow citizen and kinsman, saying, 'Know the Lord,' for all shall know me, from least to greatest.

¹²For I will forgive their evildoing and remember their sins no more."

¹³When he speaks of a "new" covenant, he declares the first one obsolete. And what has become obsolete and has grown old is close to disappearing.

9 Now (even) the first covenant had regulations for worship and an earthly sanctuary.

²For a tabernacle was constructed, the outer one, in which were the lampstand, the table, and the bread of offering; this is called the Holy Place.

³Behind the second veil was the tabernacle called the Holy of Holies, ⁴in which were the gold altar of incense and the ark of the covenant entirely covered with gold. In it were the gold jar containing the manna, the staff of Aaron that had sprouted, and the tablets of the covenant.

⁵Above it were the cherubim of glory overshadowing the place of expiation. Now is not the time to speak of these in detail.

⁶With these arrangements for worship, the priests, in performing their service, go into the outer tabernacle repeatedly,

⁷but the high priest alone goes into the inner one once a year, not without blood that he offers for himself and for the sins of the people.

⁸In this way the holy Spirit shows that the way into the sanctuary had not yet been revealed while the outer tabernacle still had its place.

⁹This is a symbol of the present time, in which gifts and sacrifices are offered that cannot perfect the worshiper in conscience

¹⁰but only in matters of food and drink and various ritual washings: regulations concerning the flesh, imposed until the time of the new order.

¹¹But when Christ came as high priest of the good things that have come to be, passing through the greater and more perfect tabernacle not made by hands, that is, not belonging to this creation,

¹²he entered once for all into the sanctuary, not with the blood of goats and calves but with his own blood, thus obtaining eternal redemption.

¹³For if the blood of goats and bulls and the sprinkling of a heifer's ashes can sanctify those who are defiled so that their flesh is cleansed,

¹⁴how much more will the blood of Christ, who through the eternal spirit offered himself unblemished to God, cleanse our consciences from dead works to worship the living God.

¹⁵For this reason he is mediator of a new covenant: since a death has taken place for deliverance from transgressions under the first covenant, those who are called may receive the promised eternal inheritance.

¹⁶Now where there is a will, the death of the testator must be established.

¹⁷For a will takes effect only at death; it has no force while the testator is alive.

¹⁸Thus not even the first covenant was inaugurated without blood.

¹⁹When every commandment had been proclaimed by Moses to all the people according to the law, he took the blood of calves (and goats), together with water and crimson wool and hyssop, and sprinkled both the book itself and all the people,

²⁰saying, "This is 'the blood of the covenant which God has enjoined upon you.'"

²¹In the same way, he sprinkled also the tabernacle and all the vessels of worship with blood.

²²According to the law almost everything is purified by blood, and without the shedding of blood there is no forgiveness.

²³Therefore, it was necessary for the copies of the heavenly things to be purified by these rites, but the heavenly things themselves by better sacrifices than these.

²⁴For Christ did not enter into a sanctuary made by hands, a copy of the true one, but heaven itself, that he might now appear before God on our behalf.

²⁵Not that he might offer himself repeatedly, as the high priest enters each year into the sanctuary with blood that is not his own;

²⁶if that were so, he would have had to suffer repeatedly from the foundation of the world. But now once for all he has appeared at the end of the ages to take away sin by his sacrifice.

²⁷Just as it is appointed that human beings die once, and after this the judgment,

²⁸so also Christ, offered once to take away the sins of many, will appear a second time, not to take away sin but to bring salvation to those who eagerly await him.

10 Since the law has only a shadow of the good things to come, and not the very image of them, it can never make perfect those who come to worship by the same sacrifices that they offer continually each year.

²Otherwise, would not the sacrifices have ceased to be offered, since the worshipers, once cleansed, would no longer have had any consciousness of sins?

³But in those sacrifices there is only a yearly remembrance of sins,

⁴for it is impossible that the blood of bulls and goats take away sins.

⁵For this reason, when he came into the world, he said: "Sacrifice and offering you did not desire, but a body you prepared for me;

⁶holocausts and sin offerings you took no delight in.

⁷Then I said, 'As is written of me in the scroll, Behold, I come to do your will, O God.'

⁸First he says, "Sacrifices and offerings, holocausts and sin offerings, you neither desired nor delighted in." These are offered according to the law.

⁹Then he says, "Behold, I come to do your will." He takes away the first to establish the second.

¹⁰By this "will," we have been consecrated through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once for all.

- ¹¹Every priest stands daily at his ministry, offering frequently those same sacrifices that can never take away sins.
- ¹²But this one offered one sacrifice for sins, and took his seat forever at the right hand of God;
- ¹³now he waits until his enemies are made his footstool.
- ¹⁴For by one offering he has made perfect forever those who are being consecrated.
- ¹⁵The holy Spirit also testifies to us, for after saying:
- ¹⁶"This is the covenant I will establish with them after those days, says the Lord: 'I will put my laws in their hearts, and I will write them upon their minds,'"
- ¹⁷he also says: "Their sins and their evildoing I will remember no more."
- ¹⁸Where there is forgiveness of these, there is no longer offering for sin.
- ¹⁹Therefore, brothers, since through the blood of Jesus we have confidence of entrance into the sanctuary
- ²⁰by the new and living way he opened for us through the veil, that is, his flesh,
- ²¹and since we have "a great priest over the house of God,"
- ²²let us approach with a sincere heart and in absolute trust, with our hearts sprinkled clean from an evil conscience and our bodies washed in pure water.
- ²³Let us hold unwaveringly to our confession that gives us hope, for he who made the promise is trustworthy.
- ²⁴We must consider how to rouse one another to love and good works.
- ²⁵We should not stay away from our assembly, as is the custom of some, but encourage one another, and this all the more as you see the day drawing near.
- ²⁶If we sin deliberately after receiving knowledge of the truth, there no longer remains sacrifice for sins

²⁷ but a fearful prospect of judgment and a flaming fire that is going to consume the adversaries.

²⁸ Anyone who rejects the law of Moses is put to death without pity on the testimony of two or three witnesses.

²⁹ Do you not think that a much worse punishment is due the one who has contempt for the Son of God, considers unclean the covenant-blood by which he was consecrated, and insults the spirit of grace?

³⁰ We know the one who said: "Vengeance is mine; I will repay," and again: "The Lord will judge his people."

³¹ It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God.

³² Remember the days past when, after you had been enlightened, you endured a great contest of suffering.

³³ At times you were publicly exposed to abuse and affliction; at other times you associated yourselves with those so treated.

³⁴ You even joined in the sufferings of those in prison and joyfully accepted the confiscation of your property, knowing that you had a better and lasting possession.

³⁵ Therefore, do not throw away your confidence; it will have great recompense.

³⁶ You need endurance to do the will of God and receive what he has promised.

³⁷ "For, after just a brief moment, he who is to come shall come; he shall not delay.

³⁸ But my just one shall live by faith, and if he draws back I take no pleasure in him."

³⁹ We are not among those who draw back and perish, but among those who have faith and will possess life.

11

Faith is the realization of what is hoped for and evidence of things not seen.

² Because of it the ancients were well attested.

- ³By faith we understand that the universe was ordered by the word of God, so that what is visible came into being through the invisible.
- ⁴By faith Abel offered to God a sacrifice greater than Cain's. Through this he was attested to be righteous, God bearing witness to his gifts, and through this, though dead, he still speaks.
- ⁵By faith Enoch was taken up so that he should not see death, and "he was found no more because God had taken him." Before he was taken up, he was attested to have pleased God.
- ⁶But without faith it is impossible to please him, for anyone who approaches God must believe that he exists and that he rewards those who seek him.
- ⁷By faith Noah, warned about what was not yet seen, with reverence built an ark for the salvation of his household. Through this he condemned the world and inherited the righteousness that comes through faith.
- ⁸By faith Abraham obeyed when he was called to go out to a place that he was to receive as an inheritance; he went out, not knowing where he was to go.
- ⁹By faith he sojourned in the promised land as in a foreign country, dwelling in tents with Isaac and Jacob, heirs of the same promise;
- ¹⁰for he was looking forward to the city with foundations, whose architect and maker is God.
- ¹¹By faith he received power to generate, even though he was past the normal age--and Sarah herself was sterile--for he thought that the one who had made the promise was trustworthy.
- ¹²So it was that there came forth from one man, himself as good as dead, descendants as numerous as the stars in the sky and as countless as the sands on the seashore.
- ¹³All these died in faith. They did not receive what had been promised but saw it and greeted it from afar and acknowledged themselves to be strangers and aliens on earth,
- ¹⁴for those who speak thus show that they are seeking a homeland.

¹⁵If they had been thinking of the land from which they had come, they would have had opportunity to return.

¹⁶But now they desire a better homeland, a heavenly one. Therefore, God is not ashamed to be called their God, for he has prepared a city for them.

¹⁷By faith Abraham, when put to the test, offered up Isaac, and he who had received the promises was ready to offer his only son,

¹⁸of whom it was said, "Through Isaac descendants shall bear your name."

¹⁹He reasoned that God was able to raise even from the dead, and he received Isaac back as a symbol.

²⁰By faith regarding things still to come Isaac blessed Jacob and Esau.

²¹By faith Jacob, when dying, blessed each of the sons of Joseph and "bowed in worship, leaning on the top of his staff."

²²By faith Joseph, near the end of his life, spoke of the Exodus of the Israelites and gave instructions about his bones.

²³By faith Moses was hidden by his parents for three months after his birth, because they saw that he was a beautiful child, and they were not afraid of the king's edict.

²⁴By faith Moses, when he had grown up, refused to be known as the son of Pharaoh's daughter;

²⁵he chose to be ill-treated along with the people of God rather than enjoy the fleeting pleasure of sin.

²⁶He considered the reproach of the Anointed greater wealth than the treasures of Egypt, for he was looking to the recompense.

²⁷By faith he left Egypt, not fearing the king's fury, for he persevered as if seeing the one who is invisible.

²⁸By faith he kept the Passover and sprinkled the blood, that the Destroyer of the firstborn might not touch them.

²⁹By faith they crossed the Red Sea as if it were dry land, but when the Egyptians attempted it they were drowned.

³⁰By faith the walls of Jericho fell after being encircled for seven days.

³¹By faith Rahab the harlot did not perish with the disobedient, for she had received the spies in peace.

³²What more shall I say? I have not time to tell of Gideon, Barak, Samson, Jephthah, of David and Samuel and the prophets,

³³who by faith conquered kingdoms, did what was righteous, obtained the promises; they closed the mouths of lions,

³⁴put out raging fires, escaped the devouring sword; out of weakness they were made powerful, became strong in battle, and turned back foreign invaders.

³⁵Women received back their dead through resurrection. Some were tortured and would not accept deliverance, in order to obtain a better resurrection.

³⁶Others endured mockery, scourging, even chains and imprisonment.

³⁷They were stoned, sawed in two, put to death at sword's point; they went about in skins of sheep or goats, needy, afflicted, tormented.

³⁸The world was not worthy of them. They wandered about in deserts and on mountains, in caves and in crevices in the earth.

³⁹Yet all these, though approved because of their faith, did not receive what had been promised.

⁴⁰God had foreseen something better for us, so that without us they should not be made perfect.

12 Therefore, since we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses, let us rid ourselves of every burden and sin that clings to us and persevere in running the race that lies before us

²while keeping our eyes fixed on Jesus, the leader and perfecter of faith. For the sake of the joy that lay before him he endured the cross, despising its shame, and has taken his seat at the right of the throne of God.

³Consider how he endured such opposition from sinners, in order that you may not grow weary and lose heart.

⁴In your struggle against sin you have not yet resisted to the point of shedding blood.

⁵You have also forgotten the exhortation addressed to you as sons: "My son, do not disdain the discipline of the Lord or lose heart when reproved by him;

⁶for whom the Lord loves, he disciplines; he scourges every son he acknowledges."

⁷Endure your trials as "discipline"; God treats you as sons. For what "son" is there whom his father does not discipline?

⁸If you are without discipline, in which all have shared, you are not sons but bastards.

⁹Besides this, we have had our earthly fathers to discipline us, and we respected them. Should we not (then) submit all the more to the Father of spirits and live?

¹⁰They disciplined us for a short time as seemed right to them, but he does so for our benefit, in order that we may share his holiness.

¹¹At the time, all discipline seems a cause not for joy but for pain, yet later it brings the peaceful fruit of righteousness to those who are trained by it.

¹²So strengthen your drooping hands and your weak knees.

¹³Make straight paths for your feet, that what is lame may not be dislocated but healed.

¹⁴Strive for peace with everyone, and for that holiness without which no one will see the Lord.

¹⁵See to it that no one be deprived of the grace of God, that no bitter root spring up and cause trouble, through which many may become defiled,

¹⁶that no one be an immoral or profane person like Esau, who sold his birthright for a single meal.

¹⁷For you know that later, when he wanted to inherit his father's blessing, he was rejected because he found no opportunity to change his mind, even though he sought the blessing with tears.

¹⁸You have not approached that which could be touched and a blazing fire and gloomy darkness and storm

¹⁹and a trumpet blast and a voice speaking words such that those who heard begged that no message be further addressed to them,

²⁰for they could not bear to hear the command: "If even an animal touches the mountain, it shall be stoned."

²¹Indeed, so fearful was the spectacle that Moses said, "I am terrified and trembling."

²²No, you have approached Mount Zion and the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, and countless angels in festal gathering,

²³and the assembly of the firstborn enrolled in heaven, and God the judge of all, and the spirits of the just made perfect,

²⁴and Jesus, the mediator of a new covenant, and the sprinkled blood that speaks more eloquently than that of Abel.

²⁵See that you do not reject the one who speaks. For if they did not escape when they refused the one who warned them on earth, how much more in our case if we turn away from the one who warns from heaven.

²⁶His voice shook the earth at that time, but now he has promised, "I will once more shake not only earth but heaven."

²⁷That phrase, "once more," points to (the) removal of shaken, created things, so that what is unshaken may remain.

²⁸Therefore, we who are receiving the unshakable kingdom should have gratitude, with which we should offer worship pleasing to God in reverence and awe.

²⁹For our God is a consuming fire.

13 Let mutual love continue.

²Do not neglect hospitality, for through it some have unknowingly entertained angels.

³Be mindful of prisoners as if sharing their imprisonment, and of the ill-treated as of yourselves, for you also are in the body.

- ⁴Let marriage be honored among all and the marriage bed be kept undefiled, for God will judge the immoral and adulterers.
- ⁵Let your life be free from love of money but be content with what you have, for he has said, "I will never forsake you or abandon you."
- ⁶Thus we may say with confidence: "The Lord is my helper, (and) I will not be afraid. What can anyone do to me?"
- ⁷Remember your leaders who spoke the word of God to you. Consider the outcome of their way of life and imitate their faith.
- ⁸Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever.
- ⁹Do not be carried away by all kinds of strange teaching. It is good to have our hearts strengthened by grace and not by foods, which do not benefit those who live by them.
- ¹⁰We have an altar from which those who serve the tabernacle have no right to eat.
- ¹¹The bodies of the animals whose blood the high priest brings into the sanctuary as a sin offering are burned outside the camp.
- ¹²Therefore, Jesus also suffered outside the gate, to consecrate the people by his own blood.
- ¹³Let us then go to him outside the camp, bearing the reproach that he bore.
- ¹⁴For here we have no lasting city, but we seek the one that is to come.
- ¹⁵Through him (then) let us continually offer God a sacrifice of praise, that is, the fruit of lips that confess his name.
- ¹⁶Do not neglect to do good and to share what you have; God is pleased by sacrifices of that kind.
- ¹⁷Obey your leaders and defer to them, for they keep watch over you and will have to give an account, that they may fulfill their task with joy and not with sorrow, for that would be of no advantage to you.
- ¹⁸Pray for us, for we are confident that we have a clear conscience, wishing to act rightly in every respect.

¹⁹I especially ask for your prayers that I may be restored to you very soon.

²⁰May the God of peace, who brought up from the dead the great shepherd of the sheep by the blood of the eternal covenant, Jesus our Lord, ²¹furnish you with all that is good, that you may do his will. May he carry out in you what is pleasing to him through Jesus Christ, to whom be glory forever (and ever). Amen.

²²Brothers, I ask you to bear with this message of encouragement, for I have written to you rather briefly.

²³I must let you know that our brother Timothy has been set free. If he comes soon, I shall see you together with him.

²⁴Greetings to all your leaders and to all the holy ones. Those from Italy send you greetings.

²⁵Grace be with all of you.

James

1 James, a slave of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ, to the twelve tribes in the dispersion, greetings.

2 Consider it all joy, my brothers, when you encounter various trials,

3 for you know that the testing of your faith produces perseverance.

4 And let perseverance be perfect, so that you may be perfect and complete, lacking in nothing.

5 But if any of you lacks wisdom, he should ask God who gives to all generously and ungrudgingly, and he will be given it.

6 But he should ask in faith, not doubting, for the one who doubts is like a wave of the sea that is driven and tossed about by the wind.

7 For that person must not suppose that he will receive anything from the Lord,

8 since he is a man of two minds, unstable in all his ways.

9 The brother in lowly circumstances should take pride in his high standing,

10 and the rich one in his lowliness, for he will pass away "like the flower of the field."

11 For the sun comes up with its scorching heat and dries up the grass, its flower droops, and the beauty of its appearance vanishes. So will the rich person fade away in the midst of his pursuits.

12 Blessed is the man who perseveres in temptation, for when he has been proved he will receive the crown of life that he promised to those who love him.

13 No one experiencing temptation should say, "I am being tempted by God"; for God is not subject to temptation to evil, and he himself tempts no one.

14 Rather, each person is tempted when he is lured and enticed by his own desire.

¹⁵Then desire conceives and brings forth sin, and when sin reaches maturity it gives birth to death.

¹⁶Do not be deceived, my beloved brothers:

¹⁷all good giving and every perfect gift is from above, coming down from the Father of lights, with whom there is no alteration or shadow caused by change.

¹⁸He willed to give us birth by the word of truth that we may be a kind of firstfruits of his creatures.

¹⁹Know this, my dear brothers: everyone should be quick to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath,

²⁰for the wrath of a man does not accomplish the righteousness of God.

²¹Therefore, put away all filth and evil excess and humbly welcome the word that has been planted in you and is able to save your souls.

²²Be doers of the word and not hearers only, deluding yourselves.

²³For if anyone is a hearer of the word and not a doer, he is like a man who looks at his own face in a mirror.

²⁴He sees himself, then goes off and promptly forgets what he looked like.

²⁵But the one who peers into the perfect law of freedom and perseveres, and is not a hearer who forgets but a doer who acts, such a one shall be blessed in what he does.

²⁶If anyone thinks he is religious and does not bridle his tongue but deceives his heart, his religion is vain.

²⁷Religion that is pure and undefiled before God and the Father is this: to care for orphans and widows in their affliction and to keep oneself unstained by the world.

2My brothers, show no partiality as you adhere to the faith in our glorious Lord Jesus Christ.

²For if a man with gold rings on his fingers and in fine clothes comes into your assembly, and a poor person in shabby clothes also comes in,

³and you pay attention to the one wearing the fine clothes and say, "Sit here, please," while you say to the poor one, "Stand there," or "Sit at my feet," ⁴have you not made distinctions among yourselves and become judges with evil designs?

⁵Listen, my beloved brothers. Did not God choose those who are poor in the world to be rich in faith and heirs of the kingdom that he promised to those who love him?

⁶But you dishonored the poor person. Are not the rich oppressing you? And do they themselves not haul you off to court?

⁷Is it not they who blaspheme the noble name that was invoked over you?

⁸However, if you fulfill the royal law according to the scripture, "You shall love your neighbor as yourself," you are doing well.

⁹But if you show partiality, you commit sin, and are convicted by the law as transgressors.

¹⁰For whoever keeps the whole law, but falls short in one particular, has become guilty in respect to all of it.

¹¹For he who said, "You shall not commit adultery," also said, "You shall not kill." Even if you do not commit adultery but kill, you have become a transgressor of the law.

¹²So speak and so act as people who will be judged by the law of freedom.

¹³For the judgment is merciless to one who has not shown mercy; mercy triumphs over judgment.

¹⁴What good is it, my brothers, if someone says he has faith but does not have works? Can that faith save him?

¹⁵If a brother or sister has nothing to wear and has no food for the day,

¹⁶and one of you says to them, "Go in peace, keep warm, and eat well," but you do not give them the necessities of the body, what good is it?

¹⁷So also faith of itself, if it does not have works, is dead.

¹⁸Indeed someone might say, "You have faith and I have works." Demonstrate your faith to me without works, and I will demonstrate my faith to you from my works.

¹⁹You believe that God is one. You do well. Even the demons believe that and tremble.

²⁰Do you want proof, you ignoramus, that faith without works is useless?

²¹Was not Abraham our father justified by works when he offered his son Isaac upon the altar?

²²You see that faith was active along with his works, and faith was completed by the works.

²³Thus the scripture was fulfilled that says, "Abraham believed God, and it was credited to him as righteousness," and he was called "the friend of God."

²⁴See how a person is justified by works and not by faith alone.

²⁵And in the same way, was not Rahab the harlot also justified by works when she welcomed the messengers and sent them out by a different route?

²⁶For just as a body without a spirit is dead, so also faith without works is dead.

3Not many of you should become teachers, my brothers, for you realize that we will be judged more strictly,

²for we all fall short in many respects. If anyone does not fall short in speech, he is a perfect man, able to bridle his whole body also.

³If we put bits into the mouths of horses to make them obey us, we also guide their whole bodies.

⁴It is the same with ships: even though they are so large and driven by fierce winds, they are steered by a very small rudder wherever the pilot's inclination wishes.

⁵In the same way the tongue is a small member and yet has great pretensions. Consider how small a fire can set a huge forest ablaze.

⁶The tongue is also a fire. It exists among our members as a world of malice, defiling the whole body and setting the entire course of our lives on fire, itself set on fire by Gehenna.

⁷For every kind of beast and bird, of reptile and sea creature, can be tamed and has been tamed by the human species,

⁸but no human being can tame the tongue. It is a restless evil, full of deadly poison.

⁹With it we bless the Lord and Father, and with it we curse human beings who are made in the likeness of God.

¹⁰From the same mouth come blessing and cursing. This need not be so, my brothers.

¹¹Does a spring gush forth from the same opening both pure and brackish water?

¹²Can a fig tree, my brothers, produce olives, or a grapevine figs? Neither can salt water yield fresh.

¹³Who among you is wise and understanding? Let him show his works by a good life in the humility that comes from wisdom.

¹⁴But if you have bitter jealousy and selfish ambition in your hearts, do not boast and be false to the truth.

¹⁵Wisdom of this kind does not come down from above but is earthly, unspiritual, demonic.

¹⁶For where jealousy and selfish ambition exist, there is disorder and every foul practice.

¹⁷But the wisdom from above is first of all pure, then peaceable, gentle, compliant, full of mercy and good fruits, without inconstancy or insincerity.

¹⁸And the fruit of righteousness is sown in peace for those who cultivate peace.

4Where do the wars and where do the conflicts among you come from? Is it not from your passions that make war within your members?

²You covet but do not possess. You kill and envy but you cannot obtain; you fight and wage war. You do not possess because you do not ask.

³You ask but do not receive, because you ask wrongly, to spend it on your passions.

⁴Adulterers! Do you not know that to be a lover of the world means enmity with God? Therefore, whoever wants to be a lover of the world makes himself an enemy of God.

⁵Or do you suppose that the scripture speaks without meaning when it says, "The spirit that he has made to dwell in us tends toward jealousy"?

⁶But he bestows a greater grace; therefore, it says: "God resists the proud, but gives grace to the humble."

⁷So submit yourselves to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you.

⁸Draw near to God, and he will draw near to you. Cleanse your hands, you sinners, and purify your hearts, you of two minds.

⁹Begin to lament, to mourn, to weep. Let your laughter be turned into mourning and your joy into dejection.

¹⁰Humble yourselves before the Lord and he will exalt you.

¹¹Do not speak evil of one another, brothers. Whoever speaks evil of a brother or judges his brother speaks evil of the law and judges the law. If you judge the law, you are not a doer of the law but a judge.

¹²There is one lawgiver and judge who is able to save or to destroy. Who then are you to judge your neighbor?

¹³Come now, you who say, "Today or tomorrow we shall go into such and such a town, spend a year there doing business, and make a profit"--

¹⁴you have no idea what your life will be like tomorrow. You are a puff of smoke that appears briefly and then disappears.

¹⁵Instead you should say, "If the Lord wills it, we shall live to do this or that."

¹⁶But now you are boasting in your arrogance. All such boasting is evil.

¹⁷So for one who knows the right thing to do and does not do it, it is a sin.

5 Come now, you rich, weep and wail over your impending miseries.

²Your wealth has rotted away, your clothes have become moth-eaten,

³your gold and silver have corroded, and that corrosion will be a testimony against you; it will devour your flesh like a fire. You have stored up treasure for the last days.

⁴Behold, the wages you withheld from the workers who harvested your fields are crying aloud, and the cries of the harvesters have reached the ears of the Lord of hosts.

⁵You have lived on earth in luxury and pleasure; you have fattened your hearts for the day of slaughter.

⁶You have condemned; you have murdered the righteous one; he offers you no resistance.

⁷Be patient, therefore, brothers, until the coming of the Lord. See how the farmer waits for the precious fruit of the earth, being patient with it until it receives the early and the late rains.

⁸You too must be patient. Make your hearts firm, because the coming of the Lord is at hand.

⁹Do not complain, brothers, about one another, that you may not be judged. Behold, the Judge is standing before the gates.

¹⁰Take as an example of hardship and patience, brothers, the prophets who spoke in the name of the Lord.

¹¹Indeed we call blessed those who have persevered. You have heard of the perseverance of Job, and you have seen the purpose of the Lord, because "the Lord is compassionate and merciful."

¹²But above all, my brothers, do not swear, either by heaven or by earth or with any other oath, but let your "Yes" mean "Yes" and your "No" mean "No," that you may not incur condemnation.

¹³Is anyone among you suffering? He should pray. Is anyone in good spirits? He should sing praise.

¹⁴Is anyone among you sick? He should summon the presbyters of the church, and they should pray over him and anoint (him) with oil in the name of the Lord, ¹⁵and the prayer of faith will save the sick person, and the Lord will raise him up. If he has committed any sins, he will be forgiven.

¹⁶Therefore, confess your sins to one another and pray for one another, that you may be healed. The fervent prayer of a righteous person is very powerful.

¹⁷Elijah was a human being like us; yet he prayed earnestly that it might not rain, and for three years and six months it did not rain upon the land.

¹⁸Then he prayed again, and the sky gave rain and the earth produced its fruit.

¹⁹My brothers, if anyone among you should stray from the truth and someone bring him back,

²⁰he should know that whoever brings back a sinner from the error of his way will save his soul from death and will cover a multitude of sins.

1st Peter

1 Peter, an apostle of Jesus Christ, to the chosen sojourners of the dispersion in Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia,

²in the foreknowledge of God the Father, through sanctification by the Spirit, for obedience and sprinkling with the blood of Jesus Christ: may grace and peace be yours in abundance.

³Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who in his great mercy gave us a new birth to a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead,

⁴to an inheritance that is imperishable, undefiled, and unfading, kept in heaven for you

⁵who by the power of God are safeguarded through faith, to a salvation that is ready to be revealed in the final time.

⁶In this you rejoice, although now for a little while you may have to suffer through various trials,

⁷so that the genuineness of your faith, more precious than gold that is perishable even though tested by fire, may prove to be for praise, glory, and honor at the revelation of Jesus Christ.

⁸Although you have not seen him you love him; even though you do not see him now yet believe in him, you rejoice with an indescribable and glorious joy,

⁹as you attain the goal of (your) faith, the salvation of your souls.

¹⁰Concerning this salvation, prophets who prophesied about the grace that was to be yours searched and investigated it,

¹¹investigating the time and circumstances that the Spirit of Christ within them indicated when it testified in advance to the sufferings destined for Christ and the glories to follow them.

¹²It was revealed to them that they were serving not themselves but you with regard to the things that have now been announced to you by those who preached the good news to you (through) the holy Spirit sent from heaven, things into which angels longed to look.

¹³Therefore, gird up the loins of your mind, live soberly, and set your hopes completely on the grace to be brought to you at the revelation of Jesus Christ.

¹⁴Like obedient children, do not act in compliance with the desires of your former ignorance

¹⁵but, as he who called you is holy, be holy yourselves in every aspect of your conduct,

¹⁶for it is written, "Be holy because I (am) holy."

¹⁷Now if you invoke as Father him who judges impartially according to each one's works, conduct yourselves with reverence during the time of your sojourning,

¹⁸realizing that you were ransomed from your futile conduct, handed on by your ancestors, not with perishable things like silver or gold

¹⁹but with the precious blood of Christ as of a spotless unblemished lamb.

²⁰He was known before the foundation of the world but revealed in the final time for you,

²¹who through him believe in God who raised him from the dead and gave him glory, so that your faith and hope are in God.

²²Since you have purified yourselves by obedience to the truth for sincere mutual love, love one another intensely from a (pure) heart.

²³You have been born anew, not from perishable but from imperishable seed, through the living and abiding word of God,

²⁴for: "All flesh is like grass, and all its glory like the flower of the field; the grass withers, and the flower wilts; ²⁵but the word of the Lord remains forever." This is the word that has been proclaimed to you.

2Rid yourselves of all malice and all deceit, insincerity, envy, and all slander;

²like newborn infants, long for pure spiritual milk so that through it you may grow into salvation,

³for you have tasted that the Lord is good.

⁴Come to him, a living stone, rejected by human beings but chosen and precious in the sight of God,

⁵and, like living stones, let yourselves be built into a spiritual house to be a holy priesthood to offer spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ.

⁶For it says in scripture: "Behold, I am laying a stone in Zion, a cornerstone, chosen and precious, and whoever believes in it shall not be put to shame."

⁷Therefore, its value is for you who have faith, but for those without faith: "The stone which the builders rejected has become the cornerstone,"

⁸and "A stone that will make people stumble, and a rock that will make them fall." They stumble by disobeying the word, as is their destiny.

⁹But you are "a chosen race, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a people of his own, so that you may announce the praises" of him who called you out of darkness into his wonderful light.

¹⁰Once you were "no people" but now you are God's people; you "had not received mercy" but now you have received mercy.

¹¹Beloved, I urge you as aliens and sojourners to keep away from worldly desires that wage war against the soul.

¹²Maintain good conduct among the Gentiles, so that if they speak of you as evildoers, they may observe your good works and glorify God on the day of visitation.

¹³Be subject to every human institution for the Lord's sake, whether it be to the king as supreme ¹⁴or to governors as sent by him for the punishment of evildoers and the approval of those who do good.

¹⁵For it is the will of God that by doing good you may silence the ignorance of foolish people.

¹⁶Be free, yet without using freedom as a pretext for evil, but as slaves of God.

¹⁷Give honor to all, love the community, fear God, honor the king.

¹⁸Slaves, be subject to your masters with all reverence, not only to those who are good and equitable but also to those who are perverse.

¹⁹For whenever anyone bears the pain of unjust suffering because of consciousness of God, that is a grace.

²⁰But what credit is there if you are patient when beaten for doing wrong? But if you are patient when you suffer for doing what is good, this is a grace before God.

²¹For to this you have been called, because Christ also suffered for you, leaving you an example that you should follow in his footsteps.

²²"He committed no sin, and no deceit was found in his mouth."

²³When he was insulted, he returned no insult; when he suffered, he did not threaten; instead, he handed himself over to the one who judges justly.

²⁴He himself bore our sins in his body upon the cross, so that, free from sin, we might live for righteousness. By his wounds you have been healed.

²⁵For you had gone astray like sheep, but you have now returned to the shepherd and guardian of your souls.

3 Likewise, you wives should be subordinate to your husbands so that, even if some disobey the word, they may be won over without a word by their wives' conduct

²when they observe your reverent and chaste behavior.

³Your adornment should not be an external one: braiding the hair, wearing gold jewelry, or dressing in fine clothes,

⁴but rather the hidden character of the heart, expressed in the imperishable beauty of a gentle and calm disposition, which is precious in the sight of God.

⁵For this is also how the holy women who hoped in God once used to adorn themselves and were subordinate to their husbands;

⁶thus Sarah obeyed Abraham, calling him "lord." You are her children when you do what is good and fear no intimidation.

⁷Likewise, you husbands should live with your wives in understanding, showing honor to the weaker female sex, since we are joint heirs of the gift of life, so that your prayers may not be hindered.

⁸Finally, all of you, be of one mind, sympathetic, loving toward one another, compassionate, humble.

⁹Do not return evil for evil, or insult for insult; but, on the contrary, a blessing, because to this you were called, that you might inherit a blessing.

¹⁰For: "Whoever would love life and see good days must keep the tongue from evil and the lips from speaking deceit, ¹¹must turn from evil and do good, seek peace and follow after it.

¹²For the eyes of the Lord are on the righteous and his ears turned to their prayer, but the face of the Lord is against evildoers."

¹³Now who is going to harm you if you are enthusiastic for what is good?

¹⁴But even if you should suffer because of righteousness, blessed are you. Do not be afraid or terrified with fear of them,

¹⁵but sanctify Christ as Lord in your hearts. Always be ready to give an explanation to anyone who asks you for a reason for your hope, ¹⁶but do it with gentleness and reverence, keeping your conscience clear, so that, when you are maligned, those who defame your good conduct in Christ may themselves be put to shame.

¹⁷For it is better to suffer for doing good, if that be the will of God, than for doing evil.

¹⁸For Christ also suffered for sins once, the righteous for the sake of the unrighteous, that he might lead you to God. Put to death in the flesh, he was brought to life in the spirit.

¹⁹In it he also went to preach to the spirits in prison,

²⁰who had once been disobedient while God patiently waited in the days of Noah during the building of the ark, in which a few persons, eight in all, were saved through water.

²¹This prefigured baptism, which saves you now. It is not a removal of dirt from the body but an appeal to God for a clear conscience, through the resurrection of Jesus Christ,

²²who has gone into heaven and is at the right hand of God, with angels, authorities, and powers subject to him.

4Therefore, since Christ suffered in the flesh, arm yourselves also with the same attitude (for whoever suffers in the flesh has broken with sin),

²so as not to spend what remains of one's life in the flesh on human desires, but on the will of God.

³For the time that has passed is sufficient for doing what the Gentiles like to do: living in debauchery, evil desires, drunkenness, orgies, carousing, and wanton idolatry.

⁴They are surprised that you do not plunge into the same swamp of profligacy, and they vilify you;

⁵but they will give an account to him who stands ready to judge the living and the dead.

⁶For this is why the gospel was preached even to the dead that, though condemned in the flesh in human estimation, they might live in the spirit in the estimation of God.

⁷The end of all things is at hand. Therefore, be serious and sober for prayers.

⁸Above all, let your love for one another be intense, because love covers a multitude of sins.

⁹Be hospitable to one another without complaining.

¹⁰As each one has received a gift, use it to serve one another as good stewards of God's varied grace.

¹¹Whoever preaches, let it be with the words of God; whoever serves, let it be with the strength that God supplies, so that in all things God may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom belong glory and dominion forever and ever. Amen.

¹²Beloved, do not be surprised that a trial by fire is occurring among you, as if something strange were happening to you.

¹³But rejoice to the extent that you share in the sufferings of Christ, so that when his glory is revealed you may also rejoice exultantly.

¹⁴If you are insulted for the name of Christ, blessed are you, for the Spirit of glory and of God rests upon you.

¹⁵But let no one among you be made to suffer as a murderer, a thief, an evildoer, or as an intriguer.

¹⁶But whoever is made to suffer as a Christian should not be ashamed but glorify God because of the name.

¹⁷For it is time for the judgment to begin with the household of God; if it begins with us, how will it end for those who fail to obey the gospel of God?

¹⁸"And if the righteous one is barely saved, where will the godless and the sinner appear?"

¹⁹As a result, those who suffer in accord with God's will hand their souls over to a faithful creator as they do good.

5 So I exhort the presbyters among you, as a fellow presbyter and witness to the sufferings of Christ and one who has a share in the glory to be revealed.

²Tend the flock of God in your midst, (overseeing) not by constraint but willingly, as God would have it, not for shameful profit but eagerly.

³Do not lord it over those assigned to you, but be examples to the flock.

⁴And when the chief Shepherd is revealed, you will receive the unfading crown of glory.

⁵Likewise, you younger members, be subject to the presbyters. And all of you, clothe yourselves with humility in your dealings with one another, for: "God opposes the proud but bestows favor on the humble."

⁶So humble yourselves under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time.

⁷Cast all your worries upon him because he cares for you.

⁸Be sober and vigilant. Your opponent the devil is prowling around like a roaring lion looking for (someone) to devour.

⁹Resist him, steadfast in faith, knowing that your fellow believers throughout the world undergo the same sufferings.

¹⁰The God of all grace who called you to his eternal glory through Christ (Jesus) will himself restore, confirm, strengthen, and establish you after you have suffered a little.

¹¹To him be dominion forever. Amen.

¹²I write you this briefly through Silvanus, whom I consider a faithful brother, exhorting you and testifying that this is the true grace of God. Remain firm in it.

¹³The chosen one at Babylon sends you greeting, as does Mark, my son.

¹⁴Greet one another with a loving kiss. Peace to all of you who are in Christ.

2nd Peter

1 Symeon Peter, a slave and apostle of Jesus Christ, to those who have received a faith of equal value to ours through the righteousness of our God and savior Jesus Christ:

2 may grace and peace be yours in abundance through knowledge of God and of Jesus our Lord.

3 His divine power has bestowed on us everything that makes for life and devotion, through the knowledge of him who called us by his own glory and power.

4 Through these, he has bestowed on us the precious and very great promises, so that through them you may come to share in the divinenature, after escaping from the corruption that is in the world because of evil desire.

5 For this very reason, make every effort to supplement your faith with virtue, virtue with knowledge,

6 knowledge with self-control, self-control with endurance, endurance with devotion,

7 devotion with mutual affection, mutual affection with love.

8 If these are yours and increase in abundance, they will keep you from being idle or unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ.

9 Anyone who lacks them is blind and shortsighted, forgetful of the cleansing of his past sins.

10 Therefore, brothers, be all the more eager to make your calland election firm, for, in doing so, you will never stumble.

11 For, in this way, entry into the eternal kingdom of our Lord and savior Jesus Christ will be richly provided for you.

12 Therefore, I will always remind you of these things, even though you already know them and are established in the truth you have.

¹³I think it right, as long as I am in this "tent," to stir you up by a reminder,

¹⁴since I know that I will soon have to put it aside, as indeed our Lord Jesus Christ has shown me.

¹⁵I shall also make every effort to enable you always to remember these things after my departure.

¹⁶We did not follow cleverly devised myths when we made known to you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but we had been eyewitnesses of his majesty.

¹⁷For he received honor and glory from God the Father when that unique declaration came to him from the majestic glory, "This is my Son, my beloved, with whom I am well pleased."

¹⁸We ourselves heard this voice come from heaven while we were with him on the holy mountain.

¹⁹Moreover, we possess the prophetic message that is altogether reliable. You will do well to be attentive to it, as to a lamp shining in a dark place, until day dawns and the morning star rises in your hearts.

²⁰Know this first of all, that there is no prophecy of scripture that is a matter of personal interpretation,

²¹for no prophecy ever came through human will; but rather human beings moved by the holy Spirit spoke under the influence of God.

2 There were also false prophets among the people, just as there will be false teachers among you, who will introduce destructive heresies and even deny the Master who ransomed them, bringing swift destruction on themselves.

²Many will follow their licentious ways, and because of them the way of truth will be reviled.

³In their greed they will exploit you with fabrications, but from of old their condemnation has not been idle and their destruction does not sleep.

⁴For if God did not spare the angels when they sinned, but condemned them to the chains of Tartarus and handed them over to be kept for judgment;

⁵and if he did not spare the ancient world, even though he preserved Noah, a herald of righteousness, together with seven others, when he brought a flood upon the godless world;

⁶and if he condemned the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah (to destruction), reducing them to ashes, making them an example for the godless (people) of what is coming;

⁷and if he rescued Lot, a righteous man oppressed by the licentious conduct of unprincipled people

⁸(for day after day that righteous man living among them was tormented in his righteous soul at the lawless deeds that he saw and heard),

⁹then the Lord knows how to rescue the devout from trial and to keep the unrighteous under punishment for the day of judgment,

¹⁰and especially those who follow the flesh with its depraved desire and show contempt for lordship. Bold and arrogant, they are not afraid to revile glorious beings,

¹¹whereas angels, despite their superior strength and power, do not bring a reviling judgment against them from the Lord.

¹²But these people, like irrational animals born by nature for capture and destruction, revile things that they do not understand, and in their destruction they will also be destroyed,

¹³suffering wrong as payment for wrongdoing. Thinking daytime revelry a delight, they are stains and defilements as they revel in their deceits while carousing with you.

¹⁴Their eyes are full of adultery and insatiable for sin. They seduce unstable people, and their hearts are trained in greed. Accursed children!

¹⁵Abandoning the straight road, they have gone astray, following the road of Balaam, the son of Bosor, who loved payment for wrongdoing, ¹⁶but he received a rebuke for his own crime: a mute beast spoke with a human voice and restrained the prophet's madness.

¹⁷These people are waterless springs and mists driven by a gale; for them the gloom of darkness has been reserved.

¹⁸For, talking empty bombast, they seduce with licentious desires of the flesh those who have barely escaped from people who live in error.

¹⁹They promise them freedom, though they themselves are slaves of corruption, for a person is a slave of whatever overcomes him.

²⁰For if they, having escaped the defilements of the world through the knowledge of (our) Lord and savior Jesus Christ, again become entangled and overcome by them, their last condition is worse than their first.

²¹For it would have been better for them not to have known the way of righteousness than after knowing it to turn back from the holy commandment handed down to them.

²²What is expressed in the true proverb has happened to them, "The dog returns to its own vomit," and "A bathed sow returns to wallowing in the mire."

3This is now, beloved, the second letter I am writing to you; through them by way of reminder I am trying to stir up your sincere disposition,

²to recall the words previously spoken by the holy prophets and the commandment of the Lord and savior through your apostles.

³Know this first of all, that in the last days scoffers will come (to) scoff, living according to their own desires

⁴and saying, "Where is the promise of his coming? From the time when our ancestors fell asleep, everything has remained as it was from the beginning of creation."

⁵They deliberately ignore the fact that the heavens existed of old and earth was formed out of water and through water by the word of God;

⁶through these the world that then existed was destroyed, deluged with water.

⁷The present heavens and earth have been reserved by the same word for fire, kept for the day of judgment and of destruction of the godless.

⁸But do not ignore this one fact, beloved, that with the Lord one day is like a thousand years and a thousand years like one day.

⁹The Lord does not delay his promise, as some regard "delay," but he is patient with you, not wishing that any should perish but that all should come to repentance.

¹⁰But the day of the Lord will come like a thief, and then the heavens will pass away with a mighty roar and the elements will be dissolved by fire, and the earth and everything done on it will be found out.

¹¹Since everything is to be dissolved in this way, what sort of persons ought (you) to be, conducting yourselves in holiness and devotion, ¹²waiting for and hastening the coming of the day of God, because of which the heavens will be dissolved in flames and the elements melted by fire.

¹³But according to his promise we await new heavens and a new earth in which righteousness dwells.

¹⁴Therefore, beloved, since you await these things, be eager to be found without spot or blemish before him, at peace.

¹⁵And consider the patience of our Lord as salvation, as our beloved brother Paul, according to the wisdom given to him, also wrote to you,

¹⁶speaking of these things as he does in all his letters. In them there are some things hard to understand that the ignorant and unstable distort to their own destruction, just as they do the other scriptures.

¹⁷Therefore, beloved, since you are forewarned, be on your guard not to be led into the error of the unprincipled and to fall from your own stability.

¹⁸But grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and savior Jesus Christ. To him be glory now and to the day of eternity. (Amen.)

1st John

1 What was from the beginning, what we have heard, what we have seen with our eyes, what we looked upon and touched with our hands concerns the Word of life--

²for the life was made visible; we have seen it and testify to it and proclaim to you the eternal life that was with the Father and was made visible to us--

³what we have seen and heard we proclaim now to you, so that you too may have fellowship with us; for our fellowship is with the Father and with his Son, Jesus Christ.

⁴We are writing this so that our joy may be complete.

⁵Now this is the message that we have heard from him and proclaim to you: God is light, and in him there is no darkness at all.

⁶If we say, "We have fellowship with him," while we continue to walk in darkness, we lie and do not act in truth.

⁷But if we walk in the light as he is in the light, then we have fellowship with one another, and the blood of his Son Jesus cleanses us from all sin.

⁸If we say, "We are without sin," we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us.

⁹If we acknowledge our sins, he is faithful and just and will forgive our sins and cleanse us from every wrongdoing.

¹⁰If we say, "We have not sinned," we make him a liar, and his word is not in us.

2 My children, I am writing this to you so that you may not commit sin. But if anyone does sin, we have an Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous one.

²He is expiation for our sins, and not for our sins only but for those of the whole world.

³The way we may be sure that we know him is to keep his commandments.

⁴Whoever says, "I know him," but does not keep his commandments is a liar, and the truth is not in him.

⁵But whoever keeps his word, the love of God is truly perfected in him. This is the way we may know that we are in union with him:

⁶whoever claims to abide in him ought to live (just) as he lived.

⁷Beloved, I am writing no new commandment to you but an old commandment that you had from the beginning. The old commandment is the word that you have heard.

⁸And yet I do write a new commandment to you, which holds true in him and among you, for the darkness is passing away, and the true light is already shining.

⁹Whoever says he is in the light, yet hates his brother, is still in the darkness.

¹⁰Whoever loves his brother remains in the light, and there is nothing in him to cause a fall.

¹¹Whoever hates his brother is in darkness; he walks in darkness and does not know where he is going because the darkness has blinded his eyes.

¹²I am writing to you, children, because your sins have been forgiven for his name's sake.

¹³I am writing to you, fathers, because you know him who is from the beginning. I am writing to you, young men, because you have conquered the evil one.

¹⁴I write to you, children, because you know the Father. I write to you, fathers, because you know him who is from the beginning. I write to you, young men, because you are strong and the word of God remains in you, and you have conquered the evil one.

¹⁵Do not love the world or the things of the world. If anyone loves the world, the love of the Father is not in him.

¹⁶For all that is in the world, sensual lust, enticement for the eyes, and a pretentious life, is not from the Father but is from the world.

¹⁷Yet the world and its enticement are passing away. But whoever does the will of God remains forever.

¹⁸Children, it is the last hour; and just as you heard that the antichrist was coming, so now many antichrists have appeared. Thus we know this is the last hour.

¹⁹They went out from us, but they were not really of our number; if they had been, they would have remained with us. Their desertion shows that none of them was of our number.

²⁰But you have the anointing that comes from the holy one, and you all have knowledge.

²¹I write to you not because you do not know the truth but because you do, and because every lie is alien to the truth.

²²Who is the liar? Whoever denies that Jesus is the Christ. Whoever denies the Father and the Son, this is the antichrist.

²³No one who denies the Son has the Father, but whoever confesses the Son has the Father as well.

²⁴Let what you heard from the beginning remain in you. If what you heard from the beginning remains in you, then you will remain in the Son and in the Father.

²⁵And this is the promise that he made us: eternal life.

²⁶I write you these things about those who would deceive you.

²⁷As for you, the anointing that you received from him remains in you, so that you do not need anyone to teach you. But his anointing teaches you about everything and is true and not false; just as it taught you, remain in him.

²⁸And now, children, remain in him, so that when he appears we may have confidence and not be put to shame by him at his coming.

²⁹If you consider that he is righteous, you also know that everyone who acts in righteousness is begotten by him.

3 See what love the Father has bestowed on us that we may be called the children of God. Yet so we are. The reason the world does not know us is that it did not know him.

²Beloved, we are God's children now; what we shall be has not yet been revealed. We do know that when it is revealed we shall be like him, for we shall see him as he is.

³Everyone who has this hope based on him makes himself pure, as he is pure.

⁴Everyone who commits sin commits lawlessness, for sin is lawlessness.

⁵You know that he was revealed to take away sins, and in him there is no sin.

⁶No one who remains in him sins; no one who sins has seen him or known him.

⁷Children, let no one deceive you. The person who acts in righteousness is righteous, just as he is righteous.

⁸Whoever sins belongs to the devil, because the devil has sinned from the beginning. Indeed, the Son of God was revealed to destroy the works of the devil.

⁹No one who is begotten by God commits sin, because God's seed remains in him; he cannot sin because he is begotten by God.

¹⁰In this way, the children of God and the children of the devil are made plain; no one who fails to act in righteousness belongs to God, nor anyone who does not love his brother.

¹¹For this is the message you have heard from the beginning: we should love one another,

¹²unlike Cain who belonged to the evil one and slaughtered his brother. Why did he slaughter him? Because his own works were evil, and those of his brother righteous.

¹³Do not be amazed, (then,) brothers, if the world hates you.

¹⁴We know that we have passed from death to life because we love our brothers. Whoever does not love remains in death.

¹⁵Everyone who hates his brother is a murderer, and you know that no murderer has eternal life remaining in him.

¹⁶The way we came to know love was that he laid down his life for us; so we ought to lay down our lives for our brothers.

¹⁷If someone who has worldly means sees a brother in need and refuses him compassion, how can the love of God remain in him?

¹⁸Children, let us love not in word or speech but in deed and truth.

¹⁹(Now) this is how we shall know that we belong to the truth and reassure our hearts before him

²⁰in whatever our hearts condemn, for God is greater than our hearts and knows everything.

²¹Beloved, if (our) hearts do not condemn us, we have confidence in God

²²and receive from him whatever we ask, because we keep his commandments and do what pleases him.

²³And his commandment is this: we should believe in the name of his Son, Jesus Christ, and love one another just as he commanded us.

²⁴Those who keep his commandments remain in him, and he in them, and the way we know that he remains in us is from the Spirit that he gave us.

4 Beloved, do not trust every spirit but test the spirits to see whether they belong to God, because many false prophets have gone out into the world.

²This is how you can know the Spirit of God: every spirit that acknowledges Jesus Christ come in the flesh be longs to God,

³and every spirit that does not acknowledge Jesus does not belong to God. This is the spirit of the antichrist that, as you heard, is to come, but in fact is already in the world.

⁴You belong to God, children, and you have conquered them, for the one who is in you is greater than the one who is in the world.

⁵They belong to the world; accordingly, their teaching belongs to the world, and the world listens to them.

⁶We belong to God, and anyone who knows God listens to us, while anyone who does not belong to God refuses to hear us. This is how we know the spirit of truth and the spirit of deceit.

⁷Beloved, let us love one another, because love is of God; everyone who loves is begotten by God and knows God.

⁸Whoever is without love does not know God, for God is love.

⁹In this way the love of God was revealed to us: God sent his only Son into the world so that we might have life through him.

¹⁰In this is love: not that we have loved God, but that he loved us and sent his Son as expiation for our sins.

¹¹Beloved, if God so loved us, we also must love one another.

¹²No one has ever seen God. Yet, if we love one another, God remains in us, and his love is brought to perfection in us.

¹³This is how we know that we remain in him and he in us, that he has given us of his Spirit.

¹⁴Moreover, we have seen and testify that the Father sent his Son as savior of the world.

¹⁵Whoever acknowledges that Jesus is the Son of God, God remains in him and he in God.

¹⁶We have come to know and to believe in the love God has for us. God is love, and whoever remains in love remains in God and God in him.

¹⁷In this is love brought to perfection among us, that we have confidence on the day of judgment because as he is, so are we in this world.

¹⁸There is no fear in love, but perfect love drives out fear because fear has to do with punishment, and so one who fears is not yet perfect in love.

¹⁹We love because he first loved us.

²⁰If anyone says, "I love God," but hates his brother, he is a liar; for whoever does not love a brother whom he has seen cannot love God whom he has not seen.

²¹This is the commandment we have from him: whoever loves God must also love his brother.

5 Everyone who believes that Jesus is the Christ is begotten by God, and everyone who loves the father loves (also) the one begotten by him.

²In this way we know that we love the children of God when we love God and obey his commandments.

³For the love of God is this, that we keep his commandments. And his commandments are not burdensome, ⁴for whoever is begotten by God conquers the world. And the victory that conquers the world is our faith.

⁵Who (indeed) is the victor over the world but the one who believes that Jesus is the Son of God?

⁶This is the one who came through water and blood, Jesus Christ, not by water alone, but by water and blood. The Spirit is the one that testifies, and the Spirit is truth.

⁷So there are three that testify,

⁸the Spirit, the water, and the blood, and the three are of one accord.

⁹If we accept human testimony, the testimony of God is surely greater. Now the testimony of God is this, that he has testified on behalf of his Son.

¹⁰Whoever believes in the Son of God has this testimony within himself. Whoever does not believe God has made him a liar by not believing the testimony God has given about his Son.

¹¹And this is the testimony: God gave us eternal life, and this life is in his Son.

¹²Whoever possesses the Son has life; whoever does not possess the Son of God does not have life.

¹³I write these things to you so that you may know that you have eternal life, you who believe in the name of the Son of God.

¹⁴And we have this confidence in him, that if we ask anything according to his will, he hears us.

¹⁵And if we know that he hears us in regard to whatever we ask, we know that what we have asked him for is ours.

¹⁶If anyone sees his brother sinning, if the sin is not deadly, he should pray to God and he will give him life. This is only for those whose sin is not deadly. There is such a thing as deadly sin, about which I do not say that you should pray.

¹⁷All wrongdoing is sin, but there is sin that is not deadly.

¹⁸We know that no one begotten by God sins; but the one begotten by God he protects, and the evil one cannot touch him.

¹⁹We know that we belong to God, and the whole world is under the power of the evil one.

²⁰We also know that the Son of God has come and has given us discernment to know the one who is true. And we are in the one who is true, in his Son Jesus Christ. He is the true God and eternal life.

²¹Children, be on your guard against idols.

2nd John

1 The Presbyter to the chosen Lady and to her children whom I love in truth--and not only I but also all who know the truth--

2because of the truth that dwells in us and will be with us forever.

3Grace, mercy, and peace will be with us from God the Father and from Jesus Christ the Father's Son in truth and love.

4I rejoiced greatly to find some of your children walking in the truth just as we were commanded by the Father.

5But now, Lady, I ask you, not as though I were writing a new commandment but the one we have had from the beginning: let us love one another.

6For this is love, that we walk according to his commandments; this is the commandment, as you heard from the beginning, in which you should walk.

7Many deceivers have gone out into the world, those who do not acknowledge Jesus Christ as coming in the flesh; such is the deceitful one and the antichrist.

8Look to yourselves that you do not lose what we worked for but may receive a full recompense.

9Anyone who is so "progressive" as not to remain in the teaching of the Christ does not have God; whoever remains in the teaching has the Father and the Son.

10If anyone comes to you and does not bring this doctrine, do not receive him in your house or even greet him;

11for whoever greets him shares in his evil works.

12Although I have much to write to you, I do not intend to use paper and ink. Instead, I hope to visit you and to speak face to face so that our joy may be complete.

13The children of your chosen sister send you greetings.

3rd John

1 The Presbyter to the beloved Gaius whom I love in truth.

2 Beloved, I hope you are prospering in every respect and are in good health, just as your soul is prospering.

3 I rejoiced greatly when some of the brothers came and testified to how truly you walk in the truth.

4 Nothing gives me greater joy than to hear that my children are walking in the truth.

5 Beloved, you are faithful in all you do for the brothers, especially for strangers;

6 they have testified to your love before the church. Please help them in a way worthy of God to continue their journey.

7 For they have set out for the sake of the Name and are accepting nothing from the pagans.

8 Therefore, we ought to support such persons, so that we may be co-workers in the truth.

9 I wrote to the church, but Diotrephes, who loves to dominate, does not acknowledge us.

10 Therefore, if I come, I will draw attention to what he is doing, spreading evil nonsense about us. And not content with that, he will not receive the brothers, hindering those who wish to do so and expelling them from the church.

11 Beloved, do not imitate evil but imitate good. Whoever does what is good is of God; whoever does what is evil has never seen God.

12 Demetrius receives a good report from all, even from the truth itself. We give our testimonial as well, and you know our testimony is true.

13 I have much to write to you, but I do not wish to write with pen and ink.

¹⁴ Instead, I hope to see you soon, when we can talk face to face.

¹⁵ Peace be with you. The friends greet you; greet the friends there each by name.

Jude

1 Jude, a slave of Jesus Christ and brother of James, to those who are called, beloved in God the Father and kept safe for Jesus Christ:

2 may mercy, peace, and love be yours in abundance.

3 Beloved, although I was making every effort to write to you about our common salvation, I now feel a need to write to encourage you to contend for the faith that was once for all handed down to the holy ones.

4 For there have been some intruders, who long ago were designated for this condemnation, godless persons, who pervert the grace of our God into licentiousness and who deny our only Master and Lord, Jesus Christ.

5 I wish to remind you, although you know all things, that (the) Lord who once saved a people from the land of Egypt later destroyed those who did not believe.

6 The angels too, who did not keep to their own domain but deserted their proper dwelling, he has kept in eternal chains, in gloom, for the judgment of the great day.

7 Likewise, Sodom, Gomorrah, and the surrounding towns, which, in the same manner as they, indulged in sexual promiscuity and practiced unnatural vice, serve as an example by undergoing a punishment of eternal fire.

8 Similarly, these dreamers nevertheless also defile the flesh, scorn lordship, and revile glorious beings.

9 Yet the archangel Michael, when he argued with the devil in a dispute over the body of Moses, did not venture to pronounce a reviling judgment upon him but said, "May the Lord rebuke you!"

10 But these people revile what they do not understand and are destroyed by what they know by nature like irrational animals.

11 Woe to them! They followed the way of Cain, abandoned themselves to Balaam's error for the sake of gain, and perished in the rebellion of Korah.

¹²These are blemishes on your love feasts, as they carouse fearlessly and look after themselves. They are waterless clouds blown about by winds, fruitless trees in late autumn, twice dead and uprooted.

¹³They are like wild waves of the sea, foaming up their shameless deeds, wandering stars for whom the gloom of darkness has been reserved forever.

¹⁴Enoch, of the seventh generation from Adam, prophesied also about them when he said, "Behold, the Lord has come with his countless holy ones ¹⁵to execute judgment on all and to convict everyone for all the godless deeds that they committed and for all the harsh words godless sinners have uttered against him."

¹⁶These people are complainers, disgruntled ones who live by their desires; their mouths utter bombast as they fawn over people to gain advantage.

¹⁷But you, beloved, remember the words spoken beforehand by the apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ,

¹⁸for they told you, "In (the) last time there will be scoffers who will live according to their own godless desires."

¹⁹These are the ones who cause divisions; they live on the natural plane, devoid of the Spirit.

²⁰But you, beloved, build yourselves up in your most holy faith; pray in the holy Spirit.

²¹Keep yourselves in the love of God and wait for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ that leads to eternal life.

²²On those who waver, have mercy;

²³save others by snatching them out of the fire; on others have mercy with fear, abhorring even the outer garment stained by the flesh.

²⁴To the one who is able to keep you from stumbling and to present you unblemished and exultant, in the presence of his glory,

²⁵to the only God, our savior, through Jesus Christ our Lord be glory, majesty, power, and authority from ages past, now, and for ages to come. Amen.

Revelation

1 The revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave to him, to show his servants what must happen soon. He made it known by sending his angel to his servant John,

²who gives witness to the word of God and to the testimony of Jesus Christ by reporting what he saw.

³Blessed is the one who reads aloud and blessed are those who listen to this prophetic message and heed what is written in it, for the appointed time is near.

⁴John, to the seven churches in Asia: grace to you and peace from him who is and who was and who is to come, and from the seven spirits before his throne,

⁵and from Jesus Christ, the faithful witness, the firstborn of the dead and ruler of the kings of the earth. To him who loves us and has freed us from our sins by his blood, ⁶who has made us into a kingdom, priests for his God and Father, to him be glory and power forever (and ever). Amen.

⁷Behold, he is coming amid the clouds, and every eye will see him, even those who pierced him. All the peoples of the earth will lament him. Yes. Amen.

⁸"I am the Alpha and the Omega," says the Lord God, "the one who is and who was and who is to come, the almighty."

⁹I, John, your brother, who share with you the distress, the kingdom, and the endurance we have in Jesus, found myself on the island called Patmos because I proclaimed God's word and gave testimony to Jesus.

¹⁰I was caught up in spirit on the Lord's day and heard behind me a voice as loud as a trumpet,

¹¹which said, "Write on a scroll what you see and send it to the seven churches: to Ephesus, Smyrna, Pergamum, Thyatira, Sardis, Philadelphia, and Laodicea."

¹²Then I turned to see whose voice it was that spoke to me, and when I turned, I saw seven gold lampstands ¹³and in the midst of the lampstands one like a son of man, wearing an ankle-length robe, with a gold sash around his chest.

¹⁴The hair of his head was as white as white wool or as snow, and his eyes were like a fiery flame.

¹⁵His feet were like polished brass refined in a furnace, and his voice was like the sound of rushing water.

¹⁶In his right hand he held seven stars. A sharp two-edged sword came out of his mouth, and his face shone like the sun at its brightest.

¹⁷When I caught sight of him, I fell down at his feet as though dead. He touched me with his right hand and said, "Do not be afraid. I am the first and the last,

¹⁸the one who lives. Once I was dead, but now I am alive forever and ever. I hold the keys to death and the netherworld.

¹⁹Write down, therefore, what you have seen, and what is happening, and what will happen afterwards.

²⁰This is the secret meaning of the seven stars you saw in my right hand, and of the seven gold lampstands: the seven stars are the angels of the seven churches, and the seven lampstands are the seven churches.

2 "To the angel of the church in Ephesus, write this: " 'The one who holds the seven stars in his right hand and walks in the midst of the seven gold lampstands says this:

²"I know your works, your labor, and your endurance, and that you cannot tolerate the wicked; you have tested those who call themselves apostles but are not, and discovered that they are impostors.

³Moreover, you have endurance and have suffered for my name, and you have not grown weary.

⁴Yet I hold this against you: you have lost the love you had at first.

⁵Realize how far you have fallen. Repent, and do the works you did at first. Otherwise, I will come to you and remove your lampstand from its place, unless you repent.

⁶But you have this in your favor: you hate the works of the Nicolaitans, which I also hate.

⁷" "Whoever has ears ought to hear what the Spirit says to the churches. To the victor I will give the right to eat from the tree of life that is in the garden of God."

⁸"To the angel of the church in Smyrna, write this: " 'The first and the last, who once died but came to life, says this:

⁹"I know your tribulation and poverty, but you are rich. I know the slander of those who claim to be Jews and are not, but rather are members of the assembly of Satan.

¹⁰Do not be afraid of anything that you are going to suffer. Indeed, the devil will throw some of you into prison, that you may be tested, and you will face an ordeal for ten days. Remain faithful until death, and I will give you the crown of life.

¹¹" "Whoever has ears ought to hear what the Spirit says to the churches. The victor shall not be harmed by the second death."

¹²"To the angel of the church in Pergamum, write this: " 'The one with the sharp two-edged sword says this:

¹³"I know that you live where Satan's throne is, and yet you hold fast to my name and have not denied your faith in me, not even in the days of Antipas, my faithful witness, who was martyred among you, where Satan lives.

¹⁴Yet I have a few things against you. You have some people there who hold to the teaching of Balaam, who instructed Balak to put a stumbling block before the Israelites: to eat food sacrificed to idols and to play the harlot.

¹⁵Likewise, you also have some people who hold to the teaching of (the) Nicolaitans.

¹⁶Therefore, repent. Otherwise, I will come to you quickly and wage war against them with the sword of my mouth.

¹⁷" "Whoever has ears ought to hear what the Spirit says to the churches. To the victor I shall give some of the hidden manna; I shall also give a white amulet upon which is inscribed a new name, which no one knows except the one who receives it."

¹⁸"To the angel of the church in Thyatira, write this: " 'The Son of God, whose eyes are like a fiery flame and whose feet are like polished brass, says this:

¹⁹"I know your works, your love, faith, service, and endurance, and that your last works are greater than the first.

²⁰Yet I hold this against you, that you tolerate the woman Jezebel, who calls herself a prophetess, who teaches and misleads my servants to play the harlot and to eat food sacrificed to idols.

²¹I have given her time to repent, but she refuses to repent of her harlotry.

²²So I will cast her on a sickbed and plunge those who commit adultery with her into intense suffering unless they repent of her works.

²³I will also put her children to death. Thus shall all the churches come to know that I am the searcher of hearts and minds and that I will give each of you what your works deserve.

²⁴But I say to the rest of you in Thyatira, who do not uphold this teaching and know nothing of the so-called deep secrets of Satan: on you I will place no further burden, ²⁵except that you must hold fast to what you have until I come.

²⁶" "To the victor, who keeps to my ways until the end, I will give authority over the nations.

²⁷He will rule them with an iron rod. Like clay vessels will they be smashed, ²⁸just as I received authority from my Father. And to him I will give the morning star.

²⁹" "Whoever has ears ought to hear what the Spirit says to the churches."

3"To the angel of the church in Sardis, write this: " 'The one who has the seven spirits of God and the seven stars says this: "I know your works, that you have the reputation of being alive, but you are dead.

²Be watchful and strengthen what is left, which is going to die, for I have not found your works complete in the sight of my God.

³Remember then how you accepted and heard; keep it, and repent. If you are not watchful, I will come like a thief, and you will never know at what hour I will come upon you.

⁴However, you have a few people in Sardis who have not soiled their garments; they will walk with me dressed in white, because they are worthy.

⁵" "The victor will thus be dressed in white, and I will never erase his name from the book of life but will acknowledge his name in the presence of my Father and of his angels.

⁶" "Whoever has ears ought to hear what the Spirit says to the churches."

⁸" "I know your works (behold, I have left an open door before you, which no one can close). You have limited strength, and yet you have kept my word and have not denied my name.

⁹Behold, I will make those of the assembly of Satan who claim to be Jews and are not, but are lying, behold I will make them come and fall prostrate at your feet, and they will realize that I love you.

¹⁰Because you have kept my message of endurance, I will keep you safe in the time of trial that is going to come to the whole world to test the inhabitants of the earth.

¹¹I am coming quickly. Hold fast to what you have, so that no one may take your crown.

¹²" "The victor I will make into a pillar in the temple of my God, and he will never leave it again. On him I will inscribe the name of my God and the name of the city of my God, the new Jerusalem, which comes down out of heaven from my God, as well as my new name.

¹³" "Whoever has ears ought to hear what the Spirit says to the churches."

¹⁴"To the angel of the church in Laodicea, write this: " 'The Amen, the faithful and true witness, the source of God's creation, says this:

¹⁵"I know your works; I know that you are neither cold nor hot. I wish you were either cold or hot.

¹⁶So, because you are lukewarm, neither hot nor cold, I will spit you out of my mouth.

¹⁷For you say, 'I am rich and affluent and have no need of anything,' and yet do not realize that you are wretched, pitiable, poor, blind, and naked.

¹⁸I advise you to buy from me gold refined by fire so that you may be rich, and white garments to put on so that your shameful nakedness may not be exposed, and buy ointment to smear on your eyes so that you may see.

¹⁹Those whom I love, I reprove and chastise. Be earnest, therefore, and repent.

²⁰"Behold, I stand at the door and knock. If anyone hears my voice and opens the door, (then) I will enter his house and dine with him, and he with me.

²¹I will give the victor the right to sit with me on my throne, as I myself first won the victory and sit with my Father on his throne.

²²"Whoever has ears ought to hear what the Spirit says to the churches."

4After this I had a vision of an open door to heaven, and I heard the trumpetlike voice that had spoken to me before, saying, "Come up here and I will show you what must happen afterwards."

²At once I was caught up in spirit. A throne was there in heaven, and on the throne sat

³one whose appearance sparkled like jasper and carnelian. Around the throne was a halo as brilliant as an emerald.

⁴Surrounding the throne I saw twenty-four other thrones on which twenty-four elders sat, dressed in white garments and with gold crowns on their heads.

⁵From the throne came flashes of lightning, rumblings, and peals of thunder. Seven flaming torches burned in front of the throne, which are the seven spirits of God.

⁶In front of the throne was something that resembled a sea of glass like crystal. In the center and around the throne, there were four living creatures covered with eyes in front and in back.

⁷The first creature resembled a lion, the second was like a calf, the third had a face like that of a human being, and the fourth looked like an eagle in flight.

⁸The four living creatures, each of them with six wings, were covered with eyes inside and out. Day and night they do not stop exclaiming: "Holy, holy, holy is the Lord God almighty, who was, and who is, and who is to come."

⁹Whenever the living creatures give glory and honor and thanks to the one who sits on the throne, who lives forever and ever,

¹⁰the twenty-four elders fall down before the one who sits on the throne and worship him, who lives forever and ever. They throw down their crowns before the throne, exclaiming:

¹¹"Worthy are you, Lord our God, to receive glory and honor and power, for you created all things; because of your will they came to be and were created."

5 I saw a scroll in the right hand of the one who sat on the throne. It had writing on both sides and was sealed with seven seals.

²Then I saw a mighty angel who proclaimed in a loud voice, "Who is worthy to open the scroll and break its seals?"

³But no one in heaven or on earth or under the earth was able to open the scroll or to examine it.

⁴I shed many tears because no one was found worthy to open the scroll or to examine it.

⁵One of the elders said to me, "Do not weep. The lion of the tribe of Judah, the root of David, has triumphed, enabling him to open the scroll with its seven seals."

⁶Then I saw standing in the midst of the throne and the four living creatures and the elders, a Lamb that seemed to have been slain. He had seven horns and seven eyes; these are the (seven) spirits of God sent out into the whole world.

⁷He came and received the scroll from the right hand of the one who sat on the throne.

⁸When he took it, the four living creatures and the twenty-four elders fell down before the Lamb. Each of the elders held a harp and gold bowls filled with incense, which are the prayers of the holy ones.

⁹They sang a new hymn: "Worthy are you to receive the scroll and to break open its seals, for you were slain and with your blood you purchased for God those from every tribe and tongue, people and nation.

¹⁰You made them a kingdom and priests for our God, and they will reign on earth."

¹¹I looked again and heard the voices of many angels who surrounded the throne and the living creatures and the elders. They were countless in number,

¹²and they cried out in a loud voice: "Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power and riches, wisdom and strength, honor and glory and blessing."

¹³Then I heard every creature in heaven and on earth and under the earth and in the sea, everything in the universe, cry out: "To the one who sits on the throne and to the Lamb be blessing and honor, glory and might, forever and ever."

¹⁴The four living creatures answered, "Amen," and the elders fell down and worshiped.

6 Then I watched while the Lamb broke open the first of the seven seals, and I heard one of the four living creatures cry out in a voice like thunder, "Come forward."

²I looked, and there was a white horse, and its rider had a bow. He was given a crown, and he rode forth victorious to further his victories.

³When he broke open the second seal, I heard the second living creature cry out, "Come forward."

⁴Another horse came out, a red one. Its rider was given power to take peace away from the earth, so that people would slaughter one another. And he was given a huge sword.

⁵When he broke open the third seal, I heard the third living creature cry out, "Come forward." I looked, and there was a black horse, and its rider held a scale in his hand.

⁶I heard what seemed to be a voice in the midst of the four living creatures. It said, "A ration of wheat costs a day's pay, and three rations of barley cost a day's pay. But do not damage the olive oil or the wine."

⁷When he broke open the fourth seal, I heard the voice of the fourth living creature cry out, "Come forward."

⁸I looked, and there was a pale green horse. Its rider was named Death, and Hades accompanied him. They were given authority over a quarter of the earth, to kill with sword, famine, and plague, and by means of the beasts of the earth.

⁹When he broke open the fifth seal, I saw underneath the altar the souls of those who had been slaughtered because of the witness they bore to the word of God.

¹⁰They cried out in a loud voice, "How long will it be, holy and true master, before you sit in judgment and avenge our blood on the inhabitants of the earth?"

¹¹Each of them was given a white robe, and they were told to be patient a little while longer until the number was filled of their fellow servants and brothers who were going to be killed as they had been.

¹²Then I watched while he broke open the sixth seal, and there was a great earthquake; the sun turned as black as dark sackcloth and the whole moon became like blood.

¹³The stars in the sky fell to the earth like unripe figs shaken loose from the tree in a strong wind.

¹⁴Then the sky was divided like a torn scroll curling up, and every mountain and island was moved from its place.

¹⁵The kings of the earth, the nobles, the military officers, the rich, the powerful, and every slave and free person hid themselves in caves and among mountain crags.

¹⁶They cried out to the mountains and the rocks, "Fall on us and hide us from the face of the one who sits on the throne and from the wrath of the Lamb,

¹⁷because the great day of their wrath has come and who can withstand it?"

7 After this I saw four angels standing at the four corners of the earth, holding back the four winds of the earth so that no wind could blow on land or sea or against any tree.

²Then I saw another angel come up from the East, holding the seal of the living God. He cried out in a loud voice to the four angels who were given power to damage the land and the sea,

³"Do not damage the land or the sea or the trees until we put the seal on the foreheads of the servants of our God."

⁴I heard the number of those who had been marked with the seal, one hundred and forty-four thousand marked from every tribe of the Israelites:

⁵twelve thousand were marked from the tribe of Judah, twelve thousand from the tribe of Reuben, twelve thousand from the tribe of Gad,

⁶twelve thousand from the tribe of Asher, twelve thousand from the tribe of Naphtali, twelve thousand from the tribe of Manasseh,

⁷twelve thousand from the tribe of Simeon, twelve thousand from the tribe of Levi, twelve thousand from the tribe of Issachar, ⁸twelve thousand from the tribe of Zebulun, twelve thousand from the tribe of Joseph, and twelve thousand were marked from the tribe of Benjamin.

⁹After this I had a vision of a great multitude, which no one could count, from every nation, race, people, and tongue. They stood before the throne and before the Lamb, wearing white robes and holding palm branches in their hands.

¹⁰They cried out in a loud voice: "Salvation comes from our God, who is seated on the throne, and from the Lamb."

¹¹All the angels stood around the throne and around the elders and the four living creatures. They prostrated themselves before the throne, worshiped God,

¹²and exclaimed: "Amen. Blessing and glory, wisdom and thanksgiving, honor, power, and might be to our God forever and ever. Amen."

¹³Then one of the elders spoke up and said to me, "Who are these wearing white robes, and where did they come from?"

¹⁴I said to him, "My lord, you are the one who knows." He said to me, "These are the ones who have survived the time of great distress; they have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb.

¹⁵"For this reason they stand before God's throne and worship him day and night in his temple. The one who sits on the throne will shelter them.

¹⁶They will not hunger or thirst anymore, nor will the sun or any heat strike them.

¹⁷For the Lamb who is in the center of the throne will shepherd them and lead them to springs of life-giving water, and God will wipe away every tear from their eyes."

8When he broke open the seventh seal, there was silence in heaven for about half an hour.

²And I saw that the seven angels who stood before God were given seven trumpets.

³Another angel came and stood at the altar, holding a gold censer. He was given a great quantity of incense to offer, along with the prayers of all the holy ones, on the gold altar that was before the throne.

⁴The smoke of the incense along with the prayers of the holy ones went up before God from the hand of the angel.

⁵Then the angel took the censer, filled it with burning coals from the altar, and hurled it down to the earth. There were peals of thunder, rumblings, flashes of lightning, and an earthquake.

⁶The seven angels who were holding the seven trumpets prepared to blow them.

⁷When the first one blew his trumpet, there came hail and fire mixed with blood, which was hurled down to the earth. A third of the land was burned up, along with a third of the trees and all green grass.

⁸When the second angel blew his trumpet, something like a large burning mountain was hurled into the sea. A third of the sea turned to blood, ⁹a third of the creatures living in the sea died, and a third of the ships were wrecked.

¹⁰When the third angel blew his trumpet, a large star burning like a torch fell from the sky. It fell on a third of the rivers and on the springs of water.

¹¹The star was called "Wormwood," and a third of all the water turned to wormwood. Many people died from this water, because it was made bitter.

¹²When the fourth angel blew his trumpet, a third of the sun, a third of the moon, and a third of the stars were struck, so that a third of them became dark. The day lost its light for a third of the time, as did the night.

¹³Then I looked again and heard an eagle flying high overhead cry out in a loud voice, "Woe! Woe! Woe to the inhabitants of the earth from the rest of the trumpet blasts that the three angels are about to blow!"

9 Then the fifth angel blew his trumpet, and I saw a star that had fallen from the sky to the earth. It was given the key for the passage to the abyss.

²It opened the passage to the abyss, and smoke came up out of the passage like smoke from a huge furnace. The sun and the air were darkened by the smoke from the passage.

³Locusts came out of the smoke onto the land, and they were given the same power as scorpions of the earth.

⁴They were told not to harm the grass of the earth or any plant or any tree, but only those people who did not have the seal of God on their foreheads.

⁵They were not allowed to kill them but only to torment them for five months; the torment they inflicted was like that of a scorpion when it stings a person.

⁶During that time these people will seek death but will not find it, and they will long to die but death will escape them.

⁷The appearance of the locusts was like that of horses ready for battle. On their heads they wore what looked like crowns of gold; their faces were like human faces,

⁸and they had hair like women's hair. Their teeth were like lions' teeth,

⁹and they had chests like iron breastplates. The sound of their wings was like the sound of many horse-drawn chariots racing into battle.

¹⁰They had tails like scorpions, with stingers; with their tails they had power to harm people for five months.

¹¹They had as their king the angel of the abyss, whose name in Hebrew is Abaddon and in Greek Apollyon.

¹²The first woe has passed, but there are two more to come.

¹³Then the sixth angel blew his trumpet, and I heard a voice coming from the [four] horns of the gold altar before God,

¹⁴telling the sixth angel who held the trumpet, "Release the four angels who are bound at the banks of the great river Euphrates."

¹⁵So the four angels were released, who were prepared for this hour, day, month, and year to kill a third of the human race.

¹⁶The number of cavalry troops was two hundred million; I heard their number.

¹⁷Now in my vision this is how I saw the horses and their riders. They wore red, blue, and yellow breastplates, and the horses' heads were like heads of lions, and out of their mouths came fire, smoke, and sulfur.

¹⁸By these three plagues of fire, smoke, and sulfur that came out of their mouths a third of the human race was killed.

¹⁹For the power of the horses is in their mouths and in their tails; for their tails are like snakes, with heads that inflict harm.

²⁰The rest of the human race, who were not killed by these plagues, did not repent of the works of their hands, to give up the worship of demons and idols made from gold, silver, bronze, stone, and wood, which cannot see or hear or walk.

²¹Nor did they repent of their murders, their magic potions, their unchastity, or their robberies.

10 Then I saw another mighty angel come down from heaven wrapped in a cloud, with a halo around his head; his face was like the sun and his feet were like pillars of fire.

²In his hand he held a small scroll that had been opened. He placed his right foot on the sea and his left foot on the land,

³and then he cried out in a loud voice as a lion roars. When he cried out, the seven thunders raised their voices, too.

⁴When the seven thunders had spoken, I was about to write it down; but I heard a voice from heaven say, "Seal up what the seven thunders have spoken, but do not write it down."

⁵Then the angel I saw standing on the sea and on the land raised his right hand to heaven

⁶and swore by the one who lives forever and ever, who created heaven and earth and sea and all that is in them, "There shall be no more delay.

⁷At the time when you hear the seventh angel blow his trumpet, the mysterious plan of God shall be fulfilled, as he promised to his servants the prophets."

⁸Then the voice that I had heard from heaven spoke to me again and said, "Go, take the scroll that lies open in the hand of the angel who is standing on the sea and on the land."

⁹So I went up to the angel and told him to give me the small scroll. He said to me, "Take and swallow it. It will turn your stomach sour, but in your mouth it will taste as sweet as honey."

¹⁰I took the small scroll from the angel's hand and swallowed it. In my mouth it was like sweet honey, but when I had eaten it, my stomach turned sour.

¹¹Then someone said to me, "You must prophesy again about many peoples, nations, tongues, and kings."

11 Then I was given a measuring rod like a staff and I was told, "Come and measure the temple of God and the altar, and count those who are worshiping in it.

²But exclude the outer court of the temple; do not measure it, for it has been handed over to the Gentiles, who will trample the holy city for forty-two months.

³I will commission my two witnesses to prophesy for those twelve hundred and sixty days, wearing sackcloth."

⁴These are the two olive trees and the two lampstands that stand before the Lord of the earth.

⁵If anyone wants to harm them, fire comes out of their mouths and devours their enemies. In this way, anyone wanting to harm them is sure to be slain.

⁶They have the power to close up the sky so that no rain can fall during the time of their prophesying. They also have power to turn water into blood and to afflict the earth with any plague as often as they wish.

⁷When they have finished their testimony, the beast that comes up from the abyss will wage war against them and conquer them and kill them.

- ⁸Their corpses will lie in the main street of the great city, which has the symbolic names "Sodom" and "Egypt," where indeed their Lord was crucified.
- ⁹Those from every people, tribe, tongue, and nation will gaze on their corpses for three and a half days, and they will not allow their corpses to be buried.
- ¹⁰The inhabitants of the earth will gloat over them and be glad and exchange gifts because these two prophets tormented the inhabitants of the earth.
- ¹¹But after the three and a half days, a breath of life from God entered them. When they stood on their feet, great fear fell on those who saw them.
- ¹²Then they heard a loud voice from heaven say to them, "Come up here." So they went up to heaven in a cloud as their enemies looked on.
- ¹³At that moment there was a great earthquake, and a tenth of the city fell in ruins. Seven thousand people were killed during the earthquake; the rest were terrified and gave glory to the God of heaven.
- ¹⁴The second woe has passed, but the third is coming soon.
- ¹⁵Then the seventh angel blew his trumpet. There were loud voices in heaven, saying, "The kingdom of the world now belongs to our Lord and to his Anointed, and he will reign forever and ever."
- ¹⁶The twenty-four elders who sat on their thrones before God prostrated themselves and worshiped God
- ¹⁷and said: "We give thanks to you, Lord God almighty, who are and who were. For you have assumed your great power and have established your reign.
- ¹⁸The nations raged, but your wrath has come, and the time for the dead to be judged, and to recompense your servants, the prophets, and the holy ones and those who fear your name, the small and the great alike, and to destroy those who destroy the earth."
- ¹⁹Then God's temple in heaven was opened, and the ark of his covenant could be seen in the temple. There were flashes of lightning, rumblings, and peals of thunder, an earthquake, and a violent hailstorm.

12 A great sign appeared in the sky, a woman clothed with the sun, with the moon under her feet, and on her head a crown of twelve stars.

²She was with child and wailed aloud in pain as she labored to give birth.

³Then another sign appeared in the sky; it was a huge red dragon, with seven heads and ten horns, and on its heads were seven diadems.

⁴Its tail swept away a third of the stars in the sky and hurled them down to the earth. Then the dragon stood before the woman about to give birth, to devour her child when she gave birth.

⁵She gave birth to a son, a male child, destined to rule all the nations with an iron rod. Her child was caught up to God and his throne.

⁶The woman herself fled into the desert where she had a place prepared by God, that there she might be taken care of for twelve hundred and sixty days.

⁷Then war broke out in heaven; Michael and his angels battled against the dragon. The dragon and its angels fought back, ⁸but they did not prevail and there was no longer any place for them in heaven.

⁹The huge dragon, the ancient serpent, who is called the Devil and Satan, who deceived the whole world, was thrown down to earth, and its angels were thrown down with it.

¹⁰Then I heard a loud voice in heaven say: "Now have salvation and power come, and the kingdom of our God and the authority of his Anointed. For the accuser of our brothers is cast out, who accuses them before our God day and night.

¹¹They conquered him by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their testimony; love for life did not deter them from death.

¹²Therefore, rejoice, you heavens, and you who dwell in them. But woe to you, earth and sea, for the Devil has come down to you in great fury, for he knows he has but a short time."

¹³When the dragon saw that it had been thrown down to the earth, it pursued the woman who had given birth to the male child.

¹⁴But the woman was given the two wings of the great eagle, so that she could fly to her place in the desert, where, far from the serpent, she was taken care of for a year, two years, and a half-year.

¹⁵The serpent, however, spewed a torrent of water out of his mouth after the woman to sweep her away with the current.

¹⁶But the earth helped the woman and opened its mouth and swallowed the flood that the dragon spewed out of its mouth.

¹⁷Then the dragon became angry with the woman and went off to wage war against the rest of her offspring, those who keep God's commandments and bear witness to Jesus. (18) It took its position on the sand of the sea.

13 Then I saw a beast come out of the sea with ten horns and seven heads; on its horns were ten diadems, and on its heads blasphemous name (s).

²The beast I saw was like a leopard, but it had feet like a bear's, and its mouth was like the mouth of a lion. To it the dragon gave its own power and throne, along with great authority.

³I saw that one of its heads seemed to have been mortally wounded, but this mortal wound was healed. Fascinated, the whole world followed after the beast.

⁴They worshiped the dragon because it gave its authority to the beast; they also worshiped the beast and said, "Who can compare with the beast or who can fight against it?"

⁵The beast was given a mouth uttering proud boasts and blasphemies, and it was given authority to act for forty-two months.

⁶It opened its mouth to utter blasphemies against God, blaspheming his name and his dwelling and those who dwell in heaven.

⁷It was also allowed to wage war against the holy ones and conquer them, and it was granted authority over every tribe, people, tongue, and nation.

⁸All the inhabitants of the earth will worship it, all whose names were not written from the foundation of the world in the book of life, which belongs to the Lamb who was slain.

⁹Whoever has ears ought to hear these words.

¹⁰Anyone destined for captivity goes into captivity. Anyone destined to be slain by the sword shall be slain by the sword. Such is the faithful endurance of the holy ones.

¹¹Then I saw another beast come up out of the earth; it had two horns like a lamb's but spoke like a dragon.

¹²It wielded all the authority of the first beast in its sight and made the earth and its inhabitants worship the first beast, whose mortal wound had been healed.

¹³It performed great signs, even making fire come down from heaven to earth in the sight of everyone.

¹⁴It deceived the inhabitants of the earth with the signs it was allowed to perform in the sight of the first beast, telling them to make an image for the beast who had been wounded by the sword and revived.

¹⁵It was then permitted to breathe life into the beast's image, so that the beast's image could speak and (could) have anyone who did not worship it put to death.

¹⁶It forced all the people, small and great, rich and poor, free and slave, to be given a stamped image on their right hands or their foreheads,

¹⁷so that no one could buy or sell except one who had the stamped image of the beast's name or the number that stood for its name.

¹⁸Wisdom is needed here; one who understands can calculate the number of the beast, for it is a number that stands for a person. His number is six hundred and sixty-six.

14 Then I looked and there was the Lamb standing on Mount Zion, and with him a hundred and forty-four thousand who had his name and his Father's name written on their foreheads.

²I heard a sound from heaven like the sound of rushing water or a loud peal of thunder. The sound I heard was like that of harpists playing their harps.

³They were singing (what seemed to be) a new hymn before the throne, before the four living creatures and the elders. No one could learn this hymn except the hundred and forty-four thousand who had been ransomed from the earth.

⁴These are they who were not defiled with women; they are virgins and these are the ones who follow the Lamb wherever he goes. They have been ransomed as the firstfruits of the human race for God and the Lamb.

⁵On their lips no deceit has been found; they are unblemished.

⁶Then I saw another angel flying high overhead, with everlasting good news to announce to those who dwell on earth, to every nation, tribe, tongue, and people.

⁷He said in a loud voice, "Fear God and give him glory, for his time has come to sit in judgment. Worship him who made heaven and earth and sea and springs of water."

⁸A second angel followed, saying: "Fallen, fallen is Babylon the great, that made all the nations drink the wine of her licentious passion."

⁹A third angel followed them and said in a loud voice, "Anyone who worships the beast or its image, or accepts its mark on forehead or hand,

¹⁰will also drink the wine of God's fury, poured full strength into the cup of his wrath, and will be tormented in burning sulfur before the holy angels and before the Lamb.

¹¹The smoke of the fire that torments them will rise forever and ever, and there will be no relief day or night for those who worship the beast or its image or accept the mark of its name."

¹²Here is what sustains the holy ones who keep God's commandments and their faith in Jesus.

¹³I heard a voice from heaven say, "Write this: Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord from now on." "Yes," said the Spirit, "let them find rest from their labors, for their works accompany them."

¹⁴Then I looked and there was a white cloud, and sitting on the cloud one who looked like a son of man, with a gold crown on his head and a sharp sickle in his hand.

¹⁵Another angel came out of the temple, crying out in a loud voice to the one sitting on the cloud, "Use your sickle and reap the harvest, for the time to reap has come, because the earth's harvest is fully ripe."

¹⁶So the one who was sitting on the cloud swung his sickle over the earth, and the earth was harvested.

¹⁷Then another angel came out of the temple in heaven who also had a sharp sickle.

¹⁸Then another angel (came) from the altar, (who) was in charge of the fire, and cried out in a loud voice to the one who had the sharp sickle, "Use your sharp sickle and cut the clusters from the earth's vines, for its grapes are ripe."

¹⁹So the angel swung his sickle over the earth and cut the earth's vintage. He threw it into the great wine press of God's fury.

²⁰The wine press was trodden outside the city and blood poured out of the wine press to the height of a horse's bridle for two hundred miles.

15 Then I saw in heaven another sign, great and awe-inspiring: seven angels with the seven last plagues, for through them God's fury is accomplished.

²Then I saw something like a sea of glass mingled with fire. On the sea of glass were standing those who had won the victory over the beast and its image and the number that signified its name. They were holding God's harps, ³and they sang the song of Moses, the servant of God, and the song of the Lamb: "Great and wonderful are your works, Lord God almighty. Just and true are your ways, O king of the nations.

⁴Who will not fear you, Lord, or glorify your name? For you alone are holy. All the nations will come and worship before you, for your righteous acts have been revealed."

⁵After this I had another vision. The temple that is the heavenly tent of testimony opened,

⁶and the seven angels with the seven plagues came out of the temple. They were dressed in clean white linen, with a gold sash around their chests.

⁷One of the four living creatures gave the seven angels seven gold bowls filled with the fury of God, who lives forever and ever.

⁸Then the temple became so filled with the smoke from God's glory and might that no one could enter it until the seven plagues of the seven angels had been accomplished.

16 I heard a loud voice speaking from the temple to the seven angels, "Go and pour out the seven bowls of God's fury upon the earth."

²The first angel went and poured out his bowl on the earth. Festering and ugly sores broke out on those who had the mark of the beast or worshiped its image.

³The second angel poured out his bowl on the sea. The sea turned to blood like that from a corpse; every creature living in the sea died.

⁴The third angel poured out his bowl on the rivers and springs of water. These also turned to blood.

⁵Then I heard the angel in charge of the waters say: "You are just, O Holy One, who are and who were, in passing this sentence.

⁶For they have shed the blood of the holy ones and the prophets, and you (have) given them blood to drink; it is what they deserve."

⁷Then I heard the altar cry out, "Yes, Lord God almighty, your judgments are true and just."

⁸The fourth angel poured out his bowl on the sun. It was given the power to burn people with fire.

⁹People were burned by the scorching heat and blasphemed the name of God who had power over these plagues, but they did not repent or give him glory.

¹⁰The fifth angel poured out his bowl on the throne of the beast. Its kingdom was plunged into darkness, and people bit their tongues in pain

¹¹and blasphemed the God of heaven because of their pains and sores. But they did not repent of their works.

¹²The sixth angel emptied his bowl on the great river Euphrates. Its water was dried up to prepare the way for the kings of the East.

¹³I saw three unclean spirits like frogs come from the mouth of the dragon, from the mouth of the beast, and from the mouth of the false prophet.

¹⁴These were demonic spirits who performed signs. They went out to the kings of the whole world to assemble them for the battle on the great day of God the almighty.

¹⁵("Behold, I am coming like a thief." Blessed is the one who watches and keeps his clothes ready, so that he may not go naked and people see him exposed.)

¹⁶They then assembled the kings in the place that is named Armageddon in Hebrew.

¹⁷The seventh angel poured out his bowl into the air. A loud voice came out of the temple from the throne, saying, "It is done."

¹⁸Then there were lightning flashes, rumblings, and peals of thunder, and a great earthquake. It was such a violent earthquake that there has never been one like it since the human race began on earth.

¹⁹The great city was split into three parts, and the gentile cities fell. But God remembered great Babylon, giving it the cup filled with the wine of his fury and wrath.

²⁰Every island fled, and mountains disappeared.

²¹Large hailstones like huge weights came down from the sky on people, and they blasphemed God for the plague of hail because this plague was so severe.

17 Then one of the seven angels who were holding the seven bowls came and said to me, "Come here. I will show you the judgment on the great harlot who lives near the many waters.

²The kings of the earth have had intercourse with her, and the inhabitants of the earth became drunk on the wine of her harlotry."

³Then he carried me away in spirit to a deserted place where I saw a woman seated on a scarlet beast that was covered with blasphemous names, with seven heads and ten horns.

⁴The woman was wearing purple and scarlet and adorned with gold, precious stones, and pearls. She held in her hand a gold cup that was filled with the abominable and sordid deeds of her harlotry.

⁵On her forehead was written a name, which is a mystery, "Babylon the great, the mother of harlots and of the abominations of the earth."

⁶I saw that the woman was drunk on the blood of the holy ones and on the blood of the witnesses to Jesus. When I saw her I was greatly amazed.

⁷The angel said to me, "Why are you amazed? I will explain to you the mystery of the woman and of the beast that carries her, the beast with the seven heads and the ten horns.

⁸The beast that you saw existed once but now exists no longer. It will come up from the abyss and is headed for destruction. The inhabitants of the earth whose names have not been written in the book of life from the foundation of the world shall be amazed when they see the beast, because it existed once but exists no longer, and yet it will come again.

⁹Here is a clue for one who has wisdom. The seven heads represent seven hills upon which the woman sits. They also represent seven kings:

¹⁰five have already fallen, one still lives, and the last has not yet come, and when he comes he must remain only a short while.

¹¹The beast that existed once but exists no longer is an eighth king, but really belongs to the seven and is headed for destruction.

¹²The ten horns that you saw represent ten kings who have not yet been crowned; they will receive royal authority along with the beast for one hour.

¹³They are of one mind and will give their power and authority to the beast.

¹⁴They will fight with the Lamb, but the Lamb will conquer them, for he is Lord of lords and king of kings, and those with him are called, chosen, and faithful."

¹⁵Then he said to me, "The waters that you saw where the harlot lives represent large numbers of peoples, nations, and tongues.

¹⁶The ten horns that you saw and the beast will hate the harlot; they will leave her desolate and naked; they will eat her flesh and consume her with fire.

¹⁷For God has put it into their minds to carry out his purpose and to make them come to an agreement to give their kingdom to the beast until the words of God are accomplished.

¹⁸The woman whom you saw represents the great city that has sovereignty over the kings of the earth."

18 After this I saw another angel coming down from heaven, having great authority, and the earth became illumined by his splendor.

²He cried out in a mighty voice: "Fallen, fallen is Babylon the great. She has become a haunt for demons. She is a cage for every unclean spirit, a cage for every unclean bird, (a cage for every unclean) and disgusting (beast).

³For all the nations have drunk the wine of her licentious passion. The kings of the earth had intercourse with her, and the merchants of the earth grew rich from her drive for luxury."

⁴Then I heard another voice from heaven say: "Depart from her, my people, so as not to take part in her sins and receive a share in her plagues, ⁵for her sins are piled up to the sky, and God remembers her crimes.

⁶Pay her back as she has paid others. Pay her back double for her deeds. Into her cup pour double what she poured.

⁷To the measure of her boasting and wantonness repay her in torment and grief; for she said to herself, 'I sit enthroned as queen; I am no widow, and I will never know grief.'

⁸Therefore, her plagues will come in one day, pestilence, grief, and famine; she will be consumed by fire. For mighty is the Lord God who judges her."

⁹The kings of the earth who had intercourse with her in their wantonness will weep and mourn over her when they see the smoke of her pyre.

¹⁰They will keep their distance for fear of the torment inflicted on her, and they will say: "Alas, alas, great city, Babylon, mighty city. In one hour your judgment has come."

¹¹The merchants of the earth will weep and mourn for her, because there will be no more markets for their cargo:

¹²their cargo of gold, silver, precious stones, and pearls; fine linen, purple silk, and scarlet cloth; fragrant wood of every kind, all articles of ivory and all articles of the most expensive wood, bronze, iron, and marble;

¹³ cinnamon, spice, incense, myrrh, and frankincense; wine, olive oil, fine flour, and wheat; cattle and sheep, horses and chariots, and slaves, that is, human beings.

¹⁴"The fruit you craved has left you. All your luxury and splendor are gone, never again will one find them."

¹⁵The merchants who deal in these goods, who grew rich from her, will keep their distance for fear of the torment inflicted on her. Weeping and mourning,

¹⁶ they cry out: "Alas, alas, great city, wearing fine linen, purple and scarlet, adorned (in) gold, precious stones, and pearls.

¹⁷"In one hour this great wealth has been ruined." Every captain of a ship, every traveler at sea, sailors, and seafaring merchants stood at a distance

¹⁸and cried out when they saw the smoke of her pyre, "What city could compare with the great city?"

¹⁹They threw dust on their heads and cried out, weeping and mourning: "Alas, alas, great city, in which all who had ships at sea grew rich from her wealth. In one hour she has been ruined.

²⁰Rejoice over her, heaven, you holy ones, apostles, and prophets. For God has judged your case against her."

²¹A mighty angel picked up a stone like a huge millstone and threw it into the sea and said: "With such force will Babylon the great city be thrown down, and will never be found again.

²²No melodies of harpists and musicians, flutists and trumpeters, will ever be heard in you again. No craftsmen in any trade will ever be found in you again. No sound of the millstone will ever be heard in you again.

²³No light from a lamp will ever be seen in you again. No voices of bride and groom will ever be heard in you again. Because your merchants were the great ones of the world, all nations were led astray by your magic potion.

²⁴In her was found the blood of prophets and holy ones and all who have been slain on the earth."

19 After this I heard what sounded like the loud voice of a great multitude in heaven, saying: "Alleluia! Salvation, glory, and might belong to our God, ²for true and just are his judgments. He has condemned the great harlot who corrupted the earth with her harlotry. He has avenged on her the blood of his servants."

³They said a second time: "Alleluia! Smoke will rise from her forever and ever."

⁴The twenty-four elders and the four living creatures fell down and worshiped God who sat on the throne, saying, "Amen. Alleluia."

⁵A voice coming from the throne said: "Praise our God, all you his servants, (and) you who revere him, small and great."

⁶Then I heard something like the sound of a great multitude or the sound of rushing water or mighty peals of thunder, as they said: "Alleluia! The Lord has established his reign, (our) God, the almighty.

⁷Let us rejoice and be glad and give him glory. For the wedding day of the Lamb has come, his bride has made herself ready.

⁸She was allowed to wear a bright, clean linen garment." (The linen represents the righteous deeds of the holy ones.)

⁹Then the angel said to me, "Write this: Blessed are those who have been called to the wedding feast of the Lamb." And he said to me, "These words are true; they come from God."

¹⁰I fell at his feet to worship him. But he said to me, "Don't! I am a fellow servant of yours and of your brothers who bear witness to Jesus. Worship God. Witness to Jesus is the spirit of prophecy."

¹¹Then I saw the heavens opened, and there was a white horse; its rider was (called) "Faithful and True." He judges and wages war in righteousness.

¹²His eyes were (like) a fiery flame, and on his head were many diadems. He had a name inscribed that no one knows except himself.

¹³He wore a cloak that had been dipped in blood, and his name was called the Word of God.

¹⁴The armies of heaven followed him, mounted on white horses and wearing clean white linen.

¹⁵Out of his mouth came a sharp sword to strike the nations. He will rule them with an iron rod, and he himself will tread out in the wine press the wine of the fury and wrath of God the almighty.

¹⁶He has a name written on his cloak and on his thigh, "King of kings and Lord of lords."

¹⁷Then I saw an angel standing on the sun. He cried out (in) a loud voice to all the birds flying high overhead, "Come here. Gather for God's great feast, ¹⁸to eat the flesh of kings, the flesh of military officers, and the flesh of warriors, the flesh of horses and of their riders, and the flesh of all, free and slave, small and great."

¹⁹Then I saw the beast and the kings of the earth and their armies gathered to fight against the one riding the horse and against his army.

²⁰The beast was caught and with it the false prophet who had performed in its sight the signs by which he led astray those who had accepted the mark of the beast and those who had worshiped its image. The two were thrown alive into the fiery pool burning with sulfur.

²¹The rest were killed by the sword that came out of the mouth of the one riding the horse, and all the birds gorged themselves on their flesh.

20 Then I saw an angel come down from heaven, holding in his hand the key to the abyss and a heavy chain.

²He seized the dragon, the ancient serpent, which is the Devil or Satan, and tied it up for a thousand years

³and threw it into the abyss, which he locked over it and sealed, so that it could no longer lead the nations astray until the thousand years are completed. After this, it is to be released for a short time.

⁴Then I saw thrones; those who sat on them were entrusted with judgment. I also saw the souls of those who had been beheaded for their witness to Jesus and for the word of God, and who had not worshiped the beast or its image nor had accepted its mark on their foreheads or hands. They came to life and they reigned with Christ for a thousand years.

⁵The rest of the dead did not come to life until the thousand years were over. This is the first resurrection.

⁶Blessed and holy is the one who shares in the first resurrection. The second death has no power over these; they will be priests of God and of Christ, and they will reign with him for (the) thousand years.

⁷When the thousand years are completed, Satan will be released from his prison.

⁸He will go out to deceive the nations at the four corners of the earth, Gog and Magog, to gather them for battle; their number is like the sand of the sea.

⁹They invaded the breadth of the earth and surrounded the camp of the holy ones and the beloved city. But fire came down from heaven and consumed them.

¹⁰The Devil who had led them astray was thrown into the pool of fire and sulfur, where the beast and the false prophet were. There they will be tormented day and night forever and ever.

¹¹Next I saw a large white throne and the one who was sitting on it. The earth and the sky fled from his presence and there was no place for them.

¹²I saw the dead, the great and the lowly, standing before the throne, and scrolls were opened. Then another scroll was opened, the book of life. The dead were judged according to their deeds, by what was written in the scrolls.

¹³The sea gave up its dead; then Death and Hades gave up their dead. All the dead were judged according to their deeds.

¹⁴Then Death and Hades were thrown into the pool of fire. (This pool of fire is the second death.)

¹⁵Anyone whose name was not found written in the book of life was thrown into the pool of fire.

21 Then I saw a new heaven and a new earth. The former heaven and the former earth had passed away, and the sea was no more.

²I also saw the holy city, a new Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband.

³I heard a loud voice from the throne saying, "Behold, God's dwelling is with the human race. He will dwell with them and they will be his people and God himself will always be with them (as their God).

⁴He will wipe every tear from their eyes, and there shall be no more death or mourning, wailing or pain, (for) the old order has passed away."

⁵The one who sat on the throne said, "Behold, I make all things new." Then he said, "Write these words down, for they are trustworthy and true."

⁶He said to me, "They are accomplished. I (am) the Alpha and the Omega, the beginning and the end. To the thirsty I will give a gift from the spring of life-giving water.

⁷The victor will inherit these gifts, and I shall be his God, and he will be my son.

⁸But as for cowards, the unfaithful, the depraved, murderers, the unchaste, sorcerers, idol-worshippers, and deceivers of every sort, their lot is in the burning pool of fire and sulfur, which is the second death."

⁹One of the seven angels who held the seven bowls filled with the seven last plagues came and said to me, "Come here. I will show you the bride, the wife of the Lamb."

¹⁰He took me in spirit to a great, high mountain and showed me the holy city Jerusalem coming down out of heaven from God.

¹¹It gleamed with the splendor of God. Its radiance was like that of a precious stone, like jasper, clear as crystal.

¹²It had a massive, high wall, with twelve gates where twelve angels were stationed and on which names were inscribed, (the names) of the twelve tribes of the Israelites.

¹³There were three gates facing east, three north, three south, and three west.

¹⁴The wall of the city had twelve courses of stones as its foundation, on which were inscribed the twelve names of the twelve apostles of the Lamb.

¹⁵The one who spoke to me held a gold measuring rod to measure the city, its gates, and its wall.

¹⁶The city was square, its length the same as (also) its width. He measured the city with the rod and found it fifteen hundred miles in length and width and height.

¹⁷He also measured its wall: one hundred and forty-four cubits according to the standard unit of measurement the angel used.

¹⁸The wall was constructed of jasper, while the city was pure gold, clear as glass.

¹⁹The foundations of the city wall were decorated with every precious stone; the first course of stones was jasper, the second sapphire, the third chalcedony, the fourth emerald,

²⁰the fifth sardonyx, the sixth carnelian, the seventh chrysolite, the eighth beryl, the ninth topaz, the tenth chrysoprase, the eleventh hyacinth, and the twelfth amethyst.

²¹The twelve gates were twelve pearls, each of the gates made from a single pearl; and the street of the city was of pure gold, transparent as glass.

²²I saw no temple in the city, for its temple is the Lord God almighty and the Lamb.

²³The city had no need of sun or moon to shine on it, for the glory of God gave it light, and its lamp was the Lamb.

²⁴The nations will walk by its light, and to it the kings of the earth will bring their treasure.

²⁵During the day its gates will never be shut, and there will be no night there.

²⁶The treasure and wealth of the nations will be brought there,

²⁷but nothing unclean will enter it, nor any (one) who does abominable things or tells lies. Only those will enter whose names are written in the Lamb's book of life.

22 Then the angel showed me the river of life-giving water, sparkling like crystal, flowing from the throne of God and of the Lamb

²down the middle of its street. On either side of the river grew the tree of life that produces fruit twelve times a year, once each month; the leaves of the trees serve as medicine for the nations.

³Nothing accursed will be found there anymore. The throne of God and of the Lamb will be in it, and his servants will worship him.

⁴They will look upon his face, and his name will be on their foreheads.

⁵Night will be no more, nor will they need light from lamp or sun, for the Lord God shall give them light, and they shall reign forever and ever.

⁶And he said to me, "These words are trustworthy and true, and the Lord, the God of prophetic spirits, sent his angel to show his servants what must happen soon."

⁷"Behold, I am coming soon." Blessed is the one who keeps the prophetic message of this book.

⁸It is I, John, who heard and saw these things, and when I heard and saw them I fell down to worship at the feet of the angel who showed them to me.

⁹But he said to me, "Don't! I am a fellow servant of yours and of your brothers the prophets and of those who keep the message of this book. Worship God."

¹⁰Then he said to me, "Do not seal up the prophetic words of this book, for the appointed time is near.

¹¹Let the wicked still act wickedly, and the filthy still be filthy. The righteous must still do right, and the holy still be holy."

¹²"Behold, I am coming soon. I bring with me the recompense I will give to each according to his deeds.

¹³I am the Alpha and the Omega, the first and the last, the beginning and the end."

¹⁴Blessed are they who wash their robes so as to have the right to the tree of life and enter the city through its gates.

¹⁵Outside are the dogs, the sorcerers, the unchaste, the murderers, the idol-worshippers, and all who love and practice deceit.

¹⁶"I, Jesus, sent my angel to give you this testimony for the churches. I am the root and offspring of David, the bright morning star."

¹⁷The Spirit and the bride say, "Come." Let the hearer say, "Come." Let the one who thirsts come forward, and the one who wants it receive the gift of life-giving water.

¹⁸I warn everyone who hears the prophetic words in this book: if anyone adds to them, God will add to him the plagues described in this book, ¹⁹and if anyone takes away from the words in this prophetic book, God will take away his share in the tree of life and in the holy city described in this book.

²⁰The one who gives this testimony says, "Yes, I am coming soon." Amen! Come, Lord Jesus!

²¹The grace of the Lord Jesus be with all.
