Genesis

1 In the beginning, when God created the heavens and the earth,

²the earth was a formless wasteland, and darkness covered the abyss, while a mighty wind swept over the waters.

³Then God said, "Let there be light," and there was light.

⁴God saw how good the light was. God then separated the light from the darkness.

⁶Then God said, "Let there be a dome in the middle of the waters, to separate one body of water from the other." And so it happened:

⁸God called the dome "the sky." Evening came, and morning followed--the second day.

⁹Then God said, "Let the water under the sky be gathered into a single basin, so that the dry land may appear." And so it happened: the water under the sky was gathered into its basin, and the dry land appeared.

¹⁰God called the dry land "the earth," and the basin of the water he called "the sea." God saw how good it was.

¹¹Then God said, "Let the earth bring forth vegetation: every kind of plant that bears seed and every kind of fruit tree on earth that bears fruit with its seed in it." And so it happened:

¹²the earth brought forth every kind of plant that bears seed and every kind of fruit tree on earth that bears fruit with its seed in it. God saw how good it was.

¹³Evening came, and morning followed--the third day.

¹⁴Then God said: "Let there be lights in the dome of the sky, to separate day from night. Let them mark the fixed times, the days and the years, ¹⁵and serve as luminaries in the dome of the sky, to shed light upon the earth." And so it happened:

¹⁶God made the two great lights, the greater one to govern the day, and the lesser one to govern the night; and he made the stars.

¹⁷God set them in the dome of the sky, to shed light upon the earth,

¹⁸to govern the day and the night, and to separate the light from the darkness. God saw how good it was.

¹⁹Evening came, and morning followed--the fourth day.

²⁰Then God said, "Let the water teem with an abundance of living creatures, and on the earth let birds fly beneath the dome of the sky." And so it happened:

²¹God created the great sea monsters and all kinds of swimming creatures with which the water teems, and all kinds of winged birds. God saw how good it was,

²²and God blessed them, saying, "Be fertile, multiply, and fill the water of the seas; and let the birds multiply on the earth."

²³Evening came, and morning followed--the fifth day.

²⁴Then God said, "Let the earth bring forth all kinds of living creatures: cattle, creeping things, and wild animals of all kinds." And so it happened:

²⁵God made all kinds of wild animals, all kinds of cattle, and all kinds of creeping things of the earth. God saw how good it was.

²⁶Then God said: "Let us make man in our image, after our likeness. Let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, the birds of the air, and the cattle, and over all the wild animals and all the creatures that crawl on the ground."

²⁷God created man in his image; in the divine image he created him; male and female he created them.

²⁸God blessed them, saying: "Be fertile and multiply; fill the earth and subdue it. Have dominion over the fish of the sea, the birds of the air, and all the living things that move on the earth."

²⁹God also said: "See, I give you every seed-bearing plant all over the earth and every tree that has seed-bearing fruit on it to be your food;

³⁰and to all the animals of the land, all the birds of the air, and all the living creatures that crawl on the ground, I give all the green plants for food." And so it happened.

³¹God looked at everything he had made, and he found it very good. Evening came, and morning followed--the sixth day.

2 Thus the heavens and the earth and all their array were completed.

²Since on the seventh day God was finished with the work he had been doing, he rested on the seventh day from all the work he had undertaken.

³So God blessed the seventh day and made it holy, because on it he rested from all the work he had done in creation.

⁴Such is the story of the heavens and the earth at their creation. At the time when the LORD God made the earth and the heavens--

⁵while as yet there was no field shrub on earth and no grass of the field had sprouted, for the LORD God had sent no rain upon the earth and there was no man to till the soil,

⁶but a stream was welling up out of the earth and was watering all the surface of the ground--

⁷the LORD God formed man out of the clay of the ground and blew into his nostrils the breath of life, and so man became a living being.

⁸Then the LORD God planted a garden in Eden, in the east, and he placed there the man whom he had formed.

⁹Out of the ground the LORD God made various trees grow that were delightful to look at and good for food, with the tree of life in the middle of the garden and the tree of the knowledge of good and bad.

¹⁰A river rises in Eden to water the garden; beyond there it divides and becomes four branches.

¹¹The name of the first is the Pishon; it is the one that winds through the whole land of Havilah, where there is gold.

¹²The gold of that land is excellent; bdellium and lapis lazuli are also there.

¹³The name of the second river is the Gihon; it is the one that winds all through the land of Cush.

¹⁴The name of the third river is the Tigris; it is the one that flows east of Asshur. The fourth river is the Euphrates.

¹⁶The LORD God gave man this order: "You are free to eat from any of the trees of the garden

¹⁷except the tree of knowledge of good and bad. From that tree you shall not eat; the moment you eat from it you are surely doomed to die."

¹⁸The LORD God said: "It is not good for the man to be alone. I will make a suitable partner for him."

¹⁹So the LORD God formed out of the ground various wild animals and various birds of the air, and he brought them to the man to see what he would call them; whatever the man called each of them would be its name.

²⁰The man gave names to all the cattle, all the birds of the air, and all the wild animals; but none proved to be the suitable partner for the man.

²¹So the LORD God cast a deep sleep on the man, and while he was asleep, he took out one of his ribs and closed up its place with flesh.

²²The LORD God then built up into a woman the rib that he had taken from the man. When he brought her to the man,

²³the man said: "This one, at last, is bone of my bones and flesh of my flesh; This one shall be called 'woman,' for out of 'her man' this one has been taken."

²⁴That is why a man leaves his father and mother and clings to his wife, and the two of them become one body.

²⁵The man and his wife were both naked, yet they felt no shame.

3 Now the serpent was the most cunning of all the animals that the LORD God had made. The serpent asked the woman, "Did God really tell you not to eat from any of the trees in the garden?"

²The woman answered the serpent: "We may eat of the fruit of the trees in the garden;

³it is only about the fruit of the tree in the middle of the garden that God said, 'You shall not eat it or even touch it, lest you die.'"

⁴But the serpent said to the woman: "You certainly will not die!

⁵No, God knows well that the moment you eat of it your eyes will be opened and you will be like gods who know what is good and what is bad."

⁶The woman saw that the tree was good for food, pleasing to the eyes, and desirable for gaining wisdom. So she took some of its fruit and ate it; and she also gave some to her husband, who was with her, and he ate it.

⁷Then the eyes of both of them were opened, and they realized that they were naked; so they sewed fig leaves together and made loincloths for themselves.

⁸When they heard the sound of the LORD God moving about in the garden at the breezy time of the day, the man and his wife hid themselves from the LORD God among the trees of the garden.

⁹The LORD God then called to the man and asked him, "Where are you?"

¹⁰He answered, "I heard you in the garden; but I was afraid, because I was naked, so I hid myself."

¹¹Then he asked, "Who told you that you were naked? You have eaten, then, from the tree of which I had forbidden you to eat!"

¹²The man replied, "The woman whom you put here with me--she gave me fruit from the tree, so I ate it."

¹³The LORD God then asked the woman, "Why did you do such a thing?" The woman answered, "The serpent tricked me into it, so I ate it."

¹⁴Then the LORD God said to the serpent: "Because you have done this, you shall be banned from all the animals and from all the wild creatures; On your belly shall you crawl, and dirt shall you eat all the days of your life.

¹⁵I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your offspring and hers; He will strike at your head, while you strike at his heel."

¹⁶To the woman he said: "I will intensify the pangs of your childbearing; in pain shall you bring forth children. Yet your urge shall be for your husband, and he shall be your master."

¹⁷To the man he said: "Because you listened to your wife and ate from the tree of which I had forbidden you to eat, "Cursed be the ground because of you! In toil shall you eat its yield all the days of your life.

¹⁸Thorns and thistles shall it bring forth to you, as you eat of the plants of the field.

¹⁹By the sweat of your face shall you get bread to eat, Until you return to the ground, from which you were taken; For you are dirt, and to dirt you shall return."

²⁰The man called his wife Eve, because she became the mother of all the living.

²¹For the man and his wife the LORD God made leather garments, with which he clothed them.

²²Then the LORD God said: "See! The man has become like one of us, knowing what is good and what is bad! Therefore, he must not be allowed to put out his hand to take fruit from the tree of life also, and thus eat of it and live forever."

²³The LORD God therefore banished him from the garden of Eden, to till the ground from which he had been taken.

²⁴When he expelled the man, he settled him east of the garden of Eden; and he stationed the cherubim and the fiery revolving sword, to guard the way to the tree of life.

4The man had relations with his wife Eve, and she conceived and bore Cain, saying, "I have produced a man with the help of the LORD."

²Next she bore his brother Abel. Abel became a keeper of flocks, and Cain a tiller of the soil.

³In the course of time Cain brought an offering to the LORD from the fruit of the soil,

⁵but on Cain and his offering he did not. Cain greatly resented this and was crestfallen.

⁶So the LORD said to Cain: "Why are you so resentful and crestfallen?"

⁷If you do well, you can hold up your head; but if not, sin is a demon lurking at the door: his urge is toward you, yet you can be his master."

⁸Cain said to his brother Abel, "Let us go out in the field." When they were in the field, Cain attacked his brother Abel and killed him.

¹⁰The LORD then said: "What have you done! Listen: your brother's blood cries out to me from the soil!

¹¹Therefore you shall be banned from the soil that opened its mouth to receive your brother's blood from your hand.

¹²If you till the soil, it shall no longer give you its produce. You shall become a restless wanderer on the earth."

¹³Cain said to the LORD: "My punishment is too great to bear.

¹⁴Since you have now banished me from the soil, and I must avoid your presence and become a restless wanderer on the earth, anyone may kill me at sight."

¹⁵Not so!" the LORD said to him. "If anyone kills Cain, Cain shall be avenged sevenfold." So the LORD put a mark on Cain, lest anyone should kill him at sight.

¹⁷Cain had relations with his wife, and she conceived and bore Enoch. Cain also became the founder of a city, which he named after his son Enoch.

¹⁸To Enoch was born Irad, and Irad became the father of Mehujael; Mehujael became the father of Methusael, and Methusael became the father of Lamech.

¹⁹Lamech took two wives; the name of the first was Adah, and the name of the second Zillah.

²⁰Adah gave birth to Jabal, the ancestor of all who dwell in tents and keep cattle.

²¹His brother's name was Jubal; he was the ancestor of all who play the lyre and the pipe.

²²Zillah, on her part, gave birth to Tubalcain, the ancestor of all who forge instruments of bronze and iron. The sister of Tubalcain was Naamah.

²³Lamech said to his wives: "Adah and Zillah, hear my voice; wives of Lamech, listen to my utterance: I have killed a man for wounding me, a boy for bruising me.

²⁵Adam again had relations with his wife, and she gave birth to a son whom she called Seth. "God has granted me more offspring in place of Abel," she said, "because Cain slew him."

²⁶To Seth, in turn, a son was born, and he named him Enosh. At that time men began to invoke the LORD by name.

5 This is the record of the descendants of Adam. When God created man, he made him in the likeness of God;

²he created them male and female. When they were created, he blessed them and named them "man."

³Adam was one hundred and thirty years old when he begot a son in his likeness, after his image; and he named him Seth.

⁴Adam lived eight hundred years after the birth of Seth, and he had other sons and daughters.

⁵The whole lifetime of Adam was nine hundred and thirty years; then he died.

⁶When Seth was one hundred and five years old, he became the father of Enosh.

⁷Seth lived eight hundred and seven years after the birth of Enosh, and he had other sons and daughters.

⁸The whole lifetime of Seth was nine hundred and twelve years; then he died.

⁹When Enosh was ninety years old, he became the father of Kenan.

¹⁰Enosh lived eight hundred and fifteen years after the birth of Kenan, and he had other sons and daughters.

¹¹The whole lifetime of Enosh was nine hundred and five years; then he died.

¹²When Kenan was seventy years old, he became the father of Mahalalel.

¹³Kenan lived eight hundred and forty years after the birth of Mahalalel, and he had other sons and daughters.

¹⁴The whole lifetime of Kenan was nine hundred and ten years; then he died.

¹⁵When Mahalalel was sixty-five years old, he became the father of Jared.

¹⁶Mahalalel lived eight hundred and thirty years after the birth of Jared, and he had other sons and daughters.

¹⁷The whole lifetime of Mahalalel was eight hundred and ninety-five years; then he died.

¹⁸When Jared was one hundred and sixty-two years old, he became the father of Enoch.

¹⁹Jared lived eight hundred years after the birth of Enoch, and he had other sons and daughters.

²⁰The whole lifetime of Jared was nine hundred and sixty-two years; then he died.

²¹When Enoch was sixty-five years old, he became the father of Methuselah.

²²Enoch lived three hundred years after the birth of Methuselah, and he had other sons and daughters.

²³The whole lifetime of Enoch was three hundred and sixty-five years.

²⁴Then Enoch walked with God, and he was no longer here, for God took him.

²⁵When Methuselah was one hundred and eighty-seven years old, he became the father of Lamech.

²⁶Methuselah lived seven hundred and eighty-two years after the birth of Lamech, and he had other sons and daughters.

²⁷The whole lifetime of Methuselah was nine hundred and sixty-nine years; then he died.

²⁸When Lamech was one hundred and eighty-two years old, he begot a son

²⁹and named him Noah, saying, "Out of the very ground that the LORD has put under a curse, this one shall bring us relief from our work and the toil of our hands."

³⁰Lamech lived five hundred and ninety-five years after the birth of Noah, and he had other sons and daughters.

³¹The whole lifetime of Lamech was seven hundred and seventy-seven years; then he died.

³²When Noah was five hundred years old, he became the father of Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

6 When men began to multiply on earth and daughters were born to them,

²the sons of heaven saw how beautiful the daughters of man were, and so they took for their wives as many of them as they chose.

³Then the LORD said: "My spirit shall not remain in man forever, since he is but flesh. His days shall comprise one hundred and twenty years."

⁴At that time the Nephilim appeared on earth (as well as later), after the sons of heaven had intercourse with the daughters of man, who bore them sons. They were the heroes of old, the men of renown.

⁵When the LORD saw how great was man's wickedness on earth, and how no desire that his heart conceived was ever anything but evil, ⁶he regretted that he had made man on the earth, and his heart was grieved.

⁷So the LORD said: "I will wipe out from the earth the men whom I have created, and not only the men, but also the beasts and the creeping things and the birds of the air, for I am sorry that I made them."

⁸But Noah found favor with the LORD.

⁹These are the descendants of Noah. Noah, a good man and blameless in that age, ¹⁰for he walked with God, begot three sons: Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

¹¹In the eyes of God the earth was corrupt and full of lawlessness.

¹²When God saw how corrupt the earth had become, since all mortals led depraved lives on earth,

¹³he said to Noah: "I have decided to put an end to all mortals on earth; the earth is full of lawlessness because of them. So I will destroy them and all life on earth.

¹⁵This is how you shall build it: the length of the ark shall be three hundred cubits, its width fifty cubits, and its height thirty cubits.

¹⁶Make an opening for daylight in the ark, and finish the ark a cubit above it. Put an entrance in the side of the ark, which you shall make with bottom, second and third decks.

¹⁷I, on my part, am about to bring the flood (waters) on the earth, to destroy everywhere all creatures in which there is the breath of life; everything on earth shall perish.

¹⁸But with you I will establish my covenant; you and your sons, your wife and your sons' wives, shall go into the ark.

¹⁹Of all other living creatures you shall bring two into the ark, one male and one female, that you may keep them alive with you.

²⁰Of all kinds of birds, of all kinds of beasts, and of all kinds of creeping things, two of each shall come into the ark with you, to stay alive.

²¹Moreover, you are to provide yourself with all the food that is to be eaten, and store it away, that it may serve as provisions for you and for them."

²²This Noah did; he carried out all the commands that God gave him.

7 Then the LORD said to Noah: "Go into the ark, you and all your household, for you alone in this age have I found to be truly just.

²Of every clean animal, take with you seven pairs, a male and its mate; and of the unclean animals, one pair, a male and its mate;

³likewise, of every clean bird of the air, seven pairs, a male and a female, and of all the unclean birds, one pair, a male and a female. Thus you will keep their issue alive over all the earth.

⁴Seven days from now I will bring rain down on the earth for forty days and forty nights, and so I will wipe out from the surface of the earth every moving creature that I have made."

⁵Noah did just as the LORD had commanded him.

⁶Noah was six hundred years old when the flood waters came upon the earth.

⁸Of the clean animals and the unclean, of the birds, and of everything that creeps on the ground,

⁹(two by two) male and female entered the ark with Noah, just as the LORD had commanded him.

- ¹⁰As soon as the seven days were over, the waters of the flood came upon the earth.
- ¹¹In the six hundredth year of Noah's life, in the second month, on the seventeenth day of the month: it was on that day that All the fountains of the great abyss burst forth, and the floodgates of the sky were opened.
- ¹²For forty days and forty nights heavy rain poured down on the earth.
- ¹³On the precise day named, Noah and his sons Shem, Ham, and Japheth, and Noah's wife, and the three wives of Noah's sons had entered the ark,
- ¹⁴together with every kind of wild beast, every kind of domestic animal, every kind of creeping thing of the earth, and every kind of bird.
- ¹⁵Pairs of all creatures in which there was the breath of life entered the ark with Noah.
- ¹⁶Those that entered were male and female, and of all species they came, as God had commanded Noah. Then the LORD shut him in.
- ¹⁷The flood continued upon the earth for forty days. As the waters increased, they lifted the ark, so that it rose above the earth.
- ¹⁸The swelling waters increased greatly, but the ark floated on the surface of the waters.
- ¹⁹Higher and higher above the earth rose the waters, until all the highest mountains everywhere were submerged,
- ²⁰the crest rising fifteen cubits higher than the submerged mountains.
- ²¹All creatures that stirred on earth perished: birds, cattle, wild animals, and all that swarmed on the earth, as well as all mankind.
- ²²Everything on dry land with the faintest breath of life in its nostrils died out.
- ²³The LORD wiped out every living thing on earth: man and cattle, the creeping things and the birds of the air; all were wiped out from the earth. Only Noah and those with him in the ark were left.
- ²⁴The waters maintained their crest over the earth for one hundred and fifty days,

8and then God remembered Noah and all the animals, wild and tame, that were with him in the ark. So God made a wind sweep over the earth, and the waters began to subside.

²The fountains of the abyss and the floodgates of the sky were closed, and the downpour from the sky was held back.

³Gradually the waters receded from the earth. At the end of one hundred and fifty days, the waters had so diminished

⁴that, in the seventh month, on the seventeenth day of the month, the ark came to rest on the mountains of Ararat.

⁵The waters continued to diminish until the tenth month, and on the first day of the tenth month the tops of the mountains appeared.

⁶At the end of forty days Noah opened the hatch he had made in the ark, ⁷and he sent out a raven, to see if the waters had lessened on the earth. It flew back and forth until the waters dried off from the earth.

⁸Then he sent out a dove, to see if the waters had lessened on the earth.

⁹But the dove could find no place to alight and perch, and it returned to him in the ark, for there was water all over the earth. Putting out his hand, he caught the dove and drew it back to him inside the ark.

¹⁰He waited seven days more and again sent the dove out from the ark.

¹¹In the evening the dove came back to him, and there in its bill was a plucked-off olive leaf! So Noah knew that the waters had lessened on the earth.

¹²He waited still another seven days and then released the dove once more; and this time it did not come back.

¹³In the six hundred and first year of Noah's life, in the first month, on the first day of the month, the water began to dry up on the earth. Noah then removed the covering of the ark and saw that the surface of the ground was drying up.

¹⁴In the second month, on the twenty-seventh day of the month, the earth was dry.

¹⁵Then God said to Noah:

¹⁶"Go out of the ark, together with your wife and your sons and your sons' wives.

¹⁷Bring out with you every living thing that is with you--all bodily creatures, be they birds or animals or creeping things of the earth--and let them abound on the earth, breeding and multiplying on it."

²⁰Then Noah built an altar to the LORD, and choosing from every clean animal and every clean bird, he offered holocausts on the altar.

²¹When the LORD smelled the sweet odor, he said to himself: "Never again will I doom the earth because of man, since the desires of man's heart are evil from the start; nor will I ever again strike down all living beings, as I have done.

²²As long as the earth lasts, seedtime and harvest, cold and heat, Summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease."

9 God blessed Noah and his sons and said to them: "Be fertile and multiply and fill the earth.

²Dread fear of you shall come upon all the animals of the earth and all the birds of the air, upon all the creatures that move about on the ground and all the fishes of the sea; into your power they are delivered.

³Every creature that is alive shall be yours to eat; I give them all to you as I did the green plants.

⁴Only flesh with its lifeblood still in it you shall not eat.

⁵For your own lifeblood, too, I will demand an accounting: from every animal I will demand it, and from man in regard to his fellow man I will demand an accounting for human life.

⁶If anyone sheds the blood of man, by man shall his blood be shed; For in the image of God has man been made.

⁷Be fertile, then, and multiply; abound on earth and subdue it."

⁸God said to Noah and to his sons with him:

⁹"See, I am now establishing my covenant with you and your descendants after you

¹⁰and with every living creature that was with you: all the birds, and the various tame and wild animals that were with you and came out of the ark.

¹¹I will establish my covenant with you, that never again shall all bodily creatures be destroyed by the waters of a flood; there shall not be another flood to devastate the earth."

¹²God added: "This is the sign that I am giving for all ages to come, of the covenant between me and you and every living creature with you:

¹³I set my bow in the clouds to serve as a sign of the covenant between me and the earth.

¹⁴When I bring clouds over the earth, and the bow appears in the clouds, ¹⁵I will recall the covenant I have made between me and you and all living beings, so that the waters shall never again become a flood to destroy all mortal beings.

¹⁶As the bow appears in the clouds, I will see it and recall the everlasting covenant that I have established between God and all living beings--all mortal creatures that are on earth."

¹⁷God told Noah: "This is the sign of the covenant I have established between me and all mortal creatures that are on earth."

¹⁸The sons of Noah who came out of the ark were Shem, Ham and Japheth. (Ham was the father of Canaan.)

¹⁹These three were the sons of Noah, and from them the whole earth was peopled.

²⁰Now Noah, a man of the soil, was the first to plant a vineyard.

²¹When he drank some of the wine, he became drunk and lay naked inside his tent.

²²Ham, the father of Canaan, saw his father's nakedness, and he told his two brothers outside about it.

²³Shem and Japheth, however, took a robe, and holding it on their backs, they walked backward and covered their father's nakedness; since their faces were turned the other way, they did not see their father's nakedness.

²⁴When Noah woke up from his drunkenness and learned what his youngest son had done to him,

²⁵he said: "Cursed be Caanan! The lowest of slaves shall he be to his brothers."

²⁶He also said: "Blessed be the LORD, the God of Shem! Let Canaan be his slave.

²⁷May God expand Japheth, so that he dwells among the tents of Shem; and let Canaan be his slave."

²⁸Noah lived three hundred and fifty years after the flood.

²⁹The whole lifetime of Noah was nine hundred and fifty years; then he died.

10 These are the descendants of Noah's sons, Shem, Ham, and Japheth, to whom sons were born after the flood.

⁴The descendants of Javan: Elishah, Tarshish, the Kittim, and the Rodanim.

⁷The descendants of Cush: Seba, Havilah, Sabtah, Raamah, and Sabteca. The descendants of Raamah: Sheba and Dedan.

⁸Cush became the father of Nimrod, who was the first potentate on earth.

⁹He was a mighty hunter by the grace of the LORD; hence the saying, "Like Nimrod, a mighty hunter by the grace of the LORD."

¹⁰The chief cities of his kingdom were Babylon, Erech, and Accad, all of them in the land of Shinar.

¹¹From that land he went forth to Asshur, where he built Nineveh, Rehoboth-Ir, and Calah, ¹²as well as Resen, between Nineveh and Calah, the latter being the principal city.

¹³Mizraim became the father of the Ludim, the Anamim, the Lehabim, the Naphtuhim, ¹⁴the Pathrusim, the Casluhim, and the Capthorim from whom the Philistines sprang.

¹⁵Canaan became the father of Sidon, his first-born, and of Heth;

¹⁶also of the Jebusites, the Amorites, the Gergashites,

¹⁷the Hivites, the Arkites, the Sinites,

¹⁸the Arvadites, the Zemarites, and the Hamathites. Afterward, the clans of the Canaanites spread out,

¹⁹so that the Canaanite borders extended from Sidon all the way to Gerar, near Gaza, and all the way to Sodom, Gomorrah, Admah and Zeboiim, near Lasha.

²⁰These are the descendants of Ham, according to their clans and languages, by their lands and nations.

²¹To Shem also, Japheth's oldest brother and the ancestor of all the children of Eber, sons were born.

²⁴Arpachshad became the father of Shelah, and Shelah became the father of Eber.

²⁵To Eber two sons were born: the name of the first was Peleg, for in his time the world was divided; and the name of his brother was Joktan.

²⁶Joktan became the father of Almodad, Sheleph, Hazarmaveth, Jerah,

²⁷Hadoram, Uzal, Diklah,

²⁸Obal, Abimael, Sheba,

²⁹Ophir, Havilah, and Jobab. All these were descendants of Joktan.

³¹These are the descendants of Shem, according to their clans and languages by their lands and nations.

³²These are the groupings of Noah's sons, according to their origins and by their nations. From these the other nations of the earth branched out after the flood.

The whole world spoke the same language, using the same words.

²While men were migrating in the east, they came upon a valley in the land of Shinar and settled there.

³They said to one another, "Come, let us mold bricks and harden them with fire." They used bricks for stone, and bitumen for mortar.

⁴Then they said, "Come, let us build ourselves a city and a tower with its top in the sky, and so make a name for ourselves; otherwise we shall be scattered all over the earth."

⁵LORD came down to see the city and the tower that the men had built.

⁶Then the LORD said: "If now, while they are one people, all speaking the same language, they have started to do this, nothing will later stop them from doing whatever they presume to do.

⁷Let us then go down and there confuse their language, so that one will not understand what another says."

⁸Thus the LORD scattered them from there all over the earth, and they stopped building the city.

⁹That is why it was called Babel, because there the LORD confused the speech of all the world. It was from that place that he scattered them all over the earth.

¹⁰This is the record of the descendants of Shem. When Shem was one hundred years old, he became the father of Arpachshad, two years after the flood.

¹¹Shem lived five hundred years after the birth of Arpachshad, and he had other sons and daughters.

¹²When Arpachshad was thirty-five years old, he became the father of Shelah.

¹³Arpachshad lived four hundred and three years after the birth of Shelah, and he had other sons and daughters.

¹⁴When Shelah was thirty years old, he became the father of Eber.

¹⁵Shelah lived four hundred and three years after the birth of Eber, and he had other sons and daughters.

¹⁶When Eber was thirty-four years old, he became the father of Peleg.

¹⁷Eber lived four hundred and thirty years after the birth of Peleg, and he had other sons and daughters.

¹⁸When Peleg was thirty years old, he became the father of Reu.

¹⁹Peleg lived two hundred and nine years after the birth of Reu, and he had other sons and daughters.

²⁰When Reu was thirty-two years old, he became the father of Serug.

²¹Reu lived two hundred and seven years after the birth of Serug, and he had other sons and daughters.

²²When Serug was thirty years old, he became the father of Nahor.

²³Serug lived two hundred years after the birth of Nahor, and he had other sons and daughters.

²⁴When Nahor was twenty-nine years old, he became the father of Terah.

²⁵Nahor lived one hundred and nineteen years after the birth of Terah, and he had other sons and daughters.

²⁶When Terah was seventy years old, he became the father of Abram, Nahor and Haran.

²⁷This is the record of the descendants of Terah. Terah became the father of Abram, Nahor, and Haran, and Haran became the father of Lot.

²⁹Abram and Nahor took wives; the name of Abram's wife was Sarai, and the name of Nahor's wife was Milcah, daughter of Haran, the father of Milcah and Iscah.

³⁰Sarai was barren; she had no child.

³¹Terah took his son Abram, his grandson Lot, son of Haran, and his daughter-in-law Sarai, the wife of his son Abram, and brought them out of Ur of the Chaldeans, to go to the land of Canaan. But when they reached Haran, they settled there.

³²The lifetime of Terah was two hundred and five years; then Terah died in Haran.

12The LORD said to Abram: "Go forth from the land of your kinsfolk and from your father's house to a land that I will show you.

²"I will make of you a great nation, and I will bless you; I will make your name great, so that you will be a blessing.

³I will bless those who bless you and curse those who curse you. All the communities of the earth shall find blessing in you."

⁴Abram went as the LORD directed him, and Lot went with him. Abram was seventy-five years old when he left Haran.

⁵Abram took his wife Sarai, his brother's son Lot, all the possessions that they had accumulated, and the persons they had acquired in Haran, and they set out for the land of Canaan. When they came to the land of Canaan,

⁶Abram passed through the land as far as the sacred place at Shechem, by the terebinth of Moreh. (The Canaanites were then in the land.)

⁷The LORD appeared to Abram and said, "To your descendants I will give this land." So Abram built an altar there to the LORD who had appeared to him.

⁸From there he moved on to the hill country east of Bethel, pitching his tent with Bethel to the west and Ai to the east. He built an altar there to the LORD and invoked the LORD by name.

⁹Then Abram journeyed on by stages to the Negeb.

¹⁰There was famine in the land; so Abram went down to Egypt to sojourn there, since the famine in the land was severe.

¹¹When he was about to enter Egypt, he said to his wife Sarai: "I know well how beautiful a woman you are.

¹²When the Egyptians see you, they will say, 'She is his wife'; then they will kill me, but let you live.

¹³Please say, therefore, that you are my sister, so that it may go well with me on your account and my life may be spared for your sake."

¹⁴When Abram came to Egypt, the Egyptians saw how beautiful the woman was; and when Pharaoh's courtiers saw her, ¹⁵they praised her to Pharaoh. So she was taken into Pharaoh's palace.

¹⁶On her account it went very well with Abram, and he received flocks and herds, male and female slaves, male and female asses, and camels.

¹⁸Then Pharaoh summoned Abram and said to him: "How could you do this to me! Why didn't you tell me she was your wife?

¹⁹Why did you say, 'She is my sister,' so that I took her for my wife? Here, then, is your wife. Take her and be gone!"

²⁰Then Pharaoh gave men orders concerning him, and they sent him on his way, with his wife and all that belonged to him.

13 From Egypt Abram went up to the Negeb with his wife and all that belonged to him, and Lot accompanied him.

² Now Abram was very rich in livestock, silver, and gold.

³ From the Negeb he traveled by stages toward Bethel, to the place between Bethel and Ai where his tent had formerly stood,

⁴ the site where he had first built the altar; and there he invoked the LORD by name.

⁵ Lot, who went with Abram, also had flocks and herds and tents,

⁶ so that the land could not support them if they stayed together; their possessions were so great that they could not dwell together.

⁷ There were quarrels between the herdsmen of Abram's livestock and those of Lot's. (At this time the Canaanites and the Perizzites were occupying the land.)

⁸ So Abram said to Lot: "Let there be no strife between you and me, or between your herdsmen and mine, for we are kinsmen.

⁹ Is not the whole land at your disposal? Please separate from me. If you prefer the left, I will go to the right; if you prefer the right, I will go to the left."

¹⁰ Lot looked about and saw how well watered the whole Jordan Plain was as far as Zoar, like the LORD'S own garden, or like Egypt. (This was before the LORD had destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah.)

¹¹ Lot, therefore, chose for himself the whole Jordan Plain and set out eastward. Thus they separated from each other;

¹² Abram stayed in the land of Canaan, while Lot settled among the cities of the Plain, pitching his tents near Sodom.

¹³ Now the inhabitants of Sodom were very wicked in the sins they committed against the LORD.

¹⁴ After Lot had left, the LORD said to Abram: "Look about you, and from where you are, gaze to the north and south, east and west;

¹⁵all the land that you see I will give to you and your descendants forever.

¹⁶I will make your descendants like the dust of the earth; if anyone could count the dust of the earth, your descendants too might be counted.

¹⁷Set forth and walk about in the land, through its length and breadth, for to you I will give it."

¹⁸Abram moved his tents and went on to settle near the terebinth of Mamre, which is at Hebron. There he built an altar to the LORD.

14In the days of . . . , Amraphel king of Shinar, Arioch king of Ellasar, Chedorlaomer king of Elam, and Tidal king of Goiim

²made war on Bera king of Sodom, Birsha king of Gomorrah, Shinab king of Admah, Shemeber king of Zeboiim, and the king of Bela (that is, Zoar).

³All the latter kings joined forces in the Valley of Siddim (that is, the Salt Sea).

⁴For twelve years they had been subject to Chedorlaomer, but in the thirteenth year they rebelled.

⁵In the fourteenth year Chedorlaomer and the kings allied with him came and defeated the Rephaim in Ashteroth-karnaim, the Zuzim in Ham, the Emim in Shaveh-kiriathaim, ⁶and the Horites in the hill country of Seir, as far as Elparan, close by the wilderness.

⁷They then turned back and came to Enmishpat (that is, Kadesh), and they subdued the whole country both of the Amalekites and of the Amorites who dwelt in Hazazon-tamar.

⁸Thereupon the king of Sodom, the king of Gomorrah, the king of Admah, the king of Zeboiim, and the king of Bela (that is, Zoar) marched out, and in the Valley of Siddim they went into battle against them:

¹⁰Now the Valley of Siddim was full of bitumen pits; and as the kings of Sodom and Gomorrah fled, they fell into these, while the rest fled to the mountains.

¹¹The victors seized all the possessions and food supplies of Sodom and Gomorrah and then went their way, ¹²taking with them Abram's nephew Lot, who had been living in Sodom, as well as his possessions.

¹³A fugitive came and brought the news to Abram the Hebrew, who was camping at the terebinth of Mamre the Amorite, a kinsman of Eshcol and Aner; these were in league with Abram.

¹⁴When Abram heard that his nephew had been captured, he mustered three hundred and eighteen of his retainers, born in his house, and went in pursuit as far as Dan.

¹⁵He and his party deployed against them at night, defeated them, and pursued them as far as Hobah, which is north of Damascus.

¹⁶He recovered all the possessions, besides bringing back his kinsman Lot and his possessions, along with the women and the other captives.

¹⁷When Abram returned from his victory over Chedorlaomer and the kings who were allied with him, the king of Sodom went out to greet him in the Valley of Shaveh (that is, the King's Valley).

¹⁸Melchizedek, king of Salem, brought out bread and wine, and being a priest of God Most High, he blessed Abram with these words:

¹⁹Blessed be Abram by God Most High, the creator of heaven and earth;

²⁰And blessed be God Most High, who delivered your foes into your hand." Then Abram gave him a tenth of everything.

²¹The king of Sodom said to Abram, "Give me the people; the goods you may keep."

²²But Abram replied to the king of Sodom: "I have sworn to the LORD, God Most High, the creator of heaven and earth,

²³that I would not take so much as a thread or a sandal strap from anything that is yours, lest you should say, 'I made Abram rich.'

²⁴Nothing for me except what my servants have used up and the share that is due to the men who joined me--Aner, Eshcol and Mamre; let them take their share."

15 Some time after these events, this word of the LORD came to Abram in a vision: "Fear not, Abram! I am your shield; I will make your reward very great."

²But Abram said, "O Lord GOD, what good will your gifts be, if I keep on being childless and have as my heir the steward of my house, Eliezer?"

³Abram continued, "See, you have given me no offspring, and so one of my servants will be my heir."

⁴Then the word of the LORD came to him: "No, that one shall not be your heir; your own issue shall be your heir."

⁵He took him outside and said: "Look up at the sky and count the stars, if you can. Just so," he added, "shall your descendants be."

⁶Abram put his faith in the LORD, who credited it to him as an act of righteousness.

⁷He then said to him, "I am the LORD who brought you from Ur of the Chaldeans to give you this land as a possession."

⁸"O Lord GOD," he asked, "How am I to know that I shall possess it?"

⁹He answered him, "Bring me a three-year-old heifer, a three-year-old she-goat, a three-year-old ram, a turtle-dove, and a young pigeon."

¹⁰He brought him all these, split them in two, and placed each half opposite the other; but the birds he did not cut up.

¹¹Birds of prey swooped down on the carcasses, but Abram stayed with them.

¹²As the sun was about to set, a trance fell upon Abram, and a deep, terrifying darkness enveloped him.

¹³Then the LORD said to Abram: "Know for certain that your descendants shall be aliens in a land not their own, where they shall be enslaved and oppressed for four hundred years.

¹⁴But I will bring judgment on the nation they must serve, and in the end they will depart with great wealth.

¹⁵You, however, shall join your forefathers in peace; you shall be buried at a contented old age.

¹⁶In the fourth time-span the others shall come back here; the wickedness of the Amorites will not have reached its full measure until then."

¹⁷When the sun had set and it was dark, there appeared a smoking brazier and a flaming torch, which passed between those pieces.

¹⁸It was on that occasion that the LORD made a covenant with Abram, saying: "To your descendants I give this land, from the Wadi of Egypt to the Great River (the Euphrates),

¹⁹the land of the Kenites, the Kenizzites, the Kadmonites,

²⁰the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Rephaim,

²¹the Amorites, the Canaanites, the Girgashites, and the Jebusites."

16 Abram's wife Sarai had borne him no children. She had, however, an Egyptian maidservant named Hagar.

²Sarai said to Abram: "The LORD has kept me from bearing children. Have intercourse, then, with my maid; perhaps I shall have sons through her." Abram heeded Sarai's request.

³Thus, after Abram had lived ten years in the land of Canaan, his wife Sarai took her maid, Hagar the Egyptian, and gave her to her husband Abram to be his concubine.

⁴He had intercourse with her, and she became pregnant. When she became aware of her pregnancy, she looked on her mistress with disdain.

⁵So Sarai said to Abram: "You are responsible for this outrage against me. I myself gave my maid to your embrace; but ever since she became aware of her pregnancy, she has been looking on me with disdain. May the LORD decide between you and me!"

⁶Abram told Sarai: "Your maid is in your power. Do to her whatever you please." Sarai then abused her so much that Hagar ran away from her.

⁷The LORD'S messenger found her by a spring in the wilderness, the spring on the road to Shur,

⁸and he asked, "Hagar, maid of Sarai, where have you come from and where are you going?" She answered, "I am running away from my mistress, Sarai."

⁹But the LORD'S messenger told her: "Go back to your mistress and submit to her abusive treatment.

¹⁰I will make your descendants so numerous," added the LORD'S messenger, "that they will be too many to count.

¹¹Besides," the LORD'S messenger said to her: "You are now pregnant and shall bear a son; you shall name him Ishmael, For the LORD has heard you, God has answered you.

¹²He shall be a wild ass of a man, his hand against everyone, and everyone's hand against him; In opposition to all his kin shall he encamp."

¹³To the LORD who spoke to her she gave a name, saying, "You are the God of Vision"; she meant, "Have I really seen God and remained alive after my vision?"

¹⁴That is why the well is called Beer-lahai-roi. It is between Kadesh and Bered.

¹⁵Hagar bore Abram a son, and Abram named the son whom Hagar bore him Ishmael.

¹⁶Abram was eighty-six years old when Hagar bore him Ishmael.

17 When Abram was ninety-nine years old, the LORD appeared to him and said: "I am God the Almighty. Walk in my presence and be blameless.

²Between you and me I will establish my covenant, and I will multiply you exceedingly."

³When Abram prostrated himself, God continued to speak to him:

⁴"My covenant with you is this: you are to become the father of a host of nations.

⁵No longer shall you be called Abram; your name shall be Abraham, for I am making you the father of a host of nations.

⁶I will render you exceedingly fertile; I will make nations of you; kings shall stem from you.

⁷I will maintain my covenant with you and your descendants after you throughout the ages as an everlasting pact, to be your God and the God of your descendants after you.

⁸I will give to you and to your descendants after you the land in which you are now staying, the whole land of Canaan, as a permanent possession; and I will be their God."

⁹God also said to Abraham: "On your part, you and your descendants after you must keep my covenant throughout the ages.

¹⁰This is my covenant with you and your descendants after you that you must keep: every male among you shall be circumcised.

¹¹Circumcise the flesh of your foreskin, and that shall be the mark of the covenant between you and me.

¹²Throughout the ages, every male among you, when he is eight days old, shall be circumcised, including houseborn slaves and those acquired with money from any foreigner who is not of your blood.

¹³Yes, both the houseborn slaves and those acquired with money must be circumcised. Thus my covenant shall be in your flesh as an everlasting pact.

¹⁴If a male is uncircumcised, that is, if the flesh of his foreskin has not been cut away, such a one shall be cut off from his people; he has broken my covenant."

¹⁵God further said to Abraham: "As for your wife Sarai, do not call her Sarai; her name shall be Sarah.

¹⁶I will bless her, and I will give you a son by her. Him also will I bless; he shall give rise to nations, and rulers of peoples shall issue from him."

¹⁷Abraham prostrated himself and laughed as he said to himself, "Can a child be born to a man who is a hundred years old? Or can Sarah give birth at ninety?"

¹⁸Then Abraham said to God, "Let but Ishmael live on by your favor!"

¹⁹God replied: "Nevertheless, your wife Sarah is to bear you a son, and you shall call him Isaac. I will maintain my covenant with him as an everlasting pact, to be his God and the God of his descendants after him.

²⁰As for Ishmael, I am heeding you: I hereby bless him. I will make him fertile and will multiply him exceedingly. He shall become the father of twelve chieftains, and I will make of him a great nation.

²¹But my covenant I will maintain with Isaac, whom Sarah shall bear to you by this time next year."

²²When he had finished speaking with him, God departed from Abraham.

²³Then Abraham took his son Ishmael and all his slaves, whether born in his house or acquired with his money--every male among the members of Abraham's household--and he circumcised the flesh of their foreskins on that same day, as God had told him to do.

²⁴Abraham was ninety-nine years old when the flesh of his foreskin was circumcised,

²⁵and his son Ishmael was thirteen years old when the flesh of his foreskin was circumcised.

²⁶Thus, on that same day Abraham and his son Ishmael were circumcised;

²⁷and all the male members of his household, including the slaves born in his house or acquired with his money from foreigners, were circumcised with him.

18The LORD appeared to Abraham by the terebinth of Mamre, as he sat in the entrance of his tent, while the day was growing hot.

²Looking up, he saw three men standing nearby. When he saw them, he ran from the entrance of the tent to greet them; and bowing to the ground, ³he said: "Sir, if I may ask you this favor, please do not go on past your servant.

⁴Let some water be brought, that you may bathe your feet, and then rest yourselves under the tree.

⁵Now that you have come this close to your servant, let me bring you a little food, that you may refresh yourselves; and afterward you may go on your way." "Very well," they replied, "do as you have said."

⁶Abraham hastened into the tent and told Sarah, "Quick, three seahs of fine flour! Knead it and make rolls."

⁷He ran to the herd, picked out a tender, choice steer, and gave it to a servant, who quickly prepared it.

⁸Then he got some curds and milk, as well as the steer that had been prepared, and set these before them; and he waited on them under the tree while they ate.

⁹"Where is your wife Sarah?" they asked him. "There in the tent," he replied.

¹⁰One of them said, "I will surely return to you about this time next year, and Sarah will then have a son." Sarah was listening at the entrance of the tent, just behind him.

¹¹Now Abraham and Sarah were old, advanced in years, and Sarah had stopped having her womanly periods.

¹²So Sarah laughed to herself and said, "Now that I am so withered and my husband is so old, am I still to have sexual pleasure?"

¹³But the LORD said to Abraham: "Why did Sarah laugh and say, 'Shall I really bear a child, old as I am?'"

¹⁴Is anything too marvelous for the LORD to do? At the appointed time, about this time next year, I will return to you, and Sarah will have a son."

¹⁵Because she was afraid, Sarah dissembled, saying, "I didn't laugh." But he said, "Yes you did."

¹⁶The men set out from there and looked down toward Sodom; Abraham was walking with them, to see them on their way.

¹⁷The LORD reflected: "Shall I hide from Abraham what I am about to do, ¹⁸now that he is to become a great and populous nation, and all the nations of the earth are to find blessing in him?"

¹⁹Indeed, I have singled him out that he may direct his sons and his posterity to keep the way of the LORD by doing what is right and just, so that the LORD may carry into effect for Abraham the promises he made about him."

²⁰Then the LORD said: "The outcry against Sodom and Gomorrah is so great, and their sin so grave, ²¹that I must go down and see whether or not their actions fully correspond to the cry against them that comes to me. I mean to find out."

²²While the two men walked on farther toward Sodom, the LORD remained standing before Abraham.

²³Then Abraham drew nearer to him and said: "Will you sweep away the innocent with the guilty?

²⁴Suppose there were fifty innocent people in the city; would you wipe out the place, rather than spare it for the sake of the fifty innocent people within it?

²⁵Far be it from you to do such a thing, to make the innocent die with the guilty, so that the innocent and the guilty would be treated alike! Should not the judge of all the world act with justice?"

²⁶The LORD replied, "If I find fifty innocent people in the city of Sodom, I will spare the whole place for their sake."

²⁷Abraham spoke up again: "See how I am presuming to speak to my Lord, though I am but dust and ashes!

²⁸What if there are five less than fifty innocent people? Will you destroy the whole city because of those five?" "I will not destroy it," he answered, "if I find forty-five there."

²⁹But Abraham persisted, saying, "What if only forty are found there?" He replied, "I will forebear doing it for the sake of the forty."

³⁰Then he said, "Let not my Lord grow impatient if I go on. What if only thirty are found there?" He replied, "I will forebear doing it if I can find but thirty there."

³¹Still he went on, "Since I have thus dared to speak to my Lord, what if there are no more than twenty?" "I will not destroy it," he answered, "for the sake of the twenty."

³²But he still persisted: "Please, let not my Lord grow angry if I speak up this last time. What if there are at least ten there?" "For the sake of those ten," he replied, "I will not destroy it."

³³The LORD departed as soon as he had finished speaking with Abraham, and Abraham returned home.

19The two angels reached Sodom in the evening, as Lot was sitting at the gate of Sodom. When Lot saw them, he got up to greet them; and bowing down with his face to the ground,

²he said, "Please, gentlemen, come aside into your servant's house for the night, and bathe your feet; you can get up early to continue your journey." But they replied, "No, we shall pass the night in the town square."

³He urged them so strongly, however, that they turned aside to his place and entered his house. He prepared a meal for them, baking cakes without leaven, and they dined.

⁴Before they went to bed, all the townsmen of Sodom, both young and old--all the people to the last man--closed in on the house.

⁵They called to Lot and said to him, "Where are the men who came to your house tonight? Bring them out to us that we may have intimacies with them."

⁶Lot went out to meet them at the entrance. When he had shut the door behind him, ⁷he said, "I beg you, my brothers, not to do this wicked thing.

⁸I have two daughters who have never had intercourse with men. Let me bring them out to you, and you may do to them as you please. But don't do anything to these men, for you know they have come under the shelter of my roof."

⁹They replied, "Stand back! This fellow," they sneered, "came here as an immigrant, and now he dares to give orders! We'll treat you worse than them!" With that, they pressed hard against Lot, moving in closer to break down the door.

¹¹at the same time they struck the men at the entrance of the house, one and all, with such a blinding light that they were utterly unable to reach the doorway.

¹²Then the angels said to Lot: "Who else belongs to you here? Your sons (sons-in-law) and your daughters and all who belong to you in the city--take them away from it!"

¹³We are about to destroy this place, for the outcry reaching the LORD against those in the city is so great that he has sent us to destroy it."

¹⁴So Lot went out and spoke to his sons-in-law, who had contracted marriage with his daughters. "Get up and leave this place," he told them; "the LORD is about to destroy the city." But his sons-in-law thought he was joking.

¹⁵As dawn was breaking, the angels urged Lot on, saying, "On your way! Take with you your wife and your two daughters who are here, or you will be swept away in the punishment of the city."

¹⁶When he hesitated, the men, by the LORD'S mercy, seized his hand and the hands of his wife and his two daughters and led them to safety outside the city.

¹⁷As soon as they had been brought outside, he was told: "Flee for your life! Don't look back or stop anywhere on the Plain. Get off to the hills at once, or you will be swept away."

¹⁸"Oh, no, my lord!" replied Lot.

¹⁹"You have already thought enough of your servant to do me the great kindness of intervening to save my life. But I cannot flee to the hills to keep the disaster from overtaking me, and so I shall die.

²⁰Look, this town ahead is near enough to escape to. It's only a small place. Let me flee there--it's a small place, isn't it?--that my life may be saved."

²¹"Well, then," he replied, "I will also grant you the favor you now ask. I will not overthrow the town you speak of.

²²Hurry, escape there! I cannot do anything until you arrive there." That is why the town is called Zoar.

²³The sun was just rising over the earth as Lot arrived in Zoar;

²⁴at the same time the LORD rained down sulphurous fire upon Sodom and Gomorrah (from the LORD out of heaven).

²⁵He overthrew those cities and the whole Plain, together with the inhabitants of the cities and the produce of the soil.

²⁶But Lot's wife looked back, and she was turned into a pillar of salt.

²⁷Early the next morning Abraham went to the place where he had stood in the LORD'S presence.

²⁸As he looked down toward Sodom and Gomorrah and the whole region of the Plain, he saw dense smoke over the land rising like fumes from a furnace.

²⁹Thus it came to pass: when God destroyed the Cities of the Plain, he was mindful of Abraham by sending Lot away from the upheaval by which God overthrew the cities where Lot had been living.

³⁰Since Lot was afraid to stay in Zoar, he and his two daughters went up from Zoar and settled in the hill country, where he lived with his two daughters in a cave.

³¹The older one said to the younger: "Our father is getting old, and there is not a man on earth to unite with us as was the custom everywhere.

³²Come, let us ply our father with wine and then lie with him, that we may have offspring by our father."

³³So that night they plied their father with wine, and the older one went in and lay with her father; but he was not aware of her lying down or her getting up.

³⁴Next day the older one said to the younger: "Last night it was I who lay with my father. Let us ply him with wine again tonight, and then you go in and lie with him, that we may both have offspring by our father."

³⁵So that night, too, they plied their father with wine, and then the younger one went in and lay with him; but again he was not aware of her lying down or her getting up.

³⁶Thus both of Lot's daughters became pregnant by their father.

³⁷The older one gave birth to a son whom she named Moab, saying, "From my father." He is the ancestor of the Moabites of today.

³⁸The younger one, too, gave birth to a son, and she named him Ammon, saying, "The son of my kin." He is the ancestor of the Ammonites of today.

20 Abraham journeyed on to the region of the Negeb, where he settled between Kadesh and Shur. While he stayed in Gerar, ²he said of his wife Sarah, "She is my sister." So Abimelech, king of Gerar, sent and took Sarah.

³But God came to Abimelech in a dream one night and said to him, "You are about to die because of the woman you have taken, for she has a husband."

⁴Abimelech, who had not approached her, said: "O Lord, would you slay a man even though he is innocent?"

⁵He himself told me, 'She is my sister,' and she herself also stated, 'He is my brother.' I did it in good faith and with clean hands."

⁶God answered him in the dream: "Yes, I know you did it in good faith. In fact, it was I who kept you from sinning against me; that is why I did not let you touch her.

⁷Therefore, return the man's wife--as a spokesman he will intercede for you--that your life may be saved. If you do not return her, you can be sure that you and all who are yours will certainly die."

⁸Early the next morning Abimelech called all his court officials and informed them of everything that had happened, and the men were horrified.

⁹Then Abimelech summoned Abraham and said to him: "How could you do this to us! What wrong did I do to you that you should have brought such monstrous guilt on me and my kingdom? You have treated me in an intolerable way.

¹⁰"What were you afraid of," he asked him, "that you should have done such a thing?"

¹¹"I was afraid," answered Abraham, "because I thought there would surely be no fear of God in this place, and so they would kill me on account of my wife.

¹²Besides, she is in truth my sister, but only my father's daughter, not my mother's; and so she became my wife.

¹³When God sent me wandering from my father's house, I asked her: 'Would you do me this favor? In whatever place we come to, say that I am your brother.'"

¹⁴Then Abimelech took flocks and herds and male and female slaves and gave them to Abraham; and after he restored his wife Sarah to him,

¹⁵he said, "Here, my land lies at your disposal; settle wherever you please."

¹⁶To Sarah he said: "See, I have given your brother a thousand shekels of silver. Let that serve you as a vindication before all who are with you; your honor has been preserved with everyone."

¹⁷Abraham then interceded with God, and God restored health to Abimelech, that is, to his wife and his maidservants, so that they could bear children;

¹⁸for God had tightly closed every womb in Abimelech's household on account of Abraham's wife Sarah.

21 The LORD took note of Sarah as he had said he would; he did for her as he had promised.

²Sarah became pregnant and bore Abraham a son in his old age, at the set time that God had stated.

³Abraham gave the name Isaac to this son of his whom Sarah bore him.

⁴When his son Isaac was eight days old, Abraham circumcised him, as God had commanded.

⁵Abraham was a hundred years old when his son Isaac was born to him.

⁶Sarah then said, "God has given me cause to laugh, and all who hear of it will laugh with me.

⁷Who would have told Abraham," she added, "that Sarah would nurse children! Yet I have borne him a son in his old age."

⁸Isaac grew, and on the day of the child's weaning, Abraham held a great feast.

⁹Sarah noticed the son whom Hagar the Egyptian had borne to Abraham playing with her son Isaac;

¹⁰so she demanded of Abraham: "Drive out that slave and her son! No son of that slave is going to share the inheritance with my son Isaac!"

¹¹Abraham was greatly distressed, especially on account of his son Ishmael.

¹²But God said to Abraham: "Do not be distressed about the boy or about your slave woman. Heed the demands of Sarah, no matter what she is asking of you; for it is through Isaac that descendants shall bear your name.

¹³As for the son of the slave woman, I will make a great nation of him also, since he too is your offspring."

¹⁴Early the next morning Abraham got some bread and a skin of water and gave them to Hagar. Then, placing the child on her back, he sent her away. As she roamed aimlessly in the wilderness of Beer-sheba,

¹⁵the water in the skin was used up. So she put the child down under a shrub,

¹⁶and then went and sat down opposite him, about a bowshot away; for she said to herself, "Let me not watch to see the child die." As she sat opposite him, he began to cry.

¹⁷God heard the boy's cry, and God's messenger called to Hagar from heaven: "What is the matter, Hagar? Don't be afraid; God has heard the boy's cry in this plight of his.

¹⁸Arise, lift up the boy and hold him by the hand; for I will make of him a great nation."

¹⁹Then God opened her eyes, and she saw a well of water. She went and filled the skin with water, and then let the boy drink.

²⁰God was with the boy as he grew up. He lived in the wilderness and became an expert bowman, ²¹with his home in the wilderness of Paran. His mother got a wife for him from the land of Egypt.

²²About that time Abimelech, accompanied by Phicol, the commander of his army, said to Abraham: "God is with you in everything you do.

²³Therefore, swear to me by God at this place that you will not deal falsely with me or with my progeny and posterity, but will act as loyally toward me and the land in which you stay as I have acted toward you."

²⁴To this Abraham replied, "I so swear."

²⁵Abraham, however, reproached Abimelech about a well that Abimelech's men had seized by force.

²⁶"I have no idea who did that," Abimelech replied. "In fact, you never told me about it, nor did I ever hear of it until now."

²⁷Then Abraham took sheep and cattle and gave them to Abimelech and the two made a pact.

²⁸Abraham also set apart seven ewe lambs of the flock,

²⁹and Abimelech asked him, "What is the purpose of these seven ewe lambs that you have set apart?"

³⁰Abraham answered, "The seven ewe lambs you shall accept from me that thus I may have your acknowledgment that the well was dug by me."

³¹This is why the place is called Beer-sheba; the two took an oath there.

³²When they had thus made the pact in Beer-sheba, Abimelech, along with Phicol, the commander of his army, left and returned to the land of the Philistines.

³³Abraham planted a tamarisk at Beer-sheba, and there he invoked by name the LORD, God the Eternal.

³⁴Abraham resided in the land of the Philistines for many years.

22 Some time after these events, God put Abraham to the test. He called to him, "Abraham!" "Ready!" he replied.

²Then God said: "Take your son Isaac, your only one, whom you love, and go to the land of Moriah. There you shall offer him up as a holocaust on a height that I will point out to you."

³Early the next morning Abraham saddled his donkey, took with him his son Isaac, and two of his servants as well, and with the wood that he had cut for the holocaust, set out for the place of which God had told him.

⁴On the third day Abraham got sight of the place from afar.

⁵Then he said to his servants: "Both of you stay here with the donkey, while the boy and I go on over yonder. We will worship and then come back to you."

⁶Thereupon Abraham took the wood for the holocaust and laid it on his son Isaac's shoulders, while he himself carried the fire and the knife.

⁷As the two walked on together, Isaac spoke to his father Abraham. "Father!" he said. "Yes, son," he replied. Isaac continued, "Here are the fire and the wood, but where is the sheep for the holocaust?"

⁸"Son," Abraham answered, "God himself will provide the sheep for the holocaust." Then the two continued going forward.

⁹When they came to the place of which God had told him, Abraham built an altar there and arranged the wood on it. Next he tied up his son Isaac, and put him on top of the wood on the altar.

¹⁰Then he reached out and took the knife to slaughter his son.

¹¹But the LORD'S messenger called to him from heaven, "Abraham, Abraham!" "Yes, Lord," he answered.

¹²"Do not lay your hand on the boy," said the messenger. "Do not do the least thing to him. I know now how devoted you are to God, since you did not withhold from me your own beloved son."

¹³As Abraham looked about, he spied a ram caught by its horns in the thicket. So he went and took the ram and offered it up as a holocaust in place of his son.

¹⁴Abraham named the site Yahweh-yireh; hence people now say, "On the mountain the LORD will see."

¹⁵Again the LORD'S messenger called to Abraham from heaven

¹⁶and said: "I swear by myself, declares the LORD, that because you acted as you did in not withholding from me your beloved son,

¹⁷I will bless you abundantly and make your descendants as countless as the stars of the sky and the sands of the seashore; your descendants shall take possession of the gates of their enemies,

¹⁸and in your descendants all the nations of the earth shall find blessing--all this because you obeyed my command."

¹⁹Abraham then returned to his servants, and they set out together for Beer-sheba, where Abraham made his home.

²⁰Some time afterward, the news came to Abraham: "Milcah too has borne sons, to your brother Nahor:

²¹Uz, his first-born, his brother Buz, Kemuel (the father of Aram),

²²Chesed, Hazo, Pildash, Jidlaph, and Bethuel."

²³Bethuel became the father of Rebekah. These eight Milcah bore to Abraham's brother Nahor.

²⁴His concubine, whose name was Reumah, also bore children: Tebah, Gaham, Tahash, and Maacah.

23 The span of Sarah's life was one hundred and twenty-seven years.

²She died in Kiriatharba (that is, Hebron) in the land of Canaan, and Abraham performed the customary mourning rites for her.

⁴"Although I am a resident alien among you, sell me from your holdings a piece of property for a burial ground, that I may bury my dead wife."

⁵The Hittites answered Abraham: "Please, sir,

⁶listen to us! You are an elect of God among us. Bury your dead in the choicest of our burial sites. None of us would deny you his burial ground for the burial of your dead."

⁷Abraham, however, began to bow low before the local citizens, the Hittites,

⁸while he appealed to them: "If you will allow me room for burial of my dead, listen to me! Intercede for me with Ephron, son of Zohar, asking him

⁹to sell me the cave of Machpelah that he owns; it is at the edge of his field. Let him sell it to me in your presence, at its full price, for a burial place."

¹⁰Now Ephron was present with the Hittites. So Ephron the Hittite replied to Abraham in the hearing of the Hittites who sat on his town council:

¹¹"Please, sir, listen to me! I give you both the field and the cave in it; in the presence of my kinsmen I make this gift. Bury your dead!"

¹²But Abraham, after bowing low before the local citizens, addressed Ephron in the hearing of these men:

¹³"Ah, if only you would please listen to me! I will pay you the price of the field. Accept it from me, that I may bury my dead there."

¹⁴Ephron replied to Abraham, "Please,

¹⁵sir, listen to me! A piece of land worth four hundred shekels of silver--what is that between you and me, as long as you can bury your dead?"

¹⁶Abraham accepted Ephron's terms; he weighed out to him the silver that Ephron had stipulated in the hearing of the Hittites, four hundred shekels of silver at the current market value.

¹⁷Thus Ephron's field in Machpelah, facing Mamre, together with its cave and all the trees anywhere within its limits, was conveyed ¹⁸to Abraham by purchase in the presence of all the Hittites who sat on Ephron's town council.

¹⁹After this transaction, Abraham buried his wife Sarah in the cave of the field of Machpelah, facing Mamre (that is, Hebron) in the land of Canaan.

²⁰Thus the field with its cave was transferred from the Hittites to Abraham as a burial place.

24 Abraham had now reached a ripe old age, and the LORD had blessed him in every way.

²Abraham said to the senior servant of his household, who had charge of all his possessions: "Put your hand under my thigh,

³and I will make you swear by the LORD, the God of heaven and the God of earth, that you will not procure a wife for my son from the daughters of the Canaanites among whom I live,

⁴but that you will go to my own land and to my kindred to get a wife for my son Isaac."

⁵The servant asked him: "What if the woman is unwilling to follow me to this land? Should I then take your son back to the land from which you migrated?"

⁶"Never take my son back there for any reason," Abraham told him.

⁷"The LORD, the God of heaven, who took me from my father's house and the land of my kin, and who confirmed by oath the promise he then made to me, 'I will give this land to your descendants'--he will send his messenger before you, and you will obtain a wife for my son there.

⁸If the woman is unwilling to follow you, you will be released from this oath. But never take my son back there!"

¹⁰The servant then took ten of his master's camels, and bearing all kinds of gifts from his master, he made his way to the city of Nahor in Aram Naharaim.

¹¹Near evening, at the time when women go out to draw water, he made the camels kneel by the well outside the city.

¹²Then he prayed: "LORD, God of my master Abraham, let it turn out favorably for me today and thus deal graciously with my master Abraham.

¹⁴if I say to a girl, 'Please lower your jug, that I may drink,' and she answers, 'Take a drink, and let me give water to your camels, too,' let her be the one whom you have decided upon for your servant Isaac. In this way I shall know that you have dealt graciously with my master."

¹⁵He had scarcely finished these words when Rebekah (who was born to Bethuel, son of Milcah, the wife of Abraham's brother Nahor) came out with a jug on her shoulder.

¹⁶The girl was very beautiful, a virgin, untouched by man. She went down to the spring and filled her jug. As she came up,

¹⁷the servant ran toward her and said, "Please give me a sip of water from your jug."

¹⁹When she had let him drink his fill, she said, "I will draw water for your camels, too, until they have drunk their fill."

²⁰With that, she quickly emptied her jug into the drinking trough and ran back to the well to draw more water, until she had drawn enough for all the camels.

²¹The man watched her the whole time, silently waiting to learn whether or not the LORD had made his errand successful.

²²When the camels had finished drinking, the man took out a gold ring weighing half a shekel, which he fastened on her nose, and two gold bracelets weighing ten shekels, which he put on her wrists.

²³Then he asked her: "Whose daughter are you? Tell me, please. And is there room in your father's house for us to spend the night?"

²⁴She answered: "I am the daughter of Bethuel the son of Milcah, whom she bore to Nahor.

²⁵There is plenty of straw and fodder at our place," she added, "and room to spend the night."

²⁶The man then bowed down in worship to the LORD,

²⁷saying: "Blessed be the LORD, the God of my master Abraham, who has not let his constant kindness toward my master fail. As for myself also, the LORD has led me straight to the house of my master's brother."

²⁹Now Rebekah had a brother named Laban.

³⁰As soon as he saw the ring and the bracelets on his sister Rebekah and heard her words about what the man had said to her, Laban rushed outside to the man at the spring. When he reached him, he was still standing by the camels at the spring.

³¹So he said to him: "Come, blessed of the LORD! Why are you staying outside when I have made the house ready for you, as well as a place for the camels?"

³²The man then went inside; and while the camels were being unloaded and provided with straw and fodder, water was brought to bathe his feet and the feet of the men who were with him.

³³But when the table was set for him, he said, "I will not eat until I have told my tale." "Do so," they replied.

³⁴"I am Abraham's servant," he began.

³⁵"The LORD has blessed my master so abundantly that he has become a wealthy man; he has given him flocks and herds, silver and gold, male and female slaves, and camels and asses.

³⁶My master's wife Sarah bore a son to my master in her old age, and he has given him everything he owns.

³⁷My master put me under oath, saying: 'You shall not procure a wife for my son among the daughters of the Canaanites in whose land I live;

³⁸instead, you shall go to my father's house, to my own relatives, to get a wife for my son.'

³⁹When I asked my master, 'What if the woman will not follow me?,'

⁴⁰he replied: 'The LORD, in whose presence I have always walked, will send his messenger with you and make your errand successful, and so you will get a wife for my son from my own kindred of my father's house.

⁴¹Then you shall be released from my ban. If you visit my kindred and they refuse you, then, too, you shall be released from my ban.'

⁴²"When I came to the spring today, I prayed: 'LORD, God of my master Abraham, may it be your will to make successful the errand I am engaged on!

- ⁴³While I stand here at the spring, if I say to a young woman who comes out to draw water, Please give me a little water from your jug,
- ⁴⁴and she answers, Not only may you have a drink, but I will give water to your camels, too--let her be the woman whom the LORD has decided upon for my master's son.'
- ⁴⁵"I had scarcely finished saying this prayer to myself when Rebekah came out with a jug on her shoulder. After she went down to the spring and drew water, I said to her, 'Please let me have a drink.'
- ⁴⁶She quickly lowered the jug she was carrying and said, 'Take a drink, and let me bring water for your camels, too.' So I drank, and she watered the camels also.
- ⁴⁷When I asked her, 'Whose daughter are you?' she answered, 'The daughter of Bethuel, son of Nahor, borne to Nahor by Milcah.' So I put the ring on her nose and the bracelets on her wrists.
- ⁴⁸Then I bowed down in worship to the LORD, blessing the LORD, the God of my master Abraham, who had led me on the right road to obtain the daughter of my master's kinsman for his son.
- ⁴⁹If, therefore, you have in mind to show true loyalty to my master, let me know; but if not, let me know that, too. I can then proceed accordingly."
- ⁵⁰Laban and his household said in reply: "This thing comes from the LORD; we can say nothing to you either for or against it.
- ⁵¹Here is Rebekah, ready for you; take her with you, that she may become the wife of your master's son, as the LORD has said."
- ⁵²When Abraham's servant heard their answer, he bowed to the ground before the LORD.
- ⁵³Then he brought out objects of silver and gold and articles of clothing and presented them to Rebekah; he also gave costly presents to her brother and mother.
- ⁵⁴After he and the men with him had eaten and drunk, they spent the night there. When they were up the next morning, he said, "Give me leave to return to my master."

⁵⁵Her brother and mother replied, "Let the girl stay with us a short while, say ten days; after that she may go."

⁵⁶But he said to them, "Do not detain me, now that the LORD has made my errand successful; let me go back to my master."

⁵⁷They answered, "Let us call the girl and see what she herself has to say about it."

⁵⁸So they called Rebekah and asked her, "Do you wish to go with this man?" She answered, "I do."

⁵⁹At this they allowed their sister Rebekah and her nurse to take leave, along with Abraham's servant and his men.

⁶⁰Invoking a blessing on Rebekah, they said: "Sister, may you grow into thousands of myriads; And may your descendants gain possession of the gates of their enemies!"

⁶¹Then Rebekah and her maids started out; they mounted their camels and followed the man. So the servant took Rebekah and went on his way.

⁶²Meanwhile Isaac had gone from Beer-lahai-roi and was living in the region of the Negeb.

⁶³One day toward evening he went out. . . in the field, and as he looked around, he noticed that camels were approaching.

⁶⁴Rebekah, too, was looking about, and when she saw him, she alighted from her camel

⁶⁵and asked the servant, "Who is the man out there, walking through the fields toward us?" "That is my master," replied the servant. Then she covered herself with her veil.

⁶⁶The servant recounted to Isaac all the things he had done.

⁶⁷Then Isaac took Rebekah into his tent; he married her, and thus she became his wife. In his love for her Isaac found solace after the death of his mother Sarah.

25 Abraham married another wife, whose name was Keturah.

³Jokshan became the father of Sheba and Dedan. The descendants of Dedan were the Asshurim, the Letushim, and the Leummim.

⁴The descendants of Midian were Ephah, Epher, Hanoch, Abida, and Eldaah. All of these were descendants of Keturah.

⁵Abraham deeded everything that he owned to his son Isaac.

⁶To his sons by concubinage, however, he made grants while he was still living, as he sent them away eastward, to the land of Kedem, away from his son Isaac.

⁸Then he breathed his last, dying at a ripe old age, grown old after a full life; and he was taken to his kinsmen.

⁹His sons Isaac and Ishmael buried him in the cave of Machpelah, in the field of Ephron, son of Zohar the Hittite, which faces Mamre, ¹⁰the field that Abraham had bought from the Hittites; there he was buried next to his wife Sarah.

¹¹After the death of Abraham, God blessed his son Isaac, who made his home near Beer-lahai-roi.

¹²These are the descendants of Abraham's son Ishmael, whom Hagar the Egyptian, Sarah's slave, bore to Abraham.

¹³These are the names of Ishmael's sons, listed in the order of their birth: Nebaioth (Ishmael's firstborn), Kedar, Adbeel, Mibsam,

¹⁵Hadad, Tema, Jetur, Naphish, and Kedemah.

¹⁶These are the sons of Ishmael, their names by their villages and encampments; twelve chieftains of as many tribal groups.

¹⁷The span of Ishmael's life was one hundred and thirty-seven years. After he had breathed his last and died, he was taken to his kinsmen.

¹⁸The Ishmaelites ranged from Havilah-by-Shur, which is on the border of Egypt, all the way to Asshur; and each of them pitched camp in opposition to his various kinsmen.

¹⁹This is the family history of Isaac, son of Abraham; Abraham had begotten Isaac.

²⁰Isaac was forty years old when he married Rebekah, the daughter of Bethuel the Aramean of Paddan-aram and the sister of Laban the Aramean.

²¹Isaac entreated the LORD on behalf of his wife, since she was sterile. The LORD heard his entreaty, and Rebekah became pregnant.

²²But the children in her womb jostled each other so much that she exclaimed, "If this is to be so, what good will it do me!" She went to consult the LORD,

²³and he answered her: "Two nations are in your womb, two peoples are quarreling while still within you; But one shall surpass the other, and the older shall serve the younger."

²⁴When the time of her delivery came, there were twins in her womb.

²⁵The first to emerge was reddish, and his whole body was like a hairy mantle; so they named him Esau.

²⁶His brother came out next, gripping Esau's heel; so they named him Jacob. Isaac was sixty years old when they were born.

²⁷As the boys grew up, Esau became a skillful hunter, a man who lived in the open; whereas Jacob was a simple man, who kept to his tents.

²⁸Isaac preferred Esau, because he was fond of game; but Rebekah preferred Jacob.

²⁹Once, when Jacob was cooking a stew, Esau came in from the open, famished.

³⁰He said to Jacob, "Let me gulp down some of that red stuff; I'm starving." (That is why he was called Edom.)

³¹But Jacob replied, "First give me your birthright in exchange for it."

³²"Look," said Esau, "I'm on the point of dying. What good will any birthright do me?"

³³But Jacob insisted, "Swear to me first!" So he sold Jacob his birthright under oath.

³⁴ Jacob then gave him some bread and the lentil stew; and Esau ate, drank, got up, and went his way. Esau cared little for his birthright.

26 There was a famine in the land (distinct from the earlier one that had occurred in the days of Abraham), and Isaac went down to Abimelech, king of the Philistines in Gerar.

² The LORD appeared to him and said: "Do not go down to Egypt, but continue to camp wherever in this land I tell you.

³ Stay in this land, and I will be with you and bless you; for to you and your descendants I will give all these lands, in fulfillment of the oath that I swore to your father Abraham.

⁴ I will make your descendants as numerous as the stars in the sky and give them all these lands, and in your descendants all the nations of the earth shall find blessing--

⁵ this because Abraham obeyed me, keeping my mandate (my commandments, my ordinances, and my instructions)."

⁶ So Isaac settled in Gerar.

⁷ When the men of the place asked questions about his wife, he answered, "She is my sister." He was afraid, if he called her his wife, the men of the place would kill him on account of Rebekah, since she was very beautiful.

⁸ But when he had been there for a long time, Abimelech, king of the Philistines, happened to look out of a window and was surprised to see Isaac fondling his wife Rebekah.

⁹ He called for Isaac and said: "She must certainly be your wife! How could you have said, 'She is my sister'?" Isaac replied, "I thought I might lose my life on her account."

¹⁰ "How could you do this to us!" exclaimed Abimelech. "It would have taken very little for one of the men to lie with your wife, and you would have thus brought guilt upon us!"

¹¹ Abimelech therefore gave this warning to all his men: "Anyone who molests this man or his wife shall forthwith be put to death."

¹²Isaac sowed a crop in that region and reaped a hundredfold the same year. Since the LORD blessed him, ¹³he became richer and richer all the time, until he was very wealthy indeed.

¹⁴He acquired such flocks and herds, and so many work animals, that the Philistines became envious of him.

¹⁵(The Philistines had stopped up and filled with dirt all the wells that his father's servants had dug back in the days of his father Abraham.)

¹⁶So Abimelech said to Isaac, "Go away from us; you have become far too numerous for us."

¹⁹But when Isaac's servants dug in the wadi and reached spring water in their well,

²⁰the shepherds of Gerar quarreled with Isaac's servants, saying, "The water belongs to us!" So the well was called Esek, because they had challenged him there.

²¹Then they dug another well, and they quarreled over that one too; so it was called Sitnah.

²²When he had moved on from there, he dug still another well; but over this one they did not quarrel. It was called Rehoboth, because he said, "The LORD has now given us ample room, and we shall flourish in the land."

²³From there Isaac went up to Beer-sheba.

²⁴The same night the LORD appeared to him and said: "I am the God of your father Abraham. You have no need to fear, since I am with you. I will bless you and multiply your descendants for the sake of my servant Abraham."

²⁵So he built an altar there and invoked the LORD by name. After he had pitched his tent there, his servants began to dig a well nearby.

²⁶Abimelech had meanwhile come to him from Gerar, accompanied by Ahuzzath, his councilor, and Phicol, the general of his army.

²⁷Isaac asked them, "Why have you come to me, seeing that you hate me and have driven me away from you?"

²⁸They answered: "We are convinced that the LORD is with you, so we propose that there be a sworn agreement between our two sides--between you and us. Let us make a pact with you:

²⁹you shall not act unkindly toward us, just as we have not molested you, but have always acted kindly toward you and have let you depart in peace. Henceforth, 'The LORD'S blessing be upon you!'"

³⁰Isaac then made a feast for them, and they ate and drank.

³¹Early the next morning they exchanged oaths. Then Isaac bade them farewell, and they departed from him in peace.

³²That same day Isaac's servants came and brought him news about the well they had been digging; they told him, "We have reached water!"

³³He called it Shibah; hence the name of the city, Beer-sheba, to this day.

³⁴When Esau was forty years old, he married Judith, daughter of Beeri the Hittite, and Basemath, daughter of Elon the Hivite.

³⁵But they became a source of embitterment to Isaac and Rebekah.

27 When Isaac was so old that his eyesight had failed him, he called his older son Esau and said to him, "Son!" "Yes, father!" he replied.

²Isaac then said, "As you can see, I am so old that I may now die at any time.

³Take your gear, therefore--your quiver and bow--and go out into the country to hunt some game for me.

⁴With your catch prepare an appetizing dish for me, such as I like, and bring it to me to eat, so that I may give you my special blessing before I die."

⁵Rebekah had been listening while Isaac was speaking to his son Esau. So when Esau went out into the country to hunt some game for his father, ⁶Rebekah said to her son Jacob, "Listen! I overheard your father tell your brother Esau,

⁷"Bring me some game and with it prepare an appetizing dish for me to eat, that I may give you my blessing with the LORD'S approval before I die.'

⁸Now, son, listen carefully to what I tell you.

⁹Go to the flock and get me two choice kids. With these I will prepare an appetizing dish for your father, such as he likes.

¹⁰Then bring it to your father to eat, that he may bless you before he dies."

¹¹"But my brother Esau is a hairy man," said Jacob to his mother Rebekah, "and I am smooth-skinned!

¹²Suppose my father feels me? He will think I am making sport of him, and I shall bring on myself a curse instead of a blessing."

¹³His mother, however, replied: "Let any curse against you, son, fall on me! Just do as I say. Go and get me the kids."

¹⁴So Jacob went and got them and brought them to his mother; and with them she prepared an appetizing dish, such as his father liked.

¹⁵Rebekah then took the best clothes of her older son Esau that she had in the house, and gave them to her younger son Jacob to wear;

¹⁷Then she handed her son Jacob the appetizing dish and the bread she had prepared.

¹⁸Bringing them to his father, Jacob said, "Father!" "Yes?" replied Isaac. "Which of my sons are you?"

¹⁹Jacob answered his father: "I am Esau, your first-born. I did as you told me. Please sit up and eat some of my game, so that you may give me your special blessing."

²⁰But Isaac asked, "How did you succeed so quickly, son?" He answered, "The LORD, your God, let things turn out well with me."

²¹Isaac then said to Jacob, "Come closer, son, that I may feel you, to learn whether you really are my son Esau or not."

²²So Jacob moved up closer to his father. When Isaac felt him, he said, "Although the voice is Jacob's, the hands are Esau's."

²³(He failed to identify him because his hands were hairy, like those of his brother Esau; so in the end he gave him his blessing.)

²⁴Again he asked him, "Are you really my son Esau?" "Certainly," he replied.

²⁵Then Isaac said, "Serve me your game, son, that I may eat of it and then give you my blessing." Jacob served it to him, and Isaac ate; he brought him wine, and he drank.

²⁶Finally his father Isaac said to him, "Come closer, son, and kiss me."

²⁷As Jacob went up and kissed him, Isaac smelled the fragrance of his clothes. With that, he blessed him, saying, "Ah, the fragrance of my son is like the fragrance of a field that the LORD has blessed!

²⁸"May God give to you of the dew of the heavens And of the fertility of the earth abundance of grain and wine.

²⁹"Let peoples serve you, and nations pay you homage; Be master of your brothers, and may your mother's sons bow down to you. Cursed be those who curse you, and blessed be those who bless you."

³¹Then he too prepared an appetizing dish with his game, and bringing it to his father, he said, "Please, father, eat some of your son's game, that you may then give me your special blessing."

³²"Who are you?" his father Isaac asked him. "I am Esau," he replied, "your first-born son."

³³With that, Isaac was seized with a fit of uncontrollable trembling. "Who was it, then," he asked, "that hunted game and brought it to me? I finished eating it just before you came, and I blessed him. Now he must remain blessed!"

³⁴On hearing his father's words, Esau burst into loud, bitter sobbing. "Father, bless me too!" he begged.

³⁵When Isaac explained, "Your brother came here by a ruse and carried off your blessing,"

³⁶Esau exclaimed, "He has been well named Jacob! He has now supplanted me twice! First he took away my birthright, and now he has taken away my blessing." Then he pleaded, "Haven't you saved a blessing for me?"

³⁷Isaac replied: "I have already appointed him your master, and I have assigned to him all his kinsmen as his slaves; besides, I have enriched him with grain and wine. What then can I do for you, son?"

³⁸But Esau urged his father, "Have you only that one blessing, father? Bless me too!" Isaac, however, made no reply; and Esau wept aloud.

³⁹Finally Isaac spoke again and said to him: "Ah, far from the fertile earth shall be your dwelling; far from the dew of the heavens above!

⁴⁰"By your sword you shall live, and your brother you shall serve; But when you become restive, you shall throw off his yoke from your neck."

⁴¹Esau bore Jacob a grudge because of the blessing his father had given him. He said to himself, "When the time of mourning for my father comes, I will kill my brother Jacob."

⁴²When Rebekah got news of what her older son Esau had in mind, she called her younger son Jacob and said to him: "Listen! Your brother Esau intends to settle accounts with you by killing you.

⁴³Therefore, son, do what I tell you: flee at once to my brother Laban in Haran,

⁴⁴and stay with him a while until your brother's fury subsides

⁴⁵(until your brother's anger against you subsides) and he forgets what you did to him. Then I will send for you and bring you back. Must I lose both of you in a single day?"

⁴⁶Rebekah said to Isaac: "I am disgusted with life because of the Hittite women. If Jacob also should marry a Hittite woman, a native of the land, like these women, what good would life be to me?"

28 Isaac therefore called Jacob, greeted him with a blessing, and charged him: "You shall not marry a Canaanite woman!

²Go now to Paddan-aram, to the home of your mother's father Bethuel, and there choose a wife for yourself from among the daughters of your uncle Laban.

³May God Almighty bless you and make you fertile, multiply you that you may become an assembly of peoples.

⁴May he extend to you and your descendants the blessing he gave to Abraham, so that you may gain possession of the land where you are staying, which he assigned to Abraham."

⁵Then Isaac sent Jacob on his way; he went to Paddan-aram, to Laban, son of Bethuel the Aramean, and brother of Rebekah, the mother of Jacob and Esau.

⁶Esau noted that Isaac had blessed Jacob when he sent him to Paddan-aram to get himself a wife there, charging him, as he gave him his blessing, not to marry a Canaanite woman, ⁷and that Jacob had obeyed his father and mother and gone to Paddan-aram.

⁸Esau realized how displeasing the Canaanite women were to his father Isaac,

⁹so he went to Ishmael, and in addition to the wives he had, married Mahalath, the daughter of Abraham's son Ishmael and sister of Nebaioth.

¹⁰Jacob departed from Beer-sheba and proceeded toward Haran.

¹¹When he came upon a certain shrine, as the sun had already set, he stopped there for the night. Taking one of the stones at the shrine, he put it under his head and lay down to sleep at that spot.

¹²Then he had a dream: a stairway rested on the ground, with its top reaching to the heavens; and God's messengers were going up and down on it.

¹³And there was the LORD standing beside him and saying: "I, the LORD, am the God of your forefather Abraham and the God of Isaac; the land on which you are lying I will give to you and your descendants.

¹⁴These shall be as plentiful as the dust of the earth, and through them you shall spread out east and west, north and south. In you and your descendants all the nations of the earth shall find blessing.

¹⁵Know that I am with you; I will protect you wherever you go, and bring you back to this land. I will never leave you until I have done what I promised you."

¹⁶When Jacob awoke from his sleep, he exclaimed, "Truly, the LORD is in this spot, although I did not know it!"

¹⁷In solemn wonder he cried out: "How awesome is this shrine! This is nothing else but an abode of God, and that is the gateway to heaven!"

¹⁸Early the next morning Jacob took the stone that he had put under his head, set it up as a memorial stone, and poured oil on top of it.

¹⁹He called that site Bethel, whereas the former name of the town had been Luz.

²⁰Jacob then made this vow: "If God remains with me, to protect me on this journey I am making and to give me enough bread to eat and clothing to wear, ²¹and I come back safe to my father's house, the LORD shall be my God.

²²This stone that I have set up as a memorial stone shall be God's abode. Of everything you give me, I will faithfully return a tenth part to you."

29 After Jacob resumed his journey, he came to the land of the Easterners.

²Looking about, he saw a well in the open country, with three droves of sheep huddled near it, for droves were watered from that well. A large stone covered the mouth of the well.

³Only when all the shepherds were assembled there could they roll the stone away from the mouth of the well and water the flocks. Then they would put the stone back again over the mouth of the well.

⁴Jacob said to them, "Friends, where are you from?" "We are from Haran," they replied.

⁵Then he asked them, "Do you know Laban, son of Nahor?" "We do," they answered.

⁷Then he said: "There is still much daylight left; it is hardly the time to bring the animals home. Why don't you water the flocks now, and then continue pasturing them?"

⁸"We cannot," they replied, "until all the shepherds are here to roll the stone away from the mouth of the well; only then can we water the flocks."

⁹While he was still talking with them, Rachel arrived with her father's sheep; she was the one who tended them.

¹⁰As soon as Jacob saw Rachel, the daughter of his uncle Laban, with the sheep of his uncle Laban, he went up, rolled the stone away from the mouth of the well, and watered his uncle's sheep.

¹¹Then Jacob kissed Rachel and burst into tears.

¹²He told her that he was her father's relative, Rebekah's son, and she ran to tell her father.

¹³When Laban heard the news about his sister's son Jacob, he hurried out to meet him. After embracing and kissing him, he brought him to his house. Jacob then recounted to Laban all that had happened,

¹⁴and Laban said to him, "You are indeed my flesh and blood." After Jacob had stayed with him a full month,

¹⁵Laban said to him: "Should you serve me for nothing just because you are a relative of mine? Tell me what your wages should be."

¹⁶Now Laban had two daughters; the older was called Leah, the younger Rachel.

¹⁷Leah had lovely eyes, but Rachel was well formed and beautiful.

¹⁸Since Jacob had fallen in love with Rachel, he answered Laban, "I will serve you seven years for your younger daughter Rachel."

¹⁹Laban replied, "I prefer to give her to you rather than to an outsider. Stay with me."

²⁰So Jacob served seven years for Rachel, yet they seemed to him but a few days because of his love for her.

²¹Then Jacob said to Laban, "Give me my wife, that I may consummate my marriage with her, for my term is now completed."

²²So Laban invited all the local inhabitants and gave a feast.

²⁵In the morning Jacob was amazed: it was Leah! So he cried out to Laban: "How could you do this to me! Was it not for Rachel that I served you? Why did you dupe me?"

²⁶"It is not the custom in our country," Laban replied, "to marry off a younger daughter before an older one.

²⁷Finish the bridal week for this one, and then I will give you the other too, in return for another seven years of service with me."

²⁸Jacob agreed. He finished the bridal week for Leah, and then Laban gave him his daughter Rachel in marriage.

³⁰Jacob then consummated his marriage with Rachel also, and he loved her more than Leah. Thus he remained in Laban's service another seven years.

³¹When the LORD saw that Leah was unloved, he made her fruitful, while Rachel remained barren.

³²Leah conceived and bore a son, and she named him Reuben; for she said, "It means, 'The LORD saw my misery; now my husband will love me.'"

³³She conceived again and bore a son, and said, "It means, 'The LORD heard that I was unloved,' and therefore he has given me this one also"; so she named him Simeon.

³⁴Again she conceived and bore a son, and she said, "Now at last my husband will become attached to me, since I have now borne him three sons"; that is why she named him Levi.

³⁵Once more she conceived and bore a son, and she said, "This time I will give grateful praise to the LORD"; therefore she named him Judah. Then she stopped bearing children.

30When Rachel saw that she failed to bear children to Jacob, she became envious of her sister. She said to Jacob, "Give me children or I shall die!"

²In anger Jacob retorted, "Can I take the place of God, who has denied you the fruit of the womb?"

³She replied, "Here is my maidservant Bilhah. Have intercourse with her, and let her give birth on my knees, so that I too may have offspring, at least through her."

⁴So she gave him her maidservant Bilhah as a consort, and Jacob had intercourse with her.

⁵When Bilhah conceived and bore a son,

⁶Rachel said, "God has vindicated me; indeed he has heeded my plea and given me a son." Therefore she named him Dan.

⁷Rachel's maidservant Bilhah conceived again and bore a second son,

⁸and Rachel said, "I engaged in a fateful struggle with my sister, and I prevailed." So she named him Naphtali.

⁹When Leah saw that she had ceased to bear children, she gave her maidservant Zilpah to Jacob as a consort.

¹⁰So Jacob had intercourse with Zilpah, and she conceived and bore a son.

¹¹Leah then said, "What good luck!" So she named him Gad.

¹²Then Leah's maidservant Zilpah bore a second son to Jacob;

¹³and Leah said, "What good fortune!"--meaning, "Women call me fortunate." So she named him Asher.

¹⁴One day, during the wheat harvest, when Reuben was out in the field, he came upon some mandrakes which he brought home to his mother Leah. Rachel asked Leah, "Please let me have some of your son's mandrakes."

¹⁵Leah replied, "Was it not enough for you to take away my husband, that you must now take my son's mandrakes too?" "Very well, then!" Rachel answered. "In exchange for your son's mandrakes, Jacob may lie with you tonight."

¹⁶That evening, when Jacob came home from the fields, Leah went out to meet him. "You are now to come in with me," she told him, "because I have paid for you with my son's mandrakes." So that night he slept with her, ¹⁷and God heard her prayer; she conceived and bore a fifth son to Jacob.

¹⁸Leah then said, "God has given me my reward for having let my husband have my maidservant"; so she named him Issachar.

¹⁹Leah conceived again and bore a sixth son to Jacob;

²⁰and she said, "God has brought me a precious gift. This time my husband will offer me presents, now that I have borne him six sons"; so she named him Zebulun.

²¹Finally, she gave birth to a daughter, and she named her Dinah.

²²Then God remembered Rachel; he heard her prayer and made her fruitful.

²³She conceived and bore a son, and she said, "God has removed my disgrace."

²⁴So she named him Joseph, meaning, "May the LORD add another son to this one for me!"

²⁵After Rachel gave birth to Joseph, Jacob said to Laban: "Give me leave to go to my homeland.

²⁶Let me have my wives, for whom I served you, and my children, too, that I may depart. You know very well the service that I have rendered you."

²⁷ Laban answered him: "If you will please. . . ." "I have learned through divination that it is because of you that God has blessed me.

²⁸ "So," he continued, "state what wages you want from me, and I will pay them."

²⁹ Jacob replied: "You know what work I did for you and how well your livestock fared under my care;

³⁰ the little you had before I came has grown into very much, since the LORD'S blessings came upon you in my company. Therefore I should now do something for my own household as well."

³¹ "What should I pay you?" Laban asked. Jacob answered: "You do not have to pay me anything outright. I will again pasture and tend your flock, if you do this one thing for me:

³² go through your whole flock today and remove from it every dark animal among the sheep and every spotted or speckled one among the goats. Only such animals shall be my wages.

³³ In the future, whenever you check on these wages of mine, let my honesty testify against me: any animal in my possession that is not a speckled or spotted goat, or a dark sheep, got there by theft!"

³⁴ "Very well," agreed Laban. "Let it be as you say."

³⁶ Then he put a three days' journey between himself and Jacob, while Jacob continued to pasture the rest of Laban's flock.

³⁷ Jacob, however, got some fresh shoots of poplar, almond and plane trees, and he made white stripes in them by peeling off the bark down to the white core of the shoots.

³⁸ The rods that he had thus peeled he then set upright in the watering troughs, so that they would be in front of the animals that drank from the troughs. When the animals were in heat as they came to drink, ³⁹the goats mated by the rods, and so they brought forth streaked, speckled and spotted kids.

⁴⁰The sheep, on the other hand, Jacob kept apart, and he set these animals to face the streaked or fully dark-colored animals of Laban. Thus he produced special flocks of his own, which he did not put with Laban's flock.

⁴¹Moreover, whenever the hardier animals were in heat, Jacob would set the rods in the troughs in full view of these animals, so that they mated by the rods;

⁴²but with the weaker animals he would not put the rods there. So the feeble animals would go to Laban, but the sturdy ones to Jacob.

⁴³Thus the man grew increasingly prosperous, and he came to own not only large flocks but also male and female servants and camels and asses.

31 Jacob learned that Laban's sons were saying, "Jacob has taken everything that belonged to our father, and he has accumulated all this wealth of his by using our father's property."

²Jacob perceived, too, that Laban's attitude toward him was not what it had previously been.

³Then the LORD said to Jacob, "Return to the land of your fathers, where you were born, and I will be with you."

⁴So Jacob sent for Rachel and Leah to meet him where he was in the field with his flock.

⁵There he said to them: "I have noticed that your father's attitude toward me is not as it was in the past; but the God of my father has been with me.

⁶You well know what effort I put into serving your father;

⁷yet your father cheated me and changed my wages time after time. God, however, did not let him do me any harm.

⁸Whenever your father said, 'The speckled animals shall be your wages,' the entire flock would bear speckled young; whenever he said, 'The streaked animals shall be your wages,' the entire flock would bear streaked young.

⁹Thus God reclaimed your father's livestock and gave it to me.

¹⁰Once, in the breeding season, I had a dream in which I saw mating he-goats that were streaked, speckled and mottled.

¹¹In the dream God's messenger called to me, 'Jacob!' 'Here!' I replied.

¹²Then he said: 'Note well. All the he-goats in the flock, as they mate, are streaked, speckled and mottled, for I have seen all the things that Laban has been doing to you.'

¹³I am the God who appeared to you in Bethel, where you anointed a memorial stone and made a vow to me. Up, then! Leave this land and return to the land of your birth."

¹⁴Rachel and Leah answered him: "Have we still an heir's portion in our father's house?

¹⁵Are we not regarded by him as outsiders? He not only sold us; he has even used up the money that he got for us!

¹⁶All the wealth that God reclaimed from our father really belongs to us and our children. Therefore, do just as God has told you."

¹⁷Jacob proceeded to put his children and wives on camels,

¹⁸and he drove off with all his livestock and all the property he had acquired in Paddan-aram, to go to his father Isaac in the land of Canaan.

¹⁹Now Laban had gone away to shear his sheep, and Rachel had meanwhile appropriated her father's household idols.

²¹Thus he made his escape with all that he had. Once he was across the Euphrates, he headed for the highlands of Gilead.

²²On the third day, word came to Laban that Jacob had fled.

²³Taking his kinsmen with him, he pursued him for seven days until he caught up with him in the hill country of Gilead.

²⁴But that night God appeared to Laban the Aramean in a dream and warned him, "Take care not to threaten Jacob with any harm!"

²⁵When Laban overtook Jacob, Jacob's tents were pitched in the highlands; Laban also pitched his tents there, on Mount Gilead.

²⁶"What do you mean," Laban demanded of Jacob, "by hoodwinking me and carrying off my daughters like war captives?"

²⁷Why did you dupe me by stealing away secretly? You should have told me, and I would have sent you off with merry singing to the sound of tambourines and harps.

²⁸You did not even allow me a parting kiss to my daughters and grandchildren! What you have now done is a senseless thing.

²⁹I have it in my power to harm all of you; but last night the God of your father said to me, 'Take care not to threaten Jacob with any harm!'

³⁰Granted that you had to leave because you were desperately homesick for your father's house, why did you steal my gods?"

³¹"I was frightened," Jacob replied to Laban, "at the thought that you might take your daughters away from me by force.

³²But as for your gods, the one you find them with shall not remain alive! If, with my kinsmen looking on, you identify anything here as belonging to you, take it." Jacob, of course, had no idea that Rachel had stolen the idols.

³³Laban then went in and searched Jacob's tent and Leah's tent, as well as the tents of the two maidservants; but he did not find the idols. Leaving Leah's tent, he went into Rachel's.

³⁴Now Rachel had taken the idols, put them inside a camel cushion, and seated herself upon them. When Laban had rummaged through the rest of her tent without finding them, ³⁵Rachel said to her father, "Let not my lord feel offended that I cannot rise in your presence; a woman's period is upon me." So, despite his search, he did not find his idols.

³⁶Jacob, now enraged, upbraided Laban. "What crime or offense have I committed," he demanded, "that you should hound me so fiercely?"

³⁷ Now that you have ransacked all my things, have you found a single object taken from your belongings? If so, produce it here before your kinsmen and mine, and let them decide between us two.

³⁸ "In the twenty years that I was under you, no ewe or she-goat of yours ever miscarried, and I have never feasted on a ram of your flock.

³⁹ I never brought you an animal torn by wild beasts; I made good the loss myself. You held me responsible for anything stolen by day or night.

⁴⁰ How often the scorching heat ravaged me by day, and the frost by night, while sleep fled from my eyes!

⁴¹ Of the twenty years that I have now spent in your household, I slaved fourteen years for your two daughters and six years for your flock, while you changed my wages time after time.

⁴² If my ancestral God, the God of Abraham and the Awesome One of Isaac, had not been on my side, you would now have sent me away empty-handed. But God saw my plight and the fruits of my toil, and last night he gave judgment."

⁴⁴ "Come, then, we will make a pact, you and I; the LORD shall be a witness between us."

⁴⁵ Then Jacob took a stone and set it up as a memorial stone.

⁴⁶ Jacob said to his kinsmen, "Gather some stones." So they got some stones and made a mound; and they had a meal there at the mound.

⁴⁷ Laban called it Jegar-sahadutha, but Jacob named it Galeed.

⁴⁸ "This mound," said Laban, "shall be a witness from now on between you and me." That is why it was named Galeed--

⁴⁹ and also Mizpah, for he said: "May the LORD keep watch between you and me when we are out of each other's sight.

⁵⁰If you mistreat my daughters, or take other wives besides my daughters, remember that even though no one else is about, God will be witness between you and me."

⁵¹Laban said further to Jacob: "Here is this mound, and here is the memorial stone that I have set up between you and me.

⁵²This mound shall be witness, and this memorial stone shall be witness, that, with hostile intent, neither may I pass beyond this mound into your territory, nor may you pass beyond it into mine.

⁵³May the God of Abraham and the god of Nahor (their ancestral deities) maintain justice between us!" Jacob took the oath by the Awesome One of Isaac.

⁵⁴He then offered a sacrifice on the mountain and invited his kinsmen to share in the meal. When they had eaten, they passed the night on the mountain.

32Early the next morning, Laban kissed his grandchildren and his daughters goodbye; then he set out on his journey back home, ²while Jacob continued on his own way. Then God's messengers encountered Jacob.

³When he saw them he said, "This is God's encampment." So he named that place Mahanaim.

⁴Jacob sent messengers ahead to his brother Esau in the land of Seir, the country of Edom, ⁵with this message: "Thus shall you say to my lord Esau: 'Your servant Jacob speaks as follows: I have been staying with Laban and have been detained there until now.

⁶I own cattle, asses and sheep, as well as male and female servants. I am sending my lord this information in the hope of gaining your favor.'"

⁷When the messengers returned to Jacob, they said, "We reached your brother Esau. He is now coming to meet you, accompanied by four hundred men."

⁸Jacob was very much frightened. In his anxiety, he divided the people who were with him, as well as his flocks, herds and camels, into two camps.

⁹"If Esau should attack and overwhelm one camp," he reasoned, "the remaining camp may still survive."

¹⁰Then he prayed: "O God of my father Abraham and God of my father Isaac! You told me, O LORD, 'Go back to the land of your birth, and I will be good to you.'

¹¹I am unworthy of all the acts of kindness that you have loyally performed for your servant: although I crossed the Jordan here with nothing but my staff, I have now grown into two companies.

¹²Save me, I pray, from the hand of my brother Esau! Otherwise I fear that when he comes he will strike me down and slay the mothers and children.

¹³You yourself said, 'I will be very good to you, and I will make your descendants like the sands of the sea, which are too numerous to count.'

¹⁴After passing the night there, Jacob selected from what he had with him the following presents for his brother Esau:

¹⁵two hundred she-goats and twenty he-goats; two hundred ewes and twenty rams;

¹⁶thirty milch camels and their young; forty cows and ten bulls; twenty she-asses and ten he-asses.

¹⁷He put these animals in charge of his servants, in separate droves, and he told the servants, "Go on ahead of me, but keep a space between one drove and the next."

¹⁸To the servant in the lead he gave this instruction: "When my brother Esau meets you, he may ask you, 'Whose man are you? Where are you going? To whom do these animals ahead of you belong?'

¹⁹Then you shall answer, 'They belong to your brother Jacob, but they have been sent as a gift to my lord Esau; and Jacob himself is right behind us.'"

²⁰He gave similar instructions to the second servant and the third and to all the others who followed behind the droves, namely: "Thus and thus shall you say to Esau, when you reach him;

²¹and be sure to add, 'Your servant Jacob is right behind us.'" For Jacob reasoned, "If I first appease him with gifts that precede me, then later, when I face him, perhaps he will forgive me."

²²So the gifts went on ahead of him, while he stayed that night in the camp.

²³In the course of that night, however, Jacob arose, took his two wives, with the two maidservants and his eleven children, and crossed the ford of the Jabbok.

²⁴After he had taken them across the stream and had brought over all his possessions,

²⁶When the man saw that he could not prevail over him, he struck Jacob's hip at its socket, so that the hip socket was wrenched as they wrestled.

²⁷The man then said, "Let me go, for it is daybreak." But Jacob said, "I will not let you go until you bless me."

²⁸"What is your name?" the man asked. He answered, "Jacob."

²⁹Then the man said, "You shall no longer be spoken of as Jacob, but as Israel, because you have contended with divine and human beings and have prevailed."

³⁰Jacob then asked him, "Do tell me your name, please." He answered, "Why should you want to know my name?" With that, he bade him farewell.

³¹Jacob named the place Peniel, "Because I have seen God face to face," he said, "yet my life has been spared."

³²At sunrise, as he left Peniel, Jacob limped along because of his hip.

³³That is why, to this day, the Israelites do not eat the sciatic muscle that is on the hip socket, inasmuch as Jacob's hip socket was struck at the sciatic muscle.

33 Jacob looked up and saw Esau coming, accompanied by four hundred men. So he divided his children among Leah, Rachel and the two maidservants, ²putting the maids and their children first, Leah and her children next, and Rachel and Joseph last.

³He himself went on ahead of them, bowing to the ground seven times, until he reached his brother.

⁴Esau ran to meet him, embraced him, and flinging himself on his neck, kissed him as he wept.

⁵When Esau looked about, he saw the women and children. "Who are these with you?" he asked. Jacob answered, "They are the children whom God has graciously bestowed on your servant."

⁶Then the maidservants and their children came forward and bowed low;

⁷next, Leah and her children came forward and bowed low; lastly, Rachel and her children came forward and bowed low.

⁸Then Esau asked, "What did you intend with all those droves that I encountered?" Jacob answered, "It was to gain my lord's favor."

⁹"I have plenty," replied Esau; "you should keep what is yours, brother."

¹⁰"No, I beg you!" said Jacob. "If you will do me the favor, please accept this gift from me, since to come into your presence is for me like coming into the presence of God, now that you have received me so kindly.

¹¹Do accept the present I have brought you; God has been generous toward me, and I have an abundance." Since he so urged him, Esau accepted.

¹²Then Esau said, "Let us break camp and be on our way; I will travel alongside you."

¹³But Jacob replied: "As my lord can see, the children are frail. Besides, I am encumbered with the flocks and herds, which now have sucklings; if overdriven for a single day, the whole flock will die.

¹⁴Let my lord, then, go on ahead of me, while I proceed more slowly at the pace of the livestock before me and at the pace of my children, until I join my lord in Seir."

¹⁵Esau replied, "Let me at least put at your disposal some of the men who are with me." But Jacob said, "For what reason? Please indulge me in this, my lord."

¹⁶So on the same day that Esau began his journey back to Seir,

¹⁷Jacob journeyed to Succoth. There he built a home for himself and made booths for his livestock. That is why the place was called Succoth.

¹⁸Having thus come from Paddan-aram, Jacob arrived safely at the city of Shechem, which is in the land of Canaan, and he encamped in sight of the city.

¹⁹The plot of ground on which he had pitched his tent he bought for a hundred pieces of bullion from the descendants of Hamor, the founder of Shechem.

²⁰He set up a memorial stone there and invoked "El, the God of Israel."

34Dinah, the daughter whom Leah had borne to Jacob, went out to visit some of the women of the land.

³Since he was strongly attracted to Dinah, daughter of Jacob, indeed was really in love with the girl, he endeavored to win her affection.

⁴Shechem also asked his father Hamor, "Get me this girl for a wife."

⁵Meanwhile, Jacob heard that Shechem had defiled his daughter Dinah; but since his sons were out in the fields with his livestock, he held his peace until they came home.

⁶Now Hamor, the father of Shechem, went out to discuss the matter with Jacob, ⁷just as Jacob's sons were coming in from the fields. When they heard the news, the men were shocked and seethed with indignation. What Shechem had done was an outrage in Israel; such a thing could not be tolerated.

⁸Hamor appealed to them, saying: "My son Shechem has his heart set on your daughter. Please give her to him in marriage.

⁹Intermarry with us; give your daughters to us, and take our daughters for yourselves.

¹⁰Thus you can live among us. The land is open before you; you can settle and move about freely in it, and acquire landed property here."

¹¹Then Shechem, too, appealed to Dinah's father and brothers: "Do me this favor, and I will pay whatever you demand of me.

¹²No matter how high you set the bridal price, I will pay you whatever you ask; only give me the maiden in marriage."

¹³Jacob's sons replied to Shechem and his father Hamor with guile, speaking as they did because their sister Dinah had been defiled.

¹⁴"We could not do such a thing," they said, "as to give our sister to an uncircumcised man; that would be a disgrace for us.

¹⁵We will agree with you only on this condition, that you become like us by having every male among you circumcised.

¹⁶Then we will give you our daughters and take yours in marriage; we will settle among you and become one kindred people with you.

¹⁷But if you do not comply with our terms regarding circumcision, we will take our daughter and go away."

¹⁸Their proposal seemed fair to Hamor and his son Shechem.

¹⁹The young man lost no time in acting in the matter, since he was deeply in love with Jacob's daughter. Moreover he was more highly respected than anyone else in his clan.

²⁰So Hamor and his son Shechem went to their town council and thus presented the matter to their fellow townsmen:

²²But the men will agree to live with us and form one kindred people with us only on this condition, that every male among us be circumcised as they themselves are.

²³Would not the livestock they have acquired--all their animals--then be ours? Let us, therefore, give in to them, so that they may settle among us."

²⁴All the able-bodied men of the town agreed with Hamor and his son Shechem, and all the males, including every able-bodied man in the community, were circumcised.

²⁵On the third day, while they were still in pain, Dinah's full brothers Simeon and Levi, two of Jacob's sons, took their swords, advanced against the city without any trouble, and massacred all the males.

²⁷Then the other sons of Jacob followed up the slaughter and sacked the city in reprisal for their sister Dinah's defilement.

²⁸They seized their flocks, herds and asses, whatever was in the city and in the country around.

²⁹They carried off all their wealth, their women, and their children, and took for loot whatever was in the houses.

³⁰Jacob said to Simeon and Levi: "You have brought trouble upon me by making me loathsome to the inhabitants of the land, the Canaanites and the Perizzites. I have so few men that, if these people unite against me and attack me, I and my family will be wiped out."

³¹But they retorted, "Should our sister have been treated like a harlot?"

35 God said to Jacob: "Go up now to Bethel. Settle there and build an altar there to the God who appeared to you while you were fleeing from your brother Esau."

²So Jacob told his family and all the others who were with him: "Get rid of the foreign gods that you have among you; then purify yourselves and put on fresh clothes.

³We are now to go up to Bethel, and I will build an altar there to the God who answered me in my hour of distress and who has been with me wherever I have gone."

⁴They therefore handed over to Jacob all the foreign gods in their possession and also the rings they had in their ears.

⁵Then, as they set out, a terror from God fell upon the towns round about, so that no one pursued the sons of Jacob.

⁶Thus Jacob and all the people who were with him arrived in Luz (that is, Bethel) in the land of Canaan.

- ⁷There he built an altar and named the place Bethel, for it was there that God had revealed himself to him when he was fleeing from his brother.
- ⁸Death came to Rebekah's nurse Deborah; she was buried under the oak below Bethel, and so it was called Allonbacuth.
- ⁹On Jacob's arrival from Paddan-aram, God appeared to him again and blessed him.
- ¹⁰God said to him: "You whose name is Jacob shall no longer be called Jacob, but Israel shall be your name." Thus he was named Israel.
- ¹¹God also said to him: "I am God Almighty; be fruitful and multiply. A nation, indeed an assembly of nations, shall stem from you, and kings shall issue from your loins.
- ¹²The land I once gave to Abraham and Isaac I now give to you; And to your descendants after you will I give this land."
- ¹³Then God departed from him.
- ¹⁴On the site where God had spoken with him, Jacob set up a memorial stone, and upon it he made a libation and poured out oil.
- ¹⁵Jacob named the site Bethel, because God had spoken with him there.
- ¹⁶Then they departed from Bethel; but while they still had some distance to go on the way to Ephrath, Rachel began to be in labor and to suffer great distress.
- ¹⁷When her pangs were most severe, her midwife said to her, "Have no fear! This time, too, you have a son."
- ¹⁸With her last breath--for she was at the point of death--she called him Ben-oni; his father, however, named him Benjamin.
- ¹⁹Thus Rachel died; and she was buried on the road to Ephrath (that is, Bethlehem).
- ²⁰Jacob set up a memorial stone on her grave, and the same monument marks Rachel's grave to this day.
- ²¹Israel moved on and pitched his tent beyond Migdal-eder.

²²While Israel was encamped in that region, Reuben went and lay with Bilhah, his father's concubine. When Israel heard of it, he was greatly offended. The sons of Jacob were now twelve.

²³The sons of Leah: Reuben, Jacob's first-born, Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, and Zebulun;

²⁴the sons of Rachel: Joseph and Benjamin;

²⁶the sons of Leah's maid Zilpah: Gad and Asher. These are the sons of Jacob who were born to him in Paddan-aram.

²⁷Jacob went home to his father Isaac at Mamre, in Kiriath-arba (that is, Hebron), where Abraham and Isaac had stayed.

²⁸The lifetime of Isaac was one hundred and eighty years;

²⁹then he breathed his last. After a full life, he died as an old man and was taken to his kinsmen. His sons Esau and Jacob buried him.

²Esau took his wives from among the Canaanite women: Adah, daughter of Elon the Hittite; Oholibamah, granddaughter through Anah of Zibeon the Hivite;

⁴Adah bore Eliphaz to Esau; Basemath bore Reuel;

⁵and Oholibamah bore Jeush, Jalam and Korah. These are the sons of Esau who were born to him in the land of Canaan.

⁶Esau took his wives, his sons, his daughters, and all the members of his household, as well as his livestock comprising various animals and all the property he had acquired in the land of Canaan, and went to the land of Seir, out of the way of his brother Jacob.

⁷Their possessions had become too great for them to dwell together, and the land in which they were staying could not support them because of their livestock.

⁹These are the descendants of Esau, ancestor of the Edomites, in the highlands of Seir.

¹⁰These are the names of Esau's sons: Eliphaz, son of Esau's wife Adah; and Reuel, son of Esau's wife Basemath.

¹¹The sons of Eliphaz were Teman, Omar, Zepho, Gatam, and Kenaz.

¹²(Esau's son Eliphaz had a concubine Timna, and she bore Amalek to Eliphaz.) These are the descendants of Esau's wife Adah.

¹³The sons of Reuel were Nahath, Zerah, Shammah, and Mizzah. These are the descendants of Esau's wife Basemath.

¹⁴The descendants of Esau's wife Oholibamah--granddaughter through Anah of Zibeon--whom she bore to Esau were Jeush, Jalam, and Korah.

¹⁵The following are the clans of Esau's descendants. The descendants of Eliphaz, Esau's first-born: the clans of Teman, Omar, Zepho, Kenaz, ¹⁶Korah, Gatam, and Amalek. These are the clans of Eliphaz in the land of Edom; they are descended from Adah.

¹⁷The descendants of Esau's son Reuel: the clans of Nahath, Zerah, Shammah, and Mizzah. These are the clans of Reuel in the land of Edom; they are descended from Esau's wife Basemath.

¹⁸The descendants of Esau's wife Oholibamah: the clans of Jeush, Jalam, and Korah. These are the clans of Esau's wife Oholibamah, daughter of Anah.

¹⁹Such are the descendants of Esau (that is, Edom) according to their clans.

²⁰The following are the descendants of Seir the Horite, the original settlers in the land: Lotan, Shobal, Zibeon, Anah, ²¹Dishon, Ezer, and Dishan; they are the Horite clans descended from Seir, in the land of Edom.

²² Lotan's descendants were Hori and Hemam, and Lotan's sister was Timna.

²³ Shobal's descendants were Alvan, Mahanath, Ebal, Shepho, and Onam.

²⁴ Zibeon's descendants were Aiah and Anah. (He is the Anah who found water in the desert while he was pasturing the asses of his father Zibeon.)

²⁵ The descendants of Anah were Dishon and Oholibamah, daughter of Anah.

²⁶ The descendants of Dishon were Hemdan, Eshban, Ithran, and Cheran.

²⁷ The descendants of Ezer were Bilhan, Zaavan, and Akan.

²⁸ The descendants of Dishan were Uz and Aran.

²⁹ These are the Horite clans: the clans of Lotan, Shobal, Zibeon, Anah,

³⁰ Dishon, Ezer, and Dishan; they were the clans of the Horites, clan by clan, in the land of Seir.

³¹ The following are the kings who reigned in the land of Edom before any king reigned over the Israelites.

³² Bela, son of Beor, became king in Edom; the name of his city was Dinhabah.

³³ When Bela died, Jobab, son of Zerah, from Bozrah, succeeded him as king.

³⁴ When Jobab died, Husham, from the land of the Temanites, succeeded him as king. He defeated the Midianites in the country of Moab; the name of his city was Avith.

³⁵ When Husham died, Hadad, son of Bedad, succeeded him as king.

³⁶ When Hadad died, Samlah, from Masrekah, succeeded him as king.

³⁷ When Samlah died, Shaul, from Rehoboth-on-the-River, succeeded him as king.

³⁸ When Shaul died, Baal-hanan, son of Achbor, succeeded him as king.

³⁹ When Baal-hanan died, Hadar succeeded him as king; the name of his city was Pau. (His wife's name was Mehetabel; she was the daughter of Matred, son of Mezahab.)

⁴⁰The following are the names of the clans of Esau individually according to their subdivisions and localities: the clans of Timna, Alvah, Jetheth,

⁴¹Oholibamah, Elah, Pinon,

⁴²Kenaz, Teman, Mibzar,

⁴³Magdiel, and Iram. These are the clans of the Edomites, according to their settlements in their territorial holdings. (Esau was the father of the Edomites.)

37

Jacob settled in the land where his father had stayed, the land of Canaan.

²This is his family history. When Joseph was seventeen years old, he was tending the flocks with his brothers; he was an assistant to the sons of his father's wives Bilhah and Zilpah, and he brought his father bad reports about them.

³Israel loved Joseph best of all his sons, for he was the child of his old age; and he had made him a long tunic.

⁴When his brothers saw that their father loved him best of all his sons, they hated him so much that they would not even greet him.

⁵Once Joseph had a dream, which he told to his brothers:

⁶"Listen to this dream I had.

⁷There we were, binding sheaves in the field, when suddenly my sheaf rose to an upright position, and your sheaves formed a ring around my sheaf and bowed down to it."

⁸"Are you really going to make yourself king over us?" his brothers asked him. "Or impose your rule on us?" So they hated him all the more because of his talk about his dreams.

⁹Then he had another dream, and this one, too, he told to his brothers. "I had another dream," he said; "this time, the sun and the moon and eleven stars were bowing down to me."

¹⁰When he also told it to his father, his father reproved him. "What is the meaning of this dream of yours?" he asked. "Can it be that I and your mother and your brothers are to come and bow to the ground before you?"

¹¹So his brothers were wrought up against him but his father pondered the matter.

¹²One day, when his brothers had gone to pasture their father's flocks at Shechem, ¹³Israel said to Joseph, "Your brothers, you know, are tending our flocks at Shechem. Get ready; I will send you to them." "I am ready," Joseph answered.

¹⁴"Go then," he replied; "see if all is well with your brothers and the flocks, and bring back word." So he sent him off from the valley of Hebron. When Joseph reached Shechem, ¹⁵a man met him as he was wandering about in the fields. "What are you looking for?" the man asked him.

¹⁶"I am looking for my brothers," he answered. "Could you please tell me where they are tending the flocks?"

¹⁷The man told him, "They have moved on from here; in fact, I heard them say, 'Let us go on to Dothan.'" So Joseph went after his brothers and caught up with them in Dothan.

¹⁸They noticed him from a distance, and before he came up to them, they plotted to kill him.

¹⁹They said to one another: "Here comes that master dreamer!

²⁰Come on, let us kill him and throw him into one of the cisterns here; we could say that a wild beast devoured him. We shall then see what comes of his dreams."

²¹When Reuben heard this, he tried to save him from their hands, saying: "We must not take his life.

²²Instead of shedding blood," he continued, "just throw him into that cistern there in the desert; but don't kill him outright." His purpose was to rescue him from their hands and restore him to his father.

²³So when Joseph came up to them, they stripped him of the long tunic he had on;

²⁴then they took him and threw him into the cistern, which was empty and dry.

²⁵They then sat down to their meal. Looking up, they saw a caravan of Ishmaelites coming from Gilead, their camels laden with gum, balm and resin to be taken down to Egypt.

²⁶Judah said to his brothers: "What is to be gained by killing our brother and concealing his blood?"

²⁷Rather, let us sell him to these Ishmaelites, instead of doing away with him ourselves. After all, he is our brother, our own flesh." His brothers agreed.

²⁸They sold Joseph to the Ishmaelites for twenty pieces of silver. Some Midianite traders passed by, and they pulled Joseph up out of the cistern and took him to Egypt.

²⁹When Reuben went back to the cistern and saw that Joseph was not in it, he tore his clothes,

³⁰and returning to his brothers, he exclaimed: "The boy is gone! And I--where can I turn?"

³¹They took Joseph's tunic, and after slaughtering a goat, dipped the tunic in its blood.

³²Then they sent someone to bring the long tunic to their father, with the message: "We found this. See whether it is your son's tunic or not."

³³He recognized it and exclaimed: "My son's tunic! A wild beast has devoured him! Joseph has been torn to pieces!"

³⁴Then Jacob rent his clothes, put sackcloth on his loins, and mourned his son many days.

³⁵Though his sons and daughters tried to console him, he refused all consolation, saying, "No, I will go down mourning to my son in the nether world." Thus did his father lament him.

38About that time Judah parted from his brothers and pitched his tent near a certain Adullamite named Hirah.

- ²There he met the daughter of a Canaanite named Shua, married her, and had relations with her.
- ³She conceived and bore a son, whom she named Er.
- ⁴Again she conceived and bore a son, whom she named Onan.
- ⁵Then she bore still another son, whom she named Shelah. They were in Chezib when he was born.
- ⁶Judah got a wife named Tamar for his first-born, Er.
- ⁷But Er, Judah's first-born, greatly offended the LORD; so the LORD took his life.
- ⁸Then Judah said to Onan, "Unite with your brother's widow, in fulfillment of your duty as brother-in-law, and thus preserve your brother's line."
- ⁹Onan, however, knew that the descendants would not be counted as his; so whenever he had relations with his brother's widow, he wasted his seed on the ground, to avoid contributing offspring for his brother.
- ¹⁰What he did greatly offended the LORD, and the LORD took his life too.
- ¹¹Thereupon Judah said to his daughter-in-law Tamar, "Stay as a widow in your father's house until my son Shelah grows up"--for he feared that Shelah also might die like his brothers. So Tamar went to live in her father's house.
- ¹²Years passed, and Judah's wife, the daughter of Shua, died. After Judah completed the period of mourning, he went up to Timnah for the shearing of his sheep, in company with his friend Hirah the Adullamite.
- ¹³When Tamar was told that her father-in-law was on his way up to Timnah to shear his sheep,
- ¹⁴she took off her widow's garb, veiled her face by covering herself with a shawl, and sat down at the entrance to Enaim, which is on the way to Timnah; for she was aware that, although Shelah was now grown up, she had not been given to him in marriage.
- ¹⁵When Judah saw her, he mistook her for a harlot, since she had covered her face.

¹⁶So he went over to her at the roadside, and not realizing that she was his daughter-in-law, he said, "Come, let me have intercourse with you." She replied, "What will you pay me for letting you have intercourse with me?"

¹⁷He answered, "I will send you a kid from the flock." "Very well," she said, "provided you leave a pledge until you send it."

¹⁸Judah asked, "What pledge am I to give to you?" She answered, "Your seal and cord, and the staff you carry." So he gave them to her and had intercourse with her, and she conceived by him.

¹⁹When she went away, she took off her shawl and put on her widow's garb again.

²⁰Judah sent the kid by his friend the Adullamite to recover the pledge from the woman; but he could not find her.

²¹So he asked the men of the place, "Where is the temple prostitute, the one by the roadside in Enaim?" But they answered, "There has never been a temple prostitute here."

²²He went back to Judah and told him, "I could not find her; and besides, the men of the place said there was no temple prostitute there."

²³"Let her keep the things," Judah replied; "otherwise we shall become a laughingstock. After all, I did send her the kid, even though you were unable to find her."

²⁴About three months later, Judah was told that his daughter-in-law Tamar had played the harlot and was then with child from her harlotry. "Bring her out," cried Judah; "she shall be burned."

²⁵But as they were bringing her out, she sent word to her father-in-law, "It is by the man to whom these things belong that I am with child. Please verify," she added, "whose seal and cord and whose staff these are."

²⁶Judah recognized them and said, "She is more in the right than I am, since I did not give her to my son Shelah." But he had no further relations with her.

²⁷When the time of her delivery came, she was found to have twins in her womb.

²⁸While she was giving birth, one infant put out his hand; and the midwife, taking a crimson thread, tied it on his hand, to note that this one came out first.

²⁹But as he withdrew his hand, his brother came out; and she said, "What a breach you have made for yourself!" So he was called Perez.

³⁰Afterward his brother came out; he was called Zerah.

39When Joseph was taken down to Egypt, a certain Egyptian (Potiphar, a courtier of Pharaoh and his chief steward) bought him from the Ishmaelites who had brought him there.

²But since the LORD was with him, Joseph got on very well and was assigned to the household of his Egyptian master.

³When his master saw that the LORD was with him and brought him success in whatever he did,

⁴he took a liking to Joseph and made him his personal attendant; he put him in charge of his household and entrusted to him all his possessions.

⁵From the moment that he put him in charge of his household and all his possessions, the LORD blessed the Egyptian's house for Joseph's sake; in fact, the LORD'S blessing was on everything he owned, both inside the house and out.

⁶Having left everything he owned in Joseph's charge, he gave no thought, with Joseph there, to anything but the food he ate. Now Joseph was strikingly handsome in countenance and body.

⁷After a time, his master's wife began to look fondly at him and said, "Lie with me."

⁸But he refused. "As long as I am here," he told her, "my master does not concern himself with anything in the house, but has entrusted to me all he owns.

⁹He wields no more authority in this house than I do, and he has withheld from me nothing but yourself, since you are his wife. How, then, could I commit so great a wrong and thus stand condemned before God?"

¹⁰Although she tried to entice him day after day, he would not agree to lie beside her, or even stay near her.

¹¹One such day, when Joseph came into the house to do his work, and none of the household servants were then in the house,

¹²she laid hold of him by his cloak, saying, "Lie with me!" But leaving the cloak in her hand, he got away from her and ran outside.

¹³When she saw that he had left his cloak in her hand as he fled outside,

¹⁴she screamed for her household servants and told them, "Look! my husband has brought in a Hebrew slave to make sport of us! He came in here to lie with me, but I cried out as loud as I could.

¹⁶She kept the cloak with her until his master came home.

¹⁷Then she told him the same story: "The Hebrew slave whom you brought here broke in on me, to make sport of me.

¹⁹As soon as the master heard his wife's story about how his slave had treated her, he became enraged.

²⁰He seized Joseph and threw him into the jail where the royal prisoners were confined. But even while he was in prison, ²¹the LORD remained with Joseph; he showed him kindness by making the chief jailer well-disposed toward him.

²²The chief jailer put Joseph in charge of all the prisoners in the jail, and everything that had to be done there was done under his management.

²³The chief jailer did not concern himself with anything at all that was in Joseph's charge, since the LORD was with him and brought success to all he did.

40 Some time afterward, the royal cupbearer and baker gave offense to their lord, the king of Egypt.

³and he put them in custody in the house of the chief steward (the same jail where Joseph was confined).

⁴The chief steward assigned Joseph to them, and he became their attendant. After they had been in custody for some time, ⁵the cupbearer and the baker of the king of Egypt who were confined in the jail both had dreams on the same night, each dream with its own meaning.

⁶When Joseph came to them in the morning, he noticed that they looked disturbed.

⁷So he asked Pharaoh's courtiers who were with him in custody in his master's house, "Why do you look so sad today?"

⁸They answered him, "We have had dreams, but there is no one to interpret them for us." Joseph said to them, "Surely, interpretations come from God. Please tell the dreams to me."

⁹Then the chief cupbearer told Joseph his dream. "In my dream," he said, "I saw a vine in front of me, ¹⁰and on the vine were three branches. It had barely budded when its blossoms came out, and its clusters ripened into grapes.

¹¹Pharaoh's cup was in my hand; so I took the grapes, pressed them out into his cup, and put it in Pharaoh's hand."

¹²Joseph said to him: "This is what it means. The three branches are three days;

¹³within three days Pharaoh will lift up your head and restore you to your post. You will be handing Pharaoh his cup as you formerly used to do when you were his cupbearer.

¹⁴So if you will still remember, when all is well with you, that I was here with you, please do me the favor of mentioning me to Pharaoh, to get me out of this place.

¹⁵The truth is that I was kidnaped from the land of the Hebrews, and here I have not done anything for which I should have been put into a dungeon."

¹⁶When the chief baker saw that Joseph had given this favorable interpretation, he said to him: "I too had a dream. In it I had three wicker baskets on my head;

¹⁷in the top one were all kinds of bakery products for Pharaoh, but the birds were pecking at them out of the basket on my head."

¹⁸Joseph said to him in reply: "This is what it means. The three baskets are three days;

¹⁹within three days Pharaoh will lift up your head and have you impaled on a stake, and the birds will be pecking the flesh from your body."

²⁰And in fact, on the third day, which was Pharaoh's birthday, when he gave a banquet to all his staff, with his courtiers around him, he lifted up the heads of the chief cupbearer and chief baker.

²¹He restored the chief cupbearer to his office, so that he again handed the cup to Pharaoh;

²²but the chief baker he impaled-just as Joseph had told them in his interpretation.

²³Yet the chief cupbearer gave no thought to Joseph; he had forgotten him.

41 After a lapse of two years, Pharaoh had a dream. He saw himself standing by the Nile, ²when up out of the Nile came seven cows, handsome and fat; they grazed in the reed grass.

³Behind them seven other cows, ugly and gaunt, came up out of the Nile; and standing on the bank of the Nile beside the others,

⁴the ugly, gaunt cows ate up the seven handsome, fat cows. Then Pharaoh woke up.

⁵He fell asleep again and had another dream. He saw seven ears of grain, fat and healthy, growing on a single stalk.

⁶Behind them sprouted seven ears of grain, thin and blasted by the east wind;

⁷and the seven thin ears swallowed up the seven fat, healthy ears. Then Pharaoh woke up, to find it was only a dream.

⁸Next morning his spirit was agitated. So he summoned all the magicians and sages of Egypt and recounted his dreams to them; but no one could interpret his dreams for him.

⁹Then the chief cupbearer spoke up and said to Pharaoh: "On this occasion I am reminded of my negligence.

¹⁰Once, when Pharaoh was angry, he put me and the chief baker in custody in the house of the chief steward.

¹¹Later, we both had dreams on the same night, and each of our dreams had its own meaning.

¹²There with us was a Hebrew youth, a slave of the chief steward; and when we told him our dreams, he interpreted them for us and explained for each of us the meaning of his dream.

¹³And it turned out just as he had told us: I was restored to my post, but the other man was impaled."

¹⁴Pharaoh therefore had Joseph summoned, and they hurriedly brought him from the dungeon. After he shaved and changed his clothes, he came into Pharaoh's presence.

¹⁵Pharaoh then said to him: "I had certain dreams that no one can interpret. But I hear it said of you that the moment you are told a dream you can interpret it."

¹⁶"It is not I," Joseph replied to Pharaoh, "but God who will give Pharaoh the right answer."

¹⁷Then Pharaoh said to Joseph: "In my dream, I was standing on the bank of the Nile, ¹⁸when up from the Nile came seven cows, fat and well-formed; they grazed in the reed grass.

¹⁹Behind them came seven other cows, scrawny, most ill-formed and gaunt. Never have I seen such ugly specimens as these in all the land of Egypt!

²¹But when they had consumed them, no one could tell that they had done so, because they looked as ugly as before. Then I woke up.

²²In another dream I saw seven ears of grain, fat and healthy, growing on a single stalk.

²³Behind them sprouted seven ears of grain, shriveled and thin and blasted by the east wind;

²⁴and the seven thin ears swallowed up the seven healthy ears. I have spoken to the magicians, but none of them can give me an explanation."

²⁵Joseph said to Pharaoh: "Both of Pharaoh's dreams have the same meaning. God has thus foretold to Pharaoh what he is about to do.

²⁶The seven healthy cows are seven years, and the seven healthy ears are seven years--the same in each dream.

²⁷So also, the seven thin, ugly cows that came up after them are seven years, as are the seven thin, wind-blasted ears; they are seven years of famine.

²⁸It is just as I told Pharaoh: God has revealed to Pharaoh what he is about to do.

²⁹Seven years of great abundance are now coming throughout the land of Egypt;

³⁰but these will be followed by seven years of famine, when all the abundance in the land of Egypt will be forgotten. When the famine has ravaged the land,

³¹no trace of the abundance will be found in the land because of the famine that follows it--so utterly severe will that famine be.

³²That Pharaoh had the same dream twice means that the matter has been reaffirmed by God and that God will soon bring it about.

³³"Therefore, let Pharaoh seek out a wise and discerning man and put him in charge of the land of Egypt.

³⁴Pharaoh should also take action to appoint overseers, so as to regiment the land during the seven years of abundance.

³⁵They should husband all the food of the coming good years, collecting the grain under Pharaoh's authority, to be stored in the towns for food.

³⁶This food will serve as a reserve for the country against the seven years of famine that are to follow in the land of Egypt, so that the land may not perish in the famine."

³⁷This advice pleased Pharaoh and all his officials.

³⁸"Could we find another like him," Pharaoh asked his officials, "a man so endowed with the spirit of God?"

³⁹So Pharaoh said to Joseph: "Since God has made all this known to you, no one can be as wise and discerning as you are.

⁴⁰You shall be in charge of my palace, and all my people shall dart at your command. Only in respect to the throne shall I outrank you.

⁴¹Herewith," Pharaoh told Joseph, "I place you in charge of the whole land of Egypt."

⁴²With that, Pharaoh took off his signet ring and put it on Joseph's finger. He had him dressed in robes of fine linen and put a gold chain about his neck.

⁴³He then had him ride in the chariot of his vizier, and they shouted "Abrek!" before him. Thus was Joseph installed over the whole land of Egypt.

⁴⁴"I, Pharaoh, proclaim," he told Joseph, "that without your approval no one shall move hand or foot in all the land of Egypt."

⁴⁵Pharaoh also bestowed the name of Zaphnath-paneah on Joseph, and he gave him in marriage Asenath, the daughter of Potiphera, priest of Heliopolis.

⁴⁶Joseph was thirty years old when he entered the service of Pharaoh, king of Egypt. After Joseph left Pharaoh's presence, he traveled throughout the land of Egypt.

⁴⁷During the seven years of plenty, when the land produced abundant crops,

⁴⁸he husbanded all the food of these years of plenty that the land of Egypt was enjoying and stored it in the towns, placing in each town the crops of the fields around it.

⁴⁹Joseph garnered grain in quantities like the sands of the sea, so vast that at last he stopped measuring it, for it was beyond measure.

⁵⁰Before the famine years set in, Joseph became the father of two sons, borne to him by Asenath, daughter of Potiphera, priest of Heliopolis.

⁵¹He named his first-born Manasseh, meaning, "God has made me forget entirely the sufferings I endured at the hands of my family";

⁵²and the second he named Ephraim, meaning, "God has made me fruitful in the land of my affliction."

⁵³When the seven years of abundance enjoyed by the land of Egypt came to an end,

⁵⁴the seven years of famine set in, just as Joseph had predicted. Although there was famine in all the other countries, food was available throughout the land of Egypt.

⁵⁵When hunger came to be felt throughout the land of Egypt and the people cried to Pharaoh for bread, Pharaoh directed all the Egyptians to go to Joseph and do whatever he told them.

⁵⁶When the famine had spread throughout the land, Joseph opened all the cities that had grain and rationed it to the Egyptians, since the famine had gripped the land of Egypt.

⁵⁷In fact, all the world came to Joseph to obtain rations of grain, for famine had gripped the whole world.

42When Jacob learned that grain rations were available in Egypt, he said to his sons: "Why do you keep gaping at one another?"

²I hear," he went on, "that rations of grain are available in Egypt. Go down there and buy some for us, that we may stay alive rather than die of hunger."

³So ten of Joseph's brothers went down to buy an emergency supply of grain from Egypt.

⁴It was only Joseph's full brother Benjamin that Jacob did not send with the rest, for he thought some disaster might befall him.

⁵Thus, since there was famine in the land of Canaan also, the sons of Israel were among those who came to procure rations.

⁶It was Joseph, as governor of the country, who dispensed the rations to all the people. When Joseph's brothers came and knelt down before him with their faces to the ground,

⁷he recognized them as soon as he saw them. But he concealed his own identity from them and spoke sternly to them. "Where do you come from?" he asked them. They answered, "From the land of Canaan, to procure food."

⁸When Joseph recognized his brothers, although they did not recognize him,

⁹he was reminded of the dreams he had about them. He said to them: "You are spies. You have come to see the nakedness of the land."

¹⁰"No, my lord," they replied. "On the contrary, your servants have come to procure food.

¹¹All of us are sons of the same man. We are honest men; your servants have never been spies."

¹²But he answered them: "Not so! You have come to see the nakedness of the land."

¹³"We your servants," they said, "were twelve brothers, sons of a certain man in Canaan; but the youngest one is at present with our father, and the other one is gone."

¹⁵This is how you shall be tested: unless your youngest brother comes here, I swear by the life of Pharaoh that you shall not leave here.

¹⁶So send one of your number to get your brother, while the rest of you stay here under arrest. Thus shall your words be tested for their truth; if they are untrue, as Pharaoh lives, you are spies!"

¹⁷With that, he locked them up in the guardhouse for three days.

¹⁸On the third day Joseph said to them: "Do this, and you shall live; for I am a God-fearing man.

¹⁹If you have been honest, only one of your brothers need be confined in this prison, while the rest of you may go and take home provisions for your starving families.

²⁰But you must come back to me with your youngest brother. Your words will thus be verified, and you will not die." To this they agreed.

²¹To one another, however, they said: "Alas, we are being punished because of our brother. We saw the anguish of his heart when he pleaded with us, yet we paid no heed; that is why this anguish has now come upon us."

- ²²"Didn't I tell you," broke in Reuben, "not to do wrong to the boy? But you wouldn't listen! Now comes the reckoning for his blood."
- ²³They did not know, of course, that Joseph understood what they said, since he spoke with them through an interpreter.
- ²⁴But turning away from them, he wept. When he was able to speak to them again, he had Simeon taken from them and bound before their eyes.
- ²⁵Then Joseph gave orders to have their containers filled with grain, their money replaced in each one's sack, and provisions given them for their journey. After this had been done for them,
- ²⁶they loaded their donkeys with the rations and departed.
- ²⁷At the night encampment, when one of them opened his bag to give his donkey some fodder, he was surprised to see his money in the mouth of his bag.
- ²⁸"My money has been returned!" he cried out to his brothers. "Here it is in my bag!" At that their hearts sank. Trembling, they asked one another, "What is this that God has done to us?"
- ²⁹When they got back to their father Jacob in the land of Canaan, they told him all that had happened to them.
- ³⁰"The man who is lord of the country," they said, "spoke to us sternly and put us in custody as if we were spying on the land.
- ³¹But we said to him: 'We are honest men; we have never been spies.
- ³²There were twelve of us brothers, sons of the same father; but one is gone, and the youngest one is at present with our father in the land of Canaan.'
- ³³Then the man who is lord of the country said to us: 'This is how I shall know if you are honest men: leave one of your brothers with me, while the rest of you go home with rations for your starving families.
- ³⁴When you come back to me with your youngest brother, and I know that you are honest men and not spies, I will restore your brother to you, and you may move about freely in the land.'"

³⁵When they were emptying their sacks, there in each one's sack was his moneybag! At the sight of their moneybags, they and their father were dismayed.

³⁶Their father Jacob said to them: "Must you make me childless? Joseph is gone, and Simeon is gone, and now you would take away Benjamin! Why must such things always happen to me?"

³⁷Then Reuben told his father: "Put him in my care, and I will bring him back to you. You may kill my own two sons if I do not return him to you."

³⁸But Jacob replied: "My son shall not go down with you. Now that his full brother is dead, he is the only one left. If some disaster should befall him on the journey you must make, you would send my white head down to the nether world in grief."

Now the famine in the land grew more severe.

²So when they had used up all the rations they had brought from Egypt, their father said to them, "Go back and procure us a little more food."

³But Judah replied: "The man strictly warned us, 'You shall not appear in my presence unless your brother is with you.'

⁴If you are willing to let our brother go with us, we will go down to procure food for you.

⁵But if you are not willing, we will not go down, because the man told us, 'You shall not appear in my presence unless your brother is with you.'"

⁶Israel demanded, "Why did you bring this trouble on me by telling the man that you had another brother?"

⁷They answered: "The man kept asking about ourselves and our family: 'Is your father still living? Do you have another brother?' We had to answer his questions. How could we know that he would say, 'Bring your brother down here'?"

⁸Then Judah urged his father Israel: "Let the boy go with me, that we may be off and on our way if you and we and our children are to keep from starving to death.

⁹I myself will stand surety for him. You can hold me responsible for him. If I fail to bring him back, to set him in your presence, you can hold it against me forever.

¹⁰Had we not dilly-dallied, we could have been there and back twice by now!"

¹¹Their father Israel then told them: "If it must be so, then do this: Put some of the land's best products in your baggage and take them down to the man as gifts: some balm and honey, gum and resin, and pistachios and almonds.

¹²Also take extra money along, for you must return the amount that was put back in the mouths of your bags; it may have been a mistake.

¹³Take your brother, too, and be off on your way back to the man.

¹⁴May God Almighty dispose the man to be merciful toward you, so that he may let your other brother go, as well as Benjamin. As for me, if I am to suffer bereavement, I shall suffer it."

¹⁵So the men got the gifts, took double the amount of money with them, and, accompanied by Benjamin, were off on their way down to Egypt to present themselves to Joseph.

¹⁶When Joseph saw Benjamin with them, he told his head steward, "Take these men into the house, and have an animal slaughtered and prepared, for they are to dine with me at noon."

¹⁷Doing as Joseph had ordered, the steward conducted the men to Joseph's house.

¹⁸But on being led to his house, they became apprehensive. "It must be," they thought, "on account of the money put back in our bags the first time, that we are taken inside; they want to use it as a pretext to attack us and take our donkeys and seize us as slaves."

¹⁹So they went up to Joseph's head steward and talked to him at the entrance of the house.

²⁰"If you please, sir," they said, "we came down here once before to procure food.

²¹But when we arrived at a night's encampment and opened our bags, there was each man's money in the mouth of his bag--our money in the full amount! We have now brought it back.

²²We have brought other money to procure food with. We do not know who put the first money in our bags."

²³"Be at ease," he replied; "you have no need to fear. Your God and the God of your father must have put treasures in your bags for you. As for your money, I received it." With that, he led Simeon out to them.

²⁴The steward then brought the men inside Joseph's house. He gave them water to bathe their feet, and got fodder for their donkeys.

²⁵Then they set out their gifts to await Joseph's arrival at noon, for they had heard that they were to dine there.

²⁶When Joseph came home, they presented him with the gifts they had brought inside, while they bowed down before him to the ground.

²⁷After inquiring how they were, he asked them, "And how is your aged father, of whom you spoke? Is he still in good health?"

²⁸"Your servant our father is thriving and still in good health," they said, as they bowed respectfully.

²⁹When Joseph's eye fell on his full brother Benjamin, he asked, "Is this your youngest brother, of whom you told me?" Then he said to him, "May God be gracious to you, my boy!"

³⁰With that, Joseph had to hurry out, for he was so overcome with affection for his brother that he was on the verge of tears. He went into a private room and wept there.

³¹After washing his face, he reappeared and, now in control of himself, gave the order, "Serve the meal."

³²It was served separately to him, to the brothers, and to the Egyptians who partook of his board. (Egyptians may not eat with Hebrews; that is abhorrent to them.)

³³When they were seated by his directions according to their age, from the oldest to the youngest, they looked at one another in amazement;

³⁴and as portions were brought to them from Joseph's table, Benjamin's portion was five times as large as anyone else's. So they drank freely and made merry with him.

44 Then Joseph gave his head steward these instructions: "Fill the men's bags with as much food as they can carry, and put each man's money in the mouth of his bag.

⁴They had not gone far out of the city when Joseph said to his head steward: "Go at once after the men! When you overtake them, say to them, 'Why did you repay good with evil? Why did you steal the silver goblet from me?'"

⁵It is the very one from which my master drinks and which he uses for divination. What you have done is wrong."

⁶When the steward overtook them and repeated these words to them,

⁷they remonstrated with him: "How can my lord say such things? Far be it from your servants to do such a thing!"

⁸We even brought back to you from the land of Canaan the money that we found in the mouths of our bags. Why, then, would we steal silver or gold from your master's house?"

⁹If any of your servants is found to have the goblet, he shall die, and as for the rest of us, we shall become my lord's slaves."

¹⁰But he replied, "Even though it ought to be as you propose, only the one who is found to have it shall become my slave, and the rest of you shall be exonerated."

¹¹Then each of them eagerly lowered his bag to the ground and opened it;

¹²and when a search was made, starting with the oldest and ending with the youngest, the goblet turned up in Benjamin's bag.

¹³At this, they tore their clothes. Then, when each man had reloaded his donkey, they returned to the city.

¹⁴As Judah and his brothers reentered Joseph's house, he was still there; so they flung themselves on the ground before him.

¹⁵"How could you do such a thing?" Joseph asked them. "You should have known that such a man as I could discover by divination what happened."

¹⁶Judah replied: "What can we say to my lord? How can we plead or how try to prove our innocence? God has uncovered your servants' guilt. Here we are, then, the slaves of my lord--the rest of us no less than the one in whose possession the goblet was found."

¹⁷"Far be it from me to act thus!" said Joseph. "Only the one in whose possession the goblet was found shall become my slave; the rest of you may go back safe and sound to your father."

¹⁸Judah then stepped up to him and said: "I beg you, my lord, let your servant speak earnestly to my lord, and do not become angry with your servant, for you are the equal of Pharaoh."

¹⁹My lord asked your servants, 'Have you a father, or another brother?'

²⁰So we said to my lord, 'We have an aged father, and a young brother, the child of his old age. This one's full brother is dead, and since he is the only one by that mother who is left, his father dotes on him.'

²¹Then you told your servants, 'Bring him down to me that my eyes may look on him.'

²²We replied to my lord, 'The boy cannot leave his father; his father would die if he were to leave him.'

²³But you told your servants, 'Unless your youngest brother comes back with you, you shall not come into my presence again.'

²⁴When we returned to your servant our father, we reported to him the words of my lord.

²⁵"Later, our father told us to come back and buy some food for the family.

²⁶So we reminded him, 'We cannot go down there; only if our youngest brother is with us can we go, for we may not see the man if our youngest brother is not with us.'

²⁷Then your servant our father said to us, 'As you know, my wife bore me two sons.

²⁸One of them, however, disappeared, and I had to conclude that he must have been torn to pieces by wild beasts; I have not seen him since.

²⁹If you now take this one away from me too, and some disaster befalls him, you will send my white head down to the nether world in grief.'

³⁰"If then the boy is not with us when I go back to your servant my father, whose very life is bound up with his, he will die as soon as he sees that the boy is missing;

³¹and your servants will thus send the white head of our father down to the nether world in grief.

³²Besides, I, your servant, got the boy from his father by going surety for him, saying, 'If I fail to bring him back to you, father, you can hold it against me forever.'

³³Let me, your servant, therefore, remain in place of the boy as the slave of my lord, and let the boy go back with his brothers.

³⁴How could I go back to my father if the boy were not with me? I could not bear to see the anguish that would overcome my father."

45 Joseph could no longer control himself in the presence of all his attendants, so he cried out, "Have everyone withdraw from me!" Thus no one else was about when he made himself known to his brothers.

²But his sobs were so loud that the Egyptians heard him, and so the news reached Pharaoh's palace.

³"I am Joseph," he said to his brothers. "Is my father still in good health?" But his brothers could give him no answer, so dumbfounded were they at him.

⁴"Come closer to me," he told his brothers. When they had done so, he said: "I am your brother Joseph, whom you once sold into Egypt.

⁵But now do not be distressed, and do not reproach yourselves for having sold me here. It was really for the sake of saving lives that God sent me here ahead of you.

⁶For two years now the famine has been in the land, and for five more years tillage will yield no harvest.

⁷God, therefore, sent me on ahead of you to ensure for you a remnant on earth and to save your lives in an extraordinary deliverance.

⁸So it was not really you but God who had me come here; and he has made of me a father to Pharaoh, lord of all his household, and ruler over the whole land of Egypt.

- ⁹"Hurry back, then, to my father and tell him: 'Thus says your son Joseph: God has made me lord of all Egypt; come to me without delay.
- ¹⁰You will settle in the region of Goshen, where you will be near me--you and your children and grandchildren, your flocks and herds, and everything that you own.
- ¹¹Since five years of famine still lie ahead, I will provide for you there, so that you and your family and all that are yours may not suffer want.'
- ¹²Surely, you can see for yourselves, and Benjamin can see for himself, that it is I, Joseph, who am speaking to you.
- ¹³Tell my father all about my high position in Egypt and what you have seen. But hurry and bring my father down here."
- ¹⁴Thereupon he flung himself on the neck of his brother Benjamin and wept, and Benjamin wept in his arms.
- ¹⁵Joseph then kissed all his brothers, crying over each of them; and only then were his brothers able to talk with him.
- ¹⁶When the news reached Pharaoh's palace that Joseph's brothers had come, Pharaoh and his courtiers were pleased.
- ¹⁷So Pharaoh told Joseph: "Say to your brothers: 'This is what you shall do: Load up your animals and go without delay to the land of Canaan.
- ¹⁸There get your father and your families, and then come back here to me; I will assign you the best land in Egypt, where you will live off the fat of the land.'
- ¹⁹Instruct them further: 'Do this. Take wagons from the land of Egypt for your children and your wives and to transport your father on your way back here.
- ²⁰Do not be concerned about your belongings, for the best in the whole land of Egypt shall be yours.'"
- ²¹The sons of Israel acted accordingly. Joseph gave them the wagons, as Pharaoh had ordered, and he supplied them with provisions for the journey.
- ²²He also gave to each of them fresh clothing, but to Benjamin he gave three hundred shekels of silver and five sets of garments.

²³Moreover, what he sent to his father was ten jackasses loaded with the finest products of Egypt and ten jennies loaded with grain and bread and other provisions for his journey.

²⁴As he sent his brothers on their way, he told them, "Let there be no recriminations on the way."

²⁶When they told him, "Joseph is still alive--in fact, it is he who is ruler of all the land of Egypt," he was dumbfounded; he could not believe them.

²⁷But when they recounted to him all that Joseph had told them, and when he saw the wagons that Joseph had sent for his transport, the spirit of their father Jacob revived.

²⁸"It is enough," said Israel. "My son Joseph is still alive! I must go and see him before I die."

46 Israel set out with all that was his. When he arrived at Beer-sheba, he offered sacrifices to the God of his father Isaac.

²There God, speaking to Israel in a vision by night, called, "Jacob! Jacob!" "Here I am," he answered.

³Then he said: "I am God, the God of your father. Do not be afraid to go down to Egypt, for there I will make you a great nation.

⁴Not only will I go down to Egypt with you; I will also bring you back here, after Joseph has closed your eyes."

⁵So Jacob departed from Beer-sheba, and the sons of Israel put their father and their wives and children on the wagons that Pharaoh had sent for his transport.

⁶They took with them their livestock and the possessions they had acquired in the land of Canaan. Thus Jacob and all his descendants migrated to Egypt.

⁷His sons and his grandsons, his daughters and his granddaughters--all his descendants--he took with him to Egypt.

⁸These are the names of the Israelites, Jacob and his descendants, who migrated to Egypt. Reuben, Jacob's first-born,

¹⁰The sons of Simeon: Nemuel, Jamin, Ohad, Jachin, Zohar, and Shaul, son of a Canaanite woman.

¹²The sons of Judah: Er, Onan, Shelah, Perez, and Zerah--but Er and Onan had died in the land of Canaan; and the sons of Perez were Hezron and Hamul.

¹⁵These were the sons whom Leah bore to Jacob in Paddan-aram, along with his daughter Dinah--thirty-three persons in all, male and female.

¹⁷The sons of Asher: Imnah, Ishvah, Ishvi, and Beriah, with their sister Serah; and the sons of Beriah: Heber and Malchiel.

¹⁸These were the descendants of Zilpah, whom Laban had given to his daughter Leah; these she bore to Jacob--sixteen persons in all.

¹⁹The sons of Jacob's wife Rachel: Joseph and Benjamin.

²⁰In the land of Egypt Joseph became the father of Manasseh and Ephraim, whom Asenath, daughter of Potiphera, priest of Heliopolis, bore to him.

²¹The sons of Benjamin: Bela, Becher, Ashbel, Gera, Naaman, Ahiram, Shupham, Hupham, and Ard.

²²These were the sons whom Rachel bore to Jacob--fourteen persons in all.

²³The sons of Dan: Hushim.

²⁴The sons of Naphtali: Jahzeel, Guni, Jezer, and Shillem.

²⁵These were the sons of Bilhah, whom Laban had given to his daughter Rachel; these she bore to Jacob--seven persons in all.

²⁶Jacob's people who migrated to Egypt--his direct descendants, not counting the wives of Jacob's sons--numbered sixty-six persons in all.

²⁷Together with Joseph's sons who were born to him in Egypt--two persons--all the people comprising Jacob's family who had come to Egypt amounted to seventy persons in all.

²⁸Israel had sent Judah ahead to Joseph, so that he might meet him in Goshen. On his arrival in the region of Goshen, ²⁹Joseph hitched the horses to his chariot and rode to meet his father Israel in Goshen. As soon as he saw him, he flung himself on his neck and wept a long time in his arms.

³⁰And Israel said to Joseph, "At last I can die, now that I have seen for myself that Joseph is still alive."

³¹Joseph then said to his brothers and his father's household: "I will go and inform Pharaoh, telling him: 'My brothers and my father's household, whose home is in the land of Canaan, have come to me.'

³²The men are shepherds, having long been keepers of livestock; and they have brought with them their flocks and herds, as well as everything else they own.'

³³So when Pharaoh summons you and asks what your occupation is,

³⁴you must answer, 'We your servants, like our ancestors, have been keepers of livestock from the beginning until now,' in order that you may stay in the region of Goshen, since all shepherds are abhorrent to the Egyptians."

47 Joseph went and told Pharaoh, "My father and my brothers have come from the land of Canaan, with their flocks and herds and everything else they own; and they are now in the region of Goshen."

²He then presented to Pharaoh five of his brothers whom he had selected from their full number.

³When Pharaoh asked them what their occupation was, they answered, "We, your servants, like our ancestors, are shepherds.

⁴"We have come," they continued, "in order to stay in this country, for there is no pasture for your servants' flocks in the land of Canaan, so severe has the famine been there. Please, therefore, let your servants settle in the region of Goshen."

⁵Pharaoh said to Joseph, "They may settle in the region of Goshen; and if you know any of them to be qualified, you may put them in charge of my own livestock." Thus, when Jacob and his sons came to Joseph in Egypt, and Pharaoh, king of Egypt, heard about it, Pharaoh said to Joseph, "Now that your father and brothers have come to you,

⁶the land of Egypt is at your disposal; settle your father and brothers in the pick of the land."

⁷Then Joseph brought his father Jacob and presented him to Pharaoh. After Jacob had paid his respects to Pharaoh,

⁸Pharaoh asked him, "How many years have you lived?"

⁹Jacob replied: "The years I have lived as a wayfarer amount to a hundred and thirty. Few and hard have been these years of my life, and they do not compare with the years that my ancestors lived as wayfarers."

¹¹As Pharaoh had ordered, Joseph settled his father and brothers and gave them holdings in Egypt on the pick of the land, in the region of Rameses.

¹²And Joseph sustained his father and brothers and his father's whole household, down to the youngest, with food.

¹³Since there was no food in any country because of the extreme severity of the famine, and the lands of Egypt and Canaan were languishing from hunger,

¹⁴Joseph gathered in, as payment for the rations that were being dispensed, all the money that was to be found in Egypt and Canaan, and he put it in Pharaoh's palace.

¹⁵When all the money in Egypt and Canaan was spent, all the Egyptians came to Joseph, pleading, "Give us food or we shall perish under your eyes; for our money is gone."

¹⁶"Since your money is gone," replied Joseph, "give me your livestock, and I will sell you bread in return for your livestock."

¹⁷So they brought their livestock to Joseph, and he sold them food in return for their horses, their flocks of sheep and herds of cattle, and their donkeys. Thus he got them through that year with bread in exchange for all their livestock.

¹⁸When that year ended, they came to him in the following one and said: "We cannot hide from my lord that, with our money spent and our livestock made over to my lord, there is nothing left to put at my lord's disposal except our bodies and our farm land.

¹⁹Why should we and our land perish before your very eyes? Take us and our land in exchange for food, and we will become Pharaoh's slaves and our land his property; only give us seed, that we may survive and not perish, and that our land may not turn into a waste."

²⁰Thus Joseph acquired all the farm land of Egypt for Pharaoh, since with the famine too much for them to bear, every Egyptian sold his field; so the land passed over to Pharaoh, ²¹and the people were reduced to slavery, from one end of Egypt's territory to the other.

²²Only the priests' lands Joseph did not take over. Since the priests had a fixed allowance from Pharaoh and lived off the allowance Pharaoh had granted them, they did not have to sell their land.

²³Joseph told the people: "Now that I have acquired you and your land for Pharaoh, here is your seed for sowing the land.

²⁴But when the harvest is in, you must give a fifth of it to Pharaoh, while you keep four-fifths as seed for your fields and as food for yourselves and your families (and as food for your children)."

²⁵"You have saved our lives!" they answered. "We are grateful to my lord that we can be Pharaoh's slaves."

²⁶Thus Joseph made it a law for the land in Egypt, which is still in force, that a fifth of its produce should go to Pharaoh. Only the land of the priests did not pass over to Pharaoh.

²⁷Thus Israel settled in the land of Egypt, in the region of Goshen. There they acquired property, were fertile, and increased greatly.

²⁸ Jacob lived in the land of Egypt for seventeen years; the span of his life came to a hundred and forty-seven years.

²⁹ When the time approached for Israel to die, he called his son Joseph and said to him: "If you really wish to please me, put your hand under my thigh as a sign of your constant loyalty to me; do not let me be buried in Egypt.

³⁰ When I lie down with my ancestors, have me taken out of Egypt and buried in their burial place."

³¹ "I will do as you say," he replied. But his father demanded, "Swear it to me!" So Joseph swore to him. Then Israel bowed at the head of the bed.

48 Some time afterward, Joseph was informed, "Your father is failing." So he took along with him his two sons, Manasseh and Ephraim.

² When Jacob was told, "Your son Joseph has come to you," he rallied his strength and sat up in bed.

³ Jacob then said to Joseph: "God Almighty appeared to me at Luz in the land of Canaan, and blessing me,

⁴ he said, 'I will make you fertile and numerous and raise you into an assembly of tribes, and I will give this land to your descendants after you as a permanent possession.'

⁵ Your two sons, therefore, who were born to you in the land of Egypt before I joined you here, shall be mine; Ephraim and Manasseh shall be mine as much as Reuben and Simeon are mine.

⁶ Progeny born to you after them shall remain yours; but their heritage shall be recorded in the names of their two brothers.

⁷ I do this because, when I was returning from Paddan, your mother Rachel died, to my sorrow, during the journey in Canaan, while we were still a short distance from Ephrath; and I buried her there on the way to Ephrath (that is, Bethlehem)."

⁸ When Israel saw Joseph's sons, he asked, "Who are these?"

⁹ "They are my sons," Joseph answered his father, "whom God has given me here." "Bring them to me," said his father, "that I may bless them."

¹⁰(Now Israel's eyes were dim from age, and he could not see well.) When Joseph brought his sons close to him, he kissed and embraced them.

¹¹Then Israel said to Joseph, "I never expected to see your face again, and now God has allowed me to see your descendants as well!"

¹⁴But Israel, crossing his hands, put out his right hand and laid it on the head of Ephraim, although he was the younger, and his left hand on the head of Manasseh, although he was the first-born.

¹⁵Then he blessed them with these words: "May the God in whose ways my fathers Abraham and Isaac walked, The God who has been my shepherd from my birth to this day,

¹⁶The Angel who has delivered me from all harm, bless these boys That in them my name be recalled, and the names of my fathers, Abraham and Isaac, And they may become teeming multitudes upon the earth!"

¹⁷When Joseph saw that his father had laid his right hand on Ephraim's head, this seemed wrong to him; so he took hold of his father's hand, to remove it from Ephraim's head to Manasseh's,

¹⁸saying, "That is not right, father; the other one is the first-born; lay your right hand on his head!"

¹⁹But his father resisted. "I know it, son," he said, "I know. That one too shall become a tribe, and he too shall be great. Nevertheless, his younger brother shall surpass him, and his descendants shall become a multitude of nations."

²⁰So when he blessed them that day and said, "By you shall the people of Israel pronounce blessings; may they say, 'God make you like Ephraim and Manasseh,'" he placed Ephraim before Manasseh.

²¹Then Israel said to Joseph: "I am about to die. But God will be with you and will restore you to the land of your fathers.

²²As for me, I give to you, as to the one above his brothers, Shechem, which I captured from the Amorites with my sword and bow."

49 Jacob called his sons and said: "Gather around, that I may tell you what is to happen to you in days to come.

²"Assemble and listen, sons of Jacob, listen to Israel, your father.

³"You, Reuben, my first-born, my strength and the first fruit of my manhood, excelling in rank and excelling in power!

⁴Unruly as water, you shall no longer excel, for you climbed into your father's bed and defiled my couch to my sorrow.

⁶Let not my soul enter their council, or my spirit be joined with their company; For in their fury they slew men, in their willfulness they maimed oxen.

⁷Cursed be their fury so fierce, and their rage so cruel! I will scatter them in Jacob, disperse them throughout Israel.

⁸"You, Judah, shall your brothers praise --your hand on the neck of your enemies; the sons of your father shall bow down to you.

⁹Judah, like a lion's whelp, you have grown up on prey, my son. He crouches like a lion recumbent, the king of beasts--who would dare rouse him?

¹⁰The scepter shall never depart from Judah, or the mace from between his legs, While tribute is brought to him, and he receives the people's homage.

¹³"Zebulun shall dwell by the seashore (This means a shore for ships), and his flank shall be based on Sidon.

¹⁵When he saw how good a settled life was, and how pleasant the country, He bent his shoulder to the burden and became a toiling serf.

¹⁷Let Dan be a serpent by the roadside, a horned viper by the path, That bites the horse's heel, so that the rider tumbles backward.

¹⁸"(I long for your deliverance, O LORD!)

¹⁹"Gad shall be raided by raiders, but he shall raid at their heels.

²⁰"Asher's produce is rich, and he shall furnish dainties for kings.

²³Harrying and attacking, the archers opposed him;

²⁴But each one's bow remained stiff, as their arms were unsteady, By the power of the Mighty One of Jacob, because of the Shepherd, the Rock of Israel,

²⁵The God of your father, who helps you, God Almighty, who blesses you, With the blessings of the heavens above, the blessings of the abyss that crouches below, The blessings of breasts and womb, ²⁶the blessings of fresh grain and blossoms, The blessings of the everlasting mountains, the delights of the eternal hills. May they rest on the head of Joseph, on the brow of the prince among his brothers.

²⁷"Benjamin is a ravenous wolf; mornings he devours the prey, and evenings he distributes the spoils."

²⁸All these are the twelve tribes of Israel, and this is what their father said about them, as he bade them farewell and gave to each of them an appropriate message.

²⁹Then he gave them this charge: "Since I am about to be taken to my kindred, bury me with my fathers in the cave that lies in the field of Ephron the Hittite, ³⁰the cave in the field of Machpelah, facing on Mamre, in the land of Canaan, the field that Abraham bought from Ephron the Hittite for a burial ground.

³¹There Abraham and his wife Sarah are buried, and so are Isaac and his wife Rebekah, and there, too, I buried Leah--

³²the field and the cave in it that had been purchased from the Hittites."

³³When Jacob had finished giving these instructions to his sons, he drew his feet into the bed, breathed his last, and was taken to his kindred.

50 Joseph threw himself on his father's face and wept over him as he kissed him.

²Then he ordered the physicians in his service to embalm his father. When they embalmed Israel, ³they spent forty days at it, for that is the full period of embalming; and the Egyptians mourned him for seventy days.

⁴When that period of mourning was over, Joseph spoke to Pharaoh's courtiers. "Please do me this favor," he said, "and convey to Pharaoh this request of mine.

⁵Since my father, at the point of death, made me promise on oath to bury him in the tomb that he had prepared for himself in the land of Canaan, may I go up there to bury my father and then come back?"

⁶Pharaoh replied, "Go and bury your father, as he made you promise on oath."

⁷So Joseph left to bury his father; and with him went all of Pharaoh's officials who were senior members of his court and all the other dignitaries of Egypt,

⁹Chariots, too, and charioteers went up with him; it was a very large retinue.

¹⁰When they arrived at Goren-ha-atad, which is beyond the Jordan, they held there a very great and solemn memorial service; and Joseph observed seven days of mourning for his father.

¹¹When the Canaanites who inhabited the land saw the mourning at Goren-ha-atad, they said, "This is a solemn funeral the Egyptians are having." That is why the place was named Abel-mizraim. It is beyond the Jordan.

¹²Thus Jacob's sons did for him as he had instructed them.

¹³They carried him to the land of Canaan and buried him in the cave in the field of Machpelah, facing on Mamre, the field that Abraham had bought for a burial ground from Ephron the Hittite.

¹⁴After Joseph had buried his father he returned to Egypt, together with his brothers and all who had gone up with him for the burial of his father.

¹⁵Now that their father was dead, Joseph's brothers became fearful and thought, "Suppose Joseph has been nursing a grudge against us and now plans to pay us back in full for all the wrong we did him!"

¹⁶So they approached Joseph and said: "Before your father died, he gave us these instructions:

¹⁷"You shall say to Joseph, Jacob begs you to forgive the criminal wrongdoing of your brothers, who treated you so cruelly.' Please, therefore, forgive the crime that we, the servants of your father's God, committed." When they spoke these words to him, Joseph broke into tears.

¹⁸Then his brothers proceeded to fling themselves down before him and said, "Let us be your slaves!"

¹⁹But Joseph replied to them: "Have no fear. Can I take the place of God?"

²⁰Even though you meant harm to me, God meant it for good, to achieve his present end, the survival of many people.

²¹Therefore have no fear. I will provide for you and for your children." By thus speaking kindly to them, he reassured them.

²³He saw Ephraim's children to the third generation, and the children of Manasseh's son Machir were also born on Joseph's knees.

²⁴Joseph said to his brothers: "I am about to die. God will surely take care of you and lead you out of this land to the land that he promised on oath to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob."

²⁵Then, putting the sons of Israel under oath, he continued, "When God thus takes care of you, you must bring my bones up with you from this place."

²⁶Joseph died at the age of a hundred and ten. He was embalmed and laid to rest in a coffin in Egypt.

Exodus

1 These are the names of the sons of Israel who, accompanied by their households, migrated with Jacob into Egypt:

²Reuben, Simeon, Levi and Judah;

³Issachar, Zebulun and Benjamin;

⁴Dan and Naphtali; Gad and Asher.

⁵The total number of the direct descendants of Jacob was seventy. Joseph was already in Egypt.

⁶Now Joseph and all his brothers and that whole generation died.

⁷But the Israelites were fruitful and prolific. They became so numerous and strong that the land was filled with them.

⁸Then a new king, who knew nothing of Joseph, came to power in Egypt.

⁹He said to his subjects, "Look how numerous and powerful the Israelite people are growing, more so than we ourselves!

¹⁰Come, let us deal shrewdly with them to stop their increase; otherwise, in time of war they too may join our enemies to fight against us, and so leave our country."

¹¹Accordingly, taskmasters were set over the Israelites to oppress them with forced labor. Thus they had to build for Pharaoh the supply cities of Pithom and Raamses.

¹²Yet the more they were oppressed, the more they multiplied and spread. The Egyptians, then, dreaded the Israelites

¹³and reduced them to cruel slavery,

¹⁴making life bitter for them with hard work in mortar and brick and all kinds of field work--the whole cruel fate of slaves.

¹⁵The king of Egypt told the Hebrew midwives, one of whom was called Shiphrah and the other Puah,

¹⁶When you act as midwives for the Hebrew women and see them giving birth, if it is a boy, kill him; but if it is a girl, she may live."

¹⁷The midwives, however, feared God; they did not do as the king of Egypt had ordered them, but let the boys live.

¹⁸So the king summoned the midwives and asked them, "Why have you acted thus, allowing the boys to live?"

¹⁹The midwives answered Pharaoh, "The Hebrew women are not like the Egyptian women. They are robust and give birth before the midwife arrives."

²⁰Therefore God dealt well with the midwives. The people, too, increased and grew strong.

²¹And because the midwives feared God, he built up families for them.

²²Pharaoh then commanded all his subjects, "Throw into the river every boy that is born to the Hebrews, but you may let all the girls live."

2 Now a certain man of the house of Levi married a Levite woman,

²who conceived and bore a son. Seeing that he was a goodly child, she hid him for three months.

³When she could hide him no longer, she took a papyrus basket, daubed it with bitumen and pitch, and putting the child in it, placed it among the reeds on the river bank.

⁵Pharaoh's daughter came down to the river to bathe, while her maids walked along the river bank. Noticing the basket among the reeds, she sent her handmaid to fetch it.

⁶On opening it, she looked, and lo, there was a baby boy, crying! She was moved with pity for him and said, "It is one of the Hebrews' children."

⁷Then his sister asked Pharaoh's daughter, "Shall I go and call one of the Hebrew women to nurse the child for you?"

⁸"Yes, do so," she answered. So the maiden went and called the child's own mother.

⁹Pharaoh's daughter said to her, "Take this child and nurse it for me, and I will repay you." The woman therefore took the child and nursed it.

¹⁰When the child grew, she brought him to Pharaoh's daughter, who adopted him as her son and called him Moses; for she said, "I drew him out of the water."

¹¹On one occasion, after Moses had grown up, when he visited his kinsmen and witnessed their forced labor, he saw an Egyptian striking a Hebrew, one of his own kinsmen.

¹²Looking about and seeing no one, he slew the Egyptian and hid him in the sand.

¹³The next day he went out again, and now two Hebrews were fighting! So he asked the culprit, "Why are you striking your fellow Hebrew?"

¹⁴But he replied, "Who has appointed you ruler and judge over us? Are you thinking of killing me as you killed the Egyptian?" Then Moses became afraid and thought, "The affair must certainly be known."

¹⁵Pharaoh, too, heard of the affair and sought to put him to death. But Moses fled from him and stayed in the land of Midian. As he was seated there by a well, ¹⁶seven daughters of a priest of Midian came to draw water and fill the troughs to water their father's flock.

¹⁷But some shepherds came and drove them away. Then Moses got up and defended them and watered their flock.

¹⁸When they returned to their father Reuel, he said to them, "How is it you have returned so soon today?"

¹⁹They answered, "An Egyptian saved us from the interference of the shepherds. He even drew water for us and watered the flock!"

²⁰"Where is the man?" he asked his daughters. "Why did you leave him there? Invite him to have something to eat."

²¹ Moses agreed to live with him, and the man gave him his daughter Zipporah in marriage.

²² She bore him a son, whom he named Gershom; for he said, "I am a stranger in a foreign land."

²³ A long time passed, during which the king of Egypt died. Still the Israelites groaned and cried out because of their slavery. As their cry for release went up to God,

²⁴ he heard their groaning and was mindful of his covenant with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.

²⁵ He saw the Israelites and knew. . . .

3 Meanwhile Moses was tending the flock of his father-in-law Jethro, the priest of Midian. Leading the flock across the desert, he came to Horeb, the mountain of God.

² There an angel of the LORD appeared to him in fire flaming out of a bush. As he looked on, he was surprised to see that the bush, though on fire, was not consumed.

³ So Moses decided, "I must go over to look at this remarkable sight, and see why the bush is not burned."

⁴ When the LORD saw him coming over to look at it more closely, God called out to him from the bush, "Moses! Moses!" He answered, "Here I am."

⁶ "I am the God of your father," he continued, "the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, the God of Jacob." Moses hid his face, for he was afraid to look at God.

⁷ But the LORD said, "I have witnessed the affliction of my people in Egypt and have heard their cry of complaint against their slave drivers, so I know well what they are suffering.

⁹So indeed the cry of the Israelites has reached me, and I have truly noted that the Egyptians are oppressing them.

¹⁰Come, now! I will send you to Pharaoh to lead my people, the Israelites, out of Egypt."

¹¹But Moses said to God, "Who am I that I should go to Pharaoh and lead the Israelites out of Egypt?"

¹²He answered, "I will be with you; and this shall be your proof that it is I who have sent you: when you bring my people out of Egypt, you will worship God on this very mountain."

¹³"But," said Moses to God, "when I go to the Israelites and say to them, 'The God of your fathers has sent me to you,' if they ask me, 'What is his name?' what am I to tell them?"

¹⁴God replied, "I am who am." Then he added, "This is what you shall tell the Israelites: I AM sent me to you."

¹⁵God spoke further to Moses, "Thus shall you say to the Israelites: The LORD, the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, the God of Jacob, has sent me to you. "This is my name forever; this is my title for all generations.

¹⁶"Go and assemble the elders of the Israelites, and tell them: The LORD, the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, has appeared to me and said: I am concerned about you and about the way you are being treated in Egypt;

¹⁷so I have decided to lead you up out of the misery of Egypt into the land of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Hivites and Jebusites, a land flowing with milk and honey.

¹⁸"Thus they will heed your message. Then you and the elders of Israel shall go to the king of Egypt and say to him: The LORD, the God of the Hebrews, has sent us word. Permit us, then, to go a three days' journey in the desert, that we may offer sacrifice to the LORD, our God.

¹⁹"Yet I know that the king of Egypt will not allow you to go unless he is forced.

²⁰I will stretch out my hand, therefore, and smite Egypt by doing all kinds of wondrous deeds there. After that he will send you away.

²¹I will even make the Egyptians so well-disposed toward this people that, when you leave, you will not go empty-handed.

²²Every woman shall ask her neighbor and her house guest for silver and gold articles and for clothing to put on your sons and daughters. Thus you will despoil the Egyptians."

4"But," objected Moses, "suppose they will not believe me, nor listen to my plea? For they may say, 'The LORD did not appear to you.'"

²The LORD therefore asked him, "What is that in your hand?" "A staff," he answered.

³The LORD then said, "Throw it on the ground." When he threw it on the ground it was changed into a serpent, and Moses shied away from it.

⁵"This will take place so that they may believe," he continued, "that the LORD, the God of their fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, the God of Jacob, did appear to you."

⁶Again the LORD said to him, "Put your hand in your bosom." He put it in his bosom, and when he withdrew it, to his surprise his hand was leprous, like snow.

⁷The LORD then said, "Now, put your hand back in your bosom." Moses put his hand back in his bosom, and when he withdrew it, to his surprise it was again like the rest of his body.

⁸"If they will not believe you, nor heed the message of the first sign, they should believe the message of the second.

⁹And if they will not believe even these two signs, nor heed your plea, take some water from the river and pour it on the dry land. The water you take from the river will become blood on the dry land."

¹⁰Moses, however, said to the LORD, "If you please, LORD, I have never been eloquent, neither in the past, nor recently, nor now that you have spoken to your servant; but I am slow of speech and tongue."

¹¹The LORD said to him, "Who gives one man speech and makes another deaf and dumb? Or who gives sight to one and makes another blind? Is it not I, the LORD?"

¹²Go, then! It is I who will assist you in speaking and will teach you what you are to say."

¹³Yet he insisted, "If you please, Lord, send someone else!"

¹⁴Then the LORD became angry with Moses and said, "Have you not your brother, Aaron the Levite? I know that he is an eloquent speaker. Besides, he is now on his way to meet you.

¹⁵When he sees you, his heart will be glad. You are to speak to him, then, and put the words in his mouth. I will assist both you and him in speaking and will teach the two of you what you are to do.

¹⁶He shall speak to the people for you: he shall be your spokesman, and you shall be as God to him.

¹⁷Take this staff in your hand; with it you are to perform the signs."

¹⁸After this Moses returned to his father-in-law Jethro and said to him, "Let me go back, please, to my kinsmen in Egypt, to see whether they are still living." Jethro replied, "Go in peace."

¹⁹In Midian the LORD said to Moses, "Go back to Egypt, for all the men who sought your life are dead."

²⁰So Moses took his wife and his sons, and started back to the land of Egypt, with them riding the ass. The staff of God he carried with him.

²¹The LORD said to him, "On your return to Egypt, see that you perform before Pharaoh all the wonders I have put in your power. I will make him obstinate, however, so that he will not let the people go.

²²So you shall say to Pharaoh: Thus says the LORD: Israel is my son, my first-born.

²³Hence I tell you: Let my son go, that he may serve me. If you refuse to let him go, I warn you, I will kill your son, your first-born."

²⁴On the journey, at a place where they spent the night, the Lord came upon Moses and would have killed him.

²⁵But Zipporah took a piece of flint and cut off her son's foreskin and, touching his person, she said, "You are a spouse of blood to me."

²⁶Then God let Moses go. At that time she said, "A spouse of blood," in regard to the circumcision.

²⁷The LORD said to Aaron, "Go into the desert to meet Moses." So he went, and when they met at the mountain of God, Aaron kissed him.

²⁸Moses informed him of all the LORD had said in sending him, and of the various signs he had enjoined upon him.

³⁰Aaron told them everything the LORD had said to Moses, and he performed the signs before the people.

³¹The people believed, and when they heard that the LORD was concerned about them and had seen their affliction, they bowed down in worship.

5 After that, Moses and Aaron went to Pharaoh and said, "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Let my people go, that they may celebrate a feast to me in the desert."

²Pharaoh answered, "Who is the LORD, that I should heed his plea to let Israel go? I do not know the LORD; even if I did, I would not let Israel go."

³They replied, "The God of the Hebrews has sent us word. Let us go a three days' journey in the desert, that we may offer sacrifice to the LORD, our God; otherwise he will punish us with pestilence or the sword."

⁴The king of Egypt answered them, "What do you mean, Moses and Aaron, by taking the people away from their work? Off to your labor!"

⁶That very day Pharaoh gave the taskmasters and foremen of the people this order:

⁷"You shall no longer supply the people with straw for their brickmaking as you have previously done. Let them go and gather straw themselves!"

⁸Yet you shall levy upon them the same quota of bricks as they have previously made. Do not reduce it. They are lazy; that is why they are crying, 'Let us go to offer sacrifice to our God.'

⁹Increase the work for the men, so that they keep their mind on it and pay no attention to lying words."

¹⁰So the taskmasters and foremen of the people went out and told them, "Thus says Pharaoh: I will not provide you with straw.

¹¹Go and gather the straw yourselves, wherever you can find it. Yet there must not be the slightest reduction in your work."

¹²The people, then, scattered throughout the land of Egypt to gather stubble for straw,

¹³while the taskmasters kept driving them on, saying, "Finish your work, the same daily amount as when your straw was supplied."

¹⁴The foremen of the Israelites, whom the taskmasters of Pharaoh had placed over them, were beaten, and were asked, "Why have you not completed your prescribed amount of bricks yesterday and today, as before?"

¹⁵Then the Israelite foremen came and made this appeal to Pharaoh: "Why do you treat your servants in this manner?"

¹⁶No straw is supplied to your servants, and still we are told to make bricks. Look how your servants are beaten! It is you who are at fault."

¹⁷Pharaoh answered, "It is just because you are lazy that you keep saying, 'Let us go and offer sacrifice to the LORD.'

¹⁸Off to work, then! Straw shall not be provided for you, but you must still deliver your quota of bricks."

¹⁹The Israelite foremen knew they were in a sorry plight, having been told not to reduce the daily amount of bricks.

²⁰When, therefore, they left Pharaoh and came upon Moses and Aaron, who were waiting to meet them,

²¹they said to them, "The LORD look upon you and judge! You have brought us into bad odor with Pharaoh and his servants and have put a sword in their hands to slay us."

²²Moses again had recourse to the LORD and said, "Lord, why do you treat this people so badly? And why did you send me on such a mission?"

²³Ever since I went to Pharaoh to speak in your name, he has maltreated this people of yours, and you have done nothing to rescue them."

6 Then the LORD answered Moses, "Now you shall see what I will do to Pharaoh. Forced by my mighty hand, he will send them away; compelled by my outstretched arm, he will drive them from his land."

²God also said to Moses, "I am the LORD.

³As God the Almighty I appeared to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, but my name, LORD, I did not make known to them.

⁴I also established my covenant with them, to give them the land of Canaan, the land in which they were living as aliens.

⁵And now that I have heard the groaning of the Israelites, whom the Egyptians are treating as slaves, I am mindful of my covenant.

⁶Therefore, say to the Israelites: I am the LORD. I will free you from the forced labor of the Egyptians and will deliver you from their slavery. I will rescue you by my outstretched arm and with mighty acts of judgment.

⁷I will take you as my own people, and you shall have me as your God. You will know that I, the LORD, am your God when I free you from the labor of the Egyptians

⁸and bring you into the land which I swore to give to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. I will give it to you as your own possession--I, the LORD!"

⁹But when Moses told this to the Israelites, they would not listen to him because of their dejection and hard slavery.

¹⁰Then the LORD said to Moses,

¹¹"Go and tell Pharaoh, king of Egypt, to let the Israelites leave his land."

- ¹²But Moses protested to the LORD, "If the Israelites would not listen to me, how can it be that Pharaoh will listen to me, poor speaker that I am!"
- ¹³Still, the LORD, to bring the Israelites out of Egypt, spoke to Moses and Aaron and gave them his orders regarding both the Israelites and Pharaoh, king of Egypt.
- ¹⁴These are the heads of the ancestral houses. The sons of Reuben, the first-born of Israel, were Hanoch, Pallu, Hezron and Carmi; these are the clans of Reuben.
- ¹⁵The sons of Simeon were Jenuel, Jamin, Ohad, Jachin, Zohar and Shaul, who was the son of a Canaanite woman; these are the clans of Simeon.
- ¹⁶The names of the sons of Levi, in their genealogical order, are Gershon, Kohath and Merari. Levi lived one hundred and thirty-seven years.
- ¹⁷The sons of Gershon, as heads of clans, were Libni and Shimei.

- ²⁰Amram married his aunt Jochebed, who bore him Aaron, Moses and Miriam. Amram lived one hundred and thirty-seven years.
- ²¹The sons of Izhar were Korah, Nepheg and Zichri.
- ²²The sons of Uzziel were Mishael, Elzaphan and Sithri.
- ²³Aaron married Amminadab's daughter, Elisheba, the sister of Nahshon; she bore him Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar.
- ²⁴The sons of Korah were Assir, Elkanah and Abiasaph. These are the clans of the Korahites.
- ²⁵Aaron's son, Eleazar, married one of Putiel's daughters, who bore him Phinehas. These are the heads of the ancestral clans of the Levites.
- ²⁶This is the Aaron and this the Moses to whom the LORD said, "Lead the Israelites from the land of Egypt, company by company."

²⁷These are the ones who spoke to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, to bring the Israelites out of Egypt--the same Moses and Aaron.

²⁸On the day the LORD spoke to Moses in Egypt

²⁹he said, "I am the LORD. Repeat to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, all that I tell you."

³⁰But Moses protested to the LORD, "Since I am a poor speaker, how can it be that Pharaoh will listen to me?"

7 The LORD answered him, "See! I have made you as God to Pharaoh, and Aaron your brother shall act as your prophet.

²You shall tell him all that I command you. In turn, your brother Aaron shall tell Pharaoh to let the Israelites leave his land.

³Yet I will make Pharaoh so obstinate that, despite the many signs and wonders that I will work in the land of Egypt,

⁴he will not listen to you. Therefore I will lay my hand on Egypt and by great acts of judgment I will bring the hosts of my people, the Israelites, out of the land of Egypt,

⁵so that the Egyptians may learn that I am the LORD, as I stretch out my hand against Egypt and lead the Israelites out of their midst."

⁶Moses and Aaron did as the LORD had commanded them.

⁷Moses was eighty years old and Aaron eighty-three when they spoke to Pharaoh.

⁸The LORD told Moses and Aaron,

⁹"If Pharaoh demands that you work a sign or wonder, you shall say to Aaron: Take your staff and throw it down before Pharaoh, and it will be changed into a snake."

¹⁰Then Moses and Aaron went to Pharaoh and did as the LORD had commanded. Aaron threw his staff down before Pharaoh and his servants, and it was changed into a snake.

¹¹Pharaoh, in turn, summoned wise men and sorcerers, and they also, the magicians of Egypt, did likewise by their magic arts.

¹²Each one threw down his staff, and it was changed into a snake. But Aaron's staff swallowed their staffs.

¹³Pharaoh, however, was obstinate and would not listen to them, just as the LORD had foretold.

¹⁴Then the LORD said to Moses, "Pharaoh is obdurate in refusing to let the people go.

¹⁵Tomorrow morning, when he sets out for the water, go and present yourself by the river bank, holding in your hand the staff that turned into a serpent.

¹⁶Say to him: The LORD, the God of the Hebrews, sent me to you with the message: Let my people go to worship me in the desert. But as yet you have not listened.

¹⁷The LORD now says: This is how you shall know that I am the LORD. I will strike the water of the river with the staff I hold, and it shall be changed into blood.

¹⁸The fish in the river shall die, and the river itself shall become so polluted that the Egyptians will be unable to drink its water."

¹⁹The LORD then said to Moses, "Say to Aaron: Take your staff and stretch out your hand over the waters of Egypt--their streams and canals and pools, all their supplies of water--that they may become blood. Throughout the land of Egypt there shall be blood, even in the wooden pails and stone jars."

²⁰Moses and Aaron did as the LORD had commanded. Aaron raised his staff and struck the waters of the river in full view of Pharaoh and his servants, and all the water of the river was changed into blood.

²¹The fish in the river died, and the river itself became so polluted that the Egyptians could not drink its water. There was blood throughout the land of Egypt.

²²But the Egyptian magicians did the same by their magic arts. So Pharaoh remained obstinate and would not listen to Moses and Aaron, just as the LORD had foretold.

²³He turned away and went into his house, with no concern even for this.

²⁴All the Egyptians had to dig in the neighborhood of the river for drinking water, since they could not drink the river water.

²⁵Seven days passed after the LORD had struck the river.

²⁶Then the LORD said to Moses, "Go to Pharaoh and tell him: Thus says the LORD: Let my people go to worship me.

²⁷If you refuse to let them go, I warn you, I will send a plague of frogs over all your territory.

²⁸The river will teem with frogs. They will come up into your palace and into your bedroom and onto your bed, into the houses of your servants, too, and your subjects, even into your ovens and your kneading bowls.

²⁹The frogs will swarm all over you and your subjects and your servants."

8The LORD then told Moses, "Say to Aaron: Stretch out your hand and your staff over the streams and canals and pools, to make frogs overrun the land of Egypt."

²Aaron stretched out his hand over the waters of Egypt, and the frogs came up and covered the land of Egypt.

³But the magicians did the same by their magic arts. They, too, made frogs overrun the land of Egypt.

⁴Then Pharaoh summoned Moses and Aaron and said, "Pray the LORD to remove the frogs from me and my subjects, and I will let the people go to offer sacrifice to the LORD."

⁵Moses answered Pharaoh, "Do me the favor of appointing the time when I am to pray for you and your servants and your subjects, that the frogs may be taken away from you and your houses and be left only in the river."

⁶"Tomorrow," said Pharaoh. Then Moses replied, "It shall be as you have said, so that you may learn that there is none like the LORD, our God.

⁷The frogs shall leave you and your houses, your servants and your subjects; only in the river shall they be left."

⁸After Moses and Aaron left Pharaoh's presence, Moses implored the LORD to fulfill the promise he had made to Pharaoh about the frogs;

⁹and the LORD did as Moses had asked. The frogs in the houses and courtyards and fields died off.

¹⁰Heaps and heaps of them were gathered up, and there was a stench in the land.

¹¹But when Pharaoh saw that there was a respite, he became obdurate and would not listen to them, just as the LORD had foretold.

¹²Thereupon the LORD said to Moses, "Tell Aaron to stretch out his staff and strike the dust of the earth, that it may be turned into gnats throughout the land of Egypt."

¹³They did so. Aaron stretched out his hand, and with his staff he struck the dust of the earth, and gnats came upon man and beast. The dust of the earth was turned into gnats throughout the land of Egypt.

¹⁴Though the magicians tried to bring forth gnats by their magic arts, they could not do so. As the gnats infested man and beast, ¹⁵the magicians said to Pharaoh, "This is the finger of God." Yet Pharaoh remained obstinate and would not listen to them, just as the LORD had foretold.

¹⁶Again the LORD told Moses, "Early tomorrow morning present yourself to Pharaoh when he goes forth to the water, and say to him: Thus says the LORD: Let my people go to worship me.

¹⁷If you will not let my people go, I warn you, I will loose swarms of flies upon you and your servants and your subjects and your houses. The houses of the Egyptians and the very ground on which they stand shall be filled with swarms of flies.

¹⁸But on that day I will make an exception of the land of Goshen: there shall be no flies where my people dwell, that you may know that I am the LORD in the midst of the earth.

¹⁹I will make this distinction between my people and your people. This sign shall take place tomorrow."

²⁰This the LORD did. Thick swarms of flies entered the house of Pharaoh and the houses of his servants; throughout Egypt the land was infested with flies.

²¹Then Pharaoh summoned Moses and Aaron and said to them, "Go and offer sacrifice to your God in this land."

²²But Moses replied, "It is not right to do so, for the sacrifices we offer to the LORD, our God, are an abomination to the Egyptians. If before their very eyes we offer sacrifices which are an abomination to them, will not the Egyptians stone us?"

²³We must go a three days' journey in the desert to offer sacrifice to the LORD, our God, as he commands us."

²⁴"Well, then," said Pharaoh, "I will let you go to offer sacrifice to the LORD, your God, in the desert, provided that you do not go too far away and that you pray for me."

²⁵Moses answered, "As soon as I leave your presence I will pray to the LORD that the flies may depart tomorrow from Pharaoh and his servants and his subjects. Pharaoh, however, must not play false again by refusing to let the people go to offer sacrifice to the LORD."

²⁶When Moses left Pharaoh's presence, he prayed to the LORD;

²⁷and the LORD did as Moses had asked. He removed the flies from Pharaoh and his servants and subjects. Not one remained.

²⁸But once more Pharaoh became obdurate and would not let the people go.

9 Then the LORD said to Moses, "Go to Pharaoh and tell him: Thus says the LORD, the God of the Hebrews: Let my people go to worship me.

²If you refuse to let them go and persist in holding them,

³I warn you, the LORD will afflict all your livestock in the field--your horses, asses, camels, herds and flocks--with a very severe pestilence.

⁴But the LORD will distinguish between the livestock of Israel and that of Egypt, so that none belonging to the Israelites will die."

⁵And setting a definite time, the LORD added, "Tomorrow the LORD shall do this in the land."

⁶And on the next day the LORD did so. All the livestock of the Egyptians died, but not one beast belonging to the Israelites.

⁷But though Pharaoh's messengers informed him that not even one beast belonging to the Israelites had died, he still remained obdurate and would not let the people go.

⁸Then the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, "Take a double handful of soot from a furnace, and in the presence of Pharaoh let Moses scatter it toward the sky.

- ⁹It will then turn into fine dust over the whole land of Egypt and cause festering boils on man and beast throughout the land."
- ¹⁰So they took soot from a furnace and stood in the presence of Pharaoh. Moses scattered it toward the sky, and it caused festering boils on man and beast.
- ¹¹The magicians could not stand in Moses' presence, for there were boils on the magicians no less than on the rest of the Egyptians.
- ¹²But the LORD made Pharaoh obstinate, and he would not listen to them, just as the LORD had foretold to Moses.
- ¹³Then the LORD told Moses, "Early tomorrow morning present yourself to Pharaoh and say to him: Thus says the LORD, the God of the Hebrews: Let my people go to worship me,
- ¹⁴or this time I will hurl all my blows upon you and your servants and your subjects, that you may know that there is none like me anywhere on earth.
- ¹⁵For by now I would have stretched out my hand and struck you and your subjects with such pestilence as would wipe you from the earth.
- ¹⁶But this is why I have spared you: to show you my power and to make my name resound throughout the earth!
- ¹⁷Will you still block the way for my people by refusing to let them go?
- ¹⁸I warn you, then, tomorrow at this hour I will rain down such fierce hail as there has never been in Egypt from the day the nation was founded up to the present.
- ¹⁹Therefore, order all your livestock and whatever else you have in the open fields to be brought to a place of safety. Whatever man or beast remains in the fields and is not brought to shelter shall die when the hail comes upon them."
- ²⁰Some of Pharaoh's servants feared the warning of the LORD and hurried their servants and livestock off to shelter.
- ²¹Others, however, did not take the warning of the LORD to heart and left their servants and livestock in the fields.

²²The LORD then said to Moses, "Stretch out your hand toward the sky, that hail may fall upon the entire land of Egypt, on man and beast and every growing thing in the land of Egypt."

²³When Moses stretched out his staff toward the sky, the LORD sent forth hail and peals of thunder. Lightning flashed toward the earth, and the LORD rained down hail upon the land of Egypt;

²³But Pharaoh, seeing that the rain and hail and thunder had ceased, sinned again: he with his servants became obdurate,

²⁴and lightning constantly flashed through the hail, such fierce hail as had never been seen in the land since Egypt became a nation.

²⁵It struck down every man and beast that was in the open throughout the land of Egypt; it beat down every growing thing and splintered every tree in the fields.

²⁶Only in the land of Goshen, where the Israelites dwelt, was there no hail.

²⁷Then Pharaoh summoned Moses and Aaron and said to them, "I have sinned again! The LORD is just; it is I and my subjects who are at fault.

²⁸Pray to the LORD, for we have had enough of God's thunder and hail. Then I will let you go; you need stay no longer."

²⁹Moses replied, "As soon as I leave the city I will extend my hands to the LORD; the thunder will cease, and there will be no more hail. Thus you shall learn that the earth is the LORD'S.

³⁰But you and your servants, I know, do not yet fear the LORD God."

³¹Now the flax and the barley were ruined, because the barley was in ear and the flax in bud.

³²But the wheat and the spelt were not ruined, for they grow later.

³³When Moses had left Pharaoh's presence and had gone out of the city, he extended his hands to the LORD. Then the thunder and the hail ceased, and the rain no longer poured down upon the earth.

³⁵and in his obstinacy he would not let the Israelites go, as the LORD had foretold through Moses.

10 Then the LORD said to Moses, "Go to Pharaoh, for I have made him and his servants obdurate in order that I may perform these signs of mine among them

²and that you may recount to your son and grandson how ruthlessly I dealt with the Egyptians and what signs I wrought among them, so that you may know that I am the LORD."

³So Moses and Aaron went to Pharaoh and told him, "Thus says the LORD, the God of the Hebrews: How long will you refuse to submit to me? Let my people go to worship me.

⁴If you refuse to let my people go, I warn you, tomorrow I will bring locusts into your country.

⁵They shall cover the ground, so that the ground itself will not be visible. They shall eat up the remnant you saved unhurt from the hail, as well as all the foliage that has since sprouted in your fields.

⁶They shall fill your houses and the houses of your servants and of all the Egyptians; such a sight your fathers or grandfathers have not seen from the day they first settled on this soil up to the present day." With that he turned and left Pharaoh.

⁷But Pharaoh's servants said to him, "How long must he be a menace to us? Let the men go to worship the LORD, their God. Do you not yet realize that Egypt is being destroyed?"

⁸So Moses and Aaron were brought back to Pharaoh, who said to them, "You may go and worship the LORD, your God. But how many of you will go?"

⁹"Young and old must go with us," Moses answered, "our sons and daughters as well as our flocks and herds must accompany us. That is what a feast of the LORD means to us."

¹⁰"The LORD help you," Pharaoh replied, "if I ever let your little ones go with you! Clearly, you have some evil in mind.

¹¹No, no! Just you men can go and worship the LORD. After all, that is what you want." With that they were driven from Pharaoh's presence.

¹²The LORD then said to Moses, "Stretch out your hand over the land of Egypt, that locusts may swarm over it and eat up all the vegetation and whatever the hail has left."

¹³So Moses stretched out his staff over the land of Egypt, and the LORD sent an east wind blowing over the land all that day and all that night. At dawn the east wind brought the locusts.

¹⁴They swarmed over the whole land of Egypt and settled down on every part of it. Never before had there been such a fierce swarm of locusts, nor will there ever be.

¹⁵They covered the surface of the whole land, till it was black with them. They ate up all the vegetation in the land and the fruit of whatever trees the hail had spared. Nothing green was left on any tree or plant throughout the land of Egypt.

¹⁶Hastily Pharaoh summoned Moses and Aaron and said, "I have sinned against the LORD, your God, and against you.

¹⁷But now, do forgive me my sin once more, and pray the LORD, your God, to take at least this deadly pest from me."

¹⁹and the LORD changed the wind to a very strong west wind, which took up the locusts and hurled them into the Red Sea. But though not a single locust remained within the confines of Egypt,

²⁰the LORD made Pharaoh obstinate, and he would not let the Israelites go.

²¹Then the LORD said to Moses, "Stretch out your hand toward the sky, that over the land of Egypt there may be such intense darkness that one can feel it."

²²So Moses stretched out his hand toward the sky, and there was dense darkness throughout the land of Egypt for three days.

²³Men could not see one another, nor could they move from where they were, for three days. But all the Israelites had light where they dwelt.

²⁴Pharaoh then summoned Moses and Aaron and said, "Go and worship the LORD. Your little ones, too, may go with you. But your flocks and herds must remain."

²⁵Moses replied, "You must also grant us sacrifices and holocausts to offer up to the LORD, our God.

²⁶Hence, our livestock also must go with us. Not an animal must be left behind. Some of them we must sacrifice to the LORD, our God, but we ourselves shall not know which ones we must sacrifice to him until we arrive at the place itself."

²⁷But the LORD made Pharaoh obstinate, and he would not let them go.

²⁸"Leave my presence," Pharaoh said to him, "and see to it that you do not appear before me again! The day you appear before me you shall die!"

²⁹Moses replied, "Well said! I will never appear before you again."

11 Then the LORD told Moses, "One more plague will I bring upon Pharaoh and upon Egypt. After that he will let you depart. In fact, he will not merely let you go; he will drive you away.

²Instruct your people that every man is to ask his neighbor, and every woman her neighbor, for silver and gold articles and for clothing."

³The LORD indeed made the Egyptians well-disposed toward the people; Moses himself was very highly regarded by Pharaoh's servants and the people in the land of Egypt.

⁴Moses then said, "Thus says the LORD: At midnight I will go forth through Egypt.

⁵Every first-born in this land shall die, from the first-born of Pharaoh on the throne to the first-born of the slave-girl at the handmill, as well as all the first-born of the animals.

⁶Then there shall be loud wailing throughout the land of Egypt, such as has never been, nor will ever be again.

⁷But among the Israelites and their animals not even a dog shall growl, so that you may know how the LORD distinguishes between the Egyptians and the Israelites.

⁸All these servants of yours shall then come down to me, and prostrate before me, they shall beg me, 'Leave us, you and all your followers!' Only then will I depart." With that he left Pharaoh's presence in hot anger.

⁹The LORD said to Moses, "Pharaoh refuses to listen to you that my wonders may be multiplied in the land of Egypt."

¹⁰Thus, although Moses and Aaron performed these various wonders in Pharaoh's presence, the LORD made Pharaoh obstinate, and he would not let the Israelites leave his land.

12The LORD said to Moses and Aaron in the land of Egypt,

³Tell the whole community of Israel: On the tenth of this month every one of your families must procure for itself a lamb, one apiece for each household.

⁴If a family is too small for a whole lamb, it shall join the nearest household in procuring one and shall share in the lamb in proportion to the number of persons who partake of it.

⁵The lamb must be a year-old male and without blemish. You may take it from either the sheep or the goats.

⁶You shall keep it until the fourteenth day of this month, and then, with the whole assembly of Israel present, it shall be slaughtered during the evening twilight.

⁷They shall take some of its blood and apply it to the two doorposts and the lintel of every house in which they partake of the lamb.

⁸That same night they shall eat its roasted flesh with unleavened bread and bitter herbs.

⁹It shall not be eaten raw or boiled, but roasted whole, with its head and shanks and inner organs.

¹⁰None of it must be kept beyond the next morning; whatever is left over in the morning shall be burned up.

¹²For on this same night I will go through Egypt, striking down every first-born of the land, both man and beast, and executing judgment on all the gods of Egypt-I, the LORD!

¹³But the blood will mark the houses where you are. Seeing the blood, I will pass over you; thus, when I strike the land of Egypt, no destructive blow will come upon you.

¹⁵For seven days you must eat unleavened bread. From the very first day you shall have your houses clear of all leaven. Whoever eats leavened bread from the first day to the seventh shall be cut off from Israel.

¹⁶On the first day you shall hold a sacred assembly, and likewise on the seventh. On these days you shall not do any sort of work, except to prepare the food that everyone needs.

¹⁷"Keep, then, this custom of the unleavened bread. Since it was on this very day that I brought your ranks out of the land of Egypt, you must celebrate this day throughout your generations as a perpetual institution.

¹⁸From the evening of the fourteenth day of the first month until the evening of the twenty-first day of this month you shall eat unleavened bread.

¹⁹For seven days no leaven may be found in your houses. Anyone, be he a resident alien or a native, who eats leavened food shall be cut off from the community of Israel.

²⁰"Nothing leavened may you eat; wherever you dwell you may eat only unleavened bread."

²¹Moses called all the elders of Israel and said to them, "Go and procure lambs for your families, and slaughter them as Passover victims.

²²Then take a bunch of hyssop, and dipping it in the blood that is in the basin, sprinkle the lintel and the two doorposts with this blood. But none of you shall go outdoors until morning.

²³For the LORD will go by, striking down the Egyptians. Seeing the blood on the lintel and the two doorposts, the LORD will pass over that door and not let the destroyer come into your houses to strike you down.

²⁴"You shall observe this as a perpetual ordinance for yourselves and your descendants.

²⁵Thus, you must also observe this rite when you have entered the land which the LORD will give you as he promised.

²⁶When your children ask you, 'What does this rite of yours mean?'

²⁷you shall reply, 'This is the Passover sacrifice of the LORD, who passed over the houses of the Israelites in Egypt; when he struck down the Egyptians, he spared our houses.'" Then the people bowed down in worship, ²⁸and the Israelites went and did as the LORD had commanded Moses and Aaron.

²⁹At midnight the LORD slew every first-born in the land of Egypt, from the first-born of Pharaoh on the throne to the first-born of the prisoner in the dungeon, as well as all the first-born of the animals.

³⁰Pharaoh arose in the night, he and all his servants and all the Egyptians; and there was loud wailing throughout Egypt, for there was not a house without its dead.

³¹During the night Pharaoh summoned Moses and Aaron and said, "Leave my people at once, you and the Israelites with you! Go and worship the LORD as you said.

³²Take your flocks, too, and your herds, as you demanded, and be gone; and you will be doing me a favor."

³³The Egyptians likewise urged the people on, to hasten their departure from the land; they thought that otherwise they would all die.

³⁵The Israelites did as Moses had commanded: they asked the Egyptians for articles of silver and gold and for clothing.

³⁶The LORD indeed had made the Egyptians so well-disposed toward the people that they let them have whatever they asked for. Thus did they despoil the Egyptians.

³⁷The Israelites set out from Rameses for Succoth, about six hundred thousand men on foot, not counting the children.

- ³⁸A crowd of mixed ancestry also went up with them, besides their livestock, very numerous flocks and herds.
- ³⁹Since the dough they had brought out of Egypt was not leavened, they baked it into unleavened loaves. They had been rushed out of Egypt and had no opportunity even to prepare food for the journey.
- ⁴⁰The time the Israelites had stayed in Egypt was four hundred and thirty years.
- ⁴¹At the end of four hundred and thirty years, all the hosts of the LORD left the land of Egypt on this very date.
- ⁴²This was a night of vigil for the LORD, as he led them out of the land of Egypt; so on this same night all the Israelites must keep a vigil for the LORD throughout their generations.
- ⁴³The LORD said to Moses and Aaron, "These are the regulations for the Passover. No foreigner may partake of it.
- ⁴⁴However, any slave who has been bought for money may partake of it, provided you have first circumcised him.
- ⁴⁵But no transient alien or hired servant may partake of it.
- ⁴⁶It must be eaten in one and the same house; you may not take any of its flesh outside the house. You shall not break any of its bones.
- ⁴⁷The whole community of Israel must keep this feast.
- ⁴⁸If any aliens living among you wish to celebrate the Passover of the LORD, all the males among them must first be circumcised, and then they may join in its observance just like the natives. But no man who is uncircumcised may partake of it.
- ⁴⁹The law shall be the same for the resident alien as for the native."
- ⁵⁰All the Israelites did just as the LORD had commanded Moses and Aaron.
- ⁵¹On that same day the LORD brought the Israelites out of Egypt company by company.

13 The LORD spoke to Moses and said,

²"Consecrate to me every first-born that opens the womb among the Israelites, both of man and beast, for it belongs to me."

³Moses said to the people, "Remember this day on which you came out of Egypt, that place of slavery. It was with a strong hand that the LORD brought you away. Nothing made with leaven must be eaten.

⁴This day of your departure is in the month of Abib.

⁵Therefore, it is in this month that you must celebrate this rite, after the LORD, your God, has brought you into the land of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, Hivites and Jebusites, which he swore to your fathers he would give you, a land flowing with milk and honey.

⁶For seven days you shall eat unleavened bread, and the seventh day shall also be a festival to the LORD.

⁷Only unleavened bread may be eaten during the seven days; no leaven and nothing leavened may be found in all your territory.

⁸On this day you shall explain to your son, 'This is because of what the LORD did for me when I came out of Egypt.'

⁹It shall be as a sign on your hand and as a reminder on your forehead; thus the law of the LORD will ever be on your lips, because with a strong hand the LORD brought you out of Egypt.

¹⁰Therefore, you shall keep this prescribed rite at its appointed time from year to year.

¹¹"When the LORD, your God, has brought you into the land of the Canaanites, which he swore to you and your fathers he would give you, ¹²you shall dedicate to the LORD every son that opens the womb; and all the male firstlings of your animals shall belong to the LORD.

¹³Every first-born of an ass you shall redeem with a sheep. If you do not redeem it, you shall break its neck. Every first-born son you must redeem.

¹⁴If your son should ask you later on, 'What does this mean?' you shall tell him, 'With a strong hand the LORD brought us out of Egypt, that place of slavery.'

¹⁵When Pharaoh stubbornly refused to let us go, the LORD killed every first-born in the land of Egypt, every first-born of man and of beast. That is why I sacrifice to the LORD everything of the male sex that opens the womb, and why I redeem every first-born of my sons.'

¹⁶Let this, then, be as a sign on your hand and as a pendant on your forehead: with a strong hand the LORD brought us out of Egypt."

¹⁷Now, when Pharaoh let the people go, God did not lead them by way of the Philistines' land, though this was the nearest; for he thought, should the people see that they would have to fight, they might change their minds and return to Egypt.

¹⁸Instead, he rerouted them toward the Red Sea by way of the desert road. In battle array the Israelites marched out of Egypt.

¹⁹Moses also took Joseph's bones along, for Joseph had made the Israelites swear solemnly that, when God should come to them, they would carry his bones away with them.

²¹The LORD preceded them, in the daytime by means of a column of cloud to show them the way, and at night by means of a column of fire to give them light. Thus they could travel both day and night.

²²Neither the column of cloud by day nor the column of fire by night ever left its place in front of the people.

14 Then the LORD said to Moses,

²"Tell the Israelites to turn about and camp before Pi-hahiroth, between Migdol and the sea. You shall camp in front of Baal-zephon, just opposite, by the sea.

³Pharaoh will then say, 'The Israelites are wandering about aimlessly in the land. The desert has closed in on them.'

⁴Thus will I make Pharaoh so obstinate that he will pursue them. Then I will receive glory through Pharaoh and all his army, and the Egyptians will know that I am the LORD." This the Israelites did.

⁵When it was reported to the king of Egypt that the people had fled, Pharaoh and his servants changed their minds about them. "What have we done!" they exclaimed. "Why, we have released Israel from our service!"

⁷six hundred first-class chariots and all the other chariots of Egypt, with warriors on them all.

⁸So obstinate had the LORD made Pharaoh that he pursued the Israelites even while they were marching away in triumph.

⁹The Egyptians, then, pursued them; Pharaoh's whole army, his horses, chariots and charioteers, caught up with them as they lay encamped by the sea, at Pi-hahiroth, in front of Baal-zephon.

¹⁰Pharaoh was already near when the Israelites looked up and saw that the Egyptians were on the march in pursuit of them. In great fright they cried out to the LORD.

¹¹And they complained to Moses, "Were there no burial places in Egypt that you had to bring us out here to die in the desert? Why did you do this to us? Why did you bring us out of Egypt?"

¹²"Did we not tell you this in Egypt, when we said, 'Leave us alone. Let us serve the Egyptians'? Far better for us to be the slaves of the Egyptians than to die in the desert."

¹³But Moses answered the people, "Fear not! Stand your ground, and you will see the victory the LORD will win for you today. These Egyptians whom you see today you will never see again.

¹⁴The LORD himself will fight for you; you have only to keep still."

¹⁵Then the LORD said to Moses, "Why are you crying out to me? Tell the Israelites to go forward.

- ¹⁶And you, lift up your staff and, with hand outstretched over the sea, split the sea in two, that the Israelites may pass through it on dry land.
- ¹⁷But I will make the Egyptians so obstinate that they will go in after them. Then I will receive glory through Pharaoh and all his army, his chariots and charioteers.
- ¹⁸The Egyptians shall know that I am the LORD, when I receive glory through Pharaoh and his chariots and charioteers."
- ¹⁹The angel of God, who had been leading Israel's camp, now moved and went around behind them. The column of cloud also, leaving the front, took up its place behind them,
- ²⁰so that it came between the camp of the Egyptians and that of Israel. But the cloud now became dark, and thus the night passed without the rival camps coming any closer together all night long.
- ²¹Then Moses stretched out his hand over the sea, and the LORD swept the sea with a strong east wind throughout the night and so turned it into dry land. When the water was thus divided,
- ²²the Israelites marched into the midst of the sea on dry land, with the water like a wall to their right and to their left.
- ²³The Egyptians followed in pursuit; all Pharaoh's horses and chariots and charioteers went after them right into the midst of the sea.
- ²⁴In the night watch just before dawn the LORD cast through the column of the fiery cloud upon the Egyptian force a glance that threw it into a panic;
- ²⁵and he so clogged their chariot wheels that they could hardly drive. With that the Egyptians sounded the retreat before Israel, because the LORD was fighting for them against the Egyptians.
- ²⁶Then the LORD told Moses, "Stretch out your hand over the sea, that the water may flow back upon the Egyptians, upon their chariots and their charioteers."
- ²⁷So Moses stretched out his hand over the sea, and at dawn the sea flowed back to its normal depth. The Egyptians were fleeing head on toward the sea, when the LORD hurled them into its midst.

²⁸As the water flowed back, it covered the chariots and the charioteers of Pharaoh's whole army which had followed the Israelites into the sea. Not a single one of them escaped.

³⁰Thus the LORD saved Israel on that day from the power of the Egyptians. When Israel saw the Egyptians lying dead on the seashore

³¹and beheld the great power that the LORD had shown against the Egyptians, they feared the LORD and believed in him and in his servant Moses.

15 Then Moses and the Israelites sang this song to the LORD: I will sing to the LORD, for he is gloriously triumphant; horse and chariot he has cast into the sea.

²My strength and my courage is the LORD, and he has been my savior. He is my God, I praise him; the God of my father, I extol him.

⁴Pharaoh's chariots and army he hurled into the sea; the elite of his officers were submerged in the Red Sea.

⁵The flood waters covered them, they sank into the depths like a stone.

⁷In your great majesty you overthrew your adversaries; you loosed your wrath to consume them like stubble.

⁸At a breath of your anger the waters piled up, the flowing waters stood like a mound, the flood waters congealed in the midst of the sea.

⁹The enemy boasted, "I will pursue and overtake them; I will divide the spoils and have my fill of them; I will draw my sword; my hand shall despoil them!"

¹⁰When your wind blew, the sea covered them; like lead they sank in the mighty waters.

¹¹Who is like to you among the gods, O LORD? Who is like to you, magnificent in holiness? O terrible in renown, worker of wonders,

¹³In your mercy you led the people you redeemed; in your strength you guided them to your holy dwelling.

¹⁵Then were the princes of Edom dismayed; trembling seized the chieftains of Moab; All the dwellers in Canaan melted away;

¹⁶terror and dread fell upon them. By the might of your arm they were frozen like stone, while your people, O LORD, passed over, while the people you had made your own passed over.

¹⁷And you brought them in and planted them on the mountain of your inheritance-- the place where you made your seat, O LORD, the sanctuary, O LORD, which your hands established.

¹⁸The LORD shall reign forever and ever.

¹⁹They sang thus because Pharaoh's horses and chariots and charioteers had gone into the sea, and the LORD made the waters of the sea flow back upon them, though the Israelites had marched on dry land through the midst of the sea.

²¹and she led them in the refrain: Sing to the LORD, for he is gloriously triumphant; horse and chariot he has cast into the sea.

²²Then Moses led Israel forward from the Red Sea, and they marched out to the desert of Shur. After traveling for three days through the desert without finding water, ²³they arrived at Marah, where they could not drink the water, because it was too bitter. Hence this place was called Marah.

²⁴As the people grumbled against Moses, saying, "What are we to drink?"

²⁵he appealed to the LORD, who pointed out to him a certain piece of wood. When he threw this into the water, the water became fresh. It was here that the LORD, in making rules and regulations for them, put them to the test.

²⁶"If you really listen to the voice of the LORD, your God," he told them, "and do what is right in his eyes: if you heed his commandments and keep all his precepts, I will not afflict you with any of the diseases with which I afflicted the Egyptians; for I, the LORD, am your healer."

²⁷Then they came to Elim, where there were twelve springs of water and seventy palm trees, and they camped there near the water.

16 Having set out from Elim, the whole Israelite community came into the desert of Sin, which is between Elim and Sinai, on the fifteenth day of the second month after their departure from the land of Egypt.

³The Israelites said to them, "Would that we had died at the LORD'S hand in the land of Egypt, as we sat by our fleshpots and ate our fill of bread! But you had to lead us into this desert to make the whole community die of famine!"

⁴Then the LORD said to Moses, "I will now rain down bread from heaven for you. Each day the people are to go out and gather their daily portion; thus will I test them, to see whether they follow my instructions or not.

⁵On the sixth day, however, when they prepare what they bring in, let it be twice as much as they gather on the other days."

⁶So Moses and Aaron told all the Israelites, "At evening you will know that it was the LORD who brought you out of the land of Egypt;

⁷and in the morning you will see the glory of the LORD, as he heeds your grumbling against him. But what are we that you should grumble against us?

⁸When the LORD gives you flesh to eat in the evening," continued Moses, "and in the morning your fill of bread, as he heeds the grumbling you utter against him, what then are we? Your grumbling is not against us, but against the LORD."

⁹Then Moses said to Aaron, "Tell the whole Israelite community: Present yourselves before the LORD, for he has heard your grumbling."

¹⁰When Aaron announced this to the whole Israelite community, they turned toward the desert, and lo, the glory of the LORD appeared in the cloud!

¹¹The LORD spoke to Moses and said,

¹²"I have heard the grumbling of the Israelites. Tell them: In the evening twilight you shall eat flesh, and in the morning you shall have your fill of bread, so that you may know that I, the LORD, am your God."

¹³In the evening quail came up and covered the camp. In the morning a dew lay all about the camp,

¹⁴and when the dew evaporated, there on the surface of the desert were fine flakes like hoarfrost on the ground.

¹⁵On seeing it, the Israelites asked one another, "What is this?" for they did not know what it was. But Moses told them, "This is the bread which the LORD has given you to eat.

¹⁶"Now, this is what the LORD has commanded. So gather it that everyone has enough to eat, an omer for each person, as many of you as there are, each man providing for those of his own tent."

¹⁷The Israelites did so. Some gathered a large and some a small amount.

¹⁸But when they measured it out by the omer, he who had gathered a large amount did not have too much, and he who had gathered a small amount did not have too little. They so gathered that everyone had enough to eat.

¹⁹Moses also told them, "Let no one keep any of it over until tomorrow morning."

²⁰But they would not listen to him. When some kept a part of it over until the following morning, it became wormy and rotten. Therefore Moses was displeased with them.

²¹Morning after morning they gathered it, till each had enough to eat; but when the sun grew hot, the manna melted away.

²²On the sixth day they gathered twice as much food, two omers for each person. When all the leaders of the community came and reported this to Moses,

²³he told them, "That is what the LORD prescribed. Tomorrow is a day of complete rest, the sabbath, sacred to the LORD. You may either bake or boil the manna, as you please; but whatever is left put away and keep for the morrow."

²⁴When they put it away for the morrow, as Moses commanded, it did not become rotten or wormy.

²⁵Moses then said, "Eat it today, for today is the sabbath of the LORD. On this day you will not find any of it on the ground.

²⁶On the other six days you can gather it, but on the seventh day, the sabbath, none of it will be there."

²⁷Still, on the seventh day some of the people went out to gather it, although they did not find any.

²⁸Then the LORD said to Moses, "How long will you refuse to keep my commandments and laws?"

²⁹Take note! The LORD has given you the sabbath. That is why on the sixth day he gives you food for two days. On the seventh day everyone is to stay home and no one is to go out."

³⁰After that the people rested on the seventh day.

³¹The Israelites called this food manna. It was like coriander seed, but white, and it tasted like wafers made with honey.

³²Moses said, "This is what the LORD has commanded. Keep an omerful of manna for your descendants, that they may see what food I gave you to eat in the desert when I brought you out of the land of Egypt."

³³Moses then told Aaron, "Take an urn and put an omer of manna in it. Then place it before the LORD in safekeeping for your descendants."

³⁵The Israelites ate this manna for forty years, until they came to settled land; they ate manna until they reached the borders of Canaan.

17 From the desert of Sin the whole Israelite community journeyed by stages, as the LORD directed, and encamped at Rephidim. Here there was no water for the people to drink.

²They quarreled, therefore, with Moses and said, "Give us water to drink." Moses replied, "Why do you quarrel with me? Why do you put the LORD to a test?"

³Here, then, in their thirst for water, the people grumbled against Moses, saying, "Why did you ever make us leave Egypt? Was it just to have us die here of thirst with our children and our livestock?"

⁴So Moses cried out to the LORD, "What shall I do with this people? A little more and they will stone me!"

⁵The LORD answered Moses, "Go over there in front of the people, along with some of the elders of Israel, holding in your hand, as you go, the staff with which you struck the river.

⁶I will be standing there in front of you on the rock in Horeb. Strike the rock, and the water will flow from it for the people to drink." This Moses did, in the presence of the elders of Israel.

⁷The place was called Massah and Meribah, because the Israelites quarreled there and tested the LORD, saying, "Is the LORD in our midst or not?"

⁸At Rephidim, Amalek came and waged war against Israel.

⁹Moses, therefore, said to Joshua, "Pick out certain men, and tomorrow go out and engage Amalek in battle. I will be standing on top of the hill with the staff of God in my hand."

¹⁰So Joshua did as Moses told him: he engaged Amalek in battle after Moses had climbed to the top of the hill with Aaron and Hur.

¹¹As long as Moses kept his hands raised up, Israel had the better of the fight, but when he let his hands rest, Amalek had the better of the fight.

¹²Moses' hands, however, grew tired; so they put a rock in place for him to sit on. Meanwhile Aaron and Hur supported his hands, one on one side and one on the other, so that his hands remained steady till sunset.

¹³And Joshua mowed down Amalek and his people with the edge of the sword.

¹⁴Then the LORD said to Moses, "Write this down in a document as something to be remembered, and recite it in the ears of Joshua: I will completely blot out the memory of Amalek from under the heavens."

¹⁵Moses also built an altar there, which he called Yahweh-nissi;

¹⁶for he said, "The LORD takes in hand his banner; the LORD will war against Amalek through the centuries."

18Now Moses' father-in-law Jethro, the priest of Midian, heard of all that God had done for Moses and for his people Israel: how the LORD had brought Israel out of Egypt.

²So his father-in-law Jethro took along Zipporah, Moses' wife, whom Moses had sent back to him,

³and her two sons. One of these was called Gershom; for he said, "I am a stranger in a foreign land."

⁴The other was called Eliezer; for he said, "My father's God is my helper; he has rescued me from Pharaoh's sword."

⁵Together with Moses' wife and sons, then, his father-in-law Jethro came to him in the desert where he was encamped near the mountain of God,

⁶and he sent word to Moses, "I, Jethro, your father-in-law, am coming to you, along with your wife and her two sons."

⁷Moses went out to meet his father-in-law, bowed down before him, and kissed him. Having greeted each other, they went into the tent.

⁸Moses then told his father-in-law of all that the LORD had done to Pharaoh and the Egyptians for the sake of Israel, and of all the hardships they had had to endure on their journey, and how the LORD had come to their rescue.

⁹Jethro rejoiced over all the goodness that the LORD had shown Israel in rescuing them from the hands of the Egyptians.

¹⁰"Blessed be the LORD," he said, "who has rescued his people from the hands of Pharaoh and the Egyptians.

¹¹Now I know that the LORD is a deity great beyond any other; for he took occasion of their being dealt with insolently to deliver the people from the power of the Egyptians."

¹²Then Jethro, the father-in-law of Moses, brought a holocaust and other sacrifices to God, and Aaron came with all the elders of Israel to participate with Moses' father-in-law in the meal before God.

¹³The next day Moses sat in judgment for the people, who waited about him from morning until evening.

¹⁴When his father-in-law saw all that he was doing for the people, he inquired, "What sort of thing is this that you are doing for the people? Why do you sit alone while all the people have to stand about you from morning till evening?"

¹⁵Moses answered his father-in-law, "The people come to me to consult God.

¹⁶Whenever they have a disagreement, they come to me to have me settle the matter between them and make known to them God's decisions and regulations."

¹⁷"You are not acting wisely," his father-in-law replied.

¹⁸"You will surely wear yourself out, and not only yourself but also these people with you. The task is too heavy for you; you cannot do it alone.

¹⁹Now, listen to me, and I will give you some advice, that God may be with you. Act as the people's representative before God, bringing to him whatever they have to say.

²⁰Enlighten them in regard to the decisions and regulations, showing them how they are to live and what they are to do.

²¹But you should also look among all the people for able and God-fearing men, trustworthy men who hate dishonest gain, and set them as officers over groups of thousands, of hundreds, of fifties, and of tens.

²²Let these men render decisions for the people in all ordinary cases. More important cases they should refer to you, but all the lesser cases they can settle themselves. Thus, your burden will be lightened, since they will bear it with you.

²³If you do this, when God gives you orders you will be able to stand the strain, and all these people will go home satisfied."

²⁴Moses followed the advice of his father-in-law and did all that he had suggested.

²⁵He picked out able men from all Israel and put them in charge of the people as officers over groups of thousands, of hundreds, of fifties, and of tens.

²⁶They rendered decisions for the people in all ordinary cases. The more difficult cases they referred to Moses, but all the lesser cases they settled themselves.

²⁷Then Moses bade farewell to his father-in-law, who went off to his own country.

19 In the third month after their departure from the land of Egypt, on its first day, the Israelites came to the desert of Sinai.

²After the journey from Rephidim to the desert of Sinai, they pitched camp. While Israel was encamped here in front of the mountain,

³Moses went up the mountain to God. Then the LORD called to him and said, "Thus shall you say to the house of Jacob;

⁴tell the Israelites: You have seen for yourselves how I treated the Egyptians and how I bore you up on eagle wings and brought you here to myself.

⁵Therefore, if you hearken to my voice and keep my covenant, you shall be my special possession, dearer to me than all other people, though all the earth is mine.

⁶You shall be to me a kingdom of priests, a holy nation. That is what you must tell the Israelites."

⁷So Moses went and summoned the elders of the people. When he set before them all that the LORD had ordered him to tell them,

⁸the people all answered together, "Everything the LORD has said, we will do." Then Moses brought back to the LORD the response of the people.

⁹The LORD also told him, "I am coming to you in a dense cloud, so that when the people hear me speaking with you, they may always have faith in you also." When Moses, then, had reported to the LORD the response of the people,

- ¹⁰the LORD added, "Go to the people and have them sanctify themselves today and tomorrow. Make them wash their garments
- ¹¹and be ready for the third day; for on the third day the LORD will come down on Mount Sinai before the eyes of all the people.
- ¹²Set limits for the people all around the mountain, and tell them: Take care not to go up the mountain, or even to touch its base. If anyone touches the mountain, he must be put to death.
- ¹³No hand shall touch him; he must be stoned to death or killed with arrows. Such a one, man or beast, must not be allowed to live. Only when the ram's horn resounds may they go up to the mountain."
- ¹⁴Then Moses came down from the mountain to the people and had them sanctify themselves and wash their garments.
- ¹⁵He warned them, "Be ready for the third day. Have no intercourse with any woman."
- ¹⁶On the morning of the third day there were peals of thunder and lightning, and a heavy cloud over the mountain, and a very loud trumpet blast, so that all the people in the camp trembled.
- ¹⁷But Moses led the people out of the camp to meet God, and they stationed themselves at the foot of the mountain.
- ¹⁸Mount Sinai was all wrapped in smoke, for the LORD came down upon it in fire. The smoke rose from it as though from a furnace, and the whole mountain trembled violently.
- ¹⁹The trumpet blast grew louder and louder, while Moses was speaking and God answering him with thunder.
- ²⁰When the LORD came down to the top of Mount Sinai, he summoned Moses to the top of the mountain, and Moses went up to him.
- ²¹Then the LORD told Moses, "Go down and warn the people not to break through toward the LORD in order to see him; otherwise many of them will be struck down.
- ²²The priests, too, who approach the LORD must sanctify themselves; else he will vent his anger upon them."

²³Moses said to the LORD, "The people cannot go up to Mount Sinai, for you yourself warned us to set limits around the mountain to make it sacred."

²⁴The LORD repeated, "Go down now! Then come up again along with Aaron. But the priests and the people must not break through to come up to the LORD; else he will vent his anger upon them."

²⁵So Moses went down to the people and told them this.

Then God delivered all these commandments:

²"I, the LORD, am your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, that place of slavery.

³You shall not have other gods besides me.

⁴You shall not carve idols for yourselves in the shape of anything in the sky above or on the earth below or in the waters beneath the earth;

⁵you shall not bow down before them or worship them. For I, the LORD, your God, am a jealous God, inflicting punishment for their fathers' wickedness on the children of those who hate me, down to the third and fourth generation;

⁶but bestowing mercy down to the thousandth generation, on the children of those who love me and keep my commandments.

⁷"You shall not take the name of the LORD, your God, in vain. For the LORD will not leave unpunished him who takes his name in vain.

⁸"Remember to keep holy the sabbath day.

⁹Six days you may labor and do all your work,

¹⁰but the seventh day is the sabbath of the LORD, your God. No work may be done then either by you, or your son or daughter, or your male or female slave, or your beast, or by the alien who lives with you.

¹¹In six days the LORD made the heavens and the earth, the sea and all that is in them; but on the seventh day he rested. That is why the LORD has blessed the sabbath day and made it holy.

¹²"Honor your father and your mother, that you may have a long life in the land which the LORD, your God, is giving you.

¹³"You shall not kill.

¹⁴"You shall not commit adultery.

¹⁵"You shall not steal.

¹⁶"You shall not bear false witness against your neighbor.

¹⁷"You shall not covet your neighbor's house. You shall not covet your neighbor's wife, nor his male or female slave, nor his ox or ass, nor anything else that belongs to him."

¹⁸When the people witnessed the thunder and lightning, the trumpet blast and the mountain smoking, they all feared and trembled. So they took up a position much farther away

¹⁹and said to Moses, "You speak to us, and we will listen; but let not God speak to us, or we shall die."

²⁰Moses answered the people, "Do not be afraid, for God has come to you only to test you and put his fear upon you, lest you should sin."

²¹Still the people remained at a distance, while Moses approached the cloud where God was.

²²The LORD told Moses, "Thus shall you speak to the Israelites: You have seen for yourselves that I have spoken to you from heaven.

²³Do not make anything to rank with me; neither gods of silver nor gods of gold shall you make for yourselves.

²⁴"An altar of earth you shall make for me, and upon it you shall sacrifice your holocausts and peace offerings, your sheep and your oxen. In whatever place I choose for the remembrance of my name I will come to you and bless you.

²⁵If you make an altar of stone for me, do not build it of cut stone, for by putting a tool to it you desecrate it.

²⁶You shall not go up by steps to my altar, on which you must not be indecently uncovered.

21 "These are the rules you shall lay before them.

²When you purchase a Hebrew slave, he is to serve you for six years, but in the seventh year he shall be given his freedom without cost.

³If he comes into service alone, he shall leave alone; if he comes with a wife, his wife shall leave with him.

⁴But if his master gives him a wife and she bears him sons or daughters, the woman and her children shall remain the master's property and the man shall leave alone.

⁵If, however, the slave declares, 'I am devoted to my master and my wife and children; I will not go free,'

⁶his master shall bring him to God and there, at the door or doorpost, he shall pierce his ear with an awl, thus keeping him as his slave forever.

⁷"When a man sells his daughter as a slave, she shall not go free as male slaves do.

⁸But if her master, who had destined her for himself, dislikes her, he shall let her be redeemed. He has no right to sell her to a foreigner, since he has broken faith with her.

¹⁰If he takes another wife, he shall not withhold her food, her clothing, or her conjugal rights.

¹¹If he does not grant her these three things, she shall be given her freedom absolutely, without cost to her.

¹³He, however, who did not hunt a man down, but caused his death by an act of God, may flee to a place which I will set apart for this purpose.

- ¹⁴But when a man kills another after maliciously scheming to do so, you must take him even from my altar and put him to death.
- ¹⁵Whoever strikes his father or mother shall be put to death.
- ¹⁶A kidnaper, whether he sells his victim or still has him when caught, shall be put to death.
- ¹⁷Whoever curses his father or mother shall be put to death.
- ¹⁸When men quarrel and one strikes the other with a stone or with his fist, not mortally, but enough to put him in bed,
- ¹⁹the one who struck the blow shall be acquitted, provided the other can get up and walk around with the help of his staff. Still, he must compensate him for his enforced idleness and provide for his complete cure.
- ²⁰When a man strikes his male or female slave with a rod so hard that the slave dies under his hand, he shall be punished.
- ²¹If, however, the slave survives for a day or two, he is not to be punished, since the slave is his own property.
- ²²When men have a fight and hurt a pregnant woman, so that she suffers a miscarriage, but no further injury, the guilty one shall be fined as much as the woman's husband demands of him, and he shall pay in the presence of the judges.
- ²³But if injury ensues, you shall give life for life,
- ²⁴eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot,
- ²⁵burn for burn, wound for wound, stripe for stripe.
- ²⁶When a man strikes his male or female slave in the eye and destroys the use of the eye, he shall let the slave go free in compensation for the eye.
- ²⁷If he knocks out a tooth of his male or female slave, he shall let the slave go free in compensation for the tooth.
- ²⁸When an ox gores a man or a woman to death, the ox must be stoned; its flesh may not be eaten. The owner of the ox, however, shall go unpunished.

²⁹But if an ox was previously in the habit of goring people and its owner, though warned, would not keep it in; should it then kill a man or a woman, not only must the ox be stoned, but its owner also must be put to death.

³⁰If, however, a fine is imposed on him, he must pay in ransom for his life whatever amount is imposed on him.

³¹This law applies if it is a boy or a girl that the ox gores.

³²But if it is a male or a female slave that it gores, he must pay the owner of the slave thirty shekels of silver, and the ox must be stoned.

³³"When a man uncovers or digs a cistern and does not cover it over again, should an ox or an ass fall into it,

³⁴the owner of the cistern must make good by restoring the value of the animal to its owner; the dead animal, however, he may keep.

³⁵"When one man's ox hurts another's ox so badly that it dies, they shall sell the live ox and divide this money as well as the dead animal equally between them.

³⁶But if it was known that the ox was previously in the habit of goring and its owner would not keep it in, he must make full restitution, an ox for an ox; but the dead animal he may keep. (v 37) "When a man steals an ox or a sheep and slaughters or sells it, he shall restore five oxen for the one ox, and four sheep for the one sheep.

22"(If a thief is caught in the act of housebreaking and beaten to death, there is no bloodguilt involved.

²But if after sunrise he is thus beaten, there is bloodguilt.) He must make full restitution. If he has nothing, he shall be sold to pay for his theft.

³If what he stole is found alive in his possession, be it an ox, an ass or a sheep, he shall restore two animals for each one stolen.

⁴"When a man is burning over a field or a vineyard, if he lets the fire spread so that it burns in another's field, he must make restitution with the best produce of his own field or vineyard.

⁵If the fire spreads further, and catches on to thorn bushes, so that shocked grain or standing grain or the field itself is burned up, the one who started the fire must make full restitution.

⁷If the thief is not caught, the owner of the house shall be brought to God, to swear that he himself did not lay hands on his neighbor's property.

⁸In every question of dishonest appropriation, whether it be about an ox, or an ass, or a sheep, or a garment, or anything else that has disappeared, where another claims that the thing is his, both parties shall present their case before God; the one whom God convicts must make twofold restitution to the other.

⁹"When a man gives an ass, or an ox, or a sheep, or any other animal to another for safekeeping, if it dies, or is maimed or snatched away, without anyone witnessing the fact,

¹⁰the custodian shall swear by the LORD that he did not lay hands on his neighbor's property; the owner must accept the oath, and no restitution is to be made.

¹¹But if the custodian is really guilty of theft, he must make restitution to the owner.

¹²If it has been killed by a wild beast, let him bring it as evidence, and he need not make restitution for the mangled animal.

¹³"When a man borrows an animal from his neighbor, if it is maimed or dies while the owner is not present, the man must make restitution.

¹⁴But if the owner is present, he need not make restitution. If it was hired, this was covered by the price of its hire.

¹⁶If her father refuses to give her to him, he must still pay him the customary marriage price for virgins.

¹⁷"You shall not let a sorceress live.

¹⁸"Anyone who lies with an animal shall be put to death.

¹⁹"Whoever sacrifices to any god, except to the LORD alone, shall be doomed.

²⁰"You shall not molest or oppress an alien, for you were once aliens yourselves in the land of Egypt.

²¹You shall not wrong any widow or orphan.

²²If ever you wrong them and they cry out to me, I will surely hear their cry.

²³My wrath will flare up, and I will kill you with the sword; then your own wives will be widows, and your children orphans.

²⁴"If you lend money to one of your poor neighbors among my people, you shall not act like an extortioner toward him by demanding interest from him.

²⁵If you take your neighbor's cloak as a pledge, you shall return it to him before sunset;

²⁶for this cloak of his is the only covering he has for his body. What else has he to sleep in? If he cries out to me, I will hear him; for I am compassionate.

²⁷"You shall not revile God, nor curse a prince of your people.

²⁸"You shall not delay the offering of your harvest and your press. You shall give me the first-born of your sons.

²⁹You must do the same with your oxen and your sheep; for seven days the firstling may stay with its mother, but on the eighth day you must give it to me.

³⁰"You shall be men sacred to me. Flesh torn to pieces in the field you shall not eat; throw it to the dogs.

23"You shall not repeat a false report. Do not join the wicked in putting your hand, as an unjust witness, upon anyone.

²Neither shall you allege the example of the many as an excuse for doing wrong, nor shall you, when testifying in a lawsuit, side with the many in perverting justice.

⁴"When you come upon your enemy's ox or ass going astray, see to it that it is returned to him.

⁵When you notice the ass of one who hates you lying prostrate under its burden, by no means desert him; help him, rather, to raise it up.

⁷You shall keep away from anything dishonest. The innocent and the just you shall not put to death, nor shall you acquit the guilty.

⁸Never take a bribe, for a bribe blinds even the most clear-sighted and twists the words even of the just.

⁹You shall not oppress an alien; you well know how it feels to be an alien, since you were once aliens yourselves in the land of Egypt.

¹⁰"For six years you may sow your land and gather in its produce.

¹¹But the seventh year you shall let the land lie untilled and unharvested, that the poor among you may eat of it and the beasts of the field may eat what the poor leave. So also shall you do in regard to your vineyard and your olive grove.

¹²"For six days you may do your work, but on the seventh day you must rest, that your ox and your ass may also have rest, and that the son of your maidservant and the alien may be refreshed.

¹³Give heed to all that I have told you. "Never mention the name of any other god; it shall not be heard from your lips.

¹⁴"Three times a year you shall celebrate a pilgrim feast to me.

¹⁵You shall keep the feast of Unleavened Bread. As I have commanded you, you must eat unleavened bread for seven days at the prescribed time in the month of Abib, for it was then that you came out of Egypt. No one shall appear before me empty-handed.

¹⁶You shall also keep the feast of the grain harvest with the first of the crop that you have sown in the field; and finally, the feast at the fruit harvest at the end of the year, when you gather in the produce from the fields.

¹⁷Thrice a year shall all your men appear before the Lord GOD.

¹⁸"You shall not offer the blood of my sacrifice with leavened bread; nor shall the fat of my feast be kept overnight till the next day.

¹⁹The choicest first fruits of your soil you shall bring to the house of the LORD, your God. "You shall not boil a kid in its mother's milk.

²⁰"See, I am sending an angel before you, to guard you on the way and bring you to the place I have prepared.

²¹Be attentive to him and heed his voice. Do not rebel against him, for he will not forgive your sin. My authority resides in him.

²²If you heed his voice and carry out all I tell you, I will be an enemy to your enemies and a foe to your foes.

²³"My angel will go before you and bring you to the Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, Canaanites, Hivites and Jebusites; and I will wipe them out.

²⁴Therefore, you shall not bow down in worship before their gods, nor shall you make anything like them; rather, you must demolish them and smash their sacred pillars.

²⁵The LORD, your God, you shall worship; then I will bless your food and drink, and I will remove all sickness from your midst;

²⁶no woman in your land will be barren or miscarry; and I will give you a full span of life.

²⁷"I will have the fear of me precede you, so that I will throw into panic every nation you reach. I will make all your enemies turn from you in flight, ²⁸and ahead of you I will send hornets to drive the Hivites, Canaanites and Hittites out of your way.

²⁹But not in one year will I drive them all out before you; else the land will become so desolate that the wild beasts will multiply against you.

³⁰Instead, I will drive them out little by little before you, until you have grown numerous enough to take possession of the land.

³¹I will set your boundaries from the Red Sea to the sea of the Philistines, and from the desert to the River; all who dwell in this land I will hand over to you to be driven out of your way.

³²You shall not make a covenant with them or their gods.

³³They must not abide in your land, lest they make you sin against me by ensnaring you into worshiping their gods."

24 Moses himself was told, "Come up to the LORD, you and Aaron, with Nadab, Abihu, and seventy of the elders of Israel. You shall all worship at some distance, ²but Moses alone is to come close to the LORD; the others shall not come too near, and the people shall not come up at all with Moses."

³When Moses came to the people and related all the words and ordinances of the LORD, they all answered with one voice, "We will do everything that the LORD has told us."

⁴Moses then wrote down all the words of the LORD and, rising early the next day, he erected at the foot of the mountain an altar and twelve pillars for the twelve tribes of Israel.

⁵Then, having sent certain young men of the Israelites to offer holocausts and sacrifice young bulls as peace offerings to the LORD, ⁶Moses took half of the blood and put it in large bowls; the other half he splashed on the altar.

⁷Taking the book of the covenant, he read it aloud to the people, who answered, "All that the LORD has said, we will heed and do."

⁸Then he took the blood and sprinkled it on the people, saying, "This is the blood of the covenant which the LORD has made with you in accordance with all these words of his."

⁹Moses then went up with Aaron, Nadab, Abihu, and seventy elders of Israel, ¹⁰and they beheld the God of Israel. Under his feet there appeared to be sapphire tilework, as clear as the sky itself.

¹¹Yet he did not smite these chosen Israelites. After gazing on God, they could still eat and drink.

¹²The LORD said to Moses, "Come up to me on the mountain and, while you are there, I will give you the stone tablets on which I have written the commandments intended for their instruction."

¹³So Moses set out with Joshua, his aide, and went up to the mountain of God.

¹⁴The elders, however, had been told by him, "Wait here for us until we return to you. Aaron and Hur are staying with you. If anyone has a complaint, let him refer the matter to them."

¹⁶The glory of the LORD settled upon Mount Sinai. The cloud covered it for six days, and on the seventh day he called to Moses from the midst of the cloud.

¹⁷To the Israelites the glory of the LORD was seen as a consuming fire on the mountaintop.

¹⁸But Moses passed into the midst of the cloud as he went up on the mountain; and there he stayed for forty days and forty nights.

25 This is what the LORD then said to Moses:

²"Tell the Israelites to take up a collection for me. From every man you shall accept the contribution that his heart prompts him to give me.

³These are the contributions you shall accept from them: gold, silver and bronze;

⁴violet, purple and scarlet yarn; fine linen and goat hair;

⁵rams' skins dyed red, and tahash skins; acacia wood;

⁶oil for the light; spices for the anointing oil and for the fragrant incense;

⁷onyx stones and other gems for mounting on the ephod and the breastpiece.

⁸"They shall make a sanctuary for me, that I may dwell in their midst.

⁹This Dwelling and all its furnishings you shall make exactly according to the pattern that I will now show you.

¹⁰"You shall make an ark of acacia wood, two and a half cubits long, one and a half cubits wide, and one and a half cubits high.

¹¹Plate it inside and outside with pure gold, and put a molding of gold around the top of it.

¹²Cast four gold rings and fasten them on the four supports of the ark, two rings on one side and two on the opposite side.

¹³Then make poles of acacia wood and plate them with gold.

¹⁴These poles you are to put through the rings on the sides of the ark, for carrying it;

¹⁵they must remain in the rings of the ark and never be withdrawn.

¹⁶In the ark you are to put the commandments which I will give you.

¹⁷"You shall then make a propitiatory of pure gold, two cubits and a half long, and one and a half cubits wide.

¹⁸Make two cherubim of beaten gold for the two ends of the propitiatory, ¹⁹fastening them so that one cherub springs direct from each end.

²⁰The cherubim shall have their wings spread out above, covering the propitiatory with them; they shall be turned toward each other, but with their faces looking toward the propitiatory.

²¹This propitiatory you shall then place on top of the ark. In the ark itself you are to put the commandments which I will give you.

²²There I will meet you and there, from above the propitiatory, between the two cherubim on the ark of the commandments, I will tell you all the commands that I wish you to give the Israelites.

²³"You shall also make a table of acacia wood, two cubits long, a cubit wide, and a cubit and a half high.

²⁵Surround it with a frame, a handbreadth high, with a molding of gold around the frame.

- ²⁶You shall also make four rings of gold for it and fasten them at the four corners, one at each leg,
- ²⁷on two opposite sides of the frame as holders for the poles to carry the table.
- ²⁸These poles for carrying the table you shall make of acacia wood and plate with gold.
- ²⁹Of pure gold you shall make its plates and cups, as well as its pitchers and bowls for pouring libations.
- ³⁰On the table you shall always keep showbread set before me.
- ³¹"You shall make a lampstand of pure beaten gold-its shaft and branches-with its cups and knobs and petals springing directly from it.
- ³²Six branches are to extend from the sides of the lampstand, three branches on one side, and three on the other.
- ³³On one branch there are to be three cups, shaped like almond blossoms, each with its knob and petals; on the opposite branch there are to be three cups, shaped like almond blossoms, each with its knob and petals; and so for the six branches that extend from the lampstand.
- ³⁴On the shaft there are to be four cups, shaped like almond blossoms, with their knobs and petals,
- ³⁵including a knob below each of the three pairs of branches that extend from the lampstand.
- ³⁶Their knobs and branches shall so spring from it that the whole will form but a single piece of pure beaten gold.
- ³⁷You shall then make seven lamps for it and so set up the lamps that they shed their light on the space in front of the lampstand.
- ³⁸These, as well as the trimming shears and trays, must be of pure gold.
- ³⁹Use a talent of pure gold for the lampstand and all its appurtenances.
- ⁴⁰See that you make them according to the pattern shown you on the mountain.

26"The Dwelling itself you shall make out of sheets woven of fine linen twined and of violet, purple and scarlet yarn, with cherubim embroidered on them.

²The length of each shall be twenty-eight cubits, and the width four cubits; all the sheets shall be of the same size.

³Five of the sheets are to be sewed together, edge to edge; and the same for the other five.

⁴Make loops of violet yarn along the edge of the end sheet in one set, and the same along the edge of the end sheet in the other set.

⁵There are to be fifty loops along the edge of the end sheet in the first set, and fifty loops along the edge of the corresponding sheet in the second set, and so placed that the loops are directly opposite each other.

⁶Then make fifty clasps of gold, with which to join the two sets of sheets, so that the Dwelling forms one whole.

⁷"Also make sheets woven of goat hair, to be used as a tent covering over the Dwelling.

⁸Eleven such sheets are to be made; the length of each shall be thirty cubits, and the width four cubits: all eleven sheets shall be of the same size.

⁹Sew five of the sheets, edge to edge, into one set, and the other six sheets into another set. Use the sixth sheet double at the front of the tent.

¹⁰Make fifty loops along the edge of the end sheet in one set, and fifty loops along the edge of the end sheet in the second set.

¹¹Also make fifty bronze clasps and put them into the loops, to join the tent into one whole.

¹²There will be an extra half sheet of tent covering, which shall be allowed to hang down over the rear of the Dwelling.

¹³Likewise, the sheets of the tent will have an extra cubit's length to be left hanging down on either side of the Dwelling to protect it.

- ¹⁴Over the tent itself you shall make a covering of rams' skins dyed red, and above that, a covering of tahash skins.
- ¹⁵You shall make boards of acacia wood as walls for the Dwelling.
- ¹⁶The length of each board is to be ten cubits, and its width one and a half cubits.
- ¹⁷Each board shall have two arms that shall serve to fasten the boards in line. In this way all the boards of the Dwelling are to be made.
- ¹⁸Set up the boards of the Dwelling as follows: twenty boards on the south side,
- ¹⁹with forty silver pedestals under the twenty boards, so that there are two pedestals under each board, at its two arms;
- ²⁰twenty boards on the other side of the Dwelling, the north side,
- ²¹with their forty silver pedestals, two under each board;
- ²²six boards for the rear of the Dwelling, to the west;
- ²³and two boards for the corners at the rear of the Dwelling.
- ²⁴These two shall be double at the bottom, and likewise double at the top, to the first ring. That is how both boards in the corners are to be made.
- ²⁵Thus, there shall be in the rear eight boards, with their sixteen silver pedestals, two pedestals under each board.
- ²⁶Also make bars of acacia wood: five for the boards on one side of the Dwelling,
- ²⁷five for those on the other side, and five for those at the rear, toward the west.
- ²⁸The center bar, at the middle of the boards, shall reach across from end to end.
- ²⁹Plate the boards with gold, and make gold rings on them as holders for the bars, which are also to be plated with gold.
- ³⁰You shall erect the Dwelling according to the pattern shown you on the mountain.

³¹"You shall have a veil woven of violet, purple and scarlet yarn, and of fine linen twined, with cherubim embroidered on it.

³²It is to be hung on four gold-plated columns of acacia wood, which shall have hooks of gold and shall rest on four silver pedestals.

³³Hang the veil from clasps. The ark of the commandments you shall bring inside, behind this veil which divides the holy place from the holy of holies.

³⁴Set the propitiatory on the ark of the commandments in the holy of holies.

³⁵"Outside the veil you shall place the table and the lampstand, the latter on the south side of the Dwelling, opposite the table, which is to be put on the north side.

³⁶For the entrance of the tent make a variegated curtain of violet, purple and scarlet yarn and of fine linen twined.

³⁷Make five columns of acacia wood for this curtain; have them plated with gold, with their hooks of gold; and cast five bronze pedestals for them.

27 "You shall make an altar of acacia wood, on a square, five cubits long and five cubits wide; it shall be three cubits high.

²At the four corners there are to be horns, so made that they spring directly from the altar. You shall then plate it with bronze.

³Make pots for removing the ashes, as well as shovels, basins, forks and fire pans, all of which shall be of bronze.

⁴Make a grating of bronze network for it; this to have four bronze rings, one at each of its four corners.

⁵Put it down around the altar, on the ground. This network is to be half as high as the altar.

⁶You shall also make poles of acacia wood for the altar, and plate them with bronze.

⁷These poles are to be put through the rings, so that they are on either side of the altar when it is carried.

- ⁸Make the altar itself in the form of a hollow box, just as it was shown you on the mountain.
- ⁹"You shall also make a court for the Dwelling. On the south side the court shall have hangings a hundred cubits long, woven of fine linen twined,
- ¹⁰with twenty columns and twenty pedestals of bronze; the hooks and bands on the columns shall be of silver.
- ¹¹On the north side there shall be similar hangings, a hundred cubits long, with twenty columns and twenty pedestals of bronze; the hooks and bands on the columns shall be of silver.
- ¹²On the west side, across the width of the court, there shall be hangings, fifty cubits long, with ten columns and ten pedestals.
- ¹³The width of the court on the east side shall be fifty cubits.
- ¹⁴On one side there shall be hangings to the extent of fifteen cubits, with three columns and three pedestals;
- ¹⁵on the other side there shall be hangings to the extent of fifteen cubits, with three columns and three pedestals.
- ¹⁶"At the entrance of the court there shall be a variegated curtain, twenty cubits long, woven of violet, purple and scarlet yarn and of fine linen twined. It shall have four columns and four pedestals.
- ¹⁷"All the columns around the court shall have bands and hooks of silver, and pedestals of bronze.
- ¹⁸The enclosure of the court is to be one hundred cubits long, fifty cubits wide, and five cubits high. Fine linen twined must be used, and the pedestals must be of bronze.
- ¹⁹All the fittings of the Dwelling, whatever be their use, as well as all its tent pegs and all the tent pegs of the court, must be of bronze.
- ²⁰"You shall order the Israelites to bring you clear oil of crushed olives, to be used for the light, so that you may keep lamps burning regularly.

²¹From evening to morning Aaron and his sons shall maintain them before the LORD in the meeting tent, outside the veil which hangs in front of the commandments. This shall be a perpetual ordinance for the Israelites throughout their generations.

28"From among the Israelites have your brother Aaron, together with his sons Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar, brought to you, that they may be my priests.

²For the glorious adornment of your brother Aaron you shall have sacred vestments made.

³Therefore, to the various expert workmen whom I have endowed with skill, you shall give instructions to make such vestments for Aaron as will set him apart for his sacred service as my priest.

⁴These are the vestments they shall make: a breastpiece, an ephod, a robe, a brocaded tunic, a miter and a sash. In making these sacred vestments which your brother Aaron and his sons are to wear in serving as my priests, ⁵they shall use gold, violet, purple and scarlet yarn and fine linen.

⁶"The ephod they shall make of gold thread and of violet, purple and scarlet yarn, embroidered on cloth of fine linen twined.

⁸The embroidered belt of the ephod shall extend out from it and, like it, be made of gold thread, of violet, purple and scarlet yarn, and of fine linen twined.

⁹"Get two onyx stones and engrave on them the names of the sons of Israel:

¹⁰six of their names on one stone, and the other six on the other stone, in the order of their birth.

¹¹As a gem-cutter engraves a seal, so shall you have the two stones engraved with the names of the sons of Israel and then mounted in gold filigree work.

¹²Set these two stones on the shoulder straps of the ephod as memorial stones of the sons of Israel. Thus Aaron shall bear their names on his shoulders as a reminder before the LORD.

¹³Make filigree rosettes of gold,

¹⁴as well as two chains of pure gold, twisted like cords, and fasten the cordlike chains to the filigree rosettes.

¹⁵"The breastpiece of decision you shall also have made, embroidered like the ephod with gold thread and violet, purple and scarlet yarn on cloth of fine linen twined.

¹⁶It is to be square when folded double, a span high and a span wide.

¹⁷On it you shall mount four rows of precious stones: in the first row, a carnelian, a topaz and an emerald;

¹⁹in the third row, a jacinth, an agate and an amethyst;

²⁰in the fourth row, a chrysolite, an onyx and a jasper. These stones are to be mounted in gold filigree work,

²¹twelve of them to match the names of the sons of Israel, each stone engraved like a seal with the name of one of the twelve tribes.

²²"When the chains of pure gold, twisted like cords, have been made for the breastpiece, ²³you shall then make two rings of gold for it and fasten them to the two upper ends of the breastpiece.

²⁴The gold cords are then to be fastened to the two rings at the upper ends of the breastpiece,

²⁵the other two ends of the cords being fastened in front to the two filigree rosettes which are attached to the shoulder straps of the ephod.

²⁶Make two other rings of gold and put them on the two lower ends of the breastpiece, on its edge that faces the ephod.

²⁷Then make two more rings of gold and fasten them to the bottom of the shoulder straps next to where they join the ephod in front, just above its embroidered belt.

²⁸Violet ribbons shall bind the rings of the breastpiece to the rings of the ephod, so that the breastpiece will stay right above the embroidered belt of the ephod and not swing loose from it.

²⁹"Whenever Aaron enters the sanctuary, he will thus bear the names of the sons of Israel on the breastpiece of decision over his heart as a constant reminder before the LORD.

³²It shall have an opening for the head in the center, and around this opening there shall be a selvage, woven as at the opening of a shirt, to keep it from being torn.

³³All around the hem at the bottom you shall make pomegranates, woven of violet, purple and scarlet yarn and fine linen twined, with gold bells between them;

³⁴first a gold bell, then a pomegranate, and thus alternating all around the hem of the robe.

³⁵Aaron shall wear it when ministering, that its tinkling may be heard as he enters and leaves the LORD'S presence in the sanctuary; else he will die.

³⁶"You shall also make a plate of pure gold and engrave on it, as on a seal engraving, 'Sacred to the LORD.'

³⁷This plate is to be tied over the miter with a violet ribbon in such a way that it rests on the front of the miter,

³⁸over Aaron's forehead. Since Aaron bears whatever guilt the Israelites may incur in consecrating any of their sacred gifts, this plate must always be over his forehead, so that they may find favor with the LORD.

³⁹"The tunic of fine linen shall be brocaded. The miter shall be made of fine linen. The sash shall be of variegated work.

⁴⁰"Likewise, for the glorious adornment of Aaron's sons you shall have tunics and sashes and turbans made.

⁴¹With these you shall clothe your brother Aaron and his sons. Anoint and ordain them, consecrating them as my priests.

⁴²You must also make linen drawers for them, to cover their naked flesh from their loins to their thighs.

⁴³Aaron and his sons shall wear them whenever they go into the meeting tent or approach the altar to minister in the sanctuary, lest they incur guilt and die. This shall be a perpetual ordinance for him and for his descendants.

29"This is the rite you shall perform in consecrating them as my priests. Procure a young bull and two unblemished rams.

²With fine wheat flour make unleavened cakes mixed with oil, and unleavened wafers spread with oil, ³and put them in a basket. Take the basket of them along with the bullock and the two rams.

⁴Aaron and his sons you shall also bring to the entrance of the meeting tent, and there wash them with water.

⁵Take the vestments and clothe Aaron with the tunic, the robe of the ephod, the ephod itself, and the breastpiece, fastening the embroidered belt of the ephod around him.

⁷Then take the anointing oil and anoint him with it, pouring it on his head.

⁸Bring forward his sons also and clothe them with the tunics,

⁹gird them with the sashes, and tie the turbans on them. Thus shall the priesthood be theirs by perpetual law, and thus shall you ordain Aaron and his sons.

¹⁰"Now bring forward the bullock in front of the meeting tent. There Aaron and his sons shall lay their hands on its head.

¹²Take some of its blood and with your finger put it on the horns of the altar. All the rest of the blood you shall pour out at the base of the altar.

¹³All the fat that covers its inner organs, as well as the lobe of its liver and its two kidneys, together with the fat that is on them, you shall take and burn on the altar.

¹⁴But the flesh and hide and offal of the bullock you must burn up outside the camp, since this is a sin offering.

¹⁵"Then take one of the rams, and after Aaron and his sons have laid their hands on its head, ¹⁶slaughter it. The blood you shall take and splash on all the sides of the altar.

¹⁷Cut the ram into pieces; its inner organs and shanks you shall first wash, and then put them with the pieces and with the head.

¹⁸The entire ram shall then be burned on the altar, since it is a holocaust, a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD.

¹⁹"After this take the other ram, and when Aaron and his sons have laid their hands on its head,

²¹Then take some of the blood that is on the altar, together with some of the anointing oil, and sprinkle this on Aaron and his vestments, as well as on his sons and their vestments, that his sons and their vestments may be sacred.

²³then, out of the basket of unleavened food that you have set before the LORD, you shall take one of the loaves of bread, one of the cakes made with oil, and one of the wafers.

²⁴All these things you shall put into the hands of Aaron and his sons, so that they may wave them as a wave offering before the LORD.

²⁵After you have received them back from their hands, you shall burn them on top of the holocaust on the altar as a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD.

²⁶Finally, take the breast of Aaron's ordination ram and wave it as a wave offering before the LORD; this is to be your own portion.

²⁸Such things are due to Aaron and his sons from the Israelites by a perpetual ordinance as a contribution. From their peace offerings, too, the Israelites shall make a contribution, their contribution to the LORD.

²⁹"The sacred vestments of Aaron shall be passed down to his descendants, that in them they may be anointed and ordained.

³⁰The descendant who succeeds him as priest and who is to enter the meeting tent to minister in the sanctuary shall be clothed with them for seven days.

³¹"You shall take the flesh of the ordination ram and boil it in a holy place.

³²At the entrance of the meeting tent Aaron and his sons shall eat the flesh of the ram and the bread that is in the basket.

³³They themselves are to eat of these things by which atonement was made at their ordination and consecration; but no layman may eat of them, since they are sacred.

³⁴If some of the flesh of the ordination sacrifice or some of the bread remains over on the next day, this remnant must be burned up; it is not to be eaten, since it is sacred.

³⁵Carry out all these orders in regard to Aaron and his sons just as I have given them to you. "Seven days you shall spend in ordaining them, ³⁶sacrificing a bullock each day as a sin offering, to make atonement. Thus also shall you purge the altar in making atonement for it; you shall anoint it in order to consecrate it.

³⁷Seven days you shall spend in making atonement for the altar and in consecrating it. Then the altar will be most sacred, and whatever touches it will become sacred.

³⁸"Now, this is what you shall offer on the altar: two yearling lambs as the sacrifice established for each day;

³⁹one lamb in the morning and the other lamb at the evening twilight.

⁴⁰With the first lamb there shall be a tenth of an ephah of fine flour mixed with a fourth of a hin of oil of crushed olives and, as its libation, a fourth of a hin of wine.

⁴¹The other lamb you shall offer at the evening twilight, with the same cereal offering and libation as in the morning. You shall offer this as a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD.

⁴²Throughout your generations this established holocaust shall be offered before the LORD at the entrance of the meeting tent, where I will meet you and speak to you.

⁴³"There, at the altar, I will meet the Israelites; hence, it will be made sacred by my glory.

⁴⁴Thus I will consecrate the meeting tent and the altar, just as I also consecrate Aaron and his sons to be my priests.

⁴⁵I will dwell in the midst of the Israelites and will be their God.

⁴⁶They shall know that I, the LORD, am their God who brought them out of the land of Egypt, so that I, the LORD, their God, might dwell among them.

30"For burning incense you shall make an altar of acacia wood,

²with a square surface, a cubit long, a cubit wide, and two cubits high, with horns that spring directly from it.

³Its grate on top, its walls on all four sides, and its horns you shall plate with pure gold. Put a gold molding around it.

⁴Underneath the molding you shall put gold rings, two on one side and two on the opposite side, as holders for the poles used in carrying it.

⁵Make the poles, too, of acacia wood and plate them with gold.

⁶This altar you are to place in front of the veil that hangs before the ark of the commandments where I will meet you.

⁷"On it Aaron shall burn fragrant incense. Morning after morning, when he prepares the lamps, ⁸and again in the evening twilight, when he lights the lamps, he shall burn incense. Throughout your generations this shall be the established incense offering before the LORD.

⁹On this altar you shall not offer up any profane incense, or any holocaust or cereal offering; nor shall you pour out a libation upon it.

¹⁰Once a year Aaron shall perform the atonement rite on its horns. Throughout your generations this atonement is to be made once a year with the blood of the atoning sin offering. This altar is most sacred to the LORD."

¹¹The LORD also said to Moses,

¹²"When you take a census of the Israelites who are to be registered, each one, as he is enrolled, shall give the LORD a forfeit for his life, so that no plague may come upon them for being registered.

¹³Everyone who enters the registered group must pay a half-shekel, according to the standard of the sanctuary shekel, twenty gerahs to the shekel. This payment of a half-shekel is a contribution to the LORD.

¹⁴Everyone of twenty years or more who enters the registered group must give this contribution to the LORD.

¹⁵The rich need not give more, nor shall the poor give less, than a half-shekel in this contribution to the LORD to pay the forfeit for their lives.

¹⁶When you receive this forfeit money from the Israelites, you shall donate it to the service of the meeting tent, that there it may be the Israelites' reminder before the LORD, of the forfeit paid for their lives."

¹⁷The LORD said to Moses,

¹⁸"For ablutions you shall make a bronze laver with a bronze base. Place it between the meeting tent and the altar, and put water in it.

¹⁹Aaron and his sons shall use it in washing their hands and feet.

²⁰When they are about to enter the meeting tent, they must wash with water, lest they die. Likewise when they approach the altar in their ministry, to offer an oblation to the LORD,

²¹they must wash their hands and feet, lest they die. This shall be a perpetual ordinance for him and his descendants throughout their generations."

²²The LORD said to Moses,

²³"Take the finest spices: five hundred shekels of free-flowing myrrh; half that amount, that is, two hundred and fifty shekels, of fragrant cinnamon; two hundred and fifty shekels of fragrant cane;

²⁴five hundred shekels of cassia-all according to the standard of the sanctuary shekel; together with a hin of olive oil;

²⁶With this sacred anointing oil you shall anoint the meeting tent and the ark of the commandments,

²⁷the table and all its appurtenances, the lampstand and its appurtenances, the altar of incense

²⁸and the altar of holocausts with all its appurtenances, and the laver with its base.

²⁹When you have consecrated them, they shall be most sacred; whatever touches them shall be sacred.

³⁰Aaron and his sons you shall also anoint and consecrate as my priests.

³¹To the Israelites you shall say: As sacred anointing oil this shall belong to me throughout your generations.

³²It may not be used in any ordinary anointing of the body, nor may you make any other oil of a like mixture. It is sacred, and shall be treated as sacred by you.

³⁴The LORD told Moses, "Take these aromatic substances: storax and onycha and galbanum, these and pure frankincense in equal parts;

³⁵and blend them into incense. This fragrant powder, expertly prepared, is to be salted and so kept pure and sacred.

³⁶Grind some of it into fine dust and put this before the commandments in the meeting tent where I will meet you. This incense shall be treated as most sacred by you.

³⁷You may not make incense of a like mixture for yourselves; you must treat it as sacred to the LORD.

³⁸Whoever makes an incense like this for his own enjoyment of its fragrance, shall be cut off from his kinsmen."

31 The LORD said to Moses,

²"See, I have chosen Bezalel, son of Uri, son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah,

³and I have filled him with a divine spirit of skill and understanding and knowledge in every craft:

⁴in the production of embroidery, in making things of gold, silver or bronze,

⁵in cutting and mounting precious stones, in carving wood, and in every craft.

⁶As his assistant I have appointed Oholiab, son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan. I have also endowed all the experts with the necessary skill to make all the things I have ordered you to make:

⁷the meeting tent, the ark of the commandments with the propitiatory on top of it, all the furnishings of the tent,

⁸the table with its appurtenances, the pure gold lampstand with all its appurtenances, the altar of incense,

⁹the altar of holocausts with all its appurtenances, the laver with its base,

¹⁰the service cloths, the sacred vestments for Aaron the priest, the vestments for his sons in their ministry,

¹¹the anointing oil, and the fragrant incense for the sanctuary. All these things they shall make just as I have commanded you."

¹²The LORD said to Moses,

¹³You must also tell the Israelites: Take care to keep my sabbaths, for that is to be the token between you and me throughout the generations, to show that it is I, the LORD, who make you holy.

¹⁴Therefore, you must keep the sabbath as something sacred. Whoever desecrates it shall be put to death. If anyone does work on that day, he must be rooted out of his people.

¹⁵Six days there are for doing work, but the seventh day is the sabbath of complete rest, sacred to the LORD. Anyone who does work on the sabbath day shall be put to death.

¹⁶So shall the Israelites observe the sabbath, keeping it throughout their generations as a perpetual covenant.

¹⁷Between me and the Israelites it is to be an everlasting token; for in six days the LORD made the heavens and the earth, but on the seventh day he rested at his ease."

¹⁸When the LORD had finished speaking to Moses on Mount Sinai, he gave him the two tablets of the commandments, the stone tablets inscribed by God's own finger.

32When the people became aware of Moses' delay in coming down from the mountain, they gathered around Aaron and said to him, "Come, make us a god who will be our leader; as for the man Moses who brought us out of the land of Egypt, we do not know what has happened to him."

²Aaron replied, "Have your wives and sons and daughters take off the golden earrings they are wearing, and bring them to me."

³So all the people took off their earrings and brought them to Aaron,

⁴who accepted their offering, and fashioning this gold with a graving tool, made a molten calf. Then they cried out, "This is your God, O Israel, who brought you out of the land of Egypt."

⁵On seeing this, Aaron built an altar before the calf and proclaimed, "Tomorrow is a feast of the LORD."

⁶Early the next day the people offered holocausts and brought peace offerings. Then they sat down to eat and drink, and rose up to revel.

⁷With that, the LORD said to Moses, "Go down at once to your people, whom you brought out of the land of Egypt, for they have become depraved.

⁸They have soon turned aside from the way I pointed out to them, making for themselves a molten calf and worshiping it, sacrificing to it and crying out, 'This is your God, O Israel, who brought you out of the land of Egypt!'

¹⁰"Let me alone, then, that my wrath may blaze up against them to consume them. Then I will make of you a great nation."

¹¹But Moses implored the LORD, his God, saying, "Why, O LORD, should your wrath blaze up against your own people, whom you brought out of the land of Egypt with such great power and with so strong a hand?"

¹²Why should the Egyptians say, 'With evil intent he brought them out, that he might kill them in the mountains and exterminate them from the face of the earth'? Let your blazing wrath die down; relent in punishing your people.

¹³Remember your servants Abraham, Isaac and Israel, and how you swore to them by your own self, saying, 'I will make your descendants as numerous as the stars in the sky; and all this land that I promised, I will give your descendants as their perpetual heritage.'

¹⁴So the LORD relented in the punishment he had threatened to inflict on his people.

¹⁵Moses then turned and came down the mountain with the two tablets of the commandments in his hands, tablets that were written on both sides, front and back;

¹⁶tablets that were made by God, having inscriptions on them that were engraved by God himself.

¹⁷Now, when Joshua heard the noise of the people shouting, he said to Moses, "That sounds like a battle in the camp."

¹⁸But Moses answered, "It does not sound like cries of victory, nor does it sound like cries of defeat; the sounds that I hear are cries of revelry."

¹⁹As he drew near the camp, he saw the calf and the dancing. With that, Moses' wrath flared up, so that he threw the tablets down and broke them on the base of the mountain.

²⁰Taking the calf they had made, he fused it in the fire and then ground it down to powder, which he scattered on the water and made the Israelites drink.

²¹Moses asked Aaron, "What did this people ever do to you that you should lead them into so grave a sin?" Aaron replied, "Let not my lord be angry.

²²You know well enough how prone the people are to evil.

²³They said to me, 'Make us a god to be our leader; as for the man Moses who brought us out of the land of Egypt, we do not know what has happened to him.'

²⁴So I told them, 'Let anyone who has gold jewelry take it off.' They gave it to me, and I threw it into the fire, and this calf came out."

²⁵When Moses realized that, to the scornful joy of their foes, Aaron had let the people run wild,

²⁶he stood at the gate of the camp and cried, "Whoever is for the LORD, let him come to me!" All the Levites then rallied to him,

²⁷and he told them, "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Put your sword on your hip, every one of you! Now go up and down the camp, from gate to gate, and slay your own kinsmen, your friends and neighbors!"

²⁸The Levites carried out the command of Moses, and that day there fell about three thousand of the people.

²⁹Then Moses said, "Today you have been dedicated to the LORD, for you were against your own sons and kinsmen, to bring a blessing upon yourselves this day."

³⁰On the next day Moses said to the people, "You have committed a grave sin. I will go up to the LORD, then; perhaps I may be able to make atonement for your sin."

³¹So Moses went back to the LORD and said, "Ah, this people has indeed committed a grave sin in making a god of gold for themselves!

³²If you would only forgive their sin! If you will not, then strike me out of the book that you have written."

³³The LORD answered, "Him only who has sinned against me will I strike out of my book.

³⁴Now, go and lead the people whither I have told you. My angel will go before you. When it is time for me to punish, I will punish them for their sin."

³⁵Thus the LORD smote the people for having had Aaron make the calf for them.

33The LORD told Moses, "You and the people whom you have brought up from the land of Egypt, are to go up from here to the land which I swore to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob I would give to their descendants.

²Driving out the Canaanites, Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivites and Jebusites, I will send an angel before you

³to the land flowing with milk and honey. But I myself will not go up in your company, because you are a stiff-necked people; otherwise I might exterminate you on the way."

⁴When the people heard this bad news, they went into mourning, and no one wore his ornaments.

⁵The LORD said to Moses, "Tell the Israelites: You are a stiff-necked people. Were I to go up in your company even for a moment, I would exterminate you. Take off your ornaments, therefore; I will then see what I am to do with you."

⁶So, from Mount Horeb onward, the Israelites laid aside their ornaments.

⁷The tent, which was called the meeting tent, Moses used to pitch at some distance away, outside the camp. Anyone who wished to consult the LORD would go to this meeting tent outside the camp.

⁸Whenever Moses went out to the tent, the people would all rise and stand at the entrance of their own tents, watching Moses until he entered the tent.

⁹As Moses entered the tent, the column of cloud would come down and stand at its entrance while the LORD spoke with Moses.

¹⁰On seeing the column of cloud stand at the entrance of the tent, all the people would rise and worship at the entrance of their own tents.

¹¹The LORD used to speak to Moses face to face, as one man speaks to another. Moses would then return to the camp, but his young assistant, Joshua, son of Nun, would not move out of the tent.

¹²Moses said to the LORD, "You, indeed, are telling me to lead this people on; but you have not let me know whom you will send with me. Yet you have said, 'You are my intimate friend,' and also, 'You have found favor with me.'

¹³Now, if I have found favor with you, do let me know your ways so that, in knowing you, I may continue to find favor with you. Then, too, this nation is, after all, your own people."

¹⁴"I myself," the LORD answered, "will go along, to give you rest."

¹⁵Moses replied, "If you are not going yourself, do not make us go up from here.

¹⁶For how can it be known that we, your people and I, have found favor with you, except by your going with us? Then we, your people and I, will be singled out from every other people on the earth."

¹⁷The LORD said to Moses, "This request, too, which you have just made, I will carry out, because you have found favor with me and you are my intimate friend."

¹⁸Then Moses said, "Do let me see your glory!"

¹⁹He answered, "I will make all my beauty pass before you, and in your presence I will pronounce my name, 'LORD'; I who show favors to whom I will, I who grant mercy to whom I will.

²⁰But my face you cannot see, for no man sees me and still lives.

²¹Here," continued the LORD, "is a place near me where you shall station yourself on the rock.

²²When my glory passes I will set you in the hollow of the rock and will cover you with my hand until I have passed by.

²³Then I will remove my hand, so that you may see my back; but my face is not to be seen."

34The LORD said to Moses, "Cut two stone tablets like the former, that I may write on them the commandments which were on the former tablets that you broke.

²Get ready for tomorrow morning, when you are to go up Mount Sinai and there present yourself to me on the top of the mountain.

³No one shall come up with you, and no one is even to be seen on any part of the mountain; even the flocks and the herds are not to go grazing toward this mountain."

⁴Moses then cut two stone tablets like the former, and early the next morning he went up Mount Sinai as the LORD had commanded him, taking along the two stone tablets.

⁵Having come down in a cloud, the LORD stood with him there and proclaimed his name, "LORD."

⁶Thus the LORD passed before him and cried out, "The LORD, the LORD, a merciful and gracious God, slow to anger and rich in kindness and fidelity, ⁷continuing his kindness for a thousand generations, and forgiving wickedness and crime and sin; yet not declaring the guilty guiltless, but punishing children and grandchildren to the third and fourth generation for their fathers' wickedness!"

⁸Moses at once bowed down to the ground in worship.

⁹Then he said, "If I find favor with you, O Lord, do come along in our company. This is indeed a stiff-necked people; yet pardon our wickedness and sins, and receive us as your own."

¹⁰"Here, then," said the LORD, "is the covenant I will make. Before the eyes of all your people I will work such marvels as have never been wrought in any nation anywhere on earth, so that this people among whom you live may see how awe-inspiring are the deeds which I, the LORD, will do at your side.

¹¹But you, on your part, must keep the commandments I am giving you today. "I will drive out before you the Amorites, Canaanites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivites and Jebusites.

¹²Take care, therefore, not to make a covenant with these inhabitants of the land that you are to enter; else they will become a snare among you.

¹³Tear down their altars; smash their sacred pillars, and cut down their sacred poles.

¹⁴You shall not worship any other god, for the LORD is 'the Jealous One'; a jealous God is he.

¹⁵Do not make a covenant with the inhabitants of that land; else, when they render their wanton worship to their gods and sacrifice to them, one of them may invite you and you may partake of his sacrifice.

¹⁶Neither shall you take their daughters as wives for your sons; otherwise, when their daughters render their wanton worship to their gods, they will make your sons do the same.

¹⁷"You shall not make for yourselves molten gods.

¹⁸"You shall keep the feast of Unleavened Bread. For seven days at the prescribed time in the month of Abib you are to eat unleavened bread, as I commanded you; for in the month of Abib you came out of Egypt.

¹⁹"To me belongs every first-born male that opens the womb among all your livestock, whether in the herd or in the flock.

²⁰The firstling of an ass you shall redeem with one of the flock; if you do not redeem it, you must break its neck. The first-born among your sons you shall redeem. "No one shall appear before me empty-handed.

²¹"For six days you may work, but on the seventh day you shall rest; on that day you must rest even during the seasons of plowing and harvesting.

²²"You shall keep the feast of Weeks with the first of the wheat harvest; likewise, the feast at the fruit harvest at the close of the year.

²³Three times a year all your men shall appear before the Lord, the LORD God of Israel.

²⁴Since I will drive out the nations before you to give you a large territory, there will be no one to covet your land when you go up three times a year to appear before the LORD, your God.

²⁵"You shall not offer me the blood of sacrifice with leavened bread, nor shall the sacrifice of the Passover feast be kept overnight for the next day.

²⁶"The choicest first fruits of your soil you shall bring to the house of the LORD, your God. "You shall not boil a kid in its mother's milk."

²⁷Then the LORD said to Moses, "Write down these words, for in accordance with them I have made a covenant with you and with Israel."

²⁸So Moses stayed there with the LORD for forty days and forty nights, without eating any food or drinking any water, and he wrote on the tablets the words of the covenant, the ten commandments.

²⁹As Moses came down from Mount Sinai with the two tablets of the commandments in his hands, he did not know that the skin of his face had become radiant while he conversed with the LORD.

³⁰When Aaron, then, and the other Israelites saw Moses and noticed how radiant the skin of his face had become, they were afraid to come near him.

³¹Only after Moses called to them did Aaron and all the rulers of the community come back to him. Moses then spoke to them.

³²Later on, all the Israelites came up to him, and he enjoined on them all that the LORD had told him on Mount Sinai.

³³When he finished speaking with them, he put a veil over his face.

³⁴Whenever Moses entered the presence of the LORD to converse with him, he removed the veil until he came out again. On coming out, he would tell the Israelites all that had been commanded.

35 Moses assembled the whole Israelite community and said to them, "This is what the LORD has commanded to be done.

²On six days work may be done, but the seventh day shall be sacred to you as the sabbath of complete rest to the LORD. Anyone who does work on that day shall be put to death.

³You shall not even light a fire in any of your dwellings on the sabbath day."

⁴Moses told the whole Israelite community, "This is what the LORD has commanded:

⁵Take up among you a collection for the LORD. Everyone, as his heart prompts him, shall bring, as a contribution to the LORD, gold, silver and bronze;

⁶violet, purple and scarlet yarn; fine linen and goat hair;

⁷rams' skins dyed red, and tahash skins; acacia wood;

⁸oil for the light; spices for the anointing oil and for the fragrant incense;

⁹onyx stones and other gems for mounting on the ephod and on the breastpiece.

¹⁰"Let every expert among you come and make all that the LORD has commanded: the Dwelling,

¹¹with its tent, its covering, its clasps, its boards, its bars, its columns and its pedestals;

¹²the ark, with its poles, the propitiatory, and the curtain veil;

¹³the table, with its poles and all its appurtenances, and the showbread;

¹⁴the lampstand, with its appurtenances, the lamps, and the oil for the light;

¹⁵the altar of incense, with its poles; the anointing oil, and the fragrant incense; the entrance curtain for the entrance of the Dwelling;

¹⁶the altar of holocausts, with its bronze grating, its poles, and all its appurtenances; the laver, with its base;

¹⁸the tent pegs for the Dwelling and for the court, with their ropes;

¹⁹the service cloths for use in the sanctuary; the sacred vestments for Aaron, the priest, and the vestments worn by his sons in their ministry."

²¹everyone, as his heart suggested and his spirit prompted, brought a contribution to the LORD for the construction of the meeting tent, for all its services, and for the sacred vestments.

²²Both the men and the women, all as their heart prompted them, brought brooches, earrings, rings, necklaces and various other gold articles. Everyone who could presented an offering of gold to the LORD.

²³Everyone who happened to have violet, purple or scarlet yarn, fine linen or goat hair, rams' skins dyed red or tahash skins, brought them.

²⁴Whoever could make a contribution of silver or bronze offered it to the LORD; and everyone who happened to have acacia wood for any part of the work, brought it.

²⁵All the women who were expert spinners brought hand-spun violet, purple and scarlet yarn and fine linen thread.

²⁶All the women who possessed the skill, spun goat hair.

²⁷The princes brought onyx stones and other gems for mounting on the ephod and on the breastpiece;

²⁸as well as spices, and oil for the light, anointing oil, and fragrant incense.

²⁹Every Israelite man and woman brought to the LORD such voluntary offerings as they thought best, for the various kinds of work which the LORD had commanded Moses to have done.

³⁰Moses said to the Israelites, "See, the LORD has chosen Bezalel, son of Uri, son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah, ³¹and has filled him with a divine spirit of skill and understanding and knowledge in every craft:

³²in the production of embroidery, in making things of gold, silver or bronze,

³³in cutting and mounting precious stones, in carving wood, and in every other craft.

³⁴He has also given both him and Oholiab, son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan, the ability to teach others.

³⁵He has endowed them with skill to execute all types of work: engraving, embroidering, the making of variegated cloth of violet, purple and scarlet yarn and fine linen thread, weaving, and all other arts and crafts.

36"Bezalel, therefore, will set to work with Oholiab and with all the experts whom the LORD has endowed with skill and understanding in knowing how to execute all the work for the service of the sanctuary, just as the LORD has commanded."

²Moses then called Bezalel and Oholiab and all the other experts whom the LORD had endowed with skill, men whose hearts moved them to come and take part in the work.

³They received from Moses all the contributions which the Israelites had brought for establishing the service of the sanctuary. Still, morning after morning the people continued to bring their voluntary offerings to Moses.

⁴Thereupon the experts who were executing the various kinds of work for the sanctuary, all left the work they were doing,

⁵and told Moses, "The people are bringing much more than is needed to carry out the work which the LORD has commanded us to do."

⁶Moses, therefore, ordered a proclamation to be made throughout the camp: "Let neither man nor woman make any more contributions for the sanctuary." So the people stopped bringing their offerings;

⁷there was already enough at hand, in fact, more than enough, to complete the work to be done.

⁸The various experts who were executing the work, made the Dwelling with its ten sheets woven of fine linen twined, having cherubim embroidered on them with violet, purple and scarlet yarn.

⁹The length of each sheet was twenty-eight cubits, and the width four cubits; all the sheets were of the same size.

¹⁰Five of the sheets were sewed together, edge to edge; and the same for the other five.

¹¹Loops of violet yarn were made along the edge of the end sheet in the first set, and the same along the edge of the end sheet in the second set.

¹²Fifty loops were thus put on one inner sheet, and fifty loops on the inner sheet in the other set, with the loops directly opposite each other.

¹³Then fifty clasps of gold were made, with which the sheets were joined so that the Dwelling formed one whole.

¹⁴Sheets of goat hair were also woven as a tent over the Dwelling. Eleven such sheets were made.

¹⁵The length of each sheet was thirty cubits and the width four cubits; all eleven sheets were the same size.

¹⁶Five of these sheets were sewed edge to edge into one set; and the other six sheets into another set.

¹⁷Fifty loops were made along the edge of the end sheet in one set, and fifty loops along the edge of the corresponding sheet in the other set.

¹⁸Fifty bronze clasps were made with which the tent was joined so that it formed one whole.

¹⁹A covering for the tent was made of rams' skins dyed red, and above that, a covering of tahash skins.

²⁰Boards of acacia wood were made as walls for the Dwelling.

²¹The length of each board was ten cubits, and the width one and a half cubits.

²²Each board had two arms, fastening them in line. In this way all the boards of the Dwelling were made.

²³They were set up as follows: twenty boards on the south side,

²⁴with forty silver pedestals under the twenty boards, so that there were two pedestals under each board, at its two arms;

²⁵twenty boards on the other side of the Dwelling, the north side,

²⁶with their forty silver pedestals, two under each board;

²⁷six boards at the rear of the Dwelling, to the west;

²⁹These were double at the bottom, and likewise double at the top, to the first ring. That is how both boards in the corners were made.

³⁰Thus, there were in the rear eight boards, with their sixteen silver pedestals, two pedestals under each board.

³¹Bars of acacia wood were also made, five for the boards on one side of the Dwelling, ³² five for those on the other side, and five for those at the rear, to the west.

³³ The center bar, at the middle of the boards, was made to reach across from end to end.

³⁴ The boards were plated with gold, and gold rings were made on them as holders for the bars, which were also plated with gold.

³⁵ The veil was woven of violet, purple and scarlet yarn, and of fine linen twined, with cherubim embroidered on it.

³⁶ Four gold-plated columns of acacia wood, with gold hooks, were made for it, and four silver pedestals were cast for them.

³⁷ The curtain for the entrance of the tent was made of violet, purple and scarlet yarn, and of fine linen twined, woven in a variegated manner.

³⁸ Its five columns, with their hooks as well as their capitals and bands, were plated with gold; their five pedestals were of bronze.

37 Bezalel made the ark of acacia wood, two and a half cubits long, one and a half cubits wide, and one and a half cubits high.

² The inside and outside were plated with gold, and a molding of gold was put around it.

³ Four gold rings were cast and put on its four supports, two rings for one side and two for the opposite side.

⁴ Poles of acacia wood were made and plated with gold;

⁵ these were put through the rings on the sides of the ark, for carrying it.

⁶ The propitiatory was made of pure gold, two and a half cubits long and one and a half cubits wide.

⁷ Two cherubim of beaten gold were made for the two ends of the propitiatory,

⁸ one cherub fastened at one end, the other at the other end, springing directly from the propitiatory at its two ends.

⁹The cherubim had their wings spread out above, covering the propitiatory with them. They were turned toward each other, but with their faces looking toward the propitiatory.

¹⁰The table was made of acacia wood, two cubits long, one cubit wide, and one and a half cubits high.

¹¹It was plated with pure gold, and a molding of gold was put around it.

¹²A frame a handbreadth high was also put around it, with a molding of gold around the frame.

¹³Four rings of gold were cast for it and fastened, one at each of the four corners.

¹⁴The rings were alongside the frame as holders for the poles to carry the table.

¹⁵These poles were made of acacia wood and plated with gold.

¹⁶The vessels that were set on the table, its plates and cups, as well as its pitchers and bowls for pouring libations, were of pure gold.

¹⁷The lampstand was made of pure beaten gold--its shaft and branches as well as its cups and knobs and petals springing directly from it.

¹⁸Six branches extended from its sides, three branches on one side and three on the other.

¹⁹On one branch there were three cups, shaped like almond blossoms, each with its knob and petals; on the opposite branch there were three cups, shaped like almond blossoms, each with its knob and petals; and so for the six branches that extended from the lampstand.

²⁰On the shaft there were four cups, shaped like almond blossoms, with their knobs and petals,

²²The knobs and branches sprang so directly from it that the whole formed but a single piece of pure beaten gold.

²³Its seven lamps, as well as its trimming shears and trays, were made of pure gold.

²⁴A talent of pure gold was used for the lampstand and its various appurtenances.

²⁵The altar of incense was made of acacia wood, on a square, a cubit long, a cubit wide, and two cubits high, having horns that sprang directly from it.

²⁶Its grate on top, its walls on all four sides, and its horns were plated with pure gold; and a molding of gold was put around it.

²⁷Underneath the molding gold rings were placed, two on one side and two on the opposite side, as holders for the poles to carry it.

²⁸The poles, too, were made of acacia wood and plated with gold.

²⁹The sacred anointing oil and the fragrant incense were prepared in their pure form by a perfumer.

38 The altar of holocausts was made of acacia wood, on a square, five cubits long and five cubits wide; its height was three cubits.

²At the four corners horns were made that sprang directly from the altar. The whole was plated with bronze.

³All the utensils of the altar, the pots, shovels, basins, forks and fire pans, were likewise made of bronze.

⁴A grating of bronze network was made for the altar and placed round it, on the ground, half as high as the altar itself.

⁵Four rings were cast for the four corners of the bronze grating, as holders for the poles,

⁶which were made of acacia wood and plated with bronze.

⁷The poles were put through the rings on the sides of the altar for carrying it. The altar was made in the form of a hollow box.

⁸The bronze laver, with its bronze base, was made from the mirrors of the women who served at the entrance of the meeting tent.

⁹The court was made as follows. On the south side of the court there were hangings, woven of fine linen twined, a hundred cubits long, ¹⁰with twenty columns and twenty pedestals of bronze, the hooks and bands of the columns being of silver.

¹¹On the north side there were similar hangings, one hundred cubits long, with twenty columns and twenty pedestals of bronze, the hooks and bands of the columns being of silver.

¹²On the west side there were hangings, fifty cubits long, with ten columns and ten pedestals, the hooks and bands of the columns being of silver.

¹³On the east side the court was fifty cubits long.

¹⁴Toward one side there were hangings to the extent of fifteen cubits, with three columns and three pedestals; toward the other side, ¹⁵beyond the entrance of the court, there were likewise hangings to the extent of fifteen cubits, with three columns and three pedestals.

¹⁶The hangings on all sides of the court were woven of fine linen twined.

¹⁷The pedestals of the columns were of bronze, while the hooks and bands of the columns were of silver; the capitals were silver-plated, and all the columns of the court were banded with silver.

¹⁸At the entrance of the court there was a variegated curtain, woven of violet, purple and scarlet yarn and of fine linen twined, twenty cubits long and five cubits wide, in keeping with the hangings of the court.

¹⁹There were four columns and four pedestals of bronze for it, while their hooks were of silver.

²⁰All the tent pegs for the Dwelling and for the court around it were of bronze.

²¹The following is an account of the various amounts used on the Dwelling, the Dwelling of the commandments, drawn up at the command of Moses by the Levites under the direction of Ithamar, son of Aaron the priest.

²²However, it was Bezalel, son of Uri, son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah, who made all that the Lord commanded Moses, ²³and he was assisted by Oholiab, son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan, who was an engraver, an embroiderer, and a weaver of variegated cloth of violet, purple and scarlet yarn and of fine linen.

²⁴All the gold used in the entire construction of the sanctuary, having previously been given as an offering, amounted to twenty-nine talents and seven hundred and thirty shekels, according to the standard of the sanctuary shekel.

²⁵The amount of the silver received from the community was one hundred talents and one thousand seven hundred and seventy-five shekels, according to the standard of the sanctuary shekel;

²⁶one bekah apiece, that is, a half-shekel apiece, according to the standard of the sanctuary shekel, was received from every man of twenty years or more who entered the registered group; the number of these was six hundred and three thousand five hundred and fifty men.

²⁷One hundred talents of silver were used for casting the pedestals of the sanctuary and the pedestals of the veil, one talent for each pedestal, or one hundred talents for the one hundred pedestals.

²⁸The remaining one thousand seven hundred and seventy-five shekels were used for making the hooks on the columns, for plating the capitals, and for banding them with silver.

²⁹The bronze, given as an offering, amounted to seventy talents and two thousand four hundred shekels.

³⁰With this were made the pedestals at the entrance of the meeting tent, the bronze altar with its bronze gratings and all the appurtenances of the altar,

³¹the pedestals around the court, the pedestals at the entrance of the court, and all the tent pegs for the Dwelling and for the court around it.

39With violet, purple and scarlet yarn were woven the service cloths for use in the sanctuary, as well as the sacred vestments for Aaron, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

²The ephod was woven of gold thread and of violet, purple and scarlet yarn and of fine linen twined.

³Gold was first hammered into gold leaf and then cut up into threads, which were woven with the violet, purple and scarlet yarn into an embroidered pattern on the fine linen.

⁴Shoulder straps were made for it and joined to its two upper ends.

⁵The embroidered belt on the ephod extended out from it, and like it, was made of gold thread, of violet, purple and scarlet yarn, and of fine linen twined, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

⁶The onyx stones were prepared and mounted in gold filigree work; they were engraved like seal engravings with the names of the sons of Israel.

⁷These stones were set on the shoulder straps of the ephod as memorial stones of the sons of Israel, just as the LORD had commanded Moses.

⁸The breastpiece was embroidered like the ephod, with gold thread and violet, purple and scarlet yarn on cloth of fine linen twined.

⁹It was square and folded double, a span high and a span wide in its folded form.

¹⁰Four rows of precious stones were mounted on it: in the first row a carnelian, a topaz and an emerald;

¹¹in the second row, a garnet, a sapphire and a beryl;

¹²in the third row a jacinth, an agate and an amethyst;

¹³in the fourth row a chrysolite, an onyx and a jasper. They were mounted in gold filigree work.

¹⁴These stones were twelve, to match the names of the sons of Israel, and each stone was engraved like a seal with the name of one of the twelve tribes.

¹⁵Chains of pure gold, twisted like cords, were made for the breastpiece, ¹⁶together with two gold filigree rosettes and two gold rings. The two rings were fastened to the two upper ends of the breastpiece.

¹⁷The two gold chains were then fastened to the two rings at the ends of the breastpiece.

¹⁸The other two ends of the two chains were fastened in front to the two filigree rosettes, which were attached to the shoulder straps of the ephod.

¹⁹Two other gold rings were made and put on the two lower ends of the breastpiece, on the edge facing the ephod.

²⁰Two more gold rings were made and fastened to the bottom of the two shoulder straps next to where they joined the ephod in front, just above its embroidered belt.

²¹Violet ribbons bound the rings of the breastpiece to the rings of the ephod, so that the breastpiece stayed right above the embroidered belt of the ephod and did not swing loose from it. All this was just as the LORD had commanded Moses.

²²The robe of the ephod was woven entirely of violet yarn,

²³with an opening in its center like the opening of a shirt, with selvage around the opening to keep it from being torn.

²⁴At the hem of the robe pomegranates were made of violet, purple and scarlet yarn and of fine linen twined;

²⁵bells of pure gold were also made and put between the pomegranates all around the hem of the robe:

²⁶first a bell, then a pomegranate, and thus alternating all around the hem of the robe which was to be worn in performing the ministry--all this, just as the LORD had commanded Moses.

²⁷For Aaron and his sons there were also woven tunics of fine linen;

²⁸the miter of fine linen; the ornate turbans of fine linen; drawers of linen (of fine linen twined);

²⁹and sashes of variegated work made of fine linen twined and of violet, purple and scarlet yarn, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

³⁰The plate of the sacred diadem was made of pure gold and inscribed, as on a seal engraving: "Sacred to the LORD."

³¹It was tied over the miter with a violet ribbon, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

³²Thus the entire work of the Dwelling of the meeting tent was completed. The Israelites did the work just as the LORD had commanded Moses.

³³They then brought to Moses the Dwelling, the tent with all its appurtenances, the clasps, the boards, the bars, the columns, the pedestals,

³⁴the covering of rams' skins dyed red, the covering of tahash skins, the curtain veil;

³⁵the ark of the commandments with its poles, the propitiatory,

³⁶the table with all its appurtenances and the showbread,

³⁷the pure gold lampstand with its lamps set up on it and with all its appurtenances, the oil for the light,

³⁸the golden altar, the anointing oil, the fragrant incense; the curtain for the entrance of the tent,

³⁹the altar of bronze with its bronze grating, its poles and all its appurtenances, the laver with its base,

⁴⁰the hangings of the court with their columns and pedestals, the curtain for the entrance of the court with its ropes and tent pegs, all the equipment for the service of the Dwelling of the meeting tent;

⁴¹the service cloths for use in the sanctuary, the sacred vestments for Aaron the priest, and the vestments to be worn by his sons in their ministry.

⁴²The Israelites had carried out all the work just as the LORD had commanded Moses.

⁴³So when Moses saw that all the work was done just as the LORD had commanded, he blessed them.

40 Then the LORD said to Moses,

²"On the first day of the first month you shall erect the Dwelling of the meeting tent.

³Put the ark of the commandments in it, and screen off the ark with the veil.

- ⁴Bring in the table and set it. Then bring in the lampstand and set up the lamps on it.
- ⁵Put the golden altar of incense in front of the ark of the commandments, and hang the curtain at the entrance of the Dwelling.
- ⁶Put the altar of holocausts in front of the entrance of the Dwelling of the meeting tent.
- ⁷Place the laver between the meeting tent and the altar, and put water in it.
- ⁸Set up the court round about, and put the curtain at the entrance of the court.
- ⁹Take the anointing oil and anoint the Dwelling and everything in it, consecrating it and all its furnishings, so that it will be sacred.
- ¹⁰Anoint the altar of holocausts and all its appurtenances, consecrating it, so that it will be most sacred.
- ¹¹Likewise, anoint the laver with its base, and thus consecrate it.
- ¹²Then bring Aaron and his sons to the entrance of the meeting tent, and there wash them with water.
- ¹³Clothe Aaron with the sacred vestments and anoint him, thus consecrating him as my priest.
- ¹⁴Bring forward his sons also, and clothe them with the tunics.
- ¹⁵As you have anointed their father, anoint them also as my priests. Thus, by being anointed, shall they receive a perpetual priesthood throughout all future generations."
- ¹⁶Moses did exactly as the LORD had commanded him.
- ¹⁷On the first day of the first month of the second year the Dwelling was erected.
- ¹⁸It was Moses who erected the Dwelling. He placed its pedestals, set up its boards, put in its bars, and set up its columns.
- ¹⁹He spread the tent over the Dwelling and put the covering on top of the tent, as the LORD had commanded him.

²⁰He took the commandments and put them in the ark; he placed poles alongside the ark and set the propitiatory upon it.

²¹He brought the ark into the Dwelling and hung the curtain veil, thus screening off the ark of the commandments, as the LORD had commanded him.

²²He put the table in the meeting tent, on the north side of the Dwelling, outside the veil, ²³and arranged the bread on it before the LORD, as the LORD had commanded him.

²⁴He placed the lampstand in the meeting tent, opposite the table, on the south side of the Dwelling, ²⁵and he set up the lamps before the LORD, as the LORD had commanded him.

²⁶He placed the golden altar in the meeting tent, in front of the veil,

²⁷and on it he burned fragrant incense, as the LORD had commanded him.

²⁸He hung the curtain at the entrance of the Dwelling.

²⁹He put the altar of holocausts in front of the entrance of the Dwelling of the meeting tent, and offered holocausts and cereal offerings on it, as the LORD had commanded him.

³⁰He placed the laver between the meeting tent and the altar, and put water in it for washing.

³¹Moses and Aaron and his sons used to wash their hands and feet there,

³²for they washed themselves whenever they went into the meeting tent or approached the altar, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

³³Finally, he set up the court around the Dwelling and the altar and hung the curtain at the entrance of the court. Thus Moses finished all the work.

³⁴Then the cloud covered the meeting tent, and the glory of the LORD filled the Dwelling.

³⁵Moses could not enter the meeting tent, because the cloud settled down upon it and the glory of the LORD filled the Dwelling.

³⁶Whenever the cloud rose from the Dwelling, the Israelites would set out on their journey.

³⁷But if the cloud did not lift, they would not go forward; only when it lifted did they go forward.

³⁸In the daytime the cloud of the LORD was seen over the Dwelling; whereas at night, fire was seen in the cloud by the whole house of Israel in all the stages of their journey.

Leviticus

1 The LORD called Moses, and from the meeting tent gave him this message:

2"Speak to the Israelites and tell them: When any one of you wishes to bring an animal offering to the LORD, such an offering must be from the herd or from the flock.

3"If his holocaust offering is from the herd, it must be a male without blemish. To find favor with the LORD, he shall bring it to the entrance of the meeting tent

4and there lay his hand on the head of the holocaust, so that it may be acceptable to make atonement for him.

5He shall then slaughter the bull before the LORD, but Aaron's sons, the priests, shall offer up its blood by splashing it on the sides of the altar which is at the entrance of the meeting tent.

6Then he shall skin the holocaust and cut it up into pieces.

7After Aaron's sons, the priests, have put some burning embers on the altar and laid some wood on them,

8they shall lay the pieces of meat, together with the head and the suet, on top of the wood and embers on the altar.

9The inner organs and the shanks, however, the offerer shall first wash with water. The priest shall then burn the whole offering on the altar as a holocaust, a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD.

10"If his holocaust offering is from the flock, that is, a sheep or a goat, he must bring a male without blemish.

11This he shall slaughter before the LORD at the north side of the altar. Then Aaron's sons, the priests, shall splash its blood on the sides of the altar.

12When the offerer has cut it up into pieces, the priest shall lay these, together with the head and suet, on top of the wood and the fire on the altar.

¹³The inner organs and the shanks, however, the offerer shall first wash with water. The priest shall offer them up and then burn the whole offering on the altar as a holocaust, a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD.

¹⁴"If he offers a bird as a holocaust to the LORD, he shall choose a turtledove or a pigeon as his offering.

¹⁵Having brought it to the altar where it is to be burned, the priest shall snap its head loose and squeeze out its blood against the side of the altar.

¹⁶Its crop and feathers shall be removed and thrown on the ash heap at the east side of the altar.

¹⁷Then, having split the bird down the middle without separating the halves, the priest shall burn it on the altar, over the wood on the fire, as a holocaust, a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD.

2"When anyone wishes to bring a cereal offering to the LORD, his offering must consist of fine flour. He shall pour oil on it and put frankincense over it.

²When he has brought it to Aaron's sons, the priests, one of them shall take a handful of this fine flour and oil, together with all the frankincense, and this he shall burn on the altar as a token offering, a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD.

³The rest of the cereal offering belongs to Aaron and his sons. It is a most sacred oblation to the LORD.

⁴"When the cereal offering you present is baked in an oven, it must be in the form of unleavened cakes made of fine flour mixed with oil, or of unleavened wafers spread with oil.

⁵If you present a cereal offering that is fried on a griddle, it must be of fine flour mixed with oil and unleavened.

⁶Such a cereal offering must be broken into pieces, and oil must be poured over it.

⁷If you present a cereal offering that is prepared in a pot, it must be of fine flour, deep-fried in oil.

⁸A cereal offering that is made in any of these ways you shall bring to the LORD, offering it to the priest, who shall take it to the altar.

⁹Its token offering the priest shall then lift from the cereal offering and burn on the altar as a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD.

¹⁰The rest of the cereal offering belongs to Aaron and his sons. It is a most sacred oblation to the LORD.

¹¹"Every cereal offering that you present to the LORD shall be unleavened, for you shall not burn any leaven or honey as an oblation to the LORD.

¹²Such you may indeed present to the LORD in the offering of first fruits, but they are not to be placed on the altar for a pleasing odor.

¹³However, every cereal offering that you present to the LORD shall be seasoned with salt. Do not let the salt of the covenant of your God be lacking from your cereal offering. On every offering you shall offer salt.

¹⁴"If you present a cereal offering of first fruits to the LORD, you shall offer it in the form of fresh grits of new ears of grain, roasted by fire.

¹⁵On this cereal offering you shall put oil and frankincense.

¹⁶For its token offering the priest shall then burn some of the grits and oil, together with all the frankincense, as an oblation to the LORD.

3"If someone in presenting a peace offering makes his offering from the herd, he may offer before the LORD either a male or a female animal, but it must be without blemish.

²He shall lay his hand on the head of his offering, and then slaughter it at the entrance of the meeting tent; but Aaron's sons, the priests, shall splash its blood on the sides of the altar.

³From the peace offering he shall offer as an oblation to the LORD the fatty membrane over the inner organs, and all the fat that adheres to them,

⁴as well as the two kidneys, with the fat on them near the loins, and the lobe of the liver, which he shall sever above the kidneys.

⁵All this Aaron's sons shall then burn on the altar with the holocaust, on the wood over the fire, as a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD.

⁶"If the peace offering he presents to the LORD is from the flock, he may offer either a male or a female animal, but it must be without blemish.

⁷If he presents a lamb as his offering, he shall bring it before the LORD,

⁸and after laying his hand on the head of his offering, he shall slaughter it before the meeting tent; but Aaron's sons shall splash its blood on the sides of the altar.

⁹As an oblation to the LORD he shall present the fat of the peace offering: the whole fatty tail, which he must sever close to the spine, the fatty membrane over the inner organs, and all the fat that adheres to them,

¹⁰as well as the two kidneys, with the fat on them near the loins, and the lobe of the liver, which he must sever above the kidneys.

¹¹All this the priest shall burn on the altar as the food of the LORD'S oblation.

¹²"If he presents a goat, he shall bring it before the LORD,

¹³and after laying his hand on its head, he shall slaughter it before the meeting tent; but Aaron's sons shall splash its blood on the sides of the altar.

¹⁴From it he shall offer as an oblation to the LORD the fatty membrane over the inner organs, and all the fat that adheres to them, ¹⁵as well as the two kidneys, with the fat on them near the loins, and the lobe of the liver, which he must sever above the kidneys.

¹⁶All this the priest shall burn on the altar as the food of the sweet-smelling oblation. All the fat belongs to the LORD.

¹⁷This shall be a perpetual ordinance for your descendants wherever they may dwell. You shall not partake of any fat or any blood."

4The LORD said to Moses,

²"Tell the Israelites: When a person inadvertently commits a sin against some command of the LORD by doing one of the forbidden things,

³if it is the anointed priest who thus sins and thereby makes the people also become guilty, he shall present to the LORD a young, unblemished bull as a sin offering for the sin he committed.

⁴Bringing the bullock to the entrance of the meeting tent, before the LORD, he shall lay his hand on its head and slaughter it before the LORD.

⁵The anointed priest shall then take some of the bullock's blood and bring it into the meeting tent,

⁶where, dipping his finger in the blood, he shall sprinkle it seven times before the LORD, toward the veil of the sanctuary.

⁷The priest shall also put some of the blood on the horns of the altar of fragrant incense which is before the LORD in the meeting tent. The rest of the bullock's blood he shall pour out at the base of the altar of holocausts which is at the entrance of the meeting tent.

⁸From the sin-offering bullock he shall remove all the fat: the fatty membrane over the inner organs, and all the fat that adheres to them,

⁹as well as the two kidneys, with the fat on them near the loins, and the lobe of the liver, which he must sever above the kidneys.

¹⁰This is the same as is removed from the ox of the peace offering; and the priest shall burn it on the altar of holocausts.

¹¹The hide of the bullock and all its flesh, with its head, legs, inner organs and offal,

¹²in short, the whole bullock, shall be brought outside the camp to a clean place where the ashes are deposited and there be burned up in a wood fire. At the place of the ash heap, there it must be burned.

¹³If the whole community of Israel inadvertently and without even being aware of it does something that the LORD has forbidden and thus makes itself guilty,

¹⁴should it later on become known that the sin was committed, the community shall present a young bull as a sin offering. They shall bring it before the meeting tent,

¹⁵and here, before the LORD, the elders of the community shall lay their hands on the bullock's head. When the bullock has been slaughtered before the LORD,

¹⁶the anointed priest shall bring some of its blood into the meeting tent,

¹⁷and dipping his finger in the blood, he shall sprinkle it seven times before the LORD, toward the veil.

¹⁸He shall also put some of the blood on the horns of the altar of fragrant incense which is before the LORD in the meeting tent. The rest of the blood he shall pour out at the base of the altar of holocausts which is at the entrance of the meeting tent.

¹⁹All of its fat he shall take from it and burn on the altar,

²⁰doing with this bullock just as he did with the other sin-offering bullock. Thus the priest shall make atonement for them, and they will be forgiven.

²¹This bullock must also be brought outside the camp and burned, just as has been prescribed for the other one. This is the sin offering for the community.

²²"Should a prince commit a sin inadvertently by doing one of the things which are forbidden by some commandment of the LORD, his God, and thus become guilty, ²³if later on he learns of the sin he committed, he shall bring as his offering an unblemished male goat.

²⁴Having laid his hands on its head, he shall slaughter the goat as a sin offering before the LORD, in the place where the holocausts are slaughtered.

²⁵The priest shall then take some of the blood of the sin offering on his finger and put it on the horns of the altar of holocausts. The rest of the blood he shall pour out at the base of this altar.

²⁶All of the fat he shall burn on the altar like the fat of the peace offering. Thus the priest shall make atonement for the prince's sin, and it will be forgiven.

²⁷"If a private person commits a sin inadvertently by doing one of the things which are forbidden by the commandments of the LORD, and thus becomes guilty, ²⁸should he later on learn of the sin he committed, he shall bring an unblemished she-goat as the offering for his sin.

²⁹Having laid his hand on the head of the sin offering, he shall slaughter it at the place of the holocausts.

³⁰The priest shall then take some of its blood on his finger and put it on the horns of the altar of holocausts. The rest of the blood he shall pour out at the base of the altar.

³¹All the fat shall be removed, just as the fat is removed from the peace offering, and the priest shall burn it on the altar for an odor pleasing to the LORD. Thus the priest shall make atonement for him, and he will be forgiven.

³²"If, however, for his sin offering he presents a lamb, he shall bring an unblemished female.

³³Having laid his hand on its head, he shall slaughter this sin offering in the place where the holocausts are slaughtered.

³⁴The priest shall then take some of the blood of the sin offering on his finger and put it on the horns of the altar of holocausts. The rest of the blood he shall pour out at the base of the altar.

³⁵All the fat shall be removed, just as the fat is removed from the peace-offering lamb, and the priest shall burn it on the altar with the other oblations of the LORD. Thus the priest shall make atonement for the man's sin, and it will be forgiven.

5"If any person refuses to give the information which, as a witness of something he has seen or learned, he has been adjured to give, and thus commits a sin and has guilt to bear;

²or if someone, without being aware of it, touches any unclean thing, as the carcass of an unclean wild animal, or that of an unclean domestic animal, or that of an unclean swarming creature, and thus becomes unclean and guilty;

³or if someone, without being aware of it, touches some human uncleanness, whatever kind of uncleanness this may be, and then recognizes his guilt;

⁴or if someone, without being aware of it, rashly utters an oath to do good or evil, such as men are accustomed to utter rashly, and then recognizes that he is guilty of such an oath;

⁵then whoever is guilty in any of these cases shall confess the sin he has incurred,

⁶and as his sin offering for the sin he has committed he shall bring to the LORD a female animal from the flock, a ewe lamb or a she-goat. The priest shall then make atonement for his sin.

⁷"If, however, he cannot afford an animal of the flock, he shall bring to the LORD as the sin offering for his sin two turtledoves or two pigeons, one for a sin offering and the other for a holocaust.

⁸He shall bring them to the priest, who shall offer the one for the sin offering first. Snapping its head loose at the neck, yet without breaking it off completely,

⁹he shall sprinkle some of the blood of the sin offering against the side of the altar. The rest of the blood shall be squeezed out against the base of the altar. Such is the offering for sin.

¹⁰The other bird shall be offered as a holocaust in the usual way. Thus the priest shall make atonement for the sin the man committed, and it will be forgiven.

¹¹"If he is unable to afford even two turtledoves or two pigeons, he shall present as a sin offering for his sin one tenth of an ephah of fine flour. He shall not put oil or frankincense on it, because it is a sin offering.

¹²When he has brought it to the priest, the latter shall take a handful of this flour as a token offering, and this he shall burn as a sin offering on the altar with the other oblations of the LORD.

¹³Thus the priest shall make atonement for the sin that the man committed in any of the above cases, and it will be forgiven. The rest of the flour, like the cereal offerings, shall belong to the priest."

¹⁴The LORD said to Moses,

¹⁶He shall also restore what he has sinfully withheld from the sanctuary, adding to it a fifth of its value. This is to be given to the priest, who shall then make atonement for him with the guilt-offering ram, and he will be forgiven.

¹⁷"If someone, without being aware of it, commits such a sin by doing one of the things which are forbidden by some commandment of the LORD, that he incurs guilt for which he must answer, ¹⁸he shall bring as a guilt offering to the priest an unblemished ram of the flock of the established value. The priest shall then make atonement for the fault which was unwittingly committed, and it will be forgiven.

¹⁹Such is the offering for guilt; the penalty of the guilt must be paid to the LORD."

²⁰The LORD said to Moses,

²¹"If someone commits a sin of dishonesty against the LORD by denying his neighbor a deposit or a pledge for a stolen article, or by otherwise retaining his neighbor's goods unjustly,

²²or if, having found a lost article, he denies the fact and swears falsely about it with any of the sinful oaths that men make in such cases,

²³he shall therefore, since he has incurred guilt by his sin, restore the thing that was stolen or unjustly retained by him or the deposit left with him or the lost article he found

²⁴or whatever else he swore falsely about; on the day of his guilt offering he shall make full restitution of the thing itself, and in addition, give the owner one fifth of its value.

²⁵As his guilt offering he shall bring to the LORD an unblemished ram of the flock of the established value. When he has presented this as his guilt offering to the priest,

²⁶the latter shall make atonement for him before the LORD, and he will be forgiven whatever guilt he may have incurred."

6 The LORD said to Moses,

²"Give Aaron and his sons the following command: This is the ritual for holocausts. The holocaust is to remain on the hearth of the altar all night until the next morning, and the fire is to be kept burning on the altar.

³The priest, clothed in his linen robe and wearing linen drawers on his body, shall take away the ashes to which the fire has reduced the holocaust on the altar, and lay them at the side of the altar.

⁴Then, having taken off these garments and put on other garments, he shall carry the ashes to a clean place outside the camp.

⁵The fire on the altar is to be kept burning; it must not go out. Every morning the priest shall put firewood on it. On this he shall lay out the holocaust and burn the fat of the peace offerings.

⁶The fire is to be kept burning continuously on the altar; it must not go out.

⁸Then he shall take from it a handful of its fine flour and oil, together with all the frankincense that is on it, and this he shall burn on the altar as its token offering, a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD.

⁹The rest of it Aaron and his sons may eat; but it must be eaten in the form of unleavened cakes and in a sacred place: in the court of the meeting tent they shall eat it.

¹⁰It shall not be baked with leaven. I have given it to them as their portion from the oblations of the LORD; it is most sacred, like the sin offering and the guilt offering.

¹¹All the male descendants of Aaron may partake of it as their rightful share in the oblations of the LORD perpetually throughout your generations. Whatever touches the oblations becomes sacred."

¹²The LORD said to Moses,

¹³"This is the offering that Aaron and his sons shall present to the LORD (on the day he is anointed): one tenth of an ephah of fine flour for the established cereal offering, half in the morning and half in the evening.

¹⁴It shall be well kneaded and fried in oil on a griddle when you bring it in. Having broken the offering into pieces, you shall present it as a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD.

¹⁵Aaron's descendant who succeeds him as the anointed priest shall do likewise. This is a perpetual ordinance: for the Lord the whole offering shall be burned.

¹⁶Every cereal offering of a priest shall be a whole burnt offering; it may not be eaten."

¹⁷The LORD said to Moses,

¹⁸"Tell Aaron and his sons: This is the ritual for sin offerings. At the place where holocausts are slaughtered, there also, before the LORD, shall the sin offering be slaughtered. It is most sacred.

¹⁹The priest who presents the sin offering may partake of it; but it must be eaten in a sacred place, in the court of the meeting tent.

²⁰Whatever touches its flesh shall become sacred. If any of its blood is spilled on a garment, the stained part must be washed in a sacred place.

²¹A clay vessel in which it has been cooked shall thereafter be broken; if it is cooked in a bronze vessel, this shall be scoured afterward and rinsed with water.

²²All the males of the priestly line may partake of the sin offering, since it is most sacred.

²³But no one may partake of any sin offering of which some blood has been brought into the meeting tent to make atonement in the sanctuary; such an offering must be burned up in the fire.

7 "This is the ritual for guilt offerings, which are most sacred.

²At the place where the holocausts are slaughtered, there also shall the guilt offering be slaughtered. Its blood shall be splashed on the sides of the altar.

³All of its fat shall be taken from it and offered up: the fatty tail, the fatty membrane over the inner organs,

⁴as well as the two kidneys with the fat on them near the loins, and the lobe of the liver, which must be severed above the kidneys.

⁵All this the priest shall burn on the altar as an oblation to the LORD. This is the guilt offering.

⁶All the males of the priestly line may partake of it; but it must be eaten in a sacred place, since it is most sacred.

⁷"Because the sin offering and the guilt offering are alike, both having the same ritual, the guilt offering likewise belongs to the priest who makes atonement with it.

⁸Similarly, the priest who offers a holocaust for someone may keep for himself the hide of the holocaust that he has offered.

⁹Also, every cereal offering that is baked in an oven or deep-fried in a pot or fried on a griddle shall belong to the priest who offers it,

¹⁰whereas all cereal offerings that are offered up dry or mixed with oil shall belong to all of Aaron's sons without distinction.

¹¹"This is the ritual for the peace offerings that are presented to the LORD.

¹²When anyone makes a peace offering in thanksgiving, together with his thanksgiving sacrifice he shall offer unleavened cakes mixed with oil, unleavened wafers spread with oil, and cakes made of fine flour mixed with oil and well kneaded.

¹³His offering shall also include loaves of leavened bread along with the victim of his peace offering for thanksgiving.

¹⁴From each of his offerings he shall present one portion as a contribution to the LORD; this shall belong to the priest who splashes the blood of the peace offering.

¹⁵"The flesh of the thanksgiving sacrifice shall be eaten on the day it is offered; none of it may be kept till the next day.

¹⁶However, if the sacrifice is a votive or a free-will offering, it should indeed be eaten on the day the sacrifice is offered, but what is left over may be eaten on the next day.

¹⁷Should any flesh from the sacrifice be left over on the third day, it must be burned up in the fire.

¹⁸If, therefore, any of the flesh of the peace offering is eaten on the third day, it shall not win favor for him nor shall it be reckoned to his credit; rather, it shall be considered as refuse, and anyone who eats of it shall have his guilt to bear.

¹⁹Should the flesh touch anything unclean, it may not be eaten, but shall be burned up in the fire. "All who are clean may partake of this flesh.

²⁰If, however, someone while in a state of uncleanness eats any of the flesh of a peace offering belonging to the LORD, that person shall be cut off from his people.

²¹Likewise, if someone touches anything unclean, whether the uncleanness be of human or of animal origin or from some loathsome crawling creature, and then eats of a peace offering belonging to the LORD, that person, too, shall be cut off from his people."

²²The LORD said to Moses,

²³"Tell the Israelites: You shall not eat the fat of any ox or sheep or goat.

- ²⁴Although the fat of an animal that has died a natural death or has been killed by wild beasts may be put to any other use, you may not eat it.
- ²⁵If anyone eats the fat of an animal from which an oblation is made to the LORD, such a one shall be cut off from his people.
- ²⁶Wherever you dwell, you shall not partake of any blood, be it of bird or of animal.
- ²⁷Every person who partakes of any blood shall be cut off from his people."
- ²⁸The LORD said to Moses,
- ²⁹"Tell the Israelites: He who presents a peace offering to the LORD shall bring a part of it as his special offering to him,
- ³⁰carrying in with his own hands the oblations to the LORD. The fat is to be brought in, together with the breast, which is to be waved as a wave offering before the LORD.
- ³¹The priest shall burn the fat on the altar, but the breast belongs to Aaron and his sons.
- ³²Moreover, from your peace offering you shall give to the priest the right leg as a raised offering.
- ³³The descendant of Aaron who offers up the blood and fat of the peace offering shall have the right leg as his portion,
- ³⁴for from the peace offerings of the Israelites I have taken the breast that is waved and the leg that is raised up, and I have given them to Aaron, the priest, and to his sons by a perpetual ordinance as a contribution from the Israelites."
- ³⁵This is the priestly share from the oblations of the LORD, allotted to Aaron and his sons on the day he called them to be the priests of the LORD;
- ³⁶on the day he anointed them the LORD ordered the Israelites to give them this share by a perpetual ordinance throughout their generations.
- ³⁷This is the ritual for holocausts, cereal offerings, sin offerings, guilt offerings, (ordination offerings) and peace offerings,

³⁸which the LORD enjoined on Moses at Mount Sinai at the time when he commanded the Israelites in the wilderness of Sinai to bring their offerings to the LORD.

8The LORD said to Moses,

²"Take Aaron and his sons, together with the vestments, the anointing oil, the bullock for a sin offering, the two rams, and the basket of unleavened food.

³Then assemble the whole community at the entrance of the meeting tent."

⁴And Moses did as the LORD had commanded. When the community had assembled at the entrance of the meeting tent, ⁵Moses told them what the LORD had ordered to be done.

⁶Bringing forward Aaron and his sons, he first washed them with water.

⁷Then he put the tunic on Aaron, girded him with the sash, clothed him with the robe, placed the ephod on him, and girded him with the embroidered belt of the ephod, fastening it around him.

⁸He then set the breastpiece on him, with the Urim and Thummim in it, ⁹and put the miter on his head, attaching the gold plate, the sacred diadem, over the front of the miter, at his forehead, as the LORD had commanded him to do.

¹⁰Taking the anointing oil, Moses anointed and consecrated the Dwelling, with all that was in it.

¹¹Then he sprinkled some of this oil seven times on the altar, and anointed the altar, with all its appurtenances, and the laver, with its base, thus consecrating them.

¹²He also poured some of the anointing oil on Aaron's head, thus consecrating him.

¹³Moses likewise brought forward Aaron's sons, clothed them with tunics, girded them with sashes, and put turbans on them, as the LORD had commanded him to do.

¹⁴When he had brought forward the bullock for a sin offering, Aaron and his sons laid their hands on its head.

¹⁵Then Moses slaughtered it, and taking some of its blood, with his finger he put it on the horns around the altar, thus purifying the altar. He also made atonement for the altar by pouring out the blood at its base when he consecrated it.

¹⁶Taking all the fat that was over the inner organs, as well as the lobe of the liver and the two kidneys with their fat, Moses burned them on the altar.

¹⁷The bullock, however, with its hide and flesh and offal he burned in the fire outside the camp, as the LORD had commanded him to do.

¹⁸He next brought forward the holocaust ram, and Aaron and his sons laid their hands on its head.

¹⁹When he had slaughtered it, Moses splashed its blood on all sides of the altar.

²⁰After cutting up the ram into pieces, he burned the head, the cut-up pieces and the suet;

²¹then, having washed the inner organs and the shanks with water, he also burned these remaining parts of the ram on the altar as a holocaust, a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD, as the LORD had commanded him to do.

²²Then he brought forward the second ram, the ordination ram, and Aaron and his sons laid their hands on its head.

²⁴Moses had the sons of Aaron also come forward, and he put some of the blood on the tips of their right ears, on the thumbs of their right hands, and on the big toes of their right feet. The rest of the blood he splashed on the sides of the altar.

²⁵He then took the fat: the fatty tail and all the fat over the inner organs, the lobe of the liver and the two kidneys with their fat, and likewise the right leg;

²⁶from the basket of unleavened food that was set before the LORD he took one unleavened cake, one loaf of bread made with oil, and one wafer; these he placed on top of the portions of fat and the right leg.

²⁷He then put all these things into the hands of Aaron and his sons, whom he had wave them as a wave offering before the LORD.

²⁸When he had received them back, Moses burned them with the holocaust on the altar as the ordination offering, a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD.

²⁹He then took the breast and waved it as a wave offering before the LORD; this was Moses' own portion of the ordination ram. All this was in keeping with the LORD'S command to Moses.

³⁰Taking some of the anointing oil and some of the blood that was on the altar, Moses sprinkled with it Aaron and his vestments, as well as his sons and their vestments, thus consecrating both Aaron and his vestments and his sons and their vestments.

³¹Finally, Moses said to Aaron and his sons, "Boil the flesh at the entrance of the meeting tent, and there eat it with the bread that is in the basket of the ordination offering, in keeping with the command I have received: 'Aaron and his sons shall eat of it.'

³²What is left over of the flesh and the bread you shall burn up in the fire.

³³Moreover, you are not to depart from the entrance of the meeting tent for seven days, until the days of your ordination are completed; for your ordination is to last for seven days.

³⁴The LORD has commanded that what has been done today be done to make atonement for you.

³⁵Hence you must remain at the entrance of the meeting tent day and night for seven days, carrying out the prescriptions of the LORD; otherwise, you shall die; for this is the command I have received."

³⁶So Aaron and his sons did all that the LORD had commanded through Moses.

9 On the eighth day Moses summoned Aaron and his sons, together with the elders of Israel, ²and said to Aaron, "Take a calf for a sin offering and a ram for a holocaust, both without blemish, and offer them before the LORD.

³Tell the elders of Israel, too: Take a he-goat for a sin offering, a calf and a lamb, both unblemished yearlings, for a holocaust,

⁴and an ox and a ram for a peace offering, to sacrifice them before the LORD, along with a cereal offering mixed with oil; for today the LORD will reveal himself to you."

⁵So they brought what Moses had ordered. When the whole community had come forward and stood before the LORD, ⁶Moses said, "This is what the LORD orders you to do, that the glory of the LORD may be revealed to you.

⁷"Come up to the altar," Moses then told Aaron, "and offer your sin offering and your holocaust in atonement for yourself and for your family; then present the offering of the people in atonement for them, as the LORD has commanded."

⁸Going up to the altar, Aaron first slaughtered the calf that was his own sin offering.

⁹When his sons presented the blood to him, he dipped his finger in the blood and put it on the horns of the altar. The rest of the blood he poured out at the base of the altar.

¹⁰He then burned on the altar the fat, the kidneys and the lobe of the liver that were taken from the sin offering, as the LORD had commanded Moses;

¹¹but the flesh and the hide he burned up in the fire outside the camp.

¹²Then Aaron slaughtered his holocaust. When his sons brought him the blood, he splashed it on all sides of the altar.

¹³They then brought him the pieces and the head of the holocaust, and he burned them on the altar.

¹⁴Having washed the inner organs and the shanks, he burned these also with the holocaust on the altar.

¹⁵Thereupon he had the people's offering brought up. Taking the goat that was for the people's sin offering, he slaughtered it and offered it up for sin as before.

¹⁶Then he brought forward the holocaust, other than the morning holocaust, and offered it in the usual manner.

¹⁷He then presented the cereal offering; taking a handful of it, he burned it on the altar.

¹⁸Finally he slaughtered the ox and the ram, the peace offering of the people. When his sons brought him the blood, Aaron splashed it on all sides of the altar.

¹⁹The portions of fat from the ox and from the ram, the fatty tail, the fatty membrane over the inner organs, the two kidneys, with the fat that is on them, and the lobe of the liver,

²¹having first waved the breasts and the right legs as a wave offering before the LORD, in keeping with the LORD'S command to Moses.

²²Aaron then raised his hands over the people and blessed them. When he came down from offering the sin offering and holocaust and peace offering,

²³Moses and Aaron went into the meeting tent. On coming out they again blessed the people. Then the glory of the LORD was revealed to all the people.

²⁴Fire came forth from the LORD'S presence and consumed the holocaust and the remnants of the fat on the altar. Seeing this, all the people cried out and fell prostrate.

10 During this time Aaron's sons Nadab and Abihu took their censers and, strewing incense on the fire they had put in them, they offered up before the LORD profane fire, such as he had not authorized.

²Fire therefore came forth from the LORD'S presence and consumed them, so that they died in his presence.

³Moses then said to Aaron, "This is as the LORD said: Through those who approach me I will manifest my sacredness; In the sight of all the people I will reveal my glory." But Aaron said nothing.

⁴Then Moses summoned Mishael and Elzaphan, the sons of Aaron's uncle Uzziel, with the order, "Come, remove your kinsmen from the sanctuary and carry them to a place outside the camp."

⁵So they went in and took them, in their tunics, outside the camp, as Moses had commanded.

⁶Moses said to Aaron and his sons Eleazar and Ithamar, "Do not bare your heads or tear your garments, lest you bring not only death on yourselves but God's wrath also on the whole community. Your kinsmen, the rest of the house of Israel, shall mourn for those whom the LORD'S fire has smitten;

⁷but do not you go beyond the entry of the meeting tent, else you shall die; for the anointing oil of the LORD is upon you." So they did as Moses told them.

⁸The LORD said to Aaron,

⁹"When you are to go to the meeting tent, you and your sons are forbidden under pain of death, by a perpetual ordinance throughout your generations, to drink any wine or strong drink.

¹⁰You must be able to distinguish between what is sacred and what is profane, between what is clean and what is unclean;

¹¹you must teach the Israelites all the laws that the LORD has given them through Moses."

¹²Moses said to Aaron and his surviving sons, Eleazar and Ithamar, "Take the cereal offering left over from the oblations of the LORD, and eat it beside the altar in the form of unleavened cakes. Since it is most sacred, ¹³you must eat it in a sacred place. This is your due from the oblations of the LORD, and that of your sons; such is the command I have received.

¹⁴With your sons and daughters you shall also eat the breast of the wave offering and the leg of the raised offering, in a clean place; for these have been assigned to you and your children as your due from the peace offerings of the Israelites.

¹⁵The leg of the raised offering and the breast of the wave offering shall first be brought in with the oblations, the fatty portions, that are to be waved as a wave offering before the LORD. Then they shall belong to you and your children by a perpetual ordinance, as the LORD has commanded."

¹⁶When Moses inquired about the goat of the sin offering, he discovered that it had all been burned. So he was angry with the surviving sons of Aaron, Eleazar and Ithamar, and said,

¹⁷"Why did you not eat the sin offering in the sacred place, since it is most sacred? It has been given to you that you might bear the guilt of the community and make atonement for them before the LORD.

¹⁸If its blood was not brought into the inmost part of the sanctuary, you should certainly have eaten the offering in the sanctuary, in keeping with the command I had received."

¹⁹Aaron answered Moses, "Even though they presented their sin offering and holocaust before the LORD today, yet this misfortune has befallen me. Had I then eaten of the sin offering today, would it have been pleasing to the LORD?"

²⁰On hearing this, Moses was satisfied.

11 The LORD said to Moses and Aaron,

²"Speak to the Israelites and tell them: Of all land animals these are the ones you may eat:

³any animal that has hoofs you may eat, provided it is cloven-footed and chews the cud.

⁴But you shall not eat any of the following that only chew the cud or only have hoofs: the camel, which indeed chews the cud, but does not have hoofs and is therefore unclean for you;

⁵the rock badger, which indeed chews the cud, but does not have hoofs and is therefore unclean for you;

⁶the hare, which indeed chews the cud, but does not have hoofs and is therefore unclean for you; and the pig, ⁷which does indeed have hoofs and is cloven-footed, but does not chew the cud and is therefore unclean for you.

⁸Their flesh you shall not eat, and their dead bodies you shall not touch; they are unclean for you.

⁹"Of the various creatures that live in the water, you may eat the following: whatever in the seas or in river waters has both fins and scales you may eat.

¹⁰But of the various creatures that crawl or swim in the water, whether in the sea or in the rivers, all those that lack either fins or scales are loathsome for you,

¹¹and you shall treat them as loathsome. Their flesh you shall not eat, and their dead bodies you shall loathe.

¹²Every water creature that lacks fins or scales is loathsome for you.

¹³"Of the birds, these you shall loathe and, as loathsome, they shall not be eaten: the eagle, the vulture, the osprey,

¹⁴the kite, the various species of falcons,

¹⁵the various species of crows,

¹⁶the ostrich, the nightjar, the gull, the various species of hawks,

¹⁷the owl, the cormorant, the screech owl,

¹⁸the barn owl, the desert owl, the buzzard,

¹⁹the stork, the various species of herons, the hoopoe, and the bat.

²⁰"The various winged insects that walk on all fours are loathsome for you.

²¹But of the various winged insects that walk on all fours you may eat those that have jointed legs for leaping on the ground;

²²hence of these you may eat the following: the various kinds of locusts, the various kinds of grasshoppers, the various kinds of katydids, and the various kinds of crickets.

²³All other winged insects that have four legs are loathsome for you.

²⁴"Such is the uncleanness that you contract, that everyone who touches their dead bodies shall be unclean until evening,

²⁵and everyone who picks up any part of their dead bodies shall wash his garments and be unclean until evening.

²⁶All hoofed animals that are not cloven-footed or do not chew the cud are unclean for you; everyone who touches them becomes unclean.

²⁷Of the various quadrupeds, all those that walk on paws are unclean for you; everyone who touches their dead bodies shall be unclean until evening,

²⁸and everyone who picks up their dead bodies shall wash his garments and be unclean until evening. Such is their uncleanness for you.

²⁹"Of the creatures that swarm on the ground, the following are unclean for you: the rat, the mouse, the various kinds of lizards, ³⁰the gecko, the chameleon, the agama, the skink, and the mole.

³¹Among the various swarming creatures, these are unclean for you. Everyone who touches them when they are dead shall be unclean until evening.

³³Should any of these creatures fall into a clay vessel, everything in it becomes unclean, and the vessel itself you must break.

³⁴Any solid food that was in contact with water, and any liquid that men drink, in any such vessel become unclean.

³⁵Any object on which one of their dead bodies falls, becomes unclean; if it is an oven or a jar-stand, this must be broken to pieces; they are unclean and shall be treated as unclean by you.

³⁶However, a spring or a cistern for collecting water remains clean; but whoever touches the dead body becomes unclean.

³⁷Any sort of cultivated grain remains clean even though one of their dead bodies falls on it;

³⁸but if the grain has become moistened, it becomes unclean when one of these falls on it.

³⁹"When one of the animals that you could otherwise eat, dies of itself, anyone who touches its dead body shall be unclean until evening;

⁴⁰and anyone who eats of its dead body shall wash his garments and be unclean until evening; so also, anyone who removes its dead body shall wash his garments and be unclean until evening.

⁴¹"All the creatures that swarm on the ground are loathsome and shall not be eaten.

⁴²Whether it crawls on its belly, goes on all fours, or has many legs, you shall eat no swarming creature: they are loathsome.

⁴³Do not make yourselves loathsome or unclean with any swarming creature through being contaminated by them.

⁴⁴For I, the LORD, am your God; and you shall make and keep yourselves holy, because I am holy. You shall not make yourselves unclean, then, by any swarming creature that crawls on the ground.

⁴⁵Since I, the LORD, brought you up from the land of Egypt that I might be your God, you shall be holy, because I am holy.

⁴⁶"This is the law for animals and birds and for all the creatures that move about in the water or swarm on the ground, ⁴⁷that you may distinguish between the clean and the unclean, between creatures that may be eaten and those that may not be eaten."

12 The LORD said to Moses,

²"Tell the Israelites: When a woman has conceived and gives birth to a boy, she shall be unclean for seven days, with the same uncleanness as at her menstrual period.

³On the eighth day, the flesh of the boy's foreskin shall be circumcised,

⁴and then she shall spend thirty-three days more in becoming purified of her blood; she shall not touch anything sacred nor enter the sanctuary till the days of her purification are fulfilled.

⁵If she gives birth to a girl, for fourteen days she shall be as unclean as at her menstruation, after which she shall spend sixty-six days in becoming purified of her blood.

⁷The priest shall offer them up before the LORD to make atonement for her, and thus she will be clean again after her flow of blood. Such is the law for the woman who gives birth to a boy or a girl child.

⁸If, however, she cannot afford a lamb, she may take two turtledoves or two pigeons, the one for a holocaust and the other for a sin offering. The priest shall make atonement for her, and thus she will again be clean."

13 The LORD said to Moses and Aaron,

²"If someone has on his skin a scab or pustule or blotch which appears to be the sore of leprosy, he shall be brought to Aaron, the priest, or to one of the priests among his descendants,

³who shall examine the sore on his skin. If the hair on the sore has turned white and the sore itself shows that it has penetrated below the skin, it is indeed the sore of leprosy; the priest, on seeing this, shall declare the man unclean.

⁴If, however, the blotch on the skin is white, but does not seem to have penetrated below the skin, nor has the hair turned white, the priest shall quarantine the stricken man for seven days.

⁵On the seventh day the priest shall again examine him. If he judges that the sore has remained unchanged and has not spread on the skin, the priest shall quarantine him for another seven days,

⁶and once more examine him on the seventh day. If the sore is now dying out and has not spread on the skin, the priest shall declare the man clean; it was merely eczema. The man shall wash his garments and so become clean.

⁷But if, after he has shown himself to the priest to be declared clean, the eczema spreads at all on his skin, he shall once more show himself to the priest.

⁸Should the priest, on examining it, find that the eczema has indeed spread on the skin, he shall declare the man unclean; it is leprosy.

⁹"When someone is stricken with leprosy, he shall be brought to the priest.

¹⁰Should the priest, on examining him, find that there is a white scab on the skin which has turned the hair white and that there is raw flesh in it,

¹¹it is skin leprosy that has long developed. The priest shall declare the man unclean without first quarantining him, since he is certainly unclean.

¹²If leprosy breaks out on the skin and, as far as the priest can see, covers all the skin of the stricken man from head to foot, ¹³should the priest then, on examining him, find that the leprosy does cover his whole body, he shall declare the stricken man clean; since it has all turned white, the man is clean.

¹⁴But as soon as raw flesh appears on him, he is unclean;

¹⁵on observing the raw flesh, the priest shall declare him unclean, because raw flesh is unclean; it is leprosy.

¹⁶If, however, the raw flesh again turns white, he shall return to the priest;

¹⁷should the latter, on examining him, find that the sore has indeed turned white, he shall declare the stricken man clean, and thus he will be clean.

¹⁸"If a man who had a boil on his skin which later healed,

¹⁹should now in the place of the boil have a white scab or a pink blotch, he shall show himself to the priest.

²⁰If the latter, on examination, sees that it is deeper than the skin and that the hair has turned white, he shall declare the man unclean; it is the sore of leprosy that has broken out in the boil.

²¹But if the priest, on examining him, finds that there is no white hair in it and that it is not deeper than the skin and is already dying out, the priest shall quarantine him for seven days.

²²If it has then spread on the skin, the priest shall declare him unclean; the man is stricken.

²³But if the blotch remains in its place without spreading, it is merely the scar of the boil; the priest shall therefore declare him clean.

²⁴"If a man had a burn on his skin, and the proud flesh of the burn now becomes a pink or a white blotch,

²⁶But if the priest, on examining it, finds that there is no white hair on the blotch and that this is not deeper than the skin and is already dying out, the priest shall quarantine him for seven days.

²⁷Should the priest, when examining it on the seventh day, find that it has spread at all on the skin, he shall declare the man unclean and stricken with leprosy.

²⁸But if the blotch remains in its place without spreading on the skin and is already dying out, it is merely the scab of the burn; the priest shall therefore declare the man clean, since it is only the scar of the burn.

²⁹"When a man or a woman has a sore on the head or cheek,

³⁰should the priest, on examining it, find that the sore has penetrated below the skin and that there is fine yellow hair on it, the priest shall declare the person unclean, for this is scall, a leprous disease of the head or cheek.

³¹But if the priest, on examining the scall sore, finds that it has not penetrated below the skin, though the hair on it may not be black, the priest shall quarantine the person with scall sore for seven days,

³²and on the seventh day again examine the sore. If the scall has not spread and has no yellow hair on it and does not seem to have penetrated below the skin,

³³the man shall shave himself, but not on the diseased spot. Then the priest shall quarantine him for another seven days.

³⁴If the priest, when examining the scall on the seventh day, finds that it has not spread on the skin and that it has not penetrated below the skin, he shall declare the man clean; the latter shall wash his garments, and thus he will be clean.

³⁵But if the scall spreads at all on his skin after he has been declared clean,

³⁶the priest shall again examine it. If the scall has indeed spread on the skin, he need not look for yellow hair; the man is surely unclean.

³⁷If, however, he judges that the scall has remained in its place and that black hair has grown on it, the disease has been healed; the man is clean, and the priest shall declare him clean.

³⁸"When the skin of a man or a woman is spotted with white blotches, ³⁹the priest shall make an examination. If the blotches on the skin are white and already dying out, it is only tetter that has broken out on the skin, and the person therefore is clean.

⁴¹So too, if he loses the hair on the front of his head, he is not unclean merely because of his bald forehead.

⁴²But when there is a pink sore on his bald crown or bald forehead, it is leprosy that is breaking out there.

⁴³The priest shall examine him; and if the scab on the sore of the bald spot has the same pink appearance as that of skin leprosy of the fleshy part of the body,

⁴⁴the man is leprous and unclean, and the priest shall declare him unclean by reason of the sore on his head.

⁴⁶As long as the sore is on him he shall declare himself unclean, since he is in fact unclean. He shall dwell apart, making his abode outside the camp.

⁴⁷"When a leprous infection is on a garment of wool or of linen,

⁴⁸or on woven or knitted material of linen or wool, or on a hide or anything made of leather,

⁴⁹if the infection on the garment or hide, or on the woven or knitted material, or on any leather article is greenish or reddish, the thing is indeed infected with leprosy and must be shown to the priest.

⁵⁰Having examined the infection, the priest shall quarantine the infected article for seven days.

⁵¹"On the seventh day the priest shall again examine the infection. If it has spread on the garment, or on the woven or knitted material, or on the leather, whatever be its use, the infection is malignant leprosy, and the article is unclean.

⁵²He shall therefore burn up the garment, or the woven or knitted material of wool or linen, or the leather article, whatever it may be, which is infected; since it has malignant leprosy, it must be destroyed by fire.

⁵³But if the priest, on examining the infection, finds that it has not spread on the garment, or on the woven or knitted material, or on the leather article,

⁵⁴he shall give orders to have the infected article washed and then quarantined for another seven days.

⁵⁵"Then the priest shall again examine the infected article after it has been washed. If the infection has not changed its appearance, even though it may not have spread, the article is unclean and shall be destroyed by fire.

⁵⁶But if the priest, on examining the infection, finds that it is dying out after the washing, he shall tear the infected part out of the garment, or the leather, or the woven or knitted material.

⁵⁷If, however, the infection again appears on the garment, or on the woven or knitted material, or on the leather article, it is still virulent and the thing infected shall be destroyed by fire.

⁵⁸But if, after the washing, the infection has left the garment, or the woven or knitted material, or the leather article, the thing shall be washed a second time, and thus it will be clean.

⁵⁹This is the law for leprous infection on a garment of wool or linen, or on woven or knitted material, or on any leather article, to determine whether it is clean or unclean."

14 The LORD said to Moses,

²"This is the law for the victim of leprosy at the time of his purification. He shall be brought to the priest,

³who is to go outside the camp to examine him. If the priest finds that the sore of leprosy has healed in the leper,

⁴he shall order the man who is to be purified, to get two live, clean birds, as well as some cedar wood, scarlet yarn, and hyssop.

- ⁵The priest shall then order him to slay one of the birds over an earthen vessel with spring water in it.
- ⁶Taking the living bird with the cedar wood, the scarlet yarn and the hyssop, the priest shall dip them all in the blood of the bird that was slain over the spring water,
- ⁷and then sprinkle seven times the man to be purified from his leprosy. When he has thus purified him, he shall let the living bird fly away over the countryside.
- ⁸The man being purified shall then wash his garments and shave off all his hair and bathe in water; only when he is thus made clean may he come inside the camp; but he shall still remain outside his tent for seven days.
- ⁹On the seventh day he shall again shave off all the hair of his head, his beard, his eyebrows, and any other hair he may have, and also wash his garments and bathe his body in water; and so he will be clean.
- ¹⁰On the eighth day he shall take two unblemished male lambs, one unblemished yearling ewe lamb, three tenths of an ephah of fine flour mixed with oil for a cereal offering, and one log of oil.
- ¹¹The priest who performs the purification ceremony shall place the man who is being purified, as well as all these offerings, before the LORD at the entrance of the meeting tent.
- ¹²Taking one of the male lambs, the priest shall present it as a guilt offering, along with the log of oil, waving them as a wave offering before the LORD.
- ¹³(This lamb he shall slaughter in the sacred place where the sin offering and the holocaust are slaughtered; because, like the sin offering, the guilt offering belongs to the priest and is most sacred.)
- ¹⁴Then the priest shall take some of the blood of the guilt offering and put it on the tip of the man's right ear, the thumb of his right hand, and the big toe of his right foot.
- ¹⁵The priest shall also take the log of oil and pour some of it into the palm of his own left hand;
- ¹⁶then, dipping his right forefinger in it, he shall sprinkle it seven times before the LORD.

¹⁷Of the oil left in his hand the priest shall put some on the tip of the man's right ear, the thumb of his right hand, and the big toe of his right foot, over the blood of the guilt offering.

¹⁸The rest of the oil in his hand the priest shall put on the head of the man being purified. Thus shall the priest make atonement for him before the LORD.

¹⁹Only after he has offered the sin offering in atonement for the man's uncleanness shall the priest slaughter the holocaust

²⁰and offer it, together with the cereal offering, on the altar before the LORD. When the priest has thus made atonement for him, the man will be clean.

²¹If a man is poor and cannot afford so much, he shall take one male lamb for a guilt offering, to be used as a wave offering in atonement for himself, one tenth of an ephah of fine flour mixed with oil for a cereal offering, a log of oil,

²²and two turtledoves or pigeons, which he can more easily afford, the one as a sin offering and the other as a holocaust.

²³On the eighth day of his purification he shall bring them to the priest, at the entrance of the meeting tent before the LORD.

²⁴Taking the guilt-offering lamb, along with the log of oil, the priest shall wave them as a wave offering before the LORD.

²⁵When he has slaughtered the guilt-offering lamb, he shall take some of its blood, and put it on the tip of the right ear of the man being purified, on the thumb of his right hand, and on the big toe of his right foot.

²⁶The priest shall then pour some of the oil into the palm of his own left hand

²⁷and with his right forefinger sprinkle it seven times before the LORD.

²⁹The rest of the oil in his hand the priest shall put on the man's head. Thus shall he make atonement for him before the LORD.

³⁰Then, of the turtledoves or pigeons, such as the man can afford,

³¹the priest shall offer up one as a sin offering and the other as a holocaust, along with the cereal offering. Thus shall the priest make atonement before the LORD for the man who is to be purified.

³²This is the law for one afflicted with leprosy who has insufficient means for his purification."

³³The LORD said to Moses and Aaron,

³⁴"When you come into the land of Canaan, which I am giving you to possess, if I put a leprous infection on any house of the land you occupy,

³⁵the owner of the house shall come and report to the priest, 'It looks to me as if my house were infected.'

³⁶The priest shall then order the house to be cleared out before he goes in to examine the infection, lest everything in the house become unclean. Only after this is he to go in to examine the house.

³⁷If the priest, on examining it, finds that the infection on the walls of the house consists of greenish or reddish depressions which seem to go deeper than the surface of the wall,

³⁸he shall close the door of the house behind him and quarantine the house for seven days.

³⁹On the seventh day the priest shall return to examine the house again. If he finds that the infection has spread on the walls,

⁴⁰he shall order the infected stones to be pulled out and cast in an unclean place outside the city.

⁴¹The whole inside of the house shall then be scraped, and the mortar that has been scraped off shall be dumped in an unclean place outside the city.

⁴²Then new stones shall be brought and put in the place of the old stones, and new mortar shall be made and plastered on the house.

⁴³"If the infection breaks out once more after the stones have been pulled out and the house has been scraped and replastered,

- ⁴⁴the priest shall come again; and if he finds that the infection has spread in the house, it is corrosive leprosy, and the house is unclean.
- ⁴⁵It shall be pulled down, and all its stones, beams and mortar shall be hauled away to an unclean place outside the city.
- ⁴⁶Whoever enters a house while it is quarantined shall be unclean until evening.
- ⁴⁷Whoever sleeps or eats in such a house shall also wash his garments.
- ⁴⁸If the priest finds, when he comes to examine the house, that the infection has in fact not spread after the plastering, he shall declare the house clean, since the infection has been healed.
- ⁴⁹To purify the house, he shall take two birds, as well as cedar wood, scarlet yarn, and hyssop.
- ⁵⁰One of the birds he shall slay over an earthen vessel with spring water in it.
- ⁵¹Then, taking the cedar wood, the hyssop and the scarlet yarn, together with the living bird, he shall dip them all in the blood of the slain bird and the spring water, and sprinkle the house seven times.
- ⁵²Thus shall he purify the house with the bird's blood and the spring water, along with the living bird, the cedar wood, the hyssop, and the scarlet yarn.
- ⁵³He shall then let the living bird fly away over the countryside outside the city. When he has thus made atonement for it, the house will be clean.
- ⁵⁴"This is the law for every kind of human leprosy and scall,
- ⁵⁵for leprosy of garments and houses,
- ⁵⁶as well as for scabs, pustules and blotches,
- ⁵⁷so that it may be manifest when there is a state of uncleanness and when a state of cleanness. This is the law for leprosy."

15 The LORD said to Moses and Aaron,

²"Speak to the Israelites and tell them: Every man who is afflicted with a chronic flow from his private parts is thereby unclean.

⁴Any bed on which the man afflicted with the flow lies, is unclean, and any piece of furniture on which he sits, is unclean.

⁵Anyone who touches his bed shall wash his garments, bathe in water, and be unclean until evening.

⁶Whoever sits on a piece of furniture on which the afflicted man was sitting, shall wash his garments, bathe in water, and be unclean until evening.

⁷Whoever touches the body of the afflicted man shall wash his garments, bathe in water, and be unclean until evening.

⁸If the afflicted man spits on a clean man, the latter shall wash his garments, bathe in water, and be unclean until evening.

¹⁰Whoever touches anything that was under him shall be unclean until evening; whoever lifts up any such thing shall wash his garments, bathe in water, and be unclean until evening.

¹¹Anyone whom the afflicted man touches with unrinsed hands shall wash his garments, bathe in water, and be unclean until evening.

¹²Earthenware touched by the afflicted man shall be broken; and every wooden article shall be rinsed with water.

¹³"When a man who has been afflicted with a flow becomes free of his affliction, he shall wait seven days for his purification. Then he shall wash his garments and bathe his body in fresh water, and so he will be clean.

¹⁴On the eighth day he shall take two turtledoves or two pigeons, and going before the LORD, to the entrance of the meeting tent, he shall give them to the priest, ¹⁵who shall offer them up, the one as a sin offering and the other as a holocaust. Thus shall the priest make atonement before the LORD for the man's flow.

- ¹⁶"When a man has an emission of seed, he shall bathe his whole body in water and be unclean until evening.
- ¹⁷Any piece of cloth or leather with seed on it shall be washed with water and be unclean until evening.
- ¹⁸"If a man lies carnally with a woman, they shall both bathe in water and be unclean until evening.
- ¹⁹"When a woman has her menstrual flow, she shall be in a state of impurity for seven days. Anyone who touches her shall be unclean until evening.
- ²⁰Anything on which she lies or sits during her impurity shall be unclean.
- ²¹Anyone who touches her bed shall wash his garments, bathe in water, and be unclean until evening.
- ²²Whoever touches any article of furniture on which she was sitting, shall wash his garments, bathe in water, and be unclean until evening.
- ²³But if she is on the bed or on the seat when he touches it, he shall be unclean until evening.
- ²⁴If a man dares to lie with her, he contracts her impurity and shall be unclean for seven days; every bed on which he then lies also becomes unclean.
- ²⁵"When a woman is afflicted with a flow of blood for several days outside her menstrual period, or when her flow continues beyond the ordinary period, as long as she suffers this unclean flow she shall be unclean, just as during her menstrual period.
- ²⁶Any bed on which she lies during such a flow becomes unclean, as it would during her menstruation, and any article of furniture on which she sits becomes unclean just as during her menstruation.
- ²⁷Anyone who touches them becomes unclean; he shall wash his garments, bathe in water, and be unclean until evening.
- ²⁸"If she becomes freed from her affliction, she shall wait seven days, and only then is she to be purified.

²⁹On the eighth day she shall take two turtledoves or two pigeons and bring them to the priest at the entrance of the meeting tent.

³⁰The priest shall offer up one of them as a sin offering and the other as a holocaust. Thus shall the priest make atonement before the LORD for her unclean flow.

³¹"You shall warn the Israelites of their uncleanness, lest by defiling my Dwelling, which is in their midst, their uncleanness be the cause of their death.

³²"This is the law for the man who is afflicted with a chronic flow, or who has an emission of seed, and thereby becomes unclean;

³³as well as for the woman who has her menstrual period, or who is afflicted with a chronic flow; the law for male and female; and also for the man who lies with an unclean woman."

After the death of Aaron's two sons, who died when they approached the LORD'S presence, the LORD spoke to Moses ²and said to him, "Tell your brother Aaron that he is not to come whenever he pleases into the sanctuary, inside the veil, in front of the propitiatory on the ark; otherwise, when I reveal myself in a cloud above the propitiatory, he will die.

³Only in this way may Aaron enter the sanctuary. He shall bring a young bullock for a sin offering and a ram for a holocaust.

⁴He shall wear the sacred linen tunic, with the linen drawers next his flesh, gird himself with the linen sash and put on the linen miter. But since these vestments are sacred, he shall not put them on until he has first bathed his body in water.

⁵From the Israelite community he shall receive two male goats for a sin offering and one ram for a holocaust.

⁶"Aaron shall bring in the bullock, his sin offering to atone for himself and for his household.

⁷Taking the two male goats and setting them before the LORD at the entrance of the meeting tent, ⁸he shall cast lots to determine which one is for the LORD and which for Azazel.

⁹The goat that is determined by lot for the LORD, Aaron shall bring in and offer up as a sin offering.

¹⁰But the goat determined by lot for Azazel he shall set alive before the LORD, so that with it he may make atonement by sending it off to Azazel in the desert.

¹¹"Thus shall Aaron offer up the bullock, his sin offering, to atone for himself and for his family. When he has slaughtered it,

¹²he shall take a censer full of glowing embers from the altar before the LORD, as well as a double handful of finely ground fragrant incense, and bringing them inside the veil,

¹³there before the LORD he shall put incense on the fire, so that a cloud of incense may cover the propitiatory over the commandments; else he will die.

¹⁵"Then he shall slaughter the people's sin-offering goat, and bringing its blood inside the veil, he shall do with it as he did with the bullock's blood, sprinkling it on the propitiatory and before it.

¹⁶Thus he shall make atonement for the sanctuary because of all the sinful defilements and faults of the Israelites. He shall do the same for the meeting tent, which is set up among them in the midst of their uncleanness.

¹⁷No one else may be in the meeting tent from the time he enters the sanctuary to make atonement until he departs. When he has made atonement for himself and his household, as well as for the whole Israelite community,

¹⁸he shall come out to the altar before the LORD and make atonement for it also. Taking some of the bullock's and the goat's blood, he shall put it on the horns around the altar, ¹⁹and with his finger sprinkle some of the blood on it seven times. Thus he shall render it clean and holy, purged of the defilements of the Israelites.

²⁰"When he has completed the atonement rite for the sanctuary, the meeting tent and the altar, Aaron shall bring forward the live goat.

²¹Laying both hands on its head, he shall confess over it all the sinful faults and transgressions of the Israelites, and so put them on the goat's head. He shall then have it led into the desert by an attendant.

²²Since the goat is to carry off their iniquities to an isolated region, it must be sent away into the desert.

²³"After Aaron has again gone into the meeting tent, he shall strip off and leave in the sanctuary the linen vestments he had put on when he entered there.

²⁴After bathing his body with water in a sacred place, he shall put on his vestments, and then come out and offer his own and the people's holocaust, in atonement for himself and for the people,

²⁵and also burn the fat of the sin offering on the altar.

²⁶"The man who has led away the goat for Azazel shall wash his garments and bathe his body in water; only then may he enter the camp.

²⁷The sin-offering bullock and goat whose blood was brought into the sanctuary to make atonement, shall be taken outside the camp, where their hides and flesh and offal shall be burned up in the fire.

²⁸The one who burns them shall wash his garments and bathe his body in water; only then may he enter the camp.

²⁹"This shall be an everlasting ordinance for you: on the tenth day of the seventh month every one of you, whether a native or a resident alien, shall mortify himself and shall do no work.

³⁰Since on this day atonement is made for you to make you clean, so that you may be cleansed of all your sins before the LORD,

³¹by everlasting ordinance it shall be a most solemn sabbath for you, on which you must mortify yourselves.

³²"This atonement is to be made by the priest who has been anointed and ordained to the priesthood in succession to his father. He shall wear the linen garments, the sacred vestments, ³³and make atonement for the sacred sanctuary, the meeting tent and the altar, as well as for the priests and all the people of the community.

³⁴This, then, shall be an everlasting ordinance for you: once a year atonement shall be made for all the sins of the Israelites." Thus was it done, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

17 The LORD said to Moses,

²"Speak to Aaron and his sons, as well as to all the Israelites, and tell them: This is what the LORD has commanded.

³Any Israelite who slaughters an ox or a sheep or a goat, whether in the camp or outside of it, ⁴without first bringing it to the entrance of the meeting tent to present it as an offering to the LORD in front of his Dwelling, shall be judged guilty of bloodshed; and for this, such a man shall be cut off from among his people.

⁵Therefore, such sacrifices as they used to offer up in the open field the Israelites shall henceforth offer to the LORD, bringing them to the priest at the entrance of the meeting tent and sacrificing them there as peace offerings to the LORD.

⁶The priest shall splash the blood on the altar of the LORD at the entrance of the meeting tent and there burn the fat for an odor pleasing to the LORD.

⁷No longer shall they offer their sacrifices to the satyrs to whom they used to render their wanton worship. This shall be an everlasting ordinance for them and their descendants.

⁸"Tell them, therefore: Anyone, whether of the house of Israel or of the aliens residing among them, who offers a holocaust or sacrifice

⁹without bringing it to the entrance of the meeting tent to offer it to the LORD, shall be cut off from his kinsmen.

¹⁰And if anyone, whether of the house of Israel or of the aliens residing among them, partakes of any blood, I will set myself against that one who partakes of blood and will cut him off from among his people.

¹¹Since the life of a living body is in its blood, I have made you put it on the altar, so that atonement may thereby be made for your own lives, because it is the blood, as the seat of life, that makes atonement.

¹²That is why I have told the Israelites: No one among you, not even a resident alien, may partake of blood.

¹³"Anyone hunting, whether of the Israelites or of the aliens residing among them, who catches an animal or a bird that may be eaten, shall pour out its blood and cover it with earth.

¹⁴Since the life of every living body is its blood, I have told the Israelites: You shall not partake of the blood of any meat. Since the life of every living body is its blood, anyone who partakes of it shall be cut off.

¹⁵"Everyone, whether a native or an alien, who eats of an animal that died of itself or was killed by a wild beast, shall wash his garments, bathe in water, and be unclean until evening, and then he will be clean.

¹⁶"If he does not wash or does not bathe his body, he shall have the guilt to bear."

18 The LORD said to Moses,

²"Speak to the Israelites and tell them: I, the LORD, am your God.

³You shall not do as they do in the land of Egypt, where you once lived, nor shall you do as they do in the land of Canaan, where I am bringing you; do not conform to their customs.

⁴My decrees you shall carry out, and my statutes you shall take care to follow. I, the LORD, am your God.

⁵Keep, then, my statutes and decrees, for the man who carries them out will find life through them. I am the LORD.

⁶"None of you shall approach a close relative to have sexual intercourse with her. I am the LORD.

⁷You shall not disgrace your father by having intercourse with your mother. Besides, since she is your own mother, you shall not have intercourse with her.

⁸You shall not have intercourse with your father's wife, for that would be a disgrace to your father.

- ⁹You shall not have intercourse with your sister, your father's daughter or your mother's daughter, whether she was born in your own household or born elsewhere.
- ¹⁰You shall not have intercourse with your son's daughter or with your daughter's daughter, for that would be a disgrace to your own family.
- ¹¹You shall not have intercourse with the daughter whom your father's wife bore to him, since she, too, is your sister.
- ¹²You shall not have intercourse with your father's sister, since she is your father's relative.
- ¹³You shall not have intercourse with your mother's sister, since she is your mother's relative.
- ¹⁴You shall not disgrace your father's brother by being intimate with his wife, since she, too, is your aunt.
- ¹⁵You shall not have intercourse with your daughter-in-law; she is your son's wife, and therefore you shall not disgrace her.
- ¹⁶You shall not have intercourse with your brother's wife, for that would be a disgrace to your brother.
- ¹⁷You shall not have intercourse with a woman and also with her daughter, nor shall you marry and have intercourse with her son's daughter or her daughter's daughter; this would be shameful, because they are related to her.
- ¹⁸While your wife is still living you shall not marry her sister as her rival; for thus you would disgrace your first wife.
- ¹⁹You shall not approach a woman to have intercourse with her while she is unclean from menstruation.
- ²⁰You shall not have carnal relations with your neighbor's wife, defiling yourself with her.
- ²¹You shall not offer any of your offspring to be immolated to Molech, thus profaning the name of your God. I am the LORD.
- ²²You shall not lie with a male as with a woman; such a thing is an abomination.

²³You shall not have carnal relations with an animal, defiling yourself with it; nor shall a woman set herself in front of an animal to mate with it; such things are abhorrent.

²⁴"Do not defile yourselves by any of these things by which the nations whom I am driving out of your way have defiled themselves.

²⁵Because their land has become defiled, I am punishing it for its wickedness, by making it vomit out its inhabitants.

²⁶You, however, whether natives or resident aliens, must keep my statutes and decrees forbidding all such abominations

²⁷by which the previous inhabitants defiled the land;

²⁸otherwise the land will vomit you out also for having defiled it, just as it vomited out the nations before you.

²⁹Everyone who does any of these abominations shall be cut off from among his people.

³⁰Heed my charge, then, not to defile yourselves by observing the abominable customs that have been observed before you. I, the LORD, am your God."

19 The LORD said to Moses,

²Speak to the whole Israelite community and tell them: Be holy, for I, the LORD your God, am holy.

³Revere your mother and father, and keep my sabbaths. I, the LORD, am your God.

⁴"Do not turn aside to idols, nor make molten gods for yourselves. I, the LORD, am your God.

⁵"When you sacrifice your peace offering to the LORD, if you wish it to be acceptable, ⁶it must be eaten on the very day of your sacrifice or on the following day. Whatever is left over until the third day shall be burned up in the fire.

⁷If any of it is eaten on the third day, the sacrifice will be unacceptable as refuse;

- ⁸ whoever eats of it then shall pay the penalty for having profaned what is sacred to the LORD. Such a one shall be cut off from his people.
- ⁹ "When you reap the harvest of your land, you shall not be so thorough that you reap the field to its very edge, nor shall you glean the stray ears of grain.
- ¹⁰ Likewise, you shall not pick your vineyard bare, nor gather up the grapes that have fallen. These things you shall leave for the poor and the alien. I, the LORD, am your God.
- ¹¹ "You shall not steal. You shall not lie or speak falsely to one another.
- ¹² You shall not swear falsely by my name, thus profaning the name of your God. I am the LORD.
- ¹³ "You shall not defraud or rob your neighbor. You shall not withhold overnight the wages of your day laborer.
- ¹⁴ You shall not curse the deaf, or put a stumbling block in front of the blind, but you shall fear your God. I am the LORD.
- ¹⁵ "You shall not act dishonestly in rendering judgment. Show neither partiality to the weak nor deference to the mighty, but judge your fellow men justly.
- ¹⁶ You shall not go about spreading slander among your kinsmen; nor shall you stand by idly when your neighbor's life is at stake. I am the LORD.
- ¹⁷ "You shall not bear hatred for your brother in your heart. Though you may have to reprove your fellow man, do not incur sin because of him.
- ¹⁸ Take no revenge and cherish no grudge against your fellow countrymen. You shall love your neighbor as yourself. I am the LORD.
- ¹⁹ "Keep my statutes: do not breed any of your domestic animals with others of a different species; do not sow a field of yours with two different kinds of seed; and do not put on a garment woven with two different kinds of thread.
- ²⁰ "If a man has carnal relations with a female slave who has already been living with another man but has not yet been redeemed or given her freedom, they shall be punished but not put to death, because she is not free.

- ²¹The man, moreover, shall bring to the entrance of the meeting tent a ram as his guilt offering to the LORD.
- ²²With this ram the priest shall make atonement before the LORD for the sin he has committed, and it will be forgiven him.
- ²³"When you come into the land and plant any fruit tree there, first look upon its fruit as if it were uncircumcised. For three years, while its fruit remains uncircumcised, it may not be eaten.
- ²⁴In the fourth year, however, all of its fruit shall be sacred to the LORD as a thanksgiving feast to him.
- ²⁵Not until the fifth year may you eat its fruit. Thus it will continue its yield for you. I, the LORD, am your God.
- ²⁶"Do not eat meat with the blood still in it. Do not practice divination or soothsaying.
- ²⁷Do not clip your hair at the temples, nor trim the edges of your beard.
- ²⁸Do not lacerate your bodies for the dead, and do not tattoo yourselves. I am the LORD.
- ²⁹"You shall not degrade your daughter by making a prostitute of her; else the land will become corrupt and full of lewdness.
- ³⁰Keep my sabbaths, and reverence my sanctuary. I am the LORD.
- ³¹"Do not go to mediums or consult fortune-tellers, for you will be defiled by them. I, the LORD, am your God.
- ³²"Stand up in the presence of the aged, and show respect for the old; thus shall you fear your God. I am the LORD.
- ³³"When an alien resides with you in your land, do not molest him.
- ³⁴You shall treat the alien who resides with you no differently than the natives born among you; have the same love for him as for yourself; for you too were once aliens in the land of Egypt. I, the LORD, am your God.
- ³⁵"Do not act dishonestly in using measures of length or weight or capacity.

³⁶You shall have a true scale and true weights, an honest ephah and an honest hin. I, the LORD, am your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt.

³⁷Be careful, then, to observe all my statutes and decrees. I am the LORD."

20The LORD said to Moses,

²"Tell the Israelites: Anyone, whether an Israelite or an alien residing in Israel, who gives any of his offspring to Molech shall be put to death. Let his fellow citizens stone him.

³I myself will turn against such a man and cut him off from the body of his people; for in giving his offspring to Molech, he has defiled my sanctuary and profaned my holy name.

⁴Even if his fellow citizens connive at such a man's crime of giving his offspring to Molech, and fail to put him to death,

⁵I myself will set my face against that man and his family and will cut off from their people both him and all who join him in his wanton worship of Molech.

⁶Should anyone turn to mediums and fortune-tellers and follow their wanton ways, I will turn against such a one and cut him off from his people.

⁷Sanctify yourselves, then, and be holy; for I, the LORD, your God, am holy.

⁸Be careful, therefore, to observe what I, the LORD, who make you holy, have prescribed.

⁹"Anyone who curses his father or mother shall be put to death; since he has cursed his father or mother, he has forfeited his life.

¹⁰If a man commits adultery with his neighbor's wife, both the adulterer and the adulteress shall be put to death.

¹¹If a man disgraces his father by lying with his father's wife, both the man and his stepmother shall be put to death; they have forfeited their lives.

¹²If a man lies with his daughter-in-law, both of them shall be put to death; since they have committed an abhorrent deed, they have forfeited their lives.

- ¹³If a man lies with a male as with a woman, both of them shall be put to death for their abominable deed; they have forfeited their lives.
- ¹⁴If a man marries a woman and her mother also, the man and the two women as well shall be burned to death for their shameful conduct, so that such shameful conduct may not be found among you.
- ¹⁵If a man has carnal relations with an animal, the man shall be put to death, and the animal shall be slain.
- ¹⁶If a woman goes up to any animal to mate with it, the woman and the animal shall be slain; let them both be put to death; their lives are forfeit.
- ¹⁷If a man consummates marriage with his sister or his half-sister, they shall be publicly cut off from their people for this shameful deed; the man shall pay the penalty of having had intercourse with his own sister.
- ¹⁸If a man lies in sexual intercourse with a woman during her menstrual period, both of them shall be cut off from their people, because they have laid bare the flowing fountain of her blood.
- ¹⁹You shall not have intercourse with your mother's sister or your father's sister; whoever does so shall pay the penalty of incest.
- ²⁰If a man disgraces his uncle by having intercourse with his uncle's wife, the man and his aunt shall pay the penalty by dying childless.
- ²¹If a man marries his brother's wife and thus disgraces his brother, they shall be childless because of this incest.
- ²²"Be careful to observe all my statutes and all my decrees; otherwise the land where I am bringing you to dwell will vomit you out.
- ²³Do not conform, therefore, to the customs of the nations whom I am driving out of your way, because all these things that they have done have filled me with disgust for them.
- ²⁴But to you I have said: Their land shall be your possession, a land flowing with milk and honey. I am giving it to you as your own, I, the LORD, your God, who have set you apart from the other nations.

²⁵You, too, must set apart, then, the clean animals from the unclean, and the clean birds from the unclean, so that you may not be contaminated with the uncleanness of any beast or bird or of any swarming creature in the land that I have set apart for you.

²⁶To me, therefore, you shall be sacred; for I, the LORD, am sacred, I, who have set you apart from the other nations to be my own.

²⁷"A man or a woman who acts as a medium or fortune-teller shall be put to death by stoning; they have no one but themselves to blame for their death."

21 The LORD said to Moses, "Speak to Aaron's sons, the priests, and tell them: None of you shall make himself unclean for any dead person among his people,

²except for his nearest relatives, his mother or father, his son or daughter, his brother

³or his maiden sister, who is of his own family while she remains unmarried; for these he may make himself unclean.

⁴But for a sister who has married out of his family he shall not make himself unclean; this would be a profanation.

⁵"The priests shall not make bare the crown of the head, nor shave the edges of the beard, nor lacerate the body.

⁶To their God they shall be sacred, and not profane his name; since they offer up the oblations of the LORD, the food of their God, they must be holy.

⁷"A priest shall not marry a woman who has been a prostitute or has lost her honor, nor a woman who has been divorced by her husband; for the priest is sacred to his God.

⁸Honor him as sacred who offers up the food of your God; treat him as sacred, because I, the LORD, who have consecrated him, am sacred.

⁹"A priest's daughter who loses her honor by committing fornication and thereby dishonors her father also, shall be burned to death.

¹⁰"The most exalted of the priests, upon whose head the anointing oil has been poured and who has been ordained to wear the special vestments, shall not bare his head or rend his garments,

¹¹nor shall he go near any dead person. Not even for his father or mother may he thus become unclean

¹²or leave the sanctuary; otherwise he will profane the sanctuary of his God, for with the anointing oil upon him, he is dedicated to his God, to me, the LORD.

¹³"The priest shall marry a virgin.

¹⁴Not a widow or a woman who has been divorced or a woman who has lost her honor as a prostitute, but a virgin, taken from his own people, shall he marry;

¹⁵otherwise he will have base offspring among his people. I, the LORD, have made him sacred."

¹⁶The LORD said to Moses,

¹⁷"Speak to Aaron and tell him: None of your descendants, of whatever generation, who has any defect shall come forward to offer up the food of his God.

¹⁸Therefore, he who has any of the following defects may not come forward: he who is blind, or lame, or who has any disfigurement or malformation,

¹⁹or a crippled foot or hand,

²⁰or who is hump-backed or weakly or walleyed, or who is afflicted with eczema, ringworm or hernia.

²¹No descendant of Aaron the priest who has any such defect may draw near to offer up the oblations of the LORD; on account of his defect he may not draw near to offer up the food of his God.

²²He may, however, partake of the food of his God: of what is most sacred as well as of what is sacred.

²³Only, he may not approach the veil nor go up to the altar on account of his defect; he shall not profane these things that are sacred to me, for it is I, the LORD, who make them sacred."

²⁴Moses, therefore, told this to Aaron and his sons and to all the Israelites.

22 The LORD said to Moses,

²"Tell Aaron and his sons to respect the sacred offerings which the Israelites consecrate to me; else they will profane my holy name. I am the LORD.

³"Tell them: If any one of you, or of your descendants in any future generation, dares, while he is in a state of uncleanness, to draw near the sacred offerings which the Israelites consecrate to the LORD, such a one shall be cut off from my presence. I am the LORD.

⁴"No descendant of Aaron who is stricken with leprosy, or who suffers from a flow, may eat of these sacred offerings, unless he again becomes clean. Moreover, if anyone touches a person who has become unclean by contact with a corpse, or if anyone has had an emission of seed,

⁵or if anyone touches any swarming creature or any man whose uncleanness, of whatever kind it may be, is contagious,

⁶the one who touches such as these shall be unclean until evening and may not eat of the sacred portions until he has first bathed his body in water,

⁷then, when the sun sets, he again becomes clean. Only then may he eat of the sacred offerings, which are his food.

⁸He shall not make himself unclean by eating of any animal that has died of itself or has been killed by wild beasts. I am the LORD.

⁹"They shall keep my charge and not do wrong in this matter; else they will die for their profanation. I am the LORD who have consecrated them.

¹⁰"Neither a lay person nor a priest's tenant or hired servant may eat of any sacred offering.

¹¹But a slave whom a priest acquires by purchase or who is born in his house may eat of his food.

¹²A priest's daughter who is married to a layman may not eat of the sacred contributions.

¹³But if a priest's daughter is widowed or divorced and, having no children, returns to her father's house, she may then eat of her father's food as in her youth. No layman, however, may eat of it.

¹⁴If such a one eats of a sacred offering through inadvertence, he shall make restitution to the priest for the sacred offering, with an increment of one fifth of the amount.

¹⁵The sacred offerings which the Israelites contribute to the LORD the priests shall not allow to be profaned

¹⁶nor in the eating of the sacred offering shall they bring down guilt that must be punished; it is I, the LORD, who make them sacred."

¹⁷The LORD said to Moses,

¹⁸"Speak to Aaron and his sons and to all the Israelites, and tell them: When anyone of the house of Israel, or any alien residing in Israel, who wishes to offer a sacrifice, brings a holocaust as a votive offering or as a free-will offering to the LORD, ¹⁹if it is to be acceptable, the ox or sheep or goat that he offers must be an unblemished male.

²⁰You shall not offer one that has any defect, for such a one would not be acceptable for you.

²¹When anyone presents a peace offering to the LORD from the herd or the flock in fulfillment of a vow, or as a free-will offering, if it is to find acceptance, it must be unblemished; it shall not have any defect.

²²One that is blind or crippled or maimed, or one that has a running sore or mange or ringworm, you shall not offer to the LORD; do not put such an animal on the altar as an oblation to the LORD.

²³An ox or a sheep that is in any way ill-proportioned or stunted you may indeed present as a free-will offering, but it will not be acceptable as a votive offering.

²⁴One that has its testicles bruised or crushed or torn out or cut off you shall not offer to the LORD. You shall neither do this in your own land

²⁵nor receive from a foreigner any such animals to offer up as the food of your God; since they are deformed or defective, they will not be acceptable for you."

²⁶The LORD said to Moses,

²⁷"When an ox or a lamb or a goat is born, it shall remain with its mother for seven days; only from the eighth day onward will it be acceptable, to be offered as an oblation to the LORD.

²⁸You shall not slaughter an ox or a sheep on one and the same day with its young.

²⁹Whenever you offer a thanksgiving sacrifice to the LORD, so offer it that it may be acceptable for you;

³⁰it must, therefore, be eaten on the same day; none of it shall be left over until the next day. I am the LORD.

³¹"Be careful to observe the commandments which I, the LORD, give you,

³²and do not profane my holy name; in the midst of the Israelites I, the LORD, must be held as sacred. It is I who made you sacred

³³and led you out of the land of Egypt, that I, the LORD, might be your God."

23 The LORD said to Moses,

²"Speak to the Israelites and tell them: The following are the festivals of the LORD, my feast days, which you shall celebrate with a sacred assembly.

⁴"These, then, are the festivals of the LORD which you shall celebrate at their proper time with a sacred assembly.

⁵The Passover of the LORD falls on the fourteenth day of the first month, at the evening twilight.

⁶The fifteenth day of this month is the LORD'S feast of Unleavened Bread. For seven days you shall eat unleavened bread.

⁷On the first of these days you shall hold a sacred assembly and do no sort of work.

⁸On each of the seven days you shall offer an oblation to the LORD. Then on the seventh day you shall again hold a sacred assembly and do no sort of work."

⁹The LORD said to Moses,

¹⁰"Speak to the Israelites and tell them: When you come into the land which I am giving you, and reap your harvest, you shall bring a sheaf of the first fruits of your harvest to the priest, ¹¹who shall wave the sheaf before the LORD that it may be acceptable for you. On the day after the sabbath the priest shall do this.

¹²On this day, when your sheaf is waved, you shall offer to the LORD for a holocaust an unblemished yearling lamb.

¹³Its cereal offering shall be two tenths of an ephah of fine flour mixed with oil, as a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD; and its libation shall be a fourth of a hin of wine.

¹⁴Until this day, when you bring your God this offering, you shall not eat any bread or roasted grain or fresh kernels. This shall be a perpetual statute for you and your descendants wherever you dwell.

¹⁵"Beginning with the day after the sabbath, the day on which you bring the wave-offering sheaf, you shall count seven full weeks,

¹⁶and then on the day after the seventh week, the fiftieth day, you shall present the new cereal offering to the LORD.

¹⁷For the wave offering of your first fruits to the LORD, you shall bring with you from wherever you live two loaves of bread made of two tenths of an ephah of fine flour and baked with leaven.

¹⁸Besides the bread, you shall offer to the LORD a holocaust of seven unblemished yearling lambs, one young bull, and two rams, along with their cereal offering and libations, as a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD.

¹⁹One male goat shall be sacrificed as a sin offering, and two yearling lambs as a peace offering.

²⁰The priest shall wave the bread of the first fruits and the two lambs as a wave offering before the LORD; these shall be sacred to the LORD and belong to the priest.

²¹On this same day you shall by proclamation have a sacred assembly, and no sort of work may be done. This shall be a perpetual statute for you and your descendants wherever you dwell.

²²"When you reap the harvest of your land, you shall not be so thorough that you reap the field to its very edge, nor shall you glean the stray ears of your grain. These things you shall leave for the poor and the alien. I, the LORD, am your God."

²³The LORD said to Moses,

²⁴"Tell the Israelites: On the first day of the seventh month you shall keep a sabbath rest, with a sacred assembly and with the trumpet blasts as a reminder;

²⁵you shall then do no sort of work, and you shall offer an oblation to the LORD."

²⁶The LORD said to Moses,

²⁷"The tenth of this seventh month is the Day of Atonement, when you shall hold a sacred assembly and mortify yourselves and offer an oblation to the LORD.

²⁸On this day you shall not do any work, because it is the Day of Atonement, when atonement is made for you before the LORD, your God.

²⁹Anyone who does not mortify himself on this day shall be cut off from his people,

³⁰and if anyone does any work on this day, I will remove him from the midst of his people.

³¹This is a perpetual statute for you and your descendants wherever you dwell: you shall do no work,

³²but shall keep a sabbath of complete rest and mortify yourselves. Beginning on the evening of the ninth of the month, you shall keep this sabbath of yours from evening to evening."

³³The LORD said to Moses,

³⁴"Tell the Israelites: The fifteenth day of this seventh month is the LORD'S feast of Booths, which shall continue for seven days.

³⁵On the first day there shall be a sacred assembly, and you shall do no sort of work.

³⁶For seven days you shall offer an oblation to the LORD, and on the eighth day you shall again hold a sacred assembly and offer an oblation to the LORD. On that solemn closing you shall do no sort of work.

³⁷"These, therefore, are the festivals of the LORD on which you shall proclaim a sacred assembly, and offer as an oblation to the LORD holocausts and cereal offerings, sacrifices and libations, as prescribed for each day,

³⁸in addition to those of the LORD'S sabbaths, your donations, your various votive offerings and the free-will offerings that you present to the LORD.

³⁹"On the fifteenth day, then, of the seventh month, when you have gathered in the produce of the land, you shall celebrate a pilgrim feast of the LORD for a whole week. The first and the eighth day shall be days of complete rest.

⁴⁰On the first day you shall gather foliage from majestic trees, branches of palms and boughs of myrtles and of valley poplars, and then for a week you shall make merry before the LORD, your God.

⁴¹By perpetual statute for you and your descendants you shall keep this pilgrim feast of the LORD for one whole week in the seventh month of the year.

⁴²During this week every native Israelite among you shall dwell in booths,

⁴³that your descendants may realize that, when I led the Israelites out of the land of Egypt, I made them dwell in booths. I, the LORD, am your God."

⁴⁴Thus did Moses announce to the Israelites the festivals of the LORD.

24

The LORD said to Moses,

²"Order the Israelites to bring you clear oil of crushed olives for the light, so that you may keep lamps burning regularly.

³In the meeting tent, outside the veil that hangs in front of the commandments, Aaron shall set up the lamps to burn before the LORD regularly, from evening till morning. Thus, by a perpetual statute for you and your descendants, ⁴the lamps shall be set up on the pure gold lampstand, to burn regularly before the LORD.

⁵"You shall take fine flour and bake it into twelve cakes, using two tenths of an ephah of flour for each cake.

⁶These you shall place in two piles, six in each pile, on the pure gold table before the LORD.

⁷On each pile put some pure frankincense, which shall serve as an oblation to the LORD, a token offering for the bread.

⁸Regularly on each sabbath day this bread shall be set out afresh before the LORD, offered on the part of the Israelites by an everlasting agreement.

⁹It shall belong to Aaron and his sons, who must eat it in a sacred place, since, as something most sacred among the various oblations to the LORD, it is his by perpetual right."

¹⁰Among the Israelites there was a man born of an Israelite mother (Shelomith, daughter of Dibri, of the tribe of Dan) and an Egyptian father.

¹¹This man quarreled publicly with another Israelite and cursed and blasphemed the LORD'S name. So the people brought him to Moses, ¹²who kept him in custody till a decision from the LORD should settle the case for them.

¹³The LORD then said to Moses,

¹⁴"Take the blasphemer outside the camp, and when all who heard him have laid their hands on his head, let the whole community stone him.

¹⁵Tell the Israelites: Anyone who curses his God shall bear the penalty of his sin;

¹⁶whoever blasphemes the name of the LORD shall be put to death. The whole community shall stone him; alien and native alike must be put to death for blaspheming the LORD'S name.

¹⁷"Whoever takes the life of any human being shall be put to death;

¹⁸whoever takes the life of an animal shall make restitution of another animal. A life for a life!

¹⁹Anyone who inflicts an injury on his neighbor shall receive the same in return.

²⁰Limb for limb, eye for eye, tooth for tooth! The same injury that a man gives another shall be inflicted on him in return.

²¹Whoever slays an animal shall make restitution, but whoever slays a man shall be put to death.

²²You shall have but one rule, for alien and native alike. I, the LORD, am your God."

²³When Moses told this to the Israelites, they took the blasphemer outside the camp and stoned him; they carried out the command that the LORD had given Moses.

25

The LORD said to Moses on Mount Sinai,

²"Speak to the Israelites and tell them: When you enter the land that I am giving you, let the land, too, keep a sabbath for the LORD.

³For six years you may sow your field, and for six years prune your vineyard, gathering in their produce.

⁴But during the seventh year the land shall have a complete rest, a sabbath for the LORD, when you may neither sow your field nor prune your vineyard.

⁵The aftergrowth of your harvest you shall not reap, nor shall you pick the grapes of your untrimmed vines in this year of sabbath rest for the land.

⁶While the land has its sabbath, all its produce will be food equally for you yourself and for your male and female slaves, for your hired help and the tenants who live with you,

⁷and likewise for your livestock and for the wild animals on your land.

⁸"Seven weeks of years shall you count--seven times seven years--so that the seven cycles amount to forty-nine years.

⁹Then, on the tenth day of the seventh month let the trumpet resound; on this, the Day of Atonement, the trumpet blast shall re-echo throughout your land.

¹⁰This fiftieth year you shall make sacred by proclaiming liberty in the land for all its inhabitants. It shall be a jubilee for you, when every one of you shall return to his own property, every one to his own family estate.

¹¹In this fiftieth year, your year of jubilee, you shall not sow, nor shall you reap the aftergrowth or pick the grapes from the untrimmed vines.

¹²Since this is the jubilee, which shall be sacred for you, you may not eat of its produce, except as taken directly from the field.

¹³"In this year of jubilee, then, every one of you shall return to his own property.

¹⁴Therefore, when you sell any land to your neighbor or buy any from him, do not deal unfairly.

¹⁵On the basis of the number of years since the last jubilee shall you purchase the land from him; and so also, on the basis of the number of years for crops, shall he sell it to you.

¹⁶When the years are many, the price shall be so much the more; when the years are few, the price shall be so much the less. For it is really the number of crops that he sells you.

¹⁷Do not deal unfairly, then; but stand in fear of your God. I, the LORD, am your God.

¹⁸"Observe my precepts and be careful to keep my regulations, for then you will dwell securely in the land.

¹⁹The land will yield its fruit and you will have food in abundance, so that you may live there without worry.

²⁰Therefore, do not say, 'What shall we eat in the seventh year, if we do not then sow or reap our crop?'

²¹I will bestow such blessings on you in the sixth year that there will then be crop enough for three years.

²²When you sow in the eighth year, you will continue to eat from the old crop; and even into the ninth year, when the crop comes in, you will still have the old to eat from.

²³"The land shall not be sold in perpetuity; for the land is mine, and you are but aliens who have become my tenants.

²⁴Therefore, in every part of the country that you occupy, you must permit the land to be redeemed.

²⁵When one of your countrymen is reduced to poverty and has to sell some of his property, his closest relative, who has the right to redeem it, may go and buy back what his kinsman has sold.

²⁶If, however, the man has no relative to redeem his land, but later on acquires sufficient means to buy it back in his own name,

²⁷he shall make a deduction from the price in proportion to the number of years since the sale, and then pay back the balance to the one to whom he sold it, so that he may thus regain his own property.

²⁸But if he does not acquire sufficient means to buy back his land, what he has sold shall remain in the possession of the purchaser until the jubilee, when it must be released and returned to its original owner.

²⁹"When someone sells a dwelling in a walled town, he has the right to buy it back during the time of one full year from its sale.

³⁰But if such a house in a walled town has not been redeemed at the end of a full year, it shall belong in perpetuity to the purchaser and his descendants; nor shall it be released in the jubilee.

³¹However, houses in villages that are not encircled by walls shall be considered as belonging to the surrounding farm land; they may be redeemed at any time, and in the jubilee they must be released.

³²"In levitical cities the Levites shall always have the right to redeem the town houses that are their property.

³³Any town house of the Levites in their cities that had been sold and not redeemed, shall be released in the jubilee; for the town houses of the Levites are their hereditary property in the midst of the Israelites.

³⁴Moreover, the pasture land belonging to their cities shall not be sold at all; it must always remain their hereditary property.

³⁵"When one of your fellow countrymen is reduced to poverty and is unable to hold out beside you, extend to him the privileges of an alien or a tenant, so that he may continue to live with you.

³⁶Do not exact interest from your countryman either in money or in kind, but out of fear of God let him live with you.

³⁷You are to lend him neither money at interest nor food at a profit.

³⁸I, the LORD, am your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt to give you the land of Canaan and to be your God.

³⁹"When, then, your countryman becomes so impoverished beside you that he sells you his services, do not make him work as a slave.

⁴⁰Rather, let him be like a hired servant or like your tenant, working with you until the jubilee year,

⁴¹when he, together with his children, shall be released from your service and return to his kindred and to the property of his ancestors.

⁴²Since those whom I brought out of the land of Egypt are servants of mine, they shall not be sold as slaves to any man.

⁴³Do not lord it over them harshly, but stand in fear of your God.

⁴⁴"Slaves, male and female, you may indeed possess, provided you buy them from among the neighboring nations.

⁴⁵You may also buy them from among the aliens who reside with you and from their children who are born and reared in your land. Such slaves you may own as chattels,

⁴⁶and leave to your sons as their hereditary property, making them perpetual slaves. But you shall not lord it harshly over any of the Israelites, your kinsmen.

⁴⁸even after he has thus sold his services he still has the right of redemption; he may be redeemed by one of his own brothers,

⁴⁹or by his uncle or cousin, or by some other relative or fellow clansman; or, if he acquires the means, he may redeem himself.

⁵⁰With his purchaser he shall compute the years from the sale to the jubilee, distributing the sale price over these years as though he had been hired as a day laborer.

⁵¹The more such years there are, the more of the sale price he shall pay back as ransom;

⁵²the fewer years there are left before the jubilee year, the more he has to his credit; in proportion to his years of service shall he pay his ransom.

⁵³The alien shall treat him as a servant hired on an annual basis, and he shall not lord it over him harshly under your very eyes.

⁵⁴If he is not thus redeemed, he shall nevertheless be released, together with his children, in the jubilee year.

⁵⁵For to me the Israelites belong as servants; they are servants of mine, because I brought them out of the land of Egypt, I, the LORD, your God.

26"Do not make false gods for yourselves. You shall not erect an idol or a sacred pillar for yourselves, nor shall you set up a stone figure for worship in your land; for I, the LORD, am your God.

²Keep my sabbaths, and reverence my sanctuary. I am the LORD.

³"If you live in accordance with my precepts and are careful to observe my commandments,

⁴I will give you rain in due season, so that the land will bear its crops, and the trees their fruit;

⁵your threshing will last till vintage time, and your vintage till the time for sowing, and you will have food to eat in abundance, so that you may dwell securely in your land.

⁶I will establish peace in the land, that you may lie down to rest without anxiety. I will rid the country of ravenous beasts, and keep the sword of war from sweeping across your land.

⁷You will rout your enemies and lay them low with your sword.

⁸Five of you will put a hundred of your foes to flight, and a hundred of you will chase ten thousand of them, till they are cut down by your sword.

⁹I will look with favor upon you, and make you fruitful and numerous, as I carry out my covenant with you.

¹⁰So much of the old crops will you have stored up for food that you will have to discard them to make room for the new.

¹¹I will set my Dwelling among you, and will not disdain you.

¹²Ever present in your midst, I will be your God, and you will be my people;

¹³for it is I, the LORD, your God, who brought you out of the land of the Egyptians and freed you from their slavery, breaking the yoke they had laid upon you and letting you walk erect.

¹⁴"But if you do not heed me and do not keep all these commandments,

¹⁵if you reject my precepts and spurn my decrees, refusing to obey all my commandments and breaking my covenant,

¹⁶then I, in turn, will give you your deserts. I will punish you with terrible woes--with wasting and fever to dim the eyes and sap the life. You will sow your seed in vain, for your enemies will consume the crop.

¹⁷I will turn against you, till you are beaten down before your enemies and lorded over by your foes. You will take to flight though no one pursues you.

¹⁸"If even after this you do not obey me, I will increase the chastisement for your sins sevenfold,

¹⁹to break your haughty confidence. I will make the sky above you as hard as iron, and your soil as hard as bronze,

²⁰so that your strength will be spent in vain; your land will bear no crops, and its trees no fruit.

²¹"If then you become defiant in your unwillingness to obey me, I will multiply my blows another sevenfold, as your sins deserve.

²²I will unleash the wild beasts against you, to rob you of your children and wipe out your livestock, till your population dwindles away and your roads become deserted.

²³"If, with all this, you still refuse to be chastened by me and continue to defy me, ²⁴I, too, will defy you and will smite you for your sins seven times harder than before.

²⁵I will make the sword, the avenger of my covenant, sweep over you. Though you then huddle together in your walled cities, I will send in pestilence among you, till you are forced to surrender to the enemy.

²⁶And as I cut off your supply of bread, ten women will need but one oven for baking all the bread they dole out to you in rations--not enough food to still your hunger.

²⁷"If, despite all this, you still persist in disobeying and defying me,

²⁸I, also, will meet you with fiery defiance and will chastise you with sevenfold fiercer punishment for your sins,

²⁹till you begin to eat the flesh of your own sons and daughters.

³⁰I will demolish your high places, overthrow your incense stands, and cast your corpses on those of your idols. In my abhorrence of you,

³¹I will lay waste your cities and devastate your sanctuaries, refusing to accept your sweet-smelling offerings.

³²So devastated will I leave the land that your very enemies who come to live there will stand aghast at the sight of it.

³³You yourselves I will scatter among the nations at the point of my drawn sword, leaving your countryside desolate and your cities deserted.

³⁴Then shall the land retrieve its lost sabbaths during all the time it lies waste, while you are in the land of your enemies; then shall the land have rest and make up for its sabbaths

³⁵during all the time that it lies desolate, enjoying the rest that you would not let it have on the sabbaths when you lived there.

³⁶"Those of you who survive in the lands of their enemies I will make so fainthearted that, if leaves rustle behind them, they will flee headlong, as if from the sword, though no one pursues them;

³⁷stumbling over one another as if to escape a weapon, while no one is after them--so helpless will you be to take a stand against your foes!

³⁸You will be lost among the Gentiles, swallowed up in your enemies' country.

³⁹Those of you who survive in the lands of their enemies will waste away for their own and their fathers' guilt.

⁴⁰"Thus they will have to confess that they and their fathers were guilty of having rebelled against me and of having defied me,

⁴¹so that I, too, had to defy them and bring them into their enemies' land. Then, when their uncircumcised hearts are humbled and they make amends for their guilt,

⁴²I will remember my covenant with Jacob, my covenant with Isaac, and my covenant with Abraham; and of the land, too, I will be mindful.

⁴³But the land must first be rid of them, that in its desolation it may make up its lost sabbaths, and that they, too, may make good the debt of their guilt for having spurned my precepts and abhorred my statutes.

⁴⁴Yet even so, even while they are in their enemies' land, I will not reject or spurn them, lest, by wiping them out, I make void my covenant with them; for I, the LORD, am their God.

⁴⁵I will remember them because of the covenant I made with their forefathers, whom I brought out of the land of Egypt under the very eyes of the Gentiles, that I, the LORD, might be their God."

⁴⁶These are the precepts, decrees and laws which the LORD had Moses promulgate on Mount Sinai in the pact between himself and the Israelites.

27 The LORD said to Moses,

²"Speak to the Israelites and tell them: When anyone fulfills a vow of offering one or more persons to the LORD, who are to be ransomed at a fixed sum of money,

³for persons between the ages of twenty and sixty, the fixed sum, in sanctuary shekels, shall be fifty silver shekels for a man,

⁴and thirty shekels for a woman;

⁵for persons between the ages of five and twenty, the fixed sum shall be twenty shekels for a youth, and ten for a maiden;

- ⁶for persons between the ages of one month and five years, the fixed sum shall be five silver shekels for a boy, and three for a girl;
- ⁷for persons of sixty or more, the fixed sum shall be fifteen shekels for a man, and ten for a woman.
- ⁸However, if the one who took the vow is too poor to meet the fixed sum, the person must be set before the priest, who shall determine the sum for his ransom in keeping with the means of the one who made the vow.
- ⁹If the offering vowed to the LORD is an animal that may be sacrificed, every such animal, when vowed to the LORD, becomes sacred.
- ¹⁰The offerer shall not present a substitute for it by exchanging either a better for a worse one or a worse for a better one. If he attempts to offer one animal in place of another, both the original and its substitute shall be treated as sacred.
- ¹¹If the animal vowed to the LORD is unclean and therefore unfit for sacrifice, it must be set before the priest,
- ¹²who shall determine its value in keeping with its good or bad qualities, and the value set by the priest shall stand.
- ¹³If the offerer wishes to redeem the animal, he shall pay one fifth more than this valuation.
- ¹⁴"When someone dedicates his house as sacred to the LORD, the priest shall determine its value in keeping with its good or bad points, and the value set by the priest shall stand.
- ¹⁵If the one who dedicated his house wishes to redeem it, he shall pay one fifth more than the price thus established, and then it will again be his.
- ¹⁶If the object which someone dedicates to the LORD is a piece of his hereditary land, its valuation shall be made according to the amount of seed required to sow it, the acreage sown with a homer of barley seed being valued at fifty silver shekels.
- ¹⁷If the dedication of a field is made at the beginning of a jubilee period, the full valuation shall hold;

¹⁸but if it is some time after this, the priest shall estimate its money value according to the number of years left until the next jubilee year, with a corresponding rebate on the valuation.

¹⁹If the one who dedicated his field wishes to redeem it, he shall pay one fifth more than the price thus established, and so reclaim it.

²⁰If, instead of redeeming such a field, he sells it to someone else, it may no longer be redeemed;

²¹but at the jubilee it shall be released as sacred to the LORD; like a field that is doomed, it shall become priestly property.

²²"If the field that some man dedicates to the LORD is one he had purchased and not a part of his hereditary property,

²³the priest shall compute its value in proportion to the number of years until the next jubilee, and on the same day the price thus established shall be given as sacred to the LORD;

²⁴at the jubilee, however, the field shall revert to the hereditary owner of this land from whom it had been purchased.

²⁵"Every valuation shall be made according to the standard of the sanctuary shekel. There are twenty gerahs to the shekel.

²⁶"Note that a first-born animal, which as such already belongs to the LORD, may not be dedicated by vow to him. If it is an ox or a sheep, it shall be ceded to the LORD;

²⁷but if it is an unclean animal, it may be redeemed by paying one fifth more than its fixed value. If it is not redeemed, it shall be sold at its fixed value.

²⁹All human beings that are doomed lose the right to be redeemed; they must be put to death.

³⁰"All tithes of the land, whether in grain from the fields or in fruit from the trees, belong to the LORD, as sacred to him.

³¹If someone wishes to buy back any of his tithes, he shall pay one fifth more than their value.

³²The tithes of the herd and the flock shall be determined by ceding to the LORD as sacred every tenth animal as they are counted by the herdsman's rod.

³⁴These are the commandments which the LORD gave Moses on Mount Sinai for the Israelites.

Numbers

1 In the year following that of the Israelites' departure from the land of Egypt, on the first day of the second month, the LORD said to Moses in the meeting tent in the desert of Sinai:

2"Take a census of the whole community of the Israelites, by clans and ancestral houses, registering each male individually.

3You and Aaron shall enroll in companies all the men in Israel of twenty years or more who are fit for military service.

4"To assist you there shall be a man from each tribe, the head of his ancestral house.

5These are the names of those who are to assist you: from Reuben: Elizur, son of Shedeur;

6from Simeon: Shelumiel, son of Zurishaddai;

7from Judah: Nahshon, son of Amminadab;

8from Issachar: Nethanel, son of Zuar;

9from Zebulun: Eliab, son of Helon;

10from Ephraim: Elishama, son of Ammihud, and from Manasseh: Gamaliel, son of Pedahzur, for the descendants of Joseph;

11from Benjamin: Abidan, son of Gideoni;

12from Dan: Ahiezer, son of Ammishaddai;

13from Asher: Pagiel, son of Ocran;

14from Gad: Eliasaph, son of Reuel;

15from Naphtali: Ahira, son of Enan."

¹⁶These were councilors of the community, princes of their ancestral tribes, chiefs of the troops of Israel.

¹⁷So Moses and Aaron took these men who had been designated,

¹⁸and assembled the whole community on the first day of the second month. Every man of twenty years or more then declared his name and lineage according to clan and ancestral house,

¹⁹as the LORD had commanded Moses. This is their census as taken in the desert of Sinai.

²⁰Of the descendants of Reuben, the first-born of Israel, registered by lineage in clans and ancestral houses: when all the males of twenty years or more who were fit for military service were polled, ²¹forty-six thousand five hundred were enrolled in the tribe of Reuben.

²²Of the descendants of Simeon, registered by lineage in clans and ancestral houses: when all the males of twenty years or more who were fit for military service were polled,

²³fifty-nine thousand three hundred were enrolled in the tribe of Simeon.

²⁴Of the descendants of Gad, registered by lineage in clans and ancestral houses: when all the males of twenty years or more who were fit for military service were polled,

²⁵forty-five thousand six hundred and fifty were enrolled in the tribe of Gad.

²⁶Of the descendants of Judah, registered by lineage in clans and ancestral houses: when all the males of twenty years or more who were fit for military service were polled,

²⁷seventy-four thousand six hundred were enrolled in the tribe of Judah.

²⁸Of the descendants of Issachar, registered by lineage in clans and ancestral houses: when all the males of twenty years or more who were fit for military service were polled,

²⁹fifty-four thousand four hundred were enrolled in the tribe of Issachar.

³⁰Of the descendants of Zebulun, registered by lineage in clans and ancestral houses: when all the males of twenty years or more who were fit for military service were polled,

³¹fifty-seven thousand four hundred were enrolled in the tribe of Zebulun.

³²Of the descendants of Joseph-Of the descendants of Ephraim, registered by lineage in clans and ancestral houses: when all the males of twenty years or more who were fit for military service were polled, ³³forty thousand five hundred were enrolled in the tribe of Ephraim.

³⁴Of the descendants of Manasseh, registered by lineage in clans and ancestral houses: when all the males of twenty years or more who were fit for military service were polled,

³⁵thirty-two thousand two hundred were enrolled in the tribe of Manasseh.

³⁶Of the descendants of Benjamin, registered by lineage in clans and ancestral houses: when all the males of twenty years or more who were fit for military service were polled,

³⁷thirty-five thousand four hundred were enrolled in the tribe of Benjamin.

³⁸Of the descendants of Dan, registered by lineage in clans and ancestral houses: when all the males of twenty years or more who were fit for military service were polled,

³⁹sixty-two thousand seven hundred were enrolled in the tribe of Dan.

⁴⁰Of the descendants of Asher, registered by lineage in clans and ancestral houses: when all the males of twenty years or more who were fit for military service were polled,

⁴¹forty-one thousand five hundred were enrolled in the tribe of Asher.

⁴²Of the descendants of Naphtali, registered by lineage in clans and ancestral houses: when all the males of twenty years or more who were fit for military service were polled, ⁴³fifty-three thousand four hundred were enrolled in the tribe of Naphtali.

⁴⁴It was these who were registered, each according to his ancestral house, in the census taken by Moses and Aaron and the twelve princes of Israel.

⁴⁵The total number of the Israelites of twenty years or more who were fit for military service, registered by ancestral houses, ⁴⁶was six hundred and three thousand, five hundred and fifty.

⁴⁷The Levites, however, were not registered by ancestral tribe with the others.

⁴⁸For the LORD had told Moses,

⁴⁹"The tribe of Levi alone you shall not enroll nor include in the census along with the other Israelites.

⁵⁰You are to give the Levites charge of the Dwelling of the commandments with all its equipment and all that belongs to it. It is they who shall carry the Dwelling with all its equipment and who shall be its ministers. They shall therefore camp around the Dwelling.

⁵¹When the Dwelling is to move on, the Levites shall take it down; when the Dwelling is to be pitched, it is the Levites who shall set it up. Any layman who comes near it shall be put to death.

⁵²While the other Israelites shall camp by companies, each in his own division of the camp,

⁵³the Levites shall camp around the Dwelling of the commandments. Otherwise God's wrath will strike the Israelite community. The Levites, then, shall have charge of the Dwelling of the commandments."

⁵⁴All this the Israelites fulfilled as the LORD had commanded Moses.

2The LORD said to Moses and Aaron:

²"The Israelites shall camp, each in his own division, under the ensigns of their ancestral houses. They shall camp around the meeting tent, but at some distance from it.

³"Encamped on the east side, toward the sunrise, shall be the divisional camp of Judah, arranged in companies. (The prince of the Judahites was Nahshon, son of Amminadab, ⁴and his soldiers amounted in the census to seventy-four thousand six hundred.)

⁵With Judah shall camp the tribe of Issachar (Their prince was Nethanel, son of Zuar, ⁶and his soldiers amounted in the census to fifty-four thousand four hundred.)

⁷and the tribe of Zebulun. (Their prince was Eliab, son of Helon, ⁸and his soldiers amounted in the census to fifty-seven thousand four hundred.

⁹The total number of those registered by companies in the camp of Judah was one hundred and eighty-six thousand four hundred.) These shall be first on the march.

¹⁰"On the south side shall be the divisional camp of Reuben, arranged in companies. (Their prince was Elizur, son of Shedeur, ¹¹and his soldiers amounted in the census to forty-six thousand five hundred.)

¹²Beside them shall camp the tribe of Simeon (Their prince was Shelumiel, son of Zurishaddai, ¹³and his soldiers amounted in the census to fifty-nine thousand three hundred.)

¹⁴and next the tribe of Gad. (Their prince was Eliasaph, son of Reuel, ¹⁵and his soldiers amounted in the census to forty-five thousand six hundred and fifty.

¹⁶The total number of those registered by companies in the camp of Reuben was one hundred and fifty-one thousand four hundred and fifty.) These shall be second on the march.

¹⁸"On the west side shall be the divisional camp of Ephraim, arranged in companies. (Their prince was Elishama, son of Ammihud, ¹⁹and his soldiers amounted in the census to forty thousand five hundred.)

²⁰Beside them shall camp the tribe of Manasseh (Their prince was Gamaliel, son of Pedahzur, ²¹and his soldiers amounted in the census to thirty-two thousand two hundred.)

²²and the tribe of Benjamin. (Their prince was Abidan, son of Gideoni, ²³and his soldiers amounted in the census to thirty-five thousand four hundred.

²⁴The total number of those registered by companies in the camp of Ephraim was one hundred and eight thousand one hundred.) These shall be third on the march.

²⁵"On the north side shall be the divisional camp of Dan, arranged in companies. (Their prince was Ahiezer, son of Ammishaddai, ²⁶and his soldiers amounted in the census to sixty-two thousand seven hundred.)

²⁷Beside them shall camp the tribe of Asher (Their prince was Pagiel, son of Ocran, ²⁸and his soldiers amounted in the census to forty-one thousand five hundred.)

²⁹and next the tribe of Naphtali. (Their prince was Ahira, son of Enan, ³⁰and his soldiers amounted in the census to fifty-three thousand four hundred.

³¹The total number of those registered by companies in the camp of Dan was one hundred and fifty-seven thousand six hundred.) These shall be the last of the divisions on the march."

³²This was the census of the Israelites taken by ancestral houses. The total number of those registered by companies in the camps was six hundred and three thousand five hundred and fifty.

³³The Levites, however, were not registered with the other Israelites, for so the LORD had commanded Moses.

³⁴The Israelites did just as the LORD had commanded Moses; both in camp and on the march they were in their own divisions, every man according to his clan and his ancestral house.

3The following were the descendants of Aaron and Moses at the time that the LORD spoke to Moses on Mount Sinai.

²The sons of Aaron were Nadab his first-born, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.

³These are the names of the sons of Aaron, the anointed priests who were ordained to exercise the priesthood.

⁴But when Nadab and Abihu offered profane fire before the LORD in the desert of Sinai, they met death in the presence of the LORD, and left no sons. Thereafter only Eleazar and Ithamar performed the priestly functions under the direction of their father Aaron.

⁵Now the LORD said to Moses:

⁶"Summon the tribe of Levi and present them to Aaron the priest, as his assistants.

⁷They shall discharge his obligations and those of the whole community before the meeting tent by serving at the Dwelling.

⁸They shall have custody of all the furnishings of the meeting tent and discharge the duties of the Israelites in the service of the Dwelling.

⁹You shall give the Levites to Aaron and his sons; they have been set aside from among the Israelites as dedicated to me.

¹⁰But only Aaron and his descendants shall you appoint to have charge of the priestly functions. Any layman who comes near shall be put to death."

¹¹The LORD said to Moses,

¹²"It is I who have chosen the Levites from the Israelites in place of every first-born that opens the womb among the Israelites. The Levites, therefore, are mine,

¹³because every first-born is mine. When I slew all the first-born in the land of Egypt, I made all the first-born in Israel sacred to me, both of man and of beast. They belong to me; I am the LORD."

¹⁴The LORD said to Moses in the desert of Sinai,

- ¹⁵"Take a census of the Levites by ancestral houses and clans, registering every male of a month or more."
- ¹⁶Moses, therefore, took their census in accordance with the command the LORD had given him.
- ¹⁷The sons of Levi were named Gershon, Kohath and Merari.
- ¹⁸The descendants of Gershon, by clans, were named Libni and Shimei.
- ¹⁹The descendants of Kohath, by clans, were Amram, Izhar, Hebron and Uzziel.
- ²⁰The descendants of Merari, by clans, were Mahli and Mushi. These were the clans of the Levites by ancestral houses.
- ²¹To Gershon belonged the clan of the Libnites and the clan of the Shimeites; these were the clans of the Gershonites.
- ²²When all their males of a month or more were registered, they numbered seven thousand five hundred.
- ²³The clans of the Gershonites camped behind the Dwelling, to the west.
- ²⁴The prince of their ancestral house was Eliasaph, son of Lael.
- ²⁵At the meeting tent they had charge of whatever pertained to the Dwelling, the tent and its covering, the curtain at the entrance of the meeting tent,
- ²⁶the hangings of the court, the curtain at the entrance of the court enclosing both the Dwelling and the altar, and the ropes.
- ²⁷To Kohath belonged the clans of the Amramites, the Izharites, the Hebronites, and the Uzzielites; these were the clans of the Kohathites.
- ²⁸When all their males of a month or more were registered, they numbered eight thousand three hundred. They had charge of the sanctuary.
- ²⁹The clans of the Kohathites camped at the south side of the Dwelling.
- ³⁰The prince of their ancestral house was Elizaphan, son of Uzziel.

³¹They had charge of whatever pertained to the ark, the table, the lampstand, the altars, the utensils with which the ministry of the sanctuary was exercised, and the veil.

³²The chief prince of the Levites, however, was Eleazar, son of Aaron the priest; he was supervisor over those who had charge of the sanctuary.

³³To Merari belonged the clans of the Mahlites and the Mushites; these were the clans of Merari.

³⁴When all their males of a month or more were registered, they numbered six thousand two hundred.

³⁵The prince of the ancestral house of the clans of Merari was Zuriel, son of Abihail. They camped at the north side of the Dwelling.

³⁶The Merarites were charged with the care of whatever pertained to the boards of the Dwelling, its bars, columns, pedestals, and all its fittings, ³⁷as well as the columns of the surrounding court with their pedestals, pegs and ropes.

³⁸East of the Dwelling, that is, in front of the meeting tent, toward the sunrise, were camped Moses and Aaron and the latter's sons. They discharged the obligations of the sanctuary for the Israelites. Any layman who came near was to be put to death.

³⁹The total number of male Levites a month old or more whom Moses had registered by clans in keeping with the LORD'S command, was twenty-two thousand.

⁴⁰The LORD then said to Moses, "Take a census of all the first-born males of the Israelites a month old or more, and compute their total number.

⁴¹Then assign the Levites to me, the LORD, in place of all the first-born of the Israelites, as well as their cattle in place of all the first-born among the cattle of the Israelites."

⁴²So Moses took a census of all the first-born of the Israelites, as the LORD had commanded him.

⁴³When all the first-born males of a month or more were registered, they numbered twenty-two thousand two hundred and seventy-three.

⁴⁴The LORD said to Moses:

⁴⁵"Take the Levites in place of all the first-born of the Israelites, and the Levites' cattle in place of their cattle, that the Levites may belong to me. I am the LORD.

⁴⁶As ransom for the two hundred and seventy-three first-born of the Israelites who outnumber the Levites, ⁴⁷you shall take five shekels for each individual, according to the standard of the sanctuary shekel, twenty gerahs to the shekel.

⁴⁸Give this silver to Aaron and his sons as ransom for the extra number."

⁴⁹So Moses took the silver as ransom from those who were left when the rest had been redeemed by the Levites.

⁵⁰From the first-born of the Israelites he received in silver one thousand three hundred and sixty-five shekels according to the sanctuary standard.

⁵¹He then gave this ransom silver to Aaron and his sons, as the LORD had commanded him.

4The LORD said to Moses and Aaron:

²"Among the Levites take a total of the Kohathites, by clans and ancestral houses, all the men of the Kohathites ³between thirty and fifty years of age; these are to undertake obligatory tasks in the meeting tent.

⁴"The service of the Kohathites in the meeting tent concerns the most sacred objects.

⁵In breaking camp, Aaron and his sons shall go in and take down the screening curtain and cover the ark of the commandments with it.

⁶Over these they shall put a cover of tahash skin, and on top of this spread an all-violet cloth. They shall then put the poles in place.

⁷On the table of the Presence they shall spread a violet cloth and put on it the plates and cups, as well as the bowls and pitchers for libations; the established bread offering shall remain on the table.

⁸Over these they shall spread a scarlet cloth and cover all this with tahash skin. They shall then put the poles in place.

⁹They shall use a violet cloth to cover the lampstand with its lamps, trimming shears, and trays, as well as the various containers of oil from which it is supplied.

¹⁰The lampstand with all its utensils they shall then enclose in a covering of tahash skin, and place on a litter.

¹¹Over the golden altar they shall spread a violet cloth, and cover this also with a covering of tahash skin. They shall then put the poles in place.

¹²Taking the utensils of the sanctuary service, they shall wrap them all in violet cloth and cover them with tahash skin. They shall then place them on a litter.

¹³After cleansing the altar of its ashes, they shall spread a purple cloth over it.

¹⁴On this they shall put all the utensils with which it is served: the fire pans, forks, shovels, basins, and all the utensils of the altar. They shall then spread a covering of tahash skin over this, and put the poles in place.

¹⁵"Only after Aaron and his sons have finished covering the sacred objects and all their utensils on breaking camp, shall the Kohathites enter to carry them. But they shall not touch the sacred objects; if they do they will die. These, then, are the objects in the meeting tent that the Kohathites shall carry.

¹⁶"Eleazar, son of Aaron the priest, shall be in charge of the oil for the light, the fragrant incense, the established cereal offering, and the anointing oil. He shall be in charge of the whole Dwelling with all the sacred objects and utensils that are in it."

¹⁷The LORD said to Moses and Aaron:

¹⁸"Do not let the group of Kohathite clans perish from the body of the Levites.

¹⁹That they may live and not die when they approach the most sacred objects, this is what you shall do for them: Aaron and his sons shall go in and assign to each of them his task and what he must carry;

²⁰but the Kohathites shall not go in to look upon the sacred objects, even for an instant; if they do, they will die."

²¹The LORD said to Moses,

²²"Take a total among the Gershonites also, by ancestral houses and clans, ²³of all the men between thirty and fifty years of age; these are to undertake obligatory tasks in the meeting tent.

²⁴This is the task of the clans of the Gershonites, what they must do and what they must carry:

²⁵they shall carry the sheets of the Dwelling, the meeting tent with its covering and the outer wrapping of tahash skin, the curtain at the entrance of the meeting tent,

²⁶the hangings of the court, the curtain at the entrance of the court that encloses both the Dwelling and the altar, together with their ropes and all other objects necessary in their use. Whatever is to be done with these things shall be their task.

²⁷The service of the Gershonites shall be entirely under the direction of Aaron and his sons, with regard to what they must do and what they must carry; you shall make each man of them responsible for what he is to carry.

²⁸This, then, is the task of the Gershonites in the meeting tent; and they shall be under the supervision of Ithamar, son of Aaron the priest.

²⁹"Among the Merarites, too, you shall enroll by clans and ancestral houses

³⁰all their men between thirty and fifty years of age; these are to undertake obligatory tasks in the meeting tent.

³¹This is what they shall be responsible for carrying, all the years of their service in the meeting tent: the boards of the Dwelling with its bars, columns and pedestals,

³²and the columns of the surrounding court with their pedestals, pegs and ropes. You shall designate for each man of them all the objects connected with his service, which he shall be responsible for carrying.

³³This, then, is the task of the clans of the Merarites during all their service in the meeting tent under the supervision of Ithamar, son of Aaron the priest."

³⁴So Moses and Aaron and the princes of the community made a registration among the Kohathites, by clans and ancestral houses,

³⁵of all the men between thirty and fifty years of age. These were to undertake obligatory tasks in the meeting tent;

³⁶as registered by clans, they numbered two thousand seven hundred and fifty.

³⁷Such was the census of all the men of the Kohathite clans who were to serve in the meeting tent, which Moses took, together with Aaron, as the LORD bade him.

³⁸The registration was then made among the Gershonites, by clans and ancestral houses,

³⁹of all the men between thirty and fifty years of age. These were to undertake obligatory tasks in the meeting tent;

⁴⁰as registered by clans and ancestral houses, they numbered two thousand six hundred and thirty.

⁴¹Such was the census of all the men of the Gershonite clans who were to serve in the meeting tent, which Moses took, together with Aaron, at the LORD'S bidding.

⁴²Then the registration was made among the Merarites, by clans and ancestral houses,

⁴³of all the men from thirty up to fifty years of age. These were to undertake obligatory tasks in the meeting tent;

⁴⁴as registered by clans, they numbered three thousand two hundred.

⁴⁵Such was the census of the men of the Merarite clans which Moses took, together with Aaron, as the LORD bade him.

⁴⁶Therefore, when Moses and Aaron and the Israelites princes had completed the registration among the Levites, by clans and ancestral houses,

⁴⁷of all the men between thirty and fifty years of age who were to undertake tasks of service or transport of the meeting tent,

⁴⁸the total number registered was eight thousand five hundred and eighty.

⁴⁹According to the LORD'S bidding to Moses, they gave them their individual assignments for service and for transport; so the LORD had commanded Moses.

5The LORD said to Moses:

²"Order the Israelites to expel from camp every leper, and everyone suffering from a discharge, and everyone who has become unclean by contact with a corpse.

³Male and female alike, you shall compel them to go out of the camp; they are not to defile the camp in which I dwell."

⁴The Israelites obeyed the command that the LORD had given Moses; they expelled them from the camp.

⁵The LORD said to Moses,

⁶"Tell the Israelites: If a man (or a woman) commits a fault against his fellow man and wrongs him, thus breaking faith with the LORD,

⁷he shall confess the wrong he has done, restore his ill-gotten goods in full, and in addition give one fifth of their value to the one he has wronged.

⁸However, if the latter has no next of kin to whom restoration of the ill-gotten goods can be made, the goods to be restored shall be the LORD'S and shall fall to the priest; this is apart from the atonement ram with which the priest makes amends for the guilty man.

⁹Likewise, every sacred contribution that the Israelites are bound to make shall fall to the priest.

¹⁰Each Israelite man may dispose of his own sacred contributions; they become the property of the priest to whom he gives them."

¹¹The LORD said to Moses,

¹²"Speak to the Israelites and tell them: If a man's wife goes astray and becomes unfaithful to him

¹³by having intercourse with another man, though her husband has not sufficient evidence of the fact, so that her impurity remains unproved for lack of a witness who might have caught her in the act;

¹⁴or if a man is overcome by a feeling of jealousy that makes him suspect his wife, whether she was actually impure or not:

¹⁵he shall bring his wife to the priest and shall take along as an offering for her a tenth of an ephah of barley meal. However, he shall not pour oil on it nor put frankincense over it, since it is a cereal offering of jealousy, a cereal offering for an appeal in a question of guilt.

¹⁶"The priest shall first have the woman come forward and stand before the LORD.

¹⁷In an earthen vessel he shall meanwhile put some holy water, as well as some dust that he has taken from the floor of the Dwelling.

¹⁸Then, as the woman stands before the LORD, the priest shall uncover her head and place in her hands the cereal offering of her appeal, that is, the cereal offering of jealousy, while he himself shall hold the bitter water that brings a curse.

¹⁹Then he shall adjure the woman, saying to her, 'If no other man has had intercourse with you, and you have not gone astray by impurity while under the authority of your husband, be immune to the curse brought by this bitter water.

²⁰But if you have gone astray while under the authority of your husband and have acted impurely by letting a man other than your husband have intercourse with you'--

²¹so shall the priest adjure the woman with this oath of imprecation--'may the LORD make you an example of malediction and imprecation among your people by causing your thighs to waste away and your belly to swell!

²²May this water, then, that brings a curse, enter your body to make your belly swell and your thighs waste away!' And the woman shall say, 'Amen, amen!'

²³The priest shall put these imprecations in writing and shall then wash them off into the bitter water,

²⁴which he is to have the woman drink, so that it may go into her with all its bitter curse.

²⁵But first he shall take the cereal offering of jealousy from the woman's hand, and having waved this offering before the LORD, shall put it near the altar,

²⁶where he shall take a handful of the cereal offering as its token offering and burn it on the altar. Only then shall he have the woman drink the water.

²⁷Once she has done so, if she has been impure and unfaithful to her husband, this bitter water that brings a curse will go into her, and her belly will swell and her thighs will waste away, so that she will become an example of imprecation among her people.

²⁸If, however, the woman has not defiled herself, but is still pure, she will be immune and will still be able to bear children.

²⁹"This, then, is the law for jealousy: When a woman goes astray while under the authority of her husband and acts impurely, ³⁰or when such a feeling of jealousy comes over a man that he becomes suspicious of his wife, he shall have her stand before the LORD, and the priest shall apply this law in full to her.

³¹The man shall be free from guilt, but the woman shall bear such guilt as she may have."

6 The LORD said to Moses:

²"Speak to the Israelites and tell them: When a man (or a woman) solemnly takes the nazirite vow to dedicate himself to the LORD, ³he shall abstain from wine and strong drink; he may neither drink wine vinegar, other vinegar, of any kind of grape juice, nor eat either fresh or dried grapes.

⁴As long as he is a nazirite he shall not eat anything of the produce of the vine; not even unripe grapes or grapeskins.

⁵While he is under the nazirite vow, no razor shall touch his hair. Until the period of his dedication to the LORD is over, he shall be sacred, and shall let the hair of his head grow freely.

⁶As long as he is dedicated to the LORD, he shall not enter where a dead person is.

⁷Not even for his father or mother, his sister or brother, should they die, may he become unclean, since his head bears his dedication to God.

⁸As long as he is a nazirite he is sacred to the LORD.

⁹"If someone dies very suddenly in his presence, so that his dedicated head becomes unclean, he shall shave his head on the day of his purification, that is, on the seventh day.

¹⁰On the eighth day he shall bring two turtledoves or two pigeons to the priest at the entrance of the meeting tent.

¹¹The priest shall offer up the one as a sin offering and the other as a holocaust, thus making atonement for him for the sin he has committed by reason of the dead person. On the same day he shall reconsecrate his head

¹²and begin anew the period of his dedication to the LORD as a nazirite, bringing a yearling lamb as a guilt offering. The previous period is not valid, because his dedicated head became unclean.

¹³"This is the ritual for the nazirite: On the day he completes the period of his dedication he shall go to the entrance of the meeting tent,

¹⁴bringing as his offering to the LORD one unblemished yearling lamb for a holocaust, one unblemished yearling ewe lamb for a sin offering, one unblemished ram as a peace offering, along with their cereal offerings and libations, ¹⁵and a basket of unleavened cakes of fine flour mixed with oil and of unleavened wafers spread with oil.

¹⁶The priest shall present them before the LORD, and shall offer up the sin offering and the holocaust for him.

¹⁷He shall then offer up the ram as a peace offering to the LORD, with its cereal offering and libation, and the basket of unleavened cakes.

¹⁸Then at the entrance of the meeting tent the nazirite shall shave his dedicated head, collect the hair, and put it in the fire that is under the peace offering.

¹⁹After the nazirite has shaved off his dedicated hair, the priest shall take a boiled shoulder of the ram, as well as one unleavened cake and one unleavened wafer from the basket, and shall place them in the hands of the nazirite.

²⁰The priest shall then wave them as a wave offering before the LORD. They become sacred and shall belong to the priest, along with the breast of the wave offering and the leg of the raised offering. Only after this may the nazirite drink wine.

²¹"This, then, is the law for the nazirite; this is the offering to the LORD which is included in his vow of dedication apart from anything else which his means may allow. Thus shall he carry out the law of his dedication in keeping with the vow he has taken."

²²The LORD said to Moses:

²³"Speak to Aaron and his sons and tell them: This is how you shall bless the Israelites. Say to them:

²⁴The LORD bless you and keep you!

²⁵The LORD let his face shine upon you, and be gracious to you!

²⁶The LORD look upon you kindly and give you peace!

²⁷So shall they invoke my name upon the Israelites, and I will bless them."

7 Now, when Moses had completed the erection of the Dwelling and had anointed and consecrated it with all its equipment (as well as the altar with all its equipment),

²an offering was made by the princes of Israel, who were heads of ancestral houses; the same princes of the tribes who supervised the census.

³The offering they brought before the LORD consisted of six baggage wagons and twelve oxen, that is, a wagon for every two princes, and an ox for every prince. These they presented as their offering before the Dwelling.

⁴The LORD then said to Moses,

⁵"Accept their offering, that these things may be put to use in the service of the meeting tent. Assign them to the Levites, to each group in proportion to its duties."

⁶So Moses accepted the wagons and oxen, and assigned them to the Levites.

⁷He gave two wagons and four oxen to the Gershonites in proportion to their duties,

⁸and four wagons and eight oxen to the Merarites in proportion to their duties, under the supervision of Ithamar, son of Aaron the priest.

⁹He gave none to the Kohathites, because they had to carry on their shoulders the sacred objects which were their charge.

¹⁰For the dedication of the altar also, the princes brought offerings before the altar on the day it was anointed.

¹¹But the LORD said to Moses, "Let one prince a day present his offering for the dedication of the altar."

¹²The one who presented his offering on the first day was Nahshon, son of Amminadab, prince of the tribe of Judah.

¹³His offering consisted of one silver plate weighing a hundred and thirty shekels according to the sanctuary standard and one silver basin weighing seventy shekels, both filled with fine flour mixed with oil for a cereal offering;

¹⁴one gold cup of ten shekels' weight filled with incense;

¹⁶one goat for a sin offering;

¹⁷and two oxen, five rams, five goats, and five yearling lambs for a peace offering. This was the offering of Nahshon, son of Amminadab.

¹⁸On the second day Nethanel, son of Zuar, prince of Issachar, made his offering.

¹⁹He presented as his offering one silver plate weighing a hundred and thirty shekels according to the sanctuary standard and one silver basin weighing seventy shekels, both filled with fine flour mixed with oil for a cereal offering;

²⁰one gold cup of ten shekels' weight filled with incense;

²²one goat for a sin offering;

²³and two oxen, five rams, five goats, and five yearling lambs for a peace offering. This was the offering of Nethanel, son of Zuar.

²⁴On the third day it was the turn of Eliab, son of Helon, prince of the Zebulunites.

²⁵His offering consisted of one silver plate weighing a hundred and thirty shekels according to the sanctuary standard and one silver basin weighing seventy shekels, both filled with fine flour mixed with oil for a cereal offering;

²⁶one gold cup of ten shekels' weight filled with incense;

²⁸one goat for a sin offering;

²⁹and two oxen, five rams, five goats, and five yearling lambs for a peace offering. This was the offering of Eliab, son of Helon.

³⁰On the fourth day it was the turn of Elizur, son of Shedeur, prince of the Reubenites.

³¹His offering consisted of one silver plate weighing a hundred and thirty shekels according to the sanctuary standard and one silver basin weighing seventy shekels, both filled with fine flour mixed with oil for a cereal offering;

³²one gold cup of ten shekels' weight filled with incense;

³⁴one goat for a sin offering;

³⁵and two oxen, five rams, five goats, and five yearling lambs for a peace offering. This was the offering of Elizur, son of Shedeur.

³⁶On the fifth day it was the turn of Shelumiel, son of Zurishaddai, prince of the Simeonites.

³⁷His offering consisted of one silver plate weighing a hundred and thirty shekels according to the sanctuary standard and one silver basin weighing seventy shekels, both filled with fine flour mixed with oil for a cereal offering;

³⁸one gold cup of ten shekels' weight filled with incense;

⁴⁰one goat for a sin offering;

⁴¹and two oxen, five rams, five goats, and five yearling lambs for a peace offering. This was the offering of Shelumiel, son of Zurishaddai.

⁴²On the sixth day it was the turn of Eliasaph, son of Reuel, prince of the Gadites.

⁴³His offering consisted of one silver plate weighing a hundred and thirty shekels according to the sanctuary standard and one silver basin weighing seventy shekels, both filled with fine flour mixed with oil for a cereal offering;

⁴⁴one gold cup of ten shekels' weight filled with incense;

⁴⁶one goat for a sin offering;

⁴⁷and two oxen, five rams, five goats, and five yearling lambs for a peace offering. This was the offering of Eliasaph, son of Reuel.

⁴⁸On the seventh day it was the turn of Elishama, son of Ammihud, prince of the Ephraimites.

⁴⁹His offering consisted of one silver plate weighing a hundred and thirty shekels according to the sanctuary standard and one silver basin weighing seventy shekels, both filled with fine flour mixed with oil for a cereal offering;

⁵⁰one gold cup of ten shekels' weight filled with incense;

⁵²one goat for a sin offering;

⁵³and two oxen, five rams, five goats, and five yearling lambs for a peace offering. This was the offering of Elishama, son of Ammihud.

⁵⁴On the eighth day it was the turn of Gamaliel, son of Pedahzur, prince of the Manassehites.

⁵⁵His offering consisted of one silver plate weighing a hundred and thirty shekels according to the sanctuary standard and one silver basin weighing seventy shekels, both filled with fine flour mixed with oil for a cereal offering;

⁵⁶one gold cup of ten shekels' weight filled with incense;

⁵⁸ one goat for a sin offering;

⁵⁹ and two oxen, five rams, five goats, and five yearling lambs for a peace offering. This was the offering of Gamaliel, son of Pedahzur.

⁶⁰ On the ninth day it was the turn of Abidan, son of Gideoni, prince of the Benjaminites.

⁶¹ His offering consisted of one silver plate weighing a hundred and thirty shekels according to the sanctuary standard and one silver basin weighing seventy shekels, both filled with fine flour mixed with oil for a cereal offering;

⁶⁴ one goat for a sin offering;

⁶⁵ and two oxen, five rams, five goats, and five yearling lambs for a peace offering. This was the offering of Abidan, son of Gideoni.

⁶⁶ On the tenth day it was the turn of Ahiezer, son of Ammishaddai, prince of the Danites.

⁶⁷ His offering consisted of one silver plate weighing a hundred and thirty shekels according to the sanctuary standard and one silver basin weighing seventy shekels, both filled with fine flour mixed with oil for a cereal offering;

⁷⁰ one goat for a sin offering;

⁷¹ and two oxen, five rams, five goats, and five yearling lambs for a peace offering. This was the offering of Ahiezer, son of Ammishaddai.

⁷² On the eleventh day it was the turn of Pagiel, son of Ocran, prince of the Asherites.

⁷³His offering consisted of one silver plate weighing one hundred and thirty shekels according to the sanctuary standard and one silver basin weighing seventy shekels, both filled with fine flour mixed with oil for a cereal offering;

⁷⁴one gold cup of ten shekels' weight filled with incense;

⁷⁶one goat for a sin offering;

⁷⁷and two oxen, five rams, five goats, and five yearling lambs for a peace offering. This was the offering of Pagiel, son of Ochran.

⁷⁸On the twelfth day it was the turn of Ahira, son of Enan, prince of the Naphtalites.

⁷⁹His offering consisted of one silver plate weighing a hundred and thirty shekels according to the sanctuary standard and one silver basin weighing seventy shekels, both filled with fine flour mixed with oil for a cereal offering;

⁸⁰one gold cup of ten shekels' weight filled with incense;

⁸²one goat for a sin offering;

⁸³and two oxen, five rams, five goats, and five yearling lambs for a peace offering. This was the offering of Ahira, son of Enan.

⁸⁴These were the offerings for the dedication of the altar, given by the princes of Israel on the occasion of its anointing: twelve silver plates, twelve silver basins, and twelve gold cups.

⁸⁵Each silver plate weighed a hundred and thirty shekels, and each silver basin seventy, so that all the silver of these vessels amounted to two thousand four hundred shekels, according to the sanctuary standard.

⁸⁶The twelve gold cups that were filled with incense weighed ten shekels apiece, according to the sanctuary standard, so that all the gold of the cups amounted to one hundred and twenty shekels.

⁸⁷The animals for the holocausts were, in all, twelve young bulls, twelve rams, and twelve yearling lambs, with their cereal offerings; those for the sin offerings were twelve goats.

⁸⁸The animals for the peace offerings were, in all, twenty-four oxen, sixty rams, sixty goats, and sixty yearling lambs. These, then, were the offerings for the dedication of the altar after it was anointed.

⁸⁹When Moses entered the meeting tent to speak with him, he heard the voice addressing him from above the propitiatory on the ark of the commandments, from between the two cherubim; and it spoke to him. . . .

8The LORD spoke to Moses, and said,

³Aaron did so, setting up the lamps to face toward the front of the lampstand, just as the LORD had commanded Moses.

⁴The lampstand was made of beaten gold in both its shaft and its branches, according to the pattern which the LORD had shown Moses.

⁵The LORD said to Moses:

⁶"Take the Levites from among the Israelites and purify them.

⁷This is what you shall do to them to purify them. Sprinkle them with the water of remission; then have them shave their whole bodies and wash their clothes, and so purify themselves.

⁸They shall take a young bull, along with its cereal offering of fine flour mixed with oil; you shall take another young bull for a sin offering.

⁹Then have the Levites come forward in front of the meeting tent, where you shall assemble also the whole community of the Israelites.

¹⁰While the Levites are present before the LORD, the Israelites shall lay their hands upon them.

¹¹Let Aaron then offer the Levites before the LORD as a wave offering from the Israelites, thus devoting them to the service of the LORD.

¹²The Levites in turn shall lay their hands on the heads of the bullocks, which shall then be immolated, the one as a sin offering and the other as a holocaust to the LORD, in atonement for the Levites.

¹³Thus, then, shall you have the Levites stand before Aaron and his sons, to be offered as a wave offering to the LORD;

¹⁴and thus shall you set aside the Levites from the rest of the Israelites, that they may be mine.

¹⁵"Only then shall the Levites enter upon their service in the meeting tent. You shall purify them and offer them as a wave offering;

¹⁶because they, among the Israelites, are strictly dedicated to me; I have taken them for myself in place of every first-born that opens the womb among the Israelites.

¹⁷Indeed, all the first-born among the Israelites, both of man and of beast, belong to me; I consecrated them to myself on the day I slew all the first-born in the land of Egypt.

¹⁸But in place of all the first-born Israelites I have taken the Levites;

¹⁹and I have given these dedicated Israelites to Aaron and his sons to discharge the duties of the Israelites in the meeting tent and to make atonement for them, so that no plague may strike among the Israelites should they come near the sanctuary."

²⁰Thus, then, did Moses and Aaron and the whole community of the Israelites deal with the Levites, carrying out exactly the command which the LORD had given Moses concerning them.

²¹When the Levites had cleansed themselves of sin and washed their clothes, Aaron offered them as a wave offering before the LORD, and made atonement for them to purify them.

²²Only then did they enter upon their service in the meeting tent under the supervision of Aaron and his sons. The command which the LORD had given Moses concerning the Levites was carried out.

²³The LORD said to Moses:

²⁴"This is the rule for the Levites. Each from his twenty-fifth year onward shall perform the required service in the meeting tent.

²⁵When he is fifty years old, he shall retire from the required service and work no longer.

²⁶His service with his fellow Levites shall consist in sharing their responsibilities in the meeting tent, but he shall not do the work. This, then, is how you are to regulate the duties of the Levites."

9 In the first month of the year following their departure from the land of Egypt, the Lord said to Moses in the desert of Sinai,

³The evening twilight of the fourteenth day of this month is the prescribed time when you shall celebrate it, observing all its rules and regulations."

⁴Moses, therefore, told the Israelites to celebrate the Passover.

⁵And they did so, celebrating the Passover in the desert of Sinai during the evening twilight of the fourteenth day of the first month, just as the LORD had commanded Moses.

⁶There were some, however, who were unclean because of a human corpse and so could not keep the Passover that day. These men came up to Moses and Aaron that same day

⁷and said, "Although we are unclean because of a corpse, why should we be deprived of presenting the LORD'S offering at its proper time along with the other Israelites?"

⁸Moses answered them, "Wait until I learn what the LORD will command in your regard."

⁹The LORD then said to Moses:

¹⁰"Speak to the Israelites and say: If any one of you or of your descendants is unclean because of a corpse, or if he is absent on a journey, he may still keep the LORD'S Passover.

- ¹¹But he shall keep it in the second month, during the evening twilight of the fourteenth day of that month, eating it with unleavened bread and bitter herbs,
- ¹²and not leaving any of it over till morning, nor breaking any of its bones, but observing all the rules of the Passover.
- ¹³However, anyone who is clean and not away on a journey, who yet fails to keep the Passover, shall be cut off from his people, because he did not present the LORD'S offering at the prescribed time. That man shall bear the consequences of his sin.
- ¹⁴"If an alien who lives among you wishes to keep the LORD'S Passover, he too shall observe the rules and regulations for the Passover. You shall have the same law for the resident alien as for the native of the land."
- ¹⁵On the day when the Dwelling was erected, the cloud covered the Dwelling, the tent of the commandments; but from evening until morning it took on the appearance of fire over the Dwelling.
- ¹⁶It was always so: during the day the Dwelling was covered by the cloud, which at night had the appearance of fire.
- ¹⁷Whenever the cloud rose from the tent, the Israelites would break camp; wherever the cloud came to rest, they would pitch camp.
- ¹⁸At the bidding of the LORD the Israelites moved on, and at his bidding they encamped. As long as the cloud stayed over the Dwelling, they remained in camp.
- ¹⁹Even when the cloud tarried many days over the Dwelling, the Israelites obeyed the LORD and would not move on;
- ²⁰yet sometimes the cloud was over the Dwelling only for a few days. It was at the bidding of the LORD that they stayed in camp, and it was at his bidding that they departed.
- ²¹Sometimes the cloud remained there only from evening until morning; and when it rose in the morning, they would depart. Or if the cloud lifted during the day, or even at night, they would then set out.
- ²²Whether the cloud tarried over the Dwelling for two days or for a month or longer, the Israelites remained in camp and did not depart; but when it lifted, they moved on.

²³Thus, it was always at the bidding of the LORD that they encamped, and at his bidding that they set out; ever heeding the charge of the LORD, as he had bidden them through Moses.

10 The LORD said to Moses:

²"Make two trumpets of beaten silver, which you shall use in assembling the community and in breaking camp.

³When both are blown, the whole community shall gather round you at the entrance of the meeting tent;

⁴but when one of them is blown, only the princes, the chiefs of the troops of Israel, shall gather round you.

⁵When you sound the first alarm, those encamped on the east side shall set out;

⁷But in calling forth an assembly you are to blow an ordinary blast, without sounding the alarm.

⁸"It is the sons of Aaron, the priests, who shall blow the trumpets; and the use of them is prescribed by perpetual statute for you and your descendants.

⁹When in your own land you go to war against an enemy that is attacking you, you shall sound the alarm on the trumpets, and the LORD, your God, will remember you and save you from your foes.

¹⁰On your days of celebration, your festivals, and your new-moon feasts, you shall blow the trumpets over your holocausts and your peace offerings; this will serve as a reminder of you before your God. I, the LORD, am your God."

¹¹In the second year, on the twentieth day of the second month, the cloud rose from the Dwelling of the commandments.

¹²The Israelites moved on from the desert of Sinai by stages, until the cloud came to rest in the desert of Paran.

¹³The first time that they broke camp at the bidding of the LORD through Moses,

¹⁴the camp of the Judahites, under its own standard and arranged in companies, was the first to set out. Nahshon, son of Amminadab, was over their host,

¹⁵and Nethanel, son of Zuar, over the host of the tribe of Issachar, ¹⁶and Eliab, son of Helon, over the host of the tribe of Zebulun.

¹⁷Then, after the Dwelling was dismantled, the clans of Gershon and Merari set out, carrying the Dwelling.

¹⁸The camp of the Reubenites, under its own standard and arranged in companies, was the next to set out, with Elizur, son of Shedeur, over their host,

¹⁹and Shelumiel, son of Zurishaddai, over the host of the tribe of Simeon, ²⁰and Eliasaph, son of Reuel, over the host of the tribe of Gad.

²¹The clan of Kohath then set out, carrying the sacred objects for the Dwelling, which was to be erected before their arrival.

²²The camp of the Ephraimites next set out, under its own standard and arranged in companies, with Elishama, son of Ammihud, over their host,

²³and Gamaliel, son of Pedahzur, over the host of the tribe of Manasseh, ²⁴and Abidan, son of Gideon, over the host of the tribe of Benjamin.

²⁵Finally, as rear guard for all the camps, the camp of the Danites set out, under its own standard and arranged in companies, with Ahiezer, son of Ammishaddai, over their host,

²⁶and Pagiel, son of Ochran, over the host of the tribe of Asher,

²⁷and Ahira, son of Enan, over the host of the tribe of Naphtali.

²⁸This was the order of departure for the Israelites, company by company. As they were setting out,

²⁹Moses said to his brother-in-law Hobab, son of Reuel the Midianite, "We are setting out for the place which the LORD has promised to give us. Come with us, and we will be generous toward you, for the LORD has promised prosperity to Israel."

³⁰But he answered, "No, I will not come. I am going instead to my own country and to my own kindred."

³¹Moses said, "Please, do not leave us; you know where we can camp in the desert, and you will serve as eyes for us."

³²If you come with us, we will share with you the prosperity the LORD will bestow on us."

³³They moved on from the mountain of the LORD, a three days' journey, and the ark of the covenant of the LORD which was to seek out their resting place went the three days' journey with them.

³⁴And when they set out from camp, the cloud of the LORD was over them by day.

³⁵Whenever the ark set out, Moses would say, "Arise, O LORD, that your enemies may be scattered, and those who hate you may flee before you."

³⁶And when it came to rest, he would say, "Return, O LORD, you who ride upon the clouds, to the troops of Israel."

11 Now the people complained in the hearing of the LORD; and when he heard it his wrath flared up so that the fire of the LORD burned among them and consumed the outskirts of the camp.

²But when the people cried out to Moses, he prayed to the LORD and the fire died out.

³Hence that place was called Taberah, because there the fire of the LORD burned among them.

⁴The foreign elements among them were so greedy for meat that even the Israelites lamented again, "Would that we had meat for food!"

⁵We remember the fish we used to eat without cost in Egypt, and the cucumbers, the melons, the leeks, the onions, and the garlic.

⁶But now we are famished; we see nothing before us but this manna."

⁷Manna was like coriander seed and had the appearance of bdellium.

⁸When they had gone about and gathered it up, the people would grind it between millstones or pound it in a mortar, then cook it in a pot and make it into loaves, which tasted like cakes made with oil.

⁹At night, when the dew fell upon the camp, the manna also fell.

¹⁰When Moses heard the people, family after family, crying at the entrance of their tents, so that the LORD became very angry, he was grieved.

¹¹"Why do you treat your servant so badly?" Moses asked the LORD. "Why are you so displeased with me that you burden me with all this people?"

¹²Was it I who conceived all this people? or was it I who gave them birth, that you tell me to carry them at my bosom, like a foster father carrying an infant, to the land you have promised under oath to their fathers?"

¹³Where can I get meat to give to all this people? For they are crying to me, 'Give us meat for our food.'

¹⁴I cannot carry all this people by myself, for they are too heavy for me.

¹⁵If this is the way you will deal with me, then please do me the favor of killing me at once, so that I need no longer face this distress."

¹⁶Then the LORD said to Moses, "Assemble for me seventy of the elders of Israel, men you know for true elders and authorities among the people, and bring them to the meeting tent. When they are in place beside you, ¹⁷I will come down and speak with you there. I will also take some of the spirit that is on you and will bestow it on them, that they may share the burden of the people with you. You will then not have to bear it by yourself.

¹⁸"To the people, however, you shall say: Sanctify yourselves for tomorrow, when you shall have meat to eat. For in the hearing of the LORD you have cried, 'Would that we had meat for food! Oh, how well off we were in Egypt!' Therefore the LORD will give you meat for food,

¹⁹and you will eat it, not for one day, or two days, or five, or ten, or twenty days,

²⁰but for a whole month-until it comes out of your very nostrils and becomes loathsome to you. For you have spurned the LORD who is in your midst, and in his presence you have wailed, "Why did we ever leave Egypt?"

²¹But Moses said, "The people around me include six hundred thousand soldiers; yet you say, 'I will give them meat to eat for a whole month.'

²²Can enough sheep and cattle be slaughtered for them? If all the fish of the sea were caught for them, would they have enough?"

²³The LORD answered Moses, "Is this beyond the LORD'S reach? You shall see now whether or not what I have promised you takes place."

²⁴So Moses went out and told the people what the LORD had said. Gathering seventy elders of the people, he had them stand around the tent.

²⁵The LORD then came down in the cloud and spoke to him. Taking some of the spirit that was on Moses, he bestowed it on the seventy elders; and as the spirit came to rest on them, they prophesied.

²⁶Now two men, one named Eldad and the other Medad, were not in the gathering but had been left in the camp. They too had been on the list, but had not gone out to the tent; yet the spirit came to rest on them also, and they prophesied in the camp.

²⁷So, when a young man quickly told Moses, "Eldad and Medad are prophesying in the camp,"

²⁸Joshua, son of Nun, who from his youth had been Moses' aide, said, "Moses, my lord, stop them."

²⁹But Moses answered him, "Are you jealous for my sake? Would that all the people of the LORD were prophets! Would that the LORD might bestow his spirit on them all!"

³⁰Then Moses retired to the camp, along with the elders of Israel.

³¹There arose a wind sent by the LORD, that drove in quail from the sea and brought them down over the camp site at a height of two cubits from the ground for the distance of a day's journey all around the camp.

³²All that day, all night, and all the next day the people gathered in the quail. Even the one who got the least gathered ten homers of them. Then they spread them out all around the camp.

³³But while the meat was still between their teeth, before it could be consumed, the LORD'S wrath flared up against the people, and he struck them with a very great plague.

³⁴So that place was named Kibroth-hattaavah, because it was there that the greedy people were buried.

³⁵From Kibroth-hattaavah the people set out for Hazeroth.

12 While they were in Hazeroth, Miriam and Aaron spoke against Moses on the pretext of the marriage he had contracted with a Cushite woman.

²They complained, "Is it through Moses alone that the LORD speaks? Does he not speak through us also?" And the LORD heard this.

³Now, Moses himself was by far the meekest man on the face of the earth.

⁴So at once the LORD said to Moses and Aaron and Miriam, "Come out, you three, to the meeting tent." And the three of them went.

⁵Then the LORD came down in the column of cloud, and standing at the entrance of the tent, called Aaron and Miriam. When both came forward,

⁶he said, "Now listen to the words of the LORD: Should there be a prophet among you, in visions will I reveal myself to him, in dreams will I speak to him;

⁷Not so with my servant Moses! Throughout my house he bears my trust:

⁸face to face I speak to him, plainly and not in riddles. The presence of the LORD he beholds. Why, then, did you not fear to speak against my servant Moses?"

⁹So angry was the LORD against them that when he departed,

¹⁰and the cloud withdrew from the tent, there was Miriam, a snow-white leper! When Aaron turned and saw her a leper,

¹¹"Ah, my lord!" he said to Moses, "please do not charge us with the sin that we have foolishly committed!"

¹²Let her not thus be like the stillborn babe that comes forth from its mother's womb with its flesh half consumed."

¹³Then Moses cried to the LORD, "Please, not this! Pray, heal her!"

¹⁴But the LORD answered Moses, "Suppose her father had spit in her face, would she not hide in shame for seven days? Let her be confined outside the camp for seven days; only then may she be brought back."

¹⁵So Miriam was confined outside the camp for seven days, and the people did not start out again until she was brought back.

¹⁶After that the people set out from Hazeroth and encamped in the desert of Paran.

13

The LORD said to Moses,

²"Send men to reconnoiter the land of Canaan, which I am giving to the Israelites. You shall send one man from each ancestral tribe, all of them princes."

³So Moses dispatched them from the desert of Paran, as the LORD had ordered. All of them were leaders among the Israelites;

⁴by name they were: Shammua, son of Zaccur, of the tribe of Reuben;

⁵Shaphat, son of Hori, of the tribe of Simeon;

⁶Caleb, son of Jephunneh, of the tribe of Judah;

⁷Igal (son of Joseph), of the tribe of Issachar;

⁸Hoshea, son of Nun, of the tribe of Ephraim;

⁹Palti, son of Raphu, of the tribe of Benjamin;

¹⁰Gaddiel, son of Sodi, of the tribe of Zebulun;

¹¹Gaddi, son of Susi, of the tribe of Manasseh, for the Josephites, with

¹²Ammiel, son of Gemalli, of the tribe of Dan;

¹³Sethur, son of Michael, of the tribe of Asher;

¹⁴Nahbi, son of Vophsi, of the tribe of Naphtali;

¹⁵Geuel, son of Machi, of the tribe of Gad.

¹⁶These are the names of the men whom Moses sent out to reconnoiter the land. But Hoshea, son of Nun, Moses called Joshua.

¹⁷In sending them to reconnoiter the land of Canaan, Moses said to them, "Go up here in the Negeb, up into the highlands, ¹⁸and see what kind of land it is. Are the people living there strong or weak, few or many?

¹⁹Is the country in which they live good or bad? Are the towns in which they dwell open or fortified?

²⁰Is the soil fertile or barren, wooded or clear? And do your best to get some of the fruit of the land." It was then the season for early grapes.

²¹So they went up and reconnoitered the land from the desert of Zin as far as where Rehob adjoins Labo of Hamath.

²²Going up by way of the Negeb, they reached Hebron, where Ahiman, Sheshai and Talmai, descendants of the Anakim, were living. (Hebron had been built seven years before Zoan in Egypt.)

²³They also reached the Wadi Eshcol, where they cut down a branch with a single cluster of grapes on it, which two of them carried on a pole, as well as some pomegranates and figs.

²⁴It was because of the cluster the Israelites cut there that they called the place Wadi Eshcol.

²⁵After reconnoitering the land for forty days they returned,

²⁶met Moses and Aaron and the whole community of the Israelites in the desert of Paran at Kadesh, made a report to them all, and showed them the fruit of the country.

²⁷They told Moses: "We went into the land to which you sent us. It does indeed flow with milk and honey, and here is its fruit.

²⁸However, the people who are living in the land are fierce, and the towns are fortified and very strong. Besides, we saw descendants of the Anakim there.

²⁹Amalekites live in the region of the Negeb; Hittites, Jebusites and Amorites dwell in the highlands, and Canaanites along the seacoast and the banks of the Jordan."

³⁰Caleb, however, to quiet the people toward Moses, said, "We ought to go up and seize the land, for we can certainly do so."

³¹But the men who had gone up with him said, "We cannot attack these people; they are too strong for us."

³²So they spread discouraging reports among the Israelites about the land they had scouted, saying, "The land that we explored is a country that consumes its inhabitants. And all the people we saw there are huge men, ³³veritable giants (the Anakim were a race of giants); we felt like mere grasshoppers, and so we must have seemed to them."

14At this, the whole community broke out with loud cries, and even in the night the people wailed.

²All the Israelites grumbled against Moses and Aaron, the whole community saying to them, "Would that we had died in the land of Egypt, or that here in the desert we were dead!

³Why is the LORD bringing us into this land only to have us fall by the sword? Our wives and little ones will be taken as booty. Would it not be better for us to return to Egypt?"

⁴So they said to one another, "Let us appoint a leader and go back to Egypt."

⁵But Moses and Aaron fell prostrate before the whole assembled community of the Israelites;

⁶while Joshua, son of Nun, and Caleb, son of Jephunneh, who had been in the party that scouted the land, tore their garments

⁷and said to the whole community of the Israelites, "The country which we went through and explored is a fine, rich land.

⁸If the LORD is pleased with us, he will bring us in and give us that land, a land flowing with milk and honey.

⁹But do not rebel against the LORD! You need not be afraid of the people of that land; they are but food for us! Their defense has left them, but the LORD is with us. Therefore, do not be afraid of them."

¹⁰In answer, the whole community threatened to stone them. But then the glory of the LORD appeared at the meeting tent to all the Israelites.

¹¹And the LORD said to Moses, "How long will this people spurn me? How long will they refuse to believe in me, despite all the signs I have performed among them?"

¹²I will strike them with pestilence and wipe them out. Then I will make of you a nation greater and mightier than they."

¹³But Moses said to the LORD: "Are the Egyptians to hear of this? For by your power you brought out this people from among them.

¹⁴And are they to tell of it to the inhabitants of this land? It has been heard that you, O LORD, are in the midst of this people; you, LORD, who plainly reveal yourself! Your cloud stands over them, and you go before them by day in a column of cloud and by night in a column of fire.

¹⁵If now you slay this whole people, the nations who have heard such reports of you will say,

¹⁶'The LORD was not able to bring this people into the land he swore to give them; that is why he slaughtered them in the desert.'

¹⁷Now then, let the power of my Lord be displayed in its greatness, even as you have said,

¹⁸'The LORD is slow to anger and rich in kindness, forgiving wickedness and crime; yet not declaring the guilty guiltless, but punishing children to the third and fourth generation for their fathers' wickedness.'

¹⁹Pardon, then, the wickedness of this people in keeping with your great kindness, even as you have forgiven them from Egypt until now."

²⁰The LORD answered: "I pardon them as you have asked.

²¹Yet, by my life and the LORD'S glory that fills the whole earth,

²²of all the men who have seen my glory and the signs I worked in Egypt and in the desert, and who nevertheless have put me to the test ten times already and have failed to heed my voice,

²³not one shall see the land which I promised on oath to their fathers. None of these who have spurned me shall see it.

²⁴But because my servant Caleb has a different spirit and follows me unreservedly, I will bring him into the land where he has just been, and his descendants shall possess it.

²⁵But now, since the Amalekites and Canaanites are living in the valleys, turn away tomorrow and set out in the desert on the Red Sea road."

²⁶The LORD also said to Moses and Aaron:

²⁷"How long will this wicked community grumble against me? I have heard the grumbings of the Israelites against me.

²⁸Tell them: By my life, says the LORD, I will do to you just what I have heard you say.

²⁹Here in the desert shall your dead bodies fall. Of all your men of twenty years or more, registered in the census, who grumbled against me,

³⁰not one shall enter the land where I solemnly swore to settle you, except Caleb, son of Jephunneh, and Joshua, son of Nun.

³¹Your little ones, however, who you said would be taken as booty, I will bring in, and they shall appreciate the land you spurned.

³²But as for you, your bodies shall fall here in the desert,

³³here where your children must wander for forty years, suffering for your faithlessness, till the last of you lies dead in the desert.

³⁴Forty days you spent in scouting the land; forty years shall you suffer for your crimes: one year for each day. Thus you will realize what it means to oppose me.

³⁵I, the LORD, have sworn to do this to all this wicked community that conspired against me: here in the desert they shall die to the last man."

³⁶And so it happened to the men whom Moses had sent to reconnoiter the land and who on returning had set the whole community grumbling against him by spreading discouraging reports about the land;

³⁷these men who had given out the bad report about the land were struck down by the LORD and died.

³⁸Of all the men who had gone to reconnoiter the land, only Joshua, son of Nun, and Caleb, son of Jephunneh, survived.

³⁹When Moses repeated these words to all the Israelites, the people felt great remorse.

⁴⁰Early the next morning they started up into the foothills, saying, "Here we are, ready to go up to the place that the LORD spoke of: for we were indeed doing wrong."

⁴¹But Moses said, "Why are you again disobeying the LORD'S orders? This cannot succeed.

⁴²Do not go up, because the LORD is not in your midst; if you go, you will be beaten down before your enemies.

⁴³For there the Amalekites and Canaanites face you, and you will fall by the sword. You have turned back from following the LORD; therefore the LORD will not be with you."

⁴⁴Yet they dared to go up into the foothills, even though neither the ark of the covenant of the LORD nor Moses left the camp.

⁴⁵And the Amalekites and Canaanites who dwelt in that hill country came down and defeated them, beating them back as far as Hormah.

15 The LORD said to Moses,

²"Give the Israelites these instructions: When you have entered the land that I will give you for your homesteads,

³if you make to the LORD a sweet-smelling oblation from the herd or from the flock, in holocaust, in fulfillment of a vow, or as a freewill offering, or for one of your festivals,

⁴whoever does so shall also present to the LORD a cereal offering consisting of a tenth of an ephah of fine flour mixed with a fourth of a hin of oil,

⁵as well as a libation of a fourth of a hin of wine, with each lamb sacrificed in holocaust or otherwise.

⁶With each sacrifice of a ram you shall present a cereal offering of two tenths of an ephah of fine flour mixed with a third of a hin of oil,

⁷and a libation of a third of a hin of wine, thus making a sweet-smelling offering to the LORD.

⁸When you sacrifice an ox as a holocaust, or in fulfillment of a vow, or as a peace offering to the LORD,

⁹with it you shall present a cereal offering of three tenths of an ephah of fine flour mixed with half a hin of oil,

¹⁰and a libation of half a hin of wine, as a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD.

¹¹The same is to be done for each ox, ram, lamb or goat.

¹²Whatever the number you offer, do the same for each of them.

¹³"All the native-born shall make these offerings in the same way, whenever they present a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD.

¹⁴Likewise, in any future generation, any alien residing with you permanently or for a time, who presents a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD, shall do as you do.

¹⁵There is but one rule for you and for the resident alien, a perpetual rule for all your descendants. Before the LORD you and the alien are alike,

¹⁶with the same law and the same application of it for the alien residing among you as for yourselves."

¹⁷The LORD said to Moses,

¹⁸"Speak to the Israelites and tell them: When you enter the land into which I will bring you

¹⁹and begin to eat of the food of that land, you shall offer the LORD a contribution

²⁰consisting of a cake of your first batch of dough. You shall offer it just as you offer a contribution from the threshing floor.

²¹Throughout your generations you shall give a contribution to the LORD from your first batch of dough.

²²"When through inadvertence you fail to carry out any of these commandments which the LORD gives to Moses,

²³and through Moses to you, from the time the LORD first issues the commandment down through your generations:

²⁴if the community itself unwittingly becomes guilty of the fault of inadvertence, the whole community shall offer the holocaust of one young bull as a sweet-smelling oblation pleasing to the LORD, along with its prescribed cereal offering and libation, as well as one he-goat as a sin offering.

²⁵Then the priest shall make atonement for the whole Israelite community; thus they will be forgiven the inadvertence for which they have brought their holocaust as an oblation to the LORD.

²⁶Not only the whole Israelite community, but also the aliens residing among you, shall be forgiven, since the fault of inadvertence affects all the people.

²⁷"However, if it is an individual who sins inadvertently, he shall bring a yearling she-goat as a sin offering,

²⁸and the priest shall make atonement before the LORD for him who sinned inadvertently; when atonement has been made for him, he will be forgiven.

²⁹You shall have but one law for him who sins inadvertently, whether he be a native Israelite or an alien residing with you.

³⁰"But anyone who sins defiantly, whether he be a native or an alien, insults the LORD, and shall be cut off from among his people.

³¹Since he has despised the word of the LORD and has broken his commandment, he must be cut off. He has only himself to blame."

³²While the Israelites were in the desert, a man was discovered gathering wood on the sabbath day.

³³Those who caught him at it brought him to Moses and Aaron and the whole assembly.

³⁴But they kept him in custody, for there was no clear decision as to what should be done with him.

³⁵Then the LORD said to Moses, "This man shall be put to death; let the whole community stone him outside the camp."

³⁶So the whole community led him outside the camp and stoned him to death, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

³⁷The LORD said to Moses,

³⁸"Speak to the Israelites and tell them that they and their descendants must put tassels on the corners of their garments, fastening each corner tassel with a violet cord.

³⁹When you use these tassels, let the sight of them remind you to keep all the commandments of the LORD, without going wantonly astray after the desires of your hearts and eyes.

⁴⁰Thus you will remember to keep all my commandments and be holy to your God.

⁴¹I, the LORD, am your God who, as God, brought you out of Egypt that I, the LORD, may be your God."

16 Korah, son of Izhar, son of Kohath, son of Levi, (and Dathan and Abiram, sons of Eliab, son of Pallu, son of Reuben) took

²two hundred and fifty Israelites who were leaders in the community, members of the council and men of note. They stood before Moses,

³and held an assembly against Moses and Aaron, to whom they said, "Enough from you! The whole community, all of them, are holy; the LORD is in their midst. Why then should you set yourselves over the LORD'S congregation?"

⁴When Moses heard this, he fell prostrate.

⁵Then he said to Korah and to all his band, "May the LORD make known tomorrow morning who belongs to him and who is the holy one and whom he will have draw near to him! Whom he chooses, he will have draw near him.

⁶Do this: take your censers (Korah and all his band)

⁷and put fire in them and place incense in them before the LORD tomorrow. He whom the LORD then chooses is the holy one. Enough from you Levites!"

⁸Moses also said to Korah, "Listen to me, you Levites!

⁹Is it too little for you that the God of Israel has singled you out from the community of Israel, to have you draw near him for the service of the LORD'S Dwelling and to stand before the community to minister for them?

¹⁰He has allowed you and your kinsmen, the descendants of Levi, to approach him, and yet you now seek the priesthood too.

¹¹It is therefore against the LORD that you and all your band are conspiring. For what has Aaron done that you should grumble against him?"

¹²Moses summoned Dathan and Abiram, sons of Eliab, but they answered, "We will not go.

¹³Are you not satisfied with having led us here away from a land flowing with milk and honey, to make us perish in the desert, that you must now lord it over us?

¹⁴Far from bringing us to a land flowing with milk and honey, or giving us fields and vineyards for our inheritance, will you also gouge out our eyes? No, we will not go."

¹⁵Then Moses became very angry and said to the LORD, "Pay no heed to their offering. I have never taken a single ass from them, nor have I wronged any one of them."

¹⁶Moses said to Korah, "You and all your band shall appear before the LORD tomorrow-you and they and Aaron too.

¹⁷Then each of your two hundred and fifty followers shall take his own censer, put incense in it, and offer it to the LORD; and you and Aaron, each with his own censer, shall do the same."

¹⁸So they all took their censers, and laying incense on the fire they had put in them, they took their stand by the entrance of the meeting tent along with Moses and Aaron.

¹⁹Then, when Korah had assembled all his band against them at the entrance of the meeting tent, the glory of the LORD appeared to the entire community,

²⁰and the LORD said to Moses and Aaron,

²¹"Stand apart from this band, that I may consume them at once."

²²But they fell prostrate and cried out, "O God, God of the spirits of all mankind, will one man's sin make you angry with the whole community?"

²³The LORD answered Moses,

²⁴"Speak to the community and tell them: Withdraw from the space around the Dwelling" (of Korah, Dathan and Abiram).

²⁵Moses, followed by the elders of Israel, arose and went to Dathan and Abiram.

²⁶Then he warned the community, "Keep away from the tents of these wicked men and do not touch anything that is theirs: otherwise you too will be swept away because of all their sins."

²⁷When Dathan and Abiram had come out and were standing at the entrances of their tents with their wives and sons and little ones,

²⁸Moses said, "This is how you shall know that it was the LORD who sent me to do all I have done, and that it was not I who planned it:

²⁹if these men die an ordinary death, merely suffering the fate common to all mankind, then it was not the LORD who sent me.

³⁰But if the LORD does something entirely new, and the ground opens its mouth and swallows them alive down into the nether world, with all belonging to them, then you will know that these men have defied the LORD."

³¹No sooner had he finished saying all this than the ground beneath them split open,

³²and the earth opened its mouth and swallowed them and their families (and all of Korah's men) and all their possessions.

³³They went down alive to the nether world with all belonging to them; the earth closed over them, and they perished from the community.

³⁴But all the Israelites near them fled at their shrieks, saying, "The earth might swallow us too!"

³⁵So they withdrew from the space around the Dwelling (of Korah, Dathan and Abiram). And fire from the LORD came forth which consumed the two hundred and fifty men who were offering the incense.

17 The LORD said to Moses,

²"Tell Eleazar, son of Aaron the priest, to remove the censers from the embers; and scatter the fire some distance away,

³for these sinners have consecrated the censers at the cost of their lives. Have them hammered into plates to cover the altar, because in being presented before the LORD they have become sacred. In this way they shall serve as a sign to the Israelites."

⁴So Eleazar the priest had the bronze censers of those burned during the offering hammered into a covering for the altar,

⁵in keeping with the orders which the LORD had given him through Moses. This cover was to be a reminder to the Israelites that no layman, no one who was not a descendant of Aaron, should approach the altar to offer incense before the LORD, lest he meet the fate of Korah and his band.

⁶The next day the whole Israelite community grumbled against Moses and Aaron, saying, "It is you who have slain the LORD'S people."

⁷But while the community was deliberating against them, Moses and Aaron turned toward the meeting tent, and the cloud now covered it and the glory of the LORD appeared.

⁸Then Moses and Aaron came to the front of the meeting tent,

⁹and the LORD said to Moses and Aaron,

¹⁰"Depart from this community, that I may consume them at once." But they fell prostrate.

¹¹Then Moses said to Aaron, "Take your censer, put fire from the altar in it, lay incense on it, and bring it quickly to the community to make atonement for them; for wrath has come forth from the LORD and the blow is falling."

¹²Obedying the orders of Moses, Aaron took his censer and ran in among the community, where the blow was already falling on the people. Then, as he offered the incense and made atonement for the people, ¹³standing there between the living and the dead, the scourge was checked.

¹⁴Yet fourteen thousand seven hundred died from the scourge, in addition to those who died because of Korah.

¹⁵When the scourge had been checked, Aaron returned to Moses at the entrance of the meeting tent.

¹⁶The LORD now said to Moses,

¹⁷"Speak to the Israelites and get one staff from them for each ancestral house, twelve staffs in all, one from each of their tribal princes. Mark each man's name on his staff;

¹⁸and mark Aaron's name on Levi's staff, for the head of Levi's ancestral house shall also have a staff.

¹⁹Then lay them down in the meeting tent, in front of the commandments, where I meet you.

²⁰There the staff of the man of my choice shall sprout. Thus will I suppress from my presence the Israelites' grumbling against you."

²¹So Moses spoke to the Israelites, and their princes gave him staffs, twelve in all, one from each tribal prince; and Aaron's staff was with them.

²²Then Moses laid the staffs down before the LORD in the tent of the commandments.

²³The next day, when Moses entered the tent, Aaron's staff, representing the house of Levi, had sprouted and put forth not only shoots, but blossoms as well, and even bore ripe almonds!

²⁴Moses thereupon brought out all the staffs from the LORD'S presence to the Israelites. After each prince identified his own staff and took it,

²⁵the LORD said to Moses, "Put back Aaron's staff in front of the commandments, to be kept there as a warning to the rebellious, so that their grumbling may cease before me; if it does not, they will die."

²⁶And Moses did as the LORD had commanded him.

²⁷Then the Israelites cried out to Moses, "We are perishing; we are lost, we are all lost!

²⁸Every time anyone approaches the Dwelling of the LORD, he dies! Are we to perish to the last man?"

18The LORD said to Aaron, "You and your sons as well as the other members of your ancestral house shall be responsible for the sanctuary; but the responsibility of the priesthood shall rest on you and your sons alone.

²Bring with you also your other kinsmen of the tribe of Levi, your ancestral tribe, as your associates and assistants, while you and your sons are in front of the tent of the commandments.

³They shall look after your persons and the whole tent; however, they shall not come near the sacred vessels or the altar, lest both they and you die.

⁴As your associates they shall have charge of all the work connected with the meeting tent. But no layman shall come near you.

⁵You shall have charge of the sanctuary and of the altar, that wrath may not fall again upon the Israelites.

⁶"Remember, it is I who have taken your kinsmen, the Levites, from the body of the Israelites; they are a gift to you, dedicated to the LORD for the service of the meeting tent.

⁷But only you and your sons are to have charge of performing the priestly functions in whatever concerns the altar and the room within the veil. I give you the priesthood as a gift. Any layman who draws near shall be put to death."

⁸The LORD said to Aaron, "I myself have given you charge of the contributions made to me in the various sacred offerings of the Israelites; by perpetual ordinance I have assigned them to you and to your sons as your priestly share.

⁹You shall have the right to share in the oblations that are most sacred, in whatever they offer me as cereal offerings or sin offerings or guilt offerings; these shares shall accrue to you and to your sons.

¹⁰In eating them you shall treat them as most sacred; every male among you may partake of them. As sacred, they belong to you.

¹¹"You shall also have what is removed from the gift in every wave offering of the Israelites; by perpetual ordinance I have assigned it to you and to your sons and daughters. All in your family who are clean may partake of it.

¹²I have also assigned to you all the best of the new oil and of the new wine and grain that they give to the LORD as their first fruits;

¹³and likewise, of whatever grows on their land, the first products that they bring in to the LORD shall be yours; all of your family who are clean may partake of them.

¹⁴Whatever is doomed in Israel shall be yours.

¹⁵Every living thing that opens the womb, whether of man or of beast, such as are to be offered to the LORD, shall be yours; but you must let the first-born of man, as well as of unclean animals, be redeemed.

¹⁶The ransom for a boy is to be paid when he is a month old; it is fixed at five silver shekels according to the sanctuary standard, twenty gerahs to the shekel.

¹⁷But the first-born of cattle, sheep or goats shall not be redeemed; they are sacred. Their blood you must splash on the altar and their fat you must burn as a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD.

¹⁸Their meat, however, shall be yours, just as the breast and the right leg of the wave offering belong to you.

¹⁹By perpetual ordinance I have assigned to you and to your sons and daughters all the contributions from the sacred gifts which the Israelites make to the LORD; this is an inviolable covenant to last forever before the LORD, for you and for your descendants."

²⁰Then the LORD said to Aaron, "You shall not have any heritage in the land of the Israelites nor hold any portion among them; I will be your portion and your heritage among them.

²¹"To the Levites, however, I hereby assign all tithes in Israel as their heritage in recompense for the service they perform in the meeting tent.

²²The Israelites may no longer approach the meeting tent; else they will incur guilt deserving death.

²³Only the Levites are to perform the service of the meeting tent, and they alone shall be held responsible; this is a perpetual ordinance for all your generations. The Levites, therefore, shall not have any heritage among the Israelites,

²⁴for I have assigned to them as their heritage the tithes which the Israelites give as a contribution to the LORD. That is why I have ordered that they are not to have any heritage among the Israelites."

²⁵The LORD said to Moses,

²⁶"Give the Levites these instructions: When you receive from the Israelites the tithes I have assigned you from them as your heritage, you are to make a contribution from them to the LORD, a tithe of the tithes;

²⁷and your contribution will be credited to you as if it were grain from the threshing floor or new wine from the press.

²⁸Thus you too shall make a contribution from all the tithes you receive from the Israelites, handing over to Aaron the priest the part to be contributed to the LORD.

²⁹From all the gifts that you receive, and from the best parts, you are to consecrate to the LORD your own full contribution.

³⁰"Tell them also: Once you have made your contribution from the best part, the rest of the tithes will be credited to you Levites as if it were produce of the threshing floor or of the winepress.

³¹Your families, as well as you, may eat them anywhere, since they are your recompense for service at the meeting tent.

³²You will incur no guilt so long as you make a contribution of the best part. Do not profane the sacred gifts of the Israelites and so bring death on yourselves."

19

The LORD said to Moses and Aaron:

²"This is the regulation which the law of the LORD prescribes. Tell the Israelites to procure for you a red heifer that is free from every blemish and defect and on which no yoke has ever been laid.

³This is to be given to Eleazar the priest, to be led outside the camp and slaughtered in his presence.

⁴Eleazar the priest shall take some of its blood on his finger and sprinkle it seven times toward the front of the meeting tent.

⁵Then the heifer shall be burned in his sight, with its hide and flesh, its blood and offal;

⁶and the priest shall take some cedar wood, hyssop and scarlet yarn and throw them into the fire in which the heifer is being burned.

⁷The priest shall then wash his garments and bathe his body in water. He remains unclean until the evening, and only afterward may he return to the camp.

⁸Likewise, he who burned the heifer shall wash his garments, bathe his body in water, and be unclean until evening.

⁹Finally, a man who is clean shall gather up the ashes of the heifer and deposit them in a clean place outside the camp. There they are to be kept for preparing lustral water for the Israelite community. The heifer is a sin offering.

¹⁰He who has gathered up the ashes of the heifer shall also wash his garments and be unclean until evening. This is a perpetual ordinance, both for the Israelites and for the aliens residing among them.

¹¹"Whoever touches the dead body of any human being shall be unclean for seven days;

¹²he shall purify himself with the water on the third and on the seventh day, and then he will be clean again. But if he fails to purify himself on the third and on the seventh day, he will not become clean.

¹³Everyone who fails to purify himself after touching the body of any deceased person, defiles the Dwelling of the LORD and shall be cut off from Israel. Since the lustral water has not been splashed over him, he remains unclean: his uncleanness still clings to him.

¹⁴"This is the law: When a man dies in a tent, everyone who enters the tent, as well as everyone already in it, shall be unclean for seven days;

¹⁵likewise, every vessel that is open, or with its lid unfastened, shall be unclean.

¹⁶Moreover, everyone who in the open country touches a dead person, whether he was slain by the sword or died naturally, or who touches a human bone or a grave, shall be unclean for seven days.

¹⁷For anyone who is thus unclean, ashes from the sin offering shall be put in a vessel, and spring water shall be poured on them.

¹⁸Then a man who is clean shall take some hyssop, dip it in this water, and sprinkle it on the tent and on all the vessels and persons that were in it, or on him who touched a bone, a slain person or other dead body, or a grave.

¹⁹The clean man shall sprinkle the unclean on the third and on the seventh day; thus purified on the seventh day, he shall wash his garments and bathe his body in water, and in the evening he will be clean again.

²⁰Any unclean man who fails to have himself purified shall be cut off from the community, because he defiles the sanctuary of the LORD. As long as the lustral water has not been splashed over him, he remains unclean.

²¹This shall be a perpetual ordinance for you. "One who sprinkles the lustral water shall wash his garments, and anyone who comes in contact with this water shall be unclean until evening.

²²Moreover, whatever the unclean person touches becomes unclean itself, and anyone who touches it becomes unclean until evening."

20 The whole Israelite community arrived in the desert of Zin in the first month, and the people settled at Kadesh. It was here that Miriam died, and here that she was buried.

²As the community had no water, they held a council against Moses and Aaron.

³The people contended with Moses, exclaiming, "Would that we too had perished with our kinsmen in the LORD'S presence!

⁴Why have you brought the LORD'S community into this desert where we and our livestock are dying?

⁵Why did you lead us out of Egypt, only to bring us to this wretched place which has neither grain nor figs nor vines nor pomegranates? Here there is not even water to drink!"

⁶But Moses and Aaron went away from the assembly to the entrance of the meeting tent, where they fell prostrate. Then the glory of the LORD appeared to them,

⁷and the LORD said to Moses,

⁸"Take the staff and assemble the community, you and your brother Aaron, and in their presence order the rock to yield its waters. From the rock you shall bring forth water for the community and their livestock to drink."

¹⁰He and Aaron assembled the community in front of the rock, where he said to them, "Listen to me, you rebels! Are we to bring water for you out of this rock?"

¹¹Then, raising his hand, Moses struck the rock twice with his staff, and water gushed out in abundance for the community and their livestock to drink.

¹²But the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, "Because you were not faithful to me in showing forth my sanctity before the Israelites, you shall not lead this community into the land I will give them."

¹³These are the waters of Meribah, where the Israelites contended against the LORD, and where he revealed his sanctity among them.

¹⁴From Kadesh Moses sent men to the king of Edom with the message: "Your brother Israel has this to say: You know of all the hardships that have befallen us,

¹⁵how our fathers went down to Egypt, where we stayed a long time, how the Egyptians maltreated us and our fathers,

¹⁶and how, when we cried to the LORD, he heard our cry and sent an angel who led us out of Egypt. Now here we are at the town of Kadesh at the edge of your territory.

¹⁷Kindly let us pass through your country. We will not cross any fields or vineyards, nor drink any well water, but we will go straight along the royal road without turning to the right or to the left, until we have passed through your territory."

¹⁸But Edom answered him, "You shall not pass through here; if you do, I will advance against you with the sword."

¹⁹The Israelites insisted, "We want only to go up along the highway. If we or our livestock drink any of your water, we will pay for it. Surely there is no harm in merely letting us march through."

²⁰But Edom still said, "No, you shall not pass through," and advanced against them with a large and heavily armed force.

²¹Therefore, since Edom refused to let them pass through their territory, Israel detoured around them.

²³There at Mount Hor, on the border of the land of Edom, the LORD said to Moses and Aaron,

²⁴"Aaron is about to be taken to his people; he shall not enter the land I am giving to the Israelites, because you both rebelled against my commandment at the waters of Meribah.

²⁵Take Aaron and his son Eleazar and bring them up on Mount Hor.

²⁶Then strip Aaron of his garments and put them on his son Eleazar; for there Aaron shall be taken in death."

²⁷Moses did as the LORD commanded. When they had climbed Mount Hor in view of the whole community,

²⁸Moses stripped Aaron of his garments and put them on his son Eleazar. Then Aaron died there on top of the mountain. When Moses and Eleazar came down from the mountain, ²⁹all the community understood that Aaron had passed away; and for thirty days the whole house of Israel mourned him.

21 When the Canaanite king of Arad, who lived in the Negeb, heard that the Israelites were coming along the way of Atharim, he engaged them in battle and took some of them captive.

² Israel then made this vow to the LORD: "If you deliver this people into my hand, I will doom their cities."

⁴ From Mount Hor they set out on the Red Sea road, to by-pass the land of Edom. But with their patience worn out by the journey,

⁵ the people complained against God and Moses, "Why have you brought us up from Egypt to die in this desert, where there is no food or water? We are disgusted with this wretched food!"

⁶ In punishment the LORD sent among the people saraph serpents, which bit the people so that many of them died.

⁷ Then the people came to Moses and said, "We have sinned in complaining against the LORD and you. Pray the LORD to take the serpents from us." So Moses prayed for the people,

⁸ and the LORD said to Moses, "Make a saraph and mount it on a pole, and if anyone who has been bitten looks at it, he will recover."

⁹ Moses accordingly made a bronze serpent and mounted it on a pole, and whenever anyone who had been bitten by a serpent looked at the bronze serpent, he recovered.

¹⁰ The Israelites moved on and encamped in Oboth.

¹¹ Setting out from Oboth, they encamped in Iye-abarim in the desert fronting Moab on the east.

¹² Setting out from there, they encamped in the Wadi Zered.

¹³ Setting out from there, they encamped on the other side of the Arnon, in the desert that extends from the territory of the Amorites; for the Arnon forms Moab's boundary with the Amorites.

¹⁴Hence it is said in the "Book of the Wars of the LORD": "Waheb in Suphah and the wadies, ¹⁵Arnon and the wadi gorges That reach back toward the site of Ar and slant to the border of Moab."

¹⁶From there they went to Beer, where there was the well of which the LORD said to Moses, "Bring the people together, and I will give them water."

¹⁷Then it was that Israel sang this song: "Spring up, O well!--so sing to it--

¹⁸The well that the princes sank, that the nobles of the people dug, with their scepters and their staffs." From Beer they went to Mattanah,

¹⁹from Mattanah to Nahaliel, from Nahaliel to Bamoth,

²⁰from Bamoth to the cleft in the plateau of Moab at the headland of Pisgah that overlooks Jeshimon.

²¹Now Israel sent men to Sihon, king of the Amorites, with the message,

²²"Let us pass through your country. We will not turn aside into any field or vineyard, nor will we drink any well water, but we will go straight along the royal road until we have passed through your territory."

²³Sihon, however, would not let Israel pass through his territory, but mustered all his forces and advanced into the desert against Israel. When he reached Jahaz, he engaged Israel in battle.

²⁴But Israel defeated him at the point of the sword, and took possession of his land from the Arnon to the Jabbok and as far as the country of the Ammonites, whose boundary was at Jazer.

²⁵Israel seized all the towns here and settled in these towns of the Amorites, in Heshbon and all its dependencies.

²⁶Now Heshbon was the capital of Sihon, king of the Amorites, who had fought against the former king of Moab and had seized all his land from Jazer to the Arnon.

²⁷That is why the poets say: "Come to Heshbon, let it be rebuilt, let Sihon's capital be firmly constructed.

²⁸For fire went forth from Heshbon and a blaze from the city of Sihon; It consumed the cities of Moab and swallowed up the high places of the Arnon.

²⁹Woe to you, O Moab! You are ruined, O people of Chemosh! He let his sons become fugitives and his daughters be taken captive by the Amorite king Sihon.

³⁰Their plowland is ruined from Heshbon to Dibon; Ar is laid waste; fires blaze as far as Medeba."

³¹When Israel had settled in the land of the Amorites,

³²Moses sent spies to Jazer; Israel then captured it with its dependencies and dispossessed the Amorites who were there.

³³Then they turned and went up along the road to Bashan. But Og, king of Bashan, advanced against them with all his people to give battle at Edrei.

³⁴The LORD, however, said to Moses, "Do not be afraid of him; for into your hand I will deliver him with all his people and his land. Do to him as you did to Sihon, king of the Amorites, who lived in Heshbon."

³⁵So they struck him down with his sons and all his people, until not a survivor was left to him, and they took possession of his land.

22 Then the Israelites moved on and encamped in the plains of Moab on the other side of the Jericho stretch of the Jordan.

²Now Balak, son of Zippor, saw all that Israel did to the Amorites.

³Indeed, Moab feared the Israelites greatly because of their numbers, and detested them.

⁴So Moab said to the elders of Midian, "Soon this horde will devour all the country around us as an ox devours the grass of the field." And Balak, Zippor's son, who was king of Moab at that time, ⁵sent messengers to Balaam, son of Beor, at Pethor on the Euphrates, in the land of the Amawites, summoning him with these words, "A people has come here from Egypt who now cover the face of the earth and are settling down opposite us!

⁶Please come and curse this people for us; they are stronger than we are. We may then be able to defeat them and drive them out of the country. For I know that whoever you bless is blessed and whoever you curse is cursed."

⁷Then the elders of Moab and of Midian left with the divination fee in hand and went to Balaam. When they had given him Balak's message, ⁸he said to them in reply, "Stay here overnight, and I will give you whatever answer the LORD gives me." So the princes of Moab lodged with Balaam.

⁹Then God came to Balaam and said, "Who are these men visiting you?"

¹⁰Balaam answered God, "Balak, son of Zippor, king of Moab, sent me the message:

¹¹"This people that came here from Egypt now cover the face of the earth. Please come and lay a curse on them for us; we may then be able to give them battle and drive them out."

¹²But God said to Balaam, "Do not go with them and do not curse this people, for they are blessed."

¹³The next morning Balaam arose and told the princes of Balak, "Go back to your own country, for the LORD has refused to let me go with you."

¹⁴So the princes of Moab went back to Balak with the report, "Balaam refused to come with us."

¹⁵Balak again sent princes, who were more numerous and more distinguished than the others.

¹⁶On coming to Balaam they told him, "This is what Balak, son of Zippor, has to say: Please do not refuse to come to me.

¹⁷I will reward you very handsomely and will do anything you ask of me. Please come and lay a curse on this people for me."

¹⁸But Balaam replied to Balak's officials, "Even if Balak gave me his house full of silver and gold, I could not do anything, small or great, contrary to the command of the LORD, my God.

¹⁹But, you too shall stay here overnight, till I learn what else the LORD may tell me."

²⁰That night God came to Balaam and said to him, "If these men have come to summon you, you may go with them; yet only on the condition that you do exactly as I tell you."

²¹So the next morning when Balaam arose, he saddled his ass, and went off with the princes of Moab.

²²But now the anger of God flared up at him for going, and the angel of the LORD stationed himself on the road to hinder him as he was riding along on his ass, accompanied by two of his servants.

²³When the ass saw the angel of the LORD standing on the road with sword drawn, she turned off the road and went into the field, and Balaam had to beat her to bring her back on the road.

²⁵When the ass saw the angel of the LORD there, she shrank against the wall; and since she squeezed Balaam's leg against it, he beat her again.

²⁶The angel of the LORD then went ahead, and stopped next in a passage so narrow that there was no room to move either to the right or to the left.

²⁷When the ass saw the angel of the LORD there, she cowered under Balaam. So, in anger, he again beat the ass with his stick.

²⁸But now the LORD opened the mouth of the ass, and she asked Balaam, "What have I done to you that you should beat me these three times?"

²⁹"You have acted so willfully against me," said Balaam to the ass, "that if I but had a sword at hand, I would kill you here and now."

³⁰But the ass said to Balaam, "Am I not your own beast, and have you not always ridden upon me until now? Have I been in the habit of treating you this way before?" "No," replied Balaam.

³¹Then the LORD removed the veil from Balaam's eyes, so that he too saw the angel of the LORD standing on the road with sword drawn; and he fell on his knees and bowed to the ground.

³²But the angel of the LORD said to him, "Why have you beaten your ass these three times? It is I who have come armed to hinder you because this rash journey of yours is directly opposed to me.

³³When the ass saw me, she turned away from me these three times. If she had not turned away from me, I would have killed you; her I would have spared."

³⁴Then Balaam said to the angel of the LORD, "I have sinned. Yet I did not know that you stood against me to oppose my journey. Since it has displeased you, I will go back home."

³⁵But the angel of the LORD said to Balaam, "Go with the men; but you may say only what I tell you." So Balaam went on with the princes of Balak.

³⁶When Balak heard that Balaam was coming, he went out to meet him at the boundary city Ir-Moab on the Arnon at the end of the Moabite territory.

³⁷And he said to Balaam, "I sent an urgent summons to you! Why did you not come to me? Did you think I could not reward you?"

³⁸Balaam answered him, "Well, I have come to you after all. But what power have I to say anything? I can speak only what God puts in my mouth."

³⁹Then Balaam went with Balak, and they came to Kiriath-huzoth.

⁴⁰Here Balak slaughtered oxen and sheep, and sent portions to Balaam and to the princes who were with him.

⁴¹The next morning Balak took Balaam up on Bamoth-baal, and from there he saw some of the clans.

23 Then Balaam said to Balak, "Build me seven altars, and prepare seven bullocks and seven rams for me here."

²So he did as Balaam had ordered, offering a bullock and a ram on each altar. And Balak said to him, "I have erected the seven altars, and have offered a bullock and a ram on each."

³Balaam then said to him, "Stand here by your holocaust while I go over there. Perhaps the LORD will meet me, and then I will tell you whatever he lets me see." He went out on the barren height, ⁴and God met him.

⁵When he had put an utterance in Balaam's mouth, the LORD said to him, "Go back to Balak, and speak accordingly."

⁶So he went back to Balak, who was still standing by his holocaust together with all the princes of Moab.

⁷Then Balaam gave voice to his oracle: From Aram has Balak brought me here, Moab's king, from the Eastern Mountains: "Come and lay a curse for me on Jacob, come and denounce Israel."

⁸How can I curse whom God has not cursed? How denounce whom the LORD has not denounced?

⁹For from the top of the crags I see him, from the heights I behold him. Here is a people that lives apart and does not reckon itself among the nations.

¹⁰Who has ever counted the dust of Jacob, or numbered Israel's wind-borne particles? May I die the death of the just, may my descendants be as many as theirs!

¹¹"What have you done to me?" cried Balak to Balaam. "It was to curse my foes that I brought you here; instead, you have even blessed them."

¹²Balaam replied, "Is it not what the LORD puts in my mouth that I must repeat with care?"

¹³Then Balak said to him, "Please come with me to another place from which you can see only some and not all of them, and from there curse them for me."

¹⁴So he brought him to the lookout field on the top of Pisgah, where he built seven altars and offered a bullock and a ram on each of them.

¹⁵Balaam then said to Balak, "Stand here by your holocaust, while I seek a meeting over there."

¹⁶Then the LORD met Balaam, and having put an utterance in his mouth, he said to him, "Go back to Balak, and speak accordingly."

¹⁷So he went back to Balak, who was still standing by his holocaust together with the princes of Moab. When Balak asked him, "What did the LORD say?"

¹⁸Balaam gave voice to his oracle: Be aroused, O Balak, and hearken; give ear to my testimony, O son of Zippor!

¹⁹God is not man that he should speak falsely, nor human, that he should change his mind. Is he one to speak and not act, to decree and not fulfill?

²⁰It is a blessing I have been given to pronounce; a blessing which I cannot restrain.

²¹Misfortune is not observed in Jacob, nor misery seen in Israel. The LORD, his God, is with him; with him is the triumph of his King.

²²It is God who brought him out of Egypt, a wild bull of towering might.

²³No, there is no sorcery against Jacob, nor omen against Israel. It shall yet be said of Jacob, and of Israel, "Behold what God has wrought!"

²⁴Here is a people that springs up like a lioness, and stalks forth like a lion; It rests not till it has devoured its prey and has drunk the blood of the slain.

²⁵"Even though you cannot curse them," said Balak to Balaam, "at least do not bless them."

²⁶But Balaam answered Balak, "Did I not warn you that I must do all that the LORD tells me?"

²⁷Then Balak said to Balaam, "Come, let me bring you to another place; perhaps God will approve of your cursing them for me from there."

²⁸So he took Balaam to the top of Peor, that overlooks Jeshimon.

²⁹Balaam then said to him, "Here build me seven altars; and here prepare for me seven bullocks and seven rams."

³⁰And Balak did as Balaam had ordered, offering a bullock and a ram on each altar.

24 Balaam, however, perceiving that the LORD was pleased to bless Israel, did not go aside as before to seek omens, but turned his gaze toward the desert.

²When he raised his eyes and saw Israel encamped, tribe by tribe, the spirit of God came upon him,

³and he gave voice to his oracle: The utterance of Balaam, son of Beor, the utterance of the man whose eye is true,

⁴The utterance of one who hears what God says, and knows what the Most High knows, Of one who sees what the Almighty sees, enraptured, and with eyes unveiled:

⁵How goodly are your tents, O Jacob; your encampments, O Israel!

⁶They are like gardens beside a stream, like the cedars planted by the LORD.

⁷His wells shall yield free-flowing waters, he shall have the sea within reach; His king shall rise higher than. . . and his royalty shall be exalted.

⁸It is God who brought him out of Egypt, a wild bull of towering might. He shall devour the nations like grass, their bones he shall strip bare.

⁹He lies crouching like a lion, or like a lioness; who shall arouse him? Blessed is he who blesses you, and cursed is he who curses you!

¹⁰Balak beat his palms together in a blaze of anger at Balaam and said to him, "It was to curse my foes that I summoned you here; yet three times now you have even blessed them instead!

¹¹Be off at once, then, to your home. I promised to reward you richly, but the LORD has withheld the reward from you!"

¹²Balaam replied to Balak, "Did I not warn the very messengers whom you sent to me,

¹³Even if Balak gave me his house full of silver and gold, I could not of my own accord to anything, good or evil, contrary to the command of the LORD? Whatever the LORD says I must repeat.

¹⁴"But now that I am about to go to my own people, let me first warn you what this people will do to your people in the days to come."

¹⁵Then Balaam gave voice to his oracle: The utterance of Balaam, son of Beor, the utterance of the man whose eye is true,

¹⁶The utterance of one who hears what God says, and knows what the Most High knows, Of one who sees what the Almighty sees, enraptured and with eyes unveiled.

¹⁷I see him, though not now; I behold him, though not near: A star shall advance from Jacob, and a staff shall rise from Israel, That shall smite the brows of Moab, and the skulls of all the Shuthites,

¹⁹and Jacob shall overcome his foes.

²⁰Upon seeing Amalek, Balaam gave voice to his oracle: First of the peoples was Amalek, but his end is to perish forever.

²¹Upon seeing the Kenites, he gave voice to his oracle: Your abode is enduring, O smith, and your nest is set on a cliff;

²²Yet destined for burning-- even as I watch--are your inhabitants.

²³Upon seeing. . . . he gave voice to his oracle: Alas, who shall survive of Ishmael, ²⁴to deliver his people from the hands of the Kittim? When they have conquered Asshur and conquered Eber, He too shall perish forever.

²⁵Then Balaam set out on his journey home; and Balak also went his way.

25 While Israel was living at Shittim, the people degraded themselves by having illicit relations with the Moabite women.

²These then invited the people to the sacrifices of their god, and the people ate of the sacrifices and worshiped their god.

³When Israel thus submitted to the rites of Baal of Peor, the LORD'S anger flared up against Israel,

⁴and he said to Moses, "Gather all the leaders of the people, and hold a public execution of the guilty ones before the LORD, that his blazing wrath may be turned away from Israel."

⁵So Moses told the Israelite judges, "Each of you shall kill those of his men who have submitted to the rites of Baal of Peor."

⁶Yet a certain Israelite came and brought in a Midianite woman to his clansmen in the view of Moses and of the whole Israelite community, while they were weeping at the entrance of the meeting tent.

⁷When Phinehas, son of Eleazar, son of Aaron the priest, saw this, he left the assembly, and taking a lance in hand,

⁸followed the Israelite into his retreat where he pierced the pair of them, the Israelite and the woman. Thus the slaughter of Israelites was checked;

⁹but only after twenty-four thousand had died.

¹⁰Then the LORD said to Moses,

¹¹"Phinehas, son of Eleazar, son of Aaron the priest, has turned my anger from the Israelites by his zeal for my honor among them; that is why I did not put an end to the Israelites for the offense to my honor.

¹²Announce, therefore, that I hereby give him my pledge of friendship,

¹³which shall be for him and for his descendants after him the pledge of an everlasting priesthood, because he was zealous on behalf of his God and thus made amends for the Israelites."

¹⁴The Israelite slain with the Midianite woman was Zimri, son of Salu, prince of an ancestral house of the Simeonites.

¹⁵The slain Midianite woman was Cozbi, daughter of Zur, who was head of a clan, an ancestral house, in Midian.

¹⁶The LORD then said to Moses,

¹⁷"Treat the Midianites as enemies and crush them,

¹⁸for they have been your enemies by their wily dealings with you as regards Peor and as regards their kinswoman Cozbi, the daughter of a Midianite prince, who was killed at the time of the slaughter because of Peor."

¹⁹After the slaughter

26 the LORD said to Moses and Eleazar; son of Aaron the priest,

²"Take a census, by ancestral houses, throughout the community of the Israelites of all those of twenty years or more who are fit for military service in Israel."

³So on the plains of Moab along the Jericho stretch of the Jordan, Moses and the priest Eleazar registered

⁴those of twenty years or more, as the LORD had commanded Moses. The Israelites who came out of the land of Egypt were as follows:

⁵Of Reuben, the first-born of Israel, the Reubenites by clans were: through Hanoch the clan of the Hanochites, through Pallu the clan of the Palluites, ⁶through Hezron the clan of the Hezronites, through Carmi the clan of the Carmites.

⁷These were the clans of the Reubenites, of whom forty-three thousand seven hundred and thirty men were registered.

⁸From Pallu descended Eliab,

⁹and the descendants of Eliab were Dathan and Abiram-the same Dathan and Abiram, councilors of the community, who revolted against Moses and Aaron (like Korah's band when it rebelled against the LORD).

¹⁰The earth opened its mouth and swallowed them as a warning (Korah too and the band that died when the fire consumed two hundred and fifty men.

¹¹The descendants of Korah, however, did not die out).

¹²The Simeonites by clans were: through Nemuel the clan of the Nemuelites, through Jamin the clan of the Jaminites, through Jachin the clan of the Jachinites, ¹³through Sohar the clan of the Soharites, through Shaul the clan of the Shaulites.

¹⁴These were the clans of the Simeonites, of whom twenty-two thousand two hundred men were registered.

¹⁵The Gadites by clans were: through Zephon the clan of the Zephonites, through Haggi the clan of the Haggites, through Shuni the clan of the Shunites,

¹⁶through Ozni the clan of the Oznites, through Eri the clan of the Erites, ¹⁷through Arod the clan of the Arodites, through Areli the clan of the Arelites.

¹⁸These were the clans of the Gadites, of whom forty thousand five hundred men were registered.

¹⁹The sons of Judah who died in the land of Canaan were Er and Onan.

²⁰The Judahites by clans were: through Shelah the clan of the Shelahites, through Perez the clan of the Perezites, through Zerah the clan of the Zerahites.

²¹The Perezites were: through Hezron the clan of the Hezronites, through Hamul the clan of the Hamulites.

²²These were the clans of Judah, of whom seventy-six thousand five hundred men were registered.

²³The Issacharites by clans were: through Tola the clan of the Tolaites, through Puvah the clan of the Puvahites, ²⁴through Jashub the clan of the Jashubites, through Shimron the clan of the Shimronites.

²⁵These were the clans of Issachar, of whom sixty-four thousand three hundred men were registered.

²⁶The Zebulunites by clans were: through Sered the clan of the Seredites, through Elon the clan of the Elonites, through Jahleel the clan of the Jahleelites.

²⁷These were the clans of the Zebulunites, of whom sixty thousand five hundred men were registered.

²⁸The sons of Joseph were Manasseh and Ephraim.

²⁹The Manassehites by clans were: through Machir the clan of the Machirites, through Gilead, a descendant of Machir, the clan of the Gileadites.

³⁰The Gileadites were: through Abiezer the clan of the Abiezrites, through Helek the clan of the Helekites,

³¹through Asriel the clan of the Asrielites, through Shechem the clan of the Shechemites, ³²through Shemida the clan of the Shemidaïtes, through Hopher the clan of the Hopherites.

³³Zelophehad, son of Hopher, had no sons, but only daughters, whose names were Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah and Tirzah.

³⁴These were the clans of Manasseh, of whom fifty-two thousand seven hundred men were registered.

³⁵The Ephraimites by clans were: through Shuthelah the clan of the Shuthelahites, through Becher the clan of the Bechrites, through Tahan the clan of the Tahanites.

³⁶The Shuthelahites were: through Eran the clan of the Eranites.

³⁷These were the clans of the Ephraimites, of whom thirty-two thousand five hundred men were registered. These were the descendants of Joseph by clans.

³⁸The Benjaminites by clans were: through Bela the clan of the Belaites, through Ashbel the clan of the Ashbelites, through Ahiram the clan of the Ahiramites, ³⁹through Shupham the clan of the Shuphamites, through Hupham the clan of the Huphamites.

⁴⁰The descendants of Bela were Arad and Naaman: through Arad the clan of the Aradites, through Naaman the clan of the Naamanites.

⁴¹These were the Benjaminites by clans, of whom forty-five thousand six hundred men were registered.

⁴²The Danites by clans were: through Shuham the clan of the Shuhamites. These were the clans of Dan, ⁴³of whom sixty-four thousand four hundred men were registered.

⁴⁴The Asherites by clans were: through Imnah the clan of the Imnites, through Ishvi the clan of the Ishvites, through Beriah the clan of the Beriites, ⁴⁵through Heber the clan of the Heberites, through Malchiel the clan of the Malchielites.

⁴⁶The name of Asher's daughter was Serah.

⁴⁷These were the clans of Asher, of whom fifty-three thousand four hundred men were registered.

⁴⁸The Naphtalites by clans were: through Jahzeel the clan of the Jahzeelites, through Guni the clan of the Gunites,

⁴⁹through Jezer the clan of the Jezerites, through Shillem the clan of the Shillemites.

⁵⁰These were the clans of Naphtali, of whom forty-five thousand four hundred men were registered.

⁵¹These six hundred and one thousand seven hundred and thirty were the Israelites who were registered.

⁵²The LORD said to Moses,

⁵³"Among these groups the land shall be divided as their heritage in keeping with the number of individuals in each group.

⁵⁴To a large group you shall assign a large heritage, to a small group a small heritage, each group receiving its heritage in proportion to the number of men registered in it.

⁵⁵But the land shall be divided by lot, as the heritage of the various ancestral tribes.

⁵⁶As the lot falls shall each group, large or small, be assigned its heritage."

⁵⁷The Levites registered by clans were: through Gershon the clan of the Gershonites, through Kohath the clan of the Kohathites, through Merari the clan of the Merarites.

⁵⁸These also were clans of Levi: the clan of the Libnites, the clan of the Hebronites, the clan of the Mahlites, the clan of the Mushites, the clan of the Korahites. Among the descendants of Kohath was Amram, ⁵⁹whose wife was named Jochebed. She also was of the tribe of Levi, born to the tribe in Egypt. To Amram she bore Aaron and Moses and their sister Miriam.

⁶⁰To Aaron were born Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar.

⁶¹But Nadab and Abihu died when they offered profane fire before the LORD.

⁶²The total number of male Levites one month or more of age, who were registered, was twenty-three thousand. They were not registered with the other Israelites, however, for no heritage was given them among the Israelites.

⁶³These, then, were the men registered by Moses and the priest Eleazar in the census of the Israelites taken on the plains of Moab along the Jericho stretch of the Jordan.

⁶⁴Among them there was not a man of those who had been registered by Moses and the priest Aaron in the census of the Israelites taken in the desert of Sinai.

⁶⁵For the LORD had told them that they would surely die in the desert, and not one of them was left except Caleb, son of Jephunneh, and Joshua, son of Nun.

27 Zelophehad, son of Hepher, son of Gilead, son of Machir, son of Manasseh, son of Joseph, had daughters named Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah and Tirzah. They came forward,

²and standing in the presence of Moses, the priest Eleazar, the princes, and the whole community at the entrance of the meeting tent, said:

³"Our father died in the desert. Although he did not join those who banded together against the LORD (in Korah's band), he died for his own sin without leaving any sons.

⁴But why should our father's name be withdrawn from his clan merely because he had no son? Let us, therefore, have property among our father's kinsmen."

⁵When Moses laid their case before the LORD,

⁶the LORD said to him,

⁷"The plea of Zelophehad's daughters is just; you shall give them hereditary property among their father's kinsmen, letting their father's heritage pass on to them.

⁸Therefore, tell the Israelites: If a man dies without leaving a son, you shall let his heritage pass on to his daughter;

⁹if he has no daughter, you shall give his heritage to his brothers;

¹⁰if he has no brothers, you shall give his heritage to his father's brothers;

¹¹if his father had no brothers, you shall give his heritage to his nearest relative in his clan, who shall then take possession of it." This is the legal norm for the Israelites, as the LORD commanded Moses.

¹²The LORD said to Moses, "Go up here into the Abarim Mountains and view the land that I am giving to the Israelites.

¹³When you have viewed it, you too shall be taken to your people, as was your brother Aaron,

¹⁴because in the rebellion of the community in the desert of Zin you both rebelled against my order to manifest my sanctity to them by means of the water." (This is the water of Meribah of Kadesh in the desert of Zin.)

¹⁵Then Moses said to the LORD,

¹⁶"May the LORD, the God of the spirits of all mankind, set over the community a man

¹⁷who shall act as their leader in all things, to guide them in all their actions; that the LORD'S community may not be like sheep without a shepherd."

¹⁸And the LORD replied to Moses, "Take Joshua, son of Nun, a man of spirit, and lay your hand upon him.

¹⁹Have him stand in the presence of the priest Eleazar and of the whole community, and commission him before their eyes.

²⁰Invest him with some of your own dignity, that the whole Israelite community may obey him.

²¹He shall present himself to the priest Eleazar, to have him seek out for him the decisions of the Urim in the LORD'S presence; and as he directs, Joshua, all the Israelites with him, and the community as a whole shall perform all their actions."

²²Moses did as the LORD had commanded him. Taking Joshua and having him stand in the presence of the priest Eleazar and of the whole community, ²³he laid his hands on him and gave him his commission, as the LORD had directed through Moses.

28

The LORD said to Moses,

²"Give the Israelites this commandment: At the times I have appointed, you shall be careful to present to me the food offerings that are offered to me as sweet-smelling oblations.

³"You shall tell them therefore: This is the oblation which you shall offer to the LORD: two unblemished yearling lambs each day as the established holocaust,

⁴offering one lamb in the morning and the other during the evening twilight,

⁵each with a cereal offering of one tenth of an ephah of fine flour mixed with a fourth of a hin of oil of crushed olives.

⁶This is the established holocaust that was offered at Mount Sinai as a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD.

⁷And as the libation for the first lamb, you shall pour out to the LORD in the sanctuary a fourth of a hin of wine.

⁸The other lamb, to be offered during the evening twilight, you shall offer with the same cereal offering and the same libation as in the morning, as a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD.

⁹On the sabbath day you shall offer two unblemished yearling lambs, with their cereal offering, two tenths of an ephah of fine flour mixed with oil, and with their libations.

¹⁰Each sabbath there shall be the sabbath holocaust in addition to the established holocaust and its libation.

¹¹"On the first of each month you shall offer as a holocaust to the LORD two bullocks, one ram, and seven unblemished yearling lambs,

¹²with three tenths of an ephah of fine flour mixed with oil as the cereal offering for each bullock, two tenths of an ephah of fine flour mixed with oil as the cereal offering for the ram,

¹³and one tenth of an ephah of fine flour mixed with oil as the cereal offering for each lamb, that the holocaust may be a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD.

¹⁴Their libations shall be half a hin of wine for each bullock, a third of a hin for the ram, and a fourth of a hin for each lamb. This is the new moon holocaust for every new moon of the year.

¹⁵Moreover, one goat shall be sacrificed as a sin offering to the LORD. These are to be offered in addition to the established holocaust and its libation.

¹⁶On the fourteenth day of the first month falls the Passover of the LORD, ¹⁷and the fifteenth day of this month is the pilgrimage feast. For seven days unleavened bread is to be eaten.

¹⁸On the first of these days you shall hold a sacred assembly, and do no sort of work.

¹⁹As an oblation you shall offer a holocaust to the LORD, which shall consist of two bullocks, one ram, and seven yearling lambs that you are sure are unblemished,

²⁰with their cereal offerings of fine flour mixed with oil; offering three tenths of an ephah for each bullock, two tenths for the ram,

²¹and one tenth for each of the seven lambs;

²²and offer one goat as a sin offering in atonement for yourselves.

²³These offerings you shall make in addition to the established morning holocaust:

²⁴you shall make exactly the same offerings each day for seven days as food offerings, in addition to the established holocaust with its libation, for a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD.

²⁵On the seventh day you shall hold a sacred assembly, and do no sort of work.

²⁶On the day of first fruits, on your feast of Weeks, when you present to the LORD the new cereal offering, you shall hold a sacred assembly, and do no sort of work.

²⁷You shall offer as a sweet-smelling holocaust to the LORD two bullocks, one ram, and seven yearling lambs that you are sure are unblemished,

²⁸with their cereal offerings of fine flour mixed with oil; offering three tenths of an ephah for each bullock, two tenths for the ram, ²⁹and one tenth for each of the seven lambs.

³⁰Moreover, one goat shall be offered as a sin offering in atonement for yourselves.

³¹You shall make these offerings, together with their libations, in addition to the established holocaust with its cereal offering.

29"On the first day of the seventh month you shall hold a sacred assembly, and do no sort of work; it shall be a day on which you sound the trumpet.

²You shall offer as a sweet-smelling holocaust to the LORD one bullock, one ram, and seven unblemished yearling lambs,

³with their cereal offerings of fine flour mixed with oil; offering three tenths of an ephah for the bullock, two tenths for the ram,

⁴and one tenth for each of the seven lambs.

⁵Moreover, one goat shall be offered as a sin offering in atonement for yourselves.

⁶These are to be offered in addition to the ordinary new-moon holocaust with its cereal offering, and in addition to the established holocaust with its cereal offering, together with the libations prescribed for them, as a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD.

⁷"On the tenth day of this seventh month you shall hold a sacred assembly, and mortify yourselves, and do no sort of work.

⁸You shall offer as a sweet-smelling holocaust to the LORD one bullock, one ram, and seven yearling lambs that you are sure are unblemished,

⁹with their cereal offerings of fine flour mixed with oil; offering three tenths of an ephah for the bullock, two tenths for the ram,

¹⁰and one tenth for each of the seven lambs.

¹¹Moreover, one goat shall be sacrificed as a sin offering. These are to be offered in addition to the atonement sin offering, the established holocaust with its cereal offering, and their libations.

¹³You shall offer as a sweet-smelling holocaust to the LORD thirteen bullocks, two rams, and fourteen yearling lambs that are unblemished,

¹⁴with their cereal offerings of fine flour mixed with oil; offering three tenths of an ephah for each of the thirteen bullocks, two tenths for each of the two rams,

¹⁵and one tenth for each of the fourteen lambs.

¹⁶Moreover, one goat shall be sacrificed as a sin offering. These are to be offered in addition to the established holocaust with its cereal offering and libation.

¹⁷"On the second day you shall offer twelve bullocks, two rams, and fourteen unblemished yearling lambs,

¹⁸with their cereal offerings and libations as prescribed for the bullocks, rams and lambs in proportion to their number,

¹⁹as well as one goat for a sin offering, besides the established holocaust with its cereal offering and libation.

²⁰"On the third day you shall offer eleven bullocks, two rams, and fourteen unblemished yearling lambs,

²¹with their cereal offerings and libations as prescribed for the bullocks, rams and lambs in proportion to their number,

²²as well as one goat for a sin offering, besides the established holocaust with its cereal offering and libation.

²³"On the fourth day you shall offer ten bullocks, two rams, and fourteen unblemished yearling lambs,

²⁴with their cereal offerings and libations as prescribed for the bullocks, rams and lambs in proportion to their number,

²⁵as well as one goat for a sin offering, besides the established holocaust with its cereal offering and libation.

²⁶"On the fifth day you shall offer nine bullocks, two rams, and fourteen unblemished yearling lambs,

- ²⁷with their cereal offerings and libations as prescribed for the bullocks, rams and lambs in proportion to their number,
- ²⁸as well as one goat for a sin offering, besides the established holocaust with its cereal offering and libation.
- ²⁹"On the sixth day you shall offer eight bullocks, two rams, and fourteen unblemished yearling lambs,
- ³⁰with their cereal offerings and libations as prescribed for the bullocks, rams and lambs in proportion to their number,
- ³¹as well as one goat for a sin offering, besides the established holocaust with its cereal offering and libation.
- ³²"On the seventh day you shall offer seven bullocks, two rams, and fourteen unblemished yearling lambs,
- ³³with their cereal offerings and libations as prescribed for the bullocks, rams and lambs in proportion to their number,
- ³⁴as well as one goat for a sin offering, besides the established holocaust with its cereal offering and libation.
- ³⁵"On the eighth day you shall hold a solemn meeting, and do no sort of work.
- ³⁶You shall offer up in holocaust as a sweet-smelling oblation to the LORD one bullock, one ram, and seven unblemished yearling lambs,
- ³⁷with their cereal offerings and libations as prescribed for the bullocks, rams and lambs in proportion to their number,
- ³⁸as well as one goat for a sin offering, besides the established holocaust with its cereal offering and libation.
- ³⁹"These are the offerings you shall make to the LORD on your festivals, besides whatever holocausts, cereal offerings, libations, and peace offerings you present as your votive or freewill offerings."

30 Moses then gave the Israelites these instructions, just as the LORD had ordered him.

²Moses said to the heads of the Israelite tribes, "This is what the LORD has commanded:

³When a man makes a vow to the LORD or binds himself under oath to a pledge of abstinence, he shall not violate his word, but must fulfill exactly the promise he has uttered.

⁴"When a woman, while still a maiden in her father's house, makes a vow to the LORD, or binds herself to a pledge, ⁵if her father learns of her vow or the pledge to which she bound herself and says nothing to her about it, then any vow or any pledge she has made remains valid.

⁶But if on the day he learns of it her father expresses to her his disapproval, then any vow or any pledge she has made becomes null and void; and the LORD releases her from it, since her father has expressed to her his disapproval.

⁷"If she marries while under a vow or under a rash pledge to which she bound herself, ⁸and her husband learns of it, yet says nothing to her that day about it, then the vow or pledge she had made remains valid.

⁹But if on the day he learns of it her husband expresses to her his disapproval, he thereby annuls the vow she had made or the rash pledge to which she had bound herself, and the LORD releases her from it.

¹⁰The vow of a widow or of a divorced woman, or any pledge to which such a woman binds herself, is valid.

¹¹"If it is in her husband's house that she makes a vow or binds herself under oath to a pledge, ¹²and her husband learns of it yet says nothing to express to her his disapproval, then any vow or any pledge she has made remains valid.

¹³But if on the day he learns of them her husband annuls them, then whatever she has expressly promised in her vow or in her pledge becomes null and void; since her husband has annulled them, the LORD releases her from them.

¹⁴"Any vow or any pledge that she makes under oath to mortify herself, her husband can either allow to remain valid or render null and void.

¹⁵But if her husband, day after day, says nothing at all to her about them, he thereby allows as valid any vow or any pledge she has made; he has allowed them to remain valid, because on the day he learned of them he said nothing to her about them.

¹⁶If, however, he countermands them some time after he first learned of them, he is responsible for her guilt."

¹⁷These are the statutes which the LORD prescribed through Moses concerning the relationship between a husband and his wife, as well as between a father and his daughter while she is still a maiden in her father's house.

31

The LORD said to Moses,

²"Avenge the Israelites on the Midianites, and then you shall be taken to your people."

³So Moses told the people, "Select men from your midst and arm them for war, to attack the Midianites and execute the LORD'S vengeance on them.

⁴From each of the tribes of Israel you shall send a band of one thousand men to war."

⁵From the clans of Israel, therefore, a thousand men of each tribe were levied, so that there were twelve thousand men armed for war.

⁶Moses sent them out on the campaign, a thousand from each tribe, with Phinehas, son of Eleazar, the priest for the campaign, who had with him the sacred vessels and the trumpets for sounding the alarm.

⁷They waged war against the Midianites, as the LORD had commanded Moses, and killed every male among them.

⁸Besides those slain in battle, they killed the five Midianite kings: Evi, Rekem, Zur, Hur and Reba; and they also executed Balaam, son of Beor, with the sword.

⁹But the Israelites kept the women of the Midianites with their little ones as captives, and all their herds and flocks and wealth as spoil, ¹⁰while they set on fire all the towns where they had settled and all their encampments.

¹¹Then they took all the booty, with the people and beasts they had captured, and brought the captives, together with the spoils and booty,

¹²to Moses and the priest Eleazar and to the Israelite community at their camp on the plains of Moab, along the Jericho stretch of the Jordan.

¹³When Moses and the priest Eleazar, with all the princes of the community, went outside the camp to meet them, ¹⁴Moses became angry with the officers of the army, the clan and company commanders, who were returning from combat.

¹⁵"So you have spared all the women!" he exclaimed.

¹⁶"Why, they are the very ones who on Balaam's advice prompted the unfaithfulness of the Israelites toward the LORD in the Peor affair, which began the slaughter of the LORD'S community.

¹⁷Slay, therefore, every male child and every woman who has had intercourse with a man.

¹⁸But you may spare and keep for yourselves all girls who had no intercourse with a man.

¹⁹"Moreover, you shall stay outside the camp for seven days, and those of you who have slain anyone or touched anyone slain in battle shall purify yourselves on the third and on the seventh day. This applies both to you and to your captives.

²⁰You shall also purify every article of cloth, leather, goats' hair, or wood."

²¹Eleazar the priest told the soldiers who had returned from combat: "This is what the law, as prescribed by the LORD to Moses, ordains:

²²Whatever can stand fire, such as gold, silver, bronze, iron, tin and lead,

²³you shall put into the fire, that it may become clean; however, it must also be purified with lustral water. But whatever cannot stand fire you shall put into the water.

²⁴On the seventh day you shall wash your clothes, and then you will again be clean. After that you may enter the camp."

²⁵The LORD said to Moses:

²⁶"With the help of the priest Eleazar and of the heads of the ancestral houses, count up all the human captives and the beasts that have been taken;

²⁷then divide them evenly, giving half to those who took active part in the war by going out to combat, and half to the rest of the community.

²⁸You shall levy a tax for the LORD on the warriors who went out to combat: one out of every five hundred persons, oxen, asses and sheep

²⁹in their half of the spoil you shall turn over to the priest Eleazar as a contribution to the LORD.

³⁰From the Israelites' half you shall take one out of every fifty persons, and the same from the different beasts, oxen, asses and sheep, and give them to the Levites, who have charge of the LORD'S Dwelling."

³¹So Moses and the priest Eleazar did this, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

³²This booty, what was left of the loot which the soldiers had taken, amounted to six hundred and seventy-five thousand sheep,

³³seventy-two thousand oxen,

³⁴sixty-one thousand asses,

³⁵and thirty-two thousand girls who were still virgins.

³⁶The half that fell to those who had gone out to combat was: three hundred and thirty-seven thousand five hundred sheep,

³⁷of which six hundred and seventy-five fell as tax to the LORD;

³⁸thirty-six thousand oxen, of which seventy-two fell as tax to the LORD;

³⁹thirty thousand five hundred asses, of which sixty-one fell as tax to the LORD;

⁴⁰and sixteen thousand persons, of whom thirty-two fell as tax to the LORD.

⁴¹The taxes contributed to the LORD, Moses gave to the priest Eleazar, as the LORD had commanded him.

⁴²The half for the other Israelites, which fell to the community when Moses had taken it from the soldiers, was:

⁴³three hundred and thirty-seven thousand five hundred sheep,

⁴⁴thirty-six thousand oxen,

⁴⁵thirty thousand five hundred asses,

⁴⁶and sixteen thousand persons.

⁴⁷From this, the Israelites' share, Moses, as the LORD had ordered, took one out of every fifty, both of persons and of beasts, and gave them to the Levites, who had charge of the LORD'S Dwelling.

⁴⁸Then the officers who had been clan and company commanders of the army came up to Moses

⁴⁹and said to him, "Your servants have counted up the soldiers under our command, and not one is missing.

⁵⁰So, to make atonement for ourselves before the LORD, each of us will bring as an offering to the LORD some gold article he has picked up, such as an anklet, a bracelet, a ring, an earring, or a necklace."

⁵¹Moses and the priest Eleazar accepted this gold from them, all of it in well-wrought articles.

⁵²The gold that they gave as a contribution to the LORD amounted in all to sixteen thousand seven hundred and fifty shekels. This was from the clan and company commanders;

⁵³what the common soldiers had looted each one kept for himself.

⁵⁴Moses, then, and the priest Eleazar accepted the gold from the clan and company commanders, and put it in the meeting tent as a memorial for the Israelites before the LORD.

32 Now the Reubenites and Gadites had a very large number of livestock. Noticing that the land of Jazer and of Gilead was grazing country,

²they came to Moses and the priest Eleazar and to the princes of the community and said,

³"The region of Ataroth, Dibon, Jazer, Nimrah, Heshbon, Elealeh, Sebam, Nebo and Baal-meon, ⁴which the LORD has laid low before the community of Israel, is grazing country. Now, since your servants have livestock,"

⁵they continued, "if we find favor with you, let this land be given to your servants as their property. Do not make us cross the Jordan."

⁶But Moses answered the Gadites and Reubenites: "Are your kinsmen, then, to engage in war, while you remain here?"

⁷Why do you wish to discourage the Israelites from crossing to the land the LORD has given them?

⁸That is just what your fathers did when I sent them from Kadesh-barnea to reconnoiter the land.

⁹They went up to the Wadi Eshcol and reconnoitered the land, then so discouraged the Israelites that they would not enter the land the LORD had given them.

¹⁰At that time the wrath of the LORD flared up, and he swore,

¹¹"Because they have not followed me unreservedly, none of these men of twenty years or more who have come up from Egypt shall ever see this country I promised under oath to Abraham and Isaac and Jacob,

¹²except the Kenizzite Caleb, son of Jephunneh, and Joshua, son of Nun, who have followed the LORD unreservedly.'

¹³So in his anger with the Israelites the LORD made them wander in the desert forty years, until the whole generation that had done evil in the sight of the LORD had died out.

¹⁴And now here you are, a brood of sinners, rising up in your fathers' place to add still more to the LORD'S blazing wrath against the Israelites.

¹⁵If you turn away from following him, he will make them stay still longer in the desert, and so you will bring about the ruin of this whole nation."

¹⁶But they were insistent with him: "We wish only to build sheepfolds here for our flocks, and towns for our families;

¹⁷but we ourselves will march as troops in the van of the Israelites, until we have led them to their destination. Meanwhile our families can remain here in the fortified towns, safe from attack by the natives.

¹⁸We will not return to our homes until every one of the Israelites has taken possession of his heritage,

¹⁹and will not claim any heritage with them once we cross the Jordan, so long as we receive a heritage for ourselves on this eastern side of the Jordan."

²⁰Moses said to them in reply: "If you keep your word to march as troops in the LORD'S vanguard

²¹and to cross the Jordan in full force before the LORD until he has driven his enemies out of his way

²²and the land is subdued before him, then you may return here, quit of every obligation to the LORD and to Israel, and this region shall be your possession before the LORD.

²³But if you do not do this, you will sin against the LORD, and you can be sure that you will not escape the consequences of your sin.

²⁴Build the towns, then, for your families, and the folds for your flocks, but also fulfill your express promise."

²⁵The Gadites and Reubenites answered Moses, "Your servants will do as you command, my lord.

²⁶While our wives and children, our herds and other livestock remain in the towns of Gilead,

²⁷all your servants will go across as armed troops to battle before the LORD, just as your lordship says."

²⁸Moses, therefore, gave this order in their regard to the priest Eleazar, to Joshua, son of Nun, and to the heads of the ancestral tribes of the Israelites:

²⁹"If all the Gadites and Reubenites cross the Jordan with you as combat troops before the LORD, you shall give them Gilead as their property when the land has been subdued before you.

³⁰But if they will not go across with you as combat troops before the LORD, you shall bring their wives and children and livestock across before you into Canaan, and they shall have their property with you in the land of Canaan."

³¹To this the Gadites and Reubenites replied, "We will do what the LORD has commanded us, your servants.

³²We ourselves will go across into the land of Canaan as troops before the LORD, but we will retain our hereditary property on this side of the Jordan."

³³So Moses gave them (the Gadites and Reubenites, as well as half the tribe of Manasseh, son of Joseph, the kingdom of Sihon, king of the Amorites, and the kingdom of Og, king of Bashan,) the land with its towns and the districts that surrounded them.

³⁴The Gadites rebuilt the fortified towns of Dibon, Ataroth, Aroer,

³⁵Atroth-shophan, Jazer, Jogbehah,

³⁶Beth-nimrah and Beth-haran, and they built sheepfolds.

³⁷The Reubenites rebuilt Heshbon, Elealeh, Kiriathaim,

³⁸Nebo, Baal-meon (names to be changed!), and Sibmah. These towns, which they rebuilt, they called by their old names.

³⁹The descendants of Machir, son of Manasseh, invaded Gilead and captured it, driving out the Amorites who were there.

⁴⁰(Moses gave Gilead to Machir, son of Manasseh, and he settled there.)

⁴¹Jair, a Manassehite clan, campaigned against the tent villages, captured them and called them Havvoth-jair.

⁴²Nobah also campaigned against Kenath, captured it with its dependencies and called it Nobah after his own name.

33 The following are the stages by which the Israelites journeyed up by companies from the land of Egypt under the guidance of Moses and Aaron.

²By the LORD'S command Moses recorded the starting places of the various stages. The starting places of the successive stages were:

³They set out from Rameses in the first month, on the fifteenth day of the first month. On the Passover morrow the Israelites went forth in triumph, in view of all Egypt, ⁴While the Egyptians buried their first-born all of whom the LORD had struck down; on their gods, too, the LORD executed judgments.

⁵Setting out from Rameses, the Israelites camped at Succoth.

⁶Setting out from Succoth, they camped at Etham near the edge of the desert.

⁸Setting out from Pi-hahiroth, they crossed over through the sea into the desert, and after a three days' journey in the desert of Etham, they camped at Marah.

⁹Setting out from Marah, they came to Elim, where there were twelve springs of water and seventy palm trees, and they camped there.

¹²Setting out from the desert of Sin, they camped at Dophkah.

¹³Setting out from Dophkah, they camped at Alush.

¹⁴Setting out from Alush, they camped at Rephidim, where there was no water for the people to drink.

¹⁵Setting out from Rephidim, they camped in the desert of Sinai.

¹⁶Setting out from the desert of Sinai, they camped at Kibroth-hattaavah.

- ¹⁷Setting out from Kibroth-hattaavah, they camped at Hazeroth.
- ¹⁸Setting out from Hazeroth, they camped at Rithmah.
- ¹⁹Setting out from Rithmah, they camped at Rimmon-perez.
- ²⁰Setting out from Rimmon-perez, they camped at Libnah.
- ²¹Setting out from Libnah, they camped at Rissah.
- ²²Setting out from Rissah, they camped at Kehelathah.
- ²³Setting out from Kehelathah, they camped at Mount Shepher.
- ²⁴Setting out from Mount Shepher, they camped at Haradah.
- ²⁵Setting out from Haradah, they camped at Makheloth.
- ²⁶Setting out from Makheloth, they camped at Tahath.
- ²⁷Setting out from Tahath, they camped at Terah.
- ²⁸Setting out from Terah, they camped at Mithkah.
- ²⁹Setting out from Mithkah, they camped at Hashmonah.
- ³⁰Setting out from Hashmonah,-They camped at Moseroth.
- ³¹Setting out from Moseroth, they camped at Bene-jaakan.
- ³²Setting out from Bene-jaakan, they camped at Mount Gidgad.
- ³³Setting out from Mount Gidgad, they camped at Jotbathah.
- ³⁴Setting out from Jotbathah, they camped at Abronah.
- ³⁵Setting out from Abronah, they camped at Ezion-geber.
- ³⁶Setting out from Ezion-geber,-They camped in the desert of Zin, at Kadesh.

³⁷Setting out from Kadesh, they camped at Mount Hor on the border of the land of Edom.

³⁸(Aaron the priest ascended Mount Hor at the LORD'S command, and there he died in the fortieth year from the departure of the Israelites from the land of Egypt, on the first day of the fifth month.

³⁹Aaron was a hundred and twenty-three years old when he died on Mount Hor.

⁴⁰Now, when the Canaanite king of Arad, who lived in the Negeb in the land of Canaan, heard that the Israelites were coming. . . .)

⁴²Setting out from Zalmonah, they camped at Punon.

⁴³Setting out from Punon, they camped at Oboth.

⁴⁵Setting out from Iye-abarim, they camped at Dibon-gad.

⁴⁶Setting out from Dibon-gad, they camped at Almon-diblathaim.

⁴⁷Setting out from Almon-diblathaim, they camped in the Abarim Mountains opposite Nebo.

⁴⁸Setting out from the Abarim Mountains, they camped on the plains of Moab along the Jericho stretch of the Jordan.

⁴⁹Their camp along the Jordan on the plains of Moab extended from Beth-jeshimoth to Abelshittim.

⁵⁰The LORD spoke to Moses on the plains of Moab beside the Jericho stretch of the Jordan and said to him:

⁵¹"Tell the Israelites: When you go across the Jordan into the land of Canaan, ⁵²drive out all the inhabitants of the land before you; destroy all their stone figures and molten images, and demolish all their high places.

⁵³"You shall take possession of the land and settle in it, for I have given you the land as your property.

⁵⁴You shall apportion the land among yourselves by lot, clan by clan, assigning a large heritage to a large group and a small heritage to a small group. Wherever anyone's lot falls, there shall his property be within the heritage of his ancestral tribe.

⁵⁵"But if you do not drive out the inhabitants of the land before you, those whom you allow to remain will become as barbs in your eyes and thorns in your sides, and they will harass you in the country where you live, ⁵⁶and I will treat you as I had intended to treat them."

34The LORD said to Moses,

²"Give the Israelites this order: When you enter the land of Canaan, this is the territory that shall fall to you as your heritage--the land of Canaan with its boundaries:

³"Your southern boundary shall be at the desert of Zin along the border of Edom; on the east it shall begin at the end of the Salt Sea,

⁴and turning south of the Akrabbim Pass, it shall cross Zin, and extend south of Kadesh-barnea to Hazar-addar; thence it shall cross to Azmon, ⁵and turning from Azmon to the Wadi of Egypt, shall terminate at the Sea.

⁶"For your western boundary you shall have the Great Sea with its coast; this shall be your western boundary.

⁸and shall continue it from Mount Hor to Labo in the land of Hamath, with the boundary extending through Zedad.

⁹Thence the boundary shall reach to Ziphron and terminate at Hazar-enan. This shall be your northern boundary.

¹⁰"For your eastern boundary you shall draw a line from Hazar-enan to Shepham.

¹¹From Shepham the boundary shall go down to Ar-Baal, east of Ain, and descending further, shall strike the ridge on the east side of the Sea of Chinnereth;

¹²thence the boundary shall continue along the Jordan and terminate with the Salt Sea. "This is the land that shall be yours, with the boundaries that surround it."

¹³Moses also gave this order to the Israelites: "This is the land, to be apportioned among you by lot, which the LORD has commanded to be given to the nine and one half tribes.

¹⁴For all the ancestral houses of the tribe of Reuben, and the ancestral houses of the tribe of Gad, as well as half of the tribe of Manasseh, have already received their heritage;

¹⁵these two and one half tribes have received their heritage on the eastern side of the Jericho stretch of the Jordan, toward the sunrise."

¹⁶The LORD said to Moses,

¹⁷"These are the names of the men who shall apportion the land among you: Eleazar the priest, and Joshua, son of Nun, ¹⁸and one prince from each of the tribes whom you shall designate for this task.

¹⁹These shall be as follows: from the tribe of Judah: Caleb, son of Jephunneh,

²⁰from the tribe of Simeon: Samuel, son of Ammihud;

²¹from the tribe of Benjamin: Elidad, son of Chislon;

²²from the tribe of Dan: Bukki, son of Jogli;

²³from the tribe of Manasseh: Hanniel, son of Ephod; and

²⁴from the tribe of Ephraim: Kemuel, son of Shiphtan, for the descendants of Joseph;

²⁵from the tribe of Zebulun: Elizaphan, son of Parnach;

²⁶from the tribe of Issachar: Paltiel, son of Azzan;

²⁷from the tribe of Asher: Ahihud, son of Shelomi;

²⁸from the tribe of Naphtali: Pedahel, son of Ammihud."

²⁹These are they whom the LORD commanded to assign the Israelites their heritage in the land of Canaan.

35The LORD gave these instructions to Moses on the plains of Moab beside the Jericho stretch of the Jordan:

²"Tell the Israelites that out of their hereditary property they shall give the Levites cities for homes, as well as pasture lands around the cities.

³The cities shall serve them to dwell in, and the pasture lands shall serve their herds and flocks and other animals.

⁴The pasture lands of the cities to be assigned the Levites shall extend a thousand cubits from the city walls in each direction.

⁵Thus you shall measure out two thousand cubits outside the city along each side--east, south, west and north--with the city lying in the center. This shall serve them as the pasture lands of their cities.

⁶"Now these are the cities you shall give to the Levites: the six cities of asylum which you must establish as places where a homicide can take refuge, and in addition forty-two other cities--

⁷a total of forty-eight cities with their pasture lands to be assigned the Levites.

⁸In assigning the cities from the property of the Israelites, take more from a larger group and fewer from a smaller one, so that each group will cede cities to the Levites in proportion to its own heritage."

⁹The LORD said to Moses,

¹⁰"Tell the Israelites: When you go across the Jordan into the land of Canaan, ¹¹select for yourselves cities to serve as cities of asylum, where a homicide who has killed someone unintentionally may take refuge.

¹²These cities shall serve you as places of asylum from the avenger of blood, so that a homicide shall not be put to death unless he is first tried before the community.

¹³Six cities of asylum shall you assign:

¹⁴three beyond the Jordan, and three in the land of Canaan.

¹⁵These six cities of asylum shall serve not only the Israelites but all the resident or transient aliens among them, so that anyone who has killed another unintentionally may take refuge there.

¹⁶If a man strikes another with an iron instrument and causes his death, he is a murderer and shall be put to death.

¹⁷If a man strikes another with a death-dealing stone in his hand and causes his death, he is a murderer and shall be put to death.

¹⁸If a man strikes another with a death-dealing club in his hand and causes his death, he is a murderer and shall be put to death.

¹⁹The avenger of blood may execute the murderer, putting him to death on sight.

²⁰If a man pushes another out of hatred, or after lying in wait for him throws something at him, and causes his death,

²¹or if he strikes another out of enmity and causes his death, he shall be put to death as a murderer. The avenger of blood may execute the murderer on sight.

²²However, if a man pushes another accidentally and not out of enmity, or if without lying in wait for him he throws some object at him,

²³or without seeing him throws a death-dealing stone which strikes him and causes his death, although he was not his enemy nor seeking to harm him:

²⁴then the community, deciding the case between the slayer and the avenger of blood in accordance with these norms,

²⁵shall free the homicide from the avenger of blood and shall remand him to the city of asylum where he took refuge; and he shall stay there until the death of the high priest who has been anointed with sacred oil.

²⁶If the homicide of his own accord leaves the bounds of the city of asylum where he has taken refuge,

²⁷and the avenger of blood finds him beyond these bounds and kills him, the avenger incurs no bloodguilt;

²⁸the homicide was bound to stay in his city of asylum until the death of the high priest. Only after the death of the high priest may the homicide return to his own district.

²⁹"These shall be norms for you and all your descendants, wherever you live, for rendering judgment.

³⁰"Whenever someone kills another, the evidence of witnesses is required for the execution of the murderer. The evidence of a single witness is not sufficient for putting a person to death.

³¹"You shall not accept indemnity in place of the life of a murderer who deserves the death penalty; he must be put to death.

³²Nor shall you accept indemnity to allow a refugee to leave his city of asylum and again dwell elsewhere in the land before the death of the high priest.

³³You shall not desecrate the land where you live. Since bloodshed desecrates the land, the land can have no atonement for the blood shed on it except through the blood of him who shed it.

³⁴Do not defile the land in which you live and in the midst of which I dwell; for I am the LORD who dwells in the midst of the Israelites."

36 The heads of the ancestral houses in the clan of descendants of Gilead, son of Machir, son of Manasseh-one of the Josephite clans-came up and laid this plea before Moses and the priest Eleazar and before the princes who were the heads of the ancestral houses of the other Israelites.

²They said: "The LORD commanded you, my lord, to apportion the land by lot among the Israelites; and you, my lord, were also commanded by the LORD to give the heritage of our kinsman Zelophehad to his daughters.

³But if they marry into one of the other Israelite tribes, their heritage will be withdrawn from our ancestral heritage and will be added to that of the tribe into which they marry; thus the heritage that fell to us by lot will be diminished.

⁴When the Israelites celebrate the jubilee year, the heritage of these women will be permanently added to that of the tribe into which they marry and will be withdrawn from that of our ancestral tribe."

⁵So Moses gave this regulation to the Israelites according to the instructions of the LORD: "The tribe of the Josephites are right in what they say.

⁶This is what the LORD commands with regard to the daughters of Zelophehad: They may marry anyone they please, provided they marry into a clan of their ancestral tribe, ⁷so that no heritage of the Israelites will pass from one tribe to another, but all the Israelites will retain their own ancestral heritage.

⁸Therefore, every daughter who inherits property in any of the Israelite tribes shall marry someone belonging to a clan of her own ancestral tribe, in order that all the Israelites may remain in possession of their own ancestral heritage.

⁹Thus, no heritage can pass from one tribe to another, but all the Israelite tribes will retain their own ancestral heritage."

¹⁰The daughters of Zelophehad obeyed the command which the LORD had given to Moses.

¹¹Mahlah, Tirzah, Hoglah, Milcah and Noah, Zelophehad's daughters, married relatives on their father's side

¹²within the clans of the descendants of Manasseh, son of Joseph; hence their heritage remained in the tribe of their father's clan.

¹³These are the commandments and decisions which the LORD prescribed for the Israelites through Moses, on the plains of Moab beside the Jericho stretch of the Jordan.

Deuteronomy

1 These are the words which Moses spoke to all Israel beyond the Jordan (in the desert, in the Arabah, opposite Suph, between Paran and Tophel, Laban, Hazeroth and Dizahab;

2 it is a journey of eleven days from Horeb to Kadesh-barnea by way of the highlands of Seir).

3 In the fortieth year, on the first day of the eleventh month, Moses spoke to the Israelites all the commands that the LORD had given him in their regard.

4 After he had defeated Sihon, king of the Amorites, who lived in Heshbon, and Og, king of Bashan, who lived in Ashtaroth and in Edrei,

5 Moses began to explain the law in the land of Moab beyond the Jordan, as follows:

6 "The LORD, our God, said to us at Horeb, 'You have stayed long enough at this mountain.

7 Leave here and go to the hill country of the Amorites and to all the surrounding regions, the land of the Canaanites in the Arabah, the mountains, the foothills, the Negeb and the seacoast; to Lebanon, and as far as the Great River (the Euphrates).

8 I have given that land over to you. Go now and occupy the land I swore to your fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, I would give to them and to their descendants.'

9 "At that time I said to you, 'Alone, I am unable to carry you.

10 The LORD, your God, has so multiplied you that you are now as numerous as the stars in the sky.

11 May the LORD, the God of your fathers, increase you a thousand times over, and bless you as he promised!

12 But how can I alone bear the crushing burden that you are, along with your bickering?

¹³Choose wise, intelligent and experienced men from each of your tribes, that I may appoint them as your leaders.'

¹⁴You answered me, 'We agree to do as you have proposed.'

¹⁵So I took outstanding men of your tribes, wise and experienced, and made them your leaders as officials over thousands, over hundreds, over fifties and over tens, and other tribal officers.

¹⁶I charged your judges at that time, 'Listen to complaints among your kinsmen, and administer true justice to both parties even if one of them is an alien.

¹⁷In rendering judgment, do not consider who a person is; give ear to the lowly and to the great alike, fearing no man, for judgment is God's. Refer to me any case that is too hard for you and I will hear it.'

¹⁸Thereupon I gave you all the commands you were to fulfill.

¹⁹"Then, in obedience to the command of the LORD, our God, we set out from Horeb and journeyed through the whole desert, vast and fearful as you have seen, in the direction of the hill country of the Amorites. We had reached Kadesh-barnea

²⁰when I said to you, 'You have come to the hill country of the Amorites, which the LORD, our God, is giving us.

²¹The LORD, your God, has given this land over to you. Go up and occupy it, as the LORD, the God of your fathers, commands you. Do not fear or lose heart.'

²²Then all of you came up to me and said, 'Let us send men ahead to reconnoiter the land for us and report to us on the road we must follow and the cities we must take.'

²³Agreeing with the proposal, I chose twelve men from your number, one from each tribe.

²⁴They set out into the hill country as far as the Wadi Eshcol, and explored it.

²⁵Then, taking along some of the fruit of the land, they brought it down to us and reported, 'The land which the LORD, our God, gives us is good.'

²⁶"But you refused to go up, and after defying the command of the LORD, your God,

²⁷ you set to murmuring in your tents, 'Out of hatred for us the LORD has brought us up out of the land of Egypt, to deliver us into the hands of the Amorites and destroy us.

²⁸ What shall we meet with up there? Our kinsmen have made us fainthearted by reporting that the people are stronger and taller than we, and their cities are large and fortified to the sky; besides, they saw the Anakim there.'

²⁹ "But I said to you, 'Have no dread or fear of them.

³⁰ The LORD, your God, who goes before you, will himself fight for you, just as he took your part before your very eyes in Egypt,

³¹ as well as in the desert, where you saw how the LORD, your God, carried you, as a man carries his child, all along your journey until you arrived at this place.'

³² Despite this, you would not trust the LORD, your God,

³³ who journeys before you to find you a resting place--by day in the cloud, and by night in the fire, to show the way you must go.

³⁴ When the LORD heard your words, he was angry;

³⁵ and he swore, 'Not one man of this evil generation shall look upon the good land I swore to give to your fathers,

³⁶ except Caleb, son of Jephunneh; he shall see it. For to him and to his sons I will give the land he trod upon, because he has followed the LORD unreservedly.'

³⁷ "The LORD was angered against me also on your account, and said, 'Not even you shall enter there,

³⁸ but your aide Joshua, son of Nun, shall enter. Encourage him, for he is to give Israel its heritage.

³⁹ Your little ones, who you said would become booty, and your children, who as yet do not know good from bad--they shall enter; to them I will give it, and they shall occupy it.

⁴⁰ But as for yourselves: turn about and proceed into the desert on the Red Sea road.'

⁴¹"In reply you said to me, 'We have sinned against the LORD. We will go up ourselves and fight, just as the LORD, our God, commanded us.' And each of you girded on his weapons, making light of going up into the hill country.

⁴²But the LORD said to me, 'Warn them: Do not go up and fight, lest you be beaten down before your enemies, for I will not be in your midst.'

⁴³I gave you this warning but you would not listen. In defiance of the LORD'S command you arrogantly marched off into the hill country.

⁴⁴Then the Amorites living there came out against you and, like bees, chased you, cutting you down in Seir as far as Hormah.

⁴⁵On your return you wept before the LORD, but he did not listen to your cry or give ear to you.

⁴⁶That is why you had to stay as long as you did at Kadesh.

2"When we did turn and proceed into the desert on the Red Sea road, as the LORD had commanded me, we circled around the highlands of Seir for a long time.

²Finally the LORD said to me,

³'You have wandered round these highlands long enough; turn and go north.

⁴Give this order to the people: You are now about to pass through the territory of your kinsmen, the descendants of Esau, who live in Seir. Though they are afraid of you, be very careful ⁵not to come in conflict with them, for I will not give you so much as a foot of their land, since I have already given Esau possession of the highlands of Seir.

⁶You shall purchase from them with silver the food you eat and the well water you drink.

⁷The LORD, your God, has blessed you in all your undertakings; he has been concerned about your journey through this vast desert. It is now forty years that he has been with you, and you have never been in want.'

⁸"Then we left behind us the Arabah route, Elath, Ezion-geber, and Seir, where our kinsmen, the descendants of Esau, live; and we went on toward the desert of Moab.

⁹And the LORD said to me, 'Do not show hostility to the Moabites or engage them in battle, for I will not give you possession of any of their land, since I have given Ar to the descendants of Lot as their own.

¹⁰(Formerly the Emim lived there, a people strong and numerous and tall like the Anakim; ¹¹like them they were considered Rephaim. It was the Moabites who called them Emim.

¹²In Seir, however, the former inhabitants were the Horites; the descendants of Esau dispossessed them, clearing them out of the way and taking their place, just as the Israelites have done in the land of their heritage which the LORD has given them.)

¹³Get ready, then, to cross the Wadi Zered.' So we crossed it.

¹⁴Thirty-eight years had elapsed between our departure from Kadesh-barnea and that crossing; in the meantime the whole generation of soldiers had perished from the camp, as the LORD had sworn they should.

¹⁵For it was the LORD'S hand that was against them, till he wiped them out of the camp completely.

¹⁶"When at length death had put an end to all the soldiers among the people,

¹⁷the LORD said to me,

¹⁸You are now about to leave Ar and the territory of Moab behind.

¹⁹As you come opposite the Ammonites, do not show hostility or come in conflict with them, for I will not give you possession of any land of the Ammonites, since I have given it to the descendants of Lot as their own.

²⁰(This also was considered a country of the Rephaim from its former inhabitants, whom the Ammonites called Zamzummim, ²¹a people strong and numerous and tall like the Anakim. But these, too, the LORD cleared out of the way for the Ammonites, who ousted them and took their place.

²²He had done the same for the descendants of Esau, who dwell in Seir, by clearing the Horites out of their way, so that the descendants of Esau have taken their place down to the present.

- ²³So also the Capthorim, migrating from Capthor, cleared away the Avvim, who once dwelt in villages as far as Gaza, and took their place.)
- ²⁴"Advance now across the Wadi Arnon. I now deliver into your hands Sihon, the Amorite king of Heshbon, and his land. Begin the occupation; engage him in battle.
- ²⁵This day I will begin to put a fear and dread of you into every nation under the heavens, so that at the mention of your name they will quake and tremble before you.'
- ²⁶"So I sent messengers from the desert of Kedemoth to Sihon, king of Heshbon, with this offer of peace:
- ²⁷'Let me pass through your country by the highway; I will go along it without turning aside to the right or to the left.
- ²⁸For the food I eat which you will supply, and for the water you give me to drink, you shall be paid in silver. Only let me march through,
- ²⁹as the descendants of Esau who dwell in Seir and the Moabites who dwell in Ar have done, until I cross the Jordan into the land which the LORD, our God, is about to give us.'
- ³⁰But Sihon, king of Heshbon, refused to let us pass through his land, because the LORD, your God, made him stubborn in mind and obstinate in heart that he might deliver him up to you, as indeed he has now done.
- ³¹"Then the LORD said to me, 'Now that I have already begun to hand over to you Sihon and his land, begin the actual occupation.'
- ³²So Sihon and all his people advanced against us to join battle at Jahaz;
- ³³but since the LORD, our God, had delivered him to us, we defeated him and his sons and all his people.
- ³⁴At that time we seized all his cities and doomed them all, with their men, women and children; we left no survivor.
- ³⁵Our only booty was the livestock and the loot of the captured cities.

³⁶From Aroer on the edge of the Wadi Arnon and from the city in the wadi itself, as far as Gilead, no city was too well fortified for us to whom the LORD had delivered them up.

³⁷However, in obedience to the command of the LORD, our God, you did not encroach upon any of the Ammonite land, neither the region bordering on the Wadi Jabbok, nor the cities of the highlands.

3"Then we turned and proceeded toward Bashan. But Og, king of Bashan, advanced against us with all his people to give battle at Edrei.

²The LORD, however, said to me, 'Do not be afraid of him, for I have delivered him into your hand with all his people and his land. Do to him as you did to Sihon, king of the Amorites, who lived in Heshbon.'

³And thus the LORD, our God, delivered into our hands Og, king of Bashan, with all his people. We defeated him so completely that we left him no survivor.

⁴At that time we captured all his cities, none of them eluding our grasp, the whole region of Argob, the kingdom of Og in Bashan: sixty cities in all,

⁵to say nothing of the great number of unwallied towns. All the cities were fortified with high walls and gates and bars.

⁶As we had done to Sihon, king of Heshbon, so also here we doomed all the cities, with their men, women and children;

⁷but all the livestock and the loot of each city we took as booty for ourselves.

⁸"And so at that time we took from the two kings of the Amorites beyond the Jordan the territory from the Wadi Arnon to Mount Hermon

⁹(which is called Sirion by the Sidonians and Senir by the Amorites), ¹⁰comprising all the cities of the plateau and all Gilead and all the cities of the kingdom of Og in Bashan including Salecah and Edrei.

¹³The rest of Gilead and all of Bashan, the kingdom of Og, the whole Argob region, I gave to the half-tribe of Manasseh. (All this region of Bashan was once called a land of the Rephaim.

¹⁴Jair, a Manassehite clan, took all the region of Argob as far as the border of the Geshurites and Maacathites, and called it after his own name Bashan Havvoth-jair, the name it bears today.)

¹⁵To Machir I gave Gilead,

¹⁶and to Reuben and Gad the territory from Gilead to the Wadi Arnon--including the wadi bed and its banks--and to the Wadi Jabbok, which is the border of the Ammonites, ¹⁷as well as the Arabah with the Jordan and its eastern banks from Chinnereth to the Salt Sea of the Arabah, under the slopes of Pisgah.

¹⁸"At that time I charged them as follows 'The LORD, your God, has given you this land as your own. But all you troops equipped for battle must cross over in the vanguard of your brother Israelites.

¹⁹Only your wives and children, as well as your livestock, of which I know you have a large number, shall remain behind in the towns I have given you,

²⁰until the LORD has settled your kinsmen as well, and they too possess the land which the LORD, your God, will give them on the other side of the Jordan. Then you may all return to the possessions I have given you.'

²¹"It was then that I instructed Joshua, 'Your eyes have seen all that the LORD, your God, has done to both these kings; so, too, will the LORD do to all the kingdoms which you will encounter over there.

²²Fear them not, for the LORD, your God, will fight for you.'

²³"And it was then that I besought the LORD,

²⁴'O Lord GOD, you have begun to show to your servant your greatness and might. For what god in heaven or on earth can perform deeds as mighty as yours?

²⁵Ah, let me cross over and see this good land beyond the Jordan, this fine hill country, and the Lebanon!

²⁶But the LORD was angry with me on your account and would not hear me. 'Enough!' the LORD said to me. 'Speak to me no more of this.'

²⁷Go up to the top of Pisgah and look out to the west, and to the north, and to the south, and to the east. Look well, for you shall not cross this Jordan.

²⁸Commission Joshua, and encourage and strengthen him, for he shall cross at the head of this people and shall put them in possession of the land you are to see.'

²⁹This was while we were in the ravine opposite Beth-peor.

4"Now, Israel, hear the statutes and decrees which I am teaching you to observe, that you may live, and may enter in and take possession of the land which the LORD, the God of your fathers, is giving you.

²In your observance of the commandments of the LORD, your God, which I enjoy upon you, you shall not add to what I command you nor subtract from it.

³You have seen with your own eyes what the LORD did at Baal-peor: the LORD, your God, destroyed from your midst everyone that followed the Baal of Peor;

⁴but you, who clung to the LORD, your God, are all alive today.

⁵Therefore, I teach you the statutes and decrees as the LORD, my God, has commanded me, that you may observe them in the land you are entering to occupy.

⁶Observe them carefully, for thus will you give evidence of your wisdom and intelligence to the nations, who will hear of all these statutes and say, 'This great nation is truly a wise and intelligent people.'

⁷For what great nation is there that has gods so close to it as the LORD, our God, is to us whenever we call upon him?

⁸Or what great nation has statutes and decrees that are as just as this whole law which I am setting before you today?

⁹"However, take care and be earnestly on your guard not to forget the things which your own eyes have seen, nor let them slip from your memory as long as you live, but teach them to your children and to your children's children.

¹⁰There was the day on which you stood before the LORD, your God, at Horeb, and he said to me, 'Assemble the people for me; I will have them hear my words, that they may learn to fear me as long as they live in the land and may so teach their children.'

¹¹You came near and stood at the foot of the mountain, which blazed to the very sky with fire and was enveloped in a dense black cloud.

¹²Then the LORD spoke to you from the midst of the fire. You heard the sound of the words, but saw no form; there was only a voice.

¹³He proclaimed to you his covenant, which he commanded you to keep: the ten commandments, which he wrote on two tablets of stone.

¹⁴The LORD charged me at that time to teach you the statutes and decrees which you are to observe over in the land you will occupy.

¹⁵"You saw no form at all on the day the LORD spoke to you at Horeb from the midst of the fire. Be strictly on your guard, therefore,

¹⁶not to degrade yourselves by fashioning an idol to represent any figure, whether it be the form of a man or a woman,

¹⁷of any animal on the earth or of any bird that flies in the sky,

¹⁸of anything that crawls on the ground or of any fish in the waters under the earth.

¹⁹And when you look up to the heavens and behold the sun or the moon or any star among the heavenly hosts, do not be led astray into adoring them and serving them. These the LORD, your God, has let fall to the lot of all other nations under the heavens;

²⁰but you he has taken and led out of that iron foundry, Egypt, that you might be his very own people, as you are today.

²¹Since the LORD was angered against me on your account and swore that I should not cross the Jordan nor enter the good land which he is giving you as a heritage, ²²I myself shall die in this country without crossing the Jordan; but you will cross over and take possession of that good land.

²³Take heed, therefore, lest, forgetting the covenant which the LORD, your God, has made with you, you fashion for yourselves against his command an idol in any form whatsoever.

²⁴For the LORD, your God, is a consuming fire, a jealous God.

²⁵"When you have children and grandchildren, and have grown old in the land, should you then degrade yourselves by fashioning an idol in any form and by this evil done in his sight provoke the LORD, your God,

²⁶I call heaven and earth this day to witness against you, that you shall all quickly perish from the land which you will occupy when you cross the Jordan. You shall not live in it for any length of time but shall be promptly wiped out.

²⁷The LORD will scatter you among the nations, and there shall remain but a handful of you among the nations to which the LORD will lead you.

²⁸There you shall serve gods fashioned by the hands of man out of wood and stone, gods which can neither see nor hear, neither eat nor smell.

²⁹Yet there too you shall seek the LORD, your God; and you shall indeed find him when you search after him with your whole heart and your whole soul.

³⁰In your distress, when all these things shall have come upon you, you shall finally return to the LORD, your God, and heed his voice.

³¹Since the LORD, your God, is a merciful God, he will not abandon and destroy you, nor forget the covenant which under oath he made with your fathers.

³²"Ask now of the days of old, before your time, ever since God created man upon the earth; ask from one end of the sky to the other: Did anything so great ever happen before? Was it ever heard of?

³³Did a people ever hear the voice of God speaking from the midst of fire, as you did, and live?

³⁴Or did any god venture to go and take a nation for himself from the midst of another nation, by testings, by signs and wonders, by war, with his strong hand and outstretched arm, and by great terrors, all of which the LORD, your God, did for you in Egypt before your very eyes?

³⁵All this you were allowed to see that you might know the LORD is God and there is no other.

³⁶Out of the heavens he let you hear his voice to discipline you; on earth he let you see his great fire, and you heard him speaking out of the fire.

³⁷For love of your fathers he chose their descendants and personally led you out of Egypt by his great power, ³⁸driving out of your way nations greater and mightier than you, so as to bring you in and to make their land your heritage, as it is today.

³⁹This is why you must now know, and fix in your heart, that the LORD is God in the heavens above and on earth below, and that there is no other.

⁴⁰You must keep his statutes and commandments which I enjoin on you today, that you and your children after you may prosper, and that you may have long life on the land which the LORD, your God, is giving you forever."

⁴¹Then Moses set apart three cities in the region east of the Jordan,

⁴²that a homicide might take refuge there if he unwittingly killed his neighbor to whom he had previously borne no malice, and that he might save his life by fleeing to one of these cities:

⁴³Bezer in the desert, in the region of the plateau, for the Reubenites; Ramoth in Gilead for the Gadites; and Golan in Bashan for the Manassehites.

⁴⁴This is the law which Moses set before the Israelites.

⁴⁵These are the ordinances, statutes and decrees which he proclaimed to them when they had come out of Egypt

⁴⁶and were beyond the Jordan in the ravine opposite Beth-peor, in the land of Sihon, king of the Amorites, who dwelt in Heshbon and whom Moses and the Israelites defeated after coming out of Egypt.

⁴⁷They occupied his land and the land of Og, king of Bashan, as well--the land of these two kings of the Amorites in the region east of the Jordan:

⁴⁸from Aroer on the edge of the Wadi Arnon to Mount Sion (that is Hermon)

⁴⁹and all the Arabah east of the Jordan, as far as the Arabah Sea under the slopes of Pisgah.

5 Moses summoned all Israel and said to them, "Hear, O Israel, the statutes and decrees which I proclaim in your hearing this day, that you may learn them and take care to observe them.

²The LORD, our God, made a covenant with us at Horeb;

³not with our fathers did he make this covenant, but with us, all of us who are alive here this day.

⁴The LORD spoke with you face to face on the mountain from the midst of the fire.

⁵Since you were afraid of the fire and would not go up the mountain, I stood between the LORD and you at that time, to announce to you these words of the LORD:

⁶I, the LORD, am your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, that place of slavery.

⁷You shall not have other gods besides me.

⁸You shall not carve idols for yourselves in the shape of anything in the sky above or on the earth below or in the waters beneath the earth;

⁹you shall not bow down before them or worship them. For I, the LORD, your God, am a jealous God, inflicting punishments for their fathers' wickedness on the children of those who hate me, down to the third and fourth generation

¹⁰but bestowing mercy, down to the thousandth generation, on the children of those who love me and keep my commandments.

¹¹You shall not take the name of the LORD, your God, in vain. For the LORD will not leave unpunished him who takes his name in vain.

¹²Take care to keep holy the sabbath day as the LORD, your God, commanded you.

¹³Six days you may labor and do all your work;

¹⁴but the seventh day is the sabbath of the LORD, your God. No work may be done then, whether by you, or your son or daughter, or your male or female slave, or your ox or ass or any of your beasts, or the alien who lives with you. Your male and female slave should rest as you do.

¹⁵For remember that you too were once slaves in Egypt, and the LORD, your God, brought you from there with his strong hand and outstretched arm. That is why the LORD, your God, has commanded you to observe the sabbath day.

¹⁶Honor your father and your mother, as the LORD, your God, has commanded you, that you may have a long life and prosperity in the land which the LORD, your God, is giving you.

¹⁷You shall not kill.

¹⁸You shall not commit adultery.

¹⁹You shall not steal.

²⁰You shall not bear dishonest witness against your neighbor.

²¹You shall not covet your neighbor's wife. 'You shall not desire your neighbor's house or field, nor his male or female slave, nor his ox or ass, nor anything that belongs to him.'

²²"These words, and nothing more, the LORD spoke with a loud voice to your entire assembly on the mountain from the midst of the fire and the dense cloud. He wrote them upon two tablets of stone and gave them to me.

²³But when you heard the voice from the midst of the darkness, while the mountain was ablaze with fire, you came to me in the person of all your tribal heads and elders,

²⁴and said, 'The LORD, our God, has indeed let us see his glory and his majesty! We have heard his voice from the midst of the fire and have found out today that a man can still live after God has spoken with him.

²⁵But why should we die now? Surely this great fire will consume us. If we hear the voice of the LORD, our God, any more, we shall die.

²⁶For what mortal has heard, as we have, the voice of the living God speaking from the midst of fire, and survived?

²⁷Go closer, you, and hear all that the LORD, our God, will say, and then tell us what the LORD, our God, tells you; we will listen and obey.'

²⁸"The LORD heard your words as you were speaking to me and said to me, 'I have heard the words these people have spoken to you, which are all well said.

²⁹Would that they might always be of such a mind, to fear me and to keep all my commandments! Then they and their descendants would prosper forever.

³⁰Go, tell them to return to their tents.

³¹Then you wait here near me and I will give you all the commandments, the statutes and decrees you must teach them, that they may observe them in the land which I am giving them to possess.'

³²"Be careful, therefore, to do as the LORD, your God, has commanded you, not turning aside to the right or to the left,

³³but following exactly the way prescribed for you by the LORD, your God, that you may live and prosper, and may have long life in the land which you are to occupy.

6"These then are the commandments, the statutes and decrees which the LORD, your God, has ordered that you be taught to observe in the land into which you are crossing for conquest,

²so that you and your son and your grandson may fear the LORD, your God, and keep, throughout the days of your lives, all his statutes and commandments which I enjoin on you, and thus have long life.

³Hear then, Israel, and be careful to observe them, that you may grow and prosper the more, in keeping with the promise of the LORD, the God of your fathers, to give you a land flowing with milk and honey.

⁴"Hear, O Israel! The LORD is our God, the LORD alone!

⁵Therefore, you shall love the LORD, your God, with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your strength.

⁶Take to heart these words which I enjoin on you today.

⁷Drill them into your children. Speak of them at home and abroad, whether you are busy or at rest.

⁸Bind them at your wrist as a sign and let them be as a pendant on your forehead.

⁹Write them on the doorposts of your houses and on your gates.

¹⁰"When the LORD, your God, brings you into the land which he swore to your fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, that he would give you, a land with fine, large cities that you did not build,

¹¹with houses full of goods of all sorts that you did not garner, with cisterns that you did not dig, with vineyards and olive groves that you did not plant; and when, therefore, you eat your fill,

¹²take care not to forget the LORD, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, that place of slavery.

¹³The LORD, your God, shall you fear; him shall you serve, and by his name shall you swear.

¹⁴You shall not follow other gods, such as those of the surrounding nations,

¹⁵lest the wrath of the LORD, your God, flare up against you and he destroy you from the face of the land; for the LORD, your God, who is in your midst, is a jealous God.

¹⁶"You shall not put the LORD, your God, to the test, as you did at Massah.

¹⁷But keep the commandments of the LORD, your God, and the ordinances and statutes he has enjoined on you.

¹⁸Do what is right and good in the sight of the LORD, that you may, according to his word, prosper, and may enter in and possess the good land which the LORD promised on oath to your fathers, ¹⁹thrusting all your enemies out of your way.

²⁰"Later on, when your son asks you what these ordinances, statutes and decrees mean which the LORD, our God, has enjoined on you,

²¹you shall say to your son, 'We were once slaves of Pharaoh in Egypt, but the LORD brought us out of Egypt with his strong hand

²²and wrought before our eyes signs and wonders, great and dire, against Egypt and against Pharaoh and his whole house.

²³He brought us from there to lead us into the land he promised on oath to our fathers, and to give it to us.

²⁴Therefore, the LORD commanded us to observe all these statutes in fear of the LORD, our God, that we may always have as prosperous and happy a life as we have today;

²⁵and our justice before the LORD, our God, is to consist in carefully observing all these commandments he has enjoined on us.'

7"When the LORD, your God, brings you into the land which you are to enter and occupy, and dislodges great nations before you--the Hittites, Girgashites, Amorites, Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivites and Jebusites: seven nations more numerous and powerful than you--

²and when the LORD, your God, delivers them up to you and you defeat them, you shall doom them. Make no covenant with them and show them no mercy.

³You shall not intermarry with them, neither giving your daughters to their sons nor taking their daughters for your sons.

⁴For they would turn your sons from following me to serving other gods, and then the wrath of the LORD would flare up against you and quickly destroy you.

⁵"But this is how you must deal with them: Tear down their altars, smash their sacred pillars, chop down their sacred poles, and destroy their idols by fire.

⁶For you are a people sacred to the LORD, your God; he has chosen you from all the nations on the face of the earth to be a people peculiarly his own.

⁷It was not because you are the largest of all nations that the LORD set his heart on you and chose you, for you are really the smallest of all nations.

⁸It was because the LORD loved you and because of his fidelity to the oath he had sworn to your fathers, that he brought you out with his strong hand from the place of slavery, and ransomed you from the hand of Pharaoh, king of Egypt.

⁹Understand, then, that the LORD, your God, is God indeed, the faithful God who keeps his merciful covenant down to the thousandth generation toward those who love him and keep his commandments, ¹⁰but who repays with destruction the person who hates him; he does not dally with such a one, but makes him personally pay for it.

¹¹You shall therefore carefully observe the commandments, the statutes and the decrees which I enjoin on you today.

¹²"As your reward for heeding these decrees and observing them carefully, the LORD, your God, will keep with you the merciful covenant which he promised on oath to your fathers.

¹³He will love and bless and multiply you; he will bless the fruit of your womb and the produce of your soil, your grain and wine and oil, the issue of your herds and the young of your flocks, in the land which he swore to your fathers he would give you.

¹⁴You will be blessed above all peoples; no man or woman among you shall be childless nor shall your livestock be barren.

¹⁵The LORD will remove all sickness from you; he will not afflict you with any of the malignant diseases that you know from Egypt, but will leave them with all your enemies.

¹⁶"You shall consume all the nations which the LORD, your God, will deliver up to you. You are not to look on them with pity, lest you be ensnared into serving their gods.

¹⁷Perhaps you will say to yourselves, 'These nations are greater than we. How can we dispossess them?'

¹⁸But do not be afraid of them. Rather, call to mind what the LORD, your God, did to Pharaoh and to all Egypt:

¹⁹the great testings which your own eyes have seen, the signs and wonders, his strong hand and outstretched arm with which the LORD, your God, brought you out. The same also will he do to all the nations of whom you are now afraid.

²⁰Moreover, the LORD, your God, will send hornets among them, until the survivors who have hidden from you are destroyed.

²¹Therefore, do not be terrified by them, for the LORD, your God, who is in your midst, is a great and awesome God.

²²He will dislodge these nations before you little by little. You cannot exterminate them all at once, lest the wild beasts become too numerous for you.

²³The LORD, your God, will deliver them up to you and will rout them utterly until they are annihilated.

²⁴He will deliver their kings into your hand, that you may make their names perish from under the heavens. No man will be able to stand up against you, till you have put an end to them.

²⁵The images of their gods you shall destroy by fire. Do not covet the silver or gold on them, nor take it for yourselves, lest you be ensnared by it; for it is an abomination to the LORD, your God.

²⁶You shall not bring any abominable thing into your house, lest you be doomed with it; loathe and abhor it utterly as a thing that is doomed.

8"Be careful to observe all the commandments I enjoin on you today, that you may live and increase, and may enter in and possess the land which the LORD promised on oath to your fathers.

²Remember how for forty years now the LORD, your God, has directed all your journeying in the desert, so as to test you by affliction and find out whether or not it was your intention to keep his commandments.

³He therefore let you be afflicted with hunger, and then fed you with manna, a food unknown to you and your fathers, in order to show you that not by bread alone does man live, but by every word that comes forth from the mouth of the LORD.

⁴The clothing did not fall from you in tatters, nor did your feet swell these forty years.

⁵So you must realize that the LORD, your God, disciplines you even as a man disciplines his son.

⁶"Therefore, keep the commandments of the LORD, your God, by walking in his ways and fearing him.

⁷For the LORD, your God, is bringing you into a good country, a land with streams of water, with springs and fountains welling up in the hills and valleys,

⁸a land of wheat and barley, of vines and fig trees and pomegranates, of olive trees and of honey,

⁹a land where you can eat bread without stint and where you will lack nothing, a land whose stones contain iron and in whose hills you can mine copper.

¹⁰But when you have eaten your fill, you must bless the LORD, your God, for the good country he has given you.

¹¹Be careful not to forget the LORD, your God, by neglecting his commandments and decrees and statutes which I enjoin on you today:

¹²lest, when you have eaten your fill, and have built fine houses and lived in them,

¹³and have increased your herds and flocks, your silver and gold, and all your property,

¹⁴you then become haughty of heart and unmindful of the LORD, your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, that place of slavery;

¹⁵who guided you through the vast and terrible desert with its saraph serpents and scorpions, its parched and waterless ground; who brought forth water for you from the flinty rock

¹⁶and fed you in the desert with manna, a food unknown to your fathers, that he might afflict you and test you, but also make you prosperous in the end.

¹⁷Otherwise, you might say to yourselves, 'It is my own power and the strength of my own hand that has obtained for me this wealth.'

¹⁸Remember then, it is the LORD, your God, who gives you the power to acquire wealth, by fulfilling, as he has now done, the covenant which he swore to your fathers.

¹⁹But if you forget the LORD, your God, and follow other gods, serving and worshiping them, I forewarn you this day that you will perish utterly.

²⁰Like the nations which the LORD destroys before you, so shall you too perish for not heeding the voice of the LORD, your God.

9"Hear, O Israel! You are now about to cross the Jordan to enter in and dispossess nations greater and stronger than yourselves, having large cities fortified to the sky,

²the Anakim, a people great and tall. You know of them and have heard it said of them, 'Who can stand up against the Anakim?'

³Understand, then, today that it is the LORD, your God, who will cross over before you as a consuming fire; he it is who will reduce them to nothing and subdue them before you, so that you can drive them out and destroy them quickly, as the LORD promised you.

⁴After the LORD, your God, has thrust them out of your way, do not say to yourselves, 'It is because of my merits that the LORD has brought me in to possess this land'; for it is really because of the wickedness of these nations that the LORD is driving them out before you.

⁵No, it is not because of your merits or the integrity of your heart that you are going in to take possession of their land; but the LORD, your God, is driving these nations out before you on account of their wickedness and in order to keep the promise which he made on oath to your fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.

⁶Understand this, therefore: it is not because of your merits that the LORD, your God, is giving you this good land to possess, for you are a stiff-necked people.

⁸At Horeb you so provoked the LORD that he was angry enough to destroy you,

⁹when I had gone up the mountain to receive the stone tablets of the covenant which the LORD made with you. Meanwhile I stayed on the mountain forty days and forty nights without eating or drinking, ¹⁰till the LORD gave me the two tablets of stone inscribed, by God's own finger, with a copy of all the words that the LORD spoke to you on the mountain from the midst of the fire on the day of the assembly.

¹¹Then, at the end of the forty days and forty nights, when the LORD had given me the two stone tablets of the covenant,

¹²he said to me, 'Go down from here now, quickly, for your people whom you have brought out of Egypt have become depraved; they have already turned aside from the way I pointed out to them and have made for themselves a molten idol.

¹³I have seen now how stiff-necked this people is,' the LORD said to me.

¹⁴Let me be, that I may destroy them and blot out their name from under the heavens. I will then make of you a nation mightier and greater than they.'

¹⁵"When I had come down again from the blazing, fiery mountain, with the two tablets of the covenant in both my hands,

¹⁶I saw how you had sinned against the LORD, your God: you had already turned aside from the way which the LORD had pointed out to you by making for yourselves a molten calf!

¹⁷Raising the two tablets with both hands I threw them from me and broke them before your eyes.

¹⁸Then, as before, I lay prostrate before the LORD for forty days and forty nights without eating or drinking, because of all the sin you had committed in the sight of the LORD and the evil you had done to provoke him.

¹⁹For I dreaded the fierce anger of the LORD against you: his wrath would destroy you. Yet once again the LORD listened to me.

²⁰With Aaron, too, the LORD was deeply angry, and would have killed him had I not prayed for him also at that time.

²¹Then, taking the calf, the sinful object you had made, and fusing it with fire, I ground it down to powder as fine as dust, which I threw into the wadi that went down the mountainside.

²²"At Taberah, at Massah, and at Kibroth-hattaavah likewise, you provoked the LORD to anger.

²³And when he sent you up from Kadesh-barnea to take possession of the land he was giving you, you rebelled against this command of the LORD, your God, and would not trust or obey him.

²⁴Ever since I have known you, you have been rebels against the LORD.

²⁵"Those forty days, then, and forty nights, I lay prostrate before the LORD, because he had threatened to destroy you.

²⁶This was my prayer to him: O Lord GOD, destroy not your people, the heritage which your majesty has ransomed and brought out of Egypt with your strong hand.

²⁷Remember your servants, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. Look not upon the stubbornness of this people nor upon their wickedness and sin,

²⁸lest the people from whose land you have brought us say, 'The LORD was not able to bring them into the land he promised them'; or 'Out of hatred for them, he brought them out to slay them in the desert.'

²⁹They are, after all, your people and your heritage, whom you have brought out by your great power and with your outstretched arm.

10"At that time the LORD said to me, 'Cut two tablets of stone like the former; then come up the mountain to me. Also make an ark of wood.

²I will write upon the tablets the commandments that were on the former tablets that you broke, and you shall place them in the ark.'

³So I made an ark of acacia wood, and cut two tablets of stone like the former, and went up the mountain carrying the two tablets.

⁴The LORD then wrote on them, as he had written before, the ten commandments which he spoke to you on the mountain from the midst of the fire on the day of the assembly. After the LORD had given them to me,

⁵I turned and came down the mountain, and placed the tablets in the ark I had made. There they have remained, in keeping with the command the LORD gave me.

⁶(The Israelites set out from Beeroth Bene-jaakan for Moserah, where Aaron died and was buried, his son Eleazar succeeding him in the priestly office.

⁷From there they set out for Gudgodah, and from Gudgodah for Jotbathah, a region where there is water in the wadies.)

⁸"At that time the LORD set apart the tribe of Levi to carry the ark of the covenant of the LORD, to be in attendance before the LORD and minister to him, and to give blessings in his name, as they have done to this day.

⁹For this reason, Levi has no share in the heritage with his brothers; the LORD himself is his heritage, as the LORD, your God, has told him.

¹⁰"After I had spent these other forty days and forty nights on the mountain, and the LORD had once again heard me and decided not to destroy you,

¹¹he said to me, 'Go now and set out at the head of your people, that they may enter in and occupy the land which I swore to their fathers I would give them.'

¹²"And now, Israel, what does the LORD, your God, ask of you but to fear the LORD, your God, and follow his ways exactly, to love and serve the LORD, your God, with all your heart and all your soul, ¹³to keep the commandments and statutes of the LORD which I enjoin on you today for your own good?

¹⁴Think! The heavens, even the highest heavens, belong to the LORD, your God, as well as the earth and everything on it.

¹⁵Yet in his love for your fathers the LORD was so attached to them as to choose you, their descendants, in preference to all other peoples, as indeed he has now done.

¹⁶Circumcise your hearts, therefore, and be no longer stiff-necked.

¹⁷For the LORD, your God, is the God of gods, the LORD of lords, the great God, mighty and awesome, who has no favorites, accepts no bribes;

¹⁸who executes justice for the orphan and the widow, and befriends the alien, feeding and clothing him.

¹⁹So you too must befriend the alien, for you were once aliens yourselves in the land of Egypt.

²⁰The LORD, your God, shall you fear, and him shall you serve; hold fast to him and swear by his name.

²¹He is your glory, he, your God, who has done for you those great and terrible things which your own eyes have seen.

²²Your ancestors went down to Egypt seventy strong, and now the LORD, your God, has made you as numerous as the stars of the sky.

11 "Love the LORD, your God, therefore, and always heed his charge: his statutes, decrees and commandments.

²It is not your children, who have not known it from experience, but you yourselves who must now understand the discipline of the LORD, your God; his majesty, his strong hand and outstretched arm;

³the signs and deeds he wrought among the Egyptians, on Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and on all his land;

⁴what he did to the Egyptian army and to their horses and chariots, engulfing them in the water of the Red Sea as they pursued you, and bringing ruin upon them even to this day;

⁵what he did for you in the desert until you arrived in this place;

⁶and what he did to the Reubenites Dathan and Abiram, sons of Eliab, when the ground opened its mouth and swallowed them up out of the midst of Israel, with their families and tents and every living thing that belonged to them.

⁷With your own eyes you have seen all these great deeds that the LORD has done.

⁸Keep all the commandments, then, which I enjoin on you today, that you may be strong enough to enter in and take possession of the land into which you are crossing,

⁹and that you may have long life on the land which the LORD swore to your fathers he would give to them and their descendants, a land flowing with milk and honey.

¹⁰"For the land which you are to enter and occupy is not like the land of Egypt from which you have come, where you would sow your seed and then water it by hand, as in a vegetable garden.

¹¹No, the land into which you are crossing for conquest is a land of hills and valleys that drinks in rain from the heavens,

¹²a land which the LORD, your God, looks after; his eyes are upon it continually from the beginning of the year to the end.

¹³If, then, you truly heed my commandments which I enjoin on you today, loving and serving the LORD, your God, with all your heart and all your soul,

¹⁴I will give the seasonal rain to your land, the early rain and the late rain, that you may have your grain, wine and oil to gather in;

¹⁵and I will bring forth grass in your fields for your animals. Thus you may eat your fill.

¹⁶But be careful lest your heart be so lured away that you serve other gods and worship them.

¹⁷For then the wrath of the LORD will flare up against you and he will close up the heavens, so that no rain will fall, and the soil will not yield its crops, and you will soon perish from the good land he is giving you.

¹⁸Therefore, take these words of mine into your heart and soul. Bind them at your wrist as a sign, and let them be a pendant on your forehead.

¹⁹Teach them to your children, speaking of them at home and abroad, whether you are busy or at rest.

²⁰And write them on the doorposts of your houses and on your gates,

²¹so that, as long as the heavens are above the earth, you and your children may live on in the land which the LORD swore to your fathers he would give them.

²²For if you are careful to observe all these commandments I enjoin on you, loving the LORD, your God, and following his ways exactly, and holding fast to him, ²³the LORD will drive all these nations out of your way, and you will dispossess nations greater and mightier than yourselves.

²⁴Every place where you set foot shall be yours: from the desert and from Lebanon, from the Euphrates River to the Western Sea, shall be your territory.

²⁵None shall stand up against you; the LORD, your God, will spread the fear and dread of you through any land where you set foot, as he promised you.

²⁶"I set before you here, this day, a blessing and a curse:

²⁷a blessing for obeying the commandments of the LORD, your God, which I enjoin on you today;

²⁸a curse if you do not obey the commandments of the LORD, your God, but turn aside from the way I ordain for you today, to follow other gods, whom you have not known.

²⁹When the LORD, your God, brings you into the land which you are to enter and occupy, then you shall pronounce the blessing on Mount Gerizim, the curse on Mount Ebal.

³⁰(Are they not beyond the Jordan, on the other side of the western road in the country of the Canaanites who live in the Arabah, opposite the Gilgal beside the terebinth of Moreh?)

³¹For you are about to cross the Jordan to enter and occupy the land which the LORD, your God, is giving you. When, therefore, you take possession of it and settle there,

³²be careful to observe all the statutes and decrees that I set before you today.

12"These are the statutes and decrees which you must be careful to observe in the land which the LORD, the God of your fathers, has given you to occupy, as long as you live on its soil.

²Destroy without fail every place on the high mountains, on the hills, and under every leafy tree where the nations you are to dispossess worship their gods.

³Tear down their altars, smash their sacred pillars, destroy by fire their sacred poles, and shatter the idols of their gods, that you may stamp out the remembrance of them in any such place.

⁴"That is not how you are to worship the LORD, your God.

⁵Instead, you shall resort to the place which the LORD, your God, chooses out of all your tribes and designates as his dwelling

⁶and there you shall bring your holocausts and sacrifices, your tithes and personal contributions, your votive and freewill offerings, and the firstlings of your herds and flocks.

⁷There, too, before the LORD, your God, you and your families shall eat and make merry over all your undertakings, because the LORD, your God, has blessed you.

⁸You shall not do as we are now doing; here, everyone does what seems right to himself,

⁹since you have not yet reached your resting place, the heritage which the LORD, your God, will give you.

¹⁰But after you have crossed the Jordan and dwell in the land which the LORD, your God, is giving you as a heritage, when he has given you rest from all your enemies round about and you live there in security,

¹¹then to the place which the LORD, your God, chooses as the dwelling place for his name you shall bring all the offerings I command you: your holocausts and sacrifices, your tithes and personal contributions, and every special offering you have vowed to the LORD.

¹²You shall make merry before the LORD, your God, with your sons and daughters, your male and female slaves, as well as with the Levite who belongs to your community but has no share of his own in your heritage.

¹³Take care not to offer up your holocausts in any place you fancy,

¹⁴but offer them up in the place which the LORD chooses from among your tribes; there you shall make whatever offerings I enjoin upon you.

¹⁵However, in any of your communities you may slaughter and eat to your heart's desire as much meat as the LORD, your God, has blessed you with; and the unclean as well as the clean may eat it, as they do the gazelle or the deer.

¹⁶Only, you shall not partake of the blood, but must pour it out on the ground like water.

¹⁷Moreover, you shall not, in your own communities, partake of your tithe of grain or wine or oil, of the first-born of your herd or flock, of any offering you have vowed, of your freewill offerings, or of your personal contributions.

¹⁸These you must eat before the LORD, your God, in the place he chooses, along with your son and daughter, your male and female slave, and the Levite who belongs to your community; and there, before the LORD, you shall make merry over all your undertakings.

¹⁹Take care, also, that you do not neglect the Levite as long as you live in the land.

- ²⁰"After the LORD, your God, has enlarged your territory, as he promised you, when you wish meat for food, you may eat it at will, to your heart's desire;
- ²¹and if the place which the LORD, your God, chooses for the abode of his name is too far, you may slaughter in the manner I have told you any of your herd or flock that the LORD has given you, and eat it to your heart's desire in your own community.
- ²²You may eat it as you would the gazelle or the deer: the unclean and the clean eating it alike.
- ²³But make sure that you do not partake of the blood; for blood is life, and you shall not consume this seat of life with the flesh.
- ²⁴Do not partake of the blood, therefore, but pour it out on the ground like water.
- ²⁵Abstain from it, that you and your children after you may prosper for doing what is right in the sight of the LORD.
- ²⁶However, any sacred gifts or votive offerings that you may have, you shall bring with you to the place which the LORD chooses,
- ²⁷and there you must offer both the flesh and the blood of your holocausts on the altar of the LORD, your God; of your other sacrifices the blood indeed must be poured out against the altar of the LORD, your God, but their flesh may be eaten.
- ²⁸Be careful to heed all these commandments I enjoin on you, that you and your descendants may always prosper for doing what is good and right in the sight of the LORD, your God.
- ²⁹"When the LORD, your God, removes the nations from your way as you advance to dispossess them, be on your guard! Otherwise, once they have been wiped out before you and you have replaced them and are settled in their land,
- ³⁰you will be lured into following them. Do not inquire regarding their gods, 'How did these nations worship their gods? I, too, would do the same.'
- ³¹You shall not thus worship the LORD, your God, because they offered to their gods every abomination that the LORD detests, even burning their sons and daughters to their gods.

13"Every command that I enjoin on you, you shall be careful to observe, neither adding to it nor subtracting from it.

²"If there arises among you a prophet or a dreamer who promises you a sign or wonder,

³urging you to follow other gods, whom you have not known, and to serve them: even though the sign or wonder he has foretold you comes to pass,

⁴pay no attention to the words of that prophet or that dreamer; for the LORD, your God, is testing you to learn whether you really love him with all your heart and with all your soul.

⁵The LORD, your God, shall you follow, and him shall you fear; his commandment shall you observe, and his voice shall you heed, serving him and holding fast to him alone.

⁶But that prophet or that dreamer shall be put to death, because, in order to lead you astray from the way which the LORD, your God, has directed you to take, he has preached apostasy from the LORD, your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt and ransomed you from that place of slavery. Thus shall you purge the evil from your midst.

⁷"If your own full brother, or your son or daughter, or your beloved wife, or your intimate friend, entices you secretly to serve other gods, whom you and your fathers have not known,

⁸gods of any other nations, near at hand or far away, from one end of the earth to the other:

⁹do not yield to him or listen to him, nor look with pity upon him, to spare or shield him,

¹⁰but kill him. Your hand shall be the first raised to slay him; the rest of the people shall join in with you.

¹¹You shall stone him to death, because he sought to lead you astray from the LORD, your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, that place of slavery.

¹²And all Israel, hearing of it, shall fear and never again do such evil as this in your midst.

¹³"If, in any of the cities which the LORD, your God, gives you to dwell in, you hear it said

¹⁴that certain scoundrels have sprung up among you and have led astray the inhabitants of their city to serve other gods whom you have not known,

¹⁵you must inquire carefully into the matter and investigate it thoroughly. If you find that it is true and an established fact that this abomination has been committed in your midst, ¹⁶you shall put the inhabitants of that city to the sword, dooming the city and all life that is in it, even its cattle, to the sword.

¹⁷Having heaped up all its spoils in the middle of its square, you shall burn the city with all its spoils as a whole burnt offering to the LORD, your God. Let it be a heap of ruins forever, never to be rebuilt.

¹⁸You shall not retain anything that is doomed, that the blazing wrath of the LORD may die down and he may show you mercy and in his mercy for you may multiply you as he promised your fathers on oath;

¹⁹because you have heeded the voice of the LORD, your God, keeping all his commandments which I enjoin on you today, doing what is right in his sight.

14"You are children of the LORD, your God. You shall not gash yourselves nor shave the hair above your foreheads for the dead.

²For you are a people sacred to the LORD, your God, who has chosen you from all the nations on the face of the earth to be a people peculiarly his own.

³"You shall not eat any abominable thing.

⁴These are the animals you may eat: the ox, the sheep, the goat,

⁵the red deer, the gazelle, the roe deer, the ibex, the addax, the oryx, and the mountain sheep.

⁶Any animal that has hoofs you may eat, provided it is cloven-footed and chews the cud.

⁷But you shall not eat any of the following that only chew the cud or only have cloven hoofs: the camel, the hare and the rock badger, which indeed chew the cud, but do not have hoofs and are therefore unclean for you;

⁸and the pig, which indeed has hoofs and is cloven-footed, but does not chew the cud and is therefore unclean for you. Their flesh you shall not eat, and their dead bodies you shall not touch.

⁹"Of the various creatures that live in the water, whatever has both fins and scales you may eat, ¹⁰but all those that lack either fins or scales you shall not eat; they are unclean for you.

¹¹"You may eat all clean birds.

¹²But you shall not eat any of the following: the eagle, the vulture, the osprey,

¹³the various kites and falcons,

¹⁴all the various species of crows,

¹⁵the ostrich, the nightjar, the gull, the various species of hawks,

¹⁶the owl, the screech owl, the ibis,

¹⁷the desert owl, the buzzard, the cormorant,

¹⁸the stork, the various species of herons, the hoopoe, and the bat.

¹⁹All winged insects, too, are unclean for you and shall not be eaten.

²⁰But you may eat any clean winged creatures.

²¹"You must not eat any animal that has died of itself, for you are a people sacred to the LORD, your God. But you may give it to an alien who belongs to your community, and he may eat it, or you may sell it to a foreigner. "You shall not boil a kid in its mother's milk.

²²"Each year you shall tithe all the produce that grows in the field you have sown;

²³then in the place which the LORD, your God, chooses as the dwelling place of his name you shall eat in his presence your tithe of the grain, wine and oil, as well as the firstlings of your herd and flock, that you may learn always to fear the LORD, your God.

²⁴If, however, the journey is too much for you and you are not able to bring your tithe, because the place which the LORD, your God, chooses for the abode of his name is too far for you, considering how the LORD has blessed you,

²⁵you may exchange the tithe for money and, with the purse of money in hand, go to the place which the LORD, your God, chooses.

²⁶You may then exchange the money for whatever you desire, oxen or sheep, wine or strong drink, or anything else you would enjoy, and there before the LORD, your God, you shall partake of it and make merry with your family.

²⁷But do not neglect the Levite who belongs to your community, for he has no share in the heritage with you.

²⁸"At the end of every third year you shall bring out all the tithes of your produce for that year and deposit them in community stores,

²⁹that the Levite who has no share in the heritage with you, and also the alien, the orphan and the widow who belong to your community, may come and eat their fill; so that the LORD, your God, may bless you in all that you undertake.

"At the end of every seven-year period you shall have a relaxation of debts,

²which shall be observed as follows. Every creditor shall relax his claim on what he has loaned his neighbor; he must not press his neighbor, his kinsman, because a relaxation in honor of the LORD has been proclaimed.

³You may press a foreigner, but you shall relax the claim on your kinsman for what is yours.

⁴Nay, more! since the LORD, your God, will bless you abundantly in the land he will give you to occupy as your heritage, there should be no one of you in need.

⁵If you but heed the voice of the LORD, your God, and carefully observe all these commandments which I enjoin on you today, ⁶you will lend to many nations, and borrow from none; you will rule over many nations, and none will rule over you, since the LORD, your God, will bless you as he promised.

⁷If one of your kinsmen in any community is in need in the land which the LORD, your God, is giving you, you shall not harden your heart nor close your hand to him in his need.

⁸Instead, you shall open your hand to him and freely lend him enough to meet his need.

⁹Be on your guard lest, entertaining the mean thought that the seventh year, the year of relaxation, is near, you grudge help to your needy kinsman and give him nothing; else he will cry to the LORD against you and you will be held guilty.

¹⁰When you give to him, give freely and not with ill will; for the LORD, your God, will bless you for this in all your works and undertakings.

¹¹The needy will never be lacking in the land; that is why I command you to open your hand to your poor and needy kinsman in your country.

¹²If your kinsman, a Hebrew man or woman, sells himself to you, he is to serve you for six years, but in the seventh year you shall dismiss him from your service, a free man.

¹³When you do so, you shall not send him away empty-handed,

¹⁴but shall weight him down with gifts from your flock and threshing floor and wine press, in proportion to the blessing the LORD, your God, has bestowed on you.

¹⁵For remember that you too were once slaves in the land of Egypt, and the LORD, your God, ransomed you. That is why I am giving you this command today.

¹⁶If, however, he tells you that he does not wish to leave you, because he is devoted to you and your household, since he fares well with you,

¹⁷you shall take an awl and thrust it through his ear into the door, and he shall then be your slave forever. Your female slave, also, you shall treat in the same way.

¹⁸You must not be reluctant to let your slave go free, since the service he has given you for six years was worth twice a hired man's salary; then also the LORD, your God, will bless you in everything you do.

¹⁹"You shall consecrate to the LORD, your God, all the male firstlings of your herd and of your flock. You shall not work the firstlings of your cattle, nor shear the firstlings of your flock.

²⁰Year after year you and your family shall eat them before the LORD, your God, in the place he chooses.

²¹If, however, a firstling is lame or blind or has any other serious defect, you shall not sacrifice it to the LORD, your God, ²²but in your own communities you may eat it, the unclean and the clean eating it alike, as you would a gazelle or a deer.

²³Only, you shall not partake of its blood, which must be poured out on the ground like water.

16"Observe the month of Abib by keeping the Passover of the LORD, your God, since it was in the month of Abib that he brought you by night out of Egypt.

²You shall offer the Passover sacrifice from your flock or your herd to the LORD, your God, in the place which he chooses as the dwelling place of his name.

³You shall not eat leavened bread with it. For seven days you shall eat with it only unleavened bread, the bread of affliction, that you may remember as long as you live the day of your departure from the land of Egypt; for in frightened haste you left the land of Egypt.

⁴Nothing leavened may be found in all your territory for seven days, and none of the meat which you sacrificed on the evening of the first day shall be kept overnight for the next day.

⁵"You may not sacrifice the Passover in any of the communities which the LORD, your God, gives you;

⁶only at the place which he chooses as the dwelling place of his name, and in the evening at sunset, on the anniversary of your departure from Egypt, shall you sacrifice the Passover.

⁷You shall cook and eat it at the place the LORD, your God, chooses; then in the morning you may return to your tents.

⁸For six days you shall eat unleavened bread, and on the seventh there shall be a solemn meeting in honor of the LORD, your God; on that day you shall not do any sort of work.

⁹"You shall count off seven weeks, computing them from the day when the sickle is first put to the standing grain.

¹⁰You shall then keep the feast of Weeks in honor of the LORD, your God, and the measure of your own freewill offering shall be in proportion to the blessing the LORD, your God, has bestowed on you.

¹¹In the place which the LORD, your God, chooses as the dwelling place of his name, you shall make merry in his presence together with your son and daughter, your male and female slave, and the Levite who belongs to your community, as well as the alien, the orphan and the widow among you.

¹²Remember that you too were once slaves in Egypt, and carry out these statutes carefully.

¹³"You shall celebrate the feast of Booths for seven days, when you have gathered in the produce from your threshing floor and wine press.

¹⁴You shall make merry at your feast, together with your son and daughter, your male and female slave, and also the Levite, the alien, the orphan and the widow who belong to your community.

¹⁵For seven days you shall celebrate this pilgrim feast in honor of the LORD, your God, in the place which he chooses; since the LORD, your God, has blessed you in all your crops and in all your undertakings, you shall do nought but make merry.

¹⁷but each of you with as much as he can give, in proportion to the blessings which the LORD, your God, has bestowed on you.

¹⁸"You shall appoint judges and officials throughout your tribes to administer true justice for the people in all the communities which the LORD, your God, is giving you.

¹⁹You shall not distort justice; you must be impartial. You shall not take a bribe; for a bribe blinds the eyes even of the wise and twists the words even of the just.

²⁰Justice and justice alone shall be your aim, that you may have life and may possess the land which the LORD, your God, is giving you.

²¹"You shall not plant a sacred pole of any kind of wood beside the altar of the LORD, your God, which you will build;

²²nor shall you erect a sacred pillar, such as the LORD, your God, detests.

17 "You shall not sacrifice to the LORD, your God, from the herd or from the flock an animal with any serious defect; that would be an abomination to the LORD, your God.

²"If there is found among you, in any one of the communities which the LORD, your God, gives you, a man or a woman who does evil in the sight of the LORD, your God, and transgresses his covenant,

³by serving other gods, or by worshiping the sun or the moon or any of the host of the sky, against my command;

⁴and if, on being informed of it, you find by careful investigation that it is true and an established fact that this abomination has been committed in Israel:

⁵you shall bring the man (or woman) who has done the evil deed out to your city gates and stone him to death.

⁶The testimony of two or three witnesses is required for putting a person to death; no one shall be put to death on the testimony of only one witness.

⁷At the execution, the witnesses are to be the first to raise their hands against him; afterward all the people are to join in. Thus shall you purge the evil from your midst.

⁸"If in your own community there is a case at issue which proves too complicated for you to decide, in a matter of bloodshed or of civil rights or of personal injury, you shall then go up to the place which the LORD, your God, chooses,

⁹to the levitical priests or to the judge who is in office at that time. They shall study the case and then hand down to you their decision.

¹⁰According to this decision that they give you in the place which the LORD chooses, you shall act, being careful to do exactly as they direct.

¹¹You shall carry out the directions they give you and the verdict they pronounce for you, without turning aside to the right or to the left from the decision they hand down to you.

¹²Any man who has the insolence to refuse to listen to the priest who officiates there in the ministry of the LORD, your God, or to the judge, shall die. Thus shall you purge the evil from your midst.

¹³And all the people, on hearing of it, shall fear, and never again be so insolent.

¹⁴"When you have come into the land which the LORD, your God, is giving you, and have occupied it and settled in it, should you then decide to have a king over you like all the surrounding nations,

¹⁵you shall set that man over you as your king whom the LORD, your God, chooses. He whom you set over you as king must be your kinsman; a foreigner, who is no kin of yours, you may not set over you.

¹⁶But he shall not have a great number of horses; nor shall he make his people go back again to Egypt to acquire them, against the LORD'S warning that you must never go back that way again.

¹⁷Neither shall he have a great number of wives, lest his heart be estranged, nor shall he accumulate a vast amount of silver and gold.

¹⁸When he is enthroned in his kingdom, he shall have a copy of this law made from the scroll that is in the custody of the levitical priests.

¹⁹He shall keep it with him and read it all the days of his life that he may learn to fear the LORD, his God, and to heed and fulfill all the words of this law and these statutes.

²⁰Let him not become estranged from his countrymen through pride, nor turn aside to the right or to the left from these commandments. Then he and his descendants will enjoy a long reign in Israel.

18"The whole priestly tribe of Levi shall have no share in the heritage with Israel; they shall live on the oblations of the LORD and the portions due to him.

²Levi shall have no heritage among his brothers; the LORD himself is his heritage, as he has told him.

³The priests shall have a right to the following things from the people: from those who are offering a sacrifice, whether the victim is from the herd or from the flock, the priest shall receive the shoulder, the jowls and the stomach.

⁴You shall also give him the first fruits of your grain and wine and oil, as well as the first fruits of the shearing of your flock;

⁵for the LORD, your God, has chosen him and his sons out of all your tribes to be always in attendance to minister in the name of the LORD.

⁶"When a Levite goes from one of your communities anywhere in Israel in which he ordinarily resides, to visit, as his heart may desire, the place which the LORD chooses, ⁷he may minister there in the name of the LORD, his God, like all his fellow Levites who are in attendance there before the LORD.

⁸He shall then receive the same portions to eat as the rest, along with his monetary offerings and heirlooms.

⁹"When you come into the land which the LORD, your God, is giving you, you shall not learn to imitate the abominations of the peoples there.

¹⁰Let there not be found among you anyone who immolates his son or daughter in the fire, nor a fortune-teller, soothsayer, charmer, diviner,

¹¹or caster of spells, nor one who consults ghosts and spirits or seeks oracles from the dead.

¹²Anyone who does such things is an abomination to the LORD, and because of such abominations the LORD, your God, is driving these nations out of your way.

¹³You, however, must be altogether sincere toward the LORD, your God.

¹⁴Though these nations whom you are to dispossess listen to their soothsayers and fortune-tellers, the LORD, your God, will not permit you to do so.

¹⁵"A prophet like me will the LORD, your God, raise up for you from among your own kinsmen; to him you shall listen.

¹⁶This is exactly what you requested of the LORD, your God, at Horeb on the day of the assembly, when you said, 'Let us not again hear the voice of the LORD, our God, nor see this great fire any more, lest we die.'

¹⁷And the LORD said to me, 'This was well said.

¹⁸I will raise up for them a prophet like you from among their kinsmen, and will put my words into his mouth; he shall tell them all that I command him.

¹⁹If any man will not listen to my words which he speaks in my name, I myself will make him answer for it.

²⁰But if a prophet presumes to speak in my name an oracle that I have not commanded him to speak, or speaks in the name of other gods, he shall die.'

²¹"If you say to yourselves, 'How can we recognize an oracle which the LORD has spoken?'

²²know that, even though a prophet speaks in the name of the LORD, if his oracle is not fulfilled or verified, it is an oracle which the LORD did not speak. The prophet has spoken it presumptuously, and you shall have no fear of him.

19"When the LORD, your God, removes the nations whose land he is giving you, and you have taken their place and are settled in their cities and houses, ²you shall set apart three cities in the land which the LORD, your God, is giving you to occupy.

³You shall thereby divide into three regions the land which the LORD, your God, will give you as a heritage, and so arrange the routes that every homicide will be able to find a refuge.

⁴"It is in the following case that a homicide may take refuge in such a place to save his life: when someone unwittingly kills his neighbor to whom he had previously borne no malice.

⁵For example, if he goes with his neighbor to a forest to cut wood, and as he swings his ax to fell a tree, its head flies off the handle and hits his neighbor a mortal blow, he may take refuge in one of these cities to save his life.

⁶Should the distance be too great, the avenger of blood may in the heat of his anger pursue the homicide and overtake him and strike him dead, even though he does not merit death since he had previously borne the slain man no malice.

⁷That is why I order you to set apart three cities.

⁸"But if the LORD, your God, enlarges your territory, as he swore to your fathers, and gives you all the land he promised your fathers he would give ⁹in the event that you carefully observe all these commandments which I enjoin on you today, loving the LORD, your God, and ever walking in his ways: then add three cities to these three.

¹⁰Thus, in the land which the LORD, your God, is giving you as a heritage, innocent blood will not be shed and you will not become guilty of bloodshed.

¹¹"However, if someone lies in wait for his neighbor out of hatred for him, and rising up against him, strikes him mortally, and then takes refuge in one of these cities,

¹²the elders of his own city shall send for him and have him taken from there, and shall hand him over to be slain by the avenger of blood.

¹³Do not look on him with pity, but purge from Israel the stain of shedding innocent blood, that you may prosper.

¹⁴"You shall not move your neighbor's landmarks erected by your forefathers in the heritage you receive in the land which the LORD, your God, is giving you to occupy.

¹⁵"One witness alone shall not take the stand against a man in regard to any crime or any offense of which he may be guilty; a judicial fact shall be established only on the testimony of two or three witnesses.

¹⁶"If an unjust witness takes the stand against a man to accuse him of a defection from the law,

¹⁷the two parties in the dispute shall appear before the LORD in the presence of the priests or judges in office at that time;

¹⁸and if after a thorough investigation the judges find that the witness is a false witness and has accused his kinsman falsely,

¹⁹you shall do to him as he planned to do to his kinsman. Thus shall you purge the evil from your midst.

²⁰The rest, on hearing of it, shall fear, and never again do a thing so evil among you.

²¹Do not look on such a man with pity. Life for life, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, and foot for foot!

20"When you go out to war against your enemies and you see horses and chariots and an army greater than your own, do not be afraid of them, for the LORD, your God, who brought you up from the land of Egypt, will be with you.

²"When you are about to go into battle, the priest shall come forward and say to the soldiers:

³Hear, O Israel! Today you are going into battle against your enemies. Be not weakhearted or afraid; be neither alarmed nor frightened by them.

⁴For it is the LORD, your God, who goes with you to fight for you against your enemies and give you victory.'

⁵"Then the officials shall say to the soldiers, 'Is there anyone who has built a new house and not yet had the housewarming? Let him return home, lest he die in battle and another dedicate it.

⁶Is there anyone who has planted a vineyard and never yet enjoyed its fruits? Let him return home, lest he die in battle and another enjoy its fruits in his stead.

⁷Is there anyone who has betrothed a woman and not yet taken her as his wife? Let him return home, lest he die in battle and another take her to wife.'

⁸In fine, the officials shall say to the soldiers, 'Is there anyone who is afraid and weakhearted? Let him return home, lest he make his fellows as fainthearted as himself.'

⁹"When the officials have finished speaking to the soldiers, military officers shall be appointed over the army.

¹⁰"When you march up to attack a city, first offer it terms of peace.

¹¹If it agrees to your terms of peace and opens its gates to you, all the people to be found in it shall serve you in forced labor.

¹²But if it refuses to make peace with you and instead offers you battle, lay siege to it,

¹³and when the LORD, your God, delivers it into your hand, put every male in it to the sword;

¹⁴but the women and children and livestock and all else in it that is worth plundering you may take as your booty, and you may use this plunder of your enemies which the LORD, your God, has given you.

¹⁵That is how you shall deal with any city at a considerable distance from you, which does not belong to the peoples of this land.

¹⁶But in the cities of those nations which the LORD, your God, is giving you as your heritage, you shall not leave a single soul alive.

¹⁷You must doom them all-the Hittites, Amorites, Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivites and Jebusites-as the LORD, your God, has commanded you, ¹⁸lest they teach you to make any such abominable offerings as they make to their gods, and you thus sin against the LORD, your God.

¹⁹"When you are at war with a city and have to lay siege to it for a long time before you capture it, you shall not destroy its trees by putting an ax to them. You may eat their fruit, but you must not cut down the trees. After all, are the trees of the field men, that they should be included in your siege?

²⁰However, those trees which you know are not fruit trees you may destroy, cutting them down to build siegeworks with which to reduce the city that is resisting you.

21 "If the corpse of a slain man is found lying in the open on the land which the LORD, your God, is giving you to occupy, and it is not known who killed him, ²your elders and judges shall go out and measure the distances to the cities that are in the neighborhood of the corpse.

³When it is established which city is nearest the corpse, the elders of that city shall take a heifer that has never been put to work as a draft animal under a yoke,

- ⁴and bringing it down to a wadi with an everflowing stream at a place that has not been plowed or sown, they shall cut the heifer's throat there in the wadi.
- ⁵The priests, the descendants of Levi, shall also be present, for the LORD, your God, has chosen them to minister to him and to give blessings in his name, and every case of dispute or violence must be settled by their decision.
- ⁶Then all the elders of that city nearest the corpse shall wash their hands over the heifer whose throat was cut in the wadi,
- ⁷and shall declare, 'Our hands did not shed this blood, and our eyes did not see the deed.
- ⁸Absolve, O LORD, your people Israel, whom you have ransomed, and let not the guilt of shedding innocent blood remain in the midst of your people Israel.' Thus they shall be absolved from the guilt of bloodshed,
- ⁹and you shall purge from your midst the guilt of innocent blood, that you may prosper for doing what is right in the sight of the LORD.
- ¹⁰"When you go out to war against your enemies and the LORD, your God, delivers them into your hand, so that you take captives,
- ¹¹if you see a comely woman among the captives and become so enamored of her that you wish to have her as wife,
- ¹²you may take her home to your house. But before she may live there, she must shave her head and pare her nails
- ¹³and lay aside her captive's garb. After she has mourned her father and mother for a full month, you may have relations with her, and you shall be her husband and she shall be your wife.
- ¹⁴However, if later on you lose your liking for her, you shall give her her freedom, if she wishes it; but you shall not sell her or enslave her, since she was married to you under compulsion.
- ¹⁵"If a man with two wives loves one and dislikes the other; and if both bear him sons, but the first-born is of her whom he dislikes:

¹⁶when he comes to bequeath his property to his sons he may not consider as his first-born the son of the wife he loves, in preference to his true first-born, the son of the wife whom he dislikes.

¹⁷On the contrary, he shall recognize as his first-born the son of her whom he dislikes, giving him a double share of whatever he happens to own, since he is the first fruits of his manhood, and to him belong the rights of the first-born.

¹⁸"If a man has a stubborn and unruly son who will not listen to his father or mother, and will not obey them even though they chastise him,

¹⁹his father and mother shall have him apprehended and brought out to the elders at the gate of his home city,

²⁰where they shall say to those city elders, 'This son of ours is a stubborn and unruly fellow who will not listen to us; he is a glutton and a drunkard.'

²¹Then all his fellow citizens shall stone him to death. Thus shall you purge the evil from your midst, and all Israel, on hearing of it, shall fear.

²²"If a man guilty of a capital offense is put to death and his corpse hung on a tree,

²³it shall not remain on the tree overnight. You shall bury it the same day; otherwise, since God's curse rests on him who hangs on a tree, you will defile the land which the LORD, your God, is giving you as an inheritance.

22"You shall not see your kinsman's ox or sheep driven astray without showing concern about it; see to it that it is returned to your kinsman.

²If this kinsman does not live near you, or you do not know who he may be, take it to your own place and keep it with you until he claims it; then give it back to him.

³You shall do the same with his ass, or his garment, or anything else which your kinsman loses and you happen to find; you may not be unconcerned about them.

⁴You shall not see your kinsman's ass or ox foundering on the road without showing concern about it; see to it that you help him lift it up.

⁵"A woman shall not wear an article proper to a man, nor shall a man put on a woman's dress; for anyone who does such things is an abomination to the LORD, your God.

⁶"If, while walking along, you chance upon a bird's nest with young birds or eggs in it, in any tree or on the ground, and the mother bird is sitting on them, you shall not take away the mother bird along with her brood;

⁷you shall let her go, although you may take her brood away. It is thus that you shall have prosperity and a long life.

⁸"When you build a new house, put a parapet around the roof; otherwise, if someone falls off, you will bring bloodguilt upon your house.

⁹"You shall not sow your vineyard with two different kinds of seed; if you do, its produce shall become forfeit, both the crop you have sown and the yield of the vineyard.

¹⁰You shall not plow with an ox and an ass harnessed together.

¹¹You shall not wear cloth of two different kinds of thread, wool and linen, woven together.

¹²"You shall put twisted cords on the four corners of the cloak that you wrap around you.

¹³"If a man, after marrying a woman and having relations with her, comes to dislike her,

¹⁴and makes monstrous charges against her and defames her by saying, 'I married this woman, but when I first had relations with her I did not find her a virgin,'

¹⁵the father and mother of the girl shall take the evidence of her virginity and bring it to the elders at the city gate.

¹⁶There the father of the girl shall say to the elders, 'I gave my daughter to this man in marriage, but he has come to dislike her,

¹⁷and now brings monstrous charges against her, saying: I did not find your daughter a virgin. But here is the evidence of my daughter's virginity!' And they shall spread out the cloth before the elders of the city.

¹⁸Then these city elders shall take the man and chastise him,

¹⁹ besides fining him one hundred silver shekels, which they shall give to the girl's father, because the man defamed a virgin in Israel. Moreover, she shall remain his wife, and he may not divorce her as long as he lives.

²⁰ "But if this charge is true, and evidence of the girl's virginity is not found,

²² "If a man is discovered having relations with a woman who is married to another, both the man and the woman with whom he has had relations shall die. Thus shall you purge the evil from your midst.

²³ "If within the city a man comes upon a maiden who is betrothed, and has relations with her,

²⁵ "If, however, it is in the open fields that a man comes upon such a betrothed maiden, seizes her and has relations with her, the man alone shall die.

²⁶ You shall do nothing to the maiden, since she is not guilty of a capital offense. This case is like that of a man who rises up against his neighbor and murders him:

²⁷ it was in the open fields that he came upon her, and though the betrothed maiden may have cried out for help, there was no one to come to her aid.

²⁸ "If a man comes upon a maiden that is not betrothed, takes her and has relations with her, and their deed is discovered,

²⁹ the man who had relations with her shall pay the girl's father fifty silver shekels and take her as his wife, because he has deflowered her. Moreover, he may not divorce her as long as he lives.

23 "A man shall not marry his father's wife, nor shall he dishonor his father's bed.

- ²"No one whose testicles have been crushed or whose penis has been cut off may be admitted into the community of the LORD.
- ³No child of an incestuous union may be admitted into the community of the LORD, nor any descendant of his even to the tenth generation.
- ⁴No Ammonite or Moabite may ever be admitted into the community of the LORD, nor any descendants of theirs even to the tenth generation,
- ⁵because they would not succor you with food and water on your journey after you left Egypt, and because Moab hired Balaam, son of Beor, from Pethor in Aram Naharaim, to curse you;
- ⁶though the LORD, your God, would not listen to Balaam and turned his curse into a blessing for you, because he loves you.
- ⁷Never promote their peace and prosperity as long as you live.
- ⁸But do not abhor the Edomite, since he is your brother, nor the Egyptian, since you were an alien in his country.
- ⁹Children born to them may in the third generation be admitted into the community of the LORD.
- ¹⁰"When you are in camp during an expedition against your enemies, you shall keep yourselves from everything offensive.
- ¹¹If one of you becomes unclean because of a nocturnal emission, he shall go outside the camp, and not return until,
- ¹²toward evening, he has bathed in water; then, when the sun has set, he may come back into the camp.
- ¹³Outside the camp you shall have a place set aside to be used as a latrine.
- ¹⁴You shall also keep a trowel in your equipment and with it, when you go outside to ease nature, you shall first dig a hole and afterward cover up your excrement.
- ¹⁵Since the LORD, your God, journeys along within your camp to defend you and to put your enemies at your mercy, your camp must be holy; otherwise, if he sees anything indecent in your midst, he will leave your company.

¹⁶"You shall not hand over to his master a slave who has taken refuge from him with you.

¹⁷Let him live with you wherever he chooses, in any one of your communities that pleases him. Do not molest him.

¹⁸"There shall be no temple harlot among the Israelite women, nor a temple prostitute among the Israelite men.

¹⁹You shall not offer a harlot's fee or a dog's price as any kind of votive offering in the house of the LORD, your God; both these things are an abomination to the LORD, your God.

²⁰You shall not demand interest from your countrymen on a loan of money or of food or of anything else on which interest is usually demanded.

²¹You may demand interest from a foreigner, but not from your countryman, so that the LORD, your God, may bless you in all your undertakings on the land you are to enter and occupy.

²²"When you make a vow to the LORD, your God, you shall not delay in fulfilling it; otherwise you will be held guilty, for the LORD, your God, is strict in requiring it of you.

²³Should you refrain from making a vow, you will not be held guilty.

²⁴But you must keep your solemn word and fulfill the votive offering you have freely promised to the LORD.

²⁵"When you go through your neighbor's vineyard, you may eat as many of his grapes as you wish, but do not put them in your basket.

²⁶"When you go through your neighbor's grainfield, you may pluck some of the ears with your hand, but do not put a sickle to your neighbor's grain.

24"When a man, after marrying a woman and having relations with her, is later displeased with her because he finds in her something indecent, and therefore he writes out a bill of divorce and hands it to her, thus dismissing her from his house:

²if on leaving his house she goes and becomes the wife of another man,

³and the second husband, too, comes to dislike her and dismisses her from his house by handing her a written bill of divorce; or if this second man who has married her, dies;

⁴then her former husband, who dismissed her, may not again take her as his wife after she has become defiled. That would be an abomination before the LORD, and you shall not bring such guilt upon the land which the LORD, your God, is giving you as a heritage.

⁶"No one shall take a hand mill or even its upper stone as a pledge for debt, for he would be taking the debtor's sustenance as a pledge.

⁷"If any man is caught kidnaping a fellow Israelite in order to enslave him and sell him, the kidnaper shall be put to death. Thus shall you purge the evil from your midst.

¹⁰"When you make a loan of any kind to your neighbor, you shall not enter his house to receive a pledge from him,

¹¹but shall wait outside until the man to whom you are making the loan brings his pledge outside to you.

¹²If he is a poor man, you shall not sleep in the mantle he gives as a pledge,

¹³but shall return it to him at sunset that he himself may sleep in it. Then he will bless you, and it will be a good deed of yours before the LORD, your God.

¹⁴"You shall not defraud a poor and needy hired servant, whether he be one of your own countrymen or one of the aliens who live in your communities.

¹⁵You shall pay him each day's wages before sundown on the day itself, since he is poor and looks forward to them. Otherwise he will cry to the LORD against you, and you will be held guilty.

¹⁶Fathers shall not be put to death for their children, nor children for their fathers; only for his own guilt shall a man be put to death.

¹⁷You shall not violate the rights of the alien or of the orphan, nor take the clothing of a widow as a pledge.

¹⁸For, remember, you were once slaves in Egypt, and the LORD, your God, ransomed you from there; that is why I command you to observe this rule.

¹⁹When you reap the harvest in your field and overlook a sheaf there, you shall not go back to get it; let it be for the alien, the orphan or the widow, that the LORD, your God, may bless you in all your undertakings.

²⁰When you knock down the fruit of your olive trees, you shall not go over the branches a second time; let what remains be for the alien, the orphan and the widow.

²¹When you pick your grapes, you shall not go over the vineyard a second time; let what remains be for the alien, the orphan, and the widow.

²²For remember that you were once slaves in Egypt; that is why I command you to observe this rule.

25"When men have a dispute and bring it to court, and a decision is handed down to them acquitting the innocent party and condemning the guilty party,

²if the latter deserves stripes, the judge shall have him lie down and in his presence receive the number of stripes his guilt deserves.

³Forty stripes may be given him, but no more; lest, if he were beaten with more stripes than these, your kinsman should be looked upon as disgraced because of the severity of the beating.

⁴"You shall not muzzle an ox when it is treading out grain.

⁶The first-born son she bears shall continue the line of the deceased brother, that his name may not be blotted out from Israel.

⁷If, however, a man does not care to marry his brother's wife, she shall go up to the elders at the gate and declare, 'My brother-in-law does not intend to perform his duty toward me and refuses to perpetuate his brother's name in Israel.'

⁸Thereupon the elders of his city shall summon him and admonish him. If he persists in saying, 'I am not willing to marry her,'

⁹his sister-in-law, in the presence of the elders, shall go up to him and strip his sandal from his foot and spit in his face, saying publicly, 'This is how one should be treated who will not build up his brother's family!'

¹⁰And his lineage shall be spoken of in Israel as 'the family of the man stripped of his sandal.'

¹¹"When two men are fighting and the wife of one intervenes to save her husband from the blows of his opponent, if she stretches out her hand and seizes the latter by his private parts, ¹²you shall chop off her hand without pity.

¹³"You shall not keep two differing weights in your bag, one large and the other small;

¹⁴nor shall you keep two different measures in your house, one large and the other small.

¹⁵But use a true and just weight, and a true and just measure, that you may have a long life on the land which the LORD, your God, is giving you.

¹⁶Everyone who is dishonest in any of these matters is an abomination to the LORD, your God.

¹⁷"Bear in mind what Amalek did to you on the journey after you left Egypt, ¹⁸how without fear of any god he harassed you along the way, weak and weary as you were, and cut off at the rear all those who lagged behind.

¹⁹Therefore, when the LORD, your God, gives you rest from all your enemies round about in the land which he is giving you to occupy as your heritage, you shall blot out the memory of Amalek from under the heavens. Do not forget!

26"When you have come into the land which the LORD, your God, is giving you as a heritage, and have occupied it and settled in it,

²you shall take some first fruits of the various products of the soil which you harvest from the land which the LORD, your God, gives you, and putting them in a basket, you shall go to the place which the LORD, your God, chooses for the dwelling place of his name.

³There you shall go to the priest in office at that time and say to him, 'Today I acknowledge to the LORD, my God, that I have indeed come into the land which he swore to our fathers he would give us.'

⁴The priest shall then receive the basket from you and shall set it in front of the altar of the LORD, your God.

⁵Then you shall declare before the LORD, your God, 'My father was a wandering Aramean who went down to Egypt with a small household and lived there as an alien. But there he became a nation great, strong and numerous.

⁶When the Egyptians maltreated and oppressed us, imposing hard labor upon us,

⁷we cried to the LORD, the God of our fathers, and he heard our cry and saw our affliction, our toil and our oppression.

⁸He brought us out of Egypt with his strong hand and outstretched arm, with terrifying power, with signs and wonders;

⁹and bringing us into this country, he gave us this land flowing with milk and honey.

¹⁰Therefore, I have now brought you the first fruits of the products of the soil which you, O LORD, have given me.' And having set them before the LORD, your God, you shall bow down in his presence.

¹¹Then you and your family, together with the Levite and the aliens who live among you, shall make merry over all these good things which the LORD, your God, has given you.

¹²"When you have finished setting aside all the tithes of your produce in the third year, the year of the tithes, and you have given them to the Levite, the alien, the orphan and the widow, that they may eat their fill in your own community,

¹³you shall declare before the LORD, your God, 'I have purged my house of the sacred portion and I have given it to the Levite, the alien, the orphan and the widow, just as you have commanded me. In this I have not broken or forgotten any of your commandments:

¹⁴I have not eaten any of the tithe as a mourner; I have not brought any of it out as one unclean; I have not offered any of it to the dead. I have thus hearkened to the voice of the LORD, my God, doing just as you have commanded me.

¹⁵Look down, then, from heaven, your holy abode, and bless your people Israel and the soil you have given us in the land flowing with milk and honey which you promised on oath to our fathers.'

¹⁶"This day the LORD, your God, commands you to observe these statutes and decrees. Be careful, then, to observe them with all your heart and with all your soul.

¹⁷Today you are making this agreement with the LORD: he is to be your God and you are to walk in his ways and observe his statutes, commandments and decrees, and to hearken to his voice.

¹⁸And today the LORD is making this agreement with you: you are to be a people peculiarly his own, as he promised you; and provided you keep all his commandments,

¹⁹he will then raise you high in praise and renown and glory above all other nations he has made, and you will be a people sacred to the LORD, your God, as he promised."

27 Then Moses, with the elders of Israel, gave the people this order: "Keep all these commandments which I enjoin on you today.

²On the day you cross the Jordan into the land which the LORD, your God, is giving you, set up some large stones and coat them with plaster.

³Also write on them, at the time you cross, all the words of this law, that you may thus enter into the land flowing with milk and honey, which the LORD, your God, and the God of your fathers, is giving you as he promised you.

⁴When, moreover, you have crossed the Jordan, besides setting up on Mount Ebal these stones concerning which I command you today, and coating them with plaster,

⁵you shall also build to the LORD, your God, an altar made of stones that no iron tool has touched.

⁶You shall make this altar of the LORD, your God, with undressed stones, and shall offer on it holocausts to the LORD, your God.

⁷You shall also sacrifice peace offerings and eat them there, making merry before the LORD, your God.

⁸On the stones you shall inscribe all the words of this law very clearly."

⁹Moses, with the levitical priests, then said to all Israel: "Be silent, O Israel, and listen! This day you have become the people of the LORD, your God.

¹⁰You shall therefore hearken to the voice of the LORD, your God, and keep his commandments and statutes which I enjoin on you today."

¹¹That same day Moses gave the people this order:

¹²"When you cross the Jordan, Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, Joseph and Benjamin shall stand on Mount Gerizim to pronounce blessings over the people, ¹³while Reuben, Gad, Asher, Zebulun, Dan and Naphtali shall stand on Mount Ebal to pronounce curses.

¹⁴"The Levites shall proclaim aloud to all the men of Israel:

¹⁵"Cursed be the man who makes a carved or molten idol--an abomination to the LORD, the product of a craftsman's hands--and sets it up in secret!" And all the people shall answer, 'Amen!'

¹⁶"Cursed be he who dishonors his father or his mother!" And all the people shall answer, 'Amen!'

¹⁷"Cursed be he who moves his neighbor's landmarks!" And all the people shall answer, 'Amen!'

¹⁸"Cursed be he who misleads a blind man on his way!" And all the people shall answer, 'Amen!'

¹⁹"Cursed be he who violates the rights of the alien, the orphan or the widow!" And all the people shall answer, 'Amen!'

²⁰Cursed be he who has relations with his father's wife, for he dishonors his father's bed! And all the people shall answer, 'Amen!'

²¹Cursed be he who has relations with any animal! And all the people shall answer, 'Amen!'

²²Cursed be he who has relations with his sister or his half-sister! And all the people shall answer, 'Amen!'

²³Cursed be he who has relations with his mother-in-law! And all the people shall answer, 'Amen!'

²⁴Cursed be he who slays his neighbor in secret! And all the people shall answer, 'Amen!'

²⁵Cursed be he who accepts payment for slaying an innocent man! And all the people shall answer, 'Amen!'

²⁶Cursed be he who fails to fulfill any of the provisions of this law! And all the people shall answer, 'Amen!'

28"Thus, then, shall it be: if you continue to heed the voice of the LORD, your God, and are careful to observe all his commandments which I enjoin on you today, the LORD, your God, will raise you high above all the nations of the earth.

²When you hearken to the voice of the LORD, your God, all these blessings will come upon you and overwhelm you:

³"May you be blessed in the city, and blessed in the country!

⁴"Blessed be the fruit of your womb, the produce of your soil and the offspring of your livestock, the issue of your herds and the young of your flocks!

⁵"Blessed be your grain bin and your kneading bowl!

⁶"May you be blessed in your coming in, and blessed in your going out!

⁷"The LORD will beat down before you the enemies that rise up against you; though they come out against you from but one direction, they will flee before you in seven.

- ⁸The LORD will affirm his blessing upon you, on your barns and on all your undertakings, blessing you in the land that the LORD, your God, gives you.
- ⁹Provided that you keep the commandments of the LORD, your God, and walk in his ways, he will establish you as a people sacred to himself, as he swore to you;
- ¹⁰so that, when all the nations of the earth see you bearing the name of the LORD, they will stand in awe of you.
- ¹¹The LORD will increase in more than goodly measure the fruit of your womb, the offspring of your livestock, and the produce of your soil, in the land which he swore to your fathers he would give you.
- ¹²The LORD will open up for you his rich treasure house of the heavens, to give your land rain in due season, blessing all your undertakings, so that you will lend to many nations and borrow from none.
- ¹³The LORD will make you the head, not the tail, and you will always mount higher and not decline, as long as you obey the commandments of the LORD, your God, which I order you today to observe carefully;
- ¹⁴not turning aside to the right or to the left from any of the commandments which I now give you, in order to follow other gods and serve them.
- ¹⁵But if you do not hearken to the voice of the LORD, your God, and are not careful to observe all his commandments which I enjoin on you today, all these curses shall come upon you and overwhelm you:
- ¹⁶"May you be cursed in the city, and cursed in the country!
- ¹⁷"Cursed be your grain bin and your kneading bowl!
- ¹⁸"Cursed be the fruit of your womb, the produce of your soil and the offspring of your livestock, the issue of your herds and the young of your flocks!
- ¹⁹"May you be cursed in your coming in, and cursed in your going out!
- ²⁰"The LORD will put a curse on you, defeat and frustration in every enterprise you undertake, until you are speedily destroyed and perish for the evil you have done in forsaking me.

- ²¹The LORD will bring a pestilence upon you that will persist until he has exterminated you from the land you are entering to occupy.
- ²²The LORD will strike you with wasting and fever, with scorching, fiery drought, with blight and searing wind, that will plague you until you perish.
- ²³The sky over your heads will be like bronze and the earth under your feet like iron.
- ²⁴For rain the LORD will give your land powdery dust, which will come down upon you from the sky until you are destroyed.
- ²⁵The LORD will let you be beaten down before your enemies; though you advance against them from one direction, you will flee before them in seven, so that you will become a terrifying example to all the kingdoms of the earth.
- ²⁶Your carcasses will become food for all the birds of the air and for the beasts of the field, with no one to frighten them off.
- ²⁷The LORD will strike you with Egyptian boils and with tumors, eczema and the itch, until you cannot be cured.
- ²⁸And the LORD will strike you with madness, blindness and panic,
- ²⁹so that even at midday you will grope like a blind man in the dark, unable to find your way. "You will be oppressed and robbed continually, with no one to come to your aid.
- ³⁰Though you betroth a wife, another man will have her. Though you build a house, you will not live in it. Though you plant a vineyard, you will not enjoy its fruits.
- ³¹Your ox will be slaughtered before your eyes, and you will not eat of its flesh. Your ass will be stolen in your presence, but you will not recover it. Your flocks will be given to your enemies, with no one to come to your aid.
- ³²Your sons and daughters will be given to a foreign nation while you look on and grieve for them in constant helplessness.
- ³³A people whom you do not know will consume the fruit of your soil and of all your labor, and you will be oppressed and crushed at all times without surcease,
- ³⁴until you are driven mad by what your eyes must look upon.

³⁵The LORD will strike you with malignant boils of which you cannot be cured, on your knees and legs, and from the soles of your feet to the crown of your head.

³⁶"The LORD will bring you, and your king whom you have set over you, to a nation which you and your fathers have not known, and there you will serve strange gods of wood and stone, ³⁷and will call forth amazement, reproach and barbed scorn from all the nations to which the LORD will lead you.

³⁸"Though you spend much seed on your field, you will harvest but little, for the locusts will devour the crop.

³⁹Though you plant and cultivate vineyards, you will not drink or store up the wine, for the grubs will eat the vines clean.

⁴⁰Though you have olive trees throughout your country, you will have no oil for ointment, for your olives will drop off unripe.

⁴¹Though you beget sons and daughters, they will not remain with you, but will go into captivity.

⁴²Buzzing insects will infest all your trees and the crops of your soil.

⁴³The alien residing among you will rise higher and higher above you, while you sink lower and lower.

⁴⁴He will lend to you, not you to him. He will become the head, you the tail.

⁴⁵"All these curses will come upon you, pursuing you and overwhelming you, until you are destroyed, because you would not hearken to the voice of the LORD, your God, nor keep the commandments and statutes he gave you.

⁴⁶They will light on you and your descendants as a sign and a wonder for all time.

⁴⁷Since you would not serve the LORD, your God, with joy and gratitude for abundance of every kind, ⁴⁸therefore in hunger and thirst, in nakedness and utter poverty, you will serve the enemies whom the LORD will send against you. He will put an iron yoke on your neck, until he destroys you.

⁵⁰a nation of stern visage, that shows neither respect for the aged nor pity for the young.

⁵¹They will consume the offspring of your livestock and the produce of your soil, until you are destroyed; they will leave you no grain or wine or oil, no issue of your herds or young of your flocks, until they have brought about your ruin.

⁵²They will besiege you in each of your communities, until the great, unscalable walls you trust in come tumbling down all over your land. They will so besiege you in every community throughout the land which the LORD, your God, has given you,

⁵³that in the distress of the siege to which your enemy subjects you, you will eat the fruit of your womb, the flesh of your own sons and daughters whom the LORD, your God, has given you.

⁵⁴The most refined and fastidious man among you will begrudge his brother and his beloved wife and his surviving children,

⁵⁵any share in the flesh of his children that he himself is using for food when nothing else is left him in the straits of the siege to which your enemy will subject you in all your communities.

⁵⁶The most refined and delicate woman among you, so delicate and refined that she would not venture to set the sole of her foot on the ground, will begrudge her beloved husband and her son and daughter

⁵⁷the afterbirth that issues from her womb and the infant she brings forth when she secretly uses them for food for want of anything else, in the straits of the siege to which your enemy will subject you in your communities.

⁵⁸"If you are not careful to observe every word of the law which is written in this book, and to revere the glorious and awesome name of the LORD, your God, ⁵⁹he will smite you and your descendants with severe and constant blows, malignant and lasting maladies.

⁶⁰He will again afflict you with all the diseases of Egypt which you dread, and they will persist among you.

⁶¹Should there be any kind of sickness or calamity not mentioned in this book of the law, that too the LORD will bring upon you until you are destroyed.

⁶²Of you who were numerous as the stars in the sky, only a few will be left, because you would not hearken to the voice of the LORD, your God.

⁶³Just as the LORD once took delight in making you grow and prosper, so will he now take delight in ruining and destroying you, and you will be plucked out of the land you are now entering to occupy.

⁶⁴The LORD will scatter you among all the nations from one end of the earth to the other, and there you will serve strange gods of wood and stone, such as you and your fathers have not known.

⁶⁵Among these nations you will find no repose, not a foot of ground to stand upon, for there the LORD will give you an anguished heart and wasted eyes and a dismayed spirit.

⁶⁶You will live in constant suspense and stand in dread both day and night, never sure of your existence.

⁶⁷In the morning you will say, 'Would that it were evening!' and in the evening you will say, 'Would that it were morning!' for the dread that your heart must feel and the sight that your eyes must see.

⁶⁸The LORD will send you back in galleys to Egypt, to the region I told you that you were never to see again; and there you will offer yourselves for sale to your enemies as male and female slaves, but there will be no buyer."

⁶⁹These are the words of the covenant which the LORD ordered Moses to make with the Israelites in the land of Moab, in addition to the covenant which he made with them at Horeb.

29 Moses summoned all Israel and said to them, "You have seen all that the LORD did in the land of Egypt before your very eyes to Pharaoh and all his servants and to all his land;

²the great testings your own eyes have seen, and those great signs and wonders.

³But not even at the present day has the LORD yet given you a mind to understand, or eyes to see, or ears to hear.

⁴I led you for forty years in the desert. Your clothes did not fall from you in tatters nor your sandals from your feet;

⁵bread was not your food, nor wine or beer your drink. Thus you should know that I, the LORD, am your God.'

⁶When we came to this place, Sihon, king of Heshbon, and Og, king of Bashan, came out to engage us in battle, but we defeated them

⁷and took over their land, which we then gave as a heritage to the Reubenites, Gadites, and half the tribe of Manasseh.

⁸Keep the terms of this covenant, therefore, and fulfill them, that you may succeed in whatever you do.

⁹"You are all now standing before the LORD, your God--your chiefs and judges, your elders and officials, and all of the men of Israel,

¹⁰together with your wives and children and the aliens who live in your camp, down to those who hew wood and draw water for you--

¹¹that you may enter into the covenant of the LORD, your God, which he concluded with you today under this sanction of a curse;

¹²so that he may now establish you as his people and he may be your God, as he promised you and as he swore to your fathers Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.

¹³But it is not with you alone that I am making this covenant, under this sanction of a curse;

¹⁴it is just as much with those who are not here among us today as it is with those of us who are now here present before the LORD, our God.

¹⁵"You know in what surroundings we lived in the land of Egypt and what we passed by in the nations we traversed, ¹⁶and you saw the loathsome idols of wood and stone, of gold and silver, that they possess.

¹⁷Let there be, then, no man or woman, no clan or tribe among you, who would now turn away their hearts from the LORD, our God, to go and serve these pagan gods! Let there be no root that would bear such poison and wormwood among you.

¹⁸If any such person, upon hearing the words of this curse, should beguile himself into thinking that he can safely persist in his stubbornness of heart, as though to sweep away both the watered soil and the parched ground,

¹⁹the LORD will never consent to pardon him. Instead, the LORD'S wrath and jealousy will flare up against that man, and every curse mentioned in this book will alight on him. The LORD will blot out his name from under the heavens

²⁰and will single him out from all the tribes of Israel for doom, in keeping with all the curses of the covenant inscribed in this book of the law.

²¹"Future generations, your own descendants who will rise up after you, as well as the foreigners who will come here from far-off lands, when they see the calamities of this land and the ills with which the LORD has smitten it--

²²all its soil being nothing but sulphur and salt, a burnt-out waste, unsown and unfruitful, without a blade of grass, destroyed like Sodom and Gomorrah, Admah and Zeboiim, which the LORD overthrew in his furious wrath--

²³they and all the nations will ask, 'Why has the LORD dealt thus with this land? Why this fierce outburst of wrath?'

²⁴And the answer will be, 'Because they forsook the covenant which the LORD, the God of their fathers, had made with them when he brought them out of the land of Egypt,

²⁵and they went and served other gods and adored them, gods whom they did not know and whom he had not let fall to their lot:

²⁶that is why the LORD was angry with this land and brought on it all the imprecations listed in this book;

²⁷in his furious wrath and tremendous anger the LORD uprooted them from their soil and cast them out into a strange land, where they are today.'

²⁸(Both what is still hidden and what has already been revealed concern us and our descendants forever, that we may carry out all the words of this law.)

30"When all these things which I have set before you, the blessings and the curses, are fulfilled in you, and from among whatever nations the LORD, your God, may have dispersed you, you ponder them in your heart:

- ²then, provided that you and your children return to the LORD, your God, and heed his voice with all your heart and all your soul, just as I now command you,
- ³the LORD, your God, will change your lot; and taking pity on you, he will again gather you from all the nations wherein he has scattered you.
- ⁴Though you may have been driven to the farthest corner of the world, even from there will the LORD, your God, gather you; even from there will he bring you back.
- ⁵The LORD, your God, will then bring you into the land which your fathers once occupied, that you too may occupy it, and he will make you more prosperous and numerous than your fathers.
- ⁶The LORD, your God, will circumcise your hearts and the hearts of your descendants, that you may love the LORD, your God, with all your heart and all your soul, and so may live.
- ⁷But all those curses the LORD, your God, will assign to your enemies and the foes who persecuted you.
- ⁸You, however, must again heed the LORD'S voice and carry out all his commandments which I now enjoin on you.
- ⁹Then the LORD, your God, will increase in more than goodly measure the returns from all your labors, the fruit of your womb, the offspring of your livestock, and the produce of your soil; for the LORD, your God, will again take delight in your prosperity, even as he took delight in your fathers',
- ¹⁰if only you heed the voice of the LORD, your God, and keep his commandments and statutes that are written in this book of the law, when you return to the LORD, your God, with all your heart and all your soul.
- ¹¹"For this command which I enjoin on you today is not too mysterious and remote for you.
- ¹²It is not up in the sky, that you should say, 'Who will go up in the sky to get it for us and tell us of it, that we may carry it out?'
- ¹³Nor is it across the sea, that you should say, 'Who will cross the sea to get it for us and tell us of it, that we may carry it out?'

¹⁴No, it is something very near to you, already in your mouths and in your hearts; you have only to carry it out.

¹⁵"Here, then, I have today set before you life and prosperity, death and doom.

¹⁶If you obey the commandments of the LORD, your God, which I enjoin on you today, loving him, and walking in his ways, and keeping his commandments, statutes and decrees, you will live and grow numerous, and the LORD, your God, will bless you in the land you are entering to occupy.

¹⁷If, however, you turn away your hearts and will not listen, but are led astray and adore and serve other gods,

¹⁸I tell you now that you will certainly perish; you will not have a long life on the land which you are crossing the Jordan to enter and occupy.

¹⁹I call heaven and earth today to witness against you: I have set before you life and death, the blessing and the curse. Choose life, then, that you and your descendants may live,

²⁰by loving the LORD, your God, heeding his voice, and holding fast to him. For that will mean life for you, a long life for you to live on the land which the LORD swore he would give to your fathers Abraham, Isaac and Jacob."

31 When Moses had finished speaking these words to all Israel,

²he said to them, "I am now one hundred and twenty years old and am no longer able to move about freely; besides, the LORD has told me that I shall not cross this Jordan.

³It is the LORD, your God, who will cross before you; he will destroy these nations before you, that you may supplant them. (It is Joshua who will cross before you, as the LORD promised.)

⁴The LORD will deal with them just as he dealt with Sihon and Og, the kings of the Amorites whom he destroyed, and with their country.

⁵When, therefore, the LORD delivers them up to you, you must deal with them exactly as I have ordered you.

⁶Be brave and steadfast; have no fear or dread of them, for it is the LORD, your God, who marches with you; he will never fail you or forsake you."

⁷Then Moses summoned Joshua and in the presence of all Israel said to him, "Be brave and steadfast, for you must bring this people into the land which the LORD swore to their fathers he would give them; you must put them in possession of their heritage.

⁸It is the LORD who marches before you; he will be with you and will never fail you or forsake you. So do not fear or be dismayed."

⁹When Moses had written down this law, he entrusted it to the levitical priests who carry the ark of the covenant of the LORD, and to all the elders of Israel,

¹⁰giving them this order: "On the feast of Booths, at the prescribed time in the year of relaxation which comes at the end of every seven-year period,

¹¹when all Israel goes to appear before the LORD, your God, in the place which he chooses, you shall read this law aloud in the presence of all Israel.

¹²Assemble the people--men, women and children, as well as the aliens who live in your communities--that they may hear it and learn it, and so fear the LORD, your God, and carefully observe all the words of this law.

¹³Their children also, who do not know it yet, must hear it and learn it, that they too may fear the LORD, your God, as long as you live on the land which you will cross the Jordan to occupy."

¹⁴The LORD said to Moses, "The time is now approaching for you to die. Summon Joshua, and present yourselves at the meeting tent that I may give him his commission." So Moses and Joshua went and presented themselves at the meeting tent.

¹⁵And the LORD appeared at the tent in a column of cloud, which stood still at the entrance of the tent.

¹⁶The LORD said to Moses, "Soon you will be at rest with your fathers, and then this people will take to rendering wanton worship to the strange gods among whom they will live in the land they are about to enter. They will forsake me and break the covenant which I have made with them.

¹⁷At that time my anger will flare up against them; I will forsake them and hide my face from them, so that they will become a prey to be devoured, and many evils and troubles will befall them. At that time they will indeed say, 'Is it not because our God is not among us that these evils have befallen us?'

¹⁸Yet I will be hiding my face from them at that time only because of all the evil they have done in turning to other gods.

¹⁹Write out this song, then, for yourselves. Teach it to the Israelites and have them recite it, so that this song may be a witness for me against the Israelites.

²⁰For when I have brought them into the land flowing with milk and honey which I promised on oath to their fathers, and they have eaten their fill and grown fat, if they turn to other gods and serve them, despising me and breaking my covenant;

²¹then, when many evils and troubles befall them, this song, which their descendants will not have forgotten to recite, will bear witness against them. For I know what they are inclined to do even at the present time, before I have brought them into the land which I promised on oath to their fathers."

²²So Moses wrote this song that same day, and he taught it to the Israelites.

²³Then the LORD commissioned Joshua, son of Nun, and said to him, "Be brave and steadfast, for it is you who must bring the Israelites into the land which I promised them on oath. I myself will be with you."

²⁴When Moses had finished writing out on a scroll the words of the law in their entirety,

²⁵he gave the Levites who carry the ark of the covenant of the LORD this order:

²⁶"Take this scroll of the law and put it beside the ark of the covenant of the LORD, your God, that there it may be a witness against you.

²⁷For I already know how rebellious and stiff-necked you will be. Why, even now, while I am alive among you, you have been rebels against the LORD! How much more, then, after I am dead!

²⁸Therefore, assemble all your tribal elders and your officials before me, that I may speak these words for them to hear, and so may call heaven and earth to witness against them.

²⁹For I know that after my death you are sure to become corrupt and to turn aside from the way along which I directed you, so that evil will befall you in some future age because you have done evil in the LORD'S sight, and provoked him by your deeds."

³⁰Then Moses recited the words of this song from beginning to end, for the whole assembly of Israel to hear:

32 Give ear, O heavens, while I speak; let the earth hearken to the words of my mouth!

²May my instruction soak in like the rain, and my discourse permeate like the dew, Like a downpour upon the grass, like a shower upon the crops.

³For I will sing the LORD'S renown. Oh, proclaim the greatness of our God!

⁵Yet basely has he been treated by his degenerate children, a perverse and crooked race!

⁶Is the LORD to be thus repaid by you, O stupid and foolish people? Is he not your father who created you? Has he not made you and established you?

⁷Think back on the days of old, reflect on the years of age upon age. Ask your father and he will inform you, ask your elders and they will tell you:

⁸When the Most High assigned the nations their heritage, when he parceled out the descendants of Adam, He set up the boundaries of the peoples after the number of the sons of God;

⁹While the LORD'S own portion was Jacob, His hereditary share was Israel.

¹⁰He found them in a wilderness, a wasteland of howling desert. He shielded them and cared for them, guarding them as the apple of his eye.

¹¹As an eagle incites its nestlings forth by hovering over its brood, So he spread his wings to receive them and bore them up on his pinions.

¹²The LORD alone was their leader, no strange god was with him.

¹³He had them ride triumphant over the summits of the land and live off the products of its fields, Giving them honey to suck from its rocks and olive oil from its hard, stony ground;

¹⁴Butter from its cows and milk from its sheep, with the fat of its lambs and rams; Its Bashan bulls and its goats, with the cream of its finest wheat; and the foaming blood of its grapes you drank.

¹⁵(So Jacob ate his fill,) the darling grew fat and frisky; you became fat and gross and gorged. They spurned the God who made them and scorned their saving Rock.

¹⁶They provoked him with strange gods and angered him with abominable idols.

¹⁷They offered sacrifice to demons, to "no-gods," to gods whom they had not known before, To newcomers just arrived, of whom their fathers had never stood in awe.

¹⁸You were unmindful of the Rock that begot you, You forgot the God who gave you birth.

¹⁹When the LORD saw this, he was filled with loathing and anger toward his sons and daughters.

²⁰I will hide my face from them," he said, "and see what will then become of them. What a fickle race they are, sons with no loyalty in them!

²¹"Since they have provoked me with their 'no-god' and angered me with their vain idols, I will provoke them with a 'no-people'; with a foolish nation I will anger them.

²²"For by my wrath a fire is enkindled that shall rage to the depths of the nether world, Consuming the earth with its yield, and licking with flames the roots of the mountains.

²³I will spend on them woe upon woe and exhaust all my arrows against them:

²⁴"Emaciating hunger and consuming fever and bitter pestilence, And the teeth of wild beasts I will send among them, with the venom of reptiles gliding in the dust.

²⁵"Snatched away by the sword in the street and by sheer terror at home Shall be the youth and the maiden alike, the nursing babe as well as the hoary old man.

²⁶"I would have said, 'I will make an end of them and blot out their name from men's memories,'

²⁷Had I not feared the insolence of their enemies, feared that these foes would mistakenly boast, 'Our own hand won the victory; the LORD had nothing to do with it.'

²⁸For they are a people devoid of reason, having no understanding.

²⁹If they had insight they would realize what happened, they would understand their future and say,

³⁰"How could one man rout a thousand, or two men put ten thousand to flight, Unless it was because their Rock sold them and the LORD delivered them up?"

³¹Indeed, their "rock" is not like our Rock, and our foes are under condemnation.

³³Their wine is the venom of dragons and the cruel poison of cobras.

³⁴"Is not this preserved in my treasury, sealed up in my storehouse, ³⁵Against the day of vengeance and requital, against the time they lose their footing?"

Close at hand is the day of their disaster and their doom is rushing upon them!

³⁶Surely, the LORD shall do justice for his people; on his servants he shall have pity. When he sees their strength failing, and their protected and unprotected alike disappearing,

³⁷He will say, "Where are their gods whom they relied on as their 'rock'?"

³⁸Let those who ate the fat of your sacrifices and drank the wine of your libations Rise up now and help you! Let them be your protection!

³⁹"Learn then that I, I alone, am God, and there is no god besides me. It is I who bring both death and life, I who inflict wounds and heal them, and from my hand there is no rescue.

⁴⁰"To the heavens I raise my hand and swear: As surely as I live forever, ⁴¹I will sharpen my flashing sword, and my hand shall lay hold of my quiver. "With vengeance I will repay my foes and requite those who hate me.

⁴²I will make my arrows drunk with blood, and my sword shall gorge itself with flesh-- With the blood of the slain and the captured, Flesh from the heads of the enemy leaders."

⁴³Exult with him, you heavens, glorify him, all you angels of God; For he avenges the blood of his servants and purges his people's land.

⁴⁴So Moses, together with Joshua, son of Nun, went and recited all the words of this song for the people to hear.

⁴⁵When Moses had finished speaking all these words to all Israel,

⁴⁶he said, "Take to heart all the warning which I have now given you and which you must impress on your children, that you may carry out carefully every word of this law.

⁴⁷For this is no trivial matter for you; rather, it means your very life, since it is by this means that you are to enjoy a long life on the land which you will cross the Jordan to occupy."

⁴⁸On that very day the LORD said to Moses,

⁴⁹"Go up on Mount Nebo, here in the Abarim Mountains (it is in the land of Moab facing Jericho), and view the land of Canaan, which I am giving to the Israelites as their possession.

⁵⁰Then you shall die on the mountain you have climbed, and shall be taken to your people, just as your brother Aaron died on Mount Hor and there was taken to his people;

⁵¹because both of you broke faith with me among the Israelites at the waters of Meribath-kadesh in the desert of Zin by failing to manifest my sanctity among the Israelites.

⁵²You may indeed view the land at a distance, but you shall not enter that land which I am giving to the Israelites."

33 This is the blessing which Moses, the man of God, pronounced upon the Israelites before he died.

²He said: "The LORD came from Sinai and dawned on his people from Seir; He shone forth from Mount Paran and advanced from Meribath-kadesh, While at his right hand a fire blazed forth and his wrath devastated the nations.

³But all his holy ones were in his hand; they followed at his feet and he bore them up on his pinions.

⁴A law he gave to us; he made the community of Jacob his domain,

⁵and he became king of his darling. When the chiefs of the people assembled and the tribes of Israel came together.

⁶"May Reuben live and not die out, but let his men be few."

⁷The following is for Judah. He said: "The LORD hears the cry of Judah; you will bring him to his people. His own hands defend his cause and you will be his help against his foes."

⁸Of Levi he said: "To Levi belong your Thummim, to the man of your favor your Urim; For you put him to the test at Massah and you contended with him at the waters of Meribah.

⁹He said of his father, 'I regard him not'; his brothers he would not acknowledge, and his own children he refused to recognize. Thus the Levites keep your words, and your covenant they uphold.

¹⁰They promulgate your decisions to Jacob and your law to Israel. They bring the smoke of sacrifice to your nostrils, and burnt offerings to your altar.

¹¹Bless, O LORD, his possessions and accept the ministry of his hands. Break the backs of his adversaries and of his foes, that they may not rise."

¹²Of Benjamin he said: "Benjamin is the beloved of the LORD, who shelters him all the day, while he abides securely at his breast."

¹³Of Joseph he said: "Blessed by the LORD is his land with the best of the skies above and of the abyss crouching beneath;

¹⁴With the best of the produce of the year, and the choicest sheaves of the months;

¹⁵With the finest gifts of the age-old mountains and the best from the timeless hills;

¹⁶With the best of the earth and its fullness, and the favor of him who dwells in the bush. These shall come upon the head of Joseph and upon the brow of the prince among his brothers,

¹⁷The majestic bull, his father's first-born, whose horns are those of the wild ox With which to gore the nations, even those at the ends of the earth." (These are the myriads of Ephraim, and these the thousands of Manasseh.)

¹⁸Of Zebulun he said: "Rejoice, O Zebulun, in your pursuits, and you, Issachar, in your tents!

¹⁹You who invite the tribes to the mountains where feasts are duly held, Because you suck up the abundance of the seas and the hidden treasures of the sand."

²⁰Of Gad he said: "Blessed be he who has made Gad so vast! He lies there like a lion that has seized the arm and head of the prey.

²¹He saw that the best should be his when the princely portion was assigned, while the heads of the people were gathered. He carried out the justice of the LORD and his decrees respecting Israel."

²²Of Dan he said: "Dan is a lion's whelp, that springs forth from Bashan!"

²³Of Naphtali he said: "Naphtali is enriched with favors and filled with the blessings of the LORD; The lake and south of it are his possession!"

²⁴Of Asher he said: "More blessed than the other sons be Asher! May he be the favorite among his brothers, as the oil of his olive trees runs over his feet!

²⁵May your bolts be of iron and bronze; may your strength endure through all your days!"

²⁶"There is no god like the God of the darling, who rides the heavens in his power, and rides the skies in his majesty;

²⁷He spread out the primeval tent; he extended the ancient canopy. He drove the enemy out of your way and the Amorite he destroyed.

²⁸Israel has dwelt securely, and the fountain of Jacob has been undisturbed In a land of grain and wine, where the heavens drip with dew.

²⁹How fortunate you are, O Israel! Where else is a nation victorious in the LORD? The LORD is your saving shield, and his sword is your glory. Your enemies fawn upon you, as you stride upon their heights."

34Then Moses went up from the plains of Moab to Mount Nebo, the headland of Pisgah which faces Jericho, and the LORD showed him all the land-Gilead, and as far as Dan,

²all Naphtali, the land of Ephraim and Manasseh, all the land of Judah as far as the Western Sea,

³the Negeb, the circuit of the Jordan with the lowlands at Jericho, city of palms, and as far as Zoar.

⁴The LORD then said to him, "This is the land which I swore to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob that I would give to their descendants. I have let you feast your eyes upon it, but you shall not cross over."

⁵So there, in the land of Moab, Moses, the servant of the LORD, died as the LORD had said;

⁶and he was buried in the ravine opposite Beth-peor in the land of Moab, but to this day no one knows the place of his burial.

⁷Moses was one hundred and twenty years old when he died, yet his eyes were undimmed and his vigor unabated.

⁸For thirty days the Israelites wept for Moses in the plains of Moab, till they had completed the period of grief and mourning for Moses.

⁹Now Joshua, son of Nun, was filled with the spirit of wisdom, since Moses had laid his hands upon him; and so the Israelites gave him their obedience, thus carrying out the LORD'S command to Moses.

¹⁰Since then no prophet has arisen in Israel like Moses, whom the LORD knew face to face.

¹¹He had no equal in all the signs and wonders the LORD sent him to perform in the land of Egypt against Pharaoh and all his servants and against all his land, ¹²and for the might and the terrifying power that Moses exhibited in the sight of all Israel.

Joshua

1 After Moses, the servant of the LORD, had died, the LORD said to Moses' aide Joshua, son of Nun:

2"My servant Moses is dead. So prepare to cross the Jordan here, with all the people into the land I will give the Israelites.

3As I promised Moses, I will deliver to you every place where you set foot.

4Your domain is to be all the land of the Hittites, from the desert and from Lebanon east to the great river Euphrates and west to the Great Sea.

5No one can withstand you while you live. I will be with you as I was with Moses: I will not leave you nor forsake you.

6Be firm and steadfast, so that you may give this people possession of the land which I swore to their fathers I would give them.

7Above all, be firm and steadfast, taking care to observe the entire law which my servant Moses enjoined on you. Do not swerve from it either to the right or to the left, that you may succeed wherever you go.

8Keep this book of the law on your lips. Recite it by day and by night, that you may observe carefully all that is written in it; then you will successfully attain your goal.

9I command you: be firm and steadfast! Do not fear nor be dismayed, for the LORD, your God, is with you wherever you go."

10So Joshua commanded the officers of the people:

11"Go through the camp and instruct the people, 'Prepare your provisions, for three days from now you shall cross the Jordan here, to march in and take possession of the land which the LORD, your God, is giving you.'"

12Joshua reminded the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh:

¹³"Remember what Moses, the servant of the LORD, commanded you when he said, 'The LORD, your God, will permit you to settle in this land.'

¹⁴Your wives, your children, and your livestock shall remain in the land Moses gave you here beyond the Jordan. But all the warriors among you must cross over armed ahead of your kinsmen and you must help them

¹⁵until the LORD has settled your kinsmen, and they like you possess the land which the LORD, your God, is giving them. Afterward you may return and occupy your own land, which Moses, the servant of the LORD, has given you east of the Jordan."

¹⁶"We will do all you have commanded us," they answered Joshua, "and we will go wherever you send us. We will obey you as completely as we obeyed Moses.

¹⁷But may the LORD, your God, be with you as he was with Moses.

¹⁸If anyone rebels against your orders and does not obey every command you give him, he shall be put to death. But be firm and steadfast."

2 Then Joshua, son of Nun, secretly sent out two spies from Shittim, saying, "Go, reconnoiter the land and Jericho." When the two reached Jericho, they went into the house of a harlot named Rahab, where they lodged.

² But a report was brought to the king of Jericho that some Israelites had come there that night to spy out the land.

³ So the king of Jericho sent Rahab the order, "Put out the visitors who have entered your house, for they have come to spy out the entire land."

⁴ The woman had taken the two men and hidden them, so she said, "True, the men you speak of came to me, but I did not know where they came from.

⁵ At dark, when it was time for the gate to be shut, they left, and I do not know where they went. You will have to pursue them immediately to overtake them."

⁶ Now, she had led them to the roof, and hidden them among her stalks of flax spread out there.

⁷ But the pursuers set out along the way to the fords of the Jordan, and once they had left, the gate was shut.

⁸Before the spies fell asleep, Rahab came to them on the roof

⁹and said: "I know that the LORD has given you the land, that a dread of you has come upon us, and that all the inhabitants of the land are overcome with fear of you.

¹⁰For we have heard how the LORD dried up the waters of the Red Sea before you when you came out of Egypt, and how you dealt with Sihon and Og, the two kings of the Amorites beyond the Jordan, whom you doomed to destruction.

¹¹At these reports, we are disheartened; everyone is discouraged because of you, since the LORD, your God, is God in heaven above and on earth below.

¹²Now then, swear to me by the LORD that, since I am showing kindness to you, you in turn will show kindness to my family; and give me an unmistakable token ¹³that you are to spare my father and mother, brothers and sisters, and all their kin, and save us from death."

¹⁴"We pledge our lives for yours," the men answered her. "If you do not betray this errand of ours, we will be faithful in showing kindness to you when the LORD gives us the land."

¹⁵Then she let them down through the window with a rope; for she lived in a house built into the city wall.

¹⁶"Go up into the hill country," she suggested to them, "that your pursuers may not find you. Hide there for three days, until they return; then you may proceed on your way."

¹⁷The men answered her, "This is how we will fulfill the oath you made us take:

¹⁸When we come into the land, tie this scarlet cord in the window through which you are letting us down; and gather your father and mother, your brothers and all your family into your house.

¹⁹Should any of them pass outside the doors of your house, he will be responsible for his own death, and we shall be guiltless. But we shall be responsible if anyone in the house with you is harmed.

²⁰If, however, you betray this errand of ours, we shall be quit of the oath you have made us take."

²¹"Let it be as you say," she replied, and bade them farewell. When they were gone, she tied the scarlet cord in the window.

²²They went up into the hills, where they stayed three days until their pursuers, who had sought them all along the road without finding them, returned.

²³Then the two came back down from the hills, crossed the Jordan to Joshua, son of Nun, and reported all that had befallen them.

²⁴They assured Joshua, "The LORD has delivered all this land into our power; indeed, all the inhabitants of the land are overcome with fear of us."

3 Early the next morning, Joshua moved with all the Israelites from Shittim to the Jordan, where they lodged before crossing over.

²Three days later the officers went through the camp

³and issued these instructions to the people: "When you see the ark of the covenant of the LORD, your God, which the levitical priests will carry, you must also break camp and follow it, ⁴that you may know the way to take, for you have not gone over this road before. But let there be a space of two thousand cubits between you and the ark. Do not come nearer to it."

⁵Joshua also said to the people, "Sanctify yourselves, for tomorrow the LORD will perform wonders among you."

⁶And he directed the priests to take up the ark of the covenant and go on ahead of the people; and they did so.

⁷Then the LORD said to Joshua, "Today I will begin to exalt you in the sight of all Israel, that they may know I am with you, as I was with Moses.

⁸Now command the priests carrying the ark of the covenant to come to a halt in the Jordan when they reach the edge of the waters."

⁹So Joshua said to the Israelites, "Come here and listen to the words of the LORD, your God."

¹⁰He continued: "This is how you will know that there is a living God in your midst, who at your approach will dispossess the Canaanites, Hittites, Hivites, Perizzites, Girgashites, Amorites and Jebusites.

¹¹The ark of the covenant of the LORD of the whole earth will precede you into the Jordan.

¹³When the soles of the feet of the priests carrying the ark of the LORD, the Lord of the whole earth, touch the water of the Jordan, it will cease to flow; for the water flowing down from upstream will halt in a solid bank."

¹⁴The people struck their tents to cross the Jordan, with the priests carrying the ark of the covenant ahead of them.

¹⁵No sooner had these priestly bearers of the ark waded into the waters at the edge of the Jordan, which overflows all its banks during the entire season of the harvest,

¹⁶than the waters flowing from upstream halted, backing up in a solid mass for a very great distance indeed, from Adam, a city in the direction of Zarethan; while those flowing downstream toward the Salt Sea of the Arabah disappeared entirely. Thus the people crossed over opposite Jericho.

¹⁷While all Israel crossed over on dry ground, the priests carrying the ark of the covenant of the LORD remained motionless on dry ground in the bed of the Jordan until the whole nation had completed the passage.

4 After the entire nation had crossed the Jordan,

²the LORD said to Joshua, "Choose twelve men from the people, one from each tribe, ³and instruct them to take up twelve stones from this spot in the bed of the Jordan where the priests have been standing motionless. Carry them over with you, and place them where you are to stay tonight."

⁴Summoning the twelve men whom he had selected from among the Israelites, one from each tribe,

⁵Joshua said to them: "Go to the bed of the Jordan in front of the ark of the LORD, your God; lift to your shoulders one stone apiece, so that they will equal in number the tribes of the Israelites.

⁶In the future, these are to be a sign among you. When your children ask you what these stones mean to you,

⁷you shall answer them, 'The waters of the Jordan ceased to flow before the ark of the covenant of the LORD when it crossed the Jordan.' Thus these stones are to serve as a perpetual memorial to the Israelites."

⁸The twelve Israelites did as Joshua had commanded: they took up as many stones from the bed of the Jordan as there were tribes of the Israelites, and carried them along to the camp site, where they placed them, according to the LORD'S direction.

⁹Joshua also had twelve stones set up in the bed of the Jordan on the spot where the priests stood who were carrying the ark of the covenant. They are there to this day.

¹⁰The priests carrying the ark remained in the bed of the Jordan until everything had been done that the LORD had commanded Joshua to tell the people. The people crossed over quickly, ¹¹and when all had reached the other side, the ark of the LORD, borne by the priests, also crossed to its place in front of them.

¹²The Reubenites, Gadites, and half-tribe of Manasseh, armed, marched in the vanguard of the Israelites, as Moses had ordered.

¹³About forty thousand troops equipped for battle passed over before the LORD to the plains of Jericho.

¹⁴That day the LORD exalted Joshua in the sight of all Israel, and thenceforth during his whole life they respected him as they had respected Moses.

¹⁵Then the LORD said to Joshua,

¹⁶"Command the priests carrying the ark of the commandments to come up from the Jordan."

¹⁷Joshua did so,

¹⁸and when the priests carrying the ark of the covenant of the LORD had come up from the bed of the Jordan, as the soles of their feet regained the dry ground, the waters of the Jordan resumed their course and as before overflowed all its banks.

¹⁹The people came up from the Jordan on the tenth day of the first month, and camped in Gilgal on the eastern limits of Jericho.

²¹saying to the Israelites, "In the future, when the children among you ask their fathers what these stones mean,

²²you shall inform them, 'Israel crossed the Jordan here on dry ground.'

²³For the LORD, your God, dried up the waters of the Jordan in front of you until you crossed over, just as the LORD, your God, had done at the Red Sea, which he dried up in front of us until we crossed over;

²⁴in order that all the peoples of the earth may learn that the hand of the LORD is mighty, and that you may fear the LORD, your God, forever."

5When all the kings of the Amorites to the west of the Jordan and all the kings of the Canaanites by the sea heard that the LORD had dried up the waters of the Jordan before the Israelites until they crossed over, they were disheartened and lost courage at their approach.

²On this occasion the LORD said to Joshua, "Make flint knives and circumcise the Israelite nation for the second time."

³So Joshua made flint knives and circumcised the Israelites at Gibeath-haaraloth,

⁴under these circumstances: Of all the people who came out of Egypt, every man of military age had died in the desert during the journey after they left Egypt.

⁵Though all the men who came out were circumcised, none of those born in the desert during the journey after the departure from Egypt were circumcised.

⁶Now the Israelites had wandered forty years in the desert, until all the warriors among the people that came forth from Egypt died off because they had not obeyed the command of the LORD. For the LORD swore that he would not let them see the land flowing with milk and honey which he had promised their fathers he would give us.

⁷It was the children whom he raised up in their stead whom Joshua circumcised, for these were yet with foreskins, not having been circumcised on the journey.

⁸When the rite had been performed, the whole nation remained in camp where they were, until they recovered.

⁹Then the LORD said to Joshua, "Today I have removed the reproach of Egypt from you." Therefore the place is called Gilgal to the present day.

¹⁰While the Israelites were encamped at Gilgal on the plains of Jericho, they celebrated the Passover on the evening of the fourteenth of the month.

¹¹On the day after the Passover they ate of the produce of the land in the form of unleavened cakes and parched grain. On that same day

¹²after the Passover on which they ate of the produce of the land, the manna ceased. No longer was there manna for the Israelites, who that year ate of the yield of the land of Canaan.

¹³While Joshua was near Jericho, he raised his eyes and saw one who stood facing him, drawn sword in hand. Joshua went up to him and asked, "Are you one of us or of our enemies?"

¹⁴He replied, "Neither. I am the captain of the host of the LORD and I have just arrived." Then Joshua fell prostrate to the ground in worship, and said to him, "What has my lord to say to his servant?"

¹⁵The captain of the host of the LORD replied to Joshua, "Remove your sandals from your feet, for the place on which you are standing is holy." And Joshua obeyed.

6 Now Jericho was in a state of siege because of the presence of the Israelites, so that no one left or entered.

²And to Joshua the LORD said, "I have delivered Jericho and its king into your power.

³Have all the soldiers circle the city, marching once around it. Do this for six days,

⁴with seven priests carrying ram's horns ahead of the ark. On the seventh day march around the city seven times, and have the priests blow the horns.

⁵When they give a long blast on the ram's horns and you hear that signal, all the people shall shout aloud. The wall of the city will collapse, and they will be able to make a frontal attack."

⁶Summoning the priests, Joshua, son of Nun, then ordered them to take up the ark of the covenant with seven of the priests carrying ram's horns in front of the ark of the LORD.

⁷And he ordered the people to proceed in a circle around the city, with the picked troops marching ahead of the ark of the LORD.

⁸At this order they proceeded, with the seven priests who carried the ram's horns before the LORD blowing their horns, and the ark of the covenant of the LORD following them.

⁹In front of the priests with the horns marched the picked troops; the rear guard followed the ark, and the blowing of horns was kept up continually as they marched.

¹⁰But the people had been commanded by Joshua not to shout or make any noise or outcry until he gave the word: only then were they to shout.

¹¹So he had the ark of the LORD circle the city, going once around it, after which they returned to camp for the night.

¹²Early the next morning, Joshua had the priests take up the ark of the LORD.

¹³The seven priests bearing the ram's horns marched in front of the ark of the LORD, blowing their horns. Ahead of these marched the picked troops, while the rear guard followed the ark of the LORD, and the blowing of horns was kept up continually.

¹⁴On this second day they again marched around the city once before returning to camp; and for six days in all they did the same.

¹⁵On the seventh day, beginning at daybreak, they marched around the city seven times in the same manner; on that day only did they march around the city seven times.

¹⁶The seventh time around, the priests blew the horns and Joshua said to the people, "Now shout, for the LORD has given you the city

¹⁷and everything in it. It is under the LORD'S ban. Only the harlot Rahab and all who are in the house with her are to be spared, because she hid the messengers we sent.

¹⁸But be careful not to take, in your greed, anything that is under the ban; else you will bring upon the camp of Israel this ban and the misery of it.

¹⁹All silver and gold, and the articles of bronze or iron, are sacred to the LORD. They shall be put in the treasury of the LORD."

²⁰As the horns blew, the people began to shout. When they heard the signal horn, they raised a tremendous shout. The wall collapsed, and the people stormed the city in a frontal attack and took it.

²¹They observed the ban by putting to the sword all living creatures in the city: men and women, young and old, as well as oxen, sheep and asses.

²²Joshua directed the two men who had spied out the land, "Go into the harlot's house and bring out the woman with all her kin, as you swore to her you would do."

²³The spies entered and brought out Rahab, with her father, mother, brothers, and all her kin. Her entire family they led forth and placed them outside the camp of Israel.

²⁴The city itself they burned with all that was in it, except the silver, gold, and articles of bronze and iron, which were placed in the treasury of the house of the LORD.

²⁵Because Rahab the harlot had hidden the messengers whom Joshua had sent to reconnoiter Jericho, Joshua spared her with her family and all her kin, who continue in the midst of Israel to this day.

²⁶On that occasion Joshua imposed the oath: Cursed before the LORD be the man who attempts to rebuild this city, Jericho. He shall lose his first-born when he lays its foundation, and he shall lose his youngest son when he sets up its gates.

²⁷Thus the LORD was with Joshua so that his fame spread throughout the land.

7 But the Israelites violated the ban; Achan, son of Carmi, son of Zerah, son of Zara of the tribe of Judah, took goods that were under the ban, and the anger of the LORD flared up against the Israelites.

²Joshua next sent men from Jericho to Ai, which is near Bethel on its eastern side, with instructions to go up and reconnoiter the land. When they had explored Ai,

³they returned to Joshua and advised, "Do not send all the people up; if only about two or three thousand go up, they can overcome Ai. The enemy there are few; you need not call for an effort from all the people."

⁴About three thousand of the people made the attack, but they were defeated by those at Ai,

⁵who killed some thirty-six of them. They pressed them back across the clearing in front of the city gate till they broke ranks, and defeated them finally on the descent, so that the confidence of the people melted away like water.

⁶Joshua, together with the elders of Israel, rent his garments and lay prostrate before the ark of the LORD until evening; and they threw dust on their heads.

⁷"Alas, O Lord GOD," Joshua prayed, "why did you ever allow this people to pass over the Jordan, delivering us into the power of the Amorites, that they might destroy us? Would that we had been content to dwell on the other side of the Jordan.

⁸Pray, Lord, what can I say, now that Israel has turned its back to its enemies?

⁹When the Canaanites and the other inhabitants of the land hear of it, they will close in around us and efface our name from the earth. What will you do for your great name?"

¹⁰The LORD replied to Joshua: "Stand up. Why are you lying prostrate?"

¹¹Israel has sinned: they have violated the covenant which I enjoined on them. They have stealthily taken goods subject to the ban, and have deceitfully put them in their baggage.

¹²If the Israelites cannot stand up to their enemies, but must turn their back to them, it is because they are under the ban. I will not remain with you unless you remove from among you whoever has incurred the ban.

¹³Rise, sanctify the people. Tell them to sanctify themselves before tomorrow, for the LORD, the God of Israel, says: You are under the ban, O Israel. You cannot stand up to your enemies until you remove from among you whoever has incurred the ban.

¹⁴In the morning you must present yourselves by tribes. The tribe which the LORD designates shall come forward by clans; the clan which the LORD designates shall come forward by families; the family which the LORD designates shall come forward one by one.

¹⁵He who is designated as having incurred the ban shall be destroyed by fire, with all that is his, because he has violated the covenant of the LORD and has committed a shameful crime in Israel."

¹⁶Early the next morning Joshua had Israel come forward by tribes, and the tribe of Judah was designated.

¹⁷Then he had the clans of Judah come forward, and the clan of Zerah was designated. He had the clan of Zerah come forward by families, and Zabdi was designated.

¹⁸Finally he had that family come forward one by one, and Achan, son of Carmi, son of Zabdi, son of Zerah of the tribe of Judah, was designated.

¹⁹Joshua said to Achan, "My son, give to the LORD, the God of Israel, glory and honor by telling me what you have done; do not hide it from me."

²⁰Achan answered Joshua, "I have indeed sinned against the LORD, the God of Israel. This is what I have done:

²¹Among the spoils, I saw a beautiful Babylonian mantle, two hundred shekels of silver, and a bar of gold fifty shekels in weight; in my greed I took them. They are now hidden in the ground inside my tent, with the silver underneath."

²²The messengers whom Joshua sent hastened to the tent and found them hidden there, with the silver underneath.

²³They took them from the tent, brought them to Joshua and all the Israelites, and spread them out before the LORD.

²⁴Then Joshua and all Israel took Achan, son of Zerah, with the silver, the mantle, and the bar of gold, and with his sons and daughters, his ox, his ass and his sheep, his tent, and all his possessions, and led them off to the Valley of Achor.

²⁵Joshua said, "The LORD bring upon you today the misery with which you have afflicted us!" And all Israel stoned him to death

²⁶and piled a great heap of stones over him, which remains to the present day. Then the anger of the LORD relented. That is why the place is called the Valley of Achor to this day.

8The LORD then said to Joshua, "Do not be afraid or dismayed. Take all the army with you and prepare to attack Ai. I have delivered the king of Ai into your power, with his people, city, and land.

²Do to Ai and its king what you did to Jericho and its king; except that you may take its spoil and livestock as booty. Set an ambush behind the city."

³So Joshua and all the soldiers prepared to attack Ai. Picking out thirty thousand warriors, Joshua sent them off by night

⁴with these orders: "See that you ambush the city from the rear, at no great distance; then all of you be on the watch.

⁵The rest of the people and I will come up to the city, and when they make a sortie against us as they did the last time, we will flee from them.

⁶They will keep coming out after us until we have drawn them away from the city, for they will think we are fleeing from them as we did the last time. When this occurs, ⁷rise from ambush and take possession of the city, which the LORD, your God, will deliver into your power.

⁸When you have taken the city, set it afire in obedience to the LORD'S command. These are my orders to you."

⁹Then Joshua sent them away. They went to the place of ambush, taking up their position to the west of Ai, toward Bethel. Joshua, however, spent that night in the plain.

¹⁰Early the next morning Joshua mustered the army and went up to Ai at its head, with the elders of Israel.

¹¹When all the troops he led were drawn up in position before the city, they pitched camp north of Ai, on the other side of the ravine.

¹²(He took about five thousand men and set them in ambush between Bethel and Ai, west of the city.)

¹³Thus the people took up their stations, with the main body north of the city and the ambush west of it, and Joshua waited overnight among his troops.

¹⁴The king of Ai saw this, and he and all his army came out very early in the morning to engage Israel in battle at the descent toward the Arabah, not knowing that there was an ambush behind the city.

¹⁵Joshua and the main body of the Israelites fled in seeming defeat toward the desert, ¹⁶till the last of the soldiers in the city had been called out to pursue them.

¹⁷Since they were drawn away from the city, with every man engaged in this pursuit of Joshua and the Israelites, not a soldier remained in Ai (or Bethel), and the city was open and unprotected.

¹⁸Then the LORD directed Joshua, "Stretch out the javelin in your hand toward Ai, for I will deliver it into your power." Joshua stretched out the javelin in his hand toward the city, ¹⁹and as soon as he did so, the men in ambush rose from their post, rushed in, captured the city, and immediately set it on fire.

²⁰By the time the men of Ai looked back, the smoke from the city was already sky-high. Escape in any direction was impossible, because the Israelites retreating toward the desert now turned on their pursuers;

²¹for when Joshua and the main body of Israelites saw that the city had been taken from ambush and was going up in smoke, they struck back at the men of Ai.

²²Since those in the city came out to intercept them, the men of Ai were hemmed in by Israelites on either side, who cut them down without any fugitives or survivors

²³except the king, whom they took alive and brought to Joshua.

²⁴All the inhabitants of Ai who had pursued the Israelites into the desert were slain by the sword there in the open, down to the last man. Then all Israel returned and put to the sword those inside the city.

²⁵There fell that day a total of twelve thousand men and women, the entire population of Ai.

²⁶Joshua kept the javelin in his hand stretched out until he had fulfilled the doom on all the inhabitants of Ai.

²⁷ However, the Israelites took for themselves as booty the livestock and the spoil of that city, according to the command of the LORD issued to Joshua.

²⁸ Then Joshua destroyed the place by fire, reducing it to an everlasting mound of ruins, as it remains today.

³⁰ Later Joshua built an altar to the LORD, the God of Israel, on Mount Ebal,

³² There, in the presence of the Israelites, Joshua inscribed upon the stones a copy of the law written by Moses.

³⁴ Then were read aloud all the words of the law, the blessings and the curses, exactly as written in the book of the law.

³⁵ Every single word that Moses had commanded, Joshua read aloud to the entire community, including the women and children, and the strangers who had accompanied Israel.

9 When the news reached the kings west of the Jordan, in the mountain regions and in the foothills, and all along the coast of the Great Sea as far as Lebanon: Hittites, Amorites, Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivites and Jebusites,

² they all formed an alliance to launch a common attack against Joshua and Israel.

³ On learning what Joshua had done to Jericho and Ai, the inhabitants of Gibeon

- ⁴put into effect a device of their own. They chose provisions for a journey, making use of old sacks for their asses, and old wineskins, torn and mended.
- ⁵They wore old, patched sandals and shabby garments; and all the bread they took was dry and crumbly.
- ⁶Thus they journeyed to Joshua in the camp at Gilgal, where they said to him and to the men of Israel, "We have come from a distant land to propose that you make an alliance with us."
- ⁷But the men of Israel replied to the Hivites, "You may be living in land that is ours. How, then, can we make an alliance with you?"
- ⁸But they answered Joshua, "We are your servants." Then Joshua asked them, "Who are you? Where do you come from?"
- ⁹They answered him, "Your servants have come from a far-off land, because of the fame of the LORD, your God. For we have heard reports of all that he did in Egypt
- ¹⁰and all that he did to the two kings of the Amorites beyond the Jordan, Sihon, king of Heshbon, and Og, king of Bashan, who lived in Ashtaroth.
- ¹¹So our elders and all the inhabitants of our country said to us, 'Take along provisions for the journey and go to meet them. Say to them: We are your servants; we propose that you make an alliance with us.'
- ¹²This bread of ours was still warm when we brought it from home as provisions the day we left to come to you, but now it is dry and crumbled.
- ¹³Here are our wineskins, which were new when we filled them, but now they are torn. Look at our garments and sandals, which are worn out from the very long journey."
- ¹⁴Then the Israelite princes partook of their provisions, without seeking the advice of the LORD.
- ¹⁵So Joshua made an alliance with them and entered into an agreement to spare them, which the princes of the community sealed with an oath.
- ¹⁶Three days after the agreement was entered into, the Israelites learned that these people were from nearby, and would be living in Israel.

¹⁷The third day on the road, the Israelites came to their cities of Gibeon, Chephirah, Beeroth and Kiriath-jearim,

¹⁸but did not attack them, because the princes of the community had sworn to them by the LORD, the God of Israel. When the entire community grumbled against the princes, ¹⁹these all remonstrated with the people, "We have sworn to them by the LORD, the God of Israel, and so we cannot harm them.

²⁰Let us therefore spare their lives and so deal with them that we shall not be punished for the oath we have sworn to them."

²¹Thus the princes recommended that they be let live, as hewers of wood and drawers of water for the entire community; and the community did as the princes advised them.

²²Joshua summoned the Gibeonites and said to them, "Why did you lie to us and say that you lived at a great distance from us, when you will be living in our very midst?

²³For this are you accursed: every one of you shall always be a slave (hewers of wood and drawers of water) for the house of my God."

²⁴They answered Joshua, "Your servants were fully informed of how the LORD, your God, commanded his servant Moses that you be given the entire land and that all its inhabitants be destroyed before you. Since, therefore, at your advance, we were in great fear for our lives, we acted as we did.

²⁵And now that we are in your power, do with us what you think fit and right."

²⁶Joshua did what he had decided: while he saved them from being killed by the Israelites,

²⁷at the same time he made them, as they still are, hewers of wood and drawers of water for the community and for the altar of the LORD, in the place of the LORD'S choice.

10 Now Adonizedek, king of Jerusalem, heard that, in the capture and destruction of Ai, Joshua had done to that city and its king as he had done to Jericho and its king. He heard also that the inhabitants of Gibeon had made their peace with Israel, remaining among them, ²and that there was great fear abroad, because Gibeon was large enough for a royal city, larger even than the city of Ai, and all its men were brave.

³So Adonizedek, king of Jerusalem, sent for Hoham, king of Hebron, Piram, king of Jarmuth, Japhia, king of Lachish, and Debir, king of Eglon, ⁴to come to his aid for an attack on Gibeon, since it had concluded peace with Joshua and the Israelites.

⁵The five Amorite kings, of Jerusalem, Hebron, Jarmuth, Lachish and Eglon, united all their forces and marched against Gibeon, where they took up siege positions.

⁶Thereupon, the men of Gibeon sent an appeal to Joshua in his camp at Gilgal: "Do not abandon your servants. Come up here quickly and save us. Help us, because all the Amorite kings of the mountain country have joined forces against us."

⁷So Joshua marched up from Gilgal with his picked troops and the rest of his soldiers.

⁸Meanwhile the LORD said to Joshua, "Do not fear them, for I have delivered them into your power. Not one of them will be able to withstand you."

⁹And when Joshua made his surprise attack upon them after an all-night march from Gilgal, ¹⁰the LORD threw them into disorder before him. The Israelites inflicted a great slaughter on them at Gibeon and pursued them down the Beth-horon slope, harrassing them as far as Azekah and Makkedah.

¹¹While they fled before Israel along the descent from Beth-horon, the LORD hurled great stones from the sky above them all the way to Azekah, killing many. More died from these hailstones than the Israelites slew with the sword.

¹²On this day, when the LORD delivered up the Amorites to the Israelites, Joshua prayed to the LORD, and said in the presence of Israel:
Stand still, O sun, at Gibeon,
O moon, in the valley of Aijalon!

¹³And the sun stood still,
and the moon stayed,
while the nation took vengeance on its foes.
Is this not recorded in the Book of Jashar? The sun halted in the middle of the sky; not for a whole day did it resume its swift course.

- ¹⁴Never before or since was there a day like this, when the LORD obeyed the voice of a man; for the LORD fought for Israel.
- ¹⁵(Then Joshua and all Israel returned to the camp at Gilgal.)
- ¹⁶Meanwhile the five kings who had fled, hid in a cave at Makkedah.
- ¹⁷When Joshua was told that the five kings had been discovered hiding in a cave at Makkedah,
- ¹⁸he said, "Roll large stones to the mouth of the cave and post men over it to guard them.
- ¹⁹But do not remain there yourselves. Pursue your enemies, and harry them in the rear. Do not allow them to escape to their cities, for the LORD, your God, has delivered them into your power."
- ²⁰Once Joshua and the Israelites had finally inflicted the last blows in this very great slaughter, and the survivors had escaped from them into the fortified cities,
- ²¹all the army returned safely to Joshua and the camp at Makkedah, no man uttering a sound against the Israelites.
- ²²Then Joshua said, "Open the mouth of the cave and bring out those five kings to me."
- ²³Obediently, they brought out to him from the cave the five kings, of Jerusalem, Hebron, Jarmuth, Lachish and Eglon.
- ²⁴When they had done so, Joshua summoned all the men of Israel and said to the commanders of the soldiers who had marched with him, "Come forward and put your feet on the necks of these kings." They came forward and put their feet upon their necks.
- ²⁵Then Joshua said to them, "Do not be afraid or dismayed, be firm and steadfast. This is what the LORD will do to all the enemies against whom you fight."
- ²⁶Thereupon Joshua struck and killed them, and hanged them on five trees, where they remained hanging until evening.

²⁷At sunset they were removed from the trees at the command of Joshua and cast into the cave where they had hidden; over the mouth of the cave large stones were placed, which remain until this very day.

²⁸Makkedah, too, Joshua captured and put to the sword at that time. He fulfilled the doom on the city, on its king, and on every person in it, leaving no survivors. Thus he did to the king of Makkedah what he had done to the king of Jericho.

²⁹Joshua then passed on with all Israel from Makkedah to Libnah, which he attacked.

³⁰Libnah also, with its king, the LORD delivered into the power of Israel. He put it to the sword with every person there, leaving no survivors. Thus he did to its king what he had done to the king of Jericho.

³¹Joshua next passed on with all Israel from Libnah to Lachish, where they set up a camp during the attack.

³²The LORD delivered Lachish into the power of Israel, so that on the second day Joshua captured it and put it to the sword with every person in it, just as he had done to Libnah.

³³At that time Horam, king of Gezer, came up to help Lachish, but Joshua defeated him and his people, leaving him no survivors.

³⁴From Lachish, Joshua passed on with all Israel to Eglon; encamping near it, they attacked it

³⁵and captured it the same day, putting it to the sword. He fulfilled the doom that day on every person in it, just as he had done at Lachish.

³⁶From Eglon, Joshua went up with all Israel to Hebron, which they attacked

³⁷and captured. They put it to the sword with its king, all its towns, and every person there, leaving no survivors, just as Joshua had done to Eglon. He fulfilled the doom on it and on every person there.

³⁸Then Joshua and all Israel turned back to Debir and attacked it,

³⁹capturing it with its king and all its towns. They put them to the sword and fulfilled the doom on every person there, leaving no survivors. Thus was done to Debir and its king what had been done to Hebron, as well as to Libnah and its king.

⁴¹ Joshua conquered from Kadesh-barnea to Gaza, and all the land of Goshen to Gibeon.

⁴² All these kings and their lands Joshua captured in a single campaign, for the LORD, the God of Israel, fought for Israel.

⁴³ Thereupon Joshua with all Israel returned to the camp at Gilgal.

11 When Jabin, king of Hazor, learned of this, he sent a message to Jobab, king of Madon, to the king of Shimron, to the king of Achshaph,

² and to the northern kings in the mountain regions and in the Arabah near Chinneroth, in the foothills, and in Naphath-dor to the west.

³ These were Canaanites to the east and west, Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites and Jebusites in the mountain regions, and Hivites at the foot of Hermon in the land of Mizpah.

⁴ They came out with all their troops, an army numerous as the sands on the seashore, and with a multitude of horses and chariots.

⁵ All these kings joined forces and marched to the waters of Merom, where they encamped together to fight against Israel.

⁶ The LORD said to Joshua, "Do not fear them, for by this time tomorrow I will stretch them slain before Israel. You must hamstring their horses and burn their chariots."

⁸ The LORD delivered them into the power of the Israelites, who defeated them and pursued them to Greater Sidon, to Misrephoth-maim, and eastward to the valley of Mizpeh. They struck them all down, leaving no survivors.

⁹ Joshua did to them as the LORD had commanded: he hamstrung their horses and burned their chariots.

¹⁰At that time Joshua, turning back, captured Hazor and slew its king with the sword; for Hazor formerly was the chief of all those kingdoms.

¹¹He also fulfilled the doom by putting every person there to the sword, till none was left alive. Hazor itself he burned.

¹²Joshua thus captured all those kings with their cities and put them to the sword, fulfilling the doom on them, as Moses, the servant of the LORD, had commanded.

¹³However, Israel did not destroy by fire any of the cities built on raised sites, except Hazor, which Joshua burned.

¹⁴The Israelites took all the spoil and livestock of these cities as their booty; but the people they put to the sword, until they had exterminated the last of them, leaving none alive.

¹⁵As the LORD had commanded his servant Moses, so Moses commanded Joshua, and Joshua acted accordingly. He left nothing undone that the LORD had commanded Moses should be done.

¹⁶So Joshua captured all this land: the mountain regions, the entire Negeb, all the land of Goshen, the foothills, the Arabah, as well as the mountain regions and foothills of Israel, ¹⁷from Mount Halak that rises toward Seir as far as Baal-gad in the Lebanon valley at the foot of Mount Hermon. All their kings he captured and put to death.

¹⁸Joshua waged war against all these kings for a long time.

¹⁹With the exception of the Hivites who lived in Gibeon, no city made peace with the Israelites; all were taken in battle.

²⁰For it was the design of the LORD to encourage them to wage war against Israel, that they might be doomed to destruction and thus receive no mercy, but be exterminated, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

²¹At that time Joshua penetrated the mountain regions and exterminated the Anakim in Hebron, Debir, Anab, the entire mountain region of Judah, and the entire mountain region of Israel. Joshua fulfilled the doom on them and on their cities, ²²so that no Anakim were left in the land of the Israelites. However, some survived in Gaza, in Gath, and in Ashdod.

²³Thus Joshua captured the whole country, just as the LORD had foretold to Moses. Joshua gave it to Israel as their heritage, apportioning it among the tribes. And the land enjoyed peace.

12The kings of the land east of the Jordan, from the River Arnon to Mount Hermon, including all the eastern section of the Arabah, whom the Israelites conquered and whose lands they occupied, were:

²First, Sihon, king of the Amorites, who lived in Heshbon. His domain extended from Aroer, which is on the bank of the Wadi Arnon, to include the wadi itself, and the land northward through half of Gilead to the Wadi Jabbok, ³as well as the Arabah from the eastern side of the Sea of Chinnereth, as far south as the eastern side of the Salt Sea of the Arabah in the direction of Beth-jeshimoth, to a point under the slopes of Pisgah.

⁵He ruled over Mount Hermon, Salecah, and all Bashan as far as the boundary of the Geshurites and Maacathites, and over half of Gilead as far as the territory of Sihon, king of Heshbon.

⁶After Moses, the servant of the LORD, and the Israelites conquered them, he assigned their land to the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, as their property.

⁷This is a list of the kings whom Joshua and the Israelites conquered west of the Jordan and whose land, from Baal-gad in the Lebanon valley to Mount Halak which rises toward Seir, Joshua apportioned to the tribes of Israel.

⁸It included the mountain regions and foothills, the Arabah, the slopes, the desert, and the Negeb, belonging to the Hittites, Amorites, Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivites and Jebusites.

⁹They were the kings of Jericho, Ai (which is near Bethel),

¹⁰Jerusalem, Hebron,

¹¹Jarmuth, Lachish,

¹²Eglon, Gezer,

¹³Debir, Geder,

¹⁴Hormah, Arad,

¹⁵Libnah, Adullam,

¹⁶Makkedah, Bethel,

¹⁷Tappuah, Hopher,

¹⁸Aphek, Lasharon,

¹⁹Madon, Hazor,

²⁰Shimron, Achshaph,

²¹Taanach, Megiddo,

²²Kedesh, Jokneam (at Carmel),

²³and Dor (in Naphath-dor), the foreign king at Gilgal,

²⁴and the king of Tirzah: thirty-one kings in all.

13 When Joshua was old and advanced in years, the LORD said to him: "Though now you are old and advanced in years, a very large part of the land still remains to be conquered.

²This additional land includes all Geshur and all the districts of the Philistines

⁴all the land of the Canaanites from Mearah of the Sidonians to Aphek, and the boundaries of the Amorites;

⁵and the Gebalite territory; and all the Lebanon on the east, from Baal-gad at the foot of Mount Hermon to Labo in the land of Hamath.

⁶At the advance of the Israelites I will drive out all the Sidonian inhabitants of the mountain regions between Lebanon and Misrephoth-maim; at least include these areas in the division of the Israelite heritage, just as I have commanded you.

⁷Now, therefore, apportion among the nine tribes and the half-tribe of Manasseh the land which is to be their heritage."

⁸Now the other half of the tribe of Manasseh as well as the Reubenites and Gadites, had received their heritage which Moses, the servant of the LORD, had given them east of the Jordan:

⁹from Aroer on the bank of the Wadi Arnon and the city in the wadi itself, through the tableland of Medeba and Dibon,

¹⁰with the rest of the cities of Sihon, king of the Amorites, who reigned in Heshbon, to the boundary of the Ammonites;

¹¹also Gilead and the territory of the Geshurites and Maacathites, all Mount Hermon, and all Bashan as far as Salecah,

¹²the entire kingdom in Bashan of Og, a survivor of the Rephaim, who reigned at Ashtaroth and Edrei. Though Moses conquered and occupied these territories, ¹³the Israelites did not dislodge the Geshurites and Maacathites, so that Geshur and Maacath survive in the midst of Israel to this day.

¹⁴However, to the tribe of Levi Moses assigned no heritage since, as the LORD had promised them, the LORD, the God of Israel, is their heritage.

¹⁵What Moses gave to the Reubenite clans:

¹⁶Their territory reached from Aroer, on the bank of the Wadi Arnon, and the city in the wadi itself, through the tableland about Medeba,

¹⁷to include Heshbon and all its towns which are on the tableland, Dibon, Bamoth-baal, Beth-baal-meon,

¹⁸Jahaz, Kedemoth, Mephaath,

¹⁹Kiriathaim, Sibmah, Zereth-shahar on the knoll within the valley,

²⁰Beth-peor, the slopes of Pisgah, Beth-jeshimoth,

²¹and the other cities of the tableland and, generally, of the kingdom of Sihon. This Amorite king, who reigned in Heshbon, Moses had killed, with his vassals, the princes of Midian, who were settled in the land: Evi, Rekem, Zur, Hur and Reba;

²²and among their slain followers the Israelites put to the sword also the soothsayer Balaam, son of Beor.

²³The boundary of the Reubenites was the bank of the Jordan. These cities and their villages were the heritage of the clans of the Reubenites.

²⁴What Moses gave to the Gadite clans:

²⁵Their territory included Jazer, all the cities of Gilead, and half the land of the Ammonites as far as Aroer, toward Rabbah (that is, ²⁶from Heshbon to Ramath-mizpeh and Betonim, and from Mahanaim to the boundary of Lodebar);

²⁷and in the Jordan valley: Beth-haram, Beth-nimrah, Succoth, Zaphon, the other part of the kingdom of Sihon, king of Heshbon, with the bank of the Jordan to the southeastern tip of the Sea of Chinnereth.

²⁸These cities and their villages were the heritage of the clans of the Gadites.

²⁹What Moses gave to the clans of the half-tribe of Manasseh:

³⁰Their territory included Mahanaim, all of Bashan, the entire kingdom of Og, king of Bashan, and all the villages of Jair, which are sixty cities in Bashan.

³¹Half of Gilead, with Ashtaroth and Edrei, once the royal cities of Og in Bashan, fell to the descendants of Machir, son of Manasseh, for half the clans descended from Machir.

³²These are the portions which Moses gave when he was in the plains of Moab, beyond the Jordan east of Jericho.

³³However, Moses gave no heritage to the tribe of Levi, since the LORD himself, the God of Israel, is their heritage, as he promised.

14 Here follow the portions which the Israelites received in the land of Canaan. Eleazar the priest, Joshua, son of Nun, and the heads of families in the tribes of the Israelites determined

² their heritage by lot, in accordance with the instructions the LORD had given through Moses concerning the remaining nine and a half tribes.

³ For to two and a half tribes Moses had already given a heritage beyond the Jordan; and though the Levites were given no heritage among the tribes,

⁴ the descendants of Joseph formed two tribes, Manasseh and Ephraim. The Levites themselves received no share of the land except cities to live in, with their pasture lands for the cattle and flocks.

⁵ Thus, in apportioning the land, did the Israelites carry out the instructions of the LORD to Moses.

⁶ When the Judahites came up to Joshua in Gilgal, the Kenizzite Caleb, son of Jephunneh, said to him: "You know what the LORD said to the man of God, Moses, about you and me in Kadesh-barnea.

⁷ I was forty years old when the servant of the LORD, Moses, sent me from Kadesh-barnea to reconnoiter the land; and I brought back to him a conscientious report.

⁸ My fellow scouts who went up with me discouraged the people, but I was completely loyal to the LORD, my God.

⁹ On that occasion Moses swore this oath, 'The land where you have set foot shall become your heritage and that of your descendants forever, because you have been completely loyal to the LORD, my God.'

¹⁰ Now, as he promised, the LORD has preserved me while Israel was journeying through the desert, for the forty-five years since the LORD spoke thus to Moses; and although I am now eighty-five years old,

¹¹ I am still as strong today as I was the day Moses sent me forth, with no less vigor whether for war or for ordinary tasks.

¹² Give me, therefore, this mountain region which the LORD promised me that day, as you yourself heard. True, the Anakim are there, with large fortified cities, but if the LORD is with me I shall be able to drive them out, as the LORD promised."

¹³Joshua blessed Caleb, son of Jephunneh, and gave him Hebron as his heritage.

¹⁴Therefore Hebron remains the heritage of the Kenizzite Caleb, son of Jephunneh, to the present day, because he was completely loyal to the LORD, the God of Israel.

¹⁵Hebron was formerly called Kiriath-arba, for Arba, the greatest among the Anakim. And the land enjoyed peace.

15The lot for the clans of the Judahite tribe fell in the extreme south toward the boundary of Edom, the desert of Zin in the Negeb.

²The boundary there ran from the bay that forms the southern end of the Salt Sea,

³southward below the pass of Akrabbim, across through Zin, up to a point south of Kadesh-barnea, across to Hezron, and up to Addar; from there, looping around Karka,

⁴it crossed to Azmon and then joined the Wadi of Egypt before coming out at the sea. (This is your southern boundary.)

⁵The eastern boundary was the Salt Sea as far as the mouth of the Jordan.

⁶The northern boundary climbed from the bay where the Jordan meets the sea, up to Beth-hoglah, and ran north of Beth-arabah, up to Eben-Bohan-ben-Reuben.

⁷Thence it climbed to Debir, north of the vale of Achor, in the direction of the Gilgal that faces the pass of Adummim, on the south side of the wadi; from there it crossed to the waters of En-shemesh and emerged at En-rogel.

⁸Climbing again to the Valley of Ben-hinnom on the southern flank of the Jebusites (that is, Jerusalem), the boundary rose to the top of the mountain at the northern end of the Valley of Rephaim, which bounds the Valley of Hinnom on the west.

⁹From the top of the mountain it ran to the fountain of waters of Nephtoah, extended to the cities of Mount Ephron, and continued to Baalah, or Kiriath-jearim.

¹⁰From Baalah the boundary curved westward to Mount Seir and passed north of the ridge of Mount Jearim (that is, Chesalon); thence it descended to Beth-shemesh, and ran across to Timnah.

¹¹It then extended along the northern flank of Ekron, continued through Shikkeron, and across to Mount Baalah, thence to include Jabneel, before it came out at the sea.

¹²The western boundary was the Great Sea and its coast. This was the complete boundary of the clans of the Judahites.

¹³As the LORD had commanded, Joshua gave Caleb, son of Jephunneh, a portion among the Judahites, namely, Kiriath-arba (Arba was the father of Anak), that is, Hebron.

¹⁴And Caleb drove out from there the three Anakim, the descendants of Anak: Sheshai, Ahiman and Talmi.

¹⁵From there he marched up against the inhabitants of Debir, which was formerly called Kiriath-sepher.

¹⁶Caleb said, "I will give my daughter Achsah in marriage to the one who attacks Kiriath-sepher and captures it."

¹⁷Othniel, son of Caleb's brother Kenaz, captured it, and so Caleb gave him his daughter Achsah in marriage.

¹⁸On the day of her marriage to Othniel, she induced him to ask her father for some land. Then, as she alighted from the ass, Caleb asked her, "What is troubling you?"

¹⁹She answered, "Give me an additional gift! Since you have assigned to me land in the Negeb, give me also pools of water." So he gave her the upper and the lower pools.

²⁰This is the heritage of the clans of the tribe of Judahites:

²¹The cities of the tribe of the Judahites in the extreme southern district toward Edom were: Kabzeel, Eder, Jagur,

²²Kinah, Dimonah, Adadah,

²³Kedesh, Hazor and Ithnan;

²⁴Ziph, Telem, Bealoth,

²⁵Hazor-hadattah, and Kerioth-hezron (that is, Hazor);

- ²⁶Amam, Shema, Moladah,
- ²⁷Hazar-gaddah, Heshmon, Beth-pelet,
- ²⁸Hazar-shual, Beer-sheba and Biziothiah;
- ²⁹Baalah, Iim, Ezem,
- ³⁰Eltolad, Chesil, Hormah,
- ³¹Ziklag, Madmannah, Sansannah,
- ³²Lebaoth, Shilhim and En-rimmon; a total of twenty-nine cities with their villages.
- ³³In the foothills: Eshtaol, Zorah, Ashnah,
- ³⁴Zanoah, Engannim, Tappuah, Enam,
- ³⁵Jarmuth, Adullam, Socoh, Azekah,
- ³⁶Shaaraim, Adithaim, Gederah, and Gederothaim; fourteen cities and their villages.
- ³⁷Zenan, Hadashah, Migdal-gad,
- ³⁸Dilean, Mizpeh, Joktheel,
- ³⁹Lachish, Bozkath, Eglon,
- ⁴⁰Cabbon, Lahmam, Chitlish,
- ⁴¹Gederoth, Beth-dagon, Naamah and Makkedah; sixteen cities and their villages.
- ⁴²Libnah, Ether, Ashan,
- ⁴³Iphtah, Ashnah, Nezib,
- ⁴⁴Keilah, Achzib and Mareshah; nine cities and their villages.
- ⁴⁵Ekron and its towns and villages;
- ⁴⁶from Ekron to the sea, all the towns that lie alongside Ashdod, and their villages;

- ⁴⁷ Ashdod and its towns and villages; Gaza and its towns and villages, as far as the Wadi of Egypt and the coast of the Great Sea.
- ⁴⁸ In the mountain regions: Shamir, Jattir, Socoh,
- ⁴⁹ Dannah, Kiriath-sannah (that is, Debir),
- ⁵⁰ Anab, Eshtemoh, Anim,
- ⁵¹ Goshen, Holon and Giloh; eleven cities and their villages.
- ⁵² Arab, Dumah, Eshan,
- ⁵³ Janim, Beth-tappuah, Aphekah,
- ⁵⁴ Humtah, Kiriath-arba (that is, Hebron), and Zior; nine cities and their villages.
- ⁵⁵ Maon, Carmel, Ziph, Juttah,
- ⁵⁶ Jezreel, Jokdeam, Zanoah,
- ⁵⁷ Kain, Gibbeah and Timnah; ten cities and their villages.
- ⁵⁸ Halhul, Beth-zur, Gedor,
- ⁵⁹ Maarath, Beth-anoth and Eltekon; six cities and their villages. Tekoa, Ephrathah (that is, Bethlehem), Peor, Etam, Kulom, Tatam, Zores, Karim, Gallim, Bether and Manoko; eleven cities and their villages.
- ⁶⁰ Kiriath-baal (that is, Kiriath-jearim) and Rabbah; two cities and their villages.
- ⁶¹ In the desert: Beth-arabah, Middin, Secacah,
- ⁶² Nibshan, Ir-hamelah and En-gedi; six cities and their villages.
- ⁶³ (But the Jebusites who lived in Jerusalem the Judahites could not drive out; so the Jebusites dwell in Jerusalem beside the Judahites to the present day.)

16 The lot that fell to the Josephites extended from the Jordan at Jericho to the waters of Jericho east of the desert; then the boundary went up from Jericho to the heights at Bethel.

² Leaving Bethel for Luz, it crossed the ridge to the border of the Archites at Ataroth,

³ and descended westward to the border of the Japhletites, to that of the Lower Bethoron, and to Gezer, ending thence at the sea.

⁴ Within the heritage of Manasseh and Ephraim, sons of Joseph,

⁵ the dividing line for the heritage of the clans of the Ephraimites ran from east of Ataroth-addar to Upper Bethhoron

⁷ from there it descended to Ataroth and Naarah, and skirting Jericho, it ended at the Jordan.

⁸ From Tappuah the boundary ran westward to the Wadi Kanah and ended at the sea. This was the heritage of the clans of the Ephraimites,

⁹ including the villages that belonged to each city set aside for the Ephraimites within the territory of the Manassehites.

¹⁰ But they did not drive out the Canaanites living in Gezer, who live on within Ephraim to the present day, though they have been impressed as laborers.

17 Now as for the lot that fell to the tribe of Manasseh as the first-born of Joseph: since his eldest son, Machir, the father of Gilead, was a warrior, who had already obtained Gilead and Bashan,

² the allotment was now made to the other descendants of Manasseh, the clans of Abiezer, Helek, Asriel, Shechem, Hephher and Shemida, the other male children of Manasseh, son of Joseph.

³Furthermore, Zelophehad, son of Hopher, son of Gilead, son of Machir, son of Manasseh, had had no sons, but only daughters, whose names were Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah.

⁴These presented themselves to Eleazar the priest, to Joshua, son of Nun, and to the princes, saying, "The LORD commanded Moses to give us a heritage among our kinsmen." So in obedience to the command of the LORD a heritage was given to each of them among their father's kinsmen.

⁵Thus ten shares fell to Manasseh apart from the land of Gilead and Bashan beyond the Jordan, ⁶since these female descendants of Manasseh received each a portion among his sons. The land of Gilead fell to the rest of the Manassehites.

⁷Manasseh bordered on Asher. From Michmethath near Shechem, another boundary ran southward to include the natives of En-Tappuah, ⁸because the district of Tappuah belonged to Manasseh, although Tappuah itself was an Ephraimite city on the border of Manasseh.

⁹This same boundary continued down to the Wadi Kanah. The cities that belonged to Ephraim from among the cities in Manasseh were those to the south of that wadi; thus the territory of Manasseh ran north of the wadi and ended at the sea.

¹⁰The land on the south belonged to Ephraim and that on the north to Manasseh; with the sea as their common boundary, they reached Asher on the north and Issachar on the east.

¹¹Moreover, in Issachar and in Asher Manasseh was awarded Beth-shean and its towns, Ibleam and its towns, Dor and its towns and the natives there, Endor and its towns and natives, Taanach and its towns and natives, and Megiddo and its towns and natives (the third is Naphath-dor).

¹²Since the Manassehites could not conquer these cities, the Canaanites persisted in this region.

¹³When the Israelites grew stronger they impressed the Canaanites as laborers, but they did not drive them out.

¹⁴The descendants of Joseph said to Joshua, "Why have you given us only one lot and one share as our heritage? Our people are too many, because of the extent to which the LORD has blessed us."

¹⁵ Joshua answered them, "If you are too many, go up to the forest and clear out a place for yourselves there in the land of the Perizzites and Rephaim, since the mountain regions of Ephraim are so narrow."

¹⁶ For the Josephites said, "Our mountain regions are not enough for us; on the other hand, the Canaanites living in the valley region all have iron chariots, in particular those in Beth-shean and its towns, and those in the valley of Jezreel."

¹⁷ Joshua therefore said to Ephraim and Manasseh, the house of Joseph, "You are a numerous people and very strong. You shall have not merely one share,

¹⁸ for the mountain region which is now forest shall be yours when you clear it. Its adjacent land shall also be yours if, despite their strength and iron chariots, you drive out the Canaanites."

18 After they had subdued the land, the whole community of the Israelites assembled at Shiloh, where they set up the meeting tent.

² Seven tribes among the Israelites had not yet received their heritage.

³ Joshua therefore said to the Israelites, "How much longer will you put off taking steps to possess the land which the LORD, the God of your fathers, has given you?"

⁴ Choose three men from each of your tribes; I will commission them to begin a survey of the land, which they shall describe for purposes of inheritance. When they return to me

⁵ you shall divide it into seven parts. Judah is to retain its territory in the south, and the house of Joseph its territory in the north.

⁶ You shall bring here to me the description of the land in seven sections. I will then cast lots for you here before the LORD, our God.

⁷ For the Levites have no share among you, because the priesthood of the LORD is their heritage; while Gad, Reuben, and the half-tribe of Manasseh have already received the heritage east of the Jordan which Moses, the servant of the LORD, gave them."

⁸ When those who were to map out the land were ready for the journey, Joshua instructed them to survey the land, prepare a description of it, and return to him; then he would cast lots for them there before the LORD in Shiloh.

⁹So they went through the land, listed its cities in writing in seven sections, and returned to Joshua in the camp at Shiloh.

¹⁰Joshua then divided up the land for the Israelites into their separate shares, casting lots for them before the LORD in Shiloh.

¹¹One lot fell to the clans of the tribe of Benjaminites. The territory allotted them lay between the descendants of Judah and those of Joseph.

¹²Their northern boundary began at the Jordan and went over the northern flank of Jericho, up westward into the mountains, till it reached the desert of Beth-aven.

¹³From there it crossed over to the southern flank of Luz (that is, Bethel). Then it ran down to Ataroth-addar, on the mountaintop south of Lower Beth-horon.

¹⁴For the western border, the boundary line swung south from the mountaintop opposite Bethhoron till it reached Kiriath-baal (that is, Kiriath-jearim), which city belonged to the Judahites. This was the western boundary.

¹⁶It went down to the edge of the mountain on the north of the Valley of Rephaim, where it faces the Valley of Ben-hinnom; and continuing down the Valley of Hinnom along the southern flank of the Jebusites, reached En-rogel.

¹⁷Inclining to the north, it extended to En-shemesh, and thence to Gelliloth, opposite the pass of Adummim. Then it dropped to Eben-Bohan-ben-Reuben, ¹⁸across the northern flank of the Arabah overlook, down into the Aarabah.

¹⁹From there the boundary continued across the northern flank of Beth-hoglah and extended to the northern tip of the Salt Sea, at the southern end of the Jordan. This was the southern boundary.

²⁰The Jordan bounded it on the east. This was how the heritage of the clans of the Benjaminites was bounded on all sides.

²¹Now the cities belonging to the clans of the tribe of the Benjaminites were: Jericho, Beth-hoglah, Emek-keziz,

²²Beth-arabah, Zemaraim, Bethel,

²³Avvim, Parah, Ophrah,

²⁴Chephar-ammoni, Ophni and Geba; twelve cities and their villages.

²⁵Also Gibeon, Ramah, Beeroth,

²⁶Mizpeh, Chephirah, Mozah,

²⁷Rekem, Irpeel, Taralah,

²⁸Zela, Haeleph, the Jebusite city (that is, Jerusalem), Gibeah and Kiriath; fourteen cities and their villages. This was the heritage of the clans of Benjaminites.

19 The second lot fell to Simeon. The heritage of the clans of the tribe of Simeonites lay within that of the Judahites.

²For their heritage they received Beer-sheba, Shema, Moladah,

³Hazar-shual, Balah, Ezem,

⁴Eltolad, Bethul, Hormah,

⁵Ziklag, Bethmar-caboth, Hazar-susah,

⁶Beth-lebaoth and Sharuhem; thirteen cities and their villages.

⁷Also En-rimmon, Ether and Ashan; four cities and their villages,

⁸besides all the villages around these cities as far as Baalath-beer (that is, Ramoth-negeb). This was the heritage of the clans of the tribe of the Simeonites.

⁹This heritage of the Simeonites was within the confines of the Judahites; for since the portion of the latter was too large for them, the Simeonites obtained their heritage within it.

¹⁰The third lot fell to the clans of the Zebulunites. The limit of their heritage was at Sarid.

¹¹Their boundary went up west. . . and through Mareal, reaching Dabbesheth and the wadi that is near Jokneam.

- ¹²From Sarid eastward it ran to the district of Chisloth-tabor, on to Daberath, and up to Japhia.
- ¹³From there it continued eastward to Gath-hepher and to Eth-kazin, extended to Rimmon, and turned to Neah.
- ¹⁴Skirting north of Hannathon, the boundary ended at the valley of Iphtahel.
- ¹⁵Thus, with Kattath, Nahalal, Shimron, Idalah and Bethlehem, there were twelve cities and their villages
- ¹⁶to comprise the heritage of the clans of the Zebulunites.
- ¹⁷The fourth lot fell to Issachar. The territory of the clans of the Issacharites
- ¹⁸included Jezreel, Chesulloth, Shunem,
- ¹⁹Hapharaim, Shion, Anaharath,
- ²⁰Rabbith, Kishion, Ebez,
- ²¹Remeth, En-gannim, En-haddah and Beth-pazzez.
- ²²The boundary reached Tabor, Shahazumah and Beth-shemesh, ending at the Jordan. These sixteen cities and their villages
- ²³were the heritage of the clans of the Issacharites.
- ²⁴The fifth lot fell to the clans of the tribe of the Asherites.
- ²⁵Their territory included Helkath, Hali, Beten, Achshaph,
- ²⁶Allammelech, Amad and Mishal, and reached Carmel on the west, and Shihor-libnath.
- ²⁷In the other direction, it ran eastward of Beth-dagon, reached Zebulun and the valley of Iphtahel; then north of Beth-emek and Neiel, it extended to Cabul,
- ²⁸Mishal, Abdon, Rehob, Hammon and Kanah, near Greater Sidon.

²⁹Then the boundary turned back to Ramah and to the fortress city of Tyre; thence it cut back to Hosah and ended at the sea. Thus, with Mahalab, Achzib,

³⁰Ummah, Acco, Aphek and Rehob, there were twenty-two cities and their villages

³¹to comprise the heritage of the clans of the tribe of the Asherites.

³²The sixth lot fell to the Naphtalites. The boundary of the clans of the Naphtalites

³³extended from Heleph, from the oak at Zaananim to Lakkum, including Adami-nekeb and Jabneel, and ended at the Jordan.

³⁴In the opposite direction, westerly, it ran through Aznoth-tabor and from there extended to Hukkok; it touched Zebulun on the south, Asher on the west, and the Jordan on the east.

³⁵The fortified cities were Ziddim, Zer, Hammath, Rakkath, Chinnereth,

³⁶Adamah, Ramah, Hazor,

³⁷Kedesh, Edrei, En-hazor,

³⁸Yiron, Migdal-el, Horem, Beth-anath and Beth-shemesh; nineteen cities and their villages,

³⁹to comprise the heritage of the clans of the tribe of the Naphtalites.

⁴⁰The seventh lot fell to the clans of the tribe of Danites.

⁴¹Their heritage was the territory of Zorah, Eshtaol, Ir-shemesh, ⁴²Shaalabbin, Aijalon, Ithlah,

⁴³Elon, Timnah, Ekron,

⁴⁴Eltokoh, Gibbethon, Baalath,

⁴⁵Jehud, Bene-berak, Gath-rimmon,

⁴⁶Me-jarkon and Rakkon, with the coast at Joppa.

⁴⁷But the territory of the Danites was too small for them; so the Danites marched up and attacked Leshem, which they captured and put to the sword. Once they had taken possession of Leshem, they renamed the settlement after their ancestor Dan.

⁴⁸These cities and their villages were the heritage of the clans of the tribe of the Danites.

⁴⁹When the last of them had received the portions of the land they were to inherit, the Israelites assigned a heritage in their midst to Joshua, son of Nun.

⁵⁰In obedience to the command of the LORD, they gave him the city which he requested, Timnah-serah in the mountain region of Ephraim. He rebuilt the city and made it his home.

⁵¹These are the final portions into which Eleazar the priest, Joshua, son of Nun, and the heads of families in the tribes of the Israelites divided the land by lot in the presence of the LORD, at the door of the meeting tent in Shiloh.

20 The LORD said to Joshua:

²"Tell the Israelites to designate the cities of which I spoke to them through Moses, ³to which one guilty of accidental and unintended homicide may flee for asylum from the avenger of blood.

⁴To one of these cities the killer shall flee, and standing at the entrance of the city gate, he shall plead his case before the elders, who must receive him and assign him a place in which to live among them.

⁵Though the avenger of blood pursues him, they are not to deliver up the homicide who slew his fellow man unintentionally and not out of previous hatred.

⁶Once he has stood judgment before the community, he shall live on in that city till the death of the high priest who is in office at the time. Then the killer may go back home to his own city from which he fled."

⁷So they set apart Kedesh in Galilee in the mountain region of Naphtali, Shechem in the mountain region of Ephraim, and Kiriath-arba (that is, Hebron) in the mountain region of Judah.

⁸And beyond the Jordan east of Jericho they designated Bezer on the open tableland in the tribe of Reuben, Ramoth in Gilead in the tribe of Gad, and Golan in Bashan in the tribe of Manasseh.

⁹These were the designated cities to which any Israelite or stranger living among them who had killed a person accidentally might flee to escape death at the hand of the avenger of blood, until he could appear before the community.

21 The heads of the Levite families came up to Eleazar the priest, to Joshua, son of Nun, and to the heads of families of the other tribes of the Israelites

²at Shiloh in the land of Canaan, and said to them, "The LORD commanded, through Moses, that cities be given us to dwell in, with pasture lands for our livestock."

³Out of their own heritage, in obedience to this command of the LORD, the Israelites gave the Levites the following cities with their pasture lands.

⁴When the first lot among the Levites fell to the clans of the Kohathites, the descendants of Aaron the priest obtained thirteen cities by lot from the tribes of Judah, Simeon and Benjamin.

⁵The rest of the Kohathites obtained ten cities by lot from the clans of the tribe of Ephraim, from the tribe of Dan, and from the half-tribe of Manasseh.

⁶The Gershonites obtained thirteen cities by lot from the clans of the tribe of Issachar, from the tribe of Asher, from the tribe of Naphtali, and from the half-tribe of Manasseh.

⁸These cities with their pasture lands the Israelites allotted to the Levites in obedience to the LORD'S command through Moses.

⁹From the tribes of the Judahites and Simeonites they designated the following cities,

¹⁰and assigned them to the descendants of Aaron in the Kohathite clan of the Levites, since the first lot fell to them:

¹¹first, Kiriath-arba (Arba was the father of Anak), that is, Hebron, in the mountain region of Judah, with the adjacent pasture lands,

- ¹² although the open country and villages belonging to the city had been given to Caleb, son of Jephunneh, as his property.
- ¹³ Thus to the descendants of Aaron the priest were given the city of asylum for homicides at Hebron, with its pasture lands; also, Libnah with its pasture lands,
- ¹⁴ Jattir with its pasture lands, Eshtemoa with its pasture lands,
- ¹⁵ Holon with its pasture lands, Debir with its pasture lands,
- ¹⁶ Ashan with its pasture lands, Juttah with its pasture lands, and Beth-shemesh with its pasture lands: nine cities from the two tribes mentioned.
- ¹⁷ From the tribe of Benjamin they obtained the four cities of Gibeon with its pasture lands, Geba with its pasture lands,
- ¹⁸ Anathoth with its pasture lands, and Almon with its pasture lands.
- ¹⁹ These cities which with their pasture lands belonged to the priestly descendants of Aaron, were thirteen in all.
- ²⁰ The rest of the Kohathite clans among the Levites obtained by lot, from the tribe of Ephraim, four cities.
- ²¹ They were assigned, with its pasture lands, the city of asylum for homicides at Shechem in the mountain region of Ephraim; also Gezer with its pasture lands,
- ²² Kibzaim with its pasture lands, and Beth-horon with its pasture lands.
- ²³ From the tribe of Dan they obtained the four cities of Elteke with its pasture lands, Gibbethon with its pasture lands,
- ²⁴ Aijalon with its pasture lands, and Gath-rimmon with its pasture lands;
- ²⁵ and from the half-tribe of Manasseh the two cities of Taanach with its pasture lands and Ibleam with its pasture lands.
- ²⁶ These cities which with their pasture lands belonged to the rest of the Kohathite clans were ten in all.

²⁷The Gershonite clan of the Levites received from the half-tribe of Manasseh two cities: the city of asylum for homicides at Golan, with its pasture lands; and also Beth-ashtaroth with its pasture lands.

²⁸From the tribe of Issachar they obtained the four cities of Kishion with its pasture lands, Daberath with its pasture lands,

²⁹Jarmuth with its pasture lands, and En-gannim with its pasture lands; from the tribe of Asher,

³⁰the four cities of Mishal with its pasture lands, Abdon with its pasture lands,

³¹Helkath with its pasture lands, and Rehob with its pasture lands;

³²and from the tribe of Naphtali, three cities: the city of asylum for homicides at Kedesh in Galilee, with its pasture lands; also Hammath with its pasture lands, and Rakkath with its pasture lands.

³³These cities which with their pasture lands belonged to the Gershonite clans were thirteen in all.

³⁴The Merarite clans, the last of the Levites, received from the tribe of Zebulun the four cities of Jokneam with its pasture lands, Kartah with its pasture lands,

³⁵Rimmon with its pasture lands, and Nahalal with its pasture lands;

³⁶also, across the Jordan, from the tribe of Reuben, four cities: the city of asylum for homicides at Bezer with its pasture lands, Jahaz with its pasture lands,

³⁷Kedemoth with its pasture lands, and Mephaath with its pasture lands;

³⁸and from the tribe of Gad a total of four cities: the city of asylum for homicides at Ramoth in Gilead with its pasture lands, also Mahanaim with its pasture lands, ³⁹Heshbon with its pasture lands, and Jazer with its pasture lands.

⁴⁰The cities which were allotted to the Merarite clans, the last of the Levites, were therefore twelve in all.

⁴¹Thus the total number of cities within the territory of the Israelites which, with their pasture lands, belonged to the Levites, was forty-eight.

⁴²With each and every one of these cities went the pasture lands round about it.

⁴³And so the LORD gave Israel all the land he had sworn to their fathers he would give them. Once they had conquered and occupied it, ⁴⁴the LORD gave them peace on every side, just as he had promised their fathers. Not one of their enemies could withstand them; the LORD brought all their enemies under their power.

⁴⁵Not a single promise that the LORD made to the house of Israel was broken; every one was fulfilled.

22At that time Joshua summoned the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh

²and said to them: "You have done all that Moses, the servant of the LORD, commanded you, and have obeyed every command I gave you.

³For many years now you have not once abandoned your kinsmen, but have faithfully carried out the commands of the LORD, your God.

⁴Since, therefore, the LORD, your God, has settled your kinsmen as he promised them, you may now return to your tents beyond the Jordan; to your own land, which Moses, the servant of the LORD, gave you.

⁵But be very careful to observe the precept and law which Moses, the servant of the LORD, enjoined upon you: love the LORD, your God; follow him faithfully; keep his commandments; remain loyal to him; and serve him with your whole heart and soul."

⁶Joshua then blessed them and sent them away to their own tents.

⁷(For, to half the tribe of Manasseh Moses had assigned land in Bashan; and to the other half Joshua had given a portion along with their kinsmen west of the Jordan.) What Joshua said to them when he sent them off to their tents with his blessing was,

⁸"Now that you are returning to your own tents with great wealth, with very numerous livestock, with silver, gold, bronze and iron, and with a very large supply of clothing, divide these spoils of your enemies with your kinsmen there."

⁹So the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh left the other Israelites at Shiloh in the land of Canaan and returned to the land of Gilead, their own property, which they had received according to the LORD'S command through Moses.

¹⁰When the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh came to the region of the Jordan in the land of Canaan, they built there at the Jordan a conspicuously large altar.

¹¹The other Israelites heard the report that the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh had built an altar in the region of the Jordan facing the land of Canaan, across from them, ¹²and therefore they assembled their whole community at Shiloh to declare war on them.

¹³First, however, they sent to the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh in the land of Gilead an embassy consisting of Phinehas, son of Eleazar the priest, ¹⁴and ten princes, one from every tribe of Israel, each one being both prince and military leader of his ancestral house.

¹⁵When these came to the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh in the land of Gilead, they said to them:

¹⁶"The whole community of the LORD sends this message: What act of treachery is this you have committed against the God of Israel? You have seceded from the LORD this day, and rebelled against him by building an altar of your own!

¹⁷For the sin of Peor, a plague came upon the community of the LORD.

¹⁸We are still not free of that; must you now add to it? You are rebelling against the LORD today and by tomorrow he will be angry with the whole community of Israel!

¹⁹If you consider the land you now possess unclean, cross over to the land the LORD possesses, where the Dwelling of the LORD stands, and share that with us. But do not rebel against the LORD, nor involve us in rebellion, by building an altar of your own in addition to the altar of the LORD, our God.

²⁰When Achan, son of Zerah, violated the ban, did not wrath fall upon the entire community of Israel? Though he was but a single man, he did not perish alone for his guilt!"

²¹The Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh replied to the military leaders of the Israelites: "The LORD is the God of gods.

²²The LORD, the God of gods, knows and Israel shall know. If now we have acted out of rebellion or treachery against the LORD, our God,

²³and if we have built an altar of our own to secede from the LORD, or to offer holocausts, grain offerings or peace offerings upon it, the LORD himself will exact the penalty.

²⁴We did it rather out of our anxious concern lest in the future your children should say to our children: 'What have you to do with the LORD, the God of Israel?

²⁵For the LORD has placed the Jordan as a boundary between you and us. You descendants of Reuben and Gad have no share in the LORD.' Thus your children would prevent ours from revering the LORD.

²⁶So we decided to guard our interests by building this altar of our own: not for holocausts or for sacrifices,

²⁷but as evidence for you on behalf of ourselves and our descendants, that we have the right to worship the LORD in his presence with our holocausts, sacrifices, and peace offerings. Now in the future your children cannot say to our children, 'You have no share in the LORD.'

²⁸Our thought was, that if in the future they should speak thus to us or to our descendants, we could answer: 'Look at the model of the altar of the LORD which our fathers made, not for holocausts or for sacrifices, but to witness between you and us.'

²⁹Far be it from us to rebel against the LORD or to secede now from the LORD by building an altar for holocaust, grain offering, or sacrifice in addition to the altar of the LORD, our God, which stands before his Dwelling."

³⁰When Phinehas the priest and the princes of the community, the military leaders of the Israelites, heard what the Reubenites, the Gadites and the Manassehites had to say, they were satisfied.

³¹Phinehas, son of Eleazar the priest, said to the Reubenites, the Gadites and the Manassehites, "Now we know that the LORD is with us. Since you have not committed this act of treachery against the LORD, you have kept the Israelites free from punishment by the LORD."

³²Phinehas, son of Eleazar the priest, and the princes returned from the Reubenites and the Gadites in the land of Gilead to the Israelites in the land of Canaan, and reported the matter to them.

³³The report satisfied the Israelites, who blessed God and decided against declaring war on the Reubenites and Gadites or ravaging the land they occupied.

³⁴The Reubenites and the Gadites gave the altar its name as a witness among them that the LORD is God.

23 Many years later, after the LORD had given the Israelites rest from all their enemies round about them, and when Joshua was old and advanced in years, ²he summoned all Israel (including their elders, leaders, judges and officers) and said to them: "I am old and advanced in years.

³You have seen all that the LORD, your God, has done for you against all these nations; for it has been the LORD, your God, himself who fought for you.

⁴Bear in mind that I have apportioned among your tribes as their heritage the nations that survive (as well as those I destroyed) between the Jordan and the Great Sea in the west.

⁵The LORD, your God, will drive them out and dislodge them at your approach, so that you will take possession of their land as the LORD, your God, promised you.

⁶Therefore strive hard to observe and carry out all that is written in the book of the law of Moses, not straying from it in any way,

⁷or mingling with these nations while they survive among you. You must not invoke their gods, or swear by them, or serve them, or worship them,

⁸but you must remain loyal to the LORD, your God, as you have been to this day.

⁹At your approach the LORD has driven out large and strong nations, and to this day no one has withstood you.

¹⁰One of you puts to flight a thousand, because it is the LORD, your God, himself who fights for you, as he promised you.

¹¹Take great care, however, to love the LORD, your God.

¹²For if you ever abandon him and ally yourselves with the remnant of these nations while they survive among you, by intermarrying and intermingling with them,

¹³know for certain that the LORD, your God, will no longer drive these nations out of your way. Instead they will be a snare and a trap for you, a scourge for your sides and thorns for your eyes, until you perish from this good land which the LORD, your God, has given you.

¹⁴"Today, as you see, I am going the way of all men. So now acknowledge with your whole heart and soul that not one of all the promises the LORD, your God, made to you has remained unfulfilled. Every promise has been fulfilled for you, with not one single exception.

¹⁵But just as every promise the LORD, your God, made to you has been fulfilled for you, so will he fulfill every threat, even so far as to exterminate you from this good land which the LORD, your God, has given you.

¹⁶If you transgress the covenant of the LORD, your God, which he enjoined on you, serve other gods and worship them, the anger of the LORD will flare up against you and you will quickly perish from the good land which he has given you."

24 Joshua gathered together all the tribes of Israel at Shechem, summoning their elders, their leaders, their judges and their officers. When they stood in ranks before God, ²Joshua addressed all the people: "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: In times past your fathers, down to Terah, father of Abraham and Nahor, dwelt beyond the River and served other gods.

³But I brought your father Abraham from the region beyond the River and led him through the entire land of Canaan. I made his descendants numerous, and gave him Isaac.

⁴To Isaac I gave Jacob and Esau. To Esau I assigned the mountain region of Seir in which to settle, while Jacob and his children went down to Egypt.

⁵"Then I sent Moses and Aaron, and smote Egypt with the prodigies which I wrought in her midst.

⁶Afterward I led you out of Egypt, and when you reached the sea, the Egyptians pursued your fathers to the Red Sea with chariots and horsemen.

⁷Because they cried out to the LORD, he put darkness between your people and the Egyptians, upon whom he brought the sea so that it engulfed them. After you witnessed what I did to Egypt, and dwelt a long time in the desert, ⁸I brought you into the land of the Amorites who lived east of the Jordan. They fought against you, but I delivered them into your power. You took possession of their land, and I destroyed them (the two kings of the Amorites) before you.

⁹Then Balak, son of Zippor, king of Moab, prepared to war against Israel. He summoned Balaam, son of Beor, to curse you;

¹⁰but I would not listen to Balaam. On the contrary, he had to bless you, and I saved you from him.

¹¹Once you crossed the Jordan and came to Jericho, the men of Jericho fought against you, but I delivered them also into your power.

¹²And I sent the hornets ahead of you which drove them (the Amorites, Perizzites, Canaanites, Hittites, Girgashites, Hivites and Jebusites) out of your way; it was not your sword or your bow.

¹³"I gave you a land which you had not tilled and cities which you had not built, to dwell in; you have eaten of vineyards and olive groves which you did not plant.

¹⁴"Now, therefore, fear the LORD and serve him completely and sincerely. Cast out the gods your fathers served beyond the River and in Egypt, and serve the LORD.

¹⁵If it does not please you to serve the LORD, decide today whom you will serve, the gods your fathers served beyond the River or the gods of the Amorites in whose country you are dwelling. As for me and my household, we will serve the LORD."

¹⁶But the people answered, "Far be it from us to forsake the LORD for the service of other gods.

¹⁷For it was the LORD, our God, who brought us and our fathers up out of the land of Egypt, out of a state of slavery. He performed those great miracles before our very eyes and protected us along our entire journey and among all the peoples through whom we passed.

¹⁸At our approach the LORD drove out (all the peoples, including) the Amorites who dwelt in the land. Therefore we also will serve the LORD, for he is our God."

¹⁹ Joshua in turn said to the people, "You may not be able to serve the LORD, for he is a holy God; he is a jealous God who will not forgive your transgressions or your sins.

²⁰ If, after the good he has done for you, you forsake the LORD and serve strange gods, he will do evil to you and destroy you."

²¹ But the people answered Joshua, "We will still serve the LORD."

²² Joshua therefore said to the people, "You are your own witnesses that you have chosen to serve the LORD." They replied, "We are, indeed!"

²³ "Now, therefore, put away the strange gods that are among you and turn your hearts to the LORD, the God of Israel."

²⁴ Then the people promised Joshua, "We will serve the LORD, our God, and obey his voice."

²⁵ So Joshua made a covenant with the people that day and made statutes and ordinances for them at Shechem,

²⁶ which he recorded in the book of the law of God. Then he took a large stone and set it up there under the oak that was in the sanctuary of the LORD.

²⁷ And Joshua said to all the people, "This stone shall be our witness, for it has heard all the words which the LORD spoke to us. It shall be a witness against you, should you wish to deny your God."

²⁸ Then Joshua dismissed the people, each to his own heritage.

²⁹ After these events, Joshua, son of Nun, servant of the LORD, died at the age of a hundred and ten.

³⁰ He was buried within the limits of his heritage at Timnath-serah in the mountain region of Ephraim north of Mount Gaash.

³¹ Israel served the LORD during the entire lifetime of Joshua and that of the elders who outlived Joshua and knew all that the LORD had done for Israel.

³² The bones of Joseph, which the Israelites had brought up from Egypt, were buried in Shechem in the plot of ground Jacob had bought from the sons of Hamor, father of Shechem, for a hundred pieces of money. This was a heritage of the descendants of Joseph.

³³When Eleazar, son of Aaron, also died, he was buried on the hill which had been given to his son Phinehas in the mountain region of Ephraim.

Judges

1 After the death of Joshua the Israelites consulted the LORD, asking, "Who shall be first among us to attack the Canaanites and to do battle with them?"

2 The LORD answered, "Judah shall attack: I have delivered the land into his power."

3 Judah then said to his brother Simeon, "Come up with me into the territory allotted to me, and let us engage the Canaanites in battle. I will likewise accompany you into the territory allotted to you." So Simeon went with him.

4 When the forces of Judah attacked, the LORD delivered the Canaanites and Perizzites into their power, and they slew ten thousand of them in Bezek.

5 It was in Bezek that they came upon Adonibezek and fought against him. When they defeated the Canaanites and Perizzites,

6 Adonibezek fled. They set out in pursuit, and when they caught him, cut off his thumbs and his big toes.

7 At this Adonibezek said, "Seventy kings, with their thumbs and big toes cut off, used to pick up scraps under my table. As I have done, so has God repaid me." He was brought to Jerusalem, and there he died.

8 (The Judahites fought against Jerusalem and captured it, putting it to the sword; then they destroyed the city by fire.)

9 Afterward the Judahites went down to fight against the Canaanites who lived in the mountain region, in the Negeb, and in the foothills.

10 Judah also marched against the Canaanites who dwelt in Hebron, which was formerly called Kiriath-arba, and defeated Sheshai, Ahiman and Talmi.

11 From there they marched against the inhabitants of Debir, which was formerly called Kiriath-sepher.

12 And Caleb said, "I will give my daughter Achsah in marriage to the one who attacks Kiriath-sepher and captures it."

¹³Othniel, son of Caleb's younger brother Kenaz, captured it; so Caleb gave him his daughter Achsah in marriage.

¹⁴On the day of her marriage to Othniel she induced him to ask her father for some land. Then, as she alighted from the ass, Caleb asked her, "What is troubling you?"

¹⁵Give me an additional gift," she answered. "Since you have assigned land in the Negeb to me, give me also pools of water." So Caleb gave her the upper and the lower pool.

¹⁶The descendants of the Kenite, Moses' father-in-law, came up with the Judahites from the city of palms to the desert at Arad (which is in the Negeb). But they later left and settled among the Amalekites.

¹⁷Judah then went with his brother Simeon, and they defeated the Canaanites who dwelt in Zephath. After having doomed the city to destruction, they renamed it Hormah.

¹⁸Judah, however, did not occupy Gaza with its territory, Ashkelon with its territory, or Ekron with its territory.

¹⁹Since the LORD was with Judah, he gained possession of the mountain region. Yet he could not dislodge those who lived on the plain, because they had iron chariots.

²⁰As Moses had commanded, Hebron was given to Caleb, who then drove from it the three sons of Anak.

²¹The Benjaminites did not dislodge the Jebusites who dwelt in Jerusalem, with the result that the Jebusites live in Jerusalem beside the Benjaminites to the present day.

²²The house of Joseph, too, marched up against Bethel, and the LORD was with them.

²³The house of Joseph had a reconnaissance made of Bethel, which formerly was called Luz.

²⁴The scouts saw a man coming out of the city and said to him, "Show us a way into the city, and we will spare you."

²⁵He showed them a way into the city, which they then put to the sword; but they let the man and his whole clan go free.

²⁶He then went to the land of the Hittites, where he built a city and called it Luz, as it is still called.

²⁷Manasseh did not take possession of Beth-shean with its towns or of Taanach with its towns. Neither did he dislodge the inhabitants of Dor and its towns, those of Ibleam and its towns, or those of Megiddo and its towns. The Canaanites kept their hold in this district.

²⁸When the Israelites grew stronger, they impressed the Canaanites as laborers, but did not drive them out.

²⁹Similarly, the Ephraimites did not drive out the Canaanites living in Gezer, and so the Canaanites live in Gezer in their midst.

³⁰Zebulun did not dislodge the inhabitants of Kitron or those of Nahalol; the Canaanites live among them, but have become forced laborers.

³¹Nor did Asher drive out the inhabitants of Acco or those of Sidon, or take possession of Mahaleb, Achzib, Helbah, Aphik or Rehob.

³²The Asherites live among the Canaanite natives of the land, whom they have not dislodged.

³³Naphtali did not drive out the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh or those of Beth-anath, and so they live among the Canaanite natives of the land. However, the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh and Beth-anath have become forced laborers for them.

³⁴The Amorites hemmed in the Danites in the mountain region, not permitting them to go down into the plain.

³⁵The Amorites had a firm hold in Harheres, Aijalon and Shaalbim, but as the house of Joseph gained the upper hand, they were impressed as laborers.

³⁶The territory of the Amorites extended from the Akrabbim pass to Sela and beyond.

2An angel of the LORD went up from Gilgal to Bochim and said, "It was I who brought you up from Egypt and led you into the land which I promised on oath to your fathers. I said that I would never break my covenant with you,

²but that you were not to make a pact with the inhabitants of this land, and you were to pull down their altars. Yet you have not obeyed me. What did you mean by this?

³For now I tell you, I will not clear them out of your way; they shall oppose you and their gods shall become a snare for you."

⁴When the angel of the LORD had made these threats to all the Israelites, the people wept aloud;

⁵and so that place came to be called Bochim. They offered sacrifice there to the LORD.

⁶When Joshua dismissed the people, each Israelite went to take possession of his own hereditary land.

⁷The people served the LORD during the entire lifetime of Joshua, and of those elders who outlived Joshua and who had seen all the great work which the LORD had done for Israel.

⁸Joshua, son of Nun, the servant of the LORD, was a hundred and ten years old when he died;

⁹and they buried him within the borders of his heritage at Timnath-heres in the mountain region of Ephraim north of Mount Gaash.

¹⁰But once the rest of that generation were gathered to their fathers, and a later generation arose that did not know the LORD, or what he had done for Israel, ¹¹the Israelites offended the LORD by serving the Baals.

¹²Abandoning the LORD, the God of their fathers, who had led them out of the land of Egypt, they followed the other gods of the various nations around them, and by their worship of these gods provoked the LORD.

¹³Because they had thus abandoned him and served Baal and the Ashtaroth, ¹⁴the anger of the LORD flared up against Israel, and he delivered them over to plunderers who despoiled them. He allowed them to fall into the power of their enemies round about whom they were no longer able to withstand.

¹⁵Whatever they undertook, the LORD turned into disaster for them, as in his warning he had sworn he would do, till they were in great distress.

¹⁶Even when the LORD raised up judges to deliver them from the power of their despoilers,

¹⁸ Whenever the LORD raised up judges for them, he would be with the judge and save them from the power of their enemies as long as the judge lived; it was thus the LORD took pity on their distressful cries of affliction under their oppressors.

¹⁹ But when the judge died, they would relapse and do worse than their fathers, following other gods in service and worship, relinquishing none of their evil practices or stubborn conduct.

²⁰ In his anger toward Israel the LORD said, "Inasmuch as this nation has violated my covenant which I enjoined on their fathers, and has disobeyed me,

²¹ I for my part will not clear away for them any more of the nations which Joshua left when he died."

²² Through these nations the Israelites were to be made to prove whether or not they would keep to the way of the LORD and continue in it as their fathers had done;

²³ therefore the LORD allowed them to remain instead of expelling them immediately, or delivering them into the power of Israel.

3 The following are the nations which the LORD allowed to remain, so that through them he might try all those Israelites who had no experience of the battles with Canaan

² training them in battle, those generations only of the Israelites who would not have had that previous experience):

³ the five lords of the Philistines; and all the Canaanites, the Sidonians, and the Hivites who dwell in the mountain region of Lebanon between Baal-hermon and the entrance to Hamath.

⁴ These served to put Israel to the test, to determine whether they would obey the commandments the LORD had enjoined on their fathers through Moses.

⁵ Besides, the Israelites were living among the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Hivites and Jebusites.

⁶In fact, they took their daughters in marriage, and gave their own daughters to their sons in marriage, and served their gods.

⁷Because the Israelites had offended the LORD by forgetting the LORD, their God, and serving the Baals and the Asherahs, ⁸the anger of the LORD flared up against them, and he allowed them to fall into the power of Cushan-rishathaim, king of Aram Naharaim, whom they served for eight years.

⁹But when the Israelites cried out to the LORD, he raised up for them a savior, Othniel, son of Caleb's younger brother Kenaz, who rescued them.

¹⁰The spirit of the LORD came upon him, and he judged Israel. When he went out to war, the LORD delivered Cushan-risha-thaim, king of Aram, into his power, so that he made him subject.

¹¹The land then was at rest for forty years, until Othniel, son of Kenaz, died.

¹²Again the Israelites offended the LORD, who because of this offense strengthened Eglon, king of Moab, against Israel.

¹³In alliance with the Ammonites and Amalekites, he attacked and defeated Israel, taking possession of the city of palms.

¹⁴The Israelites then served Eglon, king of Moab, for eighteen years.

¹⁵But when the Israelites cried out to the LORD, he raised up for them a savior, the Benjaminite Ehud, son of Gera, who was left-handed. It was by him that the Israelites sent their tribute to Eglon, king of Moab.

¹⁶Ehud made himself a two-edged dagger a foot long, and wore it under his clothes over his right thigh.

¹⁷He presented the tribute to Eglon, king of Moab, who was very fat, ¹⁸and after the presentation went off with the tribute bearers.

¹⁹He returned, however, from where the idols are, near Gilgal, and said, "I have a private message for you, O king." And the king said, "Silence!" Then when all his attendants had left his presence,

²⁰and Ehud went in to him where he sat alone in his cool upper room, Ehud said, "I have a message from God for you." So the king rose from his chair, ²¹and then Ehud with his left hand drew the dagger from his right thigh, and thrust it into Eglon's belly.

²²The hilt also went in after the blade, and the fat closed over the blade because he did not withdraw the dagger from his body.

²³Then Ehud went out into the hall, shutting the doors of the upper room on him and locking them.

²⁴When Ehud had left and the servants came, they saw that the doors of the upper room were locked, and thought, "He must be easing himself in the cool chamber."

²⁵They waited until they finally grew suspicious. Since he did not open the doors of the upper room, they took the key and opened them. There on the floor, dead, lay their lord!

²⁶During their delay Ehud made good his escape and, passing the idols, took refuge in Seirah.

²⁷On his arrival he sounded the horn in the mountain region of Ephraim, and the Israelites went down from the mountains with him as their leader.

²⁸"Follow me," he said to them, "for the LORD has delivered your enemies the Moabites into your power." So they followed him down and seized the fords of the Jordan leading to Moab, permitting no one to cross.

²⁹On that occasion they slew about ten thousand Moabites, all of them strong and valiant men. Not a man escaped.

³⁰Thus was Moab brought under the power of Israel at that time; and the land had rest for eighty years.

³¹After him there was Shamgar, son of Anath, who slew six hundred Philistines with an oxgoad. He, too, rescued Israel.

4 After Ehud's death, however, the Israelites again offended the LORD.

²So the LORD allowed them to fall into the power of the Canaanite king, Jabin, who reigned in Hazor. The general of his army was Sisera, who dwelt in Harosheth-ha-goiim.

³But the Israelites cried out to the LORD; for with his nine hundred iron chariots he sorely oppressed the Israelites for twenty years.

⁴At this time the prophetess Deborah, wife of Lappidoth, was judging Israel.

⁵She used to sit under Deborah's palm tree, situated between Ramah and Bethel in the mountain region of Ephraim, and there the Israelites came up to her for judgment.

⁶She sent and summoned Barak, son of Abinoam, from Kedesh of Naphtali. "This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, commands," she said to him; "go, march on Mount Tabor, and take with you ten thousand Naphtalites and Zebulunites.

⁷I will lead Sisera, the general of Jabin's army, out to you at the Wadi Kishon, together with his chariots and troops, and will deliver them into your power."

⁸But Barak answered her, "If you come with me, I will go; if you do not come with me, I will not go."

⁹"I will certainly go with you," she replied, "but you shall not gain the glory in the expedition on which you are setting out, for the LORD will have Sisera fall into the power of a woman." So Deborah joined Barak and journeyed with him to Kedesh.

¹⁰Barak summoned Zebulun and Naphtali to Kedesh, and ten thousand men followed him. Deborah also went up with him.

¹¹Now the Kenite Heber had detached himself from his own people, the descendants of Hobab, Moses' brother-in-law, and had pitched his tent by the tere-binth of Zaananim, which was near Kedesh.

¹²It was reported to Sisera that Barak, son of Abinoam, had gone up to Mount Tabor.

¹³So Sisera assembled from Harosheth-ha-goiim at the Wadi Kishon all nine hundred of his iron chariots and all his forces.

¹⁴Deborah then said to Barak, "Be off, for this is the day on which the LORD has delivered Sisera into your power. The LORD marches before you." So Barak went down Mount Tabor, followed by his ten thousand men.

¹⁵And the LORD put Sisera and all his chariots and all his forces to rout before Barak. Sisera himself dismounted from his chariot and fled on foot.

¹⁶Barak, however, pursued the chariots and the army as far as Harosheth-ha-goiim. The entire army of Sisera fell beneath the sword, not even one man surviving.

¹⁷Sisera, in the meantime, had fled on foot to the tent of Jael, wife of the Kenite Heber, since Jabin, king of Hazor, and the family of the Kenite Heber were at peace with one another.

¹⁸Jael went out to meet Sisera and said to him, "Come in, my lord, come in with me; do not be afraid." So he went into her tent, and she covered him with a rug.

¹⁹He said to her, "Please give me a little water to drink. I am thirsty." But she opened a jug of milk for him to drink, and then covered him over.

²⁰"Stand at the entrance of the tent," he said to her. "If anyone comes and asks, 'Is there someone here?' say, 'No!'"

²¹Instead Jael, wife of Heber, got a tent peg and took a mallet in her hand. While Sisera was sound asleep, she stealthily approached him and drove the peg through his temple down into the ground, so that he perished in death.

²²Then when Barak came in pursuit of Sisera, Jael went out to meet him and said to him, "Come, I will show you the man you seek." So he went in with her, and there lay Sisera dead, with the tent peg through his temple.

²³Thus on that day God humbled the Canaanite king, Jabin, before the Israelites;

²⁴their power weighed ever heavier upon him, till at length they destroyed the Canaanite king, Jabin.

5 On that day Deborah (and Barak, son of Abinoam,) sang this song:

²Of chiefs who took the lead in Israel, of noble deeds by the people who bless the LORD,

³Hear, O kings! Give ear, O princes!
I to the LORD will sing my song,
my hymn to the LORD, the God of Israel.

⁴O LORD, when you went out from Seir,
when you marched from the land of Edom,
The earth quaked and the heavens were shaken,
while the clouds sent down showers.

⁵Mountains trembled
in the presence of the LORD, the One of Sinai, in the presence of the LORD, the God of Israel.

⁶In the days of Shamgar, son of Anath,
in the days of slavery caravans ceased:
Those who traveled the roads went by roundabout paths.

⁷Gone was freedom beyond the walls, gone indeed from Israel.
When I, Deborah, rose,
when I rose, a mother in Israel,

⁸New gods were their choice; then the war was at their gates. Not a shield could be seen, nor a lance, among forty thousand in Israel!

⁹My heart is with the leaders of Israel,
nobles of the people who bless the LORD;

¹⁰They who ride on white asses,
seated on saddlecloths as they go their way;

¹¹Sing of them to the strains of the harpers at the wells, where men recount the just deeds of the LORD,
his just deeds that brought freedom to Israel.

¹²Awake, awake, Deborah!
awake, awake, strike up a song.
Strength! arise, Barak,
make despoilers your spoil, son of Abinoam.

¹³Then down came the fugitives with the mighty,
the people of the LORD came down for me as warriors.

¹⁴From Ephraim, princes were in the valley;
behind you was Benjamin, among your troops.

From Machir came down commanders,
from Zebulun wielders of the marshal's staff.

¹⁵With Deborah were the princes of Issachar;
Barak, too, was in the valley, his course unchecked.
Among the clans of Reuben
great were the searchings of heart.

¹⁶Why do you stay beside your hearths listening to the lowing of the herds?
Among the clans of Reuben
great were the searchings of heart!

¹⁷Gilead, beyond the Jordan, rests;
why does Dan spend his time in ships?
Asher, who dwells along the shore,
is resting in his coves.

¹⁸Zebulun is the people defying death;
Naphtali, too, on the open heights!

¹⁹The kings came and fought;
then they fought, those kings of Canaan,
At Taanach by the waters of Megiddo;
no silver booty did they take.

²⁰From the heavens the stars, too, fought;
from their courses they fought against Sisera.

²¹The Wadi Kishon swept them away;
a wadi. . . , the Kishon.

²²Then the hoofs of the horses pounded,
with the dashing, dashing of his steeds.

²³"Curse Meroz," says the LORD,
"hurl a curse at its inhabitants!
For they came not to my help,
as warriors to the help of the LORD."

²⁴Blessed among women be Jael, blessed among tent-dwelling women.

²⁵He asked for water, she gave him milk;
in a princely bowl she offered curds.

²⁶With her left hand she reached for the peg, with her right, for the workman's mallet.
She hammered Sisera, crushed his head;
she smashed, stove in his temple.

²⁷At her feet he sank down, fell, lay still;
down at her feet he sank and fell;
where he sank down, there he fell, slain.

²⁸From the window peered down and wailed
the mother of Sisera, from the lattice:
"Why is his chariot so long in coming?
why are the hoofbeats of his chariots delayed?"

²⁹The wisest of her princesses answers her,
and she, too, keeps answering herself:

³⁰"They must be dividing the spoil they took:
there must be a damsel or two for each man,
Spoils of dyed cloth as Sisera's spoil,
an ornate shawl or two for me in the spoil."

³¹May all your enemies perish thus, O LORD!
but your friends be as the sun rising in its might!
And the land was at rest for forty years.

6The Israelites offended the LORD, who therefore delivered them into the power of Midian for seven years,

²so that Midian held Israel subject. For fear of Midian the Israelites established the fire signals on the mountains, the caves for refuge, and the strongholds.

³And it used to be that when the Israelites had completed their sowing, Midian, Amalek and the Kedemites would come up, ⁴encamp opposite them, and destroy the produce of the land as far as the outskirts of Gaza, leaving no sustenance in Israel, nor sheep, oxen or asses.

⁵For they would come up with their livestock, and their tents would become as numerous as locusts; and neither they nor their camels could be numbered, when they came into the land to lay it waste.

⁶Thus was Israel reduced to misery by Midian, and so the Israelites cried out to the LORD.

⁷When Israel cried out to the LORD because of Midian,

⁸he sent a prophet to the Israelites who said to them, "The LORD, the God of Israel, says: I led you up from Egypt; I brought you out of the place of slavery.

⁹I rescued you from the power of Egypt and of all your other oppressors. I drove them out before you and gave you their land.

¹⁰And I said to you: I, the LORD, am your God; you shall not venerate the gods of the Amorites in whose land you are dwelling. But you did not obey me."

¹¹Then the angel of the LORD came and sat under the terebinth in Ophrah that belonged to Joash the Abiezrite. While his son Gideon was beating out wheat in the wine press to save it from the Midianites,

¹²the angel of the LORD appeared to him and said, "The LORD is with you, O champion!"

¹³"My Lord," Gideon said to him, "if the LORD is with us, why has all this happened to us? Where are his wondrous deeds of which our fathers told us when they said, 'Did not the LORD bring us up from Egypt?' For now the LORD has abandoned us and has delivered us into the power of Midian."

¹⁴The LORD turned to him and said, "Go with the strength you have and save Israel from the power of Midian. It is I who send you."

¹⁵But he answered him, "Please, my lord, how can I save Israel? My family is the meanest in Manasseh, and I am the most insignificant in my father's house."

¹⁶"I shall be with you," the LORD said to him, "and you will cut down Midian to the last man."

¹⁷He answered him, "If I find favor with you, give me a sign that you are speaking with me.

¹⁸Do not depart from here, I pray you, until I come back to you and bring out my offering and set it before you." He answered, "I will await your return."

¹⁹So Gideon went off and prepared a kid and an ephah of flour in the form of unleavened cakes. Putting the meat in a basket and the broth in a pot, he brought them out to him under the terebinth and presented them.

²⁰The angel of God said to him, "Take the meat and unleavened cakes and lay them on this rock; then pour out the broth." When he had done so,

²¹the angel of the LORD stretched out the tip of the staff he held, and touched the meat and unleavened cakes. Thereupon a fire came up from the rock which consumed the meat and unleavened cakes, and the angel of the LORD disappeared from sight.

²²Gideon, now aware that it had been the angel of the LORD, said, "Alas, Lord GOD, that I have seen the angel of the LORD face to face!"

²³The LORD answered him, "Be calm, do not fear. You shall not die."

²⁴So Gideon built there an altar to the LORD and called it Yahweh-shalom. To this day it is still in Ophrah of the Abiezrites.

²⁵That same night the LORD said to him, "Take the seven-year-old spare bullock and destroy your father's altar to Baal and cut down the sacred pole that is by it.

²⁶You shall build, instead, the proper kind of altar to the LORD, your God, on top of this stronghold. Then take the spare bullock and offer it as a holocaust on the wood from the sacred pole you have cut down."

²⁷So Gideon took ten of his servants and did as the LORD had commanded him. But through fear of his family and of the townspeople, he would not do it by day, but did it at night.

²⁸Early the next morning the townspeople found that the altar of Baal had been destroyed, the sacred pole near it cut down, and the spare bullock offered on the altar that was built.

²⁹They asked one another, "Who did this?" Their inquiry led them to the conclusion that Gideon, son of Joash, had done it.

³⁰So the townspeople said to Joash, "Bring out your son that he may die, for he has destroyed the altar of Baal and has cut down the sacred pole that was near it."

³¹But Joash replied to all who were standing around him, "Do you intend to act in Baal's stead, or be his champion? If anyone acts for him, he shall be put to death by morning. If he whose altar has been destroyed is a god, let him act for himself!"

³²So on that day Gideon was called Jerubbaal, because of the words, "Let Baal take action against him, since he destroyed his altar."

³³Then all Midian and Amalek and the Kedemites mustered and crossed over into the valley of Jezreel, where they encamped.

³⁴The spirit of the LORD enveloped Gideon; he blew the horn that summoned Abiezer to follow him.

³⁵He sent messengers, too, throughout Manasseh, which also obeyed his summons; through Asher, Zebulun and Naphtali, likewise, he sent messengers and these tribes advanced to meet the others.

³⁶Gideon said to God, "If indeed you are going to save Israel through me, as you promised,

³⁷I am putting this woolen fleece on the threshing floor. If dew comes on the fleece alone, while all the ground is dry, I shall know that you will save Israel through me, as you promised."

³⁸That is what took place. Early the next morning he wrung the dew from the fleece, squeezing out of it a bowlful of water.

³⁹Gideon then said to God, "Do not be angry with me if I speak once more. Let me make just one more test with the fleece. Let the fleece alone be dry, but let there be dew on all the ground."

⁴⁰That night God did so; the fleece alone was dry, but there was dew on all the ground.

7 Early the next morning Jerubbaal (that is, Gideon) encamped by Enharod with all his soldiers. The camp of Midian was in the valley north of Gibeath-hammoreh.

²The LORD said to Gideon, "You have too many soldiers with you for me to deliver Midian into their power, lest Israel vaunt itself against me and say, 'My own power brought me the victory.'

³Now proclaim to all the soldiers, 'If anyone is afraid or fearful, let him leave.'" When Gideon put them to this test on the mountain, twenty-two thousand of the soldiers left, but ten thousand remained.

⁴The LORD said to Gideon, "There are still too many soldiers. Lead them down to the water and I will test them for you there. If I tell you that a certain man is to go with you, he must go with you. But no one is to go if I tell you he must not."

⁵When Gideon led the soldiers down to the water, the LORD said to him, "You shall set to one side everyone who laps up the water as a dog does with its tongue; to the other, everyone who kneels down to drink."

⁶Those who lapped up the water raised to their mouths by hand numbered three hundred, but all the rest of the soldiers knelt down to drink the water.

⁷The LORD said to Gideon, "By means of the three hundred who lapped up the water I will save you and will deliver Midian into your power. So let all the other soldiers go home."

⁸Their horns, and such supplies as the soldiers had with them, were taken up, and Gideon ordered the rest of the Israelites to their tents, but kept the three hundred men. Now the camp of Midian was beneath him in the valley.

⁹That night the LORD said to Gideon, "Go, descend on the camp, for I have delivered it up to you.

¹⁰If you are afraid to attack, go down to the camp with your aide Purah.

¹¹When you hear what they are saying, you will have the courage to descend on the camp." So he went down with his aide Purah to the outposts of the camp.

¹²The Midianites, Amalekites, and all the Kedemites lay in the valley, as numerous as locusts. Nor could their camels be counted, for these were as many as the sands on the seashore.

¹³When Gideon arrived, one man was telling another about a dream. "I had a dream," he said, "that a round loaf of barley bread was rolling into the camp of Midian. It came to our tent and struck it, and as it fell it turned the tent upside down."

¹⁴"This can only be the sword of the Israelite Gideon, son of Joash," the other replied. "God has delivered Midian and all the camp into his power."

¹⁵When Gideon heard the description and explanation of the dream, he prostrated himself. Then returning to the camp of Israel, he said, "Arise, for the LORD has delivered the camp of Midian into your power."

¹⁶He divided the three hundred men into three companies, and provided them all with horns and with empty jars and torches inside the jars.

¹⁷"Watch me and follow my lead," he told them. "I shall go to the edge of the camp, and as I do, you must do also."

¹⁸When I and those with me blow horns, you too must blow horns all around the camp and cry out, 'For the LORD and for Gideon!'"

¹⁹So Gideon and the hundred men who were with him came to the edge of the camp at the beginning of the middle watch, just after the posting of the guards. They blew the horns and broke the jars they were holding.

²⁰All three companies blew horns and broke their jars. They held the torches in their left hands, and in their right the horns they were blowing, and cried out, "A sword for the LORD and Gideon!"

²¹They all remained standing in place around the camp, while the whole camp fell to running and shouting and fleeing.

²²But the three hundred men kept blowing the horns, and throughout the camp the LORD set the sword of one against another. The army fled as far as Beth-shittah in the direction of Zarethan, near the border of Abel-meholah at Tabbath.

²³The Israelites were called to arms from Naphtali, from Asher, and from all Manasseh, and they pursued Midian.

²⁴Gideon also sent messengers throughout the mountain region of Ephraim to say, "Go down to confront Midian, and seize the water courses against them as far as Beth-barah, as well as the Jordan." So all the Ephraimites were called to arms, and they seized the water courses as far as Beth-barah, and the Jordan as well.

²⁵They captured the two princes of Midian, Oreb and Zeeb, killing Oreb at the rock of Oreb and Zeeb at the wine press of Zeeb. Then they pursued Midian and carried the heads of Oreb and Zeeb to Gideon beyond the Jordan.

8 But the Ephraimites said to him, "What have you done to us, not calling us when you went to fight against Midian?" And they quarreled bitterly with him.

²"What have I accomplished now in comparison with you?" he answered them. "Is not the gleanings of Ephraim better than the vintage of Abiezer?"

³Into your power God delivered the princes of Midian, Oreb and Zeeb. What have I been able to do in comparison with you?" When he said this, their anger against him subsided.

⁴When Gideon reached the Jordan and crossed it with his three hundred men, they were exhausted and famished.

⁵So he said to the men of Succoth, "Will you give my followers some loaves of bread? They are exhausted, and I am pursuing Zebah and Zalmunna, kings of Midian."

⁶But the princes of Succoth replied, "Are the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna already in your possession, that we should give food to your army?"

⁷Gideon said, "Very well; when the LORD has delivered Zebah and Zalmunna into my power, I will grind your flesh in with the thorns and briers of the desert."

⁸He went up from there to Penuel and made the same request of them, but the men of Penuel answered him as had the men of Succoth.

⁹So to the men of Penuel, too, he said, "When I return in triumph, I will demolish this tower."

¹⁰Now Zebah and Zalmunna were in Karkor with their force of about fifteen thousand men; these were all who were left of the whole Kedemite army, a hundred and twenty thousand swordsmen having fallen.

¹¹Gideon went up by the route of the nomads east of Nobah and Jogbehah, and attacked the camp when it felt secure.

¹²Zebah and Zalmunna fled. He pursued them and took the two kings of Midian, Zebah and Zalmunna, captive, throwing the entire army into panic.

¹³Then Gideon, son of Joash, returned from battle by the pass of Heres.

¹⁴He captured a young man of Succoth, who upon being questioned listed for him the seventy-seven princes and elders of Succoth.

¹⁵So he went to the men of Succoth and said, "Here are Zebah and Zalmunna, with whom you taunted me, 'Are the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna already in your possession, that we should give food to your weary followers?'"

¹⁶He took the elders of the city, and thorns and briers of the desert, and ground these men of Succoth into them.

¹⁷He also demolished the tower of Penuel and slew the men of the city.

¹⁸Then he said to Zebah and Zalmunna, "Where now are the men you killed at Tabor?" "They all resembled you," they replied. "They appeared to be princes."

¹⁹"They were my brothers, my mother's sons," he said. "As the LORD lives, if you had spared their lives, I should not kill you."

²⁰Then he said to his first-born, Jether, "Go, kill them." Since Jether was still a boy, he was afraid and did not draw his sword.

²¹Zebah and Zalmunna said, "Come, kill us yourself, for a man's strength is like the man." So Gideon stepped forward and killed Zebah and Zalmunna. He also took the crescents that were on the necks of their camels.

²²The Israelites then said to Gideon, "Rule over us--you, your son, and your son's son--for you rescued us from the power of Midian."

²³But Gideon answered them, "I will not rule over you, nor shall my son rule over you. The LORD must rule over you."

²⁴Gideon went on to say, "I should like to make a request of you. Will each of you give me a ring from his booty?" (For being Ishmaelites, the enemy had gold rings.)

²⁵"We will gladly give them," they replied, and spread out a cloak into which everyone threw a ring from his booty.

²⁶The gold rings that he requested weighed seventeen hundred gold shekels, in addition to the crescents and pendants, the purple garments worn by the kings of Midian, and the trappings that were on the necks of their camels.

²⁷Gideon made an ephod out of the gold and placed it in his city Ophrah. However, all Israel paid idolatrous homage to it there, and caused the ruin of Gideon and his family.

²⁸Thus was Midian brought into subjection by the Israelites; no longer did they hold their heads high. And the land had rest for forty years, during the lifetime of Gideon.

²⁹Then Jerubbaal, son of Joash, went back home to stay.

³⁰Now Gideon had seventy sons, his direct descendants, for he had many wives.

³¹His concubine who lived in Shechem also bore him a son, whom he named Abimelech.

³²At a good old age Gideon, son of Joash, died and was buried in the tomb of his father Joash in Ophrah of the Abiezrites.

³³But after Gideon was dead, the Israelites again abandoned themselves to the Baals, making Baal of Berith their god

³⁴and forgetting the LORD, their God, who had delivered them from the power of their enemies all around them.

³⁵Nor were they grateful to the family of Jerubbaal (Gideon) for all the good he had done for Israel.

9 Abimelech, son of Jerubbaal, went to his mother's kinsmen in Shechem, and said to them and to the whole clan to which his mother's family belonged,

²"Put this question to all the citizens of Shechem: 'Which is better for you: that seventy men, or all Jerubbaal's sons, rule over you, or that one man rule over you?' You must remember that I am your own flesh and bone."

³When his mother's kin repeated these words to them on his behalf, all the citizens of Shechem sympathized with Abimelech, thinking, "He is our kinsman."

⁴They also gave him seventy silver shekels from the temple of Baal of Berith, with which Abimelech hired shiftless men and ruffians as his followers.

⁵He then went to his ancestral house in Ophrah, and slew his brothers, the seventy sons of Jerubbaal, on one stone. Only the youngest son of Jerubbaal, Jotham, escaped, for he was hidden.

⁶Then all the citizens of Shechem and all Beth-millo came together and proceeded to make Abimelech king by the terebinth at the memorial pillar in Shechem.

⁷When this was reported to him, Jotham went to the top of Mount Gerizim, and standing there, cried out to them in a loud voice: "Hear me, citizens of Shechem, that God may then hear you!

⁸Once the trees went to anoint a king over themselves. So they said to the olive tree, 'Reign over us.'

⁹But the olive tree answered them, 'Must I give up my rich oil, whereby men and gods are honored, and go to wave over the trees?'

¹⁰Then the trees said to the fig tree, 'Come; you reign over us!'

¹¹But the fig tree answered them, 'Must I give up my sweetness and my good fruit, and go to wave over the trees?'

¹²Then the trees said to the vine, 'Come you, and reign over us.'

¹³But the vine answered them, 'Must I give up my wine that cheers gods and men, and go to wave over the trees?'

¹⁴Then all the trees said to the buckthorn, 'Come; you reign over us!'

¹⁵But the buckthorn replied to the trees, 'If you wish to anoint me king over you in good faith, come and take refuge in my shadow. Otherwise, let fire come from the buckthorn and devour the cedars of Lebanon.'

¹⁶"Now then, if you have acted in good faith and honorably in appointing Abimelech your king, if you have dealt well with Jerubbaal and with his family, and if you have treated him as he deserved--

¹⁷for my father fought for you at the risk of his life when he saved you from the power of Midian;

¹⁸but you have risen against his family this day and have killed his seventy sons upon one stone, and have made Abimelech, the son of his handmaid, king over the citizens of Shechem, because he is your kinsman--

¹⁹if, then, you have acted in good faith and with honor toward Jerubbaal and his family this day, rejoice in Abimelech and may he in turn rejoice in you.

²⁰But if not, let fire come forth from Abimelech to devour the citizens of Shechem and Beth-millo, and let fire come forth from the citizens and from Beth-millo to devour Abimelech."

²¹Then Jotham went in flight to Beer, where he remained for fear of his brother Abimelech.

²²When Abimelech had ruled Israel for three years,

²³God put bad feelings between Abimelech and the citizens of Shechem, who rebelled against Abimelech.

²⁴This was to repay the violence done to the seventy sons of Jerubbaal and to avenge their blood upon their brother Abimelech, who killed them, and upon the citizens of Shechem, who encouraged him to kill his brothers.

²⁵The citizens of Shechem then set men in ambush for him on the mountaintops, and these robbed all who passed them on the road. But it was reported to Abimelech.

²⁶Now Gaal, son of Ebed, came over to Shechem with his kinsmen. The citizens of Shechem put their trust in him, ²⁷and went out into the fields, harvested their grapes and trod them out. Then they held a festival and went to the temple of their god, where they ate and drank and cursed Abimelech.

²⁸Gaal, son of Ebed, said, "Who is Abimelech? And why should we of Shechem serve him? Were not the son of Jerubbaal and his lieutenant Zebul once subject to the men of Hamor, father of Shechem? Why should we serve him?"

²⁹Would that this people were entrusted to my command! I would depose Abimelech. I would say to Abimelech, 'Get a larger army and come out!'"

³⁰At the news of what Gaal, son of Ebed, had said, Zebul, the ruler of the city, was angry

³¹and sent messengers to Abimelech in Arumah with the information: "Gaal, son of Ebed, and his kinsmen have come to Shechem and are stirring up the city against you.

³²Now rouse yourself; set an ambush tonight in the fields, you and the men who are with you.

³³Promptly at sunrise tomorrow morning, make a raid on the city. When he and his followers come out against you, deal with him as best you can."

³⁴During the night Abimelech advanced with all his soldiers and set up an ambush for Shechem in four companies.

³⁵Gaal, son of Ebed, went out and stood at the entrance of the city gate. When Abimelech and his soldiers rose from their place of ambush,

³⁶Gaal saw them and said to Zebul, "There are men coming down from the hilltops!" But Zebul answered him, "You see the shadow of the hills as men."

³⁷But Gaal went on to say, "Men are coming down from the region of Tabbur-Haares, and one company is coming by way of Elon-Meonenim."

³⁸Zebul said to him, "Where now is the boast you uttered, 'Who is Abimelech that we should serve him?' Are these not the men for whom you expressed contempt? Go out now and fight with them."

⁴⁰But Abimelech routed him, and he fled before him; and many fell slain right up to the entrance of the gate.

⁴¹Abimelech returned to Arumah, but Zebul drove Gaal and his kinsmen from Shechem, which they had occupied.

⁴²The next day, when the people were taking the field, it was reported to Abimelech,

⁴³who divided the men he had into three companies, and set up an ambush in the fields. He watched till he saw the people leave the city, and then rose against them for the attack.

⁴⁴Abimelech and the company with him dashed in and stood by the entrance of the city gate, while the other two companies rushed upon all who were in the field and attacked them.

⁴⁵That entire day Abimelech fought against the city, and captured it. He then killed its inhabitants and demolished the city, sowing the site with salt.

⁴⁶When they heard of this, all the citizens of Migdal-shechem went into the crypt of the temple of El-berith.

⁴⁷It was reported to Abimelech that all the citizens of Migdal-shechem were gathered together.

⁴⁸So he went up Mount Zalmon with all his soldiers, took his axe in his hand, and cut down some brushwood. This he lifted to his shoulder, then said to the men with him, "Hurry! Do just as you have seen me do."

⁴⁹So all the men likewise cut down brushwood, and following Abimelech, placed it against the crypt. Then they set the crypt on fire over their heads, so that every one of the citizens of Migdal-shechem, about a thousand men and women, perished.

⁵⁰Abimelech proceeded to Thebez, which he invested and captured.

⁵¹Now there was a strong tower in the middle of the city, and all the men and women, in a word all the citizens of the city, fled there, shutting themselves in and going up to the roof of the tower.

⁵²Abimelech came up to the tower and fought against it, advancing to the very entrance of the tower to set it on fire.

⁵³But a certain woman cast the upper part of a millstone down on Abimelech's head, and it fractured his skull.

⁵⁴He immediately called his armor-bearer and said to him, "Draw your sword and dispatch me, lest they say of me that a woman killed me." So his attendant ran him through and he died.

⁵⁵When the Israelites saw that Abimelech was dead, they all left for their homes.

⁵⁶Thus did God requite the evil Abimelech had done to his father in killing his seventy brothers.

⁵⁷God also brought all their wickedness home to the Shechemites, for the curse of Jotham, son of Jerubbaal, overtook them.

10 After Abimelech there rose to save Israel the Issacharite Tola, son of Puah, son of Dodo, a resident of Shamir in the mountain region of Ephraim.

²When he had judged Israel twenty-three years, he died and was buried in Shamir.

³Jair the Gileadite came after him and judged Israel twenty-two years.

⁴He had thirty sons who rode on thirty saddle-asses and possessed thirty cities in the land of Gilead; these are called Havvoth-jair to the present day.

⁵Jair died and was buried in Kamon.

⁶The Israelites again offended the LORD, serving the Baals and Ashtaroths, the gods of Aram, the gods of Sidon, the gods of Moab, the gods of the Ammonites, and the gods of the Philistines. Since they had abandoned the LORD and would not serve him,

⁷the LORD became angry with Israel and allowed them to fall into the power of (the Philistines and) the Ammonites.

⁸For eighteen years they afflicted and oppressed the Israelites in Bashan, and all the Israelites in the Amorite land beyond the Jordan in Gilead.

⁹The Ammonites also crossed the Jordan to fight against Judah, Benjamin, and the house of Ephraim, so that Israel was in great distress.

¹⁰Then the Israelites cried out to the LORD, "We have sinned against you; we have forsaken our God and have served the Baals."

¹¹The LORD answered the Israelites: "Did not the Egyptians, the Amorites, the Ammonites, the Philistines, ¹²the Sidonians, the Amalekites, and the Midianites oppress you? Yet when you cried out to me, and I saved you from their grasp, ¹³you still forsook me and worshiped other gods. Therefore I will save you no more.

¹⁴Go and cry out to the gods you have chosen; let them save you now that you are in distress."

¹⁵But the Israelites said to the LORD, "We have sinned. Do to us whatever you please. Only save us this day."

¹⁶And they cast out the foreign gods from their midst and served the LORD, so that he grieved over the misery of Israel.

¹⁷The Ammonites had gathered for war and encamped in Gilead, while the Israelites assembled and encamped in Mizpah.

¹⁸And among the people the princes of Gilead said to one another, "The one who begins the war against the Ammonites shall be leader of all the inhabitants of Gilead."

11

There was a chieftain, the Gileadite Jephthah, born to Gilead of a harlot.

²Gilead's wife had also borne him sons, and on growing up the sons of the wife had driven Jephthah away, saying to him, "You shall inherit nothing in our family, for you are the son of another woman."

³So Jephthah had fled from his brothers and had taken up residence in the land of Tob. A rabble had joined company with him, and went out with him on raids.

⁴Some time later, the Ammonites warred on Israel.

⁵When this occurred the elders of Gilead went to bring Jephthah from the land of Tob.

⁶"Come," they said to Jephthah, "be our commander that we may be able to fight the Ammonites."

⁷"Are you not the ones who hated me and drove me from my father's house?" Jephthah replied to the elders of Gilead. "Why do you come to me now, when you are in distress?"

⁸The elders of Gilead said to Jephthah, "In any case, we have now come back to you; if you go with us to fight against the Ammonites, you shall be the leader of all of us who dwell in Gilead."

⁹Jephthah answered the elders of Gilead, "If you bring me back to fight against the Ammonites and the LORD delivers them up to me, I shall be your leader."

¹⁰The elders of Gilead said to Jephthah, "The LORD is witness between us that we will do as you say."

¹¹So Jephthah went with the elders of Gilead, and the people made him their leader and commander. In Mizpah, Jephthah settled all his affairs before the LORD.

¹²Then he sent messengers to the king of the Ammonites to say, "What have you against me that you come to fight with me in my land?"

¹³He answered the messengers of Jephthah, "Israel took away my land from the Arnon to the Jabbok and the Jordan when they came up from Egypt. Now restore the same peaceably."

¹⁴Again Jephthah sent messengers to the king of the Ammonites,

¹⁵saying to him, "This is what Jephthah says: Israel did not take the land of Moab or the land of the Ammonites.

¹⁶For when they came up from Egypt, Israel went through the desert to the Red Sea and came to Kadesh.

¹⁷Israel then sent messengers to the king of Edom saying, 'Let me pass through your land.' But the king of Edom did not give consent. They also sent to the king of Moab, but he too was unwilling. So Israel remained in Kadesh.

¹⁸Then they went through the desert, and by-passing the land of Edom and the land of Moab, went east of the land of Moab and encamped across the Arnon. Thus they did not go through the territory of Moab, for the Arnon is the boundary of Moab.

¹⁹Then Israel sent messengers to Sihon, king of the Amorites, king of Heshbon. Israel said to him, 'Let me pass through your land to my own place.'

²⁰But Sihon refused to let Israel pass through his territory. On the contrary, he gathered all his soldiers, who encamped at Jahaz and fought Israel.

²¹But the LORD, the God of Israel, delivered Sihon and all his men into the power of Israel, who defeated them and occupied all the land of the Amorites dwelling in that region, ²²the whole territory from the Arnon to the Jabbok, from the desert to the Jordan.

²³If now the LORD, the God of Israel, has cleared the Amorites out of the way of his people, are you to dislodge Israel?

²⁴Should you not possess that which your god Chemosh gave you to possess, and should we not possess all that the LORD, our God, has cleared out for us?

²⁵Again, are you any better than Balak, son of Zippor, king of Moab? Did he ever quarrel with Israel, or did he war against them

²⁶when Israel occupied Heshbon and its villages, Aroer and its villages, and all the cities on the banks of the Arnon? Three hundred years have passed; why did you not recover them during that time?

²⁷I have not sinned against you, but you wrong me by warring against me. Let the LORD, who is judge, decide this day between the Israelites and the Ammonites!"

²⁸But the king of the Ammonites paid no heed to the message Jephthah sent him.

²⁹The spirit of the LORD came upon Jephthah. He passed through Gilead and Manasseh, and through Mizpah-Gilead as well, and from there he went on to the Ammonites.

³⁰Jephthah made a vow to the LORD. "If you deliver the Ammonites into my power," he said,

³¹"whoever comes out of the doors of my house to meet me when I return in triumph from the Ammonites shall belong to the LORD. I shall offer him up as a holocaust."

³²Jephthah then went on to the Ammonites to fight against them, and the LORD delivered them into his power,

³³so that he inflicted a severe defeat on them, from Aroer to the approach of Minnith (twenty cities in all) and as far as Abel-keramin. Thus were the Ammonites brought into subjection by the Israelites.

³⁴When Jephthah returned to his house in Mizpah, it was his daughter who came forth, playing the tambourines and dancing. She was an only child: he had neither son nor daughter besides her.

³⁵When he saw her, he rent his garments and said, "Alas, daughter, you have struck me down and brought calamity upon me. For I have made a vow to the LORD and I cannot retract."

³⁶"Father," she replied, "you have made a vow to the LORD. Do with me as you have vowed, because the LORD has wrought vengeance for you on your enemies the Ammonites."

³⁷Then she said to her father, "Let me have this favor. Spare me for two months, that I may go off down the mountains to mourn my virginity with my companions."

³⁸"Go," he replied, and sent her away for two months. So she departed with her companions and mourned her virginity on the mountains.

³⁹At the end of the two months she returned to her father, who did to her as he had vowed. She had not been intimate with man. It then became a custom in Israel

⁴⁰for Israelite women to go yearly to mourn the daughter of Jephthah the Gileadite for four days of the year.

The men of Ephraim gathered together and crossed over to Zaphon. They said to Jephthah, "Why do you go on to fight with the Ammonites without calling us to go with you? We will burn your house over you."

²Jephthah answered them, "My soldiers and I were engaged in a critical contest with the Ammonites. I summoned you, but you did not rescue me from their power.

³When I saw that you would not effect a rescue, I took my life in my own hand and went on to the Ammonites, and the LORD delivered them into my power. Why, then, do you come up against me this day to fight with me?"

⁴Then Jephthah called together all the men of Gilead and fought against Ephraim, whom they defeated; for the Ephraimites had said, "You of Gilead are Ephraimite fugitives in territory belonging to Ephraim and Manasseh."

⁵The Gileadites took the fords of the Jordan toward Ephraim. When any of the fleeing Ephraimites said, "Let me pass," the men of Gilead would say to him, "Are you an Ephraimite?" If he answered, "No!"

⁶they would ask him to say "Shibboleth." If he said "Sibboleth," not being able to give the proper pronunciation, they would seize him and kill him at the fords of the Jordan. Thus forty-two thousand Ephraimites fell at that time.

⁷After having judged Israel for six years, Jephthah the Gileadite died and was buried in his city in Gilead.

⁸After him Ibzan of Bethlehem judged Israel.

⁹He had thirty sons. He also had thirty daughters married outside the family, and he brought in as wives for his sons thirty young women from outside the family. After having judged Israel for seven years,

¹⁰Ibzan died and was buried in Bethlehem.

¹¹After him the Zebulunite Elon judged Israel. When he had judged Israel for ten years, ¹²the Zebulunite Elon died and was buried in Elon in the land of Zebulun.

¹³After him the Pirathonite Abdon, son of Hillel, judged Israel.

¹⁴He had forty sons and thirty grandsons who rode on seventy saddle-asses. After having judged Israel for eight years, ¹⁵the Pirathonite Abdon, son of Hillel, died and was buried in Pirathon in the land of Ephraim on the mountain of the Amalekites.

13 The Israelites again offended the LORD, who therefore delivered them into the power of the Philistines for forty years.

²There was a certain man from Zorah, of the clan of the Danites, whose name was Manoah. His wife was barren and had borne no children.

³An angel of the LORD appeared to the woman and said to her, "Though you are barren and have had no children, yet you will conceive and bear a son.

⁴Now, then, be careful to take no wine or strong drink and to eat nothing unclean.

⁵As for the son you will conceive and bear, no razor shall touch his head, for this boy is to be consecrated to God from the womb. It is he who will begin the deliverance of Israel from the power of the Philistines."

⁶The woman went and told her husband, "A man of God came to me; he had the appearance of an angel of God, terrible indeed. I did not ask him where he came from, nor did he tell me his name.

⁷But he said to me, 'You will be with child and will bear a son. So take neither wine nor strong drink, and eat nothing unclean. For the boy shall be consecrated to God from the womb, until the day of his death.'

⁸Manoah then prayed to the LORD. "O LORD, I beseech you," he said, "may the man of God whom you sent, return to us to teach us what to do for the boy who will be born."

⁹God heard the prayer of Manoah, and the angel of God came again to the woman as she was sitting in the field. Since her husband Manoah was not with her,

¹⁰the woman ran in haste and told her husband. "The man who came to me the other day has appeared to me," she said to him;

¹¹so Manoah got up and followed his wife. When he reached the man, he said to him, "Are you the one who spoke to my wife?" "Yes," he answered.

¹²Then Manoah asked, "Now, when that which you say comes true, what are we expected to do for the boy?"

¹³The angel of the LORD answered Manoah, "Your wife is to abstain from all the things of which I spoke to her.

¹⁴She must not eat anything that comes from the vine, nor take wine or strong drink, nor eat anything unclean. Let her observe all that I have commanded her."

¹⁵Then Manoah said to the angel of the LORD, "Can we persuade you to stay, while we prepare a kid for you?"

¹⁶But the angel of the LORD answered Manoah, "Although you press me, I will not partake of your food. But if you will, you may offer a holocaust to the LORD." Not knowing that it was the angel of the LORD,

¹⁷Manoah said to him, "What is your name, that we may honor you when your words come true?"

¹⁸The angel of the LORD answered him, "Why do you ask my name, which is mysterious?"

¹⁹Then Manoah took the kid with a cereal offering and offered it on the rock to the LORD, whose works are mysteries. While Manoah and his wife were looking on,

²⁰as the flame rose to the sky from the altar, the angel of the LORD ascended in the flame of the altar. When Manoah and his wife saw this, they fell prostrate to the ground;

²¹but the angel of the LORD was seen no more by Manoah and his wife. Then Manoah, realizing that it was the angel of the LORD,

²²said to his wife, "We will certainly die, for we have seen God."

²³But his wife pointed out to him, "If the LORD had meant to kill us, he would not have accepted a holocaust and cereal offering from our hands! Nor would he have let us see all this just now, or hear what we have heard."

²⁴The woman bore a son and named him Samson. The boy grew up and the LORD blessed him;

²⁵the spirit of the LORD first stirred him in Mahaneh-dan, which is between Zorah and Eshtaol.

14 Samson went down to Timnah and saw there one of the Philistine women.

²On his return he told his father and mother, "There is a Philistine woman I saw in Timnah whom I wish you to get as a wife for me."

³His father and mother said to him, "Can you find no wife among your kinsfolk or among all our people, that you must go and take a wife from the uncircumcised Philistines?" But Samson answered his father, "Get her for me, for she pleases me."

⁴Now his father and mother did not know that this had been brought about by the LORD, who was providing an opportunity against the Philistines; for at that time they had dominion over Israel.

⁵So Samson went down to Timnah with his father and mother. When they had come to the vineyards of Timnah, a young lion came roaring to meet him.

⁶But the spirit of the LORD came upon Samson, and although he had no weapons, he tore the lion in pieces as one tears a kid.

⁷However, on the journey to speak for the woman, he did not mention to his father or mother what he had done.

⁸Later, when he returned to marry the woman who pleased him, he stepped aside to look at the remains of the lion and found a swarm of bees and honey in the lion's carcass.

⁹So he scooped the honey out into his palms and ate it as he went along. When he came to his father and mother, he gave them some to eat, without telling them that he had scooped the honey from the lion's carcass.

¹⁰His father also went down to the woman, and Samson gave a banquet there, since it was customary for the young men to do this.

¹¹When they met him, they brought thirty men to be his companions.

¹²Samson said to them, "Let me propose a riddle to you. If within the seven days of the feast you solve it for me successfully, I will give you thirty linen tunics and thirty sets of garments.

¹³But if you cannot answer it for me, you must give me thirty tunics and thirty sets of garments." "Propose your riddle," they responded; "we will listen to it."

¹⁴So he said to them,
"Out of the eater came forth food, and out of the strong came forth sweetness." After three days' failure to answer the riddle,

¹⁵they said on the fourth day to Samson's wife, "Coax your husband to answer the riddle for us, or we will burn you and your family. Did you invite us here to reduce us to poverty?"

¹⁶At Samson's side, his wife wept and said, "You must hate me; you do not love me, for you have proposed a riddle to my countrymen, but have not told me the answer." He said to her, "If I have not told it even to my father or my mother, must I tell it to you?"

¹⁷But she wept beside him during the seven days the feast lasted. On the seventh day, since she importuned him, he told her the answer, and she explained the riddle to her countrymen.

¹⁸On the seventh day, before the sun set, the men of the city said to him, "What is sweeter than honey, and what is stronger than a lion?" He replied to them, "If you had not plowed with my heifer, you would not have solved my riddle."

¹⁹The spirit of the LORD came upon him, and he went down to Ashkelon, where he killed thirty of their men and despoiled them; he gave their garments to those who had answered the riddle. Then he went off to his own family in anger,

²⁰and Samson's wife was married to the one who had been best man at his wedding.

15 After some time, in the season of the wheat harvest, Samson visited his wife, bringing a kid. But when he said, "Let me be with my wife in private," her father would not let him enter,

²saying, "I thought it certain you wished to repudiate her; so I gave her to your best man. Her younger sister is more beautiful than she; you may have her instead."

³Samson said to them, "This time the Philistines cannot blame me if I harm them."

⁴So Samson left and caught three hundred foxes. Turning them tail to tail, he tied between each pair of tails one of the torches he had at hand.

⁵He then kindled the torches and set the foxes loose in the standing grain of the Philistines, thus burning both the shocks and the standing grain, and the vineyards and olive orchards as well.

⁶When the Philistines asked who had done this, they were told, "Samson, the son-in-law of the Timnite, because his wife was taken and given to his best man." So the Philistines went up and destroyed her and her family by fire.

⁷Samson said to them, "If this is how you act, I will not stop until I have taken revenge on you."

⁸And with repeated blows, he inflicted a great slaughter on them. Then he went down and remained in a cavern of the cliff of Etam.

¹⁰When the men of Judah asked, "Why have you come up against us?" they answered, "To take Samson prisoner; to do to him as he has done to us."

¹¹Three thousand men of Judah went down to the cavern in the cliff of Etam and said to Samson, "Do you not know that the Philistines are our rulers? Why, then, have you done this to us?" He answered them, "As they have done to me, so have I done to them."

¹²They said to him, "We have come to take you prisoner, to deliver you over to the Philistines." Samson said to them, "Swear to me that you will not kill me yourselves."

¹³"No," they replied, "we will certainly not kill you but will only bind you and deliver you over to them." So they bound him with two new ropes and brought him up from the cliff.

¹⁴When he reached Lehi, and the Philistines came shouting to meet him, the spirit of the LORD came upon him: the ropes around his arms became as flax that is consumed by fire and his bonds melted away from his hands.

¹⁵Near him was the fresh jawbone of an ass; he reached out, grasped it, and with it killed a thousand men.

¹⁶Then Samson said,
"With the jawbone of an ass
I have piled them in a heap;
With the jawbone of an ass
I have slain a thousand men."

¹⁷As he finished speaking he threw the jawbone from him; and so that place was named Ramath-lehi.

¹⁸Being very thirsty, he cried to the LORD and said, "You have granted this great victory by the hand of your servant. Must I now die of thirst or fall into the hands of the uncircumcised?"

¹⁹Then God split the cavity in Lehi, and water issued from it, which Samson drank till his spirit returned and he revived. Hence that spring in Lehi is called En-hakkore to this day.

²⁰Samson judged Israel for twenty years in the days of the Philistines.

16 Once Samson went to Gaza, where he saw a harlot and visited her.

²Informed that Samson had come there, the men of Gaza surrounded him with an ambush at the city gate all night long. And all the night they waited, saying, "Tomorrow morning we will kill him."

³Samson rested there until midnight. Then he rose, seized the doors of the city gate and the two gateposts, and tore them loose, bar and all. He hoisted them on his shoulders and carried them to the top of the ridge opposite Hebron.

⁴After that he fell in love with a woman in the Wadi Sorek whose name was Delilah.

⁵The lords of the Philistines came to her and said, "Beguile him and find out the secret of his great strength, and how we may overcome and bind him so as to keep him helpless. We will each give you eleven hundred shekels of silver."

⁶So Delilah said to Samson, "Tell me the secret of your great strength and how you may be bound so as to be kept helpless."

⁷"If they bind me with seven fresh bowstrings which have not dried," Samson answered her, "I shall be as weak as any other man."

⁸So the lords of the Philistines brought her seven fresh bowstrings which had not dried, and she bound him with them.

⁹She had men lying in wait in the chamber and so she said to him, "The Philistines are upon you, Samson!" But he snapped the strings as a thread of tow is severed by a whiff of flame; and the secret of his strength remained unknown.

¹⁰Delilah said to Samson, "You have mocked me and told me lies. Now tell me how you may be bound."

¹¹"If they bind me tight with new ropes, with which no work has been done," he answered her, "I shall be as weak as any other man."

¹²So Delilah took new ropes and bound him with them. Then she said to him, "The Philistines are upon you, Samson!" For there were men lying in wait in the chamber. But he snapped them off his arms like thread.

¹³Delilah said to Samson again, "Up to now you have mocked me and told me lies. Tell me how you may be bound." He said to her, "If you weave my seven locks of hair into the web and fasten them with the pin, I shall be as weak as any other man."

¹⁴So while he slept, Delilah wove his seven locks of hair into the web, and fastened them in with the pin. Then she said, "The Philistines are upon you, Samson!" Awakening from his sleep, he pulled out both the weaver's pin and the web.

¹⁵Then she said to him, "How can you say that you love me when you do not confide in me? Three times already you have mocked me, and not told me the secret of your great strength!"

¹⁶She importuned him continually and vexed him with her complaints till he was deathly weary of them.

¹⁷So he took her completely into his confidence and told her, "No razor has touched my head, for I have been consecrated to God from my mother's womb. If I am shaved, my strength will leave me, and I shall be as weak as any other man."

¹⁸When Delilah saw that he had taken her completely into his confidence, she summoned the lords of the Philistines, saying, "Come up this time, for he has opened his heart to me." So the lords of the Philistines came and brought up the money with them.

¹⁹She had him sleep on her lap, and called for a man who shaved off his seven locks of hair. Then she began to mistreat him, for his strength had left him.

²⁰When she said, "The Philistines are upon you, Samson!", and he woke from his sleep, he thought he could make good his escape as he had done time and again, for he did not realize that the LORD had left him.

²¹But the Philistines seized him and gouged out his eyes. Then they brought him down to Gaza and bound him with bronze fetters, and he was put to grinding in the prison.

²²But the hair of his head began to grow as soon as it was shaved off.

²³The lords of the Philistines assembled to offer a great sacrifice to their god Dagon and to make merry. They said, "Our god has delivered into our power Samson our enemy."

²⁴When the people saw him, they praised their god.
For they said,
"Our god has delivered into our power
our enemy, the ravager of our land,
the one who has multiplied our slain."
Then they stationed him between the columns.

²⁵When their spirits were high, they said, "Call Samson that he may amuse us." So they called Samson from the prison, and he played the buffoon before them.

²⁶Samson said to the attendant who was holding his hand, "Put me where I may touch the columns that support the temple and may rest against them."

²⁷The temple was full of men and women: all the lords of the Philistines were there, and from the roof about three thousand men and women looked on as Samson provided amusement.

²⁸Samson cried out to the LORD and said, "O Lord GOD, remember me! Strengthen me, O God, this last time that for my two eyes I may avenge myself once and for all on the Philistines."

²⁹Samson grasped the two middle columns on which the temple rested and braced himself against them, one at his right hand, the other at his left.

³⁰And Samson said, "Let me die with the Philistines!" He pushed hard, and the temple fell upon the lords and all the people who were in it. Those he killed at his death were more than those he had killed during his lifetime.

³¹All his family and kinsmen went down and bore him up for burial in the grave of his father Manoah between Zorah and Eshtaol. He had judged Israel for twenty years.

17

There was a man in the mountain region of Ephraim whose name was Micah.

²He said to his mother, "The eleven hundred shekels of silver over which you pronounced a curse in my hearing when they were taken from you, are in my possession. It was I who took them; so now I will restore them to you."

³When he restored the eleven hundred shekels of silver to his mother, she took two hundred of them and gave them to the silversmith, who made of them a carved idol overlaid with silver.

⁴Then his mother said, "May the LORD bless my son! I have consecrated the silver to the LORD as my gift in favor of my son, by making a carved idol overlaid with silver." It remained in the house of Micah.

⁵Thus the layman Micah had a sanctuary. He also made an ephod and household idols, and consecrated one of his sons, who became his priest.

⁶In those days there was no king in Israel; everyone did what he thought best.

⁷There was a young Levite who had resided within the tribe of Judah at Bethlehem of Judah.

⁸From that city he set out to find another place of residence. On his journey he came to the house of Micah in the mountain region of Ephraim.

⁹Micah said to him, "Where do you come from?" He answered him, "I am a Levite from Bethlehem in Judah, and am on my way to find some other place of residence."

¹⁰"Stay with me," Micah said to him. "Be father and priest to me, and I will give you ten silver shekels a year, a set of garments, and your food."

¹¹So the young Levite decided to stay with the man, to whom he became as one of his own sons.

¹²Micah consecrated the young Levite, who became his priest, remaining in his house.

¹³Therefore Micah said, "Now I know that the LORD will prosper me, since the Levite has become my priest."

18 At that time there was no king in Israel. Moreover the tribe of Danites were in search of a district to dwell in, for up to that time they had received no heritage among the tribes of Israel.

²So the Danites sent from their clan a detail of five valiant men of Zorah and Eshtaol, to reconnoiter the land and scout it. With their instructions to go and scout the land, they traveled as far as the house of Micah in the mountain region of Ephraim, where they passed the night.

³Near the house of Micah, they recognized the voice of the young Levite and turned in that direction. "Who brought you here and what are you doing here?" they asked him. "What is your interest here?"

⁴"This is how Micah treats me," he replied to them. "He pays me a salary and I am his priest."

⁵They said to him, "Consult God, that we may know whether the undertaking we are engaged in will succeed."

⁶The priest said to them, "Go and prosper: the LORD is favorable to the undertaking you are engaged in."

⁷So the five men went on and came to Laish. They saw that the people dwelling there lived securely after the manner of the Sidonians, quiet and trusting, with no lack of any natural resources. They were distant from the Sidonians and had no contact with other people.

⁸When the five returned to their kinsmen in Zorah and Eshtaol and were asked for a report, ⁹they replied, "Come, let us attack them, for we have seen the land and it is very good. Are you going to hesitate? Do not be slothful about beginning your expedition to possess the land.

¹⁰Those against whom you go are a trusting people, and the land is ample. God has indeed given it into your power: a place where no natural resource is lacking."

¹¹So six hundred men of the clan of the Danites, fully armed with weapons of war, set out from where they were in Zorah and Eshtaol, ¹²and camped in Judah, up near Kiriath-jearim; hence to this day the place, which lies west of Kiriath-jearim, is called Mahaneh-dan.

¹³From there they went on to the mountain region of Ephraim and came to the house of Micah.

¹⁴The five men who had gone to reconnoiter the land of Laish said to their kinsmen, "Do you know that in these houses there are an ephod, household idols, and a carved idol overlaid with silver? Now decide what you must do!"

¹⁵So turning in that direction, they went to the house of the young Levite at the home of Micah and greeted him.

¹⁶The six hundred men girt with weapons of war, who were Danites, stood by the entrance of the gate, and the priest stood there also.

- ¹⁷ Meanwhile the five men who had gone to reconnoiter the land went up and entered the house of Micah.
- ¹⁸ When they had gone in and taken the ephod, the household idols, and the carved idol overlaid with silver, the priest said to them, "What are you doing?"
- ¹⁹ They said to him, "Be still: put your hand over your mouth. Come with us and be our father and priest. Is it better for you to be priest for the family of one man or to be priest for a tribe and a clan in Israel?"
- ²⁰ The priest, agreeing, took the ephod, household idols, and carved idol and went off in the midst of the band.
- ²¹ As they turned to depart, they placed their little ones, their livestock, and their goods at the head of the column.
- ²² The Danites had already gone some distance, when those in the houses near that of Micah took up arms and overtook them.
- ²³ They called to the Danites, who turned about and said to Micah, "What do you want, that you have taken up arms?"
- ²⁴ "You have taken my god, which I made, and have gone off with my priest as well," he answered. "What is left for me? How, then, can you ask me what I want?"
- ²⁵ The Danites said to him, "Let us hear no further sound from you, lest fierce men fall upon you and you and your family lose your lives."
- ²⁶ The Danites then went on their way, and Micah, seeing that they were stronger than he, returned home.
- ²⁷ Having taken what Micah had made, and the priest he had had, they attacked Laish, a quiet and trusting people; they put them to the sword and destroyed their city by fire.
- ²⁸ No one came to their aid, since the city was far from Sidon and they had no contact with other people. The Danites then rebuilt the city, which was in the valley that belongs to Beth-rehob, and lived there.
- ²⁹ They named it Dan after their ancestor Dan, son of Israel. However, the name of the city was formerly Laish.

³⁰The Danites set up the carved idol for themselves, and Jonathan, son of Gershom, son of Moses, and his descendants were priests for the tribe of the Danites until the time of the captivity of the land.

³¹They maintained the carved idol Micah had made as long as the house of God was in Shiloh.

19 At that time, when there was no king in Israel, there was a Levite residing in remote parts of the mountain region of Ephraim who had taken for himself a concubine from Bethlehem of Judah.

²His concubine was unfaithful to him and left him for her father's house in Bethlehem of Judah, where she stayed for some four months.

³Her husband then set out with his servant and a pair of asses, and went after her to forgive her and take her back. She brought him into her father's house, and on seeing him, the girl's father joyfully made him welcome.

⁴He was detained by the girl's father, and so he spent three days with this father-in-law of his, eating and drinking and passing the night there.

⁵On the fourth day they rose early in the morning and he prepared to go. But the girl's father said to his son-in-law, "Fortify yourself with a little food; you can go later on."

⁶So they stayed and the two men ate and drank together. Then the girl's father said to the husband, "Why not decide to spend the night here and enjoy yourself?"

⁷The man still made a move to go, but when his father-in-law pressed him he went back and spent the night there.

⁸On the fifth morning he rose early to depart, but the girl's father said, "Fortify yourself and tarry until the afternoon." When he and his father-in-law had eaten,

⁹and the husband was ready to go with his concubine and servant, the girl's father said to him, "It is already growing dusk. Stay for the night. See, the day is coming to an end. Spend the night here and enjoy yourself. Early tomorrow you can start your journey home."

¹⁰The man, however, refused to stay another night; he and his concubine set out with a pair of saddled asses, and traveled till they came opposite Jebus, which is Jerusalem.

¹¹Since they were near Jebus with the day far gone, the servant said to his master, "Come, let us turn off to this city of the Jebusites and spend the night in it."

¹²But his master said to him, "We will not turn off to a city of foreigners, who are not Israelites, but will go on to Gibeah.

¹³Come," he said to his servant, "let us make for some other place, either Gibeah or Ramah, to spend the night."

¹⁴So they continued on their way till the sun set on them when they were abreast of Gibeah of Benjamin.

¹⁵There they turned off to enter Gibeah for the night. The man waited in the public square of the city he had entered, but no one offered them the shelter of his home for the night.

¹⁶In the evening, however, an old man came from his work in the field; he was from the mountain region of Ephraim, though he lived among the Benjaminite townspeople of Gibeah.

¹⁷When he noticed the traveler in the public square of the city, the old man asked where he was going, and whence he had come.

¹⁸He said to him, "We are traveling from Bethlehem of Judah far up into the mountain region of Ephraim, where I belong. I have been to Bethlehem of Judah and am now going back home; but no one has offered us the shelter of his house.

¹⁹We have straw and fodder for our asses, and bread and wine for the woman and myself and for our servant; there is nothing else we need."

²⁰"You are welcome," the old man said to him, "but let me provide for all your needs, and do not spend the night in the public square."

²¹So he led them to his house and provided fodder for the asses. Then they washed their feet, and ate and drank.

²²While they were enjoying themselves, the men of the city, who were corrupt, surrounded the house and beat on the door. They said to the old man whose house it was, "Bring out your guest, that we may abuse him."

²³The owner of the house went out to them and said, "No, my brothers; do not be so wicked. Since this man is my guest, do not commit this crime.

²⁴Rather let me bring out my maiden daughter or his concubine. Ravish them, or do whatever you want with them; but against the man you must not commit this wanton crime."

²⁵When the men would not listen to his host, the husband seized his concubine and thrust her outside to them. They had relations with her and abused her all night until the following dawn, when they let her go.

²⁶Then at daybreak the woman came and collapsed at the entrance of the house in which her husband was a guest, where she lay until the morning.

²⁷When her husband rose that day and ²⁷opened the door of the house to start out again on his journey, there lay the woman, his concubine, at the entrance of the house with her hands on the threshold.

²⁸He said to her, "Come, let us go"; but there was no answer. So the man placed her on an ass and started out again for home.

²⁹On reaching home, he took a knife to the body of his concubine, cut her into twelve pieces, and sent them throughout the territory of Israel.

³⁰Everyone who saw this said, "Nothing like this has been done or seen from the day the Israelites came up from the land of Egypt to this day. Take note of it, and state what you propose to do."

20 So all the Israelites came out as one man: from Dan to Beer-sheba, and from the land of Gilead, the community was gathered to the LORD at Mizpah.

²The leaders of all the people and all the tribesmen of Israel, four hundred thousand foot soldiers who were swordsmen, presented themselves in the assembly of the people of God.

³Meanwhile, the Benjaminites heard that the Israelites had gone up to Mizpah. The Israelites asked to be told how the crime had taken place, ⁴and the Levite, the husband of the murdered woman, testified: "My concubine and I went into Gibeah of Benjamin for the night.

⁵But the citizens of Gibeah rose up against me by night and surrounded the house in which I was. Me they attempted to kill, and my concubine they abused so that she died.

⁶So I took my concubine and cut her up and sent her through every part of the territory of Israel, because of the monstrous crime they had committed in Israel.

⁷Now that you are all here, O Israelites, state what you propose to do."

⁸All the people rose as one man to say, "None of us is to leave for his tent or return to his home.

⁹Now as for Gibeah, this is what we will do: We will proceed against it by lot,

¹⁰taking from all the tribes of Israel ten men for every hundred, a hundred for every thousand, a thousand for every ten thousand, and procuring supplies for the soldiers who will go to deal fully and suitably with Gibeah of Benjamin for the crime it committed in Israel."

¹¹When, therefore, all the men of Israel without exception were leagued together against the city,

¹²the tribes of Israel sent men throughout the tribe of Benjamin to say, "What is this evil which has occurred among you?

¹³Now give up these corrupt men of Gibeah, that we may put them to death and thus purge the evil from Israel." But the Benjaminites refused to accede to the demand of their brothers, the Israelites.

¹⁴Instead, the Benjaminites assembled from their other cities to Gibeah, to do battle with the Israelites.

¹⁵The number of the Benjaminite swordsmen from the other cities on that occasion was twenty-six thousand, in addition to the inhabitants of Gibeah.

¹⁶Included in this total were seven hundred picked men who were left-handed, every one of them able to sling a stone at a hair without missing.

¹⁷Meanwhile the other Israelites who, without Benjamin, mustered four hundred thousand swordsmen ready for battle,

¹⁸moved on to Bethel and consulted God. When the Israelites asked who should go first in the attack on the Benjaminites, the LORD said, "Judah shall go first."

¹⁹The next day the Israelites advanced on Gibeah with their forces.

²⁰On the day the Israelites drew up in battle array at Gibeah for the combat with Benjamin, ²¹the Benjaminites came out of the city and felled twenty-two thousand men of Israel.

²²But though the Israelite soldiers took courage and again drew up for combat in the same place as on the previous day,

²³Then the Israelites went up and wept before the LORD until evening. "Shall I again engage my brother Benjamin in battle?" they asked the LORD; and the LORD answered that they should.

²⁴when they met the Benjaminites for the second time,

²⁵once again the Benjaminites who came out of Gibeah against them felled eighteen thousand Israelites, all of them swordsmen.

²⁶So the entire Israelite army went up to Bethel, where they wept and remained fasting before the LORD until evening of that day, besides offering holocausts and peace offerings before the LORD.

²⁷When the Israelites consulted the LORD (for the ark of the covenant of God was there in those days, ²⁸and Phinehas, son of Eleazar, son of Aaron, was ministering to him in those days), and asked, "Shall I go out again to battle with Benjamin, my brother, or shall I desist?" the LORD said, "Attack! for tomorrow I will deliver him into your power."

²⁹So Israel set men in ambush around Gibeah.

³⁰The Israelites went up against the Benjaminites for the third time and formed their line of battle at Gibeah as on other occasions.

³¹The Benjaminites went out to meet them, and in the beginning they killed off about thirty of the Israelite soldiers in the open field, just as on the other occasions.

³²Therefore the Benjaminites thought, "We are defeating them as before"; not realizing that disaster was about to overtake them. The Israelites, however, had planned the flight so as to draw them away from the city onto the highways. They were drawn away from the city onto the highways, of which the one led to Bethel, the other to Gibeon.

³³And then all the men of Israel rose from their places. They re-formed their ranks at Baal-tamar, and the Israelites in ambush rushed from their place west of Gibeah, ³⁴ten thousand picked men from all Israel, and advanced against the city itself. In a fierce battle,

³⁵the LORD defeated Benjamin before Israel; and on that day the Israelites killed twenty-five thousand one hundred men of Benjamin, all of them swordsmen.

³⁶To the Benjaminites it had looked as though the enemy were defeated, for the men of Israel gave ground to Benjamin, trusting in the ambush they had set at Gibeah.

³⁷But then the men in ambush made a sudden dash into Gibeah, overran it, and put the whole city to the sword.

³⁸Now, the other Israelites had agreed with the men in ambush on a smoke signal they were to send up from the city.

³⁹And though the men of Benjamin had begun by killing off some thirty of the men of Israel, under the impression that they were defeating them as surely as in the earlier fighting, the Israelites wheeled about to resist

⁴⁰as the smoke of the signal column began to rise up from the city. It was when Benjamin looked back and saw the whole city in flames against the sky

⁴¹that the men of Israel wheeled about. Therefore the men of Benjamin were thrown into confusion, for they realized the disaster that had overtaken them.

⁴²They retreated before the men of Israel in the direction of the desert, with the fight being pressed against them. In their very midst, meanwhile, those who had been in the city were spreading destruction.

⁴³The men of Benjamin had been surrounded, and were now pursued to a point east of Gibeah, ⁴⁴while eighteen thousand of them fell, warriors to a man.

⁴⁵The rest turned and fled through the desert to the rock Rimmon. But on the highways the Israelites picked off five thousand men among them, and chasing them up to Gidom, killed another two thousand of them there.

⁴⁶Those of Benjamin who fell on that day were in all twenty-five thousand swordsmen, warriors to a man.

⁴⁷But six hundred others who turned and fled through the desert reached the rock Rimmon, where they remained for four months.

⁴⁸The men of Israel withdrew through the territory of the Benjaminites, putting to the sword the inhabitants of the cities, the livestock, and all they chanced upon. Moreover they destroyed by fire all the cities they came upon.

21 Now the men of Israel had sworn at Mizpah that none of them would give his daughter in marriage to anyone from Benjamin.

²So the people went to Bethel and remained there before God until evening, raising their voices in bitter lament.

³They said, "LORD, God of Israel, why has it come to pass in Israel that today one tribe of Israel should be lacking?"

⁴Early the next day the people built an altar there and offered holocausts and peace offerings.

⁵Then the Israelites asked, "Are there any among all the tribes of Israel who did not come up to the LORD for the assembly?" For they had taken a solemn oath that anyone who did not go up to the LORD at Mizpah should be put to death without fail.

⁶The Israelites were disconsolate over their brother Benjamin and said, "Today one of the tribes of Israel has been cut off.

⁷What can we do about wives for the survivors, since we have sworn by the LORD not to give them any of our daughters in marriage?"

⁸And when they asked whether anyone among the tribes of Israel had not come up to the LORD in Mizpah, they found that none of the men of Jabesh-gilead had come to the encampment for the assembly.

⁹A roll call of the army established that none of the inhabitants of that city were present.

¹⁰The community, therefore, sent twelve thousand warriors with orders to go to Jabesh-gilead and put those who lived there to the sword, including the women and children.

¹¹They were told to include under the ban all males and every woman who was not still a virgin.

¹²Finding among the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead four hundred young virgins, who had had no relations with men, they brought them to the camp at Shiloh in the land of Canaan.

¹³Then the whole community sent a message to the Benjaminites at the rock Rimmon, offering them peace.

¹⁴When Benjamin returned at that time, they gave them as wives the women of Jabesh-gilead whom they had spared; but these proved to be not enough for them.

¹⁵The people were still disconsolate over Benjamin because the LORD had made a breach among the tribes of Israel.

¹⁶And the elders of the community said, "What shall we do for wives for the survivors? For every woman in Benjamin has been put to death."

¹⁷They said, "Those of Benjamin who survive must have heirs, else one of the Israelite tribes will be wiped out.

¹⁸Yet we cannot give them any of our daughters in marriage, because the Israelites have sworn, 'Cursed be he who gives a woman to Benjamin!'"

¹⁹Then they thought of the yearly feast of the LORD at Shiloh, north of Bethel, east of the highway that goes up from Bethel to Shechem, and south of Lebonah.

²⁰And they instructed the Benjaminites, "Go and lie in wait in the vineyards.

²¹When you see the girls of Shiloh come out to do their dancing, leave the vineyards and each of you seize one of the girls of Shiloh for a wife, and go to the land of Benjamin.

²²When their fathers or their brothers come to complain to us, we shall say to them, 'Release them to us as a kindness, since we did not take a woman apiece in the war. Had you yourselves given them these wives, you would now be guilty.'

²³The Benjaminites did this; they carried off a wife for each of them from their raid on the dancers, and went back to their own territory, where they rebuilt and occupied the cities.

²⁴Also at that time the Israelites dispersed; each of them left for his own heritage in his own clan and tribe.

²⁵In those days there was no king in Israel; everyone did what he thought best.

Ruth

1 Once in the time of the judges there was a famine in the land; so a man from Bethlehem of Judah departed with his wife and two sons to reside on the plateau of Moab.

2The man was named Elimelech, his wife Naomi, and his sons Mahlon and Chilion; they were Ephrathites from Bethlehem of Judah. Some time after their arrival on the Moabite plateau,

4who married Moabite women, one named Orpah, the other Ruth. When they had lived there about ten years,

5both Mahlon and Chilion died also, and the woman was left with neither her two sons nor her husband.

6She then made ready to go back from the plateau of Moab because word reached her there that the LORD had visited his people and given them food.

7She and her two daughters-in-law left the place where they had been living. Then as they were on the road back to the land of Judah, 8Naomi said to her two daughters-in-law, "Go back, each of you, to your mother's house! May the LORD be kind to you as you were to the departed and to me!

9May the LORD grant each of you a husband and a home in which you will find rest." She kissed them good-bye, but they wept with loud sobs, 10and told her they would return with her to her people.

11"Go back, my daughters!" said Naomi. "Why should you come with me? Have I other sons in my womb who may become your husbands?"

12Go back, my daughters! Go, for I am too old to marry again. And even if I could offer any hopes, or if tonight I had a husband or had borne sons,

¹³would you then wait and deprive yourselves of husbands until those sons grew up? No, my daughters! my lot is too bitter for you, because the LORD has extended his hand against me."

¹⁴Again they sobbed aloud and wept; and Orpah kissed her mother-in-law good-bye, but Ruth stayed with her.

¹⁵"See now!" she said, "your sister-in-law has gone back to her people and her god. Go back after your sister-in-law!"

¹⁶But Ruth said, "Do not ask me to abandon or forsake you! for wherever you go I will go, wherever you lodge I will lodge, your people shall be my people, and your God my God.

¹⁷Wherever you die I will die, and there be buried. May the LORD do so and so to me, and more besides, if aught but death separates me from you!"

¹⁸Naomi then ceased to urge her, for she saw she was determined to go with her.

¹⁹So they went on together till they reached Bethlehem. On their arrival there, the whole city was astir over them, and the women asked, "Can this be Naomi?"

²⁰But she said to them, "Do not call me Naomi. Call me Mara, for the Almighty has made it very bitter for me.

²¹I went away with an abundance, but the LORD has brought me back destitute. Why should you call me Naomi, since the LORD has pronounced against me and the Almighty has brought evil upon me?"

²²Thus it was that Naomi returned with the Moabite daughter-in-law, Ruth, who accompanied her back from the plateau of Moab. They arrived in Bethlehem at the beginning of the barley harvest.

2 Naomi had a prominent kinsman named Boaz, of the clan of her husband Elimelech.

²Ruth the Moabite said to Naomi, "Let me go and glean ears of grain in the field of anyone who will allow me that favor." Naomi said to her, "Go, my daughter,"

³and she went. The field she entered to glean after the harvesters happened to be the section belonging to Boaz of the clan of Elimelech.

⁴Boaz himself came from Bethlehem and said to the harvesters, "The LORD be with you!" and they replied, "The LORD bless you!"

⁵Boaz asked the overseer of his harvesters, "Whose girl is this?"

⁶The overseer of the harvesters answered, "She is the Moabite girl who returned from the plateau of Moab with Naomi.

⁷She asked leave to gather the gleanings into sheaves after the harvesters; and ever since she came this morning she has remained here until now, with scarcely a moment's rest."

⁸Boaz said to Ruth, "Listen, my daughter! Do not go to glean in anyone else's field; you are not to leave here. Stay here with my women servants.

⁹Watch to see which field is to be harvested, and follow them; I have commanded the young men to do you no harm. When you are thirsty, you may go and drink from the vessels the young men have filled."

¹⁰Casting herself prostrate upon the ground, she said to him, "Why should I, a foreigner, be favored with your notice?"

¹¹Boaz answered her: "I have had a complete account of what you have done for your mother-in-law after your husband's death; you have left your father and your mother and the land of your birth, and have come to a people whom you did not know previously.

¹²May the LORD reward what you have done! May you receive a full reward from the LORD, the God of Israel, under whose wings you have come for refuge."

¹³She said, "May I prove worthy of your kindness, my lord: you have comforted me, your servant, with your consoling words; would indeed that I were a servant of yours!"

¹⁴At mealtime Boaz said to her, "Come here and have some food; dip your bread in the sauce." Then as she sat near the reapers, he handed her some roasted grain and she ate her fill and had some left over.

¹⁵She rose to glean, and Boaz instructed his servants to let her glean among the sheaves themselves without scolding her,

¹⁶and even to let drop some handfuls and leave them for her to glean without being rebuked.

¹⁷She gleaned in the field until evening, and when she beat out what she had gleaned it came to about an ephah of barley,

¹⁸which she took into the city and showed to her mother-in-law. Next she brought out and gave her what she had left over from lunch.

¹⁹So her mother-in-law said to her, "Where did you glean today? Where did you go to work? May he who took notice of you be blessed!" Then she told her mother-in-law with whom she had worked. "The man at whose place I worked today is named Boaz," she said.

²⁰"May he be blessed by the LORD, who is ever merciful to the living and to the dead," Naomi exclaimed to her daughter-in-law; and she continued, "He is a relative of ours, one of our next of kin."

²¹"He even told me," added Ruth the Moabite, "that I should stay with his servants until they complete his entire harvest."

²²"You would do well, my dear," Naomi rejoined, "to go out with his servants; for in someone else's field you might be insulted."

²³So she stayed gleaning with the servants of Boaz until the end of the barley and wheat harvests.

3When she was back with her mother-in-law, Naomi said to her, "My daughter, I must seek a home for you that will please you.

²Now is not Boaz, with whose servants you were, a relative of ours? This evening he will be winnowing barley at the threshing floor.

³So bathe and anoint yourself; then put on your best attire and go down to the threshing floor. Do not make yourself known to the man before he has finished eating and drinking.

⁴But when he lies down, take note of the place where he does so. Then go, uncover a place at his feet, and lie down. He will tell you what to do."

⁵"I will do whatever you advise," Ruth replied.

⁶So she went down to the threshing floor and did just as her mother-in-law had instructed her.

⁷Boaz ate and drank to his heart's content. Then when he went and lay down at the edge of the sheaves, she stole up, uncovered a place at his feet, and lay down.

⁸In the middle of the night, however, the man gave a start and turned around to find a woman lying at his feet.

⁹He asked, "Who are you?" And she replied, "I am your servant Ruth. Spread the corner of your cloak over me, for you are my next of kin."

¹⁰He said, "May the LORD bless you, my daughter! You have been even more loyal now than before in not going after the young men, whether poor or rich.

¹¹So be assured, daughter, I will do for you whatever you say; all my townspeople know you for a worthy woman.

¹²Now, though indeed I am closely related to you, you have another relative still closer.

¹³Stay as you are for tonight, and tomorrow, if he wishes to claim you, good! let him do so. But if he does not wish to claim you, as the LORD lives, I will claim you myself. Lie there until morning."

¹⁴So she lay at his feet until morning, but rose before men could recognize one another. Boaz said, "Let it not be known that this woman came to the threshing floor."

¹⁵Then he said to her, "Take off your cloak and hold it out." When she did so, he poured out six measures of barley, helped her lift the bundle, and left for the city.

¹⁶Ruth went home to her mother-in-law, who asked, "How have you fared, my daughter?" So she told her all the man had done for her,

¹⁷and concluded, "He gave me these six measures of barley because he did not wish me to come back to my mother-in-law emptyhanded!"

¹⁸Naomi then said, "Wait here, my daughter, until you learn what happens, for the man will not rest, but will settle the matter today."

4Boaz went and took a seat at the gate; and when he saw the closer relative of whom he had spoken come along, he called to him by name, "Come and sit beside me!" And he did so.

²Then Boaz picked out ten of the elders of the city and asked them to sit nearby. When they had done this,

³he said to the near relative: "Naomi, who has come back from the Moabite plateau, is putting up for sale the piece of land that belonged to our kinsman Elimelech.

⁴So I thought I would inform you, bidding you before those here present, including the elders of my people, to put in your claim for it if you wish to acquire it as next of kin. But if you do not wish to claim it, tell me so, that I may be guided accordingly, for no one has a prior claim to yours, and mine is next." He answered, "I will put in my claim."

⁵Boaz continued, "Once you acquire the field from Naomi, you must take also Ruth the Moabite, the widow of the late heir, and raise up a family for the departed on his estate."

⁶The near relative replied, "I cannot exercise my claim lest I depreciate my own estate. Put in a claim yourself in my stead, for I cannot exercise my claim."

⁷Now it used to be the custom in Israel that, to make binding a contract of redemption or exchange, one party would take off his sandal and give it to the other. This was the form of attestation in Israel.

⁸So the near relative, in saying to Boaz, "Acquire it for yourself," drew off his sandal.

⁹Boaz then said to the elders and to all the people, "You are witnesses today that I have acquired from Naomi all the holdings of Elimelech, Chilion and Mahlon.

¹⁰I also take Ruth the Moabite, the widow of Mahlon, as my wife, in order to raise up a family for her late husband on his estate, so that the name of the departed may not perish among his kinsmen and fellow citizens. Do you witness this today?"

¹¹All those at the gate, including the elders, said, "We do so. May the LORD make this wife come into your house like Rachel and Leah, who between them built up the house of Israel. May you do well in Ephrathah and win fame in Bethlehem.

¹²With the offspring the LORD will give you from this girl, may your house become like the house of Perez, whom Tamar bore to Judah."

¹³Boaz took Ruth. When they came together as man and wife, the LORD enabled her to conceive and she bore a son.

¹⁴Then the women said to Naomi, "Blessed is the LORD who has not failed to provide you today with an heir! May he become famous in Israel!"

¹⁵He will be your comfort and the support of your old age, for his mother is the daughter-in-law who loves you. She is worth more to you than seven sons!"

¹⁶Naomi took the child, placed him on her lap, and became his nurse.

¹⁷And the neighbor women gave him his name, at the news that a grandson had been born to Naomi. They called him Obed. He was the father of Jesse, the father of David.

¹⁸These are the descendants of Perez: Perez was the father of Hezron,

¹⁹Hezron was the father of Ram, Ram was the father of Amminadab,

²⁰Amminadab was the father of Nahshon, Nahshon was the father of Salmon,

²¹Salmon was the father of Boaz, Boaz was the father of Obed, ²²Obed was the father of Jesse, and Jesse became the father of David.

1st Samuel

1 There was a certain man from Rama-thaim, Elkanah by name, a Zuphite from the hill country of Ephraim. He was the son of Jeroham, son of Elihu, son of Tohu, son of Zuph, an Ephraimite.

2 He had two wives, one named Hannah, the other Peninnah; Peninnah had children, but Hannah was childless.

3 This man regularly went on pilgrimage from his city to worship the LORD of hosts and to sacrifice to him at Shiloh, where the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were ministering as priests of the LORD.

4 When the day came for Elkanah to offer sacrifice, he used to give a portion each to his wife Peninnah and to all her sons and daughters,

5 but a double portion to Hannah because he loved her, though the LORD had made her barren.

6 Her rival, to upset her, turned it into a constant reproach to her that the LORD had left her barren.

7 This went on year after year; each time they made their pilgrimage to the sanctuary of the LORD, Peninnah would approach her, and Hannah would weep and refuse to eat.

8 Her husband Elkanah used to ask her: "Hannah, why do you weep, and why do you refuse to eat? Why do you grieve? Am I not more to you than ten sons?"

9 Hannah rose after one such meal at Shiloh, and presented herself before the LORD; at the time, Eli the priest was sitting on a chair near the doorpost of the LORD'S temple.

10 In her bitterness she prayed to the LORD, weeping copiously,

11 and she made a vow, promising: "O LORD of hosts, if you look with pity on the misery of your handmaid, if you remember me and do not forget me, if you give your handmaid a male child, I will give him to the LORD for as long as he lives; neither wine nor liquor shall he drink, and no razor shall ever touch his head."

¹³for Hannah was praying silently; though her lips were moving, her voice could not be heard. Eli, thinking her drunk,

¹⁴said to her, "How long will you make a drunken show of yourself? Sober up from your wine!"

¹⁵"It isn't that, my lord," Hannah answered. "I am an unhappy woman. I have had neither wine nor liquor; I was only pouring out my troubles to the LORD.

¹⁶Do not think your handmaid a ne'er-do-well; my prayer has been prompted by my deep sorrow and misery."

¹⁷Eli said, "Go in peace, and may the God of Israel grant you what you have asked of him."

¹⁸She replied, "Think kindly of your maidservant," and left. She went to her quarters, ate and drank with her husband, and no longer appeared downcast.

¹⁹Early the next morning they worshiped before the LORD, and then returned to their home in Ramah. When Elkanah had relations with his wife Hannah, the LORD remembered her.

²⁰She conceived, and at the end of her term bore a son whom she called Samuel, since she had asked the LORD for him.

²¹The next time her husband Elkanah was going up with the rest of his household to offer the customary sacrifice to the LORD and to fulfill his vows,

²²Hannah did not go, explaining to her husband, "Once the child is weaned, I will take him to appear before the LORD and to remain there forever; I will offer him as a perpetual nazirite."

²³Her husband Elkanah answered her: "Do what you think best; wait until you have weaned him. Only, may the LORD bring your resolve to fulfillment!" And so she remained at home and nursed her son until she had weaned him.

²⁴Once he was weaned, she brought him up with her, along with a three-year-old bull, an ephah of flour, and a skin of wine, and presented him at the temple of the LORD in Shiloh.

²⁵After the boy's father had sacrificed the young bull, Hannah, his mother, approached Eli

²⁶and said: "Pardon, my lord! As you live my lord, I am the woman who stood near you here, praying to the LORD.

²⁷I prayed for this child, and the LORD granted my request.

²⁸Now I, in turn, give him to the LORD; as long as he lives, he shall be dedicated to the LORD." She left him there;

2and as she worshiped the LORD, she said:

"My heart exults in the LORD,
my horn is exalted in my God.
I have swallowed up my enemies;
I rejoice in my victory.

²There is no Holy One like the LORD;
there is no Rock like our God.

³"Speak boastfully no longer,
nor let arrogance issue from your mouths.
For an all-knowing God is the LORD,
a God who judges deeds.

⁴The bows of the mighty are broken, while the tottering gird on strength.

⁵he well-fed hire themselves out for bread,
while the hungry batten on spoil.
The barren wife bears seven sons, while the mother of many languishes.

⁶"The LORD puts to death and gives life;
he casts down to the nether world; he raises up again.

⁷The LORD makes poor and makes rich,
he humbles, he also exalts.

⁸He raises the needy from the dust;
from the ash heap he lifts up the poor,
To seat them with nobles

and make a glorious throne their heritage.
He gives to the vower his vow,
and blesses the sleep of the just.
"For the pillars of the earth are the LORD'S, and he has set the world upon them.

⁹He will guard the footsteps of his faithful ones,
but the wicked shall perish in the darkness.
For not by strength does man prevail;

¹⁰the LORD'S foes shall be shattered.
The Most High in heaven thunders;
The LORD judges the ends of the earth,
Now may he give strength to his king, and exalt the horn of his anointed!"

¹¹When Elkanah returned home to Ramah, the child remained in the service of the LORD under the priest Eli.

¹²Now the sons of Eli were wicked; they had respect neither for the LORD

¹³nor for the priests' duties toward the people. When someone offered a sacrifice, the priest's servant would come with a three-pronged fork, while the meat was still boiling,

¹⁴and would thrust it into the basin, kettle, caldron, or pot. Whatever the fork brought up, the priest would keep. That is how all the Israelites were treated who came to the sanctuary at Shiloh.

¹⁵In fact, even before the fat was burned, the priest's servant would come and say to the man offering the sacrifice, "Give me some meat to roast for the priest. He will not accept boiled meat from you, only raw meat."

¹⁶And if the man protested to him, "Let the fat be burned first as is the custom, then take whatever you wish," he would reply, "No, give it to me now, or else I will take it by force."

¹⁷Thus the young men sinned grievously in the presence of the LORD; they treated the offerings to the LORD with disdain.

¹⁸Meanwhile the boy Samuel, girl with a linen apron, was serving in the presence of the LORD.

¹⁹His mother used to make a little garment for him, which she would bring him each time she went up with her husband to offer the customary sacrifice.

²⁰And Eli would bless Elkanah and his wife, as they were leaving for home. He would say, "May the LORD repay you with children from this woman for the gift she has made to the LORD!"

²¹The LORD favored Hannah so that she conceived and gave birth to three more sons and two daughters, while young Samuel grew up in the service of the LORD.

²²When Eli was very old, he heard repeatedly how his sons were treating all Israel (and that they were having relations with the women serving at the entry of the meeting tent).

²³So he said to them: "Why are you doing such things?"

²⁴No, my sons, you must not do these things! It is not a good report that I hear the people of the LORD spreading about you.

²⁵If a man sins against another man, one can intercede for him with the LORD; but if a man sins against the LORD, who can intercede for him?" But they disregarded their father's warning, since the LORD had decided on their death.

²⁶Meanwhile, young Samuel was growing in stature and in worth in the estimation of the LORD and of men.

²⁷A man of God came to Eli and said to him: "This is what the LORD says: 'I went so far as to reveal myself to your father's family when they were in Egypt as slaves to the house of Pharaoh.

²⁸I chose them out of all the tribes of Israel to be my priests, to go up to my altar, to burn incense, and to wear the ephod before me; and I assigned all the oblations of the Israelites to your father's family.

²⁹Why do you keep a greedy eye on my sacrifices and on the offerings which I have prescribed? And why do you honor your sons in preference to me, fattening yourselves with the choicest part of every offering of my people Israel?'

³⁰This, therefore, is the oracle of the LORD, the God of Israel: 'I said in the past that your family and your father's family should minister in my presence forever. But now,' the LORD declares, 'away with this! for I will honor those who honor me, but those who spurn me shall be accursed.

³¹Yes, the time is coming when I will break your strength and the strength of your father's family, so that no man in your family shall reach old age.

³²You shall witness as a disappointed rival all the benefits enjoyed by Israel, but there shall never be an old man in your family.

³³I will permit some of your family to remain at my altar, to wear out their eyes in consuming greed; but the rest of the men of your family shall die by the sword.

³⁴You shall have a sign in what will happen to your two sons, Hophni and Phinehas: both shall die on the same day.

³⁵I will choose a faithful priest who shall do what I have in heart and mind. I will establish a lasting house for him which shall function in the presence of my anointed forever.

³⁶Then whoever is left of your family will come to grovel before him for a piece of silver or a loaf of bread, and will say: Appoint me, I beg you, to a priestly function, that I may have a morsel of bread to eat."

3 During the time young Samuel was minister to the LORD under Eli, a revelation of the LORD was uncommon and vision infrequent.

²One day Eli was asleep in his usual place. His eyes had lately grown so weak that he could not see.

³The lamp of God was not yet extinguished, and Samuel was sleeping in the temple of the LORD where the ark of God was.

⁴The LORD called to Samuel, who answered, "Here I am."

⁵He ran to Eli and said, "Here I am. You called me." "I did not call you," Eli said. "Go back to sleep." So he went back to sleep.

⁶Again the LORD called Samuel, who rose and went to Eli. "Here I am," he said. "You called me." But he answered, "I did not call you, my son. Go back to sleep."

⁷At that time Samuel was not familiar with the LORD, because the LORD had not revealed anything to him as yet.

⁸The LORD called Samuel again, for the third time. Getting up and going to Eli, he said, "Here I am. You called me." Then Eli understood that the LORD was calling the youth.

⁹So he said to Samuel, "Go to sleep, and if you are called, reply, 'Speak, LORD, for your servant is listening.'" When Samuel went to sleep in his place,

¹⁰the LORD came and revealed his presence, calling out as before, "Samuel, Samuel!" Samuel answered, "Speak, for your servant is listening."

¹¹The LORD said to Samuel: "I am about to do something in Israel that will cause the ears of everyone who hears it to ring.

¹²On that day I will carry out in full against Eli everything I threatened against his family.

¹³I announce to him that I am condemning his family once and for all, because of this crime: though he knew his sons were blaspheming God, he did not reprove them.

¹⁴Therefore, I swear to the family of Eli that no sacrifice or offering will ever expiate its crime."

¹⁵Samuel then slept until morning, when he got up early and opened the doors of the temple of the LORD. He feared to tell Eli the vision,

¹⁶but Eli called to him, "Samuel, my son!" He replied, "Here I am."

¹⁷Then Eli asked, "What did he say to you? Hide nothing from me! May God do thus and so to you if you hide a single thing he told you."

¹⁸So Samuel told him everything, and held nothing back. Eli answered, "He is the LORD. He will do what he judges best."

¹⁹Samuel grew up, and the LORD was with him, not permitting any word of his to be without effect.

²⁰Thus all Israel from Dan to Beer-sheba came to know that Samuel was an accredited prophet of the LORD.

²¹The LORD continued to appear at Shiloh; he manifested himself to Samuel at Shiloh through his word,

4 and Samuel spoke to all Israel.

At that time, the Philistines gathered for an attack on Israel. Israel went out to engage them in battle and camped at Ebenezer, while the Philistines camped at Aphek.

²The Philistines then drew up in battle formation against Israel. After a fierce struggle Israel was defeated by the Philistines, who slew about four thousand men on the battlefield.

³When the troops retired to the camp, the elders of Israel said, "Why has the LORD permitted us to be defeated today by the Philistines? Let us fetch the ark of the LORD from Shiloh that it may go into battle among us and save us from the grasp of our enemies."

⁴So the people sent to Shiloh and brought from there the ark of the LORD of hosts, who is enthroned upon the cherubim. The two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were with the ark of God.

⁵When the ark of the LORD arrived in the camp, all Israel shouted so loudly that the earth resounded.

⁶The Philistines, hearing the noise of shouting, asked, "What can this loud shouting in the camp of the Hebrews mean?" On learning that the ark of the LORD had come into the camp, ⁷the Philistines were frightened. They said, "Gods have come to their camp." They said also, "Woe to us! This has never happened before.

⁸Woe to us! Who can deliver us from the power of these mighty gods? These are the gods that struck the Egyptians with various plagues and with pestilence.

⁹Take courage and be manly, Philistines; otherwise you will become slaves to the Hebrews, as they were your slaves. So fight manfully!"

¹⁰The Philistines fought and Israel was defeated; every man fled to his own tent. It was a disastrous defeat, in which Israel lost thirty thousand foot soldiers.

¹¹The ark of God was captured, and Eli's two sons, Hophni and Phinehas, were among the dead.

¹²A Benjaminite fled from the battlefield and reached Shiloh that same day, with his clothes torn and his head covered with dirt.

¹³When he arrived, Eli was sitting in his chair beside the gate, watching the road, for he was troubled at heart about the ark of God. The man, however, went into the city to divulge his news, which put the whole city in an uproar.

¹⁴Hearing the outcry of the men standing near him, Eli inquired, "What does this commotion mean?"

¹⁵(Eli was ninety-eight years old, and his eyes would not focus, so that he could not see.)

¹⁶The man quickly came up to Eli and said, "It is I who have come from the battlefield; I fled from there today." He asked, "What happened, my son?"

¹⁷And the messenger answered: "Israel fled from the Philistines; in fact, the troops suffered heavy losses. Your two sons, Hophni and Phinehas, are among the dead, and the ark of God has been captured."

¹⁸At this mention of the ark of God, Eli fell backward from his chair into the gateway; since he was an old man and heavy, he died of a broken neck. He had judged Israel for forty years.

¹⁹His daughter-in-law, the wife of Phinehas, was with child and at the point of giving birth. When she heard the news concerning the capture of the ark and the deaths of her father-in-law and her husband, she was seized with the pangs of labor, and gave birth.

²⁰She was about to die when the women standing around her said to her, "Never fear! You have given birth to a son." Yet she neither answered nor paid any attention.

²¹(She named the child Ichabod, saying, "Gone is the glory from Israel," with reference to the capture of the ark of God and to her father-in-law and her husband.)

²²She said, "Gone is the glory from Israel," because the ark of God had been captured.

5The Philistines, having captured the ark of God, transferred it from Ebenezer to Ashdod.

²They then took the ark of God and brought it into the temple of Dagon, placing it beside Dagon.

³When the people of Ashdod rose early the next morning, Dagon was lying prone on the ground before the ark of the LORD. So they picked Dagon up and replaced him.

⁴But the next morning early, when they arose, Dagon lay prone on the ground before the ark of the LORD, his head and hands broken off and lying on the threshold, his trunk alone intact.

⁵For this reason, neither the priests of Dagon nor any others who enter the temple of Dagon tread on the threshold of Dagon in Ashdod to this very day; they always step over it.

⁶Now the LORD dealt severely with the people of Ashdod. He ravaged and afflicted the city and its vicinity with hemorrhoids; he brought upon the city a great and deadly plague of mice that swarmed in their ships and overran their fields.

⁷On seeing how matters stood, the men of Ashdod decided, "The ark of the God of Israel must not remain with us, for he is handling us and our god Dagon severely."

⁸So they summoned all the Philistine lords and inquired of them, "What shall we do with the ark of the God of Israel?" The men of Gath replied, "Let them move the ark of the God of Israel on to us."

⁹So they moved the ark of the God of Israel to Gath! But after it had been brought there, the LORD threw the city into utter turmoil: he afflicted its inhabitants, young and old, and hemorrhoids broke out on them.

¹⁰The ark of God was next sent to Ekron; but as it entered that city, the people there cried out, "Why have they brought the ark of the God of Israel here to kill us and our kindred?"

¹¹Then they, too, sent a summons to all the Philistine lords and pleaded: "Send away the ark of the God of Israel. Let it return to its own place, that it may not kill us and our kindred." A deadly panic had seized the whole city, since the hand of God had been very heavy upon it.

¹²Those who escaped death were afflicted with hemorrhoids, and the outcry from the city went up to the heavens.

6The ark of the LORD had been in the land of the Philistines seven months

²when they summoned priests and fortune-tellers to ask, "What shall we do with the ark of the LORD? Tell us what we should send back with it."

³They replied: "If you intend to send away the ark of the God of Israel, you must not send it alone, but must, by all means, make amends to him through a guilt offering. Then you will be healed, and will learn why he continues to afflict you."

⁴When asked further, "What guilt offering should be our amends to him?", they replied: "Five golden hemorrhoids and five golden mice to correspond to the number of Philistine lords, since the same plague has struck all of you and your lords."

⁵Therefore, make images of the hemorrhoids and of the mice that are infesting your land and give them as a tribute to the God of Israel. Perhaps then he will cease to afflict you, your gods, and your land.

⁶Why should you become stubborn, as the Egyptians and Pharaoh were stubborn? Was it not after he had dealt ruthlessly with them that the Israelites were released and departed?

⁷So now set to work and make a new cart. Then take two milch cows that have not borne the yoke; hitch them to the cart, but drive their calves indoors away from them.

⁸You shall next take the ark of the LORD and place it on the cart, putting in a box beside it the golden articles that you are offering, as amends for your guilt. Start it on its way, and let it go.

⁹Then watch! If it goes to Beth-shemesh along the route to his own territory, he has brought this great calamity upon us; if not, we will know it was not he who struck us, but that an accident happened to us."

¹⁰They acted upon this advice. Taking two milch cows, they hitched them to the cart but shut up their calves indoors.

¹¹Then they placed the ark of the LORD on the cart, along with the box containing the golden mice and the images of the hemorrhoids.

¹³The people of Beth-shemesh were harvesting the wheat in the valley. When they looked up and spied the ark, they greeted it with rejoicing.

¹⁴The cart came to the field of Joshua the Beth-shemite and stopped there. At a large stone in the field, the wood of the cart was split up and the cows were offered as a holocaust to the LORD.

¹⁵The Levites, meanwhile, had taken down the ark of God and the box beside it, in which the golden articles were, and had placed them on the great stone. The men of Beth-shemesh also offered other holocausts and sacrifices to the LORD that day.

¹⁶After witnessing this, the five Philistine lords returned to Ekron the same day.

¹⁷The golden hemorrhoids the Philistines sent back as a guilt offering to the LORD were as follows: one for Ashdod, one for Gaza, one for Ashkelon, one for Gath, and one for Ekron.

¹⁸The golden mice, however, corresponded to the number of all the cities of the Philistines belonging to the five lords, including fortified cities and open villages. The large stone on which the ark of the LORD was placed is still in the field of Joshua the Beth-shemite at the present time.

¹⁹The descendants of Jeconiah did not join in the celebration with the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh when they greeted the ark of the LORD, and seventy of them were struck down. The people went into mourning at this great calamity with which the LORD had afflicted them.

²⁰The men of Beth-shemesh asked, "Who can stand in the presence of this Holy One? To whom shall he go from us?"

²¹They then sent messengers to the inhabitants of Kiriath-jearim, saying, "The Philistines have returned the ark of the LORD; come down and get it."

7 So the inhabitants of Kiriath-jearim came for the ark of the LORD and brought it into the house of Abinadab on the hill, appointing his son Eleazar as guardian of the ark of the LORD.

²From the day the ark came to rest in Kiriath-jearim a long time—twenty years—elapsed, and the whole Israelite population turned to the LORD.

³Samuel said to them: "If you wish with your whole heart to return to the LORD, put away your foreign gods and your Ashtaroth, devote yourselves to the LORD, and worship him alone. Then he will deliver you from the power of the Philistines."

⁴So the Israelites put away their Baals and Ashtaroth, and worshiped the LORD alone.

- ⁵Samuel then gave orders, "Gather all Israel to Mizpah, that I may pray to the LORD for you."
- ⁶When they were gathered at Mizpah, they drew water and poured it out on the ground before the LORD, and they fasted that day, confessing, "We have sinned against the LORD." It was at Mizpah that Samuel began to judge the Israelites.
- ⁷When the Philistines heard that the Israelites had gathered at Mizpah, their lords went up against Israel. Hearing this, the Israelites became afraid of the Philistines
- ⁸and said to Samuel, "Implore the LORD our God unceasingly for us, to save us from the clutches of the Philistines."
- ⁹Samuel therefore took an unweaned lamb and offered it entire as a holocaust to the LORD. He implored the LORD for Israel, and the LORD heard him.
- ¹⁰While Samuel was offering the holocaust, the Philistines advanced to join battle with Israel. That day, however, the LORD thundered loudly against the Philistines, and threw them into such confusion that they were defeated by Israel.
- ¹¹Thereupon the Israelites sallied forth from Mizpah and pursued the Philistines, harrying them down beyond Beth-car.
- ¹²Samuel then took a stone and placed it between Mizpah and Jeshanah; he named it Ebenezer, explaining, "To this point the LORD helped us."
- ¹³Thus were the Philistines subdued, never again to enter the territory of Israel, for the LORD was severe with them as long as Samuel lived.
- ¹⁴The cities from Ekron to Gath which the Philistines had taken from Israel were restored to them. Israel also freed the territory of these cities from the dominion of the Philistines. Moreover there was peace between Israel and the Amorites.
- ¹⁵Samuel judged Israel as long as he lived.
- ¹⁶He made a yearly journey, passing through Bethel, Gilgal and Mizpah and judging Israel at each of these sanctuaries.
- ¹⁷Then he used to return to Ramah, for that was his home. There, too, he judged Israel and built an altar to the LORD.

8 In his old age Samuel appointed his sons judges over Israel.

² His first-born was named Joel, his second son, Abijah; they judged at Beer-sheba.

³ His sons did not follow his example but sought illicit gain and accepted bribes, perverting justice.

⁴ Therefore all the elders of Israel came in a body to Samuel at Ramah

⁵ and said to him, "Now that you are old, and your sons do not follow your example, appoint a king over us, as other nations have, to judge us."

⁶ Samuel was displeased when they asked for a king to judge them. He prayed to the LORD, however,

⁷ who said in answer: "Grant the people's every request. It is not you they reject, they are rejecting me as their king.

⁸ As they have treated me constantly from the day I brought them up from Egypt to this day, deserting me and worshiping strange gods, so do they treat you too.

⁹ Now grant their request; but at the same time, warn them solemnly and inform them of the rights of the king who will rule them."

¹⁰ Samuel delivered the message of the LORD in full to those who were asking him for a king.

¹¹ He told them: "The rights of the king who will rule you will be as follows: He will take your sons and assign them to his chariots and horses, and they will run before his chariot.

¹² He will also appoint from among them his commanders of groups of a thousand and of a hundred soldiers. He will set them to do his plowing and his harvesting, and to make his implements of war and the equipment of his chariots.

¹³ He will use your daughters as ointment-makers, as cooks, and as bakers.

¹⁴ He will take the best of your fields, vineyards, and olive groves, and give them to his officials.

¹⁵He will tithe your crops and your vineyards, and give the revenue to his eunuchs and his slaves.

¹⁶He will take your male and female servants, as well as your best oxen and your asses, and use them to do his work.

¹⁷He will tithe your flocks and you yourselves will become his slaves.

¹⁸When this takes place, you will complain against the king whom you have chosen, but on that day the LORD will not answer you."

¹⁹The people, however, refused to listen to Samuel's warning and said, "Not so! There must be a king over us.

²⁰We too must be like other nations, with a king to rule us and to lead us in warfare and fight our battles."

²¹When Samuel had listened to all the people had to say, he repeated it to the LORD,

²²who then said to him, "Grant their request and appoint a king to rule them." Samuel thereupon said to the men of Israel, "Each of you go to his own city."

9 There was a stalwart man from Benjamin named Kish, who was the son of Abiel, son of Zeror, son of Becorath, son of Aphiah, a Benjaminite.

²He had a son named Saul, who was a handsome young man. There was no other Israelite handsomer than Saul; he stood head and shoulders above the people.

³Now the asses of Saul's father, Kish, had wandered off. Kish said to his son Saul, "Take one of the servants with you and go out and hunt for the asses."

⁴Accordingly they went through the hill country of Ephraim, and through the land of Shalishah. Not finding them there, they continued through the land of Shaalim without success. They also went through the land of Benjamin, but they failed to find the animals.

⁵When they came to the land of Zuph, Saul said to the servant who was with him, "Come, let us turn back, lest my father forget about the asses and become anxious about us."

⁶The servant replied, "Listen! There is a man of God in this city, a man held in high esteem; all that he says is sure to come true. Let us go there now! Perhaps he can tell us how to accomplish our errand."

⁷But Saul said to his servant, "If we go, what can we offer the man? There is no bread in our bags, and we have no present to give the man of God. What have we?"

⁸Again the servant answered Saul, "I have a quarter of a silver shekel. If I give that to the man of God, he will tell us our way."

⁹(In former times in Israel, anyone who went to consult God used to say, "Come, let us go to the seer." For he who is now called prophet was formerly called seer.)

¹⁰Saul then said to his servant, "Well said! Come on, let us go!" And they went to the city where the man of God lived.

¹¹As they were going up the ascent to the city, they met some girls coming out to draw water and inquired of them, "Is the seer in town?"

¹²The girls answered, "Yes, there--straight ahead. Hurry now; just today he came to the city, because the people have a sacrifice today on the high place.

¹³When you enter the city, you may reach him before he goes up to the high place to eat. The people will not eat until he arrives; only after he blesses the sacrifice will the invited guests eat. Go up immediately, for you should find him right now."

¹⁴So they went up to the city. As they entered it, Samuel was coming toward them on his way to the high place.

¹⁵The day before Saul's arrival, the LORD had given Samuel the revelation:

¹⁶"At this time tomorrow I will send you a man from the land of Benjamin whom you are to anoint as commander of my people Israel. He shall save my people from the clutches of the Philistines, for I have witnessed their misery and accepted their cry for help."

¹⁷When Samuel caught sight of Saul, the LORD assured him, "This is the man of whom I told you; he is to govern my people."

¹⁸Saul met Samuel in the gateway and said, "Please tell me where the seer lives."

¹⁹Samuel answered Saul: "I am the seer. Go up ahead of me to the high place and eat with me today. In the morning, before dismissing you, I will tell you whatever you wish.

²⁰As for the asses you lost three days ago, do not worry about them, for they have been found. Whom does Israel desire ardently if not you and your father's family?"

²¹Saul replied: "Am I not a Benjaminite, of one of the smallest tribes of Israel, and is not my clan the least among the clans of the tribe of Benjamin? Why say such things to me?"

²²Samuel then took Saul and his servant and brought them to the room, where he placed them at the head of the guests, of whom there were about thirty.

²³He said to the cook, "Bring the portion I gave you and told you to put aside."

²⁴So the cook took up the leg and what went with it, and placed it before Saul. Samuel said: "This is a reserved portion that has been set before you. Eat, for it was kept for you until your arrival; I explained that I was inviting some guests." Thus Saul dined with Samuel that day.

²⁵When they came down from the high place into the city, a mattress was spread for Saul on the roof,

²⁶and he slept there. At daybreak Samuel called to Saul on the roof, "Get up, and I will start you on your journey." Saul rose, and he and Samuel went outside the city together.

²⁷As they were approaching the edge of the town, Samuel said to Saul, "Tell the servant to go on ahead of us, but stay here yourself for the moment, that I may give you a message from God."

10 Then, from a flask he had with him, Samuel poured oil on Saul's head; he also kissed him, saying: "The LORD anoints you commander over his heritage. You are to govern the LORD'S people Israel, and to save them from the grasp of their enemies round about. "This will be the sign for you that the LORD has anointed you commander over his heritage:

²When you leave me today, you will meet two men near Rachel's tomb at Zelzah in the territory of Benjamin, who will say to you, 'The asses you went to look for have been found. Your father is no longer worried about the asses, but is anxious about you and says, What shall I do about my son?'

³Farther on, when you arrive at the terebinth of Tabor, you will be met by three men going up to God at Bethel; one will be bringing three kids, another three loaves of bread, and the third a skin of wine.

⁴They will greet you and offer you two wave offerings of bread, which you will take from them.

⁵After that you will come to Gibeath-elohim, where there is a garrison of the Philistines. As you enter that city, you will meet a band of prophets, in a prophetic state, coming down from the high place preceded by lyres, tambourines, flutes and harps.

⁶The spirit of the LORD will rush upon you, and you will join them in their prophetic state and will be changed into another man.

⁷When you see these signs fulfilled, do whatever you judge feasible, because God is with you.

⁸Now go down ahead of me to Gilgal, for I shall come down to you, to offer holocausts and to sacrifice peace offerings. Wait seven days until I come to you; I shall then tell you what you must do."

⁹As Saul turned to leave Samuel, God gave him another heart. That very day all these signs came to pass. . . .

¹⁰When they were going from there to Gibeah, a band of prophets met him, and the spirit of God rushed upon him, so that he joined them in their prophetic state.

¹¹When all who had known him previously saw him in a prophetic state among the prophets, they said to one another, "What has happened to the son of Kish? Is Saul also among the prophets?"

¹²And someone from that district added, "And who is their father?" Thus the proverb arose, "Is Saul also among the prophets?"

¹³When he came out of the prophetic state, he went home.

¹⁴Saul's uncle inquired of him and his servant, "Where have you been?" Saul replied, "To look for the asses. When we could not find them, we went to Samuel."

¹⁵Then Saul's uncle said, "Tell me, then, what Samuel said to you."

¹⁶Saul said to his uncle, "He assured us that the asses had been found." But he mentioned nothing to him of what Samuel had said about the kingship.

¹⁷Samuel called the people together to the LORD at Mizpah

¹⁸and addressed the Israelites: "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, 'It was I who brought Israel up from Egypt and delivered you from the power of the Egyptians and from the power of all the kingdoms that oppressed you.'

¹⁹But today you have rejected your God, who delivers you from all your evils and calamities, by saying to him, 'Not so, but you must appoint a king over us.' Now, therefore, take your stand before the LORD according to tribes and families."

²⁰So Samuel had all the tribes of Israel come forward, and the tribe of Benjamin was chosen.

²¹Next he had the tribe of Benjamin come forward in clans, and the clan of Matri was chosen, and finally Saul, son of Kish, was chosen. But they looked for him in vain.

²²Again they consulted the LORD, "Has he come here?" The LORD answered, "He is hiding among the baggage."

²³They ran to bring him from there; and when he stood among the people, he was head and shoulders above all the crowd.

²⁴Samuel said to all the people, "Do you see the man whom the LORD has chosen? There is none like him among all the people!" Then all the people shouted, "Long live the king!"

²⁵Samuel next explained to the people the law of royalty and wrote it in a book, which he placed in the presence of the LORD. This done, Samuel dismissed the people, each to his own place.

²⁶Saul also went home to Gibeah, accompanied by warriors whose hearts the LORD had touched.

²⁷But certain worthless men said, "How can this fellow save us?" They despised him and brought him no present.

11 About a month later, Nahash the Ammonite went up and laid siege to Jabesh-gilead. All the men of Jabesh begged Nahash, "Make a treaty with us, and we will be your subjects."

²But Nahash the Ammonite replied, "This is my condition for a treaty with you: I must gouge out every man's right eye, that I may thus bring ignominy on all Israel."

³The elders of Jabesh said to him: "Give us seven days to send messengers throughout the territory of Israel. If no one rescues us, we will surrender to you."

⁴When the messengers arrived at Gibeah of Saul, they related the news to the people, all of whom wept aloud.

⁵Just then Saul came in from the field, behind his oxen. "Why are the people weeping?" he asked. The message of the inhabitants of Jabesh was repeated to him.

⁶As he listened to this report, the spirit of God rushed upon him and he became very angry.

⁷Taking a yoke of oxen, he cut them into pieces, which he sent throughout the territory of Israel by couriers with the message, "If anyone does not come out to follow Saul (and Samuel), the same as this will be done to his oxen!" In dread of the LORD, the people turned out to a man.

⁸When he reviewed them in Bezek, there were three hundred thousand Israelites and seventy thousand Judahites.

⁹To the messengers who had come he said, "Tell the inhabitants of Jabeshgilead that tomorrow, while the sun is hot, they will be rescued." The messengers came and reported this to the inhabitants of Jabesh, who were jubilant,

¹⁰and said to Nahash, "Tomorrow we will surrender to you, and you may do whatever you please with us."

¹¹On the appointed day, Saul arranged his troops in three companies and invaded the camp during the dawn watch. They slaughtered Ammonites until the heat of the day; by then the survivors were so scattered that no two were left together.

¹²The people then said to Samuel: "Who questioned whether Saul should rule over us? Hand over the men and we will put them to death."

¹³But Saul broke in to say, "No man is to be put to death this day, for today the LORD has saved Israel."

¹⁴Samuel said to the people, "Come, let us go to Gilgal to inaugurate the kingdom there."

¹⁵So all the people went to Gilgal, where, in the presence of the LORD, they made Saul king. They also sacrificed peace offerings there before the LORD, and Saul and all the Israelites celebrated the occasion with great joy.

12 Samuel addressed all Israel: "I have granted your request in every respect," he said. "I have set a king over you

²and now the king is your leader. As for me, I am old and gray, and have sons among you. I have lived with you from my youth to the present day.

³Here I stand! Answer me in the presence of the LORD and of his anointed. Whose ox have I taken? Whose ass have I taken? Whom have I cheated? Whom have I oppressed? From whom have I accepted a bribe and overlooked his guilt? I will make restitution to you."

⁴They replied, "You have neither cheated us, nor oppressed us, nor accepted anything from anyone."

⁵So he said to them, "The LORD is witness against you this day, and his anointed as well, that you have found nothing in my possession." "He is witness," they agreed.

⁶Continuing, Samuel said to the people: "The LORD is witness, who appointed Moses and Aaron, and who brought your fathers up from the land of Egypt.

⁷Now, therefore, take your stand, and I shall arraign you before the LORD, and shall recount for you all the acts of mercy the LORD has done for you and your fathers.

⁸When Jacob and his sons went to Egypt and the Egyptians oppressed them, your fathers appealed to the LORD, who sent Moses and Aaron to bring them out of Egypt, and he gave them this place to live in.

⁹But they forgot the LORD their God; and he allowed them to fall into the clutches of Sisera, the captain of the army of Jabin, king of Hazor, into the grasp of the Philistines, and into the grip of the king of Moab, who made war against them.

¹⁰Each time they appealed to the LORD and said, 'We have sinned in forsaking the LORD and worshiping Baals and Ashtaroth; but deliver us now from the power of our enemies, and we will worship you.'

¹¹Accordingly, the LORD sent Jerubbaal, Barak, Jephthah, and Samuel; he delivered you from the power of your enemies on every side, so that you were able to live in security.

¹²Yet, when you saw Nahash, king of the Ammonites, advancing against you, you said to me, 'Not so, but a king must rule us,' even though the LORD your God is your king.

¹³"Now you have the king you want, a king the LORD has given you.

¹⁴If you fear the LORD and worship him, if you are obedient to him and do not rebel against the LORD'S command, if both you and the king who rules you follow the LORD your God--well and good.

¹⁵But if you do not obey the LORD and if you rebel against his command, the LORD will deal severely with you and your king, and destroy you.

¹⁶Now then, stand ready to witness the great marvel the LORD is about to accomplish before your eyes.

¹⁷Are we not in the harvest time for wheat? Yet I shall call to the LORD, and he will send thunder and rain. Thus you will see and understand how greatly the LORD is displeased that you have asked for a king."

¹⁸Samuel then called to the LORD, and the LORD sent thunder and rain that day. As a result, all the people dreaded the LORD and Samuel.

¹⁹They said to Samuel, "Pray to the LORD your God for us, your servants, that we may not die for having added to all our other sins the evil of asking for a king."

²⁰"Do not fear," Samuel answered them. "It is true you have committed all this evil; still, you must not turn from the LORD, but must worship him with your whole heart.

²¹Do not turn to meaningless idols which can neither profit nor save; they are nothing.

²²For the sake of his own great name the LORD will not abandon his people, since the LORD himself chose to make you his people.

²³As for me, far be it from me to sin against the LORD by ceasing to pray for you and to teach you the good and right way.

²⁴But you must fear the LORD and worship him faithfully with your whole heart; keep in mind the great things he has done among you.

²⁵If instead you continue to do evil, both you and your king shall perish."

13(Saul was . . . years old when he became king and he reigned. . . (two) years over Israel.)

²Saul chose three thousand men of Israel, of whom two thousand remained with him in Michmash and in the hill country of Bethel, and one thousand were with Jonathan in Gibeah of Benjamin. He sent the rest of the people back to their tents.

³Now Jonathan overcame the Philistine garrison which was in Gibeah, and the Philistines got word of it. Then Saul sounded the horn throughout the land, with a proclamation, "Let the Hebrews hear!"

⁴Thus all Israel learned that Saul had overcome the garrison of the Philistines and that Israel had brought disgrace upon the Philistines; and the soldiers were called up to Saul in Gilgal.

⁵The Philistines also assembled for battle, with three thousand chariots, six thousand horsemen, and foot soldiers as numerous as the sands of the seashore. Moving up against Israel, they encamped in Michmash, east of Beth-aven.

⁶Some Israelites, aware of the danger and of the difficult situation, hid themselves in caves, in thickets, among rocks, in caverns, and in cisterns, ⁷and other Hebrews passed over the Jordan into the land of Gad and Gilead. Saul, however, held out at Gilgal, although all his followers were seized with fear.

⁸He waited seven days--the time Samuel had determined. When Samuel did not arrive at Gilgal, the men began to slip away from Saul.

⁹He then said, "Bring me the holocaust and peace offerings," and he offered up the holocaust.

¹⁰He had just finished this offering when Samuel arrived. Saul went out to greet him,

¹¹and Samuel asked him, "What have you done?" Saul replied: "When I saw that the men were slipping away from me, since you had not come by the specified time, and with the Philistines assembled at Michmash, ¹²I said to myself, 'Now the Philistines will come down against me at Gilgal, and I have not yet sought the LORD'S blessing.' So in my anxiety I offered up the holocaust."

¹³Samuel's response was: "You have been foolish! Had you kept the command the LORD your God gave you, the LORD would now establish your kingship in Israel as lasting;

¹⁴but as things are, your kingdom shall not endure. The LORD has sought out a man after his own heart and has appointed him commander of his people, because you broke the LORD'S command."

¹⁵Then Samuel set out from Gilgal and went his own way; but the rest of the people went up after Saul to meet the soldiers, going from Gilgal to Gibeah of Benjamin. Saul then numbered the soldiers he had with him, who were about six hundred.

¹⁶Saul, his son Jonathan, and the soldiers they had with them were now occupying Geba of Benjamin, and the Philistines were encamped at Michmash.

¹⁸another turned in the direction of Beth-horon; and the third took the road for Geba that overlooks the Valley of the Hyenas toward the desert.

¹⁹Not a single smith was to be found in the whole land of Israel, for the Philistines had said, "Otherwise the Hebrews will make swords or spears."

²⁰All Israel, therefore, had to go down to the Philistines to sharpen their plowshares, mattocks, axes, and sickles.

²¹The price for the plowshares and mattocks was two-thirds of a shekel, and a third of a shekel for sharpening the axes and for setting the ox-goats.

²²And so on the day of battle neither sword nor spear could be found in the possession of any of the soldiers with Saul or Jonathan. Only Saul and his son Jonathan had them.

²³An outpost of the Philistines had pushed forward to the pass of Michmash.

14One day Jonathan, son of Saul, said to his armor-bearer, "Come let us go over to the Philistine outpost on the other side." But he did not inform his father.

²(Saul's command post was under the pomegranate tree near the threshing floor on the outskirts of Geba; those with him numbered about six hundred men.

³Ahijah, son of Ahitub, brother of Ichabod, who was the son of Phinehas, son of Eli, the priest of the LORD at Shiloh, was wearing the ephod.) Nor did the soldiers know that Jonathan had gone.

⁴Flanking the ravine through which Jonathan intended to get over to the Philistine outpost there was a rocky crag on each side, one called Bozez, the other Seneh.

⁵One crag was to the north, toward Michmash, the other to the south, toward Geba.

⁶Jonathan said to his armor-bearer: "Come let us go over to that outpost of the uncircumcised. Perhaps the LORD will help us, because it is no more difficult for the LORD to grant victory through a few than through many."

⁷His armor-bearer replied, "Do whatever you are inclined to do; I will match your resolve."

⁸Jonathan continued: "We shall go over to those men and show ourselves to them.

⁹If they say to us, 'Stay there until we can come to you,' we shall stop where we are; we shall not go up to them.

¹⁰But if they say, 'Come up to us,' we shall go up, because the LORD has delivered them into our grasp. That will be our sign."

¹¹Accordingly, the two of them appeared before the outpost of the Philistines, who said, "Look, some Hebrews are coming out of the holes where they have been hiding."

¹²The men of the outpost called to Jonathan and his armor-bearer. "Come up here," they said, "and we will teach you a lesson." So Jonathan said to his armor-bearer, "Climb up after me, for the LORD has delivered them into the grasp of Israel."

¹³ Jonathan clambered up with his armor-bearer behind him; as the Philistines turned to flee him, he cut them down, and his armor-bearer followed him and finished them off.

¹⁴ In this first exploit Jonathan and his armor-bearer slew about twenty men within half a furlong.

¹⁵ Then panic spread to the army and to the countryside, and all the soldiers, including the outpost and the raiding parties, were terror-stricken. The earth also shook, so that the panic was beyond human endurance.

¹⁶ The lookouts of Saul in Geba of Benjamin saw that the enemy camp had scattered and were running about in all directions.

¹⁷ Saul said to those around him, "Count the troops and find out if any of us are missing." When they had investigated, they found Jonathan and his armor-bearer missing.

¹⁸ Saul then said to Ahijah, "Bring the ephod here." (Ahijah was wearing the ephod in front of the Israelites at that time.)

¹⁹ While Saul was speaking to the priest, the tumult in the Philistine camp kept increasing. So he said to the priest, "Withdraw your hand."

²⁰ And Saul and all his men shouted and rushed into the fight, where the Philistines, wholly confused, were thrusting swords at one another.

²¹ In addition, the Hebrews who had previously sided with the Philistines and had gone up with them to the camp, turned to join the Israelites under Saul and Jonathan.

²⁴ the whole people, about ten thousand combatants, were with Saul, and there was scattered fighting in every town in the hill country of Ephraim. And Saul swore a very rash oath that day, putting the people under this ban: "Cursed be the man who takes food before evening, before I am able to avenge myself on my enemies." So none of the people tasted food.

²⁵ Indeed, there was a honeycomb lying on the ground,

²⁶and when the soldiers came to the comb the swarm had left it; yet no one would raise a hand to his mouth from it, because the people feared the oath.

²⁷Jonathan, who had not heard that his father had put the people under oath, thrust out the end of the staff he was holding and dipped in into the honey. Then he raised it to his mouth and his eyes lit up.

²⁸At this one of the soldiers spoke up: "Your father put the people under a strict oath, saying, 'Cursed be the man who takes food this day!' As a result the people are weak."

²⁹Jonathan replied: "My father brings trouble to the land. Look how bright my eyes are from this small taste of honey I have had.

³⁰What is more, if the people had eaten freely today of their enemy's booty when they came across it, would not the slaughter of the Philistines by now have been the greater for it?"

³¹After the Philistines were routed that day from Michmash to Aijalon, the people were completely exhausted.

³²So they pounced upon the spoil and took sheep, oxen and calves, slaughtering them on the ground and eating the flesh with blood.

³³Informed that the people were sinning against the LORD by eating the flesh with blood, Saul said: "You have broken faith. Roll a large stone here for me."

³⁴He continued: "Mingle with the people and tell each of them to bring his ox or his sheep to me. Slaughter it here and then eat, but you must not sin against the LORD by eating the flesh with blood." So everyone brought to the LORD whatever ox he had seized, and they slaughtered them there;

³⁵and Saul built an altar to the LORD--this was the first time he built an altar to the LORD.

³⁶Then Saul said, "Let us go down in pursuit of the Philistines by night, to plunder among them until daybreak and to kill them all off." They replied, "Do what you think best." But the priest said, "Let us consult God."

³⁷So Saul inquired of God: "Shall I go down in pursuit of the Philistines? Will you deliver them into the power of Israel?" But he received no answer on this occasion.

³⁸Saul then said, "Come here, all officers of the army. We must investigate and find out how this sin was committed today.

³⁹As the LORD lives who has given victory to Israel, even if my son Jonathan has committed it, he shall surely die!" But none of the people answered him.

⁴⁰So he said to all Israel, "Stand on one side, and I and my son Jonathan will stand on the other." The people responded, "Do what you think best."

⁴¹And Saul said to the LORD, the God of Israel: "Why did you not answer your servant this time? If the blame for this resides in me or my son Jonathan, LORD, God of Israel, respond with Urim; but if this guilt is in your people Israel, respond with Thummim." Jonathan and Saul were designated, and the people went free.

⁴²Saul then said, "Cast lots between me and my son Jonathan." And Jonathan was designated.

⁴³Saul said to Jonathan, "Tell me what you have done." Jonathan replied, "I only tasted a little honey from the end of the staff I was holding. Am I to die for this?"

⁴⁴Saul said, "May God do thus and so to me if you do not indeed die, Jonathan!"

⁴⁵But the army said to Saul: "Is Jonathan to die, though it was he who brought Israel this great victory? This must not be! As the LORD lives, not a single hair of his head shall fall to the ground, for God was with him in what he did today!" Thus the soldiers were able to rescue Jonathan from death.

⁴⁶After that Saul gave up the pursuit of the Philistines, who returned to their own territory.

⁴⁷After taking over the kingship of Israel, Saul waged war on all their surrounding enemies--Moab, the Ammonites, Aram, Beth-rehob, the king of Zobah, and the Philistines. Wherever he turned, he was successful

⁴⁸and fought bravely. He defeated Amalek and delivered Israel from the hands of those who were plundering them.

⁴⁹The sons of Saul were Jonathan, Ishvi, and Malchishua; his two daughters were named, the elder, Merob, and the younger, Michal.

⁵⁰Saul's wife, who was named Ahinoam, was the daughter of Ahimaaz. The name of his general was Abner, son of Saul's uncle, Ner;

⁵¹Kish, Saul's father, and Ner, Abner's father, were sons of Abiel.

⁵²An unremitting war was waged against the Philistines during Saul's lifetime. When Saul saw any strong or brave man, he took him into his service.

15 Samuel said to Saul: "It was I the LORD sent to anoint you king over his people Israel. Now, therefore, listen to the message of the LORD.

²This is what the LORD of hosts has to say: 'I will punish what Amalek did to Israel when he barred his way as he was coming up from Egypt.

³Go, now, attack Amalek, and deal with him and all that he has under the ban. Do not spare him, but kill men and women, children and infants, oxen and sheep, camels and asses."

⁴Saul alerted the soldiers, and at Telaim reviewed two hundred thousand foot soldiers and ten thousand men of Judah.

⁵Saul went to the city of Amalek, and after setting an ambush in the wadi,

⁶warned the Kenites: "Come! Leave Amalek and withdraw, that I may not have to destroy you with them, for you were kind to the Israelites when they came up from Egypt." After the Kenites left, ⁷Saul routed Amalek from Havilah to the approaches of Shur, on the frontier of Egypt.

⁸He took Agag, king of Amalek, alive, but on the rest of the people he put into effect the ban of destruction by the sword.

⁹He and his troops spared Agag and the best of the fat sheep and oxen, and the lambs. They refused to carry out the doom on anything that was worthwhile, dooming only what was worthless and of no account.

¹⁰Then the LORD spoke to Samuel:

¹¹"I regret having made Saul king, for he has turned from me and has not kept my command." At this Samuel grew angry and cried out to the LORD all night.

¹²Early in the morning he went to meet Saul, but was informed that Saul had gone to Carmel, where he erected a trophy in his own honor, and that on his return he had passed on and gone down to Gilgal.

¹³When Samuel came to him, Saul greeted him: "The LORD bless you! I have kept the command of the LORD."

¹⁴But Samuel asked, "What, then, is the meaning of this bleating of sheep that comes to my ears, and the lowing of oxen that I hear?"

¹⁵Saul replied: "They were brought from Amalek. The men spared the best sheep and oxen to sacrifice to the LORD, your God; but we have carried out the ban on the rest."

¹⁶Samuel said to Saul: "Stop! Let me tell you what the LORD said to me last night." "Speak!" he replied.

¹⁷Samuel then said: "Though little in your own esteem, are you not leader of the tribes of Israel? The LORD anointed you king of Israel

¹⁸and sent you on a mission, saying, 'Go and put the sinful Amalekites under a ban of destruction. Fight against them until you have exterminated them.'

¹⁹Why then have you disobeyed the LORD? You have pounced on the spoil, thus displeasing the LORD."

²⁰Saul answered Samuel: "I did indeed obey the LORD and fulfill the mission on which the LORD sent me. I have brought back Agag, and I have destroyed Amalek under the ban.

²¹But from the spoil the men took sheep and oxen, the best of what had been banned, to sacrifice to the LORD their God in Gilgal."

²²But Samuel said: "Does the LORD so delight in holocausts and sacrifices as in obedience to the command of the LORD? Obedience is better than sacrifice, and submission than the fat of rams.

²³For a sin like divination is rebellion, and presumption is the crime of idolatry. Because you have rejected the command of the LORD, he, too, has rejected you as ruler."

²⁴Saul replied to Samuel: "I have sinned, for I have disobeyed the command of the LORD and your instructions. In my fear of the people, I did what they said.

²⁵Now forgive my sin, and return with me, that I may worship the LORD."

²⁶But Samuel said to Saul, "I will not return with you, because you rejected the command of the LORD and the LORD rejects you as king of Israel."

²⁷As Samuel turned to go, Saul seized a loose end of his mantle, and it tore off.

²⁸So Samuel said to him: "The LORD has torn the kingdom of Israel from you this day, and has given it to a neighbor of yours, who is better than you.

²⁹The Glory of Israel neither retracts nor repents, for he is not man that he should repent."

³⁰But he answered: "I have sinned, yet honor me now before the elders of my people and before Israel. Return with me that I may worship the LORD your God."

³¹And so Samuel returned with him, and Saul worshiped the LORD.

³²Afterward Samuel commanded, "Bring Agag, king of Amalek, to me." Agag came to him struggling and saying, "So it is bitter death!"

³³And Samuel said, "As your sword has made women childless, so shall your mother be childless among women." Then he cut Agag down before the LORD in Gilgal.

³⁴Samuel departed for Ramah, while Saul went up to his home in Gibeah of Saul.

³⁵Never again, as long as he lived, did Samuel see Saul. Yet he grieved over Saul, because the LORD regretted having made him king of Israel.

16The LORD said to Samuel: "How long will you grieve for Saul, whom I have rejected as king of Israel? Fill your horn with oil, and be on your way. I am sending you to Jesse of Bethlehem, for I have chosen my king from among his sons."

²But Samuel replied: "How can I go? Saul will hear of it and kill me." To this the LORD answered: "Take a heifer along and say, 'I have come to sacrifice to the LORD.'"

³Invite Jesse to the sacrifice, and I myself will tell you what to do; you are to anoint for me the one I point out to you."

⁴Samuel did as the LORD had commanded him. When he entered Bethlehem, the elders of the city came trembling to meet him and inquired, "Is your visit peaceful, O seer?"

⁵He replied: "Yes! I have come to sacrifice to the LORD. So cleanse yourselves and join me today for the banquet." He also had Jesse and his sons cleanse themselves and invited them to the sacrifice.

⁶As they came, he looked at Eliab and thought, "Surely the LORD'S anointed is here before him."

⁷But the LORD said to Samuel: "Do not judge from his appearance or from his lofty stature, because I have rejected him. Not as man sees does God see, because man sees the appearance but the LORD looks into the heart."

⁸Then Jesse called Abinadab and presented him before Samuel, who said, "The Lord has not chosen him."

⁹Next Jesse presented Shammah, but Samuel said, "The LORD has not chosen this one either."

¹⁰In the same way Jesse presented seven sons before Samuel, but Samuel said to Jesse, "The LORD has not chosen any one of these."

¹¹Then Samuel asked Jesse, "Are these all the sons you have?" Jesse replied, "There is still the youngest, who is tending the sheep." Samuel said to Jesse, "Send for him; we will not begin the sacrificial banquet until he arrives here."

¹²Jesse sent and had the young man brought to them. He was ruddy, a youth handsome to behold and making a splendid appearance. The LORD said, "There-anoint him, for this is he!"

¹³Then Samuel, with the horn of oil in hand, anointed him in the midst of his brothers; and from that day on, the spirit of the LORD rushed upon David. When Samuel took his leave, he went to Ramah.

¹⁴The spirit of the LORD had departed from Saul, and he was tormented by an evil spirit sent by the LORD.

¹⁵So the servants of Saul said to him: "Please! An evil spirit from God is tormenting you.

¹⁶If your lordship will order it, we, your servants here in attendance on you, will look for a man skilled in playing the harp. When the evil spirit from God comes over you, he will play and you will feel better."

¹⁷Saul then told his servants, "Find me a skillful harpist and bring him to me."

¹⁸A servant spoke up to say: "I have observed that one of the sons of Jesse of Bethlehem is a skillful harpist. He is also a stalwart soldier, besides being an able speaker, and handsome. Moreover, the LORD is with him."

¹⁹Accordingly, Saul dispatched messengers to ask Jesse to send him his son David, who was with the flock.

²⁰Then Jesse took five loaves of bread, a skin of wine, and a kid, and sent them to Saul by his son David.

²¹Thus David came to Saul and entered his service. Saul became very fond of him, made him his armor-bearer,

²²and sent Jesse the message, "Allow David to remain in my service, for he meets with my approval."

²³Whenever the spirit from God seized Saul, David would take the harp and play, and Saul would be relieved and feel better, for the evil spirit would leave him.

17 The Philistines rallied their forces for battle at Socoh in Judah and camped between Socoh and Azekah at Ephes-dammim.

²Saul and the Israelites also gathered and camped in the Vale of the Terebinth, drawing up their battle line to meet the Philistines.

³The Philistines were stationed on one hill and the Israelites on an opposite hill, with a valley between them.

⁴A champion named Goliath of Gath came out from the Philistine camp; he was six and a half feet tall.

⁵He had a bronze helmet on his head and wore a bronze corselet of scale armor weighing five thousand shekels,

⁶and bronze greaves, and had a bronze scimitar slung from a baldric.

⁷The shaft of his javelin was like a weaver's heddle-bar, and its iron head weighed six hundred shekels. His shield-bearer went before him.

⁸He stood and shouted to the ranks of Israel: "Why come out in battle formation? I am a Philistine, and you are Saul's servants. Choose one of your men, and have him come down to me.

⁹If he beats me in combat and kills me, we will be your vassals; but if I beat him and kill him, you shall be our vassals and serve us."

¹⁰The Philistine continued: "I defy the ranks of Israel today. Give me a man and let us fight together."

¹¹Saul and all the men of Israel, when they heard this challenge of the Philistine, were dismayed and terror-stricken.

¹²(David was the son of an Ephrathite named Jesse, who was from Bethlehem in Judah. He had eight sons, and in the days of Saul was old and well on in years.

¹³The three oldest sons of Jesse had followed Saul to war; these three sons who had gone off to war were named, the first-born Eliab, the second son Abinadab, and the third Shammah.

¹⁴David was the youngest. While the three oldest had joined Saul, ¹⁵David would go and come from Saul to tend his father's sheep at Bethlehem.

¹⁶(Meanwhile the Philistine came forward and took his stand morning and evening for forty days.

¹⁷(Now Jesse said to his son David: "Take this ephah of roasted grain and these ten loaves for your brothers, and bring them quickly to your brothers in the camp.

¹⁸Also take these ten cheeses for the field officer. Greet your brothers and bring home some token from them.

¹⁹Saul, and they, and all Israel are fighting against the Philistines in the Vale of the Terebinth."

²⁰Early the next morning, having left the flock with a shepherd, David set out on his errand, as Jesse had commanded him. He reached the barricade of the camp just as the army, on their way to the battleground, were shouting their battle cry.

²¹The Israelites and the Philistines drew up opposite each other in battle array.

²²David entrusted what he had brought to the keeper of the baggage and hastened to the battle line, where he greeted his brothers.

²³While he was talking with them, the Philistine champion, by name Goliath of Gath, came up from the ranks of the Philistines and spoke as before, and David listened.

²⁴When the Israelites saw the man, they all retreated before him, very much afraid.

²⁵The Israelites had been saying: "Do you see this man coming up? He comes up to insult Israel. If anyone should kill him, the king would give him great wealth, and his daughter as well, and would grant exemption to his father's family in Israel."

²⁶David now said to the men standing by: "What will be done for the man who kills this Philistine and frees Israel of the disgrace? Who is this uncircumcised Philistine in any case, that he should insult the armies of the living God?"

²⁷They repeated the same words to him and said, "That is how the man who kills him will be rewarded."

²⁸When Eliab, his oldest brother, heard him speaking with the men, he grew angry with David and said: "Why did you come down? With whom have you left those sheep in the desert meanwhile? I know your arrogance and your evil intent. You came down to enjoy the battle!"

²⁹David replied, "What have I done now?--I was only talking."

³⁰Yet he turned from him to another and asked the same question; and everyone gave him the same answer as before.

³¹The words that David had spoken were overheard and reported to Saul, (who sent for him.)

³²Then David spoke to Saul: "Let your majesty not lose courage. I am at your service to go and fight this Philistine."

³³But Saul answered David, "You cannot go up against this Philistine and fight with him, for you are only a youth, while he has been a warrior from his youth."

³⁴Then David told Saul: "Your servant used to tend his father's sheep, and whenever a lion or bear came to carry off a sheep from the flock,

³⁵I would go after it and attack it and rescue the prey from its mouth. If it attacked me, I would seize it by the jaw, strike it, and kill it.

³⁶Your servant has killed both a lion and a bear, and this uncircumcised Philistine will be as one of them, because he has insulted the armies of the living God."

³⁷David continued: "The LORD, who delivered me from the claws of the lion and the bear, will also keep me safe from the clutches of this Philistine." Saul answered David, "Go! the LORD will be with you."

³⁸Then Saul clothed David in his own tunic, putting a bronze helmet on his head and arming him with a coat of mail.

³⁹David also girded himself with Saul's sword over the tunic. He walked with difficulty, however, since he had never tried armor before. He said to Saul, "I cannot go in these, because I have never tried them before." So he took them off.

⁴⁰Then, staff in hand, David selected five smooth stones from the wadi and put them in the pocket of his shepherd's bag. With his sling also ready to hand, he approached the Philistine.

⁴¹With his shield-bearer marching before him, the Philistine also advanced closer and closer to David.

⁴²When he had sized David up, and seen that he was youthful, and ruddy, and handsome in appearance, he held him in contempt.

⁴³The Philistine said to David, "Am I a dog that you come against me with a staff?" Then the Philistine cursed David by his gods

⁴⁴and said to him, "Come here to me, and I will leave your flesh for the birds of the air and the beasts of the field."

⁴⁵David answered him: "You come against me with sword and spear and scimitar, but I come against you in the name of the LORD of hosts, the God of the armies of Israel that you have insulted.

⁴⁶Today the LORD shall deliver you into my hand; I will strike you down and cut off your head. This very day I will leave your corpse and the corpses of the Philistine army for the birds of the air and the beasts of the field; thus the whole land shall learn that Israel has a God.

⁴⁷All this multitude, too, shall learn that it is not by sword or spear that the LORD saves. For the battle is the LORD'S, and he shall deliver you into our hands."

⁴⁸The Philistine then moved to meet David at close quarters, while David ran quickly toward the battle line in the direction of the Philistine.

⁴⁹David put his hand into the bag and took out a stone, hurled it with the sling, and struck the Philistine on the forehead. The stone embedded itself in his brow, and he fell prostrate on the ground.

⁵⁰(Thus David overcame the Philistine with sling and stone; he struck the Philistine mortally, and did it without a sword.)

⁵¹Then David ran and stood over him; with the Philistine's own sword (which he drew from its sheath) he dispatched him and cut off his head. When they saw that their hero was dead, the Philistines took to flight.

⁵²Then the men of Israel and Judah, with loud shouts, went in pursuit of the Philistines to the approaches of Gath and to the gates of Ekron, and Philistines fell wounded along the road from Shaaraim as far as Gath and Ekron.

⁵³On their return from the pursuit of the Philistines, the Israelites looted their camp.

⁵⁴David took the head of the Philistine and brought it to Jerusalem; but he kept Goliath's armor in his own tent.

⁵⁵(When Saul saw David go out to meet the Philistine, he asked his general Abner, "Abner, whose son is that youth?" Abner replied, "As truly as your majesty is alive, I have no idea."

⁵⁶And the king said, "Find out whose son the lad is."

⁵⁷So when David returned from slaying the Philistine, Abner took him and presented him to Saul. David was still holding the Philistine's head.

⁵⁸Saul then asked him, "Whose son are you, young man?" David replied, "I am the son of your servant Jesse of Bethlehem."

18(By the time David finished speaking with Saul, Jonathan had become as fond of David as if his life depended on him; he loved him as he loved himself.

²Saul laid claim to David that day and did not allow him to return to his father's house.

³And Jonathan entered into a bond with David, because he loved him as himself.

⁴Jonathan divested himself of the mantle he was wearing and gave it to David, along with his military dress, and his sword, his bow and his belt.

⁵David then carried out successfully every mission on which Saul sent him. So Saul put him in charge of his soldiers, and this was agreeable to the whole army, even to Saul's own officers.)

⁶At the approach of Saul and David (on David's return after slaying the Philistine), women came out from each of the cities of Israel to meet King Saul, singing and dancing, with tambourines, joyful songs, and sistrums.

⁷The women played and sang: "Saul has slain his thousands, and David his ten thousands."

⁸Saul was very angry and resentful of the song, for he thought: "They give David ten thousands, but only thousands to me. All that remains for him is the kingship."

⁹(And from that day on, Saul was jealous of David.

¹⁰(The next day an evil spirit from God came over Saul, and he raged in his house. David was in attendance, playing the harp as at other times, while Saul was holding his spear.

¹¹Saul poised the spear, thinking to nail David to the wall, but twice David escaped him.)

¹²Saul then began to fear David, (because the LORD was with him, but had departed from Saul himself.)

¹³Accordingly, Saul removed him from his presence by appointing him a field officer. So David led the people on their military expeditions, ¹⁴and prospered in all his enterprises, for the LORD was with him.

¹⁵Seeing how successful he was, Saul conceived a fear of David:

¹⁶on the other hand, all Israel and Judah loved him, since he led them on their expeditions.

¹⁷(Saul said to David, "There is my older daughter, Merob, whom I will give you in marriage if you become my champion and fight the battles of the LORD." Saul had in mind, "I shall not touch him; let the Philistines strike him.")

¹⁸But David answered Saul: "Who am I? And who are my kin or my father's clan in Israel that I should become the king's son-in-law?"

¹⁹However, when it was time for Saul's daughter Merob to be given to David, she was given in marriage to Adriel the Meholathite instead.)

²⁰Now Saul's daughter Michal loved David, and it was reported to Saul, who was pleased at this,

²¹for he thought, "I will offer her to him to become a snare for him, so that the Philistines may strike him." (Thus for the second time Saul said to David, "You shall become my son-in-law today.")

²²Saul then ordered his servants to speak to David privately and to say: "The king is fond of you, and all his officers love you. You should become the king's son-in-law."

²³But when Saul's servants mentioned this to David, he said: "Do you think it easy to become the king's son-in-law? I am poor and insignificant."

²⁴When his servants reported to him the nature of David's answer,

²⁵Saul commanded them to say this to David: "The king desires no other price for the bride than the foreskins of one hundred Philistines, that he may thus take vengeance on his enemies." Saul intended in this way to bring about David's death through the Philistines.

²⁶When the servants reported this offer to David, he was pleased with the prospect of becoming the king's son-in-law. (Before the year was up,)

²⁷David made preparations and sallied forth with his men and slew two hundred Philistines. He brought back their foreskins and counted them out before the king, that he might thus become the king's son-in-law. So Saul gave him his daughter Michal in marriage.

²⁸Saul thus came to recognize that the LORD was with David; besides, his own daughter Michal loved David.

²⁹Therefore Saul feared David all the more (and was his enemy ever after).

³⁰(The Philistine chiefs continued to make forays, but each time they took the field, David was more successful against them than any other of Saul's officers, and as a result acquired great fame.)

19 Saul discussed his intention of killing David with his son Jonathan and with all his servants. But Saul's son Jonathan, who was very fond of David, ²told him: "My father Saul is trying to kill you. Therefore, please be on your guard tomorrow morning; get out of sight and remain in hiding.

³I, however, will go out and stand beside my father in the countryside where you are, and will speak to him about you. If I learn anything, I will let you know."

⁴Jonathan then spoke well of David to his father Saul, saying to him: "Let not your majesty sin against his servant David, for he has committed no offense against you, but has helped you very much by his deeds.

⁵When he took his life in his hands and slew the Philistine, and the LORD brought about a great victory for all Israel through him, you were glad to see it. Why, then, should you become guilty of shedding innocent blood by killing David without cause?"

⁶Saul heeded Jonathan's plea and swore, "As the LORD lives, he shall not be killed."

⁷So Jonathan summoned David and repeated the whole conversation to him. Jonathan then brought David to Saul, and David served him as before.

⁸When war broke out again, David went out to fight against the Philistines and inflicted a great defeat upon them, putting them to flight.

⁹Then an evil spirit from the LORD came upon Saul as he was sitting in his house with spear in hand and David was playing the harp nearby.

¹⁰Saul tried to nail David to the wall with the spear, but David eluded Saul, so that the spear struck only the wall, and David got away safe.

¹¹The same night, Saul sent messengers to David's house to guard it, that he might kill him in the morning. David's wife Michal informed him, "Unless you save yourself tonight, tomorrow you will be killed."

¹²Then Michal let David down through a window, and he made his escape in safety.

¹³Michal took the household idol and laid it in the bed, putting a net of goat's hair at its head and covering it with a spread.

¹⁴When Saul sent messengers to arrest David, she said, "He is sick."

¹⁵Saul, however, sent the messengers back to see David and commanded them, "Bring him up to me in the bed, that I may kill him."

¹⁶But when the messengers entered, they found the household idol in the bed, with the net of goat's hair at its head.

¹⁷Saul therefore asked Michal: "Why did you play this trick on me? You have helped my enemy to get away!" Michal answered Saul: "He threatened me, 'Let me go or I will kill you.'"

¹⁸Thus David got safely away; he went to Samuel in Ramah, informing him of all that Saul had done to him. Then he and Samuel went to stay in the sheds.

¹⁹When Saul was told that David was in the sheds near Ramah,

²⁰he sent messengers to arrest David. But when they saw the band of prophets, presided over by Samuel, in a prophetic frenzy, they too fell into the prophetic state.

²¹Informed of this, Saul sent other messengers, who also fell into the prophetic state. For the third time Saul sent messengers, but they too fell into the prophetic state.

²²Saul then went to Ramah himself. Arriving at the cistern of the threshing floor on the bare hilltop, he inquired, "Where are Samuel and David?", and was told, "At the sheds near Ramah."

²³As he set out from the hilltop toward the sheds, the spirit of God came upon him also, and he continued on in a prophetic condition until he reached the spot. At the sheds near Ramah

²⁴he, too, stripped himself of his garments and he, too, remained in the prophetic state in the presence of Samuel; all that day and night he lay naked. That is why they say, "Is Saul also among the prophets?"

20 David fled from the sheds near Ramah, and went to Jonathan. "What have I done?" he asked him. "What crime or what offense does your father hold against me that he seeks my life?"

²Jonathan answered him: "Heaven forbid that you should die! My father does nothing, great or small, without disclosing it to me. Why, then, should my father conceal this from me? This cannot be so!"

³But David replied: "Your father is well aware that I am favored with your friendship, so he has decided, 'Jonathan must not know of this lest he be grieved.' Nevertheless, as the LORD lives and as you live, there is but a step between me and death."

⁴Jonathan then said to David, "I will do whatever you wish."

⁵David answered: "Tomorrow is the new moon, when I should in fact dine with the king. Let me go and hide in the open country until evening.

⁶If it turns out that your father misses me, say, 'David urged me to let him go on short notice to his city Bethlehem, because his whole clan is holding its seasonal sacrifice there.'

⁷If he says, 'Very well,' your servant is safe. But if he becomes quite angry, you can be sure he has planned some harm.

⁸Do this kindness for your servant because of the LORD'S bond between us, into which you brought me: if I am guilty, kill me yourself! Why should you give me up to your father?"

⁹But Jonathan answered: "Not !! If ever I find out that my father is determined to inflict injury upon you, I will certainly let you know."

¹⁰David then asked Jonathan, "Who will tell me if your father gives you a harsh answer?"

¹¹(Jonathan replied to David, "Come, let us go out into the field." When they were out in the open country together, ¹²Jonathan said to David: "As the LORD, the God of Israel, lives, I will sound out my father about this time tomorrow. Whether he is well disposed toward David or not, I will send you the information.

¹³Should it please my father to bring any injury upon you, may the LORD do thus and so to Jonathan if I do not apprise you of it and send you on your way in peace. May the LORD be with you even as he was with my father.

¹⁴Only this: if I am still alive, may you show me the kindness of the LORD. But if I die,

¹⁵ never withdraw your kindness from my house. And when the LORD exterminates all the enemies of David from the surface of the earth,

¹⁶ the name of Jonathan must never be allowed by the family of David to die out from among you, or the LORD will make you answer for it."

¹⁷ And in his love for David, Jonathan renewed his oath to him, because he loved him as his very self.)

¹⁸ Jonathan then said to him: "Tomorrow is the new moon; and you will be missed, since your place will be vacant.

¹⁹ On the following day you will be missed all the more. Go to the spot where you hid on the other occasion and wait near the mound there.

²⁰ On the third day of the month I will shoot arrows, as though aiming at a target.

²¹ I will then send my attendant to go and recover the arrows. If in fact I say to him, 'Look, the arrow is this side of you; pick it up,' come, for you are safe. As the LORD lives, there will be nothing to fear.

²² But if I say to the boy, 'Look, the arrow is beyond you,' go, for the LORD sends you away.

²³ However, in the matter which you and I have discussed, the LORD shall be between you and me forever."

²⁴ So David hid in the open country. On the day of the new moon, when the king sat at table to dine,

²⁶ Saul, however, said nothing that day, for he thought, "He must have become unclean by accident, and not yet have been cleansed."

²⁷ On the next day, the second day of the month, David's place was vacant. Saul inquired of his son Jonathan, "Why has the son of Jesse not come to table yesterday or today?"

²⁸ Jonathan answered Saul: "David urgently asked me to let him go to his city, Bethlehem.

²⁹ 'Please let me go,' he begged, 'for we are to have a clan sacrifice in our city, and my brothers insist on my presence. Now, therefore, if you think well of me, give me leave to visit my brothers.' That is why he has not come to the king's table."

³⁰ But Saul was extremely angry with Jonathan and said to him: "Son of a rebellious woman, do I not know that, to your own shame and to the disclosure of your mother's shame, you are the companion of Jesse's son?"

³¹ Why, as long as the son of Jesse lives upon the earth, you cannot make good your claim to the kingship! So send for him, and bring him to me, for he is doomed."

³² But Jonathan asked his father Saul: "Why should he die? What has he done?"

³³ At this Saul brandished his spear to strike him, and thus Jonathan learned that his father was resolved to kill David.

³⁵ The next morning Jonathan went out into the field with a little boy for his appointment with David.

³⁶ There he said to the boy, "Run and fetch the arrow." And as the boy ran, he shot an arrow beyond him in the direction of the city.

³⁷ When the boy made for the spot where Jonathan had shot the arrow, Jonathan called after him, "The arrow is farther on!"

³⁸ Again he called to his lad, "Hurry, be quick, don't delay!" Jonathan's boy picked up the arrow and brought it to his master.

⁴⁰ Then Jonathan gave his weapons to this boy of his and said to him, "Go, take them to the city."

⁴¹ When the boy had left, David rose from beside the mound and prostrated himself on the ground three times before Jonathan in homage. They kissed each other and wept aloud together.

⁴²At length Jonathan said to David, "Go in peace, in keeping with what we two have sworn by the name of the LORD: 'The LORD shall be between you and me, and between your posterity and mine forever.'"

21 Then David departed on his way, while Jonathan went back into the city.

²David went to Ahimelech, the priest of Nob, who came trembling to meet him and asked, "Why are you alone? Is there no one with you?"

³David answered the priest: "The king gave me a commission and told me to let no one know anything about the business on which he sent me or the commission he gave me. For that reason I have arranged a meeting place with my men.

⁴Now what have you on hand? Give me five loaves, or whatever you can find."

⁵But the priest replied to David, "I have no ordinary bread on hand, only holy bread; if the men have abstained from women, you may eat some of that."

⁶David answered the priest: "We have indeed been segregated from women as on previous occasions. Whenever I go on a journey, all the young men are consecrated—even for a secular journey. All the more so today, when they are consecrated at arms!"

⁷So the priest gave him holy bread, for no other bread was on hand except the showbread which had been removed from the LORD'S presence and replaced by fresh bread when it was taken away.

⁸One of Saul's servants was there that day, detained before the LORD; his name was Doeg the Edomite, and he was Saul's chief henchman.

⁹David then asked Ahimelech: "Do you have a spear or a sword on hand? I brought along neither my sword nor my weapons, because the king's business was urgent."

¹⁰The priest replied: "The sword of Goliath the Philistine, whom you killed in the Vale of the Terebinth, is here (wrapped in a mantle) behind an ephod. If you wish to take that, take it; there is no sword here except that one." David said: "There is none to match it. Give it to me!"

¹¹That same day David took to flight from Saul, going to Achish, king of Gath.

¹²But the servants of Achish said, "Is this not David, the king of the land? During their dances do they not sing, 'Saul has slain his thousands, but David his ten thousands'?"

¹⁴So, as they watched, he feigned insanity and acted like a madman in their hands, drumming on the doors of the gate and drooling onto his beard.

¹⁵Finally Achish said to his servants: "You see the man is mad. Why did you bring him to me?"

¹⁶"Do I not have enough madmen, that you bring in this one to carry on in my presence? Should this fellow come into my house?"

22 David left Gath and escaped to the cave of Adullam. When his brothers and the rest of his family heard about it, they came down to him there.

²He was joined by all those who were in difficulties or in debt, or who were embittered, and he became their leader. About four hundred men were with him.

³From there David went to Mizpeh of Moab and said to the king of Moab, "Let my father and mother stay with you, until I learn what God will do for me."

⁴He left them with the king of Moab, and they stayed with him as long as David remained in the refuge.

⁵But the prophet Gad said to David: "Do not remain in the refuge. Leave, and go to the land of Judah." And so David left and went to the forest of Hereth.

⁶Now Saul heard that David and his men had been located. At the time he was sitting in Gibeah under a tamarisk tree on the high place, holding his spear, while all his servants were standing by.

⁷So he said to them: "Listen, men of Benjamin! Will the son of Jesse give all of you fields and vineyards? Will he make each of you an officer over a thousand or a hundred men,

⁸that you have all conspired against me and no one tells me that my son has made an agreement with the son of Jesse? None of you shows sympathy for me or discloses to me that my son has stirred up my servant to be an enemy against me, as is the case today."

⁹Then Doeg the Edomite, who was standing with the officers of Saul, spoke up: "I saw the son of Jesse come to Ahimelech, son of Ahitub, in Nob.

¹⁰He consulted the LORD for him and gave him supplies, and the sword of Goliath the Philistine as well."

¹¹At this the king sent a summons to Ahimelech the priest, son of Ahitub, and to all his family who were priests in Nob; and they all came to the king.

¹²Then Saul said, "Listen, son of Ahitub!" He replied, "Yes, my lord."

¹³Saul asked him, "Why did you conspire against me with the son of Jesse by giving him food and a sword and by consulting God for him, that he might rebel against me and become my enemy, as is the case today?"

¹⁴Ahimelech answered the king: "And who among all your servants is as loyal as David, the king's son-in-law, captain of your bodyguard, and honored in your own house?

¹⁵Is this the first time I have consulted God for him? No indeed! Let not the king accuse his servant or anyone in my family of such a thing. Your servant knows nothing at all, great or small, about the whole matter."

¹⁶But the king said, "You shall die, Ahimelech, with all your family."

¹⁷The king then commanded his henchmen standing by: "Make the rounds and kill the priests of the LORD, for they assisted David. They knew he was a fugitive and yet failed to inform me." But the king's servants refused to lift a hand to strike the priests of the LORD.

¹⁸The king therefore commanded Doeg, "You make the rounds and kill the priests!" So Doeg the Edomite went from one to the next and killed the priests himself, slaying on that day eighty-five who wore the linen ephod.

¹⁹Saul also put the priestly city of Nob to the sword, including men and women, children and infants, and oxen, asses and sheep.

²⁰One son of Ahimelech, son of Ahitub, named Abiathar, escaped and fled to David.

²¹When Abiathar told David that Saul had slain the priests of the LORD,

²²David said to him: "I knew that day, when Doeg the Edomite was there, that he would surely tell Saul. I am responsible for the death of all your family.

²³Stay with me. Fear nothing; he that seeks your life must seek my life also. You are under my protection."

23 David received information that the Philistines were attacking Keilah and plundering the threshing floors.

²So he consulted the LORD, inquiring, "Shall I go and defeat these Philistines?" The LORD answered, "Go, for you will defeat the Philistines and rescue Keilah."

³But David's men said to him: "We are afraid here in Judah. How much more so if we go to Keilah against the forces of the Philistines!"

⁴Again David consulted the LORD, who answered, "Go down to Keilah, for I will deliver the Philistines into your power."

⁵David then went with his men to Keilah and fought with the Philistines. He drove off their cattle and inflicted a severe defeat on them, and thus rescued the inhabitants of Keilah.

⁶Abiathar, son of Ahimelech, who had fled to David, went down with David to Keilah, taking the ephod with him.

⁷When Saul was told that David had entered Keilah, he said: "God has put him in my grip. Now he has shut himself in, for he has entered a city with gates and bars."

⁸Saul then called all the people to war, in order to go down to Keilah and besiege David and his men.

⁹When David found out that Saul was planning to harm him, he said to the priest Abiathar, "Bring forward the ephod."

¹⁰David then said: "O LORD God of Israel, your servant has heard a report that Saul plans to come to Keilah, to destroy the city on my account.

¹¹Will they hand me over? And now: will Saul come down as your servant has heard? O LORD God of Israel, tell your servant." The LORD answered, "He will come down."

¹²David then asked, "Will the citizens of Keilah deliver me and my men into the grasp of Saul?" And the LORD answered, "Yes."

¹³So David and his men, about six hundred in number, left Keilah and wandered from place to place. When Saul was informed that David had escaped from Keilah, he abandoned the expedition.

¹⁴David now lived in the refuges in the desert, or in the barren hill country near Ziph. Though Saul sought him continually, the LORD did not deliver David into his grasp.

¹⁵David was apprehensive because Saul had come out to seek his life; but while he was at Horesh in the barrens near Ziph, ¹⁶Saul's son, Jonathan, came down there to David and strengthened his resolve in the LORD.

¹⁷He said to him: "Have no fear, my father Saul shall not lay a hand to you. You shall be king of Israel and I shall be second to you. Even my father Saul knows this."

¹⁸They made a joint agreement before the LORD in Horesh, where David remained, while Jonathan returned to his home.

¹⁹Some of the Ziphites went up to Saul in Gibeah and said, "David is hiding among us, now in the refuges, and again at Horesh, or on the hill of Hachilah, south of the wasteland.

²⁰Therefore, whenever the king wishes to come down, let him do so. It will be our task to deliver him into the king's grasp."

²¹Saul replied: "The LORD bless you for your sympathy toward me.

²²Go now and make sure once more! Take note of the place where he sets foot" (for he thought, perhaps they are playing some trick on me).

²³"Look around and learn in which of all the various hiding places he is holding out. Then come back to me with sure information, and I will go with you. If he is in the region, I will search him out among all the families of Judah."

²⁴So they went off to Ziph ahead of Saul. At this time David and his men were in the desert below Maon, in the Arabah south of the wasteland.

²⁵When Saul and his men came looking for him, David got word of it and went down to the gorge in the desert below Maon. Saul heard of this and pursued David into the desert below Maon.

²⁶As Saul moved along one rim of the gorge, David and his men took to the other. David was in anxious flight to escape Saul, and Saul and his men were attempting to outflank David and his men in order to capture them,

²⁷when a messenger came to Saul, saying, "Come quickly, because the Philistines have invaded the land."

²⁸Saul interrupted his pursuit of David and went to meet the Philistines. This is how that place came to be called the Gorge of Divisions.

24 David then went up from there and stayed in the refuges behind Engedi.

²And when Saul returned from the pursuit of the Philistines, he was told that David was in the desert near Engedi.

³So Saul took three thousand picked men from all Israel and went in search of David and his men in the direction of the wild goat crags.

⁴When he came to the sheepfolds along the way, he found a cave, which he entered to ease nature. David and his men were occupying the inmost recesses of the cave.

⁵David's servants said to him, "This is the day of which the LORD said to you, 'I will deliver your enemy into your grasp; do with him as you see fit.'" So David moved up and stealthily cut off an end of Saul's mantle.

⁶Afterward, however, David regretted that he had cut off an end of Saul's mantle.

⁷He said to his men, "The LORD forbid that I should do such a thing to my master, the LORD'S anointed, as to lay a hand on him, for he is the Lord's anointed."

⁸With these words David restrained his men and would not permit them to attack Saul. Saul then left the cave and went on his way.

⁹David also stepped out of the cave, calling to Saul, "My lord the king!" When Saul looked back, David bowed to the ground in homage

¹⁰and asked Saul: "Why do you listen to those who say, 'David is trying to harm you'?"

¹¹You see for yourself today that the LORD just now delivered you into my grasp in the cave. I had some thought of killing you, but I took pity on you instead. I decided, 'I will not raise a hand against my lord, for he is the LORD'S anointed and a father to me.'

¹²Look here at this end of your mantle which I hold. Since I cut off an end of your mantle and did not kill you, see and be convinced that I plan no harm and no rebellion. I have done you no wrong, though you are hunting me down to take my life.

¹³The LORD will judge between me and you, and the LORD will exact justice from you in my case. I shall not touch you.

¹⁴The old proverb says, 'From the wicked comes forth wickedness.' So I will take no action against you.

¹⁵Against whom are you on campaign, O king of Israel? Whom are you pursuing? A dead dog, or a single flea!

¹⁶The LORD will be the judge; he will decide between me and you. May he see this, and take my part, and grant me justice beyond your reach!"

¹⁷When David finished saying these things to Saul, Saul answered, "Is that your voice, my son David?" And he wept aloud.

¹⁸Saul then said to David: "You are in the right rather than I; you have treated me generously, while I have done you harm.

¹⁹Great is the generosity you showed me today, when the LORD delivered me into your grasp and you did not kill me.

²⁰For if a man meets his enemy, does he send him away unharmed? May the LORD reward you generously for what you have done this day.

²¹And now, since I know that you shall surely be king and that sovereignty over Israel shall come into your possession,

²²swear to me by the LORD that you will not destroy my descendants and that you will not blot out my name and family."

²³David gave Saul his oath and Saul returned home, while David and his men went up to the refuge.

25 Samuel died, and all Israel gathered to mourn him; they buried him at his home in Ramah. Then David went down to the desert of Maon.

²There was a man of Maon who had property in Carmel; he was very wealthy, owning three thousand sheep and a thousand goats. At this time he was present for the shearing of his flock in Carmel.

³The man was named Nabal, his wife, Abigail. The woman was intelligent and attractive, but Nabal himself, a Calebite, was harsh and ungenerous in his behavior.

⁴When David heard in the desert that Nabal was shearing his flock, ⁵he sent ten young men, instructing them: "Go up to Carmel. Pay Nabal a visit and greet him in my name.

⁶Say to him, 'Peace be with you, my brother, and with your family, and with all who belong to you.

⁷I have just heard that shearers are with you. Now, when your shepherds were with us, we did them no injury, neither did they miss anything all the while they were in Carmel.

⁸Ask your servants and they will tell you so. Look kindly on these young men, since we come at a festival time. Please give your servants and your son David whatever you can manage."

⁹When David's young men arrived, they delivered this message fully to Nabal in David's name, and then waited.

¹⁰But Nabal answered the servants of David: "Who is David? Who is the son of Jesse? Nowadays there are many servants who run away from their masters.

¹¹Must I take my bread, my wine, my meat that I have slaughtered for my own shearers, and give them to men who come from I know not where?"

¹²So David's young men retraced their steps and on their return reported to him all that had been said.

¹³Thereupon David said to his men, "Let everyone gird on his sword." And so everyone, David included, girded on his sword. About four hundred men went up after David, while two hundred remained with the baggage.

¹⁴But Nabal's wife Abigail was informed of this by one of the servants, who said: "David sent messengers from the desert to greet our master, but he flew at them screaming.

¹⁵Yet these men were very good to us. We were done no injury, neither did we miss anything all the while we were living among them during our stay in the open country.

¹⁶For us they were like a rampart night and day the whole time we were pasturing the sheep near them.

¹⁷Now, see what you can do, for you must realize that otherwise evil is in store for our master and for his whole family. He is so mean that no one can talk to him."

¹⁸Abigail quickly got together two hundred loaves, two skins of wine, five dressed sheep, five seahs of roasted grain, a hundred cakes of pressed raisins, and two hundred cakes of pressed figs, and loaded them on asses.

¹⁹She then said to her servants, "Go on ahead; I will follow you." But she did not tell her husband Nabal.

²⁰As she came down through a mountain defile riding on an ass, David and his men were also coming down from the opposite direction. When she met them, ²¹David had just been saying: "Indeed, it was in vain that I guarded all this man's possessions in the desert, so that he missed nothing. He has repaid good with evil.

²²May God do thus and so to David, if by morning I leave a single male alive among all those who belong to him."

²³As soon as Abigail saw David, she dismounted quickly from the ass and, falling prostrate on the ground before David, did him homage.

²⁴As she fell at his feet she said: "My lord, let the blame be mine. Please let your handmaid speak to you, and listen to the words of your handmaid.

²⁵Let not my lord pay attention to that worthless man Nabal, for he is just like his name. Fool is his name, and he acts the fool. I, your handmaid, did not see the young men whom my lord sent.

²⁶Now, therefore, my lord, as the LORD lives, and as you live, it is the LORD who has kept you from shedding blood and from avenging yourself personally. May your enemies and those who seek to harm my lord become as Nabal!

²⁷Accept this present, then, which your maidservant has brought for my lord, and let it be given to the young men who follow my lord.

²⁸Please forgive the transgression of your handmaid, for the LORD shall certainly establish a lasting dynasty for my lord, because your lordship is fighting the battles of the LORD, and there is no evil to be found in you your whole life long.

²⁹If anyone rises to pursue you and to seek your life, may the life of my lord be bound in the bundle of the living in the care of the LORD your God; but may he hurl out the lives of your enemies as from the hollow of a sling.

³⁰And when the LORD carries out for my lord the promise of success he has made concerning you, and appoints you as commander over Israel,

³¹you shall not have this as a qualm or burden on your conscience, my lord, for having shed innocent blood or for having avenged yourself personally. When the LORD confers this benefit on your lordship, remember your handmaid."

³²David said to Abigail: "Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, who sent you to meet me today.

³³Blessed be your good judgment and blessed be you yourself, who this day have prevented me from shedding blood and from avenging myself personally.

³⁴Otherwise, as the LORD, the God of Israel, lives, who has restrained me from harming you, if you had not come so promptly to meet me, by dawn Nabal would not have had a single man or boy left alive."

³⁵David then took from her what she had brought him and said to her: "Go up to your home in peace! See, I have granted your request as a personal favor."

³⁶When Abigail came to Nabal, there was a drinking party in his house like that of a king, and Nabal was merry because he was very drunk. So she told him nothing at all before daybreak the next morning.

³⁷But then, when Nabal had become sober, his wife told him what had happened. At this his courage died within him, and he became like a stone.

³⁸About ten days later the LORD struck him and he died.

³⁹On hearing that Nabal was dead, David said: "Blessed be the LORD, who has requited the insult I received at the hand of Nabal, and who restrained his servant from doing evil, but has punished Nabal for his own evil deeds." David then sent a proposal of marriage to Abigail.

⁴⁰When David's servants came to Abigail in Carmel, they said to her, "David has sent us to you that he may take you as his wife."

⁴¹Rising and bowing to the ground, she answered, "Your handmaid would become a slave to wash the feet of my lord's servants."

⁴²She got up immediately, mounted an ass, and followed David's messengers, with her five maids following in attendance upon her. She became his wife, ⁴³and David also married Ahinoam of Jezreel. Thus both of them were his wives; but Saul gave David's wife Michal, Saul's own daughter, to Palti, son of Laish, who was from Gallim.

26

Men from Ziph came to Saul in Gibeah, reporting that David was hiding on the hill of Hachilah at the edge of the wasteland.

²So Saul went off down to the desert of Ziph with three thousand picked men of Israel, to search for David in the desert of Ziph.

³Saul camped beside the road on the hill of Hachilah, at the edge of the wasteland. David, who was living in the desert, saw that Saul had come into the desert after him

⁴and sent out scouts, who confirmed Saul's arrival.

⁵David himself then went to the place where Saul was encamped and examined the spot where Saul and Abner, son of Ner, the general, had their sleeping quarters. Saul's were within the barricade, and all his soldiers were camped around him.

⁶David asked Ahimelech the Hittite, and Abishai, son of Zeruiah and brother of Joab, "Who will go down into the camp with me to Saul?" Abishai replied, "I will."

⁷So David and Abishai went among Saul's soldiers by night and found Saul lying asleep within the barricade, with his spear thrust into the ground at his head and Abner and his men sleeping around him.

⁸Abishai whispered to David: "God has delivered your enemy into your grasp this day. Let me nail him to the ground with one thrust of the spear; I will not need a second thrust!"

⁹But David said to Abishai, "Do not harm him, for who can lay hands on the LORD'S anointed and remain unpunished?"

¹⁰As the LORD lives," David continued, "it must be the LORD himself who will strike him, whether the time comes for him to die, or he goes out and perishes in battle.

¹¹But the LORD forbid that I touch his anointed! Now take the spear which is at his head and the water jug, and let us be on our way."

¹²So David took the spear and the water jug from their place at Saul's head, and they got away without anyone's seeing or knowing or awakening. All remained asleep, because the LORD had put them into a deep slumber.

¹³Going across to an opposite slope, David stood on a remote hilltop at a great distance from Abner, son of Ner, and the troops.

¹⁴He then shouted, "Will you not answer, Abner?" And Abner answered, "Who is it that calls me?"

¹⁵David said to Abner: "Are you not a man whose like does not exist in Israel? Why, then, have you not guarded your lord the king when one of his subjects went to kill the king, your lord?"

¹⁶This is no creditable service you have performed. As the LORD lives, you people deserve death because you have not guarded your lord, the LORD'S anointed. Go, look: where are the king's spear and the water jug that was at his head?"

¹⁷Saul recognized David's voice and asked, "Is that your voice, my son David?" David answered, "Yes, my lord the king."

¹⁸He continued: "Why does my lord pursue his servant? What have I done? What evil do I plan?"

¹⁹Please, now, let my lord the king listen to the words of his servant. If the LORD has incited you against me, let an offering appease him; but if men, may they be cursed before the LORD, because they have exiled me so that this day I have no share in the LORD'S inheritance, but am told: 'Go serve other gods!'

²⁰Do not let my blood flow to the ground far from the presence of the LORD. For the king of Israel has come out to seek a single flea as if he were hunting partridge in the mountains."

²¹Then Saul said: "I have done wrong. Come back, my son David, I will not harm you again, because you have held my life precious today. Indeed, I have been a fool and have made a serious mistake."

²³The LORD will reward each man for his justice and faithfulness. Today, though the LORD delivered you into my grasp, I would not harm the LORD'S anointed.

²⁴As I valued your life highly today, so may the LORD value my life highly and deliver me from all difficulties."

²⁵Then Saul said to David: "Blessed are you, my son David! You shall certainly succeed in whatever you undertake." David went his way, and Saul returned to his home.

27 But David said to himself: "I shall perish some day at the hand of Saul. I have no choice but to escape to the land of the Philistines; then Saul will give up his continual search for me throughout the land of Israel, and I shall be out of his reach."

²Accordingly, David departed with his six hundred men and went over to Achish, son of Maach, king of Gath.

³David and his men lived in Gath with Achish; each one had his family, and David had his two wives, Ahinoam from Jezreel and Abigail, the widow of Nabal from Carmel.

⁴When Saul was told that David had fled to Gath, he no longer searched for him.

⁵David said to Achish: "If I meet with your approval, let me have a place to live in one of the country towns. Why should your servant live with you in the royal city?"

⁶That same day Achish gave him Ziklag, which has, therefore, belonged to the kings of Judah up to the present time.

⁷In all, David lived a year and four months in the country of the Philistines.

⁸David and his men went up and made raids on the Geshurites, Girzites, and Amalekites-peoples living in the land between Telam, on the approach to Shur, and the land of Egypt.

⁹In attacking the land David would not leave a man or woman alive, but would carry off sheep, oxen, asses, camels, and clothes. On his return he brought these to Achish,

¹⁰who asked, "Whom did you raid this time?" And David answered, "The Negeb of Judah," or "The Negeb of Jerahmeel," or "The Negeb of the Kenites."

¹¹But David would not leave a man or woman alive to be brought to Gath, fearing that they would betray him by saying, "This is what David did." This was his custom as long as he lived in the country of the Philistines.

¹²And Achish trusted David, thinking, "He must certainly be detested by his people Israel. I shall have him as my vassal forever."

28In those days the Philistines mustered their military forces to fight against Israel. So Achish said to David, "You realize, of course, that you and your men must go out on campaign with me to Jezreel."

²David answered Achish, "Good! Now you shall learn what your servant can do." Then Achish said to David, "I shall appoint you my permanent bodyguard."

³Now Samuel had died and, after being mourned by all Israel, was buried in his city, Ramah. Meanwhile Saul had driven mediums and fortune-tellers out of the land.

⁴The Philistine levies advanced to Shunem and encamped. Saul, too, mustered all Israel; they camped on Gilboa.

⁵When Saul saw the camp of the Philistines, he was dismayed and lost heart completely.

⁶He therefore consulted the LORD; but the LORD gave no answer, whether in dreams or by the Urim or through prophets.

⁷Then Saul said to his servants, "Find me a woman who is a medium, to whom I can go to seek counsel through her." His servants answered him, "There is a woman in Endor who is a medium."

⁸So he disguised himself, putting on other clothes, and set out with two companions. They came to the woman by night, and Saul said to her, "Tell my fortune through a ghost; conjure up for me the one I ask you to."

⁹But the woman answered him, "You are surely aware of what Saul has done, in driving the mediums and fortune-tellers out of the land. Why, then, are you laying snares for my life, to have me killed?"

¹⁰But Saul swore to her by the LORD, "As the LORD lives, you shall incur no blame for this."

¹¹Then the woman asked him, "Whom do you want me to conjure up?" and he answered, "Samuel."

¹²When the woman saw Samuel, she shrieked at the top of her voice and said to Saul, "Why have you deceived me? You are Saul!"

¹³But the king said to her, "Have no fear. What do you see?" The woman answered Saul, "I see a preternatural being rising from the earth."

¹⁴"What does he look like?" asked Saul. And she replied, "It is an old man who is rising, clothed in a mantle." Saul knew that it was Samuel, and so he bowed face to the ground in homage.

¹⁵Samuel then said to Saul, "Why do you disturb me by conjuring me up?" Saul replied: "I am in great straits, for the Philistines are waging war against me and God has abandoned me. Since he no longer answers me through prophets or in dreams, I have called you to tell me what I should do."

¹⁶To this Samuel said: "But why do you ask me, if the LORD has abandoned you and is with your neighbor?"

¹⁷The LORD has done to you what he foretold through me: he has torn the kingdom from your grasp and has given it to your neighbor David.

¹⁸"Because you disobeyed the LORD'S directive and would not carry out his fierce anger against Amalek, the LORD has done this to you today.

¹⁹Moreover, the LORD will deliver Israel, and you as well, into the clutches of the Philistines. By tomorrow you and your sons will be with me, and the LORD will have delivered the army of Israel into the hands of the Philistines."

²⁰Immediately Saul fell full length on the ground, for he was badly shaken by Samuel's message. Moreover, he had no bodily strength left, since he had eaten nothing all that day and night.

²¹Then the woman came to Saul, and seeing that he was quite terror-stricken, said to him: "Remember, your maidservant obeyed you: I took my life in my hands and fulfilled the request you made of me.

²²Now you, in turn, please listen to your maidservant. Let me set something before you to eat, so that you may have strength when you go on your way."

²³But he refused, saying, "I will not eat." However, when his servants joined the woman in urging him, he listened to their entreaties, got up from the ground, and sat on a couch.

²⁴The woman had a stall-fed calf in the house, which she now quickly slaughtered. Then taking flour, she kneaded it and baked unleavened bread.

²⁵She set the meal before Saul and his servants, and they ate. Then they stood up and left the same night.

29 Now the Philistines had mustered all their forces in Aphek, and the Israelites were encamped at the spring of Harod near Jezreel.

²As the Philistine lords were marching their groups of a hundred and a thousand, David and his men were marching in the rear guard with Achish.

³The Philistine chiefs asked, "What are those Hebrews doing here?" And Achish answered them: "Why, that is David, the officer of Saul, king of Israel. He has been with me now for a year or two, and I have no fault to find with him from the day he came over to me until the present."

⁴But the Philistine chiefs were angered at this and said to him: "Send that man back! Let him return to the place you picked out for him. He must not go down into battle with us, lest during the battle he become our enemy. For how else can he win back his master's favor, if not with the heads of these men of ours?"

⁵Is this not the David of whom they sing during their dances, 'Saul has slain his thousands, but David his ten thousands'?"

⁶So Achish summoned David and said to him: "As the LORD lives, you are honest, and I should be pleased to have you active with me in the camp, for I have found nothing wrong with you from the day of your arrival to this day. But you are not welcome to the lords.

⁷Withdraw peaceably, now, and do nothing that might displease the Philistine lords."

⁸But David said to Achish: "What have I done? Or what have you against your servant from the first day I have been with you to this day, that I cannot go to fight against the enemies of my lord the king?"

⁹"You know," Achish answered David, "that you are acceptable to me. But the Philistine chiefs have determined you are not to go up with us to battle.

¹⁰So the first thing tomorrow, you and your lord's servants who came with you, go to the place I picked out for you. Do not decide to take umbrage at this; you are as acceptable to me as an angel of God. But make an early morning start, as soon as it grows light, and be on your way."

¹¹So David and his men left early in the morning to return to the land of the Philistines. The Philistines, however, went on up to Jezreel.

30 Before David and his men reached Ziklag on the third day, the Amalekites had raided the Negeb and Ziklag, had stormed the city, and had set it on fire.

²They had taken captive the women and all who were in the city, young and old, killing no one; they had carried them off when they left.

³David and his men arrived at the city to find it burned to the ground and their wives, sons and daughters taken captive.

⁴Then David and those who were with him wept aloud until they could weep no more.

⁵David's two wives, Ahinoam of Jezreel and Abigail, the widow of Nabal from Carmel, had also been carried off with the rest.

⁶Now David found himself in great difficulty, for the men spoke of stoning him, so bitter were they over the fate of their sons and daughters. But with renewed trust in the LORD his God,

⁷David said to Abiathar, the priest, son of Ahimelech, "Bring me the ephod!" When Abiathar brought him the ephod,

⁸David inquired of the LORD, "Shall I pursue these raiders? Can I overtake them?" The LORD answered him, "Go in pursuit, for you shall surely overtake them and effect a rescue."

⁹So David went off with his six hundred men and came as far as the Wadi Besor, where those who were to remain behind halted.

¹⁰David continued the pursuit with four hundred men, but two hundred were too exhausted to cross the Wadi Besor and remained behind.

¹¹An Egyptian was found in the open country and brought to David. He was provided with food, which he ate, and given water to drink;

¹²a cake of pressed figs and two cakes of pressed raisins were also offered to him. When he had eaten, he revived; he had not taken food nor drunk water for three days and three nights.

¹³Then David asked him, "To whom do you belong, and where do you come from?" He replied: "I am an Egyptian, the slave of an Amalekite. My master abandoned me because I fell sick three days ago today.

¹⁴"We raided the Negeb of the Cherethites, the territory of Judah, and the Negeb of Caleb; and we set Ziklag on fire."

¹⁵David then asked him, "Will you lead me down to this raiding party?" He answered, "Swear to me by God that you will not kill me or deliver me to my master, and I will lead you to the raiding party."

¹⁶He did lead them, and there were the Amalekites scattered all over the ground, eating, drinking, and in a festive mood because of all the rich booty they had taken from the land of the Philistines and from the land of Judah.

¹⁷From dawn to sundown David attacked them, putting them under the ban so that none escaped except four hundred young men, who mounted their camels and fled.

¹⁸David recovered everything the Amalekites had taken, and rescued his two wives.

¹⁹Nothing was missing, small or great, booty or sons or daughters, of all that the Amalekites had taken. David brought back everything.

²⁰Moreover, David took all the sheep and oxen, and as they drove these before him, they shouted, "This is David's spoil!"

²¹When David came to the two hundred men who had been too exhausted to follow him, and whom he had left behind at the Wadi Besor, they came out to meet David and the men with him. On nearing them David greeted them.

²²But all the stingy and worthless men among those who had accompanied David spoke up to say, "Since they did not accompany us, we will not give them anything from the booty, except to each man his wife and children. Let them take those along and be on their way."

²³But David said: "You must not do this, my brothers, after what the LORD has given us. He has protected us and delivered into our grip the band that came against us."

²⁴Who could agree with this proposal of yours? Rather, the share of the one who goes down to battle and that of the one who remains with the baggage shall be the same; they shall share alike."

²⁵And from that day forward he made it a law and a custom in Israel, as it still is today.

²⁶When David came to Ziklag, he sent part of the spoil to the elders of Judah, city by city, saying, "This is a gift to you from the spoil of the enemies of the LORD":

²⁷to those in Bethel, to those in Ramoth-negeb, to those in Jattir,

²⁸to those in Aroer, to those in Siphmoth, to those in Eshtemoa,

²⁹to those in Racal, to those in the Jerahmeelite cities, to those in the Kenite cities,

³⁰to those in Hormah, to those in Borashan, to those in Athach,

³¹to those in Hebron, and to all the places frequented by David and his men.

31 As they pressed their attack on Israel, with the Israelites fleeing before them and falling mortally wounded on Mount Gilboa, ²the Philistines pursued Saul and his sons closely, and slew Jonathan, Abinadab, and Malchishua, sons of Saul.

³The battle raged around Saul, and the archers hit him; he was pierced through the abdomen.

⁴Then Saul said to his armor-bearer, "Draw your sword and run me through, lest these uncircumcised come and make sport of me." But his armor-bearer, badly frightened, refused to do it. So Saul took his own sword and fell upon it.

⁵When the armor-bearer saw that Saul was dead, he too fell upon his sword and died with him.

⁶Thus Saul, his three sons, and his armor-bearer died together on that same day.

⁷When the Israelites on the slope of the valley and those along the Jordan saw that the men of Israel had fled and that Saul and his sons were dead, they too abandoned their cities and fled. Then the Philistines came and lived in those cities.

⁸The day after the battle the Philistines came to strip the slain, and found Saul and his three sons lying on Mount Gilboa.

⁹They cut off Saul's head and stripped him of his armor, and then sent the good news throughout the land of the Philistines to their idols and to the people.

¹⁰They put his armor in the temple of Astarte, but impaled his body on the wall of Bethshan.

¹¹When the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead heard what the Philistines had done to Saul, ¹²all their warriors set out, and after marching throughout the night, removed the bodies of Saul and his sons from the wall of Beth-shan, and brought them to Jabesh, where they cremated them.

¹³Then they took their bones and buried them under the tamarisk tree in Jabesh, and fasted for seven days.

2nd Samuel

1 After the death of Saul, David returned from his defeat of the Amalekites and spent two days in Ziklag.

2 On the third day a man came from Saul's camp, with his clothes torn and dirt on his head. Going to David, he fell to the ground in homage.

3 David asked him, "Where do you come from?" He replied, "I have escaped from the Israelite camp."

4 "Tell me what happened," David bade him. He answered that the soldiers had fled the battle and that many of them had fallen and were dead, among them Saul and his son Jonathan.

5 Then David said to the youth who was reporting to him, "How do you know that Saul and his son Jonathan are dead?"

6 The youthful informant replied: "It was by chance that I found myself on Mount Gilboa and saw Saul leaning on his spear, with chariots and horsemen closing in on him.

7 He turned around and, seeing me, called me to him. When I said, 'Here I am,'

8 he asked me, 'Who are you?' and I replied, 'An Amalekite.'

9 Then he said to me, 'Stand up to me, please, and finish me off, for I am in great suffering, yet fully alive.'

10 So I stood up to him and dispatched him, for I knew that he could not survive his wound. I removed the crown from his head and the armlet from his arm and brought them here to my lord."

11 David seized his garments and rent them, and all the men who were with him did likewise.

¹²They mourned and wept and fasted until evening for Saul and his son Jonathan, and for the soldiers of the LORD of the clans of Israel, because they had fallen by the sword.

¹³Then David said to the young man who had brought him the information, "Where are you from?" He replied, "I am the son of an Amalekite immigrant."

¹⁴David said to him, "How is it that you were not afraid to put forth your hand to desecrate the LORD'S anointed?"

¹⁵David then called one of the attendants and said to him, "Come, strike him down"; and the youth struck him a mortal blow.

¹⁶Meanwhile David said to him, "You are responsible for your own death, for you testified against yourself when you said, 'I dispatched the LORD'S anointed.'"

¹⁷Then David chanted this elegy for Saul and his son Jonathan,

¹⁸which is recorded in the Book of Jashar to be taught to the Judahites. He sang:

¹⁹"Alas! the glory of Israel, Saul, slain upon your heights; how can the warriors have fallen!

²⁰"Tell it not in Gath, herald it not in the streets of Ashkelon, Lest the Philistine maidens rejoice, lest the daughters of the strangers exult!

²¹Mountains of Gilboa, may there be neither dew nor rain upon you, nor upsurgings of the deeps! Upon you lie begrimed the warriors' shields, the shield of Saul, no longer anointed with oil.

²²"From the blood of the slain, from the bodies of the valiant, The bow of Jonathan did not turn back, or the sword of Saul return unstained.

²³Saul and Jonathan, beloved and cherished, separated neither in life nor in death, swifter than eagles, stronger than lions!

²⁴Women of Israel, weep over Saul, who clothed you in scarlet and in finery, who decked your attire with ornaments of gold.

²⁵"How can the warriors have fallen-- in the thick of the battle, slain upon your heights!

²⁶"I grieve for you, Jonathan my brother! most dear have you been to me; More precious have I held love for you than love for women.

²⁷"How can the warriors have fallen, the weapons of war have perished!"

2After this David inquired of the LORD, "Shall I go up into one of the cities of Judah?" The LORD replied to him, "Yes." Then David asked, "Where shall I go?" He replied, "To Hebron."

²So David went up there accompanied by his two wives, Ahinoam of Jezreel and Abigail, the widow of Nabal of Carmel.

³David also brought up his men with their families, and they dwelt in the cities near Hebron.

⁴Then the men of Judah came there and anointed David king of the Judahites. A report reached David that the men of Jabesh-gilead had buried Saul.

⁵So David sent messengers to the men of Jabesh-gilead and said to them: "May you be blessed by the LORD for having done this kindness to your lord Saul in burying him.

⁶And now may the LORD be kind and faithful to you. I, too, will be generous to you for having done this.

⁷Take courage, therefore, and prove yourselves valiant men, for though your lord Saul is dead, the Judahites have anointed me their king."

⁸Abner, son of Ner, Saul's general, took Ishbaal, son of Saul, and brought him over to Mahanaim, ⁹where he made him king over Gilead, the Ashurites, Jezreel, Ephraim, Benjamin, and the rest of Israel.

¹⁰Ishbaal, son of Saul, was forty years old when he became king over Israel, and he reigned for two years. The Judahites alone followed David.

¹¹In all, David spent seven years and six months in Hebron as king of the Judahites.

¹²Now Abner, son of Ner, and the servants of Ishbaal, Saul's son, left Mahanaim for Gibeon.

¹³ Joab, son of Zeruiah, and David's servants also set out and met them at the pool of Gibeon. And they sat down, one group on one side of the pool and the other on the opposite side.

¹⁴ Then Abner said to Joab, "Let the young men rise and perform for us." Joab replied, "All right!"

¹⁵ So they rose and were counted off: twelve of the Benjaminites of Ishbaal, son of Saul, and twelve of David's servants.

¹⁶ Then each one grasped his opponent's head and thrust his sword into his opponent's side, and all fell down together. And so that place, which is in Gideon, was named the Field of the Sides.

¹⁷ After a very fierce battle that day, Abner and the men of Israel were defeated by David's servants.

¹⁸ The three sons of Zeruiah were there—Joab, Abishai, and Asahel. Asahel, who was as fleet of foot as a gazelle in the open field,

²⁰ Abner turned around and said, "Is that you, Asahel?" He replied, "Yes."

²² Once more Abner said to Asahel: "Stop pursuing me! Why must I strike you to the ground? How could I face your brother Joab?"

²⁴ Joab and Abishai, however, continued the pursuit of Abner. The sun had gone down when they came to the hill of Ammah which lies east of the valley toward the desert near Geba.

²⁵ Here the Benjaminites rallied around Abner, forming a single group, and made a stand on the hilltop.

²⁶Then Abner called to Joab and said: "Must the sword destroy to the utmost? Do you not know that afterward there will be bitterness? How much longer will you refrain from ordering the people to stop the pursuit of their brothers?"

²⁷Joab replied, "As God lives, if you had not spoken, the soldiers would not have been withdrawn from the pursuit of their brothers until morning."

²⁸Joab then sounded the horn, and all the soldiers came to a halt, pursuing Israel no farther and fighting no more.

²⁹Abner and his men marched all night long through the Arabah, crossed the Jordan, marched all through the morning, and came to Mahanaim.

³⁰Joab, after interrupting the pursuit of Abner, assembled all the men. Besides Asahel, nineteen other servants of David were missing.

³¹But David's servants had fatally wounded three hundred and sixty men of Benjamin, followers of Abner.

³²They took up Asahel and buried him in his father's tomb in Bethlehem. Joab and his men made an all-night march, and dawn found them in Hebron.

3 There followed a long war between the house of Saul and that of David, in which David grew stronger, but the house of Saul weaker.

²Sons were born to David in Hebron: his first-born, Amnon, of Ahinoam from Jezreel;

³the second, Chileab, of Abigail the widow of Nabal of Carmel; the third, Absalom, son of Maacah the daughter of Talmi, king of Geshur;

⁴the fourth, Adonijah, son of Haggith; the fifth, Shephatiah, son of Abital;

⁵and the sixth, Ithream, of David's wife Eglah. These were born to David in Hebron.

⁶During the war between the house of Saul and that of David, Abner was gaining power in the house of Saul.

⁷Now Saul had had a concubine, Rizpah, the daughter of Aiah. And Ishbaal, son of Saul, said to Abner, "Why have you been intimate with my father's concubine?"

⁸Enraged at the words of Ishbaal, Abner said, "Am I a dog's head in Judah? At present I am doing a kindness to the house of your father Saul, to his brothers and his friends, by keeping you out of David's clutches; yet this day you charge me with a crime involving a woman!

⁹May God do thus and so to Abner if I do not carry out for David what the LORD swore to him--

¹⁰that is, take away the kingdom from the house of Saul and establish the throne of David over Israel and over Judah from Dan to Beersheba."

¹¹In his fear of Abner, Ishbaal was no longer able to say a word to him.

¹²Then Abner sent messengers to David in Telam, where he was at the moment, to say, "Make an agreement with me, and I will aid you by bringing all Israel over to you."

¹³He replied, "Very well, I will make an agreement with you. But one thing I require of you. You must not appear before me unless you bring back Michal, Saul's daughter, when you come to present yourself to me."

¹⁴At the same time David sent messengers to Ishbaal, son of Saul, to say, "Give me my wife Michal, whom I espoused by paying a hundred Philistine foreskins."

¹⁶who followed her weeping as far as Bahurim. But Abner said to him, "Go back!" And he turned back.

¹⁷Abner then said in discussion with the elders of Israel: "For a long time you have been seeking David as your king.

¹⁸Now take action, for the LORD has said of David, 'By my servant David I will save my people Israel from the grasp of the Philistines and from the grasp of all their enemies.'"

¹⁹Abner also spoke personally to Benjamin, and then went to make his own report to David in Hebron concerning all that would be agreeable to Israel and to the whole house of Benjamin.

²⁰When Abner, accompanied by twenty men, came to David in Hebron, David prepared a feast for Abner and for the men who were with him.

²¹Then Abner said to David, "I will now go to assemble all Israel for my lord the king, that they may make an agreement with you; you will then be king over all whom you wish to rule." So David bade Abner farewell, and he went away in peace.

²²Just then David's servants and Joab were coming in from an expedition, bringing much plunder with them. Abner, having been dismissed by David, was no longer with him in Hebron but had gone his way in peace.

²³When Joab and the whole force he had with him arrived, he was informed, "Abner, son of Ner, came to David; he has been sent on his way in peace."

²⁴So Joab went to the king and said: "What have you done? Abner came to you. Why did you let him go peacefully on his way?"

²⁵Are you not aware that Abner came to deceive you and to learn the ins and outs of all that you are doing?"

²⁶Joab then left David, and without David's knowledge sent messengers after Abner, who brought him back from the cistern of Sirah.

²⁷When Abner returned to Hebron, Joab took him aside within the city gate as though to speak with him privately. There he stabbed him in the abdomen, and he died in revenge for the killing of Joab's brother Asahel.

²⁸Later David heard of it and said: "Before the LORD; I and my kingdom are forever innocent.

²⁹May the full responsibility for the death of Abner, son of Ner, be laid to Joab and to all his family. May the men of Joab's family never be without one suffering from a discharge, or a leper, or one unmanly, one falling by the sword, or one in need of bread!"

³¹Then David said to Joab and to all the people who were with him, "Rend your garments, gird yourselves with sackcloth, and mourn over Abner." King David himself followed the bier.

³²When they had buried Abner in Hebron, the king wept aloud at the grave of Abner, and the people also wept.

³³And the king sang this elegy over Abner: "Would Abner have died like a fool?"

³⁴Your hands were not bound with chains, nor your feet placed in fetters; As men fall before the wicked, you fell." And all the people continued to weep for him.

³⁵Then they went to console David with food while it was still day. But David swore, "May God do thus and so to me if I eat bread or anything else before sunset."

³⁶All the people noted this with approval, just as they were pleased with everything that the king did.

³⁷So on that day all the people and all Israel came to know that the king had no part in the killing of Abner, son of Ner.

³⁸The king then said to his servants: "You must recognize that a great general has fallen today in Israel.

³⁹Although I am the anointed king, I am weak this day, and these men, the sons of Zeruiah, are too ruthless for me. May the LORD requite the evildoer in accordance with his evil deed."

4When Ishbaal, son of Saul, heard that Abner had died in Hebron, he ceased to resist and all Israel was alarmed.

²Ishbaal, son of Saul, had two company leaders named Baanah and Rechab, sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, of the tribe of Benjamin. (Beeroth, too, was ascribed to Benjamin:

³the Beerothites fled to Gittaim, where they have been resident aliens to this day.

⁴Jonathan, son of Saul, had a son named Meribbaal with crippled feet. He was five years old when the news about Saul and Jonathan came from Jezreel, and his nurse took him up and fled. But in their hasty flight, he fell and became lame.)

⁵The sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, Rechab and Baanah, came into the house of Ishbaal during the heat of the day, while he was taking his siesta.

⁶The portress of the house had dozed off while sifting wheat, and was asleep. So Rechab and his brother Baanah slipped past ⁷and entered the house while Ishbaal was lying asleep in his bedroom. They struck and killed him, and cut off his head. Then, taking the head, they traveled on the Arabah road all night long.

⁸They brought the head of Ishbaal to David in Hebron and said to the king: "This is the head of Ishbaal, son of your enemy Saul, who sought your life. Thus has the LORD this day avenged my lord the king on Saul and his posterity."

⁹But David replied to Rechab and his brother Baanah, sons of Rimmon the Beerothite: "As the LORD lives, who rescued me from all difficulty, ¹⁰in Ziklag I seized and put to death the man who informed me of Saul's death, thinking himself the bearer of good news for which I ought to give him a reward.

¹¹How much more now, when wicked men have slain an innocent man in bed at home, must I hold you responsible for his death and destroy you from the earth!"

¹²So at a command from David, the young men killed them and cut off their hands and feet, hanging them up near the pool in Hebron. But he took the head of Ishbaal and buried it in Abner's grave in Hebron.

5 All the tribes of Israel came to David in Hebron and said: "Here we are, your bone and your flesh.

²In days past, when Saul was our king, it was you who led the Israelites out and brought them back. And the LORD said to you, 'You shall shepherd my people Israel and shall be commander of Israel.'"

³When all the elders of Israel came to David in Hebron, King David made an agreement with them there before the LORD, and they anointed him king of Israel.

⁴David was thirty years old when he became king, and he reigned for forty years:

⁵seven years and six months in Hebron over Judah, and thirty-three years in Jerusalem over all Israel and Judah.

⁶Then the king and his men set out for Jerusalem against the Jebusites who inhabited the region. David was told, "You cannot enter here: the blind and the lame will drive you away!" which was their way of saying, "David cannot enter here."

⁷But David did take the stronghold of Zion, which is the City of David.

⁸On that day David said: "All who wish to attack the Jebusites must strike at them through the water shaft. The lame and the blind shall be the personal enemies of David." That is why it is said, "The blind and the lame shall not enter the palace."

⁹David then dwelt in the stronghold, which was called the City of David; he built up the area from Millo to the palace.

¹⁰David grew steadily more powerful, for the LORD of hosts was with him.

¹¹Hiram, king of Tyre, sent ambassadors to David; he furnished cedar wood, as well as carpenters and masons, who built a palace for David.

¹²And David knew that the LORD had established him as king of Israel and had exalted his rule for the sake of his people Israel.

¹³David took more concubines and wives in Jerusalem after he had come from Hebron, and more sons and daughters were born to him in Jerusalem.

¹⁴These are the names of those who were born to him in Jerusalem: Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, Solomon,

¹⁵Ibhar, Elishua, Nepheg, Japhia,

¹⁶Elishama, Baaliada, and Eliphelet.

¹⁷When the Philistines heard that David had been anointed king of Israel, they all took the field in search of him. On hearing this, David went down to the refuge.

¹⁸The Philistines came and overran the valley of Rephaim.

¹⁹David inquired of the LORD, "Shall I attack the Philistines--will you deliver them into my grip?" The LORD replied to David, "Attack, for I will surely deliver the Philistines into your grip."

²⁰David then went to Baal-perazim, where he defeated them. He said, "The LORD has scattered my enemies before me like waters that have broken free." That is why the place is called Baal-perazim.

²¹They abandoned their gods there, and David and his men carried them away.

²²But the Philistines came up again and overran the valley of Rephaim.

²³So David inquired of the LORD, who replied: "You must not attack frontally, but circle their rear and meet them before the mastic trees.

²⁴When you hear a sound of marching in the tops of the mastic trees, act decisively, for the LORD will have gone forth before you to attack the camp of the Philistines."

²⁵David obeyed the LORD'S command and routed the Philistines from Gibeon as far as Gezer.

6 David again assembled all the picked men of Israel, thirty thousand in number.

²Then David and all the people who were with him set out for Baala of Judah to bring up from there the ark of God, which bears the name of the LORD of hosts enthroned above the cherubim.

³The ark of God was placed on a new cart and taken away from the house of Abinadab on the hill. Uzzah and Ahio, sons of Abinadab, guided the cart,

⁴with Ahio walking before it,

⁵while David and all the Israelites made merry before the LORD with all their strength, with singing and with citharas, harps, tambourines, sistrums and cymbals.

⁶When they came to the threshing floor of Nodan, Uzzah reached out his hand to the ark of God and steadied it, for the oxen were making it tip.

⁷But the LORD was angry with Uzzah; God struck him on that spot, and he died there before God.

⁸David was disturbed because the LORD had vented his anger on Uzzah. (The place has been called Perez-uzzah down to the present day.)

⁹David feared the LORD that day and said, "How can the ark of the LORD come to me?"

¹⁰So David would not have the ark of the LORD brought to him in the City of David, but diverted it to the house of Obed-edom the Gittite.

¹¹The ark of the LORD remained in the house of Obed-edom the Gittite for three months, and the LORD blessed Obed-edom and his whole house.

¹²When it was reported to King David that the LORD had blessed the family of Obed-edom and all that belonged to him, David went to bring up the ark of God from the house of Obed-edom into the City of David amid festivities.

¹³As soon as the bearers of the ark of the LORD had advanced six steps, he sacrificed an ox and a fatling.

¹⁴Then David, girt with a linen apron, came dancing before the LORD with abandon,

¹⁵as he and all the Israelites were bringing up the ark of the LORD with shouts of joy and to the sound of the horn.

¹⁶As the ark of the LORD was entering the City of David, Saul's daughter Michal looked down through the window and saw King David leaping and dancing before the LORD, and she despised him in her heart.

¹⁷The ark of the LORD was brought in and set in its place within the tent David had pitched for it. Then David offered holocausts and peace offerings before the LORD.

¹⁸When he finished making these offerings, he blessed the people in the name of the LORD of hosts.

¹⁹He then distributed among all the people, to each man and each woman in the entire multitude of Israel, a loaf of bread, a cut of roast meat, and a raisin cake. With this, all the people left for their homes.

²⁰When David returned to bless his own family, Saul's daughter Michal came out to meet him and said, "How the king of Israel has honored himself today, exposing himself to the view of the slave girls of his followers, as a commoner might do!"

²¹But David replied to Michal: "I was dancing before the LORD. As the LORD lives, who preferred me to your father and his whole family when he appointed me commander of the LORD'S people, Israel, not only will I make merry before the LORD, ²²but I will demean myself even more. I will be lowly in your esteem, but in the esteem of the slave girls you spoke of I will be honored."

²³And so Saul's daughter Michal was childless to the day of her death.

7 When King David was settled in his palace, and the LORD had given him rest from his enemies on every side,

²he said to Nathan the prophet, "Here I am living in a house of cedar, while the ark of God dwells in a tent!"

³Nathan answered the king, "Go, do whatever you have in mind, for the LORD is with you."

⁴But that night the LORD spoke to Nathan and said:

⁵"Go, tell my servant David, 'Thus says the LORD: Should you build me a house to dwell in?'

⁶I have not dwelt in a house from the day on which I led the Israelites out of Egypt to the present, but I have been going about in a tent under cloth.

⁷In all my wanderings everywhere among the Israelites, did I ever utter a word to any one of the judges whom I charged to tend my people Israel, to ask: 'Why have you not built me a house of cedar?'

⁸"Now then, speak thus to my servant David, 'The LORD of hosts has this to say: It was I who took you from the pasture and from the care of the flock to be commander of my people Israel.

⁹I have been with you wherever you went, and I have destroyed all your enemies before you. And I will make you famous like the great ones of the earth.

¹⁰I will fix a place for my people Israel; I will plant them so that they may dwell in their place without further disturbance. Neither shall the wicked continue to afflict them as they did of old, ¹¹since the time I first appointed judges over my people Israel. I will give you rest from all your enemies. The LORD also reveals to you that he will establish a house for you.

¹²And when your time comes and you rest with your ancestors, I will raise up your heir after you, sprung from your loins, and I will make his kingdom firm.

¹³It is he who shall build a house for my name. And I will make his royal throne firm forever.

¹⁴I will be a father to him, and he shall be a son to me. And if he does wrong, I will correct him with the rod of men and with human chastisements;

¹⁵but I will not withdraw my favor from him as I withdrew it from your predecessor Saul, whom I removed from my presence.

¹⁶Your house and your kingdom shall endure forever before me; your throne shall stand firm forever."

¹⁷Nathan reported all these words and this entire vision to David.

¹⁸Then King David went in and sat before the LORD and said, "Who am I, Lord GOD, and who are the members of my house, that you have brought me to this point?"

¹⁹Yet even this you see as too little, Lord GOD; you have also spoken of the house of your servant for a long time to come: this too you have shown to man, Lord GOD!

²⁰What more can David say to you? You know your servant, Lord GOD!

²¹For your servant's sake and as you have had at heart, you have brought about this entire magnificent disclosure to your servant.

²²And so-- "Great are you, Lord GOD! There is none like you and there is no God but you, just as we have heard it told.

²³What other nation on earth is there like your people Israel, which God has led, redeeming it as his people; so that you have made yourself renowned by doing this magnificent deed, and by doing awe-inspiring things as you cleared nations and their gods out of the way of your people, which you redeemed for yourself from Egypt?

²⁴You have established for yourself your people Israel as yours forever, and you, LORD, have become their God.

²⁵And now, LORD God, confirm for all time the prophecy you have made concerning your servant and his house, and do as you have promised.

²⁶Your name will be forever great, when men say, 'The LORD of hosts is God of Israel,' and the house of your servant David stands firm before you.

²⁷It is you, LORD of hosts, God of Israel, who said in a revelation to your servant, 'I will build a house for you.' Therefore your servant now finds the courage to make this prayer to you.

²⁸And now, Lord GOD, you are God and your words are truth; you have made this generous promise to your servant.

²⁹Do, then, bless the house of your servant that it may be before you forever; for you, Lord GOD, have promised, and by your blessing the house of your servant shall be blessed forever."

8 After this David attacked the Philistines and conquered them, wresting . . . from the Philistines.

²He also defeated Moab and then measured them with a line, making them lie down on the ground. He told off two lengths of line for execution, and a full length to be spared. Thus the Moabites became tributary to David.

³Next David defeated Hadadezer, son of Rehob, king of Zobah, when he went to reestablish his dominion at the Euphrates River.

⁴David captured from him one thousand seven hundred horsemen and twenty thousand foot soldiers. And he hamstringed all the chariot horses, preserving only enough for a hundred chariots.

⁵When the Arameans of Damascus came to the aid of Hadadezer, king of Zobah, David slew twenty-two thousand of them.

⁶David then placed garrisons in Aram of Damascus, and the Arameans became subjects, tributary to David. The LORD brought David victory in all his undertakings.

⁷David also took away the golden shields used by Hadadezer's servants and brought them to Jerusalem. (These Shishak, king of Egypt, took away when he came to Jerusalem in the days of Rehoboam, son of Solomon.)

⁸From Tebah and Berothai, towns of Hadadezer, King David removed a very large quantity of bronze.

⁹When Toi, king of Hamath, heard that David had defeated all the forces of Hadadezer, ¹⁰he sent his son Hadoram to King David to greet him and to congratulate him for his victory over Hadadezer in battle, because Toi had been in many battles with Hadadezer. Hadoram also brought with him articles of silver, gold, and bronze.

¹¹These, too, King David consecrated to the LORD, together with the silver and gold he had taken from every nation he had conquered:

¹²from Edom and Moab, from the Ammonites, from the Philistines, from the Amalekites, and from the plunder of Hadadezer, son of Rehob, king of Zobah.

¹³On his return, David became famous for having slain eighteen thousand Edomites in the Salt Valley;

¹⁴after which he placed garrisons in Edom. Thus all the Edomites became David's subjects, and the LORD brought David victory in all his undertakings.

¹⁵David reigned over all Israel, judging and administering justice to all his people.

¹⁶Joab, son of Zeruiah, was in command of the army. Jehoshaphat, son of Ahilud, was chancellor.

¹⁷Zadok, son of Ahitub, and Ahimelech, son of Abiathar, were priests. Shawsha was scribe.

¹⁸Benaiah, son of Jehoiada, was in command of the Cherethites and Pelethites. And David's sons were priests.

9 David asked, "Is there any survivor of Saul's house to whom I may show kindness for the sake of Jonathan?"

²Now there was a servant of the family of Saul named Ziba. He was summoned to David, and the king asked him, "Are you Ziba?" He replied, "Your servant."

³Then the king inquired, "Is there any survivor of Saul's house to whom I may show God's kindness?" Ziba answered the king, "There is still Jonathan's son, whose feet are crippled."

⁴The king said to him, "Where is he?" and Ziba answered, "He is in the house of Machir, son of Ammiel, in Lodebar."

⁵So King David sent for him and had him brought from the house of Machir, son of Ammiel, in Lodebar.

⁶When Meribbaal, son of Jonathan, son of Saul, came to David, he fell prostrate in homage. David said, "Meribbaal," and he answered, "Your servant."

⁷"Fear not," David said to him, "I will surely be kind to you for the sake of your father Jonathan. I will restore to you all the lands of your grandfather Saul, and you shall always eat at my table."

⁸Bowing low, he answered, "What is your servant that you should pay attention to a dead dog like me?"

⁹The king then called Ziba, Saul's attendant, and said to him: "I am giving your lord's son all that belonged to Saul and to all his family.

¹⁰You and your sons and servants must till the land for him. You shall bring in the produce, which shall be food for your lord's family to eat. But Meribbaal, your lord's son, shall always eat at my table." Ziba, who had fifteen sons and twenty servants, ¹¹said to the king, "Your servant shall do just as my lord the king has commanded him." And so Meribbaal ate at David's table like one of the king's sons.

¹²Meribbaal had a young son whose name was Mica; and all the tenants of Ziba's family worked for Meribbaal.

¹³But Meribbaal lived in Jerusalem, because he always ate at the king's table. He was lame in both feet.

10 Some time later the king of the Ammonites died, and his son Hanun succeeded him as king.

²David thought, "I will be kind to Hanun, son of Nahash, as his father was kind to me." So David sent his servants with condolences to Hanun for the loss of his father. But when David's servants entered the country of the Ammonites,

³the Ammonite princes said to their lord Hanun: "Do you think that David is honoring your father by sending men with condolences? Is it not rather to explore the city, to spy on it, and to overthrow it, that David has sent his messengers to you?"

⁴Hanun, therefore, seized David's servants and, after shaving off half their beards and cutting away the lower halves of their garments at the buttocks, sent them away.

⁵When he was told of it, King David sent out word to them, since the men were quite ashamed. "Stay in Jericho until your beards grow," he said, "and then come back."

⁶In view of the offense they had given to David, the Ammonites sent for and hired twenty thousand Aramean foot soldiers from Beth-rehob and Zobah, as well as the king of Maacah with one thousand men, and twelve thousand men from Tob.

⁷On learning this, David sent out Joab with the entire levy of trained soldiers.

⁸The Ammonites came out and drew up in battle formation at the entrance of their city gate, while the Arameans of Zobah and Rehob and the men of Tob and Maacah remained apart in the open country.

⁹When Joab saw the battle lines drawn up against him, both front and rear, he made a selection from all the picked troops of Israel and arrayed them against the Arameans.

¹⁰He placed the rest of the soldiers under the command of his brother Abishai, who arrayed them against the Ammonites.

¹¹Joab said, "If the Arameans are stronger than I, you shall help me. But if the Ammonites are stronger than you, I will come to help you.

¹²Be brave; let us prove our valor for the sake of our people and the cities of our God; the LORD will do what he judges best."

¹³When Joab and the soldiers who were with him approached the Arameans for battle, they fled before him.

¹⁴The Ammonites, seeing that the Arameans had fled, also fled from Abishai and withdrew into the city. Joab then ceased his attack on the Ammonites and returned to Jerusalem.

¹⁵Then the Arameans responded to their defeat by Israel with a full mustering of troops;

¹⁶Hadadezer sent for and enlisted Arameans from beyond the Euphrates. They came to Helam, with Shobach, general of Hadadezer's army, at their head.

¹⁷On receiving this news, David assembled all Israel, crossed the Jordan, and went to Helam. The Arameans drew up in formation against David and fought with him.

¹⁸But the Arameans gave way before Israel, and David's men killed seven hundred charioteers and forty thousand of the Aramean foot soldiers. Shobach, general of the army, was struck down and died on the field.

¹⁹All of Hadadezer's vassal kings, in view of their defeat by Israel, then made peace with the Israelites and became their subjects. And the Arameans were afraid to give further aid to the Ammonites.

11 At the turn of the year, when kings go out on campaign, David sent out Joab along with his officers and the army of Israel, and they ravaged the Ammonites and besieged Rabbah. David, however, remained in Jerusalem.

²One evening David rose from his siesta and strolled about on the roof of the palace. From the roof he saw a woman bathing, who was very beautiful.

³David had inquiries made about the woman and was told, "She is Bathsheba, daughter of Eliam, and wife of (Joab's armor-bearer) Uriah the Hittite."

⁴Then David sent messengers and took her. When she came to him, he had relations with her, at a time when she was just purified after her monthly period. She then returned to her house.

⁵But the woman had conceived, and sent the information to David, "I am with child."

⁶David therefore sent a message to Joab, "Send me Uriah the Hittite." So Joab sent Uriah to David.

⁷When he came, David questioned him about Joab, the soldiers, and how the war was going, and Uriah answered that all was well.

⁸David then said to Uriah, "Go down to your house and bathe your feet." Uriah left the palace, and a portion was sent out after him from the king's table.

⁹But Uriah slept at the entrance of the royal palace with the other officers of his lord, and did not go down to his own house.

¹⁰David was told that Uriah had not gone home. So he said to Uriah, "Have you not come from a journey? Why, then, did you not go down to your house?"

¹¹Uriah answered David, "The ark and Israel and Judah are lodged in tents, and my lord Joab and your majesty's servants are encamped in the open field. Can I go home to eat and to drink and to sleep with my wife? As the LORD lives and as you live, I will do no such thing."

¹²Then David said to Uriah, "Stay here today also, I shall dismiss you tomorrow." So Uriah remained in Jerusalem that day. On the day following, ¹³David summoned him, and he ate and drank with David, who made him drunk. But in the evening he went out to sleep on his bed among his lord's servants, and did not go down to his home.

¹⁴The next morning David wrote a letter to Joab which he sent by Uriah.

¹⁵In it he directed: "Place Uriah up front, where the fighting is fierce. Then pull back and leave him to be struck down dead."

¹⁶So while Joab was besieging the city, he assigned Uriah to a place where he knew the defenders were strong.

¹⁷When the men of the city made a sortie against Joab, some officers of David's army fell, and among them Uriah the Hittite died.

¹⁹instructing the messenger, "When you have finished giving the king all the details of the battle,

²⁰the king may become angry and say to you: 'Why did you go near the city to fight? Did you not know that they would shoot from the wall above?'

²¹Who killed Abimelech, son of Jerubbaal? Was it not a woman who threw a millstone down on him from the wall above, so that he died in Thebez? Why did you go near the wall?' Then you in turn shall say, 'Your servant Uriah the Hittite is also dead.'"

²²The messenger set out, and on his arrival he relayed to David all the details as Joab had instructed him.

²³He told David: "The men had us at a disadvantage and came out into the open against us, but we pushed them back to the entrance of the city gate.

²⁴Then the archers shot at your servants from the wall above, and some of the king's servants died, among them your servant Uriah."

²⁵David said to the messenger: "This is what you shall convey to Joab: 'Do not be chagrined at this, for the sword devours now here and now there. Strengthen your attack on the city and destroy it.' Encourage him."

²⁶When the wife of Uriah heard that her husband had died, she mourned her lord.

²⁷But once the mourning was over, David sent for her and brought her into his house. She became his wife and bore him a son. But the LORD was displeased with what David had done.

12The LORD sent Nathan to David, and when he came to him, he said: "Judge this case for me! In a certain town there were two men, one rich, the other poor.

²The rich man had flocks and herds in great numbers.

³But the poor man had nothing at all except one little ewe lamb that he had bought. He nourished her, and she grew up with him and his children. She shared the little food he had and drank from his cup and slept in his bosom. She was like a daughter to him.

⁴Now, the rich man received a visitor, but he would not take from his own flocks and herds to prepare a meal for the wayfarer who had come to him. Instead he took the poor man's ewe lamb and made a meal of it for his visitor."

⁵David grew very angry with that man and said to Nathan: "As the LORD lives, the man who has done this merits death!

⁶He shall restore the ewe lamb fourfold because he has done this and has had no pity."

⁷Then Nathan said to David: "You are the man! Thus says the LORD God of Israel: 'I anointed you king of Israel. I rescued you from the hand of Saul.

⁸I gave you your lord's house and your lord's wives for your own. I gave you the house of Israel and of Judah. And if this were not enough, I could count up for you still more.

⁹Why have you spurned the LORD and done evil in his sight? You have cut down Uriah the Hittite with the sword; you took his wife as your own, and him you killed with the sword of the Ammonites.

¹⁰Now, therefore, the sword shall never depart from your house, because you have despised me and have taken the wife of Uriah to be your wife.'

¹¹Thus says the LORD: 'I will bring evil upon you out of your own house. I will take your wives while you live to see it, and will give them to your neighbor. He shall lie with your wives in broad daylight.

¹²You have done this deed in secret, but I will bring it about in the presence of all Israel, and with the sun looking down."

¹³Then David said to Nathan, "I have sinned against the LORD." Nathan answered David: "The LORD on his part has forgiven your sin: you shall not die.

¹⁴But since you have utterly spurned the LORD by this deed, the child born to you must surely die."

¹⁵Then Nathan returned to his house. The LORD struck the child that the wife of Uriah had borne to David, and it became desperately ill.

¹⁶David besought God for the child. He kept a fast, retiring for the night to lie on the ground clothed in sackcloth.

¹⁷The elders of his house stood beside him urging him to rise from the ground; but he would not, nor would he take food with them.

¹⁸On the seventh day, the child died. David's servants, however, were afraid to tell him that the child was dead, for they said: "When the child was alive, we spoke to him, but he would not listen to what we said. How can we tell him the child is dead? He may do some harm!"

¹⁹But David noticed his servants whispering among themselves and realized that the child was dead. He asked his servants, "Is the child dead?" They replied, "Yes, he is."

²⁰Rising from the ground, David washed and anointed himself, and changed his clothes. Then he went to the house of the LORD and worshiped. He returned to his own house, where at his request food was set before him, and he ate.

²¹His servants said to him: "What is this you are doing? While the child was living, you fasted and wept and kept vigil; now that the child is dead, you rise and take food."

²²He replied: "While the child was living, I fasted and wept, thinking, 'Perhaps the LORD will grant me the child's life.'

²³But now he is dead. Why should I fast? Can I bring him back again? I shall go to him, but he will not return to me."

²⁴Then David comforted his wife Bathsheba. He went and slept with her; and she conceived and bore him a son, who was named Solomon. The LORD loved him

²⁵and sent the prophet Nathan to name him Jedidiah, on behalf of the LORD.

²⁶Joab fought against Rabbah of the Ammonites and captured this royal city.

²⁷He sent messengers to David with the word: "I have fought against Rabbah and have taken the water-city.

²⁸Therefore, assemble the rest of the soldiers, join the siege against the city and capture it, lest it be I that capture the city and it be credited to me."

²⁹So David assembled the rest of the soldiers and went to Rabbah. When he had fought against it and captured it,

³⁰he took the crown from Milcom's head. It weighed a talent, of gold and precious stones; it was placed on David's head. He brought out immense booty from the city,

³¹and also led away the inhabitants, whom he assigned to work with saws, iron picks, and iron axes, or put to work at the brickmold. This is what he did to all the Ammonite cities. David and all the soldiers then returned to Jerusalem.

13 Some time later the following incident occurred. David's son Absalom had a beautiful sister named Tamar, and David's son Amnon loved her.

²He was in such straits over his sister Tamar that he became sick; since she was a virgin, Amnon thought it impossible to carry out his designs toward her.

³Now Amnon had a friend named Jonadab, son of David's brother Shimeah, who was very clever.

⁴He asked him, "Prince, why are you so dejected morning after morning? Why not tell me?" So Amnon said to him, "I am in love with Tamar, my brother Absalom's sister."

⁵Then Jonadab replied, "Lie down on your bed and pretend to be sick. When your father comes to visit you, say to him, 'Please let my sister Tamar come and encourage me to take food. If she prepares something appetizing in my presence, for me to see, I will eat it from her hand."

⁶So Amnon lay down and pretended to be sick. When the king came to visit him, Amnon said to the king, "Please let my sister Tamar come and prepare some fried cakes before my eyes, that I may take nourishment from her hand."

⁷David then sent home a message to Tamar, "Please go to the house of your brother Amnon and prepare some nourishment for him."

⁸Tamar went to the house of her brother Amnon, who was in bed. Taking dough and kneading it, she twisted it into cakes before his eyes and fried the cakes.

⁹Then she took the pan and set out the cakes before him. But Amnon would not eat; he said, "Have everyone leave me." When they had all left him, ¹⁰Amnon said to Tamar, "Bring the nourishment into the bedroom, that I may have it from your hand." So Tamar picked up the cakes she had prepared and brought them to her brother Amnon in the bedroom.

¹¹But when she brought them to him to eat, he seized her and said to her, "Come! Lie with me, my sister!"

¹²But she answered him, "No my brother! Do not shame me! That is an intolerable crime in Israel. Do not commit this insensate deed.

¹³Where would I take my shame? And you would be a discredited man in Israel. So please, speak to the king; he will not keep me from you."

¹⁴Not heeding her plea, he overpowered her; he shamed her and had relations with her.

¹⁵Then Amnon conceived an intense hatred for her, which far surpassed the love he had had for her. "Get up and leave," he said to her.

¹⁶She replied, "No, brother, because to drive me out would be far worse than the first injury you have done me." He would not listen to her,

¹⁷but called the youth who was his attendant and said, "Put her outside, away from me, and bar the door after her."

¹⁸Now she had on a long tunic, for that is how maiden princesses dressed in olden days. When his attendant put her out and barred the door after her,

¹⁹Tamar put ashes on her head and tore the long tunic in which she was clothed. Then, putting her hands to her head, she went away crying loudly.

²⁰Her brother Absalom said to her: "Has your brother Amnon been with you? Be still now, my sister; he is your brother. Do not take this affair to heart." But Tamar remained grief-stricken and forlorn in the house of her brother Absalom.

²¹King David, who got word of the whole affair, became very angry. He did not, however, spark the resentment of his son Amnon, whom he favored because he was his first-born.

²²Absalom, moreover, said nothing at all to Amnon, although he hated him for having shamed his sister Tamar.

²³After a period of two years, Absalom had shearers in Baalhazor near Ephraim, and he invited all the princes.

²⁴Absalom went to the king and said: "Your servant is having shearers. Please, your majesty, come with all your retainers to your servant."

²⁵But the King said to Absalom, "No, my son, all of us should not go lest we be a burden to you." And though Absalom urged him, he refused to go and began to bid him good-bye.

²⁶Absalom then said, "If you will not come yourself, please let my brother Amnon come to us." The king asked him, "Why should he go to you?"

²⁷At Absalom's urging, however, he sent Amnon and all the other princes with him. Absalom prepared a banquet fit for royalty.

²⁸But he had instructed his servants: "Now watch! When Amnon is merry with wine and I say to you, 'Kill Amnon,' put him to death. Do not be afraid, for it is I who order you to do it. Be resolute and act manfully."

²⁹When the servants did to Amnon as Absalom had commanded, all the other princes rose, mounted their mules, and fled.

³⁰While they were still on the road, a report reached David that Absalom had killed all the princes and that not one of them had survived.

³¹The king stood up, rent his garments, and then lay on the ground. All his servants standing by him also rent their garments.

³²But Jonadab, son of David's brother Shimeah, spoke up: "Let not my lord think that all the young princes have been killed! Amnon alone is dead, for Absalom was determined on this ever since Amnon shamed his sister Tamar.

³³So let not my lord the king put faith in the report that all the princes are dead. Amnon alone is dead."

³⁴Meanwhile, Absalom had taken flight. Then the servant on watch looked about and saw a large group coming down the slope from the direction of Bahurim. He came in and reported this, telling the king that he had seen some men coming down the mountainside from the direction of Bahurim.

³⁵So Jonadab said to the king: "There! The princes have come. It is as your servant said."

³⁶No sooner had he finished speaking than the princes came in, weeping aloud. The king, too, and all his servants wept very bitterly.

³⁷But Absalom, who had taken flight, went to Talmai, son of Ammihud, king of Geshur, ³⁸and stayed in Geshur for three years.

³⁹The king continued during all that time to mourn over his son; but his longing reached out for Absalom as he became reconciled to the death of Amnon.

14

When Joab, son of Zeruah, observed how the king felt toward Absalom, ²he sent to Tekoa and brought from there a gifted woman, to whom he said: "Pretend to be in mourning. Put on mourning apparel and do not anoint yourself with oil, that you may appear to be a woman who has been long in mourning for a departed one.

³Then go to the king and speak to him in this manner." And Joab instructed her what to say.

⁴So the woman of Tekoa went to the king and fell prostrate to the ground in homage, saying, "Help, your majesty!"

⁵The king said to her, "What do you want?" She replied: "Alas, I am a widow; my husband is dead.

⁶Your servant had two sons, who quarreled in the field. There being no one to part them, one of them struck his brother and killed him.

⁷Then the whole clan confronted your servant and demanded: 'Give up the one who killed his brother. We must put him to death for the life of his brother whom he has slain; we must extinguish the heir also.' Thus they will quench my remaining hope and leave my husband neither name nor posterity upon the earth."

⁸The king then said to the woman: "Go home. I will issue a command on your behalf."

⁹The woman of Tekoa answered him, "Let me and my family be to blame, my lord king; you and your throne are innocent."

¹⁰Then the king said, "If anyone says a word to you, have him brought to me, and he shall not touch you again."

¹¹But she went on to say, "Please, your majesty, keep in mind the LORD your God, that the avenger of blood may not go too far in destruction and that my son may not be done away with." He replied, "As the LORD lives, not a hair of your son shall fall to the ground."

¹²The woman continued, "Please let your servant say still another word to my lord the king." He replied, "Speak."

¹³So the woman said: "Why, then, do you think of this same kind of thing against the people of God? In pronouncing as he has, the king shows himself guilty, for not bringing back his own banished son.

¹⁴We must indeed die; we are then like water that is poured out on the ground and cannot be gathered up. Yet, though God does not bring back life, he does take thought how not to banish anyone from him.

¹⁵And now, if I have presumed to speak of this matter to your majesty, it is because the people have given me cause to fear. And so your servant thought: 'Let me speak to the king. Perhaps he will grant the petition of his maidservant.

¹⁶For the king must surely consent to free his servant from the grasp of one who would seek to destroy me and my son as well from God's inheritance."

¹⁷And the woman concluded: "Let the word of my lord the king provide a resting place; indeed, my lord the king is like an angel of God, evaluating good and bad. The LORD your God be with you."

¹⁸The king answered the woman, "Now do not conceal from me anything I may ask you!" The woman said, "Let my lord the king speak."

¹⁹So the king asked, "Is Joab involved with you in all this?" And the woman answered: "As you live, my lord the king, it is just as your majesty has said, and not otherwise. It was your servant Joab who instructed me and told your servant all these things she was to say."

²⁰Your servant Joab did this to come at the issue in a roundabout way. But my lord is as wise as an angel of God, so that he knows all things on earth."

²¹Then the king said to Joab: "I hereby grant this request. Go, therefore, and bring back young Absalom."

²²Falling prostrate to the ground in homage and blessing the king, Joab said, "This day I know that I am in good favor with you, my lord the king, since the king has granted the request of his servant."

²³Joab then went off to Geshur and brought Absalom to Jerusalem.

²⁴But the king said, "Let him go to his own house; he shall not appear before me." So Absalom went off to his house and did not appear before the king.

²⁵In all Israel there was not a man who could so be praised for his beauty as Absalom, who was without blemish from the sole of his foot to the crown of his head.

²⁶When he shaved his head--which he used to do at the end of every year, because his hair became too heavy for him--the hair weighed two hundred shekels according to the royal standard.

²⁷Absalom had three sons born to him, besides a daughter named Tamar, who was a beautiful woman.

²⁸Absalom lived in Jerusalem for two years without appearing before the king.

²⁹Then he summoned Joab to send him to the king, but Joab would not come to him. Although he summoned him a second time, Joab refused to come.

³⁰He therefore instructed his servants: "You see Joab's field that borders mine, on which he has barley. Go, set it on fire." And so Absalom's servants set the field on fire. Joab's farmhands came to him with torn garments and reported to him what had been done.

³¹At this, Joab went to Absalom in his house and asked him, "Why have your servants set my field on fire?"

³²Absalom answered Joab: "I was summoning you to come here, that I may send you to the king to say: 'Why did I come back from Geshur? I would be better off if I were still there!' Now, let me appear before the king. If I am guilty, let him put me to death."

³³Joab went to the king and reported this. The king then called Absalom, who came to him and in homage fell on his face to the ground before the king. Then the king kissed him.

²Moreover, Absalom used to rise early and stand alongside the road leading to the gate. If someone had a lawsuit to be decided by the king, Absalom would call to him and say, "From what city are you?" And when he replied, "Your servant is of such and such a tribe of Israel,"

³Absalom would say to him, "Your suit is good and just, but there is no one to hear you in the king's name."

⁴And he would continue: "If only I could be appointed judge in the land! Then everyone who has a lawsuit to be decided might come to me and I would render him justice."

⁵Whenever a man approached him to show homage, he would extend his hand, hold him, and kiss him.

⁶By behaving in this way toward all the Israelites who came to the king for judgment, Absalom was stealing away the loyalties of the men of Israel.

⁷After a period of four years, Absalom said to the king: "Allow me to go to Hebron and fulfill a vow I made to the LORD.

⁸For while living in Geshur in Aram, your servant made this vow: 'If the LORD ever brings me back to Jerusalem, I will worship him in Hebron.'"

⁹The king wished him a safe journey, and he went off to Hebron.

¹⁰Then Absalom sent spies throughout the tribes of Israel to say, "When you hear the sound of the horn, declare Absalom king in Hebron."

¹¹Two hundred men had accompanied Absalom from Jerusalem. They had been invited and went in good faith, knowing nothing of the plan.

¹²Absalom also sent to Ahithophel the Gilonite, David's counselor, an invitation to come from his town, Giloh, for the sacrifices he was about to offer. So the conspiracy gained strength, and the people with Absalom increased in numbers.

¹³An informant came to David with the report, "The Israelites have transferred their loyalty to Absalom."

¹⁴At this, David said to all his servants who were with him in Jerusalem: "Up! Let us take flight, or none of us will escape from Absalom. Leave quickly, lest he hurry and overtake us, then visit disaster upon us and put the city to the sword."

¹⁷As the king left the city, with all his officers accompanying him, they halted opposite the ascent of the Mount of Olives, at a distance,

¹⁸while the whole army marched past him. As all the Cherethites and Pelethites, and the six hundred men of Gath who had accompanied him from that city, were passing in review before the king,

¹⁹he said to Ittai the Gittite: "Why should you also go with us? Go back and stay with the king, for you are a foreigner and you, too, are an exile from your own country."

²⁰You came only yesterday, and shall I have you wander about with us today, wherever I have to go? Return and take your brothers with you, and may the LORD be kind and faithful to you."

²¹But Ittai answered the king, "As the LORD lives, and as my lord the king lives, your servant shall be wherever my lord the king may be, whether for death or for life."

- ²²So the king said to Ittai, "Go, then, march on." And Ittai the Gittite, with all his men and all the dependents that were with him, marched on.
- ²³Everyone in the countryside wept aloud as the last of the soldiers went by, and the king crossed the Kidron Valley with all the soldiers moving on ahead of him by way of the Mount of Olives, toward the desert.
- ²⁴Zadok, too (with all the Levite bearers of the ark of the covenant of God), and Abiathar brought the ark of God to a halt until the soldiers had marched out of the city.
- ²⁵Then the king said to Zadok: "Take the ark of God back to the city. If I find favor with the LORD, he will bring me back and permit me to see it and its lodging.
- ²⁶But if he should say, 'I am not pleased with you,' I am ready; let him do to me as he sees fit."
- ²⁷The king also said to the priest Zadok: "See to it that you and Abiathar return to the city in peace, and both your sons with you, your own son Ahimaaz, and Abiathar's son Jonathan.
- ²⁸Remember, I shall be waiting at the fords near the desert until I receive information from you."
- ²⁹So Zadok and Abiathar took the ark of God back to Jerusalem and remained there.
- ³⁰As David went up the Mount of Olives, he wept without ceasing. His head was covered, and he was walking barefoot. All those who were with him also had their heads covered and were weeping as they went.
- ³¹When David was informed that Ahithophel was among the conspirators with Absalom, he said, "O LORD, turn the counsel of Ahithophel to folly!"
- ³²When David reached the top, where men used to worship God, Hushai the Archite was there to meet him, with rent garments and dirt upon his head.
- ³³David said to him: "If you come with me, you will be a burden to me.
- ³⁴But if you return to the city and say to Absalom, 'Let me be your servant, O king; I was formerly your father's servant, but now I will be yours,' you will undo for me the counsel of Ahithophel.

³⁵You will have the priests Zadok and Abiathar there with you. If you hear anything from the royal palace, you shall report it to the priests Zadok and Abiathar,

³⁶who have there with them both Zadok's son Ahimaaz and Abiathar's son Jonathan. Through them you shall send on to me whatever you hear."

³⁷So David's friend Hushai went into the city of Jerusalem as Absalom was about to enter it.

16 David had gone a little beyond the top when Ziba, the servant of Meribbaal, met him with saddled asses laden with two hundred loaves of bread, an ephah of cakes of pressed raisins, an ephah of summer fruits, and a skin of wine.

²The king said to Ziba, "What do you plan to do with these?" Ziba replied: "The asses are for the king's household to ride on. The bread and summer fruits are for your servants to eat, and the wine for those to drink who are weary in the desert."

³Then the king said, "And where is your lord's son?" Ziba answered the king, "He is staying in Jerusalem, for he said, 'Now the Israelites will restore to me my father's kingdom.'"

⁴The king therefore said to Ziba, "So! Everything Meribbaal had is yours." Then Ziba said: "I pay you homage, my lord the king. May I find favor with you!"

⁵As David was approaching Bahurim, a man named Shimei, the son of Gera of the same clan as Saul's family, was coming out of the place, cursing as he came.

⁷Shimei was saying as he cursed: "Away, away, you murderous and wicked man!

⁸The LORD has requited you for all the bloodshed in the family of Saul, in whose stead you became king, and the LORD has given over the kingdom to your son Absalom. And now you suffer ruin because you are a murderer."

⁹Abishai, son of Zeruah, said to the king: "Why should this dead dog curse my lord the king? Let me go over, please, and lop off his head."

¹⁰But the king replied: "What business is it of mine or of yours, sons of Zeruiah, that he curses? Suppose the LORD has told him to curse David; who then will dare to say, 'Why are you doing this?'"

¹¹Then the king said to Abishai and to all his servants: "If my own son, who came forth from my loins, is seeking my life, how much more might this Benjaminite do so! Let him alone and let him curse, for the LORD has told him to.

¹²Perhaps the LORD will look upon my affliction and make it up to me with benefits for the curses he is uttering this day."

¹³David and his men continued on the road, while Shimei kept abreast of them on the hillside, all the while cursing and throwing stones and dirt as he went.

¹⁴The king and all the soldiers with him arrived at the Jordan tired out, and stopped there for a rest.

¹⁵In the meantime Absalom, accompanied by Ahithophel, entered Jerusalem with all the Israelites.

¹⁶When David's friend Hushai the Archite came to Absalom, he said to him: "Long live the king! Long live the king!"

¹⁷But Absalom asked Hushai: "Is this your devotion to your friend? Why did you not go with your friend?"

¹⁸Hushai replied to Absalom: "On the contrary, I am his whom the LORD and all this people and all Israel have chosen, and with him I will stay.

¹⁹Furthermore, as I was in attendance upon your father, so will I be before you. Whom should I serve, if not his son?"

²⁰Then Absalom said to Ahithophel, "Offer your counsel on what we should do."

²¹Ahithophel replied to Absalom: "Have relations with your father's concubines, whom he left behind to take care of the palace. When all Israel hears how odious you have made yourself to your father, all your partisans will take courage."

²²So a tent was pitched on the roof for Absalom, and he visited his father's concubines in view of all Israel.

²³Now the counsel given by Ahithophel at that time was as though one had sought divine revelation. Such was all his counsel both to David and to Absalom.

17 Ahithophel went on to say to Absalom: "Please let me choose twelve thousand men, and be off in pursuit of David tonight.

²If I come upon him when he is weary and discouraged, I shall cause him panic. When all the people with him flee, I shall strike down the king alone.

³Then I can bring back the rest of the people to you, as a bride returns to her husband. It is the death of only one man you are seeking; then all the people will be at peace."

⁴This plan was agreeable to Absalom and to all the elders of Israel.

⁵Then Absalom said, "Now call Hushai the Archite also; let us hear what he too has to say."

⁶When Hushai came to Absalom, Absalom said to him: "This is what Ahithophel proposed. Shall we follow his proposal? If not, speak up."

⁷Hushai replied to Absalom, "This time Ahithophel has not given good counsel."

⁸And he went on to say: "You know that your father and his men are warriors, and that they are as fierce as a bear in the wild robbed of her cubs. Moreover, since your father is skilled in warfare, he will not spend the night with the people.

⁹Even now he lies hidden in one of the caves or in some other place. And if some of our soldiers should fall at the first attack, whoever hears of it will say, 'Absalom's followers have been slaughtered.'

¹⁰Then even the brave man with the heart of a lion will lose courage. For all Israel knows that your father is a warrior and that those who are with him are brave.

¹¹"This is what I counsel: Let all Israel from Dan to Beer-sheba, who are as numerous as the sands by the sea, be called up for combat; and go with them yourself.

¹²We can then attack him wherever we find him, settling down upon him as dew alights on the ground. None shall survive--neither he nor any of his followers.

¹³And if he retires into a city, all Israel shall bring ropes to that city and we can drag it into the gorge, so that not even a pebble of it can be found."

¹⁴Then Absalom and all the Israelites pronounced the counsel of Hushai the Archite better than that of Ahithophel. For the LORD had decided to undo Ahithophel's good counsel, in order thus to bring Absalom to ruin.

¹⁵Then Hushai said to the priests Zadok and Abiathar: "This is the counsel Ahithophel gave Absalom and the elders of Israel, and this is what I counseled.

¹⁶So send a warning to David immediately, not to spend the night at the fords near the desert, but to cross over without fail. Otherwise the king and all the people with him will be destroyed."

¹⁷Now Jonathan and Ahimaaz were staying at En-rogel, since they could not risk being seen entering the city. A maidservant was to come with information for them, and they in turn were to go and report to King David.

¹⁸But an attendant saw them and informed Absalom. They sped on their way and reached the house of a man in Bahurim who had a cistern in his courtyard. They let themselves down into this,

¹⁹and the housewife took the cover and spread it over the cistern, strewing ground grain on the cover so that nothing could be noticed.

²⁰When Absalom's servants came to the woman at the house, they asked, "Where are Ahimaaz and Jonathan?" The woman replied, "They went by a short while ago toward the water." They searched, but found no one, and so returned to Jerusalem.

²¹As soon as they left, Ahimaaz and Jonathan came up out of the cistern and went on to inform King David. They said to him: "Leave! Cross the water at once, for Ahithophel has given the following counsel in regard to you."

²²So David and all his people moved on and crossed the Jordan. By daybreak, there was no one left who had not crossed.

²³When Ahithophel saw that his counsel was not acted upon, he saddled his ass and departed, going to his home in his own city. Then, having left orders concerning his family, he hanged himself. And so he died and was buried in his father's tomb.

²⁴Now David had gone to Mahanaim when Absalom crossed the Jordan accompanied by all the Israelites.

²⁵Absalom had put Amasa in command of the army in Joab's place. Amasa was the son of an Ishmaelite named Ithra, who had married Abigail, daughter of Jesse and sister of Joab's mother Zeruiah.

²⁶Israel and Absalom encamped in the territory of Gilead.

²⁷When David came to Mahanaim, Shobi, son of Nahash from Rabbah of the Ammonites, Machir, son of Ammiel from Lodebar, and Barzillai, the Gileadite from Rogelim, ²⁸brought couches, coverlets, basins and earthenware, as well as wheat, barley, flour, roasted grain, beans, lentils,

²⁹honey, butter and cheese from the flocks and herds, for David and those who were with him to eat; for they said, "The people have been hungry and tired and thirsty in the desert."

18 After mustering the troops he had with him, David placed officers in command of groups of a thousand and groups of a hundred.

²David then put a third part of the soldiers under Joab's command, a third under command of Abishai, son of Zeruiah and brother of Joab, and a third under command of Ittai the Gittite. The king then said to the soldiers, "I intend to go out with you myself."

³But they replied: "You must not come out with us. For if we should flee, we shall not count; even if half of us should die, we shall not count. You are equal to ten thousand of us. Therefore it is better that we have you to help us from the city."

⁴So the king said to them, "I will do what you think best"; and he stood by the gate as all the soldiers marched out in units of a hundred and of a thousand.

⁵But the king gave this command to Joab, Abishai and Ittai: "Be gentle with young Absalom for my sake." All the soldiers heard the king instruct the various leaders with regard to Absalom.

⁶David's army then took the field against Israel, and a battle was fought in the forest near Mahanaim.

⁷The forces of Israel were defeated by David's servants, and the casualties there that day were heavy--twenty thousand men.

⁸The battle spread out over that entire region, and the thickets consumed more combatants that day than did the sword.

⁹Absalom unexpectedly came up against David's servants. He was mounted on a mule, and, as the mule passed under the branches of a large terebinth, his hair caught fast in the tree. He hung between heaven and earth while the mule he had been riding ran off.

¹⁰Someone saw this and reported to Joab that he had seen Absalom hanging from a terebinth.

¹¹Joab said to his informant: "If you saw him, why did you not strike him to the ground on the spot? Then it would have been my duty to give you fifty pieces of silver and a belt."

¹²But the man replied to Joab: "Even if I already held a thousand pieces of silver in my two hands, I would not harm the king's son, for the king charged you and Abishai and Ittai in our hearing to protect the youth Absalom for his sake.

¹³Had I been disloyal and killed him, the whole matter would have come to the attention of the king, and you would stand aloof."

¹⁴Joab replied, "I will not waste time with you in this way." And taking three pikes in hand, he thrust for the heart of Absalom, still hanging from the tree alive.

¹⁵Next, ten of Joab's young armor-bearers closed in on Absalom, and killed him with further blows.

¹⁶Joab then sounded the horn, and the soldiers turned back from the pursuit of the Israelites, because Joab called on them to halt.

¹⁷Absalom was taken up and cast into a deep pit in the forest, and a very large mound of stones was erected over him. And all the Israelites fled to their own tents.

¹⁸During his lifetime Absalom had taken a pillar and erected it for himself in the King's Valley, for he said, "I have no son to perpetuate my name." The pillar which he named for himself is called Yadabshalom to the present day.

¹⁹Then Ahimaaz, son of Zadok, said, "Let me run to take the good news to the king that the LORD has set him free from the grasp of his enemies."

²⁰But Joab said to him: "You are not the man to bring the news today. On some other day you may take the good news, but today you would not be bringing good news, for in fact the king's son is dead."

²¹Then Joab said to a Cushite, "Go, tell the king what you have seen." The Cushite bowed to Joab and sped away.

²²But Ahimaaz, son of Zadok, said to Joab again, "Come what may, permit me also to run after the Cushite." Joab replied: "Why do you want to run, my son? You will receive no reward."

²³But he insisted, "Come what may, I want to run." Joab said to him, "Very well." Ahimaaz sped off by way of the Jordan plain and outran the Cushite.

²⁴Now David was sitting between the two gates, and a lookout mounted to the roof of the gate above the city wall, where he looked about and saw a man running all alone.

²⁵The lookout shouted to inform the king, who said, "If he is alone, he has good news to report." As he kept coming nearer,

²⁶the lookout spied another runner. From his place atop the gate he cried out, "There is another man running by himself." And the king responded, "He, too, is bringing good news."

²⁷Then the lookout said, "I notice that the first one runs like Ahimaaz, son of Zadok." The king replied, "He is a good man; he comes with good news."

²⁸Then Ahimaaz called out and greeted the king. With face to the ground he paid homage to the king and said, "Blessed be the LORD your God, who has delivered up the men who rebelled against my lord the king."

²⁹But the king asked, "Is the youth Absalom safe?" And Ahimaaz replied, "I saw a great disturbance when the king's servant Joab sent your servant on, but I do not know what it was."

³⁰The king said, "Step aside and remain in attendance here." So he stepped aside and remained there.

³¹When the Cushite came in, he said, "Let my lord the king receive the good news that this day the LORD has taken your part, freeing you from the grasp of all who rebelled against you."

³²But the king asked the Cushite, "Is young Absalom safe?" The Cushite replied, "May the enemies of my lord the king and all who rebel against you with evil intent be as that young man!"

19 The king was shaken, and went up to the room over the city gate to weep. He said as he wept, "My son Absalom! My son, my son Absalom! If only I had died instead of you, Absalom, my son, my son!"

²Joab was told that the king was weeping and mourning for Absalom;

³and that day's victory was turned into mourning for the whole army when they heard that the king was grieving for his son.

⁴The soldiers stole into the city that day like men shamed by flight in battle.

⁵Meanwhile the king covered his face and cried out in a loud voice, "My son Absalom! Absalom! My son, my son!"

⁶Then Joab went to his residence and said: "Though they saved your life and your sons' and daughters' lives, also the lives of your wives and those of your concubines, you have put all your servants to shame today

⁷by loving those who hate you and hating those who love you. For you have shown today that officers and servants mean nothing to you. Indeed I am now certain that if Absalom were alive today and all of us dead, you would think that more suitable.

⁸Now then, get up! Go out and speak kindly to your servants. I swear by the LORD that if you do not go out, not a single man will remain with you overnight, and this will be a far greater disaster for you than any that has afflicted you from your youth until now."

⁹So the king stepped out and sat at the gate. When all the people were informed that the king was sitting at the gate, they came into his presence. Now the Israelites had fled to their separate tents,

¹⁰but throughout the tribes of Israel all the people were arguing among themselves, saying to one another: "The king delivered us from the clutches of our enemies, and it was he who rescued us from the grip of the Philistines. But now he has fled from the country before Absalom, ¹¹and Absalom, whom we anointed over us, died in battle. Why, then, should you remain silent about restoring the king to his palace?" When the talk of all Israel reached the king,

¹²David sent word to the priests Zadok and Abiathar: "Say to the elders of Judah: 'Why should you be last to restore the king to his palace?'"

¹³You are my brothers, you are my bone and flesh. Why should you be last to restore the king?'"

¹⁴Also say to Amasa: 'Are you not my bone and flesh? May God do thus and so to me, if you do not become my general permanently in place of Joab.'"

¹⁵He won over all the Judahites as one man, and so they summoned the king to return, with all his servants.

¹⁶When the king, on his return, reached the Jordan, Judah had come to Gilgal to meet him and to escort him across the Jordan.

¹⁷Shimei, son of Gera, the Benjaminite from Bahurim, hurried down with the Judahites to meet King David, ¹⁸accompanied by a thousand men from Benjamin. Ziba, too, the servant of the house of Saul, accompanied by his fifteen sons and twenty servants, hastened to the Jordan before the king.

¹⁹They crossed over the ford to bring the king's household over and to do whatever he wished. When Shimei, son of Gera, crossed the Jordan, he fell down before the king ²⁰and said to him: "May my lord not hold me guilty, and may he not remember and take to heart the wrong that your servant did the day my lord the king left Jerusalem.

²¹For your servant knows that he has done wrong. Yet realize that I have been the first of the whole house of Joseph to come down today to meet my lord the king."

²²But Abishai, son of Zeruiah, countered: "Shimei must be put to death for this. He cursed the LORD'S anointed."

²³David replied: "What has come between you and me, sons of Zeruiah, that you would create enmity for me this day? Should anyone die today in Israel? Am I not aware that today I am king of Israel?"

²⁴Then the king said to Shimei, "You shall not die." And the king gave him his oath.

²⁵Meribbaal, son of Saul, also went down to meet the king. He had not washed his feet nor trimmed his mustache nor washed his clothes from the day the king left until he returned safely.

²⁶When he came from Jerusalem to meet the king, the king asked him, "Why did you not go with me, Meribbaal?"

²⁷He replied: "My lord the king, my servant betrayed me. For your servant, who is lame, said to him, 'Saddle the ass for me, that I may ride on it and go with the king.'

²⁸But he slandered your servant before my lord the king. But my lord the king is like an angel of God. Do what you judge best.

²⁹For though my father's entire house deserved only death from my lord the king, yet you placed your servant among the guests at your table. What right do I still have to make further appeal to the king?"

³⁰But the king said to him: "Why do you go on talking? I say, 'You and Ziba shall divide the property.'"

³¹Meribbaal answered the king, "Indeed let him have it all, now that my lord the king has returned safely to his palace."

³²Barzillai the Gileadite also came down from Rogelim and escorted the king to the Jordan for his crossing, taking leave of him there.

³³It was Barzillai, a very old man of eighty and very wealthy besides, who had provisioned the king during his stay in Mahanaim.

³⁴The king said to Barzillai, "Cross over with me, and I will provide for your old age as my guest in Jerusalem."

³⁵But Barzillai answered the king: "How much longer have I to live, that I should go up to Jerusalem with the king?"

³⁶I am now eighty years old. Can I distinguish between good and bad? Can your servant taste what he eats and drinks, or still appreciate the voices of singers and songstresses? Why should your servant be any further burden to my lord the king?

³⁷In escorting the king across the Jordan, your servant is doing little enough! Why should the king give me this reward?

³⁸Please let your servant go back to die in his own city by the tomb of his father and mother. Here is your servant Chimham. Let him cross over with my lord the king. Do for him whatever you will."

³⁹Then the king said to him, "Chimham shall come over with me, and I will do for him as you would wish. And anything else you would like me to do for you, I will do."

⁴⁰Then all the people crossed over the Jordan but the king remained; he kissed Barzillai and bade him Godspeed as he returned to his own district.

⁴¹Finally the king crossed over to Gilgal, accompanied by Chimham. All the people of Judah and half of the people of Israel had escorted the king across.

⁴²But all these Israelites began coming to the king and saying, "Why did our brothers the Judahites steal you away and escort the king and his household across the Jordan, along with all David's men?"

⁴³All the Judahites replied to the men of Israel: "Because the king is our relative. Why are you angry over this affair? Have we had anything to eat at the king's expense? Or have portions from his table been given to us?"

⁴⁴The Israelites answered the Judahites: "We have ten shares in the king. Also, we are the first-born rather than you. Why do you slight us? Were we not first to speak of restoring the king?" Then the Judahites in turn spoke even more fiercely than the Israelites.

20 Now a rebellious individual from Benjamin named Sheba, the son of Bichri, happened to be there. He sounded the horn and cried out, "We have no portion in David, nor any share in the son of Jesse. Every man to his tent, O Israel!"

²So all the Israelites left David for Sheba, son of Bichri. But from the Jordan to Jerusalem the Judahites remained loyal to their king.

³When King David came to his palace in Jerusalem, he took the ten concubines whom he had left behind to take care of the palace and placed them in confinement. He provided for them, but had no further relations with them. And so they remained in confinement to the day of their death, lifelong widows.

⁴Then the king said to Amasa: "Summon the Judahites for me within three days. Then present yourself here."

⁵Accordingly Amasa set out to summon Judah, but delayed beyond the time set for him by David.

⁶Then David said to Abishai: "Sheba, son of Bichri, may now do us more harm than Absalom did. Take your lord's servants and pursue him, lest he find fortified cities and take shelter while we look on."

⁷So Joab and the Cherethites and Pelethites and all the warriors marched out behind Abishai from Jerusalem to campaign in pursuit of Sheba, son of Bichri.

⁸They were at the great stone in Gibeon when Amasa met them. Now Joab had a belt over his tunic, from which was slung, in its sheath near his thigh, a sword that could be drawn with a downward movement.

⁹And Joab asked Amasa, "How are you, my brother?" With his right hand Joab held Amasa's beard as if to kiss him.

¹⁰And since Amasa was not on his guard against the sword in Joab's other hand, Joab stabbed him in the abdomen with it, so that his entrails burst forth to the ground, and he died without receiving a second thrust. Then Joab and his brother Abishai pursued Sheba, son of Bichri.

¹¹One of Joab's attendants stood by Amasa and said, "Let him who favors Joab and is for David follow Joab."

¹²Amasa lay covered with blood in the middle of the highroad, and the man noticed that all the soldiers were stopping. So he removed Amasa from the road to the field and placed a garment over him, because all who came up to him were stopping.

¹³When he had been removed from the road, everyone went on after Joab in pursuit of Sheba, son of Bichri.

¹⁴Sheba passed through all the tribes of Israel to Abel Beth-maacah. Then all the Bichrites assembled and they too entered the city after him.

¹⁵So David's servants came and besieged him in Abel Beth-maacah. They threw up a mound against the city, and all the soldiers who were with Joab began battering the wall to throw it down.

¹⁶Then a wise woman from the city stood on the outworks and called out, "Listen, listen! Tell Joab to come here, that I may speak with him."

¹⁷When Joab had come near her, the woman said, "Are you Joab?" And he replied, "Yes." She said to him, "Listen to what your maidservant has to say." He replied. "I am listening."

¹⁸Then she went on to say: "There is an ancient saying, 'Let them ask if they will in Abel

¹⁹or in Dan whether loyalty is finished or ended in Israel.' You are seeking to beat down a city that is a mother in Israel. Why do you wish to destroy the inheritance of the LORD?"

²⁰Joab answered, "Not at all, not at all! I do not wish to destroy or to ruin anything.

²¹That is not the case at all. A man named Sheba, son of Bichri, from the hill country of Ephraim has rebelled against King David. Surrender him alone, and I will withdraw from the city." Then the woman said to Joab, "His head shall be thrown to you across the wall."

²²She went to all the people with her advice, and they cut off the head of Sheba, son of Bichri, and threw it out to Joab. He then sounded the horn, and they scattered from the city to their own tents, while Joab returned to Jerusalem to the king.

²³Joab was in command of the whole army of Israel. Benaiah, son of Jehoiada, was in command of the Cherethites and Pelethites.

²⁴Adoram was in charge of the forced labor. Jehoshaphat, son of Ahilud, was the chancellor.

²⁵Shawsha was the scribe. Zadok and Abiathar were priests.

²⁶Ira the Jairite was also David's priest.

21 During David's reign there was a famine for three successive years. David had recourse to the LORD, who said, "There is bloodguilt on Saul and his family because he put the Gibeonites to death."

²So the king called the Gibeonites and spoke to them. (Now the Gibeonites were not Israelites, but survivors of the Amorites; and although the Israelites had given them their oath, Saul had attempted to kill them off in his zeal for the men of Israel and Judah.)

³David said to the Gibeonites, "What must I do for you and how must I make atonement, that you may bless the inheritance of the LORD?"

⁴The Gibeonites answered him, "We have no claim against Saul and his house for silver or gold, nor is it our place to put any man to death in Israel." Then he said, "I will do for you whatever you propose."

⁵They said to the king, "As for the man who was exterminating us and who intended to destroy us that we might have no place in all the territory of Israel,

⁶let seven men from among his descendants be given to us, that we may dismember them before the LORD in Gibeon, on the LORD'S mountain." The king replied, "I will give them up."

⁷The king, however, spared Meribbaal, son of Jonathan, son of Saul, because of the LORD'S oath that formed a bond between David and Saul's son Jonathan.

⁸But the king took Armoni and Meribbaal, the two sons that Aiah's daughter Rizpah had borne to Saul, and the five sons of Saul's daughter Merob that she had borne to Adriel, son of Barzillai the Meholathite, ⁹and surrendered them to the Gibeonites. They then dismembered them on the mountain before the LORD. The seven fell at the one time; they were put to death during the first days of the harvest--that is, at the beginning of the barley harvest.

¹⁰Then Rizpah, Aiah's daughter, took sackcloth and spread it out for herself on the rock from the beginning of the harvest until rain came down on them from the sky, fending off the birds of the sky from settling on them by day, and the wild animals by night.

¹¹When David was informed of what Rizpah, Aiah's daughter, the concubine of Saul, had done,

¹²he went and obtained the bones of Saul and of his son Jonathan from the citizens of Jabesh-gilead, who had carried them off secretly from the public square of Bethshan, where the Philistines had hanged them at the time they killed Saul on Gilboa.

¹³When he had brought up from there the bones of Saul and of his son Jonathan, the bones of those who had been dismembered were also gathered up.

¹⁴Then the bones of Saul and of his son Jonathan were buried in the tomb of his father Kish at Zela in the territory of Benjamin. After all that the king commanded had been carried out, God granted relief to the land.

¹⁵There was another battle between the Philistines and Israel. David went down with his servants and fought the Philistines, but David grew tired.

¹⁶Dadu, one of the Rephaim, whose bronze spear weighed three hundred shekels, was about to take him captive. Dadu was girt with a new sword and planned to kill David,

¹⁷but Abishai, son of Zeruiah, came to his assistance and struck and killed the Philistine. Then David's men swore to him, "You must not go out to battle with us again, lest you quench the lamp of Israel."

¹⁸After this there was another battle with the Philistines in Gob. On that occasion Sibbecai, from Husha, killed Saph, one of the Rephaim.

¹⁹There was another battle with the Philistines in Gob, in which Elhanan, son of Jair from Bethlehem, killed Goliath of Gath, who had a spear with a shaft like a weaver's heddle-bar.

²⁰There was another battle at Gath in which there was a man of large stature with six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot--twenty-four in all. He too was one of the Rephaim.

²¹And when he insulted Israel, Jonathan, son of David's brother Shimei, killed him.

²²These four were Rephaim in Gath, and they fell at the hands of David and his servants.

22 David sang the words of this song to the LORD when the LORD had rescued him from the grasp of all his enemies and from the hand of Saul.

²This is what he sang: I "O LORD, my rock, my fortress, my deliverer,

³my God, my rock of refuge! My shield, the horn of my salvation, my stronghold, my refuge, my savior, from violence you keep me safe.

⁴Praised be the LORD,' I exclaim, and I am safe from my enemies.

- ⁵"The breakers of death surged round about me, the floods of perdition overwhelmed me;
- ⁶The cords of the nether world enmeshed me, the snares of death overtook me.
- ⁷In my distress I called upon the LORD and cried out to my God; From his temple he heard my voice, and my cry reached his ears.
- ⁸"The earth swayed and quaked; the foundations of the heavens trembled and shook when his wrath flared up.
- ⁹Smoke rose from his nostrils, and a devouring fire from his mouth; he kindled coals into flame.
- ¹⁰He inclined the heavens and came down, with dark clouds under his feet.
- ¹¹He mounted a cherub and flew, borne on the wings of the wind.
- ¹²He made darkness the shelter about him, with spattering rain and thickening clouds.
- ¹³From the brightness of his presence coals were kindled to flame.
- ¹⁴"The LORD thundered from heaven; the Most High gave forth his voice.
- ¹⁵He sent forth arrows to put them to flight; he flashed lightning and routed them.
- ¹⁶Then the wellsprings of the sea appeared, the foundations of the earth were laid bare, At the rebuke of the LORD, at the blast of the wind of his wrath.
- ¹⁷"He reached out from on high and grasped me; he drew me out of the deep waters.
- ¹⁸He rescued me from my mighty enemy, from my foes, who were too powerful for me.
- ¹⁹They attacked me on my day of calamity, but the LORD came to my support.
- ²⁰He set me free in the open, and rescued me, because he loves me.
- ²¹"The LORD rewarded me according to my justice; according to the cleanness of my hands he requited me.

²²For I kept the ways of the LORD and was not disloyal to my God.

²³For his ordinances were all present to me, and his statutes I put not from me;

²⁴But I was wholehearted toward him, and I was on my guard against guilt.

²⁵And the LORD requited me according to my justice, according to my innocence in his sight.

²⁶"Toward the faithful you are faithful; toward the wholehearted you are wholehearted;

²⁷Toward the sincere you are sincere; but toward the crooked you are astute.

²⁸You save lowly people, though on the lofty your eyes look down.

²⁹You are my lamp, O LORD! O my God, you brighten the darkness about me.

³⁰For with your aid I run against an armed band, and by the help of my God I leap over a wall.

³¹God's way is unerring; the promise of the LORD is fire-tried; he is a shield to all who take refuge in him."

³²"For who is God except the LORD? Who is a rock save our God?

³³The God who girded me with strength and kept my way unerring;

³⁴Who made my feet swift as those of hinds and set me on the heights;

³⁵Who trained my hands for war till my arms could bend a bow of brass.

³⁶"You have given me your saving shield, and your help has made me great.

³⁷You made room for my steps; unwavering was my stride.

³⁸I pursued my enemies and destroyed them, nor did I turn again till I made an end of them.

³⁹I smote them and they did not rise; they fell beneath my feet.

⁴⁰"You girded me with strength for war; you subdued my adversaries beneath me.

⁴¹My enemies you put to flight before me and those who hated me I destroyed.

⁴²They cried for help-but no one saved them; to the LORD--but he answered them not.

⁴³I ground them fine as the dust of the earth; like the mud in the streets I trampled them down.

⁴⁴"You rescued me from the strife of my people; you made me head over nations. A people I had not known became my slaves;

⁴⁵as soon as they heard me, they obeyed.

⁴⁶The foreigners fawned and cringed before me; they staggered forth from their fortresses."

⁴⁷"The LORD live! And blessed be my Rock! Extolled be my God, rock of my salvation.

⁴⁸O God, who granted me vengeance, who made peoples subject to me

⁴⁹and helped me escape from my enemies, Above my adversaries you exalt me and from the violent man you rescue me.

⁵⁰Therefore will I proclaim you, O LORD, among the nations, and I will sing praise to your name,

⁵¹You who gave great victories to your king and showed kindness to your anointed, to David and his posterity forever."

23 These are the last words of David: "The utterance of David, son of Jesse; the utterance of the man God raised up, Anointed of the God of Jacob, favorite of the Mighty One of Israel.

²The spirit of the LORD spoke through me; his word was on my tongue.

³The God of Israel spoke; of me the Rock of Israel said, 'He that rules over men in justice, that rules in the fear of God,

⁴Is like the morning light at sunrise on a cloudless morning, making the greensward sparkle after rain.'

⁵Is not my house firm before God? He has made an eternal covenant with me, set forth in detail and secured. Will he not bring to fruition all my salvation and my every desire?

⁶But the wicked are all like thorns to be cast away; they cannot be taken up by hand.

⁷He who wishes to touch them must arm himself with iron and the shaft of a spear, and they must be consumed by fire."

⁸These are the names of David's warriors. Ishbaal, son of Hachamoni, was the first of the Three. It was he who brandished his battle-ax over eight hundred slain in a single encounter.

⁹Next to him, among the Three warriors, was Eleazar, son of Dodo the Ahohite. He was with David at Ephes-dammim when the Philistines assembled there for battle. The Israelites had retreated, ¹⁰but he stood his ground and fought the Philistines until his hand grew tired and became cramped, holding fast to the sword. The LORD brought about a great victory on that day; the soldiers turned back after Eleazar, but only to strip the slain.

¹¹Next to him was Shammah, son of Agee the Hararite. The Philistines had assembled at Lehi, where there was a plot of land full of lentils. When the soldiers fled from the Philistines, ¹²he took his stand in the middle of the plot and defended it. He slew the Philistines, and the LORD brought about a great victory. Such were the deeds of the Three warriors.

¹³During the harvest three of the Thirty went down to David in the cave of Adullam, while a Philistine clan was encamped in the Vale of Rephaim.

¹⁴At that time David was in the refuge, and there was a garrison of Philistines in Bethlehem.

¹⁵Now David had a strong craving and said, "Oh, that someone would give me a drink of water from the cistern that is by the gate of Bethlehem!"

¹⁶So the Three warriors broke through the Philistine camp and drew water from the cistern that is by the gate of Bethlehem. But when they brought it to David he refused to drink it, and instead poured it out to the LORD, ¹⁷saying: "The LORD forbid that I do this! Can I drink the blood of these men who went at the risk of their lives?" So he refused to drink it.

¹⁸Abishai, brother of Joab, son of Zeruah, was at the head of the Thirty. It was he who brandished his spear over three hundred slain. He was listed among the Thirty ¹⁹and commanded greater respect than the Thirty, becoming their leader. However, he did not attain to the Three.

²⁰Benaiah, son of Jehoiada, a stalwart from Kabzeel, was a man of great achievements. It was he who slew the two lions in Moab. He also went down and killed the lion in the cistern at the time of the snow.

²²Such were the deeds performed by Benaiah, son of Jehoiada. He was listed among the Thirty warriors

²³and commanded greater respect than the Thirty. However, he did not attain to the Three. David put him in command of his bodyguard.

²⁴Asahel, brother of Joab. . . Among the Thirty were: Elhanan, son of Dodo, from Bethlehem;

²⁵Shammah from En-harod; Elikah from En-harod;

²⁶Helez from Beth-pelet; Ira, son of Ikesh, from Tekoa;

²⁷Abiezer from Anathoth; Sibbecai from Hushah;

²⁸Zalmon from Ahoh; Maharai from Netophah;

²⁹Heled, son of Baanah, from Netophah; Ittai, son of Ribai, from Gibeah of the Benjaminites;

³⁰Benaiah from Pirathon; Hiddai from Nahale-gaash;

³¹Abibaal from Beth-arabah; Azmaveth from Bahurim;

³²Eliabba from Shaalbon; Jashen the Gunite; Jonathan,

³³son of Shammah the Hararite; Ahiam, son of Sharar the Hararite;

³⁴Eliphelet, son of Ahasbai, from Beth-maacah; Eliam, son of Ahithophel, from Gilo;

³⁵Hezrai from Carmel; Paarai the Arbite;

³⁶Igal, son of Nathan, from Zobah; Bani the Gadite;

³⁷Zelek the Ammonite; Naharai from Beeroth, armor-bearer of Joab, son of Zeruiah;

³⁸Ira from Jattir; Gareb from Jattir;

³⁹Uriah the Hittite-thirty-seven in all.

24The LORD'S anger against Israel flared again, and he incited David against the Israelites by prompting him to number Israel and Judah.

²Accordingly the king said to Joab and the leaders of the army who were with him, "Tour all the tribes in Israel from Dan to Beer-sheba and register the people, that I may know their number."

³But Joab said to the king: "May the LORD your God increase the number of people a hundredfold for your royal majesty to see it with his own eyes. But why does it please my lord the king to order a thing of this kind?"

⁴The king, however, overruled Joab and the leaders of the army, so they left the king's presence in order to register the people of Israel.

⁵Crossing the Jordan, they began near Aroer, south of the city in the wadi, and went in the direction of Gad toward Jazer.

⁶They continued on to Gilead and to the district below Mount Hermon. Then they proceeded to Dan; from there they turned toward Sidon, ⁷going to the fortress of Tyre and to all the cities of the Hivites and Canaanites, and ending up at Beer-sheba in the Negeb of Judah.

⁸Thus they toured the whole country, reaching Jerusalem again after nine months and twenty days.

⁹Joab then reported to the king the number of people registered: in Israel, eight hundred thousand men fit for military service; in Judah, five hundred thousand.

¹⁰Afterward, however, David regretted having numbered the people, and said to the LORD: "I have sinned grievously in what I have done. But now, LORD, forgive the guilt of your servant, for I have been very foolish."

¹¹When David rose in the morning, the LORD had spoken to the prophet Gad, David's seer, saying:

¹²"Go and say to David, 'This is what the LORD says: I offer you three alternatives; choose one of them, and I will inflict it on you.'"

¹³Gad then went to David to inform him. He asked: "Do you want a three years' famine to come upon your land, or to flee from your enemy three months while he pursues you, or to have a three days' pestilence in your land? Now consider and decide what I must reply to him who sent me."

¹⁴David answered Gad: "I am in very serious difficulty. Let us fall by the hand of God, for he is most merciful; but let me not fall by the hand of man."

¹⁵Thus David chose the pestilence. Now it was the time of the wheat harvest when the plague broke out among the people. (The LORD then sent a pestilence over Israel from morning until the time appointed, and seventy thousand of the people from Dan to Beer-sheba died.)

¹⁶But when the angel stretched forth his hand toward Jerusalem to destroy it, the LORD regretted the calamity and said to the angel causing the destruction among the people, "Enough now! Stay your hand." The angel of the LORD was then standing at the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite.

¹⁷When David saw the angel who was striking the people, he said to the LORD: "It is I who have sinned; it is I, the shepherd, who have done wrong. But these are sheep; what have they done? Punish me and my kindred."

¹⁸On the same day Gad went to David and said to him, "Go up and build an altar to the LORD on the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite."

¹⁹Following Gad's bidding, David went up as the LORD had commanded.

²⁰Now Araunah looked down and noticed the king and his servants coming toward him while he was threshing wheat. So he went out and paid homage to the king, with face to the ground.

²¹Then Araunah asked, "Why does my lord the king come to his servant?" David replied, "To buy the threshing floor from you, to build an altar to the LORD, that the plague may be checked among the people."

²²But Araunah said to David: "Let my lord the king take and offer up whatever he may wish. Here are oxen for holocausts, and threshing sledges and the yokes of the oxen for wood.

²³All this does Araunah give to the king." Araunah then said to the king, "May the LORD your God accept your offering."

²⁴The king, however, replied to Araunah, "No, I must pay you for it, for I cannot offer to the LORD my God holocausts that cost nothing." So David bought the threshing floor and the oxen for fifty silver shekels.

²⁵Then David built an altar there to the LORD, and offered holocausts and peace offerings. The LORD granted relief to the country, and the plague was checked in Israel.

1st Kings

1 When King David was old and advanced in years, though they spread covers over him he could not keep warm.

2 His servants therefore said to him, "Let a young virgin be sought to attend you, lord king, and to nurse you. If she sleeps with your royal majesty, you will be kept warm."

3 So they sought for a beautiful girl throughout the territory of Israel, and found Abishag the Shunamite, whom they brought to the king.

4 The maiden, who was very beautiful, nursed the king and cared for him, but the king did not have relations with her.

5 Adonijah, son of Haggith, began to display his ambition to be king. He acquired chariots, drivers, and fifty henchmen.

6 Yet his father never rebuked him or asked why he was doing this. Adonijah was also very handsome, and next in age to Absalom by the same mother.

7 He conferred with Joab, son of Zeruah, and with Abiathar the priest, and they supported him.

8 However, Zadok the priest, Benaiah, son of Jehoiada, Nathan the prophet, and Shimei and his companions, the pick of David's army, did not side with Adonijah.

9 When he slaughtered sheep, oxen, and fatlings at the stone Zohelath, near En-rogel, Adonijah invited all his brothers, the king's sons, and all the royal officials of Judah.

10 But he did not invite the prophet Nathan, or Benaiah, or the pick of the army, or his brother Solomon.

11 Then Nathan said to Bathsheba, Solomon's mother: "Have you not heard that Adonijah, son of Haggith, has become king without the knowledge of our lord David?"

12 Come now, let me advise you so that you may save your life and that of your son Solomon.

¹³Go, visit King David, and say to him, 'Did you not, lord king, swear to your handmaid: Your son Solomon shall be king after me and shall sit upon my throne? Why, then, has Adonijah become king?'

¹⁴And while you are still there speaking to the king, I will come in after you and confirm what you have said."

¹⁵So Bathsheba visited the king in his room, while Abishag the Shunamite was attending him because of his advanced age.

¹⁶Bathsheba bowed in homage to the king, who said to her, "What do you wish?"

¹⁷She answered him: "My lord, you swore to me your handmaid by the LORD, your God, that my son Solomon should reign after you and sit upon your throne.

¹⁸But now Adonijah has become king, and you, my lord king, do not know it.

¹⁹He has slaughtered oxen, fatlings, and sheep in great numbers; he has invited all the king's sons, Abiathar the priest, and Joab, the general of the army, but not your servant Solomon.

²⁰Now, my lord king, all Israel is waiting for you to make known to them who is to sit on the throne after your royal majesty.

²¹If this is not done, when my lord the king sleeps with his fathers, I and my son Solomon will be considered criminals."

²²While she was still speaking to the king, the prophet Nathan came in.

²³When he had been announced, the prophet entered the king's presence and, bowing to the floor, did him homage.

²⁴Then Nathan said: "Have you decided, my lord king, that Adonijah is to reign after you and sit on your throne?

²⁵He went down today and slaughtered oxen, fatlings, and sheep in great numbers; he invited all the king's sons, the commanders of the army, and Abiathar the priest, and they are eating and drinking in his company and saying, 'Long live King Adonijah!'

²⁶But me, your servant, he did not invite; nor Zadok the priest, nor Benaiah, son of Jehoiada, nor your servant Solomon.

- ²⁷Was this done by my royal master's order without my being told who was to succeed to your majesty's kingly throne?"
- ²⁸King David answered, "Call Bathsheba here." When she re-entered the king's presence and stood before him,
- ²⁹the king swore, "As the LORD lives, who has delivered me from all distress,
- ³⁰this very day I will fulfill the oath I swore to you by the LORD, the God of Israel, that your son Solomon should reign after me and should sit upon my throne in my place."
- ³¹Bowing to the floor in homage to the king, Bathsheba said, "May my lord, King David, live forever!"
- ³²Then King David summoned Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah, son of Jehoiada. When they had entered the king's presence,
- ³³he said to them: "Take with you the royal attendants. Mount my son Solomon upon my own mule and escort him down to Gihon.
- ³⁴There Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet are to anoint him king of Israel, and you shall blow the horn and cry, 'Long live King Solomon!'
- ³⁵When you come back in his train, he is to go in and sit upon my throne and reign in my place. I designate him ruler of Israel and of Judah."
- ³⁶In answer to the king, Benaiah, son of Jehoiada, said: "So be it! May the LORD, the God of my lord the king, so decree!
- ³⁷As the LORD has been with your royal majesty, so may he be with Solomon, and exalt his throne even more than that of my lord, King David!"
- ³⁸So Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, Benaiah, son of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites and Pelethites went down, and mounting Solomon on King David's mule, escorted him to Gihon.
- ³⁹Then Zadok the priest took the horn of oil from the tent and anointed Solomon. They blew the horn and all the people shouted, "Long live King Solomon!"
- ⁴⁰Then all the people went up after him, playing flutes and rejoicing so much as to split open the earth with their shouting.

⁴¹ Adonijah and all the guests who were with him heard it, just as they ended their banquet. When Joab heard the sound of the horn, he asked, "What does this uproar in the city mean?"

⁴² As he was speaking, Jonathan, son of Abiathar the priest, arrived. "Come," said Adonijah, "you are a man of worth and must bring good news."

⁴³ "On the contrary!" Jonathan answered him. "Our lord, King David, has made Solomon king."

⁴⁴ The king sent with him Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, Benaiah, son of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites and Pelethites, and they mounted him upon the king's own mule.

⁴⁵ Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet anointed him king at Gihon, and they went up from there rejoicing, so that the city is in an uproar. That is the noise you heard.

⁴⁶ Besides, Solomon took his seat on the royal throne,

⁴⁷ and the king's servants went in and paid their respects to our lord, King David, saying, 'May God make Solomon more famous than you and exalt his throne more than your own!' And the king in his bed worshiped God,

⁴⁸ and this is what he said: 'Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, who has this day seated one of my sons upon my throne, so that I see it with my own eyes.'

⁴⁹ All the guests of Adonijah left in terror, each going his own way.

⁵⁰ Adonijah, in fear of Solomon, also left; he went and seized the horns of the altar.

⁵¹ It was reported to Solomon that Adonijah, in his fear of King Solomon, had seized the horns of the altar and said, "Let King Solomon first swear that he will not kill me, his servant, with the sword."

⁵² Solomon answered, "If he proves himself worthy, not a hair shall fall from his head. But if he is found guilty of crime, he shall die."

⁵³ King Solomon sent to have him brought down from the altar, and he came and paid homage to the king. Solomon then said to him, "Go to your home."

2 When the time of David's death drew near, he gave these instructions to his son Solomon:

²"I am going the way of all mankind. Take courage and be a man.

³Keep the mandate of the LORD, your God, following his ways and observing his statutes, commands, ordinances, and decrees as they are written in the law of Moses, that you may succeed in whatever you do, wherever you turn,

⁴and the LORD may fulfill the promise he made on my behalf when he said, 'If your sons so conduct themselves that they remain faithful to me with their whole heart and with their whole soul, you shall always have someone of your line on the throne of Israel.'

⁵You yourself know what Joab, son of Zeruiah, did to me when he slew the two generals of Israel's armies, Abner, son of Ner, and Amasa, son of Jether. He took revenge for the blood of war in a time of peace, and put bloodshed without provocation on the belt about my waist and the sandal on my foot.

⁶Act with the wisdom you possess; you must not allow him to go down to the grave in peaceful old age.

⁷"But be kind to the sons of Barzillai the Gileadite, and have them eat at your table. For they received me kindly when I was fleeing your brother Absalom.

⁸"You also have with you Shimei, son of Gera, the Benjaminite of Bahurim, who cursed me balefully when I was going to Mahanaim. Because he came down to meet me at the Jordan, I swore to him by the LORD that I would not put him to the sword.

⁹But you must not let him go unpunished. You are a prudent man and will know how to deal with him to send down his hoary head in blood to the grave."

¹⁰David rested with his ancestors and was buried in the City of David.

¹¹The length of David's reign over Israel was forty years: he reigned seven years in Hebron and thirty-three years in Jerusalem.

¹³Adonijah, son of Haggith, went to Bathsheba, the mother of Solomon. "Do you come as a friend?" she asked. "Yes," he answered,

¹⁴and added, "I have something to say to you." She replied, "Say it."

¹⁵So he said: "You know that the kingdom was mine, and all Israel expected me to be king. But the kingdom escaped me and became my brother's, for the LORD gave it to him.

¹⁶But now there is one favor I would ask of you. Do not refuse me." And she said, "Speak on."

¹⁷He said, "Please ask King Solomon, who will not refuse you, to give me Abishag the Shunamite for my wife."

¹⁸"Very well," replied Bathsheba, "I will speak to the king for you."

¹⁹Then Bathsheba went to King Solomon to speak to him for Adonijah, and the king stood up to meet her and paid her homage. Then he sat down upon his throne, and a throne was provided for the king's mother, who sat at his right.

²⁰"There is one small favor I would ask of you," she said. "Do not refuse me." "Ask it, my mother," the king said to her, "for I will not refuse you."

²¹So she said, "Let Abishag the Shunamite be given to your brother Adonijah for his wife."

²²"And why do you ask Abishag the Shunamite for Adonijah?" King Solomon answered his mother. "Ask the kingdom for him as well, for he is my elder brother and has with him Abiathar the priest and Joab, son of Zeruiah."

²³And King Solomon swore by the LORD: "May God do thus and so to me, and more besides, if Adonijah has not proposed this at the cost of his life.

²⁴And now, as the LORD lives, who has seated me firmly on the throne of my father David and made of me a dynasty as he promised, this day shall Adonijah be put to death."

²⁵Then King Solomon sent Benaiah, son of Jehoiada, who struck him dead.

²⁶The king said to Abiathar the priest: "Go to your land in Anathoth. Though you deserve to die, I will not put you to death this time, because you carried the ark of the Lord GOD before my father David and shared in all the hardships my father endured."

²⁷So Solomon deposed Abiathar from his office of priest of the LORD, thus fulfilling the prophecy which the LORD had made in Shiloh about the house of Eli.

²⁸When the news came to Joab, who had sided with Adonijah, though not with Absalom, he fled to the tent of the LORD and seized the horns of the altar.

²⁹King Solomon was told that Joab had fled to the tent of the LORD and was at the altar. He sent Benaiah, son of Jehoiada, with the order, "Go, strike him down."

³⁰Benaiah went to the tent of the LORD and said to him, "The king says, 'Come out.'" But he answered, "No! I will die here." Benaiah reported to the king, "This is what Joab said to me in reply."

³¹The king answered him: "Do as he has said, Strike him down and bury him, and you will remove from me and from my family the blood which Joab shed without provocation.

³²The LORD will hold him responsible for his own blood, because he struck down two men better and more just than himself, and slew them with the sword without my father David's knowledge: Abner, son of Ner, general of Israel's army, and Amasa, son of Jether, general of Judah's army.

³³Joab and his descendants shall be responsible forever for their blood. But there shall be the peace of the LORD forever for David, and his descendants, and his house, and his throne."

³⁴Benaiah, son of Jehoiada, went back, struck him down and killed him; he was buried in his house in the desert.

³⁵The king appointed Benaiah, son of Jehoiada, over the army in his place, and put Zadok the priest in place of Abiathar.

³⁶Then the king summoned Shimei and said to him: "Build yourself a house in Jerusalem and live there. Do not go anywhere else.

³⁷For if you leave, and cross the Kidron Valley, be certain you shall die without fail. You shall be responsible for your own blood."

³⁸Shimei answered the king: "I accept. Your servant will do just as the king's majesty has said." So Shimei stayed in Jerusalem for a long time.

³⁹But three years later, two of Shimei's servants ran away to Achish, son of Maacah, king of Gath, and Shimei was informed that his servants were in Gath.

⁴⁰So Shimei rose, saddled his ass, and went to Achish in Gath in search of his servants, whom he brought back.

⁴¹When Solomon was informed that Shimei had gone from Jerusalem to Gath, and had returned,

⁴²the king summoned Shimei and said to him: "Did I not have you swear by the LORD to your clear understanding of my warning that, if you left and went anywhere else, you should die without fail? And you answered, 'I accept and obey.'

⁴³Why, then, have you not kept the oath of the LORD and the command that I gave you?"

⁴⁴And the king said to Shimei: "You know in your heart the evil that you did to my father David. Now the LORD requites you for your own wickedness.

⁴⁶The king then gave the order to Benaiah, son of Jehoiada, who struck him dead as he left.

3With the royal power firmly in his grasp, Solomon allied himself by marriage with Pharaoh, king of Egypt. The daughter of Pharaoh, whom he married, he brought to the City of David, until he should finish building his palace, and the temple of the LORD, and the wall around Jerusalem.

²However, the people were sacrificing on the high places, for up to that time no temple had been built to the name of the LORD.

³Solomon loved the LORD, and obeyed the statutes of his father David; yet he offered sacrifice and burned incense on the high places.

⁴The king went to Gibeon to sacrifice there, because that was the most renowned high place. Upon its altar Solomon offered a thousand holocausts.

⁵In Gibeon the LORD appeared to Solomon in a dream at night. God said, "Ask something of me and I will give it to you."

⁶Solomon answered: "You have shown great favor to your servant, my father David, because he behaved faithfully toward you, with justice and an upright heart; and you have continued this great favor toward him, even today, seating a son of his on his throne.

⁷O LORD, my God, you have made me, your servant, king to succeed my father David; but I am a mere youth, not knowing at all how to act.

⁸I serve you in the midst of the people whom you have chosen, a people so vast that it cannot be numbered or counted.

⁹Give your servant, therefore, an understanding heart to judge your people and to distinguish right from wrong. For who is able to govern this vast people of yours?"

¹⁰The LORD was pleased that Solomon made this request.

¹¹So God said to him: "Because you have asked for this--not for a long life for yourself, nor for riches, nor for the life of your enemies, but for understanding so that you may know what is right--

¹²I do as you requested. I give you a heart so wise and understanding that there has never been anyone like you up to now, and after you there will come no one to equal you.

¹³In addition, I give you what you have not asked for, such riches and glory that among kings there is not your like.

¹⁴And if you follow me by keeping my statutes and commandments, as your father David did, I will give you a long life."

¹⁵When Solomon awoke from his dream, he went to Jerusalem, stood before the ark of the covenant of the LORD, offered holocausts and peace offerings, and gave a banquet for all his servants.

¹⁶Later, two harlots came to the king and stood before him.

¹⁷One woman said: "By your leave, my lord, this woman and I live in the same house, and I gave birth in the house while she was present.

¹⁸On the third day after I gave birth, this woman also gave birth. We were alone in the house; there was no one there but us two.

¹⁹This woman's son died during the night; she smothered him by lying on him.

²⁰Later that night she got up and took my son from my side, as I, your handmaid, was sleeping. Then she laid him in her bosom, after she had laid her dead child in my bosom.

²¹I rose in the morning to nurse my child, and I found him dead. But when I examined him in the morning light, I saw it was not the son whom I had borne."

²²The other woman answered, "It is not so! The living one is my son, the dead one is yours." But the first kept saying, "No, the dead one is your child, the living one is mine!" Thus they argued before the king.

²³Then the king said: "One woman claims, 'This, the living one, is my child, and the dead one is yours.' The other answers, 'No! The dead one is your child; the living one is mine.'"

²⁴The king continued, "Get me a sword." When they brought the sword before him,

²⁵he said, "Cut the living child in two, and give half to one woman and half to the other."

²⁶The woman whose son it was, in the anguish she felt for it, said to the king, "Please, my lord, give her the living child--please do not kill it!" The other, however, said, "It shall be neither mine nor yours. Divide it!"

²⁷The king then answered, "Give the first one the living child! By no means kill it, for she is the mother."

²⁸When all Israel heard the judgment the king had given, they were in awe of him, because they saw that the king had in him the wisdom of God for giving judgment.

4 Solomon was king over all Israel,

²and these were the officials he had in his service: Azariah, son of Zadok, priest;

³Elihoreph and Ahijah, sons of Shisha, scribes; Jehoshaphat, son of Ahilud, chancellor;

⁴(Benaiah, son of Jehoiada, commander of the army; Zadok and Abiathar, priests;)

⁵Azariah, son of Nathan, chief of the commissaries; Zabud, son of Nathan, companion to the king;

⁶Ahishar, major-domo of the palace; and Adoniram, son of Abda, superintendent of the forced labor.

⁷Solomon had twelve commissaries for all Israel who supplied food for the king and his household, each having to provide for one month in the year.

⁸Their names were: the son of Hur in the hill country of Ephraim;

⁹the son of Deker in Makaz, Shaalbim, Beth-shemesh, Elon and Beth-hanan;

¹⁰the son of Hesed in Arubboth, as well as in Socoh and the whole region of Hephher;

¹¹the son of Abinadab, who was married to Solomon's daughter Taphath, in all the Naphath-dor;

¹²Baana, son of Ahilud, in Taanach and Megiddo, and beyond Jokmeam, and in all Beth-shean, and in the country around Zarethan below Jezreel from Beth-shean to Abel-meholah;

¹³the son of Geber in Ramoth-gilead, having charge of the villages of Jair, son of Manasseh, in Gilead; and of the district of Argob in Bashan--sixty large walled cities with gates barred with bronze;

¹⁴Ahinadab, son of Iddo, in Mahanaim;

¹⁵Ahimaaz, who was married to Basemath, another daughter of Solomon, in Naphtali;

¹⁶Baana, son of Hushai, in Asher and along the rocky coast;

¹⁷Jehoshaphat, son of Paruah, in Issachar;

¹⁸Shimei, son of Ela, in Benjamin;

¹⁹Geber, son of Uri, in the land of Gilead, the land of Sihon, king of the Amorites, and of Og, king of Bashan. There was one prefect besides, in the king's own land.

²⁰Judah and Israel were as numerous as the sands by the sea; they ate and drank and made merry.

5 Solomon ruled over all the kingdoms from the River to the land of the Philistines, down to the border of Egypt; they paid Solomon tribute and were his vassals as long as he lived.

²Solomon's supplies for each day were thirty kors of fine flour, sixty kors of meal,

⁴He ruled over all the land west of the Euphrates, from Tiphseh to Gaza, and over all its kings, and he had peace on all his borders round about.

⁵Thus Judah and Israel lived in security, every man under his vine or under his fig tree from Dan to Beer-sheba, as long as Solomon lived.

⁷These commissaries, one for each month, provided food for King Solomon and for all the guests at the royal table. They left nothing unprovided.

⁸For the chariot horses and draft animals also, each brought his quota of barley and straw to the required place.

⁹Moreover, God gave Solomon wisdom and exceptional understanding and knowledge, as vast as the sand on the seashore.

¹⁰Solomon surpassed all the Edomites and all the Egyptians in wisdom.

¹¹He was wiser than all other men--than Ethan the Ezrahite, or Heman, Chalcol, and Darda, the musicians--and his fame spread throughout the neighboring nations.

¹²Solomon also uttered three thousand proverbs, and his songs numbered a thousand and five.

¹³He discussed plants, from the cedar on Lebanon to the hyssop growing out of the wall, and he spoke about beasts, birds, reptiles, and fishes.

¹⁴Men came to hear Solomon's wisdom from all nations, sent by all the kings of the earth who had heard of his wisdom.

¹⁵When Hiram, king of Tyre, heard that Solomon had been anointed king in place of his father, he sent an embassy to him; for Hiram had always been David's friend.

¹⁶Solomon sent back this message to Hiram:

¹⁷"You know that my father David, because of the enemies surrounding him on all sides, could not build a temple in honor of the LORD, his God, until such a time as the LORD should put these enemies under the soles of his feet.

¹⁸But now the LORD, my God, has given me peace on all sides. There is no enemy or threat of danger.

¹⁹So I purpose to build a temple in honor of the LORD, my God, as the LORD predicted to my father David when he said: 'It is your son whom I will put upon your throne in your place who shall build the temple in my honor.'

²⁰Give orders, then, to have cedars from the Lebanon cut down for me. My servants shall accompany yours, since you know that there is no one among us who is skilled in cutting timber like the Sidonians, and I will pay you whatever you say for your servants' salary."

²¹When he had heard the words of Solomon, Hiram was pleased and said, "Blessed be the LORD this day, who has given David a wise son to rule this numerous people."

²²Hiram then sent word to Solomon, "I agree to the proposal you sent me, and I will provide all the cedars and fir trees you wish.

²³My servants shall bring them down from the Lebanon to the sea, and I will arrange them into rafts in the sea and bring them wherever you say. There I will break up the rafts, and you shall take the lumber. You, for your part, shall furnish the provisions I desire for my household."

²⁵while Solomon every year gave Hiram twenty thousand kors of wheat to provide for his household, and twenty thousand measures of pure oil.

²⁶The LORD, moreover, gave Solomon wisdom as he promised him, and there was peace between Hiram and Solomon, since they were parties to a treaty.

²⁷King Solomon conscripted thirty thousand workmen from all Israel.

²⁸He sent them to the Lebanon each month in relays of ten thousand, so that they spent one month in the Lebanon and two months at home. Adoniram was in charge of the draft.

²⁹Solomon had seventy thousand carriers and eighty thousand stonecutters in the mountain,

³⁰in addition to three thousand three hundred overseers, answerable to Solomon's prefects for the work, directing the people engaged in the work.

³¹By order of the king, fine, large blocks were quarried to give the temple a foundation of hewn stone.

³²Solomon's and Hiram's builders, along with the Gebalites, hewed them out, and prepared the wood and stones for building the temple.

6 In the four hundred and eightieth year from the departure of the Israelites from the land of Egypt, in the fourth year of Solomon's reign over Israel, in the month of Ziv, which is the second month, the construction of the temple of the LORD was begun.

²The temple which King Solomon built for the LORD was sixty cubits long, twenty wide, and twenty-five high.

³The porch in front of the temple was twenty cubits from side to side, along the width of the nave, and ten cubits deep in front of the temple.

⁴Splayed windows with trellises were made for the temple,

⁵and adjoining the wall of the temple, which enclosed the nave and the sanctuary, an annex of several stories was built.

⁶Its lowest story was five cubits wide, the middle one six cubits wide, the third seven cubits wide, because there were offsets along the outside of the temple so that the beams would not be fastened into the walls of the temple.

⁷(The temple was built of stone dressed at the quarry, so that no hammer, axe, or iron tool was to be heard in the temple during its construction.)

⁸The entrance to the lowest floor of the annex was at the right side of the temple, and stairs with intermediate landings led up to the middle story and from the middle story to the third.

⁹When the temple was built to its full height, it was roofed in with rafters and boards of cedar.

¹⁰The annex, with its lowest story five cubits high, was built all along the outside of the temple, to which it was joined by cedar beams.

¹¹This word of the LORD came to Solomon:

¹²"As to this temple you are building--if you observe my statutes, carry out my ordinances, keep and obey all my commands, I will fulfill toward you the promise I made to your father David.

¹³I will dwell in the midst of the Israelites and will not forsake my people Israel."

¹⁴When Solomon finished building the temple,

¹⁵its walls were lined from floor to ceiling beams with cedar paneling, and its floor was laid with fir planking.

¹⁶At the rear of the temple a space of twenty cubits was set off by cedar partitions from the floor to the rafters, enclosing the sanctuary, the holy of holies.

¹⁷The nave, or part of the temple in front of the sanctuary, was forty cubits long.

¹⁸The cedar in the interior of the temple was carved in the form of gourds and open flowers; all was of cedar, and no stone was to be seen.

¹⁹In the innermost part of the temple was located the sanctuary to house the ark of the LORD'S covenant, ²⁰twenty cubits long, twenty wide, and twenty high.

²¹Solomon overlaid the interior of the temple with pure gold. He made in front of the sanctuary a cedar altar, overlaid it with gold, and looped it with golden chains.

²²The entire temple was overlaid with gold so that it was completely covered with it; the whole altar before the sanctuary was also overlaid with gold.

²³In the sanctuary were two cherubim, each ten cubits high, made of olive wood.

²⁴Each wing of a cherub measured five cubits so that the space from wing tip to wing tip of each was ten cubits.

²⁵The cherubim were identical in size and shape,

²⁶and each was exactly ten cubits high.

²⁷The cherubim were placed in the inmost part of the temple, with their wings spread wide, so that one wing of each cherub touched a side wall while the other wing, pointing toward the middle of the room, touched the corresponding wing of the second cherub.

²⁸The cherubim, too, were overlaid with gold.

²⁹The walls on all sides of both the inner and the outer rooms had carved figures of cherubim, palm trees, and open flowers.

³⁰The floor of both the inner and the outer rooms was overlaid with gold.

³¹At the entrance of the sanctuary, doors of olive wood were made; the doorframes had beveled posts.

³²The two doors were of olive wood, with carved figures of cherubim, palm trees, and open flowers. The doors were overlaid with gold, which was also molded to the cherubim and the palm trees.

³³The same was done at the entrance to the nave, where the doorposts of olive wood were rectangular.

³⁴The two doors were of fir wood; each door was banded by a metal strap, front and back, ³⁵and had carved cherubim, palm trees, and open flowers, over which gold was evenly applied.

³⁶The inner court was walled off by means of three courses of hewn stones and one course of cedar beams.

³⁷The foundations of the LORD'S temple were laid in the month of Ziv

³⁸in the fourth year, and it was completed in all particulars, exactly according to plan, in the month of Bul, the eighth month, in the eleventh year. Thus it took Solomon seven years to build it.

7 His own palace Solomon completed after thirteen years of construction.

²He built the hall called the Forest of Lebanon one hundred cubits long, fifty wide, and thirty high; it was supported by four rows of cedar columns, with cedar capitals upon the columns.

⁴There were three window frames at either end, with windows in strict alignment.

⁵The posts of all the doorways were rectangular, and the doorways faced each other, three at either end.

⁶The porch of the columned hall he made fifty cubits long and thirty wide. The porch extended the width of the columned hall, and there was a canopy in front.

⁷He also built the vestibule of the throne where he gave judgment--that is, the tribunal; it was paneled with cedar from floor to ceiling beams.

⁸His living quarters were in another court, set in deeper than the tribunal and of the same construction. A palace like this tribunal was built for Pharaoh's daughter, whom Solomon had married.

⁹All these buildings were of fine stones, hewn to size and trimmed front and back with a saw, from the foundation to the bonding course.

¹⁰(The foundation was made of fine, large blocks, some ten cubits and some eight cubits.

¹¹Above were fine stones hewn to size, and cedar wood.)

¹²The great court was enclosed by three courses of hewn stones and a bonding course of cedar beams. So also were the inner court of the temple of the LORD and the temple porch.

¹³King Solomon had Hiram brought from Tyre.

¹⁴He was a bronze worker, the son of a widow from the tribe of Naphtali; his father had been from Tyre. He was endowed with skill, understanding, and knowledge of how to produce any work in bronze. He came to King Solomon and did all his metal work.

¹⁵Two hollow bronze columns were cast, each eighteen cubits high and twelve cubits in circumference; their metal was of four fingers' thickness.

¹⁶There were also two capitals cast in bronze, to place on top of the columns, each of them five cubits high.

¹⁷Two pieces of network with a chainlike mesh were made to cover the (nodes of the) capitals on top of the columns, one for each capital.

¹⁸Four hundred pomegranates were also cast; two hundred of them in a double row encircled the piece of network on each of the two capitals.

¹⁹The capitals on top of the columns were finished wholly in a lotus pattern

²⁰above the level of the nodes and their enveloping network.

²¹The columns were then erected adjacent to the porch of the temple, one to the right, called Jachin, and the other to the left, called Boaz.

²²Thus the work on the columns was completed.

²³The sea was then cast; it was made with a circular rim, and measured ten cubits across, five in height, and thirty in circumference.

²⁴Under the brim, gourds encircled it, ten to the cubit all the way around; the gourds were in two rows and were cast in one mold with the sea.

²⁵This rested on twelve oxen, three facing north, three facing west, three facing south, and three facing east, with their haunches all toward the center, where the sea was set upon them.

²⁶It was a handbreadth thick, and its brim resembled that of a cup, being lily-shaped. Its capacity was two thousand measures.

- ²⁷Ten stands were also made of bronze, each four cubits long, four wide, and three high.
- ²⁸When these stands were constructed, panels were set within the framework.
- ²⁹On the panels between the frames there were lions, oxen, and cherubim; and on the frames likewise, above and below the lions and oxen, there were wreaths in relief.
- ³⁰Each stand had four bronze wheels and bronze axles.
- ³¹This was surmounted by a crown one cubit high within which was a rounded opening to provide a receptacle a cubit and a half in depth. There was carved work at the opening, on panels that were angular, not curved.
- ³²The four wheels were below the paneling, and the axletrees of the wheels and the stand were of one piece. Each wheel was a cubit and a half high.
- ³³The wheels were constructed like chariot wheels; their axles, felloes, spokes, and hubs were all cast. The four legs of each stand had cast braces, which were under the basin; they had wreaths on each side.
- ³⁴These four braces, extending to the corners of each stand, were of one piece with the stand.
- ³⁵On top of the stand there was a raised collar half a cubit high, with supports and panels which were of one piece with the top of the stand.
- ³⁶On the surfaces of the supports and on the panels, wherever there was a clear space, cherubim, lions, and palm trees were carved, as well as wreaths all around.
- ³⁷This was how the ten stands were made, all of the same casting, the same size, the same shape.
- ³⁸Ten bronze basins were then made, each four cubits in diameter with a capacity of forty measures, one basin for the top of each of the ten stands.
- ³⁹The stands were placed, five on the south side of the temple and five on the north. The sea was placed off to the southeast from the south side of the temple.
- ⁴⁰When Hiram made the pots, shovels, and bowls, he therewith completed all his work for King Solomon in the temple of the LORD:

⁴¹two columns, two nodes for the capitals on top of the columns, two pieces of network covering the nodes for the capitals on top of the columns,

⁴²four hundred pomegranates in double rows on both pieces of network that covered the two nodes of the capitals where they met the columns,

⁴³ten stands, ten basins on the stands,

⁴⁴one sea, twelve oxen supporting the sea,

⁴⁵pots, shovels, and bowls. All these articles which Hiram made for King Solomon in the temple of the LORD were of burnished bronze.

⁴⁶The king had them cast in the neighborhood of the Jordan, in the clayey ground between Succoth and Zarethan.

⁴⁷Solomon did not weigh all the articles because they were so numerous; the weight of the bronze, therefore, was not determined.

⁴⁸Solomon had all the articles made for the interior of the temple of the LORD: the golden altar; the golden table on which the showbread lay;

⁴⁹the lampstands of pure gold, five to the right and five to the left before the sanctuary, with their flowers, lamps, and tongs of gold;

⁵⁰basins, snuffers, bowls, cups, and fire pans of pure gold; and hinges of gold for the doors of the inner room, or holy of holies, and for the doors of the outer room, the nave.

⁵¹When all the work undertaken by King Solomon in the temple of the LORD was completed, he brought in the dedicated offerings of his father David, putting the silver, gold, and other articles in the treasuries of the temple of the LORD.

8 At the order of Solomon, the elders of Israel and all the leaders of the tribes, the princes in the ancestral houses of the Israelites, came to King Solomon in Jerusalem, to bring up the ark of the LORD'S covenant from the city of David (which is Zion).

²All the men of Israel assembled before King Solomon during the festival in the month of Ethanim (the seventh month).

³When all the elders of Israel had arrived, the priests took up the ark;

- ⁴they carried the ark of the LORD and the meeting tent with all the sacred vessels that were in the tent. (The priests and Levites carried them.)
- ⁵King Solomon and the entire community of Israel present for the occasion sacrificed before the ark sheep and oxen too many to number or count.
- ⁶The priests brought the ark of the covenant of the LORD to its place beneath the wings of the cherubim in the sanctuary, the holy of holies of the temple.
- ⁷The cherubim had their wings spread out over the place of the ark, sheltering the ark and its poles from above.
- ⁸The poles were so long that their ends could be seen from that part of the holy place adjoining the sanctuary; however, they could not be seen beyond. (They have remained there to this day.)
- ⁹There was nothing in the ark but the two stone tablets which Moses had put there at Horeb, when the LORD made a covenant with the Israelites at their departure from the land of Egypt.
- ¹⁰When the priests left the holy place, the cloud filled the temple of the LORD
- ¹¹so that the priests could no longer minister because of the cloud, since the LORD'S glory had filled the temple of the LORD.
- ¹²Then Solomon said, "The LORD intends to dwell in the dark cloud;
- ¹³I have truly built you a princely house, a dwelling where you may abide forever."
- ¹⁴The king turned and greeted the whole community of Israel as they stood.
- ¹⁵He said to them: "Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, who with his own mouth made a promise to my father David and by his hand has brought it to fulfillment. It was he who said,
- ¹⁶Since the day I brought my people Israel out of Egypt, I have not chosen a city out of any tribe of Israel for the building of a temple to my honor; but I choose David to rule my people Israel.'
- ¹⁷When my father David wished to build a temple to the honor of the LORD, the God of Israel,

¹⁸the LORD said to him, 'In wishing to build a temple to my honor, you do well.

¹⁹It will not be you, however, who will build the temple; but the son who will spring from you, he shall build the temple to my honor.'

²⁰And now the LORD has fulfilled the promise that he made: I have succeeded my father David and sit on the throne of Israel, as the LORD foretold, and I have built this temple to honor the LORD, the God of Israel.

²¹I have provided in it a place for the ark in which is the covenant of the LORD, which he made with our fathers when he brought them out of the land of Egypt."

²²Solomon stood before the altar of the LORD in the presence of the whole community of Israel, and stretching forth his hands toward heaven,

²³he said, "LORD, God of Israel, there is no God like you in heaven above or on earth below; you keep your covenant of kindness with your servants who are faithful to you with their whole heart.

²⁴You have kept the promise you made to my father David, your servant. You who spoke that promise, have this day, by your own power, brought it to fulfillment.

²⁵Now, therefore, LORD, God of Israel, keep the further promise you made to my father David, your servant, saying, 'You shall always have someone from your line to sit before me on the throne of Israel, provided only that your descendants look to their conduct so that they live in my presence, as you have lived in my presence.'

²⁶Now, LORD, God of Israel, may this promise which you made to my father David, your servant, be confirmed.

²⁷"Can it indeed be that God dwells among men on earth? If the heavens and the highest heavens cannot contain you, how much less this temple which I have built!

²⁸Look kindly on the prayer and petition of your servant, O LORD, my God, and listen to the cry of supplication which I, your servant, utter before you this day.

²⁹May your eyes watch night and day over this temple, the place where you have decreed you shall be honored; may you heed the prayer which I, your servant, offer in this place.

³⁰Listen to the petitions of your servant and of your people Israel which they offer in this place. Listen from your heavenly dwelling and grant pardon.

- ³¹"If a man sins against his neighbor and is required to take an oath sanctioned by a curse, when he comes and takes the oath before your altar in this temple,
- ³²listen in heaven; take action and pass judgment on your servants. Condemn the wicked and punish him for his conduct, but acquit the just and establish his innocence.
- ³³"If your people Israel sin against you and are defeated by an enemy, and if then they return to you, praise your name, pray to you, and entreat you in this temple,
- ³⁴listen in heaven and forgive the sin of your people Israel, and bring them back to the land you gave their fathers.
- ³⁵"If the sky is closed, so that there is no rain, because they have sinned against you and you afflict them, and if then they repent of their sin, and pray, and praise your name in this place,
- ³⁶listen in heaven and forgive the sin of your servant and of your people Israel, teaching them the right way to live and sending rain upon this land of yours which you have given to your people as their heritage.
- ³⁷"If there is famine in the land or pestilence; or if blight comes, or mildew, or a locust swarm, or devouring insects; if an enemy of your people besieges them in one of their cities; whatever plague or sickness there may be,
- ³⁸if then any one (of your entire people Israel) has remorse of conscience and offers some prayer or petition, stretching out his hands toward this temple,
- ³⁹listen from your heavenly dwelling place and forgive. You who alone know the hearts of all men, render to each one of them according to his conduct; knowing their hearts, so treat them
- ⁴⁰that they may fear you as long as they live on the land you gave our fathers.
- ⁴¹"To the foreigner, likewise, who is not of your people Israel, but comes from a distant land to honor you
- ⁴²(since men will learn of your great name and your mighty hand and your outstretched arm), when he comes and prays toward this temple,

⁴³listen from your heavenly dwelling. Do all that the foreigner asks of you, that all the peoples of the earth may know your name, may fear you as do your people Israel, and may acknowledge that this temple which I have built is dedicated to your honor.

⁴⁴"Whatever the direction in which you may send your people forth to war against their enemies, if they pray to you, O LORD, toward the city you have chosen and the temple I have built in your honor, ⁴⁵listen in heaven to their prayer and petition, and defend their cause.

⁴⁶"When they sin against you (for there is no man who does not sin), and in your anger against them you deliver them to the enemy, so that their captors deport them to a hostile land, far or near,

⁴⁷may they repent in the land of their captivity and be converted. If then they entreat you in the land of their captors and say, 'We have sinned and done wrong; we have been wicked';

⁴⁸if with their whole heart and soul they turn back to you in the land of the enemies who took them captive, pray to you toward the land you gave their fathers, the city you have chosen, and the temple I have built in your honor,

⁴⁹listen from your heavenly dwelling.

⁵⁰Forgive your people their sins and all the offenses they have committed against you, and grant them mercy before their captors, so that these will be merciful to them.

⁵¹For they are your people and your inheritance, whom you brought out of Egypt, from the midst of an iron furnace.

⁵²"Thus may your eyes be open to the petition of your servant and to the petition of your people Israel. Hear them whenever they call upon you,

⁵³because you have set them apart among all the peoples of the earth for your inheritance, as you declared through your servant Moses when you brought our fathers out of Egypt, O Lord GOD."

⁵⁴When Solomon finished offering this entire prayer of petition to the LORD, he rose from before the altar of the LORD, where he had been kneeling with his hands outstretched toward heaven.

⁵⁵He stood and blessed the whole community of Israel, saying in a loud voice:

⁵⁶"Blessed be the LORD who has given rest to his people Israel, just as he promised. Not a single word has gone unfulfilled of the entire generous promise he made through his servant Moses.

⁵⁷May the LORD, our God, be with us as he was with our fathers and may he not forsake us nor cast us off.

⁵⁸May he draw our hearts to himself, that we may follow him in everything and keep the commands, statutes, and ordinances which he enjoined on our fathers.

⁵⁹May this prayer I have offered to the LORD, our God, be present to him day and night, that he may uphold the cause of his servant and of his people Israel as each day requires, ⁶⁰that all the peoples of the earth may know the LORD is God and there is no other.

⁶¹You must be wholly devoted to the LORD, our God, observing his statutes and keeping his commandments, as on this day."

⁶²The king and all Israel with him offered sacrifices before the LORD.

⁶³Solomon offered as peace offerings to the LORD twenty-two thousand oxen and one hundred twenty thousand sheep. Thus the king and all the Israelites dedicated the temple of the LORD.

⁶⁴On that day the king consecrated the middle of the court facing the temple of the LORD; he offered there the holocausts, the cereal offerings, and the fat of the peace offerings, because the bronze altar before the LORD was too small to hold these offerings.

⁶⁵On this occasion Solomon and all the Israelites, who had assembled in large numbers from Labo of Hamath to the Wadi of Egypt, celebrated the festival before the LORD, our God, for seven days.

⁶⁶On the eighth day he dismissed the people, who bade the king farewell and went to their homes, rejoicing and happy over all the blessings the LORD had given to his servant David and to his people Israel.

9 After Solomon finished building the temple of the LORD, the royal palace, and everything else that he had planned, ²the LORD appeared to him a second time, as he had appeared to him in Gibeon.

³The LORD said to him: "I have heard the prayer of petition which you offered in my presence. I have consecrated this temple which you have built; I confer my name upon it forever, and my eyes and my heart shall be there always.

⁴As for you, if you live in my presence as your father David lived, sincerely and uprightly, doing just as I have commanded you, keeping my statutes and decrees,

⁵I will establish your throne of sovereignty over Israel forever, as I promised your father David when I said, 'You shall always have someone from your line on the throne of Israel.'

⁶But if you and your descendants ever withdraw from me, fail to keep the commandments and statutes which I set before you, and proceed to venerate and worship strange gods,

⁷I will cut off Israel from the land I gave them and repudiate the temple I have consecrated to my honor. Israel shall become a proverb and a byword among all nations,

⁸and this temple shall become a heap of ruins. Every passerby shall catch his breath in amazement, and ask, 'Why has the LORD done this to the land and to this temple?'

⁹Men will answer: 'They forsook the LORD, their God, who brought their fathers out of the land of Egypt; they adopted strange gods which they worshiped and served. That is why the LORD has brought down upon them all this evil.'

¹⁰After the twenty years during which Solomon built the two houses, the temple of the LORD and the palace of the king--

¹¹Hiram, king of Tyre, supplying Solomon with all the cedar wood, fir wood, and gold he wished--King Solomon gave Hiram twenty cities in the land of Galilee.

¹²Hiram left Tyre to see the cities Solomon had given him, but was not satisfied with them.

¹³So he said, "What are these cities you have given me, my brother?" And he called them the land of Cabul, as they are called to this day.

¹⁴Hiram, however, had sent king Solomon one hundred and twenty talents of gold.

¹⁵This is an account of the forced labor which King Solomon levied in order to build the temple of the LORD, his palace, Millo, the wall of Jerusalem, Hazor, Megiddo, Gezer

¹⁶(Pharaoh, king of Egypt, had come up and taken Gezer and, after destroying it by fire and slaying all the Canaanites living in the city, had given it as dowry to his daughter, Solomon's wife; ¹⁷Solomon then rebuilt Gezer), Lower Beth-horon,

¹⁸Baalath, Tamar in the desert of Judah,

¹⁹all his cities for supplies, cities for chariots and for horses, and whatever else Solomon decided should be built in Jerusalem, in Lebanon, and in the entire land under his dominion.

²⁰All the non-Israelite people who remained in the land, descendants of the Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites

²¹whose doom the Israelites had been unable to accomplish, Solomon conscripted as forced laborers, as they are to this day.

²²But Solomon enslaved none of the Israelites, for they were his fighting force, his ministers, commanders, adjutants, chariot officers, and charioteers.

²³The supervisors of Solomon's works who policed the people engaged in the work numbered five hundred and fifty.

²⁴As soon as Pharaoh's daughter went up from the City of David to her palace, which he had built for her, Solomon built Millo.

²⁵Three times a year Solomon used to offer holocausts and peace offerings on the altar which he had built to the LORD, and to burn incense before the LORD; and he kept the temple in repair.

²⁶King Solomon also built a fleet at Ezion-geber, which is near Elath on the shore of the Red Sea in the land of Edom.

²⁸They went to Ophir, and brought back four hundred and twenty talents of gold to King Solomon.

10 The queen of Sheba, having heard of Solomon's fame, came to test him with subtle questions.

²She arrived in Jerusalem with a very numerous retinue, and with camels bearing spices, a large amount of gold, and precious stones. She came to Solomon and questioned him on every subject in which she was interested.

³King Solomon explained everything she asked about, and there remained nothing hidden from him that he could not explain to her.

⁴When the queen of Sheba witnessed Solomon's great wisdom, the palace he had built, ⁵the food at his table, the seating of his ministers, the attendance and garb of his waiters, his banquet service, and the holocausts he offered in the temple of the LORD, she was breathless.

⁶"The report I heard in my country about your deeds and your wisdom is true," she told the king.

⁷"Though I did not believe the report until I came and saw with my own eyes, I have discovered that they were not telling me the half. Your wisdom and prosperity surpass the report I heard.

⁸Happy are your men, happy these servants of yours, who stand before you always and listen to your wisdom.

⁹Blessed be the LORD, your God, whom it has pleased to place you on the throne of Israel. In his enduring love for Israel, the LORD has made you king to carry out judgment and justice."

¹⁰Then she gave the king one hundred and twenty gold talents, a very large quantity of spices, and precious stones. Never again did anyone bring such an abundance of spices as the queen of Sheba gave to King Solomon.

¹¹Hiram's fleet, which used to bring gold from Ophir, also brought from there a large quantity of cabinet wood and precious stones.

¹²With the wood the king made supports for the temple of the LORD and for the palace of the king, and harps and lyres for the chanters. No more such wood was brought or seen to the present day.

¹³King Solomon gave the queen of Sheba everything she desired and asked for, besides such presents as were given her from Solomon's royal bounty. Then she returned with her servants to her own country.

¹⁴The gold that Solomon received every year weighed six hundred and sixty-six gold talents,

¹⁵in addition to what came from the Tarshish fleet, from the traffic of merchants, and from all the kings of Arabia and the governors of the country.

¹⁶Moreover, King Solomon made two hundred shields of beaten gold (six hundred gold shekels went into each shield)

¹⁷and three hundred bucklers of beaten gold (three minas of gold went into each buckler); and he put them in the hall of the Forest of Lebanon.

¹⁸The king also had a large ivory throne made, and overlaid it with refined gold.

¹⁹The throne had six steps, a back with a round top, and an arm on each side of the seat. Next to each arm stood a lion;

²⁰and twelve other lions stood on the steps, two to a step, one on either side of each step. Nothing like this was produced in any other kingdom.

²¹In addition, all King Solomon's drinking vessels were of gold, and all the utensils in the hall of the Forest of Lebanon were of pure gold. There was no silver, for in Solomon's time it was considered worthless.

²²The king had a fleet of Tarshish ships at sea with Hiram's fleet. Once every three years the fleet of Tarshish ships would come with a cargo of gold, silver, ivory, apes, and monkeys.

²³Thus King Solomon surpassed in riches and wisdom all the kings of the earth.

²⁴And the whole world sought audience with Solomon, to hear from him the wisdom which God had put in his heart.

²⁵Each one brought his yearly tribute: silver or gold articles, garments, weapons, spices, horses and mules.

²⁶Solomon collected chariots and drivers; he had one thousand four hundred chariots and twelve thousand drivers; these he allocated among the chariot cities and to the king's service in Jerusalem.

²⁷The king made silver as common in Jerusalem as stones, and cedars as numerous as the sycamores of the foothills.

²⁸Solomon's horses were imported from Cilicia, where the king's agents purchased them.

²⁹A chariot imported from Egypt cost six hundred shekels, a horse one hundred and fifty shekels; they were exported at these rates to all the Hittite and Aramean kings.

11 King Solomon loved many foreign women besides the daughter of Pharaoh (Moabites, Ammonites, Edomites, Sidonians, and Hittites), ²from nations with which the LORD had forbidden the Israelites to intermarry, "because," he said, "they will turn your hearts to their gods." But Solomon fell in love with them.

³He had seven hundred wives of princely rank and three hundred concubines, and his wives turned his heart.

⁴When Solomon was old his wives had turned his heart to strange gods, and his heart was not entirely with the LORD, his God, as the heart of his father David had been.

⁵By adoring Astarte, the goddess of the Sidonians, and Milcom, the idol of the Ammonites, ⁶Solomon did evil in the sight of the LORD; he did not follow him unreservedly as his father David had done.

⁷Solomon then built a high place to Chemosh, the idol of Moab, and to Molech, the idol of the Ammonites, on the hill opposite Jerusalem.

⁸He did the same for all his foreign wives who burned incense and sacrificed to their gods.

⁹The LORD, therefore, became angry with Solomon, because his heart was turned away from the LORD, the God of Israel, who had appeared to him twice

¹⁰(for though the LORD had forbidden him this very act of following strange gods, Solomon had not obeyed him).

¹¹So the LORD said to Solomon: "Since this is what you want, and you have not kept my covenant and my statutes which I enjoined on you, I will deprive you of the kingdom and give it to your servant.

¹²I will not do this during your lifetime, however, for the sake of your father David; it is your son whom I will deprive.

¹³Nor will I take away the whole kingdom. I will leave your son one tribe for the sake of my servant David and of Jerusalem, which I have chosen."

¹⁴The LORD then raised up an adversary to Solomon: Hadad the Edomite, who was of the royal line in Edom.

¹⁵Earlier, when David had conquered Edom, Joab, the general of the army, while going to bury the slain, put to death every male in Edom.

¹⁶Joab and all Israel remained there six months until they had killed off every male in Edom.

¹⁷Meanwhile, Hadad, who was only a boy, fled toward Egypt with some Edomite servants of his father.

¹⁸They left Midian and passing through Paran, where they picked up additional men, they went into Egypt to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, who gave Hadad a house, appointed him rations, and assigned him land.

¹⁹Hadad won great favor with Pharaoh, so that he gave him in marriage the sister of Queen Tahpenes, his own wife.

²⁰Tahpenes' sister bore Hadad a son, Genubath. After his weaning, the queen kept him in Pharaoh's palace, where he then lived with Pharaoh's own sons.

²¹When Hadad in Egypt heard that David rested with his ancestors and that Joab, the general of the army, was dead, he said to Pharaoh, "Give me leave to return to my own country."

²²Pharaoh said to him, "What do you lack with me, that you are seeking to return to your own country?" "Nothing," he said, "but please let me go!"

²³God raised up against Solomon another adversary, in Rezon, the son of Eliada, who had fled from his lord, Hadadezer, king of Zobah, ²⁴when David defeated them with slaughter. Rezon gathered men about him and became leader of a band, went to Damascus, settled there, and became king in Damascus.

²⁵He was an enemy of Israel as long as Solomon lived; this added to the harm done by Hadad, who made a rift in Israel by becoming king over Edom.

²⁶Solomon's servant Jeroboam, son of Nebat, an Ephraimite from Zeredah with a widowed mother, Zeruah, also rebelled against the king.

²⁷This is why he rebelled. King Solomon was building Millo, closing up the breach of his father's City of David.

²⁸Jeroboam was a man of means, and when Solomon saw that he was also an industrious young man, he put him in charge of the entire labor force of the house of Joseph.

²⁹At that time Jeroboam left Jerusalem, and the prophet Ahijah the Shilonite met him on the road. The two were alone in the area, and the prophet was wearing a new cloak.

³⁰Ahijah took off his new cloak, tore it into twelve pieces,

³¹and said to Jeroboam: "Take ten pieces for yourself; the LORD, the God of Israel, says: 'I will tear away the kingdom from Solomon's grasp and will give you ten of the tribes.

³²One tribe shall remain to him for the sake of David my servant, and of Jerusalem, the city I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel.

³³The ten I will give you because he has forsaken me and has worshiped Astarte, goddess of the Sidonians, Chemosh, god of Moab, and Milcom, god of the Ammonites; he has not followed my ways or done what is pleasing to me according to my statutes and my decrees, as his father David did.

³⁴Yet I will not take any of the kingdom from Solomon himself, but will keep him a prince as long as he lives for the sake of my servant David, whom I chose, who kept my commandments and statutes.

³⁵But I will take the kingdom from his son and will give it to you--that is, the ten tribes.

³⁶I will give his son one tribe, that my servant David may always have a lamp before me in Jerusalem, the city in which I choose to be honored.

³⁷I will take you; you shall reign over all that you desire and shall become king of Israel.

³⁸If, then, you heed all that I command you, follow my ways, and please me by keeping my statutes and my commandments like my servant David, I will be with you. I will establish for you, as I did for David, a lasting dynasty; I will give Israel to you.

³⁹I will punish David's line for this, but not forever."

⁴⁰When Solomon tried to have Jeroboam killed for his rebellion, he escaped to King Shishak, in Egypt, where he remained until Solomon's death.

⁴²The time that Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel was forty years.

⁴³Solomon rested with his ancestors; he was buried in his father's City of David, and his son Rehoboam succeeded him as king.

12

Rehoboam went to Shechem, where all Israel had come to proclaim him king.

²Jeroboam, son of Nebat, who was still in Egypt, where he had fled from King Solomon, returned from Egypt as soon as he learned this.

³They said to Rehoboam:

⁴"Your father put on us a heavy yoke. If you now lighten the harsh service and the heavy yoke your father imposed on us, we will serve you."

⁵"Come back to me in three days," he answered them. When the people had departed,

⁶King Rehoboam consulted the elders who had been in his father's service while he was alive, and asked, "What answer do you advise me to give this people?"

- ⁷They replied, "If today you will be the servant of this people and submit to them, giving them a favorable answer, they will be your servants forever."
- ⁸But he ignored the advice the elders had given him, and consulted the young men who had grown up with him and were in his service.
- ⁹He said to them, "What answer do you advise me to give this people, who have asked me to lighten the yoke my father imposed on them?"
- ¹⁰The young men who had grown up with him replied, "This is what you must say to this people who have asked you to lighten the yoke your father put on them: 'My little finger is thicker than my father's body.
- ¹¹Whereas my father put a heavy yoke on you, I will make it heavier. My father beat you with whips, but I will beat you with scorpions."
- ¹²On the third day all Israel came back to King Rehoboam, as he had instructed them to do.
- ¹³Ignoring the advice the elders had given him, the king gave the people a harsh answer.
- ¹⁴He said to them, as the young men had advised: "My father put on you a heavy yoke, but I will make it heavier. My father beat you with whips, but I will beat you with scorpions."
- ¹⁵The king did not listen to the people, for the LORD brought this about to fulfill the prophecy he had uttered to Jeroboam, son of Nebat, through Ahijah the Shilonite.
- ¹⁶When all Israel saw that the king did not listen to them, the people answered the king: "What share have we in David? We have no heritage in the son of Jesse. To your tents, O Israel! Now look to your own house, David." So Israel went off to their tents,
- ¹⁷but Rehoboam reigned over the Israelites who lived in the cities of Judah.
- ¹⁸King Rehoboam then sent out Adoram, superintendent of the forced labor, but all Israel stoned him to death. Rehoboam managed to mount his chariot to flee to Jerusalem,
- ¹⁹and Israel went into rebellion against David's house to this day.

²⁰When all Israel heard that Jeroboam had returned, they summoned him to an assembly and made him king over all Israel. None remained loyal to David's house except the tribe of Judah alone.

²¹On his arrival in Jerusalem, Rehoboam gathered together all the house of Judah and the tribe of Benjamin--one hundred and eighty thousand seasoned warriors--to fight against the house of Israel, to restore the kingdom to Rehoboam, son of Solomon.

²²However, the LORD spoke to Shemaiah, a man of God:

²³"Say to Rehoboam, son of Solomon, king of Judah, and to the house of Judah and to Benjamin, and to the rest of the people:

²⁴Thus says the LORD: You must not march out to fight against your brother Israelites. Let every man return home, for I have brought this about." They accepted this message of the LORD and gave up the expedition accordingly.

²⁵Jeroboam built up Shechem in the hill country of Ephraim and lived there. Then he left it and built up Penuel.

²⁶Jeroboam thought to himself: "The kingdom will return to David's house.

²⁷If now this people go up to offer sacrifices in the temple of the LORD in Jerusalem, the hearts of this people will return to their master, Rehoboam, king of Judah, and they will kill me."

²⁸After taking counsel, the king made two calves of gold and said to the people: "You have been going up to Jerusalem long enough. Here is your God, O Israel, who brought you up from the land of Egypt."

²⁹And he put one in Bethel, the other in Dan.

³⁰This led to sin, because the people frequented these calves in Bethel and in Dan.

³¹He also built temples on the high places and made priests from among the people who were not Levites.

³²Jeroboam established a feast in the eighth month on the fifteenth day of the month to duplicate in Bethel the pilgrimage feast of Judah, with sacrifices to the calves he had made; and he stationed in Bethel priests of the high places he had built.

³³ Jeroboam ascended the altar he built in Bethel on the fifteenth day of the eighth month, the month in which he arbitrarily chose to establish a feast for the Israelites; he was going to offer sacrifice.

13 A man of God came from Judah to Bethel by the word of the LORD, while Jeroboam was standing at the altar to offer sacrifice.

² He cried out against the altar the word of the LORD: "O altar, altar, the LORD says, 'A child shall be born to the house of David, Josiah by name, who shall slaughter upon you the priests of the high places who offer sacrifice upon you, and he shall burn human bones upon you.'"

³ He gave a sign that same day and said: "This is the sign that the LORD has spoken: The altar shall break up and the ashes on it shall be strewn about.

⁴ When King Jeroboam heard what the man of God was crying out against the altar, he stretched forth his hand from the altar and said, "Seize him!" But the hand he stretched forth against him withered, so that he could not draw it back.

⁵ Moreover, the altar broke up and the ashes from it were strewn about--the sign the man of God had given as the word of the LORD.

⁶ Then the king appealed to the man of God. "Entreat the LORD, your God," he said, "and intercede for me that I may be able to withdraw my hand." So the man of God entreated the LORD, and the king recovered the normal use of his hand.

⁷ "Come home with me for some refreshment," the king invited the man of God, "and I will give you a present."

⁸ "If you gave me half your kingdom," the man of God said to the king, "I would not go with you, nor eat bread or drink water in this place.

⁹ For I was instructed by the word of the LORD not to eat bread or drink water and not to return by the way I came."

¹⁰ So he departed by another road and did not go back the way he had come to Bethel.

¹¹ There was an old prophet living in the city, whose sons came and told him all that the man of God had done that day in Bethel. When they repeated to their father the words he had spoken to the king, ¹²the father asked them, "Which way did he go?" And his sons pointed out to him the road taken by the man of God who had come from Judah.

¹³Then he said to his sons, "Saddle the ass for me." When they had saddled it, he mounted

¹⁴and followed the man of God, whom he found seated under a terebinth. When he asked him, "Are you the man of God who came from Judah?" he answered, "Yes."

¹⁵Then he said, "Come home with me and have some bread."

¹⁶"I cannot go back with you, and I cannot eat bread or drink water with you in this place," he answered,

¹⁷"for I was told by the word of the LORD neither to eat bread nor drink water here, and not to go back the way I came."

¹⁸But he said to him, "I, too, am a prophet like you, and an angel told me in the word of the LORD to bring you back with me to my house and to have you eat bread and drink water." He was lying to him, however.

¹⁹So he went back with him, and ate bread and drank water in his house.

²⁰But while they were sitting at table, the LORD spoke to the prophet who had brought him back,

²¹and he cried out to the man of God who had come from Judah: "The LORD says, 'Because you rebelled against the command of the LORD and did not keep the command which the LORD, your God, gave you,

²²but returned and ate bread and drank water in the place where he told you to do neither, your corpse shall not be brought to the grave of your ancestors.'"

²³After he had eaten bread and drunk water, the ass was saddled for him, and he again

²⁴set out. But a lion met him on the road, and killed him. His corpse lay sprawled on the road, and the ass remained standing by it, and so did the lion.

²⁵Some passers-by saw the body lying in the road, with the lion standing beside it, and carried the news to the city where the old prophet lived.

²⁶On hearing it, the prophet who had brought him back from his journey said: "It is the man of God who rebelled against the command of the LORD. He has delivered him to a lion, which mangled and killed him, as the LORD predicted to him."

²⁷Then he said to his sons, "Saddle the ass for me." When they had saddled it, ²⁸he went off and found the body lying in the road with the ass and the lion standing beside it. The lion had not eaten the body nor had it harmed the ass.

²⁹The prophet lifted up the body of the man of God and put it on the ass, and brought it back to the city to mourn over it and to bury it.

³⁰He laid the man's body in his own grave, and they mourned over it: "Alas, my brother!"

³¹After he had buried him, he said to his sons, "When I die, bury me in the grave where the man of God is buried. Lay my remains beside his.

³²For the word of the LORD which he proclaimed against the altar in Bethel and against all the shrines on the high places in the cities of Samaria shall certainly come to pass."

³³Jeroboam did not give up his evil ways after this event, but again made priests for the high places from among the common people. Whoever desired it was consecrated and became a priest of the high places.

³⁴This was a sin on the part of the house of Jeroboam for which it was to be cut off and destroyed from the earth.

14 At that time Abijah, son of Jeroboam, took sick.

²So Jeroboam said to his wife, "Get ready and disguise yourself so that none will recognize you as Jeroboam's wife. Then go to Shiloh, where you will find the prophet Ahijah. It was he who predicted my reign over this people.

³Take along ten loaves, some cakes, and a jar of preserves, and go to him. He will tell you what will happen to the child."

⁴The wife of Jeroboam obeyed. She made the journey to Shiloh and entered the house of Ahijah who could not see because age had dimmed his sight.

⁵The LORD had said to Ahijah: "Jeroboam's wife is coming to consult you about her son, for he is sick. This is what you must tell her. When she comes, she will be in disguise."

⁶So Ahijah, hearing the sound of her footsteps as she entered the door, said, "Come in, wife of Jeroboam. Why are you in disguise? I have been commissioned to give you bitter news.

⁷Go, tell Jeroboam, 'This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: I exalted you from among the people and made you ruler of my people Israel.

⁸I deprived the house of David of the kingdom and gave it to you. Yet you have not been like my servant David, who kept my commandments and followed me with his whole heart, doing only what pleased me.

⁹You have done worse than all who preceded you: you have gone and made for yourself strange gods and molten images to provoke me; but me you have cast behind your back.

¹⁰Therefore, I am bringing evil upon the house of Jeroboam: I will cut off every male in Jeroboam's line, whether slave or freeman in Israel, and will burn up the house of Jeroboam completely, as though dung were being burned.

¹¹When one of Jeroboam's line dies in the city, dogs will devour him; when one of them dies in the field, he will be devoured by the birds of the sky. For the LORD has spoken!

¹²So leave; go home! As you step inside the city, the child will die,

¹³and all Israel will mourn him and bury him, for he alone of Jeroboam's line will be laid in the grave, since in him alone of Jeroboam's house has something pleasing to the LORD, the God of Israel, been found.

¹⁴Today, at this very moment, the LORD will raise up for himself a king of Israel who will destroy the house of Jeroboam.

¹⁶He will give up Israel because of the sins Jeroboam has committed and caused Israel to commit."

- ¹⁷So Jeroboam's wife started back; when she reached Tirzah and crossed the threshold of her house, the child died.
- ¹⁸He was buried with all Israel mourning him, as the LORD had prophesied through his servant the prophet Ahijah.
- ¹⁹The rest of the acts of Jeroboam, with his warfare and his reign, are recorded in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.
- ²⁰The length of Jeroboam's reign was twenty-two years. He rested with his ancestors, and his son Nadab succeeded him as king.
- ²¹Rehoboam, son of Solomon, reigned in Judah. He was forty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city in which, out of all the tribes of Israel, the LORD chose to be honored. His mother was the Ammonite named Naamah.
- ²²Judah did evil in the sight of the LORD, and by their sins angered him even more than their fathers had done.
- ²³They, too, built for themselves high places, pillars, and sacred poles, upon every high hill and under every green tree.
- ²⁴There were also cult prostitutes in the land. Judah imitated all the abominable practices of the nations whom the LORD had cleared out of the Israelites' way.
- ²⁵In the fifth year of King Rehoboam, Shishak, king of Egypt, attacked Jerusalem.
- ²⁶He took everything, including the treasures of the temple of the LORD and those of the royal palace, as well as all the gold shields made under Solomon.
- ²⁷To replace them, King Rehoboam had bronze shields made, which he entrusted to the officers of the guard on duty at the entrance of the royal palace.
- ²⁸Whenever the king visited the temple of the LORD, those on duty would carry the shields, and then return them to the guardroom.
- ²⁹The rest of the acts of Rehoboam, with all that he did, are recorded in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah.
- ³⁰There was constant warfare between Rehoboam and Jeroboam.

³¹Rehoboam rested with his ancestors; he was buried with them in the City of David. His mother was the Ammonite named Naamah. His son Abijam succeeded him as king.

15 In the eighteenth year of King Jeroboam, son of Nebat, Abijam became king of Judah;

²he reigned three years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Maacah, daughter of Abishalom.

³He imitated all the sins his father had committed before him, and his heart was not entirely with the LORD, his God, like the heart of his grandfather David.

⁴Yet for David's sake the LORD, his God, gave him a lamp in Jerusalem, raising up his son after him and permitting Jerusalem to endure;

⁵because David had pleased the LORD and did not disobey any of his commands as long as he lived, except in the case of Uriah the Hittite.

⁶There was war between Abijam and Jeroboam.

⁷The rest of Abijam's acts, with all that he did, are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah.

⁸Abijam rested with his ancestors; he was buried in the City of David, and his son Asa succeeded him as king.

⁹In the twentieth year of Jeroboam, king of Israel, Asa, king of Judah, began to reign;

¹⁰he reigned forty-one years in Jerusalem. His grandmother's name was Maacah, daughter of Abishalom.

¹¹Asa pleased the LORD like his forefather David,

¹²banishing the temple prostitutes from the land and removing all the idols his father had made.

¹³He also deposed his grandmother Maacah from her position as queen mother, because she had made an outrageous object for Asherah. Asa cut down this object and burned it in the Kidron Valley.

- ¹⁴The high places did not disappear; yet Asa's heart was entirely with the LORD as long as he lived.
- ¹⁵He brought into the temple of the LORD his father's and his own votive offerings of silver, gold, and various utensils.
- ¹⁶There was war between Asa and Baasha, king of Israel, as long as they both reigned.
- ¹⁷Baasha, king of Israel, attacked Judah and fortified Ramah to prevent communication with Asa, king of Judah.
- ¹⁸Asa then took all the silver and gold remaining in the treasuries of the temple of the LORD and of the royal palace. Entrusting them to his ministers, King Asa sent them to Ben-hadad, son of Tabrimmon, son of Hezion, king of Aram, resident in Damascus. He said:
- ¹⁹"There is a treaty between you and me, as there was between your father and my father. I am sending you a present of silver and gold. Go, break your treaty with Baasha, king of Israel, that he may withdraw from me."
- ²⁰Ben-hadad agreed with King Asa and sent the leaders of his troops against the cities of Israel. They attacked Ijon, Dan, Abel-beth-maacah, and all Chinnereth, besides all the land of Naphtali.
- ²¹When Baasha heard of it, he left off fortifying Ramah, and stayed in Tirzah.
- ²²Then King Asa summoned all Judah without exception, and they carried away the stones and beams with which Baasha was fortifying Ramah. With them King Asa built Geba of Benjamin and Mizpeh.
- ²³The rest of the acts of Asa, with all his valor and accomplishments, and the cities he built, are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah. In his old age, Asa had an infirmity in his feet.
- ²⁴He rested with his ancestors; he was buried in his forefather's City of David, and his son Jehoshaphat succeeded him as king.
- ²⁵In the second year of Asa, king of Judah, Nadab, son of Jeroboam, became king of Israel; he reigned over Israel two years.

²⁶He did evil in the LORD'S sight, imitating his father's conduct and the sin which he had caused Israel to commit.

²⁷Baasha, son of Ahijah, of the house of Issachar, plotted against him and struck him down at Gibbethon of the Philistines, which Nadab and all Israel were besieging.

²⁸Baasha killed him in the third year of Asa, king of Judah, and reigned in his stead.

²⁹Once he was king, he killed off the entire house of Jeroboam, not leaving a single soul to Jeroboam but destroying him utterly, according to the warning which the LORD had pronounced through his servant, Ahijah the Shilonite, ³⁰because of the sins Jeroboam committed and caused Israel to commit, by which he provoked the LORD, the God of Israel, to anger.

³¹The rest of the acts of Nadab, with all that he did, are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

³²(There was war between Asa and Baasha, king of Israel, as long as they lived.)

³³In the third year of Asa, king of Judah, Baasha, son of Ahijah, began his twenty-four-year reign over Israel in Tirzah.

³⁴He did evil in the LORD'S sight, imitating the conduct of Jeroboam and the sin he had caused Israel to commit.

16 The LORD spoke against Baasha to Jehu, son of Hanani, and said:

²"Inasmuch as I lifted you up from the dust and made you ruler of my people Israel, but you have imitated the conduct of Jeroboam and have caused my people Israel to sin, provoking me to anger by their sins,

³I will destroy you, Baasha, and your house;

⁴I will make your house like that of Jeroboam, son of Nebat. If anyone of Baasha's line dies in the city, dogs shall devour him; if he dies in the field, he shall be devoured by the birds of the sky."

⁵The rest of the acts of Baasha, with all his valor and accomplishments, are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

⁶Baasha rested with his ancestors; he was buried in Tirzah, and his son Elah succeeded him as king.

⁷(Through the prophet Jehu, son of Hanani, the LORD had threatened Baasha and his house, because of all the evil Baasha did in the sight of the LORD, provoking him to anger by his evil deeds, so that he became like the house of Jeroboam; and because he killed Nadab.)

⁸In the twenty-sixth year of Asa, king of Judah, Elah, son of Baasha, began his two-year reign over Israel in Tirzah.

⁹His servant Zimri, commander of half his chariots, plotted against him. As he was in Tirzah, drinking to excess in the house of Arza, superintendent of his palace in Tirzah, ¹⁰Zimri entered; he struck and killed him in the twenty-seventh year of Asa, king of Judah, and reigned in his place.

¹¹Once he was seated on the royal throne, he killed off the whole house of Baasha, not sparing a single male relative or friend of his.

¹²Zimri destroyed the entire house of Baasha, as the LORD had prophesied to Baasha through the prophet Jehu, ¹³because of all the sins which Baasha and his son Elah committed and caused Israel to commit, provoking the LORD, the God of Israel, to anger by their idols.

¹⁴The rest of the acts of Elah, with all that he did, are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

¹⁵In the twenty-seventh year of Asa, king of Judah, Zimri reigned seven days in Tirzah. The army was besieging Gibbethon of the Philistines

¹⁶when they heard that Zimri had formed a conspiracy and had killed the king. So that day in the camp all Israel proclaimed Omri, general of the army, king of Israel.

¹⁷Omri marched up from Gibbethon, accompanied by all Israel, and laid siege to Tirzah.

¹⁸When Zimri saw the city was captured, he entered the citadel of the royal palace and burned down the palace over him. He died

¹⁹because of the sins he had committed, doing evil in the sight of the LORD by imitating the sinful conduct of Jeroboam, thus causing Israel to sin.

²⁰The rest of the acts of Zimri, with the conspiracy he carried out, are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

²¹At that time the people of Israel were divided, half following Tibni, son of Ginath, to make him king, and half for Omri.

²²The partisans of Omri prevailed over those of Tibni, son of Ginath. Tibni died and Omri became king.

²³In the thirty-first year of Asa, king of Judah, Omri became king; he reigned over Israel twelve years, the first six of them in Tirzah.

²⁴He then bought the hill of Samaria from Shemer for two silver talents and built upon the hill, naming the city he built Samaria after Shemer, the former owner.

²⁶He closely imitated the sinful conduct of Jeroboam, son of Nebat, causing Israel to sin and to provoke the LORD, the God of Israel, to anger by their idols.

²⁷The rest of the acts of Omri, with all his valor and accomplishments, are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

²⁸Omri rested with his ancestors; he was buried in Samaria, and his son Ahab succeeded him as king.

²⁹In the thirty-eighth year of Asa, king of Judah, Ahab, son of Omri, became king of Israel; he reigned over Israel in Samaria for twenty-two years.

³⁰Ahab, son of Omri, did evil in the sight of the LORD more than any of his predecessors.

³¹It was not enough for him to imitate the sins of Jeroboam, son of Nebat. He even married Jezebel, daughter of Ethbaal, king of the Sidonians, and went over to the veneration and worship of Baal.

³²Ahab erected an altar to Baal in the temple of Baal which he built in Samaria, ³³and also made a sacred pole. He did more to anger the LORD, the God of Israel, than any of the kings of Israel before him.

³⁴During his reign, Hiel from Bethel rebuilt Jericho. He lost his first-born son, Abiram, when he laid the foundation, and his youngest son, Segub, when he set up the gates, as the LORD had foretold through Joshua, son of Nun.

17 Elijah the Tishbite, from Tishbe in Gilead, said to Ahab: "As the LORD, the God of Israel, lives, whom I serve, during these years there shall be no dew or rain except at my word."

²The LORD then said to Elijah:

³"Leave here, go east and hide in the Wadi Cherith, east of the Jordan.

⁴You shall drink of the stream, and I have commanded ravens to feed you there."

⁵So he left and did as the LORD had commanded. He went and remained by the Wadi Cherith, east of the Jordan.

⁶Ravens brought him bread and meat in the morning, and bread and meat in the evening, and he drank from the stream.

⁷After some time, however, the brook ran dry, because no rain had fallen in the land.

⁸So the LORD said to him:

⁹"Move on to Zarephath of Sidon and stay there. I have designated a widow there to provide for you."

¹⁰He left and went to Zarephath. As he arrived at the entrance of the city, a widow was gathering sticks there; he called out to her, "Please bring me a small cupful of water to drink."

¹²"As the LORD, your God, lives," she answered, "I have nothing baked; there is only a handful of flour in my jar and a little oil in my jug. Just now I was collecting a couple of sticks, to go in and prepare something for myself and my son; when we have eaten it, we shall die."

¹³"Do not be afraid," Elijah said to her. "Go and do as you propose. But first make me a little cake and bring it to me. Then you can prepare something for yourself and your son.

¹⁴For the LORD, the God of Israel, says, "The jar of flour shall not go empty, nor the jug of oil run dry, until the day when the LORD sends rain upon the earth."

¹⁵She left and did as Elijah had said. She was able to eat for a year, and he and her son as well;

¹⁶The jar of flour did not go empty, nor the jug of oil run dry, as the LORD had foretold through Elijah.

¹⁷Some time later the son of the mistress of the house fell sick, and his sickness grew more severe until he stopped breathing.

¹⁸So she said to Elijah, "Why have you done this to me, O man of God? Have you come to me to call attention to my guilt and to kill my son?"

¹⁹"Give me your son," Elijah said to her. Taking him from her lap, he carried him to the upper room where he was staying, and laid him on his own bed.

²⁰He called out to the LORD: "O LORD, my God, will you afflict even the widow with whom I am staying by killing her son?"

²¹Then he stretched himself out upon the child three times and called out to the LORD: "O LORD, my God, let the life breath return to the body of this child."

²²The LORD heard the prayer of Elijah; the life breath returned to the child's body and he revived.

²³Taking the child, Elijah brought him down into the house from the upper room and gave him to his mother. "See!" Elijah said to her, "your son is alive."

²⁴"Now indeed I know that you you are a man of God," the woman replied to Elijah. "The word of the LORD comes truly from your mouth."

18 Long afterward, in the third year, the LORD spoke to Elijah, "Go, present yourself to Ahab," he said, "that I may send rain upon the earth."

²So Elijah went to present himself to Ahab.

³Now the famine in Samaria was bitter,

⁴and Ahab had summoned Obadiah, his vizier, who was a zealous follower of the LORD. When Jezebel was murdering the prophets of the LORD, Obadiah took a hundred prophets, hid them away fifty each in two caves, and supplied them with food and drink.

⁵Ahab said to Obadiah, "Come, let us go through the land to all sources of water and to all the streams. We may find grass and save the horses and mules, so that we shall not have to slaughter any of the beasts."

⁶Dividing the land to explore between them, Ahab went one way by himself, Obadiah another way by himself.

⁷As Obadiah was on his way, Elijah met him. Recognizing him, Obadiah fell prostrate and asked, "Is it you, my lord Elijah?"

⁹But Obadiah said, "What sin have I committed, that you are handing me over to Ahab to have me killed?"

¹⁰As the LORD, your God, lives, there is no nation or kingdom where my master has not sent in search of you. When they replied, 'He is not here,' he made each kingdom and nation swear they could not find you.

¹¹And now you say, 'Go tell your master: Elijah is here!'

¹²After I leave you, the spirit of the LORD will carry you to some place I do not know, and when I go to inform Ahab and he does not find you, he will kill me. Your servant has revered the LORD from his youth.

¹³Have you not been told, my lord, what I did when Jezebel was murdering the prophets of the LORD--that I hid a hundred of the prophets of the LORD, fifty each in two caves, and supplied them with food and drink?

¹⁴And now you say, 'Go tell your master: Elijah is here!' He will kill me!"

¹⁵Elijah answered, "As the LORD of hosts lives, whom I serve, I will present myself to him today."

¹⁶So Obadiah went to meet Ahab and informed him. Ahab came to meet Elijah,

¹⁷and when he saw Elijah, said to him, "Is it you, you disturber of Israel?"

¹⁸"It is not I who disturb Israel," he answered, "but you and your family, by forsaking the commands of the LORD and following the Baals.

¹⁹Now summon all Israel to me on Mount Carmel, as well as the four hundred and fifty prophets of Baal and the four hundred prophets of Asherah who eat at Jezebel's table."

²⁰So Ahab sent to all the Israelites and had the prophets assemble on Mount Carmel.

²¹Elijah appealed to all the people and said, "How long will you straddle the issue? If the LORD is God, follow him; if Baal, follow him." The people, however, did not answer him.

²²So Elijah said to the people, "I am the only surviving prophet of the LORD, and there are four hundred and fifty prophets of Baal.

²³Give us two young bulls. Let them choose one, cut it into pieces, and place it on the wood, but start no fire. I shall prepare the other and place it on the wood, but shall start no fire.

²⁴You shall call on the name of your gods, and I will call on the name of the LORD. The God who answers with fire is God." All the people answered, "Agreed!"

²⁵Elijah then said to the prophets of Baal, "Choose one young bull and prepare it first, for there are more of you. Call upon your gods, but do not start the fire."

²⁶Taking the young bull that was turned over to them, they prepared it and called on Baal from morning to noon, saying, "Answer us, Baal!" But there was no sound, and no one answering. And they hopped around the altar they had prepared.

²⁷When it was noon, Elijah taunted them: "Call louder, for he is a god and may be meditating, or may have retired, or may be on a journey. Perhaps he is asleep and must be awakened."

²⁸They called out louder and slashed themselves with swords and spears, as was their custom, until blood gushed over them.

²⁹Noon passed and they remained in a prophetic state until the time for offering sacrifice. But there was not a sound; no one answered, and no one was listening.

³⁰Then Elijah said to all the people, "Come here to me." When they had done so, he repaired the altar of the LORD which had been destroyed.

³¹He took twelve stones, for the number of tribes of the sons of Jacob, to whom the LORD had said, "Your name shall be Israel."

³²He built an altar in honor of the LORD with the stones, and made a trench around the altar large enough for two seahs of grain.

³³When he had arranged the wood, he cut up the young bull and laid it on the wood.

³⁴"Fill four jars with water," he said, "and pour it over the holocaust and over the wood." "Do it again," he said, and they did it again. "Do it a third time," he said, and they did it a third time.

³⁵The water flowed around the altar, and the trench was filled with the water.

³⁶At the time for offering sacrifice, the prophet Elijah came forward and said, "LORD, God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, let it be known this day that you are God in Israel and that I am your servant and have done all these things by your command.

³⁷Answer me, LORD! Answer me, that this people may know that you, LORD, are God and that you have brought them back to their senses."

³⁸The LORD'S fire came down and consumed the holocaust, wood, stones, and dust, and it lapped up the water in the trench.

³⁹Seeing this, all the people fell prostrate and said, "The LORD is God! The LORD is God!"

⁴⁰Then Elijah said to them, "Seize the prophets of Baal. Let none of them escape!" They were seized, and Elijah had them brought down to the brook Kishon and there he slit their throats.

⁴¹Elijah then said to Ahab, "Go up, eat and drink, for there is the sound of a heavy rain."

⁴²So Ahab went up to eat and drink, while Elijah climbed to the top of Carmel, crouched down to the earth, and put his head between his knees.

⁴³"Climb up and look out to sea," he directed his servant, who went up and looked, but reported, "There is nothing." Seven times he said, "Go look again!"

⁴⁴And the seventh time the youth reported, "There is a cloud as small as a man's hand rising from the sea." Elijah said, "Go and say to Ahab, 'Harness up and leave the mountain before the rain stops you.'"

⁴⁵In a trice, the sky grew dark with clouds and wind, and a heavy rain fell. Ahab mounted his chariot and made for Jezreel.

⁴⁶But the hand of the LORD was on Elijah, who girded up his clothing and ran before Ahab as far as the approaches to Jezreel.

19 Ahab told Jezebel all that Elijah had done--that he had put all the prophets to the sword.

²Jezebel then sent a messenger to Elijah and said, "May the gods do thus and so to me if by this time tomorrow I have not done with your life what was done to each of them."

³Elijah was afraid and fled for his life, going to Beer-sheba of Judah. He left his servant there

⁴and went a day's journey into the desert, until he came to a broom tree and sat beneath it. He prayed for death: "This is enough, O LORD! Take my life, for I am no better than my fathers."

⁵He lay down and fell asleep under the broom tree, but then an angel touched him and ordered him to get up and eat.

⁶He looked and there at his head was a hearth cake and a jug of water. After he ate and drank, he lay down again,

⁷but the angel of the LORD came back a second time, touched him, and ordered, "Get up and eat, else the journey will be too long for you!"

⁸He got up, ate and drank; then strengthened by that food, he walked forty days and forty nights to the mountain of God, Horeb.

⁹There he came to a cave, where he took shelter. But the word of the LORD came to him, "Why are you here, Elijah?"

¹⁰He answered: "I have been most zealous for the LORD, the God of hosts, but the Israelites have forsaken your covenant, torn down your altars, and put your prophets to the sword. I alone am left, and they seek to take my life."

¹¹Then the LORD said, "Go outside and stand on the mountain before the LORD; the LORD will be passing by." A strong and heavy wind was rending the mountains and crushing rocks before the LORD--but the LORD was not in the wind. After the wind there was an earthquake--but the LORD was not in the earthquake.

¹²After the earthquake there was fire--but the LORD was not in the fire. After the fire there was a tiny whispering sound.

¹³When he heard this, Elijah hid his face in his cloak and went and stood at the entrance of the cave. A voice said to him, "Elijah, why are you here?"

¹⁴He replied, "I have been most zealous for the LORD, the God of hosts. But the Israelites have forsaken your covenant, torn down your altars, and put your prophets to the sword. I alone am left, and they seek to take my life."

¹⁵"Go, take the road back to the desert near Damascus," the LORD said to him. "When you arrive, you shall anoint Hazael as king of Aram.

¹⁶Then you shall anoint Jehu, son of Nimshi, as king of Israel, and Elisha, son of Shaphat of Abel-meholah, as prophet to succeed you.

¹⁷If anyone escapes the sword of Hazael, Jehu will kill him. If he escapes the sword of Jehu, Elisha will kill him.

¹⁸Yet I will leave seven thousand men in Israel--all those who have not knelt to Baal or kissed him."

¹⁹Elijah set out, and came upon Elisha, son of Shaphat, as he was plowing with twelve yoke of oxen; he was following the twelfth. Elijah went over to him and threw his cloak over him.

²⁰Elisha left the oxen, ran after Elijah, and said, "Please, let me kiss my father and mother good-bye, and I will follow you." "Go back!" Elijah answered. "Have I done anything to you?"

20 Ben-hadad, king of Aram, gathered all his forces, and accompanied by thirty-two kings with horses and chariotry, proceeded to invest and attack Samaria.

² He sent couriers to Ahab, king of Israel, within the city,

³ and said to him, "This is Ben-hadad's message: 'Your silver and gold are mine, and your wives and your promising sons are mine.'"

⁴ The king of Israel answered, "As you say, my lord king, I and all I have are yours."

⁵ But the couriers came again and said, "This is Ben-hadad's message: 'I sent you word to give me your silver and gold, your wives and your sons.'

⁶ Now, however, at this time tomorrow I will send my servants to you, and they shall ransack your house and the houses of your servants. They shall seize and take away whatever they consider valuable."

⁷ The king of Israel then summoned all the elders of the land and said: "Understand clearly that this man wants to ruin us. When he sent to me for my wives and sons, my silver and my gold, I did not refuse him."

⁸ All the elders and all the people said to him, "Do not listen. Do not give in."

⁹ Accordingly he directed the couriers of Ben-hadad, "Say to my lord the king, 'I will do all that you demanded of your servant the first time. But this I cannot do.'" The couriers left and reported this.

¹⁰ Ben-hadad then sent him the message, "May the gods do thus and so to me if there is enough dust in Samaria to make handfuls for all my followers."

¹¹ The king of Israel replied, "Tell him, 'It is not for the man who is buckling his armor to boast as though he were taking it off.'"

¹² Ben-hadad was drinking in the pavilions with the kings when he heard this reply. "Prepare the assault," he commanded his servants; and they made ready to storm the city.

¹³ Then a prophet came up to Ahab, king of Israel and said: "The LORD says, 'Do you see all this huge army? When I deliver it up to you today, you will know that I am the LORD.'"

¹⁴But Ahab asked, "Through whom will it be delivered up?" He answered, "The LORD says, 'Through the retainers of the governors of the provinces.'" Then Ahab asked, "Who is to attack?" He replied, "You are."

¹⁵So Ahab called up the retainers of the governors of the provinces, two hundred thirty-two of them. Behind them he mustered all the Israelite soldiery, who numbered seven thousand.

¹⁶They marched out at noon, while Ben-hadad was drinking heavily in the pavilions with the thirty-two kings who were his allies.

¹⁷When the retainers of the governors of the provinces marched out first, Ben-hadad received word that some men had marched out of Samaria.

¹⁸He answered, "Whether they have come out for peace or for war, in any case take them alive."

¹⁹But when these had come out of the city--the soldiers of the governors of the provinces with the army following them--

²⁰each of them struck down his man. The Arameans fled with Israel pursuing them, while Ben-hadad, king of Aram, escaped on a chariot steed.

²¹The king of Israel went out, took the horses and chariots, and inflicted a severe defeat on Aram.

²²Then the prophet went up to the king of Israel and said to him: "Go, regroup your forces. Mark well what you do, for at the beginning of the year the king of Aram will attack you."

²³On the other hand, the servants of the king of Aram said to him: "Their gods are gods of mountains. That is why they defeated us. But if we fight them on level ground, we shall be sure to defeat them."

²⁴This is what you must do: Take the kings from their posts and put prefects in their places.

²⁵Mobilize an army as large as the army that has deserted you, horse for horse, chariot for chariot. Let us fight them on level ground, and we shall surely defeat them." He took their advice and did this.

²⁶At the beginning of the year, Ben-hadad mobilized Aram and went up to Aphek to fight against Israel.

²⁷The Israelites, too, were called to arms and supplied with provisions; then they went out to engage the foe. The Israelites, encamped opposite them, seemed like a couple of small flocks of goats, while Aram covered the countryside.

²⁸A man of God came up and said to the king of Israel: "The LORD says, 'Because Aram has said the LORD is a god of mountains, not a god of plains, I will deliver up to you all this large army, that you may know I am the LORD.'"

²⁹They were encamped opposite each other for seven days. On the seventh day battle was joined, and the Israelites struck down one hundred thousand foot soldiers of Aram in one day.

³⁰The survivors, twenty-seven thousand of them, fled into the city of Aphek, and there the wall collapsed. Ben-hadad, too, fled, and took refuge within the city, in an inside room.

³¹His servants said to him: "We have heard that the kings of the land of Israel are merciful kings. Allow us, therefore, to garb ourselves in sackcloth, with cords around our heads, and go out to the king of Israel. Perhaps he will spare your life."

³²So they dressed in sackcloth girded at the waist, and wearing cords around their heads, they went to the king of Israel. "Your servant Ben-hadad pleads for his life," they said. "Is he still alive?" the king asked. "He is my brother."

³³Hearing this as a good omen, the men quickly took him at his word and said, "Ben-hadad is your brother." He answered, "Go and get him." When Ben-hadad came out to him, the king had him mount his chariot.

³⁴Ben-hadad said to him, "I will restore the cities which my father took from your father, and you may make yourself bazaars in Damascus, as my father did in Samaria." "On these terms," Ahab replied, "I will set you free." So he made an agreement with him and then set him free.

³⁵One of the guild prophets was prompted by the LORD to say to his companion, "Strike me." But he refused to strike him.

³⁶Then he said to him, "Since you did not obey the voice of the LORD, a lion will kill you when you leave me." When they parted company, a lion came upon him and killed him.

³⁷The prophet met another man and said, "Strike me." The man struck him a blow and wounded him.

³⁸The prophet went on and waited for the king on the road, having disguised himself with a bandage over his eyes.

³⁹As the king was passing, he called out to the king and said: "Your servant went into the thick of the battle, and suddenly someone turned and brought me a man and said, 'Guard this man. If he is missing, you shall have to pay for his life with your life or pay out a talent of silver.'

⁴⁰But while your servant was looking here and there, the man disappeared." The king of Israel said to him, "That is your sentence. You have decided it yourself."

⁴¹He immediately removed the bandage from his eyes, and the king of Israel recognized him as one of the prophets.

⁴²He said to him: "The LORD says, 'Because you have set free the man I doomed to destruction, your life shall pay for his life, your people for his people.'"

⁴³Disturbed and angry, the king of Israel went off homeward and entered Samaria.

21 Some time after this, as Naboth the Jezreelite had a vineyard in Jezreel next to the palace of Ahab, king of Samaria,

²Ahab said to Naboth, "Give me your vineyard to be my vegetable garden, since it is close by, next to my house. I will give you a better vineyard in exchange, or, if you prefer, I will give you its value in money."

³"The LORD forbid," Naboth answered him, "that I should give you my ancestral heritage."

⁴Ahab went home disturbed and angry at the answer Naboth the Jezreelite had made to him: "I will not give you my ancestral heritage." Lying down on his bed, he turned away from food and would not eat.

⁵His wife Jezebel came to him and said to him, "Why are you so angry that you will not eat?"

⁶He answered her, "Because I spoke to Naboth the Jezreelite and said to him, 'Sell me your vineyard, or, if you prefer, I will give you a vineyard in exchange.' But he refused to let me have his vineyard."

⁷"A fine ruler over Israel you are indeed!" his wife Jezebel said to him. "Get up. Eat and be cheerful. I will obtain the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite for you."

⁸So she wrote letters in Ahab's name and, having sealed them with his seal, sent them to the elders and to the nobles who lived in the same city with Naboth.

⁹This is what she wrote in the letters: "Proclaim a fast and set Naboth at the head of the people."

¹⁰Next, get two scoundrels to face him and accuse him of having cursed God and king. Then take him out and stone him to death."

¹¹His fellow citizens--the elders and the nobles who dwelt in his city--did as Jezebel had ordered them in writing, through the letters she had sent them.

¹²They proclaimed a fast and placed Naboth at the head of the people.

¹³Two scoundrels came in and confronted him with the accusation, "Naboth has cursed God and king." And they led him out of the city and stoned him to death.

¹⁴Then they sent the information to Jezebel that Naboth had been stoned to death.

¹⁵When Jezebel learned that Naboth had been stoned to death, she said to Ahab, "Go on, take possession of the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite which he refused to sell you, because Naboth is not alive, but dead."

¹⁶On hearing that Naboth was dead, Ahab started off on his way down to the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, to take possession of it.

¹⁷But the LORD said to Elijah the Tishbite:

¹⁸"Start down to meet Ahab, king of Israel, who rules in Samaria. He will be in the vineyard of Naboth, of which he has come to take possession.

¹⁹This is what you shall tell him, 'The LORD says: After murdering, do you also take possession? For this, the LORD says: In the place where the dogs licked up the blood of Naboth, the dogs shall lick up your blood, too.'"

²⁰"Have you found me out, my enemy?" Ahab said to Elijah. "Yes," he answered. "Because you have given yourself up to doing evil in the LORD'S sight, ²¹I am bringing evil upon you: I will destroy you and will cut off every male in Ahab's line, whether slave or freeman, in Israel.

²²I will make your house like that of Jeroboam, son of Nebat, and like that of Baasha, son of Ahijah, because of how you have provoked me by leading Israel into sin."

²⁴"When one of Ahab's line dies in the city, dogs will devour him; when one of them dies in the field, the birds of the sky will devour him."

²⁵Indeed, no one gave himself up to the doing of evil in the sight of the LORD as did Ahab, urged on by his wife Jezebel.

²⁶He became completely abominable by following idols, just as the Amorites had done, whom the LORD drove out before the Israelites.

²⁷When Ahab heard these words, he tore his garments and put on sackcloth over his bare flesh. He fasted, slept in the sackcloth, and went about subdued.

²⁸Then the LORD said to Elijah the Tishbite,

²⁹"Have you seen that Ahab has humbled himself before me? Since he has humbled himself before me, I will not bring the evil in his time. I will bring the evil upon his house during the reign of his son."

22

Three years passed without war between Aram and Israel.

²In the third year, however, King Jehoshaphat of Judah came down to the king of Israel,

³who said to his servants, "Do you not know that Ramoth-gilead is ours and we are doing nothing to take it from the king of Aram?"

⁴He asked Jehoshaphat, "Will you come with me to fight against Ramoth-gilead?" Jehoshaphat answered the king of Israel, "You and I are as one, and your people and my people, your horses and my horses as well."

⁵ Jehoshaphat also said to the king of Israel, "Seek the word of the LORD at once."

⁷ But Jehoshaphat said, "Is there no other prophet of the LORD here whom we may consult?"

⁸ The king of Israel answered, "There is one other through whom we might consult the LORD, Micaiah, son of Imlah; but I hate him because he prophesies not good but evil about me." Jehoshaphat said, "Let not your majesty speak of evil against you."

⁹ So the king of Israel called an official and said to him, "Get Micaiah, son of Imlah, at once."

¹⁰ The king of Israel and King Jehoshaphat of Judah were seated, each on his throne, clothed in their robes of state on a threshing floor at the entrance of the gate of Samaria, and all the prophets were prophesying before them.

¹¹ Zedekiah, son of Chenaanah, made himself horns of iron and said, "The LORD says, 'With these you shall gore Aram until you have destroyed them.'"

¹² The other prophets prophesied in a similar vein, saying: "Go up to Ramoth-gilead; you shall succeed. The LORD will deliver it over to the king."

¹³ The messenger who had gone to call Micaiah said to him, "Look now, the prophets are unanimously predicting good for the king. Let your word be the same as any of theirs; predict good."

¹⁴ "As the LORD lives," Micaiah answered, "I shall say whatever the LORD tells me."

¹⁵ When he came to the king, the king said to him, "Micaiah, shall we go to fight against Ramoth-gilead, or shall we refrain?" "Go up," he answered, "you shall succeed! The LORD will deliver it over to the king."

¹⁶ But the king answered him, "How many times must I adjure you to tell me nothing but the truth in the name of the LORD?"

¹⁷ So Micaiah said: "I see all Israel scattered on the mountains, like sheep without a shepherd, and the LORD saying, 'These have no master! Let each of them go back home in peace.'"

¹⁸The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "Did I not tell you he prophesies not good but evil about me?"

¹⁹Micaiah continued: "Therefore hear the word of the LORD: I saw the LORD seated on his throne, with the whole host of heaven standing by to his right and to his left.

²⁰The LORD asked, 'Who will deceive Ahab, so that he will go up and fall at Ramoth-gilead?' And one said this, another that,

²¹until one of the spirits came forth and presented himself to the LORD, saying, 'I will deceive him.' The LORD asked, 'How?'

²²He answered, 'I will go forth and become a lying spirit in the mouths of all his prophets.' The LORD replied, 'You shall succeed in deceiving him. Go forth and do this.'

²³So now, the LORD has put a lying spirit in the mouths of all these prophets of yours, but the LORD himself has decreed evil against you."

²⁴Thereupon Zedekiah, son of Chenaanah, came up and slapped Micaiah on the cheek, saying, "Has the spirit of the LORD, then, left me to speak with you?"

²⁵"You shall find out," Micaiah replied, "on that day when you retreat into an inside room to hide."

²⁶The king of Israel then said, "Seize Micaiah and take him back to Amon, prefect of the city, and to Joash, the king's son,

²⁷and say, 'This is the king's order: Put this man in prison and feed him scanty rations of bread and water until I return in safety.'"

²⁸But Micaiah said, "If ever you return in safety, the LORD has not spoken through me."

²⁹The king of Israel and King Jehoshaphat of Judah went up to Ramoth-gilead, ³⁰and the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "I will disguise myself and go into battle, but you put on your own clothes." So the king of Israel disguised himself and entered the fray.

³¹In the meantime the king of Aram had given his thirty-two chariot commanders the order, "Do not fight with anyone at all except the king of Israel."

³²When the chariot commanders saw Jehoshaphat, they cried out, "That must be the king of Israel!" and shifted to fight him. But Jehoshaphat shouted his battle cry, ³³and the chariot commanders, aware that he was not the king of Israel, gave up pursuit of him.

³⁴Someone, however, drew his bow at random, and hit the king of Israel between the joints of his breastplate. He ordered his charioteer, "Rein about and take me out of the ranks, for I am disabled."

³⁵The battle grew fierce during the day, and the king, who was propped up in his chariot facing the Arameans, died in the evening. The blood from his wound flowed to the bottom of the chariot.

³⁶At sunset a cry went through the army, "Every man to his city, every man to his land, ³⁷for the king is dead!" So they went to Samaria, where they buried the king.

³⁸When the chariot was washed at the pool of Samaria, the dogs licked up his blood and harlots bathed there, as the LORD had prophesied.

³⁹The rest of the acts of Ahab, with all that he did, including the ivory palace and all the cities he built, are recorded in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

⁴⁰Ahab rested with his ancestors, and his son Ahaziah succeeded him as king.

⁴¹Jehoshaphat, son of Asa, began to reign over Judah in the fourth year of Ahab, king of Israel.

⁴²Jehoshaphat was thirty-five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned twenty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Azubah, daughter of Shilhi.

⁴³He followed all the ways of his father Asa unswervingly, doing what was right in the LORD'S sight.

⁴⁴Nevertheless, the high places did not disappear, and the people continued to sacrifice and to burn incense on the high places.

⁴⁵Jehoshaphat also made peace with the king of Israel.

⁴⁶The rest of the acts of Jehoshaphat, with his prowess, what he did and how he fought, are recorded in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah.

⁴⁷He removed from the land the rest of the cult prostitutes who had remained in the reign of his father Asa.

⁴⁸There was no king in Edom, but an appointed regent.

⁴⁹Jehoshaphat made Tarshish ships to go to Ophir for gold; but in fact the ships did not go, because they were wrecked at Ezion-geber.

⁵⁰Then Ahaziah, son of Ahab, said to Jehoshaphat, "Let my servants accompany your servants in the ships." But Jehoshaphat would not agree.

⁵¹Jehoshaphat rested with his ancestors; he was buried in his forefathers' City of David. His son Jehoram succeeded him as king.

⁵²Ahaziah, son of Ahab, began to reign over Israel in Samaria in the seventeenth year of Jehoshaphat, king of Judah; he reigned two years over Israel.

⁵³He did evil in the sight of the LORD, behaving like his father, his mother, and Jeroboam, son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin.

⁵⁴He served and worshiped Baal, thus provoking the LORD, the God of Israel, just as his father had done.

2nd Kings

1 After Ahab's death, Moab rebelled against Israel.

2 Ahaziah had fallen through the lattice of his roof terrace at Samaria and had been injured. So he sent out messengers with the instructions: "Go and inquire of Baalzebub, the god of Ekron, whether I shall recover from this injury."

3 Meanwhile, the angel of the LORD said to Elijah the Tishbite: "Go, intercept the messengers of Samaria's king, and ask them, 'Is it because there is no God in Israel that you are going to inquire of Baalzebub, the god of Ekron?'"

4 For this, the LORD says: 'You shall not leave the bed upon which you lie; instead, you shall die.'" And with that, Elijah departed.

5 The messengers then returned to Ahaziah, who asked them. "Why have you returned?"

6 "A man came up to us," they answered, "who said to us, 'Go back to the king who sent you and tell him: The LORD says, Is it because there is no God in Israel that you are sending to inquire of Baalzebub, the god of Ekron? For this you shall not leave the bed upon which you lie; instead, you shall die.'"

7 The king asked them, "What was the man like who came up to you and said these things to you?"

8 "Wearing a hairy garment," they replied, "with a leather girdle about his loins." "It is Elijah the Tishbite!" he exclaimed.

9 Then the king sent a captain with his company of fifty men after Elijah. The prophet was seated on a hilltop when he found him. "Man of God," he ordered, "the king commands you to come down."

10 "If I am a man of God," Elijah answered the captain, "may fire come down from heaven and consume you and your fifty men." And fire came down from heaven and consumed him and his fifty men.

11 Ahaziah sent another captain with his company of fifty men after Elijah. "Man of God," he called out to Elijah, "the king commands you to come down immediately."

¹²"If I am a man of God," Elijah answered him, "may fire come down from heaven and consume you and your fifty men." And divine fire came down from heaven, consuming him and his fifty men.

¹³Again, for the third time, Ahaziah sent a captain with his company of fifty men. When the third captain arrived, he fell to his knees before Elijah, pleading with him. "Man of God," he implored him, "let my life and the lives of these fifty men, your servants, count for something in your sight!"

¹⁴Already fire has come down from heaven, consuming two captains with their companies of fifty men. But now, let my life mean something to you!"

¹⁵Then the angel of the LORD said to Elijah, "Go down with him; you need not be afraid of him."

¹⁶So Elijah left and went down with him and stated to the king: "Thus says the LORD: 'Because you sent messengers to inquire of Baalzebub, the god of Ekron, you shall not leave the bed upon which you lie; instead you shall die.'"

¹⁷Ahaziah died in fulfillment of the prophecy of the LORD spoken by Elijah. Since he had no son, his brother Joram succeeded him as king, in the second year of Jehoram, son of Jehoshaphat, king of Judah.

¹⁸The rest of the acts of Ahaziah are recorded in the book of chronicles of the kings of Israel.

2When the LORD was about to take Elijah up to heaven in a whirlwind, he and Elisha were on their way from Gilgal.

²"Stay here, please," Elijah said to Elisha. "The LORD has sent me on to Bethel." "As the LORD lives, and as you yourself live," Elisha replied, "I will not leave you." So they went down to Bethel,

³where the guild prophets went out to Elisha and asked him, "Do you know that the LORD will take your master from over you today?" "Yes, I know it," he replied. "Keep still."

⁴Then Elijah said to him, "Stay here, please, Elisha, for the LORD has sent me on to Jericho." "As the LORD lives, and as you yourself live," Elisha replied, "I will not leave you."

⁵They went on to Jericho, where the guild prophets approached Elisha and asked him, "Do you know that the LORD will take your master from over you today?" "Yes, I know it," he replied. "Keep still."

⁶Elijah said to Elisha, "Please stay here; the LORD has sent me on to the Jordan." "As the LORD lives, and as you yourself live," Elisha replied, "I will not leave you." And so the two went on together.

⁷Fifty of the guild prophets followed, and when the two stopped at the Jordan, stood facing them at a distance.

⁸Elijah took his mantle, rolled it up and struck the water, which divided, and both crossed over on dry ground.

⁹When they had crossed over, Elijah said to Elisha, "Ask for whatever I may do for you, before I am taken from you." Elisha answered, "May I receive a double portion of your spirit."

¹⁰"You have asked something that is not easy," he replied. "Still, if you see me taken up from you, your wish will be granted; otherwise not."

¹¹As they walked on conversing, a flaming chariot and flaming horses came between them, and Elijah went up to heaven in a whirlwind.

¹²When Elisha saw it happen he cried out, "My father! my father! Israel's chariots and drivers!" But when he could no longer see him, Elisha gripped his own garment and tore it in two.

¹³Then he picked up Elijah's mantle which had fallen from him, and went back and stood at the bank of the Jordan.

¹⁴Wielding the mantle which had fallen from Elijah, he struck the water in his turn and said, "Where is the LORD, the God of Elijah?" When Elisha struck the water it divided and he crossed over.

¹⁵The guild prophets in Jericho, who were on the other side, saw him and said, "The spirit of Elijah rests on Elisha." They went to meet him, bowing to the ground before him.

¹⁶"Among your servants are fifty brave men," they said. "Let them go in search of your master. Perhaps the spirit of the LORD has carried him away to some mountain or some valley." "Do not send them," he answered.

¹⁷However, they kept urging him, until he was embarrassed and said, "Send them." So they sent the fifty men, who searched for three days without finding him.

¹⁸When they returned to Elisha in Jericho, where he was staying, he said to them, "Did I not tell you not to go?"

¹⁹Once the inhabitants of the city complained to Elisha, "The site of the city is fine indeed, as my lord can see, but the water is bad and the land unfruitful."

²⁰"Bring me a new bowl," Elisha said, "and put salt into it." When they had brought it to him,

²¹he went out to the spring and threw salt into it, saying, "Thus says the LORD, 'I have purified this water. Never again shall death or miscarriage spring from it.'"

²²And the water has stayed pure even to this day, just as Elisha prophesied.

²³From there Elisha went up to Bethel. While he was on the way, some small boys came out of the city and jeered at him. "Go up, baldhead," they shouted, "go up, baldhead!"

²⁴The prophet turned and saw them, and he cursed them in the name of the LORD. Then two she-bears came out of the woods and tore forty-two of the children to pieces.

²⁵From there he went to Mount Carmel, and thence he returned to Samaria.

3 Joram, son of Ahab, became king of Israel in Samaria (in the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, and he reigned for twelve years).

²He did evil in the LORD'S sight, though not as much as his father and mother. He did away with the pillar of Baal, which his father had made,

³but he still clung to the sin to which Jeroboam, son of Nebat, had lured Israel; this he did not give up.

⁴Now Mesha, king of Moab, who raised sheep, used to pay the king of Israel as tribute a hundred thousand lambs and the wool of a hundred thousand rams.

⁵But when Ahab died, the king of Moab had rebelled against the king of Israel.

⁶Joram as king mustered all Israel, and when he set out on a campaign from Samaria,

⁷he sent the king of Judah the message: "The king of Moab is in rebellion against me. Will you join me in battle against Moab?" "I will," he replied. "You and I shall be as one, your people and mine, and your horses and mine as well."

⁸They discussed the route for their attack, and settled upon the route through the desert of Edom.

⁹So the king of Israel set out, accompanied by the king of Judah and the king of Edom. After their roundabout journey of seven days the water gave out for the army and for the animals with them.

¹⁰"Alas!" exclaimed the king of Israel. "The LORD has called together these three kings to put them in the grasp of Moab."

¹¹But the king of Judah asked, "Is there no prophet of the LORD here through whom we may inquire of the LORD?" One of the officers of the king of Israel replied, "Elisha, son of Shaphat, who poured water on the hands of Elijah, is here."

¹²"He has the word of the LORD," the king of Judah agreed. So the kings of Israel, Judah, and Edom went down to Elisha.

¹³"What do you want with me?" Elisha asked the king of Israel. "Go to the prophets of your father and to the prophets of your mother." "No," the king of Israel replied. "The LORD has called these three kings together to put them in the grasp of Moab."

¹⁴Then Elisha said, "As the LORD of hosts lives, whom I serve, were it not that I respect the king of Judah, I should neither look at you nor notice you at all.

¹⁵Now get me a minstrel." When the minstrel played, the power of the LORD came upon Elisha ¹⁶and he announced: "Thus says the LORD, 'Provide many catch basins in this wadi.'

¹⁷For the LORD says, 'Though you will see neither wind nor rain, yet this wadi will be filled with water for you, your livestock, and your pack animals to drink.'

¹⁸And since the LORD does not consider this enough, he will also deliver Moab into your grasp.

¹⁹You shall destroy every fortified city, fell every fruit tree, stop up all the springs, and ruin every fertile field with stones."

²⁰In the morning, at the time of the sacrifice, water came from the direction of Edom and filled the land.

²¹Meanwhile, all Moab heard that the kings had come to give them battle; every man capable of bearing arms was called up and stationed at the border.

²²Early that morning, when the sun shone on the water, the Moabites saw the water at a distance as red as blood.

²³"This is blood!" they exclaimed. "The kings have fought among themselves and killed one another. Quick! To the spoils, Moabites!"

²⁴But when they reached the camp of Israel, the Israelites rose up and attacked the Moabites, who fled from them. They ranged through the countryside striking down the Moabites, and

²⁶When he saw that he was losing the battle, the king of Moab took seven hundred swordsmen to break through to the king of Aram, but he failed.

²⁷So he took his first-born, his heir apparent, and offered him as a holocaust upon the wall. The wrath against Israel was so great that they gave up the siege and returned to their own land.

4A certain woman, the widow of one of the guild prophets, complained to Elisha: "My husband, your servant, is dead. You know that he was a God-fearing man, yet now his creditor has come to take my two children as his slaves."

²"How can I help you?" Elisha answered her. "Tell me what you have in the house." "This servant of yours has nothing in the house but a jug of oil," she replied.

³"Go out," he said, "borrow vessels from all your neighbors--as many empty vessels as you can.

⁴Then come back and close the door on yourself and your children; pour the oil into all the vessels, and as each is filled, set it aside."

⁵She went and did so, closing the door on herself and her children. As they handed her the vessels, she would pour in oil.

⁶When all the vessels were filled, she said to her son, "Bring me another vessel." "There is none left," he answered her. And then the oil stopped.

⁷She went and told the man of God, who said, "Go and sell the oil to pay off your creditor; with what remains, you and your children can live."

⁸One day Elisha came to Shunem, where there was a woman of influence, who urged him to dine with her. Afterward, whenever he passed by, he used to stop there to dine.

⁹So she said to her husband, "I know that he is a holy man of God. Since he visits us often,

¹⁰let us arrange a little room on the roof and furnish it for him with a bed, table, chair, and lamp, so that when he comes to us he can stay there."

¹¹Sometime later Elisha arrived and stayed in the room overnight.

¹²Then he said to his servant Gehazi, "Call this Shunammite woman." He did so, and when she stood before Elisha,

¹³he told Gehazi, "Say to her, 'You have lavished all this care on us; what can we do for you? Can we say a good word for you to the king or to the commander of the army?'" She replied, "I am living among my own people."

¹⁴Later Elisha asked, "Can something be done for her?" "Yes!" Gehazi answered. "She has no son, and her husband is getting on in years."

¹⁵"Call her," said Elisha. When she had been called, and stood at the door,

¹⁶Elisha promised, "This time next year you will be fondling a baby son." "Please, my lord," she protested, "you are a man of God; do not deceive your servant."

¹⁷Yet the woman conceived, and by the same time the following year she had given birth to a son, as Elisha had promised.

- ¹⁸The day came when the child was old enough to go out to his father among the reapers.
- ¹⁹"My head hurts!" he complained to his father. "Carry him to his mother," the father said to a servant.
- ²⁰The servant picked him up and carried him to his mother; he stayed with her until noon, when he died in her lap.
- ²¹The mother took him upstairs and laid him on the bed of the man of God. Closing the door on him, she went out
- ²²and called to her husband, "Let me have a servant and a donkey. I must go quickly to the man of God, and I will be back."
- ²³"Why are you going to him today?" he asked. "It is neither the new moon nor the sabbath." But she bade him good-bye,
- ²⁴and when the donkey was saddled, said to her servant: "Lead on! Do not stop my donkey unless I tell you to."
- ²⁵She kept going till she reached the man of God on Mount Carmel. When he spied her at a distance, the man of God said to his servant Gehazi: "There is the Shunammite!
- ²⁶Hurry to meet her, and ask if all is well with her, with her husband, and with the boy." "Greetings," she replied.
- ²⁷But when she reached the man of God on the mountain, she clasped his feet. Gehazi came near to push her away, but the man of God said: "Let her alone, she is in bitter anguish; the LORD hid it from me and did not let me know."
- ²⁸"Did I ask my lord for a son?" she cried out. "Did I not beg you not to deceive me?"
- ²⁹"Gird your loins," Elisha said to Gehazi, "take my staff with you and be off; if you meet anyone, do not greet him, and if anyone greets you, do not answer. Lay my staff upon the boy."
- ³⁰But the boy's mother cried out: "As the LORD lives and as you yourself live, I will not release you." So he started to go back with her.

³¹Meanwhile, Gehazi had gone on ahead and had laid the staff upon the boy, but there was no sound or sign of life. He returned to meet Elisha and informed him that the boy had not awakened.

³²When Elisha reached the house, he found the boy lying dead.

³³He went in, closed the door on them both, and prayed to the LORD.

³⁴Then he lay upon the child on the bed, placing his mouth upon the child's mouth, his eyes upon the eyes, and his hands upon the hands. As Elisha stretched himself over the child, the body became warm.

³⁵He arose, paced up and down the room, and then once more lay down upon the boy, who now sneezed seven times and opened his eyes.

³⁶Elisha summoned Gehazi and said, "Call the Shunammite." She came at his call, and Elisha said to her, "Take your son."

³⁷She came in and fell at his feet in gratitude; then she took her son and left the room.

³⁸When Elisha returned to Gilgal, there was a famine in the land. Once, when the guild prophets were seated before him, he said to his servant, "Put the large pot on, and make some vegetable stew for the guild prophets."

³⁹Someone went out into the field to gather herbs and found a wild vine, from which he picked a clothful of wild gourds. On his return he cut them up into the pot of vegetable stew without anybody's knowing it.

⁴⁰The stew was poured out for the men to eat, but when they began to eat it, they exclaimed, "Man of God, there is poison in the pot!" And they could not eat it.

⁴¹"Bring some meal," Elisha said. He threw it into the pot and said, "Serve it to the people to eat." And there was no longer anything harmful in the pot.

⁴²A man came from Baal-shalishah bringing the man of God twenty barley loaves made from the first fruits, and fresh grain in the ear. "Give it to the people to eat," Elisha said.

⁴³But his servant objected, "How can I set this before a hundred men?" "Give it to the people to eat," Elisha insisted. "For thus says the LORD, 'They shall eat and there shall be some left over.'"

⁴And when they had eaten, there was some left over, as the LORD had said.

5Naaman, the army commander of the king of Aram, was highly esteemed and respected by his master, for through him the LORD had brought victory to Aram. But valiant as he was, the man was a leper.

²Now the Arameans had captured from the land of Israel in a raid a little girl, who became the servant of Naaman's wife.

³"If only my master would present himself to the prophet in Samaria," she said to her mistress, "he would cure him of his leprosy."

⁴Naaman went and told his lord just what the slave girl from the land of Israel had said.

⁵"Go," said the king of Aram. "I will send along a letter to the king of Israel." So Naaman set out, taking along ten silver talents, six thousand gold pieces, and ten festal garments.

⁶To the king of Israel he brought the letter, which read: "With this letter I am sending my servant Naaman to you, that you may cure him of his leprosy."

⁷When he read the letter, the king of Israel tore his garments and exclaimed: "Am I a god with power over life and death, that this man should send someone to me to be cured of leprosy? Take note! You can see he is only looking for a quarrel with me!"

⁸When Elisha, the man of God, heard that the king of Israel had torn his garments, he sent word to the king: "Why have you torn your garments? Let him come to me and find out that there is a prophet in Israel."

⁹Naaman came with his horses and chariots and stopped at the door of Elisha's house.

¹⁰The prophet sent him the message: "Go and wash seven times in the Jordan, and your flesh will heal, and you will be clean."

¹¹But Naaman went away angry, saying, "I thought that he would surely come out and stand there to invoke the LORD his God, and would move his hand over the spot, and thus cure the leprosy."

¹²Are not the rivers of Damascus, the Abana and the Pharpar, better than all the waters of Israel? Could I not wash in them and be cleansed?" With this, he turned about in anger and left.

¹³But his servants came up and reasoned with him. "My father," they said, "if the prophet had told you to do something extraordinary, would you not have done it? All the more now, since he said to you, 'Wash and be clean,' should you do as he said."

¹⁴So Naaman went down and plunged into the Jordan seven times at the word of the man of God. His flesh became again like the flesh of a little child, and he was clean.

¹⁵He returned with his whole retinue to the man of God. On his arrival he stood before him and said, "Now I know that there is no God in all the earth, except in Israel. Please accept a gift from your servant."

¹⁶"As the LORD lives whom I serve, I will not take it," Elisha replied; and despite Naaman's urging, he still refused.

¹⁷Naaman said: "If you will not accept, please let me, your servant, have two mule-loads of earth, for I will no longer offer holocaust or sacrifice to any other god except to the LORD.

¹⁸But I trust the LORD will forgive your servant this: when my master enters the temple of Rimmon to worship there, then I, too, as his adjutant, must bow down in the temple of Rimmon. May the LORD forgive your servant this."

¹⁹"Go in peace," Elisha said to him.

²⁰Naaman had gone some distance when Gehazi, the servant of Elisha, the man of God, thought to himself: "My master was too easy with this Aramean Naaman, not accepting what he brought. As the LORD lives, I will run after him and get something out of him."

²¹So Gehazi hurried after Naaman. Aware that someone was running after him, Naaman alighted from his chariot to wait for him. "Is everything all right?" he asked.

²²"Yes," Gehazi replied, "but my master sent me to say, 'Two young men have just come to me, guild prophets from the hill country of Ephraim. Please give them a talent of silver and two festal garments.'"

²³"Please take two talents," Naaman said, and pressed them upon him. He tied up these silver talents in bags and gave them, with the two festal garments, to two of his servants, who carried them before Gehazi.

²⁴When they reached the hill, Gehazi took what they had, carried it into the house, and sent the men on their way.

²⁵He went in and stood before Elisha his master, who asked him, "Where have you been, Gehazi?" He answered, "Your servant has not gone anywhere."

²⁶But Elisha said to him: "Was I not present in spirit when the man alighted from his chariot to wait for you? Is this a time to take money or to take garments, olive orchards or vineyards, sheep or cattle, male or female servants?"

6The guild prophets once said to Elisha: "There is not enough room for us to continue to live here with you.

²Let us go to the Jordan, where by getting one beam apiece we can build ourselves a place to live." "Go," Elisha said.

³"Please agree to accompany your servants," one of them requested. "Yes, I will come," he replied.

⁴So he went with them, and when they arrived at the Jordan they began to fell trees.

⁵While one of them was felling a tree trunk, the iron axhead slipped into the water. "O master," he cried out, "it was borrowed!"

⁶"Where did it fall?" asked the man of God. When he pointed out the spot, Elisha cut off a stick, threw it into the water, and brought the iron to the surface.

⁷"Pick it up," he said. And the man reached down and grasped it.

⁸When the king of Aram was waging war on Israel, he would make plans with his servants to attack a particular place.

⁹But the man of God would send word to the king of Israel, "Be careful! Do not pass by this place, for Aram will attack there."

¹⁰So the king of Israel would send word to the place which the man of God had indicated, and alert it; then they would be on guard. This happened several times.

¹¹Greatly disturbed over this, the king of Aram called together his officers. "Will you not tell me," he asked them, "who among us is for the king of Israel?"

¹²"No one, my lord king," answered one of the officers. "The Israelite prophet Elisha can tell the king of Israel the very words you speak in your bedroom."

¹³"Go, find out where he is," he said, "so that I may take him captive." Informed that Elisha was in Dothan, ¹⁴he sent there a strong force with horses and chariots. They arrived by night and surrounded the city.

¹⁵Early the next morning, when the attendant of the man of God arose and went out, he saw the force with its horses and chariots surrounding the city. "Alas!" he said to Elisha. "What shall we do, my lord?"

¹⁷Then he prayed, "O LORD, open his eyes, that he may see." And the LORD opened the eyes of the servant, so that he saw the mountainside filled with horses and fiery chariots around Elisha.

¹⁸When the Arameans came down to get him, Elisha prayed to the LORD, "Strike this people blind, I pray you." And in answer to the prophet's prayer the LORD struck them blind.

¹⁹Then Elisha said to them: "This is the wrong road, and this is the wrong city. Follow me! I will take you to the man you want." And he led them to Samaria.

²⁰When they entered Samaria, Elisha prayed, "O LORD, open their eyes that they may see." The LORD opened their eyes, and they saw that they were inside Samaria.

²¹When the king of Israel saw them, he asked, "Shall I kill them, my father?"

²³The king spread a great feast for them. When they had eaten and drunk he sent them away, and they went back to their master. No more Aramean raiders came into the land of Israel.

²⁴After this, Ben-hadad, king of Aram, mustered his whole army and laid siege to Samaria.

²⁵Because of the siege the famine in Samaria was so severe that an ass's head sold for eighty pieces of silver, and a fourth of a kab of wild onion for five pieces of silver.

²⁶One day, as the king of Israel was walking on the city wall, a woman cried out to him, "Help, my lord king!"

²⁷"No," he replied, "the LORD help you! Where could I find help for you: from the threshing floor or the winepress?"

²⁸Then the king asked her, "What is your trouble?" She replied: "This woman said to me, 'Give up your son that we may eat him today; then tomorrow we will eat my son.'

²⁹So we boiled my son and ate him. The next day I said to her, 'Now give up your son that we may eat him.' But she hid her son."

³⁰When the king heard the woman's words, he tore his garments. And as he was walking on the wall, the people saw that he was wearing sackcloth underneath, next to his skin.

³¹"May God do thus and so to me," the king exclaimed, "if the head of Elisha, son of Shaphat, stays on him today!"

³²Meanwhile, Elisha was sitting in his house in conference with the elders. The king had sent a man ahead before he himself should come to him. Elisha had said to the elders: "Do you know that this son of a murderer is sending someone to cut off my head? When the messenger comes, see that you close the door and hold it fast against him. His master's footsteps are echoing behind him."

³³While Elisha was still speaking, the king came down to him and said, "This evil is from the LORD. Why should I trust in the LORD any longer?"

7 Elisha said: "Hear the word of the LORD! Thus says the LORD, 'At this time tomorrow a seah of fine flour will sell for a shekel, and two seahs of barley for a shekel, in the market of Samaria.'"

²But the adjutant on whose arm the king leaned, answered the man of God, "Even if the LORD were to make windows in heaven, how could this happen?" "You shall see it with your own eyes," Elisha said, "but you shall not eat of it."

³At the city gate were four lepers who were deliberating, "Why should we sit here until we die?"

⁴If we decide to go into the city, we shall die there, for there is famine in the city. If we remain here, we shall die too. Come, let us desert to the camp of the Arameans. If they spare us, we live; if they kill us, we die."

⁵At twilight they left for the Arameans; but when they reached the edge of the camp, no one was there.

⁶The LORD had caused the army of the Arameans to hear the sound of chariots and horses, the din of a large army, and they had reasoned among themselves, "The king of Israel has hired the kings of the Hittites and the kings of the borderlands to fight us."

⁷Then in the twilight they fled, abandoning their tents, their horses, and their asses, the whole camp just as it was, and fleeing for their lives.

⁸After the lepers reached the edge of the camp, they went first into one tent, ate and drank, and took silver, gold, and clothing from it, and went out and hid them. Back they came into another tent, took things from it, and again went out and hid them.

⁹Then they said to one another: "We are not doing right. This is a day of good news, and we are keeping silent. If we wait until morning breaks, we shall be blamed. Come, let us go and inform the palace."

¹⁰They came and summoned the city gatekeepers. "We went to the camp of the Arameans," they said, "but no one was there--not a human voice, only the horses and asses tethered, and the tents just as they were left."

¹¹The gatekeepers announced this and it was reported within the palace.

¹²Though it was night, the king got up; he said to his servants: "Let me tell you what the Arameans have done to us. Knowing that we are in famine, they have left their camp to hide in the field, hoping to take us alive and enter our city when we leave it."

¹³One of his servants, however, suggested: "Since those who are left in the city are no better off than all the throng that has perished, let some of us take five of the abandoned horses and send scouts to investigate."

¹⁴They took two chariots, and horses, and the king sent them to reconnoiter the Aramean army. "Go and find out," he ordered.

¹⁵They followed the Arameans as far as the Jordan, and the whole route was strewn with garments and other objects that the Arameans had thrown away in their haste. The messengers returned and told the king.

¹⁶The people went out and plundered the camp of the Arameans; and then a seah of fine flour sold for a shekel and two seahs of barley for a shekel, as the LORD had said.

¹⁷The king put in charge of the gate the officer who was his adjutant; but the people trampled him to death at the gate, just as the man of God had predicted when the king visited him.

¹⁸Thus was fulfilled the prophecy of the man of God to the king, "Two seahs of barley will sell for a shekel, and one seah of fine flour for a shekel at this time tomorrow at the gate of Samaria."

¹⁹The adjutant had answered the man of God, "Even if the LORD were to make windows in heaven, how could this happen?" And Elisha had replied, "You shall see it with your own eyes, but you shall not eat of it."

²⁰And that is what happened to him, for the people trampled him to death at the gate.

8 Elisha once said to the woman whose son he had restored to life: "Get ready! Leave with your family and settle wherever you can, because the LORD has decreed a seven-year famine which is coming upon the land."

²The woman got ready and did as the man of God said, setting out with her family and settling in the land of the Philistines for seven years.

³At the end of the seven years, the woman returned from the land of the Philistines and went out to the king to claim her house and her field.

⁴The king was talking with Gehazi, the servant of the man of God. "Tell me," he said, "all the great things that Elisha has done."

⁵Just as he was relating to the king how his master had restored a dead person to life, the very woman whose son Elisha had restored to life came to the king to claim her house and field. "My lord king," Gehazi said, "this is the woman, and this is that son of hers whom Elisha restored to life."

⁶The king questioned the woman, and she told him her story. With that the king placed an official at her disposal, saying, "Restore all her property to her, with all that the field produced from the day she left the land until now."

⁷Elisha came to Damascus at a time when Ben-hadad, king of Aram, lay sick. When he was told that the man of God had come there,

⁸the king said to Hazael, "Take a gift with you and go call on the man of God. Have him consult the LORD as to whether I shall recover from this sickness."

⁹Hazael went to visit him, carrying a present, and with forty camel loads of the best goods of Damascus. On his arrival, he stood before the prophet and said, "Your son Ben-hadad, king of Aram, has sent me to ask you whether he will recover from his sickness."

¹⁰"Go and tell him," Elisha answered, "that he will surely recover. However, the LORD has showed me that he will in fact die."

¹¹Then he stared him down until Hazael became ill at ease. The man of God wept,

¹²and Hazael asked, "Why are you weeping, my lord?" Elisha replied, "Because I know the evil that you will inflict upon the Israelites. You will burn their fortresses, you will slay their youth with the sword, you will dash their little children to pieces, you will rip open their pregnant women."

¹³Hazael exclaimed, "How can a dog like me, your servant, do anything so important?" "The LORD has showed you to me as king over Aram," replied Elisha.

¹⁴Hazael left Elisha and returned to his master. "What did Elisha tell you?" asked Ben-hadad. "He told me that you would surely recover," replied Hazael.

¹⁵The next day, however, Hazael took a cloth, dipped it in water, and spread it over the king's face, so that he died. And Hazael reigned in his stead.

¹⁶In the fifth year of Joram, son of Ahab, king of Israel, Jehoram, son of Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, became king.

¹⁷He was thirty-two years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem.

¹⁸He conducted himself like the kings of Israel of the line of Ahab, since the sister of Ahab was his wife; and he did evil in the LORD'S sight.

¹⁹Even so, the LORD was unwilling to destroy Judah, because of his servant David. For he had promised David that he would leave him a lamp in the LORD'S presence for all time.

²⁰During Jehoram's reign, Edom revolted against the sovereignty of Judah and chose a king of its own.

²¹Thereupon Jehoram with all his chariots crossed over to Zair. He arose by night and broke through the Edomites when they had surrounded him and the commanders of his chariots. Then his army fled homeward.

²²To this day Edom has been in revolt against the rule of Judah. Libnah also revolted at that time.

²³The rest of the acts of Jehoram, with all that he did, are recorded in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah.

²⁴Jehoram rested with his ancestors and was buried with them in the City of David. His son Ahaziah succeeded him as king.

²⁵Ahaziah, son of Jehoram, king of Judah, became king in the twelfth year of Joram, son of Ahab, king of Israel.

²⁶He was twenty-two years old when he began his reign, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Athaliah; she was daughter of Omri, king of Israel.

²⁷He conducted himself like the house of Ahab, doing evil in the LORD'S sight as they did, since he was related to them by marriage.

²⁸He joined Joram, son of Ahab, in battle against Hazael, king of Aram, at Ramoth-gilead, where the Arameans wounded Joram.

²⁹King Joram returned to Jezreel to be healed of the wounds which the Arameans had inflicted on him at Ramah in his battle against Hazael, king of Aram. Then Ahaziah, son of Jehoram, king of Judah, went down to Jezreel to visit him there in his illness.

9The prophet Elisha called one of the guild prophets and said to him: "Gird your loins, take this flask of oil with you, and go to Ramoth-gilead.

²When you get there, look for Jehu, son of Jehoshaphat, son of Nimshi. Enter and take him away from his companions into an inner chamber.

³From the flask you have, pour oil on his head, and say, 'Thus says the LORD: I anoint you king over Israel.' Then open the door and flee without delay."

⁴The young man (the guild prophet) went to Ramoth-gilead.

⁵When he arrived, the commanders of the army were in session. "I have a message for you, commander," he said. "For which one of us?" asked Jehu. "For you, commander," he answered.

⁶Jehu got up and went into the house. Then the young man poured the oil on his head and said, "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: 'I anoint you king over the people of the LORD, over Israel.

⁷You shall destroy the house of Ahab your master; thus will I avenge the blood of my servants the prophets, and the blood of all the other servants of the LORD shed by Jezebel, ⁸and by all the rest of the family of Ahab. I will cut off every male in Ahab's line, whether slave or freeman in Israel.

⁹I will deal with the house of Ahab as I dealt with the house of Jeroboam, son of Nebat, and with the house of Baasha, son of Ahijah.

¹⁰Dogs shall devour Jezebel at the confines of Jezreel, so that no one can bury her." Then he opened the door and fled.

¹¹When Jehu rejoined his master's servants, they asked him, "Is all well? Why did that madman come to you?" You know that kind of man and his talk, he replied.

¹²But they said, "Not at all! Come, tell us." So he told them what the young man had said to him, and finally, "Thus says the LORD: 'I anoint you king over Israel.'"

¹³At once each took his garment, spread it under Jehu on the bare steps, blew the trumpet, and cried out, "Jehu is king!"

¹⁴Thus Jehu, son of Jehoshaphat, son of Nimshi, formed a conspiracy against Joram. Joram, with all Israel, had been besieging Ramoth-gilead against Hazael, king of Aram,

¹⁵but had returned to Jezreel to be healed of the wounds the Arameans had inflicted on him in the battle against Hazael, king of Aram. "If you are truly with me," Jehu said, "see that no one escapes from the city to report in Jezreel."

¹⁶Then Jehu mounted his chariot and drove to Jezreel, where Joram lay ill and Ahaziah, king of Judah, had come to visit him.

¹⁷The watchman standing on the tower in Jezreel saw the troop of Jehu coming and reported, "I see chariots." "Get a driver," Joram said, "and send him to meet them and to ask whether all is well."

¹⁸So a driver went out to meet him and said, "The king asks whether all is well." "What does it matter to you how things are?" Jehu said. "Get behind me." The watchman reported to the king, "The messenger has reached them, but is not returning."

¹⁹Joram sent a second driver, who went to them and said, "The king asks whether all is well." "What does it matter to you how things are?" Jehu replied. "Get behind me."

²⁰The watchman reported, "The messenger has reached them, but is not returning. The driving is like that of Jehu, son of Nimshi, in its fury."

²¹"Prepare my chariot," said Joram. When they had done so, Joram, king of Israel, and Ahaziah, king of Judah, set out, each in his own chariot, to meet Jehu. They reached him near the field of Naboth the Jezreelite.

²²When Joram recognized Jehu, he asked, "Is all well, Jehu?" "How can all be well," Jehu replied, "as long as the many fornications and witchcrafts of your mother Jezebel continue?"

²³Joram reined about and fled, crying to Ahaziah, "Treason, Ahaziah!"

²⁴But Jehu drew his bow and shot Joram between the shoulders, so that the arrow went through his heart and he collapsed in his chariot.

²⁵Then Jehu said to his adjutant Bidkar, "Take him and throw him into the field of Naboth the Jezreelite. For I remember that when we were driving teams behind his father Ahab, the LORD delivered this oracle against him:

²⁶'As surely as I saw yesterday the blood of Naboth and the blood of his sons,' says the LORD, 'I will repay you for it in that very plot of ground, says the LORD.' So now take him into this plot of ground, in keeping with the word of the LORD."

²⁸ His servants brought him in a chariot to Jerusalem and buried him in the tomb of his ancestors in the City of David.

²⁹ Ahaziah had become king of Judah in the eleventh year of Joram, son of Ahab.

³⁰ When Jezebel learned that Jehu had arrived in Jezreel, she shadowed her eyes, adorned her hair, and looked down from her window.

³¹ As Jehu came through the gate, she cried out, "Is all well, Zimri, murderer of your master?"

³² Jehu looked up to the window and shouted, "Who is on my side? Anyone?" At this, two or three eunuchs looked down toward him.

³³ "Throw her down," he ordered. They threw her down, and some of her blood spurted against the wall and against the horses. Jehu rode in over her body

³⁴ and, after eating and drinking, he said: "Attend to that accursed woman and bury her; after all, she was a king's daughter."

³⁵ But when they went to bury her, they found nothing of her but the skull, the feet, and the hands.

³⁶ They returned to Jehu, and when they told him, he said, "This is the sentence which the LORD pronounced through his servant Elijah the Tishbite: 'In the confines of Jezreel dogs shall eat the flesh of Jezebel.'

³⁷ The corpse of Jezebel shall be like dung in the field in the confines of Jezreel, so that no one can say: This was Jezebel.'"

10 Ahab had seventy descendants in Samaria. Jehu prepared letters and sent them to the city rulers, to the elders, and to the guardians of Ahab's descendants in Samaria.

² "Since your master's sons are with you," he wrote, "and you have the chariots, the horses, a fortified city, and the weapons, when this letter reaches you

- ³decide which is the best and the fittest of your master's offspring, place him on his father's throne, and fight for your master's house."
- ⁴They were overcome with fright and said, "If two kings could not withstand him, how can we?"
- ⁵So the vizier and the ruler of the city, along with the elders and the guardians, sent this message to Jehu: "We are your servants, and we will do everything you tell us. We will proclaim no one king; do whatever you think best."
- ⁶So Jehu wrote them a second letter: "If you are on my side and will obey me, count the heads of your master's sons and come to me in Jezreel at this time tomorrow." (The seventy princes were in the care of prominent men of the city, who were rearing them.)
- ⁷When the letter arrived, they took the princes and slew all seventy of them, put their heads in baskets, and sent them to Jehu in Jezreel.
- ⁸"They have brought the heads of the princes," a messenger came in and told him. "Pile them in two heaps at the entrance of the city until morning," he ordered.
- ⁹Going out in the morning, he stopped and said to all the people: "You are not responsible, and although I conspired against my lord and slew him, yet who killed all these?"
- ¹⁰Know that not a single word which the LORD has spoken against the house of Ahab shall go unfulfilled. The LORD has accomplished all that he foretold through his servant Elijah."
- ¹¹Thereupon Jehu slew all who were left of the family of Ahab in Jezreel, as well as all his powerful supporters, intimates, and priests, leaving him no survivor.
- ¹²Then he set out for Samaria, and at Beth-eked-haroim on the way,
- ¹³he came across kinsmen of Ahaziah, king of Judah. "Who are you?" he asked. "We are kinsmen of Ahaziah," they replied. "We are going down to visit the princes and the family of the queen mother."
- ¹⁴"Take them alive," Jehu ordered. They were taken alive, forty-two in number, then slain at the pit of Beth-eked. Not one of them was spared.

¹⁵When he had left there, Jehu met Jehonadab, son of Rechab, on the road. He greeted him and asked, "Are you sincerely disposed toward me, as I am toward you?" "Yes," replied Jehonadab. "If you are," continued Jehu, "give me your hand." Jehonadab gave him his hand, and Jehu drew him up into his chariot.

¹⁶"Come with me," he said, "and see my zeal for the LORD." And he took him along in his own chariot.

¹⁷When he arrived in Samaria, Jehu slew all who remained there of Ahab's line, doing away with them completely and thus fulfilling the prophecy which the LORD had spoken to Elijah.

¹⁸Jehu gathered all the people together and said to them: "Ahab served Baal to some extent, but Jehu will serve him yet more.

¹⁹Now summon for me all Baal's prophets, all his worshipers, and all his priests. See that no one is absent, for I have a great sacrifice for Baal. Whoever is absent shall not live." This Jehu did as a ruse, so that he might destroy the worshipers of Baal.

²⁰Jehu said further, "Proclaim a solemn assembly in honor of Baal." They did so, ²¹and Jehu sent word of it throughout the land of Israel. All the worshipers of Baal without exception came into the temple of Baal, which was filled to capacity.

²²Then Jehu said to the custodian of the wardrobe, "Bring out the garments for all the worshipers of Baal." When he had brought out the garments for them,

²³Jehu, with Jehonadab, son of Rechab, entered the temple of Baal and said to the worshipers of Baal, "Search and be sure that there is no worshiper of the LORD here with you, but only worshipers of Baal."

²⁴Then they proceeded to offer sacrifices and holocausts. Now Jehu had stationed eighty men outside with this warning, "If one of you lets anyone escape of those whom I shall deliver into your hands, he shall pay life for life."

²⁵As soon as he finished offering the holocaust, Jehu said to the guards and officers, "Go in and slay them. Let no one escape." So the guards and officers put them to the sword and cast them out. Afterward they went into the inner shrine of the temple of Baal, ²⁶took out the stele of Baal, and burned the shrine.

²⁷Then they smashed the stele of Baal, tore down the building, and turned it into a latrine, as it remains today.

²⁸Thus Jehu rooted out the worship of Baal from Israel.

²⁹However, he did not desist from the sins which Jeroboam, son of Nebat, had caused Israel to commit, as regards the golden calves at Bethel and at Dan.

³⁰The LORD said to Jehu, "Because you have done well what I deem right, and have treated the house of Ahab as I desire, your sons to the fourth generation shall sit upon the throne of Israel."

³¹But Jehu was not careful to observe wholeheartedly the law of the LORD, the God of Israel, since he did not desist from the sins which Jeroboam caused Israel to commit.

³²At that time the LORD began to dismember Israel. Hazael defeated the Israelites throughout their territory

³³east of the Jordan (all the land of Gilead, of the Gadites, Reubenites and Manassehites), from Aroer on the river Arnon up through Gilead and Bashan.

³⁴The rest of the acts of Jehu, his valor and all his accomplishments, are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

³⁵Jehu rested with his ancestors and was buried in Samaria. His son Jehoahaz succeeded him as king.

³⁶The length of Jehu's reign over Israel in Samaria was twenty-eight years.

11 When Athaliah, the mother of Ahaziah, saw that her son was dead, she began to kill off the whole royal family.

²But Jehosheba, daughter of King Jehoram and sister of Ahaziah, took Joash, his son, and spirited him away, along with his nurse, from the bedroom where the princes were about to be slain. She concealed him from Athaliah, and so he did not die.

³For six years he remained hidden in the temple of the LORD, while Athaliah ruled the land.

⁴But in the seventh year, Jehoiada summoned the captains of the Carians and of the guards. He had them come to him in the temple of the LORD, exacted from them a sworn commitment, and then showed them the king's son.

⁵He gave them these orders: "This is what you must do: the third of you who come on duty on the sabbath shall guard the king's palace;

⁶another third shall be at the gate Sur; and the last third shall be at the gate behind the guards.

⁷The two of your divisions who are going off duty that week shall keep guard over the temple of the LORD for the king.

⁸You shall surround the king, each with drawn weapons, and if anyone tries to approach the cordon, kill him; stay with the king, whatever he may do."

⁹The captains did just as Jehoiada the priest commanded. Each one with his men, both those going on duty for the sabbath and those going off duty that week, came to Jehoiada the priest.

¹⁰He gave the captains King David's spears and shields, which were in the temple of the LORD.

¹¹And the guards, with drawn weapons, lined up from the southern to the northern limit of the enclosure, surrounding the altar and the temple on the king's behalf.

¹²Then Jehoiada led out the king's son and put the crown and the insignia upon him. They proclaimed him king and anointed him, clapping their hands and shouting, "Long live the king!"

¹³Athaliah heard the noise made by the people, and appeared before them in the temple of the LORD.

¹⁴When she saw the king standing by the pillar, as was the custom, and the captains and trumpeters near him, with all the people of the land rejoicing and blowing trumpets, she tore her garments and cried out, "Treason, treason!"

¹⁵Then Jehoiada the priest instructed the captains in command of the force: "Bring her outside through the ranks. If anyone follows her," he added, "let him die by the sword." He had given orders that she should not be slain in the temple of the LORD.

¹⁶She was led out forcibly to the horse gate of the royal palace, where she was put to death.

¹⁷Then Jehoiada made a covenant between the LORD as one party and the king and the people as the other, by which they would be the LORD'S people; and another covenant, between the king and the people.

¹⁸Thereupon all the people of the land went to the temple of Baal and demolished it. They shattered its altars and images completely, and slew Mattan, the priest of Baal, before the altars. After appointing a detachment for the temple of the LORD, Jehoiada

¹⁹with the captains, the Carians, the guards, and all the people of the land, led the king down from the temple of the LORD through the guards' gate to the palace, where Joash took his seat on the royal throne.

²⁰All the people of the land rejoiced and the city was quiet, now that Athaliah had been slain with the sword at the royal palace.

12 Joash was seven years old when he became king.

²Joash began to reign in the seventh year of Jehu, and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem. His mother, who was named Zibiah, was from Beer-sheba.

³Joash did what was pleasing to the LORD as long as he lived, because the priest Jehoiada guided him.

⁴Still, the high places did not disappear; the people continued to sacrifice and to burn incense there.

⁵For the priests Joash made this rule: "All the funds for sacred purposes that are brought to the temple of the LORD--the census tax, personal redemption money, and whatever funds are freely brought to the temple of the LORD--

⁶the priests may take for themselves, each from his own clients. However, they must make whatever repairs on the temple may prove necessary."

⁷Nevertheless, as late as the twenty-third year of the reign of King Joash, the priests had not made needed repairs on the temple.

⁸Accordingly, King Joash summoned the priest Jehoiada and the other priests. "Why do you not repair the temple?" he asked them. "You must no longer take funds from your clients, but you shall turn them over for the repairs."

⁹So the priests agreed that they would neither take funds from the people nor make the repairs on the temple.

¹⁰The priest Jehoiada then took a chest, bored a hole in its lid, and set it beside the stele, on the right as one entered the temple of the LORD. The priests who guarded the entry would put into it all the funds that were brought to the temple of the LORD.

¹¹When they noticed that there was a large amount of silver in the chest, the royal scribe (and the priest) would come up, and they would melt down all the funds that were in the temple of the LORD, and weigh them.

¹²The amount thus realized they turned over to the master workmen in the temple of the LORD. They in turn would give it to the carpenters and builders working in the temple of the LORD, ¹³and to the lumbermen and stone cutters, and for the purchase of the wood and hewn stone used in repairing the breaches, and for any other expenses that were necessary to repair the temple.

¹⁴None of the funds brought to the temple of the LORD were used there to make silver cups, snuffers, basins, trumpets, or any gold or silver article.

¹⁵Instead, they were given to the workmen, and with them they repaired the temple of the LORD.

¹⁶Moreover, no reckoning was asked of the men who were provided with the funds to give to the workmen, because they held positions of trust.

¹⁷The funds from guilt-offerings and from sin-offerings, however, were not brought to the temple of the LORD; they belonged to the priests.

¹⁸Then King Hazael of Aram mounted a siege against Gath. When he had taken it, Hazael decided to go on to attack Jerusalem.

¹⁹But King Jehoash of Judah took all the dedicated offerings presented by his forebears, Jehoshaphat, Jehoram, and Ahaziah, kings of Judah, as well as his own, and all the gold there was in the treasuries of the temple and the palace, and sent them to King Hazael of Aram, who then led his forces away from Jerusalem.

²⁰The rest of the acts of Joash, with all that he did, are recorded in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah.

²¹Certain of his officials entered into a plot against him and killed him at Beth-millo.

²²Jozacar, son of Shimeath, and Jehozabad, son of Shomer, were the officials who killed him. He was buried in his forefathers' City of David, and his son Amaziah succeeded him as king.

13 In the twenty-third year of Joash, son of Ahaziah, king of Judah, Jehoahaz, son of Jehu, began his seventeen-year reign over Israel in Samaria.

²He did evil in the LORD'S sight, conducting himself like Jeroboam, son of Nebat, and not renouncing the sin he had caused Israel to commit.

³The LORD was angry with Israel and for a long time left them in the power of Hazael, king of Aram, and of Ben-hadad, son of Hazael.

⁴Then Jehoahaz entreated the LORD, who heard him, since he saw the oppression to which the king of Aram had subjected Israel.

⁵So the LORD gave Israel a savior, and the Israelites, freed from the power of Aram, dwelt in their own homes as formerly.

⁶Nevertheless, they did not desist from the sins which the house of Jeroboam had caused Israel to commit, but persisted in them. The sacred pole also remained standing in Samaria.

⁷No soldiers were left to Jehoahaz, except fifty horsemen with ten chariots and ten thousand foot soldiers, since the king of Aram had destroyed them and trampled them like dust.

⁸The rest of the acts of Jehoahaz, with all his valor and accomplishments, are recorded in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

⁹Jehoahaz rested with his ancestors and was buried in Samaria. His son Joash succeeded him as king.

¹⁰In the thirty-seventh year of Joash, king of Judah, Jehoash, son of Jehoahaz, began his sixteen-year reign over Israel in Samaria.

¹¹He did evil in the sight of the LORD; he did not desist from any of the sins which Jeroboam, son of Nebat, had caused Israel to commit, but persisted in them.

¹²(The rest of the acts of Joash, the valor with which he fought against Amaziah, king of Judah, and all his accomplishments, are recorded in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

¹³Joash rested with his ancestors, and Jeroboam occupied the throne. Joash was buried with the kings of Israel in Samaria.)

¹⁴When Elisha was suffering from the sickness of which he was to die, King Joash of Israel went down to visit him. "My father, my father!" he exclaimed, weeping over him. "Israel's chariots and horsemen!"

¹⁵"Take a bow and some arrows," Elisha said to him. When he had done so,

¹⁶Elisha said to the king of Israel, "Put your hand on the bow." As the king held the bow, Elisha placed his hands over the king's hands

¹⁷and said, "Open the window toward the east." He opened it. Elisha said, "Shoot," and he shot. The prophet exclaimed, "The LORD'S arrow of victory! The arrow of victory over Aram! You will completely conquer Aram at Aphec."

¹⁸Then he said to the king of Israel, "Take the arrows," which he did. Elisha said to him, "Strike the ground!" He struck the ground three times and stopped.

¹⁹Angry with him, the man of God said: "You should have struck five or six times; you would have defeated Aram completely. Now, you will defeat Aram only three times."

²⁰Elisha died and was buried. At the time, bands of Moabites used to raid the land each year.

²¹Once some people were burying a man, when suddenly they spied such a raiding band. So they cast the dead man into the grave of Elisha, and everyone went off. But when the man came in contact with the bones of Elisha, he came back to life and rose to his feet.

²³But the LORD was merciful with Israel and looked on them with compassion because of his covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. He was unwilling to destroy them or to cast them out from his presence.

²⁴So when King Hazael of Aram died and his son Ben-hadad succeeded him as king, ²⁵Joash, son of Jehoahaz, took back from Ben-hadad, son of Hazael, the cities which Hazael had taken in battle from his father Jehoahaz. Joash defeated Ben-hadad three times, and thus recovered the cities of Israel.

14In the second year of Joash, son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel, Amaziah, son of Joash, king of Judah, began to reign.

²He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother, whose name was Jehoaddin, was from Jerusalem.

³He pleased the LORD, yet not like his forefather David, since he did just as his father Joash had done.

⁴Thus the high places did not disappear, but the people continued to sacrifice and to burn incense on them.

⁵When Amaziah had the kingdom firmly in hand, he slew the officials who had murdered the king, his father.

⁶But the children of the murderers he did not put to death, obeying the LORD'S command written in the book of the law of Moses, "Fathers shall not be put to death for their children, nor shall children be put to death for their fathers; each one shall die for his own sin."

⁷Amaziah slew ten thousand Edomites in the Salt Valley, and took Sela in battle. He renamed it Joktheel, the name it has to this day.

⁸Then Amaziah sent messengers to Jehoash, son of Jehoahaz, son of Jehu, king of Israel, with this challenge, "Come, let us meet face to face."

⁹King Jehoash of Israel sent this reply to the king of Judah: "The thistle of Lebanon sent word to the cedar of Lebanon, 'Give your daughter to my son in marriage,' but an animal of Lebanon passed by and trampled the thistle underfoot.

¹⁰You have indeed conquered Edom, and you have become ambitious. Enjoy your glory, but stay at home! Why involve yourself and Judah with you in misfortune and failure?"

¹¹But Amaziah would not listen. King Jehoash of Israel then advanced, and he and King Amaziah of Judah met in battle at Beth-shemesh of Judah.

¹²Judah was defeated by Israel, and all the Judean soldiery fled homeward.

¹³King Jehoash of Israel captured Amaziah, son of Jehoash, son of Ahaziah, king of Judah, at Beth-shemesh. He went on to Jerusalem where he tore down four hundred cubits of the city wall, from the Gate of Ephraim to the Corner Gate.

¹⁴He took all the gold and silver and all the utensils there were in the temple of the LORD and the treasuries of the palace, and hostages as well. Then he returned to Samaria.

¹⁵The rest of the acts of Jehoash, his valor, and how he fought Amaziah, king of Judah, are recorded in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

¹⁶Jehoash rested with his ancestors; he was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel. His son Jeroboam succeeded him as king.

¹⁷Amaziah, son of Joash, king of Judah, survived Jehoash, son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel, by fifteen years.

¹⁸The rest of the acts of Amaziah are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah.

¹⁹When a conspiracy was formed against him in Jerusalem, he fled to Lachish. But he was pursued to Lachish and killed there.

²⁰He was brought back on horses and buried with his ancestors in the City of David in Jerusalem.

²¹Thereupon all the people of Judah took the sixteen-year-old Azariah and proclaimed him king to succeed his father Amaziah.

²²It was Azariah who rebuilt Elath and restored it to Judah, after King Amaziah rested with his ancestors.

²³In the fifteenth year of Amaziah, son of Joash, king of Judah, Jeroboam, son of Joash, king of Israel, began his forty-one-year reign in Samaria.

²⁴He did evil in the sight of the LORD; he did not desist from any of the sins which Jeroboam, son of Nebat, had caused Israel to commit.

²⁵He restored the boundaries of Israel from Labo-of-Hamath to the sea of the Arabah, just as the LORD, the God of Israel, had prophesied through his servant, the prophet Jonah, son of Amittai, from Gath-hepher.

²⁶For the LORD saw the very bitter affliction of Israel, where there was neither slave nor freeman, no one at all to help Israel.

²⁷Since the LORD had not determined to blot out the name of Israel from under the heavens, he saved them through Jeroboam, son of Joash.

²⁸The rest of the acts of Jeroboam, his valor and all his accomplishments, how he fought with Damascus and turned back Hamath from Israel, are recorded in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

²⁹Jeroboam rested with his ancestors, the kings of Israel, and his son Zechariah succeeded him as king.

15 Azariah, son of Amaziah, king of Judah, became king in the twenty-seventh year of Jeroboam, king of Israel.

²He was sixteen years old when he began to reign, and he reigned fifty-two years in Jerusalem. His mother, whose name was Jecholiah, was from Jerusalem.

³He pleased the LORD just as his father Amaziah had done.

⁴Yet the high places did not disappear; the people continued to sacrifice and to burn incense on them.

⁵The LORD afflicted the king, and he was a leper to the day of his death. He lived in a house apart, while Jotham, the king's son, was vizier and regent for the people of the land.

⁶The rest of the acts of Azariah, and all his accomplishments, are recorded in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah.

⁷Azariah rested with his ancestors, and was buried with them in the City of David. His son Jotham succeeded him as king.

⁸In the thirty-eighth year of Azariah, king of Judah, Zechariah, son of Jeroboam, was king of Israel in Samaria for six months.

⁹He did evil in the sight of the LORD as his fathers had done, and did not desist from the sins which Jeroboam, son of Nebat, had caused Israel to commit.

¹⁰Shallum, son of Jabesh, conspired against Zechariah, attacked and killed him at Ibleam, and reigned in his place.

¹¹The rest of the acts of Zechariah are recorded in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

¹²Thus the LORD'S promise to Jehu, "Your descendants to the fourth generation shall sit upon the throne of Israel," was fulfilled.

¹³Shallum, son of Jabesh, became king in the thirty-ninth year of Uzziah, king of Judah; he reigned one month in Samaria.

¹⁴Menahem, son of Gadi, came up from Tirzah to Samaria, where he attacked and killed Shallum, son of Jabesh, and reigned in his place.

¹⁵The rest of the acts of Shallum, and the fact of his conspiracy, are recorded in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

¹⁶At that time, Menahem punished Tappuah, all the inhabitants of the town and of its whole district, because on his way from Tirzah they did not let him in. He punished them even to ripping open all the pregnant women.

¹⁷In the thirty-ninth year of Azariah, king of Judah, Menahem, son of Gadi, began his ten-year reign over Samaria.

¹⁸He did evil in the sight of the LORD, not desisting from the sins which Jeroboam, son of Nebat, had caused Israel to commit. During his reign, ¹⁹Pul, king of Assyria, invaded the land, and Menahem gave him a thousand talents of silver to have his assistance in strengthening his hold on the kingdom.

²⁰Menahem secured the money to give to the king of Assyria by exacting it from all the men of substance in the country, fifty silver shekels from each. The king of Assyria did not remain in the country but withdrew.

²¹The rest of the acts of Menahem, and all his accomplishments, are recorded in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

²²Menahem rested with his ancestors, and his son Pekahiah succeeded him as king.

- ²³In the fiftieth year of Azariah, king of Judah, Pekahiah, son of Menahem, began his two-year reign over Israel in Samaria.
- ²⁴He did evil in the sight of the LORD, not desisting from the sins which Jeroboam, son of Nebat, had caused Israel to commit.
- ²⁵His adjutant Pekah, son of Remaliah, who had with him fifty men from Gilead, conspired against him, killed him within the palace stronghold in Samaria, and reigned in his place.
- ²⁶The rest of the acts of Pekahiah, and all his accomplishments, are recorded in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.
- ²⁷In the fifty-second year of Azariah, king of Judah, Pekah, son of Remaliah, began his twenty-year reign over Israel in Samaria.
- ²⁸He did evil in the sight of the LORD, not desisting from the sins which Jeroboam, son of Nebat, had caused Israel to commit.
- ²⁹During the reign of Pekah, king of Israel, Tiglath-pileser, king of Assyria, came and took Ijon, Abel-beth-maacah, Janoah, Kedesh, Hazor, all the territory of Naphtali, Gilead, and Galilee, deporting the inhabitants to Assyria.
- ³⁰Hoshea, son of Elah, conspired against Pekah, son of Remaliah; he attacked and killed him, and reigned in his place (in the twentieth year of Jotham, son of Uzziah).
- ³¹The rest of the acts of Pekah, and all his accomplishments, are recorded in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.
- ³²In the second year of Pekah, son of Remaliah, king of Israel, Jotham, son of Uzziah, king of Judah, began to reign.
- ³³He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jerusha, daughter of Zadok.
- ³⁴He pleased the LORD, just as his father Uzziah had done.
- ³⁵Nevertheless the high places did not disappear and the people continued to sacrifice and to burn incense on them. It was he who built the Upper Gate of the temple of the LORD.

³⁶The rest of the acts of Jotham, and all his accomplishments, are recorded in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah.

³⁷It was at that time that the LORD first loosed Rezin, king of Aram, and Pekah, son of Remaliah, against Judah.

³⁸Jotham rested with his ancestors and was buried with them in his forefather's City of David. His son Ahaz succeeded him as king.

16 In the seventeenth year of Pekah, son of Remaliah, Ahaz, son of Jotham, king of Judah, began to reign.

²Ahaz was twenty years old when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. He did not please the LORD, his God, like his forefather David,

³but conducted himself like the kings of Israel, and even immolated his son by fire, in accordance with the abominable practice of the nations whom the LORD had cleared out of the way of the Israelites.

⁴Further, he sacrificed and burned incense on the high places, on hills, and under every leafy tree.

⁵Then Rezin, king of Aram, and Pekah, son of Remaliah, king of Israel, came up to Jerusalem to attack it. Although they besieged Ahaz, they were unable to conquer him.

⁶At the same time the king of Edom recovered Elath for Edom, driving the Judeans out of it. The Edomites then entered Elath, which they have occupied until the present.

⁷Meanwhile, Ahaz sent messengers to Tiglath-pileser, king of Assyria, with the plea: "I am your servant and your son. Come up and rescue me from the clutches of the king of Aram and the king of Israel, who are attacking me."

⁸Ahaz took the silver and gold that were in the temple of the LORD and in the palace treasuries and sent them as a present to the king of Assyria, ⁹who listened to him and moved against Damascus, which he captured. He deported its inhabitants to Kir and put Rezin to death.

¹⁰King Ahaz went to Damascus to meet Tiglath-pileser, king of Assyria. When he saw the altar in Damascus, King Ahaz sent to Uriah the priest a model of the altar and a detailed design of its construction.

¹¹Uriah the priest built an altar according to the plans which King Ahaz sent him from Damascus, and had it completed by the time the king returned home.

¹²On his arrival from Damascus, the king inspected this altar, then went up to it and offered sacrifice on it, ¹³burning his holocaust and cereal-offering, pouring out his libation, and sprinkling the blood of his peace-offerings on the altar.

¹⁴The bronze altar that stood before the LORD he brought from the front of the temple--that is, from the space between the new altar and the temple of the LORD--and set it on the north side of his altar.

¹⁵"Upon the large altar," King Ahaz commanded Uriah the priest, "burn the morning holocaust and the evening cereal offering, the royal holocaust and cereal offering, as well as the holocausts, cereal offerings, and libations of the people. You must also sprinkle on it all the blood of holocausts and sacrifices. But the old bronze altar shall be mine for consultation."

¹⁶Uriah the priest did just as King Ahaz had commanded.

¹⁷King Ahaz detached the frames from the bases and removed the lavers from them; he also took down the bronze sea from the bronze oxen that supported it, and set it on a stone pavement.

¹⁸In deference to the king of Assyria he removed from the temple of the LORD the emplacement which had been built in the temple for a throne, and the outer entrance for the king.

¹⁹The rest of the acts of Ahaz are recorded in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah.

²⁰Ahaz rested with his ancestors and was buried with them in the City of David. His son Hezekiah succeeded him as king.

17 In the twelfth year of Ahaz, king of Judah, Hoshea, son of Elah, began his nine-year reign over Israel in Samaria.

²He did evil in the sight of the LORD, yet not to the extent of the kings of Israel before him.

³Shalmaneser, king of Assyria, advanced against him, and Hoshea became his vassal and paid him tribute.

⁴But the king of Assyria found Hoshea guilty of conspiracy for sending envoys to the king of Egypt at Sais, and for failure to pay the annual tribute to his Assyrian overlord.

⁵For this, the king of Assyria arrested and imprisoned Hoshea; he then occupied the whole land and attacked Samaria, which he besieged for three years.

⁶In the ninth year of Hoshea, the king of Assyria took Samaria, and deported the Israelites to Assyria, settling them in Halah, at the Habor, a river of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes.

⁷This came about because the Israelites sinned against the LORD, their God, who had brought them up from the land of Egypt, from under the domination of Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and because they venerated other gods.

⁸They followed the rites of the nations whom the LORD had cleared out of the way of the Israelites (and the kings of Israel whom they set up).

⁹They adopted unlawful practices toward the LORD, their God. They built high places in all their settlements, the watchtowers as well as the walled cities.

¹⁰They set up pillars and sacred poles for themselves on every high hill and under every leafy tree.

¹¹There, on all the high places, they burned incense like the nations whom the LORD had sent into exile at their coming. They did evil things that provoked the LORD,

¹²and served idols, although the LORD had told them, "You must not do this."

¹³And though the LORD warned Israel and Judah by every prophet and seer, "Give up your evil ways and keep my commandments and statutes, in accordance with the entire law which I enjoined on your fathers and which I sent you by my servants the prophets,"

¹⁴they did not listen, but were as stiff-necked as their fathers, who had not believed in the LORD, their God.

¹⁵They rejected his statutes, the covenant which he had made with their fathers, and the warnings which he had given them. The vanity they pursued, they themselves became: they followed the surrounding nations whom the LORD had commanded them not to imitate.

¹⁶They disregarded all the commandments of the LORD, their God, and made for themselves two molten calves; they also made a sacred pole and worshiped all the host of heaven, and served Baal.

¹⁷They immolated their sons and daughters by fire, practiced fortune-telling and divination, and sold themselves into evil doing in the LORD'S sight, provoking him

¹⁹Even the people of Judah, however, did not keep the commandments of the LORD, their God, but followed the rites practiced by Israel.

²⁰So the LORD rejected the whole race of Israel. He afflicted them and delivered them over to plunderers, finally casting them out from before him.

²¹When he tore Israel away from the house of David, they made Jeroboam, son of Nebat, king; he drove the Israelites away from the LORD, causing them to commit a great sin.

²²The Israelites imitated Jeroboam in all the sins he committed, nor would they desist from them.

²³Finally, the LORD put Israel away out of his sight as he had foretold through all his servants, the prophets; and Israel went into exile from their native soil to Assyria, an exile lasting to the present.

²⁴The king of Assyria brought people from Babylon, Cuthah, Avva, Hamath, and Sepharvaim, and settled them in the cities of Samaria in place of the Israelites. They took possession of Samaria and dwelt in its cities.

²⁵When they first settled there, they did not venerate the LORD, so he sent lions among them that killed some of their number.

²⁶A report reached the king of Assyria: "The nations whom you deported and settled in the cities of Samaria do not know how to worship the God of the land, and he has sent lions among them that are killing them, since they do not know how to worship the God of the land."

²⁷The king of Assyria gave the order, "Send back one of the priests whom I deported, to go there and settle, to teach them how to worship the God of the land."

²⁸So one of the priests who had been deported from Samaria returned and settled in Bethel, and taught them how to venerate the LORD.

²⁹But these peoples began to make their own gods in the various cities in which they were living; in the shrines on the high places which the Samaritans had made, each people set up gods.

³⁰Thus the Babylonians made Marduk and his consort; the men of Cuth made Nergal; the men of Hamath made Ashima;

³¹the men of Avva made Nibhaz and Tartak; and the men of Sepharvaim immolated their children by fire to their city gods, King Hadad and his consort Anath.

³²They also venerated the LORD, choosing from their number priests for the high places, who officiated for them in the shrines on the high places.

³³But, while venerating the LORD, they served their own gods, following the worship of the nations from among whom they had been deported.

³⁴To this day they worship according to their ancient rites. (They did not venerate the LORD nor observe the statutes and regulations, the law and commandments, which the LORD enjoined on the descendants of Jacob, whom he had named Israel.

³⁵When he made a covenant with them, he commanded them: "You must not venerate other gods, nor worship them, nor serve them, nor offer sacrifice to them.

³⁶The LORD, who brought you up from the land of Egypt with great power and outstretched arm: him shall you venerate, him shall you worship, and to him shall you sacrifice.

³⁷You must be careful to observe forever the statutes and regulations, the law and commandment, which he wrote for you, and you must not venerate other gods.

³⁸The covenant which I made with you, you must not forget; you must not venerate other gods.

³⁹But the LORD, your God, you must venerate; it is he who will deliver you from the power of all your enemies."

⁴⁰They did not listen, however, but continued in their earlier manner.)

⁴¹Thus these nations venerated the LORD, but also served their idols. And their sons and grandsons, to this day, are doing as their fathers did.

18 In the third year of Hoshea, son of Elah, king of Israel, Hezekiah, son of Ahaz, king of Judah, began to reign.

²He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Abi, daughter of Zechariah.

³He pleased the LORD, just as his forefather David had done.

⁴It was he who removed the high places, shattered the pillars, and cut down the sacred poles. He smashed the bronze serpent called Nehushtan which Moses had made, because up to that time the Israelites were burning incense to it.

⁵He put his trust in the LORD, the God of Israel; and neither before him nor after him was there anyone like him among all the kings of Judah.

⁶Loyal to the LORD, Hezekiah never turned away from him, but observed the commandments which the LORD had given Moses.

⁷The LORD was with him, and he prospered in all that he set out to do. He rebelled against the king of Assyria and did not serve him.

⁸He also subjugated the watchtowers and walled cities of the Philistines, all the way to Gaza and its territory.

⁹In the fourth year of King Hezekiah, which was the seventh year of Hoshea, son of Elah, king of Israel, Shalmaneser, king of Assyria, attacked Samaria, laid siege to it, ¹⁰and after three years captured it. In the sixth year of Hezekiah, the ninth year of Hoshea, king of Israel, Samaria was taken.

¹¹The king of Assyria then deported the Israelites to Assyria and settled them in Halah, at the Habor, a river of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes.

¹²This came about because they had not heeded the warning of the LORD, their God, but violated his covenant, not heeding and not fulfilling the commandments of Moses, the servant of the LORD.

¹³In the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah, Sennacherib, king of Assyria, went on an expedition against all the fortified cities of Judah and captured them.

¹⁴Hezekiah, king of Judah, sent this message to the king of Assyria at Lachish: "I have done wrong. Leave me, and I will pay whatever tribute you impose on me." The king of Assyria exacted three hundred talents of silver and thirty talents of gold from Hezekiah, king of Judah.

¹⁵Hezekiah paid him all the funds there were in the temple of the LORD and in the palace treasuries.

¹⁶He broke up the door panels and the uprights of the temple of the LORD which he himself had ordered to be overlaid with gold, and gave the gold to the king of Assyria.

¹⁷The king of Assyria sent the general, the lord chamberlain, and the commander from Lachish with a great army to King Hezekiah at Jerusalem. They went up, and on their arrival in Jerusalem, stopped at the conduit of the upper pool on the highway to the fuller's field.

¹⁸They called for the king, who sent out to them Eliakim, son of Hilkiyah, the master of the palace; Shebna the scribe; and the herald Joah, son of Asaph.

¹⁹The commander said to them, "Tell Hezekiah, 'Thus says the great king, the king of Assyria: On what do you base this confidence of yours?

²⁰Do you think mere words substitute for strategy and might in war? On whom, then, do you rely, that you rebel against me?

²¹This Egypt, the staff on which you rely, is in fact a broken reed which pierces the hand of anyone who leans on it. That is what Pharaoh, king of Egypt, is to all who rely on him.

²²But if you say to me, We rely on the LORD, our God, is not he the one whose high places and altars Hezekiah has removed, commanding Judah and Jerusalem to worship before this altar in Jerusalem?'

²³"Now, make a wager with my lord, the king of Assyria: I will give you two thousand horses if you can put riders on them.

²⁴How then can you repulse even one of the least servants of my lord, relying as you do on Egypt for chariots and horsemen?

²⁵Was it without the LORD'S will that I have come up to destroy this place? The LORD said to me, 'Go up and destroy that land!'"

²⁶Then Eliakim, son of Hilkiah, and Shebnah and Joah said to the commander: "Please speak to your servants in Aramaic; we understand it. Do not speak to us in Judean within earshot of the people who are on the wall."

²⁷But the commander replied: "Was it to your master and to you that my lord sent me to speak these words? Was it not rather to the men sitting on the wall, who, with you, will have to eat their own excrement and drink their urine?"

²⁸Then the commander stepped forward and cried out in a loud voice in Judean, "Listen to the words of the great king, the king of Assyria.

²⁹Thus says the king: 'Do not let Hezekiah deceive you, since he cannot deliver you out of my hand.

³⁰Let not Hezekiah induce you to rely on the LORD, saying, The LORD will surely save us; this city will not be handed over to the king of Assyria.

³¹Do not listen to Hezekiah, for the king of Assyria says: Make peace with me and surrender! Then each of you will eat of his own vine and of his own fig-tree, and drink the water of his own cistern, ³²until I come to take you to a land like your own, a land of grain and wine, of bread and orchards, of olives, oil and fruit syrup. Choose life, not death. Do not listen to Hezekiah when he would seduce you by saying, The LORD will rescue us.

³³Has any of the gods of the nations ever rescued his land from the hand of the king of Assyria?

³⁴Where are the gods of Hamath and Arpad? Where are the gods of Sepharvaim, Hena, and Avva? Where are the gods of the land of Samaria?

³⁵Which of the gods for all these lands ever rescued his land from my hand? Will the LORD then rescue Jerusalem from my hand?"

³⁶But the people remained silent and did not answer him one word, for the king had ordered them not to answer him.

³⁷Then the master of the palace, Eliakim, son of Hilkiah, Shebna the scribe, and the herald Joah, son of Asaph, came to Hezekiah with their garments torn, and reported to him what the commander had 19When King Hezekiah heard this, he tore his garments, wrapped himself in sackcloth, and went into the temple of the LORD.

²He sent Eliakim, the master of the palace, Shebna the scribe, and the elders of the priests, wrapped in sackcloth, to tell the prophet Isaiah, son of Amoz,

³"Thus says Hezekiah: 'This is a day of distress, of rebuke, and of disgrace. Children are at the point of birth, but there is no strength to bring them forth.

⁴Perhaps the LORD, your God, will hear all the words of the commander, whom his master, the king of Assyria, sent to taunt the living God, and will rebuke him for the words which the LORD, your God, has heard. So send up a prayer for the remnant that is here."

⁵When the servants of King Hezekiah had come to Isaiah,

⁶he said to them, "Tell this to your master: 'Thus says the LORD: Do not be frightened by the words you have heard, with which the servants of the king of Assyria have blasphemed me.

⁷I am about to put in him such a spirit that, when he hears a certain report, he will return to his own land, and there I will cause him to fall by the sword."

⁸When the commander, on his return, heard that the king of Assyria had withdrawn from Lachish, he found him besieging Libnah.

⁹The king of Assyria heard a report that Tirhakah, king of Ethiopia, had come out to fight against him. Again he sent envoys to Hezekiah with this message:

¹⁰"Thus shall you say to Hezekiah, king of Judah: 'Do not let your God on whom you rely deceive you by saying that Jerusalem will not be handed over to the king of Assyria.

¹¹You have heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all other countries: they doomed them! Will you, then, be saved?

¹²Did the gods of the nations whom my fathers destroyed save them? Gozan, Haran, Rezep, or the Edenites in Telassar?

¹³Where are the king of Hamath, the king of Arpad, or the kings of the cities Sepharvaim, Hena and Avva?"

¹⁴Hezekiah took the letter from the hand of the messengers and read it; then he went up to the temple of the LORD, and spreading it out before him,

¹⁵he prayed in the LORD'S presence: "O LORD, God of Israel, enthroned upon the cherubim! You alone are God over all the kingdoms of the earth. You have made the heavens and the earth.

¹⁶Incline your ear, O LORD, and listen! Open your eyes, O LORD, and see! Hear the words of Sennacherib which he sent to taunt the living God.

¹⁷Truly, O LORD, the kings of Assyria have laid waste the nations and their lands, ¹⁸and cast their gods into the fire; they destroyed them because they were not gods, but the work of human hands, wood and stone.

¹⁹Therefore, O LORD, our God, save us from the power of this man, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that you alone, O LORD, are God."

²⁰Then Isaiah, son of Amoz, sent this message to Hezekiah: "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, in answer to your prayer for help against Sennacherib, king of Assyria: I have listened!

²¹This is the word the LORD has spoken concerning him: " 'She despises you, laughs you to scorn, the virgin daughter Zion! Behind you she wags her head, daughter Jerusalem.

²²Whom have you insulted and blasphemed, against whom have you raised your voice'And lifted up your eyes on high? Against the Holy One of Israel!

²³Through your servants you have insulted the LORD. You said: With my many chariots I climbed the mountain heights, the recesses of Lebanon; I cut down its lofty cedars, its choice cypresses; I reached the remotest heights, its forest park.

²⁴I dug wells and drank water in foreign lands; I dried up with the soles of my feet all the rivers of Egypt.

²⁵" Have you not heard? Long ago I prepared it, From days of old I planned it. Now I have brought it to pass: That you should reduce fortified cities into heaps of ruins, ²⁶While their inhabitants, shorn of power, are dismayed and ashamed, Becoming like the plants of the field, like the green growth, like the scorched grass on the housetops.

²⁷I am aware whether you stand or sit; I know whether you come or go,

²⁸and also your rage against me. Because of your rage against me and your fury which has reached my ears, I will put my hook in your nose and my bit in your mouth, and make you return the way you came.

²⁹" This shall be a sign for you: this year you shall eat the aftergrowth, next year, what grows of itself; But in the third year, sow and reap, plant vineyards and eat their fruit!

³⁰The remaining survivors of the house of Judah shall again strike root below and bear fruit above.

³¹For out of Jerusalem shall come a remnant, and from Mount Zion, survivors. The zeal of the LORD of hosts shall do this.'

³²"Therefore, thus says the LORD concerning the king of Assyria: 'He shall not reach this city, nor shoot an arrow at it, nor come before it with a shield, nor cast up siege-works against it.

³³He shall return by the same way he came, without entering the city, says the LORD.

³⁴I will shield and save this city for my own sake, and for the sake of my servant David."

³⁵That night the angel of the LORD went forth and struck down one hundred and eighty-five thousand men in the Assyrian camp. Early the next morning, there they were, all the corpses of the dead.

³⁶So Sennacherib, the king of Assyria, broke camp, and went back home to Nineveh.

³⁷When he was worshiping in the temple of his god Nisroch, his sons Adrammelech and Sharezer slew him with the sword and fled into the land of Ararat. His son Esarhaddon reigned in his stead.

20 In those days, when Hezekiah was mortally ill, the prophet Isaiah, son of Amoz, came and said to him: "Thus says the LORD: 'Put your house in order, for you are about to die; you shall not recover.'"

²He turned his face to the wall and prayed to the LORD:

³"O LORD, remember how faithfully and wholeheartedly I conducted myself in your presence, doing what was pleasing to you!" And Hezekiah wept bitterly.

⁵"Go back and tell Hezekiah, the leader of my people: 'Thus says the LORD, the God of your forefather David: I have heard your prayer and seen your tears. I will heal you. In three days you shall go up to the LORD'S temple;

⁶I will add fifteen years to your life. I will rescue you and this city from the hand of the king of Assyria; I will be a shield to this city for my own sake, and for the sake of my servant David.'"

⁷Isaiah then ordered a poultice of figs to be brought and applied to the boil, that he might recover.

⁸Then Hezekiah asked Isaiah, "What is the sign that the LORD will heal me and that I shall go up to the temple of the LORD on the third day?"

⁹Isaiah replied, "This will be the sign for you from the LORD that he will do what he has promised: Shall the shadow go forward or back ten steps?"

¹⁰"It is easy for the shadow to advance ten steps," Hezekiah answered. "Rather, let it go back ten steps."

¹¹So the prophet Isaiah invoked the LORD, who made the shadow retreat the ten steps it had descended on the staircase to the terrace of Ahaz.

¹²At that time, when Merodachbaladan, son of Baladan, king of Babylon, heard that Hezekiah had been ill, he sent letters and gifts to him.

¹³Hezekiah was pleased at this, and therefore showed the messengers his whole treasury, his silver, gold, spices and fine oil, his armory, and all that was in his storerooms; there was nothing in his house or in all his realm that Hezekiah did not show them.

¹⁴Then Isaiah the prophet came to King Hezekiah and asked him: "What did these men say to you? Where did they come from?" "They came from a distant land, from Babylon," replied Hezekiah.

¹⁵"What did they see in your house?" the prophet asked. "They saw everything in my house," answered Hezekiah. "There is nothing in my storerooms that I did not show them."

¹⁶Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah: "Hear the word of the LORD:

¹⁷The time is coming when all that is in your house, and everything that your fathers have stored up until this day, shall be carried off to Babylon; nothing shall be left, says the LORD.

¹⁸Some of your own bodily descendants shall be taken and made servants in the palace of the king of Babylon."

¹⁹Hezekiah replied to Isaiah, "The word of the LORD which you have spoken is favorable." For he thought, "There will be peace and security in my lifetime."

²⁰The rest of the acts of Hezekiah, all his valor, and his construction of the pool and conduit by which water was brought into the city, are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah.

²¹Hezekiah rested with his ancestors and his son Manasseh succeeded him as king.

21 Manasseh was twelve years old when he began to reign, and he reigned fifty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hephzibah.

²He did evil in the sight of the LORD, following the abominable practices of the nations whom the LORD had cleared out of the way of the Israelites.

³He rebuilt the high places which his father Hezekiah had destroyed. He erected altars to Baal, and also set up a sacred pole, as Ahab, king of Israel, had done. He worshiped and served the whole host of heaven.

⁴He built altars in the temple of the LORD, about which the LORD had said, "I will establish my name in Jerusalem"--

⁵altars for the whole host of heaven, in the two courts of the temple.

⁶He immolated his son by fire. He practiced soothsaying and divination, and reintroduced the consulting of ghosts and spirits. He did much evil in the LORD'S sight and provoked him to anger.

⁷The Asherah idol he had made, he set up in the temple, of which the LORD had said to David and to his son Solomon: "In this temple and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, I shall place my name forever.

⁸I will not in future allow Israel to be driven off the land I gave their fathers, provided that they are careful to observe all I have commanded them, the entire law which my servant Moses enjoined upon them."

⁹But they did not listen, and Manasseh misled them into doing even greater evil than the nations whom the LORD had destroyed at the coming of the Israelites.

¹⁰Then the LORD spoke through his servants the prophets:

¹¹"Because Manasseh, king of Judah, has practiced these abominations and has done greater evil than all that was done by the Amorites before him, and has led Judah into sin by his idols, ¹²therefore thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: 'I will bring such evil on Jerusalem and Judah that, whenever anyone hears of it, his ears shall ring.

¹³I will measure Jerusalem with the same cord as I did Samaria, and with the plummet I used for the house of Ahab. I will wipe Jerusalem clean as one wipes a dish, wiping it inside and out.

¹⁴I will cast off the survivors of my inheritance and deliver them into enemy hands, to become a prey and a booty for all their enemies,

¹⁵because they have done evil in my sight and provoked me from the day their fathers came forth from Egypt until today."

¹⁶In addition to the sin which he caused Judah to commit, Manasseh did evil in the sight of the LORD, shedding so much innocent blood as to fill the length and breadth of Jerusalem.

¹⁷The rest of the acts of Manasseh, the sin he committed and all that he did, are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah.

¹⁸Manasseh rested with his ancestors and was buried in his palace garden, the garden of Uzza. His son Amon succeeded him as king.

¹⁹Amon was twenty-two years old when he began to reign, and he reigned two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Meshullemeth, daughter of Haruz of Jotbah.

²⁰He did evil in the sight of the LORD, as his father Manasseh had done.

²¹He followed exactly the path his father had trod, serving and worshiping the idols his father had served.

²²He abandoned the LORD, the God of his fathers, and did not follow the path of the LORD.

²³Subjects of Amon conspired against him and slew the king in his palace,

²⁴but the people of the land then slew all who had conspired against King Amon, and proclaimed his son Josiah king in his stead.

²⁵The rest of the acts that Amon did are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah.

²⁶He was buried in his own grave in the garden of Uzza, and his son Josiah succeeded him as king.

22 Josiah was eight years old when he began to reign, and he reigned thirty-one years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jedidah, daughter of Adaiah of Bozkath.

²He pleased the LORD and conducted himself unswervingly just as his ancestor David had done.

³In his eighteenth year, King Josiah sent the scribe Shaphan, son of Azaliah, son of Meshullam, to the temple of the LORD with orders to ⁴go to the high priest Hilkiah and have him smelt down the precious metals that had been donated to the temple of the Lord, which the doorkeepers had collected from the people.

⁵They were to be consigned to the master workmen in the temple of the LORD, who should then pay them out to the carpenters, builders, and lumbermen making repairs on the temple,

⁶and for the purchase of wood and hewn stone for the temple repairs.

⁷No reckoning was asked of them regarding the funds consigned to them, because they held positions of trust.

⁸The high priest Hilkiah informed the scribe Shaphan, "I have found the book of the law in the temple of the LORD." Hilkiah gave the book to Shaphan, who read it.

⁹Then the scribe Shaphan went to the king and reported, "Your servants have smelted down the metals available in the temple and have consigned them to the master workmen in the temple of the LORD."

¹⁰The scribe Shaphan also informed the king that the priest Hilkiah had given him a book, and then read it aloud to the king.

¹¹When the king had heard the contents of the book of the law, he tore his garments

¹²and issued this command to Hilkiah the priest, Ahikam, son of Shaphan, Achbor, son of Micaiah, the scribe Shaphan, and the king's servant Asaiah:

¹³"Go, consult the LORD for me, for the people, for all Judah, about the stipulations of this book that has been found, for the anger of the LORD has been set furiously ablaze against us, because our fathers did not obey the stipulations of this book, nor fulfill our written obligations."

¹⁴So Hilkiah the priest, Ahikam, Achbor, Shaphan, and Asaiah betook themselves to the Second Quarter in Jerusalem, where the prophetess Huldah resided. She was the wife of Shallum, son of Tikvah, son of Harhas, keeper of the wardrobe. When they had spoken to her,

¹⁵she said to them, "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: 'Say to the man who sent you to me,

¹⁶Thus says the LORD: I will bring upon this place and upon its inhabitants all the evil that is threatened in the book which the king of Judah has read.

¹⁷Because they have forsaken me and have burned incense to other gods, provoking me by everything to which they turn their hands, my anger is ablaze against this place and it cannot be extinguished.'

¹⁸"But to the king of Judah who sent you to consult the LORD, give this response: 'Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: As for the threats you have heard,

¹⁹because you were heartsick and have humbled yourself before the LORD when you heard my threats that this place and its inhabitants would become a desolation and a curse; because you tore your garments and wept before me; I in turn have listened, says the LORD.

²⁰I will therefore gather you to your ancestors; you shall go to your grave in peace, and your eyes shall not see all the evil I will bring upon this place." This they reported to the king.

23The king then had all the elders of Judah and of Jerusalem summoned together before him.

²The king went up to the temple of the LORD with all the men of Judah and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem: priests, prophets, and all the people, small and great. He had the entire contents of the book of the covenant that had been found in the temple of the LORD, read out to them.

³Standing by the column, the king made a covenant before the LORD that they would follow him and observe his ordinances, statutes and decrees with their whole hearts and souls, thus reviving the terms of the covenant which were written in this book. And all the people stood as participants in the covenant.

⁴Then the king commanded the high priest Hilkiah, his vicar, and the doorkeepers to remove from the temple of the LORD all the objects that had been made for Baal, Asherah, and the whole host of heaven. He had these burned outside Jerusalem on the slopes of the Kidron and their ashes carried to Bethel.

⁵He also put an end to the pseudo-priests whom the kings of Judah had appointed to burn incense on the high places in the cities of Judah and in the vicinity of Jerusalem, as well as those who burned incense to Baal, to the sun, moon, and signs of the Zodiac, and to the whole host of heaven.

⁶From the temple of the LORD he also removed the sacred pole, to the Kidron Valley, outside Jerusalem; there he had it burned and beaten to dust, which was then scattered over the common graveyard.

⁷He tore down the apartments of the cult prostitutes which were in the temple of the LORD, and in which the women wove garments for the Asherah.

⁸He brought in all the priests from the cities of Judah, and then defiled, from Geba to Beer-sheba, the high places where they had offered incense. He also tore down the high place of the satyrs, which was at the entrance of the Gate of Joshua, governor of the city, to the left as one enters the city gate.

⁹The priests of the high places could not function at the altar of the LORD in Jerusalem; but they, along with their relatives, ate the unleavened bread.

¹⁰The king also defiled Topheth in the Valley of Ben-hinnom, so that there would no longer be an immolation of sons or daughters by fire in honor of Molech.

¹¹He did away with the horses which the kings of Judah had dedicated to the sun; these were at the entrance of the temple of the LORD, near the chamber of Nathan-melech the eunuch, which was in the large building. The chariots of the sun he destroyed by fire.

¹²He also demolished the altars made by the kings of Judah on the roof (the roof terrace of Ahaz), and the altars made by Manasseh in the two courts of the temple of the LORD. He pulverized them and threw the dust into the Kidron Valley.

¹³The king defiled the high places east of Jerusalem, south of the Mount of Misconduct, which Solomon, king of Israel, had built in honor of Astarte, the Sidonian horror, of Chemosh, the Moabite horror, and of Milcom, the idol of the Ammonites.

¹⁴He broke to pieces the pillars, cut down the sacred poles, and filled the places where they had been with human bones.

¹⁵Likewise the altar which was at Bethel, the high place built by Jeroboam, son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin--this same altar and high place he tore down, breaking up the stones and grinding them to powder, and burning the Asherah.

¹⁶When Josiah turned and saw the graves there on the mountainside, he ordered the bones taken from the graves and burned on the altar, and thus defiled it in fulfillment of the word of the LORD which the man of God had proclaimed as Jeroboam was standing by the altar on the feast day. When the king looked up and saw the grave of the man of God who had proclaimed these words,

¹⁷he asked, "What is that tombstone I see?" The men of the city replied, "It is the grave of the man of God who came from Judah and predicted the very things you have done to the altar of Bethel."

¹⁸"Let him be," he said, "let no one move his bones." So they left his bones undisturbed together with the bones of the prophet who had come from Samaria.

¹⁹ Josiah also removed all the shrines on the high places near the cities of Samaria which the kings of Israel had erected, thereby provoking the LORD; he did the very same to them as he had done in Bethel.

²⁰ He slaughtered upon the altars all the priests of the high places that were at the shrines, and burned human bones upon them. Then he returned to Jerusalem.

²¹ The king issued a command to all the people to observe the Passover of the LORD, their God, as it was prescribed in that book of the covenant.

²² No Passover such as this had been observed during the period when the Judges ruled Israel, or during the entire period of the kings of Israel and the kings of Judah, ²³ until the eighteenth year of king Josiah, when this Passover of the LORD was kept in Jerusalem.

²⁴ Further, Josiah did away with the consultation of ghosts and spirits, with the household gods, idols, and all the other horrors to be seen in the land of Judah and in Jerusalem, so that he might carry out the stipulations of the law written in the book that the priest Hilkiah had found in the temple of the LORD.

²⁵ Before him there had been no king who turned to the LORD as he did, with his whole heart, his whole soul, and his whole strength, in accord with the entire law of Moses; nor could any after him compare with him.

²⁶ Yet, because of all the provocations that Manasseh had given, the LORD did not desist from his fiercely burning anger against Judah.

²⁷ The LORD said: "Even Judah will I put out of my sight as I did Israel. I will reject this city, Jerusalem, which I chose, and the temple of which I said, 'There shall my name be.'"

²⁸ The rest of the acts of Josiah, with all that he did, are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah.

²⁹ In his time Pharaoh Neco, king of Egypt, went up toward the river Euphrates to the king of Assyria. King Josiah set out to confront him, but was slain at Megiddo at the first encounter.

³¹ Jehoahaz was twenty-three years old when he began to reign, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem. His mother, whose name was Hamutal, daughter of Jeremiah, was from Libnah.

³² He did evil in the sight of the LORD, just as his forebears had done.

³³ Pharaoh Neco took him prisoner at Riblah in the land of Hamath, thus ending his reign in Jerusalem. He imposed a fine upon the land of a hundred talents of silver and a talent of gold.

³⁷ He did evil in the sight of the LORD, just as his forebears had done.

24 During his reign Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, moved against him, and Jehoiakim became his vassal for three years. Then Jehoiakim turned and rebelled against him.

² The LORD loosed against him bands of Chaldeans, Arameans, Moabites, and Ammonites; he loosed them against Judah to destroy it, as the LORD had threatened through his servants the prophets.

³ This befell Judah because the LORD had stated that he would inexorably put them out of his sight for the sins Manasseh had committed in all that he did;

⁴ and especially because of the innocent blood he shed, with which he filled Jerusalem, the LORD would not forgive.

⁵ The rest of the acts of Jehoiakim, with all that he did, are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah.

⁶ Jehoiakim rested with his ancestors, and his son Jehoiachin succeeded him as king.

⁷ The king of Egypt did not again leave his own land, for the king of Babylon had taken all that belonged to the king of Egypt from the Wadi of Egypt to the Euphrates River.

⁸ Jehoiachin was eighteen years old when he began to reign, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Nehushta, daughter of Elnathan of Jerusalem.

⁹ He did evil in the sight of the LORD, just as his forebears had done.

¹⁰ At that time the officials of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, attacked Jerusalem, and the city came under siege.

¹¹ Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, himself arrived at the city while his servants were besieging it.

¹² Then Jehoiachin, king of Judah, together with his mother, his ministers, officers, and functionaries, surrendered to the king of Babylon, who, in the eighth year of his reign, took him captive.

¹³ He carried off all the treasures of the temple of the LORD and those of the palace, and broke up all the gold utensils that Solomon, king of Israel, had provided in the temple of the LORD, as the LORD had foretold.

¹⁴ He deported all Jerusalem: all the officers and men of the army, ten thousand in number, and all the craftsmen and smiths. None were left among the people of the land except the poor.

¹⁵ He deported Jehoiachin to Babylon, and also led captive from Jerusalem to Babylon the king's mother and wives, his functionaries, and the chief men of the land.

¹⁷ In place of Jehoiachin, the king of Babylon appointed his uncle Mattaniah king, and changed his name to Zedekiah.

¹⁸ Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hamutal, daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

¹⁹He also did evil in the sight of the LORD, just as Jehoiakim had done.

²⁰The LORD'S anger befell Jerusalem and Judah till he cast them out from his presence. Thus Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon.

25In the tenth month of the ninth year of Zedekiah's reign, on the tenth day of the month, Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, and his whole army advanced against Jerusalem, encamped around it, and built siege walls on every side.

²The siege of the city continued until the eleventh year of Zedekiah.

³On the ninth day of the fourth month, when famine had gripped the city, and the people had no more bread,

⁴the city walls were breached. Then the king and all the soldiers left the city by night through the gate between the two walls which was near the king's garden. Since the Chaldeans had the city surrounded, they went in the direction of the Arabah.

⁵But the Chaldean army pursued the king and overtook him in the desert near Jericho, abandoned by his whole army.

⁶The king was therefore arrested and brought to Riblah to the king of Babylon, who pronounced sentence on him.

⁷He had Zedekiah's sons slain before his eyes. Then he blinded Zedekiah, bound him with fetters, and had him brought to Babylon.

⁸On the seventh day of the fifth month (this was in the nineteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon), Nebuzaradan, captain of the bodyguard, came to Jerusalem as the representative of the king of Babylon.

⁹He burned the house of the LORD, the palace of the king, and all the houses of Jerusalem; every large building was destroyed by fire.

¹⁰Then the Chaldean troops who were with the captain of the guard tore down the walls that surrounded Jerusalem.

¹¹Then Nebuzaradan, captain of the guard, led into exile the last of the people remaining in the city, and those who had deserted to the king of Babylon, and the last of the artisans.

¹²But some of the country's poor, Nebuzaradan, captain of the guard, left behind as vinedressers and farmers.

¹³The bronze pillars that belonged to the house of the LORD, and the wheeled carts and the bronze sea in the house of the LORD, the Chaldeans broke into pieces; they carried away the bronze to Babylon.

¹⁴They took also the pots, the shovels, the snuffers, the bowls, the pans and all the bronze vessels used for service.

¹⁵The fire-holders and the bowls which were of gold or silver the captain of the guard also carried off.

¹⁶The weight in bronze of the two pillars, the bronze sea, and the wheeled carts, all of them furnishings which Solomon had made for the house of the LORD, was never calculated.

¹⁷Each of the pillars was eighteen cubits high; a bronze capital five cubits high surmounted each pillar, and a network with pomegranates encircled the capital, all of bronze; and so for the other pillar, as regards the network.

¹⁸The captain of the guard also took Seraiah the high priest, Zephaniah the second priest, and the three keepers of the entry.

¹⁹And from the city he took one courtier, a commander of soldiers, five men in the personal service of the king who were still in the city, the scribe of the army commander, who mustered the people of the land, and sixty of the common people still remaining in the city.

²⁰The captain of the guard, Nebuzaradan, arrested these and brought them to the king of Babylon at Riblah;

²¹the king had them struck down and put to death in Riblah, in the land of Hamath. Thus was Judah exiled from her land.

²²As for the people whom he had allowed to remain in the land of Judah, Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, appointed as their governor Gedaliah, son of Ahikam, son of Shaphan.

²³Hearing that the king of Babylon had appointed Gedaliah governor, all the army commanders with their men came to him at Mizpah: Ishmael, son of Nethaniah, Johanan, son of Kareah, Seraiah, son of Tanhumeth the Netophathite, and Jaazaniah, from Beth-maacah.

²⁴Gedaliah gave the commanders and their men his oath. "Do not be afraid of the Chaldean officials," he said to them. "Remain in the country and serve the king of Babylon, and all will be well with you."

²⁵But in the seventh month Ishmael, son of Nethaniah, son of Elishama, of royal descent, came with ten men, attacked Gedaliah and killed him, along with the Jews and Chaldeans who were in Mizpah with him.

²⁶Then all the people, great and small, left with the army commanders and went to Egypt for fear of the Chaldeans.

²⁷In the thirty-seventh year of the exile of Jehoiachin, king of Judah, on the twenty-seventh day of the twelfth month, Evilmerodach, king of Babylon, in the inaugural year of his own reign, raised up Jehoiachin, king of Judah, from prison.

²⁸He spoke kindly to him and gave him a throne higher than that of the other kings who were with him in Babylon.

²⁹Jehoiachin took off his prison garb and ate at the king's table as long as he lived.

³⁰The allowance granted him by the king was a perpetual allowance, in fixed daily amounts, for as long as he lived.

⁴³The kings who reigned in the land of Edom before they had Israelite kings were the following: Bela, son of Beor, the name of whose city was Dinhabah.

⁴⁴When Bela died, Jobab, son of Zerah, from Bozrah, succeeded him.

⁴⁵When Jobab died, Husham, from the land of the Temanites, succeeded him.

⁴⁶Husham died and Hadad, son of Bedad, succeeded him. He overthrew the Midianites on the Moabite plateau, and the name of his city was Avith.

⁴⁷Hadad died and Samlah of Masrekah succeeded him.

⁴⁸Samalah died and Shaul from Rehoboth-han-nahar succeeded him.

⁴⁹When Shaul died, Baal-hanan, son of Achbor, succeeded him.

⁵⁰Baalhanan died and Hadad succeeded him. The name of his city was Pai, and his wife's name was Mehetabel. She was the daughter of Matred, who was the daughter of Mezahab.

⁵¹After Hadad died. . . .These were the chiefs of Edom: the chiefs of Timna, Aliah, Jetheth,

⁵²Oholibamah, Elah, Pinon,

⁵³Kenaz, Teman, Mibzar,

⁵⁴Magdiel, and Iram were the chiefs of Edom.

2These were the sons of Israel: Reuben, Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, Zebulun, ²Dan, Joseph, Benjamin, Naphtali, Gad, and Asher.

³The sons of Judah were: Er, Onan, and Shelah; these three were born to him of Bathshua, a Canaanite woman. But Judah's first-born, Er, was wicked in the sight of the LORD, so he killed him.

⁴Judah's daughter-in-law Tamar bore him Perez and Zerah, so that he had five sons in all.

⁵The sons of Perez were Hezron and Hamul.

⁶The sons of Zerah were Zimri, Ethan, Heman, Calcol, and Darda--five in all.

⁷The sons of Zimri: Carmi. The sons of Carmi: Achar, who brought trouble upon Israel by violating the ban.

⁸The sons of Ethan: Azariah.

⁹The sons born to Hezron were Jerahmeel, Ram, and Chelubai.

¹⁰Ram became the father of Amminadab, and Amminadab became the father of Nahshon, a prince of the Judahites.

¹¹Nahshon became the father of Salmah. Salmah became the father of Boaz.

¹²Boaz became the father of Obed. Obed became the father of Jesse.

¹⁶Their sisters were Zeruiah and Abigail. Zeruiah had three sons: Abishai, Joab, and Asahel.

¹⁷Abigail bore Amasa, whose father was Jether the Ishmaelite.

¹⁸By his wife Azubah, Caleb, son of Hezron, became the father of a daughter, Jerioth. Her sons were Jeshur, Shobab, and Ardon.

¹⁹When Azubah died, Caleb married Ephrath, who bore him Hur.

²⁰Hur became the father of Uri, and Uri became the father of Bezalel.

²¹Then Hezron had relations with the daughter of Machir, the father of Gilead, having married her when he was sixty years old. She bore him Segub.

²²Segub became the father of Jair, who possessed twenty-three cities in the land of Gilead.

²³Geshur and Aram took from them the villages of Jair, that is, Kenath and its towns, sixty cities in all, which had belonged to the sons of Machir, the father of Gilead.

²⁴After the death of Hezron, Caleb had relations with Ephrathah, the widow of his father Hezron, and she bore him Ashhur, the father of Tekoa.

²⁵The sons of Jerahmeel, the first-born of Hezron, were Ram, the first-born, then Bunah, Oren, and Ozem, his brothers.

²⁶Jerahmeel also had another wife, Atarah by name, who was the mother of Onam.

²⁷The sons of Ram, the first-born of Jerahmeel, were Maaz, Jamin, and Eker.

²⁸The sons of Onam were Shammai and Jada. The sons of Shammai were Nadab and Abishur.

²⁹Abishur's wife, who was named Abihail, bore him Ahban and Molid.

³⁰The sons of Nadab were Seled and Appaim. Seled died without sons.

- ³¹The sons of Appaim: Ishi. The sons of Ishi: Sheshan. The sons of Sheshan: Ahlai.

- ¹⁴whose son was Amon, whose son was Josiah.
- ¹⁵The sons of Josiah were: the first-born Johanan; the second, Jehoiakim; the third, Zedekiah; the fourth, Shallum.
- ¹⁶The sons of Jehoiakim were: Jeconiah, his son; Zedekiah, his son.
- ¹⁷The sons of Jeconiah the captive were: Shealtiel,
- ¹⁸Malchiram, Pedaiah, Shenazzar, Jekamiah, Shama, and Nedabiah.
- ¹⁹The sons of Pedaiah were Zerubbabel and Shimei. The sons of Zerubbabel were Meshullam and Hananiah; Shelomith was their sister.
- ²⁰The sons of Meshullam were Hashubah, Ohel, Berechiah, Hasadiah, Jushabhesed-five.
- ²¹The sons of Hananiah were Pelatiah, Jeshaiah, Rephaiah, Arnan, Obadiah, and Shecaniah.
- ²²The sons of Shecaniah were Shemiah, Hattush, Igal, Bariah, Neariah, Shaphat--six.
- ²³The sons of Neariah were Elioenai, Hizkiah, and Azrikam--three.
- ²⁴The sons of Elioenai were Hodaviah, Eliashib, Pedaiah, Akkub, Johanan, Delaiah, and Anani--seven.

4The descendants of Judah were: Perez, Hezron, Carmi, Hur, and Shobal.

²Reaiah, the son of Shobal, became the father of Jahath, and Jahath became the father of Ahumai and Lahad. These were the clans of the Zorathites.

³These were the descendants of Hareph, the father of Etam: Jezreel, Ishma, and Idbash; their sister was named Hazzelelponi.

⁴Penuel was the father of Gedor, and Ezer the father of Hushah. These were the descendants of Hur, the first-born of Ephrathah, the father of Bethlehem.

⁵Ashhur, the father of Tekoa, had two wives, Helah and Naarah.

⁶Naarah bore him Ahuzzam, Hephher, the Temenites and the Ahashtarites. These were the descendants of Naarah.

⁷The sons of Helah were Zereth, Izhar, Ethnan, and Koz.

⁸Koz became the father of Anub and Zobebah, as well as of the clans of Aharhel, son of Harum.

⁹Jabez was the most distinguished of the brothers. His mother had named him Jabez, saying, "I bore him with pain."

¹⁰Jabez prayed to the God of Israel: "Oh, that you may truly bless me and extend my boundaries! Help me and make me free of misfortune, without pain!" And God granted his prayer.

¹¹Chelub, the brother of Shuhah, became the father of Mehir, who was the father of Eshton.

¹²Eshton became the father of Bethrapha, Paseah, and Tehinnah, the father of the city of Nahash. These were the men of Recah.

¹³The sons of Kenaz were Othniel and Seraiah. The sons of Othniel were Hathath and Meonothai;

¹⁴Meonothai became the father of Ophrah. Seraiah became the father of Joab, the father of Geharashim, so called because they were craftsmen.

¹⁵The sons of Caleb, son of Jephunneh, were Ir, Elah, and Naam. The sons of Elah were. . . and Kenaz.

¹⁶The sons of Jehallelel were Ziph, Ziphah, Tiria, and Asarel.

¹⁷The sons of Ezrah were Jether, Mered, Epher, and Jalon. Jether became the father of Miriam, Shammai, and Ishbah, the father of Eshtemoa. (.)

¹⁸His (Mered's) Egyptian wife bore Jered, the father of Gedor, Heber, the father of Soco, and Jekuthiel, the father of Zanoah. These were the sons of Bithiah, the daughter of Pharaoh, whom Mered married.

¹⁹The sons of his Jewish wife, the sister of Naham, the father of Keilah, were Shimon the Garmite and Ishi the Maacathite.

²⁰The sons of Shimon were Amnon, Rinnah, Benhanan, and Tilon. The son of Ishi was Zoheth and the son of Zoheth. . . .

²¹The descendants of Shelah, son of Judah, were: Er, the father of Lecah; Laadah, the father of Mareshah; the clans of the linen weavers' guild in Bethashbea;

²²Jokim; the men of Cozeba; and Joash and Saraph, who held property in Moab, but returned to Bethlehem. (These are events of old.)

²³They were potters and inhabitants of Netaim and Gederah, where they lived in the king's service.

²⁴The sons of Simeon were Nemuel, Jamin, Jachin, Zerah, and Shaul, ²⁵whose son was Shallum, whose son was Mibsam, whose son was Mishma.

²⁶The descendants of Mishma were his son Hammuel, whose son was Zaccur, whose son was Shimei.

²⁷Shimei had sixteen sons and six daughters. His brothers, however, did not have many sons, and as a result all their clans did not equal the number of the Judahites.

²⁸They dwelt in Beer-sheba, Moladah, Hazar-shual,

²⁹Bilhah, Ezem, Tolad,

³⁰Bethuel, Hormah, Ziklag,

³¹Beth-marcaboth, Hazar-susim, Bethbiri, and Shaaraim. Until David came to reign, these were their cities

³²and their villages. Etam, also, and Ain, Rimmon, Tochen, and Ashan--five cities, ³³together with all their outlying villages as far as Baal. Here is where they dwelt, and so it was inscribed of them in their family records.

³⁴Meshobab, Jamlech, Joshah, son of Amaziah,

³⁵Joel, Jehu, son of Joshibiah, son of Seraiah, son of Asiel,

³⁶Elioenai, Jaakobath, Jeshohaiah, Asaiah, Adiel, Jesimiel, Benaiah,

³⁷Ziza, son of Shiphi, son of Allon, son of Jedaiah, son of Shimri, son of Shemaiah--

³⁸these just named were princes in their clans, and their ancestral houses spread out to such an extent

³⁹that they went to the approaches of Gedor, east of the valley, seeking pasture for their flocks.

⁴⁰They found abundant and good pastures, and the land was spacious, quiet, and peaceful.

⁴¹They who have just been listed by name set out during the reign of Hezekiah, king of Judah, and attacked the tents of Ham (for Hamites dwelt there formerly) and also the Meunites who were there. They pronounced against them the ban that is still in force and dwelt in their place because they found pasture there for their flocks.

⁴²Five hundred of them (the Simeonites) went to Mount Seir under the leadership of Pelatiah, Neariah, Rephaiah, and Uzziel, sons of Ishi.

⁴³They attacked the surviving Amalekites who had escaped, and have resided there to the present day.

5The sons of Reuben, the first-born of Israel. (He was indeed the first-born, but because he disgraced the couch of his father his birthright was given to the sons of Joseph, son of Israel, so that he is not listed in the family records according to birthright.

²Judah, in fact, became powerful among his brothers, so that the ruler came from him, though the birthright had been Joseph's.)

³The sons of Reuben, the first-born of Israel, were Hanoch, Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi.

⁴His son was Joel, whose son was Shemaiah, whose son was Gog, whose son was Shimei,

⁵whose son was Micah, whose son was Reaiah, whose son was Baal,

⁶whose son was Beerah, whom Tiglath-pileser, the king of Assyria, took into exile; he was a prince of the Reubenites.

⁷His brothers who belonged to his clans, when they were listed in the family records according to their descendants, were: Jeiel, the chief, and Zechariah,

⁸and Bela, son of Azaz, son of Shema, son of Joel. The Reubenites lived in Aroer and as far as Nebo and Baal-meon;

⁹toward the east they dwelt as far as the desert which extends from the Euphrates River, for they had much livestock in the land of Gilead.

¹⁰During the reign of Saul they waged war with the Hagarites, and when they had defeated them they occupied their tents throughout the region east of Gilead.

¹¹The Gadites lived alongside them in the land of Bashan as far as Salecah.

¹²Joel was chief, Shapham was second in command, and Janai was judge in Bashan.

¹³Their brothers, corresponding to their ancestral houses, were: Michael, Meshullam, Sheba, Jorai, Jacan, Zia, and Eber--seven.

¹⁴These were the sons of Abihail, son of Huri, son of Jaroah, son of Gilead, son of Michael, son of Jeshishai, son of Jahdo, son of Buz.

¹⁵Ahi, son of Abdiel, son of Guni, was the head of their ancestral houses.

¹⁶They dwelt in Gilead, in Bashan and its towns, and in all the pasture lands of Sirion to the borders.

¹⁷All were listed in the family records in the time of Jotham, king of Judah, and of Jeroboam, king of Israel.

¹⁸The Reubenites, Gadites, and half-tribe of Manasseh were warriors, men who bore shield and sword and who drew the bow, trained in warfare--forty-four thousand seven hundred and sixty men fit for military service.

- ¹⁹When they waged war against the Hagrites and against Jetur, Naphish, and Nodab,
- ²⁰they received help so that they mastered the Hagrites and all who were with them. For during the battle they called on God, and he heard them because they had put their trust in him.
- ²¹Along with one hundred thousand men they also captured their livestock: fifty thousand camels, two hundred fifty thousand sheep, and two thousand asses.
- ²²Many had fallen in battle, for victory is from God; and they took over their dwelling place until the time of the exile.
- ²³The numerous members of the half-tribe of Manasseh lived in the land of Bashan as far as Baal-hermon, Senir, and Mount Hermon.
- ²⁴The following were the heads of their ancestral houses: Ephraim, Ishi, Eliel, Azriel, Jeremiah, Hodaviah, and Jahdiel--men who were warriors, famous men, and heads over their ancestral houses.
- ²⁵However, they offended the God of their fathers by lusting after the gods of the natives of the land, whom God had cleared out of their way.
- ²⁶Therefore the God of Israel incited against them the anger of Pul, king of Assyria, and of Tiglath-pileser, king of Assyria, who deported the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh and brought them to Halah, Habor, and Hara, and to the river Gozan, where they have remained to this day.
- ²⁷The sons of Levi were Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.
- ²⁸The sons of Kohath were Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel.
- ²⁹The children of Amram were Aaron, Moses, and Miriam. The sons of Aaron were Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.
- ³⁰Eleazar became the father of Phinehas. Phinehas became the father of Abishua.
- ³¹Abishua became the father of Bukki. Bukki became the father of Uzzi.
- ³²Uzzi became the father of Zerachiah. Zerachiah became the father of Meraioth.
- ³³Meraioth became the father of Amariah. Amariah became the father of Ahitub.

³⁴Ahitub became the father of Zadok. Zadok became the father of Ahimaaz.

³⁵Ahimaaz became the father of Azariah. Azariah became the father of Johanan.

³⁶Johanan became the father of Azariah, who served as priest in the temple Solomon built in Jerusalem.

³⁷Azariah became the father of Amariah. Amariah became the father of Ahitub.

³⁸Ahitub became the father of Zadok. Zadok became the father of Shallum.

³⁹Shallum became the father of Hilkiah. Hilkiah became the father of Azariah.

⁴⁰Azariah became the father of Seraiah. Seraiah became the father of Jehozadak.

⁴¹Jehozadak was one of those who went into the exile which the LORD inflicted on Judah and Jerusalem through Nebuchadnezzar.

6The sons of Levi were Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.

²The sons of Gershon were named Libni and Shimei.

³The sons of Kohath were Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel.

⁴The sons of Merari were Mahli and Mushi. The following were the clans of Levi, distributed according to their ancestors:

⁵of Gershon: his son Libni, whose son was Jahath, whose son was Zimmah, ⁶whose son was Joah, whose son was Iddo, whose son was Zerah, whose son was Jetherai.

⁷The descendants of Kohath were: his son Amminadab, whose son was Korah, whose son was Assir,

⁸whose son was Elkanah, whose son was Ebiasaph, whose son was Assir, ⁹whose son was Tahath, whose son was Uriel, whose son was Uzziyah, whose son was Shaul.

¹⁰The sons of Elkanah were Amasai and Ahimoth,

¹¹whose son was Elkanah, whose son was Zophai, whose son was Nahath, ¹²whose son was Eliab, whose son was Jeroham, whose son was Elkanah, whose son was Samuel.

¹³The sons of Samuel were Joel, the first-born, and Abijah, the second.

¹⁴The descendants of Merari were Mahli, whose son was Libni, whose son was Shimei, whose son was Uzzah, ¹⁵whose son was Shimea, whose son was Haggiah, whose son was Asaiah.

¹⁶The following were entrusted by David with the choir services in the LORD'S house from the time when the ark had obtained a permanent resting place.

¹⁷They served as singers before the Dwelling of the meeting tent until Solomon built the temple of the LORD in Jerusalem, and they performed their services in an order prescribed for them.

¹⁸Those who so performed are the following, together with their descendants. Among the Kohathites: Heman, the chanter, son of Joel, son of Samuel,

¹⁹son of Elkanah, son of Jeroham, son of Eliel, son of Toah,

²⁰son of Zuth, son of Elkanah, son of Mahath, son of Amasi,

²¹son of Elkanah, son of Joel, son of Azariah, son of Zaphaniah,

²²son of Tahath, son of Assir, son of Ebiasaph, son of Korah,

²³son of Izhar, son of Kohath, son of Levi, son of Israel.

²⁴His brother Asaph stood at his right hand. Asaph was the son of Berechiah, son of Shimea,

²⁵son of Michael, son of Baaseiah, son of Malchijah,

²⁶son of Ethni, son of Zerah, son of Adaiah,

²⁷son of Ethan, son of Zimmah, son of Shimei,

²⁸son of Jahath, son of Gershon, son of Levi.

²⁹Their brothers, the Merarites, stood at the left: Ethan, son of Kishi, son of Abdi, son of Malluch,

³⁰son of Hashabiah, son of Amaziah, son of Hilkiyah,

³¹son of Amzi, son of Bani, son of Shemer,

³²son of Mahli, son of Mushi, son of Merari, son of Levi.

³³Their brother Levites were appointed to all the other services of the Dwelling of the house of God.

³⁴However, it was Aaron and his descendants who burnt the offerings on the altar of holocausts and on the altar of incense; they alone had charge of the holy of holies and of making atonement for Israel, as Moses, the servant of God, had ordained.

³⁵These were the descendants of Aaron: his son Eleazar, whose son was Phinehas, whose son was Abishua,

³⁶whose son was Bukki, whose son was Uzzi, whose son was Zerariah,

³⁷whose son was Meraioth, whose son was Amariah, whose son was Ahitub, ³⁸whose son was Zadok, whose son was Ahimaaz.

³⁹The following were their dwelling places to which their encampment was limited. To the descendants of Aaron who belonged to clan of the Kohathites, since the first lot fell to them,

⁴⁰was assigned Hebron with its adjacent pasture lands in the land of Judah,

⁴¹although the open country and the villages belonging to the city had been given to Caleb, the son of Jephunneh.

⁴²There were assigned to the descendants of Aaron: Hebron a city of asylum, Libnah with its pasture lands, Jattir with its pasture lands, Eshtemoa with its pasture lands,

⁴³Holon with its pasture lands, Debir with its pasture lands,

⁴⁴Ashan with its pasture lands, Jetta with its pasture lands, and Beth-shemesh with its pasture lands.

⁴⁵Also from the tribe of Benjamin: Gibeon with its pasture lands, Geba with its pasture lands, Almon with its pasture lands, Anathoth with its pasture lands. In all, they had thirteen cities with their pasture lands.

⁴⁶The other Kohathites obtained ten cities by lot for their clans from the tribe of Ephraim, from the tribe of Dan, and from the half-tribe of Manasseh.

⁴⁷The clans of the Gershonites obtained thirteen cities from the tribes of Issachar, Asher, and Naphtali, and from the half-tribe of Manasseh in Bashan.

⁴⁸The clans of the Merarites obtained twelve cities by lot from the tribes of Reuben, Gad, and Zebulun.

⁴⁹The Israelites assigned these cities with their pasture lands to the Levites, ⁵⁰designating them by name and assigning them by lot from the tribes of the Judahites, Simeonites, and Benjaminites.

⁵¹The clans of the Kohathites obtained cities by lot from the tribe of Ephraim.

⁵²They were assigned: Shechem in the mountain region of Ephraim, a city of asylum, with its pasture lands, Gezer with its pasture lands, ⁵³Kibzaim with its pasture lands, and Beth-horon with its pasture lands.

⁵⁴From the tribe of Dan: Elteke with its pasture lands, Gibbethon with its pasture lands, Aijalon with its pasture lands, and Gath-rimmon with its pasture lands.

⁵⁵From the half-tribe of Manasseh: Taanach with its pasture lands and Ibleam with its pasture lands. These belonged to the rest of the Kohathite clan.

⁵⁶The clans of the Gershonites received from the half-tribe of Manasseh: Golan in Bashan with its pasture lands and Ashtaroth with its pasture lands.

⁵⁷From the tribe of Issachar: Kedesh with its pasture lands, Daberath with its pasture lands, ⁵⁸Ramoth with its pasture lands, and Engannim with its pasture lands.

⁵⁹From the tribe of Asher: Mashal with its pasture lands, Abdon with its pasture lands, ⁶⁰Hilkath with its pasture lands, and Rehob with its pasture lands.

⁶¹From the tribe of Naphtali: Kedesh in Galilee with its pasture lands, Hammon with its pasture lands, and Kiriathaim with its pasture lands.

⁶²The rest of the Merarites received from the tribe of Zebulun: Jokneam with its pasture lands, Kartah with its pasture lands, Rimmon with its pasture lands, and Tabor with its pasture lands.

⁶³Across the Jordan at Jericho (that is, east of the Jordan) they received from the tribe of Reuben: Bezer in the desert with its pasture lands, Jahzah with its pasture lands, ⁶⁴Kedemoth with its pasture lands, and Mephaath with its pasture lands.

⁶⁵From the tribe of Gad: Ramoth in Gilead with its pasture lands, Mahanaim with its pasture lands, ⁶⁶Heshbon with its pasture lands, and Jazer with its pasture lands.

7 The sons of Issachar were Tola, Puah, Jashub, and Shimron: four.

²The sons of Tola were Uzzi, Rephaiah, Jeriel, Jahmai, Ibsam, and Shemuel, warrior heads of the ancestral houses of Tola. Their kindred numbered twenty-two thousand six hundred in the time of David.

³The sons of Uzzi: Izarahiah. The sons of Izarahiah were Michael, Obadiah, Joel, and Isshiah. All five of these were chiefs.

⁴Their kindred, by ancestral houses, numbered thirty-six thousand men in organized military troops, since they had more wives and sons

⁵than their fellow tribesmen. In all the clans of Issachar there was a total of eighty-seven thousand warriors in their family records.

⁶The sons of Benjamin were Bela, Becher, and Jediael--three.

⁷The sons of Bela were Ezbon, Uzzi, Uzziel, Jerimoth, and Iri--five. They were heads of their ancestral houses and warriors. Their family records listed twenty-two thousand and thirty-four.

⁸The sons of Becher were Zemirah, Joash, Eliezer, Elioenai, Omri, Jeremoth, Abijah, Anathoth, and Alemeth--all these were sons of Becher.

⁹Their family records listed twenty thousand two hundred of their kindred who were heads of their ancestral houses and warriors.

¹⁰The sons of Jediael: Bilhan. The sons of Bilhan were Jeush, Benjamin, Ehud, Chenaanah, Zethan, Tarshish, and Ahishahar.

¹¹All these were descendants of Jediael, heads of ancestral houses and warriors. They numbered seventeen thousand two hundred men fit for military service. . . Shupham and Hupham.

¹²The sons of Dan: Hushim.

¹³The sons of Naphtali were Jahziel, Guni, Jezer, and Shallum. These were descendants of Bilhah.

¹⁴The sons of Manasseh, whom his Aramean concubine bore: she bore Machir, the father of Gilead.

¹⁵Machir took a wife whose name was Maacah; his sister's name was Molecheth. Manasseh's second son was named Zelophehad, but to Zelophehad only daughters were born.

¹⁶Maacah, Machir's wife, bore a son whom she named Peresh. He had a brother named Sheresh, whose sons were Ulam and Rakem.

¹⁷The sons of Ulam: Bedan. These were the descendants of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh.

¹⁸His sister Molecheth bore Ishhod, Abiezer, and Mahlah.

¹⁹The sons of Shemida were Ahian, Shechem, Likhi, and Aniam.

²⁰The sons of Ephraim: Shuthelah, whose son was Bered, whose son was Tahath, whose son was Eleadah, whose son was Tahath,

²¹ whose son was Zabad. Ephraim's son Shuthelah, and Ezer and Elead, who were born in the land, were slain by the inhabitants of Gath because they had gone down to take away their livestock.

²² Their father Ephraim mourned a long time, but after his kinsmen had come and comforted him,

²³ he visited his wife, who conceived and bore a son whom he named Beriah, since evil had befallen his house.

²⁴ He had a daughter, Sheerah, who built lower and upper Beth-horon and Uzen-sheerah.

²⁵ Zabad's son was Rephah, whose son was Resheph, whose son was Telah, whose son was Tahan,

²⁶ whose son was Ladan, whose son was Ammihud, whose son was Elishama,

²⁷ whose son was Nun, whose son was Joshua.

²⁸ Their property and their dwellings were in Bethel and its towns, Naaran to the east, Gezer and its towns to the west, and also Shechem and its towns as far as Ayyah and its towns.

²⁹ Manasseh, however, had possession of Beth-shean and its towns, Taanach and its towns, Megiddo and its towns, and Dor and its towns. In these dwelt the descendants of Joseph, the son of Israel.

³⁰ The sons of Asher were Imnah, Ishvah, Ishvi, and Beriah; their sister was Serah.

³¹ Beriah's sons were Heber and Malchiel, who was the father of Birzaith.

³² Heber became the father of Japhlet, Shomer, Hotham, and their sister Shua.

³³ The sons of Japhlet were Pasach, Bimhal, and Ashvath; these were the sons of Japhlet.

³⁴ The sons of Shomer were Ahi, Rohgah, Jehubbah, and Aram.

³⁶ The sons of Zophah were Suah, Harnepher, Shual, Beri, Imrah, ³⁷Bezer, Hod, Shamma, Shilshah, Ithran, and Beera.

³⁸The sons of Jether were Jephunneh, Pispah, and Ara.

³⁹The sons of Ulla were Arah, Hanniel, and Rizia.

⁴⁰All these were descendants of Asher, heads of ancestral houses, distinguished men, warriors, and chiefs among the princes. Their family records numbered twenty-six thousand men fit for military service.

8 Benjamin became the father of Bela, his first-born, Ashbel, the second son, Aharah, the third,

²Nohah, the fourth, and Rapha, the fifth.

³The sons of Bela were Addar and Gera, the father of Ehud.

⁴The sons of Ehud were Abishua, Naaman, Ahoah,

⁵Gera, Shephuphan, and Hiram.

⁶These were the sons of Ehud, family heads over those who dwelt in Geba and were deported to Manahath.

⁷Also Naaman, Ahijah, and Gera. The last, who led them into exile, became the father of Uzza and Ahihud.

⁸Shaharaim became a father on the Moabite plateau after he had put away his wives Hushim and Baara.

⁹By his wife Hodesh he became the father of Jobab, Zibia, Mesha, Malcam, ¹⁰Jeuz, Sachia, and Mirmah. These were his sons, family heads.

¹¹By Hushim he became the father of Abitub and Elpaal.

¹²The sons of Elpaal were Eber, Misham, Shemed, who built Ono and Lod with its nearby towns, ¹³Beriah, and Shema. They were family heads of those who dwelt in Aijalon, and they put the inhabitants of Gath to flight.

¹⁴Their brethren were Elpaal, Shashak, and Jeremoth.

¹⁵Zebadiah, Arad, Eder,

¹⁶Michael, Ishpah, and Joha were the sons of Beriah.

¹⁷Zebadiah, Meshullam, Hizki, Heber,

¹⁸Ishmerai, Izliah, and Jobab were the sons of Elpaal.

¹⁹Jakim, Zichri, Zabdi,

²⁰Elienai, Zillethai, Eliel,

²¹Adaiah, Beraiah, and Shimrath were the sons of Shimei.

²²Ishpan, Eber, Eliel,

²³Abdon, Zichri, Hanan,

²⁴Hananiah, Elam, Anthothijah,

²⁵Iphdeiah, and Penuel were the sons of Shashak.

²⁶Shamsherai, Shehariah, Athaliah,

²⁷Jareshiah, Elijah, and Zichri were the sons of Jeroham.

²⁸These were family heads over their kindred, chiefs who dwelt in Jerusalem.

²⁹In Gibeon dwelt Jeiel, the founder of Gibeon, whose wife's name was Maacah;

³⁰also his first-born son, Abdon, and Zur, Kish, Baal, Ner, Nadab, ³¹Gedor, Ahio, Zecher, and Mikloth.

³²Mikloth became the father of Shimeah. These, too, dwelt with their relatives in Jerusalem, opposite their fellow tribesmen.

³³Ner became the father of Kish, and Kish became the father of Saul. Saul became the father of Jonathan, Malchishua, Abinadab, and Eshbaal.

³⁴The son of Jonathan was Meribbaal, and Meribbaal became the father of Micah.

³⁵The sons of Micah were Pithon, Melech, Tarea, and Ahaz.

³⁶Ahaz became the father of Jehoaddah, and Jehoaddah became the father of Alemeth, Azmaveth, and Zimri. Zimri became the father of Moza.

³⁷Moza became the father of Binea, whose son was Raphah, whose son was Eleasah, whose son was Azel.

³⁸Azel had six sons, whose names were Azrikam, his first-born, Ishmael, Sheariah, Azariah, Obadiah, and Hanan; all these were the sons of Azel.

³⁹The sons of Eshek, his brother, were Ulam, his first-born, Jeush, the second son, and Eliphelet, the third.

⁴⁰The sons of Ulam were combat archers, and many were their sons and grandsons: one hundred and fifty. All these were the descendants of Benjamin.

9 Thus all Israel was inscribed in its family records which are recorded in the book of the kings of Israel. Now Judah had been carried in captivity to Babylon because of its rebellion.

²The first to settle again in their cities and dwell there were certain lay Israelites, the priests, the Levites, and the temple slaves.

³In Jerusalem lived Judahites and Benjaminites; also Ephraimites and Manassehites.

⁴Among the Judahites was Uthai, son of Ammihud, son of Omri, son of Imri, son of Bani, one of the descendants of Perez, son of Judah.

⁵Among the Shelanites were Asaiah, the first-born, and his sons.

⁶Among the Zerahites were Jeuel and six hundred and ninety of their brethren.

⁷Among the Benjaminites were Sallu, son of Meshullam, son of Hodaviah, son of Hassenuah;

⁸Ibneiah, son of Jeroham; Elah, son of Uzzi, son of Michri; Meshullam, son of Shephatiah, son of Reuel, son of Ibnijah.

⁹Their kindred of various families were nine hundred and fifty-six. All those named were heads of their ancestral houses.

¹⁰Among the priests were Jedaiah; Jehoiarib; Jachin;

¹¹Azariah, son of Hilkiah, son of Meshullam, son of Zadok, son of Meraioth, son of Ahitub, the ruler of the house of God;

¹²Adaiah, son of Jeroham, son of Pashhur, son of Malchijah; Maasai, son of Adiel, son of Jahzerah, son of Meshullam, son of Meshillemith, son of Immer.

¹³Their brethren, heads of their ancestral houses, were one thousand seven hundred and sixty, valiant for the work of the service of the house of God.

¹⁴Among the Levites were Shemaiah, son of Hasshub, son of Azrikam, son of Hashabiah, one of the descendants of Merari;

¹⁵Bakbakkar; Heresh; Galal; Mattaniah, son of Mica, son of Zichri, a descendant of Asaph;

¹⁶Obadiah, son of Shemaiah, son of Galal, a descendant of Jeduthun; and Berechiah, son of Asa, son of Elkanah, whose family lived in the villages of the Netophathites.

¹⁷The gatekeepers were Shallum, Akkub, Talmon, Ahiman, and their brethren; Shallum was the chief.

¹⁸Previously they had stood guard at the king's gate on the east side; now they became gatekeepers for the encampments of the Levites.

¹⁹Shallum, son of Kore, son of Ebiasaph, a descendant of Korah, and his brethren of the same ancestral house of the Korahites had as their assigned task the guarding of the threshold of the tent, just as their fathers had guarded the entrance to the encampment of the LORD.

²⁰Phinehas, son of Eleazar, had been their chief in times past--the LORD be with him!

²¹Zechariah, son of Meshelemiah, guarded the gate of the meeting tent.

²²In all, those who were chosen for gatekeepers at the threshold were two hundred and twelve. They were inscribed in the family records of their villages. David and Samuel the seer had established them in their position of trust.

²³Thus they and their sons kept guard over the gates of the house of the LORD, the house which was then a tent.

²⁴The gatekeepers were stationed at the four sides, to the east, the west, the north, and the south.

²⁵Their kinsmen who lived in their own villages took turns in assisting them for seven-day periods,

²⁶while the four chief gatekeepers were on constant duty. These were the Levites who also had charge of the chambers and treasures of the house of God.

²⁷At night they lodged about the house of God, for it was in their charge and they had the duty of opening it each morning.

²⁸Some of them had charge of the liturgical equipment, tallying it as it was brought in and taken out.

²⁹Others were appointed to take care of the utensils and all the sacred vessels, as well as the fine flour, the wine, the oil, the frankincense, and the spices.

³⁰It was the sons of priests, however, who mixed the spiced ointments.

³¹Mattithiah, one of the Levites, the first-born of Shallum the Koreite, was entrusted with preparing the cakes.

³²Benaiah the Kohathite, one of their brethren, was in charge of setting out the showbread each sabbath.

³³These were the chanters and the gatekeepers, family heads over the Levites. They stayed in the chambers when free of duty, for day and night they had to be ready for service.

³⁴These were the levitical family heads over their kindred, chiefs who dwelt in Jerusalem.

³⁵In Gibeon dwelt Jeiel, the founder of Gibeon, whose wife's name was Maacah.

³⁶His first-born son was Abdon; then came Zur, Kish, Baal, Ner, Nadab, ³⁷Gedor, Ahio, Zechariah, and Mikloth.

³⁸Mikloth became the father of Shimeam. These, too, with their brethren, dwelt opposite their brethren in Jerusalem.

³⁹Ner became the father of Kish, and Kish became the father of Saul. Saul became the father of Jonathan, Malchishua, Abinadab, and Eshbaal.

⁴⁰The son of Jonathan was Meribbaal, and Meribbaal became the father of Micah.

⁴¹The sons of Micah were Pithon, Melech, Tahrea, and Ahaz.

⁴²Ahaz became the father of Jehoaddah, and Jehoaddah became the father of Alemeth, Azmaveth, and Zimri. Zimri became the father of Moza.

⁴³Moza became the father of Binea, whose son was Rephaiah, whose son was Eleasah, whose son was Azel.

⁴⁴Azel had six sons, whose names were Azrikam, his first-born, Ishmael, Sheariah, Azariah, Obadiah, and Hanan; these were the sons of Azel.

10 Now the Philistines were at war with Israel; the Israelites fled before the Philistines, and a number of them fell, slain on Mount Gilboa.

²The Philistines pressed hard after Saul and his sons. When the Philistines had killed Jonathan, Abinadab, and Malchishua, sons of Saul, ³the whole fury of the battle descended upon Saul. Then the archers found him, and wounded him with their arrows.

⁴Saul said to his armor-bearer, "Draw your sword and thrust me through with it, that these uncircumcised may not come and maltreat me." But the armor-bearer, in great fear, refused. So Saul took his own sword and fell on it;

⁵and seeing him dead, the armor-bearer also fell on his sword and died.

⁶Thus, with Saul and his three sons, his whole house died at one time.

⁷When all the Israelites who were in the valley saw that Saul and his sons had died in the rout, they left their cities and fled; thereupon the Philistines came and occupied them.

⁸On the following day, when the Philistines came to strip the slain, they found Saul and his sons where they had fallen on Mount Gilboa.

⁹They stripped him, cut off his head, and took his armor; these they sent throughout the land of the Philistines to convey the good news to their idols and their people.

¹⁰His armor they put in the house of their gods, but his skull they impaled on the temple of Dagon.

¹¹When all the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead had heard what the Philistines had done to Saul, ¹²its warriors rose to a man, recovered the bodies of Saul and his sons, and brought them to Jabesh. They buried their bones under the oak of Jabesh, and fasted seven days.

¹³Thus Saul died because of his rebellion against the LORD in disobeying his command, and also because he had sought counsel of a necromancer, ¹⁴and had not rather inquired of the LORD. Therefore the LORD slew him, and transferred his kingdom to David, the son of Jesse.

11 Then all Israel gathered about David in Hebron, and they said: "Surely, we are of the same bone and flesh as you.

²Even formerly, when Saul was still the king, it was you who led Israel in all its battles. And now the LORD, your God, has said to you, 'You shall shepherd my people Israel and be ruler over them.'"

³Then all the elders of Israel came to the king at Hebron, and there David made a covenant with them in the presence of the LORD; and they anointed him king over Israel, in accordance with the word of the LORD as revealed through Samuel.

⁴Then David and all Israel went to Jerusalem, that is, Jebus, where the natives of the land were called Jebusites.

- ⁵The inhabitants of Jebus said to David, "You shall not enter here." David nevertheless captured the fortress of Zion, which is the City of David.
- ⁶David said, "Whoever strikes the Jebusites first shall be made the chief commander." Joab, the son of Zeruiah, was the first to go up; and so he became chief.
- ⁷David took up his residence in the fortress, which thenceforth was called the City of David.
- ⁸He rebuilt the city on all sides, from the Millo all the way around, while Joab restored the rest of the city.
- ⁹David became more and more powerful, for the LORD of hosts was with him.
- ¹⁰These were David's chief warriors who, together with all Israel, supported him in his reign in order to make him true king, even as the LORD had commanded concerning Israel.
- ¹¹Here is the list of David's warriors: Ishbaal, the son of Hachamoni, chief of the Three. He brandished his spear against three hundred, whom he slew in a single encounter.
- ¹²Next to him Eleazar, the son of Dodo the Ahohite, one of the Three warriors.
- ¹³He was with David at Pas-dammim, where the Philistines had massed for battle. The plow-land was fully planted with barley, but its defenders were retreating before the Philistines.
- ¹⁴He made a stand on the sown ground, kept it safe, and cut down the Philistines. Thus the LORD brought about a great victory.
- ¹⁵Three of the Thirty chiefs went down to the rock, to David, who was in the cave of Adullam while the Philistines were encamped in the valley of Rephaim.
- ¹⁶David was then in the stronghold, and a Philistine garrison was at Bethlehem.
- ¹⁷David expressed a desire: "Oh, that someone would give me a drink from the cistern that is by the gate at Bethlehem!"

¹⁸Thereupon the Three broke through the encampment of the Philistines, drew water from the cistern by the gate at Bethlehem, and carried it back to David. But David refused to drink it. Instead, he poured it out as a libation to the LORD, ¹⁹saying, "God forbid that I should do such a thing! Could I drink the blood of these men who risked their lives?" For at the risk of their lives they brought it; and so he refused to drink it. Such deeds as these the Three warriors performed.

²⁰Abishai, the brother of Joab. He was the chief of the Thirty; he brandished his spear against three hundred, and slew them. Thus he had a reputation like that of the Three.

²¹He was twice as famous as any of the Thirty and became their commander, but he did not attain to the Three.

²²Benaiah, son of Jehoiada, a valiant man of mighty deeds, from Kabzeel. He killed the two sons of Ariel of Moab, and also, on a snowy day, he went down and killed the lion in the cistern.

²³He likewise slew the Egyptian, a huge man five cubits tall. The Egyptian carried a spear that was like a weaver's heddle-bar, but he came against him with a staff, wrested the spear from the Egyptian's hand, and killed him with his own spear.

²⁴Such deeds as these of Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, gave him a reputation like that of the Three.

²⁵He was more famous than any of the Thirty, but he did not attain to the Three. David put him in charge of his bodyguard.

²⁶Also these warriors: Asahel, the brother of Joab; Elhanan, son of Dodo, from Bethlehem;

²⁷Shammoth, from En-harod; Helez, from Palti;

²⁸Ira, son of Ikkesh, from Tekoa; Abiezer, from Anathoth;

²⁹Sibbecai, from Husha; Ilai, from Ahoh;

³⁰Maharai, from Netophah; Heled, son of Baanah, from Netophah;

³¹Ithai, son of Ribai, from Gibeah of Benjamin; Benaiah, from Pirathon;

³²Hurai, from the valley of Gaash; Abiel, from Beth-arabah;

³³Azmaveth, from Bahurim; Eliahba, from Shaalbon;

³⁴Jashen the Gunite; Jonathan, son of Shagee, from En-harod;

³⁵Ahiam, son of Sachar, from En-harod; Elipheleth, son of

³⁶Ahasabi, from Beth-maacah; Ahijah, from Gilo;

³⁷Hezro, from Carmel; Naarai, the son of Ezbai;

³⁸Joel, brother of Nathan, from Rehob, the Gadite;

³⁹Zelek the Ammonite; Naharai, from Beeroth, the armor-bearer of Joab, son of Zeruiah;

⁴⁰Ira, from Jattir; Gareb, from Jattir;

⁴¹Uriah the Hittite; Zabad, son of Ahlai,

⁴²and, in addition to the Thirty, Adina, son of Shiza, the Reubenite, chief of the tribe of Reuben;

⁴³Hanan, from Beth-maacah; Joshaphat the Mithnite;

⁴⁴Uzzia, from Ashterath; Shama and Jeiel, sons of Hotham, from Aroer;

⁴⁵Jediael, son of Shimri, and Joha, his brother, the Tizite;

⁴⁶Eliel the Mahavite; Jeribai and Joshaviah, sons of Elnaam; Ithmah, from Moab;

⁴⁷Eliel, Obed, and Jaasiel the Mezobian.

12 The following men came to David in Ziklag while he was still under banishment from Saul, son of Kish; they, too, were among the warriors who helped him in his battles.

²They were archers who could use either the right or the left hand, both in slinging stones and in shooting arrows with the bow. They were some of Saul's kinsmen, from Benjamin.

³Ahiezer was their chief, along with Joash, both sons of Shemaah of Gibeah; also Zeziel and Pelet, sons of Azmaveth; Beracah; Jehu, from Anathoth;

⁴Ishmaiah the Gibeonite, a warrior on the level of the Thirty, and in addition to their number;

⁵Jeremiah; Jahaziel; Johanan; Jozabad from Gederah;

⁶Eluzai; Jerimoth; Bealiah; Shemariah; Shephatiah the Haruphite;

⁷Elkanah, Isshiah, Azarel, Joezer, and Ishbaal, who were Korahites;

⁸Joelah, finally, and Zebadiah, sons of Jeroham, from Gedor.

⁹Some of the Gadites also went over to David when he was at the stronghold in the wilderness. They were valiant warriors, experienced soldiers equipped with shield and spear, who bore themselves like lions, and were as swift as the gazelles on the mountains.

¹⁰Ezer was their chief, Obadiah was second, Eliab third,

¹¹Mishmannah fourth, Jeremiah fifth,

¹²Attai sixth, Eliel seventh,

¹³Johanan eighth, Elzabad ninth,

¹⁴Jeremiah tenth, and Machbannai eleventh.

¹⁵These Gadites were army commanders, the lesser placed over hundreds and the greater over thousands.

¹⁶It was they who crossed over the Jordan when it was overflowing both its banks in the first month, and dispersed all who were in the valleys to the east and to the west.

¹⁷Some Benjaminites and Judahites also came to David at the stronghold.

¹⁸David went out to meet them and addressed them in these words: "If you come peacefully, to help me, I am of a mind to have you join me. But if you have come to betray me to my enemies though my hands have done no wrong, may the God of our fathers see and punish you."

¹⁹Then spirit enveloped Amasai, the chief of the Thirty, who spoke: "We are yours, O David, we are with you, O son of Jesse. Peace, peace to you, and peace to him who helps you; your God it is who helps you." So David received them and placed them among the leaders of his troops.

²⁰Men from Manasseh also deserted to David when he came with the Philistines to battle against Saul. However, he did not help the Philistines, for their lords took counsel and sent him home, saying, "At the cost of our heads he will desert to his master Saul."

²¹As he was returning to Ziklag, therefore, these deserted to him from Manasseh: Adnah, Jozabad, Jediahel, Michael, Jozabad, Elihu, and Zillethai, chiefs of thousands of Manasseh.

²²They helped David by taking charge of his troops, for they were all warriors and became commanders of his army.

²³And from day to day men kept coming to David's help until there was a vast encampment, like an encampment of angels.

²⁴This is the muster of the detachments of armed troops that came to David at Hebron to transfer to him Saul's kingdom, as the LORD had ordained.

²⁵Judahites bearing shields and spears: six thousand eight hundred armed troops.

²⁶Of the Simeonites, warriors fit for battle: seven thousand one hundred.

²⁷Of the Levites: four thousand six hundred,

²⁸along with Jehoiada, leader of the line of Aaron, with another three thousand seven hundred,

²⁹and Zadok, a young warrior, with twenty-two princes of his father's house.

³⁰Of the Benjaminites, the brethren of Saul: three thousand--until this time, most of them had held their allegiance to the house of Saul.

³¹Of the Ephraimites: twenty thousand eight hundred warriors, men renowned in their ancestral houses.

³²Of the half-tribe of Manasseh: eighteen thousand, designated by name to come and make David king.

³³Of the Issacharites, their chiefs who were endowed with an understanding of the times and who knew what Israel had to do: two hundred chiefs, together with all their brethren under their command.

³⁴From Zebulun, men fit for military service, set in battle array with every kind of weapon for war: fifty thousand men rallying with a single purpose.

³⁵From Naphtali: one thousand captains, and with them, armed with shield and lance, thirty-seven thousand men.

³⁶Of the Danites, set in battle array: twenty-eight thousand six hundred.

³⁷From Asher, fit for military service and set in battle array: forty thousand.

³⁸From the other side of the Jordan, of the Reubenites, Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, men equipped with every kind of weapon of war: one hundred and twenty thousand.

³⁹All these soldiers, drawn up in battle order, came to Hebron with the resolute intention of making David king over all Israel. The rest of Israel was likewise of one mind to make David king.

⁴⁰They remained with David for three days, feasting and drinking, for their brethren had prepared for them.

⁴¹Moreover, their neighbors from as far as Issachar, Zebulun, and Naphtali came bringing food on asses, camels, mules, and oxen--provisions in great quantity of meal, pressed figs, raisins, wine, oil, oxen, and sheep. For there was rejoicing in Israel.

13After David had taken counsel with his commanders of thousands and of hundreds, that is to say, with every one of his leaders,

²he said to the whole assembly of Israel: "If it seems good to you, and is so decreed by the LORD our God, let us summon the rest of our brethren from all the districts of Israel, and also the priests and the Levites from their cities with pasture lands, that they may join us;

³and let us bring the ark of our God here among us, for in the days of Saul we did not visit it."

⁴And the whole assembly agreed to do this, for the idea was pleasing to all the people.

⁵Then David assembled all Israel, from Shihor of Egypt to Labo of Hamath, to bring the ark of God from Kiriath-jearim.

⁶David and all Israel went up to Baalah, that is, to Kiriath-jearim, of Judah, to bring back the ark of God, which was known by the name "LORD enthroned upon the cherubim."

⁷They transported the ark of God on a new cart from the house of Abinadab; Uzzah and Ahio were guiding the cart,

⁸while David and all Israel danced before God with great enthusiasm, amid songs and music on lyres, harps, tambourines, cymbals, and trumpets.

⁹As they reached the threshing floor of Chidon, Uzzah stretched out his hand to steady the ark, for the oxen were upsetting it.

¹⁰Then the LORD became angry with Uzzah and struck him; he died there in God's presence, because he had laid his hand on the ark.

¹¹David was disturbed because the LORD'S anger had broken out against Uzzah. Therefore that place has been called Perez-uzza even to this day.

¹²David was now afraid of God, and he said, "How can I bring the ark of God with me?"

¹³Therefore he did not take the ark back with him to the City of David, but he took it instead to the house of Obed-edom the Gittite.

¹⁴The ark of God remained in the house of Obed-edom with his family for three months, and the LORD blessed Obed-edom's household and all that he possessed.

14Hiram, king of Tyre, sent envoys to David along with masons and carpenters, and cedar wood to build him a house.

²David now understood that the LORD had truly confirmed him as king over Israel, for his kingdom was greatly exalted for the sake of his people Israel.

³David took other wives in Jerusalem and became the father of more sons and daughters.

⁴These are the names of those who were born to him in Jerusalem: Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, Solomon,

⁵Ibhar, Elishua, Elpelet,

⁶Nogah, Nepheg, Japhia,

⁷Elishama, Beeliada, and Eliphelet.

⁸When the Philistines had heard that David was anointed king over all Israel, they went up in unison to seek him out. But when David heard of this, he marched out against them.

⁹Meanwhile the Philistines had come and raided the valley of Rephaim.

¹⁰David inquired of God, "Shall I advance against the Philistines, and will you deliver them into my power?" The LORD answered him, "Advance, for I will deliver them into your power."

¹¹They advanced, therefore, to Baal-perazim, and David defeated them there. Then David said, "God has used me to break through my enemies just as water breaks through a dam." Therefore that place was called Baal-perazim.

¹²The Philistines had left their gods there, and David ordered them to be burnt.

¹³Once again the Philistines raided the valley,

¹⁴and again David inquired of God. But God answered him: "Do not try to pursue them, but go around them and come upon them from the direction of the mastic trees.

¹⁵When you hear the sound of marching in the tops of the mastic trees, then go forth to battle, for God has already gone before you to strike the army of the Philistines."

¹⁶David did as God commanded him, and they routed the Philistine army from Gibeon to Gezer.

¹⁷Thus David's fame was spread abroad through every land, and the LORD made all the nations fear him.

15 David built houses for himself in the City of David and prepared a place for the ark of God, pitching a tent for it there.

²At that time he said, "No one may carry the ark of God except the Levites, for the LORD chose them to carry the ark of the LORD and to minister to him forever."

³Then David assembled all Israel in Jerusalem to bring the ark of the LORD to the place which he had prepared for it.

⁴David also called together the sons of Aaron and the Levites:

⁵of the sons of Kohath, Uriel, their chief, and one hundred and twenty of his brethren;

⁶of the sons of Merari, Asaiah, their chief, and two hundred and twenty of his brethren;

⁷of the sons of Gershon, Joel, their chief, and one hundred and thirty of his brethren;

⁸of the sons of Elizaphan, Shemaiah, their chief, and two hundred of his brethren;

⁹of the sons of Hebron, Eliel, their chief, and eighty of his brethren;

¹⁰of the sons of Uzziel, Amminadab, their chief, and one hundred and twelve of his brethren.

¹¹David summoned the priests Zadok and Abiathar, and the Levites Uriel, Asaiah, Joel, Shemaiah, Eliel, and Amminadab, ¹²and said to them: "You, the heads of the levitical families, must sanctify yourselves along with your brethren and bring the ark of the LORD, the God of Israel, to the place which I have prepared for it.

¹³Because you were not with us the first time, the wrath of the LORD our God burst upon us, for we did not seek him aright."

¹⁴Accordingly, the priests and the Levites sanctified themselves to bring up the ark of the LORD, the God of Israel.

¹⁵The Levites bore the ark of God on their shoulders with poles, as Moses had ordained according to the word of the LORD.

¹⁶David commanded the chiefs of the Levites to appoint their brethren as chanters, to play on musical instruments, harps, lyres, and cymbals, to make a loud sound of rejoicing.

¹⁷Therefore the Levites appointed Heman, son of Joel, and, among his brethren, Asaph, son of Berechiah; and among the sons of Merari, their brethren, Ethan, son of Kushaiah;

¹⁹The chanters, Heman, Asaph, and Ethan, sounded brass cymbals.

²⁰Zechariah, Uzziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Maaseiah, and Benaiah played on harps set to "Alamoth."

²¹But Mattithiah, Eliphelehu, Mikneiah, Obed-edom, and Jeiel led the chant on lyres set to "the eighth."

²²Chenaniah was the chief of the Levites in the chanting; he directed the chanting, for he was skillful.

²³Berechiah and Elkanah were gatekeepers before the ark.

²⁴The priests, Shebaniah, Joshaphat, Nethanel, Amasai, Zechariah, Benaiah, and Eliezer, sounded the trumpets before the ark of God. Obed-edom and Jeiel were also gatekeepers before the ark.

²⁵Thus David, the elders of Israel, and the commanders of thousands went to bring up the ark of the covenant of the LORD with joy from the house of Obed-edom.

²⁶While the Levites, with God's help, were bearing the ark of the covenant of the LORD, seven bulls and seven rams were sacrificed.

²⁷David was clothed in a robe of fine linen, as were all the Levites who carried the ark, the singers, and Chenaniah, the leader of the chant; David was also wearing a linen ephod.

²⁸Thus all Israel brought back the ark of the covenant of the LORD with joyful shouting, to the sound of horns, trumpets, and cymbals, and the music of harps and lyres.

²⁹But as the ark of the covenant of the LORD was entering the City of David, Michal, daughter of Saul, looked down from her window, and when she saw King David leaping and dancing, she despised him in her heart.

16They brought in the ark of God and set it within the tent which David had pitched for it. Then they offered up holocausts and peace offerings to God.

²When David had finished offering up the holocausts and peace offerings, he blessed the people in the name of the LORD,

³and distributed to every Israelite, to every man and every woman, a loaf of bread, a piece of meat, and a raisin cake.

⁴He now appointed certain Levites to minister before the ark of the LORD, to celebrate, thank, and praise the LORD, the God of Israel.

⁵Asaph was their chief, and second to him were Zechariah, Uzziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Mattithiah, Eliab, Benaiah, Obed-edom, and Jeiel. These were to play on harps and lyres, while Asaph was to sound the cymbals, ⁶and the priests Benaiah and Jahaziel were to be the regular trumpeters before the ark of the covenant of God.

⁷Then, on that same day, David appointed Asaph and his brethren to sing for the first time these praises of the LORD:

⁸Give thanks to the LORD, invoke his name; make known among the nations his deeds.

⁹Sing to him, sing his praise, proclaim all his wondrous deeds.

¹⁰Glory in his holy name; rejoice, O hearts that seek the LORD!

¹¹Look to the LORD in his strength; seek to serve him constantly.

¹²Recall the wondrous deeds that he has wrought, his portents, and the judgments he has uttered,

¹³You descendants of Israel, his servants, sons of Jacob, his chosen ones!

¹⁴He, the LORD, is our God; throughout the earth his judgments prevail.

¹⁵He remembers forever his covenant which he made binding for a thousand generations--

¹⁶Which he entered into with Abraham and by his oath to Isaac;

¹⁷Which he established for Jacob by statute, for Israel as an everlasting covenant,

¹⁸Saying, "To you will I give the land of Canaan as your allotted inheritance."

¹⁹When they were few in number, a handful, and strangers there,

²⁰Wandering from nation to nation, from one kingdom to another people,

²¹He let no one oppress them, and for their sake he rebuked kings:

²²"Touch not my anointed, and to my prophets do no harm."

²³Sing to the LORD, all the earth, announce his salvation, day after day

²⁴Tell his glory among the nations; among all peoples, his wondrous deeds.

²⁵For great is the LORD and highly to be praised; and awesome is he, beyond all gods.

²⁶For all the gods of the nations are things of nought, but the LORD made the heavens.

²⁷Splendor and majesty go before him; praise and joy are in his holy place.

²⁸Give to the LORD, you families of nations, give to the LORD glory and praise;

²⁹Give to the LORD the glory due his name! Bring gifts, and enter his presence; worship the LORD in holy attire.

³⁰Tremble before him, all the earth; he has made the world firm, not to be moved.

³¹Let the heavens be glad and the earth rejoice; let them say among the nations: The LORD is king.

³²Let the sea and what fills it resound; let the plains rejoice and all that is in them!

³³Then shall all the trees of the forest exult before the LORD, for he comes: he comes to rule the earth.

³⁴Give thanks to the LORD, for he is good, for his kindness endures forever;

³⁵And say, "Save us, O God, our savior, gather us and deliver us from the nations, That we may give thanks to your holy name and glory in praising you."

³⁶Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, through all eternity! Let all the people say, Amen! Alleluia.

³⁷Then David left Asaph and his brethren there before the ark of the covenant of the LORD to minister before the ark regularly according to the daily ritual;

³⁸he also left there Obed-edom and sixty-eight of his brethren, including Obed-edom, son of Jeduthun, and Hosah, to be gatekeepers.

³⁹But the priest Zadok and his priestly brethren he left before the Dwelling of the LORD on the high place at Gibeon, ⁴⁰to offer holocausts to the LORD on the altar of holocausts regularly, morning and evening, and to do all that is written in the law of the LORD which he has decreed for Israel.

⁴¹With them were Heman and Jeduthun and the others who were chosen and designated by name to give thanks to the LORD, "because his kindness endures forever," ⁴²with trumpets and cymbals for accompaniment, and instruments for the sacred chant. The sons of Jeduthun kept the gate.

⁴³Then all the people departed, each to his own home, and David returned to bless his household.

17 After David had taken up residence in his house, he said to Nathan the prophet, "See, I am living in a house of cedar, but the ark of the covenant of the LORD dwells under tentcloth."

²Nathan replied to David, "Do, therefore, whatever you desire, for God is with you."

³But that same night the word of God came to Nathan:

⁴"Go and tell my servant David, Thus says the LORD: It is not you who are to build a house for me to dwell in.

⁵For I have never dwelt in a house, from the time when I led Israel onward, even to this day, but I have been lodging in tent or pavilion

⁶as long as I have wandered about with all of Israel. Did I ever say a word to any of the judges of Israel whom I commanded to guide my people, such as, 'Why have you not built me a house of cedar?'

⁷Therefore, tell my servant David, Thus says the LORD of hosts: I took you from the pasture, from following the sheep, that you might become ruler over my people Israel.

⁸I was with you wherever you went, and I cut down all your enemies before you. I will make your name great like that of the greatest on the earth.

⁹I will assign a place for my people Israel and I will plant them in it to dwell there henceforth undisturbed; nor shall wicked men ever again oppress them, as they did at first,

¹⁰and during all the time when I appointed judges over my people Israel. And I will subdue all your enemies. Moreover, I declare to you that I, the LORD, will build you a house;

¹¹so that when your days have been completed and you must join your fathers, I will raise up your offspring after you who will be one of your own sons, and I will establish his kingdom.

¹²He it is who shall build me a house, and I will establish his throne forever.

¹³I will be a father to him, and he shall be a son to me, and I will not withdraw my favor from him as I withdrew it from him who preceded you;

¹⁴but I will maintain him in my house and in my kingdom forever, and his throne shall be firmly established forever."

¹⁵All these words and this whole vision Nathan related exactly to David.

¹⁶Then David came in and sat in the LORD'S presence, saying: "Who am I, O LORD God, and what is my family, that you should have brought me as far as I have come?"

¹⁷And yet, even this you now consider too little, O God! For you have made a promise regarding your servant's family reaching into the distant future, and you have looked on me as henceforth the most notable of men, O LORD God.

¹⁸What more can David say to you? You know your servant.

¹⁹O LORD, for your servant's sake and in keeping with your purpose, you have done this great thing.

²⁰O LORD, there is no one like you and there is no God but you, just as we have always understood.

²¹"Is there, like your people Israel, whom you redeemed from Egypt, another nation on earth whom a god went to redeem as his people? You won for yourself a name for great and awesome deeds by driving out the nations before your people.

²²You made your people Israel your own forever, and you, O LORD, became their God.

²³Therefore, O LORD, may the promise that you have uttered concerning your servant and his house remain firm forever. Bring about what you have promised, ²⁴that your renown as LORD of hosts, God of Israel, may be great and abide forever, while the house of David, your servant, is established in your presence.

²⁵"Because you, O my God, have revealed to your servant that you will build him a house, your servant has made bold to pray before you.

²⁶Since you, O LORD, are truly God and have promised this good thing to your servant,

²⁷and since you have deigned to bless the house of your servant, so that it will remain forever--since it is you, O LORD, who blessed it, it is blessed forever."

18 After this, David defeated the Philistines and subdued them; and he took Gath and its towns away from the control of the Philistines.

²He also defeated Moab, and the Moabites became his subjects, paying tribute.

³David then defeated Hadadezer, king of Zobah toward Hamath, when the latter was on his way to set up his victory stele at the river Euphrates.

⁴David took from him twenty thousand foot soldiers, one thousand chariots, and seven thousand horsemen. Of the chariot horses, David hamstrung all but one hundred.

⁵The Arameans of Damascus came to the aid of Hadadezer, king of Zobah, but David also slew twenty-two thousand of their men.

⁶Then David set up garrisons in the Damascus region of Aram, and the Arameans became his subjects, paying tribute. Thus the LORD made David victorious in all his campaigns.

⁷David took the golden shields that were carried by Hadadezer's attendants and brought them to Jerusalem.

⁸He likewise took away from Tibhath and Cun, cities of Hadadezer, large quantities of bronze, which Solomon later used to make the bronze sea and the pillars and the vessels of bronze.

⁹When Tou, king of Hamath, heard that David had defeated the entire army of Hadadezer, king of Zobah, ¹⁰he sent his son Hadoram to wish King David well and to congratulate him on having waged a victorious war against Hadadezer; for Hadadezer had been at war with Tou. He also sent David gold, silver and bronze utensils of every sort.

¹¹These also King David consecrated to the LORD along with all the silver and gold that he had taken from the nations: from Edom, Moab, the Ammonites, the Philistines, and Amalek.

¹²Abishai, the son of Zeruiah, also slew eighteen thousand Edomites in the Valley of Salt.

¹³He set up garrisons in Edom, and all the Edomites became David's subjects. Thus the LORD made David victorious in all his campaigns.

¹⁴David reigned over all Israel and dispensed justice and right to all his people.

¹⁵Joab, son of Zeruiah, was in command of the army; Jehoshaphat, son of Ahilud, was herald;

¹⁶Zadok, son of Ahitub, and Ahimelech, son of Abiathar, were priests; Shavsha was scribe;

¹⁷Benaiah, son of Jehoiada, was in command of the Cherethites and the Pelethites; and David's sons were the chief assistants to the king.

19Afterward Nahash, king of the Ammonites, died and his son succeeded him as king.

²David said, "I will show kindness to Hanun, the son of Nahash, for his father treated me with kindness." Therefore he sent envoys to him to comfort him over the death of his father. But when David's servants had entered the land of the Ammonites to comfort Hanun,

³the Ammonite princes said to Hanun, "Do you think David is doing this--sending you these consolers--to honor your father? Have not his servants rather come to you to explore the land, spying it out for its overthrow?"

⁴Thereupon Hanun seized David's servants and had them shaved and their garments cut off half-way at the hips. Then he sent them away.

⁵When David was informed of what had happened to his men, he sent messengers to meet them, for the men had been greatly disgraced. "Remain at Jericho," the king told them, "until your beards have grown again; and then you may come back here."

⁶When the Ammonites realized that they had put themselves in bad odor with David, Hanun and the Ammonites sent a thousand talents of silver to hire chariots and horsemen from Aram Naharaim, from Aram-maacah, and from Zobah.

⁷They hired thirty-two thousand chariots along with the king of Maacah and his army, who came and encamped before Medeba. The Ammonites also assembled from their cities and came out for war.

⁸When David heard of this, he sent Joab and his whole army of warriors against them.

⁹The Ammonites marched out and lined up for a battle at the gate of the city, while the kings who had come to their help remained apart in the open field.

¹⁰When Joab saw that there was a battle line both in front of and behind him, he chose some of the best fighters among the Israelites and set them in array against the Arameans;

¹¹the rest of the army, which he placed under the command of his brother Abishai, then lined up to oppose the Ammonites.

¹²And he said: "If the Arameans prove too strong for me, you must come to my help; and if the Ammonites prove too strong for you, I will save you.

¹³Hold steadfast and let us show ourselves courageous for the sake of our people and the cities of our God; then may the LORD do what seems best to him."

¹⁴Joab therefore advanced with his men to engage the Arameans in battle; but they fled before him.

¹⁵And when the Ammonites saw that the Arameans had fled, they also took to flight before his brother Abishai, and reentered the city. Joab then returned to Jerusalem.

¹⁶Seeing themselves vanquished by Israel, the Arameans sent messengers to bring out the Arameans from the other side of the River, with Shophach, the general of Hadadezer's army, at their head.

¹⁷When this was reported to David, he gathered all Israel together, crossed the Jordan, and met them. With the army of David drawn up to fight the Arameans, they gave battle.

¹⁸But the Arameans fled before Israel, and David slew seven thousand of their chariot fighters and forty thousand of their foot soldiers; he also killed Shophach, the general of the army.

¹⁹When the vassals of Hadadezer saw themselves vanquished by Israel, they made peace with David and became his subjects. After this, the Arameans refused to come to the aid of the Ammonites.

20 At the beginning of the following year, the time when kings go to war, Joab led the army out in force, laid waste the land of the Ammonites, and went on to besiege Rabbah, while David himself remained in Jerusalem. When Joab had attacked Rabbah and destroyed it, ²David took the crown of Milcom from the idol's head. It was found to weigh a talent of gold; and it contained precious stones, which David wore on his own head. He also brought out a great amount of booty from the city.

³He deported the people of the city and set them to work with saws, iron picks, and axes. Thus David dealt with all the cities of the Ammonites. Then he and his whole army returned to Jerusalem.

⁴Afterward there was another battle with the Philistines, at Gezer. At that time, Sibbecai the Hushathite slew Sippai, one of the descendants of the Raphaim, and the Philistines were subdued.

⁵Once again there was war with the Philistines, and Elhanan, the son of Jair, slew Lahmi, the brother of Goliath of Gath, whose spear shaft was like a weaver's heddle-bar.

⁶In still another battle, at Gath, they encountered a giant, also a descendant of the Raphaim, who had six fingers to each hand and six toes to each foot; twenty-four in all.

⁷He defied Israel, and Jonathan, the son of Shimea, David's brother, slew him.

⁸These were the descendants of the Raphaim of Gath who died at the hands of David and his servants.

21 A satan rose up against Israel, and he enticed David into taking a census of Israel.

²David therefore said to Joab and to the other generals of the army, "Go, find out the number of the Israelites from Beer-sheba to Dan, and report back to me that I may know their number."

³But Joab replied: "May the LORD increase his people a hundredfold! My lord king, are not all of them my lord's subjects? Why does my lord seek to do this thing? Why will he bring guilt upon Israel?"

⁴However, the king's command prevailed over Joab, who departed and traversed all of Israel, and then returned to Jerusalem.

⁵Joab reported the result of the census to David: of men capable of wielding a sword, there were in all Israel one million one hundred thousand, and in Judah four hundred and seventy thousand.

⁶Levi and Benjamin, however, he did not include in the census, for the king's command was repugnant to Joab.

⁷This command displeased God, who began to punish Israel.

⁸Then David said to God, "I have sinned greatly in doing this thing. Take away your servant's guilt, for I have acted very foolishly."

⁹Then the LORD spoke to Gad, David's seer, in these words:

¹⁰"Go, tell David: Thus says the LORD: I offer you three alternatives; choose one of them, and I will inflict it on you."

¹¹Accordingly, Gad went to David and said to him; "Thus says the LORD: Decide now-- ¹²will it be three years of famine; or three months of fleeing your enemies, with the sword of your foes ever at your back; or three days of the LORD'S own sword, a pestilence in the land, with the LORD'S destroying angel in every part of Israel? Therefore choose: What answer am I to give him who sent me?"

¹³Then David said to Gad: "I am in dire straits. But I prefer to fall into the hand of the LORD, whose mercy is very great, than into the hands of men."

¹⁴Therefore the LORD sent pestilence upon Israel, and seventy thousand men of Israel died.

¹⁵God also sent an angel to destroy Jerusalem; but as he was on the point of destroying it, the LORD saw and decided against the calamity, and said to the destroying angel, "Enough now! Stay your hand!"The angel of the LORD was then standing by the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite.

¹⁶When David raised his eyes, he saw the angel of the LORD standing between earth and heaven, with a naked sword in his hand stretched out against Jerusalem. David and the elders, clothed in sackcloth, prostrated themselves face to the ground,

¹⁷and David prayed to God: "Was it not I who ordered the census of the people? I am the one who sinned, I did this wicked thing. But these sheep, what have they done? O LORD, my God, strike me and my father's family, but do not afflict your people with this plague!"

¹⁸Then the angel of the LORD commanded Gad to tell David to go up and erect an altar to the LORD on the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite.

¹⁹David went up at Gad's command, given in the name of the LORD.

²⁰While Ornan was threshing wheat, he turned around and saw the king, and his four sons who were with him, without recognizing them.

²¹But as David came on toward him, he looked up and saw that it was David. Then he left the threshing floor and bowed down before David, his face to the ground.

²²David said to Ornan: "Sell me the ground of this threshing floor, that I may build on it an altar to the LORD. Sell it to me at its full price, that the plague may be stayed from the people."

²³But Ornan said to David: "Take it as your own, and let my lord the king do what seems best to him. See, I also give you the oxen for the holocausts, the threshing sledges for the wood, and the wheat for the cereal offering. I give it all to you."

²⁴But King David replied to Ornan: "No! I will buy it from you properly, at its full price. I will not take what is yours for the LORD, nor offer up holocausts that cost me nothing."

²⁵So David paid Ornan six hundred shekels of gold for the place.

²⁶David then built an altar there to the LORD, and offered up holocausts and peace offerings. When he called upon the LORD, he answered him by sending down fire from heaven upon the altar of holocausts.

²⁷Then the LORD gave orders to the angel to return his sword to its sheath.

²⁸Once David saw that the LORD had heard him on the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite, he continued to offer sacrifices there.

²⁹The Dwelling of the LORD, which Moses had built in the desert, and the altar of holocausts were at that time on the high place at Gibeon.

³⁰But David could not go there to worship God, for he was fearful of the sword of the angel of the LORD.

22 Therefore David said, "This is the house of the LORD God, and this is the altar of holocausts for Israel."

²David then ordered that all the aliens who lived in the land of Israel be brought together, and he appointed them stonecutters to hew out stone blocks for building the house of God.

³He also laid up large stores of iron to make nails for the doors of the gates, and clamps, together with so much bronze that it could not be weighed,

⁴and cedar trees without number. The Sidonians and Tyrians brought great stores of cedar logs to David,

⁵who said: "My son Solomon is young and immature; but the house that is to be built for the LORD must be made so magnificent that it will be renowned and glorious in all countries. Therefore I will make preparations for it." Thus before his death David laid up materials in abundance.

⁶Then he called for his son Solomon and commanded him to build a house for the LORD, the God of Israel.

⁷David said to Solomon: "My son, it was my purpose to build a house myself for the honor of the LORD, my God.

⁸But this word of the LORD came to me: 'You have shed much blood, and you have waged great wars. You may not build a house in my honor, because you have shed too much blood upon the earth in my sight.

⁹However, a son is to be born to you. He will be a peaceful man, and I will give him rest from all his enemies on every side. For Solomon shall be his name, and in his time I will bestow peace and tranquillity on Israel.

¹⁰It is he who shall build a house in my honor; he shall be a son to me, and I will be a father to him, and I will establish the throne of his kingship over Israel forever.'

¹¹Now, my son, the LORD be with you, and may you succeed in building the house of the LORD your God, as he has said you shall.

¹²May the LORD give you prudence and discernment when he brings you to rule over Israel, so that you keep the law of the LORD, your God.

¹³Only then shall you succeed, if you are careful to observe the precepts and decrees which the LORD gave Moses for Israel. Be brave and steadfast; do not fear or lose heart.

¹⁴See, with great effort I have laid up for the house of the LORD a hundred thousand talents of gold, a million talents of silver, and bronze and iron in such great quantities that they cannot be weighed. I have also stored up wood and stones, to which you must add.

¹⁵Moreover, you have available an unlimited supply of workmen, stonecutters, masons, carpenters, and every kind of craftsman

¹⁶skilled in gold, silver, bronze, and iron. Set to work, therefore, and the LORD be with you!"

¹⁷David also commanded all of Israel's leaders to help his son Solomon:

¹⁸"Is not the LORD your God with you? Has he not given you rest on every side? Indeed, he has delivered the occupants of the land into my power, and the land is subdued before the LORD and his people.

¹⁹Therefore, devote your hearts and souls to seeking the LORD your God. Proceed to build the sanctuary of the LORD God, that the ark of the covenant of the LORD and God's sacred vessels may be brought into the house built in honor of the LORD."

23 When David had grown old and was near the end of his days, he made his son Solomon king over Israel.

²He then gathered together all the leaders of Israel, together with the priests and the Levites.

³The Levites thirty years old and above were counted, and their total number was found to be thirty-eight thousand men.

- ⁴Of these, twenty-four thousand were to direct the service of the house of the LORD, six thousand were to be officials and judges,
- ⁵four thousand were to be gatekeepers, and four thousand were to praise the LORD with the instruments which David had devised for praise.
- ⁶David divided them into classes according to the sons of Levi: Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.
- ⁷To the Gershonites belonged Ladan and Shimei.
- ⁸The sons of Ladan: Jehiel the chief, then Zetham and Joel; three in all.
- ⁹The sons of Shimei were Shelomoth, Haziël, and Haran; three. These were the heads of the families of Ladan.
- ¹⁰The sons of Shimei were Jahath, Zizah, Jeush, and Beriah; these were the sons of Shimei, four in all.
- ¹¹Jahath was the chief and Zizah was second to him; but Jeush and Beriah had not many sons, and therefore they were classed as a single family, fulfilling a single office.
- ¹²The sons of Kohath: Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel; four in all.
- ¹³The sons of Amram were Aaron and Moses. Aaron was set apart to be consecrated as most holy, he and his sons forever, to offer sacrifice before the LORD, to minister to him, and to bless his name forever.
- ¹⁴As for Moses, however, the man of God, his sons were counted as part of the tribe of Levi.
- ¹⁵The sons of Moses were Gershom and Eliezer.
- ¹⁶The sons of Gershom: Shubael the chief.
- ¹⁷The sons of Eliezer were Rehabiah the chief--Eliezer had no other sons, but the sons of Rehabiah were very numerous.
- ¹⁸The sons of Izhar: Shelomith the chief.

- ¹⁹The sons of Hebron: Jeriah, the chief, Amariah, the second, Jahaziel, the third, and Jekameam, the fourth.
- ²⁰The sons of Uzziel: Micah, the chief, and Isshiah, the second.
- ²¹The sons of Merari: Mahli and Mushi. The sons of Mahli: Eleazar and Kish.
- ²²Eleazar died leaving no sons, only daughters; the sons of Kish, their kinsmen, married them.
- ²³The sons of Mushi: Mahli, Eder, and Jeremoth; three in all.
- ²⁴These were the sons of Levi according to their ancestral houses, the family heads as they were enrolled one by one according to their names. They performed the work of the service of the house of the LORD from twenty years of age upward,
- ²⁵David said: "The LORD, the God of Israel, has given rest to his people, and has taken up his dwelling in Jerusalem.
- ²⁶Henceforth the Levites need not carry the Dwelling or any of its furnishings or equipment.
- ²⁷for David's final orders were to enlist the Levites from the time they were twenty years old.
- ²⁸Rather, their duty shall be to assist the sons of Aaron in the service of the house of the LORD, having charge of the courts, the chambers, and the preservation of everything holy: they shall take part in the service of the house of God.
- ²⁹They shall also have charge of the showbread, of the fine flour for the cereal offering, of the wafers of unleavened bread, and of the baking and mixing, and of all measures of quantity and size.
- ³⁰They must be present every morning to offer thanks and to praise the LORD, and likewise in the evening;
- ³¹and at every offering of holocausts to the LORD on sabbaths, new moons, and feast days, in such numbers as are prescribed, they must always be present before the LORD.

³²They shall observe what is prescribed for them concerning the meeting tent, the sanctuary, and the sons of Aaron, their brethren, in the service of the house of the LORD."

24The descendants of Aaron also were divided into classes. The sons of Aaron were Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.

²Nadab and Abihu died before their father, leaving no sons; therefore only Eleazar and Ithamar served as priests.

³David, with Zadok, a descendant of Eleazar, and Ahimelech, a descendant of Ithamar, assigned the functions for the priestly service.

⁴But since the descendants of Eleazar were found to be more numerous than those of Ithamar, the former were divided into sixteen groups, and the latter into eight groups, each under its family head.

⁵Their functions were assigned impartially by lot, for there were officers of the holy place, and officers of the divine presence, descended both from Eleazar and from Ithamar.

⁶The scribe Shemaiah, son of Nethanel, a Levite, made a record of it in the presence of the king, and of the leaders, of Zadok the priest, and of Ahimelech, son of Abiathar, and of the heads of the ancestral houses of the priests and of the Levites, listing two successive family groups from Eleazar before each one from Ithamar.

⁷The first lot fell to Jehoiarib, the second to Jedaiah,

⁸the third to Harim, the fourth to Seorim,

⁹the fifth to Malchijah, the sixth to Mijamin,

¹⁰the seventh to Hakkoz, the eighth to Abijah,

¹¹the ninth to Jeshua, the tenth to Shecaniah,

¹²the eleventh to Eliashib, the twelfth to Jakim,

¹³the thirteenth to Huppah, the fourteenth to Ishbaal,

¹⁴the fifteenth to Bilgah, the sixteenth to Immer,

¹⁵the seventeenth to Hezir, the eighteenth to Happizzesz,

¹⁶the nineteenth to Pethahiah, the twentieth to Jehezkel,

¹⁷the twenty-first to Jachin, the twenty-second to Gamul,

¹⁸the twenty-third to Delaiah, the twenty-fourth to Maaziah.

¹⁹This was the appointed order of their service when they functioned in the house of the LORD in keeping with the precepts given them by Aaron, their father, as the LORD, the God of Israel, had commanded him.

²⁰Of the remaining Levites, there were Shubael, of the descendants of Amram, and Jehdeiah, of the descendants of Shubael;

²¹Isshiah, the chief, of the descendants of Rehabiah;

²²Shelomith of the Izharites, and Jahath of the descendants of Shelomith.

²³The descendants of Hebron were Jeriah, the chief, Amariah, the second, Jahaziel, the third, Jekameam, the fourth.

²⁴The descendants of Uzziel were Micah; Shamir, of the descendants of Micah;

²⁵Isshiah, the brother of Micah; and Zechariah, a descendant of Isshiah.

²⁶The descendants of Merari were Mahli, Mushi, and the descendants of his son Uziah.

²⁷The descendants of Merari through his son Uziah: Shoham, Zaccur, and Ibri.

²⁸Descendants of Mahli were Eleazar, who had no sons,

²⁹and Jerahmeel, of the descendants of Kish.

³⁰The descendants of Mushi were Mahli, Eder, and Jerimoth. These were the descendants of the Levites according to their ancestral houses.

³¹They too, in the same manner as their relatives, the descendants of Aaron, cast lots in the presence of King David, Zadok, Ahimelech, and the heads of the priestly and levitical families; the more important family did so in the same way as the less important one.

25 David and the leaders of the liturgical cult set apart for service the descendants of Asaph, Heman, and Jeduthun, as singers of inspired songs to the accompaniment of lyres and harps and cymbals. This is the list of those who performed this service:

²Of the sons of Asaph: Zaccur, Joseph, Nethaniah, and Asharelah, sons of Asaph, under the direction of Asaph, who sang inspired songs under the guidance of the king.

³Of Jeduthun, these sons of Jeduthun: Gedaliah, Zeri, Jeshaiiah, Shimei, Hashabiah, and Mattithiah; six, under the direction of their father Jeduthun, who sang inspired songs to the accompaniment of a lyre, to give thanks and praise to the LORD.

⁴Of Heman, these sons of Heman: Bukkiah, Mattaniah, Uzziel, Shubael, and Jerimoth; Hananiah, Hanani, Eliathah, Giddalti, Romanti-ezer, Joshbekashah, Mallothi, Hothir, and Mahazioth.

⁵All these were the sons of Heman, the king's seer in divine matters; to enhance his prestige, God gave Heman fourteen sons and three daughters.

⁶All these, whether of Asaph, Jeduthun, or Heman, were under their fathers' direction in the singing in the house of the LORD to the accompaniment of cymbals, harps and lyres, serving in the house of God, under the guidance of the king.

⁷Their number, together with that of their brethren who were trained in singing to the LORD, all of them skilled men, was two hundred and eighty-eight.

⁸They cast lots for their functions equally, young and old, master and pupil alike.

⁹The first lot fell to Asaph, the family of Joseph; he and his sons and his brethren were twelve. Gedaliah was the second; he and his brethren and his sons were twelve.

¹⁰The third was Zaccur, his sons, and his brethren: twelve.

¹¹The fourth fell to Izri, his sons, and his brethren: twelve.

¹²The fifth was Nethaniah, his sons, and his brethren: twelve.

- ¹³The sixth was Bukkiah, his sons, and his brethren: twelve.
- ¹⁴The seventh was Jesarelah, his sons, and his brethren: twelve.
- ¹⁵The eighth was Jeshaiiah, his sons, and his brethren: twelve.
- ¹⁶The ninth was Mattaniah, his sons, and his brethren: twelve.
- ¹⁷The tenth was Shimei, his sons, and his brethren: twelve.
- ¹⁸The eleventh was Uzziel, his sons, and his brethren: twelve.
- ¹⁹The twelfth fell to Hashabiah, his sons, and his brethren: twelve.
- ²⁰The thirteenth was Shubael, his sons, and his brethren: twelve.
- ²¹The fourteenth was Mattithiah, his sons, and his brethren: twelve.
- ²²The fifteenth fell to Jeremoth, his sons, and his brethren: twelve.
- ²³The sixteenth fell to Hananiah, his sons, and his brethren: twelve.
- ²⁴The seventeenth fell to Joshbekashah, his sons, and his brethren: twelve.
- ²⁵The eighteenth fell to Hanani, his sons, and his brethren: twelve.
- ²⁶The nineteenth fell to Mallothi, his sons, and his brethren: twelve.
- ²⁷The twentieth fell to Eliathah, his sons, and his brethren: twelve.
- ²⁸The twenty-first fell to Hothir, his sons, and his brethren: twelve.
- ²⁹The twenty-second fell to Giddalti, his sons, and his brethren: twelve.
- ³⁰The twenty-third fell to Mahazioth, his sons, and his brethren: twelve.
- ³¹The twenty-fourth fell to Romamti-ezer, his sons, and his brethren: twelve.

26 As for the classes of gatekeepers. Of the Korahites was Meshelemiah, the son of Kore, one of the sons of Abiasaph.

²Meshelemiah's sons: Zechariah, the first-born, Jediael, the second son, Zebadiah, the third, Jathniel, the fourth, ³Elam, the fifth, Jehohanan, the sixth, Eliehoenai, the seventh.

⁴Obed-edom's sons: Shemaiah, the first-born, Jehozabad, a second son, Joah, the third, Sachar, the fourth, Nethanel, the fifth, ⁵Ammiel, the sixth, Issachar, the seventh, Peullethai, the eighth, for God blessed him.

⁶To his son Shemaiah were born sons who ruled over their family, for they were warriors.

⁷The sons of Shemaiah were Othni, Rephael, Obed, and Elzabad; also his brethren who were men of might, Elihu and Semachiah.

⁸All these were the sons of Obed-edom, who, together with their sons and their brethren, were mighty men, fit for the service. Of Obed-edom, sixty-two.

⁹Of Meshelemiah, eighteen sons and brethren, mighty men.

¹⁰Hosah, a descendant of Merari, had these sons: Shimri, the chief (for though he was not the first-born, his father made him chief), ¹¹Hilkiah, the second son, Tebaliah, the third, Zechariah, the fourth. All the sons and brethren of Hosah were thirteen.

¹²To these classes of gatekeepers, under their chief men, were assigned watches in the service of the house of the LORD, for each group in the same way.

¹³They cast lots for each gate, the small and the large families alike.

¹⁴When the lot was cast for the east side, it fell to Meshelemiah. Then they cast lots for his son Zechariah, a prudent counselor, and the north side fell to his lot.

¹⁵To Obed-edom fell the south side, and to his sons the storehouse.

¹⁶To Hosah fell the west side with the Shallecheth gate at the ascending highway. For each family, watches were established.

¹⁷On the east, six watched each day, on the north, four each day, on the south, four each day, and at the storehouse they were two and two;

¹⁸as for the large building on the west, there were four at the highway and two at the large building.

¹⁹These were the classes of the gatekeepers, descendants of Kore and Merari.

²⁰Their brother Levites superintended the stores for the house of God and the stores of votive offerings.

²¹Among the descendants of Ladan the Gershonite, the family heads were descendants of Jehiel: the descendants of Jehiel, ²²Zetham and his brother Joel, who superintended the treasures of the house of the LORD.

²³From the Amramites, Izharites, Hebronites, and Uzzielites,

²⁴Shubael, son of Gershon, son of Moses, was chief superintendent over the treasures.

²⁵His associate pertained to Eliezer, whose son was Rehabiah, whose son was Jeshaiiah, whose son was Joram, whose son was Zichri, whose son was Shelomith.

²⁶This Shelomith and his brethren superintended all the stores of the votive offerings dedicated by King David, the heads of the families, the commanders of thousands and of hundreds, and the commanders of the army,

²⁷from the booty they had taken in the wars, for the enhancement of the house of the LORD.

²⁸Also, whatever Samuel the seer, Saul, son of Kish, Abner, son of Ner, Joab, son of Zeruiiah, and all others had consecrated, was under the charge of Shelomith and his brethren.

²⁹Among the Izharites, Chenaniah and his sons were in charge of Israel's civil affairs as officials and judges.

³⁰Among the Hebronites, Hashabiah and his brethren, one thousand seven hundred police officers, had the administration of Israel on the western side of the Jordan in all the work of the LORD and in the service of the king.

³¹Among the Hebronites, Jerijah was their chief according to their family records. In the fortieth year of David's reign search was made, and there were found among them outstanding officers at Jazer of Gilead.

³²His brethren were also police officers, two thousand seven hundred heads of families. King David appointed them to the administration of the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh in everything pertaining to God and to the king.

27 This is the list of the Israelite family heads, commanders of thousands and of hundreds, and other officers who served the king in all that pertained to the divisions, of twenty-four thousand men each, that came and went month by month throughout the year.

²Over the first division for the first month was Ishbaal, son of Zabdiel, and in his division were twenty-four thousand men;

³a descendant of Perez, he was chief over all the commanders of the army for the first month.

⁴Over the division of the second month was Eleazar, son of Dodo, from Ahoh, and in his division were twenty-four thousand men.

⁵The third army commander, chief for the third month, was Benaiah, son of Jehoiada the priest, and in his division were twenty-four thousand men.

⁶This Benaiah was a warrior among the Thirty and over the Thirty. His son Ammizabad was over his division.

⁷Fourth, for the fourth month, was Asahel, brother of Joab, and after him his son Zebadiah, and in his division were twenty-four thousand men.

⁸Fifth, for the fifth month, was the commander Shamhuth, a descendant of Zerah, and in his division were twenty-four thousand men.

⁹Sixth, for the sixth month, was Ira, son of Ikesh, from Tekoa, and in his division were twenty-four thousand men.

¹⁰Seventh, for the seventh month, was Hellez, from Beth-pheret, of the sons of Ephraim, and in his division were twenty-four thousand men.

¹¹Eighth, for the eighth month, was Sibbecai the Hushathite, a descendant of Zerah, and in his division were twenty-four thousand men.

¹²Ninth, for the ninth month, was Abiezer from Anathoth, of Benjamin, and in his division were twenty-four thousand men.

¹³Tenth, for the tenth month, was Maharai from Netophah, a descendant of Zerah, and in his division were twenty-four thousand men.

¹⁴Eleventh, for the eleventh month, was Benaiah the Pirathonite, of Ephraim, and in his division were twenty-four thousand men.

¹⁵Twelfth, for the twelfth month, was Heldai the Netophathite, of the family of Othniel, and in his division were twenty-four thousand men.

¹⁶Over the tribes of Israel, for the Reubenites the leader was Eliezer, son of Zichri; for the Simeonites, Shephatiah, son of Maacah;

¹⁷for Levi, Hashabiah, son of Kemuel; for Aaron, Zadok;

¹⁸for Judah, Eliab, one of David's brothers; for Issachar, Omri, son of Michael;

¹⁹for Zebulun, Ishmaiah, son of Obadiah; for Naphtali, Jeremoth, son of Azriel;

²⁰for the sons of Ephraim, Hoshea, son of Azariah; for the half-tribe of Manasseh, Joel, son of Pedaiah;

²¹for the half-tribe of Manasseh in Gilead, Iddo, son of Zechariah; for Benjamin, Jaasiel, son of Abner;

²²for Dan, Azarel, son of Jeroham. These were the commanders of the tribes of Israel.

²³David did not count those who were twenty years of age or younger, for the LORD had promised to multiply Israel like the stars of the heavens.

²⁴Joab, son of Zeruah, began to take the census, but he did not complete it, for because of it wrath fell upon Israel. Therefore the number did not enter into the book of chronicles of King David.

²⁵Over the treasures of the king was Azmaveth, the son of Adiel. Over the stores in the country, the cities, the villages, and the towers was Jonathan, son of Uzziah.

²⁶Over the farm workers who tilled the soil was Ezri, son of Chelub.

²⁷Over the vineyards was Shimei from Ramah, and over their produce for the wine cellars was Zabdi the Shiphmite.

²⁸Over the olive trees and sycamores of the foothills was Baalhanan the Gederite, and over the stores of oil was Joash.

²⁹Over the cattle that grazed in Sharon was Shitrai the Sharonite, and over the cattle in the valleys was Shaphat, the son of Adlai;

³⁰over the camels was Obil the Ishmaelite; over the she-asses was Jehdeiah the Meronothite;

³¹and over the flocks was Jaziz the Hagrite. All these were the overseers of King David's possessions.

³²Jonathan, David's uncle and a man of intelligence, was counselor and scribe; he and Jehiel, the son of Hachmoni, were tutors of the king's sons.

³³Ahithophel was also the king's counselor, and Hushai the Archite was the king's confidant.

³⁴After Ahithophel came Jehoiada, the son of Benaiah, and Abiathar. The commander of the king's army was Joab.

28 David assembled at Jerusalem all the leaders of Israel, the heads of the tribes, the commanders of the divisions who were in the service of the king, the commanders of thousands and of hundreds, the overseers of all the king's estates and possessions, and his sons, together with the courtiers, the warriors, and every important man.

²King David rose to his feet and said: "Hear me, my brethren and my people. It was my purpose to build a house of repose myself for the ark of the covenant of the LORD, the footstool for the feet of our God; and I was preparing to build it.

³But God said to me, 'You may not build a house in my honor, for you are a man who fought wars and shed blood.'

⁴However, the LORD, the God of Israel, chose me from all my father's family to be king over Israel forever. For he chose Judah as leader, then one family of Judah, that of my father; and finally, among all the sons of my father, it pleased him to make me king over all Israel.

⁵And of all my sons--for the LORD has given me many sons--he has chosen my son Solomon to sit on the LORD'S royal throne over Israel.

⁶For he said to me: 'It is your son Solomon who shall build my house and my courts, for I have chosen him for my son, and I will be a father to him.

⁷I will establish his kingdom forever, if he perseveres in keeping my commandments and decrees as he keeps them now.'

⁸Therefore, in the presence of all Israel, the assembly of the LORD, and in the hearing of our God, I exhort you to keep and to carry out all the commandments of the LORD, your God, that you may continue to possess this good land and afterward leave it as an inheritance to your children forever.

⁹"As for you, Solomon, my son, know the God of your father and serve him with a perfect heart and a willing soul, for the LORD searches all hearts and understands all the mind's thoughts. If you seek him, he will let himself be found by you; but if you abandon him, he will cast you off forever.

¹⁰See, then! The LORD has chosen you to build a house as his sanctuary. Take courage and set to work."

¹¹Then David gave to his son Solomon the pattern of the portico and of the building itself, with its storerooms, its upper rooms and inner chambers, and the room with the propitiatory.

¹²He provided also the pattern for all else that he had in mind by way of courts for the house of the LORD, with the surrounding compartments for the stores for the house of God and the stores of the votive offerings,

¹³as well as for the divisions of the priests and Levites, for all the work of the service of the house of the LORD, and for all the liturgical vessels of the house of the LORD.

¹⁴He specified the weight of gold to be used in the golden vessels for the various services and the weight of silver to be used in the silver vessels for the various services;

¹⁵likewise for the golden lampstands and their lamps he specified the weight of gold for each lampstand and its lamps, and for the silver lampstands he specified the weight of silver for each lampstand and its lamps, depending on the use to which each lampstand was to be put.

¹⁶He specified the weight of gold for each table to hold the showbread, and the silver for the silver tables;

¹⁷the pure gold to be used for the forks and pitchers; the amount of gold for each golden bowl and the silver for each silver bowl;

¹⁸the refined gold, and its weight, to be used for the altar of incense; and, finally, gold for what would suggest a chariot throne: the cherubim that spread their wings and covered the ark of the covenant of the LORD.

¹⁹He had successfully committed to writing the exact specifications of the pattern, because the hand of the LORD was upon him.

²⁰Then David said to his son Solomon: "Be firm and steadfast; go to work without fear or discouragement, for the LORD God, my God, is with you. He will not fail you or abandon you before you have completed all the work for the service of the house of the LORD.

²¹The classes of the priests and Levites are ready for all the service of the house of God; they will help you in all your work with all those who are eager to show their skill in every kind of craftsmanship. Also the leaders and all the people will do everything that you command."

29 King David then said to the whole assembly: "My son Solomon, whom alone God has chosen, is still young and immature; the work, however, is great, for this castle is not intended for man, but for the LORD God.

²For this reason I have stored up for the house of my God, as far as I was able, gold for what will be made of gold, silver for what will be made of silver, bronze for what will be made of bronze, iron for what will be made of iron, wood for what will be made of wood, onyx stones and settings for them, carnelian and mosaic stones, every other kind of precious stone, and great quantities of marble.

³But now, because of the delight I take in the house of my God, in addition to all that I stored up for the holy house, I give to the house of my God my personal fortune in gold and silver:

- ⁴three thousand talents of Ophir gold, and seven thousand talents of refined silver, for overlaying the walls of the rooms,
- ⁵for the various utensils to be made of gold and silver, and for every work that is to be done by artisans. Now, who else is willing to contribute generously this day to the LORD?"
- ⁶Then the heads of the families, the leaders of the tribes of Israel, the commanders of thousands and of hundreds, and the overseers of the king's affairs came forward willingly
- ⁷and contributed for the service of the house of God five thousand talents and ten thousand darics of gold, ten thousand talents of silver, eighteen thousand talents of bronze, and one hundred thousand talents of iron.
- ⁸Those who had precious stones gave them into the keeping of Jehiel the Gershonite for the treasury of the house of the LORD.
- ⁹The people rejoiced over these free-will offerings, which had been contributed to the LORD wholeheartedly. King David also rejoiced greatly.
- ¹⁰Then David blessed the LORD in the presence of the whole assembly, praying in these words: "Blessed may you be, O LORD, God of Israel our father, from eternity to eternity.
- ¹¹"Yours, O LORD, are grandeur and power, majesty, splendor, and glory. For all in heaven and on earth is yours; yours, O LORD, is the sovereignty; you are exalted as head over all.
- ¹²"Riches and honor are from you, and you have dominion over all. In your hand are power and might; it is yours to give grandeur and strength to all.
- ¹³Therefore, our God, we give you thanks and we praise the majesty of your name."
- ¹⁴"But who am I, and who are my people, that we should have the means to contribute so freely? For everything is from you, and we only give you what we have received from you.
- ¹⁵For we stand before you as aliens: we are only your guests, like all our fathers. Our life on earth is like a shadow that does not abide.

¹⁶O LORD our God, all this wealth that we have brought together to build you a house in honor of your holy name comes from you and is entirely yours.

¹⁷I know, O my God, that you put hearts to the test and that you take pleasure in uprightness. With a sincere heart I have willingly given all these things, and now with joy I have seen your people here present also giving to you generously.

¹⁸O LORD, God of our fathers Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, keep such thoughts in the hearts and minds of your people forever, and direct their hearts toward you.

¹⁹Give to my son Solomon a wholehearted desire to keep your commandments, precepts, and statutes, that he may carry out all these plans and build the castle for which I have made preparation."

²⁰Then David besought the whole assembly, "Now bless the LORD your God!" And the whole assembly blessed the LORD, the God of their fathers, bowing down and prostrating themselves before the LORD and before the king.

²¹On the following day they offered sacrifices and holocausts to the LORD, a thousand bulls, a thousand rams, and a thousand lambs, together with their libations and many other sacrifices for all Israel;

²²and on that day they ate and drank in the LORD'S presence with great rejoicing. Then for a second time they proclaimed David's son Solomon king, and they anointed him as the LORD'S prince, and Zadok as priest.

²³Thereafter Solomon sat on the throne of the LORD as king in place of his father David; he prospered, and all Israel obeyed him.

²⁴All the leaders and warriors, and also all the other sons of King David, swore allegiance to King Solomon.

²⁵And the LORD exalted Solomon greatly in the eyes of all Israel, giving him a glorious reign such as had not been enjoyed by any king over Israel before him.

²⁶Thus David, the son of Jesse, had reigned over all Israel.

²⁷The time that he reigned over Israel was forty years: in Hebron he reigned seven years, and in Jerusalem thirty-three.

²⁸He died at a ripe old age, rich in years and wealth and glory, and his son Solomon succeeded him as king.

²⁹Now the deeds of King David, first and last, can be found written in the history of Samuel the seer, the history of Nathan the prophet, and the history of Gad the seer, ³⁰together with the particulars of his reign and valor, and of the events that affected him and all Israel and all the kingdoms of the surrounding lands.

2nd Chronicles

1 Solomon, son of David, strengthened his hold on the kingdom, for the LORD, his God, was with him, constantly making him more renowned.

2He sent a summons to all Israel, to the commanders of thousands and of hundreds, the judges, the princes of all Israel, and the family heads;

3and, accompanied by the whole assembly, he went to the high place at Gibeon, because the meeting tent of God, made in the desert by Moses, the LORD'S servant, was there.

4(The ark of God, however, David had brought up from Kiriath-jearim to Jerusalem, where he had provided a place and pitched a tent for it.)

5The bronze altar made by Bezalel, son of Uri, son of Hur, he put in front of the LORD'S Dwelling on the high place. There Solomon and the assembly consulted the LORD, 6and Solomon offered sacrifice in the LORD'S presence on the bronze altar at the meeting tent; he offered a thousand holocausts upon it.

7That night God appeared to Solomon and said to him, "Make a request of me, and I will grant it to you."

8Solomon answered God: "You have shown great favor to my father David, and you have allowed me to succeed him as king.

9Now, LORD God, may your promise to my father David be fulfilled, for you have made me king over a people as numerous as the dust of the earth.

10Give me, therefore, wisdom and knowledge to lead this people, for otherwise who could rule this great people of yours?"

11God then replied to Solomon: "Since this has been your wish and you have not asked for riches, treasures and glory, nor for the life of those who hate you, nor even for a long life for yourself, but have asked for wisdom and knowledge in order to rule my people over whom I have made you king, ¹²wisdom and knowledge are given you; but I will also give you riches, treasures and glory, such as kings before you never had, nor will those have them who come after you."

¹³Solomon returned to Jerusalem from the high place at Gibeon, from the meeting tent, and became king over Israel.

¹⁴He gathered together chariots and drivers, so that he had one thousand four hundred chariots and twelve thousand drivers he could station in the chariot cities and with the king in Jerusalem.

¹⁵The king made silver and gold as common in Jerusalem as stones, while cedars became as numerous as the sycamores of the foothills.

¹⁶Solomon also imported horses from Egypt and Cilicia. The king's agents would acquire them by purchase from Cilicia, ¹⁷and would then bring up chariots from Egypt and export them at six hundred silver shekels, with the horses going for a hundred and fifty shekels. At these rates they served as middlemen for all the Hittite and Aramean kings.

¹⁸Solomon gave orders for the building of a house to honor the LORD and also of a house for his own royal estate.

2He conscripted seventy thousand men to carry stone and eighty thousand to cut the stone in the mountains, and over these he placed three thousand six hundred overseers.

²Moreover, Solomon sent this message to Hiram, king of Tyre: "As you dealt with my father David, sending him cedars to build a house for his dwelling, so deal with me.

³I intend to build a house for the honor of the LORD, my God, and to consecrate it to him, for the burning of fragrant incense in his presence, for the perpetual display of the showbread, for holocausts morning and evening, and for the sabbaths, new moons, and festivals of the LORD, our God: such is Israel's perpetual obligation.

⁴And the house I intend to build must be large, for our God is greater than all other gods.

⁵Yet who is really able to build him a house, since the heavens and even the highest heavens cannot contain him? And who am I that I should build him a house, unless it be to offer incense in his presence?

⁶Now, send me men skilled at work in gold, silver, bronze and iron, in purple, crimson, and violet fabrics, and who know how to do engraved work, to join the craftsmen who are with me in Judah and Jerusalem, whom my father David appointed.

⁷Also send me boards of cedar, cypress and cabinet wood from Lebanon, for I realize that your servants know how to cut the wood of the Lebanon. My servants will labor with yours

⁸in order to prepare for me a great quantity of wood, since the house I intend to build must be lofty and wonderful.

⁹I will furnish as food for your servants, the hewers who cut the wood, twenty thousand kors of wheat, twenty thousand kors of barley, twenty thousand measures of wine, and twenty thousand measures of oil."

¹⁰Huram, king of Tyre, wrote an answer which he sent to Solomon: "Because the LORD loves his people, he has placed you over them as king."

¹¹He added: "Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, who made heaven and earth, for having given King David a wise son of intelligence and understanding, who will build a house for the LORD and also a house for his royal estate.

¹²I am now sending you a craftsman of great skill, Hiram-abi,

¹³son of a Danite woman and of a father from Tyre; he knows how to work with gold, silver, bronze and iron, with stone and wood, with purple, violet, fine linen and crimson, and also how to do all kinds of engraved work and to devise every type of artistic work that may be given him and your craftsmen and the craftsmen of my lord David your father.

¹⁴And now, let my lord send to his servants the wheat, barley, oil and wine which he has promised.

¹⁵For our part, we will cut trees on Lebanon, as many as you need, and float them down to you at the port of Joppa, whence you may take them up to Jerusalem."

¹⁶Thereupon Solomon took a census of all the alien men who were in the land of Israel (following the census David his father had taken of them), who were found to number one hundred fifty-three thousand six hundred.

¹⁷Of these he made seventy thousand carriers and eighty thousand cutters in the mountains, and three thousand six hundred overseers to keep the people working.

3Then Solomon began to build the house of the LORD in Jerusalem on Mount Moriah, which had been pointed out to his father David, on the spot which David had selected, the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite.

²He began to build in the second month of the fourth year of his reign.

³These were the specifications laid down by Solomon for building the house of God: the length was sixty cubits according to the old measure, and the width was twenty cubits;

⁴the porch which lay before the nave along the width of the house was also twenty cubits, and it was twenty cubits high. He overlaid its interior with pure gold.

⁵The nave he overlaid with cypress wood which he covered with fine gold, embossing on it palms and chains.

⁶He also decorated the building with precious stones.

⁷The house, its beams and thresholds, as well as its walls and its doors, he overlaid with gold, and he engraved cherubim upon the walls. (The gold was from Parvaim.)

⁸He also made the room of the holy of holies. Its length corresponded to the width of the house, twenty cubits, and its width was also twenty cubits. He overlaid it with fine gold to the amount of six hundred talents.

⁹The weight of the nails was fifty gold shekels. The upper chambers he likewise covered with gold.

¹⁰For the room of the holy of holies he made two cherubim of carved workmanship, which were then overlaid with gold.

¹¹The wings of the cherubim spanned twenty cubits:

¹²one wing of each cherub, five cubits in length, extended to a wall of the building, while the other wing, also five cubits in length, touched the corresponding wing of the second cherub.

¹³The combined wingspread of the two cherubim was thus twenty cubits. They stood upon their own feet, facing toward the nave.

¹⁴He made the veil of violet, purple, crimson and fine linen, and had cherubim embroidered upon it.

¹⁵In front of the building he set two columns thirty-five cubits high; the capital topping each was of five cubits.

¹⁶He worked out chains in the form of a collar with which he encircled the capitals of the columns, and he made a hundred pomegranates which he set on the chains.

4 Then he made a bronze altar twenty cubits long, twenty cubits wide and ten cubits high.

²He also made the molten sea. It was perfectly round, ten cubits in diameter, five in depth, and thirty in circumference;

³below the rim a ring of figures of oxen encircled the sea, ten to the cubit, all the way around; there were two rows of these cast in the same mold with the sea.

⁴It rested on twelve oxen, three facing north, three west, three south, and three east, with their haunches all toward the center; the sea rested on their backs.

⁵It was a handbreadth thick, and its brim was made like that of a cup, being lily-shaped. It had a capacity of three thousand measures.

⁶Then he made ten basins for washing, placing five of them to the right and five to the left. Here were cleansed the victims for the holocausts; but the sea was for the priests to wash in.

⁷He made the lampstands of gold, ten of them as was prescribed, and placed them in the nave, five to the right and five to the left.

⁸He made ten tables and had them set in the nave, five to the right and five to the left; and he made a hundred golden bowls.

- ⁹He made the court of the priests and the great courtyard and the gates of the courtyard; the gates he overlaid with bronze.
- ¹⁰The sea was placed off to the southeast from the right side of the temple.
- ¹¹Huram also made the pots, the shovels and the bowls. Huram thus completed the work he had to do for King Solomon in the house of God:
- ¹²two columns, two nodes for the capitals topping these two columns, and two networks covering the nodes of the capitals topping the columns;
- ¹³also four hundred pomegranates for the two networks, with two rows of pomegranates to each network, to cover the two nodes of the capitals topping the columns.
- ¹⁴He made the stands, and the basins on the stands;
- ¹⁵one sea, and the twelve oxen under it;
- ¹⁶likewise the pots, the shovels and the forks. Huram-abi made all these articles for King Solomon from polished bronze for the house of the LORD.
- ¹⁷The king had them cast in the Jordan region, in the clayey ground between Succoth and Zeredah.
- ¹⁸Solomon made all these vessels, so many in number that the weight of the bronze was not ascertained.
- ¹⁹Solomon had all these articles made for the house of God: the golden altar, the tables on which the showbread lay,
- ²⁰the lampstands and their lamps of pure gold which were to burn according to prescription before the sanctuary,
- ²¹flowers, lamps and gold tongs (this was the purest gold),
- ²²snuffers, bowls, cups and firepans of pure gold. As for the entry to the house, its inner doors to the holy of holies, as well as the doors to the nave, were of gold.

5 When all the work undertaken by Solomon for the temple of the LORD had been completed, he brought in the dedicated offerings of his father David, putting the silver, the gold and all the other articles in the treasuries of the house of God.

² At Solomon's order the elders of Israel and all the leaders of the tribes, the princes of the Israelite ancestral houses, came to Jerusalem to bring up the ark of the LORD'S covenant from the City of David (which is Zion).

³ All the men of Israel assembled before the king during the festival of the seventh month.

⁴ When all the elders of Israel had arrived, the Levites took up the ark,

⁵ and they carried the ark and the meeting tent with all the sacred vessels that were in the tent; it was the levitical priests who carried them.

⁶ King Solomon and the entire community of Israel gathered about him before the ark were sacrificing sheep and oxen so numerous that they could not be counted or numbered.

⁷ The priests brought the ark of the covenant of the LORD to its place beneath the wings of the cherubim in the sanctuary, the holy of holies of the temple.

⁸ The cherubim had their wings spread out over the place of the ark, sheltering the ark and its poles from above.

¹⁰ There was nothing in it but the two tablets which Moses put there on Horeb, the tablets of the covenant which the LORD made with the Israelites at their departure from Egypt.

¹¹ When the priests came out of the holy place (all the priests who were present had purified themselves without reference to the rotation of their various classes),

¹³When the trumpeters and singers were heard as a single voice praising and giving thanks to the LORD, and when they raised the sound of the trumpets, cymbals and other musical instruments to "give thanks to the LORD, for he is good, for his mercy endures forever," the building of the LORD'S temple was filled with a cloud.

¹⁴The priests could not continue to minister because of the cloud, since the LORD'S glory filled the house of God.

6 Then Solomon said: "The LORD intends to dwell in the dark cloud.

²I have truly built you a princely house and dwelling, where you may abide forever."

³Turning about, the king greeted the whole community of Israel as they stood.

⁴He said: "Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, who with his own mouth made a promise to my father David and by his own hands brought it to fulfillment. He said:

⁵Since the day I brought my people out of the land of Egypt, I have not chosen any city from among all the tribes of Israel for the building of a temple to my honor, nor have I chosen any man to be commander of my people Israel;

⁶but now I choose Jerusalem, where I shall be honored, and I choose David to rule my people Israel.'

⁷My father David wished to build a temple to the honor of the LORD, the God of Israel, ⁸but the LORD said to him: 'In wishing to build a temple to my honor, you do well.

⁹However, you shall not build the temple; rather, your son whom you will beget shall build the temple to my honor.'

¹⁰"Now the LORD has fulfilled the promise that he made. I have succeeded my father David and have taken my seat on the throne of Israel, as the LORD foretold, and I have built the temple to the honor of the LORD, the God of Israel.

¹¹And I have placed there the ark, in which abides the covenant of the LORD which he made with the Israelites."

¹²Solomon then took his place before the altar of the LORD in the presence of the whole community of Israel and stretched forth his hands.

¹³He had made a bronze platform five cubits long, five cubits wide, and three cubits high, which he had placed in the middle of the courtyard. Having ascended it, Solomon knelt in the presence of the whole of Israel and stretched forth his hands toward heaven.

¹⁴Thus he prayed: "LORD, God of Israel, there is no god like you in heaven or on earth; you keep your covenant and show kindness to your servants who are wholeheartedly faithful to you.

¹⁵You have kept the promise you made to my father David, your servant. With your own mouth you spoke it, and by your own hand you have brought it to fulfillment this day.

¹⁶Now, therefore, LORD, God of Israel, keep the further promise you made to my father David, your servant, when you said, 'You shall always have someone from your line to sit before me on the throne of Israel, provided only that your descendants look to their conduct so as always to live according to my law, even as you have lived in my presence.'

¹⁷Now, LORD, God of Israel, may this promise which you made to your servant David be confirmed.

¹⁸"Can it indeed be that God dwells with mankind on earth? If the heavens and the highest heavens cannot contain you, how much less this temple which I have built!

¹⁹Look kindly on the prayer and petition of your servant, O LORD, my God, and listen to the cry of supplication your servant makes before you.

²⁰May your eyes watch day and night over this temple, the place where you have decreed you shall be honored; may you heed the prayer which I your servant offer toward this place.

²¹Listen to the petitions of your servant and of your people Israel which they direct toward this place. Listen from your heavenly dwelling, and when you have heard, pardon.

²²"When any man sins against his neighbor and is required to take an oath of execration against himself, and when he comes for the oath before your altar in this temple,

²³listen from heaven: take action and pass judgment on your servants, requiting the wicked man and holding him responsible for his conduct, but absolving the innocent and rewarding him according to his virtue.

²⁴When your people Israel have sinned against you and are defeated by the enemy, but afterward they return and praise your name, and they pray to you and entreat you in this temple,

²⁵listen from heaven and forgive the sin of your people Israel, and bring them back to the land which you gave them and their fathers.

²⁶When the sky is closed so that there is no rain, because they have sinned against you, but then they pray toward this place and praise your name, and they withdraw from sin because you afflict them,

²⁷listen in heaven and forgive the sin of your servants and of your people Israel. But teach them the right way to live, and send rain upon your land which you gave your people as their heritage.

²⁸When there is famine in the land, when there is pestilence, or blight, or mildew, or locusts, or caterpillars; when their enemies besiege them at any of their gates; whenever there is a plague or sickness of any kind;

²⁹when any Israelite of all your people offers a prayer or petition of any kind, and in awareness of his affliction and pain, stretches out his hands toward this temple,

³⁰listen from your heavenly dwelling place, and forgive. Knowing his heart, render to everyone according to his conduct, for you alone know the hearts of men.

³¹So may they fear you and walk in your ways as long as they live on the land you gave our fathers.

³²"For the foreigner, too, who is not of your people Israel, when he comes from a distant land to honor your great name, your mighty power, and your outstretched arm, when they come in prayer to this temple,

³³listen from your heavenly dwelling place, and do whatever the foreigner entreats you, that all the peoples of the earth may know your name, fearing you as do your people Israel, and knowing that this house which I have built is dedicated to your honor.

³⁴"When your people go forth to war against their enemies, wherever you send them, and pray to you in the direction of this city and of the house I have built to your honor, ³⁵listen from heaven to their prayer and petition, and defend their cause.

³⁶When they sin against you (for there is no man who does not sin), and in your anger against them you deliver them to the enemy, so that their captors deport them to another land, far or near,

³⁷when they repent in the land where they are captive and are converted, when they entreat you in the land of their captivity and say, 'We have sinned and done wrong; we have been wicked,'

³⁸and with their whole heart and with their whole soul they turn back to you in the land of those who hold them captive, when they pray in the direction of their land which you gave their fathers, and of the city you have chosen, and of the house which I have built to your honor, ³⁹listen from your heavenly dwelling place, hear their prayer and petitions, and uphold their cause. Forgive your people who have sinned against you.

⁴⁰My God, may your eyes be open and your ears attentive to the prayer of this place.

⁴¹And now, "Advance, LORD God, to your resting place, you and the ark of your majesty. May your priests, LORD God, be clothed with salvation, may your faithful ones rejoice in good things.

⁴²LORD God, reject not the plea of your anointed, remember the devotion of David, your servant."

7 When Solomon had ended his prayer, fire came down from heaven and consumed the holocaust and the sacrifices, and the glory of the LORD filled the house.

²But the priests could not enter the house of the LORD, for the glory of the LORD had filled the house of the LORD.

³All the Israelites looked on while the fire came down and the glory of the LORD was upon the house, and they fell down upon the pavement with their faces to the earth and adored, praising the LORD, "for he is good, for his mercy endures forever."

⁴The king and all the people were offering sacrifices before the LORD.

⁵King Solomon offered as sacrifice twenty-two thousand oxen, and one hundred twenty thousand sheep.

⁶Thus the king and all the people dedicated the house of God. The priests were standing at their stations, as were the Levites, with the musical instruments of the LORD which King David had made for "praising the LORD, for his mercy endures forever," when David used them to accompany the hymns. Across from them the priests blew the trumpets and all Israel stood.

⁷Then Solomon consecrated the middle part of the court which lay before the house of the LORD; there he offered the holocausts and the fat of the peace offerings, since the bronze altar which Solomon had made could not hold the holocausts, the cereal offerings and the fat.

⁸On this occasion Solomon and with him all Israel, who had assembled in very large numbers from Labo of Hamath to the Wadi of Egypt, celebrated the festival for seven days.

⁹On the eighth day they held a special meeting, for they had celebrated the dedication of the altar for seven days and the feast for seven days.

¹⁰On the twenty-third day of the seventh month he sent the people back to their tents, rejoicing and glad at heart at the good things the LORD had done for David, for Solomon, and for his people Israel.

¹¹Solomon completed the house of the LORD and the royal palace; he successfully accomplished everything he had planned to do in regard to the house of the LORD and his own house.

¹²The LORD appeared to Solomon during the night and said to him: "I have heard your prayer, and I have chosen this place for my house of sacrifice.

¹³If I close heaven so that there is no rain, if I command the locust to devour the land, if I send pestilence among my people,

¹⁴and if my people, upon whom my name has been pronounced, humble themselves and pray, and seek my presence and turn from their evil ways, I will hear them from heaven and pardon their sins and revive their land.

¹⁵Now my eyes shall be open and my ears attentive to the prayer of this place.

¹⁶And now I have chosen and consecrated this house that my name may be there forever; my eyes and my heart also shall be there always.

¹⁷"As for you, if you live in my presence as your father David did, doing all that I have commanded you and keeping my statutes and ordinances,

¹⁸I will establish your royal throne as I covenanted with your father David when I said, 'There shall never be lacking someone of yours as ruler in Israel.'

¹⁹But if you turn away and forsake my statutes and commands which I placed before you, if you proceed to venerate and worship strange gods,

²⁰then I will uproot the people from the land I gave them; I will cast from my sight this house which I have consecrated to my honor, and I will make it a proverb and a byword among all peoples.

²¹This temple which is so exalted--everyone passing by it will be amazed and ask: 'Why has the LORD done this to this land and to this house?'

²²And men will answer: 'They forsook the LORD, the God of their fathers, who brought them out of the land of Egypt, and they adopted strange gods and worshiped them and served them. That is why he has brought down upon them all this evil.'

8 After the twenty years during which Solomon built the house of the LORD and his own house, ²he built up the cities which Hiram had given him, and settled Israelites there.

³Then Solomon went to Hamath of Zoba and conquered it.

⁴He built Tadmor in the desert region and all the supply cities, which he built in Hamath.

⁵He built Upper Beth-horon and Lower Beth-horon, fortified cities with walls, gates and bars;

⁶also Baalath, all the supply cities belonging to Solomon, and all the cities for the chariots, the cities for the horsemen, and whatever else Solomon decided should be built in Jerusalem, in the Lebanon, and in the entire land under his dominion.

⁷All the people that remained of the Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites, who were not of Israel--

⁸that is, their descendants remaining in the land, whom the Israelites had not destroyed--Solomon subjected to forced labor, as they continue to this day.

⁹But Solomon did not enslave the Israelites for his works. They became soldiers, commanders of his warriors, and commanders of his chariots and his horsemen.

¹⁰They were also King Solomon's two hundred and fifty overseers who had charge of the people.

¹¹Solomon brought the daughter of Pharaoh up from the City of David to the palace which he had built for her, for he said, "No wife of mine shall dwell in the house of David, king of Israel, for the places where the ark of the LORD has come are holy."

¹²In those times Solomon offered holocausts to the LORD upon the altar of the LORD which he had built in front of the porch,

¹³as was required day by day according to the command of Moses, and in particular on the sabbaths, at the new moons, and on the fixed festivals three times a year: on the feast of the Unleavened Bread, the feast of Weeks and the feast of Booths.

¹⁴And according to the ordinance of his father David he appointed the various classes of the priests for their service, and the Levites according to their functions of praise and ministry alongside the priests, as the daily duty required. The gatekeepers of the various classes stood guard at each gate, since such was the command of David, the man of God.

¹⁵There was no deviation from the king's command in any respect relating to the priests and Levites or the treasuries.

¹⁶All of Solomon's work was carried out successfully from the day the foundation of the house of the LORD was laid until the house of the LORD had been completed in every detail.

¹⁷In those times Solomon went to Ezion-geber and to Elath on the seashore of the land of Edom.

¹⁸Huram, through his servants, sent him ships and crewmen acquainted with the sea, who accompanied Solomon's servants to Ophir and brought back from there four hundred and fifty talents of gold to King Solomon.

9When the queen of Sheba heard of Solomon's fame, she came to Jerusalem to test him with subtle questions, accompanied by a very numerous retinue and by camels bearing spices, much gold, and precious stones. She came to Solomon and questioned him on every subject in which she was interested.

²Solomon explained to her everything she asked about, and there remained nothing hidden from Solomon that he could not explain to her.

³When the queen of Sheba witnessed Solomon's wisdom, the palace he had built,

⁴the food at his table, the seating of his ministers, the attendance of his servants and their dress, his cupbearers and their dress, and the holocausts he offered in the house of the LORD, it took her breath away.

⁵"The account I heard in my country about your deeds and your wisdom is true," she told the king.

⁶"Yet I did not believe the report until I came and saw with my own eyes. I have discovered that they did not tell me the half of your great wisdom; you have surpassed the stories I heard.

⁷Happy are your men, happy these servants of yours, who stand before you always and listen to your wisdom.

⁸Blessed be the LORD, your God, who has been so pleased with you as to place you on his throne as king for the LORD, your God. Because your God has so loved Israel as to will to make it last forever, he has appointed you over them as king to administer right and justice."

¹⁰The servants of Hiram and of Solomon who brought gold from Ophir also brought cabinet wood and precious stones.

¹¹With the cabinet wood the king made stairs for the temple of the LORD and the palace of the king; also lyres and harps for the chanters. The like of these had not been seen before in the land of Judah.

¹²King Solomon gave the queen of Sheba everything she desired and asked him for, more than she had brought to the king. Then she returned to her own country with her servants.

¹³The gold that Solomon received each year weighed six hundred and sixty-six gold talents,

¹⁴in addition to what was collected from travelers and what the merchants brought. All the kings of Arabia also, and the governors of the country, brought gold and silver to Solomon.

¹⁵Moreover, King Solomon made two hundred large shields of beaten gold, six hundred shekels of beaten gold going into each shield,

¹⁶and three hundred bucklers of beaten gold, three hundred shekels of gold going into each buckler; these the king put in the hall of the Forest of Lebanon.

¹⁷King Solomon also made a large ivory throne which he overlaid with fine gold.

¹⁸The throne had six steps; a footstool of gold was fastened to it, and there was an arm on each side of the seat, with two lions standing beside the arms.

¹⁹Twelve other lions also stood there, one on either side of each step. Nothing like this had ever been produced in any other kingdom.

²⁰Furthermore, all of King Solomon's drinking vessels were of gold, and all the utensils in the hall of the Forest of Lebanon were of pure gold; silver was not considered of value in Solomon's time.

²¹For the king had ships that went to Tarshish with the servants of Hiram. Once every three years the fleet of Tarshish would return with a cargo of gold and silver, ivory, apes and monkeys.

²²Thus King Solomon surpassed all the other kings of the earth in riches as well as in wisdom.

²³All the kings of the earth sought audience with Solomon, to hear from him the wisdom which God had put in his heart.

²⁴Year in and year out, each one would bring his tribute-silver and gold articles, garments, weapons, spices, horses and mules.

²⁵Solomon also had four thousand stalls of horses, chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen, which he assigned to the chariot cities and to the king in Jerusalem.

²⁶He was ruler over all the kings from the River to the land of the Philistines and down to the border of Egypt.

²⁷The king made silver as common in Jerusalem as stones, while cedars became as numerous as the sycamores of the foothills.

²⁸Horses were imported for Solomon from Egypt and from all the lands.

²⁹The rest of the acts of Solomon, first and last, are written, as is well known, in the acts of Nathan the prophet, in the prophecy of Ahijah the Shilonite, and in the visions of Iddo the seer which concern Jeroboam, son of Nebat.

³⁰Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel for forty years.

³¹He rested with his ancestors; he was buried in his father's City of David, and his son Rehoboam succeeded him as king.

10 Rehoboam went to Shechem, for all Israel had come to Shechem to proclaim him king.

²When Jeroboam, son of Nebat, heard of this in Egypt where he had fled from King Solomon, he returned from Egypt.

³Jeroboam was summoned to the assembly, and he and all Israel said to Rehoboam:

⁴"Your father laid a heavy yoke upon us. If you now lighten the harsh service and the heavy yoke that your father imposed on us, we will serve you."

⁵"In three days," he answered them, "come back to me." When the people had departed,

⁶King Rehoboam consulted the elders who had been in the service of his father during Solomon's lifetime, asking, "What answer do you advise me to give this people?"

⁷They replied, "If you will deal kindly with this people and give in to them, acceding to their request, they will be your servants forever."

⁸But he ignored the advice the elders had given him and consulted the young men who had grown up with him and were in his service.

⁹He said to them, "What answer do you advise me to give this people, who have asked me to lighten the yoke my father imposed on them?"

¹⁰The young men who had grown up with him replied: "This is the answer you should give to this people who have said to you, 'Your father laid a heavy yoke upon us, but do you lighten our yoke'; this you should say to them: 'My little finger is thicker than my father's body.

¹¹Whereas my father put a heavy yoke on you, I will make it heavier! My father beat you with whips, but I will beat you with scorpions!"

¹²On the third day, Jeroboam and all the people came back to King Rehoboam as he had instructed them to do.

¹³Ignoring the advice the elders had given him, the king gave them a harsh answer,

¹⁴speaking to them according to the advice of the young men: "My father laid a heavy yoke on you, but I will make it heavier. My father beat you with whips, but I will beat you with scorpions."

¹⁵The king would not listen to the people, for this turn of events was divinely ordained to fulfill the prophecy the LORD had uttered to Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, through Ahijah the Shilonite.

¹⁶When all Israel saw that the king would not listen to them, the people answered the king. "What share have we in David? We have no heritage in the son of Jesse. Everyone to your tents, O Israel! Now look to your own house, David!" So all Israel went off to their tents.

¹⁷Rehoboam, therefore, reigned over only those Israelites who lived in the cities of Judah.

¹⁸King Rehoboam then sent out Hadoram, who was superintendent of the forced labor, but the Israelites stoned him to death. Rehoboam himself managed to mount his chariot and flee to Jerusalem.

¹⁹Thus Israel has been in rebellion against David's house to this day.

11 On his arrival in Jerusalem Rehoboam gathered together the house of Judah and Benjamin, a hundred and eighty thousand seasoned warriors, to have them fight against Israel and restore the kingdom to him.

²However, the word of the LORD came to Shemaiah, a man of God:

³"Say to Rehoboam, son of Solomon, king of Judah, and to all the Israelites in Judah and Benjamin:

⁴"Thus says the LORD: You must not march out to fight against your brothers. Let every man return home, for what has occurred I have brought about." They obeyed this message of the LORD and gave up the expedition against Jeroboam.

⁵Rehoboam took up residence in Jerusalem and built fortified cities in Judah.

⁶He built up Bethlehem, Etam, Tekoa,

⁷Beth-zur, Soco, Adullam,

⁸Gath, Mareshah, Ziph,

⁹Adoraim, Lachish, Azekah,

¹⁰Zorah, Aijalon, and Hebron; these were fortified cities in Judah and Benjamin.

¹¹Then he strengthened the fortifications and put commanders in them, with supplies of food, oil and wine.

¹²In every city were shields and spears, and he made them very strong. Thus Judah and Benjamin remained his.

¹³Now the priests and Levites throughout Israel presented themselves to him from all parts of their land, ¹⁴for the Levites left their assigned pasture lands and their holdings and came to Judah and Jerusalem, because Jeroboam and his sons repudiated them as priests of the LORD.

¹⁵In their place, he himself appointed priests for the high places and satyrs and calves he had made.

¹⁶After them, all those of the Israelite tribes who firmly desired to seek the LORD, the God of Israel, came to Jerusalem to sacrifice to the LORD, the God of their fathers.

¹⁷Thus they strengthened the kingdom of Judah and made Rehoboam, son of Solomon, prevail for three years; for they walked in the way of David and Solomon three years.

¹⁸Rehoboam took to himself as wife Mahalath, daughter of Jerimoth, son of David and of Abihail, daughter of Eliab, son of Jesse.

¹⁹She bore him sons: Jehush, Shemariah and Zaham.

²⁰After her, he married Maacah, daughter of Absalom, who bore him Abijah, Attai, Ziza and Shelomith.

²¹Rehoboam loved Maacah, daughter of Absalom, more than all his other wives and concubines; he had taken eighteen wives and sixty concubines, and he fathered twenty-eight sons and sixty daughters.

²²Rehoboam constituted Abijah, son of Maacah, commander among his brothers, for he intended to make him king.

²³He acted prudently, distributing various of his sons throughout all the districts of Judah and Benjamin, in all the fortified cities; and he furnished them with copious provisions and sought an abundance of wives for them.

12 After Rehoboam had consolidated his rule and had become powerful, he abandoned the law of the LORD, he and all Israel with him.

²Thus it happened that in the fifth year of King Rehoboam, Shishak, king of Egypt, attacked Jerusalem, for they had been unfaithful to the LORD.

³He came up with twelve hundred chariots and sixty thousand horsemen, and there was no counting the army that came with him from Egypt--Libyans, Sukkites and Ethiopians.

⁴They captured the fortified cities of Judah and came as far as Jerusalem.

⁵Then Shemaiah the prophet came to Rehoboam and the commanders of Judah who had gathered at Jerusalem because of Shishak, and said to them: "Thus says the LORD: 'You have abandoned me, and therefore I have abandoned you to the power of Shishak.'"

⁶However, the commanders of Israel and the king humbled themselves saying, "The LORD is just."

⁷When the LORD saw that they had humbled themselves, the word of the LORD came to Shemaiah: "Because they have humbled themselves, I will not destroy them;

I will give them some deliverance, and my wrath shall not be poured out upon Jerusalem through Shishak.

⁸But they shall be his servants, that they may know what it is to serve me and what it is to serve earthly kingdoms."

⁹Therefore Shishak, king of Egypt, attacked Jerusalem and carried off the treasures of the temple of the LORD and of the king's palace. He took everything, including the gold bucklers that Solomon had made.

¹⁰(To replace them, King Rehoboam made bronze bucklers, which he entrusted to the officers of the guard on duty at the entrance of the royal palace.

¹¹Whenever the king visited the temple of the LORD, the troops would come bearing them, and then they would return them to the guardroom.)

¹²Because he had humbled himself, the anger of the LORD turned from him so that it did not destroy him completely; and in Judah, moreover, good deeds were found.

¹³King Rehoboam consolidated his power in Jerusalem and continued to rule; he was forty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city in which, out of all the tribes of Israel, the LORD chose to be honored. Rehoboam's mother was named Naamah, an Ammonite.

¹⁴He did evil, for he had not truly resolved to seek the LORD.

¹⁵The acts of Rehoboam, first and last, are written, as is well known, in the history of Shemaiah the prophet and of Iddo the seer (his family record). There was war continually between Rehoboam and Jeroboam.

¹⁶Rehoboam rested with his ancestors; he was buried in the City of David. His son Abijah succeeded him as king.

13

In the eighteenth year of King Jeroboam, Abijah became king of Judah;

²he reigned three years in Jerusalem. His mother was named Michaiah, daughter of Uriel of Gibeah. There was war between Abijah and Jeroboam.

³Abijah joined battle with a force of four hundred thousand picked warriors, while Jeroboam lined up against him in battle with eight hundred thousand picked and valiant warriors.

⁴Abijah stood on Mount Zemariam, which is in the highlands of Ephraim, and said: "Listen to me, Jeroboam and all Israel!

⁵Do you not know that the LORD, the God of Israel, has given the kingdom of Israel to David forever, to him and to his sons, by a covenant made in salt?

⁶Yet Jeroboam, son of Nebat, the servant of Solomon, son of David, has stood up and rebelled against his lord!

⁷Worthless men, scoundrels, joined him and overcame Rehoboam, son of Solomon, when Rehoboam was young and unthinking, and no match for them.

⁸But now, do you think you are a match for the kingdom of the LORD commanded by the sons of David, simply because you are a huge multitude and have with you the golden calves which Jeroboam made you for gods?

⁹"Have you not expelled the priests of the LORD, the sons of Aaron, and the Levites, and made for yourselves priests like the peoples of foreign lands? Everyone who comes to consecrate himself with a young bull and seven rams becomes a priest of no-gods.

¹⁰But as for us, the LORD is our God, and we have not forsaken him. The priests ministering to the LORD are sons of Aaron, and the Levites also have their offices.

¹¹They burn holocausts to the LORD and fragrant incense morning after morning and evening after evening; they display the showbread on the pure table, and the lamps of the golden lampstand burn evening after evening; for we observe our duties to the LORD, our God, but you have abandoned him.

¹²See, God is with us, at our head, and his priests are here with trumpets to sound the attack against you. Do not battle against the LORD, the God of your fathers, O Israelites, for you will not succeed!"

¹³But Jeroboam had an ambush go around them to come at them from the rear; so that while his army faced Judah, his ambush lay behind them.

¹⁴When Judah turned and saw that they had to battle on both fronts, they cried out to the LORD and the priests sounded the trumpets.

¹⁵Then the men of Judah shouted; and when they did so, God defeated Jeroboam and all Israel before Abijah and Judah.

¹⁶The Israelites fled before Judah, and God delivered them into their hands.

¹⁷Abijah and his people inflicted a severe defeat upon them; five hundred thousand picked men of Israel fell slain.

¹⁸The Israelites were subdued on that occasion and the Judahites were victorious because they relied on the LORD, the God of their fathers.

¹⁹Abijah pursued Jeroboam and took cities from him: Bethel and its dependencies, Jeshanah and its dependencies, and Ephron and its dependencies.

²⁰Jeroboam did not regain power during the time of Abijah; the LORD struck him down and he died, ²¹while Abijah continued to grow stronger. He took to himself fourteen wives and fathered twenty-two sons and sixteen daughters.

²²The rest of Abijah's acts, his deeds and his words, are written in the midrash of the prophet Iddo.

²³Abijah rested with his ancestors; they buried him in the City of David. His son Asa succeeded him as king. During his time, ten years of peace began in the land.

14 Asa did what was good and pleasing to the LORD, his God,

²removing the heathen altars and the high places, breaking to pieces the sacred pillars, and cutting down the sacred poles.

³He commanded Judah to seek the LORD, the God of their fathers, and to observe the law and its commands.

⁴He removed the high places and incense stands from all the cities of Judah, and under him the kingdom had peace.

⁵He built fortified cities in Judah, for the land had peace and no war was waged against him during these years, because the LORD had given him peace.

⁶He said to Judah: "Let us build these cities and surround them with walls, towers, gates and bars. The land is still ours, for we have sought the LORD, our God; we sought him, and he has given us rest on every side." So they built and prospered.

⁷Asa had an army of three hundred thousand shield-and lance-bearers from Judah, and two hundred and eighty thousand from Benjamin who carried bucklers and were archers, all of them valiant warriors.

⁸Zerah the Ethiopian moved against them with a force of one million men and three hundred chariots, and he came as far as Mareshah.

⁹Asa went out to meet him and set himself in battle array in the valley of Zephathah, near Mareshah.

¹⁰Asa called upon the LORD, his God, praying: "O LORD, there is none like you to help the powerless against the strong. Help us, O LORD, our God, for we rely on you, and in your name we have come against this multitude. You are the LORD, our God; let no man prevail against you."

¹¹And so the LORD defeated the Ethiopians before Asa and Judah, and they fled.

¹²Asa and those with him pursued them as far as Gerar, and the Ethiopians fell until there were no survivors, for they were crushed before the LORD and his army, which carried away enormous spoils.

¹³Then the Judahites conquered all the cities around Gerar, for the fear of the LORD was upon them; they despoiled all the cities, for there was much booty in them.

¹⁴They attacked also the tents of the cattle-herders and carried off a great number of sheep and camels. Then they returned to Jerusalem.

15 Upon Azariah, son of Oded, came the spirit of God.

²He went forth to meet Asa and said to him: "Hear me, Asa and all Judah and Benjamin! The LORD is with you when you are with him, and if you seek him he will be present to you; but if you abandon him, he will abandon you.

³For a long time Israel had no true God, no priest-teacher and no law,

⁴but when in their distress they turned to the LORD, the God of Israel, and sought him, he was present to them.

⁵In that former time there was no peace for anyone to go or come, but there were many terrors upon the inhabitants of the lands.

⁶Nation crushed nation and city crushed city, for God destroyed them by every kind of adversity.

⁷But as for you, be strong and do not relax, for your work shall be rewarded."

⁸When Asa heard these words and the prophecy (Oded the prophet), he was encouraged to remove the detestable idols from the whole land of Judah and Benjamin and from the cities he had taken in the highlands of Ephraim, and to restore the altar of the LORD which was before the vestibule of the LORD.

⁹Then he convened all Judah and Benjamin, together with those of Ephraim, Manasseh and Simeon who sojourned with them; for many had fled to him from Israel when they saw that the LORD, his God, was with him.

¹⁰They gathered at Jerusalem in the third month of the fifteenth year of Asa's reign,

¹¹and sacrificed to the LORD at that time seven hundred oxen and seven thousand sheep of the booty they had brought.

¹²They entered into a covenant to seek the LORD, the God of their fathers, with all their heart and soul;

¹³and everyone who would not seek the LORD, the God of Israel, was to be put to death, whether small or great, whether man or woman.

¹⁴They swore to the LORD with a loud voice, with shouting and with trumpets and horns.

¹⁵All Judah rejoiced over the oath, for they had sworn with their whole heart and sought him with complete desire, so that he was present to them. And the LORD gave them rest on every side.

¹⁶Maacah, the mother of King Asa, he deposed as queen mother because she had made an outrageous object for Asherah; Asa cut this down, smashed it, and burnt it in the Kidron Valley.

¹⁷Although the high places did not disappear from Israel, yet Asa's heart was undivided as long as he lived.

¹⁸He brought into the house of God his father's votive offerings and his own: silver, gold, and various utensils.

¹⁹There was no war until the thirty-fifth year of Asa's reign.

16 In the thirty-sixth year of Asa's reign, Baasha, king of Israel, attacked Judah and fortified Ramah to prevent any communication with Asa, king of Judah.

²Asa then brought out silver and gold from the treasuries of the temple of the LORD and of the royal palace and sent them to Ben-hadad, king of Aram, who lived in Damascus, with this message:

³"There is a treaty between you and me, as there was between your father and my father. See, I am sending you silver and gold. Go, break your treaty with Baasha, king of Israel, that he may withdraw from me."

⁴Ben-hadad agreed to King Asa's request and sent the leaders of his troops against the cities of Israel. They attacked Ijon, Dan, Abel-maim, and all the store cities of Naphtali.

⁵When Baasha heard of it, he left off fortifying Ramah; he stopped his work.

⁶Then King Asa commandeered all of Judah to carry away the stone and wood with which Baasha had been fortifying Ramah, and with them he fortified Geba and Mizpah.

⁷At that time Hanani the seer came to Asa, king of Judah, and said to him: "Because you relied on the king of Aram and did not rely on the LORD, your God, the army of the king of Aram has escaped your hand.

⁸Were not the Ethiopians and Libyans a vast army, with great numbers of chariots and drivers? And yet, because you relied on the LORD, he delivered them into your power.

⁹The eyes of the LORD roam over the whole earth, to encourage those who are devoted to him wholeheartedly. You have acted foolishly in this matter, for from now on you will have wars."

¹⁰But Asa became angry with the seer and imprisoned him in the stocks, so greatly was he enraged at him over this. Asa also oppressed some of his people at this time.

¹¹Now the acts of Asa, first and last, can be found recorded in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel.

¹²In the thirty-ninth year of his reign, Asa contracted a serious disease in his feet. But even in his sickness he did not seek the LORD, but only the physicians.

¹³Asa rested with his ancestors; he died in the forty-first year of his reign.

¹⁴They buried him in the tomb he had hewn for himself in the City of David, having laid him upon a couch which was filled with spices and various kinds of aromatics compounded into an ointment. They also burned a very great funeral pyre for him.

17 His son Jehoshaphat succeeded him as king and strengthened his hold against Israel.

²He placed armed forces in all the fortified cities of Judah, and put garrisons in the land of Judah and in the cities of Ephraim which his father Asa had taken.

³The LORD was with Jehoshaphat, for he walked in the ways his father had pursued in the beginning, and he did not consult the Baals.

⁴Rather, he sought the God of his father and observed his commands, and not the practices of Israel.

⁵As a result, the LORD made his kingdom secure, and all Judah gave Jehoshaphat gifts, so that he enjoyed great wealth and glory.

⁶Thus he was encouraged to follow the LORD'S ways, and again he removed the high places and the sacred poles from Judah.

⁷In the third year of his reign he sent his leading men, Ben-hail, Obadiah, Zechariah, Nethanel and Micaiah, to teach in the cities of Judah.

⁸With them he sent the Levites Shemaiah, Nethaniah, Zebadiah, Asahel, Shemiramoth, Jehonathan, Adonijah and Tobijah, together with the priests Elishama and Jehoram.

⁹They taught in Judah, having with them the book containing the law of the LORD; they traveled through all the cities of Judah and taught among the people.

¹⁰Now the fear of the LORD was upon all the kingdoms of the countries surrounding Judah, so that they did not war against Jehoshaphat.

¹¹Some of the Philistines brought Jehoshaphat gifts and a tribute of silver; and the Arabs also brought him a flock of seven thousand seven hundred rams and seven thousand seven hundred he-goats.

¹²Jehoshaphat grew steadily greater. He built strongholds and store cities in Judah.

¹³He carried out many works in the cities of Judah, and he had soldiers, valiant warriors, in Jerusalem.

¹⁴This was their mustering according to their ancestral houses. Of Judah, the commanders of thousands: Adnah the commander, and with him three hundred thousand valiant warriors.

¹⁵Next to him, Jehohanan the commander, and with him two hundred eighty thousand.

¹⁶Next to him, Amasiah, son of Zichri, who offered himself to the LORD, and with him two hundred thousand valiant warriors.

¹⁷From Benjamin: Eliada, a valiant warrior, and with him two hundred thousand armed with bow and buckler.

¹⁸Next to him, Jozabad, and with him one hundred and eighty thousand equipped for war.

¹⁹These were at the service of the king; in addition were those whom the king had placed in the fortified cities throughout all Judah.

18 Jehoshaphat therefore had wealth and glory in abundance; but he became related to Ahab by marriage.

²After some years he went down to Ahab at Samaria; Ahab offered numerous sheep and oxen for him and the people with him, and persuaded him to go up against Ramoth-gilead.

³Ahab, king of Israel, asked Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, "Will you come with me to Ramoth-gilead?" "You and I are as one," was his answer; "your people and my people as well. We will be with you in the battle."

⁴But Jehoshaphat also said to the king of Israel, "Seek the word of the LORD at once."

⁵The king of Israel gathered his prophets, four hundred in number, and asked them, "Shall we go to attack Ramoth-gilead, or shall I refrain?" "Go up," they answered. "God will deliver it over to the king."

⁶But Jehoshaphat said, "Is there no other prophet of the LORD here whom we may consult?"

⁷The king of Israel answered Jehoshaphat, "There is still another through whom we may consult the LORD, but I hate him, for he prophesies not good but always evil about me. That is Micaiah, son of Imlah." Jehoshaphat said, "Let not your Majesty speak of evil against you."

⁸So the king of Israel called an official, to whom he said, "Get Micaiah, son of Imlah, at once."

⁹The king of Israel and King Jehoshaphat of Judah were seated each on his throne, clothed in their robes of state on a threshing floor at the entrance of the gate of Samaria, and all the prophets were prophesying before them.

¹⁰Zedekiah, son of Chenaanah, made iron horns for himself and said: "The LORD says, 'With these you shall gore Aram until you have destroyed them.'"

¹¹The other prophets prophesied in the same vein, saying: "Go up to Ramoth-gilead. You shall succeed; the LORD will deliver it over to the king."

¹²The messenger who had gone to call Micaiah said to him: "Look now, the prophets unanimously predict good for the king. Let your word, like each of theirs, predict good."

¹³"As the LORD lives," Micaiah answered, "I will say what my God tells me."

¹⁴When he came to the king, the king said to him, "Micaiah, shall we go to fight against Ramoth-gilead, or shall I refrain?" "Go up," he answered, "and succeed; they will be delivered into your power."

¹⁵But the king said to him, "How many times must I adjure you to tell me nothing but the truth in the name of the LORD?"

¹⁶Then Micaiah answered: "I see all Israel scattered on the mountains, like sheep without a shepherd, and the LORD saying, 'These have no master!' Let each of them go back home in peace."

¹⁷The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "Did I not tell you that he prophesies no good about me, but only evil?"

¹⁸But Micaiah continued: "Therefore hear the word of the LORD: I saw the LORD seated on his throne, with the whole host of heaven standing by to his right and to his left.

¹⁹The LORD asked, 'Who will deceive Ahab, king of Israel, so that he will go up and fall at Ramoth-gilead?' And one said this, another that,

²⁰until a spirit came forward and presented himself to the LORD, saying, 'I will deceive him.' The LORD asked, 'How?'

²¹He answered, 'I will go forth and become a lying spirit in the mouths of all his prophets.' The LORD agreed: 'You shall succeed in deceiving him. Go forth and do this.'

²²So now the LORD has put a lying spirit in the mouths of these your prophets, but the LORD himself has decreed evil against you."

²³Thereupon Zedekiah, son of Chenaanah, came up and slapped Micaiah on the cheek, saying, "Which way did the spirit of the LORD go when he left me to speak to you?"

²⁴"You shall find out," Micaiah replied, "on that day when you enter an innermost chamber to hide."

²⁵The king of Israel then said: "Seize Micaiah and take him back to Amon, prefect of the city, and to Joash the king's son,

²⁶and say, 'This is the king's order: Put this man in prison and feed him scanty rations of bread and water until I return in safety!'"

²⁷But Micaiah said, "If ever you return in safety, the LORD has not spoken through me." And he said, "Hear, O peoples, all of you!"

²⁸The king of Israel and King Jehoshaphat of Judah went up to Ramoth-gilead

²⁹and the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "I will go into battle disguised, but you put on your own clothes." So the king of Israel disguised himself and they entered the fray.

³⁰Meanwhile, the king of Aram had given his chariot commanders the order, "Fight with no one, small or great, except the king of Israel."

³¹When the commanders saw Jehoshaphat, they exclaimed, "That must be the king of Israel!" and shifted to fight him. But Jehoshaphat cried out and the LORD helped him; God induced them to leave him.

³²The chariot commanders became aware that he was not the king of Israel and gave up their pursuit of him.

³³Someone, however, drew his bow at random and hit the king of Israel between the joints of his breastplate. He ordered his charioteer, "Rein about and take me out of the ranks, for I am disabled."

³⁴The battle grew fierce during the day, and the king of Israel braced himself up on his chariot facing the Arameans until evening. He died as the sun was setting.

19 King Jehoshaphat of Judah returned in safety to his house in Jerusalem.

²Jehu the seer, son of Hanani, met King Jehoshaphat and said to him: "Should you help the wicked and love those who hate the LORD? For this reason, wrath is upon you from the LORD."

³Yet some good things are to be found in you, since you have removed the sacred poles from the land and have been determined to seek God."

⁴Jehoshaphat dwelt in Jerusalem; but he went out again among the people from Beer-sheba to the highlands of Ephraim and brought them back to the LORD, the God of their fathers.

⁵He appointed judges in the land, in all the fortified cities of Judah, city by city,

⁶and he said to them: "Take care what you do, for you are judging, not on behalf of man, but on behalf of the LORD; he judges with you."

⁷And now, let the fear of the LORD be upon you. Act carefully, for with the LORD, our God there is no injustice, no partiality, no bribe-taking."

⁸In Jerusalem also, Jehoshaphat appointed some Levites and priests and some of the family heads of Israel to judge in the name of the LORD and to settle quarrels among the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

⁹He gave them this command: "You shall act faithfully and wholeheartedly in the fear of the LORD.

¹⁰And in every dispute that your brethren living in their cities bring to you, whether it concerns bloodguilt or questions of law, command, statutes, or judgments, warn them lest they become guilty before the LORD and his wrath come upon you and your brethren. Do that and you shall be guiltless.

¹¹See now, Amariah is high priest over you in everything that pertains to the LORD, and Zebadiah, son of Ishmael, is leader of the house of Judah in all that pertains to the king; and the Levites will be your officials. Act firmly, and the LORD will be with the good."

20 After this the Moabites, the Ammonites, and with them some Meunites came to fight against Jehoshaphat.

²The message was brought to Jehoshaphat: "A great multitude is coming against you from across the sea, from Edom; they are already in Hazazon-tamar" (which is Engedi).

³Jehoshaphat was frightened, and he hastened to consult the LORD. He proclaimed a fast for all Judah.

⁴Then Judah gathered to seek help from the LORD; from every one of the cities of Judah they came to seek the LORD.

⁵Jehoshaphat stood up in the assembly of Judah and Jerusalem in the house of the LORD before the new court, ⁶and he said: "LORD, God of our fathers, are you not the God in heaven, and do you not rule over all the kingdoms of the nations? In your hand is power and might, and no one can withstand you.

⁷Was it not you, our God, who drove out the inhabitants of this land before your people Israel and gave it forever to the descendants of Abraham, your friend?

⁸They have dwelt in it and they built in it a sanctuary to your honor, saying,

⁹"When evil comes upon us, the sword of judgment, or pestilence, or famine, we will stand before this house and before you, for your name is in this house, and we will cry out to you in our affliction, and you will hear and save!"

¹⁰And now, see the Ammonites, Moabites, and those of Mount Seir whom you did not allow Israel to invade when they came from the land of Egypt, but instead they passed them by and did not destroy them.

¹¹See how they are now repaying us by coming to drive us out of the possession you have given us.

¹²O our God, will you not pass judgment on them? We are powerless before this vast multitude that comes against us. We are at a loss what to do, hence our eyes are turned toward you."

¹³All Judah was standing before the LORD, with their little ones, their wives, and their young sons.

¹⁴And the spirit of the LORD came upon Jahaziel, son of Zechariah, son of Benaiah, son of Jeiel, son of Mattaniah, a Levite of the clan of Asaph, in the midst of the assembly, ¹⁵and he said: "Listen, all of Judah, inhabitants of Jerusalem, and King Jehoshaphat! The LORD says to you: 'Do not fear or lose heart at the sight of this vast multitude, for the battle is not yours but God's.

¹⁶Go down against them tomorrow. You will see them coming up by the ascent of Ziz, and you will come upon them at the end of the wadi which opens on the wilderness of Jeruel.

¹⁷You will not have to fight in this encounter. Take your places, stand firm, and see how the LORD will be with you to deliver you, Judah and Jerusalem. Do not fear or lose heart. Tomorrow go out to meet them, and the LORD will be with you."

¹⁸Then Jehoshaphat knelt down with his face to the ground, and all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem fell down before the LORD in worship.

¹⁹Levites from among the Kohathites and Korahites rose to sing the praises of the LORD, the God of Israel, in a resounding chorus.

²⁰In the early morning they hastened out to the wilderness of Tekoa. As they were going out, Jehoshaphat halted and said: "Listen to me, Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem! Trust in the LORD, your God, and you will be found firm. Trust in his prophets and you will succeed."

²¹After consulting with the people, he appointed some to sing to the LORD and some to praise the holy Appearance as it went forth at the head of the army. They sang: "Give thanks to the LORD, for his mercy endures forever."

²²At the moment they began their jubilant hymn, the LORD laid an ambush against the Ammonites, Moabites, and those of Mount Seir who were coming against Judah, so that they were vanquished.

²³For the Ammonites and Moabites set upon the inhabitants of Mount Seir and completely exterminated them. And when they had finished with the inhabitants of Seir, they began to destroy each other.

²⁴When Judah came to the watchtower of the desert and looked toward the throng, they saw only corpses fallen on the ground, with no survivors.

²⁵Jehoshaphat and his people came to take plunder, and they found an abundance of cattle and personal property, garments and precious vessels. They took so much that they were unable to carry it all; they were three days taking the spoil, so great was it.

²⁶On the fourth day they held an assembly in the Valley of Beracah--for there they blessed the LORD; therefore that place has ever since been called the Valley of Beracah.

²⁷Then all the men of Judah and Jerusalem, with Jehoshaphat at their head, turned back toward Jerusalem celebrating the joyful victory the LORD had given them over their enemies.

²⁸They came to Jerusalem, to the house of the LORD, with harps, lyres and trumpets.

²⁹And the fear of God came upon all the kingdoms of the surrounding lands when they heard how the LORD had fought against the enemies of Israel.

³⁰Thereafter Jehoshaphat's kingdom enjoyed peace, for his God gave him rest on every side.

³¹Thus Jehoshaphat reigned over Judah. He was thirty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother was named Azubah, daughter of Shilhi.

³²He followed the path of his father Asa unswervingly, doing what was right in the LORD'S sight.

³³But the high places were not removed, nor as yet had the people fixed their hearts on the God of their fathers.

³⁴The rest of the acts of Jehoshaphat, first and last, can be found written in the chronicle of Jehu, son of Hanani, which is inserted in the book of the kings of Israel.

³⁵After this, King Jehoshaphat of Judah allied himself with King Ahaziah of Israel, who did evil.

³⁶He joined with him in building ships to sail to Tarshish; the fleet was built at Ezion-geber.

³⁷But Eliezer, son of Dodavahu from Mareshah, prophesied against Jehoshaphat, saying, "Because you have joined with Ahaziah, the LORD will shatter your work." And the ships were wrecked and were unable to sail to Tarshish.

21 Jehoshaphat rested with his ancestors; he was buried with them in the City of David. Jehoram, his son, succeeded him as king.

²His brothers, sons of Jehoshaphat, were Azariah, Jehiel, Zechariah, Azariah, Michael and Shephatiah; all these were sons of King Jehoshaphat of Judah.

³Their father gave them numerous gifts of silver, gold and precious objects, together with fortified cities in Judah, but the kingship he gave to Jehoram because he was the first-born.

⁴When Jehoram had come into his father's kingdom and had consolidated his power, he put to the sword all his brothers and also some of the princes of Israel.

⁵Jehoram was thirty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem.

⁶He conducted himself like the kings of Israel of the line of Ahab, because one of Ahab's daughters was his wife. He did evil in the sight of the LORD, ⁷but the LORD would not destroy the house of David because of the covenant he had made with David and because of his promise to give him and his sons a lamp for all time.

⁸During his time Edom revolted against the sovereignty of Judah; they chose a king of their own.

⁹Thereupon Jehoram crossed over with his officers and all the chariots he had. He arose by night and broke through the Edomites when they had surrounded him and the commanders of his chariots.

¹⁰However, Edom has continued in revolt against the sovereignty of Judah down to the present time. Libnah also revolted at that time against Jehoram's sovereignty because he had forsaken the LORD, the God of his fathers.

¹¹He also set up high places in the mountains of Judah; he led the inhabitants of Jerusalem into idolatry and seduced Judah.

¹²He received a letter from the prophet Elijah with this message: "Thus says the LORD, the God of your ancestor David: 'Because you have not followed the path of your father Jehoshaphat, nor of Asa, king of Judah,

¹³but instead have walked in the way of the kings of Israel and have led Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem into idolatry, as did the house of Ahab, and also because you have murdered your brothers of your father's house who were better than you,

¹⁴the LORD will strike your people, your children, your wives, and all that is yours with a great plague;

¹⁵and you shall have severe pains from a disease in your bowels, while your bowels issue forth because of the disease, day after day."

¹⁶Then the LORD stirred up against Jehoram the animosity of the Philistines and of the Arabs who bordered on the Ethiopians.

¹⁸After these events, the LORD afflicted him with an incurable disease of the bowels.

¹⁹As time went on until a period of two years had elapsed, his bowels issued forth because of the disease and he died in great pain. His people did not make a pyre for him like that of his fathers.

²⁰He was thirty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem. He departed unloved and was buried in the City of David, but not in the tombs of the kings.

22 Then the inhabitants of Jerusalem made Ahaziah, his youngest son, king in his stead, since all the older sons had been slain by the band that had come into the fort with the Arabs. Thus Ahaziah, son of Jehoram, reigned as the king of Judah.

²He was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem. His mother was named Athaliah, daughter of Omri.

³He, too, followed the ways of the house of Ahab, because his mother counseled him to act sinfully.

⁴To his own destruction, he did evil in the sight of the LORD, as did the house of Ahab, since they were his counselors after the death of his father.

⁵He was also following their counsel when he accompanied Jehoram, son of Ahab, king of Israel, to battle against Hazael, king of Aram, at Ramoth-gilead. There Jehoram was wounded by the Arameans.

⁶He returned to Jezreel to be healed of the wounds he had received at Rama in his battle against Hazael, king of Aram. Because of this illness, Ahaziah, son of Jehoram, king of Judah, went down to visit Jehoram, son of Ahab, in Jezreel.

⁷Now it was willed by God for Ahaziah's downfall that he should join Jehoram, for after his arrival he rode out with Jehoram to Jehu, son of Nimshi, whom the LORD had anointed to cut down the house of Ahab.

⁸While Jehu was executing judgment on the house of Ahab, he also encountered the princes of Judah and the nephews of Ahaziah who were his attendants, and he slew them.

⁹Then he looked for Ahaziah himself. They caught him where he was hiding in Samaria and brought him to Jehu, who put him to death. They buried him, for they said, "He was the grandson of Jehoshaphat, who sought the LORD with his whole heart." There remained in Ahaziah's house no one powerful enough to wield the kingship.

¹⁰When Athaliah, mother of Ahaziah, learned that her son was dead, she proceeded to kill off all the royal offspring of the house of Judah.

¹¹But Jehosheba, a royal princess, secretly took Ahaziah's son Joash from among the king's sons who were about to be slain, and put him and his nurse in a bedroom. In this way Jehosheba, who was the daughter of King Jehoram, a sister of Ahaziah, and wife of Jehoiada the priest, hid the child from Athaliah's sight, so that she did not put him to death.

¹²For six years he remained hidden with them in the house of God, while Athaliah ruled over the land.

23 In the seventh year, Jehoiada took courage and entered a conspiracy with certain captains: Azariah, son of Jehoram; Ishmael, son of Jehohanan; Azariah, son of Obed; Masseiah, son of Adaiah; and Elishaphat, son of Zichri.

²They journeyed about Judah, gathering the Levites from all the cities of Judah and also the heads of the Israelite families. When they had come to Jerusalem, ³the whole assembly made a covenant with the king in the house of God. Jehoiada said to them: "Here is the king's son who must reign, as the LORD promised concerning the sons of David.

⁴This is what you must do: a third of your number, both priests and Levites, who come in on the sabbath must guard the thresholds, ⁵another third must be at the king's palace, and the final third at the Foundation Gate, when all the people will be in the courts of the LORD'S temple.

⁶Let no one enter the LORD'S house except the priests and those Levites who are ministering. They may enter because they are holy; but all the other people must observe the prescriptions of the LORD.

⁷The Levites shall surround the king on all sides, each with his weapon drawn. Whoever tries to enter the house must be slain. Stay with the king wherever he goes."

⁸The Levites and all Judah did just as Jehoiada the priest commanded. Each brought his men, those who were to come in on the sabbath as well as those who were to depart on the sabbath, since Jehoiada the priest had not dismissed any of the divisions.

⁹Jehoiada the priest gave the captains the spears, shields and bucklers of King David which were in the house of God.

¹⁰He stationed all the people, each with his spear in hand, from the southern to the northern extremity of the enclosure, around the altar and the temple on the king's behalf.

¹¹Then they brought out the king's son, set the crown and the insignia upon him, and made him king. Jehoiada and his sons anointed him, and they cried, "Long live the king!"

¹²When Athaliah heard the din of the people running and acclaiming the king, she went to the people in the temple of the LORD.

¹³She looked, and there was the king standing beside his pillar at the entrance, the officers and the trumpeters around him, and all the people of the land rejoicing and blowing trumpets, while the singers with their musical instruments were leading the acclaim. Athaliah tore her garments and cried out, "Treason! treason!"

¹⁴Then Jehoiada the priest sent out the captains who were in command of the army; he said to them: "Take her outside through the ranks, and if anyone tries to follow her, let him die by the sword. For," the priest continued, "you must not put her to death in the LORD'S temple."

¹⁵So they seized her, and when she arrived at the entrance to the Horse Gate of the palace, they put her to death there.

¹⁶Then Jehoiada made a covenant between himself and all the people and the king, that they should be the LORD'S people.

¹⁷And all the people went to the temple of Baal and tore it down. They smashed its altars and images, and they slew Mattan, the priest of Baal, before the altars.

¹⁸Then Jehoiada gave the charge of the LORD'S temple into the hands of the levitical priests, to whom David had assigned turns in the temple for offering the holocausts of the LORD, as is written in the law of Moses, with rejoicing and song, as David had provided.

¹⁹Moreover, he stationed guards at the gates of the LORD'S temple so that no one unclean in any respect might enter.

²⁰Then he took the captains, the nobles, the rulers among the people, and all the people of the land, and led the king out of the LORD'S house. When they had come within the upper gate of the king's house, they seated the king upon the royal throne.

²¹All the people of the land rejoiced and the city was quiet, now that Athaliah had been put to death by the sword.

24 Joash was seven years old when he became king, and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem. His mother, named Zibiah, was from Beer-sheba.

²Joash did what was pleasing to the LORD as long as Jehoiada the priest lived.

³Jehoiada provided him with two wives, and he became the father of sons and daughters.

⁴After some time, Joash decided to restore the LORD'S temple.

⁵He called together the priests and Levites and said to them: "Go out to all the cities of Judah and collect money from all Israel that you may repair the house of your God over the years. You must hasten this affair." But the Levites did not hasten.

⁶Then the king summoned Jehoiada, who was in charge, and said to him: "Why have you not required the Levites to bring in from Judah and Jerusalem the tax levied by Moses, the servant of the LORD, and by the assembly of Israel, for the tent of the testimony?"

⁷For the wicked Athaliah and her sons had damaged the house of God and had even turned over to the Baals the dedicated resources of the LORD'S temple.

⁸At the king's command, therefore, they made a chest, which they put outside the gate of the LORD'S temple.

⁹They had it proclaimed throughout Judah and Jerusalem that the tax which Moses, the servant of God, had imposed on Israel in the desert should be brought to the LORD.

¹⁰All the princes and the people rejoiced; they brought what was asked and cast it into the chest until it was filled.

¹¹Whenever the chest was brought to the royal officials by the Levites and they saw that it contained much money, the royal scribe and an overseer for the high priest came, emptied the chest, then took it back and returned it to its place. This they did day after day until they had collected a large sum of money.

¹²Then the king and Jehoiada gave it to the workmen in charge of the labor on the LORD'S temple, who hired masons and carpenters to restore the temple, and also iron-and bronze-smiths to repair it.

¹³The workmen labored, and the task of restoration progressed under their hands. They restored the house of God according to its original form, and reinforced it.

¹⁴After they had finished, they brought the rest of the money to the king and to Jehoiada, who had it made into utensils for the LORD'S temple, utensils for the service and the holocausts, and basins and other gold and silver utensils. They offered holocausts in the LORD'S temple continually throughout the lifetime of Jehoiada.

¹⁵Jehoiada lived to a ripe old age; he was a hundred and thirty years old when he died.

¹⁶He was buried in the City of David with the kings, because he had done good in Israel, in particular with respect to God and his temple.

¹⁷After the death of Jehoiada, the princes of Judah came and paid homage to the king, and the king then listened to them.

¹⁸They forsook the temple of the LORD, the God of their fathers, and began to serve the sacred poles and the idols; and because of this crime of theirs, wrath came upon Judah and Jerusalem.

¹⁹Although prophets were sent to them to convert them to the LORD, the people would not listen to their warnings.

²⁰Then the spirit of God possessed Zechariah, son of Jehoiada the priest. He took his stand above the people and said to them: "God says, 'Why are you transgressing the LORD'S commands, so that you cannot prosper? Because you have abandoned the LORD, he has abandoned you.'"

²¹But they conspired against him, and at the king's order they stoned him to death in the court of the LORD'S temple.

²²Thus King Joash was unmindful of the devotion shown him by Jehoiada, Zechariah's father, and slew his son. And as he was dying, he said, "May the LORD see and avenge."

²³At the turn of the year a force of Arameans came up against Joash. They invaded Judah and Jerusalem, did away with all the princes of the people, and sent all their spoil to the king of Damascus.

²⁴Though the Aramean force came with few men, the LORD surrendered a very large force into their power, because Judah had abandoned the LORD, the God of their fathers. So punishment was meted out to Joash.

²⁶These conspired against him: Zabad, son of Shimeath from Ammon, and Jehozabad, son of Shimrith from Moab.

²⁷Of his sons, and the great tribute imposed on him, and of his rebuilding of the house of God, there is a written account in the midrash of the book of the kings. His son Amaziah succeeded him as king.

25 Amaziah was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother, named Jehoaddan, was from Jerusalem.

²He did what was pleasing in the sight of the LORD, though not wholeheartedly.

³After he had strengthened his hold on the kingdom, he slew those of his servants who had killed the king, his father;

⁴but he did not put their children to death, for he acted according to what is written in the law, in the Book of Moses, as the LORD commanded: "Fathers shall not be put to death for their children, nor children for their fathers; but only for his own guilt shall a man be put to death."

⁵Amaziah mustered Judah and placed them, out of all Judah and Benjamin according to their ancestral houses, under leaders of thousands and of hundreds. When he had counted those of twenty years and over, he found them to be three hundred thousand picked men fit for war, capable of handling lance and shield.

⁶He also hired a hundred thousand valiant warriors from Israel for a hundred talents of silver.

⁷But a man of God came to him and said: "O king, let not the army of Israel go with you, for the LORD is not with Israel, with any Ephraimite.

⁸Instead, go on your own, strongly prepared for the conflict; otherwise the LORD will defeat you in the face of the enemy. It is God who has the power to reinforce or to defeat."

⁹Amaziah answered the man of God, "But what is to be done about the hundred talents that I paid for the troops of Israel?" The man of God replied, "The LORD can give you much more than that."

¹⁰Amaziah then disbanded the troops that had come to him from Ephraim, and sent them home. They, however, became furiously angry with Judah, and returned home blazing with resentment.

¹¹Amaziah now assumed command of his army. They proceeded to the Valley of Salt, and there they killed ten thousand men of Seir.

¹²The Judahites also brought back another ten thousand alive, whom they led to the summit of the Rock and then cast down, so that they were all crushed.

¹³Meanwhile, the mercenaries whom Amaziah had dismissed from battle service with him raided the cities of Judah from Samaria to Beth-horon. They killed three thousand of the inhabitants and took away much booty.

¹⁴When Amaziah returned from his conquest of the Edomites he brought back with him the gods of the people of Seir, which he set up as his own gods; he bowed down before them and offered sacrifice to them.

¹⁵Then the anger of the LORD blazed out against Amaziah, and he sent a prophet to him who said: "Why have you had recourse to this people's gods that could not save their own people from your hand?"

¹⁶While he was still speaking, however, the king said to him: "Have you been made the king's counselor? Be silent! Why should it be necessary to kill you?" Therefore the prophet desisted. "I know, however," he said, "that God has let you take counsel to your own destruction, because you have done this thing and have refused to hear my counsel."

¹⁷Having taken counsel, King Amaziah of Judah sent messengers to Joash, son of Jehoahaz, son of Jehu, the king of Israel, saying, "Come, let us meet each other face to face."

¹⁸King Joash of Israel sent this reply to King Amaziah of Judah: "The thistle of the Lebanon sent a message to the cedar of the Lebanon, saying, 'Give your daughter to my son for his wife.' But the wild beasts of the Lebanon passed by and trampled the thistle down.

¹⁹You are thinking, 'See, I have beaten Edom!', and thus ambition makes you proud. Remain at home. Why involve yourself, and Judah with you, in misfortune and failure?"

²⁰But Amaziah would not listen, for God had determined to hand them over because they had had recourse to the gods of Edom.

²¹Therefore King Joash of Israel advanced and he and King Amaziah met in battle at Beth-shemesh of Judah.

²²There Judah was defeated by Israel, and all the Judean soldiers fled homeward.

²³King Joash of Israel captured Amaziah, king of Judah, son of Joash, son of Jehoahaz, at Beth-shemesh and brought him to Jerusalem. Then he tore down the wall of Jerusalem from the Ephraim Gate to the Corner Gate, a distance of four hundred cubits.

²⁴He took away all the gold and silver and all the vessels he found in the house of God with Obed-edom, together with the treasures of the palace, and hostages as well. Then he returned to Samaria.

²⁵Amaziah, son of Joash, king of Judah, survived Joash, son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel, by fifteen years.

²⁶The rest of the acts of Amaziah, first and last, can be found written, as is well known, in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel.

²⁷Now from the time that Amaziah ceased to follow the LORD, a conspiracy was formed against him in Jerusalem; hence he fled to Lachish. But they pursued him to Lachish and put him to death there.

²⁸They brought him back on horses and buried him with his ancestors in the City of Judah.

26 All the people of Judah chose Uzziah, though he was but sixteen years of age, and proclaimed him king to succeed his father Amaziah.

- ²He rebuilt Elath and restored it to Judah; this was after King Amaziah had gone to rest with his ancestors.
- ³Uzziah was sixteen years old when he became king, and he reigned fifty-two years in Jerusalem. His mother, named Jecoliah, was from Jerusalem.
- ⁴He pleased the LORD, just as his father Amaziah had done.
- ⁵He was prepared to seek God as long as Zechariah lived, who taught him to fear God; and as long as he sought the LORD, God made him prosper.
- ⁶He went out and fought the Philistines and razed the walls of Gath, Jabneh and Ashdod (and built cities in the district of Ashdod and in Philistia).
- ⁷God helped him against the Philistines, against the Arabs who dwelt in Gurbaal, and against the Meunites.
- ⁸The Ammonites paid tribute to Uzziah and his fame spread as far as Egypt, for he grew stronger and stronger.
- ⁹Moreover, Uzziah built towers in Jerusalem at the Corner Gate, at the Valley Gate, and at the Angle, and he fortified them.
- ¹⁰He built towers in the desert and dug numerous cisterns, for he had many cattle. He had plowmen in the foothills and the plains, and vinedressers in the highlands and the garden land. He was a lover of the soil.
- ¹¹Uzziah also had a standing army of fit soldiers divided into bands according to the number in which they were mustered by Jeiel the scribe and Maaseiah the recorder, under the command of Hananiah, one of the king's officials.
- ¹²The entire number of family heads over these valiant warriors was two thousand six hundred,
- ¹³and at their disposal was a mighty army of three hundred seven thousand five hundred fighting men of great valor to help the king against his enemies.
- ¹⁴Uzziah provided for them--for the entire army--bucklers, lances, helmets, breastplates, bows and slingstones.

¹⁵He also built machines in Jerusalem, devices contrived to stand on the towers and at the angles of the walls to shoot arrows and cast large stones. His fame spread far and wide, and his power was ascribed to the marvelous help he had received.

¹⁶But after he had become strong, he became proud to his own destruction and broke faith with the LORD, his God. He entered the temple of the LORD to make an offering on the altar of incense.

¹⁷But Azariah the priest, and with him eighty other priests of the LORD, courageous men, followed him.

¹⁸They opposed King Uzziah, saying to him: "It is not for you, Uzziah, to burn incense to the LORD, but for the priests, the sons of Aaron, who have been consecrated for this purpose. Leave the sanctuary, for you have broken faith and no longer have a part in the glory that comes from the LORD God."

¹⁹Uzziah, who was holding a censer for burning the incense, became angry, but at the moment he showed his anger to the priests, while they were looking at him in the house of the LORD beside the altar of incense, leprosy broke out on his forehead.

²⁰Azariah the chief priest and all the other priests examined him, and when they saw that his forehead was leprous, they expelled him from the temple. He himself fled willingly, for the LORD had afflicted him.

²¹King Uzziah remained a leper to the day of his death. As a leper he dwelt in a segregated house, for he was excluded from the house of the LORD. Therefore his son Jotham was regent of the palace and ruled the people of the land.

²²The prophet Isaiah, son of Amos, wrote the rest of the acts of Uzziah, first and last.

²³Uzziah rested with his ancestors; he was buried with them in the field adjoining the royal cemetery, for they said, "He was a leper." His son Jotham succeeded him as king.

27 Jotham was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. His mother was named Jerusa, daughter of Zadok.

²He pleased the LORD just as his father Uzziah had done, though he did not enter the temple of the LORD; the people, however, continued to act sinfully.

³He built the upper gate of the LORD'S house and had much construction done on the wall of Ophel.

⁴Moreover, he built cities in the hill country of Judah, and in the forest land he set up fortresses and towers.

⁵He fought with the king of the Ammonites and conquered them. That year the Ammonites paid him one hundred talents of silver, together with ten thousand kors of wheat and ten thousand of barley. They brought the same to him also in the second and in the third year.

⁶Thus Jotham continued to grow strong because he lived resolutely in the presence of the LORD, his God.

⁷The rest of the acts of Jotham, his wars and his activities, can be found written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah.

⁸He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem.

⁹Jotham rested with his ancestors and was buried in the City of David, and his son Ahaz succeeded him as king.

28 Ahaz was twenty years old when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. He did not please the LORD as his forefather David had done, ²but conducted himself like the kings of Israel and even made molten idols of the Baals.

³Moreover, he offered sacrifice in the Valley of Ben-hinnom, and immolated his sons by fire according to the abominable practice of the nations which the LORD had cleared out before the Israelites.

⁴He offered sacrifice and incense on the high places, on hills, and under every leafy tree.

⁵Therefore the LORD, his God, delivered him into the power of the king of Aram. The Arameans defeated him and carried away captive a large number of his people, whom they brought to Damascus. He was also delivered into the power of the king of Israel, who defeated him with great slaughter.

⁶For Pekah, son of Remaliah, slew one hundred and twenty thousand of Judah in a single day, all of them valiant men, because they had abandoned the LORD, the God of their fathers.

⁷Zichri, an Ephraimite warrior, killed Maaseiah, the king's son, and Azrikam, the master of the palace, and also Elkanah, who was second to the king.

⁸The Israelites took away as captives two hundred thousand of their brethren's wives, sons and daughters; they also took from them much plunder, which they brought to Samaria.

⁹In Samaria there was a prophet of the LORD by the name of Oded. He went out to meet the army returning to Samaria and said to them: "It was because the LORD, the God of your fathers, was angry with Judah that he delivered them into your hands. You, however, have slaughtered them with a fury that has reached up to heaven.

¹⁰And now you are planning to make the children of Judah and Jerusalem your slaves and bondwomen. Are not you yourselves, therefore, guilty of a crime against the LORD, your God?

¹¹Now listen to me: send back the captives you have carried off from among your brethren, for the burning anger of the LORD is upon you."

¹²At this, some of the Ephraimite leaders, Azariah, son of Johanan, Berechiah, son of Meshillemoth, Jehizkiah, son of Shallum, and Amasa, son of Hadlai, themselves stood up in opposition to those who had returned from the war.

¹³They said to them: "Do not bring the captives here, for what you propose will make us guilty before the LORD and increase our sins and our guilt. Our guilt is already great, and there is a burning anger upon Israel."

¹⁴Therefore the soldiers left their captives and the plunder before the princes and the whole assembly.

¹⁵Then the men just named proceeded to help the captives. All of them who were naked they clothed from the booty; they clothed them, put sandals on their feet, gave them food and drink, anointed them, and all who were weak they set on asses. They brought them to Jericho, the city of palms, to their brethren. Then they returned to Samaria.

¹⁶At that time King Ahaz sent an appeal for help to the kings of Assyria.

¹⁷The Edomites had returned, attacked Judah, and carried off captives.

¹⁸The Philistines too had raided the cities of the foothills and the Negeb of Judah; they captured Beth-shemesh, Aijalon, Gederoth, Soco and its dependencies, Timnah and its dependencies, and Gimzo and its dependencies, and occupied them.

¹⁹For the LORD had brought Judah low because of Ahaz, king of Israel, who let Judah go its own way and proved utterly faithless to the LORD.

²⁰Tilgath-pilneser, king of Assyria, did indeed come to him, but to oppress him rather than to help him.

²¹Though Ahaz plundered the LORD'S house and the houses of the king and the princes to make payment to the king of Assyria, it availed him nothing.

²²While he was already in distress, the same King Ahaz became even more unfaithful to the LORD.

²³He sacrificed to the gods of Damascus who had defeated him, saying, "Since it was the gods of the kings of Aram who helped them, I will sacrifice to them that they may help me also." However, they only caused further disaster to him and to all Israel.

²⁴Ahaz gathered up the utensils of God's house and broke them in pieces. He closed the doors of the LORD'S house and had altars made for himself in every corner of Jerusalem.

²⁵In every city throughout Judah he set up high places to offer sacrifice to other gods. Thus he angered the LORD, the God of his fathers.

²⁶The rest of his deeds and his activities, first and last, can be found written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel.

²⁷Ahaz rested with his ancestors and was buried in Jerusalem--in the city, for they did not bring him to the tombs of the kings of Israel. His son Hezekiah succeeded him as king.

29 Hezekiah was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother was named Abia, daughter of Zechariah.

²He pleased the LORD just as his forefather David had done.

³It was he who, in the first month of the first year of his reign, opened the doors of the LORD'S house and repaired them.

⁴He summoned the priests and Levites, gathered them in the open space to the east, ⁵and said to them: "Listen to me, you Levites! Sanctify yourselves now and sanctify the house of the LORD, the God of your fathers, and clean out the filth from the sanctuary.

⁶Our fathers acted faithlessly and did evil in the eyes of the LORD, our God. They abandoned him, turned away their faces from the LORD'S dwelling, and turned their backs on him.

⁷They also closed the doors of the vestibule, extinguished the lamps, and refused to burn incense and offer holocausts in the sanctuary to the honor of the God of Israel.

⁸Therefore the anger of the LORD has come upon Judah and Jerusalem; he has made them an object of terror, astonishment and mockery, as you see with your own eyes.

⁹For our fathers, as you know, fell by the sword, and our sons, our daughters and our wives have been taken captive because of this.

¹⁰Now, I intend to make a covenant with the LORD, the God of Israel, that his burning anger may withdraw from us.

¹¹My sons, be not negligent any longer, for it is you whom the LORD has chosen to stand before him, to minister to him, to be his ministers and to offer incense."

¹²Then the Levites arose: Mahath, son of Amasai, and Joel, son of Azariah, descendants of the Kohathites; of the sons of Merari: Kish, son of Abdi, and Azariah, son of Jehallei; of the Gershonites: Joah, son of Zimmah, and Eden, son of Joah;

¹³of the sons of Elizaphan: Shimri and Jeuel; of the sons of Asaph: Zechariah and Mattaniah;

¹⁴of the sons of Heman: Jehuel and Shimej; of the sons of Jeduthun: Shemiah and Uzziel.

¹⁵They gathered their brethren together and sanctified themselves; then they came as the king had ordered, to cleanse the LORD'S house in keeping with his words.

¹⁶The priests entered the interior of the LORD'S house to cleanse it; and whatever they found in the LORD'S temple that was unclean they brought out to the court of the LORD'S house, where the Levites took it from them and carried it out to the Kidron Valley.

¹⁷They began the work of consecration on the first day of the first month, and on the eighth day of the month they arrived at the vestibule of the LORD; they consecrated the LORD'S house during eight days, and on the sixteenth day of the first month, they had finished.

¹⁸Then they went inside to King Hezekiah and said: "We have cleansed the entire house of the LORD, the altar of holocausts with all its utensils, and the table for the showbread with all its utensils.

¹⁹All the articles which King Ahaz during his reign had thrown away because of his apostasy, we have restored and consecrated, and they are now before the LORD'S altar."

²⁰Then King Hezekiah hastened to convoke the princes of the city and went up to the LORD'S house.

²¹Seven bulls, seven rams, seven lambs and seven he-goats were brought for a sin offering for the kingdom, for the sanctuary, and for Judah, and he ordered the sons of Aaron, the priests, to offer them on the altar of the LORD.

²²They slaughtered the bulls, and the priests collected the blood and cast it on the altar. Then they slaughtered the rams and cast the blood on the altar; then they slaughtered the lambs and cast the blood on the altar.

²³Then the he-goats for the sin offering were led before the king and the assembly, who laid their hands upon them.

²⁴The priests then slaughtered them and offered their blood on the altar to atone for the sin of all Israel; for "The holocaust and the sin offering," the king had said, "is for all Israel."

²⁵He stationed the Levites in the LORD'S house with cymbals, harps and lyres according to the prescriptions of David, of Gad the king's seer, and of Nathan the prophet; for the prescriptions were from the LORD through his prophets.

²⁶The Levites were stationed with the instruments of David, and the priests with the trumpets.

²⁷Then Hezekiah ordered the holocaust to be sacrificed on the altar, and in the same instant that the holocaust began, they also began the song of the LORD, to the accompaniment of the trumpets and the instruments of David, king of Israel.

²⁸The entire assembly prostrated itself, and they continued to sing the song and to sound the trumpets until the holocaust had been completed.

²⁹As the holocaust was completed, the king and all who were with him knelt and prostrated themselves.

³⁰King Hezekiah and the princes then commanded the Levites to sing the praises of the LORD in the words of David and of Asaph the seer. They sang praises till their joy was full, then fell down and prostrated themselves.

³¹Hezekiah now spoke out this command: "You have undertaken a work for the LORD. Approach, and bring forward the sacrifices and thank offerings for the house of the LORD." Then the assembly brought forward the sacrifices and thank offerings and all the holocausts which were free-will offerings.

³²The number of holocausts that the assembly brought forward was seventy oxen, one hundred rams, and two hundred lambs: all of these as a holocaust to the LORD.

³³As consecrated gifts there were six hundred oxen and three thousand sheep.

³⁴Since the priests were too few in number to be able to skin all the victims for the holocausts, their brethren the Levites assisted them until the task was completed and the priests had sanctified themselves; the Levites, in fact, were more willing than the priests to sanctify themselves.

³⁵Also, the holocausts were many, along with the fat of the peace offerings and the libations for the holocausts. Thus the service of the house of the LORD was reestablished.

³⁶Hezekiah and all the people rejoiced over what God had reestablished for the people, and at how suddenly this had been done.

30 Hezekiah sent a message to all Israel and Judah, and even wrote letters to Ephraim and Manasseh saying that they should come to the house of the LORD in Jerusalem to celebrate the Passover in honor of the LORD, the God of Israel.

²The king, his princes, and the entire assembly in Jerusalem had agreed to celebrate the Passover during the second month,

³for they could not celebrate it at the time of the restoration: the priests had not sanctified themselves in sufficient numbers, and the people were not gathered at Jerusalem.

⁴When this proposal had been approved by the king and the entire assembly,

⁵they issued a decree to be proclaimed throughout all Israel from Beer-sheba to Dan, that everyone should come to Jerusalem to celebrate the Passover in honor of the LORD, the God of Israel; for not many had kept it in the manner prescribed.

⁶Accordingly the couriers, with the letters written by the king and his princes, traversed all Israel and Judah, and at the king's command they said: "Israelites, return to the LORD, the God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel, that he may return to you, the remnant left from the hands of the Assyrian kings.

⁷Be not like your fathers and your brethren who proved faithless to the LORD, the God of their fathers, so that he delivered them over to desolation, as you yourselves now see.

⁸Be not obstinate, as your fathers were; extend your hands to the LORD and come to his sanctuary that he has consecrated forever, and serve the LORD, your God, that he may turn away his burning anger from you.

⁹For when you return to the LORD, your brethren and your children will find mercy with their captors and return to this land; for merciful and compassionate is the LORD, your God, and he will not turn away his face from you if you return to him."

¹⁰So the couriers passed from city to city in the land of Ephraim and Manasseh and as far as Zebulun, but they were derided and scoffed at.

¹¹Nevertheless, some from Asher, Manasseh and Zebulun humbled themselves and came to Jerusalem.

¹²In Judah, however, the power of God brought it about that the people were of one mind to carry out the command of the king and the princes in accordance with the word of the LORD.

¹³Thus many people gathered in Jerusalem to celebrate the feast of Unleavened Bread in the second month; it was a very great assembly.

¹⁴They proceeded to take down the altars that were in Jerusalem; also they removed all the altars of incense and cast them into the Kidron Valley.

¹⁵They slaughtered the Passover on the fourteenth day of the second month. The priests and Levites, touched with shame, sanctified themselves and brought holocausts into the house of the LORD.

¹⁶They stood in the places prescribed for them according to the law of Moses, the man of God. The priests sprinkled the blood given them by the Levites;

¹⁷for many in the assembly had not sanctified themselves, and the Levites were in charge of slaughtering the Passover victims for all who were unclean and therefore could not consecrate them to the LORD.

¹⁸The greater part of the people, in fact, chiefly from Ephraim, Manasseh, Issachar and Zebulun, had not cleansed themselves. Nevertheless they ate the Passover, contrary to the prescription; for Hezekiah prayed for them, saying, "May the LORD, who is good, grant pardon to ¹⁹everyone who has resolved to seek God, the LORD, the God of his fathers, though he be not clean as holiness requires."

²⁰The LORD heard Hezekiah and spared the people.

²¹Thus the Israelites who were in Jerusalem celebrated the feast of Unleavened Bread with great rejoicing for seven days, and the Levites and the priests sang the praises of the LORD day after day with all their strength.

²²Hezekiah spoke encouragingly to all the Levites who had shown themselves well skilled in the service of the LORD. And when they had completed the seven days of festival, slaying peace offerings and singing praises to the LORD, the God of their fathers, ²³the whole assembly agreed to celebrate another seven days. With joy, therefore, they continued the festivity seven days longer.

²⁴King Hezekiah of Judah had contributed a thousand bulls and seven thousand sheep to the assembly, and the princes had contributed to the assembly a thousand bulls and ten thousand sheep. The priests sanctified themselves in great numbers,

²⁵and the whole assembly of Judah rejoiced, together with the priests and Levites and the rest of the assembly that had come from Israel, as well as the sojourners from the land of Israel and those that lived in Judah.

²⁶There was great rejoicing in Jerusalem, for since the days of Solomon, son of David, king of Israel, there had not been the like in the city.

²⁷Then the levitical priests rose and blessed the people; their voice was heard and their prayer reached heaven, God's holy dwelling.

31 After all this was over, those Israelites who had been present went forth to the cities of Judah and smashed the sacred pillars, cut down the sacred poles, and tore down the high places and altars throughout Judah, Benjamin, Ephraim and Manasseh, until all were destroyed. Then the Israelites returned to their various cities, each to his own possession.

²Hezekiah reestablished the classes of the priests and the Levites according to their former classification, assigning to each priest and Levite his proper service, whether in regard to holocausts or peace offerings, thanksgiving or praise, or ministering in the gates of the encampment of the LORD.

³From his own wealth the king allotted a portion for holocausts, those of morning and evening and those on sabbaths, new moons and festivals, as prescribed in the law of the LORD.

⁴He also commanded the people living in Jerusalem to provide the support of the priests and Levites, that they might devote themselves entirely to the law of the LORD.

⁵As soon as the order was promulgated, the Israelites brought, in great quantities, the best of their grain, wine, oil and honey, and all the produce of the fields; they gave a generous tithe of everything.

⁶Israelites and Judahites living in other cities of Judah also brought in tithes of oxen, sheep, and things that had been consecrated to the LORD, their God; these they brought in and set out in heaps.

⁷It was in the third month that they began to establish these heaps, and they completed them in the seventh month.

⁸When Hezekiah and the princes had come and seen the heaps, they blessed the LORD and his people Israel.

⁹Then Hezekiah questioned the priests and the Levites concerning the heaps,

¹⁰and the priest Azariah, head of the house of Zadoc, answered him, "Since they began to bring the offerings to the house of the LORD, we have eaten to the full and have had much left over, for the LORD has blessed his people. This great supply is what was left over."

¹¹Hezekiah then gave orders that chambers be constructed in the house of the LORD. When this had been done, ¹²the offerings, tithes and consecrated things were deposited there in safekeeping. The overseer of these things was Conaniah the Levite, and his brother Shimei was second in charge.

¹³Jehiel, Azaziah, Nahath, Asahel, Jerimoth, Jozabad, Eliel, Ismachiah, Mahath and Benaiah were supervisors subject to Conaniah and his brother Shimei by appointment of King Hezekiah and of Azariah, the prefect of the house of God.

¹⁴Kore, the son of Imnah, a Levite and the keeper of the eastern gate, was in charge of the free-will gifts made to God; he distributed the offerings made to the LORD and the most holy of the consecrated things.

¹⁵Under him in the priestly cities were Eden, Miniamin, Jeshua, Shemaiah, Amariah and Shecaniah, who faithfully made the distribution to their brethren, great and small alike, according to their classes.

¹⁶There was also a register by ancestral houses of males thirty years of age and over, for all priests who were eligible to enter the house of the LORD according to the daily rule to fulfill their service in the order of their classes.

¹⁷The priests were inscribed in their family records according to their ancestral houses, and the Levites of twenty years and over according to their various offices and classes.

¹⁸A distribution was also made to all who were inscribed in the family records, for their little ones, wives, sons and daughters--thus for the entire assembly, since they were to sanctify themselves by sharing faithfully in the consecrated things.

¹⁹The sons of Aaron, the priests who lived on the lands attached to their cities, had in every city men designated by name to distribute portions to every male among the priests and to every Levite listed in the family records.

²⁰This Hezekiah did in all Judah. He did what was good, upright and faithful before the LORD, his God.

²¹Everything that he undertook, for the service of the house of God or for the law and the commandments, was to do the will of his God. He did this wholeheartedly, and he prospered.

32 But after he had proved his fidelity by such deeds, Sennacherib, king of Assyria, came. He invaded Judah, besieged the fortified cities, and proposed to take them by storm.

²When Hezekiah saw that Sennacherib was coming with the intention of attacking Jerusalem,

³he decided in counsel with his princes and warriors to stop the waters of the springs outside the city. When they had pledged him their support,

⁴a large crowd was gathered which stopped all the springs and also the running stream in the valley nearby. For they said, "Why should the kings of Assyria come and find an abundance of water?"

⁵He then looked to his defenses: he rebuilt the wall where it was broken down, raised towers upon it, and built another wall outside. He strengthened the Millo of the City of David and had a great number of spears and shields prepared.

⁶Then he appointed army commanders over the people. He gathered them together in his presence in the open space at the gate of the city and encouraged them with these words:

⁷"Be brave and steadfast; do not be afraid or dismayed because of the king of Assyria and all the throng that is coming with him, for there is more with us than with him.

⁸For he has only an arm of flesh, but we have the LORD, our God, to help us and to fight our battles." And the people took confidence from the words of King Hezekiah of Judah.

⁹After this, while Sennacherib, king of Assyria, himself remained at Lachish with all his forces, he sent his officials to Jerusalem with this message for King Hezekiah of Judah, and all the Judahites who were in Jerusalem:

¹⁰"King Sennacherib of Assyria has this to say: On what are you relying, while you remain under siege in Jerusalem?"

¹¹Has not Hezekiah deceived you, delivering you over to a death of famine and thirst, by his claim that 'the LORD, our God, will save us from the grasp of the king of Assyria'?

¹²Has not this same Hezekiah removed his high places and altars and commanded Judah and Jerusalem, 'You shall prostrate yourselves before one altar only, and on it alone you shall offer incense'?

¹³Do you not know what my fathers and I have done to all the peoples of other lands? Were the gods of the nations in those lands able to save their lands from my hand?

¹⁴Who among all the gods of those nations which my fathers put under the ban was able to save his people from my hand? Will your god, then, be able to save you from my hand?

¹⁵Let not Hezekiah mislead you further and deceive you in any such way. Do not believe him! Since no other god of any other nation or kingdom has been able to save his people from my hand or the hands of my fathers, how much the less shall your god save you from my hand!"

¹⁶His officials said still more against the LORD God and against his servant Hezekiah,

¹⁷for he had written letters to deride the LORD, the God of Israel, speaking of him in these terms: "As the gods of the nations in other lands have not saved their people from my hand, neither shall Hezekiah's god save his people from my hand."

¹⁸In a loud voice they shouted in the Judean language to the people of Jerusalem who were on the wall, to frighten and terrify them so that they might capture their city.

¹⁹They spoke of the God of Israel as though he were one of the gods of the other peoples of the earth, a work of human hands.

²⁰But because of this, King Hezekiah and the prophet Isaiah, son of Amos, prayed and called out to heaven.

²¹Then the LORD sent an angel, who destroyed every valiant warrior, leader and commander in the camp of the Assyrian king, so that he had to return shamefaced to his own country. And when he entered the temple of his god, some of his own offspring struck him down there with the sword.

²²Thus the LORD saved Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem from the hand of Sennacherib, king of Assyria, as from every other power; he gave them rest on every side.

²³Many brought gifts for the LORD to Jerusalem and costly objects for King Hezekiah of Judah, who thereafter was exalted in the eyes of all the nations.

²⁴In those days Hezekiah became mortally ill. He prayed to the LORD, who answered him by giving him a sign.

²⁵Hezekiah, however, did not then discharge his debt of gratitude, for he had become proud. Therefore anger descended upon him and upon Judah and Jerusalem.

²⁶But then Hezekiah humbled himself for his pride--both he and the inhabitants of Jerusalem; and therefore the LORD did not vent his anger on them during the time of Hezekiah.

²⁷Hezekiah possessed very great wealth and glory. He had treasuries made for his silver, gold, precious stones, spices, jewels, and other precious things of all kinds;

²⁸also storehouses for the harvest of grain, for wine and oil, and barns for the various kinds of cattle and for the flocks.

²⁹He built cities for himself, and he acquired sheep and oxen in great numbers, for God gave him very great riches.

³⁰This same Hezekiah stopped the upper outflow of water from Gihon and led it underground westward to the City of David. Hezekiah prospered in all his undertakings.

³¹Nevertheless, in respect to the ambassadors (princes) sent to him from Babylon to investigate the sign that had occurred in the land, God forsook him to test him, that he might know all that was in his heart.

³²The rest of Hezekiah's acts, including his pious works, can be found written in the Vision of the Prophet Isaiah, son of Amos, and in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel.

³³Hezekiah rested with his ancestors; he was buried at the approach to the tombs of the descendants of David. All Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem paid him honor at his death. His son Manasseh succeeded him as king.

33 Manasseh was twelve years old when he became king, and he reigned fifty-five years in Jerusalem.

- ²He did evil in the sight of the LORD, following the abominable practices of the nations whom the LORD had cleared out of the way of the Israelites.
- ³He rebuilt the high places which his father Hezekiah had torn down, erected altars for the Baals, made sacred poles, and prostrated himself before the whole host of heaven and worshiped them.
- ⁴He even built altars in the temple of the LORD, of which the LORD had said, "In Jerusalem shall my name be forever":
- ⁵he built altars to the whole host of heaven in the two courts of the LORD'S house.
- ⁶It was he, too, who immolated his sons by fire in the Valley of Ben-hinnom. He practiced augury, divination and magic, and appointed necromancers and diviners of spirits, so that he provoked the LORD with the great evil that he did in his sight.
- ⁷He placed an idol that he had carved in the house of God, of which God had said to David and his son Solomon: "In this house and in Jerusalem which I have chosen from all the tribes of Israel I shall place my name forever.
- ⁸I will not again allow Israel's feet to leave the land which I assigned to your fathers, provided they are careful to observe all that I commanded them, keeping the whole law and the statutes and the ordinances given by Moses."
- ⁹Manasseh misled Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem into doing even greater evil than the nations which the LORD had destroyed at the coming of the Israelites.
- ¹⁰The LORD spoke to Manasseh and his people, but they paid no attention.
- ¹¹Therefore the LORD brought against them the army commanders of the Assyrian king; they took Manasseh with hooks, shackled him with chains, and transported him to Babylon.
- ¹²In this distress, he began to appease the LORD, his God. He humbled himself abjectly before the God of his fathers
- ¹³and prayed to him. The LORD let himself be won over: he heard his prayer and restored him to his kingdom in Jerusalem. Then Manasseh understood that the LORD is indeed God.

¹⁴Afterward he built an outer wall for the City of David to the west of Gihon in the valley, extending to the Fish Gate and encircling Ophel; he built it very high. He stationed army officers in all the fortified cities of Judah.

¹⁵He removed the foreign gods and the idol from the LORD'S house and all the altars he had built on the mount of the LORD'S house and in Jerusalem, and he cast them outside the city.

¹⁶He restored the altar of the LORD, and sacrificed on it peace offerings and thank offerings, and commanded Judah to serve the LORD, the God of Israel.

¹⁷Though the people continued to sacrifice on the high places, they now did so to the LORD, their God.

¹⁸The rest of the acts of Manasseh, his prayer to his God, and the words of the seers who spoke to him in the name of the LORD, the God of Israel, can be found written in the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

¹⁹His prayer and how his supplication was heard, all his sins and his infidelity, the sites where he built high places and erected sacred poles and carved images before he humbled himself, all can be found written down in the history of his seers.

²⁰Manasseh rested with his ancestors and was buried in his own palace. His son Amon succeeded him as king.

²¹Amon was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned two years in Jerusalem.

²²He did evil in the sight of the LORD, just as his father Manasseh had done. Amon offered sacrifice to all the idols which his father Manasseh had made, and worshiped them.

²³Moreover, he did not humble himself before the LORD as his father Manasseh had done; on the contrary, Amon only increased his guilt.

²⁴His servants conspired against him and put him to death in his own house.

²⁵But the people of the land slew all those who had conspired against King Amon, and then they, the people of the land, made his son Josiah king in his stead.

34 Josiah was eight years old when he became king, and he reigned thirty-one years in Jerusalem.

²He pleased the LORD, following the path of his ancestor David.

³In the eighth year of his reign, while he was still a youth, he began to seek after the God of his forefather David, and in his twelfth year he began to purge Judah and Jerusalem of the high places, the sacred poles and the carved and molten images.

⁴In his presence, the altars of the Baals were destroyed; the incense stands erected above them were torn down; the sacred poles and the carved and molten images were shattered and beaten into dust, which was strewn over the tombs of those who had sacrificed to them;

⁵and the bones of the priests he burned upon their altars. Thus he purged Judah and Jerusalem.

⁶He did likewise in the cities of Manasseh, Ephraim, Simeon, and in the ruined villages of the surrounding country as far as Naphtali;

⁷he destroyed the altars, broke up the sacred poles and carved images and beat them into dust, and tore down the incense stands throughout the land of Israel. Then he returned to Jerusalem.

⁸In the eighteenth year of his reign, in order to cleanse the temple as well as the land, he sent Shaphan, son of Azaliah, Maaseiah, the ruler of the city, and Joah, son of Joahaz, the chamberlain, to restore the house of the LORD, his God.

⁹They came to Hilkiah the high priest and turned over the money brought to the house of God which the Levites, the guardians of the threshold, had collected from Manasseh, Ephraim, and all the remnant of Israel, as well as from all of Judah, Benjamin, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

¹⁰They turned it over to the master workmen in the house of the LORD, and these in turn used it to pay the workmen in the LORD'S house who were restoring and repairing the temple.

¹¹They also gave it to the carpenters and the masons to buy hewn stone and timber for the tie beams and rafters of the buildings which the kings of Judah had allowed to fall into ruin.

¹²The men worked faithfully at their task; their overseers were Jahath and Obadiah, Levites of the line of Merari, and Zechariah and Meshullam, of the Kohathites, who directed them. All those Levites who were skillful with musical instruments

¹³were in charge of the men who carried the burdens, and they directed all the workers in every kind of labor. Some of the other Levites were scribes, officials and gatekeepers.

¹⁴When they brought out the money that had been deposited in the house of the LORD, Hilkiah the priest found the book of the law of the LORD given through Moses.

¹⁵He reported this to Shaphan the scribe, saying, "I have found the book of the law in the house of the LORD." Hilkiah gave the book to Shaphan,

¹⁶who brought it to the king at the same time that he was making his report to him. He said, "Your servants are doing everything that has been entrusted to them;

¹⁷they have turned into bullion the metals deposited in the LORD'S house and have handed it over to the overseers and the workmen."

¹⁸Then Shaphan the scribe announced to the king, "Hilkiah the priest has given me a book." And Shaphan read from it before the king.

¹⁹When the king heard the words of the law, he tore his garments

²⁰and issued this command to Hilkiah, to Ahikam, son of Shaphan, to Abdon, son of Michah, to Shaphan the scribe, and to Asaiah, the king's servant:

²¹"On behalf of myself and those who are left in Israel and Judah, go, consult the LORD concerning the words of the book that has been found. For the anger of the LORD has been set furiously ablaze against us, since our fathers have not kept the word of the LORD and have not done all that is written in this book."

²²Then Hilkiah and the other men from the king went to the prophetess Huldah, the wife of Shallum, son of Tokhath, son of Hasrah, the guardian of the wardrobe; she dwelt in Jerusalem, in the new quarter. They spoke to her as they had been instructed,

²³and she said to them: "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: 'Tell the one who sent you to me,

²⁴The LORD says: I am prepared to bring evil upon this place and upon its inhabitants, all the curses written in the book that has been read before the king of Judah.

²⁵Because they have abandoned me and have offered incense to other gods, provoking me by every deed that they have performed, my anger is ablaze against this place and cannot be extinguished.'

²⁶"But to the king of Judah who sent you to consult the LORD, give this response: 'Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, concerning the threats you have heard:

²⁷Because you were heartsick and have humbled yourself before God on hearing his words spoken against this place and its inhabitants; because you have humbled yourself before me, have torn your garments, and have wept before me, I in turn have listened--so declares the LORD.

²⁸I will gather you to your ancestors and you shall be taken to your grave in peace. Your eyes shall not see all the evil I will bring upon this place and upon its inhabitants.'" They brought back this message to the king.

²⁹The king now convened all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem.

³⁰He went up to the house of the LORD with all the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the priests, the Levites, and all the people, great and small; and he had read aloud to them the entire text of the book of the covenant that had been found in the house of the LORD.

³¹Standing at his post, the king made a covenant before the LORD to follow the LORD and to keep his commandments, decrees, and statutes with his whole heart and soul, thus observing the terms of the covenant written in this book.

³²He thereby committed all who were of Jerusalem and Benjamin, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem conformed themselves to the covenant of God, the God of their fathers.

³³Josiah removed every abominable thing from all the territory belonging to the Israelites, and he obliged all who were in Israel to serve the LORD, their God. During his lifetime they did not desert the LORD, the God of their fathers.

35 Josiah celebrated in Jerusalem a Passover to honor the LORD; the Passover sacrifice was slaughtered on the fourteenth day of the first month.

- ²He reappointed the priests to their duties and encouraged them in the service of the LORD'S house.
- ³He said to the Levites who were to instruct all Israel, and who were consecrated to the LORD: "Put the holy ark in the house built by Solomon, son of David, king of Israel. It shall no longer be a burden on your shoulders. Serve now the LORD, your God, and his people Israel.
- ⁴Prepare yourselves in your ancestral houses and your classes according to the prescriptions of King David of Israel and his son Solomon.
- ⁵Stand in the sanctuary according to the divisions of the ancestral houses of your brethren, the common people, so that the distribution of the Levites and the families may be the same.
- ⁶Slay the Passover sacrifice, sanctify yourselves, and be at the disposition of your brethren, that all may be carried out according to the word of the LORD given through Moses."
- ⁷Josiah contributed to the common people a flock of lambs and kids, thirty thousand in number, each to serve as a Passover victim for any who were present, and also three thousand oxen; these were from the king's property.
- ⁸His princes also gave a free-will gift to the people, the priests and the Levites. Hilkiah, Zechariah and Jehiel, prefects of the house of God, gave to the priests two thousand six hundred Passover victims together with three hundred oxen.
- ⁹Conaniah and his brothers Shemaiah, Nethanel, Hashabiah, Jehiel and Jozabad, the rulers of the Levites, contributed to the Levites five thousand Passover victims, together with five hundred oxen.
- ¹⁰When the service had been arranged, the priests took their places, as did the Levites in their classes according to the king's command.
- ¹¹The Passover sacrifice was slaughtered, whereupon the priests sprinkled some of the blood and the Levites proceeded to the skinning.
- ¹²They separated what was destined for the holocaust and gave it to various groups of the ancestral houses of the common people to offer to the LORD, as is prescribed in the book of Moses. They did the same with the oxen.

¹³They cooked the Passover on the fire as prescribed, and also cooked the sacred meals in pots, caldrons and pans, then brought them quickly to all the common people.

¹⁴Afterward they prepared the Passover for themselves and for the priests. Indeed the priests, the sons of Aaron, were busy offering holocausts and the fatty portions until night; therefore the Levites prepared for themselves and for the priests, the sons of Aaron.

¹⁶Thus the entire service of the LORD was arranged that day so that the Passover could be celebrated and the holocausts offered on the altar of the LORD, as King Josiah had commanded.

¹⁷The Israelites who were present on that occasion kept the Passover and the feast of the Unleavened Bread for seven days.

¹⁸No such Passover had been observed in Israel since the time of the prophet Samuel, nor had any king of Israel kept a Passover like that of Josiah, the priests and Levites, all of Judah and Israel that were present, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

¹⁹It was in the eighteenth year of Josiah's reign that this Passover was observed.

²⁰After Josiah had done all this to restore the temple, Neco, king of Egypt, came up to fight at Carchemish on the Euphrates, and Josiah went out to intercept him.

²¹Neco sent messengers to him, saying: "What quarrel is between us, king of Judah? I have not come against you this day, for my war is with another kingdom, and God has told me to hasten. Do not interfere with God who is with me, as otherwise he will destroy you."

²²But Josiah would not withdraw from him, for he had sought a pretext for fighting with him. Therefore he would not listen to the words of Neco that came from the mouth of God, but went out to fight in the plain of Megiddo.

²³Then the archers shot King Josiah, who said to his servants, "Take me away, for I am seriously wounded."

²⁴His servants removed him from his own chariot, placed him in another he had in reserve, and brought him to Jerusalem, where he died. He was buried in the tombs of his ancestors, and all Judah and Jerusalem mourned him.

²⁵Jeremiah also composed a lamentation over Josiah, which is recited to this day by all the male and female singers in their lamentations over Josiah. These have been made obligatory for Israel, and can be found written in the Lamentations.

²⁶The rest of the chronicle of Josiah, his pious deeds in regard to what is written in the law of the LORD, and his acts, first and last, can be found written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah.

36The people of the land took Jehoahaz, son of Josiah, and made him king in Jerusalem in his father's stead.

²Jehoahaz was twenty-three years old when he became king, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem.

³The king of Egypt deposed him in Jerusalem and fined the land one hundred talents of silver and a talent of gold.

⁴Then the king of Egypt made his brother Eliakim king over Judah and Jerusalem, and changed his name to Jehoiakim. Neco took his brother Jehoahaz away and brought him to Egypt.

⁵Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. He did evil in the sight of the LORD, his God.

⁶Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, came up against him and bound him with chains to take him to Babylon.

⁷Nebuchadnezzar also carried away to Babylon some of the vessels of the house of the LORD and put them in his palace in Babylon.

⁸The rest of the acts of Jehoiakim, the abominable things that he did, and what therefore happened to him, can be found written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah. His son Jehoiachin succeeded him as king.

⁹Jehoiachin was eighteen years old when he became king, and he reigned three months (and ten days) in Jerusalem. He did evil in the sight of the LORD.

¹⁰At the turn of the year, King Nebuchadnezzar sent for him and had him brought to Babylon, along with precious vessels from the temple of the LORD. He made his brother Zedekiah king over Judah and Jerusalem.

¹¹Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem.

¹²He did evil in the sight of the LORD, his God, and he did not humble himself before the prophet Jeremiah, who spoke the word of the LORD.

¹³He also rebelled against King Nebuchadnezzar, who had made him swear by God. He became stiff-necked and hardened his heart rather than return to the LORD, the God of Israel.

¹⁴Likewise all the princes of Judah, the priests and the people added infidelity to infidelity, practicing all the abominations of the nations and polluting the LORD'S temple which he had consecrated in Jerusalem.

¹⁵Early and often did the LORD, the God of their fathers, send his messengers to them, for he had compassion on his people and his dwelling place.

¹⁶But they mocked the messengers of God, despised his warnings, and scoffed at his prophets, until the anger of the LORD against his people was so inflamed that there was no remedy.

¹⁷Then he brought up against them the king of the Chaldeans, who slew their young men in their own sanctuary building, sparing neither young man nor maiden, neither the aged nor the decrepit; he delivered all of them over into his grip.

¹⁸All the utensils of the house of God, the large and the small, and the treasures of the LORD'S house and of the king and his princes, all these he brought to Babylon.

¹⁹They burnt the house of God, tore down the walls of Jerusalem, set all its palaces afire, and destroyed all its precious objects.

²⁰Those who escaped the sword he carried captive to Babylon, where they became his and his sons' servants until the kingdom of the Persians came to power.

²¹All this was to fulfill the word of the LORD spoken by Jeremiah: "Until the land has retrieved its lost sabbaths, during all the time it lies waste it shall have rest while seventy years are fulfilled."

²²In the first year of Cyrus, king of Persia, in order to fulfill the word of the LORD spoken by Jeremiah, the LORD inspired King Cyrus of Persia to issue this proclamation throughout his kingdom, both by word of mouth and in writing:

²³"Thus says Cyrus, king of Persia: 'All the kingdoms of the earth the LORD, the God of heaven, has given to me, and he has also charged me to build him a house in Jerusalem, which is in Judah. Whoever, therefore, among you belongs to any part of his people, let him go up, and may his God be with him!'"

Ezra

1 In the first year of Cyrus, king of Persia, in order to fulfill the word of the LORD spoken by Jeremiah, the LORD inspired King Cyrus of Persia to issue this proclamation throughout his kingdom, both by word of mouth and in writing:

2"Thus says Cyrus, king of Persia: 'All the kingdoms of the earth the LORD, the God of heaven, has given to me, and he has also charged me to build him a house in Jerusalem, which is in Judah.

3Whoever, therefore, among you belongs to any part of his people, let him go up, and may his God be with him!

4Let everyone who has survived, in whatever place he may have dwelt, be assisted by the people of that place with silver, gold, goods, and cattle, together with free-will offerings for the house of God in Jerusalem."

5Then the family heads of Judah and Benjamin and the priests and Levites--everyone, that is, whom God had inspired to do so--prepared to go up to build the house of the LORD in Jerusalem.

6All their neighbors gave them help in every way, with silver, gold, goods, and cattle, and with many precious gifts besides all their free-will offerings.

7King Cyrus, too, had the utensils of the house of the LORD brought forth which Nebuchadnezzar had taken away from Jerusalem and placed in the house of his god.

8Cyrus, king of Persia, had them brought forth by the treasurer Mithredath, and counted out to Sheshbazzar, the prince of Judah.

9This was the inventory: sacks of goldware, thirty; sacks of silverware, one thousand and twenty-nine;

10golden bowls, thirty; silver bowls, four hundred and ten; other ware, one thousand pieces.

11Total of the gold-and silver ware: five thousand four hundred pieces. All these Sheshbazzar took with him when the exiles were brought back from Babylon to Jerusalem.

2 These are the inhabitants of the province who returned from the captivity of the exiles, whom Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, had carried away to Babylon, and who came back to Jerusalem and Judah, each man in his own city

²(those who returned with Zerubbabel, Jeshua, Nehemiah, Seraiah, Reelaiah, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispereth, Bigvai, Rehum, and Baanah): The census of the men of Israel:

³sons of Parosh, two thousand one hundred and seventy-two;

⁴sons of Shephatiah, three hundred and seventy-two;

⁵sons of Arah, seven hundred and seventy-five;

⁶sons of Pahath-moab, who were sons of Jeshua and Joab, two thousand eight hundred and twelve;

⁷sons of Elam, one thousand two hundred and fifty-four;

⁸sons of Zattu, nine hundred and forty-five;

⁹sons of Zaccai, seven hundred and sixty;

¹⁰sons of Bani, six hundred and forty-two;

¹¹sons of Bebai, six hundred and twenty-three;

¹²sons of Azgad, one thousand two hundred and twenty-two;

¹³sons of Adonikam, six hundred and sixty-six;

¹⁴sons of Bigvai, two thousand and fifty-six;

¹⁵sons of Adin, four hundred and fifty-four;

¹⁶sons of Ater, who were sons of Hezekiah, ninety-eight;

¹⁷sons of Bezai, three hundred and twenty-three;

¹⁸sons of Jorah, one hundred and twelve;

¹⁹sons of Hashum, two hundred and twenty-three;

²⁰sons of Gibeon, ninety-five;

²¹sons of Bethlehem, one hundred and twenty-three;

²²men of Netophah, fifty-six;

²³men of Anathoth, one hundred and twenty-eight;

²⁴men of Beth-azmaveth, forty-two;

²⁵men of Kiriath-jearim, Chephirah, and Beeroth, seven hundred and forty-three;

²⁶men of Ramah and Geba, six hundred and twenty-one;

²⁷men of Michmas, one hundred and twenty-two;

²⁸men of Bethel and Ai, two hundred and twenty-three;

²⁹sons of Nebo, fifty-two;

³⁰sons of Magbish, one hundred and fifty-six;

³¹sons of the other Elam, one thousand two hundred and fifty-four;

³²sons of Harim, three hundred and twenty;

³³sons of Lod, Hadid, and Ono, seven hundred and twenty-five;

³⁴sons of Jericho, three hundred and forty-five;

³⁵sons of Senaah, three thousand six hundred and thirty.

³⁶The priests: sons of Jedaiah, who were of the house of Jeshua, nine hundred and seventy-three;

³⁷sons of Immer, one thousand and fifty-two;

³⁸sons of Pashhur, one thousand two hundred and forty-seven;

³⁹sons of Harim, one thousand and seventeen.

⁴⁰The Levites: sons of Jeshua, Kadmiel, Binnui, and Hodaviah, seventy-four.

⁴¹The singers: sons of Asaph, one hundred and twenty-eight.

⁴²The gatekeepers: sons of Shallum, sons of Ater, sons of Talmon, sons of Akkub, sons of Hatita, sons of Shobai, one hundred and thirty-nine in all.

⁴³The temple slaves: sons of Ziha, sons of Hasupha, sons of Tabbaoth,

⁴⁴sons of Keros, sons of Siaha, sons of Padon,

⁴⁵sons of Lebanah, sons of Hagabah, sons of Akkub,

⁴⁶sons of Hagab, sons of Shamlai, sons of Hanan,

⁴⁷sons of Giddel, sons of Gahar, sons of Reaiah,

⁴⁸sons of Rezin, sons of Nekoda, sons of Gazzam,

⁴⁹sons of Uzza, sons of Paseah, sons of Besai,

⁵⁰sons of Asnah, sons of the Meunites, sons of the Nephusites,

⁵¹sons of Bakbuk, sons of Hakupha, sons of Harhur,

⁵²sons of Bazluth, sons of Mehida, sons of Harsha,

⁵³sons of Barkos, sons of Sisera, sons of Temah,

⁵⁴sons of Neziah, sons of Hatipha.

⁵⁵Descendants of the slaves of Solomon: sons of Sotai, sons of Hassophereth, sons of Peruda,

⁵⁶sons of Jaalah, sons of Darkon, sons of Giddel,

⁵⁷sons of Shephatiah, sons of Hattil, sons of Pochereth-hazzebaim, sons of Ami.

- ⁵⁸The total of the temple slaves and the descendants of the slaves of Solomon was three hundred and ninety-two.
- ⁵⁹The following who returned from Tel-melah, Tel-harsha, Cherub, Addan, and Immer were unable to prove that their ancestral houses and their descent were Israelite:
- ⁶⁰sons of Delaiah, sons of Tobiah, sons of Nekoda, six hundred and fifty-two.
- ⁶¹Also, of the priests: sons of Habaiah, sons of Hakkoz, sons of Barzillai (he had married one of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite and became known by his name).
- ⁶²These men searched their family records, but their names could not be found written there; hence they were degraded from the priesthood,
- ⁶³and His Excellency ordered them not to partake of the most holy foods until there should be a priest bearing the Urim and Thummim.
- ⁶⁴The entire assembly taken together came to forty-two thousand three hundred and sixty,
- ⁶⁵not counting their male and female slaves, who were seven thousand three hundred and thirty-seven. They also had two hundred male and female singers.
- ⁶⁶Their horses were seven hundred and thirty-six, their mules two hundred and forty-five,
- ⁶⁷their camels four hundred and thirty-five, their asses six thousand seven hundred and twenty.
- ⁶⁸When they arrived at the house of the LORD in Jerusalem, some of the family heads made free-will offerings for the house of God, to rebuild it in its place.
- ⁶⁹According to their means they contributed to the treasury for the temple service: sixty-one thousand drachmas of gold, five thousand minas of silver, and one hundred garments for the priests.
- ⁷⁰The priests, the Levites, and some of the common people took up residence in Jerusalem; but the singers, the gatekeepers, and the temple slaves dwelt in their cities. Thus all the Israelites dwelt in their cities.

3 Now when the seventh month came, after the Israelites had settled in their cities, the people gathered at Jerusalem as one man.

² Then Jeshua, son of Jozadak, together with his brethren the priests, and Zerubbabel, son of Shealtiel, together with his brethren, set about rebuilding the altar of the God of Israel in order to offer on it the holocausts prescribed in the law of Moses, the man of God.

³ Despite their fear of the peoples of the land, they replaced the altar on its foundations and offered holocausts to the LORD on it, both morning and evening.

⁴ They also kept the feast of Booths in the manner prescribed, and they offered the daily holocausts in the proper number required for each day.

⁵ Thereafter they offered the established holocaust, the sacrifices prescribed for the new moons and all the festivals sacred to the LORD, and those which anyone might offer as a free-will gift to the LORD.

⁶ From the first day of the seventh month they began to offer holocausts to the LORD, though the foundation of the temple of the LORD had not yet been laid.

⁸ In the year after their coming to the house of God in Jerusalem, in the second month, Zerubbabel, son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua, son of Jozadak, together with the rest of their brethren, the priests and Levites and all who had come from the captivity to Jerusalem, began by appointing the Levites twenty years of age and over to supervise the work on the house of the LORD.

⁹ Jeshua and his sons and brethren, with Kadmiel and Binnui, son of Henadad, and their sons and their brethren, the Levites, stood as one man to supervise those who were engaged in the work on the house of God.

¹⁰ When the builders had laid the foundation of the LORD'S temple, the vested priests with the trumpets and the Levites, sons of Asaph, were stationed there with the cymbals to praise the LORD in the manner laid down by David, king of Israel.

¹¹They alternated in songs of praise and thanksgiving to the LORD, "for he is good, for his kindness to Israel endures forever"; and all the people raised a great shout of joy, praising the LORD because the foundation of the LORD'S house had been laid.

¹²Many of the priests, Levites, and family heads, the old men who had seen the former house, cried out in sorrow as they watched the foundation of the present house being laid. Many others, however, lifted up their voices in shouts of joy, ¹³and no one could distinguish the sound of the joyful shouting from the sound of those who were weeping; for the people raised a mighty clamor which was heard afar off.

4When the enemies of Judah and Benjamin heard that the exiles were building a temple for the LORD, the God of Israel,

²they approached Zerubbabel and the family heads and said to them, "Let us build with you, for we seek your God just as you do, and we have sacrificed to him since the days of Esarhaddon, king of Assyria, who had us brought here."

³But Zerubbabel, Jeshua, and the rest of the family heads of Israel answered them, "It is not your responsibility to build with us a house for our God, but we alone must build it for the LORD, the God of Israel, as King Cyrus of Persia has commanded us."

⁴Thereupon the people of the land set out to intimidate and dishearten the people of Judah so as to keep them from building.

⁵They also suborned counselors to work against them and thwart their plans during the remaining years of Cyrus, king of Persia, and until the reign of Darius, king of Persia.

⁶Also at the beginning of the reign of Ahashuerus they prepared a written accusation against the inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem.

⁷Again, in the time of Artaxerxes, Mithredath wrote in concert with Tabeel and the rest of his fellow officials to Artaxerxes, king of Persia. The document was written in Aramaic and was accompanied by a translation. (Aramaic:)

⁸Then Rehum, the governor, and Shimshai, the scribe, wrote the following letter against Jerusalem to King Artaxerxes:

⁹"Rehum, the governor, Shimshai, the scribe, and their fellow judges, officials, and agents from among the Persian, Urukian, Babylonian, Susian (that is Elamite),

¹⁰and the other peoples whom the great and illustrious Assurbanipal transported and settled in the city of Samaria and elsewhere in the province West-of-Euphrates, as follows. . . ."

¹¹This is a copy of the letter that they sent to him: "To King Artaxerxes, your servants, the men of West-of-Euphrates, as follows:

¹²Let it be known to the king that the Jews who came up from you to us have arrived at Jerusalem and are now rebuilding this rebellious and evil city. They are raising up its walls, and the foundations have already been laid.

¹³Now let it be known to the king that if this city is rebuilt and its walls are raised up again, they will no longer pay taxes, tributes, or tolls; thus it can only result in harm to the throne.

¹⁴Now, since we partake of the salt of the palace, we ought not simply to look on while the king is being dishonored. Therefore we have sent this message to inform you, O king,

¹⁵so that inquiry may be made in the historical records of your fathers. In the historical records you can discover and verify that this city is a rebellious city which has proved fatal to kings and provinces, and that sedition has been fostered there since ancient times. For that reason this city was destroyed.

¹⁶We inform you, O king, that if this city is rebuilt and its walls are raised up again, by that very fact you will no longer own any part of West-of-Euphrates."

¹⁷The king sent this answer: "To Rehum, the governor, Shimshai, the scribe, and their fellow officials living in Samaria and elsewhere in the province West-of-Euphrates, greetings and the following:

¹⁸The communication which you sent us has been read plainly in my presence.

¹⁹When at my command inquiry was made, it was verified that from ancient times this city has risen up against kings and that rebellion and sedition have been fostered there.

²⁰Powerful kings were once in Jerusalem who ruled over all West-of-Euphrates, and taxes, tributes, and tolls were paid to them.

²¹Give orders, therefore, that will stop the work of these men. This city may not be rebuilt until a further decree has been issued by me.

²²Take care that you do not neglect this matter, lest the evil grow to the detriment of the throne."

²³As soon as a copy of King Artaxerxes' letter had been read before Rehum, the governor, Shimshai, the scribe, and their fellow officials, they went in all haste to the Jews in Jerusalem and stopped their work by force of arms.

²⁴Thus it was that the work on the house of God in Jerusalem was halted. This inaction lasted until the second year of the reign of Darius, king of Persia.

5 Then the prophets Haggai and Zechariah, son of Iddo, began to prophesy to the Jews in Judah and Jerusalem in the name of the God of Israel.

²Thereupon Zerubbabel, son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua, son of Jozadak, began again to build the house of God in Jerusalem, with the prophets of God giving them support.

³At that time there came to them Tattenai, governor of West-of-Euphrates, and Shethar-bozenai, and their fellow officials, who asked of them: "Who issued the decree for you to build this house and raise this edifice?

⁴What are the names of the men who are building this structure?"

⁵But their God watched over the elders of the Jews so that they were not hindered, until a report could go to Darius and then a written order be sent back concerning this matter.

⁶A copy of the letter sent to King Darius by Tattenai, governor of West-of-Euphrates, and Shethar-bozenai, and their fellow officials from West-of-Euphrates; ⁷they sent him a report in which was written the following: "To King Darius, all good wishes!

⁸Let it be known to the king that we have visited the province of Judah and the house of the great God: it is being rebuilt of cut stone and the walls are being reinforced with timber; the work is being carried on diligently and is making good progress under their hands.

⁹We then questioned the elders, addressing to them the following words: 'Who issued the decree for you to build this house and raise this edifice?'

¹⁰We also asked them their names, to report them to you in a list of the men who are their leaders.

¹¹This was their answer to us: 'We are the servants of the God of heaven and earth, and we are rebuilding the house built here long years ago, which a great king of Israel built and finished.

¹²But because our fathers provoked the wrath of the God of heaven, he delivered them into the power of the Chaldean, Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, who destroyed this house and led the people captive to Babylon.

¹³However, in the first year of Cyrus, king of Babylon, King Cyrus issued a decree for the rebuilding of this house of God.

¹⁴Moreover, the gold and silver utensils of the house of God which Nebuchadnezzar had taken from the temple in Jerusalem and carried off to the temple in Babylon, King Cyrus ordered to be removed from the temple in Babylon and consigned to a certain Sheshbazzar, whom he named governor.

¹⁵And he commanded him: Take these utensils and deposit them in the temple of Jerusalem, and let the house of God be rebuilt on its former site.

¹⁶Then this same Sheshbazzar came and laid the foundations of the house of God in Jerusalem. Since that time the building has been going on, and it is not yet completed.'

¹⁷Now, if it please the king, let a search be made in the royal archives of Babylon to discover whether a decree really was issued by King Cyrus for the rebuilding of this house of God in Jerusalem. And may the king's pleasure in this matter be communicated to us."

6 Thereupon King Darius issued an order to search the archives in which the Babylonian records were stored away;

²and in Ecbatana, the stronghold in the province of Media, a scroll was found containing the following text: "Memorandum.

³In the first year of King Cyrus, King Cyrus issued a decree: The house of God in Jerusalem. The house is to be rebuilt as a place for offering sacrifices and bringing burnt offerings. Its height is to be sixty cubits and its width sixty cubits.

⁴It shall have three courses of cut stone for each one of timber. The costs are to be borne by the royal palace.

⁵Also, the gold and silver utensils of the house of God which Nebuchadnezzar took from the temple of Jerusalem and brought to Babylon are to be sent back: to be returned to their place in the temple of Jerusalem and deposited in the house of God.

⁶"Now, therefore, Tattenai, governor of West-of-Euphrates, and Shethar-bozenai, and you, their fellow officials in West-of-Euphrates, do not interfere in that place.

⁷Let the governor and the elders of the Jews continue the work on that house of God; they are to rebuild it on its former site.

⁸I also issue this decree concerning your dealing with these elders of the Jews in the rebuilding of that house of God: From the royal revenue, the taxes of West-of-Euphrates, let these men be repaid for their expenses, in full and without delay.

⁹Whatever else is required--young bulls, rams, and lambs for holocausts to the God of heaven, wheat, salt, wine, and oil, according to the requirements of the priests who are in Jerusalem--is to be delivered to them day by day without fail,

¹⁰that they may continue to offer sacrifices of pleasing odor to the God of heaven and pray for the life of the king and his sons.

¹¹I also issue this decree: If any man violates this edict, a beam is to be taken from his house, and he is to be lifted up and impaled on it; and his house is to be reduced to rubble for this offense.

¹²And may the God who causes his name to dwell there overthrow every king or people who may undertake to alter this or to destroy this house of God in Jerusalem. I, Darius, have issued this decree; let it be carefully executed."

¹³Then Tattenai, the governor of West-of-Euphrates, and Shethar-bozenai, and their fellow officials carried out fully the instructions King Darius had sent them.

¹⁴The elders of the Jews continued to make progress in the building, supported by the message of the prophets, Haggai and Zechariah, son of Iddo. They finished the building according to the command of the God of Israel and the decrees of Cyrus and Darius (and of Artaxerxes, king of Persia).

¹⁵They completed this house on the third day of the month Adar, in the sixth year of the reign of King Darius.

¹⁶The Israelites--priests, Levites, and the other returned exiles--celebrated the dedication of this house of God with joy.

¹⁷For the dedication of this house of God, they offered one hundred bulls, two hundred rams, and four hundred lambs, together with twelve he-goats as a sin-offering for all Israel, in keeping with the number of the tribes of Israel.

¹⁸Finally, they set up the priests in their classes and the Levites in their divisions for the service of God in Jerusalem, as is prescribed in the book of Moses.

¹⁹The exiles kept the Passover on the fourteenth day of the first month.

²⁰The Levites, every one of whom had purified himself for the occasion, sacrificed the Passover for the rest of the exiles, for their brethren the priests, and for themselves.

²¹The Israelites who had returned from the exile partook of it together with all those who had separated themselves from the uncleanness of the peoples of the land to join them in seeking the LORD, the God of Israel.

²²They joyfully kept the feast of Unleavened Bread for seven days, for the LORD had filled them with joy by making the king of Assyria favorable to them, so that he gave them help in their work on the house of God, the God of Israel.

7 After these events, during the reign of Artaxerxes, king of Persia, Ezra, son of Seraiah, son of Azariah, son of Hilkiah,

²son of Shallum, son of Zadok, son of Ahitub,

³son of Amariah, son of Azariah, son of Meraioth,

⁴son of Zerariah, son of Uzzi, son of Bukki,

⁵son of Abishua, son of Phinehas, son of Eleazar, son of the high priest Aaron--

⁶this Ezra came up from Babylon. He was a scribe, well-versed in the law of Moses which was given by the LORD, the God of Israel. Because the hand of the LORD, his God, was upon him, the king granted him all that he requested.

⁷Some of the Israelites and some priests, Levites, singers, gatekeepers, and temple slaves also came up to Jerusalem in the seventh year of King Artaxerxes.

⁸Ezra came to Jerusalem in the fifth month of that seventh year of the king.

⁹On the first day of the first month he resolved on the journey up from Babylon, and on the first day of the fifth month he arrived at Jerusalem, for the favoring hand of his God was upon him.

¹⁰Ezra had set his heart on the study and practice of the law of the LORD and on teaching statutes and ordinances in Israel.

¹¹This is a copy of the rescript which King Artaxerxes gave to Ezra the priest-scribe, the scribe of the text of the LORD'S commandments and statutes for Israel:

¹²"Artaxerxes, king of kings, to Ezra the priest, scribe of the law of the God of heaven (then, after greetings):

¹³I have issued this decree, that anyone in my kingdom belonging to the people of Israel, its priests or Levites, who is minded to go up to Jerusalem with you, may do so.

¹⁴You are the envoy from the king and his seven counselors to supervise Judah and Jerusalem in respect of the law of your God which is in your possession,

¹⁵and to bring with you the silver and gold which the king and his counselors have freely contributed to the God of Israel, whose dwelling is in Jerusalem,

¹⁶as well as all the silver and gold which you may receive throughout the province of Babylon, together with the free-will offerings which the people and priests freely contribute for the house of their God in Jerusalem.

¹⁷You must take care, therefore, to use this money to buy bulls, rams, lambs, and the cereal offerings and libations proper to these, and to offer them on the altar of the house of your God in Jerusalem.

¹⁸You and your brethren may do whatever seems best to you with the remainder of the silver and gold, conformably to the will of your God.

¹⁹The utensils consigned to you for the service of the house of your God you are to deposit before the God of Jerusalem.

²⁰Whatever else you may be required to supply for the needs of the house of your God, you may draw from the royal treasury.

²¹I, Artaxerxes the king, issue this decree to all the treasurers of West-of-Euphrates: Whatever Ezra the priest, scribe of the law of the God of heaven, requests of you, dispense to him accurately, ²²within these limits: silver, one hundred talents; wheat, one hundred kors; wine, one hundred baths; oil, one hundred baths; salt, without limit.

²³Let everything that is ordered by the God of heaven be carried out exactly for the house of the God of heaven, that wrath may not come upon the realm of the king and his sons.

²⁴We also inform you that it is not permitted to impose taxes, tributes, or tolls on any priest, Levite, singer, gatekeeper, temple slave, or any other servant of that house of God.

²⁵As for you, Ezra, in accordance with the wisdom of your God which is in your possession, appoint magistrates and judges to administer justice to all the people in West-of-Euphrates, to all, that is, who know the laws of your God. Instruct those who do not know these laws.

²⁶Whoever does not obey the law of your God and the law of the king, let strict judgment be executed upon him, whether death, or corporal punishment, or a fine on his goods, or imprisonment."

²⁷Blessed be the LORD, the God of our fathers, who thus disposed the mind of the king to glorify the house of the LORD in Jerusalem,

²⁸and who let me find favor with the king, with his counselors, and with all the most influential royal officials. I therefore took courage and, with the hand of the LORD, my God, upon me, I gathered together Israelite family heads to make the return journey with me.

8 This is the list of the family heads who returned with me from Babylon during the reign of King Artaxerxes:

²Of the sons of Phinehas, Gershon; of the sons of Ithamar, Daniel; of the sons of David, Hattush,

³son of Shecaniah; of the sons of Parosh, Zechariah, and with him one hundred and fifty males were enrolled;

⁴of the sons of Pahath-moab, Eliehoenai, son of Zerahiah, and with him two hundred males;

⁵of the sons of Zattu, Shecaniah, son of Jahaziel, and with him three hundred males;

⁶of the sons of Adin, Ebed, son of Jonathan, and with him fifty males;

⁷of the sons of Elam, Jeshaiah, son of Athaliah, and with him seventy males;

⁸of the sons of Shephatiah, Zebadiah, son of Michael, and with him eighty males;

⁹of the sons of Joab, Obadiah, son of Jehiel, and with him two hundred and eighteen males;

¹⁰of the sons of Bani, Shelomith, son of Josiphiah, and with him one hundred and sixty males;

¹¹of the sons of Bebai, Zechariah, son of Bebai, and with him twenty-eight males;

¹²of the sons of Azgad, Johanan, son of Hakkatan, and with him one hundred and ten males;

¹³of the sons of Adonikam, younger sons, whose names were Eliphelet, Jeiel, and Shemaiah, and with them sixty males;

¹⁴of the sons of Bigvai, Uthai, son of Zakkur, and with him seventy males.

¹⁵I had them assemble by the river that flows toward Ahava, where we made camp for three days. There I perceived that both laymen and priests were present, but I could not discover a single Levite.

¹⁶Therefore I sent Eliezer, Ariel, Shemaiah, Jarib, Elnathan, Nathan, Zechariah, and Meshullam, wise leaders, ¹⁷with a command for Iddo, the leader in the place Casiphia, instructing them what to say to Iddo and his brethren, and to the temple slaves in Casiphia, in order to procure for us ministers for the house of our God.

¹⁸They sent to us--for the favoring hand of our God was upon us--a well-instructed man, one of the sons of Mahli, son of Levi, son of Israel, namely Sherebiah, with his sons and brethren, eighteen men.

¹⁹They also sent us Hashabiah, and with him Jeshaiiah, sons of Merari, and their brethren and their sons, twenty men.

²⁰Of the temple slaves (those whom David and the princes appointed to serve the Levites) there were two hundred and twenty. All these men were enrolled by name.

²¹Then I proclaimed a fast, there by the river of Ahava, that we might humble ourselves before our God to petition from him a safe journey for ourselves, our children, and all our possessions.

²²For I would have been ashamed to ask the king for troops and horsemen to protect us against enemies along the way, since we had said to the king, "The favoring hand of our God is upon all who seek him, but his mighty wrath is against all who forsake him."

²³So we fasted, and prayed to our God for this, and our petition was granted.

²⁴Next I selected twelve of the priestly leaders along with Sherebiah, Hashabiah, and ten of their brethren, ²⁵and I weighed out before them the silver and the gold and the utensils offered for the house of our God by the king, his counselors, his officials, and all the Israelites of that region.

²⁶I consigned it to them in these amounts: silver, six hundred and fifty talents; silver utensils, one hundred; gold, one hundred talents;

²⁷twenty golden bowls valued at a thousand darics; two vases of excellent polished bronze, as precious as gold.

²⁸I addressed them in these words: "You are consecrated to the LORD, and the utensils are also consecrated; the silver and the gold are a free-will offering to the LORD, the God of your fathers.

²⁹Keep good watch over them till you weigh them out in Jerusalem in the presence of the chief priests and Levites and the family leaders of Israel, in the chambers of the house of the LORD."

³⁰The priests and the Levites then took over the silver, the gold, and the utensils that had been weighed out, to bring them to Jerusalem, to the house of our God.

³¹We set out for Jerusalem from the river of Ahava on the twelfth day of the first month. The hand of our God remained upon us, and he protected us from enemies and bandits along the way.

³²Thus we arrived in Jerusalem, where we first rested for three days.

³³On the fourth day, the silver, the gold, and the utensils were weighed out in the house of our God and consigned to the priest Meremoth, son of Uriah, who was assisted by Eleazar, son of Phinehas; they were assisted by the Levites Jozabad, son of Jeshua, and Noadiah, son of Binnui.

³⁴Everything was in order as to number and weight, and the total weight was registered. At that same time,

³⁵those who had returned from the captivity, the exiles, offered as holocausts to the God of Israel twelve bulls for all Israel, ninety-six rams, seventy-seven lambs, and twelve goats as sin-offerings: all these as a holocaust to the LORD.

³⁶Finally, the orders of the king were presented to the king's satraps and to the governors in West-of-Euphrates, who gave their support to the people and to the house of God.

9 When these matters had been concluded, the leaders approached me with this report: "Neither the Israelite laymen nor the priests nor the Levites have kept themselves aloof from the peoples of the land and their abominations (Canaanites, Hittites, Perizzites, Jebusites, Ammonites, Moabites, Egyptians, and Amorites);

²for they have taken some of their daughters as wives for themselves and their sons, and thus they have desecrated the holy race with the peoples of the land. Furthermore, the leaders and rulers have taken a leading part in this apostasy!"

³When I had heard this thing, I tore my cloak and my mantle, plucked hair from my head and beard, and sat there stupefied.

⁴Around me gathered all who were in dread of the sentence of the God of Israel on this apostasy of the exiles, while I remained motionless until the evening sacrifice.

⁵Then, at the time of the evening sacrifice, I rose in my wretchedness, and with cloak and mantle torn I fell on my knees, stretching out my hands to the LORD, my God.

⁶I said: "My God, I am too ashamed and confounded to raise my face to you, O my God, for our wicked deeds are heaped up above our heads and our guilt reaches up to heaven.

⁷From the time of our fathers even to this day great has been our guilt, and for our wicked deeds we have been delivered over, we and our kings and our priests, to the will of the kings of foreign lands, to the sword, to captivity, to pillage, and to disgrace, as is the case today.

⁸"And now, but a short time ago, mercy came to us from the LORD, our God, who left us a remnant and gave us a stake in his holy place; thus our God has brightened our eyes and given us relief in our servitude.

⁹For slaves we are, but in our servitude our God has not abandoned us; rather, he has turned the good will of the kings of Persia toward us. Thus he has given us new life to raise again the house of our God and restore its ruins, and has granted us a fence in Judah and Jerusalem.

¹⁰But now, O our God, what can we say after all this? For we have abandoned your commandments, ¹¹which you gave through your servants the prophets: the land which you are entering to take as your possession is a land unclean with the filth of the peoples of the land, with the abominations with which they have filled it from one end to the other in their uncleanness.

¹²Do not, then, give your daughters to their sons in marriage, and do not take their daughters for your sons. Never promote their peace and prosperity; thus you will grow strong, enjoy the produce of the land, and leave it as an inheritance to your children forever.

¹³"After all that has come upon us for our evil deeds and our great guilt-though you, our God, have made less of our sinfulness than it deserved and have allowed us to survive as we do--

¹⁴shall we again violate your commandments by intermarrying with these abominable peoples? Would you not become so angered with us as to destroy us without remnant or survivor?

¹⁵O LORD, God of Israel, you are just; yet we have been spared, the remnant we are today. Here we are before you in our sins. Because of all this, we can no longer stand in your presence."

10 While Ezra prayed and acknowledged their guilt, weeping and prostrate before the house of God, a very large assembly of Israelites gathered about him, men, women, and children; and the people wept profusely.

²Then Shecaniah, the son of Jehiel, one of the sons of Elam, made this appeal to Ezra: "We have indeed betrayed our God by taking as wives foreign women of the peoples of the land. Yet even now there remains a hope for Israel.

³Let us therefore enter into a covenant before our God to dismiss all our foreign wives and the children born of them, in keeping with what you, my lord, advise, and those who fear the commandments of our God. Let the law be observed!

⁴Rise, then, for this is your duty! We will stand by you, so have courage and take action!"

⁵Ezra rose to his feet and demanded an oath from the chiefs of the priests, from the Levites and from all Israel that they would do as had been proposed; and they swore it.

⁶Then Ezra retired from his place before the house of God and entered the chamber of Johanan, son of Eliashib, where he spent the night neither eating food nor drinking water, for he was in mourning over the betrayal by the exiles.

⁷A proclamation was made throughout Judah and Jerusalem that all the exiles should gather together in Jerusalem, ⁸and that whoever failed to appear within three days would, according to the judgment of the leaders and elders, suffer the confiscation of all his possessions, and himself be excluded from the assembly of the exiles.

⁹All the men of Judah and Benjamin gathered together in Jerusalem within the three-day period: it was in the ninth month, on the twentieth day of the month. All the people, standing in the open place before the house of God, were trembling both over the matter at hand and because it was raining.

¹⁰Then Ezra, the priest, stood up and said to them: "Your unfaithfulness in taking foreign women as wives has added to Israel's guilt.

¹¹But now, give praise to the LORD, the God of your fathers, and do his will: separate yourselves from the peoples of the land and from these foreign women."

¹²In answer, the whole assembly cried out with a loud voice: "Yes, it is our duty to do as you say!"

¹³But the people are numerous and it is the rainy season, so that we cannot remain out-of-doors; besides, this is not a task that can be performed in a single day or even two, for those of us who have sinned in this regard are many.

¹⁴Let our leaders represent the whole assembly; then let all those in our cities who have taken foreign women for wives appear at appointed times, accompanied by the elders and magistrates of each city in question, till we have turned away from us our God's burning anger over this affair."

¹⁵Only Jonathan, son of Asahel, and Jahzeiah, son of Tikvah, were against this proposal, with Meshullam and Shabbethai the Levite supporting them.

¹⁶The exiles did as agreed. Ezra appointed as his assistants men who were family heads, one for each family, all of them designated by name. They held sessions to examine the matter, beginning with the first day of the tenth month.

¹⁷By the first day of the first month they had passed judgment on all the men who had taken foreign women for wives.

¹⁸Among the priests, the following were found to have taken foreign women for wives: Of the sons of Jeshua, son of Jozadak, and his brethren: Maaseiah, Eliezer, Jarib, and Gedaliah.

¹⁹They pledged themselves to dismiss their wives, and as a guilt-offering for their guilt they gave a ram from the flock.

²⁰Of the sons of Immer: Hanani and Zebadiah;

²¹of the sons of Harim: Maaseiah, Elijah, Shemaiah, Jehiel, and Uziah;

²²of the sons of Pashhur: Elioenai, Maaseiah, Ishmael, Nethanel, Jozabad, and Elasah.

²³Of the Levites: Jozabad, Shimei, Kelaiah (also called Kelita), Pethahiah, Judah and Eliezer.

- ²⁴Of the singers: Eliashib and Zakkur; of the gatekeepers: Shallum, Telem, and Uri.
- ²⁵Among the other Israelites: Of the sons of Parosh: Ramiah, Izziah, Malchijah, Mijamin, Eleazar, Malchijah, and Benaiah;
- ²⁶of the sons of Elam: Mattaniah, Zechariah, Jehiel, Abdi, Jeremoth, and Elijah;
- ²⁷of the sons of Zattu: Elioenai, Eliashib, Mattaniah, Jeremoth, Zabad, and Aziza;
- ²⁸of the sons of Bebai: Jehohanan, Hananiah, Zabbai, and Athlai;
- ²⁹of the sons of Bani: Meshullam, Malluch, Adaiah, Jashub, Sheal, and Jeremoth;
- ³⁰of the sons of Pahath-moab: Adna, Chelal, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattaniah, Bezalel, Binnui, and Manasseh;
- ³¹of the sons of Harim: Eliezer, Isshijah, Malchijah, Shemaiah, Shimeon,
- ³²Benjamin, Malluch, Shemariah;
- ³³of the sons of Hashum: Mattenai, Mattattah, Zabad, Eliphelet, Jeremai, Manasseh, Shimei;
- ³⁴of the sons of Begui: Maadai, Amram, Uel,
- ³⁵Benaiah, Bedeiah, Cheluhi,
- ³⁶Vaniah, Meremoth, Eliashib,
- ³⁷Mattaniah, Mattenai, and Jaasu;
- ³⁸of the sons of Binnui: Shimei,
- ³⁹Shelemiah, Nathan, and Adaiah;
- ⁴⁰of the sons of Zachai: Shashai, Sharai,
- ⁴¹Azarel, Shelemiah, Shemariah,
- ⁴²Shallum, Amariah, Joseph;

⁴³of the sons of Nebo: Jeiel, Mattithiah, Zabad, Zebina, Jaddai, Joel, Benaiah.

⁴⁴All these had taken foreign wives; but they sent them away, both the women and their children.

Nehemiah

1 The words of Nehemiah, the son of Hacaliah. In the month Chislev of the twentieth year, I was in the citadel of Susa

²when Hanani, one of my brothers, came with other men from Judah. I asked them about the Jews, the remnant preserved after the captivity, and about Jerusalem,

³and they answered me: "The survivors of the captivity there in the province are in great distress and under reproach. Also, the wall of Jerusalem lies breached, and its gates have been gutted with fire."

⁴When I heard this report, I began to weep and continued mourning for several days; I fasted and prayed before the God of heaven.

⁵I prayed: "O LORD, God of heaven, great and awesome God, you who preserve your covenant of mercy toward those who love you and keep your commandments, ⁶may your ear be attentive, and your eyes open, to heed the prayer which I, your servant, now offer in your presence day and night for your servants the Israelites, confessing the sins which we of Israel have committed against you, I and my father's house included.

⁷Grievously have we offended you, not keeping the commandments, the statutes, and the ordinances which you committed to your servant Moses.

⁸But remember, I pray, the promise which you gave through Moses, your servant, when you said: 'Should you prove faithless, I will scatter you among the nations;

⁹but should you return to me and carefully keep my commandments, even though your outcasts have been driven to the farthest corner of the world, I will gather them from there, and bring them back to the place which I have chosen as the dwelling place for my name.'

¹⁰They are your servants, your people, whom you freed by your great might and your strong hand.

¹O Lord, may your ear be attentive to my prayer and that of all your willing servants who revere your name. Grant success to your servant this day, and let him find favor with this man"-for I was cupbearer to the king.

2In the month Nisan of the twentieth year of King Artaxerxes, when the wine was in my charge, I took some and offered it to the king. As I had never before been sad in his presence,

²the king asked me, "Why do you look sad? If you are not sick, you must be sad at heart." Though I was seized with great fear,

³I answered the king: "May the king live forever! How could I not look sad when the city where my ancestors are buried lies in ruins, and its gates have been eaten out by fire?"

⁴The king asked me, "What is it, then, that you wish?" I prayed to the God of heaven

⁵and then answered the king: "If it please the king, and if your servant is deserving of your favor, send me to Judah, to the city of my ancestors' graves, to rebuild it."

⁶Then the king, and the queen seated beside him, asked me how long my journey would take and when I would return. I set a date that was acceptable to him, and the king agreed that I might go.

⁷I asked the king further: "If it please the king, let letters be given to me for the governors of West-of-Euphrates, that they may afford me safe-conduct till I arrive in Judah; ⁸also a letter for Asaph, the keeper of the royal park, that he may give me wood for timbering the gates of the temple-citadel and for the city wall and the house that I shall occupy." The king granted my requests, for the favoring hand of my God was upon me.

⁹Thus I proceeded to the governors of West-of-Euphrates and presented the king's letters to them. The king also sent with me army officers and cavalry.

¹⁰When Sanballat the Horonite and Tobiah the Ammonite slave had heard of this, they were very much displeased that someone had come to seek the welfare of the Israelites.

¹¹When I had arrived in Jerusalem, I first rested there for three days.

¹²Then I set out by night with only a few other men (for I had not told anyone what my God had inspired me to do for Jerusalem) and with no other animals but my own mount.

¹³I rode out at night by the Valley Gate, passed by the Dragon Spring, and came to the Dung Gate, observing how the walls of Jerusalem lay in ruins and its gates had been eaten out by fire.

¹⁴Then I passed over to the Spring Gate and to the King's Pool. Since there was no room here for my mount to pass with me astride, ¹⁵I continued on foot up the wadi by night, inspecting the wall all the while till I once more reached the Valley Gate, by which I went back in.

¹⁶The magistrates knew nothing of where I had gone or what I was doing, for as yet I had disclosed nothing to the Jews, neither to the priests, nor to the nobles, nor to the magistrates, nor to the others who would be concerned about the matter.

¹⁷Afterward I said to them: "You see the evil plight in which we stand: how Jerusalem lies in ruins and its gates have been gutted by fire. Come, let us rebuild the wall of Jerusalem, so that we may no longer be an object of derision!"

¹⁸Then I explained to them how the favoring hand of my God had rested upon me, and what the king had said to me. They replied, "Let us be up and building!" And they undertook the good work with vigor.

¹⁹On hearing of this, Sanballat the Horonite, Tobiah the Ammonite slave, and Geshem the Arab mocked us and ridiculed us. "What is this that you are about?" they asked. "Are you rebelling against the king?"

²⁰My answer to them was this: "It is the God of heaven who will grant us success. We, his servants, shall set about the rebuilding; but for you there is to be neither share nor claim nor memorial in Jerusalem."

3 Eliashib the high priest and his priestly brethren took up the task of rebuilding the Sheep Gate. They timbered it and set up its doors, its bolts, and its bars, then continued the rebuilding to the Tower of Hananel.

²At their side the men of Jericho were rebuilding, and next to them was Zaccur, son of Imri.

³The Fish Gate was rebuilt by the sons of Hassenaah; they timbered it and set up its doors, its bolts, and its bars.

⁴At their side Meremoth, son of Uriah, son of Hakkoz, carried out the work of repair; next to him was Meshullam, son of Berechiah, son of Meshezabel; and next to him was Zadok, son of Baana.

⁵Next to him the Tekoites carried out the work of repair; however, some of their outstanding men would not submit to the labor asked by their lords.

⁶The New City Gate was repaired by Joiada, son of Paseah; and Meshullam, son of Besodeiah; they timbered it and set up its doors, its bolts, and its bars.

⁷At their side were Melatiah the Gibeonite, Jadon the Meronothite, and the men of Gibeon and of Mizpah, who were under the jurisdiction of the governor of West-of-Euphrates.

⁸Next to them the work of repair was carried out by Uzziel, son of Harhaiah, a member of the goldsmiths' guild, and at his side was Hananiah, one of the perfumers' guild. They restored Jerusalem as far as the wall of the public square.

⁹Next to them the work of repair was carried out by Rephaiah, son of Hur, leader of half the district of Jerusalem, ¹⁰and at his side was Jedaiah, son of Harumaph, who repaired opposite his own house. Next to him Hattush, son of Hashabneiah, carried out the work of repair.

¹¹The adjoining sector, as far as the Oven Tower, was repaired by Malchijah, son of Harim, and Hasshub, of Pahath-moab.

¹²At their side the work of repair was carried out by Shallum, son of Hallohesh, leader of half the district of Jerusalem, by himself and his daughters.

¹³The Valley Gate was repaired by Hanun and the inhabitants of Zanoah; they rebuilt it and set up its doors, its bolts, and its bars. They also repaired a thousand cubits of the wall up to the Dung Gate.

¹⁴The Dung Gate was repaired by Malchijah, son of Rechab, leader of the district of Beth-haccherem; he rebuilt it and set up its doors, its bolts, and its bars.

¹⁵The Spring Gate was repaired by Shallum, son of Colhozeh, leader of the district of Mizpah; he rebuilt it, roofed it over, and set up its doors, its bolts, and its bars. He also repaired the wall of the Aqueduct Pool near the king's garden as far as the steps that lead down from the City of David.

¹⁶After him, the work of repair was carried out by Nehemiah, son of Azbuk, leader of half the district of Beth-zur, to a place opposite the tombs of David, as far as the artificial pool and the barracks.

¹⁷After him, the Levites carried out the work of repair: Rehum, son of Bani. Next to him, for his own district, was Hashabiah, leader of half the district of Keilah.

¹⁸After him, their brethren carried out the work of repair: Binnui, son of Henadad, leader of half the district of Keilah;

¹⁹next to him Ezer, son of Jeshua, leader of Mizpah, who repaired the adjoining sector, the Corner, opposite the ascent to the arsenal.

²⁰After him, Baruch, son of Zabbai, repaired the adjoining sector from the Corner to the entrance of the house of Eliashib, the high priest.

²¹After him, Meremoth, son of Uriah, son of Hakkoz, repaired the adjoining sector from the entrance of Eliashib's house to the end of the house.

²²After him, the work of repair was carried out by the priests, men of the surrounding country.

²³After them, Benjamin and Hasshub carried out the repair in front of their houses; after them, Azariah, son of Maaseiah, son of Ananiah, made the repairs alongside his house.

²⁴After him, Binnui, son of Henadad, repaired the adjoining sector from the house of Azariah to the Corner (that is, to the Angle).

²⁵After him, Palal, son of Uzai, carried out the work of repair opposite the Corner and the tower projecting from the Upper Palace at the quarters of the guard. After him, Pedaiah, son of Parosh, carried out the work of repair

²⁶to a point opposite the Water Gate on the east, and the projecting tower.

²⁷After him, the Tekoites repaired the adjoining sector opposite the great projecting tower, to the wall of Ophel (the temple slaves were dwelling on Ophel).

²⁸Above the Horse Gate the priests carried out the work of repair, each before his own house.

²⁹After them Zadok, son of Immer, carried out the repair before his house, and after him the repair was carried out by Shemaiah, son of Shecaniah, keeper of the East Gate.

³⁰After him, Hananiah, son of Shelemiah, and Hanun, the sixth son of Zalaph, repaired the adjoining sector; after them, Meshullam, son of Berechiah, repaired the place opposite his own lodging.

³¹After him, Malchijah, a member of the goldsmiths' guild, carried out the work of repair as far as the quarters of the temple slaves and the merchants, before the Gate of Inspection and as far as the upper chamber of the Angle.

³²Between the upper chamber of the Angle and the Sheep Gate, the goldsmiths and the merchants carried out the work of repair.

³³When Sanballat heard that we were rebuilding the wall, it roused his anger and he became very much incensed. He ridiculed the Jews,

³⁴saying in the presence of his brethren and the troops of Samaria: "What are these miserable Jews trying to do? Will they complete their restoration in a single day? Will they recover these stones, burnt as they are, from the heaps of dust?"

³⁵Tobiah the Ammonite was beside him, and he said: "It is a rubble heap they are building. Any fox that attacked it would breach their wall of stones!"

³⁶Take note, O our God, how we were mocked! Turn back their derision upon their own heads and let them be carried away to a land of captivity!

³⁷Hide not their crime and let not their sin be blotted out in your sight, for they insulted the builders to their face!

³⁸We, however, continued to build the wall, which was soon filled in and completed up to half its height. The people worked with a will.

²Thereupon they all plotted together to come and fight against Jerusalem and thus to throw us into confusion.

³We prayed to our God and posted a watch against them day and night for fear of what they might do.

⁴Meanwhile the Judahites were saying: "Slackened is the bearers' strength, there is no end to the rubbish; Never shall we be able the wall to rebuild."

⁵Our enemies thought, "Before they are aware of it or see us, we shall come into their midst, kill them, and put an end to the work."

⁶When the Jews who lived near them had come to us from one place after another, and had told us ten times over that they were about to attack us,

⁷I stationed guards down below, behind the wall, near the exposed points, assigning them by family groups with their swords, their spears, and their bows.

⁸I made an inspection, then addressed these words to the nobles, the magistrates, and the rest of the people: "Have no fear of them! Keep in mind the LORD, who is great and to be feared, and fight for your brethren, your sons and daughters, your wives and your homes."

⁹When our enemies became aware that we had been warned and that God had upset their plan, we all went back, each to his own task at the wall.

¹⁰From that time on, however, only half my able men took a hand in the work, while the other half, armed with spears, bucklers, bows, and breastplates, stood guard behind the whole house of Judah

¹¹as they rebuilt the wall. The load carriers, too, were armed; each did his work with one hand and held a weapon with the other.

¹²Every builder, while he worked, had his sword girt at his side. Also, a trumpeter stood beside me,

¹³for I had said to the nobles, the magistrates, and the rest of the people: "Our work is scattered and extensive, and we are widely separated from one another along the wall;

¹⁴wherever you hear the trumpet sound, join us there; our God will fight with us."

¹⁵Thus we went on with the work, half of the men with spears at the ready, from daybreak till the stars came out.

¹⁶At the same time I told the people to spend the nights inside Jerusalem, each man with his own attendant, so that they might serve as a guard by night and a working force by day.

¹⁷Neither I, nor my kinsmen, nor any of my attendants, nor any of the bodyguard that accompanied me took off his clothes; everyone kept his weapon at his right hand.

5 Then there rose a great outcry of the common people and their wives against certain of their fellow Jews.

²Some said: "We are forced to pawn our sons and daughters in order to get grain to eat that we may live."

³Others said: "We are forced to pawn our fields, our vineyards, and our houses, that we may have grain during the famine."

⁴Still others said: "To pay the king's tax we have borrowed money on our fields and our vineyards."

⁵And though these are our own kinsmen and our children are as good as theirs, we have had to reduce our sons and daughters to slavery, and violence has been done to some of our daughters! Yet we can do nothing about it, for our fields and our vineyards belong to others."

⁶I was extremely angry when I heard the reasons they had for complaint.

⁷After some deliberation, I called the nobles and magistrates to account, saying to them, "You are exacting interest from your own kinsmen!" I then rebuked them severely,

⁸saying to them: "As far as we were able, we bought back our fellow Jews who had been sold to Gentiles; you, however, are selling your own brothers, to have them bought back by us." They remained silent, for they could find no answer.

⁹I continued: "What you are doing is not good. Should you not walk in the fear of our God, and put an end to the derision of our Gentile enemies?"

¹⁰I myself, my kinsmen, and my attendants have lent the people money and grain without charge. Let us put an end to this usury!

¹¹I ask that you return to them this very day their fields, their vineyards, their olive groves, and their houses, together with the interest on the money, the grain, the wine, and the oil that you have lent them."

¹²They answered: "We will return everything and exact nothing further from them. We will do just what you ask." Then I called for the priests and had them administer an oath to these men that they would do as they had promised.

¹³I also shook out the folds of my garment, saying, "Thus may God shake from his home and his fortune every man who fails to keep this promise, and may he thus be shaken out and emptied!" And the whole assembly answered, "Amen," and praised the LORD. Then the people did as they had promised.

¹⁴Moreover, from the time that King Artaxerxes appointed me governor in the land of Judah, from his twentieth to his thirty-second year--during these twelve years neither I nor my brethren lived from the governor's allowance.

¹⁵The earlier governors, my predecessors, had laid a heavy burden on the people, taking from them each day forty silver shekels for their food; then too, their men oppressed the people. But I, because I feared God, did not act thus.

¹⁶Moreover, though I had acquired no land of my own, I did my part in this work on the wall, and all my men were gathered there for the work.

¹⁷Though I set my table for a hundred and fifty persons, Jews and magistrates, as well as those who came to us from the nations round about,

¹⁸and though the daily preparations were made at my expense--one beef, six choice muttuns, poultry--besides all kinds of wine in abundance every ten days, despite this I did not claim the governor's allowance, for the labor lay heavy upon this people.

¹⁹Keep in mind, O my God, in my favor all that I did for this people.

6When it had been reported to Sanballat, Tobiah, Geshem the Arab, and our other enemies that I had rebuilt the wall and that there was no breach left in it (though up to that time I had not yet set up the doors in the gates), ²Sanballat and Geshem sent me this message: "Come, let us hold council together at Caphirim in the plain of Ono." They were planning to do me harm.

³However, I sent messengers to them with this reply: "I am engaged in a great enterprise and am unable to come down; why should the work stop, while I leave it to come down to you?"

⁴Four times they sent me this same proposal, and each time I gave the same reply.

⁵Then, the fifth time, Sanballat sent me the same message by one of his servants, who bore an unsealed letter

⁶containing this text: "Among the nations it has been reported--Geshem is witness to this--that you and the Jews are planning a rebellion; that for this reason you are rebuilding the wall; and that you are to be their king"--and so on.

⁷"Also, that you have set up prophets in Jerusalem to proclaim you king of Judah. Now, since matters like these must reach the ear of the king, come, let us hold council together."

⁸I sent him this answer: "Nothing of what you report has taken place; rather, it is the invention of your own mind."

⁹They were all trying to frighten us, thinking, "Their hands will slacken in the work, and it will never be completed." But instead, I now redoubled my efforts.

¹⁰I went to the house of Shemaiah, son of Delaiah, son of Mehetabel, who was unable to go about, and he said: "Let us meet in the house of God, inside the temple building; let us lock the doors of the temple. For men are coming to kill you; by night they are coming to kill you."

¹¹My answer was: "A man like me take flight? Can a man like me enter the temple to save his life? I will not go!"

¹²For on consideration it was plain to me that God had not sent him; rather, because Tobiah and Sanballat had bribed him, he voiced this prophecy concerning me

¹³that I might act on it out of fear and commit this sin. Then they would have had a shameful story with which to discredit me.

¹⁴Keep in mind Tobiah and Sanballat, O my God, because of these things they did; keep in mind as well Noadiah the prophethess and the other prophets who were trying to frighten me.

¹⁵The wall was finished on the twenty-fifth day of Elul; it had taken fifty-two days.

¹⁶When all our enemies had heard of this, and all the nations round about had taken note of it, our enemies lost much face in the eyes of the nations, for they knew that it was with our God's help that this work had been completed.

¹⁷At that same time, however, many letters were going to Tobiah from the nobles of Judah, and Tobiah's letters were reaching them,

¹⁸for many in Judah were in league with him, since he was the son-in-law of Shecaniah, son of Arah, and his son Jehohanan had married the daughter of Meshullam, son of Berechiah.

¹⁹Thus they would praise his good deeds in my presence and relate to him whatever I said; and Tobiah sent letters trying to frighten me.

7 When the wall had been rebuilt, I had the doors set up, and the gatekeepers (and the singers and the Levites) were put in charge of them.

²Over Jerusalem I placed Hanani, my brother, and Hananiah, the commander of the citadel, who was a more trustworthy and God-fearing man than most.

³I said to them: "The gates of Jerusalem are not to be opened until the sun is hot, and while the sun is still shining they shall shut and bar the doors. Appoint as watchmen the inhabitants of Jerusalem, some at their watch posts, and others before their own houses."

⁴Now the city was quite wide and spacious, but its population was small, and none of the houses had been rebuilt.

⁵When my God had put it into my mind to gather together the nobles, the magistrates, and the common people, and to examine their family records, I came upon the family list of those who had returned in the earliest period. There I found the following written:

⁶These are the inhabitants of the province who returned from the captivity of the exiles whom Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, had carried away, and who came back to Jerusalem and Judah, each man to his own city

⁷(those who returned with Zerubbabel, Jeshua, Nehemiah, Azariah, Raamiah, Nahamani, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispereth, Bigvai, Nehum, and Baanah). The census of the men of Israel:

⁸sons of Parosh, two thousand one hundred and seventy-two;

⁹sons of Shephatiah, three hundred and seventy-two;

¹⁰sons of Arah, six hundred and fifty-two;

¹¹sons of Pahath-moab who were sons of Jeshua and Joab, two thousand eight hundred and eighteen;

¹²sons of Elam, one thousand two hundred and fifty-four;

¹³sons of Zattu, eight hundred and forty-five;

¹⁴sons of Zaccai, seven hundred and sixty;

¹⁵sons of Binnui, six hundred and forty-eight;

¹⁶sons of Bebai, six hundred and twenty-eight;

¹⁷sons of Azgad, two thousand three hundred and twenty-two;

¹⁸sons of Adonikam, six hundred and sixty-seven;

¹⁹sons of Bigvai, two thousand and sixty-seven;

²⁰sons of Adin, six hundred and fifty-five;

²¹sons of Ater who were sons of Hezekiah, ninety-eight;

²²sons of Hashum, three hundred and twenty-eight;

²³sons of Bezai, three hundred and twenty-four;

- ²⁴sons of Hariph, one hundred and twelve;
- ²⁵sons of Gibeon, ninety-five;
- ²⁶men of Bethlehem and Netophah, one hundred and eighty-eight;
- ²⁷men of Anathoth, one hundred and twenty-eight;
- ²⁸men of Beth-azmaveth, forty-two;
- ²⁹men of Kiriath-jearim, Chephirah, and Beeroth, seven hundred and forty-three;
- ³⁰men of Ramah and Geba, six hundred and twenty-one;
- ³¹men of Michmas, one hundred and twenty-two;
- ³²men of Bethel and Ai, one hundred and twenty-three;
- ³³men of Nebo, fifty-two;
- ³⁴sons of another Elam, one thousand two hundred and fifty-four;
- ³⁵sons of Harim, three hundred and twenty;
- ³⁶sons of Jericho, three hundred and forty-five;
- ³⁷sons of Lod, Hadid, and Ono, seven hundred and twenty-one;
- ³⁸sons of Senaah, three thousand nine hundred and thirty.
- ³⁹The priests: sons of Jedaiah who were of the house of Jeshua, nine hundred and seventy-three;
- ⁴⁰sons of Immer, one thousand and fifty-two;
- ⁴¹sons of Pashhur, one thousand two hundred and forty-seven;
- ⁴²sons of Harim, one thousand and seventeen.
- ⁴³The Levites: sons of Jeshua, Kadmiel, Binnui, Hodeviah, seventy-four.

⁴⁴The singers: sons of Asaph, one hundred and forty-eight.

⁴⁵The gatekeepers: sons of Shallum, sons of Ater, sons of Talmon, sons of Akkub, sons of Hatita, sons of Shobai, one hundred and thirty-eight.

⁴⁶The temple slaves: sons of Ziha, sons of Hasupha, sons of Tabbaoth,

⁴⁷sons of Keros, sons of Sia, sons of Padon,

⁴⁸sons of Lebana, sons of Hagaba, sons of Shalmal,

⁴⁹sons of Hanan, sons of Giddel, sons of Gahar,

⁵⁰sons of Reaiah, sons of Rezin, sons of Nekoda,

⁵¹sons of Gazzam, sons of Uzza, sons of Paseah,

⁵²sons of Besai, sons of the Meunites, sons of the Nephusites,

⁵³sons of Bakbuk, sons of Hakupha, sons of Harhur,

⁵⁴sons of Bazlith, sons of Mehida, sons of Harsha,

⁵⁵sons of Barkos, sons of Sisera, sons of Temah,

⁵⁶sons of Neziah, sons of Hatipha.

⁵⁷Descendants of the slaves of Solomon: sons of Sotai, sons of Sophereth, sons of Perida,

⁵⁸sons of Jaala, sons of Darkon, sons of Giddel,

⁵⁹sons of Shephatiah, sons of Hattil, sons of Pochereth-hazzebaim, sons of Amon.

⁶⁰The total of the temple slaves and the descendants of the slaves of Solomon was three hundred and ninety-two.

⁶¹The following who returned from Tel-melah, Tel-harsha, Cherub, Addon, and Immer were unable to prove that their ancestral houses and their descent were Israelite:

⁶²sons of Delaiah, sons of Tobiah, sons of Nekoda, six hundred and forty-two.

⁶³Also, of the priests: sons of Hobaiah, sons of Hakkoz, sons of Barzillai (he had married one of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite and became known by his name).

⁶⁴These men searched their family records, but their names could not be found written there; hence they were degraded from the priesthood,

⁶⁵and His Excellency ordered them not to partake of the most holy foods until there should be a priest bearing the Urim and Thummim.

⁶⁶The entire assembly taken together came to forty-two thousand three hundred and sixty,

⁶⁷not counting their male and female slaves, who were seven thousand three hundred and thirty-seven. They also had two hundred male and female singers. Their horses were seven hundred and thirty-six, their mules two hundred and forty-five, ⁶⁸their camels four hundred and thirty-five, their asses six thousand seven hundred and twenty.

⁶⁹Certain of the family heads contributed to the service. His Excellency put into the treasury one thousand drachmas of gold, fifty basins, thirty garments for priests, and five hundred minas of silver.

⁷⁰Some of the family heads contributed to the treasury for the temple service: twenty thousand drachmas of gold and two thousand two hundred minas of silver.

⁷¹The contributions of the rest of the people amounted to twenty thousand drachmas of gold, two thousand minas of silver, and sixty-seven garments for priests.

⁷²The priests, the Levites, the gatekeepers, the singers, the temple slaves, and all Israel took up residence in their cities.

8 Now when the seventh month came, the whole people gathered as one man in the open space before the Water Gate, and they called upon Ezra the scribe to bring forth the book of the law of Moses which the LORD prescribed for Israel.

²On the first day of the seventh month, therefore, Ezra the priest brought the law before the assembly, which consisted of men, women, and those children old enough to understand.

³Standing at one end of the open place that was before the Water Gate, he read out of the book from daybreak till midday, in the presence of the men, the women, and those children old enough to understand; and all the people listened attentively to the book of the law.

⁵Ezra opened the scroll so that all the people might see it (for he was standing higher up than any of the people); and, as he opened it, all the people rose.

⁶Ezra blessed the LORD, the great God, and all the people, their hands raised high, answered, "Amen, amen!" Then they bowed down and prostrated themselves before the LORD, their faces to the ground.

⁷(The Levites Jeshua, Bani, Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, and Pelaiah explained the law to the people, who remained in their places.)

⁸Ezra read plainly from the book of the law of God, interpreting it so that all could understand what was read.

⁹Then (Nehemiah, that is, His Excellency, and) Ezra the priest-scribe (and the Levites who were instructing the people) said to all the people: "Today is holy to the LORD your God. Do not be sad, and do not weep"-for all the people were weeping as they heard the words of the law.

¹⁰He said further: "Go, eat rich foods and drink sweet drinks, and allot portions to those who had nothing prepared; for today is holy to our LORD. Do not be saddened this day, for rejoicing in the LORD must be your strength!"

¹¹(And the Levites quieted all the people, saying, "Hush, for today is holy, and you must not be saddened.")

¹²Then all the people went to eat and drink, to distribute portions, and to celebrate with great joy, for they understood the words that had been expounded to them.

¹³On the second day, the family heads of the whole people and also the priests and the Levites gathered around Ezra the scribe and examined the words of the law more closely.

¹⁴They found it written in the law prescribed by the LORD through Moses that the Israelites must dwell in booths during the feast of the seventh month;

¹⁵and that they should have this proclamation made throughout their cities and in Jerusalem: "Go out into the hill country and bring in branches of olive trees, oleasters, myrtle, palm, and other leafy trees, to make booths, as the law prescribes."

¹⁶The people went out and brought in branches with which they made booths for themselves, on the roof of their houses, in their courtyards, in the courts of the house of God, and in the open spaces of the Water Gate and the Gate of Ephraim.

¹⁷Thus the entire assembly of the returned exiles made booths and dwelt in them. Now the Israelites had done nothing of this sort from the days of Jeshua, son of Nun, until this occasion; therefore there was very great joy.

¹⁸Ezra read from the book of the law of God day after day, from the first day to the last. They kept the feast for seven days, and the solemn assembly on the eighth day, as was required.

9 On the twenty-fourth day of this month, the Israelites gathered together fasting and in sackcloth, their heads covered with dust.

²Those of Israelite descent separated themselves from all who were of foreign extraction, then stood forward and confessed their sins and the guilty deeds of their fathers.

³When they had taken their places, they read from the book of the law of the LORD their God, for a fourth part of the day, and during another fourth part they made their confession and prostrated themselves before the LORD their God.

⁴Standing on the platform of the Levites were Jeshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani, and Chenani, who cried out to the LORD their God, with a loud voice.

⁵The Levites Jeshua, Kadmiel, Bani, Hashabneiah, Sherebiah, Hodiah, Shebaniah, and Pethahiah said, "Arise, bless the LORD, your God, from eternity to eternity!" The Israelites answered with the blessing, "Blessed is your glorious name, and exalted above all blessing and praise."

⁶Then Ezra said: "It is you, O LORD, you are the only one; you made the heavens, the highest heavens and all their host, the earth and all that is upon it, the seas and all that is in them. To all of them you give life, and the heavenly hosts bow down before you.

⁷"You, O LORD, are the God who chose Abram, who brought him out from Ur of the Chaldees, and named him Abraham.

⁸When you had found his heart faithful in your sight, you made the covenant with him to give to him and his posterity the land of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Jebusites, and Girgashites. These promises of yours you fulfilled, for you are just.

⁹"You saw the affliction of our fathers in Egypt, you heard their cry by the Red Sea;

¹⁰You worked signs and wonders against Pharaoh, against all his servants and the people of his land, Because you knew of their insolence toward them; thus you made for yourself a name even to this day.

¹¹The sea you divided before them, on dry ground they passed through the midst of the sea; Their pursuers you hurled into the depths, like a stone into the mighty waters.

¹²With a column of cloud you led them by day, and by night with a column of fire, To light the way of their journey, the way in which they must travel.

¹³On Mount Sinai you came down, you spoke with them from heaven; You gave them just ordinances, firm laws, good statutes, and commandments;

¹⁴Your holy sabbath you made known to them, commandments, statutes, and law you prescribed for them, by the hand of Moses your servant.

¹⁵Food from heaven you gave them in their hunger, water from a rock you sent them in their thirst. You bade them enter and occupy the land which you had sworn with upraised hand to give them.

¹⁶"But they, our fathers, proved to be insolent; they held their necks stiff and would not obey your commandments.

¹⁷They refused to obey and no longer remembered the miracles you had worked for them. They stiffened their necks and turned their heads to return to their slavery in Egypt. But you are a God of pardons, gracious and compassionate, slow to anger and rich in mercy; you did not forsake them.

¹⁸Though they made for themselves a molten calf, and proclaimed, 'Here is your God who brought you up out of Egypt,' and were guilty of great effronteries, ¹⁹yet in your great mercy you did not forsake them in the desert. The column of cloud did not cease to lead them by day on their journey, nor did the column of fire by night cease to light for them the way by which they were to travel.

²⁰"Your good spirit you bestowed on them, to give them understanding; your manna you did not withhold from their mouths, and you gave them water in their thirst.

²¹Forty years in the desert you sustained them: they did not want; their garments did not become worn, and their feet did not become swollen.

²²You gave them kingdoms and peoples, which you divided up among them as border lands. They possessed the land of Sihon, king of Heshbon, and the land of Og, king of Bashan.

²³"You made their children as numerous as the stars of the heavens, and you brought them into the land which you had commanded their fathers to enter and possess.

²⁴The sons went in to take possession of the land, and you humbled before them the Canaanite inhabitants of the land and delivered them over into their power, their kings as well as the peoples of the land, to do with them as they would.

²⁵They captured fortified cities and fertile land; they took possession of houses filled with all good things, cisterns already dug, vineyards, olive groves, and fruit trees in abundance. They could eat and have their fill, fatten and feast themselves on your immense good gifts.

²⁶"But they were contemptuous and rebellious: they cast your law behind their backs, they slew your prophets who bore witness against them in order to bring them back to you, and they were guilty of great effronteries.

²⁷Therefore you delivered them into the power of their enemies, who oppressed them. But in the time of their oppression they would cry out to you, and you would hear them from heaven, and according to your great mercy give them saviors to deliver them from the power of their enemies.

²⁸"As soon as they had relief, they would go back to doing evil in your sight. Then again you abandoned them to the power of their enemies, who crushed them. Then they cried out to you, and you heard them from heaven and delivered them according to your mercy, many times over.

²⁹You bore witness against them, in order to bring them back to your law. But they were insolent and would not obey your commandments; they sinned against your ordinances, from which men draw life when they practice them. They turned stubborn backs, stiffened their necks, and would not obey.

³⁰You were patient with them for many years, bearing witness against them through your spirit, by means of your prophets; still they would not listen. Thus you delivered them over into the power of the peoples of the lands.

³¹Yet in your great mercy you did not completely destroy them and you did not forsake them, for you are a kind and merciful God.

³²"Now, therefore, O our God, great, mighty, and awesome God, you who in your mercy preserve the covenant, take into account all the disasters that have befallen us, our kings, our princes, our priests, our prophets, our fathers, and your entire people, from the time of the kings of Assyria until this day!

³³In all that has come upon us you have been just, for you kept faith while we have done evil.

³⁴Yes, our kings, our princes, our priests, and our fathers have not kept your law; they paid no attention to your commandments and the obligations of which you reminded them.

³⁵While they were yet in their kingdom, in the midst of the many good things that you had given them and in the wide and fertile land that you had spread out before them, they did not serve you nor did they turn away from their evil deeds.

³⁶But, see, we today are slaves; and as for the land which you gave our fathers that they might eat its fruits and good things--see, we have become slaves upon it!

³⁷Its rich produce goes to the kings whom you set over us because of our sins, who rule over our bodies and our cattle as they please. We are in great distress!"

10 In view of all this, we are entering into a firm pact, which we are putting into writing. On the sealed document appear the names of our princes, our Levites, and our priests.

²On the sealed document: His Excellency Nehemiah, son of Hacaliah, and Zedekiah.

³Seraiah, Azariah, Jeremiah,

⁴Pashhur, Amariah, Malchijah,

⁵Hattush, Shebaniah, Malluch,

⁶Harim, Meremoth, Obadiah,

⁷Daniel, Ginnethon, Baruch,

⁸Meshullam, Abijah, Mijamin,

⁹Maaziah, Bilgai, Shemaiah: these are the priests.

¹⁰The Levites: Jeshua, son of Azaniah; Binnui, of the sons of Henadad; Kadmiel;

¹¹and their brethren Shebaniah, Hodiah, Kelita, Pelaiah, Hanan,

¹²Mica, Rehob, Hashabiah,

¹³Zaccur, Sherebiah, Shebaniah,

¹⁴Hodiah, Bani, Beninu.

¹⁵The leaders of the people: Parosh, Pahath-moab, Elam, Zattu, Bani,

¹⁶Bunni, Azgad, Bebai,

¹⁷Adonijah, Bigvai, Adin,

¹⁸Ater, Hezekiah, Azzur,

¹⁹Hodiah, Hashum, Bezai,

²⁰Hariph, Anathoth, Nebai,

²¹Magpiash, Meshullam, Hezir,

²²Meshezabel, Zadok, Jaddua,

²³Pelathiah, Hanan, Anaiah,

²⁴Hoshea, Hananiah, Hasshub,

²⁵Halhoresh, Pilha, Shobek,

²⁶Rehum, Hashabnah, Maaseiah,

²⁷Ahiah, Hanan, Anan,

²⁸Malluch, Harim, Baanah.

²⁹The rest of the people, priests, Levites, gatekeepers, singers, temple slaves, and all others who have separated themselves from the peoples of the lands in favor of the law of God, with their wives, their sons, their daughters, all who are of the age of discretion,

³⁰join with their brethren who are their princes, and with the sanction of a curse take this oath to follow the law of God which was given through Moses, the servant of God, and to observe carefully all the commandments of the LORD, our LORD, his ordinances and his statutes.

³¹Agreed, that we will not marry our daughters to the peoples of the land, and that we will not take their daughters for our sons.

³²When the peoples of the land bring in merchandise or any kind of grain for sale on the sabbath day, we will not buy from them on the sabbath or on any other holyday. We will forgo the seventh year, as well as every kind of debt.

³³We impose these commandments on ourselves: to give a third of a shekel each year for the service of the house of our God,

³⁴for the showbread, for the daily cereal offering, for the daily holocaust, for the sabbaths, new moons, and festivals, for the holy offerings, for sin offerings to make atonement for Israel, and for every service of the house of our God.

³⁵We, priests, Levites, and people, have determined by lot concerning the procurement of wood: it is to be brought to the house of our God by each of our family houses at stated times each year, to be burnt on the altar of the LORD, our God, as the law prescribes.

³⁶We have agreed to bring each year to the house of the LORD the first fruits of our fields and of our fruit trees, of whatever kind;

³⁷also, as is prescribed in the law, to bring to the house of our God, to the priests who serve in the house of our God, the first-born of our children and our animals, including the first-born of our flocks and herds.

³⁸The first batch of our dough, and our offerings of the fruit of every tree, of wine and of oil, we will bring to the priests, to the chambers of the house of our God. The tithe of our fields we will bring to the Levites; they, the Levites, shall take the tithe in all the cities of our service.

³⁹An Aaronite priest shall be with the Levites when they take the tithe, and the Levites shall bring the tithe of the tithes to the house of our God, to the chambers of the treasury.

⁴⁰For to these chambers the Israelites and Levites bring the offerings of grain, wine, and oil; there also are housed the utensils of the sanctuary, and the ministering priests, the gatekeepers, and the singers. We will not neglect the house of our God.

11 The leaders of the people took up residence in Jerusalem, and the rest of the people cast lots to bring one man in ten to reside in Jerusalem, the holy city, while the other nine would remain in the other cities.

²The people applauded all those men who willingly agreed to take up residence in Jerusalem.

³These are the heads of the province who took up residence in Jerusalem. (In the cities of Judah dwelt lay Israelites, priests, Levites, temple slaves, and the descendants of the slaves of Solomon, each man on the property he owned in his own city.)

⁴In Jerusalem dwelt both Judahites and Benjaminites. Of the Judahites: Athaiah, son of Uzziah, son of Zechariah, son of Amariah, son of Shephatiah, son of Mehallalel, of the sons of Perez;

⁵Maaseiah, son of Baruch, son of Colhozeh, son of Hazaiah, son of Adaiah, son of Joiarib, son of Zechariah, a son of the Shelanites.

⁶The total of the sons of Perez who dwelt in Jerusalem was four hundred and sixty-eight valiant men.

⁷These were the Benjaminites: Sallu, son of Meshullam, son of Joed, son of Pedaiah, son of Kolaiah, son of Maaseiah, son of Ithiel, son of Jeshaiah, ⁸and his brethren, warriors, nine hundred and twenty-eight in number.

⁹Joel, son of Zichri, was their commander, and Judah, son of Hassenuah, was second in charge of the city.

¹⁰Among the priests were: Jedaiah; Joiarib; Jachin;

¹¹Seraiah, son of Hilkiah, son of Meshullam, son of Zadok, son of Meraioth, son of Ahitub, the ruler of the house of God,

¹²and their brethren who carried out the temple service, eight hundred and twenty-two; Adaiah, son of Jeroham, son of Pelaliah, son of Amzi, son of Zechariah, son of Pashhur, son of Malchijah,

¹³and his brethren, family heads, two hundred and forty-two; and Amasai, son of Azarel, son of Ahzai, son of Meshillemoth, son of Immer, ¹⁴and his brethren, warriors, one hundred and twenty-eight. Their commander was Zabdiel, son of Haggadol.

¹⁵Among the Levites were Shemaiah, son of Hasshub, son of Azrikam, son of Hashabiah, son of Bunni;

¹⁶Shabbethai and Jozabad, levitical chiefs who were placed over the external affairs of the house of God;

¹⁷Mattaniah, son of Micah, son of Zabdi, son of Asaph, director of the psalms, who led the thanksgiving at prayer; Bakbukiah, second in rank among his brethren; and Abda, son of Shammua, son of Galal, son of Jeduthun.

¹⁸The total of the Levites in the holy city was two hundred and eighty-four.

¹⁹The gatekeepers were Akkub, Talmon, and their brethren, who kept watch over the gates; one hundred and seventy-two in number.

²⁰The rest of Israel, including priests and Levites, were in all the other cities of Judah, each man in his inheritance.

²¹The temple slaves lived on Ophel. Ziha and Gishpa were in charge of the temple slaves.

²²The prefect of the Levites in Jerusalem was Uzzi, son of Bani, son of Hashabiah, son of Mattaniah, son of Micah; he was one of the sons of Asaph, the singers appointed to the service of the house of God--

²³for they had been appointed by royal decree, and there was a fixed schedule for the singers assigning them their daily duties.

²⁴Pethahiah, son of Meshezabel, a descendant of Zerah, son of Judah, was royal deputy in all affairs that concerned the people.

²⁵As concerns their villages in the country: Judahites lived in Kiriath-arba and its dependencies, in Dibon and its dependencies, in Jekabzeel and its villages,

²⁶in Jeshua, Moladah, Beth-pelet,

²⁷in Hazarshual, in Beer-sheba and its dependencies,

²⁸in Ziklag, in Meconah and its dependencies,

²⁹in En-rimmon, Zorah, Jarmuth,

³⁰Zanoah, Adullam, and their villages, Lachish and its countryside, Azekah and its dependencies. They were settled from Beer-sheba to Ge-hinnom.

³¹Benjaminites were in Geba, Michmash, Aija, Bethel and its dependencies, ³²Anathoth, Nob, Ananiah,

³³Hazor, Ramah, Gittaim,

³⁴Hadid, Zeboim, Neballat,

³⁵Lod, Ono, and the Valley of the Artisans.

³⁶Some sections of the Levites from Judah settled in Benjamin.

12 The following are the priests and Levites who returned with Zerubbabel, son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua: Seraiah, Jeremiah, Ezra,

²Amariah, Malluch, Hattush,

³Shecaniah, Rehum, Meremoth,

⁴Iddo, Ginnethon, Abijah,

⁵Mijamin, Maadiah, Bilgah,

⁶Shemaiah, and Joiarib, Jedaiah,

⁷Sallu, Amok, Hilkiah, Jedaiah. These were the priestly heads and their brethren in the days of Jeshua.

⁸The Levites were Jeshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Judah, Mattaniah; the last-mentioned, together with his brethren, was in charge of the hymns, ⁹while Bakbukiah and Unno and their brethren ministered opposite them by turns.

¹⁰Jeshua became the father of Joiakim, Joiakim became the father of Eliashib, and Eliashib became the father of Joiada.

¹¹Joiada became the father of Johanan, and Johanan became the father of Jaddua.

¹²In the days of Joiakim these were the priestly family heads: for Seraiah, Meraiah; for Jeremiah, Hananiah;

¹³for Ezra, Meshullam; for Amariah, Jehohanan;

¹⁴for Malluchi, Jonathan; for Shebaniah, Joseph;

¹⁵for Harim, Adna; for Meremoth, Helkai;

¹⁶for Iddo, Zechariah; for Ginnethon, Meshullam;

¹⁷for Abijah, Zichri; for Miamin, . . . ; for Maadiah, Piltai;

¹⁸for Bilgah, Shammua; for Shemaiah, Jehonathan;

¹⁹and for Joiarib, Mattenai; for Jedaiah, Uzzi;

²⁰for Sallu, Kallai; for Amok, Eber;

²¹for Hilkiah, Hashabiah; for Jedaiah, Nethanel.

²²In the time of Eliashib, Joiada, Johanan, and Jaddua, the family heads of the priests were written down in the Book of Chronicles, up until the reign of Darius the Persian.

²³The sons of Levi: the family heads were written down in the Book of Chronicles, up until the time of Johanan, the son of Eliashib.

²⁴The heads of the Levites were Hashabiah, Sherebiah, Jeshua, Binnui, Kadmiel. Their brethren who stood opposite them to sing praises and thanksgiving in fulfillment of the command of David, the man of God, one section opposite the other, ²⁵were Mattaniah, Bakbukiah, Obadiah. Meshullam, Talmon, and Akkub were gatekeepers. They kept watch over the storerooms at the gates.

²⁶All these lived in the time of Joiakim, son of Jeshua, son of Jozadak (and in the time of Nehemiah the governor and of Ezra the priest-scribe).

²⁷At the dedication of the wall of Jerusalem, the Levites were sought out wherever they lived and were brought to Jerusalem to celebrate a joyful dedication with thanksgiving hymns and the music of cymbals, harps, and lyres.

²⁸The levitical singers gathered together from the region about Jerusalem, from the villages of the Netophathites, ²⁹from Beth-gilgal, and from the plains of Geba and Azmaveth (for the singers had built themselves settlements about Jerusalem).

³⁰The priests and Levites first purified themselves, then they purified the people, the gates, and the wall.

³¹I had the princes of Judah mount the wall, and I arranged two great choirs. The first of these proceeded to the right, along the top of the wall, in the direction of the Dung Gate,

³²followed by Hoshai and half the princes of Judah,

³³along with Azariah, Ezra, Meshullam,

³⁴Judah, Benjamin, Shemaiah, and Jeremiah,

³⁵priests with the trumpets, and also Zechariah, son of Jonathan, son of Shemaiah, son of Mattaniah, son of Micaiah, son of Zaccur, son of Asaph,

³⁶and his brethren Shemaiah, Azarel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethanel, Judah, and Hanani, with the musical instruments of David, the man of God. (Ezra the scribe was at their head.)

³⁸The second choir proceeded to the left, followed by myself and the other half of the princes of the people, along the top of the wall past the Oven Tower as far as the Broad Wall, ³⁹then past the Ephraim Gate (the New City Gate), the Fish Gate, the Tower of Hananel, and the Hundred Tower, as far as the Sheep Gate (and they came to a halt at the Prison Gate).

⁴⁰The two choirs took up a position in the house of God; I, too, who had with me half the magistrates,

⁴¹the priests Eliakim, Maaseiah, Minjamin, Micaiah, Elioenai, Zechariah, Hananiah, with the trumpets, ⁴²and Maaseiah, Shemaiah, Eleazar, Uzzi, Jehohanan, Malchijah, Elam, and Ezer. The singers were heard under the leadership of Jezrahiah.

⁴³Great sacrifices were offered on that day, and there was rejoicing over the great feast of the LORD in which they shared. The women and the children joined in, and the rejoicing at Jerusalem could be heard from afar off.

⁴⁴At that time men were appointed over the chambers set aside for stores, offerings, first fruits, and tithes; in them they were to collect from the fields of the various cities the portions legally assigned to the priests and Levites. For Judah rejoiced in its appointed priests and Levites

⁴⁵who carried out the ministry of their God and the ministry of purification (as did the singers and the gatekeepers) in accordance with the prescriptions of David and of Solomon, his son.

⁴⁶For the heads of the families of the singers and the hymns of praise and thanksgiving to God came down from the days of David and Asaph in times of old.

⁴⁷Thus all Israel, in the days of Zerubbabel (and in the days of Nehemiah), gave the singers and the gatekeepers their portions, according to their daily needs. They made their consecrated offering to the Levites, and the Levites made theirs to the sons of Aaron.

13 At that time, when there was reading from the book of Moses in the hearing of the people, it was found written there that "no Ammonite or Moabite may ever be admitted into the assembly of God;

²for they would not succor the Israelites with food and water, but they hired Balaam to curse them, though our God turned the curse into a blessing."

³When they had heard the law, they separated from Israel every foreign element.

⁴Before this, the priest Eliashib, who had been placed in charge of the chambers of the house of our God and who was an associate of Tobiah, ⁵had set aside for the latter's use a large chamber in which had previously been stored the cereal offerings, incense and utensils, the tithes in grain, wine, and oil allotted to the Levites, singers, and gatekeepers, and the offerings due the priests.

⁶During all this time I had not been in Jerusalem, for in the thirty-second year of Artaxerxes, king of Babylon, I had gone back to the king. After due time, however, I asked leave of the king

⁷and returned to Jerusalem, where I discovered the evil thing that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, in setting aside for him a chamber in the courts of the house of God.

⁸This displeased me very much, and I had all of Tobiah's household goods thrown outside the chamber.

⁹Then I gave orders to purify the chambers, and I had them replace there the utensils of the house of God, the cereal offerings, and the incense.

¹⁰I learned, too, that the portions due the Levites were no longer being given, so that the Levites and the singers who should have been carrying out the services had deserted, each man to his own field.

¹¹I took the magistrates to task, demanding, "Why is the house of God abandoned?" Then I brought the Levites together and had them resume their stations.

¹²All Judah once more brought in the tithes of grain, wine, and oil to the storerooms;

¹³and in charge of the storerooms I appointed the priest Shelemiah, Zadok the scribe, and Pedaiah, one of the Levites, together with Hanan, son of Zaccur, son of Mattaniah, as their assistant; for these men were held to be trustworthy. It was their duty to make the distribution to their brethren.

¹⁴Remember this to my credit, O my God! Let not the devotion which I showed for the house of my God and its services be forgotten!

¹⁵In those days I perceived that men in Judah were treading the winepresses on the sabbath; that they were bringing in sheaves of grain, loading them on their asses, together with wine, grapes, figs, and every other kind of burden, and bringing them to Jerusalem on the sabbath day. I warned them to sell none of these victuals.

¹⁶In Jerusalem itself the Tyrians who were resident there were importing fish and every other kind of merchandise and selling it to the Judahites on the sabbath.

¹⁷I took the nobles of Judah to task, demanding of them: "What is this evil thing that you are doing, profaning the sabbath day?"

¹⁸Did not your fathers act in this same way, with the result that our God has brought all this evil upon us and upon this city? Would you add to the wrath against Israel by once more profaning the sabbath?"

¹⁹When the shadows were falling on the gates of Jerusalem before the sabbath, I ordered the doors to be closed and forbade them to be reopened till after the sabbath. I posted some of my own men at the gates so that no burden might enter on the sabbath day.

²⁰The merchants and sellers of various kinds of merchandise spent the night once or twice outside Jerusalem,

²¹but then I warned them, saying to them: "Why do you spend the night alongside the wall? If you keep this up, I will lay hands on you!" From that time on, they did not return on the sabbath.

²²Then I ordered the Levites to purify themselves and to go and watch the gates, so that the sabbath day might be kept holy. This, too, remember in my favor, O my God, and have mercy on me in accordance with your great mercy!

²³Also in those days I saw Jews who had married Ashdodite, Ammonite, or Moabite wives.

²⁴Of their children, half spoke Ashdodite, and none of them knew how to speak Jewish; and so it was in regard to the languages of the various other peoples.

²⁵I took them to task and cursed them; I had some of them beaten and their hair pulled out; and I adjured them by God: "You shall not marry your daughters to their sons nor take any of their daughters for your sons or for yourselves!

²⁶Did not Solomon, the king of Israel, sin because of them? Though among the many nations there was no king like him, and though he was beloved of his God and God had made him king over all Israel, yet even he was made to sin by foreign women.

²⁷Must it also be heard of you that you have done this same very great evil, betraying our God by marrying foreign women?"

²⁸One of the sons of Joiada, son of Eliashib the high priest, was the son-in-law of Sanballat the Horonite! I drove him from my presence.

²⁹Remember against them, O my God, how they defiled the priesthood and the covenant of the priesthood and the Levites!

³⁰Thus I cleansed them of all foreign contamination. I established the various functions for the priests and Levites, so that each had his appointed task.

³¹I also provided for the procurement of wood at stated times and for the first fruits. Remember this in my favor, O my God!

Tobit

1 This book tells the story of Tobit, son of Tobiel, son of Hananiel, son of Aduel, son of Gabael of the family of Asiel, of the tribe of Naphtali,

²who during the reign of Shalmaneser, king of Assyria, was taken captive from Thisbe, which is south of Kedesh Naphtali in upper Galilee, above and to the west of Asser, north of Phogor.

³I, Tobit, have walked all the days of my life on the paths of truth and righteousness. I performed many charitable works for my kinsmen and my people who had been deported with me to Nineveh, in Assyria.

⁴When I lived as a young man in my own country, Israel, the entire tribe of my forefather Naphtali had broken away from the house of David and from Jerusalem. This city had been singled out of all Israel's tribes, so that they all might offer sacrifice in the place where the temple, God's dwelling, had been built and consecrated for all generations to come.

⁵All my kinsmen, like the rest of the tribe of my forefather Naphtali, used to offer sacrifice on all the mountains of Galilee as well as to the young bull which Jeroboam, king of Israel, had made in Dan.

⁶I, for my part, would often make the pilgrimage alone to Jerusalem for the festivals, as is prescribed for all Israel by perpetual decree. Bringing with me the first fruits of the field and the firstlings of the flock, together with a tenth of my income and the first shearings of the sheep, I would hasten to Jerusalem

⁷and present them to the priests, Aaron's sons, at the altar. To the Levites who were doing service in Jerusalem I would give the tithe of grain, wine, olive oil, pomegranates, figs, and other fruits. And except for sabbatical years, I used to give a second tithe in money, which each year I would go and disburse in Jerusalem.

⁸The third tithe I gave to orphans and widows, and to converts who were living with the Israelites. Every third year I would bring them this offering, and we ate it in keeping with the decree of the Mosaic law and the commands of Deborah, the mother of my father Tobiel; for when my father died, he left me an orphan.

⁹When I reached manhood, I married Anna, a woman of our own lineage. By her I had a son whom I named Tobiah.

¹⁰Now, after I had been deported to Nineveh, all my brothers and relatives ate the food of heathens, ¹¹but I refrained from eating that kind of food.

¹²Because of this wholehearted service of God,

¹³the Most High granted me favor and status with Shalmaneser, so that I became purchasing agent for all his needs.

¹⁴Every now and then until his death I would go to Media to buy goods for him. I also deposited several pouches containing a great sum of money with my kinsman Gabael, son of Gabri, who lived at Rages, in Media.

¹⁵But when Shalmaneser died and his son Sennacherib succeeded him as king, the roads to Media became unsafe, so I could no longer go there.

¹⁶During Shalmaneser's reign I performed many charitable works for my kinsmen and my people.

¹⁷I would give my bread to the hungry and my clothing to the naked. If I saw one of my people who had died and been thrown outside the walls of Nineveh, I would bury him.

¹⁸I also buried anyone whom Sennacherib slew when he returned as a fugitive from Judea during the days of judgment decreed against him by the heavenly King because of the blasphemies he had uttered. In his rage he killed many Israelites, but I used to take their bodies by stealth and bury them; so when Sennacherib looked for them, he could not find them.

¹⁹But a certain citizen of Nineveh informed the king that it was I who buried the dead. When I found out that the king knew all about me and wanted to put me to death, I went into hiding; then in my fear I took to flight.

²⁰Afterward, all my property was confiscated; I was left with nothing. All that I had was taken to the king's palace, except for my wife Anna and my son Tobiah.

²¹But less than forty days later the king was assassinated by two of his sons, who then escaped into the mountains of Ararat. His son Esarhaddon, who succeeded him as king, placed Ahikar, my brother Anael's son, in charge of all the accounts of his kingdom, so that he took control over the entire administration.

²²Then Ahikar interceded on my behalf, and I was able to return to Nineveh. For under Sennacherib, king of Assyria, Ahikar had been chief cupbearer, keeper of the seal, administrator, and treasurer; and Esarhaddon reappointed him. He was a close relative—in fact, my nephew.

2 Thus under King Esarhaddon I returned to my home, and my wife Anna and my son Tobiah were restored to me. Then on our festival of Pentecost, the feast of Weeks, a fine dinner was prepared for me, and I reclined to eat.

²The table was set for me, and when many different dishes were placed before me, I said to my son Tobiah: "My son, go out and try to find a poor man from among our kinsmen exiled here in Nineveh. If he is a sincere worshiper of God, bring him back with you, so that he can share this meal with me. Indeed, son, I shall wait for you to come back."

³Tobiah went out to look for some poor kinsman of ours. When he returned he exclaimed, "Father!" I said to him, "What is it, son?" He answered, "Father, one of our people has been murdered! His body lies in the market place where he was just strangled!"

⁴I sprang to my feet, leaving the dinner untouched; and I carried the dead man from the street and put him in one of the rooms, so that I might bury him after sunset.

⁵Returning to my own quarters, I washed myself and ate my food in sorrow.

⁶I was reminded of the oracle pronounced by the prophet Amos against Bethel: "Your festivals shall be turned into mourning, And all your songs into lamentation."

⁷And I wept. Then at sunset I went out, dug a grave, and buried him.

⁸The neighbors mocked me, saying to one another: "Will this man never learn! Once before he was hunted down for execution because of this very thing; yet now that he has escaped, here he is again burying the dead!"

⁹That same night I bathed, and went to sleep next to the wall of my courtyard. Because of the heat I left my face uncovered.

¹⁰I did not know there were birds perched on the wall above me, till their warm droppings settled in my eyes, causing cataracts. I went to see some doctors for a cure, but the more they anointed my eyes with various salves, the worse the cataracts became, until I could see no more. For four years I was deprived of eyesight, and all my kinsmen were grieved at my condition. Ahiqar, however, took care of me for two years, until he left for Elymais.

¹¹At that time my wife Anna worked for hire at weaving cloth, the kind of work women do.

¹²When she sent back the goods to their owners, they would pay her. Late in winter she finished the cloth and sent it back to the owners. They paid her the full salary, and also gave her a young goat for the table.

¹³On entering my house the goat began to bleat. I called to my wife and said: "Where did this goat come from? Perhaps it was stolen! Give it back to its owners; we have no right to eat stolen food!"

¹⁴But she said to me, "It was given to me as a bonus over and above my wages." Yet I would not believe her, and told her to give it back to its owners. I became very angry with her over this. So she retorted: "Where are your charitable deeds now? Where are your virtuous acts? See! Your true character is finally showing itself!"

3 Grief-stricken in spirit, I groaned and wept aloud. Then with sobs I began to pray:

²"You are righteous, O Lord, and all your deeds are just; All your ways are mercy and truth; you are the judge of the world.

³And now, O Lord, may you be mindful of me, and look with favor upon me. Punish me not for my sins, nor for my inadvertent offenses, nor for those of my fathers. "They sinned against you, ⁴and disobeyed your commandments. So you handed us over to plundering, exile, and death, till we were an object lesson, a byword, a reproach in all the nations among whom you scattered us.

⁵"Yes, your judgments are many and true in dealing with me as my sins and those of my fathers deserve. For we have not kept your commandments, nor have we trodden the paths of truth before you.

⁶"So now, deal with me as you please, and command my life breath to be taken from me, that I may go from the face of the earth into dust. It is better for me to die than to live, because I have heard insulting calumnies, and I am overwhelmed with grief. "Lord, command me to be delivered from such anguish; let me go to the everlasting abode; Lord, refuse me not. For it is better for me to die than to endure so much misery in life, and to hear these insults!"

⁷On the same day, at Ecbatana in Media, it so happened that Raguel's daughter Sarah also had to listen to abuse, from one of her father's maids.

⁸For she had been married to seven husbands, but the wicked demon Asmodeus killed them off before they could have intercourse with her, as it is prescribed for wives. So the maid said to her: "You are the one who strangles your husbands! Look at you! You have already been married seven times, but you have had no joy with any one of your husbands.

⁹Why do you beat us? Because your husbands are dead? Then why not join them! May we never see a son or daughter of yours!"

¹⁰That day she was deeply grieved in spirit. She went in tears to an upstairs room in her father's house with the intention of hanging herself. But she reconsidered, saying to herself: "No! People would level this insult against my father: 'You had only one beloved daughter, but she hanged herself because of ill fortune!' And thus would I cause my father in his old age to go down to the nether world laden with sorrow. It is far better for me not to hang myself, but to beg the Lord to have me die, so that I need no longer live to hear such insults."

¹¹At that time, then, she spread out her hands, and facing the window, poured out this prayer: "Blessed are you, O Lord, merciful God! Forever blessed and honored is your holy name; may all your works forever bless you.

¹²And now, O Lord, to you I turn my face and raise my eyes.

¹³Bid me to depart from the earth, never again to hear such insults.

¹⁴"You know, O Master, that I am innocent of any impure act with a man,

¹⁵And that I have never defiled my own name or my father's name in the land of my exile. "I am my father's only daughter, and he has no other child to make his heir, Nor does he have a close kinsman or other relative whom I might bide my time to marry. I have already lost seven husbands; why then should I live any longer? But if it please you, Lord, not to slay me, look favorably upon me and have pity on me; never again let me hear these insults!"

¹⁶At that very time, the prayer of these two suppliants was heard in the glorious presence of Almighty God.

¹⁷So Raphael was sent to heal them both: to remove the cataracts from Tobit's eyes, so that he might again see God's sunlight; and to marry Raguel's daughter Sarah to Tobit's son Tobiah, and then drive the wicked demon Asmodeus from her. For Tobiah had the right to claim her before any other who might wish to marry her. In the very moment that Tobit returned from the courtyard to his house, Raguel's daughter Sarah came downstairs from her room.

4That same day Tobit remembered the money he had deposited with Gabael at Rages in Media, and he thought,

²"Now that I have asked for death, why should I not call my son Tobiah and let him know about this money before I die?"

³So he called his son Tobiah; and when he came, he said to him: "My son, when I die, give me a decent burial. Honor your mother, and do not abandon her as long as she lives. Do whatever pleases her, and do not grieve her spirit in any way.

⁴Remember, my son, that she went through many trials for your sake while you were in her womb. And when she dies, bury her in the same grave with me.

⁶For if you are steadfast in your service, your good works will bring success, not only to you, but also to all those who live uprightly.

⁷"Give alms from your possessions. Do not turn your face away from any of the poor, and God's face will not be turned away from you.

⁸Son, give alms in proportion to what you own. If you have great wealth, give alms out of your abundance; if you have but little, distribute even some of that. But do not hesitate to give alms;

⁹you will be storing up a goodly treasure for yourself against the day of adversity.

¹¹Alms are a worthy offering in the sight of the Most High for all who give them.

¹³Therefore, my son, love your kinsmen. Do not be so proudhearted toward your kinsmen, the sons and daughters of your people, as to refuse to take a wife for yourself from among them. For in such arrogance there is ruin and great disorder. Likewise, in worthlessness there is decay and dire poverty, for worthlessness is the mother of famine.

¹⁴"Do not keep with you overnight the wages of any man who works for you, but pay him immediately. If you thus behave as God's servant, you will receive your reward. Keep a close watch on yourself, my son, in everything you do, and discipline yourself in all your conduct.

¹⁵Do to no one what you yourself dislike. Do not drink wine till you become drunk, nor let drunkenness accompany you on your way.

¹⁶"Give to the hungry some of your bread, and to the naked some of your clothing. Whatever you have left over, give away as alms; and do not begrudge the alms you give.

¹⁷Be lavish with your bread and wine at the burial of the virtuous, but do not share them with sinners.

¹⁸"Seek counsel from every wise man, and do not think lightly of any advice that can be useful.

¹⁹At all times bless the Lord God, and ask him to make all your paths straight and to grant success to all your endeavors and plans. For no pagan nation possesses good counsel, but the Lord himself gives all good things. If the Lord chooses, he raises a man up; but if he should decide otherwise, he casts him down to the deepest recesses of the nether world. So now, my son, keep in mind my commandments, and never let them be erased from your heart.

²⁰"And now, son, I wish to inform you that I have deposited a great sum of money with Gabri's son Gabael at Rages in Media.

²¹Do not be discouraged, my child, because of our poverty. You will be a rich man if you fear God, avoid all sin, and do what is right before the Lord your God."

5 Then Tobiah replied to his father Tobit: "Everything that you have commanded me, father, I will do.

²But how shall I be able to obtain the money from him, since he does not know me nor do I know him? What can I show him to make him recognize me and trust me, so that he will give me the money? I do not even know which roads to take for the journey into Media!"

³Tobit answered his son Tobiah: "We exchanged signatures on a document written in duplicate; I divided it into two parts, and each of us kept one; his copy I put with the money. Think of it, twenty years have already passed since I deposited that money! So now, my son, find yourself a trustworthy man who will make the journey with you. We will, of course, give him a salary when you return; but get back that money from Gabael."

⁴Tobiah went to look for someone acquainted with the roads who would travel with him to Media. As soon as he went out, he found the angel Raphael standing before him, though he did not know that this was an angel of God.

⁵Tobiah said to him, "Who are you, young man?" He replied "I am an Israelite, one of your kinsmen. I have come here to work." Tobiah said, "Do you know the way to Media?"

⁶The other replied: "Yes, I have been there many times. I know the place well and I know all the routes. I have often traveled to Media; I used to stay with our kinsman Gabael, who lives at Rages in Media. It is a good two days' travel from Ecbatana to Rages, for Rages is situated at the mountains, Ecbatana out on the plateau."

⁷Tobiah said to him, "Wait for me, young man, till I go back and tell my father; for I need you to make the journey with me. I will, of course, pay you."

⁸Raphael replied, "Very well, I will wait for you; but do not be long."

⁹Tobiah went back to tell his father Tobit what had happened. He said to him, "I have just found a man who is one of our own Israelite kinsmen!" Tobit said, "Call the man, so that I may find out what family and tribe he comes from, and whether he is trustworthy enough to travel with you, son." Tobiah went out to summon the man, saying, "Young man, my father would like to see you."

¹⁰When Raphael entered the house, Tobit greeted him first. Raphael said, "Hearty greetings to you!" Tobit replied: "What joy is left for me any more? Here I am, a blind man who cannot see God's sunlight, but must remain in darkness, like the dead who no longer see the light! Though alive, I am among the dead. I can hear a man's voice, but I cannot see him." Raphael said, "Take courage! God has healing in store for you; so take courage!" Tobit then said: "My son Tobiah wants to go to Media. Can you go with him to show him the way? I will of course pay you, brother." Raphael answered: "Yes, I can go with him, for I know all the routes. I have often traveled to Media and crossed all its plains and mountains; so I know every road well."

¹¹Tobit asked, "Brother, tell me, please, what family and tribe are you from?"

¹²Raphael said: "Why? Do you need a tribe and a family? Or are you looking for a hired man to travel with your son?" Tobit replied, "I wish to know truthfully whose son you are, brother, and what your name is."

¹³Raphael answered, "I am Azariah, son of Hananiah the elder, one of your own kinsmen."

¹⁴Tobit exclaimed: "Welcome! God save you, brother! Do not be provoked with me, brother, for wanting to learn the truth about your family. So it turns out that you are a kinsman, and from a noble and good line! I knew Hananiah and Nathaniah, the two sons of Shemaiah the elder; with me they used to make the pilgrimage to Jerusalem, where we would worship together. No, they did not stray from the right path; your kinsmen are good men. You are certainly of good lineage, and welcome!"

¹⁵Then he added: "For each day you are away I will give you the normal wages, plus expenses for you and for my son. If you go with my son,

¹⁶I will even add a bonus to your wages!" Raphael replied: "I will go with him; have no fear. In good health we shall leave you, and in good health we shall return to you, for the way is safe."

¹⁷Tobit said, "God bless you, brother." Then he called his son and said to him: "My son, prepare whatever you need for the journey, and set out with your kinsman. May God in heaven protect you on the way and bring you back to me safe and sound; and may his angel accompany you for safety, my son." Before setting out on his journey, Tobiah kissed his father and mother. Tobit said to him, "Have a safe journey."

¹⁸But his mother began to weep. She said to Tobit: "Why have you decided to send my child away? Is he not the staff to which we cling, ever there with us in all that we do?"

¹⁹I hope more money is not your chief concern! Rather let it be a ransom for our son!

²⁰What the Lord has given us to live on is certainly enough for us."

²¹Tobit reassured her: "Have no such thought. Our son will leave in good health and come back to us in good health. Your own eyes will see the day when he returns to you safe and sound.

²²So, no such thought; do not worry about them, my love. For a good angel will go with him, his journey will be successful, and he will return unharmed."

6 Then she stopped weeping.

²When the boy left home, accompanied by the angel, the dog followed Tobiah out of the house and went with them. The travelers walked till nightfall, and made camp beside the Tigris River.

³Now when the boy went down to wash his feet in the river, a large fish suddenly leaped out of the water and tried to swallow his foot. He shouted in alarm.

⁴But the angel said to him, "Take hold of the fish and don't let it get away!" The boy seized the fish and hauled it up on the shore.

⁵The angel then told him: "Cut the fish open and take out its gall, heart, and liver, and keep them with you; but throw away the entrails. Its gall, heart, and liver make useful medicines."

⁶After the lad had cut the fish open, he put aside the gall, heart, and liver. Then he broiled and ate part of the fish; the rest he salted and kept for the journey.

⁷Afterward they traveled on together till they were near Media. The boy asked the angel this question: "Brother Azariah, what medicinal value is there in the fish's heart, liver, and gall?"

⁸He answered: "As regards the fish's heart and liver, if you burn them so that the smoke surrounds a man or a woman who is afflicted by a demon or evil spirit, the affliction will leave him completely, and no demons will ever return to him again.

⁹And as for the gall, if you rub it on the eyes of a man who has cataracts, blowing into his eyes right on the cataracts, his sight will be restored."

¹⁰When they had entered Media and were getting close to Ecbatana,

¹¹Raphael said to the boy, "Brother Tobiah!" He answered, "Yes, what is it?" Raphael continued: "Tonight we must stay with Raguel, who is a relative of yours. He has a daughter named Sarah,

¹²but no other child. Since you are Sarah's closest relative, you before all other men have the right to marry her. Also, her father's estate is rightfully yours to inherit. Now the girl is sensible, courageous, and very beautiful; and her father loves her dearly."

¹³He continued: "Since you have the right to marry her, listen to me, brother. Tonight I will ask the girl's father to let us have her as your bride. When we return from Rages, we will hold the wedding feast for her. I know that Raguel cannot keep her from you or let her become engaged to another man; that would be a capital crime according to the decree in the Book of Moses, and he knows that it is your right, before all other men, to marry his daughter. So heed my words, brother; tonight we must speak for the girl, so that we may have her engaged to you. And when we return from Rages, we will take her and bring her back with us to your house."

¹⁴Tobiah objected, however: "Brother Azariah, I have heard that this woman has already been married seven times, and that her husbands died in their bridal chambers. On the very night they approached her, they dropped dead. And I have heard it said that it was a demon who killed them.

¹⁵So now I too am afraid of this demon. Because he loves her, he does not harm her; but he does slay any man who wishes to come close to her. I am my father's only child. If I should die, I would bring my father and mother down to their grave in sorrow over me. And they have no other son to bury them!"

¹⁶Raphael said to him: "Do you not remember your father's orders? He commanded you to marry a woman from your own family. So now listen to me, brother; do not give another thought to this demon, but marry Sarah. I know that tonight you shall have her for your wife!

¹⁷When you go into the bridal chamber, take the fish's liver and heart, and place them on the embers for the incense.

¹⁸As soon as the demon smells the odor they give off, he will flee and never again show himself near her. Then when you are about to have intercourse with her, both of you first rise up to pray. Beg the Lord of heaven to show you mercy and grant you deliverance. But do not be afraid, for she was set apart for you before the world existed. You will save her, and she will go with you. And I suppose that you will have children by her, who will take the place of brothers for you. So do not worry." When

Tobiah heard Raphael say that she was his kinswoman, of his own family's lineage, he fell deeply in love with her, and his heart became set on her.

7 When they entered Ecbatana, Tobiah said, "Brother Azariah, lead me straight to our kinsman Raguel." So he brought him to the house of Raguel, whom they found seated by his courtyard gate. They greeted him first. He said to them, "Greetings to you too, brothers! Good health to you, and welcome!" When he brought them into his home,

²he said to his wife Edna, "This young man looks just like my kinsman Tobit!"

³So Edna asked them, "Who are you, brothers?" They answered, "We are of the exiles from Naphtali at Nineveh."

⁴She said, "Do you know our kinsman Tobit?" They answered, "Indeed we do!" She asked, "Is he well?"

⁵They answered, "Yes, he is alive and well." Then Tobiah exclaimed, "He is my father!"

⁶Raguel sprang up and kissed him, shedding tears of joy.

⁷But when he heard that Tobit had lost his eyesight, he was grieved and wept aloud. He said to Tobiah: "My child, God bless you! You are the son of a noble and good father. But what a terrible misfortune that such a righteous and charitable man should be afflicted with blindness!" He continued to weep in the arms of his kinsman Tobiah.

⁸His wife Edna also wept for Tobit; and even their daughter Sarah began to weep.

⁹Afterward, Raguel slaughtered a ram from the flock and gave them a cordial reception. When they had bathed and reclined to eat, Tobiah said to Raphael, "Brother Azariah, ask Raguel to let me marry my kinswoman Sarah."

¹⁰Raguel overheard the words; so he said to the boy: "Eat and drink and be merry tonight, for no man is more entitled to marry my daughter Sarah than you, brother. Besides, not even I have the right to give her to anyone but you, because you are my closest relative. But I will explain the situation to you very frankly.

¹¹I have given her in marriage to seven men, all of whom were kinsmen of ours, and all died on the very night they approached her. But now, son, eat and drink. I am sure the Lord will look after you both." Tobiah answered, "I will eat or drink nothing until you set aside what belongs to me." Raguel said to him: "I will do it. She is yours according to the decree of the Book of Moses. Your marriage to her has been decided in heaven! Take your kinswoman; from now on you are her love, and she is your beloved. She is yours today and ever after. And tonight, son, may the Lord of heaven prosper you both. May he grant you mercy and peace."

¹²Then Raguel called his daughter Sarah, and she came to him. He took her by the hand and gave her to Tobiah with the words: "Take her according to the law. According to the decree written in the Book of Moses she is your wife. Take her and bring her back safely to your father. And may the God of heaven grant both of you peace and prosperity."

¹³He then called her mother and told her to bring a scroll, so that he might draw up a marriage contract stating that he gave Sarah to Tobiah as his wife according to the decree of the Mosaic law. Her mother brought the scroll, and he drew up the contract, to which they affixed their seals.

¹⁴Afterward they began to eat and drink.

¹⁵Later Raguel called his wife Edna and said, "My love, prepare the other bedroom and bring the girl there."

¹⁶She went and made the bed in the room, as she was told, and brought the girl there. After she had cried over her, she wiped away the tears and said:

¹⁷"Be brave, my daughter. May the Lord of heaven grant you joy in place of your grief. Courage, my daughter." Then she left.

8 When they had finished eating and drinking, the girl's parents wanted to retire. They brought the young man out of the dining room and led him into the bedroom.

²At this point Tobiah, mindful of Raphael's instructions, took the fish's liver and heart from the bag which he had with him, and placed them on the embers for the incense.

³The demon, repelled by the odor of the fish, fled into Upper Egypt; Raphael pursued him there and bound him hand and foot. Then Raphael returned immediately.

⁴When the girl's parents left the bedroom and closed the door behind them, Tobiah arose from bed and said to his wife, "My love, get up. Let us pray and beg our Lord to have mercy on us and to grant us deliverance."

⁵She got up, and they started to pray and beg that deliverance might be theirs. He began with these words: "Blessed are you, O God of our fathers; praised be your name forever and ever. Let the heavens and all your creation praise you forever.

⁶You made Adam and you gave him his wife Eve to be his help and support; and from these two the human race descended. You said, 'It is not good for the man to be alone; let us make him a partner like himself.'

⁷Now, Lord, you know that I take this wife of mine not because of lust, but for a noble purpose. Call down your mercy on me and on her, and allow us to live together to a happy old age."

⁸They said together, "Amen, amen,"

⁹and went to bed for the night. But Raguel got up and summoned his servants. With him they went out to dig a grave,

¹⁰for he said, "I must do this, because if Tobiah should die, we would be subjected to ridicule and insult."

¹¹When they had finished digging the grave, Raguel went back into the house and called his wife,

¹²saying, "Send one of the maids in to see whether Tobiah is alive or dead, so that if necessary we may bury him without anyone's knowing about it."

¹³She sent the maid, who lit a lamp, opened the bedroom door, went in, and found them sound asleep together.

¹⁴The maid went out and told the girl's parents that Tobiah was alive, and that there was nothing wrong.

¹⁵Then Raguel praised the God of heaven in these words: "Blessed are you, O God, with every holy and pure blessing! Let all your chosen ones praise you; let them bless you forever!

¹⁶Blessed are you, who have made me glad; what I feared did not happen. Rather you have dealt with us according to your great mercy.

¹⁷Blessed are you, for you were merciful toward two only children. Grant them, Master, mercy and deliverance, and bring their lives to fulfillment with happiness and mercy."

¹⁸Then he told his servants to fill in the grave before dawn.

¹⁹He asked his wife to bake many loaves of bread; he himself went out to the herd and picked out two steers and four rams which he ordered to be slaughtered. So the servants began to prepare the feast.

²⁰He summoned Tobiah and made an oath in his presence, saying: "For fourteen days you shall not stir from here, but shall remain here eating and drinking with me; and you shall bring joy to my daughter's sorrowing spirit.

²¹Take, to begin with, half of whatever I own when you go back in good health to your father; the other half will be yours when I and my wife die. Be of good cheer, my son! I am your father, and Edna is your mother; and we belong to you and to your beloved now and forever. So be happy, son!"

9 Then Tobiah called Raphael and said to him:

²"Brother Azariah, take along with you four servants and two camels and travel to Rages. Go to Gabael's house and give him this bond. Get the money and then bring him along with you to the wedding celebration.

³You witnessed the oath that Raguel has sworn; I cannot violate his oath."

⁴For you know that my father is counting the days. If I should delay my return by a single day, I would cause him intense grief.

⁵So Raphael, together with the four servants and two camels, traveled to Rages in Media, where they stayed at Gabael's house. Raphael gave Gabael his bond and told him about Tobit's son Tobiah, and that he had married and was inviting him to the wedding celebration. Gabael promptly checked over the sealed moneybags, and they placed them on the camels.

⁶The following morning they got an early start and traveled to the wedding celebration. When they entered Raguel's house, they found Tobiah reclining at table. He sprang up and greeted Gabael, who wept and blessed him, exclaiming: "O noble and good child, son of a noble and good, upright and charitable man, may the Lord grant heavenly blessing to you and to your wife, and to your wife's father and mother. Blessed be God, because I have seen the very image of my cousin Tobit!"

10 Meanwhile, day by day, Tobit was keeping track of the time Tobiah would need to go and to return. When the number of days was reached and his son did not appear,

²he said, "I wonder what has happened. Perhaps he has been detained there; or perhaps Gabael is dead, and there is no one to give him the money."

³And he began to worry.

⁴His wife Anna said, "My son has perished and is no longer among the living!" And she began to weep aloud and to wail over her son:

⁵"Alas, my child, light of my eyes, that I let you make this journey!"

⁶But Tobit kept telling her: "Hush, do not think about it, my love; he is safe! Probably they have to take care of some unexpected business there. The man who is traveling with him is trustworthy, and is one of our own kinsmen. So do not worry over him, my love. He will be here soon."

⁷But she retorted, "Stop it, and do not lie to me! My child has perished!" She would go out and keep watch all day at the road her son had taken, and she ate nothing. At sunset she would go back home to wail and cry the whole night through, getting no sleep at all. Now at the end of the fourteen-day wedding celebration which Raguel had sworn to hold for his daughter, Tobiah went to him and said: "Please let me go, for I know that my father and mother do not believe they will ever see me again. So I beg you, father, let me go back to my father. I have already told you how I left him."

⁸Raguel said to Tobiah: "Stay, my child, stay with me. I am sending messengers to your father Tobit, and they will give him news of you."

⁹But Tobiah insisted, "No, I beg you to let me go back to my father."

¹⁰Raguel then promptly handed over to Tobiah Sarah his wife, together with half of all his property: male and female slaves, oxen and sheep, asses and camels, clothing, money, and household goods.

¹¹Bidding them farewell, he let them go. He embraced Tobiah and said to him: "Good-bye, my son. Have a safe journey. May the Lord of heaven grant prosperity to you and to your wife Sarah. And may I see children of yours before I die!"

¹²Then he kissed his daughter Sarah and said to her: "My daughter, honor your father-in-law and your mother-in-law, because from now on they are as much your parents as the ones who brought you into the world. Go in peace, my daughter; let me hear good reports about you as long as I live." Finally he said good-bye to them and sent them away.

¹³Then Edna said to Tobiah: "My child and beloved kinsman, may the Lord bring you back safely, and may I live long enough to see children of you and of my daughter Sarah before I die. Before the Lord, I entrust my daughter to your care. Never cause her grief at any time in your life. Go in peace, my child. From now on I am your mother, and Sarah is your beloved. May all of us be prosperous all the days of our lives." She kissed them both and sent them away in peace.

¹⁴When Tobiah left Raguel, he was full of happiness and joy, and he blessed the Lord of heaven and earth, the King of all, for making his journey so successful. Finally he said good-bye to Raguel and his wife Edna, and added, "May I honor you all the days of my life!"

11 Then they left and began their return journey. When they were near Kaserin, just before Nineveh, ²Raphael said: "You know how we left your father.

³Let us hurry on ahead of your wife to prepare the house while the rest of the party are still on the way."

⁴So they both went on ahead and Raphael said to Tobiah, "Have the gall in your hand!" And the dog ran along behind them.

⁵Meanwhile, Anna sat watching the road by which her son was to come.

⁶When she saw him coming, she exclaimed to his father, "Tobit, your son is coming, and the man who traveled with him!"

⁷Raphael said to Tobiah before he reached his father: "I am certain that his eyes will be opened.

⁸Smear the fish gall on them. This medicine will make the cataracts shrink and peel off from his eyes; then your father will again be able to see the light of day."

⁹Then Anna ran up to her son, threw her arms around him, and said to him, "Now that I have seen you again, son, I am ready to die!" And she sobbed aloud.

¹⁰Tobit got up and stumbled out through the courtyard gate. Tobiah went up to him

¹¹with the fish gall in his hand, and holding him firmly, blew into his eyes. "Courage, father," he said.

¹²Next he smeared the medicine on his eyes,

¹³and it made them smart. Then, beginning at the corners of Tobit's eyes, Tobiah used both hands to peel off the cataracts. When Tobit saw his son, he threw his arms around him

¹⁴and wept. He exclaimed, "I can see you, son, the light of my eyes!" Then he said: "Blessed be God, and praised be his great name, and blessed be all his holy angels. May his holy name be praised throughout all the ages, ¹⁵Because it was he who scourged me, and it is he who has had mercy on me. Behold, I now see my son Tobiah!" Then Tobit went back in, rejoicing and praising God with full voice. Tobiah told his father that his journey had been a success; that he had brought back the money; and that he had married Raguel's daughter Sarah, who would arrive shortly, for she was approaching the gate of Nineveh. '

¹⁶Rejoicing and praising God, Tobit went out to the gate of Nineveh to meet his daughter-in-law. When the people of Nineveh saw him walking along briskly, with no one leading him by the hand, they were amazed.

¹⁷Before them all Tobit proclaimed how God had mercifully restored sight to his eyes. When Tobit reached Sarah, the wife of his son Tobiah, he greeted her: "Welcome, my daughter! Blessed be your God for bringing you to us, daughter! Blessed are your father and your mother. Blessed is my son Tobiah, and blessed are you, daughter! Welcome to your home with blessing and joy. Come in, daughter!" That day there was joy for all the Jews who lived in Nineveh.

¹⁸Ahiqar and his nephew Nadab also came to rejoice with Tobit. They celebrated Tobiah's wedding feast for seven happy days, and he received many gifts.

12When the wedding celebration came to an end, Tobit called his son Tobiah and said to him, "Son, see to it that you give what is due to the man who made the journey with you; give him a bonus too."

- ²Tobiah said: "Father, how much shall I pay him? It would not hurt me at all to give him half of all the wealth he brought back with me.
- ³He led me back safe and sound; he cured my wife; he brought the money back with me; and he cured you. How much of a bonus should I give him?"
- ⁴Tobit answered, "It is only fair, son, that he should receive half of all that he brought back."
- ⁵So Tobiah called Raphael and said, "Take as your wages half of all that you have brought back, and go in peace."
- ⁶Raphael called the two men aside privately and said to them: "Thank God! Give him the praise and the glory. Before all the living, acknowledge the many good things he has done for you, by blessing and extolling his name in song. Before all men, honor and proclaim God's deeds, and do not be slack in praising him.
- ⁷A king's secret it is prudent to keep, but the works of God are to be declared and made known. Praise them with due honor. Do good, and evil will not find its way to you.
- ⁸Prayer and fasting are good, but better than either is almsgiving accompanied by righteousness. A little with righteousness is better than abundance with wickedness. It is better to give alms than to store up gold;
- ⁹for almsgiving saves one from death and expiates every sin. Those who regularly give alms shall enjoy a full life;
- ¹⁰but those habitually guilty of sin are their own worst enemies.
- ¹¹"I will now tell you the whole truth; I will conceal nothing at all from you. I have already said to you, 'A king's secret it is prudent to keep, but the works of God are to be made known with due honor.'
- ¹²I can now tell you that when you, Tobit, and Sarah prayed, it was I who presented and read the record of your prayer before the Glory of the Lord; and I did the same thing when you used to bury the dead.
- ¹³When you did not hesitate to get up and leave your dinner in order to go and bury the dead,

¹⁴I was sent to put you to the test. At the same time, however, God commissioned me to heal you and your daughter-in-law Sarah.

¹⁵I am Raphael, one of the seven angels who enter and serve before the Glory of the Lord."

¹⁶Stricken with fear, the two men fell to the ground.

¹⁷But Raphael said to them: "No need to fear; you are safe. Thank God now and forever.

¹⁸As for me, when I came to you it was not out of any favor on my part, but because it was God's will. So continue to thank him every day; praise him with song.

¹⁹Even though you watched me eat and drink. I did not really do so; what you were seeing was a vision.

²⁰So now get up from the ground and praise God. Behold, I am about to ascend to him who sent me; write down all these things that have happened to you."

²¹When Raphael ascended they rose to their feet and could no longer see him.

²²They kept thanking God and singing his praises; and they continued to acknowledge these marvelous deeds which he had done when the angel of God appeared to them.

13 Then Tobit composed this joyful prayer: Blessed be God who lives forever, because his kingdom lasts for all ages.

²For he scourges and then has mercy; he casts down to the depths of the nether world, and he brings up from the great abyss. No one can escape his hand.

³Praise him, you Israelites, before the Gentiles, for though he has scattered you among them,

⁴he has shown you his greatness even there. Exalt him before every living being, because he is the Lord our God, our Father and God forever.

⁵He scourged you for your iniquities, but will again have mercy on you all. He will gather you from all the Gentiles among whom you have been scattered.

⁶When you turn back to him with all your heart, to do what is right before him, Then he will turn back to you, and no longer hide his face from you. So now consider what he has done for you, and praise him with full voice. Bless the Lord of righteousness, and exalt the King of the ages. In the land of my exile I praise him, and show his power and majesty to a sinful nation. "Turn back, you sinners! do the right before him: perhaps he may look with favor upon you and show you mercy.

⁷"As for me, I exalt my God, and my spirit rejoices in the King of heaven.

⁹O Jerusalem, holy city, he scourged you for the works of your hands, but will again pity the children of the righteous.

¹⁰Praise the Lord for his goodness, and bless the King of the ages, so that his tent may be rebuilt in you with joy. May he gladden within you all who were captives; all who were ravaged may he cherish within you for all generations to come.

¹¹A bright light will shine to all parts of the earth; many nations shall come to you from afar, And the inhabitants of all the limits of the earth, drawn to you by the name of the Lord God, Bearing in their hands their gifts for the King of heaven. Every generation shall give joyful praise in you, and shall call you the chosen one, through all ages forever.

¹²Accursed are all who speak a harsh word against you; accursed are all who destroy you and pull down your walls, And all who overthrow your towers and set fire to your homes; but forever blessed are all those who build you up.

¹³Go, then, rejoice over the children of the righteous, who shall all be gathered together and shall bless the Lord of the ages.

¹⁴Happy are those who love you, and happy those who rejoice in your prosperity. Happy are all the men who shall grieve over you, over all your chastisements, For they shall rejoice in you as they behold all your joy forever.

¹⁵My spirit blesses the Lord, the great King;

¹⁶Jerusalem shall be rebuilt as his home forever. Happy for me if a remnant of my offspring survive to see your glory and to praise the King of heaven! The gates of Jerusalem shall be built with sapphire and emerald, and all your walls with precious stones. The towers of Jerusalem shall be built with gold, and their battlements with pure gold.

¹⁷The streets of Jerusalem shall be paved with rubies and stones of Ophir;

¹⁸The gates of Jerusalem shall sing hymns of gladness, and all her houses shall cry out, "Alleluia! "Blessed be God who has raised you up! may he be blessed for all ages!" For in you they shall praise his holy name forever. The end of Tobit's hymn of praise.

14Tobit died peacefully at the age of a hundred and twelve, and received an honorable burial in Nineveh.

²He was sixty-two years old when he lost his eyesight, and after he recovered it he lived in prosperity, giving alms and continually blessing God and praising the divine Majesty.

³Just before he died, he called his son Tobiah and Tobiah's seven sons, and gave him this command: "Son, take your children

⁴and flee into Media, for I believe God's word which was spoken by Nahum against Nineveh. It shall all happen, and shall overtake Assyria and Nineveh; indeed, whatever was said by Israel's prophets, whom God commissioned, shall occur. Not one of all the oracles shall remain unfulfilled, but everything shall take place in the time appointed for it. So it will be safer in Media than in Assyria or Babylon. For I know and believe that whatever God has spoken will be accomplished. It shall happen, and not a single word of the prophecies shall prove false. "As for our kinsmen who dwell in Israel, they shall all be scattered and led away into exile from the Good Land. The entire country of Israel shall become desolate; even Samaria and Jerusalem shall become desolate! God's temple there shall be burnt to the ground and shall be desolate for a while.

⁵But God will again have mercy on them and bring them back to the land of Israel. They shall rebuild the temple, but it will not be like the first one, until the era when the appointed times shall be completed. Afterward all of them shall return from their exile, and they shall rebuild Jerusalem with splendor. In her the temple of God shall also be rebuilt; yes, it will be rebuilt for all generations to come, just as the prophets of Israel said of her.

⁶All the nations of the world shall be converted and shall offer God true worship; all shall abandon their idols which have deceitfully led them into error,

⁷and shall bless the God of the ages in righteousness. Because all the Israelites who are to be saved in those days will truly be mindful of God, they shall be gathered together and go to Jerusalem; in security shall they dwell forever in the land of Abraham, which will be given over to them. Those who sincerely love God shall rejoice, but those who become guilty of sin shall completely disappear from the land.

⁸"Now, as for you, my son, depart from Nineveh; do not remain here.

⁹"Now, children, I give you this command: serve God faithfully and do what is right before him; you must tell your children to do what is upright and to give alms, to be mindful of God and at all times to bless his name sincerely and with all their strength.

¹⁰The day you bury your mother next to me, do not even stay overnight within the confines of the city. For I see that people here shamelessly commit all sorts of wickedness and treachery. Think, my son, of all that Nadab did to Ahiqar, the very one who brought him up: Ahiqar went down alive into the earth! Yet God made Nadab's disgraceful crime rebound against him. Ahiqar came out again into the light, but Nadab went into the everlasting darkness, for he had tried to kill Ahiqar. Because Ahiqar had given alms to me, he escaped from the deadly trap Nadab had set for him. But Nadab himself fell into the deadly trap, and it destroyed him.

¹¹So, my children, note well what almsgiving does, and also what wickedness does--it kills! But now my spirit is about to leave me."

¹²They placed him on his bed and he died; and he received an honorable burial. When Tobiah's mother died, he buried her next to his father. He then departed with his wife and children for Media, where he settled in Ecbatana with his father-in-law Raguel.

¹³He took respectful care of his aging father-in-law and mother-in-law; and he buried them at Ecbatana in Media. Then he inherited Raguel's estate as well as that of his father Tobit.

¹⁴He died at the venerable age of a hundred and seventeen.

¹⁵But before he died, he heard of the destruction of Nineveh and saw its effects. He witnessed the exile of the city's inhabitants when Cyaxares, king of Media, led them captive into Media. Tobiah praised God for all that he had done against the citizens of Nineveh and Assyria. Before dying he rejoiced over Nineveh's destruction, and he blessed the Lord God forever and ever. Amen.

Judith

1 It was the twelfth year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar, king of the Assyrians in the great city of Nineveh. At that time Arphaxad ruled over the Medes in Ecbatana.

²Around this city he built a wall of blocks of stone, each three cubits in height and six in length. He made the wall seventy cubits high and fifty thick.

³At the gates he raised towers of a hundred cubits, with a thickness of sixty cubits at the base.

⁴The gateway he built to a height of seventy cubits, with an opening forty cubits wide for the passage of his chariot forces and the marshaling of his infantry.

⁵Then King Nebuchadnezzar waged war against King Arphaxad in the vast plain, in the district of Ragae.

⁶To him there rallied all the inhabitants of the mountain region, all who dwelt along the Euphrates, the Tigris, and the Hydaspes, and King Arioch of the Elamites, in the plain. Thus many nations came together to resist the people of Cheleoud.

⁷Now Nebuchadnezzar, king of the Assyrians, sent messengers to all the inhabitants of Persia, and to all those who dwelt in the West: to the inhabitants of Cilicia and Damascus, Lebanon and Anti-Lebanon, to all who dwelt along the seacoast,

⁸to the peoples of Carmel, Gilead, Upper Galilee, and the vast plain of Esdraelon,

⁹to all those in Samaria and its cities, and west of the Jordan as far as Jerusalem, Bethany, Chelous, Kadesh, and the River of Egypt; to Tahpanhes, Raamses, all the land of Goshen, ¹⁰Tanis, Memphis and beyond, and to all the inhabitants of Egypt as far as the borders of Ethiopia.

¹¹But the inhabitants of all that land disregarded the summons of Nebuchadnezzar, king of the Assyrians, and would not go with him to the war. They were not afraid of him but regarded him as a lone individual opposed to them, and turned away his envoys empty-handed, in disgrace.

¹²Then Nebuchadnezzar fell into a violent rage against all that land, and swore by his throne and his kingdom that he would avenge himself on all the territories of Cilicia and Damascus and Syria, and also destroy with his sword all the inhabitants of Moab, Ammon, the whole of Judea, and those living anywhere in Egypt as far as the borders of the two seas.

¹³In the seventeenth year he proceeded with his army against King Arphaxad, and was victorious in his campaign. He routed the whole force of Arphaxad, his entire cavalry and all his chariots, ¹⁴and took possession of his cities. He pressed on to Ecbatana and took its towers, sacked its marketplaces, and turned its glory into shame.

¹⁵Arphaxad himself he overtook in the mountains of Ragae, ran him through with spears, and utterly destroyed him.

¹⁶Then he returned home with all his numerous, motley horde of warriors; and there he and his army relaxed and feasted for a hundred and twenty days.

2In the eighteenth year, on the twenty-second day of the first month, there was a discussion in the palace of Nebuchadnezzar, king of the Assyrians, about taking revenge on the whole world, as he had threatened.

²He summoned all his ministers and nobles, laid before them his secret plan, and urged the total destruction of those countries.

³They decided to do away with all those who had refused to comply with the order he had issued.

⁴When he had completed his plan, Nebuchadnezzar, king of the Assyrians, summoned Holofernes, general in chief of his forces, second to himself in command, and said to him:

⁵"Thus says the great king, the lord of all the earth: Go forth from my presence, take with you men of proven valor, a hundred and twenty thousand infantry and twelve thousand cavalry,

⁶and proceed against all the land of the West, because they did not comply with the order I issued.

⁷Tell them to have earth and water ready, for I will come against them in my wrath; I will cover all the land with the feet of my soldiers, to whom I will deliver them as spoils.

⁸Their slain shall fill their ravines and wadies, the swelling torrent shall be choked with their dead;

⁹and I will deport them as exiles to the very ends of the earth.

¹⁰"You go before me and take possession of all their territories for me. If they surrender to you, guard them for me till the day of their punishment.

¹¹As for those who resist, show them no quarter, but deliver them up to slaughter and plunder in each country you occupy.

¹²For as I live, and by the strength of my kingdom, what I have spoken I will accomplish by my power.

¹³Do not disobey a single one of the orders of your lord; fulfill them exactly as I have commanded you, and do it without delay."

¹⁵He mustered a hundred and twenty thousand picked troops, as his lord had commanded, and twelve thousand mounted archers,

¹⁶and grouped them into a complete combat force.

¹⁷He took along a very large number of camels, asses, and mules for their baggage; innumerable sheep, cattle, and goats for their food supply;

¹⁸abundant provisions for each man, and much gold and silver from the royal palace.

¹⁹Then he and his whole army proceeded on their expedition in advance of King Nebuchadnezzar, to cover all the western region with their chariots and cavalry and regular infantry.

²⁰A huge, irregular force, too many to count, like locusts or the dust of the earth, went along with them.

²¹After a three-day march from Nineveh, they reached the plain of Bectileth, and from Bectileth they next encamped near the mountains to the north of Upper Cilicia.

²²From there Holofernes took his whole force, the infantry, cavalry, and chariots, and marched into the mountain region.

²³He devastated Put and Lud, and plundered all the Rassisites and the Ishmaelites on the border of the desert toward the south of Chaldea.

²⁴Then, following the Euphrates, he went through Mesopotamia, and battered down every fortified city along the Wadi Abron, until he reached the sea.

²⁵He seized the territory of Cilicia, and cut down everyone who resisted him. Then he proceeded to the southern borders of Japheth, toward Arabia.

²⁷Descending to the plain of Damascus at the time of the wheat harvest, he set fire to all their fields, destroyed their flocks and herds, despoiled their cities, devastated their plains, and put all their youths to the sword.

²⁸The fear and dread of him fell upon all the inhabitants of the coastland, upon those in Sidon and Tyre, and those who dwelt in Sur and Ocina, and the inhabitants of Jamnia. Those in Azotus and Ascalon also feared him greatly.

3 They therefore sent messengers to him to sue for peace in these words:

²"We, the servants of Nebuchadnezzar the great king, lie prostrate before you; do with us as you will.

³Our dwellings and all our wheat fields, our flocks and herds, and all our encampments are at your disposal; make use of them as you please.

⁴Our cities and their inhabitants are also at your service; come and deal with them as you see fit."

⁵After the spokesmen had reached Holofernes and given him this message,

⁶he went down with his army to the seacoast, and stationed garrisons in the fortified cities; from them he impressed picked troops as auxiliaries.

⁷The people of these cities and all the inhabitants of the countryside received him with garlands and dancing to the sound of timbrels.

⁸Nevertheless, he devastated their whole territory and cut down their sacred groves, for he had been commissioned to destroy all the gods of the earth, so that every nation might worship Nebuchadnezzar alone, and every people and tribe invoke him as a god.

⁹At length Holofernes reached Esdraelon in the neighborhood of Dothan, the approach to the main ridge of the Judean mountains;

¹⁰he set up his camp between Geba and Scythopolis, and stayed there a whole month to refurbish all the equipment of his army.

4When the Israelites who dwelt in Judea heard of all that Holofernes, commander-in-chief of Nebuchadnezzar, king of the Assyrians, had done to the nations, and how he had despoiled all their temples and destroyed them, ²they were in extreme dread of him, and greatly alarmed for Jerusalem and the temple of the Lord, their God.

³Now, they had lately returned from exile, and only recently had all the people of Judea been gathered together, and the vessels, the altar, and the temple been purified from profanation.

⁴So they sent word to the whole region of Samaria, to Kona, Beth-horon, Belmain, and Jericho, to Choba and Aesora, and to the valley of Salem.

⁵The people there posted guards on all the summits of the high mountains, fortified their villages, and since their fields had recently been harvested, stored up provisions in preparation for war.

⁶Joakim, who was high priest in Jerusalem in those days, wrote to the inhabitants of Bethulia (and Betomesthaim), which is on the way to Esdraelon, facing the plain near Dothan, ⁷and instructed them to keep firm hold of the mountain passes, since these offered access to Judea. It would be easy to ward off the attacking forces, as the defile was only wide enough for two abreast.

⁸The Israelites carried out the orders given them by Joakim, the high priest, and the senate of the whole people of Israel, which met in Jerusalem.

⁹All the men of Israel cried to God with great fervor and did penance--

¹⁰they, along with their wives, and children, and domestic animals. All their resident aliens, hired laborers, and slaves also girded themselves with sackcloth.

¹¹And all the Israelite men, women and children who lived in Jerusalem prostrated themselves in front of the temple building, with ashes strewn on their heads, displaying their sackcloth covering before the Lord.

¹²The altar, too, they draped in sackcloth; and with one accord they cried out fervently to the God of Israel not to allow their children to be seized, their wives to be taken captive, the cities of their inheritance to be ruined, or the sanctuary to be profaned and mocked for the nations to gloat over.

¹³The Lord heard their cry and had regard for their distress. For the people observed a fast of many days' duration throughout Judea, and before the sanctuary of the Lord Almighty in Jerusalem.

¹⁴The high priest Joakim, and all the priests in attendance on the Lord who served his altar, were also girded with sackcloth as they offered the daily holocaust, the votive offerings, and the freewill offerings of the people.

¹⁵With ashes upon their turbans, they cried to the Lord with all their strength to look with favor on the whole house of Israel.

5It was reported to Holofernes, commander-in-chief of the Assyrian army, that the Israelites were ready for battle, and had blocked the mountain passes, fortified the summits of all the higher peaks, and placed roadblocks in the plains.

²In great anger he summoned all the rulers of the Moabites, the generals of the Ammonites, and all the satraps of the seacoast

³and said to them: "Now tell me, you Canaanites, what sort of people is this that dwells in the mountains? Which cities do they inhabit? How large is their army? In what does their power and strength consist? Who has set himself up as their king and the leader of their army?"

⁴Why have they refused to come out to meet me along with all the other inhabitants of the West?"

⁵Then Achior, the leader of all the Ammonites said to him: "My lord, hear this account from your servant; I will tell you the truth about this people that lives near you (that inhabits this mountain region); no lie shall escape your servant's lips.

⁷They formerly dwelt in Mesopotamia, for they did not wish to follow the gods of their forefathers who were born in the land of the Chaldeans.

⁸Since they abandoned the way of their ancestors, and acknowledged with divine worship the God of heaven, their forefathers expelled them from the presence of their gods. So they fled to Mesopotamia and dwelt there a long time.

⁹Their God bade them leave their abode and proceed to the land of Canaan. Here they settled, and grew very rich in gold, silver, and a great abundance of livestock.

¹⁰Later, when famine had gripped the whole land of Canaan, they went down into Egypt. They stayed there as long as they found sustenance, and grew into such a great multitude that the number of their race could not be counted.

¹¹The king of Egypt, however, rose up against them, shrewdly forced them to labor at brickmaking, oppressed and enslaved them.

¹²But they cried to their God, and he struck the land of Egypt with plagues for which there was no remedy. When the Egyptians expelled them,

¹³God dried up the Red Sea before them,

¹⁴and led them along the route to Sinai and Kadesh-barnea. First they drove out all the inhabitants of the desert;

¹⁵then they settled in the land of the Amorites, destroyed all the Heshbonites by main force, crossed the Jordan, and took possession of the whole mountain region.

¹⁶They expelled the Canaanites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, the Shechemites, and all the Gergesites; and they lived in these mountains a long time.

¹⁷"As long as the Israelites did not sin in the sight of their God, they prospered, for their God, who hates wickedness, was with them.

¹⁸But when they deviated from the way he prescribed for them, they were ground down steadily, more and more, by frequent wars, and finally taken as captives into foreign lands. The temple of their God was razed to the ground, and their cities were occupied by their enemies.

¹⁹But now that they have returned to their God, they have come back from the Dispersion wherein they were scattered, and have repossessed Jerusalem, where their sanctuary is, and have settled again in the mountain region which was unoccupied.

²⁰"So now, my lord and master, if these people are at fault, and are sinning against their God, and if we verify this offense of theirs, then we shall be able to go up and conquer them.

²¹But if they are not a guilty nation, then your lordship should keep his distance; otherwise their Lord and God will shield them, and we shall become the laughing stock of the whole world."

²²Now when Achior had concluded his recommendation, all the people standing round about the tent murmured; and the officers of Holofernes and all the inhabitants of the seacoast and of Moab alike said he should be cut to pieces.

²³"We are not afraid of the Israelites," they said, "for they are a powerless people, incapable of a strong defense.

²⁴Let us therefore attack them; your great army, Lord Holofernes, will swallow them up."

6When the noise of the crowd surrounding the council had subsided, Holofernes, commander-in-chief of the Assyrian army, said to Achior, in the presence of the whole throng of coastland peoples, of the Moabites, and of the Ammonite mercenaries:

²"Who are you, Achior, to prophesy among us as you have done today, and to tell us not to fight against the Israelites because their God protects them? What god is there beside Nebuchadnezzar? He will send his force and destroy them from the face of the earth. Their God will not save them;

³but we, the servants of Nebuchadnezzar, will strike them down as one man, for they will be unable to withstand the force of our cavalry.

⁴We will overwhelm them with it, and the mountains shall be drunk with their blood, and their plains filled with their corpses. Not a trace of them shall survive our attack: they shall utterly perish, says King Nebuchadnezzar, lord of all the earth; for he has spoken, and his words shall not remain unfulfilled.

⁵As for you, Achior, you Ammonite mercenary, for saying these things in a moment of perversity you shall not see my face after today, until I have taken revenge on this race of people from Egypt.

⁶Then at my return, the sword of my army or the spear of my servants will pierce your sides, and you shall fall among their slain.

⁷My servants will now conduct you to the mountain region, and leave you at one of the towns along the ascent.

⁸You shall not die till you are destroyed together with them.

⁹If you still cherish the hope that they will not be taken, then there is no need for you to be downcast. I have spoken, and my words shall not prove false in any respect."

¹⁰Then Holofernes ordered the servants who were standing by in his tent to seize Achior, conduct him to Bethulia, and hand him over to the Israelites.

¹¹So the servants took him in custody and brought him out of the camp into the plain. From there they led him into the mountain region till they reached the springs below Bethulia.

¹²When the men of the city saw them, they seized their weapons and ran out of the city to the crest of the ridge; and all the slingers blocked the ascent of Holofernes' servants by hurling stones upon them.

¹³So they took cover below the mountain, where they bound Achior and left him lying at the foot of the mountain; then they returned to their lord.

¹⁴The Israelites came down to him from their city, loosed him, and brought him into Bethulia. They haled him before the rulers of the city, ¹⁵who in those days were Uziah, son of Micah of the tribe of Simeon, Chabris, son of Gothoniel, and Charmis, son of Melchiel.

¹⁶They then convened all the elders of the city; and all their young men, as well as the women, gathered in haste at the place of assembly. They placed Achior in the center of the throng, and Uziah questioned him about what had happened.

¹⁷He replied by giving them an account of what was said in the council of Holofernes, and of all his own words among the Assyrian officers, and of all the boasting threats of Holofernes against the house of Israel.

¹⁸At this the people fell prostrate and worshiped God; and they cried out:

¹⁹"Lord, God of heaven, behold their arrogance! Have pity on the lowliness of our people, and look with favor this day on those who are consecrated to you."

²⁰Then they reassured Achior and praised him highly.

²¹Uzziah brought him from the assembly to his home, where he gave a banquet for the elders. That whole night they called upon the God of Israel for help.

7 The following day Holofernes ordered his whole army, and all the allied troops that had come to his support, to move against Bethulia, seize the mountain passes, and engage the Israelites in battle.

²That same day all their fighting men went into action. Their forces numbered a hundred and seventy thousand infantry and twelve thousand horsemen, not counting the baggage train or the men who accompanied it on foot—a very great army.

³They encamped at the spring in the valley near Bethulia, and spread out in breadth toward Dothan as far as Balbaim, and in length from Bethulia to Cyamon, which faces Esdraelon.

⁴When the Israelites saw how many there were, they said to one another in great dismay: "Soon they will devour the whole country. Neither the high mountains nor the valleys and hills can support the mass of them."

⁵Yet they all seized their weapons, lighted fires on their bastions, and kept watch throughout the night.

⁶On the second day Holofernes led out all his cavalry in the sight of the Israelites who were in Bethulia.

⁷He reconnoitered the approaches to their city and located their sources of water; these he seized, stationing armed detachments around them, while he himself returned to his troops.

⁸All the commanders of the Edomites and all the leaders of the Ammonites, together with the generals of the seacoast, came to Holofernes and said:

⁹"Sir, listen to what we have to say, that there may be no losses among your troops.

¹⁰These Israelites do not rely on their spears, but on the height of the mountains where they dwell; it is not easy to reach the summit of their mountains.

¹¹Therefore, sir, do not attack them in regular formation; thus not a single one of your troops will fall.

¹²Stay in your camp, and spare all your soldiers. Have some of your servants keep control of the source of water that flows out at the base of the mountain,

¹³for that is where the inhabitants of Bethulia get their water. Then thirst will begin to carry them off, and they will surrender their city. Meanwhile, we and our men will go up to the summits of the nearby mountains, and encamp there to guard against anyone's leaving the city.

¹⁴They and their wives and children will languish with hunger, and even before the sword strikes them they will be laid low in the streets of their city.

¹⁵Thus you will render them dire punishment for their rebellion and their refusal to meet you peacefully."

¹⁶Their words pleased Holofernes and all his ministers, and he ordered their proposal to be carried out.

¹⁷Thereupon the Moabites moved camp, together with five thousand Assyrians. They encamped in the valley, and held the water supply and the springs of the Israelites.

¹⁸The Edomites and the Ammonites went up and encamped in the mountain region opposite Dothan; and they sent some of their men to the south and to the east opposite Egrel, near Chusi, which is on Wadi Mochmur. The rest of the Assyrian army was encamped in the plain, covering the whole countryside. Their enormous store of tents and equipment was spread out in profusion everywhere.

¹⁹The Israelites cried to the Lord, their God, for they were disheartened, since all their enemies had them surrounded, and there was no way of slipping through their lines.

²⁰The whole Assyrian camp, infantry, chariots, and cavalry, kept them thus surrounded for thirty-four days. All the reservoirs of water failed the inhabitants of Bethulia, ²¹and the cisterns ran dry, so that on no day did they have enough to drink, but their drinking water was rationed.

²²Their children fainted away, and the women and youths were consumed with thirst and were collapsing in the streets and gateways of the city, with no strength left in them.

²³All the people, therefore, including youths, women, and children, went in a crowd to Uzziah and the rulers of the city. They set up a great clamor and said before the elders:

²⁴"God judge between you and us! You have done us grave injustice in not making peace with the Assyrians.

²⁵There is no help for us now! Instead, God has sold us into their power by laying us prostrate before them in thirst and utter exhaustion.

²⁶Therefore, summon them and deliver the whole city as booty to the troops of Holofernes and to all his forces;

²⁷we would be better off to become their prey. We should indeed be made slaves, but at least we should live, and not have to behold our little ones dying before our eyes and our wives and children breathing out their souls.

²⁸We adjure you by heaven and earth, and by our God, the Lord of our forefathers, who is punishing us for our sins and those of our forefathers, to do as we have proposed, this very day."

²⁹All in the assembly with one accord broke into shrill wailing and loud cries to the Lord their God.

³⁰But Uzziah said to them, "Courage, my brothers! Let us wait five days more for the Lord our God, to show his mercy toward us; he will not utterly forsake us.

³¹But if those days pass without help coming to us, I will do as you say."

³²Then he dispersed the men to their posts, and they returned to the walls and towers of the city; the women and children he sent to their homes. Throughout the city they were in great misery.

8 Now in those days Judith, daughter of Merari, son of Joseph, son of Oziel, son of Elkiah, son of Ananias, son of Gideon, son of Raphain, son of Ahitob, son of Elijah, son of Hilkiab, son of Eliab, son of Nathanael, son of Salamiel, son of Sarasadai, son of Simeon, son of Israel, heard of this.

- ²Her husband, Manasseh, of her own tribe and clan, had died at the time of the barley harvest.
- ³While he was in the field supervising those who bound the sheaves, he suffered sunstroke; and he died of this illness in Bethulia, his native city. He was buried with his forefathers in the field between Dothan and Balamon.
- ⁴The widowed Judith remained three years and four months at home,
- ⁵where she set up a tent for herself on the roof of her house. She put sackcloth about her loins and wore widow's weeds.
- ⁶She fasted all the days of her widowhood, except sabbath eves and sabbaths, new moon eves and new moons, feastdays and holidays of the house of Israel.
- ⁷She was beautifully formed and lovely to behold. Her husband, Manasseh, had left her gold and silver, servants and maids, livestock and fields, which she was maintaining.
- ⁸No one had a bad word to say about her, for she was a very God-fearing woman.
- ⁹When Judith, therefore, heard of the harsh words which the people, discouraged by their lack of water, had spoken against their ruler, and of all that Uzziah had said to them in reply, swearing that he would hand over the city to the Assyrians at the end of five days,
- ¹⁰she sent the maid who was in charge of all her things to ask Uzziah, Chabris, and Charmis, the elders of the city, to visit her.
- ¹¹When they came, she said to them: "Listen to me, you rulers of the people of Bethulia. What you said to the people today is not proper. When you promised to hand over the city to our enemies at the end of five days unless within that time the Lord comes to our aid, you interposed between God and yourselves this oath which you took.
- ¹²Who are you, then, that you should have put God to the test this day, setting yourselves in the place of God in human affairs?
- ¹³It is the Lord Almighty for whom you are laying down conditions; will you never understand anything?

¹⁴You cannot plumb the depths of the human heart or grasp the workings of the human mind; how then can you fathom God, who has made all these things, discern his mind, and understand his plan? "No, my brothers, do not anger the Lord our God.

¹⁵For if he does not wish to come to our aid within the five days, he has it equally within his power to protect us at such time as he pleases, or to destroy us in the face of our enemies.

¹⁶It is not for you to make the Lord our God give surety for his plans. "God is not man that he should be moved by threats, nor human, that he may be given an ultimatum.

¹⁷"So while we wait for the salvation that comes from him, let us call upon him to help us, and he will hear our cry if it is his good pleasure.

¹⁸For there has not risen among us in recent generations, nor does there exist today, any tribe, or clan, or town, or city of ours that worships gods made by hands, as happened in former days.

¹⁹It was for such conduct that our forefathers were handed over to the sword and to pillage, and fell with great destruction before our enemies.

²⁰But since we acknowledge no other god but the Lord, we hope that he will not disdain us or any of our people.

²¹If we are taken, all Judea will fall, our sanctuary will be plundered, and God will make us pay for its profanation with our life's blood.

²²For the slaughter of our kinsmen, for the taking of exiles from the land, and for the devastation of our inheritance, he will lay the guilt on our heads. Wherever we shall be enslaved among the nations, we shall be a mockery and a reproach in the eyes of our masters.

²³Our enslavement will not be turned to our benefit, but the Lord our God, will maintain it to our disgrace.

²⁴"Therefore, my brothers, let us set an example for our kinsmen. Their lives depend on us, and the defense of the sanctuary, the temple, and the altar rests with us.

²⁵Besides all this, we should be grateful to the Lord our God, for putting us to the test, as he did our forefathers.

²⁶Recall how he dealt with Abraham, and how he tried Isaac, and all that happened to Jacob in Syrian Mesopotamia while he was tending the flocks of Laban, his mother's brother.

²⁷Not for vengeance did the Lord put them in the crucible to try their hearts, nor has he done so with us. It is by way of admonition that he chastises those who are close to him."

²⁸Then Uzziah said to her: "All that you have said was spoken with good sense, and no one can gainsay your words.

²⁹Not today only is your wisdom made evident, but from your earliest years all the people have recognized your prudence, which corresponds to the worthy dispositions of your heart.

³⁰The people, however, were so tortured with thirst that they forced us to speak to them as we did, and to bind ourselves by an oath that we cannot break.

³¹But now, God-fearing woman that you are, pray for us that the Lord may send rain to fill up our cisterns, lest we be weakened still further."

³²Then Judith said to them: "Listen to me! I will do something that will go down from generation to generation among the descendants of our race.

³³Stand at the gate tonight to let me pass through with my maid; and within the days you have specified before you will surrender the city to our enemies, the Lord will rescue Israel by my hand.

³⁴You must not inquire into what I am doing, for I will not tell you until my plan has been accomplished."

³⁵Uzziah and the rulers said to her, "Go in peace, and may the Lord God go before you to take vengeance upon our enemies!"

³⁶Then they withdrew from the tent and returned to their posts.

9 Judith threw herself down prostrate, with ashes strewn upon her head, and wearing nothing over her sackcloth. While the incense was being offered in the temple of God in Jerusalem that evening, Judith prayed to the Lord with a loud voice:

²"Lord, God of my forefather Simeon! You put a sword into his hand to take revenge upon the foreigners who had immodestly loosened the maiden's girdle, shamefully exposed her thighs, and disgracefully violated her body. This they did, though you forbade it.

³Therefore you had their rulers slaughtered; and you covered with their blood the bed in which they lay deceived, the same bed that had felt the shame of their own deceiving. You smote the slaves together with their princes, and the princes together with their servants.

⁴Their wives you handed over to plunder, and their daughters to captivity; and all the spoils you divided among your favored sons, who burned with zeal for you, and in their abhorrence of the defilement of their kinswoman, called on you for help.

⁵"O God, my God, hear me also, a widow. It is you who were the author of those events and of what preceded and followed them. The present, also, and the future you have planned. Whatever you devise comes into being;

⁶the things you decide on come forward and say, 'Here we are!' All your ways are in readiness, and your judgment is made with foreknowledge.

⁷"Here are the Assyrians, a vast force, priding themselves on horse and rider, boasting of the power of their infantry, trusting in shield and spear, bow and sling. They do not know that

⁹See their pride, and send forth your wrath upon their heads. Give me, a widow, the strong hand to execute my plan.

¹⁰With the guile of my lips, smite the slave together with the ruler, the ruler together with his servant; crush their pride by the hand of a woman.

¹²"Please, please, God of my forefather, God of the heritage of Israel, Lord of heaven and earth, Creator of the waters, King of all you have created, hear my prayer!

¹³Let my guileful speech bring wound and wale on those who have planned dire things against your covenant, your holy temple, Mount Zion, and the homes your children have inherited.

¹⁴Let your whole nation and all the tribes know clearly that you are the god of all power and might, and that there is no other who protects the people of Israel but you alone."

10 As soon as Judith had thus concluded, and ceased her invocation to the God of Israel, ²she rose from the ground. She called her maid and they went down into the house, which she used only on sabbaths and feast days.

³She took off the sackcloth she had on, laid aside the garments of her widowhood, washed her body with water, and anointed it with rich ointment. She arranged her hair and bound it with a fillet, and put on the festive attire she had worn while her husband, Manasseh, was living.

⁴She chose sandals for her feet, and put on her anklets, bracelets, rings, earrings, and all her other jewelry. Thus she made herself very beautiful, to captivate the eyes of all the men who should see her.

⁵She gave her maid a leather flask of wine and a cruse of oil. She filled a bag with roasted grain, fig cakes, bread and cheese; all these provisions she wrapped up and gave to the maid to carry.

⁶Then they went out to the gate of the city of Bethulia and found Uzziah and the elders of the city, Chabri and Charmis, standing there.

⁷When these men saw Judith transformed in looks and differently dressed, they were very much astounded at her beauty and said to her,

⁸"May the God of our fathers bring you to favor, and make your undertaking a success, for the glory of the Israelites and the exaltation of Jerusalem." Judith bowed down to God. Then she said to them,

⁹"Order the gate of the city opened for me, that I may go to carry out the business we discussed." So they ordered the youths to open the gate for her as she requested.

¹⁰When they did so, Judith and her maid went out. The men of the city kept her in view as she went down the mountain and crossed the valley; then they lost sight of her.

¹¹As Judith and her maid walked directly across the valley, they encountered the Assyrian outpost.

¹²The men took her in custody and asked her, "To what people do you belong? Where do you come from, and where are you going?" She replied: "I am a daughter of the Hebrews, and I am fleeing from them, because they are about to be delivered up to you as prey.

¹³I have come to see Holofernes, the general in chief of your forces, to give him a trustworthy report; I will show him the route by which he can ascend and take possession of the whole mountain district without a single one of his men suffering injury or loss of life."

¹⁴When the men heard her words and gazed upon her face, which appeared wondrously beautiful to them, they said to her,

¹⁵"By coming down thus promptly to see our master, you have saved your life. Now go to his tent; some of our men will accompany you to present you to him.

¹⁶When you stand before him, have no fear in your heart; give him the report you speak of, and he will treat you well."

¹⁷So they detailed a hundred of their men as an escort for her and her maid, and these conducted them to the tent of Holofernes.

¹⁸When the news of her arrival spread among the tents, a crowd gathered in the camp. They came and stood around her as she waited outside the tent of Holofernes, while he was being informed about her.

¹⁹They marveled at her beauty, regarding the Israelites with wonder because of her, and they said to one another, "Who can despise this people that has such women among them? It is not wise to leave one man of them alive, for if any were to be spared they could beguile the whole world."

²⁰The guard of Holofernes and all his servants came out and ushered her into the tent.

²¹Now Holofernes was reclining on his bed under a canopy with a netting of crimson and gold, emeralds and other precious stones.

²²When they announced her to him, he came out to the antechamber, preceded by silver lamps;

²³and when Holofernes and his servants beheld Judith, they all marveled at the beauty of her face. She threw herself down prostrate before him, but his servants raised her up.

11 Then Holofernes said to her: "Take courage, lady; have no fear in your heart! Never have I harmed anyone who chose to serve Nebuchadnezzar, king of all the earth.

²Nor would I have raised my spear against your people who dwell in the mountain region, had they not despised me and brought this upon themselves.

³But now tell me why you fled from them and came to us. In any case, you have come to safety. Take courage! Your life is spared tonight and for the future.

⁴No one at all will harm you. Rather, you will be well treated, as are all the servants of my lord, King Nebuchadnezzar."

⁵Judith answered him: "Listen to the words of your servant, and let your handmaid speak in your presence! I will tell no lie to my lord this night,

⁶and if you follow out the words of your handmaid, God will give you complete success, and my lord will not fail in any of his undertakings.

⁷By the life of Nebuchadnezzar, king of all the earth, and by the power of him who has sent you to set all creatures aright! not only do men serve him through you; but even the wild beasts and the cattle and the birds of the air, because of your strength, will live for Nebuchadnezzar and his whole house.

⁸Indeed, we have heard of your wisdom and sagacity, and all the world is aware that throughout the kingdom you alone are competent, rich in experience, and distinguished in military strategy.

⁹"As for Achior's speech in your council, we have heard of it. When the men of Bethulia spared him, he told them all he had said to you.

¹⁰So then, my lord and master, do not disregard his word, but bear it in mind, for it is true. For our people are not punished, nor does the sword prevail against them, except when they sin against their God.

¹¹But now their guilt has caught up with them, by which they bring the wrath of their God upon them whenever they do wrong; so that my lord will not be repulsed and fail, but death will overtake them.

¹²Since their food gave out and all their water ran low, they decided to kill their animals, and determined to consume all the things which God in his laws forbade them to eat.

¹³They decreed that they would use up the first fruits of grain and the tithes of wine and oil which they had sanctified and reserved for the priests who minister in the presence of our God in Jerusalem: things which no layman should even touch with his hands.

¹⁴They have sent messengers to Jerusalem to bring back to them authorization from the council of the elders; for the inhabitants there have also done these things.

¹⁵On the very day when the response reaches them and they act upon it, they will be handed over to you for destruction.

¹⁶"As soon as I, your handmaid, learned all this, I fled from them. God has sent me to perform with you such deeds that people throughout the world will be astonished on hearing of them.

¹⁷Your handmaid is, indeed, a God-fearing woman, serving the God of heaven night and day. Now I will remain with you, my lord; but each night your handmaid will go out to the ravine and pray to God. He will tell me when the Israelites have committed their crimes.

¹⁸Then I will come and let you know, so that you may go out with your whole force, and not one of them will be able to withstand you.

¹⁹I will lead you through Judea, till you come to Jerusalem, and there I will set up your judgment seat. You will drive them like sheep that have no shepherd, and not even a dog will growl at you. This was told me, and announced to me in advance, and I in turn have been sent to tell you."

²⁰Her words pleased Holofernes and all his servants; they marveled at her wisdom and exclaimed,

²¹"No other woman from one end of the world to the other looks so beautiful and speaks so wisely!"

²²Then Holofernes said to her: "God has done well in sending you ahead of your people, to bring victory to our arms, and destruction to those who have despised my lord.

²³You are fair to behold, and your words are well spoken. If you do as you have said, your God will be my God; you shall dwell in the palace of King Nebuchadnezzar, and shall be renowned throughout the earth."

12 Then he ordered them to lead her into the room where his silverware was kept, and bade them set a table for her with his own delicacies to eat and his own wine to drink.

²But Judith said, "I will not partake of them, lest it be an occasion of sin; but I shall be amply supplied from the things I brought with me."

³Holofernes asked her: "But if your provisions give out, where shall we get more of the same to provide for you? None of your people are with us."

⁴Judith answered him, "As surely as you, my lord, live, your handmaid will not use up her supplies till the Lord accomplishes by my hand what he has determined."

⁵Then the servants of Holofernes led her into the tent, where she slept till midnight. In the night watch just before dawn, she rose

⁶and sent this message to Holofernes, "Give orders, my lord, to let your handmaid go out for prayer."

⁷So Holofernes ordered his bodyguard not to hinder her. Thus she stayed in the camp three days. Each night she went out to the ravine of Bethulia, where she washed herself at the spring of the camp.

⁸After bathing, she besought the Lord, the God of Israel, to direct her way for the triumph of his people.

⁹Then she returned purified to the tent, and remained there until her food was brought to her toward evening.

¹⁰On the fourth day Holofernes gave a banquet for his servants alone, to which he did not invite any of the officers.

¹¹And he said to Bagoas, the eunuch in charge of his household: "Go and persuade this Hebrew woman in your care to come and to eat and drink with us.

¹²It would be a disgrace for us to have such a woman with us without enjoying her company. If we do not entice her, she will laugh us to scorn."

¹³So Bagoas left the presence of Holofernes, and came to Judith and said, "So fair a maiden should not be reluctant to come to my lord to be honored by him, to enjoy drinking wine with us, and to be like one of the Assyrian women who live in the palace of Nebuchadnezzar."

¹⁴She replied, "Who am I to refuse my lord? Whatever is pleasing to him I will promptly do. This will be a joy for me till the day of my death."

¹⁵Thereupon she proceeded to put on her festive garments and all her feminine adornments. Meanwhile her maid went ahead and spread out on the ground for her in front of Holofernes the fleece Bagoas had furnished for her daily use in reclining at her dinner.

¹⁶Then Judith came in and reclined on it. The heart of Holofernes was in rapture over her, and his spirit was shaken. He was burning with the desire to possess her, for he had been biding his time to seduce her from the day he saw her.

¹⁷Holofernes said to her, "Drink and be merry with us!"

¹⁸Judith replied, "I will gladly drink, my lord, for at no time since I was born have I ever enjoyed life as much as I do today."

¹⁹She then took the things her maid had prepared, and ate and drank in his presence.

²⁰Holofernes, charmed by her, drank a great quantity of wine, more than he had ever drunk on one single day in his life.

13When it grew late, his servants quickly withdrew. Bagoas closed the tent from the outside and excluded the attendants from their master's presence. They went off to their beds, for they were all tired from the prolonged banquet.

²Judith was left alone in the tent with Holofernes, who lay prostrate on his bed, for he was sodden with wine.

³She had ordered her maid to stand outside the bedroom and wait, as on the other days, for her to come out; she said she would be going out for her prayer. To Bagoas she had said this also.

⁴When all had departed, and no one, small or great, was left in the bedroom, Judith stood by Holofernes' bed and said within herself: "O Lord, God of all might, in this hour look graciously on my undertaking for the exaltation of Jerusalem;

⁵now is the time for aiding your heritage and for carrying out my design to shatter the enemies who have risen against us."

⁶She went to the bedpost near the head of Holofernes, and taking his sword from it,

⁷drew close to the bed, grasped the hair of his head, and said, "Strengthen me this day, O God of Israel!"

⁸Then with all her might she struck him twice in the neck and cut off his head.

⁹She rolled his body off the bed and took the canopy from its supports. Soon afterward, she came out and handed over the head of Holofernes to her maid,

¹⁰who put it into her food pouch; and the two went off together as they were accustomed to do for prayer. They passed through the camp, and skirting the ravine, reached Bethulia on the mountain. As they approached its gates,

¹¹Judith shouted to the guards from a distance: "Open! Open the gate! God, our God, is with us. Once more he has made manifest his strength in Israel and his power against our enemies; he has done it this very day."

¹²When the citizens heard her voice, they quickly descended to their city gate and summoned the city elders.

¹³All the people, from the least to the greatest, hurriedly assembled, for her return seemed unbelievable. They opened the gate and welcomed the two women. They made a fire for light; and when they gathered around the two,

¹⁴Judith urged them with a loud voice: "Praise God, praise him! Praise God, who has not withdrawn his mercy from the house of Israel, but has shattered our enemies by my hand this very night."

¹⁵Then she took the head out of the pouch, showed it to them, and said: "Here is the head of Holofernes, general in charge of the Assyrian army, and here is the canopy under which he lay in his drunkenness. The Lord struck him down by the hand of a woman.

¹⁶As the Lord lives, who has protected me in the path I have followed, I swear that it was my face that seduced Holofernes to his ruin, and that he did not sin with me to my defilement or disgrace."

¹⁷All the people were greatly astonished. They bowed down and worshiped God, saying with one accord, "Blessed are you, our God, who today have brought to nought the enemies of your people."

¹⁸Then Uzziah said to her: "Blessed are you, daughter, by the Most High God, above all the women on earth; and blessed be the Lord God, the creator of heaven and earth, who guided your blow at the head of the chief of our enemies.

¹⁹Your deed of hope will never be forgotten by those who tell of the might of God.

²⁰May God make this rebound to your everlasting honor, rewarding you with blessings, because you risked your life when your people were being oppressed, and you averted our disaster, walking uprightly before our God." And all the people answered, "Amen! Amen!"

14 Then Judith said to them: "Listen to me, my brothers. Take this head and hang it on the parapet of your wall.

²At daybreak, when the sun rises on the earth, let each of you seize his weapons, and let all the able-bodied men rush out of the city under command of a captain, as if about to go down into the plain against the advance guard of the Assyrians, but without going down.

³They will seize their armor and hurry to their camp to awaken the generals of the Assyrian army. When they run to the tent of Holofernes and do not find him, panic will seize them, and they will flee before you.

⁴Then you and all the other inhabitants of the whole territory of Israel will pursue them and strike them down in their tracks.

⁵But before doing this, summon for me Achior the Ammonite, that he may see and recognize the one who despised the house of Israel and sent him here to meet his death."

⁶So they called Achior from the house of Uzziah. When he came and saw the head of Holofernes in the hand of one of the men in the assembly of the people, he fell forward in a faint.

⁷Then, after they lifted him up, he threw himself at the feet of Judith in homage, saying: "Blessed are you in every tent of Judah; and in every foreign nation, all who hear of you will be struck with terror.

⁸But now, tell me all that you did during these days." So Judith told him, in the presence of the people, all that she had been doing from the day she left till the time she began speaking to them.

⁹When she finished her account, the people cheered loudly, and their city resounded with shouts of joy.

¹⁰Now Achior, seeing all that the God of Israel had done, believed firmly in him. He had the flesh of his foreskin circumcised, and he has been united with the house of Israel to the present day.

¹¹At daybreak they hung the head of Holofernes on the wall. Then all the Israelite men took up their arms and went to the slopes of the mountain.

¹²When the Assyrians saw them, they notified their captains; these, in turn, went to the generals and division leaders and all their other commanders.

¹³They came to the tent of Holofernes and said to the one in charge of all his things, "Waken our master, for the slaves have dared come down to give us battle, to their utter destruction."

¹⁴Bagoas went in, and knocked at the entry of the tent, presuming that he was sleeping with Judith.

¹⁵As no one answered, he parted the curtains, entered the bedroom, and found him lying on the floor, a headless corpse.

¹⁶He broke into a loud clamor of weeping, groaning, and howling, and rent his garments.

¹⁷Then he entered the tent where Judith had her quarters; and, not finding her, he rushed out to the troops and cried:

¹⁸"The slaves have duped us! A single Hebrew woman has brought disgrace on the house of King Nebuchadnezzar. Here is Holofernes headless on the ground!"

¹⁹When the commanders of the Assyrian army heard these words, they rent their tunics and were seized with consternation. Loud screaming and howling arose in the camp.

15 On hearing what had happened, those still in their tents were amazed, ²and overcome with fear and trembling. No one kept ranks any longer; they scattered in all directions, and fled along every road, both through the valley and in the mountains.

³Those also who were stationed in the mountain district around Bethulia took to flight. Then all the Israelite warriors overwhelmed them.

⁴Uzziah sent messengers to Betomasthaim, to Choba and Kona, and to the whole country of Israel to report what had happened, that all might fall upon the enemy and destroy them.

⁶The remaining inhabitants of Bethulia swept down on the camp of the Assyrians, plundered it, and acquired great riches.

⁷The Israelites who returned from the slaughter took possession of what was left, till the towns and villages in the mountains and on the plain were crammed with the enormous quantity of booty they had seized.

⁸The high priest Joakim and the elders of the Israelites, who dwelt in Jerusalem, came to see for themselves the good things that the Lord had done for Israel, and to meet and congratulate Judith.

⁹When they had visited her, all with one accord blessed her, saying: "You are the glory of Jerusalem, the surpassing joy of Israel; You are the splendid boast of our people.

¹⁰With your own hand you have done all this; You have done good to Israel, and God is pleased with what you have wrought. May you be blessed by the Lord Almighty forever and ever!" And all the people answered, "Amen!"

¹¹For thirty days the whole populace plundered the camp, giving Judith the tent of Holofernes, with all his silver, his couches, his dishes, and all his furniture, which she accepted. She harnessed her mules, hitched her wagons to them, and loaded these things on them.

¹²All the women of Israel gathered to see her; and they blessed her and performed a dance in her honor. She took branches in her hands and distributed them to the women around her, ¹³and she and the other women crowned themselves with garlands of olive leaves. At the head of all the people, she led the women in the dance, while the men of Israel followed in their armor, wearing garlands and singing hymns.

¹⁴Judith led all Israel in this song of thanksgiving, and the people swelled this hymn of praise:

16"Strike up the instruments, a song to my God with timbrels, chant to the Lord with cymbals; Sing to him a new song, exalt and acclaim his name.

²For the Lord is God; he crushes warfare, and sets his encampment among his people; he snatched me from the hands of my persecutors.

³"The Assyrian came from the mountains of the north, with the myriads of his forces he came; Their numbers blocked the torrents, their horses covered the hills.

⁴He threatened to burn my land, put my youths to the sword, Dash my babes to the ground, make my children a prey, and seize my virgins as spoil.

⁵"But the Lord Almighty thwarted them, by a woman's hand he confounded them.

⁶Not by youths was their mighty one struck down, nor did titans bring him low, nor huge giants attack him; But Judith, the daughter of Merari, by the beauty of her countenance disabled him.

⁷She took off her widow's garb to raise up the afflicted in Israel. She anointed her face with fragrant oil;

⁸with a fillet she fastened her tresses, and put on a linen robe to beguile him.

⁹Her sandals caught his eyes, and her beauty captivated his mind. The sword cut through his neck.

¹⁰"The Persians were dismayed at her daring, the Medes appalled at her boldness.

¹¹When my lowly ones shouted, they were terrified; when my weaklings cried out, they trembled; at the sound of their war cry, they took to flight.

¹²Sons of slave girls pierced them through; the supposed sons of rebel mothers cut them down; they perished before the ranks of my Lord.

¹³"A new hymn I will sing to my God. O Lord, great are you and glorious, wonderful in power and unsurpassable.

¹⁴Let your every creature serve you; for you spoke, and they were made, You sent forth your spirit, and they were created; no one can resist your word.

¹⁵The mountains to their bases, and the seas, are shaken; the rocks, like wax, melt before your glance. "But to those who fear you, you are very merciful.

¹⁶Though the sweet odor of every sacrifice is a trifle, and the fat of all holocausts but little in your sight, one who fears the Lord is forever great.

¹⁸The people then went to Jerusalem to worship God; when they were purified, they offered their holocausts, freewill offerings, and gifts.

¹⁹Judith dedicated, as a votive offering to God, all the things of Holofernes that the people had given her, as well as the canopy that she herself had taken from his bedroom.

²⁰For three months the people continued their celebration in Jerusalem before the sanctuary, and Judith remained with them.

²¹When those days were over, each one returned to his inheritance. Judith went back to Bethulia and remained on her estate. For the rest of her life she was renowned throughout the land.

²² Many wished to marry her, but she gave herself to no man all the days of her life from the time of the death and burial of her husband, Manasseh.

²³ She lived to be very old in the house of her husband, reaching the advanced age of a hundred and five. She died in Bethulia, where they buried her in the tomb of her husband, Manasseh;

²⁵ During the life of Judith and for a long time after her death, no one again disturbed the Israelites.

Esther

1 During the reign of Ahasuerus-this was the Ahasuerus who ruled over a hundred and twenty-seven provinces from India to Ethiopia-

²while he was occupying the royal throne in the stronghold of Susa,

³in the third year of his reign, he presided over a feast for all his officers and ministers: the Persian and Median aristocracy, the nobles, and the governors of the provinces.

⁴For as many as a hundred and eighty days, he displayed the glorious riches of his kingdom and the resplendent wealth of his royal estate.

⁵At the end of this time the king gave a feast of seven days in the garden court of the royal palace for all the people, great and small, who were in the stronghold of Susa.

⁶There were white cotton draperies and violet hangings, held by cords of crimson byssus from silver rings on marble pillars. Gold and silver couches were on the pavement, which was of porphyry, marble, mother-of-pearl, and colored stones.

⁷Liquor was served in a variety of golden cups, and the royal wine flowed freely, as befitted the king's munificence.

⁸By ordinance of the king the drinking was unstinted, for he had instructed all the stewards of his household to comply with the good pleasure of everyone.

⁹Queen Vashti also gave a feast for the women inside the royal palace of King Ahasuerus.

¹⁰On the seventh day, when the king was merry with wine, he instructed Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, Abagtha, Zethar, and Carkas, the seven eunuchs who attended King Ahasuerus, ¹¹to bring Queen Vashti into his presence wearing the royal crown, that he might display her beauty to the populace and the officials, for she was lovely to behold.

¹²But Queen Vashti refused to come at the royal order issued through the eunuchs. At this the king's wrath flared up, and he burned with fury.

¹³He conferred with the wise men versed in the law, because the king's business was conducted in general consultation with lawyers and jurists.

¹⁴He summoned Carshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena and Memucan, the seven Persian and Median officials who were in the king's personal service and held first rank in the realm,

¹⁵and asked them, "What is to be done by law with Queen Vashti for disobeying the order of King Ahasuerus issued through the eunuchs?"

¹⁶In the presence of the king and of the officials, Memucan answered: "Queen Vashti has not wronged the king alone, but all the officials and the populace throughout the provinces of King Ahasuerus.

¹⁷For the queen's conduct will become known to all the women, and they will look with disdain upon their husbands when it is reported, "King Ahasuerus commanded that Queen Vashti be ushered into his presence, but she would not come.'

¹⁸This very day the Persian and Median ladies who hear of the queen's conduct will rebel against all the royal officials, with corresponding disdain and rancor.

¹⁹If it please the king, let an irrevocable royal decree be issued by him and inscribed among the laws of the Persians and Medes, forbidding Vashti to come into the presence of King Ahasuerus and authorizing the king to give her royal dignity to one more worthy than she.

²⁰Thus, when the decree which the king will issue is published throughout his realm, vast as it is, all wives will honor their husbands, from the greatest to the least."

²¹This proposal found acceptance with the king and the officials, and the king acted on the advice of Memucan.

²²He sent letters to all the royal provinces, to each province in its own script and to each people in its own language, to the effect that every man should be lord in his own home.

2After this, when King Ahasuerus' wrath had cooled, he thought over what Vashti had done and what had been decreed against her.

- ²Then the king's personal attendants suggested: "Let beautiful young virgins be sought for the king.
- ³Let the king appoint commissaries in all the provinces of his realm to bring together all beautiful young virgins to the harem in the stronghold of Susa. Under the care of the royal eunuch Hegai, custodian of the women, let cosmetics be given them.
- ⁴Then the girl who pleases the king shall reign in place of Vashti." This suggestion pleased the king, and he acted accordingly.
- ⁵There was in the stronghold of Susa a certain Jew named Mordecai, son of Jair, son of Shimei, son of Kish, a Benjaminite,
- ⁶who had been exiled from Jerusalem with the captives taken with Jeconiah, king of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, had deported.
- ⁷He was foster father to Hadassah, that is, Esther, his cousin; for she had lost both father and mother. The girl was beautifully formed and lovely to behold. On the death of her father and mother, Mordecai had taken her as his own daughter.
- ⁸When the king's order and decree had been obeyed and many maidens brought together to the stronghold of Susa under the care of Hegai, Esther also was brought in to the royal palace under the care of Hegai, custodian of the women.
- ⁹The girl pleased him and won his favor. So he promptly furnished her with cosmetics and provisions. Then picking out seven maids for her from the royal palace, he transferred both her and her maids to the best place in the harem.
- ¹⁰Esther did not reveal her nationality or family, for Mordecai had commanded her not to do so.
- ¹¹Day by day Mordecai would walk about in front of the court of the harem, to learn how Esther was faring and what was to become of her.
- ¹²Each girl went in turn to visit King Ahasuerus after the twelve months' preparation decreed for the women. Of this period of beautifying treatment, six months were spent with oil of myrrh, and the other six months with perfumes and cosmetics.
- ¹³Then, when the girl was to visit the king, she was allowed to take with her from the harem to the royal palace whatever she chose.

¹⁴She would go in the evening and return in the morning to a second harem under the care of the royal eunuch Shaashgaz, custodian of the concubines. She could not return to the king unless he was pleased with her and had her summoned by name.

¹⁵As for Esther, daughter of Abihail and adopted daughter of his nephew Mordecai, when her turn came to visit the king, she did not ask for anything but what the royal eunuch Hegai, custodian of the women, suggested. Yet she won the admiration of all who saw her.

¹⁶Esther was led to King Ahasuerus in his palace in the tenth month, Tebeth, in the seventh year of his reign.

¹⁷The king loved Esther more than all other women, and of all the virgins she won his favor and benevolence. So he placed the royal diadem on her head and made her queen in place of Vashti.

¹⁸Then the king gave a great feast in honor of Esther to all his officials and ministers, granting a holiday to the provinces and bestowing gifts with royal bounty.

¹⁹[To resume: From the time the virgins had been brought together, and while Mordecai was passing his time at the king's gate, ²⁰Esther had not revealed her family or nationality, because Mordecai had told her not to; and Esther continued to follow Mordecai's instructions, just as she had when she was being brought up by him.

²¹And during the time that Mordecai spent at the king's gate, Bagathan and Thares, two of the royal eunuchs who guarded the entrance, had plotted in anger to lay hands on King Ahasuerus.

²²When the plot became known to Mordecai, he told Queen Esther, who in turn informed the king for Mordecai.

²³The matter was investigated and verified, and both of them were hanged on a gibbet. This was written in the annals for the king's use.]

3After these events King Ahasuerus raised Haman, son of Hammedatha the Agagite, to high rank, seating him above all his fellow officials.

²All the king's servants who were at the royal gate would kneel and bow down to Haman, for that is what the king had ordered in his regard. Mordecai, however, would not kneel and bow down.

³The king's servants who were at the royal gate said to Mordecai, "Why do you disobey the king's order?"

⁴When they had reminded him day after day and he would not listen to them, they informed Haman, to see whether Mordecai's explanation was acceptable, since he had told them that he was a Jew.

⁵When Haman observed that Mordecai would not kneel and bow down to him, he was filled with anger.

⁶Moreover, he thought it was not enough to lay hands on Mordecai alone. Since they had told Haman of Mordecai's nationality, he sought to destroy all the Jews, Mordecai's people, throughout the realm of King Ahasuerus.

⁷In the first month, Nisan, in the twelfth year of King Ahasuerus, the pur, or lot, was cast in Haman's presence to determine the day and the month for the destruction of Mordecai's people on a single day, and the lot fell on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, Adar.

⁸Then Haman said to King Ahasuerus: "Dispersed among the nations throughout the provinces of your kingdom, there is a certain people living apart, with laws differing from those of every other people. They do not obey the laws of the king, and so it is not proper for the king to tolerate them.

⁹If it please the king, let a decree be issued to destroy them; and I will deliver to the procurators ten thousand silver talents for deposit in the royal treasury."

¹⁰The king took the signet ring from his hand and gave it to Haman, son of Hammedatha the Agagite, the enemy of the Jews.

¹¹"The silver you may keep," the king said to Haman, "but as for this people, do with them whatever you please."

¹²So the royal scribes were summoned; and on the thirteenth day of the first month they wrote, at the dictation of Haman, an order to the royal satraps, the governors of every province, and the officials of every people, to each province in its own script and to each people in its own language. It was written in the name of King Ahasuerus and sealed with the royal signet ring.

¹³ Letters were sent by couriers to all the royal provinces, that all the Jews, young and old, including women and children, should be killed, destroyed, wiped out in one day, the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, Adar, and that their goods should be seized as spoil.

4 When Mordecai learned all that was happening, he tore his garments, put on sackcloth and ashes, and walked through the city crying out loudly and bitterly,

² till he came before the royal gate, which no one clothed in sackcloth might enter.

³ (Likewise in each of the provinces, wherever the king's legal enactment reached, the Jews went into deep mourning, with fasting, weeping, and lament; they all slept on sackcloth and ashes.)

⁴ Queen Esther's maids and eunuchs came and told her. Overwhelmed with anguish, she sent garments for Mordecai to put on, so that he might take off his sackcloth; but he refused.

⁵ Esther then summoned Hathach, one of the king's eunuchs whom he had placed at her service, and commanded him to find out what this action of Mordecai meant and the reason for it.

⁶ So Hathach went out to Mordecai in the public square in front of the royal gate,

⁷ and Mordecai told him all that had happened, as well as the exact amount of silver Haman had promised to pay to the royal treasury for the slaughter of the Jews.

⁸ He also gave him a copy of the written decree for their destruction which had been promulgated in Susa, to show and explain to Esther. He was to instruct her to go to the king; she was to plead and intercede with him in behalf of her people.

⁹ Invoke the Lord and speak to the king for us: save us from death." Hathach returned to Esther and told her what Mordecai had said.

¹⁰ Then Esther replied to Hathach and gave him this message for Mordecai:

¹¹ "All the servants of the king and the people of his provinces know that any man or woman who goes to the king in the inner court without being summoned, suffers the automatic penalty of death, unless the king extends to him the golden scepter, thus sparing his life. Now as for me, I have not been summoned to the king for thirty days."

¹²When Esther's words were reported to Mordecai,

¹³he had this reply brought to her: "Do not imagine that because you are in the king's palace, you alone of all the Jews will escape.

¹⁴Even if you now remain silent, relief and deliverance will come to the Jews from another source; but you and your father's house will perish. Who knows but that it was for a time like this that you obtained the royal dignity?"

¹⁵Esther sent back to Mordecai the response:

¹⁶"Go and assemble all the Jews who are in Susa; fast on my behalf, all of you, not eating or drinking, night or day, for three days. I and my maids will also fast in the same way. Thus prepared, I will go to the king, contrary to the law. If I perish, I perish!"

5 [Now on the third day, Esther put on her royal garments and stood in the inner courtyard, looking toward the royal palace, while the king was seated on his royal throne in the audience chamber, facing the palace doorway.

²He saw Queen Esther standing in the courtyard, and made her welcome by extending toward her the golden staff which he held. She came up to him, and touched the top of the staff.]

³Then the king said to her, "What is it, Queen Esther? What is your request? Even if it is half of my kingdom, it shall be granted you."

⁴"If it please your majesty," Esther replied, "come today with Haman to a banquet I have prepared."

⁵And the king ordered, "Have Haman make haste to fulfill the wish of Esther." So the king went with Haman to the banquet Esther had prepared.

⁶During the drinking of the wine, the king said to Esther, "Whatever you ask for shall be granted, and whatever request you make shall be honored, even if it is for half my kingdom."

⁷Esther replied: "This is my petition and request:

⁸if I have found favor with the king and if it pleases your majesty to grant my petition and honor my request, come with Haman tomorrow to a banquet which I shall prepare for you; and then I will do as you ask."

⁹That day Haman left happy and in good spirits. But when he saw that Mordecai at the royal gate did not rise, and showed no fear of him, he was filled with anger toward him.

¹⁰Haman restrained himself, however, and went home, where he summoned his friends and his wife Zeresh.

¹¹He recounted the greatness of his riches, the large number of his sons, and just how the king had promoted him and placed him above the officials and royal servants.

¹²"Moreover," Haman added, "Queen Esther invited no one but me to the banquet with the king; again tomorrow I am to be her guest, with the king.

¹³Yet none of this satisfies me as long as I continue to see the Jew Mordecai sitting at the royal gate."

¹⁴His wife Zeresh and all his friends said to him, "Have a gibbet set up, fifty cubits in height, and in the morning ask the king to have Mordecai hanged on it. Then go to the banquet with the king in good cheer." This suggestion pleased Haman, and he had the gibbet erected.

6That night the king, unable to sleep, asked that the chronicle of notable events be brought in. While this was being read to him,

²the passage occurred in which Mordecai reported Bagathan and Teresh, two of the royal eunuchs who guarded the entrance, for seeking to lay hands on King Ahasuerus.

³The king asked, "What was done to reward and honor Mordecai for this?" The king's attendants replied, "Nothing was done for him."

⁵The king's servants answered him, "Haman is waiting in the court." "Let him come in," the king said.

⁶When Haman entered, the king said to him, "What should be done for the man whom the king wishes to reward?" Now Haman thought to himself, "Whom would the king more probably wish to reward than me?"

⁷So he replied to the king: "For the man whom the king wishes to reward

⁸there should be brought the royal robe which the king wore and the horse on which the king rode when the royal crown was placed on his head.

⁹The robe and the horse should be consigned to one of the noblest of the king's officials, who must clothe the man the king wishes to reward, have him ride on the horse in the public square of the city, and cry out before him, "This is what is done for the man whom the king wishes to reward!" "

¹⁰Then the king said to Haman: "Hurry! Take the robe and horse as you have proposed, and do this for the Jew Mordecai, who is sitting at the royal gate. Do not omit anything you proposed."

¹¹So Haman took the robe and horse, clothed Mordecai, had him ride in the public square of the city, and cried out before him, "This is what is done for the man whom the king wishes to reward!"

¹²Mordecai then returned to the royal gate, while Haman hurried home, his head covered in grief.

¹³When he told his wife Zeresh and all his friends everything that had happened to him, his advisers and his wife Zeresh said to him, "If Mordecai, before whom you are beginning to decline, is of the Jewish race, you will not prevail against him, but will surely be defeated by him."

¹⁴While they were speaking with him, the king's eunuchs arrived and hurried Haman off to the banquet Esther had prepared.

7 So the king and Haman went to the banquet with Queen Esther.

²Again, on this second day, during the drinking of the wine, the king said to Esther, "Whatever you ask, Queen Esther, shall be granted you. Whatever request you make shall be honored, even for half the kingdom."

³Queen Esther replied: "If I have found favor with you, O king, and if it pleases your majesty, I ask that my life be spared, and I beg that you spare the lives of my people.

⁴For my people and I have been delivered to destruction, slaughter, and extinction. If we were to be sold into slavery I would remain silent, but as it is, the enemy will be unable to compensate for the harm done to the king."

⁵"Who and where," said King Ahasuerus to Queen Esther, "is the man who has dared to do this?"

⁶Esther replied, "The enemy oppressing us is this wicked Haman." At this, Haman was seized with dread of the king and queen.

⁷The king left the banquet in anger and went into the garden of the palace, but Haman stayed to beg Queen Esther for his life, since he saw that the king had decided on his doom.

⁸When the king returned from the garden of the palace to the banquet hall, Haman had thrown himself on the couch on which Esther was reclining; and the king exclaimed, "Will he also violate the queen while she is with me in my own house!" Scarcely had the king spoken when the face of Haman was covered over.

⁹Harbona, one of the eunuchs who attended the king, said, "At the house of Haman stands a gibbet fifty cubits high. Haman prepared it for Mordecai, who gave the report that benefited the king." The king answered, "Hang him on it."

¹⁰So they hanged Haman on the gibbet which he had made ready for Mordecai, and the anger of the king abated.

8 That day King Ahasuerus gave the house of Haman, enemy of the Jews, to Queen Esther; and Mordecai was admitted to the king's presence, for Esther had revealed his relationship to her.

²The king removed his signet ring from Haman, and transferred it into the keeping of Mordecai; and Esther put Mordecai in charge of the house of Haman.

³In another audience with the king, Esther fell at his feet and tearfully implored him to revoke the harm done by Haman the Agagite, and the plan he had devised against the Jews.

⁴The king stretched forth the golden scepter to Esther. So she rose and, standing in his presence, ⁵said: "If it pleases your majesty and seems proper to you, and if I have found favor with you and you love me, let a document be issued to revoke the letters which that schemer Haman, son of Hammedatha the Agagite, wrote for the destruction of the Jews in all the royal provinces.

⁶For how can I witness the evil that is to befall my people, and how can I behold the destruction of my race?"

⁷King Ahasuerus then said to Queen Esther and to the Jew Mordecai: "Now that I have given Esther the house of Haman, and they have hanged him on the gibbet because he attacked the Jews, ⁸you in turn may write in the king's name what you see fit concerning the Jews and seal the letter with the royal signet ring." For whatever is written in the name of the king and sealed with the royal signet ring cannot be revoked.

⁹At that time, on the twenty-third day of the third month, Sivan, the royal scribes were summoned. Exactly as Mordecai dictated, they wrote to the Jews and to the satraps, governors, and officials of the hundred and twenty-seven provinces from India to Ethiopia: to each province in its own script and to each people in its own language, and to the Jews in their own script and language.

¹⁰These letters, which he wrote in the name of King Ahasuerus and sealed with the royal signet ring, he sent by mounted couriers riding thoroughbred royal steeds.

¹¹In these letters the king authorized the Jews in each and every city to group together and defend their lives, and to kill, destroy, wipe out, along with their wives and children, every armed group of any nation or province which should attack them, and to seize their goods as spoil

¹²throughout the provinces of King Ahasuerus, on a single day, the thirteenth of the twelfth month, Adar.

¹³A copy of the letter to be promulgated as law in each and every province was published among all the peoples, so that the Jews might be prepared on that day to avenge themselves on their enemies.

¹⁴Couriers mounted on royal steeds sped forth in haste at the king's order, and the decree was promulgated in the stronghold of Susa.

¹⁵Mordecai left the king's presence clothed in a royal robe of violet and of white cotton, with a large crown of gold and a cloak of crimson byssus. The city of Susa shouted with joy,

¹⁶and there was splendor and merriment for the Jews, exultation and triumph.

¹⁷In each and every province and in each and every city, wherever the king's order arrived, there was merriment and exultation, banqueting and feasting for the Jews. And many of the peoples of the land embraced Judaism, for they were seized with a fear of the Jews.

9When the day arrived on which the order decreed by the king was to be carried out, the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, Adar, on which the enemies of the Jews had expected to become masters of them, the situation was reversed: the Jews became masters of their enemies.

²The Jews mustered in their cities throughout the provinces of King Ahasuerus to attack those who sought to do them harm, and no one could withstand them, but all peoples were seized with a fear of them.

³Moreover, all the officials of the provinces, the satraps, governors, and royal procurators supported the Jews from fear of Mordecai;

⁴for Mordecai was powerful in the royal palace, and the report was spreading through all the provinces that he was continually growing in power.

⁵The Jews struck down all their enemies with the sword, killing and destroying them; they did to their enemies as they pleased.

⁶In the stronghold of Susa, the Jews killed and destroyed five hundred men.

⁷They also killed Parshandatha, Dalphon, Aspatha,

⁸Porathai, Adalia, Aridatha,

⁹Parmashta, Arisai, Aridai, and Vaizatha,

¹⁰the ten sons of Haman, son of Hammedatha, the foe of the Jews. However, they did not engage in plundering.

¹¹On the same day, when the number of those killed in the stronghold of Susa was reported to the king,

¹²he said to Queen Esther: "In the stronghold of Susa the Jews have killed and destroyed five hundred men, as well as the ten sons of Haman. What must they have done in the other royal provinces! You shall again be granted whatever you ask, and whatever you request shall be honored."

¹³So Esther said, "If it pleases your majesty, let the Jews in Susa be permitted again tomorrow to act according to today's decree, and let the ten sons of Haman be hanged on gibbets."

¹⁴The king then gave an order to this effect, and the decree was published in Susa. So the ten sons of Haman were hanged, ¹⁵and the Jews in Susa mustered again on the fourteenth of the month of Adar and killed three hundred men in Susa. However, they did not engage in plundering.

¹⁶The other Jews, who dwelt in the royal provinces, also mustered and defended themselves, and obtained rest from their enemies. They killed seventy-five thousand of their foes, without engaging in plunder, ¹⁷on the thirteenth day of the month of Adar. On the fourteenth of the month they rested, and made it a day of feasting and rejoicing.

¹⁸(The Jews in Susa, however, mustered on the thirteenth and fourteenth of the month. But on the fifteenth they rested, and made it a day of feasting and rejoicing.)

¹⁹That is why the rural Jews, who dwell in villages, celebrate the fourteenth of the month of Adar as a day of rejoicing and feasting, a holiday on which they send gifts of food to one another.

²⁰Mordecai recorded these events and sent letters to all the Jews, both near and far, in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus.

²¹He ordered them to celebrate every year both the fourteenth and the fifteenth of the month of Adar

²²as the days on which the Jews obtained rest from their enemies and as the month which was turned for them from sorrow into joy, from mourning into festivity. They were to observe these days with feasting and gladness, sending food to one another and gifts to the poor.

²³The Jews took upon themselves for the future this observance which they instituted at the written direction of Mordecai.

²⁴Haman, son of Hammedatha the Agagite, the foe of all the Jews, had planned to destroy them and had cast the pur, or lot, for the time of their defeat and destruction.

²⁵Yet, when Esther entered the royal presence, the king ordered in writing that the wicked plan Haman had devised against the Jews should instead be turned against Haman and that he and his sons should be hanged on gibbets.

²⁶And so these days have been named Purim after the word pur. Thus, because of all that was contained in this letter, and because of what they had witnessed and experienced in this affair, ²⁷the Jews established and took upon themselves, their descendants, and all who should join them, the inviolable obligation of celebrating these two days every year in the manner prescribed by this letter, and at the time appointed.

²⁸These days were to be commemorated and kept in every generation, by every clan, in every province, and in every city. These days of Purim were never to fall into disuse among the Jews, nor into oblivion among their descendants.

²⁹Queen Esther, daughter of Abihail and of Mordecai the Jew, wrote to confirm with full authority this second letter about Purim, ³⁰when Mordecai sent documents concerning peace and security to all the Jews in the hundred and twenty-seven provinces of Ahasuerus' kingdom.

³¹Thus were established, for their appointed time, these days of Purim which Mordecai the Jew and Queen Esther had designated for the Jews, just as they had previously enjoined upon themselves and upon their race the duty of fasting and supplication.

³²The command of Esther confirmed these prescriptions for Purim and was recorded in the book.

10 King Ahasuerus laid tribute on the land and on the islands of the sea.

²All the acts of his power and valor, as well as a detailed account of the greatness of Mordecai, whom the king promoted, are recorded in the chronicles of the kings of Media and Persia.

³The Jew Mordecai was next in rank to King Ahasuerus, in high standing among the Jews, and was regarded with favor by his many brethren, as the promoter of his people's welfare and the herald of peace for his whole race.

1st Maccabees

²He fought many campaigns, captured fortresses, and put kings to death.

³He advanced to the ends of the earth, gathering plunder from many nations; the earth fell silent before him, and his heart became proud and arrogant.

⁴He collected a very strong army and conquered provinces, nations, and rulers, and they became his tributaries.

⁵But after all this he took to his bed, realizing that he was going to die.

⁶He therefore summoned his officers, the nobles, who had been brought up with him from his youth, to divide his kingdom among them while he was still alive.

⁷Alexander had reigned twelve years when he died.

⁸So his officers took over his kingdom, each in his own territory,

⁹and after his death they all put on royal crowns, and so did their sons after them for many years, causing much distress over the earth.

¹⁰There sprang from these a sinful offshoot, Antiochus Epiphanes, son of King Antiochus, once a hostage at Rome. He became king in the year one hundred and thirty-seven of the kingdom of the Greeks.

¹¹In those days there appeared in Israel men who were breakers of the law, and they seduced many people, saying: "Let us go and make an alliance with the Gentiles all around us; since we separated from them, many evils have come upon us."

¹²The proposal was agreeable;

¹³some from among the people promptly went to the king, and he authorized them to introduce the way of living of the Gentiles.

¹⁴Thereupon they built a gymnasium in Jerusalem according to the Gentile custom.

¹⁵They covered over the mark of their circumcision and abandoned the holy covenant; they allied themselves with the Gentiles and sold themselves to wrongdoing.

¹⁶When his kingdom seemed secure, Antiochus proposed to become king of Egypt, so as to rule over both kingdoms.

¹⁷He invaded Egypt with a strong force, with chariots and elephants, and with a large fleet, ¹⁸to make war on Ptolemy, king of Egypt. Ptolemy was frightened at his presence and fled, leaving many casualties.

¹⁹The fortified cities in the land of Egypt were captured, and Antiochus plundered the land of Egypt.

²⁰After Antiochus had defeated Egypt in the year one hundred and forty-three, he returned and went up to Israel and to Jerusalem with a strong force.

²¹He insolently invaded the sanctuary and took away the golden altar, the lampstand for the light with all its fixtures,

²²the offering table, the cups and the bowls, the golden censers, the curtain, the crowns, and the golden ornament on the facade of the temple. He stripped off everything, ²³and took away the gold and silver and the precious vessels; he also took all the hidden treasures he could find.

²⁴Taking all this, he went back to his own country, after he had spoken with great arrogance and shed much blood.

²⁵And there was great mourning for Israel, in every place where they dwelt, ²⁶and the rulers and the elders groaned. Virgins and young men languished, and the beauty of the women was disfigured.

²⁷Every bridegroom took up lamentation, she who sat in the bridal chamber mourned,

²⁸And the land was shaken on account of its inhabitants, and all the house of Jacob was covered with shame.

²⁹Two years later, the king sent the Mysian commander to the cities of Judah, and he came to Jerusalem with a strong force.

³⁰He spoke to them deceitfully in peaceful terms, and won their trust. Then he attacked the city suddenly, in a great onslaught, and destroyed many of the people in Israel.

³¹He plundered the city and set fire to it, demolished its houses and its surrounding walls, ³²took captive the women and children, and seized the cattle.

³³Then they built up the City of David with a high, massive wall and strong towers, and it became their citadel.

³⁴There they installed a sinful race, perverse men, who fortified themselves inside it,

³⁵storing up weapons and provisions, and depositing there the plunder they had collected from Jerusalem. And they became a great threat.

³⁶The citadel became an ambush against the sanctuary, and a wicked adversary to Israel at all times.

³⁷And they shed innocent blood around the sanctuary; they defiled the sanctuary.

³⁸Because of them the inhabitants of Jerusalem fled away, and she became the abode of strangers. She became a stranger to her own offspring, and her children forsook her.

³⁹Her sanctuary was as desolate as a wilderness; her feasts were turned into mourning, Her sabbaths to shame, her honor to contempt.

⁴⁰Her dishonor was as great as her glory had been, and her exaltation was turned into mourning.

⁴¹Then the king wrote to his whole kingdom that all should be one people,

⁴²each abandoning his particular customs. All the Gentiles conformed to the command of the king,

⁴³and many Israelites were in favor of his religion; they sacrificed to idols and profaned the sabbath.

- ⁴⁴The king sent messengers with letters to Jerusalem and to the cities of Judah, ordering them to follow customs foreign to their land;
- ⁴⁵to prohibit holocausts, sacrifices, and libations in the sanctuary, to profane the sabbaths and feast days,
- ⁴⁶to desecrate the sanctuary and the sacred ministers,
- ⁴⁷to build pagan altars and temples and shrines, to sacrifice swine and unclean animals,
- ⁴⁸to leave their sons uncircumcised, and to let themselves be defiled with every kind of impurity and abomination,
- ⁴⁹so that they might forget the law and change all their observances.
- ⁵⁰Whoever refused to act according to the command of the king should be put to death.
- ⁵¹Such were the orders he published throughout his kingdom. He appointed inspectors over all the people, and he ordered the cities of Judah to offer sacrifices, each city in turn.
- ⁵²Many of the people, those who abandoned the law, joined them and committed evil in the land.
- ⁵³Israel was driven into hiding, wherever places of refuge could be found.
- ⁵⁴On the fifteenth day of the month Chislev, in the year one hundred and forty-five, the king erected the horrible abomination upon the altar of holocausts, and in the surrounding cities of Judah they built pagan altars.
- ⁵⁵They also burnt incense at the doors of houses and in the streets.
- ⁵⁶Any scrolls of the law which they found they tore up and burnt.
- ⁵⁷Whoever was found with a scroll of the covenant, and whoever observed the law, was condemned to death by royal decree.
- ⁵⁸So they used their power against Israel, against those who were caught, each month, in the cities.

⁵⁹On the twenty-fifth day of each month they sacrificed on the altar erected over the altar of holocausts.

⁶⁰Women who had had their children circumcised were put to death, in keeping with the decree,

⁶¹with the babies hung from their necks; their families also and those who had circumcised them were killed.

⁶²But many in Israel were determined and resolved in their hearts not to eat anything unclean;

⁶³they preferred to die rather than to be defiled with unclean food or to profane the holy covenant; and they did die. Terrible affliction was upon Israel.ä»...

2In those days Mattathias, son of John, son of Simeon, a priest of the family of Joarib, left Jerusalem and settled in Modein.

²He had five sons: John, who was called Gaddi;

³Simon, who was called Thassi;

⁴Judas, who was called Maccabeus;

⁵Eleazar, who was called Avaran; and Jonathan, who was called Apphus.

⁶When he saw the sacrileges that were being committed in Judah and in Jerusalem,

⁷he said: "Woe is me! Why was I born to see the ruin of my people and the ruin of the holy city, and to sit idle while it is given into the hands of enemies, and the sanctuary into the hands of strangers?"

⁸"Her temple has become like a man disgraced,

⁹her glorious ornaments have been carried off as spoils, Her infants have been murdered in her streets, her young men by the sword of the enemy.

¹⁰What nation has not taken its share of her realm, and laid its hand on her possessions?"

¹¹All her adornment has been taken away. From being free, she has become a slave.

¹²We see our sanctuary and our beauty and our glory laid waste, And the Gentiles have defiled them!

¹³Why are we still alive?"

¹⁴Then Mattathias and his sons tore their garments, put on sackcloth, and mourned bitterly.

¹⁵The officers of the king in charge of enforcing the apostasy came to the city of Modein to organize the sacrifices.

¹⁶Many of Israel joined them, but Mattathias and his sons gathered in a group apart.

¹⁷Then the officers of the king addressed Mattathias: "You are a leader, an honorable and great man in this city, supported by sons and kinsmen.

¹⁸Come now, be the first to obey the king's command, as all the Gentiles and the men of Judah and those who are left in Jerusalem have done. Then you and your sons shall be numbered among the King's Friends, and shall be enriched with silver and gold and many gifts."

¹⁹But Mattathias answered in a loud voice: "Although all the Gentiles in the king's realm obey him, so that each forsakes the religion of his fathers and consents to the king's orders, ²⁰yet I and my sons and my kinsmen will keep to the covenant of our fathers.

²¹God forbid that we should forsake the law and the commandments.

²²We will not obey the words of the king nor depart from our religion in the slightest degree."

²³As he finished saying these words, a certain Jew came forward in the sight of all to offer sacrifice on the altar in Modein according to the king's order.

²⁴When Mattathias saw him, he was filled with zeal; his heart was moved and his just fury was aroused; he sprang forward and killed him upon the altar.

²⁵At the same time, he also killed the messenger of the king who was forcing them to sacrifice, and he tore down the altar.

²⁶Thus he showed his zeal for the law, just as Phinehas did with Zimri, son of Salu.

²⁷Then Mattathias went through the city shouting, "Let everyone who is zealous for the law and who stands by the covenant follow after me!"

²⁸Thereupon he fled to the mountains with his sons, leaving behind in the city all their possessions.

²⁹Many who sought to live according to righteousness and religious custom went out into the desert to settle there,

³⁰they and their sons, their wives and their cattle, because misfortunes pressed so hard on them.

³¹It was reported to the officers and soldiers of the king who were in the City of David, in Jerusalem, that certain men who had flouted the king's order had gone out to the hiding places in the desert.

³²Many hurried out after them, and having caught up with them, camped opposite and prepared to attack them on the sabbath.

³³"Enough of this!" the pursuers said to them. "Come out and obey the king's command, and your lives will be spared."

³⁴But they replied, "We will not come out, nor will we obey the king's command to profane the sabbath."

³⁵Then the enemy attacked them at once;

³⁶but they did not retaliate; they neither threw stones, nor blocked up their own hiding places.

³⁷They said, "Let us all die without reproach; heaven and earth are our witnesses that you destroy us unjustly."

³⁸So the officers and soldiers attacked them on the sabbath, and they died with their wives, their children and their cattle, to the number of a thousand persons.

³⁹When Mattathias and his friends heard of it, they mourned deeply for them.

⁴⁰"If we all do as our kinsmen have done," they said to one another, "and do not fight against the Gentiles for our lives and our traditions, they will soon destroy us from the earth."

⁴¹On that day they came to this decision: "Let us fight against anyone who attacks us on the sabbath, so that we may not all die as our kinsmen died in the hiding places."

⁴²Then they were joined by a group of Hasideans, valiant Israelites, all of them devout followers of the law.

⁴³And all those who were fleeing from the disaster joined them and supported them.

⁴⁴They gathered an army and struck down sinners in their anger and lawbreakers in their wrath, and the survivors fled to the Gentiles for safety.

⁴⁵Mattathias and his friends went about and tore down the pagan altars;

⁴⁶they also enforced circumcision for any uncircumcised boys whom they found in the territory of Israel.

⁴⁷They put to flight the arrogant, and the work prospered in their hands.

⁴⁸They saved the law from the hands of the Gentiles and of the kings and did not let the sinner triumph.

⁴⁹When the time came for Mattathias to die, he said to his sons: "Arrogance and scorn have now grown strong; it is a time of disaster and violent anger.

⁵⁰Therefore, my sons, be zealous for the law and give your lives for the covenant of our fathers.

⁵¹"Remember the deeds that our fathers did in their times, and you shall win great glory and an everlasting name.

⁵²Was not Abraham found faithful in trial, and it was reputed to him as uprightness?

⁵³Joseph, when in distress, kept the commandment, and he became master of Egypt.

⁵⁴Phinehas our father, for his burning zeal, received the covenant of an everlasting priesthood.

⁵⁵Joshua, for executing his commission, became a judge in Israel.

⁵⁶ Caleb, for bearing witness before the assembly, received an inheritance in the land.

⁵⁷ David, for his piety, received as a heritage a throne of everlasting royalty.

⁵⁸ Elijah, for his burning zeal for the law, was taken up to heaven.

⁵⁹ Hananiah, Azariah and Mishael, for their faith, were saved from the fire.

⁶⁰ Daniel, for his innocence, was delivered from the jaws of lions.

⁶¹ And so, consider this from generation to generation, that none who hope in him shall fail in strength.

⁶² Do not fear the words of a sinful man, for his glory ends in corruption and worms.

⁶³ Today he is exalted, and tomorrow he is not to be found, because he has returned to his dust, and his schemes have perished.

⁶⁴ Children! be courageous and strong in keeping the law, for by it you shall be glorified.

⁶⁵ "Here is your brother Simeon who I know is a wise man; listen to him always, and he will be a father to you.

⁶⁶ And Judas Maccabeus, a warrior from his youth, shall be the leader of your army and direct the war against the nations.

⁶⁷ You shall also gather about you all who observe the law, and you shall avenge the wrongs of your people.

⁶⁸ Pay back the Gentiles what they deserve, and observe the precepts of the law."

⁶⁹ Then he blessed them, and he was united with his fathers.

⁷⁰ He died in the year one hundred and forty-six, and was buried in the tombs of his fathers in Modein, and all Israel mourned him greatly.

Then his son Judas, who was called Maccabeus, took his place.

- ²All his brothers and all who had joined his father supported him, and they carried on Israel's war joyfully.
- ³He spread abroad the glory of his people, and put on his breastplate like a giant. He armed himself with weapons of war; he planned battles and protected the camp with his sword.
- ⁴In his actions he was like a lion, like a young lion roaring for prey.
- ⁵He pursued the wicked, hunting them out, and those who troubled his people he destroyed by fire.
- ⁶The lawbreakers were cowed by fear of him, and all evildoers were dismayed. By his hand redemption was happily achieved,
- ⁷and he afflicted many kings; He made Jacob glad by his deeds, and his memory is blessed forever.
- ⁸He went about the cities of Judah destroying the impious there. He turned away wrath from Israel
- ⁹and was renowned to the ends of the earth; he gathered together those who were perishing.
- ¹⁰Then Apollonius gathered the Gentiles, together with a large army from Samaria, to fight against Israel.
- ¹¹When Judas learned of it, he went out to meet him and defeated and killed him. Many fell wounded, and the rest fled.
- ¹²Their possessions were seized and the sword of Apollonius was taken by Judas, who fought with it the rest of his life.
- ¹³But Seron, commander of the Syrian army, heard that Judas had gathered many about him, an assembly of faithful men ready for war.
- ¹⁴So he said, "I will make a name for myself and win glory in the kingdom by defeating Judas and his followers, who have despised the king's command."
- ¹⁵And again a large company of renegades advanced with him to help him take revenge on the Israelites.

¹⁶When he reached the ascent of Beth-horon, Judas went out to meet him with a few men.

¹⁷But when they saw the army coming against them, they said to Judas: "How can we, few as we are, fight such a mighty host as this? Besides, we are weak today from fasting."

¹⁸But Judas said: "It is easy for many to be overcome by a few; in the sight of Heaven there is no difference between deliverance by many or by few;

¹⁹for victory in war does not depend upon the size of the army, but on strength that comes from Heaven.

²⁰With great presumption and lawlessness they come against us to destroy us and our wives and children and to despoil us;

²¹but we are fighting for our lives and our laws.

²²He himself will crush them before us; so do not be afraid of them."

²³When he finished speaking, he rushed suddenly upon Seron and his army, who were crushed before him.

²⁴He pursued Seron down the descent of Beth-horon into the plain. About eight hundred of their men fell, and the rest fled to the country of the Philistines.

²⁵Then Judas and his brothers began to be feared, and dread fell upon the Gentiles about them.

²⁶His fame reached the king, and all the Gentiles talked about the battles of Judas.

²⁷When Antiochus heard about these events, he was angry; so he ordered a muster of all the forces of his kingdom, a very strong army.

²⁸He opened his treasure chests, gave his soldiers a year's pay, and commanded them to be prepared for anything.

²⁹He then found that this exhausted the money in his treasury; moreover the income from the province was small, because of the dissension and distress he had brought upon the land by abolishing the laws which had been in effect from of old.

³⁰He feared that, as had happened more than once, he would not have enough for his expenses and for the gifts that he had previously given with a more liberal hand than the preceding kings.

³¹Greatly perplexed, he decided to go to Persia and levy tribute on those provinces, and so raise a large sum of money.

³²He left Lysias, a nobleman of royal blood, in charge of the king's affairs from the Euphrates River to the frontier of Egypt,

³³and commissioned him to take care of his son Antiochus until his own return.

³⁴He entrusted to him half of the army, and the elephants, and gave him instructions concerning everything he wanted done. As for the inhabitants of Judea and Jerusalem,

³⁵Lysias was to send an army against them to crush and destroy the power of Israel and the remnant of Jerusalem and efface their memory from the land.

³⁶He was to settle foreigners in all their territory and distribute their land by lot.

³⁷The king took the remaining half of the army and set out from Antioch, his capital, in the year one hundred and forty-seven; he crossed the Euphrates River and advanced inland.

³⁸Lysias chose Ptolemy, son of Dorymenes, and Nicanor and Gorgias, capable men among the King's Friends, ³⁹and with them he sent forty thousand men and seven thousand cavalry to invade the land of Judah and ravage it according to the king's orders.

⁴⁰Setting out with all their forces, they came and pitched their camp near Emmaus in the plain.

⁴¹When the merchants of the country heard of their fame, they came to the camp, bringing fetters and a large sum of silver and gold, to buy the Israelites as slaves. A force from Idumea and from Philistia joined with them.

⁴²Judas and his brothers saw that the situation had become critical now that armies were encamped within their territory; they knew of the orders which the king had given to destroy and utterly wipe out the people.

⁴³So they said to one another, "Let us restore our people from their ruined estate, and fight for our people and our sanctuary!"

⁴⁴The assembly gathered together to prepare for battle and to pray and implore mercy and compassion.

⁴⁵Jerusalem was uninhabited, like a desert; not one of her children entered or came out. The sanctuary was trampled on, and foreigners were in the citadel; it was a habitation of Gentiles. Joy had disappeared from Jacob, and the flute and the harp were silent.

⁴⁶Thus they assembled and went to Mizpah near Jerusalem, because there was formerly at Mizpah a place of prayer for Israel.

⁴⁷That day they fasted and wore sackcloth; they sprinkled ashes on their heads and tore their clothes.

⁴⁸They unrolled the scroll of the law, to learn about the things for which the Gentiles consulted the images of their idols.

⁴⁹They brought with them the priestly vestments, the first fruits, and the tithes; and they brought forward the nazirites who had completed the time of their vows.

⁵⁰And they cried aloud to Heaven: "What shall we do with these men, and where shall we take them?"

⁵¹For your sanctuary has been trampled on and profaned, and your priests are in mourning and humiliation.

⁵²Now the Gentiles are gathered together against us to destroy us. You know what they plot against us.

⁵³How shall we be able to resist them unless you help us?"

⁵⁴Then they blew the trumpets and cried out loudly.

⁵⁵After this Judas appointed officers among the people, over thousands, over hundreds, over fifties, and over tens.

⁵⁶He proclaimed that those who were building houses, or were just married, or were planting vineyards, and those who were afraid, could each return to his home, according to the law.

⁵⁷Then the army moved off, and they camped to the south of Emmaus.

⁵⁸Judas said: "Arm yourselves and be brave; in the morning be ready to fight these Gentiles who have assembled against us to destroy us and our sanctuary.

⁵⁹It is better for us to die in battle than to witness the ruin of our nation and our sanctuary. Whatever Heaven wills, he will do."

4Now Gorgias took five thousand infantry and a thousand picked cavalry, and this detachment set out at night

²in order to attack the camp of the Jews and take them by surprise. Some men from the citadel were their guides.

³Judas heard of it, and himself set out with his soldiers to attack the king's army at Emmaus, ⁴while the latter's forces were still scattered away from the camp.

⁵During the night Gorgias came into the camp of Judas, and found no one there; so he began to hunt for them in the mountains, saying, "They are fleeing from us."

⁶But at daybreak Judas appeared in the plain with three thousand men, who lacked such armor and swords as they would have wished.

⁷They saw the army of the Gentiles, strong and breastplated, flanked with cavalry, and made up of expert soldiers.

⁸Judas said to the men with him: "Do not be afraid of their numbers or dread their attack.

⁹Remember how our fathers were saved in the Red Sea, when Pharaoh pursued them with an army.

¹⁰So now let us cry to Heaven in the hope that he will favor us, remember his covenant with our fathers, and destroy this army before us today.

¹¹All the Gentiles shall know that there is One who redeems and delivers Israel."

¹²When the foreigners looked up and saw them marching toward them,

¹³they came out of their camp for battle, and the men with Judas blew the trumpet.

¹⁴The battle was joined and the Gentiles were defeated and fled toward the plain.

¹⁵Their whole rearguard fell by the sword, and they were pursued as far as Gazara and the plains of Judea, to Azotus and Jamnia. About three thousand of their men fell.

¹⁶When Judas and the army returned from the pursuit,

¹⁷he said to the people: "Do not be greedy for the plunder, for there is a fight ahead of us,

¹⁸and Gorgias and his army are near us on the mountain. But now stand firm against our enemies and overthrow them. Afterward you can freely take the plunder."

¹⁹As Judas was finishing this speech, a detachment appeared, looking down from the mountain.

²⁰They saw that their army had been put to flight and their camp was being burned. The smoke that could be seen indicated what had happened.

²¹When they realized this, they were terrified; and when they also saw the army of Judas in the plain ready to attack, ²²they all fled to Philistine territory.

²³Then Judas went back to plunder the camp, and his men collected much gold and silver, violet and crimson cloth, and great treasure.

²⁴As they returned, they were singing hymns and glorifying Heaven, "for he is good, for his mercy endures forever."

²⁵Thus Israel had a great deliverance that day.

²⁶But those of the foreigners who had escaped went and told Lysias all that had occurred.

²⁷When he heard it he was disturbed and discouraged, because things in Israel had not turned out as he intended and as the king had ordered.

²⁸So the following year he gathered together sixty thousand picked men and five thousand cavalry, to subdue them.

²⁹They came into Idumea and camped at Beth-zur, and Judas met them with ten thousand men.

³⁰Seeing that the army was strong, he prayed thus: "Blessed are you, O Savior of Israel, who broke the rush of the mighty one by the hand of your servant David and delivered the camp of the Philistines into the hand of Jonathan, the son of Saul, and his armor-bearer.

³¹Give this army into the hands of your people Israel; make them ashamed of their troops and their cavalry.

³²Strike them with fear, weaken the boldness of their strength, and let them tremble at their own destruction.

³³Strike them down by the sword of those who love you, that all who know your name may hymn your praise."

³⁴Then they engaged in battle, and about five thousand of Lysias' men fell in hand-to-hand fighting.

³⁵When Lysias saw his ranks beginning to give way, and the increased boldness of Judas, whose men were ready either to live or to die bravely, he withdrew to Antioch and began to recruit mercenaries so as to return to Judea with greater numbers.

³⁶Then Judas and his brothers said, "Now that our enemies have been crushed, let us go up to purify the sanctuary and rededicate it."

³⁷So the whole army assembled, and went up to Mount Zion.

³⁸They found the sanctuary desolate, the altar desecrated, the gates burnt, weeds growing in the courts as in a forest or on some mountain, and the priests' chambers demolished.

³⁹Then they tore their clothes and made great lamentation; they sprinkled their heads with ashes

⁴⁰and fell with their faces to the ground. And when the signal was given with trumpets, they cried out to Heaven.

⁴¹Judas appointed men to attack those in the citadel, while he purified the sanctuary.

⁴²He chose blameless priests, devoted to the law;

⁴³these purified the sanctuary and carried away the stones of the Abomination to an unclean place.

⁴⁴They deliberated what ought to be done with the altar of holocausts that had been desecrated.

⁴⁵The happy thought came to them to tear it down, lest it be a lasting shame to them that the Gentiles had defiled it; so they tore down the altar.

⁴⁶They stored the stones in a suitable place on the temple hill, until a prophet should come and decide what to do with them.

⁴⁷Then they took uncut stones, according to the law, and built a new altar like the former one.

⁴⁸They also repaired the sanctuary and the interior of the temple and purified the courts.

⁴⁹They made new sacred vessels and brought the lampstand, the altar of incense, and the table into the temple.

⁵⁰Then they burned incense on the altar and lighted the lamps on the lampstand, and these illuminated the temple.

⁵¹They also put loaves on the table and hung up curtains. Thus they finished all the work they had undertaken.

⁵²Early in the morning on the twenty-fifth day of the ninth month, that is, the month of Chislev, in the year one hundred and forty-eight,

⁵³they arose and offered sacrifice according to the law on the new altar of holocausts that they had made.

⁵⁴On the anniversary of the day on which the Gentiles had defiled it, on that very day it was reconsecrated with songs, harps, flutes, and cymbals.

⁵⁵All the people prostrated themselves and adored and praised Heaven, who had given them success.

⁵⁶For eight days they celebrated the dedication of the altar and joyfully offered holocausts and sacrifices of deliverance and praise.

⁵⁷They ornamented the facade of the temple with gold crowns and shields; they repaired the gates and the priests' chambers and furnished them with doors.

⁵⁸There was great joy among the people now that the disgrace of the Gentiles was removed.

⁵⁹Then Judas and his brothers and the entire congregation of Israel decreed that the days of the dedication of the altar should be observed with joy and gladness on the anniversary every year for eight days, from the twenty-fifth day of the month Chisleu.

⁶⁰At that time they built high walls and strong towers around Mount Zion, to prevent the Gentiles from coming and trampling over it as they had done before.

⁶¹Judas also placed a garrison there to protect it, and likewise fortified Beth-zur, that the people might have a stronghold facing Idumea.

5When the Gentiles round about heard that the altar had been rebuilt and the sanctuary consecrated as before, they were very angry.

²So they decided to destroy the descendants of Jacob who were among them, and they began to massacre and persecute the people.

³Then Judas attacked the sons of Esau at Akrabattene in Idumea, because they were blockading Israel; he defeated them heavily, overcame and despoiled them.

⁴He also remembered the malice of the sons of Baean, who had become a snare and a stumbling block to the people by ambushing them along the roads.

⁵He forced them to take refuge in towers, which he besieged; he vowed their annihilation and burned down the towers along with all the persons in them.

⁶Then he crossed over to the Ammonites, where he found a strong army and a large body of people with Timothy as their leader.

⁷He fought many battles with them, routed them, and struck them down.

⁸After seizing Jazer and its villages, he returned to Judea.

⁹The Gentiles in Gilead assembled to attack and destroy the Israelites who were in their territory; these then fled to the stronghold of Dathema.

¹⁰They sent a letter to Judas and his brothers saying: "The Gentiles around us have combined against us to destroy us, ¹¹and they are preparing to come and seize this stronghold to which we have fled. Timothy is the leader of their army.

¹²Come at once and rescue us from them, for many of us have fallen.

¹³All our kinsmen who were among the Tobiads have been killed; the Gentiles have carried away their wives and children and their goods, and they have slain there about a thousand men."

¹⁴While they were reading this letter, suddenly other messengers, in torn clothes, arrived from Galilee to deliver a similar message:

¹⁵that the inhabitants of Ptolemais, Tyre, and Sidon, and the whole of Gentile Galilee had joined forces to destroy them.

¹⁶When Judas and the people heard this, a great assembly convened to consider what they should do for their unfortunate kinsmen who were being attacked by enemies.

¹⁷Judas said to his brother Simon: "Choose men for yourself, and go, rescue your kinsmen in Galilee; I and my brother Jonathan will go to Gilead."

¹⁸In Judea he left Joseph, son of Zechariah, and Azariah, leader of the people, with the rest of the army to guard it.

¹⁹"Take charge of these people," he commanded them, "but do not fight against the Gentiles until we return."

²⁰Three thousand men were allotted to Simon, to go into Galilee, and eight thousand men to Judas, for Gilead.

²¹Simon went into Galilee and fought many battles with the Gentiles. They were crushed before him, ²²and he pursued them to the very gate of Ptolemais. About three thousand men of the Gentiles fell, and he gathered their spoils.

²³He took with him the Jews who were in Galilee and in Arbatta, with their wives and children and all that they had, and brought them to Judea with great rejoicing.

- ²⁴Judas Maccabeus and his brother Jonathan crossed the Jordan and marched for three days through the desert.
- ²⁵There they met some Nabateans, who received them peacefully and told them all that had happened to the Jews in Gilead:
- ²⁶"Many of them have been imprisoned in Bozrah, in Bosor near Alema, in Chaspho, Maked, and Carnaim"--all of these are large, fortified cities--
- ²⁷"and some have been imprisoned in other cities of Gilead. Tomorrow their enemies plan to attack the strongholds and to seize and destroy all these people in one day."
- ²⁸Thereupon Judas suddenly changed direction with his army, marched across the desert to Bozrah, and captured the city. He slaughtered all the male population, took all their possessions, and set fire to the city.
- ²⁹He led his army from that place by night, and they marched toward the stronghold of Dathema.
- ³⁰When morning came, they looked ahead and saw a countless multitude of people, with ladders and devices for capturing the stronghold, and beginning to attack the people within.
- ³¹When Judas perceived that the struggle had begun and that the noise of the battle was resounding to heaven with trumpet blasts and loud shouting,
- ³²he said to the men of his army, "Fight for our kinsmen today."
- ³³He came up behind them with three columns blowing their trumpets and shouting in prayer.
- ³⁴When the army of Timothy realized that it was Maccabeus, they fell back before him, and he inflicted on them a crushing defeat. About eight thousand of their men fell that day.
- ³⁵Then he turned toward Alema and attacked and captured it; he killed all the male population, plundered the place, and burned it down.
- ³⁶From there he moved on and took Chaspho, Maked, Bosor, and the other cities of Gilead.

- ³⁷ After these events Timothy assembled another army and camped opposite Raphon, on the other side of the stream.
- ³⁸ Judas sent men to spy on the camp, and they reported to him: "All the Gentiles around us have rallied to him, making a very large force;
- ³⁹ they have also hired Arabs to help them, and have camped beyond the stream, ready to attack you." So Judas went forward to attack them.
- ⁴⁰ As Judas and his army were approaching the running stream, Timothy said to the officers of his army: "If he crosses over to us first, we shall not be able to resist him; he will certainly defeat us.
- ⁴¹ But if he is afraid and camps on the other side of the river, we will cross over to him and defeat him."
- ⁴² But when Judas reached the running stream, he stationed the officers of the people beside the stream and gave them this order: "Do not allow any man to pitch a tent; all must go into battle."
- ⁴³ He was the first to cross to the attack, with all the people behind him, and the Gentiles were crushed before them; they threw away their arms and fled to the temple enclosure at Carnaim.
- ⁴⁴ The Jews captured that city and burnt the enclosure with all who were in it. So Carnaim was subdued, and Judas met with no more resistance.
- ⁴⁵ Then he assembled all the Israelites, great and small, who were in Gilead, with their wives and children and their goods, a great crowd of people, to go into the land of Judah.
- ⁴⁶ When they reached Ephron, a large and strongly fortified city along the way, they found it impossible to encircle it on either the right or the left; they would have to march right through it.
- ⁴⁷ But the men in the city shut them out and blocked up the gates with stones.
- ⁴⁸ Then Judas sent them this peaceful message: "We wish to cross your territory in order to reach our own; no one will harm you; we will only march through." But they would not open to him.

⁴⁹So Judas ordered a proclamation to be made in the camp that everyone make an attack from the place where he was.

⁵⁰When the men of the army took up their positions, he assaulted the city all that day and night, and it was delivered to him.

⁵¹He slaughtered every male, razed and plundered the city, and passed through it over the slain.

⁵²Then they crossed the Jordan to the great plain in front of Beth-shan;

⁵³and Judas kept rounding up the stragglers and encouraging the people the whole way, until he reached the land of Judah.

⁵⁴They ascended Mount Zion in joy and gladness and offered holocausts, because not one of them had fallen; they had returned in safety.

⁵⁵During the time that Judas and Jonathan were in the land of Gilead, and Simon his brother was in Galilee opposite Ptolemais, ⁵⁶Joseph, son of Zechariah, and Azariah, the leaders of the army, heard about the brave deeds and the fighting that they were doing.

⁵⁷They said, "Let us also make a name for ourselves by going out and fighting against the Gentiles around us."

⁵⁸They gave orders to the men of their army who were with them, and marched toward Jamnia.

⁵⁹But Gorgias and his men came out of the city to meet them in battle.

⁶⁰Joseph and Azariah were beaten, and were pursued to the frontiers of Judea, and about two thousand Israelites fell that day.

⁶¹It was a bad defeat for the people, because they had not obeyed Judas and his brothers, thinking that they would do brave deeds.

⁶²But they did not belong to the family of those men to whom it was granted to achieve Israel's salvation.

⁶³The valiant Judas and his brothers were greatly renowned in all Israel and among all the Gentiles, wherever their name was heard;

⁶⁴and men gathered about them and praised them.

⁶⁵Then Judas and his brothers went out and attacked the sons of Esau in the country toward the south; he took Hebron and its villages, and he destroyed its strongholds and burned the towers around it.

⁶⁶He then set out for the land of the Philistines and passed through Marisa.

⁶⁷At that time some priests fell in battle who had gone out rashly to fight in their desire to distinguish themselves.

⁶⁸Judas then turned toward Azotus in the land of the Philistines. He destroyed their altars and burned the statues of their gods; and after plundering their cities he returned to the land of Judah.

6As King Antiochus was traversing the inland provinces, he heard that in Persia there was a city called Elymais, famous for its wealth in silver and gold, ²and that its temple was very rich, containing gold helmets, breastplates, and weapons left there by Alexander, son of Philip, king of Macedon, the first king of the Greeks.

³He went therefore and tried to capture and pillage the city. But he could not do so, because his plan became known to the people of the city

⁴who rose up in battle against him. So he retreated and in great dismay withdrew from there to return to Babylon.

⁵While he was in Persia, a messenger brought him news that the armies sent into the land of Judah had been put to flight;

⁶that Lysias had gone at first with a strong army and been driven back by the Israelites; that they had grown strong by reason of the arms, men, and abundant possessions taken from the armies they had destroyed;

⁷that they had pulled down the Abomination which he had built upon the altar in Jerusalem; and that they had surrounded with high walls both the sanctuary, as it had been before, and his city of Beth-zur.

⁸When the king heard this news, he was struck with fear and very much shaken. Sick with grief because his designs had failed, he took to his bed.

⁹There he remained many days, overwhelmed with sorrow, for he knew he was going to die.

¹⁰So he called in all his Friends and said to them: "Sleep has departed from my eyes, for my heart is sinking with anxiety.

¹¹I said to myself: 'Into what tribulation have I come, and in what floods of sorrow am I now!

¹²Yet I was kindly and beloved in my rule.' But I now recall the evils I did in Jerusalem, when I carried away all the vessels of gold and silver that were in it, and for no cause gave orders that the inhabitants of Judah be destroyed.

¹³I know that this is why these evils have overtaken me; and now I am dying, in bitter grief, in a foreign land."

¹⁴Then he summoned Philip, one of his Friends, and put him in charge of his whole kingdom.

¹⁵He gave him his crown, his robe, and his signet ring, so that he might guide the king's son Antiochus and bring him up to be king.

¹⁶King Antiochus died in Persia in the year one hundred and forty-nine.

¹⁷When Lysias learned that the king was dead, he set up the king's son Antiochus, whom he had reared as a child, to be king in his place; and he gave him the title Eupator.

¹⁸The men in the citadel were hemming in Israel around the sanctuary, continually trying to harm them and to strengthen the Gentiles.

¹⁹But Judas planned to destroy them, and called all the people together to besiege them.

²⁰So in the year one hundred and fifty they assembled and stormed the citadel, for which purpose he constructed catapults and other devices.

²¹Some of the besieged escaped, joined by impious Israelites;

²²they went to the king and said: "How long will you fail to do justice and avenge our kinsmen?"

²³We agreed to serve your father and to follow his orders and obey his edicts.

²⁴And for this the sons of our people have become our enemies; they have put to death as many of us as they could find and have plundered our estates.

²⁵They have acted aggressively not only against us, but throughout their whole territory.

²⁶Look! They have now besieged the citadel in Jerusalem in order to capture it, and they have fortified the sanctuary and Beth-zur.

²⁷Unless you quickly forestall them, they will do even worse things than these, and you will not be able to stop them."

²⁸When the king heard this he was angry, and he called together all his Friends, the officers of his army, and the commanders of the cavalry.

²⁹Mercenary forces also came to him from other kingdoms and from the islands of the seas.

³⁰His army numbered a hundred thousand foot-soldiers, twenty thousand cavalry, and thirty-two elephants trained for war.

³¹They passed through Idumea and camped before Beth-zur. For many days they attacked it; they constructed siege-devices, but the besieged made a sortie and burned these, and they fought bravely.

³²Then Judas marched away from the citadel and moved his camp to Beth-zechariah, on the way to the king's camp.

³³The king, rising before dawn, moved his force hastily along the road to Beth-zechariah; and the armies prepared for battle, while the trumpets sounded.

³⁴They showed the elephants the juice of grapes and mulberries to provoke them to fight.

³⁵The beasts were distributed along the phalanxes, each elephant having assigned to it a thousand men in coats of mail, with bronze helmets, and five hundred picked cavalry.

³⁶These anticipated the beast wherever it was; and wherever it moved, they moved too and never left it.

³⁷ A strong wooden tower covering each elephant, and fastened to it by a harness, held, besides the Indian mahout, three soldiers who fought from it.

³⁸ The remaining cavalry were stationed on one or the other of the two flanks of the army, to harass the enemy and to be protected from the phalanxes.

³⁹ When the sun shone on the gold and bronze shields, the mountains gleamed with their brightness and blazed like flaming torches.

⁴⁰ Part of the king's army extended over the heights, while some were on low ground, but they marched forward steadily and in good order.

⁴¹ All who heard the noise of their numbers, the tramp of their marching, and the clashing of the arms, trembled; for the army was very great and strong.

⁴² Judas with his army advanced to fight, and six hundred men of the king's army fell.

⁴³ Eleazar, called Avaran, saw one of the beasts bigger than any of the others and covered with royal armor, and he thought the king must be on it.

⁴⁴ So he gave up his life to save his people and win an everlasting name for himself.

⁴⁵ He dashed up to it in the middle of the phalanx, killing men right and left, so that they fell back from him on both sides.

⁴⁶ He ran right under the elephant and stabbed it in the belly, killing it. The beast fell to the ground on top of him, and he died there.

⁴⁷ When the Jews saw the strength of the royal army and the ardor of its forces, they retreated from them.

⁴⁸ A part of the king's army went up to Jerusalem to attack them, and the king established camps in Judea and at Mount Zion.

⁴⁹ He made peace with the men of Beth-zur, and they evacuated the city, because they had no food there to enable them to stand a siege, for that was a sabbath year in the land.

⁵⁰ The king took Beth-zur and stationed a garrison there to hold it.

⁵¹ For many days he besieged the sanctuary, setting up artillery and machines, firethrowers, catapults and mechanical bows for shooting arrows and slingstones.

⁵²The Jews countered by setting up machines of their own, and kept up the fight a long time.

⁵³But there were no provisions in the storerooms, because it was the seventh year, and the tide-over provisions had been eaten up by those who had been rescued from the Gentiles and brought to Judea.

⁵⁴Few men remained in the sanctuary; the rest scattered, each to his own home, for the famine was too much for them.

⁵⁵Lysias heard that Philip, whom King Antiochus, before his death, had appointed to train his son Antiochus to be king, ⁵⁶had returned from Persia and Media with the army that accompanied the king, and that he was seeking to take over the government.

⁵⁷So he hastily resolved to withdraw. He said to the king, the leaders of the army, and the soldiers: "We are grow-ing weaker every day, our provisions are scanty, the place we are besieging is strong, and it is our duty to take care of the affairs of the kingdom.

⁵⁸Therefore let us now come to terms with these men, and make peace with them and all their nation.

⁵⁹Let us grant them freedom to live according to their own laws as formerly; it was on account of their laws, which we abolished, that they became angry and did all these things."

⁶⁰The proposal found favor with the king and the leaders;

⁶¹he sent peace terms to the Jews, and they accepted. So the king and the leaders swore an oath to them, and on these terms they evacuated the fortification.

⁶²But when the king entered Mount Zion and saw how the place was fortified, he broke the oath he had sworn and gave orders for the encircling wall to be destroyed.

⁶³Then he departed in haste and returned to Antioch, where he found Philip in possession of the city. He fought against him and took the city by force.

7 In the year one hundred and fifty-one, Demetrius, son of Seleucus, set out from Rome, arrived with a few men in a city on the seacoast, and began to rule there.

²As he was preparing to enter the royal palace of his ancestors, the soldiers seized Antiochus and Lysias to bring them to him.

³When he was informed of this, he said, "Do not show me their faces."

⁴So the soldiers killed them, and Demetrius sat on the royal throne.

⁵Then all the lawless and impious men of Israel came to him. They were led by Alcimus, who desired to be high priest.

⁶They made this accusation to the king against the people: "Judas and his brothers have destroyed all your friends and have driven us out of our country.

⁷So now, send a man whom you trust to go and see all the havoc Judas has done to us and to the king's land, and let him punish them and all their supporters."

⁸Then the king chose Bacchides, one of the King's Friends, governor of West-of-Euphrates, a great man in the kingdom, and faithful to the king.

⁹He sent him and the impious Alcimus, to whom he granted the high priesthood, with orders to take revenge on the Israelites.

¹⁰They set out and, on arriving in the land of Judah with a great army, sent messengers who spoke deceitfully to Judas and his brothers in peaceful terms.

¹¹But these paid no attention to their words, seeing that they had come with a great army.

¹²A group of scribes, however, gathered about Alcimus and Bacchides to ask for a just agreement.

¹³The Hasideans were the first among the Israelites to seek peace with them,

¹⁴for they said, "A priest of the line of Aaron has come with the army, and he will not do us any wrong."

¹⁵He spoke with them peacefully and swore to them, "We will not try to injure you or your friends."

¹⁶So they trusted him. But he arrested sixty of them and killed them in one day, according to the text of Scripture:

- ¹⁷"The flesh of your saints they have strewn, and their blood they have shed round about Jerusalem, and there was no one to bury them."
- ¹⁸Then fear and dread of them came upon all the people, who said: "There is no truth or justice among them; they violated the agreement and the oath that they swore."
- ¹⁹Bacchides withdrew from Jerusalem and pitched his camp in Beth-zaiton. He had many of the men arrested who deserted to him, throwing them into the great pit.
- ²⁰He handed the province over to Alcimus, leaving troops to help him, while he himself returned to the king.
- ²¹Alcimus spared no pains to maintain his high priesthood,
- ²²and all those who were disturbing their people gathered about him. They took possession of the land of Judah and caused great distress in Israel.
- ²³When Judas saw all the evils that Alcimus and his men were bringing upon the Israelites, more than even the Gentiles had done,
- ²⁴he went about all the borders of Judea and took revenge on the men who had deserted, preventing them from going out into the country.
- ²⁵But when Alcimus saw that Judas and his followers were gaining strength and realized that he could not oppose them, he returned to the king and accused them of grave crimes.
- ²⁶Then the king sent Nicanor, one of his famous officers, who was a bitter enemy of Israel, with orders to destroy the people.
- ²⁷Nicanor came to Jerusalem with a large force and deceitfully sent to Judas and his brothers this peaceable message:
- ²⁸"Let there be no fight between me and you. I will come with a few men to meet you peaceably."
- ²⁹So he came to Judas, and they greeted one another peaceably. But Judas' enemies were prepared to seize him.
- ³⁰When he became aware that Nicanor had come to him with treachery in mind, Judas was afraid and would not meet him again.

³¹When Nicanor saw that his plan had been discovered, he went out to fight Judas near Capharsalama.

³²About five hundred men of Nicanor's army fell; the rest fled to the City of David.

³³After this, Nicanor went up to Mount Zion. Some of the priests from the sanctuary and some of the elders of the people came out to greet him peaceably and to show him the holocaust that was being offered for the king.

³⁴But he mocked and ridiculed them, defiled them, and spoke disdainfully.

³⁵In a rage he swore: "If Judas and his army are not delivered to me at once, when I return victorious I will burn this temple down." He went away in great anger.

³⁶The priests, however, went in and stood before the altar and the sanctuary. They wept and said:

³⁷"You have chosen this house to bear your name, to be a house of prayer and petition for your people.

³⁸Take revenge on this man and his army, and let them fall by the sword. Remember their blasphemies, and do not let them continue."

³⁹Nicanor left Jerusalem and pitched his camp at Beth-horon, where the Syrian army joined him.

⁴⁰But Judas camped in Adasa with three thousand men. Here Judas uttered this prayer:

⁴¹"When they who were sent by the king blasphemed, your angel went out and killed a hundred and eighty-five thousand of them.

⁴²In the same way, crush this army before us today, and let the rest know that Nicanor spoke wickedly against your sanctuary; judge him according to his wickedness."

⁴³The armies met in battle on the thirteenth day of the month Adar. Nicanor's army was crushed, and he himself was the first to fall in the battle.

⁴⁴When his army saw that Nicanor was dead, they threw down their arms and fled.

⁴⁵The Jews pursued them a day's journey, from Adasa to near Gazara, blowing the trumpets behind them as signals.

⁴⁶From all the surrounding villages of Judea people came out and closed in on them. They hemmed them in, and all the enemies fell by the sword; not a single one escaped.

⁴⁷Then the Jews collected the spoils and the booty; they cut off Nicanor's head and his right arm, which he had lifted up so arrogantly. These they brought to Jerusalem and displayed there.

⁴⁸The people rejoiced greatly, and observed that day as a great festival.

⁴⁹They decreed that it should be observed every year on the thirteenth of Adar.

⁵⁰And for a short time the land of Judah was quiet.

8 Judas had heard of the reputation of the Romans. They were valiant fighters and acted amiably to all who took their side. They established a friendly alliance with all who applied to them.

²He was also told of their battles and the brave deeds that they had performed against the Gauls, conquering them and forcing them to pay tribute.

³They had gotten possession of the silver and gold mines in Spain,

⁴and by planning and persistence had conquered the whole country, although it was very remote from their own. They had crushed the kings who had come against them from the far corners of the earth and had inflicted on them severe defeat, and the rest paid tribute to them every year.

⁵Philip and Perseus, king of the Macedonians, and the others who opposed them in battle had been overwhelmed and subjugated.

⁶Antiochus the Great, king of Asia, who had fought against them with a hundred and twenty elephants and with cavalry and chariots and a very great army, had been defeated by them.

⁷They had taken him alive and obliged him and the kings who succeeded him to pay a heavy tribute, to give hostages and a section of ⁸Lycia, Mysia, and Lydia from among their best provinces. The Romans took these from him and gave them to King Eumenes.

⁹When the men of Greece had planned to come and destroy them,

¹⁰the Romans discovered it, and sent against the Greeks a single general who made war on them. Many were wounded and fell, and the Romans took their wives and children captive. They plundered them, took possession of their land, tore down their strongholds and reduced them to slavery even to this day.

¹¹All the other kingdoms and islands that had ever opposed them they destroyed and enslaved;

¹²with their friends, however, and those who relied on them, they maintained friendship. They had conquered kings both far and near, and all who heard of their fame were afraid of them.

¹³In truth, those whom they desired to help to a kingdom became kings, and those whom they wished to depose they deposed; and they were greatly exalted.

¹⁴Yet with all this, none of them put on a crown or wore purple as a display of grandeur.

¹⁵They had made for themselves a senate house, and every day three hundred and twenty men took counsel, deliberating on all that concerned the people and their well-being.

¹⁶They entrusted their government to one man every year, to rule over their entire country, and they all obeyed that one, and there was no envy or jealousy among them.

¹⁷So Judas chose Eupolemus, son of John, son of Accos, and Jason, son of Eleazar, and sent them to Rome to establish an alliance of friendship with them.

¹⁸He did this to get rid of the yoke, for it was obvious that the kingdom of the Greeks was subjecting Israel to slavery.

¹⁹After making a very long journey to Rome, the envoys entered the senate and spoke as follows:

²⁰"Judas, called Maccabeus, and his brothers, with the Jewish people, have sent us to you to make a peaceful alliance with you, and to enroll ourselves among your allies and friends."

²¹The proposal pleased the Romans,

²²and this is a copy of the reply they inscribed on bronze tablets and sent to Jerusalem, to remain there with the Jews as a record of peace and alliance:

²³"May it be well with the Romans and the Jewish nation at sea and on land forever; may sword and enemy be far from them.

²⁴But if war is first made on Rome, or any of its allies in any of their dominions,

²⁵the Jewish nation will help them wholeheartedly, as the occasion shall demand;

²⁶and to those who wage war they shall not give nor provide grain, arms, money, or ships; this is Rome's decision. They shall fulfill their obligations without receiving any recompense.

²⁷In the same way, if war is made first on the Jewish nation, the Romans will help them willingly, as the occasion shall demand, ²⁸and to those who are attacking them there shall not be given grain, arms, money, or ships; this is Rome's decision. They shall fulfill their obligations without deception.

²⁹On these terms the Romans have made an agreement with the Jewish people.

³⁰But if both parties hereafter decide to add or take away anything, they shall do as they choose, and whatever they shall add or take away shall be valid.

³¹"Moreover, concerning the wrongs that King Demetrius has done to them, we have written to him thus: 'Why have you made your yoke heavy upon our friends and allies the Jews?'

³²If they complain about you again, we will do them justice and make war on you by land and sea.'"

9 When Demetrius heard that Nicanor and his army had fallen in battle, he again sent Bacchides and Alcimus into the land of Judah, along with the right wing of his army.

²They took the road to Galilee, and camping opposite the ascent at Arbela, they captured it and killed many people.

³In the first month of the year one hundred and fifty-two, they encamped against Jerusalem.

⁴Then they set out for Berea with twenty thousand men and two thousand cavalry.

⁵Judas, with three thousand picked men, had camped at Elasa.

⁶When his men saw the great number of the troops, they were very much afraid, and many slipped away from the camp, until only eight hundred men remained.

⁷As Judas saw that his army was melting away just when the battle was imminent, he was panic-stricken, because he had no time to gather them together.

⁸But in spite of his discouragement, he said to those who remained: "Let us go forward to meet our enemies; perhaps we can put up a good fight against them."

⁹They tried to dissuade him, saying: "We certainly cannot. Let us save our lives now, and come back with our kinsmen, and then fight against them. Now we are too few."

¹⁰But Judas said: "Far be it from me to do such a thing as to flee from them! If our time has come, let us die bravely for our kinsmen and not leave a stain upon our glory!"

¹¹Then the army of Bacchides moved out of camp and took its position for combat. The cavalry were divided into two squadrons, and the slingers and the archers came on ahead of the army, and all the valiant men were in the front line.

¹²Bacchides was on the right wing. Flanked by the two squadrons, the phalanx attacked as they blew their trumpets. Those who were on Judas' side also blew their trumpets.

¹³The earth shook with the noise of the armies, and the battle raged from morning until evening.

¹⁴Seeing that Bacchides was on the right, with the main force of his army, Judas, with all the most stouthearted rallying to him, ¹⁵drove back the right wing and pursued them as far as the mountain slopes.

¹⁶But when the men on the left wing saw that the right wing was driven back, they turned and followed Judas and his men, taking them in the rear.

¹⁷The battle was fought desperately, and many on both sides fell wounded.

¹⁸Then Judas fell, and the rest fled.

¹⁹Jonathan and Simon took their brother Judas and buried him in the tomb of their fathers at Modein.

²⁰All Israel bewailed him in great grief. They mourned for him many days, and they said,

²¹"How the mighty one has fallen, the savior of Israel!"

²²The other acts of Judas, his battles, the brave deeds he performed, and his greatness have not been recorded; but they were very many.

²³After the death of Judas, the transgressors of the law raised their heads in every part of Israel, and all kinds of evildoers appeared.

²⁴In those days there was a very great famine, and the country deserted to them.

²⁵Bacchides chose impious men and made them masters of the country.

²⁶These sought out and hunted down the friends of Judas and brought them to Bacchides, who punished and derided them.

²⁷There had not been such great distress in Israel since the time prophets ceased to appear among the people.

²⁸Then all the friends of Judas came together and said to Jonathan:

²⁹"Since your brother Judas died, there has been no one like him to oppose our enemies, Bacchides and those who are hostile to our nation.

³⁰Now therefore we have chosen you today to be our ruler and leader in his place, and to fight our battle."

³¹From that moment Jonathan accepted the leadership, and took the place of Judas his brother.

³²When Bacchides learned of it, he sought to kill him.

³³But Jonathan and his brother Simon and all the men with him discovered this, and they fled to the desert of Tekoa and camped by the waters of the pool of Asphar.

³⁴

³⁵Jonathan sent his brother as leader of the convoy to ask permission of his friends, the Nabateans, to deposit with them their great quantity of baggage.

³⁶But the sons of Jambri from Medaba made a raid and seized and carried off John and everything he had.

³⁷After this, word was brought to Jonathan and his brother Simon: "The sons of Jambri are celebrating a great wedding, and with a large escort they are bringing the bride, the daughter of one of the great princes of Canaan, from Nadabath."

³⁸Remembering the blood of John their brother, they went up and hid themselves under cover of the mountain.

³⁹They watched, and suddenly saw a noisy crowd with baggage; the bridegroom and his friends and kinsmen had come out to meet the bride's party with tambourines and musicians and much equipment.

⁴⁰The Jews rose up against them from their ambush and killed them. Many fell wounded, and after the survivors fled toward the mountain, all their spoils were taken.

⁴¹Thus the wedding was turned into mourning, and the sound of music into lamentation.

⁴²Having taken their revenge for the blood of their brother, the Jews returned to the marshes of the Jordan.

⁴³When Bacchides heard of it, he came on the sabbath to the banks of the Jordan with a large force.

⁴⁴Then Jonathan said to his companions, "Let us get up now and fight for our lives, for today is not like yesterday and the day before.

⁴⁵The battle is before us, and behind us are the waters of the Jordan on one side, marsh and thickets on the other, and there is no way of escape.

⁴⁶Cry out now to Heaven for deliverance from our enemies."

⁴⁷When they joined battle, Jonathan raised his arm to strike Bacchides, but Bacchides backed away from him.

⁴⁸Jonathan and his men jumped into the Jordan and swam across to the other side, but the enemy did not pursue them across the Jordan.

⁴⁹A thousand men on Bacchides' side fell that day.

⁵⁰On returning to Jerusalem, Bacchides built strongholds in Judea: the Jericho fortress, as well as Emmaus, Beth-horon, Bethel, Timnath, Pharathon, and Tephon, with high walls and gates and bars.

⁵¹In each he put a garrison to oppose Israel.

⁵²He fortified the city of Beth-zur, Gazara and the citadel, and put soldiers in them and stores of provisions.

⁵³He took as hostages the sons of the leaders of the country and put them in custody in the citadel at Jerusalem.

⁵⁴In the year one hundred and fifty-three, in the second month, Alcimus ordered the wall of the inner court of the sanctuary to be torn down, thus destroying the work of the prophets. But he only began to tear it down.

⁵⁵Just at that time he had a stroke, and his work was interrupted; his mouth was closed and he was paralyzed, so that he could no longer utter a word to give orders concerning his house.

⁵⁶Finally he died in great agony.

⁵⁷Seeing that Alcimus was dead, Bacchides returned to the king, and the land of Judah was quiet for two years. Bacchides and Jonathan

⁵⁸Then all the transgressors of the law held a council and said: "Jonathan and his companions are living in peace and security. Now then, let us have Bacchides return, and he will capture all of them in a single night."

⁵⁹So they went and took counsel with him.

⁶⁰When Bacchides was setting out with a large force, he sent letters secretly to all his allies in Judea, telling them to seize Jonathan and his companions. They were not able to do this, however, because their plot became known.

⁶¹In fact, Jonathan's men seized about fifty of the men of the country who were ringleaders in the mischief and put them to death.

⁶²Then Jonathan and Simon and their companions withdrew to Bethbasi in the desert; they rebuilt and strengthened its fortifications that had been demolished.

⁶³When Bacchides learned of this, he gathered together his whole force and sent word to those who were in Judea.

⁶⁴He came and pitched his camp before Bethbasi, and constructing siege-machines, he fought against it for many days.

⁶⁵Leaving his brother Simon in the city, Jonathan, accompanied by a small group of men, went out into the field.

⁶⁶He struck down Odomera and his kinsmen and the sons of Phasiron in their encampment; these men had set out to go up to the siege with their forces.

⁶⁷Simon and his men then sallied forth from the city and set fire to the machines.

⁶⁸They fought against Bacchides, and he was beaten. This caused him great distress. Because the enterprise he had planned came to nought, ⁶⁹he was angry with the lawless men who had advised him to invade the province. He killed many of them and resolved to return to his own country.

⁷⁰Jonathan learned of this and sent ambassadors to make peace with him and to obtain the release of the prisoners.

⁷¹He agreed to do as Jonathan had asked. He swore an oath to him that he would never try to injure him for the rest of his life;

⁷²and he released the prisoners he had previously taken from the land of Judah. He returned to his own country and never came into their territory again.

⁷³Then the sword ceased in Israel. Jonathan settled in Michmash; he began to judge the people and he destroyed the impious in Israel.

10 In the year one hundred and sixty, Alexander, who was called Epiphanes, son of Antiochus, came up and took Ptolemais. He was accepted and began to reign there.

²When King Demetrius heard of it, he mustered a very large army and marched out to engage him in combat.

³Demetrius sent a letter to Jonathan written in peaceful terms, to pay him honor;

⁴for he said: "Let us be the first to make peace with him, before he makes peace with Alexander against us, ⁵since he will remember all the wrongs we have done to him, his brothers, and his nation."

⁶So Demetrius authorized him to gather an army and procure arms as his ally; and he ordered that the hostages in the citadel be released to him.

⁷Accordingly Jonathan went up to Jerusalem and read the letter to all the people. The men in the citadel ⁸were struck with fear when they heard that the king had given him authority to gather an army.

⁹They released the hostages to Jonathan, and he gave them back to their parents.

¹⁰Thereafter Jonathan dwelt in Jerusalem, and began to build and restore the city.

¹¹He ordered the workmen to build the walls and encircle Mount Zion with square stones for its fortification, which they did.

¹²The foreigners in the strongholds that Bacchides had built, took flight;

¹³each one of them left his place and returned to his own country.

¹⁴Only in Beth-zur did some remain of those who had abandoned the law and the commandments, for they used it as a place of refuge.

¹⁵King Alexander heard of the promises that Demetrius had made to Jonathan; he was also told of the battles and valiant deeds of Jonathan and his brothers and the troubles that they had endured.

¹⁶He said, "Shall we ever find another man like him? Let us now make him our friend and ally."

¹⁷So he sent Jonathan a letter written in these terms:

¹⁸"King Alexander sends greetings to his brother Jonathan.

¹⁹We have heard of you, that you are a mighty warrior and worthy to be our friend.

²⁰We have therefore appointed you today to be high priest of your nation; you are to be called the King's Friend, and you are to look after our interests and preserve amity with us." He also sent him a purple robe and a crown of gold.

²¹Jonathan put on the sacred vestments in the seventh month of the year one hundred and sixty at the feast of Booths, and he gathered an army and procured many arms.

²²When Demetrius heard of these things, he was distressed and said:

²³"Why have we allowed Alexander to get ahead of us by gaining the friendship of the Jews and thus strengthening himself?

²⁴I too will write them conciliatory words and offer dignities and gifts, so that they may be an aid to me."

²⁵So he sent them this message: "King Demetrius sends greetings to the Jewish nation.

²⁶We have heard how you have kept the treaty with us and continued in our friendship and not gone over to our enemies, and we are glad.

²⁷Continue, therefore, to keep faith with us, and we will reward you with favors in return for what you do in our behalf.

²⁸We will grant you many exemptions and will bestow gifts on you.

²⁹"I now free you, as I also exempt all the Jews, from the tribute, the salt tax, and the crown levies.

³⁰ Instead of collecting the third of the grain and the half of the fruit of the trees that should be my share, I renounce the right from this day forward: Neither now nor in the future will I collect them from the land of Judah or from the three districts annexed from Samaria.

³¹ Let Jerusalem and her territory, her tithes and her tolls, be sacred and free from tax.

³² I also yield my authority over the citadel in Jerusalem, and I transfer it to the high priest, that he may put in it such men as he shall choose to guard it.

³³ Every one of the Jews who has been carried into captivity from the land of Judah into any part of my kingdom I set at liberty without ransom; and let all their taxes, even those on their cattle, be canceled.

³⁴ Let all feast days, sabbaths, new moon festivals, appointed days, and the three days that precede each feast day, and the three days that follow, be days of immunity and exemption for every Jew in my kingdom.

³⁵ Let no man have authority to exact payment from them or to molest any of them in any matter.

³⁶ Let thirty thousand Jews be enrolled in the king's army and allowances be given them, as is due to all the king's soldiers.

³⁷ Let some of them be stationed in the king's principal strongholds, and of these let some be given positions of trust in the affairs of the kingdom. Let their superiors and their rulers be taken from among them, and let them follow their own laws, as the king has commanded in the land of Judah.

³⁸ Let the three districts that have been added to Judea from the province of Samaria be incorporated with Judea so that they may be under one man and obey no other authority than the high priest.

³⁹ Ptolemais and its confines I give as a present to the sanctuary in Jerusalem for the necessary expenses of the sanctuary.

⁴⁰ I make a yearly personal grant of fifteen thousand silver shekels out of the royal revenues, from appropriate places.

⁴¹ All the additional funds that the officials did not hand over as they had done in the first years, shall henceforth be handed over for the services of the temple.

⁴²Moreover, the dues of five thousand silver shekels that used to be taken from the revenue of the sanctuary every year shall be canceled, since these funds belong to the priests who perform the services.

⁴³Whoever takes refuge in the temple of Jerusalem or in any of its precincts, because of money he owes the king, or because of any other debt, shall be released, together with all the goods he possesses in my kingdom.

⁴⁴The cost of rebuilding and restoring the structures of the sanctuary shall be covered out of the royal revenue.

⁴⁵Likewise the cost of building the walls of Jerusalem and fortifying it all around, and of building walls in Judea, shall be donated from the royal revenue."

⁴⁶When Jonathan and the people heard these words, they neither believed nor accepted them, for they remembered the great evil that Demetrius had done in Israel, and how sorely he had afflicted them.

⁴⁷They therefore decided in favor of Alexander, for he had been the first to address them peaceably, and they remained his allies for the rest of his life.

⁴⁸King Alexander gathered together a large army and encamped opposite Demetrius.

⁴⁹The two kings joined battle, and when the army of Demetrius fled, Alexander pursued him, and overpowered his soldiers.

⁵⁰He pressed the battle hard until sunset, and Demetrius fell that day.

⁵¹Alexander sent ambassadors to Ptolemy, king of Egypt, with this message:

⁵²"Now that I have returned to my realm, taken my seat on the throne of my fathers, and established my rule by crushing Demetrius and gaining control of my country--

⁵³for I engaged him in battle, defeated him and his army, and recovered the royal throne--

⁵⁴let us now establish friendship with each other. Give me your daughter for my wife; and as your son-in-law, I will give to you and to her gifts worthy of you."

⁵⁵King Ptolemy answered in these words: "Happy the day on which you returned to the land of your fathers and took your seat on their royal throne!

⁵⁶I will do for you what you have written; but meet me in Ptolemais, so that we may see each other, and I will become your father-in-law as you have proposed."

⁵⁷So Ptolemy with his daughter Cleopatra set out from Egypt and came to Ptolemais in the year one hundred and sixty-two.

⁵⁸There King Alexander met him, and Ptolemy gave him his daughter Cleopatra in marriage. Their wedding was celebrated at Ptolemais with great splendor according to the custom of kings.

⁵⁹King Alexander also wrote to Jonathan to come and meet him.

⁶⁰So he went with pomp to Ptolemais, where he met the two kings and gave them and their friends silver and gold and many gifts and thus won their favor.

⁶¹Some pestilent Israelites, transgressors of the law, united against him to accuse him, but the king paid no heed to them.

⁶²He ordered Jonathan to be divested of his ordinary garments and to be clothed in royal purple; and so it was done.

⁶³The king also had him seated at his side. He said to his magistrates: "Go with him to the center of the city and make a proclamation that no one is to bring charges against him on any grounds or be troublesome to him in any way."

⁶⁴When his accusers saw the honor paid to him in the proclamation, and the purple with which he was clothed, they all fled.

⁶⁵The king also honored him by numbering him among his Chief Friends and made him military commander and governor of the province.

⁶⁶So Jonathan returned in peace and happiness to Jerusalem.

⁶⁷In the year one hundred and sixty-five, Demetrius, son of Demetrius, came from Crete to the land of his fathers.

⁶⁸When King Alexander heard of it he was greatly troubled, and returned to Antioch.

⁶⁹Demetrius appointed Apollonius governor of Coelesyria. Having gathered a large army, Apollonius pitched his camp at Jamnia. From there he sent this message to Jonathan the high priest:

⁷⁰"You are the only one who resists us. I am laughed at and put to shame on your account. Why are you displaying power against us in the mountains?"

⁷¹If you have confidence in your forces, come down now to us in the plain, and let us test each other's strength there; the city forces are on my side.

⁷²Inquire and learn who I am and who the others are who are helping me. Men say that you cannot make a stand against us because your fathers were twice put to flight in their own land.

⁷³Now you too will be unable to withstand our cavalry and such a force as this in the plain, where there is not a stone or a pebble or a place to flee."

⁷⁴When Jonathan heard the message of Apollonius, he was roused. Choosing ten thousand men, he set out from Jerusalem, and Simon his brother joined him to help him.

⁷⁵He pitched camp near Joppa, but the men in the city shut him out because Apollonius had a garrison there. When the Jews besieged it, ⁷⁶the men of the city became afraid and opened the gates, and so Jonathan took possession of Joppa.

⁷⁷When Apollonius heard of it, he drew up three thousand horsemen and an innumerable infantry. He marched on Azotus as though he were going on through the country, but at the same time he advanced into the plain, because he had such a large number of horsemen to rely on.

⁷⁸Jonathan followed him to Azotus, and they engaged in battle.

⁷⁹Apollonius, however, had left a thousand cavalry in hiding behind them.

⁸⁰When Jonathan discovered that there was an ambush behind him, his army was surrounded. From morning until evening they showered his men with arrows.

⁸¹But his men held their ground, as Jonathan had commanded, whereas the enemy's horses became tired out.

⁸²When the horsemen were exhausted, Simon attacked the phalanx, overwhelmed it and put it to flight.

⁸³The horsemen too were scattered over the plain. The enemy fled to Azotus and entered Beth-dagon, the temple of their idol, to save themselves.

⁸⁴But Jonathan burned and plundered Azotus with its neighboring towns, and destroyed by fire both the temple of Dagon and the men who had taken refuge in it.

⁸⁵Those who fell by the sword, together with those who were burned alive, came to about eight thousand men.

⁸⁶Then Jonathan left there and pitched his camp at Ashkalon, and the people of that city came out to meet him with great pomp.

⁸⁷He and his men then returned to Jerusalem, laden with much booty.

⁸⁸When King Alexander heard of these events, he accorded new honors to Jonathan.

⁸⁹He sent him a gold buckle, such as is usually given to King's Kinsmen; he also gave him Ekron and all its territory as a possession.

11 The king of Egypt gathered his forces, as numerous as the sands of the seashore, and many ships; and he sought by deceit to take Alexander's kingdom and add it to his own.

²He entered Syria with peaceful words, and the people in the cities opened their gates to welcome him, as King Alexander had ordered them to do, since Ptolemy was his father-in-law.

³But when Ptolemy entered the cities, he stationed garrison troops in each one.

⁴When he reached Azotus, he was shown the temple of Dagon destroyed by fire, Azotus and its suburbs demolished, corpses lying about, and the charred bodies of those burned by Jonathan in the war and stacked up along his route.

⁵To prejudice the king against Jonathan, he was told what the latter had done; but the king said nothing.

⁶Jonathan met the king with pomp at Joppa, and they greeted each other and spent the night there.

⁷Jonathan accompanied the king as far as the river called Eleutherus and then returned to Jerusalem.

⁸Plotting evil against Alexander, King Ptolemy took possession of the cities along the seacoast as far as Seleucia-by-the-Sea.

⁹He sent ambassadors to King Demetrius, saying: "Come, let us make a pact with each other; I will give you my daughter whom Alexander has married, and you shall reign over your father's kingdom.

¹⁰I regret that I gave him my daughter, for he has sought to kill me."

¹¹His real reason for accusing Alexander, however, was that he coveted Alexander's kingdom.

¹²After taking his daughter away and giving her to Demetrius, Ptolemy broke with Alexander; their enmity became open.

¹³Then Ptolemy entered Antioch and assumed the crown of Asia; he thus wore two crowns on his head, that of Egypt and that of Asia.

¹⁴King Alexander was in Cilicia at that time, because the people of that region had revolted.

¹⁵When Alexander heard the news, he came to challenge Ptolemy in battle. Ptolemy marched out and met him with a strong force and put him to flight.

¹⁶Alexander fled to Arabia to seek protection. King Ptolemy's triumph was complete

¹⁷when the Arab Zabdiel cut off Alexander's head and sent it to Ptolemy.

¹⁸But three days later King Ptolemy himself died, and his men in the fortified cities were killed by the inhabitants of the strongholds.

¹⁹Thus Demetrius became king in the year one hundred and sixty-seven.

²⁰At that time Jonathan gathered together the men of Judea to attack the citadel in Jerusalem, and they set up many machines against it.

²¹Some transgressors of the law, enemies of their own nation, went to the king and informed him that Jonathan was besieging the citadel.

²²When Demetrius heard this, he was furious, and set out immediately for Ptolemais. He wrote to Jonathan to discontinue the siege and to meet him for a conference at Ptolemais as soon as possible.

²³On hearing this, Jonathan ordered the siege to continue. He selected some elders and priests of Israel and exposed himself to danger

²⁴by going to the king at Ptolemais. He brought with him silver, gold apparel, and many other presents, and found favor with the king.

²⁵Although some impious men of his own nation brought charges against him,

²⁶the king treated him just as his predecessors had done and showed him great honor in the presence of all his Friends.

²⁷He confirmed him in the high priesthood and in all the honors he had previously held, and had him enrolled among his Chief Friends.

²⁸Jonathan asked the king to exempt Judea and the three districts of Samaria from tribute, promising him in return three hundred talents.

²⁹The king agreed and wrote the following letter to Jonathan about all these matters:
Pact with Demetrius

³⁰"King Demetrius sends greetings to his brother Jonathan and to the Jewish nation.

³¹We are sending you, for your information, a copy of the letter that we wrote to Lasthenes our kinsman concerning you.

³²"King Demetrius sends greetings to his father Lasthenes.

³³Because of the good will they show us, we have decided to bestow benefits on the Jewish nation, who are our friends and who observe their obligations to us.

³⁴Therefore we confirm their possession, not only of the territory of Judea, but also of the three districts of Aphairema, Lydda, and Ramathaim. These districts, together with all their dependencies, were transferred from Samaria to Judea in favor of all those who offer sacrifices for us in Jerusalem instead of paying the royal taxes that formerly the king received from them each year from the produce of the soil and the fruit of the trees.

³⁵From this day on we grant them release from payment of all other things that would henceforth be due to us, that is, of tithes and tribute and of the tax on the salt pans and the crown tax.

³⁶Henceforth none of these provisions shall ever be revoked.

³⁷Be sure, therefore, to have a copy of these instructions made and given to Jonathan, that it may be displayed in a conspicuous place on the holy hill."

³⁸When King Demetrius saw that the land was peaceful under his rule and that he had no opposition, he dismissed his entire army, every man to his home, except the foreign troops which he had hired from the islands of the nations. So all the soldiers who had served under his predecessors hated him.

³⁹When a certain Trypho, who had previously belonged to Alexander's party, saw that all the troops were grumbling at Demetrius, he went to Imalkue the Arab, who was bringing up Alexander's young son Antiochus.

⁴⁰Trypho kept urging Imalkue to hand over the boy to him, that he might make him king in his father's place. During his stay there of many days, he told him of all that Demetrius had done and of the hatred that his soldiers had for him.

⁴¹Meanwhile Jonathan sent the request to King Demetrius to withdraw his troops from the citadel of Jerusalem and from the other strongholds, for they were constantly hostile to Israel.

⁴²Demetrius, in turn, sent this word to Jonathan: "I will not only do this for you and your nation, but I will greatly honor you and your nation when I find the opportunity.

⁴³Do me the favor, therefore, of sending men to fight for me, because all my troops have revolted."

⁴⁴So Jonathan sent three thousand good fighting men to him at Antioch. When they came to the king, he was delighted over their arrival, ⁴⁵for the populace, one hundred and twenty thousand strong, had massed in the center of the city in an attempt to kill him.

⁴⁶But he took refuge in the palace, while the populace gained control of the main streets and began to fight.

⁴⁷So the king called the Jews to his aid. They all rallied around him and spread out through the city. On that day they killed about a hundred thousand men in the city, ⁴⁸which, at the same time, they set on fire and plundered on a large scale. Thus they saved the king's life.

- ⁴⁹When the populace saw that the Jews held the city at their mercy, they lost courage and cried out to the king in supplication,
- ⁵⁰"Give us your terms and let the Jews stop attacking us and our city." So they threw down their arms and made peace.
- ⁵¹The Jews thus gained glory in the eyes of the king and all his subjects, and they became renowned throughout his kingdom. Finally they returned to Jerusalem with much spoil.
- ⁵²But when King Demetrius was sure of his royal throne, and the land was peaceful under his rule,
- ⁵³he broke all his promises and became estranged from Jonathan. Instead of rewarding Jonathan for all the favors he had received from him, he caused him much trouble.
- ⁵⁴After this, Trypho returned and brought with him the young boy Antiochus, who became king and wore the royal crown.
- ⁵⁵All the soldiers whom Demetrius had discharged rallied around Antiochus and fought against Demetrius, who was routed and fled.
- ⁵⁶Trypho captured the elephants and occupied Antioch.
- ⁵⁷Then young Antiochus wrote to Jonathan: "I confirm you in the high priesthood and appoint you ruler over the four districts and wish you to be one of the King's Friends."
- ⁵⁸He also sent him gold dishes and a dinner service, gave him the right to drink from gold cups, to dress in royal purple, and to wear a gold buckle.
- ⁵⁹Likewise, he made Jonathan's brother Simon governor of the region from the Ladder of Tyre to the frontier of Egypt.
- ⁶⁰Jonathan set out and traveled through West-of-Euphrates and its cities, and all the forces of Syria espoused his cause as allies. When he arrived at Ashkalon, the citizens welcomed him with pomp.
- ⁶¹But when he set out for Gaza, the people of Gaza locked their gates against him. So he besieged it and burned and plundered its suburbs.

⁶²Then the people of Gaza appealed to him for mercy, and he granted them peace. He took the sons of their chief men as hostages and sent them to Jerusalem. He then traveled on through the province as far as Damascus.

⁶³Jonathan heard that the generals of Demetrius had come with a strong force to Kadesh in Galilee, intending to remove him from office.

⁶⁴So he went to meet them, leaving his brother Simon in the province.

⁶⁵Simon besieged Beth-zur, attacked it for many days, and blockaded the inhabitants.

⁶⁶When they sued for peace, he granted it to them. He expelled them from the city, took possession of it, and put a garrison there.

⁶⁷Meanwhile, Jonathan and his army pitched their camp near the waters of Gennesaret, and at daybreak they went to the plain of Hazor.

⁶⁸There, in front of him on the plain, was the army of the foreigners. This army attacked him in the open, having first detached an ambush against him in the mountains.

⁶⁹Then the men in ambush rose out of their places and joined in the battle.

⁷⁰All of Jonathan's men fled; no one stayed except the army commanders Mattathias, son of Absalom, and Judas, son of Chalphi.

⁷²Then he went back to the combat and so overwhelmed the enemy that they took to flight.

⁷³Those of his men who were running away saw it and returned to him; and with him they pursued the enemy as far as their camp in Kadesh, where they pitched their own camp.

⁷⁴Three thousand of the foreign troops fell on that day. Then Jonathan returned to Jerusalem.

12 When Jonathan saw that the times favored him, he sent selected men to Rome to confirm and renew his friendship with the Romans.

²He also sent letters to Sparta and other places for the same purpose.

³After reaching Rome, the men entered the senate chamber and said, "The high priest Jonathan and the Jewish people have sent us to renew the earlier friendship and alliance between you and them."

⁴The Romans gave them letters addressed to the authorities in the various places, requesting them to provide the envoys with safe conduct to the land of Judah.

⁵This is a copy of the letter that Jonathan wrote to the Spartans:

⁶"Jonathan the high priest, the senate of the nation, the priests, and the rest of the Jewish people send greetings to their brothers the Spartans.

⁷Long ago a letter was sent to the high priest Onias from Arius, who then reigned over you, stating that you are our brothers, as the attached copy shows.

⁸Onias welcomed the envoy with honor and received the letter, which clearly referred to alliance and friendship.

⁹Though we have no need of these things, since we have for our encouragement the sacred books that are in our possession,

¹⁰we have ventured to send word to you for the renewal of brotherhood and friendship, so as not to become strangers to you altogether; a long time has passed since your mission to us.

¹¹We, on our part, have never ceased to remember you in the sacrifices and prayers that we offer on our feasts and other appropriate days, as it is right and proper to remember brothers.

¹²We likewise rejoice in your renown.

¹³But many hardships and wars have beset us, and the kings around us have attacked us.

¹⁴We did not wish to be troublesome to you and to the rest of our allies and friends in these wars;

¹⁵with the help of Heaven for our support, we have been saved from our enemies, and they have been humbled.

¹⁶So we have chosen Numerius, son of Antiochus, and Antipater, son of Jason, and we have sent them to the Romans to renew our former friendship and alliance with them.

¹⁷We have also ordered them to come to you and greet you, and to deliver to you our letter about the renewal of our brotherhood.

¹⁸Therefore kindly send us an answer on this matter."

¹⁹This is a copy of the letter that was sent to Onias:

²⁰"Arius, king of the Spartans, sends greetings to Onias the high priest.

²¹A document has been found stating that the Spartans and the Jews are brothers; both nations descended from Abraham.

²²Now that we have learned this, kindly write to us about your welfare.

²³We, on our part, are informing you that your cattle and your possessions are ours, and ours are yours. We have, therefore, given orders that you should be told of this."

²⁴Jonathan heard that the generals of Demetrius had returned to attack him with a stronger army than before.

²⁵He set out from Jerusalem and went into the country of Hamath to meet them, giving them no time to enter his province.

²⁶The spies he had sent into their camp came back and reported that the enemy had made ready to attack the Jews that very night.

²⁷Therefore, when the sun set, Jonathan ordered his men to be on guard and to remain armed, ready for combat, throughout the night. He also set outposts all around the camp.

²⁸When the enemy heard that Jonathan and his men were ready for battle, their hearts sank with fear and dread. They lighted fires and then withdrew.

²⁹But because Jonathan and his men were watching the lights burning, they did not know what had happened until morning.

³⁰Then Jonathan pursued them, but he could not overtake them, for they had crossed the river Eleutherus.

³¹So Jonathan turned aside against the Arabs who are called Zabadeans, overwhelming and plundering them.

³²Then he marched on to Damascus and traversed that whole region.

³³Simon also set out and went as far as Ashkalon and its neighboring strongholds. He then turned to Joppa and occupied it,

³⁴for he heard that its men had intended to hand over this stronghold to the supporters of Demetrius. He left a garrison there to guard it.

³⁵When Jonathan returned, he assembled the elders of the people, and with them he made plans for building strongholds in Judea, ³⁶for making the walls of Jerusalem still higher, and for erecting a high barrier between the citadel and the city, that would isolate the citadel and so prevent its garrison from commerce with the city.

³⁷The people therefore worked together on building up the city, for part of the east wall above the ravine had collapsed. The quarter called Chaphenatha was also repaired.

³⁸Simon likewise built up Adida in the Shephelah, and strengthened its fortifications by providing them with gates and bars.

³⁹Trypho was determined to become king of Asia, assume the crown, and do away with King Antiochus.

⁴⁰But he was afraid that Jonathan would not permit him, but would fight against him. Looking for a way to seize and kill him, he set out and reached Beth-shan.

⁴¹Jonathan marched out against him with forty thousand picked fighting men and came to Beth-shan.

⁴²But when Trypho saw that Jonathan had arrived with a large army he was afraid to offer him violence.

⁴³Instead, he received him with honor, introduced him to all his friends, and gave him presents. He also ordered his friends and soldiers to obey him as they would himself.

⁴⁴Then he said to Jonathan: "Why have you put all your soldiers to so much trouble when we are not at war?"

⁴⁵Pick out a few men to stay with you, send the rest back home, and then come with me to Ptolemais. I will hand it over to you together with other strongholds and their garrisons, as well as the officials, then I will leave and go home. That is why I came here."

⁴⁶Jonathan believed him and did as he said. He dismissed his troops, and they returned to the land of Judah.

⁴⁷But he kept with him three thousand men, of whom he sent two thousand to Galilee while one thousand accompanied him.

⁴⁸Then as soon as Jonathan had entered Ptolemais, the men of the city closed the gates and seized him; all who had entered with him, they killed with the sword.

⁴⁹Trypho sent soldiers and cavalry to Galilee and the Great Plain to destroy all Jonathan's men.

⁵⁰These, upon learning that Jonathan had been captured and his companions killed, encouraged one another and went out in compact body ready to fight.

⁵¹As their pursuers saw that they were ready to fight for their lives, they turned back.

⁵²Thus all these men of Jonathan came safely into the land of Judah. They mourned over Jonathan and his men, and were in great fear, and all Israel fell into deep mourning.

⁵³All the nations round about sought to destroy them. They said, "Now that they have no leader to help them, let us make war on them and wipe out their memory from among men."

13 When Simon heard that Trypho was gathering a large army to invade and ravage the land of Judah,

²and saw that the people were in dread and terror, he went up to Jerusalem. There he assembled the people

³and exhorted them in these words: "You know what I, my brothers, and my father's house have done for the laws and the sanctuary; what battles and disasters we have been through.

⁴It was for the sake of these, for the sake of Israel, that all my brothers have perished, and I alone am left.

⁵Far be it from me, then, to save my own life in any time of distress, for I am not better than my brothers.

⁶Rather will I avenge my nation and the sanctuary, as well as your wives and children, for all the nations out of hatred have united to destroy us."

⁷As the people heard these words, their spirit was rekindled.

⁸They shouted in reply: "You are our leader in place of your brothers Judas and Jonathan.

⁹Fight our battles, and we will do everything that you tell us."

¹⁰So Simon mustered all the men able to fight, and quickly completing the walls of Jerusalem, fortified it on every side.

¹¹He sent Jonathan, son of Absalom, to Joppa with a large force; Jonathan drove out the occupants and remained there.

¹²Then Trypho moved from Ptolemais with a large army to invade the land of Judah, bringing Jonathan with him as a prisoner.

¹³But Simon pitched his camp at Adida, facing the plain.

¹⁴When Trypho learned that Simon had succeeded his brother Jonathan, and that he intended to fight him, he sent envoys to him with this message:

¹⁵"We have detained your brother Jonathan on account of the money that he owed the royal treasury in connection with the offices that he held.

¹⁶Therefore, if you send us a hundred talents of silver, and two of his sons as hostages to guarantee that when he is set free he will not revolt against us, we will release him."

¹⁷Although Simon knew that they were speaking deceitfully to him, he gave orders to get the money and the boys, for fear of provoking much hostility among the people, who might say

¹⁸that Jonathan perished because Simon would not send Trypho the money and the boys.

¹⁹So he sent the boys and the hundred talents; but Trypho broke his promise and would not let Jonathan go.

²⁰Next he began to invade and ravage the country. His troops went around by the road that leads to Adora, but Simon and his army moved along opposite him everywhere he went.

²¹The men in the citadel sent messengers to Trypho, urging him to come to them by way of the desert, and to send them provisions.

²²Although Trypho got all his cavalry ready to go, there was a heavy fall of snow that night, and he could not go. So he left for Gilead.

²³When he was approaching Baskama, he had Jonathan killed and buried there.

²⁴Then Trypho returned to his own country.

²⁵Simon sent for the remains of his brother Jonathan, and buried him in Modein, the city of his fathers.

²⁶All Israel bewailed him with solemn lamentation, mourning over him for many days.

²⁷Then Simon erected over the tomb of his father and his brothers a monument of stones, polished front and back, and raised high enough to be seen at a distance.

²⁸He set up seven pyramids facing one another for his father and his mother and his four brothers.

²⁹For the pyramids he devised a setting of big columns, on which he carved suits of armor as a perpetual memorial, and next to the armor he placed carved ships, which could be seen by all who sailed the sea.

³⁰This tomb which he built at Modein is there to the present day.

³¹Trypho dealt treacherously with the young King Antiochus. He killed him

³²and assumed the kingship in his place, putting on the crown of Asia. Thus he brought much evil on the land.

³³Simon, on his part, built up the strongholds of Judea, strengthening their fortifications with high towers, thick walls, and gates with bars, and he stored up provisions in the fortresses.

³⁴Simon also sent chosen men to King Demetrius with the request that he grant the land a release from taxation, for all that Trypho did was to plunder the land.

³⁵In reply, King Demetrius sent him the following letter:

³⁶"King Demetrius sends greetings to Simon the high priest, the friend of kings, and to the elders and the Jewish people.

³⁷We have received the gold crown and the palm branch that you sent. We are willing to be on most peaceful terms with you and to write to our official to grant you release from tribute.

³⁸Whatever we have guaranteed to you remains in force, and the strongholds that you have built shall remain yours.

³⁹We remit any oversights and defaults incurred up to now, as well as the crown tax that you owe. Any other tax that may have been collected in Jerusalem shall no longer be collected there.

⁴⁰If any of you are qualified for enrollment in our service, let them be enrolled. Let there be peace between us."

⁴¹Thus in the year one hundred and seventy, the yoke of the Gentiles was removed from Israel,

⁴²and the people began to write in their records and contracts, "In the first year of Simon, high priest, governor, and leader of the Jews."

⁴³In those days Simon besieged Gazara and surrounded it with troops. He made a siege machine, pushed it up against the city, and attacked and captured one of the towers.

⁴⁴The men who had been on the siege machine jumped down into the city and caused a great tumult there.

⁴⁵The men of the city, joined by their wives and children, went up on the wall, with their garments rent, and cried out in loud voices, begging Simon to grant them peace.

⁴⁶"Do not treat us according to our evil deeds," they said, "but according to your mercy."

⁴⁷So Simon came to terms with them and did not destroy them. He made them leave the city, however, and he purified the houses in which there were idols. Then he entered the city with hymns and songs of praise.

⁴⁸After removing from it everything that was impure, he settled there men who observed the law. He improved its fortifications and built himself a residence.

⁴⁹The men in the citadel in Jerusalem were prevented from going out into the country and back for the purchase of food; they suffered greatly from hunger, and many of them died of starvation.

⁵⁰They finally cried out to Simon for peace, and he gave them peace. He expelled them from the citadel and cleansed it of impurities.

⁵¹On the twenty-third day of the second month, in the year one hundred and seventy-one, the Jews entered the citadel with shouts of jubilation, waving of palm branches, the music of harps and cymbals and lyres, and the singing of hymns and canticles, because a great enemy of Israel had been destroyed.

⁵²Simon decreed that this day should be celebrated every year with rejoicing. He also strengthened the fortifications of the temple hill alongside the citadel, and he and his companions dwelt there.

⁵³Seeing that his son John was now a grown man, Simon made him commander of all his soldiers, with his residence in Gazara.

14 In the year one hundred and seventy-two, King Demetrius assembled his army and marched into Media to obtain help so that he could fight Trypho.

²When Arsaces, king of Persia and Media, heard that Demetrius had invaded his territory, he sent one of his generals to take him alive.

³The general went forth and defeated the army of Demetrius; he captured him and brought him to Arsaces, who put him in prison.

⁴The land was at rest all the days of Simon, who sought the good of his nation. His people were delighted with his power and his magnificence throughout his reign.

- ⁵As his crowning glory he captured the port of Joppa and made it a gateway to the isles of the sea.
- ⁶He enlarged the borders of his nation and gained control of the country.
- ⁷He took many enemies prisoners of war and made himself master of Gazara, Beth-zur, and the citadel. He cleansed the citadel of its impurities; there was no one to withstand him.
- ⁸The people cultivated their land in peace; the land yielded its produce and the trees of the field their fruit.
- ⁹Old men sat in the squares, all talking about the good times, while the young men wore the glorious apparel of war.
- ¹⁰He supplied the cities with food and equipped them with means of defense, till his glorious name reached the ends of the earth.
- ¹¹He brought peace to the land, and Israel was filled with happiness.
- ¹²Every man sat under his vine and his fig tree, with no one to disturb him.
- ¹³No one was left to attack them in their land; the kings in those days were crushed.
- ¹⁴He strengthened all the lowly among his people and was zealous for the law; he suppressed all the lawless and the wicked.
- ¹⁵He made the temple splendid and enriched its equipment.
- ¹⁶When people heard in Rome and even in Sparta that Jonathan had died, they were deeply grieved.
- ¹⁷But when the Romans heard that his brother Simon had been made high priest in his place and was master of the country and the cities,
- ¹⁸they sent him inscribed tablets of bronze to renew with him the friendship and alliance that they had established with his brothers Judas and Jonathan.
- ¹⁹These were read before the assembly in Jerusalem.

²⁰This is a copy of the letter that the Spartans sent: "The rulers and the citizens of Sparta send greetings to Simon the high priest, the elders, the priests, and the rest of the Jewish people, our brothers.

²¹The envoys you sent to our people have informed us of your glory and fame, and we were happy that they came.

²²In accordance with what they said we have recorded the following in the public decrees: Since Numenius, son of Antiochus, and Antipater, son of Jason, envoys of the Jews, have come to us to renew their friendship with us,

²³the people have voted to receive the men with honor, and to deposit a copy of their words in the public archives, so that the people of Sparta may have a record of them. A copy of this decree has been made for Simon the high priest."

²⁴After this, Simon sent Numenius to Rome with a great gold shield weighing a thousand minas, to confirm the alliance with the Romans.

²⁵When the people heard of these things, they said, "How can we thank Simon and his sons?

²⁶He and his brothers and his father's house have stood firm and repulsed Israel's enemies. They have thus preserved its liberty." So they made an inscription on bronze tablets, which they affixed to pillars on Mount Zion.

²⁷The following is a copy of the inscription: "On the eighteenth day of Elul, in the year one hundred and seventy-two, that is, the third year under Simon the high priest in Asaramel,

²⁸in a great assembly of priests, people, rulers of the nation, and elders of the country, the following proclamation was made:

²⁹"Since there have often been wars in our country, Simon, son of the priest Mattathias, descendant of Joarib, and his brothers have put themselves in danger and resisted the enemies of their nation, so that their sanctuary and law might be maintained, and they have thus brought great glory to their nation.

³⁰After Jonathan had rallied his nation and become their high priest, he was gathered to his kinsmen.

³¹When the enemies of the Jews sought to invade and devastate their country and to lay hands on their temple,

³²Simon rose up and fought for his nation, spending large sums of his own money to equip the men of his nation's armed forces and giving them their pay.

³³He fortified the cities of Judea, especially the frontier city of Beth-zur, where he stationed a garrison of Jewish soldiers, and where previously the enemy's arms had been stored.

³⁴He also fortified Joppa by the sea and Gazara on the border of Azotus, a place previously occupied by the enemy; these cities he resettled with Jews, and furnished them with all that was necessary for their restoration.

³⁵When the Jewish people saw Simon's loyalty and the glory he planned to bring to his nation, they made him their leader and high priest because of all he had accomplished and the loyalty and justice he had shown his nation. In every way he sought to exalt his people.

³⁶"In his time and under his guidance they succeeded in driving the Gentiles out of their country, especially those in the City of David in Jerusalem, who had built for themselves a citadel from which they used to sally forth to defile the environs of the temple and inflict grave injury on its purity.

³⁷In this citadel he stationed Jewish soldiers, and he strengthened its fortifications for the defense of the land and the city, while he also raised the wall of Jerusalem to a greater height.

³⁸Consequently, King Demetrius confirmed him in the high priesthood,

³⁹made him one of his Friends, and conferred the highest honors on him.

⁴⁰He had indeed heard that the Romans had addressed the Jews as friends, allies, and brothers and that they had received Simon's envoys with honor.

⁴¹"The Jewish people and their priest have, therefore, made the following decisions. Simon shall be their permanent leader and high priest until a true prophet arises.

⁴²He shall act as governor general over them, and shall have charge of the temple, to make regulations concerning its functions and concerning the country, its weapons and strongholds,

⁴³he shall be obeyed by all. All contracts made in the country shall be dated by his name. He shall have the right to wear royal purple and gold ornaments.

⁴⁴It shall not be lawful for any of the people or priests to nullify any of these decisions, or to contradict the orders given by him, or to convene an assembly in the country without his consent, to be clothed in royal purple or wear an official gold brooch.

⁴⁵Whoever acts otherwise or violates any of these prescriptions shall be liable to punishment.

⁴⁶"All the people approved of granting Simon the right to act in accord with these decisions,

⁴⁷and Simon accepted and agreed to act as high priest, governor general, and ethnarch of the Jewish people and priests and to exercise supreme authority over all."

⁴⁸It was decreed that this inscription should be engraved on bronze tablets, to be set up in a conspicuous place in the precincts of the temple,

⁴⁹and that copies of it should be deposited in the treasury, where they would be available to Simon and his sons.

15 Antiochus, son of King Demetrius, sent a letter from the islands of the sea to Simon, the priest and ethnarch of the Jews, and to all the nation, ²which read as follows: "King Antiochus sends greetings to Simon, the priest and ethnarch, and to the Jewish nation.

³Whereas certain villains have gained control of the kingdom of my ancestors, I intend to reclaim it, that I may restore it to its former state. I have recruited a large number of mercenary troops and equipped warships

⁴to make a landing in my country and take revenge on those who have ruined it and laid waste many cities in my realm.

⁵"Now, therefore, I confirm to you all the tax exemptions that the kings before me granted you and whatever other privileges they conferred on you.

⁶I authorize you to coin your own money, as legal tender in your country.

⁷Jerusalem and its temple shall be free. All the weapons you have prepared and all the strongholds you have built and now occupy shall remain in your possession.

⁸All debts, present or future, due to the royal treasury shall be canceled for you, now and for all time.

⁹When we recover our kingdom, we will greatly honor you and your nation and the temple, so that your glory will be manifest in all the earth."

¹⁰In the year one hundred and seventy-four Antiochus invaded the land of his ancestors, and all the troops rallied to him, so that few were left with Trypho.

¹¹Pursued by Antiochus, Trypho fled to Dor, by the sea,

¹²realizing what a mass of troubles had come upon him now that his soldiers had deserted him.

¹³Antiochus encamped before Dor with a hundred and twenty thousand infantry and eight thousand horsemen.

¹⁴While he invested the city, his ships closed in along the coast, so that he blockaded it by land and sea and let no one go in or out.

¹⁵Meanwhile, Numenius and his companions left Rome with letters such as this addressed to various kings and countries:

¹⁶"Lucius, Consul of the Romans, sends greetings to King Ptolemy.

¹⁷Certain envoys of the Jews, our friends and allies, have come to us to renew their earlier alliance of friendship. They had been sent by Simon the high priest and the Jewish people, ¹⁸and they brought with them a gold shield worth a thousand minas.

¹⁹Therefore we have decided to write to various kings and countries, that they are not to harm them, or wage war against them or their cities or their country, and are not to assist those who fight against them.

²⁰We have also decided to accept the shield from them.

²¹If, then, any troublemakers from their country take refuge with you, hand them over to Simon the high priest, so that he may punish them according to their law."

²²The consul sent similar letters to Kings Demetrius, Attalus, Ariarthes and Arsaces;

²³to all the countries--Sampsames, Sparta, Delos, Myndos, Sicyon, Caria, Samos, Pamphylia, Lycia, Halicarnassus, Rhodes, Phaselis, Cos, Side, Aradus, Gortyna, Cnidus, Cyprus, and Cyrene.

²⁴A copy of the letter was also sent to Simon the high priest.

²⁵When King Antiochus was encamped before Dor, he assaulted it continuously both with troops and with the siege machines he had made. He blockaded Trypho by preventing anyone from going in or out.

²⁶Simon sent to Antiochus' support two thousand elite troops, together with gold and silver and much equipment.

²⁷But he refused to accept the aid; in fact, he broke all the agreements he had previously made with Simon and became hostile toward him.

²⁸He sent Athenobius, one of his Friends, to confer with Simon and say: "You are occupying Joppa and Gazara and the citadel of Jerusalem; these are cities of my kingdom.

²⁹You have laid waste their territories, done great harm to the land, and taken possession of many districts in my realm.

³⁰Therefore, give up the cities you have seized and the tribute money of the districts outside the territory of Judea of which you have taken possession;

³¹or instead, pay me five hundred talents of silver for the devastation you have caused and five hundred talents more for the tribute money of the cities. If you do not do this, we will come and make war on you."

³²So Athenobius, the king's Friend, came to Jerusalem and on seeing the splendor of Simon's court, the gold and silver plate on the sideboard, and the rest of his rich display, he was amazed. When he gave him the king's message, ³³Simon said to him in reply: "We have not seized any foreign land; what we took is not the property of others, but our ancestral heritage which for a time had been unjustly held by our enemies.

³⁴Now that we have the opportunity, we are holding on to the heritage of our ancestors.

³⁵As for Joppa and Gazara, which you demand, the men of these cities were doing great harm to our people and laying waste our country; however, we are willing to pay you a hundred talents for these cities."

³⁶Athenobius made no reply, but returned to the king in anger. When he told him of Simon's words, of his splendor, and of all he had seen, the king fell into a violent rage.

³⁷Trypho had gotten aboard a ship and escaped to Orthosia.

³⁸Then the king appointed Cendebeus commander-in-chief of the seacoast, and gave him infantry and cavalry forces.

³⁹He ordered him to move his troops against Judea and to fortify Kedron and strengthen its gates, so that he could launch attacks against the Jewish people. Meanwhile the king went in pursuit of Trypho.

⁴⁰When Cendebeus came to Jamnia, he began to harass the people and to make incursions into Judea, where he took people captive or massacred them.

⁴¹As the king ordered, he fortified Kedron and stationed horsemen and infantry there, so that they could go out and patrol the roads of Judea.

16 John then went up from Gazara and told his father Simon what Cendebeus was doing.

²Simon called his two oldest sons, Judas and John, and said to them: "I and my brothers and my father's house have fought the battles of Israel from our youth until today, and many times we succeeded in saving Israel.

³I have now grown old, but you, by the mercy of Heaven, have come to man's estate. Take my place and my brother's, and go out and fight for our nation; and may the help of Heaven be with you!"

⁴John then mustered in the land twenty thousand warriors and horsemen. Setting out against Cendebeus, they spent the night at Modein, ⁵rose early, and marched into the plain. There, facing them, was an immense army of foot soldiers and horsemen, and between the two armies was a stream.

⁶ John and his men took their position against the enemy. Seeing that his men were afraid to cross the stream, John crossed first. When his men saw this, they crossed over after him.

⁷ Then he divided his infantry into two corps and put his cavalry between them, for the enemy's horsemen were very numerous.

⁸ They blew the trumpets, and Cendebeus and his army were put to flight; many of them fell wounded, and the rest fled toward the stronghold.

⁹ It was then that John's brother Judas fell wounded; but John pursued them until Cendebeus reached Kedron, which he had fortified.
