Ezekiel's Second Temple Vision

The 25th year of the Babylonian captivity (Ezek. 40:1) was perhaps April, 573 B.C. Nebuchadnezzar was still king, and the power of Babylon was growing greater each year. But to Ezekiel the turning point had already come, and he saw salvation arriving to replace Israel's shame and punishment. It is appropriate that Ezekiel, who would never forsake his priestly roots, should describe the ultimate salvation with a vision of a new, and better, temple.

Ezekiel's vision of the perfect temple is a companion piece to his earlier temple vision of chs. 8—11 (see "Ezekiel's Temple Vision" at Ezek. 8:1). In that vision, Ezekiel saw abominations and idolatry, and the vision concluded with the glory of God departing from the temple (Ezek. 11:22, 23). This time, Ezekiel sees only perfection. The crowning moment is when "the glory of the LORD came into the temple by way of the gate which faces toward the east . . . and behold, the glory of the LORD filled the temple" (Ezek. 43:4, 5).

Chapters 40—48, like chs. 38; 39, contain a great deal of symbolism. Most of the symbols seem to indicate the absolute perfection of the future temple, but more specific meanings are certainly possible. These chapters too, then, can be described as early "apocalyptic" writing (see "Ezekiel's Apocalyptic Prophecies" at Ezek. 38:1). In fact, the most extensive apocalyptic book in the Bible, the Book of Revelation, also contains an extended vision of a perfect temple in the future, phrased in language very similar to that of Ezekiel (Rev. 21).

These chapters, like chs. 38; 39 before them, are difficult to place chronologically. What temple is referred to here? If it is the actual rebuilt temple mentioned in Ezra 6:14–16, then the prophecy could be associated with that event. But the stunning, perfect temple described in this vision bears little resemblance to the disappointing structure mentioned at that time (see Ezra 3:12).

Perhaps, as is the case with the temple vision of Rev. 21, Ezek. 40—48 is a vision of a future perfection, to come at an unspecified end. Thus it is not intended as a blueprint for an earthly, physical fulfillment. Rather it pictures the purity and spiritual vitality of the ideal place of worship and those who will worship there. In this sense, Ezekiel's vision of the restored temple complements the message of his second, hopeful ministry.

A New City, a New Temple

40:1 In the twenty-fifth year of our captivity, at the beginning of the year, on the tenth day of the month, in the fourteenth year after the city was captured, on the very same day the hand of the LORD was upon me; and He took me there.<sup>2</sup> In the visions of God He took me into the land of Israel and set me on a very high mountain; on it toward the south was something like the structure of a city.<sup>3</sup> He took me there, and behold, there was a man whose appearance was like the appearance of bronze. He had a line of flax and a measuring rod in his hand, and he stood in the gateway.

<sup>4</sup>And the man said to me, "Son of man, look with your eyes and hear with your ears, and fix your mind on everything I show you; for you were brought here so that I might show them to you. Declare to the house of Israel everything you see."<sup>5</sup> Now there was a wall all around the outside of the temple.<sup>6</sup> In the man's hand was a measuring rod six cubits long, each being a cubit and a handbreadth; and he measured the width of the wall structure, one rod; and the height, one rod.

The Eastern Gateway of the Temple

<sup>6</sup>Then he went to the gateway which faced east; and he went up its stairs and measured the threshold of the gateway, which was one rod wide, and the other threshold was one rod wide.<sup>7</sup> Each gate chamber was one rod long and one rod wide; between the gate chambers was a space of five cubits; and the threshold of the gateway by the vestibule of the inside gate was one rod.<sup>8</sup> He also measured the vestibule of the inside gate, one rod.<sup>9</sup> Then he measured the vestibule of the gateway, eight cubits; and the gateposts, two cubits. The vestibule of the gate was on the inside.<sup>10</sup> In the eastern gateway were three gate chambers on one side and three on the other; the three were all the same size; also the gateposts were of the same size on this side and that side.

<sup>11</sup>He measured the width of the entrance to the gateway, ten cubits; and the length of the gate, thirteen cubits.<sup>12</sup> There was a space in front of the gate chambers, one cubit on this side and one cubit on that side; the gate chambers were six cubits on this side and six cubits on that side.<sup>13</sup> Then he measured the gateway from the roof of one gate chamber to the roof of the other; the width was twenty-five cubits, as door faces door.<sup>14</sup> He measured the gateposts, sixty cubits high, and the court all around the gateway extended to the gatepost.<sup>15</sup> From the front of the entrance gate to the front of the vestibule of the inner gate was fifty cubits. <sup>16</sup>There were beveled window frames in the gate chambers and in their intervening archways on the inside of the gateway all around, and likewise in the vestibules. There were windows all around on the inside. And on each gatepost were palm trees.

The Outer Court

<sup>17</sup>Then he brought me into the outer court; and there were chambers and a pavement made all around the court; thirty chambers faced the pavement. <sup>18</sup>The pavement was by the side of the gateways, corresponding to the length of the gateways; this was the lower pavement. <sup>19</sup>Then he measured the width from the front of the lower gateway to the front of the inner court exterior, one hundred cubits toward the east and the north.

The Northern Gateway

<sup>20</sup>On the outer court was also a gateway facing north, and he measured its length and its width. <sup>21</sup>Its gate chambers, three on this side and three on that side, its gateposts and its archways, had the same measurements as the first gate; its length was fifty cubits and its width twenty-five cubits. <sup>22</sup>Its windows and those of its archways, and also its palm trees, had the same measurements as the gateway facing east; it was ascended by seven steps, and its archway was in front of it. <sup>23</sup>A gate of the inner court was opposite the northern gateway, just as the eastern gateway; and he measured from gateway to gateway, one hundred cubits.

The Southern Gateway

<sup>24</sup>After that he brought me toward the south, and there a gateway was facing south; and he measured its gateposts and archways according to these same measurements. <sup>25</sup>There were windows in it and in its archways all around like those windows; its length was fifty cubits and its width twenty-five cubits. <sup>26</sup>Seven steps led up to it, and its archway was in front of them; and it had palm trees on its gateposts, one on this side and one on that side. <sup>27</sup>There was also a gateway on the inner court, facing south; and he measured from gateway to gateway toward the south, one hundred cubits.

Gateways of the Inner Court

<sup>28</sup>Then he brought me to the inner court through the southern gateway; he measured the southern gateway according to these same measurements. <sup>29</sup>Also its gate chambers, its gateposts, and its archways were according to these same measurements; there were windows in it and in its archways all around; it was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide. <sup>30</sup>There were archways all around, twenty-five cubits long and five cubits wide. <sup>31</sup>Its archways faced the outer court, palm trees were on its gateposts, and going up to it were eight steps.

<sup>32</sup>And he brought me into the inner court facing east; he measured the gateway according to these same measurements. <sup>33</sup>Also its gate chambers, its gateposts, and its archways were according to these same measurements; and there were windows in it and in its archways all around; it was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide. <sup>34</sup>Its archways faced the outer court, and palm trees were on its gateposts on this side and on that side; and going up to it were eight steps.

<sup>35</sup>Then he brought me to the north gateway and measured it according to these same measurements— <sup>36</sup>also its gate chambers, its gateposts, and its archways. It had windows all around; its length was fifty cubits and its width twenty-five cubits. <sup>37</sup>Its gateposts faced the outer court, palm trees were on its gateposts on this side and on that side, and going up to it were eight steps.

Where Sacrifices Were Prepared

<sup>38</sup>There was a chamber and its entrance by the gateposts of the gateway, where they washed the burnt offering. <sup>39</sup>In the vestibule of the gateway were two tables on this side and two tables on that side, on which to slay the burnt offering, the sin offering, and the trespass offering. <sup>40</sup>At the outer side of the vestibule, as one goes up to the entrance of the northern gateway, were two tables; and on the other side of the vestibule of the gateway were two tables. <sup>41</sup>Four tables were on this side and four tables on that side, by the side of the gateway, eight tables on which they slaughtered the sacrifices. <sup>42</sup>There were also four tables of hewn stone for the burnt offering, one cubit and a half long, one cubit and a half wide, and one cubit high; on these they laid the instruments with which they slaughtered the burnt offering and the sacrifice. <sup>43</sup>Inside were hooks, a handbreadth wide, fastened all around; and the flesh of the sacrifices was on the tables.

Chambers for Singers and Priests

<sup>44</sup>Outside the inner gate were the chambers for the singers in the inner court, one facing south at the side of the northern gateway, and the other facing north at the side of the southern gateway. <sup>45</sup>Then he said to me, “This chamber which faces south is for the priests who have charge of the temple. <sup>46</sup>The chamber which faces north is for the priests who have charge of the altar; these are the sons of Zadok, from the sons of Levi, who come near the LORD to minister to Him.”

Dimensions of the Inner Court and Vestibule

<sup>47</sup>And he measured the court, one hundred cubits long and one hundred cubits wide, foursquare. The altar was in front of the temple. <sup>48</sup>Then he brought me to the vestibule of the temple and measured the doorposts of the vestibule, five cubits on this side and five cubits on that side; and the width of the gateway was three cubits on this side and three cubits on that side. <sup>49</sup>The length of the vestibule was twenty cubits, and the width eleven cubits; and by the steps which led up to it there were pillars by the doorposts, one on this side and another on that side.

Dimensions of the Sanctuary

41 <sup>1</sup>Then he brought me into the sanctuary<sup>a</sup> and measured the doorposts, six cubits wide on one side and six cubits wide on the other side—the width of the tabernacle. <sup>2</sup>The width of the entryway was ten cubits, and the side walls of the entrance were five cubits on this side and five cubits on the other side; and he measured its length, forty cubits, and its width, twenty cubits.

<sup>3</sup>Also he went inside and measured the doorposts, two cubits; and the entrance, six cubits high; and the width of the entrance, seven cubits. <sup>4</sup>He measured the length, twenty cubits; and the width, twenty cubits, beyond the sanctuary; and he said to me, “This is the Most Holy Place.”

Architecture & Building

In the religions of the world a perfect square is a common shape for sacred areas. The square represents balance and rational order. This is the shape of the heavenly Jerusalem (Rev. 21:16).

The tabernacle and temple in Israel were rectangular, but the most sacred room was square in plan and a cube overall. In Ezekiel's vision the “holy areas” (Ezek. 42:20) are enclosed by walls forming a square.

The Side Chambers on the Wall

<sup>5</sup>Next, he measured the wall of the temple, six cubits. The width of each side chamber all around the temple was four cubits on every side. <sup>6</sup>The side chambers were in three stories, one above the other, thirty chambers in each story; they rested on ledges which were for the side chambers all around, that they might be supported, but not fastened to the wall of the temple. <sup>7</sup>As one went up from story to story, the side chambers became wider all around, because their supporting ledges in the wall of the temple ascended like steps; therefore the width of the structure increased as one went up from the lowest story to the highest by way of the middle one. <sup>8</sup>I also saw an elevation all around the temple; it was the foundation of the side chambers, a full rod, that is, six cubits high. <sup>9</sup>The thickness of the outer wall of the side chambers was five cubits, and so also the remaining terrace by the place of the side chambers of the temple. <sup>10</sup>And between it and the wall chambers was a width of twenty cubits all around the temple on every side. <sup>11</sup>The doors of the side chambers opened on the terrace, one door toward the north and another toward the south; and the width of the terrace was five cubits all around.

The Building at the Western End

<sup>12</sup>The building that faced the separating courtyard at its western end was seventy cubits wide; the wall of the building was five cubits thick all around, and its length ninety cubits.

Dimensions and Design of the Temple Area

<sup>13</sup>So he measured the temple, one hundred cubits long; and the separating courtyard with the building and its walls was one hundred cubits long; <sup>14</sup>also the width of the eastern face of the temple, including the separating courtyard, was one hundred cubits. <sup>15</sup>He measured the length of the building behind it, facing the separating courtyard, with its galleries on the one side and on the other side, one hundred cubits, as well as the inner temple and the porches of the court, <sup>16</sup>their doorposts and the beveled window frames. And the galleries all around their three stories opposite the threshold were paneled with wood from the ground to the windows—the windows were covered—<sup>17</sup>from the space above the door, even to the inner room,<sup>a</sup> as well as outside, and on every wall all around, inside and outside, by measure.

<sup>18</sup>And it was made with cherubim and palm trees, a palm tree between cherub and cherub. Each cherub had two faces, <sup>19</sup>so that the face of a man was toward a palm tree on one side, and the face of a young lion toward a palm tree on the other side; thus it was made throughout the temple all around. <sup>20</sup>From the floor to the space above the door, and on the wall of the sanctuary, cherubim and palm trees were carved.

DATES IN THE BOOK OF EZEKIEL

The prophecies in the Book of Ezekiel often provide a date. The dates are counted from the beginning of the exile in 597 B.C., when Nebuchadnezzar captured Jerusalem and carried King Jehoiachin to Babylon (2 Kin. 24:10–16). So each year is a “year in exile,” expressed as a certain “year of King Jehoiachin’s captivity” (Ezek. 1:2) or “year of our captivity” (Ezek. 33:21; 40:1). One exception is the 30th year of Ezek. 1:1, where “30” is probably Ezekiel’s age.

<sup>21</sup>The doorposts of the temple were square, as was the front of the sanctuary; their appearance was similar. <sup>22</sup>The altar was of wood, three cubits high, and its length two cubits. Its corners, its length, and its sides were of wood; and he said to me, “This is the table that is before the LORD.”

<sup>23</sup>The temple and the sanctuary had two doors. <sup>24</sup>The doors had two panels apiece, two folding panels: two panels for one door and two panels for the other door. <sup>25</sup>Cherubim and palm trees were carved on the doors of the temple just as they were carved on the walls. A wooden canopy was on the front of the vestibule outside. <sup>26</sup>There were beveled window frames and palm trees on one side and on the other, on the sides of the vestibule—also on the side chambers of the temple and on the canopies.

The Chambers for the Priests

42 <sup>1</sup>Then he brought me out into the outer court, by the way toward the north; and he brought me into the chamber which was opposite the separating courtyard, and which was opposite the building toward the north. <sup>2</sup>Facing the length, which was one hundred cubits (the width was fifty cubits), was the north door. <sup>3</sup>Opposite the inner court of twenty cubits, and opposite the pavement of the outer court, was gallery against gallery in three stories. <sup>4</sup>In front of the chambers, toward the inside, was a walk ten cubits wide, at a distance of one cubit; and their doors faced north. <sup>5</sup>Now the upper chambers were shorter, because the galleries took away space from them more than from the lower and middle stories of the building. <sup>6</sup>For they were in three stories and did not have pillars like the pillars of the courts; therefore the upper level was shortened more than the lower and middle levels from the ground up. <sup>7</sup>And a wall which was outside ran parallel to the chambers, at the front of the chambers, toward the outer court; its length was fifty cubits. <sup>8</sup>The length of the chambers toward the outer court was fifty cubits, whereas that facing the temple was one hundred cubits. <sup>9</sup>At the lower chambers was the entrance on the east side, as one goes into them from the outer court.

the separating courtyard and opposite the building. <sup>11</sup>There was a walk in front of them also, and their appearance was like the chambers which were toward the north; they were as long and as wide as the others, and all their exits and entrances were according to plan. <sup>12</sup>And corresponding to the doors of the chambers that were facing south, as one enters them, there was a door in front of the walk, the way directly in front of the wall toward the east.

<sup>13</sup>Then he said to me, “The north chambers and the south chambers, which are opposite the separating courtyard, are the holy chambers where the priests who approach the LORD shall eat the most holy offerings. There they shall lay the most holy offerings—the grain offering, the sin offering, and the trespass offering—for the place is holy. <sup>14</sup>When the priests enter them, they shall not go out of the holy chamber into the outer court; but there they shall leave their garments in which they minister, for they are holy. They shall put on other garments; then they may approach that which is for the people.”

Outer Dimensions of the Temple

<sup>15</sup>Now when he had finished measuring the inner temple, he brought me out through the gateway that faces toward the east, and measured it all around. <sup>16</sup>He measured the east side with the measuring rod,<sup>a</sup> five hundred rods by the measuring rod all around. <sup>17</sup>He measured the north side, five hundred rods by the measuring rod all around. <sup>18</sup>He measured the south side, five hundred rods by the measuring rod. <sup>19</sup>He came around to the west side and measured five hundred rods by the measuring rod. <sup>20</sup>He measured it on the four sides; it had a wall all around, five hundred cubits long and five hundred wide, to separate the holy areas from the common.

TRANSITION

The Glory of God Returns

In perhaps September, 592 B.C., Ezekiel received his first temple vision (Ezek. 8:1). At that time he saw the glory of God depart from the temple (11:22, 23). About 19 years later, perhaps in April, 573 B.C., Ezekiel saw in a second temple vision God's return. As God had left the old temple by the eastern gate, so now He returned by way of the same gate (43:1–5). The East Gate was the outer public entrance to the temple complex.

• Ezekiel 43:1—48:35

The Temple, the LORD's Dwelling Place

43 :1 Afterward he brought me to the gate, the gate that faces toward the east. <sup>2</sup>And behold, the glory of the God of Israel came from the way of the east. His voice was like the sound of many waters; and the earth shone with His glory. <sup>3</sup>It was like the appearance of the vision which I saw—like the vision which I saw when I<sup>a</sup> came to destroy the city. The visions were like the vision which I saw by the River Chebar; and I fell on my face. <sup>4</sup>And the glory of the LORD came into the temple by way of the gate which faces toward the east. <sup>5</sup>The Spirit lifted me up and brought me into the inner court; and behold, the glory of the LORD filled the temple.

<sup>6</sup>Then I heard Him speaking to me from the temple, while a man stood beside me. <sup>7</sup>And He said to me, “Son of man, this is the place of My throne and the place of the soles of My feet, where I will dwell in the midst of the children of Israel forever. No more shall the house of Israel defile My holy name, they nor their kings, by their harlotry or with the carcasses of their kings on their high places. <sup>8</sup>When they set their threshold by My threshold, and their doorpost by My doorpost, with a wall between them and Me, they defiled My holy name by the abominations which they committed; therefore I have consumed them in My anger. <sup>9</sup>Now let them put their harlotry and the carcasses of their kings far away from Me, and I will dwell in their midst forever.

<sup>10</sup>“Son of man, describe the temple to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their iniquities; and let them measure the pattern. <sup>11</sup>And if they are ashamed of all that they have done, make known to them the design of the temple and its arrangement, its exits and its entrances, its entire design and all its ordinances, all its forms and all its laws. Write it down in their sight, so that they may keep its whole design and all its ordinances, and perform them. <sup>12</sup>This is the law of the temple: The whole area surrounding the mountaintop is most holy. Behold, this is the law of the temple.

Dimensions of the Altar

<sup>13</sup>“These are the measurements of the altar in cubits (the cubit is one cubit and a handbreadth): the base one cubit high and one cubit wide, with a rim all around its edge of one span. This is the height of the altar: <sup>14</sup>from the base on the ground to the lower ledge, two cubits; the width of the ledge, one cubit; from the smaller ledge to the larger ledge, four cubits; and the width of the ledge, one cubit. <sup>15</sup>The altar hearth is four cubits high, with four horns extending upward from the hearth. <sup>16</sup>The altar hearth is twelve cubits long, twelve wide, square at its four corners; <sup>17</sup>the ledge, fourteen cubits long and fourteen wide on its four sides, with a rim of half a cubit around it; its base, one cubit all around; and its steps face toward the east.”

Consecrating the Altar

<sup>18</sup>And He said to me, “Son of man, thus says the Lord GOD: “These are the ordinances for the altar on the day when it is made, for sacrificing burnt offerings on it, and for sprinkling blood on it. <sup>19</sup>You shall give a young bull for a sin offering to the priests, the Levites, who are of the seed of Zadok, who approach Me to minister to Me,” says the Lord GOD. <sup>20</sup>You shall take some of its blood and put it on the four horns of the altar, on the four corners of the ledge, and on the rim around it; thus you shall cleanse it and make atonement for it. <sup>21</sup>Then you shall also take the bull of the sin offering, and burn it in the appointed place of the temple, outside the sanctuary. <sup>22</sup>On the second day you shall offer a kid of the goats without blemish for a sin offering; and they shall cleanse the altar, as they cleansed it with the bull. <sup>23</sup>When you have finished cleansing it, you shall offer a young bull without blemish, and a ram from the flock without blemish. <sup>24</sup>When you offer them before the LORD, the priests shall throw salt on them, and they will offer them up as a burnt offering to the LORD. <sup>25</sup>Every day for seven days you shall prepare a goat for a sin offering; they shall also prepare a young bull and a ram from the flock, both without blemish. <sup>26</sup>Seven days they shall make atonement for the altar and purify it, and so consecrate it. <sup>27</sup>When these days are over it shall be, on the eighth day and thereafter, that the priests shall offer your burnt offerings and your peace offerings on the altar; and I will accept you,” says the Lord GOD.”

The East Gate and the Prince

44 <sup>1</sup>Then He brought me back to the outer gate of the sanctuary which faces toward the east, but it was shut. <sup>2</sup>And the LORD said to me, “This gate shall be shut; it shall not be opened, and no man shall enter by it, because the LORD God of Israel has entered by it; therefore it shall be shut. <sup>3</sup>As for the prince, because he is the prince, he may sit in it to eat bread before the LORD; he shall enter by way of the vestibule of the gateway, and go out the same way.”

Those Admitted to the Temple

<sup>4</sup>Also He brought me by way of the north gate to the front of the temple; so I looked, and behold, the glory of the LORD filled the house of the LORD; and I fell on my face. <sup>5</sup>And the LORD said to me, “Son of man, mark well, see with your eyes and hear with your ears, all that I say to you concerning all the ordinances of the house of the LORD and all its laws. Mark well who may enter the house and all who go out from the sanctuary.

<sup>6</sup>Now say to the rebellious, to the house of Israel, “Thus says the Lord GOD: “O house of Israel, let Us have no more of all your abominations. <sup>7</sup>When you brought in foreigners, uncircumcised in heart and uncircumcised in flesh, to be in My sanctuary to defile it—My house—and when you offered My food, the fat and the blood, then they broke My covenant because of all your abominations. <sup>8</sup>And you have not kept charge of My holy things, but you have set others to keep charge of My sanctuary for you.” <sup>9</sup>Thus says the Lord GOD: “No foreigner, uncircumcised in heart or uncircumcised in flesh, shall enter My sanctuary, including any foreigner who is among the children of Israel.

East gate of Jerusalem.

Laws Governing Priests

<sup>10</sup>“And the Levites who went far from Me, when Israel went astray, who strayed away from Me after their idols, they shall bear their iniquity. <sup>11</sup>Yet they shall be ministers in My sanctuary, as gatekeepers of the house and ministers of the house; they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people, and they shall stand before them to minister to them. <sup>12</sup>Because they ministered to them before their idols and caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquity, therefore I have raised My hand in an oath against them,” says the Lord GOD, “that they shall bear their iniquity. <sup>13</sup>And they shall not come near Me to minister to Me as priest, nor come near any of My holy things, nor into the Most Holy Place; but they shall bear their shame and their abominations which they have committed. <sup>14</sup>Nevertheless I will make them keep charge of the temple, for all its work, and for all that has to be done in it.

<sup>15</sup>“But the priests, the Levites, the sons of Zadok, who kept charge of My sanctuary when the children of Israel went astray from Me, they shall come near Me to minister to Me; and they shall stand before Me to offer to Me the fat and the blood,” says the Lord GOD. <sup>16</sup>“They shall enter My sanctuary, and they shall come near My table to minister to Me, and they shall keep My charge. <sup>17</sup>And it shall be, whenever they enter the gates of the inner court, that they shall put on linen garments; no wool shall come upon them while they minister within the gates of the inner court or within the house. <sup>18</sup>They shall have linen turbans on their heads and linen trousers on their bodies; they shall not clothe themselves with anything that causes sweat. <sup>19</sup>When they go out to the outer court, to the outer court to the people, they shall take off their garments in which they have ministered, leave them in the holy chambers, and put on other garments; and in their holy garments they shall not sanctify the people.

Trade & Economics

Standard weights from the ancient world show many variations in size. The call for “honest scales” (Ezek. 45:10), however, would be satisfied by maintaining consistency within a certain region and by fair play on the part of sellers. Scales from the Roman world used a pan hanging from one end of a beam. Such scales have been recovered undamaged from the ruins of Pompeii.

<sup>23</sup>“And they shall teach My people the difference between the holy and the unholy, and cause them to discern between the unclean and the clean. <sup>24</sup>In controversy they shall stand as judges, and judge it according to My judgments. They shall keep My laws and My statutes in all My appointed meetings, and they shall hallow My Sabbaths.

<sup>25</sup>“They shall not defile themselves by coming near a dead person. Only for father or mother, for son or daughter, for brother or unmarried sister may they defile themselves. <sup>26</sup>After he is cleansed, they shall count seven days for him. <sup>27</sup>And on the day that he goes to the sanctuary to minister in the sanctuary, he must offer his sin offering in the inner court,” says the Lord GOD.

<sup>28</sup>“It shall be, in regard to their inheritance, that I am their inheritance. You shall give them no possession in Israel, for I am their possession. <sup>29</sup>They shall eat the grain offering, the sin offering, and the trespass offering; every dedicated thing in Israel shall be theirs. <sup>30</sup>The best of all firstfruits of any kind, and every sacrifice of any kind from all your sacrifices, shall be the priest’s; also you shall give to the priest the first of your ground meal, to cause a blessing to rest on your house. <sup>31</sup>The priests shall not eat anything, bird or beast, that died naturally or was torn by wild beasts.

The Holy District

45 <sup>1</sup>“Moreover, when you divide the land by lot into inheritance, you shall set apart a district for the LORD, a holy section of the land; its length shall be twenty-five thousand cubits, and the width ten thousand. It shall be holy throughout its territory all around. <sup>2</sup>Of this there shall be a square plot for the sanctuary, five hundred by five hundred rods, with fifty cubits around it for an open space. <sup>3</sup>So this is the district you shall measure: twenty-five thousand cubits long and ten thousand wide; in it shall be the sanctuary, the Most Holy Place. <sup>4</sup>It shall be a holy section of the land, belonging to the priests, the ministers of the sanctuary, who come near to minister to the LORD; it shall be a place for their houses and a holy place for the sanctuary. <sup>5</sup>An area twenty-five thousand cubits long and ten thousand wide shall belong to the Levites, the ministers of the temple; they shall have twenty chambers as a possession.<sup>a</sup>

Properties of the City and the Prince

<sup>6</sup>“You shall appoint as the property of the city an area five thousand cubits wide and twenty-five thousand long, adjacent to the district of the holy section; it shall belong to the whole house of Israel.

THE PRINCE IN THE TEMPLE (EZEK. 46:2)

In 586 B.C. the Babylonians destroyed the Jerusalem temple. As part of his prophecy of hope following this destruction, Ezekiel envisioned a new temple in a restored Jerusalem (Ezek. 40–48). The “glory of the LORD,” which had departed from the old temple (Ezek. 10:18, 19), returns to this new temple (Ezek. 43:1–5). Ezekiel then described to the people the design for the new temple, including the ordinances and laws related to it (Ezek. 43:10, 11).

A “prince” will rule in this restored Jerusalem. The prince will have certain prerogatives, such as owning special property in Jerusalem around the holy space of the temple (45:6, 7). More significantly, only the prince may enter the east gate (44:1–3), the gate through which God’s glory had reentered the temple (43:4).

The prince will be the civil ruler, but also a part of the religious organization. He will lead the people in their proper worship. During the Sabbath sacrifices, the prince offers burnt and peace sacrifices via the east gate, itself a large room, while the people look on from the outside (Ezek. 46:2). Additionally, the sacrificial duty of the prince extends to the monthly New Moon sacrifice (46:6, 7), as well as voluntary burnt and peace offerings (46:12).

Yet the prince must also be along when the people offer their sacrifices. The people are not free to roam in the temple courts; they enter via the north or south gate, escorted by the prince, and leave via the opposite gate (46:9, 10).

In the restored Jerusalem of Ezekiel’s vision, then, the prince combines in his own body the civic and the sacred role to maintain the city in purity and righteousness. He orders the life of the people around the temple, which again will be filled with the glory of the Lord.

<sup>7</sup>“The prince shall have a section on one side and the other of the holy district and the city’s property; and bordering on the holy district and the city’s property, extending westward on the west side and eastward on the east side, the length shall be side by side with one of the tribal portions, from the west border to the east border.

<sup>8</sup>The land shall be his possession in Israel; and My princes shall no more oppress My people, but they shall give the rest of the land to the house of Israel, according to their tribes.”

Laws Governing the Prince

<sup>9</sup>“Thus says the Lord GOD: “Enough, O princes of Israel! Remove violence and plundering, execute justice and righteousness, and stop dispossessing My people,” says the Lord GOD.

<sup>10</sup>“You shall have honest scales, an honest ephah, and an honest bath. <sup>11</sup>The ephah and the bath shall be of the same measure, so that the bath contains one-tenth of a homer, and the ephah one-tenth of a homer; their measure shall be according to the homer. <sup>12</sup>The shekel shall be twenty gerahs; twenty shekels, twenty-five shekels, and fifteen shekels shall be your mina.

part to give burnt offerings, grain offerings, and drink offerings, at the feasts, the New Moons, the Sabbaths, and at all the appointed seasons of the house of Israel. He shall prepare the sin offering, the grain offering, the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make atonement for the house of Israel.”

Keeping the Feasts

<sup>18</sup>“Thus says the Lord GOD: “In the first month, on the first day of the month, you shall take a young bull without blemish and cleanse the sanctuary. <sup>19</sup>The priest shall take some of the blood of the sin offering and put it on the doorposts of the temple, on the four corners of the ledge of the altar, and on the gateposts of the gate of the inner court. <sup>20</sup>And so you shall do on the seventh day of the month for everyone who has sinned unintentionally or in ignorance. Thus you shall make atonement for the temple.

<sup>21</sup>“In the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month, you shall observe the Passover, a feast of seven days; unleavened bread shall be eaten. <sup>22</sup>And on that day the prince shall prepare for himself and for all the people of the land a bull for a sin offering. <sup>23</sup>On the seven days of the feast he shall prepare a burnt offering to the LORD, seven bulls and seven rams without blemish, daily for seven days, and a kid of the goats daily for a sin offering. <sup>24</sup>And he shall prepare a grain offering of one ephah for each bull and one ephah for each ram, together with a hin of oil for each ephah.

<sup>25</sup>“In the seventh month, on the fifteenth day of the month, at the feast, he shall do likewise for seven days, according to the sin offering, the burnt offering, the grain offering, and the oil.”

The Manner of Worship

46 <sup>1</sup>Thus says the Lord GOD: “The gateway of the inner court that faces toward the east shall be shut the six working days; but on the Sabbath it shall be opened, and on the day of the New Moon it shall be opened. <sup>2</sup>The prince shall enter by way of the vestibule of the gateway from the outside, and stand by the gatepost. The priests shall prepare his burnt offering and his peace offerings. He shall worship at the threshold of the gate. Then he shall go out, but the gate shall not be shut until evening. <sup>3</sup>Like-wise the people of the land shall worship at the entrance to this gateway before the LORD on the Sabbaths and the New Moons. <sup>4</sup>The burnt offering that the prince offers to the LORD on the Sabbath day shall be six lambs without blemish, and a ram without blemish; <sup>5</sup>and the grain offering shall be one ephah for a ram, and the grain offering for the lambs, as much as he wants to give, as well as a hin of oil with every ephah. <sup>6</sup>On the day of the New Moon it shall be a young bull without blemish, six lambs, and a ram; they shall be without blemish. <sup>7</sup>He shall prepare a grain offering of an ephah for a bull, an ephah for a ram, as much as he wants to give for the lambs, and a hin of oil with every ephah. <sup>8</sup>When the prince enters, he shall go in by way of the vestibule of the gateway, and go out the same way.

<sup>9</sup>“But when the people of the land come before the LORD on the appointed feast days, whoever enters by way of the north gate to worship shall go out by way of the south gate; and whoever enters by way of the south gate shall go out by way of the north gate. He shall not return by way of the gate through which he came, but shall go out through the opposite gate. <sup>10</sup>The prince shall then be in their midst. When they go in, he shall go in; and when they go out, he shall go out. <sup>11</sup>At the festivals and the appointed feast days the grain offering shall be an ephah for a bull, an ephah for a ram, as much as he wants to give for the lambs, and a hin of oil with every ephah.

<sup>12</sup>“Now when the prince makes a voluntary burnt offering or voluntary peace offering to the LORD, the gate that faces toward the east shall then be opened for him; and he shall prepare his burnt offering and his peace offerings as he did on the Sabbath day. Then he shall go out, and after he goes out the gate shall be shut.

<sup>13</sup>“You shall daily make a burnt offering to the LORD of a lamb of the first year without blemish; you shall prepare it every morning. <sup>14</sup>And you shall prepare a grain offering with it every morning, a sixth of an ephah, and a third of a hin of oil to moisten the fine flour. This grain offering is a perpetual ordinance, to be made regularly to the LORD. <sup>15</sup>Thus they shall prepare the lamb, the grain offering, and the oil, as a regular burnt offering every morning.”

The Prince and Inheritance Laws

<sup>16</sup>Thus says the Lord GOD: “If the prince gives a gift of some of his inheritance to any of his sons, it shall belong to his sons; it is their possession by inheritance. <sup>17</sup>But if he gives a gift of some of his inheritance to one of his servants, it shall be his until the year of liberty, after which it shall return to the prince. But his inheritance shall belong to his sons; it shall become theirs. <sup>18</sup>Moreover the prince shall not take any of the people’s inheritance by evicting them from their property; he shall provide an inheritance for his sons from his own property, so that none of My people may be scattered from his property.” ’ ’ ”

How the Offerings Were Prepared

<sup>19</sup>Now he brought me through the entrance, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the priests which face toward the north; and there a place was situated at their extreme western end. <sup>20</sup>And he said to me, “This is the place where the priests shall boil the trespass offering and the sin offering, and where they shall bake the grain offering, so that they do not bring them out into the outer court to sanctify the people.”

<sup>21</sup>Then he brought me out into the outer court and caused me to pass by the four corners of the court; and in fact, in every corner of the court there was another court. <sup>22</sup>In the four corners of the court were enclosed courts, forty cubits long and thirty wide; all four corners were the same size. <sup>23</sup>There was a row of building stones all around in them, all around the four of them; and cooking hearths were made under the rows of stones all around. <sup>24</sup>And he said to me, “These are the kitchens where the ministers of the temple shall boil the sacrifices of the people.”

The Healing Waters and Trees

47 <sup>1</sup>Then he brought me back to the door of the temple; and there was water, flowing from under the threshold of the temple toward the east, for the front of the temple faced east; the water was flowing from under the right side of the temple, south of the altar. <sup>2</sup>He brought me out by way of the north gate, and led me around on the outside to the outer gateway that faces east; and there was water, running out on the right side.

the waters; the water came up to my knees. Again he measured one thousand and brought me through; the water came up to my waist.<sup>5</sup> Again he measured one thousand, and it was a river that I could not cross; for the water was too deep, water in which one must swim, a river that could not be crossed.<sup>6</sup> He said to me, “Son of man, have you seen this?” Then he brought me and returned me to the bank of the river.

<sup>7</sup>When I returned, there, along the bank of the river, were very many trees on one side and the other.<sup>8</sup> Then he said to me: “This water flows toward the eastern region, goes down into the valley, and enters the sea. When it reaches the sea, its waters are healed.<sup>9</sup> And it shall be that every living thing that moves, wherever the rivers go, will live. There will be a very great multitude of fish, because these waters go there; for they will be healed, and everything will live wherever the river goes.<sup>10</sup> It shall be that fishermen will stand by it from En Gedi to En Eglaim; they will be places for spreading their nets. Their fish will be of the same kinds as the fish of the Great Sea, exceedingly many.<sup>11</sup> But its swamps and marshes will not be healed; they will be given over to salt.<sup>12</sup> Along the bank of the river, on this side and that, will grow all kinds of trees used for food; their leaves will not wither, and their fruit will not fail. They will bear fruit every month, because their water flows from the sanctuary. Their fruit will be for food, and their leaves for medicine.”

Borders of the Land

<sup>13</sup>Thus says the Lord GOD: “These are the borders by which you shall divide the land as an inheritance among the twelve tribes of Israel. Joseph shall have two portions.<sup>14</sup> You shall inherit it equally with one another; for I raised My hand in an oath to give it to your fathers, and this land shall fall to you as your inheritance.

<sup>21</sup>“Thus you shall divide this land among yourselves according to the tribes of Israel.<sup>22</sup> It shall be that you will divide it by lot as an inheritance for yourselves, and for the strangers who dwell among you and who bear children among you. They shall be to you as native-born among the children of Israel; they shall have an inheritance with you among the tribes of Israel.<sup>23</sup> And it shall be that in whatever tribe the stranger dwells, there you shall give him his inheritance,” says the Lord GOD.

Division of the Land

direction of Hamath, there shall be one section for Dan from its east to its west side; <sup>2</sup>by the border of Dan, from the east side to the west, one section for Asher; <sup>3</sup>by the border of Asher, from the east side to the west, one section for Naphtali; <sup>4</sup>by the border of Naphtali, from the east side to the west, one section for Manasseh; <sup>5</sup>by the border of Manasseh, from the east side to the west, one section for Ephraim; <sup>6</sup>by the border of Ephraim, from the east side to the west, one section for Reuben; <sup>7</sup>by the border of Reuben, from the east side to the west, one section for Judah; <sup>8</sup>by the border of Judah, from the east side to the west, shall be the district which you shall set apart, twenty-five thousand cubits in width, and in length the same as one of the other portions, from the east side to the west, with the sanctuary in the center.

<sup>9</sup>“The district that you shall set apart for the LORD shall be twenty-five thousand cubits in length and ten thousand in width. <sup>10</sup>To these—to the priests—the holy district shall belong: on the north twenty-five thousand cubits in length, on the west ten thousand in width, on the east ten thousand in width, and on the south twenty-five thousand in length. The sanctuary of the LORD shall be in the center. <sup>11</sup>It shall be for the priests of the sons of Zadok, who are sanctified, who have kept My charge, who did not go astray when the children of Israel went astray, as the Levites went astray. <sup>12</sup>And this district of land that is set apart shall be to them a thing most holy by the border of the Levites.

<sup>13</sup>“Opposite the border of the priests, the Levites shall have an area twenty-five thousand cubits in length and ten thousand in width; its entire length shall be twenty-five thousand and its width ten thousand. <sup>14</sup>And they shall not sell or exchange any of it; they may not alienate this best part of the land, for it is holy to the LORD.

<sup>15</sup>“The five thousand cubits in width that remain, along the edge of the twenty-five thousand, shall be for general use by the city, for dwellings and common-land; and the city shall be in the center. <sup>16</sup>These shall be its measurements: the north side four thousand five hundred cubits, the south side four thousand five hundred, the east side four thousand five hundred, and the west side four thousand five hundred. <sup>17</sup>The common-land of the city shall be: to the north two hundred and fifty cubits, to the south two hundred and fifty, to the east two hundred and fifty, and to the west two hundred and fifty. <sup>18</sup>The rest of the length, alongside the district of the holy section, shall be ten thousand cubits to the east and ten thousand to the west. It shall be adjacent to the district of the holy section, and its produce shall be food for the workers of the city. <sup>19</sup>The workers of the city, from all the tribes of Israel, shall cultivate it. <sup>20</sup>The entire district shall be twenty-five thousand cubits by twenty-five thousand cubits, foursquare. You shall set apart the holy district with the property of the city.

The Gates of the City and Its Name

<sup>30</sup>“These are the exits of the city. On the north side, measuring four thousand five hundred cubits <sup>31</sup>(the gates of the city shall be named after the tribes of Israel), the three gates northward: one gate for Reuben, one gate for Judah, and one gate for Levi; <sup>32</sup>on the east side, four thousand five hundred cubits, three gates: one gate for Joseph, one gate for Benjamin, and one gate for Dan; <sup>33</sup>on the south side, measuring four thousand five hundred cubits, three gates: one gate for Simeon, one gate for Issachar, and one gate for Zebulun; <sup>34</sup>on the west side, four thousand five hundred cubits with their three gates: one gate for Gad, one gate for Asher, and one gate for Naphtali. <sup>35</sup>All the way around shall be eighteen thousand cubits; and the name of the city from that day shall be: THE LORD IS THERE.”<sup>a</sup>

Nebuchadnezzar's Siege of Tyre

After destroying Jerusalem in 586 B.C., Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, moved north and laid siege to the fortress city of Tyre. This was a formidable task, for not only was Tyre on an island, just off the coast, but it was a great seaport, able to supply itself from the sea. For 13 years, Nebuchadnezzar sought to bring it to heel, but without success. In 572 B.C. he gave up and lifted the siege.

The prophet Ezekiel had had much to say about Tyre in earlier years (Ezek. 27; 28). He had foretold the eventual humbling of Tyre's pride and the desolation of the city. In the 27th year of Jehoiachin's exile (possibly April, 571 B.C.; Ezek. 29:17), after Nebuchadnezzar had lifted the siege, Ezekiel received a new message. He declared that God would allow Nebuchadnezzar to conquer Egypt as a sort of consolation prize for his futile efforts at Tyre (29:17–21). While the prophecies against Egypt in Ezek. 30:1–19 are not dated specifically to this time, they can be understood as a further elaboration of this promise.

Babylonia Will Plunder Egypt

29:17 And it came to pass in the twenty-seventh year, in the first month, on the first day of the month, that the word of the LORD came to me, saying, <sup>18</sup>“Son of man, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon caused his army to labor strenuously against Tyre; every head was made bald, and every shoulder rubbed raw; yet neither he nor his army received wages from Tyre, for the labor which they expended on it. <sup>19</sup>Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: ‘Surely I will give the land of Egypt to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon; he shall take away her wealth, carry off her spoil, and remove her pillage; and that will be the wages for his army. <sup>20</sup>I have given him the land of Egypt for his labor, because they worked for Me,’ says the Lord GOD.

<sup>21</sup>In that day I will cause the horn of the house of Israel to spring forth, and I will open your mouth to speak in their midst. Then they shall know that I am the LORD.’”

Ezekiel 30:1–19

Egypt and Her Allies Will Fall

30:1 The word of the LORD came to me again, saying, <sup>2</sup>“Son of man, prophesy and say, ‘Thus says the Lord GOD:

“Wail, ‘Woe to the day!’

<sup>3</sup> For the day is near,
Even the day of the LORD is near;
It will be a day of clouds, the time of the Gentiles.

<sup>4</sup> The sword shall come upon Egypt,
And great anguish shall be in Ethiopia,
When the slain fall in Egypt,
And they take away her wealth,
And her foundations are broken down.

<sup>5</sup>“Ethiopia, Libya,<sup>a</sup> Lydia,<sup>b</sup> all the mingled people, Chub, and the men of the lands who are allied, shall fall with them by the sword.”

“Those who uphold Egypt shall fall,
And the pride of her power shall come down.
From Migdol to Syene
Those within her shall fall by the sword,”
Says the Lord GOD.

<sup>7</sup> “They shall be desolate in the midst of the desolate countries,
And her cities shall be in the midst of the cities that are laid waste.

<sup>8</sup> Then they will know that I am the LORD,
When I have set a fire in Egypt
And all her helpers are destroyed.

<sup>9</sup> On that day messengers shall go forth from Me in ships
To make the careless Ethiopians afraid,
And great anguish shall come upon them,
As on the day of Egypt;
For indeed it is coming!”

<sup>10</sup>Thus says the Lord GOD:

“I will also make a multitude of Egypt to cease
By the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon.

<sup>11</sup> He and his people with him, the most terrible of the nations,
Shall be brought to destroy the land;
They shall draw their swords against Egypt,
And fill the land with the slain.

<sup>12</sup> I will make the rivers dry,

Politics & Government

The Egyptians employed mercenary soldiers from the countries around them. Ethiopia was to the south, Libya to the west, and Lydia in what is today Turkey. “Chub” (Ezek. 30:5) is possibly another Hebrew term for Libya. The relative strength of Egypt and these countries fluctuated. There were periods when Egypt was ruled by Ethiopians as well as by Libyans.

EGYPT'S CITY OF SUN WORSHIP (EZEK. 30:17)

The prophet Ezekiel pronounced judgment upon several Egyptian cities, one by the name of “Aven” (Ezek. 30:17). In the Hebrew language, “Aven” is probably a different pronunciation for the Hebrew name “On.” On was an important Egyptian city in the Delta region. In patriarchal times, Joseph had married the daughter of the priest of On (Gen. 41:45). The city is now identified with Tell Hisn, a site in the northern suburbs of modern Cairo.

Although the city of On was never a major political center, the local priesthood wielded a strong religious influence throughout Egyptian history. On was known primarily for the worship of solar deities and, during Egypt's New Kingdom period (c. 1550–1069 B.C.), played a major role in Egyptian theology of the kingship. Kings were considered to be the image of the sun god on earth.

One of the most controversial monarchs of the New Kingdom, Pharaoh Akhenaten (1352–1336 B.C.), built a temple in honor of the sun disk at On. He introduced the worship of this object to Egypt, describing it as having the attributes of transcendence and even uniqueness. The sun worship so prominent in On is reflected in the later Greek name for the city: Heliopolis, meaning “city of the sun.” So also Jeremiah calls the city “Beth Shemesh” (Jer. 43:13), which in Hebrew means “house of the sun.”

The prophets Jeremiah and Ezekiel both prophesied of the Babylonian campaign against Egypt in 567 B.C. Jeremiah proclaims that Nebuchadnezzar would “break the sacred pillars of Beth Shemesh” (Jer. 43:10, 13); Ezekiel, that by Nebuchadnezzar's hand “the young men of Aven” would fall (Ezek. 30:10, 17). Both prophets spoke of Egypt's ancient city of On.

And sell the land into the hand of the wicked;
I will make the land waste, and all that is in it,
By the hand of aliens.
I, the LORD, have spoken.”

Prophetic Account: Hope for the Future

King Nebuchadnezzar died in 562 B.C. and was succeeded briefly by his son Amel-Marduk, or as the Bible spells it, Evil-Merodach. By this time the Neo-Babylonian Empire had reached its peak. It began to decline almost immediately in the rush of kings and usurpers that followed (see “Exile in Babylon” at Ezek. 33:1).

The prophetic account of the history of Israel led up to a climactic destruction. Jerusalem, the temple, the kingdom, and the unbroken line of Davidic kings had all come to an end. That prophetic history ends, though, with a faint note of hope: Jehoiachin, the rightful king of Judah who had been taken captive to Babylon, was released from prison. He assumed a place in the court of Evil-Merodach, where he “ate bread regularly before the king all the days of his life" (2 Kin. 25:29). The historical appendix to the Book of Jeremiah (Jer. 52:31–34) records that Jehoiachin remained in Babylon "until the day of his death" (52:34).

Jehoiachin's release came in the 37th year of his captivity (possibly March, 561 B.C.). As a hope for a restored Israel it was not much, and the picture of the Davidic king serving in a foreign king's court was hardly flattering to Israel's dignity. Still, the line of David was not completely cut off, which left some hope of eventual restoration. After all, David himself began by serving in another king's court (1 Sam. 16—20).

Isaiah and the Fall of Babylon

The prophet Isaiah, son of Amoz, lived during the Neo-Assyrian Empire, almost 200 years before the time of the Neo-Babylonian Empire (626–539 B.C.). Nevertheless, the Book of Isaiah records some prophecies (Is. 13:1—14:23; 21:1–17) in which Babylon's fall is described.

Some scholars suggest that these oracles refer to the Babylon of Isaiah's own day. During Assyria's rule in the 8th century B.C., Babylon was a continual thorn in the Assyrian side. The Babylonian ruler, Merodach-Baladan, twice managed to declare independence from Assyria (721–710 and 703–702 B.C.). The destruction of Babylon that Isaiah prophesies, then, would describe the assault of the Assyrian king Sargon in about 710 B.C., which put down Babylon's first rebellion. While this interpretation is surely possible, it seems odd. Merodach-Baladan was a guerrilla leader, who spent much of his time hiding in the swamps. As such, he bears little resemblance to the great, world ruler described in Is. 14.

Other scholars understand these oracles as referring to the later and much greater Babylon of Nebuchadnezzar and his successors in the 6th century B.C. This king of Babylon was the one "who made the earth tremble, who shook kingdoms" (Is. 14:16). The Medes (13:17; 21:2) contributed to this later Babylon's downfall. Israel would return from captivity in this Babylon (14:1, 2). All of these details fit the later Babylon far better than the earlier, and so these prophecies can be associated with the Neo-Babylonian Empire.

Although Is. 33—35 do not name Babylon, several strong indicators suggest reading these chapters in light of Babylon's destruction of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. and the aftermath of that event. In Is. 21 Babylon is called a plunderer (21:2, 9), and Is. 33:1 calls down woe on "the plunderer" in very similar language. Also, the judgments of Jer. 49:7–22 and Obadiah condemn Edom for its part in Nebuchadnezzar's destruction of Jerusalem. Reminiscent of these passages is Is. 34, which calls down a curse on Edom in "recompense for the cause of Zion" (34:8). Finally, the promise of Is. 35 that the "ransomed of the LORD" will return to Zion (35:10) makes the most sense when read in light of the Babylonian captivity.

Because these chapters of Isaiah fit the later time period so well, many have suggested that they were not prophesied by the 8th-century Isaiah at all. At the very least, some propose that Isaiah's original words were expanded by 6th-century editors to apply more closely to their own time (see "Isaiah and Cyrus the Persian" at Is. 40:1). Others, though, accept Isaiah as the author and treat these words as a foretelling of the distant future.

- 2 "Lift up a banner on the high mountain,
Raise your voice to them;
Wave your hand, that they may enter the gates of the nobles.
- 3 I have commanded My sanctified ones;
I have also called My mighty ones for My anger—
Those who rejoice in My exaltation."
- 4 The noise of a multitude in the mountains,

- Like that of many people!
A tumultuous noise of the kingdoms of nations gathered together!
The LORD of hosts musters
The army for battle.
- 5 They come from a far country,
From the end of heaven—
The LORD and His weapons of indignation,
To destroy the whole land.
- 6 Wail, for the day of the LORD is at hand!
It will come as destruction from the Almighty.
- 7 Therefore all hands will be limp,
Every man's heart will melt,
- 8 And they will be afraid.
Pangs and sorrows will take hold of them;
They will be in pain as a woman in childbirth;
They will be amazed at one another;
Their faces will be like flames.
- 9 Behold, the day of the LORD comes,
Cruel, with both wrath and fierce anger,
To lay the land desolate;
And He will destroy its sinners from it.
- 10 For the stars of heaven and their constellations
Will not give their light;
The sun will be darkened in its going forth,
And the moon will not cause its light to shine.
- 11 "I will punish the world for its evil,
And the wicked for their iniquity;
I will halt the arrogance of the proud,
And will lay low the haughtiness of the terrible.
- 12 I will make a mortal more rare than fine gold,
A man more than the golden wedge of Ophir.
- 13 Therefore I will shake the heavens,
And the earth will move out of her place,

EVIL-MERODACH EXTENDS GOODWILL (JER. 52:31)

Evil-Merodach ruled from 562 to 560 B.C. as the third king of the Chaldean dynasty of Babylon. His Accadian name, Amel-Marduk, means "man of Marduk." Little is known of his short reign, which was quite different from that of his famous father, Nebuchadnezzar II, whom he succeeded. Nebuchadnezzar conducted several campaigns, including the conquering of Jerusalem, while no military engagements of Evil-Merodach are recorded in the known ancient literature.

The only mention of Evil-Merodach in the Bible appears in two virtually identical references to the release of King Jehoiachin of Judah (2 Kin. 25:27; Jer. 52:31). Jehoiachin was taken captive and exiled to Babylon in 597 B.C. by Nebuchadnezzar II. The historian of the books of Kings dates Jehoiachin's release to the 37th year of his captivity, which is usually reckoned as March, 561 B.C. Evil-Merodach did not allow the Judean king to leave, but rather placed him under house arrest, while treating him kindly (2 Kin. 25:28–30).

Greek, Jewish, and Latin sources later than the Bible have more to say about Evil-Merodach. Unfortunately, much of this material is probably more legendary than actual. Some of the stories about Evil-Merodach come from Jewish midrash, which is extensive Jewish commentary on biblical passages. The Babylonian chronicler Berossus does write that Evil-Merodach was assassinated soon after he released Jehoiachin.

In the wrath of the LORD of hosts
 And in the day of His fierce anger.
 14 It shall be as the hunted gazelle,
 And as a sheep that no man takes up;
 Every man will turn to his own people,
 And everyone will flee to his own land.
 15 Everyone who is found will be thrust through,
 And everyone who is captured will fall by the sword.
 16 Their children also will be dashed to pieces
 before their eyes;
 Their houses will be plundered
 And their wives ravished.

17 “Behold, I will stir up the Medes against
 them,
 Who will not regard silver;
 And as for gold, they will not delight in it.
 18 Also their bows will dash the young men to pieces,
 And they will have no pity on the fruit of the womb;
 Their eye will not spare children.
 19 And Babylon, the glory of kingdoms,
 The beauty of the Chaldeans’ pride,
 Will be as when God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah.
 20 It will never be inhabited,
 Nor will it be settled from generation to generation;
 Nor will the Arabian pitch tents there,
 Nor will the shepherds make their sheepfolds there.
 21 But wild beasts of the desert will lie there,
 And their houses will be full of owls;
 Ostriches will dwell there,
 And wild goats will caper there.

 And her days will not be prolonged.”

Mercy on Jacob

14 <sup>1</sup>For the LORD will have mercy on Jacob, and will still choose Israel, and settle them in their own land. The strangers will be joined with them, and they will cling to the house of Jacob. <sup>2</sup>Then people will take them and bring them to their place, and the house of Israel will possess them for servants and maids in the land of the LORD; they will take them captive whose captives they were, and rule over their oppressors.

Geography & Environment

In the ancient world, the values of life were largely experienced through personal relations and group activities. So isolated areas, such as deserts, and the animals found there were viewed with distaste and fear. The ostrich (Is. 13:21) is fitted for desert life. It eats coarse food and can go for a long time without water. Its head, neck, and legs have no feathers, helping it remain cool in the desert climate.

Fall of the King of Babylon

<sup>3</sup>It shall come to pass in the day the LORD gives you rest from your sorrow, and from your fear and the hard bondage in which you were made to serve, <sup>4</sup>that you will take up this proverb against the king of Babylon, and say:

“How the oppressor has ceased,
 The golden<sup>a</sup> city ceased!
 5 The LORD has broken the staff of the wicked,
 The scepter of the rulers;
 6 He who struck the people in wrath with a continual stroke,
 He who ruled the nations in anger,
 Is persecuted and no one hinders.
 7 The whole earth is at rest and quiet;
 They break forth into singing.
 8 Indeed the cypress trees rejoice over you,
And the cedars of Lebanon,
Saying, “Since you were cut down,
 No woodsman has come up against us.”
 9 “Hell from beneath is excited about you,
 To meet you at your coming;
 It stirs up the dead for you,
 All the chief ones of the earth;
 It has raised up from their thrones
 All the kings of the nations.
 10 They all shall speak and say to you:
 ‘Have you also become as weak as we?
 Have you become like us?’

A FAILED ASSAULT ON HEAVEN (Is. 14:12–15)

The prophet Isaiah uses mythological language in a proverb mocking the king of Babylon (Is. 14:4, 22). His references to the Day Star, the ascent into heaven, the mount of the congregation, and to Sheol (or the Pit) would all have been familiar to his readers from the myths of the ancient Near East.

The name “Lucifer” (Is. 14:12) is a Latin translation of the Hebrew word helel, meaning “shining one.” Lucifer refers to the Day Star, Venus, and the prophet further identifies him as “son of the morning” (14:12). Similar language appears with the Ugaritic deities Shahar and Shalim. Shahar was the god of dawn or morning; Shalim, the god of dusk or evening. In another Ugaritic text, Shahar (morning) appears together with Athtar, the star deity who is also identified with Venus. So the ancient myths possibly had made Isaiah’s readers familiar with the Day Star whose father was the god of morning.

Isaiah’s taunt of the Day Star for wanting to ascend into heaven (14:13) may reflect the Ugaritic myth of Athtar, the Venus star deity. Athtar attempts to ascend to the throne of Baal, but is not able and is forced to return to his own, lower position in the pantheon. Athtar was not storming heaven, only sitting on the vacated throne of Baal. He excuses himself from the position upon realizing that he is too small. Nevertheless, a Day Star ascending to heaven was known in Canaanite myth.

In Isaiah’s proverb, the Day Star desires to sit on “the mount of the congregation” located “on the farthest sides of the north” (14:13). Similarly, Canaanite myths spoke of the mountain home of Baal on Saphon (the Hebrew word translated “north”), and also of a mount of assembly.

In Isaiah’s proverb, the Day Star fails to ascend to heaven and is brought down to Sheol, the netherworld also called the Pit (14:15). Similarly in ancient Near Eastern mythology gods could die and be sent to Mot’s netherworld. The reason that Baal’s throne was vacant in the Ugaritic myth was that Mot had vanquished Baal and taken him to the realm of the dead.

- 11 Your pomp is brought down to Sheol,
And the sound of your stringed instruments;
The maggot is spread under you,
And worms cover you.’

The Fall of Lucifer

- 12 “How you are fallen from heaven,
O Lucifer,<sup>a</sup> son of the morning!
How you are cut down to the ground,
You who weakened the nations!
13 For you have said in your heart:
‘I will ascend into heaven,
I will exalt my throne above the stars of God;
I will also sit on the mount of the congregation
On the farthest sides of the north;
14 I will ascend above the heights of the clouds,
I will be like the Most High.’
15 Yet you shall be brought down to Sheol,
To the lowest depths of the Pit.
16 “Those who see you will gaze at you,
And consider you, saying:

- ‘Is this the man who made the earth tremble,
Who shook kingdoms,
17 Who made the world as a wilderness
And destroyed its cities,
Who did not open the house of his prisoners?’
18 “All the kings of the nations,
All of them, sleep in glory,
Everyone in his own house;
19 But you are cast out of your grave
Like an abominable branch,
Like the garment of those who are slain,
Thrust through with a sword,
Who go down to the stones of the pit,
Like a corpse trodden underfoot.
20 You will not be joined with them in burial,
Because you have destroyed your land
And slain your people.
The brood of evildoers shall never be named.
21 Prepare slaughter for his children
Because of the iniquity of their fathers,
Lest they rise up and possess the land,
And fill the face of the world with cities.”

Babylon Destroyed

- 22 “For I will rise up against them,” says the LORD of hosts,
“And cut off from Babylon the name and remnant,
And offspring and posterity,” says the LORD.
23 “I will also make it a possession for the porcupine,
And marshes of muddy water;

Beliefs & Ideas

The planet Venus was an important subject for ancient mythology. It is bright when it rises, but, when the sun comes up, Venus becomes invisible like any other star. The prophet mocks the king of Babylon, calling him “Lucifer” (Is. 14:12), a translation of the Hebrew word for the Day Star Venus. The king was trying to rival God, like Venus tried to rival the sun, and the prophet rebuked him in these terms.

The Fall of Babylon Proclaimed

21 :1 The burden against the Wilderness of the Sea.

As whirlwinds in the South pass through,
So it comes from the desert, from a terrible land.

The treacherous dealer deals treacherously,
And the plunderer plunders.
Go up, O Elam!
Besiege, O Media!
All its sighing I have made to cease.

<sup>3</sup> Therefore my loins are filled with pain;
Pangs have taken hold of me, like the pangs of a woman in labor.
I was distressed when I heard it;
I was dismayed when I saw it.
<sup>4</sup> My heart wavered, fearfulness frightened me;
The night for which I longed He turned into fear for me.

Set a watchman in the tower,
Eat and drink.
Arise, you princes,
Anoint the shield!

<sup>6</sup> For thus has the Lord said to me:
“Go, set a watchman,
Let him declare what he sees.”

<sup>7</sup> And he saw a chariot with a pair of horsemen,
A chariot of donkeys, and a chariot of camels,
And he listened earnestly with great care.
I stand continually on the watchtower in the daytime;

I have sat at my post every night.
<sup>9</sup> And look, here comes a chariot of men with a pair of horsemen!”
Then he answered and said,
“Babylon is fallen, is fallen!
And all the carved images of her gods
He has broken to the ground.”

That which I have heard from the LORD of hosts,

The God of Israel,
I have declared to you.

With their bread they met him who fled.
<sup>15</sup> For they fled from the swords, from the drawn sword,
From the bent bow, and from the distress of war.

<sup>16</sup>For thus the LORD has said to me: “Within a year, according to the year of a hired man, all the glory of Kedar will fail; <sup>17</sup>and the remainder of the number of archers, the mighty men of the people of Kedar, will be diminished; for the LORD God of Israel has spoken it.”

Geography & Environment

Lebanon is on the Mediterranean coast north of Israel. Although it is a very small country, it includes a wide range of climates and is famous even today for the quality and variety of its fruits and vegetables. Apples, cherries, bananas, and oranges are all grown in Lebanon. The prophet warned of the destruction of this rich vegetation (Is. 33:9).

- 12 And the people shall be like the burnings of lime;
Like thorns cut up they shall be burned in the fire.
- 13 Hear, you who are afar off, what I have

LILITH, A DEADLY DEMON (Is. 34:14)

The prophet Isaiah describes the total desolation which God would visit upon Edom for its hostility to God (Is. 34:2, 5). Among the descriptions of God's wrath is the sole reference in Scripture to a well-known Mesopotamian demon—Lilith.

Later Jewish tradition connected the name "Lilith" with the Hebrew word for "night," giving the traditional English translation "night creature" (Is. 34:14). However as a Mesopotamian name, "Lilith" comes from the Sumerian word lil, meaning "wind" (or "spirit").

The earliest records and amulets from Mesopotamia show that people there feared the Lilu, a group of particularly malevolent demons. Lilith herself was believed to attack both babies and mothers in childbirth, eating their flesh and sucking their blood. The only protection from the Lilu was to call upon the king of demons for help.

Jewish inscriptions and amulets describe Lilith in a similar fashion, but with additional features. She was known as a woman with long hair and wings, attacking men who slept alone. Jewish incantation bowls have been found which petition God to defeat and bind Lilith as she seeks her human prey.

For Isaiah, and his listeners, the threat of Lilith finding "a place of rest" (Is. 34:14) amongst humans was nothing but terrifying. Where once the Edomite cities housed wisdom and life and cultured society, there would now be wasteland. Edom would become uninhabitable, the domain of wild animals and wild beasts. The nobility that once led the land would be gone (34:12). No human would dare to dwell in the area (34:10), for Lilith insures its perpetual desolation.

The LORD is our Lawgiver,
The LORD is our King;
He will save us);
23 Your tackle is loosed,
They could not strengthen their mast,
They could not spread the sail.

Then the prey of great plunder is divided;
The lame take the prey.
24 And the inhabitant will not say, "I am sick";
The people who dwell in it will be forgiven
their iniquity.

Judgment on the Nations

34<sup>1</sup> Come near, you nations, to hear;
And heed, you people!
Let the earth hear, and all that is in it,
The world and all things that come forth from it.
2 For the indignation of the LORD is against all nations,
And His fury against all their armies;
He has utterly destroyed them,
He has given them over to the slaughter.
3 Also their slain shall be thrown out;
Their stench shall rise from their corpses,
And the mountains shall be melted with their blood.
4 All the host of heaven shall be dissolved,
And the heavens shall be rolled up like a scroll;
All their host shall fall down
As the leaf falls from the vine,
And as fruit falling from a fig tree.

5 "For My sword shall be bathed in heaven;
Indeed it shall come down on Edom,

And on the people of My curse, for judgment.
6 The sword of the LORD is filled with blood,
It is made overflowing with fatness,
With the blood of lambs and goats,
With the fat of the kidneys of rams.
For the LORD has a sacrifice in Bozrah,
And a great slaughter in the land of Edom.
7 The wild oxen shall come down with them,
And the young bulls with the mighty bulls;
Their land shall be soaked with blood,
And their dust saturated with fatness."

8 For it is the day of the LORD's vengeance,
The year of recompense for the cause of Zion.
9 Its streams shall be turned into pitch,
And its dust into brimstone;
Its land shall become burning pitch.
10 It shall not be quenched night or day;
Its smoke shall ascend forever.

 Also the owl and the raven shall dwell in it.
 And He shall stretch out over it
 The line of confusion and the stones of emptiness.

12 They shall call its nobles to the kingdom,
 But none shall be there, and all its princes shall be nothing.

13 And thorns shall come up in its palaces,

 It shall be a habitation of jackals,
 A courtyard for ostriches.

 And the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped.

6 Then the lame shall leap like a deer,
 And the tongue of the dumb sing.
 For waters shall burst forth in the wilderness,
 And streams in the desert.

7 The parched ground shall become a pool,
 And the thirsty land springs of water;
 In the habitation of jackals, where each lay,
There shall be grass with reeds and rushes.

8 A highway shall be there, and a road,
 And it shall be called the Highway of Holiness.
 The unclean shall not pass over it,
 But it shall be for others.
 Whoever walks the road, although a fool,
 Shall not go astray.

9 No lion shall be there,
 Nor shall any ravenous beast go up on it;
 It shall not be found there.
 But the redeemed shall walk there,

10 And the ransomed of the LORD shall return,
 And come to Zion with singing,
 With everlasting joy on their heads.
 They shall obtain joy and gladness,
 And sorrow and sighing shall flee away.

Daniel and Belshazzar

Babylon's might declined fastest during the reign of Nabonidus (556–539 B.C.), who left the city of Babylon to live in an oasis in the Arabian desert and worship the moon god Sin (see “Exile in Babylon” at Ezek. 33:1). His son, Bel-shar-usur, was left as regent over the city of Babylon.

The Book of Daniel, which spells Bel-shar-usur as “Belshazzar,” refers to Nebuchadnezzar as Belshazzar’s father (Dan. 5:2). This could be a metaphorical reference to Nebuchadnezzar as the father (or founder) of the kingdom; Belshazzar was not even related to Nebuchadnezzar. Daniel also calls Belshazzar “king” (5:1), which he never was officially. Still, while his father Nabonidus was absent, he was the closest thing to a king that Babylon had.

Belshazzar served as coregent in Babylon for his father Nabonidus sometime around 545 B.C. Nothing more is heard of Belshazzar after 543 B.C., when Nabonidus returned from Arabian Tema and took sole control of Babylon. Daniel's contempt for this "king," as well as the unflattering comparison made between Belshazzar and the great Nebuchadnezzar (Dan. 5:18–22), suggest that Nabonidus's son was far from deserving his borrowed title.

Belshazzar's Feast

5:1 Belshazzar the king made a great feast for a thousand of his lords, and drank wine in the presence of the thousand. <sup>2</sup>While he tasted the wine, Belshazzar gave the command to bring the gold and silver vessels which his father Nebuchadnezzar had taken from the temple which had been in Jerusalem, that the king and his lords, his wives, and his concubines might drink from them. <sup>3</sup>Then they brought the gold vessels that had been taken from the temple of the house of God which had been in Jerusalem; and the king and his lords, his wives, and his concubines drank from them. <sup>4</sup>They drank wine, and praised the gods of gold and silver, bronze and iron, wood and stone.

soothsayers. The king spoke, saying to the wise men of Babylon, "Whoever reads this writing, and tells me its interpretation, shall be clothed with purple and have a chain of gold around his neck; and he shall be the third ruler in the kingdom." <sup>8</sup>Now all the king's wise men came, but they could not read the writing, or make known to the king its interpretation. <sup>9</sup>Then King Belshazzar was greatly troubled, his countenance was changed, and his lords were astonished.

<sup>10</sup>The queen, because of the words of the king and his lords, came to the banquet hall. The queen spoke, saying, "O king, live forever! Do not let your thoughts trouble you, nor let your countenance change. <sup>11</sup>There is a man in your kingdom in whom is the Spirit of the Holy God. And in the days of your father, light and understanding and wisdom, like the wisdom of the gods, were found in him; and King Nebuchadnezzar your father—your father the king—made him chief of the magicians, astrologers, Chaldeans, and soothsayers. <sup>12</sup>Inasmuch as an excellent spirit, knowledge, understanding, interpreting dreams, solving riddles, and explaining enigmas<sup>a</sup> were found in this Daniel, whom the king named Belteshazzar, now let Daniel be called, and he will give the interpretation."

The Writing on the Wall Explained

<sup>13</sup>Then Daniel was brought in before the king. The king spoke, and said to Daniel, "Are you that Daniel who is one of the captives<sup>a</sup> from Judah, whom my father the king brought from Judah? <sup>14</sup>I have heard of you, that the Spirit of God is in you, and that light and understanding and excellent wisdom are found in you. <sup>15</sup>Now the wise men, the astrologers, have been brought in before me, that they should read this writing and make known to me its interpretation, but they could not give the interpretation of the thing. <sup>16</sup>And I have heard of you, that you can give interpretations and explain enigmas. Now if you can read the writing and make known to me its interpretation, you shall be clothed with purple and have a chain of gold around your neck, and shall be the third ruler in the kingdom.”

<sup>17</sup>Then Daniel answered, and said before the king, “Let your gifts be for yourself, and give your rewards to another; yet I will read the writing to the king, and make known to him the interpretation. <sup>18</sup>O king, the Most High God gave Nebuchadnezzar your father a kingdom and majesty, glory and honor. <sup>19</sup>And because of the majesty that He gave him, all peoples, nations, and languages trembled and feared before him. Whomever he wished, he executed; whomever he wished, he kept alive; whomever he wished, he set up; and whomever he wished, he put down. <sup>20</sup>But when his heart was lifted up, and his spirit was hardened in pride, he was deposed from his kingly throne, and they took his glory from him. <sup>21</sup>Then he was driven from the sons of men, his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wild donkeys. They fed him with grass like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven, till he knew that the Most High God rules in the kingdom of men, and appoints over it whomever He chooses.

<sup>22</sup>“But you his son, Belshazzar, have not humbled your heart, although you knew all this. <sup>23</sup>And you have lifted yourself up against the Lord of heaven. They have brought the vessels of His house before you, and you and your lords, your wives and your concubines, have drunk wine from them. And you have praised the gods of silver and gold, bronze and iron, wood and stone, which do not see or hear or know; and the God who holds your breath in His hand and owns all your ways, you have not glorified. <sup>24</sup>Then the fingers<sup>a</sup> of the hand were sent from Him, and this writing was written.

TRANSITION

Isaiah and Cyrus the Persian

The Babylon of King Nabonidus began to totter. In 550 B.C. Cyrus the Persian captured Ecbatana, the capital of the Median Empire, and began to look south toward Babylon. To a Babylonian population disgusted with the absentee king Nabonidus and his coregent Belshazzar, the prospect of a Persian conquest was quite attractive. In 539 B.C. Cyrus would march into Babylon as a conqueror, greeted by shouts of joy from the conquered.

The latter chapters of the Book of Isaiah have for centuries been recognized as different from the earlier chapters (see “The Book of Isaiah” at Is. 6:1). The language and style of Is. 40—55 are distinct, but the most remarkable difference is the tone. Whereas Is. 1—39 had spoken almost exclusively of judgment and disaster, the new section begins with God’s call: “Comfort, yes, comfort My people!” (40:1). These chapters declare not judgment but salvation, hope, and restoration.

It is not difficult to identify when this salvation is to be: Israel will return from the Babylonian exile. In these chapters, Jerusalem is spoken of as uninhabited and in ruins, and the temple itself as destroyed, but both city and temple will be rebuilt (44:26–28). Israel’s return from Babylon is pictured as a second exodus, with God making a way in the wilderness (40:3, 4; 43:19) and causing water to spring up in the desert (43:20; 44:3; 48:21).

God promises to deliver His people from Babylon. Furthermore, through the prophet, God even names the one through whom this great salvation would come about: Cyrus “My shepherd” (44:28; 45:1). These words of comfort seem directed to the Judean exiles in Babylon just before the city of Babylon fell to Cyrus’s Persian armies.

There is little argument, then, concerning the time spoken of in Is. 40—55. There is much more disagreement as to when and by whom these chapters were written. Many scholars hold that these oracles came from an unknown prophet who lived in Cyrus’s

NEEDING COMFORT IN EXILE (Is. 40:1, 2)

The prophet announces God's decree, "Comfort My people!" (Is. 40:1, 2). This message of comfort was very appropriate since, along with the prophecies of Is. 40–55, it addresses the Judean experience of exile to Babylon in the 6th century B.C. Not all of the people of Judah were taken to Babylon (see 2 Kin. 25:8–12). Those who were, the exilic community, were the old Judean aristocracy. Previously they had held positions of power, status, and wealth in Jerusalem. In Babylon, though, life would be very different.

Defeated subjects who were forced from their homeland were allowed to live in ethnic enclaves in Babylon. Initially they probably worked at menial tasks, such as digging ditches to improve the Babylonian irrigation canals. Later on, some Judeans did find prosperity in Babylonian society, largely by assimilating to it. Yet, for people who had been the native aristocracy, the forced move to a Diaspora community was probably like being sent to 20th-century concentration, labor, or refugee camps. Such social change would have stretched to the limit the exilic community's conviction that Yahweh had elected the Judeans from all the people of the earth.

Meanwhile, society in Judah had utterly disintegrated following the fall of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. The deaths caused by the Babylonian invasion, the exile of the aristocracy, and the destruction of the temple gutted Judah of all institutions that had held the society together. Only the tribal area of Benjamin, north of Jerusalem, seemed to escape societal disintegration. In Judah itself, population plummeted 90% following the disaster. Thus the exiles in Babylon could not look to their past for hope; there they found only the consequences of their sin.

What the exiles needed—hope, comfort, tender words, a future—could be found only in the faithfulness of Yahweh, their God. The prophet offers exactly that message in Is. 40, pointing away from the sins of the past, away from the conditions of the present, to a future when the exiles would experience divine faithfulness and be restored to their land.

own time, during the Babylonian captivity, and who predicted the approaching end of the Exile. This prophet, often called "Second Isaiah," would have considered himself a disciple of the great Isaiah of Jerusalem. Indeed, some scholars suggest that Second Isaiah may have been the one who preserved the collection of Isaiah's oracles found in Is. 1–39.

Others, though, accept the traditional association of these words with the original Isaiah. The two parts of the book (chs. 1–39 and 40–55) always appear together in the ancient manuscripts, and several key themes appear in both parts. Regardless of who wrote Is. 40–55, these chapters speak of a future event: the glorious return from exile that will be authorized by Cyrus the Persian.

Beliefs & Ideas

The Bible normally refers to the physical sky with words that portray it as something stretched out and flattened, like hammered metal, or like a curtain (Is. 40:22). This imagery emphasizes the immense energy required to create and sustain the framework of space. The heavens are also remote from human influence and unchanged by time.

Has it not been told you from the beginning?
 Have you not understood from the foundations of the earth?
 22 It is He who sits above the circle of the earth,
 And its inhabitants are like grasshoppers,
 Who stretches out the heavens like a curtain,
 And spreads them out like a tent to dwell in.
 23 He brings the princes to nothing;
 He makes the judges of the earth useless.
 24 Scarcely shall they be planted,
 Scarcely shall they be sown,
 Scarcely shall their stock take root in the
 earth,
 When He will also blow on them,
 And they will wither,
 And the whirlwind will take them away
 like stubble.
 25 “To whom then will you liken Me,
 Or to whom shall I be equal?” says the Holy One.
 26 Lift up your eyes on high,
 And see who has created these things,
 Who brings out their host by number;
 He calls them all by name,
 By the greatness of His might
 And the strength of His power;
 Not one is missing.
 27 Why do you say, O Jacob,
 And speak, O Israel:
 “My way is hidden from the LORD,
 And my just claim is passed over by my God?”
 28 Have you not known?
 Have you not heard?
 The everlasting God, the LORD,
 The Creator of the ends of the earth,
 Neither faints nor is weary.
 His understanding is unsearchable.
 29 He gives power to the weak,
 And to those who have no might He increases strength.
 30 Even the youths shall faint and be weary,
 And the young men shall utterly fall,
 31 But those who wait on the LORD
 Shall renew their strength;
 They shall mount up with wings like eagles,
 They shall run and not be weary,
 They shall walk and not faint.

Israel Assured of God's Help

41<sup>1</sup> “Keep silence before Me, O coastlands, And let the people renew their strength!
Let them come near, then let them speak;
Let us come near together for judgment.

2 “Who raised up one from the east?
Who in righteousness called him to His feet?
Who gave the nations before him,
And made him rule over kings?
Who gave them as the dust to his sword,
As driven stubble to his bow?

3 Who pursued them, and passed safely
By the way that he had not gone with his feet?

4 Who has performed and done it,
Calling the generations from the beginning?
‘I, the LORD, am the first;
And with the last I am He.’ ”

5 The coastlands saw it and feared,
The ends of the earth were afraid;
They drew near and came.

And said to his brother,
“Be of good courage!”

7 So the craftsman encouraged the goldsmith,
He who smooths with the hammer inspired

Saying, “It is ready for the soldering”;
Then he fastened it with pegs,

8 “But you, Israel, are My servant,
Jacob whom I have chosen,
The descendants of Abraham My friend.

9 You whom I have taken from the ends of
the earth,
And called from its farthest regions,
And said to you,
‘You are My servant,
I have chosen you and have not cast you
away:

10 Fear not, for I am with you;
Be not dismayed, for I am your God.
I will strengthen you,
Yes, I will help you,
I will uphold you with My righteous right
hand.’

11 “Behold, all those who were incensed against
you
Shall be ashamed and disgraced;
They shall be as nothing,
And those who strive with you shall perish.

12 You shall seek them and not find them—
Those who contended with you.

Those who war against you
Shall be as nothing,
As a nonexistent thing.

13 For I, the LORD your God, will hold your right hand,
Saying to you, ‘Fear not, I will help you.’

14 “Fear not, you worm Jacob,
You men of Israel!
I will help you,” says the LORD
And your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel.

15 “Behold, I will make you into a new threshing sledge with sharp teeth;
You shall thresh the mountains and beat
them small,
And make the hills like chaff.
You shall winnow them, the wind shall carry them away,
And the whirlwind shall scatter them;
You shall rejoice in the LORD,
And glory in the Holy One of Israel.

17 “The poor and needy seek water, but there is none,
Their tongues fail for thirst.
I, the LORD, will hear them;
I, the God of Israel, will not forsake them.

18 I will open rivers in desolate heights,
And fountains in the midst of the valleys;
I will make the wilderness a pool of water,
And the dry land springs of water.

19 I will plant in the wilderness the cedar and the acacia tree,
The myrtle and the oil tree;
I will set in the desert the cypress tree and the pine
And the box tree together,

20 That they may see and know,
And consider and understand together,
That the hand of the LORD has done this,
And the Holy One of Israel has created it.

The Futility of Idols

21 “Present your case,” says the LORD.
“Bring forth your strong reasons,” says the King of Jacob.

22 “Let them bring forth and show us what will happen;
Let them show the former things, what they were,
That we may consider them,
And know the latter end of them;
Or declare to us things to come.

23 Show the things that are to come hereafter,
That we may know that you are gods;
Yes, do good or do evil,
That we may be dismayed and see it together.

24 Indeed you are nothing,
And your work is nothing;
He who chooses you is an abomination.

25 “I have raised up one from the north,
And he shall come;
From the rising of the sun he shall call on
My name;
And he shall come against princes as though mortar,
As the potter treads clay.

26 Who has declared from the beginning, that we may know?
And former times, that we may say, ‘He is righteous?’
Surely there is no one who shows,
Surely there is no one who declares,
Surely there is no one who hears your words.

27 The first time I said to Zion,
‘Look, there they are!’
And I will give to Jerusalem one who brings good tidings.

28 For I looked, and there was no man;
I looked among them, but there was no counselor,
Who, when I asked of them, could answer a word.

29 Indeed they are all worthless;<sup>a</sup>
Their works are nothing;
Their molded images are wind and confusion.

The Servant of the LORD

42<sup>1</sup> “Behold! My Servant whom I uphold My Elect One in whom My soul delights!
I have put My Spirit upon Him;
He will bring forth justice to the Gentiles.

2 He will not cry out, nor raise His voice, Nor cause His voice to be heard in the street.

3 A bruised reed He will not break,
And smoking flax He will not quench;
He will bring forth justice for truth.

4 He will not fail nor be discouraged,
Till He has established justice in the earth;
And the coastlands shall wait for His law.”

5 Thus says God the LORD,
Who created the heavens and stretched them out,
Who spread forth the earth and that which comes from it,
Who gives breath to the people on it,
And spirit to those who walk on it:

6 “I, the LORD, have called You in righteousness,

And will hold Your hand;
I will keep You and give You as a covenant
to the people,
As a light to the Gentiles,
7 To open blind eyes,
To bring out prisoners from the prison,
Those who sit in darkness from the prison house.

8 I am the LORD, that is My name;
And My glory I will not give to another,
Nor My praise to carved images.

9 Behold, the former things have come to pass,
And new things I declare;
Before they spring forth I tell you of them.”

Praise to the LORD

10 Sing to the LORD a new song,
And His praise from the ends of the earth,
You who go down to the sea, and all that is in it,
You coastlands and you inhabitants of
them!

11 Let the wilderness and its cities lift up their voice,
The villages that Kedar inhabits.
Let the inhabitants of Sela sing,
Let them shout from the top of the mountains.

12 Let them give glory to the LORD,
And declare His praise in the coastlands.

13 The LORD shall go forth like a mighty man;
He shall stir up His zeal like a man of war.
He shall cry out, yes, shout aloud;
He shall prevail against His enemies.

Promise of the LORD's Help

14 “I have held My peace a long time,
I have been still and restrained Myself.
Now I will cry like a woman in labor,
I will pant and gasp at once.

15 I will lay waste the mountains and hills,
And dry up all their vegetation;
I will make the rivers coastlands,
And I will dry up the pools.

16 I will bring the blind by a way they did not know;
I will lead them in paths they have not known.
I will make darkness light before them,
And crooked places straight.
These things I will do for them,
And not forsake them.

17 They shall be turned back,
They shall be greatly ashamed,

41:29 <sup>a</sup>Following Masoretic Text and Vulgate; Dead Sea Scrolls, Syriac, and Targum read nothing; Septuagint omits the first line.

Who trust in carved images,
Who say to the molded images,
'You are our gods.'

- 18 "Hear, you deaf;
And look, you blind, that you may see.
19 Who is blind but My servant,
Or deaf as My messenger whom I send?
Who is blind as he who is perfect,
And blind as the LORD's servant?
20 Seeing many things, but you do not observe;
Opening the ears, but he does not hear."

Israel's Obstinate Disobedience

- 21 The LORD is well pleased for His righteousness' sake;
He will exalt the law and make it honorable.
22 But this is a people robbed and plundered;
All of them are snared in holes,
And they are hidden in prison houses;
They are for prey, and no one delivers;
For plunder, and no one says, "Restore!"
23 Who among you will give ear to this?
Who will listen and hear for the time to come?
24 Who gave Jacob for plunder, and Israel to the robbers?
Was it not the LORD,
He against whom we have sinned?
For they would not walk in His ways,
Nor were they obedient to His law.
25 Therefore He has poured on him the fury of His anger
And the strength of battle;
It has set him on fire all around,
Yet he did not know;
And it burned him,
Yet he did not take it to heart.

The Redeemer of Israel

- 43 <sup>1</sup> But now, thus says the LORD, who created you, O Jacob,
And He who formed you, O Israel:
"Fear not, for I have redeemed you;
I have called you by your name;
You are Mine.
2 When you pass through the waters, I will be
with you;
And through the rivers, they shall not overflow you.
When you walk through the fire, you shall not be burned,
Nor shall the flame scorch you.
3 For I am the LORD your God,
The Holy One of Israel, your Savior;

- I gave Egypt for your ransom,
Ethiopia and Seba in your place.
4 Since you were precious in My sight,
You have been honored,
And I have loved you;
Therefore I will give men for you,
And people for your life.
5 Fear not, for I am with you;
I will bring your descendants from the east,
And gather you from the west;
6 I will say to the north, 'Give them up!'
And to the south, 'Do not keep them back!'
Bring My sons from afar,
And My daughters from the ends of the
earth—
7 Everyone who is called by My name,
Whom I have created for My glory;
I have formed him, yes, I have made him."
8 Bring out the blind people who have eyes,
And the deaf who have ears.
9 Let all the nations be gathered together,
And let the people be assembled.
Who among them can declare this,
And show us former things?
Let them bring out their witnesses, that they may be justified;
Or let them hear and say, "It is truth."
10 "You are My witnesses," says the LORD,
"And My servant whom I have chosen,
That you may know and believe Me,
And understand that I am He.
Before Me there was no God formed,
Nor shall there be after Me.
11 I, even I, am the LORD,
And besides Me there is no savior.
12 I have declared and saved,
I have proclaimed,
And there was no foreign god among you;
Therefore you are My witnesses,"
Says the LORD, "that I am God.
13 Indeed before the day was, I am He;
And there is no one who can deliver out of
My hand;
I work, and who will reverse it?"
14 Thus says the LORD, your Redeemer,
The Holy One of Israel:
"For your sake I will send to Babylon,
And bring them all down as fugitives—
The Chaldeans, who rejoice in their ships.
15 I am the LORD, your Holy One,
The Creator of Israel, your King."
16 Thus says the LORD, who makes a way in the sea
And a path through the mighty waters,
17 Who brings forth the chariot and horse,

CAN GOD REALLY DO THIS “NEW THING”? (Is. 43:19)

If the exiles were to return to Jerusalem, they somehow had to escape the political and military control of the Neo-Babylonian regime. Even in the years just prior to the fall of Babylon in 539 B.C., this would have been a tall order for a small, politically and militarily insignificant community. Yet the prophet claims that this is precisely what will happen: God will do “a new thing” (Is. 43:19).

This “new thing” was a subtle reference to the military defeat of the Babylonians (43:14, 15). The prophet invokes images of the Exodus from Egypt when the Lord defeated Pharaoh and freed the Israelites from slavery (43:16, 17). This time the Lord would lead the exilic community back across the wilderness to their ancestral home in Judah (43:19). What a hopeful announcement this was for the Judeans in Babylon! That God would restore them to the land He had given them was the blunt political reality of the prophet’s message.

Yet because the Judeans were still subject to Babylonian power, the announcement was also risky. The message rang of subversion and rebellion, qualities that the Neo-Babylonian regime met with brutal and violent displays of power in their subjected communities. Perhaps this explains why the community did not enthusiastically endorse the prophet’s message—why they had not “called upon” the Lord (43:22–24). To do so would have meant really believing that God’s power was stronger than the Babylonians, a high stakes political gamble if they were wrong!

The army and the power
(They shall lie down together, they shall not rise;

They are extinguished, they are quenched
like a wick):

18 “Do not remember the former things,
Nor consider the things of old.

19 Behold, I will do a new thing,
Now it shall spring forth;
Shall you not know it?

I will even make a road in the wilderness
And rivers in the desert.

20 The beast of the field will honor Me,
The jackals and the ostriches,
Because I give waters in the wilderness
And rivers in the desert,

To give drink to My people, My chosen.

21 This people I have formed for Myself;
They shall declare My praise.

Pleading with Unfaithful Israel

22 “But you have not called upon Me, O Jacob;
And you have been weary of Me, O Israel.

23 You have not brought Me the sheep for your burnt offerings,
Nor have you honored Me with your sacrifices.

I have not caused you to serve with grain offerings,
Nor wearied you with incense.

24 You have bought Me no sweet cane with money,

Nor have you satisfied Me with the fat of your sacrifices;
But you have burdened Me with your sins,
You have wearied Me with your iniquities.

25 “I, even I, am He who blots out your transgressions for My own sake;
And I will not remember your sins.

26 Put Me in remembrance;
Let us contend together;
State your case, that you may be acquitted.

27 Your first father sinned,
And your mediators have transgressed against Me.

28 Therefore I will profane the princes of the sanctuary;

I will give Jacob to the curse,
And Israel to reproaches.

God’s Blessing on Israel

44 <sup>1</sup> “Yet hear me now, O Jacob My servant,

And Israel whom I have chosen.

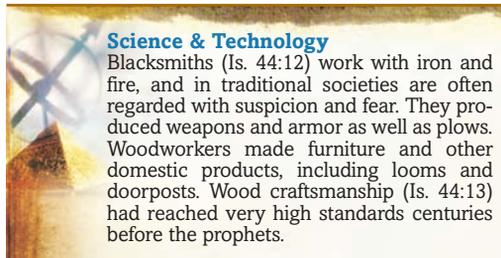

2 Thus says the LORD who made you
And formed you from the womb, who will help you:

‘Fear not, O Jacob My servant;
And you, Jeshurun, whom I have chosen.

3 For I will pour water on him who is thirsty,
And floods on the dry ground;
I will pour My Spirit on your descendants,
And My blessing on your offspring;

4 They will spring up among the grass
Like willows by the watercourses.
5 One will say, 'I am the LORD's';
Another will call himself by the name of Jacob;
Another will write with his hand, 'The LORD's,'
And name himself by the name of Israel.

Science & Technology

Blacksmiths (Is. 44:12) work with iron and fire, and in traditional societies are often regarded with suspicion and fear. They produced weapons and armor as well as plows. Woodworkers made furniture and other domestic products, including looms and doorposts. Wood craftsmanship (Is. 44:13) had reached very high standards centuries before the prophets.

There Is No Other God

6 "Thus says the LORD, the King of Israel,
And his Redeemer, the LORD of hosts:
'I am the First and I am the Last;
Besides Me there is no God.
7 And who can proclaim as I do?
Then let him declare it and set it in order
for Me,
Since I appointed the ancient people.
And the things that are coming and shall come,
Let them show these to them.
8 Do not fear, nor be afraid;
Have I not told you from that time, and declared it?
You are My witnesses.
Is there a God besides Me?
Indeed there is no other Rock;
I know not one.'"

Idolatry Is Foolishness

9 Those who make an image, all of them are useless,
And their precious things shall not profit;
They are their own witnesses;
They neither see nor know, that they may be ashamed.
10 Who would form a god or mold an image
That profits him nothing?
11 Surely all his companions would be ashamed;
And the workmen, they are mere men.
Let them all be gathered together,
Let them stand up;
Yet they shall fear,
They shall be ashamed together.
12 The blacksmith with the tongs works one in the coals,
Fashions it with hammers,
And works it with the strength of his arms.
Even so, he is hungry, and his strength fails;
He drinks no water and is faint.
13 The craftsman stretches out his rule,
He marks one out with chalk;
He fashions it with a plane,
He marks it out with the compass,
And makes it like the figure of a man,
According to the beauty of a man, that it may remain in the house.
14 He cuts down cedars for himself,
And takes the cypress and the oak;
He secures it for himself among the trees of the forest.
He plants a pine, and the rain nourishes it.
15 Then it shall be for a man to burn,

THE TEMPLE SLAVE OF THE LORD (Is. 44:5)

The expression "My servant" (Is. 44:1) is found often throughout Is. 40–55. The designation "the LORD's" in Is. 44:5 possibly gives a clue to the social world from which the image of "My servant" arises. This servant belonged to Yahweh, just as temple slaves in the ancient Near East belonged to the god whose temple they served.

Slavery existed throughout the Neo-Babylonian society. In fact, a large and important group of temple slaves performed much of the work in and around temple properties. Slavery did not necessarily mean low status. Most temple slaves did do menial agricultural work with small compensation. Yet some became important functionaries overseeing the god's economic resources, the resources of the temple and its priests. While temple slaves would never be free, their position could bring a share of power, wealth, and honor.

Neo-Babylonian temple slaves were marked on their foreheads or on the back of their hand with the expression "belonging to . . ." Added to this expression was the name of the Babylonian deity who literally owned them. The prophet's expression "I am the LORD's" (Is. 44:5) draws from this imagery of Neo-Babylonian temple slavery to depict how the Lord "owns" His servant Israel.

We do not know if the Judeans built a temple in Babylon or not. However, when the first group of exiles returned to Jerusalem around 538 or 537 B.C., a class of temple slaves called "the Nethinim" returned with them (Ezra 2:58). When Nehemiah was governor of Judea in 445 B.C., the Nethinim were recognized members of the temple personnel, which also included priests, Levites, gatekeepers, and singers (Neh. 10:28). Anyone familiar with Neo-Babylonian temple slavery as practiced within the Judean exilic community would know the meaning of "I am the LORD's."

For he will take some of it and warm himself;
Yes, he kindles it and bakes bread;
Indeed he makes a god and worships it;
He makes it a carved image, and falls down to it.

- 16 He burns half of it in the fire;
With this half he eats meat;
He roasts a roast, and is satisfied.
He even warms himself and says,
“Ah! I am warm,
I have seen the fire.”
- 17 And the rest of it he makes into a god,
His carved image.
He falls down before it and worships it,
Prays to it and says,
“Deliver me, for you are my god!”
- 18 They do not know nor understand;
For He has shut their eyes, so that they cannot see,
And their hearts, so that they cannot understand.
- 19 And no one considers in his heart,
Nor is there knowledge nor understanding to say,
“I have burned half of it in the fire,
Yes, I have also baked bread on its coals;
I have roasted meat and eaten it;
And shall I make the rest of it an abomination?
Shall I fall down before a block of wood?”
- 20 He feeds on ashes;
A deceived heart has turned him aside;
And he cannot deliver his soul,
Nor say, “Is there not a lie in my right hand?”

Israel Is Not Forgotten

- 21 “Remember these, O Jacob,
And Israel, for you are My servant;
I have formed you, you are My servant;
O Israel, you will not be forgotten by Me!
- 22 I have blotted out, like a thick cloud, your transgressions,
And like a cloud, your sins.
Return to Me, for I have redeemed you.”
- 23 Sing, O heavens, for the LORD has done it!

Geography & Environment

Cush (Is. 45:14) refers to areas south of Egypt, corresponding roughly to the northern Sudan. The Sabeans came either from this area or from across the Red Sea in southern Arabia. These regions were sources of gold. By means of international trade and control of trade routes through their land, the Sabeans developed into a strong commercial power.

Shout, you lower parts of the earth;
Break forth into singing, you mountains,
O forest, and every tree in it!
For the LORD has redeemed Jacob,
And glorified Himself in Israel.

Judah Will Be Restored

- 24 Thus says the LORD, your Redeemer,
And He who formed you from the womb:
“I am the LORD, who makes all things,
Who stretches out the heavens all alone,
Who spreads abroad the earth by Myself;
25 Who frustrates the signs of the babblers,
And drives diviners mad;
Who turns wise men backward,
And makes their knowledge foolishness;
26 Who confirms the word of His servant,
And performs the counsel of His messengers;
Who says to Jerusalem, ‘You shall be inhabited,’
To the cities of Judah, ‘You shall be built,’
And I will raise up her waste places;
27 Who says to the deep, ‘Be dry!’
And I will dry up your rivers’;
28 Who says of Cyrus, ‘He is My shepherd,
And he shall perform all My pleasure,
Saying to Jerusalem, “You shall be built,”
And to the temple, “Your foundation shall be laid.”’

Cyrus, God’s Instrument

- 45<sup>1</sup> “Thus says the LORD to His anointed,
To Cyrus, whose right hand I have held—
To subdue nations before him
And loose the armor of kings,
To open before him the double doors,
So that the gates will not be shut:
2 ‘I will go before you
And make the crooked places<sup>a</sup> straight;
I will break in pieces the gates of bronze
And cut the bars of iron.
3 I will give you the treasures of darkness
And hidden riches of secret places,
That you may know that I, the LORD,
Who call you by your name,
Am the God of Israel.
4 For Jacob My servant’s sake,
And Israel My elect,
I have even called you by your name;
I have named you, though you have not known Me.
5 I am the LORD, and there is no other;

45:2 <sup>a</sup>Dead Sea Scrolls and Septuagint read mountains; Targum reads I will trample down the walls; Vulgate reads I will humble the great ones of the earth.

CYRUS, THE LORD'S ANOINTED (Is. 45:1)

In 559 B.C. Cyrus the Great became the ruler and founder of the Achaemenid dynasty of Persia, which expanded quickly in all directions to become a world empire. Arising from the desert fringes of Mesopotamia, Cyrus ultimately conquered the Neo-Babylonian Empire and absorbed it into his realm in 539 B.C. The defeat of Babylon expanded the Persian Empire to include almost all of the ancient Near East. Only Egypt remained independent.

The ancient mind would ask, "What god has empowered this Persian king, Cyrus?" The Judean prophet answered by identifying Cyrus as a world leader chosen by Yahweh, the God of Israel (Is. 45:1–7). Even more amazingly, the prophet uses language reserved for Israelite and Judean kings to describe God's election of Cyrus. Cyrus is Yahweh's "anointed" (Is. 45:1), the agent by which the Babylonian subjection of the Judean exilic community would be ended.

The social-political force of the prophet's oracle possessed a powder-keg-like quality. Not only did the prophet speak of the military downfall of the ruling junta—the Babylonians, but he also picked a rival monarch as the precise agent of Babylon's demise. This message smacked of political subversion. If heard by the "wrong" people, it could bring a sharp reprisal on himself, and possibly on the whole Judean community by the Babylonian authorities. Ancient Near Eastern regimes were always anxious to beat down a possible uprising before it occurred.

There is no God besides Me.

I will gird you, though you have not known Me,

6 That they may know from the rising of the sun to its setting

That there is none besides Me.

I am the LORD, and there is no other;

7 I form the light and create darkness,
I make peace and create calamity;
I, the LORD, do all these things.'

8 "Rain down, you heavens, from above,
And let the skies pour down righteousness;
Let the earth open, let them bring forth salvation,
And let righteousness spring up together.
I, the LORD, have created it.

9 "Woe to him who strives with his Maker!
Let the potsherd strive with the potsherds
of the earth!
Shall the clay say to him who forms it,
'What are you making?'
Or shall your handiwork say, 'He has no hands?'
10 Woe to him who says to his father, 'What are you begetting?'
Or to the woman, 'What have you brought forth?'"

11 Thus says the LORD,
The Holy One of Israel, and his Maker:
"Ask Me of things to come concerning My sons;
And concerning the work of My hands, you command Me.

12 I have made the earth,
And created man on it.
I—My hands—stretched out the heavens,
And all their host I have commanded.

13 I have raised him up in righteousness,
And I will direct all his ways;
He shall build My city
And let My exiles go free,
Not for price nor reward,"
Says the LORD of hosts.

The LORD, the Only Savior

<sup>14</sup>Thus says the LORD:

"The labor of Egypt and merchandise of Cush
And of the Sabeans, men of stature,
Shall come over to you, and they shall be yours;
They shall walk behind you,
They shall come over in chains;
And they shall bow down to you.
They will make supplication to you, saying,
'Surely God is in you,
And there is no other;
There is no other God.'"

15 Truly You are God, who hide Yourself,
O God of Israel, the Savior!

16 They shall be ashamed
And also disgraced, all of them;
They shall go in confusion together,
Who are makers of idols.

17 But Israel shall be saved by the LORD
With an everlasting salvation;
You shall not be ashamed or disgraced
Forever and ever.

18 For thus says the LORD,
Who created the heavens,
Who is God,
Who formed the earth and made it,
Who has established it,
Who did not create it in vain,
Who formed it to be inhabited:

- 19 “I am the LORD, and there is no other.
I have not spoken in secret,
In a dark place of the earth;
I did not say to the seed of Jacob,
‘Seek Me in vain’;
I, the LORD, speak righteousness,
I declare things that are right.
- 20 “Assemble yourselves and come;
Draw near together,
You who have escaped from the nations.
They have no knowledge,
Who carry the wood of their carved image,
And pray to a god that cannot save.
- 21 Tell and bring forth your case;
Yes, let them take counsel together.
Who has declared this from ancient time?
Who has told it from that time?
Have not I, the LORD?
And there is no other God besides Me,
A just God and a Savior;
There is none besides Me.
- 22 “Look to Me, and be saved,
All you ends of the earth!
For I am God, and there is no other.
- 23 I have sworn by Myself;
The word has gone out of My mouth in
righteousness,
And shall not return,
That to Me every knee shall bow,
Every tongue shall take an oath.
- 24 He shall say,
‘Surely in the LORD I have righteousness and
strength.
To Him men shall come,
And all shall be ashamed
Who are incensed against Him.

Shall be justified, and shall glory.’”

Babylon and Her Idols

As Cyrus and his armies were gaining strength, before capturing Babylon in 539 B.C., the prophet proclaimed that Babylon and her gods were doomed. Bel and Nebo, two important Babylonian gods, would themselves be taken into captivity (Is. 46:1, 2). It was common in the ancient Near East to see wars between nations as wars between those nations’ respective gods. Thus, Babylon’s victory over Assyria would have been considered a victory for Babylon’s gods, and the approach of Cyrus as the challenge of Persia’s deities.

The prophet radically alters this prevailing view. No section of Scripture declares God’s uniqueness so clearly as does Is. 40–55. “I am God, and there is no other; I am God, and there is none like Me” (Is. 46:9; see 45:5, 6, 14, 18). Since there is only one God, Cyrus must not be a representative of Persia’s gods. Whether he knows it himself or not, he is sent by the one God, the God of Israel (45:4). Moreover, Babylon’s gods will be humiliated, not because they are weaker than another nation’s gods but because they are mere idols. Gods that can be carried on cattle (46:1) or on one’s shoulders (46:7) are no gods at all.

Babylon’s religion involved not only sacrifice to idols but also faith in astrology. The prophet’s spirited satire of Babylon’s idolatry extended also to her stargazers and soothsayers (47:12, 13). Mostly, though, Babylon adored herself. She claimed to be eternal (47:7), all-powerful (47:8), and all-wise (47:10). Claiming for herself the status of God Himself, she would be desolated suddenly (47:9–11).

Dead Idols and the Living God

- 46 :1 Bel bows down, Nebo stoops;
Their idols were on the beasts
and on the cattle.
Your carriages were heavily loaded,
A burden to the weary beast.
- 2 They stoop, they bow down together;
They could not deliver the burden,
But have themselves gone into captivity.
- 3 “Listen to Me, O house of Jacob,
And all the remnant of the house of Israel,
Who have been upheld by Me from birth,
Who have been carried from the womb:
- 4 Even to your old age, I am He,
And even to gray hairs I will carry you!
I have made, and I will bear;
Even I will carry, and will deliver you.
- 5 “To whom will you liken Me, and make Me equal

No Middle Ground (Is. 47:1)

The prophet uses theological satire relentlessly in attacks upon the Neo-Babylonian society in which the exiled Judeans would find themselves (Is. 41:6, 7; 44:9–20; 46:1, 2). The satire eventually turns directly against the Neo-Babylonians, declaring Babylon's impending doom (Is. 47:1–15).

The image of the “virgin daughter of Babylon” (Is. 47:1) emphasizes the reversal of social and political fortunes that will befall the Babylonians. The Babylonians had showed God's elect, the exilic community, no mercy, even forcing the elderly into forced labor (47:6). The prophet therefore declares that God will remove the privileged Babylonians from their position of wealth, power, and honor. From a situation described as “tender and delicate” (47:1), they would face abject conditions, lacking even the resources to heat their own homes (47:14).

Social, economic, and political issues were at stake behind the prophet's message of deliverance for the exilic community. Cyrus's rise and the exiles' deliverance would mean the end of the Babylonians' luxurious life. Yet the “virgin daughter of Babylon” still controlled the social and political life of the exiled Judean community. Talk of Babylonian demise was risky business.

There was no middle ground. The prophet forced the issue for his people: Should the community stand with the prophet and take the political risk of reprisal by the Neo-Babylonians? Or should the community attempt to maintain the status quo and continue to work with—and under the control of—their Neo-Babylonian overlords? They should listen to what the prophet declared concerning those overlords: no one would save them (47:15).

6 And compare Me, that we should be alike;
They lavish gold out of the bag,
And weigh silver on the scales;
They hire a goldsmith, and he makes it a god;
They prostrate themselves, yes, they they worship.

7 They bear it on the shoulder, they carry it
And set it in its place, and it stands;
From its place it shall not move.
Though one cries out to it, yet it cannot answer
Nor save him out of his trouble.

8 “Remember this, and show yourselves
    men;
Recall to mind, O you transgressors.
Remember the former things of old,
For I am God, and there is no other;
I am God, and there is none like Me,
10 Declaring the end from the beginning,
And from ancient times things that are not yet done,
Saying, ‘My counsel shall stand,
And I will do all My pleasure,’
11 Calling a bird of prey from the east,
The man who executes My counsel, from a far country.
Indeed I have spoken it;
I will also bring it to pass.
I have purposed it;
I will also do it.

12 “Listen to Me, you stubborn-hearted,
Who are far from righteousness:
13 I bring My righteousness near, it shall not be far off;
My salvation shall not linger.
And I will place salvation in Zion,
For Israel My glory.

The Humiliation of Babylon

47<sup>1</sup> “Come down and sit in the dust,
O virgin daughter of Babylon;
Sit on the ground without a throne,
O daughter of the Chaldeans!
For you shall no more be called
Tender and delicate.

2 Take the millstones and grind meal.
Remove your veil,
Take off the skirt,
Uncover the thigh,
Pass through the rivers.
3 Your nakedness shall be uncovered,
Yes, your shame will be seen;
I will take vengeance,
And I will not arbitrate with a man.”

4 As for our Redeemer, the LORD of hosts is
    His name,
The Holy One of Israel.

5 “Sit in silence, and go into darkness,
O daughter of the Chaldeans;
For you shall no longer be called
The Lady of Kingdoms.
6 I was angry with My people;
I have profaned My inheritance,
And given them into your hand.
You showed them no mercy;
On the elderly you laid your yoke very heavily.

7 And you said, ‘I shall be a lady forever,’
So that you did not take these things to heart,
Nor remember the latter end of them.

8 “Therefore hear this now, you who are given to pleasures,
Who dwell securely,

THE NEW EXODUS (Is. 48:20, 21)

With the command “Go forth from Babylon!” (Is. 48:20), the prophet explicitly encouraged the Judean exiles to leave their homes in Babylon and return to their own land. He did not advise them to sneak out, but rather to go publicly and joyously, with “a voice of singing.”

The journey would be a new Exodus. The prophet invokes the memory of the Israelites’ trip from Egypt to the land of Canaan following the first Exodus (48:21). The people could remember stories of Moses drawing drinking water from a rock (Ex. 17:6). Though now a desert faced the people between Babylon and Judah, they need not worry: as God had provided for Israel’s escape from Egyptian tyranny during Moses’ time, so would He now provide for these exiles to escape from Babylonian rule.

There was one problem, though. The Babylonians had not yet been removed from power. Still the command “Go!” is given. To leave Babylon would be to take political liberty that the Babylonians were not ready to offer. The prophet challenged the people’s faith in God to redeem them, even though their redemption would be rebellion against the Babylonian regime!

Who say in your heart, ‘I am, and there is no one else besides me;
I shall not sit as a widow,
Nor shall I know the loss of children’;
9 But these two things shall come to you
In a moment, in one day:
The loss of children, and widowhood.
They shall come upon you in their fullness
Because of the multitude of your sorceries,
For the great abundance of your enchantments.

10 “For you have trusted in your wickedness;
You have said, ‘No one sees me’;
Your wisdom and your knowledge have warped you;
And you have said in your heart,
‘I am, and there is no one else besides me.’
11 Therefore evil shall come upon you;
You shall not know from where it arises.
And trouble shall fall upon you;
You will not be able to put it off.
And desolation shall come upon you suddenly,
Which you shall not know.

12 “Stand now with your enchantments
And the multitude of your sorceries,
In which you have labored from your youth—
Perhaps you will be able to profit,
Perhaps you will prevail.
13 You are wearied in the multitude of your counsels;
Let now the astrologers, the stargazers,

And the monthly prognosticators
Stand up and save you
From what shall come upon you.
14 Behold, they shall be as stubble,
The fire shall burn them;
They shall not deliver themselves
From the power of the flame;
It shall not be a coal to be warmed by,
Nor a fire to sit before!
15 Thus shall they be to you
With whom you have labored,
Your merchants from your youth;
They shall wander each one to his quarter.
No one shall save you.

Israel Refined for God’s Glory

48 <sup>1</sup> “Hear this, O house of Jacob,
Who are called by the name of Israel,
And have come forth from the wellsprings of Judah;
Who swear by the name of the LORD,
And make mention of the God of Israel,
But not in truth or in righteousness;
2 For they call themselves after the holy city,
And lean on the God of Israel;
The LORD of hosts is His name:
3 “I have declared the former things from the
beginning;
They went forth from My mouth, and I caused them to hear it.
Suddenly I did them, and they came to
pass.
4 Because I knew that you were obstinate,
And your neck was an iron sinew,
And your brow bronze,
5 Even from the beginning I have declared
it to you;
Before it came to pass I proclaimed it to
you,
Lest you should say, ‘My idol has done them,
And my carved image and my molded

Beliefs & Ideas

The belief that the stars control human destiny was widespread in ancient times. Ancient kings maintained astrologers in their courts to give an opinion about whether a certain time was right for a project, or what events to expect (Is. 47:13). In addition to fortune-telling, astrologers had some factual knowledge of astronomy, which they used for establishing a calendar.

Have commanded them.’

- 6 “You have heard;
See all this.
And will you not declare it?
I have made you hear new things from this time,
Even hidden things, and you did not know
them.
- 7 They are created now and not from the
beginning;
And before this day you have not heard
them,
Lest you should say, ‘Of course I knew them.’
- 8 Surely you did not hear;
Surely you did not know;
Surely from long ago your ear was not opened.
For I knew that you would deal very treacherously,
And were called a transgressor from the womb.
- 9 “For My name’s sake I will defer My anger,
And for My praise I will restrain it from
you,
So that I do not cut you off.
- 10 Behold, I have refined you, but not as silver;
I have tested you in the furnace of affliction.
- 11 For My own sake, for My own sake, I will do it;
For how should My name be profaned?
And I will not give My glory to another.

God’s Ancient Plan to Redeem Israel

- 12 “Listen to Me, O Jacob,
And Israel, My called:
I am He, I am the First,
I am also the Last.
- 13 Indeed My hand has laid the foundation
of the earth,
And My right hand has stretched out the heavens;

48:16 <sup>a</sup>The Hebrew verb is singular.

When I call to them,
They stand up together.

- 14 “All of you, assemble yourselves, and hear!
Who among them has declared these things?
The LORD loves him;
He shall do His pleasure on Babylon,
And His arm shall be against the Chaldeans.
- 15 I, even I, have spoken;
Yes, I have called him,
I have brought him, and his way will prosper.
- 16 “Come near to Me, hear this:
I have not spoken in secret from the
beginning;
From the time that it was, I was there.
And now the Lord GOD and His Spirit
Have<sup>a</sup> sent Me.”
- 17 Thus says the LORD, your Redeemer,
The Holy One of Israel:
“I am the LORD your God,
Who teaches you to profit,
Who leads you by the way you should go.
- 18 Oh, that you had heeded My commandments!
Then your peace would have been like a
river,
And your righteousness like the waves of
the sea.
- 19 Your descendants also would have been
like the sand,
And the offspring of your body like the grains of sand;
His name would not have been cut off
Nor destroyed from before Me.”
- 20 Go forth from Babylon!
Flee from the Chaldeans!
With a voice of singing,
Declare, proclaim this,
Utter it to the end of the earth;
Say, “The LORD has redeemed

A LIGHT TO THE GENTILES (Is. 49:3–7)

The tone and subject of the prophet’s oracles changed, turning dark. No longer did he speak of Babylon’s demise or the exiles’ return to Judah, though his oracles seemingly still addressed the same exiled community. Conflict seemed to lurk beneath the prophet’s words. His attempt to persuade his people seemingly had produced little, if any, results. He felt as if he had labored “for nothing and in vain” (Is. 49:4).

Instead of narrowing his task, however, God widened the prophet’s mission. No longer content to address only the Judean exilic community, God would give the prophet as “a light to the Gentiles” (49:6). In this way, the Judean exilic community’s rejection of the prophet’s message would lead to the inclusion of all persons, Jews and Gentiles, into the restorative purposes of God. Through His servant, the prophet, God would proclaim “salvation to the ends of the earth” (49:6).

- 21 His servant Jacob!"
And they did not thirst
When He led them through the deserts;
He caused the waters to flow from the rock
for them;
He also split the rock, and the waters
gushed out.
- 22 "There is no peace," says the LORD, "for the wicked."

TRANSITION

The Servant of the Lord

A "servant of the Lord" is one who voluntarily serves God, as did Abraham (Ps. 105:42). The phrase "My servant" appears frequently in Is. 41—53. Sometimes the phrase describes the entire nation of Israel, God's chosen Jacob (41:8). This meaning is found most often in chs. 41—48. But the nation Israel proved to be an unproductive servant. Assigned to bring "light to the Gentiles, to open blind eyes" (42:6, 7), she herself became blind (42:18—20).

The most important passages concerning "My servant" are the famous Servant Songs (42:1—4; 49:1—6; 50:4—11; 52:13—53:12). Sometimes in these songs, the servant again is identified with the nation of Israel (49:3), but at other times the servant appears to be an individual, working to bring salvation to Israel and the nations (49:4, 5).

It is difficult to know how these poems would have been understood by their first hearers. Perhaps some prophet or king was identified as the servant. Since the time of Christ, however, Christians have identified Jesus Himself as the Servant of the Lord who brought salvation to the Gentiles as well as to the Jews (see Matt. 12:18—21, quoting Is. 42:1—4).

Isaiah

The Servant, the Light to the Gentiles

- 49 :1 "Listen, O coastlands, to Me,
And take heed, you peoples from afar!
The LORD has called Me from the womb;
From the matrix of My mother He has made mention of My name.
- 2 And He has made My mouth like a sharp
sword;
In the shadow of His hand He has hidden
Me,
And made Me a polished shaft;
In His quiver He has hidden Me."
- 3 "And He said to me,
'You are My servant, O Israel,
In whom I will be glorified.'
- 4 Then I said, 'I have labored in vain,

I have spent my strength for nothing and in vain;
Yet surely my just reward is with the LORD,
And my work with my God.'

- 5 "And now the LORD says,
Who formed Me from the womb to be His Servant,
To bring Jacob back to Him,
So that Israel is gathered to Him<sup>a</sup>
(For I shall be glorious in the eyes of the
LORD,
And My God shall be My strength),
- 6 Indeed He says,
'It is too small a thing that You should be My Servant
To raise up the tribes of Jacob,
And to restore the preserved ones of Israel;
I will also give You as a light to the Gentiles,
That You should be My salvation to the

INTIMIDATION DENIED (Is. 50:4)

A conflict escalated between those who accepted the prophet's message and those who rejected it. On the bright side, the prophet developed a following among those who stood with the prophet (Is. 50:8) and who feared the Lord and obeyed "the voice of His Servant" (50:10). Therefore, the prophet spoke with "the tongue of the learned" (50:4), leading those who would believe.

On the darker side, the prophet also had evoked strong resistance, most likely from within his own community. His faithfulness to proclaim the word of the Lord produced a violent reaction. The prophet received beatings, the pulling of his beard, insults, being spit upon—all tactics to intimidate, humiliate, and discredit him (50:5, 6). The Judean leaders who had accommodated themselves to Babylonian society found his message dangerous and wished to silence him.

Yet the torture did not change the prophet's stance. It seems, instead, to have hardened his resolve: he set his face "like a flint" against his opposition (50:7). The prophet could not be shamed, for torment ultimately awaited those who tormented him (50:11). God, after all, was on his side (50:9).

Even by the springs of water He will guide them.

11 I will make each of My mountains a road,
And My highways shall be elevated.

12 Surely these shall come from afar;
Look! Those from the north and the west,
And these from the land of Sinim."

13 Sing, O heavens!
Be joyful, O earth!
And break out in singing, O mountains!
For the LORD has comforted His people,
And will have mercy on His afflicted.

God Will Remember Zion

14 But Zion said, "The LORD has forsaken me,
And my Lord has forgotten me."

15 "Can a woman forget her nursing child,
And not have compassion on the son of her womb?
Surely they may forget,
Yet I will not forget you.

16 See, I have inscribed you on the palms of
My hands;
Your walls are continually before Me.
17 Your sons<sup>a</sup> shall make haste;
Your destroyers and those who laid you waste
Shall go away from you.

18 Lift up your eyes, look around and see;
All these gather together and come to you.
As I live," says the LORD,

"You shall surely clothe yourselves with them all as an ornament,
And bind them on you as a bride does.

19 "For your waste and desolate places,
And the land of your destruction,
Will even now be too small for the inhabitants;

And those who swallowed you up will be far away.

20 The children you will have,
After you have lost the others,
Will say again in your ears,
'The place is too small for me;
Give me a place where I may dwell.'

21 Then you will say in your heart,
'Who has begotten these for me,
Since I have lost my children and am desolate,
A captive, and wandering to and fro?
And who has brought these up?
There I was, left alone;
But these, where were they?' "

22 Thus says the Lord GOD:

"Behold, I will lift My hand in an oath to
the nations,
And set up My standard for the peoples;
They shall bring your sons in their arms,
And your daughters shall be carried on
their shoulders;

23 Kings shall be your foster fathers,
And their queens your nursing mothers;
They shall bow down to you with their faces to the earth,
And lick up the dust of your feet.
Then you will know that I am the LORD,
For they shall not be ashamed who wait
for Me."

24 Shall the prey be taken from the mighty,
Or the captives of the righteous<sup>a</sup> be delivered?

25 But thus says the LORD:

"Even the captives of the mighty shall be taken away,
And the prey of the terrible be delivered;
For I will contend with him who contends
with you,
And I will save your children.

 And they shall be drunk with their own blood as with sweet wine.
 All flesh shall know
 That I, the LORD, am your Savior,
 And your Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob.”

The Servant, Israel's Hope

50 <sup>1</sup>Thus says the LORD:

“Where is the certificate of your mother's divorce,
 Whom I have put away?
 Or which of My creditors is it to whom I have sold you?
 For your iniquities you have sold yourselves,
 And for your transgressions your mother has been put away.
 2 Why, when I came, was there no man?
 Why, when I called, was there none to answer?
 Is My hand shortened at all that it cannot redeem?
 Or have I no power to deliver?
 Indeed with My rebuke I dry up the sea,
 I make the rivers a wilderness;
 Their fish stink because there is no water,
 And die of thirst.
 3 I clothe the heavens with blackness,
 And I make sackcloth their covering.”

4 “The Lord GOD has given Me
 The tongue of the learned,
 That I should know how to speak
 A word in season to him who is weary.
 He awakens Me morning by morning,
 He awakens My ear
 To hear as the learned.
 5 The Lord GOD has opened My ear;
 And I was not rebellious,
 Nor did I turn away.
 6 I gave My back to those who struck Me,
 And My cheeks to those who plucked out the beard;
 I did not hide My face from shame and spitting.
 7 “For the Lord GOD will help Me;
 Therefore I will not be disgraced;

Therefore I have set My face like a flint,
 And I know that I will not be ashamed.
 8 He is near who justifies Me;
 Who will contend with Me?
 Let us stand together.
 Who is My adversary?
 Let him come near Me.
 9 Surely the Lord GOD will help Me;
 Who is he who will condemn Me?
 Indeed they will all grow old like a garment;
 The moth will eat them up.

10 “Who among you fears the LORD?
 Who obeys the voice of His Servant?
 Who walks in darkness
 And has no light?
 Let him trust in the name of the LORD
 And rely upon his God.
 11 Look, all you who kindle a fire,
 Who encircle yourselves with sparks:
 Walk in the light of your fire and in the sparks you have kindled—
 This you shall have from My hand:
 You shall lie down in torment.

The LORD Comforts Zion

51 <sup>1</sup> “Listen to Me, you who follow after righteousness,
 You who seek the LORD:
 Look to the rock from which you were hewn,
 And to the hole of the pit from which you were dug.
 2 Look to Abraham your father,
 And to Sarah who bore you;

For I called him alone,
And blessed him and increased him.”

3 For the LORD will comfort Zion,
He will comfort all her waste places;
He will make her wilderness like Eden,
And her desert like the garden of the
LORD;
Joy and gladness will be found in it,
Thanksgiving and the voice of melody.

4 “Listen to Me, My people;
And give ear to Me, O My nation:
For law will proceed from Me,
And I will make My justice rest
As a light of the peoples.
5 My righteousness is near,
My salvation has gone forth,
And My arms will judge the peoples;
The coastlands will wait upon Me,
And on My arm they will trust.
6 Lift up your eyes to the heavens,
And look on the earth beneath.
For the heavens will vanish away like smoke,
The earth will grow old like a garment,
And those who dwell in it will die in like manner;
But My salvation will be forever,
And My righteousness will not be abolished.

7 “Listen to Me, you who know righteousness,
You people in whose heart is My law:
Do not fear the reproach of men,
Nor be afraid of their insults.
8 For the moth will eat them up like a garment,
And the worm will eat them like wool;
But My righteousness will be forever,
And My salvation from generation to generation.”

9 Awake, awake, put on strength,
O arm of the LORD!
Awake as in the ancient days,
In the generations of old.
*Are You not the arm that cut Rahab apart,
And wounded the serpent?*

10 *Are You not the One who dried up the sea,
The waters of the great deep;
That made the depths of the sea a road
For the redeemed to cross over?*
11 So the ransomed of the LORD shall return,
And come to Zion with singing,
With everlasting joy on their heads.
They shall obtain joy and gladness;

Sorrow and sighing shall flee away.

12 “I, even I, am He who comforts you.
Who are you that you should be afraid
Of a man who will die,
And of the son of a man who will be made like grass?
13 And you forget the LORD your Maker,
Who stretched out the heavens
And laid the foundations of the earth;
You have feared continually every day
Because of the fury of the oppressor,
When he has prepared to destroy.
And where is the fury of the oppressor?
14 The captive exile hastens, that he may be loosed,
That he should not die in the pit,
And that his bread should not fail.
15 But I am the LORD your God,
Who divided the sea whose waves roared—
The LORD of hosts is His name.
16 And I have put My words in your mouth;
I have covered you with the shadow of
My hand,
That I may plant the heavens,
Lay the foundations of the earth,
And say to Zion, ‘You are My people.’”

God's Fury Removed

17 Awake, awake!
Stand up, O Jerusalem,
You who have drunk at the hand of the
LORD
The cup of His fury;
You have drunk the dregs of the cup of trembling,
And drained it out.
18 There is no one to guide her
Among all the sons she has brought forth;
Nor is there any who takes her by the hand
Among all the sons she has brought up.
19 These two things have come to you;
Who will be sorry for you?—
Desolation and destruction, famine and sword—

The Hebrews were not seafarers, and they found the ocean dangerous and frightening. In the Bible the sea is usually a symbol for disorder and chaos (Is. 51:10). Rahab (51:9) was one name given to the chaos monster in pagan mythology. The prophet alludes to popular literature in describing Israel's escape from Egypt across the Red Sea, which was a similar conquest over the threatening waters.

20 By whom will I comfort you?
Your sons have fainted,
They lie at the head of all the streets,
Like an antelope in a net;
They are full of the fury of the LORD,
The rebuke of your God.

21 Therefore please hear this, you afflicted,
And drunk but not with wine.

22 Thus says your Lord,
The LORD and your God,
Who pleads the cause of His people:
“See, I have taken out of your hand
The cup of trembling,
The dregs of the cup of My fury;
You shall no longer drink it.

23 But I will put it into the hand of those who afflict you,
Who have said to you,<sup>a</sup>
‘Lie down, that we may walk over you.’
And you have laid your body like the ground,
And as the street, for those who walk over.”

The Suffering Servant

The Servant of the Lord brings salvation (see “The Servant of the Lord” at Is. 49:1). That salvation comes about in a startling new fashion, though. There will be no wars, plagues, and flight, as when God brought Israel out of Egypt (Is. 52:12). Nor shall this salvation cost Israel (52:3). Instead, salvation shall be brought by the Servant’s suffering and death (53:4–6).

To the Judean exiles in Babylon, the message was simply that their suffering was over. God had redeemed His people in a new and marvelous way. Since the passion of Christ, though, Christians have recognized a much more specific fulfillment to the final Servant Song. Christ Himself is the promised Servant. He was the One who bore “our griefs and carried our sorrows” (53:4), and on Him God laid “the iniquity of us all” (53:6). The salvation proclaimed in the New Testament, a salvation that depends not on morality or on earthly power but rather on the Servant’s humble self-sacrifice, finds its most powerful expression in Is. 52:13—53:12, written centuries before Christ.

52 :1 Awake, awake!
Put on your strength, O Zion;
Put on your beautiful garments,
O Jerusalem, the holy city!
For the uncircumcised and the unclean

2 Shall no longer come to you.
Shake yourself from the dust, arise;
Sit down, O Jerusalem!
Loose yourself from the bonds of your neck,
O captive daughter of Zion!

3For thus says the LORD:

“You have sold yourselves for nothing,
And you shall be redeemed without money.”

4For thus says the Lord GOD:

“My people went down at first
Into Egypt to dwell there;
Then the Assyrian oppressed them without cause.

5 Now therefore, what have I here,” says the
LORD,
“That My people are taken away for nothing?
Those who rule over them
Make them wail,”<sup>a</sup> says the LORD,
“And My name is blasphemed continually every day.

6 Therefore My people shall know My name;
Therefore they shall know in that day
That I am He who speaks:
‘Behold, it is I.’”

7 How beautiful upon the mountains
Are the feet of him who brings good news,
Who proclaims peace,
Who brings glad tidings of good things,
Who proclaims salvation,
Who says to Zion,
“Your God reigns!”

8 Your watchmen shall lift up their voices,
With their voices they shall sing together;
For they shall see eye to eye
When the LORD brings back Zion.
9 Break forth into joy, sing together,
You waste places of Jerusalem!
For the LORD has comforted His people,
He has redeemed Jerusalem.

10 The LORD has made bare His holy arm
In the eyes of all the nations;
And all the ends of the earth shall see
The salvation of our God.

BEHOLD, MY SERVANT (Is. 52:13)

The words “Behold, My Servant” (Is. 52:13) begin a definitive description of the Servant through whom God would deliver Israel from their sins (Is. 52:13—53:12). From the earliest days of the church, Christians have considered this “Servant” to represent prophetically Jesus Christ, and with good reason. In a very profound sense, the life of Christ reflects and fulfills the life of the Servant.

What is said about the Servant is nothing less than tragic. Like the Servant, Jesus proclaimed good news to the community. Like the Servant, Jesus’ good news threatened those who had most accommodated themselves to the foreigners: the prophet’s exilic community with the Babylonians; Jesus’ Jerusalem priesthood with the Romans. Like the Servant, Jesus did not alter His message, and like the Servant, He paid for it by His life—disgraced, shamed, and held in no account.

Jesus, therefore, relived and fulfilled the theological and social dynamics encountered by the Servant. No one expected that the Messiah would come as a servant: quiet, unassuming, and suffering. This Servant “was wounded for our transgressions”; He was “oppressed” and “afflicted”; yet, by “His stripes we are healed” (53:5, 7). In raising Jesus from the dead, God has allotted Jesus “a portion with the great” (53:12), “exalted and extolled” (52:13). For so many reasons, Christians cannot read Is. 52:13—53:12 without hearing echoes of the life of Christ.

Be clean,
You who bear the vessels of the LORD.
12 For you shall not go out with haste,
Nor go by flight;
For the LORD will go before you,
And the God of Israel will be your rear guard.

The Sin-Bearing Servant

13 Behold, My Servant shall deal prudently;
He shall be exalted and extolled and be very high.
14 Just as many were astonished at you,
So His visage was marred more than any man,
And His form more than the sons of men;
15 So shall He sprinkle<sup>a</sup> many nations.
Kings shall shut their mouths at Him;
For what had not been told them they shall see,
And what they had not heard they shall consider.

53 <sup>1</sup> Who has believed our report?
And to whom has the arm of the LORD been revealed?
2 For He shall grow up before Him as a tender plant,
And as a root out of dry ground.
He has no form or comeliness;
And when we see Him,
There is no beauty that we should desire
Him.
3 He is despised and rejected by men,
A Man of sorrows and acquainted with grief.
And we hid, as it were, our faces from Him;
He was despised, and we did not esteem
Him.

4 Surely He has borne our griefs
And carried our sorrows;
Yet we esteemed Him stricken,
Smitten by God, and afflicted.
5 But He was wounded for our transgressions,
He was bruised for our iniquities;
The chastisement for our peace was upon
Him,
And by His stripes we are healed.
6 All we like sheep have gone astray;
We have turned, every one, to his own way;
And the LORD has laid on Him the iniquity of us all.
7 He was oppressed and He was afflicted,
Yet He opened not His mouth;
He was led as a lamb to the slaughter,
And as a sheep before its shearers is silent,
So He opened not His mouth.
8 He was taken from prison and from
judgment,
And who will declare His generation?
For He was cut off from the land of the living;
For the transgressions of My people He was stricken.
9 And they<sup>a</sup> made His grave with the wicked—
But with the rich at His death,
Because He had done no violence,
Nor was any deceit in His mouth.
10 Yet it pleased the LORD to bruise Him;
He has put Him to grief.
When You make His soul an offering for sin,
He shall see His seed, He shall prolong His
days,
And the pleasure of the LORD shall prosper
in His hand.
11 He shall see the labor of His soul,<sup>a</sup> and be satisfied.

THE HERITAGE OF BARREN “SERVANTS” (Is. 54:17)

The prophet changed his message in a subtle, but important way. No longer did he speak of a single “Servant”; now he spoke of the plural “servants.” These servants were the Judean exiles, whose city Jerusalem was in ruins. Yet the prophet offered a message of hope as he turned to address “the heritage of the servants of the LORD” (Is. 54:17).

The situation of these “servants” is similar to that of a barren woman (Is. 54:1). In antiquity a single woman or a woman unable to bear children was in a vulnerable social and economic situation. Such a woman bore social shame from a society which believed infertility indicated a curse from God. Additionally, in a society where children provided “social security,” a barren or single woman could be left economically destitute upon the death of her husband. The barren woman provided a powerful image to describe the uncertain situation the people faced when they returned to their desolate city Jerusalem.

But God saw these servants much differently. Though barren, shamed, and a widow, the servants were not destitute. Judah had not been divorced. Her estranged husband would take her back, and she would yet bear children (54:5–10). They were not forsaken; on the contrary, their “husband” owned the wealth of all creation!

The prophet did not deny the servants’ current predicament: they were “afflicted” and “not comforted” (54:11). Yet because God was their husband, the future was anything but bleak: God would have mercy on them (54:8). The foundations and walls of their city would be rebuilt and inhabited by their children (54:11–13). This was their “heritage” as God’s servants.

By His knowledge My righteous Servant
shall justify many,
For He shall bear their iniquities.
12 Therefore I will divide Him a portion with the great,
And He shall divide the spoil with the strong,
Because He poured out His soul unto death,
And He was numbered with the
transgressors,
And He bore the sin of many,
And made intercession for the transgressors.

A Perpetual Covenant of Peace

54<sup>1</sup> “Sing, O barren,
You who have not borne!
Break forth into singing, and cry aloud,
You who have not labored with child!
For more are the children of the desolate
Than the children of the married woman,”
says the LORD.
2 “Enlarge the place of your tent,
And let them stretch out the curtains of your dwellings;
Do not spare;
Lengthen your cords,
And strengthen your stakes.
3 For you shall expand to the right and to the left,

And your descendants will inherit
the nations,
And make the desolate cities inhabited.

4 “Do not fear, for you will not be ashamed;
Neither be disgraced, for you will not be put to shame;
For you will forget the shame of your
youth,
And will not remember the reproach of your widowhood anymore.
5 For your Maker is your husband,
The LORD of hosts is His name;
And your Redeemer is the Holy One of Israel;
He is called the God of the whole earth.
6 For the LORD has called you Like a woman forsaken and grieved in spirit,
Like a youthful wife when you were refused,”
Says your God.
7 “For a mere moment I have forsaken you,
But with great mercies I will gather you.
8 With a little wrath I hid My face from you for a moment;
But with everlasting kindness I will have mercy on you,”
Says the LORD, your Redeemer.

9 “For this is like the waters of Noah to Me;
For as I have sworn
That the waters of Noah would no longer cover the earth,
So have I sworn
That I would not be angry with you, nor rebuke you.

Architecture & Building

The Arabs of the desert, known as the bedouin, live in tents made of dark goat hair. The floor plan of these tents is rectangular with an interior curtain dividing the tent into two parts. A standard tent is made of 6 to 8 lengths of cloth held up by 9 interior poles. The overall size can be up to 6 by 10 yards. Large tents are made twice the size of a standard tent (Is. 54:2).

And the hills be removed,
But My kindness shall not depart from
you,
Nor shall My covenant of peace be

Says the LORD, who has mercy on you.

Behold, I will lay your stones with colorful gems,
And lay your foundations with sapphires.
12 I will make your pinnacles of rubies,
Your gates of crystal,
And all your walls of precious stones.
13 All your children shall be taught by the
LORD,
And great shall be the peace of your children.
14 In righteousness you shall be established;
You shall be far from oppression, for you shall not fear;
And from terror, for it shall not come near
you.
15 Indeed they shall surely assemble, but not because of Me.
Whoever assembles against you shall fall
for your sake.
16 “Behold, I have created the blacksmith
Who blows the coals in the fire,
Who brings forth an instrument for his work;
And I have created the spoiler to destroy.
17 No weapon formed against you shall prosper,
And every tongue which rises against you in judgment
You shall condemn.
This is the heritage of the servants of the
LORD,
And their righteousness is from Me,”
Says the LORD.

An Invitation to Abundant Life

- 55 <sup>1</sup> “Ho! Everyone who thirsts,
Come to the waters;
And you who have no money,
Come, buy and eat.
Yes, come, buy wine and milk

2 Why do you spend money for what is not bread,
And your wages for what does not satisfy?
Listen carefully to Me, and eat what is
good,
And let your soul delight itself in abundance.

- 3 Incline your ear, and come to Me.
Hear, and your soul shall live;
And I will make an everlasting covenant
with you—
The sure mercies of David.
4 Indeed I have given him as a witness to
the people,
A leader and commander for the people.
5 Surely you shall call a nation you do not
know,
And nations who do not know you shall run to you,
Because of the LORD your God,
And the Holy One of Israel;
For He has glorified you.”
6 Seek the LORD while He may be found,
Call upon Him while He is near.
7 Let the wicked forsake his way,
And the unrighteous man his thoughts;
Let him return to the LORD,
And He will have mercy on him;
And to our God,
For He will abundantly pardon.
8 “For My thoughts are not your thoughts, Nor are your ways My ways,” says the
LORD.
9 “For as the heavens are higher than the
earth,
So are My ways higher than your ways,
And My thoughts than your thoughts.
10 “For as the rain comes down, and the snow from heaven,
And do not return there,
But water the earth,
And make it bring forth and bud,
That it may give seed to the sower
And bread to the eater,
11 So shall My word be that goes forth from
My mouth;
It shall not return to Me void,
But it shall accomplish what I please,

CYRUS ALLOWS THE JUDEANS TO GO HOME (2 CHR. 36:22, 23)

When Cyrus II ascended the throne of Persia in 559 B.C., he became the founder of the Achaemenid dynasty. In a string of military victories, Cyrus proceeded to conquer the largest territory in known history up to that time, stretching from the Indus River to central Anatolia.

The first major victories allowed Cyrus to successfully unite the Persian tribes and the Medes into a mighty kingdom. After defeating the Median Empire and its last king, Astyages, in 550 B.C., Cyrus declared himself the successor to the Median kings. Just 3 years later, in 547 B.C., a victory over Lydia and their king, Croesus, expanded Cyrus's empire toward Greece. At this point Cyrus turned his attention to his primary enemy, the Neo-Babylonian Empire.

Cyrus's crowning achievement was the conquest of Babylon and their king, Nabonidus, in 539 B.C. Virtually all of the Near East (excluding Egypt) was now under his authority. As with the victory of Media, Cyrus ruled Babylon not as a conquering foreigner, but as a successor to the previous Babylonian kings. This policy meant that the conquered people could maintain their local customs and culture, as well as their deities. Thus Cyrus restored honor and dignity to the Babylonian god Marduk.

Such a tolerant policy of allowing local cultures some autonomy in regard to their traditions had its advantages for Cyrus. This method was in direct contradiction to the harsh policies of deportation employed by the Assyrian and Chaldean kingdoms. Cyrus, though a conquering king, could also appear to be a benevolent king who assisted conquered peoples in preserving their sacred traditions.

Just as Cyrus respected the god Marduk of the Babylonians, so also did he respect the God Yahweh of the Judeans. Cyrus's proclamation (2 Chr. 36:22, 23) allowed the Judeans to return to Judea, to rebuild the Jerusalem temple, and to carry back the sacred objects which were confiscated by Babylon (Ezra 1:7–11). The Judean understanding of this restoration event placed a high view on Cyrus as the one Yahweh had anointed to overcome all nations (Is. 45:1–7).

And it shall prosper in the thing for which I sent it.

- 12 “For you shall go out with joy,
And be led out with peace;
The mountains and the hills
Shall break forth into singing before you,
And all the trees of the field shall clap their hands.
- 13 Instead of the thorn shall come up the cypress tree,
And instead of the brier shall come up the myrtle tree;
And it shall be to the LORD for a name,
For an everlasting sign that shall not be cut off.”

God Himself at work in Cyrus's proclamation of freedom, saw all their hopes fulfilled at once. The prophet Jeremiah's promise that the Exile would end after 70 years (Jer. 29:10) had come true.

It is with Cyrus's proclamation and the promise that it holds for a restored temple that the priestly historian concludes the Book of Chronicles (2 Chr. 36:22, 23). Thus the Chronicler, like the prophetic historian of Kings, ends with a ray of hope. But where 2 Kings ended with a faint hope—the elevation of the captive Jehoiachin to a position in the court of Babylon (2 Kin. 25:27–30)—Chronicles presents a brilliant new future. The exiled Judeans will return to the land of their fathers.

The prediction of Is. 45 that Cyrus the Great would capture Babylon and end the Exile bestows great honor on the Persian leader. He is called God's "anointed" (Is. 45:1; Hebrew messiah), but his action was more than just a favor for the Judeans. Archaeological finds from Cyrus's reign (559–530 B.C.) show that it was his standard policy to release all the captive peoples in the lands he conquered. He also allowed religious freedom in his many provinces. These wise policies were continued by his successors, and such tolerance engendered a great deal of loyalty among the Persian Empire's subjects.

Whatever Cyrus's reasons were, in 538 B.C. he proclaimed a release for the peoples held captive by Babylon. The exiled Judeans, recognizing

WISDOM IN THE ANCIENT NEAR EAST

The teaching tradition that is called “wisdom” appears in the Bible in the books of Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, and Job. The wisdom tradition is associated most of all with the figure of Solomon. Ecclesiastes, as well as proverbs ascribed to Solomon, are often read in light of his reputation for wisdom (see “The Book of Proverbs” at Prov. 1:1). The Book of Job and certain other proverbs, though, can be read in light of the larger world of non-Israelite wisdom.

Wisdom teachings appear to have several underlying assumptions. First, the proverbs of the wisdom teachers, or sages, assume that the world is orderly. Everything on earth happens for a just reason. This fairly optimistic premise is followed by an even more hopeful thought: human beings are able to understand that order. The world and its workings are comprehensible; therefore, the goal of the wise is to search out the underlying order of the world. Finally, the source of this knowledge is very human. The way to uncover the fixed principles by which the world operates is, first, through one’s own experience and observation, and second, through tradition, which is the experience of those who had come before.

Wisdom, as represented by this general description, is not unique to Israel and the Bible. In fact, the true center of the wisdom tradition in the ancient world seems to have been Egypt. The Egyptian sages were famous throughout the ancient Near East, and enough Egyptian wisdom writings have been discovered to indicate that this fame was deserved. Other wisdom writings have been found in Mesopotamia, especially in Babylon, and the Bible itself testifies to the fame of Edomite sages (Jer. 49:7; Obad. 1:8).

Wisdom teaching, then, was common in many cultures. Following the assumptions of wisdom, many people believed that humans, through their own experience, observation, and tradition, could search out and comprehend the fixed principles behind an orderly world. These assumptions appear essentially unchanged throughout the wisdom literature of the ancient orient. Even more impressive, they remained essentially unchanged by time. Ancient oriental wisdom endured with only minor variations for over 1,000 years, and it was still an important tradition up to and during the time of Christ.

Israel’s version of wisdom teaching is somewhat distinct, though. The basic assumptions of wisdom were quite secular. They spoke of worldly matters and had little to say about God. Wisdom was sought through human experience, not through prayer or any direct divine revelation. Israel’s sages, not quite comfortable with such a focus, sought to incorporate God more fully. As a result, Israel’s central theme was “The fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom” (Prov. 9:10). Devotion and obedience to God were seen as prior to and more important than the human quest for wisdom.

Some wisdom teachings are attributed to Solomon, and these can be read in the context of his reign. Most wisdom literature, however, is not so easily associated with a particular person or time. Indeed, wisdom seems rather uninterested in questions of chronological time. The sages sought to expound universal and eternal principles, and were less concerned with specific historical events.

Wisdom teachings largely ignored the fluctuating fortunes of historical kings and kingdoms, which perhaps explains why wisdom did not change greatly over time. Wisdom resisted new ideas and fads, preferring to pass on ancient and deep-rooted traditions. Indeed, many proverb collections are presented as a parent’s instruction to a child (Prov. 1:8; 4:1; 31:1). Wisdom teachings dealt with universal matters that apply just as well in every age, such as family relationships, wealth, hard work, and honesty.

Words of the Wise

The Book of Proverbs is a collection of short, pithy instructions. It is, in fact, a collection of collections of proverbs and wisdom teachings. While these collections appear in the Bible, they also show similarities to non-Israelite wisdom. By placing devotion and obedience to God above the human quest for wisdom, the Israelite sages were distinct from other wisdom teachers. But after giving primary position to God, they proceeded to search for wisdom by the same secular methods as other cultures: they stressed personal experience and tradition. As a result, the Book of Proverbs remains one of the most secular of all biblical books.

Two collections in the Book of Proverbs are identified by introductory attributions ascribing these teachings to “the wise” (Prov. 22:17; 24:23). Many of the proverbs found in these collections (Prov. 22:17—24:22 and 24:23—34), as well as the outline by which they are arranged, appear also in a book of Egyptian wisdom, called The Instruction of Amen-em-hotep. The relationship is too close to be coincidental. While it is difficult to tell which is oldest, it is clear that both the biblical proverbs and the Egyptian texts are versions of a single wisdom discourse.

Sayings of the Wise

22 :17 Incline your ear and hear the words of the wise,
 And apply your heart to my knowledge;
 18 For it is a pleasant thing if you keep them within you;
 Let them all be fixed upon your lips,
 19 So that your trust may be in the LORD;
 I have instructed you today, even you.
 20 Have I not written to you excellent things
 Of counsels and knowledge,
 21 That I may make you know the certainty of the words of truth,
 That you may answer words of truth
 To those who send to you?

22 Do not rob the poor because he is poor,
 Nor oppress the afflicted at the gate;
 23 For the LORD will plead their cause,
 And plunder the soul of those who plunder them.

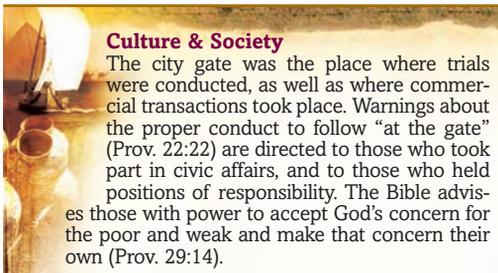

24 Make no friendship with an angry man,
 And with a furious man do not go,
 25 Lest you learn his ways
 And set a snare for your soul.

26 Do not be one of those who shakes hands
 in a pledge,
 One of those who is surety for debts;
 27 If you have nothing with which to pay,
 Why should he take away your bed from under you?

28 Do not remove the ancient landmark
 Which your fathers have set.

29 Do you see a man who excels in his work?
 He will stand before kings;
 He will not stand before unknown men.

23 <sup>1</sup> When you sit down to eat with a ruler,
 Consider carefully what is before you;
 2 And put a knife to your throat
 If you are a man given to appetite.

Culture & Society

The city gate was the place where trials were conducted, as well as where commercial transactions took place. Warnings about the proper conduct to follow “at the gate” (Prov. 22:22) are directed to those who took part in civic affairs, and to those who held positions of responsibility. The Bible advises those with power to accept God’s concern for the poor and weak and make that concern their own (Prov. 29:14).

3 Do not desire his delicacies,
 For they are deceptive food.

4 Do not overwork to be rich;
 Because of your own understanding, cease!
 5 Will you set your eyes on that which is not?
 For riches certainly make themselves wings;
 They fly away like an eagle toward heaven.

6 Do not eat the bread of a miser,<sup>a</sup>
 Nor desire his delicacies;
 7 For as he thinks in his heart, so is he.
 “Eat and drink!” he says to you,
 But his heart is not with you.
 8 The morsel you have eaten, you will vomit up,
 And waste your pleasant words.

9 Do not speak in the hearing of a fool,
 For he will despise the wisdom of your
 words.

10 Do not remove the ancient landmark,
 Nor enter the fields of the fatherless;
 11 For their Redeemer is mighty;
 He will plead their cause against
 you.

12 Apply your heart to instruction,
 And your ears to words of knowledge.

13 Do not withhold correction from a child,
 For if you beat him with a rod, he will not die.
 14 You shall beat him with a rod,
 And deliver his soul from hell.<sup>a</sup>

15 My son, if your heart is wise,
 My heart will rejoice—indeed, I myself;
 16 Yes, my inmost being will rejoice
 When your lips speak right things.

17 Do not let your heart envy sinners,
 But be zealous for the fear of the LORD all
 the day;
 18 For surely there is a hereafter,
 And your hope will not be cut off.

19 Hear, my son, and be wise;
 And guide your heart in the way.
 20 Do not mix with winebibbers,
 Or with gluttonous eaters of meat;
 21 For the drunkard and the glutton will come to poverty,
 And drowsiness will clothe a man with rags.

23:6 <sup>a</sup>Literally one who has an evil eye 23:14 <sup>a</sup>Or Sheol

22 Listen to your father who begot you,
And do not despise your mother when she is old.

23 Buy the truth, and do not sell it,
Also wisdom and instruction and understanding.

24 The father of the righteous will greatly rejoice,
And he who begets a wise child will delight
in him.

25 Let your father and your mother be glad,
And let her who bore you rejoice.

26 My son, give me your heart,
And let your eyes observe my ways.

27 For a harlot is a deep pit,
And a seductress is a narrow well.

28 She also lies in wait as for a victim,
And increases the unfaithful among men.

29 Who has woe?
Who has sorrow?
Who has contentions?
Who has complaints?
Who has wounds without cause?
Who has redness of eyes?

30 Those who linger long at the wine,
Those who go in search of mixed wine.

31 Do not look on the wine when it is red,
When it sparkles in the cup,
When it swirls around smoothly;

32 At the last it bites like a serpent,
And stings like a viper.

33 Your eyes will see strange things,
And your heart will utter perverse things.

34 Yes, you will be like one who lies down in the midst of the sea,
Or like one who lies at the top of the mast,
saying:

35 "They have struck me, but I was not hurt;
They have beaten me, but I did not feel it.
When shall I awake, that I may seek another drink?"

24 <sup>1</sup> Do not be envious of evil men,
Nor desire to be with them;

<sup>2</sup> For their heart devises violence,
And their lips talk of troublemaking.

<sup>3</sup> Through wisdom a house is built,
And by understanding it is established;

<sup>4</sup> By knowledge the rooms are filled
With all precious and pleasant riches.

<sup>5</sup> A wise man is strong,
Yes, a man of knowledge increases strength;

<sup>6</sup> For by wise counsel you will wage your own war,
And in a multitude of counselors there is safety.

<sup>7</sup> Wisdom is too lofty for a fool;
He does not open his mouth in the gate.

<sup>8</sup> He who plots to do evil
Will be called a schemer.

<sup>9</sup> The devising of foolishness is sin,
And the scoffer is an abomination to
men.

<sup>10</sup> If you faint in the day of adversity,
Your strength is small.

<sup>11</sup> Deliver those who are drawn toward death,
And hold back those stumbling to the slaughterer.

<sup>12</sup> If you say, "Surely we did not know this,"
Does not He who weighs the hearts consider it?
He who keeps your soul, does He not know
it?
And will He not render to each man
according to his deeds?

<sup>13</sup> My son, eat honey because it is good,
And the honeycomb which is sweet to your taste;

<sup>14</sup> So shall the knowledge of wisdom be to your soul;
If you have found it, there is a prospect,
And your hope will not be cut off.

<sup>15</sup> Do not lie in wait, O wicked man, against the dwelling of the righteous;

<sup>16</sup> Do not plunder his resting place;
For a righteous man may fall seven times
And rise again,
But the wicked shall fall by calamity.

<sup>17</sup> Do not rejoice when your enemy falls,
And do not let your heart be glad when he stumbles;

<sup>18</sup> Lest the LORD see it, and it displease Him,
And He turn away His wrath from him.

<sup>19</sup> Do not fret because of evildoers,
Nor be envious of the wicked;

<sup>20</sup> For there will be no prospect for the evil
man;
The lamp of the wicked will be put out.

<sup>21</sup> My son, fear the LORD and the king;
Do not associate with those given to change;

- 22 For their calamity will rise suddenly,
And who knows the ruin those two can bring?

<sup>23</sup>These things also belong to the wise:

- It is not good to show partiality in
judgment.*
- 24 He who says to the wicked, “You are righteous,”
Him the people will curse;
Nations will abhor him.
- 25 But those who rebuke the wicked will have delight,
And a good blessing will come upon them.
- 26 He who gives a right answer kisses the lips.
- 27 Prepare your outside work,
Make it fit for yourself in the field;
And afterward build your house.
- 28 Do not be a witness against your neighbor without cause,
For would you deceive<sup>a</sup> with your lips?
29 Do not say, “I will do to him just as he has done to me;
I will render to the man according to his
work.”
- 30 I went by the field of the lazy man,
And by the vineyard of the man devoid of
understanding;
31 And there it was, all overgrown with thorns;
Its surface was covered with nettles;
Its stone wall was broken down.
- 32 When I saw it, I considered it well;
I looked on it and received instruction:
33 A little sleep, a little slumber,
A little folding of the hands to rest;
34 So shall your poverty come like a prowler,
And your need like an armed man.

The Wisdom of Agur and Lemuel

The final two chapters of Proverbs are attributed to men named Agur and Lemuel. Neither of these men are mentioned elsewhere. Appearing in both attributions (Prov. 30:1; 31:1) is the Hebrew word massa, which can be translated as “burden” or “utterance,” as it is used by the prophets (Is. 17:1; 19:1). The word might also be the name of a place—Massa (Gen. 25:14; 1 Chr. 1:30). If so, the attributions might associate Agur and Lemuel with a country or city named “Massa.” For instance, Prov. 31:1 would begin,

Even if these teachers are not from a place called Massa, they do not appear to be Israelite. There was no King Lemuel in Israel, and the name “Agur” is not formed in a typical Hebrew fashion. Agur’s name does appear in Sabeian inscriptions, and in light of that foreign source, it is interesting that the teachings of Agur include some of the most religiously oriented of all the proverbs in the book.

The Wisdom of Agur

30:1 The words of Agur the son of Jakeh, his utterance. This man declared to Ithiel—to Ithiel and Ucal:

- 2 Surely I am more stupid than any man,
And do not have the understanding of a man.
- 3 I neither learned wisdom
Nor have knowledge of the Holy One.
- 4 Who has ascended into heaven, or descended?
Who has gathered the wind in His fists?
Who has bound the waters in a garment?
Who has established all the ends of the
earth?
What is His name, and what is His Son’s
name,
If you know?
- 5 Every word of God is pure;
He is a shield to those who put their trust
in Him.
- 6 Do not add to His words,
Lest He rebuke you, and you be found a liar.
- 7 Two things I request of You (Deprive me not before I die):
8 Remove falsehood and lies far from me;
Give me neither poverty nor riches—
Feed me with the food allotted to me;
9 Lest I be full and deny You,
And say, “Who is the LORD?”
Or lest I be poor and steal,
And profane the name of my God.
- 10 Do not malign a servant to his master,
Lest he curse you, and you be found guilty.
- 11 There is a generation that curses its father,
And does not bless its mother.

24:28 <sup>a</sup>Septuagint and Vulgate read Do not deceive.

HUMANS IN HEAVEN (PROV. 30:4)

Agur asks in his proverb, “Who has ascended into heaven?” (Prov. 30:1, 4). In the ancient mythology of Mesopotamia and Syria-Palestine, human beings did not enter heaven. The common belief was that the gods had created people for the express purpose of serving on earth. The gods did not have to worry about menial tasks; they had human servants to feed and care for them. The closest humans were allowed to approach heaven was as priests working in the temples.

Myths from Mesopotamia attempt to explain why humans are not in heaven. The story of Adapa is a Mesopotamian myth known from a tablet found at Asshur and at Tell el-Amarna, Egypt, dating from around 1350 B.C. The myth relates how the priest Adapa went to heaven and was offered food that would have made him immortal and allowed him to stay in heaven. He refused the food, for reasons that are not clear, and was cast out of heaven.

The story of Etana is credited as the work of Lu-Nanna, an official in the court of Shulgi, king of Ur (2094–2047 B.C.). It tells how Etana tried to reach heaven by flying up on the back of an eagle, but the gods threw him back to earth. Heaven is for gods; earth is for humans.

In contrast to these Mesopotamian myths is the story of Elijah. This prophet of Yahweh was so important that he was taken, while still alive, into heaven by God (2 Kin. 2:1, 11, 12). Unlike other humans, this one person was worthy of heaven. The story would have been more wondrous in Elijah’s time than now, since people then did not think that humans, living or dead, were allowed into the realm of the gods. Agur, in his proverb, is skeptical that heaven is accessible to humans—it is God’s realm (Prov. 30:4).

Yet is not washed from its filthiness.

13 There is a generation—oh, how lofty are their eyes!

WINE OR INTOXICATING DRINK (Prov. 31:4)

One characteristic of Hebrew poetry is the repetition of similar thoughts in couplets, such as the repeated objects “wine” and “intoxicating drink” in Prov. 31:4. These two items appear in parallel, demonstrating that the author considered them in more or less the same light. In other passages wine and intoxicating drink are similarly mentioned together (Lev. 10:9; 1 Sam. 1:15).

There is evidence, from later times, that the difference between “wine” and “intoxicating drink” was one of concentration rather than of formula. The juice of the grapes was stored in full strength in jars soon after the squeezing process. When it came time to drink the juice, water was mixed with it. The amount of water added determined whether the product was considered “wine” or “intoxicating drink.” In New Testament times we know that the most common mixture for “wine” was three or more parts of water for each portion of juice.

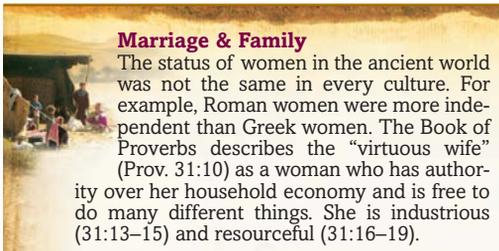

“Intoxicating drink” was a mixture of juice and water with a stronger portion of juice. Drinking the juice without diluting it was thought to make one mad. So it was that Hannah protested to the priest Eli that her actions were due to grief, not to drunkenness, because she had not been drinking an “intoxicating drink” or even wine (1 Sam. 1:15, 16). Similarly, kings and princes were warned to abstain from anything that would obscure their reason, causing them to fail in their responsibilities of leadership (Prov. 31:4, 5).

- 33 For as the churning of milk produces butter,
And wringing the nose produces blood,
So the forcing of wrath produces strife.

The Words of King Lemuel's Mother

31 <sup>1</sup>The words of King Lemuel, the utterance which his mother taught him:

- 2 What, my son?
And what, son of my womb?
And what, son of my vows?
3 Do not give your strength to women,
Nor your ways to that which destroys kings.
4 It is not for kings, O Lemuel,
It is not for kings to drink wine,
Nor for princes intoxicating drink;
5 Lest they drink and forget the law,
And pervert the justice of all the afflicted.
6 Give strong drink to him who is perishing,
And wine to those who are bitter of heart.
7 Let him drink and forget his poverty,
And remember his misery no more.
8 Open your mouth for the speechless,
In the cause of all who are appointed to die.<sup>a</sup>
9 Open your mouth, judge righteously,
And plead the cause of the poor and needy.

Marriage & Family

The status of women in the ancient world was not the same in every culture. For example, Roman women were more independent than Greek women. The Book of Proverbs describes the “virtuous wife” (Prov. 31:10) as a woman who has authority over her household economy and is free to do many different things. She is industrious (31:13–15) and resourceful (31:16–19).

The Virtuous Wife

- 10 Who<sup>a</sup> can find a virtuous<sup>b</sup> wife?
For her worth is far above rubies.
11 The heart of her husband safely trusts her;
So he will have no lack of gain.
12 She does him good and not evil
All the days of her life.
13 She seeks wool and flax,
And willingly works with her hands.
14 She is like the merchant ships,
She brings her food from afar.
15 She also rises while it is yet night,
And provides food for her household,
And a portion for her maidservants.
16 She considers a field and buys it;
From her profits she plants a vineyard.
17 She girds herself with strength,
And strengthens her arms.
18 She perceives that her merchandise
is good,
And her lamp does not go out by night.
19 She stretches out her hands to the distaff,
And her hand holds the spindle.
20 She extends her hand to the poor,
Yes, she reaches out her hands to the needy.
21 She is not afraid of snow for her household,
For all her household is clothed with scarlet.
22 She makes tapestry for herself;
Her clothing is fine linen and purple.
23 Her husband is known in the gates,
When he sits among the elders of the land.
24 She makes linen garments and sells them,
And supplies sashes for the merchants.
25 Strength and honor are her clothing;
She shall rejoice in time to come.
26 She opens her mouth with wisdom,
And on her tongue is the law of kindness.

31:8 <sup>a</sup>Literally sons of passing away 31:10 <sup>a</sup>Verses 10 through 31 are an alphabetic acrostic in Hebrew (compare Psalm 119).

<sup>b</sup>Literally a wife of valor, in the sense of all forms of excellence

- 27 She watches over the ways of her household,
And does not eat the bread of idleness.
- 28 Her children rise up and call her blessed;
Her husband also, and he praises her:
- 29 “Many daughters have done well,
But you excel them all.”
- 30 Charm is deceitful and beauty is passing,
But a woman who fears the LORD, she shall be praised.
- 31 Give her of the fruit of her hands,
And let her own works praise her in the gates.

The Book of Job

The Book of Job is a work of unparalleled magnificence and power. Its depth of thought and feeling, its shining moments of insight, and the transcendent poetry of the central section all give this book a unique place, not only in Scripture but in all of world literature.

This book also stands apart in terms of its historical setting. On the one hand, certain aspects of Job's life sound much like the life of Abraham. His wealth, like Abraham's, was based on numbers of domestic animals. Like Abraham, he offered his own sacrifices to God, without a priestly intermediary. For reasons such as these, many scholars have set the book in Abraham's time during the Middle Bronze Age (2000–1500 B.C.).

Nevertheless, the Book of Job itself offers no historical specificity. Within the Old Testament, where geographical and chronological specificity are common, the introduction of Job has all the vagueness of the traditional opening “Once upon a time, in a far away land.” We are told only of “a man in the land of Uz, whose name was Job” (Job 1:1).

The location of the land of Uz is uncertain, but it was more likely in Edom than in Israel. The name Uz appears several times as an Edomite name (Gen. 36:28; 1 Chr. 1:42). Associating Uz with Edom makes sense. Job's three friends appear as wisdom teachers, and Edom was famous for its wise men (see “Wisdom in the Ancient Near East” at Prov. 22:17). Indeed Job's first friend, Eliphaz the Temanite, also has an Edomite name (see Gen. 36:15, 16). If Job was an Edomite, then he would not come from the time of Abraham, since the Edomites descended from Abraham's grandson Esau.

Besides a geographical setting that is possibly Edomite and at least non-Israelite, all that the Book of Job provides is the intellectual setting of the wisdom tradition. The wisdom setting is by far the most important context. The book both speaks within and speaks against the teaching of the sages, as represented by Job's three friends Eliphaz, Bildad, and Zophar. As these friends try to “comfort” Job, they present the wisdom worldview in speeches that are little more than strings of proverbs. And when Job opposes the friends, he opposes some of wisdom's basic assumptions.

Most significantly, Job rejects wisdom's view that the world is orderly, that all is arranged according to just principles. His tragedy is not just. Righteousness does not always result in good fortune. Bad things do happen to good people. His friends' argument—that Job must have sinned to deserve such suffering—only indicates the poverty of this particular aspect of wisdom teaching. Job also rejects the idea that wisdom is to be sought from tradition. If his three friends represent the teachings of tradition, he wants nothing to do with it (Job 12:2, 3).

Nevertheless, Job does not give up his search for enlightenment and never completely gives up his hope for justice. Nor does he surrender his faith in knowledge by experience. Indeed, it is experience that he seeks: he demands that he be allowed to see God, to present his complaint before Him. Job's wish is granted in God's majestic appearance and speech (Job 38—41). Not all of Job's questions are answered, but it is enough for Job to have experienced God Himself.

The Book of Job belongs in the context of Israel's wisdom tradition, but at what point in the long history of Israel's wisdom? The story of Job was evidently known to the prophet Ezekiel, preaching in exile in Babylon, who used Job as an example of righteousness (Ezek. 14:14, 20). More certain than when Job's story takes place or when the Book of Job was written is that it came to prominence during and after the Babylonian captivity. It is not hard to imagine why. A people stunned by the destruction of all that they had held dear—their nation, their city, their temple—dealt with the same questions that Job himself confronted.

Since a definite historical setting for the Book of Job is unknown, one can read the book in light of the suffering of the Exile and the questions the exiles faced. The prologue (Job 1; 2) concerns the question of Job's motive for serving God. Satan insinuates that people lead upright lives because of selfishness, not because of love for God. God, however, expresses His complete confidence in His servant Job before the hosts of heaven, citing Job to prove that a person can live a blameless and upright life.

ENTER THE ADVERSARY—SATAN (JOB 1:6–12)

In the scenes of the heavenly assembly (Job 1; 2), only one heavenly being, other than God Himself, is identified. This character is referred to in Hebrew only by his title, which means “the adversary.” In English he is called “Satan” (Job 1:6; 2:1). The Adversary is a divine figure, one of the “sons of God,” who serves under and reports to Yahweh.

In the human royal courts of the ancient Near East, one officer of the king’s court was assigned to seek out and report any behavior contrary to the laws or proclamations of the ruler. The Adversary performed this office for Yahweh in heaven, and so could be considered “the divine prosecuting attorney.” It was his responsibility to bring charges and produce proofs. The case being brought against Job is a test, as both God and the Adversary know that Job has been perfect (Job 1:8).

The behavior of the Adversary conforms to the accepted manner of secondary level deities in Canaanite mythology. The Adversary differs in one sense from the deities portrayed in the Ugaritic myths: he accepts orders from his superior and carries them out only within the guidelines established by God, never breaking the rules imposed upon him. The responsibility for Job’s ordeal lies with God, who instigated the debate and authorized the activity proposed and carried out by the Adversary (Job 1:12; 2:3).

In the Book of Job the Adversary is a member of the divine court in good standing. The idea for this character could have had its source in almost any human royal court. Later, the idea developed into Satan as the embodiment of all evil, as is found in some New Testament passages (Rom. 16:20). Such a development begins to show in the Chronicler’s figure of Satan as a divine being opposing the will of God (1 Chr. 21:1).

hundred yoke of oxen, five hundred female donkeys, and a very large household, so that this man was the greatest of all the people of the East.

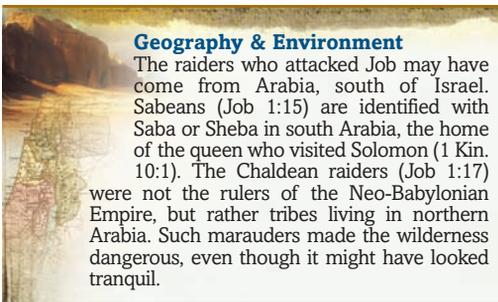

<sup>4</sup>And his sons would go and feast in their houses, each on his appointed day, and would send and invite their three sisters to eat and drink with them. <sup>5</sup>So it was, when the days of feasting had run their course, that Job would send and sanctify them, and he would rise early in the morning and offer burnt offerings according to the number of them all. For Job said, “It may be that my sons have sinned and cursed<sup>a</sup> God in their hearts.” Thus Job did regularly.

Satan Attacks Job’s Character

<sup>6</sup>Now there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the LORD, and Satan<sup>a</sup> also came among them. <sup>7</sup>And the LORD said to Satan, “From where do you come?”

So Satan answered the LORD and said, “From going to and fro on the earth, and from walking back and forth on it.”

<sup>8</sup>Then the LORD said to Satan, “Have you considered My servant Job, that there is none like him on the earth, a blameless and upright man, one who fears God and shuns evil?”

Geography & Environment

The raiders who attacked Job may have come from Arabia, south of Israel. Sabeans (Job 1:15) are identified with Saba or Sheba in south Arabia, the home of the queen who visited Solomon (1 Kin. 10:1). The Chaldean raiders (Job 1:17) were not the rulers of the Neo-Babylonian Empire, but rather tribes living in northern Arabia. Such marauders made the wilderness dangerous, even though it might have looked tranquil.

<sup>9</sup>So Satan answered the LORD and said, “Does Job fear God for nothing? <sup>10</sup>Have You not made a hedge around him, around his household, and around all that he has on every side? You have blessed the work of his hands, and his possessions have increased in the land. <sup>11</sup>But now, stretch out Your hand and touch all that he has, and he will surely curse You to Your face!”

<sup>12</sup>And the LORD said to Satan, “Behold, all that he has is in your power; only do not lay a hand on his person.”

So Satan went out from the presence of the LORD.

Job Loses His Property and Children

<sup>13</sup>Now there was a day when his sons and daughters were eating and drinking wine in their oldest brother’s house; <sup>14</sup>and a messenger came to Job and said, “The oxen were plowing and the donkeys feeding beside them, <sup>15</sup>when the Sabeans<sup>a</sup> raided them and took them away—indeed they have killed the servants with the edge of the sword; and I alone have escaped to tell you!”

<sup>16</sup>While he was still speaking, another also came and said, “The fire of God fell from heaven and burned up the sheep and the servants, and consumed them; and I alone have escaped to tell you!”

<sup>17</sup>While he was still speaking, another also came and said, “The Chaldeans formed three bands, raided the camels and took them away, yes, and killed the servants with the edge of the sword; and I alone have escaped to tell you!”

1:5 <sup>a</sup>Literally blessed, but used here in the evil sense, and so in verse 11 and 2:5, 9 1:6 <sup>a</sup>Literally the Adversary, and so throughout this book 1:15 <sup>a</sup>Literally Sheba (compare 6:19)

POTSHERDS FROM THE ASHES (JOB 2:8)

It may seem curious that Job would scrape himself with a “potsherd” (Job 2:8). Potsherds, though, were one of the most common items in the ancient world.

Clay was used to make everything from cooking pots to large storage jars. Containers were formed by hand, while being rotated to help the forming process. Once crafted, large numbers of pots were collected in ovens, where they were hardened by high-temperature baking.

Large pots, which could reach over 6 feet in height, had pointed bases and were buried in the ground, with the earth becoming the most stable of all settings. Most pots, however, were easily held in one hand. The life expectancy of these pots, especially those used daily, was short, perhaps less than a year. Once a pot was broken, its sherds (or shards) were left where they fell. Archaeologists collect and use these broken pieces to locate and date ancient sites.

That Job used a “potsherd” to scrape his sores tells us that he was sitting in an area of habitation, where pots had been broken. Evidently that potsherd was a broken piece from a cooking pot, since he was sitting among the ashes.

<sup>18</sup>While he was still speaking, another also came and said, “Your sons and daughters were eating and drinking wine in their oldest brother’s house, <sup>19</sup>and suddenly a great wind came from across<sup>a</sup> the wilderness and struck the four corners of the house, and it fell on the young people, and they are dead; and I alone have escaped to tell you!”

<sup>20</sup>Then Job arose, tore his robe, and shaved his head; and he fell to the ground and worshiped. <sup>21</sup>And he said:

“Naked I came from my mother’s womb,
And naked shall I return there.
The LORD gave, and the LORD has taken
away;
Blessed be the name of the LORD.”

<sup>22</sup>In all this Job did not sin nor charge God with wrong.

Satan Attacks Job’s Health

2 Again there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the LORD, and Satan came also among them to present himself before the LORD. <sup>2</sup>And the LORD said to Satan, “From where do you come?”

Satan answered the LORD and said, “From going to and fro on the earth, and from walking back and forth on it.”

<sup>3</sup>Then the LORD said to Satan, “Have you considered My servant Job, that there is none like him on the earth, a blameless and upright man, one who fears God and shuns evil? And still he holds fast to his integrity, although you incited Me against him, to destroy him without cause.”

<sup>4</sup>So Satan answered the LORD and said, “Skin for skin! Yes, all that a man has he will give for his life. <sup>5</sup>But stretch out Your hand now, and touch his bone and his flesh, and he will surely curse You to Your face!”

<sup>6</sup>And the LORD said to Satan, “Behold, he is in your hand, but spare his life.”

<sup>7</sup>So Satan went out from the presence of the LORD, and struck Job with painful boils from the sole of his foot to the crown of his head. <sup>8</sup>And he took for himself a potsherd with which to scrape himself while he sat in the midst of the ashes.

<sup>9</sup>Then his wife said to him, “Do you still hold fast to your integrity? Curse God and die!”

<sup>10</sup>But he said to her, “You speak as one of the foolish women speaks. Shall we indeed accept good from God, and shall we not accept adversity?” In all this Job did not sin with his lips.

Job’s Three Friends

<sup>11</sup>Now when Job’s three friends heard of all this adversity that had come upon him, each one came from his own place—Eliphaz the Temanite, Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite. For they had made an appointment together to come and mourn with him, and to comfort him. <sup>12</sup>And when they raised their eyes from afar, and did not recognize him, they lifted their voices and wept; and each one tore his robe and sprinkled dust on his head toward heaven. <sup>13</sup>So they sat down with him on the ground seven days and seven nights, and no one spoke a word to him, for they saw that his grief was very great.

Job: May That Day Be Darkness

When Job finally breaks his silence, his words express doubt about the entire wisdom worldview (ch. 3). The wisdom teachers taught first of all that the world was orderly and just. Israel’s sages, seeking to incorporate God more fully into the wisdom tradition, emphasized God’s role as the wise Creator of this good world (see Prov. 8:22–31). Job’s speech, while never actually accusing God, undercuts this comforting picture of benevolent creation.

1:19 <sup>a</sup>Septuagint omits across.

In the Bible, God begins creation by making light and darkness and naming them day and night (Gen. 1:3–5). Job’s speech reverses this picture by calling down curses on day and night (Job 3:3–8) and rejecting the gift of light (3:20, 24). In Genesis, God rested after creating the world, but Job finds no rest on earth (3:26) and wishes for the only rest he can imagine—the rest of death (3:13, 17).

Job Deplores His Birth

3:1 After this Job opened his mouth and cursed the day of his birth. <sup>2</sup>And Job spoke, and said:

- 3 “May the day perish on which I was born,
And the night in which it was said,
‘A male child is conceived.’
4 May that day be darkness;
May God above not seek it,
Nor the light shine upon it.
5 May darkness and the shadow of death claim it;
May a cloud settle on it;
May the blackness of the day terrify it.
6 As for that night, may darkness seize it;
May it not rejoice<sup>a</sup> among the days of the year,
May it not come into the number of the months.
7 Oh, may that night be barren!
May no joyful shout come into it!
8 May those curse it who curse the day,
Those who are ready to arouse Leviathan.
9 May the stars of its morning be dark;
May it look for light, but have none,
And not see the dawning of the day;
10 Because it did not shut up the doors of my mother’s womb,
Nor hide sorrow from my eyes.
11 “Why did I not die at birth?
Why did I not perish when I came from the womb?
12 Why did the knees receive me?
Or why the breasts, that I should nurse?
13 For now I would have lain still and been quiet,
I would have been asleep;
Then I would have been at rest
14 With kings and counselors of the earth,
Who built ruins for themselves,
15 Or with princes who had gold,
Who filled their houses with silver;
16 Or why was I not hidden like a stillborn child,
Like infants who never saw light?

- 17 There the wicked cease from troubling,
And there the weary are at rest.
18 There the prisoners rest together;
They do not hear the voice of the oppressor.
19 The small and great are there,
And the servant is free from his master.
20 “Why is light given to him who is in misery,
And life to the bitter of soul,
21 Who long for death, but it does not come,
And search for it more than hidden treasures;
22 Who rejoice exceedingly,
And are glad when they can find the grave?
23 Why is light given to a man whose way is hidden,
And whom God has hedged in?
24 For my sighing comes before I eat,<sup>a</sup>
And my groanings pour out like water.
25 For the thing I greatly feared has come upon me,
And what I dreaded has happened to me.
26 I am not at ease, nor am I quiet;
I have no rest, for trouble comes.”

3:6 <sup>a</sup>Septuagint, Syriac, Targum, and Vulgate read be joined.

Eliphaz: Who Ever Perished Being Innocent?

After Job’s first speech (ch. 3), the Book of Job proceeds with three rounds of speeches: each friend speaks in turn and is answered by Job. As the first round (4:1—14:22) begins, Eliphaz the Temanite defends the traditional wisdom view of an orderly world (chs. 4; 5).

In this just and orderly world, the sages taught, righteousness is rewarded and wickedness is punished. Many proverbs express this notion. For instance, Prov. 10:27 says, “The fear of the LORD prolongs days, but the years of the wicked will be shortened” (see also Prov. 10:3, 24, 28, 30). Eliphaz expresses this view as an attempt at comfort: Job’s own fear of the Lord should be his hope (Job 4:6).

In the midst of his traditional teachings, Eliphaz includes a surprising account of an angelic vision (4:12—5:7). This account is curious, first, because wisdom teachers did not usually rely on direct revelations, and second because the angel’s message that humans cannot be righteous (4:17) is also uncharacteristic of wisdom. As he closes his speech, however, Eliphaz returns to the traditional wisdom theme that God will reward righteousness.

• Job 4:1—5:27

HUMANS ARE NOT PERFECT BEFORE GOD (JOB 4:18, 19)

Eliphaz employs a kind of rabbinic logic which argues from an example of greater importance to one of lesser importance. If the point is true of the greater, then it should be true of the lesser. In this case, he argues from angels to humans.

God's angels are His "servants" (Job 4:18). The angels were heavenly beings who carried out the orders of the superior gods. In the Old Testament and in texts from Ugarit, these messengers do exactly as they are commanded; they have no free will. This picture of angels sets up the first stage of Eliphaz's argument.

However powerful they may be, the angels are only servants of God and are not perfect as is God. However innocent of wrongdoing angels may appear to humans, before God even they are not without fault. How, then, can Job, a mere human being who is less than the obedient angels (Job 4:19), claim to be innocent before God? Eliphaz was convinced that no human could claim to be just before God since the angels, who are greater than Job, cannot make such a claim.

Job

Eliphaz: Job Has Sinned

4 :1 Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said:

2 "If one attempts a word with you, will you become weary?
But who can withhold himself from speaking?
3 Surely you have instructed many,
And you have strengthened weak hands.
4 Your words have upheld him who was stumbling,
And you have strengthened the feeble knees;
5 But now it comes upon you, and you are weary;
It touches you, and you are troubled.
6 Is not your reverence your confidence?
And the integrity of your ways your hope?
7 "Remember now, who ever perished being innocent?
Or where were the upright ever cut off?
8 Even as I have seen,
Those who plow iniquity
And sow trouble reap the same.
9 By the blast of God they perish,
And by the breath of His anger they are consumed.
10 The roaring of the lion,
The voice of the fierce lion,
And the teeth of the young lions are broken.
11 The old lion perishes for lack of prey,
And the cubs of the lioness are scattered.
12 "Now a word was secretly brought to me,
And my ear received a whisper of it.
13 In disquieting thoughts from the visions of the night,
When deep sleep falls on men,

14 Fear came upon me, and trembling,
Which made all my bones shake.
15 Then a spirit passed before my face;
The hair on my body stood up.
16 It stood still,
But I could not discern its appearance.
A form was before my eyes;
There was silence;
Then I heard a voice saying:
17 'Can a mortal be more righteous than God?
Can a man be more pure than his Maker?
18 If He puts no trust in His servants,
If He charges His angels with error,
19 How much more those who dwell in houses of clay,
Whose foundation is in the dust,
Who are crushed before a moth?
20 They are broken in pieces from morning till evening;
They perish forever, with no one regarding.
21 Does not their own excellence go away?
They die, even without wisdom.'

Eliphaz: Job Is Chastened by God

5 <sup>1</sup> "Call out now;
Is there anyone who will answer you?
And to which of the holy ones will you turn?
2 For wrath kills a foolish man,
And envy slays a simple one.
3 I have seen the foolish taking root,
But suddenly I cursed his dwelling place.
4 His sons are far from safety,
They are crushed in the gate,
And there is no deliverer.
5 Because the hungry eat up his harvest,
Taking it even from the thorns,<sup>a</sup>
And a snare snatches their substance.<sup>b</sup>
6 For affliction does not come from the dust,
Nor does trouble spring from the ground;
7 Yet man is born to trouble,
As the sparks fly upward.

5:5 <sup>a</sup>Septuagint reads They shall not be taken from evil men;
Vulgate reads And the armed man shall take him by violence.
And the thirsty shall drink up their riches.

8 "But as for me, I would seek God,
And to God I would commit my cause—
9 Who does great things, and unsearchable,

10 Marvelous things without number.
 He gives rain on the earth,
 And sends waters on the fields.
 11 He sets on high those who are lowly,
 And those who mourn are lifted to safety.
 12 He frustrates the devices of the crafty,
 So that their hands cannot carry out their plans.
 13 He catches the wise in their own craftiness,
 And the counsel of the cunning comes quickly upon them.
 14 They meet with darkness in the daytime,
 And grope at noontime as in the night.
 15 But He saves the needy from the sword,
 From the mouth of the mighty,
 And from their hand.
 16 So the poor have hope,
 And injustice shuts her mouth.
 17 “Behold, happy is the man whom God corrects; Therefore do not despise the chastening of the Almighty.
 18 For He bruises, but He binds up;
 He wounds, but His hands make whole.
 19 He shall deliver you in six troubles,
 Yes, in seven no evil shall touch you.
 20 In famine He shall redeem you from death,
 And in war from the power of the sword.
 21 You shall be hidden from the scourge of the tongue,
 And you shall not be afraid of destruction
 when it comes.
 22 You shall laugh at destruction and famine,
 And you shall not be afraid of the beasts of
 the earth.
 23 For you shall have a covenant with the stones of the field,
 And the beasts of the field shall be at peace
 with you.

24 You shall know that your tent is in peace;
 You shall visit your dwelling and find nothing amiss.
 25 You shall also know that your descendants shall be many,
 And your offspring like the grass of the
 earth.
 26 You shall come to the grave at a full age,
 As a sheaf of grain ripens in its season.
 27 Behold, this we have searched out;
 It is true.
 Hear it, and know for yourself.”

Job: What Does Your Arguing Prove?

The traditional wisdom expressed by Eliphaz—that in an orderly world the righteous will prosper—did nothing for Job. Job knows that he is innocent and yet is suffering. Job is as disappointed by Eliphaz’s heavy-handed comfort as a desert caravan is disappointed by a dry stream (6:15–20). Job rejects his friend’s words of traditional wisdom as having no bearing on his particular case (6:24–26).

In this second speech (chs. 7; 8), Job still does not explicitly accuse God. Nevertheless, his words again reveal his struggle against the traditional picture of God. In ch. 3 Job questioned the goodness of God’s creation. In ch. 7 he questions God’s benevolence. The great hymn of Ps. 8 expresses wonder that God should love humanity—“What is man that You are mindful of him?” (Ps. 8:4)—but Job turns that sentiment on its head and wishes that God would leave humanity alone. “What is man, that You should exalt him . . . And test him every moment?” (Job 7:17, 18).

NABONIDUS IN TEMA (JOB 6:19)

The city of Tema was at the crossroads of three important trade routes running through northern Arabia. An oasis was nearby, allowing the city to exist in this desert region. Caravans passing through Tema (Job 6:19) would have been familiar with streams that run during the rainy season, but dry up when they are most needed. Such streams were an appropriate illustration for Job to employ in describing his undependable “friends” (Job 6:15–20).

Tema is mentioned in Assyrian sources by the 8th century B.C. Temanite and Sabaeen caravans paid tribute to Tiglath-Pileser III (744–727 B.C.). By the end of the 7th century B.C., Tema was in competition with Dedan for control of the incense trade in the region.

The last of the late Babylonian monarchs, Nabonidus (556–539 B.C.), penetrated this area around 553 or 552 B.C. Leaving the capital Babylon to be ruled by his son Belshazzar, Nabonidus camped out at Tema for a decade. It is possible that he saw fit to make Tema his residence for such an extended period in order to control the major trade routes.

Numerous inscriptions, both in Aramaic and in Thamudic (the local Tema script), suggest that Tema continued as a major trading center during the Persian period (559–331 B.C.). Tema in northwest Arabia worked closely with the Sabaeans from Saba (or Sheba) in southwest Arabia to dominate the incense trade. It is natural then that Job should mention Tema and Sheba together (Job 6:19).

Job: My Complaint Is Just

6:1 Then Job answered and said:

2 “Oh, that my grief were fully weighed,
And my calamity laid with it on the scales!
3 For then it would be heavier than the sand of the sea—
Therefore my words have been rash.
4 For the arrows of the Almighty are within
me;
My spirit drinks in their poison;
The terrors of God are arrayed against me.
5 Does the wild donkey bray when it has grass,
Or does the ox low over its fodder?
6 Can flavorless food be eaten without salt?
Or is there any taste in the white of an egg?
7 My soul refuses to touch them;
They are as loathsome food to me.
8 “Oh, that I might have my request,
That God would grant me the thing that I long for!
9 That it would please God to crush me,
That He would loose His hand and cut me
off!
10 Then I would still have comfort;
Though in anguish I would exult,
He will not spare;
For I have not concealed the words of the Holy One.
11 “What strength do I have, that I should hope?
And what is my end, that I should prolong my life?
12 Is my strength the strength of stones?
Or is my flesh bronze?
13 Is my help not within me?

And is success driven from me?

14 “To him who is afflicted, kindness should be shown by his friend,
Even though he forsakes the fear of the Almighty.
15 My brothers have dealt deceitfully like a brook,
Like the streams of the brooks that pass
away,
16 Which are dark because of the ice,
And into which the snow vanishes.
17 When it is warm, they cease to flow;
When it is hot, they vanish from their place.
18 The paths of their way turn aside,
They go nowhere and perish.
19 The caravans of Tema look,
The travelers of Sheba hope for them.
20 They are disappointed because they were confident;
They come there and are confused.
21 For now you are nothing,
You see terror and are afraid.
22 Did I ever say, ‘Bring something to me’?
Or, ‘Offer a bribe for me from your wealth’?
23 Or, ‘Deliver me from the enemy’s hand’?
Or, ‘Redeem me from the hand of oppressors’?
24 “Teach me, and I will hold my tongue; Cause me to understand wherein I have erred.
25 How forceful are right words!
But what does your arguing prove?
26 Do you intend to rebuke my words,
And the speeches of a desperate one, which are as wind?
27 Yes, you overwhelm the fatherless,
And you undermine your friend.
28 Now therefore, be pleased to look at me;

29 For I would never lie to your face.
Yield now, let there be no injustice!
Yes, concede, my righteousness still stands!
30 Is there injustice on my tongue?
Cannot my taste discern the unsavory?

Job: My Suffering Is Comfortless

7 <sup>1</sup> “Is there not a time of hard service for man on earth?
Are not his days also like the days of a hired man?
2 Like a servant who earnestly desires the shade,
And like a hired man who eagerly looks for his wages,
3 So I have been allotted months of futility,
And wearisome nights have been appointed to me.
4 When I lie down, I say, ‘When shall I arise,
And the night be ended?’
For I have had my fill of tossing till dawn.
5 My flesh is caked with worms and dust,
My skin is cracked and breaks out afresh.
6 “My days are swifter than a weaver’s shuttle,
And are spent without hope.
7 Oh, remember that my life is a breath!
My eye will never again see good.
8 The eye of him who sees me will see me no more;
While your eyes are upon me, I shall no longer be.
9 As the cloud disappears and vanishes away,
So he who goes down to the grave does not come up.
10 He shall never return to his house,
Nor shall his place know him anymore.
11 “Therefore I will not restrain my mouth;
I will speak in the anguish of my spirit;
I will complain in the bitterness of my soul.
12 Am I a sea, or a sea serpent,
That You set a guard over me?
13 When I say, ‘My bed will comfort me,

My couch will ease my complaint,’
14 Then You scare me with dreams
And terrify me with visions,
15 So that my soul chooses strangling
And death rather than my body.<sup>a</sup>
16 I loathe my life;
I would not live forever.
Let me alone,
For my days are but a breath.

17 “What is man, that You should exalt him,
That You should set Your heart on him,
18 That You should visit him every morning,
And test him every moment?
19 How long?
Will You not look away from me,
And let me alone till I swallow my saliva?
20 Have I sinned?
What have I done to You, O watcher of men?
Why have You set me as Your target,
So that I am a burden to myself?<sup>a</sup>
21 Why then do You not pardon my transgression,
And take away my iniquity?
For now I will lie down in the dust,
And You will seek me diligently,
But I will no longer be.”

7:15 <sup>a</sup>Literally my bones 7:20 <sup>a</sup>Following Masoretic Text, Targum, and Vulgate; Septuagint and Jewish tradition read to You.

Bildad: Inquire of the Former Age

Job’s second friend, Bildad the Shuhite, discards all pretense at offering comfort (ch. 8). Bildad’s whole purpose is to defend the traditional wisdom teachings that had been passed from generation to generation. Job’s own experience of injustice is unimportant to Bildad, compared with the time-honored teachings of “the former age” and “the things discovered by their fathers” (8:8).

Bildad takes one step beyond the wisdom teaching that the righteous prosper and the wicked suffer. Turning the teaching around, Bildad concludes that Job’s children must have been wicked since they died (8:4). Indeed, if Job were really pure, he would not be suffering either (8:6). This reformulation of the teaching might appear logical, but it is unjustified. While biblical wisdom writings, such as appear in Proverbs, do teach that the wicked will suffer, they never permit the reverse reasoning that everyone who suffers is being punished for wickedness.

Science & Technology

Cloth is woven by passing one thread, the weft, back and forth through fixed threads called the warp. A loom is any device that holds the warp. A shuttle is a spool or frame that carries the weft. It moves back and forth in a repetitive motion, ending its task when the length of cloth is finished. Job compares his passing days to the shuttle shooting to and fro between the warp threads (Job 7:6).

He has cast them away for their

And prosper your rightful dwelling place.

Yet your latter end would increase

Job:
How Then Can I Answer Him?

In his third speech (chs. 9; 10), Job rejects the whole notion of a just moral order in the world. The righteous do not always prosper, and “the earth is given into the hand of the wicked” (9:24). Job does not see that God makes any distinction between the righteous and the wicked (9:22), and God’s power might not always be used for good. The great Creator of the world can also shake the earth and seal off the stars (9:6, 7); the God who fashioned Job can also destroy him (10:8).

Even as Job speaks these despairing words, a part of him refuses to accept this picture of a capricious God. God must be just. Job longs to take his case before God, to plead his innocence in God’s presence, but he cannot imagine how a frail human could stand before Almighty God (9:3, 14–16). Believing that God must long for justice, Job envisions a mediator, someone who could stand before God and plead Job’s case for him (9:32–35).

But how can a man be righteous before God?

He could not answer Him one time out of a

BABYLONIAN JOB AND OTHER INNOCENT SUFFERERS (JOB 10:2)

Ancient people believed that gods governed the universe based on some principle of right and wrong. They were confident that pious acts would result in well-being, but aware that wrongdoing would result in misfortune or distress. When misfortune struck, they would consult the gods to discover the cause of their misfortune. If innocent, they would seek divine justice from the gods. So Job, not understanding why he must suffer, calls on God, “Show me why You contend with me” (Job 10:2).

Ancient Near Eastern literary efforts that grapple with the problem of unjust human suffering are not unique to the Scriptures. From Mesopotamia there are at present four known documents that are superficially similar to the Book of Job: Man and His God; I Will Praise the Lord of Wisdom; The Babylonian Theodicy; and Dialogue Between a Master and His Slave.

In a copy of the Sumerian Man and His God from the early 2nd millennium B.C., an individual complains about his plight to his deity. He accuses his god of becoming angry and leaving him unprotected from unscrupulous human enemies, who know that the worshiper’s god will not harm them. Finally, the sufferer forgoes his right to protest divine actions and confesses his own guilt. The relationship between himself and his god is repaired.

Despite being unjustly placed in an unfortunate condition, the sufferer in I Will Praise the Lord of Wisdom still extols the virtues of his god. He does complain that his god’s face is far from him, and concludes that the gods must have a different system of merit that cannot be known by humans. Nonetheless, he encourages humans to continue to perform the proper cultic acts of worship.

The Babylonian Theodicy has often been labeled “The Babylonian Job.” The sufferer in this case disputes, like Job, with an educated friend. The sufferer implies that the gods are to be blamed for much of the suffering that occurs. He also maintains that morality is not profitable, as the gods ultimately have no regard for it. The story ends with the sufferer calling upon his god to “pasture his flock.”

The Dialogue Between a Master and His Slave has only occasional similarities to the Book of Job. Many of the conditions of the master’s distress can be compared to that of Job.

Yes, wonders without number.

If He moves past, I do not perceive Him;

Who can say to Him, ‘What are You doing?’

And choose my words to reason with Him?

I would beg mercy of my Judge.
16 If I called and He answered me,
I would not believe that He was listening to my voice.
17 For He crushes me with a tempest,
And multiplies my wounds without cause.
18 He will not allow me to catch my breath,
But fills me with bitterness.

I despise my life.

Therefore I say, ‘He destroys the blameless and the wicked.’
23 If the scourge slays suddenly,
He laughs at the plight of the innocent.
24 The earth is given into the hand of the wicked.
He covers the faces of its judges.
If it is not He, who else could it be?
- 25 “Now my days are swifter than a runner;
They flee away, they see no good.
26 They pass by like swift ships,
Like an eagle swooping on its prey.
27 If I say, ‘I will forget my complaint,
I will put off my sad face and wear a

I know that You will not hold me innocent.

Arts & Literature

The stars are conventionally grouped into constellations named after mythological figures (Job 9:9). Orion is the hunter, and can be recognized by three bright stars in a row. The Pleiades are a faint group of stars. Six can be seen with the naked eye, but according to tradition there are seven. They are named as an example of distant and mysterious natural beauty.

And my own clothes will abhor me.

And that we should go to court together.

33 Nor is there any mediator between us,
Who may lay his hand on us both.

34 Let Him take His rod away from me,
And do not let dread of Him terrify me.

35 Then I would speak and not fear Him,
But it is not so with me.

Job: I Would Plead with God

10 <sup>1</sup> “My soul loathes my life;
I will give free course to my complaint,
I will speak in the bitterness of my soul.

2 I will say to God, ‘Do not condemn me;
Show me why You contend with me.

3 Does it seem good to You that You should oppress,
That You should despise the work of Your
hands,
And smile on the counsel of the wicked?

4 Do You have eyes of flesh?
Or do You see as man sees?
Are Your days like the days of a mortal man?
Are Your years like the days of a mighty
man,

6 That You should seek for my iniquity
And search out my sin,

7 Although You know that I am not wicked,
And there is no one who can deliver from Your hand?

8 ‘Your hands have made me and fashioned me,
An intricate unity;
Yet You would destroy me.

9 Remember, I pray, that You have made me like clay.
And will You turn me into dust again?
Did You not pour me out like milk,
And curdle me like cheese,
Clothe me with skin and flesh,
And knit me together with bones and sinews?

12 You have granted me life and favor,
And Your care has preserved my spirit.

13 ‘And these things You have hidden in Your heart;
I know that this was with You:
If I sin, then You mark me,
And will not acquit me of my iniquity.

15 If I am wicked, woe to me;
Even if I am righteous, I cannot lift up my head.

I am full of disgrace;
See my misery!

16 If my head is exalted,
You hunt me like a fierce lion,
And again You show Yourself awesome
against me.

17 You renew Your witnesses against me,
And increase Your indignation toward me;
Changes and war are ever with me.

18 ‘Why then have You brought me out of the womb?
Oh, that I had perished and no eye had seen
me!
I would have been as though I had not been.
I would have been carried from the womb to the grave.

20 Are not my days few?
Cease! Leave me alone, that I may take a little comfort,

21 Before I go to the place from which I shall not return,
To the land of darkness and the shadow of death,

22 A land as dark as darkness itself,
As the shadow of death, without any order,
Where even the light is like darkness.’ ”

Zophar: Less Than Your Iniquity Deserves

Believing that the world has a just moral order, Bildad implied that Job's calamities were the result of sin (8:4–6). Now Job's third friend, Zophar the Naamathite, goes the next step and flatly states that Job deserves his suffering. In fact, Job is getting off easy: “Know therefore that God exacts from you less than your iniquity deserves” (11:6).

Much of Zophar's speech (ch. 11) asserts that God is too mysterious for Job, a mere man, to understand (11:7, 8). While this is true, Zophar somewhat spoils the effect by his confidence that he, also a mere man, is able to explain God's ways to Job.

Job Zophar Urges Job to Repent

11 :1 Then Zophar the Naamathite answered and said:

2 “Should not the multitude of words be answered?

3 And should a man full of talk be vindicated?
Should your empty talk make men hold their peace?
And when you mock, should no one rebuke
you?

4 For you have said,
‘My doctrine is pure,
And I am clean in your eyes.’

5 But oh, that God would speak,
And open His lips against you,
6 That He would show you the secrets of wisdom!
For they would double your prudence.
Know therefore that God exacts from you
Less than your iniquity deserves.

7 “Can you search out the deep things of God?
Can you find out the limits of the Almighty?
8 They are higher than heaven—what can you do?
Deeper than Sheol—what can you know?
9 Their measure is longer than the earth
And broader than the sea.

10 “If He passes by, imprisons, and gathers to
judgment,
Then who can hinder Him?
11 For He knows deceitful men;
He sees wickedness also.
Will He not then consider it?
12 For an empty-headed man will be wise,
When a wild donkey’s colt is born a man.

13 “If you would prepare your heart,
And stretch out your hands toward Him;
14 If iniquity were in your hand, and you put it far away,
And would not let wickedness dwell in your tents;
15 Then surely you could lift up your face
without spot;
Yes, you could be steadfast, and not fear;
16 Because you would forget your misery,
And remember it as waters that have passed away,

17 And your life would be brighter than noonday.
Though you were dark, you would be like the morning.

18 And you would be secure, because there is hope;
Yes, you would dig around you, and take your rest in safety.

19 You would also lie down, and no one would make you afraid;
Yes, many would court your favor.

20 But the eyes of the wicked will fail,
And they shall not escape,
And their hope—loss of life!”

Job:
Your Proverbs of Ashes

As Job’s friends grow more bold in their defense of traditional wisdom and in their accusations against Job, Job himself grows more frustrated with their trite answers. “Who does not know such things as these?” he demands (12:3).

Moreover, the friends’ answers are wrong. The wicked do prosper (12:5, 6), and God does not always act benevolently (12:17–25). The friends’ “platitudes are proverbs of ashes” (13:12) that cannot explain these facts. Job seeks an explanation from God Himself, even if getting that answer would mean Job’s death (13:15).

Again, Job’s speech (chs. 12–14) concludes with a new hope. Wisdom theology said almost nothing about a life after death, preferring to focus on this world and this life. With an inspiration born of sorrow, Job imagines the possibility that he might find justice after death (14:14–17).

BUREAUCRATIC REPORTS IN HEAVEN (JOB 15:15)

Eliphaz reflects the belief that humans are not pure, since even God's "saints" in the heavens are not pure (Job 15:15). These saints were members of the heavenly council, an assembly that was prominent in the religious thought of Syria-Palestine and of Edom. In the prologue of Job are scenes of the heavenly council before God (Job 1:6–12; 2:1–6). The members of the council are gods, called the "sons of God" (Job 1:6), who are shown reporting in to the highest deity, Yahweh, their ruler.

Like department chairs, field generals, or vice presidents, deities had days when they were to report their activities to their superior. The action in the heavenly scenes in Job (Job 1:6; 2:1) takes place on the days these reports are due, and the gods show up at God's throne room. Each deity was assigned to care for and control a particular aspect of the universe; the assembly was to make certain all was going well.

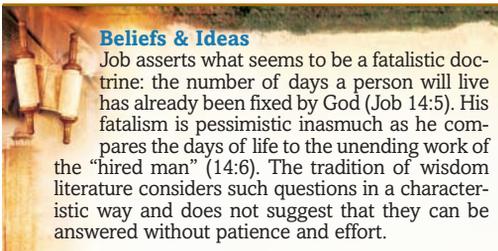

The hierarchy of heaven reflected that of a city-state or empire on earth. An earthly king ruled by means of a large bureaucracy, answerable to the head of the hierarchy. Each officer in the human bureaucracy was expected to carry out individual assignments in perfect accord with the desires of the king and to report regularly. The king, in turn, was understood to be responsible to the patron deity of the kingdom and was to render a regular accounting.

The Book of Job, therefore, begins in an ordinary way, describing another day for reports. The gods check in and Yahweh inspects them. It is cosmic bureaucracy at work. The members of the bureaucracy were certainly inferior to Yahweh Himself. They were often found in error (Job 4:18) and did not earn Yahweh's trust (15:15).

Job's Despondent Prayer

20 "Only two things do not do to me,
Then I will not hide myself from You:
21 Withdraw Your hand far from me,
And let not the dread of You make me afraid.
22 Then call, and I will answer;
Or let me speak, then You respond to me.
23 How many are my iniquities and sins?
Make me know my transgression and my sin.
24 Why do You hide Your face,
And regard me as Your enemy?
25 Will You frighten a leaf driven to and fro?
And will You pursue dry stubble?
26 For You write bitter things against me,
And make me inherit the iniquities of my youth.
27 You put my feet in the stocks,
And watch closely all my paths.
You set a limit<sup>a</sup> for the soles of my feet.
28 "Man<sup>a</sup> decays like a rotten thing,
Like a garment that is moth-eaten.

14 <sup>1</sup> "Man who is born of woman
Is of few days and full of trouble.

Beliefs & Ideas

Job asserts what seems to be a fatalistic doctrine: the number of days a person will live has already been fixed by God (Job 14:5). His fatalism is pessimistic inasmuch as he compares the days of life to the unending work of the "hired man" (14:6). The tradition of wisdom literature considers such questions in a characteristic way and does not suggest that they can be answered without patience and effort.

2 He comes forth like a flower and fades
away;
He flees like a shadow and does not continue.
3 And do You open Your eyes on such a one,
And bring me<sup>a</sup> to judgment with Yourself?
4 Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean?
No one!
5 Since his days are determined,
The number of his months is with You;
You have appointed his limits, so that he cannot pass.
6 Look away from him that he may rest,
Till like a hired man he finishes his day.
7 "For there is hope for a tree,
If it is cut down, that it will sprout again,
And that its tender shoots will not cease.
8 Though its root may grow old in the earth,
And its stump may die in the ground,
9 Yet at the scent of water it will bud
And bring forth branches like a plant.
10 But man dies and is laid away;
Indeed he breathes his last
And where is he?
11 As water disappears from the sea,
And a river becomes parched and dries up,
12 So man lies down and does not rise.
Till the heavens are no more,
They will not awake
Nor be roused from their sleep.
13 "Oh, that You would hide me in the grave,
That You would conceal me until Your wrath is past,

13:27 <sup>a</sup>Literally inscribe a print 13:28 <sup>a</sup>Literally He

14:3 <sup>a</sup>Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read him.

That You would appoint me a set time,
and remember me!
14 If a man dies, shall he live again?
All the days of my hard service I will wait,
Till my change comes.
15 You shall call, and I will answer You;
You shall desire the work of Your
hands.
16 For now You number my steps,
But do not watch over my sin.
17 My transgression is sealed up in a bag,
And You cover<sup>a</sup> my iniquity.
18 “But as a mountain falls and crumbles
away,
And as a rock is moved from its place;
19 As water wears away stones,
And as torrents wash away the soil of
the earth;
So You destroy the hope of man.
20 You prevail forever against him, and he passes on;
You change his countenance and send him
away.
21 His sons come to honor, and he does not know it;
They are brought low, and he does not perceive it.
22 But his flesh will be in pain over it,
And his soul will mourn over it.”

Words of the Wise Eliphaz: What Wise Men Have Told

The second cycle of speeches (15:1—21:34) repeats many of the issues begun in the first cycle, but the speakers are less polite. The debate has become an angry argument.

Job takes issue with his friends' source of wisdom. The wisdom teachers sought understanding from both personal observation and from tradition. Job, however, finds that his observations do not mesh with traditional understandings, so he rejects tradition (ch. 12). Such independent thinking was shocking to an ancient Near Eastern mind, and Eliphaz devotes much of his second speech (ch. 15) to affirming the value of time-honored wisdom. He asks how Job can claim to know more than “the gray-haired and the aged” (15:10). The rest of Eliphaz's speech comes from ancient and established tradition: “What wise men have told . . . from their fathers” (15:18).

Eliphaz Accuses Job of Folly

15 :1 Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said:

2 “Should a wise man answer with empty
knowledge,
And fill himself with the east wind?
3 Should he reason with unprofitable talk,
Or by speeches with which he can do no good?
4 Yes, you cast off fear,
And restrain prayer before God.
5 For your iniquity teaches your mouth,
And you choose the tongue of the crafty.
6 Your own mouth condemns you, and not I;
Yes, your own lips testify against you.
7 “Are you the first man who was born?
Or were you made before the hills?
8 Have you heard the counsel of God?
Do you limit wisdom to yourself?
9 What do you know that we do not
know?
What do you understand that is not in us?
10 Both the gray-haired and the aged are among us,
Much older than your father.
11 Are the consolations of God too small for
you,
And the word spoken gently<sup>a</sup> with you?
12 Why does your heart carry you away,
And what do your eyes wink at,
13 That you turn your spirit against God,
And let such words go out of your mouth?
14 “What is man, that he could be pure?
And he who is born of a woman, that he could be righteous?
15 If God puts no trust in His saints,
And the heavens are not pure in His sight, 16 How much less man, who is abominable and filthy,
Who drinks iniquity like water!
17 “I will tell you, hear me;
What I have seen I will declare,
18 What wise men have told,
Not hiding anything received from their fathers,
19 To whom alone the land was given,
And no alien passed among them;
20 The wicked man writhes with pain all his
days,

And the number of years is hidden from the oppressor.

21 Dreadful sounds are in his ears;
In prosperity the destroyer comes upon him.

22 He does not believe that he will return from darkness,
For a sword is waiting for him.

23 He wanders about for bread, saying, ‘Where is it?’
He knows that a day of darkness is ready at his hand.

24 Trouble and anguish make him afraid;
They overpower him, like a king ready for battle.

25 For he stretches out his hand against God,
And acts defiantly against the Almighty,

26 Running stubbornly against Him
With his strong, embossed shield.

27 “Though he has covered his face with his fatness,
And made his waist heavy with fat,
28 He dwells in desolate cities,
In houses which no one inhabits,
Which are destined to become ruins.

29 He will not be rich,
Nor will his wealth continue,
Nor will his possessions overspread the earth.

30 He will not depart from darkness;
The flame will dry out his branches,
And by the breath of His mouth he will go away.

31 Let him not trust in futile things, deceiving himself,

For futility will be his reward.

32 It will be accomplished before his time,
And his branch will not be green.

33 He will shake off his unripe grape like a vine,
And cast off his blossom like an olive tree.

34 For the company of hypocrites will be barren,
And fire will consume the tents of bribery.

35 They conceive trouble and bring forth futility;
Their womb prepares deceit.”

Job: My Witness Is in Heaven

Eliphaz's rote recital of traditional wisdom concerning the fate of the wicked (15:20–35) leaves Job unmoved. Job calls such trite formulations “words of wind” (16:3). In his reply (chs. 16; 17), Job again appeals to his own tragic experience of injustice. In stylized language that is reminiscent of the psalmic laments, he describes his own pain and shame (16:7–17; see Ps. 22:7; 38:2).

Despite his suffering, Job does not give up hope that he might be vindicated before God. He envisioned a mediator who would take his case to God (Job 9:33); now he declares his witness to be “in heaven . . . on high” (16:19). There must be justice before God, somehow. Job's hope, depending on an unknown witness, is surely a hope dredged from the pit of despair, but it is hope nonetheless. For the first time Job appears not to long for death (17:13–15).

Job Reproaches His Pitiless Friends

16 :1 Then Job answered and said:

2 “I have heard many such things;
Miserable comforters are you all!
3 Shall words of wind have an end?
Or what provokes you that you answer?
4 I also could speak as you do,
If your soul were in my soul's place.
I could heap up words against you,
And shake my head at you;
5 But I would strengthen you with my mouth,
And the comfort of my lips would relieve your grief.

6 “Though I speak, my grief is not relieved;
And if I remain silent, how am I eased?”

7 But now He has worn me out;
You have made desolate all my company.
8 You have shriveled me up,
And it is a witness against me;
My leanness rises up against me
And bears witness to my face.
9 He tears me in His wrath, and hates me;
He gnashes at me with His teeth;
My adversary sharpens His gaze on me.
10 They gape at me with their mouth,
They strike me reproachfully on the cheek,
They gather together against me.
11 God has delivered me to the ungodly,
And turned me over to the hands of the wicked.
12 I was at ease, but He has shattered me;
He also has taken me by my neck, and shaken me to pieces;
He has set me up for His target,
13 His archers surround me.
He pierces my heart<sup>a</sup> and does not pity;
He pours out my gall on the ground.
14 He breaks me with wound upon wound;
He runs at me like a warrior.<sup>a</sup>
15 “I have sewn sackcloth over my skin,
And laid my head<sup>a</sup> in the dust.
16 My face is flushed from weeping,
And on my eyelids is the shadow of death;
17 Although no violence is in my hands,
And my prayer is pure.
18 “O earth, do not cover my blood,
And let my cry have no resting place!
19 Surely even now my witness is in heaven,
And my evidence is on high.
20 My friends scorn me;
My eyes pour out tears to God.
21 Oh, that one might plead for a man with God,
As a man pleads for his neighbor!
22 For when a few years are finished,
I shall go the way of no return.

3 “Now put down a pledge for me with

4 For You have hidden their heart from 6 “But He has made me a byword of the people,

And I have become one in whose face men

7 My eye has also grown dim because of sorrow,
And all my members are like shadows.
8 Upright men are astonished at this,
And the innocent stirs himself up against the hypocrite.
9 Yet the righteous will hold to his way,
And he who has clean hands will be stronger and stronger.
10 “But please, come back again, all of you,<sup>a</sup>
For I shall not find one wise man
among you.
11 My days are past,
My purposes are broken off,
Even the thoughts of my heart.
12 They change the night into day;
“The light is near,’ they say, in the face of darkness.
13 If I wait for the grave as my house,
If I make my bed in the darkness,
14 If I say to corruption, ‘You are my father,’
And to the worm, ‘You are my mother and my sister,’
15 Where then is my hope?
As for my hope, who can see it?
16 Will they go down to the gates of Sheol?
Shall we have rest together in the dust?”

Bildad: The Light of the Wicked

Bildad's second speech (ch. 18) adds nothing new to the argument. His theme—that the wicked will be punished—is the same theme that Eliphaz presented (ch. 15). Even the words that Bildad chooses are trite and repetitive. His assertion “The light of the wicked indeed goes out” (18:5) is a well-worn proverbial theme appearing twice in the Book of Proverbs (Prov. 13:9; 24:20). The friends' arguments are beginning to sound weary.

PARADED BEFORE THE KING OF TERRORS (JOB 18:14)

Bildad paints a graphic picture of the terrible fate of the wicked (Job 18:5–21). Death is the end for those who are wicked before God, and Bildad describes the realm of death with many allusions to the Canaanite god Mot and his abode.

In the Ugaritic myths from 1400 to 1200 B.C., Mot is the god of death and the netherworld. He is presented as being ravenous, having an insatiable appetite for the flesh of the living. His land is beneath the earth, where fire, barrenness, darkness, and slime all collect. Where Mot dwells there is no life and no renown. Metals and jewels that are mined are part of his realm, because they are under the ground. Similarly, Pluto, the god of the netherworld in Greek mythology, also ruled over the materials beneath the surface of the earth.

People in ancient Israel believed that everyone who died would go to dwell in the land of the dead. The wicked, it was thought, were condemned to descend to the Pit earlier than the norm. Fear of Mot and his realm of death could be used to frighten the living into behaving. Indeed, one did not want to meet quickly with Mot, the “king of terrors” (Job 18:14) who ruled over the spirits of the dead.

The god Mot is mentioned in the Bible occasionally where Death is described as a person. Yahweh personally addresses “Death” in Hos. 13:14. In Job 28, Job asserts that wisdom belongs only to God, and he quotes the speech of Death. The netherworld (which Job calls “Destruction”) and Death say, “We have heard a report,” but they do not know of wisdom’s whereabouts (Job 28:22). If Mot does not know wisdom, with all the people who ever lived assembled in his realm, and he being a god as well, then wisdom truly is God’s and God’s alone.

Bildad: The Wicked Are Punished

18 :1 Then Bildad the Shuhite answered and said:

2 “How long till you put an end to words?
Gain understanding, and afterward we will speak.

3 Why are we counted as beasts,
And regarded as stupid in your sight?

4 You who tear yourself in anger,
Shall the earth be forsaken for you?
Or shall the rock be removed from its place?

5 “The light of the wicked indeed goes out,
And the flame of his fire does not shine.

6 The light is dark in his tent,
And his lamp beside him is put out.

7 The steps of his strength are shortened,
And his own counsel casts him down.

8 For he is cast into a net by his own feet,
And he walks into a snare.

9 The net takes him by the heel,
And a snare lays hold of him.

10 A noose is hidden for him on the ground,
And a trap for him in the road.

11 Terrors frighten him on every side,
And drive him to his feet.

12 His strength is starved,
And destruction is ready at his side.

13 It devours patches of his skin;
The firstborn of death devours his limbs.

14 He is uprooted from the shelter of his tent,
And they parade him before the king of terrors.

15 They dwell in his tent who are none of his;
Brimstone is scattered on his dwelling.

16 His roots are dried out below,

And his branch withers above.
17 The memory of him perishes from the earth,
And he has no name among the renowned.<sup>a</sup>
18 He is driven from light into darkness,
And chased out of the world.
19 He has neither son nor posterity among his people,
Nor any remaining in his dwellings.
20 Those in the west are astonished at his day,
As those in the east are frightened.
21 Surely such are the dwellings of the wicked,
And this is the place of him who does not know God.”

TRANSITION*Job: My Redeemer Lives

Where Bildad had resorted to the language of proverbial wisdom, Job’s response to Bildad (ch. 19) adopts language more like the psalms. To the people of the ancient Near East, the worst fate that could befall someone was to be cut off from one’s family and clan. Job describes his condition in terms of this horrible isolation. He is alienated from his family, his servants, and his friends (19:13–22; see Ps. 39:12).

From this isolation, though, Job expresses a most astonishing hope. Elements of all his earlier hopes—for a mediator (9:33), a witness (16:19), even for life after death (14:14–17) are now drawn together. Alienated from his own family, Job declares that somewhere there must be a Redeemer who will stand on his side (19:25–27).

• Job 19:1–29

Job Trusts in His Redeemer

19 :1 Then Job answered and said:

<sup>2</sup> “How long will you torment my soul,
And break me in pieces with words?
<sup>3</sup> These ten times you have reproached me;
You are not ashamed that you have wronged me.<sup>a</sup>
<sup>4</sup> And if indeed I have erred,
My error remains with me.
<sup>5</sup> If indeed you exalt yourselves against me,
And plead my disgrace against me,
<sup>6</sup> Know then that God has wronged me,
And has surrounded me with His net.
<sup>7</sup> “If I cry out concerning wrong, I am not heard.
If I cry aloud, there is no justice.
<sup>8</sup> He has fenced up my way, so that I cannot pass;
And He has set darkness in my paths.
<sup>9</sup> He has stripped me of my glory,
And taken the crown from my head.
<sup>10</sup> He breaks me down on every side,
And I am gone;
My hope He has uprooted like a tree.
<sup>11</sup> He has also kindled His wrath against me,
And He counts me as one of His enemies.
<sup>12</sup> His troops come together
And build up their road against me;
They encamp all around my tent.
<sup>13</sup> “He has removed my brothers far from me,
And my acquaintances are completely estranged from me.
<sup>14</sup> My relatives have failed,
And my close friends have forgotten me.
<sup>15</sup> Those who dwell in my house, and my maidservants,
Count me as a stranger;
I am an alien in their sight.
<sup>16</sup> I call my servant, but he gives no answer;
I beg him with my mouth.

19:3 <sup>a</sup>A Jewish tradition reads make yourselves strange to me.

Arts & Literature

The recording of thoughts or words in writing is a persistent theme in literature. The earliest books so far discovered are in the form of small tablets hinged together like a greeting card. The surfaces of the tablets were coated with wax that was easily written on with a stylus of wood, bone, or metal. The wax was smoothed out and used again. Job, though, wants his words written on stone (Job 19:23, 24).

<sup>17</sup> My breath is offensive to my wife,
And I am repulsive to the children of my own body.
<sup>18</sup> Even young children despise me;
I arise, and they speak against me.
<sup>19</sup> All my close friends abhor me,
And those whom I love have turned against
me.
<sup>20</sup> My bone clings to my skin and to my flesh,
And I have escaped by the skin of my teeth.
<sup>21</sup> “Have pity on me, have pity on me, O you my friends,
For the hand of God has struck me!
<sup>22</sup> Why do you persecute me as God does,
And are not satisfied with my flesh?
<sup>23</sup> “Oh, that my words were written!
Oh, that they were inscribed in a book!
<sup>24</sup> That they were engraved on a rock
With an iron pen and lead, forever!
<sup>25</sup> For I know that my Redeemer lives,
And He shall stand at last on the earth;
<sup>26</sup> And after my skin is destroyed, this I know,
That in my flesh I shall see God,
<sup>27</sup> Whom I shall see for myself,
And my eyes shall behold, and not another.
How my heart yearns within me!
<sup>28</sup> If you should say, ‘How shall we persecute
him?’—
Since the root of the matter is found in me,
<sup>29</sup> Be afraid of the sword for yourselves;
For wrath brings the punishment of the
sword,
That you may know there is a judgment.”

Zophar:
The Portion for a Wicked Man

Job's thoughts may soar upward, ranging farther at each speech in his search for hope, but his friends' responses remain solidly earthbound. Zophar's second speech (ch. 20) only repeats the theme presented by Eliphaz and Bildad—that eventually the wicked will come to a sticky end (20:12–15).

Like the other friends, Zophar does not openly accuse Job of being wicked, but the implication is hard to miss. Zophar even twists Job's own words against him. With transcendent insight, Job had declared that his Redeemer would “stand at last on the earth” (19:25; literally “on the dust”). Using an almost identical phrase, Zophar says that a wicked man's strength “will lie down with him in the dust” (20:11).

Zophar's Sermon on the Wicked Man

20 :1 Then Zophar the Naamathite answered and said:

2 “Therefore my anxious thoughts make me answer,
Because of the turmoil within me.
3 I have heard the rebuke that reproaches me,
And the spirit of my understanding causes me to answer.

4 “Do you not know this of old,
Since man was placed on earth,
5 That the triumphing of the wicked is short,
And the joy of the hypocrite is but for a moment?

6 Though his haughtiness mounts up to the heavens,
And his head reaches to the clouds,
7 Yet he will perish forever like his own refuse;
Those who have seen him will say, “Where is he?”

8 He will fly away like a dream, and not be found;
Yes, he will be chased away like a vision of the night.

9 The eye that saw him will see him no more,
Nor will his place behold him anymore.
10 His children will seek the favor of the poor,

And his hands will restore his wealth.
11 His bones are full of his youthful vigor,
But it will lie down with him in the dust.

12 “Though evil is sweet in his mouth,
And he hides it under his tongue,
13 Though he spares it and does not forsake it,
But still keeps it in his mouth,

14 Yet his food in his stomach turns sour;
It becomes cobra venom within him.
15 He swallows down riches
And vomits them up again;
God casts them out of his belly.

16 He will suck the poison of cobras;
The viper's tongue will slay him.
17 He will not see the streams,
The rivers flowing with honey and cream.

18 He will restore that for which he labored,
And will not swallow it down;
From the proceeds of business
He will get no enjoyment.

19 For he has oppressed and forsaken the poor,
He has violently seized a house which he did not build.

20 “Because he knows no quietness in his heart,<sup>a</sup>

He will not save anything he desires.

21 Nothing is left for him to eat;

Therefore his well-being will not last.

22 In his self-sufficiency he will be in distress;

Every hand of misery will come against him.

23 When he is about to fill his stomach,

God will cast on him the fury of His wrath,

And will rain it on him while he is eating.

24 He will flee from the iron weapon;

A bronze bow will pierce him through.

25 It is drawn, and comes out of the body;

Yes, the glittering point comes out of his gall.

Terrors come upon him;

26 Total darkness is reserved for his treasures.

An unfanned fire will consume him;

It shall go ill with him who is left in his tent.

27 The heavens will reveal his iniquity,

And the earth will rise up against him.

28 The increase of his house will depart,

And his goods will flow away in the day of His wrath.

29 This is the portion from God for a wicked man,

The heritage appointed to him by God.”

TRANSITION*Job: Why Do the Wicked Live?

Throughout the second round of speeches (chs. 15–21), Job's three friends described in exhaustive detail the supposed fate of the wicked. As that round concludes, Job replies to all three (ch. 21), flatly rejecting traditional wisdom that the wicked always suffer. Experience does not support that claim. Instead, Job points out that the wicked often lead long lives, enjoying the fruits of their evil (21:7–16).

As he speaks, Job mocks the proverb quoted by Bildad—“The light of the wicked indeed goes out” (18:5; see Prov. 13:9; 24:20). With obvious scorn, Job queries “How often is the lamp of the wicked put out?” (Job 21:17). The friends' proverbial wisdom is simply inadequate.

3 Bear with me that I may speak,

4 “As for me, is my complaint against man?
And if it were, why should I not be impatient?

5 Look at me and be astonished;
Put your hand over your mouth.
6 Even when I remember I am terrified,
And trembling takes hold of my flesh.
7 Why do the wicked live and become old,
Yes, become mighty in power?
8 Their descendants are established with them in their sight,
And their offspring before their eyes.
9 Their houses are safe from fear,
Neither is the rod of God upon them.
10 Their bull breeds without failure;
Their cow calves without miscarriage.
11 They send forth their little ones like a flock,
And their children dance.
12 They sing to the tambourine and harp,
And rejoice to the sound of the flute.
13 They spend their days in wealth,
And in a moment go down to the grave.<sup>a</sup>
14 Yet they say to God, ‘Depart from us,
For we do not desire the knowledge of Your ways.
15 Who is the Almighty, that we should serve
Him?
And what profit do we have if we pray to
Him?’
16 Indeed their prosperity is not in their hand;
The counsel of the wicked is far from me.

17 “How often is the lamp of the wicked put out?
How often does their destruction come upon them,
The sorrows God distributes in His anger?
18 They are like straw before the wind,
And like chaff that a storm carries away.
19 They say, ‘God lays up one’s<sup>a</sup> iniquity for his children’;
Let Him recompense him, that he may
know it.
20 Let his eyes see his destruction,
And let him drink of the wrath of the Almighty.
21 For what does he care about his household
after him,
When the number of his months is cut in half?

22 “Can anyone teach God knowledge,
Since He judges those on high?
23 One dies in his full strength,
Being wholly at ease and secure;
24 His pails<sup>a</sup> are full of milk,
And the marrow of his bones is moist.
25 Another man dies in the bitterness of his soul,
Never having eaten with pleasure.
26 They lie down alike in the dust,
And worms cover them.

27 “Look, I know your thoughts,
And the schemes with which you would wrong me.
28 For you say,
‘Where is the house of the prince?
And where is the tent,<sup>a</sup>
The dwelling place of the wicked?’
29 Have you not asked those who travel the road?
And do you not know their signs?
30 For the wicked are reserved for the day of doom;
They shall be brought out on the day of wrath.
31 Who condemns his way to his face?
And who repays him for what he has done?
32 Yet he shall be brought to the grave,
And a vigil kept over the tomb.
33 The clods of the valley shall be sweet to
him;
Everyone shall follow him,
As countless have gone before him.
34 How then can you comfort me with empty
words,
Since falsehood remains in your answers?”

Eliphaz: Is Not Your Wickedness Great?

The third round of speeches (chs. 22—31) discards all civility and moves from argument to accusations. In the squabble, the calm order of speakers is disturbed by interruptions and words out of order. Zophar is never identified as speaking at all.

In his third speech (ch. 22), Eliphaz takes the next logical step in the friends' argument: he accuses Job directly. He imagines Job's specific sins, and, warming to his theme, describes Job as a heartless villain who had oppressed widows and orphans (22:5–9). The conclusion is a moving appeal for repentance (22:21–30), but the effect of this is somewhat spoiled since Eliphaz calls on Job to repent of sins that Job has never committed.

Job

Eliphaz Accuses Job of Wickedness

22 :1 Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said:

2 “Can a man be profitable to God,
Though he who is wise may be profitable to himself?
3 Is it any pleasure to the Almighty that you are righteous?
Or is it gain to Him that you make your ways blameless?

4 “Is it because of your fear of Him that He corrects you,
And enters into judgment with you?
5 Is not your wickedness great,
And your iniquity without end?
6 For you have taken pledges from your brother for no reason,
And stripped the naked of their clothing.
7 You have not given the weary water to drink,
And you have withheld bread from the hungry.
8 But the mighty man possessed the land,
And the honorable man dwelt in it.
9 You have sent widows away empty,
And the strength of the fatherless was crushed.
10 Therefore snares are all around you,
And sudden fear troubles you,
11 Or darkness so that you cannot see;
And an abundance of water covers you.

12 “Is not God in the height of heaven?
And see the highest stars, how lofty they are!
13 And you say, ‘What does God know?
Can He judge through the deep darkness?’
14 Thick clouds cover Him, so that He cannot see,
And He walks above the circle of heaven.’
15 Will you keep to the old way
Which wicked men have trod,
16 Who were cut down before their time,
Whose foundations were swept away by a flood?
17 They said to God, ‘Depart from us!
What can the Almighty do to them?’<sup>a</sup>
18 Yet He filled their houses with good things;
But the counsel of the wicked is far from me.

19 “The righteous see it and are glad,
And the innocent laugh at them:

20 ‘Surely our adversaries<sup>a</sup> are cut down,
And the fire consumes their remnant.’

21 “Now acquaint yourself with Him, and be at peace;
Thereby good will come to you.
22 Receive, please, instruction from His mouth,
And lay up His words in your heart.
23 If you return to the Almighty, you will be built up;
You will remove iniquity far from your tents.
24 Then you will lay your gold in the dust,
And the gold of Ophir among the stones of the brooks.
25 Yes, the Almighty will be your gold<sup>a</sup>
And your precious silver;
26 For then you will have your delight in the Almighty,
And lift up your face to God.
27 You will make your prayer to Him,
He will hear you,
And you will pay your vows.
28 You will also declare a thing,
And it will be established for you;
So light will shine on your ways.
29 When they cast you down, and you say,
‘Exaltation will come!’
Then He will save the humble person.
30 He will even deliver one who is not innocent;
Yes, he will be delivered by the purity of your hands.”

TRANSITION*Job: He Is Not There

Except for a brief assertion that God knows Job's innocence (23:10–12), Job does not reply to Eliphaz's accusations. Instead, Job focuses on the wider issue—the problem of evil (chs. 23; 24). First, Job says that he seeks God everywhere, but God is not there (23:8, 9). Next, Job extends God's silence to others who suffer. The dying and wounded, like Job, cry aloud to God for help, and like Job, they receive no reply (24:12).

Part of Job's complaint—the absence of God—will be answered when God shows Himself to Job (chs. 38–41). But Job's other observation—the presence of injustice in the world—will remain valid, and that injustice alone is enough to refute the simplistic wisdom teachings offered by Job's friends.

Job Proclaims God's Righteous Judgments

23 :1 Then Job answered and said:

<sup>2</sup> “Even today my complaint is bitter;
My<sup>a</sup> hand is listless because of my groaning.
<sup>3</sup> Oh, that I knew where I might find Him,
That I might come to His seat!
<sup>4</sup> I would present my case before Him,
And fill my mouth with arguments.
<sup>5</sup> I would know the words which He would answer me,
And understand what He would say to me.
<sup>6</sup> Would He contend with me in His great power?
No! But He would take note of me.
<sup>7</sup> There the upright could reason with Him,
And I would be delivered forever from my Judge.

<sup>8</sup> “Look, I go forward, but He is not there,
And backward, but I cannot perceive Him;
<sup>9</sup> When He works on the left hand, I cannot behold Him;
When He turns to the right hand, I cannot see Him.
<sup>10</sup> But He knows the way that I take;
When He has tested me, I shall come forth
as gold.
<sup>11</sup> My foot has held fast to His steps;
I have kept His way and not turned aside.
<sup>12</sup> I have not departed from the commandment of His lips;
I have treasured the words of His mouth
More than my necessary food.

<sup>13</sup> “But He is unique, and who can make Him

And whatever His soul desires, that He does.
<sup>14</sup> For He performs what is appointed for me,
And many such things are with Him.
<sup>15</sup> Therefore I am terrified at His presence;
When I consider this, I am afraid of Him.
<sup>16</sup> For God made my heart weak,
And the Almighty terrifies me;
<sup>17</sup> Because I was not cut off from the presence of darkness,
And He did not hide deep darkness from my face.

Job Complains of Violence on the Earth

24 <sup>1</sup> “Since times are not hidden from the Almighty,
Why do those who know Him see not His
days?

<sup>2</sup> “Some remove landmarks;
They seize flocks violently and feed on
them;
<sup>3</sup> They drive away the donkey of the fatherless;
They take the widow’s ox as a pledge.
<sup>4</sup> They push the needy off the road;
All the poor of the land are forced to hide.
<sup>5</sup> Indeed, like wild donkeys in the desert,
They go out to their work, searching for food.
The wilderness yields food for them and for their children.
<sup>6</sup> They gather their fodder in the field
And glean in the vineyard of the wicked.
<sup>7</sup> They spend the night naked, without clothing,
And have no covering in the cold.
<sup>8</sup> They are wet with the showers of the mountains,
And huddle around the rock for want of shelter.

<sup>9</sup> “Some snatch the fatherless from the breast,
And take a pledge from the poor.
<sup>10</sup> They cause the poor to go naked, without clothing;
And they take away the sheaves from the hungry.
<sup>11</sup> They press out oil within their walls,
And tread winepresses, yet suffer thirst.
<sup>12</sup> The dying groan in the city,
And the souls of the wounded cry out;
Yet God does not charge them with wrong.

<sup>13</sup> “There are those who rebel against the light;
They do not know its ways
Nor abide in its paths.
<sup>14</sup> The murderer rises with the light;
He kills the poor and needy;
And in the night he is like a thief.

Agriculture &amp; Herding

In an agricultural and pastoral society it is a serious social crime to steal someone’s sheep, or to confiscate someone’s land by moving the boundary markers. Such markers were erected to indicate the separation of fields and territories. Land in Israel was supposed to be held by each family in perpetuity as a trust from God. Removing landmarks violated this trust (Job 24:2).

- 15 The eye of the adulterer waits for the twilight, Saying, 'No eye will see me';
And he disguises his face.
- 16 In the dark they break into houses
Which they marked for themselves in the daytime;
They do not know the light.
- 17 For the morning is the same to them as the shadow of death;
If someone recognizes them,
They are in the terrors of the shadow of death.
- 18 "They should be swift on the face of the waters,
Their portion should be cursed in the earth,
So that no one would turn into the way of their vineyards.
- 19 As drought and heat consume the snow waters,
So the grave<sup>a</sup> consumes those who have sinned.
- 20 The womb should forget him,
The worm should feed sweetly on him;
He should be remembered no more,
And wickedness should be broken like a tree.
- 21 For he preys on the barren who do not bear,
And does no good for the widow.
- 22 "But God draws the mighty away with His power;
He rises up, but no man is sure of life.
He gives them security, and they rely on it;
Yet His eyes are on their ways.
- 24 They are exalted for a little while,
Then they are gone.
They are brought low;
They are taken out of the way like all others;
They dry out like the heads of grain.
- 25 "Now if it is not so, who will prove me a liar,
And make my speech worth nothing?"

Bildad: Man Who Is a Maggot

Of several psalms having echoes in the Book of Job, the most significant is the great hymn of Ps. 8. While praising God, Ps. 8 at the same time exalts humanity as God's particular creation, having a particular relationship to the Divine. Job has already parodied Ps. 8:4, wishing that God might be a little less particular in his attentions (Job 7:17). Now Bildad echoes the same psalm, but with a different intention. Using language similar to Ps. 8:3–5, Bildad demeans humanity as being utterly separated from God (Job 25:5, 6).

Just as Bildad is warming up, though, Job interrupts. Job has had enough of his friends' words.

Bildad: How Can Man Be Righteous?

25 :1 Then Bildad the Shuhite answered and said:

- 2 "Dominion and fear belong to Him;
He makes peace in His high places.
- 3 Is there any number to His armies?
Upon whom does His light not rise?
- 4 How then can man be righteous before God?
Or how can he be pure who is born of a woman?
- 5 If even the moon does not shine,
And the stars are not pure in His sight,
- 6 How much less man, who is a maggot,
And a son of man, who is a worm?"

Job:*The Fear of the Lord, That Is Wisdom

When Job cuts short Bildad's final speech, the dialogue falls apart. The ensuing speeches (chs. 26; 27) are not always clear as to who is speaking. One passage describes the fate of the wicked (27:13–23) in phrases that sound like something Job's friends would say, not Job. Perhaps this passage is Zophar's final speech, shouted over Job's words. Or perhaps here Job is sarcastically mimicking his friends' teachings. In either case, rational argument is absent.

Because Job has rejected the easy formulations of his friends' wisdom teachings, he might appear to have rejected the wisdom tradition entirely. He does not, though. Instead, Job seeks a deeper wisdom. In a poem of astonishing power and beauty (ch. 28), Job speaks of a profound wisdom, comprehensible only to God (28:23, 24). The greatest wisdom for humans, then, is reverence for that profound God—"the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom" (28:28; see Prov. 9:10).

Job concludes his speech by contrasting the peace and prosperity of his former state to the shame and suffering he experiences now (chs. 29; 30). Then in a solemn fourfold vow he swears to his innocence of wrongdoing (ch. 31). With this vow, "the words of Job are ended" (31:40).

• Job 26:1—31:40

SHEOL FOR ALL THE DEAD WITHOUT DISTINCTION (JOB 26:5, 6)

In the world of ancient Judah and Israel people were never expected to enter heaven after death. With the exception of Elijah (2 Kin. 2:11), and possibly of Enoch, who entered heaven alive (Gen. 5:24), humans who died went to a watery domain known as Sheol (Job 26:5, 6).

The understanding of the afterlife in Judah and Israel resembled that current in Mesopotamia and Syria-Palestine. Under the earth, in a dark muddy realm, was Sheol—the netherworld where all the souls of the dead go, whether good or evil. The popular notion in Egypt of an afterlife with a touch of hope for a good eternity did not influence Palestine, despite Egyptian control of Canaan for a millennium. In Palestine, Sheol was understood as a place of darkness, meaninglessness, and hopelessness. Once entering the netherworld, one had to stay there. The prospect of eternity in a most unpleasant place made a long life in this world quite desirable.

The dead retained their individuality in the netherworld, and one could have contact with them. Tubes have been found in the tombs of Palestine from the Bronze Age through the Hellenistic period which allowed food or wine to be dropped into the netherworld. The living sought information from the dead through necromancy, as Saul attempted to consult Samuel's spirit rising from Sheol (1 Sam. 28:11–19). This form of inquiry was forbidden by Israelite law (Deut. 18:10, 11).

The cultures surrounding Judah and Israel had deities who ruled the netherworld. In Mesopotamia the divine couple Nergal and Ereshkigal hanged the corpses of the dead on butchers' hooks like slabs of meat. Egypt's afterlife under the rule of Osiris was more appealing, if you survived the journey to the land of the blessed dead. Syria-Palestine had the god Mot (meaning "death") who was hungry to devour the living. The voraciousness of the netherworld and the mercilessness of its ruler, Mot, is reflected in the "devouring" and "king of terrors" of Job 18:11–14.

Job

Job: Man's Frailty and God's Majesty

26 :1 But Job answered and said:

<sup>2</sup> "How have you helped him who is without power?
How have you saved the arm that has no strength?
<sup>3</sup> How have you counseled one who has no wisdom?
And how have you declared sound advice to many?
<sup>4</sup> To whom have you uttered words?
And whose spirit came from you?
<sup>5</sup> "The dead tremble,
Those under the waters and those inhabiting them.
<sup>6</sup> Sheol is naked before Him,
And Destruction has no covering.
<sup>7</sup> He stretches out the north over empty space;
He hangs the earth on nothing.
<sup>8</sup> He binds up the water in His thick clouds,
Yet the clouds are not broken under it.
<sup>9</sup> He covers the face of His throne,
And spreads His cloud over it.
<sup>10</sup> He drew a circular horizon on the face of the waters,
At the boundary of light and darkness.
<sup>11</sup> The pillars of heaven tremble,
And are astonished at His rebuke.
<sup>12</sup> He stirs up the sea with His power,
And by His understanding He breaks up the storm.
<sup>13</sup> By His Spirit He adorned the heavens;
His hand pierced the fleeing serpent.
<sup>14</sup> Indeed these are the mere edges of His ways,

And how small a whisper we hear of Him!
But the thunder of His power who can understand?"

Job Maintains His Integrity

27 <sup>1</sup>Moreover Job continued his discourse, and said:

<sup>2</sup> "As God lives, who has taken away my justice,
And the Almighty, who has made my soul bitter,
<sup>3</sup> As long as my breath is in me,
And the breath of God in my nostrils,
<sup>4</sup> My lips will not speak wickedness,
Nor my tongue utter deceit.
<sup>5</sup> Far be it from me
That I should say you are right;
Till I die I will not put away my integrity from me.
<sup>6</sup> My righteousness I hold fast, and will not let it go;
My heart shall not reproach me as long as I live.
<sup>7</sup> "May my enemy be like the wicked,
And he who rises up against me like the unrighteous.
<sup>8</sup> For what is the hope of the hypocrite,
Though he may gain much,
If God takes away his life?
<sup>9</sup> Will God hear his cry
When trouble comes upon him?
<sup>10</sup> Will he delight himself in the Almighty?
Will he always call on God?
<sup>11</sup> "I will teach you about the hand of God;

What is with the Almighty I will not conceal.

12 Surely all of you have seen it;
Why then do you behave with complete nonsense?

13 “This is the portion of a wicked man with God,
And the heritage of oppressors, received from the Almighty:
14 If his children are multiplied, it is for the sword;
And his offspring shall not be satisfied with bread.
15 Those who survive him shall be buried in death,
And their<sup>a</sup> widows shall not weep,
16 Though he heaps up silver like dust,
And piles up clothing like clay—
17 He may pile it up, but the just will wear it,
And the innocent will divide the silver.
18 He builds his house like a moth,<sup>a</sup>
Like a booth which a watchman makes.
19 The rich man will lie down,
But not be gathered up,<sup>a</sup>
He opens his eyes,
And he is no more.
20 Terrors overtake him like a flood;
A tempest steals him away in the night.
21 The east wind carries him away, and he is gone;
It sweeps him out of his place.
22 It hurls against him and does not spare;
He flees desperately from its power.
23 Men shall clap their hands at him,
And shall hiss him out of his place.

Job's Discourse on Wisdom

28<sup>1</sup> “Surely there is a mine for silver,
And a place where gold is refined.
2 Iron is taken from the earth,
And copper is smelted from ore.
3 Man puts an end to darkness,
And searches every recess
For ore in the darkness and the shadow of death.
4 He breaks open a shaft away from people;

Science & Technology

From early times people have dug mines in search of metals and precious stones. The first metals to be found and used were gold, silver, iron, and copper—all of which occur in their native state in the earth. Both metals and their ores were the object of searches deep underground (Job 28:1–5). The Greeks lit fires in their mines to create a flow of air for the diggers.

In places forgotten by feet
They hang far away from men;
They swing to and fro.
5 As for the earth, from it comes bread,
But underneath it is turned up as by fire;
6 Its stones are the source of sapphires,
And it contains gold dust.
7 That path no bird knows,
Nor has the falcon's eye seen it.
8 The proud lions<sup>a</sup> have not trodden it,
Nor has the fierce lion passed over it.
9 He puts his hand on the flint;
He overturns the mountains at the roots.
10 He cuts out channels in the rocks,
And his eye sees every precious thing.
11 He dams up the streams from trickling;
What is hidden he brings forth to light.

12 “But where can wisdom be found?
And where is the place of understanding?
13 Man does not know its value,
Nor is it found in the land of the living.
14 The deep says, ‘It is not in me’;
And the sea says, ‘It is not with me.’
15 It cannot be purchased for gold,
Nor can silver be weighed for its price.
16 It cannot be valued in the gold of Ophir,
In precious onyx or sapphire.
17 Neither gold nor crystal can equal it,
Nor can it be exchanged for jewelry of fine gold.
18 No mention shall be made of coral or quartz,
For the price of wisdom is above rubies.
19 The topaz of Ethiopia cannot equal it,
Nor can it be valued in pure gold.
20 “From where then does wisdom come?
And where is the place of understanding?
21 It is hidden from the eyes of all living,
And concealed from the birds of the air.
22 Destruction and Death say,
‘We have heard a report about it with our ears.’
23 God understands its way,
And He knows its place.
24 For He looks to the ends of the earth,
And sees under the whole heavens,
25 To establish a weight for the wind,
And apportion the waters by measure.
26 When He made a law for the rain,
And a path for the thunderbolt,

27:15 “Literally his 27:18 “Following Masoretic Text and Vulgate; Septuagint and Syriac read spider (compare 8:14); Targum reads decay. 27:19 “Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Septuagint and Syriac read But shall not add (that is, do it again); Vulgate reads But take away nothing. 28:8 “Literally sons of pride, figurative of the great lions

27 Then He saw wisdom<sup>a</sup> and declared it;
He prepared it, indeed, He searched it out.
28 And to man He said,
'Behold, the fear of the Lord, that is
wisdom,
And to depart from evil is understanding.'

Job's Summary Defense

29 <sup>1</sup>Job further continued his discourse, and said:

2 "Oh, that I were as in months past,
As in the days when God watched over me;
3 When His lamp shone upon my head,
And when by His light I walked through
darkness;
4 Just as I was in the days of my prime,
When the friendly counsel of God was over my tent;
5 When the Almighty was yet with me,
When my children were around me;
6 When my steps were bathed with cream,<sup>a</sup>
And the rock poured out rivers of oil for
me!
7 "When I went out to the gate by the city,
When I took my seat in the open square,
8 The young men saw me and hid,
And the aged arose and stood;
9 The princes refrained from talking,
And put their hand on their mouth;
10 The voice of nobles was hushed,
And their tongue stuck to the roof of their mouth.
11 When the ear heard, then it blessed me,
And when the eye saw, then it approved me;
12 Because I delivered the poor who cried out,
The fatherless and the one who had no helper.
13 The blessing of a perishing man came upon me,
And I caused the widow's heart to sing for joy.
14 I put on righteousness, and it clothed me;
My justice was like a robe and a turban.
15 I was eyes to the blind,
And I was feet to the lame.
16 I was a father to the poor,
And I searched out the case that I did not
know.
17 I broke the fangs of the wicked,
And plucked the victim from his teeth.
18 "Then I said, 'I shall die in my nest,
And multiply my days as the sand.

19 My root is spread out to the waters,
And the dew lies all night on my branch.
20 My glory is fresh within me,
And my bow is renewed in my hand.'
21 "Men listened to me and waited,
And kept silence for my counsel.
22 After my words they did not speak again,
And my speech settled on them as dew.
23 They waited for me as for the rain,
And they opened their mouth wide as for the spring rain.
24 If I mocked at them, they did not believe it,
And the light of my countenance they did not cast down.
25 I chose the way for them, and sat
as chief;
So I dwelt as a king in the army,
As one who comforts mourners.

30 <sup>1</sup> "But now they mock at me, men younger than I,
Whose fathers I disdained to put with the dogs of my flock.
2 Indeed, what profit is the strength of their hands to me?
Their vigor has perished.
3 They are gaunt from want and famine,
Fleeing late to the wilderness, desolate and waste,
4 Who pluck mallow by the bushes,
And broom tree roots for their food.
5 They were driven out from among men,
They shouted at them as at a thief.
6 They had to live in the clefts of the valleys,
In caves of the earth and the rocks.
7 Among the bushes they brayed,
Under the nettles they nestled.
8 They were sons of fools,
Yes, sons of vile men;
They were scourged from the land.
9 "And now I am their taunting song;
Yes, I am their byword.
10 They abhor me, they keep far from me;
They do not hesitate to spit in my face.

Culture & Society

Ostracism, or social rejection, is imposed in traditional or village societies as a way of punishing offenders and discouraging misbehavior. The rejection is often accompanied by insulting songs or chants (Job 30:9). This kind of treatment is most effective when a person's highest social value is honor, rather than wealth or power. Shame and honor are opposites in these "honor-shame" societies.

28:27 <sup>a</sup>Literally it 29:6 <sup>a</sup>Masoretic Text reads wrath; ancient versions and some Hebrew manuscripts read cream (compare 20:17).

11 Because He has loosed my<sup>a</sup> bowstring and afflicted me,
They have cast off restraint before me.
12 At my right hand the rabble arises;
They push away my feet,
And they raise against me their ways of destruction.
13 They break up my path,
They promote my calamity;
They have no helper.
14 They come as broad breakers;
Under the ruinous storm they roll along.
15 Terrors are turned upon me;
They pursue my honor as the wind,
And my prosperity has passed like a cloud.
16 “And now my soul is poured out because of my plight;
The days of affliction take hold of me.
17 My bones are pierced in me at night,
And my gnawing pains take no rest.
18 By great force my garment is disfigured;
It binds me about as the collar of my coat.
19 He has cast me into the mire,
And I have become like dust and ashes.
20 “I cry out to You, but You do not answer me;
I stand up, and You regard me.
21 But You have become cruel to me;
With the strength of Your hand You oppose me.
22 You lift me up to the wind and cause me to ride on it;
You spoil my success.
23 For I know that You will bring me to death,
And to the house appointed for all living.
24 “Surely He would not stretch out His hand against a heap of ruins,
If they cry out when He destroys it.
25 Have I not wept for him who was in trouble?
Has not my soul grieved for the poor?
26 But when I looked for good, evil came to me;
And when I waited for light, then came darkness.
27 My heart is in turmoil and cannot rest;
Days of affliction confront me.
28 I go about mourning, but not in the sun;
I stand up in the assembly and cry out for help.
29 I am a brother of jackals,
And a companion of ostriches.
30 My skin grows black and falls from me;
My bones burn with fever.
31 My harp is turned to mourning,
And my flute to the voice of those who weep.

Why then should I look upon a young woman?
2 For what is the allotment of God from above,
And the inheritance of the Almighty from on high?
3 Is it not destruction for the wicked,
And disaster for the workers of iniquity?
4 Does He not see my ways,
And count all my steps?

Or if my foot has hastened to deceit,
6 Let me be weighed on honest scales,
That God may know my integrity.
7 If my step has turned from the way,
Or my heart walked after my eyes,
Or if any spot adheres to my hands,

Yes, let my harvest be rooted out.
9 “If my heart has been enticed by a woman,
Or if I have lurked at my neighbor’s door,
10 Then let my wife grind for another,
And let others bow down over her.
11 For that would be wickedness;
Yes, it would be iniquity deserving of judgment.
12 For that would be a fire that consumes to destruction,
And would root out all my increase.
13 “If I have despised the cause of my male or female servant
When they complained against me,
14 What then shall I do when God rises up?
When He punishes, how shall I answer Him?
15 Did not He who made me in the womb make them?
Did not the same One fashion us in the womb?
16 “If I have kept the poor from their desire,
Or caused the eyes of the widow to fail,
17 Or eaten my morsel by myself,
So that the fatherless could not eat of it

And from my mother’s womb I guided the widow<sup>a</sup>);

MISTAKING THE SUN AND MOON FOR DEITIES (JOB 31:26–28)

As Job takes an oath of innocence (Job 31), he swears that he has never been enticed to worship the sun or moon (31:26, 27). Possibly worshipers threw kisses to these celestial deities, since kissing was part of idol worship (1 Kin. 19:18; Hos. 13:2). Job again swears that he has not gestured such kisses (Job 31:27). Job's oath reflects the popularity of both the sun and the moon as deities in Syria-Palestine.

Yareah, the moon god, is mentioned in the Ugaritic ritual and mythological texts, dating around 1400 to 1200 B.C. In one narrative Yareah is a guest at a drinking feast of the gods, but there is little mention of him otherwise. The moon god Sin of Haran was worshiped throughout Syria-Palestine and Mesopotamia from the 3rd millennium through at least the Hellenistic period (332–37 B.C.). The characteristic crescent moon with dangling tassels, which symbolized this deity, has been found on numerous inscriptions and steles (stone slabs), including those discovered in Judah and Israel.

Much more is known about Shemesh. This deity, who could appear as either feminine (sun goddess) or masculine (sun god), was important in all ancient Near Eastern pantheons. In Ugarit the goddess Shapshu (meaning “sun”) was the arbiter of divine judgment as proclaimed by the chief god El. In this she mirrored an image, found from Egypt to Mesopotamia, of the sun as a god of justice.

People of the ancient Near East believed that the sun god rode through the sky by day and the netherworld at night, and thus saw and knew all human activity. Such knowledge made Shemesh useful for locating anyone who was to receive a message from El. In the Ugaritic texts, El sends Shapshu to order Baal and Mot to stop fighting. In Egyptian thought, the sun god (who had several names including Re and Aton) was believed to be the creator of the universe each morning.

20 Or any poor man without covering;
If his heart<sup>a</sup> has not blessed me,
And if he was not warmed with the fleece of my sheep;
21 If I have raised my hand against the
fatherless,
When I saw I had help in the gate;
22 Then let my arm fall from my shoulder,
Let my arm be torn from the socket.
23 For destruction from God is a terror to me,
And because of His magnificence I cannot endure.
24 “If I have made gold my hope,
Or said to fine gold, ‘You are my confidence’; 25 If I have rejoiced because my wealth was great,
And because my hand had gained much;
26 If I have observed the sun<sup>a</sup> when it shines,
Or the moon moving in brightness,
27 So that my heart has been secretly enticed,
And my mouth has kissed my hand;
28 This also would be an iniquity deserving of
judgment,
For I would have denied God who is above.
29 “If I have rejoiced at the destruction of him who hated me,
Or lifted myself up when evil found him
30 (Indeed I have not allowed my mouth to sin
By asking for a curse on his soul);
31 If the men of my tent have not said,
‘Who is there that has not been satisfied with his meat?’

32 (But no sojourner had to lodge in the street,
For I have opened my doors to the traveler<sup>a</sup>);
33 If I have covered my transgressions as Adam,
By hiding my iniquity in my bosom,
34 Because I feared the great multitude,
And dreaded the contempt of families,
So that I kept silence
And did not go out of the door—
35 Oh, that I had one to hear me!
Here is my mark.
Oh, that the Almighty would answer me,
That my Prosecutor had written a book!
36 Surely I would carry it on my shoulder,
And bind it on me like a crown;
37 I would declare to Him the number of my steps;
Like a prince I would approach Him.
38 “If my land cries out against me,
And its furrows weep together;
39 If I have eaten its fruit<sup>a</sup> without money,
Or caused its owners to lose their lives;
40 Then let thistles grow instead of wheat,
And weeds instead of barley.”

The words of Job are ended.

TRANSITION*Elihu: I Am Full of Words

When the argument between Job and his three friends at last collapses into silence, a fifth speaker appears for the first time, a certain Elihu the Buzite. Perhaps Elihu's long monologue (chs. 32–37) is meant to promote some reconciliation between Job and the friends, but it seems unlikely to do so. Elihu makes clear his scorn for all the previous speakers. Job's friends did not speak with wisdom, as expected (32:11, 12), and as for Job, he "speaks without knowledge" (34:35).

Elihu's words, like those of the three friends, often contain passages of great insight, insight that is unfortunately spoiled by its style of delivery. For instance, Elihu speaks with great fervor of God's majesty (36:5—37:24), but that reverent speech is prefaced with Elihu's pompous claim, "Truly my words are not false; One who is perfect in knowledge is with you" (36:4). Given such a beginning, it is difficult to imagine that Elihu's long-winded reasonings would effect any reconciliation.

Job

Elihu Contradicts Job's Friends

32 :1 So these three men ceased answering Job, because he was righteous in his own eyes. <sup>2</sup>Then the wrath of Elihu, the son of Barachel the Buzite, of the family of Ram, was aroused against Job; his wrath was aroused because he justified himself rather than God. <sup>3</sup>Also against his three friends his wrath was aroused, because they had found no answer, and yet had condemned Job.

<sup>4</sup>Now because they were years older than he, Elihu had waited to speak to Job.<sup>a</sup> <sup>5</sup>When Elihu saw that there was no answer in the mouth of these three men, his wrath was aroused.

<sup>6</sup>So Elihu, the son of Barachel the Buzite, answered and said:

"I am young in years, and you are very old;
Therefore I was afraid,
And dared not declare my opinion to you.
7 I said, 'Age<sup>a</sup> should speak,
And multitude of years should teach wisdom.'
8 But there is a spirit in man,
And the breath of the Almighty gives him understanding.
9 Great men<sup>a</sup> are not always wise,
Nor do the aged always understand justice.

Beliefs & Ideas

Ancient people commonly understood that divine revelation could be received in dreams (Job 33:14–16). Such dreams were not always self-interpreting, as shown by the experiences of Joseph (Gen. 40) and Daniel (Dan. 2). In the Iliad, Homer depicts the gods as appearing to their favorite subjects in dreams. The dreams clarified the dreamers' thoughts as much as they introduced any new idea.

10 "Therefore I say, 'Listen to me,
I also will declare my opinion.'
11 Indeed I waited for your words,
I listened to your reasonings, while you sought out what to say.
12 I paid close attention to you;
And surely not one of you convinced
Job,
Or answered his words—
13 Lest you say,
'We have found wisdom';
God will vanquish him, not man.
14 Now he has not directed his words against
me;
So I will not answer him with your words.

15 "They are dismayed and answer no more;
Words escape them.
16 And I have waited, because they did not speak,
Because they stood still and answered no
more.
17 I also will answer my part,
I too will declare my opinion.
18 For I am full of words;
The spirit within me compels me.
19 Indeed my belly is like wine that has no
vent;
It is ready to burst like new wineskins.
20 I will speak, that I may find relief;
I must open my lips and answer.
21 Let me not, I pray, show partiality to anyone;
Nor let me flatter any man.
22 For I do not know how to flatter,
Else my Maker would soon take me away.

Elihu Contradicts Job

33 <sup>1</sup> "But please, Job, hear my speech,
And listen to all my words.
<sup>2</sup> Now, I open my mouth;
My tongue speaks in my mouth.
<sup>3</sup> My words come from my upright heart;
My lips utter pure knowledge.
<sup>4</sup> The Spirit of God has made me,
And the breath of the Almighty gives me life.
<sup>5</sup> If you can answer me,
Set your words in order before me;
Take your stand.
<sup>6</sup> Truly I am as your spokesman<sup>a</sup> before
God;
I also have been formed out of clay.
<sup>7</sup> Surely no fear of me will terrify you,

32:4 <sup>a</sup>Vulgate reads till Job had spoken. 32:7 <sup>a</sup>Literally Days, that is, years 32:9 <sup>a</sup>Or Men of many years 33:6 <sup>a</sup>Literally as your mouth

Nor will my hand be heavy on you.

8 “Surely you have spoken in my hearing,
And I have heard the sound of your words,
saying,

9 ‘I am pure, without transgression;
I am innocent, and there is no iniquity in
me.

10 Yet He finds occasions against me,
He counts me as His enemy;
11 He puts my feet in the stocks,
He watches all my paths.’

12 “Look, in this you are not righteous.
I will answer you,
For God is greater than man.
13 Why do you contend with Him?
For He does not give an accounting of any of His words.

14 For God may speak in one way, or in another,
Yet man does not perceive it.
15 In a dream, in a vision of the night,
When deep sleep falls upon men,
While slumbering on their beds,
16 Then He opens the ears of men,
And seals their instruction.
17 In order to turn man from his deed,
And conceal pride from man,
18 He keeps back his soul from the Pit,
And his life from perishing by the sword.

19 “Man is also chastened with pain on his bed,
And with strong pain in many of his bones,
20 So that his life abhors bread,
And his soul succulent food.
21 His flesh wastes away from sight,
And his bones stick out which once were not seen.
22 Yes, his soul draws near the Pit,
And his life to the executioners.

23 “If there is a messenger for him,
A mediator, one among a thousand,
To show man His uprightness,
24 Then He is gracious to him, and says,
‘Deliver him from going down to the Pit;
I have found a ransom’;
25 His flesh shall be young like a child’s,
He shall return to the days of his youth.
26 He shall pray to God, and He will delight
in him,
He shall see His face with joy,
For He restores to man His righteousness.
27 Then he looks at men and says,
‘I have sinned, and perverted what was right,
And it did not profit me.’

28 He will redeem his<sup>a</sup> soul from going down to the Pit,
And his<sup>b</sup> life shall see the light.

29 “Behold, God works all these things,
Twice, in fact, three times with a man,
30 To bring back his soul from the Pit,
That he may be enlightened with the light of life.

31 “Give ear, Job, listen to me;
Hold your peace, and I will speak.
32 If you have anything to say, answer me;
Speak, for I desire to justify you.
33 If not, listen to me;
Hold your peace, and I will teach you
wisdom.”

Elihu Proclaims God's Justice

34 <sup>1</sup>Elihu further answered and said:

2 “Hear my words, you wise men;
Give ear to me, you who have knowledge.
3 For the ear tests words
As the palate tastes food.
4 Let us choose justice for ourselves;
Let us know among ourselves what is good.

5 “For Job has said, ‘I am righteous,
But God has taken away my justice;
6 Should I lie concerning my right?
My wound is incurable, though I am without transgression.’
7 What man is like Job,
Who drinks scorn like water,
8 Who goes in company with the workers of iniquity,
And walks with wicked men?
9 For he has said, ‘It profits a man nothing
That he should delight in God.’

10 “Therefore listen to me, you men of understanding:
Far be it from God to do wickedness,
And from the Almighty to commit iniquity.
11 For He repays man according to his work,
And makes man to find a reward according to his way.
12 Surely God will never do wickedly,
Nor will the Almighty pervert justice.
13 Who gave Him charge over the earth?
Or who appointed Him over the whole world?
14 If He should set His heart on it,
If He should gather to Himself His Spirit and His breath,
15 All flesh would perish together,
And man would return to dust.

33:28 <sup>a</sup>Or my (Kethib) <sup>b</sup>Or my (Kethib)

16 “If you have understanding, hear this;
 Listen to the sound of my words:
 17 Should one who hates justice govern?
 Will you condemn Him who is most just?
 18 Is it fitting to say to a king, ‘You are worthless,’
 And to nobles, ‘You are wicked?’
 19 Yet He is not partial to princes, Nor does He regard the rich more than the poor;
 For they are all the work of His hands.
 20 In a moment they die, in the middle of the night;
 The people are shaken and pass away;
 The mighty are taken away without a
 hand.

21 “For His eyes are on the ways of man,
 And He sees all his steps.
 22 There is no darkness nor shadow of death
 Where the workers of iniquity may hide themselves.
 23 For He need not further consider a man,
 That he should go before God in
 judgment.
 24 He breaks in pieces mighty men without inquiry,
 And sets others in their place.
 25 Therefore He knows their works;
 He overthrows them in the night,
 And they are crushed.
 26 He strikes them as wicked men
 In the open sight of others,
 27 Because they turned back from Him,
 And would not consider any of His ways, 28 So that they caused the cry of the poor to come to Him;
 For He hears the cry of the afflicted.
 29 When He gives quietness, who then can make trouble?
 And when He hides His face, who then can
 see Him,

Whether it is against a nation or a man alone?—
 30 That the hypocrite should not reign,
 Lest the people be ensnared.

31 “For has anyone said to God,
 ‘I have borne chastening;
 I will offend no more;
 32 Teach me what I do not see;
 If I have done iniquity, I will do no more’?
 33 Should He repay it according to your terms,
Just because you disavow it?
 You must choose, and not I;
 Therefore speak what you know.

34 “Men of understanding say to me,
 Wise men who listen to me:
 35 ‘Job speaks without knowledge,
 His words are without wisdom.’
 36 Oh, that Job were tried to the utmost, Because his answers are like those of wicked men!
 37 For he adds rebellion to his sin;
 He claps his hands among us,
 And multiplies his words against God.”

Elihu Condemns Self-Righteousness

35 <sup>1</sup>Moreover Elihu answered and said:
<sup>2</sup> “Do you think this is right?
 Do you say,
 ‘My righteousness is more than God’s?’
<sup>3</sup> For you say,
 ‘What advantage will it be to You?
 What profit shall I have, more than if I had sinned?’
<sup>4</sup> “I will answer you,
 And your companions with you.
<sup>5</sup> Look to the heavens and see;
 And behold the clouds—
 They are higher than you.

Olive trees of Jordan

6 If you sin, what do you accomplish against Him?
Or, if your transgressions are multiplied,
what do you do to Him?
7 If you are righteous, what do you give Him?
Or what does He receive from your hand?
8 Your wickedness affects a man such as you,
And your righteousness a son of man.
9 “Because of the multitude of oppressions
they cry out;
They cry out for help because of the arm of the mighty.
10 But no one says, ‘Where is God my Maker,
Who gives songs in the night,
11 Who teaches us more than the beasts of
the earth,
And makes us wiser than the birds of heaven?’
12 There they cry out, but He does not answer,
Because of the pride of evil men.
13 Surely God will not listen to empty talk,
Nor will the Almighty regard it.
14 Although you say you do not see Him,
Yet justice is before Him, and you must wait for Him.
15 And now, because He has not punished in
His anger,
Nor taken much notice of folly,
16 Therefore Job opens his mouth in vain;
He multiplies words without knowledge.”

Elihu Proclaims God's Goodness

36 <sup>1</sup>Elihu also proceeded and said:

2 “Bear with me a little, and I will show you
That there are yet words to speak on God's behalf.
3 I will fetch my knowledge from afar;
I will ascribe righteousness to my Maker.
4 For truly my words are not false;
One who is perfect in knowledge is with you.
5 “Behold, God is mighty, but despises no one;
He is mighty in strength of understanding.
6 He does not preserve the life of the wicked,
But gives justice to the oppressed.
7 He does not withdraw His eyes from the
righteous;
But they are on the throne with kings,
For He has seated them forever,
And they are exalted.
8 And if they are bound in fetters,

Held in the cords of affliction,
9 Then He tells them their work and their transgressions—
That they have acted defiantly.
10 He also opens their ear to instruction,
And commands that they turn from
iniquity.
11 If they obey and serve Him,
They shall spend their days in prosperity,
And their years in pleasures.
12 But if they do not obey,
They shall perish by the sword,
And they shall die without knowledge.<sup>a</sup>
13 “But the hypocrites in heart store up wrath;
They do not cry for help when He binds
them.
14 They die in youth,
And their life ends among the perverted persons.<sup>a</sup>
15 He delivers the poor in their affliction,
And opens their ears in oppression.
16 “Indeed He would have brought you out of dire distress,
Into a broad place where there is no
restraint;
And what is set on your table would be full of richness.
17 But you are filled with the judgment due
the wicked;
Judgment and justice take hold of you.
18 Because there is wrath, beware lest He take you away with one blow;
For a large ransom would not help you avoid it.
19 Will your riches,
Or all the mighty forces,
Keep you from distress?
20 Do not desire the night,
When people are cut off in their place.
21 Take heed, do not turn to iniquity,
For you have chosen this rather than affliction.
22 “Behold, God is exalted by His power;
Who teaches like Him?
23 Who has assigned Him His way,
Or who has said, ‘You have done wrong?’

Elihu Proclaims God's Majesty

Man looks on it from afar.

Nor can the number of His years be discovered.

- 27 For He draws up drops of water,
Which distill as rain from the mist,
28 Which the clouds drop down
And pour abundantly on man.
29 Indeed, can anyone understand the spreading of clouds,
The thunder from His canopy?
30 Look, He scatters His light upon it,
And covers the depths of the sea.
31 For by these He judges the peoples;
He gives food in abundance.
32 He covers His hands with lightning,
And commands it to strike.
33 His thunder declares it,
The cattle also, concerning the rising storm.

3 He sends it forth under the whole heaven,
His lightning to the ends of the earth.
4 After it a voice roars;
He thunders with His majestic voice,
And He does not restrain them when His voice is heard.
5 God thunders marvelously with His
voice;
He does great things which we cannot comprehend.
6 For He says to the snow, ‘Fall on the earth’;
Likewise to the gentle rain and the heavy rain of His strength.
7 He seals the hand of every man,
That all men may know His work.
8 The beasts go into dens,
And remain in their lairs.
9 From the chamber of the south comes the whirlwind,
And cold from the scattering winds of the north.
10 By the breath of God ice is given,
And the broad waters are frozen.
11 Also with moisture He saturates the thick
clouds;
He scatters His bright clouds.
12 And they swirl about, being turned by His guidance,
That they may do whatever He commands
them
On the face of the whole earth.<sup>a</sup>
13 He causes it to come,
Whether for correction,
Or for His land,
Or for mercy.

- 14 “Listen to this, O Job;
Stand still and consider the wondrous works of God.
15 Do you know when God dispatches them,
And causes the light of His cloud to shine?
16 Do you know how the clouds are balanced,
Those wondrous works of Him who is perfect in knowledge?
17 Why are your garments hot,
When He quiets the earth by the south
wind?
18 With Him, have you spread out the skies,
Strong as a cast metal mirror?
19 “Teach us what we should say to Him,
For we can prepare nothing because of the
darkness.
20 Should He be told that I wish to speak?
If a man were to speak, surely he would be swallowed up.
21 Even now men cannot look at the light
when it is bright in the skies,
When the wind has passed and cleared
them.
22 He comes from the north as golden splendor;
With God is awesome majesty.
23 As for the Almighty, we cannot find Him;
He is excellent in power,
In judgment and abundant justice;
He does not oppress.
24 Therefore men fear Him;
He shows no partiality to any who are wise of heart.”

Where Were You?

At last God appears, in person, in a whirlwind, and discloses Himself to Job. With a series of rhetorical questions, God presents Himself as the God of creation, magnificent and mysterious (38:1–40:2). God alone created all, and He alone understands His handiwork.

God's message to Job is not entirely new. Eliphaz, Elihu, and Job himself also spoke of God's creative mystery (Job 15:7–9; 28:23–27; 36:26–37:12). Comparable passages appear outside the Book of Job, such as the wisdom teachings of Agur, whose rhetorical question (Prov. 30:4) is strikingly similar to those that God asks Job. Nevertheless, when God Himself speaks this familiar theme, Job is silenced (Job 40:3–5).

• Job 38:1—40:5

WERE YOU THERE AT THE BEGINNING? (JOB 38:7)

Public building projects in the ancient Near East were begun with religious rituals, including liturgical singing in praise of the major deities. Kings ritually, if not actually, helped set the foundations of temples and symbolically aided the construction workers in laying walls and fastening gates. In Job 38:4–7, the universe is pictured as a great building project by God. All the inhabitants of heaven sing for joy as the foundations of the earth are laid (Job 38:7).

The heavenly beings who sing and shout are “the morning stars” and “the sons of God” (38:7). In the group of languages called Northwest Semitic, which includes Hebrew, “sons of God” is a standard way to describe the pantheon of deities. The specific mention of the morning stars may reflect Egyptian notions that creation begins anew each morning just as light appears along the horizon. Thus creation begins anew when the morning stars are in the sky. God reminds Job that he was not present, and cannot know what happened at creation when the heavenly choir sang (Job 38:4).

The Lord Reveals His Omnipotence to Job

38:1 Then the LORD answered Job out of the whirlwind, and said:

2 “Who is this who darkens counsel
By words without knowledge?

3 Now prepare yourself like a man;
I will question you, and you shall answer
Me.

4 “Where were you when I laid the foundations of the earth?
Tell Me, if you have understanding.
5 Who determined its measurements?
Surely you know!

6 Or who stretched the line upon it?
To what were its foundations fastened?
Or who laid its cornerstone,
7 When the morning stars sang together,
And all the sons of God shouted for joy?

8 “Or who shut in the sea with doors,
When it burst forth and issued from the
womb;
9 When I made the clouds its garment,
And thick darkness its swaddling band;
10 When I fixed My limit for it,
And set bars and doors;
11 When I said,
‘This far you may come, but no farther,
And here your proud waves must stop!’

12 “Have you commanded the morning since your days began,
And caused the dawn to know its place,

13 That it might take hold of the ends of
the earth,
And the wicked be shaken out of it?

14 It takes on form like clay under a seal,
And stands out like a garment.

15 From the wicked their light is withheld,
And the upraised arm is broken.

16 “Have you entered the springs of the sea?
Or have you walked in search of the depths?
17 Have the gates of death been revealed to you?
Or have you seen the doors of the shadow of death?

18 Have you comprehended the breadth of
the earth?
Tell Me, if you know all this.

19 “Where is the way to the dwelling of light?
And darkness, where is its place,
20 That you may take it to its territory,
That you may know the paths to its home?
21 Do you know it, because you were born then,
Or because the number of your days is great?

22 “Have you entered the treasury of snow,
Or have you seen the treasury of hail,
23 Which I have reserved for the time of trouble,
For the day of battle and war?
24 By what way is light diffused,
Or the east wind scattered over the earth?

25 “Who has divided a channel for the overflowing water,

Or a path for the thunderbolt, 26 To cause it to rain on a land where there is
no one,
A wilderness in which there is no man;

27 To satisfy the desolate waste,
And cause to spring forth the growth of tender grass?
28 Has the rain a father?
Or who has begotten the drops of dew?
29 From whose womb comes the ice?
And the frost of heaven, who gives it birth?
30 The waters harden like stone,
And the surface of the deep is frozen.

31 "Can you bind the cluster of the Pleiades,
Or loose the belt of Orion?
32 Can you bring out Mazzaroth<sup>a</sup> in its season?
Or can you guide the Great Bear with its cubs?
33 Do you know the ordinances of the heavens?
Can you set their dominion over the earth?

34 "Can you lift up your voice to the clouds,
That an abundance of water may cover you?
35 Can you send out lightnings, that they may go,
And say to you, 'Here we are!'
36 Who has put wisdom in the mind?<sup>a</sup>
Or who has given understanding to the heart?
37 Who can number the clouds by wisdom?
Or who can pour out the bottles of heaven,
38 When the dust hardens in clumps,
And the clods cling together?

39 "Can you hunt the prey for the lion,
Or satisfy the appetite of the young lions,
40 When they crouch in their dens,
Or lurk in their lairs to lie in wait?
41 Who provides food for the raven,
When its young ones cry to God,
And wander about for lack of food?

39 <sup>1</sup> "Do you know the time when the wild mountain goats bear young?
Or can you mark when the deer gives birth?
2 Can you number the months that they fulfill?
Or do you know the time when they bear young?
3 They bow down,
They bring forth their young,
They deliver their offspring.<sup>a</sup>

While many ancient people believed that the stars were gods and goddesses, Israel believed that God created the constellations. Orion (Job 38:31) is the name of not only one of the constellations, but also of a giant hunter in mythology. The mythological Orion was killed by the goddess Artemis. The Great Bear (38:32) is the constellation Ursa Major. Mazzaroth may mean "constellations" generally.

4 Their young ones are healthy,
They grow strong with grain;
They depart and do not return to them.

15 She forgets that a foot may crush them,
Or that a wild beast may break them.
16 She treats her young harshly, as though
they were not hers;
Her labor is in vain, without concern,
17 Because God deprived her of wisdom,
And did not endow her with understanding.
18 When she lifts herself on high,
She scorns the horse and its rider.

19 "Have you given the horse strength?

He gallops into the clash of arms.
22 He mocks at fear, and is not frightened;
Nor does he turn back from the sword.
23 The quiver rattles against him,
The glittering spear and javelin.
24 He devours the distance with fierceness and rage;
Nor does he come to a halt because the trumpet has sounded.

Behold Behemoth

After Job has bowed before God's presence, God speaks again. Whereas in His first speech (38:1—40:2) God described natural creation, in His second speech (40:6—41:34) He speaks of creatures that transcend the natural. The monsters Behemoth and Leviathan are sometimes associated with the hippopotamus and the crocodile, but in Job 40; 41 they are described in supernatural language, like legendary sea monsters (see 41:19, 20). But even these creatures are subject to God—“Everything under heaven is Mine” (41:11).

God's Challenge to Job

40 :6 Then the LORD answered Job out of the whirlwind, and said:

<sup>7</sup> “Now prepare yourself like a man;

I will question you, and you shall answer Me:

<sup>8</sup> “Would you indeed annul My judgment?
Would you condemn Me that you may be justified?
<sup>9</sup> Have you an arm like God?
Or can you thunder with a voice like His?
<sup>10</sup> Then adorn yourself with majesty and splendor,
And array yourself with glory and beauty.
<sup>11</sup> Disperse the rage of your wrath;
Look on everyone who is proud, and humble him.
<sup>12</sup> Look on everyone who is proud, and bring him low;
Tread down the wicked in their place.
<sup>13</sup> Hide them in the dust together,
Bind their faces in hidden darkness.
<sup>14</sup> Then I will also confess to you
That your own right hand can save you.
<sup>15</sup> “Look now at the behemoth,<sup>a</sup> which I made along with you;
He eats grass like an ox.
<sup>16</sup> See now, his strength is in his hips,
And his power is in his stomach muscles.
<sup>17</sup> He moves his tail like a cedar;
The sinews of his thighs are tightly knit.
<sup>18</sup> His bones are like beams of bronze,
His ribs like bars of iron.
<sup>19</sup> He is the first of the ways of God;
Only He who made him can bring near His sword.
<sup>20</sup> Surely the mountains yield food for him,
And all the beasts of the field play there.
<sup>21</sup> He lies under the lotus trees,
In a covert of reeds and marsh.
<sup>22</sup> The lotus trees cover him with their shade;
The willows by the brook surround him.
<sup>23</sup> Indeed the river may rage,
Yet he is not disturbed;
He is confident, though the Jordan gushes into his mouth,
<sup>24</sup> Though he takes it in his eyes,
Or one pierces his nose with a snare.

41 <sup>1</sup> “Can you draw out Leviathan<sup>a</sup> with a hook,
Or snare his tongue with a line which you lower?”

<sup>2</sup> Can you put a reed through his nose,
Or pierce his jaw with a hook?
<sup>3</sup> Will he make many supplications to you?
Will he speak softly to you?
<sup>4</sup> Will he make a covenant with you?
Will you take him as a servant forever?

LEVIATHAN, THE SEA SERPENT (JOB 41:1)

In Job 41 God continues His speech to Job (see Job 40:1, 6), describing Leviathan, a creature familiar to Job (Job 3:8). This picture of the ultimate sea serpent contrasts the powerlessness of humans against the all-powerful might of God. Although some have supposed that Job 41 speaks of a crocodile or whale, the description of the sea creature is not one that is familiar from nature.

The questions asked of Job stress in minute detail how powerful and how invincible the sea serpent is in the eyes of humans. They cannot even imagine fishing or hunting for this monster. It cannot possibly belong to mere mortals. God Himself, however, created this creature to “play” in the sea (Ps. 104:25, 26). A contrast reveals the unfathomable power of God: While Leviathan terrifies humans, to God it is simply His “little rubber ducky.” Leviathan is greater than any other living thing, save One. God alone has no fear of this creature.

There are a number of myths concerning a huge serpent coming from a variety of African cultures. The serpent is presented as an ally of the highest deity. To keep the world from disintegrating, the snake encircles it and grasps its own tail in its mouth, physically holding the universe together. Earthquakes are understood as the serpent moving. Should the serpent die, or cease constricting the land, the world would dissolve back into the sea.

Leviathan appears as Lothan in mythological texts dating around 1400 B.C. In these texts from Ugarit, a Canaanite city-state on the northeast coast of the Mediterranean, the serpent Lothan is associated with the god of the sea, Yam, whom Baal defeats in battle. Possibly a story similar to this Canaanite myth was known in Israel, telling how God defeated Leviathan long ago and placed the serpent in its current status. Imagery from such a story remains in Ps. 74:13, 14, which describes God’s victory over Leviathan and the sea serpents.

The original readers of the Book of Job must have recognized in Job 41 the awesome power of God. If at one time in mythological narratives Leviathan was opposed to God, now the sea serpent had become one of God’s most impressive servants.

9 Indeed, any hope of overcoming him is

Job: Now My Eye Sees You

God never does answer all of Job's questions, most noticeably the question about why the innocent suffer. Instead, God simply discloses Himself as the source and master of all creation. It is enough. In the presence of God Himself, Job bows and accepts God's mystery (42:1–6).

At last, Job's former glory is reinstated. Perhaps more importantly, though, Job is vindicated. His three friends and their simplistic wisdom are routed, whereas Job's angry questions and profound insights into true wisdom receive God's approval (42:8). In the epilogue of the book (42:7–17) Job's situation is reversed and his blessings restored.

• Job 42:1–17

Job

Job's Repentance and Restoration

42:1 Then Job answered the LORD and said:

<sup>2</sup> “I know that You can do everything,
And that no purpose of Yours can be withheld from You.

<sup>3</sup> You asked, ‘Who is this who hides counsel without knowledge?’
Therefore I have uttered what I did not understand,
Things too wonderful for me, which I did not know.
<sup>4</sup> Listen, please, and let me speak;
You said, ‘I will question you, and you shall answer Me.’
<sup>5</sup> “I have heard of You by the hearing of the ear,
But now my eye sees You.
<sup>6</sup> Therefore I abhor myself,
And repent in dust and ashes.”

<sup>7</sup>And so it was, after the LORD had spoken these words to Job, that the LORD said to Eliphaz the Temanite, “My wrath is aroused against you and your two friends, for you have not spoken of Me what is right, as My servant Job has. <sup>8</sup>Now therefore, take for yourselves seven bulls and seven rams, go to My servant Job, and offer up for yourselves a burnt offering; and My servant Job shall pray for you. For I will accept him, lest I deal with you according to your folly; because you have not spoken of Me what is right, as My servant Job has.”

<sup>9</sup>So Eliphaz the Temanite and Bildad the Shuhite and Zophar the Naamathite went and did as the LORD commanded them; for the LORD had accepted Job. <sup>10</sup>And the LORD restored Job's losses<sup>a</sup> when he prayed for his friends. Indeed the LORD gave Job twice as much as he had before. <sup>11</sup>Then all his brothers, all his sisters, and all those who had been his acquaintances before, came to him and ate food with him in his house; and they consoled him and comforted him for all the adversity that the LORD had brought upon him. Each one gave him a piece of silver and each a ring of gold.

<sup>12</sup>Now the LORD blessed the latter days of Job more than his beginning; for he had fourteen thousand sheep, six thousand camels, one thousand yoke of oxen, and one thousand female donkeys. <sup>13</sup>He also had seven sons and three daughters. <sup>14</sup>And he called the name of the first Jemimah, the name of the second Keziah, and the name of the third Keren-Happuch. <sup>15</sup>In all the land were found no women so beautiful as the daughters of Job; and their father gave them an inheritance among their brothers.

THE PERSIAN EMPIRE

Cyrus the Persian captured the city of Babylon in 539 B.C. The whole of the Neo-Babylonian Empire was his shortly thereafter, including the land of Palestine. He established one of the most successful and enduring of the great ancient empires.

Part of Cyrus's success came from his practice of showing respect for the religious beliefs of his captured peoples. In his first year, according to both Persian records and the biblical account, he proclaimed that all the captive peoples whom the Babylonians had dragged into exile should be allowed to go free (2 Chr. 36:22, 23; Ezra 1:1–4). Cyrus demanded political obedience, particularly regarding the universal requirement of taxes, but unlike the Assyrian and Babylonian rulers, he did not seek to impose his own religion on his subjects.

When Cyrus died in 530 B.C., he was succeeded by his son Cambyses (530–522 B.C.). There are some indications that Cambyses was mentally unstable and perhaps epileptic, but he evidently inherited some of his father's ability as a general. In 525 B.C. Cambyses captured Egypt. The Persian Empire had now exceeded the geographic boundaries of any of the earlier empires.

While Cambyses was returning from the conquest of Egypt, word reached him that he had been deposed by someone claiming to be his brother.

For reasons not completely clear, Cambyses committed suicide. One of his officers, named Darius, took his place. Darius put down that rebellion and several others in the next few years, and in the end it was Darius who reigned as the next Persian emperor (522–486 B.C.). Known as Darius the Great, Darius I was as gifted an administrator as Cyrus was a general, and under his rule the extensive organization of the Persian Empire took place. The resulting system of regional governors, satraps, and official inspectors was bulky but effective.

During Darius's reign, a new player appeared in the political life of the ancient Near East: Greece. Darius expanded the Persian Empire through the region of Asia Minor and sought to go the next step, into the Greek peninsula. Greece at this time consisted of many independent city-states, but faced with such a formidable invader, these states joined together. Under Miltiades, a general from the city of Athens, the Greek alliance turned Darius's armies back at the battle of Marathon (490 B.C.).

Darius's son Xerxes I (486–465 B.C.) invaded Greece again in 480 B.C., but after some initial success was also turned back. His successor, Artaxerxes I (465–424 B.C.), ultimately gave up Persian designs on Greek land and signed the Peace of Callias in 449 B.C. The empire was beginning to face internal problems, such as rebellions in Babylon and Egypt. It no longer had the resources to wage new wars of conquest.

Under Persian rule, the Jews faced their own internal disputes. When Cyrus proclaimed that captive peoples could return to their homeland, some of the exiled Jews discovered that they would rather stay where they were. Many had become quite comfortable living in foreign lands, and the prospect of returning home to start over in the ruined city of Jerusalem was daunting.

Several small groups of Jews did return to Jerusalem, though. The first group was led in 538 or 537 B.C. by one Sheshbazzar (Ezra 1:8–11), who became the first Judean governor after the Exile, but otherwise is totally unknown. A second group, led by a direct descendant of King David, named Zerubbabel, was more successful. Under the leadership of Zerubbabel and a priest named Jeshua, this group arrived in Jerusalem and immediately began rebuilding the temple.

In Palestine, though, the returning exiles were confronted by the people who had not been taken to Babylon, who had been on the land all that time, and the confrontation was not friendly. The returned exiles saw those who had stayed in Palestine as mixed-breed Jews who defiled the true worship of God. This was particularly so for the inhabitants of the region of Samaria, the Samaritans, whom the returned exiles regarded with a dislike and suspicion that would still be evident in the New Testament, 500 years later. Both Jews and Samaritans claimed descent from Abraham and worshiped Abraham's God, but they were deeply separated from each other.

So Judaism was divided. First, Jews were divided between those in Palestine (the returned exiles) and those scattered throughout the Persian Empire (the "Diaspora" or "dispersion"). Second, even those in Palestine were split between the returned exiles, who saw themselves as the ethnically and religiously pure remnant of their nation and faith, and the ones who had stayed behind in the land, like the Samaritans.

The Persian Empire exceeded the geographic boundaries of any of the earlier empires.

CYRUS'S RELIGIOUS PROPAGANDA (EZRA 1:2-4)

Cyrus, king of Persia, proclaimed that the God of heaven had given him the empire because of the ruthless deportation practices of the Babylonians. God had called Cyrus to allow peoples displaced by the Babylonians to return to their homes. Judah's God also had commanded him to build the Jerusalem temple (Ezra 1:2).

Apparently Cyrus issued proclamations to specific groups of deported persons. One proclamation, appearing in the Book of Ezra (Ezra 1:2-4), was for the Jews; another for the Babylonians has been found on what is called the Cyrus Cylinder. Both proclamations probably were issued in 538 B.C., at the end of the period in which Cyrus conquered the city of Babylon. While the proclamations announced new freedom for the conquered peoples, they also paid reverence to the captive gods.

In the Cyrus Cylinder, the king announced that the "Lord of the gods" (meaning Babylon's god Marduk) chose him (Cyrus) to conquer the world and set the religious situation in Babylonia right after years of abuse. According to the proclamation, all the sanctuaries were in ruins, and Marduk wished for Cyrus to rebuild them for the Babylonian people. For this reason Marduk allowed Cyrus to conquer Babylon.

Cyrus also claimed it was the will of Marduk to return items that were brought to Babylon during the rule of the Neo-Babylonian Empire. Statues of other gods, along with implements used in their worship, would be returned when conquered peoples returned to their homelands. Temples would be rebuilt and worship restored.

Certainly Cyrus believed that his empire was built with the help of the god who ruled over the entire earth. In writing to various peoples, he called that deity by the name of the highest god of the people to whom he wrote. This might be a classic case of political propaganda, or Cyrus may have assumed that there was one god, who was called different names by different peoples. In either case, Cyrus both appealed to the gods to support his kingship and to the peoples of his new empire to accept him as rightful ruler.

The Book of Ezra

The story of the Jews' return from exile and the restoration of their ruined temple and city is told in the Book of Ezra and continued in the Book of Nehemiah. The central figure is Ezra, a scribe from a priestly family. But Ezra himself does not appear in the book until ch. 7. The earlier chapters are devoted to the rebuilding of the temple by the returned exiles under the political leader Zerubbabel and the priestly leader Jeshua. To rebuild the temple, they had to overcome opposition from "the people of the land" (Ezra 4:1-5), but in the end they completed the structure.

Tradition holds that the author of the book is Ezra himself. If so, then Ezra may have also been the Chronicler, the author of the priestly history found in 1 and 2 Chronicles, because the Book of Ezra picks up at the precise moment that Chronicles leaves off. Chronicles ends (2 Chr. 36:22, 23), and the Book of Ezra begins (Ezra 1:1-4), with the decree of Cyrus in 538 B.C. that allowed the exiles to return. Other scholars believe that one or more editors compiled the material now known as 1 and 2 Chronicles, Ezra, and Nehemiah.

End of the Babylonian Captivity

1:1 Now in the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, that the word of the LORD by the mouth of Jeremiah might be fulfilled, the LORD stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, so that he made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom, and also put it in writing, saying,

<sup>2</sup> Thus says Cyrus king of Persia: All the kingdoms of the earth the LORD God of heaven has given me. And He has commanded me to build Him a house at Jerusalem which is in Judah. <sup>3</sup>Who is among you of all His people? May his God be with him, and let him go up to Jerusalem which is in Judah, and build the house of the LORD God of Israel (He is God), which is in Jerusalem. <sup>4</sup>And whoever is left in any place where he dwells, let the men of his place help him with silver and gold, with goods and livestock, besides the freewill offerings for the house of God which is in Jerusalem.

<sup>5</sup>Then the heads of the fathers' houses of Judah and Benjamin, and the priests and the Levites, with all whose spirits God had moved, arose to go up and build the house of the LORD which is in Jerusalem. <sup>6</sup>And all those who were around them encouraged them with articles of silver and gold, with goods and livestock, and with precious things, besides all that was willingly offered.

<sup>7</sup>King Cyrus also brought out the articles of the house of the LORD, which Nebuchadnezzar had taken from Jerusalem and put in the temple of his gods; <sup>8</sup>and Cyrus king of Persia brought them out by the hand of Mithredath the treasurer, and counted them out to Sheshbazzar the prince of Judah. <sup>9</sup>This is the number of them: thirty gold platters, one thousand silver platters, twenty-nine knives, <sup>10</sup>thirty gold basins, four hundred and ten silver basins of a similar kind, and one thousand other articles. <sup>11</sup>All the articles of gold and silver were five thousand four hundred.

All these Sheshbazzar took with the captives who were brought from Babylon to Jerusalem.

celebrated at that time. Scholars commonly suggest that this 7th month occurred in either 538 or 537 B.C., thus shortly after Cyrus's proclamation. The 2nd year "of their coming" (3:8), when work began on the temple's foundation, would then be either 537 or 536 B.C.

The prophets Haggai and Zechariah encouraged the people to finish their task of rebuilding the temple (Ezra 5:1, 2). The work of both prophets is dated in the 2nd year of Darius I (Hag. 1:1; Zech. 1:1), thus in 520 B.C. Some scholars suppose that the account in Ezra 3:8–13 of laying the temple's foundation actually refers to Zerubbabel's work in 520 B.C. (see Hag. 1:14, 15).

Restoring the Altar

3:1 And when the seventh month had come, and the children of Israel were in the cities, the people gathered together as one man to Jerusalem. <sup>2</sup>Then Jeshua the son of Jozadak<sup>a</sup> and his brethren the priests, and Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel and his brethren, arose and built the altar of the God of Israel, to offer burnt offerings on it, as it is written in the Law of Moses the man of God. <sup>3</sup>Though fear had come upon them because of the people of those countries, they set the altar on its bases; and they offered burnt offerings on it to the LORD, both the morning and evening burnt offerings. <sup>4</sup>They also kept the Feast of Tabernacles, as it is written, and offered the daily burnt offerings in the number required by ordinance for each day. <sup>5</sup>Afterwards they offered the regular burnt offering, and those for New Moons and for all the appointed feasts of the LORD that were consecrated, and those of everyone who willingly offered a freewill offering to the LORD. <sup>6</sup>From the first day of the seventh month they began to offer burnt offerings to the LORD, although the foundation of the temple of the LORD had not been laid. <sup>7</sup>They also gave money to the masons and the carpenters, and food, drink, and oil to the people of Sidon and Tyre to bring cedar logs from Lebanon to the sea, to Joppa, according to the permission which they had from Cyrus king of Persia.

Restoring Worship in Jerusalem

The exact dates for the returns led by Sheshbazzar (Ezra 1:11) and by Zerubbabel (Ezra 2:2) are unknown. Some have identified Sheshbazzar with Zerubbabel, but such an identification is not certain. Sheshbazzar could be considered the earlier leader, whose place was later taken by Zerubbabel.

After arriving in Jerusalem, the returnees reestablished their forms of worship, erecting an altar as the first step in restoring the sacrificial system (Ezra 3:3). The 7th month (3:1), corresponding to September-October, was an appropriate time for the people to assemble in Jerusalem, since three holy days were

LAYING THE FOUNDATION OF THE SECOND TEMPLE (EZRA 3:8–13)

Judah's temple, the house of Yahweh, had remained desolate since its destruction by the Babylonians in 586 B.C. In the 2nd year after the exiles returned from Babylon, around 537 or 536 B.C., Zerubbabel, a descendant of David, and Jeshua the high priest broke ground to begin the construction of a new temple (Ezra 3:8). The event was met with great ceremony and joy, but also with sadness (3:9–13). The structure was much smaller than the previous temple of King Solomon, which had been built on the same site.

The joy and grief reveal that laying the foundation of the second temple was an event of great importance. The temple had an indispensable theological function to play. It was the very center of God's presence in Judah. It was the point where sacrifices were made in response to Yahweh's gracious choice of Israel as His people.

Yet the temple had important political and economic roles to play in society as well. It was the institution that held all of Judean society together, past as well as present and future. It gave political identity to the people. Access to its courts identified who was properly a citizen and who was excluded.

Economically, rooms in the temple functioned as a treasury—the society's bank. Because of the temple's demands for tithes and offerings, a large portion of the Judean economy passed through temple personnel and storehouses. Without the temple, the Judean people had little chance of pulling together as a coherent society to face the challenges of the future.

The laying of the foundation for this new temple, therefore, represented the rebirth of the kingdom of Judah. Given their past, Judeans could well appreciate that such an event was worthy of both great joy and sadness.

on the house of God: the sons of Henadad with their sons and their brethren the Levites.

<sup>10</sup>When the builders laid the foundation of the temple of the LORD, the priests stood<sup>a</sup> in their apparel with trumpets, and the Levites, the sons of Asaph, with cymbals, to praise the LORD, according to the ordinance of David king of Israel. <sup>11</sup>And they sang responsively, praising and giving thanks to the LORD:

“For He is good,
For His mercy endures forever toward Israel.”<sup>a</sup>

Then all the people shouted with a great shout, when they praised the LORD, because the foundation of the house of the LORD was laid.

<sup>12</sup>But many of the priests and Levites and heads of the fathers' houses, old men who had seen the first temple, wept with a loud voice when the foundation of this temple was laid before their eyes. Yet many shouted aloud for joy, <sup>13</sup>so that the people could not discern the noise of the shout of joy from the noise of the weeping of the people, for the people shouted with a loud shout, and the sound was heard afar off.

Resistance to Rebuilding the Temple

4 <sup>1</sup>Now when the adversaries of Judah and Benjamin heard that the descendants of the captivity were building the temple of the LORD God of Israel, <sup>2</sup>they came to Zerubbabel and the heads of the fathers' houses, and said to them, “Let us build with you, for we seek your God as you do; and we have sacrificed to Him since the days of Esarhaddon king of Assyria, who brought us here.” <sup>3</sup>But Zerubbabel and Jeshua and the rest of the heads of the fathers' houses of Israel said to them, “You may do nothing with us to build a house for our God; but we alone will build to the LORD God of Israel, as King Cyrus the king of Persia has commanded us.” <sup>4</sup>Then the people of the land tried to discourage the people of Judah. They troubled them in building, <sup>5</sup>and hired counselors against them to frustrate their purpose all the days of Cyrus king of Persia, even until the reign of Darius king of Persia.

Opposition to the Temple

Ezra 4:5 reports that the rebuilding of the temple was frustrated during the last years of Cyrus's reign (539–530 B.C.) until the time of Darius (522–486 B.C.). Strangely, though, the passage that follows (Ezra 4:6–23) describes events that took place during the reigns of the two kings who succeeded Darius: Ahasuerus (4:6) and Artaxerxes I (4:7, 11, 23). The appearance of Ahasuerus and Artaxerxes at this point in Ezra (4:6, 7) presents a curious chronological problem.

Ahasuerus, also known as Xerxes I (486–465 B.C.), was the son of Darius. Artaxerxes I (465–424 B.C.) was Darius's grandson and Xerxes' son. After describing events during their later reigns (between 486 and 424 B.C.), the narrative returns to the 2nd year of Darius's reign (520 B.C.; Ezra 4:24). Since Xerxes and Artaxerxes reigned after Darius, the events of 4:6–23 are definitely reported out of chronological order. Perhaps this passage was inserted into the middle of Darius's reign to serve as an example of the kind of tactics employed by the “adversaries of Judah and Benjamin” (4:1). See “Opposition to Rebuilding Jerusalem” at Ezra 4:6 (p. 978).

4:24 Thus the work of the house of God which is at Jerusalem ceased, and it was discontinued until the second year of the reign of Darius king of Persia.

TRANSITION

The Book of Haggai

The “adversaries of Judah and Benjamin,” whose help in rebuilding the temple Zerubbabel and Joshua had rejected (Ezra 4:1–3), were successful in stopping the work on the temple. The foundation had been laid before the work stopped (Ezra 3:10, 11), but nothing further was done from that point. The work stoppage lasted from sometime during Cyrus’s reign (c. 536 B.C.) until the 2nd year of Darius I (520 B.C.).

At that time two prophets, Haggai and Zechariah, arose to urge the completion of the temple construction. The ministries of these two prophets, who were contemporaries, are dated specifically in 520 B.C. (Ezra 4:24–5:1; Hag. 1:1; Zech. 1:1). The Book of Ezra reports that in that year Haggai and Zechariah prophesied and the Jews “began to build the house of God” (Ezra 5:1, 2). The Book of Haggai consists of the call to complete the temple.

Prophecy in the years after the Exile was different from the great prophecies of such pre-exilic prophets as Isaiah and Jeremiah. To begin with, the earlier prophets tended to speak about, and to, the kings. But in the restored Judah after the Exile there was no king. Prophets very often spoke to the priests and elders instead. Indeed, many of the prophets themselves seemed to have a priestly perspective. This is certainly true of Haggai, who speaks primarily of the temple and of the particularly priestly concern of ritual defilement (Hag. 2:10–14).

• Haggai 1:1—2:23

*HaggaiThe Command to Build God’s House

1:1 In the second year of King Darius, in the sixth month, on the first day of the month, the word of the LORD came by Haggai the prophet to Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and to Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, saying, <sup>2a</sup>“Thus speaks the LORD of hosts, saying: ‘This people says,

“The time has not come, the time that the LORD’s house should be built.””

<sup>3</sup>Then the word of the LORD came by Haggai the prophet, saying, <sup>4a</sup>“Is it time for you yourselves to dwell in your paneled houses, and this temple<sup>a</sup> to lie in ruins?” <sup>5</sup>Now therefore, thus says the LORD of hosts: “Consider your ways!”

6 “You have sown much, and bring in little; You eat, but do not have enough; You drink, but you are not filled with drink; You clothe yourselves, but no one is warm; And he who earns wages, Earns wages to put into a bag with holes.”

<sup>7</sup>Thus says the LORD of hosts: “Consider your ways! <sup>8</sup>Go up to the mountains and bring wood and build the temple, that I may take pleasure in it and be glorified,” says the LORD. <sup>9a</sup>“You looked for much, but indeed it came to little; and when you brought it home, I blew it away. Why?” says the LORD of hosts. “Because of My house that is in ruins, while every one of you runs to his own house. <sup>10</sup>Therefore the heavens above you withhold the dew, and the earth withholds its fruit. <sup>11</sup>For I called for a drought on the land and the mountains, on the grain and the new wine and the oil, on whatever the ground brings forth, on men and livestock, and on all the labor of your hands.”

The People’s Obedience

<sup>12</sup>Then Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, with all the remnant of the people, obeyed the voice of the LORD their God, and the words of Haggai the prophet, as the LORD their God had sent him; and the people feared the presence of the LORD. <sup>13</sup>Then Haggai, the LORD’s messenger, spoke the LORD’s message to the people, saying, “I am with you, says the LORD.” <sup>14</sup>So the LORD stirred up the spirit of Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and the spirit of Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people; and they came and worked on the house of the LORD of hosts, their God, <sup>15</sup>on the twenty-fourth day of the sixth month, in the second year of King Darius.

Politics & Government

Cyrus the Great was the king of Persia who conquered Babylon in 539 B.C. The Babylonians had brought the religious idols of subject peoples to Babylon, and Cyrus allowed these idols to be returned to their original peoples (Ezra 4:3). He was not the only ruler to allow alien religions to exist peacefully in his empire, since this policy made rebellion less likely.

STARTING OVER IN A DIFFICULT LAND (HAG. 1:6)

The Babylonian destruction of Jerusalem left Judean society in shambles (2 Kin. 25:11, 12). Later, power struggles within the Judean community further emptied the society of necessary leadership and institutions (Jer. 41:1–3). Archaeological surveys suggest that Judah lost 90% of its population during these years. Judean society in the land of Judah had collapsed.

So it remained for approximately 50 years. Then the Persians conquered Babylon in 539 B.C. About 538 B.C. Cyrus the Great decreed that the Jews could return to their land and rebuild the temple and their society. An enthusiastic group of Judean exiles made the journey with high hopes (Ezra 1:11).

Yet the depopulation of the area had taken its toll on the environment. Jerusalem must have been a mess. There is no evidence that anyone attempted to rebuild the city after the destruction of 586 B.C. The returnees to the site of Jerusalem would have been met by wild animals, weeds, dirt, and mounds of debris in the very locations where their ancestors' homes once stood.

The new economy, like the old, depended upon agricultural production. Yet the fields would have suffered from 50 years of neglect. Land would have grown hard and become overgrown with brush. It must have taken intensive manual labor and a lengthy time to get the fields—and thus the economy—to return to productivity again.

Finally, the weather did not cooperate. The prophet Haggai warned of a drought: “the heavens above you withhold the dew, and the earth withholds its fruit” (Hag. 1:10). Difficult circumstances had grown desperate.

Haggai aptly describes the dire straits of the community that had returned to Jerusalem: “You have sown much, and bring in little; You eat, but do not have enough” (Hag. 1:6). The task of starting over in the land had proven to be very difficult.

The Coming Glory of God's House

2<sup>1</sup>In the seventh month, on the twenty-first of the month, the word of the LORD came by Haggai the prophet, saying: <sup>2</sup>“Speak now to Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and to Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and to the remnant of the people, saying: <sup>3</sup>“Who is left among you who saw this temple<sup>a</sup> in its former glory? And how do you see it now? In comparison with it, is this not in your eyes as nothing? <sup>4</sup>Yet now be strong, Zerubbabel,” says the LORD; ‘and be strong, Joshua, son of Jehozadak, the high priest; and be strong, all you people of the land,’ says the LORD, ‘and work; for I am with you,’ says the LORD of hosts. <sup>5</sup>According to the word that I covenanted with you when you came out of Egypt, so My Spirit remains among you; do not fear!’

The People Are Defiled

<sup>10</sup>On the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month, in the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came by Haggai the prophet, saying, <sup>11</sup>“Thus says the LORD of hosts: ‘Now, ask the priests concerning the law, saying, <sup>12</sup>“If one carries holy meat in the fold of his garment, and with the edge he touches bread or stew, wine or oil, or any food, will it become holy?’”

Then the priests answered and said, “No.”

<sup>13</sup>And Haggai said, “If one who is unclean because of a dead body touches any of these, will it be unclean?”

So the priests answered and said, “It shall be unclean.”

<sup>14</sup>Then Haggai answered and said, “‘So is this people, and so is this nation before Me,’ says the LORD, ‘and so is every work of their hands; and what they offer there is unclean.’”

TRANSITION

The Book of Zechariah

Haggai’s companion in prophecy was Zechariah, but Zechariah’s work is quite different from Haggai’s. He is less exclusively concerned with the temple, for instance, and does not sound quite so priestly. Most obviously, though, he presents his message in a very different fashion. Where Haggai had preached prose sermons, Zechariah describes visionary experiences, often in poetry—or at least in very poetic prose.

Zechariah’s visions are every bit as historically specific as Haggai’s speeches, though. Both the governor Zerubbabel (Zech. 4:6–10) and the high priest Jeshua (spelled “Joshua” in Zech. 3:1–5) are identified. Zechariah calls these two leaders of the returned exiles the “two anointed ones” (4:14).

Zechariah seems to envision not just a rebuilt temple but a restored nation and a glorious new Jerusalem, with a Davidic king at its head. Zerubbabel, like the Messiah, was from the line of David. The possibilities of this connection would not have been missed by Zechariah’s original audience. Jeshua the high priest is also described in messianic language. He is called the “Branch” (Zech. 6:12), a word used by the prophets Isaiah (Is. 4:2) and Jeremiah (Jer. 23:5) to refer to the Messiah.

After chs. 1–8, though, the Book of Zechariah changes dramatically. Chapters 9–14 still include visions, but these visions are much more obscure and no longer come with their own interpretation. The clear references to identifiable historical persons are gone. It becomes much more difficult to date these chapters, but they are different enough from chs. 1–8 that many scholars consider them to be speaking of a later time. See “The Apocalyptic Visions of Zechariah” at Zech. 9:1 (p. 1049).

Zechariah’s ministry began during the 2nd year of Darius I, approximately in November of 520 B.C. (Zech. 1:1). The foundation of the second temple had been sitting abandoned for possibly 16 years by this time, and Zechariah encourages a disheartened postexilic community. In the month of Shebat (probably February, 519 B.C.), Zechariah received his first vision (Zech. 1:7).

A Call to Repentance

1 :1 In the eighth month of the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came to Zechariah the son of Berechiah, the son of Iddo the prophet, saying, <sup>2</sup>“The LORD has been very angry with your fathers. <sup>3</sup>Therefore say to them, ‘Thus says the LORD of hosts: “Return to Me,” says the LORD of hosts, “and I will return to you,” says the LORD of hosts. <sup>4</sup>“Do not be like your fathers, to whom the former prophets preached, saying, ‘Thus says the LORD of hosts: “Turn now from your evil ways and your evil deeds.”’ But they did not hear nor heed Me,” says the LORD.

<sup>5</sup> “Your fathers, where are they?
And the prophets, do they live forever?
<sup>6</sup> Yet surely My words and My statutes,
Which I commanded My servants the prophets,
Did they not overtake your fathers?

“So they returned and said:

‘Just as the LORD of hosts determined to do to us,
According to our ways and according to our deeds,
So He has dealt with us.’ ” ”

Vision of the Horses

<sup>7</sup>On the twenty-fourth day of the eleventh month, which is the month Shebat, in the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came to Zechariah the son of Berechiah, the son of Iddo the prophet: <sup>8</sup>I saw by night, and behold, a man riding on a red horse, and it stood among the myrtle trees in the hollow; and behind him were horses: red, sorrel, and white. <sup>9</sup>Then I said, “My lord, what are these?” So the angel who talked with me said to me, “I will show you what they are.”

<sup>10</sup>And the man who stood among the myrtle trees answered and said, “These are the ones whom the LORD has sent to walk to and fro throughout the earth.”

<sup>11</sup>So they answered the Angel of the LORD, who stood among the myrtle trees, and said, “We have walked to and fro throughout the earth, and behold, all the earth is resting quietly.”

The LORD Will Comfort Zion

<sup>12</sup>Then the Angel of the LORD answered and said, “O LORD of hosts, how long will You not have mercy on Jerusalem and on the cities of Judah, against which You were angry these seventy years?”

<sup>13</sup>And the LORD answered the angel who talked to me, with good and comforting words. <sup>14</sup>So the angel who spoke with me said to me, “Proclaim, saying, ‘Thus says the LORD of hosts:

“I am zealous for Jerusalem
And for Zion with great zeal.
<sup>15</sup> I am exceedingly angry with the nations at ease;
For I was a little angry,
And they helped—but with evil intent.”

<sup>16</sup>Therefore thus says the LORD:

“I am returning to Jerusalem with mercy;
My house shall be built in it,” says the LORD of hosts,
“And a surveyor’s line shall be stretched out over Jerusalem.”’

Beliefs & Ideas

The Hebrew word satan means “accuser” or “adversary.” In time it became the proper name for the chief of the demons. The figure of Satan sometimes appears when God is described as surrounded by His court of angels and other spiritual beings. In heavenly affairs, Satan the Adversary brings charges against humans (Job 1:6–12). In Zechariah’s vision (Zech. 3:1, 2), Satan accuses the high priest Joshua.

<sup>17</sup>“Again proclaim, saying, ‘Thus says the LORD of hosts:

“My cities shall again spread out through prosperity;
The LORD will again comfort Zion,
And will again choose Jerusalem.”’ ”

Vision of the Horns

<sup>18</sup>Then I raised my eyes and looked, and there were four horns. <sup>19</sup>And I said to the angel who talked with me, “What are these?”

So he answered me, “These are the horns that have scattered Judah, Israel, and Jerusalem.”

<sup>20</sup>Then the LORD showed me four craftsmen. <sup>21</sup>And I said, “What are these coming to do?”

So he said, “These are the horns that scattered Judah, so that no one could lift up his head; but the craftsmen<sup>a</sup> are coming to terrify them, to cast out the horns of the nations that lifted up their horn against the land of Judah to scatter it.”

Vision of the Measuring Line

2<sup>1</sup>Then I raised my eyes and looked, and behold, a man with a measuring line in his hand. <sup>2</sup>So I said, “Where are you going?”

And he said to me, “To measure Jerusalem, to see what is its width and what is its length.”

<sup>3</sup>And there was the angel who talked with me, going out; and another angel was coming out to meet him, <sup>4</sup>who said to him, “Run, speak to this young man, saying: ‘Jerusalem shall be inhabited as towns without walls, because of the multitude of men and livestock in it. <sup>5</sup>For I,’ says the LORD, ‘will be a wall of fire all around her, and I will be the glory in her midst.’ ”

Future Joy of Zion and Many Nations

<sup>6</sup>“Up, up! Flee from the land of the north,” says the LORD; “for I have spread you abroad like the four winds of heaven,” says the LORD. <sup>7</sup>“Up, Zion! Escape, you who dwell with the daughter of Babylon.”

<sup>8</sup>For thus says the LORD of hosts: “He sent Me after glory, to the nations which plunder you; for he who touches you touches the apple of His eye. <sup>9</sup>For surely I will shake My hand against them, and they shall become spoil for their servants. Then you will know that the LORD of hosts has sent Me.

<sup>10</sup>“Sing and rejoice, O daughter of Zion! For behold, I am coming and I will dwell in your midst,” says the LORD. <sup>11</sup>“Many nations shall be joined to the LORD in that day, and they shall become My people. And I will dwell in your midst.

CLOTHING, SYMBOLS OF INNER BEING (ZECH. 3:1-5)

The Satan who accused the high priest Joshua (or Jeshua; Zech. 3:1) was acting as the Adversary, the heavenly officer in charge of finding those who break the laws of God. God intervened on Joshua's behalf.

Joshua, as high priest, represented the people of Jerusalem before Yahweh. In the ancient Near East high priests interceded for their people with the gods. But no high priest was allowed before any deity when in a state of ritual uncleanness or in improper clerical garments. Anyone who approached a god without the proper garments was punished with death. The official cultic clothing was to be worn properly so that the rituals would be pure and properly performed. A clean garment reflected a clean soul.

The Adversary, Satan, correctly opposed the priest in this case on two grounds. The Jerusalem which Joshua represented before Yahweh had defamed itself, causing the Exile in the first place (2 Kin. 23:26, 27), and for this alone the Adversary had cause to oppose Joshua's appearing before Yahweh. Yet in addition, the priest, while approaching God, wore filthy garments in clear violation of priestly rules.

The Adversary's accusation was accurate, but he did not understand the extent of God's forgiveness. Yahweh had delivered the people of Jerusalem from exile, not so much because they deserved to return, but because God granted them grace. The change in Judah's status is symbolized by God's clothing of Joshua in clean garments (Zech. 3:4, 5). The high priest did not do this for himself, but God, through mercy, reinstated Joshua and Jerusalem—they were "a brand plucked from the fire" (3:2).

Then you will know that the LORD of hosts has sent Me to you. <sup>12</sup>And the LORD will take possession of Judah as His inheritance in the Holy Land, and will again choose Jerusalem. <sup>13</sup>Be silent, all flesh, before the LORD, for He is aroused from His holy habitation!"

Vision of the High Priest

3 <sup>1</sup>Then he showed me Joshua the high priest standing before the Angel of the LORD, and Satan standing at his right hand to oppose him. <sup>2</sup>And the LORD said to Satan, "The LORD rebuke you, Satan! The LORD who has chosen Jerusalem rebuke you! Is this not a brand plucked from the fire?"

<sup>4</sup>Then He answered and spoke to those who stood before Him, saying, "Take away the filthy garments from him." And to him He said, "See, I have removed your iniquity from you, and I will clothe you with rich robes."

<sup>5</sup>And I said, "Let them put a clean turban on his head."

So they put a clean turban on his head, and they put the clothes on him. And the Angel of the LORD stood by.

The Coming Branch

<sup>6</sup>Then the Angel of the LORD admonished Joshua, saying, <sup>7</sup>"Thus says the LORD of hosts:

'If you will walk in My ways,
And if you will keep My command,
Then you shall also judge My house,
And likewise have charge of My courts;
I will give you places to walk
Among these who stand here.

<sup>8</sup> 'Hear, O Joshua, the high priest,
You and your companions who sit before you,

For they are a wondrous sign;
For behold, I am bringing forth My Servant
the BRANCH.

<sup>9</sup> For behold, the stone
That I have laid before Joshua:
Upon the stone are seven eyes.
Behold, I will engrave its inscription,
Says the LORD of hosts,
'And I will remove the iniquity of that land
in one day.

<sup>10</sup> In that day,' says the LORD of hosts,
'Everyone will invite his neighbor
Under his vine and under his fig tree.' "

Vision of the Lampstand and Olive Trees

4 <sup>1</sup>Now the angel who talked with me came back and wakened me, as a man who is wakened out of his sleep. <sup>2</sup>And he said to me, "What do you see?"

So I said, "I am looking, and there is a lampstand of solid gold with a bowl on top of it, and on the stand seven lamps with seven pipes to the seven lamps. <sup>3</sup>Two olive trees are by it, one at the right of the bowl and the other at its left." <sup>4</sup>So I answered and spoke to the angel who talked with me, saying, "What are these, my lord?"

<sup>5</sup>Then the angel who talked with me answered and said to me, "Do you not know what these are?"

And I said, "No, my lord."

<sup>6</sup>So he answered and said to me:

"This is the word of the LORD to Zerubbabel:
'Not by might nor by power, but by My Spirit,'

Says the LORD of hosts.

<sup>7</sup> 'Who are you, O great mountain?
Before Zerubbabel you shall become a plain!
And he shall bring forth the capstone
With shouts of "Grace, grace to it!"' "

WICKEDNESS CARRIED TO SHINAR (ZECH. 5:11)

In a vision Zechariah describes a woman in a basket who symbolizes Wickedness (Zech. 5:6–8). The basket of Wickedness is carried away to a permanent location “in the land of Shinar” (Zech. 5:10, 11). One could wonder why in this vision Shinar is chosen as the dwelling place for Wickedness.

The name “Shinar” was known from ancient times. In the first list of nations (Gen. 10) Shinar is named as the land in which the legendary Nimrod began his kingdom (Gen. 10:8–10). Nimrod’s first cities—Accad, Erech, and Babel—point to a location for the land of Shinar in the southern part of the Tigris-Euphrates valley (now in modern Iraq).

Shinar housed the first known civilization in history. The first cities and temple building were located here, dating as early as the end of the 5th millennium B.C. Moreover, the first writing script has been found at the site of Uruk (Erech), where texts written in Sumerian date to about 3200 B.C. Civilization based on the Sumerian model continued in the Tigris-Euphrates valley until the end of the 1st millennium B.C. Abraham is said to have come from Ur of the Chaldeans (Gen. 11:31), a major Sumerian center in Shinar.

The ancient land of Shinar consisted approximately of the territories later called “Babylonia.” Possibly the name “Shinar” was identified in some sense with Babylonia in later times. That would explain why Shinar is listed as a place where the Jews were exiled (Is. 11:11) and as the place to which Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, took vessels from the Jerusalem temple (Dan. 1:2). The translator of the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the Old Testament) even translated the Hebrew word for “Shinar” in Zech. 5:11 with the Greek word for “Babylonia.”

Babylon was the place of Judah’s captivity. It acquired a reputation as a world power that was hostile to God, and one that would be punished for its hostility (see Jer. 25:12). At the time of Zechariah’s prophecy in 520 B.C., the name “Babylon,” or its more ancient designation “land of Shinar,” would have been considered appropriate for the place where Wickedness would dwell.

<sup>8</sup>Moreover the word of the LORD came to me, saying:

- <sup>9</sup> “The hands of Zerubbabel
Have laid the foundation of this temple;<sup>a</sup>
His hands shall also finish it.
Then you will know
That the LORD of hosts has sent Me to you.
<sup>10</sup> For who has despised the day of small things?
For these seven rejoice to see
The plumb line in the hand of Zerubbabel.
They are the eyes of the LORD,
Which scan to and fro throughout the whole earth.”

<sup>11</sup>Then I answered and said to him, “What are these two olive trees—at the right of the lampstand and at its left?” <sup>12</sup>And I further answered and said to him, “What are these two olive branches that drip into the receptacles<sup>a</sup> of the two gold pipes from which the golden oil drains?”

<sup>13</sup>Then he answered me and said, “Do you not know what these are?”

And I said, “No, my lord.”

<sup>14</sup>So he said, “These are the two anointed ones, who stand beside the Lord of the whole earth.”

Vision of the Flying Scroll

5 <sup>1</sup>Then I turned and raised my eyes, and saw there a flying scroll.

<sup>2</sup>And he said to me, “What do you see?”

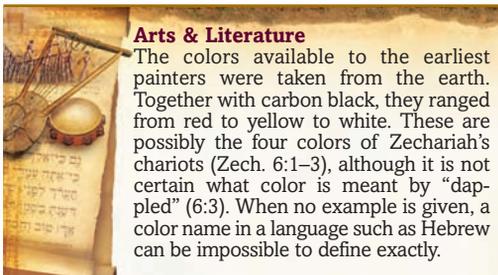

So I answered, “I see a flying scroll. Its length is twenty cubits and its width ten cubits.”

<sup>3</sup>Then he said to me, “This is the curse that goes out over the face of the whole earth: ‘Every thief shall be expelled,’ according to this side of the scroll; and, ‘Every perjurer shall be expelled,’ according to that side of it.”

<sup>4</sup> “I will send out the curse,” says the LORD of hosts;

“It shall enter the house of the thief
And the house of the one who swears falsely by My name.

It shall remain in the midst of his house
And consume it, with its timber and stones.”

Arts & Literature

The colors available to the earliest painters were taken from the earth. Together with carbon black, they ranged from red to yellow to white. These are possibly the four colors of Zechariah’s chariots (Zech. 6:1–3), although it is not certain what color is meant by “dappled” (6:3). When no example is given, a color name in a language such as Hebrew can be impossible to define exactly.

Vision of the Woman in a Basket

<sup>5</sup>Then the angel who talked with me came out and said to me, “Lift your eyes now, and see what this is that goes forth.”

<sup>6</sup>So I asked, “What is it?” And he said, “It is a basket<sup>a</sup> that is going forth.”

He also said, “This is their resemblance throughout the earth: <sup>7</sup>Here is a lead disc lifted up, and this is a woman sitting inside the basket”; <sup>8</sup>then he said, “This is Wickedness!” And he thrust her down into the basket, and threw the lead cover<sup>a</sup> over its mouth. <sup>9</sup>Then I raised my eyes and looked, and there were two women, coming with the wind in their wings; for they had wings like the wings of a stork, and they lifted up the basket between earth and heaven.

<sup>10</sup>So I said to the angel who talked with me, “Where are they carrying the basket?”

<sup>11</sup>And he said to me, “To build a house for it in the land of Shinar;<sup>a</sup> when it is ready, the basket will be set there on its base.”

Vision of the Four Chariots

6 <sup>1</sup>Then I turned and raised my eyes and looked, and behold, four chariots were coming from between two mountains, and the mountains were mountains of bronze. <sup>2</sup>With the first chariot were red horses, with the second chariot black horses, <sup>3</sup>with the third chariot white horses, and with the fourth chariot dappled horses—strong steeds. <sup>4</sup>Then I answered and said to the angel who talked with me, “What are these, my lord?”

<sup>5</sup>And the angel answered and said to me, “These are four spirits of heaven, who go out from their station before the Lord of all the earth. <sup>6</sup>The one with the black horses is going to the north country, the white are going after them, and the dappled are going toward the south country.” <sup>7</sup>Then the strong steeds went out, eager to go, that they might walk to and fro throughout the earth. And He said, “Go, walk to and fro throughout the earth.” So they walked to and fro throughout the earth. <sup>8</sup>And He called to me, and spoke to me, saying, “See, those who go toward the north country have given rest to My Spirit in the north country.”

The Command to Crown Joshua

<sup>9</sup>Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying: <sup>10</sup>“Receive the gift from the captives—from Heldai, Tobijah, and Jedaiah, who have come from Babylon—and go the same day and

And He shall build the temple of the

LORD.

He shall bear the glory,
And shall sit and rule on His throne;
So He shall be a priest on His throne,

<sup>14</sup>“Now the elaborate crown shall be for a memorial in the temple of the LORD for Helem,<sup>a</sup> Tobijah, Jedaiah, and Hen the son of Zephaniah. <sup>15</sup>Even those from afar shall come and build the temple of the LORD. Then you shall know that the LORD of hosts has sent Me to you. And this shall come to pass if you diligently obey the voice of the LORD your God.”

TRANSITION

Replacing Fasting with Obedience

The occasion for this message was the arrival of a deputation, possibly of Samaritans from Bethel, in the 4th year of Darius (Zech. 7:1,2). The month of Chislev was probably December, 518 B.C. Since work on the new temple had been underway for about 2 years, they wondered whether to continue the fasts commemorating the burning of the city and temple in 586 B.C. (7:3).

The weeping and fasting in the 5th month recalled the month when the temple had been destroyed (2 Kin. 25:8–10). Such religious actions had been observed for the nearly 70 years since Jerusalem’s fall in 586 B.C. (Zech. 7:5). The prophet Zechariah answers that God cares more for righteousness than religious forms.

THE DATES OF HAGGAI AND ZECHARIAH

Haggai and Zechariah provide dates for some of their prophecies. The dates are counted from the 1st year of Darius I, that is, from April, 521 B.C. Darius actually ascended Persia's throne in September, 522 B.C., but did not secure his position until 521 B.C. The "second year of King Darius" (Hag. 1:1; Zech. 1:1) is reckoned as beginning in April, 520 B.C. The rebuilt temple was dedicated in March, 515 B.C. (Ezra 6:15).

who were in the house of the LORD of hosts, and the prophets, saying, "Should I weep in the fifth month and fast as I have done for so many years?"

<sup>4</sup>Then the word of the LORD of hosts came to me, saying, <sup>5</sup>"Say to all the people of the land, and to the priests: 'When you fasted and mourned in the fifth and seventh months during those seventy years, did you really fast for Me—for Me?' <sup>6</sup>When you eat and when you drink, do you not eat and drink for yourselves? <sup>7</sup>Should you not have obeyed the words which the LORD proclaimed through the former prophets when Jerusalem and the cities around it were inhabited and prosperous, and the South<sup>a</sup> and the Lowland were inhabited?"

Disobedience Resulted in Captivity

<sup>8</sup>Then the word of the LORD came to Zechariah, saying, <sup>9</sup>"Thus says the LORD of hosts:

'Execute true justice,
Show mercy and compassion
Everyone to his brother.

<sup>10</sup> Do not oppress the widow or the fatherless,
The alien or the poor.
Let none of you plan evil in his heart
Against his brother.'

<sup>11</sup>"But they refused to heed, shrugged their shoulders, and stopped their ears so that they could not hear. <sup>12</sup>Yes, they made their hearts like flint, refusing to hear the law and the words which the LORD of hosts had sent by His Spirit through the former prophets. Thus great wrath came from the LORD of hosts. <sup>13</sup>Therefore it happened, that just as He proclaimed and they would not hear, so they called out and I would not listen," says the LORD of hosts. <sup>14</sup>"But I scattered them with a whirlwind among all the nations which they had not known. Thus the land became desolate after them, so that no one passed through or returned; for they made the pleasant land desolate."

Jerusalem, Holy City of the Future

8 <sup>1</sup>Again the word of the LORD of hosts came, saying, <sup>2</sup>"Thus says the LORD of hosts:

'I am zealous for Zion with great zeal;
With great fervor I am zealous for her.'

<sup>3</sup>"Thus says the LORD:

'I will return to Zion,
And dwell in the midst of Jerusalem.
Jerusalem shall be called the City of Truth,
The Mountain of the LORD of hosts,
The Holy Mountain.'

<sup>4</sup>"Thus says the LORD of hosts:

'Old men and old women shall again sit
In the streets of Jerusalem,
Each one with his staff in his hand
Because of great age.
<sup>5</sup> The streets of the city
Shall be full of boys and girls
Playing in its streets.'

<sup>6</sup>"Thus says the LORD of hosts:

'If it is marvelous in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these days,
Will it also be marvelous in My eyes?'
Says the LORD of hosts.

<sup>7</sup>"Thus says the LORD of hosts:

'Behold, I will save My people from the land of the east

<sup>7:7</sup> <sup>a</sup>Hebrew Negev

8 And from the land of the west;
I will bring them back,
And they shall dwell in the midst of Jerusalem.

They shall be My people
And I will be their God,
In truth and righteousness.’

<sup>9</sup>“Thus says the LORD of hosts:

‘Let your hands be strong,
You who have been hearing in these days
These words by the mouth of the prophets,

Who spoke in the day the foundation was laid

For the house of the LORD of hosts,
That the temple might be built.

<sup>10</sup> For before these days
There were no wages for man nor any hire for beast;

There was no peace from the enemy for whoever went out or came in;

For I set all men, everyone, against his neighbor.

<sup>11</sup>But now I will not treat the remnant of this people as in the former days,’ says the LORD of hosts.

<sup>12</sup> ‘For the seed shall be prosperous,
The vine shall give its fruit,
The ground shall give her increase,
And the heavens shall give their dew—
I will cause the remnant of this people
To possess all these.

<sup>13</sup> And it shall come to pass
That just as you were a curse
among the nations,
O house of Judah and house of Israel,
So I will save you, and you shall be a blessing.

Do not fear,
Let your hands be strong.’

<sup>14</sup>“For thus says the LORD of hosts:

‘Just as I determined to punish you
When your fathers provoked Me to wrath,’
Says the LORD of hosts,

<sup>15</sup> ‘And I would not relent,
So again in these days
I am determined to do good
To Jerusalem and to the house of Judah.
Do not fear.

<sup>16</sup> These are the things you shall do:
Speak each man the truth to his neighbor;
Give judgment in your gates for truth,
justice, and peace;

<sup>17</sup> Let none of you think evil in your<sup>a</sup> heart against your neighbor;
And do not love a false oath.
For all these are things that I hate,’
Says the LORD.”

<sup>18</sup>Then the word of the LORD of hosts came to me, saying, <sup>19</sup>“Thus says the LORD of hosts:

‘The fast of the fourth month,
The fast of the fifth,
The fast of the seventh,
And the fast of the tenth,
Shall be joy and gladness and cheerful feasts
For the house of Judah.
Therefore love truth and peace.’

<sup>20</sup>“Thus says the LORD of hosts:

‘Peoples shall yet come,
Inhabitants of many cities;
<sup>21</sup> The inhabitants of one city shall go to another, saying,

Shall come to seek the LORD of hosts in Jerusalem,
And to pray before the LORD.’

23“Thus says the LORD of hosts: ‘In those days ten men from every language of the nations shall grasp the sleeve of a Jewish man, saying, “Let us go with you, for we have heard that God is with you.” ’”

Tattenai's Opposition

When Zerubbabel and Jeshua resumed work on the temple in 520 B.C., local opposition reappeared. Tattenai, one of the Persian Empire's many local officials, tried to halt the work through intimidation, taking down the names of those doing the work (Ezra 5:4, 10). When that failed, he wrote an official letter to King Darius, reporting the Jewish settlers' insubordination. To Tattenai's probable surprise and dismay, his letter had an opposite effect from that he intended. Darius discovered that the Jews did indeed have royal permission for their work, and he commanded Tattenai to help the Jews and to pay their expenses from Tattenai's own regional tax collections (6:8–10).

The portion of the Book of Ezra from Ezra 4:8 through 6:18 is not written in Hebrew, but rather in the related language of Aramaic. Since Aramaic evidently served as the trade language of both the Babylonian and Persian empires, it is easy to see why the official letters of chs. 5 and 6 (as well as those of chs. 4 and 7) are in that language. Yet the switch of language may also serve as a reminder that the Jews, while back in their hereditary land, were still under foreign control. When the book describes the Passover celebration, that most Jewish of observances, the language reverts to Hebrew (6:19–22).

The temple was finished and dedicated in the month of Adar of Darius's 6th year, corresponding to March, 515 B.C. In the following month of Nisan, the 1st month of the year, the Jews celebrated the Passover (6:19). Apparently the month name “Nisan” was taken from the Babylonian language, for this 1st month had been known by the Canaanite name “Abib” after the Exodus (Deut. 16:1). Though the name of the month had changed, the Jews were again observing Passover at their temple during their 1st month. The “descendants of the captivity” (Ezra 6:19) were really the people of the covenant again.

Restoration of the Temple Resumed

5:2 So Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel and Jeshua the son of Jozadak<sup>a</sup> rose up and began to build the house of God which is in Jerusalem; and the prophets of God were with them, helping them.

<sup>3</sup>At the same time Tattenai the governor of the region beyond the River<sup>a</sup> and Shethar-Boznai and their companions came to them and spoke thus to them: “Who has commanded you to build this temple and finish this wall?” <sup>4</sup>Then, accordingly, we told them the names of the men who were constructing this building. <sup>5</sup>But the eye of their God was upon the elders of the Jews, so that they could not make them cease till a report could go to Darius. Then a written answer was returned concerning this matter. <sup>6</sup>This is a copy of the letter that Tattenai sent:

The governor of the region beyond the River, and Shethar-Boznai, and his companions, the Persians who were in the region beyond the River, to Darius the king.

<sup>7</sup>(They sent a letter to him, in which was written thus)

To Darius the king:

All peace.

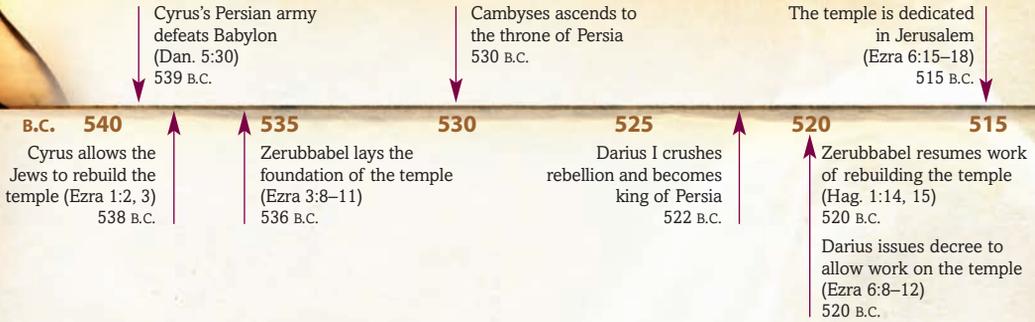

<sup>8</sup> Let it be known to the king that we went into the province of Judea, to the temple of the great God, which is being built with heavy stones, and timber is being laid in the walls; and this work goes on diligently and prospers in their hands.

<sup>9</sup> Then we asked those elders, and spoke thus to them: “Who commanded you to build this temple and to finish these walls?” <sup>10</sup>We also asked them their names to inform you, that we might write the names of the men who were chief among them.

<sup>11</sup> And thus they returned us an answer, saying: “We are the servants of the God of heaven and earth, and we are rebuilding the temple that was built many years ago, which a great king of Israel built and completed. <sup>12</sup>But because our fathers provoked the God of heaven to wrath, He gave them into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, the Chaldean, who destroyed this temple and carried the people away to Babylon. <sup>13</sup>However, in the first year of Cyrus king of Babylon, King Cyrus issued a decree to build this house of God. <sup>14</sup>Also, the gold and silver articles of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar had taken from the temple that was in Jerusalem and carried into the temple of Babylon—those King Cyrus took from the temple of Babylon, and they were given to one named Sheshbazzar, whom he had made governor. <sup>15</sup>And he said to him, “Take these articles; go, carry them to the temple site that is in Jerusalem, and let the house of God be rebuilt on its former site.” <sup>16</sup>Then the same Sheshbazzar came and laid the foundation of the house of God which is in Jerusalem; but from that time even until now it has been under construction, and it is not finished.”

<sup>17</sup> Now therefore, if it seems good to the king, let a search be made in the king’s treasure house, which is there in Babylon, whether it is so that a decree was issued by King Cyrus to build this house of God at Jerusalem, and let the king send us his pleasure concerning this matter.

The Decree of Darius

6 <sup>1</sup>Then King Darius issued a decree, and a search was made in the archives,<sup>a</sup> where the treasures were stored in Babylon. <sup>2</sup>And at Achmetha,<sup>a</sup> in the palace that is in the province of Media, a scroll was found, and in it a record was written thus:

at Jerusalem: “Let the house be rebuilt, the place where they offered sacrifices; and let the foundations of it be firmly laid, its height sixty cubits and its width sixty cubits,<sup>4</sup>with three rows of heavy stones and one row of new timber. Let the expenses be paid from the king’s treasury. <sup>5</sup>Also let the gold and silver articles of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar took from the temple which is in Jerusalem and brought to Babylon, be restored and taken back to the temple which is in Jerusalem, each to its place; and deposit them in the house of God”—

<sup>6</sup> Now therefore, Tattenai, governor of the region beyond the River, and Shethar-Boznai, and your companions the Persians who are beyond the River, keep yourselves far from there. <sup>7</sup>Let the work of this house of God alone; let the governor of the Jews and the elders of the Jews build this house of God on its site.

<sup>8</sup> Moreover I issue a decree as to what you shall do for the elders of these Jews, for the building of this house of God: Let the cost be paid at the king’s expense from taxes on the region beyond the River; this is to be given immediately to these men, so that they are not hindered. <sup>9</sup>And whatever they need—young bulls, rams, and lambs for the burnt offerings of the God of heaven, wheat, salt, wine, and oil, according to the request of the priests who are in Jerusalem—let it be given them day by day without fail, <sup>10</sup>that they may offer sacrifices of sweet aroma to the God of heaven, and pray for the life of the king and his sons.

<sup>11</sup> Also I issue a decree that whoever alters this edict, let a timber be pulled from his house and erected, and let him be hanged on it; and let his house be made a refuse heap because of this. <sup>12</sup>And may the God who causes His name to dwell there destroy any king or people who put their hand to alter it, or to destroy this house of God which is in Jerusalem. I Darius issue a decree; let it be done diligently.

The Temple Completed and Dedicated

<sup>13</sup>Then Tattenai, governor of the region beyond the River, Shethar-Boznai, and their companions diligently did according to what King Darius had sent. <sup>14</sup>So the elders of the Jews built, and they prospered through the prophesying of Haggai the prophet and Zechariah the son of Iddo. And they built and finished it, according to the commandment of the God of Israel, and according to the command of Cyrus, Darius, and Artaxerxes king of Persia. <sup>15</sup>Now the temple was finished on the third day of the month of Adar, which was in the sixth year of the reign of King Darius. <sup>16</sup>Then the children of Israel, the priests and the Levites and the rest of the descendants of the captivity, celebrated the dedication of this house of God with joy. <sup>17</sup>And they offered sacrifices at the dedication of this house of God, one hundred bulls, two hundred rams, four hundred lambs, and as a sin offering for all Israel twelve male goats, according to the number of the tribes of Israel. <sup>18</sup>They assigned the priests to their divisions and the Levites to their divisions, over the service of God in Jerusalem, as it is written in the Book of Moses.

The Passover Celebrated

<sup>19</sup>And the descendants of the captivity kept the Passover on the fourteenth day of the first month. <sup>20</sup>For the priests and the Levites had purified themselves; all of them were ritually clean. And they slaughtered the Passover lambs for all the descendants of the captivity, for their brethren the priests, and for themselves. <sup>21</sup>Then the children of Israel who had returned from the captivity ate together with all who had separated themselves from the filth of the nations of the land in order to seek the LORD God of Israel. <sup>22</sup>And they kept the Feast of Unleavened Bread seven days with joy; for the LORD made them joyful, and turned the heart of the king of Assyria toward them, to strengthen their hands in the work of the house of God, the God of Israel.

Darius the Mede

Of all the chronological puzzles in the Book of Daniel, the most perplexing is the mention of "Darius the Mede." According to the apparent chronology of Daniel, this king succeeded Belshazzar, the son of Nabonidus, last of the Babylonian kings (Dan. 5:30, 31). But he apparently ruled before Cyrus (Dan. 6:28).

Identifying "Darius the Mede" is difficult since none of the extensive Babylonian or Persian records mention such a Median king in Babylon or anywhere else in the time between Belshazzar and Cyrus. There was a King Darius, but he was a Persian, not a Mede, and he reigned after, not before, Cyrus and Cyrus's son Cambyses (see "The Persian Empire" at Ezra 1:1). So the enigma remains: Who was Darius the Mede?

Some scholars believe that the stories involving Darius the Mede are highly embroidered accounts from which no genuine historical person will ever be identified. Others have suggested that "Darius" actually refers to Cyrus, who did indeed follow Belshazzar in Babylon, and who took that city at the head of both Median and Persian forces. Yet another solution proposes that Darius was not actually king, but was one of Cyrus's officials, named Gaubarua, who

PASSOVER AND SOCIETY (EZRA 6:19, 20)

Passover was reinstated as a central feast of the Jews after the second temple was completed. The feast celebrated God's faithfulness to Israel in delivering His people from slavery under Egypt (Ex. 12:1–20). Having finished the temple in the month of Adar (Ezra 6:15), the returned exiles observed Passover at its appropriate time in the following month of Nisan (Ezra 6:19).

Years before, during the reign of King Josiah (640–609 B.C.), Passover had been celebrated after a restoration of the first temple. Josiah's incomparable Passover, greater than any celebration "since the days of Samuel the prophet" (2 Chr. 35:18), demanded an immense number of sacrificial animals for the festival to feed all Israel. It was not individual Judahites that brought these animals, but rather the powerful in society; the king, his leaders, and certain powerful Levites (2 Chr. 35:7–9) provided the thousands of animals necessary for the sacrifice and feast. The peasants ate from the bounty of the king and the temple.

Josiah's Passover, then, was a public feast, celebrated through the generosity of the king and the temple aristocracy of the kingdom. But in the second temple period, the Passover sacrifice, a lamb "without blemish, a male of the first year" (Ex. 12:5), would have exceeded the financial means of many Jews. Most of the society would have been village peasants, living at a bare subsistence level. Meat was a luxury reserved for the wealthy; any animals the Jewish peasants might have had were too valuable to consume as a meal! It is interesting, therefore, that the priests and Levites slaughtered lambs for the people (Ezra 6:20), assuming a role not specified for them in the Law of Moses (Ex. 12:3–6).

CYRUS THE GREAT'S CAMPAIGNS

had been granted certain royal powers. These suggestions locate the story of Dan. 6 sometime around 539 B.C.

A third possibility is that the person intended by “Darius the Mede” was actually the later king of Persia, Darius I (522–486 B.C.). He might have been called a Mede, since his empire and its laws had roots in both Media and Persia. Darius’s decree in Dan. 6 is called “the law of the Medes and Persians” (6:12, 15). Moreover, Darius is described as organizing an official bureaucracy of 120 satraps (Dan. 6:1, 2), which was indeed Darius I’s most lasting contribution to the Persian Empire. Reading Dan. 6 in the context of Darius I locates the story around or after 522 B.C.

Darius the Mede may never be identified. Whoever he was, he ruled over the world’s greatest empire and issued the world’s most solemn decrees (“the law of the Medes and Persians”; Dan. 6:8). But, as Dan. 6 makes clear, neither his worldly power nor his unchangeable laws can stand against the sovereignty of Daniel’s God.

• Daniel 6:1–28

Daniel

The Plot Against Daniel

6:1 It pleased Darius to set over the kingdom one hundred and twenty satraps, to be over the whole kingdom; <sup>2</sup>and over these, three governors, of whom Daniel was one, that the satraps might give account to them, so that the king would suffer no loss. <sup>3</sup>Then this Daniel distinguished himself above the governors and satraps, because an excellent spirit was in him; and the king gave thought to setting him over the whole realm. <sup>4</sup>So the governors and satraps sought to find some charge against Daniel concerning the kingdom; but they could find no charge or fault, because he was faithful; nor was there any error or fault found in him. <sup>5</sup>Then these men said, “We shall not find any charge against this Daniel unless we find it against him concerning the law of his God.”

<sup>6</sup>So these governors and satraps thronged before the king, and said thus to him: “King Darius, live forever! <sup>7</sup>All the governors of the kingdom, the administrators and satraps, the counselors and advisors, have consulted together to establish a royal statute and to make a firm decree, that whoever petitions any god or man for thirty days, except you, O king, shall be cast into the den of lions. <sup>8</sup>Now, O king, establish the decree and sign the writing, so that it cannot be changed, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which does not alter.” <sup>9</sup>Therefore King Darius signed the written decree.

Daniel in the Lions’ Den

<sup>10</sup>Now when Daniel knew that the writing was signed, he went home. And in his upper room, with his windows open toward Jerusalem, he knelt down on his knees three times that day, and prayed and gave thanks before his God, as was his custom since early days.

<sup>11</sup>Then these men assembled and found Daniel praying and making supplication before his God. <sup>12</sup>And they went before the king, and spoke concerning the king’s decree: “Have you not signed a decree that every man who petitions any god or man within thirty days, except you, O king, shall be cast into the den of lions?”

The king answered and said, “The thing is true, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which does not alter.”

<sup>13</sup>So they answered and said before the king, “That Daniel, who is one of the captives<sup>a</sup> from Judah, does not show due regard for you, O king, or for the decree that you have signed, but makes his petition three times a day.”

<sup>14</sup>And the king, when he heard these words, was greatly displeased with himself, and set his heart on Daniel to deliver him; and he labored till

THE MEDES AND PERSIANS (DAN. 6:8)

The kingdom of Media is first mentioned in Assyrian sources describing the 9th-century campaign of Assyria's Shalmaneser III (858–824 B.C.) into the land of the Medes. Media was apparently situated in the area of modern west-central Iran and flourished for the next two centuries, according to the same Assyrian sources.

In the Assyrian texts the Medes are pictured in these centuries as comprised of a group of small autonomous tribes. The Greek historian Herodotus (484–425 B.C.) gives a legendary account of a unification of Median tribes occurring during the 7th century B.C. By the late 7th century the unified Median tribes, led by Cyaxares (c. 625–585 B.C.), were allied with the Chaldeans against Assyria. The unified Medes thus contributed to the downfall of the Assyrian capital of Nineveh in 612 B.C.

The Median kingdom continued under Astyages (c. 585–550 B.C.), successor of Cyaxares, until the middle of the 6th century B.C. In 550 B.C. Cyrus of Persia successfully united the Persian and Median tribes, though it is uncertain whether the Medes were conquered or were peacefully incorporated into Cyrus's empire.

Cyrus was apparently related to the royal houses of both Media and Persia. Thus the union of the two nations may have been accomplished as the result of Cyrus's legal claim to the throne. Media continued to be geographically distinct even under Persian government, and the Medes were second only to the Persians in importance in the Persian Empire. So even after Persia absorbed Media in 550 B.C., the Medes continued to be recognized as a distinct people. This situation is evident in the recurring phrase “the law of the Medes and Persians” (Dan. 6:8, 12, 15).

the going down of the sun to deliver him. <sup>15</sup>Then these men approached the king, and said to the king, “Know, O king, that it is the law of the Medes and Persians that no decree or statute which the king establishes may be changed.”

<sup>16</sup>So the king gave the command, and they brought Daniel and cast him into the den of lions. But the king spoke, saying to Daniel, “Your God, whom you serve continually, He will deliver you.” <sup>17</sup>Then a stone was brought and laid on the mouth of the den, and the king sealed it with his own signet ring and with the signets of his lords, that the purpose concerning Daniel might not be changed.

Daniel Saved from the Lions

<sup>18</sup>Now the king went to his palace and spent the night fasting; and no musicians<sup>a</sup> were brought before him. Also his sleep went from him. <sup>19</sup>Then the king arose very early in the morning and went in haste to the den of lions. <sup>20</sup>And when he came to the den, he cried out with a lamenting voice to Daniel. The king spoke, saying to Daniel, “Daniel, servant of the living God, has your God, whom you serve continually, been able to deliver you from the lions?”

<sup>21</sup>Then Daniel said to the king, “O king, live forever! <sup>22</sup>My God sent His angel and shut the lions' mouths, so that they have not hurt me, because I was found innocent before Him; and also, O king, I have done no wrong before you.”

<sup>23</sup>Now the king was exceedingly glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel up out of the den. So Daniel was taken up out of the den, and no injury whatever was found on him, because he believed in his God.

Darius Honors God

<sup>24</sup>And the king gave the command, and they brought those men who had accused Daniel, and they cast them into the den of lions—they, their children, and their wives; and the lions overpowered them, and broke all their bones in pieces before they ever came to the bottom of the den.

<sup>25</sup>Then King Darius wrote:

To all peoples, nations, and languages that dwell in all the earth:

Peace be multiplied to you.

<sup>26</sup> I make a decree that in every dominion of my kingdom men must tremble and fear before the God of Daniel.

For He is the living God,
And steadfast forever;
His kingdom is the one which shall not be destroyed,
And His dominion shall endure to the end.

Priestly Genealogies

Among the returned exiles in Jerusalem were probably several factions. The most influential of these was the priestly faction. The high priest Jeshua served as a coruler with Zerubbabel, and the next major Jewish leader to appear in Jerusalem would be the priestly scribe Ezra (see “Ezra the Scribe” at Ezra 7:1).

A traditional concern of the Jewish priests was genealogies, the records of who descended from which ancestors. The priests were the ones responsible for maintaining genealogical records, which explains why the genealogies that are preserved tend to be most complete when they describe the priestly families. Perhaps their task to record and preserve the Israelite bloodlines made the priests the ones most concerned about avoiding intermarriage with non-Jews (see Ezra 9; 10).

The priestly history of the kingdom of Israel begins with a series of priestly genealogies (1 Chr. 1—9). These serve as a sort of historical shorthand to bridge the generations from the first man, Adam (1 Chr. 1:1), to the first king, Saul (1 Chr. 9:35—44), after which the historical narrative itself begins in 1 Chr. 10.

That, at least, is the purpose of these genealogies in their current location at the beginning of the Book of 1 Chronicles. But in fact, the genealogies of 1 Chr. 1—9 go much further than just to King Saul. The names in ch. 9 appear to be the names of priests and Levites who lived in Jerusalem after the return from Babylonian exile (see 1 Chr. 9:1, 2). Perhaps the genealogies of 1 Chr. 1—9 were collected originally for the returned exiles and only later were adapted by the priestly writer of Chronicles to serve as a brief historical prologue to his history of the kingdom.

These genealogies, as a priestly summary of Israelite history, served two important purposes for the community of returned exiles. First, they demonstrated to that ragtag group of refugees that they were part of a much larger, much more impressive divine plan, which began with Adam and continued through Abraham (1 Chr. 1:28), Israel (Jacob, 2:1), Aaron (6:50), and David (3:1). These lists also stressed that Israel’s future hope rested on the priests. Aaron, Moses’ priestly brother, receives more space than Moses himself (6:49—53). Moreover, long sections are devoted to the names, duties, and dwellings of the priests and Levites (6:31—81; 9:3—34).

THESE ARE THE KINGS (1 CHR. 1:43)

One form of genealogical record that was known in ancient Mesopotamia was the “king list.” In Assyria, the Assyrian King List preserved a detailed list of Assyrian kings and their general lengths of reign for about 1,000 years. The oldest version of the King List is a 10th-century B.C. manuscript.

The Assyrian King List begins by listing the rulers sequentially, extending from the earliest times of Assyria to Shalmaneser V (726–722 B.C.). Some later narrative sections are short chronicles listing the years of reign, the king’s ancestors, and sometimes a prose narration. The King List probably functioned in the later periods as a chronological aid. Yet a broader purpose was to support the belief that kingship in Assyria descended in a continuous line with few interruptions, as if every king officially belonged to the same dynasty.

The King List is divided into a number of sections. The first section is a list of 17 names mentioned without ancestral lists, tribal relationships, or lengths of reign. At the end of the section is the statement, “These are kings who dwell in tents.” The Chronicler uses a very similar statement, “Now these were the kings,” in order to introduce his king list for Edom (1:43). The Edomites inhabited the territory of Esau’s descendants, so an Edomite King List was an appropriate insertion into the genealogy of Abraham’s grandson Esau (1 Chr. 1:28–54).

GENEALOGY AND MESSIANIC HOPES (1 CHR. 3:9)

The books of Chronicles were written after the Jews had rebuilt Jerusalem. The Babylonians had destroyed the city and temple in 586 B.C., carrying many of the Judean people into exile (2 Kin. 25:1–12). When the Judean descendants returned from exile in Babylon about 50 years later, they were concerned about establishing continuity with the life of their people before the Exile. One means of showing continuity was the long genealogical lists of names, as found in 1 Chr. 1–9.

Genealogies recorded the continuity of families through the disaster of exile and beyond. To show an unbroken family line with Judean ancestors before the Exile became a way of establishing continuity and thus claiming a proper role in the postexilic society.

Family lineage became very important in the rebuilding of the Judean society. Certain families had specific roles before the Exile. Without proof of the proper pedigree one could be excluded from these roles in the postexilic community. One such example is the returning Jews who claimed to be priests but could not prove their family's priestly lineage; they were excluded from the priesthood in the postexilic community (Ezra 2:62).

In the preexilic period, the family of David had held a specific and important role in the Judean society—the role of king. Yet following the Exile, after the governorship of Zerubbabel, a descendant of David, native rule of the Judean society went to non-Davidic governors.

The genealogical list of the “sons of David” (1 Chr. 3:1) subtly supports the restoration of a Davidic king in postexilic Jerusalem. The Exile had happened, yet the descendants of David should still be the rightful rulers of Israel. The Davidic genealogy (1 Chr. 3:1–24) reminded the readers that God was not yet done with the line of David in Israel.

were Ibhar, Elishama,<sup>a</sup> Eliphelet,<sup>b</sup> <sup>7</sup>Nogah, Nepheg, Japhia, <sup>8</sup>Elishama, Eliada,<sup>a</sup> and Eliphelet—nine in all. <sup>9</sup>These were all the sons of David, besides the sons of the concubines, and Tamar their sister.

The Family of Jeconiah

<sup>21</sup>The sons of Hananiah were Pelatiah and Jeshaiiah, the sons of Rephaiah, the sons of Arnan, the sons of Obadiah, and the sons of Shechaniah. <sup>22</sup>The son of Shechaniah was Shemaiah. The sons of Shemaiah were Hattush, Igal, Bariah, Neariah, and Shaphat—six in all. <sup>23</sup>The sons of Neariah were Elioenai, Hezekiah, and Azrikam—three in all. <sup>24</sup>The sons of Elioenai were Hodaviah, Eliashib, Pelaiah, Akkub, Johanan, Delaiah, and Anani—seven in all.

The Family of Judah

4 <sup>1</sup>The sons of Judah were Perez, Hezron, Carmi, Hur, and Shobal. <sup>2</sup>And Reaiah the son of Shobal begot Jahath, and Jahath begot Ahumai and Lahad. These were the families of the Zorathites. <sup>3</sup>These were the sons of the father of Etam: Jezreel, Ishma, and Idbash; and the name of their sister was Hazeleponi; <sup>4</sup>and Penuel was the father of Gedor, and Ezer was the father of Hushah.

These were the sons of Hur, the firstborn of Ephrathah the father of Bethlehem.

<sup>5</sup>And Ashhur the father of Tekoa had two wives, Helah and Naarah. <sup>6</sup>Naarah bore him Ahuzzam, Hephher, Temeni, and Haahashtari. These were the sons of Naarah. <sup>7</sup>The sons of Helah were Zereth, Zohar, and Ethnan; <sup>8</sup>and Koz begot Anub, Zobebah, and the families of Aharhel the son of Harum.

<sup>9</sup>Now Jabez was more honorable than his brothers, and his mother called his name Jabez,<sup>a</sup> saying, “Because I bore him in pain.” <sup>10</sup>And Jabez called on the God of Israel saying, “Oh, that You would bless me indeed, and enlarge my territory, that Your hand would be with me, and that You would keep me from evil, that I may not cause pain!” So God granted him what he requested.

Beth-Rapha, Paseah, and Tehinnah the father of Ir-Nahash. These were the men of Rechah.

<sup>15</sup>The sons of Caleb the son of Jephunneh were Iru, Elah, and Naam. The son of Elah was Kenaz.

<sup>16</sup>The sons of Jehallelel were Ziph, Ziphah, Tiria, and Asarel. <sup>17</sup>The sons of Ezrah were Jether, Mered, Ephraim, and Jalon. And Mered's wife bore Miriam, Shammai, and Ishbah the father of Esh-temoa. <sup>18</sup>(His wife Jehudijah<sup>a</sup> bore Jered the father of Gedor, Heber the father of Sochoh, and Jekuthiel the father of Zanoah.) And these were the sons of Bithiah the daughter of Pharaoh, whom Mered took.

<sup>19</sup>The sons of Hodiah's wife, the sister of Naham, were the fathers of Keilah the Garmite and of Eshtemoa the Maachathite. <sup>20</sup>And the sons of Shimon were Amnon, Rinnah, Ben-Hanan, and Tilon. And the sons of Ishi were Zoheth and Ben-Zoheth.

<sup>21</sup>The sons of Shelah the son of Judah were Er the father of Lecah, Laadah the father of Mare-shah, and the families of the house of the linen workers of the house of Ashbea; <sup>22</sup>also Jokim, the men of Chozeba, and Joash; Saraph, who ruled in Moab, and Jashubi-Lehem. Now the records are ancient. <sup>23</sup>These were the potters and those who dwell at Netaim<sup>a</sup> and Gederah;<sup>b</sup> there they dwelt with the king for his work.

The Family of Simeon

son of Amaziah; <sup>35</sup>Joel, and Jehu the son of Joshiah, the son of Seraiah, the son of Asiel; <sup>36</sup>Elioenai, Jaakobah, Jeshohaiah, Asaiah, Adiel, Jesimiel, and Benaiah; <sup>37</sup>Ziza the son of Shiphi, the son of Allon, the son of Jedaiah, the son of Shimri, the son of Shemaiah— <sup>38</sup>these mentioned by name were leaders in their families, and their father's house increased greatly.

<sup>39</sup>So they went to the entrance of Gedor, as far as the east side of the valley, to seek pasture for their flocks. <sup>40</sup>And they found rich, good pasture, and the land was broad, quiet, and peaceful; for some Hamites formerly lived there.

<sup>41</sup>These recorded by name came in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah; and they attacked their tents and the Meunites who were found there, and utterly destroyed them, as it is to this day. So they dwelt in their place, because there was pasture for their flocks there. <sup>42</sup>Now some of them, five hundred men of the sons of Simeon, went to Mount Seir, having as their captains Pelatiah, Neriaiah, Rephaiah, and Uzziel, the sons of Ishi. <sup>43</sup>And they defeated the rest of the Amalekites who had escaped. They have dwelt there to this day.

The Family of Reuben

5 <sup>1</sup>Now the sons of Reuben the firstborn of Israel—he was indeed the firstborn, but because he defiled his father's bed, his birthright was given to the sons of Joseph, the son of Israel, so that the genealogy is not listed according to the birthright; <sup>2</sup>yet Judah prevailed over his brothers, and from him came a ruler, although the birthright was Joseph's— <sup>3</sup>the sons of Reuben the firstborn of Israel were Hanoch, Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi.

<sup>10</sup>Now in the days of Saul they made war with the Hagrites, who fell by their hand; and they dwelt in their tents throughout the entire area east of Gilead.

The Family of Gad

<sup>11</sup>And the children of Gad dwelt next to them in the land of Bashan as far as Salcah:

THE KING NICKNAMED “PUL” (1 CHR. 5:26)

Tiglath-Pileser III ruled Assyria from 744 to 727 B.C., restoring the empire to military greatness in the mid-8th century B.C. As early as 738 B.C. he began receiving tribute from Samaria, Damascus, and Tyre. That King Menahem of Israel paid tribute to Assyria is confirmed by both biblical (2 Kin. 15:19) and Assyrian sources. In 734 B.C. the Assyrian monarch invaded Palestine and captured Gaza.

Soon thereafter, King Rezin of the Aramean capital Damascus led a rebellion against Assyrian rule, supported by King Pekah of Israel. Damascus was captured by Tiglath-Pileser, and the Aramean kingdom was ended, being incorporated into the Assyrian Empire in 732 B.C. Further, Assyrian sources record that portions of Gilead and Galilee were captured and many of the elite classes were sent into exile.

The Chronicler recorded his genealogies about 3 centuries after Tiglath-Pileser’s life. Yet he recalls the Assyrian king who carried so many “into captivity” (1 Chr. 5:5, 26), and who was known as “Pul king of Assyria” (5:26). Until recently it was not understood that the Assyrian king Pul was the same monarch as Tiglath-Pileser. Pul (or Pulu) apparently was a nickname. The king’s Assyrian name, Tukulti-apil-esharra, contains the element apil, from which Pul probably developed. The nickname has been found in cuneiform records (clay tablets etched with wedge-shaped writing, then baked for permanence).

<sup>12</sup>Joel was the chief, Shapham the next, then Jaanai and Shaphat in Bashan, <sup>13</sup>and their brethren of their father’s house: Michael, Meshullam, Sheba, Jorai, Jachan, Zia, and Eber—seven in all. <sup>14</sup>These were the children of Abihail the son of Huri, the son of Jaroah, the son of Gilead, the son of Michael, the son of Jeshishai, the son of Jahdo, the son of Buz; <sup>15</sup>Ahi the son of Abdiel, the son of Guni, was chief of their father’s house. <sup>16</sup>And the Gadites dwelt in Gilead, in Bashan and in its villages, and in all the common-lands of Sharon within their borders. <sup>17</sup>All these were registered by genealogies in the days of Jotham king of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam king of Israel.

<sup>18</sup>The sons of Reuben, the Gadites, and half the tribe of Manasseh had forty-four thousand seven hundred and sixty valiant men, men able to bear shield and sword, to shoot with the bow, and skillful in war, who went to war. <sup>19</sup>They made war with the Hagrites, Jetur, Naphish, and Nodab. <sup>20</sup>And they were helped against them, and the Hagrites were delivered into their hand, and all who were with them, for they cried out to God in the battle. He heeded their prayer, because they put their trust in Him. <sup>21</sup>Then they took away their livestock—fifty thousand of their camels, two hundred and fifty thousand of their sheep, and two thousand of their donkeys—also one hundred thousand of their men; <sup>22</sup>for many fell dead, because the war was God’s. And they dwelt in their place until the captivity.

Science & Technology

The bow was a deadly weapon of ancient armies (1 Chr. 5:18). Its most advanced form, the composite, recurved bow, was made of specially chosen layers of wood, horn, and sinew. To be strung, the limbs of such a bow had to be bent over backwards. Experienced archers with a large supply of arrows could maintain a devastating rate of fire. The range of a recurved bow was about 150 yards.

The Family of Manasseh (East)

<sup>23</sup>So the children of the half-tribe of Manasseh dwelt in the land. Their numbers increased from Bashan to Baal Hermon, that is, to Senir, or Mount Hermon. <sup>24</sup>These were the heads of their fathers’ houses: Epher, Ishi, Eliel, Azriel, Jeremiah, Hodaviah, and Jahdiel. They were mighty men of valor, famous men, and heads of their fathers’ houses.

<sup>25</sup>And they were unfaithful to the God of their fathers, and played the harlot after the gods of the peoples of the land, whom God had destroyed before them. <sup>26</sup>So the God of Israel stirred up the spirit of Pul king of Assyria, that is, Tiglath-Pileser<sup>a</sup> king of Assyria. He carried the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh into captivity. He took them to Halah, Habor, Hara, and the river of Gozan to this day.

The Family of Levi

Jerusalem into captivity by the hand of Nebuchadnezzar.

Musicians in the House of the LORD

<sup>31</sup>Now these are the men whom David appointed over the service of song in the house of the LORD, after the ark came to rest. <sup>32</sup>They were ministering with music before the dwelling place of the tabernacle of meeting, until Solomon had built the house of the LORD in Jerusalem, and they served in their office according to their order.

<sup>48</sup>And their brethren, the Levites, were appointed to every kind of service of the tabernacle of the house of God.

The Family of Aaron

<sup>49</sup>But Aaron and his sons offered sacrifices on the altar of burnt offering and on the altar of incense, for all the work of the Most Holy Place, and to make atonement for Israel, according to all that Moses the servant of God had commanded. <sup>50</sup>Now these are the sons of Aaron: Eleazar his son, Phinehas his son, Abishua his son, <sup>51</sup>Bukki his son, Uzzi his son, Zerachiah his son, <sup>52</sup>Meraioth his son, Amariah his son, Ahitub his son, <sup>53</sup>Zadok his son, and Ahimaaaz his son.

Dwelling Places of the Levites

<sup>54</sup>Now these are their dwelling places throughout their settlements in their territory, for they were given by lot to the sons of Aaron, of the family of the Kohathites: <sup>55</sup>They gave them Hebron in the land of Judah, with its surrounding common-lands. <sup>56</sup>But the fields of the city and its villages they gave to Caleb the son of Jephunneh. <sup>57</sup>And to the sons of Aaron they gave one of the cities of refuge, Hebron; also Libnah with its common-lands, Jattir, Eshtemoa with its common-lands, <sup>58</sup>Hilen<sup>a</sup> with its common-lands, Debir with its common-lands, <sup>59</sup>Ashan<sup>a</sup> with its common-lands, and Beth Shemesh with its common-lands. <sup>60</sup>And from the tribe of Benjamin: Geba with its common-lands, Alemeth<sup>a</sup> with its common-lands,

<sup>23</sup>And when he went in to his wife, she conceived and bore a son; and he called his name Beriah,<sup>a</sup> because tragedy had come upon his house.

NOT JUST GUARDING THE GATES (1 CHR. 9:17, 18)

In the genealogies of priestly and Levitical families is a long list of names and assignments of Levitical gatekeepers. We might suppose that there were more important matters to be recorded than the temple's night watchmen and custodians. The books of Chronicles, however, show that the temple gatekeepers played very significant roles in a temple-centered society with crude locks and keys.

In one role the gatekeepers functioned essentially as secret service agents, controlling the inner city security of Jerusalem. For instance, when Joash was established on Judah's throne, Levitical gatekeepers were the security force that ensured a successful transition of power (2 Chr. 23:3–5). After Joash had become king, his safety and the purity of the temple became the responsibility of these same gatekeepers.

The Chronicler also records that some gatekeepers held substantial political power themselves. By guarding doorways a gatekeeper could play the role of the royal "chief of staff," controlling access to the king. A certain Shallum, "the chief," guarded the "King's Gate on the east" (1 Chr. 9:17, 18). Another gatekeeper, a certain Zechariah, is called a "wise counselor" (1 Chr. 26:14), which is a phrase the Chronicler reserves for royal advisors (1 Chr. 27:32, 33).

A significant role for the gatekeepers was their control of temple offerings and the temple payroll. Kore, a gatekeeper of the East Gate, and his kin, gatekeepers all, were "over the freewill offerings to God," a responsibility that included distributing allotments by divisions (2 Chr. 31:14–16). Without bank vaults persons of great integrity were necessary to ensure the proper financial care of the temple and its personnel.

Thus it is evident why Chronicles records the appointment of these officials. Theirs was a "trusted office" (1 Chr. 9:26); they were crucial to the daily operation of Jerusalem and the temple.

<sup>38</sup>Azel had six sons whose names were these: Azrikam, Bocheru, Ishmael, Sheariah, Obadiah, and Hanan. All these were the sons of Azel. <sup>39</sup>And the sons of Eshek his brother were Ulam his firstborn, Jeush the second, and Eliphelet the third.

<sup>40</sup>The sons of Ulam were mighty men of valor—archers. They had many sons and grandsons, one hundred and fifty in all. These were all sons of Benjamin.

9 <sup>1</sup>So all Israel was recorded by genealogies, and indeed, they were inscribed in the book of the kings of Israel. But Judah was carried away captive to Babylon because of their unfaithfulness. <sup>2</sup>And the first inhabitants who dwelt in their possessions in their cities were Israelites, priests, Levites, and the Nethinim.

Dwellers in Jerusalem

8:32 <sup>a</sup>Spelled Shimeam in 9:38    8:33 <sup>a</sup>Also the son of Gibeon (compare 9:36, 39)    <sup>b</sup>Called Jishui in 1 Samuel 14:49    <sup>c</sup>Called Ishbosheth in 2 Samuel 2:8 and elsewhere    8:34 <sup>a</sup>Called Mephibosheth in 2 Samuel 4:4    8:36 <sup>a</sup>Spelled Jarah in 9:42    8:37 <sup>a</sup>Spelled Rephaiah in 9:43

The Priests at Jerusalem

<sup>10</sup>Of the priests: Jedaiah, Jehoiarib, and Jachin; <sup>11</sup>Azariah the son of Hilkiah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Zadok, the son of Meraioth, the son of Ahitub, the officer over the house of God; <sup>12</sup>Adaiah the son of Jeroham, the son of Pashur, the son of Malchijah; Maasai the son of Adiel, the son of Jahzerah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Meshillemith, the son of Immer; <sup>13</sup>and their brethren, heads of their fathers' houses—one thousand seven hundred and sixty. They were very able men for the work of the service of the house of God.

The Levites at Jerusalem

<sup>14</sup>Of the Levites: Shemaiah the son of Hasshub, the son of Azrikam, the son of Hashabiah, of the sons of Merari; <sup>15</sup>Bakbakkar, Heresh, Galal, and Mattaniah the son of Micah, the son of Zichri, the son of Asaph; <sup>16</sup>Obadiah the son of Shemaiah, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun; and Berechiah the son of Asa, the son of Elkanah, who lived in the villages of the Netophathites.

The Levite Gatekeepers

<sup>17</sup>And the gatekeepers were Shallum, Akkub, Talmon, Ahiman, and their brethren. Shallum was the chief. <sup>18</sup>Until then they had been gatekeepers for the camps of the children of Levi at the King's Gate on the east.

<sup>19</sup>Shallum the son of Kore, the son of Ebiasaph, the son of Korah, and his brethren, from his father's house, the Korahites, were in charge of the work of the service, gatekeepers of the tabernacle. Their fathers had been keepers of the entrance to the camp of the LORD. <sup>20</sup>And Phinehas the son of Eleazar had been the officer over them in time past; the LORD was with him. <sup>21</sup>Zechariah the son of Meshelemiah was keeper of the door of the tabernacle of meeting.

<sup>22</sup>All those chosen as gatekeepers were two hundred and twelve. They were recorded by their genealogy, in their villages. David and Samuel the seer had appointed them to their trusted office. <sup>23</sup>So they and their children were in charge of the gates of the house of the LORD, the house of the tabernacle, by assignment. <sup>24</sup>The gatekeepers were assigned to the four directions: the east, west, north, and south. <sup>25</sup>And their brethren in their villages had to come with them from time to time for seven days. <sup>26</sup>For in this trusted office were four chief gatekeepers; they were Levites. And they had charge over the chambers and treasuries of the house of God. <sup>27</sup>And they lodged all around the house of God because they had the responsibility, and they were in charge of opening it every morning.

The temple area contained more than just the building used for worship. Different aspects of social life took place around the temple, not the least of which was the keeping and guarding of public money (1 Chr. 9:26, 27). Pagan temples typically were centers for more than religious activity, and this diversity required large temple staffs. New Testament temples had temple police with powers of arrest.

Other Levite Responsibilities

<sup>28</sup>Now some of them were in charge of the serving vessels, for they brought them in and took them out by count. <sup>29</sup>Some of them were appointed over the furnishings and over all the implements of the sanctuary, and over the fine flour and the wine and the oil and the incense and the spices. <sup>30</sup>And some of the sons of the priests made the ointment of the spices.

<sup>31</sup>Mattithiah of the Levites, the firstborn of Shallum the Korahite, had the trusted office over the things that were baked in the pans. <sup>32</sup>And some of their brethren of the sons of the Kohathites were in charge of preparing the showbread for every Sabbath.

<sup>33</sup>These are the singers, heads of the fathers' houses of the Levites, who lodged in the chambers, and were free from other duties; for they were employed in that work day and night. <sup>34</sup>These heads of the fathers' houses of the Levites were heads throughout their generations. They dwelt at Jerusalem.

The Book of Esther

The reign of the Persian king Darius I (522–486 B.C.) was as successful as it was long. He established a workable system of government, and he built splendid buildings, extensive roads, and even a canal in Egypt between the Nile River and the Red Sea. His only significant failure was his defeat in 490 B.C. in the battle of Marathon, which halted his intended invasion of the Greek peninsula.

Darius was succeeded by his son Xerxes I (486–465 B.C.), who achieved significantly less than his father. Xerxes, called Ahasuerus in the Bible, seemed content to rest on his father's laurels, except that he too tried an invasion of Greece in 480 B.C. He too was driven back.

In the Book of Esther, Ahasuerus is caricatured as a weak and foolish king, with no mind of his own. But the book is not really about Ahasuerus. Like the narratives of Dan. 1–6, the Book of Esther was meant to encourage Jews living in a foreign land. Indeed, during the Persian period, most Jews lived outside of Palestine, surrounded by potential enemies. These Jews of the Diaspora (meaning “dispersion”) faced different pressures and different problems than those Jews who had returned to Palestine. Thus the Diaspora Jews began to develop a different religious focus.

The most striking difference between the religion of the Diaspora and the religion of the returned exiles had to do with intermarriage. Where Ezra and Nehemiah would rage at the Palestinian Jews who married outside of the faith (Ezra 9; 10; Neh. 13:23–28), the Book of Esther reports calmly and without apology of Esther’s marriage to the Persian Ahasuerus.

Moreover, whereas the Palestinian Jews were vocal and very demonstrative about their beliefs, the Jews of the Diaspora had learned to be prudent with their faith. Esther did not tell her husband that she was a Jew. Even more striking, the story of Esther tells very clearly how God protected His people by providing them an advocate in the king’s own court, yet the book recounts God’s providence without ever actually mentioning the name of God. The Jews of the Diaspora were willing to die for their faith, but they did not court trouble. Until they had to take a stand, they maintained a sort of underground religion.

Some historical problems pertain to the Book of Esther. In all the royal records and histories from the court of Xerxes, there is no mention of a Queen Vashti, a Queen Esther, a prime minister named Mordecai, or a massacre of Jewish enemies. For this reason, some scholars suggest that the book was not intended as a historical narrative but rather as an instructional work of fiction. Others, though, maintain the book’s historicity, noting especially the Feast of Purim, which is still celebrated today. Purim commemorates the events described in the book, and supposedly the Jews would be unlikely to establish such a feast for the plot of a fictional short story.

The narrative begins in the 3rd year of Ahasuerus’s reign (Esth. 1:3), which was 483 B.C. The first return of Jews to Jerusalem had already occurred (537 B.C.), but the later returns under Ezra (possibly 458 B.C.) and Nehemiah (445 B.C.) were still in the future. The feast which the king prepared (1:5) should perhaps be identified with the assembly at Shushan that Herodotus, the Greek historian, reports was called by Ahasuerus in 483 B.C. Such magnificence and abundance were undoubtedly calculated to impress the leaders of the empire that the emperor had the power and wealth to rule as he wished.

THE WEAK AND TEMPERAMENTAL KING (ESTH. 1:1)

In the Book of Esther, Ahasuerus (Esth. 1:1) is the king of Persia who chose Esther as his queen. He has been identified with the celebrated Xerxes I (486–465 B.C.), the fourth major king of the Persian Achaemenid dynasty (559–331 B.C.). Shortly after the outset of his reign, Xerxes quelled a rebellion in Babylon, destroying the city and carrying away the statue of Marduk, the city’s patron deity.

Xerxes is best known from the writings of Herodotus (484–425 B.C.), the Greek historian who wrote the history of the wars between Greece and Persia. The son of Darius I, the Great (522–486 B.C.), Xerxes continued his father’s intervention in Greek affairs, preparing a massive invasion of Greece in 480 B.C. Despite winning the first battle at Thermopylae, the venture proved fatal. The Persian navy was decisively defeated at the Bay of Salamis. Dejected, Xerxes fled Greece before the final defeat of his army at Plataea in 479 B.C.

The Persian name for Ahasuerus means “mighty man,” which is ironic in view of this king’s description in the Book of Esther and in the writings of Herodotus. Herodotus depicts Xerxes as an incompetent and fickle monarch, not unlike the portrayal of Ahasuerus in Esther. His roller-coaster temperament is witnessed in his reaction to Vashti’s rejection (Esth. 1:9–12) and to Esther’s plea for her people (Esth. 7:1–10).

<sup>9</sup>Queen Vashti also made a feast for the women in the royal palace which belonged to King Ahasuerus.

<sup>13</sup>Then the king said to the wise men who understood the times (for this was the king's manner toward all who knew law and justice, <sup>14</sup>those closest to him being Carshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena, and Memucan, the seven princes of Persia and Media, who had access to the king's presence, and who ranked highest in the kingdom): <sup>15</sup>"What shall we do to Queen Vashti, according to law, because she did not obey the command of King Ahasuerus brought to her by the eunuchs?"

<sup>16</sup>And Memucan answered before the king and the princes: "Queen Vashti has not only wronged the king, but also all the princes, and all the people who are in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus. <sup>17</sup>For the queen's behavior will become known to all women, so that they will despise their husbands in their eyes, when they report, 'King Ahasuerus commanded Queen Vashti to be brought in before him, but she did not come.' <sup>18</sup>This very day the noble ladies of Persia and Media will say to all the king's officials that they have heard of the behavior of the queen. Thus there will be excessive contempt and wrath. <sup>19</sup>If it pleases the king, let a royal decree go out from him, and let it be recorded in the laws of the Persians and the Medes, so that it will not be altered, that Vashti shall come no more before King Ahasuerus; and let the king give her royal position to another who is better than she. <sup>20</sup>When the king's decree which he will make is proclaimed throughout all his empire (for it is great), all wives will honor their husbands, both great and small."

<sup>21</sup>And the reply pleased the king and the princes, and the king did according to the word of Memucan. <sup>22</sup>Then he sent letters to all the king's provinces, to each province in its own script, and to every people in their own language, that each man should be master in his own house, and speak in the language of his own people.

Esther Is Made Queen

The process by which a new queen would be chosen involved the bureaucracy of the Persian Empire. Officers were appointed in "all the provinces" (Esth. 2:3), reflecting the administrative structure of governmental provinces, called satrapies, which had been unified under Darius I. Great pains, involving 12 months of preparation (2:12), were taken to ready a woman for one night with the emperor. Not until 4 years had elapsed did Esther enter the royal palace in Ahasuerus's 7th year (2:16). The month of Tebeth corresponds to December-January, 479 B.C.

Mordecai and Esther were cousins, but her response as a daughter to him (2:7) suggests that there may have been a considerable age difference between them. A brief genealogy (2:5, 6) notes that more than a century before, Mordecai's ancestor Kish had been exiled from Jerusalem in 597 B.C. when the Babylonians captured King Jeconiah (Jehoiachin; 2 Kin. 24:10–12).

2:1 After these things, when the wrath of King Ahasuerus subsided, he remembered Vashti, what she had done, and what had been decreed against her. <sup>2</sup>Then the king's servants who attended him said: "Let beautiful young virgins be sought for the king; <sup>3</sup>and let the king appoint officers in all the provinces of his kingdom, that they may gather all the beautiful young virgins to Shushan the citadel, into the women's quarters, under the custody of Hegai<sup>a</sup> the king's eunuch, custodian of the women. And let beauty preparations be given them. <sup>4</sup>Then let the young woman who pleases the king be queen instead of Vashti."

This thing pleased the king, and he did so.

<sup>5</sup>In Shushan the citadel there was a certain Jew whose name was Mordecai the son of Jair, the son of Shimei, the son of Kish, a Benjamite. <sup>6</sup>Kish<sup>a</sup> had been carried away from Jerusalem with the captives who had been captured with Jeconiah<sup>b</sup> king of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar

Politics & Government

Ahasuerus displayed the magnificence of his kingdom (Esth. 1:1–4) much like other ancient monarchs, including the pharaohs of Egypt. Kings presented themselves to their people regularly in a formal manner, at designated locations or by parading along a certain route. Sometimes they had ulterior motives. For example, Antony and Cleopatra presented themselves as leaders of a new era, probably trying to challenge the Roman state.

MORDECAI, ESTHER'S FAMOUS GUARDIAN (ESTH. 2:5–7)

One of the main characters in the Book of Esther is Mordecai, who is described as Esther's guardian and adoptive father (Esth. 2:5, 7). The name "Mordecai" is a Gentile name, likely derived from the Babylonian name "Marduk," the head of Babylon's pantheon of gods. Mordecai would have also had a Jewish name, just as Esther's Jewish name was Hadassah (Esth. 2:7).

An official named "Marduka" is mentioned in a Babylonian tablet found in modern central Iraq. The tablet is dated to the reign of Xerxes I (486–465 B.C.), a king identified with the "Ahasuerus" of the Book of Esther (Esth. 1:1). Marduka was a scribe of the governor of Babylon. The same name (written with the consonants mrđk) has also been found in Aramaic papyri of the same century, representing an official in northern Mesopotamia.

Some scholars have concluded that either of these Mesopotamian documents could indeed be naming the Mordecai who was Esther's guardian. At least, the existence of officials with the name "Mordecai" in this period supports the picture of Mordecai as a famous person in the Persian Empire (Esth. 9:4).

the king of Babylon had carried away. <sup>7</sup>And Mordecai had brought up Hadassah, that is, Esther, his uncle's daughter, for she had neither father nor mother. The young woman was lovely and beautiful. When her father and mother died, Mordecai took her as his own daughter.

<sup>8</sup>So it was, when the king's command and decree were heard, and when many young women were gathered at Shushan the citadel, under the custody of Hegai, that Esther also was taken to the king's palace, into the care of Hegai the custodian of the women. <sup>9</sup>Now the young woman pleased him, and she obtained his favor; so he readily gave beauty preparations to her, besides her allowance. Then seven choice maidservants were provided for her from the king's palace, and he moved her and her maidservants to the best place in the house of the women.

<sup>10</sup>Esther had not revealed her people or family, for Mordecai had charged her not to reveal it. <sup>11</sup>And every day Mordecai paced in front of the court of the women's quarters, to learn of Esther's welfare and what was happening to her.

each young woman went to the king, and she was given whatever she desired to take with her from the women's quarters to the king's palace. <sup>14</sup>In the evening she went, and in the morning she returned to the second house of the women, to the custody of Shaashgaz, the king's eunuch who kept the concubines. She would not go in to the king again unless the king delighted in her and called for her by name.

<sup>15</sup>Now when the turn came for Esther the daughter of Abihail the uncle of Mordecai, who had taken her as his daughter, to go in to the king, she requested nothing but what Hegai the king's eunuch, the custodian of the women, advised. And Esther obtained favor in the sight of all who saw her. <sup>16</sup>So Esther was taken to King Ahasuerus, into his royal palace, in the tenth month, which is the month of Tebeth, in the seventh year of his reign. <sup>17</sup>The king loved Esther more than all the other women, and she obtained grace and favor in his sight more than all the virgins; so he set the royal crown upon her head and made her queen instead of Vashti. <sup>18</sup>Then the king made a great feast, the Feast of Esther, for all his officials and servants; and he proclaimed a holiday in the provinces and gave gifts according to the generosity of a king.

Mordecai Discovers a Plot

<sup>19</sup>When virgins were gathered together a second time, Mordecai sat within the king's gate. <sup>20</sup>Now Esther had not revealed her family and her people, just as Mordecai had charged her, for Esther obeyed the command of Mordecai as when she was brought up by him.

<sup>21</sup>In those days, while Mordecai sat within the king's gate, two of the king's eunuchs, Bigthan and Teresh, doorkeepers, became furious and sought to lay hands on King Ahasuerus. <sup>22</sup>So the matter became known to Mordecai, who told Queen Esther, and Esther informed the king in Mordecai's name. <sup>23</sup>And when an inquiry was made into the matter, it was confirmed, and both were hanged on a gallows; and it was written in the book of the chronicles in the presence of the king.

Haman's Plot to Destroy the Jews

Haman tried to mask his petty revenge against Mordecai with the slaughter of an entire people. In the 1st month of Ahasuerus's 12th year (March-April, 474 B.C.), the lot was cast to determine the right day for the destruction of the Jews. The lot selected the 12th month, Adar (Esth. 3:7), and the order was sent out to everyone in the administrative chain to execute the tragic operation when that month arrived (3:12, 13). The Feast of Purim, which commemorates the events of this story, takes its name from the Hebrew word pur, meaning "lot."

Haman Makes His Request

3:1 After these things King Ahasuerus promoted Haman, the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, and advanced him and set his seat above all the princes who were with him. <sup>2</sup>And all the king's servants who were within the king's gate bowed and paid homage to Haman, for so the king had commanded concerning him. But Mordecai would not bow or pay homage. <sup>3</sup>Then the king's servants who were within the king's gate said to Mordecai, "Why do you transgress the king's command?" <sup>4</sup>Now it happened, when they spoke to him daily and he would not listen to them, that they told it to Haman, to see whether Mordecai's words would stand; for

3:7 <sup>a</sup>Septuagint adds to destroy the people of Mordecai in one day; Vulgate adds the nation of the Jews should be destroyed.

<sup>b</sup>Following Masoretic Text and Vulgate; Septuagint reads and the lot fell on the fourteenth of the month.

Mordecai had told them that he was a Jew. <sup>5</sup>When Haman saw that Mordecai did not bow or pay him homage, Haman was filled with wrath. <sup>6</sup>But he disdained to lay hands on Mordecai alone, for they had told him of the people of Mordecai. Instead, Haman sought to destroy all the Jews who were throughout the whole kingdom of Ahasuerus—the people of Mordecai.

<sup>7</sup>In the first month, which is the month of Nisan, in the twelfth year of King Ahasuerus, they cast Pur (that is, the lot), before Haman to determine the day and the month,<sup>a</sup> until it fell on the twelfth month,<sup>b</sup> which is the month of Adar.

<sup>8</sup>Then Haman said to King Ahasuerus, "There is a certain people scattered and dispersed among the people in all the provinces of your kingdom; their laws are different from all other people's, and they do not keep the king's laws. Therefore it is not fitting for the king to let them remain. <sup>9</sup>If it pleases the king, let a decree be written that they be destroyed, and I will pay ten thousand talents of silver into the hands of those who do the work, to bring it into the king's treasuries."

<sup>12</sup>Then the king's scribes were called on the thirteenth day of the first month, and a decree was written according to all that Haman commanded—to the king's satraps, to the governors who were over each province, to the officials of all people, to every province according to its script, and to every people in their language. In the name of King Ahasuerus it was written, and

The Persian Empire

The rise of Persia was rapid. In 550 B.C. Cyrus the Persian inherited the kingdom of the Medes. In 547 B.C. he captured the Lydian capital of Sardis. In 539 B.C. he took Babylon without a fight. By 500 B.C. the Persian Empire stretched from India in the east through Asia Minor to Greece in the west, and included Egypt and some of coastal Africa to the south.

sealed with the king's signet ring. <sup>13</sup>And the letters were sent by couriers into all the king's provinces, to destroy, to kill, and to annihilate all the Jews, both young and old, little children and women, in one day, on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is the month of Adar, and to plunder their possessions.<sup>a</sup> <sup>14</sup>A copy of the document was to be issued as law in every province, being published for all people, that they should be ready for that day. <sup>15</sup>The couriers went out, hastened by the king's command; and the decree was proclaimed in Shushan the citadel. So the king and Haman sat down to drink, but the city of Shushan was perplexed.

Esther Agrees to Help the Jews

4 <sup>1</sup>When Mordecai learned all that had happened, he tore his clothes and put on sackcloth and ashes, and went out into the midst of the city. He cried out with a loud and bitter cry. <sup>2</sup>He went as far as the front of the king's gate, for no one might enter the king's gate clothed with sackcloth. <sup>3</sup>And in every province where the king's command and decree arrived, there was great mourning among the Jews, with fasting, weeping, and wailing; and many lay in sackcloth and ashes.

<sup>4</sup>So Esther's maids and eunuchs came and told her, and the queen was deeply distressed. Then she sent garments to clothe Mordecai and take his sackcloth away from him, but he would not accept them. <sup>5</sup>Then Esther called Hathach, one of the king's eunuchs whom he had appointed to attend her, and she gave him a command concerning Mordecai, to learn what and why this was. <sup>6</sup>So Hathach went out to Mordecai in the city square that was in front of the king's gate. <sup>7</sup>And Mordecai told him all that had happened to him, and the sum of money that Haman had promised to pay into the king's treasuries to destroy the Jews. <sup>8</sup>He also gave him a copy of the written decree for their destruction, which was given at Shushan, that he might show it to Esther and explain it to her, and that he might command her to go in to the king to make supplication to him and plead before him for her people. <sup>9</sup>So Hathach returned and told Esther the words of Mordecai.

servants and the people of the king's provinces know that any man or woman who goes into the inner court to the king, who has not been called, he has but one law: put all to death, except the one to whom the king holds out the golden scepter, that he may live. Yet I myself have not been called to go in to the king these thirty days." <sup>12</sup>So they told Mordecai Esther's words.

<sup>13</sup>And Mordecai told them to answer Esther: "Do not think in your heart that you will escape in the king's palace any more than all the other Jews. <sup>14</sup>For if you remain completely silent at this time, relief and deliverance will arise for the Jews from another place, but you and your father's house will perish. Yet who knows whether you have come to the kingdom for such a time as this?"

<sup>15</sup>Then Esther told them to reply to Mordecai: <sup>16</sup>"Go, gather all the Jews who are present in Shushan, and fast for me; neither eat nor drink for three days, night or day. My maids and I will fast likewise. And so I will go to the king, which is against the law; and if I perish, I perish!"

<sup>17</sup>So Mordecai went his way and did according to all that Esther commanded him.<sup>a</sup>

Esther's Banquet

5 <sup>1</sup>Now it happened on the third day that Esther put on her royal robes and stood in the inner court of the king's palace, across from the king's house, while the king sat on his royal throne in the royal house, facing the entrance of the house.<sup>a</sup> <sup>2</sup>So it was, when the king saw Queen Esther standing in the court, that she found favor in his sight, and the king held out to Esther the golden scepter that was in his hand. Then Esther went near and touched the top of the scepter.

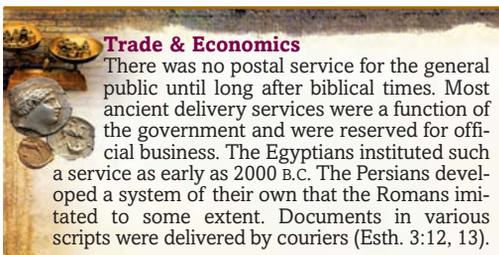

<sup>3</sup>And the king said to her, "What do you wish, Queen Esther? What is your request? It shall be given to you—up to half the kingdom!"

<sup>4</sup>So Esther answered, "If it pleases the king, let the king and Haman come today to the banquet that I have prepared for him."

<sup>5</sup>Then the king said, "Bring Haman quickly, that he may do as Esther has said." So the king and Haman went to the banquet that Esther had prepared.

<sup>6</sup>At the banquet of wine the king said to Esther, "What is your petition? It shall be granted you. What is your request, up to half the kingdom? It shall be done!"

<sup>7</sup>Then Esther answered and said, "My petition and request is this: <sup>8</sup>If I have found favor in the sight of the king, and if it pleases the king to grant my petition and fulfill my request, then let

<sup>9</sup>So Haman went out that day joyful and with a glad heart; but when Haman saw Mordecai in the king's gate, and that he did not stand or tremble before him, he was filled with indignation against Mordecai. <sup>10</sup>Nevertheless Haman restrained himself and went home, and he sent and called for his friends and his wife Zeresh. <sup>11</sup>Then Haman told them of his great riches, the multitude of his children, everything in which the king had promoted him, and how he had advanced him above the officials and servants of the king.

<sup>12</sup>Moreover Haman said, “Besides, Queen Esther invited no one but me to come in with the king to the banquet that she prepared; and tomorrow I am again invited by her, along with the king. <sup>13</sup>Yet all this avails me nothing, so long as I see Mordecai the Jew sitting at the king's gate.”

<sup>14</sup>Then his wife Zeresh and all his friends said to him, “Let a gallows be made, fifty cubits high, and in the morning suggest to the king that Mordecai be hanged on it; then go merrily with the king to the banquet.”

And the thing pleased Haman; so he had the gallows made.

The King Honors Mordecai

6 <sup>1</sup>That night the king could not sleep. So one was commanded to bring the book of the records of the chronicles; and they were read before the king. <sup>2</sup>And it was found written that Mordecai had told of Bigthana and Teresh, two of the king's eunuchs, the doorkeepers who had sought to lay hands on King Ahasuerus. <sup>3</sup>Then the king said, “What honor or dignity has been bestowed on Mordecai for this?”

And the king's servants who attended him said, “Nothing has been done for him.”

<sup>4</sup>So the king said, “Who is in the court?” Now Haman had just entered the outer court of the king's palace to suggest that the king hang Mordecai on the gallows that he had prepared for him.

<sup>5</sup>The king's servants said to him, “Haman is there, standing in the court.”

And the king said, “Let him come in.”

<sup>6</sup>So Haman came in, and the king asked him, “What shall be done for the man whom the king delights to honor?”

Now Haman thought in his heart, “Whom would the king delight to honor more than me?”

<sup>7</sup>And Haman answered the king, “For the man whom the king delights to honor, <sup>8</sup>let a royal robe be brought which the king has worn, and a horse on which the king has ridden, which has a royal crest placed on its head. <sup>9</sup>Then let this robe and horse be delivered to the hand of one of the king's most noble princes, that he may array the man whom the king delights to honor. Then parade him on horseback through the city square, and proclaim before him: ‘Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king delights to honor!’ ”

<sup>10</sup>Then the king said to Haman, “Hurry, take the robe and the horse, as you have suggested, and do so for Mordecai the Jew who sits within the king's gate! Leave nothing undone of all that you have spoken.”

<sup>11</sup>So Haman took the robe and the horse, arrayed Mordecai and led him on horseback through the city square, and proclaimed before him, “Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king delights to honor!”

<sup>12</sup>Afterward Mordecai went back to the king’s gate. But Haman hurried to his house, mourning and with his head covered. <sup>13</sup>When Haman told his wife Zeresh and all his friends everything that had happened to him, his wise men and his wife Zeresh said to him, “If Mordecai, before whom you have begun to fall, is of Jewish descent, you will not prevail against him but will surely fall before him.”

<sup>14</sup>While they were still talking with him, the king’s eunuchs came, and hastened to bring Haman to the banquet which Esther had prepared.

Haman Hanged Instead of Mordecai

7 <sup>1</sup>So the king and Haman went to dine with Queen Esther. <sup>2</sup>And on the second day, at the banquet of wine, the king again said to Esther, “What is your petition, Queen Esther? It shall be granted you. And what is your request, up to half the kingdom? It shall be done!”

<sup>3</sup>Then Queen Esther answered and said, “If I have found favor in your sight, O king, and if it pleases the king, let my life be given me at my petition, and my people at my request. <sup>4</sup>For we have been sold, my people and I, to be destroyed, to be killed, and to be annihilated. Had we been sold as male and female slaves, I would have held my tongue, although the enemy could never compensate for the king’s loss.”

<sup>5</sup>So King Ahasuerus answered and said to Queen Esther, “Who is he, and where is he, who would dare presume in his heart to do such a thing?”

<sup>6</sup>And Esther said, “The adversary and enemy is this wicked Haman!”

So Haman was terrified before the king and queen.

<sup>7</sup>Then the king arose in his wrath from the banquet of wine and went into the palace garden; but Haman stood before Queen Esther, pleading for his life, for he saw that evil was determined against him by the king. <sup>8</sup>When the king returned from the palace garden to the place of the banquet of wine, Haman had fallen across the couch where Esther was. Then the king said, “Will he also assault the queen while I am in the house?”

As the word left the king’s mouth, they covered Haman’s face. <sup>9</sup>Now Harbonah, one of the eunuchs, said to the king, “Look! The gallows, fifty cubits high, which Haman made for Mordecai, who spoke good on the king’s behalf, is standing at the house of Haman.”

Then the king said, “Hang him on it!”

<sup>10</sup>So they hanged Haman on the gallows that he had prepared for Mordecai. Then the king’s wrath subsided.

Esther Saves the Jews

8 <sup>1</sup>On that day King Ahasuerus gave Queen Esther the house of Haman, the enemy of the Jews. And Mordecai came before the king, for Esther had told how he was related to her. <sup>2</sup>So the king took off his signet ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gave it to Mordecai; and Esther appointed Mordecai over the house of Haman.

<sup>3</sup>Now Esther spoke again to the king, fell down at his feet, and implored him with tears to counteract the evil of Haman the Agagite, and the scheme which he had devised against the Jews. <sup>4</sup>And the king held out the golden scepter toward Esther. So Esther arose and stood before the king, <sup>5</sup>and said, “If it pleases the king, and if I have found favor in his sight and the thing seems right to the king and I am pleasing in his eyes, let it be written to revoke the letters devised by Haman, the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, which he wrote to annihilate the Jews who are in all the king’s provinces. <sup>6</sup>For how can I endure to see the evil that will come to my people? Or how can I endure to see the destruction of my countrymen?”

<sup>7</sup>Then King Ahasuerus said to Queen Esther and Mordecai the Jew, “Indeed, I have given Esther the house of Haman, and they have hanged him on the gallows because he tried to lay his hand on the Jews. <sup>8</sup>You yourselves write a decree concerning the Jews, as you please, in the king’s name, and seal it with the king’s signet ring; for whatever is written in the king’s name and sealed with the king’s signet ring no one can revoke.”

<sup>9</sup>So the king’s scribes were called at that time, in the third month, which is the month of Sivan, on the twenty-third day; and it was written, according to all that Mordecai commanded, to the Jews, the satraps, the governors, and the princes of the provinces from India to Ethiopia, one hundred and twenty-seven provinces in all, to every province in its own script, to every people in their own language, and to the Jews in their own script and language. <sup>10</sup>And he wrote in the name of King Ahasuerus, sealed it with the king’s signet ring, and sent letters by couriers on horseback, riding on royal horses bred from swift steeds.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>11</sup>By these letters the king permitted the Jews who were in every city to gather together and protect their lives—to destroy, kill, and annihilate all the forces of any people or province that would assault them, both little children and women, and to plunder their possessions, <sup>12</sup>on one day in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus, on the thirteenth

SHUSHAN THE CITADEL AND SHUSHAN (ESTH. 9:6–15)

Susa was a great city in the area of modern southwestern Iran, existing as early as the 4th millennium B.C. At one time it was a major city of the Elamites, who inhabited Susa for 3 millenniums. The name “Susa” is spelled “Shushan” in the Bible.

It seems that Susa reached its zenith during the Persian period (559–331 B.C.). Darius I (522–486 B.C.) chose Susa as the main capital of his empire. It is evident that this Persian monarch completely changed the design of the existing city, which he divided into two parts separated by a canal. Susa the citadel, or palace, was the fortified royal city to the west. The writer of the Book of Esther carefully distinguishes between “Shushan the citadel” (Esth. 9:6–12) and the unfortified town to the east, which was simply called “Shushan” (Esth. 9:13–16).

The king’s residence was at Susa the citadel, where the women’s quarters for the harem were also located (Esth. 2:3). The division of Susa into two halves explains why the writer of the Book of Esther describes the king’s command being executed on the 13th day in Susa the citadel (Esth. 9:1, 11, 12) and then on the 14th day in the unfortified Susa (Esth. 9:14, 15).

Almost nothing is known of the lower city, as excavations have been concentrated on the upper citadel which was surrounded by massive fortifications. In Susa the citadel was the immense royal palace, as well as numerous residences presumably designed for the use of the elite classes. The palace was the setting for the Book of Esther, and the writer apparently had a familiarity with the citadel area.

day of the twelfth month, which is the month of Adar.<sup>13</sup> A copy of the document was to be issued as a decree in every province and published for all people, so that the Jews would be ready on that day to avenge themselves on their enemies.<sup>14</sup> The couriers who rode on royal horses went out, hastened and pressed on by the king’s command. And the decree was issued in Shushan the citadel.

<sup>15</sup>So Mordecai went out from the presence of the king in royal apparel of blue and white, with a great crown of gold and a garment of fine linen and purple; and the city of Shushan rejoiced and was glad.<sup>16</sup> The Jews had light and gladness, joy and honor.<sup>17</sup> And in every province and city, wherever the king’s command and decree came, the Jews had joy and gladness, a feast and a holiday. Then many of the people of the land became Jews, because fear of the Jews fell upon them.

8:12 <sup>a</sup>Septuagint adds the text of the letter here.

the rise of Mordecai who had faith in God’s providential activity (see 9:3, 4; 4:14).

The Book of Esther gives the historical background for the Feast of Purim, one of the Jewish feasts not commanded in the Pentateuch. The one day of feasting at Purim is now observed on two separate days because it was first celebrated in the villages on the 14th day, but in the city of Shushan on the 15th day (9:17–19).

The Jews Destroy Their Tormentors

9:1 Now in the twelfth month, that is, the month of Adar, on the thirteenth day, the time came for the king’s command and his decree to be executed. On the day that the enemies of the Jews had hoped to overpower them, the opposite occurred, in that the Jews themselves overpowered those who hated them.<sup>2</sup> The Jews gathered together in their cities throughout all the provinces of King Ahasuerus to lay hands on those who sought their harm. And no one could withstand them, because fear of them fell upon all people.<sup>3</sup> And all the officials of the provinces, the satraps, the governors, and all those doing the king’s work, helped the Jews, because the fear of Mordecai fell upon them.<sup>4</sup> For Mordecai was great in the king’s palace, and his fame spread throughout all the provinces; for this man Mordecai became increasingly prominent.<sup>5</sup> Thus the Jews defeated all their enemies with the stroke of the sword, with slaughter and destruction, and did what they pleased with those who hated them.

The Countermand to Save the Jews

By Ahasuerus’s reign, the Persian Empire had been in existence about 60 years and had assumed the basic form that it was to follow for the next 150. It was thoroughly hierarchical in structure, moving upward from people groups to regions to provinces (satrapies), of which there were 127. Over these the king reigned. While in theory the king was supreme and sovereign, his power was restricted by a system of laws which even he could not annul, and by a bureaucracy that was already becoming calcified.

Because the law giving the enemies of the Jews the right to kill them could not be revoked, another law had to be announced that would nullify the first. This second law gave the Jews the right to retaliate (Esth. 8:11). When the 12th month arrived (Esth. 9:1), God accomplished the care of His people through

<sup>11</sup>On that day the number of those who were killed in Shushan the citadel was brought to the king. <sup>12</sup>And the king said to Queen Esther, “The Jews have killed and destroyed five hundred men in Shushan the citadel, and the ten sons of Haman. What have they done in the rest of the king’s provinces? Now what is your petition? It shall be granted to you. Or what is your further request? It shall be done.”

<sup>13</sup>Then Esther said, “If it pleases the king, let it be granted to the Jews who are in Shushan to do again tomorrow according to today’s decree, and let Haman’s ten sons be hanged on the gallows.”

<sup>14</sup>So the king commanded this to be done; the decree was issued in Shushan, and they hanged Haman’s ten sons.

<sup>15</sup>And the Jews who were in Shushan gathered together again on the fourteenth day of the month of Adar and killed three hundred men at Shushan; but they did not lay a hand on the plunder.

<sup>16</sup>The remainder of the Jews in the king’s provinces gathered together and protected their lives, had rest from their enemies, and killed seventy-five thousand of their enemies; but they did not lay a hand on the plunder. <sup>17</sup>This was on the thirteenth day of the month of Adar. And on the fourteenth of the month<sup>a</sup> they rested and made it a day of feasting and gladness.

The Feast of Purim

<sup>18</sup>But the Jews who were at Shushan assembled together on the thirteenth day, as well as on the fourteenth; and on the fifteenth of the month<sup>a</sup> they rested, and made it a day of feasting and gladness. <sup>19</sup>Therefore the Jews of the villages who dwelt in the unwallied towns celebrated the fourteenth day of the month of Adar with gladness and feasting, as a holiday, and for sending presents to one another.

<sup>20</sup>And Mordecai wrote these things and sent letters to all the Jews, near and far, who were in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus, <sup>21</sup>to establish among them that they should celebrate yearly the fourteenth and fifteenth days of the month of Adar, <sup>22</sup>as the days on which the Jews had rest from their enemies, as the month which was turned from sorrow to joy for them, and from mourning to a holiday; that they should make them days of feasting and joy, of sending presents to one another and gifts to the poor. <sup>23</sup>So the Jews accepted the custom which they had begun, as Mordecai had written to them, <sup>24</sup>because Haman, the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, the enemy of all the Jews, had plotted against the Jews to annihilate them, and had cast Pur (that is, the lot), to consume them and destroy them; <sup>25</sup>but when Esther<sup>a</sup> came before the king, he commanded by letter that this<sup>b</sup> wicked plot which Haman had devised against the Jews should return on his own head, and that he and his sons should be hanged on the gallows.

<sup>26</sup>So they called these days Purim, after the name Pur. Therefore, because of all the words of this letter, what they had seen concerning this matter, and what had happened to them, <sup>27</sup>the Jews established and imposed it upon themselves and their descendants and all who would join them, that without fail they should celebrate these two days every year, according to the written instructions and according to the prescribed time, <sup>28</sup>that these days should be remembered and kept throughout every generation, every family, every province, and every city, that these days of Purim should not fail to be observed among the Jews, and that the memory of them should not perish among their descendants.

<sup>29</sup>Then Queen Esther, the daughter of Abihail, with Mordecai the Jew, wrote with full authority to confirm this second letter about Purim. <sup>30</sup>And Mordecai sent letters to all the Jews, to the one hundred and twenty-seven provinces of the kingdom of Ahasuerus, with words of peace and truth, <sup>31</sup>to confirm these days of Purim at their appointed time, as Mordecai the Jew and Queen Esther had prescribed for them, and as they had decreed for themselves and their descendants concerning matters of their fasting and lamenting. <sup>32</sup>So the decree of Esther confirmed these matters of Purim, and it was written in the book.

Mordecai’s Advancement

10 <sup>1</sup>And King Ahasuerus imposed tribute on the land and on the islands of the sea. <sup>2</sup>Now all the acts of his power and his might, and the account of the greatness of Mordecai, to which the king advanced him, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Media and Persia? <sup>3</sup>For Mordecai the Jew was second to King Ahasuerus, and was great among the Jews and well received by the multitude of his brethren, seeking the good of his people and speaking peace to all his countrymen.<sup>a</sup>

Opposition to Rebuilding Jerusalem

During the reign of Darius I (522–486 B.C.), the prophets Haggai and Zechariah had encouraged the returned exiles to finish the task of rebuilding the temple (Ezra 5:1, 2). Their neighbors, who were already living in Judah and Jerusalem when the exiles arrived, had opposed the temple project (Ezra

5:3–17). King Darius, however, overruled these objections, and the temple was completed in Darius's 6th year and dedicated in the spring (March, 515 B.C.). Local opposition to the returned exiles did not end there, though. It seems to have resumed under the reign of Darius's son and successor, Xerxes I (Ahasuerus, 486–465 B.C.).

Xerxes' reign was troubled and undistinguished, marked by internal unrest in the conquered lands of Babylon and Egypt and by his failed invasion of Greece in 480 B.C. In 465 B.C. Xerxes was assassinated and succeeded by a younger son, Artaxerxes I (465–424 B.C.). Throughout his long reign, Artaxerxes faced rebellions, notably in Egypt and Cyprus. By the end of his rule, the Persian Empire was considerably less impressive than it had been at its peak, under Darius.

During the reigns of Xerxes and Artaxerxes, the local opponents of the returned exiles waged a letter-writing campaign, complaining about the continued rebuilding of Jerusalem. While this same tactic had been used earlier, during Darius's reign, this time it worked. Artaxerxes consulted the histories and found that Jerusalem had a reputation for being rebellious. Having no desire for more rebellions, he put a stop to the rebuilding. The temple was complete, but the city of Jerusalem was still in ruins.

The Book of Ezra reports this record from the reigns of Ahasuerus and Artaxerxes (4:6–23) before the record from Darius's reign (chs. 5; 6), thus out of sequence. The final editor of the book apparently included it in the earlier context in order to serve as an example of the sort of opposition that had temporarily halted the work on the temple in the days of Darius (see "Opposition to the Temple" at Ezra 4:24).

Later Opposition

4:6 In the reign of Ahasuerus, in the beginning of his reign, they wrote an accusation against the inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem.

<sup>7</sup>In the days of Artaxerxes also, Bishlam, Mithredath, Tabel, and the rest of their companions wrote to Artaxerxes king of Persia; and the letter was written in Aramaic script, and translated into the Aramaic language. <sup>8</sup>Rehum<sup>a</sup> the commander and Shimshai the scribe wrote a letter against Jerusalem to King Artaxerxes in this fashion:

To King Artaxerxes from your servants, the men of the region beyond the River, and so forth:<sup>a</sup>

<sup>12</sup> Let it be known to the king that the Jews who came up from you have come to us at Jerusalem, and are building the rebellious and evil city, and are finishing its walls and repairing the foundations. <sup>13</sup>Let it now be known to the king that, if this city is built and the walls completed, they will not pay tax, tribute, or custom, and the king's treasury will be diminished. <sup>14</sup>Now because we receive support from the palace, it was not proper for us to see the king's dishonor; therefore we have sent and informed the king, <sup>15</sup>that search may be made in the book of the records of your fathers. And you will find in the book of the records and know that this city is a rebellious city, harmful to kings and provinces, and that they have incited sedition within the city in former times, for which cause this city was destroyed.

<sup>16</sup> We inform the king that if this city is rebuilt and its walls are completed, the result will be that you will have no dominion beyond the River.

To Rehum the commander, to Shimshai the scribe, to the rest of their companions who dwell in Samaria, and to the remainder beyond the River:

Peace, and so forth.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>18</sup> The letter which you sent to us has been clearly read before me. <sup>19</sup>And I gave the command, and a search has been made, and it was found that this city in former times has revolted against kings, and rebellion and sedition have been fostered in it.

THE GREAT AND NOBLE OSNAPPER (EZRA 4:10)

The king called “Osnapper” and described as “great and noble” was apparently well known to Ezra’s readers. He is mentioned in Scripture only in Ezra 4:10, and modern scholars have been unable to determine his identity with certainty.

The letter sent to Artaxerxes I of Persia (465–424 B.C.) claims that Osnapper deported people from Babylonia to Samaria at some undetermined period before Ezra’s time (Ezra 4:8–10). The settling of captives in other cities (4:10) fits what is known about Assyrian deportation policies, so Osnapper was possibly an Assyrian king. Such deportations were carried out by the later Assyrian kings, Shalmaneser V (726–722 B.C.) and Sargon II (721–705 B.C.).

Another attempt to identify Osnapper has compared his name to that of Ashurbanipal, the last prominent Assyrian monarch (668–627 B.C.). “Osnapper” may be a Hebrew variation of the more familiar name “Ashurbanipal.” This Assyrian king was the destroyer of the Elamites, who are named among the people groups deported to Samaria by Osnapper (Ezra 4:9).

Jerusalem, who have ruled over all the region beyond the River; and tax, tribute, and custom were paid to them. <sup>21</sup>Now give the command to make these men cease, that this city may not be built until the command is given by me.

<sup>22</sup> Take heed now that you do not fail to do this. Why should damage increase to the hurt of the kings?

<sup>23</sup>Now when the copy of King Artaxerxes’ letter was read before Rehum, Shimshai the scribe, and their companions, they went up in haste to Jerusalem against the Jews, and by force of arms made them cease.

Malachi’s criticism of unworthy priests would surely not have been popular among the priests themselves. One period in which Malachi’s preaching could have occurred would be the generation after the rebuilding of the temple, when the priests and people had grown complacent.

This at least was the situation that was encountered by Ezra and Nehemiah when they arrived in Jerusalem (around 458 and 445 B.C.). Since both leaders instituted reforms to rectify the very problems that are described in Malachi, perhaps the most likely time for the Book of Malachi is early in the reign of Artaxerxes I (465–424 B.C.), just before the arrival of the reformer Ezra in 458 B.C.

The Book of Malachi

Much is uncertain about the prophetic Book of Malachi. Nothing is known of the prophet outside of the words in the book. Indeed, it is not even certain that “Malachi” is a name. In Hebrew, the name “Malachi” (Mal. 1:1) simply means “My messenger” (as it is translated in Mal. 3:1), and it could be understood as an anonymous prophet, designated as God’s messenger.

Also uncertain is the book’s historical context. When did this prophet live? To whom were these words directed? No one can be completely sure, but some guesses are more probable than others. For instance, Malachi’s emphasis on the temple and on correct priestly ritual indicates that he spoke at a time when there was a temple standing, either before the temple was destroyed in 586 B.C. or after the second temple was completed in 515 B.C. The later time is suggested by the reference to Judah’s political ruler as “your governor” (Mal. 1:8), since it was during the Persian period that Judah no longer had a king.

Malachi’s preaching has a very priestly tone. The sins that he condemns are sins of inappropriate worship: offering blemished sacrifices (1:8, 14), carelessness on the part of priests (2:7, 8), and neglecting the temple tithes (3:8–10). Such an emphasis fits well in the priest-dominated community of returned exiles, though

EDOM WILL NOT RETURN (MAL. 1:2-5)

To the south and east of the Dead Sea, between the Dead Sea and the Gulf of Aqaba, lies a hilly, dry land that was called Edom or Seir during Old Testament times. As neighbors, Judah and Edom often encountered each other in the course of their individual histories.

The people of Edom, the Edomites, were related to the Israelites. Edomite origins traced back to Esau, the twin brother of Jacob (Gen. 36:1). As between Esau and Jacob, the sons of Isaac and grandsons of Abraham, rivalry seems to have characterized the relationship between Israel and Edom. This rivalry apparently became especially acute, certainly from the Judean perspective, during the postexilic period.

Though Edomites and the Judeans were related, when the Babylonians utterly destroyed Judah and Jerusalem in 586 B.C., the Edomites either assisted the Babylonians or at least did nothing to aid their relatives. Archaeological results indicate that at this time the Edomites remained unscathed by the Babylonian fury.

The Edomites took Judah's misfortune as an opportunity to settle on Judean land, and, at least from the Judean viewpoint, this encroachment added insult to injury. The Judeans had been either killed or dispersed; the land was empty. The Edomites merely claimed "squatter rights," as they expanded their kingdom to the west. The Jews who returned from exile found much less land available than had once belonged to their ancestors.

In the face of Judah's political misfortunes and the rivalry with Edom which continued to flourish in the postexilic period, the prophet Malachi proclaimed that God loved Judah (Jacob), not Edom (Esau; Mal. 1:2, 3). The Judeans were restored while the Edomites would never again exist as a nation (1:4). Edom was invaded and overthrown by the Nabatean Arabs around the 5th century B.C., and by 312 B.C. Nabateans had gained control of Petra, the former capital of Edom, once known for its strong defenses (Ps. 60:9).

- 12 “But you profane it,
In that you say,
‘The table of the LORD<sup>a</sup> is defiled;
And its fruit, its food, is contemptible.’
- 13 You also say,
‘Oh, what a weariness!
And you sneer at it,’
Says the LORD of hosts.
“And you bring the stolen, the lame, and
the sick;
Thus you bring an offering!
Should I accept this from your hand?”
Says the LORD.
- 14 “But cursed be the deceiver
Who has in his flock a male,
And takes a vow,
But sacrifices to the Lord what is blemished—
For I am a great King,”
Says the LORD of hosts,
“And My name is to be feared among the nations.

Corrupt Priests

- 2<sup>1</sup> “And now, O priests, this commandment is for you.
- 2 If you will not hear,
And if you will not take it to heart,
To give glory to My name,”
Says the LORD of hosts,
“I will send a curse upon you,
And I will curse your blessings.
Yes, I have cursed them already,
Because you do not take it to heart.
- 3 “Behold, I will rebuke your descendants
And spread refuse on your faces,
The refuse of your solemn feasts;
And one will take you away with it.
- 4 Then you shall know that I have sent this commandment to you,
That My covenant with Levi may continue,”
Says the LORD of hosts.
- 5 “My covenant was with him, one of life and peace,

- And I gave them to him that he might fear
Me;
So he feared Me
And was reverent before My name.
- 6 The law of truth<sup>a</sup> was in his mouth,
And injustice was not found on his lips.
He walked with Me in peace and equity,
And turned many away from iniquity.
- 7 “For the lips of a priest should keep
knowledge,
And people should seek the law from his mouth;
For he is the messenger of the LORD of
hosts.
- 8 But you have departed from the way;
You have caused many to stumble at the law.
You have corrupted the covenant of Levi,”
Says the LORD of hosts.
- 9 “Therefore I also have made you contemptible and base
Before all the people,
Because you have not kept My ways
But have shown partiality in the law.”

Treachery of Infidelity

- 10 Have we not all one Father?
Has not one God created us?
Why do we deal treacherously with one another
By profaning the covenant of the fathers?
11 Judah has dealt treacherously,
And an abomination has been committed in Israel and in Jerusalem,
For Judah has profaned
The LORD’s holy institution which He loves:
He has married the daughter of a foreign
god.
- 12 May the LORD cut off from the tents of Jacob
The man who does this, being awake and aware,<sup>a</sup>
Yet who brings an offering to the LORD of
hosts!
- 13 And this is the second thing you do:
You cover the altar of the LORD with tears,
With weeping and crying;
So He does not regard the offering anymore,
Nor receive it with goodwill from your hands.
- 14 Yet you say, “For what reason?”
Because the LORD has been witness

SUN GOD OR SUN OF RIGHTEOUSNESS (MAL. 4:2)

The prophet Malachi borrowed the imagery of sun worship when he mentioned the “wings” of the “Sun of Righteousness” (Mal. 4:2). Another prophet, Ezekiel, saw in his temple vision some two dozen men worshipping the sun (Ezek. 8:16). For Ezekiel, this may have been the worst example of turning away from Yahweh. The prophets knew there was no sun god, but many Judeans still worshiped Shemesh, the Canaanite sun deity.

The sun god was thought to traverse the heavens by day in his chariot drawn by horses. At night the god traveled the length of the underworld. Because this deity was able to see all the living and the dead, the sun god was called upon to witness a person’s innocence, and was thus the god of justice.

Worship of the sun in Judah seems to have been a long-standing activity. The horses set up for the god at the temple (2 Kin. 23:11) indicate that worship of the sun was accepted by the priests of Yahweh. Possibly devotees kissed the back of their hands to honor the sun god (Job 31:27). Kissing was a sign of submission, as shown by Assyrian reliefs where dignitaries assume this attitude before the king.

Hymns to the sun god were used in temple worship. Even one of Israel’s psalms (Ps. 104:19, 22) appears to be an adapted form of an Egyptian hymn, composed about 1350 B.C. to Egypt’s sun god Aten. The psalm was probably taken over from Egyptian or Canaanite sun worship and rewritten to praise Yahweh.

The winged disk was a popular symbol for the sun god in the ancient Near East. Malachi responds that justice or righteousness should not be sought from an Egyptian or Canaanite sun god, but from Yahweh, who “shall arise with healing in His wings” (Mal. 4:2).

15 Before the LORD of hosts?
So now we call the proud blessed,
For those who do wickedness are raised up;
They even tempt God and go free.’”

A Book of Remembrance

16 Then those who feared the LORD spoke to one another,
And the LORD listened and heard them;
So a book of remembrance was written before Him
For those who fear the LORD
And who meditate on His name.

17 “They shall be Mine,” says the LORD of
hosts,
“On the day that I make them My jewels.<sup>a</sup>
And I will spare them
As a man spares his own son who serves
him.”

18 Then you shall again discern
Between the righteous and the wicked,
Between one who serves God
And one who does not serve Him.

Burning like an oven,
And all the proud, yes, all who do wickedly will be stubble.

Says the LORD of hosts,
“That will leave them neither root nor branch.
<sup>2</sup> But to you who fear My name
The Sun of Righteousness shall arise
With healing in His wings;
And you shall go out
And grow fat like stall-fed calves.

<sup>3</sup> You shall trample the wicked,
For they shall be ashes under the soles of your feet
On the day that I do this,”
Says the LORD of hosts.

fathers,
Lest I come and strike the earth with a curse.”

TRANSITION*Ezra the Scribe

Artaxerxes I may have halted work on the walls of Jerusalem (Ezra 4:21), but it was still Persian policy to permit and encourage captive peoples to worship in their own ways. Following this policy, Artaxerxes allowed yet another group of exiled Jews to return to Jerusalem to establish the worship of Israel’s God. Under the leadership of a priestly scribe named Ezra, the group arrived in Jerusalem in the king’s 7th year (Ezra 7:8), which for Artaxerxes I was 458 B.C. Some scholars locate this return in 428 B.C. (the 37th year of Artaxerxes I) or in 398 B.C. (the 7th year of Artaxerxes II). See “The Book of Nehemiah” at Neh. 1:1.

In the history of the returned exiles, the figure of Ezra towers above all others. If the return from captivity in Babylon was seen as a new Exodus (and it often was), then Ezra was seen as the new Moses. Like Moses, he led the people through the wilderness with only God for protection (Ezra 8:21–23), settled disputes (Ezra 9; 10), and proclaimed the law (Neh. 8). The picture of Ezra in later Jewish tradition became even more Mosaic. There is even a legend that the Books of Moses were destroyed when the temple fell, but God miraculously restored them to Ezra.

At the same time, Ezra represents a new type of leader, never before seen in Israel. He was a religious reformer without a king. Although he arrived with the permission and approval of Artaxerxes, he did not use royal authority as a basis for his reforms. Furthermore, although much of Ezra's reform was concentrated on the temple, the temple was not the whole focus of his work, as it seemed to be to earlier priestly leaders such as Jeshua.

Ezra's focus and authority was Scripture, which at that time meant the Books of Moses. In the years before the Exile, Scripture had not been treated as particularly significant. Indeed, when a part of the Law of Moses was found and read during King Josiah's reign, the king and people had evidently never heard such a message before (2 Kin. 22:8–13). Israelite worship had been concentrated on the temple, not the law. During the Exile, though, that changed. Without a temple, the Jews had to find a new center for their faith. They became the people of the Book. In this context, a new kind of religious leader arose. The Hebrew word for these leaders, usually translated "scribes," means in a sense "bookmen," learned men who were able to read and write. Ezra represents this new sort of leader. Although he is from the high priestly line of Aaron (Ezra 7:1–5), his true authority comes from his standing as "a skilled scribe in the Law of Moses" (7:6).

In Ezra 7:27–9:15, the Book of Ezra shifts to a first-person memoir format. Ezra tells his own story. While this may not seem unusual to modern readers, it is a striking new development in biblical history. The thoughts and feelings of the human actor are more clear, but the thoughts of God are less accessible, being presented through that human's consciousness.

The arduous journey from Babylon to Jerusalem took 4 months, from the 1st month to the 5th month of the year (Ezra 7:9; 8:31). Soon upon arriving, Ezra had to address the practice of mixed marriages among the Jewish community in Judah and Jerusalem. This practice had also been a problem for the Israelites at the time of the Exodus from Egypt (Num. 25:1–9). In that original Exodus, the priest Phinehas put a stop to the practice. In this second Exodus, from Babylon, the priest Ezra took charge. An assembly was convened in the 9th month (Ezra 10:9), and a 3-month investigation of the problem undertaken from the 10th month until the 1st month of the following year (10:16, 17). Ezra had to help the Jews arrive at a new understanding of themselves and of the distinctiveness of their faith in God.

The Arrival of Ezra

7:1 Now after these things, in the reign of Artaxerxes king of Persia, Ezra the son of Seraiah, the son of Azariah, the son of Hilkiah, <sup>2</sup>the son of Shallum, the son of Zadok, the son of Ahitub, <sup>3</sup>the son of Amariah, the son of Azariah, the son of Meraioth, <sup>4</sup>the son of Zerariah, the son of Uzzi, the son of Bukki, <sup>5</sup>the son of Abishua, the son of Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the chief priest—<sup>6</sup>this Ezra came up from Babylon; and he was a skilled scribe in the Law of Moses, which the LORD God of Israel had given. The king granted him all his request, according to the hand of the LORD his God upon him. <sup>7</sup>Some of the children of Israel, the priests, the Levites, the singers, the gatekeepers, and the Nethinim came up to Jerusalem in the seventh year of King Artaxerxes. <sup>8</sup>And Ezra came to Jerusalem in the fifth month, which was in the seventh year of the king. <sup>9</sup>On the first day of the first month he began his journey from Babylon, and on the first day of the fifth month he came to Jerusalem, according to the good hand of his God upon him. <sup>10</sup>For Ezra had prepared his heart to seek the Law of the LORD, and to do it, and to teach statutes and ordinances in Israel.

<sup>13</sup> I issue a decree that all those of the people of Israel and the priests and Levites in my realm, who volunteer to go up to Jerusalem, may go with you. <sup>14</sup>And whereas you are being sent by the king and his seven counselors to inquire concerning Judah and Jerusalem, with regard to the Law of your God which is in your hand; <sup>15</sup>and whereas you are to carry the silver and gold which the king and his counselors have freely offered to the God of Israel, whose dwelling

EZRA, NEHEMIAH, AND THE PERSIAN KING (EZRA 7:1)

Three kings of the Achaemenid dynasty of Persia (559–331 B.C.) all bore the name Artaxerxes. Although the Bible does not differentiate between these three, Artaxerxes I, known as Longimanus (465–424 B.C.), is probably the monarch who is mentioned during the period of Ezra and Nehemiah.

Artaxerxes I was the son of Xerxes. Their dynasty experienced serious difficulties during both their reigns. Rebels assassinated the father Xerxes as well as Artaxerxes' brother Darius. As king, Artaxerxes himself faced trouble on different fronts, dealing with an Egyptian rebellion, which was quelled in 455 B.C., and with a rebellion of one of his own satraps in 449 B.C. He was also fearful of a rebellion in Jerusalem. Possibly for this reason Artaxerxes was not interested in continuing the rebuilding of Jerusalem (Ezra 4:7–23).

In Artaxerxes' 7th year (458 B.C.) the Jewish scribe Ezra was sent from Babylon to Jerusalem as an emissary of the Persian king. Evidently Ezra was commissioned to organize the province of Judah along Persian designs (see Ezra 7:25, 26). Artaxerxes established tax-free status for the Jerusalem temple and its personnel (Ezra 7:24).

Later Artaxerxes did allow the walls of Jerusalem to be rebuilt at the request of Nehemiah (Neh. 1:1–2:8). Nehemiah's mission to Jerusalem is dated in Artaxerxes' 20th year (445 B.C.), and the king's decision may show the city's relative political insignificance at that time.

is in Jerusalem;<sup>16</sup> and whereas all the silver and gold that you may find in all the province of Babylon, along with the freewill offering of the people and the priests, are to be freely offered for the house of their God in Jerusalem—<sup>17</sup> now therefore, be careful to buy with this money bulls, rams, and lambs, with their grain offerings and their drink offerings, and offer them on the altar of the house of your God in Jerusalem.

<sup>18</sup> And whatever seems good to you and your brethren to do with the rest of the silver and the gold, do it according to the will of your God.<sup>19</sup> Also the articles that are given to you for the service of the house of your God, deliver in full before the God of Jerusalem.<sup>20</sup> And whatever more may be needed for the house of your God, which you may have occasion to provide, pay for it from the king's treasury.

<sup>21</sup> And I, even I, Artaxerxes the king, issue a decree to all the treasurers who are in the region beyond the River, that whatever Ezra the priest, the scribe of the Law of the God of heaven, may require of you, let it be done diligently,<sup>22</sup> up to one hundred talents of silver, one hundred kors of wheat, one hundred baths of wine, one hundred baths of oil, and salt without prescribed limit.<sup>23</sup> Whatever is commanded by the God of heaven, let it diligently be done for the house of the God of heaven. For why should there be wrath against the realm of the king and his sons?

<sup>24</sup> Also we inform you that it shall not be lawful to impose tax, tribute, or custom on any of the priests, Levites, singers, gatekeepers, Nethinim, or servants of this house of God.<sup>25</sup> And you, Ezra, according to your God-given wisdom, set magistrates and judges who may judge all the people who are in the region beyond the River, all such as know the laws of your God; and teach those who do not know them.<sup>26</sup> Whoever will not observe the law of your God and the law of the king, let judgment be executed speedily on him, whether it be death, or banishment, or confiscation of goods, or imprisonment.

<sup>27</sup> Blessed be the LORD God of our fathers, who has put such a thing as this in the king's heart, to beautify the house of the LORD which is in Jerusalem,<sup>28</sup> and has extended mercy to me before the king and his counselors, and before all the king's mighty princes.

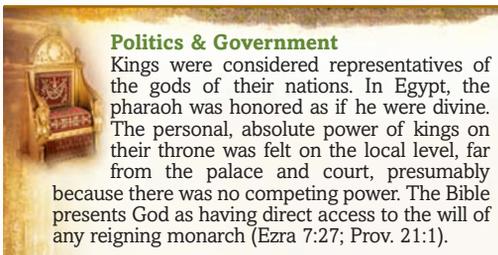

So I was encouraged, as the hand of the LORD my God was upon me; and I gathered leading men of Israel to go up with me.

Heads of Families Who Returned with Ezra

Politics & Government

Kings were considered representatives of the gods of their nations. In Egypt, the pharaoh was honored as if he were divine. The personal, absolute power of kings on their throne was felt on the local level, far from the palace and court, presumably because there was no competing power. The Bible presents God as having direct access to the will of any reigning monarch (Ezra 7:27; Prov. 21:1).

THE LEVITICAL SINGERS (EZRA 7:24)

During the time of Ezra and Nehemiah, various groups were associated with the temple, including priests, Levites, gatekeepers, singers, and Nethinim (Ezra 7:24; Neh. 7:73; 10:28). We should not think that these “singers” of the temple were merely a church choir. The role of Levitical singers went much beyond one of simply making music.

King David appointed Levitical singers to accompany the ark of the covenant as it was brought up to Jerusalem (1 Chr. 15:16–25). They transformed the hard work of a “moving day” into a joyous, holy procession of Yahweh. Levitical singers were also present under King Solomon when the ark of the covenant was placed in the temple and the first temple sacrifices were made (2 Chr. 5:7, 11, 12).

Later Judahite kings employed singers on important occasions. In the Passover celebrations led by kings Hezekiah (2 Chr. 30:21, 22) and Josiah (2 Chr. 35:15, 16), Levitical singers accompanied the sacrifices with songs of praise. Before King Jehoshaphat led his army out to battle a coalition of Ammon, Moab, and Mount Seir (Edom), the Levitical singers sang praises in the temple (2 Chr. 20:18, 19).

The Chronicler reports a function of the Levitical singers that is surprising to us today. When Jehoshaphat led his forces into battle, the singers were advancing before the Judahite army (2 Chr. 20:21, 22). It is common for armies to go into battle by marching to the beat of music. In addition, song or music, particularly the sound of horns or trumpets, was often used in antiquity as a way of communicating battle orders above the din of battle (Judg. 7:16–18; Job 39:24, 25). Thus the Levitical singers had been an important group before the Exile, but still were in Ezra’s time, as they were granted tax exemption by the Persian king Artaxerxes (Ezra 7:24).

sons of Shechaniah,<sup>a</sup> Ben-Jahaziel, and with him three hundred males;<sup>6</sup>of the sons of Adin, Ebed the son of Jonathan, and with him fifty males;<sup>7</sup>of the sons of Elam, Jeshaiiah the son of Athaliah, and with him seventy males;<sup>8</sup>of the sons of Shephatiah, Zebadiah the son of Michael, and with him eighty males;<sup>9</sup>of the sons of Joab, Obadiah the son of Jehiel, and with him two hundred and eighteen males;<sup>10</sup>of the sons of Shelomith,<sup>a</sup> Ben-Josiphiah, and with him one hundred and sixty males;<sup>11</sup>of the sons of Bebai, Zechariah the son of Bebai, and with him twenty-eight males;<sup>12</sup>of the sons of Azgad, Johanan the son of Hakkatan, and with him one hundred and ten males;<sup>13</sup>of the last sons of Adonikam, whose names are these—Eliphelet, Jeiel, and Shemaiah—and with them sixty males;<sup>14</sup>also of the sons of Bigvai, Uthai and Zabbud, and with them seventy males.

Servants for the Temple

<sup>15</sup>Now I gathered them by the river that flows to Ahava, and we camped there three days. And I looked among the people and the priests, and found none of the sons of Levi there.<sup>16</sup>Then I sent for Eliezer, Ariel, Shemaiah, Elnathan, Jarib, Elnathan, Nathan, Zechariah, and Meshullam, leaders; also for Joiarib and Elnathan, men of understanding.<sup>17</sup>And I gave them a command for Iddo the chief man at the place Casiphia, and I told them what they should say to Iddo and his brethren<sup>a</sup> the Nethinim at the place Casiphia—that they should bring us servants for the house of our God.<sup>18</sup>Then, by the good hand of our God upon us, they brought us a man of understanding, of the sons of Mahli the son of Levi, the son of Israel, namely Sherebiah, with his sons and brothers, eighteen men;<sup>19</sup>and Hashabiah, and with him Jeshaiiah of the sons of Merari, his brothers and their sons, twenty men;<sup>20</sup>also of the Nethinim, whom David and the leaders had appointed for the service of the Levites, two hundred and twenty Nethinim. All of them were designated by name.

Fasting and Prayer for Protection

<sup>21</sup>Then I proclaimed a fast there at the river of Ahava, that we might humble ourselves before our God, to seek from Him the right way for us and our little ones and all our possessions.<sup>22</sup>For I was ashamed to request of the king an escort of soldiers and horsemen to help us against the enemy on the road, because we had spoken to the king, saying, “The hand of our God is upon all those for good who seek Him, but His power and His wrath are against all those who forsake Him.”<sup>23</sup>So we fasted and entreated our God for this, and He answered our prayer.

Gifts for the Temple

<sup>24</sup>And I separated twelve of the leaders of the priests—Sherebiah, Hashabiah, and ten of their brethren with them—<sup>25</sup>and weighed out to them the silver, the gold, and the articles, the offering for the house of our God which the king and his counselors and his princes, and all Israel who were present, had offered. <sup>26</sup>I weighed into their hand six hundred and fifty talents of silver, silver articles weighing one hundred talents, one hundred talents of gold, <sup>27</sup>twenty gold basins worth a thousand drachmas, and two vessels of fine polished bronze, precious as gold. <sup>28</sup>And I said to them, “You are holy to the LORD; the articles are holy also; and the silver and the gold are a freewill offering to the LORD God of your fathers. <sup>29</sup>Watch and keep them until you weigh them before the leaders of the priests and the Levites and heads of the fathers’ houses of Israel in Jerusalem, in the chambers of the house of the LORD.” <sup>30</sup>So the priests and the Levites received the silver and the gold and the articles by weight, to bring them to Jerusalem to the house of our God.

The Return to Jerusalem

<sup>31</sup>Then we departed from the river of Ahava on the twelfth day of the first month, to go to Jerusalem. And the hand of our God was upon us, and He delivered us from the hand of the enemy and from ambush along the road. <sup>32</sup>So we came to Jerusalem, and stayed there three days.

<sup>33</sup>Now on the fourth day the silver and the gold and the articles were weighed in the house of our God by the hand of Meremoth the son of Uriah the priest, and with him was Eleazar the son of Phinehas; with them were the Levites, Jozabad the son of Jeshua and Noadiah the son of Binnui, <sup>34</sup>with the number and weight of everything. All the weight was written down at that time.

<sup>35</sup>The children of those who had been carried away captive, who had come from the captivity, offered burnt offerings to the God of Israel: twelve bulls for all Israel, ninety-six rams, seventy-seven lambs, and twelve male goats as a sin offering. All this was a burnt offering to the LORD.

<sup>36</sup>And they delivered the king’s orders to the king’s satraps and the governors in the region beyond the River. So they gave support to the people and the house of God.

Intermarriage with Pagans

9<sup>1</sup>When these things were done, the leaders came to me, saying, “The people of Israel and the priests and the Levites have not separated themselves from the peoples of the lands, with respect to the abominations of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, the Ammonites, the Moabites, the Egyptians, and the Amorites. <sup>2</sup>For they have taken some of their daughters as wives for themselves and their sons, so that the holy seed is mixed with the peoples of those lands. Indeed, the hand of the leaders and rulers has been foremost in this trespass.” <sup>3</sup>So when I heard this thing, I tore my garment and my robe, and plucked out some of the hair of my head and beard, and sat down astonished. <sup>4</sup>Then everyone who trembled at the words of the God of Israel assembled to me, because of the transgression of those who had been carried away captive, and I sat astonished until the evening sacrifice.

<sup>5</sup>At the evening sacrifice I arose from my fasting; and having torn my garment and my robe, I fell on my knees and spread out my hands

The Return from Exile

Cyrus the Persian captured Babylon in 539 b.c., opening the way for captive Judah to return to her homeland. The Edict of Cyrus in 538 b.c. allowed Jewish exiles not only to return to Judah, but also to rebuild the temple. Two major expeditions are reported among the several returning caravans. The first led by Sheshbazzar occurred soon after the edict, possibly in 537 b.c. The second led by Ezra is placed in either 458, 428, or 398 b.c.

to the LORD my God. <sup>6</sup>And I said: “O my God, I am too ashamed and humiliated to lift up my face to You, my God; for our iniquities have risen higher than our heads, and our guilt has grown up to the heavens. <sup>7</sup>Since the days of our fathers to this day we have been very guilty, and for our iniquities we, our kings, and our priests have been delivered into the hand of the kings of the lands, to the sword, to captivity, to plunder, and to humiliation, as it is this day. <sup>8</sup>And now for a little while grace has been shown from the LORD our God, to leave us a remnant to escape, and to give us a peg in His holy place, that our God may enlighten our eyes and give us a measure of revival in our bondage. <sup>9</sup>For we were slaves. Yet our God did not forsake us in our bondage; but He extended mercy to us in the sight of the kings of Persia, to revive us, to repair the house of our God, to rebuild its ruins, and to give us a wall in Judah and Jerusalem. <sup>10</sup>And now, O our God, what shall we say after this? For we have forsaken Your commandments, <sup>11</sup>which You commanded by Your servants the prophets, saying, ‘The land which you are entering to possess is an unclean land, with the uncleanness of the peoples of the lands, with their abominations which have filled it from one end to another with their impurity. <sup>12</sup>Now therefore, do not give your daughters as wives for their sons, nor take their daughters to your sons; and never seek their peace or prosperity, that you may be strong and eat the good of the land, and leave it as an inheritance to your children forever.’ <sup>13</sup>And after all that has come upon us for our evil deeds and for our great guilt, since You our God have punished us less than our iniquities deserve, and have given us such deliverance as this, <sup>14</sup>should we again break Your commandments, and join in marriage with the people committing these abominations? Would You not be angry with us until You had consumed us, so that there would be no remnant or survivor? <sup>15</sup>O LORD God of Israel, You are righteous, for we are left as a remnant, as it is this day. Here we are before You, in our guilt, though no one can stand before You because of this!”

Confession of Improper Marriages

10 <sup>1</sup>Now while Ezra was praying, and while he was confessing, weeping, and bowing down before the house of God, a very large assembly of men, women, and children gathered to him from Israel; for the people wept very bitterly. <sup>2</sup>And Shechaniah the son of Jehiel, one of the sons of Elam, spoke up and said to Ezra, “We have trespassed against our God, and have taken pagan wives from the peoples of the land; yet now there is hope in Israel in spite of this. <sup>3</sup>Now therefore, let us make a covenant with our God to put away all these wives and those who have been born to them, according to the advice of my master and of those who tremble at the commandment of our God; and let it be done according to the law. <sup>4</sup>Arise, for this matter is your responsibility. We also are with you. Be of good courage, and do it.”

<sup>5</sup>Then Ezra arose, and made the leaders of the priests, the Levites, and all Israel swear an oath that they would do according to this word. So they swore an oath. <sup>6</sup>Then Ezra rose up from before the house of God, and went into the chamber of Jehohanan the son of Eliashib; and when he came there, he ate no bread and drank no water, for he mourned because of the guilt of those from the captivity.

<sup>7</sup>And they issued a proclamation throughout Judah and Jerusalem to all the descendants of the captivity, that they must gather at Jerusalem, <sup>8</sup>and that whoever would not come within three days, according to the instructions of the leaders and elders, all his property would be confiscated, and he himself would be separated from the assembly of those from the captivity.

<sup>9</sup>So all the men of Judah and Benjamin gathered at Jerusalem within three days. It was the ninth month, on the twentieth of the month; and all the people sat in the open square of the house of God, trembling because of this matter and because of heavy rain. <sup>10</sup>Then Ezra the priest stood up and said to them, “You have transgressed and have taken pagan wives, adding to the guilt of Israel. <sup>11</sup>Now therefore, make confession to the LORD God of your fathers, and do His will; separate yourselves from the peoples of the land, and from the pagan wives.”

<sup>12</sup>Then all the assembly answered and said with a loud voice, “Yes! As you have said, so we must do. <sup>13</sup>But there are many people; it is the season for heavy rain, and we are not able to stand outside. Nor is this the work of one or two days, for there are many of us who have transgressed in this matter. <sup>14</sup>Please, let the leaders of our entire assembly stand; and let all those in our cities who have taken pagan wives come at appointed times, together with the elders and judges of their cities, until the fierce wrath of our God is turned away from us in this matter.” <sup>15</sup>Only Jonathan the son of Asahel and Jahaziah the son of Tikvah opposed this, and Meshullam and Shabbethai the Levite gave them support.

<sup>16</sup>Then the descendants of the captivity did so. And Ezra the priest, with certain heads of the fathers’ households, were set apart by the fathers’ households, each of them by name; and they sat down on the first day of the tenth month to examine the matter. <sup>17</sup>By the first day of the first month they finished questioning all the men who had taken pagan wives.

Pagan Wives Put Away

began his work in the 20th year of Artaxerxes' reign (445 B.C.; Neh. 1:1).

The chronology of Ezra and Nehemiah is perplexing. They seem to have been contemporaries in Jerusalem, but neither makes much mention of the other. Although the Book of Nehemiah recounts one incident involving Ezra (Ezra's reading of the Law of Moses to the people; Neh. 8) and twice mentions the two leaders together (Neh. 8:9; 12:26), Ezra and Nehemiah appear to have carried on their reforms separately. Also puzzling is that Ezra put an end to the practice of intermarriage between the returned Jews and the people of the land (Ezra 9; 10), yet Nehemiah had to deal with the same problem (Neh. 13:23–28). The priestly laxity that Nehemiah encountered (13:4–9) is especially strange coming so soon after Ezra's reforms.

For these reasons, many scholars believe that Ezra actually came after Nehemiah, perhaps during the reign of Artaxerxes II (404–359 B.C.). If Ezra arrived in the 7th year of this Artaxerxes' reign (Ezra 7:8), thus in about 398 B.C., Ezra's work would have been the final word in the reform efforts. Using this date, however, makes it impossible for Ezra and Nehemiah to have been contemporaries, despite Neh. 8:9; 12:26. Furthermore, Ezra's proclamation of the Law of Moses (Neh. 8) would have occurred long after Nehemiah's time.

Another proposal speculates that the number now reading "7th year" in Ezra 7:7, 8 was damaged, and originally read "37th year." If Ezra arrived in the 37th year of Artaxerxes I (about 428 B.C.), Ezra's reforms would have occurred after those of Nehemiah, but still during Nehemiah's years in Jerusalem. To change Ezra 7:7, 8 hypothetically, though, is a questionable basis for such a conclusion, and the traditional order of Ezra 7—Neh. 13 seems most likely. Ezra's reforms began in 458 B.C., but like all religious revivals, they did not affect everyone nor did they last forever. When Nehemiah arrived 13 years later, there was still much to be done.

As in the Book of Ezra, parts of the Book of Nehemiah are told in the hero's own words. From these portions, called Nehemiah's memoirs, one not only learns the history, but much about Nehemiah himself: an impatient, often difficult, but incorruptible man who sought no human reward but only to serve his God (Neh. 13:14, 22, 31).

The Book of Nehemiah

Closely associated with the Book of Ezra is the Book of Nehemiah. Where Ezra was the religious leader in Jerusalem, Nehemiah became the secular leader, the official governor of the Persian province of Judah (Neh. 5:14). Nehemiah's great concern was the ruined state of the city, left without walls since Artaxerxes I had earlier halted the repairs (Ezra 4:21). Using his position as a trusted servant in the inner court of Artaxerxes, Nehemiah obtained permission to resume that labor and complete the walls of Jerusalem. He

THE MINISTRIES OF EZRA AND NEHEMIAH

Nehemiah's arrival in Jerusalem in 445 B.C. is supported by contemporary records from Elephantine. But whether Ezra arrived in 458 B.C., well before Nehemiah, is questioned. Ezra led several reforms. Yet Nehemiah found many of the immoral behaviors which Ezra supposedly corrected still being practiced. So some scholars suppose Ezra came to Jerusalem after Nehemiah, maybe in 428 or 398 B.C.

The wall of Jerusalem is also broken down, and its gates are burned with fire.”

<sup>4</sup>So it was, when I heard these words, that I sat down and wept, and mourned for many days; I was fasting and praying before the God of heaven.

Nehemiah Sent to Jerusalem

Chislev was the Babylonian name for the 9th month of the Jewish calendar, corresponding to November-December. At that time Nehemiah had received the disquieting news from Jerusalem concerning distress among the returned exiles (Neh. 1:1–3). After more than 3 months had passed, Nehemiah was in the king’s presence during Nisan, the 1st month of the Jewish calendar (Neh. 2:1). Both Chislev and Nisan are reckoned in the 20th year of Artaxerxes (445 B.C.).

Nehemiah’s Concern for Judah

2:1 And it came to pass in the month of Nisan, in the twentieth year of King Artaxerxes, when wine was before him, that I took the wine and gave it to the king. Now I had never been sad in his presence before. <sup>2</sup>Therefore the king said to me, “Why is your face sad, since you are not sick? This is nothing but sorrow of heart.”

So I became dreadfully afraid, <sup>3</sup>and said to the king, “May the king live forever! Why should my face not be sad, when the city, the place of my fathers’ tombs, lies waste, and its gates are burned with fire?”

<sup>4</sup>Then the king said to me, “What do you request?”

Arts & Literature

Ancient itineraries like Nehemiah’s (Neh. 2:11–15) are interesting because they can be compared with the features of the land and any buildings that remain on it, in ruins or intact. The Greek writer Pausanias, who lived in the 2nd century A.D., wrote an elaborate account of his travels in Greece. He visited notable buildings and monuments that often can be seen today essentially as he described them.

So I prayed to the God of heaven. <sup>5</sup>And I said to the king, “If it pleases the king, and if your servant has found favor in your sight, I ask that you send me to Judah, to the city of my fathers’ tombs, that I may rebuild it.”

<sup>6</sup>Then the king said to me (the queen also sitting beside him), “How long will your journey be? And when will you return?” So it pleased the king to send me; and I set him a time.

<sup>7</sup>Furthermore I said to the king, “If it pleases the king, let letters be given to me for the governors of the region beyond the River,<sup>a</sup> that they must permit me to pass through till I come to Judah, <sup>8</sup>and a letter to Asaph the keeper of the king’s forest, that he must give me timber to make beams for the gates of the citadel which pertains to the temple,<sup>a</sup> for the city wall, and for the house that I will occupy.” And the king granted them to me according to the good hand of my God upon me.

<sup>9</sup>Then I went to the governors in the region beyond the River, and gave them the king’s letters. Now the king had sent captains of the army and horsemen with me. <sup>10</sup>When Sanballat the Horonite and Tobiah the Ammonite official<sup>a</sup> heard of it, they were deeply disturbed that a man had come to seek the well-being of the children of Israel.

Nehemiah Views the Wall of Jerusalem

<sup>11</sup>So I came to Jerusalem and was there three days. <sup>12</sup>Then I arose in the night, I and a few men with me; I told no one what my God had put in my heart to do at Jerusalem; nor was there any animal with me, except the one on which I rode. <sup>13</sup>And I went out by night through the Valley Gate to the Serpent Well and the Refuse Gate, and viewed the walls of Jerusalem which were broken down and its gates which were burned with fire. <sup>14</sup>Then I went on to the Fountain Gate and to the King’s Pool, but there was no room for the animal under me to pass. <sup>15</sup>So I went up in the night by the valley, and viewed the wall; then I turned back and entered by the Valley Gate, and so returned. <sup>16</sup>And the officials did not know where I had gone or what I had done; I had not yet told the Jews, the priests, the nobles, the officials, or the others who did the work.

<sup>17</sup>Then I said to them, “You see the distress that we are in, how Jerusalem lies waste, and its gates are burned with fire. Come and let us build the wall of Jerusalem, that we may no longer be a reproach.” <sup>18</sup>And I told them of the hand of my God which had been good upon me, and also of the king’s words that he had spoken to me.

GESHEM THE ARAB (NEH. 2:19)

Nehemiah names three specific opponents who attempted to thwart his plans for rebuilding the walls of Jerusalem in the mid-5th century B.C. (Neh. 2:19). Sanballat the Horonite is identified as the governor of Samaria in documents from the Jewish colony at Elephantine in southern Egypt. Tobiah, described as an “Ammonite official,” was possibly a governor over Ammon. The third opponent, Geshem the Arab, likewise was a governor under Persian rule.

The name “Geshem,” which probably means “big man” in Arabic, is often mentioned in Nabatean and northern Arabian inscriptions. Geshem was apparently an important person, since Sanballat threatened to send a letter to the Persian king quoting Geshem. The letter would have contained a false report accusing the Jews of planning to rebel against Persian rule (Neh. 6:5, 6).

Three sources possibly refer to the Geshem who opposed Nehemiah. A 5th-century B.C. Aramaic inscription from Egypt refers to a certain “Qaynu, the son of Gashmu, the king of Kedar.” Kedar was one of the main Arab groups in this period. Moreover, both a contemporary account and a king list from Dedan mention Gashmu. If Nehemiah’s “Geshem the Arab” was indeed a Kedarite king, his influence would have stretched from northern Arabia to include Judah.

So they said, “Let us rise up and build.” Then they set their hands to this good work.

<sup>19</sup>But when Sanballat the Horonite, Tobiah the Ammonite official, and Geshem the Arab heard of it, they laughed at us and despised us, and said, “What is this thing that you are doing? Will you rebel against the king?”

<sup>20</sup>So I answered them, and said to them, “The God of heaven Himself will prosper us; therefore we His servants will arise and build, but you have no heritage or right or memorial in Jerusalem.”

Rebuilding the Wall

3 <sup>1</sup>Then Eliashib the high priest rose up with his brethren the priests and built the Sheep Gate; they consecrated it and hung its doors. They built as far as the Tower of the Hundred,<sup>a</sup> and consecrated it, then as far as the Tower of Hananel. <sup>2</sup>Next to Eliashib<sup>a</sup> the men of Jericho built. And next to them Zaccur the son of Imri built.

<sup>3</sup>Also the sons of Hassenaah built the Fish Gate; they laid its beams and hung its doors with its bolts and bars. <sup>4</sup>And next to them Meremoth the son of Urijah, the son of Koz,<sup>a</sup> made repairs. Next to them Meshullam the son of Berechiah, the son of Meshezabel, made repairs. Next to them Zadok the son of Baana made repairs. <sup>5</sup>Next to them the Tekoites made repairs; but their nobles did not put their shoulders<sup>a</sup> to the work of their Lord.

<sup>6</sup>Moreover Jehoiada the son of Paseah and Meshullam the son of Besodeiah repaired the Old Gate; they laid its beams and hung its doors, with its bolts and bars. <sup>7</sup>And next to them Melatiah the Gibeonite, Jadon the Meronothite, the men of Gibeon and Mizpah, repaired the residence<sup>a</sup> of the governor of the region beyond the River. <sup>8</sup>Next to him Uzziel the son of Harhaiah, one of the goldsmiths, made repairs. Also next to him Hananiah, one<sup>a</sup> of the perfumers, made repairs; and they fortified Jerusalem as far as the Broad Wall. <sup>9</sup>And next to them Rephaiah the son of Hur, leader of half the district of Jerusalem, made repairs. <sup>10</sup>Next to them Jedaiah the son of Harumaph made repairs in front of his house. And next to him Hattush the son of Hashabniah made repairs.

<sup>11</sup>Malchijah the son of Harim and Hashub the son of Pahath-Moab repaired another section, as well as the Tower of the Ovens. <sup>12</sup>And next to him was Shallum the son of Hallohesh, leader of half the district of Jerusalem; he and his daughters made repairs.

<sup>13</sup>Hanun and the inhabitants of Zanoah repaired the Valley Gate. They built it, hung its doors with its bolts and bars, and repaired a thousand cubits of the wall as far as the Refuse Gate.

<sup>15</sup>Shallun the son of Col-Hozeh, leader of the district of Mizpah, repaired the Fountain Gate; he built it, covered it, hung its doors with its bolts and bars, and repaired the wall of the Pool of Shelah by the King’s Garden, as far as the stairs that go down from the City of David. <sup>16</sup>After him Nehemiah the son of Azbuk, leader of half the district of Beth Zur, made repairs as far as the place in front of the tombs<sup>a</sup> of David, to the man-made pool, and as far as the House of the Mighty.

The Wall Defended Against Enemies

4<sup>1</sup>But it so happened, when Sanballat heard that we were rebuilding the wall, that he was furious and very indignant, and mocked the Jews.<sup>2</sup> And he spoke before his brethren and the army of Samaria, and said, "What are these feeble Jews doing? Will they fortify themselves? Will they offer sacrifices? Will they complete it in a day? Will they revive the stones from the heaps of rubbish—stones that are burned?"

<sup>3</sup>Now Tobiah the Ammonite was beside him, and he said, "Whatever they build, if even a fox goes up on it, he will break down their stone wall."

<sup>4</sup>Hear, O our God, for we are despised; turn their reproach on their own heads, and give them as plunder to a land of captivity!<sup>5</sup> Do not cover their iniquity, and do not let their sin be blotted out from before You; for they have provoked You to anger before the builders.

<sup>6</sup>So we built the wall, and the entire wall was joined together up to half its height, for the people had a mind to work.

<sup>7</sup>Now it happened, when Sanballat, Tobiah, the Arabs, the Ammonites, and the Ashdodites heard that the walls of Jerusalem were being restored and the gaps were beginning to be closed, that they became very angry,<sup>8</sup> and all of them conspired together to come and attack Jerusalem and create confusion.<sup>9</sup> Nevertheless we made our prayer to our God, and because of them we set a watch against them day and night.

<sup>10</sup>Then Judah said, "The strength of the laborers is failing, and there is so much rubbish that we are not able to build the wall."

<sup>11</sup>And our adversaries said, "They will neither know nor see anything, till we come into their midst and kill them and cause the work to cease."

<sup>12</sup>So it was, when the Jews who dwell near them came, that they told us ten times, "From whatever place you turn, they will be upon us."

<sup>13</sup>Therefore I positioned men behind the lower parts of the wall, at the openings; and I set the people according to their families, with their swords, their spears, and their bows.<sup>14</sup> And I looked, and arose and said to the nobles, to the leaders, and to the rest of the people, "Do not be afraid of them. Remember the Lord, great and awesome, and fight for your brethren, your sons, your daughters, your wives, and your houses."

<sup>15</sup>And it happened, when our enemies heard that it was known to us, and that God had heard their plot to nothing, that all of us returned to the wall, everyone to his work.<sup>16</sup> So it was, from that time on, that half of my servants worked at construction, while the other half held the spears, the shields, the bows, and wore armor; and the leaders were behind all the house of Judah. <sup>17</sup>Those who built on the wall, and those who carried burdens, loaded themselves so that with one hand they worked at construction, and with the other held a weapon. <sup>18</sup>Every one of the builders had his sword girded at his side as he built. And the one who sounded the trumpet was beside me.

<sup>19</sup>Then I said to the nobles, the rulers, and the rest of the people, “The work is great and extensive, and we are separated far from one another on the wall. <sup>20</sup>Wherever you hear the sound of the trumpet, rally to us there. Our God will fight for us.”

<sup>21</sup>So we labored in the work, and half of the men<sup>a</sup> held the spears from daybreak until the stars appeared. <sup>22</sup>At the same time I also said to the people, “Let each man and his servant stay at night in Jerusalem, that they may be our guard by night and a working party by day.” <sup>23</sup>So neither I, my brethren, my servants, nor the men of the guard who followed me took off our clothes, except that everyone took them off for washing.

Nehemiah Deals with Oppression

5 <sup>1</sup>And there was a great outcry of the people and their wives against their Jewish brethren. <sup>2</sup>For there were those who said, “We, our sons, and our daughters are many; therefore let us get grain, that we may eat and live.”

<sup>3</sup>There were also some who said, “We have mortgaged our lands and vineyards and houses, that we might buy grain because of the famine.”

<sup>4</sup>There were also those who said, “We have borrowed money for the king’s tax on our lands and vineyards. <sup>5</sup>Yet now our flesh is as the flesh of our brethren, our children as their children; and indeed we are forcing our sons and our daughters to be slaves, and some of our daughters have been brought into slavery. It is not in our power to redeem them, for other men have our lands and vineyards.”

<sup>6</sup>And I became very angry when I heard their outcry and these words. <sup>7</sup>After serious thought, I rebuked the nobles and rulers, and said to them, “Each of you is exacting usury from his brother.” So I called a great assembly against them. <sup>8</sup>And I said to them, “According to our ability we have redeemed our Jewish brethren who were sold to the nations. Now indeed, will you even sell your brethren? Or should they be sold to us?”

Then they were silenced and found nothing to say. <sup>9</sup>Then I said, “What you are doing is not good. Should you not walk in the fear of our God because of the reproach of the nations, our enemies? <sup>10</sup>I also, with my brethren and my servants, am lending them money and grain. Please, let us stop this usury! <sup>11</sup>Restore now to them, even this day, their lands, their vineyards, their olive groves, and their houses, also a hundredth of the money and the grain, the new wine and the oil, that you have charged them.”

<sup>12</sup>So they said, “We will restore it, and will require nothing from them; we will do as you say.”

Then I called the priests, and required an oath from them that they would do according to this promise. <sup>13</sup>Then I shook out the fold of my garment<sup>a</sup> and said, “So may God shake out each man from his house, and from his property, who does not perform this promise. Even thus may he be shaken out and emptied.”

And all the assembly said, “Amen!” and praised the LORD. Then the people did according to this promise.

The Generosity of Nehemiah

<sup>14</sup>Moreover, from the time that I was appointed to be their governor in the land of Judah, from the twentieth year until the thirty-second year of King Artaxerxes, twelve years, neither I nor my brothers ate the governor’s provisions.

<sup>15</sup>But the former governors who were before me laid burdens on the people, and took from them bread and wine, besides forty shekels of silver. Yes, even their servants bore rule over the people, but I did not do so, because of the fear of God. <sup>16</sup>Indeed, I also continued the work on this wall, and we<sup>a</sup> did not buy any land. All my servants were gathered there for the work.

<sup>17</sup>And at my table were one hundred and fifty Jews and rulers, besides those who came to us from the nations around us. <sup>18</sup>Now that which was prepared daily was one ox and six choice sheep. Also fowl were prepared for me, and once every ten days an abundance of all kinds of wine. Yet in spite of this I did not demand the governor's provisions, because the bondage was heavy on this people.

<sup>19</sup>Remember me, my God, for good, according to all that I have done for this people.

Conspiracy Against Nehemiah

6 <sup>1</sup>Now it happened when Sanballat, Tobiah, Geshem the Arab, and the rest of our enemies heard that I had rebuilt the wall, and that there were no breaks left in it (though at that time I had not hung the doors in the gates), <sup>2</sup>that Sanballat and Geshem sent to me, saying, "Come, let us meet together among the villages in the plain of Ono." But they thought to do me harm.

<sup>3</sup>So I sent messengers to them, saying, "I am doing a great work, so that I cannot come down. Why should the work cease while I leave it and go down to you?"

<sup>4</sup>But they sent me this message four times, and I answered them in the same manner.

<sup>5</sup>Then Sanballat sent his servant to me as before, the fifth time, with an open letter in his hand. <sup>6</sup>In it was written:

It is reported among the nations, and Geshem<sup>a</sup> says, that you and the Jews plan to rebel; therefore, according to these rumors, you are rebuilding the wall, that you may be their king. <sup>7</sup>And you have also appointed prophets to proclaim concerning you at Jerusalem, saying, "There is a king in Judah!" Now these matters will be reported to the king. So come, therefore, and let us consult together.

Culture & Society

The economy of the ancient world had practically no middle class. Like modern corporations, rich men and rulers had many dependents who, socially, were retainers, servants, and slaves. The powerful person was responsible to protect his clients and slaves. It was a mark of shame to a ruler if his dependents were not protected or did not have enough to eat "at his table" (Neh. 5:17).

<sup>8</sup>Then I sent to him, saying, "No such things as you say are being done, but you invent them in your own heart."

<sup>9</sup>For they all were trying to make us afraid, saying, "Their hands will be weakened in the work, and it will not be done."

Now therefore, O God, strengthen my hands.

<sup>10</sup>Afterward I came to the house of Shemiah the son of Delaiah, the son of Mehetabel, who was a secret informer; and he said, "Let us meet together in the house of God, within the temple, and let us close the doors of the temple, for they are coming to kill you; indeed, at night they will come to kill you."

<sup>11</sup>And I said, "Should such a man as I flee? And who is there such as I who would go into the temple to save his life? I will not go in!" <sup>12</sup>Then I perceived that God had not sent him at all, but that he pronounced this prophecy against me because Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him. <sup>13</sup>For this reason he was hired, that I should be afraid and act that way and sin, so that they might have cause for an evil report, that they might reproach me.

<sup>14</sup>My God, remember Tobiah and Sanballat, according to these their works, and the prophetess Noadiah and the rest of the prophets who would have made me afraid.

Building the Walls

The rebuilding of the walls was completed in only 52 days (Neh. 6:15). This span of time occurred during the 5th and 6th months, known as Ab and Elul. Faced with difficult circumstances, but with God's help, Nehemiah was able to accomplish his first task just 5 months after requesting permission of the Persian emperor in the 1st month (Nisan) of the Jewish year (Neh. 2:1–5).

ARAMAIC WRITINGS AT ELEPHANTINE (NEH. 7:7)

Elephantine is an island in the Nile River in Upper Egypt, near the city of Aswan. The Judeans who settled in Egypt during the Babylonian exile developed thriving Jewish communities there. The Elephantine Jewish colony left an impressive collection of papyri and ostraca (fragmented pottery, often with portions of inscriptions on them). Many of these papyri and ostraca tell us much about the world of these 5th-century B.C. Jews.

In this period, Elephantine was a mercenary garrison of the Achaemenid dynasty of Persia (559–331 B.C.). The Jews of Elephantine wrote in the Aramaic language, the international language of commerce at that time. Included in the Aramaic collection are many literary works which come from the time of Darius I (522–486 B.C.), confirming that this Persian king sent documents throughout the empire (see Dan. 6:25). Over thirty private letters in Aramaic have been uncovered, as well as numerous legal contracts concerning marriage, adoption, property transfer, and release from slavery.

The Elephantine writings also contain lists consisting of Egyptian, Jewish, Aramaic, and Accadian personal names. Many of these names show variant spellings, very similar to the variant spellings found in lists of personal names in the Bible. Among the names listed in Neh. 7 are two examples of differing spellings: Mispereth and Nehum (Neh. 7:7). In the list of people who returned from Babylon with Zerubbabel (Ezra 2), “Mispereth” is spelled “Mispār” and “Nehum” is spelled “Rehum” (Ezra 2:2; see footnote).

married the daughter of Meshullam the son of Berechiah. <sup>19</sup>Also they reported his good deeds before me, and reported my words to him. Tobiah sent letters to frighten me.

7 <sup>1</sup>Then it was, when the wall was built and I had hung the doors, when the gatekeepers, the singers, and the Levites had been appointed, <sup>2</sup>that I gave the charge of Jerusalem to my brother Hanani, and Hananiah the leader of the citadel, for he was a faithful man and feared God more than many.

<sup>3</sup>And I said to them, “Do not let the gates of Jerusalem be opened until the sun is hot; and while they stand guard, let them shut and bar the doors; and appoint guards from among the inhabitants of Jerusalem, one at his watch station and another in front of his own house.”

The Captives Who Returned to Jerusalem

<sup>4</sup>Now the city was large and spacious, but the people in it were few, and the houses were not rebuilt. <sup>5</sup>Then my God put it into my heart to gather the nobles, the rulers, and the people, that they might be registered by genealogy. ### Trade & Economics

A daric was a gold coin first issued by the Persian king Darius and named for him. It was one of the very first coinages, appearing in 517 B.C. Darics were widely imitated, and the name was used for amounts of money, not necessarily the literal coin. The name "drachma" (Neh. 7:70) reflects the later spread of coinage to Greece.

TRANSITION

Ezra Reads the Law

At Neh. 7:73 the Book of Nehemiah changes. First, the narrative is no longer told in Nehemiah's own words; the governor's memoir is temporarily suspended. Second, the main character in Neh. 7:73—8:18 is not Nehemiah but Ezra the scribe (who is not mentioned at all in Neh. 1—7).

These sudden changes are made much more striking by another curiosity. The apocryphal book of 3 Esdras and the writings of the Jewish historian Josephus both tell the story of Ezra, but in those accounts, the event described in Neh. 8 comes immediately after Ezra 10. In other words, in those ancient texts, Neh. 8 is not a part of the story of Nehemiah at all, but instead a part of the story of Ezra. Many scholars suggest that Neh. 8 was once a part of the Book of Ezra, but was later placed in the middle of the Book of Nehemiah by the editing process that tied these books together.

If Neh. 8 was originally part of the Book of Ezra, then it is uncertain when Ezra read the Law of Moses in the square (Neh. 8:1–3). Nevertheless, it is at least possible to read Neh. 8 following the building of the walls. According to Neh. 8:9, Nehemiah was present at Ezra's reading, and such an event would have been an appropriate way to dedicate the recently completed city walls.

It is also possible to read Neh. 8—10 in the context of the people renewing their covenant with God. The 7th month, Tishri (Neh. 7:73b), corresponding to September–October, was an important time of festival assemblies. The walls had been completed in the preceding month of Elul (Neh. 6:15), and the timing was now right to gather in Jerusalem for festival celebration and covenant renewal. On the 1st day of the month Ezra read the Law (8:2); for 7 days during the month the people observed the Feast of Tabernacles (8:18); and on the 24th day they made a public confession of sins (9:1–3). Finally, the leaders publicly signed the covenant (10:1–27), and the people, beginning with the priesthood, joined the covenant by taking an oath (10:28, 29).

• Nehemiah 7:73b—10:39

Nehemiah

7 :73b When the seventh month came, the children of Israel were in their cities.

Proclaiming the Mosaic Law

8 <sup>1</sup>Now all the people gathered together as one man in the open square that was in front of the Water Gate; and they told Ezra the scribe to bring the Book of the Law of Moses, which the LORD had commanded Israel. <sup>2</sup>So Ezra the priest brought the Law before the assembly of men and women and all who could hear with understanding on the first day of the seventh month. <sup>3</sup>Then he read from it in the open square that was in front of the Water Gate from morning until midday, before the men and women and those who could understand; and the ears of all the people were attentive to the Book of the Law.

<sup>5</sup>And Ezra opened the book in the sight of all the people, for he was standing above all the people; and when he opened it, all the people stood up.

<sup>6</sup>And Ezra blessed the LORD, the great God.

Then all the people answered, "Amen, Amen!" while lifting up their hands. And they bowed their heads and worshiped the LORD with their faces to the ground.

<sup>7</sup>Also Jeshua, Bani, Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodijah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, Pelaiah, and the Levites, helped the people to understand the Law; and the people stood in their place. <sup>8</sup>So they read distinctly from the book, in the Law of God; and they gave the sense, and helped them to understand the reading.

<sup>9</sup>And Nehemiah, who was the governor,<sup>a</sup> Ezra the priest and scribe, and the Levites who taught the people said to all the people, “This day is holy to the LORD your God; do not mourn nor weep.” For all the people wept, when they heard the words of the Law.

<sup>10</sup>Then he said to them, “Go your way, eat the fat, drink the sweet, and send portions to those for whom nothing is prepared; for this day is holy to our Lord. Do not sorrow, for the joy of the LORD is your strength.”

<sup>11</sup>So the Levites quieted all the people, saying, “Be still, for the day is holy; do not be grieved.” <sup>12</sup>And all the people went their way to eat and drink, to send portions and rejoice greatly, because they understood the words that were declared to them.

The Feast of Tabernacles

<sup>13</sup>Now on the second day the heads of the fathers' houses of all the people, with the priests and Levites, were gathered to Ezra the scribe, in order to understand the words of the Law. <sup>14</sup>And they found written in the Law, which the LORD had commanded by Moses, that the children of Israel should dwell in booths during the feast of the seventh month, <sup>15</sup>and that they should announce and proclaim in all their cities and in Jerusalem, saying, “Go out to the mountain, and bring olive branches, branches of oil trees, myrtle branches, palm branches, and branches of leafy trees, to make booths, as it is written.”

<sup>16</sup>Then the people went out and brought them and made themselves booths, each one on the roof of his house, or in their courtyards or the courts of the house of God, and in the open square of the Water Gate and in the open square of the Gate of Ephraim. <sup>17</sup>So the whole assembly of those who had returned from the captivity made booths and sat under the booths; for since the days of Joshua the son of Nun until that day the children of Israel had not done so. And there was very great gladness. <sup>18</sup>Also day by day, from the first day until the last day, he read from the Book of the Law of God. And they kept the feast seven days; and on the eighth day there was a sacred assembly, according to the prescribed manner.

The People Confess Their Sins

<sup>4</sup>Then Jeshua, Bani, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani, and Chenani stood on the stairs of the Levites and cried out with a loud voice to the LORD their God. <sup>5</sup>And the Levites, Jeshua, Kadmiel, Bani, Hashabniah, Sherebiah, Hodijah, Shebaniah, and Pethahiah, said:

“Stand up and bless the LORD your God
Forever and ever!

“Blessed be Your glorious name,
Which is exalted above all blessing and praise!

<sup>6</sup> You alone are the LORD;
You have made heaven,
The heaven of heavens, with all their host,
The earth and everything on it,
The seas and all that is in them,
And You preserve them all.
The host of heaven worships You.

<sup>7</sup> “You are the LORD God,
Who chose Abram,
And brought him out of Ur of the Chaldeans,
And gave him the name Abraham;
<sup>8</sup> You found his heart faithful before You,
And made a covenant with him
To give the land of the Canaanites,
The Hittites, the Amorites,
The Perizzites, the Jebusites,
And the Girgashites—
To give it to his descendants.
You have performed Your words,
For You are righteous.

<sup>9</sup> “You saw the affliction of our fathers in Egypt,
And heard their cry by the Red Sea.
<sup>10</sup> You showed signs and wonders against Pharaoh,
Against all his servants,
And against all the people of his land.
For You knew that they acted proudly against them.

8:9 <sup>a</sup>Hebrew Tirshatha 9:1 <sup>a</sup>Literally earth on them

- So You made a name for Yourself, as it is this day.
- 11 And You divided the sea before them, So that they went through the midst of the sea on the dry land; And their persecutors You threw into the deep, As a stone into the mighty waters.
- 12 Moreover You led them by day with a cloudy pillar, And by night with a pillar of fire, To give them light on the road Which they should travel.
- 13 “You came down also on Mount Sinai, And spoke with them from heaven, And gave them just ordinances and true laws, Good statutes and commandments.
- 14 You made known to them Your holy Sabbath, And commanded them precepts, statutes and laws, By the hand of Moses Your servant.
- 15 You gave them bread from heaven for their hunger, And brought them water out of the rock for their thirst, And told them to go in to possess the land Which You had sworn to give them.
- 16 “But they and our fathers acted proudly, Hardened their necks, And did not heed Your commandments.
- 17 They refused to obey, And they were not mindful of Your wonders That You did among them. But they hardened their necks, And in their rebellion<sup>a</sup> They appointed a leader To return to their bondage. But You are God, Ready to pardon, Gracious and merciful, Slow to anger, Abundant in kindness, And did not forsake them.
- 18 “Even when they made a molded calf for themselves, And said, ‘This is your god That brought you up out of Egypt,’
- And worked great provocations,
- 19 Yet in Your manifold mercies You did not forsake them in the wilderness. The pillar of the cloud did not depart from them by day, To lead them on the road; Nor the pillar of fire by night, To show them light, And the way they should go.
- 20 You also gave Your good Spirit to instruct them, And did not withhold Your manna from their mouth, And gave them water for their thirst.
- 21 Forty years You sustained them in the wilderness; They lacked nothing; Their clothes did not wear out<sup>a</sup> And their feet did not swell.
- 22 “Moreover You gave them kingdoms and nations, And divided them into districts.<sup>a</sup> So they took possession of the land of Sihon, The land of<sup>b</sup> the king of Heshbon, And the land of Og king of Bashan.
- 23 You also multiplied their children as the stars of heaven, And brought them into the land Which You had told their fathers To go in and possess.
- 24 So the people went in And possessed the land; You subdued before them the inhabitants of the land, The Canaanites, And gave them into their hands, With their kings And the people of the land, That they might do with them as they wished.
- 25 And they took strong cities and a rich land, And possessed houses full of all goods, Cisterns already dug, vineyards, olive groves, And fruit trees in abundance. So they ate and were filled and grew fat, And delighted themselves in Your great goodness.
- 26 “Nevertheless they were disobedient And rebelled against You, Cast Your law behind their backs And killed Your prophets, who testified against them To turn them to Yourself; And they worked great provocations.

- 27 Therefore You delivered them into the hand of their enemies,
Who oppressed them;
And in the time of their trouble,
When they cried to You,
You heard from heaven;
And according to Your abundant mercies
You gave them deliverers who saved them
From the hand of their enemies.
- 28 “But after they had rest,
They again did evil before You.
Therefore You left them in the hand of their enemies,
So that they had dominion over them;
Yet when they returned and cried out to You,
You heard from heaven;
And many times You delivered them
according to Your mercies,
- 29 And testified against them,
That You might bring them back to Your law.
Yet they acted proudly,
And did not heed Your commandments,
But sinned against Your judgments,
“Which if a man does, he shall live by them.”<sup>a</sup>
And they shrugged their shoulders,
Stiffened their necks,
And would not hear.
- 30 Yet for many years You had patience with them,
And testified against them by Your Spirit in Your prophets.
Yet they would not listen;
Therefore You gave them into the hand of the peoples of the lands.
- 31 Nevertheless in Your great mercy
You did not utterly consume them nor forsake them;
For You are God, gracious and merciful.
- 32 “Now therefore, our God,
The great, the mighty, and awesome God,
Who keeps covenant and mercy:
Do not let all the trouble seem small before You
That has come upon us,

- Our kings and our princes,
Our priests and our prophets,
Our fathers and on all Your people,
From the days of the kings of Assyria until this day.
- 33 However You are just in all that has befallen us;
For You have dealt faithfully,
But we have done wickedly.
- 34 Neither our kings nor our princes,
Our priests nor our fathers,
Have kept Your law,
Nor heeded Your commandments and Your testimonies,
With which You testified against them.
- 35 For they have not served You in their kingdom,
Or in the many good things that You gave them,
Or in the large and rich land which You set before them;
Nor did they turn from their wicked works.
- 36 “Here we are, servants today!
And the land that You gave to our fathers,
To eat its fruit and its bounty,
Here we are, servants in it!
- 37 And it yields much increase to the kings
You have set over us,
Because of our sins;
Also they have dominion over our bodies and our cattle
At their pleasure;
And we are in great distress.
- 38 “And because of all this,
We make a sure covenant and write it;
Our leaders, our Levites, and our priests seal it.”

The People Who Sealed the Covenant

10 <sup>1</sup>Now those who placed their seal on the document were:

Nehemiah the governor, the son of Hacaliah, and Zedekiah, <sup>2</sup>Seraiah, Azariah, Jeremiah, <sup>3</sup>Pashhur, Amariah, Malchijah, <sup>4</sup>Hattush, Shebaniah, Malluch, <sup>5</sup>Harim, Meremoth, Obadiah, <sup>6</sup>Daniel, Ginnethon, Baruch, <sup>7</sup>Meshullam, Abijah, Mijamin, <sup>8</sup>Maaziah, Bilgai, and Shemaiah. These were the priests.

Culture & Society

A covenant is a written agreement or contract between two or more parties. Covenants spell out obligations and rights and may also prescribe penalties. In biblical times the written word had an aura of permanence and authority that is more diluted today when so much more is recorded. Thus Nehemiah and the leaders speak of the “sure covenant” which they had written (Neh. 9:38).

TITHE AND LOYALTY (NEH. 10:37, 38)

An old Canaanite tribute called the “tenth” or “tithes” was payment of a lesser important king to a more powerful one. Tablets from the ancient city of Ugarit, located on the Mediterranean coast, mention such a payment. A king of a smaller village would pay the 10 percent tax, as a representative for his city. His payment was a sign of loyalty to the regional ruler. In return, the more powerful king was obligated to protect those subjects who had paid their tithes.

In the Bible, the payment of tithes became a sign of loyalty to the Israelite God (Mal. 3:8–10). The tithe was taken from the harvest and the herds, both of which were crucial to Israel’s physical existence (Deut. 14:22, 23). Bringing God His just due obligated Him to His duties as Savior and Protector (Mal. 3:11). So it was that Nehemiah led the postexilic Jewish community, much in need of God’s protection, in the bringing of the tithes to the Levites and to the temple.

The Covenant That Was Sealed

<sup>28</sup>Now the rest of the people—the priests, the Levites, the gatekeepers, the singers, the Nethinim, and all those who had separated themselves from the peoples of the lands to the Law of God, their wives, their sons, and their daughters, everyone who had knowledge and understanding—<sup>29</sup>these joined with their brethren, their nobles, and entered into a curse and an oath to walk in God’s Law, which was given by Moses the servant of God, and to observe and do all the commandments of the LORD our Lord, and His ordinances and His statutes: <sup>30</sup>We would not give our daughters as wives to the peoples of the land, nor take their daughters for our sons; <sup>31</sup>if the peoples of the land brought wares or any grain to sell on the Sabbath day, we would not buy it from them on the Sabbath, or on a holy day; and we would forego the seventh year’s produce and the exacting of every debt.

<sup>32</sup>Also we made ordinances for ourselves, to exact from ourselves yearly one-third of a shekel for the service of the house of our God: <sup>33</sup>for the showbread, for the regular grain offering, for the regular burnt offering of the Sabbaths, the New Moons, and the set feasts; for the holy things, for the sin offerings to make atonement for Israel, and all the work of the house of our God. <sup>34</sup>We cast lots among the priests, the Levites, and the people, for bringing the wood offering into the house of our God, according to our fathers’ houses, at the appointed times year by year, to burn on the altar of the LORD our God as it is written in the Law.

<sup>35</sup>And we made ordinances to bring the firstfruits of our ground and the firstfruits of all fruit of all trees, year by year, to the house of the LORD; <sup>36</sup>to bring the firstborn of our sons and our cattle, as it is written in the Law, and the firstborn of our herds and our flocks, to the house of our God, to the priests who minister in the house of our God; <sup>37</sup>to bring the firstfruits of our dough, our offerings, the fruit from all kinds of trees, the new wine and oil, to the priests, to the storerooms of the house of our God; and to bring the tithes of our land to the Levites, for the Levites should receive the tithes in all our farming communities. <sup>38</sup>And the priest, the descendant of Aaron, shall be with the Levites when the Levites receive tithes; and the Levites shall bring up a tenth of the tithes to the house of our God, to the rooms of the storehouse.

<sup>39</sup>For the children of Israel and the children of Levi shall bring the offering of the grain, of the new wine and the oil, to the storerooms where the articles of the sanctuary are, where the priests who minister and the gatekeepers and the singers are; and we will not neglect the house of our God.

TRANSITION

Wisdom Psalms

The wisdom tradition was one of the most enduring of all ancient Near Eastern traditions, but as time passed it changed slightly, at least in Israel. Some late books of Jewish wisdom place new stress on reverence toward, and obedience to, the Torah. This new Torah-centered teaching, often called “scribal wisdom,” was not typical of earlier wisdom writings like the Book of Proverbs. It does appear, however, in the apocryphal book of Ecclesiasticus, written about 180 B.C. and also known as The Wisdom of Jesus Son of Sirach.

A few hints of scribal wisdom do appear in the “wisdom psalms.” These few psalms offer calm and measured advice, drawing simple distinctions between the righteous and the wicked in ways reminiscent of the Book of Proverbs. The entire Book of Psalms is introduced by one of these wisdom psalms (Ps. 1), which describes in stark contrast the lifestyle of the righteous (1:1–3) and of the wicked (1:4, 5).

One psalm especially fits the description of scribal wisdom. The longest psalm in the Book of Psalms (Ps. 119) offers an extended meditation on the beauty and usefulness of the Torah. It even uses the literary device of alphabetic acrostic, which is typical of wisdom writings (for instance, Prov. 31:10–31). Each verse within a particular stanza of the Hebrew Ps. 119 begins with the same letter of the Hebrew alphabet.

Many other psalms, while not as clearly wisdom psalms, contain elements of wisdom thought. For instance, Ps. 49 speaks on a favorite wisdom theme, the vanity of worldly wealth, and Ps. 111 uses the wisdom slogan “the fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom” (111:10; see Prov. 1:7). The contrast between the righteous and the wicked appears in parts of Ps. 36, 37, 91, and 112.

Still, most of the psalms that contain wisdom elements are not exclusively wisdom psalms, but can be classed as other psalm types. For example, Ps. 111 is a hymn (see “The Last Word in Praise” at Ps. 104). Even Ps. 91 is a mixed psalm. Its meditative tone and its reflection on the fate of the wicked provide a strong wisdom flavor. Yet Ps. 91 could easily be understood as a song of trust (see “David’s Laments” at Ps. 4).

The three psalms (Ps. 1; 91; 119) are without any superscription or any other indication of their date. Nevertheless, the “scribal wisdom” of Ps. 1 and 119 is likely related to the new emphasis on the Scripture that characterized Judaism after the Exile. Just as a new sort of priestly leader developed in the position of the scribe (see “Ezra the Scribe” at Ezra 7:1), so a new Torah-centered type of wisdom developed in the new world that the returned exiles faced.

PSALM 1

The Way of the Righteous and the End of the Ungodly

Blessed is the man
Who walks not in the counsel of the ungodly,
Nor stands in the path of sinners,
Nor sits in the seat of the scornful;
2 But his delight is in the law of the LORD,
And in His law he meditates day and night.

Agriculture & Herding

After grain is harvested, the edible kernels have to be separated from the stem and leaves. This is done by crushing or tearing the plants. The broken grain is thrown into the wind, allowing the waste parts, “the chaff” (Ps. 1:4), to blow away while the heavier kernels fall to the ground. This winnowing of chaff from kernels was a familiar part of village life in Palestine.

- 3 He shall be like a tree
Planted by the rivers of water,
That brings forth its fruit in its season,
Whose leaf also shall not wither;
And whatever he does shall prosper.
- 4 The ungodly are not so,
But are like the chaff which the wind drives
away.
- 5 Therefore the ungodly shall not stand in the judgment,
Nor sinners in the congregation of the
righteous.
- 6 For the LORD knows the way of the righteous,
But the way of the ungodly shall perish.

Arts & Literature

The poetic imagery in Ps. 91:5, 6 stands for the calamities that might happen at night or day, whether warfare, sickness, robbery, or death. In the ancient world each of these was thought to be a god. The psalmist thus refers to powers that threaten human life, but also to God’s power over all events. God’s protection is continuous through night and day.

PSALM 91

Safety of Abiding in the Presence of God

- He who dwells in the secret place of the Most High
Shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty.
- 2 I will say of the LORD, “*He is my refuge and my fortress;
My God, in Him I will trust.*”
- 3 Surely He shall deliver you from the snare of the fowler<sup>a</sup>
And from the perilous pestilence.
- 4 He shall cover you with His feathers,
And under His wings you shall take refuge;
His truth shall be your shield and buckler.
- 5 You shall not be afraid of the terror by
night,
*Nor of the arrow that flies by day,
Nor of the pestilence that walks in
darkness,
Nor of the destruction that lays waste at noonday.*
- 7 A thousand may fall at your side,
And ten thousand at your right hand;

91:3 <sup>a</sup>That is, one who catches birds in a trap or snare

8 But it shall not come near you.
 Only with your eyes shall you look,
 And see the reward of the wicked.
 9 Because you have made the LORD, who is my refuge,
     Even the Most High, your dwelling place,
 10 No evil shall befall you,
 Nor shall any plague come near your dwelling;
 11 For He shall give His angels charge over you,
 To keep you in all your ways.
 12 In their hands they shall bear you up,
 Lest you dash your foot against a stone.
 13 You shall tread upon the lion and the cobra,
 The young lion and the serpent you shall trample underfoot.
 14 “Because he has set his love upon Me,
     therefore I will deliver him;
 I will set him on high, because he has known My name.
 15 He shall call upon Me, and I will answer him;
 I will be with him in trouble;
 I will deliver him and honor him.
 16 With long life I will satisfy him,
 And show him My salvation.”

Meditations on the Excellencies of the Word of God

א ALEPH

Blessed are the undefiled in the way,
 Who walk in the law of the LORD!
 2 Blessed are those who keep His testimonies,
 Who seek Him with the whole heart!
 3 They also do no iniquity;
 They walk in His ways.
 4 You have commanded us
 To keep Your precepts diligently.
 5 Oh, that my ways were directed
 To keep Your statutes!
 6 Then I would not be ashamed,
 When I look into all Your commandments.
 7 I will praise You with uprightness of heart,
 When I learn Your righteous judgments.
 8 I will keep Your statutes;
 Oh, do not forsake me utterly!

ב BETH

9 How can a young man cleanse his way?
 By taking heed according to Your word.
 10 With my whole heart I have sought You;
 Oh, let me not wander from Your
     commandments!

11 Your word I have hidden in my heart,
 That I might not sin against You.
 12 Blessed are You, O LORD!
 Teach me Your statutes.
 13 With my lips I have declared
 All the judgments of Your mouth.
 14 I have rejoiced in the way of Your testimonies,
     As much as in all riches.
 15 I will meditate on Your precepts,
 And contemplate Your ways.
 16 I will delight myself in Your statutes;
 I will not forget Your word.

ג GIMEL

17 Deal bountifully with Your servant,
     That I may live and keep Your word.
 18 Open my eyes, that I may see
 Wondrous things from Your law.
 19 I am a stranger in the earth;
 Do not hide Your commandments from me.
 20 My soul breaks with longing
 For Your judgments at all times.
 21 You rebuke the proud—the cursed,
 Who stray from Your commandments.
 22 Remove from me reproach and contempt,
 For I have kept Your testimonies.
 23 Princes also sit and speak against me,
     But Your servant meditates on Your statutes.
 24 Your testimonies also are my delight
     And my counselors.

ד DALETH

25 My soul clings to the dust;
 Revive me according to Your word.
 26 I have declared my ways, and You answered me;
     Teach me Your statutes.
 27 Make me understand the way of Your precepts;
     So shall I meditate on Your wonderful
     works.
 28 My soul melts from heaviness;
 Strengthen me according to Your word.
 29 Remove from me the way of lying,
 And grant me Your law graciously.

The acrostic is a common device in biblical poetry. In an acrostic poem, each line or series of lines begins with a certain letter. Usually the letters follow the order of the alphabet from beginning to end. The purpose is to aid in memorization (Ps. 119:16), or to give the composition a sense of completeness. Each of the 22 stanzas in Ps. 119 has lines beginning with the same Hebrew letter.

30 I have chosen the way of truth;
Your judgments I have laid before me.
31 I cling to Your testimonies;
O LORD, do not put me to shame!
32 I will run the course of Your
commandments,
For You shall enlarge my heart.

7 HE

33 Teach me, O LORD, the way of Your statutes,
And I shall keep it to the end.
34 Give me understanding, and I shall keep Your law;
Indeed, I shall observe it with my whole
heart.
35 Make me walk in the path of Your
commandments,
For I delight in it.
36 Incline my heart to Your testimonies,
And not to covetousness.
37 Turn away my eyes from looking at worthless things,
And revive me in Your way.<sup>a</sup>
38 Establish Your word to Your servant,
Who is devoted to fearing You.
39 Turn away my reproach which I dread,
For Your judgments are good.
40 Behold, I long for Your precepts;
Revive me in Your righteousness.

1 WAW

41 Let Your mercies come also to me, O LORD—
Your salvation according to Your word.
42 So shall I have an answer for him who reproaches me,
For I trust in Your word.
43 And take not the word of truth utterly out of my mouth,
For I have hoped in Your ordinances.
44 So shall I keep Your law continually,
Forever and ever.
45 And I will walk at liberty,
For I seek Your precepts.
46 I will speak of Your testimonies also before kings,
And will not be ashamed.
47 And I will delight myself in Your
commandments,
Which I love.
48 My hands also I will lift up to Your commandments,
Which I love,
And I will meditate on Your statutes.

† ZAYIN

49 Remember the word to Your servant,
Upon which You have caused me to hope.
50 This is my comfort in my affliction,

For Your word has given me life.
51 The proud have me in great derision,
Yet I do not turn aside from Your law.
52 I remembered Your judgments of old, O
LORD,
And have comforted myself.
53 Indignation has taken hold of me
Because of the wicked, who forsake Your law.
54 Your statutes have been my songs
In the house of my pilgrimage.
55 I remember Your name in the night, O
LORD,
And I keep Your law.
56 This has become mine,
Because I kept Your precepts.

7 HETH

57 You are my portion, O LORD;
I have said that I would keep Your words.
58 I entreated Your favor with my whole heart;
Be merciful to me according to Your word.
59 I thought about my ways,
And turned my feet to Your testimonies.
60 I made haste, and did not delay
To keep Your commandments.
61 The cords of the wicked have bound me,
But I have not forgotten Your law.
62 At midnight I will rise to give thanks to
You,
Because of Your righteous judgments.
63 I am a companion of all who fear You,
And of those who keep Your precepts.
64 The earth, O LORD, is full of Your mercy;
Teach me Your statutes.

7 TETH

65 You have dealt well with Your servant,
O LORD, according to Your word.
66 Teach me good judgment and knowledge,
For I believe Your commandments.
67 Before I was afflicted I went astray,
But now I keep Your word.
68 You are good, and do good;
Teach me Your statutes.
69 The proud have forged a lie against me,
But I will keep Your precepts with my whole heart.
70 Their heart is as fat as grease,
But I delight in Your law.
71 It is good for me that I have been afflicted,
That I may learn Your statutes.
72 The law of Your mouth is better to me
Than thousands of coins of gold and silver.

119:37 <sup>a</sup>Following Masoretic Text, Septuagint, and Vulgate; Targum reads Your words.

LIGHTS FOR THE NIGHT (Ps. 119:105)

In Old Testament times people used small lamps to furnish artificial light. Ancient lamps were essentially small ceramic bowls that were customized during construction to have a “nose” on one edge. The purpose of this extension was to hold a wick. Wicks of cloth were laid in the nose and extended into the oil in the lamp’s bowl.

The light produced was not brilliant but necessary for finding one’s way. In Ps. 119:105 the writer compares God’s word with a lamp. While the light from that word does not blind the eyes, it does point the way for its hearers.

• YOD

73 Your hands have made me and fashioned me;
Give me understanding, that I may learn Your commandments.

74 Those who fear You will be glad when they see me,
Because I have hoped in Your word.

75 I know, O LORD, that Your judgments are right,
And that in faithfulness You have afflicted me.

76 Let, I pray, Your merciful kindness be for my comfort,
According to Your word to Your servant.

77 Let Your tender mercies come to me, that I may live;
For Your law is my delight.

78 Let the proud be ashamed,
For they treated me wrongfully with falsehood;
But I will meditate on Your precepts.

79 Let those who fear You turn to me,
Those who know Your testimonies.

80 Let my heart be blameless regarding Your statutes,
That I may not be ashamed.

▷ KAPH

81 My soul faints for Your salvation,
But I hope in Your word.

82 My eyes fail from searching Your word,
Saying, “When will You comfort me?”

83 For I have become like a wineskin in smoke,
Yet I do not forget Your statutes.

84 How many are the days of Your servant?
When will You execute judgment on those who persecute me?

85 The proud have dug pits for me,
Which is not according to Your law.

86 All Your commandments are faithful;
They persecute me wrongfully;
Help me!

87 They almost made an end of me on earth,
But I did not forsake Your precepts.

88 Revive me according to Your lovingkindness,

So that I may keep the testimony of Your mouth.

↳ LAMED

89 Forever, O LORD,
Your word is settled in heaven.

90 Your faithfulness endures to all generations;
You established the earth, and it abides.

91 They continue this day according to Your ordinances,
For all are Your servants.

92 Unless Your law had been my delight,
I would then have perished in my affliction.

93 I will never forget Your precepts,
For by them You have given me life.

94 I am Yours, save me;
For I have sought Your precepts.

95 The wicked wait for me to destroy me,
But I will consider Your testimonies.

96 I have seen the consummation of all perfection,
But Your commandment is exceedingly broad.

▷ MEM

97 Oh, how I love Your law!
It is my meditation all the day.

98 You, through Your commandments, make me wiser than my enemies;
For they are ever with me.

99 I have more understanding than all my teachers,
For Your testimonies are my meditation.

100 I understand more than the ancients,
Because I keep Your precepts.

101 I have restrained my feet from every evil way,
That I may keep Your word.

102 I have not departed from Your judgments,
For You Yourself have taught me.

103 How sweet are Your words to my taste,
Sweeter than honey to my mouth!

104 Through Your precepts I get understanding;
Therefore I hate every false way.

Your name.

 Seek Your servant,

The Names of the Returned Exiles

By the end of Nehemiah's labors, when Jerusalem stood whole once more, a new spirit seems to have come over the people. They were proud to be Jews, proud of their holy city, and conscious of having been a part of a great restoration. Perhaps as a part of this new pride, the Jews of Jerusalem had their names preserved and recorded alongside the names of other restoration leaders, from the days of Zerubbabel and Jeshua (Neh. 12:1) to the days of Ezra and Nehemiah (12:26). Now all that was left was to dedicate the new walls of the city (12:27–30).

The People Dwelling in Jerusalem

11 :1 Now the leaders of the people dwelt at Jerusalem; the rest of the people cast lots to bring one out of ten to dwell in Jerusalem, the holy city, and nine-tenths were to dwell in other cities. <sup>2</sup>And the people blessed all the men who willingly offered themselves to dwell at Jerusalem. <sup>3</sup>These are the heads of the province who dwelt in Jerusalem. (But in the cities of Judah everyone dwelt in his own possession in their cities—Israelites, priests, Levites, Nethinim, and descendants of Solomon's servants.) <sup>4</sup>Also in Jerusalem dwelt some of the children of Judah and of the children of Benjamin.

The children of Judah: Athaiah the son of Uzziah, the son of Zechariah, the son of Amariah, the son of Shephatiah, the son of Mahalalel, of the children of Perez; <sup>5</sup>and Maaseiah

ZERUBBABEL THE GOVERNOR (NEH. 12:1)

The name “Zerubbabel” (Neh. 12:1) is a Babylonian name, most likely meaning “seed of Babylon.” Zerubbabel was from a Judean family but had grown up in Babylon. In his adult years, however, he had the opportunity to return to his ancestral home in Jerusalem.

Zerubbabel was descended from royalty (1 Chr. 3:17–19). His grandfather had been Jehoiachin (or Jeconiah), the king of Judah whom the Babylonians had taken out of Jerusalem into captivity in 597 B.C. Since Zerubbabel was thus an heir to the throne of David, and the rightful king of Judah, some Judeans hoped that Judah might regain a degree of national power under his leadership. He was compared to a “signet ring” (Hag. 2:23), an instrument belonging to a king, used to impress a seal of his authority.

The political situation of Judah, however, had changed since Zerubbabel’s grandfather had ruled. The Persians now were in control. While a Persian king did appoint Zerubbabel to be the governor of the Persian province of Judah, he would not be given the power of a king. The “governor of Judah” (Hag. 1:1) was given charge of the local political situation in Judah and Jerusalem, but would not rule a kingdom.

During Zerubbabel’s oversight, the returnees from the Exile completed rebuilding the temple. With Zerubbabel in Jerusalem and the temple completed, hopes were inspired for a rebirth of the Davidic monarchy. Many hoped that Zerubbabel would become more than governor—to rise as Israel’s king. But after the temple rebuilding, Zerubbabel no longer appears in any known records. Regardless, a Davidic messianic hope never again departed from Israel.

<sup>19</sup>Moreover the gatekeepers, Akkub, Talmon, and their brethren who kept the gates, were one hundred and seventy-two.

<sup>22</sup>Also the overseer of the Levites at Jerusalem was Uzzi the son of Bani, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Micha, of the sons of Asaph, the singers in charge of the service of the house of God.<sup>23</sup>For it was the king’s command concerning them that a certain portion should be for the singers, a quota day by day.<sup>24</sup>Pethahiah the son of Meshezabel, of the children of Zerah the son of Judah, was the king’s deputy<sup>a</sup> in all matters concerning the people.

THE PERSIAN KINGS

The Persian Empire profoundly altered the course of Judah's history. For the Jews this was a period of restoration and reconstruction. For the Persians it was a period of imperial expansion. Several Persian kings are mentioned in the Bible.

<sup>22</sup>During the reign of Darius the Persian, a record was also kept of the Levites and priests who had been heads of their fathers' houses in the days of Eliashib, Joiada, Johanan, and Jaddua. <sup>23</sup>The sons of Levi, the heads of the fathers' houses until the days of Johanan the son of Eliashib, were written in the book of the chronicles.

<sup>24</sup>And the heads of the Levites were Hashabiah, Sherebiah, and Jeshua the son of Kadmiel, with their brothers across from them, to praise and give thanks, group alternating with group, according to the command of David the man of God. <sup>25</sup>Mattaniah, Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Meshullam, Talmon, and Akkub were gatekeepers keeping the watch at the storerooms of the gates. <sup>26</sup>These lived in the days of Joiakim the son of Jeshua, the son of Jozadak,<sup>a</sup> and in the days of Nehemiah the governor, and of Ezra the priest, the scribe.

Nehemiah Dedicates the Wall

<sup>27</sup>Now at the dedication of the wall of Jerusalem they sought out the Levites in all their places, to bring them to Jerusalem to celebrate the dedication with gladness, both with thanksgivings and singing, with cymbals and stringed instruments and harps. <sup>28</sup>And the sons of the singers gathered together from the countryside around Jerusalem, from the villages of the Ne-tophathites,<sup>29</sup> from the house of Gilgal, and from the fields of Geba and Azmaveth; for the singers had built themselves villages all around Jerusalem. <sup>30</sup>Then the priests and Levites purified themselves, and purified the people, the gates, and the wall.

Songs of Ascents

After the workers had finished rebuilding the walls of Jerusalem, the Levitical singers and their instruments were summoned, and the city was formally dedicated in ceremonies that included the singing of psalms. It is impossible to know exactly which psalms were sung, of course. Surely many of the old psalms, from the days of Solomon's temple, were used, but others may have been written specifically for use in the second temple.

One group of psalms (Ps. 120—134), all linked by the superscription "A Song of Ascents," has a particularly clear connection to temple worship.

The title indicates that these songs were sung by worshipers on their way up the hill toward the gates of Jerusalem and the temple. The psalms speak of the joy of worshiping in the Lord's house (Ps. 122; 134), of the need for purity of heart in the true worshiper (Ps. 125; 128; 131), and call for God's blessing in distress (Ps. 120; 129; 130; 132). All the Songs of Ascents appear together, suggesting that at one time they formed an independent collection, a temple songbook, which was later incorporated as a block into the Book of Psalms.

Some of these psalms may be quite old. Several have the superscription "Of David," and one, "Of Solomon" (Ps. 127). Others, though, obviously were composed after the Babylonian exile: one psalmist praises God for His mighty deliverance of "the captivity of Zion" (Ps. 126:1). Such a clear historical reference makes it likely that the Songs of Ascents were put together in this collection for use in the second temple. If so, then some of these psalms may well have been sung at the dedication of the rebuilt Jerusalem, on Mount Zion "which cannot be moved, but abides forever" (Ps. 125:1).

PSALM 121

God the Help of Those Who Seek HimA Song of Ascents.*

I will lift up my eyes to the hills—
 From whence comes my help?
 2 My help comes from the LORD,
 Who made heaven and earth.

3 He will not allow your foot to be moved;
 He who keeps you will not slumber.
 4 Behold, He who keeps Israel
 Shall neither slumber nor sleep.

5 The LORD is your keeper;
 The LORD is your shade at your right hand.
 6 The sun shall not strike you by day,
 Nor the moon by night.

7 The LORD shall preserve you from all evil;
 He shall preserve your soul.
 8 The LORD shall preserve your going out and your coming in
 From this time forth, and even forevermore.

PSALM 122

The Joy of Going to the House of the LORDA Song of Ascents. Of David.*

I was glad when they said to me,
 “Let us go into the house of the LORD.”
 2 Our feet have been standing
 Within your gates, O Jerusalem!

3 Jerusalem is built
 As a city that is compact together,
 4 Where the tribes go up,
 The tribes of the LORD,
 To the Testimony of Israel,
 To give thanks to the name of the LORD.
 5 For thrones are set there for judgment,
 The thrones of the house of David.

6 Pray for the peace of Jerusalem:
 “May they prosper who love you.
 7 Peace be within your walls,
 Prosperity within your palaces.”
 8 For the sake of my brethren and companions,
 I will now say, “Peace be within you.”
 9 Because of the house of the LORD our God
 I will seek your good.

PSALM 123

Prayer for Relief from ContemptA Song of Ascents.*

Unto You I lift up my eyes,
 O You who dwell in the heavens.
 2 Behold, as the eyes of servants look to the hand of their masters,
 As the eyes of a maid to the hand of her mistress,
 So our eyes look to the LORD our God,
 Until He has mercy on us.

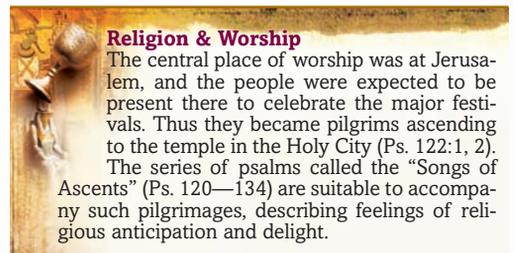

3 Have mercy on us, O LORD, have mercy on us!
 For we are exceedingly filled with contempt.
 4 Our soul is exceedingly filled
 With the scorn of those who are at ease,
 With the contempt of the proud.

PSALM 124

The LORD the Defense of His PeopleA Song of Ascents. Of David.*

“If it had not been the LORD who was on our side,”
 Let Israel now say—
 2 “If it had not been the LORD who was on our side,
 When men rose up against us,
 3 Then they would have swallowed us alive,
 When their wrath was kindled against us;
 4 Then the waters would have overwhelmed
 us,
 The stream would have gone over our soul;
 5 Then the swollen waters
 Would have gone over our soul.”

6 Blessed be the LORD,
 Who has not given us as prey to their teeth.
 7 Our soul has escaped as a bird from the snare of the fowlers;<sup>a</sup>
 The snare is broken, and we have escaped.
 8 Our help is in the name of the LORD,
 Who made heaven and earth.

Religion & Worship

The central place of worship was at Jerusalem, and the people were expected to be present there to celebrate the major festivals. Thus they became pilgrims ascending to the temple in the Holy City (Ps. 122:1, 2). The series of psalms called the “Songs of Ascents” (Ps. 120—134) are suitable to accompany such pilgrimages, describing feelings of religious anticipation and delight.

124:7 <sup>a</sup>That is, persons who catch birds in a trap or snare

PSALM 125

The LORD the Strength of His PeopleA Song of Ascents.*

Those who trust in the LORD
 Are like Mount Zion,
 Which cannot be moved, but abides forever.
 2 As the mountains surround Jerusalem,
 So the LORD surrounds His people
 From this time forth and forever.

3 For the scepter of wickedness shall not rest
 On the land allotted to the righteous, Lest the righteous reach out their hands to iniquity.

4 Do good, O LORD, to those who are good,
 And to those who are upright in their hearts.

5 As for such as turn aside to their crooked
 ways,
 The LORD shall lead them away
 With the workers of iniquity.

Peace be upon Israel!

PSALM 126

A Joyful Return to ZionA Song of Ascents.*

When the LORD brought back the captivity of Zion,
 We were like those who dream.
 2 Then our mouth was filled with laughter,
 And our tongue with singing.
 Then they said among the nations,
 "The LORD has done great things for them."
 3 The LORD has done great things for us,
 And we are glad.

4 Bring back our captivity, O LORD,
 As the streams in the South.

5 Those who sow in tears
 Shall reap in joy.

Marriage & Family

People in agricultural and nonindustrial economies usually considered it desirable to have many children. The psalmist described children as a gift or reward from God (Ps. 127:3). The Romans, however, experienced a decline in their birthrate, so severe that they tried to resist it with different kinds of legislation favoring large families.

6 He who continually goes forth weeping,
 Bearing seed for sowing,
 Shall doubtless come again with rejoicing,
 Bringing his sheaves with him.

PSALM 127

Laboring and Prospering with the LORDA Song of Ascents. Of Solomon.*

Unless the LORD builds the house,
 They labor in vain who build it;
 Unless the LORD guards the city,
 The watchman stays awake in vain.
 2 It is vain for you to rise up early,
 To sit up late,
 To eat the bread of sorrows;
 For so He gives His beloved sleep.

3 Behold, children are a heritage from the LORD,
 The fruit of the womb is a reward.
 4 Like arrows in the hand of a warrior,
 So are the children of one's youth.
 5 Happy is the man who has his quiver full of them;
 They shall not be ashamed,
 But shall speak with their enemies in the gate.

PSALM 128

Blessings of Those Who Fear the LORDA Song of Ascents.*

Blessed is every one who fears the LORD,
 Who walks in His ways.

2 When you eat the labor of your hands,
 You shall be happy, and it shall be well
 with you.

3 Your wife shall be like a fruitful vine
 In the very heart of your house,
 Your children like olive plants
 All around your table.

4 Behold, thus shall the man be blessed
 Who fears the LORD.

5 The LORD bless you out of Zion,
 And may you see the good of Jerusalem
 All the days of your life.

6 Yes, may you see your children's children.

Peace be upon Israel!

PSALM 129

Song of Victory over Zion's EnemiesA Song of Ascents.*

1 Many a time they have afflicted me from my youth,
Let Israel now say—

2 “Many a time they have afflicted me from my youth;
Yet they have not prevailed against me.

3 The plowers plowed on my back;
They made their furrows long.”

4 The LORD is righteous;
He has cut in pieces the cords of the wicked.

5 Let all those who hate Zion
Be put to shame and turned back.

6 Let them be as the grass on the housetops,
Which withers before it grows up,
7 With which the reaper does not fill his
hand,
Nor he who binds sheaves, his arms.

8 Neither let those who pass by them say,
“The blessing of the LORD be upon you;
We bless you in the name of the LORD!”

PSALM 130

Waiting for the Redemption of the LORDA Song of Ascents.*

1 Out of the depths I have cried to You,
O LORD;

2 Lord, hear my voice!
Let Your ears be attentive
To the voice of my supplications.

3 If You, LORD, should mark iniquities,
O Lord, who could stand?

4 But there is forgiveness with You,
That You may be feared.

5 I wait for the LORD, my soul waits,
And in His word I do hope.

6 My soul waits for the Lord
More than those who watch for the morning—
Yes, more than those who watch for the morning.

7 O Israel, hope in the LORD;
For with the LORD there is mercy,
And with Him is abundant redemption.

8 And He shall redeem Israel
From all his iniquities.

PSALM 131

Simple Trust in the LORDA Song of Ascents. Of David.*

1 LORD, my heart is not haughty,
Nor my eyes lofty.
Neither do I concern myself with great matters,
Nor with things too profound for me.

2 Surely I have calmed and quieted
my soul,
Like a weaned child with his mother;
Like a weaned child is my soul within me.

3 O Israel, hope in the LORD
From this time forth and forever.

PSALM 132

The Eternal Dwelling of God in ZionA Song of Ascents.*

1 LORD, remember David
And all his afflictions;

2 How he swore to the LORD,
And vowed to the Mighty One of Jacob:

3 “Surely I will not go into the chamber of my house,
Or go up to the comfort of my bed;
4 I will not give sleep to my eyes
Or slumber to my eyelids,
5 Until I find a place for the LORD,
A dwelling place for the Mighty One of Jacob.”

6 Behold, we heard of it in Ephrathah;
We found it in the fields of the woods.<sup>a</sup>

7 Let us go into His tabernacle;
Let us worship at His footstool.

8 Arise, O LORD, to Your resting place,
You and the ark of Your strength.

9 Let Your priests be clothed with righteousness,
And let Your saints shout for joy.

10 For Your servant David's sake,
Do not turn away the face of Your Anointed.

11 The LORD has sworn in truth to David;
He will not turn from it:

“I will set upon your throne the fruit of your body.

12 If your sons will keep My covenant
And My testimony which I shall teach
them,
Their sons also shall sit upon your throne
forevermore.”

13 For the LORD has chosen Zion;
He has desired it for His dwelling place:

14 “This is My resting place forever;
Here I will dwell, for I have desired it.

15 I will abundantly bless her provision;
I will satisfy her poor with bread.

16 I will also clothe her priests with salvation,

And her saints shall shout aloud for joy.

17 There I will make the horn of David grow;
I will prepare a lamp for My Anointed.

18 His enemies I will clothe with shame,
But upon Himself His crown shall flourish.”

PSALM 133

Blessed Unity of the People of God

A Song of Ascents. Of David.

Behold, how good and how pleasant it is
For brethren to dwell together in unity!

2 It is like the precious oil upon the head,
Running down on the beard,
The beard of Aaron,
Running down on the edge of his garments.

3 It is like the dew of Hermon,
Descending upon the mountains of Zion;
For there the LORD commanded the blessing—
Life forevermore.

PSALM 134

Praising the LORD in His House at Night

A Song of Ascents.

Behold, bless the LORD,
All you servants of the LORD,
Who by night stand in the house of the
LORD!

2 Lift up your hands in the sanctuary,
And bless the LORD.

3 The LORD who made heaven and earth
Bless you from Zion!

TRANSITION

Nehemiah and the Levites

The Book of Nehemiah began as Nehemiah's own memoirs, and Nehemiah himself told the story in the first person. At Neh. 7:73, though, the narrative changed to a third-person account, even when speaking of Nehemiah himself (8:9; 12:26). At Neh. 12:31, Nehemiah's own account resumes (except for a brief third-person passage in 12:44–47).

Although Nehemiah represented the secular arm of Jerusalem's revival—with Ezra representing the spiritual aspect—Nehemiah seems to have taken a great deal of interest in the priestly offices of the temple. He even took it upon himself to appoint choirs from the Levitical singers (12:31). Even for the duly appointed Persian governor, Jerusalem's religious life was centered on the priests.

• Nehemiah 12:31–47

Nehemiah

12:31 So I brought the leaders of Judah up on the wall, and appointed two large thanksgiving choirs. One went to the right hand on the wall toward the Refuse Gate. <sup>32</sup>After them went Hoshaiiah and half of the leaders of Judah, <sup>33</sup>and Azariah, Ezra, Meshullam, <sup>34</sup>Judah, Benjamin, Shemaiah, Jeremiah, <sup>35</sup>and some of the priests' sons with trumpets—Zechariah the son of Jonathan, the son of Shemaiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Michaiah, the son of Zaccur, the son of Asaph, <sup>36</sup>and his brethren, Shemaiah, Azarel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethanel, Judah, and Hanani, with the musical instruments of David the man of God. And Ezra the scribe went before them. <sup>37</sup>By the Fountain Gate, in front of them, they went up the stairs of the City of David, on the stairway of the wall, beyond the house of David, as far as the Water Gate eastward.

12:41 <sup>a</sup>Or Mijamin (compare verse 5)

ARTAXERXES I (LONGIMANUS), KING OF PERSIA

<sup>43</sup>Also that day they offered great sacrifices, and rejoiced, for God had made them rejoice with great joy; the women and the children also rejoiced, so that the joy of Jerusalem was heard afar off.

Temple Responsibilities

<sup>44</sup>And at the same time some were appointed over the rooms of the storehouse for the offerings, the firstfruits, and the tithes, to gather into them from the fields of the cities the portions specified by the Law for the priests and Levites; for Judah rejoiced over the priests and Levites who ministered. <sup>45</sup>Both the singers and the gatekeepers kept the charge of their God and the charge of the purification, according to the command of David and Solomon his son. <sup>46</sup>For in the days of David and Asaph of old there were chiefs of the singers, and songs of praise and thanksgiving to God. <sup>47</sup>In the days of Zerubbabel and in the days of Nehemiah all Israel gave the portions for the singers and the gatekeepers, a portion for each day. They also consecrated holy things for the Levites, and the Levites consecrated them for the children of Aaron.

111—113; 117; 135; 146—150). Such a frequent pattern seems to indicate that regular and fairly rigid patterns for public songs of praise had developed in the restored temple. Apparently instrumental accompaniment was common: Ps. 150 calls for various instruments to be used in praising God, just as Levitical instruments were used at the dedication of the walls (Neh. 12:27).

It is significant to find so many hymns near the end of the Book of Psalms. Most of the laments—the songs of complaint and petition to God—appear early in the Psalter, whereas the greatest concentration of hymns of praise is at the end. Reading the Book of Psalms from start to finish, then, is a journey from distress and supplication to thanksgiving and praise.

• Psalms 104; 107; 111—118; 135; 136; 145—150

PSALM 104

Praise to the Sovereign Lord for His Creation and Providence

Bless the LORD, O my soul!

- O LORD my God, You are very great: You are clothed with honor and majesty,
- 2 Who cover Yourself with light as with a garment, Who stretch out the heavens like a curtain.
- 3 He lays the beams of His upper chambers in the waters, Who makes the clouds His chariot, Who walks on the wings of the wind,

TRANSITION

The Last Word in Praise

Most of the songs of praise that appear near the end of the Book of Psalms lack superscriptions. Because they are not specified as being psalms of David or of another psalmist, and perhaps because they appear at the end of the biblical book, these hymns are often considered the latest of the psalms. Perhaps they were written during the Persian era, to be sung in the rebuilt temple. Such a hymn as Ps. 136 was certainly intended for use in public worship; one can almost hear the Levitical singer chanting a verse and the congregation responding to each line with the refrain, "For His mercy endures forever."

Many of these late hymns follow the same pattern, beginning and often ending with the refrain "Praise the LORD" (Hebrew hallelujah; Ps.

THE ATEN, THE EGYPTIAN SUN DISK (Ps. 104:10–18)

The Hymn to the Sun Disk was composed by the Egyptian king Akhenaten (1352–1336 B.C.). It describes the Aten, which was the Egyptian sun deity, as the creator and sustainer of the universe and of life itself. Akhenaten's hymn exhibits characteristics that some have considered to be monotheistic. These characteristics, however, tend toward what is known as henotheism or monolatry—the worship of one god without denying the existence of others.

There are some detailed but superficial literary similarities between the Egyptian hymn and Ps. 104. For example, the hymn describes the Nile as being in the sky, descending and making waves on the mountains to water the fields. Similarly, Yahweh from His “upper chambers” waters the valleys and hills (Ps. 104:10, 13). The Hymn to the Sun Disk mentions beasts that are satisfied with their pasture, along with trees, plants, and birds which fly from their nests. Similarly, Yahweh provides all things necessary to life, caring for animal, plant, and bird life (Ps. 104:11, 12, 14–18).

Clearly, Akhenaten's Hymn to the Sun Disk describes the solar deity much the same as Ps. 104 describes Yahweh. Some scholars have supposed, because of common themes in these writings, in many other Egyptian sun hymns, and even in a Mesopotamian hymn to the sun god Shamash, that the psalmist of Ps. 104 used some of these writings as sources. However, more likely there were well-known expressions common to Middle- and Near-Eastern cultures that provided a literary framework within which the psalm was written.

4 Who makes His angels spirits,
His ministers a flame of fire.

5 You who laid the foundations of the earth,
So that it should not be moved forever,
6 You covered it with the deep as with a garment;
The waters stood above the mountains.

7 At Your rebuke they fled;
At the voice of Your thunder they hastened
away.

8 They went up over the mountains;
They went down into the valleys,
To the place which You founded for them.

9 You have set a boundary that they may not pass over,
That they may not return to cover the earth.

10 He sends the springs into the valleys;
They flow among the hills.

11 They give drink to every beast of the field;
The wild donkeys quench their thirst.

12 By them the birds of the heavens have their home;
They sing among the branches.

13 He waters the hills from His upper chambers;
The earth is satisfied with the fruit of Your works.

14 He causes the grass to grow for the cattle,
And vegetation for the service of man,
That he may bring forth food from the
earth,

15 And wine that makes glad the heart of man,

Oil to make his face shine,
And bread which strengthens man's heart.

16 The trees of the LORD are full of sap,
The cedars of Lebanon which He planted,
17 Where the birds make their nests;
The stork has her home in the fir trees.

18 The high hills are for the wild goats;
The cliffs are a refuge for the rock badgers.<sup>a</sup>

19 He appointed the moon for seasons;
The sun knows its going down.

20 You make darkness, and it is night,
In which all the beasts of the forest creep about.

21 The young lions roar after their prey,
And seek their food from God.

22 When the sun rises, they gather together
And lie down in their dens.

23 Man goes out to his work
And to his labor until the evening.

24 O LORD, how manifold are Your works!
In wisdom You have made them all.
The earth is full of Your possessions—

25 This great and wide sea,
In which are innumerable teeming things,
Living things both small and great.

26 There the ships sail about;
There is that Leviathan
Which You have made to play there.

104:18 <sup>a</sup>Or rock hyrax (compare Leviticus 11:5)

27 These all wait for You,
That You may give them their food in due season.

28 What You give them they gather in;
You open Your hand, they are filled with good.

29 You hide Your face, they are troubled;
You take away their breath, they die and return to their dust.

30 You send forth Your Spirit, they are created;
And You renew the face of the earth.

31 May the glory of the LORD endure forever;
May the LORD rejoice in His works.

32 He looks on the earth, and it trembles;
He touches the hills, and they smoke.

33 I will sing to the LORD as long as I live;
I will sing praise to my God while I have my being.

34 May my meditation be sweet to Him;
I will be glad in the LORD.

35 May sinners be consumed from the earth,
And the wicked be no more.

Bless the LORD, O my soul!
Praise the LORD!

PSALM 107

Thanksgiving to the LORD for His Great Works of Deliverance

Oh, give thanks to the LORD, for He is good!
For His mercy endures forever.

2 Let the redeemed of the LORD say so, Whom He has redeemed from the hand of the enemy,

3 And gathered out of the lands,
From the east and from the west,
From the north and from the south.

4 They wandered in the wilderness in a desolate way;
They found no city to dwell in.

5 Hungry and thirsty,
Their soul fainted in them.

6 Then they cried out to the LORD in their
trouble,
And He delivered them out of their distresses.

7 And He led them forth by the right way,
That they might go to a city for a dwelling place.

8 Oh, that men would give thanks to the LORD for His goodness,
And for His wonderful works to the children of men!

9 For He satisfies the longing soul,
And fills the hungry soul with goodness.

10 Those who sat in darkness and in the shadow of death,
Bound in affliction and irons—
11 Because they rebelled against the words of God,
And despised the counsel of the Most High, 12 Therefore He brought down their heart with labor;
They fell down, and there was none to help.

13 Then they cried out to the LORD in their
trouble,
And He saved them out of their distresses.

14 He brought them out of darkness and the shadow of death,
And broke their chains in pieces.

15 Oh, that men would give thanks to the
LORD for His goodness,
And for His wonderful works to the
children of men!

16 For He has broken the gates of bronze,
And cut the bars of iron in two.

17 Fools, because of their transgression,
And because of their iniquities, were afflicted.

18 Their soul abhorred all manner of food,
And they drew near to the gates of death.

19 Then they cried out to the LORD in their
trouble,
And He saved them out of their distresses.

20 He sent His word and healed them,
And delivered them from their destructions.

21 Oh, that men would give thanks to the
LORD for His goodness,
And for His wonderful works to the
children of men!

22 Let them sacrifice the sacrifices of thanksgiving,
And declare His works with rejoicing.

23 Those who go down to the sea in ships,
Who do business on great waters,
24 They see the works of the LORD,
And His wonders in the deep.

25 For He commands and raises the stormy
wind,
Which lifts up the waves of the sea.

26 They mount up to the heavens,
They go down again to the depths;
Their soul melts because of trouble.

27 They reel to and fro, and stagger like a drunken man,
And are at their wits' end.

28 Then they cry out to the LORD in their
trouble,

29 And He brings them out of their distresses.
 He calms the storm,
 So that its waves are still.
 30 Then they are glad because they are quiet;
 So He guides them to their desired haven.
 31 Oh, that men would give thanks to the
 LORD for His goodness,
 And for His wonderful works to the
 children of men!
 32 Let them exalt Him also in the assembly of
 the people,
 And praise Him in the company of the elders.
 33 He turns rivers into a wilderness,
 And the watersprings into dry ground;
 34 A fruitful land into barrenness,
 For the wickedness of those who dwell in it.
 35 He turns a wilderness into pools of water,
 And dry land into watersprings.
 36 There He makes the hungry dwell,
 That they may establish a city for a dwelling place,
 37 And sow fields and plant vineyards,
 That they may yield a fruitful harvest.
 38 He also blesses them, and they multiply greatly;
 And He does not let their cattle decrease.

39 When they are diminished and brought low
 Through oppression, affliction and sorrow,
 40 He pours contempt on princes,
 And causes them to wander in the wilderness where there is no way;
 41 Yet He sets the poor on high, far from
 affliction,
 And makes their families like a flock.
 42 The righteous see it and rejoice,
 And all iniquity stops its mouth.
 43 Whoever is wise will observe these things,
 And they will understand the lovingkindness of the LORD.

PSALM 111

Praise to God for His Faithfulness and Justice

Praise the LORD!

I will praise the LORD with my whole heart,
 In the assembly of the upright and in the congregation.

2 The works of the LORD are great,
 Studied by all who have pleasure in them.
 3 His work is honorable and glorious,
 And His righteousness endures forever.

4 He has made His wonderful works to be remembered;
 The LORD is gracious and full of compassion.
 5 He has given food to those who fear Him;
 He will ever be mindful of His covenant.
 6 He has declared to His people the power of His works,
 In giving them the heritage of the nations.
 7 The works of His hands are verity and justice;
 All His precepts are sure.
 8 They stand fast forever and ever,
 And are done in truth and uprightness.
 9 He has sent redemption to His people;
 He has commanded His covenant forever:
 Holy and awesome is His name.
 10 The fear of the LORD is the beginning of
 wisdom;
 A good understanding have all those who do His commandments.
 His praise endures forever.

PSALM 112

The Blessed State of the Righteous

Praise the LORD!

Blessed is the man who fears the LORD,
Who delights greatly in His
 commandments.

2 His descendants will be mighty on earth;
 The generation of the upright will be blessed.
 3 Wealth and riches will be in his house,
 And his righteousness endures forever.
 4 Unto the upright there arises light in the darkness;
He is gracious, and full of compassion, and
 righteous.
 5 A good man deals graciously and lends;
 He will guide his affairs with discretion.
 6 Surely he will never be shaken;
 The righteous will be in everlasting remembrance.
 7 He will not be afraid of evil tidings;
 His heart is steadfast, trusting in the LORD.
 8 His heart is established;
 He will not be afraid,
 Until he sees his desire upon his enemies.
 9 He has dispersed abroad,
 He has given to the poor;
 His righteousness endures forever;
 His horn will be exalted with honor.
 10 The wicked will see it and be grieved;

He will gnash his teeth and melt away;
The desire of the wicked shall perish.

PSALM 113

The Majesty and Condescension of God

Praise the LORD!

Praise, O servants of the LORD,
Praise the name of the LORD!
2 Blessed be the name of the LORD
From this time forth and forevermore!
3 From the rising of the sun to its going down
The LORD's name is to be praised.

4 The LORD is high above all nations,
His glory above the heavens.
5 Who is like the LORD our God,
Who dwells on high,
6 Who humbles Himself to behold
The things that are in the heavens and in
the earth?

7 He raises the poor out of the dust,
And lifts the needy out of the ash heap,
8 That He may seat him with princes—
With the princes of His people.
9 He grants the barren woman a home,
Like a joyful mother of children.

Praise the LORD!

PSALM 114

The Power of God in His Deliverance of Israel

When Israel went out of Egypt,
The house of Jacob from a people of strange language,
2 Judah became His sanctuary,
And Israel His dominion.

3 The sea saw it and fled;
Jordan turned back.
4 The mountains skipped like rams,
The little hills like lambs.
5 What ails you, O sea, that you fled?
O Jordan, that you turned back?
6 O mountains, that you skipped like rams?
O little hills, like lambs?

7 Tremble, O earth, at the presence of the
Lord,
At the presence of the God of Jacob,
8 Who turned the rock into a pool of water,
The flint into a fountain of waters.

PSALM 115

The Futility of Idols and the Trustworthiness of God

Not unto us, O LORD, not unto us,
But to Your name give glory,
Because of Your mercy,
Because of Your truth.
2 Why should the Gentiles say,
“So where is their God?”

3 But our God is in heaven;
He does whatever He pleases.
4 Their idols are silver and gold,
The work of men's hands.
5 They have mouths, but they do not speak;
Eyes they have, but they do not see;
6 They have ears, but they do not hear;
Noses they have, but they do not smell;
7 They have hands, but they do not handle;
Feet they have, but they do not walk;
Nor do they mutter through their throat.
8 Those who make them are like them;
So is everyone who trusts in them.

9 O Israel, trust in the LORD;
He is their help and their shield.
10 O house of Aaron, trust in the LORD;

11 He is their help and their shield.
You who fear the LORD, trust in the LORD;
He is their help and their shield.

12 The LORD has been mindful of us;
He will bless us;
He will bless the house of Israel;
He will bless the house of Aaron.

13 He will bless those who fear the LORD,
Both small and great.

14 May the LORD give you increase more and
more,
You and your children.
15 May you be blessed by the LORD,
Who made heaven and earth.

16 The heaven, even the heavens, are the LORD's;
But the earth He has given to the children of men.

17 The dead do not praise the LORD,
Nor any who go down into silence.

18 But we will bless the LORD
From this time forth and forevermore.

Praise the LORD!

PSALM 116

Thanksgiving for Deliverance from Death

I love the LORD, because He has heard
My voice and my supplications.

2 Because He has inclined His ear to me,
Therefore I will call upon Him as long as I live.

3 The pains of death surrounded me,
And the pangs of Sheol laid hold of me;
I found trouble and sorrow.

4 Then I called upon the name of the LORD:
"O LORD, I implore You, deliver my soul!"

5 Gracious is the LORD, and righteous;
Yes, our God is merciful.

6 The LORD preserves the simple;
I was brought low, and He saved me.

7 Return to your rest, O my soul,
For the LORD has dealt bountifully with you.

Religion & Worship

A religious vow was a voluntary promise made to God, often like a bargain, to be fulfilled if God answered a certain petition. There was no requirement to make a vow, but if one was made, the maker was not permitted to break it, unless the vow itself was unlawful. The payment of a vow was sometimes an expression of thanksgiving (Ps. 116:12, 14).

8 For You have delivered my soul from death,
My eyes from tears,
And my feet from falling.

9 I will walk before the LORD
In the land of the living.

10 I believed, therefore I spoke,
"I am greatly afflicted."

11 I said in my haste,
"All men are liars."

12 What shall I render to the LORD
For all His benefits toward me?

13 I will take up the cup of salvation,
And call upon the name of the LORD.

14 I will pay my vows to the LORD
Now in the presence of all His people.

15 Precious in the sight of the LORD
Is the death of His saints.

16 O LORD, truly I am Your servant;
I am Your servant, the son of Your maidservant;
You have loosed my bonds.

17 I will offer to You the sacrifice of
thanksgiving,
And will call upon the name of the LORD.

18 I will pay my vows to the LORD
Now in the presence of all His people,

19 In the courts of the LORD's house,
In the midst of you, O Jerusalem.

Praise the LORD!

PSALM 117

Let All Peoples Praise the LORD

Praise the LORD, all you Gentiles! Laud Him, all you peoples!

2 For His merciful kindness is great toward
us,
And the truth of the LORD endures forever.

Praise the LORD!

PSALM 118

Praise to God for His Everlasting Mercy

O h, give thanks to the LORD, for He is
good!
For His mercy endures
forever.

2 Let Israel now say,
"His mercy endures forever."

3 Let the house of Aaron now say,
 “His mercy endures forever.”
 4 Let those who fear the LORD now say,
 “His mercy endures forever.”
 5 I called on the LORD in distress;
 The LORD answered me and set me in a broad place.
 6 The LORD is on my side;
 I will not fear.
 What can man do to me?
 7 The LORD is for me among those who help
 me;
 Therefore I shall see my desire on those who hate me.
 8 It is better to trust in the LORD
 Than to put confidence in man.
 9 It is better to trust in the LORD
 Than to put confidence in princes.
 10 All nations surrounded me,
 But in the name of the LORD I will destroy
 them.
 11 They surrounded me,
 Yes, they surrounded me;
 But in the name of the LORD I will destroy
 them.
 12 They surrounded me like bees;
 They were quenched like a fire of thorns;
 For in the name of the LORD I will destroy
 them.
 13 You pushed me violently, that I might fall,
 But the LORD helped me.
 14 The LORD is my strength and song,
 And He has become my salvation.<sup>a</sup>
 15 The voice of rejoicing and salvation
Is in the tents of the righteous;
 The right hand of the LORD does valiantly.
 16 The right hand of the LORD is exalted;
 The right hand of the LORD does valiantly.
 17 I shall not die, but live,
 And declare the works of the LORD.
 18 The LORD has chastened me severely,
 But He has not given me over to death.
 19 Open to me the gates of righteousness;
 I will go through them,
And I will praise the LORD.
 20 This is the gate of the LORD,
 Through which the righteous shall enter.
 21 I will praise You,
 For You have answered me,
 And have become my salvation.

22 The stone which the builders rejected
 Has become the chief cornerstone.
 23 This was the LORD’s doing;
 It is marvelous in our eyes.
 24 This is the day the LORD has made;
 We will rejoice and be glad in it.
 25 Save now, I pray, O LORD;
 O LORD, I pray, send now prosperity.
 26 Blessed is he who comes in the name of the
 LORD!
 We have blessed you from the house of the
 LORD.
 27 God is the LORD,
 And He has given us light;
 Bind the sacrifice with cords to the horns of the altar.
 28 You are my God, and I will praise You;
 You are my God, I will exalt You.
 29 Oh, give thanks to the LORD, for He is good!
 For His mercy endures forever.

PSALM 135

Praise to God in Creation and Redemption

Praise the LORD!

Praise the name of the LORD;
 Praise Him, O you servants of the LORD!
 2 You who stand in the house of the LORD,
 In the courts of the house of our God,
 3 Praise the LORD, for the LORD is good;
 Sing praises to His name, for it is pleasant.
 4 For the LORD has chosen Jacob for Himself,
 Israel for His special treasure.
 5 For I know that the LORD is great,
 And our Lord is above all gods.
 6 Whatever the LORD pleases He does,
 In heaven and in earth,
 In the seas and in all deep places.
 7 He causes the vapors to ascend from the ends of the earth;
 He makes lightning for the rain;
 He brings the wind out of His treasuries.
 8 He destroyed the firstborn of Egypt,
 Both of man and beast.
 9 He sent signs and wonders into the midst of you, O Egypt,
 Upon Pharaoh and all his servants.
 10 He defeated many nations
 And slew mighty kings—
 11 Sihon king of the Amorites,
 Og king of Bashan,
 And all the kingdoms of Canaan—

AMORITES ON THE MOVE (Ps. 135:11)

The Amorites are well known from Accadian records (c. 2200 B.C.) as the inhabitants of Amurru. The term “Amorite” originally meant “westerner,” indicating people living west of Mesopotamia, apparently in a region around the upper Habor (Khabur) and Balikh River valleys in Syria. Here the Amorites employed dry-farming methods and lived in small urban centers.

Amorites eventually migrated east. The Sumerian 3rd Dynasty of Ur (c. 2100 B.C.) records the slow Amorite infiltration of Mesopotamia. After the fall of Ur numerous Amorite dynasties began to appear in Asshur, Babylon, Mari, Uruk, and elsewhere. Both the Babylonians and Assyrians claimed to be of Amorite descent.

Similar Amorite movement occurred along the Mediterranean coast. By 1900 B.C. an Amorite dynasty ruled the city of Ugarit on the Syrian coast. During the Late Bronze Age (1500–1200 B.C.) an Amorite kingdom existed in the Orontes River Valley in Syria, as is recorded in cuneiform texts from Alalakh and from the Amarna archives in Egypt.

The Amorite migration reached farther south into parts of the Transjordan and Palestine. Amorites were among the nations that inhabited Canaan prior to the Israelite conquest (Gen. 15:19–21). “Amorite” became a general term for the peoples of Canaan (Gen. 48:22; Josh. 24:15). The prophet Ezekiel describes the inhabitants of Jerusalem as partly descended from Amorites (Ezek. 16:3).

The migrations of the Amorites thus placed them among the local populations encountered by Israelites during the conquest. Israel’s victory over them became fixed in Israelite history as a high point of the invasion. In particular, the defeat of “Sihon king of the Amorites” and his capital at Heshbon was celebrated both in a proverb (Num. 21:26–31) and with psalms (Ps. 135:10, 11; 136:18, 19).

12 And gave their land as a heritage,
A heritage to Israel His people.

13 Your name, O LORD, endures forever,
Your fame, O LORD, throughout all generations.

14 For the LORD will judge His people,
And He will have compassion on His servants.

15 The idols of the nations are silver and gold,
The work of men’s hands.

16 They have mouths, but they do not speak;
Eyes they have, but they do not see;
17 They have ears, but they do not hear;
Nor is there any breath in their mouths.

18 Those who make them are like them;
So is everyone who trusts in them.

19 Bless the LORD, O house of Israel!
Bless the LORD, O house of Aaron!
20 Bless the LORD, O house of Levi!
You who fear the LORD, bless the LORD!
21 Blessed be the LORD out of Zion,
Who dwells in Jerusalem!

Praise the LORD!

PSALM 136*Thanksgiving to God for His Enduring Mercy

Oh, give thanks to the LORD, for He is good!
For His mercy endures
forever.

2 Oh, give thanks to the God of gods!
For His mercy endures forever.

3 Oh, give thanks to the Lord of lords!
For His mercy endures forever:

4 To Him who alone does great wonders,
For His mercy endures forever;
5 To Him who by wisdom made the heavens,
For His mercy endures forever;
6 To Him who laid out the earth above
the waters,
For His mercy endures forever;
7 To Him who made great lights,
For His mercy endures forever—
8 The sun to rule by day,
For His mercy endures forever;
9 The moon and stars to rule by night,
For His mercy endures forever.

10 To Him who struck Egypt in their firstborn,
For His mercy endures forever;
11 And brought out Israel from among them,
For His mercy endures forever;
12 With a strong hand, and with an outstretched arm,
For His mercy endures forever;
13 To Him who divided the Red Sea in two,
For His mercy endures forever;
14 And made Israel pass through the midst of it,
For His mercy endures forever;
15 But overthrew Pharaoh and his army in the Red Sea,
For His mercy endures forever;
16 To Him who led His people through the wilderness,
For His mercy endures forever;
17 To Him who struck down great kings,
For His mercy endures forever;

18 And slew famous kings,
For His mercy endures forever—
19 Sihon king of the Amorites,
For His mercy endures forever;
20 And Og king of Bashan,
For His mercy endures forever—
21 And gave their land as a heritage,
For His mercy endures forever;
22 A heritage to Israel His servant,
For His mercy endures forever.
23 Who remembered us in our lowly state,
For His mercy endures forever;
24 And rescued us from our enemies,
For His mercy endures forever;
25 Who gives food to all flesh,
For His mercy endures forever.
26 Oh, give thanks to the God of heaven!
For His mercy endures forever.

PSALM 145

A Song of God's Majesty and Love

A Praise of David.

I will extol You, my God, O King;
And I will bless Your name forever and ever.
2 Every day I will bless You,
And I will praise Your name forever and ever.
3 Great is the LORD, and greatly to be praised;
And His greatness is unsearchable.
4 One generation shall praise Your works to
another,
And shall declare Your mighty acts.
5 I<sup>a</sup> will meditate on the glorious splendor of
Your majesty,
And on Your wondrous works.<sup>b</sup> 6 Men shall speak of the might of Your awesome acts,
And I will declare Your greatness.
7 They shall utter the memory of Your great goodness,
And shall sing of Your righteousness.
8 The LORD is gracious and full of compassion,
Slow to anger and great in mercy.
9 The LORD is good to all,

145:5 <sup>a</sup>Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Dead Sea Scrolls, Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate read They. <sup>b</sup>Literally on the words of Your wondrous works 145:13 <sup>a</sup>Following Masoretic Text and Targum; Dead Sea Scrolls, Septuagint, Syriac, and Vulgate add The LORD is faithful in all His words, And holy in all His works.

And His tender mercies are over all His works.

10 All Your works shall praise You, O LORD,
And Your saints shall bless You.
11 They shall speak of the glory of Your kingdom,
And talk of Your power,
12 To make known to the sons of men His mighty acts,
And the glorious majesty of His kingdom.
13 Your kingdom is an everlasting kingdom,
And Your dominion endures throughout all generations.<sup>a</sup>
14 The LORD upholds all who fall,
And raises up all who are bowed down.
15 The eyes of all look expectantly to You,
And You give them their food in due season.
16 You open Your hand
And satisfy the desire of every living thing.
17 The LORD is righteous in all His ways,
Gracious in all His works.
18 The LORD is near to all who call upon Him,
To all who call upon Him in truth.
19 He will fulfill the desire of those who fear
Him;
He also will hear their cry and save them.
20 The LORD preserves all who love Him,
But all the wicked He will destroy.
21 My mouth shall speak the praise of the
LORD,
And all flesh shall bless His holy name
Forever and ever.

PSALM 146

The Happiness of Those Whose Help Is the LORD

Praise the LORD!
Praise the LORD, O my soul!
2 While I live I will praise the LORD;
I will sing praises to my God while I have
my being.
3 Do not put your trust in princes,
Nor in a son of man, in whom there is no help.
4 His spirit departs, he returns to his earth;
In that very day his plans perish.
5 Happy is he who has the God of Jacob for his help,
Whose hope is in the LORD his God,

- 6 Who made heaven and earth,
The sea, and all that is in them;
Who keeps truth forever,
- 7 Who executes justice for the oppressed,
Who gives food to the hungry.
The LORD gives freedom to the prisoners.
- 8 The LORD opens the eyes of the blind;
The LORD raises those who are bowed down;
The LORD loves the righteous.
- 9 The LORD watches over the strangers;
He relieves the fatherless and widow;
But the way of the wicked He turns upside down.
- 10 The LORD shall reign forever—
Your God, O Zion, to all generations.
- Praise the LORD!

PSALM 147

Praise to God for His Word and Providence

- Praise the LORD!
For it is good to sing praises to our God;
For it is pleasant, and praise is beautiful.
- 2 The LORD builds up Jerusalem;
He gathers together the outcasts of Israel.
- 3 He heals the brokenhearted
And binds up their wounds.
- 4 He counts the number of the stars;
He calls them all by name.
- 5 Great is our Lord, and mighty in power;
His understanding is infinite.
- 6 The LORD lifts up the humble;
He casts the wicked down to the ground.
- 7 Sing to the LORD with thanksgiving;
Sing praises on the harp to our God,
8 Who covers the heavens with clouds,
Who prepares rain for the earth,
Who makes grass to grow on the mountains.
- 9 He gives to the beast its food,
And to the young ravens that cry.
- 10 He does not delight in the strength of the horse;

Science & Technology

The physical power available to an ancient army was basically the muscle power of men and animals. They did not use explosives or gasoline, kerosene, and oil. Consequently, the “legs of a man” and the “strength of the horse” (Ps. 147:10) refer precisely to military power. Yet God does not delight in physical strength.

- 11 He takes no pleasure in the legs of a man.
The LORD takes pleasure in those who fear
Him,
In those who hope in His mercy.
- 12 Praise the LORD, O Jerusalem!
Praise your God, O Zion!
- 13 For He has strengthened the bars of your gates;
He has blessed your children within you.
- 14 He makes peace in your borders,
And fills you with the finest wheat.
- 15 He sends out His command to the earth;
His word runs very swiftly.
- 16 He gives snow like wool;
He scatters the frost like ashes;
- 17 He casts out His hail like morsels;
Who can stand before His cold?
- 18 He sends out His word and melts them;
He causes His wind to blow, and the waters flow.
- 19 He declares His word to Jacob,
His statutes and His judgments to Israel.
- 20 He has not dealt thus with any nation;
And as for His judgments, they have not known them.
- Praise the LORD!

PSALM 148

Praise to the LORD from Creation

- Praise the LORD!
- Praise the LORD from the heavens;
Praise Him in the heights!
- 2 Praise Him, all His angels;
Praise Him, all His hosts!
- 3 Praise Him, sun and moon;
Praise Him, all you stars of light!
- 4 Praise Him, you heavens of heavens,
And you waters above the heavens!
- 5 Let them praise the name of the LORD,
For He commanded and they were created.
- 6 He also established them forever and ever;
He made a decree which shall not pass away.
- 7 Praise the LORD from the earth,
You great sea creatures and all the depths;
8 Fire and hail, snow and clouds;
Stormy wind, fulfilling His word;
- 9 Mountains and all hills;
Fruitful trees and all cedars;
- 10 Beasts and all cattle;

PRAISE GOD, ALL HEAVEN AND EARTH (Ps. 148:13)

Hymns from Egypt to Mesopotamia are filled with praises to the deity. On the feast day of any given deity, the hymns named the god as the highest god of the pantheon on that particular day. Whether it was a hymn to Amon of Egypt or to Ishtar of Babylon, the singers praised that deity for creating the world, for ruling over the other gods, for unsurpassed wisdom, and for the blessings which the worshipers had received from the deity. Always, the deity to whom the song was directed was called the greatest of all the gods.

Such a hymn is Ps. 148, possibly composed for a day set aside as holy to Yahweh. After the Exile this psalm could have been sung daily since, at least in Judah's later years, all days were thought holy to Yahweh. In the hymn, the residents of heaven are joined in their praise of Yahweh by inanimate objects, all of creation from heaven to earth (Ps. 148:7–10). Moreover, the song assumes that all peoples everywhere praise God who created them (148:11, 12). Language and motifs that are used elsewhere in the ancient world for other gods are reserved in Ps. 148 exclusively for Yahweh.

The ancient world understood that one never sings hymns of praise alone, but always with the entire universe. This idea of solidarity with the entire created order was carried over into the early church and still remains a central aspect of Orthodox Christian liturgy.

11 Creeping things and flying fowl;
Kings of the earth and all peoples;
Princes and all judges of the earth;
12 Both young men and maidens;
Old men and children.

13 Let them praise the name of the LORD,
For His name alone is exalted;
His glory is above the earth and heaven.
14 And He has exalted the horn of His people,
The praise of all His saints—
Of the children of Israel,
A people near to Him.

Praise the LORD!

PSALM 149Praise to God for His Salvation and Judgment

Praise the LORD!
Sing to the LORD a new song,
And His praise in the assembly of saints.

2 Let Israel rejoice in their Maker;
Let the children of Zion be joyful in their King.

3 Let them praise His name with the dance;
Let them sing praises to Him with the timbrel and harp.

4 For the LORD takes pleasure in His people;
He will beautify the humble with salvation.

5 Let the saints be joyful in glory;
Let them sing aloud on their beds.

6 Let the high praises of God be in their mouth,
And a two-edged sword in their hand,

7 To execute vengeance on the nations,
And punishments on the peoples;

8 To bind their kings with chains,

9 And their nobles with fetters of iron;
To execute on them the written judgment—
This honor have all His saints.

Praise the LORD!

PSALM 150Let All Things Praise the LORD

Praise the LORD!
Praise God in His sanctuary;
Praise Him in His mighty firmament!

2 Praise Him for His mighty acts;
Praise Him according to His excellent greatness!

3 Praise Him with the sound of the trumpet;
Praise Him with the lute and harp!

4 Praise Him with the timbrel and dance;
Praise Him with stringed instruments and flutes!

5 Praise Him with loud cymbals;
Praise Him with clashing cymbals!

6 Let everything that has breath praise the LORD.

Praise the LORD!

TRANSITION*Nehemiah's Religious Reforms

Nehemiah began his term of office in 445 B.C., and his greatest accomplishment was the rebuilding of the city walls. They were completed in only 52 days (Neh. 6:15), but these quickly erected walls may have been just makeshift structures. The Jewish historian Josephus writes that the final walls took over 2 years, being completed in 437 B.C.

Nehemiah remained in Jerusalem until the 32nd year of Artaxerxes (433 B.C.), at which time he returned to Artaxerxes' court (Neh. 13:6). Soon, though, he convinced the Persian king to reappoint him to Judah, and he returned to find matters in an unacceptable state.

Nehemiah, like Ezra, was a purist in religious matters. True worship was only possible by the undefiled, and to Nehemiah that disqualified all of the people who had remained in the land during the Exile. Only the returned exiles, who had kept the faith pure even while in captivity, were acceptable. When Nehemiah found that Tobiah, an Ammonite official (Neh. 2:19), had been given rooms in the temple itself, he was aghast and removed Tobiah with characteristic promptness (Neh. 13:7–9). Nehemiah also restored the official support of the Levitical ministers (13:10–14) and resumed enforcement of Sabbath laws (13:15–22).

The exclusivism of Nehemiah and Ezra is sometimes troubling. Though intended to protect the faith from idolatrous influences, it often seems excessively severe. After all, some of the people so utterly rejected also worshiped the God of Israel. Not everyone felt as Nehemiah did. The Eliashib who installed Tobiah in his temple apartment was none other than the high priest himself (Neh. 3:1), who evidently regarded his neighbors with more tolerance (see "Isaiah and the Restoration" at Is. 56:1).

Principles of Separation

13:1 On that day they read from the Book of Moses in the hearing of the people, and in it was found written that no Ammonite or Moabite should ever come into the assembly of God, <sup>2</sup>because they had not met the children of Israel with bread and water, but hired Balaam against them to curse them. However, our God turned the curse into a blessing. <sup>3</sup>So it was, when they had heard the Law, that they separated all the mixed multitude from Israel.

Temple, Tithes, and Sabbath

<sup>4</sup>Now before this, Eliashib the priest, having authority over the storerooms of the house of our God, was allied with Tobiah. <sup>5</sup>And he had prepared for him a large room, where previously they had stored the grain offerings, the frankincense, the articles, the tithes of grain, the new wine and oil, which were commanded to be given to the Levites and singers and gatekeepers, and the offerings for the priests. <sup>6</sup>But during all this I was not in Jerusalem, for in the thirty-second year of Artaxerxes king of Babylon I had returned to the king. Then after certain days I obtained leave from the king, <sup>7</sup>and I came to Jerusalem and discovered the evil that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, in preparing a room for him in the courts of the house of God. <sup>8</sup>And it grieved me bitterly; therefore I threw all the household goods of Tobiah out of the room. <sup>9</sup>Then I commanded them to cleanse the rooms; and I brought back into them the articles of the house of God, with the grain offering and the frankincense.

<sup>10</sup>I also realized that the portions for the Levites had not been given them; for each of the Levites and the singers who did the work had gone back to his field. <sup>11</sup>So I contended with the rulers, and said, "Why is the house of God forsaken?" And I gathered them together and set them in their place. <sup>12</sup>Then all Judah brought the tithe of the grain and the new wine and the oil to the storehouse. <sup>13</sup>And I appointed as treasurers over the storehouse Shelemiah the priest and Zadok the scribe, and of the Levites, Pedaiah; and next to them was Hanan the son of Zaccur, the son of Mattaniah; for they were considered faithful, and their task was to distribute to their brethren.

<sup>14</sup>Remember me, O my God, concerning this, and do not wipe out my good deeds that I have done for the house of my God, and for its services!

<sup>15</sup>In those days I saw people in Judah treading wine presses on the Sabbath, and bringing in sheaves, and loading donkeys with wine, grapes, figs, and all kinds of burdens, which they brought into Jerusalem on the Sabbath day. And I warned them about the day on which they were selling provisions. <sup>16</sup>Men of Tyre dwelt there also, who brought in fish and all kinds of goods, and sold them on the Sabbath to the children of Judah, and in Jerusalem.

<sup>17</sup>Then I contended with the nobles of Judah, and said to them, "What evil thing is this that you do, by which you profane the Sabbath day? <sup>18</sup>Did not your fathers do thus, and did not our God bring all this disaster on us and on this city? Yet you bring added wrath on Israel by profaning the Sabbath."

<sup>19</sup>So it was, at the gates of Jerusalem, as it began to be dark before the Sabbath, that I commanded the gates to be shut, and charged that they must not be opened till after the Sabbath. Then I posted some of my servants at the gates, so that no burdens would be brought in on the

Religion & Worship

The prohibition against work on the Sabbath is a religious obligation, not an arrangement imposed by an employer or government. A man could be executed for "gathering sticks on the Sabbath day" (Num. 15:32–36). Nehemiah did not impose such a strict penalty, but he did try to stop daily work on the 7th day. Working on that day "profanes" it, making it like any other day (Neh. 13:18).

TOBIAH, THE ENEMY OF NEHEMIAH (NEH. 13:7)

Sometime after 433 B.C., Nehemiah returned from Persia to Judah only to find that his personal enemy Tobiah had wormed his way into the temple itself (Neh. 13:7). Tobiah was not a Judean, but an Ammonite. The “evil” that Nehemiah discovered was that the high priest had taken an Ammonite into the temple, something forbidden in the Law of Moses (13:1).

There were several conflicts between Nehemiah and Tobiah. First Tobiah opposed Nehemiah’s rebuilding of Jerusalem’s walls (Neh. 2:10, 19). Accusations that Nehemiah was rebelling against the Persian king who had appointed him Judah’s governor failed to stop the work. Tobiah further ridiculed the walls (Neh. 4:3) and then plotted with others to attack Jerusalem before the walls could be completed (4:11, 15). These attempts likewise failed.

Tobiah was nothing if not persistent. He, with others, attempted to lure Nehemiah away from Jerusalem in order to assassinate him (6:1, 2). Later on, Tobiah sent him threatening letters (6:19).

Attempting to infiltrate the temple was possibly Tobiah’s new strategy to undermine Nehemiah’s authority. Most likely he wished to rule over Jerusalem himself, even though he was an Ammonite, not a Judean. He most likely desired to absorb Judah into his own realm, since, as an “Ammonite official” (2:19), he possibly held a position in Ammon similar to Sanballat’s in Samaria and Nehemiah’s in Judah.

Tobiah was from a powerful, wealthy Ammonite family who impacted Jewish history later on. Archaeologists have discovered a palace-fortress just to the east of Judah from a century after Nehemiah’s time. The fortress has the name “Tobiah” inscribed at the entrance. Unable to gather control of Jerusalem, Tobiah and his family eventually carved out landholdings and political power in Ammon, just east of the Jordan River.

Sabbath day. <sup>20</sup>Now the merchants and sellers of all kinds of wares lodged outside Jerusalem once or twice.

<sup>21</sup>Then I warned them, and said to them, “Why do you spend the night around the wall? If you do so again, I will lay hands on you!” From that time on they came no more on the Sabbath. <sup>22</sup>And I commanded the Levites that they should cleanse themselves, and that they should go and guard the gates, to sanctify the Sabbath day.

Remember me, O my God, concerning this also, and spare me according to the greatness of Your mercy!

For some, the Sabbath day was a reminder and an opportunity to give thanks to God for His great blessings. This, at least, was the perspective of the anonymous psalmist responsible for Ps. 92. Others, though, would simply treat the Sabbath as another law to be followed, and Nehemiah’s heavy-handed enforcement of the Sabbath law only added to that legalism. By the time of Christ, legalism had almost obliterated the joy of Sabbath thanksgiving that is so evident in Ps. 92 (see Mark 2:23–28).

TRANSITION*The Sabbath After the Exile

When the Jerusalem temple was destroyed in 586 B.C., the Jews in exile had to find and emphasize religious practices that did not require a physical temple. One was Scripture (see “Ezra the Scribe” at Ezra 7:1). Another was the observance of the Sabbath. Although the Sabbath law was one of Israel’s most ancient, being the fourth commandment (Ex. 20:8–11), it was not treated as a central truth of the faith until after the temple had been destroyed. To Jews living in foreign lands, the visible distinctive of Sabbath observance became an essential mark of the true believer. It was no less than a public statement of faith.

Even after some exiled Jews returned to Jerusalem and rebuilt the temple, Sabbath observance remained a nonnegotiable element of true worship. When Nehemiah returned to Jerusalem for a second term as governor, one of his first actions was to enforce the Sabbath laws. As always, he was abrupt and severe, even offering threats of physical violence (Neh. 13:21).

THE NEHEMIAH MEMOIRS (NEH. 13:31)

Portions of the Book of Nehemiah use the first-person pronouns “I” and “me” in recounting the events of the story. Apparently, the final editor of the book used a firsthand account written by Nehemiah himself to complete the story begun in Chronicles and the Book of Ezra. Called by scholars the “Nehemiah memoirs,” the account provides Nehemiah’s own perspective of the events and the resistance he faced in attempting to restore Jerusalem to a place of prominence among its neighbors.

The Book of Nehemiah concludes with Nehemiah’s short prayer: “Remember me, O my God, for good!” (Neh. 13:31). Nehemiah repeats a similar prayer throughout his memoirs, asking that God remember certain deeds and persons (Neh. 5:19; 6:14; 13:14, 22, 29). As he recounted the events of his life, he was apparently confident that God approved of his actions.

Similar forms of autobiographical inscriptions have been discovered in Egypt from the same historical period as Nehemiah. The statue inscription of Udjahorresnet is from an Egyptian who, like Ezra and Nehemiah, was appointed to an important governmental post by the Persians. The Long Biographical Inscription of Petosiris is from a wealthy high priest of the Egyptian god Thoth. Both inscriptions seem to have been written by the individuals, and then posted after their deaths to commemorate their lives before the public and their gods. Both writings ask for people and the gods to “remember” them and their deeds.

Nehemiah may have written his memoirs as part of a similar funerary custom. Following Nehemiah’s death, then, his memoirs became an excellent source of Judah’s history, dealing with the restoration of the temple and of Jerusalem’s walls.

It is that they may be destroyed forever.

- 8 But You, LORD, are on high forevermore.
 9 For behold, Your enemies, O LORD,
 For behold, Your enemies shall perish;
 All the workers of iniquity shall be scattered.
- 10 But my horn You have exalted like a wild ox;
 I have been anointed with fresh oil.
 11 My eye also has seen my desire on my enemies;
 My ears hear my desire on the wicked
 Who rise up against me.
- 12 The righteous shall flourish like a palm tree,
 He shall grow like a cedar in Lebanon.
 13 Those who are planted in the house of the
 LORD
 Shall flourish in the courts of our God.
 14 They shall still bear fruit in old age;
 They shall be fresh and flourishing,
 15 To declare that the LORD is upright;
He is my rock, and there is no
 unrighteousness in Him.

TRANSITION

Nehemiah and Foreign Wives

Both Ezra and Nehemiah vehemently (and in Nehemiah’s case, violently) opposed the intermarriage of returned exiles and the people of the land. When Ezra heard of such marriages, he tore his clothes and pulled his own hair and beard (Ezra 9:3). Nehemiah, less introspective, pulled the hair of those who had intermarried (Neh. 13:25). To these leaders the problem was serious: any connection with the foreign or unclean could result in an adulterated faith.

Not everyone, not even every religious leader, agreed. The high priest Eliashib himself evidently regarded such marriages with indulgence (Neh. 13:28), and among some of the Jews in exile intermarriage appeared to be unremarkable. The author of the Book of Esther related Esther’s marriage to a Persian king without apology or comment (see “The Book of Esther” at Esth. 1:1). The Book of Ruth, which many scholars feel was written sometime during the Persian period, deliberately points out that the great King David himself had a Moabite ancestress (Ruth 1:4; 4:13–22; see Neh. 13:23).

13 :23 In those days I also saw Jews who had married women of Ashdod, Ammon, and Moab. <sup>24</sup>And half of their children spoke the language of Ashdod, and could not speak the language of Judah, but spoke according to the language of one or the other people.

<sup>25</sup>So I contended with them and cursed them, struck some of them and pulled out their hair, and made them swear by God, saying, “You shall not give your daughters as wives to their sons, nor take their daughters for your sons or yourselves. <sup>26</sup>Did not Solomon king of Israel sin by these things? Yet among many nations there was no king like him, who was beloved of his God; and God made him king over all Israel. Nevertheless pagan women caused even him to sin. <sup>27</sup>Should we then hear of your doing all this great evil, transgressing against our God by marrying pagan women?”

<sup>28</sup>And one of the sons of Joiada, the son of Eliashib the high priest, was a son-in-law of Sanballat the Horonite; therefore I drove him from me.

<sup>29</sup>Remember them, O my God, because they have defiled the priesthood and the covenant of the priesthood and the Levites.

<sup>30</sup>Thus I cleansed them of everything pagan. I also assigned duties to the priests and the Levites, each to his service, <sup>31</sup>and to bringing the wood offering and the firstfruits at appointed times.

TRANSITION

The Book of Joel

Nothing is known about the prophet Joel except for what the Book of Joel itself offers. All information beyond the name of his father Pethuel (Joel 1:1) must be concluded by examining Joel's prophecies.

Joel prophesied in Jerusalem at a time when there was a temple standing (Joel 2:17), but beyond that no one is certain when Joel was active. Some scholars have suggested that Joel was one of the earliest of prophets, prophesying in the 8th century B.C., even before Amos and Hosea. Others place him later, even as late as the Persian period. The book can be read in a context, such as the time of the Persian Empire, when Jerusalem had no king. Joel calls for a national day of fasting and repentance, to be led by the elders and the priests (1:14; 2:15–17). Had Joel prophesied during the monarchy, the king would surely have had a part in such a solemn assembly.

The Persian era suits Joel's prophecies in other ways. Like Malachi, Joel shows a strong priestly orientation. He sees repentance as an official priestly task instead of an individual responsibility (Joel 2:17). He refers once to the Greeks (3:6), a reference that would make the most sense when the Greek city-states were gaining international recognition for their wars against Persia. Finally, Joel shows an amazing awareness of earlier prophecies, quoting extensively from their works. His most interesting quotation (Joel 3:10) reverses an earlier prophecy found in both Isaiah (Is. 2:4) and Micah (Mic. 4:3). Now plowshares would become swords and pruning hooks, spears.

In whatever era Joel spoke, the immediate concern of his prophecy was a plague of locusts. To an agricultural society, the vast swarms of locusts that occasionally appeared in the ancient Near East spelled famine and death. Joel uses one such disaster to call the people back to true faith in God. The locust swarm was a "day of the LORD," and a still more devastating, universal day of the Lord was still

THE DAY OF JUDGMENT (JOEL 1:15)

Among the Old Testament prophets the phrase “day of the LORD” (or “day of Yahweh”) meant disaster and destruction for Judah and Israel. The prophet Joel could only announce, “Alas for the day!” (Joel 1:15). In the ancient Near East, the “day” of a deity meant a time of celebration in which that particular deity was honored as the most powerful god of the pantheon. In the liturgical calendars of Egypt and Mesopotamia there were holy days set aside all through the year for the worship of the various deities.

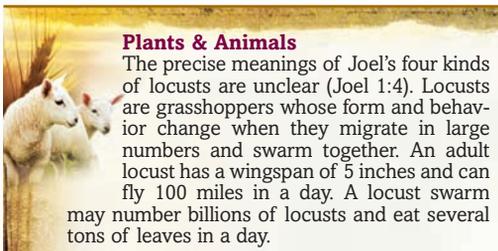

In the cultures of both Egypt and Mesopotamia, banquets and celebrations marked each god’s day. In Egyptian festivals, the image of the god was brought from the temple and carried through the streets. In Mesopotamia, the statues of many gods might be brought in procession to the temple of the god whose day it was to join the celebration. As supreme ruler for that day, the deity was asked to bring justice to the world. Loyal worshippers were expected to be rewarded and the wicked punished.

The people of Judah similarly considered the day of Yahweh to be one of festivals and good times. Prophets like Joel (Joel 1:15) and Amos (Amos 5:18), however, proclaimed a contrasting view. They agreed that Yahweh would indeed bring judgment and true justice on that day. But, since the people had not lived by the rules of God, the judgment that would come would result in their own destruction. The Judeans did not understand that their request for justice was a call for their own condemnation.

Plants & Animals

The precise meanings of Joel’s four kinds of locusts are unclear (Joel 1:4). Locusts are grasshoppers whose form and behavior change when they migrate in large numbers and swarm together. An adult locust has a wingspan of 5 inches and can fly 100 miles in a day. A locust swarm may number billions of locusts and eat several tons of leaves in a day.

Call a sacred assembly;
Gather the elders
And all the inhabitants of the land
Into the house of the LORD your God,
And cry out to the LORD.

- 15 Alas for the day!
For the day of the LORD is at hand;
It shall come as destruction from the Almighty.
- 16 Is not the food cut off before our eyes,
Joy and gladness from the house of our
God?
- 17 The seed shrivels under the clods,
Storehouses are in shambles;
Barns are broken down,
For the grain has withered.
- 18 How the animals groan!
The herds of cattle are restless,
Because they have no pasture;
Even the flocks of sheep suffer punishment.<sup>a</sup>
- 19 O LORD, to You I cry out;
For fire has devoured the open pastures,
And a flame has burned all the trees of the field.
- 20 The beasts of the field also cry out to You,
For the water brooks are dried up,
And fire has devoured the open pastures.

The Day of the LORD

- 2 <sup>1</sup> Blow the trumpet in Zion,
And sound an alarm in My holy mountain!
Let all the inhabitants of the land tremble;
For the day of the LORD is coming,
For it is at hand:
- 2 A day of darkness and gloominess,

1:18 <sup>a</sup>Septuagint and Vulgate read are made desolate.

A day of clouds and thick darkness,
Like the morning clouds spread over the mountains.

A people come, great and strong,
The like of whom has never been;
Nor will there ever be any such after them,
Even for many successive generations.

3 A fire devours before them,
And behind them a flame burns;
The land is like the Garden of Eden before
them,
And behind them a desolate wilderness;
Surely nothing shall escape them.

4 Their appearance is like the appearance of horses;
And like swift steeds, so they run.
5 With a noise like chariots
Over mountaintops they leap,
Like the noise of a flaming fire that devours the stubble,
Like a strong people set in battle array.

6 Before them the people writhe in pain;
All faces are drained of color.<sup>a</sup>

7 They run like mighty men,
They climb the wall like men of war;
Every one marches in formation,
And they do not break ranks.

8 They do not push one another;
Every one marches in his own column.<sup>a</sup>
Though they lunge between the weapons,
They are not cut down.<sup>b</sup>

9 They run to and fro in the city,
They run on the wall;
They climb into the houses,
They enter at the windows like a thief.

10 The earth quakes before them,
The heavens tremble;
The sun and moon grow dark,
And the stars diminish their brightness.

11 The LORD gives voice before His army,
For His camp is very great;
For strong is the One who executes His word.
For the day of the LORD is great and very
terrible;
Who can endure it?

A Call to Repentance

12 “Now, therefore,” says the LORD,
“Turn to Me with all your heart,
With fasting, with weeping, and with mourning.”

13 So rend your heart, and not your garments;
Return to the LORD your God,
For He is gracious and merciful,
Slow to anger, and of great kindness;
And He relents from doing harm.

14 Who knows if He will turn and relent,
And leave a blessing behind Him—
A grain offering and a drink offering
For the LORD your God?

15 Blow the trumpet in Zion,
Consecrate a fast,
Call a sacred assembly;

16 Gather the people,
Sanctify the congregation,
Assemble the elders,
Gather the children and nursing babes;
Let the bridegroom go out from his chamber,

And the bride from her dressing room.
17 Let the priests, who minister to the LORD,
Weep between the porch and the altar;
Let them say, “Spare Your people, O LORD,
And do not give Your heritage to reproach,
That the nations should rule over them.
Why should they say among the peoples,
‘Where is their God?’”

The Land Refreshed

18 Then the LORD will be zealous for His land,
And pity His people.

19 The LORD will answer and say to His
people,
“Behold, I will send you grain and new wine
and oil,
And you will be satisfied by them;
I will no longer make you a reproach
among the nations.

20 “But I will remove far from you the northern

And will drive him away into a barren and desolate land,
With his face toward the eastern sea
And his back toward the western sea;
His stench will come up,
And his foul odor will rise,
Because he has done monstrous things.”

21 Fear not, O land;
Be glad and rejoice,
For the LORD has done marvelous things!

22 Do not be afraid, you beasts of the field;
For the open pastures are springing up,
And the tree bears its fruit;
The fig tree and the vine yield their strength.

23 Be glad then, you children of Zion,

 For He has given you the former rain

 And He will cause the rain to come down for you—
 The former rain,
 And the latter rain in the first month.
 24 The threshing floors shall be full of wheat,
 And the vats shall overflow with new wine

25 “So I will restore to you the years that the

 The crawling locust,

 26 You shall eat in plenty and be satisfied,
 And praise the name of the LORD your God,

Sea fortress in Sidon

TYRE AND SIDON, THE ECONOMIC OPPRESSORS (JOEL 3:4–6)

The coastline of Palestine was (and still is) crucially important for the political and economic balance of power in the Near East. The Persians sought to establish a western section of their empire, extending from Egypt, located south of Tyre and Sidon, all the way to Asia Minor and Greece to the north. Tyre and Sidon, as a central point in this western section, were important for providing fleets for trade and for fighting the Greeks.

When the Jews returned to Jerusalem during the Persian period, Tyre and Sidon possessed both wealth and a degree of political importance. In contrast, the small Persian province of Judah was poor and politically important only as the backdoor into Egypt.

City-states along “the coasts of Philistia,” as well as Tyre and Sidon (Joel 3:4), seemingly took economic advantage of Judah, their weaker neighbor to the east. For instance, during Nehemiah’s governorship of Judah, “men of Tyre” sold fish and other goods in Jerusalem on the Sabbath (Neh. 13:16). While Nehemiah shut down this practice, there is no doubt that Judah operated under a strong trade deficit with coastal city-states like Tyre and Sidon.

Economically, this would have drained Judah of its precious metals and other resources—Yahweh’s silver and gold (Joel 3:5). Lacking goods to pay their debts, Judeans would have been forced to trade in the one commodity they possessed—their own sons and daughters. The coastal traders would have sold them to the Greeks, the available market. The Greeks, in turn, would “remove them far from their borders” (Joel 3:6) into Greece or Asia Minor.

Because of such economic exploitation of God’s people, the prophet Joel announced God’s judgment against “Tyre and Sidon, and all the coasts of Philistia.” What they had done to the Judeans would soon happen to them (Joel 3:4, 7, 8).

- 4 “Indeed, what have you to do with Me,
O Tyre and Sidon, and all the coasts of Philistia?
Will you retaliate against Me?
But if you retaliate against Me,
Swiftly and speedily I will return your retaliation upon your own head;
- 5 Because you have taken My silver and My gold,
And have carried into your temples My prized possessions.
- 6 Also the people of Judah and the people of Jerusalem
You have sold to the Greeks,
That you may remove them far from their borders.
- 7 “Behold, I will raise them
Out of the place to which you have sold
them,
And will return your retaliation upon your own head.
- 8 I will sell your sons and your daughters
Into the hand of the people of Judah,
And they will sell them to the Sabeans,<sup>a</sup>
To a people far off;
For the LORD has spoken.”
- 9 Proclaim this among the nations:
“Prepare for war!
Wake up the mighty men,
Let all the men of war draw near,
Let them come up.
- 10 Beat your plowshares into swords
And your pruning hooks into spears;

- Let the weak say, ‘I am strong.’”
- 11 Assemble and come, all you nations,
And gather together all around.
Cause Your mighty ones to go down there,
O LORD.
- 12 “Let the nations be wakened, and come up to the Valley of Jehoshaphat;
For there I will sit to judge all the surrounding nations.
- 13 Put in the sickle, for the harvest is ripe.
Come, go down;
For the winepress is full,
The vats overflow—
For their wickedness is great.”
- 14 Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision!
For the day of the LORD is near in the valley of decision.
- 15 The sun and moon will grow dark,
And the stars will diminish their brightness.
- 16 The LORD also will roar from Zion,
And utter His voice from Jerusalem;
The heavens and earth will shake;
But the LORD will be a shelter for His
people,
And the strength of the children of Israel.
- 17 “So you shall know that I am the LORD your
God,
Dwelling in Zion My holy mountain.
Then Jerusalem shall be holy,
And no aliens shall ever pass through her again.”

3:8 <sup>a</sup>Literally Shebaites (compare Isaiah 60:6 and Ezekiel 27:22)

God Blesses His People

- 18 And it will come to pass in that day
That the mountains shall drip with new wine,
The hills shall flow with milk,
And all the brooks of Judah shall be flooded with water;
A fountain shall flow from the house of the
LORD
And water the Valley of Acacias.
- 19 “Egypt shall be a desolation,
And Edom a desolate wilderness,
Because of violence against the people of Judah,
For they have shed innocent blood in their
land.
- 20 But Judah shall abide forever,
And Jerusalem from generation to generation.
- 21 For I will acquit them of the guilt of bloodshed, whom I had not acquitted;
For the LORD dwells in Zion.”

TRANSITION

Isaiah and the Restoration

The chronology of the Book of Isaiah is very complicated. Undoubtedly, different prophecies in the book speak of time periods that are centuries apart. The prophet Isaiah lived in Judah during the reigns of Ahaz (735–715 B.C.) and Hezekiah (715–686 B.C.), and most of the early passages in the book refer to those kings and to the Assyrian Empire, which was expanding at that time. Most of these prophecies are dark and pessimistic, speaking of inevitable judgment and destruction, because Judah had refused to hear God’s words.

Strikingly different are the oracles of salvation in Is. 40–55, which promise a return from exile and a rebuilding of Jerusalem and the temple (Is. 44:28). These prophecies explicitly name Cyrus the Persian (44:28; 45:1), identifying the approaching salvation as the restoration of Jerusalem after the Babylonian exile, almost 200 years after the prophet Isaiah himself was active. Scholars differ as to whether the prophecies in these chapters should be understood as foretellings of the distant future by Isaiah himself or rather as the words of an anonymous prophet of the Exile, who saw himself as a spiritual descendant of the great Isaiah (see “Isaiah and Cyrus the Persian” at Is. 40:1).

A third major shift in the Book of Isaiah begins at ch. 56. Where chs. 40–55 spoke of a day when the temple would be restored, chs. 56–66 assume that a temple is standing (56:7; 66:6). Since these final chapters follow immediately after the prophecies of the temple’s restoration, it is reasonable to assume that they speak of the second temple, built during the Persian era. As is the case with chs. 40–55, some believe chs. 56–66 are the foretellings of the 8th-century prophet Isaiah, while others consider them the work of a postexilic prophet following in Isaiah’s tradition.

If the prophecies of Is. 56–66 do speak of the second temple period, it is remarkable how much their message is in tension with the actual practices of the second temple. All the leaders of the community of returned exiles were meticulous about avoiding foreigners, but the prophet declares that foreigners will be God’s servants (Is. 56:3–8). He promises a time when the temple will be “a house of prayer for all nations” (56:7), and when the sacrifices of foreigners will be acceptable on the temple altar. The theme of the faithful Gentiles is resoundingly repeated in chs. 60–62, where the Gentiles will come to God’s light (60:3), will build the city walls (60:10), and will see the righteousness of God’s people (62:2). If certain members of the restoration community in Jerusalem opposed the exclusivism of Ezra and Nehemiah, as seems likely, they had powerful support in these prophecies.

Salvation for the Gentiles

56 :1 Thus says the LORD:

- “Keep justice, and do righteousness,
For My salvation is about to come,
And My righteousness to be revealed.
- 2 Blessed is the man who does this,
And the son of man who lays hold on it;
Who keeps from defiling the Sabbath,
And keeps his hand from doing any evil.”
- 3 Do not let the son of the foreigner
Who has joined himself to the LORD
Speak, saying,
“The LORD has utterly separated me from His people”;
Nor let the eunuch say,
“Here I am, a dry tree.”
- 4 For thus says the LORD:
“To the eunuchs who keep My Sabbaths,
And choose what pleases Me,
And hold fast My covenant,
5 Even to them I will give in My house
And within My walls a place and a name
Better than that of sons and daughters;
I will give them<sup>a</sup> an everlasting name
That shall not be cut off.
- 6 “Also the sons of the foreigner

56:5 <sup>a</sup>Literally him

A EUNUCH AND A FOREIGNER IN GOD'S HOUSE (Is. 56:3)

The prophet addressed the status that two different groups would have in the future Jerusalem: "the son of the foreigner" (Is. 56:3, 6) and the eunuch (56:3). The Book of Deuteronomy excluded both of these groups from taking part in the temple ceremonies (Deut. 23:1-3). They never could be fully a part of God's people.

In God's future Jerusalem, however, a different situation will prevail. In the future temple, ethnic origin or physical defects will no longer determine one's status. Rather, what matters will be obedience to God's covenant, particularly keeping the Sabbath (Is. 56:2, 4, 6).

The future, therefore, would bring about a reversal of the present status of these excluded people. Eunuchs were restricted by the Law of Moses because self-mutilation was often performed in honor of a heathen god (1 Kin. 18:28). In addition, a person with a defect was deemed unfit for service to God. Faithful eunuchs, however, will have a place within the future temple that will more than compensate for their lack of descendants (Is. 56:5).

The faithful "sons of the foreigner" can also become God's servants (56:6). They will have more than just access to the temple. God will grant them full participation as part of His own people by accepting their sacrifices. The temple will indeed become "a house of prayer for all nations" (56:7).

Who join themselves to the LORD, to serve
Him,
And to love the name of the LORD, to be His servants—

Everyone who keeps from defiling the Sabbath,

And holds fast My covenant—

7 Even them I will bring to My holy mountain,
And make them joyful in My house of prayer.

Their burnt offerings and their sacrifices
Will be accepted on My altar;

For My house shall be called a house of prayer for all nations."

You have offered a grain offering.
Should I receive comfort in these?

7 "On a lofty and high mountain
You have set your bed;
Even there you went up
To offer sacrifice.

Cults & Supernatural

Archaeological evidence reveals that child sacrifice was practiced in the ancient Mediterranean area (Is. 57:5). The bodies were buried in clay urns, and inscriptions written on the urns have been found stating to which god the child was sacrificed. The largest burial area so far discovered is in ancient Carthage, the city in north Africa that the Romans destroyed in 146 B.C.

8 Also behind the doors and their posts
 You have set up your remembrance;
 For you have uncovered yourself to those other than Me,
 And have gone up to them;
 You have enlarged your bed
 And made a covenant with them;
 You have loved their bed,
 Where you saw their nudity.<sup>a</sup>

9 You went to the king with ointment,
 And increased your perfumes;
 You sent your messengers far off,
 And even descended to Sheol.

10 You are wearied in the length of your way;
 Yet you did not say, 'There is no hope.'
 You have found the life of your hand;
 Therefore you were not grieved.

11 "And of whom have you been afraid, or feared,
 That you have lied
 And not remembered Me,
 Nor taken it to your heart?
 Is it not because I have held My peace from
 of old
 That you do not fear Me?
 I will declare your righteousness
 And your works,
 For they will not profit you.

12 When you cry out,
 Let your collection of idols deliver you.
 But the wind will carry them all away,
 A breath will take them.
 But he who puts his trust in Me shall possess the land,
 And shall inherit My holy mountain."

4 Indeed you fast for strife and debate,
 And to strike with the fist of wickedness.

57:8 <sup>a</sup>Literally hand, a euphemism

TOUGH TIMES IN JERUSALEM (Is. 58:10)

In Is. 58:1–14 the prophet most likely describes the situation in Jerusalem soon after the exiles returned home. Life was hard upon their return. Not only did the community have to reclaim the land for farming and reconstruct the city, they had to rebuild all their economic institutions from the ground up.

The prophet criticized the Judean leaders for the way religious devotion had become a substitute for ethical behavior. These people exhibited an active piety in beseeching God's blessing on their new endeavor to pick up the pieces in Jerusalem. One cannot fault their religious sincerity. They were daily in prayer (Is. 58:2) and pursued an active program of fasting (58:3). They obeyed the proper guidelines—the “ordinances of justice” (58:2)—for their religious behavior.

Yet God was not impressed. No matter how properly “religious” their behavior was, it did not address the real need of the community: the need to share the scarce resources that were available to the returnees. The leaders possessed what little wealth had awaited the exiles when they returned to Jerusalem.

The situation in Jerusalem after the Exile showed a huge gap between the “haves” and the “have-nots.” Jerusalem had its share of the hungry, the homeless, and those who lacked adequate clothing (58:7). These people were a part of the exilic community; they were from the Judean leaders’ “own flesh” (58:7). Nevertheless, the “haves” did not see the necessity of relating their religious devotion to their social and economic practice.

God thought that they should. The prophetic oracle promised the full restoration of Jerusalem (58:12), but only if the “haves” would extend themselves to those hungry and afflicted (58:10).

You will not fast as you do this day,
To make your voice heard on high.
5 Is it a fast that I have chosen,
A day for a man to afflict his soul?
Is it to bow down his head like a bulrush,
And to spread out sackcloth and ashes?
Would you call this a fast,
And an acceptable day to the LORD?
6 “Is this not the fast that I have chosen:
To loose the bonds of wickedness,
To undo the heavy burdens,
To let the oppressed go free,
And that you break every yoke?
7 Is it not to share your bread with the
hungry,
And that you bring to your house the poor
who are cast out;
When you see the naked, that you cover
him,
And not hide yourself from your own flesh?
8 Then your light shall break forth like the
morning,
Your healing shall spring forth speedily,
And your righteousness shall go before
you;
The glory of the LORD shall be your rear guard.
9 Then you shall call, and the LORD will
answer;
You shall cry, and He will say, ‘Here I am.’
“If you take away the yoke from your midst,
The pointing of the finger, and speaking wickedness,
10 If you extend your soul to the hungry
And satisfy the afflicted soul,
Then your light shall dawn in the darkness,
And your darkness shall be as the noonday.
11 The LORD will guide you continually,

And satisfy your soul in drought,
And strengthen your bones;
You shall be like a watered garden,
And like a spring of water, whose waters
do not fail.
12 Those from among you
Shall build the old waste places;
You shall raise up the foundations of many
generations;
And you shall be called the Repairer of the Breach,
The Restorer of Streets to Dwell In.
13 “If you turn away your foot from the Sabbath,
From doing your pleasure on My holy day,
And call the Sabbath a delight,
The holy day of the LORD honorable,
And shall honor Him, not doing your own
ways,
Nor finding your own pleasure,
Nor speaking your own words,
14 Then you shall delight yourself in the LORD;
And I will cause you to ride on the high hills of the earth,
And feed you with the heritage of Jacob your father.
The mouth of the LORD has spoken.”

Separated from God

59 <sup>1</sup> Behold, the LORD's hand is not shortened,
That it cannot save;
Nor His ear heavy,
That it cannot hear.
2 But your iniquities have separated you from your God;
And your sins have hidden His face from
you,
So that He will not hear.

A MOUND OF RUINS (Is. 58:12)

Since rainfall occurs only during the winter months in Canaan, cities there needed to be built near perennial springs. For defensive purposes cities also needed to be built on higher ground. Thus in ancient times cities were built on the hills closest to a perennial water source.

Because Canaan was on the major path of Egyptians going toward Asia and of Asians going toward Egypt, the cities and towns of Canaan were regularly destroyed by invaders. In addition, Canaan regularly suffered from the effects of earthquakes and other natural disasters. Once destroyed, ancient cities were most often just rebuilt on top of the ruins of the old cities. The old city was already in the most defensible location closest to the water, so the city inhabitants just rebuilt on the same spot.

During the rebuilding process, some stones could be easily reused and were. Others were just allowed to become part of the foundation. Mud bricks, a common building material, were often displaced and, thus, became unusable. After a time, the original small hills grew into large mounds, many of which can still be seen today. Some of these hills, called "tells," are made up of 20 and more cities that were built, destroyed, and rebuilt.

The prophet described this process by noting that some powers that were then strong would become a "ruinous heap" (Is. 17:1) and some of them would never again be rebuilt (Is. 25:2). Yet there was a message of hope for Judah: certain Judeans would return to Judah's ruined cities and rebuild "the old waste places" with new foundations (Is. 58:12).

3 For your hands are defiled with blood,
And your fingers with iniquity;
Your lips have spoken lies,
Your tongue has muttered perversity.

4 No one calls for justice,
Nor does any plead for truth.
They trust in empty words and speak lies;
They conceive evil and bring forth iniquity.

5 They hatch vipers' eggs and weave the spider's web;
He who eats of their eggs dies,
And from that which is crushed a viper breaks out.

6 Their webs will not become garments,
Nor will they cover themselves with their
works;
Their works are works of iniquity,
And the act of violence is in their hands.

7 Their feet run to evil,
And they make haste to shed innocent blood;
Their thoughts are thoughts of iniquity;
Wasting and destruction are in their paths.

8 The way of peace they have not known,
And there is no justice in their ways;
They have made themselves crooked paths;
Whoever takes that way shall not know
peace.

Sin Confessed

9 Therefore justice is far from us,
Nor does righteousness overtake us;

We look for light, but there is darkness!
For brightness, but we walk in blackness!
10 We grope for the wall like the blind,
And we grope as if we had no eyes;
We stumble at noonday as at twilight;
We are as dead men in desolate places.

11 We all growl like bears,
And moan sadly like doves;
We look for justice, but there is none;
For salvation, but it is far from us.

12 For our transgressions are multiplied before
You,
And our sins testify against us;
For our transgressions are with us,
And as for our iniquities, we know them:

13 In transgressing and lying against the
LORD,
And departing from our God,
Speaking oppression and revolt,
Conceiving and uttering from the heart
words of falsehood.

14 Justice is turned back,
And righteousness stands afar off;
For truth is fallen in the street,
And equity cannot enter.

15 So truth fails,
And he who departs from evil makes himself a prey.

The Redeemer of Zion

Then the LORD saw it, and it displeased
Him
That there was no justice.
16 He saw that there was no man,

- And wondered that there was no intercessor;
 Therefore His own arm brought salvation for Him;
 And His own righteousness, it sustained Him.
- 17 For He put on righteousness as a breastplate,
 And a helmet of salvation on His head;
 He put on the garments of vengeance for clothing,
 And was clad with zeal as a cloak.
- 18 According to their deeds, accordingly He will repay, Fury to His adversaries,
 Recompense to His enemies;
 The coastlands He will fully repay.
- 19 So shall they fear
 The name of the LORD from the west,
 And His glory from the rising of the sun;
 When the enemy comes in like a flood,
 The Spirit of the LORD will lift up a standard against him.
- 20 “The Redeemer will come to Zion,
 And to those who turn from transgression in Jacob,”
 Says the LORD.

<sup>21</sup>“As for Me,” says the LORD, “this is My covenant with them: My Spirit who is upon you, and My words which I have put in your mouth, shall not depart from your mouth, nor from the mouth of your descendants, nor from the mouth of your descendants’ descendants,” says the LORD, “from this time and forevermore.”

TRANSITION

God's Glory upon God's City

The oracles of the first section of the Book of Isaiah (chs. 1—39) speak predominantly of sin and judgment. By contrast, the prophecies of Is. 40—55 proclaim only salvation and joy (see “Isaiah and Cyrus the Persian” at Is. 40:1). The final section of the Book of Isaiah (chs. 56—66) contains both words of judgment (such as Is. 59) and words of salvation (such as Is. 60—62). The oracles of hope in Is. 60—62 are of surpassing power, though, and easily overpower the prophet’s condemnations.

The hopeful tone begins at Is. 60:1 with the announcement: “Arise, shine; For your light has come!” The darkness of Jerusalem’s broken walls and temple would be replaced with light and brightness as God’s glory rose upon the city. Israel would be nurtured rather than oppressed by the mighty nations (Is. 60:10–12).

God’s plan for Jerusalem included an unfading glory that is actually God’s presence. God would glorify Mount Zion and His people with His glory (60:19). This theme emerges from the three poems of chs. 60—62. While ch. 60 emphasizes the brilliance of God’s city, ch. 61 announces glory in the form of justice to the poor (61:8), and ch. 62 reveals God’s purpose for Jerusalem: the city would demonstrate His righteousness to all the earth (62:1, 2, 7, 11, 12).

The Gentiles Bless Zion

- 60 :1 Arise, shine;
 For your light has come!
 And the glory of the LORD is risen upon you.
- 2 For behold, the darkness shall cover the earth,
 And deep darkness the people;
 But the LORD will arise over you,
 And His glory will be seen upon you.
- 3 The Gentiles shall come to your light,
 And kings to the brightness of your rising.
- 4 “Lift up your eyes all around, and see:
 They all gather together, they come to you;
 Your sons shall come from afar,
 And your daughters shall be nursed at your side.
- 5 Then you shall see and become radiant,
 And your heart shall swell with joy;
 Because the abundance of the sea shall be turned to you,
 The wealth of the Gentiles shall come to you.
- 6 The multitude of camels shall cover your land,
 The dromedaries of Midian and Ephah;
 All those from Sheba shall come;
 They shall bring gold and incense,
 And they shall proclaim the praises of the LORD.
- 7 All the flocks of Kedar shall be gathered together to you,
 The rams of Nebaioth shall minister to you;
 They shall ascend with acceptance on My altar,
 And I will glorify the house of My glory.
- 8 “Who are these who fly like a cloud,
 And like doves to their roosts?
 Surely the coastlands shall wait for Me;
 And the ships of Tarshish will come first,
 To bring your sons from afar,
 Their silver and their gold with them,
 To the name of the LORD your God,
 And to the Holy One of Israel,

JERUSALEM, THE FUTURE WORLD CENTER (Is. 60:14)

In Is. 60 is a vision of a new Jerusalem which would become the world imperial center. All the nations would converge upon Jerusalem, bringing their wealth as tribute to the city's king, the Lord God (Is. 60:4–7).

Very similar imagery is found in pictures in the ceremonial hall in Persepolis, the capital of the Persian Empire. On the stairway that leads up to the throne of the Persian king, who was considered the “King of Kings,” stand carvings of other kings in various ethnic dress. Each king bears a valuable, unique gift from his own country to offer to the Great King.

The Great King is not directly represented in the pictures—he is there in concept. Yet in the center, accompanying the king, is an image of the Persian god, Ahura Mazda. Ahura Mazda was represented by a winged sun, indicating his rule of light over “all the earth” to fight back the forces of darkness. The Great King, therefore, was considered to be Ahura Mazda's representative.

The prophet uses very similar imagery to articulate God's promise to Jerusalem. The city's gates will be “open continually,” allowing kings to approach “in procession,” bringing “the wealth of the Gentiles” (60:11). Jerusalem, not Persepolis, will be the imperial center of the world.

Furthermore, the prophet depicts God in solar imagery similar to that found at Persepolis. Yet this imagery represents, not Ahura Mazda, the Persian god, but Yahweh, the God of Israel at the center of the city. Yahweh, not Ahura Mazda, will rule in Jerusalem. Yahweh, not Ahura Mazda, will be “an everlasting light” (60:19).

These prophecies offered great hope for the returnees, a hope reechoed for all people in the Book of Revelation (Rev. 21:23). Though a “deep darkness” may cover the earth, Yahweh will arise over Jerusalem as a sunrise, and His glory will attract peoples from afar (Is. 60:1–3).

Because He has glorified you.

- 10 “The sons of foreigners shall build up your walls,
And their kings shall minister to you;
For in My wrath I struck you,
But in My favor I have had mercy on you.
- 11 Therefore your gates shall be open continually;
They shall not be shut day or night,
That men may bring to you the wealth of the Gentiles,
And their kings in procession.
- 12 For the nation and kingdom which will not serve you shall perish,
And those nations shall be utterly ruined.
- 13 “The glory of Lebanon shall come to you,
The cypress, the pine, and the box tree together,
To beautify the place of My sanctuary;
And I will make the place of My feet glorious.
- 14 Also the sons of those who afflicted you Shall come bowing to you,
And all those who despised you shall fall prostrate at the soles of your feet;
And they shall call you The City of the LORD,
Zion of the Holy One of Israel.
- 15 “Whereas you have been forsaken and hated,
So that no one went through you,
I will make you an eternal excellence,
A joy of many generations.
- 16 You shall drink the milk of the Gentiles,
And milk the breast of kings;

You shall know that I, the LORD, am your Savior
And your Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob.

- 17 “Instead of bronze I will bring gold,
Instead of iron I will bring silver,
Instead of wood, bronze,
And instead of stones, iron.
I will also make your officers peace,
And your magistrates righteousness.
- 18 Violence shall no longer be heard in your land,
Neither wasting nor destruction within your borders;
But you shall call your walls Salvation,
And your gates Praise.

God the Glory of His People

- 19 “The sun shall no longer be your light by day,
Nor for brightness shall the moon give light to you;
But the LORD will be to you an everlasting light,
And your God your glory.
- 20 Your sun shall no longer go down,
Nor shall your moon withdraw itself;
For the LORD will be your everlasting light,
And the days of your mourning shall be ended.
- 21 Also your people shall all be righteous;
They shall inherit the land forever,
The branch of My planting,
The work of My hands,
That I may be glorified.

22 A little one shall become a thousand,
And a small one a strong nation.
I, the LORD, will hasten it in its time.”

The Good News of Salvation

61 <sup>1</sup> “The Spirit of the Lord GOD is upon Me,
Because the LORD has anointed Me
To preach good tidings to the poor;
He has sent Me to heal the brokenhearted,
To proclaim liberty to the captives,
And the opening of the prison to those who are bound;
2 To proclaim the acceptable year of the LORD,
And the day of vengeance of our God;
To comfort all who mourn,
3 To console those who mourn in Zion,
To give them beauty for ashes,
The oil of joy for mourning,
The garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness;
That they may be called trees of righteousness,
The planting of the LORD, that He may be glorified.”

4 And they shall rebuild the old ruins,
They shall raise up the former desolations,
And they shall repair the ruined cities,
The desolations of many generations.
5 Strangers shall stand and feed your flocks,
And the sons of the foreigner
Shall be your plowmen and your vinedressers.
6 But you shall be named the priests of the LORD,
They shall call you the servants of our God.
You shall eat the riches of the Gentiles,
And in their glory you shall boast.
7 Instead of your shame you shall have double honor,
And instead of confusion they shall rejoice
in their portion.
Therefore in their land they shall possess double;
Everlasting joy shall be theirs.

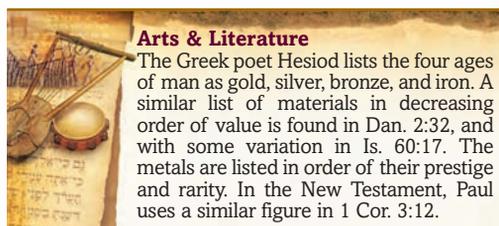

8 “For I, the LORD, love justice;
I hate robbery for burnt offering;
I will direct their work in truth,
And will make with them an everlasting covenant.
9 Their descendants shall be known among the Gentiles,

And their offspring among the people.
All who see them shall acknowledge them,
That they are the posterity whom the LORD has blessed.”

10 I will greatly rejoice in the LORD,
My soul shall be joyful in my God;
For He has clothed me with the garments of
salvation,
He has covered me with the robe of
righteousness,
As a bridegroom decks himself with ornaments,
And as a bride adorns herself with her jewels.
11 For as the earth brings forth its bud,
As the garden causes the things that are sown in it to spring forth,
So the Lord GOD will cause righteousness and praise to spring forth before all the nations.

Assurance of Zion's Salvation

62 <sup>1</sup> For Zion's sake I will not hold My
peace,
And for Jerusalem's sake I will not rest, Until her righteousness goes forth as
brightness,
And her salvation as a lamp that burns.
2 The Gentiles shall see your righteousness,
And all kings your glory.
You shall be called by a new name,
Which the mouth of the LORD will name.
3 You shall also be a crown of glory
In the hand of the LORD,
And a royal diadem
In the hand of your God.
4 You shall no longer be termed Forsaken,
Nor shall your land any more be termed Desolate;
But you shall be called Hephzibah,<sup>a</sup> and your land Beulah;<sup>b</sup>
For the LORD delights in you,
And your land shall be married.
5 For as a young man marries a virgin,
So shall your sons marry you;
And as the bridegroom rejoices over the bride,
So shall your God rejoice over you.

Arts & Literature

The Greek poet Hesiod lists the four ages of man as gold, silver, bronze, and iron. A similar list of materials in decreasing order of value is found in Dan. 2:32, and with some variation in Is. 60:17. The metals are listed in order of their prestige and rarity. In the New Testament, Paul uses a similar figure in 1 Cor. 3:12.

62:4 <sup>a</sup>Literally My Delight Is in Her <sup>b</sup>Literally Married

- 6 I have set watchmen on your walls,
O Jerusalem;
They shall never hold their peace day or night.
You who make mention of the LORD, do not keep silent,
- 7 And give Him no rest till He establishes
And till He makes Jerusalem a praise in the earth.
- 8 The LORD has sworn by His right hand
And by the arm of His strength:
“Surely I will no longer give your grain
As food for your enemies;
And the sons of the foreigner shall not drink your new wine,
For which you have labored.
- 9 But those who have gathered it shall eat it,
And praise the LORD;
Those who have brought it together shall drink it in My holy courts.”
- 10 Go through,
Go through the gates!
Prepare the way for the people;
Build up,
Build up the highway!
Take out the stones,
Lift up a banner for the peoples!
- 11 Indeed the LORD has proclaimed
To the end of the world:
“Say to the daughter of Zion,
‘Surely your salvation is coming;
Behold, His reward is with Him,
And His work before Him.’”
- 12 And they shall call them The Holy
People,
The Redeemed of the LORD;
And you shall be called Sought Out,
A City Not Forsaken.

But they rebelled and grieved His Holy

So He turned Himself against them as an

And He fought against them.

No Longer Forsaken (Is. 62:4, 12)

The prophet had encouraging news for the people of Jerusalem. The difficulties of the present time in Jerusalem would not compare with the glories to come in the new, restored Jerusalem of the future.

The years Jerusalem spent under foreign rulers had taken their toll. Things must have been hard, for we learn that Jerusalem was nicknamed “Forsaken” and its surrounding land, “Desolate” (Is. 62:4). High rates of Persian taxation contributed to Jerusalem’s economic troubles.

In the Persian Empire taxation was done, not by the exchange of money, but in agricultural produce. Though the Judeans had worked hard to grow their produce, much of the crop went to support the Persian king, his court, and his armies. In other words, Judean grain became food for Judah’s enemies, and foreigners drank her wine (Is. 62:8). Economic resources were taken out of the community, rather than used within it to spur the local economy.

God promised to change this situation. In the future Jerusalem, those who gather their crops will also eat of them; those who produce wine will also drink of it (62:9). Then Jerusalem’s name will no longer be “Forsaken,” but rather “A City Not Forsaken” (62:12).

11 Then he remembered the days of old,
Moses and his people, saying:
“Where is He who brought them up out of
the sea
With the shepherd of His flock?
Where is He who put His Holy Spirit within
them,
12 Who led them by the right hand of Moses,
With His glorious arm,
Dividing the water before them
To make for Himself an everlasting name,
13 Who led them through the deep,
As a horse in the wilderness,
That they might not stumble?”
14 As a beast goes down into the valley,
And the Spirit of the LORD causes him to rest,
So You lead Your people,
To make Yourself a glorious name.

A Prayer of Penitence

15 Look down from heaven,
And see from Your habitation, holy and glorious.
Where are Your zeal and Your strength,
The yearning of Your heart and Your mercies toward me?
Are they restrained?
16 Doubtless You are our Father,
Though Abraham was ignorant of us,
And Israel does not acknowledge us.
You, O LORD, are our Father;
Our Redeemer from Everlasting is Your name.
17 O LORD, why have You made us stray from Your ways,
And hardened our heart from Your fear?
Return for Your servants’ sake,
The tribes of Your inheritance.
18 Your holy people have possessed it but a little while;
Our adversaries have trodden down Your
sanctuary.

19 We have become like those of old, over whom You never ruled,
Those who were never called by Your name.

64 <sup>1</sup> Oh, that You would rend the heavens!
That You would come down!
That the mountains might shake at Your presence—

2 As fire burns brushwood,
As fire causes water to boil—
To make Your name known to Your adversaries,
That the nations may tremble at Your presence!

3 When You did awesome things for which we did not look,
You came down,
The mountains shook at Your presence.
4 For since the beginning of the world
Men have not heard nor perceived by the
ear,

Nor has the eye seen any God besides You,
Who acts for the one who waits for Him.
5 You meet him who rejoices and does
righteousness,
Who remembers You in Your ways.
You are indeed angry, for we have sinned—
In these ways we continue;
And we need to be saved.

6 But we are all like an unclean thing,
And all our righteousnesses are like filthy
rags;
We all fade as a leaf,
And our iniquities, like the wind,
Have taken us away.

7 And there is no one who calls on Your
name,
Who stirs himself up to take hold of You;
For You have hidden Your face from us,
And have consumed us because of our iniquities.

A PETITION TO OUR FATHER IN HEAVEN (Is. 64:8–12)

The exiles faced a sorry state of affairs in Jerusalem immediately following their return from Babylon. The city of Jerusalem and its temple were still in ruins (Is. 64:10, 11). The Babylonians had laid siege to the city for 18 months, eventually destroying it in 586 B.C. (2 Kin. 25:1, 2). What was left were ashes, arrowheads, and fallen buildings. In fact, the whole region, the “holy cities” (Is. 64:10), was laid waste. Apparently, both Jerusalem and Judah were mostly uninhabited during the time between 586 and 538 B.C.

The prophet, as a representative of the whole community, turned to God for aid. He called upon the Lord as “Father,” invoking the special relationship between Israel and her God (64:8). The term “Father” should not be understood according to our modern conceptions of fatherhood. “Father” was not so much a term of endearment, as it was a word of authority and ownership. Under Israelite law a man’s children were legally his property, over which he exercised much power.

The community was helpless before God as “Father” like clay in the hands of a potter (64:8). The prophet interceded for the people for forgiveness so that God’s faithfulness might be revealed again in a restored Jerusalem.

8 But now, O LORD,
You are our Father;
We are the clay, and You our potter;
And all we are the work of Your hand.
9 Do not be furious, O LORD,
Nor remember iniquity forever;
Indeed, please look—we all are Your people!
10 Your holy cities are a wilderness,
Zion is a wilderness,
Jerusalem a desolation.
11 Our holy and beautiful temple,
Where our fathers praised You,
Is burned up with fire;
And all our pleasant things are laid waste.
12 Will You restrain Yourself because of these things, O LORD?
Will You hold Your peace, and afflict us very severely?

Food & Drink

The products of the vineyard were extremely important in ancient times. Wine was put up in large clay jars and shipped all over the Mediterranean. The cultivation of grapes was a well-developed skill. Ancient writers described how to plant, prune, and tend grapevines. This occupation required time and patience, flourishing only in times of peace (Is. 65:21).

The Righteousness of God’s Judgment

65<sup>1</sup> “I was sought by those who did not ask
for Me;
I was found by those who did not seek Me.
I said, ‘Here I am, here I am,’
To a nation that was not called by My name.
2 I have stretched out My hands all day long to a rebellious people,
Who walk in a way that is not good,
According to their own thoughts;
3 A people who provoke Me to anger continually to My face;
Who sacrifice in gardens,
And burn incense on altars of brick;
4 Who sit among the graves,

And spend the night in the tombs;
Who eat swine’s flesh,
And the broth of abominable things is in their vessels;
5 Who say, ‘Keep to yourself,
Do not come near me,
For I am holier than you!’
These are smoke in My nostrils,
A fire that burns all the day.
6 “Behold, it is written before Me:
I will not keep silence, but will repay—
Even repay into their bosom—
7 Your iniquities and the iniquities of your fathers together,”
Says the LORD,
“Who have burned incense on the mountains
And blasphemed Me on the hills;
Therefore I will measure their former work into their bosom.”

<sup>8</sup>Thus says the LORD:

“As the new wine is found in the cluster,
And one says, ‘Do not destroy it,
For a blessing is in it,’
So will I do for My servants’ sake,
That I may not destroy them all.
9 I will bring forth descendants from Jacob,
And from Judah an heir of My mountains;
My elect shall inherit it,
And My servants shall dwell there.
10 Sharon shall be a fold of flocks,
And the Valley of Achor a place for herds
to lie down,
For My people who have sought Me.
11 “But you are those who forsake the LORD,
Who forget My holy mountain,
Who prepare a table for Gad,<sup>a</sup>
And who furnish a drink offering for Meni.<sup>b</sup>

65:11 <sup>a</sup>Literally Troop or Fortune, a pagan deity <sup>b</sup>Literally
Number or Destiny, a pagan deity

FEEDING THE GODS OF FORTUNE (Is. 65:11)

It was a common practice throughout the ancient world to set out fine feasts for the gods. In the large temple complexes of Mesopotamia and Egypt the statues of the deities were served with regular meals daily by the priests. Other offerings of food were brought by devotees as gifts, along with their petitions for help from the gods.

The prophet accused a group of Judeans of ignoring God and turning their attention to other deities. Rather than the old Canaanite gods and goddesses, however, the Judeans worshiped Gad and Meni. Apparently, these gods were honored with the practice of serving meals, since the prophet charges the worshipers with providing “a table” and “drink offering” for the deities (Is. 65:11).

Gad, whose name means literally “fortune,” was a god of luck or fortune. This deity is mentioned in a number of inscriptions which have been recovered from Jordan to Spain, covering a period from 300 to 180 B.C. Meni, whose name means literally “destiny,” appears to be a god of fortune. Although Meni was a male deity, he was possibly related to the Arabian goddess Manât. The Koran identifies Manât as one of the deities worshiped by the pre-Islamic Arabs. Perhaps given the struggles of rebuilding Jerusalem, the returned exiles thought that “Fortune” and “Destiny” might assist them in their building project.

Deities of fortune, like the Greek god Tyche, could bring either good or bad fortunes. Worshipers assumed that these deities could wreak havoc on a person’s life should they take a dislike to an individual. The meal and drink were intended to gain the favor of these gods so that they would direct the worshipers’ destinies toward a good life. The prophet condemns the Judeans for assuming that these gods could affect life, and thus rejecting God as the sole power in the world.

12 Therefore I will number you for the sword,
And you shall all bow down to the slaughter;
Because, when I called, you did not answer;
When I spoke, you did not hear,
But did evil before My eyes,
And chose that in which I do not delight.”

13 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD:

“Behold, My servants shall eat,
But you shall be hungry;
Behold, My servants shall drink,
But you shall be thirsty;
Behold, My servants shall rejoice,
But you shall be ashamed;

14 Behold, My servants shall sing for joy of
heart,
But you shall cry for sorrow of heart,
And wail for grief of spirit.

15 You shall leave your name as a curse to My chosen;

For the Lord GOD will slay you,
And call His servants by another name;

16 So that he who blesses himself in the earth
Shall bless himself in the God of truth;
And he who swears in the earth
Shall swear by the God of truth;

Because the former troubles are forgotten,
And because they are hidden from My eyes.

The Glorious New Creation

17 “For behold, I create new heavens and a new
earth;

And the former shall not be remembered or come to mind.

18 But be glad and rejoice forever in what I create;

For behold, I create Jerusalem as a rejoicing,
And her people a joy.

19 I will rejoice in Jerusalem,
And joy in My people;
The voice of weeping shall no longer be heard in her,
Nor the voice of crying.

20 “No more shall an infant from there live but a few days,
Nor an old man who has not fulfilled his days;
For the child shall die one hundred years old,
But the sinner being one hundred years old shall be accursed.

21 They shall build houses and inhabit them;
They shall plant vineyards and eat their fruit.

- 22 They shall not build and another inhabit;
They shall not plant and another eat;
For as the days of a tree, so shall be the days of My people,
And My elect shall long enjoy the work of their hands.
- 23 They shall not labor in vain,
Nor bring forth children for trouble;
For they shall be the descendants of the blessed of the LORD,
And their offspring with them.
- 24 “It shall come to pass
That before they call, I will answer;
And while they are still speaking, I will hear.
- 25 The wolf and the lamb shall feed together,
The lion shall eat straw like the ox,
And dust shall be the serpent’s food.
They shall not hurt nor destroy in all My

Says the LORD.

True Worship and False

- 66 <sup>1</sup>Thus says the LORD:
“Heaven is My throne,
And earth is My footstool.
Where is the house that you will build Me?
And where is the place of My rest?
2 For all those things My hand has made,
And all those things exist,”
Says the LORD.
“But on this one will I look:
On him who is poor and of a contrite spirit,
And who trembles at My word.
- 3 “He who kills a bull is as if he slays a man;
He who sacrifices a lamb, as if he breaks a dog’s neck;
He who offers a grain offering, as if he offers swine’s blood;

- He who burns incense, as if he blesses an idol.
Just as they have chosen their own ways,
And their soul delights in their abominations,
4 So will I choose their delusions,
And bring their fears on them;
Because, when I called, no one answered,
When I spoke they did not hear;
But they did evil before My eyes,
And chose that in which I do not delight.”

The LORD Vindicates Zion

- 5 Hear the word of the LORD,
You who tremble at His word:
“Your brethren who hated you,
Who cast you out for My name’s sake, said,
‘Let the LORD be glorified,
That we may see your joy.’
But they shall be ashamed.”
- 6 The sound of noise from the city!
A voice from the temple!
The voice of the LORD,
Who fully repays His enemies!
- 7 “Before she was in labor, she gave birth;
Before her pain came,
She delivered a male child.
- 8 Who has heard such a thing?
Who has seen such things?
Shall the earth be made to give birth in one day?
Or shall a nation be born at once?
For as soon as Zion was in labor,
She gave birth to her children.
- 9 Shall I bring to the time of birth, and not cause delivery?” says the LORD.
“Shall I who cause delivery shut up the womb?” says your God.
- 10 “Rejoice with Jerusalem,
And be glad with her, all you who love her;
Rejoice for joy with her, all you who mourn
for her;
11 That you may feed and be satisfied
With the consolation of her bosom,
That you may drink deeply and be delighted
With the abundance of her glory.”

<sup>12</sup>For thus says the LORD:

- “Behold, I will extend peace to her like a
river,
And the glory of the Gentiles like a flowing stream.
Then you shall feed;
On her sides shall you be carried,

The Reign and Indignation of God

- 14 When you see this, your heart shall rejoice,
And your bones shall flourish like grass;
The hand of the LORD shall be known to
His servants,
And His indignation to His enemies.
15 For behold, the LORD will come with fire
And with His chariots, like a whirlwind,
To render His anger with fury,
And His rebuke with flames of fire.
16 For by fire and by His sword
The LORD will judge all flesh;
And the slain of the LORD shall be many.
17 “Those who sanctify themselves and purify themselves,
To go to the gardens
After an idol in the midst,
Eating swine’s flesh and the abomination
and the mouse,
Shall be consumed together,” says the LORD.

18“For I know their works and their thoughts.
It shall be that I will gather all nations and tongues; and they shall come and see My glory.

19I will set a sign among them; and those among them who escape I will send to the nations: to Tarshish and Pul<sup>a</sup> and Lud, who draw the bow, and Tubal and Javan, to the coastlands afar off who have not heard My fame nor seen My glory.
And they shall declare My glory among the Gentiles. 20Then they shall bring all your brethren for an offering to the LORD out of all nations, on horses and in chariots and in litters, on mules and on camels, to My holy mountain Jerusalem,” says the LORD, “as the children of Israel bring an offering in a clean vessel into the house of the LORD.
21And I will also take some of them for priests and Levites,” says the LORD.

- 22 “For as the new heavens and the new earth
Which I will make shall remain before Me,”
says the LORD,
“So shall your descendants and your name remain.
23 And it shall come to pass
That from one New Moon to another,
And from one Sabbath to another,
All flesh shall come to worship before Me,”
says the LORD.

- 24 “And they shall go forth and look
Upon the corpses of the men
Who have transgressed against Me.
For their worm does not die,
And their fire is not quenched.
They shall be an abhorrence to all flesh.”

The Apocalyptic Visions of Zechariah

The prophet Zechariah prophesied during the reign of Darius I (522–486 B.C.). Along with his fellow prophet Haggai, he inspired the newly returned exiles in Jerusalem to finish rebuilding the temple (Zech. 1:1; Ezra 5:1; see “The Book of Zechariah” at Zech. 1:1). The oracles of Zech. 1–8 are filled with symbolic vision reports, but they are still very specific. Such restoration leaders as Zerubbabel and Jeshua (or Joshua) the high priest are mentioned by name (Zech. 3:1; 4:6–10).

At ch. 9, though, the Book of Zechariah changes. Symbolic visions are no longer interpreted by a helpful angelic guide, as were the visions in the first half of the book. Indeed, the prophecies of Zech. 9–14 are among the most difficult to place in historical context. Some scholars place them in Darius’s reign, along with the first half of the book, while others date them much later in the Persian period, or even after the Persian Empire had been replaced by the Greek Empire of Alexander the Great (see “The Greek Empire” at Dan. 7:1).

Reading Zech. 9–14 in the Greek era is suggested by the mention of Greece (Zech. 9:13), and by the list of conquered cities (9:1–8), which supposedly follow the path of Alexander the Great’s conquest of Palestine in 332 B.C. The destruction of Tyre (9:2–4) is particularly telling, since Alexander was the only conqueror of the ancient world who succeeded in capturing that island fortress. Still, a list of cities and one mention of Greece does not mean that these chapters were written after Alexander. Greece had been an important international player at least since the Greek alliance defeated Darius I at Marathon in 490 B.C.

The prophecies of Zech. 9–14 do not appear to be speaking of the same historical context as Zech. 1–8. What time they do speak of, however, is uncertain. It was a time when the Persian province of Judah was under bad leadership (10:2, 3), faced economic oppression and distress (11:5), and had turned to idolatry (13:1, 2). Such conditions could have existed either before the arrival of Nehemiah as governor in 445 B.C. or sometime after his tenure had ended.

ALEXANDER'S SIEGE OF TYRE (ZECH. 9:3, 4)

Tyre's fortunes changed through a dramatic event at the end of the Persian period (559–331 B.C.). The city had furnished troops, ships, and a seemingly impregnable port for Persian naval encounters in the Mediterranean during two centuries. The prophet Zechariah describes Tyre's demise with a prophecy often related to this time period. God would destroy Tyre's "power in the sea" (Zech. 9:3, 4).

Alexander the Great was the first to completely subdue Tyre. His Greco-Macedonian armies laid siege to the island in 332 B.C., successfully storming the city after 7 months. The campaign required the building of a massive causeway, 300 yards wide and about half a mile long, extending from the mainland to the island, using the remains of destroyed buildings. Reputedly, over 30,000 citizens of Tyre were sold into slavery, and 2,000 of that city-state's leaders were crucified. Tyre never again reached the economic and political prominence it had enjoyed in previous centuries.

He will destroy her power in the sea,
And she will be devoured by fire.
- 5 Ashkelon shall see it and fear;

But he who remains, even he shall be for our God,
And shall be like a leader in Judah,
And Ekron like a Jebusite.

Agriculture & Herding

The relative prestige of a riding animal is determined by several factors, including size, rarity, and cost. Although horses are not always as useful as mules or donkeys (Zech. 9:9, 10), they have maintained a high rank in many cultures. The nomads of northern Arabia kept horses even when their camels had to carry water for the horses to drink.

Because of him who passes by and him

No more shall an oppressor pass through

The Coming King

- 9 "Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion!
Shout, O daughter of Jerusalem!
Behold, your King is coming to you;
He is just and having salvation,
Lowly and riding on a donkey,
A colt, the foal of a donkey.

And the horse from Jerusalem;
The battle bow shall be cut off.
He shall speak peace to the nations;
His dominion shall be 'from sea to sea,

God Will Save His People

- 11 "As for you also,
Because of the blood of your covenant,
I will set your prisoners free from the waterless pit.
- 12 Return to the stronghold,
You prisoners of hope.
Even today I declare
That I will restore double to you.
- 13 For I have bent Judah, My bow,
Fitted the bow with Ephraim,
And raised up your sons, O Zion,
Against your sons, O Greece,
And made you like the sword of a mighty man."
- 14 Then the LORD will be seen over them,
And His arrow will go forth like lightning.
The Lord GOD will blow the trumpet,
And go with whirlwinds from the south.
- 15 The LORD of hosts will defend them;

WHATEVER HAPPENED TO THE PHILISTINES? (ZECH. 9:6)

During the 9th century B.C. the Philistines were in decline. They paid tribute to Judah while Jehoshaphat was king (872–848 B.C.; 2 Chr. 17:10, 11), although they tried to become independent under Jehoshaphat's son Jehoram (848–841 B.C.; 2 Chr. 21:16, 17). Toward the end of the century, when the Assyrians began to raid Palestine, Philistia faced another master. The Assyrian king Adad-nirari III (810–783 B.C.) claims in his inscriptions to have placed Philistine cities under heavy tribute in his 5th year (c. 805 B.C.).

Philistia did not fall under complete Assyrian domination until the invasion of Tiglath-Pileser III in 734 B.C. During that campaign Philistine towns were subdued and became vassals of Assyria. The Assyrians allowed the Philistine city-states a degree of self-government as long as they paid tribute. That arrangement crumbled, however, when the city of Ashdod rebelled against Assyrian rule in 713 B.C. The rebellion was subsequently crushed by the Assyrian king Sargon II during campaigns in 713 and 712, and the region was incorporated into the empire as an Assyrian province.

By the end of the 8th century B.C., the Philistine cities became established as a buffer zone between Assyria and hostile Egypt to the south. Eventually Egypt was able to dominate Philistia after the fall of Assyria in 612 B.C. The Egyptian pharaoh Psammetichus I (664–610 B.C.) besieged Ashdod for 29 years, eventually conquering the city.

During the Persian period (559–331 B.C.) the Philistines lost their distinct identity and were mixed with other Palestinian cultural peoples. The prophet Zechariah warned of the decline of the Philistines, and particularly of a “mixed race” that would inhabit Ashdod (Zech. 9:6).

They shall devour and subdue with slingstones.

They shall drink and roar as if with wine;
They shall be filled with blood like basins,
Like the corners of the altar.

16 The LORD their God will save them in that
day,

As the flock of His people.
For they shall be like the jewels

17 Lifted like a banner over His land—

The Vision of the Shepherds

A good illustration of the difficulty in dating the prophecies of Zechariah is the vision of the shepherds (Zech. 11:4–17). In this vision God dismisses three shepherds in one month (11:8). The term “shepherd” is a frequent term for a ruler, but which three rulers are these? Several guesses have been offered: the flurry of short-lived kings in the northern kingdom of Israel just before Assyria destroyed it in 722 B.C.; or some otherwise unknown high priests or governors during the Persian era; or high priests in Jerusalem during the late Greek period (about 100 B.C.). The guesses range over more than half a millennium, and none is any more certain than any other.

If Zech. 9—14 speaks of the time during the Persian period, after the reforms of Ezra and Nehemiah, then the shepherds may have been governors of that era. In the tiny Persian province of Judah of the later Persian Empire, governors were frequent and usually oppressive (12:5, 6). Zechariah’s vision of God’s coming eternal kingdom (ch. 14) would have been as living waters (14:8) to the oppressed people of Jerusalem.

That fire may devour your cedars.
- 2 Wail, O cypress, for the cedar has fallen,
Because the mighty trees are ruined.
Wail, O oaks of Bashan,
For the thick forest has come down.
- 3 There is the sound of wailing shepherds!
For their glory is in ruins.
There is the sound of roaring lions!
For the pride<sup>a</sup> of the Jordan is in ruins.

Prophecy of the Shepherds

<sup>4</sup>Thus says the LORD my God, “Feed the flock for slaughter,<sup>5</sup> whose owners slaughter them and feel no guilt; those who sell them say, ‘Blessed be the LORD, for I am rich’; and their shepherds do not pity them.”<sup>6</sup>For I will no longer pity the inhabitants of the land,” says the LORD. “But indeed I will give everyone into his neighbor’s hand and into the hand of his king. They shall attack the land, and I will not deliver them from their hand.”

<sup>7</sup>So I fed the flock for slaughter, in particular the poor of the flock.<sup>a</sup> I took for myself two staffs: the one I called Beauty,<sup>b</sup> and the other I called Bonds;<sup>c</sup> and I fed the flock. <sup>8</sup>I dismissed the three shepherds in one month. My soul loathed them, and their soul also abhorred me. <sup>9</sup>Then I said, “I will not feed you. Let what is dying die, and what is perishing perish. Let those that are left eat each other’s flesh.” <sup>10</sup>And I took my staff, Beauty, and cut it in two, that I might break the covenant which I had made with all the peoples. <sup>11</sup>So it was broken on that day. Thus the poor<sup>d</sup> of the flock, who were watching me, knew that it was the word of the LORD. <sup>12</sup>Then I said to them, “If it is agreeable to you, give me my wages; and if not, refrain.” So they weighed out for my wages thirty pieces of silver.

<sup>13</sup>And the LORD said to me, “Throw it to the potter”—that princely price they set on me. So I took the thirty pieces of silver and threw them into the house of the LORD for the potter. <sup>14</sup>Then I cut in two my other staff, Bonds, that I might break the brotherhood between Judah and Israel.

<sup>15</sup>And the LORD said to me, “Next, take for yourself the implements of a foolish shepherd. <sup>16</sup>For indeed I will raise up a shepherd in the land who will not care for those who are cut off, nor seek the young, nor heal those that are broken, nor feed those that still stand. But he will eat the flesh of the fat and tear their hooves in pieces.

- 17 “Woe to the worthless shepherd,
Who leaves the flock!
A sword shall be against his arm
And against his right eye;
His arm shall completely wither,
And his right eye shall be totally blinded.”

CUTTING OFF THE NAMES (ZECH. 13:2)

The prophet Zechariah proclaims a time when the worship of other gods in Judah will be ended, the names of the gods will be removed, and they will be forgotten by the people of the land. Yahweh specifically says, “I will cut off the names of the idols from the land” (Zech. 13:2). Zechariah’s prophecy (Zech. 13:1–6) reflects a hope for the future of Judah when its religion shall be purified of both idolatry and false prophecy. Such a reform has a historical precedent in Egypt’s Amarna period.

The Amarna period of Egypt (c. 1360–1333 B.C.) essentially coincided with the reign of Pharaoh Amenhotep IV (1352–1336 B.C.). This time saw a vast change in the theology of Egypt. The new king reduced the official pantheon to the sun-disk god Aten and himself as Aten’s loyal regent. The reform of the official Egyptian cult included building an entire new capital at Amarna, where the god-king would live and Aten alone would be worshiped.

As Zechariah announced the cutting off of idols’ names, so also did Amenhotep. The king ordered the names of other gods to be removed from the monuments of Egypt. The names were literally cut out with chisels, even from inscriptions of personal names that included the god’s name. The pharaoh even changed his own name from Amenhotep, which included the divine name Amen (or Amon), to Akhenaten, which contained his patron deity’s name Aten.

When Akhenaten died, the worshippers of the other gods in the Egyptian pantheon had their revenge. They took their chisels and chipped out the name of Aten from Akhenaten’s monumental buildings. The capital at Amarna was abandoned and, for much of the rest of ancient Egyptian history, the rule of Akhenaten and his sun-disk god were effectively forgotten.

<sup>2</sup>“Behold, I will make Jerusalem a cup of drunkenness to all the surrounding peoples, when they lay siege against Judah and Jerusalem. <sup>3</sup>And it shall happen in that day that I will make Jerusalem a very heavy stone for all peoples; all who would heave it away will surely be cut in pieces, though all nations of the earth are gathered against it. <sup>4</sup>In that day,” says the LORD, “I will strike every horse with confusion, and its rider with madness; I will open My eyes on the house of Judah, and will strike every horse of the peoples with blindness. <sup>5</sup>And the governors of Judah shall say in their heart, ‘The inhabitants of Jerusalem are my strength in the LORD of hosts, their God.’ <sup>6</sup>In that day I will make the governors of Judah like a firepan in the woodpile, and like a fiery torch in the sheaves; they shall devour all the surrounding peoples on the right hand and on the left, but Jerusalem shall be inhabited again in her own place—Jerusalem.

<sup>7</sup>“The LORD will save the tents of Judah first, so that the glory of the house of David and the glory of the inhabitants of Jerusalem shall not become greater than that of Judah. <sup>8</sup>In that day the LORD will defend the inhabitants of Jerusalem; the one who is feeble among them in that day shall be like David, and the house of David shall be like God, like the Angel of the LORD before them. <sup>9</sup>It shall be in that day that I will seek to destroy all the nations that come against Jerusalem.

Mourning for the Pierced One

<sup>10</sup>“And I will pour on the house of David and on the inhabitants of Jerusalem the Spirit of grace and supplication; then they will look on Me whom they pierced. Yes, they will mourn for Him as one mourns for his only son, and grieve for Him as one grieves for a firstborn. <sup>11</sup>In that day there shall be a great mourning in Jerusalem, like the mourning at Hadad Rimmon in the plain of Megiddo.<sup>a</sup> <sup>12</sup>And the land shall mourn, every family by itself: the family of the house of David by itself, and their wives by themselves; the family of the house of Nathan by itself, and their wives by themselves; <sup>13</sup>the family of the house of Levi by itself, and their wives by themselves; the family of Shimei by itself, and their wives by themselves; <sup>14</sup>all the families that remain, every family by itself, and their wives by themselves.

Idolatry Cut Off

I will also cause the prophets and the unclean spirit to depart from the land. <sup>3</sup>It shall come to pass that if anyone still prophesies, then his father and mother who begot him will say to him, ‘You shall not live, because you have spoken lies in the name of the LORD.’ And his father and mother who begot him shall thrust him through when he prophesies.

<sup>4</sup>“And it shall be in that day that every prophet will be ashamed of his vision when he prophesies; they will not wear a robe of coarse hair to deceive. <sup>5</sup>But he will say, ‘I am no prophet, I am a farmer; for a man taught me to keep cattle from my youth.’ <sup>6</sup>And one will say to him, ‘What are these wounds between your arms?’”<sup>a</sup> Then he will answer, ‘Those with which I was wounded in the house of my friends.’

<sup>8</sup> And it shall come to pass in all the land,”
Says the LORD,
“That two-thirds in it shall be cut off and die,

The Last Battle Won

The prophecies of Zech. 9–14 are often called apocalyptic writing, a literary style that included many symbolic visions. Apocalyptic literature offered consolation to oppressed and persecuted people, and very often included a comforting vision of God’s eternal kingdom, which will replace all the oppressive kingdoms of this present world (see “Ezekiel’s Apocalyptic Prophecies” at Ezek. 38:1). The vision of Zech. 14, with its picture of a final battle (14:3) and an eternal spring of living waters (14:8) has much in common with both Ezek. 38 and 39 and with Rev. 20–22, two other apocalyptic visions. To struggling Jewish settlers oppressed by wicked and self-serving governors (Zech. 12:5, 6), Zechariah offered a future hope.

Like the prophecies of Is. 56–66, those of Zech. 9–14 speak of the restored Jerusalem, but without the priestly emphasis of such Persian era prophets as Haggai and Malachi. Where the priestly prophets stressed the role of God’s holy temple, Zechariah offered a radical vision of a time when no temple will be necessary. Instead, everything in Jerusalem, from the harnesses of the horses to the pots and pans of the kitchen, will be holy to God (14:20, 21). Also like Is. 56–66, Zechariah rejects the exclusivism of such leaders as Ezra and Nehemiah. All nations and families of the earth will be able to worship God and keep the Jewish celebration of the Feast of Tabernacles (14:16–19).

The Day of the LORD

14 <sup>1</sup> Behold, the day of the LORD is coming,
And your spoil will be divided in your midst.
<sup>2</sup> For I will gather all the nations to battle against Jerusalem;
The city shall be taken,
The houses rifled,
And the women ravished.
Half of the city shall go into captivity,
But the remnant of the people shall not be cut off from the city.
<sup>3</sup> Then the LORD will go forth
And fight against those nations,
As He fights in the day of battle.
<sup>4</sup> And in that day His feet will stand on the Mount of Olives,
Which faces Jerusalem on the east.
And the Mount of Olives shall be split in two,

<sup>13:6</sup> <sup>a</sup>Or hands

From east to west,
Making a very large valley;
 Half of the mountain shall move toward the north
 And half of it toward the south.

5 Then you shall flee through My mountain valley,
 For the mountain valley shall reach to Azal.
 Yes, you shall flee
 As you fled from the earthquake
 In the days of Uzziah king of Judah.

Thus the LORD my God will come,
 And all the saints with You.<sup>a</sup>

6 It shall come to pass in that day
That there will be no light;
 The lights will diminish.

7 It shall be one day
 Which is known to the LORD—
 Neither day nor night.
 But at evening time it shall happen
That it will be light.

8 And in that day it shall be
That living waters shall flow from Jerusalem,
 Half of them toward the eastern sea
 And half of them toward the western sea;
 In both summer and winter it shall occur.

9 And the LORD shall be King over all the earth.

14:5 <sup>a</sup>Or you; Septuagint, Targum, and Vulgate read Him.
 14:9 <sup>a</sup>Compare Deuteronomy 6:4 14:10 <sup>a</sup>Literally She

 “The LORD is one,”<sup>a</sup>
 And His name one.

<sup>10</sup>All the land shall be turned into a plain from Geba to Rimmon south of Jerusalem. Jeru- place from Benjamin’s Gate to the place of the First Gate and the Corner Gate, and from the Tower of Hananel to the king’s winepresses.

11 The people shall dwell in it;
 And no longer shall there be utter destruction,
 But Jerusalem shall be safely inhabited.

<sup>12</sup>And this shall be the plague with which the LORD will strike all the people who fought
 against Jerusalem:

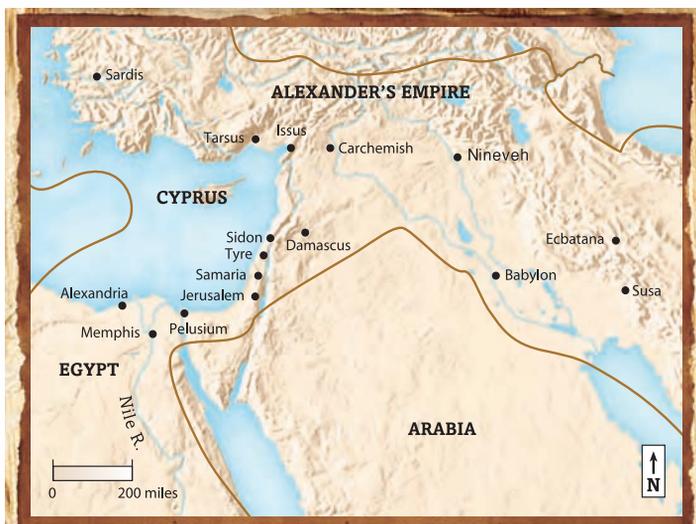

Their flesh shall dissolve while they stand on their feet,
 Their eyes shall dissolve in their sockets,
 And their tongues shall dissolve in their mouths.

13 It shall come to pass in that day
That a great panic from the LORD will be among them.
 Everyone will seize the hand of his
 neighbor,
 And raise his hand against his neighbor’s
 hand;

14 Judah also will fight at Jerusalem.
 And the wealth of all the surrounding nations

Alexander’s Greek Empire

In 334 B.C. a 22-year-old Alexander began a military quest to destroy the Persian Empire. Moving from west to east, he was victorious in battle at Issus in 333 B.C. against the Persian Darius III. Moving south, Alexander defeated the Phoenicians at Tyre in 332 B.C., swept through Palestine, and conquered Egypt in 331 B.C. Darius III was defeated again near Nineveh. Alexander’s campaigns secured vast territory for the Greek Empire before he died in 323 B.C.

Shall be gathered together:
Gold, silver, and apparel in great
abundance.

- <sup>15</sup> Such also shall be the plague
On the horse and the mule,
On the camel and the donkey,
And on all the cattle that will be in those camps.
So shall this plague be.

The Nations Worship the King

<sup>16</sup>And it shall come to pass that everyone who is left of all the nations which came against Jerusalem shall go up from year to year to worship the King, the LORD of hosts, and to keep the Feast of Tabernacles. <sup>17</sup>And it shall be that whichever of the families of the earth do not come up to Jerusalem to worship the King, the LORD of hosts, on them there will be no rain. <sup>18</sup>If the family of Egypt will not come up and enter in, they shall have no rain; they shall receive the plague with which the LORD strikes the nations who do not come up to keep the Feast of Tabernacles. <sup>19</sup>This shall be the punishment of Egypt and the punishment of all the nations that do not come up to keep the Feast of Tabernacles.

<sup>20</sup>In that day "HOLINESS TO THE LORD" shall be engraved on the bells of the horses. The pots in the LORD's house shall be like the bowls before the altar. <sup>21</sup>Yes, every pot in Jerusalem and Judah shall be holiness to the LORD of hosts.<sup>a</sup> Everyone who sacrifices shall come and take them and cook in them. In that day there shall no longer be a Canaanite in the house of the LORD of hosts.

14:21 <sup>a</sup>Or on every pot . . . shall be (engraved) "HOLINESS TO THE LORD OF HOSTS"

EPOCH SEVEN

BETWEEN THE TWO TESTAMENTS

During this time, that is little known to the Bible but fully attested in the Apocrypha, the faith of the Jewish people was tested both by oppression and freedom.

(332—37 B.C.)

The Old Testament provides scant information on events following the end of the Persian period (c. 331 B.C.). One prophecy of Zechariah (Zech. 9) possibly refers to the conquests of Alexander the Great in 332 B.C. At least one interpretation of Daniel's later visions (particularly Dan. 8—11) refers to events after Alexander's Greek kingdom was divided, resulting eventually in the Ptolemies and the Seleucids of the 2nd century B.C. Yet, for the most part, the Old Testament is silent on the approximately 300 years before the birth of Jesus Christ (c. 5 B.C.). This epoch is known appropriately as "the Intertestamental Period" since it is the time between the testaments—between the last writings of the Old Testament and the first writings of the New.

For Judea, the epoch is characterized not only as "between the testaments," but also as between Persian rule and Greek rule, between Greek rule and Judean independence, between independence and Roman rule, with Herod the Great on the throne. It was a time when the faith of the Jewish people was tested, both by oppression and freedom. It is a time little known to the Bible, but fully attested in the Apocrypha.

ARCHAEOLOGY AND THE PAST

Archaeology hints of extensive building and rebuilding during this period. All over Palestine, cities were rebuilt by the Greek Ptolemies from Egypt, or by the Greek Seleucids from Syria. Samaria was settled by colonists from Macedonia, and coastal cities in Palestine became Greek. East of the Jordan River, there were many Greek colonies (called the Decapolis in the Gospels). Specific archaeological data is scanty because so much of the building material was reused by later peoples.

The Jewish colony in Egypt continued to thrive. Papyrus documents list Jewish names in Alexandria and all the way up the Nile to present-day Aswan. The Nash Papyrus, a small fragment from this period containing the Ten Commandments in Hebrew, shows that at least some Jews in Egypt could still read Hebrew.

In Palestine itself, one important monument is the painted tombs of Marisa, in southern Judah. These tombs were carved out of the rock and painted elaborately, with the spaces between the paintings being filled with inscriptions and graffiti. The city of Marisa had been the capital of Edomite territory in southern Judah, a region eventually influenced by Greek culture. Names recovered from the tombs are Greek, Phoenician, and Idumean (all of southern Palestine eventually became known as Idumea).

Coins in Palestine show the succession of rulers. Many coins are from the Seleucid rulers of Syria, but coins dated after the Maccabean revolt of 166 B.C. indicate a free Judea. The Judean coins show the Hasmonean rulers becoming more and more secular. ("Hasmonean" derives from the family to which the Maccabees belonged. It was the name applied to the dynasty of Maccabean high priests and kings who ruled Judea between 142 B.C. and 63 B.C.)

One of the most famous archaeological remains from the period is the early occupation at Qumran, south of Jericho on the shores of the Dead Sea. Qumran was apparently settled by a sect of strict Jews who did not approve of the Hasmoneans being both kings and high priests. Josephus, the Jewish historian of the 1st century A.D., tells us that the founders of Qumran were the Essenes, a kind of monastic community. Their settlement was later abandoned and then resettled. It was near Qumran that the famous Dead Sea Scrolls were found in 1947.

THE PEOPLES AND GROUPS

At the beginning of the period the most influential people were the Greeks and their successors. Alexander the Great founded colonies for his soldiers all over his empire. His generals who succeeded him ruled in Syria (the Seleucids) and in Egypt (the Ptolemies), and continued the ancient struggle between Asia and Africa for control of Palestine. While they fought each other over Palestine, both agreed on the importance of establishing Greek culture in the land. The increasing Greek influence would lead ultimately to revolt on the part of the Jews and to defeat of the ruling Seleucids. The incredible struggle of the Jewish people against Greek culture culminated in a Jewish political kingdom independent of Gentile control.

Other peoples figure importantly in this time of Jewish history. The Edomites, who had long been an enemy of Israel, lost their territory in Transjordan and the Sinai to the rising power of the Nabatean Arabs. Many Edomites moved to southern Judah, where they became known as Idumeans. The Idumeans were conquered by the Jews and forced to convert to Judaism, but, ironically, an Idumean would come to rule the Jewish state. Not only was Herod the Great an Idumean, but his brother-in-law was descended from the priests of Koze, an ancient Edomite god.

By 312 B.C. the Nabateans established themselves at Petra, the former capital of Edom, and in this great center they carved homes and temples out of the sandstone. By controlling the desert highways south of the Dead Sea, they became great traders, dominating much of the spice trade in the Middle East.

The Samaritans inhabited the area immediately north of Jerusalem and Judea. Tension between Samaritans and Jews goes back at least to the reconstruction of the Jerusalem temple (538 B.C.). Yet a definite break between these groups occurred around either 388 or 332 B.C. when the Samaritans built a rival temple on Mount Gerizim, claiming Shechem rather than Jerusalem as the location of the true house of God. Both the temple and the city were destroyed by the Jewish ruler John Hyrcanus around 129 B.C.

At the close of the period the most powerful people were the Romans. The first record of Romans in Palestine is the treaty entered into by Judas Maccabeus and the Senate of Rome. Judea and Rome became allies just as Rome was beginning to consolidate its power and expand its territory. The alliance was helpful to the Jews for a few decades, then the Romans moved into Palestine and took control in 63 B.C. Pompey, Julius Caesar, Mark Antony (and Cleopatra), Augustus, and Crassus are Romans associated with Jewish history. Herod the Great was a friend of Caesar, Antony, and Augustus, changing sides with the changes of power in Rome.

THE BIBLICAL LITERATURE

The books associated with this period are found primarily in the Apocrypha. The books of Maccabees exalt Jewish martyrs and encourage the Jews to be strong in their faith. The history of the Jewish revolt that began in 166 B.C. is told in 1 and 2 Maccabees. Stories about the Jews' struggle with Greek culture are found in 3 and 4 Maccabees. The Wisdom of Jesus Son of Sirach (also called Ecclesiasticus) covers ethics in public life, standing in the tradition of Proverbs and Ecclesiastes. The writer wrote in Jerusalem around 180 B.C.

These apocryphal books provide the background for a period almost unknown to the Old Testament, except for the last chapters of the Book of Daniel. The apocalyptic visions of Dan. 7; 8 reveal the kingdoms that came after Babylon, extending at least as far as the Greek Empire established by Alexander and possibly to the Roman Empire. Daniel's vision of 70 weeks (Dan. 9) points toward either Greek or Roman times of the 2nd or 1st century B.C. The Greek kingdoms that controlled Palestine during the 2nd century B.C., particularly the reign of Antiochus IV (175–164 B.C.), come into view in Dan. 10–12.

These visions of Daniel reveal that the trials of God's people would get worse before they got better. Other empires would succeed Babylon, and the later ones would persecute the Jews for their religion, threatening not only their lives, but the continued worship of God. But there is a further message: the pagan kings would not be able to ignore or defy God. Exalt themselves as they might, they would be brought low before the God of Israel. The final outcome would be determined not by earthly armies, but by heavenly ones.

Artaxerxes I

THE GREEK EMPIRE

The Persian Empire continued for another century after the death of Artaxerxes I (424 B.C.). Various kings of varying ability ruled Persia, but no great advances were made by the empire, and no new territories were added. Indeed, some of the empire's conquered territories were lost. Egypt, at the far southwestern end of the empire, rebelled several times, and in 404 B.C. finally won independence from its Persian overlords.

Besides rebellions within its own dominion, Persia's most significant threat continued to be the growing power of the independent city-states of Greece. Both Darius I (522–486 B.C.) and Xerxes I (486–465 B.C.) attempted to invade Greece but were turned back. Later Persian kings gave up plans for conquest, being content simply to keep the Greeks from encroaching on Persian territory. This goal was made easier by wars between the fiercely independent Greek city-states, such as the Peloponnesian War between Athens and Sparta (434–404 B.C.). While the Greeks fought each other, the Persian kings Artaxerxes I (465–424 B.C.), Xerxes II (424 B.C.), and Darius II (423–404 B.C.) were able to concentrate their military forces in Asia Minor, making that area a buffer between Greece and the rest of the Persian Empire.

Despite continuous conflict between the Greek city-states, this century was the golden age in Greece. The city of Athens, which had led the Greek alliance against Darius I and Xerxes I, became the center of Greek politics, literature, and philosophy. In Athenian politics, this was the age of Pericles. In literature, this century saw such Greek dramatists as Aeschylus, Sophocles, and Euripides. Athenian philosophers of this time included Socrates, Plato, and near the end of the century, Aristotle.

Despite great diversity, Greek art and thought shared a few significant presuppositions. Most important of these was a new emphasis on the beauty and value of the human being. Before this time, most cultures saw people as weak creatures, helpless before the more powerful forces of nature and of the gods. In 5th-century Greece, this view changed. Humans came to be perceived as having intrinsic value as well as the strength to overcome (or at least endure) the worst that fate or the gods could offer. The Stoic philosopher Protagoras summarized this humanism with his dictum, "Man is the measure of all things." This philosophical position was to prove much more enduring and influential in world history than any of the military or political achievements of Athens.

No human glory lasts forever, and the glory of Persia and of the Greek city-states began to fail simultaneously. In Persia, the collapse came from within. After Artaxerxes II (404–359 B.C.), Persia was ruled by a series of violent, ambitious men, most of whom gained the throne by assassinating their predecessor and all possible rivals. One of these, Artaxerxes III (359–338 B.C.) seemed to be restoring Persian might—he even recaptured Egypt in 343 B.C.—but that return to glory was illusory. Artaxerxes III was poisoned and replaced by his son Arses (338–336 B.C.).

The threat to Greece came from without, from the land of Macedon to the north. The king of Macedon, Philip II (359–336 B.C.), marched his armies south and by 338 B.C. had captured the whole Greek peninsula. Although not a Greek himself, Philip had his son tutored in Greek thought by none other than the great Greek thinker Aristotle. When Philip was murdered in 336 B.C., his son was ready to expand both the kingdom of Macedon and the culture of Greece into Persian territory. Philip's son was named Alexander (336–323 B.C.).

Alexander's conquests, in their swiftness and effectiveness, are the stuff of military legend.

Alexander the Great's conquests, in their swiftness and effectiveness, are the stuff of military legend. In 334 B.C. Alexander crossed the Hellespont into Asia Minor and overcame all opposition. He met the main Persian force, under Darius III (336–331 B.C.) in 333 B.C. and routed it, sending Darius himself fleeing. Before pressing on into Mesopotamia, the center of Persian power, Alexander marched south and conquered Palestine and Egypt in 332 B.C. Moving north again, he took Mesopotamia in 331 B.C. and everything else he could find to conquer by 327 B.C. The new Greek Empire stretched from Macedon to Egypt, from Greece to India. Alexander himself died of a fever in Babylon in 323 B.C. at the age of 33.

Upon Alexander's death, his generals began fighting over his newly acquired empire. The next few decades were marked by a series of shifting alliances, intrigues, and wars. No one general was strong enough to take control of the whole empire. At first the empire was divided into four parts, but by 280 B.C. three separate dynasties were established: the Antigonids in Macedonia, the Ptolemies in Egypt, and the Seleucids in Persia and Syria.

The land of Palestine, which included Judah and Jerusalem, was at first a part of the Ptolemaic kingdom, centered in Egypt. In about 200 B.C., however, Palestine was captured by the Seleucid king Antiochus III (223–187 B.C.). Now Judah was part of the Seleucid kingdom, based in Syria. The Jews, who had been largely left alone under Ptolemaic rule, now faced danger. The Seleucid king Antiochus IV Epiphanes (175–164 B.C.) sought to establish Greek religion and culture in his realm and to wipe out all rival beliefs. He outlawed the Jewish faith, burned all copies he could find of the Jewish Scripture, and in 167 B.C. sacrificed pigs to Zeus on the altar of the Jerusalem temple. Faithful Jews rebelled and in 164 B.C. were able to cleanse and rededicate the temple, a rededication still celebrated today in the Feast of Dedication, or Hanukkah.

For 300 years after the death of Alexander, the ancient world was controlled by the descendants of his Greek generals. Greek became the official language of trade, and Greek culture found its way into every land. As early as 215 B.C., though, a rival to Greek power began to appear to the west—Rome. In 30 B.C. the last of the Hellenistic (Greek) kingdoms, the Ptolemaic dynasty in Egypt, was absorbed into the new Roman Empire.

The Apocalyptic Visions of Daniel

The young Jewish exile Daniel interpreted a dream for the king of Babylon, Nebuchadnezzar (Dan. 2). That interpretation was a foretelling of future kingdoms and empires, starting with the Babylonians and moving through the Persian and Greek empires. Since Daniel's dream interpretation was part of a narrative from the time of Nebuchadnezzar (Dan. 2), it could be read in that context (see "Daniel's Time in Babylon" at Dan. 2:1).

Several of Daniel's own visions appear to parallel Nebuchadnezzar's dream narrated in Dan. 2. Like that dream, the visions of Dan. 7; 8 describe the kingdoms that will follow the kingdom of Babylon and extend at least as far as the Greek Empire established by Alexander. Unlike that dream, these visions are not part of a narrative. They are dated as received in Belshazzar's 1st and 3rd years (Dan. 7:1; 8:1), but it is not known when he began to rule. Some think that Belshazzar's father Nabonidus left him as regent over the city of Babylon when Nabonidus departed for Tema in 553 B.C., though that is not certain. The dates report only that Daniel received these visions sometime before 545 B.C. The content of the visions, however, extends far beyond the time of Daniel and Belshazzar, and so can be read in light of the Greek Empire.

Daniel's visions are the best examples of apocalyptic literature in all the Old Testament. Apocalyptic literature was a particularly Jewish form of writing, fairly common in the centuries after the destruction of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. Apocalyptic texts usually presented symbolic visions, with every detail appearing to have a specific hidden meaning, though not always explaining it. The primary purpose of apocalyptic writing was to comfort those who were persecuted for their faith. Such comfort was found in knowing that all the kingdoms of earth, however powerful they might appear, would one day be crushed and replaced by God's eternal kingdom, in which the faithful would be vindicated (Dan. 2:44, 45; 7:27; 8:25).

Apocalyptic visions thus refer to two or even three separate time frames. First, there is the time of the visionary, which in Dan. 7; 8 is the reign of Nabonidus and Belshazzar. Second, there is the time of persecution to which the comfort is offered. That time, for Dan. 7; 8, may be the time of Daniel, or it may be a much later persecution, the time of the future events described in the visions. Finally, there is the final time—an ultimate day of the Lord, when all will be set right, a time sometime after the persecutions.

The visions of Dan. 7; 8 speak of a series of kingdoms, beginning with the Babylonian Empire. Exactly which kingdoms is not completely clear, however. The four beasts (Dan. 7:3–7), for instance, might refer to (1) Babylon (the lion), (2) Media (the bear), (3) Persia (the leopard), and (4) Greece (the dreadful beast). Alternately, the last three kingdoms could be Persia, Greece, and Rome. Thus the last beast, in which Daniel is most interested, could be either the Greek Empire or the Roman Empire.

The "little horn" of Dan. 7:8, then, would be a proud king of this last kingdom, who would greatly persecute God's people. Should that kingdom be Greece, the little horn might refer to Antiochus IV, the Seleucid ruler who defiled the Jerusalem temple in 167 B.C. References to Greece in Daniel give this interpretation some support: the vision of Dan. 8 specifically identifies the final kingdom as Greece (Dan. 8:21), and Dan. 10; 11 include some clear references to the time of Antiochus (see "Daniel and the Greeks" at Dan. 10:1). Other scholars, interpreting the fourth kingdom as Rome, have identified the little horn as Nero Caesar, or as some other figure who persecuted Christians.

The indeterminate nature of the vision has resulted in other interpretations throughout history. During the English Civil War of the 17th century, for instance, the Puritan rebels against the throne identified the little horn as the English king. At the same time, the royalist Sir Thomas More identified the little horn as Oliver Cromwell, the Puritan leader. By nature, apocalyptic literature always appears to apply to one's own time. To interpret an apocalyptic vision it is important to seek the original reference of the vision—the Greek or Roman persecutions, for instance. Having done this, it is still appropriate to seek one's own situation in the vision's symbols and to find one's own comfort in its promises.

Vision of the Four Beasts

7:1 In the first year of Belshazzar king of Babylon, Daniel had a dream and visions of his head while on his bed. Then he wrote down the dream, telling the main facts.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>2</sup>Daniel spoke, saying, “I saw in my vision by night, and behold, the four winds of heaven were stirring up the Great Sea. <sup>3</sup>And four great beasts came up from the sea, each different from the other. <sup>4</sup>The first was like a lion, and had eagle’s wings. I watched till its wings were plucked off; and it was lifted up from the earth and made to stand on two feet like a man, and a man’s heart was given to it.

<sup>5</sup>“And suddenly another beast, a second, like a bear. It was raised up on one side, and had three ribs in its mouth between its teeth. And they said thus to it: ‘Arise, devour much flesh!’

<sup>6</sup>“After this I looked, and there was another, like a leopard, which had on its back four wings of a bird. The beast also had four heads, and dominion was given to it.

<sup>7</sup>“After this I saw in the night visions, and behold, a fourth beast, dreadful and terrible, exceedingly strong. It had huge iron teeth; it was devouring, breaking in pieces, and trampling the residue with its feet. It was different from all the beasts that were before it, and it had ten horns. <sup>8</sup>I was considering the horns, and there was another horn, a little one, coming up among them, before whom three of the first horns were plucked out by the roots. And there, in this horn, were eyes like the eyes of a man, and a mouth speaking pompous words.

Vision of the Ancient of Days

<sup>9</sup> “I watched till thrones were put in place, And the Ancient of Days was seated;

His garment was white as snow,
And the hair of His head was like pure wool.

His throne was a fiery flame,
Its wheels a burning fire;
10 A fiery stream issued
And came forth from before Him.
A thousand thousands ministered to Him;
Ten thousand times ten thousand stood before Him.
The court<sup>a</sup> was seated,
And the books were opened.

<sup>11</sup>“I watched then because of the sound of the pompous words which the horn was speaking; I watched till the beast was slain, and its body destroyed and given to the burning flame. <sup>12</sup>As for the rest of the beasts, they had their dominion taken away, yet their lives were prolonged for a season and a time.

13 “I was watching in the night visions,
And behold, One like the Son of Man,
Coming with the clouds of heaven!
He came to the Ancient of Days,
And they brought Him near before Him.
14 Then to Him was given dominion and glory and a kingdom,
That all peoples, nations, and languages should serve Him.

Plants &amp; Animals

The Syrian bear is a type of European brown bear, closely related to the grizzly bear but not so large. Brown bears can grow to over 500 pounds, making them about the same size as a lion. Their diet is mostly vegetable, although they can eat meat (Dan. 7:5). They are not aggressive toward humans, but are ferocious if their cubs are threatened.

Daniel's Visions Interpreted

<sup>15</sup>“I, Daniel, was grieved in my spirit within my body, and the visions of my head troubled me. <sup>16</sup>I came near to one of those who stood by, and asked him the truth of all this. So he told me and made known to me the interpretation of these things: <sup>17</sup>“Those great beasts, which are four, are four kings<sup>a</sup> which arise out of the earth. <sup>18</sup>But the saints of the Most High shall receive the kingdom, and possess the kingdom forever, even forever and ever.”

<sup>19</sup>“Then I wished to know the truth about the fourth beast, which was different from all the others, exceedingly dreadful, with its teeth of iron and its nails of bronze, which devoured, broke in pieces, and trampled the residue with its feet; <sup>20</sup>and the ten horns that were on its head, and the other horn which came up, before which three fell, namely, that horn which had eyes and a mouth which spoke pompous words, whose appearance was greater than his fellows.

<sup>21</sup>“I was watching; and the same horn was making war against the saints, and prevailing against them, <sup>22</sup>until the Ancient of Days came, and a judgment was made in favor of the saints of the Most High, and the time came for the saints to possess the kingdom.

<sup>23</sup>“Thus he said:

“The fourth beast shall be
A fourth kingdom on earth,
Which shall be different from all other kingdoms,

And shall devour the whole earth,
Trample it and break it in pieces.

<sup>24</sup> The ten horns are ten kings
Who shall arise from this kingdom.

And another shall rise after them;
He shall be different from the first ones,
And shall subdue three kings.

<sup>25</sup> He shall speak pompous words against
the Most High,
Shall persecute<sup>a</sup> the saints of the Most High,

And shall intend to change times and law.
Then the saints shall be given into his hand
For a time and times and half a time.

<sup>26</sup> “But the court shall be seated,
And they shall take away his dominion,
To consume and destroy it forever.

<sup>27</sup> Then the kingdom and dominion,
And the greatness of the kingdoms under
the whole heaven,
Shall be given to the people, the saints of
the Most High.

His kingdom is an everlasting kingdom,
And all dominions shall serve and obey
Him.”

<sup>28</sup>“This is the end of the account.<sup>a</sup> As for me, Daniel, my thoughts greatly troubled me, and my countenance changed; but I kept the matter in my heart.”

THE PERSIAN PROVINCE OF ELAM (DAN. 8:2)

By the time of Daniel (6th century B.C.), the territory of Elam was already a very ancient land. Located in modern southwest Iran in the province of Khuzistan, Elam shows evidence of beginning urbanization as early as the late 4th millennium B.C., with Susa (Shushan in the Bible) as its major center. The Elamites flourished there until the 7th century B.C. when they were overrun by the Medes and Persians.

Susa was the religious center of Elam during the Neo-Elamite kingdom of the 8th century B.C. The Assyrians waged various campaigns against the Neo-Elamite kings, and in 646 B.C. the Assyrian king Ashurbanipal destroyed the city.

The Persians eventually took the part of Elam called Anshan. After the Assyrian Empire was destroyed (609 B.C.), the Medes annexed most of Elam. When the Persians, in turn, began to control Media, all of Elam became a Persian administrative district. After the 6th century B.C., Elam was never again an independent nation.

The fortunes of Susa turned for the better under the Persian Empire. During the reign of King Darius I (522–486 B.C.), Susa was restored to its position of influence and power in the region. It was evidently the winter capital of the Achaemenid kings of Persia. The rebuilt city consisted of two parts separated by a canal: a lower city and a fortified royal city.

Daniel's vision placed him in the Persian "province of Elam" (Dan. 8:2). In the vision was the city of Susa (or Shushan) and the fortified royal city, referred to as "the citadel" (8:2). The River Ulai, by which Daniel stood, flowed north of Susa. Some scholars believe that Ulai was an artificial irrigation canal and not a natural river. Possibly Ulai was the canal separating the two parts of Susa.

TRANSITION

Daniel and Alexander

Though the vision of Dan. 7 could refer ultimately to either the Greek Empire or the Roman Empire, the vision of Dan. 8 clearly speaks of Greece. The ram, with which the dream begins, is the Medo-Persian Empire (8:3, 4, 20). This ram is conquered by a goat from the west, which can hardly refer to anything except the Macedonian and Greek armies under Alexander that swept the old Persian Empire away (8:21).

The "horns" of Dan. 8 reflect the Greek Empire. At first the goat has one "notable horn," representing Alexander himself (8:5, 21). After this horn is broken off, four horns replace it, representing the four generals who replaced Alexander (8:8, 22). The little horn which grew "toward the south" (8:9), and blasphemed and defiled the temple (8:11, 12), sounds very much like the Seleucid king Antiochus IV Epiphanes (see "The Greek Empire" at Dan. 7:1).

Vision of a Ram and a Goat

8:1 In the third year of the reign of King Belshazzar a vision appeared to me—to me, Daniel—after the one that appeared to me the first time. <sup>2</sup>I saw in the vision, and it so happened while I was looking, that I was in Shushan, the citadel, which is in the province of Elam; and I saw in the vision that I was by the River Ulai. <sup>3</sup>Then I lifted my eyes and saw, and there, standing beside the river, was a ram which had two horns, and the two horns were high; but one was higher than the other, and the higher one came up last. <sup>4</sup>I saw the ram pushing westward, northward, and southward, so that no animal could withstand him; nor was there any that could deliver from his hand, but he did according to his will and became great.

<sup>5</sup>And as I was considering, suddenly a male goat came from the west, across the surface of the whole earth, without touching the ground; and the goat had a notable horn between his eyes. <sup>6</sup>Then he came to the ram that had two horns, which I had seen standing beside the river, and ran at him with furious power. <sup>7</sup>And I saw him confronting the ram; he was moved with rage against him, attacked the ram, and broke his two horns. There was no power in the ram to withstand him, but he cast him down to the ground and trampled him; and there was no one that could deliver the ram from his hand.

<sup>8</sup>Therefore the male goat grew very great; but when he became strong, the large horn was broken, and in place of it four notable ones came up toward the four winds of heaven. <sup>9</sup>And out of one of them came a little horn which grew exceedingly great toward the south, toward the east, and toward the Glorious Land. <sup>10</sup>And it grew up to the host of heaven; and it cast down some of the host and some of the stars to the ground, and trampled them. <sup>11</sup>He even exalted himself as high as the Prince of the host; and by him the daily sacrifices were taken away, and the place of His sanctuary was cast down. <sup>12</sup>Because of transgression, an army was given over to the horn to oppose the daily sacrifices; and he cast truth down to the ground. He did all this and prospered.

<sup>13</sup>Then I heard a holy one speaking; and another holy one said to that certain one who was speaking, "How long will the vision be, concerning the daily sacrifices and the transgression of desolation, the giving of both the sanctuary and the host to be trampled underfoot?"

ALEXANDER THE GREAT (DAN. 8:21)

Alexander the Great, born to Philip II of Macedon and Olympias of Epirus in 356 B.C., is depicted in Daniel's vision (Dan. 8:5, 21) and prophecy (Dan. 11:3). After the assassination of his father in 336 B.C., Alexander inherited the rising kingdom of Macedon, the Greek-speaking state north of modern Greece. He was able to sustain his father's recent conquests in Greece and then manipulate the Greek city-states to join him in the conquest of the great Persian Empire.

Before the age of thirty (327 B.C.) Alexander had conquered all of Persia, from Lycia to the Indus River. He then returned to Babylon and prepared to make the city his new capital. Some have suggested that Alexander attempted to create a universal state that broke down the cultural barriers between Greece and Persia. He may also have contemplated the conquest of the western Mediterranean world, but if so, that ambition was cut off by his premature death in 323 B.C.

Following the decease of Alexander, the empire broke up and was divided among four of his generals, symbolized by the four horns (Dan. 8:8, 22) and the four winds (Dan. 11:4). One of these generals, Ptolemy I, founded the Ptolemaic dynasty of Egypt, which he ruled himself from 305 to 282 B.C. The Ptolemies initially controlled Palestine until being defeated by the Seleucids in 200 B.C.

Alexander's conquests had far-reaching effects on the Near East. Greek language and culture were introduced to this area, considerably reshaping Near Eastern civilization. This mixture of Greek and Near Eastern civilizations became known as Hellenism.

Hellenism greatly influenced Israel's culture, especially through the Septuagint, a Greek translation of the Hebrew Old Testament. The Septuagint became the Scripture of the early Christians. New Testament writers frequently quoted the Septuagint (as does Paul in Rom. 15:12) as a source of inspired teaching (see Rom. 15:4). Other Jewish writers, such as Philo and Josephus, interpreted the Septuagint allegorically and quoted it often.

<sup>14</sup>And he said to me, “For two thousand three hundred days;<sup>a</sup> then the sanctuary shall be cleansed.”

Gabriel Interprets the Vision

<sup>15</sup>Then it happened, when I, Daniel, had seen the vision and was seeking the meaning, that suddenly there stood before me one having the appearance of a man. <sup>16</sup>And I heard a man's voice between the banks of the Ulai, who called, and said, “Gabriel, make this man understand the vision.” <sup>17</sup>So he came near where I stood, and when he came I was afraid and fell on my face; but he said to me, “Understand, son of man, that the vision refers to the time of the end.”

<sup>18</sup>Now, as he was speaking with me, I was in a deep sleep with my face to the ground; but he touched me, and stood me upright. <sup>19</sup>And he said, “Look, I am making known to you what shall happen in the latter time of the indignation; for at the appointed time the end shall be. <sup>20</sup>The ram which you saw, having the two horns—they are the kings of Media and Persia. <sup>21</sup>And the male goat is the kingdom<sup>a</sup> of Greece. The large horn that is between its eyes is the first king. <sup>22</sup>As for the broken horn and the four that stood up in its place, four kingdoms shall arise out of that nation, but not with its power.

<sup>23</sup> “And in the latter time of their kingdom, When the transgressors have reached their fullness,

A king shall arise,
Having fierce features,
Who understands sinister schemes.
<sup>24</sup> His power shall be mighty, but not by his own power;
He shall destroy fearfully,
And shall prosper and thrive;
He shall destroy the mighty, and also the holy people.

<sup>25</sup> “Through his cunning
He shall cause deceit to prosper under his rule;<sup>a</sup>
And he shall exalt himself in his heart.
He shall destroy many in their prosperity.
He shall even rise against the Prince of princes;
But he shall be broken without human means.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>26</sup> “And the vision of the evenings and mornings Which was told is true;
Therefore seal up the vision,
For it refers to many days in the future.”

TRANSITION

The Seventy Weeks

Biblical texts concerning the future are not usually specific about dates. One exception to this rule is Jeremiah's prophecy that the exiles in Babylon would return to Jerusalem, but not until 70 years had passed (Jer. 25:11, 12; 29:10). Even here, Jeremiah emphasizes not a specific date, but rather that the exiles should not expect the return to occur in their own lifetime. We cannot be certain of either the exact beginning point or the exact end point of Jeremiah's 70-year period.

Jeremiah had prophesied that the Exile in Babylon would last 70 years. The fall of Babylon caused the exiled Daniel to recall Jeremiah's 70 years (Dan. 9:2) and pray for restoration. The vision that Daniel receives (Dan. 9:24–27) does not explain the 70 years, but does offer a second interpretation. Full restoration would come not in 70 years but in 70 weeks (Dan. 9:24). If the 70 weeks represent 70 periods of 7 years each (thus  $70 \times 7 = 490$  years), the vision would be pointing to some time in the 2nd or 1st century B.C.

Despite the apparent specificity of the prophecy, the exact years represented by the vision's 70 weeks cannot be calculated. To begin with, it is not certain where to begin counting—70 weeks starting when? Perhaps it is from 538 B.C., the year of Cyrus's decree allowing the exiles to return and rebuild Jerusalem (Dan. 9:25). Or it may be from 520 B.C., the date of the actual rebuilding of the temple. Or perhaps it is from the date of the vision itself. But that date itself is unclear, because the vision is dated from the 1st year of "Darius the son of Ahasuerus, of the lineage of the Medes" (Dan. 9:1, 2). The first Darius to be king was not a Mede, but a Persian, and Ahasuerus (Xerxes) was his son, not his father (see "Darius the Mede" at Dan. 6:1).

In the end, the exact dates are less important than the theological message of the chapter. Full restoration of the punished people of God cannot and will not be immediate. Just as the sins of the Jews were long-standing sins, stubbornly clung to by unfaithful Israel, so the restoration will take longer than just one generation to be completed. As in chs. 7 and 8, Dan. 9 points toward the final years of the 1st millennium B.C., to some great salvation in either Greek or Roman times.

Daniel's Prayer for the People

9:1 In the first year of Darius the son of Ahasuerus, of the lineage of the Medes, who was made king over the realm of the Chaldeans—<sup>2</sup>in the first year of his reign I, Daniel, understood by the books the number of the years specified by the word of the LORD through Jeremiah the prophet, that He would accomplish seventy years in the desolations of Jerusalem.

<sup>3</sup>Then I set my face toward the Lord God to make request by prayer and supplications, with fasting, sackcloth, and ashes. <sup>4</sup>And I prayed to the LORD my God, and made confession, and said, "O Lord, great and awesome God, who keeps His covenant and mercy with those who love Him, and with those who keep His commandments, <sup>5</sup>we have sinned and committed iniquity, we have done wickedly and rebelled, even by departing from Your precepts and Your judgments. <sup>6</sup>Neither have we heeded Your servants the prophets, who spoke in Your name to our kings and our princes, to our fathers and all the people of the land. <sup>7</sup>O Lord, righteousness belongs to You, but to us shame of face, as it is this day—to the men of Judah, to the inhabitants of Jerusalem and all Israel, those near and those far off in all the countries to which You have driven them, because of the unfaithfulness which they have committed against You.

THE 70 YEARS OF JEREMIAH

Jeremiah prophesied that Israel would be captive in Babylon for 70 years (Jer. 25:11, 12; 29:10). His prophecy was recalled in the writings of the Chronicler (2 Chr. 36:20, 21) and of the prophets (Dan. 9:2; and probably Zech. 1:12).

Various important events have been interpreted as marking either the beginning point or end point of the 70-year period. The actual spans of years between any of the possible beginning points (612, 605, 586 B.C.) and the possible end points (538, 520, 515 B.C.) do not provide any interval of exactly 70 years. The number 70 is probably a round figure, which represents the length of one lifetime (Ps. 90:10). In other words, any of the exact spans (of 74, 67, 66, or 71 years) could correspond to the significant number 70.

Beginning Year and Event	Span	Ending Year and Event

Daniel and the Greeks

The final vision of the Book of Daniel (Dan. 10–12) is the clearest in terms of its historical context. Although it certainly may be reinterpreted to apply to other and later times, it also certainly speaks of events in the 2nd century B.C., when the Greek kingdoms controlled Palestine.

The vision begins with a description of the heavenly messenger who brought the vision to Daniel (Dan. 10:4–9). This messenger is clad in radiant gold and his eyes are fiery. Daniel is frightened, but the messenger gives him courage to face the vision (10:10, 18). The apocalyptic visions of the New Testament writer John, described in the Book of Revelation, begin in almost exactly the same way (Rev. 1:12–20).

As the vision itself is revealed (Dan. 11:2–12:3), its relation to the historical events of the Greek Empire becomes apparent. As the last kings of Persia are ruling, a great king shall arise in Greece who will “rule with great dominion” (11:2, 3). This king must be Alexander (336–323 B.C.). After the great king dies, though, his kingdom will be divided among those who are not his heirs (11:4), the Greek generals who divided Alexander’s empire. After this, the vision is only interested in two of those kingdoms, the ones most closely concerned with the land of Judah and Jerusalem. These are the kings of the South (the Ptolemies, based in Egypt) and the kings of the North (the Seleucids, based in Syria).

The vision describes the relations between the Ptolemies and the Seleucids in amazing detail. For instance, the attempted marriage alliance between the two kingdoms (11:6) probably refers to an event of 250 B.C. The Ptolemies and Seleucids were briefly united in the troubled marriage of Berenice, daughter of Ptolemy II (285–246 B.C.), to the Seleucid king Antiochus II (261–246 B.C.).

Various Seleucid kings are alluded to in Dan. 11. Antiochus III (223–187 B.C.) was the king who finally captured Judah and Jerusalem from the Ptolemies (11:11–19). His immediate successor, Seleucus IV (187–175 B.C.), had a mostly peaceful reign, though in the end he was murdered (11:20). The hated Antiochus IV (175–164 B.C.) attempted to stamp out all religions except those of Greece and showed a particular hatred for the religion of the Jews (11:21–45). The vision first describes his military campaigns against Egypt (11:25–28), then his persecutions of the Jews (11:30–39). Antiochus IV outlawed Jewish religion, forced Jews to eat pork or die, burned the Jewish Scriptures, and in the worst act of all, set up an altar to the Greek god Zeus in the Jerusalem temple (the “abomination of desolation,” 11:31).

The rest of the vision is somewhat less specific. The distant future seems to be the focus of ch. 12, which offers the general prediction that all such evil worldly kingdoms will fall at the last day before the eternal victory of Israel’s God (12:1–3). Although it is easy to be diverted by the specifics of the historical visions, this is the heart of all apocalyptic writing: the promise that God will one day right all wrongs and His faithful will dwell with Him “like the stars forever and ever” (12:3).

Historical specificity such as appears in Dan. 11 is rare in biblical prophecy. It is especially remarkable since Daniel’s exile is placed more than 400 years before the events so minutely described in the vision (Dan. 1:1–7). Because of this, many scholars suggest that the visions of Dan. 7–12 were actually written in Palestine during the persecutions of Antiochus IV (167 B.C.), and attributed after the fact to the famous exile Daniel. Such late attributions are fairly common in other apocalyptic writings of Greek and Roman times and would have been a familiar literary device to the original readers.

Other scholars emphasize that accurate foretelling of the future is possible for God, even down to minute details, and accept Daniel’s authorship. Whether these visions were written during the Babylonian exile (597–538 B.C.) or during the reign of Antiochus IV (175–164 B.C.), the message is the same: the faithful ones who are persecuted, particularly those persecuted by Antiochus, can take heart. God will overcome His enemies at last.

Daniel

Vision of the Glorious Man

10:1 In the third year of Cyrus king of Persia a message was revealed to Daniel, whose name was called Belteshazzar. The message was true, but the appointed time was long;<sup>a</sup> and he understood the message, and had understanding of the vision. <sup>2</sup>In those days I, Daniel, was mourning three full weeks. <sup>3</sup>I ate no pleasant food, no meat or wine came into my mouth, nor did I anoint myself at all, till three whole weeks were fulfilled.

<sup>4</sup>Now on the twenty-fourth day of the first month, as I was by the side of the great river, that is, the Tigris,<sup>a</sup> <sup>5</sup>I lifted my eyes and looked, and behold, a certain man clothed in linen, whose waist was girded with gold of Uphaz! <sup>6</sup>His body was like beryl, his face like the appearance of lightning, his eyes like torches of fire, his arms and feet like burnished bronze in color, and the sound of his words like the voice of a multitude.

<sup>7</sup>And I, Daniel, alone saw the vision, for the men who were with me did not see the vision; but a great terror fell upon them, so that they fled to hide themselves. <sup>8</sup>Therefore I was left alone when I saw this great vision, and no strength remained in me; for my vigor was turned to frailty in me, and I retained no strength. <sup>9</sup>Yet I heard the sound of his words; and while I heard the sound of his words I was in a deep sleep on my face, with my face to the ground.

Beliefs & Ideas

Ancient people believed that the destinies of nations were determined by a council of heavenly beings. Each nation was assigned to a certain heavenly power or prince (Dan. 10:13). In the Bible this relation of heaven and earth expresses God's interest in human affairs and also His power over them. God can act in the nations by dispatching an appropriate messenger (Dan. 10:11).

Prophecies Concerning Persia and Greece

<sup>10</sup>Suddenly, a hand touched me, which made me tremble on my knees and on the palms of my hands. <sup>11</sup>And he said to me, "O Daniel, man greatly beloved, understand the words that I speak to you, and stand upright, for I have now been sent to you." While he was speaking this word to me, I stood trembling.

<sup>12</sup>Then he said to me, "Do not fear, Daniel, for from the first day that you set your heart to understand, and to humble yourself before your God, your words were heard; and I have come because of your words. <sup>13</sup>But the prince of the kingdom of Persia withstood me twenty-one days; and behold, Michael, one of the chief princes, came to help me, for I had been left alone there with the kings of Persia. <sup>14</sup>Now I have come to make you understand what will happen to your people in the latter days, for the vision refers to many days yet to come."

<sup>15</sup>When he had spoken such words to me, I turned my face toward the ground and became speechless. <sup>16</sup>And suddenly, one having the likeness of the sons<sup>a</sup> of men touched my lips; then I opened my mouth and spoke, saying to him who stood before me, "My lord, because of the vision my sorrows have overwhelmed me, and I have retained no strength. <sup>17</sup>For how can this servant of my lord talk with you, my lord? As for me, no strength remains in me now, nor is any breath left in me."

<sup>18</sup>Then again, the one having the likeness of a man touched me and strengthened me. <sup>19</sup>And he said, "O man greatly beloved, fear not! Peace be to you; be strong, yes, be strong!"

So when he spoke to me I was strengthened, and said, "Let my lord speak, for you have strengthened me."

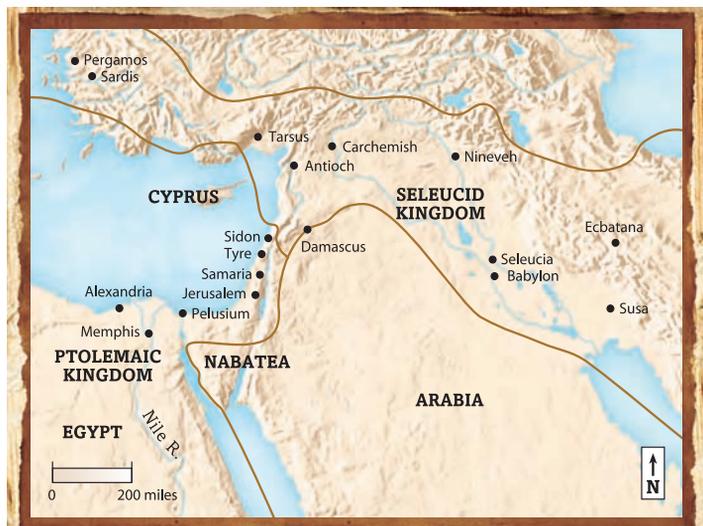

<sup>20</sup>Then he said, "Do you know why I have come to you? And now I must return to fight with the prince of Persia; and when I have gone forth, indeed the prince of Greece will come.

Ptolemaic Control of Palestine

Alexander's death resulted in the breakup of his empire into smaller kingdoms ruled by his generals.

Two of those generals, Ptolemy and Seleucus, became established in the regions around Palestine. By 275 B.C. the Ptolemies were controlling Egypt, Palestine, Cyrene, Phoenicia, Cyprus, and the coast of Asia Minor. The Seleucids controlled Mesopotamia, Syria, and most of Asia Minor and Iran.

WHO WAS DARIUS THE MEDE? (DAN. 11:1)

A date for the 1st year of “Darius the Mede” (Dan. 11:1) is uncertain because the identity of this Darius is uncertain. The Book of Daniel reports that “Darius the Mede” took over the Chaldean-Babylonian kingdom following the death of Babylon’s king Belshazzar (Dan. 5:30, 31). Both Greek and Babylonian sources, however, give credit to Cyrus the Great of Persia for conquering Babylon in 539 B.C. Who, then, was Darius the Mede?

There is no mention of anyone by the name of Darius the Mede outside of the Bible. Nor is there any mention of this Darius in the Bible outside of the Book of Daniel. The other “Darius” in Scripture is Darius I (522–486 B.C.), the king of Persia named in the books of Ezra (Ezra 4:5, 24) and Nehemiah (Neh. 12:22), who ruled years after the fall of Babylon. Thus, ancient sources do not answer the question, Who was Darius the Mede?

Some scholars identify Darius the Mede with a governor of Gutium named Gaubaruwa. Gaubaruwa could be considered “a Mede” since Gutium was a Babylonian term for Media in this period. A royal inscription known as the Nabonidus Chronicle relates how Gaubaruwa captured Babylon on behalf of Cyrus. Gaubaruwa was then appointed by Cyrus to be vice-regent over the whole of Mesopotamia, a rule cut short by Gaubaruwa’s death less than a year later. The Book of Daniel might refer to this appointment in noting that Darius “was made king” (Dan. 9:1).

It is plausible that Gaubaruwa was Darius the Mede. Several kings bore the name “Darius,” and it could have been used by Gaubaruwa as a throne name. If this Darius really was an older man of 62 years when assuming rule of Babylon (Dan. 5:31), his quick death would be understandable. Nevertheless, scholars have not yet been able to explain the relationship of Darius with the little-known Gaubaruwa.

<sup>21</sup>But I will tell you what is noted in the Scripture of Truth. (No one upholds me against these, except Michael your prince.

11 <sup>1</sup>“Also in the first year of Darius the Mede, I, even I, stood up to confirm and strengthen him.) <sup>2</sup>And now I will tell you the truth: Behold, three more kings will arise in Persia, and the fourth shall be far richer than them all; by his strength, through his riches, he shall stir up all against the realm of Greece. <sup>3</sup>Then a mighty king shall arise, who shall rule with great dominion, and do according to his will. <sup>4</sup>And when he has arisen, his kingdom shall be broken up and divided toward the four winds of heaven, but not among his posterity nor according to his dominion with which he ruled; for his kingdom shall be uprooted, even for others besides these.

His dominion shall be a great dominion. <sup>6</sup>And at the end of some years they shall join forces, for the daughter of the king of the South shall go to the king of the North to make an agreement; but she shall not retain the power of her authority,<sup>a</sup> and neither he nor his authority<sup>b</sup> shall stand; but she shall be given up, with those who brought her, and with him who begot her, and with him who strengthened her in those times. <sup>7</sup>But from a branch of her roots one shall arise in his place,

Seleucid Control of Palestine

Antiochus III, king of Syria, expanded the boundaries of the Seleucid Kingdom in numerous battles with the Ptolemies. In 221 B.C. he captured part of Palestine, only to lose most of it in 217 B.C. Returning in 201 B.C., he finally defeated the Ptolemies in 198 B.C. with the aid and support of the Jews. Palestine enjoyed freedom until 175 B.C., when Antiochus IV oppressed the Jews, causing the Maccabean revolt in 167 B.C.

ANTIOCHUS IV—EPIPHANES OR EPIMANES? (DAN. 11:21–31)

Thirteen kings of the Greek Seleucid dynasty from Syria bore the name of Antiochus. Antiochus III (223–187 B.C.), the great conqueror, was eventually defeated by the Romans at Magnesia in 190 B.C. and forced to send his son as a hostage to Rome. That son, Antiochus IV (175–164 B.C.), would return from Rome to become one of the cruelest rulers of the Seleucid dynasty. He is likely the “king of the North” alluded to in Daniel’s prophecy (11:21–45).

Ancient historians describe the character of Antiochus as volatile and unstable. The Greek historian Polybius (who published about 145 B.C.) gave him the nickname Epimanes, meaning “mad.” Like his father, Antiochus sought to create a united Seleucid empire from a variety of diverse elements, not only politically, but culturally and religiously. Those who refused to be fully assimilated, such as the Jews, were considered a threat and forced into a policy of Hellenization.

In 169 B.C. Antiochus attacked the city of Jerusalem and looted the temple (2 Macc. 5:11–21). Two years later he again attacked that Jewish city on a Sabbath, killing the male children and enslaving other inhabitants. The city walls were demolished and a military garrison was established. After prohibiting any Jewish religious rituals and forbidding the reading of the Scriptures, Antiochus performed a pagan sacrifice to Zeus in the temple, erecting an altar to Zeus over the altar of burnt offering. This desecration is alluded to as the “abomination of desolation” (Dan. 11:31).

Soon thereafter came violent resistance from the Jews. By 164 B.C. Judas Maccabeus had freed Jerusalem from Seleucid hands. Antiochus died in October of that year, during a campaign against Persia. The nickname Epimanes (“mad”) was possibly more relevant than his surname Epiphanes (meaning “the manifest god”). The Seleucid ruler had insanely persecuted the Jews, but his persecutions did not last. In December, 164 B.C., exactly 3 years after he defiled the temple and just 2 months after his death, Judas dedicated a new altar of burnt offering.

<sup>9</sup>“Also the king of the North shall come to the kingdom of the king of the South, but shall return to his own land. <sup>10</sup>However his sons shall stir up strife, and assemble a multitude of great forces; and one shall certainly come and overwhelm and pass through; then he shall return to his fortress and stir up strife.

<sup>11</sup>“And the king of the South shall be moved with rage, and go out and fight with him, with the king of the North, who shall muster a great multitude; but the multitude shall be given into the hand of his enemy. <sup>12</sup>When he has taken away the multitude, his heart will be lifted up; and he will cast down tens of thousands, but he will not prevail. <sup>13</sup>For the king of the North will return and muster a multitude greater than the former, and shall certainly come at the end of some years with a great army and much equipment.

<sup>14</sup>“Now in those times many shall rise up against the king of the South. Also, violent men<sup>a</sup> of your people shall exalt themselves in fulfillment of the vision, but they shall fall. <sup>15</sup>So the king of the North shall come and build a siege mound, and take a fortified city; and the forces<sup>a</sup> of the South shall not withstand him. At the time of the Maccabean revolt, the Jewish leaders controlled a very small portion of their former land. <sup>8</sup>Although I heard, I did not understand. Then I said, “My lord, what shall be the end of these things?”

THE ROMAN EMPIRE

The cruelty of Antiochus IV Epiphanes (175–164 B.C.) soon caused a revolt led by a Jewish family known as the Maccabees (166–160 B.C.). The Maccabean revolt ultimately secured Jewish independence from Syria, and the Maccabees (or Hasmoneans) governed Judea for almost a century, starting in 142 B.C.

Hasmonean is the name given to the dynasty of Jewish rulers who held power following the Maccabean revolt. Under Judas Maccabeus the Jews gained independence from their Syrian rulers. Jewish leadership passed from Judas to his brother Jonathan and then to another brother Simon. Simon Maccabeus became high priest of the Jews and further established the family in power. When Simon's son, John Hyrcanus I (135–104 B.C.), succeeded his father, this signaled the beginning of the Hasmonean dynasty. Their rule continued under Aristobulus (104–103 B.C.), Alexander Jannaeus (103–76 B.C.), Salome Alexandra (76–67 B.C.), and Aristobulus II (67–63 B.C.).

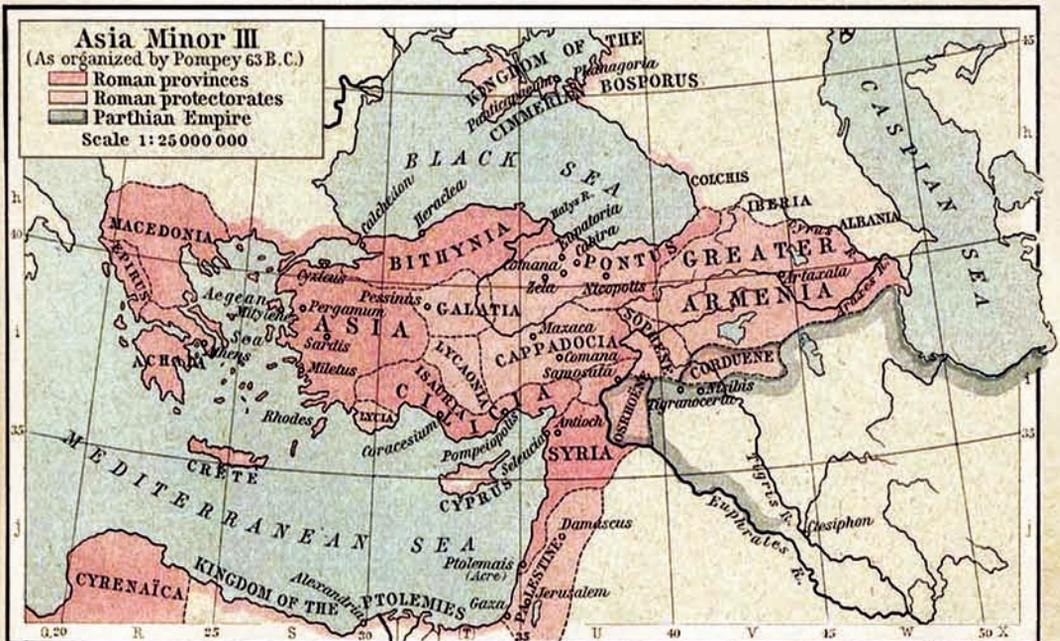

The Hasmonean rulers were recognized by Rome, but their period of rule was troubled by constant war with their neighbors, political infighting, murder, terrorism, and conflict between the Pharisees and the Sadducees. Although Judea was nominally still a province of Syria, in practical terms the country was independent and remained so until 63 B.C., when Rome invaded. The Romans sent the famous general Pompey the Great to end Hasmonean rule and to establish Roman authority in Jerusalem.

Pompey's occupation of Syria marks the beginning of the Roman period in Palestine.

According to tradition, Rome was founded in 753 B.C. by Romulus, who became its first king. The little kingdom grew in size and importance, absorbing its immediate neighbors through the reign of seven kings, until the tyranny of Tarquinius Superbus drove the people to revolt and to take the government into their own hands. A republic was established, and Roman citizens had a voice in governmental affairs.

During the period of the republic, Rome extended her borders throughout all of Italy and much of the known world. The Roman occupation of Syria under Pompey in 63 B.C. marks the beginning of the Roman period in Palestine, and for the next century Roman soldiers were stationed in Jerusalem. Under the watchful eye of Rome, Herod the Great (37–4 B.C.) became governor of Galilee (47 B.C.) and later ruler of Judea (37 B.C.). As king, Herod controlled not only the political life in Judea, but also the important office of high priest, although the religious affairs of the nation were led by the Pharisees and Sadducees.

By defeating Antony and Cleopatra in 31 B.C., Octavian became the head of the Roman Empire. He ruled under the title of Augustus, bringing a period of peace and prosperity to the empire until his death in A.D. 14. It was during the reign of Augustus, and just before the death of Herod the Great, that Jesus Christ was born (about 5 B.C.). With this event the chronology of the Old Testament era formally comes to an end.

EPOCH EIGHT

THE COMING OF THE MESSIAH

The Herods are overshadowed by the great events that occurred during their time: the ministry, crucifixion, and resurrection of the Messiah.

(37 B.C.—A.D. 30)

The epoch that witnessed the Messiah's coming actually began with the rise to power of King Herod the Great. The lives of Herod and his sons were closely connected with the earthly life of the Messiah, Jesus of Nazareth. According to the Gospel of Matthew, Herod the Great ordered the deaths of all male children in Bethlehem who were under the age of two (Matt. 2), an order that forced Joseph to flee, taking his wife and young Child to Egypt.

After Herod's death, his sons continued to impact the life of the Messiah. One of Herod's sons was partly responsible for the Messiah becoming known as "Jesus of Nazareth." When Joseph returned from Egypt with Mary and Jesus, he chose to avoid Judea. Herod's son, Archelaus, ruled over Judea and was worse than his father, so Joseph (with Jesus) settled in Nazareth of Galilee. Herod Antipas, another son of Herod the Great, ordered the death of John the Baptist and held a mock "hearing" of Jesus after His arrest. Despite having positions of power, the Herodian family was overshadowed by the great events that occurred during their time: the ministry, crucifixion, and resurrection of the Messiah, bringing victory over sin, death, and the devil.

ARCHAEOLOGY AND THE PAST

Archaeological discoveries in the Holy Land from the Roman period (37 B.C.—A.D. 325) fall into two categories: those which shed light on the Roman world, and those which shed light on the life of Jesus. Sometimes the same archaeological find fits into both categories.

The Roman period, archaeologically, is the world of Herod the Great. Among his many building accomplishments is the great seaport Caesarea Maritima. Excavations have uncovered the theater, the harbor, vast warehouses, temples, and one important inscription. A stone bearing the name of Pontius Pilate, the governor, reminds us that Caesarea was also the headquarters of Roman forces occupying the land. Military installations were placed all over Judea, since it was a border province. Roman Jericho, built on a site different from both Old Testament Jericho and the modern city, was also the work of Herod. The ruins of a magnificent palace and baths have been uncovered in Jericho's excavations.

In Jerusalem are more remains of Herod's building programs. The Wailing Wall is actually part of the great retaining wall Herod built around the Temple Mount to make a surface large enough for the temple rebuilding project. On the western side of the Old City, at a site called the Tower of David, are the remains of one of the towers Herod built to defend the city. It is probably the tower called Phasael, as described by Josephus. Either in one of these towers, or in his great palace nearby, Herod and his soldiers mocked Jesus.

The ministry of Jesus is illumined by archaeology. In Galilee, the famous "Jesus boat" was discovered in a lake during a drought. One can picture Jesus, Peter, and the others setting out across the lake in such a boat, since it is much like the ones used by fishermen of the 1st century. In Capernaum, the center of Jesus' Galilean ministry, are at least two possible links to Jesus. The synagogue that visitors see is dated to the 4th century, but more recent excavations have shown the foundations of a 1st-century building underneath it. Since synagogues were always built on the same site, the 1st-century synagogue may have been where Jesus preached. Nearby are the ruins of an octagonal church. Archaeologists believe that this ancient church is on the site of Peter's house, and that the foundations discovered underneath the church are literally the remains of the building where Jesus stayed while in Capernaum.

Around Jerusalem are many reminders of Jesus' ministry. Just over the Mount of Olives is the village of Bethany, where we find a 1st-century tomb belonging to a wealthy family. This is the traditional tomb of Lazarus, having a vestibule chamber and a small inner chamber. Somewhere on the Mount of Olives is the Garden of Gethsemane. Whether it was located at the Church of All Nations or nearby at the "Tomb of Mary" is debated. But beyond debate is the reality that Jesus prayed in this vicinity.

Excavations at the southern end of the Temple Mount have uncovered the steps that led up to the temple. Several steps remain in an unrestored condition, and represent the way 1st-century persons, including Jesus, usually entered the temple. The steps are also identified as the "rabbis' teaching steps," meaning that Jesus likely sat on them, teaching His disciples and the crowds.

On the north end of the Old City are twin pools which possibly represent the Pool of Bethesda, where Jesus healed a lame man. The porches mentioned in John's Gospel (John 5:2) stood along the sides of the pools and on the causeway between them. Back on the south end of the city are the remains of the Essene Gate, a 1st-century gate that led into Jerusalem. Nearby the gate are the remains of the house of Caiaphas, who was high priest at the time of Jesus' trial. A dank, cold basement cell reminds us that Jesus may have been imprisoned there for at least a few hours. A paved courtyard above reminds us of Peter's denial by the high priest's house.

One of the most powerful archaeological remains is the discovery of a man who had been crucified. Johanan, the name inscribed in the stone box that held his bones, had nail marks in his wrists, and one nail driven through the heel bones. The wood of the cross had been cut apart and buried with him. Johanan's bones illustrate crucifixion, a common method of execution for the Romans, and possibly suggest the way Jesus Himself was executed.

Archaeologists almost universally agree that the site of Jesus' tomb is located inside the Church of the Holy Sepulchre. At two points in the church, one can actually see what is left of the hill of Calvary. The traditional site of Jesus' burial is found very near other 1st-century tombs.

THE PEOPLES AND GROUPS

Peoples outside Judea and Galilee were also prominent in this period. The Nabateans were an Arabic people, with their capital at Petra to the south. The daughter of the Nabatean king Aretas IV married Herod Antipas. When Antipas threw her over for his own sister-in-law Herodias, war broke out between Herod Antipas and the Nabateans. This was the same Herod who beheaded John the Baptist and held a hearing for Jesus at the request of Pilate.

Southeast of the Sea of Galilee were the cities of the Decapolis. Founded by Greeks and Macedonians, the Decapolis was united not by political organization, but by Hellenistic culture and institutions. Gerasa has been excavated, and one can see the city walls, temples, the marketplace, and paved streets with colonnades. The only remains of 1st-century Philadelphia are the ruins of a Roman theater, near the downtown heart of a bustling, modern city.

The Gospels mention such groups as the Samaritans, Pharisees, Sadducees, and Zealots. The Samaritans and Jews suffered a long history of hatred for each other, going back to the fall of Israel in 722 B.C. But out of this background of hatred, Jesus identified a Samaritan as one who was truly a neighbor to a Jewish person in need. The Sadducees were the priestly aristocracy in Jerusalem, the leaders of the people. They walked a fine line between Jewish nationalism and keeping the peace with their Roman overlords. The Pharisees were a group of laymen dedicated to the keeping of the Law (Torah). They had a saying: if all Israel would keep Torah perfectly for just one day, the Messiah would come. Some Pharisees opposed Jesus; others befriended Him—warning Him of trouble, speaking for Him at His trial, providing a place for His burial. The Zealots were the revolutionary underground. Jesus' disciple Simon "the Zealot" probably belonged to one of the 1st-century groups who actively opposed Roman rule.

THE BIBLICAL LITERATURE

The biblical books relating the time of the Messiah are the Gospels—Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John. Although they tell us almost everything we know about the life and teachings of Jesus, they are not true biographies. Rather, they are theological documents telling who Jesus is and why He is important. They say little about Jesus' family background and youth, and nothing about His physical appearance. They concentrate almost totally on Jesus' ministry, but even here they do not give enough information to reconstruct the history of those years with absolute certainty. Rather, they focus on Jesus' person and His teachings, and give considerable attention to His death and resurrection and the surrounding events.

Matthew, Mark, and Luke are called the Synoptic Gospels. The name "Synoptic" means that they view the life of Jesus from a common perspective. After introducing Jesus in different ways depending on their purpose, they relate the ministry of John the Baptist, the baptism and temptation of Jesus, His ministry in Galilee, His journey to Judea and ministry there, His final week in Jerusalem, His death, and His resurrection.

The Gospel of John differs from the Synoptics in a number of ways. It tells us more about Jesus' early ministry in Judea. John also records long thematic discourses by Jesus instead of the usual shorter sayings of the Synoptics. More than the Synoptics, John includes theological reflection on the meaning of Jesus' life and death. The four Gospels together give us a more complete picture of Jesus than any one of them would by itself.

The Prehistory of Jesus

The prologue of John's Gospel locates the beginning of the story of Jesus in timeless eternity, before the dawn of creation (see Phil. 2:5–11; Col. 1:15–20). John at once identifies "the Word" as God the Son and distinguishes Him from God the Father. Although there was a time when Jesus of Nazareth did not exist, there never was a time when the Word did not exist.

Yet John announces a time when "the Word became flesh" (John 1:14). The Word became incarnate in this Jesus. This event, the Incarnation, marks the time when the Revealer of God became a specific human being. After the Incarnation, John's Gospel never again refers to Jesus as "the Word." Since the Incarnation, God may be known in the person and work of Jesus.

INTRODUCTIONS TO JESUS CHRIST

Each of the four Gospels uniquely introduces the story of Jesus Christ as marking a new beginning in God's dealings with His people. The Gospel of Mark uses a brief superscription (Mark 1:1) and prophetic announcement (1:2, 3) to make it clear that Jesus Christ is the Son of God, a truth previously declared by the prophets. Matthew begins his Gospel with a genealogy (Matt. 1:1–17), showing his Jewish readers that Jesus is truly the Messiah by tracing His ancestors back to David. That Jesus' ancestry goes back also to Abraham evidences Jesus' fulfillment of God's promises to Israel.

Two Gospel writers, John and Luke, alert their readers concerning their purpose for writing a Gospel. Luke provides a brief preface (Luke 1:1–4) in which he sets out his intention. In a prologue, John begins with a clear statement about Jesus' preexistence and divinity. He wanted his readers to know and believe that "Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God" (John 20:30, 31).

THE WORD BECOMES FLESH (JOHN 1:14)

John's Gospel describes Jesus' preexistence by identifying Him as the divine "Word" (John 1:1), or, as expressed in the Greek language, the Logos. Many Greek philosophers spoke of the Logos as universal Reason. People familiar with Greek thought could have understood John to be proclaiming Jesus as the organizing principle or "Reason" behind the universe.

Some Jewish people adapted the Greek idea of Logos to fit the traditional Jewish idea of the Word. But more thought of the Word in traditionally Jewish categories. They identified God's creative Word with divine Wisdom, which they also identified with God's Law (the Torah). They brought various ideas together: that God created all things through the Law or Wisdom (John 1:3), that the Word was life and light (1:4), and that Wisdom had been with God from the beginning (1:2).

In the prologue of his Gospel, John declares something that neither the Greek philosophers nor the Jewish teachers conceived: the Word became flesh and dwelt among His people. To the Greeks Logos was invisible reason, not part of the material world. To the Jewish teachers Wisdom was a divine attribute of Yahweh. But to John the Word was the divine Christ who became a human being. The Word's glory was "full of grace and truth," revealing to us the full character of God (John 1:14, 17, 18).

The Word Becomes Flesh

<sup>14</sup>And the Word became flesh and dwelt among us, and we beheld His glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth.

<sup>15</sup>John bore witness of Him and cried out, saying, "This was He of whom I said, 'He who comes after me is preferred before me, for He was before me.'"

<sup>16</sup>And<sup>a</sup> of His fullness we have all received, and grace for grace. <sup>17</sup>For the law was given through Moses, but grace and truth came through Jesus Christ. <sup>18</sup>No one has seen God at any time. The only begotten Son,<sup>a</sup> who is in the bosom of the Father, He has declared Him.

Theophilus already had been instructed in Christian teachings, but Luke wished to provide him with "certainty" (Luke 1:4). Luke is alone among the Gospel writers in beginning his account with a preface that explains in some detail his procedure and desire to write an "orderly account" (1:3).

EARLY LIVES OF JOHN THE BAPTIST AND JESUS

Elizabeth and Mary, the mothers of John and Jesus, were either blood relatives or close kinswomen (Luke 1:36). The angel Gabriel appeared to both families—to Elizabeth's husband and to Mary herself—and announced their future sons John and Jesus. Even before birth, these babies were named (Luke 1:13, 31) and set apart for unique missions (1:16, 17, 32, 33).

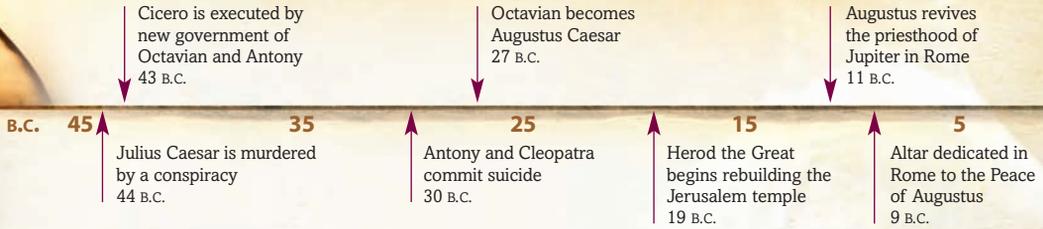

Practically nothing is known of John's boyhood, except that he "grew and became strong in spirit" (Luke 1:80). Only slightly more is known of Jesus' upbringing. Early in His life Jesus was taken to Nazareth, a town of Galilee, and there raised by His mother, Mary, and her husband, Joseph, a carpenter by trade. Hence the Child was known as "Jesus of Nazareth" (Mark 1:24).

Jesus was His mother's firstborn child; he had four brothers (James, Joses, Judas, and Simon) and an unspecified number of sisters (Mark 6:3). The only incident preserved from His first 30 years (after His infancy) was His trip to Jerusalem with Joseph and Mary when He was 12 years old (Luke 2:41–50). Occurring in the year that, as a Jewish boy, He attained the age of religious responsibility, the trip was at a crucial juncture of His development.

The Birth of John the Baptist

Luke gives an extraordinary glimpse of ordinary, pious Jews at the time. We should not imagine that everyone was as spiritually bankrupt as the Jewish leaders who later opposed Jesus. The lives of the barren, old Elizabeth and the young, virgin Mary intersect at the point of God's unexpected favor to His humble servants. Elizabeth was from the tribe of Levi (Luke 1:5) and was also related to Mary (1:36). Because Elizabeth was barren and elderly, the birth of John the Baptist is presented by Luke as a special work of God.

Luke implies that John was born 6 months before Jesus (Luke 1:26) and that the two were relatives (1:36). No other Gospel mentions their kinship, and John's Gospel raises a question: If Jesus and John the Baptist were related, why did John not recognize Jesus at the time of His baptism (John 1:31)? Some think that the Baptist knew Jesus, but did not recognize Him as the Messiah. Geography allows for another possibility: Luke indicates that John was raised in the wilderness of Judea (Luke 1:80), whereas Jesus was raised in Nazareth of Galilee (2:39). During their early years they were separated by quite a distance by ancient standards, possibly distant enough to be unfamiliar with each other as adults.

John's Birth Announced to Zacharias

1:5 There was in the days of Herod, the king of Judea, a certain priest named Zacharias, of the division of Abijah. His wife was of the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elizabeth. <sup>6</sup>And they were both righteous before God, walking in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blameless. <sup>7</sup>But they had no child, because Elizabeth was barren, and they were both well advanced in years.

<sup>8</sup>So it was, that while he was serving as priest before God in the order of his division, <sup>9</sup>according to the custom of the priesthood, his lot fell to burn incense when he went into the temple of the Lord. <sup>10</sup>And the whole multitude of the people was praying outside at the hour of incense. <sup>11</sup>Then an angel of the Lord appeared to him, standing on the right side of the altar of incense. <sup>12</sup>And when Zacharias saw him, he was troubled, and fear fell upon him.

<sup>13</sup>But the angel said to him, "Do not be afraid, Zacharias, for your prayer is heard; and your wife Elizabeth will bear you a son, and you shall call his name John. <sup>14</sup>And you will have joy and gladness, and many will rejoice at his birth. <sup>15</sup>For he will be great in the sight of the Lord, and shall drink neither wine nor strong drink. He will also be filled with the Holy Spirit, even from his mother's womb. <sup>16</sup>And he will turn many of the children of Israel to the Lord their God. <sup>17</sup>He will also go before Him in the spirit and power of Elijah, 'to turn the hearts of the fathers to the children,'<sup>a</sup> and the disobedient to the wisdom of the just, to make ready a people prepared for the Lord."

<sup>18</sup>And Zacharias said to the angel, "How shall I know this? For I am an old man, and my wife is well advanced in years."

<sup>19</sup>And the angel answered and said to him, "I am Gabriel, who stands in the presence of God, and was sent to speak to you and bring you these glad tidings. <sup>20</sup>But behold, you will be mute and not able to speak until the day these things take place, because you did not believe my words which will be fulfilled in their own time."

<sup>21</sup>And the people waited for Zacharias, and marveled that he lingered so long in the temple.

1:17 <sup>a</sup>Malachi 4:5, 6. Words in oblique type in the New Testament are quoted from the Old Testament.

Arts & Literature

Ancient books were often dedicated to a noble or prominent person. The title "most excellent" indicates that Theophilus was a person of high standing (Luke 1:3). He probably helped Luke with time, space, and materials for his work. The formal style of Luke's dedication announces that the book is the serious work of a responsible person.

<sup>22</sup>But when he came out, he could not speak to them; and they perceived that he had seen a vision in the temple, for he beckoned to them and remained speechless.

<sup>23</sup>So it was, as soon as the days of his service were completed, that he departed to his own house. <sup>24</sup>Now after those days his wife Elizabeth conceived; and she hid herself five months, saying, <sup>25</sup>“Thus the Lord has dealt with me, in the days when He looked on me, to take away my reproach among people.”

Christ's Birth Announced to Mary

<sup>26</sup>Now in the sixth month the angel Gabriel was sent by God to a city of Galilee named Nazareth, <sup>27</sup>to a virgin betrothed to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David. The virgin's name was Mary. <sup>28</sup>And having come in, the angel said to her, “Rejoice, highly favored one, the Lord is with you; blessed are you among women!”<sup>a</sup>

<sup>29</sup>But when she saw him,<sup>a</sup> she was troubled at his saying, and considered what manner of greeting this was. <sup>30</sup>Then the angel said to her, “Do not be afraid, Mary, for you have found favor with God. <sup>31</sup>And behold, you will conceive in your womb and bring forth a Son, and shall call

His name JESUS. <sup>32</sup>He will be great, and will be called the Son of the Highest; and the Lord God will give Him the throne of His father David. <sup>33</sup>And He will reign over the house of Jacob forever, and of His kingdom there will be no end.”

<sup>34</sup>Then Mary said to the angel, “How can this be, since I do not know a man?”

<sup>35</sup>And the angel answered and said to her, “The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Highest will overshadow you; therefore, also, that Holy One who is to be born will be called the Son of God. <sup>36</sup>Now indeed, Elizabeth your relative has also conceived a son in her old age; and this is now the sixth month for her who was called barren. <sup>37</sup>For with God nothing will be impossible.”

<sup>38</sup>Then Mary said, “Behold the maidservant of the Lord! Let it be to me according to your word.” And the angel departed from her.

Mary Visits Elizabeth

<sup>39</sup>Now Mary arose in those days and went into the hill country with haste, to a city of Judah, <sup>40</sup>and entered the house of Zacharias and greeted Elizabeth. <sup>41</sup>And it happened, when Elizabeth heard the greeting of Mary, that the babe leaped in her womb; and Elizabeth was filled with the Holy Spirit. <sup>42</sup>Then she spoke out with a loud voice and said, “Blessed are you among women, and blessed is the fruit of your womb! <sup>43</sup>But why is this granted to me, that the mother of my Lord should come to me? <sup>44</sup>For indeed, as soon as the voice of your greeting sounded in my ears, the babe leaped in my womb for joy. <sup>45</sup>Blessed is she who believed, for there will be a fulfillment of those things which were told her from the Lord.”

The Song of Mary

<sup>46</sup>And Mary said:

- <sup>47</sup> “My soul magnifies the Lord,
And my spirit has rejoiced in God my Savior.
<sup>48</sup> For He has regarded the lowly state of His maidservant;
For behold, henceforth all generations will call me blessed.
<sup>49</sup> For He who is mighty has done great things for me,
And holy is His name.
<sup>50</sup> And His mercy is on those who fear Him
From generation to generation.
<sup>51</sup> He has shown strength with His arm;
He has scattered the proud in the imagination of their hearts.
<sup>52</sup> He has put down the mighty from their thrones,

And exalted the lowly.

53 He has filled the hungry with good things,
And the rich He has sent away empty.

54 He has helped His servant Israel,
In remembrance of His mercy,

55 As He spoke to our fathers,
To Abraham and to his seed forever.”

56 And Mary remained with her about three months, and returned to her house.

Birth of John the Baptist

57 Now Elizabeth’s full time came for her to be delivered, and she brought forth a son. 58 When her neighbors and relatives heard how the Lord had shown great mercy to her, they rejoiced with her.

Circumcision of John the Baptist

59 So it was, on the eighth day, that they came to circumcise the child; and they would have called him by the name of his father, Zacharias. 60 His mother answered and said, “No; he shall be called John.”

61 But they said to her, “There is no one among your relatives who is called by this name.” 62 So they made signs to his father—what he would have him called.

63 And he asked for a writing tablet, and wrote, saying, “His name is John.” So they all marveled. 64 Immediately his mouth was opened and his tongue loosed, and he spoke, praising God. 65 Then fear came on all who dwelt around them; and all these sayings were discussed throughout all the hill country of Judea. 66 And all those who heard them kept them in their hearts, saying, “What kind of child will this be?” And the hand of the Lord was with him.

Zacharias’s Prophecy

67 Now his father Zacharias was filled with the Holy Spirit, and prophesied, saying:

68 “Blessed is the Lord God of Israel,
For He has visited and redeemed His
people,

69 And has raised up a horn of salvation for us
In the house of His servant David, 70 As He spoke by the mouth of His holy
prophets,

Who have been since the world began,
71 That we should be saved from our enemies
And from the hand of all who hate us, 72 To perform the mercy promised to our fathers

And to remember His holy covenant,
73 The oath which He swore to our father
Abraham:

74 To grant us that we,
Being delivered from the hand of our
enemies,

75 Might serve Him without fear,
In holiness and righteousness before Him
all the days of our life.

76 “And you, child, will be called the prophet of the Highest;
For you will go before the face of the Lord
to prepare His ways, 77 To give knowledge of salvation to His
people

By the remission of their sins,
78 Through the tender mercy of our God,
With which the Dayspring from on high has visited<sup>a</sup> us;

79 To give light to those who sit in darkness and the shadow of death,
To guide our feet into the way of peace.”

80 So the child grew and became strong in spirit, and was in the deserts till the day of his manifestation to Israel.

Herod's Kingdom at Jesus' Birth

Born in Idumea, Herod the Great was a Jew by religion, but was also immersed in Greek culture and politically loyal to Rome. The Roman emperor Augustus Caesar appointed Herod over a kingdom including the regions of Idumea, Judea, Perea, Samaria, Galilanitis, Iturea, Trachonitis, Batanea, and Auranitis.

The Genealogy of Jesus

The first Gospel begins, like 1 Chronicles, with a genealogy. This account of the ancestors of Jesus Christ sets His story within the sacred history of the people of Israel. As Abraham's descendant, Jesus is identified as a Jew. As David's descendant, He is located more narrowly in Israel's royal family. Matthew's account follows Chronicles, but omits some generations, apparently grouping the descendants into sets of fourteen (Matt. 1:17). The mention of four non-Jewish women—Tamar (1:3), Rahab, Ruth (1:5), Uriah's wife (1:6)—anticipates the Gospel's conclusion, which calls for the evangelization of all nations.

Numerous attempts have been made to account for disagreements between Matthew's and Luke's genealogies (see "The Genealogy of Jesus" at Luke 3:23). Some have proposed that Matthew provides Joseph's genealogy and Luke, Mary's. But Luke describes Mary as related to Elizabeth from the tribe of Levi (Luke 1:5, 36) while placing Jesus in the tribe of Judah (3:33), making it improbable that Luke's genealogy is actually Mary's. Probably the discrepancies between the genealogies arise from the different sources used by the two evangelists.

Culture & Society

An honorable genealogy was necessary for a person to have a place in society. The genealogy given by Matthew is divided into three groups of fourteen (Matt. 1:17), a system recalling the numbers 3 and 7, which ancient people thought were significant or perfect. David and the Babylonian captivity are the high and low points of the period covered.

begot Jotham, Jotham begot Ahaz, and Ahaz begot Hezekiah. <sup>10</sup>Hezekiah begot Manasseh, Manasseh begot Amon,<sup>a</sup> and Amon begot Josiah. <sup>11</sup>Josiah begot Jeconiah and his brothers about the time they were carried away to Babylon.

The Birth of Jesus

No one knows precisely when Jesus was born. Even His year of birth is only an educated guess based on the information available. The intention of the medieval creators of our calendar was to set the date of Jesus' birth at A.D. 1. They simply miscalculated. The Jewish historian Josephus places the death of Herod the Great in 4 B.C., and both Matthew (Matt. 2:1) and Luke (Luke 1:5) presume that Herod was king at the time of Jesus' birth. But it is not clear how much before Herod's death Jesus was born.

We know that Herod became king of the Jews in 37 B.C. Outside of Matthew (Matt. 2:16), no historical record mentions Herod's slaughter of the infants in Bethlehem. Josephus does write that Herod ordered the murders of members of his own family to protect his throne. So it is not surprising that a few peasant children in Bethlehem went unnoticed among Herod's many atrocities, leaving us no help with dating. Since Herod's calculations led him to target children under two years old, Jesus' birth likely occurred one or two years before Herod's death—in either 6 or 5 B.C.

A date of about 5 B.C. would fit with Luke's note that Augustus, who reigned from 27 B.C. to A.D. 14, was the Roman emperor when Jesus was born (Luke 2:1). Luke's mention of Quirinius (2:2), however, creates a problem. After Herod died, Rome divided his territory among his surviving sons. Archelaus ruled in Judea (see Matt. 2:22) until he was deposed by the Romans in A.D. 6. Only then was Quirinius appointed governor, after serving for more than a decade as commander of the Roman troops in the area. Perhaps Luke simply identified him by his later office.

Some have tried to specify Jesus' birth date by appeal to astronomical phenomena that might explain the star of Bethlehem (Matt. 2:2, 7, 9, 10). Halley's comet appeared in 12 or 11 B.C. and another comet in 5 B.C. But in antiquity comets were thought to forecast evil, not blessed, events. In 7 B.C. a rare (once every 794 years) conjunction of the planets Jupiter, Venus, and Saturn occurred in the constellation Pisces. Whether Matthew's star was any of these is pure speculation. For ancient people the star confirmed again that Jesus was the Messiah who fulfilled Balaam's star prophecy (Num. 24:17).

The Virgin Birth

1:18 Now the birth of Jesus Christ was as follows: After His mother Mary was betrothed to Joseph, before they came together, she was found with child of the Holy Spirit. <sup>19</sup>Then Joseph her husband, being a just man, and not wanting to make her a public example, was minded to put her away secretly. <sup>20</sup>But while he thought about these things, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream, saying, “Joseph, son of David, do not be afraid to take to you Mary your wife, for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Spirit. <sup>21</sup>And she will bring forth a Son, and you shall call His name JESUS, for He will save His people from their sins.”

<sup>22</sup>So all this was done that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Lord through the prophet, saying: <sup>23</sup>“Behold, the virgin shall be with child, and bear a Son, and they shall call His name Immanuel,”<sup>a</sup> which is translated, “God with us.”

<sup>24</sup>Then Joseph, being aroused from sleep, did as the angel of the Lord commanded him and took to him his wife, <sup>25</sup>and did not know her till she had brought forth her firstborn Son.<sup>a</sup> And he called His name JESUS.

BETRAYAL AND BETROTHAL (MATT. 1:18)

The betrothal of Mary and Joseph (Matt. 1:18) involved much more than engagement does today. Even though a young Jewish man was considered an adult around age 13, he would work for a few years to save up for his marriage, around the age of 18 or 20. After the making of a legal contract between the two families, the young man and the woman (who was normally between the ages of 12 and 16) were “betrothed.”

That Mary became pregnant after their betrothal, but before their wedding, prompted Joseph “to put her away” (Matt. 1:19). A betrothed couple could not sleep together before the wedding. In fact, Galilean parents normally kept the man and woman from spending time together privately until the wedding (normally a year after betrothal). Thus, Joseph would not have known Mary very well, and should not be blamed for mistrusting her and deciding to end the betrothal.

The commitment of a betrothal was so legally binding that a divorce was required to break it off (1:19). Joseph had little choice. If a man's betrothed wife became pregnant, people would assume that she had regarded him as an inadequate man and this would publicly humiliate him. Worse yet, should he not divorce her most people would assume that he was the one who had gotten her pregnant, and he would bear great shame in a culture that was obsessed with shame and honor.

Jewish law required a man to divorce a wife who had been unfaithful. Joseph could have divorced Mary publicly in a court. The court would not only establish his innocence, but also profit him financially: he would get to keep all of Mary's dowry (the money her father gave her for her marriage). By planning to divorce her privately (writing out a certificate of divorce for her in front of two witnesses), Joseph elected to forfeit profit rather than shame her any further.

AUGUSTUS, THE FIRST ROMAN EMPEROR (LUKE 2:1)

Luke refers to “Caesar Augustus” as the Roman emperor who ruled the Mediterranean world during the birth and youth of Jesus (Luke 2:1). The Roman Senate gave the title “Augustus” to this ruler in 27 B.C. He was born Gaius Octavius in 63 B.C., the great-nephew of the famous Julius Caesar.

In his will Julius Caesar made Octavius his adopted son. The untimely death of the dictator in 44 B.C. by assassination was the beginning of Octavius’s path to the emperorship. He changed his name to Gaius Julius Caesar Octavian.

Octavian, as he was now called, sided with Mark Antony against the assassins of his adopted father. He initiated a coalition of three dictators—himself, Antony, and Marcus Lepidus—known as “the Triumvirate.” The three not only gained victory over Caesar’s murderers by 42 B.C., but also carried out the bloodiest purge in Rome’s history. From 36 to 33 B.C. there was a break in relations between Octavian and Antony, culminating in Octavian’s dominion over the empire by 31 B.C.

After 27 B.C. Octavian became known as “Augustus,” the name bestowed on him by the Senate. He was the first Roman emperor, reigning solely as ruler of the Roman realm for more than 40 years (27 B.C.–A.D. 14). In essence, Augustus was the second founder of Rome, reorganizing it as an empire, and presiding over the Silver Age of Latin literature, dominated by names like Virgil, Livy, and Ovid.

Augustus did not change foreign policy in Palestine much from that of his predecessors. He continued the employment of client kingdoms in the remote parts of the Roman Empire and in 30 B.C. confirmed Herod the Great as ruler of Judea.

Glorify in the Highest

<sup>8</sup>Now there were in the same country shepherds living out in the fields, keeping watch over their flock by night. <sup>9</sup>And behold,<sup>a</sup> an angel of the Lord stood before them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them, and they were greatly afraid. <sup>10</sup>Then the angel said to them, “Do not be afraid, for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy which will be to all people. <sup>11</sup>For there is born to you this day in the city of David a Savior, who is Christ the Lord. <sup>12</sup>And this will be the sign to you: You will find a Babe wrapped in swaddling cloths, lying in a manger.”

<sup>13</sup>And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying:

<sup>14</sup> “Glory to God in the highest,
And on earth peace, goodwill toward men!”<sup>a</sup>

<sup>15</sup>So it was, when the angels had gone away from them into heaven, that the shepherds said to one another, “Let us now go to Bethlehem and see this thing that has come to pass, which the Lord has made known to us.” <sup>16</sup>And they came with haste and found Mary and Joseph, and the Babe lying in a manger. <sup>17</sup>Now when they had seen Him, they made widely<sup>a</sup> known the saying which was told them concerning this Child. <sup>18</sup>And all those who heard it marveled at those things which were told them by the shepherds. <sup>19</sup>But Mary kept all these things and pondered them in her heart. <sup>20</sup>Then the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told them.

Jesus Presented in the Temple

Luke indicates that “eight days were completed” for the circumcision of Jesus (Luke 2:21). Since the Jews considered the day of birth as the first day, this would be 7 days by our way of counting. The mother of a newborn son was deemed ceremonially unclean for 7 days (Lev. 12:2), after which the parents had to take the child to the temple for circumcision. She was then considered unclean for an additional 33 days, after which she would go to the temple to offer a sacrifice for her purification (Luke 2:22).

And when the parents brought in the Child Jesus, to do for Him according to the custom of the law, <sup>28</sup>he took Him up in his arms and blessed God and said:

- <sup>29</sup> “Lord, now You are letting Your servant depart in peace,

<sup>33</sup>And Joseph and His mother<sup>a</sup> marveled at those things which were spoken of Him. <sup>34</sup>Then Simeon blessed them, and said to Mary His mother, “Behold, this Child is destined for the fall and rising of many in Israel, and for a sign which will be spoken against <sup>35</sup>(yes, a sword will pierce through your own soul also), that the thoughts of many hearts may be revealed.”

Jesus Escapes to Egypt

The visit of the wise men occurred some months after the birth of Jesus. Joseph and Mary were no longer in the stable, but living in a house (see Matt. 2:11) in Bethlehem, a village about 5 miles south of Jerusalem. The family fled from there to Egypt to escape the plot of Herod, who apparently feared the new King would replace him.

Herod died in 4 B.C., and Matt. 2:16, 19 suggests that Jesus may have been one to two years old at that time (see “The Birth of Jesus” at Matt. 1:18). Herod’s death meant that Joseph could take his young Child and wife Mary back to Israel (Matt. 2:19–21).

Wise Men from the East

2:1 Now after Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, behold, wise men from the East came to Jerusalem, <sup>2</sup>saying, “Where is He who has been born King of the Jews? For we have seen His star in the East and have come to worship Him.”

<sup>3</sup>When Herod the king heard this, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him. <sup>4</sup>And when he had gathered all the chief priests and scribes of the people together, he inquired of them where the Christ was to be born.

<sup>5</sup>So they said to him, “In Bethlehem of Judea, for thus it is written by the prophet:

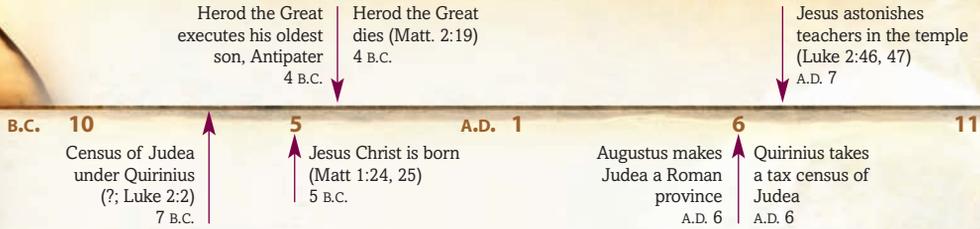

<sup>6</sup> ‘But you, Bethlehem, in the land of Judah, Are not the least among the rulers of Judah;
For out of you shall come a Ruler Who will shepherd My people Israel.’<sup>a</sup>

<sup>7</sup>Then Herod, when he had secretly called the wise men, determined from them what time the star appeared. <sup>8</sup>And he sent them to Bethlehem and said, “Go and search carefully for the young Child, and when you have found Him, bring back word to me, that I may come and worship Him also.”

THE YOUNG JESUS

<sup>9</sup>When they heard the king, they departed; and behold, the star which they had seen in the East went before them, till it came and stood over where the young Child was. <sup>10</sup>When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceedingly great joy. <sup>11</sup>And when they had come into the house, they saw the young Child with Mary His mother, and fell down and worshiped Him. And when they had opened their treasures, they presented gifts to Him: gold, frankincense, and myrrh.

<sup>12</sup>Then, being divinely warned in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed for their own country another way.

Trade & Economics

The gifts given to Jesus by the foreign rulers were luxury items (Matt. 2:11), like the symbolic gifts exchanged by rulers today, and like the wealth brought by Gentiles to Israel's king (Ps. 72:10; Is. 60:6). Frankincense and myrrh are resins or gums taken from plants that grow in Arabia or the Horn of Africa. They were used for incense and perfume.

The Flight into Egypt

<sup>13</sup>Now when they had departed, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream, saying, "Arise, take the young Child and His mother, flee to Egypt, and stay there until I bring you word; for Herod will seek the young Child to destroy Him."

<sup>14</sup>When he arose, he took the young Child and His mother by night and departed for Egypt, <sup>15</sup>and was there until the death of Herod, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Lord through the prophet, saying, "Out of Egypt I called My Son."<sup>a</sup>

Massacre of the Innocents

<sup>16</sup>Then Herod, when he saw that he was deceived by the wise men, was exceedingly angry; and he sent forth and put to death all the male children who were in Bethlehem and in all its districts, from two years old and under, according to the time which he had determined from the wise men. <sup>17</sup>Then was fulfilled what was spoken by Jeremiah the prophet, saying:

<sup>19</sup>Now when Herod was dead, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared in a dream to Joseph in Egypt, <sup>20</sup>saying, "Arise, take the young Child and His mother, and go to the land of Israel, for those who sought the young Child's life are dead." <sup>21</sup>Then he arose, took the young Child and His mother, and came into the land of Israel.

JUDEA GROANS UNDER ARCHELAUS (MATT. 2:22)

Archelaus was the eldest son of Herod the Great (37–4 B.C.), the Roman-appointed king of Judea. He was the principal heir of his father's kingdom and was given the territory of Judea and Samaria, which he ruled himself from 4 B.C. to A.D. 6. Most of our information concerning Archelaus comes from the Jewish historian Josephus (A.D. 37–100), who states that the monarch was raised in Rome.

Although Archelaus was not as harsh a ruler as his father, his reign was marked by great unrest. He rigorously oppressed the Jews, culminating in 3,000 Jewish deaths in the temple precincts during a Passover celebration. He also continually interfered in the election of the Jewish high priest.

Jewish unrest climaxed in a large-scale rebellion which had to be quelled by the Romans. Because of instability in the region, the Roman emperor Augustus (27 B.C.–A.D. 14) decided to depose Archelaus and exiled him to Gaul in A.D. 6. Roman governors or procurators were appointed by the emperor to rule the Palestinian provinces.

Joseph's fear of returning to Judea with the young Jesus (Matt. 2:22) is understandable in light of the conditions during the short time Archelaus was in office. Tension and unrest in Judea probably made Galilee seem a much safer region in which to raise a child.

TRANSITION

Jesus' Childhood in Nazareth of Galilee

Matthew's Gospel does not specify Joseph's hometown, but indicates that he decided not to return to Bethlehem of Judea to avoid living in the territory of Archelaus. The choice to settle instead in Nazareth of Galilee fulfilled a messianic prophecy (Matt. 2:23), for which no corresponding verse is found in the Old Testament.

Luke's Gospel, however, presumes that Joseph and Mary were residents of Nazareth (Luke 1:26; 2:4, 39). Jesus' birth in Bethlehem occurred because of a census that required His parents to return to their ancestral home (2:1–4). Not mentioning the family's flight to Egypt, Luke reports only that from Bethlehem they traveled to Jerusalem (2:21–38) before returning home to Nazareth where Jesus was raised.

Obviously, the details of Jesus' childhood were buried in obscurity. Such things did not matter when He was thought to be only the son of simple peasants. After His death and resurrection, these differing accounts of His childhood did agree on two central points: He was born in Bethlehem in fulfillment of popular messianic expectations, but He was better known as "Jesus of Nazareth" (Matt. 26:71; Mark 1:24; 16:6; Luke 18:37). The so-called "Infancy Gospels" among the New Testament apocrypha offer wild speculation about events surrounding the youth of their wonder-child hero.

2:39 So when they had performed all things according to the law of the Lord, they returned to Galilee, to their own city, Nazareth. <sup>40</sup>And the Child grew and became strong in spirit,<sup>a</sup> filled with wisdom; and the grace of God was upon Him.

Jesus Visits the Temple

The date of Jesus' visit to the temple depends on the year of His birth (see "The Birth of Jesus" at Matt. 1:18). If He were born in 5 B.C., this temple event could have occurred about A.D. 7. However, the date also depends on how exact we understand the age 12 (Luke 2:42).

The circumstances described in this event do not present Jesus as a child-prodigy. A Jewish boy was considered a man, accountable to the Law's demands, following his bar mitzvah at age 13. (Bar mitzvah, meaning "son of the commandment," is a religious rite of passage comparable to catechism and confirmation in some Christian traditions.) It was customary for Jewish parents to take their son to the temple one or two years before he turned 13. Thus Jesus' visit to the temple at this age, as well as His questions of and by the teachers of the Law are consistent with normal Jewish practice. He took His relationship with God seriously. What was exceptional was His level of understanding (Luke 2:47).

BEGINNING OF JESUS' MINISTRY

John the Baptist prepared the way for Jesus' ministry. The silence of John's early years was broken by his thundering call to repentance sometime around A.D. 26 or 27, shortly before Jesus began His ministry. Matthew's Gospel pictures John preaching in the wilderness of Judea (Matt. 3:1), calling people to repentance and baptism (3:3–10), announcing Jesus as the Coming One (3:11, 12), and baptizing Him (3:13–17).

According to the Synoptic Gospels, the main phase of Jesus' ministry began in Galilee after asking them questions. <sup>47</sup>And all who heard Him were astonished at His understanding and answers. <sup>48</sup>So when they saw Him, they were amazed; and His mother said to Him, "Son, why have You done this to us? Look, Your father and I have sought You anxiously."

<sup>49</sup>And He said to them, "Why did you seek Me? Did you not know that I must be about My Father's business?" <sup>50</sup>But they did not understand the statement which He spoke to them.

Jesus Advances in Wisdom and Favor

<sup>51</sup>Then He went down with them and came to Nazareth, and was subject to them, but His mother kept all these things in her heart. <sup>52</sup>And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and men.

The Journeys of Jesus' Birth

The decree of Caesar Augustus required Mary and Joseph to leave the Galilean city of Nazareth and register for the census in the Judean city of Bethlehem. After Jesus was born and circumcised, His parents took Him to the temple in Jerusalem (Luke 2:1–40).

Joseph fled from Bethlehem, taking his family to Egypt to escape from Herod the Great. Returning from Egypt after Herod's death, Jesus' family settled in Nazareth (Matt. 2:13–23).

John's imprisonment by Herod Antipas. Possibly John's arrest was a signal for Jesus to proclaim His message in Galilee: "The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand" (Mark 1:14, 15). In the Gospel of John, however, there is indication that Jesus ministered for a short time in Judea, while John the Baptist was still preaching (John 3:22–4:3). Some of John's disciples even became concerned because Jesus "baptized more disciples than John" (John 3:36; 4:1). John reassured his followers: Jesus' ministry was given to Him by God; John himself was only a forerunner (3:27, 28).

TRANSITION

John the Baptist

The description of John the Baptist in Matthew and Mark (Matt. 3:4; Mark 1:6) resembles that of Elijah in 2 Kin. 1:8. There were popular expectations of an Elijah-like figure who would prepare for the coming of the Messiah, and both Gospels explicitly report that Jesus identified John as the fulfillment (Matt. 11:14; 17:10–13; Mark 9:11–13). But according to the Fourth Gospel, John himself denied this identification (John 1:21, 25). Possibly the Baptist did not realize the true significance of his role. He could only describe himself as a herald preparing the way for the Lord's coming (John 1:23).

Luke dates the beginning of John's ministry as the 15th year of the Roman emperor Tiberius (Luke 3:1). Tiberius had a 2-year coregency with Augustus, his adoptive father, before Augustus died. Depending on whether Luke refers to the beginning of the coregency or of Tiberius's independent rule, the 15th year would be A.D. 26 or 28. Pontius Pilate was the Roman procurator (or governor) of Judea from A.D. 26 to 36. Caiaphas was the Jewish high priest from A.D. 18 to 36.

JOHN'S BAPTISM OF REPENTANCE (MARK 1:4)

Some people who claimed to be especially holy lived in the wilderness. Also, Jewish people anticipated a new exodus through the wilderness (Is. 40:3), so many who claimed to be prophets or messiahs gathered followings in wilderness areas. Only there were they usually safe from interference by the established Jewish and Roman authorities. Thus John the Baptist began his ministry “in the wilderness” (Mark 1:4).

Like other ancient peoples, Jewish people had many symbolic rituals involving water. They washed themselves before festivals and after contact with anything they considered impure. A washing ritual was also performed when a person was initiated into a wilderness sect like the Essenes (who wrote the Dead Sea Scrolls). But John's baptism was different from these ritual washings; it was a once-for-all baptism, like the kind Gentiles experienced when they converted to Judaism.

In John's day, Jewish people had special ways to practice baptism. Normally a person would strip naked, step down into the baptismal pool, and dunk himself or herself completely under water. But John's baptisms were different. The persons baptized did not perform the rite on themselves, and so presumably did not strip naked. Jewish people generally detested nakedness, and public nude baptisms would have been scandalous.

John had a message for those who came for baptism: water alone could not change them; they needed genuine repentance. This was also true for baptisms of Gentiles into Judaism and baptisms of Jews becoming Essenes; both required a pure heart as well as water. Yet while Jewish people often spoke of “repentance” as a regular act each time one sinned, John preached a special repentance, a turning from sin to God. John thus expected from his own people the kind of repentance they expected of Gentiles who converted to Judaism (Matt. 3:8, 9).

*“The voice of one crying in the wilderness:
‘Prepare the way of the LORD;
Make His paths straight.*

<sup>5</sup> *Every valley shall be filled
And every mountain and hill brought low;
The crooked places shall be made straight
And the rough ways smooth;*

<sup>6</sup> And all flesh shall see the salvation of God.”<sup>a</sup>

John Preaches to the People

<sup>7</sup>Then he said to the multitudes that came out to be baptized by him, “Brood of vipers! Who warned you to flee from the wrath to come? <sup>8</sup>Therefore bear fruits worthy of repentance, and do not begin to say to yourselves, ‘We have Abraham as our father.’ For I say to you that God is able to raise up children to Abraham from these stones. <sup>9</sup>And even now the ax is laid to the root of the trees. Therefore every tree which does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire.”

<sup>10</sup>So the people asked him, saying, “What shall we do then?”

<sup>11</sup>He answered and said to them, “He who has two tunics, let him give to him who has none; and he who has food, let him do likewise.”

<sup>12</sup>Then tax collectors also came to be baptized, and said to him, “Teacher, what shall we do?”

<sup>13</sup>And he said to them, “Collect no more than what is appointed for you.”

<sup>14</sup>Likewise the soldiers asked him, saying, “And what shall we do?”

So he said to them, “Do not intimidate anyone or accuse falsely, and be content with your wages.”

<sup>15</sup>Now as the people were in expectation, and all reasoned in their hearts about John, whether he was the Christ or not, <sup>16</sup>John answered, saying to all, “I indeed baptize you with water; but One mightier than I is coming, whose sandal strap I am not worthy to loose. He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and fire. <sup>17</sup>His winnowing fan is in His hand, and He will thoroughly clean out His threshing floor, and gather the wheat into His barn; but the chaff He will burn with unquenchable fire.”

<sup>18</sup>And with many other exhortations he preached to the people.

<sup>24</sup>Now those who were sent were from the Pharisees. <sup>25</sup>And they asked him, saying, “Why then do you baptize if you are not the Christ, nor Elijah, nor the Prophet?”

The Baptism of Jesus

In the Synoptic Gospels Jesus’ baptism marks His inauguration as the servant Messiah and the dawning of the new age of the Spirit. The Spirit is the agent of a new beginning. The open heaven, the descending dove, and the confirming heavenly voice highlight the ultimate revelatory significance of the baptism. Jesus was anointed by the Spirit of God as the Messiah and the Servant of the Lord described centuries earlier by the prophet Isaiah (Is. 11:2; 42:1; 61:1).

Mark’s account of Jesus’ baptism was open to several possible false interpretations. Readers of his Gospel might conclude (1) that Jesus was a repentant sinner (see Mark 1:4, 9), or (2) that He was inferior to John who baptized Him (1:9), or (3) that He became the Son of God at His baptism (1:10, 11).

The other evangelists denied such speculations early in their Gospels. The birth narratives in Matthew and Luke emphasize that Jesus was conceived of the Holy Spirit (Matt. 1:20), and even as a baby was the Christ (Luke 2:11). He was neither sinful nor inferior prior to His baptism. John’s prologue makes it clear that Jesus did not become the Son of God through baptism, but had been such from eternity (John 1:1–18).

Each evangelist further reformulates the baptism story to preclude any confusion Mark’s account might allow. Matthew introduces a dialogue between John and Jesus in which Jesus explained His true motive for receiving baptism (“to fulfill all righteousness,” Matt. 3:15) and John acknowledged his inferiority to Jesus (3:14). Luke reports the imprisonment of John (Luke 3:19, 20) before describing Jesus’ baptism. In his baptism narrative Luke nowhere refers to John and describes the Spirit as coming upon Jesus in response to His own prayer (3:21).

The Fourth Gospel stresses John’s inferiority to Jesus (John 1:6–8, 19–37) and never mentions Jesus’ baptism by John nor John’s preaching of repentance. John served only as a witness to Jesus: (1) that Jesus received the abiding Spirit; (2) that He is the One who baptizes with the Spirit; and (3) that He is the Son of God (John 1:32–34).

John Baptizes Jesus

3:13 Then Jesus came from Galilee to John at the Jordan to be baptized by him. <sup>14</sup>And John tried to prevent Him, saying, “I need to be baptized by You, and are You coming to me?”

<sup>15</sup>But Jesus answered and said to him, “Permit it to be so now, for thus it is fitting for us to fulfill all righteousness.” Then he allowed Him.

<sup>16</sup>When He had been baptized, Jesus came up immediately from the water; and behold, the heavens were opened to Him, and He<sup>a</sup> saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove and alighting upon Him. <sup>17</sup>And suddenly a voice came from heaven, saying, “This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.”

Mark 1:9–11

1:9 It came to pass in those days that Jesus came from Nazareth of Galilee, and was baptized by John in the Jordan. <sup>10</sup>And immediately, coming up from<sup>a</sup> the water, He saw the heavens parting and the Spirit descending upon Him like a dove. <sup>11</sup>Then a voice came from heaven, “You are My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.”

Luke 3:21, 22

3:21 When all the people were baptized, it came to pass that Jesus also was baptized;

and while He prayed, the heaven was opened.<sup>22</sup> And the Holy Spirit descended in bodily form like a dove upon Him, and a voice came from heaven which said, "You are My beloved Son; in You I am well pleased."

The Lamb of God

1:<sup>29</sup> The next day John saw Jesus coming toward him, and said, "Behold! The Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world!"<sup>30</sup> This is He of whom I said, 'After me comes a Man who is preferred before me, for He was before me.'<sup>31</sup> I did not know Him; but that He should be revealed to Israel, therefore I came baptizing with water."

<sup>32</sup> And John bore witness, saying, "I saw the Spirit descending from heaven like a dove, and He remained upon Him."<sup>33</sup> I did not know Him, but He who sent me to baptize with water said to me, 'Upon whom you see the Spirit descending, and remaining on Him, this is He who baptizes with the Holy Spirit.'<sup>34</sup> And I have seen and testified that this is the Son of God."

3:24 <sup>a</sup>This and several other names in the genealogy are spelled somewhat differently in the NU-Text. Since the New King James Version uses the Old Testament spelling for persons mentioned in the New Testament, these variations, which come from the Greek, have not been footnoted.

The Genealogy of Jesus

The genealogy in Luke's Gospel moves in reverse of the order found in Matthew's genealogy (see "The Genealogy of Jesus" at Matt. 1:1). Luke continues beyond Abraham, all the way back to Adam, thus setting the story of Jesus within the history of God's dealings with all humanity.

Luke introduces the genealogy with the comment that Jesus "began His ministry" (Luke 3:23). By referring to the beginning of Jesus' ministry before relating the temptation, Luke makes Jesus' victory over Satan's temptations the first event of His ministry. Matthew and Mark begin Jesus' ministry after the temptation (see "Early Ministry in Galilee" at Matt. 4:12).

According to the Synoptics, Jesus did not begin His ministry until John completed his. Matthew's and Mark's Gospels place Jesus' ministry in Galilee after the arrest of John the Baptist (Matt. 4:12; Mark 1:14). In Luke's presentation, John's arrest is recorded before Jesus' baptism, as well as before His ministry (Luke 3:19, 20, 23). Only in the Fourth Gospel do Jesus and John seem to minister simultaneously before John fades from the scene.

Luke puts Jesus' age at "about thirty years" at the time He began to minister (Luke 3:23). If Jesus were born in 5 B.C., He would have been 30 during part of A.D. 26 and A.D. 27. It is possible chronologically that Jesus and John could have ministered at the same time around A.D. 26 (see "John the Baptist" at Matt. 3:1). However, we should not attempt precise dates since the Gospels offer different conceptions as to what marked the beginning of Jesus' ministry.

The Temptation of Jesus

In all three Synoptics Jesus' temptation is not that of any ordinary individual, but of the Messiah, the Spirit-anointed Servant and Son of God (Ps. 2:7; Is. 42:1), as the heavenly voice affirmed at His baptism (Matt. 3:17). The Spirit led Jesus to face the question of what kind of Messiah He would be.

During the Intertestamental Period many Jews had come to believe that somehow Satan had wrested from God control of this earth. Thus, when Jesus emerged victorious from His test by Satan, He could announce the good news of the nearness of the kingdom of God (Mark 1:15; Matt. 4:17), the messianic age (Luke 4:14–22), or the age of the Spirit (John 4:23, 24; 7:37–39).

The order of the three temptations is different in Matthew and Luke. Matthew's order moves toward a more logical climax: "turn stones to bread" (Matt. 4:3); "throw Yourself from the temple" (4:6); "give You all things" (4:9). Luke's order, making the temple the last temptation, moves Jesus once again toward His destiny in Jerusalem: "turn stone to bread" (Luke 4:3); "give You all things" (4:6, 7); "throw Yourself from the temple" (4:9). See "Jesus' Final Journey" at Matt. 8:18.

LUKE & THE CAREER OF QUIRINIUS

Luke's Gospel lists a census that was conducted at the time of Jesus' birth, "while Quirinius was governing Syria" (Luke 2:1, 2). Further, Luke indicates that John the Baptist began preaching in the 15th year of Tiberius Caesar (3:1) and that Jesus was about 30 years old when He began to minister (3:23). Scholars are uncertain how to coordinate Luke's chronological information with the varied career of P. Sulpicius Quirinius.

31 B.C.	Augustus Caesar becomes emperor of Rome (31 B.C.–A.D. 14)
15 B.C.	Quirinius becomes praetor of Rome

12 B.C.	Quirinius elected consul of Rome
5 B.C.	Quirinius, as governor of Pamphylia and Galatia, subdues tribes in south Galatia

A.D. 21	Public funeral for Quirinius
A.D. 26	15th year of Tiberius, counting from his coregency with Augustus

The census taken by Quirinius in A.D. 6 is too late for Jesus' birth. Some think that Quirinius was governor of Syria twice, taking a census both times. Others think it would be highly unusual for Quirinius to conduct a census before his appointment in A.D. 6. While some historians regard Luke's information as flawed, others accept his statements as proof that Quirinius's career was unusual.

THE GALILEAN MINISTRY

Jesus' ministry is traditionally divided into segments: a Galilean ministry, a journey toward Jerusalem, a Judean ministry, and the Passion Week in Jerusalem. Whereas Matthew, Mark, and Luke narrate only one visit to Jerusalem as the climax of Jesus' ministry, John recounts that Jesus regularly followed the practice of Palestinian Jews by observing the pilgrimage feasts. The three feasts of Passover (Unleavened Bread), Pentecost (Weeks), and Tabernacles involved pilgrimages to Jerusalem (Deut. 16:16; see John 5:1; 7:2–10). As a consequence of this attention to feasts, John's Gospel includes several trips back and forth between Galilee and Judea that are not mentioned by the Synoptic Gospels. What emerges from a comparison of the four Gospels is a complementary view of Jesus' public ministry: Matthew, Mark, and Luke emphasize His activities in His native Galilee; John gives most of his attention to Jesus' work in Jerusalem and surrounding Judea.

TRANSITION

Beginning of the Public Ministry

The Fourth Gospel emphasizes that John the Baptist was the one who came "to bear witness of the Light" (John 1:6, 7, 34). In keeping with this emphasis, the Gospel writer John begins his account of Jesus' ministry by reporting that the first persons to follow Jesus were responding to the Baptist's testimony. Previously Andrew had been a disciple of the Baptist (1:35–37, 40).

The place where the Baptist had been baptizing disciples is reported in John 1:28 as Bethabara of Judea in some Greek manuscripts and as Bethany of Perea in others. Neither place can be located with certainty. Many of Jesus' earliest followers, however, were from areas farther north surrounding the Sea of Galilee, such as Bethsaida (1:44). This group of followers increased as they told family members and friends about Jesus (1:41, 45), and as Jesus Himself summoned people, "Follow Me" (1:43). Jesus shortly left the region of the Baptist's ministry at the Jordan River and went to Galilee (1:43).

• John 1:35–51

The First Disciples

1:35 Again, the next day, John stood with two of his disciples. <sup>36</sup>And looking at Jesus as He walked, he said, "Behold the Lamb of God!"

<sup>37</sup>The two disciples heard him speak, and they followed Jesus. <sup>38</sup>Then Jesus turned, and seeing them following, said to them, "What do you seek?"

They said to Him, "Rabbi" (which is to say, when translated, Teacher), "where are You staying?"

<sup>39</sup>He said to them, "Come and see." They came and saw where He was staying, and remained with Him that day (now it was about the tenth hour).

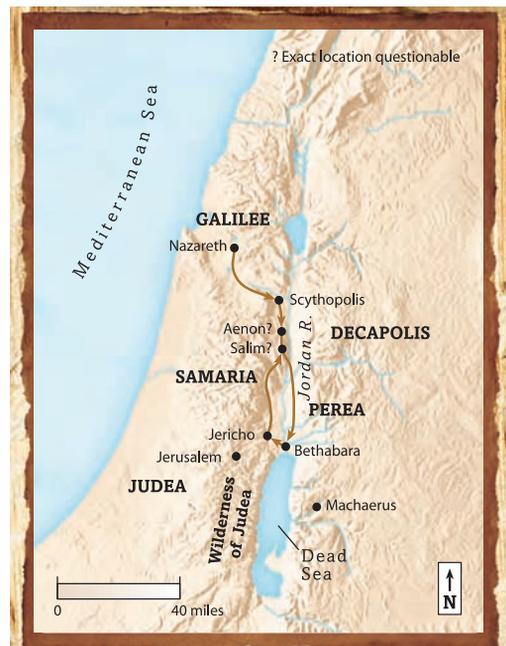

<sup>40</sup>One of the two who heard John speak, and followed Him, was Andrew, Simon Peter's brother. <sup>41</sup>He first found his own brother Simon, and said to him, "We have found the Messiah" (which is translated, the Christ). <sup>42</sup>And he brought him to Jesus.

Now when Jesus looked at him, He said, "You are Simon the son of Jonah.<sup>a</sup> You shall be called Cephas" (which is translated, A Stone).

Philip and Nathanael

<sup>43</sup>The following day Jesus wanted to go to Galilee, and He found Philip and said to him, "Follow Me." <sup>44</sup>Now Philip was from Bethsaida, the city of Andrew and Peter. <sup>45</sup>Philip found Nathanael and said to him, "We have found Him of whom Moses in the law, and also the prophets, wrote—Jesus of Nazareth, the son of Joseph."

1:42 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text reads John.

Jesus' Baptism and Temptation

Jesus came from Nazareth in Galilee to be baptized by John the Baptist. While John had been baptizing near Aenon and Salim (John 3:23), the exact location of Jesus' baptism is uncertain. Immediately after His baptism, Jesus was led by the Holy Spirit into the wilderness of Judea below Jericho.

WATERPOTS FOR PURIFICATION (JOHN 2:6)

On several occasions, such as before festivals (John 11:55) and after contracting ritual impurity, Jewish people would ceremonially purify themselves. One purification ritual involved a tank of water known as a mikveh, and for a mikveh to be valid, it had to contain at least 40 seahs of water (about 120 gallons, each seah equaling approximately 3 gallons). The amount of water at the Cana wedding Jesus attended would have been more than enough to fill a mikveh tank; each of the 6 stone vessels held 20 or more gallons (John 2:1, 6).

The 6 waterpots were available at the wedding because of the “manner of purification” (John 2:6), and the large amount of water would suggest a mikveh. Very religious Jews, however, insisted on using only “living water” for a mikveh—that is, rainwater or fresh water from a stream, rather than water drawn from a well. Some Jews even settled for dirty, stagnant rainwater to avoid violating custom by using drawn water. Only more lenient Jews would use the drawn water in the Cana waterpots for a mikveh.

Possibly the waterpots at Cana were used specifically for ritual washing of the hands, rather than for the mikveh. The tradition of some Jews called for pouring water over the hands before eating (Mark 7:3). Since John’s Gospel does not specify what type of purification ritual was connected with the waterpots, we cannot know whether Jesus’ Cana host was any more or less observant of proper Jewish custom than his contemporaries.

Jewish tradition greatly praised weddings, but did not approve using for wedding wine any vessels set aside for ritual purposes. Holy vessels set aside for sacred purposes were not to be used for profane purposes. Jesus, however, knew that the host would be the laughingstock of his community for years to come if he ran out of wine at his wedding. (Wedding celebrations normally lasted 7 days.) Jesus’ wedding gift—filling the waterpots with wine—valued His friend’s honor more highly than the religious tradition of His contemporaries.

Philip said to him, “Come and see.”

<sup>47</sup>Jesus saw Nathanael coming toward Him, and said of him, “Behold, an Israelite indeed, in whom is no deceit!”

<sup>48</sup>Nathanael said to Him, “How do You know me?”

Jesus answered and said to him, “Before Philip called you, when you were under the fig tree, I saw you.”

<sup>49</sup>Nathanael answered and said to Him, “Rabbi, You are the Son of God! You are the King of Israel!”

<sup>50</sup>Jesus answered and said to him, “Because I said to you, ‘I saw you under the fig tree,’ do you believe? You will see greater things than these.”

<sup>51</sup>And He said to him, “Most assuredly, I say to you, hereafter<sup>a</sup> you shall see heaven open, and the angels of God ascending and descending upon the Son of Man.”

The First of Seven Signs

In Cana of Galilee Jesus performed the first of several signs. John’s account of Jesus’ public ministry (John 1:19–12:50) is often called “the Book of Signs,” because John had a special interest in the role that signs played in revealing Jesus’ relationship with the Father (see John 20:30, 31). Traditionally, seven miracles have been isolated as being particular “signs” for John: transformation of water into wine (2:1–11), healing of a nobleman’s son (4:46–54), cure of a paralytic (5:1–15), the feeding of the 5,000 (6:1–15), walking on the sea (6:16–21), healing a blind man (ch. 9), and raising Lazarus (ch. 11).

Two of these signs are specifically numbered (2:11; 4:54), causing some scholars to think that John had access to a “signs source.” Supposedly, this signs source was a collection of stories about wonders performed by Jesus. When writing his Gospel, John would have drawn from this source, which was known in his community. If such a source existed, we cannot determine its specific content. Interspersed among the seven miracles are statements that Jesus performed many other signs (see 2:23; 3:2; 6:2).

Water Turned to Wine

2:1 On the third day there was a wedding in Cana of Galilee, and the mother of Jesus was there. <sup>2</sup>Now both Jesus and His disciples were invited to the wedding. <sup>3</sup>And when they ran out of wine, the mother of Jesus said to Him, “They have no wine.”

<sup>4</sup>Jesus said to her, “Woman, what does your concern have to do with Me? My hour has not yet come.”

<sup>6</sup>Now there were set there six waterpots of stone, according to the manner of purification of the Jews, containing twenty or thirty gallons apiece. <sup>7</sup>Jesus said to them, “Fill the waterpots with water.” And they filled them up to the brim. <sup>8</sup>And He said to them, “Draw some out now, and take it to the master of the feast.” And they took it. <sup>9</sup>When the master of the feast had tasted the water that was made wine, and did not know where it came from (but the servants who had drawn the water knew), the master of the feast called the bridegroom. <sup>10</sup>And he said to him, “Every man at the beginning sets out the good wine, and when the guests have well drunk, then the inferior. You have kept the good wine until now!”

<sup>11</sup>This beginning of signs Jesus did in Cana of Galilee, and manifested His glory; and His disciples believed in Him.

<sup>12</sup>After this He went down to Capernaum, He, His mother, His brothers, and His disciples; and they did not stay there many days.

Jesus' First Visit to Jerusalem

Matthew, Mark, and Luke mention only one visit of Jesus to Jerusalem during His ministry (see “The Galilean Ministry” at John 1:35). Thus Jesus’ “cleansing of the temple” raises a chronological question regarding when this incident in Jerusalem may have occurred. All four evangelists report Jesus’ prophetic demonstration, which provoked direct challenges to His authority from the religious leadership in Jerusalem (Matt. 21:23–27; Mark 11:27–33; Luke 20:1–8; John 2:18–22).

Comparing John with the Synoptics leads us to ask whether the temple cleansing occurred once or twice, and whether it happened at the beginning or end of Jesus’ ministry. John reports the incident early in his Gospel account. The other evangelists, though, associate it with the events of Jesus’ Passion (see “Monday: Cleansing the Temple” at Matt. 21:12). Some suggest that Jesus “cleansed” the temple both at the outset and at the conclusion of His ministry. Others believe that John and the Synoptics report a single event at different points in their Gospels for theological or literary reasons. Supposedly John located the cleansing early to emphasize that Jesus encountered opposition from priests even at the beginning of His ministry.

The Jewish leaders misunderstood Jesus’ saying regarding the temple (John 2:19). Jesus’ body was the temple that would be destroyed in His crucifixion, but raised up in His resurrection (2:21, 22). He was not speaking of the building that Herod had begun to reconstruct 46 years previously. The task of rebuilding the temple began in Herod’s 18th year (c. 20–19 B.C.) and continued beyond his lifetime. A passage of 46 years would date this Jerusalem visit of Jesus in about A.D. 27, at the spring Passover celebration.

BORN OF WATER AND THE SPIRIT (JOHN 3:5)

When Jesus spoke of being “born again” (John 3:3), He literally meant “from above,” that is, “from God.” Nicodemus failed to understand, so Jesus explained the concept in more familiar terms: “born of water and the Spirit” (3:5).

Not certain, however, is what the expression “born of water and the Spirit” meant to Jesus and Nicodemus. One possibility is that “born of water” was compared to Jewish baptism. A Gentile who converted to Judaism came to be viewed as a new person, cleansed from his or her former life. Converted Gentiles immersed themselves in water to symbolize the cleansing of their former impurity as Gentiles. If this is what Jesus wanted Nicodemus to grasp, He was treating him like a spiritual Gentile: though a teacher of Israel, Nicodemus himself needed to convert to the true faith promised to Israel—a new life given by the Holy Spirit to those believing in Jesus.

Yet Jesus may have intended not a physical water for conversion, but a sort of spiritual water. The Gospel of John applies the symbolism of water to the Spirit (John 7:37–39), possibly reflecting God’s promise to purify His people someday from spiritual uncleanness and put His Spirit within them (Ezek. 36:25–27). If Jesus intended water as such a symbol, then “born of water and the Spirit” would refer not to two different experiences, but to a single one. In other words, Jesus meant not a physical Jewish proselyte baptism, but a spiritual proselyte baptism, a conversion by the Spirit of God.

In the exchange with Nicodemus, Jesus saw the Pharisee’s real need and came immediately to the heart of the matter. A transformation of the heart by the Holy Spirit would enable him to see fullness of life in the kingdom of God.

Jesus Cleanses the Temple

2:13 Now the Passover of the Jews was at hand, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem. <sup>14</sup>And He found in the temple those who sold oxen and sheep and doves, and the money changers doing business. <sup>15</sup>When He had made a whip of cords, He drove them all out of the temple, with the sheep and the oxen, and poured out the changers’ money and overturned the tables. <sup>16</sup>And He said to those who sold doves, “Take these things away! Do not make My Father’s house a house of merchandise!” <sup>17</sup>Then His disciples remembered that it was written, “Zeal for Your house has eaten<sup>a</sup> Me up.”<sup>b</sup>

<sup>18</sup>So the Jews answered and said to Him, “What sign do You show to us, since You do these things?”

<sup>19</sup>Jesus answered and said to them, “Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up.”

<sup>20</sup>Then the Jews said, “It has taken forty-six years to build this temple, and will You raise it up in three days?”

<sup>21</sup>But He was speaking of the temple of His body. <sup>22</sup>Therefore, when He had risen from the dead, His disciples remembered that He had said this to them;<sup>a</sup> and they believed the Scripture and the word which Jesus had said.

The Discerner of Hearts

<sup>23</sup>Now when He was in Jerusalem at the Passover, during the feast, many believed in His name when they saw the signs which He did.

<sup>24</sup>But Jesus did not commit Himself to them, because He knew all men,<sup>25</sup> and had no need that anyone should testify of man, for He knew what was in man.

Nicodemus, the Pharisee

John’s mention of the Passover (John 2:13, 23) gives the impression that Nicodemus came to Jesus during this feast, immediately following the temple cleansing. This Pharisee, who was a member of Judea’s ruling class (3:1), asserted that Jesus’ signs revealed Him to be “a teacher come from God” (3:2; see 2:18, 23). Such a statement from one who himself was a prominent “teacher of Israel” (3:10) emphasizes John’s view that the conflict between Jesus and the Jewish religious leaders would focus on authority, or more particularly the origin of authority.

John is clear about the origin of Jesus’ own authority and that of His followers: it comes “from above.” As the “Son of Man” who “came down from heaven” (3:13), Jesus could reveal “heavenly things” (3:12). Likewise, His followers knew about these heavenly things, for they had been “born again” or “from above” (3:3, 5–7). After Jesus had left Jerusalem, John the Baptist emphasized this same point during a controversy with Jewish leaders (3:22–36).

The New Birth

3:1 There was a man of the Pharisees named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews. <sup>2</sup>This man came to Jesus by night and said to Him, “Rabbi, we know that You are a teacher come from God; for no one can do these signs that You do unless God is with him.”

<sup>3</sup>Jesus answered and said to him, “Most assuredly, I say to you, unless one is born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.”

<sup>4</sup>Nicodemus said to Him, “How can a man be born when he is old? Can he enter a second time into his mother’s womb and be born?”

<sup>5</sup>Jesus answered, “Most assuredly, I say to you, unless one is born of water and the Spirit, he cannot enter the kingdom of God. <sup>6</sup>That which is born of the flesh is flesh, and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit. <sup>7</sup>Do not marvel that I said to you, ‘You must be born again.’ <sup>8</sup>The wind blows where it wishes, and you hear the sound of it, but cannot tell where it comes from and where it goes. So is everyone who is born of the Spirit.”

<sup>10</sup>Jesus answered and said to him, “Are you the teacher of Israel, and do not know these things? <sup>11</sup>Most assuredly, I say to you, We speak what We know and testify what We have seen, and you do not receive Our witness. <sup>12</sup>If I have told you earthly things and you do not believe, how will you believe if I tell you heavenly things? <sup>13</sup>No one has ascended to heaven but He who came down from heaven, that is, the Son of Man who is in heaven.<sup>a</sup> <sup>14</sup>And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of Man be lifted up, <sup>15</sup>that whoever believes in Him should not perish but<sup>a</sup> have eternal life. <sup>16</sup>For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life. <sup>17</sup>For God did not send His Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through Him might be saved.

<sup>18</sup>“He who believes in Him is not condemned; but he who does not believe is condemned already, because he has not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God. <sup>19</sup>And this is the condemnation, that the light has come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil. <sup>20</sup>For everyone practicing evil hates the light and does not come to the light, lest his deeds should be exposed. <sup>21</sup>But he who does the truth comes to the light, that his deeds may be clearly seen, that they have been done in God.”

Religion & Worship

Baptism is a ritual of bathing that was practiced by the Jews before New Testament times. Forms of baptism were used in other religions as well. It is a natural symbol of cleansing or purification. Baptism announces the beginning of a new life, marking the transition from paganism to Judaism, or for the church, from unbelief to Christ (John 2:11; 3:22).

<sup>25</sup>Then there arose a dispute between some of John’s disciples and the Jews about purification. <sup>26</sup>And they came to John and said to him, “Rabbi, He who was with you beyond the Jordan, to whom you have testified—behold, He is baptizing, and all are coming to Him!”

<sup>27</sup>John answered and said, “A man can receive nothing unless it has been given to him from heaven. <sup>28</sup>You yourselves bear me witness, that I said, ‘I am not the Christ,’ but, ‘I have been sent before Him.’ <sup>29</sup>He who has the bride is the bridegroom; but the friend of the bridegroom, who stands and hears him, rejoices greatly because of the bridegroom’s voice. Therefore this joy of mine is fulfilled. <sup>30</sup>He must increase, but I must decrease. <sup>31</sup>He who comes from above is above all; he who is of the earth is earthly and speaks of the earth. He who comes from heaven is above all. <sup>32</sup>And what He has seen and heard, that He testifies; and no one receives His testimony. <sup>33</sup>He who has received His testimony has certified that God is true. <sup>34</sup>For He whom God has sent speaks the words of God, for God does not give the Spirit by measure. <sup>35</sup>The Father loves the Son, and has given all things into His hand. <sup>36</sup>He who believes in the Son has everlasting life; and he who does not believe the Son shall not see life, but the wrath of God abides on him.”

Through Samaria to Galilee

John’s remark that Jesus “needed to go through Samaria” to return to Galilee (John 4:4) may reflect a spiritual necessity of His ministry. Most Jews en route to Galilee traveled through the region of Perea east of the Jordan River rather than take the more direct route through Samaria. There were deep-seated prejudices between the Jews and the Samaritans, going back to at least the period of the restoration of Judah following the Babylonian exile. Jesus, however, had a mission to Samaritans as well as to Jews.

Figuring prominently in John 4 are two aspects of Jewish and Samaritan religious differences: the place of worship and the promised Messiah. The Samaritans had opposed the reconstruction of the Jerusalem temple in 538 B.C. (Ezra 4:1–5). Furthermore, they had constructed their own temple to the God of Abraham on Mount Gerizim in either 388 or 332 B.C. Wishing to divert attention from her personal life, the Samaritan woman posed a theological question about the place where one ought to worship (John 4:19,20).

The second aspect—the coming Messiah—develops from the sacred Scriptures used by Jews and Samaritans. The Jews already recognized two divisions of Scripture—the Law and the Prophets (Matt. 5:17). Believing that Israel's prophets had supported the rival Jerusalem temple, the Samaritans rejected the division called "the Prophets" and accepted only the Law of Moses or Torah (the books of Genesis through Deuteronomy) as Scripture. Thus, Samaritan expectations about the Messiah centered in the promise of a "Prophet like Moses" (Deut. 18:15–19) who would be a teacher (John 4:25), rather than a political figure like the messianic Son of David expected by many Jews. As was previously the case with Nicodemus (John 3:4, 9), both the Samaritan woman (4:11, 12, 15) and Jesus' own disciples (4:31–33) were so fixed on the literal, physical meaning of His words that they failed to understand the spiritual significance.

A Samaritan Woman Meets Her Messiah

4:1 Therefore, when the Lord knew that the Pharisees had heard that Jesus made and baptized more disciples than John <sup>2</sup>(though Jesus Himself did not baptize, but His disciples), <sup>3</sup>He left Judea and departed again to Galilee. <sup>4</sup>But He needed to go through Samaria.

<sup>5</sup>So He came to a city of Samaria which is called Sychar, near the plot of ground that Jacob gave to his son Joseph. <sup>6</sup>Now Jacob's well was there. Jesus therefore, being wearied from His journey, sat thus by the well. It was about the sixth hour.

<sup>7</sup>A woman of Samaria came to draw water. Jesus said to her, "Give Me a drink." <sup>8</sup>For His disciples had gone away into the city to buy food.

<sup>9</sup>Then the woman of Samaria said to Him, "How is it that You, being a Jew, ask a drink from me, a Samaritan woman?" For Jews have no dealings with Samaritans.

<sup>10</sup>Jesus answered and said to her, "If you knew the gift of God, and who it is who says to you, 'Give Me a drink,' you would have asked Him, and He would have given you living water."

<sup>11</sup>The woman said to Him, "Sir, You have nothing to draw with, and the well is deep. Where then do You get that living water? <sup>12</sup>Are You greater than our father Jacob, who gave us the well, and drank from it himself, as well as his sons and his livestock?"

<sup>13</sup>Jesus answered and said to her, "Whoever drinks of this water will thirst again, <sup>14</sup>but whoever drinks of the water that I shall give him will never thirst. But the water that I shall give him will become in him a fountain of water springing up into everlasting life."

<sup>15</sup>The woman said to Him, "Sir, give me this water, that I may not thirst, nor come here to draw."

<sup>16</sup>Jesus said to her, "Go, call your husband, and come here."

Jesus said to her, "You have well said, 'I have no husband,' <sup>18</sup>for you have had five husbands, and the one whom you now have is not your husband; in that you spoke truly."

<sup>19</sup>The woman said to Him, "Sir, I perceive that You are a prophet. <sup>20</sup>Our fathers worshiped on this mountain, and you Jews say that in Jerusalem is the place where one ought to worship."

MARVELING OVER JESUS WITH A WOMAN (JOHN 4:27)

Jesus' encounter with a woman at Jacob's well could look very ambiguous (John 4:6–8). In fact, 1st-century cultural norms gave Jesus' disciples reason to be troubled. Jesus had crossed ethnic, moral, and gender barriers that most of His contemporaries felt should not be crossed.

A history of ethnic conflict had left little chance of positive interaction between Jewish people and the Samaritans (4:9). They ridiculed each other's holy places, and once the Samaritans had even defiled the Jerusalem temple. The Judeans for their part had completely destroyed the Samaritan temple on Mount Gerizim nearly two centuries before. By Jewish standards, Samaritan drinking vessels were technically unclean, so Jesus' request for water probably led the woman to think that He was not very religious (4:7).

Jesus also crossed a moral barrier. This woman came alone to draw water from the well (4:7), maybe because she was not welcome among the other women of the village. Her personal life was probably considered loose by Samaritan standards, since she had been married five times and was not married to the man with whom she was living. Talking with this woman at a well was an ambiguous situation. Even the Samaritan woman, telling Jesus that she was unmarried, may have misread His motives, though He quickly set the matter straight (4:17, 18).

Finally, Jesus crossed a gender barrier in force among His fellow Jews. Many sages, such as Jesus son of Sirach, warned against being seen speaking with women, offering two reasons. First, one could easily fall prey to temptation; second, one could get a bad reputation because of what people might think, even if the woman turned out to be one's sister.

That the disciples were astonished to find Jesus talking with this woman fits their culture. That they said nothing shows their respect for and trust in Jesus (4:27).

mountain, nor in Jerusalem, worship the Father. <sup>22</sup>You worship what you do not know; we know what we worship, for salvation is of the Jews. <sup>23</sup>But the hour is coming, and now is, when the true worshipers will worship the Father in spirit and truth; for the Father is seeking such to worship Him. <sup>24</sup>God is Spirit, and those who worship Him must worship in spirit and truth.”

<sup>25</sup>The woman said to Him, “I know that Messiah is coming” (who is called Christ). “When He comes, He will tell us all things.”

<sup>26</sup>Jesus said to her, “I who speak to you am He.”

The Whiteness Harvest

<sup>27</sup>And at this point His disciples came, and they marveled that He talked with a woman; yet no one said, “What do You seek?” or, “Why are You talking with her?”

<sup>28</sup>The woman then left her waterpot, went her way into the city, and said to the men, <sup>29</sup>“Come, see a Man who told me all things that I ever did. Could this be the Christ?” <sup>30</sup>Then they went out of the city and came to Him.

<sup>32</sup>But He said to them, “I have food to eat of which you do not know.”

<sup>33</sup>Therefore the disciples said to one another, “Has anyone brought Him anything to eat?”

<sup>34</sup>Jesus said to them, “My food is to do the will of Him who sent Me, and to finish His work. <sup>35</sup>Do you not say, ‘There are still four months and then comes the harvest’? Behold, I say to you, lift up your eyes and look at the fields, for they are already white for harvest! <sup>36</sup>And he who reaps receives wages, and gathers fruit for eternal life, that both he who sows and he who reaps may rejoice together. <sup>37</sup>For in this the saying is true: ‘One sows and another reaps.’ <sup>38</sup>I sent you to reap that for which you have not labored; others have labored, and you have entered into their labors.”

Early Ministry in Galilee

Matthew and Mark begin their accounts of Jesus’ Galilean ministry by summarizing the content of His preaching in a virtual slogan: “Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand” (Matt. 4:17; see Mark 1:15). Simon Peter, Andrew, James, and John immediately accepted Jesus’ call. Matthew is particularly interested in the events of Jesus’ life that fulfill Old Testament prophecies (Matt. 1:22, 23; 2:5, 6). Both the inception of the ministry in Galilee and its positive reception are for Matthew yet further fulfillments of prophecy (Matt. 4:13–16).

Luke, however, begins his account with Jesus’ rejection in the synagogue of His hometown of Nazareth (Luke 4:14–30). This choice may seem a strange illustration that Jesus “taught in their synagogues, being glorified by all” (4:15). Nevertheless, Jesus’ reading of Is. 61:1, 2 provides a more extensive summary of His ministry. Although Jesus was met by opposition from the beginning, Luke insists that “Joseph’s son” ministered “in the power of the Spirit” (Luke 4:14, 18, 22).

Jesus Begins His Galilean Ministry

4:12 Now when Jesus heard that John had been put in prison, He departed to Galilee. <sup>13</sup> And leaving Nazareth, He came and dwelt in Capernaum, which is by the sea, in the regions of Zebulun and Naphtali, <sup>14</sup> that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Isaiah the prophet, saying:

<sup>15</sup> “The land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali,
By the way of the sea, beyond the Jordan,
Galilee of the Gentiles:

<sup>16</sup> The people who sat in darkness have seen a great light,
And upon those who sat in the region and
shadow of death
Light has dawned.”<sup>a</sup>

<sup>17</sup> From that time Jesus began to preach and to say, “Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand.”

Geography & Environment

The Sea of Galilee is about 13 miles by 8 miles in size. This freshwater lake, once known by the names Chinnereth, Gennesar, and Tiberias, supports a great number of fish (Matt. 4:18). The steep hills surrounding the small lake can channel the winds and cause sudden dangerous storms upon the water’s surface (Mark 4:37).

Four Fishermen Called as Disciples

<sup>18</sup> And Jesus, walking by the Sea of Galilee, saw two brothers, Simon called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea; for they were fishermen. <sup>19</sup> Then He said to them, “Follow Me, and I will make you fishers of men.” <sup>20</sup> They immediately left their nets and followed Him.

<sup>21</sup> Going on from there, He saw two other brothers, James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, in the boat with Zebedee their father, mending their nets. He called them, <sup>22</sup> and immediately they left the boat and their father, and followed Him.

Mark 1:14–20

Calling Disciples in Galilee

1:14 Now after John was put in prison, Jesus came to Galilee, preaching the gospel of the kingdom<sup>a</sup> of God, <sup>15</sup> and saying, “The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand. Repent, and believe in the gospel.”

<sup>16</sup> And as He walked by the Sea of Galilee, He saw Simon and Andrew his brother casting a net into the sea; for they were fishermen. <sup>17</sup> Then Jesus said to them, “Follow Me, and I will make you become fishers of men.” <sup>18</sup> They immediately left their nets and followed Him.

<sup>19</sup> When He had gone a little farther from there, He saw James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, who also were in the boat mending their nets. <sup>20</sup> And immediately He called them, and they left their father Zebedee in the boat with the hired servants, and went after Him.

Jesus Rejected at Nazareth

4:14 Then Jesus returned in the power of the Spirit to Galilee, and news of Him went out through all the surrounding region.<sup>15</sup> And He taught in their synagogues, being glorified by all.<sup>16</sup> So He came to Nazareth, where He had been brought up. And as His custom was, He went into the synagogue on the Sabbath day, and stood up to read.<sup>17</sup> And He was handed the book of the prophet Isaiah. And when He had opened the book, He found the place where it was written:

- 18 “*The Spirit of the LORD is upon Me,
Because He has anointed Me
To preach the gospel to the poor;
He has sent Me to heal the brokenhearted,<sup>a</sup>
To proclaim liberty to the captives
And recovery of sight to the blind,
To set at liberty those who are oppressed;*
19 *To proclaim the acceptable year of the

<sup>20</sup>Then He closed the book, and gave it back to the attendant and sat down. And the eyes of all who were in the synagogue were fixed on Him.<sup>21</sup> And He began to say to them, “Today this Scripture is fulfilled in your hearing.”<sup>22</sup> So all bore witness to Him, and marveled at the gracious words which proceeded out of His mouth. And they said, “Is this not Joseph’s son?”

<sup>23</sup>He said to them, “You will surely say this proverb to Me, ‘Physician, heal yourself! Whatever we have heard done in Capernaum,<sup>a</sup> do also here in Your country.’”<sup>24</sup> Then He said, “Assuredly, I say to you, no prophet is accepted in his own country.<sup>25</sup> But I tell you truly, many widows were in Israel in the days of Elijah, when the heaven was shut up three years and six months, and there was a great famine throughout all the land;<sup>26</sup> but to none of them was Elijah sent except to Zarephath,<sup>a</sup> in the region of Sidon, to a woman who was a widow.<sup>27</sup> And many lepers were in Israel in the time of Elisha the prophet, and none of them was cleansed except Naaman the Syrian.”

<sup>28</sup>So all those in the synagogue, when they heard these things, were filled with wrath,<sup>29</sup> and rose up and thrust Him out of the city; and they led Him to the brow of the hill on which their city was built, that they might throw Him down over the cliff.<sup>30</sup> Then passing through the midst of them, He went His way.

Teaching with Authority

Mark and Luke both associate Jesus’ teaching with His authority over evil spirits (Mark 1:22, 27; Luke 4:32, 36). Mark, though, goes so far as to identify such actions by Jesus as being themselves a “new doctrine” (Mark 1:27). More space in Mark’s Gospel is devoted to Jesus’ miraculous works and less space to His “sayings” than any of the other Gospels. Mark is particularly interested in associating Jesus the miracle worker with Jesus the teacher. For Mark, what Jesus does is as much a part of His teaching as what He says.

Jesus Casts Out an Unclean Spirit

1:21 Then they went into Capernaum, and immediately on the Sabbath He entered the synagogue and taught.<sup>22</sup> And they were astonished at His teaching, for He taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes.

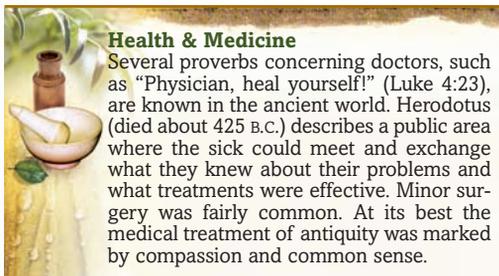

<sup>23</sup>Now there was a man in their synagogue with an unclean spirit. And he cried out,<sup>24</sup> saying, “Let us alone! What have we to do with You, Jesus of Nazareth? Did You come to destroy us? I know who You are—the Holy One of God!”

<sup>25</sup>But Jesus rebuked him, saying, “Be quiet, and come out of him!”<sup>26</sup> And when the unclean spirit had convulsed him and cried out with a loud voice, he came out of him.<sup>27</sup> Then they were all amazed, so that they questioned among themselves, saying, “What is this? What new doctrine is this? For with authority<sup>a</sup> He commands even the unclean spirits, and they obey Him.”<sup>28</sup> And immediately His fame spread throughout all the region around Galilee.

Health & Medicine

Several proverbs concerning doctors, such as “Physician, heal yourself!” (Luke 4:23), are known in the ancient world. Herodotus (died about 425 B.C.) describes a public area where the sick could meet and exchange what they knew about their problems and what treatments were effective. Minor surgery was fairly common. At its best the medical treatment of antiquity was marked by compassion and common sense.

4:18 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits to heal the brokenhearted. 4:19 <sup>a</sup>Isaiah 61:1, 2 4:23 <sup>a</sup>Here and elsewhere the NU-Text spelling is Capernaum. 4:26 <sup>a</sup>Greek Sarepta Mark 1:27 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text reads What is this? A new doctrine with authority.

SIMON PETER'S HOUSE AT CAPERNAUM (MARK 1:29)

Capernaum was a city on the northwest bank of the Sea of Galilee. After leaving Nazareth, Jesus moved to this city, where He began His early ministry in Galilee (Matt. 4:13). One place Jesus visited in Capernaum was the house of Simon Peter, which is sometimes identified by the disciple's name (Matt. 8:14; Mark 1:29; Luke 4:38), but other times as simply “the house” (Matt. 17:24, 25; Mark 9:33).

Archaeologists have recently discovered in Capernaum what they consider to be Simon Peter's house. The plan of the house had three courts arranged around a series of living rooms. It appears to have been built in the Hellenistic period (332–37 B.C.)—possibly two centuries before Peter's occupation. Later in the apostolic period, portions of the house were transformed into a house church.

in the synagogue there was a man who had a spirit of an unclean demon. And he cried out with a loud voice, <sup>34</sup>saying, “Let us alone! What have we to do with You, Jesus of Nazareth? Did You come to destroy us? I know who You are—the Holy One of God!”

<sup>35</sup>But Jesus rebuked him, saying, “Be quiet, and come out of him!” And when the demon had thrown him in their midst, it came out of him and did not hurt him. <sup>36</sup>Then they were all amazed and spoke among themselves, saying, “What a word this is! For with authority and power He commands the unclean spirits, and they come out.” <sup>37</sup>And the report about Him went out into every place in the surrounding region.

<sup>16</sup>When evening had come, they brought to Him many who were demon-possessed. And He cast out the spirits with a word, and healed all who were sick, <sup>17</sup>that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Isaiah the prophet, saying:

“He Himself took our infirmities And bore our sicknesses.”<sup>a</sup>

Mark 1:29–34

In Simon Peter's House

1:29 Now as soon as they had come out of the synagogue, they entered the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and John. <sup>30</sup>But Simon's wife's mother lay sick with a fever, and they told Him about her at once. <sup>31</sup>So He came and took her by the hand and lifted her up, and immediately the fever left her. And she served them.

<sup>32</sup>At evening, when the sun had set, they brought to Him all who were sick and those who were demon-possessed. <sup>33</sup>And the whole city was gathered together at the door. <sup>34</sup>Then He healed many who were sick with various diseases, and cast out many demons; and He did not allow the demons to speak, because they knew Him.

Many Healed After Sabbath Sunset

4:38 Now He arose from the synagogue and entered Simon's house. But Simon's wife's mother was sick with a high fever, and they made request of Him concerning her. <sup>39</sup>So He stood over her and rebuked the fever, and it left her. And immediately she arose and served them.

<sup>40</sup>When the sun was setting, all those who had any that were sick with various diseases brought them to Him; and He laid His hands on every one of them and healed them. <sup>41</sup>And

Healing the Sick

The brief accounts of the healings of Peter's mother-in-law and of others in the village highlight particular interests of the evangelists. Matthew once again links the details of Jesus' life with Israel's prophetic tradition (Matt. 8:17 cites Is. 53:4).

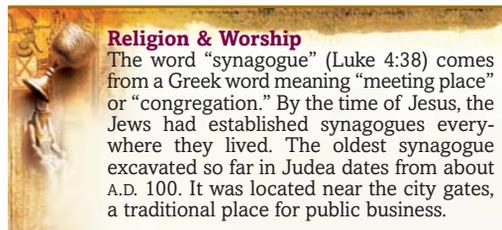

Mark uses this episode to introduce his theme of the “messianic secret” (Mark 1:43, 44; 3:11, 12). For Mark, only Jesus' death on the cross can reveal what it really means for Jesus to be the Messiah and “Son of God” (Mark 15:39). So in Mark's presentation, Jesus is careful to keep His identity secret so as to avoid the popular misconceptions about what the work of the Messiah would be. For that reason, Jesus “did not allow the demons to speak, because they knew Him” (Mark 1:34).

Religion & Worship

The word “synagogue” (Luke 4:38) comes from a Greek word meaning “meeting place” or “congregation.” By the time of Jesus, the Jews had established synagogues everywhere they lived. The oldest synagogue excavated so far in Judea dates from about A.D. 100. It was located near the city gates, a traditional place for public business.

demons also came out of many, crying out and saying, “You are the Christ,<sup>a</sup> the Son of God!”

And He, rebuking them, did not allow them to speak, for they knew that He was the Christ.

Departing Capernaum

Matthew and Mark emphasized the radical obedience exhibited by Jesus’ first disciples in accepting His call (Matt. 4:18–22; Mark 1:16–20). Luke, however, provides further insight into an experience with Jesus that led Simon Peter, James, and John to leave their businesses to follow Jesus. They witnessed a catch of fish so large that it astounded even these professional fishermen.

Having heard Jesus’ teaching (Luke 5:3), Peter said to Him, “at Your word I will let down the net” (5:5), even though they had met with no success in their fishing endeavors that night. Jesus then used their extraordinary success as a kind of parable, telling the fishermen, “From now on you will catch men” (5:10). During these earliest stages of Jesus’ Galilean ministry (Luke 4:38–41, 44), including here at the lakeshore, His followers received personal knowledge of His teaching and miracles. In response, they were willing to accept His call to discipleship.

Jesus Heals a Great Multitude

4:23 And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all kinds of sickness and all kinds of disease among the people. <sup>24</sup>Then His fame went throughout all Syria; and they brought to Him all sick people who were afflicted with various diseases and torments, and those who were demon-possessed, epileptics, and paralytics; and He healed them. <sup>25</sup>Great multitudes followed Him—from Galilee, and from Decapolis, Jerusalem, Judea, and beyond the Jordan.

Preaching in Galilee

1:35 Now in the morning, having risen a long while before daylight, He went out and departed to a solitary place; and there He prayed. <sup>36</sup>And Simon and those who were with Him searched for Him. <sup>37</sup>When they found Him, they said to Him, “Everyone is looking for You.”

<sup>38</sup>But He said to them, “Let us go into the next towns, that I may preach there also, because for this purpose I have come forth.”

<sup>39</sup>And He was preaching in their synagogues throughout all Galilee, and casting out demons.

Luke 4:42—5:11

4:42 Now when it was day, He departed and went into a deserted place. And the crowd sought Him and came to Him, and tried to keep Him from leaving them; <sup>43</sup>but He said to them, “I must preach the kingdom of God to the other cities also, because for this purpose I have been sent.” <sup>44</sup>And He was preaching in the synagogues of Galilee.<sup>a</sup>

Four Fishermen Called as Disciples

5<sup>1</sup>So it was, as the multitude pressed about Him to hear the word of God, that He stood by the Lake of Gennesaret, <sup>2</sup>and saw two boats standing by the lake; but the fishermen had gone from them and were washing their nets. <sup>3</sup>Then He got into one of the boats, which was Simon’s, and asked him to put out a little from the land. And He sat down and taught the multitudes from the boat.

<sup>4</sup>When He had stopped speaking, He said to Simon, “Launch out into the deep and let down your nets for a catch.”

<sup>5</sup>But Simon answered and said to Him, “Master, we have toiled all night and caught nothing; nevertheless at Your word I will let down the net.” <sup>6</sup>And when they had done this,

Jesus’ Galilean Ministry

they caught a great number of fish, and their net was breaking.<sup>7</sup> So they signaled to their partners in the other boat to come and help them. And they came and filled both the boats, so that they began to sink.<sup>8</sup> When Simon Peter saw it, he fell down at Jesus' knees, saying, "Depart from me, for I am a sinful man, O Lord!"

<sup>9</sup>For he and all who were with him were astonished at the catch of fish which they had taken; <sup>10</sup>and so also were James and John, the sons of Zebedee, who were partners with Simon. And Jesus said to Simon, "Do not be afraid. From now on you will catch men."<sup>11</sup> So when they had brought their boats to land, they forsook all and followed Him.

Cleansing the Leper

The cleansing and healing of a leper, an outcast from society, is a second instance of Mark's "messianic secret" theme (see "Healing the Sick" at Matt. 8:14). Mark highlights two dynamics of Jesus' secret identity. First, those who did not completely understand Jesus' messiahship, supposing Him to be only a miracle worker or healer, could in fact hinder His ability to accomplish His ministry. Because of their reactions, Jesus "could no longer openly enter the city" (Mark 1:45). Second, Mark shows that those whose lives had genuinely been changed by the gospel were not able to contain their excitement and enthusiasm about what God had done for them (see Mark 5:18–20).

Luke's narrative does not mention the leper spreading the news of his cleansing. Perhaps Luke wished to downplay any appearance of the leper disobeying Jesus' instructions. It is enough for Luke to note simply that a report concerning Jesus did spread as a result of this healing (Luke 5:15).

The Compassion of Jesus

8:1 When He had come down from the mountain, great multitudes followed Him. <sup>2</sup>And behold, a leper came and worshiped Him, saying, "Lord, if You are willing, You can make me clean."

<sup>3</sup>Then Jesus put out His hand and touched him, saying, "I am willing; be cleansed." Immediately his leprosy was cleansed.

<sup>4</sup>And Jesus said to him, "See that you tell no one; but go your way, show yourself to the priest, and offer the gift that Moses commanded, as a testimony to them."

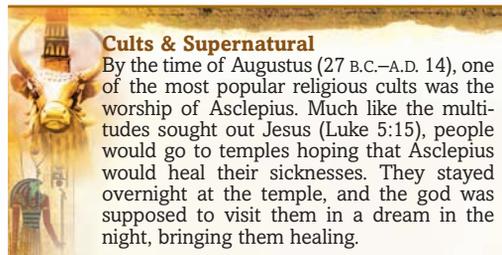

Mark 1:40–45

A Miracle of Healing

1:40 Now a leper came to Him, imploring Him, kneeling down to Him and saying to Him, "If You are willing, You can make me clean."

<sup>41</sup>Then Jesus, moved with compassion, stretched out His hand and touched him, and said to him, "I am willing; be cleansed."<sup>42</sup> As soon as He had spoken, immediately the leprosy left him, and he was cleansed.<sup>43</sup> And He strictly warned him and sent him away at once,<sup>44</sup> and said to him, "See that you say nothing to anyone; but go your way, show yourself to the priest, and offer for your cleansing those things which Moses commanded, as a testimony to them."

<sup>45</sup>However, he went out and began to proclaim it freely, and to spread the matter, so that Jesus could no longer openly enter the city, but was outside in deserted places; and they came to Him from every direction.

Cults & Supernatural

By the time of Augustus (27 B.C.–A.D. 14), one of the most popular religious cults was the worship of Asclepius. Much like the multitudes sought out Jesus (Luke 5:15), people would go to temples hoping that Asclepius would heal their sicknesses. They stayed overnight at the temple, and the god was supposed to visit them in a dream in the night, bringing them healing.

Luke 5:12–16

Jesus Cleanses a Leper

5:12 And it happened when He was in a certain city, that behold, a man who was full of leprosy saw Jesus; and he fell on his face and implored Him, saying, "Lord, if You are willing, You can make me clean."

<sup>13</sup>Then He put out His hand and touched him, saying, "I am willing; be cleansed." Immediately the leprosy left him.<sup>14</sup> And He charged him to tell no one, "But go and show yourself to the priest, and make an offering for your cleansing, as a testimony to them, just as Moses commanded."

<sup>15</sup>However, the report went around concerning Him all the more; and great multitudes came together to hear, and to be healed by Him of their infirmities.<sup>16</sup> So He Himself often withdrew into the wilderness and prayed.

Events in Capernaum

Each of the Synoptic Gospels recounts a cluster of exchanges in Capernaum between Jesus and certain Jewish religious teachers. The encounters emphasize the importance of forgiveness in Jesus' ministry, a focus which is established in the opening report of the healing of a paralytic. Jesus used His ability to perform miraculous healings as proof “that the Son of Man has power on earth to forgive sins” (Mark 2:10).

Eating a meal in a tax collector’s house was the occasion to show that God’s forgiveness was now readily available to all. Jesus could now fellowship with “sinners” without being tainted by the ritual impurity that concerned the scribes and Pharisees (Luke 5:30). Although Jesus came to call sinners to repentance (Mark 2:17), His ministry was a time to celebrate this forgiveness rather than to fast or mourn (Matt. 9:14, 15).

Traditional religion believed that God alone forgave sins (Luke 5:21). So Jesus’ new offer of forgiveness marked a radical change in God’s dealings with humanity. Jesus did not reject all Jewish practice. The time would come when His own disciples would resume the spiritual discipline of fasting (Luke 5:35). But to try to force Jesus’ ministry into the traditional religious patterns would have resulted in both His own failure and the unnecessary destruction of what God had done in the past. This point is illustrated by a parable of garments and wineskins (Luke 5:36–39).

Authority to Forgive Sins

9:1 So He got into a boat, crossed over, and came to His own city. <sup>2</sup>Then behold, they brought to Him a paralytic lying on a bed. When Jesus saw their faith, He said to the paralytic, “Son, be of good cheer; your sins are forgiven you.”

<sup>3</sup>And at once some of the scribes said within themselves, “This Man blasphemes!”

<sup>4</sup>But Jesus, knowing their thoughts, said, “Why do you think evil in your hearts? <sup>5</sup>For which is easier, to say, ‘Your sins are forgiven you,’ or to say, ‘Arise and walk?’ <sup>6</sup>But that you may know that the Son of Man has power on earth to forgive sins”—then He said to the paralytic, “Arise, take up your bed, and go to your house.” <sup>7</sup>And he arose and departed to his house.

<sup>8</sup>Now when the multitudes saw it, they marveled<sup>a</sup> and glorified God, who had given such power to men.

Matthew the Tax Collector

<sup>9</sup>As Jesus passed on from there, He saw a man named Matthew sitting at the tax office. And He said to him, “Follow Me.” So he arose and followed Him.

<sup>10</sup>Now it happened, as Jesus sat at the table in the house, that behold, many tax collectors and sinners came and sat down with Him and

His disciples. <sup>11</sup>And when the Pharisees saw it, they said to His disciples, “Why does your Teacher eat with tax collectors and sinners?”

<sup>12</sup>When Jesus heard that, He said to them, “Those who are well have no need of a physician, but those who are sick. <sup>13</sup>But go and learn what this means: ‘I desire mercy and not sacrifice.’<sup>a</sup> For I did not come to call the righteous, but sinners, to repentance.”<sup>b</sup>

Jesus Is Questioned About Fasting

<sup>14</sup>Then the disciples of John came to Him, saying, “Why do we and the Pharisees fast often,<sup>a</sup> but Your disciples do not fast?”

<sup>15</sup>And Jesus said to them, “Can the friends of the bridegroom mourn as long as the bridegroom is with them? But the days will come when the bridegroom will be taken away from them, and then they will fast. <sup>16</sup>No one puts a piece of unshrunk cloth on an old garment; for the patch pulls away from the garment, and the tear is made worse. <sup>17</sup>Nor do they put new wine into old wineskins, or else the wineskins break, the wine is spilled, and the wineskins are ruined. But they put new wine into new wineskins, and both are preserved.”

Mark 2:1–22

Your Sins Are Forgiven

2:1 And again He entered Capernaum after some days, and it was heard that He was in the house. <sup>2</sup>Immediately<sup>a</sup> many gathered together, so that there was no longer room to receive them, not even near the door. And He preached the word to them. <sup>3</sup>Then they came to Him, bringing a paralytic who was carried by four men. <sup>4</sup>And when they could not come near Him because of the crowd, they uncovered the roof where He was. So when they had broken through, they let down the bed on which the paralytic was lying.

<sup>5</sup>When Jesus saw their faith, He said to the paralytic, “Son, your sins are forgiven you.”

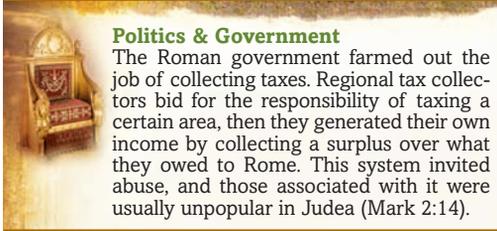

<sup>6</sup>And some of the scribes were sitting there and reasoning in their hearts, <sup>7</sup>“Why does this Man speak blasphemies like this? Who can forgive sins but God alone?”

<sup>8</sup>But immediately, when Jesus perceived in His spirit that they reasoned thus within themselves, He said to them, “Why do you reason about these things in your hearts? <sup>9</sup>Which is easier, to say to the paralytic, ‘Your sins are forgiven you,’ or to say, ‘Arise, take up your bed and walk?’ <sup>10</sup>But that you may know that the Son of Man has power on earth to forgive sins”—He said to the paralytic, <sup>11</sup>“I say to you, arise, take up your bed, and go to your house.” <sup>12</sup>Immediately he arose, took up the bed, and went out in the presence of them all, so that all were amazed and glorified God, saying, “We never saw anything like this!”

Politics & Government

The Roman government farmed out the job of collecting taxes. Regional tax collectors bid for the responsibility of taxing a certain area, then they generated their own income by collecting a surplus over what they owed to Rome. This system invited abuse, and those associated with it were usually unpopular in Judea (Mark 2:14).

Levi's Call

<sup>13</sup>Then He went out again by the sea; and all the multitude came to Him, and He taught them. <sup>14</sup>As He passed by, He saw Levi the son of Alphaeus sitting at the tax office. And He said to him, “Follow Me.” So he arose and followed Him.

<sup>15</sup>Now it happened, as He was dining in Levi's house, that many tax collectors and sinners also sat together with Jesus and His disciples; for there were many, and they followed Him. <sup>16</sup>And when the scribes and<sup>a</sup> Pharisees saw Him eating with the tax collectors and sinners, they said to His disciples, “How is it that He eats and drinks with tax collectors and sinners?”

<sup>17</sup>When Jesus heard it, He said to them, “Those who are well have no need of a physician, but those who are sick. I did not come to call the righteous, but sinners, to repentance.”<sup>a</sup>

Fasting and the Bridegroom

<sup>18</sup>The disciples of John and of the Pharisees were fasting. Then they came and said to Him, “Why do the disciples of John and of the Pharisees fast, but Your disciples do not fast?”

<sup>19</sup>And Jesus said to them, “Can the friends of the bridegroom fast while the bridegroom is with them? As long as they have the bridegroom with them they cannot fast. <sup>20</sup>But the days will come when the bridegroom will be taken away from them, and then they will fast in those days. <sup>21</sup>No one sews a piece of unshrunk cloth on an old garment; or else the new piece pulls away from the old, and the tear is made worse. <sup>22</sup>And no one puts new wine into old wineskins; or else the new wine bursts the wineskins, the wine is spilled, and the wineskins are ruined. But new wine must be put into new wineskins.”

Jesus Forgives and Heals a Paralytic

5 :17 Now it happened on a certain day, as He was teaching, that there were Pharisees and teachers of the law sitting by, who had come out of every town of Galilee, Judea, and Jerusalem. And the power of the Lord was present to heal them.<sup>a</sup> <sup>18</sup>Then behold, men brought on a bed a man who was paralyzed, whom they sought to bring in and lay before Him. <sup>19</sup>And when they could not find how they might bring him in, because of the crowd, they went up on the housetop and let him down with his bed through the tiling into the midst before Jesus.

<sup>20</sup>When He saw their faith, He said to him, “Man, your sins are forgiven you.”

<sup>21</sup>And the scribes and the Pharisees began to reason, saying, “Who is this who speaks blasphemies? Who can forgive sins but God alone?”

<sup>22</sup>But when Jesus perceived their thoughts, He answered and said to them, “Why are you reasoning in your hearts? <sup>23</sup>Which is easier, to say, ‘Your sins are forgiven you,’ or to say, ‘Rise up and walk’? <sup>24</sup>But that you may know that the Son of Man has power on earth to forgive sins”—He said to the man who was paralyzed, “I say to you, arise, take up your bed, and go to your house.”

<sup>25</sup>Immediately he rose up before them, took up what he had been lying on, and departed to his own house, glorifying God. <sup>26</sup>And they were all amazed, and they glorified God and were filled with fear, saying, “We have seen strange things today!”

Levi Follows Jesus

<sup>27</sup>After these things He went out and saw a tax collector named Levi, sitting at the tax office. And He said to him, “Follow Me.” <sup>28</sup>So he left all, rose up, and followed Him.

<sup>29</sup>Then Levi gave Him a great feast in his own house. And there were a great number of tax collectors and others who sat down with them. <sup>30</sup>And their scribes and the Pharisees<sup>a</sup> complained against His disciples, saying, “Why do You eat and drink with tax collectors and sinners?”

Lord of the Sabbath

Two events—the disciples plucking grain and Jesus healing a man’s hand on the Sabbath—have often been understood as expressing Jesus’ authority over the Law of Moses. This concern is certainly expressed in the assertion: “the Son of Man is Lord even of the Sabbath” (Matt. 12:8). But the evangelists have a more primary concern. In both events Jesus emphasized that keeping the spirit and intent of the law was more important than strictly adhering to the letter of its ritual requirements.

This point is emphasized by Jesus’ question to those in the synagogue: “Is it lawful on the Sabbath to do good or to do evil, to save a life or to kill?” (Mark 3:4). Both Matthew and Mark address this issue in the story about the grain. Mark recounts Jesus’ interpretation that the law was given for humanity’s benefit; humanity was not created for the sake of the law (Mark 2:27). Matthew reports Jesus’ reference to Hos. 6:6, stressing God’s desire for humans to put mercy, concern for people, before sacrifice as legalistic ritual observance (Matt. 12:7).

Jesus Is Lord of the Sabbath

12:1 At that time Jesus went through the grainfields on the Sabbath. And His disciples were hungry, and began to pluck heads of grain and to eat. <sup>2</sup>And when the Pharisees saw it, they said to Him, “Look, Your disciples are doing what is not lawful to do on the Sabbath!”

<sup>3</sup>But He said to them, “Have you not read what David did when he was hungry, he and those who were with him: <sup>4</sup>how he entered the house of God and ate the showbread which was not lawful for him to eat, nor for those who were with him, but only for the priests? <sup>5</sup>Or have you not read in the law that on the Sabbath the priests in the temple profane the Sabbath, and are blameless? <sup>6</sup>Yet I say to you that in this place there is One greater than the temple. <sup>7</sup>But if you had known what this means, ‘I desire mercy and not sacrifice,’<sup>a</sup> you would not have condemned the guiltless. <sup>8</sup>For the Son of Man is Lord even<sup>a</sup> of the Sabbath.”

Food & Drink

Cups and jars were made of pottery and metal. Another more portable kind of vessel was made of leather, typically from a single goatskin. New wine put into such a bottle would ferment. A new bottle would be strong and could stretch without breaking under the pressure of the gases produced by fermentation, but an old one might burst (Luke 5:37, 38).

Healing on the Sabbath

<sup>9</sup>Now when He had departed from there, He went into their synagogue. <sup>10</sup>And behold, there was a man who had a withered hand. And they asked Him, saying, “Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath?”—that they might accuse Him.

<sup>11</sup>Then He said to them, “What man is there among you who has one sheep, and if it falls into a pit on the Sabbath, will not lay hold of it and lift it out? <sup>12</sup>Of how much more value then is a man than a sheep? Therefore it is lawful to do good on the Sabbath.” <sup>13</sup>Then He said to the man, “Stretch out your hand.” And he stretched it out, and it was restored as whole as the other. <sup>14</sup>Then the Pharisees went out and plotted against Him, how they might destroy Him.

Sabbath Keeping

2:23 Now it happened that He went through the grainfields on the Sabbath; and as they went His disciples began to pluck the heads of grain. <sup>24</sup>And the Pharisees said to Him, “Look, why do they do what is not lawful on the Sabbath?”

<sup>25</sup>But He said to them, “Have you never read what David did when he was in need and hungry, he and those with him: <sup>26</sup>how he went into the house of God in the days of Abiathar the high priest, and ate the showbread, which is not lawful to eat except for the priests, and also gave some to those who were with him?”

<sup>27</sup>And He said to them, “The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath. <sup>28</sup>Therefore the Son of Man is also Lord of the Sabbath.”

3<sup>1</sup>And He entered the synagogue again, and a man was there who had a withered hand.<sup>2</sup>So they watched Him closely, whether He would heal him on the Sabbath, so that they might accuse Him.<sup>3</sup>And He said to the man who had the withered hand, “Step forward.”<sup>4</sup>Then He said to them, “Is it lawful on the Sabbath to do good or to do evil, to save life or to kill?” But they kept silent.<sup>5</sup>And when He had looked around at them with anger, being grieved by the hardness of their hearts, He said to the man, “Stretch out your hand.” And he stretched it out, and his hand was restored as whole as the other.<sup>6</sup>Then the Pharisees went out and immediately plotted with the Herodians against Him, how they might destroy Him.

Luke 6:1–11
Sabbath Conflicts

6<sup>1</sup> Now it happened on the second Sabbath after the first<sup>a</sup> that He went through the grainfields. And His disciples plucked the heads of grain and ate them, rubbing them in their hands.<sup>2</sup>And some of the Pharisees said to them, “Why are you doing what is not lawful to do on the Sabbath?”

<sup>3</sup>But Jesus answering them said, “Have you not even read this, what David did when he was hungry, he and those who were with him: <sup>4</sup>how he went into the house of God, took and ate the showbread, and also gave some to those with him, which is not lawful for any but the priests to eat?”<sup>5</sup>And He said to them, “The Son of Man is also Lord of the Sabbath.”

<sup>6</sup>Now it happened on another Sabbath, also, that He entered the synagogue and taught. And a man was there whose right hand was withered.<sup>7</sup>So the scribes and Pharisees watched Him closely, whether He would heal on the Sabbath, that they might find an accusation against Him.<sup>8</sup>But He knew their thoughts, and said to the man who had the withered hand, “Arise and stand here.” And he arose and stood.<sup>9</sup>Then Jesus said to them, “I will ask you one thing: Is it lawful on the Sabbath to do good or to do evil, to save life or to destroy?”<sup>a</sup><sup>10</sup>And when He had looked around at them all, He said to the man,<sup>a</sup> “Stretch out your hand.” And he did so, and his hand was restored as whole as the other.<sup>b</sup><sup>11</sup>But they were filled with rage, and discussed with one another what they might do to Jesus.

TRANSITION
Jesus’ Followers

Mark presents the continuing growth of Jesus’ ministry by contrasting two groups of His followers: a “great multitude” (Mark 3:7) and the “twelve” (3:14). These groups differ not only in their size, but also in their relationship to Jesus. The exuberance of the multitude remained a potential hazard to Jesus’ ministry (3:9), so Jesus continued to silence the unclean spirits that exclaimed His identity (3:11, 12; see “Healing the Sick” at Matt. 8:14). In contrast to the hindering multitude, Jesus selected twelve men who would “be with Him” and extend His preaching and healing ministry (Mark 3:14, 15).

Luke likewise mentions both the multitude and the twelve, although in the opposite order. He may have placed the multitude last as a transition to his “Sermon on the Plain.” The sermon is so-named because it was preached in a “level place” (Luke 6:17). The multitude, along with “a crowd of His disciples,” thus became the extended audience for that sermon (6:17, 20).

Matthew mentions only the multitude in this account, having already listed the twelve apostles earlier (Matt. 10:2–4). In keeping with his interest in prophetic fulfillment, Matthew compares Jesus’ efforts to limit the spread of His fame to the unassuming attitude of the Servant in the prophecies of Isaiah (Matt. 12:18–21; Is. 42:1–4). Jesus came in humility and gentleness as the prophesied Servant.

ZEALOTS AGAINST THE ROMANS (LUKE 6:15)

The Jewish historian Josephus (A.D. 37–100) provides the main source of information concerning a group known as the Zealots. The term “Zealots” refers to those who had a “zeal” for the Law (the Torah). Yet such zeal went beyond the Law. This mix of malcontents in Judea led the land against Rome during the Jewish War (A.D. 66–70). Their ranks appear to have included priests, bandit refugees, and others, and their goal was political independence from Rome.

Josephus reports about a number of Jerusalemites, under the leadership of the priest Eleazar, who in A.D. 66 stopped the sacrifices being made in the city on behalf of Caesar. This was considered by Rome a declaration of political independence, and it precipitated a civil war in the area. Eleazar’s forces were joined by other revolutionaries and were successful in holding off a Roman legion in A.D. 68. It is to this coalition that Josephus first referred by the term “Zealots.”

Eleazar ultimately used the temple as his fortress against the advances of the Roman general Vespasian. When Vespasian became emperor in A.D. 69, his son Titus assumed command of the war against the Jews. A great number of the Zealots were killed during Titus’s siege of Jerusalem in A.D. 70. The term “Zealot” eventually came to refer not only to the coalition of forces under Eleazar, but to all revolutionary groups who struggled against the Romans in the 1st century A.D.

One of Jesus’ disciples, Simon, was “called the Zealot” (Luke 6:15). Certainly, Simon was not involved with the Zealot movement during the Jewish Wars, which occurred almost 40 years after Jesus’ death. Probably “the Zealot” was applied to Simon in a general way because he was a malcontent who wanted the end of Roman rule in Palestine.

A Great Multitude Follows Jesus

3:7 But Jesus withdrew with His disciples to the sea. And a great multitude from Galilee followed Him, and from Judea <sup>8</sup>and Jerusalem and Idumea and beyond the Jordan; and those from Tyre and Sidon, a great multitude, when they heard how many things He was doing, came to Him. <sup>9</sup>So He told His disciples that a small boat should be kept ready for Him because of the multitude, lest they should crush Him. <sup>10</sup>For He healed many, so that as many as had afflictions pressed about Him to touch Him. <sup>11</sup>And the unclean spirits, whenever they saw Him, fell down before Him and cried out, saying, “You are the Son of God.” <sup>12</sup>But He sternly warned them that they should not make Him known.

The Twelve Chosen

<sup>13</sup>And He went up on the mountain and called to Him those He Himself wanted. And they came to Him. <sup>14</sup>Then He appointed twelve,<sup>a</sup> that they might be with Him and that He might send them out to preach, <sup>15</sup>and to have power to heal sicknesses and <sup>a</sup>to cast out demons: <sup>16</sup>Simon,<sup>a</sup> to whom He gave the name Peter; <sup>17</sup>James the son of Zebedee and John the brother of James, to whom He gave the name Boanerges, that is, “Sons of Thunder”; <sup>18</sup>Andrew, Philip, Bartholomew, Matthew, Thomas, James the son of Alphaeus, Thaddaeus, Simon the Cananite; <sup>19</sup>and Judas Iscariot, who also betrayed Him. And they went into a house.

Luke 6:12–19

The Twelve Apostles

6:12 Now it came to pass in those days that He went out to the mountain to pray, and continued all night in prayer to God. <sup>13</sup>And when it was day, He called His disciples to Himself; and from them He chose twelve whom He also named apostles: <sup>14</sup>Simon, whom He also named Peter, and Andrew his brother; James and John; Philip and Bartholomew; <sup>15</sup>Matthew and Thomas; James the son of Alphaeus, and Simon called the Zealot; <sup>16</sup>Judas the son of James, and Judas Iscariot who also became a traitor.

Jesus Heals a Great Multitude

<sup>17</sup>And He came down with them and stood on a level place with a crowd of His disciples and a great multitude of people from all Judea and Jerusalem, and from the seacoast of Tyre and Sidon, who came to hear Him and be healed of their diseases, <sup>18</sup>as well as those who were tormented with unclean spirits. Sermon on the Mount or Plain

The presentations of Jesus' teachings in Matthew's "Sermon on the Mount" (Matt. 5—7) and Luke's "Sermon on the Plain" (Luke 6:20–49) illustrate the so-called "Synoptic problem." There are tremendous similarities between their presentations, but also differences. The name "Synoptic" means that the Gospels view the life of Jesus from a common perspective. Yet the three Synoptic Gospels vary in what material they include and in how they arrange specific events, and such differences are apparent between Matthew's and Luke's sermons.

Some believe these differences resulted because Jesus repeated His teachings on various occasions and each evangelist provided only a summary of Jesus' teaching in each episode. Thus, Luke's "Sermon" is about a third the length of Matthew's. Others think these differences show that both Matthew and Luke used an earlier collection of Jesus' teachings that did not reveal the original setting in which the teachings were given. Thus, Matthew gathers a number of sayings from this collection or source for his "Sermon on the Mount," whereas Luke independently uses the source in forming his "Sermon on the Plain" and later treatment of prayer (see "Unassuming Godliness" at Matt. 6:1). The source is usually called the "Q" source, apparently from the German word Quelle, meaning "source."

Matthew had a theological interest in presenting Jesus as a "new Moses" who calls into being the church as a "new Israel." Comparisons with Moses develop this theme. Matthew presents five major sermons by Jesus (Matt. 5—7; 10; 13:1–52; 18; 24; 25), possibly alluding to the traditional "Five Books of Moses." The first of Matthew's sermons is set "on a mountain" (Matt. 5:1) and discusses fulfilling the law (5:17–48), recalling Moses receiving the law on Mount Sinai.

The Beatitudes

5:1 And seeing the multitudes, He went up on a mountain, and when He was seated His disciples came to Him. <sup>2</sup>Then He opened His mouth and taught them, saying:

- 3 "Blessed are the poor in spirit,
For theirs is the kingdom of heaven.
- 4 Blessed are those who mourn,
For they shall be comforted.
- 5 Blessed are the meek,
For they shall inherit the earth.

- 6 Blessed are those who hunger and thirst for righteousness,
For they shall be filled.
- 7 Blessed are the merciful,
For they shall obtain mercy.
- 8 Blessed are the pure in heart,
For they shall see God.
- 9 Blessed are the peacemakers,
For they shall be called sons of God.
- 10 Blessed are those who are persecuted for righteousness' sake,
For theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

<sup>11</sup>Blessed are you when they revile and persecute you, and say all kinds of evil against you falsely for My sake. <sup>12</sup>Rejoice and be exceedingly glad, for great is your reward in heaven, for so they persecuted the prophets who were before you.

Believers Are Salt and Light

<sup>13</sup>"You are the salt of the earth; but if the salt loses its flavor, how shall it be seasoned? It is then good for nothing but to be thrown out and trampled underfoot by men.

<sup>14</sup>"You are the light of the world. A city that is set on a hill cannot be hidden. <sup>15</sup>Nor do they light a lamp and put it under a basket, but on a lampstand, and it gives light to all who are in the house. <sup>16</sup>Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works and glorify your Father in heaven.

Food & Drink

The salt used in ancient times was not refined, and there was always some proportion of chemicals present in addition to sodium chloride. If the fraction useful for flavoring food was leached away by dampness, what remained was without value. It was sometimes strewn on paths like gravel, since it was "then good for nothing" (Matt. 5:13).

Christ Fulfills the Law

<sup>17</sup>"Do not think that I came to destroy the Law or the Prophets. I did not come to destroy but to fulfill. <sup>18</sup>For assuredly, I say to you, till heaven and earth pass away, one jot or one tittle will by no means pass from the law till all is fulfilled. <sup>19</sup>Whoever therefore breaks one of the least of these commandments, and teaches men so, shall be called least in the kingdom of heaven; but whoever does and teaches them, he shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven. <sup>20</sup>For I say to you, that unless your righteousness exceeds the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, you will by no means enter the kingdom of heaven.

Murder Begins in the Heart

THE TINY HEBREW YOD (MATT. 5:18)

Jewish people learned the Bible from early childhood, and Gentile observers sometimes praised them as a “nation of philosophers” because of their devotion to learning. Jewish teachers emphasized the absolute importance of the law in many ways. One way was to point out the necessity of keeping even the least commandment of the law. Yet another way was to emphasize the details of the law.

Such details might concern which commandments were more or less important. For instance, the teachers often regarded the law about the bird’s nest (Deut. 22:6, 7) as the least commandment, and honoring one’s parents (Ex. 20:12; Deut. 5:16) as the greatest. Both commandments included the promises “it may be well with you” and “your days may be long” (which Jewish teachers sometimes interpreted as “have eternal life”). Thus God would give people the same reward for keeping the least commandment as for the greatest.

This equal reward was to Jewish teachers a graphic way of saying, “Do not neglect even the smallest commandment” (Matt. 5:19). While they acknowledged that everyone, including themselves, had sinned, they warned that a person could not pick and choose among commandments, deciding that one was small enough to be ignored. To purposely reject any commandment was tantamount to rejecting God’s right to rule one’s life.

Jewish stories also emphasized the importance of keeping the details of the law. When Sarai’s name was changed to Sarah, the letter yod (the smallest Hebrew letter) was removed from her name. According to some Jewish teachers, the yod cried out from generation to generation, lamenting, “God, You have taken me from the Bible. When will You restore me to the Bible?” Finally, when Moses’ servant received the name “Joshua,” the yod was restored.

In another story Solomon tried to uproot a yod from the Bible, whereupon God promised that a thousand Solomons would come and go, but God would not let a single yod be taken from the Bible. “So you see,” said the teachers, “not even the smallest letter can pass from God’s Word.” Jesus probably alluded to a popular story line: not a single “jot,” meaning a yod, would pass from the Bible (Matt. 5:18). Thus disciples should pay attention to all that the Bible teaches.

will be in danger of the judgment.’ <sup>22</sup>But I say to you that whoever is angry with his brother without a cause<sup>a</sup> shall be in danger of the judgment. And whoever says to his brother, ‘Raca!’ shall be in danger of the council. But whoever says, ‘You fool!’ shall be in danger of hell fire. <sup>23</sup>Therefore if you bring your gift to the altar, and there remember that your brother has something against you, <sup>24</sup>leave your gift there before the altar, and go your way. First be reconciled to your brother, and then come and offer your gift. <sup>25</sup>Agree with your adversary quickly, while you are on the way with him, lest your adversary deliver you to the judge, the judge hand you over to the officer, and you be thrown into prison. <sup>26</sup>Assuredly, I say to you, you will by no means get out of there till you have paid the last penny.

Adultery in the Heart

<sup>27</sup>“You have heard that it was said to those of old,<sup>a</sup> ‘You shall not commit adultery.’<sup>b</sup> <sup>28</sup>But I say to you that whoever looks at a woman to lust for her has already committed adultery with her in his heart. <sup>29</sup>If your right eye causes you to sin, pluck it out and cast it from you; for it is more profitable for you that one of your members perish, than for your whole body to be cast into hell. <sup>30</sup>And if your right hand causes you to sin, cut it off and cast it from you; for it is more profitable for you that one of your members perish, than for your whole body to be cast into hell.

Marriage Is Sacred and Binding

<sup>31</sup>“Furthermore it has been said, ‘Whoever divorces his wife, let him give her a certificate of divorce.’ <sup>32</sup>But I say to you that whoever divorces his wife for any reason except sexual immorality<sup>a</sup> causes her to commit adultery; and whoever marries a woman who is divorced commits adultery.

Jesus Forbids Oaths

<sup>33</sup>“Again you have heard that it was said to those of old, ‘You shall not swear falsely, but shall perform your oaths to the Lord.’ <sup>34</sup>But I say to you, do not swear at all: neither by heaven, for it is God’s throne; <sup>35</sup>nor by the earth, for it is His footstool; nor by Jerusalem, for it is the city of the great King. <sup>36</sup>Nor shall you swear by your head, because you cannot make one hair white or black. <sup>37</sup>But let your ‘Yes’ be ‘Yes,’ and your ‘No,’ ‘No.’ For whatever is more than these is from the evil one.

For you shall hunger.
Woe to you who laugh now,

And from him who takes away your cloak, do not withhold your tunic either. <sup>30</sup>Give to everyone who asks of you. And from him who takes away your goods do not ask them back. <sup>31</sup>And just as you want men to do to you, you also do to them likewise.

<sup>32</sup>“But if you love those who love you, what credit is that to you? For even sinners love those who love them. <sup>33</sup>And if you do good to those who do good to you, what credit is that to you? For even sinners do the same. <sup>34</sup>And if you lend to those from whom you hope to receive back, what credit is that to you? For even sinners lend to sinners to receive as much back. <sup>35</sup>But love your enemies, do good, and lend, hoping for nothing in return; and your reward will be great, and you will be sons of the Most High. For He is kind to the unthankful and evil. <sup>36</sup>Therefore be merciful, just as your Father also is merciful.”

TRANSITION

Unassuming Godliness

Common religious practices included giving (Matt. 6:2–4), praying (6:5–15), and fasting (6:16–18). The Jewish religious leaders considered keeping the law and these three practices as the most important proofs of piety. Jesus did not condemn these pious deeds or rebuke the expectation of reward, but He did warn that these practices should not be done to receive human recognition.

Jesus offered the Lord’s Prayer as a pattern for His disciples. Luke associates the teachings about prayer (Luke 11:1–13) with Jesus’ journey to Jerusalem (Luke 9—18), and does not include them with the Sermon on the Plain (Luke 6). See “Jesus’ Final Journey” at Matt. 8:18.

Both Matthew and Luke contrasted trusting in material wealth for security with seeking the kingdom of God (Matt. 6:19–34; Luke 12:22–34). True treasures are to be found “in heaven,” not “on earth” (Matt. 6:19, 20). Again Luke associates these teachings not with the Sermon, but with the journey to Jerusalem (Luke 12).

Do Good to Please God

6:1 “Take heed that you do not do your charitable deeds before men, to be seen by them. Otherwise you have no reward from your Father in heaven. <sup>2</sup>Therefore, when you do a charitable deed, do not sound a trumpet before you as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may have glory from men. Assuredly, I say to you, they have their reward. <sup>3</sup>But when you do a charitable deed, do not let your left hand know what your right hand is doing, <sup>4</sup>that your charitable deed may be in secret; and your Father who sees in secret will Himself reward you openly.<sup>a</sup>

The Model Prayer

<sup>5</sup>“And when you pray, you shall not be like the hypocrites. For they love to pray standing in the synagogues and on the corners of the streets, that they may be seen by men. Assuredly, I say to you, they have their reward. <sup>6</sup>But you, when you pray, go into your room, and when you have shut your door, pray to your Father who is in the secret place; and your Father who sees in secret will reward you openly.<sup>a</sup> <sup>7</sup>And when you pray, do not use vain repetitions as the heathen do. For they think that they will be heard for their many words.

<sup>8</sup>“Therefore do not be like them. For your Father knows the things you have need of before you ask Him. <sup>9</sup>In this manner, therefore, pray:

Our Father in heaven,
Hallowed be Your name.
<sup>10</sup> Your kingdom come.
Your will be done
On earth as it is in heaven.
<sup>11</sup> Give us this day our daily bread.
<sup>12</sup> And forgive us our debts,

<sup>16</sup>“Moreover, when you fast, do not be like the hypocrites, with a sad countenance. For they disfigure their faces that they may appear to men to be fasting. Assuredly, I say to you, they have their reward. <sup>17</sup>But you, when you fast, anoint your head and wash your face, <sup>18</sup>so that you do not appear to men to be fasting, but to your Father who is in the secret place; and your Father who sees in secret will reward you openly.<sup>a</sup>

PRAYING TO OUR FATHER (MATT. 6:7, 9)

Jesus cautioned His disciples not to pray “as the heathen do,” using “vain repetitions” and “many words” (Matt. 6:7). When Greeks and Romans prayed, they often called deities by as many different names and titles as possible. Also, their prayers frequently reminded the deity of any favors he or she owed the worshiper because of sacrifices the worshiper had offered.

Jewish people, however, were not supposed to barter with God or try to impress Him with titles. They were to approach God with confidence that He was their Father, as the Old Testament taught them (see Ex. 4:22; Is. 63:16). Most children in the ancient world saw their father as a strong provider and protector (with whom they did not need to bargain). Jewish prayers therefore regularly invoked God as “Our Father in heaven,” and trusted Him to provide (Matt. 6:8, 9; 7:7–11).

Teaching His disciples to pray (Matt. 6:9, 10), Jesus adapted a fairly common Jewish prayer called the Kaddish that came to be prayed regularly in the synagogues: “Exalted and hallowed be His great name . . . and may He cause His kingdom to rule . . .” This was a prayer for the future kingdom. The Jewish people longed for the ultimate coming of God’s reign when He would rule the earth unchallenged and restore justice and mercy in all the world. At that time God’s name would be “hallowed,” shown to be holy (Ezek. 39:7, 27); people would no longer “profane” it by swearing oaths by it lightly or living in such a way as to dishonor it.

“Hallowing God’s name” was a central principle of Jewish ethics: Live even among the Gentiles in such a manner that people will honor God. The reverse of such honorable behavior, “profaning God’s name,” was considered so odious that some teachers insisted those plotting to do evil should disguise themselves as Gentiles first! Those who would utter this prayer in sincerity—who yearn for God’s name to be shown holy in the age to come—must live in the present in such a way as to honor that name now.

Lay Up Treasures in Heaven

<sup>19</sup>“Do not lay up for yourselves treasures on earth, where moth and rust destroy and where thieves break in and steal; <sup>20</sup>but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust destroys and where thieves do not break in and steal. <sup>21</sup>For where your treasure is, there your heart will be also.

The Lamp of the Body

<sup>22</sup>“The lamp of the body is the eye. If therefore your eye is good, your whole body will be full of light. <sup>23</sup>But if your eye is bad, your whole body will be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in you is darkness, how great is that darkness!

You Cannot Serve God and Riches

<sup>24</sup>“No one can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will be loyal to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon.

Do Not Worry

<sup>25</sup>“Therefore I say to you, do not worry about your life, what you will eat or what you will drink; nor about your body, what you will put on. Is not life more than food and the body more than clothing? <sup>26</sup>Look at the birds of the air, for they neither sow nor reap nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Are you not of more value than they? <sup>27</sup>Which of you by worrying can add one cubit to his stature?

<sup>28</sup>“So why do you worry about clothing? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow: they neither toil nor spin; <sup>29</sup>and yet I say to you that even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. <sup>30</sup>Now if God so clothes the grass of the field, which today is, and tomorrow is thrown into the oven, will He not much more clothe you, O you of little faith?

<sup>31</sup>“Therefore do not worry, saying, ‘What shall we eat?’ or ‘What shall we drink?’ or ‘What shall we wear?’ <sup>32</sup>For after all these things the Gentiles seek. For your heavenly Father knows that you need all these things. <sup>33</sup>But seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added to you. <sup>34</sup>Therefore do not worry about tomorrow, for tomorrow will worry about its own things. Sufficient for the day is its own trouble.”

Luke 11:1–4

The Model Prayer

11 :1 Now it came to pass, as He was praying in a certain place, when He ceased, that one of His disciples said to Him, “Lord, teach us to pray, as John also taught his disciples.”

<sup>2</sup>So He said to them, “When you pray, say:

Our Father in heaven,<sup>a</sup>
Hallowed be Your name.
Your kingdom come.<sup>b</sup>
Your will be done

On earth as it is in heaven.

<sup>3</sup> Give us day by day our daily bread.

<sup>4</sup> And forgive us our sins,

For we also forgive everyone who is indebted to us.

And do not lead us into temptation,
But deliver us from the evil one.”<sup>a</sup>

True Security

12:22 Then He said to His disciples, “Therefore I say to you, do not worry about your life, what you will eat; nor about the body, what you will put on. <sup>23</sup>Life is more than food, and the body is more than clothing. <sup>24</sup>Consider the ravens, for they neither sow nor reap, which have neither storehouse nor barn; and God feeds them. Of how much more value are you than the birds? <sup>25</sup>And which of you by worrying can add one cubit to his stature? <sup>26</sup>If you then are not able to do the least, why are you anxious for the rest? <sup>27</sup>Consider the lilies, how they grow: they neither toil nor spin; and yet I say to you, even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. <sup>28</sup>If then God so clothes the grass, which today is in the field and tomorrow is thrown into the oven, how much more will He clothe you, O you of little faith?

<sup>29</sup>“And do not seek what you should eat or what you should drink, nor have an anxious mind. <sup>30</sup>For all these things the nations of the world seek after, and your Father knows that you need these things. <sup>31</sup>But seek the kingdom of God, and all these things<sup>a</sup> shall be added to you.

TRANSITION

Doing the Will of God

Both Matthew and Luke end their sermons with Jesus’ emphasis on doing God’s will. At the end of Matthew’s Sermon on the Mount, Jesus challenged His listeners to enter the “narrow gate” (Matt. 7:13, 14). Both evangelists close with an illustration emphasizing the supreme importance of obedience. The obedient person is likened to one who builds his house on a rock that stands the storms (Matt. 7:24–27; Luke 6:46–49).

- Matthew 7:1–29
- Luke 6:37–49
- Luke 11:5–13

Matthew 7:1–29

Do Not Judge

7:1 “Judge not, that you be not judged. <sup>2</sup>For with what judgment you judge, you will be judged; and with the measure you use, it will be measured back to you. <sup>3</sup>And why do you look at the speck in your brother’s eye, but do not consider the plank in your own eye? <sup>4</sup>Or how can you say to your brother, ‘Let me remove the speck from your eye’; and look, a plank is in your own eye? <sup>5</sup>Hypocrite! First remove the plank from your own eye, and then you will see clearly to remove the speck from your brother’s eye.

<sup>6</sup>“Do not give what is holy to the dogs; nor cast your pearls before swine, lest they trample them under their feet, and turn and tear you in pieces.

Keep Asking, Seeking, Knocking

<sup>7</sup>“Ask, and it will be given to you; seek, and you will find; knock, and it will be opened to you. <sup>8</sup>For everyone who asks receives, and he who seeks finds, and to him who knocks it will be opened. <sup>9</sup>Or what man is there among you who, if his son asks for bread, will give him a stone? <sup>10</sup>Or if he asks for a fish, will he give him a serpent? <sup>11</sup>If you then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your Father who is in heaven give good things to those who ask Him! <sup>12</sup>Therefore, whatever you want men to do to you, do also to them, for this is the Law and the Prophets.

The Narrow Way

<sup>13</sup>“Enter by the narrow gate; for wide is the gate and broad is the way that leads to destruction, and there are many who go in by it. <sup>14</sup>Because<sup>a</sup> narrow is the gate and difficult is the way which leads to life, and there are few who find it.

You Will Know Them by Their Fruits

<sup>15</sup>“Beware of false prophets, who come to you in sheep’s clothing, but inwardly they are ravenous wolves. <sup>16</sup>You will know them by their fruits. Do men gather grapes from thornbushes or figs from thistles? <sup>17</sup>Even so, every good tree bears good fruit, but a bad tree bears bad fruit. <sup>18</sup>A good tree cannot bear bad fruit, nor can a bad tree bear good fruit. <sup>19</sup>Every tree that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire. <sup>20</sup>Therefore by their fruits you will know them.

I Never Knew You

<sup>21</sup>“Not everyone who says to Me, ‘Lord, Lord,’ shall enter the kingdom of heaven, but he who does the will of My Father in heaven. <sup>22</sup>Many will say to Me in that day, ‘Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in Your name, cast out demons in Your name, and done many wonders in Your name?’ <sup>23</sup>And then I will declare to them, ‘I never knew you; depart from Me, you who practice lawlessness!’

12:31 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text reads His kingdom, and these things.

Build on the Rock

<sup>24</sup>“Therefore whoever hears these sayings of Mine, and does them, I will liken him to a wise man who built his house on the rock: <sup>25</sup>and the rain descended, the floods came, and the winds blew and beat on that house; and it did not fall, for it was founded on the rock.

<sup>26</sup>“But everyone who hears these sayings of Mine, and does not do them, will be like a foolish man who built his house on the sand: <sup>27</sup>and the rain descended, the floods came, and the winds blew and beat on that house; and it fell. And great was its fall.”

<sup>28</sup>And so it was, when Jesus had ended these sayings, that the people were astonished at His teaching, <sup>29</sup>for He taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes.

Luke 6:37–49

Do Not Judge

6 :37 “Judge not, and you shall not be judged. Condemn not, and you shall not be condemned. Forgive, and you will be forgiven. <sup>38</sup>Give, and it will be given to you: good measure, pressed down, shaken together, and running over will be put into your bosom. For with the same measure that you use, it will be measured back to you.”

<sup>39</sup>And He spoke a parable to them: “Can the blind lead the blind? Will they not both fall into the ditch? <sup>40</sup>A disciple is not above his teacher, but everyone who is perfectly trained will be like his teacher. <sup>41</sup>And why do you look at the speck in your brother's eye, but do not perceive the plank in your own eye? <sup>42</sup>Or how can you say to your brother, ‘Brother, let me remove the speck that is in your eye,’ when you yourself do not see the plank that is in your own eye? Hypocrite! First remove the plank from your own eye, and then you will see clearly to remove the speck that is in your brother's eye.

A Tree Is Known by Its Fruit

Culture & Society

In traditional societies the protocols of hospitality are formal at every level of society, not just in the courts of state or diplomacy. A householder has the duty to receive guests and help them on their way (Luke 11:8). He also has the responsibility of protecting the society from interlopers or people who are not what they seem.

Build on the Rock

<sup>46</sup>“But why do you call Me ‘Lord, Lord,’ and not do the things which I say? <sup>47</sup>Whoever comes to Me, and hears My sayings and does them, I will show you whom he is like: <sup>48</sup>He is like a man building a house, who dug deep and laid the foundation on the rock. And when the flood arose, the stream beat vehemently against that house, and could not shake it, for it was founded on the rock.<sup>a</sup> <sup>49</sup>But he who heard and did nothing is like a man who built a house on the earth without a foundation, against which the stream beat vehemently; and immediately it fell.<sup>a</sup> And the ruin of that house was great.”

Luke 11:5–13

A Friend Comes at Midnight

11 :5 And He said to them, “Which of you shall have a friend, and go to him at midnight and say to him, ‘Friend, lend me three loaves; <sup>6</sup>for a friend of mine has come to me on his journey, and I have nothing to set before him’; <sup>7</sup>and he will answer from within and say, ‘Do not trouble me; the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed; I cannot rise and give to you?’ <sup>8</sup>I say to you, though he will not rise and give to him because he is his friend, yet because of his persistence he will rise and give him as he needs.

Keep Asking, Seeking, Knocking

<sup>9</sup>“So I say to you, ask, and it will be given to you; seek, and you will find; knock, and it will be opened to you. <sup>10</sup>For everyone who asks receives, and he who seeks finds, and to him who knocks it will be opened. <sup>11</sup>If a son asks for bread<sup>a</sup> from any father among you, will he give him a stone? Or if he asks for a fish, will he give him a serpent instead of a fish? <sup>12</sup>Or if he asks for an egg, will he offer him a scorpion? <sup>13</sup>If you then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to those who ask Him!”

In Capernaum and Nain

Since the 2nd century A.D. Christian theologians have discussed the relationship of John’s “second sign” (John 4:54; see “The First of Seven Signs” at John 2:1) to the healing stories in Matt. 8:5–13 and Luke 7:1–10. The similarities in the stories have suggested to some that the same healing is described in all three accounts. In addition, the Greek word which Matthew uses for “servant” (Matt. 8:6) can designate either a “servant” (Luke 7:7) or a “son” (John 4:46 uses the usual Greek word for “son”). All agree that at least Matthew and Luke are recounting a single incident.

Matthew contrasts the faith of the Gentile centurion with that of many of Jesus’ fellow Jews (Matt. 8:10–12). Possibly Jesus and the centurion speak directly with each other in Matthew’s account to highlight this contrast. Luke’s account indicates that the centurion sent Jewish intermediaries (Luke 7:3–5). Luke also describes the boy as “ready to die” (7:2), and follows his healing with the report of Jesus raising the dead son of a widow residing in Nain (7:11–17). Thus Luke prepares for Jesus’ response to John the Baptist: “the dead are raised” (7:22).

Matthew 8:5–13

Jesus Heals a Centurion’s Servant

8:5 Now when Jesus had entered Capernaum, a centurion came to Him, pleading with Him, <sup>6</sup>saying, “Lord, my servant is lying at home paralyzed, dreadfully tormented.”

<sup>7</sup>And Jesus said to him, “I will come and heal him.”

<sup>8</sup>The centurion answered and said, “Lord, I am not worthy that You should come under my roof. But only speak a word, and my servant will be healed. <sup>9</sup>For I also am a man under authority, having soldiers under me. And I say to this one,

‘Go,’ and he goes; and to another, ‘Come,’ and he comes; and to my servant, ‘Do this,’ and he does it.”

<sup>10</sup>When Jesus heard it, He marveled, and said to those who followed, “Assuredly, I say to you, I have not found such great faith, not even in Israel! <sup>11</sup>And I say to you that many will come from east and west, and sit down with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob in the kingdom of heaven. <sup>12</sup>But the sons of the kingdom will be cast out into outer darkness. There will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.” <sup>13</sup>Then Jesus said to the centurion, “Go your way; and as you have believed, so let it be done for you.” And his servant was healed that same hour.

Politics & Government

A centurion was a soldier in the Roman legions who had command of a unit of approximately 80 men (thus not 100 men, as one might conclude from the name “centurion”). Centurions were generally practical career men. It was a responsible position (Luke 7:6–8), and centurions sometimes accumulated a certain amount of wealth during their careers.

Luke 7:1–17

Such Great Faith

7:1 Now when He concluded all His sayings in the hearing of the people, He entered Capernaum. <sup>2</sup>And a certain centurion’s servant, who was dear to him, was sick and ready to die. <sup>3</sup>So when he heard about Jesus, he sent elders of the Jews to Him, pleading with Him to come and heal his servant. <sup>4</sup>And when they came to Jesus, they begged Him earnestly, saying that the one for whom He should do this was deserving, <sup>5</sup>“for he loves our nation, and has built us a synagogue.”

<sup>6</sup>Then Jesus went with them. And when He was already not far from the house, the centurion sent friends to Him, saying to Him, “Lord, do not trouble Yourself, for I am not worthy that You should enter under my roof. <sup>7</sup>Therefore I did not even think myself worthy to come to You. But say the word, and my servant will be healed. <sup>8</sup>For I also am a man placed under authority, having soldiers under me. And I say to one, ‘Go,’ and he goes; and to another, ‘Come,’ and he comes; and to my servant, ‘Do this,’ and he does it.”

<sup>9</sup>When Jesus heard these things, He marveled at him, and turned around and said to the crowd that followed Him, “I say to you, I have not found such great faith, not even in Israel!” <sup>10</sup>And those who were sent, returning to the house, found the servant well who had been sick.<sup>a</sup>

11:11 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits the words from bread through for in the next sentence. 7:10 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits who had been sick.

Jesus Raises the Son of the Widow of Nain

<sup>11</sup>Now it happened, the day after, that He went into a city called Nain; and many of His disciples went with Him, and a large crowd. <sup>12</sup>And when He came near the gate of the city, behold, a dead man was being carried out, the only son of his mother; and she was a widow. And a large crowd from the city was with her. <sup>13</sup>When the Lord saw her, He had compassion on her and said to her, “Do not weep.” <sup>14</sup>Then He came and touched the open coffin, and those who carried him stood still. And He said, “Young man, I say to you, arise.” <sup>15</sup>So he who was dead sat up and began to speak. And He presented him to his mother.

<sup>16</sup>Then fear came upon all, and they glorified God, saying, “A great prophet has risen up among us”; and, “God has visited His people.” <sup>17</sup>And this report about Him went throughout all Judea and all the surrounding region.

A Nobleman's Son Healed

4 :46 So Jesus came again to Cana of Galilee where He had made the water wine. And there was a certain nobleman whose son was sick at Capernaum. <sup>47</sup>When he heard that Jesus had come out of Judea into Galilee, he went to Him and implored Him to come down and heal his son, for he was at the point of death. <sup>48</sup>Then Jesus said to him, “Unless you people see signs and wonders, you will by no means believe.”

<sup>49</sup>The nobleman said to Him, “Sir, come down before my child dies!”

<sup>50</sup>Jesus said to him, “Go your way; your son lives.” So the man believed the word that Jesus spoke to him, and he went his way. <sup>51</sup>And as he was now going down, his servants met him and told him, saying, “Your son lives!”

<sup>52</sup>Then he inquired of them the hour when he got better. And they said to him, “Yesterday at the seventh hour the fever left him.” <sup>53</sup>So the father knew that it was at the same hour in which Jesus said to him, “Your son lives.” And he himself believed, and his whole household.

<sup>54</sup>This again is the second sign Jesus did when He had come out of Judea into Galilee.

Jesus Allays John's Doubts

Matthew's and Luke's accounts of the delegation from John the Baptist to Jesus agree almost word for word. Only brief sections in the middle of this story differ (see Matt. 11:12–14 and Luke 7:29, 30).

Three basic issues were at stake as John the Baptist sent his followers to ask Jesus if He was truly the “Coming One,” the promised Messiah (Matt. 11:2, 3; Luke 7:19). First, was the Baptist to maintain his belief that Jesus was indeed the Coming One? It may have been that the Baptist was expecting more emphasis upon judgment in Jesus' ministry (see Matt. 3:7–12). Jesus responded by directing John's attention to other signs of His Galilean ministry fulfilling prophetic expectation (Matt. 11:4–6).

The second issue concerned Jesus' identification of the Baptist as the prophet who would prepare for the coming Messiah (Luke 7:24–28). The Jewish expectation for the future was for Elijah to return, as promised in the Old Testament (Mal. 4:5). In Matthew's account Jesus identified the Baptist as fulfilling the promise (Matt. 11:14).

Finally, Jesus criticized those in “this generation” who rejected both His own ministry and that of the Baptist (Matt. 11:16–19). Luke's account points out that the Pharisees and lawyers, by rejecting the Baptist, had rejected the very will and purpose of God (Luke 7:29, 30).

Jesus Explains John's Ministry

11 :2 And when John had heard in prison about the works of Christ, he sent two of <sup>a</sup> his disciples <sup>3</sup>and said to Him, “Are You the Coming One, or do we look for another?”

<sup>4</sup>Jesus answered and said to them, “Go and tell John the things which you hear and see: <sup>5</sup>The blind see and the lame walk; the lepers are cleansed and the deaf hear; the dead are raised up and the poor have the gospel preached to them. <sup>6</sup>And blessed is he who is not offended because of Me.”

<sup>7</sup>As they departed, Jesus began to say to the multitudes concerning John: “What did you go out into the wilderness to see? A reed shaken by the wind? <sup>8</sup>But what did you go out to see? A man clothed in soft garments? Indeed, those who

MATTHEW AND OLD TESTAMENT FULFILLMENT (MATT. 11:10)

Matthew quotes the words of Malachi, which in the Old Testament read “Behold, I send My messenger, And he will prepare the way before Me” (Mal. 3:1). The Old Testament words seemed to speak of an agent Yahweh would send to prepare for a coming day of judgment. This messenger was identified as the prophet Elijah (Mal. 4:5), who became a major figure in Jewish hope for the future age. Matthew, though, reinterpreted Mal. 3:1 to refer to John the Baptist: “this is he of whom it is written” (Matt. 11:9–11).

By preparing the way for Jesus, John the Baptist fulfilled the role prophesied of Elijah. In his Gospel, Matthew emphasizes the fulfillment of Old Testament prophecy, so he makes it clear to his readers that Jesus identified John as Elijah (Matt. 17:11–13) and that John was the one spoken of by the prophets (Matt. 3:3).

Matthew also announced fulfillment of Hosea’s prophecy, “Out of Egypt I called My Son” (Matt. 2:15). The first line of this verse in the Old Testament (Hos. 11:1) shows that the prophet was actually referring to God calling Israel out of Egypt in the Exodus. But Matthew reinterpreted the words as a picture of God’s providing salvation by bringing the child Jesus back from Egypt.

Some critics have accused Matthew of quoting the Old Testament out of context. They fail, however, to recognize Matthew’s method of applying the Old Testament. The problem is not that Matthew does not know the Hosea passage, but that he applies it in a different way than most modern readers would expect.

When Matthew cites from the prophet Hosea, he is making a broader point about Jesus’ place in Israel’s history. Jesus was the heir of Israel’s history (Matt. 1:1–17), who went into exile in Egypt as Judah did in Babylon, and who spent 40 days being tested in the wilderness (4:1, 2) as Israel spent 40 years in the wilderness. Ancient Jewish readers, conversant in the Bible and more accustomed to various methods of applying Scripture, would have caught Matthew’s point more readily than do modern readers.

<sup>16</sup>“But to what shall I liken this generation? It is like children sitting in the marketplaces and calling to their companions,<sup>17</sup> and saying:

And you did not dance;

<sup>18</sup>For John came neither eating nor drinking, and they say, ‘He has a demon.’<sup>19</sup> The Son of Man came eating and drinking, and they say, ‘Look, a glutton and a winebibber, a friend of tax collectors and sinners!’ But wisdom is justified by her children.”<sup>a</sup>

John the Baptist Sends Messengers to Jesus

7:18 Then the disciples of John reported to him concerning all these things.<sup>19</sup> And John, calling two of his disciples to him, sent them to Jesus,<sup>a</sup> saying, “Are You the Coming One, or do we look for another?”

<sup>20</sup>When the men had come to Him, they said, “John the Baptist has sent us to You, saying, ‘Are You the Coming One, or do we look for another?’”<sup>21</sup> And that very hour He cured many of infirmities, afflictions, and evil spirits; and to many blind He gave sight.

<sup>22</sup>Jesus answered and said to them, “Go and tell John the things you have seen and heard: that the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, the poor have the gospel preached to them.<sup>23</sup> And blessed is he who is not offended because of Me.”

<sup>24</sup>When the messengers of John had departed, He began to speak to the multitudes concerning John: “What did you go out into the wilderness to see? A reed shaken by the wind?<sup>25</sup> But what did you go out to see? A man clothed in soft garments? Indeed those who are gorgeously appareled and live in luxury are in kings’ courts.<sup>26</sup> But what did you go out to see? A prophet? Yes, I say to you, and more than a prophet.<sup>27</sup> This is he of whom it is written:

*‘Behold, I send My messenger before Your face,
Who will prepare Your way before You.’<sup>a</sup>*

<sup>28</sup>For I say to you, among those born of women there is not a greater prophet than John the Baptist;<sup>a</sup> but he who is least in the kingdom of God is greater than he.”

<sup>29</sup>And when all the people heard Him, even the tax collectors justified God, having been baptized with the baptism of John. <sup>30</sup>But the Pharisees and lawyers rejected the will of God for themselves, not having been baptized by him.

<sup>31</sup>And the Lord said,<sup>a</sup> “To what then shall I liken the men of this generation, and what are they like? <sup>32</sup>They are like children sitting in the marketplace and calling to one another, saying:

‘We played the flute for you,
And you did not dance;
We mourned to you,
And you did not weep.’

<sup>33</sup>For John the Baptist came neither eating bread nor drinking wine, and you say, ‘He has a demon.’

<sup>34</sup>The Son of Man has come eating and drinking, and you say, ‘Look, a glutton and a winebibber, a friend of tax collectors and sinners!’ <sup>35</sup>But wisdom is justified by all her children.”

Anointing in Galilee

Luke’s report of a woman anointing Jesus focuses on the question of Jesus’ identity. Since the woman who anointed Jesus “was a sinner” (Luke 7:37), Simon the Pharisee began to question within himself whether Jesus was genuinely a prophet (7:39). By His response, Jesus validated His prophetic credentials. Not only was He aware of her sinful past (7:47), but He also knew Simon’s thoughts as well. By forgiving the woman’s sins (7:48), Jesus made clear to those assembled that He was more than just a prophet (7:49). The woman possibly already believed that Jesus brought forgiveness, and thus offered duties which went well beyond the usual customs of hospitality and respect (7:44–47).

The other Gospels relate similar stories about a woman who anointed Jesus (see Matt. 26:6–13; Mark 14:3–9; John 12:1–8). Their accounts, however, are located specifically in Bethany and focus on the preparation for Jesus’ burial. See “Plot, Anointing, Betrayal” at Matt. 26:1.

A Sinful Woman Forgiven

7:36 Then one of the Pharisees asked Him to eat with him. And He went to the Pharisee’s house, and sat down to eat. <sup>37</sup>And behold, a woman in the city who was a sinner, when she knew that Jesus sat at the table in the Pharisee’s house, brought an alabaster flask of fragrant oil, <sup>38</sup>and stood at His feet behind Him weeping; and she began to wash His feet with her tears, and wiped them with the hair of her head; and she kissed His feet and anointed them with the fragrant oil. <sup>39</sup>Now when the Pharisee who had invited Him saw this, he spoke to himself, saying, “This Man, if He were a prophet, would know who and what manner of woman this is who is touching Him, for she is a sinner.”

<sup>40</sup>And Jesus answered and said to him, “Simon, I have something to say to you.”

So he said, “Teacher, say it.”

<sup>41</sup>“There was a certain creditor who had two debtors. One owed five hundred denarii, and the other fifty. <sup>42</sup>And when they had nothing with which to repay, he freely forgave them both. Tell Me, therefore, which of them will love him more?”

<sup>43</sup>Simon answered and said, “I suppose the one whom he forgave more.”

And He said to him, “You have rightly judged.” <sup>44</sup>Then He turned to the woman and said to Simon, “Do you see this woman? I entered your house; you gave Me no water for My feet, but she has washed My feet with her tears and wiped them with the hair of her head. <sup>45</sup>You gave Me no kiss, but this woman has not ceased to kiss My feet since the time I came in. <sup>46</sup>You did not anoint My head with oil, but this woman has anointed My feet with fragrant oil. <sup>47</sup>Therefore I say to you, her sins, which are many, are forgiven, for she loved much. But to whom little is forgiven, the same loves little.”

<sup>49</sup>And those who sat at the table with Him began to say to themselves, “Who is this who even forgives sins?”

<sup>50</sup>Then He said to the woman, “Your faith has saved you. Go in peace.”

Jesus and Beelzebub

Each of the Synoptic Gospels reports Jesus' opponents claiming that His power came from Beelzebub and that His supernatural deeds resulted from demonic influence. Mark indicates that at least some of Jesus' own people, His family and relatives, had this concern, thinking He was "out of His mind" (Mark 3:21, 31–35). Matthew and Luke, though, separate Jesus' family from this allegation. In Matthew's account, the family did not arrive for their visit until after Jesus had countered the charge by the Pharisees (Matt. 12:24, 46–50). Luke reports the family's visit at an earlier stage of Jesus' ministry (Luke 8:19–21), thus not connecting it with the Beelzebub accusation. Only Luke tells of a woman who showed the proper response to Jesus' healings and exorcisms: rather than associate Him with demons, she offered a blessing for His mother (Luke 11:27, 28).

A House Divided Cannot Stand

12:22 Then one was brought to Him who was demon-possessed, blind and mute; and He healed him, so that the blind and<sup>a</sup> mute man both spoke and saw. <sup>23</sup>And all the multitudes were amazed and said, "Could this be the Son of David?"

<sup>24</sup>Now when the Pharisees heard it they said, "This fellow does not cast out demons except by Beelzebub,<sup>a</sup> the ruler of the demons."

<sup>25</sup>But Jesus knew their thoughts, and said to them: "Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation, and every city or house divided against itself will not stand. <sup>26</sup>If Satan casts out Satan, he is divided against himself. How then will his kingdom stand? <sup>27</sup>And if I cast out demons by Beelzebub, by whom do your sons cast them out? Therefore they shall be your judges. <sup>28</sup>But if I cast out demons by the Spirit of God, surely the kingdom of God has come upon you. <sup>29</sup>Or how can one enter a strong man's house and plunder his goods, unless he first binds the strong man? And then he will plunder his house. <sup>30</sup>He who is not with Me is against Me, and he who does not gather with Me scatters abroad.

The Unpardonable Sin

<sup>31</sup>"Therefore I say to you, every sin and blasphemy will be forgiven men, but the blasphemy against the Spirit will not be forgiven men. <sup>32</sup>Anyone who speaks a word against the Son of Man, it will be forgiven him; but whoever speaks against the Holy Spirit, it will not be forgiven him, either in this age or in the age to come.

A Tree Known by Its Fruit

<sup>33</sup>"Either make the tree good and its fruit good, or else make the tree bad and its fruit bad; for a tree is known by its fruit. <sup>34</sup>Brood of vipers! How can you, being evil, speak good things? For out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaks. <sup>35</sup>A good man out of the good treasure of his heart<sup>a</sup> brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure brings forth evil things. <sup>36</sup>But I say to you that for every idle word men may speak, they will give account of it in the day of judgment. <sup>37</sup>For by your words you will be justified, and by your words you will be condemned."

OFFSPRING OF VIPERS (MATT. 12:34)

Jesus' contemporaries considered the Pharisees to be model religious people. Yet in some of Jesus' encounters with Pharisees (Matt. 3:7; 12:24), He called them a "brood of vipers" (Matt. 12:34), that is, "offspring of snakes." Calling someone a snake was an insult, but calling someone the "child of a snake" was even worse.

Even though the Greek historian Herodotus (484–425 B.C.) lived 5 centuries before Jesus, an idea that Herodotus had about Arabian vipers was still associated with vipers in general by many people of Jesus' day. Although most reptiles lay eggs, people believed that viper eggs hatched inside their mother's stomach. The baby vipers would then eat their way through their mother's stomach to be born, killing their mother in the process. According to some ancient writers (including Herodotus), mother vipers ate the father vipers while the mothers were pregnant, so the baby vipers avenged their father by killing the mother.

Murdering one's mother or father was the crime ancient people thought most horrible. Even if one killed one parent to avenge the murder of the other, Greeks thought the child who committed this avenging murder would be hounded by avenging spirits called the "Furies." Jewish people also considered the murder of parents or other blood relatives to be an inconceivably wicked crime.

By calling the religious Pharisees "children of vipers," Jesus may have compared them with parent murderers, thus implying that they were the most vile and evil people possible. Since He openly associated the title with murder and bloodshed (Matt. 23:33–35), the Pharisees were no doubt offended.

<sup>39</sup>But He answered and said to them, “An evil and adulterous generation seeks after a sign, and no sign will be given to it except the sign of the prophet Jonah. <sup>40</sup>For as Jonah was three days and three nights in the belly of the great fish, so will the Son of Man be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth. <sup>41</sup>The men of Nineveh will rise up in the judgment with this generation and condemn it, because they repented at the preaching of Jonah; and indeed a greater than Jonah is here. <sup>42</sup>The queen of the South will rise up in the judgment with this generation and condemn it, for she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and indeed a greater than Solomon is here.

An Unclean Spirit Returns

<sup>43</sup>“When an unclean spirit goes out of a man, he goes through dry places, seeking rest, and finds none. <sup>44</sup>Then he says, ‘I will return to my house from which I came.’ And when he comes, he finds it empty, swept, and put in order. <sup>45</sup>Then he goes and takes with him seven other spirits more wicked than himself, and they enter and dwell there; and the last state of that man is worse than the first. So shall it also be with this wicked generation.”

Jesus’ Mother and Brothers Send for Him

<sup>46</sup>While He was still talking to the multitudes, behold, His mother and brothers stood outside, seeking to speak with Him. <sup>47</sup>Then one said to Him, “Look, Your mother and Your brothers are standing outside, seeking to speak with You.”

<sup>48</sup>But He answered and said to the one who told Him, “Who is My mother and who are My brothers?” <sup>49</sup>And He stretched out His hand toward His disciples and said, “Here are My mother and My brothers! <sup>50</sup>For whoever does the will of My Father in heaven is My brother and sister and mother.”

Mark 3:20–35

Sin Against the Holy Spirit

3:20 Then the multitude came together again, so that they could not so much as eat bread. <sup>21</sup>But when His own people heard about this, they went out to lay hold of Him, for they said, “He is out of His mind.”

<sup>22</sup>And the scribes who came down from Jerusalem said, “He has Beelzebub,” and, “By the ruler of the demons He casts out demons.”

<sup>23</sup>So He called them to Himself and said to them in parables: “How can Satan cast out Satan? <sup>24</sup>If a kingdom is divided against itself, that kingdom cannot stand. <sup>25</sup>And if a house is divided against itself, that house cannot stand. <sup>26</sup>And if Satan has risen up against himself, and is divided, he cannot stand, but has an end. <sup>27</sup>No one can enter a strong man’s house and plunder his goods, unless he first binds the strong man. And then he will plunder his house.

<sup>28</sup>“Assuredly, I say to you, all sins will be forgiven the sons of men, and whatever blasphemies they may utter; <sup>29</sup>but he who blasphemes against the Holy Spirit never has forgiveness, but is subject to eternal condemnation” — <sup>30</sup>because they said, “He has an unclean spirit.”

Jesus’ Mother and Brothers Seek Him

<sup>31</sup>Then His brothers and His mother came, and standing outside they sent to Him, calling Him. <sup>32</sup>And a multitude was sitting around Him; and they said to Him, “Look, Your mother and Your brothers<sup>a</sup> are outside seeking You.”

<sup>33</sup>But He answered them, saying, “Who is My mother, or My brothers?” <sup>34</sup>And He looked around in a circle at those who sat about Him, and said, “Here are My mother and My brothers! <sup>35</sup>For whoever does the will of God is My brother and My sister and mother.”

Luke 11:14–36

With the Finger of God

11:14 And He was casting out a demon, and it was mute. So it was, when the demon had gone out, that the mute spoke; and the multitudes marveled. <sup>15</sup>But some of them said, “He casts out demons by Beelzebub,<sup>a</sup> the ruler of the demons.”

<sup>16</sup>Others, testing Him, sought from Him a sign from heaven. <sup>17</sup>But He, knowing their thoughts, said to them: “Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation, and a house divided against a house falls. <sup>18</sup>If Satan also is divided against himself, how will his kingdom stand? Because you say I cast out demons by Beelzebub. <sup>19</sup>And if I cast out demons by Beelzebub, by whom do your sons cast them out? <sup>29</sup>And while the crowds were thickly gathered together, He began to say, “This is an evil generation. ### Parables by the Sea

Each of the Synoptic Gospels relates Jesus' parable of the sower with His purpose for teaching in parables. Jesus used parables not only to reveal spiritual truth, but also to conceal it from those who were “outside” (Mark 4:11). The somewhat atypical parable of the sower works well to illustrate this purpose. It is really an allegory where each type of soil symbolizes a type of response to the gospel. Since the symbolism was not immediately obvious, Jesus had to explain it to His disciples if they were to understand it properly (Matt. 13:18–23; Mark 4:13–20; Luke 8:11–15).

The same is true of the parable of the tares which Jesus also explained as an allegory (Matt. 13:24–30, 36–43). Contrasting these two parables with others Jesus told shows that most of His parables were very short stories that clearly illustrated a single spiritual truth. Most of the parables are to be interpreted as either simple metaphors or similes rather than as allegories.

The Parable of the Sower

13 :1 On the same day Jesus went out of the house and sat by the sea. <sup>2</sup>And great multitudes were gathered together to Him, so that He got into a boat and sat; and the whole multitude stood on the shore.

<sup>3</sup>Then He spoke many things to them in parables, saying: “Behold, a sower went out to sow. <sup>4</sup>And as he sowed, some seed fell by the wayside; and the birds came and devoured them. <sup>5</sup>Some fell on stony places, where they did not have much earth; and they immediately sprang up because they had no depth of earth. <sup>6</sup>But when the sun was up they were scorched, and because they had no root they withered away. <sup>7</sup>And some fell among thorns, and the thorns sprang up and choked them. <sup>8</sup>But others fell on good ground and yielded a crop: some a hundredfold, some sixty, some thirty. <sup>9</sup>He who has ears to hear, let him hear!”

Agriculture & Herding

Jesus' parables taught spiritual truths through practical illustrations, such as sowing of seed. Plowing in ancient Israel was not deep, and it could be done either before or after the sower scattered the seed. Rainfall was irregular and often inadequate. The success of a growing season in a particular plot could not be predicted, and for that reason a good harvest was all the more appreciated (Matt. 13:8).

The Purpose of Parables

<sup>10</sup>And the disciples came and said to Him, “Why do You speak to them in parables?”

<sup>11</sup>He answered and said to them, “Because it has been given to you to know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it has not been given. <sup>12</sup>For whoever has, to him more will be given, and he will have abundance; but whoever does not have, even what he has will be taken away from him. <sup>13</sup>Therefore I speak to them in parables, because seeing they do not see, and hearing they do not hear, nor do they understand. <sup>14</sup>And in them the prophecy of Isaiah is fulfilled, which says:

‘Hearing you will hear and shall not understand,

And seeing you will see and not perceive;

<sup>15</sup> For the hearts of this people have grown dull.

Their ears are hard of hearing,

And their eyes they have closed,

Lest they should see with their eyes and hear with their ears,

Lest they should understand with their hearts and turn,

So that I should<sup>a</sup> heal them.’<sup>b</sup>

<sup>16</sup>But blessed are your eyes for they see, and your ears for they hear; <sup>17</sup>for assuredly, I say to you that many prophets and righteous men desired to see what you see, and did not see it, and to hear what you hear, and did not hear it.

The Parable of the Sower Explained

<sup>18</sup>“Therefore hear the parable of the sower: <sup>19</sup>When anyone hears the word of the kingdom, and does not understand it, then the wicked one comes and snatches away what was sown in his heart. This is he who received seed by the wayside. <sup>20</sup>But he who received the seed on stony places, this is he who hears the word and immediately receives it with joy; <sup>21</sup>yet he has no root in himself, but endures only for a while. For when tribulation or persecution arises because of the word, immediately he stumbles. <sup>22</sup>Now he who received seed among the thorns is he who hears the word, and the cares of this world and the deceitfulness of riches choke the word, and he becomes unfruitful. <sup>23</sup>But he who received seed on the good ground is he who hears the word and understands it, who indeed bears fruit and produces: some a hundredfold, some sixty, some thirty.”

The Parable of the Wheat and the Tares

<sup>24</sup>Another parable He put forth to them, saying: “The kingdom of heaven is like a man who sowed good seed in his field; <sup>25</sup>but while men slept, his enemy came and sowed tares among the wheat and went his way. <sup>26</sup>But when the grain had sprouted and produced a crop, then the tares also appeared. <sup>27</sup>So the servants of the owner came and said to him, 'Sir, did you not sow good seed in your field? How then does it have tares?' <sup>28</sup>He said to them, 'An enemy has done this.' The servants said to him, 'Do you want us then to go and gather them up?' <sup>29</sup>But he said, 'No, lest while you gather up the tares you also uproot the wheat with them. <sup>30</sup>Let both grow together until the harvest, and at the time of harvest I will say to the reapers, "First gather together the tares and bind them in bundles to burn them, but gather the wheat into my barn."'"

The Parable of the Mustard Seed

<sup>31</sup>Another parable He put forth to them, saying: "The kingdom of heaven is like a mustard seed, which a man took and sowed in his field, <sup>32</sup>which indeed is the least of all the seeds; but when it is grown it is greater than the herbs and becomes a tree, so that the birds of the air come and nest in its branches."

The Parable of the Leaven

<sup>33</sup>Another parable He spoke to them: "The kingdom of heaven is like leaven, which a woman took and hid in three measures<sup>a</sup> of meal till it was all leavened."

Prophecy and the Parables

<sup>34</sup>All these things Jesus spoke to the multitude in parables; and without a parable He did not speak to them, <sup>35</sup>that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, saying:

*"I will open My mouth in parables;
I will utter things kept secret from the foundation of the world."<sup>a</sup>*

The Parable of the Tares Explained

<sup>36</sup>Then Jesus sent the multitude away and went into the house. And His disciples came to Him, saying, "Explain to us the parable of the tares of the field."

<sup>37</sup>He answered and said to them: "He who sows the good seed is the Son of Man. <sup>38</sup>The field is the world, the good seeds are the sons of the kingdom, but the tares are the sons of the wicked one. <sup>39</sup>The enemy who sowed them is the devil, the harvest is the end of the age, and the reapers are the angels. <sup>40</sup>Therefore as the tares are gathered and burned in the fire, so it will be at the end of this age. <sup>41</sup>The Son of Man will send out His angels, and they will gather out of His kingdom all things that offend, and those who practice lawlessness, <sup>42</sup>and will cast them into the furnace of fire. There will be wailing and gnashing of teeth. <sup>43</sup>Then the righteous will shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. He who has ears to hear, let him hear!"

The Parable of the Hidden Treasure

<sup>44</sup>"Again, the kingdom of heaven is like treasure hidden in a field, which a man found and hid; and for joy over it he goes and sells all that he has and buys that field.

The Parable of the Pearl of Great Price

<sup>45</sup>"Again, the kingdom of heaven is like a merchant seeking beautiful pearls, <sup>46</sup>who, when he had found one pearl of great price, went and sold all that he had and bought it.

The Parable of the Dragnet

<sup>47</sup>"Again, the kingdom of heaven is like a dragnet that was cast into the sea and gathered some of every kind, <sup>48</sup>which, when it was full, they drew to shore; and they sat down and gathered the good into vessels, but threw the bad away. <sup>49</sup>So it will be at the end of the age. The angels will come forth, separate the wicked from among the just, <sup>50</sup>and cast them into the furnace of fire. There will be wailing and gnashing of teeth."

<sup>51</sup>Jesus said to them,<sup>a</sup> "Have you understood all these things?"

They said to Him, "Yes, Lord."<sup>b</sup>

<sup>52</sup>Then He said to them, "Therefore every scribe instructed concerning<sup>a</sup> the kingdom of heaven is like a householder who brings out of his treasure things new and old."

Geography & Environment

The Sea of Galilee is a freshwater lake, small but deep, with good fishing (Matt. 13:47). Fishermen threw their dragnets by hand from small boats, and dragged the nets along the bottom of the lake. The edge of the net was pulled down by weights to snare the fish. Fish were a very important part of the Roman diet, and the Mediterranean Sea provided them.

The Parable of the Sower

4 :1 And again He began to teach by the sea. And a great multitude was gathered to Him, so that He got into a boat and sat in it on the sea; and the whole multitude was on the land facing the sea. <sup>2</sup>Then He taught them many things by parables, and said to them in His teaching:

<sup>3</sup>"Listen! Behold, a sower went out to sow. <sup>4</sup>And it happened, as he sowed, that some seed fell by the wayside; and the birds of the air<sup>a</sup> came and devoured it. <sup>5</sup>Some fell on stony ground, where it did not have much earth; and immediately it sprang up because it had no depth of

HOW TO UNDERSTAND A PARABLE (MARK 4:2)

Ministers today often use sermon illustrations to help their hearers understand a sermon's point. In the same way, ancient Jewish teachers often told stories to illustrate whatever moral principle they were trying to communicate. Sometimes these parables had one central point. In other cases, such as Jesus' parable of the sower and the four soils (Mark 4:2–8), parables included several points of comparison.

Sometimes sages would tell a parable or a riddle which hearers would understand only if they had the key to interpretation. Usually only disciples of that teacher who spent enough time with him to learn his teachings would understand his point. This might happen with Jewish teachers who felt that some subjects in particular were best discussed only in private or in very small gatherings.

With some parables, then, the details had symbolic significance. This teaching device was a way of encouraging students to consider deeply the teacher's words and to weed out the uncommitted. The stories conveyed truth to attentive hearers who were eager to understand. At the same time the figurative language sometimes veiled truth from persons who did not want to believe it. While the multitude heard Jesus' parable (Mark 4:1, 2), only His disciples sought its meaning in private (Mark 4:10; Luke 8:9).

Because Jewish parables were usually stories, we understand Jesus' parables best when we consider them as stories. For the disciples, Jesus interpreted the details of the parable of the sower (Mark 4:13–20). For the most part, however, rather than reading meaning into every detail, we should try to catch the lesson or lessons of the story as a whole.

earth. <sup>6</sup>But when the sun was up it was scorched, and because it had no root it withered away. <sup>7</sup>And some seed fell among thorns; and the thorns grew up and choked it, and it yielded no crop. <sup>8</sup>But other seed fell on good ground and yielded a crop that sprang up, increased and produced: some thirtyfold, some sixty, and some a hundred.”

<sup>9</sup>And He said to them, <sup>a</sup> “He who has ears to hear, let him hear!”

The Purpose of Parables

<sup>10</sup>But when He was alone, those around Him with the twelve asked Him about the parable. <sup>11</sup>And He said to them, “To you it has been given to know the mystery of the kingdom of God; but to those who are outside, all things come in parables, <sup>12</sup>so that

*‘Seeing they may see and not perceive,
And hearing they may hear and not understand;*

*Lest they should turn,
And their sins be forgiven them.’”<sup>a</sup>*

The Parable of the Sower Explained

<sup>13</sup>And He said to them, “Do you not understand this parable? How then will you understand all the parables? <sup>14</sup>The sower sows the word. <sup>15</sup>And these are the ones by the wayside where the word is sown. When they hear, Satan comes immediately and takes away the word that was sown in their hearts. <sup>16</sup>These likewise are the ones sown on stony ground who, when they hear the word, immediately receive it with gladness; <sup>17</sup>and they have no root in themselves, and so endure only for a time. Afterward, when tribulation or persecution arises for the word's sake, immediately they stumble. <sup>18</sup>Now these are the ones sown among thorns; they are the ones who hear the word, <sup>19</sup>and the cares of this world, the deceitfulness of riches, and the desires for other things entering in choke the word, and it becomes unfruitful. <sup>20</sup>But these are the ones sown on good ground, those who hear the word, accept it, and bear fruit: some thirtyfold, some sixty, and some a hundred.”

Light Under a Basket

<sup>21</sup>Also He said to them, “Is a lamp brought to be put under a basket or under a bed? Is it not to be set on a lampstand? <sup>22</sup>For there is nothing hidden which will not be revealed, nor has anything been kept secret but that it should come to light. <sup>23</sup>If anyone has ears to hear, let him hear.”

<sup>24</sup>Then He said to them, “Take heed what you hear. With the same measure you use, it will be measured to you; and to you who hear, more will be given. <sup>25</sup>For whoever has, to him more will be given; but whoever does not have, even what he has will be taken away from him.”

The Parable of the Growing Seed

<sup>26</sup>And He said, “The kingdom of God is as if a man should scatter seed on the ground, <sup>27</sup>and should sleep by night and rise by day, and the seed should sprout and grow, he himself does not know how. <sup>28</sup>For the earth yields crops by itself: first the blade, then the head, after that the full grain in the head. <sup>29</sup>But when the grain ripens, immediately he puts in the sickle, because the harvest has come.”

The Parable of the Mustard Seed

<sup>30</sup>Then He said, “To what shall we liken the kingdom of God? Or with what parable shall we picture it? <sup>31</sup>It is like a mustard seed which, when it is sown on the ground, is smaller than all the seeds on earth; <sup>32</sup>but when it is sown, it grows up and becomes greater than all herbs, and shoots out large branches, so that the birds of the air may nest under its shade.”

Jesus' Use of Parables

<sup>33</sup>And with many such parables He spoke the word to them as they were able to hear it. <sup>34</sup>But without a parable He did not speak to them. And when they were alone, He explained all things to His disciples.

Luke 8:1–18

Many Women Minister to Jesus

8:1 Now it came to pass, afterward, that He went through every city and village, preaching and bringing the glad tidings of the kingdom of God. And the twelve were with Him, <sup>2</sup>and certain women who had been healed of evil spirits and infirmities—Mary called Magdalene, out of whom had come seven demons, <sup>3</sup>and Joanna the wife of Chuza, Herod's steward, and Susanna, and many others who provided for Him<sup>a</sup> from their substance.

The Parable of the Sower

<sup>4</sup>And when a great multitude had gathered, and they had come to Him from every city, He spoke by a parable: <sup>5</sup>“A sower went out to sow his seed. And as he sowed, some fell by the wayside; and it was trampled down, and the birds of the air devoured it. <sup>6</sup>Some fell on rock; and as soon as it sprang up, it withered away because it lacked moisture. <sup>7</sup>And some fell among thorns, and the thorns sprang up with it and choked it. <sup>8</sup>But others fell on good ground, sprang up, and yielded a crop a hundredfold.” When He had said these things He cried, “He who has ears to hear, let him hear!”

The Purpose of Parables

<sup>9</sup>Then His disciples asked Him, saying, “What does this parable mean?”

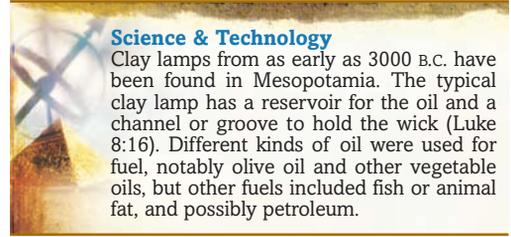

<sup>10</sup>And He said, “To you it has been given to know the mysteries of the kingdom of God, but to the rest it is given in parables, that

*‘Seeing they may not see,
And hearing they may not understand.’<sup>a</sup>*

The Parable of the Sower Explained

<sup>11</sup>“Now the parable is this: The seed is the word of God. <sup>12</sup>Those by the wayside are the ones who hear; then the devil comes and takes away the word out of their hearts, lest they should believe and be saved. <sup>13</sup>But the ones on the rock are those who, when they hear, receive the word with joy; and these have no root, who believe for a while and in time of temptation fall away. <sup>14</sup>Now the ones that fell among thorns are those who, when they have heard, go out and are choked with cares, riches, and pleasures of life, and bring no fruit to maturity. <sup>15</sup>But the ones that fell on the good ground are those who, having heard the word with a noble and good heart, keep it and bear fruit with patience.

Science & Technology

Clay lamps from as early as 3000 B.C. have been found in Mesopotamia. The typical clay lamp has a reservoir for the oil and a channel or groove to hold the wick (Luke 8:16). Different kinds of oil were used for fuel, notably olive oil and other vegetable oils, but other fuels included fish or animal fat, and possibly petroleum.

The Parable of the Revealed Light

<sup>16</sup>“No one, when he has lit a lamp, covers it with a vessel or puts it under a bed, but sets it on a lampstand, that those who enter may see the light. <sup>17</sup>For nothing is secret that will not be revealed, nor anything hidden that will not be known and come to light. <sup>18</sup>Therefore take heed how you hear. For whoever has, to him more will be given; and whoever does not have, even what he seems to have will be taken from him.”

Luke 13:18–21

The Parable of the Mustard Seed

13:18 Then He said, “What is the kingdom of God like? And to what shall I compare it? <sup>19</sup>It is like a mustard seed, which a man took and put in his garden; and it grew and became a large<sup>a</sup> tree, and the birds of the air nested in its branches.”

The Parable of the Leaven

<sup>20</sup>And again He said, “To what shall I liken the kingdom of God? <sup>21</sup>It is like leaven, which a woman took and hid in three measures<sup>a</sup> of meal till it was all leavened.”

Crossing to the East Shore

Jesus' brief visit to the region of the Decapolis, east of the Sea of Galilee, was marked by two episodes: the calming of a storm and the healing of demon possession. Both episodes focus on the fear and awe of those who witnessed the happenings (Luke 8:25, 34–37), and on Jesus' ability to bring peace. Jesus demonstrated His authority over both the natural and supernatural realms by calming the storm on the lake (Mark 4:39) and by ending the violence caused by the unclean spirits named "Legion" (Mark 5:2–5, 9, 15).

Matthew's account of the exorcism provides considerably less detail than do the accounts of Mark and Luke. Such matters as the man's living conditions among the tombs (Mark 5:2–5; Luke 8:27, 29) and the name "Legion" (Mark 5:9; Luke 8:30) are not mentioned. More significantly, Matthew states that there were "two demon-possessed men" (Matt. 8:28). Similarly Matthew reports the healing of two blind men (Matt. 20:29–34), whereas Mark and Luke mention only one (Mark 10:46–52; Luke 18:35–43). Some have suggested that Matthew mentions two men in both cases to confirm the validity of their testimony in accordance with Deut. 19:15 (see Matt. 18:16).

Lord of the Tempest

8:23 Now when He got into a boat, His disciples followed Him. <sup>24</sup>And suddenly a great tempest arose on the sea, so that the boat was covered with the waves. But He was asleep. <sup>25</sup>Then His disciples came to Him and awoke Him, saying, "Lord, save us! We are perishing!"

<sup>26</sup>But He said to them, "Why are you fearful, O you of little faith?" Then He arose and rebuked the winds and the sea, and there was a great calm. <sup>27</sup>So the men marveled, saying, "Who can this be, that even the winds and the sea obey Him?"

Two Demon-Possessed Men Healed

<sup>28</sup>When He had come to the other side, to the country of the Gergesenes,<sup>a</sup> there met Him two demon-possessed men, coming out of the tombs, exceedingly fierce, so that no one could pass that way. <sup>29</sup>And suddenly they cried out, saying, "What have we to do with You, Jesus, You Son of God? Have You come here to torment us before the time?"

<sup>30</sup>Now a good way off from them there was a herd of many swine feeding. <sup>31</sup>So the demons begged Him, saying, "If You cast us out, permit us to go away<sup>a</sup> into the herd of swine."

<sup>32</sup>And He said to them, "Go." So when they had come out, they went into the herd of swine. And suddenly the whole herd of swine ran violently down the steep place into the sea, and perished in the water.

<sup>33</sup>Then those who kept them fled; and they went away into the city and told everything, including what had happened to the demon-possessed men. <sup>34</sup>And behold, the whole city came out to meet Jesus. And when they saw Him, they begged Him to depart from their region.

Wind and Wave Obey Jesus

4:35 On the same day, when evening had come, He said to them, "Let us cross over to the other side." <sup>36</sup>Now when they had left the multitude, they took Him along in the boat as He was. And other little boats were also with Him. <sup>37</sup>And a great windstorm arose, and the waves beat into the boat, so that it was already filling. <sup>38</sup>But He was in the stern, asleep on a pillow. ### CITIES OF THE DECAPOLIS (MARK 5:20)

After crossing the Sea of Galilee, also known as Lake Tiberias (John 6:1), Jesus and His disciples encountered a demon-possessed man in the “country of the Gadarenes” (Mark 5:1). Gadara was one of several cities which were known as “the Decapolis.” The Greek word dekapolis means “ten cities,” and in Jesus’ time it referred to a group of Hellenistic cities on the east side of the Jordan River in the vicinity of Lake Tiberias.

The cities of the Decapolis were founded by Greeks and Macedonians soon after Alexander’s conquest of Palestine in the late 4th century B.C. Although commonly assumed to be a league of independent entities, the cities were actually associated because of their Hellenistic character. Various Greek cultural attributes, such as religion, architecture, sculpture, painting, and town planning, contributed to their unity. This Hellenistic culture made the Decapolis distinct from nearby towns of Jewish, Nabatean, and other cultures.

The Decapolis was also a distinct administrative region set up by the Romans and appended to the province of Syria. Just as the Romans assigned Pontius Pilate to serve as governor over the province of Judea, so was a provincial governor, according to a Greek inscription, assigned to the Decapolis region.

The demon-possessed man who was cured by Jesus spread the news of the healing to other cities of the Decapolis (Mark 5:20). People in these Gentile cities often feared miracle workers as some sort of magicians, so word of mouth might possibly calm their misunderstandings. No rejection of Jesus is reported when He Himself traveled through the Decapolis region (Mark. 7:31).

they awoke Him and said to Him, “Teacher, do You not care that we are perishing?”

<sup>39</sup>Then He arose and rebuked the wind, and said to the sea, “Peace, be still!” And the wind ceased and there was a great calm. <sup>40</sup>But He said to them, “Why are you so fearful? How is it that you have no faith?” <sup>41</sup>And they feared exceedingly, and said to one another, “Who can this be, that even the wind and the sea obey Him!”

Casting Out Demons

5 <sup>1</sup>Then they came to the other side of the sea, to the country of the Gadarenes.<sup>a</sup> <sup>2</sup>And when He had come out of the boat, immediately there met Him out of the tombs a man with an unclean spirit, <sup>3</sup>who had his dwelling among the tombs; and no one could bind him,<sup>a</sup> not even with chains, <sup>4</sup>because he had often been bound with shackles and chains. And the chains had been pulled apart by him, and the shackles broken in pieces; neither could anyone tame him. <sup>5</sup>And always, night and day, he was in the mountains and in the tombs, crying out and cutting himself with stones.

<sup>6</sup>When he saw Jesus from afar, he ran and worshipped Him. <sup>7</sup>And he cried out with a loud voice and said, “What have I to do with You, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? I implore You by God that You do not torment me.”

<sup>8</sup>For He said to him, “Come out of the man, unclean spirit!” <sup>9</sup>Then He asked him, “What is your name?”

And he answered, saying, “My name is Legion; for we are many.” <sup>10</sup>Also he begged Him earnestly that He would not send them out of the country.

<sup>11</sup>Now a large herd of swine was feeding there near the mountains. <sup>12</sup>So all the demons begged Him, saying, “Send us to the swine, that we may enter them.” <sup>13</sup>And at once Jesus<sup>a</sup> gave them permission. Then the unclean spirits went out and entered the swine (there were about two thousand); and the herd ran violently down the steep place into the sea, and drowned in the sea.

<sup>14</sup>So those who fed the swine fled, and they told it in the city and in the country. And they went out to see what it was that had happened. <sup>15</sup>Then they came to Jesus, and saw the one who had been demon-possessed and had the legion, sitting and clothed and in his right mind. And they were afraid. <sup>16</sup>And those who saw it told them how it happened to him who had been demon-possessed, and about the swine. <sup>17</sup>Then they began to plead with Him to depart from their region.

<sup>18</sup>And when He got into the boat, he who had been demon-possessed begged Him that he might be with Him. <sup>19</sup>However, Jesus did not permit him, but said to him, “Go home to your friends, and tell them what great things the Lord has done for you, and how He has had compassion on you.” <sup>20</sup>And he departed and began to proclaim in Decapolis all that Jesus had done for him; and all marveled.

Luke 8:22–39

Who Can This Be?

8 :22 Now it happened, on a certain day, that He got into a boat with His disciples. And He said to them, “Let us cross over to the other side of the lake.” And they launched out. <sup>23</sup>But as they sailed He fell asleep. And a windstorm came down on the lake, and they were filling with water, and were in jeopardy. <sup>24</sup>And they came to Him and awoke Him, saying, “Master, Master, we are perishing!”

Then He arose and rebuked the wind and the raging of the water. And they ceased, and there was a calm. <sup>25</sup>But He said to them, “Where is your faith?”

And they were afraid, and marveled, saying to one another, “Who can this be? For He commands even the winds and water, and they obey Him!”

Jesus Controls Demons

<sup>26</sup>Then they sailed to the country of the Gadarenes,<sup>a</sup> which is opposite Galilee. <sup>27</sup>And when He stepped out on the land, there met Him a certain man from the city who had demons for a long time. And he wore no clothes,<sup>a</sup> nor did he live in a house but in the tombs. <sup>28</sup>When he saw Jesus, he cried out, fell down before Him, and with a loud voice said, “What have I to do with You, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? I beg You, do not torment me!” <sup>29</sup>For He had commanded the unclean spirit to come out of the man. For it had often seized him, and he was kept under guard, bound with chains and shackles; and he broke the bonds and was driven by the demon into the wilderness.

<sup>30</sup>Jesus asked him, saying, “What is your name?”

And he said, “Legion,” because many demons had entered him. <sup>31</sup>And they begged Him that He would not command them to go out into the abyss.

<sup>32</sup>Now a herd of many swine was feeding there on the mountain. So they begged Him that He would permit them to enter them. And He permitted them. <sup>33</sup>Then the demons went out of the man and entered the swine, and the herd ran violently down the steep place into the lake and drowned.

<sup>34</sup>When those who fed them saw what had happened, they fled and told it in the city and in the country. <sup>35</sup>Then they went out to see what had happened, and came to Jesus, and found the man from whom the demons had departed, sitting at the feet of Jesus, clothed and in his right mind. And they were afraid. <sup>36</sup>They also who had seen it told them by what means he who had been demon-possessed was healed. <sup>37</sup>Then the whole multitude of the surrounding region of the Gadarenes<sup>a</sup> asked Him to depart from them, for they were seized with great fear. And He got into the boat and returned.

<sup>38</sup>Now the man from whom the demons had departed begged Him that he might be with Him. But Jesus sent him away, saying, <sup>39</sup>“Return to your own house, and tell what great things God has done for you.” And he went his way and proclaimed throughout the whole city what great things Jesus had done for him.

Returning to the West Shore

As with the reports of the exorcism of Legion (see “Crossing to the East Shore” at Matt. 8:23), Matthew recounts the healings of Jairus’s daughter and of the woman with a hemorrhage in considerably less detail than do Mark and Luke. Matthew’s emphasis is on the role of faith in the healings rather than on the manner in which they were accomplished. While Mark relates Jesus’ foreign language phrase, Talitha, cumi (Mark 5:41), Matthew omits such detail, possibly because it resembles incantations of the Hellenistic magic texts. Instead, he reports the additional healings of two blind men and a mute demon-possessed man, again explicitly emphasizing the blind men’s faith (Matt. 9:28, 29).

Keeping a secret of the new life given Jairus’s previously deceased daughter would have been impossible (Matt. 9:26). So some have thought that when Jesus charged her parents “to tell no one what had happened” (Luke 8:56) He was referring specifically to what had transpired in the girl’s room. Perhaps Jesus wanted to leave open the possibility in the minds of some that the girl had actually only been sleeping (Matt. 9:24; Mark 5:39; Luke 8:52), lest His fame for raising the dead should become a hindrance to His continuing ministry (see “Healing the Sick” at Matt. 8:14).

A Girl Restored to Life and a Woman Healed

9:18 While He spoke these things to them, behold, a ruler came and worshiped Him, saying, “My daughter has just died, but come and lay Your hand on her and she will live.” <sup>19</sup>So Jesus arose and followed him, and so did His disciples.

<sup>20</sup>And suddenly, a woman who had a flow of blood for twelve years came from behind and touched the hem of His garment. <sup>21</sup>For she said to herself, “If only I may touch His garment, I shall be made well.” <sup>22</sup>But Jesus turned around, and when He saw her He said, “Be of good cheer, daughter; your faith has made you well.” And the woman was made well from that hour.

<sup>23</sup>When Jesus came into the ruler’s house, and saw the flute players and the noisy crowd wailing, <sup>24</sup>He said to them, “Make room, for the girl is not dead, but sleeping.” And they ridiculed Him. <sup>25</sup>But when the crowd was put outside, He went in and took her by the hand, and the girl arose. <sup>26</sup>And the report of this went out into all that land.

Two Blind Men Healed

<sup>27</sup>When Jesus departed from there, two blind men followed Him, crying out and saying, “Son of David, have mercy on us!”

<sup>28</sup>And when He had come into the house, the blind men came to Him. And Jesus said to them, “Do you believe that I am able to do this?”

They said to Him, “Yes, Lord.”

<sup>29</sup>Then He touched their eyes, saying, “According to your faith let it be to you.” <sup>30</sup>And their eyes were opened. And Jesus sternly warned them, saying, “See that no one knows it.” <sup>31</sup>But when they had departed, they spread the news about Him in all that country.

A Mute Man Speaks

<sup>32</sup>As they went out, behold, they brought to Him a man, mute and demon-possessed. <sup>33</sup>And when the demon was cast out, the mute spoke. And the multitudes marveled, saying, “It was never seen like this in Israel!”

<sup>34</sup>But the Pharisees said, “He casts out demons by the ruler of the demons.”

Mark 5:21–43

Faith Born in Desperation

5:21 Now when Jesus had crossed over again by boat to the other side, a great multitude gathered to Him; and He was by the sea. <sup>22</sup>And behold, one of the rulers of the synagogue came, Jairus by name. And when he saw Him, he fell at His feet <sup>23</sup>and begged Him earnestly, saying, “My little daughter lies at the point of death. Come and lay Your hands on her, that she may be healed, and she will live.” <sup>24</sup>So Jesus went with him, and a great multitude followed Him and thronged Him.

<sup>25</sup>Now a certain woman had a flow of blood for twelve years, <sup>26</sup>and had suffered many things from many physicians. She had spent all that she had and was no better, but rather grew worse. <sup>27</sup>When she heard about Jesus, she came behind Him in the crowd and touched His garment. <sup>28</sup>For she said, “If only I may touch His clothes, I shall be made well.”

<sup>29</sup>Immediately the fountain of her blood was dried up, and she felt in her body that she was healed of the affliction. <sup>30</sup>And Jesus, immediately knowing in Himself that power had gone out of Him, turned around in the crowd and said, “Who touched My clothes?”

<sup>31</sup>But His disciples said to Him, “You see the multitude thronging You, and You say, ‘Who touched Me?’”

<sup>32</sup>And He looked around to see her who had done this thing. <sup>33</sup>But the woman, fearing and trembling, knowing what had happened to her, came and fell down before Him and told Him the whole truth. <sup>34</sup>And He said to her, “Daughter, your faith has made you well. Go in peace, and be healed of your affliction.”

<sup>35</sup>While He was still speaking, some came from the ruler of the synagogue’s house who said, “Your daughter is dead. Why trouble the Teacher any further?”

<sup>36</sup>As soon as Jesus heard the word that was spoken, He said to the ruler of the synagogue, “Do not be afraid; only believe.” <sup>37</sup>And He permitted no one to follow Him except Peter, James, and John the brother of James. <sup>38</sup>Then He came to the house of the ruler of the synagogue, and saw a tumult and those who wept and wailed loudly. <sup>39</sup>When He came in, He said to them, “Why make this commotion and weep? The child is not dead, but sleeping.”

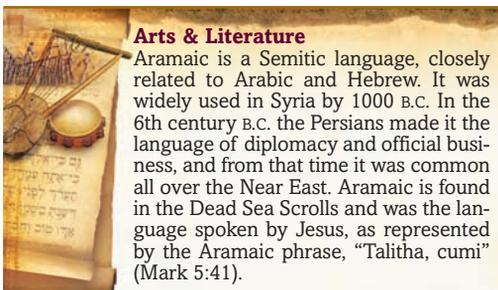

<sup>40</sup>And they ridiculed Him. But when He had put them all outside, He took the father and the mother of the child, and those who were with Him, and entered where the child was lying. <sup>41</sup>Then He took the child by the hand, and said to her, “Talitha, cumi,” which is translated, “Little girl, I say to you, arise.” <sup>42</sup>Immediately the girl arose and walked, for she was twelve years of age. And they were overcome with great amazement. <sup>43</sup>But He commanded them strictly that no one should know it, and said that something should be given her to eat.

Healing a Hemorrhage and Restoring Life

8:40 So it was, when Jesus returned, that the multitude welcomed Him, for they were all waiting for Him. <sup>41</sup>And behold, there came a man named Jairus, and he was a ruler of the synagogue. And he fell down at Jesus’ feet and begged Him to come to his house, <sup>42</sup>for he had an only daughter about twelve years of age, and she was dying.

But as He went, the multitudes thronged Him. <sup>43</sup>Now a woman, having a flow of blood for twelve years, who had spent all her livelihood on physicians and could not be healed by any, <sup>44</sup>came from behind and touched the border of His garment. And immediately her flow of blood stopped.

Arts & Literature

Aramaic is a Semitic language, closely related to Arabic and Hebrew. It was widely used in Syria by 1000 B.C. In the 6th century B.C. the Persians made it the language of diplomacy and official business, and from that time it was common all over the Near East. Aramaic is found in the Dead Sea Scrolls and was the language spoken by Jesus, as represented by the Aramaic phrase, “Talitha, cumi” (Mark 5:41).

SCANDALOUS FAITH (LUKE 8:43, 44)

The rationale behind some of Israel's laws is not always clear to us. So it is with legislation governing the uncleanness of bloody discharges from the body. According to the Law of Moses (Lev. 15:25–28), a flow of blood rendered a woman ceremonially unclean, and communicated uncleanness to anyone she touched. The woman Jesus encountered (Luke 8:43, 44) had experienced a continual flow of blood (not simply a monthly discharge) that most likely forced her to remain single. If the problem started after her marriage, it probably led her husband to divorce her. In her case, ceremonial uncleanness made her an outcast of her society.

Since she had had the problem for 12 years, much of her life had been consumed by this illness. Because many people died in their forties, her problem probably began some time after puberty; she may have felt like half her adult life was already lost. Furthermore, in a culture where women remained economically dependent on men, this woman's disease had exhausted "her livelihood" (8:43). She was desperate—so desperate that she would allow nothing to deter her from Jesus.

Anyone this woman touched would be rendered unclean, so it was scandalous for her to press her way to Jesus through the crowd. Even touching Jesus' garment would make Him unclean. If she was going to touch Him, she must do so without announcing her intentions (see Lev. 15:26, 27).

Once the woman was healed, Jesus was unashamed to be identified publicly with her hardship (Luke 8:46). His greater concern was that she, as well as those looking on, should realize that her "faith" (8:48) was the source of the healing. Jesus' power, unlike that of some other proclaimed wonder-workers of His day, was not simply "magic."

<sup>45</sup>And Jesus said, "Who touched Me?"

When all denied it, Peter and those with him<sup>a</sup> said, "Master, the multitudes throng and press You, and You say, 'Who touched Me?'"<sup>b</sup>

<sup>46</sup>But Jesus said, "Somebody touched Me, for I perceived power going out from Me."<sup>c</sup> <sup>47</sup>Now when the woman saw that she was not hidden, she came trembling; and falling down before Him, she declared to Him in the presence of all the people the reason she had touched Him and how she was healed immediately.

<sup>48</sup>And He said to her, "Daughter, be of good cheer;<sup>d</sup> your faith has made you well. Go in peace."

<sup>49</sup>While He was still speaking, someone came from the ruler of the synagogue's house, saying to him, "Your daughter is dead. Do not trouble the Teacher."<sup>e</sup>

<sup>50</sup>But when Jesus heard it, He answered him, saying, "Do not be afraid; only believe, and she will be made well."<sup>f</sup> <sup>51</sup>When He came into the house, He permitted no one to go in<sup>g</sup> except Peter, James, and John,<sup>h</sup> and the father and mother of the girl. <sup>52</sup>Now all wept and mourned for her; but He said, "Do not weep; she is not dead, but sleeping."<sup>i</sup> <sup>53</sup>And they ridiculed Him, knowing that she was dead.

<sup>54</sup>But He put them all outside,<sup>j</sup> took her by the hand and called, saying, "Little girl, arise."<sup>k</sup> <sup>55</sup>Then her spirit returned, and she arose immediately. And He commanded that she be given something to eat. <sup>56</sup>And her parents were astonished, but He charged them to tell no one what had happened.

Rejection at Nazareth

Even at the midpoint of His Galilean ministry, Jesus continued to be met with resistance and unbelief in His hometown of Nazareth (see Luke 4:16–30). Mark once again closely connects Jesus' miracles and His teachings: the people wondered "what wisdom" Jesus possessed to be able to perform "such mighty works" (Mark 6:2; see "Teaching with Authority" at Mark 1:21).

Matthew characteristically maintains more of a distinction between teaching and miracles, speaking of them individually: "this wisdom and these mighty works" (Matt. 13:54). Being attracted to Jesus' miraculous works is not sufficient to make one a true disciple of His. Faith, for Matthew, is crucial, and the limited miracles performed in Nazareth are directly attributed to the people's "unbelief" (Matt. 13:58; see "Returning to the West Shore" at Matt. 9:18).

- Mark 6:1–6

Jesus Rejected

13 :53 Now it came to pass, when Jesus had finished these parables, that He departed from there. <sup>54</sup>When He had come to His own country, He taught them in their synagogue, so that they were astonished and said, "Where did this Man get this wisdom and these mighty works? <sup>55</sup>Is this not the carpenter's son? Is not His mother called Mary? And His brothers James, Joses,<sup>a</sup> Simon, and Judas? <sup>56</sup>And His sisters, are they not all with us? Where then did this Man get all these things?" <sup>57</sup>So they were offended at Him.

But Jesus said to them, "A prophet is not without honor except in his own country and in his own house.”<sup>58</sup> Now He did not do many mighty works there because of their unbelief.

Mark 6:1–6

Without Honor in His Own Country

6:1 Then He went out from there and came to His own country, and His disciples followed Him.<sup>2</sup> And when the Sabbath had come, He began to teach in the synagogue. And many hearing Him were astonished, saying, “Where did this Man get these things? And what wisdom is this which is given to Him, that such mighty works are performed by His hands! <sup>3</sup>Is this not the carpenter, the Son of Mary, and brother of James, Joses, Judas, and Simon? And are not His sisters here with us?” So they were offended at Him.

<sup>4</sup>But Jesus said to them, “A prophet is not without honor except in his own country, among his own relatives, and in his own house.”<sup>5</sup> Now He could do no mighty work there, except that He laid His hands on a few sick people and healed them.<sup>6</sup> And He marveled because of their unbelief. Then He went about the villages in a circuit, teaching.

Jesus' Second Visit to Jerusalem

According to John's Gospel, Jesus returned to Jerusalem to attend a pilgrimage feast (see “The Galilean Ministry” at John 1:35). During this visit, He healed a lame man at the Pool of Bethesda. When, at Jesus' instruction, the man carried his bed away from the pool, he came into violation of the Sabbath prohibition against work (John 5:8–10). Jesus defended His healing works by associating them with those of His “Father,” but the opposition from the Jewish religious authorities only continued to mount. Not only had Jesus broken the Sabbath, but now He had also “said that God was His Father, making Himself equal with God” (5:17, 18). John records Jesus' extended defense of His special relationship with the Father and of the witnesses that testified to that relationship.

It is impossible to identify the “feast of the Jews” (5:1), which forms the setting for this healing account. It could have been Pentecost. John explicitly identified Passover as the occasion for Jesus' previous pilgrimage (John 2:13, 23), and Pentecost is the next feast after the combined festival of Passover and Unleavened Bread. Furthermore, the Feast of Pentecost was traditionally associated with the giving of the law to Moses at Mount Sinai. Thus Jesus' allusions to the writings of Moses (5:39, 45–47) were possibly prompted by the occasion of Pentecost.

Jesus' first Jerusalem pilgrimage might be dated to the spring Passover celebration of A.D. 27 (see “Jesus' First Visit to Jerusalem” at John 2:13). This second pilgrimage could represent the Pentecost occurring only several weeks later, or be understood as Pentecost of the following year, early summer of A.D. 28. On the other hand, it could have been Passover of spring, A.D. 28, or the Feast of Tabernacles in fall, A.D. 28.

A Man Healed at the Pool of Bethesda

5:1 After this there was a feast of the Jews, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem.<sup>2</sup> Now there is in Jerusalem by the Sheep Gate a pool, which is called in Hebrew, Bethesda,<sup>a</sup> having five porches.<sup>3</sup> In these lay a great multitude of sick people, blind, lame, paralyzed, waiting for the moving of the water.<sup>4</sup> For an angel went down at a certain time into the pool and stirred up the water; then whoever stepped in first, after the stirring of the water, was made well of whatever disease he had.<sup>a</sup> <sup>5</sup>Now a certain man was there who had an infirmity thirty-eight years.<sup>6</sup> When Jesus saw him lying there, and knew that he already had been in that condition a long time, He said to him, “Do you want to be made well?”

<sup>7</sup>The sick man answered Him, “Sir, I have no man to put me into the pool when the water is stirred up; but while I am coming, another steps down before me.”

<sup>8</sup>Jesus said to him, “Rise, take up your bed and walk.”<sup>9</sup> And immediately the man was made well, took up his bed, and walked.

And that day was the Sabbath.<sup>10</sup> The Jews therefore said to him who was cured, “It is the Sabbath; it is not lawful for you to carry your bed.”

<sup>11</sup>He answered them, “He who made me well said to me, ‘Take up your bed and walk.’”

<sup>12</sup>Then they asked him, “Who is the Man who said to you, ‘Take up your bed and walk?’”<sup>13</sup> But the one who was healed did not know who it was, for Jesus had withdrawn, a multitude being in that place.<sup>14</sup> Afterward Jesus found him in the temple, and said to him, “See, you have been made well. Sin no more, lest a worse thing come upon you.”

<sup>15</sup>The man departed and told the Jews that it was Jesus who had made him well.

Honor the Father and the Son

<sup>16</sup>For this reason the Jews persecuted Jesus, and sought to kill Him,<sup>a</sup> because He had done these things on the Sabbath.<sup>17</sup> But Jesus answered them, “My Father has been working until now, and I have been working.”

5:2 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text reads Bethzatha. 5:4 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits waiting for the moving of the water at the end of verse 3, and all of verse 4. 5:16 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits and sought to kill Him.

THE POOL OF BETHESDA (JOHN 5:2)

John's Gospel mentions a pool that was known in Hebrew as "Bethesda" or, as listed in some manuscripts, "Bethzatha" (John 5:2). The exact site of the pool has not been determined, although one of the Dead Sea Scrolls indicates that people who visited Jerusalem in Jesus' day knew where it was.

The "five porches" of Bethesda (5:2) have led to comparisons with the porticoes, or porches, of the ancient twin pools archaeologists found under St. Anne's monastery in Jerusalem. Porches ran along all four sides of the pools, plus one through the center, dividing them. In the vicinity of the pools archaeologists discovered a votive offering that looks just like what pagans offered to gods at healing sanctuaries. If Bethesda is the same site as these twin pools, it continued to be used for healing long after Jesus' day.

Regardless of whether the twin pools represent the actual site of the Pool of Bethesda, the lame man's hope in the pool resembles the practices of surrounding cultures. Many people in antiquity went to healing sanctuaries, which often included a pool, to seek healing from gods like Asclepius or Apollo. Likewise, the lame man was probably hoping for an angel to heal him. The statement about the angel stirring the waters (John 5:3b, 4) is missing in many early Greek manuscripts of John's Gospel, but may reflect an early tradition or local customs related to the pool.

The man was no doubt weak and hopeless after 38 years of confinement and affliction (John 5:5). Jesus, unlike the water of the pool, offered him real healing.

<sup>18</sup>Therefore the Jews sought all the more to kill Him, because He not only broke the Sabbath, but also said that God was His Father, making Himself equal with God. <sup>19</sup>Then Jesus answered and said to them, "Most assuredly, I say to you, the Son can do nothing of Himself, but what He sees the Father do; for whatever He does, the Son also does in like manner. <sup>20</sup>For the Father loves the Son, and shows Him all things that He Himself does; and He will show Him greater works than these, that you may marvel. <sup>21</sup>For as the Father raises the dead and gives life to them, even so the Son gives life to whom He will. <sup>22</sup>For the Father judges no one, but has committed all judgment to the Son, <sup>23</sup>that all should honor the Son just as they honor the Father. He who does not honor the Son does not honor the Father who sent Him.

Life and Judgment Are Through the Son

<sup>24</sup>"Most assuredly, I say to you, he who hears My word and believes in Him who sent Me has everlasting life, and shall not come into judgment, but has passed from death into life. <sup>25</sup>Most assuredly, I say to you, the hour is coming, and now is, when the dead will hear the voice of the Son of God; and those who hear will live. <sup>26</sup>For as the Father has life in Himself, so He has granted the Son to have life in Himself, <sup>27</sup>and has given Him authority to execute judgment also, because He is the Son of Man. <sup>28</sup>Do not marvel at this; for the hour is coming in which all who are in the graves will hear His voice <sup>29</sup>and come forth—those who have done good, to the resurrection of life, and those who have done evil, to the resurrection of condemnation. <sup>30</sup>I can of Myself do nothing. As I hear, I judge; and My judgment is righteous, because I do not seek My own will but the will of the Father who sent Me.

The Fourfold Witness

<sup>31</sup>If I bear witness of Myself, My witness is not true. <sup>32</sup>There is another who bears witness of Me, and I know that the witness which He witnesses of Me is true. <sup>33</sup>You have sent to John, and he has borne witness to the truth. <sup>34</sup>Yet I do not receive testimony from man, but I say these things that you may be saved. <sup>35</sup>He was the burning and shining lamp, and you were willing for a time to rejoice in his light. <sup>36</sup>But I have a greater witness than John's; for the works which the Father has given Me to finish—the very works that I do—bear witness of Me, that the Father has sent Me. <sup>37</sup>And the Father Himself, who sent Me, has testified of Me. You have neither heard His voice at any time, nor seen His form. <sup>38</sup>But you do not have His word abiding in you, because whom He sent, Him you do not believe. <sup>39</sup>You

Mission of the Twelve

Mark and Luke treat the mission of the twelve disciples during Jesus’ Galilean ministry in summary fashion. Matthew, on the other hand, was especially interested in the mission of the church (see Matt. 28:18–20) and so devotes considerable attention to Jesus’ instructions to His disciples regarding their mission.

Jesus’ instruction on mission is the second of Matthew’s five major teaching sections (see “Sermon on the Mount or Plain” at Matt. 5:1). Matthew presents the disciples’ mission as an extension of Jesus’ own continuing ministry. Jesus’ compassion for people and His prayer that God would “send out laborers” (9:35–38) introduces the episode. During the disciples’ mission Jesus actively continued His own ministry (11:1). Whereas Mark and Luke listed the names of the twelve apostles much earlier in their accounts of Jesus’ ministry (Mark 3:13–19; Luke 6:13–16), Matthew reserves the listing until this occasion (Matt. 10:2–4).

- Matthew 9:35—11:1
- Mark 6:7–13
- Luke 9:1–6

Matthew 9:35—11:1

The Compassion of Jesus

9:35 Then Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people.<sup>a</sup> <sup>36</sup>But when He saw the multitudes, He was moved with compassion for them, because they were weary<sup>a</sup> and scattered, like sheep having no shepherd. <sup>37</sup>Then He said to His disciples, “The harvest truly is plentiful, but the laborers are few. <sup>38</sup>Therefore pray the Lord of the harvest to send out laborers into His harvest.”

The Twelve Apostles

10<sup>1</sup>And when He had called His twelve disciples to Him, He gave them power over unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to heal all kinds of sickness and all kinds of disease. <sup>2</sup>Now the names of the twelve apostles are these: first, Simon, who is called Peter, and Andrew his brother; James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother; <sup>3</sup>Philip and Bartholomew; Thomas and Matthew the tax collector; James the son of Alphaeus, and Lebbaeus, whose surname was<sup>a</sup> Thaddaeus; <sup>4</sup>Simon the Cananite,<sup>a</sup> and Judas Iscariot, who also betrayed Him.

Geography & Environment

The Samaritans (Matt. 10:5) lived in the area immediately to the north of Jerusalem and Judea. They called themselves Israelites, claiming that their ancestors survived the fall of Israel to Assyria in 722 B.C. But Judeans thought Samaritans were descended from colonists brought to Samaria by the Assyrians. Samaritan worshipers followed the five books of Moses, and established a temple of their own on Mount Gerizim.

Sending Out the Twelve

<sup>5</sup>These twelve Jesus sent out and commanded them, saying: “Do not go into the way of the Gentiles, and do not enter a city of the Samaritans. <sup>6</sup>But go rather to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. <sup>7</sup>And as you go, preach, saying, ‘The kingdom of heaven is at hand.’ <sup>8</sup>Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead,<sup>a</sup> cast out demons. Freely you have received, freely give. <sup>9</sup>Provide neither gold nor silver nor copper in your money belts, <sup>10</sup>nor bag for your journey, nor two tunics, nor sandals, nor staffs; for a worker is worthy of his food.

<sup>11</sup>“Now whatever city or town you enter, inquire who in it is worthy, and stay there till you go out. <sup>12</sup>And when you go into a household, greet it. <sup>13</sup>If the household is worthy, let your peace come upon it. But if it is not worthy, let your peace return to you. <sup>14</sup>And whoever will not receive you nor hear your words, when you depart from that house or city, shake off the dust from your feet. <sup>15</sup>Assuredly, I say to you, it will be more tolerable for the land of Sodom and Gomorrah in the day of judgment than for that city!

HEROD & JUDEA UNDER ROME'S AUGUSTUS

In early 30 B.C. Herod the Great met with Octavian and bargained to keep his life and throne. From that time on, Herod remained a client of Rome. After his death, Herod's sons squandered the favor with Rome that Herod had enjoyed.

and harmless as doves. <sup>17</sup>But beware of men, for they will deliver you up to councils and scourge you in their synagogues. <sup>18</sup>You will be brought before governors and kings for My sake, as a testimony to them and to the Gentiles. <sup>19</sup>But when they deliver you up, do not worry about how or what you should speak. For it will be given to you in that hour what you should speak; <sup>20</sup>for it is not you who speak, but the Spirit of your Father who speaks in you.

<sup>21</sup>"Now brother will deliver up brother to death, and a father his child; and children will rise up against parents and cause them to be put to death. <sup>22</sup>And you will be hated by all for My name's sake. But he who endures to the end will be saved. <sup>23</sup>When they persecute you in this city, flee to another. For assuredly, I say to you, you will not have gone through the cities of Israel before the Son of Man comes.

<sup>24</sup>"A disciple is not above his teacher, nor a servant above his master. <sup>25</sup>It is enough for a disciple that he be like his teacher, and a servant like his master. If they have called the master of the house Beelzebul,<sup>a</sup> how much more will they call those of his household! <sup>26</sup>Therefore do not fear them. For there is nothing covered that will not be revealed, and hidden that will not be known.

Jesus Teaches the Fear of God

<sup>27</sup>"Whatever I tell you in the dark, speak in the light; and what you hear in the ear, preach on the housetops. <sup>28</sup>And do not fear those who kill the body but cannot kill the soul. But rather fear Him who is able to destroy both soul and body in hell. <sup>29</sup>Are not two sparrows sold for a copper coin? And not one of them falls to the ground apart from your Father's will. <sup>30</sup>But the very hairs of your head are all numbered. <sup>31</sup>Do not fear therefore; you are of more value than many sparrows.

Confess Christ Before Men

<sup>32</sup>"Therefore whoever confesses Me before men, him I will also confess before My Father who is in heaven. <sup>33</sup>But whoever denies Me before men, him I will also deny before My Father who is in heaven.

Christ Brings Division

<sup>34</sup>"Do not think that I came to bring peace on earth. I did not come to bring peace but a sword. <sup>35</sup>For I have come to 'set a man against his father, a daughter against her mother, and a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law'; <sup>36</sup>and 'a man's enemies will be those of his own household.'<sup>a</sup> <sup>37</sup>He who loves father or mother more than Me is not worthy of Me. And he who loves son or daughter more than Me is not worthy of Me. <sup>38</sup>And he who does not take his cross and follow after Me is not worthy of Me. <sup>39</sup>He who finds his life will lose it, and he who loses his life for My sake will find it.

A Cup of Cold Water

<sup>40</sup>"He who receives you receives Me, and he who receives Me receives Him who sent Me. <sup>41</sup>He who receives a prophet in the name of a prophet shall receive a prophet's reward. And he who receives a righteous man in the name of a righteous man shall receive a righteous man's reward. <sup>42</sup>And whoever gives one of these little ones only a cup of cold water in the name of a disciple, assuredly, I say to you, he shall by no means lose his reward.”

11 Now it came to pass, when Jesus finished commanding His twelve disciples, that He departed from there to teach and to preach in their cities.

Mark 6:7–13

Sending Out the Twelve

6:7 And He called the twelve to Himself, and began to send them out two by two, and gave them power over unclean spirits. <sup>8</sup>He commanded them to take nothing for the journey except a staff—no bag, no bread, no copper in their money belts—<sup>9</sup>but to wear sandals, and not to go on two tunics.

<sup>10</sup>Also He said to them, “In whatever place you enter a house, stay there till you depart from that place. <sup>11</sup>And whoever<sup>a</sup> will not receive you nor hear you, when you depart from there, shake off the dust under your feet as a testimony against them.<sup>b</sup> Assuredly, I say to you, it will be more tolerable for Sodom and Gomorrah in the day of judgment than for that city!”

<sup>12</sup>So they went out and preached that people should repent. <sup>13</sup>And they cast out many demons, and anointed with oil many who were sick, and healed them.

Luke 9:1–6

Mission of the Twelve

9:1 Then He called His twelve disciples together and gave them power and authority over all demons, and to cure diseases. <sup>2</sup>He sent them to preach the kingdom of God and to heal the sick. <sup>3</sup>And He said to them, “Take nothing for the journey, neither staffs nor bag nor bread nor money; and do not have two tunics apiece.

<sup>4</sup>“Whatever house you enter, stay there, and from there depart. <sup>5</sup>And whoever will not receive you, when you go out of that city, shake off the very dust from your feet as a testimony against them.”

<sup>6</sup>So they departed and went through the towns, preaching the gospel and healing everywhere.

6:11 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text reads whatever place. <sup>b</sup>NU-Text omits the rest of this verse.

Death of John the Baptist

The Jewish historian Josephus wrote in his Antiquities of the Jews that John the Baptist was imprisoned and executed by Herod Antipas. Antipas, who ruled as tetrarch of Galilee and Perea (4 B.C.–A.D. 39), apparently perceived the Baptist to be a threat to lead an insurrection.

The Gospel of Mark provides the most extensive and detailed account of the circumstances surrounding the death of the Baptist. But even all Mark’s detail did not prevent later writers from embellishing the story with legendary elements. The New Testament does not mention either the name of “Herodias’ daughter” (Mark 6:22) or her “seven veils.” The traditional name “Salome” probably comes from Josephus, who wrote that Herod Philip was married to a daughter of Herodias by that name.

Both Matthew and Mark recount the Baptist’s imprisonment and execution by Herod as a kind of literary flashback. There was a superstitious belief that Jesus was actually the resurrected John the Baptist, and even Herod himself was inclined toward this superstition (Matt. 14:1, 2; Mark 6:14).

Luke’s treatment differs considerably. John’s imprisonment is reported before beginning the account of Jesus’ public ministry (Luke 3:19, 20). Maybe Luke wished to avoid the insinuation that Jesus and the Baptist were engaged in rival ministries. Only Luke connects the superstition that Jesus was a resurrected prophet with the reason Herod was curious about Jesus and desired “to see Him” (Luke 9:9). Herod’s curiosity prepares the way literarily for Jesus’ “trial” before Herod, which only Luke reports (Luke 23:6–12).

IMMORALITY AND HEROD'S POLITICS (MARK 6:17)

Herod Antipas was the tetrarch of Galilee and Perea (4 B.C.–A.D. 39). Reports of Jesus' works made Herod's guilty conscience remember his crime against John the Baptist (Mark 6:14). John had boldly denounced Herod's immorality in marrying his brother's wife (6:18). The law prohibited adultery and incest; sleeping with one's brother's wife was considered incestuous as well as adulterous (Lev. 18:16). But given his political problems in 1st-century Galilee, Antipas may have viewed John's moral criticisms as a political threat that could stir unrest.

While Antipas was planning to marry his brother's wife, his first wife realized that he was also planning to divorce her. She fled home to her father, Aretas IV, ruler of the Nabatean Arabs, reporting Antipas's intentions, and Aretas was enraged that Antipas would treat his daughter so lightly. This created friction between the two kingdoms, and some Nabateans living in Antipas's territory of Perea made his father-in-law's enmity even more delicate. Aretas invaded Antipas's kingdom in A.D. 36 (sometime after Herod had executed John), and would have destroyed it had not the Romans intervened. Many Galileans felt this defeat was God's judgment on Antipas for executing the Baptist.

This political embarrassment was not the last problem Antipas's liaison with Herodias caused him. When in A.D. 37 her brother Agrippa I was appointed "king" of Gaulanitis, Herodias persuaded her husband Herod Antipas to request the same title. So enraged was the emperor at Antipas for making such a request, however, that he banished him to Gaul in A.D. 39, and Herodias went off into exile with him. The Gospel of Mark ironically refers to Antipas as "King Herod" (Mark 6:14), even though he was technically only a "tetrarch" (Matt. 14:1). Possibly under Herodias's influence Antipas thought himself a king.

Matthew 14:1–12

John the Baptist Beheaded

14:1 At that time Herod the tetrarch heard the report about Jesus <sup>2</sup>and said to his servants, "This is John the Baptist; he is risen from the dead, and therefore these powers are at work in him." <sup>3</sup>For Herod had laid hold of John and bound him, and put him in prison for the sake of Herodias, his brother Philip's wife. <sup>4</sup>Because John had said to him, "It is not lawful for you to have her." <sup>5</sup>And although he wanted to put him to death, he feared the multitude, because they counted him as a prophet.

<sup>6</sup>But when Herod's birthday was celebrated, the daughter of Herodias danced before them and pleased Herod. <sup>7</sup>Therefore he promised with an oath to give her whatever she might ask.

<sup>8</sup>So she, having been prompted by her mother, said, "Give me John the Baptist's head here on a platter."

<sup>9</sup>And the king was sorry; nevertheless, because of the oaths and because of those who sat with him, he commanded it to be given to her. <sup>10</sup>So he sent and had John beheaded in prison. <sup>11</sup>And his head was brought on a platter and given to the girl, and she brought it to her mother. <sup>12</sup>Then his disciples came and took away the body and buried it, and went and told Jesus.

Mark 6:14–29

Herodias Requests John's Death

6:14 Now King Herod heard of Him, for His name had become well known. And he said, "John the Baptist is risen from the dead, and therefore these powers are at work in him."

<sup>15</sup>Others said, "It is Elijah."

And others said, "It is the Prophet, or<sup>a</sup> like one of the prophets."

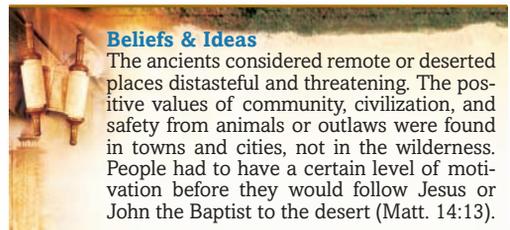

<sup>16</sup>But when Herod heard, he said, "This is John, whom I beheaded; he has been raised from the dead!" <sup>17</sup>For Herod himself had sent and laid hold of John, and bound him in prison for the sake of Herodias, his brother Philip's wife; for he had married her. <sup>18</sup>Because John had said to Herod, "It is not lawful for you to have your brother's wife."

<sup>19</sup>Therefore Herodias held it against him and wanted to kill him, but she could not; <sup>20</sup>for Herod feared John, knowing that he was a just and holy man, and he protected him. And when he heard him, he did many things, and heard him gladly.

<sup>21</sup>Then an opportune day came when Herod on his birthday gave a feast for his nobles, the high officers, and the chief men of Galilee. <sup>22</sup>And when Herodias' daughter herself came in and danced, and pleased Herod and those who sat with him, the king said to the girl, "Ask me whatever you want, and I will give it to you." <sup>23</sup>He also swore to her, "Whatever you ask me, I will give you, up to half my kingdom."

<sup>24</sup>So she went out and said to her mother, "What shall I ask?"

And she said, "The head of John the Baptist!"

Beliefs & Ideas

The ancients considered remote or deserted places distasteful and threatening. The positive values of community, civilization, and safety from animals or outlaws were found in towns and cities, not in the wilderness. People had to have a certain level of motivation before they would follow Jesus or John the Baptist to the desert (Matt. 14:13).

6:15 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text and M-Text omit or.

<sup>25</sup>Immediately she came in with haste to the king and asked, saying, "I want you to give me at once the head of John the Baptist on a platter."

<sup>26</sup>And the king was exceedingly sorry; yet, because of the oaths and because of those who sat with him, he did not want to refuse her. <sup>27</sup>Immediately the king sent an executioner and commanded his head to be brought. And he went and beheaded him in prison, <sup>28</sup>brought his head on a platter, and gave it to the girl; and the girl gave it to her mother. <sup>29</sup>When his disciples heard of it, they came and took away his corpse and laid it in a tomb.

Luke 3:19, 20

3:19 But Herod the tetrarch, being rebuked by his wife concerning Herodias, his brother Philip's<sup>a</sup> and for all the evils which Herod had done, <sup>20</sup>also added this, above all, that he shut John up in prison.

Luke 9:7-9

Herod Seeks to See Jesus

9:7 Now Herod the tetrarch heard of all that was done by Him; and he was perplexed, because it was said by some that John had risen from the dead, <sup>8</sup>and by some that Elijah had appeared, and by others that one of the old prophets had risen again. <sup>9</sup>Herod said, "John I have beheaded, but who is this of whom I hear such things?" So he sought to see Him.

Feeding the 5,000

The feeding of 5,000 people is the only event from Jesus' ministry preceding His last week in Jerusalem that is reported in all four New Testament Gospels. All the accounts agree upon the basic matters: the number fed totaled 5,000; the available food was "five loaves and two fish"; the quantity of leftovers was "twelve baskets full." Only Matthew explicitly notes that the number 5,000 did not include "women and children" (Matt. 14:21).

The miraculous supply of bread in "a deserted place" (Matt. 14:15) calls to mind Moses' provision of manna during the Exodus (Ex. 16). According to John's Gospel, the miracle convinced some that Jesus was in fact the long-expected "Prophet" like Moses (John 6:14; see Deut. 18:15).

John's Gospel places this miracle just before a Passover (John 6:4), the second of three Passovers mentioned in the Fourth Gospel. The first (John 2:13, 23) was possibly in A.D. 27 (see "Jesus' First Visit to Jerusalem" at John 2:13). Thus, this feeding story should be dated to the spring of either A.D. 28 or 29. If the undesignated "feast of the Jews" in John 5:1 is Pentecost or Tabernacles, the 5,000 feeding could have occurred in A.D. 28. If the "feast" of John 5:1 is Passover, then the 5,000 were fed in A.D. 29 (see "Jesus' Second Visit to Jerusalem" at John 5:1). The third Passover mentioned by John was the occasion of Jesus' death (John 13:1), usually dated to A.D. 30.

Matthew 14:13-21

14:13 When Jesus heard it, He departed from there by boat to a deserted place by Himself. But when the multitudes heard it, they followed Him on foot from the cities. <sup>14</sup>And when Jesus went out He saw a great multitude; and He was moved with compassion for them, and healed their sick. <sup>15</sup>When it was evening, His disciples came to Him, saying, "This is a deserted place, and the hour is already late. Send the multitudes away, that they may go into the villages and buy themselves food."

<sup>16</sup>But Jesus said to them, "They do not need to go away. You give them something to eat."

<sup>17</sup>And they said to Him, "We have here only five loaves and two fish."

<sup>18</sup>He said, "Bring them here to Me." <sup>19</sup>Then He commanded the multitudes to sit down on the grass. And He took the five loaves and the two fish, and looking up to heaven, He blessed and broke and gave the loaves to the disciples; and the disciples gave to the multitudes. <sup>20</sup>So they all ate and were filled, and they took up twelve baskets full of the fragments that remained. <sup>21</sup>Now those who had eaten were about five thousand men, besides women and children.

Mark 6:30-44

6:30 Then the apostles gathered to Jesus and told Him all things, both what they had done and what they had taught. <sup>31</sup>And He said to them, "Come aside by yourselves to a deserted place and rest a while." For there were many coming and going, and they did not even have time to eat. <sup>32</sup>So they departed to a deserted place in the boat by themselves.

<sup>33</sup>But the multitudes<sup>a</sup> saw them departing, and many knew Him and ran there on foot from all the cities. They arrived before them and came together to Him. <sup>34</sup>And Jesus, when He came out, saw a great multitude and was moved with compassion for them, because they were like sheep not having a shepherd. So He began to teach them many things. <sup>35</sup>When the day was now far spent, His disciples came to Him and said, “This is a deserted place, and already the hour is late. <sup>36</sup>Send them away, that they may go into the surrounding country and villages and buy themselves bread;<sup>a</sup> for they have nothing to eat.”

<sup>37</sup>But He answered and said to them, “You give them something to eat.”

And they said to Him, “Shall we go and buy two hundred denarii worth of bread and give them something to eat?”

<sup>38</sup>But He said to them, “How many loaves do you have? Go and see.”

And when they found out they said, “Five, and two fish.”

<sup>39</sup>Then He commanded them to make them all sit down in groups on the green grass. <sup>40</sup>So they sat down in ranks, in hundreds and in fifties. <sup>41</sup>And when He had taken the five loaves and the two fish, He looked up to heaven, blessed and broke the loaves, and gave them to His disciples to set before them; and the two fish He divided among them all. <sup>42</sup>So they all ate and were filled. <sup>43</sup>And they took up twelve baskets full of fragments and of the fish. <sup>44</sup>Now those who had eaten the loaves were about<sup>a</sup> five thousand men.

Luke 9:10–17

9:10 And the apostles, when they had returned, told Him all that they had done. Then He took them and went aside privately into a deserted place belonging to the city called Bethsaida. <sup>11</sup>But when the multitudes knew it, they followed Him; and He received them and spoke to them about the kingdom of God, and healed those who had need of healing. <sup>12</sup>When the day began to wear away, the twelve came and said to Him, “Send the multitude away, that they may go into the surrounding towns and country, and lodge and get provisions; for we are in a deserted place here.”

<sup>13</sup>But He said to them, “You give them something to eat.”

And they said, “We have no more than five loaves and two fish, unless we go and buy food for all these people.” <sup>14</sup>For there were about five thousand men.

Then He said to His disciples, “Make them sit down in groups of fifty.” <sup>15</sup>And they did so, and made them all sit down.

<sup>16</sup>Then He took the five loaves and the two fish, and looking up to heaven, He blessed and broke them, and gave them to the disciples to set before the multitude. <sup>17</sup>So they all ate and were filled, and twelve baskets of the leftover fragments were taken up by them.

John 6:1–15

6:1 After these things Jesus went over the Sea of Galilee, which is the Sea of Tiberias. <sup>2</sup>Then a great multitude followed Him, because they saw His signs which He performed on those who were diseased. <sup>3</sup>And Jesus went up on the mountain, and there He sat with His disciples.

<sup>4</sup>Now the Passover, a feast of the Jews, was near. <sup>5</sup>Then Jesus lifted up His eyes, and seeing a great multitude coming toward Him, He said to Philip, “Where shall we buy bread, that these may eat?” <sup>6</sup>But this He said to test him, for He Himself knew what He would do.

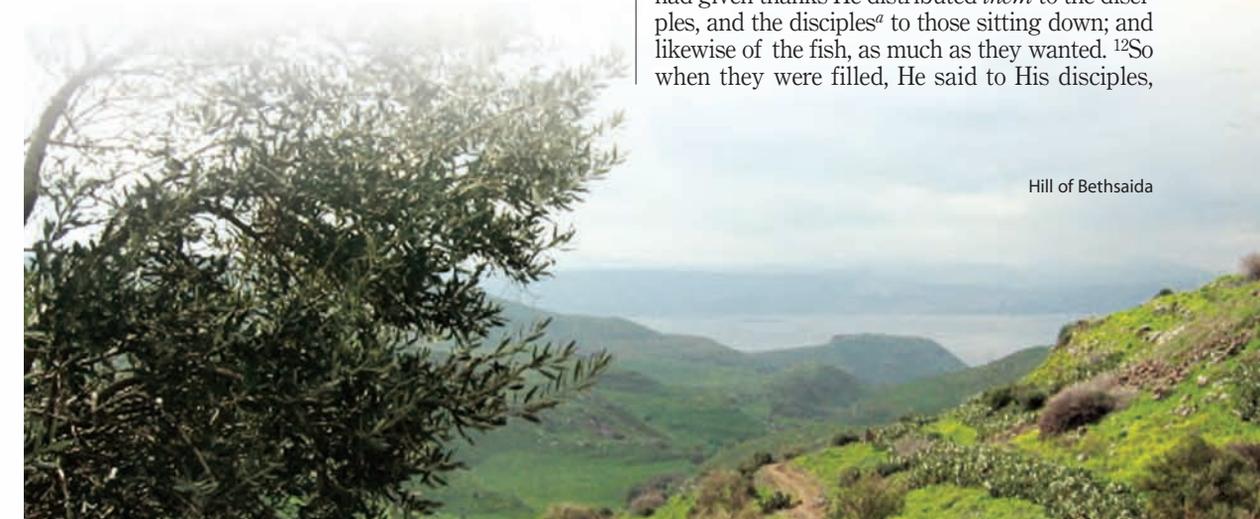

<sup>7</sup>Philip answered Him, “Two hundred denarii worth of bread is not sufficient for them, that every one of them may have a little.”

<sup>8</sup>One of His disciples, Andrew, Simon Peter’s brother, said to Him, <sup>9</sup>“There is a lad here who has five barley loaves and two small fish, but what are they among so many?”

<sup>10</sup>Then Jesus said, “Make the people sit down.” Now there was much grass in the place. So the men sat down, in number about five thousand. <sup>11</sup>And Jesus took the loaves, and when He had given thanks He distributed them to the disciples, and the disciples<sup>a</sup> to those sitting down; and likewise of the fish, as much as they wanted. <sup>12</sup>So when they were filled, He said to His disciples,

“Gather up the fragments that remain, so that nothing is lost.”<sup>13</sup> Therefore they gathered them up, and filled twelve baskets with the fragments of the five barley loaves which were left over by those who had eaten.<sup>14</sup> Then those men, when they had seen the sign that Jesus did, said, “This is truly the Prophet who is to come into the world.”

<sup>15</sup> Therefore when Jesus perceived that they were about to come and take Him by force to make Him king, He departed again to the mountain by Himself alone.

Walking on the Water

Each evangelist closely ties Jesus’ walking on water with the preceding story of feeding the 5,000. For Mark, the inability of the disciples to understand that earlier miracle affected their understanding of who Jesus truly was in this instance as well (Mark 6:52; see John 6:26, 27). Some think that Jesus’ walking on water is parallel to Old Testament theophanies or visionary appearances in which God strides across the waters as a symbol of control over evil and chaos (see Ps. 77:19; 107:23–29; Job 9:8).

While in Mark, the disciples lacked understanding, Matthew stresses that the miracle of walking on water confirmed their belief that Jesus was “the Son of God” (Matt. 14:33). Only Matthew reports Peter’s walking on the sea, and his subsequent sinking illustrates the weakness of faith that is diminished by doubt (14:31). Faith must remain focused upon Jesus and not have its attention divided by harsh circumstances (Matt. 14:28–30).

It Is I

14:22 Immediately Jesus made His disciples get into the boat and go before Him to the other side, while He sent the multitudes away.<sup>23</sup> And when He had sent the multitudes away, He went up on the mountain by Himself to pray. Now when evening came, He was alone there.<sup>24</sup> But the boat was now in the middle of the sea,<sup>a</sup> tossed by the waves, for the wind was contrary.<sup>25</sup> Now in the fourth watch of the night Jesus went to them, walking on the sea.<sup>26</sup> And when the disciples saw Him walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying, “It is a ghost!” And they cried out for fear.

<sup>27</sup> But immediately Jesus spoke to them, saying, “Be of good cheer! It is I; do not be afraid.”

<sup>28</sup> And Peter answered Him and said, “Lord, if it is You, command me to come to You on the water.”

<sup>29</sup> So He said, “Come.” And when Peter had come down out of the boat, he walked on the water to go to Jesus.<sup>30</sup> But when he saw that the wind was boisterous,<sup>a</sup> he was afraid; and beginning to sink he cried out, saying, “Lord, save me!”

<sup>31</sup> And immediately Jesus stretched out His hand and caught him, and said to him, “O you of little faith, why did you doubt?”<sup>32</sup> And when they got into the boat, the wind ceased.

<sup>33</sup> Then those who were in the boat came and<sup>a</sup> worshiped Him, saying, “Truly You are the Son of God.”

The Disciples Are Amazed

6:45 Immediately He made His disciples get into the boat and go before Him to the other side, to Bethsaida, while He sent the multitude away.<sup>46</sup> And when He had sent them away, He departed to the mountain to pray.<sup>47</sup> Now when evening came, the boat was in the middle of the sea; and He was alone on the land.<sup>48</sup> Then He saw them straining at rowing, for the wind was against them. Now about the fourth watch of the night He came to them, walking on the sea, and would have passed them by.<sup>49</sup> And when they saw Him walking on the sea, they supposed it was a ghost, and cried out; <sup>50</sup>for they all saw Him and were troubled. But immediately He talked with them and said to them, “Be of good cheer! It is I; do not be afraid.”<sup>51</sup> Then He went up into the boat to them, and the wind ceased. And they were greatly amazed in themselves beyond measure, and marveled.<sup>52</sup> For they had not understood about the loaves, because their heart was hardened.

John 6:16–21

6:16 Now when evening came, His disciples went down to the sea,<sup>17</sup> got into the boat, and went over the sea toward Capernaum. And it was already dark, and Jesus had not come to them.<sup>18</sup> Then the sea arose because a great wind was blowing.<sup>19</sup> So when they had rowed about three or four miles,<sup>a</sup> they saw Jesus walking on the sea and drawing near the boat; and they were afraid.<sup>20</sup> But He said to them, “It is I; do not be afraid.”<sup>21</sup> Then they willingly received Him into the boat, and immediately the boat was at the land where they were going.

Popularity at Gennesaret and Capernaum

Much of Jesus’ early ministry occurred on the northwest shore of the Sea of Galilee. Matthew and Mark each provide brief comments about the success of Jesus’ ministry in Gennesaret, where the crowds flocked for healing, bringing the sick with them, and hoping for a brief encounter with Jesus.

John provides a longer treatment about a controversy that arose in the nearby city of Capernaum (about 3 miles east of Gennesaret along the shore of the Sea of Galilee). Jesus’ popularity was still increasing because of the miracles which He performed, yet the people misunderstood the true meaning of His works. Although they had eaten the multiplied loaves, they had not understood the miracle as a “sign” that would give spiritual insight (John 6:26, 27; see “The First of Seven Signs” at John 2:1). The people longed only for Jesus to improve the circumstances of their physical lives (see John 6:15). Rather, Jesus was “the bread of life” that would forever provide the spiritual nourishment they needed (John 6:48–51).

Some suggest that with this episode (especially John 6:53–58) the Gospel of John explains the Lord’s Supper. When John recounts the Last Supper (John 13), he does not report the institution of the sacrament, as do the Synoptic Gospels (Matt. 26:26–29; Mark 14:22–25; Luke 22:15–20).

14:34 When they had crossed over, they came to the land of<sup>a</sup> Gennesaret. <sup>35</sup>And when the men of that place recognized Him, they sent out into all that surrounding region, brought to Him all who were sick, <sup>36</sup>and begged Him that they might only touch the hem of His garment. And as many as touched it were made perfectly well.

Mark 6:53–56

6:53 When they had crossed over, they came to the land of Gennesaret and anchored there. <sup>54</sup>And when they came out of the boat, immediately the people recognized Him, <sup>55</sup>ran through that whole surrounding region, and began to carry about on beds those who were sick to wherever they heard He was. <sup>56</sup>Wherever He entered, into villages, cities, or the country, they laid the sick in the marketplaces, and begged Him that they might just touch the hem of His garment. And as many as touched Him were made well.

John 6:22–71

The Bread from Heaven

6:22 On the following day, when the people who were standing on the other side of the sea saw that there was no other boat there, except that one which His disciples had entered,<sup>a</sup> and that Jesus had not entered the boat with His disciples, but His disciples had gone away alone— <sup>23</sup>however, other boats came from Tiberias, near the place where they ate bread after the Lord had given thanks— <sup>24</sup>when the people therefore saw that Jesus was not there, nor His disciples, they also got into boats and came to Capernaum, seeking Jesus. <sup>25</sup>And when they found Him on the other side of the sea, they said to Him, “Rabbi, when did You come here?”

<sup>26</sup>Jesus answered them and said, “Most assuredly, I say to you, you seek Me, not because you saw the signs, but because you ate of the loaves and were filled. <sup>27</sup>Do not labor for the food which perishes, but for the food which endures to everlasting life, which the Son of Man will give you, because God the Father has set His seal on Him.”

<sup>28</sup>Then they said to Him, “What shall we do, that we may work the works of God?”

<sup>29</sup>Jesus answered and said to them, “This is the work of God, that you believe in Him whom He sent.”

<sup>30</sup>Therefore they said to Him, “What sign will You perform then, that we may see it and believe You? What work will You do? <sup>31</sup>Our fathers ate the manna in the desert; as it is written, ‘He gave them bread from heaven to eat.’”<sup>a</sup>

<sup>32</sup>Then Jesus said to them, “Most assuredly, I say to you, Moses did not give you the bread from heaven, but My Father gives you the true bread from heaven. <sup>33</sup>For the bread of God is He who comes down from heaven and gives life to the world.”

<sup>35</sup>And Jesus said to them, “I am the bread of life. He who comes to Me shall never hunger, and he who believes in Me shall never thirst. <sup>36</sup>But I said to you that you have seen Me and yet do not believe. <sup>37</sup>All that the Father gives Me will come to Me, and the one who comes to Me I will by no means cast out. <sup>38</sup>For I have come down from heaven, not to do My own will, but the will of Him who sent Me. <sup>39</sup>This is the will of the Father who sent Me, that of all He has given Me I should lose nothing, but should raise it up at the last day. <sup>40</sup>And this is the will of Him who sent Me, that everyone who sees the Son and believes in Him may have everlasting life; and I will raise him up at the last day.”

Rejected by His Own

<sup>41</sup>The Jews then complained about Him, because He said, “I am the bread which came down from heaven.” <sup>42</sup>And they said, “Is not this Jesus, the son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know? How is it then that He says, ‘I have come down from heaven?’”

<sup>43</sup>Jesus therefore answered and said to them, “Do not murmur among yourselves. <sup>44</sup>No one can come to Me unless the Father who sent Me draws him; and I will raise him up at the last day. <sup>45</sup>It is written in the prophets, ‘And they shall all be taught by God.’<sup>a</sup> Therefore everyone who has heard and learned<sup>b</sup> from the Father comes to Me. <sup>46</sup>Not that anyone has seen the Father, except He who is from God; He has seen the Father. <sup>47</sup>Most assuredly, I say to you, he who believes in Me<sup>a</sup> has everlasting life. <sup>48</sup>I am the bread of life. <sup>49</sup>Your fathers ate the manna in the wilderness, and are dead. <sup>50</sup>This is the bread which comes down from heaven, that one may eat of it and not die. <sup>51</sup>I am the living bread which came down from heaven. If anyone eats of this bread, he will live forever; and the bread that I shall give is My flesh, which I shall give for the life of the world.”

14:34 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text reads came to land at. <sup>53</sup>Then Jesus said to them, “Most assuredly, I say to you, unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink His blood, you have no life in you.

<sup>54</sup>Whoever eats My flesh and drinks My blood has eternal life, and I will raise him up at the last day.

<sup>55</sup>For My flesh is food indeed,<sup>a</sup> and My blood is drink indeed. <sup>56</sup>He who eats My flesh and drinks My blood abides in Me, and I in him. <sup>57</sup>As the living Father sent Me, and I live because of the Father, so he who feeds on Me will live because of Me. <sup>58</sup>This is the bread which came down from heaven—not as your fathers ate the manna, and are dead. He who eats this bread will live forever.”

<sup>59</sup>These things He said in the synagogue as He taught in Capernaum.

Many Disciples Turn Away

<sup>60</sup>Therefore many of His disciples, when they heard this, said, “This is a hard saying; who can understand it?”

<sup>61</sup>When Jesus knew in Himself that His disciples complained about this, He said to them, “Does this offend you? <sup>62</sup>What then if you should see the Son of Man ascend where He was before?

<sup>63</sup>It is the Spirit who gives life; the flesh profits nothing. The words that I speak to you are spirit, and they are life. <sup>64</sup>But there are some of you who do not believe.” For Jesus knew from the beginning who they were who did not believe, and who would betray Him. <sup>65</sup>And He said, “Therefore I have said to you that no one can come to Me unless it has been granted to him by My Father.”

<sup>66</sup>From that time many of His disciples went back and walked with Him no more. <sup>67</sup>Then Jesus said to the twelve, “Do you also want to go away?”

<sup>68</sup>But Simon Peter answered Him, “Lord, to whom shall we go? You have the words of eternal life. <sup>69</sup>Also we have come to believe and know that You are the Christ, the Son of the living God.”<sup>a</sup>

<sup>70</sup>Jesus answered them, “Did I not choose you, the twelve, and one of you is a devil?” <sup>71</sup>He spoke of Judas Iscariot, the son of Simon, for it was he who would betray Him, being one of the twelve.

because they emphasized the many commandments of their human tradition, being concerned only with outward conduct while they ignored the inner dynamic and moral demands of the law. This is the only episode in which Mark reports Jesus referring to His Pharisaic opponents as “hypocrites” (Mark 7:6). Matthew, by contrast, recounts several such instances (especially in Matt. 23).

The details of this particular controversy show that “hypocrisy” for Jesus was not “saying one thing and doing another.” The Pharisees did observe the ritual washings which Jesus’ disciples had occasionally neglected (Mark 7:2, 3). In the Jewish literature of this period written in Greek, a “hypocrite” was a godless person who substituted human standards and desires for God’s commandments. Thus, when people scrupulously observed traditions that had the effect of countering God’s command (Matt. 15:3–6; Mark 7:9–13), they became “hypocrites” not because their actions were inconsistent but because they consistently ignored God’s will. Ritual purity cannot cleanse a person defiled by his or her own evil actions (Matt. 15:17–20; Mark 7:15, 18–23).

Defilement Comes from Within

15 :1 Then the scribes and Pharisees who were from Jerusalem came to Jesus, saying, <sup>2</sup>“Why do Your disciples transgress the tradition of the elders? For they do not wash their hands when they eat bread.”

<sup>3</sup>He answered and said to them, “Why do you also transgress the commandment of God because of your tradition? <sup>4</sup>For God commanded, saying, ‘Honor your father and your mother’;<sup>a</sup> and, ‘He who curses father or mother, let him be put to death.’<sup>b</sup> <sup>5</sup>But you say, ‘Whoever says to his father or mother, “Whatever profit you might have received from me is a gift to God”— <sup>6</sup>then he need not honor his father or mother.’<sup>a</sup> Thus you have made the commandment<sup>b</sup> of God of no effect by your tradition. <sup>7</sup>Hypocrites! Well did Isaiah prophesy about you, saying:

- 8 ‘These people draw near to Me with their mouth,

Controversy over Traditions

The “tradition of the elders” (Matt. 15:2) contained hundreds of rules, which Jewish teachers had developed over the centuries to ensure that the people properly kept God’s law. Jesus called these teachers “hypocrites” what goes into the mouth defiles a man; but what comes out of the mouth, this defiles a man.”

<sup>12</sup>Then His disciples came and said to Him, “Do You know that the Pharisees were offended when they heard this saying?”

<sup>13</sup>But He answered and said, “Every plant which My heavenly Father has not planted will be uprooted. <sup>14</sup>Let them alone. They are blind leaders of the blind. And if the blind leads the blind, both will fall into a ditch.”

<sup>15</sup>Then Peter answered and said to Him, “Explain this parable to us.”

<sup>16</sup>So Jesus said, “Are you also still without understanding? <sup>17</sup>Do you not yet understand that whatever enters the mouth goes into the stomach and is eliminated? <sup>18</sup>But those things which proceed out of the mouth come from the heart, and they defile a man. <sup>19</sup>For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies. <sup>20</sup>These are the things which defile a man, but to eat with unwashed hands does not defile a man.”

Religion & Worship

The Jews maintained a clear distinction between themselves and the cultures around them. Their regulations about food and drink were a constant reminder that they belonged to the God who had delivered them from Egypt. Their traditions expanded; the “tradition of the elders” (Mark 7:3) contained hundreds of rules which Jewish teachers had developed over the centuries.

Mark 7:1–23

True Purity

7:1 Then the Pharisees and some of the scribes came together to Him, having come from Jerusalem. <sup>2</sup>Now when<sup>a</sup> they saw some of His disciples eat bread with defiled, that is, with unwashed hands, they found fault. <sup>3</sup>For the Pharisees and all the Jews do not eat unless they wash their hands in a special way, holding the tradition of the elders. <sup>4</sup>When they come from the marketplace, they do not eat unless they wash. And there are many other things which they have received and hold, like the washing of cups, pitchers, copper vessels, and couches.

<sup>5</sup>Then the Pharisees and scribes asked Him, “Why do Your disciples not walk according to the tradition of the elders, but eat bread with unwashed hands?”

<sup>6</sup>He answered and said to them, “Well did Isaiah prophesy of you hypocrites, as it is written:

*‘This people honors Me with their lips,
But their heart is far from Me.*

<sup>7</sup> And in vain they worship Me,

Teaching as doctrines the commandments of men.’<sup>a</sup>

<sup>8</sup>For laying aside the commandment of God, you hold the tradition of men<sup>a</sup>—the washing of pitchers and cups, and many other such things you do.”

<sup>9</sup>He said to them, “All too well you reject the commandment of God, that you may keep your tradition. <sup>10</sup>For Moses said, ‘Honor your father and your mother’;<sup>a</sup> and, ‘He who curses father or mother, let him be put to death.’<sup>b</sup> <sup>11</sup>But you say, ‘If a man says to his father or mother, “Whatever profit you might have received from me is Corban”—’ (that is, a gift to God), <sup>12</sup>then you no longer let him do anything for his father or his mother, <sup>13</sup>making the word of God of no effect through your tradition which you have handed down. And many such things you do.”

<sup>14</sup>When He had called all the multitude to Himself, He said to them, “Hear Me, everyone, and understand: <sup>15</sup>There is nothing that enters a man from outside which can defile him; but the things which come out of him, those are the things that defile a man. <sup>16</sup>If anyone has ears to hear, let him hear!”<sup>a</sup>

<sup>17</sup>When He had entered a house away from the crowd, His disciples asked Him concerning the parable. <sup>18</sup>So He said to them, “Are you thus without understanding also? Do you not perceive that whatever enters a man from outside cannot defile him, <sup>19</sup>because it does not enter his heart but his stomach, and is eliminated, thus purifying all foods?”<sup>a</sup> <sup>20</sup>And He said, “What comes out of a man, that defiles a man. <sup>21</sup>For from within, out of the heart of men, proceed evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, <sup>22</sup>thefts, covetousness, wickedness, deceit, lewdness, an evil eye, blasphemy, pride, foolishness. <sup>23</sup>All these evil things come from within and defile a man.”

Ministry in Gentile Regions

The “region of Tyre and Sidon” (Matt. 15:21; Mark 7:24) and the Decapolis (Mark 7:31), which bordered the southeastern shore of the Sea of Galilee, were predominantly Gentile territories. Jesus may have come here in order to teach His disciples privately, but His ministry soon extended to non-Jews.

Matthew's and Mark's accounts of Jesus' ministry in these areas reveal the special interests of each writer. As he did earlier in his Gospel (see "Returning to the West Shore" at Matt. 9:18), Matthew omits any details which have possible magical connotations, such as the healing of the deaf man (see Mark 7:33, 34). Rather he emphasizes the role of faith, evident in the exorcism of the Canaanite woman's daughter (Matt. 15:28).

Mark continues to develop his theme of the "messianic secret" (Mark 7:24, 36; see "Healing the Sick" at Matt. 8:14). But the more earnestly Jesus commanded the people to remain silent about what He had done, "the more widely they proclaimed it" (7:36).

A Gentile Shows Her Faith

15:21 Then Jesus went out from there and departed to the region of Tyre and Sidon.<sup>22</sup> And behold, a woman of Canaan came from that region and cried out to Him, saying, "Have mercy on me, O Lord, Son of David! My daughter is severely demon-possessed."

And His disciples came and urged Him, saying, "Send her away, for she cries out after us."

<sup>24</sup>But He answered and said, "I was not sent except to the lost sheep of the house of Israel."

<sup>25</sup>Then she came and worshiped Him, saying, "Lord, help me!"

<sup>26</sup>But He answered and said, "It is not good to take the children's bread and throw it to the little dogs."

<sup>27</sup>And she said, "Yes, Lord, yet even the little dogs eat the crumbs which fall from their masters' table."

<sup>28</sup>Then Jesus answered and said to her, "O woman, great is your faith! Let it be to you as you desire." And her daughter was healed from that very hour.

Jesus Heals Great Multitudes

<sup>29</sup>Jesus departed from there, skirted the Sea of Galilee, and went up on the mountain and sat down there.<sup>30</sup> Then great multitudes came to Him, having with them the lame, blind, mute, maimed, and many others; and they laid them down at Jesus' feet, and He healed them.<sup>31</sup> So the multitude marveled when they saw the mute speaking, the maimed made whole, the lame walking, and the blind seeing; and they glorified the God of Israel.

Gentiles Believe

7:24 From there He arose and went to the region of Tyre and Sidon.<sup>a</sup> And He entered a house and wanted no one to know it, but He could not be hidden.<sup>25</sup> For a woman whose young daughter had an unclean spirit heard about Him, and she came and fell at His feet.<sup>26</sup> The woman was a Greek, a Syro-Phoenician by birth, and she kept asking Him to cast the demon out of her daughter.<sup>27</sup> But Jesus said to her, "Let the children be filled first, for it is not good to take the children's bread and throw it to the little dogs."

<sup>28</sup>And she answered and said to Him, "Yes, Lord, yet even the little dogs under the table eat from the children's crumbs."

<sup>29</sup>Then He said to her, "For this saying go your way; the demon has gone out of your daughter."

<sup>30</sup>And when she had come to her house, she found the demon gone out, and her daughter lying on the bed.

Jesus Heals a Deaf-Mute

<sup>31</sup>Again, departing from the region of Tyre and Sidon, He came through the midst of the region of Decapolis to the Sea of Galilee.<sup>32</sup> Then

WHO GETS THE CHILDREN'S BREAD? (MARK 7:27)

While Jesus was in the Gentile territory of Phoenicia, He was approached by a woman who was "a Greek, a Syro-Phoenician by birth" (Mark 7:26). She was a member of the Greek-speaking ruling class of Phoenicia. Citizens of Phoenician cities like Tyre and Sidon had long been influenced by Greek culture. This particular woman belonged to a class of people who often took for themselves the grain raised by poor Jews living in these regions.

That this powerful woman must come to a Jewish prophet and beg help for her daughter suggests a reversal of roles (Mark 7:25). Jesus challenged the woman's faith. Just as her class may have been taking the bread of poor Jews in neighboring areas, the "bread" of miracles from Israel's God belonged to Israel first of all. Israel had priority before Gentiles during Jesus' earthly ministry just as one's children had priority over dogs (7:27).

Jesus put the woman off with the expression "little dogs," but He did not insult her as harshly as it may sound to our ears today. Jewish people viewed dogs negatively, as scavengers, the way we today might view rats. As a well-to-do Greek, however, the woman was more likely to think of dogs as household pets. By willingly acknowledging her secondary place, yet also refusing to settle for anything less than a miracle, she demonstrated her humility and faith, and thus won her request.

they brought to Him one who was deaf and had an impediment in his speech, and they begged Him to put His hand on him. <sup>33</sup>And He took him aside from the multitude, and put His fingers in his ears, and He spat and touched his tongue. <sup>34</sup>Then, looking up to heaven, He sighed, and said to him, “Ephphatha,” that is, “Be opened.”

<sup>35</sup>Immediately his ears were opened, and the impediment of his tongue was loosed, and he spoke plainly. <sup>36</sup>Then He commanded them that they should tell no one; but the more He commanded them, the more widely they proclaimed it. <sup>37</sup>And they were astonished beyond measure, saying, “He has done all things well. He makes both the deaf to hear and the mute to speak.”

Feeding the 4,000

The feeding of 4,000 people is a miracle similar to the feeding of the 5,000 (see “Feeding the 5,000” at Matt. 14:13). Indeed, the similarities between the two feeding miracles has led some to suggest that the story of feeding 4,000 is simply a variation of the earlier account. It seems implausible that Jesus’ disciples would respond in precisely the same way on this later occasion—questioning how to feed so many people (Matt. 15:33)—if they had witnessed the earlier miracle (see Matt. 14:15–17).

Still, others suggest that this miracle in Gentile territory is the complement to the previous miraculous feeding of Jews. The numbers of loaves, baskets, and people in the two stories differ. Furthermore, the disciples simply could not comprehend the true power of God in Jesus’ miracles. Mark commented specifically that they did not properly understand the first feeding miracle (Mark 6:52). Both he and Matthew report that Jesus later chastised His disciples for failing to remember His ability to provide bread, demonstrated by these two miracles (Matt. 16:9, 10; Mark 8:17–21).

15:32 Now Jesus called His disciples to Himself and said, “I have compassion on the multitude, because they have now continued with Me three days and have nothing to eat. And I do not want to send them away hungry, lest they faint on the way.”

<sup>33</sup>Then His disciples said to Him, “Where could we get enough bread in the wilderness to fill such a great multitude?”

<sup>34</sup>Jesus said to them, “How many loaves do you have?”

And they said, “Seven, and a few little fish.”

<sup>35</sup>So He commanded the multitude to sit down on the ground. <sup>36</sup>And He took the seven loaves and the fish and gave thanks, broke them and gave them to His disciples; and the disciples gave to the multitude. <sup>37</sup>So they all ate and were filled, and they took up seven large baskets full of the fragments that were left. <sup>38</sup>Now those who ate were four thousand men, besides women and children. <sup>39</sup>And He sent away the multitude, got into the boat, and came to the region of Magdala.<sup>a</sup>

Mark 8:1–10

8:1 In those days, the multitude being very great and having nothing to eat, Jesus called His disciples to Him and said to them, <sup>2</sup>“I have compassion on the multitude, because they have now continued with Me three days and have nothing to eat. <sup>3</sup>And if I send them away hungry to their own houses, they will faint on the way; for some of them have come from afar.”

<sup>4</sup>Then His disciples answered Him, “How can one satisfy these people with bread here in the wilderness?”

<sup>5</sup>He asked them, “How many loaves do you have?”

And they said, “Seven.”

<sup>6</sup>So He commanded the multitude to sit down on the ground. And He took the seven loaves and gave thanks, broke them and gave them to His disciples to set before them; and they set them before the multitude. <sup>7</sup>They also had a few small fish; and having blessed them, He said to set them also before them. <sup>8</sup>So they ate and were filled, and they took up seven large baskets of leftover fragments. <sup>9</sup>Now those who had eaten were about four thousand. And He sent them away, <sup>10</sup>immediately got into the boat with His disciples, and came to the region of Dalmanutha.

Teaching About the Pharisees

The Gospel of Mark, in one of its characteristic features, consistently describes Jesus’ disciples as having trouble understanding their Teacher. That tendency toward misunderstanding is evident in two accounts from Mark and Matthew concerning the Pharisees. Following a dispute with the Pharisees regarding Jesus’ miracles (Mark 8:11, 12), Jesus warned His disciples to “beware of the leaven of the Pharisees” (8:15). His disciples believed He was chastising them for a lack of provisions (8:16). A lack of food was certainly no problem for Jesus, and reminding them of the two miraculous feedings, Jesus asked, “How is it you do not understand?” (8:21).

Mark seems to use the story of a blind man in Bethsaida to illustrate the disciple's own plight. Just as the man only gradually regained his sight through Jesus' ministry (Mark 8:23–25), so also the disciples only gradually, and with much repeated effort, came to see who Jesus was (see "The Christ and His Disciples" at Matt. 16:13).

By contrast Matthew shows the disciples being able to understand what Jesus was teaching them, albeit with a little prompting (Matt. 16:8–12). The Pharisees and Sadducees were more interested in testing Jesus (16:1) than in considering the significance of His ministry, and this spiritual insensitivity receives more attention in Matthew's Gospel.

- Matthew 16:1–12
- Mark 8:11–26

Matthew 16:1–12

The Pharisees and Sadducees Seek a Sign

16:1 Then the Pharisees and Sadducees came, and testing Him asked that He would show them a sign from heaven. <sup>2</sup>He answered and said to them, "When it is evening you say, 'It will be fair weather, for the sky is red'; <sup>3</sup>and in the morning, 'It will be foul weather today, for the sky is red and threatening.' Hypocrites!<sup>a</sup> You know how to discern the face of the sky, but you cannot discern the signs of the times. <sup>4</sup>A wicked and adulterous generation seeks after a sign, and no sign shall be given to it except the sign of the prophet<sup>a</sup> Jonah." And He left them and departed.

The Leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees

<sup>5</sup>Now when His disciples had come to the other side, they had forgotten to take bread. <sup>6</sup>Then Jesus said to them, "Take heed and beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and the Sadducees."

<sup>7</sup>And they reasoned among themselves, saying, "It is because we have taken no bread."

<sup>8</sup>But Jesus, being aware of it, said to them, "O you of little faith, why do you reason among yourselves because you have brought no bread?"<sup>a</sup>

<sup>9</sup>Do you not yet understand, or remember the five loaves of the five thousand and how many baskets you took up? <sup>10</sup>Nor the seven loaves of the four thousand and how many large baskets you took up? <sup>11</sup>How is it you do not understand that I did not speak to you concerning bread?—but to beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees." <sup>12</sup>Then they understood that He did not tell them to beware of the leaven of bread, but of the doctrine of the Pharisees and Sadducees.

Mark 8:14 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text and M-Text read they. 8:17 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits still. 8:26 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text reads "Do not even go into the town."

Mark 8:11–26

The Pharisees Seek a Sign

8:11 Then the Pharisees came out and began to dispute with Him, seeking from Him a sign from heaven, testing Him. <sup>12</sup>But He sighed deeply in His spirit, and said, "Why does this generation seek a sign? Assuredly, I say to you, no sign shall be given to this generation."

Beware of the Leaven of the Pharisees and Herod

<sup>13</sup>And He left them, and getting into the boat again, departed to the other side. <sup>14</sup>Now the disciples<sup>a</sup> had forgotten to take bread, and they did not have more than one loaf with them in the boat. <sup>15</sup>Then He charged them, saying, "Take heed, beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and the leaven of Herod."

<sup>16</sup>And they reasoned among themselves, saying, "It is because we have no bread."

<sup>17</sup>But Jesus, being aware of it, said to them, "Why do you reason because you have no bread? Do you not yet perceive nor understand? Is your heart still<sup>a</sup> hardened? <sup>18</sup>Having eyes, do you not see? And having ears, do you not hear? And do you not remember? <sup>19</sup>When I broke the five loaves for the five thousand, how many baskets full of fragments did you take up?"

They said to Him, "Twelve."

<sup>20</sup>"Also, when I broke the seven for the four thousand, how many large baskets full of fragments did you take up?"

And they said, "Seven."

<sup>21</sup>So He said to them, "How is it you do not understand?"

A Blind Man Healed at Bethsaida

<sup>22</sup>Then He came to Bethsaida; and they brought a blind man to Him, and begged Him to touch him. <sup>23</sup>So He took the blind man by the hand and led him out of the town. And when He had spit on his eyes and put His hands on him, He asked him if he saw anything.

<sup>24</sup>And he looked up and said, "I see men like trees, walking."

<sup>25</sup>Then He put His hands on his eyes again and made him look up. And he was restored and saw everyone clearly. <sup>26</sup>Then He sent him away to his house, saying, "Neither go into the town, nor tell anyone in the town."<sup>a</sup>

THE CITY OF SEVERAL NAMES (MATT. 16:13)

In the city of Caesarea Philippi, about 25 miles north of the Sea of Galilee, Jesus asked His disciples, “Who do you say that I am?” They first answered with several names—John the Baptist, Elijah, Jeremiah—before one disciple acknowledged Jesus as Israel’s promised Savior (Matt. 16:13–16). Interestingly, Jesus’ question would be answered in a city that went through a series of name changes, each time to honor some god or man other than the Son of God.

The name this city had before the Hellenistic period (beginning c. 332 B.C.) is unknown. According to the Greek historian Polybius, by the time of the Seleucid king Antiochus III (c. 223–187 B.C.) the site was called “Panion,” after the Greek god Pan.

The northern district of Galilee was given to Herod the Great in 20 B.C. Herod subsequently built a great temple there in honor of the emperor Augustus Caesar. According to the Jewish historian Josephus, this district was bequeathed to Herod’s son Philip when he succeeded his father in 4 B.C. Philip enlarged the city and renamed it “Caesarea” in honor of Caesar. “Philippi” was added to the name to distinguish it from Caesarea Maritima, the great Mediterranean coastal city.

Five decades later Agrippa II enlarged the city even more and renamed it “Neronias,” after the Roman emperor Nero. This name seems to have been used only rarely, and the name reverted back to Paneas (i.e., Panion) during the Byzantine period (after A.D. 330).

The compound name Caesarea Philippi was thus the name of the town when Jesus visited there (Matt. 16:13). In a city whose various names remembered Pan, Caesar, Nero, and Philip the tetrarch, a disciple answered his Teacher, “You are the Christ, the Son of the living God” (Matt. 16:16).

still needed to learn much about the nature of Jesus’ messiahship, as was demonstrated when Peter rejected Jesus’ first prediction of His eventual death and resurrection in Jerusalem (Matt. 16:21–23). They were still focused not on “the things of God, but the things of men” (Mark 8:33).

Jesus’ disciples still held the popular conception that the Messiah would bring political and economic success to God’s people. Their misconception was exposed by the call for a true disciple to “deny himself, and take up his cross” (Matt. 16:24; Mark 8:34). Thus, Jesus emphasized placing spiritual life ahead of physical life (Mark 8:36). The Son of Man Himself was willing to lose His life to bring spiritual benefit to all.

Peter’s Confession of Faith

16:13 When Jesus came into the region of Caesarea Philippi, He asked His disciples, saying, “Who do men say that I, the Son of Man, am?”

<sup>14</sup>So they said, “Some say John the Baptist, some Elijah, and others Jeremiah or one of the prophets.”

<sup>15</sup>He said to them, “But who do you say that I am?”

<sup>16</sup>Simon Peter answered and said, “You are the Christ, the Son of the living God.”

<sup>17</sup>Jesus answered and said to him, “Blessed are you, Simon Bar-Jonah, for flesh and blood has not revealed this to you, but My Father who is in heaven. <sup>18</sup>And I also say to you that you are Peter, and on this rock I will build My church, and the gates of Hades shall not prevail against it. <sup>19</sup>And I will give you the keys of the kingdom of heaven, and whatever you bind on earth will be bound in heaven, and whatever you loose on earth will be loosed<sup>a</sup> in heaven.”

<sup>20</sup>Then He commanded His disciples that they should tell no one that He was Jesus the Christ.

The Way of the Cross

<sup>21</sup>From that time Jesus began to show to His disciples that He must go to Jerusalem, and suffer many things from the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and be raised the third day.

<sup>22</sup>Then Peter took Him aside and began to rebuke Him, saying, “Far be it from You, Lord; this shall not happen to You!”

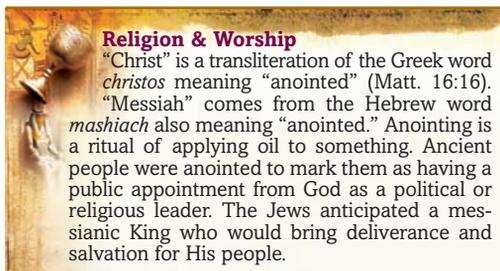

<sup>23</sup>But He turned and said to Peter, “Get behind Me, Satan! You are an offense to Me, for you are not mindful of the things of God, but the things of men.”

<sup>24</sup>Then Jesus said to His disciples, “If anyone desires to come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me. <sup>25</sup>For whoever desires to save his life will lose it, but whoever

16:19 <sup>a</sup>Or will have been bound . . . will have been loosed loses his life for My sake will find it. <sup>26</sup>For what profit is it to a man if he gains the whole world, and loses his own soul? Or what will a man give in exchange for his soul? <sup>27</sup>For the Son of Man will come in the glory of His Father with His angels, and then He will reward each according to his works. <sup>28</sup>Assuredly, I say to you, there are some standing here who shall not taste death till they see the Son of Man coming in His kingdom.”

Religion & Worship

“Christ” is a transliteration of the Greek word christos meaning “anointed” (Matt. 16:16). “Messiah” comes from the Hebrew word mashiach also meaning “anointed.” Anointing is a ritual of applying oil to something. Ancient people were anointed to mark them as having a public appointment from God as a political or religious leader. The Jews anticipated a messianic King who would bring deliverance and salvation for His people.

Mark 8:27—9:1

Christ and the Cross

8:27 Now Jesus and His disciples went out to the towns of Caesarea Philippi; and on the road, He asked His disciples, saying to them, “Who do men say that I am?”

<sup>28</sup>So they answered, “John the Baptist; but some say, Elijah; and others, one of the prophets.”

<sup>29</sup>He said to them, “But who do you say that I am?”

Peter answered and said to Him, “You are the Christ.”

<sup>30</sup>Then He strictly warned them that they should tell no one about Him.

<sup>31</sup>And He began to teach them that the Son of Man must suffer many things, and be rejected by the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and after three days rise again. <sup>32</sup>He spoke this word openly. Then Peter took Him aside and began to rebuke Him. <sup>33</sup>But when He had turned around and looked at His disciples, He rebuked Peter, saying, “Get behind Me, Satan! For you are not mindful of the things of God, but the things of men.”

<sup>34</sup>When He had called the people to Himself, with His disciples also, He said to them, “Whoever desires to come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me. <sup>35</sup>For whoever desires to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for My sake and the gospel’s will save it. <sup>36</sup>For what will it profit a man if he gains the whole world, and loses his own soul? <sup>37</sup>Or what will a man give in exchange for his soul? <sup>38</sup>For whoever is ashamed of Me and My words in this adulterous and sinful generation, of him the Son of Man also will be ashamed when He comes in the glory of His Father with the holy angels.”

9<sup>1</sup>And He said to them, “Assuredly, I say to you that there are some standing here who will not taste death till they see the kingdom of God present with power.”

Luke 9:18–27

Peter’s Confession of Christ

9:18 And it happened, as He was alone praying, that His disciples joined Him, and He asked them, saying, “Who do the crowds say that I am?”

<sup>19</sup>So they answered and said, “John the Baptist, but some say Elijah; and others say that one of the old prophets has risen again.”

<sup>20</sup>He said to them, “But who do you say that I am?”

Peter answered and said, “The Christ of God.”

<sup>21</sup>And He strictly warned and commanded them to tell this to no one, <sup>22</sup>saying, “The Son of Man must suffer many things, and be rejected by the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and be raised the third day.”

<sup>23</sup>Then He said to them all, “If anyone desires to come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily,<sup>a</sup> and follow Me. <sup>24</sup>For whoever desires to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for My sake will save it. <sup>25</sup>For what profit is it to a man if he gains the whole world, and is himself destroyed or lost? <sup>26</sup>For whoever is ashamed of Me and My words, of him the Son of Man will be ashamed when He comes in His own glory, and in His Father’s, and of the holy angels. <sup>27</sup>But I tell you truly, there are some standing here who shall not taste death till they see the kingdom of God.”

The Transfiguration

Jesus’ transfiguration was a visionary revelation (Matt. 17:9) of the divine glory that the Son (Mark 9:7) possessed from His incarnation (see John 1:14). A brief scene in Luke’s Gospel clarifies what was at stake, not only in the vision, but in Jesus’ ministry: Jesus discussed His “decease” with Moses and Elijah (Luke 9:31). The Greek word translated “decease” (exodos) refers in literary Greek to the process of “death.” It recalls the “Exodus” from Egypt as an earlier process of divine redemption. Thus, Jesus’ impending death and resurrection, also an “Exodus,” would further extend God’s redemption to humanity.

Jesus Transfigured on the Mount

17 :1 Now after six days Jesus took Peter, James, and John his brother, led them up on a high mountain by themselves; <sup>2</sup>and He was transfigured before them. His face shone like the sun, and His clothes became as white as the light. <sup>3</sup>And behold, Moses and Elijah appeared to them, talking with Him. <sup>4</sup>Then Peter answered and said to Jesus, “Lord, it is good for us to be here; if You wish, let us<sup>a</sup> make here three tabernacles: one for You, one for Moses, and one for Elijah.”

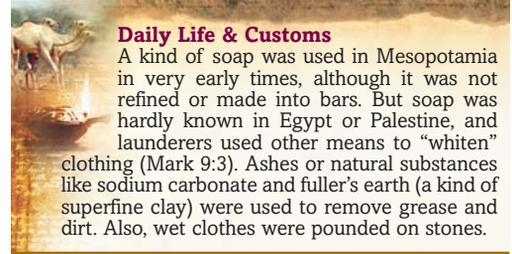

<sup>5</sup>While he was still speaking, behold, a bright cloud overshadowed them; and suddenly a voice came out of the cloud, saying, “This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased. Hear Him!” <sup>6</sup>And when the disciples heard it, they fell on their faces and were greatly afraid. <sup>7</sup>But Jesus came and touched them and said, “Arise, and do not be afraid.” <sup>8</sup>When they had lifted up their eyes, they saw no one but Jesus only.

<sup>9</sup>Now as they came down from the mountain, Jesus commanded them, saying, “Tell the vision to no one until the Son of Man is risen from the dead.”

<sup>10</sup>And His disciples asked Him, saying, “Why then do the scribes say that Elijah must come first?”

<sup>11</sup>Jesus answered and said to them, “Indeed, Elijah is coming first<sup>a</sup> and will restore all things.

<sup>12</sup>But I say to you that Elijah has come already, and they did not know him but did to him whatever they wished. Likewise the Son of Man is also about to suffer at their hands.” <sup>13</sup>Then the disciples understood that He spoke to them of John the Baptist.

Daily Life & Customs

A kind of soap was used in Mesopotamia in very early times, although it was not refined or made into bars. But soap was hardly known in Egypt or Palestine, and launderers used other means to “whiten” clothing (Mark 9:3). Ashes or natural substances like sodium carbonate and fuller’s earth (a kind of superfine clay) were used to remove grease and dirt. Also, wet clothes were pounded on stones.

Mark 9:2–13

9 :2 Now after six days Jesus took Peter, James, and John, and led them up on a high mountain apart by themselves; and He was transfigured before them. <sup>3</sup>His clothes became shining, exceedingly white, like snow, such as no launderer on earth can whiten them. <sup>4</sup>And Elijah appeared to them with Moses, and they were talking with Jesus. <sup>5</sup>Then Peter answered and said to Jesus, “Rabbi, it is good for us to be here; and let us make three tabernacles: one for You,

<sup>7</sup>And a cloud came and overshadowed them; and a voice came out of the cloud, saying, “This is My beloved Son. Hear Him!”<sup>8</sup>Suddenly, when they had looked around, they saw no one anymore, but only Jesus with themselves.

<sup>9</sup>Now as they came down from the mountain, He commanded them that they should tell no one the things they had seen, till the Son of Man had risen from the dead.<sup>10</sup>So they kept this word to themselves, questioning what the rising from the dead meant.

<sup>11</sup>And they asked Him, saying, “Why do the scribes say that Elijah must come first?”

<sup>12</sup>Then He answered and told them, “Indeed, Elijah is coming first and restores all things. And how is it written concerning the Son of Man, that He must suffer many things and be treated with contempt?<sup>13</sup>But I say to you that Elijah has also come, and they did to him whatever they wished, as it is written of him.”

Luke 9:28–36

9:28 Now it came to pass, about eight days after these sayings, that He took Peter, John, and James and went up on the mountain to pray.<sup>29</sup>As He prayed, the appearance of His face was altered, and His robe became white and glistening.<sup>30</sup>And behold, two men talked with Him, who were Moses and Elijah,<sup>31</sup>who appeared in glory and spoke of His decease which He was about to accomplish at Jerusalem.<sup>32</sup>But Peter and those with him were heavy with sleep; and when they were fully awake, they saw His glory and the two men who stood with Him.<sup>33</sup>Then it happened, as they were parting from Him, that Peter said to Jesus, “Master, it is good for us to be here; and let us make three tabernacles: one for You, one for Moses, and one for Elijah”—not knowing what he said.

<sup>34</sup>While he was saying this, a cloud came and overshadowed them; and they were fearful

A possible location for the Mount of Transfiguration (Luke 9:28) is Mount Hermon, in modern Lebanon. This is part of a long mountain range. #### Faithless Generation

The disciples continued in their struggle to develop a faithful response to what God was doing in Jesus. Their inability to perform an exorcism led Jesus to despair about the “faithless generation” and the limited time remaining for Him to reach them (Mark 9:19). Continuing his characteristic emphasis on faith, Matthew explained that the disciples’ failure to do Jesus’ work was rooted in their own “unbelief” (Matt. 17:19, 20). They still had not grasped the spiritual aspect of Jesus’ messianic mission, so they could only respond to the predictions of His impending death and resurrection with misunderstanding (Mark 9:31, 32; Luke 9:44, 45) and sorrow (Matt. 17:22, 23).

The Need for Faith

17:14 And when they had come to the multitude, a man came to Him, kneeling down to Him and saying,<sup>15</sup>“Lord, have mercy on my son, for he is an epileptic<sup>a</sup> and suffers severely; for he often falls into the fire and often into the water.<sup>16</sup>So I brought him to Your disciples, but they could not cure him.”

<sup>17</sup>Then Jesus answered and said, “O faithless and perverse generation, how long shall I be with you? How long shall I bear with you? Bring him here to Me.”<sup>18</sup>And Jesus rebuked the demon, and it came out of him; and the child was cured from that very hour.

<sup>19</sup>Then the disciples came to Jesus privately and said, “Why could we not cast it out?”

<sup>20</sup>So Jesus said to them, “Because of your unbelief;<sup>a</sup> for assuredly, I say to you, if you have faith as a mustard seed, you will say to this mountain, ‘Move from here to there,’ and it will move; and nothing will be impossible for you.<sup>21</sup>However, this kind does not go out except by prayer and fasting.”<sup>a</sup>

<sup>22</sup>Now while they were staying<sup>a</sup> in Galilee, Jesus said to them, “The Son of Man is about to be betrayed into the hands of men,<sup>23</sup>and they will kill Him, and the third day He will be raised up.” And they were exceedingly sorrowful.

Mark 9:14–32

O Faithless Generation

9:14 And when He came to the disciples, He saw a great multitude around them, and scribes disputing with them. <sup>15</sup>Immediately, when they saw Him, all the people were greatly amazed, and running to Him, greeted Him. <sup>16</sup>And He asked the scribes, “What are you discussing with them?”

<sup>17</sup>Then one of the crowd answered and said, “Teacher, I brought You my son, who has a mute spirit. <sup>18</sup>And wherever it seizes him, it throws him down; he foams at the mouth, gnashes his teeth, and becomes rigid. So I spoke to Your disciples, that they should cast it out, but they could not.”

<sup>19</sup>He answered him and said, “O faithless generation, how long shall I be with you? How long shall I bear with you? Bring him to Me.” <sup>20</sup>Then they brought him to Him. And when he saw Him, immediately the spirit convulsed him, and he fell on the ground and wallowed, foaming at the mouth.

<sup>21</sup>So He asked his father, “How long has this been happening to him?”

And he said, “From childhood. <sup>22</sup>And often he has thrown him both into the fire and into the water to destroy him. But if You can do anything, have compassion on us and help us.”

<sup>23</sup>Jesus said to him, “If you can believe,<sup>a</sup> all things are possible to him who believes.”

<sup>24</sup>Immediately the father of the child cried out and said with tears, “Lord, I believe; help my unbelief!”

<sup>25</sup>When Jesus saw that the people came running together, He rebuked the unclean spirit, saying to it, “Deaf and dumb spirit, I command you, come out of him and enter him no more!” <sup>26</sup>Then the spirit cried out, convulsed him greatly, and came out of him. And he became as one dead, so that many said, “He is dead.” <sup>27</sup>But Jesus took him by the hand and lifted him up, and he arose.

<sup>28</sup>And when He had come into the house, His disciples asked Him privately, “Why could we not cast it out?”

<sup>29</sup>So He said to them, “This kind can come out by nothing but prayer and fasting.”<sup>a</sup>

<sup>30</sup>Then they departed from there and passed through Galilee, and He did not want anyone to know it. <sup>31</sup>For He taught His disciples and said to them, “The Son of Man is being betrayed into the hands of men, and they will kill Him. And after He is killed, He will rise the third day.” <sup>32</sup>But they did not understand this saying, and were afraid to ask Him.

Luke 9:37–45

A Boy Is Healed

9:37 Now it happened on the next day, when they had come down from the mountain, that a great multitude met Him. <sup>38</sup>Suddenly a man from the multitude cried out, saying, “Teacher, I implore You, look on my son, for he is my only child. <sup>39</sup>And behold, a spirit seizes him, and he suddenly cries out; it convulses him so that he foams at the mouth; and it departs from him with great difficulty, bruising him. <sup>40</sup>So I implored Your disciples to cast it out, but they could not.”

<sup>41</sup>Then Jesus answered and said, “O faithless and perverse generation, how long shall I be with you and bear with you? Bring your son here.” <sup>42</sup>And as he was still coming, the demon threw him down and convulsed him. Then Jesus rebuked the unclean spirit, healed the child, and gave him back to his father.

Jesus Again Predicts His Death

<sup>43</sup>And they were all amazed at the majesty of God.

But while everyone marveled at all the things which Jesus did, He said to His disciples, <sup>44</sup>“Let these words sink down into your ears, for the Son of Man is about to be betrayed into the hands of men.” <sup>45</sup>But they did not understand this saying, and it was hidden from them so that they did not perceive it; and they were afraid to ask Him about this saying.

Being Christ's Disciple

During a visit to Capernaum, Jesus began teaching His disciples about the differences between the kingdom of God that He proclaimed and the political kingdom which most people expected the Messiah to establish. Matthew's unique story about the temple tax (Matt. 17:24–27) points out that membership in God's kingdom is not about domination, such as receiving tribute from “customs or taxes,” but about becoming children of God. Each of the Synoptic Gospels emphasizes that one's status in God's kingdom depends upon receiving others and being received oneself as a child (Matt. 18:1–5; Mark 9:33–38; Luke 9:46–48).

Jesus made two points regarding membership in the kingdom. First, membership in God's kingdom is open to a broad range of people. All are to be considered God's children unless their actions in opposition to God's work demand that they be excluded (Mark 9:40; Luke 9:49, 50). Jesus' second point identified such opposing acts. Any action that caused one of these "little ones" to fall was in danger of judgment (Mark 9:42; see Matt. 18:6–9) and of being removed from the community of faith (Matt. 18:7).

Peter and His Master Pay Their Taxes

17:24 When they had come to Capernaum,<sup>a</sup> those who received the temple tax came to Peter and said, "Does your Teacher not pay the temple tax?"

<sup>25</sup>He said, "Yes."

And when he had come into the house, Jesus anticipated him, saying, "What do you think, Simon? From whom do the kings of the earth take customs or taxes, from their sons or from strangers?"

<sup>26</sup>Peter said to Him, "From strangers."

Jesus said to him, "Then the sons are free. <sup>27</sup>Nevertheless, lest we offend them, go to the sea, cast in a hook, and take the fish that comes up first. And when you have opened its mouth, you will find a piece of money;<sup>a</sup> take that and give it to them for Me and you."

Who Is the Greatest?

18<sup>1</sup>At that time the disciples came to Jesus saying, "Who then is greatest in the kingdom of heaven?"

Allow No Occasion for Sin

<sup>6</sup>"Whoever causes one of these little ones who believe in Me to sin, it would be better for him if a millstone were hung around his neck, and he were drowned in the depth of the sea. <sup>7</sup>Woe to the world because of offenses! For offenses must come, but woe to that man by whom the offense comes!

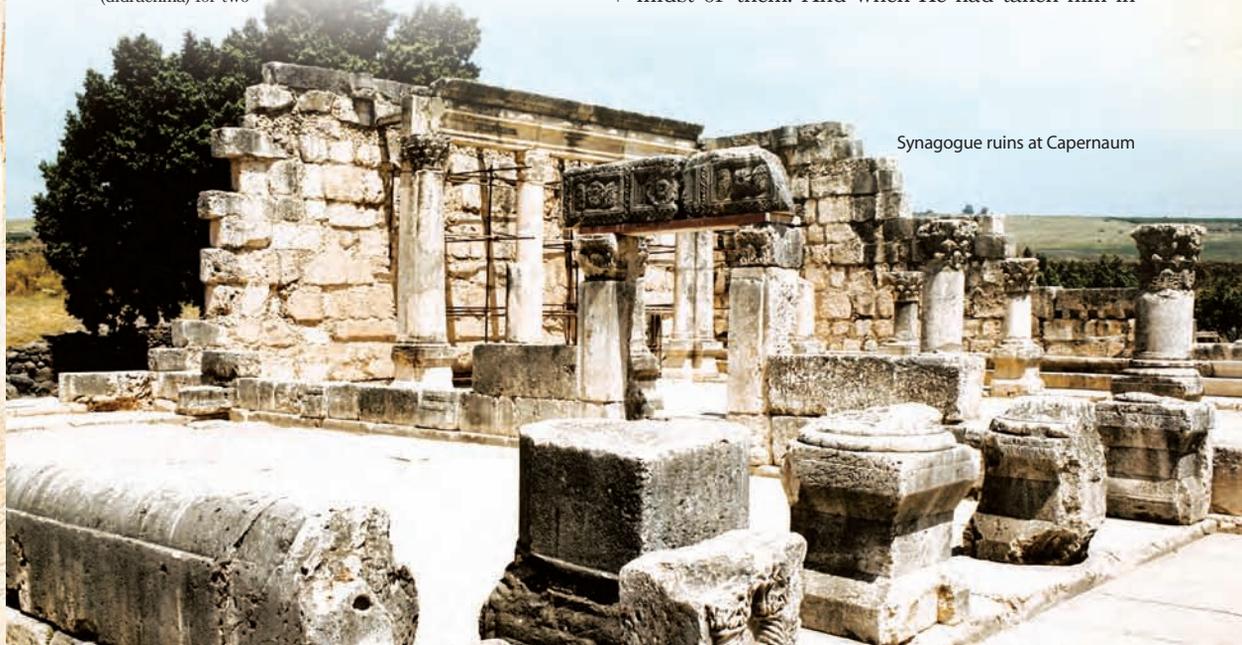

<sup>8</sup>"If your hand or foot causes you to sin, cut it off and cast it from you. It is better for you to enter into life lame or maimed, rather than having two hands or two feet, to be cast into the everlasting fire. <sup>9</sup>And if your eye causes you to sin, pluck it out and cast it from you. It is better for you to enter into life with one eye, rather than having two eyes, to be cast into hell fire."

The Way of Discipleship

9:33 Then He came to Capernaum. And when He was in the house He asked them, "What was it you disputed among yourselves on the road?" <sup>34</sup>But they kept silent, for on the road they had disputed among themselves who would be the greatest. <sup>35</sup>And He sat down, called the twelve, and said to them, "If anyone desires to be first, he shall be last of all and servant of all." <sup>36</sup>Then He took a little child and set him in the midst of them. And when He had taken him in

His arms, He said to them, <sup>37</sup>“Whoever receives one of these little children in My name receives Me; and whoever receives Me, receives not Me but Him who sent Me.”

<sup>38</sup>Now John answered Him, saying, “Teacher, we saw someone who does not follow us casting out demons in Your name, and we forbade him because he does not follow us.”

<sup>39</sup>But Jesus said, “Do not forbid him, for no one who works a miracle in My name can soon afterward speak evil of Me. <sup>40</sup>For he who is not against us is on our<sup>a</sup> side. <sup>41</sup>For whoever gives you a cup of water to drink in My name, because you belong to Christ, assuredly, I say to you, he will by no means lose his reward.

Geography & Environment

Capernaum was a village on the north shore of the Sea of Galilee. According to the Gospels (Matt. 4:13), the city became a kind of headquarters for Jesus and His disciples. Often the Gospel accounts mention a house in Capernaum, sometimes describing it simply as “the house” (Mark 9:33). It probably belonged to Simon Peter, and has been the object of excavation in recent decades.

Jesus Warns of Offenses

<sup>42</sup>“But whoever causes one of these little ones who believe in Me to stumble, it would be better for him if a millstone were hung around his neck, and he were thrown into the sea. <sup>43</sup>If your hand causes you to sin, cut it off. It is better for you to enter into life maimed, rather than having two hands, to go to hell, into the fire that shall never be quenched— <sup>44</sup>where

*‘Their worm does not die
And the fire is not quenched.’<sup>a</sup>*

<sup>45</sup>And if your foot causes you to sin, cut it off. It is better for you to enter life lame, rather than having two feet, to be cast into hell, into the fire that shall never be quenched— <sup>46</sup>where

*‘Their worm does not die
And the fire is not quenched.’<sup>a</sup>*

<sup>47</sup>And if your eye causes you to sin, pluck it out. It is better for you to enter the kingdom of God with one eye, rather than having two eyes, to be cast into hell fire—<sup>48</sup>where

And the fire is not quenched.’<sup>a</sup>*

Tasteless Salt Is Worthless

<sup>49</sup>“For everyone will be seasoned with fire,<sup>a</sup> and every sacrifice will be seasoned with salt. <sup>50</sup>Salt is good, but if the salt loses its flavor, how will you season it? Have salt in yourselves, and have peace with one another.”

Luke 9:46–50

True Greatness

9:46 Then a dispute arose among them as to which of them would be greatest. <sup>47</sup>And Jesus, perceiving the thought of their heart, took a little child and set him by Him, <sup>48</sup>and said to them, “Whoever receives this little child in My name receives Me; and whoever receives Me receives Him who sent Me. For he who is least among you all will be great.”

Jesus Forbids Sectarianism

<sup>49</sup>Now John answered and said, “Master, we saw someone casting out demons in Your name, and we forbade him because he does not follow with us.”

FROM GALILEE TO JERUSALEM

The second traditional segment of Jesus’ ministry is His journey from His native Galilee toward Jerusalem during the final year of His life. The Synoptic Gospels relate only one visit to Jerusalem by Jesus during His ministry (Matt. 19:1), a visit that ended with His crucifixion. The Gospel of John, however, reports a series of visits corresponding to the traditional Jewish pilgrimage feasts (see “The Galilean Ministry” at John 1:35).

*The Teacher was moving steadfastly toward the climax of
His earthly ministry.*

Only Luke gives extended attention to Jesus’ specific journey from Galilee to Judea. Much of the information about Jesus’ ministry that is unique to the Gospel of Luke is found in a large section (Luke 9:51–18:14) in which Luke emphasizes Jesus’ ultimate destination (see Luke 9:53; 13:22, 33). Teachings on the meaning of discipleship are given by a Teacher who was moving steadfastly toward the climax of His earthly ministry. See “Jesus’ Final Journey” at Matt. 8:18.

TRANSITION

Attending the Feast of Tabernacles

One of Jesus' several visits to Jerusalem recorded in the Gospel of John was to attend the Feast of Tabernacles. Jesus made that trip to Jerusalem secretly, but began to openly teach in the temple about midway through the feast (John 7:2, 10–14). If the unidentified feast of John 5:1 refers to either Passover or Tabernacles of A.D. 28, this Feast of Tabernacles would have occurred during the fall of A.D. 29 (see "Jesus' Second Visit to Jerusalem" at John 5:1).

At the time of this celebration of the Feast of Tabernacles opposition to Jesus' ministry continued to mount (John 7:1, 2). Yet John's Gospel shows that Jesus remained firmly in control of the events: His "time" was not governed by the world's schedule, but by the Father (7:6, 8). Jesus refused to be manipulated by His family into revealing Himself before this divinely ordained time (7:3–8), and His opponents failed in their attempt to seize Him "because His hour had not yet come" (7:30).

Jesus used the traditional practices of the Jewish religious festival to set the stage for His message. The Feast of Tabernacles had come to be closely associated with prayers for the fall rains that were necessary to assure a bountiful springtime harvest. On the final day of the festival, the priest would present a special offering of water, along with the daily drink offering of wine, in thanksgiving and prayer to the God who supplies the life-giving rains. It may have been at the very moment of that ritual that Jesus announced, "If anyone thirsts, let him come to Me and drink" (7:37).

Worshippers at the Feast of Tabernacles may have also made associations between the feast and the ancient Israelites' wanderings in the wilderness. In such a case, Jesus could have suggested a connection with the rock that miraculously provided the Israelites with water in the wilderness (Ex. 17:1–6). His promise of "rivers of living water" (John 7:38) is identified by John as referring to the Holy Spirit (7:39).

Jesus' Brothers Disbelieve

7:1 After these things Jesus walked in Galilee; for He did not want to walk in Judea, because the Jews<sup>a</sup> sought to kill Him. <sup>2</sup>Now the Jews' Feast of Tabernacles was at hand. <sup>3</sup>His brothers therefore said to Him, "Depart from here and go into Judea, that Your disciples also may see the works that You are doing. <sup>4</sup>For no one does anything in secret while he himself seeks to be known openly. If You do these things, show Yourself to the world." <sup>5</sup>For even His brothers did not believe in Him.

<sup>6</sup>Then Jesus said to them, "My time has not yet come, but your time is always ready. <sup>7</sup>The world cannot hate you, but it hates Me because I testify of it that its works are evil. <sup>8</sup>You go up to this feast. I am not yet<sup>a</sup> going up to this feast, for My time has not yet fully come." <sup>9</sup>When He had said these things to them, He remained in Galilee.

The Heavenly Scholar

<sup>10</sup>But when His brothers had gone up, then He also went up to the feast, not openly, but as it were in secret. <sup>11</sup>Then the Jews sought Him at the feast, and said, "Where is He?" <sup>12</sup>And there was much complaining among the people concerning Him. Some said, "He is good"; others said, "No, on the contrary, He deceives the people." <sup>13</sup>However, no one spoke openly of Him for fear of the Jews.

<sup>14</sup>Now about the middle of the feast Jesus went up into the temple and taught. <sup>15</sup>And the Jews marveled, saying, "How does this Man know letters, having never studied?"

<sup>16</sup>Jesus<sup>a</sup> answered them and said, "My doctrine is not Mine, but His who sent Me. <sup>17</sup>If anyone wills to do His will, he shall know concerning the doctrine, whether it is from God or whether I speak on My own authority. <sup>18</sup>He who speaks from himself seeks his own glory; but He who seeks the glory of the One who sent Him is true, and no unrighteousness is in Him. <sup>19</sup>Did not Moses give you the law, yet none of you keeps the law? Why do you seek to kill Me?"

<sup>20</sup>The people answered and said, "You have a demon. Who is seeking to kill You?"

<sup>21</sup>Jesus answered and said to them, "I did one work, and you all marvel. <sup>22</sup>Moses therefore gave you circumcision (not that it is from Moses, but from the fathers), and you circumcise a man on the Sabbath. <sup>23</sup>If a man receives circumcision on the Sabbath, so that the law of Moses should not be broken, are you angry with Me because I made a man completely well on the Sabbath? <sup>24</sup>Do not judge according to appearance, but judge with righteous judgment."

Arts & Literature

The literacy rate of any ancient society is hard to estimate. Inscriptions on public buildings, casual graffiti scratched on the walls of Pompeii, and the wide range of things written on papyrus show that writing was not confined to a caste of priests. When the people in Jerusalem were amazed at how Jesus the Galilean could "know letters" (John 7:15), they were surprised that He could teach, not that He could read.

THE SPIRIT AND RIVERS OF LIVING WATER (JOHN 7:38)

The Feast of Tabernacles was celebrated at the end of the grape harvest in September and October. With all harvests completed, the 7 days of this feast were a time for great joy. About halfway through the celebration, Jesus began teaching at the temple (John 7:2, 14), and on the last day He appealed to “the Scripture” (7:37, 38).

What Scripture Jesus had in mind is a mystery since the Old Testament does not speak of “rivers of living water” flowing from a person’s heart. There were passages, however, from which Jewish people seem to have read during the Feast of Tabernacles, such as Zechariah 14 and Ezekiel 47. These texts talked about rivers of living water flowing from Jerusalem or from the temple, and in Jesus’ day, Jewish people often spoke of Jerusalem and the temple as the “navel of the earth.” So it seems that Jesus appealed to the prophecy of water flowing from the temple in the end time.

Most 1st-century Jews would have known of this prophecy. Visitors to the festival watched priests march in solemn procession from the Pool of Siloam into the temple, where they poured out sacred water at the base of the altar. This ritual pointed to the coming rivers of water that the prophets had promised. Those who witnessed the festival event returned home to tell others, and souvenir jars depicting the ritual have been found in other parts of the ancient world.

The Gospel writer John explains Jesus’ promise of “rivers of living water” as referring to the Spirit (John 7:39). His interpretation borrows from the Old Testament prophets who sometimes portrayed the “pouring out” of the Spirit as water (Is. 44:3; Ezek. 36:25–27). In the “rivers of living water” John saw the Holy Spirit which Jesus would send after He had been glorified (John 20:22).

Could This Be the Christ?

<sup>28</sup>Then Jesus cried out, as He taught in the temple, saying, “You both know Me, and you know where I am from; and I have not come of Myself, but He who sent Me is true, whom you do not know. <sup>29</sup>But<sup>a</sup> I know Him, for I am from Him, and He sent Me.”

<sup>30</sup>Therefore they sought to take Him; but no one laid a hand on Him, because His hour had not yet come. <sup>31</sup>And many of the people believed in Him, and said, “When the Christ comes, will He do more signs than these which this Man has done?”

Jesus and the Religious Leaders

<sup>32</sup>The Pharisees heard the crowd murmuring these things concerning Him, and the Pharisees and the chief priests sent officers to take Him. <sup>33</sup>Then Jesus said to them,<sup>a</sup> “I shall be with you a little while longer, and then I go to Him who sent Me. <sup>34</sup>You will seek Me and not find Me, and where I am you cannot come.”

Culture & Society

Educational practice during Jesus’ time was influenced by Greek education (John 7:35), whose centerpiece was the poems of Homer. Hebrew education was less formal, but the parents were charged with teaching their children the history, customs, and laws that in effect make up the Pentateuch, the first five books of the Bible. The Romans had a set of traditional laws that all children were supposed to memorize.

<sup>35</sup>Then the Jews said among themselves, “Where does He intend to go that we shall not find Him? Does He intend to go to the Dispersion among the Greeks and teach the Greeks? <sup>36</sup>What is this thing that He said, ‘You will seek Me and not find Me, and where I am you cannot come?’”

The Promise of the Holy Spirit

<sup>37</sup>On the last day, that great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried out, saying, “If anyone thirsts, let him come to Me and drink. <sup>38</sup>He who believes in Me, as the Scripture has said, out of his heart will flow rivers of living water.” <sup>39</sup>But this He spoke concerning the Spirit, whom those believing<sup>a</sup> in Him would receive; for the Holy<sup>b</sup> Spirit was not yet given, because Jesus was not yet glorified.

Who Is He?

<sup>40</sup>Therefore many<sup>a</sup> from the crowd, when they heard this saying, said, “Truly this is the Prophet.” <sup>41</sup>Others said, “This is the Christ.”

But some said, “Will the Christ come out of Galilee? <sup>42</sup>Has not the Scripture said that the Christ comes from the seed of David and from the town of Bethlehem, where David was?” <sup>43</sup>So there was a division among the people because of Him. <sup>44</sup>Now some of them wanted to take Him, but no one laid hands on Him.

Rejected by the Authorities

<sup>45</sup>Then the officers came to the chief priests and Pharisees, who said to them, “Why have you not brought Him?”

<sup>47</sup>Then the Pharisees answered them, “Are you also deceived? <sup>48</sup>Have any of the rulers or the Pharisees believed in Him? <sup>49</sup>But this crowd that does not know the law is accursed.”

<sup>50</sup>Nicodemus (he who came to Jesus by night,<sup>a</sup> being one of them) said to them, <sup>51</sup>“Does our law judge a man before it hears him and knows what he is doing?”

<sup>52</sup>They answered and said to him, “Are you also from Galilee? Search and look, for no prophet has arisen<sup>a</sup> out of Galilee.”

Forgiving an Adulteress

In this memorable story about a woman caught in adultery, Jesus doodled in the dirt while the crowd, whom He had confronted with their own sins, slowly departed without stoning her. Scholars are divided, however, over whether the story was originally part of the Gospel of John. It is found in the vast majority of Greek manuscripts of the Fourth Gospel, but is not found in any of the earliest manuscripts. In some Greek manuscripts it appears in three other places in the Gospel of John (after John 7:36; 7:44; 21:25) or even in the Gospel of Luke (after Luke 21:38). Moreover, the Greek in John 7:53—8:11 is of a markedly different style and character than that found in the remainder of the Fourth Gospel. Though it is uncertain whether the story was an original part of John's Gospel, it is still possible that it preserves an actual event from Jesus' ministry.

Discussions with the Pharisees

Another debate with the Pharisees continues Jesus' teaching on the occasion of the Feast of Tabernacles (see “Attending the Feast of Tabernacles” at John 7:1). Given associations between the feast and the Israelites' wilderness wanderings, Jesus' statement, “I am the light of the world” (John 8:12) possibly recalled the presence of God as a pillar of fire leading the Israelites in the wilderness (Ex. 13:21).

The recurring theme of Jesus' discussions was His relationship with God the Father. His use of the phrase “I AM” as a type of personal address (John 8:58) indicates His unique relationship with the Father. Among Jesus' Jewish contemporaries this phrase was understood as an expression of God's personal name (see Ex. 3:14), so for Jesus to claim it for Himself was to claim unity with God.

Jesus Defends His Self-Witness

8:12 Then Jesus spoke to them again, saying, “I am the light of the world. He who follows Me shall not walk in darkness, but have the light of life.”

<sup>13</sup>The Pharisees therefore said to Him, “You bear witness of Yourself; Your witness is not true.”

<sup>14</sup>Jesus answered and said to them, “Even if I bear witness of Myself, My witness is true, for I know where I came from and where I am going; but you do not know where I come from and where I am going. <sup>15</sup>You judge according to the flesh; I judge no one. <sup>16</sup>And yet if I do judge, My judgment is true; for I am not alone, but I am with the Father who sent Me. <sup>17</sup>It is also written in your law that the testimony of two men is true. <sup>18</sup>I am One who bears witness of Myself, and the Father who sent Me bears witness of Me.”

<sup>19</sup>Then they said to Him, “Where is Your Father?”

Jesus answered, “You know neither Me nor My Father. If you had known Me, you would have known My Father also.”

<sup>20</sup>These words Jesus spoke in the treasury, as He taught in the temple; and no one laid hands on Him, for His hour had not yet come.

Jesus Predicts His Departure

<sup>21</sup>Then Jesus said to them again, “I am going away, and you will seek Me, and will die in your sin. Where I go you cannot come.”

<sup>22</sup>So the Jews said, “Will He kill Himself, because He says, ‘Where I go you cannot come?’”

<sup>23</sup>And He said to them, “You are from beneath; I am from above. You are of this world; I am not of this world. <sup>24</sup>Therefore I said to you that you will die in your sins; for if you do not believe that I am He, you will die in your sins.”

<sup>25</sup>Then they said to Him, “Who are You?”

And Jesus said to them, “Just what I have been saying to you from the beginning. <sup>26</sup>I have many things to say and to judge concerning you, but He who sent Me is true; and I speak to the world those things which I heard from Him.”

<sup>27</sup>They did not understand that He spoke to them of the Father.

<sup>28</sup>Then Jesus said to them, “When you lift up the Son of Man, then you will know that I am He, and that I do nothing of Myself; but as My Father taught Me, I speak these things. <sup>29</sup>And He who sent Me is with Me. The Father has not left Me alone, for I always do those things that please Him.” <sup>30</sup>As He spoke these words, many believed in Him.

The Truth Shall Make You Free

<sup>31</sup>Then Jesus said to those Jews who believed Him, “If you abide in My word, you are My disciples indeed. <sup>32</sup>And you shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.”

<sup>33</sup>They answered Him, “We are Abraham’s descendants, and have never been in bondage to anyone. How can You say, ‘You will be made free?’”

<sup>34</sup>Jesus answered them, “Most assuredly, I say to you, whoever commits sin is a slave of sin. <sup>35</sup>And a slave does not abide in the house forever, but a son abides forever. <sup>36</sup>Therefore if the Son makes you free, you shall be free indeed.

Abraham’s Seed and Satan’s

<sup>37</sup>“I know that you are Abraham’s descendants, but you seek to kill Me, because My word has no place in you. <sup>38</sup>I speak what I have seen with My Father, and you do what you have seen with<sup>d</sup> your father.”

<sup>39</sup>They answered and said to Him, “Abraham is our father.”

Jesus said to them, “If you were Abraham’s children, you would do the works of Abraham. <sup>40</sup>But now you seek to kill Me, a Man who has told you the truth which I heard from God. Abraham did not do this. <sup>41</sup>You do the deeds of your father.”

Then they said to Him, “We were not born of fornication; we have one Father—God.”

<sup>42</sup>Jesus said to them, “If God were your Father, you would love Me, for I proceeded forth and came from God; nor have I come of Myself, but He sent Me. <sup>43</sup>Why do you not understand My speech? Because you are not able to listen to My word. <sup>44</sup>You are of your father the devil, and the desires of your father you want to do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and does not stand in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaks a lie, he speaks from his own resources, for he is a liar and the father of it. <sup>45</sup>But because I tell the truth, you do not believe Me. <sup>46</sup>Which of you convicts Me of sin? And if I tell the truth, why do you not believe Me? <sup>47</sup>He who is of God hears God’s words; therefore you do not hear, because you are not of God.”

<sup>52</sup>Then the Jews said to Him, "Now we know that You have a demon! Abraham is dead, and the prophets; and You say, 'If anyone keeps My word he shall never taste death.' <sup>53</sup>Are You greater than our father Abraham, who is dead? And the prophets are dead. Who do You make Yourself out to be?"

<sup>54</sup>Jesus answered, "If I honor Myself, My honor is nothing. ### Healing the Man Born Blind

Jesus proclaimed, "I am the light of the world" (John 8:12; 9:5) and demonstrated what He meant by healing a man with congenital blindness. Jesus' presence in the world as "light" served first as a source of revelation, revealing "the works of God" (John 9:3) in overcoming affliction. But this "light" was also a source of judgment (see John 3:19–21). The healing provoked a crisis because it was performed on the Sabbath (9:16; see "Lord of the Sabbath" at Matt. 12:1). By self-righteously condemning Jesus as a "sinner" for this breach of Sabbath observance traditions, Jesus' Pharisaic opponents brought themselves under judgment (John 9:39–41).

Conversely, the man who was healed received not only physical sight but also increasing spiritual insight. As he reflected upon what had happened to him, he gradually proceeded from referring to his benefactor as "a Man called Jesus" (9:11) to saying that "He is a prophet" (9:17), and ultimately to confessing belief that He is "the Son of God" (9:35–38).

• John 9:1–41

Jesus, the Light of the World

9:1 Now as Jesus passed by, He saw a man who was blind from birth. <sup>2</sup>And His disciples asked Him, saying, "Rabbi, who sinned, this man or his parents, that he was born blind?"

<sup>3</sup>Jesus answered, "Neither this man nor his parents sinned, but that the works of God should be revealed in him. <sup>4</sup><sup>a</sup> must work the works of Him who sent Me while it is day; the night is coming when no one can work. <sup>5</sup>As long as I am in the world, I am the light of the world."

<sup>6</sup>When He had said these things, He spat on the ground and made clay with the saliva; and He anointed the eyes of the blind man with the clay. <sup>7</sup>And He said to him, "Go, wash in the pool of Siloam" (which is translated, Sent). So he went and washed, and came back seeing.

<sup>8</sup>Therefore the neighbors and those who previously had seen that he was blind<sup>a</sup> said, "Is not this he who sat and begged?"

<sup>9</sup>Some said, "This is he." Others said, "He is like him."<sup>a</sup>

He said, "I am he."

<sup>10</sup>Therefore they said to him, "How were your eyes opened?"

<sup>11</sup>He answered and said, "A Man called Jesus made clay and anointed my eyes and said to me, 'Go to the pool of<sup>a</sup> Siloam and wash.' So I went and washed, and I received sight."

<sup>12</sup>Then they said to him, "Where is He?" He said, "I do not know."

The Pharisees Excommunicate the Healed Man

<sup>13</sup>They brought him who formerly was blind to the Pharisees. <sup>14</sup>Now it was a Sabbath when Jesus made the clay and opened his eyes. <sup>15</sup>Then the Pharisees also asked him again how he had received his sight. He said to them, "He put clay on my eyes, and I washed, and I see."

<sup>16</sup>Therefore some of the Pharisees said, "This Man is not from God, because He does not keep the Sabbath."

Others said, "How can a man who is a sinner do such signs?" And there was a division among them.

<sup>17</sup>They said to the blind man again, "What do you say about Him because He opened your eyes?"

He said, "He is a prophet."

<sup>18</sup>But the Jews did not believe concerning him, that he had been blind and received his sight, until they called the parents of him who had received his sight. <sup>19</sup>And they asked them, saying, "Is this your son, who you say was born blind? How then does he now see?"

PUT OUT OF THE SYNAGOGUE (JOHN 9:22)

In Jesus' day various groups competed for power in Jerusalem. The Sadducees held the most formal power, since they were backed by the Romans. The Pharisees, however, were more popular with the people, and often held prominent roles in the Jerusalem synagogues. Ironically, the Pharisees used their control of the synagogues to wield authority over the very people whom they were supposed to be serving.

When Jesus miraculously helped a blind man receive his sight, the people brought the healed man to the Pharisees (John 9:8–13). Because the healing occurred on a Sabbath, the Pharisees were much concerned about Jesus violating their interpretation of Sabbath laws. In their view, a Sabbath-breaker could not have healed anyone by God's power (9:16).

The blind man's parents, being questioned concerning their son's healing, dared not counter the Pharisees' view (9:20–22). John's Gospel makes it clear that the parents feared being "put out of the synagogue" (9:22). This could mean excommunication, that is exclusion from the synagogue community. Severely erring members of synagogues were sometimes disciplined by beatings, or by temporary or long-term exclusion from their synagogues.

By the time John wrote his Gospel, more than 60 years after Jesus' death, Jewish Christians were being threatened with excommunication from their synagogues because of their belief in Jesus as the Messiah. John warns of this conflict (John 16:2). By retelling the time that Jesus healed the blind man and defended him against those who persecuted him for his faith, John encouraged his own readers in their situation: Jesus would be with them as well.

<sup>20</sup>His parents answered them and said, "We know that this is our son, and that he was born blind; <sup>21</sup>but by what means he now sees we do not know, or who opened his eyes we do not know. He is of age; ask him. He will speak for himself." <sup>22</sup>His parents said these things because they feared the Jews, for the Jews had agreed already that if anyone confessed that He was Christ, he would be put out of the synagogue. <sup>23</sup>Therefore his parents said, "He is of age; ask him."

<sup>24</sup>So they again called the man who was blind, and said to him, "Give God the glory! We know that this Man is a sinner."

<sup>25</sup>He answered and said, "Whether He is a sinner or not I do not know. One thing I know: that though I was blind, now I see."

<sup>26</sup>Then they said to him again, "What did He do to you? How did He open your eyes?"

<sup>27</sup>He answered them, "I told you already, and you did not listen. Why do you want to hear it again? Do you also want to become His disciples?"

<sup>28</sup>Then they reviled him and said, "You are His disciple, but we are Moses' disciples. <sup>29</sup>We know that God spoke to Moses; as for this fellow, we do not know where He is from."

<sup>30</sup>The man answered and said to them, "Why, this is a marvelous thing, that you do not know where He is from; yet He has opened my eyes! <sup>31</sup>Now we know that God does not hear sinners; but if anyone is a worshiper of God and does His will, He hears him. <sup>32</sup>Since the world began it has been unheard of that anyone opened the eyes of one who was born blind. <sup>33</sup>If this Man were not from God, He could do nothing."

<sup>34</sup>They answered and said to him, "You were completely born in sins, and are you teaching us?" And they cast him out.

<sup>35</sup>Jesus heard that they had cast him out; and when He had found him, He said to him, "Do you believe in the Son of God?"<sup>a</sup>

<sup>36</sup>He answered and said, "Who is He, Lord, that I may believe in Him?"

<sup>37</sup>And Jesus said to him, "You have both seen Him and it is He who is talking with you."

<sup>38</sup>Then he said, "Lord, I believe!" And he worshiped Him.

<sup>39</sup>And Jesus said, "For judgment I have come into this world, that those who do not see may see, and that those who see may be made blind."

<sup>40</sup>Then some of the Pharisees who were with Him heard these words, and said to Him, "Are we blind also?"

<sup>41</sup>Jesus said to them, "If you were blind, you would have no sin; but now you say, 'We see.' Therefore your sin remains."

9:35 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text reads Son of Man.

Jesus, the Good Shepherd

It is uncertain how closely Jesus' parable of the good shepherd (John 10:1–6) should be tied to the healing of the blind man (see "Healing the Man Born Blind" at John 9:1). Some scholars believe this exchange with Jewish leaders occurred sometime later, during the 2-month period separating Jesus' visits to Jerusalem for the Feast of Tabernacles (John 7:2) and for the Feast of Dedication (now known as Hanukkah; John 10:22). Others, though, since there is no introductory statement in John 10:1, consider this parable to be the continuation of Jesus' response to "some of the Pharisees" following the blind man's healing (see John 9:40, 41). Some of those who heard Jesus' teaching on this parable did refer back to the healing of the blind man (10:21).

Whether or not Jesus' parable continued His response to the controversy over the blind man's healing, the illustration of the shepherd's relationship to his sheep can be read as an allegory of that event. Just as the sheep know the voice of the shepherd and follow only him and not strangers (10:4, 5), so the healed blind man refused to heed those who advised him to renounce Jesus (see John 9:24–33). Those who had sought to bar others from fellowship with God's people (9:22) can be likened to "a thief and a robber" within the sheepfold (10:1).

• John 10:1–21

John

The Shepherd's Flock

10:1 "Most assuredly, I say to you, he who does not enter the sheepfold by the door, but climbs up some other way, the same is a thief and a robber. <sup>2</sup>But he who enters by the door is the shepherd of the sheep. <sup>3</sup>To him the door-keeper opens, and the sheep hear his voice; and he calls his own sheep by name and leads them out. <sup>4</sup>And when he brings out his own sheep, he goes before them; and the sheep follow him, for they know his voice. <sup>5</sup>Yet they will by no means follow a stranger, but will flee from him, for they do not know the voice of strangers." <sup>6</sup>Jesus used this illustration, but they did not understand the things which He spoke to them.

<sup>7</sup>Then Jesus said to them again, "Most assuredly, I say to you, I am the door of the sheep.

10:8 <sup>a</sup>M-Text omits before Me.

<sup>8</sup>All who ever came before Me<sup>a</sup> are thieves and robbers, but the sheep did not hear them. <sup>9</sup>I am the door. If anyone enters by Me, he will be saved, and will go in and out and find pasture. <sup>10</sup>The thief does not come except to steal, and to kill, and to destroy. I have come that they may have life, and that they may have it more abundantly.

<sup>11</sup>"I am the good shepherd. The good shepherd gives His life for the sheep. <sup>12</sup>But a hireling, he who is not the shepherd, one who does not own the sheep, sees the wolf coming and leaves the sheep and flees; and the wolf catches the sheep and scatters them. <sup>13</sup>The hireling flees because he is a hireling and does not care about the sheep. <sup>14</sup>I am the good shepherd; and I know My sheep, and am known by My own. <sup>15</sup>As the Father knows Me, even so I know the Father; and I lay down My life for the sheep. <sup>16</sup>And other sheep I have which are not of this fold; them also I must bring, and they will hear My voice; and there will be one flock and one shepherd.

<sup>17</sup>"Therefore My Father loves Me, because I lay down My life that I may take it again. <sup>18</sup>No one takes it from Me, but I lay it down of Myself. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again. This command I have received from My Father."

<sup>19</sup>Therefore there was a division again among the Jews because of these sayings. <sup>20</sup>And many of them said, "He has a demon and is mad. Why do you listen to Him?"

<sup>21</sup>Others said, "These are not the words of one who has a demon. Can a demon open the eyes of the blind?"

JESUS' FINAL JOURNEY

The Galilean portion of His ministry now completed, Jesus began a journey to Jerusalem to meet His destiny, a destiny of which He was well aware and which He faced willingly (Mark 8:31; 9:30, 31). In the Synoptic Gospels, this journey is Jesus' only visit to Jerusalem, while in John it is simply the last of several journeys. Though the Gospels differ concerning the number of journeys, they necessarily agree that Jesus made a final such journey shortly before His death. About this final journey the Gospels differ only in the amount of information they provide concerning its various events.

By far the greatest amount of information on Jesus' teachings and deeds while on this journey is in the Gospel of Luke. Luke's unique account of the journey from Galilee to Jerusalem (Luke 9:51—

18:14) is called his "travel narrative." There are only a few places in the narrative where the other Gospels offer parallels to Luke's version of events, and these occur mostly toward the end of the journey when Jesus is in Judea but has not yet arrived at Jerusalem.

Matthew and Luke report some of Jesus' same teachings, but do so in different settings. While in Luke's Gospel these teachings were spoken on the road to Jerusalem (Luke 9:57), Matthew places most of them earlier in Jesus' ministry (Matt. 8:18, 19). Many scholars believe that most of Luke's information for the travel narrative came from two written sources, one which was apparently available only to him (called the "L" source for "Luke"), and one which was also employed by Matthew (called the "Q" source).

Luke's "travel narrative" is a unique account of Jesus' journey from Galilee to Jerusalem.

WAITING TO BURY THEIR DEAD (MATT. 8:21)

One of Jesus' disciples requested, "Let me first go and bury my father" (Matt. 8:21). This request may sound reasonable to modern readers who suppose that the disciple's father had just died and the burial would not take long. That was not the case, however, in 1st-century Jewish culture.

Immediately after a person died, family members and professional mourners would gather to weep and wail. As soon as the body was ready, they would carry it on a stretcher to the family tomb, while other people in town who heard or saw the procession would quickly join it to share the family's sorrow. Members of the immediate family would continue heavy grieving for one week, while friends and neighbors would bring food or other items to relieve the family of its other obligations.

For 1st-century Jews, honoring parents was one of life's highest obligations, and burying one's parents was considered a most important way to honor them. No son whose father had just died would be talking with Jesus in public before the father's body had been laid in a tomb. The son would be preparing the body for immediate transport to the tomb.

So what was this disciple asking of Jesus? Possibly the father was not yet dead. Even today in the Middle East, the expression "Wait until I bury my father" expresses a desire to wait until the father has died before embarking too far from home. The disciple may have wanted to wait until his aged father died before following Jesus.

Yet it is also possible that the disciple's father had been dead for some time. Jewish people in the 1st century let the flesh rot off of a corpse's bones for a year, then returned to the tomb and gathered the bones into a box which they deposited into a slot in the tomb wall. If the disciple was referring to such a reburial, known as secondary burial, then he was asking for as much as a year's delay in following Jesus.

Some teachers claimed special honor, but no other teacher claimed that following him was as important as burying one's parents. Only God Himself warranted that role. Those who did not recognize Jesus' true identity may have viewed Him as arrogant or anti-family to demand, "Let the dead bury their own dead" (8:22).

Through Samaria Toward Jerusalem

Luke begins his account of the journey to Jerusalem with Jesus traveling to Judea through Samaria, the region directly between Galilee and Judea (Luke 9:52). Mark and Matthew do not mention this direct route through Samaria, but rather a route around Samaria through Perea, called "the region of Judea beyond the Jordan" (Matt. 19:1; Mark 10:1).

Luke's report of Jesus' rejection by a Samaritan village (Luke 9:53) reflects the hostility between Jews and Samaritans. Jesus knew that He would face opposition in Samaria and wished to encounter it head-on, demonstrating His courage and His determination to fulfill His destiny in spite of all opposition. The Samaritan encounter also allowed Him to teach His disciples how to handle such opposition, a lesson they surely needed. They would have called down fire from heaven to punish this village for rejecting their Master. But Jesus rebukes the disciples: lashing out in anger is not the way to handle opposition (Luke 9:55).

Since following Jesus would involve rejection and suffering, His followers could not be half-hearted. Both Luke and Matthew record Jesus' teachings that disciples must be completely committed (Matt. 8:20–22; Luke 9:58–62). They could not allow excuses, such as the death of a loved one or the need to say farewell to family members, to delay them from following.

- Matthew 8:18–22
- Luke 9:51–62

The Cost of Discipleship

8:18 And when Jesus saw great multitudes about Him, He gave a command to depart to the other side. <sup>19</sup>Then a certain scribe came and said to Him, "Teacher, I will follow You wherever You go."

<sup>20</sup>And Jesus said to him, "Foxes have holes and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay His head."

<sup>21</sup>Then another of His disciples said to Him, "Lord, let me first go and bury my father."

<sup>22</sup>But Jesus said to him, "Follow Me, and let the dead bury their own dead."

A Samaritan Village Rejects the Savior

9:51 Now it came to pass, when the time had come for Him to be received up, that He steadfastly set His face to go to Jerusalem, <sup>52</sup>and sent messengers before His face. And as they went, they entered a village of the Samaritans, to prepare for Him. <sup>53</sup>But they did not receive Him, because His face was set for the journey to Jerusalem. <sup>54</sup>And when His disciples James and John saw this, they said, "Lord, do You want us to command fire to come down from heaven and consume them, just as Elijah did?"<sup>a</sup>

<sup>55</sup>But He turned and rebuked them,<sup>a</sup> and said, “You do not know what manner of spirit you are of. <sup>56</sup>For the Son of Man did not come to destroy men’s lives but to save them.”<sup>a</sup> And they went to another village.

I Will Follow You

<sup>57</sup>Now it happened as they journeyed on the road, that someone said to Him, “Lord, I will follow You wherever You go.”

<sup>58</sup>And Jesus said to him, “Foxes have holes and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay His head.”

<sup>59</sup>Then He said to another, “Follow Me.”

But he said, “Lord, let me first go and bury my father.”

<sup>60</sup>Jesus said to him, “Let the dead bury their own dead, but you go and preach the kingdom of God.”

<sup>61</sup>And another also said, “Lord, I will follow You, but let me first go and bid them farewell who are at my house.”

<sup>62</sup>But Jesus said to him, “No one, having put his hand to the plow, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God.”

9:55 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits the rest of this verse. 9:56 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits the first sentence of this verse. Matt. 11:23 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text reads will you be exalted to heaven? No, you will be.

Most of the material in Luke’s story of the mission of 70 disciples is also found in Matthew. The different sayings of Jesus in Luke 10:1–24 are sprinkled throughout Matt. 9—11 (Matt. 9:37; 10:7–16, 40; 11:20–27). Possibly both evangelists found these sayings in a common source, each choosing to fit them into his account in a different way.

Matthew 11:20–30

Woe to the Impenitent Cities

11 :20 Then He began to rebuke the cities in which most of His mighty works had been done, because they did not repent: <sup>21</sup>“Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! For if the mighty works which were done in you had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes. <sup>22</sup>But I say to you, it will be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon in the day of judgment than for you. <sup>23</sup>And you, Capernaum, who are exalted to heaven, will be<sup>a</sup> brought down to Hades; for if the mighty works which were done in you had been done in Sodom, it would have remained until this day. <sup>24</sup>But I say to you that it shall be more tolerable for the land of Sodom in the day of judgment than for you.”

Jesus Gives True Rest

<sup>25</sup>At that time Jesus answered and said, “I thank You, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that You have hidden these things from the wise and prudent and have revealed them to babes. <sup>26</sup>Even so, Father, for so it seemed good in Your sight. <sup>27</sup>All things have been delivered to Me by My Father, and no one knows the Son except the Father. Nor does anyone know the Father except the Son, and the one to whom the Son wills to reveal Him. <sup>28</sup>Come to Me, all you who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. <sup>29</sup>Take My yoke upon you and learn from Me, for I am gentle and lowly in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. <sup>30</sup>For My yoke is easy and My burden is light.”

Mission of the 70 Disciples

Jesus sent out a large group of disciples to prepare the way for Him (Luke 10:1). Just as harvest workers must labor with great haste to bring in their crops before it is too late, so too did Jesus instruct these disciples to hurry and not to concern themselves with insignificant matters such as what they would eat or where they would stay (10:7, 8). They would face great opposition along the way, and Jesus instructed them on how to handle being rejected by a town. Such unreceptive Galilean cities as Chorazin, Bethsaida, and Capernaum were more guilty than the Gentile cities of Phoenicia, who would have repented if they had witnessed Jesus’ work (10:13–15).

Only Luke suggests that Jesus ever sent out such a large group of disciples. All three Synoptic Gospels agree that Jesus sent out the twelve disciples to preach and to heal (Luke 9:1–6). Luke, however, mentions this second mission with a much larger group of 70 disciples. The other evangelists do not give the impression that Jesus had such a large and devoted group of followers, while Luke presents the “workers” as more plentiful and the “harvest” as more abundant.

Geography & Environment

Chorazin and Bethsaida, located close to the north shore of Lake Galilee, are named along with Capernaum in Jesus’ announcement of judgment against the cities of Galilee (Matt. 11:21, 23). Chorazin was a town of medium size and, according to Jewish literature, a center for producing wheat. “Bethsaida of Galilee” was the home of some of Jesus’ disciples, particularly Philip, Andrew, and Peter (John 1:44; 12:21).

Luke 10:1–24

The Seventy Sent Out

10:1 After these things the Lord appointed seventy others also,<sup>a</sup> and sent them two by two before His face into every city and place where He Himself was about to go. <sup>2</sup>Then He said to them, “The harvest truly is great, but the laborers are few; therefore pray the Lord of the harvest to send out laborers into His harvest. <sup>3</sup>Go your way; behold, I send you out as lambs among wolves. <sup>4</sup>Carry neither money bag, knapsack, nor sandals; and greet no one along the road. <sup>5</sup>But whatever house you enter, first say, ‘Peace to this house.’ <sup>6</sup>And if a son of peace is there, your peace will rest on it; if not, it will return to you. <sup>7</sup>And remain in the same house, eating and drinking such things as they give, for the laborer is worthy of his wages. Do not go from house to house. <sup>8</sup>Whatever city you enter, and they receive you, eat such things as are set before you. <sup>9</sup>And heal the sick there, and say to them, ‘The kingdom of God has come near to you.’ <sup>10</sup>But whatever city you enter, and they do not receive you, go out into its streets and say, <sup>11</sup>‘The very dust of your city which clings to us<sup>a</sup> we wipe off against you. Nevertheless know this, that the kingdom of God has come near you.’ <sup>12</sup>But<sup>a</sup> I say to you that it will be more tolerable in that Day for Sodom than for that city.

Last Journey to Jerusalem

On His last trip to Jerusalem, Jesus apparently took the longer route from Scythopolis, crossing to the east bank of the Jordan River to travel south. Recrossing the Jordan River near Jericho, He ascended the mountain to Bethany and finally arrived at Jerusalem. This route bypassed Samaria altogether.

Geography & Environment

Tyre and Sidon (Luke 10:13, 14) are ancient seaports along the Mediterranean coast, between Israel and Berytus. Today Berytus is Beirut. Tyre was defeated by Alexander the Great in 332 B.C. after a 7-month siege and a hard struggle, including the building of a causeway from the mainland to the island. Just north of Tyre is Sidon, which had the reputation of being the oldest Phoenician port.

Woe to the Impenitent Cities

<sup>13</sup>“Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! For if the mighty works which were done in you had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago, sitting in sackcloth and ashes. <sup>14</sup>But it will be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon at the judgment than for you. <sup>15</sup>And you, Capernaum, who are exalted to heaven, will be brought down to Hades.<sup>a</sup> <sup>16</sup>He who hears you hears Me, he who rejects you rejects Me, and he who rejects Me rejects Him who sent Me.”

The Seventy Return with Joy

<sup>18</sup>And He said to them, “I saw Satan fall like lightning from heaven. <sup>19</sup>Behold, I give you the authority to trample on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy, and nothing shall by any means hurt you. <sup>20</sup>Nevertheless do not rejoice in this, that the spirits are subject to you, but rather<sup>a</sup> rejoice because your names are written in heaven.”

Jesus Rejoices in the Spirit

<sup>21</sup>In that hour Jesus rejoiced in the Spirit and said, “I thank You, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that You have hidden these things from the wise and prudent and revealed them to babes. Even so, Father, for so it seemed good in Your sight. <sup>22</sup>All<sup>a</sup> things have been delivered to Me by My Father, and no one knows who the Son is except the Father, and who the Father is except the Son, and the one to whom the Son wills to reveal Him.”

<sup>23</sup>Then He turned to His disciples and said privately, “Blessed are the eyes which see the things you see; <sup>24</sup>for I tell you that many prophets and kings have desired to see what you see, and have not seen it, and to hear what you hear, and have not heard it.”

Compassion and Mercy from a Samaritan

A lawyer tested Jesus with a question about how to inherit eternal life. Both Mark and Matthew include a similar story, in which a scribe (Mark 12:28) and a Pharisee (Matt. 22:34–36) question Jesus concerning which is the greatest commandment. Only in Luke's Gospel does the lawyer ask a second question. Having been told that to inherit eternal life he must love his neighbor as himself, he asks Jesus, "And who is my neighbor?" (Luke 10:29). In answer, Jesus delivered one of the best known of His parables: the parable of the good Samaritan.

On the surface, this parable offers the simple teaching that a "neighbor" is anyone with whom one comes into contact, especially those in need. The specific identities of the characters involved, however, moves the parable beyond a simple moral lesson. The man who is beaten and robbed was traveling "from Jerusalem to Jericho" (Luke 10:30), which marks him almost certainly as a Jew. The priest and Levite passed by without helping the man, perhaps because they did not wish to defile themselves by contact with blood or with (presumably) a dead body. The Samaritan, a mortal enemy of all Jews, took pity on the man and offered him an extraordinary degree of assistance.

If Jesus' sole intention had been to say that one's neighbor includes everyone, there would have been no need to identify the actors as a "Levite," a "priest," and a "Samaritan." Jesus was also critiquing the heartlessness of those Jews who allowed the Law to thwart their humanity. With this parable Luke continues a favorite theme: the inclusion of all nations in the people of God. Even a Samaritan can aspire to eternal life!

The Parable of the Good Samaritan

10:25 And behold, a certain lawyer stood up and tested Him, saying, "Teacher, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?"

<sup>26</sup>He said to him, "What is written in the law? What is your reading of it?"

<sup>27</sup>So he answered and said, "You shall love the LORD your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your strength, and with all your mind,"<sup>a</sup> and 'your neighbor as yourself.'"<sup>b</sup>

<sup>28</sup>And He said to him, "You have answered rightly; do this and you will live."

10:27 <sup>a</sup>Deuteronomy 6:5 <sup>b</sup>Leviticus 19:18 10:35 <sup>c</sup>NU-Text omits when he departed.

<sup>29</sup>But he, wanting to justify himself, said to Jesus, "And who is my neighbor?"

<sup>30</sup>Then Jesus answered and said: "A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and fell among thieves, who stripped him of his clothing, wounded him, and departed, leaving him half dead. <sup>31</sup>Now by chance a certain priest came down that road. And when he saw him, he passed by on the other side. <sup>32</sup>Likewise a Levite, when he arrived at the place, came and looked, and passed by on the other side. <sup>33</sup>But a certain Samaritan, as he journeyed, came where he was. And when he saw him, he had compassion. <sup>34</sup>So he went to him and bandaged his wounds, pouring on oil and wine; and he set him on his own animal, brought him to an inn, and took care of him. <sup>35</sup>On the next day, when he departed,<sup>a</sup> he took out two denarii, gave them to the innkeeper, and said to him, 'Take care of him; and whatever more you spend, when I come again, I will repay you.' <sup>36</sup>So which of these three do you think was neighbor to him who fell among the thieves?"

<sup>37</sup>And he said, "He who showed mercy on him."

Then Jesus said to him, "Go and do likewise."

Visiting in Bethany

On the journey toward Jerusalem, Jesus was welcomed into the home of two sisters, Mary and Martha. Luke does not indicate a location, but John's Gospel informs us that Mary and Martha were from Bethany, where they lived with their brother Lazarus (John 11:1). Since Bethany is in Judea just outside of Jerusalem, Jesus' journey would have been almost complete, having already passed through all of Samaria and northern Judea. Yet Luke makes comments later that the journey continued for quite some time (Luke 13:22; 17:11), and even at these later points Jesus is nowhere near Judea; He is still passing through Galilee and Samaria. Obviously, Luke's travel narrative does not follow a continuous geographical progression.

The two women reacted differently to Jesus' arrival. Mary listened to what Jesus said, while Martha complained about having to do the customarily female serving tasks alone (Luke 10:40). It is highly significant that Jesus took the side not of Martha, who assumed the traditional female role, but of Mary, who presumed to act like a male disciple. The picture of Jesus allowing and encouraging Mary to act as would a male disciple continues the generally favorable treatment of women in Luke's Gospel (Luke 1:24–63; 2:36–38; 8:1–3; 24:1–10).

Mary and Martha Worship and Serve

10:38 Now it happened as they went that He entered a certain village; and a certain woman named Martha welcomed Him into her house. <sup>39</sup>And she had a sister called Mary, who also sat at Jesus<sup>a</sup> feet and heard His word. <sup>40</sup>But Martha was distracted with much serving, and she approached Him and said, “Lord, do You not care that my sister has left me to serve alone? Therefore tell her to help me.”

<sup>41</sup>And Jesus<sup>a</sup> answered and said to her, “Martha, Martha, you are worried and troubled about many things. <sup>42</sup>But one thing is needed, and Mary has chosen that good part, which will not be taken away from her.”

Hypocrisy of the Lawyers and Pharisees

Jesus' invitation to dine with a Pharisee results in a wide-ranging series of curses directed against His opponents, the scribes (lawyers) and Pharisees (Luke 11:37–52). Jesus condemned the Pharisees for being excessively concerned with trivial matters, such as ritual purity and tithing, while failing to pursue important matters such as social justice and ethical behavior. The lawyers also are denounced for sharing in the perpetuation of injustice, but they are singled out for criticism for their fathers' part in killing the prophets (Luke 11:47).

On this occasion Jesus' opponents began laying a trap in order to accuse Him of some crime (Luke 11:53, 54). By noting this, Luke anticipates Jesus' arrest, trials, and crucifixion, which all the evangelists do in different ways.

Luke presents these sayings of Jesus as a single speech, given while a guest in the house of a Pharisee. While for Luke this event occurred during the journey from Galilee to Jerusalem, Matthew shows Jesus giving these sayings on several occasions, in a different order, and at times both before and after the journey, but not during it.

Unlike the scribes and Pharisees, who receive nothing but condemnation, the disciples are both warned and reassured. Jesus reassured them of God's love and concern for them, but counseled them on the price of unbelief and the rewards of faith (Luke 12:1–12).

Woe to the Pharisees and Lawyers

11:37 And as He spoke, a certain Pharisee asked Him to dine with him. So He went in and sat down to eat. <sup>38</sup>When the Pharisee saw it, he marveled that He had not first washed before dinner.

<sup>39</sup>Then the Lord said to him, “Now you Pharisees make the outside of the cup and dish clean, but your inward part is full of greed and wickedness. <sup>40</sup>Foolish ones! Did not He who made the outside make the inside also? <sup>41</sup>But rather give alms of such things as you have; then indeed all things are clean to you.

<sup>42</sup>“But woe to you Pharisees! For you tithe mint and rue and all manner of herbs, and pass by justice and the love of God. These you ought to have done, without leaving the others undone. <sup>43</sup>Woe to you Pharisees! For you love the best seats in the synagogues and greetings in the marketplaces. <sup>44</sup>Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites!<sup>a</sup> For you are like graves which are not seen, and the men who walk over them are not aware of them.”

<sup>45</sup>Then one of the lawyers answered and said to Him, “Teacher, by saying these things You reproach us also.”

<sup>46</sup>And He said, “Woe to you also, lawyers! For you load men with burdens hard to bear, and you yourselves do not touch the burdens with one of your fingers. <sup>47</sup>Woe to you! For you build the tombs of the prophets, and your fathers killed them. <sup>48</sup>In fact, you bear witness that you approve the deeds of your fathers; for they indeed killed them, and you build their tombs. <sup>49</sup>Therefore the wisdom of God also said, ‘I will send them prophets and apostles, and some of them they will kill and persecute,’ <sup>50</sup>that the blood of all the prophets which was shed from the foundation of the world may be required of this generation, <sup>51</sup>from the blood of Abel to the blood of Zechariah who perished between the altar and the temple. Yes, I say to you, it shall be required of this generation.

<sup>52</sup>“Woe to you lawyers! For you have taken away the key of knowledge. You did not enter in yourselves, and those who were entering in you hindered.”

<sup>53</sup>And as He said these things to them,<sup>a</sup> the scribes and the Pharisees began to assail Him vehemently, and to cross-examine Him about many

Religion & Worship

The Pharisees were not the only ones concerned about ritual matters (Luke 11:39). The approved religion of Rome focused on performing rituals exactly as they were prescribed. If an error was made in the ritual, the Romans displayed their piety by starting over from the beginning, and continuing this way until everything was correct. Otherwise they felt that their religious service was ineffective.

Science & Technology

An ancient key was a piece of wood or metal that could be passed through a hole in a door and used to move a latch or crossbar inside. Protection was provided by making the shape of the key complex. The Egyptians put wooden pins in the crossbar that kept it from moving until the right key was used to push the pins just the right amount. The illustration of “keys” signified access to spiritual teaching (Luke 11:52; Matt. 16:19).

Beware of Hypocrisy

12 <sup>1</sup>In the meantime, when an innumerable multitude of people had gathered together, so that they trampled one another, He began to say to His disciples first of all, “Beware of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocrisy. <sup>2</sup>For there is nothing covered that will not be revealed, nor hidden that will not be known. <sup>3</sup>Therefore whatever you have spoken in the dark will be heard in the light, and what you have spoken in the ear in inner rooms will be proclaimed on the housetops.

Jesus Teaches the Fear of God

<sup>4</sup>“And I say to you, My friends, do not be afraid of those who kill the body, and after that have no more that they can do. <sup>5</sup>But I will show you whom you should fear: Fear Him who, after He has killed, has power to cast into hell; yes, I say to you, fear Him!

Confess Christ Before Men

<sup>8</sup>“Also I say to you, whoever confesses Me before men, him the Son of Man also will confess before the angels of God. <sup>9</sup>But he who denies Me before men will be denied before the angels of God.

<sup>10</sup>“And anyone who speaks a word against the Son of Man, it will be forgiven him; but to him who blasphemes against the Holy Spirit, it will not be forgiven.

<sup>11</sup>“Now when they bring you to the synagogues and magistrates and authorities, do not worry about how or what you should answer, or what you should say. <sup>12</sup>For the Holy Spirit will teach you in that very hour what you ought to say.”

Earthly or Heavenly Treasures

Some parts of Jesus’ teaching about this lifetime which Luke places with the journey to Jerusalem are covered by Matthew in his Sermon on the Mount. Luke’s lessons on seeking treasures in heaven rather than security on earth (Luke 12:22–34) are paralleled in Matthew’s Sermon (see “Unassuming Godliness” at Matt. 6:1). Others, including the parable of the rich fool, appear only in Luke (Luke 12:13–21). The message of all these teachings is the same: people should not concern themselves excessively with their material needs, but should concentrate on their spiritual development and worry about answering for themselves at the final judgment. They should not worry as much about this life as about the next.

The Parable of the Rich Fool

12 :13 Then one from the crowd said to Him, “Teacher, tell my brother to divide the inheritance with me.”

<sup>14</sup>But He said to him, “Man, who made Me a judge or an arbitrator over you?” <sup>15</sup>And He said to them, “Take heed and beware of covetousness,<sup>a</sup> for one’s life does not consist in the abundance of the things he possesses.”

<sup>16</sup>Then He spoke a parable to them, saying: “The ground of a certain rich man yielded plentifully. <sup>17</sup>And he thought within himself, saying, ‘What shall I do, since I have no room to store my crops?’ <sup>18</sup>So he said, ‘I will do this: I will pull down my barns and build greater, and there I will store all my crops and my goods. <sup>19</sup>And I will say to my soul, ‘Soul, you have many goods laid up for many years; take your ease; eat, drink, and be merry.’” <sup>20</sup>But God said to him, ‘Fool! This night your soul will be required of you; then whose will those things be which you have provided?’

<sup>21</sup>“So is he who lays up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God.”

Be Watchful for the Son of Man

Using parables of servants, stewards, and masters, Jesus commented about being watchful and prepared. His teachings apply equally well both to one’s own death and to the end of the world. In both cases, people cannot simply assume that they have all the time in the world to prepare themselves. Death as well as the Second Coming of Christ may occur at any time, and believers should always be ready for both. While some of Jesus’ comments (Luke 12:42–48) may be taken in either of these two ways, others (12:49–59) are more clearly directed toward the Second Coming and the end of the world.

Although Jesus had come to bring “peace” (see Luke 2:14, 19:38), ironically the effect of His coming was just the opposite. He inspired passionate responses on two sides: devotion and acceptance by some and utter rejection by others. Because each side’s response to Jesus meant so much to them, His coming caused division among people, even schisms among families (Luke 12:52, 53). Unfortunately, many were not able to see how near their judgment was, in spite of all the signs Jesus had given (12:54–59).

The Faithful Servant and the Evil Servant

12:35 “Let your waist be girded and your lamps burning; <sup>36</sup>and you yourselves be like men who wait for their master, when he will return from the wedding, that when he comes and knocks they may open to him immediately. <sup>37</sup>Blessed are those servants whom the master, when he comes, will find watching. Assuredly, I say to you that he will gird himself and have them sit down to eat, and will come and serve them. <sup>38</sup>And if he should come in the second watch, or come in the third watch, and find them so, blessed are those servants. <sup>39</sup>But know this, that if the master of the house had known what hour the thief would come, he would have watched and<sup>a</sup> not allowed his house to be broken into. <sup>40</sup>Therefore you also be ready, for the Son of Man is coming at an hour you do not expect.”

<sup>41</sup>Then Peter said to Him, “Lord, do You speak this parable only to us, or to all people?”

<sup>42</sup>And the Lord said, “Who then is that faithful and wise steward, whom his master will make ruler over his household, to give them their portion of food in due season? <sup>43</sup>Blessed is that servant whom his master will find so doing when he comes. <sup>44</sup>Truly, I say to you that he will make him ruler over all that he has. <sup>45</sup>But if that servant says in his heart, ‘My master is delaying his coming,’ and begins to beat the male and female servants, and to eat and drink and be drunk, <sup>46</sup>the master of that servant will come on a day when he is not looking for him, and at an hour when he is not aware, and will cut him in two and appoint him his portion with the unbelievers. <sup>47</sup>And that servant who knew his master’s will, and did not prepare himself or do according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes. <sup>48</sup>But he who did not know, yet committed things deserving of stripes, shall be beaten with few. For everyone to whom much is given, from him much will be required; and to whom much has been committed, of him they will ask the more.

Marriage & Family

A marriage was a union of two families, not just of two people. The formalities and celebrations could continue for several days, or even into the night. Jesus told a parable of a midnight procession that took place during wedding festivities (Matt. 25:1–6). One could never know exactly when someone would return from a wedding feast (Luke 12:36).

Christ Brings Division

<sup>49</sup>“I came to send fire on the earth, and how I wish it were already kindled! <sup>50</sup>But I have a baptism to be baptized with, and how distressed I am till it is accomplished! <sup>51</sup>Do you suppose that I came to give peace on earth? I tell you, not at all, but rather division. <sup>52</sup>For from now on five in one house will be divided: three against two, and two against three. <sup>53</sup>Father will be divided against son and son against father, mother against daughter and daughter against mother, mother-in-law

12:15 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text reads all covetousness. 12:39 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text reads he would not have allowed.

A POOL AND TOWER IN SILOAM (LUKE 13:4)

The Gihon spring was a major water source for the city of Jerusalem from the time of David and Solomon (10th century B.C.; 1 Kin. 1:33, 45). Water was channeled from the western side of the Kidron Valley outside of Jerusalem and collected into reservoirs or pools.

In the 8th century B.C. King Hezekiah constructed a tunnel to bring water from the Gihon spring for storage in a reservoir within the city. The project was done in anticipation of a siege of Jerusalem by the Assyrians (2 Kin. 20:20); thus, the water supply of the city would be secure during the siege, which finally occurred in 701 B.C. Water from the southern end of Hezekiah's tunnel is still used today by Jerusalem's inhabitants.

Most scholars think that Hezekiah's tunnel emptied into what is known today as the Pool of Siloam. It was possibly called the "upper pool" in Hezekiah's time (2 Kin. 18:17; Is. 7:3). The Jewish historian Josephus (A.D. 37–100) described Siloam as a fountain, and located it near the tunnel that Hezekiah constructed. In Jesus' time, Siloam was a well-known area, containing both a pool, where Jesus sent a blind man to wash (John 9:7, 11), as well as a tower. Although there is no material evidence for a "tower in Siloam" (Luke 13:4), presumably it was near the pool of the same name.

against her daughter-in-law and daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law."

Discern the Time

<sup>54</sup>Then He also said to the multitudes, "Whenever you see a cloud rising out of the west, immediately you say, 'A shower is coming'; and so it is. <sup>55</sup>And when you see the south wind blow, you say, 'There will be hot weather'; and there is. <sup>56</sup>Hypocrites! You can discern the face of the sky and of the earth, but how is it you do not discern this time?"

Make Peace with Your Adversary

<sup>57</sup>"Yes, and why, even of yourselves, do you not judge what is right? <sup>58</sup>When you go with your adversary to the magistrate, make every effort along the way to settle with him, lest he drag you to the judge, the judge deliver you to the officer, and the officer throw you into prison. <sup>59</sup>I tell you, you shall not depart from there till you have paid the very last mite."

Repent or Perish

13 :1 There were present at that season some who told Him about the Galileans whose blood Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices. <sup>2</sup>And Jesus answered and said to them, "Do you suppose that these Galileans were worse sinners than all other Galileans, because they suffered such things? <sup>3</sup>I tell you, no; but unless you repent you will all likewise perish. <sup>4</sup>Or those eighteen on whom the tower in Siloam fell and killed them, do you think that they were worse sinners than all other men who dwelt in Jerusalem? <sup>5</sup>I tell you, no; but unless you repent you will all likewise perish."

The Parable of the Barren Fig Tree

<sup>6</sup>He also spoke this parable: "A certain man had a fig tree planted in his vineyard, and he came seeking fruit on it and found none. <sup>7</sup>Then he said to the keeper of his vineyard, 'Look, for three years I have come seeking fruit on this fig tree and find none. Cut it down; why does it use up the ground?' <sup>8</sup>But he answered and said to him, 'Sir, let it alone this year also, until I dig around it and fertilize it. <sup>9</sup>And if it bears fruit, well. But if not, after that<sup>a</sup> you can cut it down.'"

Necessity of Repentance

Receiving the news about a group of Galileans killed by the Roman governor Pontius Pilate, Jesus taught the crowds once more that death may come at any moment, and stressed the consequent need for repentance. The Galileans were deliberately murdered; they did not die because they were especially guilty, any more than did the Judeans who were accidentally killed when a tower fell on them. Death often comes unexpectedly, and not just to the guilty (Luke 13:4).

Those who are alive, unlike the dead, still have the chance to repent, but their time is short. Just as a planter will not wait forever for his fig tree to bear fruit, neither will God wait forever for evildoers to repent (13:6–9).

Restoring a Deformed Body

Somewhere in Jewish territory, possibly still in Galilee, Jesus stopped at a synagogue. His act of healing a woman on the Sabbath brought criticism from the “ruler of the synagogue” (Luke 13:14). Jesus had clashed several times previously with the Pharisees and scribes on precisely this issue (Matt. 12:9–14; Mark 3:1–6; Luke 6:6–11).

On this occasion Jesus pointed out the inconsistency and lack of compassion of His Jewish opponents (Luke 13:15, 16). Leading one’s animals to water on the Sabbath was a common and accepted practice, even though technically it counted as “working” on the supposed day of rest. If this was accepted, why should not Jesus be allowed to heal on the Sabbath? Is not a human being at least as valuable as a farm animal?

• Luke 13:10–17

Luke

A Spirit of Infirmity

13:10 Now He was teaching in one of the synagogues on the Sabbath. <sup>11</sup>And behold, there was a woman who had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bent over and could in no way raise herself up. <sup>12</sup>But when Jesus saw her, He called her to Him and said to her, “Woman, you are loosed from your infirmity.” <sup>13</sup>And He laid His hands on her, and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God.

<sup>14</sup>But the ruler of the synagogue answered with indignation, because Jesus had healed on the Sabbath; and he said to the crowd, “There are six days on which men ought to work; therefore come and be healed on them, and not on the Sabbath day.”

<sup>15</sup>The Lord then answered him and said, “Hypocrite!<sup>6</sup> Does not each one of you on the Sabbath loose his ox or donkey from the stall, and lead it away to water it? <sup>16</sup>So ought not this woman, being a daughter of Abraham, whom Satan has bound—think of it—for eighteen years, be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath?” <sup>17</sup>And when He said these things, all His adversaries were put to shame; and all the multitude rejoiced for all the glorious things that were done by Him.

Geography & Environment

Jerusalem is in the hill country of Judea and is not a natural crossroads or the center of an agricultural region. The city was a political and religious center (Luke 13:33), and its commercial importance derived from this function. The population in Jesus’ time was 25,000 or 30,000, but grew to five times that number during pilgrimage festivals (Luke 2:42).

TRANSITION

Entry into the Kingdom

When questioned concerning the number of people who will be saved, Jesus hinted that it will be only a few (Luke 13:23, 24). Stressing that the way to salvation is more difficult than the way to damnation, He urged people to enter by the “narrow gate.” Moreover, He warned that those who try entering by this gate only after it is too late would not succeed (13:25). Contrary to popular Jewish belief, Jesus insisted that not every Israelite would be saved, and neither is salvation restricted to Israel: those who are saved will come from all directions (13:29).

Luke reminds his readers that Jesus’ ultimate destination is Jerusalem (13:22). Surprisingly, some Pharisees warned Jesus of Herod’s desire to kill Him, advising Him to “depart from here” (13:31). The death threat implies that Jesus was still in Galilee, because Herod Antipas was tetrarch of Galilee and Perea from 4 B.C. until A.D. 39. Jesus’ response (13:32, 33) emphasized again that He was still on the way to Jerusalem, even if He had not yet left Galilee or had returned there momentarily. It was His destiny to die in Jerusalem, and nothing could stop Him short of that city.

The Narrow Way

13:22 And He went through the cities and villages, teaching, and journeying toward Jerusalem. <sup>23</sup>Then one said to Him, “Lord, are there few who are saved?”

And He said to them, <sup>24</sup>“Strive to enter through the narrow gate, for many, I say to you, will seek to enter and will not be able. <sup>25</sup>When once the Master of the house has risen up and shut the door, and you begin to stand outside and knock at the door, saying, ‘Lord, Lord, open for us,’ and He will answer and say to you, ‘I do not know you, where you are from,’ <sup>26</sup>then you will begin to say, ‘We ate and drank in Your presence, and You taught in our streets.’ <sup>27</sup>But He will say, ‘I tell you I do not know you, where you are from. Depart from Me, all you workers of iniquity.’ <sup>28</sup>There will be weeping and gnashing of teeth, when you see Abraham and Isaac and Jacob and all the prophets in the kingdom of God, and yourselves thrust out. <sup>29</sup>They will come from the east and the west, from the north and the south, and sit down in the kingdom of God. <sup>30</sup>And indeed there are last who will be first, and there are first who will be last.”

13:15 <sup>6</sup>NU-Text and M-Text read Hypocrites.

<sup>31</sup>On that very day<sup>a</sup> some Pharisees came, saying to Him, “Get out and depart from here, for Herod wants to kill You.”

<sup>32</sup>And He said to them, “Go, tell that fox, ‘Behold, I cast out demons and perform cures today and tomorrow, and the third day I shall be perfected.’ <sup>33</sup>Nevertheless I must journey today, tomorrow, and the day following; for it cannot be that a prophet should perish outside of Jerusalem.

Jesus Laments over Jerusalem

Meal with a Pharisee

Relations between Jesus and the Pharisees were not always hostile. On several occasions Pharisees invited Him to eat with them (Luke 7:36; 11:37; 14:1). Controversy erupted, however, over Jesus healing on the Sabbath (Luke 14:2–6; see 6:6–11; 13:10–17). There were exceptions to the rule about work on the Sabbath, and Jesus argued that His extraordinary work of healing should certainly be an exception (Luke 14:5).

The selfish behavior of the guests, vying for the best places at the dinner, led Jesus to comment on the “reversal of fortunes.” Those who seek prestige and honor for themselves will not find it, while those who humble themselves will be honored above all the rest (14:7–14).

The parable of the great supper (14:15–24) illustrates the “reversal of fortunes” theme: the rich and powerful are debased, while the poor and unfortunate are exalted. The irony of the parable is that those who are invited do not even accept the invitation, let alone seek the “best places.” Their families and businesses are more important to them, so the host invites instead people who would otherwise be considered undesirable: the poor, the maimed, the lame, the blind (14:21). The analogy is probably to the scribes and Pharisees, who, though reputed for their wisdom and piety, rejected Jesus, while those of poor reputation, both Jews of lesser social standing and Gentiles, followed Him immediately.

A Man with Dropsy Healed on the Sabbath

14 :1 Now it happened, as He went into the house of one of the rulers of the Pharisees to eat bread on the Sabbath, that they watched Him closely. <sup>2</sup>And behold, there was a certain man before Him who had dropsy. <sup>3</sup>And Jesus, answering, spoke to the lawyers and Pharisees, saying, “Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath?”<sup>a</sup>

<sup>4</sup>But they kept silent. And He took him and healed him, and let him go. <sup>5</sup>Then He answered them, saying, “Which of you, having a donkey<sup>a</sup> or an ox that has fallen into a pit, will not immediately pull him out on the Sabbath day?” <sup>6</sup>And they could not answer Him regarding these things.

Take the Lowly Place

<sup>7</sup>So He told a parable to those who were invited, when He noted how they chose the best places, saying to them: <sup>8</sup>“When you are invited by anyone to a wedding feast, do not sit down in the best place, lest one more honorable than you be invited by him; <sup>9</sup>and he who invited you and him come and say to you, ‘Give place to this man,’ and then you begin with shame to take the lowest place. <sup>10</sup>But when you are invited, go and sit down in the lowest place, so that when he who invited you comes he may say to you, ‘Friend, go up higher.’ Then you will have glory in the presence of those who sit at the table with you. <sup>11</sup>For whoever exalts himself will be humbled, and he who humbles himself will be exalted.”

<sup>12</sup>Then He also said to him who invited Him, “When you give a dinner or a supper, do not ask your friends, your brothers, your relatives, nor rich neighbors, lest they also invite you back, and you be repaid. <sup>13</sup>But when you give a feast, invite the poor, the maimed, the lame, the blind. <sup>14</sup>And you will be blessed, because they cannot repay you; for you shall be repaid at the resurrection of the just.”

The Parable of the Great Supper

<sup>15</sup>Now when one of those who sat at the table with Him heard these things, he said to Him, “Blessed is he who shall eat bread<sup>a</sup> in the kingdom of God!”

<sup>16</sup>Then He said to him, “A certain man gave a great supper and invited many, <sup>17</sup>and sent his servant at supper time to say to those who were invited, ‘Come, for all things are now ready.’ <sup>18</sup>But they all with one accord began to make excuses. The first said to him, ‘I have bought a piece of ground, and I must go and see it. I ask you to have me excused.’ <sup>19</sup>And another said, ‘I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I am going to test them. I ask you to have me excused.’ <sup>20</sup>Still another said,

'I have married a wife, and therefore I cannot come.' <sup>21</sup>So that servant came and reported these things to his master. Then the master of the house, being angry, said to his servant, 'Go out quickly into the streets and lanes of the city, and bring in here the poor and the maimed and the lame and the blind.' <sup>22</sup>And the servant said, 'Master, it is done as you commanded, and still there is room.' <sup>23</sup>Then the master said to the servant, 'Go out into the highways and hedges, and compel them to come in, that my house may be filled. <sup>24</sup>For I say to you that none of those men who were invited shall taste my supper.'

TRANSITION
Calling for Commitment

Total commitment is necessary for discipleship, and devotion to one's family is not a legitimate excuse for failing to heed Jesus' call. The idea of following Jesus was so radical and so new that a decision to become His disciple could very well lead to a split within families (see Luke 12:51–53). Because of this, Jesus' disciples must be prepared for the family hatred that might result from their unpopular decisions, and be willing to go so far as to lose their families altogether (Luke 14:26).

With the demands of discipleship being so rigorous, Jesus advised people to consider well whether they had what it takes to follow Him (14:28, 31). Just as salt can lose its flavor, so too can disciples lose their zeal when faced with poverty and persecution (14:34, 35).

• Luke 14:25–35

Luke

Leaving All to Follow Christ

14 :25 Now great multitudes went with Him. And He turned and said to them, <sup>26</sup>'If anyone comes to Me and does not hate his father and mother, wife and children, brothers and sisters, yes, and his own life also, he cannot be My disciple. <sup>27</sup>And whoever does not bear his cross and come after Me cannot be My disciple. <sup>28</sup>For which of you, intending to build a tower, does not sit down first and count the cost, whether he has enough to finish it— <sup>29</sup>lest, after he has laid the foundation, and is not able to finish, all who see it begin to mock him, <sup>30</sup>saying, 'This man began to build and was not able to finish.' <sup>31</sup>Or what king, going to make war against another king, does not sit down first and consider whether he is able with ten thousand to meet him who comes against him with twenty thousand? <sup>32</sup>Or else, while the other is still a great way off, he sends a delegation and asks conditions of peace. <sup>33</sup>So likewise, whoever of you does not forsake all that he has cannot be My disciple.

Tasteless Salt Is Worthless

<sup>34</sup>'Salt is good; but if the salt has lost its flavor, how shall it be seasoned? <sup>35</sup>It is neither fit for the land nor for the dunghill, but men throw it out. He who has ears to hear, let him hear!"

TRANSITION
Parables of the Lost

In three parables Jesus spoke about things that are lost and then found: a sheep, a coin, and a son. Matthew reports only the lost sheep parable, using it to emphasize the Father's desire that none of the "little ones" be lost (Matt. 18:10, 14). Luke suggests that the teachings all occurred on one occasion when the scribes and Pharisees complained about Jesus' association with tax collectors and sinners.

Judging from the manner in which Jesus answered His opponents, they must have thought He cared more for sinners than for the righteous. They seemed resentful of the disproportionate amount of attention Jesus was giving to the lowest people in Jewish society. Jesus answered that God will always take the initiative in seeking out what is lost, and there is always great rejoicing when that which was lost is found (Luke 15:7).

With the parable of the prodigal son (Luke 15:11–32), Jesus made two points clear. First, He was not neglecting the righteous to look for sinners. The father deals very fairly with the elder son, who still receives his inheritance (15:31). Second, Jesus associated with tax collectors and sinners precisely because they were in need of repentance and because they exhibited a willingness to repent. The younger son is grieved by his sins, and it is his sincere repentance that leads to his acceptance by his father (15:21, 24).

In many ways, the parable of the prodigal son is more about the extraordinary love of the father than it is about either of the two sons. Similarly, God's love and mercy are greater than the scribes and Pharisees could understand.

The Parable of the Lost Sheep

18 :10 "Take heed that you do not despise one of these little ones, for I say to you that in heaven their angels always see the face of My Father who is in heaven. <sup>11</sup>For the Son of Man has come to save that which was lost.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>12</sup>“What do you think? If a man has a hundred sheep, and one of them goes astray, does he not leave the ninety-nine and go to the mountains to seek the one that is straying? <sup>13</sup>And if he should find it, assuredly, I say to you, he rejoices more over that sheep than over the ninety-nine that did not go astray. <sup>14</sup>Even so it is not the will of your Father who is in heaven that one of these little ones should perish.”

Politics & Government

Roman citizens traditionally did not have to pay taxes. The tax collectors appointed by Rome collected tax from the colonies and allies of the Roman Empire. Collectors often exploited the people, and were classed with robbers, thieves, and sinners (Luke 15:1). In Syria, ill will toward taxation erupted in resistance and unrest over a census, which was the first step for imposing property and personal taxes.

Luke 15:1–32

The Parable of the Lost Sheep

15 :1 Then all the tax collectors and the sinners drew near to Him to hear Him. <sup>2</sup>And the Pharisees and scribes complained, saying, “This Man receives sinners and eats with them.” <sup>3</sup>So He spoke this parable to them, saying:

<sup>4</sup>“What man of you, having a hundred sheep, if he loses one of them, does not leave the ninety-nine in the wilderness, and go after the one which is lost until he finds it? <sup>5</sup>And when he has found it, he lays it on his shoulders, rejoicing.

The Parable of the Lost Coin

<sup>8</sup>“Or what woman, having ten silver coins,<sup>a</sup> if she loses one coin, does not light a lamp, sweep the house, and search carefully until she finds it? <sup>9</sup>And when she has found it, she calls her friends and neighbors together, saying, ‘Rejoice with me, for I have found the piece which I lost!’ <sup>10</sup>Likewise, I say to you, there is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner who repents.”

The Parable of the Lost Son

<sup>11</sup>Then He said: “A certain man had two sons. <sup>12</sup>And the younger of them said to his father, ‘Father, give me the portion of goods that falls to me.’ So he divided to them his livelihood. <sup>13</sup>And not many days after, the younger son gathered all together, journeyed to a far country, and there wasted his possessions with prodigal living. <sup>14</sup>But when he had spent all, there arose a severe famine in that land, and he began to be in want. <sup>15</sup>Then he went and joined himself to a citizen of that country, and he sent him into his fields to feed swine. <sup>16</sup>And he would gladly have filled his stomach with the pods that the swine ate, and no one gave him anything.

<sup>17</sup>“But when he came to himself, he said, ‘How many of my father’s hired servants have

ROBE, RING, SANDALS, AND CALF (LUKE 15:22, 23)

In the parable of the prodigal son (Luke 15:11–32), Jesus stressed the value of a lost sinner. The way ancient stories normally went, Jesus' hearers would expect the wayward son to get his just deserts: he had grievously insulted his father, so he should spend the remainder of his life feeding unclean pigs. Instead, Jesus portrayed the son returning home to a father who graciously receives him. Although running was considered undignified for older Jewish men, the father throws his dignity to the wind to embrace his beloved son (15:20).

The son seeks not to regain his status in his father's house, but only to be a "hired servant" (15:19). Yet the father, not answering directly, responds in a manner much more dramatic. He calls for the fatted calf—enough food to feed the whole village, normally reserved for the most special of occasions. He also calls for the best robe in the house, most probably his own, and for a ring, in all likelihood the family signet ring, symbolizing reinstatement to sonship. Lastly he furnishes sandals, worn by the sons of well-to-do households but rarely by hired servants.

The father's answer through these actions represents God's mercy to repentant sinners: "No! I will not receive you as a servant. I will receive you only as a son." The elder brother, protesting that he had been "serving" in the fields, saw himself as a faithful servant who had not received any reward (15:29), yet he needed to learn a lesson: It is always "right" (15:32) to rejoice over a life that is restored.

bread enough and to spare, and I perish with hunger! <sup>18</sup>I will arise and go to my father, and will say to him, "Father, I have sinned against heaven and before you, <sup>19</sup>and I am no longer worthy to be called your son. Make me like one of your hired servants."

<sup>20</sup>"And he arose and came to his father. But when he was still a great way off, his father saw him and had compassion, and ran and fell on his neck and kissed him. <sup>21</sup>And the son said to him, 'Father, I have sinned against heaven and in your sight, and am no longer worthy to be called your son.'

<sup>25</sup>"Now his older son was in the field. And as he came and drew near to the house, he heard music and dancing. <sup>26</sup>So he called one of the servants and asked what these things meant. <sup>27</sup>And he said to him, 'Your brother has come, and because he has received him safe and sound, your father has killed the fatted calf.'

<sup>28</sup>"But he was angry and would not go in. Therefore his father came out and pleaded with him. <sup>29</sup>So he answered and said to his father, 'Lo, these many years I have been serving you; I never transgressed your commandment at any time; and yet you never gave me a young goat, that I might make merry with my friends. <sup>30</sup>But as soon as this son of yours came, who has devoured your livelihood with harlots, you killed the fatted calf for him.'

<sup>31</sup>"And he said to him, 'Son, you are always with me, and all that I have is yours. <sup>32</sup>It was right that we should make merry and be glad, for your brother was dead and is alive again, and was lost and is found.'

Parables on Wealth

In two separate parables Luke treats the dangers of wealth, although in different ways. In between these parables is a series of wisdom sayings from Jesus.

The parable of the unjust steward (16:1–8) is one of the most puzzling in the Gospels. A dishonest manager, informed that he will be fired, provides for his future economic security by making friends of his master's debtors. The lesson is not that Christians should be dishonest and self-serving. Indeed, it is not the manager's apparent commission of fraud that is praiseworthy, but rather his prudence and resourcefulness. He used the means available to him to maximum benefit.

The wisdom sayings (16:9–18) include a warning to "money-loving" Pharisees. The wealthy may appear to others to be upright and may think to themselves that they have God's approval, but God's standards of judgment are different from those of humans (16:14, 15).

The parable of the rich man and Lazarus (16:19–31) illustrates again Luke's theme of the reversal of fortunes (see "Meal with a Pharisee" at Luke 14:1). Lazarus, who is not described as virtuous but only as poor, is comforted after death with Abraham. The rich man, whose only sin is that he is rich (and perhaps that he did not feed a hungry Lazarus), is faced with eternal torment in Hades. Abraham advises that those who do not heed "Moses and the prophets" will not be convinced to repent even by a resurrection (16:31). This saying obviously foreshadows the rejection that will continue to greet the Christian message even after the resurrection of Jesus.

The Parable of the Unjust Steward

16:1 He also said to His disciples: “There was a certain rich man who had a steward, and an accusation was brought to him that this man was wasting his goods. <sup>2</sup>So he called him and said to him, ‘What is this I hear about you? Give an account of your stewardship, for you can no longer be steward.’

<sup>3</sup>“Then the steward said within himself, ‘What shall I do? For my master is taking the stewardship away from me. I cannot dig; I am ashamed to beg. <sup>4</sup>I have resolved what to do, that when I am put out of the stewardship, they may receive me into their houses.’

<sup>5</sup>“So he called every one of his master’s debtors to him, and said to the first, ‘How much do you owe my master?’ <sup>6</sup>And he said, ‘A hundred measures<sup>a</sup> of oil.’ So he said to him, ‘Take your bill, and sit down quickly and write fifty.’ <sup>7</sup>Then he said to another, ‘And how much do you owe?’ So he said, ‘A hundred measures<sup>a</sup> of wheat.’ And he said to him, ‘Take your bill, and write eighty.’ <sup>8</sup>So the master commended the unjust steward because he had dealt shrewdly. For the sons of this world are more shrewd in their generation than the sons of light.

<sup>9</sup>“And I say to you, make friends for yourselves by unrighteous mammon, that when you fail,<sup>a</sup> they may receive you into an everlasting home. <sup>10</sup>He who is faithful in what is least is faithful also in much; and he who is unjust in what is least is unjust also in much. <sup>11</sup>Therefore if you have not been faithful in the unrighteous mammon, who will commit to your trust the true riches? <sup>12</sup>And if you have not been faithful in what is another man’s, who will give you what is your own?

<sup>13</sup>“No servant can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will be loyal to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon.”

The Law, the Prophets, and the Kingdom

<sup>14</sup>Now the Pharisees, who were lovers of money, also heard all these things, and they derided Him. <sup>15</sup>And He said to them, “You are those who justify yourselves before men, but God knows your hearts. For what is highly esteemed among men is an abomination in the sight of God.

<sup>16</sup>“The law and the prophets were until John. Since that time the kingdom of God has been preached, and everyone is pressing into it. <sup>17</sup>And it is easier for heaven and earth to pass away than for one tittle of the law to fail.

<sup>18</sup>“Whoever divorces his wife and marries another commits adultery; and whoever marries her who is divorced from her husband commits adultery.

The Rich Man and Lazarus

<sup>19</sup>“There was a certain rich man who was clothed in purple and fine linen and fared sumptuously every day. <sup>20</sup>But there was a certain beggar named Lazarus, full of sores, who was laid at his gate, <sup>21</sup>desiring to be fed with the crumbs which fell<sup>a</sup> from the rich man’s table. Moreover the dogs came and licked his sores. <sup>22</sup>So it was that the beggar died, and was carried by the angels to Abraham’s bosom. The rich man also died and was buried. <sup>23</sup>And being in torments in Hades, he lifted up his eyes and saw Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom.

<sup>24</sup>“Then he cried and said, ‘Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his finger in water and cool my tongue; for I am tormented in this flame.’ <sup>25</sup>But Abraham said, ‘Son, remember that in your lifetime you received your good things, and likewise Lazarus evil things; but now he is comforted and you are tormented. <sup>26</sup>And besides all this, between us and you there is a great gulf fixed, so that those who want to pass from here to you cannot, nor can those from there pass to us.'

<sup>27</sup>“Then he said, ‘I beg you therefore, father, that you would send him to my father’s house, <sup>28</sup>for I have five brothers, that he may testify to them, lest they also come to this place of torment.’ <sup>29</sup>Abraham said to him, ‘They have Moses and the prophets; let them hear them.’ <sup>30</sup>And he said, ‘No, father Abraham; but if one goes to them from the dead, they will repent.’ <sup>31</sup>But he said to him, ‘If they do not hear Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded though one rise from the dead.’”

Guidelines for Disciples

Jesus offered guidelines to the disciples on how to handle sin. First, disciples must avoid leading others into temptation (Matt. 18:6, 7; Luke 17:1, 2). The punishment for this offense would be severe. Second, if other disciples sin, they must be taken aside and corrected (Matt. 18:15–20; Luke 17:3). Third, if disciples repent, they must always be forgiven (Matt. 18:21, 22; Luke 17:3, 4).

Matthew’s Gospel illustrates these guidelines with the parable of the unforgiving servant (Matt. 18:23–35), emphasizing two themes. First, God will always forgive sins, no matter how serious, as long as there is sincere repentance. The amount of the debt that is forgiven by the king is an incredibly huge sum (18:24). The second theme is also found in the Lord’s Prayer (Matt. 6:9–15): the only thing that can cause God not to forgive our sins is our refusal to forgive the sins of others.

- Luke 17:1–10

Matthew 18:15–35

Dealing with a Sinning Brother

18:15 “Moreover if your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he hears you, you have gained your brother. <sup>16</sup>But if he will not hear, take with you one or two more, that ‘by the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established.’” <sup>17</sup>And if he refuses to hear them, tell it to the church. But if he refuses even to hear the church, let him be to you like a heathen and a tax collector.

<sup>18</sup>“Assuredly, I say to you, whatever you bind on earth will be bound in heaven, and whatever you loose on earth will be loosed in heaven.

<sup>19</sup>“Again I say” <sup>a</sup> to you that if two of you agree on earth concerning anything that they ask, it will be done for them by My Father in heaven. <sup>20</sup>For where two or three are gathered together in My name, I am there in the midst of them.”

The Parable of the Unforgiving Servant

<sup>21</sup>Then Peter came to Him and said, “Lord, how often shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him? Up to seven times?”

<sup>22</sup>Jesus said to him, “I do not say to you, up to seven times, but up to seventy times seven. <sup>23</sup>Therefore the kingdom of heaven is like a certain king who wanted to settle accounts with his servants. <sup>24</sup>And when he had begun to settle accounts, one was brought to him who owed him ten thousand talents. <sup>25</sup>But as he was not able to pay, his master commanded that he be sold, with his wife and children and all that he had, and that payment be made. <sup>26</sup>The servant therefore fell down before him, saying, ‘Master, have patience with me, and I will pay you all.’ <sup>27</sup>Then the master of that servant was moved with compassion, released him, and forgave him the debt.

<sup>28</sup>“But that servant went out and found one of his fellow servants who owed him a hundred denarii; and he laid hands on him and took him by the throat, saying, ‘Pay me what you owe!’ <sup>29</sup>So his fellow servant fell down at his feet<sup>a</sup> and begged him, saying, ‘Have patience with me, and I will pay you all.’” <sup>30</sup>And he would not, but went and threw him into prison till he should pay the debt. <sup>31</sup>So when his fellow servants saw what had been done, they were very grieved, and came and told their master all that had been done. <sup>32</sup>Then his master, after he had called him, said to him, ‘You wicked servant! I forgave you all that debt because you begged me. <sup>33</sup>Should you not also have had compassion on your fellow servant, just as I had pity on you?’ <sup>34</sup>And his master was angry, and delivered him to the torturers until he should pay all that was due to him.

<sup>35</sup>“So My heavenly Father also will do to you if each of you, from his heart, does not forgive his brother his trespasses.”<sup>a</sup>

Luke 17:1–10

Jesus Warns of Offenses

17:1 Then He said to the disciples, “It is impossible that no offenses should come, but woe to him through whom they do come! <sup>2</sup>It would be better for him if a millstone were hung around his neck, and he were thrown into the sea, than that he should offend one of these little ones. <sup>3</sup>Take heed to yourselves. If your brother sins against you,<sup>a</sup> rebuke him; and if he repents, forgive him. <sup>4</sup>And if he sins against you seven times in a day, and seven times in a day returns to you,<sup>a</sup> saying, ‘I repent,’ you shall forgive him.”

Faith and Duty

<sup>6</sup>So the Lord said, “If you have faith as a mustard seed, you can say to this mulberry tree, ‘Be pulled up by the roots and be planted in the sea,’ and it would obey you. <sup>7</sup>And which of you, having a servant plowing or tending sheep, will say to him when he has come in from the field, ‘Come at once and sit down to eat?’ <sup>8</sup>But will he not rather say to him, ‘Prepare something for my supper, and gird yourself and serve me till I have eaten and drunk, and afterward you will eat and drink?’ <sup>9</sup>Does he thank that servant because he did the things that were commanded him? I think not.<sup>a</sup> <sup>10</sup>So likewise you, when you have done all those things which you are commanded, say, ‘We are unprofitable servants. We have done what was our duty to do.’”

Passing Through Samaria and Galilee

The miracle which Jesus performed while journeying through Samaria and Galilee is strongly reminiscent of an earlier healing of leprosy which took place near the beginning of His Galilean ministry (see “Cleansing the Leper” at Matt. 8:1). The point of difference between the two healings is not simply that Jesus healed ten lepers instead of one, but that only one of the lepers returned to praise God. Furthermore, the grateful leper was a Samaritan (Luke 17:16), while presumably the other nine lepers were Jews. Just as in the parable of the good Samaritan (Luke 10:29–37), the behavior of a hated Samaritan proved to be better than that of the Jews themselves.

Luke’s Gospel continues its theme of inclusiveness. Faith arises from unexpected sources: women, tax collectors, and Samaritans. The leper who was shunned by Jewish society was the only one who expressed his thanks.

<sup>15</sup>And one of them, when he saw that he was healed, returned, and with a loud voice glorified God, <sup>16</sup>and fell down on his face at His feet, giving Him thanks. And he was a Samaritan.

<sup>17</sup>So Jesus answered and said, “Were there not ten cleansed? But where are the nine? <sup>18</sup>Were there not any found who returned to give glory to God except this foreigner?” <sup>19</sup>And He said to him, “Arise, go your way. Your faith has made you well.”

The Coming of the Kingdom

In response to a question posed to Him by some Pharisees about the kingdom of God, Jesus suggested that those who ask when the kingdom will come are misunderstanding it. Although He had previously hinted that one could “see” the kingdom of God (Luke 9:27), Jesus also taught His followers that the kingdom of God is not a place and does not come at a particular time. Indeed, the kingdom had “come near” (Luke 10:9) to them and had “come upon” them (Luke 11:20). When Jesus said to the Pharisees, “The kingdom of God is within you” (17:21), He possibly meant that it was in their midst in the person of Himself or that it was within their reach, if only they would repent and believe.

Jesus did distinguish, apparently, between the kingdom of God and the “days of the Son of Man” (17:22). These “days” will occur at a definite time and be accompanied by certain events (17:22–37). Not everything is known about the timing of the end, and Jesus cautioned against trying to decipher its coming from any supposed “signs.” But He did provide a dire warning: the end of the age will be characterized by a great judgment, resulting in destruction for some and salvation for others.

The Day of the Son of Man

17:20 Now when He was asked by the Pharisees when the kingdom of God would come, He answered them and said, “The kingdom of God does not come with observation; <sup>21</sup>nor will they say, ‘See here!’ or ‘See there!’<sup>a</sup> For indeed, the kingdom of God is within you.”

<sup>22</sup>Then He said to the disciples, “The days will come when you will desire to see one of the days of the Son of Man, and you will not see it. <sup>23</sup>And they will say to you, ‘Look here!’ or ‘Look there!’<sup>a</sup> Do not go after them or follow them. <sup>24</sup>For as the lightning that flashes out of one part under heaven shines to the other part under heaven, so also the Son of Man will be in His day. <sup>25</sup>But first He must suffer many things and be rejected by this generation. <sup>26</sup>And as it was in the days of Noah, so it will be also in the days of the Son of Man: <sup>27</sup>They ate, they drank, they married wives, they were given in marriage, until the day that Noah entered the ark, and the flood came and destroyed them all. <sup>28</sup>Likewise as it was also in the days of Lot: They ate, they drank, they bought, they sold, they planted, they built; <sup>29</sup>but on the day that Lot went out of Sodom it rained fire and brimstone from heaven and destroyed them all. <sup>30</sup>Even so will it be in the day when the Son of Man is revealed.

<sup>31</sup>“In that day, he who is on the housetop, and his goods are in the house, let him not come down to take them away. And likewise the one who is in the field, let him not turn back. <sup>32</sup>Remember Lot’s wife. <sup>33</sup>Whoever seeks to save his life will lose it, and whoever loses his life will preserve it. <sup>34</sup>I tell you, in that night there will be two men in one bed: the one will be taken and the other will be left. <sup>35</sup>Two women will be grinding together: the one will be taken and the other left. <sup>36</sup>Two men will be in the field: the one will be taken and the other left.”<sup>a</sup>

<sup>37</sup>And they answered and said to Him, “Where, Lord?”

So He said to them, “Wherever the body is, there the eagles will be gathered together.”

Parables on Prayer

Luke’s unique travel narrative comes to an end with two parables about prayer. The parable of the unjust judge (Luke 18:1–8) concerns the efficacy of prayer and the reward for persistence. If a judge who lacks respect for people (Luke 18:2) will finally listen to the plea of a determined widow, how much more then will a loving and gracious God listen to the prayers of the faithful? Similar teachings encouraging prayer are the parable of the persistent friend (Luke 11:5–8) and one from Matthew’s Sermon on the Mount, in which Jesus compares God’s good gifts to the simple requests that most people grant their children (Matt. 7:11).

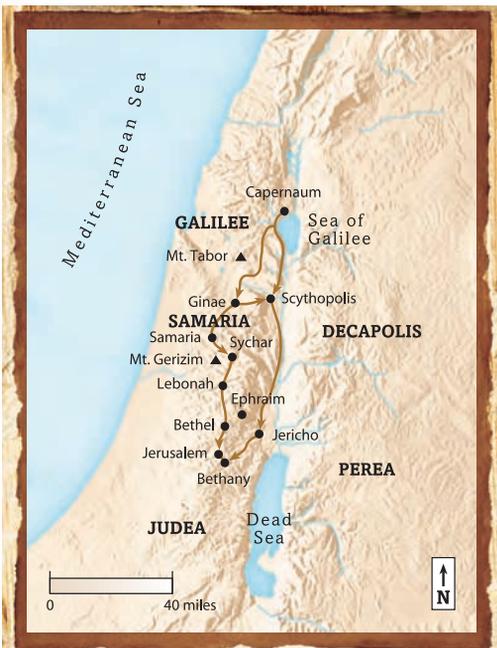

The parable of the Pharisee and the tax collector (Luke 18:9–14) concerns the necessity of humility and true repentance in prayer. Certainly, fasts and tithes are pleasing to God, but the Pharisee’s self-righteousness and self-congratulatory attitude are not. Pride in good works prevents the Pharisee from being “justified,” while the tax collector—whose profession was notorious for immoral and even criminal behavior—humbly acknowledges his sin in true repentance and is redeemed in God’s eyes.

• Luke 18:1–14

Luke

The Parable of the Persistent Widow

18:1 Then He spoke a parable to them, that men always ought to pray and not lose heart, <sup>2</sup>saying: “There was in a certain city a judge who did not fear God nor regard man. <sup>3</sup>Now there was a widow in that city; and she came to him, saying, ‘Get justice for me from my adversary.’ <sup>4</sup>And he would not for a while; but afterward he said within himself, ‘Though I do not fear God nor regard man, <sup>5</sup>yet because this widow troubles me I will avenge her, lest by her continual coming she weary me.’”

Jewish Pilgrimage to Jerusalem

Galilean Jews traveled to Jerusalem for three major Jewish festivals. The route from Capernaum to Ginea on through Samaria and Bethel was the most direct pilgrimage route. It was also cooler in hot weather to travel along the mountain ridges. An alternate route went south from Scythopolis along the west bank of the Jordan River to Jericho.

17:23 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text reverses here and there. 17:36 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text and M-Text omit verse 36.

<sup>6</sup>Then the Lord said, “Hear what the unjust judge said. <sup>7</sup>And shall God not avenge His own elect who cry out day and night to Him, though He bears long with them? <sup>8</sup>I tell you that He will avenge them speedily. Nevertheless, when the Son of Man comes, will He really find faith on the earth?”

Politics & Government

The Roman consul Marius (died 88 B.C.) gave each Roman legion a silver eagle as its symbolic standard. In 20 B.C. Augustus, working by diplomacy rather than by open fighting, was able to retrieve Roman military standards that had been captured by the Parthians, Rome’s enemies beyond Syria to the east. In A.D. 70 the Romans destroyed the Jerusalem temple and offered sacrifices to their silver eagle standards (Luke 17:37).

The Parable of the Pharisee and the Tax Collector

<sup>9</sup>Also He spoke this parable to some who trusted in themselves that they were righteous, and despised others: <sup>10</sup>“Two men went up to the temple to pray, one a Pharisee and the other a tax collector. <sup>11</sup>The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself, ‘God, I thank You that I am not like other men—extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this tax collector. <sup>12</sup>I fast twice a week; I give tithes of all that I possess.’ <sup>13</sup>And the tax collector, standing afar off, would not so much as raise his eyes to heaven, but beat his breast, saying, ‘God, be merciful to me a sinner!’ <sup>14</sup>I tell you, this man went down to his house justified rather than the other; for everyone who exalts himself will be humbled, and he who humbles himself will be exalted.”

FINAL MINISTRY IN JUDEA

Luke presents the teachings of his long travel narrative (Luke 9:51—18:14) as taking place while Jesus was on the way from Galilee to Jerusalem. In contrast, Matthew and Mark indicate very briefly that Jesus departed from Galilee and arrived in Judea (Matt. 19:1; Mark 10:1). No direct announcement of Jesus’ entry into Judea appears in Luke’s Gospel, but Jesus’ location “near Jericho” (Luke 18:35), which is in Judea, is a clear sign that Luke’s much longer account of Jesus’ journey is nearing its conclusion.

Judea was a dangerous place for Jesus, yet He continued to preach until arriving in Jerusalem.

The narration of Jesus’ ministry in John’s Gospel indicates several trips between Galilee and Judea, while Jesus attended the feasts in Jerusalem (see “The Galilean Ministry” at John 1:35). Thus much more of John’s story takes place in Judea than does that of the Synoptics. Some events of John’s account occur in Judea shortly before the last week of Jesus’ life, and these can be considered in connection with His final ministry there. Judea was a very dangerous place for Jesus, yet in spite of this danger He continued to preach and heal right up until the time of His arrival in Jerusalem.

Marriage, Divorce, and Children

Judaism, based on the Law of Moses, allowed males to obtain a divorce easily. Jesus overturned this “easy” divorce law, an interpretation of Deut. 24:1–4, and pointed to a more important scriptural principle in the story of creation. In marriage a man and a woman become “one flesh” and cannot then be separated (Gen. 2:24). Jesus further argued that the divorce law was only granted by God because of the Jews’ hardness of heart (Matt. 19:8).

The essence of Jesus’ teaching on divorce appears in all three Gospels, though Luke presents it in a very brief form while Jesus was on the way to Jerusalem (Luke 16:18). While Mark and Luke indicate a total prohibition on divorce, Matthew allows an exception for “sexual immorality” (Matt. 19:9; see Matt. 5:32). While Matthew and Luke follow Jewish marriage customs which allowed only men to divorce their wives, Mark includes also the Roman custom allowing women to divorce their husbands. Only Matthew’s Gospel shows the disciples questioning the wisdom of marriage altogether (Matt. 19:10).

The Synoptics relate an episode in which the disciples try to prevent some children (or infants) from being brought to Jesus. Perhaps they thought Jesus had more important things to do. But Jesus indignantly corrected them: the kingdom of God “belongs” to such as children (Matt. 19:14). This may be so because children believe things easily and are not skeptical and doubting like many adults, or because children (like women, Samaritans, the sick, and tax collectors) had little or no status in Jewish society in comparison to their place in the kingdom of God.

- Mark 10:1–16
- Luke 18:15–17

NO DIVORCE—EXCEPT FOR IMMORALITY (MATT. 19:3–9)

Two leading schools of Pharisees debated over what constituted appropriate grounds for divorce. The school of Hillel said that divorce was unfortunate, but that a man could divorce his wife for simply burning his toast. By contrast, the school of Shammai declared that a man could divorce his wife only if she had been sexually unfaithful in some manner, either by adultery or some other form of promiscuity.

Jesus entered the debate over grounds for divorce when the Pharisees questioned Him whether a man could divorce his wife “for just any reason” (Matt. 19:3). While the Shammaites objected to divorces based on weak grounds, they never went so far as Jesus. He replied by allowing divorce in only one situation: when the wife had committed “sexual immorality” (19:9). To divorce and remarry for any other reason was, to Jesus, adultery.

Scholars debate what exactly Jesus had in mind by “sexual immorality.” Many think that He was referring to incest or other specific forms of immorality. Normally, though, when the term “sexual immorality” appears without explanation it refers to sexual misconduct of any sort. It would be natural in Jesus’ culture for Him to comment on marital unfaithfulness in general while speaking of divorce. When ancient divorces went to court, a charge of immorality could determine who got the wife’s dowry.

In Mark’s and Luke’s Gospels, Jesus’ prohibition of divorce offers no exceptions—not even that of sexual immorality (Mark 10:11, 12; Luke 16:18). Some scholars understand these sayings to be rhetorical overstatements, a common Jewish teaching technique. Jesus used the technique when commenting on the seriousness of sin (Matt. 5:29) and on loving riches more than God (Matt. 19:24). This would not weaken Jesus’ opposition to divorce, but would recognize that He considered the innocent party in a divorce, and allowed exceptions for those divorced or betrayed against their will (Matt. 5:32; see 1 Cor. 7:15).

Matthew 19:1–15

Marriage and Divorce

19:1 Now it came to pass, when Jesus had finished these sayings, that He departed from Galilee and came to the region of Judea beyond the Jordan. <sup>2</sup>And great multitudes followed Him, and He healed them there.

<sup>3</sup>The Pharisees also came to Him, testing Him, and saying to Him, “Is it lawful for a man to divorce his wife for just any reason?”

<sup>4</sup>And He answered and said to them, “Have you not read that He who made<sup>a</sup> them at the beginning ‘made them male and female,’<sup>b</sup> <sup>5</sup>and said, ‘For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, and the two shall become one flesh’?<sup>a</sup> <sup>6</sup>So then, they are no longer two but one flesh. Therefore what God has joined together, let not man separate.”

<sup>7</sup>They said to Him, “Why then did Moses command to give a certificate of divorce, and to put her away?”

<sup>8</sup>He said to them, “Moses, because of the hardness of your hearts, permitted you to divorce your wives, but from the beginning it was not so. <sup>9</sup>And I say to you, whoever divorces his wife, except for sexual immorality,<sup>a</sup> and marries another, commits adultery; and whoever marries her who is divorced commits adultery.”

<sup>10</sup>His disciples said to Him, “If such is the case of the man with his wife, it is better not to marry.”

Jesus Teaches on Celibacy

<sup>11</sup>But He said to them, “All cannot accept this saying, but only those to whom it has been given:

<sup>12</sup>For there are eunuchs who were born thus from their mother’s womb, and there are eunuchs who were made eunuchs by men, and there are eunuchs who have made themselves eunuchs for the kingdom of heaven’s sake. He who is able to accept it, let him accept it.”

Jesus Blesses Little Children

<sup>5</sup>And Jesus answered and said to them, “Because of the hardness of your heart he wrote you this precept. <sup>6</sup>But from the beginning of the creation, God ‘made them male and female.’<sup>a</sup> <sup>7</sup>For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, <sup>8</sup>and the two shall become one flesh;<sup>a</sup> so then they are no

Riches and Discipleship

A rich young man asked Jesus what he must do to inherit eternal life. Following the commandments was a requirement the young man expected, but he became shocked and went away grieving when told to sell all of his possessions. Jesus perceived that the rich young man's problem was not that he owned many possessions, but that he cared more about them than he did about doing God's will.

The disciples too were shocked to hear Jesus comment about how hard it is for the rich to enter the kingdom of heaven. Traditional Jewish wisdom held that great riches were a sign of God's favor and blessing, while sickness and poverty were a sign of God's curse. Peter reminded Jesus that the disciples had given up everything to follow Him, and Jesus assured Peter that there would be rewards for all who faithfully followed Him (Matt. 19:27–29). Nevertheless, such rewards would be based on God's graciousness, not on human merit (see “The Laborers in the Vineyard” at Matt. 20:1).

Jesus Counsels a Rich Ruler

19:16 Now behold, one came and said to Him, “Good<sup>a</sup> Teacher, what good thing shall I do that I may have eternal life?”

<sup>17</sup>So He said to him, “Why do you call Me good?<sup>a</sup> No one is good but One, that is, God.<sup>b</sup> But if you want to enter into life, keep the commandments.”

JESUS OPPOSES DIVORCE (MARK 10:11, 12)

Many people in the ancient world believed that divorce was unfortunate; a few Jewish teachers, such as those in the school of Shammai, even believed that it was usually contrary to Scripture. But divorce was quite common, and no one went as far as Jesus in condemning it. To Him, anyone who divorced husband or wife and married another was committing adultery (Mark 10:11, 12).

Jesus confronted ancient concepts of marriage by declaring remarriage after a divorce to be adultery. Many scholars understand Him to imply that a man who divorces without legitimate grounds remains married, in God's sight, to his original wife. Thus he commits adultery against her if he remarries. Other scholars point out that Jesus, like many ancient teachers, often offered general statements of principle which did not cover every circumstance or articulate every exception. Thus it makes sense that Jesus would have allowed divorce in the case of a spouse's unfaithfulness (Matt. 5:32; 19:9) or abandonment (1 Cor. 7:15).

Many scholars also think that Jesus was protecting the innocent party in a divorce. Both schools of Pharisees limited the right of divorce to the husband alone. Jewish men had the right to divorce their wives, but the reverse was not true: women did not divorce; they “were divorced” (Matt. 5:32; Luke 16:18). Jesus possibly was defending women against being divorced frivolously.

A few women in Jesus' time could divorce their husbands. Among the Romans either the husband or the wife could initiate a divorce. So Mark, who writes his Gospel to Gentile readers, mentions the circumstance of a woman divorcing her husband (Mark 10:12). An upper-class Jewish woman, such as Herodias (Mark 6:17), being influenced by Greek custom, might also initiate a divorce. To all Jesus stressed that the psychological and physical bonds formed by marriage must not be broken—by husband or wife.

<sup>18</sup>He said to Him, “Which ones?”

Jesus said, “You shall not murder;’ ‘You shall not commit adultery;’ ‘You shall not steal;’ ‘You shall not bear false witness;’ <sup>19</sup>Honor your father and your mother;’<sup>a</sup> and, ‘You shall love your neighbor as yourself.’”<sup>b</sup>

<sup>20</sup>The young man said to Him, “All these things I have kept from my youth.<sup>a</sup> What do I still lack?”

<sup>21</sup>Jesus said to him, “If you want to be perfect, go, sell what you have and give to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; and come, follow Me.”

<sup>22</sup>But when the young man heard that saying, he went away sorrowful, for he had great possessions.

With God All Things Are Possible

<sup>23</sup>Then Jesus said to His disciples, “Assuredly, I say to you that it is hard for a rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven. <sup>24</sup>And again I say to you, it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God.”

<sup>25</sup>When His disciples heard it, they were greatly astonished, saying, “Who then can be saved?”

<sup>26</sup>But Jesus looked at them and said to them, “With men this is impossible, but with God all things are possible.”

<sup>27</sup>Then Peter answered and said to Him, “See, we have left all and followed You. Therefore what shall we have?”

<sup>28</sup>So Jesus said to them, “Assuredly I say to you, that in the regeneration, when the Son of Man sits on the throne of His glory, you who have followed Me will also sit on twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel. <sup>29</sup>And everyone who has left houses or brothers or sisters or father or mother or wife<sup>a</sup> or children or lands, for My name’s sake, shall receive a hundredfold, and inherit eternal life. <sup>30</sup>But many who are first will be last, and the last first.”

Mark 10:17–31

Earthly Riches

10:17 Now as He was going out on the road, one came running, knelt before Him, and asked Him, “Good Teacher, what shall I do that I may inherit eternal life?”

<sup>18</sup>So Jesus said to him, “Why do you call Me good? No one is good but One, that is, God. <sup>19</sup>You know the commandments: ‘Do not commit adultery;’ ‘Do not murder;’ ‘Do not steal;’ ‘Do not bear false witness;’ ‘Do not defraud;’ ‘Honor your father and your mother.’”<sup>a</sup>

<sup>20</sup>And he answered and said to Him, “Teacher, all these things I have kept from my youth.”

<sup>21</sup>Then Jesus, looking at him, loved him, and said to him, “One thing you lack: Go your way, sell whatever you have and give to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; and come, take up the cross, and follow Me.”

<sup>22</sup>But he was sad at this word, and went away sorrowful, for he had great possessions.

Heavenly Rewards

<sup>23</sup>Then Jesus looked around and said to His disciples, “How hard it is for those who have riches to enter the kingdom of God!” <sup>24</sup>And the disciples were astonished at His words. But Jesus answered again and said to them, “Children, how hard it is for those who trust in riches<sup>a</sup> to enter the kingdom of God! <sup>25</sup>It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God.”

<sup>26</sup>And they were greatly astonished, saying among themselves, “Who then can be saved?”

<sup>27</sup>But Jesus looked at them and said, “With men it is impossible, but not with God; for with God all things are possible.”

<sup>28</sup>Then Peter began to say to Him, “See, we have left all and followed You.”

<sup>29</sup>So Jesus answered and said, “Assuredly, I say to you, there is no one who has left house or brothers or sisters or father or mother or wife<sup>a</sup> or children or lands, for My sake and the gospel’s, <sup>30</sup>who shall not receive a hundredfold now in this time—houses and brothers and sisters and mothers and children and lands, with persecutions—and in the age to come, eternal life. <sup>31</sup>But many who are first will be last, and the last first.”

Jesus Counsels the Rich Young Ruler

18:18 Now a certain ruler asked Him, saying, “Good Teacher, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?”

<sup>19</sup>So Jesus said to him, “Why do you call Me good? No one is good but One, that is, God. <sup>20</sup>You

Arts & Literature

Jesus’ saying about a camel is a kind of proverb, a colorful illustration of impossibility. A rich man who loves his riches more than God can no more enter God’s kingdom than a camel can pass through the “eye of a needle” (Matt. 19:24). Many people at that time would have been puzzled to hear that the rich were at a disadvantage in anything, since money opened so many doors.

<sup>21</sup>And he said, “All these things I have kept from my youth.”

<sup>22</sup>So when Jesus heard these things, He said to him, “You still lack one thing. Sell all that you have and distribute to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; and come, follow Me.”

<sup>23</sup>But when he heard this, he became very sorrowful, for he was very rich.

The Danger of Riches

<sup>24</sup>And when Jesus saw that he became very sorrowful, He said, “How hard it is for those who have riches to enter the kingdom of God! <sup>25</sup>For it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God.”

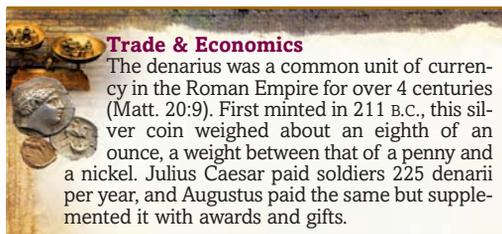

<sup>26</sup>And those who heard it said, “Who then can be saved?”

<sup>27</sup>But He said, “The things which are impossible with men are possible with God.”

<sup>29</sup>So He said to them, “Assuredly, I say to you, there is no one who has left house or parents or brothers or wife or children, for the sake of the kingdom of God, <sup>30</sup>who shall not receive many times more in this present time, and in the age to come eternal life.”

Trade & Economics

The denarius was a common unit of currency in the Roman Empire for over 4 centuries (Matt. 20:9). First minted in 211 B.C., this silver coin weighed about an eighth of an ounce, a weight between that of a penny and a nickel. Julius Caesar paid soldiers 225 denarii per year, and Augustus paid the same but supplemented it with awards and gifts.

The Laborers in the Vineyard

Only Matthew’s Gospel relates the parable of the laborers in the vineyard. The point of the parable is that the owner of the vineyard was not unfair to the workers hired early in the morning, since he paid them exactly what he had promised. If he is more generous to the workers who come later, he is within his rights to do so. Likewise, God’s rewards are not earned by the time we serve or the energy we expend. They are His gracious gifts to all who follow Him faithfully. Matthew’s parable explains the proverb “first will be last” (Matt. 19:30; 20:16).

The Parable of the Laborers

20:1 “For the kingdom of heaven is like a landowner who went out early in the morning to hire laborers for his vineyard. <sup>2</sup>Now when he had agreed with the laborers for a denarius a day, he sent them into his vineyard. <sup>3</sup>And he went out about the third hour and saw others standing idle in the marketplace, <sup>4</sup>and said to them, ‘You also go into the vineyard, and whatever is right I will give you.’ So they went. <sup>5</sup>Again he went out about the sixth and the ninth hour, and did likewise. <sup>6</sup>And about the eleventh hour he went out and found others standing idle,<sup>a</sup> and said to them, ‘Why have you been standing here idle all day?’ <sup>7</sup>They said to him, ‘Because no one hired us.’ He said to them, ‘You also go into the vineyard, and whatever is right you will receive.’<sup>a</sup>

<sup>8</sup>“So when evening had come, the owner of the vineyard said to his steward, ‘Call the laborers and give them their wages, beginning with the last to the first.’ <sup>9</sup>And when those came who were hired about the eleventh hour, they each received a denarius. <sup>10</sup>But when the first came, they supposed that they would receive more; and they likewise received each a denarius. <sup>11</sup>And when they had received it, they complained against the landowner, <sup>12</sup>saying, ‘These last men have worked only one hour, and you made them equal to us who have borne the burden and the heat of the day.’ <sup>13</sup>But he answered one of them and said, ‘Friend, I am doing you no wrong. Did you not agree with me for a denarius?’ <sup>14</sup>Take what is yours and go your way. I wish to give to this last man the same as to you. <sup>15</sup>Is it not lawful for me to do what I wish with my own things? Or is your eye evil because I am good?’ <sup>16</sup>So the last will be first, and the first last. For many are called, but few chosen.”<sup>a</sup>

At the Feast of Dedication

John reports that Jesus was in Jerusalem during the Feast of Dedication (Hanukkah). This feast was celebrated in winter (John 10:22), and the particular feast visited by Jesus was probably in December of A.D. 29 (see "Attending the Feast of Tabernacles" at John 7:1). It is not clear whether Jesus had remained in Jerusalem during the 2 months since the Feast of Tabernacles or had recently returned to the city.

Jesus disputed with His opponents over two issues concerning His identity. First, they challenged Him to state "plainly" whether He was "the Christ" (that is, the Messiah; John 10:24). The nationalist character of the Feast of Dedication would have encouraged questions about Israel's Messiah. The festival commemorated the rededication of the temple in 165 B.C. by Judas Maccabeus, who had led Judea's war of independence against the Seleucid ruler Antiochus Epiphanes.

Jesus' opponents raised a second issue, charging that Jesus had committed "blasphemy" by making Himself God (10:33). He had performed messianic "works" and claimed that these works bore witness to Him (10:25). Jewish leaders would not have considered that claim in itself blasphemous, for they did not believe that the Messiah would be a divine figure. Rather, it was Jesus' claim of a unique relationship with God that sparked their charge: He actually said, "I and My Father are one" (10:30). The continued opposition Jesus met in Jerusalem (10:39) was quite a contrast to the acceptance He found in Perea, on the east side of the Jordan River (10:41, 42).

The Shepherd Knows His Sheep

10:22 Now it was the Feast of Dedication in Jerusalem, and it was winter. <sup>23</sup>And Jesus walked in the temple, in Solomon's porch. <sup>24</sup>Then the Jews surrounded Him and said to Him, "How long do You keep us in doubt? If You are the Christ, tell us plainly."

<sup>25</sup>Jesus answered them, "I told you, and you do not believe. The works that I do in My Father's name, they bear witness of Me. <sup>26</sup>But you do not believe, because you are not of My sheep, as I said to you. <sup>27</sup>My sheep hear My voice, and I know them, and they follow Me. <sup>28</sup>And I give them eternal life, and they shall never perish; neither shall anyone snatch them out of My hand. <sup>29</sup>My Father, who has given them to Me, is greater than all; and no one is able to snatch them out of My Father's hand. <sup>30</sup>I and My Father are one."

Renewed Efforts to Stone Jesus

<sup>31</sup>Then the Jews took up stones again to stone Him. <sup>32</sup>Jesus answered them, "Many good works I have shown you from My Father. For which of those works do you stone Me?"

<sup>33</sup>The Jews answered Him, saying, "For a good work we do not stone You, but for blasphemy, and because You, being a Man, make Yourself God."

<sup>34</sup>Jesus answered them, "Is it not written in your law, 'I said, "You are gods" '?'<sup>a</sup> <sup>35</sup>If He called them gods, to whom the word of God came (and the Scripture cannot be broken), <sup>36</sup>do you say of Him whom the Father sanctified and sent into the world, 'You are blaspheming,' because I said, 'I am the Son of God?' <sup>37</sup>If I do not do the works of My Father, do not believe Me; <sup>38</sup>but if I do, though you do not believe Me, believe the works, that you may know and believe<sup>a</sup> that the Father is in Me, and I in Him." <sup>39</sup>Therefore they sought again to seize Him, but He escaped out of their hand.

The Believers Beyond Jordan

<sup>40</sup>And He went away again beyond the Jordan to the place where John was baptizing at first, and there He stayed. <sup>41</sup>Then many came to Him and said, "John performed no sign, but all the things that John spoke about this Man were true." <sup>42</sup>And many believed in Him there.

The Raising of Lazarus

The story of Jesus raising Lazarus from the dead is the turning point in John's Gospel. Not only is this miracle the last of the "signs" emphasized by John (John 11:47; see "The First of Seven Signs" at John 2:1), it is also the climax of Jesus' public ministry. Repeatedly John mentions how this miracle revealed Jesus and led people to believe (11:4, 15, 25–27, 40, 42, 45).

Raising Lazarus from the dead dramatically concluded Jesus' public ministry among the Jews (11:54). While some came to believe in Him because of this great miracle, His opponents, alarmed at Jesus' growing popularity, resolved "to put Him to death" (11:53). A threat of execution had already hung over Jesus (11:8, 16), but now the religious authorities decided that His popularity threatened to provoke intervention by the Roman military. The priest Caiaphas advised that Jesus must die so that the Romans would not take away the privileges of the Jewish nation (11:48). But John interprets the priest's political calculation as an indirect prophecy that Jesus would die for the salvation of the Jews and of people everywhere who would believe in Him (11:51, 52).

THE TEMPLES OF YAHWEH

The “Solomon’s porch” (John 10:23) through which Jesus walked was a colonnade on the east side of Herod’s temple. In order to gain favor with the Jews, Herod the Great began rebuilding the Jerusalem temple in his 18th year (20–19 B.C.). The main structure was completed in 18 months, but the project was still under way in Jesus’ time (John 2:20). Herod’s building was one of a series of structures constructed over the years for the worship of Yahweh.

The Death of Lazarus

11:1 Now a certain man was sick, Lazarus of Bethany, the town of Mary and her sister Martha. <sup>2</sup>It was that Mary who anointed the Lord with fragrant oil and wiped His feet with her hair, whose brother Lazarus was sick. <sup>3</sup>Therefore the sisters sent to Him, saying, “Lord, behold, he whom You love is sick.”

<sup>4</sup>When Jesus heard that, He said, “This sickness is not unto death, but for the glory of God, that the Son of God may be glorified through it.”

<sup>5</sup>Now Jesus loved Martha and her sister and Lazarus. <sup>6</sup>So, when He heard that he was sick, He stayed two more days in the place where He was. <sup>7</sup>Then after this He said to the disciples, “Let us go to Judea again.”

<sup>8</sup>The disciples said to Him, “Rabbi, lately the Jews sought to stone You, and are You going there again?”

<sup>9</sup>Jesus answered, “Are there not twelve hours in the day? If anyone walks in the day, he does not stumble, because he sees the light of this world. <sup>10</sup>But if one walks in the night, he stumbles, because the light is not in him.” <sup>11</sup>These things He said, and after that He said to them, “Our friend Lazarus sleeps, but I go that I may wake him up.”

<sup>12</sup>Then His disciples said, “Lord, if he sleeps he will get well.” <sup>13</sup>However, Jesus spoke of his death, but they thought that He was speaking about taking rest in sleep.

<sup>14</sup>Then Jesus said to them plainly, “Lazarus is dead. <sup>15</sup>And I am glad for your sakes that I was not there, that you may believe. Nevertheless let us go to him.”

<sup>16</sup>Then Thomas, who is called the Twin, said to his fellow disciples, “Let us also go, that we may die with Him.”

I Am the Resurrection and the Life

<sup>17</sup>So when Jesus came, He found that he had already been in the tomb four days. <sup>18</sup>Now Bethany was near Jerusalem, about two miles<sup>a</sup> away. <sup>19</sup>And many of the Jews had joined the women around Martha and Mary, to comfort them concerning their brother.

<sup>20</sup>Now Martha, as soon as she heard that Jesus was coming, went and met Him, but Mary was sitting in the house. <sup>21</sup>Now Martha said to Jesus, “Lord, if You had been here, my brother would not have died. <sup>22</sup>But even now I know that whatever You ask of God, God will give You.”

11:18 <sup>a</sup>Literally fifteen stadia

<sup>23</sup>Jesus said to her, “Your brother will rise again.”

<sup>24</sup>Martha said to Him, “I know that he will rise again in the resurrection at the last day.”

<sup>25</sup>Jesus said to her, “I am the resurrection and the life. He who believes in Me, though he may die, he shall live. <sup>26</sup>And whoever lives and believes in Me shall never die. Do you believe this?”

<sup>27</sup>She said to Him, “Yes, Lord, I believe that You are the Christ, the Son of God, who is to come into the world.”

Jesus and Death, the Last Enemy

<sup>28</sup>And when she had said these things, she went her way and secretly called Mary her sister, saying, “The Teacher has come and is calling for you.” <sup>29</sup>As soon as she heard that, she arose quickly and came to Him. <sup>30</sup>Now Jesus had not yet come into the town, but was<sup>a</sup> in the place where Martha met Him. <sup>31</sup>Then the Jews who were with her in the house, and comforting her, when they saw that Mary rose up quickly and went out, followed her, saying, “She is going to the tomb to weep there.”<sup>a</sup>

<sup>32</sup>Then, when Mary came where Jesus was, and saw Him, she fell down at His feet, saying to Him, “Lord, if You had been here, my brother would not have died.”

<sup>33</sup>Therefore, when Jesus saw her weeping, and the Jews who came with her weeping, He groaned in the spirit and was troubled. <sup>34</sup>And He said, “Where have you laid him?”

They said to Him, “Lord, come and see.”

<sup>35</sup>Jesus wept. <sup>36</sup>Then the Jews said, “See how He loved him!”

<sup>37</sup>And some of them said, “Could not this Man, who opened the eyes of the blind, also have kept this man from dying?”

Lazarus Raised from the Dead

<sup>38</sup>Then Jesus, again groaning in Himself, came to the tomb. It was a cave, and a stone lay against it. <sup>39</sup>Jesus said, “Take away the stone.”

Martha, the sister of him who was dead, said to Him, “Lord, by this time there is a stench, for he has been dead four days.”

<sup>40</sup>Jesus said to her, “Did I not say to you that if you would believe you would see the glory of God?” <sup>41</sup>Then they took away the stone from the place where the dead man was lying.<sup>a</sup> And Jesus lifted up His eyes and said, “Father, I thank You that You have heard Me. <sup>42</sup>And I know that You always hear Me, but because of the people who are standing by I said this, that they may believe that You sent Me.” <sup>43</sup>Now when He had said these things, He cried with a loud voice, “Lazarus, come forth!” <sup>44</sup>And he who had died came out bound hand and foot with graveclothes, and his face was wrapped with a cloth. Jesus said to them, “Loose him, and let him go.”

The Plot to Kill Jesus

<sup>45</sup>Then many of the Jews who had come to Mary, and had seen the things Jesus did, believed in Him. <sup>46</sup>But some of them went away to the Pharisees and told them the things Jesus did. <sup>47</sup>Then the chief priests and the Pharisees gathered a council and said, “What shall we do? For this Man works many signs. <sup>48</sup>If we let Him alone like this, everyone will believe in Him, and the Romans will come and take away both our place and nation.”

<sup>49</sup>And one of them, Caiaphas, being high priest that year, said to them, “You know nothing at all, <sup>50</sup>nor do you consider that it is expedient

Roman Control of Palestine

Following a successful military campaign against the Seleucids in 64 B.C., Pompey turned the Roman armies southward and took control of Jerusalem in 63 B.C. Initially the Roman army had been invited by some of the Jews to protect them from the Nabateans. Once the Romans became established in Palestine, they never left, despite repeated Jewish revolts against Roman control. In Jesus’ time, Jewish leaders feared the strength of Rome (John 11:48).

for us<sup>a</sup> that one man should die for the people, and not that the whole nation should perish.”<sup>51</sup> Now this he did not say on his own authority; but being high priest that year he prophesied that Jesus would die for the nation,<sup>52</sup> and not for that nation only, but also that He would gather together in one the children of God who were scattered abroad.

<sup>53</sup> Then, from that day on, they plotted to put Him to death. <sup>54</sup> Therefore Jesus no longer walked openly among the Jews, but went from there into the country near the wilderness, to a city called Ephraim, and there remained with His disciples.

<sup>55</sup> And the Passover of the Jews was near, and many went from the country up to Jerusalem before the Passover, to purify themselves. <sup>56</sup> Then they sought Jesus, and spoke among themselves as they stood in the temple, “What do you think—that He will not come to the feast?” <sup>57</sup> Now both the chief priests and the Pharisees had given a command, that if anyone knew where He was, he should report it, that they might seize Him.

Greatness and Discipleship

Shortly before His Triumphal Entry into Jerusalem, Jesus predicted His passion for a third and final time. Since Jesus’ humiliating death on a cross was such a stumbling block for so many people, each of the Synoptic writers repeat continually the message that Jesus knew beforehand He would die and faced death willingly, and that the crucifixion was part of God’s plan for the forgiveness of sins for all people. The idea of a suffering Messiah was strange to most Jews of the time, as shown in part by the befuddled reaction of the disciples to the passion prediction (Luke 18:34).

According to Mark’s Gospel, James and John reacted to the passion prediction by seeking honor from Jesus when He is in His glory (Mark 10:37). Their selfish request shows that they were still thinking in terms of an earthly kingdom for Jesus and were preoccupied with greatness, fame, and glory. They had not yet taken to heart Jesus’ repeated message that Christian discipleship is really about service to others. Matthew’s Gospel lessens the negative image of James and John by depicting their mother, not the disciples themselves, as the one making the request (Matt. 20:20).

- Matthew 20:17–28
- Mark 10:32–45
- Luke 18:31–34

Politics & Government

From the time of Julius Caesar (died 44 B.C.) through the time of Augustus (died A.D. 14) and beyond, Roman law protected the Jewish religion. Various aspects of Jewish life were protected, such as collecting the temple tax, holding religious services, and exercising some self-government and police authority in Judea. The chief priests feared that Jesus would cause the Romans to take away these privileges (John 11:48).

Jesus a Third Time Predicts His Death and Resurrection

20:17 Now Jesus, going up to Jerusalem, took the twelve disciples aside on the road and said to them, <sup>18</sup> “Behold, we are going up to Jerusalem, and the Son of Man will be betrayed to the chief priests and to the scribes; and they will condemn Him to death, <sup>19</sup> and deliver Him to the Gentiles to mock and to scourge and to crucify. And the third day He will rise again.”

Greatness Is Serving

<sup>20</sup> Then the mother of Zebedee’s sons came to Him with her sons, kneeling down and asking something from Him.

<sup>21</sup> And He said to her, “What do you wish?”

She said to Him, “Grant that these two sons of mine may sit, one on Your right hand and the other on the left, in Your kingdom.”

<sup>22</sup> But Jesus answered and said, “You do not know what you ask. Are you able to drink the cup that I am about to drink, and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with?”<sup>a</sup>

They said to Him, “We are able.”

<sup>23</sup> So He said to them, “You will indeed drink My cup, and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with;<sup>a</sup> but to sit on My right hand and on My left is not Mine to give, but it is for those for whom it is prepared by My Father.”

<sup>24</sup> And when the ten heard it, they were greatly displeased with the two brothers. <sup>25</sup> But Jesus called them to Himself and said, “You know that the rulers of the Gentiles lord it over them, and those who are great exercise authority over them. <sup>26</sup> Yet it shall not be so among you; but whoever desires to become great among you, let him be your servant. <sup>27</sup> And whoever desires to be first among you, let him be your slave—<sup>28</sup> just as the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give His life a ransom for many.”

Mark 10:32–45

Service: Christ’s Way to Greatness

10:32 Now they were on the road, going up to Jerusalem, and Jesus was going before them; and they were amazed. And as they followed they were afraid. Then He took the twelve aside again and began to tell them the things that would happen to Him: <sup>33</sup>“Behold, we are going up to Jerusalem, and the Son of Man will be betrayed to the chief priests and to the scribes; and they will condemn Him to death and deliver Him to the Gentiles; <sup>34</sup>and they will mock Him, and scourge Him, and spit on Him, and kill Him. And the third day He will rise again.”

<sup>35</sup>Then James and John, the sons of Zebedee, came to Him, saying, “Teacher, we want You to do for us whatever we ask.”

<sup>36</sup>And He said to them, “What do you want Me to do for you?”

<sup>37</sup>They said to Him, “Grant us that we may sit, one on Your right hand and the other on Your left, in Your glory.”

<sup>38</sup>But Jesus said to them, “You do not know what you ask. Are you able to drink the cup that I drink, and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with?”

<sup>39</sup>They said to Him, “We are able.”

So Jesus said to them, “You will indeed drink the cup that I drink, and with the baptism I am baptized with you will be baptized; <sup>40</sup>but to sit on My right hand and on My left is not Mine to give, but it is for those for whom it is prepared.”

<sup>41</sup>And when the ten heard it, they began to be greatly displeased with James and John. <sup>42</sup>But Jesus called them to Himself and said to them, “You know that those who are considered rulers over the Gentiles lord it over them, and their great ones exercise authority over them. <sup>43</sup>Yet it shall not be so among you; but whoever desires to become great among you shall be your servant. <sup>44</sup>And whoever of you desires to be first shall be slave of all. <sup>45</sup>For even the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give His life a ransom for many.”

Passing Through Jericho Toward Jerusalem

All three Synoptic Gospels recount how Jesus healed a blind beggar while passing through the city of Jericho on His way to Jerusalem. Matthew’s Gospel mentions the healing of two blind men (Matt. 20:30, 34), of which one may have been Bartimaeus (Mark 10:46). This episode is another in a long line of stories which illustrate (in varying degrees in the different Gospels) the remarkable faith of the people that Jesus healed. Bartimaeus proclaimed his faith in Jesus as the Messiah by calling Him “Son of David” (Mark 10:47; 12:35). The blind man was fully confident in Jesus’ power to heal him.

Two episodes unique to Luke’s Gospel continue Jesus’ progress toward Jerusalem. In the city of Jericho Jesus sought out a tax collector, a story illustrating Luke’s favorite theme of Jesus’ concern for the “lost” and the outcast (Luke 19:1–10). Contrary to the assumptions of the crowd, Jesus proclaimed Zacchaeus to be a faithful son of Abraham (19:9). Even a tax collector such as Zacchaeus could be saved.

In another unique account (19:11–27), Luke explains that Jesus told the parable of the pounds to correct the mistaken impression that the kingdom of God would appear immediately. Jesus was now “near Jerusalem” (19:11), and some Jews expected a political revolution to take place in the city.

The Third Prediction

18 :31 Then He took the twelve aside and said to them, “Behold, we are going up to Jerusalem, and all things that are written by the prophets concerning the Son of Man will be accomplished. <sup>32</sup>For He will be delivered to the Gentiles and will be mocked and insulted and spit upon. <sup>33</sup>They will scourge Him and kill Him. And the third day He will rise again.”

<sup>34</sup>But they understood none of these things; this saying was hidden from them, and they did not know the things which were spoken.

Matthew 20:29–34

Two Blind Men Receive Their Sight

20 :29 Now as they went out of Jericho, a great multitude followed Him. <sup>30</sup>And behold, two blind men sitting by the road, when they heard that Jesus was passing by, cried out, saying, “Have mercy on us, O Lord, Son of David!”

<sup>31</sup>Then the multitude warned them that they should be quiet; but they cried out all the more, saying, “Have mercy on us, O Lord, Son of David!”

<sup>32</sup>So Jesus stood still and called them, and said, “What do you want Me to do for you?”

<sup>33</sup>They said to Him, “Lord, that our eyes may be opened.” <sup>34</sup>So Jesus had compassion and touched their eyes. And immediately their eyes received sight, and they followed Him.

Mark 10:46–52

Jesus Heals Blind Bartimaeus

10 :46 Now they came to Jericho. As He went out of Jericho with His disciples and a great multitude, blind Bartimaeus, the son of Timaeus, sat by the road begging. <sup>47</sup>And when he heard that it was Jesus of Nazareth, he began to cry out and say, “Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me!”

<sup>48</sup>Then many warned him to be quiet; but he cried out all the more, “Son of David, have mercy on me!”

<sup>49</sup>So Jesus stood still and commanded him to be called.

Then they called the blind man, saying to him, “Be of good cheer. Rise, He is calling you.”

<sup>50</sup>And throwing aside his garment, he rose and came to Jesus.

<sup>51</sup>So Jesus answered and said to him, “What do you want Me to do for you?”

The blind man said to Him, “Rabboni, that I may receive my sight.”

<sup>52</sup>Then Jesus said to him, “Go your way; your faith has made you well.” And immediately he received his sight and followed Jesus on the road.

Luke 18:35—19:27

A Blind Man Receives His Sight

18 :35 Then it happened, as He was coming near Jericho, that a certain blind man sat by the road begging. <sup>36</sup>And hearing a multitude passing by, he asked what it meant. <sup>37</sup>So they told him that Jesus of Nazareth was passing by. <sup>38</sup>And he cried out, saying, “Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me!”

<sup>39</sup>Then those who went before warned him that he should be quiet; but he cried out all the more, “Son of David, have mercy on me!”

<sup>40</sup>So Jesus stood still and commanded him to be brought to Him. And when he had come near, He asked him, <sup>41</sup>saying, “What do you want Me to do for you?”

He said, “Lord, that I may receive my sight.”

<sup>42</sup>Then Jesus said to him, “Receive your sight; your faith has made you well.” <sup>43</sup>And immediately he received his sight, and followed Him, glorifying God. And all the people, when they saw it, gave praise to God.

Jesus Comes to Zacchaeus’s House

19 <sup>1</sup>Then Jesus entered and passed through Jericho. <sup>2</sup>Now behold, there was a man named Zacchaeus who was a chief tax collector, and he was rich. <sup>3</sup>And he sought to see who Jesus was, but could not because of the crowd, for he was of short stature. <sup>4</sup>So he ran ahead and climbed up into a sycamore tree to see Him, for He was going to pass that way. <sup>5</sup>And when Jesus came to the place, He looked up and saw him, <sup>6</sup>and said to him, “Zacchaeus, make haste and come down, for today I must stay at your house.” <sup>7</sup>So he made haste and came down, and received Him joyfully. <sup>8</sup>But when they saw it, they all complained, saying, “He has gone to be a guest with a man who is a sinner.”

<sup>8</sup>Then Zacchaeus stood and said to the Lord, “Look, Lord, I give half of my goods to the poor; and if I have taken anything from anyone by false accusation, I restore fourfold.”

<sup>9</sup>And Jesus said to him, “Today salvation has come to this house, because he also is a son of Abraham; <sup>10</sup>for the Son of Man has come to seek and to save that which was lost.”

The Parable of the Minas

<sup>11</sup>Now as they heard these things, He spoke another parable, because He was near Jerusalem and because they thought the kingdom of God would appear immediately. <sup>12</sup>Therefore He said: “A certain nobleman went into a far country to receive for himself a kingdom and to return. <sup>13</sup>So he called ten of his servants, delivered to them ten minas,<sup>a</sup> and said to them, ‘Do business till I come.’<sup>14</sup> But his citizens hated him, and sent a delegation after him, saying, ‘We will not have this man to reign over us.’

19:5 <sup>6</sup>NU-Text omits and saw him.

<sup>15</sup>“And so it was that when he returned, having received the kingdom, he then commanded these servants, to whom he had given the money, to be called to him, that he might know how much every man had gained by trading.<sup>16</sup> Then came the first, saying, ‘Master, your mina has earned ten minas.’<sup>17</sup> And he said to him, ‘Well done, good servant; because you were faithful in a very little, have authority over ten cities.’<sup>18</sup> And the second came, saying, ‘Master, your mina has earned five minas.’<sup>19</sup> Likewise he said to him, ‘You also be over five cities.’

<sup>20</sup>“Then another came, saying, ‘Master, here is your mina, which I have kept put away in a handkerchief.’<sup>21</sup> For I feared you, because you are an austere man. You collect what you did not deposit, and reap what you did not sow.’<sup>22</sup> And he said to him, ‘Out of your own mouth I will judge you, you wicked servant. You knew that I was an austere man, collecting what I did not deposit and reaping what I did not sow.’<sup>23</sup> Why then did you not put my money in the bank, that at my coming I might have collected it with interest?’

<sup>24</sup>“And he said to those who stood by, ‘Take the mina from him, and give it to him who has ten minas.’<sup>25</sup> (But they said to him, ‘Master, he has ten minas.’)<sup>26</sup> For I say to you, that to everyone who has will be given; and from him who does not have, even what he has will be taken away from him.’<sup>27</sup> But bring here those enemies of mine, who did not want me to reign over them, and slay them before me.’”

Returning to Bethany Before the Passover

All four Gospels relate stories of a woman who anoints Jesus. There are significant differences among these accounts, with only Matthew and Mark being in close agreement (see “Plot, Anointing, Betrayal” at Matt. 26:1). Some scholars suppose that the different accounts arose from only a single anointing incident. Others have concluded that there were three separate anointings—one reported by Luke, another by John, and a third by Matthew and Mark. Yet others see just two separate incidents—one related by Luke, and the other by Matthew, Mark, and John.

The anointing account in John’s Gospel is closer to Matthew’s and Mark’s than to Luke’s. Only Luke places the incident in the house of a Pharisee who questions why Jesus is anointed by “a sinner” (see “Anointing in Galilee” at Luke 7:36–50). John concurs with Matthew and Mark that the anointing occurred in Bethany and figuratively prepared Jesus for His later burial (John 12:7).

On other details John differs from Matthew and Mark. The exact location in Bethany where the anointing took place is the house of Lazarus, Mary, and Martha in John’s Gospel, but the house of Simon the leper in Mark’s and Matthew’s Gospels. Also different is John’s timing of the event. He places it “six days before the Passover” (John 12:1), thus before the Triumphal Entry (see “Sunday: The Triumphal Entry” at Matt. 21:1). In contrast, Matthew and Mark place it only two days before Passover (Mark 14:1, 3) and thus after Jesus’ entry into Jerusalem.

The Anointing at Bethany

12:1 Then, six days before the Passover, Jesus came to Bethany, where Lazarus was who had been dead,<sup>a</sup> whom He had raised from the dead.<sup>2</sup> There they made Him a supper; and Martha served, but Lazarus was one of those who sat at the table with Him.<sup>3</sup> Then Mary took a pound of very costly oil of spikenard, anointed the feet of Jesus, and wiped His feet with her hair. And the house was filled with the fragrance of the oil.

<sup>4</sup>But one of His disciples, Judas Iscariot, Simon’s son, who would betray Him, said, <sup>5</sup>“Why was this fragrant oil not sold for three hundred denarii<sup>a</sup> and given to the poor?”<sup>6</sup> This he said, not that he cared for the poor, but because he was a thief, and had the money box; and he used to take what was put in it.

<sup>7</sup>But Jesus said, “Let her alone; she has kept<sup>a</sup> this for the day of My burial.<sup>8</sup> For the poor you have with you always, but Me you do not have always.”

The Plot to Kill Lazarus

<sup>9</sup>Now a great many of the Jews knew that He was there; and they came, not for Jesus’ sake only, but that they might also see Lazarus, whom He had raised from the dead.<sup>10</sup> But the chief priests plotted to put Lazarus to death also,<sup>11</sup> because on account of him many of the Jews went away and believed in Jesus.

19:13 <sup>a</sup>The mina (Greek mna, Hebrew minah) was worth about three months’ salary. John 12:1 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits who had been dead. 12:5 <sup>a</sup>About one year’s wages for a worker 12:7 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text reads that she may keep.

JESUS' FINAL WEEK IN JERUSALEM

All four Gospels stress the importance of Jesus' final week in Jerusalem. The account of this week occupies fully the last half of the Fourth Gospel (John 12—21) and roughly the last one-third of both Matthew (Matt. 21—28) and Mark (Mark 11—16). Early in his own Gospel, Luke announces that Jesus “set His face to go to Jerusalem” (Luke 9:51).

As Jesus determined to move steadfastly toward

During the final week of His life, often called “Passion Week,” Jesus fulfilled His mission.

Jerusalem, He thus moved toward His own death. The final week of His life is often called “Passion Week,” an appropriate name since the word “passion” is derived from the Latin word for “suffering.” Each of the Gospels reveals that Jerusalem was the place where Jesus fulfilled His mission by being handed over to the rulers, dying for the sins of the world, and being raised from the dead on the 3rd day.

Sunday: The Triumphal Entry

Jesus' entry into Jerusalem was hailed by the populace as a decisive event. His foreknowledge of where to find a colt on which He was to ride (Matt. 21:2) indicates that this event played a predetermined role in His mission. Large crowds welcomed Him along the approach down the Mount of Olives to the Kidron Valley and up the hill to the Temple Mount. They chanted a refrain from the Psalms, “Hosanna! ‘Blessed is He who comes in the name of the LORD!’” (Mark 11:9; Ps. 118:25, 26).

The Gospel writers capture the full significance of Jesus' climactic arrival in Jerusalem. Both Matthew (Matt. 21:5) and John (John 12:15) interpret the Triumphal Entry according to the prophecy of Zech. 9:9—Jesus is the messianic King coming to His bride, Zion (Jerusalem). He was greeted by the hailing of the multitudes, and the response, John reports, like the raising of Lazarus before, aroused fears of a popular uprising in the minds of the religious leaders who opposed Jesus (John 12:19).

In spite of such acclamation, Jesus wept over the city. Only Luke's Gospel presents Jesus as aware that He would be rejected by the people, and that destruction lay ahead for them (Luke 19:41–44). Such destruction tragically occurred during the Roman occupation of A.D. 70.

them, “Go into the village opposite you, and immediately you will find a donkey tied, and a colt with her. Loose them and bring them to Me. <sup>3</sup>And if anyone says anything to you, you shall say, ‘The Lord has need of them,’ and immediately he will send them.”

<sup>4</sup>All<sup>a</sup> this was done that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, saying:

- 5 “Tell the daughter of Zion,
‘Behold, your King is coming to you,
Lowly, and sitting on a donkey,
A colt, the foal of a donkey.’”<sup>a</sup>

<sup>6</sup>So the disciples went and did as Jesus commanded them. <sup>7</sup>They brought the donkey and the colt, laid their clothes on them, and set Him<sup>a</sup> on them. <sup>8</sup>And a very great multitude spread their clothes on the road; others cut down branches from the trees and spread them on the road. <sup>9</sup>Then the multitudes who went before and those who followed cried out, saying:

“Hosanna to the Son of David!
‘Blessed is He who comes in the name of the LORD!’<sup>a</sup>
Hosanna in the highest!”

<sup>10</sup>And when He had come into Jerusalem, all the city was moved, saying, “Who is this?”

<sup>11</sup>So the multitudes said, “This is Jesus, the prophet from Nazareth of Galilee.”

Mark 11:1–11

The Kingdom of Our Father David

11 :1 Now when they drew near Jerusalem, to Bethphage<sup>a</sup> and Bethany, at the Mount of Olives, He sent two of His disciples; <sup>2</sup>and He said to them, “Go into the village opposite you; and as soon as you have entered it you will find a colt tied, on which no one has sat. Loose it and bring it. <sup>3</sup>And if anyone says to you, ‘Why are you doing this?’ say, ‘The Lord has need of it,’ and immediately he will send it here.”

<sup>4</sup>So they went their way, and found the<sup>a</sup> colt tied by the door outside on the street, and they loosed it. <sup>5</sup>But some of those who stood there said to them, “What are you doing, loosing the colt?”

<sup>6</sup>And they spoke to them just as Jesus had commanded. So they let them go. <sup>7</sup>Then they brought the colt to Jesus and threw their clothes on it, and He sat on it. <sup>8</sup>And many spread their clothes on the road, and others cut down leafy branches from the trees and spread them on the road. <sup>9</sup>Then those who went before and those who followed cried out, saying:

“Hosanna!
‘Blessed is He who comes in the name of the LORD!’<sup>a</sup>”

<sup>10</sup> Blessed is the kingdom of our father David
That comes in the name of the Lord!<sup>a</sup>
Hosanna in the highest!”

<sup>11</sup>And Jesus went into Jerusalem and into the temple. So when He had looked around at all things, as the hour was already late, He went out to Bethany with the twelve.

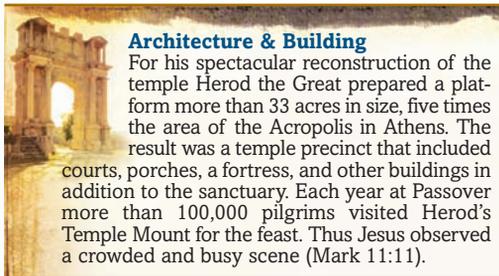

Luke 19:28–44

The Stones Would Cry Out

19:28 When He had said this, He went on ahead, going up to Jerusalem. <sup>29</sup>And it came to pass, when He drew near to Bethphage<sup>a</sup> and Bethany, at the mountain called Olivet, that He sent two of His disciples, <sup>30</sup>saying, “Go into the village opposite you, where as you enter you will find a colt tied, on which no one has ever sat. Loose it and bring it here. <sup>31</sup>And if anyone asks you, ‘Why are you loosing it?’ thus you shall say to him, ‘Because the Lord has need of it.’”

<sup>32</sup>So those who were sent went their way and found it just as He had said to them. <sup>33</sup>But as they were loosing the colt, the owners of it said to them, “Why are you loosing the colt?”

<sup>34</sup>And they said, “The Lord has need of him.” <sup>35</sup>Then they brought him to Jesus. And they threw their own clothes on the colt, and they set Jesus on him. <sup>36</sup>And as He went, many spread their clothes on the road.

Architecture & Building

For his spectacular reconstruction of the temple Herod the Great prepared a platform more than 33 acres in size, five times the area of the Acropolis in Athens. The result was a temple precinct that included courts, porches, a fortress, and other buildings in addition to the sanctuary. Each year at Passover more than 100,000 pilgrims visited Herod's Temple Mount for the feast. Thus Jesus observed a crowded and busy scene (Mark 11:11).

<sup>37</sup>Then, as He was now drawing near the descent of the Mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the disciples began to rejoice and praise God with a loud voice for all the mighty works they had seen, <sup>38</sup>saying:

“‘Blessed is the King who comes in the name of the LORD!’<sup>a</sup>
Peace in heaven and glory in the highest!”

<sup>39</sup>And some of the Pharisees called to Him from the crowd, “Teacher, rebuke Your disciples.”

<sup>40</sup>But He answered and said to them, “I tell you that if these should keep silent, the stones would immediately cry out.”

Jesus Weeps over Jerusalem

<sup>41</sup>Now as He drew near, He saw the city and wept over it, <sup>42</sup>saying, “If you had known, even you, especially in this your day, the things that make for your peace! But now they are hidden from your eyes. <sup>43</sup>For days will come upon you when your enemies will build an embankment around you, surround you and close you in on every side, <sup>44</sup>and level you, and your children within you, to the ground; and they will not leave in you one stone upon another, because you did not know the time of your visitation.”

John 12:12–19

Your King Is Coming

12:12 The next day a great multitude that had come to the feast, when they heard that Jesus was coming to Jerusalem, <sup>13</sup>took branches of palm trees and went out to meet Him, and cried out:

“Hosanna!
‘Blessed is He who comes in the name
of the LORD!’<sup>a</sup>
The King of Israel!”

<sup>14</sup>Then Jesus, when He had found a young donkey, sat on it; as it is written:

<sup>15</sup> “Fear not, daughter of Zion;
Behold, your King is coming,
Sitting on a donkey’s colt.”<sup>a</sup>

<sup>16</sup>His disciples did not understand these things at first; but when Jesus was glorified, then they remembered that these things were written about Him and that they had done these things to Him.

MONEY CHANGERS IN THE TEMPLE COURT (MATT. 21:12)

The temple in Jerusalem had always been divided into courts. Even in Solomon's temple there was a court to which some were forbidden. All the people had access to the outer court called the "great court" (1 Kin. 7:12). The inner court, however, was reserved only for priests, and was thus called the "court of the priests" (2 Chr. 4:9).

Herod's temple, though still under construction in Jesus' time (Matt. 21:12), was enormously impressive, consisting of four courts. The large outer Court of the Gentiles was an open-air quadrangle measuring some 500 yards long by 325 yards wide, enclosed by rows of tall columns. This was the only part of the temple open to Gentiles (non-Jews).

Each of the remaining three courts of the temple was restricted to certain people. All three courts—the Court of Women, the Court of Israel, the Court of Priests—were located in the temple proper, a sublime edifice measuring some 150 yards by 100 yards. This complex stood in the middle of the Court of the Gentiles, but only Jews were allowed to enter its first court—the Court of Women. Only Jewish men were admitted to the Court of Israel.

When Jesus observed the tables of the money changers who "sold in the temple" (Matt. 21:12), He was standing in the Court of the Gentiles. Only in this area were the merchants allowed to sell sheep and doves for sacrifice at Passover, and to exchange foreign currency for the required temple offering. This outer court was the site of Jesus' dramatic temple cleansing.

<sup>17</sup>Therefore the people, who were with Him when He called Lazarus out of his tomb and raised him from the dead, bore witness. <sup>18</sup>For this reason the people also met Him, because they heard that He had done this sign. <sup>19</sup>The Pharisees therefore said among themselves, "You see that you are accomplishing nothing. Look, the world has gone after Him!"

animal dealers and currency exchangers by quoting the prophet Isaiah, "My house shall be called a house of prayer for all nations" (Is. 56:7). Matthew, who writes his Gospel for a primarily Jewish audience, omits the phrase "for all nations," being irrelevant for his audience. Mark possibly includes the phrase to show that Jesus is also Savior of the Gentiles. The commercialization of the temple took place in the Court of the Gentiles, depriving Gentiles of their only place to worship. Jesus responded to such profiteering with anger and decisive action.

The Synoptic Gospels place the temple cleansing during Jesus' final week in Jerusalem. The Gospel of John, however, places it at the outset of Jesus' ministry (John 2:13–22). One way of reconciling this difference is to assume that there were two temple cleansings, one early in Jesus' ministry (John's Gospel) and one late (the Synoptics). John's early placement of the episode is probably theologically motivated, maybe to show the opposition to Jesus at the beginning of His ministry (see "Jesus' First Visit to Jerusalem" at John 2:13).

Monday: Cleansing the Temple

Due to overcrowding in the city, perhaps, Jesus and the disciples stayed with friends in Bethany, a small village over the crest of the Mount of Olives, two miles to the east of Jerusalem (Mark 11:11). In Mark's account, they reentered the city on "the next day" (11:12), thus on Monday, and on this day Jesus cursed the fig tree (11:14) and cleansed the temple (11:15). Matthew's account, however, presents a different sequence: Jesus cleansed the temple while it was still the 1st day (Sunday), and only then retreated to Bethany (Matt. 21:17).

The Law of Moses commanded worship and sacrifice to be celebrated at a central sanctuary, a place that "God chooses" (Deut. 12:5–7). This place came to be identified with Jerusalem, and naturally Israel's most solemn festival, Passover, was held in that city. Passover was a pilgrim festival, drawing 100,000 or more pilgrims to Jerusalem each spring. Like other observant Jews, Jesus and His followers arrived early in order to purchase a lamb for slaughter, to procure a place to celebrate the feast, and to undergo the necessary rites of purification.

The commercial ventures of the temple were overseen by the Sadducees and were very lucrative. Jesus justified His attack on the

HOUSE OF PRAYER, DEN OF THIEVES (MARK 11:15–17)

The ground plan of courts in Herod's temple restricted the access of some people. Jewish women were kept out of the Court of Israel, which was on a higher level than the Court of Women. Gentiles were kept farther out, forbidden also from the Court of Women. Jewish people were extremely concerned that Gentiles not move from the Court of the Gentiles to the rest of the temple. Posted signs warned that any Gentile proceeding further would do so at the cost of his or her life. One of the accusations hurled against the apostle Paul was that he "brought Greeks into the temple" (Acts 21:28).

Those who came to the temple for Passover needed to buy lambs and other animals. They also needed money changers because the local currencies of the places they came from were different from the standard used in the temple. Merchants performed these services in the Court of the Gentiles, but in doing so were distracting the Gentiles who came to worship God. In reaction, Jesus quoted the prophet Isaiah (Is. 56:7) to emphasize God's plan for His temple: "My house shall be called a house of prayer for all nations" (Mark 11:17).

Jesus also quoted the prophet Jeremiah's words about treating the temple court like a "den of thieves" (Jer. 7:11; Mark 11:17). Just as thieves feel safe when bringing their loot to their den, Jeremiah's contemporaries believed that, regardless of how they lived, God would not destroy His own temple (Jer. 7:4). The prophet warned them, however, that because of their disobedience they should not seek refuge in God's house—He would destroy their temple (Jer. 7:14).

Jesus had a similar message of judgment for His generation. They should not trust in the temple to protect them while they neither understood nor obeyed God's message. As Jeremiah had smashed a pot to symbolize the city's destruction (Jer. 19:10–12), Jesus similarly announced the temple's impending doom (Mark 13:2).

the temple and saying, "Hosanna to the Son of David!" they were indignant <sup>16</sup>and said to Him, "Do You hear what these are saying?"

And Jesus said to them, "Yes. Have you never read,

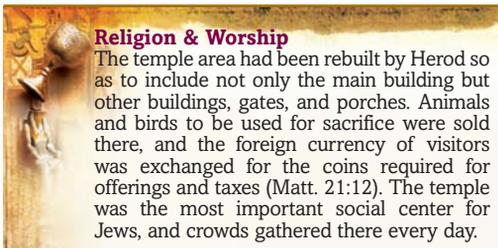

*'Out of the mouth of babes and nursing infants
You have perfected praise?'* <sup>a</sup>

<sup>17</sup>Then He left them and went out of the city to Bethany, and He lodged there.

Mark 11:12–19

The Fig Tree Withered

11 :12 Now the next day, when they had come out from Bethany, He was hungry. <sup>13</sup>And seeing from afar a fig tree having leaves, He went to see if perhaps He would find something on it. When He came to it, He found nothing but leaves, for it was not the season for figs. <sup>14</sup>In response Jesus said to it, "Let no one eat fruit from you ever again."

Religion & Worship

The temple area had been rebuilt by Herod so as to include not only the main building but other buildings, gates, and porches. Animals and birds to be used for sacrifice were sold there, and the foreign currency of visitors was exchanged for the coins required for offerings and taxes (Matt. 21:12). The temple was the most important social center for Jews, and crowds gathered there every day.

And His disciples heard it.

Jesus Cleanses the Temple

<sup>15</sup>So they came to Jerusalem. Then Jesus went into the temple and began to drive out those who bought and sold in the temple, and overturned the tables of the money changers and the seats of those who sold doves. <sup>16</sup>And He would not allow anyone to carry wares through the temple. <sup>17</sup>Then He taught, saying to them, "Is it not written, 'My house shall be called a house of prayer for all nations'?' <sup>a</sup> But you have made it a 'den of thieves.' <sup>b</sup>"

<sup>18</sup>And the scribes and chief priests heard it and sought how they might destroy Him; for they feared Him, because all the people were astonished at His teaching. <sup>19</sup>When evening had come, He went out of the city.

<sup>47</sup>And He was teaching daily in the temple. But the chief priests, the scribes, and the leaders of the people sought to destroy Him, <sup>48</sup>and were unable to do anything; for all the people were very attentive to hear Him.

Tuesday: Faith and Forgiveness

As He did after the 1st day (Mark 11:11), Jesus withdrew from the city at the close of the 2nd day also (11:19). Mark's account now indicates the beginning of the 3rd day, "in the morning" (11:20), thus Tuesday. On this day Mark describes the withering of the fig tree (11:21), which Jesus had cursed the previous day. Like Mark, Matthew notes the beginning of a new day "in the morning" (Matt. 21:18). For Matthew, though, this is only the 2nd day (Monday), and the fig tree is cursed and withers on this same day (21:19–22).

Both Matthew and Mark relate the cleansing of the temple to the cursing of the fig tree. The activity in the temple, like the fig tree, had the appearance of life but could be as fruitless as was the greed of the money changers. Mark links the two events by recording the cursing of the tree before the temple episode and the withering of the tree after (Mark 11:14, 21). The fig tree was often a symbol of judgment upon Israel in the Old Testament (Jer. 8:13), and Mark uses this symbolism to represent judgment upon the religious observances in the temple.

The Fig Tree Withered

21:18 Now in the morning, as He returned to the city, He was hungry. <sup>19</sup>And seeing a fig tree by the road, He came to it and found nothing on it but leaves, and said to it, "Let no fruit grow on you ever again." Immediately the fig tree withered away.

The Lesson of the Withered Fig Tree

<sup>20</sup>And when the disciples saw it, they marveled, saying, "How did the fig tree wither away so soon?"

<sup>21</sup>So Jesus answered and said to them, "Assuredly, I say to you, if you have faith and do not doubt, you will not only do what was done to the fig tree, but also if you say to this mountain, 'Be removed and be cast into the sea,' it will be done. <sup>22</sup>And whatever things you ask in prayer, believing, you will receive."

The Lesson of the Withered Fig Tree

11:20 Now in the morning, as they passed by, they saw the fig tree dried up from the roots. <sup>21</sup>And Peter, remembering, said to Him, "Rabbi, look! The fig tree which You cursed has withered away."

11:26 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits this verse.

<sup>22</sup>So Jesus answered and said to them, "Have faith in God. <sup>23</sup>For assuredly, I say to you, whoever says to this mountain, 'Be removed and be cast into the sea,' and does not doubt in his heart, but believes that those things he says will be done, he will have whatever he says. <sup>24</sup>Therefore I say to you, whatever things you ask when you pray, believe that you receive them, and you will have them."

Forgiveness and Prayer

Questioning Jesus' Authority

Opposition to Jesus came not from the Jewish people in general, but primarily from their religious leaders and rulers, especially from the high Jewish council, the Sanhedrin. The center of this opposition was located in Jerusalem, and particularly in the temple. So it was in the temple precincts that various opposing factions engaged Jesus in a series of verbal altercations.

The Gospel writers record a number of these controversies as occurring during Jesus' final week in Jerusalem. The challenges to Jesus appear as a series of rapid-fire encounters during a single day (see Matt. 22:23), but they may have taken place over a longer period of time.

Jesus' questioners were those who considered themselves religious: the Pharisees, Herodians, Sadducees, and scribes. Only Matthew's Gospel relates the parable of the two sons (Matt. 21:28–32), which condemns the self-righteous attitude of the Jewish leaders. While the first son (21:29) in the parable represents those who responded to the preaching of John the Baptist, the second son (21:30) represents those who claimed to be religious but rejected Jesus (21:31).

By What Authority?

21:23 Now when He came into the temple, the chief priests and the elders of the people confronted Him as He was teaching, and said, "By what authority are You doing these things? And who gave You this authority?"

<sup>24</sup>But Jesus answered and said to them, “I also will ask you one thing, which if you tell Me, I likewise will tell you by what authority I do these things: <sup>25</sup>The baptism of John—where was it from? From heaven or from men?”

And they reasoned among themselves, saying, “If we say, ‘From heaven,’ He will say to us, ‘Why then did you not believe him?’ <sup>26</sup>But if we say, ‘From men,’ we fear the multitude, for all count John as a prophet.” <sup>27</sup>So they answered Jesus and said, “We do not know.”

And He said to them, “Neither will I tell you by what authority I do these things.

The Parable of the Two Sons

<sup>28</sup>“But what do you think? A man had two sons, and he came to the first and said, ‘Son, go, work today in my vineyard.’ <sup>29</sup>He answered and said, ‘I will not,’ but afterward he regretted it and went. <sup>30</sup>Then he came to the second and said likewise. And he answered and said, ‘I go, sir,’ but he did not go. <sup>31</sup>Which of the two did the will of his father?”

They said to Him, “The first.”

Jesus said to them, “Assuredly, I say to you that tax collectors and harlots enter the kingdom of God before you. <sup>32</sup>For John came to you in the way of righteousness, and you did not believe him; but tax collectors and harlots believed him; and when you saw it, you did not afterward relent and believe him.”

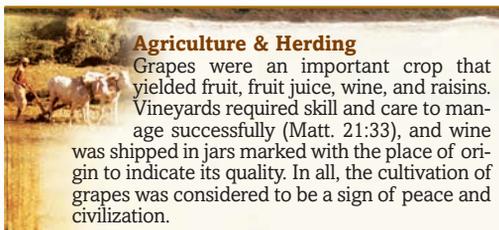

Mark 11:27–33

Jesus Is Challenged

11 :27 Then they came again to Jerusalem. And as He was walking in the temple, the chief priests, the scribes, and the elders came to Him. <sup>28</sup>And they said to Him, “By what authority are You doing these things? And who gave You this authority to do these things?”

<sup>29</sup>But Jesus answered and said to them, “I also will ask you one question; then answer Me, and I will tell you by what authority I do these things: <sup>30</sup>The baptism of John—was it from heaven or from men? Answer Me.”

<sup>31</sup>And they reasoned among themselves, saying, “If we say, ‘From heaven,’ He will say, ‘Why then did you not believe him?’ <sup>32</sup>But if we say,

Agriculture & Herding

Grapes were an important crop that yielded fruit, fruit juice, wine, and raisins. Vineyards required skill and care to manage successfully (Matt. 21:33), and wine was shipped in jars marked with the place of origin to indicate its quality. In all, the cultivation of grapes was considered to be a sign of peace and civilization.

‘From men’”—they feared the people, for all counted John to have been a prophet indeed. <sup>33</sup>So they answered and said to Jesus, “We do not know.”

And Jesus answered and said to them, “Neither will I tell you by what authority I do these things.”

Jesus Silences His Opponents

20 :1 Now it happened on one of those days, as He taught the people in the temple and preached the gospel, that the chief priests and the scribes, together with the elders, confronted Him <sup>2</sup>and spoke to Him, saying, “Tell us, by what authority are You doing these things? Or who is he who gave You this authority?”

<sup>3</sup>But He answered and said to them, “I also will ask you one thing, and answer Me: <sup>4</sup>The baptism of John—was it from heaven or from men?”

<sup>5</sup>And they reasoned among themselves, saying, “If we say, ‘From heaven,’ He will say, ‘Why then<sup>a</sup> did you not believe him?’ <sup>6</sup>But if we say, ‘From men,’ all the people will stone us, for they are persuaded that John was a prophet.” <sup>7</sup>So they answered that they did not know where it was from.

<sup>8</sup>And Jesus said to them, “Neither will I tell you by what authority I do these things.”

Answering by Parables

The controversies range over a variety of topics, with the Jewish leaders testing Jesus by calling into question His God-given authority. Jesus responded often in parables that challenged official Judaism (Luke 20:19). All three Gospels recount the parable of the vineyard and wicked vinedressers, which Jesus adapted from the prophet Isaiah for His own situation (Is. 5:1–7). Matthew’s parable of the wedding feast (Matt. 22:1–14) shows that rejection of Jesus would bring judgment.

The territories under Herod the Great's rule included Judea, Galilee, and Gaulanitis, as well as surrounding regions. Upon Herod's death, his kingdom was divided among three sons. Archelaus received Judea, the primary portion of the kingdom. Antipas and Philip received lesser positions as tetrarchs over small territories. The Herodian dynasty gradually lost power, with Herod's grandson Agrippa I and great-grandson Agrippa II the last descendants to rule.

LANDOWNERS OF GALILEE (MARK 12:9)

Jesus' parables are geographically set in Galilee, the northern part of Judean territory in New Testament times. A parable about owners of vineyards (Mark 12:1–9) was quite appropriate for Jesus' audience in the rural economic conditions of Galilee.

The name "Galilee" likely means "the circle" or "district," and appears in the expression "Galilee (district) of the Gentiles" (Matt. 4:15). The Jewish historian Josephus gives a detailed description of the area and its administrative structure. Except for a few notable larger cities, such as Chorazin, Sepphoris, Bethsaida, and Capernaum, Galilee was a rural area.

Josephus describes Galilee as an agriculturally fertile area which grew grapes, figs, olives, and wheat. Galilee was also well situated to take advantage of already existing trade routes. The Via Maris, a major highway, forked on its way north at Megiddo, with one branch going by the Sea of Galilee to Hazor. Caravans of traders would use this route when traveling from Damascus towards the Mediterranean coast.

During the Hellenistic period (after 332 B.C.), Galilee flourished with landowners of large estates, employing sharecroppers and unskilled laborers. The Zenon papyri (3rd century B.C.) describe a certain Zenon, who toured and inspected a number of estates in the region. This source, along with a handful of others, presents Galilee as an area of concentrated agricultural production, increasingly concerned with water supply and tenant housing. While some of Jesus' parables show evidence of small family estates, others reflect the existence of absentee landlords who lived away from their land (Mark 12:1).

Social structure in Galilee likely depended on whether an individual owned land. While many Galileans were small landowners, there were a number of elites in the region. Certainly among the upper class were the "chief men of Galilee" (Mark 6:21), who attended Herod's birthday feast.

this stone will be broken; but on whomever it falls, it will grind him to powder."

<sup>45</sup>Now when the chief priests and Pharisees heard His parables, they perceived that He was speaking of them. <sup>46</sup>But when they sought to lay hands on Him, they feared the multitudes, because they took Him for a prophet.

The Parable of the Wedding Feast

22 <sup>1</sup>And Jesus answered and spoke to them again by parables and said: <sup>2</sup>"The kingdom of heaven is like a certain king who arranged a marriage for his son, <sup>3</sup>and sent out his servants to call those who were invited to the wedding; and they were not willing to come. <sup>4</sup>Again, he sent out other servants, saying, 'Tell those who are invited, "See, I have prepared my dinner; my oxen and fatted cattle are killed, and all things are ready. Come to the wedding."' <sup>5</sup>But they made light of it and went their ways, one to his own farm, another to his business. <sup>6</sup>And the rest seized his servants, treated them spitefully, and killed them. <sup>7</sup>But when the king heard about it, he was furious. And he sent out his armies, destroyed those murderers, and burned up their city. <sup>8</sup>Then he said to his servants, "The wedding is ready, but those who were invited were not worthy. <sup>9</sup>Therefore go into the highways, and as many as you find, invite to the wedding.' <sup>10</sup>So those servants went out into the highways and gathered together all whom they found, both bad and good. And the wedding hall was filled with guests.

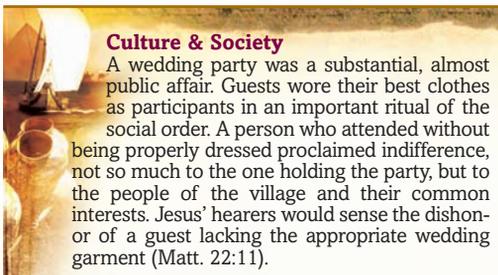

<sup>11</sup>"But when the king came in to see the guests, he saw a man there who did not have on a wedding garment. <sup>12</sup>So he said to him, 'Friend, how did you come in here without a wedding garment?' And he was speechless. <sup>13</sup>Then the king said to the servants, 'Bind him hand and foot, take him away, and cast him into outer darkness; there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.'

<sup>14</sup>"For many are called, but few are chosen."

Mark 12:1–12

The Parable of the Wicked Vinedressers

12 <sup>1</sup> Then He began to speak to them in parables: "A man planted a vineyard and set a hedge around it, dug a place for the wine vat and built a tower. And he leased it to vinedressers and went into a far country. <sup>2</sup> Now at vintage-time he sent a servant to the vinedressers, that he might receive some of the fruit of the vineyard from the vinedressers. <sup>3</sup> And they took him and beat him and sent him away empty-handed. <sup>4</sup> Again he sent them another servant, and at him they threw stones, wounded him in the head, and sent him away shamefully treated. <sup>5</sup> And again he sent another, and him they killed; and many others, beating some and killing some. <sup>6</sup> Therefore still having one son, his beloved, he also sent him to them last, saying,

Culture & Society

A wedding party was a substantial, almost public affair. Guests wore their best clothes as participants in an important ritual of the social order. A person who attended without being properly dressed proclaimed indifference, not so much to the one holding the party, but to the people of the village and their common interests. Jesus' hearers would sense the dishonor of a guest lacking the appropriate wedding garment (Matt. 22:11).

The Parable of the Wicked Vinedressers

20:9 Then He began to tell the people this parable: “A certain man planted a vineyard, leased it to vinedressers, and went into a far country for a long time.<sup>10</sup> Now at vintage-time he sent a servant to the vinedressers, that they might give him some of the fruit of the vineyard. But the vinedressers beat him and sent him away empty-handed.<sup>11</sup> Again he sent another servant; and they beat him also, treated him shamefully, and sent him away empty-handed.<sup>12</sup> And again he sent a third; and they wounded him also and cast him out.

Come, let us kill him, that the inheritance may be ours.’<sup>15</sup> So they cast him out of the vineyard and killed him. Therefore what will the owner of the vineyard do to them?<sup>16</sup> He will come and destroy those vinedressers and give the vineyard to others.”

And when they heard it they said, “Certainly not!”

TRANSITION

Questioned by Pharisees and Herodians

The Pharisees sent “their disciples with the Herodians” (Matt. 22:16), presenting Jesus with an apparently “no-win” situation. If He told them to pay taxes to Rome, the Pharisees would discredit Jesus with the Jews. The Herodians, who supported the Roman occupation, would brand Jesus as a traitor to Rome if He did not support taxation. Jesus’ answer challenged both groups. The denarius (Matt. 22:18) bore the image of the emperor Tiberius Caesar and thus supported Rome’s right to require taxes.

- Matthew 22:15–22
- Mark 12:13–17
- Luke 20:20–26

Matthew 22:15–22

The Pharisees: Is It Lawful to Pay Taxes?

22:15 Then the Pharisees went and plotted how they might entangle Him in His talk.<sup>16</sup> And they sent to Him their disciples with the Herodians, saying, “Teacher, we know that You are true, and teach the way of God in truth; nor do You care about anyone, for You do not regard the person of men.<sup>17</sup> Tell us, therefore, what do You think? Is it lawful to pay taxes to Caesar, or not?”

<sup>18</sup>But Jesus perceived their wickedness, and said, “Why do you test Me, you hypocrites?<sup>19</sup> Show Me the tax money.”

So they brought Him a denarius.

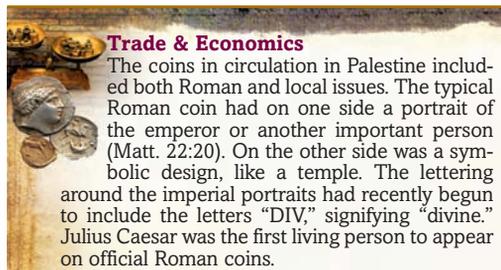

<sup>20</sup>And He said to them, “Whose image and inscription is this?”

And He said to them, “Render therefore to Caesar the things that are Caesar’s, and to God the things that are God’s.”<sup>22</sup> When they had heard these words, they marveled, and left Him and went their way.

Trade & Economics

The coins in circulation in Palestine included both Roman and local issues. The typical Roman coin had on one side a portrait of the emperor or another important person (Matt. 22:20). On the other side was a symbolic design, like a temple. The lettering around the imperial portraits had recently begun to include the letters “DIV,” signifying “divine.” Julius Caesar was the first living person to appear on official Roman coins.

Mark 12:13–17

To Caesar What Is Caesar's

12 :13 Then they sent to Him some of the Pharisees and the Herodians, to catch Him in His words. <sup>14</sup>When they had come, they said to Him, “Teacher, we know that You are true, and care about no one; for You do not regard the person of men, but teach the way of God in truth. Is it lawful to pay taxes to Caesar, or not? <sup>15</sup>Shall we pay or shall we not pay?”

But He, knowing their hypocrisy, said to them, “Why do you test Me? Bring Me a denarius that I may see it.” <sup>16</sup>So they brought it.

And He said to them, “Whose image and inscription is this?” They said to Him, “Caesar’s.”

<sup>17</sup>And Jesus answered and said to them, “Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar’s, and to God the things that are God’s.”

And they marveled at Him.

Luke 20:20–26

Paying Tribute

20 :20 So they watched Him, and sent spies who pretended to be righteous, that they might seize on His words, in order to deliver Him to the power and the authority of the governor.

<sup>21</sup>Then they asked Him, saying, “Teacher, we know that You say and teach rightly, and You do not show personal favoritism, but teach the way of God in truth: <sup>22</sup>Is it lawful for us to pay taxes to Caesar or not?”

<sup>23</sup>But He perceived their craftiness, and said to them, “Why do you test Me?<sup>a</sup> <sup>24</sup>Show Me a denarius. Whose image and inscription does it have?”

They answered and said, “Caesar’s.”

<sup>25</sup>And He said to them, “Render therefore to Caesar the things that are Caesar’s, and to God the things that are God’s.”

<sup>26</sup>But they could not catch Him in His words in the presence of the people. And they marveled at His answer and kept silent.

Questioned by Sadducees

The Sadducees were the priestly sect among the Jews that had charge of the temple sacrificial system. They were more aristocratic than the other sects, and being theologically more liberal, they did not believe in an afterlife or the resurrection. The story of the seven brothers may have been one of their stock illustrations to ridicule the idea of a resurrection. While the doctrine of the Sadducees was opposed to the Pharisees, they were like the Pharisees in trying to discredit Jesus.

The Sadducees: What About the Resurrection?

22 :23 The same day the Sadducees, who say there is no resurrection, came to Him and asked Him, <sup>24</sup>saying: “Teacher, Moses said that if a man dies, having no children, his brother shall marry his wife and raise up offspring for his brother. <sup>25</sup>Now there were with us seven brothers. The first died after he had married, and having no offspring, left his wife to his brother. <sup>26</sup>Likewise the second also, and the third, even to the seventh. <sup>27</sup>Last of all the woman died also. <sup>28</sup>Therefore, in the resurrection, whose wife of the seven will she be? For they all had her.”

<sup>29</sup>Jesus answered and said to them, “You are mistaken, not knowing the Scriptures nor the power of God. <sup>30</sup>For in the resurrection they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are like angels of God<sup>a</sup> in heaven. <sup>31</sup>But concerning the resurrection of the dead, have you not read what was spoken to you by God, saying, <sup>32</sup>I am the

Life in Heaven Is Different

12:18 Then some Sadducees, who say there is no resurrection, came to Him; and they asked Him, saying: <sup>19</sup>“Teacher, Moses wrote to us that if a man’s brother dies, and leaves his wife behind, and leaves no children, his brother should take his wife and raise up offspring for his brother. <sup>20</sup>Now there were seven brothers. The first took a wife; and dying, he left no offspring. <sup>21</sup>And the second took her, and he died; nor did he leave any offspring. And the third likewise. <sup>22</sup>So the seven had her and left no offspring. Last of all the woman died also. <sup>23</sup>Therefore, in the resurrection, when they rise, whose wife will she be? For all seven had her as wife.”

<sup>24</sup>Jesus answered and said to them, “Are you not therefore mistaken, because you do not know the Scriptures nor the power of God? <sup>25</sup>For when they rise from the dead, they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are like angels in heaven. <sup>26</sup>But concerning the dead, that they rise, have you not read in the book of Moses, in the burning bush passage, how God spoke to him, saying, ‘I am the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob’?<sup>a</sup> <sup>27</sup>He is not the God of the dead, but the God of the living. You are therefore greatly mistaken.”

Luke 20:27–40

Marriage in the Resurrection?

20:27 Then some of the Sadducees, who deny that there is a resurrection, came to Him and asked Him, <sup>28</sup>saying: “Teacher, Moses wrote to us that if a man’s brother dies, having a wife, and he dies without children, his brother should take his wife and raise up offspring for his brother. <sup>29</sup>Now there were seven brothers. And the first took a wife, and died without children. <sup>30</sup>And the second<sup>a</sup> took her as wife, and he died childless. <sup>31</sup>Then the third took her, and in like manner the seven also; and they left no children,<sup>a</sup> and died. <sup>32</sup>Last of all the woman died also. <sup>33</sup>Therefore, in the resurrection, whose wife does she become? For all seven had her as wife.”

<sup>34</sup>Jesus answered and said to them, “The sons of this age marry and are given in marriage. <sup>35</sup>But those who are counted worthy to attain that age, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry nor are given in marriage;<sup>36</sup> nor can they die anymore, for they are equal to the angels and are sons of God, being sons of the resurrection. <sup>37</sup>But even Moses showed in the burning bush passage that the dead are raised, when he called the Lord ‘the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.’<sup>a</sup> <sup>38</sup>For He is not the God of the dead but of the living, for all live to Him.”

<sup>39</sup>Then some of the scribes answered and said, “Teacher, You have spoken well.” <sup>40</sup>But after that they dared not question Him anymore.

Questioned by a Scribe

While some Jewish leaders tried to trap Jesus into making discrediting statements, one sincere scribe asked about God’s true purpose (Matt. 22:36). In Matthew’s Gospel, Jesus returned a question to the Pharisees, challenging the false understanding of who Christ would be. He would not be only a human “Son of David” (22:42), an earthly king. David himself had called the Messiah his “Lord” (Ps. 110:1). How then could the Pharisees call Him anything less?

The Scribe: Which Is the First Commandment of All?

22:34 But when the Pharisees heard that He had silenced the Sadducees, they gathered together. <sup>35</sup>Then one of them, a lawyer, asked Him a question, testing Him, and saying, <sup>36</sup>“Teacher, which is the great commandment in the law?”

Politics & Government

The traditional Law of Israel was part of the education of all Jews (Matt. 22:40). The Romans also had a traditional law called the Twelve Tables, that their children memorized. This law had civil, criminal, and religious provisions. Unlike the Law of Moses, the text of Twelve Tables has been preserved only in fragments.

Jesus: How Can David Call His Descendant Lord?

<sup>41</sup>While the Pharisees were gathered together, Jesus asked them, <sup>42</sup>saying, “What do you think about the Christ? Whose Son is He?”

They said to Him, “The Son of David.”

<sup>43</sup>He said to them, “How then does David in the Spirit call Him ‘Lord,’ saying:

<sup>44</sup> ‘*The LORD said to my Lord,
“Sit at My right hand,
Till I make Your enemies Your footstool.”*’<sup>a</sup>

<sup>45</sup>If David then calls Him ‘Lord,’ how is He his Son?” <sup>46</sup>And no one was able to answer Him a word, nor from that day on did anyone dare question Him anymore.

Mark 12:28–37

The Greatest Commandment

12 :28 Then one of the scribes came, and having heard them reasoning together, perceiving<sup>a</sup> that He had answered them well, asked Him, “Which is the first commandment of all?”

<sup>29</sup>Jesus answered him, “The first of all the commandments is: ‘Hear, O Israel, the LORD our God, the LORD is one.’ <sup>30</sup>And you shall love the LORD your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your mind, and with all your strength.’<sup>a</sup> This is the first commandment.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>31</sup>And the second, like it, is this: ‘You shall love your neighbor as yourself.’<sup>a</sup> There is no other commandment greater than these.”

<sup>32</sup>So the scribe said to Him, “Well said, Teacher. You have spoken the truth, for there is one God, and there is no other but He. <sup>33</sup>And to love Him with all the heart, with all the understanding, with all the soul,<sup>a</sup> and with all the strength, and to love one’s neighbor as oneself, is more than all the whole burnt offerings and sacrifices.”

<sup>34</sup>Now when Jesus saw that he answered wisely, He said to him, “You are not far from the kingdom of God.”

But after that no one dared question Him.

Greater than David

<sup>35</sup>Then Jesus answered and said, while He taught in the temple, “How is it that the scribes say that the Christ is the Son of David? <sup>36</sup>For David himself said by the Holy Spirit:

‘*The LORD said to my Lord,
“Sit at My right hand,
Till I make Your enemies Your footstool.”*’<sup>a</sup>

<sup>37</sup>Therefore David himself calls Him ‘Lord’; how is He then his Son?”

And the common people heard Him gladly.

Luke 20:41–44

David’s Son and Lord

20 :41 And He said to them, “How can they say that the Christ is the Son of David? <sup>42</sup>Now David himself said in the Book of Psalms:

‘*The LORD said to my Lord,
“Sit at My right hand,*

<sup>43</sup> Till I make Your enemies Your footstool.”’<sup>a</sup>

<sup>44</sup>Therefore David calls Him ‘Lord’; how is He then his Son?”

Beware of the Scribes

Only Matthew’s Gospel provides Jesus’ long condemnation of the scribes and Pharisees (Matt. 23:1–36), denouncing their hypocrisy and disobedience, and pronouncing seven judgments of woe on them. They are characterized as selfish religious officials who “devour widows’ houses” (Matt. 23:14; Mark 12:40). Apparently the scribes mismanaged the property of widows which had been entrusted to them in the wills of the widows’ dead husbands.

Mark and Luke contrast these scribes, who took advantage of others, with the widow who had little (Mark 12:42; Luke 21:2). She put in all that she had; her love was not calculating.

They make their phylacteries broad and enlarge the borders of their garments. <sup>6</sup>They love the best places at feasts, the best seats in the synagogues, <sup>7</sup>greetings in the marketplaces, and to be called by men, ‘Rabbi, Rabbi.’ <sup>8</sup>But you, do not be called ‘Rabbi’; for One is your Teacher, the

WEIGHTIER MATTERS OF THE LAW (MATT. 23:23)

The scribes and Pharisees were among the most respected religious people of Jesus' day. Jesus, however, criticized them as teachers who were preoccupied with petty rules and ignored the truly important religious principles. Although some other outsiders (as well as certain later Jewish teachers) also criticized the scribes and Pharisees, most people thought highly of them and would have been shocked by Jesus' criticisms.

In Old Testament times the Israelites mainly lived on livestock and crops, and, following the Law of Moses, gathered a tithe (one tenth) of their produce into storehouses or granaries (Mal. 3:10). The law commanded the Israelites to use the tithes to support the priests and Levites, who spiritually served God and the people (Num. 18:21–24). At the end of every third year, a part of the tithe was used for the poor, as well as for the Levites (Deut. 14:28, 29; 26:12).

In Jesus' day the Pharisees were particularly scrupulous about tithing. According to Matthew, they tithed mint, anise, and cummin—all common garden herbs (Matt. 23:23). Luke mentions another herb, rue (Luke 11:42). In Aramaic, Jesus' native language in Galilee, the word "rue" sounds very similar to the word "anise," which possibly explains why Matthew names one and Luke the other. Because the law emphasized tithing foods, some Pharisees debated whether one need tithe such vegetables as these, especially cummin. Jesus called these very conservative Pharisees "hypocrites" (Matt. 23:23), because they were concerned only with outward matters, while neglecting inward purity.

Christ,<sup>a</sup> and you are all brethren. <sup>9</sup>Do not call anyone on earth your father; for One is your Father, He who is in heaven. <sup>10</sup>And do not be called teachers; for One is your Teacher, the Christ. <sup>11</sup>But he who is greatest among you shall be your servant. <sup>12</sup>And whoever exalts himself will be humbled, and he who humbles himself will be exalted.

<sup>13</sup>"But woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you shut up the kingdom of heaven against men; for you neither go in yourselves, nor do you allow those who are entering to go in. <sup>14</sup>Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you devour widows' houses, and for a pretense make long prayers. Therefore you will receive greater condemnation.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>15</sup>"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you travel land and sea to win one proselyte, and when he is won, you make him twice as much a son of hell as yourselves.

<sup>16</sup>"Woe to you, blind guides, who say, 'Whoever swears by the temple, it is nothing; but whoever swears by the gold of the temple, he is obliged to perform it.' <sup>17</sup>Fools and blind! For which is greater, the gold or the temple that sanctifies<sup>a</sup> the gold? <sup>18</sup>And, 'Whoever swears by the altar, it is nothing; but whoever swears by the gift that is on it, he is obliged to perform it.' <sup>19</sup>Fools and blind! For which is greater, the gift or the altar that sanctifies the gift? <sup>20</sup>Therefore he who swears by the altar, swears by it and by all things on it. <sup>21</sup>He who swears by the temple, swears by it and by Him who dwells<sup>a</sup> in it. <sup>22</sup>And he who swears by heaven, swears by the throne of God and by Him who sits on it.

<sup>23</sup>"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you pay tithe of mint and anise and cummin, and have neglected the weightier matters of the law: justice and mercy and faith. These you ought to have done, without leaving the others undone. <sup>24</sup>Blind guides, who strain out a gnat and swallow a camel!

<sup>25</sup>"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you cleanse the outside of the cup and dish, but inside they are full of extortion and self-indulgence.<sup>a</sup> <sup>26</sup>Blind Pharisee, first cleanse the inside of the cup and dish, that the outside of them may be clean also.

<sup>27</sup>"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you are like whitewashed tombs which indeed appear beautiful outwardly, but inside are full of dead men's bones and all uncleanness. <sup>28</sup>Even so you also outwardly appear righteous to men, but inside you are full of hypocrisy and lawlessness.

<sup>29</sup>"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! Because you build the tombs of the prophets, <sup>30</sup>and say, 'If we had lived in the days of our fathers, we would not have been partakers with them in the blood of the prophets.'

<sup>31</sup>"Therefore you are witnesses against yourselves that you are sons of those who murdered the prophets. <sup>32</sup>Fill up, then, the measure of your fathers' guilt. <sup>33</sup>Serpents, brood of vipers! How can you escape the condemnation of hell? <sup>34</sup>Therefore, indeed, I send you prophets, wise men, and scribes: some of them you will kill and

Religion & Worship

Jesus' statement that the Pharisees went over land and sea to make converts does not mean that they sent out missionaries (Matt. 23:15). Rather, it expressed the arrogant assumption of some Pharisees that they should make others just like themselves. Judaism itself attracted people because of its moral standards and its pure monotheism, but Pharisaic teachings did not necessarily make a convert a better person.

Your house is left to you desolate; <sup>39</sup>for I say to you, you shall see Me no more till you say, ‘Blessed is He who comes in the name of the LORD.’”<sup>a</sup>

12 :38 Then He said to them in His teaching, “Beware of the scribes, who desire to go around in long robes, love greetings in the marketplaces, <sup>39</sup>the best seats in the synagogues, and the best places at feasts, <sup>40</sup>who devour widows’ houses, and for a pretense make long prayers. These will receive greater condemnation.”

<sup>41</sup>Now Jesus sat opposite the treasury and saw how the people put money into the treasury. And many who were rich put in much. <sup>42</sup>Then one poor widow came and threw in two mites,<sup>a</sup> which make a quadrans. <sup>43</sup>So He called His disciples to Himself and said to them, “Assuredly, I say to you that this poor widow has put in more than all those who have given to the treasury; <sup>44</sup>for they all put in out of their abundance, but she out of her poverty put in all that she had, her whole livelihood.”

The Widow’s Two Mites

20 :45 Then, in the hearing of all the people, He said to His disciples, <sup>46</sup>“Beware of the scribes, who desire to go around in long robes, love greetings in the marketplaces, the best seats in the synagogues, and the best places at feasts, <sup>47</sup>who devour widows’ houses, and for a pretense make long prayers. These will receive greater condemnation.”

21 <sup>1</sup>And He looked up and saw the rich putting their gifts into the treasury, <sup>2</sup>and He saw also a certain poor widow putting in two mites. <sup>3</sup>So He said, “Truly I say to you that this poor widow has put in more than all; <sup>4</sup>for all these out of their abundance have put in offerings for God,<sup>a</sup> but she out of her poverty put in all the livelihood that she had.”

Discourse While on the Mount of Olives

The Kidron Valley falls away beneath the Mount of Olives, leaving a spectacular panorama of Jerusalem and the Temple Mount to the west. The vista from the Mount of Olives provides the setting for a final discourse of Jesus on future events.

The discourse warns of approaching tribulation. The first focus is the near future and the destruction of Jerusalem by the Roman army. All three Synoptics warn of this impending catastrophe, but Luke provides an explicit allusion to the sack of Jerusalem under Titus in A.D. 70. Some scholars think that Luke’s writing of Jerusalem being “surrounded by armies” (Luke 20:21) and “trampled by Gentiles” (21:24) indicates that the fall of Jerusalem in that year had already taken place, thus Luke recorded Jesus’ words in light of the actual calamity that befell the city. Other scholars suppose that Luke 21:20 is an actual prediction of the Romans crushing the Jewish revolt.

The second focus of the Mount of Olives discourse is the distant future. “Eschatology” is the technical term in Judaism that refers to events attending the end of time. The destruction of Jerusalem was seen by Jesus and the Gospel writers as a symbol or anticipation of the catastrophes of the end time, before which the Son of Man will return in glory. Jesus’ instruction to the disciples on what to say when they are hailed before the authorities is included by Mark and Luke in this eschatological discourse (Mark 13:9–13; Luke 12:12–19). Matthew’s Gospel reports these words earlier as part of Jesus’ mission instructions to the twelve disciples (Matt. 10:17–22). See “Mission of the Twelve” at Matt. 9:35.

24 :1 Then Jesus went out and departed from the temple, and His disciples came up to show Him the buildings of the temple. <sup>2</sup>And Jesus said to them, “Do you not see all these things? Assuredly, I say to you, not one stone shall be left here upon another, that shall not be thrown down.”

<sup>3</sup>Now as He sat on the Mount of Olives, the disciples came to Him privately, saying, “Tell us, when will these things be? And what will be the sign of Your coming, and of the end of the age?”

HEROD, THE GREAT BUILDER (MATT. 24:1)

More architectural remains in Israel date from the reign of Herod the Great (37–4 B.C.) than from any other historical personality. He initiated numerous diverse projects, including temples, gymnasiums, harbors, and other buildings.

Herod was born in the late 70s B.C. to a noble family in Idumea. His Idumean ancestors had been forcibly converted to Judaism by the late 2nd century B.C. Antipater, Herod's father, had been a close confidant of Hyrcanus II, one of the Jewish Hasmonean kings. The Romans conquered Judea in 63 B.C., and Herod, who became governor of Galilee in 47 B.C., knew that to be successful he would need to cooperate with Rome. After numerous struggles, Herod was able with Roman help to claim the throne of Judea in 37 B.C., and to rule there for 33 years.

In Jerusalem alone Herod had a number of important building projects. The Antonia Fortress, a combined palace and fortress which dominated the Temple Mount, was named after Mark Antony. The central palace was the largest of Herod's palaces. His building activity produced a theater and amphitheater, numerous fortifications, and the most famous of all his projects—the Temple Mount. Unfortunately, because of the Roman destruction of the city in A.D. 70, nearly all of the material remains of Herod's period have disappeared.

In his 18th year (20–19 B.C.), Herod began rebuilding the Jerusalem temple and enlarging the sacred precincts surrounding it. The new temple probably followed the original plan of the second temple, but on a more elaborate scale. Modern excavations have exposed large parts of the western and southern Temple Mount walls, as well as a monumental stairway, gates, a plaza, and evidence of adjoining roads. The “buildings of the temple” (Matt. 24:1) were certainly impressive in Jesus' day, even though secondary construction around the temple was still in progress.

<sup>4</sup>And Jesus answered and said to them: “Take heed that no one deceives you. <sup>5</sup>For many will come in My name, saying, ‘I am the Christ,’ and will deceive many. <sup>6</sup>And you will hear of wars and rumors of wars. See that you are not troubled; for all <sup>a</sup> these things must come to pass, but the end is not yet. <sup>7</sup>For nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. And there will be famines, pestilences,<sup>a</sup> and earthquakes in various places. <sup>8</sup>All these are the beginning of sorrows.

<sup>9</sup>“Then they will deliver you up to tribulation and kill you, and you will be hated by all nations for My name's sake. <sup>10</sup>And then many will be offended, will betray one another, and will hate one another. <sup>11</sup>Then many false prophets will rise up and deceive many. <sup>12</sup>And because lawlessness will abound, the love of many will grow cold. <sup>13</sup>But he who endures to the end shall be saved. <sup>14</sup>And this gospel of the kingdom will be preached in all the world as a witness to all the nations, and then the end will come.

The Abomination of Desolation

<sup>15</sup>“Therefore when you see the ‘abomination of desolation,’<sup>a</sup> spoken of by Daniel the prophet, standing in the holy place” (whoever reads, let him understand), <sup>16</sup>“then let those who are in Judea flee to the mountains. <sup>17</sup>Let him who is on the housetop not go down to take anything out of his house. <sup>18</sup>And let him who is in the field not go back to get his clothes. <sup>19</sup>But woe to those who are pregnant and to those who are nursing babies in those days! <sup>20</sup>And pray that your flight may not be in winter or on the Sabbath. <sup>21</sup>For then there will be great tribulation, such as has not been since the beginning of the world until this time, no, nor ever shall be. <sup>22</sup>And unless those days were shortened, no flesh would be saved; but for the elect's sake those days will be shortened.

<sup>23</sup>“Then if anyone says to you, ‘Look, here is the Christ!’ or ‘There!’ do not believe it. <sup>24</sup>For false christs and false prophets will rise and show great signs and wonders to deceive, if possible, even the elect. <sup>25</sup>See, I have told you beforehand.

<sup>26</sup>“Therefore if they say to you, ‘Look, He is in the desert!’ do not go out; or ‘Look, He is in the inner rooms!’ do not believe it. <sup>27</sup>For as the lightning comes from the east and flashes to the west, so also will the coming of the Son of Man be. <sup>28</sup>For wherever the carcass is, there the eagles will be gathered together.

The Coming of the Son of Man

<sup>29</sup>“Immediately after the tribulation of those days the sun will be darkened, and the moon will not give its light; the stars will fall from heaven, and the powers of the heavens will be shaken.

<sup>30</sup>Then the sign of the Son of Man will appear in heaven, and then all the tribes of the earth will mourn, and they will see the Son of Man coming on the clouds of heaven with power and great glory. <sup>31</sup>And He will send His angels with a great sound of a trumpet, and they will gather together His elect from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other.

THE ABOMINATION OF DESOLATION (MARK 13:14)

Matthew and Mark refer to the “abomination of desolation,” assuming that their readers will know what it is (Matt. 24:15; Mark 13:14). Modern scholars differ among themselves as to whether this “abomination” will be repeated in the future, but most agree that at least part of it has already occurred. The prophecies of Daniel speak of an abomination which would lead to desolation (Dan. 9:27; 11:31; 12:11). Later writings, such as 1 Maccabees and the Psalms of Solomon, use Daniel’s terms to describe the repeated attacks on Jerusalem’s temple.

One Jewish historian who lived in the 1st century A.D., Josephus, describes the war of A.D. 66–70 similarly as a desolating sacrilege. Josephus believed that when Jewish patriots slaughtered the priests in the Jerusalem temple, they defiled the temple, hence inviting destruction (see Matt. 23:38–24:2). Early Christian writers tell us that before the Romans closed in on Jerusalem, the Jewish patriots began to seize control of the city, forcing the Christians to flee.

In A.D. 70, just 3½ years after the desecrating slaughter in the temple, the Romans finally took Jerusalem. They slaughtered or enslaved most of the Jerusalemites, but according to Josephus self-proclaimed prophets promised those who were taking refuge in the temple that God would protect the sacred building. But God did not, and after the Romans burned the temple they placed on it their standards, bearing the insignia of the emperor who was worshiped as a god.

Most Jewish people, including the Essenes who wrote the Dead Sea Scrolls, considered the Roman standards to be idolatrous. Some preferred to die rather than allow the standards into Jerusalem. Tragically, the Romans now offered sacrifices to their standards on the site of the temple. Judean Jews revolted again in A.D. 132, and were again brutally suppressed by the Romans around 135. After that, the Romans built a pagan temple on the site once reserved for the worship of Israel’s God. These acts were truly “abominations.”

know that it<sup>a</sup> is near—at the doors!<sup>34</sup> Assuredly, I say to you, this generation will by no means pass away till all these things take place.<sup>35</sup> Heaven and earth will pass away, but My words will by no means pass away.”

Jesus Predicts Destruction

13 :1 Then as He went out of the temple, one of His disciples said to Him, “Teacher, see what manner of stones and what buildings are here!”

<sup>2</sup>And Jesus answered and said to him, “Do you see these great buildings? Not one stone shall be left upon another, that shall not be thrown down.”

The Signs of the Times and the End of the Age

<sup>3</sup>Now as He sat on the Mount of Olives opposite the temple, Peter, James, John, and Andrew asked Him privately, <sup>4</sup>“Tell us, when will these things be? And what will be the sign when all these things will be fulfilled?”

<sup>5</sup>And Jesus, answering them, began to say: “Take heed that no one deceives you. <sup>6</sup>For many will come in My name, saying, ‘I am He,’ and will deceive many. <sup>7</sup>But when you hear of wars and rumors of wars, do not be troubled; for such things must happen, but the end is not yet. <sup>8</sup>For nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. And there will be earthquakes in various places, and there will be famines and troubles.<sup>a</sup> These are the beginnings of sorrows.

<sup>9</sup>But watch out for yourselves, for they will deliver you up to councils, and you will be beaten in the synagogues. You will be brought<sup>a</sup> before rulers and kings for My sake, for a testimony to them. <sup>10</sup>And the gospel must first be preached to all the nations. <sup>11</sup>But when they arrest you and deliver you up, do not worry beforehand, or premeditate<sup>a</sup> what you will speak. But whatever is given you in that hour, speak that; for it is not you who speak, but the Holy Spirit. <sup>12</sup>Now brother will betray brother to death, and a father his child; and children will rise up against parents and cause them to be put to death. <sup>13</sup>And you will be hated by all for My name’s sake. But he who endures to the end shall be saved.

The Great Tribulation

<sup>14</sup>“So when you see the ‘abomination of desolation,’<sup>a</sup> spoken of by Daniel the prophet,<sup>b</sup> standing where it ought not” (let the reader understand), “then let those who are in Judea flee to the mountains. <sup>15</sup>Let him who is on the housetop not go down into the house, nor enter to take anything out of his house. <sup>16</sup>And let him who is in the field not go back to get his clothes. <sup>17</sup>But woe to those who are pregnant and to those who

Plants & Animals

The fig tree has been cultivated around the Mediterranean for thousands of years. This large tree gives fruit from early to late summer. Like grapes, figs can be eaten fresh or dried. In the winter, the leaves fall off, but new shoots appear in spring and so announce that summer is near (Matt. 24:32). Jesus’ parable of the fig tree encouraged people to watch for the coming of God’s future kingdom (Luke 21:31).

<sup>24</sup>"But in those days, after that tribulation, the sun will be darkened, and the moon will not give its light; <sup>25</sup>the stars of heaven will fall, and the powers in the heavens will be shaken. <sup>26</sup>Then they will see the Son of Man coming in the clouds with great power and glory. <sup>27</sup>And then He will send His angels, and gather together His elect from the four winds, from the farthest part of earth to the farthest part of heaven.

The Parable of the Fig Tree

<sup>28</sup>"Now learn this parable from the fig tree: When its branch has already become tender, and puts forth leaves, you know that summer is near. <sup>29</sup>So you also, when you see these things happening, know that it<sup>c</sup> is near—at the doors! <sup>30</sup>Assuredly, I say to you, this generation will by no means pass away till all these things take place. <sup>31</sup>Heaven and earth will pass away, but My words will by no means pass away."

Luke 21:5–33

The Destruction of the Temple

21 :5 Then, as some spoke of the temple, how it was adorned with beautiful stones and donations, He said, <sup>6</sup>"These things which you see—the days will come in which not one stone shall be left upon another that shall not be thrown down."

Signs and Persecutions

<sup>7</sup>So they asked Him, saying, "Teacher, but when will these things be? And what sign will there be when these things are about to take place?"

<sup>8</sup>And He said: "Take heed that you not be deceived. For many will come in My name, saying, 'I am He,' and, 'The time has drawn near.' Therefore<sup>d</sup> do not go after them. <sup>9</sup>But when you hear of wars and commotions, do not be terrified; for these things must come to pass first, but the end will not come immediately."

<sup>10</sup>Then He said to them, "Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. <sup>11</sup>And there will be great earthquakes in various places, and famines and pestilences; and there will be fearful sights and great signs from heaven. <sup>12</sup>But before all these things, they will lay their hands on you and persecute you, delivering you up to the synagogues and prisons. You will be brought before kings and rulers for My name's sake. <sup>13</sup>But it will turn out for you as an occasion for testimony. <sup>14</sup>Therefore settle it in your hearts not to meditate beforehand on what you will answer; <sup>15</sup>for I will give you a mouth and wisdom which all your adversaries will not be able to contradict or resist. <sup>16</sup>You will be betrayed even by parents and brothers, relatives and friends; and they will put some of you to death. <sup>17</sup>And you will be hated by all for My name's sake. <sup>18</sup>But not a hair of your head shall be lost. <sup>19</sup>By your patience possess your souls.

Politics & Government

At the death of Augustus in A.D. 14, the Roman army numbered about 260,000 men. About half were Roman citizens, 22 legions of 5,000 to 6,000 men each. Legions were subdivided into cohorts and centuries, with a centurion over each century. The noncitizen troops were "auxiliaries" drawn from tribes, allies, and provincials, and organized in regiments. These Roman armies "surrounded" Jerusalem in A.D. 70 (Luke 21:20).

The Destruction of Jerusalem

<sup>20</sup>"But when you see Jerusalem surrounded by armies, then know that its desolation is near. <sup>21</sup>Then let those who are in Judea flee to the mountains, let those who are in the midst of her depart, and let not those who are in the country enter her. <sup>22</sup>For these are the days of vengeance, that all things which are written may be fulfilled. <sup>23</sup>But woe to those who are pregnant and to those who are nursing babies in those days! For there will be great distress in the land and wrath upon this people. <sup>24</sup>And they will fall by the edge of the sword, and be led away captive into all nations. And Jerusalem will be trampled by Gentiles until the times of the Gentiles are fulfilled.

The Coming of the Son of Man

<sup>25</sup>"And there will be signs in the sun, in the moon, and in the stars; and on the earth distress of nations, with perplexity, the sea and the waves roaring; <sup>26</sup>men's hearts failing them from fear and the expectation of those things which are coming on the earth, for the powers of the heavens will be shaken. <sup>27</sup>Then they will see the Son of Man coming in a cloud with power and great glory. <sup>28</sup>Now when these things begin to happen, look up and lift up your heads, because your redemption draws near.”

The Parable of the Fig Tree

<sup>29</sup>Then He spoke to them a parable: “Look at the fig tree, and all the trees. <sup>30</sup>When they are already budding, you see and know for yourselves that summer is now near. <sup>31</sup>So you also, when you see these things happening, know that the kingdom of God is near. <sup>32</sup>Assuredly, I say to you, this generation will by no means pass away till all things take place. <sup>33</sup>Heaven and earth will pass away, but My words will by no means pass away.”

Parables from the Mount of Olives

Portions of Jesus’ teaching appear in different contexts in the different Gospels. Matthew supplements the eschatological discourse on the Mount of Olives by the addition of five parables, none of which appear in Mark’s Gospel. The last of these parables, the judgment of the nations (Matt. 25:31–46), is found only in Matthew’s Gospel. The other four parables are reported by Luke as well as by Matthew: the flood (Matt. 24:37–44); the faithful and evil servants (24:45–51); the ten virgins (25:1–13); the talents (25:14–30). Luke’s Gospel, however, places these parables in different contexts, all prior to Jesus’ final week in Jerusalem.

Various explanations have been offered to account for these differences in the placement of Jesus’ sayings and parables. In some instances it is reasonable to assume that Jesus taught the same things more than once, and that the different Gospels preserve the teachings at various points in His ministry. The differing arrangements of sayings, however, suggest yet another explanation. The early church often remembered a saying but not its context. Shorn of a context, a saying or parable depended on the discretion and purpose of each Gospel writer for its placement in the Gospel. The church father Papias (who died in A.D. 135) recognized this early in the 2nd century, writing, “Mark wrote accurately all that [Peter] taught about Jesus, though not always in the order of the things said and done by Jesus.”

Be Ready!

24:36 “But of that day and hour no one knows, not even the angels of heaven,<sup>a</sup> but My Father only. <sup>37</sup>But as the days of Noah were, so also will the coming of the Son of Man be. <sup>38</sup>For as in the days before the flood, they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until the day that Noah entered the ark, <sup>39</sup>and did not know until the flood came and took them all away, so also will the coming of the Son of Man be. <sup>40</sup>Then two men will be in the field: one will be taken and the other left. <sup>41</sup>Two women will be grinding at the mill: one will be taken and the other left. <sup>42</sup>Watch therefore, for you do not know what hour<sup>a</sup> your Lord is coming. <sup>43</sup>But know this, that if the master of the house had known what hour the thief would come, he would have watched and not allowed his house to be broken into. <sup>44</sup>Therefore you also be ready, for the Son of Man is coming at an hour you do not expect.

The Faithful Servant and the Evil Servant

<sup>45</sup>“Who then is a faithful and wise servant, whom his master made ruler over his household, to give them food in due season? <sup>46</sup>Blessed is that servant whom his master, when he comes, will find so doing. <sup>47</sup>Assuredly, I say to you that he will make him ruler over all his goods. <sup>48</sup>But if that evil servant says in his heart, ‘My master is delaying his coming,’<sup>a</sup> <sup>49</sup>and begins to beat his fellow servants, and to eat and drink with the drunkards, <sup>50</sup>the master of that servant will come on a day when he is not looking for him and at an hour that he is not aware of, <sup>51</sup>and will cut him in two and appoint him his portion with the hypocrites. There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

The Parable of the Wise and Foolish Virgins

25:6 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits is coming.

<sup>11</sup>“Afterward the other virgins came also, saying, ‘Lord, Lord, open to us!’ <sup>12</sup>But he answered and said, ‘Assuredly, I say to you, I do not know you.’

<sup>13</sup>“Watch therefore, for you know neither the day nor the hour<sup>a</sup> in which the Son of Man is coming.

The Parable of the Talents

<sup>14</sup>“For the kingdom of heaven is like a man traveling to a far country, who called his own servants and delivered his goods to them. <sup>15</sup>And to one he gave five talents, to another two, and to another one, to each according to his own ability; and immediately he went on a journey. <sup>16</sup>Then he who had received the five talents went and traded with them, and made another five talents. <sup>17</sup>And likewise he who had received two gained two more also. <sup>18</sup>But he who had received one went and dug in the ground, and hid his lord’s money. <sup>19</sup>After a long time the lord of those servants came and settled accounts with them.

<sup>20</sup>“So he who had received five talents came and brought five other talents, saying, ‘Lord, you delivered to me five talents; look, I have gained five more talents besides them.’ <sup>21</sup>His lord said to him, ‘Well done, good and faithful servant; you were faithful over a few things, I will make you ruler over many things. Enter into the joy of your lord.’ <sup>22</sup>He also who had received two talents came and said, ‘Lord, you delivered to me two talents; look, I have gained two more talents besides them.’ <sup>23</sup>His lord said to him, ‘Well done, good and faithful servant; you have been faithful over a few things, I will make you ruler over many things. Enter into the joy of your lord.’

25:13 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits the rest of this verse. 25:31 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits holy.

<sup>24</sup>“Then he who had received the one talent came and said, ‘Lord, I knew you to be a hard man, reaping where you have not sown, and gathering where you have not scattered seed. <sup>25</sup>And I was afraid, and went and hid your talent in the ground. Look, there you have what is yours.’

<sup>26</sup>“But his lord answered and said to him, ‘You wicked and lazy servant, you knew that I reap where I have not sown, and gather where I have not scattered seed. <sup>27</sup>So you ought to have deposited my money with the bankers, and at my coming I would have received back my own with interest. <sup>28</sup>So take the talent from him, and give it to him who has ten talents.

<sup>29</sup>For to everyone who has, more will be given, and he will have abundance; but from him who does not have, even what he has will be taken away. <sup>30</sup>And cast the unprofitable servant into the outer darkness. There will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.’

The Son of Man Will Judge the Nations

<sup>31</sup>“When the Son of Man comes in His glory, and all the holy<sup>a</sup> angels with Him, then He will sit on the throne of His glory. <sup>32</sup>All the nations will be gathered before Him, and He will separate them one from another, as a shepherd divides his sheep from the goats. <sup>33</sup>And He will set the sheep on His right hand, but the goats on the left. <sup>34</sup>Then the King will say to those on His right hand, ‘Come, you blessed of My Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world: <sup>35</sup>for I was hungry and you gave Me food; I was thirsty and you gave Me drink; I was a stranger and you took Me in; <sup>36</sup>I was naked and you clothed Me; I was sick and you visited Me; I was in prison and you came to Me.’

<sup>37</sup>“Then the righteous will answer Him, saying, ‘Lord, when did we see You hungry and feed You, or thirsty and give You drink? <sup>38</sup>When did we see You a stranger and take You in, or naked and clothe You? <sup>39</sup>Or when did we see You sick, or in prison, and come to You?’ <sup>40</sup>And the King will answer and say to them, ‘Assuredly, I say to you, inasmuch as you did it to one of the least of these My brethren, you did it to Me.’

<sup>41</sup>“Then He will also say to those on the left hand, ‘Depart from Me, you cursed, into the everlasting fire prepared for the devil and his angels:

In Jesus’ parable of the wise and foolish virgins (Matt. 25:1–13), taking enough oil to keep the lamps burning represented spiritual preparedness in obedience to Jesus’ teaching. Not taking enough oil to keep the lamps burning represented disobedience to Christ.

<sup>42</sup>for I was hungry and you gave Me no food; I was thirsty and you gave Me no drink; <sup>43</sup>I was a stranger and you did not take Me in, naked and you did not clothe Me, sick and in prison and you did not visit Me.'

<sup>44</sup>"Then they also will answer Him,<sup>a</sup> saying, 'Lord, when did we see You hungry or thirsty or a stranger or naked or sick or in prison, and did not minister to You?' <sup>45</sup>Then He will answer them, saying, 'Assuredly, I say to you, inasmuch as you did not do it to one of the least of these, you did not do it to Me.' <sup>46</sup>And these will go away into everlasting punishment, but the righteous into eternal life."

No One Knows the Day or Hour

13 :32 "But of that day and hour no one knows, not even the angels in heaven, nor the Son, but only the Father. <sup>33</sup>Take heed, watch and pray; for you do not know when the time is. <sup>34</sup>It is like a man going to a far country, who left his house and gave authority to his servants, and to each his work, and commanded the doorkeeper to watch. <sup>35</sup>Watch therefore, for you do not know when the master of the house is coming—in the evening, at midnight, at the crowing of the rooster, or in the morning— <sup>36</sup>lest, coming suddenly, he find you sleeping. <sup>37</sup>And what I say to you, I say to all: Watch!"

Luke 21:34–38

The Importance of Watching

21 :34 "But take heed to yourselves, lest your hearts be weighed down with carousing, drunkenness, and cares of this life, and that Day come on you unexpectedly. <sup>35</sup>For it will come as a snare on all those who dwell on the face of the whole earth. <sup>36</sup>Watch therefore, and pray always that you may be counted worthy<sup>a</sup> to escape all these things that will come to pass, and to stand before the Son of Man."

<sup>37</sup>And in the daytime He was teaching in the temple, but at night He went out and stayed on the mountain called Olivet. <sup>38</sup>Then early in the morning all the people came to Him in the temple to hear Him.

Discourse on His Own Death

Between the Triumphal Entry and the Last Supper, the Synoptics record the great controversies in the temple, the parables, and the eschatological discourse on the Mount of Olives. The Gospel of John passes over in silence all of these. The only echo of them in John is a simple but trenchant quotation from the prophet Isaiah about the blindness of the people and their hardness of heart (John 12:39–41).

The Triumphal Entry and the Last Supper are connected in the Fourth Gospel instead by a brief soliloquy of Jesus on His impending death. His powerful illustration of the dying and germinating of a seed symbolizes the meaning of His death: the grain of wheat must die before it can reproduce itself (John 12:24). Similarly, the Son of Man must be "lifted up" on a cross to draw "all peoples" to Himself (John 12:32–34).

• John 12:20–50

The Fruitful Grain of Wheat

12 :20 Now there were certain Greeks among those who came up to worship at the feast. <sup>21</sup>Then they came to Philip, who was from Bethsaida of Galilee, and asked him, saying, "Sir, we wish to see Jesus."

<sup>22</sup>Philip came and told Andrew, and in turn Andrew and Philip told Jesus.

<sup>23</sup>But Jesus answered them, saying, "The hour has come that the Son of Man should be glorified. <sup>24</sup>Most assuredly, I say to you, unless a grain of wheat falls into the ground and dies, it remains alone; but if it dies, it produces much grain. <sup>25</sup>He who loves his life will lose it, and he who hates his life in this world will keep it for eternal life. <sup>26</sup>If anyone serves Me, let him follow Me; and where I am, there My servant will be also. If anyone serves Me, him My Father will honor.

Jesus Predicts His Death on the Cross

<sup>27</sup>"Now My soul is troubled, and what shall I say? 'Father, save Me from this hour'? But for this purpose I came to this hour. <sup>28</sup>Father, glorify Your name."

Then a voice came from heaven, saying, "I have both glorified it and will glorify it again."

<sup>29</sup>Therefore the people who stood by and heard it said that it had thundered. Others said, "An angel has spoken to Him."

<sup>30</sup>Jesus answered and said, "This voice did not come because of Me, but for your sake. <sup>31</sup>Now is the judgment of this world; now the ruler of this world will be cast out. <sup>32</sup>And I, if I am lifted up from the earth, will draw all peoples to Myself." <sup>33</sup>This He said, signifying by what death He would die.

<sup>34</sup>The people answered Him, "We have heard from the law that the Christ remains forever; and how can You say, 'The Son of Man must be lifted up'? Who is this Son of Man?"

25:44 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text and M-Text omit Him. Luke 21:36 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text reads may have strength.

<sup>35</sup>Then Jesus said to them, “A little while longer the light is with you. Walk while you have the light, lest darkness overtake you; he who walks in darkness does not know where he is going. <sup>36</sup>While you have the light, believe in the light, that you may become sons of light.” These things Jesus spoke, and departed, and was hidden from them.

Who Has Believed Our Report?

<sup>37</sup>But although He had done so many signs before them, they did not believe in Him, <sup>38</sup>that the word of Isaiah the prophet might be fulfilled, which he spoke:

*“Lord, who has believed our report?
And to whom has the arm of the LORD been revealed?”<sup>a</sup>*

<sup>39</sup>Therefore they could not believe, because Isaiah said again:

<sup>40</sup> *“He has blinded their eyes and hardened their hearts,
Lest they should see with their eyes,
Lest they should understand with their hearts and turn,
So that I should heal them.”<sup>a</sup>*

<sup>41</sup>These things Isaiah said when<sup>a</sup> he saw His glory and spoke of Him.

Walk in the Light

<sup>42</sup>Nevertheless even among the rulers many believed in Him, but because of the Pharisees they did not confess Him, lest they should be put out of the synagogue; <sup>43</sup>for they loved the praise of men more than the praise of God.

<sup>44</sup>Then Jesus cried out and said, “He who believes in Me, believes not in Me but in Him who sent Me. <sup>45</sup>And he who sees Me sees Him who sent Me. <sup>46</sup>I have come as a light into the world, that whoever believes in Me should not abide in darkness. <sup>47</sup>And if anyone hears My words and does not believe,<sup>a</sup> I do not judge him; for I did not come to judge the world but to save the world. <sup>48</sup>He who rejects Me, and does not receive My words, has that which judges him—the word that I have spoken will judge him in the last day. <sup>49</sup>For I have not spoken on My own authority; but the Father who sent Me gave Me a command, what I should say and what I should speak. <sup>50</sup>And I know that His command is everlasting life. Therefore, whatever I speak, just as the Father has told Me, so I speak.”

Plot, Anointing, Betrayal

Judas Iscariot, one of the twelve disciples, entered into conspiracy with the chief priests to betray Jesus into their hands. The chief priests stood at the pinnacle of the Sanhedrin, the Jewish ruling council, and Judas's pact with them indicates that the plot against Jesus was hatched by the Jewish leaders rather than by the people as a whole.

The motive for Judas's betrayal is obscure. As treasurer of the twelve disciples, he must have enjoyed rank among them, but evidently either his person or office inclined him to opportunism and even greed (John 12:4–6). Luke (Luke 22:3) and John (John 13:2, 27) ascribe his betrayal of Jesus as the work of Satan. Only Matthew records the betrayal price of thirty silver pieces, recalling perhaps Zech. 11:12 and assuring his readers that this monstrous deed was foreseen by God.

Between the plotting of the Jewish leaders and Judas's betrayal, Matthew and Mark include a story of Jesus' anointing by an unnamed woman of Bethany. A similar though not identical story appears in John's Gospel (John 12:1–8), where the woman is identified as Mary, the sister of Lazarus, from Bethany (12:3). A third anointing of Jesus by a contrite woman who washed His feet with her tears and wiped them with her hair in the house of Simon the Pharisee appears early in Luke's Gospel (Luke 7:36–50).

The exact relation of these stories to each other is uncertain, given the differences between them (see “Returning to Bethany Before the Passover” at John 12:1). Luke's story is the most remote from the others. John's story is possibly a different version of Matthew's and Mark's anointing at Bethany, and may even preserve the anointing's more historical placement before the Triumphal Entry. Mark frequently sandwiches two different stories together to achieve a single theological purpose, and in the placement of the anointing could have been followed by Matthew.

Mark indicates the timing of the chief priests' plotting: the Passover and Feast of Unleavened Bread were only two days away (Mark 14:1; see Matt. 26:2). Because Mark and John disagree on whether the Last Supper was a Passover meal (see “Thursday: Preparation for the Last Supper” at Matt. 26:17), it is impossible to know certainly that the Passover was on Friday, and whether “two days before Passover” was thus a Wednesday.

The Plot to Kill Jesus

26 :1 Now it came to pass, when Jesus had finished all these sayings, that He said to His disciples, <sup>2</sup>“You know that after two days is the Passover, and the Son of Man will be delivered up to be crucified.”

<sup>3</sup>Then the chief priests, the scribes,<sup>4</sup> and the elders of the people assembled at the palace of the high priest, who was called Caiaphas, <sup>4</sup>and plotted to take Jesus by trickery and kill Him. <sup>5</sup>But they said, “Not during the feast, lest there be an uproar among the people.”

Daily Life & Customs

Alabaster is a soft, translucent stone that can be easily carved and polished. It was often used as a substitute for glass. Alabaster perfume bottles were sealed, disposable containers that were opened by breaking and then discarded when empty (Matt. 26:7). The value of spices, ointments, and perfumes was much higher relative to other goods than it is today.

The Anointing at Bethany

<sup>6</sup>And when Jesus was in Bethany at the house of Simon the leper, <sup>7</sup>a woman came to Him having an alabaster flask of very costly fragrant oil, and she poured it on His head as He sat at the table. <sup>8</sup>But when His disciples saw it, they were indignant, saying, “Why this waste? <sup>9</sup>For this fragrant oil might have been sold for much and given to the poor.”

<sup>10</sup>But when Jesus was aware of it, He said to them, “Why do you trouble the woman? For she has done a good work for Me. <sup>11</sup>For you have the poor with you always, but Me you do not have always. <sup>12</sup>For in pouring this fragrant oil on My body, she did it for My burial. <sup>13</sup>Assuredly, I say to you, wherever this gospel is preached in the whole world, what this woman has done will also be told as a memorial to her.”

Judas Agrees to Betray Jesus

<sup>14</sup>Then one of the twelve, called Judas Iscariot, went to the chief priests <sup>15</sup>and said, “What are you willing to give me if I deliver Him to you?” And they counted out to him thirty pieces of silver. <sup>16</sup>So from that time he sought opportunity to betray Him.

Mark 14:1–11

A Woman Anoints Jesus

14 :1 After two days it was the Passover and the Feast of Unleavened Bread. And the chief priests and the scribes sought how they might take Him by trickery and put Him to death. <sup>2</sup>But they said, “Not during the feast, lest there be an uproar of the people.”

<sup>3</sup>And being in Bethany at the house of Simon the leper, as He sat at the table, a woman came having an alabaster flask of very costly oil of spikenard. Then she broke the flask and poured it on His head. <sup>4</sup>But there were some who were indignant among themselves, and said, “Why was this fragrant oil wasted? <sup>5</sup>For it might have been sold for more than three hundred denarii and given to the poor.” And they criticized her sharply.

<sup>6</sup>But Jesus said, “Let her alone. Why do you trouble her? She has done a good work for Me. <sup>7</sup>For you have the poor with you always, and whenever you wish you may do them good; but Me you do not have always. <sup>8</sup>She has done what she could. She has come beforehand to anoint My body for burial. <sup>9</sup>Assuredly, I say to you, wherever this gospel is preached in the whole world, what this woman has done will also be told as a memorial to her.”

<sup>10</sup>Then Judas Iscariot, one of the twelve, went to the chief priests to betray Him to them. <sup>11</sup>And when they heard it, they were glad, and promised to give him money. So he sought how he might conveniently betray Him.

Luke 22:1–6

The Betrayal by Judas

22 :1 Now the Feast of Unleavened Bread drew near, which is called Passover. <sup>2</sup>And the chief priests and the scribes sought how they might kill Him, for they feared the people.

<sup>3</sup>Then Satan entered Judas, surnamed Iscariot, who was numbered among the twelve. <sup>4</sup>So he went his way and conferred with the chief priests and captains, how he might betray Him to them. <sup>5</sup>And they were glad, and agreed to give him money. <sup>6</sup>So he promised and sought opportunity to betray Him to them in the absence of the multitude.

26:3 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits the scribes.

Thursday: Preparation for the Last Supper

The four Gospels record that Jesus shared a farewell meal with His disciples on the eve of His crucifixion. All of the Gospels agree that Jesus was placed in the tomb on late Friday, immediately before the Sabbath began at sundown. Friday was known as the Preparation Day—the day before the Sabbath (Mark 15:42; Luke 23:54; John 19:31). So the last supper of Jesus with His disciples was eaten on Thursday, the previous night.

The Synoptics present the Last Supper as being the Passover meal. Passover began at sunset with the meal ushering in the new day, the 15th of Nisan. The celebration was the focal point of a week-long festival in Jerusalem commemorating the Exodus from Egypt. Each of the Synoptics relates that Jesus knew where He and His disciples would “eat the Passover,” and sent them to prepare (Mark 14:12–16).

In John’s Gospel, the Last Supper was not the Passover meal. John does not report Jesus sending the disciples ahead into Jerusalem to prepare the Passover room, nor does he record Jesus’ familiar words of institution during the course of the meal (Mark 14:22–25). Rather he suggests that Jesus was crucified on the day before Passover began—“the Preparation Day of the Passover” (John 19:14, 16). In John’s sequence, the Last Supper was celebrated on Passover eve, and Jesus was tried the next day while the Jewish authorities themselves were preparing to eat the Passover meal (18:28).

Various suggestions attempt to account for the discrepancy between John and the Synoptics. One possibility is that John’s account follows a different calendar. More probably, however, John makes Jesus’ death coincide with the sacrifice of the Passover lamb in the temple. This powerfully signifies that Jesus is “the Lamb of God” (John 1:29) who is killed at the same time the lambs are being prepared for the evening Passover meal (19:14).

All four Gospels set the Last Supper in the context of Judas’s betrayal of Jesus. In each account, Jesus announces that the betrayer is present among them at the meal. Matthew (Matt. 26:25) and John (John 13:26) specifically identify the betrayer to be Judas. In ancient Judaism, table fellowship was the supreme act of intimacy and trust. Judas’s betrayal at a meal—and in the Synoptics, a Passover meal—thus heightens its treachery.

Passover with the Disciples

26 :17 Now on the first day of the Feast of Unleavened Bread the disciples came to Jesus, saying to Him, “Where do You want us to prepare for You to eat the Passover?”

<sup>18</sup>And He said, “Go into the city to a certain man, and say to him, ‘The Teacher says, “My time is at hand; I will keep the Passover at your house with My disciples.”’”

<sup>19</sup>So the disciples did as Jesus had directed them; and they prepared the Passover.

26:26 <sup>a</sup>M-Text reads gave thanks for. 26:28 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits new. Mark 14:19 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits this sentence.

<sup>20</sup>When evening had come, He sat down with the twelve. <sup>21</sup>Now as they were eating, He said, “Assuredly, I say to you, one of you will betray Me.”

<sup>22</sup>And they were exceedingly sorrowful, and each of them began to say to Him, “Lord, is it I?”

<sup>23</sup>He answered and said, “He who dipped his hand with Me in the dish will betray Me. <sup>24</sup>The Son of Man indeed goes just as it is written of Him, but woe to that man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed! It would have been good for that man if he had not been born.”

<sup>25</sup>Then Judas, who was betraying Him, answered and said, “Rabbi, is it I?”

He said to him, “You have said it.”

Institution of the Lord’s Supper

<sup>26</sup>And as they were eating, Jesus took bread, blessed<sup>a</sup> and broke it, and gave it to the disciples and said, “Take, eat; this is My body.”

<sup>27</sup>Then He took the cup, and gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, “Drink from it, all of you. <sup>28</sup>For this is My blood of the new<sup>a</sup> covenant, which is shed for many for the remission of sins. <sup>29</sup>But I say to you, I will not drink of this fruit of the vine from now on until that day when I drink it new with you in My Father’s kingdom.”

Mark 14:12–25

Jesus Celebrates the Passover

14 :12 Now on the first day of Unleavened Bread, when they killed the Passover lamb, His disciples said to Him, “Where do You want us to go and prepare, that You may eat the Passover?”

<sup>13</sup>And He sent out two of His disciples and said to them, “Go into the city, and a man will meet you carrying a pitcher of water; follow him. <sup>14</sup>Wherever he goes in, say to the master of the house, ‘The Teacher says, “Where is the guest room in which I may eat the Passover with My disciples?”’” <sup>15</sup>Then he will show you a large upper room, furnished and prepared; there make ready for us.”

<sup>16</sup>So His disciples went out, and came into the city, and found it just as He had said to them; and they prepared the Passover.

<sup>17</sup>In the evening He came with the twelve. <sup>18</sup>Now as they sat and ate, Jesus said, “Assuredly, I say to you, one of you who eats with Me will betray Me.”

<sup>19</sup>And they began to be sorrowful, and to say to Him one by one, “Is it I?” And another said, “Is it I?”<sup>a</sup>

<sup>20</sup>He answered and said to them, “It is one of the twelve, who dips with Me in the dish. <sup>21</sup>The Son of Man indeed goes just as it is written of Him, but woe to that man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed! It would have been good for that man if he had never been born.”

HIS BODY, HIS BLOOD, AND PASSOVER (MARK 14:22, 24)

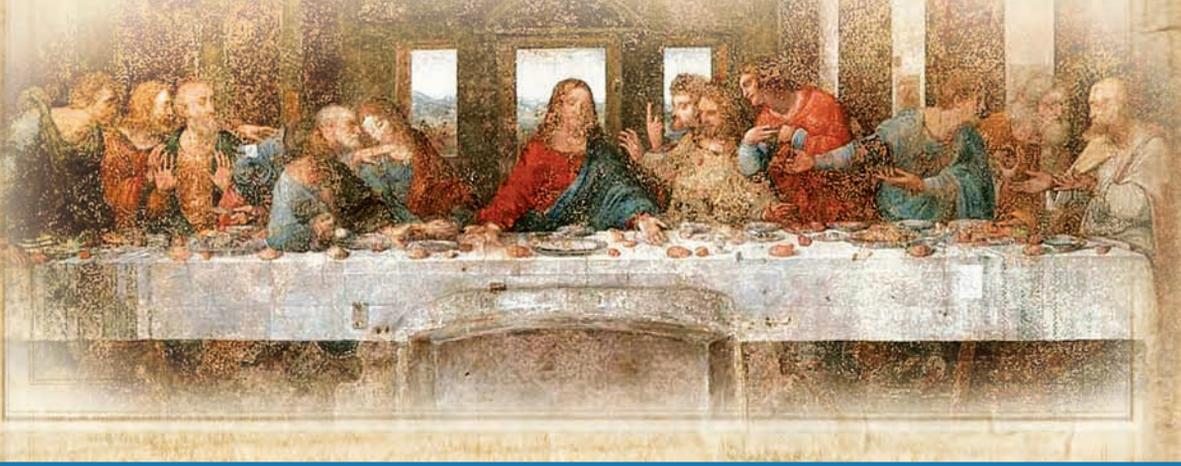

The Synoptic Gospels present Jesus sharing the Passover meal as His last supper with the disciples. He reinterpreted the common elements of the celebration in the light of a new covenant. The unleavened bread became His body (Mark 14:22) and the wine became His blood (14:26).

Customarily, the head of a Jewish household would explain each of the elements of the Passover meal. When explaining the bread, he would announce, “This is the bread of affliction which our ancestors ate when they came from the land of Egypt.” He was not suggesting that it was the literal bread eaten by their ancestors, which was by then over 1,000 years old, but that it represented the bread their ancestors ate. This was one way Jewish people could identify with their ancestors whom God had first redeemed from captivity.

The head of the household normally blessed the bread and wine at other meals as well, but at Passover, when four cups of red wine were drunk, he would lift the cup a handbreadth above the table and recite a special blessing. Jewish men normally sat in chairs for meals, but they reclined on couches in typical Greek fashion when eating at banquets like the Passover. With their feet pointed away from the center of the room (see Luke 7:38) and their heads more toward the center (see John 13:23), they generally reclined on one elbow, using the other arm to reach the food on the table beside them.

Jesus’ remark about the “blood of the new covenant” (14:24) looked back to when God redeemed Israel from Egypt (Ex. 24:8). By His blood being “shed for many,” Jesus possibly alluded to the suffering Servant pouring out His life (Is. 53:12). He saw Himself as redeeming His people by His own death.

Jewish people customarily finished their meal by singing more psalms from the Hallel (Ps. 113–118). Likewise, Jesus’ disciples sang “a hymn” (Mark 14:26) before departing for Gethsemane, where they would in the end desert Jesus.

Jesus Institutes the Lord's Supper

<sup>22</sup>And as they were eating, Jesus took bread, blessed and broke it, and gave it to them and said, “Take, eat;<sup>a</sup> this is My body.”

<sup>23</sup>Then He took the cup, and when He had given thanks He gave it to them, and they all drank from it. <sup>24</sup>And He said to them, “This is My blood of the new<sup>a</sup> covenant, which is shed for many. <sup>25</sup>Assuredly, I say to you, I will no longer drink of the fruit of the vine until that day when I drink it new in the kingdom of God.”

Luke 22:7–30

The Last Supper

22 :7 Then came the Day of Unleavened Bread, when the Passover must be killed. <sup>8</sup>And He sent Peter and John, saying, “Go and prepare the Passover for us, that we may eat.”

<sup>9</sup>So they said to Him, “Where do You want us to prepare?”

<sup>10</sup>And He said to them, “Behold, when you have entered the city, a man will meet you carrying a pitcher of water; follow him into the house which he enters. <sup>11</sup>Then you shall say to the master of the house, ‘The Teacher says to you, “Where is the guest room where I may eat the Passover with My disciples?”’ <sup>12</sup>Then he will show you a large, furnished upper room; there make ready.”

<sup>13</sup>So they went and found it just as He had said to them, and they prepared the Passover.

The Cup and Bread

<sup>14</sup>When the hour had come, He sat down, and the twelve<sup>a</sup> apostles with Him. <sup>15</sup>Then He said to them, “With *ferve*nt desire I have desired to eat this Passover with you before I suffer; <sup>16</sup>for 14:22 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits eat. 14:24 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits new.

Luke 22:14 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits twelve.

I say to you, I will no longer eat of it until it is fulfilled in the kingdom of God.”

<sup>17</sup>Then He took the cup, and gave thanks, and said, “Take this and divide it among yourselves; <sup>18</sup>for I say to you,<sup>a</sup> I will not drink of the fruit of the vine until the kingdom of God comes.”

<sup>19</sup>And He took bread, gave thanks and broke it, and gave it to them, saying, “This is My body which is given for you; do this in remembrance of Me.”

<sup>20</sup>Likewise He also took the cup after supper, saying, “This cup is the new covenant in My blood, which is shed for you. <sup>21</sup>But behold, the hand of My betrayer is with Me on the table. <sup>22</sup>And truly the Son of Man goes as it has been determined, but woe to that man by whom He is betrayed!”

<sup>23</sup>Then they began to question among themselves, which of them it was who would do this thing.

The Disciples Argue About Greatness

<sup>24</sup>Now there was also a dispute among them, as to which of them should be considered the greatest. <sup>25</sup>And He said to them, “The kings of the Gentiles exercise lordship over them, and those who exercise authority over them are called ‘benefactors.’ <sup>26</sup>But not so among you; on the contrary, he who is greatest among you, let him be as the younger, and he who governs as he who serves. <sup>27</sup>For who is greater, he who sits at the table, or he who serves? Is it not he who sits at the table? Yet I am among you as the One who serves.

<sup>28</sup>“But you are those who have continued with Me in My trials. <sup>29</sup>And I bestow upon you a kingdom, just as My Father bestowed one upon Me, <sup>30</sup>that you may eat and drink at My table in My kingdom, and sit on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel.”

John 13:18–30

Jesus Identifies His Betrayer

13 :18 “I do not speak concerning all of you. I know whom I have chosen; but that the Scripture may be fulfilled, ‘He who eats bread with Me<sup>a</sup> has lifted up his heel against Me.’<sup>b</sup>

<sup>19</sup>Now I tell you before it comes, that when it does come to pass, you may believe that I am He. <sup>20</sup>Most assuredly, I say to you, he who receives whomever I send receives Me; and he who receives Me receives Him who sent Me.”

<sup>21</sup>When Jesus had said these things, He was troubled in spirit, and testified and said, “Most assuredly, I say to you, one of you will betray Me.” <sup>22</sup>Then the disciples looked at one another, perplexed about whom He spoke.

<sup>23</sup>Now there was leaning on Jesus’ bosom one of His disciples, whom Jesus loved. <sup>24</sup>Simon Peter therefore motioned to him to ask who it was of whom He spoke.

<sup>25</sup>Then, leaning back<sup>a</sup> on Jesus’ breast, he said to Him, “Lord, who is it?”

<sup>26</sup>Jesus answered, “It is he to whom I shall give a piece of bread when I have dipped it.” And having dipped the bread, He gave it to Judas Iscariot, the son of Simon. <sup>27</sup>Now after the piece of bread, Satan entered him. Then Jesus said to him, “What you do, do quickly.” <sup>28</sup>But no one at the table knew for what reason He said this to him. <sup>29</sup>For some thought, because Judas had the money box, that Jesus had said to him, “Buy those things we need for the feast,” or that he should give something to the poor.

<sup>30</sup>Having received the piece of bread, he then went out immediately. And it was night.

Jesus Washes the Disciples’ Feet

The four Gospels differ regarding the purpose of the solemn meal that Jesus shared with His disciples during Passion Week. For the Synoptics, the Last Supper was the inauguration of a new covenant in the body and blood of Jesus. John’s Gospel alludes to the Last Supper, but does so for the purpose of introducing the new commandment of love.

John omits the words of institution found in the Synoptics (see Mark 14:22–25), but instead recounts the footwashing of the disciples. The Passover meal included a handwashing ritual called rehaz, and Jesus may have altered the ritual into a footwashing. It is not certain whether the ritual occurred during or after the meal, since some Greek manuscripts read “during supper” in John 13:2, instead of “supper being ended.”

There was no precedent for a footwashing at the Passover ritual. Indeed, even a Jewish slave could not be required to wash his master’s feet; such an act was only required of a non-Jewish slave! This abject deed demonstrates the sacrificial humility and love of Jesus, which is subsequently interpreted by the new commandment (John 13:31–35). The washing of the disciples’ feet is a demonstration of the love that Jesus’ disciples are to have for one another.

Jesus, Lord and Servant

13 :1 Now before the Feast of the Passover, when Jesus knew that His hour had come that He should depart from this world to the Father, having loved His own who were in the world, He loved them to the end.

<sup>2</sup>And supper being ended,<sup>a</sup> the devil having already put it into the heart of Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, to betray Him, <sup>3</sup>Jesus, knowing that the Father had given all things into His hands, and that He had come from God and was going to God, <sup>4</sup>rose from supper and laid aside His garments, took a towel and girded Himself. <sup>5</sup>After that, He poured water into a basin and began to wash the disciples' feet, and to wipe them with the towel with which He was girded. <sup>6</sup>Then He came to Simon Peter. And Peter said to Him, "Lord, are You washing my feet?"

<sup>7</sup>Jesus answered and said to him, "What I am doing you do not understand now, but you will know after this."

<sup>8</sup>Peter said to Him, "You shall never wash my feet!"

Jesus answered him, "If I do not wash you, you have no part with Me."

<sup>9</sup>Simon Peter said to Him, "Lord, not my feet only, but also my hands and my head!"

<sup>10</sup>Jesus said to him, "He who is bathed needs only to wash his feet, but is completely clean; and you are clean, but not all of you." <sup>11</sup>For He knew who would betray Him; therefore He said, "You are not all clean."

<sup>12</sup>So when He had washed their feet, taken His garments, and sat down again, He said to them, "Do you know what I have done to you? <sup>13</sup>You call Me Teacher and Lord, and you say well, for so I am. <sup>14</sup>If I then, your Lord and Teacher, have washed your feet, you also ought to wash one another's feet. <sup>15</sup>For I have given you an example, that you should do as I have done to you. <sup>16</sup>Most assuredly, I say to you, a servant is not greater than his master; nor is he who is sent greater than he who sent him. <sup>17</sup>If you know these things, blessed are you if you do them."

John 13:31–35

The New Commandment

13 :31 So, when he had gone out, Jesus said, "Now the Son of Man is glorified, and God is glorified in Him. <sup>32</sup>If God is glorified in Him, God will also glorify Him in Himself, and glorify Him immediately. <sup>33</sup>Little children, I shall be with you a little while longer. You will seek Me; and as I said to the Jews, 'Where I am going, you cannot come,' so now I say to you. <sup>34</sup>A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another; as I have loved you, that you also love one another. <sup>35</sup>By this all will know that you are My disciples, if you have love for one another."

Warnings About Denial

Following the Last Supper, each of the Gospels records a conversation between Jesus and Peter. Jesus predicts Peter's defection along with the disciples, but Peter vigorously protests his willingness and even ability to follow Jesus to death if necessary. Then follows the famous pronouncement that Peter will deny Jesus three times before the cock crows.

Luke's Gospel regards the defection of Peter, as it regarded the defection of Judas (Luke 22:3), as a Satanic temptation that could be resisted only by divine assistance and intervention (Luke 22:31, 32). The saying of Jesus about procuring a money bag, knapsack, and a sword appears in no other Gospel (Luke 22:35–38). Though this picturesque saying was intended to prepare the disciples for future tribulations, they took it literally. When two swords were actually presented, Jesus ended the conversation with "Enough" (of such nonsense).

Jesus Predicts Peter's Denial

<sup>31</sup>Then Jesus said to them, "All of you will be made to stumble because of Me this night, for it is written:

*'I will strike the Shepherd,
And the sheep of the flock will be scattered.'*<sup>a</sup>

<sup>32</sup>But after I have been raised, I will go before you to Galilee."

<sup>33</sup>Peter answered and said to Him, "Even if all are made to stumble because of You, I will never be made to stumble."

And so said all the disciples.

14 :26 And when they had sung a hymn, they went out to the Mount of Olives.

<sup>27</sup>Then Jesus said to them, “All of you will be made to stumble because of Me this night,<sup>a</sup> for it is written:

*‘I will strike the Shepherd,
And the sheep will be scattered.’<sup>b</sup>*

<sup>28</sup>“But after I have been raised, I will go before you to Galilee.”

<sup>29</sup>Peter said to Him, “Even if all are made to stumble, yet I will not be.”

<sup>30</sup>Jesus said to him, “Assuredly, I say to you that today, even this night, before the rooster crows twice, you will deny Me three times.”

<sup>31</sup>But he spoke more vehemently, “If I have to die with You, I will not deny You!”

And they all said likewise.

Satan Tempts Simon Peter

22 :31 And the Lord said,<sup>a</sup> “Simon, Simon! Indeed, Satan has asked for you, that he may sift you as wheat. <sup>32</sup>But I have prayed for you, that your faith should not fail; and when you have returned to Me, strengthen your brethren.”

<sup>33</sup>But he said to Him, “Lord, I am ready to go with You, both to prison and to death.”

<sup>34</sup>Then He said, “I tell you, Peter, the rooster shall not crow this day before you will deny three times that you know Me.”

Supplies for the Road

<sup>35</sup>And He said to them, “When I sent you without money bag, knapsack, and sandals, did you lack anything?”

So they said, “Nothing.”

<sup>36</sup>Then He said to them, “But now, he who has a money bag, let him take it, and likewise a knapsack; and he who has no sword, let him sell his garment and buy one. <sup>37</sup>For I say to you that this which is written must still be accomplished in Me: ‘And He was numbered with the transgressors.’<sup>a</sup> For the things concerning Me have an end.”

<sup>38</sup>So they said, “Lord, look, here are two swords.”

And He said to them, “It is enough.”

John 13:36–38

You Cannot Follow Now

13 :36 Simon Peter said to Him, “Lord, where are You going?”

Jesus answered him, “Where I am going you cannot follow Me now, but you shall follow Me afterward.”

<sup>37</sup>Peter said to Him, “Lord, why can I not follow You now? I will lay down my life for Your sake.”

<sup>38</sup>Jesus answered him, “Will you lay down your life for My sake? Most assuredly, I say to you, the rooster shall not crow till you have denied Me three times.”

Farewell Discourses with Disciples

The Fourth Gospel presents a more distinctive portrait of Jesus than do the other three Gospels. One of John’s most important characteristics is his extensive discourse material, especially the series of discourses delivered by Jesus to the disciples in an upper room following the Last Supper. These farewell discourses, which are entirely absent in the Synoptic Gospels, comprise four chapters in John (chs. 14–17). Jesus prepares His disciples for His death and departure to the Father. Among His final instructions to them are commandments to abide in His life and love, forewarnings of hatred and persecutions, and a final prayer (ch. 17) for the unity of His followers.

The Way, the Truth, and the Life

14 :1 “Let not your heart be troubled; you believe in God, believe also in Me. <sup>2</sup>In My Father’s house are many mansions;<sup>a</sup> if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. <sup>3</sup>And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and receive you to Myself; that where I am, there you may be also. <sup>4</sup>And where I go you know, and the way you know.”

<sup>5</sup>Thomas said to Him, “Lord, we do not know where You are going, and how can we know the way?”

14:27 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits because of Me this night. <sup>b</sup>Zechariah 13:7
Luke 22:31 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits And the Lord said. 22:37 <sup>a</sup>Isaiah 53:12 John 14:2 <sup>a</sup>Literally dwellings <sup>b</sup>NU-Text adds a word which would cause the text to read either if it were not so, would I have told you that I go to prepare a place for you? or if it were not so I would have told you; for I go to prepare a place for you.

<sup>6</sup>Jesus said to him, “I am the way, the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father except through Me.

The Father Revealed

<sup>7</sup>“If you had known Me, you would have known My Father also; and from now on you know Him and have seen Him.”

<sup>8</sup>Philip said to Him, “Lord, show us the Father, and it is sufficient for us.”

<sup>9</sup>Jesus said to him, “Have I been with you so long, and yet you have not known Me, Philip? He who has seen Me has seen the Father; so how can you say, ‘Show us the Father?’ <sup>10</sup>Do you not believe that I am in the Father, and the Father in Me? The words that I speak to you I do not speak on My own authority; but the Father who dwells in Me does the works. <sup>11</sup>Believe Me that I am in the Father and the Father in Me, or else believe Me for the sake of the works themselves.

The Answered Prayer

<sup>12</sup>“Most assuredly, I say to you, he who believes in Me, the works that I do he will do also; and greater works than these he will do, because I go to My Father. <sup>13</sup>And whatever you ask in My name, that I will do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son. <sup>14</sup>If you ask<sup>a</sup> anything in My name, I will do it.

Jesus Promises Another Helper

<sup>15</sup>“If you love Me, keep<sup>a</sup> My commandments. <sup>16</sup>And I will pray the Father, and He will give you another Helper, that He may abide with you forever— <sup>17</sup>the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, because it neither sees Him nor knows Him; but you know Him, for He dwells with you and will be in you. <sup>18</sup>I will not leave you orphans; I will come to you.

Indwelling of the Father and the Son

<sup>19</sup>“A little while longer and the world will see Me no more, but you will see Me. Because I live, you will live also. <sup>20</sup>At that day you will know that I am in My Father, and you in Me, and I in you. <sup>21</sup>He who has My commandments and keeps them, it is he who loves Me. And he who loves Me will be loved by My Father, and I will love him and manifest Myself to him.”

Architecture & Building

In 9 B.C. Augustus dedicated the Altar of Peace in Rome, a marble altar in an enclosure 38 by 35 feet. The altar was decorated with carved garlands and other sculptures illustrating the peace and prosperity that Augustus announced as his gift to the world. Jesus announced yet a greater peace from the indwelling Holy Spirit (John 14:27).

<sup>22</sup>Judas (not Iscariot) said to Him, “Lord, how is it that You will manifest Yourself to us, and not to the world?”

<sup>23</sup>Jesus answered and said to him, “If anyone loves Me, he will keep My word; and My Father will love him, and We will come to him and make Our home with him. <sup>24</sup>He who does not love Me does not keep My words; and the word which you hear is not Mine but the Father’s who sent Me.”

Help from the Holy Spirit

The most unique aspect of the farewell discourses is Jesus’ teaching about the Holy Spirit, whom He calls “the Helper” (John 15:26), the advocate of believers. The Holy Spirit testifies of Jesus and guides disciples “into all truth” (16:13–15). Continuing the work of Jesus, the Spirit teaches and brings to remembrance the words and teachings of Jesus (14:26). Many scholars believe that such statements about the Spirit help explain the uniqueness of the Gospel of John. John’s presentation of Jesus, in other words, is determined less by the exact words and deeds of Jesus than by the meaning of the Incarnation as revealed by later inspiration from the Holy Spirit.

The Gift of His Peace

14 :25 “These things I have spoken to you while being present with you. <sup>26</sup>But the Helper, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in My name, He will teach you all things, and bring to your remembrance all things that I said to you. <sup>27</sup>Peace I leave with you, My peace I give to you; not as the world gives do I give to you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid. <sup>28</sup>You have heard Me say to you, ‘I am going away and coming back to you.’ If you loved Me, you would rejoice because I said,<sup>a</sup> ‘I am going to the Father,’ for My Father is greater than I.

<sup>29</sup>“And now I have told you before it comes, that when it does come to pass, you may believe. <sup>30</sup>I will no longer talk much with you, for the ruler of this world is coming, and he has nothing in Me. <sup>31</sup>But that the world may know that I love the Father, and as the Father gave Me commandment, so I do. Arise, let us go from here.

FRIENDSHIP WITH THE MASTER (JOHN 15:15)

In the Roman world, a “friend” was often a political ally who owed one a favor, or a more powerful patron on whom one could depend. But the traditional Greek concept of friendship remained influential even during the apostle Paul’s day. Paul had urged the financially well-off Christians of Corinth to treat Christians in Jerusalem as friends by sharing all things in common. Friends treated one another as “equals” (2 Cor. 8:13, 14).

Jesus said to His disciples: “I have called you friends” (John 15:15). While He was not implying that as His friends they were His equals, He was offering to share with them what belonged to Him. John’s Gospel describes this assurance specifically as the promise of the Spirit sharing Jesus’ words with the disciples, so they would know Jesus’ heart (see 16:13–15).

The intimacy pictured between Jesus and the disciples fits the ancient ideal of friendship, which stressed both loyalty and the sharing of secrets. Among the Greeks, the highest expression of a friend’s loyalty was to die for a friend, and Jesus summoned His disciples to lay down their lives for Him and for one another, as He was about to do for them (15:12–14). But servants often proved no less loyal than friends, so Jesus spoke of an intimacy greater than that between the average master and servant. Greek literature often stressed how friends share secrets with one another in confidence, and Jesus had shared with the disciples all the words He had heard from His Father (15:15).

Some Jewish writers in Jesus’ day stressed that being God’s friend, as exemplified by Abraham and Moses, was even greater than being God’s servant. Jesus thus bestowed on His disciples such an honor of intimacy with Himself.

does not bear fruit He takes away;<sup>4</sup> and every branch that bears fruit He prunes, that it may bear more fruit. <sup>3</sup>You are already clean because of the word which I have spoken to you. <sup>4</sup>Abide in Me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, unless it abides in the vine, neither can you, unless you abide in Me.

<sup>5</sup>“I am the vine, you are the branches. He who abides in Me, and I in him, bears much fruit; for without Me you can do nothing. <sup>6</sup>If anyone does not abide in Me, he is cast out as a branch and is withered; and they gather them and throw them into the fire, and they are burned. <sup>7</sup>If you abide in Me, and My words abide in you, you will<sup>6</sup> ask what you desire, and it shall be done for you. <sup>8</sup>By this My Father is glorified, that you bear much fruit; so you will be My disciples.

Love and Joy Perfected

<sup>9</sup>“As the Father loved Me, I also have loved you; abide in My love. <sup>10</sup>If you keep My commandments, you will abide in My love, just as I have kept My Father’s commandments and abide in His love.

<sup>11</sup>“These things I have spoken to you, that My joy may remain in you, and that your joy may be full. <sup>12</sup>This is My commandment, that you love one another as I have loved you. <sup>13</sup>Greater love has no one than this, than to lay down one’s life for his friends. <sup>14</sup>You are My friends if you do whatever I command you. <sup>15</sup>No longer do I call you servants, for a servant does not know what his master is doing; but I have called you friends, for all things that I heard from My Father I have made known to you. <sup>16</sup>You did not choose Me, but I chose you and appointed you that you should go and bear fruit, and that your fruit should remain, that whatever you ask the Father in My name He may give you. <sup>17</sup>These things I command you, that you love one another.

The World’s Hatred

<sup>18</sup>“If the world hates you, you know that it hated Me before it hated you. <sup>19</sup>If you were of the world, the world would love its own. Yet because you are not of the world, but I chose you out of the world, therefore the world hates you. <sup>20</sup>Remember the word that I said to you, ‘A servant is not greater than his master.’ If they persecuted Me, they will also persecute you. If they kept My word, they will keep yours also. <sup>21</sup>But all these things they will do to you for My name’s sake, because they do not know Him who sent Me. <sup>22</sup>If I had not come and spoken to them, they would have no sin, but now they have no excuse for their sin. <sup>23</sup>He who hates Me hates My Father also. <sup>24</sup>If I had not done among them the works which no one else did, they would have no sin; but now they have seen and also hated both Me and My Father. <sup>25</sup>But this happened that the word might be fulfilled which is written in their law, ‘They hated Me without a cause.’<sup>a</sup>

The Coming Rejection

<sup>26</sup>“But when the Helper comes, whom I shall send to you from the Father, the Spirit of truth who proceeds from the Father, He will testify of Me. <sup>27</sup>And you also will bear witness, because you have been with Me from the beginning.

16 <sup>1</sup>“These things I have spoken to you, that you should not be made to stumble. <sup>2</sup>They will put you out of the synagogues; yes, the time is coming that whoever kills you will think that he offers God service. <sup>3</sup>And these things they will do to you<sup>a</sup> because they have not known the Father nor Me. <sup>4</sup>But these things I have told you, that when the<sup>a</sup> time comes, you may remember that I told you of them.

15:2 <sup>a</sup>Or lifts up 15:7 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits you will.

15:25 <sup>a</sup>Psalms 69:4 16:3 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text and M-Text omit to you.

“And these things I did not say to you at the beginning, because I was with you.

The Work of the Holy Spirit

<sup>5</sup>“But now I go away to Him who sent Me, and none of you asks Me, ‘Where are You going?’ <sup>6</sup>But because I have said these things to you, sorrow has filled your heart. <sup>7</sup>Nevertheless I tell you the truth. It is to your advantage that I go away; for if I do not go away, the Helper will not come to you; but if I depart, I will send Him to you. <sup>8</sup>And when He has come, He will convict the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment: <sup>9</sup>of sin, because they do not believe in Me; <sup>10</sup>of righteousness, because I go to My Father and you see Me no more; <sup>11</sup>of judgment, because the ruler of this world is judged.

<sup>12</sup>“I still have many things to say to you, but you cannot bear them now. <sup>13</sup>However, when He, the Spirit of truth, has come, He will guide you into all truth; for He will not speak on His own authority, but whatever He hears He will speak; and He will tell you things to come. <sup>14</sup>He will glorify Me, for He will take of what is Mine and declare it to you. <sup>15</sup>All things that the Father has are Mine. Therefore I said that He will take of Mine and declare it to you.<sup>a</sup>

Health & Medicine

In ancient times babies were born at home, not in hospitals. Assisting the process of birth were midwives, local women with experience, rather than doctors. Since practically no scientific medical knowledge existed, a high mortality rate was common for infants and children. Yet in the people’s everyday experience of these natural events, the joy of birth was greater than the anguish of the birth process (John 16:21).

Sorrow Will Turn to Joy

<sup>16</sup>“A little while, and you will not see Me; and again a little while, and you will see Me, because I go to the Father.”

<sup>17</sup>Then some of His disciples said among themselves, “What is this that He says to us, ‘A little while, and you will not see Me; and again a little while, and you will see Me’; and, ‘because I go to the Father?’” <sup>18</sup>They said therefore, “What is this that He says, ‘A little while’? We do not know what He is saying.”

<sup>19</sup>Now Jesus knew that they desired to ask Him, and He said to them, “Are you inquiring among yourselves about what I said, ‘A little while, and you will not see Me; and again a little while, and you will see Me’? <sup>20</sup>Most assuredly, I say to you that you will weep and lament, but the world will rejoice; and you will be sorrowful, but your sorrow will be turned into joy. <sup>21</sup>A woman, when she is in labor, has sorrow because her hour has come; but as soon as she has given birth to the child, she no longer remembers the anguish, for joy that a human being has been born into the world. <sup>22</sup>Therefore you now have sorrow; but I will see you again and your heart will rejoice, and your joy no one will take from you.

<sup>23</sup>“And in that day you will ask Me nothing. Most assuredly, I say to you, whatever you ask the Father in My name He will give you. <sup>24</sup>Until now you have asked nothing in My name. Ask, and you will receive, that your joy may be full.

Jesus Christ Has Overcome the World

<sup>25</sup>“These things I have spoken to you in figurative language; but the time is coming when I will no longer speak to you in figurative language, but I will tell you plainly about the Father. <sup>26</sup>In that day you will ask in My name, and I do not say to you that I shall pray the Father for you; <sup>27</sup>for the Father Himself loves you, because you have loved Me, and have believed that I came forth from God. <sup>28</sup>I came forth from the Father and have come into the world. Again, I leave the world and go to the Father.”

<sup>29</sup>His disciples said to Him, “See, now You are speaking plainly, and using no figure of speech! <sup>30</sup>Now we are sure that You know all things, and have no need that anyone should question You. By this we believe that You came forth from God.”

<sup>31</sup>Jesus answered them, “Do you now believe? <sup>32</sup>Indeed the hour is coming, yes, has now come, that you will be scattered, each to his own, and will leave Me alone. And yet I am not alone, because the Father is with Me. <sup>33</sup>These things I have spoken to you, that in Me you may have peace. In the world you will<sup>a</sup> have tribulation; but be of good cheer, I have overcome the world.”

16:4 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text reads their. 16:15 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text and M-Text read He takes of Mine and will declare it to you. 16:33 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text and M-Text omit will.

Jesus’ High Priestly Prayer

The longest recorded prayer of Jesus (John 17:1–26) is called the High Priestly Prayer. On the eve of the crucifixion Jesus interceded for His people, praying this prayer for all who would believe in Him throughout time (John 17:20).

• John 17:1–26

Jesus Prays for Himself

17:1 Jesus spoke these words, lifted up His eyes to heaven, and said: “Father, the hour has come. Glorify Your Son, that Your Son also may glorify You, <sup>2</sup>as You have given Him authority over all flesh, that He should<sup>a</sup> give eternal life to as many as You have given Him. <sup>3</sup>And this is eternal life, that they may know You, the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom You have sent. <sup>4</sup>I have glorified You on the earth. I have finished the work which You have given Me to do. <sup>5</sup>And now, O Father, glorify Me together with Yourself, with the glory which I had with You before the world was.

Jesus Prays for His Disciples

<sup>6</sup>“I have manifested Your name to the men whom You have given Me out of the world. They were Yours, You gave them to Me, and they have kept Your word. <sup>7</sup>Now they have known that all things which You have given Me are from You. <sup>8</sup>For I have given to them the words which You have given Me; and they have received them, and have known surely that I came forth from You; and they have believed that You sent Me.

<sup>9</sup>“I pray for them. I do not pray for the world but for those whom You have given Me, for they are Yours. <sup>10</sup>And all Mine are Yours, and Yours are Mine, and I am glorified in them. <sup>11</sup>Now I am no longer in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to You. Holy Father, keep through Your name those whom You have given Me,<sup>a</sup> that they may be one as We are. <sup>12</sup>While I was with them in the world,<sup>a</sup> I kept them in Your name. Those whom You gave Me I have kept;<sup>b</sup> and none of them is lost except the son of perdition, that the Scripture might be fulfilled. <sup>13</sup>But now I come to You, and these things I speak in the world, that they may have My joy fulfilled in themselves. <sup>14</sup>I have given them Your word; and the world has hated them because they are not of the world, just as I am not of the world. <sup>15</sup>I do not pray that You should take them out of the world, but that You should keep them from the evil one. <sup>16</sup>They are not of the world, just as I am not of the world. <sup>17</sup>Sanctify them by Your truth. Your word is truth. <sup>18</sup>As You sent Me into the world, I also have sent them into the world. <sup>19</sup>And for their sakes I sanctify Myself, that they also may be sanctified by the truth.

17:2 <sup>a</sup>M-Text reads shall. 17:11 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text and M-Text read keep them through Your name which You have given Me.

17:12 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits in the world. <sup>b</sup>NU-Text reads in Your name which You gave Me. And I guarded them; (or it); 17:20 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text and M-Text omit will.

Jesus Prays for All Believers

<sup>20</sup>“I do not pray for these alone, but also for those who will<sup>a</sup> believe in Me through their word; <sup>21</sup>that they all may be one, as You, Father, are in Me, and I in You; that they also may be one in Us, that the world may believe that You sent Me. <sup>22</sup>And the glory which You gave Me I have given them, that they may be one just as We are one: <sup>23</sup>I in them, and You in Me; that they may be made perfect in one, and that the world may know that You have sent Me, and have loved them as You have loved Me.

<sup>24</sup>“Father, I desire that they also whom You gave Me may be with Me where I am, that they may behold My glory which You have given Me; for You loved Me before the foundation of the world. <sup>25</sup>O righteous Father! The world has not known You, but I have known You; and these have known that You sent Me. <sup>26</sup>And I have declared to them Your name, and will declare it, that the love with which You loved Me may be in them, and I in them.”

Jesus' Prayer and Arrest in Gethsemane

After the Last Supper, Jesus retired to an olive grove in the Kidron Valley. Matthew and Mark call the place “Gethsemane,” a Hebrew word meaning “olive press” (Matt. 26:36; Mark 14:32), whereas John simply designates it a garden (John 18:1). There, according to the Synoptic Gospels, Jesus prayed in great anguish and sorrow to be spared the ordeal of crucifixion. But the Father remained silent and the disciples succumbed to sleep.

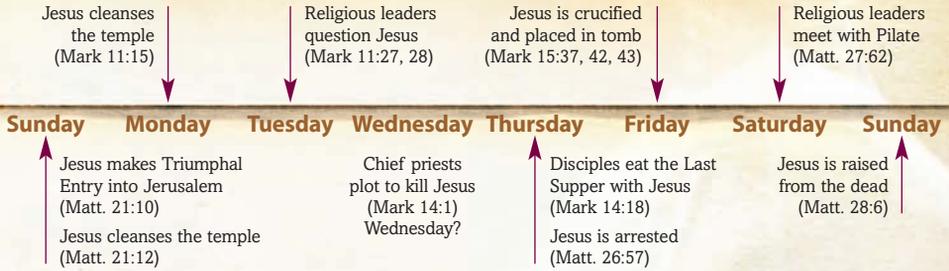

The Gospel of John omits the account of Jesus' prayerful agony and records only His arrest in Gethsemane. The presence of a “detachment of troops” in the garden (John 18:3) indicates that Roman as well as Jewish authorities were responsible for the arrest. John underscores Jesus' royal authority by recording a hesitancy and trepidation on the part of the soldiers at the moment of encounter (18:4–9).

According to the Synoptic Gospels, the arrest occurred on the heels of Jesus' prayer. Matthew reminds his readers that Jesus was not powerless to prevent His seizure, but allows it in fulfillment of God's will (Matt. 26:52–54; see John 18:11). Mark includes a singular and curious note about a young man fleeing naked in the wake of Jesus' arrest (Mark 14:51, 52). As some have supposed, the Gospel writer is possibly making a disguised reference to himself.

JESUS' PASSION WEEK IN JERUSALEM (A.D. 30)

Matthew 26:36–56

The Prayer in the Garden

26:36 Then Jesus came with them to a place called Gethsemane, and said to the disciples, “Sit here while I go and pray over there.”<sup>37</sup> And He took with Him Peter and the two sons of Zebedee, and He began to be sorrowful and deeply distressed.<sup>38</sup> Then He said to them, “My soul is exceedingly sorrowful, even to death. Stay here and watch with Me.”

<sup>39</sup> He went a little farther and fell on His face, and prayed, saying, “O My Father, if it is possible, let this cup pass from Me; nevertheless, not as I will, but as You will.”

<sup>40</sup> Then He came to the disciples and found them sleeping, and said to Peter, “What! Could you not watch with Me one hour? <sup>41</sup> Watch and pray, lest you enter into temptation. The spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak.”

<sup>42</sup> Again, a second time, He went away and prayed, saying, “O My Father, if this cup cannot pass away from Me unless<sup>a</sup> I drink it, Your will be done.”<sup>43</sup> And He came and found them asleep again, for their eyes were heavy.

<sup>44</sup> So He left them, went away again, and prayed the third time, saying the same words.

<sup>45</sup> Then He came to His disciples and said to them, “Are you still sleeping and resting? Behold, the hour is at hand, and the Son of Man is being betrayed into the hands of sinners.<sup>46</sup> Rise, let us be going. See, My betrayer is at hand.”

Betrayal and Arrest in Gethsemane

<sup>47</sup> And while He was still speaking, behold, Judas, one of the twelve, with a great multitude with swords and clubs, came from the chief priests and elders of the people.

<sup>48</sup> Now His betrayer had given them a sign, saying, “Whomever I kiss, He is the One; seize Him.”<sup>49</sup> Immediately he went up to Jesus and said, “Greetings, Rabbi!” and kissed Him.

<sup>50</sup> But Jesus said to him, “Friend, why have you come?”

Then they came and laid hands on Jesus and took Him.<sup>51</sup> And suddenly, one of those who were with Jesus stretched out his hand and drew his sword, struck the servant of the high priest, and cut off his ear.

<sup>52</sup> But Jesus said to him, “Put your sword in its place, for all who take the sword will perish<sup>a</sup> by the sword.<sup>53</sup> Or do you think that I cannot now pray to My Father, and He will provide Me with more than twelve legions of angels?<sup>54</sup> How then could the Scriptures be fulfilled, that it must happen thus?”

<sup>55</sup> In that hour Jesus said to the multitudes, “Have you come out, as against a robber, with swords and clubs to take Me? I sat daily with you, teaching in the temple, and you did not seize Me.<sup>56</sup> But all this was done that the Scriptures of the prophets might be fulfilled.”

Then all the disciples forsook Him and fled.

Mark 14:32–52

Your Will Be Done

14:32 Then they came to a place which was named Gethsemane; and He said to His disciples, “Sit here while I pray.”<sup>33</sup> And He took Peter, James, and John with Him, and He began to be troubled and deeply distressed.<sup>34</sup> Then He said to them, “My soul is exceedingly sorrowful, even to death. Stay here and watch.”

<sup>35</sup> He went a little farther, and fell on the ground, and prayed that if it were possible, the hour might pass from Him.<sup>36</sup> And He said, “Abba, Father, all things are possible for You. Take this cup away from Me; nevertheless, not what I will, but what You will.”

<sup>37</sup> Then He came and found them sleeping, and said to Peter, “Simon, are you sleeping? Could you not watch one hour?<sup>38</sup> Watch and pray, lest you enter into temptation. The spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak.”

26:42 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text reads if this may not pass away unless.

26:52 <sup>a</sup>M-Text reads die.

<sup>39</sup>Again He went away and prayed, and spoke the same words. <sup>40</sup>And when He returned, He found them asleep again, for their eyes were heavy; and they did not know what to answer Him.

<sup>41</sup>Then He came the third time and said to them, “Are you still sleeping and resting? It is enough! The hour has come; behold, the Son of Man is being betrayed into the hands of sinners. <sup>42</sup>Rise, let us be going. See, My betrayer is at hand.”

Arts & Literature

A cup is a common symbol for a person's destiny in life, prepared by God and given from heaven through the unfolding of temporal events. A bitter cup would symbolize trials and hardship, such as Jesus' cup symbolizing His suffering and death (Mark 14:36). In the Iliad Homer describes the divine sovereignty in terms of two jars, one of good and one of suffering.

The Arrest of Jesus

<sup>43</sup>And immediately, while He was still speaking, Judas, one of the twelve, with a great multitude with swords and clubs, came from the chief priests and the scribes and the elders. <sup>44</sup>Now His betrayer had given them a signal, saying, “Whomever I kiss, He is the One; seize Him and lead Him away safely.”

<sup>45</sup>As soon as he had come, immediately he went up to Him and said to Him, “Rabbi, Rabbi!” and kissed Him.

<sup>46</sup>Then they laid their hands on Him and took Him. <sup>47</sup>And one of those who stood by drew his sword and struck the servant of the high priest, and cut off his ear.

<sup>48</sup>Then Jesus answered and said to them, “Have you come out, as against a robber, with swords and clubs to take Me? <sup>49</sup>I was daily with you in the temple teaching, and you did not seize Me. But the Scriptures must be fulfilled.”

<sup>50</sup>Then they all forsook Him and fled.

A Young Man Flees Naked

<sup>51</sup>Now a certain young man followed Him, having a linen cloth thrown around his naked body. And the young men laid hold of him, <sup>52</sup>and he left the linen cloth and fled from them naked.

Luke 22:39–53

Jesus' Gethsemane Prayer

22 <sup>39</sup>Coming out, He went to the Mount of Olives, as He was accustomed, and His disciples also followed Him. <sup>40</sup>When He came to the place, He said to them, “Pray that you may not enter into temptation.”

<sup>41</sup>And He was withdrawn from them about a stone's throw, and He knelt down and prayed, <sup>42</sup>saying, “Father, if it is Your will, take this cup away from Me; nevertheless not My will, but Yours, be done.” <sup>43</sup>Then an angel appeared to Him from heaven, strengthening Him. <sup>44</sup>And being in agony, He prayed more earnestly. Then His sweat became like great drops of blood falling down to the ground.<sup>a</sup>

22:44 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text brackets verses 43 and 44 as not in the original text.

<sup>45</sup>When He rose up from prayer, and had come to His disciples, He found them sleeping from sorrow. <sup>46</sup>Then He said to them, “Why do you sleep? Rise and pray, lest you enter into temptation.”

Betrayal with a Kiss

<sup>47</sup>And while He was still speaking, behold, a multitude; and he who was called Judas, one of the twelve, went before them and drew near to Jesus to kiss Him. <sup>48</sup>But Jesus said to him, “Judas, are you betraying the Son of Man with a kiss?”

<sup>49</sup>When those around Him saw what was going to happen, they said to Him, “Lord, shall we strike with the sword?” <sup>50</sup>And one of them struck the servant of the high priest and cut off his right ear.

<sup>51</sup>But Jesus answered and said, “Permit even this.” And He touched his ear and healed him.

<sup>52</sup>Then Jesus said to the chief priests, captains of the temple, and the elders who had come to Him, “Have you come out, as against a robber, with swords and clubs? <sup>53</sup>When I was with you daily in the temple, you did not try to seize Me. But this is your hour, and the power of darkness.”

John 18:1–11

I Am He

18 :1 When Jesus had spoken these words, He went out with His disciples over the Brook Kidron, where there was a garden, which He and His disciples entered. <sup>2</sup>And Judas, who betrayed Him, also knew the place; for Jesus often met there with His disciples. <sup>3</sup>Then Judas, having received a detachment of troops, and officers from the chief priests and Pharisees, came there with lanterns, torches, and weapons. <sup>4</sup>Jesus therefore, knowing all things that would come upon Him, went forward and said to them, “Whom are you seeking?”

Jesus said to them, “I am He.” And Judas, who betrayed Him, also stood with them. <sup>6</sup>Now when He said to them, “I am He,” they drew back and fell to the ground.

<sup>7</sup>Then He asked them again, “Whom are you seeking?”

And they said, “Jesus of Nazareth.”

<sup>8</sup>Jesus answered, “I have told you that I am He. Therefore, if you seek Me, let these go their way,” <sup>9</sup>that the saying might be fulfilled which He spoke, “Of those whom You gave Me I have lost none.”

<sup>10</sup>Then Simon Peter, having a sword, drew it and struck the high priest’s servant, and cut off his right ear. The servant’s name was Malchus.

<sup>11</sup>So Jesus said to Peter, “Put your sword into the sheath. Shall I not drink the cup which My Father has given Me?”

Jesus’ Trial Before the Sanhedrin

Following His arrest, Jesus underwent two trials: one before the Sanhedrin and a second before the Roman governor, Pontius Pilate. The Sanhedrin, the high Jewish council, was given complete freedom by the Roman government over religious affairs and limited freedom in political affairs. It consisted of seventy elders and scribes (who could be either Sadducees or Pharisees), plus a presider known as the high priest, who was elected annually to renewable terms in office.

Jesus was hauled before the Sanhedrin on false charges of plotting to overthrow the temple (Matt. 26:61; Mark 14:58). The Synoptic Gospels record a hearing before Caiaphas, who was high priest from A.D. 18 to 36, whereas John records a preliminary hearing before Annas, the father-in-law of Caiaphas (John 18:13). Jesus remained silent until pressed by the high priest to answer whether He was the Son of God or not. According to Mark, Jesus affirmed the question (Mark 14:62). Yet even the ambiguous responses recorded by Matthew and Luke (Matt. 26:64; Luke 22:70) are not a denial of the question, since they were understood as blasphemy deserving of death.

All four Gospels interweave Peter’s courtyard experience with the Sanhedrin trial, contrasting the faithful confession of Jesus with the denial by Peter. Jesus’ hearing in “the high priest’s house” (Luke 22:54) permitted Him a view of Peter standing in the courtyard (22:55, 61). The Fourth Gospel appears to base its knowledge of the trial, in part at least, on “the other disciple” (John 18:16), which may refer to the apostle John. Otherwise all the disciples had fled (Mark 14:50), and their absence may account for the greater divergences in the Gospel reports of the trial.

Trial Before Caiaphas

26 :57 And those who had laid hold of Jesus led Him away to Caiaphas the high priest, where the scribes and the elders were assembled. <sup>58</sup>But Peter followed Him at a distance to the high priest’s courtyard. And he went in and sat with the servants to see the end.

<sup>59</sup>Now the chief priests, the elders,<sup>a</sup> and all the council sought false testimony against Jesus to put Him to death, <sup>60</sup>but found none. Even

ANNAS AND CAIAPHAS THE HIGH PRIESTS (MATT. 26:57)

Caiaphas was the Jewish high priest at the time of Jesus' crucifixion, exercising an active role in His trial proceedings (Matt. 26:3, 57, 62). However, another high priest, Annas, seems to have been influential at the same time as Caiaphas. Since the office of high priest was usually occupied by only one person, the situation of these two high priests is somewhat perplexing.

The Jewish historian Josephus makes clear the relationship between Annas and Caiaphas. He writes that Annas was appointed high priest by the Romans in A.D. 6 and deposed in A.D. 15. Caiaphas was high priest at a later time, being appointed in A.D. 18 and not deposed until A.D. 36. Caiaphas's approximately 18-year tenure as high priest was a relatively long time compared to most Roman appointees. At any rate, he had a very close relationship with the Roman authorities, which likely explains his long tenure in office.

Luke's writings, both his Gospel and Acts, place Annas's influence as high priest much later than A.D. 15, the date when Josephus states Annas was deposed. Luke names Annas and Caiaphas together as co-high priests in about A.D. 26 (the 15th year of Tiberius; Luke 3:2). Furthermore, Acts 4:6 lists Annas as high priest and Caiaphas as belonging to the family of the high priest, not long after Jesus' death, about A.D. 30 or 31.

Apparently, Annas's influence continued long beyond A.D. 15, the date when he last served officially as high priest. According to Josephus, five of Annas's sons were also appointed high priest at various times. Moreover, John's Gospel informs us that Annas was a relative (father-in-law) of Caiaphas (John 18:13). Possibly Annas retained a position of leadership within the high priestly family, while his son-in-law, Caiaphas, served as the appointed high priest.

though many false witnesses came forward, they found none.<sup>a</sup> But at last two false witnesses<sup>b</sup> came forward <sup>61</sup>and said, "This fellow said, 'I am able to destroy the temple of God and to build it in three days.'"

<sup>62</sup>And the high priest arose and said to Him, "Do You answer nothing? What is it these men testify against You?" <sup>63</sup>But Jesus kept silent. And the high priest answered and said to Him, "I put You under oath by the living God: Tell us if You are the Christ, the Son of God!"

<sup>64</sup>Jesus said to him, "It is as you said. Nevertheless, I say to you, hereafter you will see the Son of Man sitting at the right hand of the Power, and coming on the clouds of heaven."

<sup>65</sup>Then the high priest tore his clothes, saying, "He has spoken blasphemy! What further need do we have of witnesses? Look, now you have heard His blasphemy! <sup>66</sup>What do you think?"

They answered and said, "He is deserving of death."

<sup>67</sup>Then they spat in His face and beat Him; and others struck Him with the palms of their hands, <sup>68</sup>saying, "Prophesy to us, Christ! Who is the one who struck You?"

I Do Not Know the Man!

<sup>69</sup>Now Peter sat outside in the courtyard. And a servant girl came to him, saying, "You also were with Jesus of Galilee."

<sup>70</sup>But he denied it before them all, saying, "I do not know what you are saying."

<sup>71</sup>And when he had gone out to the gateway, another girl saw him and said to those who were there, "This fellow also was with Jesus of Nazareth."

<sup>72</sup>But again he denied with an oath, "I do not know the Man!"

<sup>73</sup>And a little later those who stood by came up and said to Peter, "Surely you also are one of them, for your speech betrays you."

<sup>74</sup>Then he began to curse and swear, saying, "I do not know the Man!"

Immediately a rooster crowed. <sup>75</sup>And Peter remembered the word of Jesus who had said to him, "Before the rooster crows, you will deny Me three times." So he went out and wept bitterly.

Mark 14:53–72

Trial Before the Sanhedrin

14 :53 And they led Jesus away to the high priest; and with him were assembled all the chief priests, the elders, and the scribes. <sup>54</sup>But Peter followed Him at a distance, right into the courtyard of the high priest. And he sat with the servants and warmed himself at the fire.

<sup>55</sup>Now the chief priests and all the council sought testimony against Jesus to put Him to death, but found none. <sup>56</sup>For many bore false witness against Him, but their testimonies did not agree.

<sup>57</sup>Then some rose up and bore false witness against Him, saying, <sup>58</sup>"We heard Him say, 'I will destroy this temple made with hands, and within three days I will build another made without hands.'" <sup>59</sup>But not even then did their testimony agree.

<sup>60</sup>And the high priest stood up in the midst and asked Jesus, saying, "Do You answer nothing? What is it these men testify against You?" <sup>61</sup>But He kept silent and answered nothing.

Again the high priest asked Him, saying to Him, "Are You the Christ, the Son of the Blessed?"

26:60 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text puts a comma after but found none, does not capitalize Even, and omits they found none. <sup>b</sup>NU-Text omits false witnesses.

<sup>62</sup>Jesus said, "I am. And you will see the Son of Man sitting at the right hand of the Power, and coming with the clouds of heaven."

<sup>63</sup>Then the high priest tore his clothes and said, "What further need do we have of witnesses? <sup>64</sup>You have heard the blasphemy! What do you think?"

And they all condemned Him to be deserving of death.

<sup>65</sup>Then some began to spit on Him, and to blindfold Him, and to beat Him, and to say to Him, "Prophesy!" And the officers struck Him with the palms of their hands.<sup>a</sup>

Peter in the Courtyard

<sup>66</sup>Now as Peter was below in the courtyard, one of the servant girls of the high priest came. <sup>67</sup>And when she saw Peter warming himself, she looked at him and said, "You also were with Jesus of Nazareth."

<sup>68</sup>But he denied it, saying, "I neither know nor understand what you are saying." And he went out on the porch, and a rooster crowed.

<sup>69</sup>And the servant girl saw him again, and began to say to those who stood by, "This is one of them."<sup>70</sup>But he denied it again.

And a little later those who stood by said to Peter again, "Surely you are one of them; for you are a Galilean, and your speech shows it."<sup>a</sup>

<sup>71</sup>Then he began to curse and swear, "I do not know this Man of whom you speak!"

<sup>72</sup>A second time the rooster crowed. Then Peter called to mind the word that Jesus had said to him, "Before the rooster crows twice, you will deny Me three times." And when he thought about it, he wept.

Luke 22:54–71

Peter Weeps Bitterly

22 :54 Having arrested Him, they led Him and brought Him into the high priest's house. But Peter followed at a distance. <sup>55</sup>Now when they had kindled a fire in the midst of the courtyard and sat down together, Peter sat among them. <sup>56</sup>And a certain servant girl, seeing him as he sat by the fire, looked intently at him and said, "This man was also with Him."

<sup>58</sup>And after a little while another saw him and said, "You also are of them."

But Peter said, "Man, I am not!"

<sup>59</sup>Then after about an hour had passed, another confidently affirmed, saying, "Surely this fellow also was with Him, for he is a Galilean."

<sup>60</sup>But Peter said, "Man, I do not know what you are saying!"

Immediately, while he was still speaking, the rooster<sup>a</sup> crowed. <sup>61</sup>And the Lord turned and looked at Peter. Then Peter remembered the word of the Lord, how He had said to him, "Before the rooster crows,<sup>a</sup> you will deny Me three times."<sup>62</sup>So Peter went out and wept bitterly.

Jesus Mocked and Beaten

<sup>63</sup>Now the men who held Jesus mocked Him and beat Him. <sup>64</sup>And having blindfolded Him, they struck Him on the face and asked Him,<sup>a</sup> saying, "Prophesy! Who is the one who struck You?"<sup>65</sup>And many other things they blasphemously spoke against Him.

Jesus Faces the Sanhedrin

<sup>66</sup>As soon as it was day, the elders of the people, both chief priests and scribes, came together and led Him into their council, saying, <sup>67</sup>"If You are the Christ, tell us."

But He said to them, "If I tell you, you will by no means believe. <sup>68</sup>And if I also ask you, you will by no means answer Me or let Me go."<sup>69</sup>Hereafter the Son of Man will sit on the right hand of the power of God."

<sup>70</sup>Then they all said, "Are You then the Son of God?"

So He said to them, "You rightly say that I am."

<sup>71</sup>And they said, "What further testimony do we need? For we have heard it ourselves from His own mouth."

John 18:12–27

Trial Before Annas

18 :12 Then the detachment of troops and the captain and the officers of the Jews arrested Jesus and bound Him. <sup>13</sup>And they led Him away to Annas first, for he was the father-in-law of Caiaphas who was high priest that year. <sup>14</sup>Now it was Caiaphas who advised the Jews that it was expedient that one man should die for the people.

Peter Denies Jesus

<sup>15</sup>And Simon Peter followed Jesus, and so did another<sup>a</sup> disciple. Now that disciple was known to the high priest, and went with Jesus into the courtyard of the high priest. <sup>16</sup>But Peter stood at the door outside. Then the other disciple, who was known to the high priest, went out and spoke to her who kept the door, and brought Peter in. <sup>17</sup>Then the servant girl who kept the door said to Peter, “You are not also one of this Man’s disciples, are you?”

He said, “I am not.”

<sup>18</sup>Now the servants and officers who had made a fire of coals stood there, for it was cold, and they warmed themselves. And Peter stood with them and warmed himself.

Jesus Questioned by the High Priest

<sup>19</sup>The high priest then asked Jesus about His disciples and His doctrine.

<sup>20</sup>Jesus answered him, “I spoke openly to the world. I always taught in synagogues and in the temple, where the Jews always meet,<sup>a</sup> and in secret I have said nothing. <sup>21</sup>Why do you ask Me? Ask those who have heard Me what I said to them. Indeed they know what I said.”

<sup>22</sup>And when He had said these things, one of the officers who stood by struck Jesus with the palm of his hand, saying, “Do You answer the high priest like that?”

<sup>23</sup>Jesus answered him, “If I have spoken evil, bear witness of the evil; but if well, why do you strike Me?”

<sup>24</sup>Then Annas sent Him bound to Caiaphas the high priest.

Peter Denies Twice More

<sup>25</sup>Now Simon Peter stood and warmed himself. Therefore they said to him, “You are not also one of His disciples, are you?”

He denied it and said, “I am not!”

<sup>26</sup>One of him whose ear Peter cut off, said, “Did I not see you in the garden with Him?” <sup>27</sup>Peter then denied again; and immediately a rooster crowed.

18:20 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text reads where all the Jews meet.
Matt. 27:2 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits Pontius.

Jesus resulted in an attempt to return the ransom money, and in Judas’s suicide by hanging (see Acts 1:18). Only Matthew includes this story (Matt. 27:3–10), likely to show his Jewish readers a fulfillment of Old Testament prophecy. The Old Testament quotation in Matt. 27:9, 10 is largely from Zech. 11:12, 13, but Matthew may have ascribed it to the better-known prophet Jeremiah because he refers to the buying of a field (Jer. 32:6–9).

A second incident is the warning about Jesus’ innocence that Pilate received from his wife (Matt. 27:19). Although Matthew’s source for this information is unknown, it effectively heightens Pilate’s guilt in the sentencing of Jesus.

Only Luke’s Gospel reports the third incident: an additional hearing of Jesus before Herod Antipas (Luke 23:6–12). That Pilate would refer Jesus to Antipas is understandable, since Roman rulers were customarily in Jerusalem during Jewish festivals, and since Jesus came from Galilee, over which Antipas had jurisdiction. Luke may have included this incident because it supported the prophecy of Ps. 2:1, 2, wherein kings and rulers plotted against God’s anointed (see Acts 4:25–28).

Pilate deserves no sympathy for his dilemma in sentencing Jesus. As governor, he was authorized with plenary power by Rome, so his weakness and vacillation should not be mistaken for virtue. Josephus recounts Pilate’s effective and indeed ruthless use of that power on a number of occasions. By choosing the path of least resistance in Jesus’ case, Pilate was responsible for a monstrous evil: the release of a convicted assassin and the condemning of the righteous Son of God to torture and death.

Jesus Handed Over to Pontius Pilate

27 :1 When morning came, all the chief priests and elders of the people plotted against Jesus to put Him to death. <sup>2</sup>And when they had bound Him, they led Him away and delivered Him to Pontius<sup>a</sup> Pilate the governor.

Judas Hangs Himself

<sup>3</sup>Then Judas, His betrayer, seeing that He had been condemned, was remorseful and brought back the thirty pieces of silver to the chief priests and elders, <sup>4</sup>saying, “I have sinned by betraying innocent blood.”

And they said, “What is that to us? You see to it!”

<sup>5</sup>Then he threw down the pieces of silver in the temple and departed, and went and hanged himself.

TRANSITION

Friday: Before Pilate the Governor

On the morning of the next day, Friday, Jesus faced the second of two trials: a hearing before Pontius Pilate. Pilate was procurator or governor of Judea from A.D. 26 to 36. As might be expected, the charges before Pilate changed from Jewish legal allegations to political allegations, especially that Jesus claimed to be “King of the Jews” (Mark 15:2).

The Synoptic Gospels report that Jesus remained silent during the interrogation, responding only briefly and vaguely to Pilate’s questions (Matt. 27:14). John’s Gospel, however, relates how Pilate engaged Jesus in reluctant conversation, with Jesus explaining that His kingdom is not of this world (John 18:36).

The hearing before Pilate is augmented by three incidents. Judas’s remorse at betraying

<sup>6</sup>But the chief priests took the silver pieces and said, "It is not lawful to put them into the treasury, because they are the price of blood."<sup>7</sup>And they consulted together and bought with them the potter's field, to bury strangers in.<sup>8</sup>Therefore that field has been called the Field of Blood to this day.

<sup>9</sup>Then was fulfilled what was spoken by Jeremiah the prophet, saying, "And they took the thirty pieces of silver, the value of Him who was priced, whom they of the children of Israel priced, and gave them for the potter's field, as the LORD directed me."<sup>a</sup>

Jesus Faces Pilate

<sup>11</sup>Now Jesus stood before the governor. And the governor asked Him, saying, "Are You the King of the Jews?"

Jesus said to him, "It is as you say."<sup>12</sup>And while He was being accused by the chief priests and elders, He answered nothing.

<sup>13</sup>Then Pilate said to Him, "Do You not hear how many things they testify against You?"<sup>14</sup>But He answered him not one word, so that the governor marveled greatly.

Barabbas or Jesus?

<sup>15</sup>Now at the feast the governor was accustomed to releasing to the multitude one prisoner whom they wished.<sup>16</sup>And at that time they had a notorious prisoner called Barabbas.<sup>a</sup><sup>17</sup>Therefore, when they had gathered together, Pilate said to them, "Whom do you want me to release to you? Barabbas, or Jesus who is called Christ?"<sup>18</sup>For he knew that they had handed Him over because of envy.

<sup>19</sup>While he was sitting on the judgment seat, his wife sent to him, saying, "Have nothing to do with that just Man, for I have suffered many things today in a dream because of Him."

<sup>20</sup>But the chief priests and elders persuaded the multitudes that they should ask for Barabbas and destroy Jesus.<sup>21</sup>The governor answered and said to them, "Which of the two do you want me to release to you?"

They said, "Barabbas!"

<sup>22</sup>Pilate said to them, "What then shall I do with Jesus who is called Christ?"

They all said to him, "Let Him be crucified!"

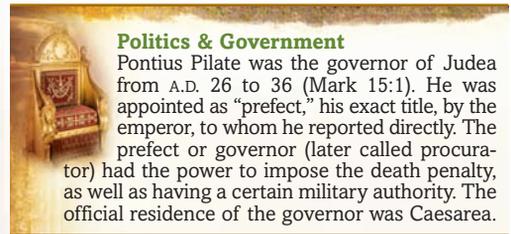

<sup>23</sup>Then the governor said, "Why, what evil has He done?"

But they cried out all the more, saying, "Let Him be crucified!"

<sup>24</sup>When Pilate saw that he could not prevail at all, but rather that a tumult was rising, he took water and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, "I am innocent of the blood of this just<sup>a</sup> Person. You see to it."

<sup>25</sup>And all the people answered and said, "His blood be on us and on our children."

<sup>26</sup>Then he released Barabbas to them; and when he had scourged Jesus, he delivered Him to be crucified.

Politics & Government

Pontius Pilate was the governor of Judea from A.D. 26 to 36 (Mark 15:1). He was appointed as "prefect," his exact title, by the emperor, to whom he reported directly. The prefect or governor (later called procurator) had the power to impose the death penalty, as well as having a certain military authority. The official residence of the governor was Caesarea.

Trial Before Pilate

15:1 Immediately, in the morning, the chief priests held a consultation with the elders and scribes and the whole council; and they bound Jesus, led Him away, and delivered Him to Pilate.<sup>2</sup>Then Pilate asked Him, "Are You the King of the Jews?"

He answered and said to him, "It is as you say."

GOVERNOR PILATE'S UNHAPPY CONSTITUENTS (MARK 15:7)

In A.D. 26, Pontius Pilate replaced Valerius Gratus as governor of Judea. Pilate is mentioned not only in the Gospel accounts, but also by the Jewish writers Josephus (A.D. 37–100) and Philo (20 B.C.–A.D. 50), and by the Roman historian Tacitus (A.D. 56–117?). In addition, the name “Pilate” appears on coins, and in an inscription found at Caesarea Maritima.

As a governor, Pilate was responsible for the administration of the province of Judea, including judicial matters. Josephus states that Pilate had the power to “execute.” He was also responsible for collecting taxes and tribute, disbursing funds to the provinces, and sending revenues to Rome. Even so, the office of governor of Judea was not the most prestigious in the Roman Empire.

A number of incidents occurred during Pilate’s rule (A.D. 26–36) that resulted in skirmishes between the governor and the Jews. Pilate got off to a bad start when he introduced into Jerusalem images in honor of the reigning emperor, Tiberius. These articles, religiously offensive to the Jews, aroused such a protest that Pilate transported the items to Caesarea.

In another incident, Pilate constructed an aqueduct with the use of Jewish funds, giving rise to rebellion that was put down with bloodshed. Josephus, however, reports that the Jews were upset not over the money involved, but over what was done with the water. Scholars have concluded that the unrest was due to the lack of concern by Pilate for the water’s ritual purity as it came into Jerusalem.

Tensions sometimes erupted into riots. Mark’s Gospel reports “the rebellion” (Mark 15:7) that apparently was well known in Jesus’ time, though now unknown. The Gospel of Luke describes an encounter with “Galileans whose blood Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices” (Luke 13:1). Josephus and Philo also report events which may be connected to these Gospel references. Jesus’ opponents made the most of these tensions between a Roman governor and his Jewish constituency, accusing Jesus of rebelling “against Caesar” (John 19:12).

<sup>3</sup>And the chief priests accused Him of many things, but He answered nothing. <sup>4</sup>Then Pilate asked Him again, saying, “Do You answer nothing? See how many things they testify against You!”<sup>a</sup> <sup>5</sup>But Jesus still answered nothing, so that Pilate marveled.

Taking the Place of Barabbas

<sup>6</sup>Now at the feast he was accustomed to releasing one prisoner to them, whomever they requested. <sup>7</sup>And there was one named Barabbas, who was chained with his fellow rebels; they had committed murder in the rebellion. <sup>8</sup>Then the multitude, crying aloud,<sup>a</sup> began to ask him to do just as he had always done for them. <sup>9</sup>But Pilate answered them, saying, “Do you want me to release to you the King of the Jews?” <sup>10</sup>For he knew that the chief priests had handed Him over because of envy.

<sup>11</sup>But the chief priests stirred up the crowd, so that he should rather release Barabbas to them. <sup>12</sup>Pilate answered and said to them again, “What then do you want me to do with Him whom you call the King of the Jews?”

<sup>13</sup>So they cried out again, “Crucify Him!”

<sup>14</sup>Then Pilate said to them, “Why, what evil has He done?”

But they cried out all the more, “Crucify Him!”

<sup>15</sup>So Pilate, wanting to gratify the crowd, released Barabbas to them; and he delivered Jesus, after he had scourged Him, to be crucified.

Luke 23:1–25

Jesus Brought Before Pontius Pilate

23:1 Then the whole multitude of them arose and led Him to Pilate. <sup>2</sup>And they began to accuse Him, saying, “We found this fellow perverting the<sup>a</sup> nation, and forbidding to pay taxes to Caesar, saying that He Himself is Christ, a King.”

<sup>3</sup>Then Pilate asked Him, saying, “Are You the King of the Jews?”

He answered him and said, “It is as you say.”

<sup>4</sup>So Pilate said to the chief priests and the crowd, “I find no fault in this Man.”

<sup>5</sup>But they were the more fierce, saying, “He stirs up the people, teaching throughout all Judea, beginning from Galilee to this place.”

Jesus Faces Herod

<sup>6</sup>When Pilate heard of Galilee,<sup>a</sup> he asked if the Man were a Galilean. <sup>7</sup>And as soon as he knew that He belonged to Herod’s jurisdiction, he sent Him to Herod, who was also in Jerusalem at that time. <sup>8</sup>Now when Herod saw Jesus, he was exceedingly glad; for he had desired for a long time to see Him, because he had heard many things about Him, and he hoped to see some miracle done by Him. <sup>9</sup>Then he questioned Him with many words, but He answered him nothing. <sup>10</sup>And the chief priests and scribes stood and vehemently accused Him. <sup>11</sup>Then Herod, with his men of war, treated Him with contempt and mocked Him, arrayed Him in a gorgeous robe, and sent Him back to Pilate. <sup>12</sup>That very day Pilate and Herod became friends with each other, for previously they had been at enmity with each other.

A KINGDOM OF TRUTH (JOHN 18:36)

The concept of “kingdom” in Jesus’ time was rooted in the Old Testament: “kingdom” most often referred to the reign or royal authority of a king. Jewish people prayed daily for the coming of God’s reign. When they prayed for His kingdom, they did not doubt that God reigned over His creation in the present. Yet they longed for the day when God would rule unchallenged and all peoples would acknowledge Him. Most Jews associated this kingdom with the coming of a Jewish king who would lead his people to victory over their enemies.

The Romans, however, guarded the title “king.” Anyone who, without the emperor’s permission, claimed to be even a client king was committing the offense of high treason. Jewish leaders, like the high priest Caiaphas and the Jerusalem aristocracy who helped keep peace for the Romans, therefore wanted to stop any would-be kings who might stir up trouble with Rome (John 11:47–50).

The governor, by contrast, understood Jesus’ kingdom in very different terms. As a Roman, he knew reports of Cynic philosophers who wandered around claiming to be kings while possessing nothing. Such philosophers lacked respect for rulers, yet were without political ambition for themselves. As thinkers, they spoke about truth and about reigning, but to a Roman pragmatist they were at worst insane but harmless. Pilate, therefore, did not see Jesus as a threat, as did the Jewish religious leaders. Although Pilate asked Jesus, “Are You a king then?” (John 18:37), he actually misapprehended the nature of the mission Jesus claimed to fulfill (18:36).

Jesus Sentenced to Crucifixion

<sup>13</sup>Then Pilate, when he had called together the chief priests, the rulers, and the people, <sup>14</sup>said to them, “You have brought this Man to me, as one who misleads the people. And indeed, having examined Him in your presence, I have found no fault in this Man concerning those things of which you accuse Him; <sup>15</sup>no, neither did Herod, for I sent you back to him;<sup>a</sup> and indeed nothing deserving of death has been done by Him. <sup>16</sup>I will therefore chastise Him and release Him” <sup>17</sup>(for it was necessary for him to release one to them at the feast).<sup>a</sup>

<sup>18</sup>And they all cried out at once, saying, “Away with this Man, and release to us Barabbas”— <sup>19</sup>who had been thrown into prison for a certain rebellion made in the city, and for murder.

<sup>20</sup>Pilate, therefore, wishing to release Jesus, again called out to them. <sup>21</sup>But they shouted, saying, “Crucify Him, crucify Him!”

<sup>22</sup>Then he said to them the third time, “Why, what evil has He done? I have found no reason for death in Him. I will therefore chastise Him and let Him go.”

<sup>23</sup>But they were insistent, demanding with loud voices that He be crucified. And the voices of these men and of the chief priests<sup>a</sup> prevailed.

<sup>24</sup>So Pilate gave sentence that it should be as they requested. <sup>25</sup>And he released to them<sup>a</sup> the one they requested, who for rebellion and murder had been thrown into prison; but he delivered Jesus to their will.

John 18:28–40

In Pilate’s Court

18:<sup>28</sup> Then they led Jesus from Caiaphas to the Praetorium, and it was early morning. But they themselves did not go into the Praetorium, lest they should be defiled, but that they might eat the Passover. <sup>29</sup>Pilate then went out to them and said, “What accusation do you bring against this Man?”

<sup>30</sup>They answered and said to him, “If He were not an evildoer, we would not have delivered Him up to you.”

<sup>31</sup>Then Pilate said to them, “You take Him and judge Him according to your law.”

Therefore the Jews said to him, “It is not lawful for us to put anyone to death,” <sup>32</sup>that the saying of Jesus might be fulfilled which He spoke, signifying by what death He would die.

<sup>33</sup>Then Pilate entered the Praetorium again, called Jesus, and said to Him, “Are You the King of the Jews?”

<sup>34</sup>Jesus answered him, “Are you speaking for yourself about this, or did others tell you this concerning Me?”

<sup>35</sup>Pilate answered, “Am I a Jew? Your own nation and the chief priests have delivered You to me. What have You done?”

<sup>36</sup>Jesus answered, “My kingdom is not of this world. If My kingdom were of this world, My servants would fight, so that I should not be delivered to the Jews; but now My kingdom is not from here.”

<sup>37</sup>Pilate therefore said to Him, “Are You a king then?”

Jesus answered, “You say rightly that I am a king. For this cause I was born, and for this cause I have come into the world, that I should bear witness to the truth. Everyone who is of the truth hears My voice.”

<sup>38</sup>Pilate said to Him, “What is truth?” And when he had said this, he went out again to the Jews, and said to them, “I find no fault in Him at all.

MOCKING THE SO-CALLED KING (JOHN 19:2)

Often playing games to pass time, soldiers were known to beat and ridicule those they were about to execute. So they mocked Jesus, kneeling before Him to imitate the eastern Mediterranean custom of bowing before kings. Their salutation “Hail!” was the standard way Romans saluted their emperor. Many Romans and especially Greeks disliked the Jews, hence as the soldiers mocked a condemned Jewish man as “King of the Jews” (John 19:3), they may have been mocking the land of Judea as a whole.

Part of the soldiers’ charade involved placing upon Jesus the regalia of a king: crown, robe, and scepter. The reed parodies a scepter (Matt. 27:29). The soldiers may have had a bamboo cane available, since they frequently used such for military floggings. Roman soldiers wore scarlet robes, so the robe they draped on Jesus was possibly a faded scarlet (Matt. 27:28), if it was one of theirs. Possibly they imitated the purple robe (John 19:2) of the Greek rulers who reigned in the eastern Mediterranean before the Roman conquest.

The soldiers mocked Jesus with words they thought were false, yet some of those words turned out, in the end, to be true. The Jewish people expected a king who would deliver them from the Romans, and the crowds hailed Jesus during His Triumphal Entry into Jerusalem. The Romans, who executed anyone they considered to be a threat to Judea’s political stability, crucified Jesus on the charge of claiming to be “King of the Jews.” They failed to realize that Jesus’ kingship was real, just not of this world.

therefore want me to release to you the King of the Jews?”

<sup>40</sup>Then they all cried again, saying, “Not this Man, but Barabbas!” Now Barabbas was a robber.

19:3 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text reads And they came up to Him and said.

TRANSITION

Sentenced to Crucifixion

Jesus was delivered by Pilate to be scourged before execution. Commonly practiced before crucifixion, the scourge consisted of a leather whip with bone, rock, or metal in the ends that ripped the flesh from a prisoner’s back. Scourging severely weakened a prisoner, thereby hastening death on the cross, or sometimes was fatal itself. In addition to the scourge, Jesus was subjected to the soldiers’ mockery about Him being “King of the Jews.”

The scourging and mocking took place in the Praetorium. This area, which John identifies as “the Pavement” (John 19:13), functioned as the Roman governor’s headquarters. It was often also the governor’s residence, and Mark describes it as a “hall” (Mark 15:16). Some think that the Praetorium was located at Herod the Great’s palace in the western part of Jerusalem. One archaeologist identified the Praetorium with the square in front of the palace, which Herod built in 23 B.C.

The accounts of Matthew and Mark report Jesus being crucified following the flagellation, but John’s Gospel relates a continuation of the hearing (John 19:8–11). The effect of this long hearing before the governor reinforces Jesus’ innocence. Pilate appealed for Jesus’ release, but ceased such efforts when faced with a new political threat. The governor would not risk accusations of disloyalty to Caesar (John 19:12, 15). In the end, the blame for Jesus’ death falls on the religious leaders and the crowd, as well as Pilate.

The Soldiers Mock Jesus

27 :27 Then the soldiers of the governor took Jesus into the Praetorium and gathered the whole garrison around Him. <sup>28</sup>And they stripped Him and put a scarlet robe on Him. <sup>29</sup>When they had twisted a crown of thorns, they put it on His head, and a reed in His right hand. And they bowed the knee before Him and mocked Him, saying, “Hail, King of the Jews!” <sup>30</sup>Then they spat on Him, and took the reed and struck Him on the head. <sup>31</sup>And when they had mocked Him, they took the robe off Him, put His own clothes on Him, and led Him away to be crucified.

Hail, King of the Jews

15 :16 Then the soldiers led Him away into the hall called Praetorium, and they called together the whole garrison. <sup>17</sup>And they clothed Him with purple; and they twisted a crown of thorns, put it on His head, <sup>18</sup>and began to salute Him, “Hail, King of the Jews!” <sup>19</sup>Then they struck Him on the head with a reed and spat on Him; and bowing the knee, they worshiped Him. <sup>20</sup>And when they had mocked Him, they took the purple off Him, put His own clothes on Him, and led Him out to crucify Him.

John 19:1–16

Pilate’s Decision

19 :1 So then Pilate took Jesus and scourged Him. <sup>2</sup>And the soldiers twisted a crown of thorns and put it on His head, and they put on Him a purple robe. <sup>3</sup>Then they said,<sup>a</sup> “Hail, King of the Jews!” And they struck Him with their hands.

<sup>4</sup>Pilate then went out again, and said to them, “Behold, I am bringing Him out to you, that you may know that I find no fault in Him.”

<sup>5</sup>Then Jesus came out, wearing the crown of thorns and the purple robe. And Pilate said to them, “Behold the Man!”

<sup>6</sup>Therefore, when the chief priests and officers saw Him, they cried out, saying, “Crucify Him, crucify Him!”

Pilate said to them, “You take Him and crucify Him, for I find no fault in Him.”

<sup>7</sup>The Jews answered him, “We have a law, and according to our<sup>a</sup> law He ought to die, because He made Himself the Son of God.”

<sup>8</sup>Therefore, when Pilate heard that saying, he was the more afraid,<sup>a</sup> and went again into the Praetorium, and said to Jesus, “Where are You from?” But Jesus gave him no answer.

<sup>10</sup>Then Pilate said to Him, “Are You not speaking to me? Do You not know that I have power to crucify You, and power to release You?”

<sup>11</sup>Jesus answered, “You could have no power at all against Me unless it had been given you from above. Therefore the one who delivered Me to you has the greater sin.”

<sup>12</sup>From then on Pilate sought to release Him, but the Jews cried out, saying, “If you let this Man go, you are not Caesar’s friend. Whoever makes himself a king speaks against Caesar.”

<sup>13</sup>When Pilate therefore heard that saying, he brought Jesus out and sat down in the judgment seat in a place that is called The Pavement, but in Hebrew, Gabbatha. <sup>14</sup>Now it was the Preparation Day of the Passover, and about the sixth hour. And he said to the Jews, “Behold your King!”

<sup>15</sup>But they cried out, “Away with Him, away with Him! Crucify Him!”

Pilate said to them, “Shall I crucify your King?”

The chief priests answered, “We have no king but Caesar!”

<sup>16</sup>Then he delivered Him to them to be crucified. Then they took Jesus and led Him away.<sup>a</sup> purpose of showing that the Old Covenant leads to and is fulfilled by Jesus Christ.

Significant variations are found in the Fourth Gospel. Only John records the argument between Pilate and the chief priests about the sign on the cross reading “The King of the Jews” (John 19:19–22). Only John mentions that Jesus’ tunic was not divided (19:24; see Ps. 22:18). Only John tells how Jesus entrusted His mother to the beloved disciple at the cross (19:25–27), an episode that heightens the authority of that disciple in John’s Gospel.

Another account unique to John provides a final reminder that Jesus is the true Passover lamb (19:31–37). The soldiers forego the breaking of Jesus’ legs, fulfilling the words of Ps. 34:20: “Not one of His bones shall be broken” (John 19:36). The piercing of Jesus’ side, at which blood and water flow forth (symbolizing Holy Communion and baptism), further emphasizes that the Christian sacraments originate from and supersede the Jewish Passover celebration.

Crucifixion at Golgotha

The crucifixion of Jesus is related in all the Gospels with reserve and brevity and without sentimentality. The dominant theme lies on the mockery rather than on the physical suffering of Jesus.

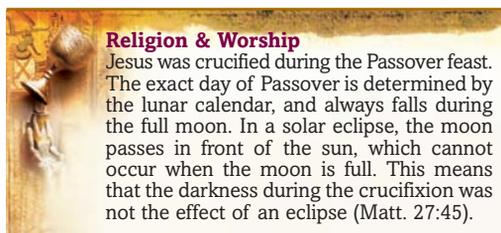

The details of the crucifixion, however, vary in the Gospel accounts more than usual, doubtlessly due to the different theological emphases of the Gospel writers. Only Luke, from his interest in outsiders and the outcast, reports Jesus’ compassion on the women of Jerusalem (Luke 23:27–32) and on the repentant thief on the cross (23:39–43). Only Matthew reports the opening of the tombs at the death of Jesus and the entry of the saints into the Holy City. This unusual story (Matt. 27:51–53) may reflect Matthew’s

<sup>41</sup>Likewise the chief priests also, mocking with the scribes and elders,<sup>a</sup> said, <sup>42</sup>“He saved others; Himself He cannot save. If He is the King of Israel,<sup>a</sup> let Him now come down from the cross, and we will believe Him.”<sup>b</sup> <sup>43</sup>He trusted in God; let Him deliver Him now if He will have Him; for He said, ‘I am the Son of God.’”

<sup>44</sup>Even the robbers who were crucified with Him reviled Him with the same thing.

Religion & Worship

Jesus was crucified during the Passover feast. The exact day of Passover is determined by the lunar calendar, and always falls during the full moon. In a solar eclipse, the moon passes in front of the sun, which cannot occur when the moon is full. This means that the darkness during the crucifixion was not the effect of an eclipse (Matt. 27:45).

The Opening of the Graves

<sup>45</sup>Now from the sixth hour until the ninth hour there was darkness over all the land. <sup>46</sup>And about the ninth hour Jesus cried out with a loud voice, saying, “Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani?” that is, “My God, My God, why have You forsaken Me?”<sup>a</sup>

<sup>47</sup>Some of those who stood there, when they heard that, said, “This Man is calling for Elijah!”<sup>b</sup> <sup>48</sup>Immediately one of them ran and took a sponge, filled it with sour wine and put it on a reed, and offered it to Him to drink.

<sup>49</sup>The rest said, “Let Him alone; let us see if Elijah will come to save Him.”

<sup>51</sup>Then, behold, the veil of the temple was torn in two from top to bottom; and the earth quaked, and the rocks were split, <sup>52</sup>and the graves were opened; and many bodies of the saints who had fallen asleep were raised; <sup>53</sup>and coming out of the graves after His resurrection, they went into the holy city and appeared to many.

<sup>54</sup>So when the centurion and those with him, who were guarding Jesus, saw the earthquake and the things that had happened, they feared greatly, saying, “Truly this was the Son of God!”

<sup>55</sup>And many women who followed Jesus from Galilee, ministering to Him, were there looking on from afar, <sup>56</sup>among whom were Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James and Joses,<sup>a</sup> and the mother of Zebedee’s sons.

Mark 15:21–41

The King on a Cross

15 :21 Then they compelled a certain man, Simon a Cyrenian, the father of Alexander and Rufus, as he was coming out of the country and passing by, to bear His cross. <sup>22</sup>And they brought Him to the place Golgotha, which is translated, Place of a Skull. <sup>23</sup>Then they gave Him wine mingled with myrrh to drink, but He did not take it. <sup>24</sup>And when they crucified Him, they divided His garments, casting lots for them to determine what every man should take.

<sup>25</sup>Now it was the third hour, and they crucified Him. <sup>26</sup>And the inscription of His accusation was written above:

THE KING OF THE JEWS.

<sup>29</sup>And those who passed by blasphemed Him, wagging their heads and saying, “Aha! You who destroy the temple and build it in three days, <sup>30</sup>save Yourself, and come down from the cross!”

<sup>31</sup>Likewise the chief priests also, mocking among themselves with the scribes, said, “He saved others; Himself He cannot save. <sup>32</sup>Let the Christ, the King of Israel, descend now from the cross, that we may see and believe.”<sup>a</sup>

Even those who were crucified with Him reviled Him.

Jesus Dies on the Cross

<sup>33</sup>Now when the sixth hour had come, there was darkness over the whole land until the ninth hour. <sup>34</sup>And at the ninth hour Jesus cried out with a loud voice, saying, “Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani?” which is translated, “My God, My God, why have You forsaken Me?”<sup>a</sup>

<sup>35</sup>Some of those who stood by, when they heard that, said, “Look, He is calling for Elijah!”<sup>b</sup> <sup>36</sup>Then someone ran and filled a sponge full of sour wine, put it on a reed, and offered it to Him to drink, saying, “Let Him alone; let us see if Elijah will come to take Him down.”

<sup>38</sup>Then the veil of the temple was torn in two from top to bottom. <sup>39</sup>So when the centurion, who stood opposite Him, saw that He cried out like this and breathed His last,<sup>a</sup> he said, “Truly this Man was the Son of God!”

<sup>40</sup>There were also women looking on from afar, among whom were Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James the Less and of Joses, and Salome, <sup>41</sup>who also followed Him and ministered

Compassion for Women and a Criminal

23:26 Now as they led Him away, they laid hold of a certain man, Simon a Cyrenian, who was coming from the country, and on him they laid the cross that he might bear it after Jesus.

<sup>27</sup>And a great multitude of the people followed Him, and women who also mourned and lamented Him. <sup>28</sup>But Jesus, turning to them, said, “Daughters of Jerusalem, do not weep for Me, but weep for yourselves and for your children. <sup>29</sup>For indeed the days are coming in which they will say, ‘Blessed are the barren, wombs that never bore, and breasts which never nursed!’ <sup>30</sup>Then they will begin ‘to say to the mountains, “Fall on us!” and to the hills, “Cover us!”’ <sup>31</sup>For if they do these things in the green wood, what will be done in the dry?”

<sup>32</sup>There were also two others, criminals, led with Him to be put to death. <sup>33</sup>And when they had come to the place called Calvary, there they crucified Him, and the criminals, one on the right hand and the other on the left. <sup>34</sup>Then Jesus said, “Father, forgive them, for they do not know what they do.”<sup>a</sup>

And they divided His garments and cast lots. <sup>35</sup>And the people stood looking on. But even the rulers with them sneered, saying, “He saved others; let Him save Himself if He is the Christ, the chosen of God.”

<sup>36</sup>The soldiers also mocked Him, coming and offering Him sour wine, <sup>37</sup>and saying, “If You are the King of the Jews, save Yourself.”

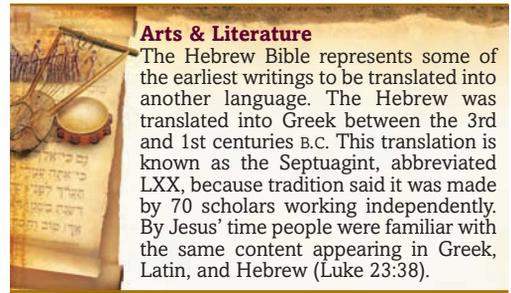

<sup>38</sup>And an inscription also was written over Him in letters of Greek, Latin, and Hebrew:<sup>a</sup>

THIS IS THE KING OF THE JEWS.

<sup>39</sup>Then one of the criminals who were hanged blasphemed Him, saying, “If You are the Christ,<sup>a</sup> save Yourself and us.”

<sup>40</sup>But the other, answering, rebuked him, saying, “Do you not even fear God, seeing you are under the same condemnation? <sup>41</sup>And we indeed justly, for we receive the due reward of our deeds; but this Man has done nothing wrong.” <sup>42</sup>Then he said to Jesus, “Lord,<sup>a</sup> remember me when You come into Your kingdom.”

<sup>43</sup>And Jesus said to him, “Assuredly, I say to you, today you will be with Me in Paradise.”

Arts & Literature

The Hebrew Bible represents some of the earliest writings to be translated into another language. The Hebrew was translated into Greek between the 3rd and 1st centuries B.C. This translation is known as the Septuagint, abbreviated LXX, because tradition said it was made by 70 scholars working independently. By Jesus' time people were familiar with the same content appearing in Greek, Latin, and Hebrew (Luke 23:38).

I Commit My Spirit

<sup>44</sup>Now it was<sup>a</sup> about the sixth hour, and there was darkness over all the earth until the ninth hour. <sup>45</sup>Then the sun was darkened,<sup>a</sup> and the veil of the temple was torn in two. <sup>46</sup>And when Jesus had cried out with a loud voice, He said, “Father, ‘into Your hands I commit My spirit.’”<sup>a</sup> Having said this, He breathed His last.

<sup>47</sup>So when the centurion saw what had happened, he glorified God, saying, “Certainly this was a righteous Man!”

<sup>48</sup>And the whole crowd who came together to that sight, seeing what had been done, beat their breasts and returned. <sup>49</sup>But all His acquaintances, and the women who followed Him from Galilee, stood at a distance, watching these things.

Jesus Is Crucified

19:17 And He, bearing His cross, went out to a place called the Place of a Skull, which is called in Hebrew, Golgotha, <sup>18</sup>where they crucified Him, and two others with Him, one on either side, and Jesus in the center. <sup>19</sup>Now Pilate wrote a title and put it on the cross. And the writing was:

JESUS OF NAZARETH,
THE KING OF THE JEWS.

<sup>20</sup>Then many of the Jews read this title, for the place where Jesus was crucified was near the city; and it was written in Hebrew, Greek, and Latin.

<sup>21</sup>Therefore the chief priests of the Jews said to Pilate, “Do not write, ‘The King of the Jews,’ but, ‘He said, ‘I am the King of the Jews.’”

<sup>23</sup>Then the soldiers, when they had crucified Jesus, took His garments and made four parts, to each soldier a part, and also the tunic. Now the tunic was without seam, woven from the top in one piece. <sup>24</sup>They said therefore among themselves, “Let us not tear it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be,” that the Scripture might be fulfilled which says:

*“They divided My garments among them,
And for My clothing they cast lots.”<sup>a</sup>*

Therefore the soldiers did these things.

Behold Your Mother

<sup>25</sup>Now there stood by the cross of Jesus His mother, and His mother’s sister, Mary the wife of Clopas, and Mary Magdalene. <sup>26</sup>When Jesus therefore saw His mother, and the disciple whom He loved standing by, He said to His mother, “Woman, behold your son!” <sup>27</sup>Then He said to the disciple, “Behold your mother!” And from that hour that disciple took her to his own home.

It Is Finished

<sup>28</sup>After this, Jesus, knowing<sup>a</sup> that all things were now accomplished, that the Scripture might be fulfilled, said, “I thirst!” <sup>29</sup>Now a vessel full of sour wine was sitting there; and they filled a sponge with sour wine, put it on hyssop, and put it to His mouth. <sup>30</sup>So when Jesus had received the sour wine, He said, “It is finished!” And bowing His head, He gave up His spirit.

Health & Medicine

A crucified person could not breathe freely. When exhaustion set in, death came by suffocation, which could take several days. But the legs were needed to raise the body for breathing, and death came much more quickly when the victim’s legs were broken. Since Jewish law forbade leaving a body exposed overnight, the Jews requested the breaking of the legs (John 19:31–33).

Jesus’ Side Is Pierced

<sup>31</sup>Therefore, because it was the Preparation Day, that the bodies should not remain on the cross on the Sabbath (for that Sabbath was a high day), the Jews asked Pilate that their legs might be broken, and that they might be taken away. <sup>32</sup>Then the soldiers came and broke the legs of the first and of the other who was crucified with Him. <sup>33</sup>But when they came to Jesus and saw that He was already dead, they did not break His legs. <sup>34</sup>But one of the soldiers pierced His side with a spear, and immediately blood and water came out. <sup>35</sup>And he who has seen has testified, and his testimony is true; and he knows that he is telling the truth, so that you may believe. <sup>36</sup>For these things were done that the Scripture should be fulfilled, “Not one of His bones shall be broken.”<sup>a</sup> <sup>37</sup>And again another Scripture says, “They shall look on Him whom they pierced.”<sup>a</sup>

The Burial of Jesus

After the crucifixion, Joseph of Arimathea asked Pilate for the body of Jesus. Joseph is presented as a righteous seeker of the kingdom of God (Mark 15:43) and a secret follower of Jesus (John 19:38). Though he was a member of the Sanhedrin, the council that delivered Jesus to the Roman authorities, he did not consent to the council’s actions (Luke 23:50, 51). Upon receiving permission from Pilate, Joseph took Jesus’ body down from the cross and placed it in a rock tomb near the site of the crucifixion before the onset of the Sabbath. A group of women (Luke 23:55), including Mary Magdalene (Matt. 27:61), observed the burial.

Nicodemus, a Pharisee, came to Joseph of Arimathea to assist in the burial of Jesus (John 19:39). Earlier he had come to Jesus “by night” (John 3:1, 2), possibly because he wished their meeting to be secret. When the Pharisees pushed for Jesus' arrest, Nicodemus argued a legitimate point of law that Jesus deserved a hearing (7:50–52). The plea fell on deaf ears. Appearing only in John's Gospel, Nicodemus is an example of one whose regard for Jesus as a teacher from God was based primarily on Jesus' miraculous signs. He seems to have been sincere in his approach to Jesus, but lacked understanding of the salvation He offered.

Friday was the "Day of Preparation" for the Sabbath (Matt. 27:62). The conference of the priests and Pharisees with Pilate occurred on Saturday, the Sabbath day itself. Only Matthew's Gospel records this incident, revealing the insincere piety of the Jewish leaders: they were so concerned about Jesus' claim to rise "after three days" (27:63) that they were willing to violate the Jewish Sabbath.

Jesus' Body Buried

27 :57 Now when evening had come, there came a rich man from Arimathea, named Joseph, who himself had also become a disciple of Jesus. <sup>58</sup>This man went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. Then Pilate commanded the body to be given to him. <sup>59</sup>When Joseph had taken the body, he wrapped it in a clean linen cloth, <sup>60</sup>and laid it in his new tomb which he had hewn out of the rock; and he rolled a large stone against the door of the tomb, and departed. <sup>61</sup>And Mary Magdalene was there, and the other Mary, sitting opposite the tomb.

Pilate Sets a Guard

<sup>62</sup>On the next day, which followed the Day of Preparation, the chief priests and Pharisees gathered together to Pilate, <sup>63</sup>saying, "Sir, we remember, while He was still alive, how that deceiver said, 'After three days I will rise.' <sup>64</sup>Therefore command that the tomb be made secure until the third day, lest His disciples come by night<sup>a</sup> and steal Him away, and say to the people, 'He has risen from the dead.' So the last deception will be worse than the first."

Culture & Society

In the ancient world people considered it extremely important how and where the dead were buried. In Palestine, tombs were rooms or groups of rooms cut into the hillsides. The individual chambers and the tomb as a whole needed to be shut securely because of animals and vandals. Joseph's "new tomb" (Matt. 27:60) was possibly a family burial crypt, which generally held more than one body.

<sup>65</sup>Pilate said to them, "You have a guard; go your way, make it as secure as you know how." <sup>66</sup>So they went and made the tomb secure, sealing the stone and setting the guard.

Mark 15:42–47

Jesus' Burial

15 :42 Now when evening had come, because it was the Preparation Day, that is, the day before the Sabbath, <sup>43</sup>Joseph of Arimathea, a prominent council member, who was himself waiting for the kingdom of God, coming and taking courage, went in to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. <sup>44</sup>Pilate marveled that He was already dead; and summoning the centurion, he asked him if He had been dead for some time. <sup>45</sup>So when he found out from the centurion, he granted the body to Joseph. <sup>46</sup>Then he bought fine linen, took Him down, and wrapped Him in the linen. And he laid Him in a tomb which had been hewn out of the rock, and rolled a stone against the door of the tomb. <sup>47</sup>And Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of Josès observed where He was laid.

Luke 23:50–56

Jesus Buried in Joseph's Tomb

23 :50 Now behold, there was a man named Joseph, a council member, a good and just man. <sup>51</sup>He had not consented to their decision and deed. He was from Arimathea, a city of the Jews, who himself was also waiting<sup>a</sup> for the kingdom of God. <sup>52</sup>This man went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. <sup>53</sup>Then he took it down, wrapped it in linen, and laid it in a tomb that was hewn out of the rock, where no one had ever lain before. <sup>54</sup>That day was the Preparation, and the Sabbath drew near.

<sup>55</sup>And the women who had come with Him from Galilee followed after, and they observed the tomb and how His body was laid. <sup>56</sup>Then they returned and prepared spices and fragrant oils. And they rested on the Sabbath according to the commandment.

John 19:38–42

Buried in a Garden Tomb

19 :38 After this, Joseph of Arimathea, being a disciple of Jesus, but secretly, for fear of the Jews, asked Pilate that he might take away the body of Jesus; and Pilate gave him permission. So he came and took the body of Jesus. <sup>39</sup>And Nicodemus, who at first came to Jesus by night, also came, bringing a mixture of myrrh and aloes, about a hundred pounds. <sup>40</sup>Then they took the body of Jesus, and bound it in strips of linen with the spices, as the custom of the Jews is to bury. <sup>41</sup>Now in the place where He was crucified there was a garden, and in the garden a new tomb in which no one had yet been laid. <sup>42</sup>So there they laid Jesus, because of the Jews' Preparation Day, for the tomb was nearby.

Sunday: Morning at the Tomb

The Gospels agree that Jesus was raised bodily from the dead on Sunday, the first day of the week. They also agree that Mary Magdalene was the first witness of the empty tomb, and most probably of the resurrected Lord. This is an important piece of historical evidence, since the testimony of a woman was of no legal value in ancient Jewish society. Had some early church writers invented a story of the resurrection, they would not have emphasized Mary's witness in the narrative.

Like the crucifixion accounts, the resurrection accounts diverge in a number of particulars. Only Matthew reports an earthquake and the rolling away of the stone from the tomb (Matt. 28:2). Since Matthew also reported an earthquake at the crucifixion (27:51), the second earthquake may show the equal significance of the resurrection. Matthew and Mark speak of one angel at the tomb (Matt. 28:5; Mark 16:5), whereas Luke and John speak of two (Luke 24:4; John 20:12). Matthew and Mark report only the women visiting the empty tomb, while Luke and John tell of a visit by Peter (Luke 24:12), with John relating a footprint between Peter and the beloved disciple to the tomb (John 20:3–8).

The Risen Lord

28 :1 Now after the Sabbath, as the first day of the week began to dawn, Mary Magdalene and the other Mary came to see the tomb. <sup>2</sup>And behold, there was a great earthquake; for an angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door,<sup>a</sup> and sat on it. <sup>3</sup>His countenance was like lightning, and his clothing as white as snow. <sup>4</sup>And the guards shook for fear of him, and became like dead men.

<sup>5</sup>But the angel answered and said to the women, “Do not be afraid, for I know that you seek Jesus who was crucified. <sup>6</sup>He is not here; for He is risen, as He said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay. <sup>7</sup>And go quickly and tell His disciples that He is risen from the dead, and indeed He is going before you into Galilee; there you will see Him. Behold, I have told you.”

<sup>8</sup>So they went out quickly from the tomb with fear and great joy, and ran to bring His disciples word.

Mark 16:1–8

The Empty Tomb

16 :1 Now when the Sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James, and Salome bought spices, that they might come and anoint Him. <sup>2</sup>Very early in the morning, on the first day of the week, they came to the tomb when the sun had risen. <sup>3</sup>And they said among themselves, “Who will roll away the stone from the door of the tomb for us?” <sup>4</sup>But when they looked up, they saw that the stone had been rolled away—for it was very large. <sup>5</sup>And entering the tomb, they saw a young man clothed in a long white robe sitting on the right side; and they were alarmed.

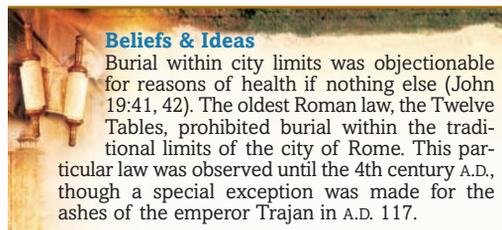

<sup>6</sup>But he said to them, “Do not be alarmed. You seek Jesus of Nazareth, who was crucified. He is risen! He is not here. See the place where they laid Him. <sup>7</sup>But go, tell His disciples—and Peter—that He is going before you into Galilee; there you will see Him, as He said to you.”

<sup>8</sup>So they went out quickly<sup>a</sup> and fled from the tomb, for they trembled and were amazed. And they said nothing to anyone, for they were afraid.

Luke 24:1–12

He Is Risen

24 :1 Now on the first day of the week, very early in the morning, they, and certain other women with them,<sup>a</sup> came to the tomb bringing the spices which they had prepared. <sup>2</sup>But they found the stone rolled away from the tomb. <sup>3</sup>Then they went in and did not find the body of the Lord Jesus. <sup>4</sup>And it happened, as they were greatly<sup>a</sup> perplexed about this, that behold, two men stood by them in shining garments.

Beliefs & Ideas

Burial within city limits was objectionable for reasons of health if nothing else (John 19:41, 42). The oldest Roman law, the Twelve Tables, prohibited burial within the traditional limits of the city of Rome. This particular law was observed until the 4th century A.D., though a special exception was made for the ashes of the emperor Trajan in A.D. 117.

<sup>5</sup>Then, as they were afraid and bowed their faces to the earth, they said to them, “Why do you seek the living among the dead? <sup>6</sup>He is not here, but is risen! Remember how He spoke to you when He was still in Galilee, <sup>7</sup>saying, ‘The Son of Man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day rise again.’”

<sup>8</sup>And they remembered His words. <sup>9</sup>Then they returned from the tomb and told all these things to the eleven and to all the rest. <sup>10</sup>It was Mary Magdalene, Joanna, Mary the mother of James, and the other women with them, who told these things to the apostles. <sup>11</sup>And their words seemed to them like idle tales, and they did not believe them. <sup>12</sup>But Peter arose and ran to the tomb; and stooping down, he saw the linen cloths lying<sup>a</sup> by themselves; and he departed, marveling to himself at what had happened.

Risen from the Tomb

20 :1 Now the first day of the week Mary Magdalene went to the tomb early, while it was still dark, and saw that the stone had been taken away from the tomb. <sup>2</sup>Then she ran and came to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple, whom Jesus loved, and said to them, “They have taken away the Lord out of the tomb, and we do not know where they have laid Him.”

<sup>3</sup>Peter therefore went out, and the other disciple, and were going to the tomb. <sup>4</sup>So they both ran together, and the other disciple outran Peter and came to the tomb first. <sup>5</sup>And he, stooping down and looking in, saw the linen cloths lying there; yet he did not go in. <sup>6</sup>Then Simon Peter came, following him, and went into the tomb; and he saw the linen cloths lying there, <sup>7</sup>and the handkerchief that had been around His head, not lying with the linen cloths, but folded together in a place by itself. <sup>8</sup>Then the other disciple, who came to the tomb first, went in also; and he saw and believed. <sup>9</sup>For as yet they did not know the Scripture, that He must rise again from the dead. <sup>10</sup>Then the disciples went away again to their own homes.

Mary Magdalene Sees the Risen Lord

<sup>11</sup>But Mary stood outside by the tomb weeping, and as she wept she stooped down and looked into the tomb. <sup>12</sup>And she saw two angels in white sitting, one at the head and the other at the feet, where the body of Jesus had lain. <sup>13</sup>Then they said to her, “Woman, why are you weeping?”

She said to them, “Because they have taken away my Lord, and I do not know where they have laid Him.”

Early Resurrection Appearances

The women met the resurrected Lord outside the tomb, near Jerusalem, and again were instructed to tell the disciples to go to Galilee (Matt. 28:7, 10). Jesus' appearance to one woman, Mary Magdalene, is specifically noted by John and Mark. Overcome by grief, and with tear-dimmed eyes, Mary did not immediately recognize the Lord.

Matthew is the only evangelist to report the Jewish religious leaders' cover-up of the resurrection (Matt. 28:11–15). Since Matthew's Gospel is intended for Jewish readers, this story helps explain the disappointing response of Jews to the gospel.

The Women Worship the Risen Lord

28 :9 And as they went to tell His disciples,<sup>a</sup> behold, Jesus met them, saying, “Rejoice!” So they came and held Him by the feet and worshiped Him. <sup>10</sup>Then Jesus said to them, “Do not be afraid. Go and tell My brethren to go to Galilee, and there they will see Me.”

The Soldiers Are Bribed

<sup>11</sup>Now while they were going, behold, some of the guard came into the city and reported to the chief priests all the things that had happened. <sup>12</sup>When they had assembled with the elders and consulted together, they gave a large sum of money to the soldiers, <sup>13</sup>saying, “Tell them, ‘His disciples came at night and stole Him away while we slept.’ <sup>14</sup>And if this comes to the governor's ears, we will appease him and make you secure.” <sup>15</sup>So they took the money and did as they were instructed; and this saying is commonly reported among the Jews until this day.

Mary Magdalene and the Risen Lord

16:9 Now when He rose early on the first day of the week, He appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom He had cast seven demons.<sup>10</sup> She went and told those who had been with Him, as they mourned and wept.<sup>11</sup> And when they heard that He was alive and had been seen by her, they did not believe.

John 20:14–18

20:14 Now when she had said this, she turned around and saw Jesus standing there, and did not know that it was Jesus.<sup>15</sup> Jesus said to her, “Woman, why are you weeping? Whom are you seeking?”

She, supposing Him to be the gardener, said to Him, “Sir, if You have carried Him away, tell me where You have laid Him, and I will take Him away.”

<sup>16</sup>Jesus said to her, “Mary!”

She turned and said to Him,<sup>a</sup> “Rabboni!” (which is to say, Teacher).

<sup>17</sup>Jesus said to her, “Do not cling to Me, for I have not yet ascended to My Father; but go to My brethren and say to them, ‘I am ascending to My Father and your Father, and to My God and your God.’”

<sup>18</sup>Mary Magdalene came and told the disciples that she had seen the Lord,<sup>a</sup> and that He had spoken these things to her.

of the Holy Spirit, just as the baptism of Jesus began the dispensation of the Incarnation.

The Gospel of John, by contrast, suggests that the Holy Spirit was bestowed while the resurrected Jesus was still with the disciples. The effects of the Spirit are not described by John, however. Some understand Jesus’ injunction “Receive the Holy Spirit” (John 20:22) to anticipate the coming of the Spirit at Pentecost. Others see it as a fulfillment of the promise of the Holy Spirit emphasized prominently in John 15; 16.

The Road to Emmaus

24:13 Now behold, two of them were traveling that same day to a village called Emmaus, which was seven miles<sup>a</sup> from Jerusalem.<sup>14</sup> And they talked together of all these things which had happened.<sup>15</sup> So it was, while they conversed and reasoned, that Jesus Himself drew near and went with them.<sup>16</sup> But their eyes were restrained, so that they did not know Him.

<sup>17</sup>And He said to them, “What kind of conversation is this that you have with one another as you walk and are sad?”<sup>a</sup>

<sup>18</sup>Then the one whose name was Cleopas answered and said to Him, “Are You the only stranger in Jerusalem, and have You not known the things which happened there in these days?”

<sup>19</sup>And He said to them, “What things?”

So they said to Him, “The things concerning Jesus of Nazareth, who was a Prophet mighty in deed and word before God and all the people,<sup>20</sup> and how the chief priests and our rulers delivered Him to be condemned to death, and crucified Him.<sup>21</sup> But we were hoping that it was He who was going to redeem Israel. ### Appearances in Judea: Emmaus and Jerusalem

Jesus next appeared to two disciples who were walking from Jerusalem to Emmaus, an encounter Luke describes in considerable detail (Luke 24:13–35), but which Mark alludes to only briefly (Mark 16:12, 13). These two disciples thought Jesus would set up a political kingdom; therefore, His death was to them a tragedy (Luke 24:21).

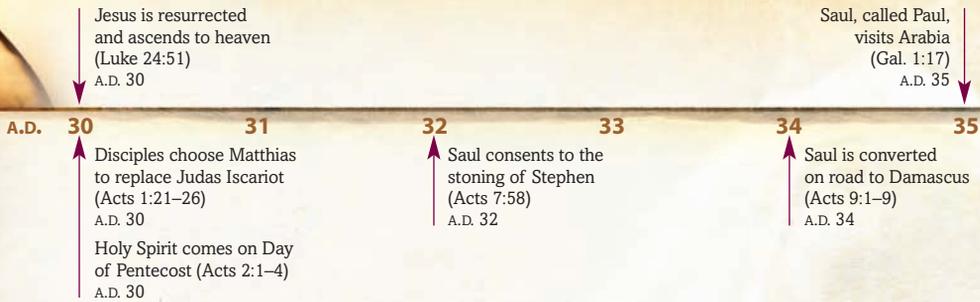

Another appearance of the resurrected Jesus was to the disciples gathered in Jerusalem. Jesus demonstrated that He was not a ghost by revealing His scars (Luke 24:39, 40; John 20:20). Commanding the disciples to remain in Jerusalem and await “power from on high” (Luke 24:49) signified the coming of the Holy Spirit. This power arrived, according to Luke’s sequel in the Book of Acts (Acts 2:1–13), at the Day of Pentecost, 40 days after the Ascension. For Luke, Pentecost begins the dispensation

Beliefs & Ideas

The Law of Moses prohibited omen interpretation, magic, and divination (Deut. 18:10, 11). Yet at the same time God was able to communicate by means of dreams (Matt. 2:12), visions (Luke 24:23), or movements of the stars (Matt. 2:9). An obvious factor in this distinction is that no one can compel God to reveal the future. Efforts to do so were not only futile, but condemned as evil.

BEGINNING OF THE CHURCH

all this, today is the third day since these things happened. <sup>22</sup>Yes, and certain women of our company, who arrived at the tomb early, astonished us. <sup>23</sup>When they did not find His body, they came saying that they had also seen a vision of angels who said He was alive. <sup>24</sup>And certain of those who were with us went to the tomb and found it just as the women had said; but Him they did not see.”

<sup>25</sup>Then He said to them, “O foolish ones, and slow of heart to believe in all that the prophets have spoken! <sup>26</sup>Ought not the Christ to have suffered these things and to enter into His glory?” <sup>27</sup>And beginning at Moses and all the Prophets, He expounded to them in all the Scriptures the things concerning Himself.

The Disciples' Eyes Opened

<sup>28</sup>Then they drew near to the village where they were going, and He indicated that He would have gone farther. <sup>29</sup>But they constrained Him, saying, “Abide with us, for it is toward evening, and the day is far spent.” And He went in to stay with them.

<sup>30</sup>Now it came to pass, as He sat at the table with them, that He took bread, blessed and broke it, and gave it to them. <sup>31</sup>Then their eyes were opened and they knew Him; and He vanished from their sight.

<sup>32</sup>And they said to one another, “Did not our heart burn within us while He talked with us on the road, and while He opened the Scriptures to us?” <sup>33</sup>So they rose up that very hour and returned to Jerusalem, and found the eleven and those who were with them gathered together, <sup>34</sup>saying, “The Lord is risen indeed, and has appeared to Simon!” <sup>35</sup>And they told about the things that had happened on the road, and how He was known to them in the breaking of bread.

Jesus Appears to His Disciples

<sup>36</sup>Now as they said these things, Jesus Himself stood in the midst of them, and said to them, “Peace to you.” <sup>37</sup>But they were terrified and frightened, and supposed they had seen a spirit. <sup>38</sup>And He said to them, “Why are you troubled? And why do doubts arise in your hearts? <sup>39</sup>Behold My hands and My feet, that it is I Myself. Handle Me and see, for a spirit does not have flesh and bones as you see I have.”

<sup>40</sup>When He had said this, He showed them His hands and His feet.<sup>a</sup> <sup>41</sup>But while they still did

Appearances of the Risen Christ

The event of Jesus' resurrection is evident in various Gospel accounts which record His post-resurrection appearances. Several appearances occurred in and around Jerusalem, but Jesus was seen also beyond Jerusalem—on the way to the village of Emmaus and in Galilee by the Sea of Galilee. Not the least is Paul's vision of the resurrected Christ on the road to Damascus.

BREATHING NEW LIFE (JOHN 20:22)

Many Jewish people thought long and hard about Adam's fall into sin, and expected the end time to resemble the primeval paradise, before that fall. In the Creation story, God first creates Adam in paradise, personally breathing into him "the breath of life" (Gen. 2:7). Through the Old Testament prophets, God also promised someday to send the breath of His Spirit again to bring new life to His people (Ezek. 37:4–14). Some Jewish interpreters seem to have connected Genesis 2:7 with Ezekiel 37, anticipating God's breathing of new life through the Spirit.

By "breathing" on His disciples (John 20:22), Jesus probably symbolized this promise of new life associated with the coming of God's Spirit. Later Jewish writings connected the Spirit's coming with empowerment to prophesy for God, and similarly John's Gospel connects the Spirit with empowerment of the disciples to witness about Jesus (John 20:23; see 15:26, 27).

The disciples should have understood these connections, because Jewish tradition of their day emphasized two aspects of the Spirit's work in the Old Testament: purification and prophetic empowerment. Some Jewish groups, especially the Essenes, associated the Spirit with purification of one's heart. Most Jewish people (including the Essenes), however, associated the Spirit with the empowerment the biblical prophets possessed to hear from God and to speak for Him. Jesus provided for His disciples both the purifying gift of new life and empowerment for their mission.

not believe for joy, and marveled, He said to them, "Have you any food here?"<sup>42</sup> So they gave Him a piece of a broiled fish and some honeycomb.<sup>a</sup> <sup>43</sup> And He took it and ate in their presence.

The Scriptures Opened

<sup>44</sup> Then He said to them, "These are the words which I spoke to you while I was still with you, that all things must be fulfilled which were written in the Law of Moses and the Prophets and the Psalms concerning Me."<sup>45</sup> And He opened their understanding, that they might comprehend the Scriptures.

<sup>46</sup> Then He said to them, "Thus it is written, and thus it was necessary for the Christ to suffer and to rise<sup>a</sup> from the dead the third day, <sup>47</sup> and that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in His name to all nations, beginning at Jerusalem. <sup>48</sup> And you are witnesses of these things. <sup>49</sup> Behold, I send the Promise of My Father upon you; but tarry in the city of Jerusalem<sup>a</sup> until you are endued with power from on high."

John 20:19–31

The Apostles Commissioned

20 :19 Then, the same day at evening, being the first day of the week, when the doors were shut where the disciples were assembled,<sup>a</sup> for fear of the Jews, Jesus came and stood in the midst, and said to them, "Peace be with you."<sup>20</sup> When He had said this, He showed them His hands and His side. Then the disciples were glad when they saw the Lord.

<sup>21</sup> So Jesus said to them again, "Peace to you! As the Father has sent Me, I also send you."<sup>22</sup> And when He had said this, He breathed on them, and said to them, "Receive the Holy Spirit. <sup>23</sup> If you forgive the sins of any, they are forgiven them; if you retain the sins of any, they are retained."

Seeing and Believing

<sup>24</sup> Now Thomas, called the Twin, one of the twelve, was not with them when Jesus came. <sup>25</sup> The other disciples therefore said to him, "We have seen the Lord."

So he said to them, "Unless I see in His hands the print of the nails, and put my finger into the print of the nails, and put my hand into His side, I will not believe."

<sup>26</sup> And after eight days His disciples were again inside, and Thomas with them. Jesus came, the doors being shut, and stood in the midst, and said, "Peace to you!"<sup>27</sup> Then He said to Thomas, "Reach your finger here, and look at My hands; and reach your hand here, and put it into My side. Do not be unbelieving, but believing."

<sup>28</sup> And Thomas answered and said to Him, "My Lord and my God!"

<sup>29</sup> Jesus said to him, "Thomas,<sup>a</sup> because you have seen Me, you have believed. Blessed are those who have not seen and yet have believed."

That You May Believe

<sup>30</sup> And truly Jesus did many other signs in the presence of His disciples, which are not written in this book; <sup>31</sup> but these are written that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that believing you may have life in His name.

Later Appearances in Galilee

Matthew, Mark, and John each record appearances of Jesus to the disciples in Galilee. Each account is quite different, suggesting that Jesus made several post-resurrection appearances to His followers. According to Matthew's Gospel, the disciples were visited by Jesus as they gathered on a mountain (Matt. 28:16), as He had earlier predicted (28:10). As they worshiped Jesus, He delivered the Great Commission to go and make disciples of all nations (28:19).

In John's Gospel, Jesus appears to the disciples by the Sea of Tiberias (John 21:1). The Sea of Galilee had been renamed for the Roman emperor Tiberius Caesar. During a meal with the disciples on the shore, Jesus told Peter to "feed" His sheep (21:17), a metaphorical way of describing the Great Commission.

Resembling Matthew's Great Commission, Mark's Gospel presents Jesus instructing the disciples to go and preach the gospel (Mark 16:15, 16). Several signs are predicted for believers, including speaking in tongues, handling deadly serpents, and drinking poison without being harmed (16:17, 18). These miraculous signs (see Matt. 10:1; Luke 10:19) are regarded as signs of faith in the ending of Mark.

The Galilean appearance of Jesus in Mark's Gospel is recorded in what is known as Mark's "secondary ending" (Mark 16:9–20). These last twelve verses of Mark are absent from the earliest Greek manuscripts. They are a secondary ending combining elements from the resurrection appearances of the other three Gospels. Scholars suppose that Mark's Gospel originally ended at 16:8, with the abrupt ending there indicating either the loss of the original ending of the manuscript or perhaps Mark's death before he finished the Gospel.

Matthew 28:16–20

The Great Commission

28 :16 Then the eleven disciples went away into Galilee, to the mountain which Jesus had appointed for them. <sup>17</sup> When they saw Him, they worshiped Him; but some doubted.

<sup>18</sup> And Jesus came and spoke to them, saying, "All authority has been given to Me in heaven and on earth. <sup>19</sup> Go therefore<sup>a</sup> and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, <sup>20</sup> teaching them to observe all things that I have commanded you; and lo, I am with you always, even to the end of the age." Amen.<sup>a</sup>

Science & Technology

Thomas was invited to touch Jesus' side where He was pierced (John 20:27). The Roman javelin was 5 to 7 feet long, with a long metal point hardened only at the end. It would bend and stick into a shield, making both useless. If the spear hit the ground it would still bend and could not be thrown back at the Romans. The soldier's thrust with his spear into Jesus was to make sure that He was dead (John 19:34).

Mark 16:14–18

Jesus Commissions the Disciples

16 :14 Later He appeared to the eleven as they sat at the table; and He rebuked their unbelief and hardness of heart, because they did not believe those who had seen Him after He had risen. <sup>15</sup> And He said to them, "Go into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature. <sup>16</sup> He who believes and is baptized will be saved; but he who does not believe will be condemned. <sup>17</sup> And these signs will follow those who believe: In My name they will cast out demons; they will speak with new tongues; <sup>18</sup> they<sup>a</sup> will take up serpents; and if they drink anything deadly, it will by no means hurt them; they will lay hands on the sick, and they will recover."

John 21:1–25

Breakfast by the Sea

21 :1 After these things Jesus showed Himself again to the disciples at the Sea of Tiberias, and in this way He showed Himself: <sup>2</sup> Simon Peter, Thomas called the Twin, Nathanael of Cana in Galilee, the sons of Zebedee, and two others of His disciples were together. <sup>3</sup> Simon Peter said to them, "I am going fishing."

They said to him, "We are going with you also." They went out and immediately<sup>a</sup> got into the boat, and that night they caught nothing. <sup>4</sup>But when the morning had now come, Jesus stood on the shore; yet the disciples did not know that it was Jesus. <sup>5</sup>Then Jesus said to them, “Children, have you any food?”

They answered Him, “No.”

<sup>6</sup>And He said to them, “Cast the net on the right side of the boat, and you will find some.” So they cast, and now they were not able to draw it in because of the multitude of fish.

<sup>7</sup>Therefore that disciple whom Jesus loved said to Peter, “It is the Lord!” Now when Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he put on his outer garment (for he had removed it), and plunged into the sea. <sup>8</sup>But the other disciples came in the little boat (for they were not far from land, but about two hundred cubits), dragging the net with fish. <sup>9</sup>Then, as soon as they had come to land, they saw a fire of coals there, and fish laid on it, and bread. <sup>10</sup>Jesus said to them, “Bring some of the fish which you have just caught.”

<sup>11</sup>Simon Peter went up and dragged the net to land, full of large fish, one hundred and fifty-three; and although there were so many, the net was not broken. <sup>12</sup>Jesus said to them, “Come and eat breakfast.” Yet none of the disciples dared ask Him, “Who are You?”—knowing that it was the Lord. <sup>13</sup>Jesus then came and took the bread and gave it to them, and likewise the fish.

<sup>14</sup>This is now the third time Jesus showed Himself to His disciples after He was raised from the dead.

Jesus Restores Peter

<sup>15</sup>So when they had eaten breakfast, Jesus said to Simon Peter, “Simon, son of Jonah,<sup>a</sup> do you love Me more than these?”

He said to Him, “Yes, Lord; You know that I love You.”

He said to him, “Feed My lambs.”

<sup>16</sup>He said to him again a second time, “Simon, son of Jonah,<sup>a</sup> do you love Me?”

He said to Him, “Yes, Lord; You know that I love You.”

He said to him, “Tend My sheep.”

<sup>17</sup>He said to him the third time, “Simon, son of Jonah,<sup>a</sup> do you love Me?” Peter was grieved because He said to him the third time, “Do you love Me?”

And he said to Him, “Lord, You know all things; You know that I love You.”

Jesus said to him, “Feed My sheep. <sup>18</sup>Most assuredly, I say to you, when you were younger, you girded yourself and walked where you wished; but when you are old, you will stretch out your hands, and another will gird you and carry you where you do not wish.” <sup>19</sup>This He spoke, signifying by what death he would glorify God. And when He had spoken this, He said to him, “Follow Me.”

The Beloved Disciple and His Book

<sup>20</sup>Then Peter, turning around, saw the disciple whom Jesus loved following, who also had leaned on His breast at the supper, and said, “Lord, who is the one who betrays You?” <sup>21</sup>Peter, seeing him, said to Jesus, “But Lord, what about this man?”

<sup>22</sup>Jesus said to him, “If I will that he remain till I come, what is that to you? You follow Me.”

<sup>23</sup>Then this saying went out among the brethren that this disciple would not die. Yet Jesus did not say to him that he would not die, but, “If I will that he remain till I come, what is that to you?”

THE ASCENSION OF CHRIST (MARK 16:19)

Since His birth in Bethlehem by the miracle of the Incarnation, Christ had lived physically on earth. But 40 days after the resurrection, His earthly ministry ceased with His ascension into heaven (Mark 16:19; Luke 24:50, 51). To a large extent the ascension was for the benefit of Jesus' followers. They could no longer expect His physical presence. They must now wait for the promised Holy Spirit through whom the work of Jesus would continue.

The ascension marked the beginning of Christ's intercession for His followers at the right hand of God. There He makes continual intercession for all believers (Rom. 8:34; Heb. 4:14; 6:20; 7:25). Although Christ is not physically present with His people today, He is no less concerned for them or less active on their behalf. Christians enjoy peace, hope, and security because Christ is their advocate with the Father (1 John 2:1).

The ascension set in motion the coming of the Holy Spirit with His gifts for believers (John 14:16–18, 26; 16:7–15; Acts 2:23; Eph. 4:11, 12). God determined that the presence of Jesus would be replaced by the presence of the Holy Spirit, who could be everywhere at the same time. Jesus' followers now enjoy the presence of the Spirit and the operation of the Spirit's gifts through them.

One additional result of the ascension is that Jesus began His heavenly reign at the right hand of the Father (1 Cor. 15:20–28). This reign will last until His Second Coming, when He will return to the earth as the reigning Messiah (Acts 3:20, 21).

Finally, the ascension of Christ is the pledge of His Second Coming: "This same Jesus, who was taken up from you into heaven, will so come in like manner as you saw Him go into heaven" (Acts 1:11). Jesus will return to earth in bodily form just as He ascended into heaven.

<sup>24</sup>This is the disciple who testifies of these things, and wrote these things; and we know that his testimony is true.

<sup>25</sup>And there are also many other things that Jesus did, which if they were written one by one, I suppose that even the world itself could not contain the books that would be written. Amen.

Jesus Ascends from the Mount of Olives

Mark and Luke conclude their Gospels with the ascension of Jesus. The disciples watched as Jesus was taken into heaven from the Mount of Olives at Bethany to the east of Jerusalem (Luke 24:50). Mark's Gospel shows the disciples fulfilling their commission as they went forth "everywhere" and preached (Mark 16:20). Luke's emphasis, however, is that the disciples would not begin their missionary activity until after they received the Holy Spirit at Pentecost (see Acts 1:12–14). Thus his Gospel closes with the disciples returning to Jerusalem and devoting themselves to worship in the temple (Luke 24:52, 53).

Ascending to God's Right Hand

16:19 So then, after the Lord had spoken to them, He was received up into heaven, and sat down at the right hand of God. <sup>20</sup>And they went out and preached everywhere, the Lord working with them and confirming the word through the accompanying signs. Amen.<sup>a</sup>

The Ascension

24:50 And He led them out as far as Bethany, and He lifted up His hands and blessed them. <sup>51</sup>Now it came to pass, while He blessed them, that He was parted from them and carried up into heaven. <sup>52</sup>And they worshiped Him, and returned to Jerusalem with great joy, <sup>53</sup>and were continually in the temple praising and<sup>a</sup> blessing God. Amen.<sup>b</sup>

THE CHURCH AGE

As the gospel spread beyond Judea to Samaria and the Gentile world, many converted to the belief that "Jesus Christ is the Son of God" (Acts 8:37).

(A.D. 30—100)

The beginning of the church is a fascinating story of the Holy Spirit at work, leading the followers of Jesus into new ways and new worlds. The period from roughly A.D. 30 to 100 saw the glory of the first Pentecost, the struggle of the church to organize for mission, the conversion of Saul (Paul), the mission to the Gentiles, and the spread of the faith to Rome, Alexandria, and Antioch (the three greatest cities of the Roman Empire). Dozens of other cities and villages in Asia Minor, Greece, and Egypt would hear the Good News concerning the Man of Nazareth: "This Jesus God has raised up" (Acts 2:32).

As the gospel spread beyond Judea to Samaria and the Gentile world, many converted to the belief that "Jesus Christ is the Son of God" (Acts 8:37). The new believers met with opposition. Gentiles called these disciples of Christ by the name "Christians" (Acts 26:28; 1 Pet. 4:16), but did so with an element of scorn. Another scornful label for the early Christian movement was "the Way" (Acts 19:9). The term was appropriate, though, for Christ had made a "new and living way" for people to enter into the presence of God (Heb. 10:20).

ARCHAEOLOGY AND THE PAST

Archaeological finds from this period are a rich treasure, even when narrowly restricted to those directly connected with the church. The most significant of the riches are those associated with Jerusalem and the journeys of Paul.

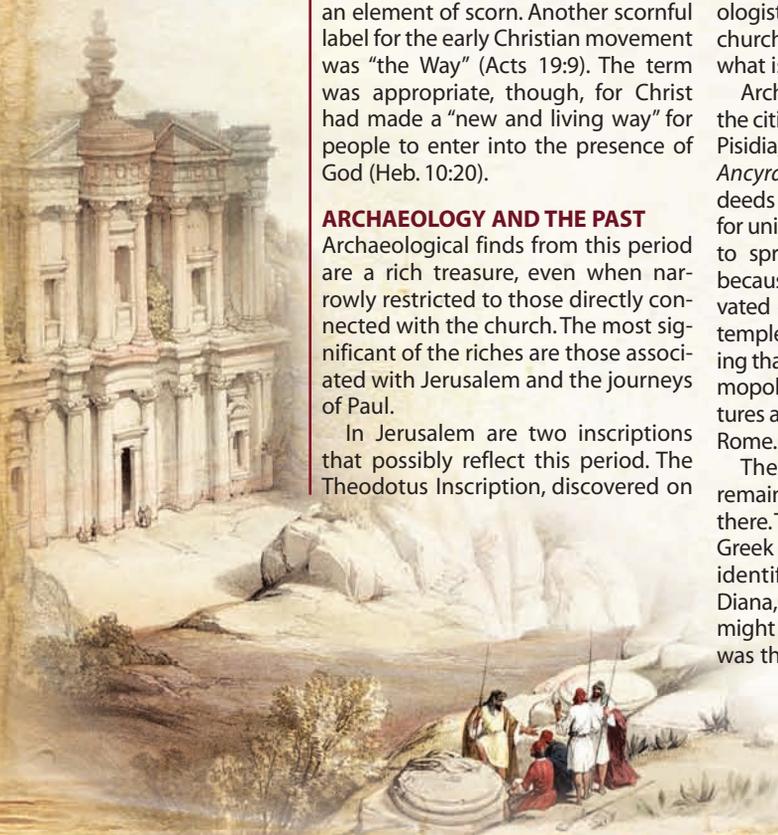

In Jerusalem are two inscriptions that possibly reflect this period. The Theodotus Inscription, discovered on the hill known as the Ophel, describes a synagogue built specifically for visitors and immigrants from abroad. This Ophel synagogue has been identified with the Synagogue of the Freedmen, some of whose members opposed Stephen (Acts 6:9). A second inscription once stood in the temple, marking the boundaries beyond which Gentiles were not permitted to go, on pain of death. A crowd accused Paul of bringing a Gentile into the temple, in direct violation of this ban (Acts 21:28).

The destruction of Jerusalem by the Romans in A.D. 70 left ruins, some of which have remained. The most famous of these is a restored room from the lowest floors of the home of a member of one of the high priestly families, the house of Kathros. The Christians left Jerusalem at the outbreak of the Jewish revolt in A.D. 66 and went to Pella (modern Jordan), escaping the destruction of the city. They returned after the war and built a church under the leadership of Simeon, a cousin of Jesus. Many archaeologists believe that a small part of that church can still be seen today, behind what is called "David's Tomb."

Archaeological treasures abound in the cities of Paul's journeys. In Antioch of Pisidia, for example, is the Monumentum Ancyranum, on which is carved the deeds of Augustus Caesar and the hope for universal peace. Christianity was able to spread quickly in a Roman world because of the Roman peace. The excavated city square in Antioch featured a temple of the Anatolian god Men, showing that Christianity existed also in a cosmopolitan world, steeped in ancient cultures and religions, all under the aegis of Rome.

The ancient city of Ephesus has remains that reflect Paul's long ministry there. The temple and the statues of the Greek goddess Artemis, who became identified with the Roman goddess Diana, help explain why the Ephesians might riot when the worship of Artemis was threatened by Christianity. In Asia,

Artemis assumed characteristics of the mother goddess, and her temple was one of the Seven Wonders of the ancient world, still magnificent in ruins. Also among the excavations in Ephesus were a collection of papyri with magical formulas written on them. The ancient world was much taken with magic, used both as a blessing and a curse, and the papyri recall the magic books that were burned during Paul's time (Acts 19:19).

The accounts of Paul's travels mention his experiences in the agora, or marketplace, of two cities. Philippi was a trading city, and Lydia, one of Paul's converts, likely operated her business (she bought and sold expensive purple cloth) near what is now the ruins of the agora (Acts 16:14, 19). The ruins of another agora still exists in Athens, where Paul first encountered the Athenian philosophers (Acts 17:17).

Archaeological finds are rich in Corinth, in the city that existed in Paul's day. Corinthian ruins include the marketplace and a stone bench identified as the bema, the judgment seat where Paul was brought before the proconsul Gallio. Also from Corinth is an inscription mentioning Gallio. Everywhere he went, Paul was in touch with Roman authorities, either because he was in trouble with them, or because they were protecting him, or both. Inscriptions from Corinth identify the meat market, and also name "Lucian the butcher." Butchers and meat markets recall Paul's writing to the Corinthian church over the issue of eating meat from the market that had been sacrificed to idols (1 Cor. 10:25).

The ruins of Rome, Paul's final destination, are overwhelming, and remind us of the persecution that the church endured. The Colosseum was the site of athletic events, chariot races, and gladiatorial combats. It is quite likely that Christians lost their lives there, thrown to the lions or other forms of torture. The magnificent arch of Titus is a monument to the Roman victory over the Jews and the destruction of Jerusalem. On it are carved Roman soldiers carrying the menorah (the golden lampstand) and table from the temple. The catacombs, or underground cemeteries, of Rome remind us that Christians were an illegal organization, and they often met in secret in the cemeteries.

THE PEOPLES AND GROUPS

All of the New Testament story unfolds under the reign of emperors of the Roman Empire, which reached the height of its power from about A.D. 100 to 175. Of the various emperors who ruled during the New Testament period, Claudius was responsible for expelling the Jews from Rome (Acts 18:2), and Nero was the emperor to whom Paul appealed his case (Acts 25:11). The destruction of Jerusalem was accomplished in the year A.D. 70 by the Roman general Titus, who later became emperor himself.

Christianity developed amongst a rich mixture of religious cults represented in the Roman world. The most striking feature of Roman religion was its ability to merge the best features of several religions. As the empire expanded, it imported and assimilated many religious ideas and pagan gods from Greece and the Orient. Roman gods were fused and identified with the gods of the Greeks. Buildings, temples, and monuments to these gods were erected. Astrological beliefs and magical practices flourished.

An "imperial ruler cult" developed in the 1st century B.C. when the Roman Senate voted to deify Julius Caesar and to dedicate a temple to his honor. Among all the emperors, only Julius Caesar, Augustus, and Claudius were deified. This phenomenon apparently had more political than religious meaning.

THE BIBLICAL LITERATURE

The beginnings of the Christian church are related in the Book of Acts, the letters of Paul, and the general letters that make up the rest of the New Testament. Acts might more accurately be called the "Acts of the Holy Spirit," for Luke shows the role of the Spirit in guiding and strengthening the church. The Spirit's activity is prominent in the founding of the church through the work of Stephen, Philip, Peter, and especially Paul.

Paul's letters are the oldest Christian documents we have, and make up the bulk of the New Testament. Galatians was possibly the earliest letter. Shortly thereafter are 1 and 2 Thessalonians, written on Paul's second missionary journey, and 1 and 2 Corinthians and Romans, written on the third journey. The letters of Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians, and Philemon all give indication of being written in prison. The letters of 1 and 2 Timothy and Titus are called the Pastoral Epistles, addressing not churches, but pastors. Paul's letters tell us a great deal about the problems the churches faced as a result of their faith; opposition came from outside (pagan and public hostility) and from inside (heresies and persons struggling for position and power).

The General Epistles and the Book of Revelation tell us most of what we know about the early church beyond Paul. Hebrews was written to Jewish Christians. It emphasizes the humanity of Jesus, His perfect sacrifice, and His bringing forgiveness to all. The letter of James reminds Christians that real faith leads to faithful living, affecting the little acts of daily life.

The key to 1 Peter is hope in Christ, even in times of persecution. It was written for the church in Asia

Minor, and may originally have been a treatise on the meaning of baptism for daily life. The letters of Jude and 2 Peter were written to counter false teachers. The early church expected Jesus to return at any minute, and 2 Peter calls on the church to live faithfully in anticipation of that return. Jude reminds its readers that God's grace is not an excuse for immoral living.

Of the three letters associated with John, 1 John is a sermon, calling for a return to the fundamental of the faith: Jesus came in the flesh for our salvation. Of the two letters written by "the Elder," 2 John emphasizes the commandment to love, while 3 John is a warning against a false teacher (already appearing in the church!).

The Book of Revelation calls the church to be faithful and stand firm. In the great cosmic struggle between good and evil, a struggle in which Christ will prevail, faithful Christians will share in His final triumph.

THE GOSPEL TO THE JEWS

Under Roman rule the Jews were given a special status with certain legal rights. They were permitted to practice their own religion and to build their synagogues. They also were exempt from military service and were not required to appear in court on the Sabbath. Relationships between the Jews and the Romans were mostly positive. The birth and development of Christianity took place among the Jews and within the borders of the Roman Empire. In its early years, Christianity was regarded by Rome as a sect of Judaism, and was thus ignored.

The Gospels ended with an emphasis on the ascension of the risen Christ (Mark 16:19, 20; Luke 24:50–53). The Book of Acts opens with special attention to this important event in Christian history (Acts 1:1–11). The eleven apostles, and many other Jewish believers, were joyous after witnessing the Ascension. Yet they were at a loss to know what to do next, other than selecting a successor to Judas. All this mingling of hope and uncertainty vanished at Pentecost.

Henceforth, with courage and power, they gave witness to their conviction that Jesus was alive. Their claim was confirmed by undeniable miracles performed in His name (Acts 4:14). The witness of these Christians brought consternation to persons responsible for Jesus' death. Those who killed Him thought they had disposed of Him. Now His authority and power were stirring Jerusalem more than ever. There was intense opposition led by Saul of Tarsus and the rulers in Jerusalem. Yet the gospel spread rapidly to Judea, Samaria, and the entire Mediterranean world.

The Book of Acts

The Book of Acts is the second of a two-volume set, the first volume being the Gospel of Luke. Both books are addressed to Theophilus and written by one of Paul's associates named Luke "the beloved physician" (Col. 4:14). The author of Acts was a companion of Paul in many of his journeys, as implied by his use of the pronoun "we" to indicate he was traveling with Paul (see Acts 16:10). He was also with Paul during his imprisonment in Rome (2 Tim. 4:11).

Luke shows the link between what he reported in his Gospel and what he now reports in this book: the events of Jesus' ministry are the foundation for the results obtained by the message of His Spirit-inspired witnesses. Since the risen Christ was not seen in public, the burden of proof for the resurrection event lay with those who had firsthand experience of His postresurrection appearances (see 1 Cor. 15:4–8). The Gospels, Acts, and Paul's letters are at great pains to convince the reader that Jesus' appearances were not fantasy or the result of wishful thinking, but rather "hard evidence" which calls for faith.

The date of Luke's writing is not easily determined. The author possibly concluded his account 2 years after Paul's imprisonment in Rome, about A.D. 62 (Acts 28:30). Luke writes to Theophilus (meaning "lover of God"), who was probably a prominent Gentile believer. Theophilus had been "instructed" concerning matters related in Luke's Gospel (see Luke 1:3, 4), and so may have assisted Luke in his research.

THE NUMBER “12” (ACTS 1:26)

Soon after the apostle Judas Iscariot had betrayed Jesus, Judas met with a rather ignoble end (Acts 1:18). The disciples felt it essential to fill the vacancy left by Judas, thus maintaining the number of 12 apostles. So a certain Matthias “was numbered with the eleven apostles” (Acts 1:26). His appointment restored Jesus’ apostles to their original number of 12.

It does not take a mathematical wizard to see that the number 12 played an important role. Why? Why replace Judas anyway? The group of Jesus’ followers gathered in the upper room had nominated both Matthias and a certain Joseph Barsabas (Acts 1:23). Why not add both Matthias and Joseph? What is the significance of the number 12?

Various numbers in ancient times had symbolic significance. The number “7” was particularly favored, but so also was the number “12.” This number reaches far back in the Book of Genesis to the 12 sons of Jacob, named Israel. These 12 sons became the 12 tribes of Israel, the totality of the people of Israel, the kingdom of the Jews. Any Jew of the day would recognize the political significance of the number 12.

Perhaps the number 12 also represented the 12 tribes of the new “Israel.” Israel would now live on in the church! Matthias’s appointment as a “witness” of Jesus’ resurrection (1:22) again brought the apostles’ number to completion. They were now prepared for the future, whatever lay ahead.

During the Last Supper, Jesus had granted a kingdom to the disciples, telling them that they would “sit on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel” (Luke 22:29, 30). They had not forgotten. Before Jesus ascended into heaven, the apostles asked Him when He would “restore the kingdom to Israel” (Acts 1:6). By bringing their number back to 12, they prepared themselves for God to fulfill His promises to Israel. With the Day of Pentecost approaching, they did not have long to wait.

The Upper Room Prayer Meeting

<sup>12</sup>Then they returned to Jerusalem from the mount called Olivet, which is near Jerusalem, a Sabbath day’s journey.<sup>13</sup> And when they had entered, they went up into the upper room where they were staying: Peter, James, John, and Andrew; Philip and Thomas; Bartholomew and Matthew; James the son of Alphaeus and Simon the Zealot; and Judas the son of James.<sup>14</sup> These all continued with one accord in prayer and supplication,<sup>a</sup> with the women and Mary the mother of Jesus, and with His brothers.

<sup>18</sup>(Now this man purchased a field with the wages of iniquity; and falling headlong, he burst open in the middle and all his entrails gushed out.<sup>19</sup> And it became known to all those dwelling in Jerusalem; so that field is called in their own language, Akel Dama, that is, Field of Blood.)

The Ascension

As does the Gospel of John, Luke emphasizes Jesus’ departure to the Father. This was the last the disciples were to see of their Master—something they had long dreaded (John 14:5). Luke reports a period of approximately 40 days (Acts 1:3) after Jesus’ resurrection during which He appeared alive to His disciples. The climax of these appearances came on the Mount of Olives (or Olivet), a ridge east of Jerusalem that is slightly higher than the parallel ridge on which Jerusalem itself lies. Here, only “a Sabbath day’s journey” (Acts 1:12; about  $\frac{2}{3}$  mile) from the city, Jesus ascended into heaven. Now the disciples were alone until He returned in the Person of “another Helper” (John 14:16) at Pentecost.

The Day of Pentecost

The Day of Pentecost came 50 days after the offering of the firstfruits (Lev.23:10, 15, 16) at the Passover observances. It was a celebration of the wheat harvest, with pilgrims gathering from various nations of the Roman world. The crowd included Jews living outside of Palestine, as well as proselytes (Gentiles who had accepted the Jewish faith). Luke lists their homelands beginning in the East (Acts 2:9), then in Asia Minor (2:9, 10), and on to other Mediterranean areas—North Africa, Rome, and Crete (2:11).

Less than 2 months had passed since Jesus had been executed. In a sermon to the crowd on this occasion, Peter solemnly charged the Jewish leaders with crucifying the “Man attested by God,” their Messiah. Yet while they were responsible, Jesus’ death was no accident: He was “delivered by the determined purpose and foreknowledge of God” (Acts 2:22, 23).

Coming of the Holy Spirit

whole house where they were sitting. <sup>3</sup>Then there appeared to them divided tongues, as of fire, and one sat upon each of them. <sup>4</sup>And they were all filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance.

The Crowd’s Response

<sup>5</sup>And there were dwelling in Jerusalem Jews, devout men, from every nation under heaven. <sup>6</sup>And when this sound occurred, the multitude came together, and were confused, because everyone heard them speak in his own language. <sup>7</sup>Then they were all amazed and marveled, saying to one another, “Look, are not all these who speak Galileans?” <sup>8</sup>And how is it that we hear, each in our own language in which we were born? <sup>9</sup>Parthians and Medes and Elamites, those dwelling in Mesopotamia, Judea and Cappadocia, Pontus and Asia, <sup>10</sup>Phrygia and Pamphylia, Egypt and the parts of Libya adjoining Cyrene, visitors from Rome, both Jews and proselytes, <sup>11</sup>Cretans and Arabs—we hear them speaking in our own tongues the wonderful works of God.” <sup>12</sup>So they were all amazed and perplexed, saying to one another, “Whatever could this mean?”

Peter’s Sermon

<sup>14</sup>But Peter, standing up with the eleven, raised his voice and said to them, “Men of Judea and all who dwell in Jerusalem, let this be known to you, and heed my words. <sup>15</sup>For these are not drunk, as you suppose, since it is only the third hour of the day. <sup>16</sup>But this is what was spoken by the prophet Joel:

says God,
That I will pour out of My Spirit on all flesh;
Your sons and your daughters shall prophesy,
Your young men shall see visions,
Your old men shall dream dreams.

Geography & Environment

Many nations of the Roman world were represented among the gathering of pilgrims in Jerusalem for the Day of Pentecost. The list of peoples (Acts 2:8–11) includes the Parthians to the east of Jerusalem and Rome to the west. North it includes Asia Minor (modern Turkey), and south the coast of Africa (Libya). The largest community of Jews outside Judea was in Egypt.

THE SPIRIT OF PROPHECY (ACTS 2:17)

Old Testament passages associate the Spirit with creation, with new life, and with empowerment for various divine missions, most often for the mission of a prophet. By Jesus' day, Jewish interpreters most frequently emphasized prophetic empowerment: the Spirit empowered God's servants to hear Him and to speak His message the way He desired.

Many Jewish people believed that God had withdrawn the Spirit after the death of the prophets Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi. The general assumption was that prophecy continued occasionally on a lower level, but the full restoration of the Spirit was yet to come. Prophets like Isaiah and Ezekiel had promised the final restoration of the Spirit (Is. 44:3; Ezek. 39:29). Nevertheless, the Spirit was not expected until the end time, in the period in which the Messiah would come, and most Jewish people did not believe that the Messiah had come yet.

Peter, recognizing that the Messiah had come in Jesus and that the Spirit who empowered the prophets was now fully active among God's people, chose an Old Testament text about the outpouring of the Spirit of prophecy (Joel 2:28–32). To make it clear that Joel's prophecy refers to the end time, Peter added explanatory words to his quote of Joel: "in the last days" (Acts 2:17).

Further, Peter was teaching that the end time had already begun because the Messiah had already come and taken His heavenly throne (2:34–36). Thus some "signs in the earth" (2:19) had been fulfilled by Jesus (2:22). This in turn meant that the time of salvation of which Joel spoke had also arrived. Thus Peter viewed the Spirit of prophecy as an end-time gift. God's servants should consider themselves to be empowered by the same Spirit who empowered Isaiah, Jeremiah, Huldah, Samuel, Deborah, and others.

So thoroughly did Peter wish to emphasize this point that he took a liberty used sometimes by Jewish interpreters in his day. He added some more explanatory words to the text he was quoting: "And they shall prophesy" (2:18).

*I will pour out My Spirit in those days;
And they shall prophesy.*

19 *I will show wonders in heaven above
And signs in the earth beneath:*

Blood and fire and vapor of smoke.

20 *The sun shall be turned into darkness,
And the moon into blood,
Before the coming of the great and awesome day of the LORD.*

21 *And it shall come to pass
That whoever calls on the name of the LORD
Shall be saved.’<sup>a</sup>*

<sup>22</sup>“Men of Israel, hear these words: Jesus of Nazareth, a Man attested by God to you by miracles, wonders, and signs which God did through Him in your midst, as you yourselves also know—<sup>23</sup>Him, being delivered by the determined purpose and foreknowledge of God, you have taken<sup>a</sup> by lawless hands, have crucified, and put to death; <sup>24</sup>whom God raised up, having loosed the pains of death, because it was not possible that He should be held by it. <sup>25</sup>For David says concerning Him:

*‘I foresaw the LORD always before my face,
For He is at my right hand, that I may not be shaken.*

26 Therefore my heart rejoiced, and my tongue was glad;

*Moreover my flesh also will rest in hope.
27 For You will not leave my soul in Hades, Nor will You allow Your Holy One to see corruption.*

28 *You have made known to me the ways of life;
You will make me full of joy in Your presence.’<sup>a</sup>*

<sup>29</sup>“Men and brethren, let me speak freely to you of the patriarch David, that he is both dead and buried, and his tomb is with us to this day. <sup>30</sup>Therefore, being a prophet, and knowing that God had sworn with an oath to him that of the fruit of his body, according to the flesh, He would raise up the Christ to sit on his throne,<sup>a</sup> <sup>31</sup>he, foreseeing this, spoke concerning the resurrection of the Christ, that His soul was not left in Hades, nor did His flesh see corruption. <sup>32</sup>This Jesus God has raised up, of which we are all witnesses. <sup>33</sup>Therefore being exalted to the right hand of God, and having received from the Father the promise of the Holy Spirit, He poured out this which you now see and hear.

<sup>34</sup>“For David did not ascend into the heavens, but he says himself:

2:21 <sup>a</sup>Joel 2:28–32 2:23 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits have taken.

2:28 <sup>a</sup>Psalms 16:8–11 2:30 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits according to the flesh, He would raise up the Christ and completes the verse with He would seat one on his throne.

‘The LORD said to my Lord,
“Sit at My right hand,
35 Till I make Your enemies Your footstool.”’<sup>a</sup>

<sup>36</sup>“Therefore let all the house of Israel know assuredly that God has made this Jesus, whom you crucified, both Lord and Christ.”

<sup>37</sup>Now when they heard this, they were cut to the heart, and said to Peter and the rest of the apostles, “Men and brethren, what shall we do?”

<sup>38</sup>Then Peter said to them, “Repent, and let every one of you be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins; and you shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit. <sup>39</sup>For the promise is to you and to your children, and to all who are afar off, as many as the Lord our God will call.”

A Vital Church Grows

<sup>40</sup>And with many other words he testified and exhorted them, saying, “Be saved from this perverse generation.” <sup>41</sup>Then those who gladly<sup>a</sup> received his word were baptized; and that day about three thousand souls were added to them. <sup>42</sup>And they continued steadfastly in the apostles’ doctrine and fellowship, in the breaking of bread, and in prayers. <sup>43</sup>Then fear came upon every soul, and many wonders and signs were done through the apostles. <sup>44</sup>Now all who believed were together, and had all things in common, <sup>45</sup>and sold their possessions and goods, and divided them among all, as anyone had need.

<sup>46</sup>So continuing daily with one accord in the temple, and breaking bread from house to house, they ate their food with gladness and simplicity of heart, <sup>47</sup>praising God and having favor with all the people. #### The Early Christians in Jerusalem

The healing of the lame man (Acts 3:1—4:31) and the miraculous deliverance of Peter and John from prison (5:12—42) are examples of the witness of the early Christians in Jerusalem. This witness brought them into conflict with the Jewish authorities, for the “notable miracle” performed by the disciples (4:16) was done publicly and therefore placed the religious leaders in an embarrassing position. The people had accepted the explanation given by the disciples—God had healed the lame man.

While the early Christians lacked temporal resources, they were not short on spiritual power. Some people supposed that these followers of Jesus were just another sect of Judaism, or were trying to start a new mystery religion around Jesus of Nazareth. But miracles were convincing others that the disciples were truly serving God, so the temple officials moved to suppress the people’s interest in the new religion. One Pharisee, the highly respected Gamaliel, suggested that this movement might fail, as had that led in A.D. 6 or 7 by the insurrectionist Judas the Galilean (Acts 5:37—39).

The Nations of Pentecost

In the 1st century A.D., Jewish communities were located primarily in the eastern part of the Roman Empire, where Greek was the common language, but also existed as far west as Italy and as far east as Babylonia. In addition to people from the nations shown here, those present on the Day of Pentecost (Acts 2:9—11) included visitors from Mesopotamia and even farther east, from Parthia, Media, and Elam (present-day Iran).

BEGGING AT THE GATE OF THE TEMPLE (ACTS 3:2)

The Jerusalem temple was a unique type of religious building. Unlike churches and synagogues, the temple was not meant to seat large numbers of people for prayer and worship. It was understood quite literally as the “house of Yahweh.”

As the dwelling place of God, the temple was a holy place. The closer a person moved to the Most Holy Place in the middle of the temple itself, the more restricted was the access. Barriers served to keep out those who might profane the sacred space. The temple stood as an isolated building in the midst of a series of courtyards enclosed by walls. Gates regulated access to the courtyards.

The temple was built for God to inhabit, not for humans. The only humans meant to live regularly in the temple precincts were priests, whose job was to “serve” the Lord, overseeing the sacrifices and maintaining the temple property. Others were merely guests, visitors who might linger in the outer courts and/or offer sacrifices for the priests to place on the altar. Sacrifices were no doubt often offered in hopes of receiving some favor from God in return.

The architecture and social dynamics of the temple explain the presence of a lame beggar at the gate (Acts 3:2). Whereas the man’s lameness itself would not necessarily have hindered him, lameness was frowned upon within the temple courtyards. Lame priests were prohibited from offering sacrifices in the temple (Lev. 21:18), and lame animals could not serve as sacrifices (Deut. 15:21). Thus the lame beggar remained outside the temple walls.

For his purpose, however, a temple gate was the perfect place to be. There he was assured of a constant traffic flow of those most able to give to him. Furthermore, those visiting the courtyard to seek the beneficence of God perhaps would recognize as well God’s desire for them to exercise beneficence toward others. If the secret to success in business is location, location, location, the lame man was in the prime spot for his “work.” Yet when Peter and John came by (Acts 3:6), he got more than he ever bargained for!

something from them. <sup>6</sup>Then Peter said, “Silver and gold I do not have, but what I do have I give you: In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, rise up and walk.” <sup>7</sup>And he took him by the right hand and lifted him up, and immediately his feet and ankle bones received strength. <sup>8</sup>So he, leaping up, stood and walked and entered the temple with them—walking, leaping, and praising God. <sup>9</sup>And all the people saw him walking and praising God. <sup>10</sup>Then they knew that it was he who sat begging alms at the Beautiful Gate of the temple; and they were filled with wonder and amazement at what had happened to him.

Preaching in Solomon’s Portico

<sup>11</sup>Now as the lame man who was healed held on to Peter and John, all the people ran together to them in the porch which is called Solomon’s, greatly amazed. <sup>12</sup>So when Peter saw it, he responded to the people: “Men of Israel, why do you marvel at this? Or why look so intently at us, as though by our own power or godliness we had made this man walk? <sup>13</sup>The God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, the God of our fathers, glorified His Servant Jesus, whom you delivered up and denied in the presence of Pilate, when he was determined to let Him go. <sup>14</sup>But you denied the Holy One and the Just, and asked for a murderer to be granted to you, <sup>15</sup>and killed the Prince of life, whom God raised from the dead, of which we are witnesses. <sup>16</sup>And His name, through faith in His name, has made this man strong, whom you see and know. Yes, the faith which comes through Him has given him this perfect soundness in the presence of you all.

<sup>17</sup>“Yet now, brethren, I know that you did it in ignorance, as did also your rulers. <sup>18</sup>But those things which God foretold by the mouth of all His prophets, that the Christ would suffer, He has thus fulfilled. <sup>19</sup>Repent therefore and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, so that times of refreshing may come from the presence of the Lord, <sup>20</sup>and that He may send Jesus Christ, who was preached to you before,<sup>a</sup> <sup>21</sup>whom heaven must receive until the times of restoration of all things, which God has spoken by the mouth of all His holy prophets since the world began. <sup>22</sup>For Moses truly said to the fathers, ‘The LORD your God will raise up for you a Prophet like me from your brethren. Him you shall hear in all things, whatever He says to you.’ <sup>23</sup>And it shall be that every soul who will not hear that Prophet shall be utterly destroyed from among the people.<sup>a</sup> <sup>24</sup>Yes, and all the prophets, from Samuel and those who follow, as many as have

Peter and John Arrested

4 <sup>1</sup>Now as they spoke to the people, the priests, the captain of the temple, and the Sadducees came upon them, <sup>2</sup>being greatly disturbed that they taught the people and preached in Jesus the resurrection from the dead. <sup>3</sup>And they laid hands on them, and put them in custody until the next day, for it was already evening. <sup>4</sup>However, many of those who heard the word believed; and the number of the men came to be about five thousand.

Addressing the Sanhedrin

<sup>5</sup>And it came to pass, on the next day, that their rulers, elders, and scribes, <sup>6</sup>as well as Annas the high priest, Caiaphas, John, and Alexander, and as many as were of the family of the high priest, were gathered together at Jerusalem. <sup>7</sup>And when they had set them in the midst, they asked, “By what power or by what name have you done this?”

<sup>8</sup>Then Peter, filled with the Holy Spirit, said to them, “Rulers of the people and elders of Israel: <sup>9</sup>If we this day are judged for a good deed done to a helpless man, by what means he has been made well, <sup>10</sup>let it be known to you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom you crucified, whom God raised from the dead, by Him this man stands here before you whole. <sup>11</sup>This is the ‘stone which was rejected by you builders, which has become the chief cornerstone.’<sup>a</sup> <sup>12</sup>Nor is there salvation in any other, for there is no other name under heaven given among men by which we must be saved.”

The Name of Jesus Forbidden

<sup>13</sup>Now when they saw the boldness of Peter and John, and perceived that they were uneducated and untrained men, they marveled. And they realized that they had been with Jesus. <sup>14</sup>And seeing the man who had been healed standing with them, they could say nothing against it. <sup>15</sup>But when they had commanded them to go aside out of the council, they conferred among themselves, <sup>16</sup>saying, “What shall we do to these men? For, indeed, that a notable miracle has been done through them is evident to all who dwell in Jerusalem, and we cannot deny it. <sup>17</sup>But so that it spreads no further among the people, let us severely threaten them, that from now on they speak to no man in this name.”

<sup>18</sup>So they called them and commanded them not to speak at all nor teach in the name of Jesus. <sup>19</sup>But Peter and John answered and said to them, “Whether it is right in the sight of God to listen to you more than to God, you judge. <sup>20</sup>For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard.” <sup>21</sup>So when they had further threatened them, they let them go, finding no way of punishing them, because of the people, since they all glorified God for what had been done. <sup>22</sup>For the man was over forty years old on whom this miracle of healing had been performed.

Prayer for Boldness

<sup>23</sup>And being let go, they went to their own companions and reported all that the chief priests and elders had said to them. <sup>24</sup>So when they heard that, they raised their voice to God with one accord and said: “Lord, You are God, who made heaven and earth and the sea, and all that is in them, <sup>25</sup>who by the mouth of Your servant David<sup>a</sup> have said:

*‘Why did the nations rage,
And the people plot vain things?’*

<sup>26</sup> *The kings of the earth took their stand,
And the rulers were gathered together
Against the LORD and against His Christ.’<sup>a</sup>*

<sup>27</sup>“For truly against Your holy Servant Jesus, whom You anointed, both Herod and Pontius Pilate, with the Gentiles and the people of Israel, were gathered together <sup>28</sup>to do whatever Your hand and Your purpose determined before to be done. <sup>29</sup>Now, Lord, look on their threats, and grant to Your servants that with all boldness they may speak Your word, <sup>30</sup>by stretching out Your hand to heal, and that signs and wonders may be done through the name of Your holy Servant Jesus.”

<sup>31</sup>And when they had prayed, the place where they were assembled together was shaken; and they were all filled with the Holy Spirit, and they spoke the word of God with boldness.

Sharing in All Things

<sup>32</sup>Now the multitude of those who believed were of one heart and one soul; neither did anyone say that any of the things he possessed was his own, but they had all things in common. <sup>33</sup>And with great power the apostles gave witness to the resurrection of the Lord Jesus. And

FOOD FOR THE HELLENIST WIDOWS (ACTS 6:1)

Tensions developed in the Jerusalem church over alleged discrimination on the basis of language and culture. Scholars differ in their descriptions of the two opposing groups: the “Hebrews” and the “Hellenists.” The Hebrews are often described as Aramaic-speaking Jews native to Palestine. The Hellenists were possibly Greek-speaking Jews from outside of Palestine. Most Jews in Jerusalem, however, would have spoken Greek as at least one language, so more likely the Hellenists were Diaspora (foreign) Jews, or their children, who had settled in Jerusalem. Some of these foreign Jews probably had come from places such as Cyrene, Alexandria, Cilicia, or Asia (Acts 6:9).

Widows were a disadvantaged segment of ancient society, invariably poor and easily oppressed. Jewish people traditionally cared for the widows and other poor through the charity collections of local synagogues. The Hellenist synagogues, however, probably had more widows to care for than other synagogues, hence were stretched to the limit in their capacity to help. Since it was considered pious to spend one’s last days in Jerusalem, many foreign Jewish men moved to Jerusalem when they retired, eventually leaving an inordinate number of foreign Jewish widows needing support.

This broader societal problem spilled over into the church: how would they care for the foreign Jewish widows among them? And how could they be sure to keep this minority group within the church from feeling second-class? Most people in antiquity simply told offended minorities to be quiet, but the apostles had a different solution: they selected members of the Hellenist minority to run the food distribution program. All seven of those selected have Greek names (6:5), suggesting that all or most were foreign Jews. These seven Hellenists were commissioned for the office of charity distributor, a highly respected position in Jerusalem (6:6).

great grace was upon them all. <sup>34</sup>Nor was there anyone among them who lacked; for all who were possessors of lands or houses sold them, and brought the proceeds of the things that were sold, <sup>35</sup>and laid them at the apostles’ feet; and they distributed to each as anyone had need.

<sup>36</sup>And Joses,<sup>a</sup> who was also named Barnabas by the apostles (which is translated Son of Encouragement), a Levite of the country of Cyprus, <sup>37</sup>having land, sold it, and brought the money and laid it at the apostles’ feet.

Lying to the Holy Spirit

5 <sup>1</sup>But a certain man named Ananias, with Sapphira his wife, sold a possession. <sup>2</sup>And he kept back part of the proceeds, his wife also being aware of it, and brought a certain part and laid it at the apostles’ feet. <sup>3</sup>But Peter said, “Ananias, why has Satan filled your heart to lie to the Holy Spirit and keep back part of the price of the land for yourself? <sup>4</sup>While it remained, was it not your own? And after it was sold, was it not in your own control? Why have you conceived this thing in your heart? You have not lied to men but to God.”

<sup>5</sup>Then Ananias, hearing these words, fell down and breathed his last. So great fear came upon all those who heard these things. <sup>6</sup>And the young men arose and wrapped him up, carried him out, and buried him.

<sup>7</sup>Now it was about three hours later when his wife came in, not knowing what had happened. <sup>8</sup>And Peter answered her, “Tell me whether you sold the land for so much?”

She said, “Yes, for so much.”

<sup>9</sup>Then Peter said to her, “How is it that you have agreed together to test the Spirit of the Lord? Look, the feet of those who have buried your husband are at the door, and they will carry you out.” <sup>10</sup>Then immediately she fell down at his feet and breathed her last. And the young men came in and found her dead, and carrying her out, buried her by her husband. <sup>11</sup>So great fear came upon all the church and upon all who heard these things.

Continuing Power in the Church

<sup>12</sup>And through the hands of the apostles many signs and wonders were done among the people. And they were all with one accord in Solomon’s Porch. <sup>13</sup>Yet none of the rest dared join them, but the people esteemed them highly. <sup>14</sup>And believers were increasingly added to the Lord, multitudes of both men and women, <sup>15</sup>so that they brought the sick out into the streets and laid them on beds and couches, that at least the shadow of Peter passing by might fall on some of them. <sup>16</sup>Also a multitude gathered from the surrounding cities to Jerusalem, bringing sick people and those who were tormented by unclean spirits, and they were all healed.

Imprisoned Apostles Freed

<sup>17</sup>Then the high priest rose up, and all those who were with him (which is the sect of the Sadducees), and they were filled with indignation, <sup>18</sup>and laid their hands on the apostles and put them in the common prison. <sup>19</sup>But at night an angel of the Lord opened the prison doors and brought them out, and said, <sup>20</sup>“Go, stand in the temple and speak to the people all the words of this life.”

<sup>21</sup>And when they heard that, they entered the temple early in the morning and taught. But the high priest and those with him came and called the council together, with all the elders of the children of Israel, and sent to the prison to have them brought.

Apostles on Trial Again

<sup>22</sup>But when the officers came and did not find them in the prison, they returned and reported, <sup>23</sup>saying, “Indeed we found the prison shut securely, and the guards standing outside<sup>a</sup> before the doors; but when we opened them, we found no one inside!” <sup>24</sup>Now when the high priest,<sup>a</sup> the captain of the temple, and the chief priests heard these things, they wondered what the outcome would be. <sup>25</sup>So one came and told them, saying,<sup>a</sup> “Look, the men whom you put in prison are standing in the temple and teaching the people!”

<sup>26</sup>Then the captain went with the officers and brought them without violence, for they feared the people, lest they should be stoned. <sup>27</sup>And when they had brought them, they set them before the council. And the high priest asked them, <sup>28</sup>saying, “Did we not strictly command you not to teach in this name? And look, you have filled Jerusalem with your doctrine, and intend to bring this Man’s blood on us!”

<sup>29</sup>But Peter and the other apostles answered and said: “We ought to obey God rather than men. <sup>30</sup>The God of our fathers raised up Jesus whom you murdered by hanging on a tree. <sup>31</sup>Him God has exalted to His right hand to be Prince and Savior, to give repentance to Israel and forgiveness of sins. <sup>32</sup>And we are His witnesses to these things, and so also is the Holy Spirit whom God has given to those who obey Him.”

Gamaliel’s Advice

<sup>33</sup>When they heard this, they were furious and plotted to kill them. <sup>34</sup>Then one in the council stood up, a Pharisee named Gamaliel, a teacher of the law held in respect by all the people, and commanded them to put the apostles outside for a little while. <sup>35</sup>And he said to them: “Men of Israel, take heed to yourselves what you intend to do regarding these men. <sup>36</sup>For some time ago Theudas rose up, claiming to be somebody. A number of men, about four hundred, joined him. He was slain, and all who obeyed him were scattered and came to nothing. <sup>37</sup>After this man, Judas of Galilee rose up in the days of the census, and drew away many people after him. He also perished, and all who obeyed him were dispersed. <sup>38</sup>And now I say to you, keep away from these men and let them alone; for if this plan or this work is of men, it will come to nothing; <sup>39</sup>but if it is of God, you cannot overthrow it—lest you even be found to fight against God.”

<sup>40</sup>And they agreed with him, and when they had called for the apostles and beaten them, they commanded that they should not speak in the name of Jesus, and let them go. <sup>41</sup>So they departed from the presence of the council, rejoicing that they were counted worthy to suffer shame for His<sup>a</sup> name. <sup>42</sup>And daily in the temple, and in every house, they did not cease teaching and preaching Jesus as the Christ.

TRANSITION

Stephen, the First Martyr

The church grew so rapidly that the disciples had to appoint men to distribute goods. With the choice of seven deacons from among the Greek-speaking Jews (Acts 6:1–7), the gospel began to reach beyond Palestinian Judaism. One of the deacons, Stephen, directly challenged the central role of the temple and the law, bringing him into conflict with the Synagogue of the Freedmen (6:9–14).

The synagogue was a local assembly of Jews who met for prayer and scripture exposition. In cities throughout the Roman world, synagogues became the focal point of Jewish life. The Synagogue of the Freedmen included Greek-speaking (Hellenist) Jews whose ancestors had been slaves of the Romans, later set free. Thus Stephen, a Hellenist himself, was accused of blasphemy by those of his own cultural group.

Stephen was ultimately brought before the Sanhedrin (“the council,” 6:12), which consisted of religious leaders from the various Jewish sects in Jerusalem. There he spoke on a theme that was not well received by his audience: Israel’s rejection of God’s leaders had now climaxed in the Jewish authorities’ rejection of Jesus. Further, he used the history of Israel to show that God does not dwell in the temple (7:44–50). Stephen’s execution sometime around A.D. 32 marked the beginning of “a great persecution” against the early Christians (7:57–8:3). A young Pharisee named Saul, who served as custodian for Stephen’s executioners (7:58), would lead that persecution.

Jews of Cyrene Visit Jerusalem (Acts 6:9)

Cyrene was a major city in North Africa founded by the Greeks in the 7th century B.C. It became a flourishing city, blessed with a fertile surrounding countryside. Specific individuals from Cyrene appear in Scripture. One Cyrenian named Simon was forced by the Romans to carry the cross of Jesus (Luke 23:26). Another, Lucius, was a principal teacher of the Christians at the church in Antioch (Acts 13:1).

Like Crete, Cyrene had a large Jewish population that was settled there by the Ptolemaic kings of Egypt, beginning with Ptolemy I in the 4th century B.C. This population was apparently still substantial during the New Testament period, and traveled from Cyrene to Jerusalem. Cyrenians are named among the Jews who were in Jerusalem for the Day of Pentecost (Acts 2:1, 5, 10). They are also among the Jews who attended the Synagogue of the Freedmen in Jerusalem (Acts 6:9).

What exactly the Synagogue of the Freedmen was is not certain. The name “Freedmen” indicates the worshipers were either Jews that had been freed from slavery, or were Jews descended from slaves. The groups named in Acts 6:9 (Cyrenians, Alexandrians, Cilicians, Asians) could have attended one synagogue, or each group could have had their own synagogue in Jerusalem.

Cities with large Jewish populations often had several synagogues, and certainly Jerusalem did. A Synagogue of the Alexandrians in Jerusalem is known to have belonged to a Rabbi Zadok around A.D. 100. An inscription found just south of Jerusalem reports that someone named Theodotus built a synagogue complete with a guesthouse for those “coming from abroad.” We do not know that Jews of Cyrene actually stayed in this guesthouse, but Cyrenians were among those who came “from abroad” to visit Jerusalem, and may have been populous enough to have their own synagogue.

is not desirable that we should leave the word of God and serve tables. <sup>3</sup>Therefore, brethren, seek out from among you seven men of good reputation, full of the Holy Spirit and wisdom, whom we may appoint over this business; <sup>4</sup>but we will give ourselves continually to prayer and to the ministry of the word.”

<sup>5</sup>And the saying pleased the whole multitude. And they chose Stephen, a man full of faith and the Holy Spirit, and Philip, Prochorus, Nicanor, Timon, Parmenas, and Nicolas, a proselyte from Antioch, <sup>6</sup>whom they set before the apostles; and when they had prayed, they laid hands on them.

<sup>7</sup>Then the word of God spread, and the number of the disciples multiplied greatly in Jerusalem, and a great many of the priests were obedient to the faith.

Stephen Accused of Blasphemy

<sup>8</sup>And Stephen, full of faith<sup>a</sup> and power, did great wonders and signs among the people. <sup>9</sup>Then there arose some from what is called the Synagogue of the Freedmen (Cyrenians, Alexandrians, and those from Cilicia and Asia), disputing with Stephen. <sup>10</sup>And they were not able to resist the wisdom and the Spirit by which he spoke. <sup>11</sup>Then they secretly induced men to say, “We have heard him speak blasphemous words against Moses and God.” <sup>12</sup>And they stirred up the people, the elders, and the scribes; and they came upon him, seized him, and brought him to the council. <sup>13</sup>They also set up false witnesses who said, “This man does not cease to speak blasphemous<sup>a</sup> words against this holy place and the law; <sup>14</sup>for we have heard him say that this Jesus of Nazareth will destroy this place and change the customs which Moses delivered to us.” <sup>15</sup>And all who sat in the council, looking steadfastly at him, saw his face as the face of an angel.

Stephen's Address: The Call of Abraham

7 <sup>1</sup>Then the high priest said, “Are these things so?”

<sup>2</sup>And he said, “Brethren and fathers, listen: The God of glory appeared to our father Abraham when he was in Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Haran, <sup>3</sup>and said to him, ‘Get out of your country and from your relatives, and come to a land that I will show you.’ <sup>4</sup>Then he came out of the land of the Chaldeans and dwelt in Haran. And from there, when his father was dead, He moved him to this land in which you now dwell. <sup>5</sup>And God gave him no inheritance in it, not even enough to set his foot on. But even when Abraham had no child, He promised to give it to him for a possession, and to his descendants after him. <sup>6</sup>But God spoke in this way: that his descendants would dwell in a foreign land, and that they would bring them into bondage and oppress them four hundred years. <sup>7</sup>‘And the nation to whom they will be in bondage I will judge,’ <sup>8</sup>’and after that they shall come out and serve Me in this place.’ <sup>8</sup>Then He gave him the

Beliefs & Ideas

Peter and the apostles boldly proclaimed the principle that even supreme human authorities, like the high priest and the council, must yield to the law of God (Acts 5:27–29). A similar principle provides the theme of the Greek tragedy Antigone. There Antigone says that no human being can overrule the unwritten, unchangeable laws of heaven.

covenant of circumcision; and so Abraham begot Isaac and circumcised him on the eighth day; and Isaac begot Jacob, and Jacob begot the twelve patriarchs.

The Patriarchs in Egypt

<sup>9</sup>“And the patriarchs, becoming envious, sold Joseph into Egypt. But God was with him <sup>10</sup>and delivered him out of all his troubles, and gave him favor and wisdom in the presence of Pharaoh, king of Egypt; and he made him governor over Egypt and all his house. <sup>11</sup>Now a famine and great trouble came over all the land of Egypt and Canaan, and our fathers found no sustenance. <sup>12</sup>But when Jacob heard that there was grain in Egypt, he sent out our fathers first. <sup>13</sup>And the second time Joseph was made known to his brothers, and Joseph’s family became known to the Pharaoh. <sup>14</sup>Then Joseph sent and called his father Jacob and all his relatives to him, seventy-five<sup>a</sup> people. <sup>15</sup>So Jacob went down to Egypt; and he died, he and our fathers. <sup>16</sup>And they were carried back to Shechem and laid in the tomb that Abraham bought for a sum of money from the sons of Hamor, the father of Shechem.

God Delivers Israel by Moses

<sup>17</sup>“But when the time of the promise drew near which God had sworn to Abraham, the people grew and multiplied in Egypt <sup>18</sup>till another king arose who did not know Joseph. <sup>19</sup>This man dealt treacherously with our people, and oppressed our forefathers, making them expose their babies, so that they might not live. <sup>20</sup>At this time Moses was born, and was well pleasing to God; and he was brought up in his father’s house for three months. <sup>21</sup>But when he was set out, Pharaoh’s daughter took him away and brought him up as her own son. <sup>22</sup>And Moses was learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and was mighty in words and deeds.

<sup>23</sup>“Now when he was forty years old, it came into his heart to visit his brethren, the children of Israel. <sup>24</sup>And seeing one of them suffer wrong, he defended and avenged him who was oppressed, and struck down the Egyptian. <sup>25</sup>For he supposed that his brethren would have understood that God would deliver them by his hand, but they did not understand. <sup>26</sup>And the next day he appeared to two of them as they were fighting, and tried to reconcile them, saying, ‘Men, you are brethren; why do you wrong one another?’ <sup>27</sup>But he who did his neighbor wrong pushed him away, saying, ‘Who made you a ruler and a judge over us?’ <sup>28</sup>Do you want to kill me as you did the Egyptian yesterday?’ <sup>a</sup> <sup>29</sup>Then, at this saying, Moses fled and became a dweller in the land of Midian, where he had two sons.

<sup>30</sup>“And when forty years had passed, an Angel of the Lord<sup>a</sup> appeared to him in a flame of fire in a bush, in the wilderness of Mount Sinai. <sup>31</sup>When Moses saw it, he marveled at the sight; and as he drew near to observe, the voice of the Lord came to him, <sup>32</sup>saying, ‘I am the God of your fathers—the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.’ <sup>a</sup> And Moses trembled and dared not look. <sup>33</sup>‘Then the LORD said to him, “Take your sandals off your feet, for the place where you stand is holy ground. <sup>34</sup>I have surely seen the oppression of My people who are in Egypt; I have heard their groaning and have come down to deliver them. And now come, I will send you to Egypt.”’ <sup>a</sup>

<sup>35</sup>“This Moses whom they rejected, saying, ‘Who made you a ruler and a judge?’ <sup>a</sup> is the one God sent to be a ruler and a deliverer by the hand of the Angel who appeared to him in the bush. <sup>36</sup>He brought them out, after he had shown wonders and signs in the land of Egypt, and in the Red Sea, and in the wilderness forty years.

Israel Rebels Against God

<sup>37</sup>“This is that Moses who said to the children of Israel,<sup>a</sup> ‘The LORD your God will raise up for you a Prophet like me from your brethren. Him you shall hear.’ <sup>b</sup>

<sup>38</sup>“This is he who was in the congregation in the wilderness with the Angel who spoke to him on Mount Sinai, and with our fathers, the one who received the living oracles to give to us, <sup>39</sup>whom our fathers would not obey, but rejected. And in their hearts they turned back to Egypt, <sup>40</sup>saying to Aaron, ‘Make us gods to go before us; as for this Moses who brought us out of the land of Egypt, we do not know what has become of him.’ <sup>a</sup> <sup>41</sup>And they made a calf in those days, offered sacrifices to the idol, and rejoiced in the works of their own hands. <sup>42</sup>Then God turned

Israel Resists the Holy Spirit

<sup>51</sup>"You stiff-necked and uncircumcised in heart and ears! You always resist the Holy Spirit; as your fathers did, so do you. <sup>52</sup>Which of the prophets did your fathers not persecute? And they killed those who foretold the coming of the Just One, of whom you now have become the betrayers and murderers, <sup>53</sup>who have received the law by the direction of angels and have not kept it."

Stephen the Martyr

<sup>54</sup>When they heard these things they were cut to the heart, and they gnashed at him with their teeth. <sup>55</sup>But he, being full of the Holy Spirit, gazed into heaven and saw the glory of God, and Jesus standing at the right hand of God, <sup>56</sup>and said, "Look! I see the heavens opened and the Son of Man standing at the right hand of God!"

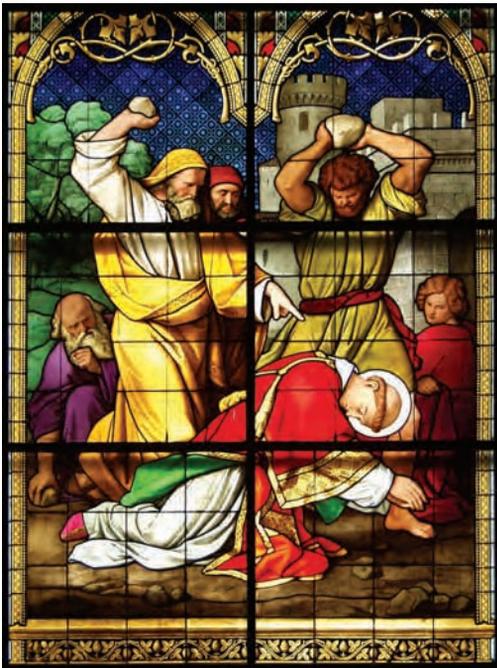

<sup>57</sup>Then they cried out with a loud voice, stopped their ears, and ran at him with one accord; <sup>58</sup>and they cast him out of the city and stoned him. And the witnesses laid down their clothes at the feet of a young man named Saul. <sup>59</sup>And they stoned Stephen as he was calling on God and saying, "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit." <sup>60</sup>Then he knelt down and cried out with a loud voice, "Lord, do not charge them with this sin." And when he had said this, he fell asleep.

At that time a great persecution arose against the church which was at Jerusalem; and they were all scattered throughout the regions of Judea and Samaria, except the apostles. <sup>2</sup>And devout men carried Stephen to his burial, and made great lamentation over him.

THE GOSPEL TO THE GENTILES

Following Jesus' ascension in rapid succession was Pentecost and the birth of the church, as distinct from a mere Jewish sect. Thousands of Jews became believers. This new church met in the temple courts and the Jewish synagogues, as well as in private homes of believers (Acts 5:42). Yet the Good News would not be contained in Jerusalem; soon it was taken to the Samaritans and to the "God-fearers" in Caesarea and Antioch (10:2; 11:19, 20).

God Himself made it clear that Gentiles should be included in His church. Philip was sent and directed by an angel (8:26) and by the Spirit (8:29) to the desert region near Gaza where he made the first Gentile convert, a court official who served Candace, the queen of the Ethiopians. An angel also directed the Roman officer Cornelius to send for Peter (10:3, 5). By a vision (10:9–16) and by the Spirit (10:19) Peter was instructed to go.

As Peter preached on Jesus' resurrection, the Holy Spirit fell upon the Gentiles. This miracle of divine grace was God's gift to the Gentile believers and His answer to those who questioned sharing the gospel with non-Jews. Eventually, the Jerusalem church acknowledged acceptance of Gentiles (11:18), and Antioch became a center of the Gentile church (11:26). Nevertheless, the first non-Jews to be evangelized by the early church were the Samaritans.

TRANSITION

Philip and the Samaritan Pentecost

Philip "preached Christ" to the Samaritans (Acts 8:5) in fulfillment of his Master's mandate (Acts 1:8). Their reception of Philip's message about the kingdom of God and about Jesus Christ was a significant step in the spread of the gospel. Samaritans, who were considered heretics by orthodox Jews, had received Christ. Perhaps the Samaritans accepted the gospel more readily than Jews because they did not have to unlearn previous misconceptions about the coming Messiah.

Though the Samaritans were baptized with water in the name of Jesus, they still needed to receive the baptism with the Holy Spirit, as had the disciples on the Day of Pentecost. So the Jerusalem church sent Peter and John in order that these new believers might hear the message about the Holy Spirit (8:15). As the apostles continued to preach in many villages of Samaria, Samaritans became an accepted part of the church (8:25).

The Sorcerer's Profession of Faith

<sup>9</sup>But there was a certain man called Simon, who previously practiced sorcery in the city and astonished the people of Samaria, claiming that he was someone great, <sup>10</sup>to whom they all gave heed, from the least to the greatest, saying, "This man is the great power of God." <sup>11</sup>And they heeded him because he had astonished them with his sorceries for a long time. <sup>12</sup>But when they believed Philip as he preached the things concerning the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ, both men and women were baptized. <sup>13</sup>Then Simon himself also believed; and when he was baptized he continued with Philip, and was amazed, seeing the miracles and signs which were done.

The Sorcerer's Sin

<sup>14</sup>Now when the apostles who were at Jerusalem heard that Samaria had received the word of God, they sent Peter and John to them, <sup>15</sup>who, when they had come down, prayed for them that they might receive the Holy Spirit. <sup>16</sup>For as yet he had fallen upon none of them. They had only been baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus. <sup>17</sup>Then they laid hands on them, and they received the Holy Spirit.

<sup>18</sup>And when Simon saw that through the laying on of the apostles' hands the Holy Spirit was given, he offered them money, <sup>19</sup>saying, "Give me this power also, that anyone on whom I lay hands may receive the Holy Spirit."

<sup>20</sup>But Peter said to him, "Your money perish with you, because you thought that the gift of God could be purchased with money! <sup>21</sup>You have neither part nor portion in this matter, for your heart is not right in the sight of God. <sup>22</sup>Repent therefore of this your wickedness, and pray God if perhaps the thought of your heart may be forgiven

SIMON MAGUS, THE GREAT POWER (ACTS 8:9–11)

In the city of Samaria was one Samaritan who considered himself “someone great” (Acts 8:9). The wonder-worker Simon is even reported to have been called “the great power of God” by the people of Samaria (8:10). Simon is well known outside of Scripture. According to early Christian sources, he was from Gitta, a Samaritan village. Later Christian sources describe him as a Magus, or magician, and suggest that he used his abilities for propagandistic purposes.

Later writers disagreed with Simon’s title “great power of God.” Justin Martyr, in the 2nd century A.D., claimed that Simon used demonic forces to imitate Christianity, reporting that he performed wonders by demons in Rome during the reign of Claudius (A.D. 41–54). Justin claims that Simon had a large following.

Simon’s teachings were labeled heretical. Irenaeus, in the late 2nd century A.D., stated that Simon was the source of all heresies, even identifying himself with the Christian Trinity. He was usually associated by the early church with some of the Gnostic heresies. Hippolytus wrote in the early 3rd century A.D. of Simon’s claim that he would be raised on the third day after his death. The resurrection claims were not fulfilled, since, as Hippolytus explains, Simon was “not the Christ.”

Other Christian literature portrayed Simon as a fake and an antichrist, and even as a disciple of John the Baptist! In sum, Simon was a Samaritan who practiced elements of syncretism—mixing Christian and non-Christian elements. In Acts, Luke reports Peter’s rebuke of Simon (Acts 8:20–23). The magician was later condemned by the church, which likely embellished tales about him, seeing him as a model of the anti-Christ.

you. <sup>23</sup>For I see that you are poisoned by bitterness and bound by iniquity.”

<sup>24</sup>Then Simon answered and said, “Pray to the Lord for me, that none of the things which you have spoken may come upon me.”

<sup>25</sup>So when they had testified and preached the word of the Lord, they returned to Jerusalem, preaching the gospel in many villages of the Samaritans.

Christ Is Preached to an Ethiopian

<sup>26</sup>Now an angel of the Lord spoke to Philip, saying, “Arise and go toward the south along the road which goes down from Jerusalem to Gaza.” This is desert. <sup>27</sup>So he arose and went. And behold, a man of Ethiopia, a eunuch of great authority under Candace the queen of the Ethiopians, who had charge of all her treasury, and had come to Jerusalem to worship, <sup>28</sup>was returning. And sitting in his chariot, he was reading Isaiah the prophet. <sup>29</sup>Then the Spirit said to Philip, “Go near and overtake this chariot.”

<sup>30</sup>So Philip ran to him, and heard him reading the prophet Isaiah, and said, “Do you understand what you are reading?”

<sup>31</sup>And he said, “How can I, unless someone guides me?” And he asked Philip to come up and sit with him. <sup>32</sup>The place in the Scripture which he read was this:

*“He was led as a sheep to the slaughter;
And as a lamb before its shearer is silent,
So He opened not His mouth.*

<sup>33</sup> *In His humiliation His justice was taken
away,
And who will declare His generation?
For His life is taken from the earth.”<sup>a</sup>*

<sup>34</sup>So the eunuch answered Philip and said, “I ask you, of whom does the prophet say this, of himself or of some other man?” <sup>35</sup>Then Philip opened his mouth, and beginning at this Scripture, preached Jesus to him. <sup>36</sup>Now as they went down the road, they came to some water. And the eunuch said, “See, here is water. What hinders me from being baptized?”

<sup>37</sup>Then Philip said, “If you believe with all your heart, you may.”

And he answered and said, “I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God.”<sup>a</sup>

<sup>38</sup>So he commanded the chariot to stand still. And both Philip and the eunuch went down into the water, and he baptized him. <sup>39</sup>Now when they came up out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord caught Philip away, so that the eunuch saw him no more; and he went on his way rejoicing. <sup>40</sup>But Philip was found at Azotus. And passing through, he preached in all the cities till he came to Caesarea.

Culture & Society

The word “eunuch” referred literally to castrated males. In Judea, eunuchs were viewed as impaired persons (Deut. 23:1), and Jewish people opposed their appointment to important positions. In other nations, though, eunuchs were considered safe to hire as attendants or custodians of women, and many were servants to royalty (Acts 8:27). The historian Josephus reports that a eunuch served as cupbearer for Herod the Great.

CANDACE'S EUNUCH BELIEVES (ACTS 8:27)

Luke gives us much information about the person that Philip evangelized and eventually baptized. The man was from Ethiopia, was a eunuch, served a queen as her treasurer, and had gone to worship in Jerusalem (Acts 8:27). This new convert's background makes his conversion to Christianity significant.

Ethiopia was an area south of Egypt. Because Ethiopia and Egypt were so close geographically, they are often mentioned together in Scripture (see Ps. 68:31; Ezek. 30:4; Nah. 3:9). But Ethiopia is not close to Jerusalem, so Candace's eunuch had traveled from a distant location. Being from Ethiopia may have given him some prominence. The Greek historian Herodotus (484?–425? B.C.) described Ethiopians as taller and more handsome than any people.

The eunuch served “under Candace.” Candace is not a personal name, but a title, like pharaoh. As the pharaoh was king of Egypt, so the candace was queen of Meroe, a kingdom on the Nile River south of Egypt. From Acts 8:27 it appears that “Candace” could be used as a name for Meroe's queens just as “Pharaoh” was used as a name for Egypt's kings. The eunuch worked for someone of high authority.

His position added to his status since as the queen's treasurer he exercised “great authority.” It was common in Eastern countries for eunuchs to hold positions of high authority in a queen's court. This eunuch was an important person.

Nevertheless, he was a eunuch, and eunuchs were excluded from religious service in Israel (Deut. 23:1). The law prohibited them from serving as priests, who were required to have a whole body, free from blemishes (Lev. 21:17–20). The eunuch could worship in Jerusalem and read the sacred Scriptures (Acts 8:28), but could not be a full member of the Jewish religion.

This eunuch represents a significant conversion to Christianity. With him, the Christian faith reached out to a distant land, to someone in the service of a queen, to someone who himself had high position. More importantly, it reached out to one who previously was an “outsider” to Israel's religion.

extradition permits authorized by Rome, letters from the high priest gave Saul jurisdiction over Jews in Damascus. On the way there, however, Saul met the risen Jesus (Acts 9:5). Through this dramatic encounter, Saul, the zealous Pharisee who led and intensified the persecution against the disciples, became God's “chosen vessel” (9:15) to bear Christ's name before the Gentiles.

The new Christian Saul confounded the Jews by his training, experience, and boldness. But the persecutor became the persecuted, and Saul was forced to flee Damascus. He finally arrived in Jerusalem in A.D. 37. Despite his 3-year absence visiting Arabia and reports of his ministry in Damascus, the disciples in Jerusalem could not believe Saul had become a Christian (9:26). Some miracles seem incredible.

The period following Saul's conversion was one of relative calm for the church. Peter began to evangelize outside of Jerusalem, healing the sick and raising the dead in the power of Jesus, as Jesus Himself had done. These miracles led to a widespread acceptance of the gospel (9:35, 42).

Ananias Baptizes Saul

<sup>10</sup>Now there was a certain disciple at Damascus named Ananias; and to him the Lord said in a vision, “Ananias.”

And he said, “Here I am, Lord.”

<sup>11</sup>So the Lord said to him, “Arise and go to the street called Straight, and inquire at the house of Judas for one called Saul of Tarsus, for behold, he is praying. <sup>12</sup>And in a vision he has seen a man named Ananias coming in and putting his hand on him, so that he might receive his sight.”

<sup>13</sup>Then Ananias answered, “Lord, I have heard from many about this man, how much harm he has done to Your saints in Jerusalem. <sup>14</sup>And here he has authority from the chief priests to bind all who call on Your name.”

<sup>15</sup>But the Lord said to him, “Go, for he is a chosen vessel of Mine to bear My name before Gentiles, kings, and the children of Israel. <sup>16</sup>For I will show him how many things he must suffer for My name’s sake.”

<sup>17</sup>And Ananias went his way and entered the house; and laying his hands on him he said, “Brother Saul, the Lord Jesus,<sup>a</sup> who appeared to you on the road as you came, has sent me that you may receive your sight and be filled with the Holy Spirit.” <sup>18</sup>Immediately there fell from his eyes something like scales, and he received his sight at once; and he arose and was baptized.

<sup>19</sup>So when he had received food, he was strengthened. Then Saul spent some days with the disciples at Damascus.

Saul Preaches Christ

<sup>22</sup>But Saul increased all the more in strength, and confounded the Jews who dwelt in Damascus, proving that this Jesus is the Christ.

Science & Technology

Tanning (Acts 9:43) is the process of treating animal skin to make it into leather. Organic and inorganic chemicals are used to prevent decomposition and to make the leather flexible, strong, and attractive. Hard leather was used for shields and containers; soft leather was used for clothing and shoes. Parchment was a smooth, thin leather that was prepared for writing.

Saul at Jerusalem

<sup>26</sup>And when Saul had come to Jerusalem, he tried to join the disciples; but they were all afraid of him, and did not believe that he was a disciple. <sup>27</sup>But Barnabas took him and brought him to the apostles. And he declared to them how he had seen the Lord on the road, and that He had spoken to him, and how he had preached boldly at Damascus in the name of Jesus. <sup>28</sup>So he was with them at Jerusalem, coming in and going out. <sup>29</sup>And he spoke boldly in the name of the Lord Jesus and disputed against the Hellenists, but they attempted to kill him. <sup>30</sup>When the brethren found out, they brought him down to Caesarea and sent him out to Tarsus.

The Church Prospers

Arise and make your bed.” Then he arose immediately. <sup>35</sup>So all who dwelt at Lydda and Sharon saw him and turned to the Lord.

days that she became sick and died. When they had washed her, they laid her in an upper room. <sup>38</sup>And since Lydda was near Joppa, and the disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent two men to him, imploring him not to delay in coming to them. <sup>39</sup>Then Peter arose and went with them. When he had come, they brought him to the upper room. And all the widows stood by him weeping, showing the tunics and garments which Dorcas had made while she was with them. <sup>40</sup>But Peter put them all out, and knelt down and prayed. And turning to the body he said, “Tabitha, arise.” And she opened her eyes, and when she saw Peter she sat up. <sup>41</sup>Then he gave her his hand and lifted her up; and when he had called the saints and widows, he presented her alive. <sup>42</sup>And it became known throughout all Joppa, and many believed on the Lord. <sup>43</sup>So it was that he stayed many days in Joppa with Simon, a tanner.

The church continued to grow as a result of persecution, for the scattered Christians shared their faith in their new home cities (11:19). Meanwhile, in Jerusalem, opposition to the church continued to mount: Herod Agrippa I, whom the emperor Caligula had given the title “king,” had James executed and arrested Peter. Agrippa died in A.D. 44 of abdominal pains, according to Josephus (12:23).

The first church to include Gentile Christians was the church at Antioch. More innovative than the Jerusalem church, Antioch became the center of missionary outreach to Gentiles, yet still maintained close ties with Jerusalem. Josephus and other historians record the famine that occurred in A.D. 46 or 47, during the reign of Claudius Caesar (A.D. 41–54). Christians at Antioch sent to Judea by way of Barnabas and Saul their collection for famine relief (11:27–30).

Peter's Missionary Work

The Book of Acts records two missionary journeys made by Peter. On his first trip he confirmed the evangelistic work of Philip in Samaria (Acts 8:14). Peter subsequently made a trip along the Mediterranean coast from Joppa to Caesarea, where a Roman garrison was commanded by the officer Cornelius. Peter's ministry to the Gentile household of Cornelius was accepted by the Jerusalem church only when Peter convinced them that the Gentiles had become believers in the same sense as had Jesus' followers, who were filled with the Holy Spirit on the Day of Pentecost (11:1–18).

Cornelius Sends a Delegation

10 :1 There was a certain man in Caesarea called Cornelius, a centurion of what was called the Italian Regiment, <sup>2</sup>a devout man and one who feared God with all his household, who gave alms generously to the people, and prayed to God always. <sup>3</sup>About the ninth hour of the day he saw clearly in a vision an angel of God coming in and saying to him, “Cornelius!”

<sup>4</sup>And when he observed him, he was afraid, and said, “What is it, lord?”

So he said to him, “Your prayers and your alms have come up for a memorial before God. <sup>5</sup>Now send men to Joppa, and send for Simon whose surname is Peter. <sup>6</sup>He is lodging with

WHO WAS THE GOD-FEARING CORNELIUS? (ACTS 10:1, 2)

Caesarea Maritima, the coastal city and home of Cornelius, served as the capital for the province of Judea. As such, the city contained the residence for the Roman governor of Judea, as well as a regular Roman garrison (Acts 10:1). A legion of the Roman army was comprised of ten cohorts; five cohorts of about 600 soldiers each were stationed at Caesarea, while another cohort remained garrisoned on the Temple Mount in Jerusalem.

Centurions, like Cornelius, commanded units, called centuries, that generally averaged 80 men. In contrast to high-class Romans who aspired to higher offices, centurions usually began as regular soldiers and worked their way up through the ranks. Army service for males usually began around age 17, and roughly half of the enlistees who survived the required 20 years of service were highly rewarded.

The devout Cornelius (10:2) was a member of the “God-fearers,” a class of religious people named in many ancient Jewish sources. God-fearers, while not full converts to Judaism, did respect Israel's God and His teachings. Inscriptions reveal that many soldiers were interested in foreign religions like Judaism.

Just who was part of Cornelius's household is uncertain, since Roman regulations prohibited soldiers from marrying. Officials usually looked the other way while soldiers stationed in various places held illegal concubines, but centurions, who were moved more frequently, probably developed less relationships even with concubines. Unless Cornelius was retired or (as often happened) was breaking official rules, his household may have consisted primarily of servants (10:7).

Roman custom expected members of a household (whether wives and children or servants) to follow the religion of the head of the household. It was thus natural for Cornelius to have spread his faith to “all his household” (10:2).

Simon, a tanner, whose house is by the sea.<sup>6</sup> He will tell you what you must do.”<sup>7</sup> And when the angel who spoke to him had departed, Cornelius called two of his household servants and a devout soldier from among those who waited on him continually.<sup>8</sup> So when he had explained all these things to them, he sent them to Joppa.

Peter's Vision

<sup>9</sup>The next day, as they went on their journey and drew near the city, Peter went up on the housetop to pray, about the sixth hour.<sup>10</sup> Then he became very hungry and wanted to eat; but while they made ready, he fell into a trance<sup>11</sup> and saw heaven opened and an object like a great sheet bound at the four corners, descending to him and let down to the earth.<sup>12</sup> In it were all kinds of four-footed animals of the earth, wild beasts, creeping things, and birds of the air.<sup>13</sup> And a voice came to him, “Rise, Peter; kill and eat.”

<sup>14</sup>But Peter said, “Not so, Lord! For I have never eaten anything common or unclean.”

<sup>15</sup>And a voice spoke to him again the second time, “What God has cleansed you must not call common.”<sup>16</sup> This was done three times. And the object was taken up into heaven again.

Summoned to Caesarea

<sup>17</sup>Now while Peter wondered within himself what this vision which he had seen meant, behold, the men who had been sent from Cornelius had made inquiry for Simon's house, and stood before the gate.<sup>18</sup> And they called and asked whether Simon, whose surname was Peter, was lodging there.

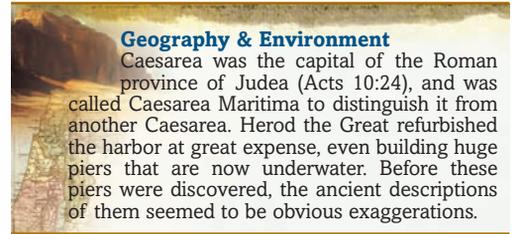

<sup>19</sup>While Peter thought about the vision, the Spirit said to him, “Behold, three men are seeking you.<sup>20</sup> Arise therefore, go down and go with them, doubting nothing; for I have sent them.”

<sup>21</sup>Then Peter went down to the men who had been sent to him from Cornelius,<sup>a</sup> and said, “Yes,

I am he whom you seek. For what reason have you come?”

<sup>22</sup>And they said, “Cornelius the centurion, a just man, one who fears God and has a good reputation among all the nation of the Jews, was divinely instructed by a holy angel to summon you to his house, and to hear words from you.”<sup>23</sup> Then he invited them in and lodged them.

On the next day Peter went away with them, and some brethren from Joppa accompanied him.

Geography & Environment

Caesarea was the capital of the Roman province of Judea (Acts 10:24), and was called Caesarea Maritima to distinguish it from another Caesarea. Herod the Great refurbished the harbor at great expense, even building huge piers that are now underwater. Before these piers were discovered, the ancient descriptions of them seemed to be obvious exaggerations.

Peter Meets Cornelius

<sup>24</sup>And the following day they entered Caesarea. Now Cornelius was waiting for them, and had called together his relatives and close friends.<sup>25</sup> As Peter was coming in, Cornelius met him and fell down at his feet and worshiped him.<sup>26</sup> But Peter lifted him up, saying, “Stand up; I myself am also a man.”<sup>27</sup> And as he talked with him, he went in and found many who had come together.<sup>28</sup> Then he said to them, “You know how unlawful it is for a Jewish man to keep company with or go to one of another nation. But God has shown me that I should not call any man common or unclean.<sup>29</sup> Therefore I came without objection as soon as I was sent for. I ask, then, for what reason have you sent for me?”

<sup>30</sup>So Cornelius said, “Four days ago I was fasting until this hour; and at the ninth hour<sup>a</sup> I prayed in my house, and behold, a man stood before me in bright clothing,<sup>31</sup> and said, ‘Cornelius, your prayer has been heard, and your alms are remembered in the sight of God.<sup>32</sup> Send therefore to Joppa and call Simon here, whose surname is Peter. He is lodging in the house of Simon, a tanner, by the sea.’<sup>a</sup> When he comes, he will speak to you.’<sup>33</sup> So I sent to you immediately, and you have done well to come. Now therefore, we are all present before God, to hear all the things commanded you by God.”

Preaching to Cornelius's Household

<sup>34</sup>Then Peter opened his mouth and said: “In truth I perceive that God shows no partiality.

<sup>35</sup>But in every nation whoever fears Him and works righteousness is accepted by Him. <sup>36</sup>The word which God sent to the children of Israel, preaching peace through Jesus Christ—He is Lord of all—<sup>37</sup>that word you know, which was proclaimed throughout all Judea, and began from Galilee after the baptism which John preached: <sup>38</sup>how God anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the Holy Spirit and with power, who went about doing good and healing all who were oppressed by the devil, for God was with Him. <sup>39</sup>And we are witnesses of all things which He did both in the land of the Jews and in Jerusalem, whom they<sup>a</sup> killed by hanging on a tree. <sup>40</sup>Him God raised up on the third day, and showed Him openly, <sup>41</sup>not to all the people, but to witnesses chosen before by God, even to us who ate and drank with Him after He arose from the dead. <sup>42</sup>And He commanded us to preach to the people, and to testify that it is He who was ordained by God to be Judge of the living and the dead. <sup>43</sup>To Him all the prophets witness that, through His name, whoever believes in Him will receive remission of sins.”

The Holy Spirit Falls on the Gentiles

<sup>44</sup>While Peter was still speaking these words, the Holy Spirit fell upon all those who heard the word. <sup>45</sup>And those of the circumcision who believed were astonished, as many as came with Peter, because the gift of the Holy Spirit had been poured out on the Gentiles also. <sup>46</sup>For they heard them speak with tongues and magnify God.

Then Peter answered, <sup>47</sup>“Can anyone forbid water, that these should not be baptized who have received the Holy Spirit just as we have?” <sup>48</sup>And he commanded them to be baptized in the name of the Lord. Then they asked him to stay a few days.

Peter Defends God’s Grace

11 <sup>1</sup>Now the apostles and brethren who were in Judea heard that the Gentiles had also received the word of God. <sup>2</sup>And when Peter came up to Jerusalem, those of the circumcision contended with him, <sup>3</sup>saying, “You went in to uncircumcised men and ate with them!”

<sup>4</sup>But Peter explained it to them in order from the beginning, saying: <sup>5</sup>“I was in the city of Joppa praying; and in a trance I saw a vision, an object descending like a great sheet, let down from heaven by four corners; and it came to me. <sup>6</sup>When I observed it intently and considered, I saw four-footed animals of the earth, wild beasts, creeping things, and birds of the air. <sup>7</sup>And I heard a voice saying to me, ‘Rise, Peter; kill and eat.’ <sup>8</sup>But I said, ‘Not so, Lord! For nothing common or unclean has at any time entered my mouth.’ <sup>9</sup>But the voice answered me again from heaven, ‘What God has cleansed you must not call common.’ <sup>10</sup>Now this was done three times, and all were drawn up again into heaven. <sup>11</sup>At that very moment, three men stood before the house where I was, having been sent to me from Caesarea. <sup>12</sup>Then the Spirit told me to go with them, doubting nothing. Moreover these six brethren accompanied me, and we entered the man’s house. <sup>13</sup>And he told us how he had seen an angel standing in his house, who said to him, ‘Send men to Joppa, and call for Simon whose

THOSE “CHRISTIANS” IN ANTIOCH (ACTS 11:26)

When Barnabas came to Antioch, he found a group of people who were already disciples of Jesus Christ as Lord (Acts 11:22–24). Soon Saul joined Barnabas, teaching many disciples in the city. It is here in Antioch that these disciples were identified with the term “Christian,” a term appearing only here and twice elsewhere in Scripture (Acts 26:28; 1 Pet. 4:16).

The word “Christian” is commonly assumed to be of Latin derivation, being found in the 2nd-century A.D. writings of such Latin authors as Tacitus, Suetonius, and Pliny the Younger. Pliny, the Roman governor of Bithynia and Pontus, writes around A.D. 111 to the emperor Trajan that those who admitted to being “Christians” were thus persecuted.

But the Romans were probably not the first to refer to certain people as “Christians.” In the 1st century, followers of a certain leader were identified by attaching the ending “-ians” to the leader’s name. Thus the followers of Herod were called “Herodians” (Mark 3:6). In the same way, those who followed Christ and were devoted to Him were eventually called “Christians.”

There is no evidence that the followers of Jesus used the term to describe themselves. In fact, the other two occurrences of the term “Christian” in Scripture seem to imply an element of scorn. In Acts 26:28 Agrippa does not really intend to become a “Christian” himself, and in 1 Pet. 4:16 Peter possibly speaks of those who were suffering precisely because they claimed to be “Christians.”

The term “Christian” probably originated with the Gentile population in Antioch, rather than with the followers of Christ themselves. The Gentiles, being unfamiliar with Jewish religion, could have thought “Christ” was a name, rather than recognizing it as a title for the Messiah. Thus, by about A.D. 46, the Antiochan Gentiles had distinguished the “Christians” from both Jews and pagans.

surname is Peter, <sup>14</sup>who will tell you words by which you and all your household will be saved.’ <sup>15</sup>And as I began to speak, the Holy Spirit fell upon them, as upon us at the beginning. <sup>16</sup>Then I remembered the word of the Lord, how He said, ‘John indeed baptized with water, but you shall be baptized with the Holy Spirit.’ <sup>17</sup>If therefore God gave them the same gift as He gave us when we believed on the Lord Jesus Christ, who was I that I could withstand God?”

<sup>18</sup>When they heard these things they became silent; and they glorified God, saying, “Then God has also granted to the Gentiles repentance to life.”

Barnabas and Saul at Antioch

<sup>19</sup>Now those who were scattered after the persecution that arose over Stephen traveled as far as Phoenicia, Cyprus, and Antioch, preaching the word to no one but the Jews only. <sup>20</sup>But some of them were men from Cyprus and Cyrene, who, when they had come to Antioch, spoke to the Hellenists, preaching the Lord Jesus. <sup>21</sup>And the hand of the Lord was with them, and a great number believed and turned to the Lord.

<sup>22</sup>Then news of these things came to the ears of the church in Jerusalem, and they sent out Barnabas to go as far as Antioch. <sup>23</sup>When he came and had seen the grace of God, he was glad, and encouraged them all that with purpose of heart they should continue with the Lord. <sup>24</sup>For he was a good man, full of the Holy Spirit and of faith. And a great many people were added to the Lord.

<sup>25</sup>Then Barnabas departed for Tarsus to seek Saul. <sup>26</sup>And when he had found him, he brought him to Antioch. So it was that for a whole year they assembled with the church and taught a great many people. And the disciples were first called Christians in Antioch.

Relief to Judea

<sup>27</sup>And in these days prophets came from Jerusalem to Antioch. <sup>28</sup>Then one of them, named Agabus, stood up and showed by the Spirit that there was going to be a great famine throughout all the world, which also happened in the days of Claudius Caesar. <sup>29</sup>Then the disciples, each according to his ability, determined to send relief to the brethren dwelling in Judea. <sup>30</sup>This they also did, and sent it to the elders by the hands of Barnabas and Saul.

Herod’s Violence to the Church

12 <sup>1</sup>Now about that time Herod the king stretched out his hand to harass some from the church. <sup>2</sup>Then he killed James the brother of John with the sword. <sup>3</sup>And because he saw that it pleased the Jews, he proceeded further to seize Peter also. Now it was during the

WORSHIP THE EMPEROR (ACTS 12:20–23)

Reverence for rulers or emperors did not begin in Rome. In fact, the Romans were rather late in accepting such a practice. While they revered the spirits of their dead ancestors—and especially the spirit of the head of their family—they regarded their political leaders as merely men.

The worship of living rulers was practiced in many nations, including Egypt, Persia, and Greece. Alexander the Great established his own cult of worshipers in Alexandria in Egypt.

Augustus Caesar (27 B.C.–A.D. 14) was the first Roman emperor to combine the ideas of ruler worship and ancestor worship in creating an imperial cult. He made it a sign of his subjects' loyalty to him and the Roman state. He did, however, exempt the Jews from this cult.

Caligula (A.D. 37–41), who was known for being somewhat unbalanced, proclaimed himself a god and loved to dress up as Jupiter. In A.D. 40 he even ordered that a statue of himself as Jupiter be erected in the temple in Jerusalem. Faced with a likely revolt by the Jewish populace, the Roman governor Petronius managed to get the order canceled.

It is surprising that Herod Agrippa I (A.D. 41–44), just a few years after the incident with Caligula, would allow himself to be worshipped as a god (Acts 12:20–23). According to Acts, his failure to discourage the shouts of the people, “The voice of a god and not of a man!” (v. 22), and give glory to God, resulted in a violent death. The Jewish historian Josephus recorded that Agrippa died 5 days after an attack of abdominal pains.

Days of Unleavened Bread. <sup>4</sup>So when he had arrested him, he put him in prison, and delivered him to four squads of soldiers to keep him, intending to bring him before the people after Passover.

Peter Freed from Prison

<sup>5</sup>Peter was therefore kept in prison, but constant<sup>a</sup> prayer was offered to God for him by the church. <sup>6</sup>And when Herod was about to bring him out, that night Peter was sleeping, bound with two chains between two soldiers; and the guards before the door were keeping the prison. <sup>7</sup>Now behold, an angel of the Lord stood by him, and a light shone in the prison; and he struck Peter on the side and raised him up, saying, “Arise quickly!” And his chains fell off his hands. <sup>8</sup>Then the angel said to him, “Gird yourself and tie on your sandals”; and so he did. And he said to him, “Put on your garment and follow me.” <sup>9</sup>So he went out and followed him, and did not know that what was done by the angel was real, but thought he was seeing a vision. <sup>10</sup>When they were past the first and the second guard posts, they came to the iron gate that leads to the city, which opened to them of its own accord; and they went out and went down one street, and immediately the angel departed from him.

<sup>11</sup>And when Peter had come to himself, he said, “Now I know for certain that the Lord has sent His angel, and has delivered me from the hand of Herod and from all the expectation of the Jewish people.”

<sup>12</sup>So, when he had considered this, he came to the house of Mary, the mother of John whose surname was Mark, where many were gathered together praying. <sup>13</sup>And as Peter knocked at the door of the gate, a girl named Rhoda came to answer. <sup>14</sup>When she recognized Peter's voice, because of her gladness she did not open the gate, but ran in and announced that Peter stood before the gate. <sup>15</sup>But they said to her, “You are beside yourself!” Yet she kept insisting that it was so. So they said, “It is his angel.”

<sup>16</sup>Now Peter continued knocking; and when they opened the door and saw him, they were astonished. <sup>17</sup>But motioning to them with his hand to keep silent, he declared to them how the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And he said, “Go, tell these things to James and to the brethren.” And he departed and went to another place.

<sup>18</sup>Then, as soon as it was day, there was no small stir among the soldiers about what had become of Peter. <sup>19</sup>But when Herod had searched for him and not found him, he examined the guards and commanded that they should be put to death.

And he went down from Judea to Caesarea, and stayed there.

Herod's Violent Death

<sup>20</sup>Now Herod had been very angry with the people of Tyre and Sidon; but they came to him with one accord, and having made Blastus the king's personal aide their friend, they asked for peace, because their country was supplied with food by the king's country.

<sup>21</sup>So on a set day Herod, arrayed in royal apparel, sat on his throne and gave an oration to them. <sup>22</sup>And the people kept shouting, “The voice of a god and not of a man!” <sup>23</sup>Then immediately an angel of the Lord struck him, because he did not give glory to God. And he was eaten by worms and died.

<sup>24</sup>But the word of God grew and multiplied.

<sup>25</sup>And Barnabas and Saul returned from<sup>a</sup> Jerusalem when they had fulfilled their ministry, and they also took with them John whose surname was Mark.

THE GOSPEL TO THE GENTILE WORLD

The entire Book of Acts is an expansion and fulfillment of the promise “you shall be witnesses . . . in Jerusalem, . . . Judea and Samaria, and to the end of the earth” (Acts 1:8). The gospel had already spread beyond Judea to the Samaritans (8:5), to an Ethiopian (8:27), to God-fearing Gentiles in the household of Cornelius (10:44, 45), and to Hellenists at Antioch (11:20). In the remainder of the account of Acts, Luke describes how the gospel was carried into the Gentile world. This new initiative was begun by the church at Antioch sending out Barnabas and Saul (13:2, 3).

The change of thrust towards pagan non-Jews rather than to skeptical Jews is made clear by Paul’s announcement in Antioch of Pisidia: “we turn to the Gentiles” (13:46). Paul (Saul’s Roman name) now focused his strategy on Gentile evangelism. His sermons, as recorded in Acts, indicate the way the Good News was presented to Gentiles (13:16–41) and to a sophisticated audience (17:22–31), emphasizing the activity of the Holy Spirit and the power of Jesus’ resurrection.

The great increase of Gentile converts caused alarm among many of the Jewish Christians in Judea. They feared that too many Gentiles would hurt the character of the church. Militant Jewish nationalists were already beginning a movement to require Gentile converts to become circumcised and follow the Jewish law. The stage was set for a Jerusalem conference of church leaders (Acts 15); the problem was how to reconcile the new communities of believers with the customs of Jewish law.

TRANSITION

Paul’s First Missionary Journey

Paul’s first missionary journey took him to Cyprus, and then to Asia Minor where he visited Pisidian Antioch, Iconium, Lystra, and Derbe. This journey, setting out around A.D. 46, marked the first time a church had purposefully sent out missionaries. It was natural for Paul and Barnabas to evangelize first in Cyprus since it was Barnabas’s home (see Acts 4:36).

The missionary strategy was to reach out first to the Jewish population. Since the synagogues were the centers of Jewish community life in the cities that Paul visited, they were the most appropriate places to begin preaching Christ. Only when rejected by the Jews did Paul and Barnabas turn to the Gentiles with the gospel (Acts 13:46).

Barnabas and Saul Appointed

13:1 Now in the church that was at Antioch there were certain prophets and teachers: Barnabas, Simeon who was called Niger, Lucius of Cyrene, Manaen who had been brought up with Herod the tetrarch, and Saul. <sup>2</sup>As they ministered to the Lord and fasted, the Holy Spirit said, “Now separate to Me Barnabas and Saul for the work to which I have called them.” <sup>3</sup>Then, having fasted and prayed, and laid hands on them, they sent them away.

Preaching in Cyprus

<sup>4</sup>So, being sent out by the Holy Spirit, they went down to Seleucia, and from there they sailed to Cyprus. <sup>5</sup>And when they arrived in Salamis, they preached the word of God in the synagogues of the Jews. They also had John as their assistant.

<sup>6</sup>Now when they had gone through the island<sup>a</sup> to Paphos, they found a certain sorcerer, a false prophet, a Jew whose name was Bar-Jesus, <sup>7</sup>who was with the proconsul, Sergius Paulus, an intelligent man. This man called for Barnabas and Saul and sought to hear the word of God. <sup>8</sup>But Elymas the sorcerer (for so his name is translated) withstood them, seeking to turn the proconsul away from the faith. <sup>9</sup>Then Saul, who also is called Paul, filled with the Holy Spirit, looked intently at him <sup>10</sup>and said, “O full of all deceit and all fraud, you son of the devil, you enemy of all righteousness, will you not cease perverting the straight ways of the Lord?” <sup>11</sup>And now, indeed, the hand of the Lord is upon you, and you shall be blind, not seeing the sun for a time.”

And immediately a dark mist fell on him, and he went around seeking someone to lead him by the hand. <sup>12</sup>Then the proconsul believed, when he saw what had been done, being astonished at the teaching of the Lord.

At Antioch in Pisidia

<sup>13</sup>Now when Paul and his party set sail from Paphos, they came to Perga in Pamphylia; and John, departing from them, returned to Jerusalem. <sup>14</sup>But when they departed from Perga, they came to Antioch in Pisidia, and went into the synagogue on the Sabbath day and sat down. <sup>15</sup>And after the reading of the Law and the

MULTICULTURAL PROPHETS AT ANTIOCH (ACTS 13:1)

Five leaders are named as prophets and teachers in the church at Antioch of Syria: Barnabas, Simeon, Lucius, Manaen, and Saul (Acts 13:1). Most 1st-century Jewish people believed that prophecy was rare in their own time, so the leadership of “prophets” in the Antioch church would have struck them forcefully.

Simeon and Manaen (which in Hebrew is “Menahem”) are common Jewish names. Simeon’s surname “Niger” was a frequent Roman name, making it possible that he, like Saul (Paul), was a Roman citizen. On the other hand, “Niger” seems to be a nickname rather than his birth name, and its Latin meaning (“black”) could suggest that Simeon was descended from North African converts to Judaism.

Manaen had been “brought up” (13:1) with Herod Antipas, the tetrarch of Galilee. This phrase sometimes described those who shared the same wet nurse, meaning that Manaen possibly had been a high-status servant in the royal household. When slaves grew up with a master’s son, the two often became close, and the son often freed the slave after inheriting him. Even when not freed, slaves of royal families wielded considerable power and status in society, sometimes more power than local aristocrats.

In Greek society, friendships from youth often led to political alliances and favors in adulthood. But Herod Antipas, Manaen’s patron, had lost his position when the emperor banished him to Gaul in A.D. 39. Manaen’s influence undoubtedly had dwindled by A.D. 46 when Paul and Barnabas were sent out by the Antioch church.

Lucius was a common Greek name, but that does not determine his ethnic background. Many Jews had Greek names, especially outside Palestine. Cyrene, his place of origin, had a very large Jewish population, so Lucius was possibly a Hellenistic Jew.

The other named Antioch prophets were Barnabas, a Levite who originated from Cyprus (Acts 4:36), and Saul, the Pharisee from Cilicia (Acts 22:3; 23:6). The combined cultural backgrounds of these five individuals brought to the church a diversified staff of prophetic leaders.

Prophets, the rulers of the synagogue sent to them, saying, “Men and brethren, if you have any word of exhortation for the people, say on.”

<sup>16</sup>Then Paul stood up, and motioning with his hand said, “Men of Israel, and you who fear God, listen: <sup>17</sup>The God of this people Israel<sup>a</sup> chose our fathers, and exalted the people when they dwelt as strangers in the land of Egypt, and with an uplifted arm He brought them out of it. <sup>18</sup>Now for a time of about forty years He put up with their ways in the wilderness. <sup>19</sup>And when He had destroyed seven nations in the land of Canaan, He distributed their land to them by allotment.

<sup>20</sup>“After that He gave them judges for about four hundred and fifty years, until Samuel the prophet. <sup>21</sup>And afterward they asked for a king; so God gave them Saul the son of Kish, a man of the tribe of Benjamin, for forty years. <sup>22</sup>And when He had removed him, He raised up for them David as king, to whom also He gave testimony and said, ‘I have found David<sup>a</sup> the son of Jesse, a man after My own heart, who will do all My will.’<sup>b</sup> <sup>23</sup>From this man’s seed, according to the promise, God raised up for Israel a Savior—Jesus—<sup>a</sup> <sup>24</sup>after John had first preached, before His coming, the baptism of repentance to all the people of Israel. <sup>25</sup>And as John was finishing his course, he said, ‘Who do you think I am? I am not He. But behold, there comes One after me, the sandals of whose feet I am not worthy to loose.’

Paul Goes to Galatia

Paul and Barnabas were sent out from the church at Antioch to the cities of Galatia in Asia Minor. This first missionary journey (Acts 13; 14) took them to Cyprus, and then to Pisidian Antioch, Iconium, Lystra, and Derbe. The Jewish synagogues in these cities provided Paul a platform for preaching the gospel. At times, however, he encountered opposition even from the synagogues.

PROMINENT WOMEN OF ANTIOCH IN PISIDIA (ACTS 13:50)

Many cities with the name “Antioch” were founded by the early Seleucid kings from about 312 to 250 B.C. Two of the most important were Antioch in Pisidia and Antioch in Syria, both mentioned in the New Testament.

Antioch in Pisidia passed into Roman hands in 25 B.C. during the reign of Augustus Caesar (27 B.C.–A.D. 14). Augustus transformed the city into a Roman colony and transplanted large numbers of Roman citizens to live there. In fact, inscriptions from Antioch show a preponderance of Roman personal names as well as a substantial minority of Jewish inhabitants. Antioch was a prominent city. A large number of its citizenry entered into the Roman Senate, and numerous building projects were completed there.

The apostle Paul visited Antioch in Pisidia at least once during his missionary journeys. The city was a natural target for Paul since many prominent Roman citizens lived there. On his first journey, about A.D. 46, his visit began in the Jewish synagogue (Acts 13:13, 14), but his preaching reached both Jew and Gentile (13:42, 48).

When some members of the Jewish community reacted against Paul, they enlisted the support of “devout and prominent women” in opposition to him (13:50). These women probably belonged to some of the Roman families brought by Augustus to colonize the city. The Jewish faith had found some converts among aristocratic women who had influence through their wealthy and politically powerful husbands. Such public clout forced Paul and Barnabas to leave town (13:50, 51).

<sup>26</sup>“Men and brethren, sons of the family of Abraham, and those among you who fear God, to you the word of this salvation has been sent. <sup>27</sup>For those who dwell in Jerusalem, and their rulers, because they did not know Him, nor even the voices of the Prophets which are read every Sabbath, have fulfilled them in condemning Him. <sup>28</sup>And though they found no cause for death in Him, they asked Pilate that He should be put to death. <sup>29</sup>Now when they had fulfilled all that was written concerning Him, they took Him down from the tree and laid Him in a tomb. <sup>30</sup>But God raised Him from the dead. <sup>31</sup>He was seen for many days by those who came up with Him from Galilee to Jerusalem, who are His witnesses to the people. <sup>32</sup>And we declare to you glad tidings—that promise which was made to the fathers. <sup>33</sup>God has fulfilled this for us their children, in that He has raised up Jesus. As it is also written in the second Psalm:

‘You are My Son, Today I have begotten You.’<sup>a</sup>

<sup>34</sup>And that He raised Him from the dead, no more to return to corruption, He has spoken thus:

‘I will give you the sure mercies of David.’<sup>a</sup>

<sup>35</sup>Therefore He also says in another Psalms:

‘You will not allow Your Holy One to see corruption.’<sup>a</sup>

<sup>36</sup>For David, after he had served his own generation by the will of God, fell asleep, was buried with his fathers, and saw corruption; <sup>37</sup>but He whom God raised up saw no corruption. <sup>38</sup>Therefore let it be known to you, brethren, that through this Man is preached to you the forgiveness of sins; <sup>39</sup>and by Him everyone who believes is justified from all things from which you could not be justified by the law of Moses. <sup>40</sup>Beware therefore, lest what has been spoken in the prophets come upon you:

<sup>41</sup> *‘Behold, you despisers,
Marvel and perish!
For I work a work in your days,
A work which you will by no means believe,
Though one were to declare it to you.’<sup>a</sup>*

Blessing and Conflict at Antioch

<sup>42</sup>So when the Jews went out of the synagogue,<sup>a</sup> the Gentiles begged that these words might be preached to them the next Sabbath. <sup>43</sup>Now when the congregation had broken up, many of the Jews and devout proselytes followed Paul and Barnabas, who, speaking to them, persuaded them to continue in the grace of God.

<sup>44</sup>On the next Sabbath almost the whole city came together to hear the word of God. <sup>45</sup>But when the Jews saw the multitudes, they were filled with envy; and contradicting and blaspheming, they opposed the things spoken by

Paul. <sup>46</sup>Then Paul and Barnabas grew bold and said, “It was necessary that the word of God should be spoken to you first; but since you reject it, and judge yourselves unworthy of everlasting life, behold, we turn to the Gentiles. <sup>47</sup>For so the Lord has commanded us:

‘I have set you as a light to the Gentiles, That you should be for salvation to the ends of the earth.’<sup>a</sup>

<sup>48</sup>Now when the Gentiles heard this, they were glad and glorified the word of the Lord. And as many as had been appointed to eternal life believed.

<sup>49</sup>And the word of the Lord was being spread throughout all the region. <sup>50</sup>But the Jews stirred up the devout and prominent women and the chief men of the city, raised up persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and expelled them from their region. <sup>51</sup>But they shook off the dust from their feet against them, and came to Iconium. <sup>52</sup>And the disciples were filled with joy and with the Holy Spirit.

At Iconium

14 <sup>1</sup>Now it happened in Iconium that they went together to the synagogue of the Jews, and so spoke that a great multitude both of the Jews and of the Greeks believed. <sup>2</sup>But the unbelieving Jews stirred up the Gentiles and poisoned their minds against the brethren. <sup>3</sup>Therefore they stayed there a long time, speaking boldly in the Lord, who was bearing witness to the word of His grace, granting signs and wonders to be done by their hands.

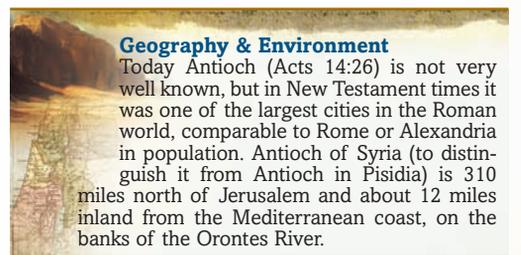

<sup>4</sup>But the multitude of the city was divided: part sided with the Jews, and part with the apostles. <sup>5</sup>And when a violent attempt was made by both the Gentiles and Jews, with their rulers, to abuse and stone them, <sup>6</sup>they became aware of it and fled to Lystra and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and to the surrounding region. <sup>7</sup>And they were preaching the gospel there.

Idolatry at Lystra

<sup>8</sup>And in Lystra a certain man without strength in his feet was sitting, a cripple from his mother’s womb, who had never walked. <sup>9</sup>This man heard Paul speaking. Paul, observing him intently and seeing that he had faith to be healed, <sup>10</sup>said with a loud voice, “Stand up straight on your feet!” And he leaped and walked. <sup>11</sup>Now when the people saw what Paul had done, they raised their voices, saying in the Lycaonian language, “The gods have come down to us in the likeness of men!” <sup>12</sup>And Barnabas they called Zeus, and Paul, Hermes, because he was the chief speaker. <sup>13</sup>Then the priest of Zeus, whose temple was in front of their city, brought oxen and garlands to the gates, intending to sacrifice with the multitudes.

<sup>14</sup>But when the apostles Barnabas and Paul heard this, they tore their clothes and ran in among the multitude, crying out <sup>15</sup>and saying, “Men, why are you doing these things? We also are men with the same nature as you, and preach to you that you should turn from these useless things to the living God, who made the heaven, the earth, the sea, and all things that are in them, <sup>16</sup>who in bygone generations allowed all nations to walk in their own ways. <sup>17</sup>Nevertheless He did not leave Himself without witness, in that He did good, gave us rain from heaven and fruitful seasons, filling our hearts with food and gladness.” <sup>18</sup>And with these sayings they could scarcely restrain the multitudes from sacrificing to them.

Geography & Environment

Today Antioch (Acts 14:26) is not very well known, but in New Testament times it was one of the largest cities in the Roman world, comparable to Rome or Alexandria in population. Antioch of Syria (to distinguish it from Antioch in Pisidia) is 310 miles north of Jerusalem and about 12 miles inland from the Mediterranean coast, on the banks of the Orontes River.

Stoning, Escape to Derbe

<sup>19</sup>Then Jews from Antioch and Iconium came there; and having persuaded the multitudes, they stoned Paul and dragged him out of the city, supposing him to be dead. <sup>20</sup>However, when the disciples gathered around him, he rose up and went into the city. And the next day he departed with Barnabas to Derbe.

Strengthening the Converts

<sup>21</sup>And when they had preached the gospel to that city and made many disciples, they returned to Lystra, Iconium, and Antioch, <sup>22</sup>strengthening the souls of the disciples, exhorting them to continue in the faith, and saying, “We must through many tribulations enter the kingdom of God.” <sup>23</sup>So when they had appointed elders in every church, and prayed with fasting, they commended them to the Lord in whom they had believed. <sup>24</sup>And after they had passed through Pisidia, they came to Pamphylia. <sup>25</sup>Now when they had preached the word in Perga, they went down to Attalia. <sup>26</sup>From there they sailed to Antioch, where they had been commended to the grace of God for the work which they had completed.

<sup>27</sup>Now when they had come and gathered the church together, they reported all that God had done with them, and that He had opened the door of faith to the Gentiles. <sup>28</sup>So they stayed there a long time with the disciples.

A third proposal arises because during Paul’s final visit to Jerusalem, James appeared to inform him for the first time about the ruling of the conference (see Acts 21:17–25). So, it is supposed, Paul was not at the meeting during which the decision regarding circumcision of Gentiles was reached. In this view, the events described by Paul in Gal. 2 are usually associated with the visit to Jerusalem mentioned in Acts 18:22, and dated about A.D. 52.

The conference settled the matter. The Gentiles were not required to keep the law or to be circumcised. They were directed to abstain from practices that were offensive to the Jews and made it particularly hard for them to have table fellowship with Gentiles (Acts 15:29).

Acts

Conflict over Circumcision

15 :1 And certain men came down from Judea and taught the brethren, “Unless you are circumcised according to the custom of Moses, you cannot be saved.” <sup>2</sup>Therefore, when Paul and Barnabas had no small dissension and dispute with them, they determined that Paul and Barnabas and certain others of them should go up to Jerusalem, to the apostles and elders, about this question.

<sup>3</sup>So, being sent on their way by the church, they passed through Phoenicia and Samaria, describing the conversion of the Gentiles; and they caused great joy to all the brethren. <sup>4</sup>And when they had come to Jerusalem, they were received by the church and the apostles and the elders; and they reported all things that God had done with them. <sup>5</sup>But some of the sect of the Pharisees who believed rose up, saying, “It is necessary to circumcise them, and to command them to keep the law of Moses.”

The Jerusalem Council

<sup>6</sup>Now the apostles and elders came together to consider this matter. <sup>7</sup>And when there had been much dispute, Peter rose up and said to them: “Men and brethren, you know that a good while ago God chose among us, that by my mouth the Gentiles should hear the word of the gospel and believe. <sup>8</sup>So God, who knows the heart, acknowledged them by giving them the Holy Spirit, just as He did to us, <sup>9</sup>and made no distinction between us and them, purifying their hearts by faith. <sup>10</sup>Now therefore, why do you test God by putting a yoke on the neck of the disciples which neither our fathers nor we were able to bear? <sup>11</sup>But we believe that through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ<sup>a</sup> we shall be saved in the same manner as they.”

Conference in Jerusalem

The many Gentiles won to Christ precipitated the Jerusalem Council, where it was decided that circumcision would not be required of Gentile Christians. Attempts to place this conference chronologically are complicated by apparent differences between Luke’s description of the event and Paul’s account in Gal. 2:1–10. The most notable difference in the accounts is the issue of circumcision itself. In Luke’s account, circumcision is the central concern. In Paul’s account, circumcision was at best incidental to the conference. If the issue had been decisively settled there, he could have simply appealed to the “apostolic decree” (Acts 15:23–29) when he was disputing with the Judaizers in Galatia.

Several suggestions have been offered for relating Luke’s and Paul’s accounts. A first proposal holds that, despite the differences, the similarities between Acts 15 and Gal. 2 suggest that these accounts are two reports of the same event. A second proposal, though, identifies the events described in Gal. 2 with Paul’s second visit to Jerusalem, correlating that visit with the famine-relief trip mentioned in Acts 11:27–30. (Paul’s first visit to Jerusalem is mentioned in Gal. 1:18.) In both of these views, the Jerusalem Council is usually dated around A.D. 49.

15:11 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text and M-Text omit Christ.

<sup>12</sup>Then all the multitude kept silent and listened to Barnabas and Paul declaring how many miracles and wonders God had worked through them among the Gentiles. <sup>13</sup>And after they had become silent, James answered, saying, “Men and brethren, listen to me: <sup>14</sup>Simon has declared how God at the first visited the Gentiles to take out of them a people for His name. <sup>15</sup>And with this the words of the prophets agree, just as it is written:

<sup>16</sup> *‘After this I will return
And will rebuild the tabernacle of David,
which has fallen down;
I will rebuild its ruins,
And I will set it up;*
<sup>17</sup> *So that the rest of mankind may seek the
LORD,
Even all the Gentiles who are called by My
name,
Says the LORD who does all these things.’<sup>a</sup>*

<sup>18</sup>“Known to God from eternity are all His works.” <sup>19</sup>Therefore I judge that we should not trouble those from among the Gentiles who are turning to God, <sup>20</sup>but that we write to them to abstain from things polluted by idols, from sexual immorality,<sup>a</sup> from things strangled, and from blood. <sup>21</sup>For Moses has had throughout many generations those who preach him in every city, being read in the synagogues every Sabbath.”

The Jerusalem Decree

<sup>22</sup>Then it pleased the apostles and elders, with the whole church, to send chosen men of their own

<sup>23</sup>They wrote this, letter by them:

The apostles, the elders, and the brethren,

To the brethren who are of the Gentiles in Antioch, Syria, and Cilicia:

Greetings.

<sup>24</sup> Since we have heard that some who went out from us have troubled you with words, unsettling your souls, saying, “You must be circumcised and keep the law”<sup>a</sup>—to whom we gave no such commandment—<sup>25</sup>it seemed good to us, being assembled with one accord, to send chosen men to you with our beloved Barnabas and Paul, <sup>26</sup>men who have risked their lives for the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. <sup>27</sup>We have therefore sent Judas and Silas, who will also report the same things by word of mouth. <sup>28</sup>For it seemed good to the Holy Spirit, and to us, to lay upon you no greater burden than these necessary things: <sup>29</sup>that you abstain from things offered to idols, from blood, from things strangled, and from sexual immorality.<sup>a</sup> If you keep yourselves from these, you will do well.

Farewell.

Continuing Ministry in Syria

<sup>30</sup>So when they were sent off, they came to Antioch; and when they had gathered the multitude together, they delivered the letter. <sup>31</sup>When they had read it, they rejoiced over its encouragement. <sup>32</sup>Now Judas and Silas, themselves being prophets also, exhorted and strengthened the

Paul's second missionary journey (Acts 15:39—18:22) took him, along with Silas, back to Asia Minor, then over to Europe to the cities of Philippi, Thessalonica, Berea, Athens, and Corinth. Young Timothy joined them in Lystra, accompanying them through Macedonia and Achaia (present-day Greece). The gospel spread further as Paul came into contact with Roman authorities and Greek philosophers.

The Letter to the Galatians

The most crucial factor in dating the letter to the Galatians is the relationship between the journey of Paul to Jerusalem mentioned in Gal. 2:1 and the Jerusalem Council mentioned in Acts 15 (see “Conference in Jerusalem” at Acts 15:1). If the decision of the council in Acts 15 had been common knowledge when the letter was written, Paul would surely have used the council’s decision in defense of Gentile freedom and especially in his rebuke of Peter (Gal. 2:11–13). It is therefore possible that Galatians is Paul’s earliest letter, and was written by A.D. 49 just prior to the Jerusalem Council of Acts 15. Those who associate Paul’s account in Gal. 2:1–10 with the Jerusalem visit mentioned in Acts 18:22 date this letter to about A.D. 53, and thus after the Thesalonian letters.

The destination of this letter to Galatia was a group of churches that Paul himself had founded (Gal. 1:2, 8, 9; 4:19). His close relationship with them is reflected in 4:11–14. Until the 18th century most readers understood “Galatia” to be the territory in the heart of Asia Minor whose boundaries included Bithynia and Pontus on the north, Phrygia on the southwest, and Cappadocia on the east. However, the Book of Acts offers no record of Paul evangelizing in this “North Galatian” area, apart from brief hints (Acts 16:6; 18:23).

The “South Galatian” theory understands Galatia to refer to the Roman province of Paul’s day, which included Pisidia, Lycaonia, and parts of Phrygia and Cappadocia. Also included were the cities of Antioch, Lystra, Derbe, and Iconium which Paul visited on both his first (Acts 13; 14) and second (Acts 16) missionary journeys.

Greeting

1:1 Paul, an apostle (not from men nor through man, but through Jesus Christ and God the Father who raised Him from the dead),<sup>2</sup>and all the brethren who are with me,

To the churches of Galatia:

<sup>3</sup>Grace to you and peace from God the Father and our Lord Jesus Christ, <sup>4</sup>who gave Himself for our sins, that He might deliver us from this present evil age, according to the will of our

God and Father, <sup>5</sup>to whom be glory forever and ever. Amen.

Only One Gospel

<sup>6</sup>I marvel that you are turning away so soon from Him who called you in the grace of Christ, to a different gospel, <sup>7</sup>which is not another; but there are some who trouble you and want to pervert the gospel of Christ. <sup>8</sup>But even if we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel to you than what we have preached to you, let him be accursed. <sup>9</sup>As we have said before, so now I say again, if anyone preaches any other gospel to you than what you have received, let him be accursed.

<sup>10</sup>For do I now persuade men, or God? Or do I seek to please men? For if I still pleased men, I would not be a bondservant of Christ.

Call to Apostleship

<sup>11</sup>But I make known to you, brethren, that the gospel which was preached by me is not according to man. <sup>12</sup>For I neither received it from

Paul on the Road to Damascus

Following Stephen’s death, Paul became actively involved in the Jewish persecution of Christians (Gal. 1:13). Armed with letters from the high priest, Paul set out from Jerusalem to Damascus intending to bring back any followers of Christ as prisoners. But while approaching Damascus, he was confronted by the resurrected Jesus in a blinding encounter.

man, nor was I taught it, but it came through the revelation of Jesus Christ.

<sup>13</sup>For you have heard of my former conduct in Judaism, how I persecuted the church of God beyond measure and tried to destroy it. <sup>14</sup>And I advanced in Judaism beyond many of my contemporaries in my own nation, being more exceedingly zealous for the traditions of my fathers.

<sup>15</sup>But when it pleased God, who separated me from my mother's womb and called me through His grace, <sup>16</sup>to reveal His Son in me, that I might preach Him among the Gentiles, I did not immediately confer with flesh and blood, <sup>17</sup>nor did I go up to Jerusalem to those who were apostles before me; but I went to Arabia, and returned again to Damascus.

Contacts at Jerusalem

<sup>18</sup>Then after three years I went up to Jerusalem to see Peter,<sup>a</sup> and remained with him fifteen days. <sup>19</sup>But I saw none of the other apostles except James, the Lord's brother. <sup>20</sup>(Now concerning the things which I write to you, indeed, before God, I do not lie.)

<sup>21</sup>Afterward I went into the regions of Syria and Cilicia. <sup>22</sup>And I was unknown by face to the churches of Judea which were in Christ. <sup>23</sup>But they were hearing only, "He who formerly persecuted us now preaches the faith which he once tried to destroy." <sup>24</sup>And they glorified God in me.

confrontation with Peter over this very issue in Antioch (2:1–21). Second, he developed a theological argument about the purpose of the law and the responsibilities of Christian life (3:1–6:18).

Galatians

Defending the Gospel

2:1 Then after fourteen years I went up again to Jerusalem with Barnabas, and also took Titus with me. <sup>2</sup>And I went up by revelation, and communicated to them that gospel which I preach among the Gentiles, but privately to those who were of reputation, lest by any means I might run, or had run, in vain. <sup>3</sup>Yet not even Titus who was with me, being a Greek, was compelled to be circumcised. <sup>4</sup>And this occurred because of false brethren secretly brought in (who came in by stealth to spy out our liberty which we have in Christ Jesus, that they might bring us into bondage), <sup>5</sup>to whom we did not yield submission even for an hour, that the truth of the gospel might continue with you.

<sup>6</sup>But from those who seemed to be something—whatever they were, it makes no difference to me; God shows personal favoritism to no man—for those who seemed to be something added nothing to me. <sup>7</sup>But on the contrary, when they saw that the gospel for the uncircumcised had been committed to me, as the gospel for the circumcised was to Peter <sup>8</sup>(for He who worked effectively in Peter for the apostleship to the circumcised also worked effectively in me toward the Gentiles), <sup>9</sup>and when James, Cephas, and John, who seemed to be pillars, perceived the grace that had been given to me, they gave me and Barnabas the right hand of fellowship, that we should go to the Gentiles and they to the circumcised. <sup>10</sup>They desired only that we should remember the poor, the very thing which I also was eager to do.

No Return to the Law

<sup>11</sup>Now when Peter<sup>a</sup> had come to Antioch, I withstood him to his face, because he was to be blamed; <sup>12</sup>for before certain men came from James, he would eat with the Gentiles; but when they came, he withdrew and separated himself, fearing those who were of the circumcision. <sup>13</sup>And the rest of the Jews also played the hypocrite with him, so that even Barnabas was carried away with their hypocrisy.

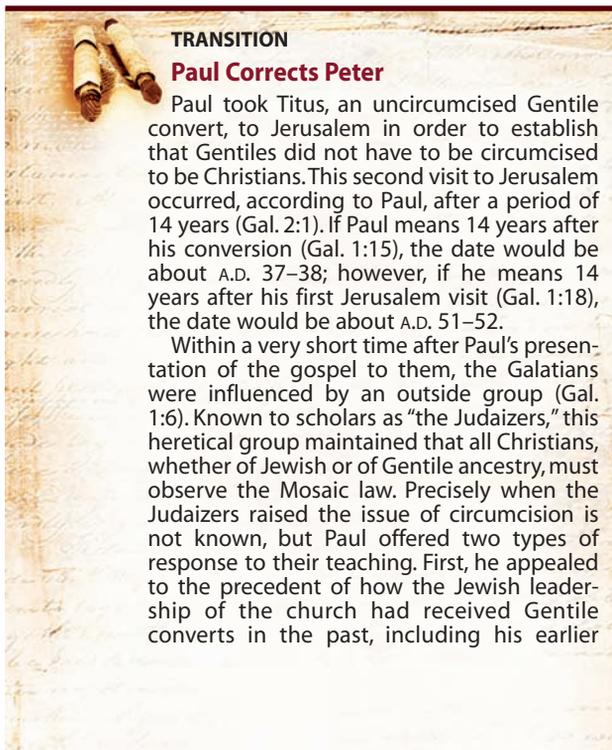

<sup>14</sup>But when I saw that they were not straightforward about the truth of the gospel, I said to Peter before them all, "If you, being a Jew, live in the manner of Gentiles and not as the

TRANSITION

Paul Corrects Peter

Paul took Titus, an uncircumcised Gentile convert, to Jerusalem in order to establish that Gentiles did not have to be circumcised to be Christians. This second visit to Jerusalem occurred, according to Paul, after a period of 14 years (Gal. 2:1). If Paul means 14 years after his conversion (Gal. 1:15), the date would be about A.D. 37–38; however, if he means 14 years after his first Jerusalem visit (Gal. 1:18), the date would be about A.D. 51–52.

Within a very short time after Paul's presentation of the gospel to them, the Galatians were influenced by an outside group (Gal. 1:6). Known to scholars as "the Judaizers," this heretical group maintained that all Christians, whether of Jewish or of Gentile ancestry, must observe the Mosaic law. Precisely when the Judaizers raised the issue of circumcision is not known, but Paul offered two types of response to their teaching. First, he appealed to the precedent of how the Jewish leadership of the church had received Gentile converts in the past, including his earlier

CHRISTIANS OF ANTIOCH IN SYRIA (GAL. 2:11)

The city of Antioch in Syria was founded by the first Seleucid king, Seleucus I (c. 300 B.C.). Situated on the Orontes River, it was the largest of all cities that bore the name “Antioch.” Ancient estimates of its size vary from 200,000 to 600,000 inhabitants. According to the Jewish historian Josephus (A.D. 37–100), the city also had a substantial Jewish population (Antiquities of the Jews, 12.119).

The Roman general Pompey took Antioch in 64 B.C. and declared it a free city. It then became the capital of the Roman province of Syria and the third largest city in the empire. The extant buildings, temples, aqueduct, masonry works, hippodrome, and gridlike street plan of Antioch attest to its great importance.

This great city became a center for Christianity. Many believers fled there after the stoning of Stephen and preached to Antioch’s Jewish population (Acts 11:19). But in Antioch were also Gentiles who had converted to Judaism. Some of them, such as Nicolas, called “a proselyte from Antioch” (Acts 6:5), also accepted Christianity. Soon the church in Antioch faced the task of unifying its Jewish and Gentile members.

The Antioch Christian community prospered. For a year Barnabas and Paul taught these believers, who were the first to be called “Christians” (Acts 11:25, 26). That this church had ample resources can be seen by their sending relief to the Jerusalem church (Acts 11:27–30).

Questions arose, however, concerning Jewish-Gentile relations. Eventually the Antioch congregation sent a delegation (including Paul and Barnabas) to Jerusalem to debate the issue of the circumcision of the Gentiles (Acts 14:26–15:2). That issue found some degree of resolution, but other tensions would surface. So the church of Antioch in Syria became the scene for another debate, this time over whether Jewish Christians should eat together with Gentile Christians (Gal. 2:11–13).

Jews, why do you<sup>a</sup> compel Gentiles to live as Jews?<sup>b</sup> <sup>15</sup>We who are Jews by nature, and not sinners of the Gentiles, <sup>16</sup>knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law but by faith in Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Christ Jesus, that we might be justified by faith in Christ and not by the works of the law; for by the works of the law no flesh shall be justified.

<sup>17</sup>“But if, while we seek to be justified by Christ, we ourselves also are found sinners, is Christ therefore a minister of sin? Certainly not! <sup>18</sup>For if I build again those things which I destroyed, I make myself a transgressor. <sup>19</sup>For I through the law died to the law that I might live to God. <sup>20</sup>I have been crucified with Christ; it is no longer I who live, but Christ lives in me; and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by faith in the Son of God, who loved me and gave Himself for me. <sup>21</sup>I do not set aside the grace of God; for if righteousness comes through the law, then Christ died in vain.”

Justification by Faith

3 <sup>10</sup>foolish Galatians! Who has bewitched you that you should not obey the truth,<sup>a</sup> before whose eyes Jesus Christ was clearly portrayed among you<sup>b</sup> as crucified? <sup>2</sup>This only I want to learn from you: Did you receive the Spirit by the works of the law, or by the hearing of faith? <sup>3</sup>Are you so foolish? Having begun in the Spirit, are you now being made perfect by the flesh? <sup>4</sup>Have you suffered so many things in vain—if indeed it was in vain?

<sup>5</sup>Therefore He who supplies the Spirit to you and works miracles among you, does He do it by the works of the law, or by the hearing of faith?—<sup>6</sup>just as Abraham “believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness.”<sup>a</sup> <sup>7</sup>Therefore know that only those who are of faith are sons of Abraham. <sup>8</sup>And the Scripture, foreseeing that God would justify the Gentiles by faith, preached the gospel to Abraham beforehand, saying, “In you all the nations shall be blessed.”<sup>a</sup> <sup>9</sup>So then those who are of faith are blessed with believing Abraham.

ABBA, FATHER (GAL. 4:6)

Following some Old Testament models, Jewish prayers often addressed God as “Father,” “our Father,” or “our Father in heaven.” They normally avoided, however, the more familiar title “Abba” (although one early sage is said to have compared God with an “abba”).

Children called their fathers “Abba,” a title of endearment, intimacy, and respect. Adults continued the practice, though apparently less frequently, again emphasizing the intimacy of the father-child relationship. Jesus’ use of this title in prayer (Mark 14:36) demonstrated His distinctive intimacy with the heavenly Father, an intimacy which provided the model for those who followed Him by the Spirit (Rom. 8:15).

Jesus’ native language was Aramaic (a Semitic language related to Hebrew), and abba is an Aramaic word. The Gospels, however, were written in Greek rather than in Aramaic, “Abba” being one of the few original Aramaic words preserved in a Gospel. What is most surprising is that Paul’s Greek-speaking readers in Galatia already knew what “Abba” meant (Gal. 4:6). Especially the Roman readers (Rom. 8:15) could not have learned from Paul since he had not visited Rome before writing his letter there. Possibly the early Christians picked up Jesus’ use of “Abba” to represent the intimacy with God which Jesus had provided for them as well.

To understand what “father” meant in Jesus’ world may be helpful to many Christians today who grow up in broken homes or other family structures that are quite different from ancient Mediterranean families. Children generally viewed their fathers as strong and dependable, as affectionate, and as providers (Matt. 7:9–11). For the early Christians to call God “Abba” was for them to recognize a special intimacy with the heavenly Father on whom they depended.

The Law Brings a Curse

<sup>10</sup>For as many as are of the works of the law are under the curse; for it is written, “Cursed is everyone who does not continue in all things which are written in the book of the law, to do them.”<sup>a</sup> <sup>11</sup>But that no one is justified by the law in the sight of God is evident, for “the just shall live by faith.”<sup>a</sup> <sup>12</sup>Yet the law is not of faith, but “the man who does them shall live by them.”<sup>a</sup>

<sup>13</sup>Christ has redeemed us from the curse of the law, having become a curse for us (for it is written, “Cursed is everyone who hangs on a tree”<sup>a</sup>), <sup>14</sup>that the blessing of Abraham might come upon the Gentiles in Christ Jesus, that we might receive the promise of the Spirit through faith.

The Changeless Promise

<sup>15</sup>Brethren, I speak in the manner of men: Though it is only a man’s covenant, yet if it is confirmed, no one annuls or adds to it. <sup>16</sup>Now to Abraham and his Seed were the promises made. He does not say, “And to seeds,” as of many, but as of one, “And to your Seed,”<sup>a</sup> who is Christ. <sup>17</sup>And this I say, that the law, which was four hundred and thirty years later, cannot annul the covenant that was confirmed before by God in Christ,<sup>a</sup> that it should make the promise of no effect. <sup>18</sup>For if the inheritance is of the law, it is no longer of promise; but God gave it to Abraham by promise.

Purpose of the Law

<sup>19</sup>What purpose then does the law serve? It was added because of transgressions, till the Seed should come to whom the promise was made; and it was appointed through angels by the hand of a mediator. <sup>20</sup>Now a mediator does not mediate for one only, but God is one.

<sup>21</sup>Is the law then against the promises of God? Certainly not! For if there had been a law given which could have given life, truly righteousness would have been by the law. <sup>22</sup>But the Scripture has confined all under sin, that the promise by faith in Jesus Christ might be given to those who believe. <sup>23</sup>But before faith came, we were kept under guard by the law, kept for the faith which would afterward be revealed. <sup>24</sup>Therefore the law was our tutor to bring us to Christ, that we might be justified by faith. <sup>25</sup>But after faith has come, we are no longer under a tutor.

Sons and Heirs

<sup>26</sup>For you are all sons of God through faith in Christ Jesus. <sup>27</sup>For as many of you as were baptized into Christ have put on Christ. <sup>28</sup>There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither slave nor free, there is neither male nor female; for you are all one in Christ Jesus. <sup>29</sup>And if you are Christ’s, then you are Abraham’s seed, and heirs according to the promise.

4 <sup>1</sup>Now I say that the heir, as long as he is a child, does not differ at all from a slave, though he is master of all, <sup>2</sup>but is under guardians and stewards until the time appointed by the father.

Arts & Literature

Allegory was a method of interpretation that had been used by the Greeks in reading Homer. In allegory, the characters, actions, and other parts of a story are understood to be symbols standing for other things. In metaphor, there is a comparison, but in allegory, the symbols are like a code used to make assertions about things for which they stand. Paul’s allegory interprets the Old Testament (Gal. 4:24).

3:10 <sup>a</sup>Deuteronomy 27:26

3:11 <sup>a</sup>Habakkuk 2:4

3:12 <sup>a</sup>Leviticus 18:5

3:13 <sup>a</sup>Deuteronomy 21:23

3:16 <sup>a</sup>Genesis 12:7; 13:15; 24:7

3:17 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits in Christ.

<sup>3</sup>Even so we, when we were children, were in bondage under the elements of the world. <sup>4</sup>But when the fullness of the time had come, God sent forth His Son, born<sup>a</sup> of a woman, born under the law, <sup>5</sup>to redeem those who were under the law, that we might receive the adoption as sons.

<sup>6</sup>And because you are sons, God has sent forth the Spirit of His Son into your hearts, crying out, “Abba, Father!” <sup>7</sup>Therefore you are no longer a slave but a son, and if a son, then an heir of <sup>a</sup> God through Christ.

Fears for the Church

<sup>8</sup>But then, indeed, when you did not know God, you served those which by nature are not gods. <sup>9</sup>But now after you have known God, or rather are known by God, how is it that you turn again to the weak and beggarly elements, to which you desire again to be in bondage? <sup>10</sup>You observe days and months and seasons and years. <sup>11</sup>I am afraid for you, lest I have labored for you in vain.

<sup>12</sup>Brethren, I urge you to become like me, for I became like you. You have not injured me at all. <sup>13</sup>You know that because of physical infirmity I preached the gospel to you at the first. <sup>14</sup>And my trial which was in my flesh you did not despise or reject, but you received me as an angel of God, even as Christ Jesus. <sup>15</sup>What<sup>a</sup> then was the blessing you enjoyed? For I bear you witness that, if possible, you would have plucked out your own eyes and given them to me. <sup>16</sup>Have I therefore become your enemy because I tell you the truth?

<sup>17</sup>They zealously court you, but for no good; yes, they want to exclude you, that you may be zealous for them. <sup>18</sup>But it is good to be zealous in a good thing always, and not only when I am present with you. <sup>19</sup>My little children, for whom I labor in birth again until Christ is formed in you, <sup>20</sup>I would like to be present with you now and to change my tone; for I have doubts about you.

Two Covenants

<sup>21</sup>Tell me, you who desire to be under the law, do you not hear the law? <sup>22</sup>For it is written that Abraham had two sons: the one by a bondwoman, the other by a freewoman. <sup>23</sup>But he who was of the bondwoman was born according to the flesh, and he of the freewoman through promise, <sup>24</sup>which things are symbolic. For these are the<sup>a</sup> two covenants: the one from Mount Sinai which gives birth to bondage, which is Hagar—<sup>25</sup>for this Hagar is Mount Sinai in Arabia, and corresponds to Jerusalem which now is, and is in bondage with her children—<sup>26</sup>but the Jerusalem above is free, which is the mother of us all. <sup>27</sup>For it is written:

*“Rejoice, O barren,
You who do not bear!
Break forth and shout,
You who are not in labor!
For the desolate has many more children
Than she who has a husband.”<sup>a</sup>*

<sup>28</sup>Now we, brethren, as Isaac was, are children of promise. <sup>29</sup>But, as he who was born according to the flesh then persecuted him who was born according to the Spirit, even so it is now. <sup>30</sup>Nevertheless what does the Scripture say? “Cast out the bondwoman and her son, for the son of the bondwoman shall not be heir with the son of the freewoman.”<sup>a</sup> <sup>31</sup>So then, brethren, we are not children of the bondwoman but of the free.

Christian Liberty

5 <sup>1</sup>Stand fast therefore in the liberty by which Christ has made us free,<sup>a</sup> and do not be entangled again with a yoke of bondage. <sup>2</sup>Indeed I, Paul, say to you that if you become circumcised, Christ will profit you nothing. <sup>3</sup>And I testify again to every man who becomes circumcised that he is a debtor to keep the whole law. <sup>4</sup>You have become estranged from Christ, you who at-tempt to be justified by law; you have fallen from grace. <sup>5</sup>For we through the Spirit eagerly wait for the hope of righteousness by faith. <sup>6</sup>For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision nor uncircumcision avails anything, but faith working through love.

Love Fulfills the Law

<sup>7</sup>You ran well. Who hindered you from obeying the truth? <sup>8</sup>This persuasion does not come from Him who calls you. <sup>9</sup>A little leaven leavens the whole lump. <sup>10</sup>I have confidence in you, in the Lord, that you will have no other mind; but he who troubles you shall bear his judgment, whoever he is.

<sup>11</sup>And I, brethren, if I still preach circumcision, why do I still suffer persecution? Then the offense of the cross has ceased. <sup>12</sup>I could wish that those who trouble you would even cut themselves off!

Religion & Worship

Circumcision, the operation to remove a fold of skin from the male parts, is usually performed on infants. All Jews practiced it as a sign of the covenant that God made with them through Abraham. If a person converted to Judaism, circumcision was a definitive step to take. When Christians said it was not necessary, they were clearly separating themselves from Judaism (Gal. 5:3–6; 6:13).

<sup>4:4</sup> <sup>a</sup>Or made <sup>4:7</sup> <sup>a</sup>NU-Text reads through God and omits through Christ. <sup>4:15</sup> <sup>a</sup>NU-Text reads Where. <sup>4:24</sup> <sup>a</sup>NU-Text and M-Text omit the. <sup>4:27</sup> <sup>a</sup>Isaiah 54:1 <sup>4:30</sup> <sup>a</sup>Genesis 21:10 <sup>5:1</sup> <sup>a</sup>NU-Text reads For freedom Christ has made us free; stand fast therefore.

<sup>13</sup>For you, brethren, have been called to liberty; only do not use liberty as an opportunity for the flesh, but through love serve one another. <sup>14</sup>For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this: “You shall love your neighbor as yourself.” <sup>15</sup>But if you bite and devour one another, beware lest you be consumed by one another!

Walking in the Spirit

<sup>16</sup>I say then: Walk in the Spirit, and you shall not fulfill the lust of the flesh. <sup>17</sup>For the flesh lusts against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh; and these are contrary to one another, so that you do not do the things that you wish. <sup>18</sup>But if you are led by the Spirit, you are not under the law.

<sup>19</sup>Now the works of the flesh are evident, which are: adultery,<sup>a</sup> fornication, uncleanness, lewdness, <sup>20</sup>idolatry, sorcery, hatred, contentions, jealousies, outbursts of wrath, selfish ambitions, dissensions, heresies, <sup>21</sup>envy, murders,<sup>a</sup> drunkenness, revelries, and the like; of which I tell you beforehand, just as I also told you in time past, that those who practice such things will not inherit the kingdom of God.

<sup>22</sup>But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, <sup>23</sup>gentleness, self-control. Against such there is no law. <sup>24</sup>And those who are Christ’s have crucified the flesh with its passions and desires. <sup>25</sup>If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit. <sup>26</sup>Let us not become conceited, provoking one another, envying one another.

Bear and Share the Burdens

6 <sup>1</sup>Brethren, if a man is overtaken in any trespass, you who are spiritual restore such a one in a spirit of gentleness, considering yourself lest you also be tempted. <sup>2</sup>Bear one another’s burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ. <sup>3</sup>For if anyone thinks himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceives himself. <sup>4</sup>But let each one examine his own work, and then he will have rejoicing in himself alone, and not in another. <sup>5</sup>For each one shall bear his own load.

Be Generous and Do Good

<sup>6</sup>Let him who is taught the word share in all good things with him who teaches.

<sup>7</sup>Do not be deceived, God is not mocked; for whatever a man sows, that he will also reap. <sup>8</sup>For he who sows to his flesh will of the flesh reap corruption, but he who sows to the Spirit will of the Spirit reap everlasting life. <sup>9</sup>And let us not grow weary while doing good, for in due season

we shall reap if we do not lose heart. <sup>10</sup>Therefore, as we have opportunity, let us do good to all, especially to those who are of the household of faith.

Glory Only in the Cross

<sup>11</sup>See with what large letters I have written to you with my own hand! <sup>12</sup>As many as desire to make a good showing in the flesh, these would compel you to be circumcised, only that they may not suffer persecution for the cross of Christ. <sup>13</sup>For not even those who are circumcised keep the law, but they desire to have you circumcised that they may boast in your flesh. <sup>14</sup>But God forbid that I should boast except in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom<sup>a</sup> the world has been crucified to me, and I to the world. <sup>15</sup>For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision nor uncircumcision avails anything, but a new creation.

Blessing and a Plea

<sup>16</sup>And as many as walk according to this rule, peace and mercy be upon them, and upon the Israel of God.

<sup>17</sup>From now on let no one trouble me, for I bear in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus.

<sup>18</sup>Brethren, the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit. Amen.

TRANSITION

The Letter of James

The writer of this letter identifies himself only as “James, a bondservant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ” (1:1). The name “James” has usually been identified with the James who led the church in Jerusalem (Acts 15:13). Paul referred to this James as “the Lord’s brother” (see Mark 6:3) and included him among the “apostles” (Gal. 1:19). He also characterized him as one of the “pillars” of the church (Gal. 2:9). When Peter left Palestine (Acts 12:17), James seems to have become the leader of the Jerusalem church.

Since the early centuries, however, there has been disagreement about whether James, the Lord’s brother, actually wrote this letter. There are no allusions to a personal relationship with Jesus, and indeed Jesus is only mentioned twice (James 1:1; 2:1). Both the quality of the letter’s Greek and the structure of its arguments have suggested to some that the author was a Hellenistic Jew rather than a Jew from Palestine. If so, then the letter is pseudonymous, and the actual author associated the work with James the Just (as he was later known) by using his name. It is also possible the letter was written by a Hellenistic Jew actually named “James,” who is otherwise unknown to us.

VARIOUS TRIALS OF THE POOR (JAMES 1:2)

The letter of James seems especially to address the trials of the poor (James 1:2), suggesting a right response to poverty and suffering. In Judea at this time, wealthy Sadducean priests were seizing the tithes that rightfully belonged to the poorer priests. In Galilee, rich landlords were repressing the poor peasants who worked on their estates. Similar situations existed throughout much of the Roman Empire, which was therefore primed for violence. In Rome, shortages of grain often led to riots.

Conditions like these partially contributed to a revolt against Rome in Judea in the year A.D. 66—a revolt which led to widespread destruction and enslavement. Meanwhile a wave of violence was unleashed in Rome itself, and before Jerusalem fell in A.D. 70 Rome had discarded four emperors. Wealth, poverty, repression, and violence were the standard fare of the day.

The letter of James was written to encourage Christians who were suffering. The opening prologue summarizes the appropriate responses to their trials, responses which the rest of the letter discusses: wisdom (1:5), faith (1:6–8), and endurance (1:9–11). The letter also describes tensions between the rich and the poor: The wealthy are arrogant against the poor (2:1–4), and even repress them (2:6, 7) and withhold their wages (5:4). Yet the poor are advised not to retaliate with violence in deed (4:1, 2) or, perhaps more tempting, in words (4:11; 5:9).

No evidence determines exactly when the letter was written. Scholars who believe the letter to be an authentic work of James the Just necessarily date it before his martyrdom in A.D. 62. Since the letter does not hint at any controversy over the issue of circumcision, some would date it around A.D. 45, before the Jerusalem Council (see “Conference in Jerusalem” at Acts 15:1). Others, however, would place it late in James’s life after the controversy had diminished. Those who view the letter as pseudonymous usually date it in the last quarter of the 1st century (c. 75–100).

Greeting to the Twelve Tribes

1:1 James, a bondservant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ,

To the twelve tribes which are scattered abroad:

Greetings.

Profiting from Trials

<sup>2</sup>My brethren, count it all joy when you fall into various trials, <sup>3</sup>knowing that the testing of your faith produces patience. <sup>4</sup>But let patience have its perfect work, that you may be perfect and complete, lacking nothing. <sup>5</sup>If any of you lacks wisdom, let him ask of God, who gives to all liberally and without reproach, and it will be given to him. <sup>6</sup>But let him ask in faith, with no doubting, for he who doubts is like a wave of the sea driven and tossed by the wind. <sup>7</sup>For let not that man suppose that he will receive anything from the Lord; <sup>8</sup>he is a double-minded man, unstable in all his ways.

The Perspective of Rich and Poor

<sup>9</sup>Let the lowly brother glory in his exaltation, <sup>10</sup>but the rich in his humiliation, because as a flower of the field he will pass away. <sup>11</sup>For no sooner has the sun risen with a burning heat than it withers the grass; its flower falls, and its beautiful appearance perishes. So the rich man also will fade away in his pursuits.

Loving God Under Trials

<sup>12</sup>Blessed is the man who endures temptation; for when he has been approved, he will receive the crown of life which the Lord has promised to those who love Him. <sup>13</sup>Let no one say when he is tempted, “I am tempted by God”; for God cannot be tempted by evil, nor does He Himself tempt anyone. <sup>14</sup>But each one is tempted when he is drawn away by his own desires and enticed. <sup>15</sup>Then, when desire has conceived, it gives birth to sin; and sin, when it is full-grown, brings forth death.

<sup>16</sup>Do not be deceived, my beloved brethren. <sup>17</sup>Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and comes down from the Father of lights, with whom there is no variation or shadow of turning. <sup>18</sup>Of His own will He brought us forth by the word of truth, that we might be a kind of firstfruits of His creatures.

Qualities Needed in Trials

<sup>19</sup>So then,<sup>a</sup> my beloved brethren, let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath; <sup>20</sup>for the wrath of man does not produce the righteousness of God.

Doers—Not Hearers Only

<sup>21</sup>Therefore lay aside all filthiness and overflow of wickedness, and receive with meekness the implanted word, which is able to save your souls.

<sup>22</sup>But be doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving yourselves. <sup>23</sup>For if anyone is a hearer of the word and not a doer, he is like a man observing his natural face in a mirror; <sup>24</sup>for he observes himself, goes away, and immediately forgets what kind of man he was. <sup>25</sup>But he who looks into the perfect law of liberty and continues in it, and is not a forgetful hearer but a doer of the work, this one will be blessed in what he does.

<sup>26</sup>If anyone among you<sup>a</sup> thinks he is religious, and does not bridle his tongue but deceives his own heart, this one's religion is useless. <sup>27</sup>Pure and undefiled religion before God and the Father is this: to visit orphans and widows in their trouble, and to keep oneself unspotted from the world.

Beware of Personal Favoritism

2 My brethren, do not hold the faith of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Lord of glory, with partiality. <sup>2</sup>For if there should come into your assembly a man with gold rings, in fine apparel, and there should also come in a poor man in filthy clothes, <sup>3</sup>and you pay attention to the one wearing the fine clothes and say to him, “You sit here in a good place,” and say to the poor man, “You stand there,” or, “Sit here at my footstool,” <sup>4</sup>have you not shown partiality among yourselves, and become judges with evil thoughts?

<sup>5</sup>Listen, my beloved brethren: Has God not chosen the poor of this world to be rich in faith and heirs of the kingdom which He promised to those who love Him? <sup>6</sup>But you have dishonored the poor man. Do not the rich oppress you and drag you into the courts? <sup>7</sup>Do they not blaspheme that noble name by which you are called?

<sup>8</sup>If you really fulfill the royal law according to the Scripture, “You shall love your neighbor as yourself,”<sup>a</sup> you do well; <sup>9</sup>but if you show partiality, you commit sin, and are convicted by the law as transgressors. <sup>10</sup>For whoever shall keep the whole law, and yet stumble in one point, he is guilty of all. <sup>11</sup>For He who said, “Do not commit adultery,”<sup>a</sup> also said, “Do not murder.”<sup>b</sup> Now if you do not commit adultery, but you do murder, you have become a transgressor of the law. <sup>12</sup>So speak and so do as those who will be judged by the law of liberty. <sup>13</sup>For judgment is without mercy to the one who has shown no mercy. Mercy triumphs over judgment.

Faith Without Works Is Dead

<sup>14</sup>What does it profit, my brethren, if someone says he has faith but does not have works? Can faith save him? <sup>15</sup>If a brother or sister is naked and destitute of daily food, <sup>16</sup>and one of you says to them, “Depart in peace, be warmed and filled,” but you do not give them the things which are needed for the body, what does it profit? <sup>17</sup>Thus also faith by itself, if it does not have works, is dead.

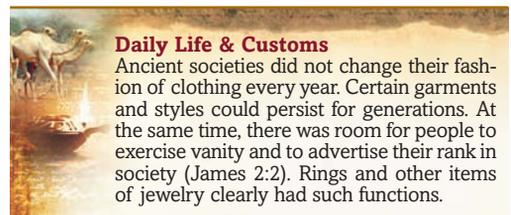

<sup>18</sup>But someone will say, “You have faith, and I have works.” Show me your faith without your<sup>a</sup> works, and I will show you my faith by my<sup>b</sup> works. <sup>19</sup>You believe that there is one God. You do well. Even the demons believe—and tremble! <sup>20</sup>But do you want to know, O foolish man, that faith without works is dead?<sup>a</sup> <sup>21</sup>Was not Abraham our father justified by works when he offered Isaac his son on the altar? <sup>22</sup>Do you see that faith was working together with his works, and by works faith was made perfect? <sup>23</sup>And the Scripture was fulfilled which says, “Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness.”<sup>a</sup> And he was called the friend of God. <sup>24</sup>You see then that a man is justified by works, and not by faith only.

<sup>25</sup>Likewise, was not Rahab the harlot also justified by works when she received the messengers and sent them out another way?

<sup>26</sup>For as the body without the spirit is dead, so faith without works is dead also.

The Untamable Tongue

3 My brethren, let not many of you become teachers, knowing that we shall receive a stricter judgment. <sup>2</sup>For we all stumble in many things. If anyone does not stumble in word, he is a perfect man, able also to bridle the whole body. <sup>3</sup>Indeed,<sup>a</sup> we put bits in horses' mouths that they may obey us, and we turn their whole body. <sup>4</sup>Look also at ships: although they are so large and are driven by fierce winds, they are turned by a very small rudder wherever the pilot desires.

Daily Life & Customs

Ancient societies did not change their fashion of clothing every year. Certain garments and styles could persist for generations. At the same time, there was room for people to exercise vanity and to advertise their rank in society (James 2:2). Rings and other items of jewelry clearly had such functions.

<sup>5</sup>Even so the tongue is a little member and boasts great things.

See how great a forest a little fire kindles!

<sup>6</sup>And the tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity. The tongue is so set among our members that it defiles the whole body, and sets on fire the course of nature; and it is set on fire by hell. <sup>7</sup>For every kind of beast and bird, of reptile and creature of the sea, is tamed and has been tamed by mankind.

<sup>8</sup>But no man can tame the tongue. It is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison. <sup>9</sup>With it we bless our God and Father, and with it we curse men, who have been made in the similitude of God. <sup>10</sup>Out of the same mouth proceed blessing and cursing. My brethren, these things ought not to be so. <sup>11</sup>Does a spring send forth fresh water and bitter from the same opening? <sup>12</sup>Can a fig tree, my brethren, bear olives, or a grapevine bear figs? Thus no spring yields both salt water and fresh.<sup>a</sup>

Heavenly Versus Demonic Wisdom

<sup>13</sup>Who is wise and understanding among you? Let him show by good conduct that his works are done in the meekness of wisdom. <sup>14</sup>But if you have bitter envy and self-seeking in your hearts, do not boast and lie against the truth. <sup>15</sup>This wisdom does not descend from above, but is earthly, sensual, demonic. <sup>16</sup>For where envy and self-seeking exist, confusion and every evil thing are there. <sup>17</sup>But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, willing to yield, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality and without hypocrisy. <sup>18</sup>Now the fruit of righteousness is sown in peace by those who make peace.

Pride Promotes Strife

4 <sup>1</sup>Where do wars and fights come from among you? Do they not come from your desires for pleasure that war in your members? <sup>2</sup>You lust and do not have. You murder and covet and cannot obtain. You fight and war. Yet<sup>a</sup> you do not have because you do not ask. <sup>3</sup>You ask and do not receive, because you ask amiss, that you may spend it on your pleasures. <sup>4</sup>Adulterers and<sup>a</sup> adulteresses! Do you not know that friendship with the world is enmity with God? Whoever therefore wants to be a friend of the world makes himself an enemy of God. <sup>5</sup>Or do you think that the Scripture says in vain, “The Spirit who dwells in us yearns jealously”?

<sup>6</sup>But He gives more grace. Therefore He says:

*“God resists the proud,
But gives grace to the humble.”<sup>a</sup>*

Humility Cures Worldliness

<sup>7</sup>Therefore submit to God. Resist the devil and he will flee from you. <sup>8</sup>Draw near to God and He will draw near to you. Cleanse your hands, you sinners; and purify your hearts, you double-minded. <sup>9</sup>Lament and mourn and weep! Let your laughter be turned to mourning and your joy to gloom. <sup>10</sup>Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and He will lift you up.

Do Not Judge a Brother

<sup>11</sup>Do not speak evil of one another, brethren. He who speaks evil of a brother and judges his brother, speaks evil of the law and judges the law. But if you judge the law, you are not a doer of the law but a judge. <sup>12</sup>There is one Lawgiver,<sup>a</sup> who is able to save and to destroy. Who<sup>b</sup> are you to judge another?<sup>c</sup>

Do Not Boast About Tomorrow

<sup>13</sup>Come now, you who say, “Today or tomorrow we will<sup>a</sup> go to such and such a city, spend a year there, buy and sell, and make a profit”; <sup>14</sup>whereas you do not know what will happen tomorrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapor that appears for a little time and then vanishes away. <sup>15</sup>Instead you ought to say, “If the Lord wills, we shall live and do this or that.” <sup>16</sup>But now you boast in your arrogance. All such boasting is evil.

<sup>17</sup>Therefore, to him who knows to do good and does not do it, to him it is sin.

Rich Oppressors Will Be Judged

5 <sup>1</sup>Come now, you rich, weep and howl for your miseries that are coming upon you! <sup>2</sup>Your riches are corrupted, and your garments are moth-eaten. <sup>3</sup>Your gold and silver are corroded, and their corrosion will be a witness against you and will eat your flesh like fire. You have heaped up treasure in the last days. <sup>4</sup>Indeed the wages of the laborers who mowed your fields, which you kept back by fraud, cry out; and the cries of the reapers have reached the ears of the Lord of Sabaoth.<sup>a</sup> <sup>5</sup>You have lived on the earth in pleasure and luxury; you have fattened your hearts as<sup>a</sup> in a day of slaughter. <sup>6</sup>You have condemned, you have murdered the just; he does not resist you.

Be Patient and Persevering

<sup>7</sup>Therefore be patient, brethren, until the coming of the Lord. See how the farmer waits for the precious fruit of the earth, waiting patiently for it until it receives the early and latter rain. <sup>8</sup>You also be patient. Establish your hearts, for the coming of the Lord is at hand.

<sup>9</sup>Do not grumble against one another, brethren, lest you be condemned.<sup>a</sup> Behold, the Judge is standing at the door! <sup>10</sup>My brethren, take the prophets, who spoke in the name of the Lord, as an example of suffering and patience. <sup>11</sup>Indeed we count them blessed who endure. You have heard of the perseverance of Job and seen the end intended by the Lord—that the Lord is very compassionate and merciful.

<sup>12</sup>But above all, my brethren, do not swear, either by heaven or by earth or with any other oath. But let your “Yes” be “Yes,” and your “No,” “No,” lest you fall into judgment.<sup>a</sup>

Meeting Specific Needs

<sup>13</sup>Is anyone among you suffering? Let him pray. Is anyone cheerful? Let him sing psalms. <sup>14</sup>Is anyone among you sick? Let him call for the elders of the church, and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord. <sup>15</sup>And the prayer of faith will save the sick, and the Lord will raise him up. And if he has committed sins, he will be forgiven. <sup>16</sup>Confess your trespasses<sup>a</sup> to one another, and pray for one another, that you may be healed. The effective, fervent prayer of a righteous man avails much. <sup>17</sup>Elijah was a man with a nature like ours, and he prayed earnestly that it would not rain; and it did not rain on the land for three years and six months. <sup>18</sup>And he prayed again, and the heaven gave rain, and the earth produced its fruit.

Bringing Back the Erring One

<sup>19</sup>Brethren, if anyone among you wanders from the truth, and someone turns him back, <sup>20</sup>let him know that he who turns a sinner from the error of his way will save a soul<sup>a</sup> from death and cover a multitude of sins.

Paul's Second Missionary Journey

Paul's second missionary journey took him back to Asia Minor, then over to Europe to the cities of Philippi (Acts 16:11–40), Thessalonica (17:1–9), Berea (17:10–15), Athens (17:16–34), and Corinth (18:1–17). Most scholars agree that this trip ended about A.D. 52 when Paul returned to Antioch (18:22), but the beginning of the trip is variously dated between 46 and 50.

A disagreement between Paul and Barnabas over whether John Mark should accompany them on the new mission resulted in two missions instead of only one (15:37–40). Barnabas and Mark went one direction, while Paul ministered with Silas throughout this journey (15:40), with Timothy joining them at Lystra (16:1–3). The gospel spread further as Paul came into contact with Roman authorities and Greek philosophers.

Division over John Mark

15 :36 Then after some days Paul said to Barnabas, “Let us now go back and visit our brethren in every city where we have preached the word of the Lord, and see how they are doing.” <sup>37</sup>Now Barnabas was determined to take with them John called Mark. <sup>38</sup>But Paul insisted that they should not take with them the one who had departed from them in Pamphylia, and had not gone with them to the work. <sup>39</sup>Then the contention became so sharp that they parted from one another. And so Barnabas took Mark and sailed to Cyprus; <sup>40</sup>but Paul chose Silas and departed, being commended by the brethren to the grace of God. <sup>41</sup>And he went through Syria and Cilicia, strengthening the churches.

NIGHTTIME EXIT TO BEREA (ACTS 17:10)

The Egnatian Way was a main east-west highway in Paul's time. On his second missionary journey Paul traveled the Egnatian Way from Philippi through Amphipolis and Apollonia, finally arriving at Thessalonica. The highway ran on from Thessalonica westward toward Pella. However, in departing from Thessalonica, Paul left this main highway and turned south toward Berea (Acts 17:10).

Berea was a town in the southwest portion of the Roman province of Macedonia (now northern Greece). Cicero, the Roman writer, describes Berea as "off the beaten track" (Pisonem 36). We can imagine Paul and Silas, needing to avoid authorities that might have pursued them, traveling under duress, by night, and not on the Egnatian Way. These were not pleasant conditions in which to make the 50-mile journey from Thessalonica to Berea.

Timothy Joins Paul and Silas

16 <sup>1</sup>Then he came to Derbe and Lystra. And behold, a certain disciple was there, named Timothy, the son of a certain Jewish woman who believed, but his father was Greek. <sup>2</sup>He was well spoken of by the brethren who were at Lystra and Iconium. <sup>3</sup>Paul wanted to have him go on with him. And he took him and circumcised him because of the Jews who were in that region, for they all knew that his father was Greek. <sup>4</sup>And as they went through the cities, they delivered to them the decrees to keep, which were determined by the apostles and elders at Jerusalem. <sup>5</sup>So the churches were strengthened in the faith, and increased in number daily.

The Macedonian Call

<sup>6</sup>Now when they had gone through Phrygia and the region of Galatia, they were forbidden by the Holy Spirit to preach the word in Asia. <sup>7</sup>After they had come to Mysia, they tried to go into Bithynia, but the Spirit<sup>a</sup> did not permit them. <sup>8</sup>So passing by Mysia, they came down to Troas. <sup>9</sup>And a vision appeared to Paul in the night. A man of Macedonia stood and pleaded with him, saying, "Come over to Macedonia and help us." <sup>10</sup>Now after he had seen the vision, immediately we sought to go to Macedonia, concluding that the Lord had called us to preach the gospel to them.

Lydia Baptized at Philippi

<sup>11</sup>Therefore, sailing from Troas, we ran a straight course to Samothrace, and the next day came to Neapolis, <sup>12</sup>and from there to Philippi, which is the foremost city of that part of Macedonia, a colony. And we were staying in that city for some days. <sup>13</sup>And on the Sabbath day we went out of the city to the riverside, where prayer was customarily made; and we sat down and spoke to the women who met there. <sup>14</sup>Now a certain woman named Lydia heard us. She was a seller of purple from the city of Thyatira, who worshiped God. The Lord opened her heart to heed the things spoken by Paul. <sup>15</sup>And when she and her household were baptized, she begged us, saying, "If you have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, come to my house and stay." So she persuaded us.

Paul and Silas Imprisoned

<sup>16</sup>Now it happened, as we went to prayer, that a certain slave girl possessed with a spirit of divination met us, who brought her masters much profit by fortune-telling. <sup>17</sup>This girl followed Paul and us, and cried out, saying, "These men are the servants of the Most High God, who proclaim to us the way of salvation." <sup>18</sup>And this she did for many days.

But Paul, greatly annoyed, turned and said to the spirit, "I command you in the name of Jesus Christ to come out of her." And he came out that very hour. <sup>19</sup>But when her masters saw that their hope of profit was gone, they seized Paul and Silas and dragged them into the marketplace to the authorities.

STOICS, EPICUREANS, AND A BABBLER (ACTS 17:18)

In Athens, Paul encountered the Epicurean and Stoic philosophers (Acts 17:18). Epicureans, who held little influence outside the academic elite of their day, dismissed popular Greek notions about the gods. If deities existed, Epicureans argued, one could know them only in terms of physical phenomena like stars or planets. In Epicurean philosophy the supreme goal was pleasure, defined especially as the absence of pain.

By contrast, the more popular Stoics opposed pleasure, criticized Epicureans, and usually professed belief in the gods. Nevertheless, Stoics had interpretations of the gods that were quite different from those held by the common people. Sometimes Stoics focused on the supreme deity, whom they saw as ruling and permeating the universe.

Paul could not appeal simultaneously to both of these groups as he addressed them at the Areopagus. Most of what he says fits both Christian and Stoic teaching (Acts 17:22–29). Only after he had won his audience's ear did he present distinctive Christian theology (17:30, 31).

In 399 B.C. the council of the Areopagus had accused Socrates of introducing new gods, so with the charge against Paul of proclaiming “foreign gods” (17:18) the Athenians were treating him as they had their most famous thinker. Such a charge had once been a capital offense in Athens; they had stoned to death a priestess for the same crime.

Paul's philosophic critics called him a “babblor” (17:18). In Greek, the term originally referred to birds pecking up grain, but by Paul's time it meant worthless persons—perhaps somewhat like the traditional American insult “birdbrain.” Yet this “babblor's” sermon was not a failure, and resulted in new believers including the influential Dionysius (17:33, 34). A tradition from Eusebius reports that Dionysius the Areopagite became the first Christian bishop of Athens.

<sup>20</sup>And they brought them to the magistrates, and said, “These men, being Jews, exceedingly trouble our city; <sup>21</sup>and they teach customs which are not lawful for us, being Romans, to receive or observe.” <sup>22</sup>Then the multitude rose up together against them; and the magistrates tore off their clothes and commanded them to be beaten with rods. <sup>23</sup>And when they had laid many stripes on them, they threw them into prison, commanding the jailer to keep them securely. <sup>24</sup>Having received such a charge, he put them into the inner prison and fastened their feet in the stocks.

The Philippian Jailer Saved

<sup>25</sup>But at midnight Paul and Silas were praying and singing hymns to God, and the prisoners were listening to them. <sup>26</sup>Suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundations of the prison were shaken; and immediately all the doors were opened and everyone's chains were loosed. <sup>27</sup>And the keeper of the prison, awaking from sleep and seeing the prison doors open, supposing the prisoners had fled, drew his sword and was about to kill himself. <sup>28</sup>But Paul called with a loud voice, saying, “Do yourself no harm, for we are all here.”

<sup>29</sup>Then he called for a light, ran in, and fell down trembling before Paul and Silas. <sup>30</sup>And he brought them out and said, “Sirs, what must I do to be saved?”

<sup>31</sup>So they said, “Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and you will be saved, you and your household.” <sup>32</sup>Then they spoke the word of the Lord to him and to all who were in his house. <sup>33</sup>And he took them the same hour of the night and washed their stripes. And immediately he and all his family were baptized. <sup>34</sup>Now when he had brought them into his house, he set food before them; and he rejoiced, having believed in God with all his household.

Paul Refuses to Depart Secretly

<sup>35</sup>And when it was day, the magistrates sent the officers, saying, “Let those men go.”

<sup>36</sup>So the keeper of the prison reported these words to Paul, saying, “The magistrates have sent to let you go. Now therefore depart, and go in peace.”

<sup>37</sup>But Paul said to them, “They have beaten us openly, uncondemned Romans, and have thrown us into prison. And now do they put us out secretly? No indeed! Let them come themselves and get us out.”

<sup>38</sup>And the officers told these words to the magistrates, and they were afraid when they heard that they were Romans. <sup>39</sup>Then they came and pleaded with them and brought them out, and asked them to depart from the city. <sup>40</sup>So they went out of the prison and entered the house of Lydia; and when they had seen the brethren, they encouraged them and departed.

Preaching Christ at Thessalonica

17 <sup>1</sup>Now when they had passed through Amphipolis and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where there was a synagogue of the Jews. <sup>2</sup>Then Paul, as his custom was, went in to them, and for three Sabbaths reasoned with them from the Scriptures, <sup>3</sup>explaining and demonstrating that the Christ had to suffer and rise again from the dead, and saying, “This Jesus whom I preach to you is the Christ.” <sup>4</sup>And some of them were persuaded; and a great multitude of the devout Greeks, and not a few of the leading women, joined Paul and Silas.

PAUL BEFORE THE AREOPAGUS (ACTS 17:19)

In A.D. 50 Paul visited Athens and began preaching in the agora, the marketplace which in ancient Greece served as the center of public life (Acts 17:17). Paul was summoned by the Athenians to the Areopagus, where he preached his sermon about the “unknown God” (Acts 17:19–23). The purpose of his visit to the Areopagus and its council is not certain, but he may have been on trial to defend his beliefs. We know of one individual from the Areopagus council, Dionysius, who became convinced of the truthfulness of Paul’s message (Acts 17:34).

The Areopagus was a prominent hill in Athens (nearly 400 feet high) that was associated with the Greek god of war, Ares. Although ancient references to the council of the Areopagus are few, it is evident that it was an aristocratic body that advised the king. It then assumed royal functions after the Athenians deposed their monarchy (sometime before 800 B.C.). With the rise of democracy in 500 B.C. the council lost some of its power and became largely an esteemed group with religious functions.

By the 1st century A.D. the council of the Areopagus had regained much of its former authority. The assembly to which Paul preached was again the chief governing body in Athens, a position it would keep until the advent of Christian domination in the 4th century A.D.

Assault on Jason’s House

<sup>5</sup>But the Jews who were not persuaded, becoming envious,<sup>a</sup> took some of the evil men from the marketplace, and gathering a mob, set all the city in an uproar and attacked the house of Jason, and sought to bring them out to the people. <sup>6</sup>But when they did not find them, they dragged Jason and some brethren to the rulers of the city, crying out, “These who have turned the world upside down have come here too. <sup>7</sup>Jason has harbored them, and these are all acting contrary to the decrees of Caesar, saying there is another king—Jesus.” <sup>8</sup>And they troubled the crowd and the rulers of the city when they heard these things. <sup>9</sup>So when they had taken security from Jason and the rest, they let them go.

Ministering at Berea

<sup>10</sup>Then the brethren immediately sent Paul and Silas away by night to Berea. When they arrived, they went into the synagogue of the Jews. <sup>11</sup>These were more fair-minded than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness, and searched the Scriptures daily to find out whether these things were so. <sup>12</sup>Therefore many of them believed, and also not a few of the Greeks, prominent women as well as men. <sup>13</sup>But when the Jews from Thessalonica learned that the word of God was preached by Paul at Berea, they came there also and stirred up the crowds. <sup>14</sup>Then immediately the brethren sent Paul away, to go to the sea; but both Silas and

Timothy remained there. <sup>15</sup>So those who conducted Paul brought him to Athens; and receiving a command for Silas and Timothy to come to him with all speed, they departed.

The Philosophers at Athens

<sup>16</sup>Now while Paul waited for them at Athens, his spirit was provoked within him when he saw that the city was given over to idols. <sup>17</sup>Therefore he reasoned in the synagogue with the Jews and with the Gentile worshipers, and in the marketplace daily with those who happened to be there. <sup>18</sup>Then<sup>a</sup> certain Epicurean and Stoic philosophers encountered him. And some said, “What does this babblor want to say?”

Others said, “He seems to be a proclaimer of foreign gods,” because he preached to them Jesus and the resurrection.

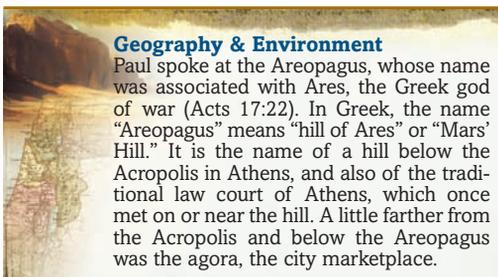

<sup>19</sup>And they took him and brought him to the Areopagus, saying, “May we know what this new doctrine is of which you speak? <sup>20</sup>For you are bringing some strange things to our ears. Therefore we want to know what these things mean.” <sup>21</sup>For all the Athenians and the foreigners who were there spent their time in nothing else but either to tell or to hear some new thing.

Addressing the Areopagus

<sup>22</sup>Then Paul stood in the midst of the Areopagus and said, “Men of Athens, I perceive that in all things you are very religious; <sup>23</sup>for as I was passing through and considering the objects of your worship, I even found an altar with this inscription:

TO THE UNKNOWN GOD.

Therefore, the One whom you worship without knowing, Him I proclaim to you: <sup>24</sup>God, who made the world and everything in it, since He is Lord of heaven and earth, does not dwell in temples made

Geography & Environment

Paul spoke at the Areopagus, whose name was associated with Ares, the Greek god of war (Acts 17:22). In Greek, the name “Areopagus” means “hill of Ares” or “Mars’ Hill.” It is the name of a hill below the Acropolis in Athens, and also of the traditional law court of Athens, which once met on or near the hill. A little farther from the Acropolis and below the Areopagus was the agora, the city marketplace.

17:5 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text omits who were not persuaded; M-Text omits becoming envious. 17:18 <sup>a</sup>NU-Text and M-Text add also.

with hands. <sup>25</sup>Nor is He worshiped with men's hands, as though He needed anything, since He gives to all life, breath, and all things. <sup>26</sup>And He has made from one blood<sup>a</sup> every nation of men to dwell on all the face of the earth, and has determined their preappointed times and the boundaries of their dwellings, <sup>27</sup>so that they should seek the Lord, in the hope that they might grope for Him and find Him, though He is not far from each one of us; <sup>28</sup>for in Him we live and move and have our being, as also some of your own poets have said, 'For we are also His offspring.' <sup>29</sup>Therefore, since we are the offspring of God, we ought not to think that the Divine Nature is like gold or silver or stone, something shaped by art and man's devising. <sup>30</sup>Truly, these times of ignorance God overlooked, but now commands all men everywhere to repent, <sup>31</sup>because He has appointed a day on which He will judge the world in righteousness by the Man whom He has ordained. He has given assurance of this to all by raising Him from the dead."

<sup>32</sup>And when they heard of the resurrection of the dead, some mocked, while others said, "We will hear you again on this matter." <sup>33</sup>So Paul departed from among them. <sup>34</sup>However, some men joined him and believed, among them Dionysius the Areopagite, a woman named Damaris, and others with them.

Ministering at Corinth

18 <sup>1</sup>After these things Paul departed from Athens and went to Corinth. <sup>2</sup>And he found a certain Jew named Aquila, born in Pontus, who had recently come from Italy with his wife Priscilla (because Claudius had commanded all the Jews to depart from Rome); and he came to them. <sup>3</sup>So, because he was of the same trade, he stayed with them and worked; for by occupation they were tentmakers. <sup>4</sup>And he reasoned in the synagogue every Sabbath, and persuaded both Jews and Greeks.

<sup>5</sup>When Silas and Timothy had come from Macedonia, Paul was compelled by the Spirit, and testified to the Jews that Jesus is the Christ. <sup>6</sup>But when they opposed him and blasphemed, he shook his garments and said to them, "Your blood be upon your own heads; I am clean. From now on I will go to the Gentiles." <sup>7</sup>And he departed from there and entered the house of a certain man named Justus,<sup>a</sup> one who worshiped God, whose house was next door to the synagogue. <sup>8</sup>Then Crispus, the ruler of the synagogue, believed on the Lord with all his household. And many of the Corinthians, hearing, believed and were baptized.

<sup>9</sup>Now the Lord spoke to Paul in the night by a vision, "Do not be afraid, but speak, and do not keep silent; <sup>10</sup>for I am with you, and no one will attack you to hurt you; for I have many people in this city." <sup>11</sup>And he continued there a year and six months, teaching the word of God among them.

TRANSITION

The First Letter to the Thessalonians

Paul, Silas, and Timothy came to Thessalonica on Paul's second missionary journey (Acts 17:1–9). Paul's stay at Thessalonica was brief, at most only a few months. From there he went to Berea (17:10), on to Athens (17:15), and then to Corinth (18:1). From Athens Paul sent Timothy to encourage the Thessalonians, and when Timothy returned to him at Corinth, the apostle was overjoyed at the news of the strong faith of the Thessalonians. From Corinth he wrote the first Thessalonian letter in late A.D. 50 or early 51. First Thessalonians is one of the earliest of Paul's letters, and thus also one of the first books in the New Testament to be written.

Thessalonica, now called Salonika, was an ancient Greek city, the capital of the Roman province of Macedonia. Paul began his ministry there in the Jewish synagogue; however, the church that resulted included not only Jews, but also a number of devout Greeks and many leading women. Many Jews of Thessalonica did not become believers, and the synagogue rulers eventually rejected Paul and drove him from the town (Acts 17:10).

Paul had not had time in Thessalonica to instruct his converts as thoroughly as he would have liked. Thus, in this letter he wanted to express his joy at their steadfastness, encourage them in the midst of suffering, and correct misconceptions about the Lord's return.

1 Thessalonians

Greeting

1 :1 Paul, Silvanus, and Timothy,

To the church of the Thessalonians in God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ:

Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.<sup>a</sup>

Their Good Example

<sup>2</sup>We give thanks to God always for you all, making mention of you in our prayers, <sup>3</sup>remembering without ceasing your work of faith, labor of love, and patience of hope in our Lord Jesus Christ in the sight of our God and Father, <sup>4</sup>knowing, beloved brethren, your election by God. <sup>5</sup>For our gospel did not come to you in word only, but also in power, and in the Holy Spirit and in much assurance, as you know what kind of men we were among you for your sake.

<sup>6</sup>And you became followers of us and of the Lord, having received the word in much affliction, with joy of the Holy Spirit, <sup>7</sup>so that you became examples to all in Macedonia and Achaia who believe. <sup>8</sup>For from you the word of the Lord has sounded forth, not only in Macedonia and Achaia, but also in every place. Your faith toward God has gone out, so that we do not need to say anything. <sup>9</sup>For they themselves declare concerning us what manner of entry we had to you, and how you turned to God from idols to serve the living and true God, <sup>10</sup>and to wait for His Son from heaven, whom He raised from the dead, even Jesus who delivers us from the wrath to come.

Paul's Conduct

2 <sup>1</sup>For you yourselves know, brethren, that our coming to you was not in vain. <sup>2</sup>But even<sup>a</sup> after we had suffered before and were spitefully treated at Philippi, as you know, we were bold in our God to speak to you the gospel of God in much conflict. <sup>3</sup>For our exhortation did not come from error or uncleanness, nor was it in deceit.

<sup>4</sup>But as we have been approved by God to be entrusted with the gospel, even so we speak, not as pleasing men, but God who tests our hearts. <sup>5</sup>For neither at any time did we use flattering words, as you know, nor a cloak for covetousness—God is witness. <sup>6</sup>Nor did we seek glory from men, either from you or from others, when we might have made demands as apostles of Christ. <sup>7</sup>But we were gentle among you, just as a nursing mother cherishes her own children. <sup>8</sup>So, affectionately longing for you, we were well pleased to impart to you not only the gospel of God, but also our own lives, because you had become dear to us. <sup>9</sup>For you remember, brethren, our labor and toil; for laboring night and day, that we might not be a burden to any of you, we preached to you the gospel of God.

<sup>10</sup>You are witnesses, and God also, how devoutly and justly and blamelessly we behaved ourselves among you who believe; <sup>11</sup>as you know how we exhorted, and comforted, and charged<sup>a</sup> every one of you, as a father does his own children, <sup>12</sup>that you would walk worthy of God who calls you into His own kingdom and glory.
